

Twp. Seeks Advice on New Chief

Officials of Plymouth Township sought outside legal advice this week in an effort to determine what steps to take to replace the late Roy Russell Lindsay.

Lindsay, who died suddenly Saturday, March 27, had been Township supervisor since 1953 and was about to be sworn in for his current term on April 10.

Township Clerk John McEwen wrote to the Michigan Townships Association, the Wayne County Prosecutors Office and the state Attorney General's office in an effort to determine the proper legal steps. He took this action upon the formal orders of the Township Board.

Informal opinions expressed by Township officials indicate the board will have the right to appoint a new Township chief, and a letter received this week from the Michigan Township Association office backed them up.

The letter pointed to state statutes and the Michigan Election Codes that would allow the Board to appoint to fill any vacancies.

(Editor's Comment: Judge John Wise of the Wayne County Court upheld this right last week in a decision on the Highland Park Common Council. He ok'd until April of 1967 an appointment made by the council. The appointment had been contested by someone who had wanted to run for the council.)

Approve '65-'66 Township Budget

Unanimous approval was given by Plymouth Township trustees, March 30, to a $199,435 budget for 1965-1966.

The approval followed a special public hearing at which no one appeared. This budget exceeds the one for 1964-1965 by almost $12,000.

Included in the budget is an increase of $8,300 in the legislative and executive division to provide for $500 pay raises for Township Clerk, Supervisor and Treasurer and $200 pay raises for office help. Trustees salaries also have been raised from $20 to $25 a meeting, and advertising and printing costs for a master plan for the township further account for the increase.

A $1,620 increase in the planning commission's budget provides for more meetings per month for this body. They are now meeting twice a month instead of one.

One thousand dollars has also been appropriated for the new Fire Administration Board.

Building and grounds budget has been increased by $1,700 to include parking lot improvements and minor fix-up in the township hall.

OTHER departments showing increased budgets for the coming year are professional services, up $1,000; fire department, up $1,120; and department of public works up $700.

Decreased budgets compared to last years' were appropriated to elections division, down $1,120; debt services, down $1,850; and charities, down $800.

The board also approved a $110,920 budget for the water department and a $96,300 budget for the sewer department.

WHATEVER the opinions are, the board expects to take action at its regular meeting April 13. At the last meeting, a special one for a public hearing on the annual budget, it was decided that no action should be taken until legal advice had been sought. Contrary to reports circulated elsewhere, no one, including Elizabeth Holmes, Township Treasurer, had been appointed temporary supervisor.

Officials feel they need to have a supervisor in the near future because several matters are pending a supervisor's action. These matters (Continued on Page 6)

Clogg has been commissioned with seeking ways of financing the project.

A board of directors was also named, including Miss Anna Jung, Mrs. George Conover, Mrs. David Morhardt, William Green, Clifford Page, David Cooper and John Murawski.

FARRELL Roberts was pleased with his victory last night. At left he shakes hands with his campaign manager Carl Pursell of Plymouth. Roberts was assured victory by 10:30 last night and he thanked all those present at his campaign headquarters for their efforts. Above, Edward McNamara chats with Roberts, but the smile on McNamara's face belies his real feelings. This picture was taken moments after McNamara arrived at Roberts headquarters to congratulate Roberts on his victory. McNamara spoke briefly from atop a folding chair and was accorded a round of applause for his appearance at the opposition camp. Roberts won the election by over 3000 votes.

School Board Reviews Bonding

The Plymouth Community School Board met in special session Monday night and let the contract for the boiler rehabilitation project at the High School.

The $69,130 contract went to A. M. J. Heating and Air Conditioning Company. School attorneys were also on hand to discuss the bonding for the building and site sinking fund for next year. The School Board plans to borrow $760,000 next year as part of its modified pay-as-you-go plan.

Architects were present at the meeting and given the plot plans for the new elementary school in Lake Pointe. No figure for the number of rooms for that building has been set as yet.

THE Board also informally looked at building priorities (Continued on Page 6)

Two Old, Two New For City Commission

City Attorney Edward Draugelis won the municipal judge seat, and City Commission hopefuls George Hudson and James McKeon won, along with incumbents James C. Houk and Robert L. Smith in a Monday election that saw a light turnout of City voters.

Only 27% of the 4,723 registered voters voted in the election.

Draugelis won the biggest victory, defeating his opponent, J. Rusling Cutler, 819 to 334. It was an impressive victory for the City Attorney, whose eligibility for the City Judgeship had been questioned up to about three weeks ago when a circuit court ruling cleared the matter up.

Commissioners Houk and Smith took big victories — Houk netted 821 votes, Smith 647. Beyer, another incumbent, had dropped out of the election last week, but still received 206 votes.

HUDSON won a two-year term with a 623-vote win. McKeon polled 739 votes and won a four-year term. Under terms of the City Charter, the top three vote getters in this election receive four-year terms. The fourth top vote getter receives a two-year term.

Defeated were Arthur Shepard and Eldon W. Martin.

All four of the winners were the ones endorsed by the local Republican Party. Arch Vailier was running unopposed for a post as Wayne County Supervisor; he got 817 votes.

The City Proposition also passed 654 to 384. The proposition called for the holding of a primary election on the third Monday of February, odd numbered years. The 1963 State Constitution had eliminated the primaries entirely.

Roberts Wins Senate Seat

Farrell E. Roberts beat out a big Democratic vote in State Senate seat from the Livonia.

The two candidates differed mostly on the issue of a state income tax. Roberts had plugged for a flat rate tax, feeling a progressive tax would hit the suburbs the hardest. McNamara had sought a progressive income tax.

Roberts lost Livonia by about 1,000 votes, but won by comfortable margins in Plymouth, Northville and Farmington precincts.

Unofficial totals from the Wayne County Election office gave Roberts 15,744 votes, McNamara 12,146.

In Plymouth Township Roberts beat McNamara 500 to 123. In the City, Roberts polled 771 votes, McNamara 325.

Other big votes for Roberts included a 2,106-965 bulge for him in Farmington Township, and a 1451-708 edge in the City of Farmington.

McNAMARA won in Livonia, Wixom, Keego Harbor and South Lyon Township. In most other precincts it was a clearcut Roberts victory.

McNamara came to Roberts headquarters about 10:30 Monday night and congratulated him on his victory.

Both candidates agreed the election had been clean and fought on issues. Roberts called his victory proof that the local Republican Parties can win elections.

Roberts, who has been both a state Senator and a State Representative, stepped down last year to run for the Court of Appeals, but lost. McNamara, a popular Livonia City Councilman, had hoped

Forum Told of Powers Of Rights Commission

Mrs. Rita Scott, educator, director of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, spoke before the Chamber of Commerce's Businessmen's Forum last week and told them that her agency was "a machinery established to see that a long established policy was carried out in practice."

Mrs. Scott pointed to the Michigan 1885 Public Accommodations Act which then established Civil Rights in Michigan.

She said the agency as established by the new constitution would make civil rights a "matter of law, not partisan politics."

She outlined the functions of the agency, including the conciliatory Compliance Division which hears all complaints and acts upon them.

Her agency, one of the smallest in the state, employs 37 people to do its work. "Enforcement is not enough," she said, "to insure adequate progress. Voluntary actions are required."

Mrs. Rita Scott

She felt we needed to take preventative actions, before there is "a need for demonstrations in the streets."

MRS. SCOTT explained the operation of the Compliance Division, and when questioned about the Rights Commission's power she said that several cases in court are about to establish its full power.

For instance, a real estate agent must show his listings to ALL who ask. And a home owner who puts his house on the market must also show willingness to his house to anyone interested, regardless of race, color or creed.

