Rashid Clears Qualification Cloud

Court Rules Draugelis Is Eligible for Court Post

City Attorney Edward Draugelis is eligible and qualified to have his name on the ballot in Plymouth's April 5 election for Municipal Judge.

That was the decision handed down Monday by Circuit Court Judge Joseph Rashid in answer to a declaratory suit filed by Draugelis to clear the cloud that hung over his eligibility.

Rashid's opinion vindicated Draugelis who had been criticized in some quarters for entering the race for the Municipal Judgeship that will be relinquished by Judge Harry Deyo at the end of the year by retirement.

Draugelis failed to meet a City Charter requirement that called for Municipal Court candidates to be a resident of the city for five years in addition to being a qualified elector and a member of the Michigan Bar. He admitted at the time of filing that he had only slightly more than three years residence but felt the five year provision was contrary to state statutes. Draugelis told friends he felt he was on solid ground, had received informal opinions backing his stand and never once doubted his eligibility.

However, rumors questioning his qualifications broke into the open 10 days before the primary and created quite a stir in Plymouth political circles. Regardless of the whispering campaign, Draugelis was nominated for the election by almost a 3-1 margin over second place J.

Rusing Cutler with Clifford Manwaring running third.

Then with a spot in the final election assured, Draugelis decided to start court action himself, seeking a declaratory action from the court as to whether his name should or should not be allowed on the ballot.

He received the answer Monday when Judge Rashid ruled that in his opinion the five year residence law is contrary to the state election laws and "therefore the plaintiff Edward Draugelis is eligible as a candidate for the Municipal Judge in Plymouth."

Told of the decision at his office in Plymouth and the reasoning behind the Judge's ruling, Draugelis exclaimed "Well, we both arrived at the same opinion but we sure went through different doors."

The popular City Attorney had based his case on provisions of Section 28 of the home rule Act 279 whereas Judge Rashid made his ruling on the basis of Sections 29 and 33 of the same Act.

Judge Rashid halted a hearing on the case Friday afternoon while Attorney Jack Ashton, who was handling the case for Draugelis, was in the midst of his opening statements.

"I feel you are on the wrong track," he said. "You are basing this case on Section 28. May I call your attention to sections 29 and 33 of the same Act. I will call a short recess while you examine the provisions of the two sections and then we'll resume."

That's what happened. Ashton and Attorney William Sempliner, who was serving as counsel for City Clerk Richard Shafer and the City Election Board, went over the sections together and it was apparent that Rashid had turned the case to a new light.

He ordered an adjournment a few minutes later until 9 a.m. Monday when he told both at (Continued on Page 4-A)

Builders Join in $3.5 Million Project

Plan 125 Homes in Plymouth

Plans for the start of a $3.5 million, 125-home subdivision on the 30-acre Cassidy property, N. Territorial Road near Sheldon Road, have been announced by Jack Menuck, president of the Curtis Building Co., and Harold Waldfogel, head of the Sheldon Construction Co. Both are well-known in the northwest Detroit area as builders of custom-built homes.

The land was developed by Loren 'Bud' Gould, veteran Plymouth builder and developer, who completed a deal with the two builders a week ago after a lengthy period of negotiations.

Gould had offers from several builders but decided to make the sale to Menuck and Waldfogel on the basis of their reputation of constructing custom-built homes in the $23,000 to $30,000 price range.

Menuck has been in the business for more than 20 years, specializing in custom-built dwellings. He was instrumental in completing several subdivisions in Redford Township (120), Allen Park, Livonia (two subdivisions including the Newburgh Heights), and in northwest and west Detroit.

Waldfogel has more than 15 years experience with the Sheldon Construction Co. His company has built custom-homes in Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Allen Park, Warren, Farmington and Livonia.

The Plymouth project will be the first joint effort for both and their plans call for homes designed to fit into the colonial decor of the community.

The New England subdivision will consist of three, four and five-bedroom homes in colonial, quad level and ranch designs.

Each will be designed to fit the needs and desires of the prospective buyer and all will be in the price range maintained by the two builders — $23,000 to $30,000.

The sales will be handled by the Cardinal Realty Co., of Detroit, headed by Edward Zulkowski.

"We are happy to have been able to complete negotiations with builders of the (Continued on Page 4-A)

Is Planning Service Too Rich for Plymouth?

Members of the Plymouth City Commission appreciate the services of Vilican-Leman and Associates as planning consultants but there was considerable conjecture Monday night about whether the firm isn't a bit rich for Plymouth.

The matter came to light when Vilican and Leman wrote a letter to the Planning Commission, pointing out that the firm had been working without a contract since last September and indicating that it would have to be paid $250 per month to continue serving as consultant.

Vilican and Leman have been serving the city under terms of the Federal Housing Act which pays them 75 per cent of their fees with the city providing the remaining 25 per cent.

The big rub came when the communication from Vilican and Leman stated the firm would be available for one scheduled meeting each month with the Planning Commission and would be available for meetings necessary to the provisions of a professional planning service.

That price of $250 for a single meeting brought a sharp retort from Commissioner Arch Vallier who thought the city was spending too much for what it was getting.

"The records will show that Vilican and Leman received something like $26,000 during the past two years," Vallier said, "I don't think we are receiving that kind of value and I certainly feel we are spending too much when we pay $250 for a single meeting."

After additional discussion, the Commission voted to table the matter to the next meeting pending additional information from the consultants as to the suggested monthly retainer fee.

Representatives of Builder Albert Simkins, who is planning an apartment on Ann Arbor Road near Byron Street, made a presentation of a new type of fire-wall for the proposed construction.

A building permit has been withheld until the firm agrees to go along with a new State code which was adopted by the Commission and became effective on March 9. It requires ad-

Plymouth Trustees Study Police Report

Although the Police Study Committee, headed by Trustee Dick Lauterbach, recommended the Township Supervisor appoint a committee to study the possibility of a joint police authority with either the City of Plymouth or Northville Township and report back in 90 days, it may be some time before the matter is resolved by the Township Board.

After hearing the report, the Trustees voted to accept it with thanks and take the recommendations under advisement. With the budget as a paramount issue at the moment, it appears as if the chances for the appointment of the committee may be delayed as long as the May meeting.

Supervisor Roy Lindsay reiterated his previous stand that the Township isn't in "too bad shape and other things will have to be considered along with the police problem."

"There isn't any question but that this will require millage," he said, "That means we will have to go to the people and we better have all of the facts available before we take that action."

"Then, there is also the matter of an incinerator which must be considered in (Continued on Page 4-A)

OK Water Services In Township

Township homeowners in the Haggerty Road area between Joy and Ann Arbor and on Ann Arbor Road from Haggerty to Terry will have water service in the not too distant future.

The Township Board approved plans for a proposed water main along Haggerty Road at an estimated cost of $27,000 and on Ann Arbor from Haggerty to Terry at a cost of $17,000 upon recommendation of Township Engineer Herald Hamill.

Hamill also recommended an extension of the water main east on Five Mile to Haggerty but the Board cut it down to 300 feet on Schoolcraft near Amber Court.

In other actions, the Board approved acceptance of the contract for the new sanitary sewer project to Don Gargaro Co., Inc. on its bid of $735,250.

It also approved a contract to Mascone Excavating Co. for the new water main project on a bid of $213,900. A total of 19 bids were received on the water project.

In recommending approval, Hamill told the Board that both bids were well below the engineer's estimates.

Fire Captain Gets Approval To Make Trip

Acting on a recommendation of the Fire Administration Board, the Plymouth Township Board approved a request from Fire Capt. Barney Maas to attend the Fire Department Instructors Conference in Memphis, Tenn. for the period of March 23 through March 26.

The Trustees also okayed payment of $262.50 for the services of nine volunteer firemen during the recent blizzard and heavy snowfall.

Rights Group Expense Request Denied by Twp.

A request by Carroll Munshaw, chairman of the Plymouth Community Human Relations Commission, that the Township pay a portion of the expenses of Dr. Paul Kaufman to the annual convention of the American Orthopsychiatric Association, was denied by the Board of Trustees.

Munshaw asked the Trustees to pay up to $50. After considerable discussion, the request was rejected. Dr. Kaufman is a member of the Human Relations Commission which has representatives from the City as well as Canton and Plymouth Townships.

Set Registration Dates For Plymouth Baseball

Now's the time to start thinking about the summer baseball season. That's the tip handed to boys in the Plymouth Community by Joseph Bida, president of the Junior Baseball Program, as he announced plans for registration.

Boys 13 years old and younger are urged to register at the American Legion Hall, 888 Sheldon Road, on the next two Saturdays, March 20 and March 27, starting at 10 a.m.

Members of the League's executive committee will be on hand to register all boys.

In a meeting Monday night, the committee voted to extend the age limit from 13 years old on Aug. 1 to Sept. 1.

The traditional opening parade and start of the league campaign has been set for Saturday, May 8 during which the youthful players will march through the downtown business section and then move out to the Little League Park for the season opener.

The campaign will close July 13 after which the all-star games will be played and the champions decided.

John Mathews was appointed manager of the Yankees of the American League in one of the few managerial changes.

Tryouts have been scheduled tentatively for April 5 with the American League meeting at the high school at 5:30 p.m. and the National League at the Junior High East field at 5:30 p.m.

Bob Kehrl New Personnel Aide in Wayne

Robert Kehrl, 41218 Greenbriar Lane, Plymouth, has been appointed to the newly created post of assistant director of personnel for the Wayne Community School District. Kehrl is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Arnold Kehrl, 1045 Sutherland Ave., Plymouth.

Kehrl

Kehrl, a Business Education teacher at John Glenn High School, was the choice from a field of 36 applicants. Nine candidates were screened by a five-man committee and four recommended to School Superintendent Dr. Clarence Hinchey for final interviews.

The position will pay $10,500 per year.

Kehrl has been a business education instructor in the Wayne district since 1959. He was at John Marshall Junior High from 1960 to 1964 and moved to John Glenn High last fall.

He holds a B.S. degree in business education from Eastern Michigan and a masters degree from the University of Michigan.

Plymouth Colony Folks Request Detroit Water

Property owners in the Plymouth Colony subdivision located west of Sheldon Road, prefer City of Detroit water to that of the City of Plymouth.

They made this known in a petition to the Plymouth Township Board requesting the Trustees to meet with City officials for the purpose of negotiating for the use of the facilities for the Township water system.

Township Clerk John McEwen, who resides in the area, told the Board more than 50 property owners indicated a desire for the change of water service.

The Trustees hope to arrange a meeting with the Plymouth City Commission after April 5 to start negotiations.

Rotarians Told of Township Problems

Plymouth Township voters and those throughout the Plymouth community face the prospect of being asked for additional millage in the not too distant future predicted Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay, in an address to the Plymouth Rotary Club.

Lindsay paid tribute to the Township personnel for their dedication to the Township interests in his preliminary remarks. He told how Engineer Herald Hamill has played an important part in the expanding services and in planning for the future and how Clerk John McEwen's years of service with the Township in connection with the many new subdivisions.

Lindsay also praised the fine work of the Planning Commission.

Then he went back to the probability of the request for increased millage.

"Any area to be developed properly must have good sanitary sewers, a good water system and a good school system," he emphasized, "We have good schools but the additional services that are needed will make it necessary some day to go to the voters for more millage."

"For instance we already see the need for a larger Township (Continued on Page 4-A)

Fire Damages Clubhouse At Crestwood Apt.

Fire of an undetermined origin partially destroyed the combination clubhouse-bathhouse at the Crestwood Apartments, on Sheldon Road, early Monday evening.

Assistant Chief George Schoeneman reported the blaze apparently started in the gas furnace and quickly spread along the side walls and into the rafters.

The Plymouth Fire Department sent out four pieces of equipment and had the fire under control within a half hour. Then, just when everything appeared to be serene, the fire broke out again some two hours later and the firefighters had to make a second run.

The Crestwood Apartments were the scene of a blaze in one of the apartments three weeks ago, causing a furor that found the City Commission checking the present building code with a thought of tightening rules in several sections to avoid possibility of future trouble in apartments that are on the planning board or under construction.

Tax Vote Meeting
Representatives of the Clarenceville Board of Education will discuss the March 29 bonding and millage elections before the Edgewood PTA at a special meeting March 23 at 8 p.m.

Jury Finds Farmington Man 'Not Guilty'

The jury in the Welles Herrington murder trial, after hearing testimony for almost a week, deliberated for about two hours on Tuesday and found the Farmington brewer executive not guilty. His wife burst into tears at the verdict. And Judge Stanton G. Dondero congratulated both the defense attorney, James Lawson, and the Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor James Roberts on their brilliant legal duel.

Herrington was on trial for murdering John R. Foster—a tall, handsome, thrice married Birmingham dentist. Neither Herrington, nor his wife Betty, for whose affections the two men had been rivals, was called to the witness stand.

The defendant killed Foster in the Farmington West Apartments, on Sept. 16, with two shots from a 38 calibre revolver. He says Foster forced his way into the apartment, with intent to do him bodily harm, and that he shot in self-defense.

The shooting climaxed months of turbulence between the Herringtons and Foster.

According to Herrington, his wife was introduced to Foster by a girl friend of the dentist.

Last April 21, Farmington Police Chief Maurice Foltz went to the St. Mary's Hospital to check on a reported suicide attempt by Mrs. Herrington. Foltz did not see her. But he did talk to her husband.

Herrington told Foltz that if his wife died, or if Foster ever came to his home again he would kill him.

Foltz replied that this was not the answer. He said that if Mrs. Herrington did die, the children would need him more than ever. As a safeguard, Foltz reported the threat to the Police in Birmingham, where Foster maintained his office.

In the months that followed, the relationship between John Foster and Mrs. Herrington apparently deepened. The threat of violence seems always to have been in the air. Herrington recalls that on one occasion Foster stole his gun, and it took attorney Lawson to get it back.

Herrington initiated divorce proceedings against his wife. But he obviously retained strong feelings for her.

Just prior to the shooting, he went to a convention in Indianapolis. Prior to leaving, he says, he rented an apartment in the Farmington West. One of his daughters, Danielle, decided she would stay with him.

But, according to Herrington, his wife was shaken by the finality of divorce, and a mutual desire for reconciliation arose between them.

So, when he returned to the City on the fateful day of Sept. 16, she picked him up at the airport, and they agreed to go to dinner and talk things over.

From this point, Herrington's story is confirmed by Danielle, in sworn testimony at the trial. According to this version of events, Danielle agreed to baby sit while her parents went to dinner.

While she was there, Foster called, asking for Mrs. Herrington. Danielle said she did not think her mother would be home that evening.

Foster is said to have insisted that she drive to the Farmington West apartment and bring her mother back. The couple had gone there after dinner. He said that he would baby sit while she was gone.

Seeing that her parents were upstairs in the apartment, Danielle dozed in the car. She says she was awakened by the noise of Foster running past the car, and into the apartment.

The Herringtons were in bed when Foster arrived at the door. He is said to have threatened to break it down. According to Herrington, he told his wife to call the Police. But she said: "No need, he's going away."

Unfortunately for him, he did not go away. He went back to the car, and forcefully got the apartment key from Danielle.

Foster reentered the apartment building. And Herrington says he heard Foster say: "I'm going back upstairs, and settle him once and for all."

He says he warned Foster that he had a gun. And Foster said: "I'm not afraid of a gun." Herrington is big. Foster was bigger and younger.

"I yelled at him. 'John, don't come in here. I've got a gun, and I'll use it.'"

"He opened the door, and started at me, with his fists up . . . to swing at me . . . and I said stay back . . . and shot him . . . and he kept coming . . . and I shot him again."

The Farmington Police arrived minutes later. There followed six months of hard investigation by them, climaxing in last week's trial.

More about that in our next issue.

FRIENDLY ANTAGONISTS, Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor James Roberts and James Lawson, attorney for murder defendant Welles Herrington, discuss the case. The two attorneys carried on a tense and brilliant duel. Of Roberts, Lawson said: "He is as good a trial lawyer as there is."

WELLES HERRINGTON is seen here with members of his family, outside of the Court Room, immediately after Assistant Prosecutor James Roberts had urged the jury to find him guilty of murder in the first degree. Schoolcraft Gets Boost; State OKs Accreditation Accreditation by the Michigan Commission on College Accreditation has been approved for Schoolcraft College on the basis of its curriculum and performance during its first semester of operation.

