This is an isolated incident but it is aparent and parcel of the occasional hue and cry that is raised over police protection in the heavily populated areas of Plymouth Township.

Last fall there were scattered complaints of vandalism in the Lake Pointe area. One man, William Green, reported eggs thrown on his car, car aerials snapped off and a rock thrown through a picture window that narrowly missed his daughter playing on the living room rug.

Deny Hinote injunction on micro-tower

Ossie Hinote's suit against Bell's micro-wave tower on the corner of Powell and Napier was stopped this week as the court denied a motion for a restraining order.

In a decision handed down this week Wayne County Circuit Judge James N. Canham denied Hinote's petition for a temporary restraining order and granted Michigan Bell's motion for a summary judgment. The suit was started in late February with Attorneys John Ashton and Edward Draugelis representing Hinote, the plaintiff.

Ashton said in late February that the plaintiff contended the Township went beyond its legal powers in granting building permits for the tower, and that the tower would be a public nuisance.

Only four commissioners were on hand at the meeting - enough for a quorum. Commissioners George Lawton, George Hudson and Robert Smith were still away on Easter vacations.

An ordinance to regulate and license drive-ins was submitted for the first time by City attorney Edward Draugelis. The ordinance is the work of Draugelis, the police department and Plymouth drive-in owners.

The ordinance cracks down on noise, loitering and cruising through the parking lots. All drive-in owners are bound to keep their area free of rubbish; loud speakers and alcoholic beverages are also prohibited.

The ordinance, designed to curtail the use of drive-ins as a meeting place, requires the posting of a sign that reads: 'CRUISING AND GATHER-ING OUTSIDE OF VEHICLE UNLAWFUL.'

Recently, Sam Hudson, of 44951 N. Territorial Road wrote to both the City Commission and the Township Board seeking a joint committee to study the possibilities of uniting the two communities. The Commission expressed a willingness to take part in such a committee, and Township officials said they would be willing to hear public opinion on the matter. Your opinion is needed and the Plymouth Mail is seeking that opinion through the use of a questionnaire printed below.

There are numerous species available but all are characterized by relatively short stems and clear, bright colors. One of the most charming is "lady tulip" which has rosy-red and white blossoms on 8 inch stems. Kaufmanniana tulips have cream and carmine red flowers and are only six inches high. Hybrids of this kind are known as "waterlily" tulips and have large wide-spreading blooms close to the ground. The Fosteriana tulip is scarlet flowered and is a foot tall. Its hybrids are among the most magnificent of the early tulips. Most popular is the brilliant Red Emperor. Other Fosteriana hybrids have flowers of glowing orange, pure white, scarlet or vermilion.

FRUIT TREES

Fruit trees pay a double dividend to the home gardener. They are both decorative and utilitarian. In addition to the fruit they yield, they have beautiful blossoms and can have a pleasant or picturesque shape. A fruit tree can shade a terrace or play area, or can be trained flat against a wall or trellis, or can serve as an accent or specimen plant on the lawn. Dwarf fruit trees can be used where there is not enough space for a large tree.

Early Spring is the best large trees.

APPLE TREES are best planted on gently sloping high ground. Good air circulation and soil drainage are important, but apples will grow in either clay, loam, or sandy soil. Young trees need careful pruning to shape them properly. Several years are needed before they will start bearing Peaches are another popular back-yard fruit although they are a little less hardy than other fruit trees. Peaches grow best on light, welldrained sandy loams where air circulation is good.

Apricots are not planted as often as they should be. The large handsome trees are hardier than peach trees and the flower buds are less subject to frost injury. It is the first of the fruit trees to

PEARS PREFER THE heavier soils, but need good drainage. Very fertile, moist soils are to be avoided because the resultant vigorous growth is susceptible to blight. Pears are generally self-sterile and two or more varieties should be planted near each Plums are the most versatile of fruit trees and there is a variety to suit any locality. There are native American plums, Japanese plums, and European plums.

Cherries are classified as sweet, sour, and dukes which are hybrids of sweet and sour. The soil must be well-drained but they will grow in either sandy loam or clay loam.

A large apple tree will yield The fruit they produce is full- 5 to 10 bushels of fruit and a dwarf apple will yield 1 to 11/2 bushels. ### ATTENTION: Residents Of Salem Township

The Salem Township Fire Ordinance requires that a fire permit be obtained before burning any grass or brush when ground is not snow-covered. Permits can be obtained without charge by calling your fire chief, Charles Raymor, at FI 9-1741, or if you are unable to reach him, by calling the fire department at FI 9-1155.

people knew of it. It is from 15 to 20 feet high and perhaps 300 feet across. Original plans called for the lake to cover about 120 acres.