Otherwise, Mrs. Scott feels, he is subject to the legal powers of the Civil Rights Commission. Their powers include the right to prosecute a case.

On the subject of Negro move-ins reducing property values she said she felt that "ear and panic did more than anything to bring this about."

Schools Seek Aid For Vocational Ed.

This is the fifth in a series of five articles on "Vocational Education—Its Importance and Value for All Youth" as prepared by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Federal funds under the National Education Act of 1958, are providing a much needed boost for vocational and technical education programs in Michigan and Wayne County. Over four million dollars has been allotted for distribution during the current school year.

Requests for this money have poured into Lansing, Michigan, where Selby, vocational education consultant for the Wayne County Intermediate Office of Education, has assisted the local school district in processing their applications for federal money.

Vocational-technical needs have been phenomenal. School districts in Wayne County have responded so well that requests for federal reimbursements are now more than double the 4.3 million allotment," stated Selby.

ONE HUNDRED and forty-eight local school districts in Michigan and Wayne County have requested a record 10 million dollars in federal funds for the construction of vocational education additions, equipment, the hiring of local directors of vocational education, and for area studies to determine what needs a local school district might have for vocational education.

Priorities have been established by the Department of Public Instruction vocational education staff. Each application has been evaluated and school districts have been notified if their request has been accepted or rejected.

In the years to come the federal monies will be increased. Selby indicates that the Vocational Act of 1963 guarantees the following funds:

Fiscal year 1964 $ 60,000,000
Fiscal year 1965 $118,500,000
Fiscal year 1966 $177,500,000
Fiscal year 1967 $225,000,000

and for each fiscal year thereafter. Secondary schools and community colleges in the Wayne County area have eagerly participated in these funds which are on a 50/50 matching basis. Michigan's share of these federal funds for vocational education will rise from 4.3 millions in 1964-1965 to $6.4 million next year and by 1967 to over 8 million dollars.

"Such immediate response for application of federal funds on a matching basis indicates the readiness of local school districts for critically needed vocational education programs. The expansion of vocational-technical education programs in the Wayne County area constitute a healthy beginning and provides a solid base in preparing students for a world of work," concludes consultant Selby.

By W. ALLEN SHAFER

The Plymouth Symphony, under the leadership of conductor Wayne Dunlap, has done a great service to the Plymouth Community. In bringing the Symphony's nineteenth season to a close, Dunlap chose Puccini's opera, "La Boheme," thus completing a well rounded survey of music literature. The season spanned in time from Corelli and Bach to Berg and Sibelius, from Hayden symphony to Schumann concerto, and from sacred choral literature to dramatic, lyrical opera.

A very large and appreciative audience was on hand in the auditorium-gym of the Plymouth High School on Saturday evening, April 3 to hear and enjoy the Symphony's final concert of the regular season.

When one considers the amount of rehearsal time allotted to this performance - four Monday evenings for the orchestra and one run-through with the cast (on the day of the performance!) - one must certainly be amazed at the quality of the performance. After a rather awkward and scrambling first act, the members of the orchestra settled down to do some really fine ensemble playing, especially with the singers in the closing sextet of Act II and generally throughout Acts III and IV. The brass and woodwinds played with real professionalism and the horns were particularly outstanding. But the Violin section lacked in precision and intonation and could beneficially use some long hours of drill.

For the most part the balance between singers and orchestra was good. Dunlap's tempi were always appropriate and his beat was firm yet flexible in the necessary places. In the main the orchestra proved itself to be a worthy ensemble, and at times produced a wonderfully lush and sweeping tone - for La Boheme is as much an orchestra's opera as it is a singer's.

But opera is after all primarily for the singers, and the Turnau Opera Players can boast of several very fine voices. The group originated under the tutelage of the late Professor Josef Turnau, and has presented already over 450 performances of 40 different operas. Some performances are with piano and some with orchestra, but all are always in English.

INTEREST in almost any opera performance invariably centers around "the soprano" (unless the opera is Garmen or Boris Godunov!) and the Mimi of Saturday evening's Boheme commanded respect and admiration from her audience. Lorine Buffington sang the delicate role with a great deal of vocal ease and beauty and moved gracefully about the stage. But her initial entrance - bent over and clutching a shawl around the shoulders - presented more a picture of an arthritic old lady than a consumptive and dying young woman. When she got to her first act aria and thereafter (especially in her duet with Marcello in Act III) she seemed to be an ideal Mimi, singing and acting in character. Her death in the final act was beautifully underplayed but still touching and, for many, gripping.

Eric Davis, at least in this performance, was a less than adequate Rudolf. Reports were that he was under severe strain of a cold, and his singing ability could not be judged by his sound, which was nasal and small. His acting was wooden and lackluster, and he created no character with which the audience could sympathize.

Lucille Sullam's Musetta was expertly sung and acted. She was appropriately amusing and brassy in the second act but tender and sympathetic in the final scene. Theodore Lambrinos sang the role of Marcello with ease and his acting was commendable.

In the minor role of Golline a very real talent was present in the person of Franklyn Summers. His is a large resonant bass voice which commands respect and which matches his power on the stage as an actor. His movements were light and agile and his stage presence was outstanding. His little aria in the last act, sung in tender farewell to his overcoat, was moving.

In general, the performance was interesting and enjoyable. The fine English translation came across very well, and was unobtrusive. The ensemble sound of the group was very thrilling at times and the voices were well matched. Bravo to the Turnau Players and especially to Wayne Dunlap. His firm control held the performance together and kept it moving along briskly. The credit for success rests squarely upon his shoulders.

WHAT TODAY'S DRUGS COST A FEW YEARS AGO

It isn't logical to say, "Prescriptions cost more than they used to." Most of today's drugs weren't available—at any price—ten or twenty years ago. In fact, over three quarters of all prescriptions written today, couldn't have been filled as recently as ten years ago!

Today, Americans spend only one cent from every disposable dollar on drugs. This share is no more than we spent in 1939!

Also today's drugs work faster. They are more efficient. They are pleasanter to take. They do much to reduce your total cost of illness. That's why we say: "Today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history!"

Western Electric Releases Annual Progress Report

Editor's Note: The local Western Electric plant employs about 650 employees for its work. The plant here in Plymouth is a local distributing house, and it makes purchases from 490 individual suppliers in Michigan, spending about $1,600,000. Following is a portion of the Company's annual report.

In 1964 Western Electric Company reached new production and manpower peaks to pace the advance of communications technology, according to the company's annual report.

Western Electric is the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System.

Paul A. Gorman, company president, reported an increase of 10,400 in employment to meet Bell System demands and estimated the same number was added by suppliers to produce goods purchased by the company.

Total sales during the year reached a new high of $3,118 million, an increase of $285 million, or about 10 per cent over 1963. Of this, $2,558 million represents sales to the Bell System, an increase of 12.3 per cent. Sales to the U.S. Government amounted to $490 million, compared with $492 million in 1963.

Results were achieved while offering Bell System customers mid-year price reductions amounting to $44 million.

The year saw Western Electric continue process and systems development to introduce electronic switching—in Succasunna, N. J., this year in New York City, Baltimore suburbs, Washington, D.C., and Norfolk, Virginia.

The dial-in-handset Trimline telephone was introduced to manufacture, as was the see-while-you-talk Picturephone, which went into trial service between New York, Washington and Chicago.

Specially designed undersea cable and amplifying repeaters made by Western Electric were used in the Transpacific cable laid in 1964. And the company provided coaxial cable and associated transmission equipment for the first blast-resistant Transcontinental cable, completed last year.