That was the good news telephoned to the college administration by Dr. Ferris Crawford, secretary of the Commission, when he called to report the Commission approval and offer his congratulations.

The news was hailed as the most significant step in the development of Schoolcraft College by President Dr. Eric Bradner.

"This accreditation permits not only easy transfer of credits within the State of Michigan," Dr. Bradner said, "but it also facilitates transfer outside the state."

Dr. Bradner indicated the college administration had been hoping for affirmative action by the Accreditation Commission, but was a bit hesitant about making application after only one semester.

"However, we thought we would take the bull by the horns and ask for action by the Commission," he stated. "A committee from the College Accreditation Commission visited the campus on Dec. 21 for the study and recommendations. We are very happy they found us suitable and in satisfactory condition."

The committee was headed by Dr. Joseph Berkowski from the University of Detroit. Other members were: Dr. Donald O'Dowd, Oakland University; Dr. Wilfred Erickson, Eastern Michigan University; Dr. Max Smith, Michigan State University; and Dr. Clarence Haines, Flint Community College.

'Y' Backers Call Meeting In Livonia

Should There Be a Y.M.C.A. in Livonia? What would be its unique contribution to the area?

These questions will be answered Tuesday, March 23 in the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church when those interested in organizing a "Y" will meet. The meeting is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. with Glen McAdams, vice principal at Franklin High, as the moderator.

The purpose is to have those who feel there is a need for a Y.M.C.A. program in Livonia to have an opportunity to explain their views.

The Metropolitan Detroit "Y" will have representatives present to listen to the comments and to receive an idea of what the residents think of the project.

If you're interested in a Y.M.C.A. in Livonia, then attend the meeting and put yourself on record.

First Girl in 85 Years

Tiny Julie Shatters An All-Male Tradition

Julie Elizabeth Anderson isn't aware of it but she shattered a tradition of 85 years standing when she was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Jr., of Minneapolis, 10 days ago.

Tiny Julie became the first girl member of the Andersons since her great aunt was born 85 years ago in Sweden. Her mother is a native of Scotland.

And that's why there was so much excitement at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Sr., 14386 Sarasota, in Redford Township and at the home of her great grandfather, Carl O. Anderson, 9180 Lilley Road, in Plymouth, when a phone call came from the excited father in Minneapolis announcing the birth of his first child—and a girl.

Small wonder that her uncles, John and Fred, have been bursting their buttons. It was the first girl in the Anderson family in 85 years and the first ever for the Carl O. Anderson family.

Great grandfather was the father of two sons and they in turn had sons. So there was joy on all sides when Carl Jr. made the happy announcement. Mother and daughter are doing fine in their home in Minneapolis. Papa is still in a daze and the grandparents and great grandfather haven't stopped smiling yet.

 reputation of Menuck and Waldfogel," said Gould, in telling of the plans during a joint press conference. "It is our feeling this project will add a great deal to the City, not only in taxes but in another much better than average subdivision."
 Gould, who has been busy with construction and development of his medical centers on the township and east sections of the Cassady property more than a year ago with the thought of developing it into a subdivision that would become one of the best in the area.
 However, he has been turning his attention more to development than construction and placed the acreage up for sale after completing the work of installing water and sewers. He indicated he had feelers from numerous builders but waited for the right offer from a construction firm that was desirous of building deluxe homes suitable for families.

 "We didn't want any cracker box project in the area," he said, "That's why we were really happy to receive offers from Curtis Building and the Sheldon Construction companies. We know of their reputation for building fine homes and we are certain they'll do the job here."
 Menuck and Waldfogel plan to start construction of model homes by April 1 and hope to have work underway on the streets at about the same time.
 An estimated 163,000 book titles are currently in print.

 the near future. We are fast reaching the point where our present dump will be filled to capacity and the only answer is an incinerator.
 "This report indicates one car on the road for a 24 hour period would cost $43,000. One car wouldn't be anymore effective than a fly on a table. This would be a useless spending of money."
 "I believe we should act slowly on this matter. We shouldn't take any action until the voters are willing to pass millage and provide excellent police service. If we can't provide adequate service, then we would be just wasting our time for we would have nothing but complaints."

Draugelis Eligible

 visions of the general law shall prevail in the election of a justice of peace. This, both the Home Rule Act and the Charter followed practically the same language under qualifications.
 Judge Rashid then read another portion of the statutes which told of eligibility for offices—none is eligible who is not a qualified elector.
 "The City Charter of Plymouth provide that candidates must be a qualified elector with three years residence," Judge Rashid said, "Then the Charter was revised in 1951 with no reference to abolition of a court and specifically continuing the Municipal Court. It was expressly continued with a revision of the residential requirement to five years."
 The Judge pointed out that Section 28 did not fit in this instance since the first provision of the statute prevails only in cities where they abolish the court and start a new one.
 "This was not the case in Plymouth," he said, "The court was continued with no intent to abolish and form a new consolidated court. Therefore I do not believe Section 28 applies here at all."
 The Judge pointed out that Section 29 set up the election of justices of peace and outlined the powers and duties.
 He read the provisions of Section 33 which stated that the "provisions of the general law applying to elections, qualifications and compensation of justices of peace and constables."
 "Therefore," he said in his summary, "Section 28 does not apply but I feel Sections 29 and 33 of Act 279 do apply. Therefore I declare Draugelis eligible as a candidate for Municipal Judge in Plymouth."
 At the same time, Judge Rashid dismissed an intervening suit filed by Attorney Robert Delaney to have the name of Clifford Manwaring placed on the ballot should Draugelis be ruled ineligible.

 ditional protection against fires. After listening to the talk, the Commission voted to have the building inspector contact the State Fire Marshal and if he approves the new firewall, then the permit will be issued.
 In other actions, the Commission:
 Granted permission to the Crippled Children's Easter Seal Society to conduct their annual Easter Lily sale on April 9 and 10.
 Received a communication from the Automobile Club of Michigan indicating it had started a comprehensive traffic survey of the city.
 Approved preliminary plans of John Hendry for a nursing home and an engineering lab and office in the Industrial Park. Hendry was given until June, 1966, to start construction of the home and until June, 1967, to begin work on the office building. Hendry proposed a $400,000 building for the convalescent home which will have a staff of 70 employees.
 Established the week of May 9-15 as Cleanup, Paint-up and Fix-up week in Plymouth.
 Approved purchase of additional hose for the Fire Department at a cost of $1,600.
 Approved a salary adjustment for Assistant Fire Chief George Schoenneman to place him equal to the assistant police chief.
 Approved transfer of $13,060 from the budget contingency to equipment for a grader.

Tells of Problems

 Hall. We are now levying one mill for operations. In 1955, the voters approved four mills for sewers and water and to date we haven't touched a mill and a half."
 Lindsay told the Rotarians that he personally was opposed to a boom growth and that contrary to the popular belief, the merchants do not benefit from an influx of population. He acknowledged that growth can't be stopped.
 An opponent of apartments, Lindsay indicated some apartments are necessary but felt it was about time the citizens asked themselves if they wanted all of the apartments that builders want to construct.
 "Just as soon as we have a sewer line installed, the developers come in and want approval of plans for apartments. We indicated we would have water and sewers in the west side of the Township and have been flooded with apartment requests," he said.
 "I feel that the fact that the FHA will provide 90 per cent of the financing is a big factor in this trend. These developers don't have any interest in the community, all they're interested in is making a few fast bucks and then away they go."
 "One can get commercial studies favorable to apartments but I personally believe in a University of Michigan study which reports that a large percentage of families prefer to live in single homes."
 Lindsay pointed that the Township now has 38 subdivisions with nine more on the planning boards. He added that there are 208 existing apartments with proposals to construct 700 more units this year.

 "I can't believe that everybody wants to live in an apartment," he stated, "It's about time for citizens of the area to ask themselves whether they prefer a community of apartments or one made up largely of homes."
 "I feel a community suffers unless individuals have the pride of ownership and this pride is fostered by single homes not apartments. More than that, an increase in apartments will result in a demand for more public services including police protection, rubbish and sewage disposal and that will bring a request for more millage to finance such services."

Fire Captain

 rected Capt. Maas to take any necessary steps to insure the Township of fire protection during the emergency. The nine volunteers put in a total of 175 hours of standby service.
 The Trustees also approved payment for dues and meetings of the Southeastern Michigan Fire Chiefs Association to a total of $35 upon recommendation of the Fire Administration Board.

TALKING ABOUT THURSTON:

Thurston Skiers Home from North Country

By Joana Van Wye
A group of skiers from Thurston took advantage of the large snowfall we had and went on a weekend ski trip up North.

Valley late Friday evening and stayed at this lodge for the weekend.
Saturday the group rose early and went to Thunder Mountain where they skied until dinner time.

which is a teenage night club. They skied all day Sunday and arrived home late Sunday evening.
After many months of worry and excited anticipation a letter arrived from the AFS headquarters in New York.

Ward and Lou Fiorentino hold a season record of 12 wins and seven losses. Connie is a senior and she was an active debater last year. This is the first year of debate for Lou who is only a junior.
A six win and four loss record was boasted by the affirmative team made up of juniors Cheryl Gray and Linda Goodwin. Both of these girls were on the junior varsity squad last year.

SPLASHING SUCCESS was won by six members of Thurston's synchronized swim club. On March 8, all of the members completed in the annual stunts competition. Lois McDonald and Sally Pryor, who are two national judges, were present. They helped the club's sponsors who are Miss Joyce Lindeman and Miss Bean Flannigan, rate each girl as they performed their stunts.

BENTLEY BULLETINS:

Concert Choir Wins Honors for Fifth Year in Row

By SUSAN DOWELL
No school ever had a concert choir that won high honors for five years on a row. That is no school except Bentley. This makes Bentley special. Our school is special because the State Vocal Association chose to give Bentley a unique trophy.
The trophy was designed and made especially for us. It stands proudly in the show case of the music room.
There are five engraved silver emblems on it which signify the five years that Bentley has received the highest ratings in a concert choir contest.

never laid eyes on before. The choir will have to sing the song first off and will be judged on how well they do.

Speaking of judges, there will be four of them. Three of the men will rate the vocal group on how well the song that is required is sung. Of course, someone has to judge the chosen songs, so that also, will be left up to the same three judges.

These are, Otto Brown, (superintendent of music in Ferndale), Robert Klepinger (from Ferndale), and Hayden Morgan (the writer of the required song). The judge of the sight reading part of the contest will be George Cripps (from Oakland).

All choirs will be judged on tone (beauty and blend), intonation (pitch), clarity of words, technique, balance, interpretation, musical effect (feeling), and choice of music, stage performance, and appearance.

TRY-OUTS for students who wish to belong to next year's concert choir will help to get the best members for another choir. These tryouts ended on Friday, March 12.

However, there will again be tryouts for students at the beginning of next year.

Other musical departments are Glee Club, Girls Chorus, Male Chorus, Selective Girls Chorus, and Selective Male Chorus.

Many students have ordered the Yearbook and are wondering if it was well worth their while. Well it was. The progress of the book has been coming along fine and will be out on time. These yearbooks are a good thing to have around. When we are out of college it will be nice to look back and think about the good old days.

JO ANNE

The junior girl who was selected is Vivian Follick. The headquarters will now try to place Vivian with a foreign family. If they are successful in matching her up with a family, Vivian will be able to spend the summer in a country abroad.

THURSTON'S DEBATE team is working hard preparing for the regional contest. This year was only the second time since debate was started at THS that the team has gone to the regionals. The first time was in the 1961-62 season.

If the team is selected as one of the top four teams in the region it will go to the quarter-finals where all the top teams from each region meet and compete against each other.

An hour before the first round in the regionals each school will draw to discover which of its teams will debate. Then the first round will be debated and the schools which win will meet winners in the second round and losers will meet losers. Once a school loses two debates it is eliminated.

By this process of elimination the field of approximately 20 schools will be narrowed to 4. The negative team of Connie

Plymouth Hi News

By CAROL OTWELL

Sweden and the Ivory Coast were represented by Plymouth High students at the 16th annual Model United Nations Assembly in Hillsdale, on March 12 and 13.

MUNA is a small scale replica of the actual United Nations and each year high school seniors in International Relations classes take part, each school representing either one or two countries.

Gilla Rynning, exchange student from Sweden, was chairman of the Swedish delegation which consisted of Al Rehner, Grace Thompson, Judy Olds and Becky Lyons.

The Ivory Coast committee was headed by Beth Miller and included John Burgener, Janet Lyke, and Terry Feekhart.

This year's agenda included general debates and committee resolutions concerning many of the problems which face the UN. Each student was not to give his own personal ideas or opinions on the issues but was to express the views of the country he was representing.

There was a lot of water splashing, and volleyball playing and dancing and just plain fun as the sophomores united their first big event—the Sophomore Mixer on Friday night, March 12, at the high school.
It was chaperoned by Donald Helm, class adviser, and other teachers and parents.

CHARLES KETTERER, retiring coach of the PHS Varsity basketball team announced that senior Jim Lake was chosen by his teammates as the most valuable player of the 1964-65 season.

Jim, who is planning to attend the University of Michigan next year, is also president of the Varsity Club. He played varsity football last fall and was chosen as a Suburban-Six first string end.

He also plans to go out for the baseball team this spring. Congratulations Jim!

Irish-Non Irish Dine, Dance At Western Golf Club

Spring activities at Western Golf and Country Club got off to a fast start Saturday, March 13, with the annual St. Patrick's Day Dinner-Dance at the club at 14600 Kinloch Drive, Detroit.

Approximately 150 couples attended the traditional "season opener" which featured music by Eddie Schick and his Orchestra.

A menu, made up exclusively of Irish dishes, i. e., O'Caesar salad, etc., was featured after cocktails at 7:30 p.m. Dinner and dancing followed until the "wee small hours."

Co-chairmen of the event were Mr. and Mrs. Tom McLaughlin of 30650 Harlicin Ct., Franklin, and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Hainline, Jr., of 26308 Ivanhoe, Redford Township.

Friday, March 12, was the day Red Cross people set aside in memory of Jane Delano, founder of American Red Cross Nursing Service. It was through her promotion that home nursing "know how" became available to anyone — just for the asking. In 1913, she wrote the first Red Cross home nursing text book.

Since the inception of Red Cross home nursing through her efforts, many new programs have developed. Just last year, more than a million people were reached through certified Red Cross home nursing courses. These included homemakers, high school students, retirees and other groups with special circumstances and needs.

Presently the Northwest Regional Office of American Red Cross is searching for registered nurses who would be interested in volunteering a few extra hours to teach their classes. "The immediate need is for Mother and Baby Care instructors," says Mrs. Maude Sterner, R.N., and Red Cross Home Nursing Coordinator for Livonia. For further information call Mrs. Sterner at GL 3-6407.

GREETING his wife Governor George Romney visited with his guests at the dinner preceding the theatre. Prior to the curtain raising Ernest Jones gave the Governor and his lady a warm and witty introduction. The handsome couple were greeted with a tremendous standing ovation. The governor expressed the hope that "the next election all American citizens will have the opportunity to cast their vote." The house was full, but the audience was less than delighted with the play which is sure to be rewritten before it hits Broadway—the second act was particularly in poor taste.

ELEGANTLY GOWNED were Farmington women who have worked on the Romney campaign and were guests at the dinner at the Recess Club on the top floor at the Fisher Building. Shown with GOP State Chairman Ely Peterson are (l-r) Mrs. Orville Foster, Mrs. Frank Downs, Mrs. Isabelle Haynes. Sponsored by Oakland County Republicans the faithful were present from Plymouth, Redford Township, and Livonia.

Light Tones Make Comeback As Decorations in New Homes

A new, light woodgrain toned paneling has been introduced for use in modern decorative treatments. Included in the 1965 line of plastic-finished Marlite paneling is a Provincial Walnut grain, whose light tone sets an attractive background for furnishings of similar color.

Accented with vivid tones, a "white" room can be most attractive. Many of the country's leading designers are concentrating on lighter tones, which tend to "open up" a smaller room.

The Provincial Walnut wood-grain paneling can be used in any room of the house because it has a washable plastic finish. Ideal for use by home handymen, the material comes in 16-inch by 8-inch planks.