Sunday, around 5 p.m. by nearest estimates, the dam broke sending what one observer called "at least an 8 foot wall of water" down the channel. Little damage was done to the area immediately below the dam site. The land is mostly creek bed and farm acreage. John White, a resident of Redford Townshiip who owns property downstream in Canton Township, reported that at about 5:30 he stood on a bridge he had built on his property and noticed the water was rising, already four feet above normal water lines. He went upstream to the dam and discovered the break at about 5:45. He was accompanied by Alden Kulick, of 50025 Joy Road, an address which is near the Kulick, an engineer, had called the dam dangerous when he had seen it before. Later, water ran over White's bridge where he had been standing.

Land along Fellows Creek was affected by the flooding, including some near Pilgrim Square subdivision.

As of Tuesday Township officials had decided on no action pending word from conservation officials. Public Act 184 of Michigan statutes demands that a permit be secured from the conservation department before constructing a dam on natural waterways. Tuesday officials were checking to see if such a permit had been requested or issued.

Pick head of Evans research

William K. MacCurdy, formerly Senior Research Engineer with the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, California, has joined the Transportation Equipment Division of Evans Products Company, Plymouth, Michigan, as Chief Engineer -Research.

The announcement was made today by J. P. Moorhead, the Division's Director of Engineering and Patents, who said that Mac-Curdy would be responsible for the development of criteria and concepts for new railroad cars and damageprevention equipment.

MacCurdy is a graduate of Alma College in Michigan and of the University of Michigan. From 1934 until 1947 he was engaged in naval architecture and ship building, working variously at Gibbs and Cox, Inc., Naval Architects, New York City; Houston Shipbuilding Company in Texas; and Western Pipe and Steel Company in San Pedro, California.

He was employed at Stanford University from 1947 to 1950 as an instructor in Engineering Mechancs and from 1950 to 1952 at Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Sunnyvale, California, as a Design Engineer.

IN 1952, MacCURDY joined the staff of Stanford Research Institute. Here he was engaged primarily in mechanical development work. Projects have been in the fields of ordnance, railroad equipment, hydraulic machinery, and automatic machinery for laundries, food processing The building program is exand agricultural applications.

> Last October MacCurdy and Mr. William Thomford of the Southern Pacific Company were jointly awarded George R. Henderson medals by the Franklin Institute for achievements "in the field of railway impact control and associated car design, with resulting benefits in reducing lading and rolling stock damage." This was in connection with research work done at Stanford Research Institute for Southern Pacific Company which resulted in the Hydra-Cushion Underframe.

Evans Products Company owns fifty per cent of Hydra-Cushion Incorporated which manufactures and sells Hydra-Cushion Underframe - a shock-absorbing device installed on railroad freight cars. Moorhead indicated that MacCurdy's research work would involve initially the Hydra-Cushion device. On completion of Hydra-Cushion projects, MacCurdy will work on other established products and new concepts.

MacCurdy's appointment is the most recent in a series of additions made to its engineering staff by Evans Products Company's Transportation Equipment Division, which recently entered the freight car construction field as a supplement to its damage-prevention operation.

Mayor Wernette steps down, expresses mixed emotions

Richard Wernette stepped down last week after two years as Plymouth's Mayor and six years as a City commissioner. For him it was an occasion filled with mixed emotions - some regrets, but mostly relief.

He explained his feelings recently and extended praise to a past Mayor, Harold Guenther:

"Guenther was an outstanding Mayor. Neither Bob Sincock nor I have been as good mayors."

That comment reflects a candidness that is sometimes typical of Wernette. "I may run again someday. But as Jean (his wife) said, I don't think I could win because there are people that woul actively work against me."

Wernette has come under some fire from a handful of Plymouth citizens for his outspoken stand on civil rights. He has been active in the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity and has publicly stated that he hopes if Negroes move into Plymouth they move into his neighborhood.

REVIEWING developments in the Plymouth. Community over the past few years, Wernette noted:

Your opinion is needed on unification

A letter from Plymouth Township resident Sam Hudson, urging that a citizens' committee be set up to study city-township amalgamation, was given short shrift last Tuesday evening by township trustees.

On a motion by Trustee Ralph Garber and a second by Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes, the board unanimously put the kibash on Hudson's recommendation-saying they couldn't permit such a group as long as the charter commission for the City of Plymouth Heights was active.