Western Electric's Indianapolis Works produced an all-time high of 8,200,000 telephones, 295,000 of them push-button Touch-Tone sets and 18,000 of them Data-Phone sets—half again as many as were made in 1963. In January the company announced purchase of 250 acres in Shreveport, Louisiana, to construct a satellite plant for manufacturing telephones and related equipment.

A record 12,400,000 telephone sets were reconditioned in the company's 35 distribution centers, which also store and furnish supplies and equipment to telephone companies.

Western Electric installers completed 80,000 jobs, an increase of 2,700 over 1963 representing 2,400,000 new central office lines. The biggest of these jobs was the Federal Telecommunications System, the world's biggest private line network linking 1,500,000 civilian employees of the U.S. Government in 427 cities.

The company also maintained its role as one of the nation's biggest buyers. It made purchases totaling $1,300,000,000 from more than 40,000 suppliers in 50 states, 90 per cent of them small businesses employing fewer than 500 persons.

Government projects advanced during the year included further research and development on the Nike X anti-missile defense system and AUTOVON, a private line network to tie together 1,700 military installations around the world.

Sews Clothing for Trip, House in Chaos

By Jacquie Town

Well I've done it again. I had just began to become a totally organized homemaker, complete with hair combed in the early A.M., beds made and the house fairly picked up and straight by noon, when my husband talked me into going on a business trip with him.

Naturally I went shopping.

That was the downfall. After pricing and discarding as too expensive, trying on and finding a poor fit, plus high pressure sales people to add to the rest, I decided that I could make these outfits just as well, and for less money too. Being one who is just a little squeaky in the purse, the last part really appealed to me. So instead of the ready made clothing stores, I started going to the fabric shops. Once the sewing machine went into action, the organization went out of action. I've created a gorgeous (I think) three piece suit and a few blouses for a fraction of the price to buy them, and I've kicked myself a dozen times for not just getting them from the store.

Oh, the mind of a woman.

Now the house has material scraps all over, the ironing is getting higher and higher, my sewing room looks like the Viet-Cong have arrived and my nerves are shot. Not to mention the fact that I've still more to go, and time gets shorter all the time.

A messy house bothers me, but unfinished sewing bothers me too, so the homemaker and the seamstress may yet come to blows. At this point I've had it with "do-it-yourself" projects, but those old dollar signs keep popping up and I'm off to the material stores once again.

I envy with pure green these housewives who always look like they've emerged from the fashion pages, whose homes are always in excellent condition, and who manage to be prepared for visitors at any hour. There must be some secret formula they use, I'm sure it just doesn't happen. As long as I do nothing but pick-up after everyone, wash every dish as its dirtied, and iron right out of the dryer, I'm fine. But once I begin a project such as refinishing old furniture, sewing or redecorating, my closets become more than Fibber McGee's, my family has to dig through the basket to find clean socks, and everything just goes "poof."

We are a family of clutterbugs, and forever have magazines we save for one reason or other, toys that may someday be repaired, things we keep for sentimental reasons, and all sorts of odds and ends we've found interesting but not really practical.

I guess the secret is merely to be happy with yourself no matter how much of a slob one may be. I wish that just once, I could emulate my more efficient contemporaries and answer the door when I wasn't expecting anyone, and not be embarrassed by the wreck I'm in. When someone does call my reaction is to crawl under the nearest piece of cluttered furniture and cease to exist.

I've often been tempted to write to Ann Landers about this phobia of mine, but I'm sure her answer would be something like "Give up Sweetie, and hire a maid with all the money you've saved by doing-it-yourself." Not a bad solution at that. I have only one last comment to make. "HELP."

TREFOIL DOINGS

by Faye Langert

The alternates make up the fourth Roundup patrol from the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. They are known as the "Carcajou," which is the Indian word meaning Wolverine.

The girls in this patrol are Kaye Langert and Diane Wheeler from Plymouth, Dottie Allen from Ann Arbor, Nancy Corzine from Belleville, Helen Metzelaar, patrol leader, from Milan, Marilyn Pubanz, assistant patrol leader, from Northville, Linda Cough from Pinckney and Jane Helleppie from Wayne.

For their demonstration the girls will do international dancing. The dances will include a coal miners dance from Japan, a stick dance from the Philippines, Korbuska from Russia and the Highland Fling from Scotland.

Each group will wear the traditional costume from the country their dance represents and give a short history of their dance.

Since every alternate will not be able to go to Idaho in the place of a delegate, they plan for a trip of their own. This year the alternate patrol has been accepted to a camp located in Quincy, Ill. Here the girls will spend 13 days camping with the alternate patrols of six other councils.

Their theme will be "Heritage Trails." This camp, like Roundup, will be run in the same way only on a smaller scale. They will have the opportunity to participate in many of the same events such as discussion groups, demonstrations, an exchanging of potlatch gifts.

The girls will also have the opportunity to go on side trips to places like Mark Twain's country and Springfield, the state's capitol. This trip will become reality on July 22.

"Italian Beef Vegetable Soup" is the recipe suggested by Mrs. A. W. Bianchi, 41623 Greenbriar Ln.

The soup, Mrs. Bianchi said is one she serves as a first course at holiday meals. She explained you drain off the vegetables before serving it and add noodles, pasta or rice.

You also can substitute chicken for beef, Mrs. Bianchi said. She said she doesn't buy any one particular cut of beef, but usually what is a good buy for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bianchi and their three children Richard, 11, Dawn, eight, and Mark, two, moved to Plymouth from

Correction

In the story about the Presbyterian Women's Association sponsored Thrift Shop this past week we said that a group of women come into the shop each Tuesday morning to make items that will be placed in circulation for Thursday's opening. It should have read:

"The women mark new items each Tuesday for Thursday's opening."

Berea, Ohio, eight months ago.

Mrs. Bianchi is a member of Newcomers Club and Farland School P.T.A. She said she also likes to play pinocle.

ITALIAN

BEEF VEGETABLE SOUP

2-3 lb. beef and soup bone
2 large potatoes, cut in half
1 large onion, cut in half
3-4 carrots, cut in half
3 celery stalks and leaves
2-3 sprigs parsley (or 1-2 tsp. flakes)
1 no. 1 can tomatoes

Place meat and soup bone in about six quarts of water. When boils, skim off loose particles with tea strainer.

Let meat boil for 45 minutes to one hour, then add vegetables and simmer. Cook for four hours and drain off vegetables.

Serve either as broth, cutting up the pieces of meat, or make about one cup of pasta, noodles or rice separately and add to broth.

Another variation for the broth in place of pasta is to beat together 1/2 doz. eggs, 1 Tbl. lemon juice and 2 Tbl. grated cheese. Add to broth after vegetables have been drained and let boil short time.

STIRRING her "Italian Beef Vegetable Soup" is Mrs. A. W. Bianchi, 41623 Greenbriar Ln. She said she frequently serves the soup as the first course of a holiday meal.

STATON LORENZ demonstrates wine-tasting techniques.

Gourmets Graduate In Grand Style

To the delight of over 80 people gathered at the Mayflower Hotel last night, STATON LORENZ and his staff graduated several members of a Livonia adult education class in wine tasting.

The 'graduation' was a six-course dinner — wine with every course. And if you didn't know the finer points of the wines and their flavors, a lecture was presented on each.

The gourmet dinner was held in the Miles Standish room of the Mayflower. C. H. Dykeman and his wife were the honored guests; Dykeman is the editor of the Ford Times magazine.

The whole event is part of an effort on the part of the Hotel to educate the people in the area to the finer aspects of eating.