Imports Hit Tile Market In America

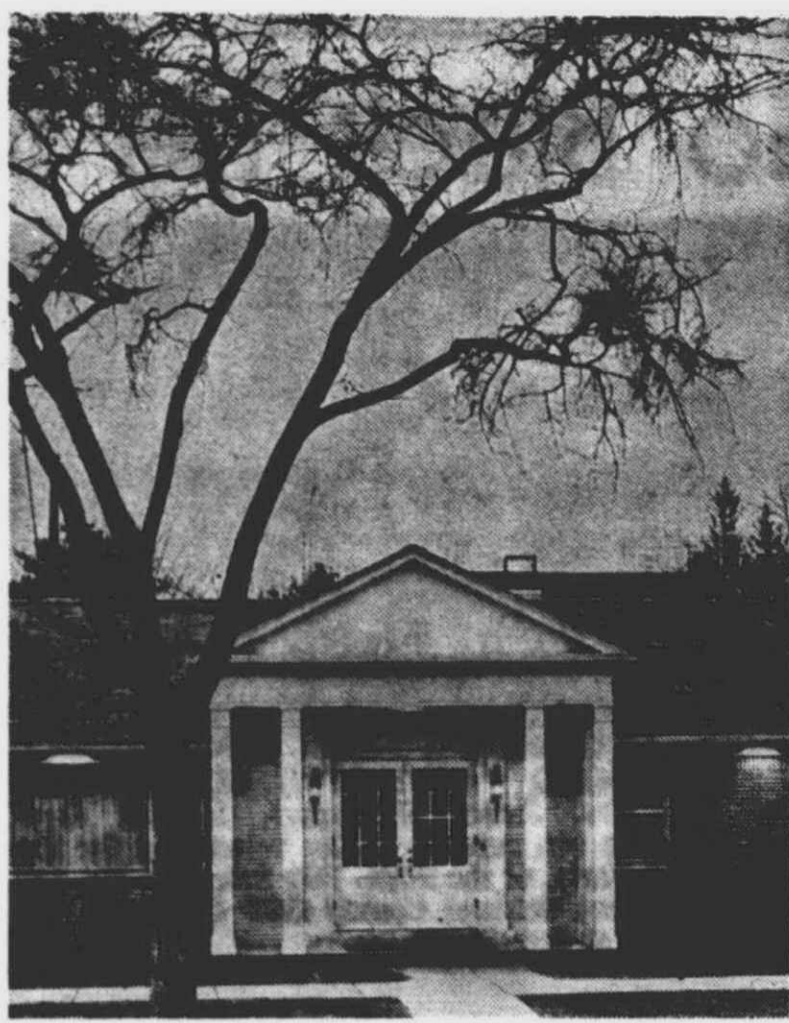

One of America's fastest-growing markets—ceramic tile—apparently is being captured by record imports, mostly from Japan. In 1964 imports of tile took one-third of the American market, according to latest figures.

"The year 1964 set a record for tile consumption in this country, but almost two-thirds of the increased market demand was supplied by imports rather than by the domestic industry," said R. L. Carlee, president of the Tile Council of America, a trade association whose member companies produce more than 90 per cent of the floor and wall tile made in this country.

Total consumption of ceramic tile in 1964 was a record 416,395,000 square feet, a 12.4 per cent increase over 1963, Carlee said. However, the increase in imports alone captured more than 62 per cent of this new market demand for ceramic floor and wall tile.

U. S. Department of Commerce figures show that 66,252,000 square feet of ceramic mosaic tile were imported into this country in 1964, a 28.7 per cent increase. Glazed wall tile imports totaled 68,158,000 square feet, a 25.4 per cent increase.

"There is grim irony in the fact that, although expanding demand is the direct result of technological innovations, design-and-use promotions and market-building programs the domestic industry has been carrying on for years at considerable expense, a larger share of the fruits of this effort is falling to exporting countries and importers strictly because of their price appeal, which is made possible by their not having borne the cost of this market cultivation," Carlee said.

LIVONIANS HAVE WATCHED with interest the construction of this colonial-styled portico which adds dignity, beauty and graceful height to the design of the 90-foot wide, single story structure of the completely rebuilt R. G. & G. R. Harris Funeral Home at 15451 Farmington Road, north of Five Mile Road, Livonia. Rebuilding is expected to be completed in time for the four new chapels in the home to be dedicated in special ceremonies on Friday, March 19.

Murals Are Available for Walls in Home

"You don't have to hire an expensive artist to have fine murals in your home," Robert Huff, home improvement director for Marlite paneling, points out that handsome gold-on-white mural panels now are available at local lumber dealers.

These plastic-finished hardboard panels are 5' wide. Although designed primarily for the back wall of a tub-shower attractive accent panels in every area, designers are using the room of the house.

"Eye-catching scenes and designs contribute to the overall decorative treatment, as well as creating a feeling of greater spaciousness," he adds.

Recently added to the Marlite Mural line are three stylized scenes — Williamsburg, Ponta Roma and River Landing. These scenes, available in sepia or gold on white, can be obtained through local lumber dealers.

Other scenes and designs available include South Pacific, Catalina, Seascape, Oriental and Snowflake.

Wallboard adhesive is used to secure the plastic-finished hardboard accent panels to old walls or any solid backing. Marlite is highly resistant to heat, moisture and stains. It can be damp-wiped clean; never needs re-finishing.

Multiple Baths Get Top Priority Vote

People buying their first home often are not very "choosy" about what they get, primarily because they don't really know what to look for. Second and third timers, though, know exactly what they want.

Almost always, increased bathroom facilities are first on the list for these repeat buyers. From the basis of their experiences with previously owned houses, they know the value of multiple installations.

Easy to Up-Date

Wood-sided walls simplify the problem of keeping a house up-to-date. They may be altered, adjusted or added to. Spaces in the typical wood wall are accessible for changes in wiring, plumbing, heating.

Prevent Peeling

Don't paint protected exteriors or siding or trim until accumulated dust and dirt is removed. Wipe surface down with detergent or solvent. If glossy, dull with sandpaper. This will prevent peeling.

Top Siding

Western red cedar lumber is one of the great favorites for siding because of its extremely high resistance to decay, its nail-holding quality, and because it takes paint and stain finishes exceptionally well.

T-Shaped Fillers

Smooth Twin Beds

If you have twin beds under a single headboard, you can eliminate the sinking feeling that comes when you edge too close to the crack between the mattresses with foam rubber fillers.

The T-shaped fillers fit down into the gap and overlap on either side. Bedspreads look better too without the line down the center.

Cedar Grows

Western red cedar grows chiefly in the Pacific Northwest and inland to the slopes of the Rocky Mountains. It is easily identified by its stringy, fibrous bark and buttressed base.

2nd Car Problem Move Auto Along with Furniture

What do you do with a second car if you're transferred and have to move out of town? The family generally drives one car to the new home. That leaves the other one either to be disposed of or to be transported somehow.

One solution to the problem is to ship the car right along with the furniture and that's exactly what is being done with greater frequency nowadays, according to a leading long-distance household goods mover.

Household goods movers can accept automobiles for delivery only if the auto is part of a household goods shipment, Mayflower explains. However, the number of two-car families has grown so fast in recent years that furniture movers are beginning to look upon automobiles as just another bulky article of furniture.

Moving van interiors are so constructed that an automobile can be loaded and unloaded with a minimum of effort. Slotted steel posts are recessed in the side of the van to permit the movers to anchor the auto at almost any point.

A second deck can be installed above the car to provide additional "floor" space for loading other furniture pieces. The auto is virtually partitioned off, anchored and covered with thick furniture pads.

Study Applicants For Scholarships To Cancer Program

Recommendations by local science teachers for applicants in the 1965 Summer Science Scholarship program must be received by the Michigan Cancer Foundation no later than March 19, it was revealed Monday by Mrs. Frank Stribbel, Public Education Chairman for the Foundation's Farmington Branch.

The program, which involves a total investment of approximately $22,000, involves a nine-weeks science course conducted in geographically convenient high schools throughout the four-county area served by the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Local teachers have been selected for each of the schools, and a total of 50 youngsters will be chosen from those recommended by their science instructors to take advantage of the program.

All applications submitted by the teachers will be reviewed and selections of scholarship winners made by the Foundation's Medical and Scientific Committee.

Further information on the scholarship program may be obtained by calling the Farmington Branch Chairman, Mrs. Harry Mason, GR 4-8882.

Install western lumber panel boards horizontally to stretch a room's length and width.

What Will Job Cost? Here Is A Sample Gauge

When you have settled on what you want to do to improve your home, next step is determine costs. This can best be done by getting estimates from local dealers and contractors.

As a gauge to costs, however, the National Established Repair Service and Improvement Contractors Association offers the following examples:

The installed price of one square of 235-pound asphalt shingle roofing varies from $20 and $30 in most parts of the South and certain sections of the Midwest to between $25 and $40 in western Massachusetts and between $30 and $45 in New York state.

One square of uninsulated aluminum siding, installed, is priced at between $65 and $90 in the South, $65 and $95 in New York state, $70 to $80 in the Midwest and $60 to $90 dollars in New England.

The installed price of one tilt-type 3-track aluminum window varies $20 to $30 in the South, to between $20 and $25 in the Midwest, $15 to $25 in New York state and from $12 to $20 in the Massachusetts area.

Lower Ceiling

Old-fashioned high ceilings can be handsomely lowered with wood decking and false beams. Decking and beams may be Douglas fir.

Every man needs friends — not to flatter him — but to strengthen his weak points.

On the Lawn

Local lawns took quite a beating in last summer's drought. Some of them were burned brown and a large percentage went into the winter in a seriously weakened condition. The results may soon become evident.

Being deprived of moisture, the grass roots were cut off from their food supply just at the time when underground growth normally accelerates. As a result, there is a likelihood of many lawns greening up late and of looking thin and straggly instead of thick and vigorous.

Such a condition calls for prompt and liberal feeding. Those who use a high protein fertilizer such as Turf Builder can speed recovery by applying at double rate particularly in exposed areas.

Where grass was seriously damaged, reseeding should begin as soon as the ground can be worked "without puddling." And since burned out areas are likely to harbor a prim crop of crabgrass seeds, it would be well to have the protection of a pre-emergence control. A compatible product, Halts is an example, permits seeding at the same time, a real time and labor saving advantage.

T-Shaped Fillers
 Smooth Twin Beds

If you have twin beds under a single headboard, you can eliminate the sinking feeling that comes when you edge too close to the crack between the mattresses with foam rubber fillers.

The T-shaped fillers fit down into the gap and overlap on either side. Bedspreads look better too without the line down the center.

Cedar Grows

Western red cedar grows chiefly in the Pacific Northwest and inland to the slopes of the Rocky Mountains. It is easily identified by its stringy, fibrous bark and buttressed base.

MOVING EXPENSES DEDUCTIBLE UNDER NEW U.S. TAX LAW

Don't overlook moving expenses as a deductible item in making out your 1964 income tax.

A well-known long-distance mover, reminds those who moved last year that the cost of a move made for the purpose of gaining new employment is deductible under provisions of the new tax law.

The move must meet a minimum distance requirement of 20 miles and the employee may not have been reimbursed by his employer.

Also, the individual must be employed full time for at least 39 weeks during the 12-month period following the move for him to be able to deduct the moving expenses.

If the move meets those requirements, the individual may deduct the entire cost of the move, including packing services and in-transit storage, if any. He also may deduct the cost of transporting his family to his new residence and the cost of meals and lodging en route.

The new tax law also no longer requires an individual to show as income any money he receives from his employer as a reimbursement for moving expenses. In the past any such reimbursement was taxable income.

Top Siding

Western red cedar lumber is one of the great favorites for siding because of its extremely high resistance to decay, its nail-holding quality, and because it takes paint and stain finishes exceptionally well.

Prevent Peeling

Don't paint protected exteriors or siding or trim until accumulated dust and dirt is removed. Wipe surface down with detergent or solvent. If glossy, dull with sandpaper. This will prevent peeling.

Farmington Hill and Dale Garden Club Wins Chrysler Trophy at Flower Show

The Chrysler Cup, coveted gold trophy bestowed each year to a garden club, has been won for the second time by Hill and Dale Garden Club of Farmington.

Mrs. Joseph Ziska of 28040 Peppermill, Farmington, club president, accepted the trophy last Sunday at Cobo Hall in the closing hours of the 1965 Home and Flower Show, sponsored by the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit and attended by more than 400,000 people this year.

In the presentation, Mrs. Lloyd L. Hughes, executive secretary of Michigan Horticultural Society, explained to the garden lovers gathered in the society's exhibit center that Hill and Dale Garden Club had received the most blue ribbons in the flower show at Cobo Hall this year—10 in all—for arrangements brought to the exhibition by the club's members.

Mrs. Hughes said this was a feat not often equaled by any garden club, since of the 18 blue ribbons awarded, Hill and Dale carried off more than half of them.

Sponsored by the Chrysler Corp., the trophy is presented in the traditional competition in the name of the Michigan Horticultural Society.

The cup was acquired by the society in 1957, through the kind offices of the corporation's former president, K. T. Keller.

The winning club gets to keep the trophy for a year, and if the same club wins it three years in succession, that organization has permanent possession.

Mrs. Ziska said the members of Hill and Dale, having won the prize in 1964 and 1965 in the annual Home and Flower Shows at Cobo Hall, were rededicating themselves to all-out efforts to bring the trophy permanently to Farmington.

Garden clubs that have won the cup in former years, and whose names are engraved on the trophy, are:

1957, Northwestern Garden Club; 1958, Grosse Ile Garden Club; 1959, Garden Study Club of Northwest Detroit; 1962 and 1963, East Detroit Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, and 1964, Hill and Dale. The club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan.

The Hill and Dale Garden Club was established in 1957 and has grown to a point where membership is now limited to 100. The club took membership in the Michigan Federation in 1958 under sponsorship of the Farmington Garden Club.

Mrs. Ziska praised the members of Hill and Dale for their efforts in bringing this outstanding garden prize to Farmington for the second time. Of the 10 blue ribbons won this year, she said, four were taken for the club by Mrs. Edward Rosinski of 29011 Bannockburn, Farmington.

Spring Fashion Cap Seen by DOH Wiv

By JERRY WENDT "Wearing my Auxiliary hat and my Guild heart," is the way Mrs. Milton Kosley of Spring Valley Drive described her duties as chairman of the Spring Fashion Luncheon sponsored by the Detroit Osteopathic Auxiliary on March 11 in the Hospital Auditorium. Guests for the day were the Detroit Osteopathic Women's Guild.

The auxiliary is composed of the doctors' wives. Its principal activity is fund raising for scholarships. The 1958 members of the Auxiliary members also belong to the Guild.

The Guild provides many and varied services for the patients and hospital. They operate the gift shop, work in the hospital office, conduct craft classes, and perform nursing services for the patient.

The ladies also make puppets, and deliver to every child in the hospital on Mondays.

On Thursday, the Spring theme was beautifully brought out by the spring-like bouquets which decorated the individual set tables. Each place was marked by a fresh carnation and a dainty booklet with matching pencil. The booklet was entitled "Spring Fashion Notes" and could be used to take down notes on the speech given following the luncheon by Mrs. Ruth Natinsky of Saks, Fifth Avenue.

Mrs. Natinsky's speech dealt with the importance of cooperating your accessories.

Mrs. Joseph Wyatt modeled several outfits to illustrate her point. A lush avocado color Ben Zuckerman suit accented with various shades of green found great favor with the audience. After the speech, there was a question and answer period by the audience.

Speaking of fashion, the uniforms of the Auxiliary and Guild are unusually becoming. White blouses and mint-green pinafores give the wearers a fresh and trim look.

Mrs. John Manley, president of the Auxiliary then conducted a short meeting during which motions were made and carried to donate $500 to the Hospital Scholarship Fund, $100 to the Osteopathic Advancement Fund.

It would fund that these capable women know how to successfully combine business and pleasure if their luncheon Thursday was any sample.

A Second Son

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Heiney, Jr., of Plymouth announce the arrival of their second son, Carl Price, on March 6 at St. Mary Hospital. Carl weighed 7 lbs., 6 oz. at birth. Mrs. Heiney is the former Peggy Price of Northville.