The move came with such swiftness it smacked of the kind of treatment a horticulturist might give poison ivy in his petunia patch, leaving the impression that the matter was cut and dried before the meeting got underway.

Admittedly the question of citytownship unification is a sticky one for both city commissioners and township trustees. Beneath the surface lie a whole host of ancient difficulties and disagreements which must be overcome before concrete progress

The legislative units of both local governments were faced suddenly with a decision that has been everpresent, though unspoken for some time; and they moved without benefit of knowing public opinion, except for the Hudson epistle.

It seems to us that Plymouth Township's board of trustees was derelict in its duty in summarily dismissing a communication from a township resident so quickly. And in light of their action, we tend to wonder how much weight public opinion would carry with elective officials that were easily able to brush aside a taxpayer's recommendation.

During the past week two township officials, Clerk John D. McEwen and Trustee Ralph Garber, have indicated an interest in grassroots opinion on the matter. They suggested that The Plymouth Mail carry a questionnaire for residents to fill out and return.

Accordingly, on the front page of this issue, you will find a blank asking whether or not you favor appointment of a committee of both city and township residents to study possible unification of the two governmental units.,

The committee, as we see it, would only study and no more. Its only power would be to recommend to the legislative bodies of city and township.

The group would be faced with high and long-standing hurdles, including differences in sewer and water systems, differences in government and differences in taxation procedures.

Their task would be long and arduous and, possibly, fruitless. Nevertheless, we think such a group should be put to work.

What do you think?

Since public opinion polls are all the rage (see, we've got one on our front page), I set out last week to test citizen reaction to the Plymouth Mail's new

It was enlightening. The idea had its birth at the supper table one evening when old freckle nose, the grade school daughter, made her perennial springtime demand. "Hey, daddy," she shrieked in that nasal voice that all eight-year-olds seem to have, "buy me a kite." Because I am the epitome of fatherly generosity with a penchant for indulging the little monsters, I replied:

"Whaddaya mean, 'buy me a kite?"
"Make one.You think I'm made outa money or something?

"How," she inquired "do you make a kite?" 'Simple. You get some sticks and string and stuff and you make one out of the Plymouth Mail." Second-graders, let's face it, are not God's greatest example of aesthetically pleasing humanity. But you should see one with mixed feelings of repulsion and disbelief on her face.

"Aw," she said, "you can't make a kite out of a Plymouth Mail." 'Sure you can."

"Did you ever make one out of a newspaper?" Silence. After all, why mess yourself up by adadmitting you haven't?

"Did he, Mama? Did he? Huh? Did he ever, Mama?" Good old Mom, my buddy. You guessed it. She said no.

"Anyway," girl child muttered, "even if you could, I wouldn't wanna make one out of the Plymouth Mail. It hasn't got a very pretty-design."
"Sure it does," I argued, holding one up. "See, it's even got color this week."

"Phooey!" she exclaimed.

"Well, sir," I gushed, "I'm glad to hear it. I see by our records that you have five subscripstuff." "I sure do like that new press though. Better paper. More body. What do you call it, upset?"

"No, offset." "Good stuff," he concluded, "lots more body."

Gallup can have his polling business. Of all the farmers queried, however, 100 per cent them are solidly behind the Plymouth Mail.

The housewives are too. When I got home, my partner in life was packing dishes in preparation for the move to a castle of our own in Birch Estates. She was, naturally, using the Plymouth Mail on account of we don't have any of the stringy stuff they use at dish factories. "Hey," she said brightly. "This new offset print-

"How did you know?" she asked in amazement.

"I took a poll."

When Alexander Graham Bell obtained the patent for his telephone on March 7, 1876, he had no conception of what his invention was to become. Today there are more than 60 million telephones in the United States, and 200 million telephone conversations daily.

No, this isn't a report on the telephone. This is a complaint filed against the persons and organizations that exploit this valuable means of communication. The percentage of the seventy-three billion five-hundred million telephone calls that are placed yearly that run from prankish threats to false cries of emergency is staggering.

How many times have you come running from the washing machine, shower, basement, or been awakened from a much needed sleep, to the joyous bells of the phone, only to hear echoing from the receiver, "Have you heard about Czerny's new Belly-Button Vacuum," or "Are you troubled with elephants in your basement? If so, call GL 3-6146." Maybe not these exact words were used, but something on the same order.