GUESTS present, who had not taken the course, were shown how to enjoy the wine with each course.

Among those present at the affair from Plymouth were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fleckenstein, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Prussing and Mr. and Mrs. Morin Herrick.

The three and a half hour dinner featured Rocky Mountain Brook Trout, Baked Breast of Chicken and Filet of Beef Bordelaise. Wine was served with each course, including the hors d'Oeuvres.

New Books at Dunning-Hugh

"Reapers of the Dust" by Lois Hudson tells of the farmers in the dust bowl of the thirties when the author was a child. This is a collection of short stories so closely related that they might be called an autobiography.

"Taxpayer's Hayride" by Julius Duscha discusses the farm problem from the New Deal to the Billie Sol Estes case.

"Road to Nineveh" by Nora Kubie tells of the experiences and discoveries of Sir Austin Henry Layard, the explorer who unearthed a legendary city and provided another link between the Bible and history.

"Bwana Drum" by Dennis Holman is the story of David Drummond, a member of the Kenya Police Special Branch who was forced to use terrorist methods in their fight against Mau Mau terrorists.

"I Resign You, Stallion" by Winnie Williams is a novel of the Old South and the New, represented by a father and son in a small town in Georgia.

"Mallabec" by David Walker is an unusual story of murder, guilt and suspense.

"Count Bohemond" by Alfred Duggan is a historical novel of the 11th century and the First Crusade.

Michigan State's second annual Summer Alumni Vacation-Study Program July 19-23 will be devoted to "The Two Cultures," the much-discussed cultural conflict between the scientists and the humanists.

THE PLYMOUTH JayCees are seeking a site for the Center. A committee, chaired by JayCee David Cooper, is investigating a number of sites for the housing of the facility. At least seven sites are being considered at this time. Cooper said last week that the site must be centrally located so it can service the Northville, Plymouth and Livonia areas.

The workshop got off the ground two weeks ago when more than 90 people attended a Town Hall on the subject and over 40 people pledged their support.

Anyone interested in the project may write the Plymouth JayCees Box 279.

No official mention has been made of candidates being considered.

One other thing is being taken into consideration. A State House Bill No. 2156 just approved provides that Township officers will take their oaths of office on April 10. Up until this time, the law had been vague, townships normally swore in their officers when the Fiscal Year began on April 1.

But now, according to this law, Roy Lindsay had not formally taken office, and wouldn't have until April 10.

Suggestions for city fathers

Following Monday's election, Plymouth will see four men, newly charged with the responsibility of charting this municipality's course in the coming years.

Their duties and actions, in a sense, hold more meaning than those of state and Federal legislators for city commissioners operate at the grassroots level where the laws they create and the decisions they make are quickly and apparently effective.

At the time of their election, as they begin terms as local lawmakers, The Plymouth Mail offers these suggestions to commissioners.

MAYOR
Perhaps the first thing that faces Plymouth's governing body is election of its administrative head, the mayor. This newspaper would not interfere with the legislative group's prerogative by recommending a candidate.

However, we would offer a few guidelines.
It seems to us that the man chosen to represent the City of Plymouth as mayor should be qualified by virtue of experience, past performance and temperament.

He should be a man that commissioners and their constituents can look to with pride for dignified leadership — a man who would bring credit to the City of Plymouth in the numerous public appearances required of a titular leader.

CITY MANAGER
City legislators are still faced with filling the post left vacant when Albert F. Glassford departed Plymouth in December.

For reasons detailed in an earlier editorial, The Plymouth Mail thinks Superintendent of Public Safety and Assistant City Manager Kenneth Fisher should be considered for the job.

Fisher has performed well in the interim period and he should be given a further chance at the city manager's position.

POLICE
During the past year, The Plymouth Mail has noted editorially the need for more manpower on the City of Plymouth's police force.

More officers are needed and commissioners should see to it that they are provided.

In addition, it seems to us that more use should be made of state-sponsored training programs and seminars for Plymouth officers and police officials.

URBAN RENEWAL
The complex of the Federal

Congress is such that funds should be available for urban renewal projects. Former Manager Glassford detailed the course such projects might take before he left for the City of Albion.

It would be beneficial if commissioners sought a conference with Plymouth's U.S. Congressman, Weston E. Vivian of Ann Arbor, to explore the accessibility of funds and the kinds of efforts most likely to qualify.

ALL AMERICAN CITY
Another of Al Glassford's dreams for the City of Plymouth was that it enter the annual competition for All-American City.

A sub-committee should be commissioned to handle this project and prepare the necessary material to qualify Plymouth.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE
From time to time, commissioners have felt it necessary to hold committee of the whole or "executive session" meetings behind closed doors.

While The Plymouth Mail recognizes the necessity for meetings of this type where individual personnel problems and bids on certain types of city property are involved, we feel committee of the whole sessions should be kept to a minimum.

Commissioners, after all, are entrusted with operation of a taxpayer-owned business and most details should be worked out in public. We urge them to conscientiously avoid closed door sessions, whenever possible.

CITY-TOWNSHIP RELATIONS
Last, but probably most important, there is the matter of the relationship between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Over the past months, these two governmental entities have painstakingly worked out increasingly intimate relations.

When Supervisor Lindsay's successor has been chosen in Plymouth Township, we think the trend should be continued and intensified.

The township's police study group has recommended to the board of trustees that a committee be set up to study the possibility of co-operative police protection between the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Northville Township.

City government should make every effort to keep the offer open and to seek further ways of strengthening ties with its closest neighbor.

Every attempt to further Plymouth Community unity should be made.

MICHIGAN CANCER FOUNDATION SAYS
GIVE YOURSELF A BIRTHDAY PRESENT AN ANNUAL CHECK-UP BY YOUR DOCTOR

AS PART OF MICHIGAN Cancer Foundation's "Fight Cancer with Knowledge" campaign, a house to house survey is being conducted in Plymouth this week and next to determine the number of persons who stopped smoking because of the surgeon general's report on the adverse effects of smoking. Above, Plymouth's general co-chairman Mrs. Clayton Leroue examines one of the posters that have been placed in area businesses. Questions included in the survey, according to Mrs. Leroue, will be the number of persons in the home that smoke, their age, number who have stopped smoking and when. One person in each neighborhood will be responsible for starting the survey and the packet of information and then it will be up to each resident to pass it on to the next when he completes it. Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister is general chairman of the drive.

To Ann Arbor the other day where University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher delivered himself of some brief and informal remarks on the current batch of American students.

A silver-haired man, Dr. Hatcher has that aura of intellectual asceticism with which most higher educators seem to surround themselves.

He spoke softly and quietly — carefully and easily disposing of words and phrases that most of us would discover only after long and awkward search; and it was like homecoming to listen to him formulate a mirage of erudition in the desert of the everyday world.

I say "mirage" because I came away with the nagging feeling that the doctor hadn't said a great deal. Oh, he was interesting enough and he condescended to throw a few hells and damns into the monologue for the benefit of the working press; but I wonder what he was driving at.

Maybe that was his whole point.
Maybe, in fact, he was trying to show the newsmen present that you can't codify and segregate students into neat groups with handy labels, together with formulae to control them.

Dr. Hatcher spoke of student demonstrations at colleges and universities across the nation, and the accompanying administrative headaches they created. He mentioned, with not a little dismay and sadness, the recent resignation of leading educators following student upheavals.

And (take it for what it's worth) the U of M's chief father-confessor indicated that most of the pressure on administrators was well planned in advance by organized student groups. The word went out, last Fall, he said, that detailed campaigns had been mapped by the students — aimed, if necessary, at university presidents.