Committee chairmen for the Women of Kendallwood Farms card party "Spring Tonic" have been announced. This annual affair of 100 tables will be held April 27 at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Sorrows Church. As in the past, the proceeds will be donated to the Plymouth State Home and Training School. The specific purpose is to provide orthopedic braces for two young girls who are patients at the home. Co-chairmen Mrs. John Thomas and Mrs. William Axelson are busy formulating plans and will be assisted by the following committee chairmen: Door Prizes, Mrs. Bert Bacon, Mrs. Nathaniel Gregory and Mrs. Donald Simpson; Tickets, Mrs. William Dempster; Table Favors, Mrs. Charles Tanton; Table Placement, Mrs. Mathew Bolin; Decorations, Mrs. Charles Wieder; Posters, Miss Valerie Axelson; Assessments, Mrs. John Lovett; Hostesses, Mrs. Thomas Neveau; Refreshments, Mrs. Max Wayne.

HOW TO ENJOY YOUR PICTURES...MORE

One way is to keep them where you can look at them often—in albums, for example. Or make enlargements of your favorites and hang them on the walls of your home, changing them often.

Another way to get more enjoyment from your pictures is to share them with others.

Most of us like to share our pleasures with others. Yet few of us think of sharing our snapshots.

So... how about it, all you picture hoarders. What about getting out that shoebox of negatives or that album of prints and selecting a few that really ought to be enlarged and sent to favorite relatives and friends.

If you don't have the negatives, remember you can always send us a print and we'll copy it for you. We can make prints of faded pictures look much better than the originals we copied. We can make duplicates of your slides or we can make prints from your slides.

Next time you have a rainy Saturday with nothing much to do, look through your picture board and think of all the pleasure you can give by sharing it.

Open Mind—Utopian?

"If I weren't affected I'd be home watching television."

This is a very typical reaction to citizens towards their local government and Board of Education. Attend just about any session of any governmental unit and the local citizenry is conspicuous by its lack of presence.

This is one reason why the press has an obligation to report the happenings of such meetings. Very often individuals are unable to be present to keep themselves informed. We have no quarrel with the citizen who is unable to attend a meeting.

We do take exception, however, to those citizens who, when directly affected, attend a meeting of the local Council, Commission, or Board of Education without bothering to maintain an open mind.

Don't misunderstand—it is the inalienable right of every citizen to attend any open session of any governing or policy making body. It is especially when directly affected that the individual has a right to plead his case with his elected officials.

The individual also has an obligation in such cases to appraise himself of the facts and to allow the other side the courtesy of being heard.

A case in point—although there are many—was last week's meeting between the administration of the Livonia Schools and parents in the Monroe School area.

The administration readily offered to meet with these people to explain and to re-examine the attendance boundary changes in the Nankin area. This they did. The administration appeared at the meeting armed with the facts and figures as to why the decision was made.

The parents, who were upset and angry at the thought of their children being bused to another school, didn't even bother to listen. They were quiet, but they did not listen.

Whether or not any change will be made in this particular case is unknown. The administration believes that a geographic division is the only solution to the bad situation.

However, a certain amount of dignity and courtesy is due to both sides in the matter.

In this case—as in many instances—the elected officials did provide the basic respect for the individuals concerned and the courtesy of hearing them out. In return they heard charges of "political" decisions and favoritism towards other areas of the District.

Civilization has come a long way from the days of the Spanish Inquisition, the witch burnings, and outright impressment of American seamen into the British Navy. HOWEVER, it still has a long way to go as evidenced by last week's meeting and other—more publicized events such as Selma, Alabama, Franco's Spain, and the blood baths of Cuba and Brazil. Killing Animals 'For Kicks'

Editor: We often wonder, what kind of person is it that can commit the acts of violence that we read about every day. Perhaps this incident which happened this week in our middle-class Livonia neighborhood, holds a small clue.

For the past three weeks, a little brown dog, obviously lost but not sought by owner, had sort of adopted the home of his favorite dog friend. Yesterday, the 11-year-old son in the family, with two companions, all 4th graders, and all of whom the dog had trusted, picked this little dumb animal as their target for a sadistic killing. Upon inquiry by someone who had missed seeing the dog, and to whom the boys had previously bragged that they planned to kill it, these boys gleefully told every gory detail of how they had thrown the dog into water in one of the nearby ditches, staving it and poking it in the stomach way until they tired of the fun, as they called it. This is almost unbelievable, except that last summer I saw these same boys poking sticks into an opossum, shrieking with delight all the while.

Believing as I do, that animals are far more dependable than people as friends, this cruelty is sickening and makes me wonder if this could be the beginning of a pattern of what kind of amusements will be required as these boys grow older. It is certain that something is sadly lacking when a child is raised for 10 or 11 years, in such a way as to not know that you don't get your kicks from killing, or even to be capable of such cruelty. zoning allowed, and apartment use for this land solved a problem, as they were not ideal for single home development.

Contrary to your article we did not dissent from the rest of the board when they approved apartments between the Botsford Inn and the Botsford Hospital. It received unanimous approval. We did object to the density the proponent proposed and did warn him that, he would have to abide by the lower density if and when it was changed in the zoning ordinance.

We would appreciate your publishing this correction so that the records can be kept straight. CHARLES HANNAN and DAVE MILLS

Really Concerned?

Editors: "Concerned Over Unsightly Neighbors" is captioned under a picture of Mayor Moeke and others looking over a rubble and rubbish strewn lot on Garden Ave., south of Plymouth Road. The Mayor is apparently not aware of the Weed and Refuse Ordinance No. 486 and amendment No. 491 or he could have shown "concern" by walking across the hall in City Hall and asked that the City Clerk send notice of the Ordinance to the owner. The Mayor need not "concern" himself with that now, though, as I have already done it myself.

I tried to interest the Mayor in the need for an effective Weed and Refuse ordinance for nearly a whole year now by letters, telegram and to delivering weeds to his office. Had he read the Mayor's Corner of last July 8, he should have drawn the conclusion that the Weed and Refuse Ordinance just wasn't working out. I know of nothing he has done towards up-grading the ordinance.

If he was as "concerned" then as he is now, he could have had his picture taken in front of a clean lot as there would have been no excuse for the condition of the lot he was shown standing in.

No doubt the mails will be flooded with "Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up" literature and the usual quotation from the Mayor on a cleaner, better city in which to live. How much more effective it would be if it also gave instructions on how citizens can get the Weed and Refuse Ordinance implemented and some of the debris might just happen to disappear! ALFRED D. YOUNG

Positive Opinion

Dear Everyone: WHAT IS "THE COUNCIL OF STATEHOOD?" Is it taking the place of something? Is it just another lovely PATRIOTIC organization dedicated to the proposition that the U.N. is USELESS????

Perhaps the person who signed as president of the "COUNCIL" will clarify the aims, ideals, by-laws, and WHOSE statehood they represent?

If the COUNCIL resembles the John Birch Society, I'm automatically AGAIN it... like Winston Churchill and the Nazis... Remember when he said, "If Hitler invaded Hell I'd have a few well chosen words to say in behalf of the Devil" (a NEAR quote and a DEAR one to me... but, then, I'm rather opinionated about some things... like Nazis, fascists, and others.)

Such as "people who use bull-whips against other people"... People who constantly leave "Christ" out of "Christian." People who occupy the "comfortable pew"... forgetting how "uncomfortable" things were for the "Christ" they pray to. People who even suggest Americans are going to flinch under anything that lies ahead of them.

People who think America may stand ALONE with God... why in the world would God stand ALONE with us? He is the Father of ALL, and proud, large, powerful as we are... our lovely land does NOT contain ALL of God's children... SO, He could not allow them to STAND alone, while concentrating all his attention on us... even the LEAST, weakest, vilest one... will not see God turn away from them.

I could go on forever, but I'm tired of always hearing so much from so many and so loudly AGAINST everything. I long to hear more from the good Americans who really believe in Democracy as our forefathers meant it to be. I guess we hear so much of negative ideas because those people MUST be heard by all... or maybe they are trying for a Pulitzer, or a Nobel for literature... Well, I'll tell you this, kids, and bet my small fortune on it... they may infiltrate the PTA, the GIRL SCOUTS, the School Boards (Heaven forbid) and they MAY get the U.S. out of the U.N.... But they'll NOT win a Pulitzer, NEVAH! NEVAH!

JUST ME

Chuck the Chuckholes

Editor: You'd think that the city and county road officials had relatives in the car spring repair and replacement business the way they leave those big chuckholes in suburban roads. I know. Last year my springs broke on a big one on Five Mile Road. Since then I've learned to zig and zag around the holes, hoping it won't happen again. Others zig and zag around them too, creating traffic hazards. We act like a bunch of drunken drivers and we will probably get tickets for reckless driving. Let's repair those chuck holes for Safety's Sake! MAD MOTORIST

No Bottleneck, Please

Editor: Highland Park has always been a traffic bottleneck because its leaders have not had vision or a desire to cooperate. Witness the week-long tieup during and after the big blizzard of 1965.

But are we in Livonia any less guilty? We are lucky in that we are a younger community and we can still be rescued if our city and county leaders act now. Livonia is a bottleneck for our citizens and for those who visit or pass through our town. The least we could do is to widen all north-south and east-west mile roads at all intersections so that cars waiting to turn left or right don't hold up hundreds of vehicles during rush hours. ACTION, PLEASE

Observing the Scene...

By MYRA CHANDLER

May your house be free from tigers—and until it is there is no "safe" place for you or your children to work or play.

All too long, one could hear the discussion of the nation's greatest social problem—race relations.

At church, at a dinner party, at the beauty shop, at the theatre, at a committee meeting, at work; from the butcher, from the egg man; the plight of the Negro was the topic of conversation. My pastor, like most contemporary leaders, says we must protest the inhumanity of Selma, Alabama, with our minds, with our hearts... with our very beings.

Why do these messages fall on so many deaf ears? Fear, it seems, is the reason. People, frightened, by the winds of change are finding scapegoats for their inadequacies.

They agree, when you take the problem back one step beyond the Negro aggression it was the white man's greed which initiated the problem two hundred years ago. This doesn't seem real to them. This is history and does not seem to be on their conscience. They find it hard to relate themselves to the gross cruelty of wrestling strong native black men from their families, comely women from their children; putting them in chains and bringing them to work as slaves—so that the land of the free and the home of the brave could prosper.

If 1,000 white ministers die—it will not erase the cruelty that has been inflicted on the American Negro—these past 200 years.

That established—if the leadership of our country, after the freeing of the slaves 100 years ago, had not cheated on the law, and had lived up to the emancipation proclamation—a program to uplift these freed men would have begun. If the leaders of our country had offered homesteading to these people, encouraged them to move into all corners of this big and wonderful country, they would not be concentrated in the South. Perhaps the revolution through which we are now living would have been avoided. Who knows?

Now, on the brink of great bloodshed our leaders are acting. Let us hope it is not too late. There is a grave risk. Let us hope it is not too late. There is a grave risk, between the young Negro heads aching for a fight and the white demagogues, bent on reconquering.

Many of our youth between these two extremes are caught in unrest. There is a short fuse on a very large keg of dynamite.

It exploded last week at the U of D High School gym. Where we as kids, might have formed a snake dance in the street, to release our excitement at a school game, violence was supplanted.

Don't think violence exists only in the inner city—the police are nervous in all of our communities, wherever kids gather.

The school authorities and the police have two versions on many happenings. We have got to stop sweeping facts under the rug. Three separate incidents involving youth DID happen in Redford Township this week—all involving kids between 14 and 15. One stole a car, two others stole some road equipment and another paid made off with a supply of whiskey from a party store. This they consumed at a school dance.

The day parents start obeying the law, whether it be against bingo games, against driving while drunk, or against racial injustice; that will be the day we will begin to have a clear mind when our kids go to school parties, to the movies, to picnics, to bowling alleys, to roller skating rinks or just to the shopping centers on afternoons.

The President of the United States proposed Monday night—and no doubt the Congress will approve—new civil rights legislation, outlawing voter discrimination.

But as long as we need Federal marshals to enforce this law—as long as the lady in the beauty shop, the egg man, the butcher and most of all we parents fail to obey this law in our hearts, the tiger of prejudice will stalk our footsteps, and those of our children.

Yesterday's Headlines

25 YEARS AGO The census of Livonia Township will start April 2 as reported in the LIVONIAN of March 20, 1940. It was estimated that it would take 30 days to complete the survey. Residents are urged to be careful of "unauthorized surveyors."

15 YEARS AGO The March 24, 1960 LIVONIAN told of the already growing number of contributions for the 1960 Easter Seal drive campaign. $250 has already been donated by Livonians with more coming in.

5 YEARS AGO The main headline of the March 24, 1960 OBSERVER was that Redford Township Supervisor Morell announced plans to reassess the whole township. The whole thing had just taken place in Livonia with the results being published.

20 YEARS AGO The LIVONIAN of March 21, 1945, reported the dates for the Tuberculin Tests in Livonia. The tests are only available for children in grades K, First, Seventh, and Eighth. A charge of 50 cents is required.

Not Anti-Apartment

Editor: We wish to call your attention to a mistake in your article of March 10, entitled "Township Rejects Apartment Units."

We are not traditional foes of apartment development, having voted to include multiple housing in our Township zoning ordinance. At that time we were assured by our Township planner and Attorney Brennan that we would have plenty of time to review the text, and make changes as no apartment building boom was anticipated in the near future.

Since passage of the ordinance we have voted for apartments on the following parcels of land: 12 Mile near Power Road Gill Road and Nine Mile Independence, between St. Alexander's property and the Botsford Hospital.

In all three of these proposals the developers proposed to use a much lower density than our

“Doc” Fenkell to Tell of Tiger Flag Hopes

“What’s new about the Detroit Tigers? What are their chances in the 1965 pennant race?”

These questions will be answered in full of the 1964 world series in films color shown by Neal ‘Doc’ Fenkell, newly named Director of Operations for the Detroit Tigers television network, Thursday at Junior High West.

The program, sponsored by the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce, is the finale of the Sports-A-Rama film series. It will start at 8:15 p.m.

Fenkell, who resides in the Woodlore subdivision in Plymouth Township, received his promotion a few days ago. He has been with the Tiger organization since 1954 when he was assistant public relations director. He advanced to director in the fall of 1954 and then became manager of the Tigers’ Speakers Bureau and Special Events in 1960.

For the final program, Jaycee officers have announced a special admission price for all boys under 15. Each will be admitted for the reduced price of 35 cents if he wears a basketball sweatshirt or a baseball cap.

Net proceeds from the show go towards the support of the many Jaycee sponsored youth activities in the Plymouth Community. These include the Plymouth Community Junior Basketball League and the Plymouth Little League programs.

An able story teller with a fund of funny yarns, Doc still packs a wealth of baseball information into his talks. “Entertainment first, but information too,” is his motto.

He isn’t a long winded talker. “For youngsters a 15-minute speech keeps them from fidgeting,” Fenkell explains. “And for adults, about 30 minutes—then the questions start popping.”

Neal Fenkell

The questions generally vary about current doings of the Tigers and deal mostly with trades and new players. Young listeners usually want to know, “Who is the best Tiger Player?” or “When will the Tigers win another pennant?”

“How do you answer a question like that?” Doc asks.

But he’ll try to have the answers when the kids start firing question at him Thursday night at Junior High West.

Longtime Plymouthite Dies at 67

Mrs. Della Schomberger, 67, of 967 Palmer, Plymouth, mother of Mrs. Dorothy Sincock, manager of the Observer Newspaper’s Plymouth office, died Saturday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor following a short illness.

Services were held Tuesday morning in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in charge of Rev. Fr. Francis Byrne with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. The Rosary was recited Monday night in the Schrader Funeral Home.

Mrs. Schomberger had resided in Plymouth since 1942, moving here from Calumet. She was a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, the Rosary Society, Daughters of Isabella, Forester Lodge and Daughters of Eternal City.

Mrs. Schomberger was born June 28, 1897 in Calumet.

Surviving are: her husband, Stephen Schomberger; four daughters, Mrs. Sincock, Mrs. Carolyn Caldwell, Mrs. Marie Criger and Miss Florence Panatoni, all of Plymouth; one sister, Mrs. Armond Nardi of Detroit; two brothers, John and Louis Ferrari of Detroit; and six grandchildren.

Trustees Deny Plymouth Bowl Request for Concourse Service

Frank Mocerl, manager of the Plymouth Bowl, learned that the Plymouth Township Board hasn’t changed its mind about the matter of not permitting table service on the concourse even though flooded with petitions from bowlers asking a change.