Too often though the foolish pranks turn a pleasant day into a terrifying nightmare. The wife whose husband's business takes him on frequent trips has an innate fear to answer the phone all the time he's gone. To have someone maliciously call her in the dead of night with the opening line, "Mrs. John Doe? This is the Chicago morgue calling," would undoubtedly send her into a trauma. But since this seems like great fun to some sadistic-minded little urchin (or big idiot) it's always open season for them on airline pilots' wives, truck drivers' wives,

There's also a game called "sucker" which, during the winter season, seems to be a favorite. Around eleven p.m. when a selected gas station is closing up for the night, the phone rings and out drools a little weavy voice lamenting that he is stuck at the corner of such-and-such a street, which is about twelve miles from the station. Patiently the attendant hops in the truck and comes to the aid of the "distressed" motorist. Half an hour and many miles of snow-clogged dirt road behind him he pulls up along side a sign which reads in large printed letters SUCKER!

Pizza-places are another victimized establishment. It's taken for granted that sometime during the business week someone is going to call, ask for a pizza to be delivered, and when the old jeep swings around the corner to deliver it he finds it's an empty lot, empty house, or worse, the people at that address never called for it. When he returns to the store and calls the number left by the ordering party, it turns out to be a pay phone more often than not.

Some organizations that use the guise of a contest to further their product are bordering on the illegal. A typical example is a sexy voice rasping through the receiver with, "If you answer the question correctly you'll win a free piece of furniture. What's Abraham Lincoln's first name? After the question has been answered, the winner is told to come down to the store to pick up his prize. When he arrives at the store he is presented with a free piece of doll furniture and then is hounded for the next two hours by a staff of well trained salesmen, highly educated in the art of brainwashing. The result? A free piece of doll furniture, a sale for the store if the poor man broke, and a clean brain.

But these examples are far from the worst. The "game" turns from prankish, ignorant acts to truly dangerous and destructive ones when the other player is the police or fire department. Each year all across our country millions of false calls of distress are placed to these departments. The result on many of these isn't just a free piece of doll furniture, it's usually far more serious.

When one of these such calls is placed to the police, a squad car is dispatched immediately. At the same time, not too far away, a real tragedy may be occurring, but that caller is told he'll have to wait because all the squad cars are busy at the moment. The same can be applied to the fire

These attrocities are far from infrequent. I realize the telephone company can do very little about this, no person or organization can. ### The Sporting Life Nothing gained in budget cuts

Doug Johnson

Local sports finally got off the ground with three happy coaches and two unhappy coaches this week. Brian Boring was happy because his team topped Northville in a shaky but well-pitched start. Old head baseball coach Mike Hoben (by old I mean last year's) was on hand in the locker room after the game to go over the score book and offer a couple of quiet hits to mild-mannered Bor-

The weather was chilly and poor for baseball. Boring said to me: "Don't say that; this is the best day we've had."

Veteran Keith Baughman's team still had wintersore kinks in their muscles but topped Belleville's track team. It was a good start for the local thinclads.

Tennis Coach Jim Stevens wasn't too happy, especially with Dave Tidwell's defeat in the singles play against Ann Arbor. This is only a guess on my part, but I suspect I'm right.

John Sandmann has had his golf team on the course twice - count 'em - two times so far this spring. He's ready to play, and has spent much of his time the last few weeks shuffling schedules.

It's budget time for the School Board and several things are about to be considered - all of which are important.

For some strange reason, when budget cutting time rolls around, one of the 'frills' that gets axed is athletic department requests.

Plymouth's athletic program is, in my mind, well-staffed and well-managed and properly bud-

But there are places that need more. For instance, if it wasn't for a junior league program in baseball and basketball financed by funds outside the school, local sports might take a sharp nosedive.

The football field needs new lighting. The swimming pool is woefully taxed in usage. There are four usable tennis courts for the 20,000 people in the Plymouth Community. More blacktopping will cut athletic field space behind the high school.

A proposed wrestling program will be sidelined while existing equipment is maintained with money recently voted in the millage election.

Classrooms have been added to the school with the new industrial arts addition, but the space in the locker rooms remains stable as enrollment climbs. Small enough problems, but they can snow-

Recently, Grand Rapids school officials, faced with a lack of enough operating funds, decided to cut out all high school athletics. We are not at that stage here, but I hate to see the athletic program shortchanged. By no stretch of the imagination is it worthwhile cutting a athletic program in the name of keeping academic standards up. I'm not here to debate the mind body argument. But no one can convince me baseball bats are more important than English books. Physical health and fitness is as imporant as mental aclarity. Life is no fun with a heart condition and 25 excess pounds. All the books and pencils won't make life pleasant if at fifty you can't touch your toes and the doctor has told you to slow down. Great crimes can be committed in the name of three runs in a bases-loaded budgetmental economy.