At any rate, after referring to incidents at Berkeley, Kansas and Brooklyn, generalizing about a few of the Ann Arbor student varieties and pretty much side-stepping the Viet Nam teach-in, Dr. Hatcher paused.

"All right," somebody said in preface to a put-up query. "What are you going to do about it?"
"Gentleman," the U of M prexy replied, "it's been a pleasure to speak to you."

Which leaves some questions.
Newsweek Magazine took a fling at answering a few of them in its March 22 issue which I snatched from the desk of news editor Doug Johnson over the Sabbath.

At the end of its 21-page compilation of interviews and surveys, Newsweek quotes Richard Unsworth, Dartmouth chaplain.

"The present revolt," he says 'is in the name of the person. The revolt is in the name of authentic personhood, authentic selfhood, and this is what the California thing is all about.' In the world of today's campus 'the avenue now is doing and then reflecting on your doing, instead of reflecting, then deciding, and then doing, the way it was a few years ago.'

"In the end," Newsweek concludes sagaciously, "the judgment of age on youth always comes down to educated bafflement." Then, in a virtual ejaculation of sunshine and hope, the magazine writers fire this parting volley at those interested in today's studentry:

"Yet he seems to know what he wants and how to get it, seems to have every good chance of taking the world for a while and, with help and best wishes, using it well."

Yeah.
O.K.
Glad to hear it.

But I'm sure most of the land's university students join me in wishing the older generation in general and Newsweek in particular would forget about trying to dissect youth and its motivations.

The benignly driveled conclusion was hardly worth 21 pages.

As a dedicated Kiwanian, I know Rotarians seldom lift anything heavier than a coffee cup.

Therefore, it was with great eagerness that I set out for Ypsi-Arbor Lanes over the weekend to see a few of the Friday afternoon senior citizens' club stagger around with their bowling balls.

I was so eager to take pictures for The Mail's sports page and scout Rotary's talent or lack thereof that the Michigan State Police Department took notice of my hasty progress.

So it would seem to me, after Kiwanis wins the annual inter-club meet next month, that Rotarians should pick up the extra tab for all the publicity their state tournament gets this week.

If the J.P. is in a good mood, I think it will be about $10.

LETTERS:

He's One of the Great Men of Our Time

April 2, 1965

Dear Editor:
In response to your editorial dated, March 30, I would like to comment on your article entitled "4 for Commission". I feel you have every right to endorse whom you please, but when you choose not to endorse a candidate you could at least give their qualifications.

I'm speaking of Mr. Smith, the man with "emotions".
Mr. Smith, past President of the school planning commissions brings impressive credentials to the job. He has lived in the Plymouth community for the past 40 years. He was graduated from Plymouth High School at 18 years of age going on to Eastern Michigan University to further his education working nights and week-ends.

After graduation with a B.S. degree he entered the armed services during World War II. During the war he was promoted to 1st Lt. and after the war went on to Wayne State University to receive his Master's Degree. He received his practical teaching experience in Farmington before joining the Plymouth high school staff in 1947.

FIVE YEARS ago he was promoted to Assistant Principal of the High School. Qualities that helped him achieve this success has been his complete honesty, integrity, loyalty, earnestness, skill, courage, zealness, enthusiasm, self-sacrifice, and reliability.

You say he has emotions, Webster's Dictionary defines this quality "full-of emotions - anger" under the word "great". Yes, that's what he is, one of the great men of our time. I ought to know, he's my brother.

Favorite Reader Seeks Pen Pal

Dear Editor,
I have the honour to forward this letter to you. As a matter of fact, I know it will come to your surprise to see this letter from your favourite reader from far off. There are certain reasons or motives behind it.

I only wish you could publish my name inside your newspaper under the pen pal section. I wish I could exchange views with many of your people over there. So I beg you to please render the help.

I am a 20-year-old boy in the Nigerian Air Force. I am about five feet four inches tall. I am ready to cooperate with any sex whether old or young. I am interested in football, swimming, reading and warlike actions as well as fashion. I promise that all letters will be responded to.

Thanks in advance.

Why Can't They Be More Careful?

Dear Editor,
In your March 30 edition, it was stated that we should use the proper refuse containers.

Then why can't the collectors be more careful with the cans? Some of the time they leave refuse in the can. The rest of the time, they either slam and damage the cans or don't put the lid on right. And when the wind comes along, the lid goes one way and the can the other.

I think the citizens of Plymouth would cooperate if the collectors would do a better job.

Sincerely,
Mrs. J. H. Walaskay

Regardless of How You Read It, It's Wrong

Dear Editor:
"Irregardless" is like fingernails on a blackboard to me. Had a marvelous history prof in college who used it all the time, but I never had the nerve to call him on it.

But you, Mr. Wiley, won't be giving me a grade, so I'll tell you that the word is simply "regardless."

Sincerely,
Mrs. John Schmidt
EDITOR'S NOTE: Last Week's "Grim Pilgrim" contained this sentence: "A candid man, he said what he thought irregardless of whose feathers it might ruffle."

The Good Old Days

TAKEN FROM THE FILES OF THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

25 YEARS AGO

Plymouth voters made it known at the general spring election Monday that they are emphatically opposed to the sale of liquor by the glass by an overwhelming majority of about four to one.

Charles Finlan returned to the Hall of the Divine Child, Monroe, Sunday, after spending the spring vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finlan.

"One of the most interesting trips one can hope to take is between Miami and Key West, Florida," declared R. T. Willoughby, the other day after his return home to Plymouth from a vacation spent at the home of his son, Earl Willoughby, a well-known shoe merchant of Lake Worth, Florida.

An item of historical value to Plymouth was presented to the city recently when Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Bennett, of Detroit, gave the city a large photograph of Plymouth's main business district taken about 1850. It was given in memory of Mr. Bennett's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bennett, former residents of Plymouth who originally owned the picture.

The public is invited to call and inspect a modernistic, beautifully arranged, new low-cost cottage type of residence by Byron H. Becker, well-known Plymouth graduate architect.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Salow will be hosts at a cooperative supper and evening of cards, Saturday, when they entertain the members of the La-a-Lot club.

50 YEARS AGO

At the Democratic caucus held at Conner's hardware store last Friday evening the following ticket was nominated: supervisor, John Quartel, Sr.; clerk, Howard Brown; treasurer, William Westfall; justice of the peace (fill vacancy), George Gale; justice of the peace (full term), George Lee; highway commissioner, George White; highway overseer, Bert

Brown; member of board of review, Fred Schrader; drain assessor, James Gates; constables, John Quartel, Jr.; Harry Brown, Merle Murray, Scott Courtrite.

The sentiment in favor of a Carnegie library for Plymouth has been growing to such an extent, that it has been deemed advisable to call a public meeting, to talk the matter over and perfect some kind of an organization that will go after this project.

William Blunk is building a new house on Ann street in the Blunk addition. Bert Crumie has the contract.

The Republicans in Canton Township have nominated the following ticket: supervisor, Louis E. Truesdell; clerk, Clifford E. McClumpha; treasurer, Frank E. Truesdell, highway commissioner, John J. Wiest. . . The Democrats have nominated this ticket: supervisor, Benjamin W. Huston; clerk, Philip M. Dingeldey; treasurer, Robert Sittlington; highway commissioner, Melvin J. Palmer.

Miss Pauline Peck, who is teaching in Detroit this year, is visiting at home this week.

Mrs. J. C. O'Bryan had the telephone installed in her home Tuesday.

