Schultheiss.

Following a successful dog vaccination and licensing program at the Plymouth Township Hall, during which 344 dogs were handled on two successive Saturdays, the City of Plymouth will hold its annual dog clinic on Saturdays, May 22 and 29. That was the announcement of City Clerk Richard Shafer who indicated the clinics will operate on a 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. schedule on each of the Saturdays. The fees are $3 for the two-year rabies immunization and $2 for the 1965 dog license. Shafer warned all dog owners that those not vaccinated nor icensed by June 1 will be subject to violation tickets. He warned that owners are in violation if his or her dog is permitted to run at large. Meanwhile, Township Clerk C. Veach Sparks reported 135 dogs received shots and licenses on the first Saturday and 209 on the second for the total of 344 - one of the largest in Township history.

He and his party participated in a coffee klatch in the City Hall where they met heads of the various City departments shortly after their arrival at 10 a.m.

Then followed a tour of the City Hall and Library, a luncheon at the Round Table Club where Mayor Pro-Tem Jabara presented him with a key to the city and he met members of the City Commission and heads of the various service and civic clubs.

Jabara, Fisher and Way led the group on a tour of the City and its industrial plants during the afternoon and a happy Village President departed back Plymouth for Union City at 4:30 p.m.

Carpenter, who comes from the village of Union City with a population of 1,950, was much impressed with the new City Hall, the reservoir now under construction and the City's Urban Renewal project and plans for senior citizen housing.

The Plymouth delegation included 14 members and five wives, headed by Retiring President Joseph Fletcher, Presidentelect Cal Strom and National Director Wendell Smith.

After careful consideration of all entries, the state committee gave Plymouth the top award for its work in community development, citing the well balanced program in all areas.

PHS Band To Conduct Decal Sale

The Plymouth High School Band will conduct its annual fund raising campaign for band camp on Saturday. Starting at 10 a.m., bandsmen will begin a door - ot - door canvass of Plymouth with band booster decals. Residents will be asked to donate whatever amount they feel they can contribute.

All funds derived from this money raising effort are used to send the Band to Camp Kohahna, located in northern Michigan on the Lake Leelanau peninsula one week before chool begins.

At band camp, the bandsmen work for approximately six hours a day for six days on the basic fundamentals of marching and playing instruments.

The results of their efforts have been outstanding half-time shows at all PHS home and away football games. In addition, last fall the group was asked to make a solo appearance on the gridiron of the University of Michigan stadium in conjunction with the annual band day sponsored by the U of M athletic department.

Resume Pickups In Alleys

Summer has arrived - at least for the Plymouth Department of Public Works -with the announcement from Supt. Joseph Bida that alley rubbish pickups will be resumed as of June 1.

The rubbish and garbage service has been curtailed for several weeks during the spring to the point that householders were asked to have all containers at the edge of the curb until the alleys could be opened.

That meant when the alleys were considered hard enough to take the heavy trucks without the danger of becoming mired in soft, muddy spots.

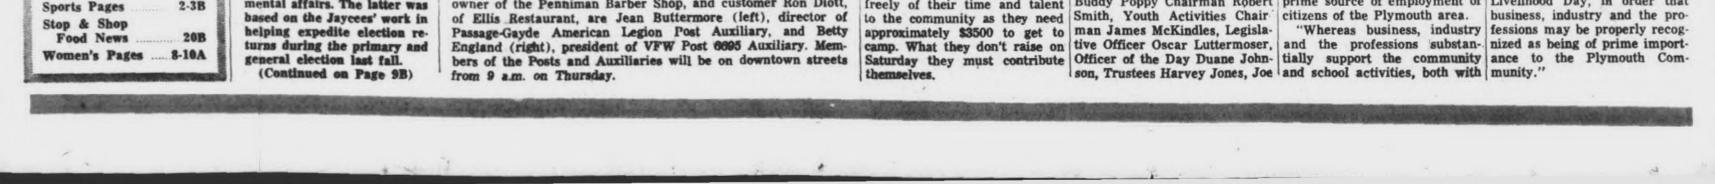

Supt. Bida made the welcome announcement Monday and thanked citizens for their excellent co-operation and patience during the period when truck traffic was banned in the alleys.

Livonian Eyes At-Large Post Hudson Has Competition for Schoolcraft Board

the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees developed over the weekend when five filed for the vacancy in Livonia and two names were dropped into the hopper as candidates for the atlarge post.