RON WHITE'S SINGLE in the sixth inning was one of three lone Plymouth hits last Wednesday as the Rocks topped Northville 6-1.

THE MAN FROM Texas got Plymouth's biggest hit last week against Northville. He's Marlan Sutton and here he hits third after being walked. He got a triple back in the third inning scoring Plymouth's first run.

Northville bobbles in 5th, Rocks win

errors gave Plymouth a 6-1 victory over a non league foe as the Rocks finally opened their 1965 baseball season last Wednesday.

A game the first week in April with Dearborn had been postponed as snow covered the ground. The Rocks will open their league schedule April 26 with a game with Trenton there.

Plymouth got its six runs on three lone hits. It had been something of a pitchers duel up until the fifth inning with the score tied 1-1.

But Northville's fielding fell apart at the seams as they gave up 5 unearned runs on one hit in the fifth. Two walks, a Terry Cosgrove single and several bobbles in the infield did the job.

PLYMOUTH'S top pitchers handled the Northville team well. Dave Troutman went the first four frames, giving up no hits and striking out 9 of 12 batters.

Daniel went the last three innings, and only got tapped for one double in the 5th

Nunez 1-hitter gives JV's win

It was a big day in Plymouth sports last Wednesday as the varsity track and baseball teams were chalking up wins. It was the same story at Northville for the baseball junior varsity team as they won 6-3 on ten scattered hits.

Plymouth's Dave Nunez pitched 6 and 2/3 innings of hitless balls for the Rocks, and ended up with a one-hitter.

Northville's three runs were unearned.

For Plymouth Pat Williams hit two for four, including a 6th inning double that broke a 2-2 deadlock and scored

About $3500 had been slated in the added operating funds voted in the recent millage election for program improvements in the physical education department. It had been thought that the money would be used for a wrestling program.

However, Sandmann feels other existing facilities need some attention. In a letter to the school board, he wrote:

the wrestling program tentatively approved for the 1965-66 school year be postponed at this time. It is also respectfully recommended that the money budgeted for the wrestling program be used to complete desperately needed facilities."

Sandmann said that he made the move with "ex- ing under close scrutiny in treme regret." Both Sandmann and High School princi-

"Where the Plymouth Community Comes First"

Ah, what a perceptive little fellow. He noticed The Plymouth Mail's new catch line.

Well, son, it's really quite simple.

Plymouth is a unique community. It's got something you can't quite put your finger on that's a little bit different. It's called identity.

And we think The Plymouth Community is deserving of its own personal newspaper — providing competently written, in-depth news coverage and editorial comment. Frankly, we couldn't take a conglomeration of items from all over creation and call it a Plymouth news-

It wouldn't be fair to the community.

It wouldn't be fair to our readers.

And it wouldn't be fair to businessmen who want to catch the attention of Plymouth people.

You see, Plymouth merits more than being lumped together in part of a faceless blob called the Detroit metropolitan area.

Plymouth is not just any old part of suburbia, whatever that is. Plymouth is much more than another hunk of Western Wayne County.

Plymouth is . . . well, it's Plymouth. And, with us, it comes first.

Garden plans take patience

a beautiful frame for your home with a little patience, a lot of enthusiasm and these few pointers.

1. Don't plant too deep. Small flower or vegetable seeds only need to be covered. When re-seeding bare patches in your lawn, loosen two inches of soil and then fertilize and

2. Using too much fertilizer is much worse than using too little. Follow the directions on the package of a reliable manufacturer.

3. Overwatering washes nutrients out of the soil and helps spread fungi. Let your turf dry almost to the wilting point between waterings, and then soak it to a depth of six inches.

You might consider a corrosion-resistant galvanized steel sprinkler, which will give you many years of service. Its advantage is that it furnishes

You can make your garden water only as fast as the ground can absorb it.

> 4. Mow your lawn, but don't try to erase it. It's advisable to set your mower at one and a half inches high and then mow whenever the grass gets over two inches. If your mower blades get dull, they'll split the grass tops, causing them to turn brown.

> The blades should be made of high carbon or alloy steel which makes them rugged so they won't chip when they hit a rock — and hard, so that when the blades are sharpened, they will stay sharp for a long time. Once a year have the blades removed, ground and balanced.