10 YEARS AGO

Harry Roberts, Marvin Terry, Robert Sincoc, J. Rusling Cutler and Harold

Gunther were elected to the Plymouth city commission at Monday's biennial election.

Chauncey H. Rauch has retired from the Daisy Manufacturing Company after 42 years of service. Since 1938 he has been manager of Daisy's service department which he organized in 1917.

Mrs. Robert D. Willoughby of Plymouth was elected state treasurer of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the 55th state conference of the organization.

The women's committee of the Plymouth Symphony Society met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Van Ornum for a report and discussion of plans for the Symphony Ball on April 15.

Opening this week in the former location of Pease Paint and Wallpaper store, 834 Penniman Ave., is "Melody House," a new music shop which will carry a wide assortment of records, phonographs and accessory equipment.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the First Presbyterian Church's $154,000 expansion and improvement program took place last Sunday under the watchful eyes of the church's congregation.

Mrs. Robert Johnston and Mrs. Edwin Rice were elected delegates for the state P.E.O. convention at a meeting of the local P.E.O. Sisterhood April 1.

For the first time in 21 years, the Plymouth city commission will be without a woman in its midst. Mrs. Eleanor Hammond along with George Bauer, will officially end their terms of office next Monday.

Come to Church Sunday

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in our life. It is a place of spiritual strength and moral authority. It is a place where we can find comfort, guidance, and support. It is a place where we can grow in our faith and love for one another. It is a place where we can make a difference in the world.

One hundred sixty-two feet high and one hundred forty-seven feet wide Napoleon built his arch of triumph. Proudly it rises above the Place de l'Etoile reminding the world of an Emperor's early victories—and later defeats.

On the road from Bethphage to Jerusalem centuries before there had been another arch of triumph. Nature had fashioned it of palm trees. Beneath their bowing branches the Prince of Peace rode into the city that was to crucify Him.

Jesus, unlike Napoleon, never had need of a gigantic monument to help the world remember Him. The doors of a million churches bespeak His victory. Men pass through them not to gaze upon the majesty of carved stone, but to worship and serve the Son of God.

Napoleon bought for himself a transient glory at the price of other men's blood.

Jesus bought for All Men eternal life—at the price of His Own Blood!

World's Fair Offers Post Office Souvenirs

Visitors to the New York World's Fair post office will find that something new has been added this year, the Post Office Department announced yesterday. The Fair opens April 21.

Souvenir cachets — compliments of the post office — will be available to patrons who visit the lobby, where the displays have been revamped and philatelic services expanded.

Sufficient cachets have been printed to provide a maximum of two free envelopes for each person anticipated to use the services of the post office, which is located in the northeast section. It can be located by consulting maps that are affixed to the many mail boxes set up in various parts of the fair grounds.

The souvenir cachets will be available only at the World's Fair post office.

Again this year, visitors will be able to take a behind-the-scenes tour and watch a modern post office in operation

Zing into spring! Chevrolet Impala

Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe—one of two bucket-seated beauties for '65.

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply. Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you? One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

Zing into spring in a new Chevrolet, Chevelle, Corvair, Chevy II or Corvette

PLYMOUTH HIGH NOTES

By Sharon Olin

Ellen Heid '65, this year's election chairman, and the school Election Board has set up a tentative schedule for the 1965-66 school election. On April 8 homeroom meetings will be held to elect a representative and an alternate to represent the various homerooms in future election meetings. The representatives, who automatically become ineligible for campaigning for an office, will take suggestions for all-school and class officers.

The Mayor and nominating boards will attend a joint nominating board meeting to determine the all-school slate in April 12. Additions to this slate may be made by individual petitions.

The tenth and eleventh grade class president and nominating board will meet on April 13 and 14 respectively to draw up the preliminary slate for next year's classes.

April 26 will be the class caucus and students will be given a copy of their proposed slate of class and student council officers. Nominations of these officers will follow, and each class will hold its own primary election to reduce the slate to two candidates to reach elected office.

Voters will register on April 15. Petitions, which must be signed by 25 per cent of the registered student body, have a deadline date of April 30.

Campaign week will be May 3-7, with the elections taking place on May 11. May 18 is the designated date for the Inaugural Assembly.

On April 10, the University of Michigan is holding a special meeting for high school juniors. The meeting will include a general information session, faculty presentation and discussions of program of study and facilities in the University schools and colleges which admit freshmen, small-group tours of the campus, and lunch in University residence halls. All interested students must sign up in the office no later than April 6.

Rob Wilson '65, Nancy

Miller '65, and Ron Jones '66, will visit Mexico on July 5 as part of the Musical Youth International, which is made up of chorus and band members. These three with 77 other music students from Michigan, Canada, and neighboring states will perform concerts and marching exhibitions in several cities.

The Musical Youth International is described as a "People to People Mission." The concept is "to demonstrate through outstanding performance the music education program of our public high schools in three major facets.

The students will stay in selected Mexican homes, and travel from city to city by bus. They will be returning to Michigan on August 4.

Tryouts for the 1965-66 cheerleaders will be held Tuesday, April 6. Tryouts will be held in the gymnasium after school. The only requirements for interested girls was that they attend the first five practices, the sixth one being optional. Miss Lois Mattson, physical education teacher, is the advisor to the cheerleaders

The Sporting Life

He Knows Spring's Hiding Out There

Doug Johnson

I had a chance Saturday afternoon to go down to the Michigan State Fairgrounds Colosseum and see Detroit's Sportsmen's and Vacation Show.

If you are an outdoor camping bug, don't miss it. The latest in vacation trailers and campers including the pick up type that fits onto trucks are there — in abundance. In fact, there are at least 40 different companies represented.

I was disappointed that there weren't more boats, but I suspect they are saved for a Boat show of some sort. Anyway, in the midst of lousy weather, the sight of all the summer fun equipment made the trip pleasant. It also made me silently swear at mother nature. I know spring is out there somewhere.

So far, April has been the crullest month. With due credit to T.S. Eliot and the misuses of his lines, so far spring and the month of April haven't been much to speak of.

Sports in the area, for the most part, have remained indoors, what with baseball fields and golf greens a sodden mess.

Robin Red Breast may be around but he's probably a starling with a chapped stomach.

The local sports beat has been dead. We have duly reported the returning lettermen, the opening matches, games and meets, the coaches hopes and musings. We ran pictures of indoor practices and spring sport's schedules and final stories on winter sports. We're ready to see Jim Lake bat, and Dave Troutman pitch and Dave Tidwell serve and Dave Wall putt and Dennis Tonkovich run and . . .

But the weather won't cooperate.

Our thoughts turn to indoor sports. Sitting at a table at Dun Rovin overlooking the still snow-covered golf course, a friend and I started to talk recently about man's favorite indoor sports — drinking. Our thoughts turned to the wild names some alcoholic concoctions have come to have and we speculated on how some of the names came about.

Some are obvious. The Income Tax Cocktail (dry vermouth, sweet vermouth, gin and bitters) is popular in this, the income tax season. IRS, however, says the cost of such a drink is not deductible.

The Dam-the-Weather, created, we are sure, by a native Michigander, is nothing but gin, vermouth, orange juice and a dash of curacao. It too, is very popular this time of year and imbibers of the mix report it brings sunny skies.

For the more couth, there is the Harvard Cooler (apple Brandy provides the zap) invented by a buttoned-down mind. It reportedly makes the ivy twine.

The rattlesnake cocktail (it gives little warning) the thunder-and-lightning cocktail (never strikes twice in the same spot) and the eclipse cocktail (it blots out the sun) are all extremely easy to make. They don't effect you very much and you should get home alright unless some clown steps on your fingers.