Sam Hudson, prominent Plymouthite who resides at 44951 N. Territorial, faces the challenge of Mrs. Rosina Raymond, 15906 Oak Drive, for the at-large post. Hudson is the incumbent, serving as an appointment to fill the vacancy created when Charles Kirkpatrick resigned when transferred out of the college district.

Mrs. Raymond has been a leader in numerous activities in Livonia, particularly in arranging participation in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade in downtown Detroit. She is one of the leaders in the area Irish organizations.

The five candidates for the Livonia post, vacated when Erwin Brown did not seek reelection because of the press of business, are: Donald Kilpela, 8185 Donna, Garden City; Oliver Weipert, 30149 Mason; James Boswell, 9610 Deering; Ronald Pilenzo, 16353 Farmington Road. and Solomon Bienenfeld, 29623 Transcrest.

Auto Title Record Is Shattered

LANSING-April, 1965, will go down in Michigan's auto registration history as the "greatest record-breaking month ever recorded."

The "astounding" number of 238,000 titles for Michigan vehicles were issued during the month, eclipsing the previous high month of May, 1963, by nearly 30,000 titles.

"It wasn't that the record was broken," Secretary of State James M. Hare said, "but the overwhelming way that it happened." Hare said that if car sales kept with current highs the remainder of the year that last year's all-time record of more than two-million titles issued would also be shattered.

Hare did say that so far through April, 1965, figures were running "just a trifle under 1964's totals."

April's 83,000 titles for new cars and 124,000 transfers are all-time marks also, Hare said.

HOLD ON TO THE GOOD TIMES

Every college and high school across the country has its share of old graduates who are always young in spirit. They're the people with that perpetual "sophomore" vitality. But for others of us, it's a bit tougher. It's tougher to keep track of compus memories and put the right names with the right classmates as the years fly by.

It's the same way with wedding celebrations. The wedding-with its festivities and friends-happens in just a few hours of one day. But we remember it a lifetime. Just as we forget our classmates' names, it's easy to forget the little things that make up a wedding, that make it a time to remember.

A camera can record these memories that begin when someone goes off to school, or graduates, or walks down the aisle on a wedding day. These are memories we want to rememberand to share. And we can experience good times again and again-with pictures.

Who'll give the bride her wedding camera? Who'll sponsor the graduate's college album? Right now I can help you select the right camera at the right price for these two gift-giving occasions. From $16.95 right on up. Some models are almost unbelievably easy to use, like the KODAK INSTAMATIC Cameras. Some are a little more complex, a little more expensive -cameras better suited as Father's Day gifts for dads who know a little about photography.

So if you're looking for a way to solve your gift problem, stop by and see us

Mrs. Don Kory from Redford Township served on the Committee on Civil and Political Rights and should be an excellent source of information. Myra Wolfgang, (committee on social and labor legislation) might think there is discrimination against American women but all things are relative. To Women It May Concern By LOUISE KUDER To those of us who traveled to Lansing to share with Governor Romney the report of his Commission on the Status of Women it was an enjoyable day. The weather was beautiful, the luncheon tasty and the company good. A few of the committee chairmen were perfunctory rather than profound.

The Governor, with his usual charm and new political acumen, stated his was the first state in the nation to establish a commission on studying status of women.

He added "Michigan's women have achieved major accomplishments and contribute significantly to our economic, cultural and political life. I believe they stand ready to contribute even further to Michigan's growth if we but accord them the recognition they so richly deserve and the opportunity to participate chard, Farmington an- fully. If Michigan is to realize its full potential as a state, every nounce the engagement of individual citizen's interest and full participation is needed." To add zest to his words-and sincerity of purpose, he promaschke to Curtis Brian ceded to make the announcement that on this very week he had Semanson son of Mr. and appointed a woman to the (presently) all male Civil Rights Commission-a Mrs. Frank Wiley from Grosse Pointe.

Two important points were stressed by the 21-woman comding date has been an- mission. (1) state-wide regional meetings should be held to prenounced. The bride-elect is sent the report to encourage local action on needed changes and (2) the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women should continue to meet future needs as they develop.

The first idea seems sound and logical-the second sounds a student at Ferris State to me unnecessary, unwieldly, and just another place for "the Several very basic facts were revealed from the study-School and also attended women are returning to work in greater numbers and earlier than they did. Both economic reasons and a desire to do something challenging other than press an automatic-something is perhaps the reason.