Mocerl, accompanied by other officials of the bowling establishments presented petitions bearing the names of 996 bowlers from the various leagues at the Bowl. Of the total, 964 requested the Board to permit the serving of liquor on the concourse and only 32 opposed the action.

In handing the petitions to the Trustees, Mocerl indicated a majority of the bowlers were vehement over the fact that no table service was permitted on the concourse.

“Realizing this feeling, we decided to place petitions around the lanes,” said Mocerl, “No pressure was exerted in any way to get signatures. All we wanted was some idea of the thoughts of our bowlers. We feel these petitions with 964 signatures in favor and 32 against are a definite indication of their feeling.”

Mocerl indicated the Bowl management was asking only that the table service be permitted between the hours of 5 p.m. and midnight Mondays through Fridays.

“We aren’t asking for the privilege on the weekends,” he said, “We have open bowling then and have many family groups taking advantage of our facilities. These bowlers aren’t interested in table service of any kind but the league bowlers would appreciate it very much during the week nights.”

Trustee Dick Lauterbach told the Board he had made a check of other bowling establishments in the area and found only one serving in the concourse.

“As a matter of fact,” he said, “I learned that Livonia has an ordinance against such service.”

Mal McQueen, one of the partners in the Bowl, indicated that Westland Bowl located in nearby Canton Township and chief competitor of the lanes, had the service. He reported it was permitted in Redford Township and in the City of Detroit.

“This board has been most considerate of the Plymouth Bowl,” he stated, “But the bowlers are irate and we feel we should do everything possible to answer their requests. That’s why we are here tonight, asking again for the Board to permit this service.”

“It was my understanding that when the permit was first issued that it was for the bar area only,” stated Trustee Louis Norman, “I’d like to know how and when the tables appeared on the concourse.”

Representatives of the Bowl denied any knowledge of such an understanding but Township Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes informed the Board that there was such a verbal agreement when the permit was issued.

Lauterbach questioned the value of the petitions on the basis that most of the signatures were from persons residing outside of the township.

C. Veach Sparks, veteran member of the Board, opined that he wasn’t impressed with the petitions since it appeared to him that many of the names appeared to be signed by the same person.

After considerable discussion, Trustee Ralph Garber moved to deny the request. It was supported by Lauterbach and passed with a unanimous vote.

And for the second time, the Plymouth Bowl management learned the Township Trustees aren’t about to allow service in the concourse area.

Emphasizes Goal of Schools

Plymouth School Supt. Russell Isbister emphasized four areas in his talk on “Equal Opportunities as Applied in Plymouth Schools” before members of the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity.

The program was the fourth and final of a series on the topic of “Know Your Community,” which was sponsored by the Assembly. It was held in the senior high annex auditorium.

Isbister discussed: the philosophy and goals of the schools, the role of the teacher, the importance of curriculum, and the policy employment held by the Plymouth School system. He said the goal of the school should be to provide opportunity and encouragement for all to develop their maximum educational potential and to acquire the necessary knowledge, attitudes, values and skills which will enable them to become active, responsible and productive citizens capable of living with themselves and other people within the framework of our American ideals.

Isbister stressed the importance of the teacher not only in what she knows and teaches, but also her ability to make each individual realize his own importance.

He cited a story told by Ralph Bunche when asked which of his teachers had the most profound effect on his life. Bunche named his sixth grade teacher, saying she was the first person who had made him feel important. It is Isbister’s belief that Plymouth is fortunate in having many dedicated teachers.

According to Isbister, the fact that our schools do not have a full complement of minority groups represented has proven to be an educational handicap to Plymouth youngsters.

For this reason, planned experiences such as exchange visits with integrated classrooms and talks by representatives of minority groups give the children a chance to grow and develop.

He pointed out the importance of textbooks in forming young people’s concept of minority groups. It is important for Negro children, or even white children in an inner-city environment, to be able to identify with the situations portrayed in their textbooks.

Detroit has replaced many of their texts, using readers, etc., that portray Negro children. Isbister said Plymouth teachers and librarians are constantly on the lookout for books that will help our youngsters to a greater understanding of all people.

The last item touched on was teacher employment. He showed copies of the teacher application form used in Plymouth, on which there is no reference to religion, national origin or race.

When asked why there are no Negro teachers in Plymouth, Isbister stated that applications from them have been limited, but when one applies for an open teaching position who is the best qualified applicant for that job, a contract will be offered to him. He said that Plymouth had a very successful experience with a Negro student teacher from Madonna College this year.

DPW News and Notes

By SUPT. JOSEPH BIDA

Plymouth Dept. Public Works
Public Works crews were busy the past week patching streets with approximately 200 tons of cold patch used in all sections of the city.

The warm days and cold nights brought a lot of chuck holes—but I’m sure Plymouth isn’t the only city with this problem. Most of our trouble is in the areas without curbs and gutters where the water stays on the edge of the street or road and the edge of the Seal Coat breaks through, pops out and a chuck hole develops.

I feel quite certain the residents on these streets and roads must realize that it is about time for some money to be spent and either concrete or asphalt installed so that the area will have curbs and gutters.

We can’t have parking on local streets without curbs and gutters and still expect the roads to hold up. In many locations we have gravel or single or double seat coat.

The DPW is planning considerable road work this summer. Many uncurbed streets will have to be cut down to grade because the center of the road is higher than the sidewalk.

As a point of general information, the Park Drive leading into the park off Mill Street is a county road and not maintained by the City.

The DPW would like to call attention again to refuse collection. Alley pickups will be made from the street until further notice. Residents who have improper containers will be given ordinance violation tickets and the refuse will not be picked up.

Papers must be bundled and tied. Brush must be in three feet lengths, bundled and tied so that it can be readily handled by one man. Containers must not be larger than 30 gallons. No paper boxes, paper drums or barrels are permitted.

The DPW has received letters of thanks for a job well done during the big snow from the McLaren Co., Plymouth Community Schools and the Alexander Hamilton Insurance Co.

We wish to thank all concerned. It certainly is nice to know that the work and effort were appreciated.

Realtors Told Real Estate Outlook Is Wonderful

A "wonderful" outlook for real estate during the remainder of 1965 is foreseen by Edward Henkel, Jr., president of the Detroit Real Estate Board.

Henkel was the speaker at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors — United Northwestern Realty Association at Cregar's Restaurant.

Henkel at the same time called on his hearers to become fighters for free-enterprise and property rights.

"The day of being the pacifist in this battle of individual initiative is past," Henkel declared.

"Let's be 'Billy Grahams' for a free business society, for a freedom of choice of livelihood as well as for freedom of speech and freedom of religion."

Factors that will help keep the real estate business in high gear during the remainder of 1965, Henkel explained, include the scheduled further reductions in individual and corporate income taxes, the increase in social security pensions, the contemplated cut in excise taxes, and the government's drive to keep dollar spending at home.

"All factors point to more money in circulation for spending or savings, more money available for business growth, and more money ready for industrial investment. To us, this offers augurs well for continuation of the real estate business rise," Henkel continued.

The DREB leader pointed to record-breaking retail sales, and auto sales and production as barometers pointing to a continued upturn in business activity, especially in the Detroit area, during the months ahead.

On the other hand, he cautioned that the steel industry cannot continue to maintain its present production pace, even if a strike is averted, and this will have a "sobering effect" on the economy as a whole.

"With national economic indicators so favorable, there is every reason to believe that employment will remain high," Henkel continued, "and you and I know that existing or new homes are not bought with welfare checks."

On the other hand, there are factors in the present situation, especially inside Michigan, that could adversely affect the Realtor and the property owner, Henkel warned. One, he said, concerns civil rights, or more properly, "rights-in-property."

"Under the new State Constitution and its Civil Rights Commission, we are faced with another onslaught on our rights to do business in a free market atmosphere," Henkel declared.

"The attitudes, the hamperings, the rabble-rousing endeavors of the Civil Rights Commission will do much toward influencing our future success, the extent to which we can attract the consumer's dollar, and the degree to which we can benefit in this otherwise bright future."

Another hazard, the DREB president declared, consists of inequities in the present property-tax structure.

"It should be much easier for small municipalities to put their taxing-pro-rating on a uniform footing throughout the state than it is for home buyers and Realtors to be forced to operate by one set of rules in one place, and another set in a neighboring community," Henkel asserted. "The right to tax is the right to enslave, if it is placed in the wrong hands," he continued. "Under our new Michigan Constitution, we have a new taxing formula and assessing ratio, not work to destroy property ownership at all levels."

By Donna Hug

The North Farmington High School Band on Saturday, March 13, participated in the District Festival, at Utica High School.

Tuesday, March 9, the gymnastic team, under the fine coaching of Mr. Shilling, gave an excellent demonstration performance during third hour.

This performance was given to help spread the spirit of gymnastics. It also helped explain some of the rules and approaches of gymnastics. All who participated did a terrific job and I'm sure that they promoted the gymnastic spirit.

On Saturday, March 13, the gymnastic team was a contender for the State Finals, which were held in Ann Arbor.

The Senior Record Dance will be held in the school gymnasium on Friday, March 19, from 8 to 11 p.m. The dress will be casual and the price will be 50 cents stag and 75 cents drag. They hope this affair to be a terrific success.

On Wednesday and Thursday, March 17 and 18, there will be an exchange day between North Farmington and John Glenn.

On Wednesday the students participating in the Exchange Day will be the guests of North Farmington; Thursday, the students chosen from Student Council will travel to John Glenn.

son (sophomore), Gary Actelli (junior), Karen Kearns (junior), Terry Shabach (senior), Mark Petersmark (junior), and Gisliind Steinhauer (who is our foreign exchange student from Germany). Student Council will hold their meeting on March 18 during last hour.

The marking period will end on Friday, March 19.

"Call Me Madam", a political satire on the Truman Administration, has been selected as North Farmington's fourth annual spring musical to be presented by the Music, Art, Home Economics, and Physical Education Departments.

Mr. Hunt of the Music department will direct the musical; all scenery and stage hands will be supervised by Mr. Shilling of the Art Department under the supervision of Mrs. Quiggle; and choreography shall be taken care of by Miss Peller, of the Physical Education Department.

On Wednesday, March 24, Bill Manasco will accompany Mr. McKenzie to Thurston for a Northwest Suburban Student Council meeting.

Mr. Shilling will also accompany Mr. McKenzie and Bill, so that he might make final plans, concerning the league Art show, which will be held in the month of April between the 2nd and the 8th.

Miss Sulewski, director of the All School Play, has made plans to present the play on Friday, April 9 and Saturday, April 10. The All-School play, which is to be presented at this particular time, shall bear the title "The Miracle Worker."

The theme will be the same as that of the movie, "The Miracle Worker". The cast consists of: Helen Keller (little mute girl) played by Jan Oliver; Annie Sullivan (Helen's teacher) played by Eren Ozker; Kate Keller (the mother) portrayed by Bonnie Britton; Captain Keller (the father) portrayed by Mike McIntosh; James (Helen's brother) portrayed by David Frank; Aunt Ev played by Cathy Glessner; Viney (colored Maid) by Sue Snyder.

Under the fine direction of Miss Sulewski, our English Teacher and the assistant director, Jo Anne Gunderlock (senior), the play is progressing rapidly.

Something new is being added to the activity period which meets on Fridays at 1:35 p.m. Class tournaments of basketball will be held from March 12 through April 23. Results of the drawing held are as follows: March 12—Freshmen and Sophomores; March 26—Juniors and Seniors; April 2—the two Class Champions play each other; and April 23—the Faculty vs. Class Champion.

One thin dime is being charged for admission. So let's all attend because this basketball tournament promises to be a good one.

Graduating time is getting closer and closer as each day goes by. At least it seems like it. Last Tuesday sure made it feel that it isn't going to be too much longer as the Senior class ordered their announcements. For those of you who haven't turned in your order yet, let's get it in so that the Senior class will get their announcements on time.

On Monday, March 15, the third hour Senior Home Economics class took a field trip to Consumers Power. The girls are drawing floor plans of their dream house and got many new and useful ideas for the interior. Mrs. Mansfield, Home Economics teacher, accompanied the girls.

ELECTION SET MARCH 29:

Classrooms, Auditorium Asked In Clarenceville Millage Vote

More than 30 new classrooms and a high school auditorium will be added to Clarenceville Public Schools if a bonding issue passes March 29—and it'll all be done without an increase in the district's tax rate.

That was the promise by Board of Education members this week as they outlined building and expansion needs in the district. Voters will face both a $3.5 million bond issue and a companion four-mill tax proposal on the March 29 ballot. While the bond issue will be aimed primarily at a major building program, the millage vote—which will also be levied with no tax rate hike—will provide higher teachers' salaries and improved educational programs.

Noting that there will be an estimated increase of 352 in the district's enrollment between now and the 1966-67 school year,

Board members told The Observer, "In September, 1966, our present facilities will be at least seven classrooms short, and approximately 14 classrooms short of needs for 1967-68 school year."

The $3.5 million bonding issue and the four-mill tax vote, they added, will provide—

- Five new classrooms, a conference area and an enlarged multipurpose room at Edgewood Elementary School;
- At least five regular classrooms, a kindergarten room, library, conference area and teacher's lounge at Westbrook Elementary School;
- Completion of the second floor at Clarenceville Junior High School by adding nine regular classrooms, and construction of a special music area for the school's band and choir program and improved storage space in the school building;
- A two-story wing at the Senior High School with 10 regular classrooms, a language area, commercial area, two audiovisual rooms, a special education classroom, improved counseling facilities and an auditorium.

On the same ballot, voters will be asked to approve a four-mill tax increase. School officials say that two of the four millage votes needed to at least continue the district's program at its present level when the expanded units are completed and to improve teachers salaries. The other two are being asked as "insurance" against a possible cut in the district's allocation by the State Allocations Board next summer. They'll be levied only if the state allocations are reduced.

Board members outlined their reasons for the tax vote, noting that—

"It's the Board's desire to continue all services now provided to children presently enrolled and for additional anticipated enrollees; "There is a need to continue improvement of the educational program and provision of increased educational opportunities for children; and

"There must continue to be improvements in the salary schedules, thereby placing the school district in a more competitive position to obtain the services of qualified and capable people and to retain people on the staff by providing more nearly adequate salaries."

"The two proposals—operating millage and bonding—can be effected without a tax rate increase by taking advantage of new State legislation relative to bonding," said Board members.

Robert Hall To Celebrate 25th Birthday

Robert Hall Clothes will celebrate its 25th anniversary this spring and the opening of its 400th store next year. From a modest beginning in 1940 in Waterbury, Conn., Robert Hall has grown into a giant retail clothing chain with 380 stores from Maine to Hawaii.

During its 25 years of record-breaking growth, Robert Hall has introduced many new ideas in the retail field, including new methods of merchandising and new ways of serving the American public.

Harold Rosner, President of Robert Hall and one of its founders, reasoned that a person wanted to spend his money only on family apparel and not on a store's fancy upkeep. By eliminating all unnecessary overhead expenses and selling for cash only, Robert Hall has kept prices down without ever sacrificing quality.

Years ago, Robert Hall foresaw America as a car-riding nation and began opening clothing centers on the highways, pioneering today's highway shopping centers.

Robert Hall was also the first retail clothing chain to use saturation advertising via newspapers, radio, television and national magazines to achieve the greatest possible coverage of its market.

Robert Hall has never deviated from its original "Low Price" policy. The rapid growth and continuing expansion of Robert Hall is tangible proof that the 25-year-old chain has the American vote of confidence.

In appreciation for these 25 years of phenomenal public acceptance, Rosner promises that "values will be better than ever at Robert Hall during our anniversary celebration."

ATTENDING the DOH luncheon from the suburban area were doctors' wives (l-r) Mrs. Frank DeVitt, Mrs. Lester Schaeffer, Mrs. Edward Loniewski, Mrs. James Grekin, Mrs. Milton Kesley, Co-chairman of the luncheon; and Mrs. Louis Manley, president of the Auxiliary.

Poindexter To Debate

Thomas L. Poindexter will take part in a panel on States Rights, at the Farmington Community Forum, at the Universalist-Unitarian Church of Farmington, Warner at Thomas St. (one block north of Grand River and one block east of Farmington Road), at 8 p.m., Thursday, March 25.

The moderator of the program will be John Millhone, of the editorial staff of the Detroit Free Press, and Chairman of the Human Relations Council of Farmington.