These names are easy to figure. Some are not. Take the Ethel Duffey cocktail. Apricot brandy mostly, but how did it get its name?

Imagine being a cocktail and being named Ethel Duffey.

Ethel Duffey?

This column is supposed to be devoted to local sports, but local sports have been at a standstill here since the Rock basketballers lost their opening tourney game back in March.

So, with your permission I have digressed.

Funny names of things, like the names of those drinks fascinate me. We don't seem to realize it, but we can spend Saturday morning watching the TV and see the Great Wart Hog and Super Granny fight for law and order, see the kids dance to the Freddie in the afternoon, and listen to Roger Miller sing "You Can't Roller Skate in the Buffalo Herd, But You Can Be Happy If You Want To," in the evening. At bedtime you can be lulled to sleep by slouchy Dino's latest slurred ballad "You Left the Electric Blanket on Last Night, Honey, And Now I'm the Toast of the Town."

I'm sorry. It's been a slow week. Next Week promises to be better, the Lord willing.

Late Spring Stymies Area Sports Events

Wednesday, April 7, 1965 THE PLYMOUTH MAIL B-9

A late spring has pushed opening day for all Plymouth sports with area tracks and baseball diamonds still wet from winter snow.

John Sandmann, Athletic Director at the High School, said it was the slowest start he had seen in several years.

Here's a run down of early season events as they stood Monday:

An April 6 track meet with Franklin and Dearborn at Franklin has been cancelled. It may be rescheduled at a later date.

An April 6 tennis match with Bentley has been postponed.

The April 6 golf opener with Redford Union will be played May 12 on Plymouth's home course, Braeburn.

The baseball opening game, set for April 7, has also been postponed indefinitely.

The April 8 track meet at Redford Union has been moved up to May 11.

The April 8 tennis match has been cancelled.

Sandmann said Monday that next week is still a big question mark. The week of April 12 will go like this if everything goes as scheduled:

MIKE HOBEN looks like the pins are coming back to him as he gets set to roll in the Rotary Bowling Tournament at the Ypsi-Arbor Lanes last Sunday. Hoben, along with other local Rotarians were members of six teams entered in the tournament.

Register 220 Jr. Leagues

President of the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League Joe Bida announced this week that 220 boys had registered for the summer's program.

He also issued a plea for score keepers, umpires, coaches and women to help in the concession stands. Anyone interested in helping is urged to contact any of the following officers:

Joe Bida, President 453-1556 (office) 453-0409 (home), Ken Vogras, Int. Vice Pres. 453-8186, Joe Gates, Ext. Vice Pres. 453-7395, Carl Symons, Treasurer 453-3661, Harry Burleson, Secretary 453-3570, Bill Pfaff, Player Agent (National League) 453-4814, Sam Horton, Player Agent (American League) 453-2616, John Ennis, Chief Umpire 453-4193.

Tryouts will be held as follows: Monday, April 12, Tuesday, April 13, Wednesday, April 14.

Boys with birthdays on even dates will be in the National League and tryouts will be held at Jr. High East. Boys with birthdays on odd dates will be in the American League, and tryouts will be held at the rear of Plymouth High School.

Tryouts will be at 5:30 p.m. All boys must wear their numbers on their tee-shirts, and have gloves. All boys must make two out of three tryouts to be eligible to play in League. Opening Date will be Saturday, May 15th.

WIXOM MAYOR and owner of Plymouth Office Supply Wes McAtee with a quick hop, skip and a jump sets to hurl his ball down the alley. He was on team two.

Sales Tax
For use by those Michigan taxpayers who still fact the task of completing their 1964 Federal income tax returns, R. I. Nixon, Detroit District Director of Internal Revenue Service, again issued a table for the Michigan State Sales Tax. Nixon emphasized that the table has been revised and that any chart issued or published last year should not be used in preparing 1964 tax returns.

This table may be used as a guide to arrive at the average amount of Michigan State Sales Tax of 4% which may be claimed as a deduction in the absence of definite proof of payment. Nixon pointed out that the table takes into consideration taxes paid on the purchase of large household items, but does not include either gasoline tax or 6c per gallon or the sales tax on the purchase of an automobile. These items must be itemized separately and may be taken as a deduction in addition to the amount shown on the sales tax table.

MICHIGAN AVERAGE STATE SALES TAX TABLE 1964
This table is based on the Michigan general sales tax of 4 percent. It may be used when deducting sales tax on Form 1042. If the table is not used, the tax deduction must be itemized and substantiated. Deductible sales tax on the purchase of automobiles and gasoline tax on cars per gallon are not included in the table and must be itemized separately.

A Bombali District Celebration Dance

By Lon Dickerson

The occasion was a visit of the bookmobile to Bombali District, a region in the north-central part of Sierra Leone. The time was 5:30 a.m. I was the guest of a paramount chief in a remote village. And now he awoke me.

The people of this region are of the Loko tribe among others. Methodist missionaries from America are very active in establishing primary schools among them. In fact the chief was a graduate of one of these schools.

I was an American, I was on a trip to loan books to the missionary school in this village and I had reached the village by means of a road built by Peace Corps Volunteers. To show his appreciation the chief informed me that the local male circumcision society had just emerged from the bush where new members had been initiated. The celebration dance was just beginning and the chief asked me if I wouldn't like to see it.

The dance was in another village three miles away. As there was no road to it we had to walk along the foot path. The path carried us past a cascading waterfall which glistened in the morning light. I had bathed under the same ribbon of water the previous afternoon.

In the distance could be faintly heard the sounds of drums. As we drew closer to the village the pulsating beats became more audible. We were being drawn toward them as if they were a magnet.

The section or village chief greeted our party as we entered the village. After being introduced to the town elders we were seated at the front of the circle surrounding the dancers.

I was able to capture on film and tape the same dance, known as the Bundokali dance, which was one of several seen by visitors to the Sierra Leone pavilion at the 1964 Worlds Fair in New York. The dancers were, in fact, from this same chiefdom. Now, however, they were in their own setting.

The central figures were the young boys who had just been initiated into the society. They were clad in ornate costumes made from monkey fur. The dance itself was a series of cartwheels performed by means of a long stick. As the boys' feet struck the ground a sharp drum beat and a blast from a whistle held in the dancers' mouth vibrated through the air. Each initiate would demonstrate his skill for several minutes and then another boy would take over.

The drummers wore headpieces shaped like the beak of a bird and made from long flowing monkey fur. Throughout the dance they kept beating drums made from hollowed out logs while the village women sang a melodic chant.

A busy schedule for the day of necessity made our visit a short one. It was, nonetheless, one which would be long remembered.

On yet another day a different paramount chief with whom I spent the night received me in the midst of the crowning of a mammy queen. Such a queen is elected to head the women of some chiefdoms. She is subordinate to the paramount chief and the position has more prestige than actual power.

The festive mood of the villagers that night extended for several hours as they danced to celebrate the coronation.

Out of nine nights on the road during this trip I spent five of them as the guest of paramount chiefs. Each night was a splendid opportunity to experience the best of Sierra Leonean hospitality and customs.

How City Hall Landscaping Plan Works

If you saw last week's Plymouth Mail, you saw a coupon blank which allows you to participate in the landscaping of City Hall. (page two).

This is the way it works. This plan would allow financial participation by individuals and Service organizations, whose participation will be recognized by permanent plaques, placed, in the case of trees, at the foot of each tree. Officials propose to reserve the trees, some ten in number, for service organizations, the cost of each tree to be borne by the organization. The bronze cast plaque would be furnished by the Building Authority.