> 5. Buy good garden tools, so they won't have to be replaced periodically. A good basic set of tools includes: a spade or shovel, spading fork, rake, hoe, cultivator, shears, trowel, sprayer or duster for plant leaves, water can, cords and stakes for vines, and a heavy and light pair of gloves.

> 6. Never leave lawn and garden tools outdoors. If you don't have a definite storage space for the smaller items, put up a cabinet in the garage and store them out of the way. And be sure to wash and dry your tools after using them. They'll not only look better, but they'll last longer.

> 7. Your war on weeds and insects should start before there is an invasion. All-purpose sprays and dusts will control most insects and diseases in flowers and vegetables if applied early and according to directions.

GARDEN LIVING IS HAPPIER THESE DAYS with landscaped patios, terraces and outdoor cooking and recreation areas in fashion across the country. Gardening has become a favorite pastime for many Americans who say that it is "good for the health." But, health isn't the only good part of gardening. The beauty that can be achieved with a bit of imagination and ingenuity is "good for the eyes," too, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Most families take pride in living in beautiful natural surrounding. More and more families are developing the grounds around their homes into inviting, beautiful "outdoor living" rooms.

These "outdoor living" rooms furnish restful retreats for adults, places for teen-agers to entertain and for the smaller children to play safely, and to learn about growing things.

Veach Sparks, Ralph Garber, Louis
Norman, Dick Lauterbach.
Due to the recent death of Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay, Clerk McEwen called the meeting to order at 8:02 P.M. He pointed out that this meeting was imperative inasmuch as a Public Hearing on the various Township Budgets had been advertised. McEwen then requested the Board to appoint a moderator for the evening to properly transact the business of the evening.
It was moved by Lous Norman, supported by Dick Lauterbach that the Township Treasurer, Elizabeth
Holmes, be made moderator. Carried unanimously.

Legion Auxiliary

The study of Costa Rica in the American Legion Auxiliary's foreign relations program will reach its climax during April, Mrs. Vera Tubbs, Foreign Relations Chairman of Passage-Gayde Unit of the Auxiliary, has said. Parties and special meetings featuring Costa Rica will be held by Auxiliary Units throughout the country.

Each year our American Legion Auxiliary studies one of the other American republics as part of its endeavor to promote better understanding of other countries.

The Auxiliary makes a special project of doing something for the country under study as a gesture of good will. Last year the Auxiliary bought pumps for waterless villages in Ecuador, and the year before it built rural schools in Santa Domingo. This year the project is "Tools for Training" for Costa Rica. Some members have already obtained their charm bracelet of such tools.

The Auxiliary is purchasing kits of tools for vocational schools in Costa Rica, needed as this primarily agricultural country tries to improve its conditions by training young people for other forms of wcrk. These kits are purchased and distributed through the CARE organiza-

Collection of pennies at Auxiliary meetings and conferences supports the Foreign Relations self-help projects. Last year the Auxiliary's pennies bought more than 100 water pumps for Ecuador at a cost of $125.00 per pump. We hope to supply the critical need for training tools in Costa Rica this year with a flood of pennies.

All Post and Unit members - here is your chance to express your feelings on the closing of 31 Veterans Administration installations. Unit Chairman of Rehabilitation Fern Burleson urges all members to write to the President of the United States and the Honorable Olin Teague, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. requesting their help in keeping open 11 hospitals, four domiciliaries and 16 regional offices. Then write to William J. Drivers, same address, protesting action of closing these installations. The Auxiliary sees in the order of closing hospitals, home and offices of the VA a prospect of bigger things to come - of the closing of more facilities for service to veterans - of a future in which the status of the war veteran and his dependents will be down-graded.

Reminder to Auxiliary members of the business meeting Wednesday, April 21, at 8 p.m. in the Post Home.

Radio and TV Chairman Lillian Kinghorn urges all Unit members to bring their "Golden Mike" ballot to the meeting Wednesday, April 21, and she will collect them.

We can keep you in hot water.

In fact, we guarantee it!

An electric water heater is for the people who don't like to run out of hot water. We're so sure you'll like one, we guarantee your satisfactionfor a whole year! What do we mean by satisfaction? Simply this: If you don't get all the hot water you want, when you want it, you get all your money back, including any you may have spent on installation. And it doesn't matter where you bought your electric water heater. The Edison guarantee still applies. No strings attached. Fair enough?

EDISON

P.S. Average-size families with electric water heaters pay only $3.88 a month-a standard rate-for their hot water. How much are you paying?