Others on the program are George Crockett, civil rights leader in Mississippi last summer, and a well known Detroit attorney; Allen Rosenfeld, of the editorial staff of the Observer newspapers; Mr and Mrs. James Boggs, authors and well-known left wing intellectuals and James Freed, of Farmington, a former officer in the John Birch Society.

Adding to the interest of the discussion is Councilman Poindexter's recent attempt to prevent the sympathy march in support of the demonstrations in Selma, Ala. Poindexter said such action was improper interference in the affairs of another state. As a result, he was censured by the 17th District Democratic Party—of which he is a member.

Hail Prep Cagers on All-Observer 'Dream' Quintet

By GEORGE MASKIN
(Observer Sports Editor)

Presenting the 1964-65 Observer All-Star high school basketball team!

Selected in cooperation with the coaches, officials and others close to the prep cage scene, the Observer team carries everything a coach would want to bring home a winning team.

Represented on the first team are players from five schools. The honorees:

Fred Matevia of Bentley.
John Olander of Farmington.
Al Maibach of Redford Union.
Rick Schultz of North Farmington.
Brian Benner of Our Lady of Sorrows.
Olander, Maibach and Benner are seniors. Matevia and Schultz both will be back for another season of prep basketball competition next season.

The voting for the all the players was close, which was about the way the season went for the area teams. Here's a rundown of the 1964-65 Observer All Stars for 1964-65:

FRED MATEVIA

He's lefty, who can go to his right. All of which makes him a little different than most southpaws.

A junior, who stands 6-4 and weigh 180 pounds, Matevia averaged 18 points per game this past season. He also rebounded very well.

Coach George Fefles of Bentley said of Matevia: "Fred is not affected by any honors or glory which come his way. He remains a level-headed young man."

The Dream Team

PLAYER	SCHOOL	HT	WT	AGE
John Olander	Farmington	5-11	165	17
Al Maibach	Redford Union	6-2	180	17
Brian Benner	Our Lady of Sorrows	6-0	160	18
Fred Matevia	Bentley	6-4	185	17
Rick Schultz	North Farmington	6-3	180	16

ALL SMILES is North Farmington basketball coach Dick Wilson. He was picked Observer coach of the year after turning in a fine year on the staff of the Raiders.

Readers' Wilson 'Coach-of-Year'

Hail to Dick Wilson of North Farmington, the 1964-65 Observer Newspapers' basketball "coach-of-the-year."

Wilson rates the laurels after leading North Farmington to a share of the North-west League title for the second straight season. In 1963-64 North Farmington finished on top with Thurston. This past season, North Farmington and Birmingham Groves finished with identical records at the top of the heap.

Each time it was necessary for North Farmington to win its final league game on the road and against the team it was fighting, for the top.

North Farmington was equal to the occasion . . . won when it counted the most.

Wilson's job of moulding such a team two years running, earns him the high recognition as the Observer Newspapers "Coach of the year."

Matevia has found that work and practice had paid off for him in basketball. He keeps going at basketball the year around.

AL MAIBACH

Has the rare ability of being able to get the ball off while in the air. This is something most basketball players can't do.

His greatest strength to Redford Union this season came in rebounding. He averaged better than ten per game and 50 of his 162 total were on the offensive board. This enabled Redford Union to get the extra shots up.

It is a well-known factor in basketball that it's not the first shot a team takes at the basket in a particular thrust, but it's the second and third ones "that kill you."

Maibach averaged 13 points per game this past season, but it is to be remembered that he was a member of a team which boasted a well-balanced attack.

He clicked on 86 of 184 shots from the floor for a fine 47 percent. He had troubles from the foul line, where he made 37 out of 88 for 47 percent, too.

JOHN OLANDER

Here's a young man who came to Farmington high from Highland Park where he was indoctrinated into the winning and sound cage atmosphere.

Although he stands only 5-10, Olander has been a standout on Coach Jack Quiggle's Farmington varsity.

He was acclaimed as the standout player in the recent district tourney at Farmington, although his Falcons were beaten in the championship game by Walled Lake.

Olander was a versatile prep performer. Quiggle switched him from forward to guard to center. Wherever he played, Olander did the job.

He averaged 20 points per game this past season. He has an excellent outside shot, drives well and boasts the natural instinct Quiggle and other coaches look for in a cager.

Fine leader on the court. Also good passer.

RICK SCHULTZ

He's destined for even greater things next year, according to his coach, Dick Wilson.

As a junior this past winter, Schultz averaged 18.4 points per game. He also was one of North Farmington's top rebounders.

"Rick is a great scrapper," said his coach. "He also was a fine competitor for us all season."

Wilson also paid his junior another high compliment: "He could play badly, but still look good."

BRIAN BENNER

One half of Our Lady of Sorrows' fine brother act. Mike Benner was a starter all season, too, for the Farmington parish quintet which placed second in its division.

Brian was a three-year veteran for Sorrows. As a senior he averaged 22 points and was one of the most consistent marksmen in the area. He averaged 55 percent from the floor.

Standout playmaker and also a fine hustler. Performs in baseball for Sorrows.

The following players rate honorable mention:
PLYMOUTH—Gary Grady and Jim Lake.
REDFORD UNION—Mike McCrea.
THURSTON—John Page.
NORTH FARMINGTON—Rick Lorenz.
ST. AGATHA—Mike Roemer.
CLARENCEVILLE—Danny Freels.
BENTLEY—Nick Bonder.
OUR LADY OF SORROWS—Miles Kearney.
FRANKLIN—Sam Antonazzo.

OBSERVING SPORTS

By George Maskin

"We live in fear . . . One of our community's veteran high school sports figures was doing the talking.

It was the morning after—after nine youngsters were stabbed following Highland Park's upset victory over Northwestern in the state Class A regionals in the University of Detroit High school gym.

"No, we haven't had any trouble around here," said the man on the other end of the phone, who chose to remain anonymous because of his "live in fear" remark.

After all, if he disclosed his name, somebody might say: "It couldn't happen here. Why does this man stir possible trouble?"

As our friend added: "You never know." And, you don't . . . in this world in which we live.

Who was to blame for what happened at the University of Detroit High School?

Students? Teachers? Police? The State Prep Association? Take your pick. We suspect all had a part in the matter.

To start with, the State Association didn't take the necessary precautions "to police" the game. There was no call put out to either school to make certain that a full complement of teachers was present to sit among the fans . . . and try and keep the fever down.

From what we understand, the city of Detroit assigned only four or five police to the game.

The students were left free at the end of the game to flood the floor and jam and push . . . and stab with knives.

The repercussions of what happened in Detroit literally were heard 'round the world.

In the last few days, this reporter has bounced freely around the northeast and eastern parts of the country.

In stops at such places as Providence, R.I.; Ashburham, Mass.; Boston, Mass.; Philadelphia, Pa.; and the great Madison Square Garden in New York, the subject constantly was brought up.

"What happened in Detroit?" We tried to explain . . . but not with very good answers. Who really has the answers?

In Detroit, the school administrators are concerned . . . deeply concerned . . . over what to do with athletics.

Charley Forsythe, the state prep director, is worried.

It's no secret that the Detroit officials came within a whisker of tossing out all their athletics. Some advocated that they should.

But, why for the crimes of a few should many have to suffer?

Undoubtedly, school superintendent Brownell of Detroit using the aforementioned thinking in announcing: We will carry on . . . and play for the time being, in secret.

Meantime, closer to home . . . in the area serviced by our Observer newspapers, school administrators "are living in fear."

The same goes in Birmingham, Garden City, Southfield, Inkster, Romulus and where have you.

We could add, too, in New York City and Chicago and 'way out in Los Angeles.

In our own community, the school authorities work with police officers to take as many precautions as possible.

Les Anders of Bentley was saying: "We always have a great many faculty members present for our games. The city supplies the police."

"When we have a tournament, or a very important game, we increase the number of faculty and police in attendance. For the most part, the chief job of the police is to direct traffic."

Anders recalls only one bit of trouble around a Bentley game. And that was several years ago. The matter quickly was taken care of.

But, we understand, there have been few post-game situations—two or three hours after the close of the operations—that have stirred the police to haul somebody in.

Milo Karhu, the basketball coach at Redford Union, told us that Athletic Director Howard Kraft turns to the auxiliary police in the Township to take care of traffic at football and basketball games.

As at Bentley, Redford Union faculty members are on deck to supervise at all home games.

Over at Plymouth high, John Sandmann, athletic chief, said that the police and fire authorities turn out for football.

"The faculty handles matters very well at our basketball games," he said.

"But, remember, the police station is just across the street," added Sandmann.

Anders and Sandmann both declared that their schools constantly are working not only among themselves and their students, but with other schools which they meet to maintain the highest and happiest relationships.

"This is one way to help avert trouble," said Anders. "But, nothing is sure-fire," noted Sandmann.

Anders and Sandmann admit that the problems in Plymouth and Livonia "are different" from what they are in Detroit or other big cities.

They also are well aware, as are officials in Detroit, that oft times the trouble at prep games is provoked by non students, as was the case last week, Sandmann said.

"So-called friends . . . guys that are out of school or maybe attend another school . . . mess it up for the majority."

Sandmann paused: "We talk about the majority ruling in our country. Unfortunately, it is what the minority does that affects so many of us in our lives."

It's going to be interesting to see what State Director Charley Forsythe does next year at state tournament time.

Perhaps, Forsythe may elect to have more games staged in secrecy, except for television cameras.

The latter might just solve some of the problems. Just think of what developments could arise?

Bentley is to meet Plymouth. The game is played at 10 a.m. in the Bentley gym.

The players are there and the officials. Also a closed circuit television hookup.

When tipoff time arrives, students in each study room at Bentley and Plymouth turn aside their books. The television sets come on.

Teachers announce: "Now we'll watch the game."

When the contest is over, the pupils re-open their books and classes resume.

Nobody gets pushed around . . . everybody sees the game . . . anxious parents don't have to worry that junior may smash up the car . . . and moms of daughters can relax, too, because the young lady might get home a little earlier.

It's just a thought.

HERE THEY ARE. The All Area Suburban Observer All-Star team. From left to right—Al Maibach of Redford Union, Rick Schultz of North Farmington, Fred Matevia of Bentley High, John Olander of Farmington High and Brian Benner of Our Lady of Sorrows.

Thurston Swimmer Places 9th

EAST LANSING — Greater Livonia teams came up with only two places in the state high school Class A swimming meet here last Saturday night.

Gordon Niles of Thurston placed ninth in the 100-yard breast stroke in 1:07.6 as the event was won by John Johnson of Royal Oak Kimball in 1:05.6.

Plymouth's 200-yard relay team was 11th in a race won by Grosse Pointe.

Birmingham Seaholm repeated as champions for the fourth straight year with 160 points. Second was Battle Creek Central with Royal Oak Kimball third.

Technical School Grad

Airman Third Class James L. Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Krueger of 8925 Hemingway, has been graduated from the technical training course for U.S. Air Force jet aircraft mechanics at Sheppard AFB, Tex. The airman is a graduate of Lee M. Thurston High School.

Newcomer Steals Show At U. of D.

BY SUE SHAUGHNESSY
 A newcomer to the University of Detroit stage completely upstages the veterans and dominates the current U. of D. production of George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance."

His name is Jay Zink who appears as Bentley Summerhays. Maybe the upstaging is simply that Bentley, while not managing to "outtalk" all the other characters does "outmaneuver" them.

Mr. Zink, a freshman at the University, literally throws himself into the part and what he lacks in polish and technique is compensated for by heart.

Billed as "A Debate in one sitting" the play covers — as many debates do — a wide variety of relevant and irrelevant topics. Shaw expounds on his favorite topics of morality, religion, the bible, capitalism, old age, families, the aristocracy, and the weaker sex. He also entertains.

The U. of D. production, directed by Alan Jorgensen, hits the high points and moves along as rapidly as the author's "lessons" will permit.

Tom St. Charles, Mike Irlbacher and Seamus O'Brien who are well known to the patrons of the U. of D. Repertory Theatre turn their usual high level performance. Tom Marsh, as Julius Baker, captivates the audience without saying a word. His facial expressions are more than enough.

Another newcomer to the U. of D. Stage is freshman Kelly Burke, who according to the program is "an asslander

Credit Union Gives Dividend

At the regular January board meeting St. Fabian's Credit Union declared its first dividend. President Don Blaul announced the dividend would be 2 per cent per annum. Mr. Blaul further stated dividend would be earned by a depositor who had savings of one calendar month or more.

Mrs. Gertrude Graczyk was appointed to Credit Committee to fill vacancy created by the death of Howard Lock.

St. Fabian's Credit Union annual meeting was held Monday evening, Fran Bosler, Vic Stockell and Don Blaul were appointed the Nominating Committee. Two board members, one Supervisory Committee and one Credit Committee member were elected for three year terms. Features of the evening were a door prize of a dinner for two at a popular Farmington restaurant.

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK is coming to Farmington. The Wayne State University Children's Theatre production of the fairy tale will be presented at Farmington Junior High School April 3. The play will be performed at 10 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m. The Farmington appearance is sponsored by the Farmington Area PTA Council.

'Jack and the Beanstalk' Slates Date in Farmington

"Jack and the Beanstalk," a dramatization of the famous fairy tale, will be presented by the Wayne State University Children's Theatre on April 3 at the Farmington Junior High School. The performances, scheduled for 10 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m., are sponsored by the Farmington area PTA Council.

Proceeds from the performance will go to the PTA Council Scholarship Fund. Tickets may be purchased at any Farmington school.

The University Children's Theatre has been touring stage adaptations of the children's classics for over 20 years. Plays are selected to encourage the children's appreciation of good literature, as well as to arouse their interest in the theatre. Among the plays which have been produced are: "Alice in Wonderland," "Cinderella," "The Elves and the Shoemaker," "The Seven League Boots," "The Emperor's New Clothes," "Hansel and Gretel," "Rumpelstiltskin," and "Aladdin."

This year's production of "Jack and the Beanstalk" runs about an hour in length. The cast includes: David Berg, Gail Gilto, Tracy Brown, Tom Bryant, John Jones, Patricia King, Joyce Kinonen, Daniel Lemke, Janice Saul, John Simkus, Sue Storms and Linda Ybarrodo.

The company of actors handles all of the costumes, scenery, properties, lighting and sound, as well as appearing before the lights. Direction is by T. O. Andrus who heads the Children's Theatre program at Wayne.

Spanish Dancing Group Set U. of D. Appearance

The Jose Molina Bailes Espanoles appear at the University of Detroit for one performance Saturday, March 27, as part of the U. of D. Town and Gown Celebrity Series. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building Ballroom on the McNichols Road Campus.

The dance group will present twenty numbers which traverse the entire spectrum of Spanish dance: the pulsating rhythms of Castile, Seville, Granada, Barcelona and Madrid; the zambors and Andalusian mambos; boleros and tangos; the earthy humor of the peasants and fishermen; and the stately dances from the Court of Charles III.

There is something in the program for everyone, from the well loved "Capriccio Espagnol" and Ravel's "Bolero" to the little known folk songs and gypsy rhythms that have been handed down from Spanish father to Spanish son.

The concept is original, the choreography is fresh and inventive, the staging imaginative. The costumes, created new each season by Spain's foremost designers, are the most beautiful ever to be used in a production of this kind in the United States. For ticket information call 342-1029.

Stratford Announces Repertory for Summer

One of the first harbingers of spring in this part of the country is the opening of the Stratford Festival's Box Office — and this year the event took place on Monday, March 1 at 9:30 a.m. At that time, almost 400,000 tickets, representing a record box office potential of $1,494,700 went on sale over the counter and by mail order for the Festival's 16-week season.

The 1965 season will open at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, June 14, with "Henry IV" (Henry IV, Part I), "Falstaff" (Henry IV, Part 2), "Julius Caesar" and "The Cherry Orchard" are the other three plays in the repertory at the Festival Theatre.

At the Avon Theatre, the North American Premiere of the Weill-Brecht opera, "Mahagonny", will take place on July 2 with last year's tremendously successful "The Marriage of Figaro" joining in repertory on July 6. The opera will run Monday, with matinees at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays, until Aug. 28.