In addition, contributions from individuals, will be accepted. Funds would be associated with general plantings, difficult to isolate for recognition purposes. All names would appear on a plaque placed inside the city hall, which would appropriately recognize their contributions by name only, no amounts. A minimum contribution of $10 will apply. The landscaping plan was drawn by Miss Genevieve Gillette of Ann Arbor.

PHS Viewpoint:

He Sees Red at Traffic Lights

By Mike Ross

One Friday afternoon, not too long ago, on the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon, two motorists happened to decide to cross the intersection at the same time. No one was killed, but there easily could have been.

Since the new Catholic church was started, parking space in the area was cut and the autos flowed over on to the streets. Suddenly, where none had been before, "NO PARKING" signs appeared in abundance. Tickets seemed to decorate every car window, insults ran wild, and irate church-goers roared away from the scenes of their "crimes."

What's the connection between these two seemingly unrelated incidents? Stupidity that comes from the rationalization of letting one traffic hazard go, a possibly fatal one, while wasting money putting up signs that are far less needed than a traffic light.

It seems that a certain aspect of intelligence is missing. Lights have been put up at certain intersections, finally, after much community wailing, but some of these do as little good as when they didn't exist.

One stinging example is Harvey Street and Ann Arbor Trail. A motorist just coming through the light at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail can see, quite a distance ahead, that the next light just turned green. He can mosey down the Trail at a ridiculous ten miles per hour and still make the green light. The horrified motorist on Harvey has about twelve seconds to scream through the intersection or around the corner when his light finally turns green. This wouldn't be quite so bad if Harvey wasn't as busy as it is. But at certain times of the day Harvey is busier than that section of the Trail. The light sequence, unfortunately, does not change. In the early afternoon cars can be backed up from the Trail along Harvey almost to Penniman. The line blocks the entrances and exits to the main parking lot and causes pandemonium.

Another example of poor timing is the Church Street and Main Street crossings. The sequence works beautifully the majority of the time. But when over one thousand students are on their way to school in the morning, the traffic crossing Main equals the traffic on Main. Yet the same light ratio exists for that part of the day as it does for noon.

The cause of these situations, the absence of some lights, poor timing of others, seems to be lack of research. If the traffic flow was charted better on certain streets not just one time of day but at two or three times of the day and the lights accordingly timed, the problem could be partially alleviated. Plymouth is no longer the sleepy little hamlet it was twenty-five years ago. It is a growing, industrialized community that has been leading the surrounding cities for the past five years. It is no longer a city with one main street and it's time the traffic lights weren't geared to this assumption.

The main hazard still appears to be a lack of lights in the proper places. I would no more want to give my life for a streetlight than I would for a railroad underpass, I doubt many others would either.

Calvary Baptist Slates Musical Painting Concert

A pictorial concert of several musical paintings will be presented on Wednesday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. at Calvary Baptist Church.

This concert is sponsored by HCJB-TV in Quito, Ecuador, the world's first missionary television station and features John Mosiman, artist, and Dick Benoit, television director.

Mosiman uses chalk artistry to portray Biblical scenes on canvas. This is matched by taped orchestral background and narration.

Such concerts have been presented in the United States, Costa Rica, Panama, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia.

Benoit's verbal presentations give a picture of conditions in Latin America today and the way in which television is being used to reach many persons. He joined the HCJB staff following six years experience as a minister.

College Dedication Set

Plans for the formal dedication of Schoolcraft College are set for Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m.

As a means of paying tribute to the citizens of Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, Clarenceville, and Garden City, Schoolcraft College commissioned Knight Vernon, a graduate music student in composition at the University of Michigan, to compose a dedicatory hymn, "Fanfare and Dedication". The composition is scored for brass and percussion choir.

The lyrics were created by Wayne Dunlap, Director of Music at Schoolcraft College, who selected and arranged passages from the Bible as a basic text. "Fanfare and Dedication", a fitting compliment to the creation and birth of Schoolcraft College, will be performed by music students of Schoolcraft and guest musicians from the College District.

In attendance will be a prominent guest speaker, city officials, and civic leaders. A processional with the faculty in full academic regalia, will precede the ceremony, which will be an impressive ritual involving the audience. Following the Dedicatory Service, tours of the Campus will be conducted by the Student Senate.

Grant Schoolcraft Funds For Technical Building

Dr. Eric J. Bradner, President of Schoolcraft College, has received word from Robert M. Winger, Assistant Superintendent for Vocational Education, State Department of Public Instruction, that the College will be granted $19,932.50 for vocational education equipment to expend and improve present vocational, business, and technical programs. In order to receive these funds the College must expend an equivalent amount. Dr. Bradner stated that these funds were the result of an application prepared by James H. Dotseth, Assistant Dean of Instruction for Business and Technical Education. This was the same application by which Schoolcraft College received approval for constructing the Technical Building for which ground will be broken in June. The cost of the Technical Building will be approximately $912,000, of which Schoolcraft College received $456,000 from Federal funds. Schoolcraft College was fortunate in receiving the largest amount of construction funds for technical education in the State of Michigan. Because of the availability of Federal funds to assist in financing community colleges, the Schoolcraft College building program is moving ahead much more rapidly than was anticipated.

The new Technical Building will contain three drafting rooms, welding and foundry automotive services, manufacturing processes, electricity-electronics, data processing, and nursing education. It also will include six classrooms and faculty offices. It is anticipated that the Technical Building will be used extensively for apprenticeship training, adult education, in-service journeyman's upgrading, besides the programs for college students working toward an associate degree in technical studies. Dotseth's office is now working with the architects, Ralls-Hamill-Becker, of Livonia, developing final details of the Technical Building. As soon as this phase of the building is completed, the College must prepare an added application for Federal funds for furniture and equipment for the technical laboratories.

BRADLEY WEAAGE

Local Youth Named To Rag Time Society

Bradley Weage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weage, 750 Sunset, is a local rag time expert and to prove it he has just been named as the 236th member of the exclusive Ragtime Society of King, Ontario.

Bradley is 9, and has been playing for several years.

He was sponsored by Thomas Shea, Livonia, of the Plymouth Community Band, who is also a member. Shea has written and recorded his own music. His first record is rapidly becoming a collector's item.

Bradley, who attends Bird School, figures to be the youngest member of the society. The organization is an international one and to be a member you must profess a desire to help continue classical rag time music.

Bradley has played at the band's summer concerts and will play at their forthcoming April 9 and 10 show this week.

When he became a member of the society he received a card and copies of music for tunes that can't be bought in the stores.

His mother, who is a music teacher, taught her son the basics.

"He loves the piano," she says, "I wanted him to try the organ but that is too slow for him. He likes the fast things."

City DPW Activities

By Joseph Bida, Sup'l.

The Department of Public Works was busy this week with the repairing of street name signs and sign posts. Cold patching was done throughout the city both on major and local streets. There has been a great deal of damage done to the streets during the last months.

Sanitary sewers were rodded on Penniman Avenue from Sheldon to S. Harvey; Adams Street from Church to Junction; N. Harvey from Church Street to Junction; Ann Street from William to Junction Streets.

Catch basins were cleaned on Pacific and Arthur Streets; Irvin-Blunk and Ann Streets between Church and Junction.

One 3/4" water tap was installed on Coolidge Street.

Two funerals were held at the Riverside Cemetery this week.

The 2" snow fall on Thursday kept the crew rushing around for a while salting the streets and parking lots and cleaning city owned sidewalks. Eighty tons of salt was spread during the afternoon and evening and early hours of Friday. This makes a total of 1,632 tons of salt used during this year at $8 per ton or $13,056 for ice and snow removal.