The Festival will also present eight Sunday afternoon and six Saturday morning concerts in the Festival Theatre. For the convenience of those wishing to attend both afternoon and evening, the new starting time for Matinees will be 2:00 p.m. allowing for a longer dinner period between performances. The Saturday morning chamber music concerts will this year begin at 11:00 a.m. Traditionally, all opening night performances begin at 7:30 p.m. with regular evening performances thereafter at 8:30 p.m. There will be matinee performances on three statutory holidays — July 1, (Dominion Day) Aug. 2 (Civic Holiday) and Sept. 6 (Labor Day). While there is an evening performance of "Mahagonny" in the Avon Theatre on Aug. 2, no evening performances will be held in the Festival Theatre on these days.

Two benefit performances will be given during the season. "Henry IV" will be presented for the Tyrone Guthrie Award on Friday afternoon, July 30. "Falstaff" will be presented on Friday afternoon August 13 on behalf of the Actors' Fund of Canada.

The box office will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for the first week. From March 8 to May 15, the hours will be 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 9:00 a.m. to 12 noon Saturdays. Thereafter throughout the season the box office will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. six days a week. Tickets will also be available from ticket agents located in Brantford, Buffalo, Detroit, Hamilton, Kitchener, London, Montreal, Oakville, Ottawa, Stratford, Toronto and Woodstock.

All current times listed are Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

Meadow Brook Music Festival Sets '65 Program

Its "Encore, 1965" for Oakland University's Meadow Brook Music Festival launched to nationwide acclaim only last summer as the first phase in the development of a complete performing arts center for the area.

Mrs. Rinehart S. Bright, who serves with her husband as a general chairman of the project, recently called together more than 100 key women for coffee, a musical preview of the season ahead, and to insure another summer of sold out performances for the series of concerts.

Among the women attending this meeting were five area representatives: Mrs. Gordon Friday (GA. 7-4679) and Mrs. Dean Stoppel (GA. 7-5871) from Livonia; Mrs. Robert Jenkins (GL 3-6569) and Mrs. David McCubrey (GL 3-7815) from Plymouth; and Mrs. Delos Hamlin (GR. 4-6193) from Farmington. 'Johnny' of Philip Morris Fame to Appear at Wonderland Johnny, of Philip Morris, the world's most durable living trade mark, will appear at Wonderland Shopping Center from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 20.

JOHNNY public figure. Johnny's career as a public personality is literally a brief history of modern American entertainment, spanning the early days of radio through the most popular and long-lasting video shows of today.

The diminutive page boy was first heard on April 17, 1933, on the Ferde Grofe Show, an evening program built around the composer's orchestra. From the very first evening, Johnny's perfect B-flat "Call for Philip Morris" blended with Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite" ("On The Trail"), with its dominant E-flat, and a new, unique sound had entered the folk lore of American advertising.

There are many stories which have grown up about Johnny over the years. One of the most persistent concerns an alleged crash of glass one night at the opening of a Philip Morris broadcast, which was to have caused an announcer to say: "That was Johnny, stepping out of thousands of store windows all over the country." This story became so widely spread, that there were people who actually thought they heard the incident over their radios.

At a special 25th anniversary celebration, Johnny set the record straight at last for commentator Ben Grauer. "It's a great story," he said, "but I wasn't there."

Apart from radio, Johnny was much sought after for such varied events as women's clubs, gatherings and college class reunions.

Soon, however, he was so much in demand for radio programs and public events such as fairs, auto shows and conventions of all kinds, that four assistants, known as "Johnny Juniors," were hired. The one and only original Johnny was reserved for special occasions.

APPEARING THIS WEEK at the Livonia Penthouse is Ramon Cerda and his trio. The group will perform on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings this week at the newly named Penthouse.

Canto Choir To Compete in Festival

Musically-talented students in Franklin High School's Bell Canto Choir will have the opportunity to compete with all the high schools in the Wayne County area in a Choir Festival at Plymouth High School on Saturday, March 20.

Under the direction of Mr. William Hall, the choir will sing a difficult, contemporary composition called "Brazilian Psalm," by Jean Berger.

Each choir participating in the festival will be graded by four judges. Three judges will grade the performances and one judge will be grading for sight-reading ability.

Wally Roberts GOING UP 'CURTAIN

Local papers are blatantly advertising the showing of a new film entitled "Fanny Hill." The claim that Frances Hill in this cinema version is a veritable female Tom Jones supposedly adds extra excitement and should provide additional motivation for the purchase of your ticket.

Similarly, the new musical comedy at the Fisher theater, "Pleasures and Palaces," having its world premiere, has decided to have its chance to allow sex to rear its all too ugly head. Frank Loesser, who in the past has produced several memorable musicals ("Guys and Dolls," "Most Happy Fella" and "How to Succeed") is the head fanner of the creative sparks for this rather shapeless musical comedy.

"Pleasures and Palaces" offers a great deal visually in the form of exciting dancing, breathtaking scenery, and stunning costumes. In short, there's lots of palace quite evident in this production but little or no PLEASURE.

Phyllis Newman foolishly left two good-paying TV shows to be featured in this musical mish-mash. She, no doubt, was heavily influenced by the spicyness of the first act song she sings, "The Sins of Sura." This heady saga of her sexual adventures starting at the age of 12 and continuing ad nauseum to the age of 20 would make Fanny Hill blush and bushed even to contemplate so nymphomaniacal an individual. The musical number has no melody only lewd lines to carry the rather formless tune. After the first shocking, sensual line, the next eight or nine become quite dull.

Mr. Loesser, writer of such songs as "Baby, It's Cold Outside" and "Praise The Lord and Pass the Ammunition," is reported having said to the cast after the rather gloomy opening, "I've only begun to write songs for the show." We are glad to hear this since "Pleasures and Palaces" could use about 10 or 12 new tunes.

When Frank Loesser introduced us to the lead song, "Pleasures and Palaces" as a bad re-write of "There's No Place Like Home" that was the final straw musically. Up to that point I might have suffered silently and made excuses for this Broadway-bound bomb. Not after such an abortive attempt.

Such an amateurish attempt roused my critical spleen to the "poisive" point. This easily-turbed spleen of mine rarely gets activated when viewing an amateur production since many items are excusable. The point of tolerance lowers quickly when I am subjected to some of the inane operations seen recently in Detroit under the guise of supposedly professional theater.

You often wonder how show business veterans can spend close to 500,000 dollars as they have in "Pleasures and Palaces" and come up with such an empty purse artistically. Of course, looking at this problem with more perspective, you must realize that three out of four musical show hits over the years is a darn good average.

"How to Succeed in Show Business Without Really Trying," the last Frank Loesser-Bob Fosse venture, recently closed after 1,500 performances. Two road show companies are still out playing the show. Later this year the Broadway company will make a return visit at the Fisher and old Wally will be in his accustomed seat yacking it up and applauding this brilliant musical. The authors, producers, and backers took home a cool $2,500,000 from this run on Broadway alone. Movie rights have still to be settled.

With "Hello, Dolly" going for $2,000,000 for the screen version rights "How to Succeed" could easily go for a like bundle of green. Guess what I'm saying is: so the boys lost a half a million on "Pleasures and Palaces," they have money left over to try at least four more times.

As I indicated earlier, Frank wrote "Baby, It's Cold Outside" and believe me, last Thursday evening it was mighty chilly out in the audience. Normally, Detroit audiences have a warm spot in their hearts, but in this instance "Pleasures and Palaces" cooled off their ardour for Broadway musicals. You still have to have a good product to gain enthusiastic response.

Let's hope that Abe Burrows will be called in to help Sam Spewack do some re-writing. No one need help Frank Loesser. We know he's a musical genius, but guess he has to try a little harder this time.

Movie Film Is Early 'Iron Horse'

Building the first transcontinental railroad is the story told in "The Iron Horse," showing Sunday, March 21, at the Henry Ford Museum Theater. Show times are at 2 and 4 p.m. for the Famous Early Movie Series program.

Filmed in 1924, this silent movie was directed by John Ford and produced by Fox Films. George O'Brien is cast in the title role as leader of the railroad builders and Madge Bellamy furnishes the love interest. Jack O'Brien and J. Farrell MacDonald are portrayed in the supporting roles.

"The Iron Horse" is a dramatic story of the hardships endured by the builders of the railroad as they moved westward against the opposition of nature and unfriendly Indians. Joining of the Union Pacific with the Central Pacific at Promontory Point, Utah, May 10, 1869 is the high point of the film.

The Famous Early Movie Series showing outstanding silent and sound films of the past continues at the Henry Ford Museum through mid-April. The film program is included in the regular admission to the Museum.

Reminiscences of A Collector Slated for Antique Lecture

Dr. Warren Baker of Michigan City, Indiana, will be the speaker at the fourth program in the current Antiques Lectures Series at Henry Ford Museum on Friday, March 19, at 8:30 p.m.

The monthly series is devoted to the history of American collecting and to reports from noted collectors. The current series was opened by Milo Naev, of the Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum in Winterthur, Del. This was followed by Mrs. George Maurice Morris of Washington, D.C., and last month's program was highlighted with a lecture by Charles E. Fienberg of Detroit, well known book collector and authority on the works of Walt Whitman.

"Reminiscences of a Collector; English and Dutch Delft and English Lustre Pottery" is the theme of Dr. Baker's illustrated lecture on the 19th. Co-author with W. D. John of a book on the subject "Old English Lustre Pottery," he has been actively collecting since 1933. Dr. Baker's extensive personal collections include old English lustre pottery, English and Dutch delftware, furniture, glass and clocks.

A former school teacher, Dr. Baker graduated from Northwestern University School of Medicine. Working first in general practice of medicine he later took specialized training and now concentrates his work in the area of ophthalmology.

The featured speaker on April 9, is James Keene, Birmingham, collector who will lecture on "Collecting Americana-Unlimited." Philip H. Hammerslough, West Hartford, Conn., concludes the current series of antiques lectures on May 21 with "Experiences of a Collector of American Silver."

ORGANIZATION SERVICE at the new St. Timothy United Presbyterian Church in Livonia was held last Sunday. The service was held in the multi-purpose room of the Herbert Hoover School where the congregation is currently meeting. Services and church school, are held each Sunday at 10 a.m.

St. Timothy's Church Officially Organized

The St. Timothy United Presbyterian Church was officially organized at a service on Sunday, March 14. The meeting was held at the Church's temporary meeting place, the Herbert Hoover School located on Levan Road at Ladywood in Livonia.

The Rev. William F. Whitledge, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church preached the sermon. Dr. Richard C. Dunkelberger, pastor of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church conducted the worship; and Dr. Henry W. Welch, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth represented the Presbytery as presiding officer.

The service included the baptism of adults not previously baptized, the reception of the congregation into membership, and the ordination and installation of the newly elected elders.

The new Church which was chartered with 82 members began as a mission on Feb. 16, 1964. Worship Services and a Church School are held every Sunday at 10 a.m. A seven acre parcel of land located on Newburgh Road south of Six Mile Road has been purchased as a future building site.

Local Churches Participate in Visitation Crusade

The American Baptist Churches of Detroit are cooperating in a Visitation Evangelical Crusade beginning Sunday, March 21, and continuing through Thursday, March 25. Five hundred laymen and women from the thirty cooperating American Baptist churches will meet in the Covenant Baptist Church, in Detroit, at 2:45 p.m. Sunday afternoon for instruction.

The lay visitors will be given specific instructions on how to make effective calls as witnesses for Christ by the pastor of the Redford Baptist Church, Dr. Gordon H. Schroeder. Dr. Schroeder was formerly Director of Evangelism for the New York Baptist State Convention. In this capacity he trained thousands of lay people in effective witnessing on behalf of Christ and His church.

The actual calling program will begin Monday evening following a training dinner in these four area churches: Bethany Baptist Church, 15122 West Chicago; Covenant Baptist Church, 18700 James Couzens Hwy.; First Baptist Church of Dearborn, 1865 Nowlin; and Redford Baptist Church, 25295 Grand River.

Guest leaders are: Dr. Dallas West, executive secretary for the Indiana Baptist State Convention; Rev. Madison Bittner, director of Evangelism for the Illinois Baptist State Convention; Dr. Ray Johnson, pastor, First Baptist Church, Oak Park, Illinois; and Rev. John Bablan, director of development for the Mich., Baptist State Convention.

The guest leaders will give additional instruction each evening to all the visitors prior to their calling. Dr. Schroeder emphasized that these calls are not social calls. Laymen will call in the homes of persons for whom the various churches have a sense of responsibility and concern to share with them the meaning of the Christian life and the privilege of being a follower of Christ and a member of His church.

Plymouth Pastor To Speak in F'ton

The Rev. Hugh C. White, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Plymouth, will be speaking at the third in a series of Lenten Services on Wednesday evening, March 24, at First Methodist Church of Farmington, at Grand River and Warner. His sermon topic will be "I Believe in You."

Rev. White is a graduate of North Central College, Naperville, Illinois, and Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois. He was received in the Detroit Conference in 1942 and has served the following churches: MaCabe, Grosse Pointe, Franklin and his present church in Plymouth. He has been active for many years on the Conference Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, and is currently the District Missionary Secretary for the Ann Arbor District.

Vietnam Protest Is Sermon Topic

Robert M. Eddy, minister of the Universalist-Unitarian Church of Farmington, will voice a strong protest against United States action in Vietnam in his sermon at the 10 a.m. service Sunday, March 21.

His title will be "Judgment at Peeking." In a statement as a preface to the talk, Mr. Eddy said: "After World War II we, in the name of humanity, made a judgment at Nuremberg of those who incinerated Jews at Dachau. How, in 1965, will humanity judge those who incinerate Asians in Vietnam. "People are being killed in my name. Unless I speak out, I am as guilty as Lyndon Johnson."

Local Boy Scout Receives 'Pro Deo Et Patria' Award

Life Scout Russell Neynaber of Livonia became the first Boy Scout of Ascension Lutheran Church to receive the "Pro Deo Et Patria" (For God and Country) award.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Neynaber of 15040 Fairlane. His mother, who is the Girl Scout Troop organizer in the Livonia district, pinned the medal on Russell at a recent ceremony at the Ascension Lutheran Church.

To receive the "Pro Deo Et Patria" award a Boy Scout must meet definite requirements in five major aspects: Christian Faith, Christian Life and Practice, Christian Witness, Christian Worship and Christian service including at least 150 hours of service to the Church and completion of a project assigned by the pastor.

Ascension Lutheran Church has the distinction of being one of the youngest Lutheran congregations ever to have been privileged to bestow this award on a Boy Scout. The congregation is just a year old, having been organized March 13, 1964.

Purim Carnival Set March 21

The Livonia Jewish Congregation Chapter of the United Synagogue Youth will sponsor a "Purim Carnival" to be held on Sunday, March 21, 1965, at the Maly-Cohen Branch of the United Hebrew Schools, in Livonia, from 1:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. There will be a Purim Costume Contest for the children.

Costumes will be judged and prizes awarded to the winners. The public is invited to attend and participate in the various games and enjoy the wonderful prizes. There is no admission charge.

Plymouth Ministers Rip Selma Outrage

In a communication addressed to the representatives of the Federal Government in the Federal building in Detroit, members of the Plymouth Ministerial Association expressed profound concern at the outrage that occurred in Selma, Ala. on March 7.

The Association requested that the statement be forwarded to the President of the United States forthwith.

The Ministers expressed that the Selma outrage was a violation of the fundamental dignity of man through police brutality which should not be permitted to occur at any time again and that the government of the United States not only take appropriate action to prevent such a recurrence but that also it takes remedial measures to correct the gross violations of the American Way of Life.

The Association points out that in particular this means assuring that every person, regardless of race, be given access to his constitutional rights, not only to the right to vote but to all the rights that are consistent with our national heritage and with our belief in the dignity and worth of the individual.

The communication is signed by Rev. Edward Castner, president of the Association, on behalf of the following members of the Association: Rev. John Miller, Rev. David Romberg, Rev. Ronald Phelps, Rev. Hugh White and Rev. Peter Switzer, Brigadier General Ernest Hamner, Rev. David Davies, Rev. Peter Beckwith and Rev. Dr. Henry Walch.

St. Bernard's Slates Open House Sunday

The Mariannahill Fathers and Seminarians at St. Bernard's Seminary on Ann Arbor Trail are holding an open house on March 21 from 1 to 5 p.m. St. Bernard's is a minor seminary of the Mariannahill Fathers in the United States.

Fr. Anthony Kirschner, C.M.M., superior of the Seminary, stated that the open house is scheduled "in order to acquaint people with seminary life and to foster increased interest in the religious-missionary priesthood."

Guests at the open house will be given a guided tour by the seminarians.

The Mariannahill Congregation is concerned with the training of priests and brothers to work in its missions in Africa and New Guinea.

The public is invited to attend the open house.

Rev. Thor To Speak March 24

Rev. J. Clifford Thor, pastor of the Riverside Park Church, will speak at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on March 24 at 8 p.m.

Rev. Thor is appearing as a part of St. Paul's Lenten Series "Protestants Alike and Different." He will speak on the beliefs and practices of his denomination.

Pastor of Riverside Park Church, Rev. Thor spent two years in China with the UNRRA-Brethren Service Unit, between his college and seminary studies. Prior to coming to Livonia he held pastorates at Reading, Pa., Minneapolis, and Cleveland.

The Lenten Series is held each Wednesday evening in the Social Hall of the Church.

600 Parents Visit Bryant Open House

Bryant Junior High opened its doors last Tuesday night to welcome over 600 guests to the school's annual Open House. Visitors saw many exhibits of student work, and also observed Bryant students involved in typical school activities.

The activities were as varied and as interesting as an actual school day. In the science classroom students conducted chemistry experiments, while in one of the social studies rooms students previewed a movie in preparation for its presentation to their class.

In one English classroom, some students held a seminar on a short story they had just read. Across the hall in a math class a few students were hard at work tackling some algebra problems.

Skits in French and Spanish were presented in the language rooms, while down at the other end of the school, the vocal and band groups held rehearsals for their spring concert.

Visitors to the library were amazed by the impressive display of science projects done by some of the ninth grade biology classes.

The Open House, an annual affair since the school opened in 1961, was followed by a social hour in the school gym.

Coast Guard Sets Boating Class Here

A free course for those who love the water and can't wait to get their boat in the water this Spring will be offered by the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary at Bentley High School. The eight week course, which will meet on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9:30, is offered only in the Spring adult education term.

"Safe Boat Handling" offers to help build skills in piloting, seamanship, and small boat handling and includes a basic knowledge of rules and regulations, navigation, safety considerations, and boating customs. There is no fee and persons living in areas adjacent to Livonia are also invited to attend.

Plymouth Church Marks Anniversary

Dr. Joseph T. Edwards, Ann Arbor District Superintendent of the Methodist Church will speak at the 11 a.m. service at St. Luke's Methodist Church in Plymouth on March 21. He will also hold a Quarterly Conference at the church at 2:30 p.m.

March 21 marks the first anniversary of St. Luke's Methodist Church located at 39851 Five Mile Rd. near Haggerty. The present building used for the church services will become the parsonage. A seven acre site has been acquired, adjacent to the present church building, as the location for the new Church. Sherman T. Richards is pastor of the Plymouth congregation.

Temple Beth Am Celebrates Purim

One of the most joyous holidays, Purim, the Festival of Lots, will be commemorated by Jews throughout the world beginning sundown, March 17. At Temple Beth Am, it will be ushered in by a service conducted by Rabbi David Jessel, commencing at 7:30 p.m. in the United Hebrew Schools' Building, Seven Mile Rd. and Osmus, to be followed by a puppet show on the holiday theme, and the serving of "Hamantaschen," a triangle pastry baked especially for the holiday.

Ministers Top Legion Program

Rev. Hugh White, of Plymouth's First Methodist Church, and Rev. Fred Harris, pastor of the Belmont Baptist Church in Grand Rapids will be the principal speakers at the "Why are We?" banquet and program Saturday in the American Legion Home on Sheldon Road beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The program is another of a series sponsored by Passage-Gayde Post No. 391 to bring a better understanding of Plymouth and its problems to various civic and service groups in the community.

The speaking program, slated to start at 7:30 p.m., is open to the general public and all are invited to attend. The banquet is only for invited guests.

Rev. White, a native of Illinois, served at several churches in the Detroit area before his present assignment in Plymouth. He was pastor at the Fort Street Methodist Church, Grosse Pointe and Franklin Community Methodist Church prior to moving here.

Rev. Harris, immediate Past Chaplain of the Michigan American Legion, also is a native of Illinois. He holds degrees from the Moody Bible Institute and the Northern Baptist Seminary. He served as a pastor in Illinois from 1923 through 1934 at which time he became the Chaplain of the Civilian Conservation Corps where he was assigned until 1941.

Rev. Harris entered the United States Army in 1941 and served in active duty until 1946. He retired as a major in 1962 after 20 years in the Army Reserve. Since 1949 he has been pastor of the Belmont Baptist Church.

The series won't be resumed in April due to the Easter season. Volunteer groups from the Plymouth State Home and Training School will be guests in May.

Nutrition Classes Set at Livonia Church

A series of Nutrition Classes is scheduled to begin March 22 at 7 p.m. at the Livonia Seventh Day Adventist Church on Middlebelt Rd. Mrs. Marie Logan, R.N., of the Farmington Church, will direct the program.

The public is invited to the series free of charge.

"Stressing protein without the use of meat," Mrs. Logan's presentation will offer informative demonstrations and study on basic nutrition, health education, balanced menus, and how to supplement protein when meat is advisable. There will also be diets for weight-watchers, diabetics, teens and children and their various problems concerning foods.

As well as being an R.N., Mrs. Logan holds an award in Creative Cooking and has won several contests in diets and foods. Last year she took first and seventh place in a nationwide contest for protein diets.

Film on Forces of Good and Evil Set for March 21

"Conflict," a sound color film which depicts the titanic struggle between the forces of good and evil, will be shown at the Livonia Assembly of God at 7 p.m. on March 21.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

"Conflict" is produced by Lester Sumrall, evangelist, world traveler and missionary statesman, and includes scenes actually filmed by him as they happened. It presents an awesome spectacle of heathen life and practices on one hand, and the miracle power of the gospel on the other.

The film will be introduced by M. L. Dye, a representative for the Lester Sumrall Evangelistic Association.

APPEARING AT the Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church on March 22 are the State Singers of Michigan State University. The concert, which will begin at 8 p.m. will include vocal and instrumental songs and musical literature. The concert is a part of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church Lenten programs. It is sponsored as a community cultural event. There is no admission charge. The church is located at W. Chicago and Hubbard Rds.

MSU Singers Offer Varied Program

The State Singers of Michigan State University, appearing at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia on Monday, March 22, at 8 p.m. is a group well known for its brilliant singing and varied literature.

In addition, a fine instrumental ensemble, composed of singers in the choir, enables the group to perform selections with the original instrumentation, rather than resorting to piano reductions.

This allows the choir to sing a wider repertoire of vocal music with a more sympathetic accompaniment, and greatly enhances the interest of the audience.

Featured this season will be a number of pieces from the "Schulwerk" by the outstanding contemporary composer, Carl Orff. Poulenc is represented by his setting of "Exultate Deo (Psalm 80)" and M. Thomas Cousins' "Glorious Everlasting."

Antony Hopkins, an American composer, offers a unique and driving piece for double choir, "Carillon."

"Ecce sacerdos Domini" by Anton Bruckner is a piece for choir in eight parts. Alexander Gretchaninov's setting of "The Nicene Creed" for choir and soloist, and Thomas Weelke's "Hosanna to the Son of David" illustrate the scope of the State Singers' repertoire.

Included in the program will be a selection entitled "Eldorado," written by Jere Hutcheson from a text of Edgar Allan Poe. Hutcheson, whose compositions have appeared on various composers' symposiums across the country, is a student of MSU's Dr. H. Owen Reed and will shortly receive a Ph.D. in composition. Optional numbers in the concert may include vocal, piano, organ, harp, flute, or violin soloists.

Local Priest Participates in Panel

The Rev. Leon Kennedy, philosophy and theology professor at Madonna College, will participate in a panel discussion with other members of the Society of Catholic College Teachers of Sacred Doctrine. The meeting will be held at Aquinas College in Grand Rapids on Saturday, March 20.

"The College Student Adjusting to Liturgy and the Decisions of the Vatican Council" is the theme of the sessions. Favorable and unfavorable reactions will be presented and possible courses of action suggested.

DEDICATION ANNOUNCEMENT

The Newly Rebuilt
R. G. & G. R. Harris
LIVONIA FUNERAL HOME
15451 Farmington Road near Five Mile

On Friday, March 19, 1965 Livonia's oldest funeral home will be newly dedicated to the service of families in this part of Michigan.

THIS FORMAL DEDICATION was postponed until the completion of the extensive rebuilding program.

In order to meet the R. G. & G. R. Harris standards for excellence, the building has been greatly enlarged and almost entirely redesigned. A new wing has been added which more than doubles the space.

The added chapel is 56 feet long and 22 feet wide. One end opens into a spacious anteroom for family privacy. Special lighting, new sound systems and a new organ, finish this fourth R. G. & G. R. Harris Funeral Home and make it one of the finest installations in this area.

SERVICE PREFERRED The steady growth and continuously increasing selection of Harris funeral homes is the result of conscientious, detailed service to the families who come to us. In matters of funeral costs, respect for the wishes of the family, and simple, orderly procedures, Harris has been the choice of three and four generations in hundreds of families.

YOU ARE INVITED TO VISIT US THIS SATURDAY AND SUNDAY FROM NOON UNTIL 8 P. M.

I learned during my illness just how many find time to read my attempt at writing. I still get cards, and I want to thank all of you.

On March 9th a "Brownie Roundup" was held. Only about 35 mothers came. That is a shame for notices were sent out from the schools. It upset the "troop organizers" planning for the coming year. Any of you who have daughters of Brownie age, call your organizer. Get your daughter signed up. If you don't know who to call, contact me and I will help you.

On March 6, Junior Troop 1036, leaders Mrs. Judy Cleveland and Mrs. Florence Neumann with mothers, Mrs. McCann and Mrs. E. Everett and all 21 girls went to Greenfield Village overnight. Going through the village museum, swimming, hayride and all the fun was a "first" for this group as they had never been on an "overnight."

I returned to my troop on March 4 after my illness. With mother drivers Mrs. David Robertson, Mrs. Robert Roe, Mrs. Robert Scott and Mrs. Karl Jasper, who arranged the trip, we went to the lovely home of Mrs. E. Spicer on Farmington Road. The beautiful stone wall fence has pleased me ever since I came to Farmington. Mrs. Jasper took us lambs. One met us at the door and we were told, is bottle fed. We were also invited to see the guinea pigs and a monkey and visit with her dogs. We were treated with hot chocolate and cookies (coffee for mothers). My girls didn't want to leave. A sure sign of a successful time.

On March 11th I surprised my girls with a troop birthday party complete with balloons, and a long banner (made by Mrs. Robertson) saying "Happy Birthday Brownie Troop 127 March 11, 1965." The tablecloth with roses and happy birthday was given us by Mrs. Britton. My co-leader, Mrs. Shirley Sloane, made darling candy baskets, with Brownie heads on front. The girls were kept waiting in the school hallway, until the surprise was ready. Mrs. Robertson took movies as my daughter, Paula, opened the door. The looks on my girls' faces as I greeted them, holding their birthday cake (made by Mrs. Roe and trimmed so beautiful by Mrs. Neuman) and singing my version of Happy Birthday, was all the reward I needed. I gave each child there a "Turtle bean bag." My fingers still hurt from sewing leather. I think the needle stuck me for each of the 26 turtles at least four times each. The birthday cake had yellow daisies in each corner with "Happy Birthday, Brownie Troop 127." Mrs. Neuman has made seven such lovely cakes. Attending were girls' mother (who all helped). The following received their stars: Sari Britton, Linda Denaro, Barbara Lewis, Cindy Ann Moreen, Annabelle Robertson, Sheree Scott, and Kim Sloane.

I was helped by my daughter Paula, a junior scout of Troop 1036. The other girls and guests were Diane Dorman, Susan Homier, Tinka Jasper, Carrie MacLarney, Karen McCormick, Linda Murray, Debrae Roe, Deborah Scott, Carol Steinke, Karen Stevens. To complete the day the principal of Alameda school, Mr. Long, visited us.

On Thursday, March 18th, we will entertain all the Girl Scout Troops at Alameda school on return visit of Mrs. R. Stamps and daughter, Debra. We are to learn a Japanese dance, and the Junior girls can use this toward one of their badges.

On March 25th we will entertain Brownie Troop 527 leader Mrs. Ann Leach. We will see a film, "On Day Camp Chipewa," to be shown by Mrs. Eileen Schaffer, who is asking for day camp help. She is such a jolly person she almost could recruit me (not quite).

I best end this for now, and next week I'll have more on "Day Camps."

And please, leaders, get your news to me early, as it must get typed. I'm a one-finger typer, so let me hear from more of you.

Censorship

Editor:
I must have to agree with you that censorship of smut may not be perfect, but until something better comes along I for one will strongly support any effort rather than let our young people be subject to more garbage than what they are already able to see. Once a young mind has been taught right from wrong and has developed a high regard for morality, it can be reasonably safe to assume that harmful effects from the reality of life at its worse will leave no mental scars.

Those clowns you mentioned that say they don't know if it will maim them make us laugh. You would no longer subject a child deliberately to anything long hard past experiences and moral instincts have taught you that you would leave poisons at home within reach of small tots.

Any young man should know that a dummy mind is nurtured, developed and cared for at his home, church and school so he or she might become citizens of high standards in morals and in integrity until they are old enough to take care of themselves.

This protection is not perfect, a child gets his sex education from toilet walls, but at least he has the clear cut knowledge of what is right and what is wrong and more often than not his upbringing carries him through.

Your form of freedom of censorship would allow a flood of foul, disgusting sick sex on our newstands to say to these kids, We don't know if this maim you, we ourselves don't wrong from right you choose.

I cannot believe any intelligent person would let his or her child decide for themselves anything and everything and just turn them loose.

We can see the results of parental lack of authority on children all over the world today. Here in our country we have an alarming increase of sex crimes, abortions, nasty forced marriages, and teen age violence just to name a few. Seems to me we need to try to make sure these kids get the kind of old fashioned right from wrong training we got behind the wood shed.

travel, I can see where in places of little or no moral code, the people are little better than animals.

I happen to believe in God's laws, which even to an atheist should make sense. I say we reach a compromise somehow, but until then I'll fight with every breath I take to keep some form of censorship. The same way I would for any decent law is designed for protection and for the general well being of ourselves and our children, community, and most important our country.

Differences of opinion is a sign of a healthy country, but any radical right or left is as dangerous as the communists. We need young people with one hell of a lot of sheer determination of moral courage more than ever. You don't just hope it will happen, you make damn sure it does happen, just like your father did.

Yes on Parks

To the Citizens of Livonia,
We, the undersigned members of the Executive Board of the Jackson PTA, agree that the best interests of the City of Livonia will be served by approval of the Parks and Recreation Bond Issue to be voted on at the Election of April 5. We believe that passage of this proposal is necessary if we are to have the recreational land and programs and the open space that our city needs and which we all desire. In addition, we believe that by providing funds to purchase recreational land now we will save ourselves from higher city and school taxes in the future. Our position is based on the following facts: (1) available land will never be cheaper than it is now, (2) available land is fast disappearing, (3) the cost of the Bond Issue will be far less than the cost in city and school taxes that would result if the land were developed with houses, and (4) land for recreation will enhance the beauty of our city, the value of our houses, and make Livonia a better place in which to live. We urge a YES vote on the Parks and Recreation Bond Issue on April 5, 1965. Robert D. Bennett, President; Therese R. Hand, Robert A. Kellogg, Joyce L. Moore, Gary R. Frye, Doris A. Polancih, Eileen Bennett, Keitha Carter, Faith K. Gillespie, Marilyn Roberts, Kay Diggs, Conrad J. Gniewer and Doris Ford.

Is this really America's best Suit buy?

Yes, say men who buy Richmans — It's 2-pants! It's all wool!

It's 49⁹⁵

Yes, this is America's best suit buy, and there are several outstanding reasons why. First and foremost is the quality you get at this low price: fabrics are very fine wool worsteds from the world's best mills. Tailoring is superb. Then too, since Richmans make their own clothes and sell in their own stores they eliminate a lot of extra in-between costs and expenses. Saves you about $20 on the price of a suit. This kind of savings... this kind of quality makes Richmans 2-pants suit truly the best suit buy in America today.