In any case there were many suggestions for furthering the education of the woman, including the creation of more community colleges throughout the State.

Enforcement of the Equal Pay for Equal Work Law should be enforced. There is a law, but it was discovered by the Commission that it is not being properly enforced.

Extend existing day-care services to include children under 21/2 years of age; establish additional child care programs; establish after hour programs in public schools for elementary school-age children with working mothers.

There were perhaps a dozen recommendations from each of the six committees: Education, Employment Policies and Practices, State and Local Politics and Practices, Social and Labor Legislation; Civil and Political Rights, and New and Expanded Services.

Commission members felt, although they came up with about 50 recommendations, they had only scratched the surface of the needs of women, leaving unexamined many basic problems for future study.

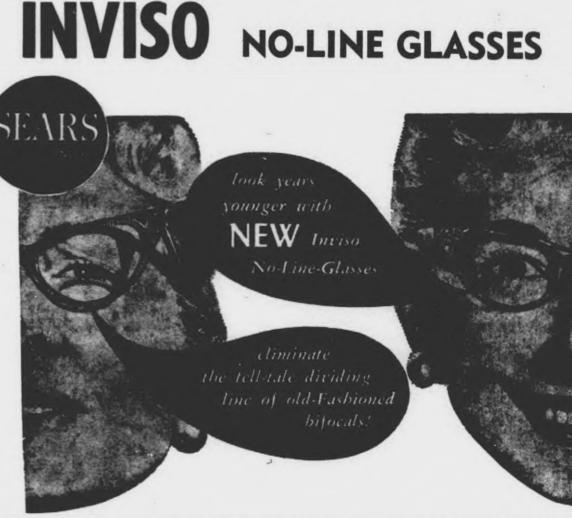

While the women have had the vote since 1920, the Commission showed, full participation in the use of this franchise is far from a fact. Nowhere could the committee find discrimination against women with regard to political rights or their opportunities to serve in partisan and government posts-but participation by women as policymakers proved to be disappointing.

It was the opinion of the commission, political clubs of both Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. parties (of which there proved to be many) could do more to Earl Haas of Mayville, educate their members to opportunities for meaningful service, Michigan. The bride's two cousins, Janice and Patrice Mucinno were bridal attendants. They wore lavender gowns of taffeta in the floor length with Watteau trains.

Lavender and deep purple were the contrasting colors forming the floral headpieces of net. The attendants carried cascades of pink carnations.

Assisting his brother-in-law as best man was Bud Bollinger of Ionia. Seating the guests were J. Edward Gunther and William Rugiarello.

The bridegroom's niece, Debbie Bollinger, wore a short white frock of nylon and carried a wicker basket of pink carnations in her role as flower girl. The bride's younger brother, David, was the ring bearer.

The wedding guests adjourned to Pandora's for a champagne wedding brunch. Focal point of the bride's table was a four tier wedding cake fashioned in Spring pastels. Friday's rehearsal dinner was held at Lofy's in Plymouth. The bride is a graduate of Bentley High School, Livonia.

Her husband, a graduate of St. Mary's High School, Wayne, attended Eastern Michigan University and Austin P. State Teachers College in Tennessee. He is also a member of the Westland Charter Commission.

Island in a Changing World?

Our suburbs are in a bustling mood today. in suburbia, they are usually cast in subordi-

It's the heart of Michigan Week. Mayors are exchanging, industralists are wining and dining, there are pageants, Open Houses, balls, and groundbreakings. All are celebrating and crowing about our suburbs' tremendous growth.

And it's a valid celebration. The phenomenal sprouting of the suburbs is graphically detailed in the latest report of the Metropolitan Detroit Regional Planning Commission

In the past four years, the study shows, suburban population has risen by 225,000 in the tri-county area. And, in the same period, the number of people within Detroit's city limits has declined by 52,144.

The Observer salutes suburbia's growth. Despite our growing pains, the suburbs, with few exceptions, are learning to plan and build communities with good zoning, wide streets, open spaces and fine schools. In most areas, the crowded living patterns of the inner city are serving as a lesson in how-not-to-plan-acommunity. Our colleague, Bill Gail, and our cartoonist, Frank McGuire, take note of Michigan's positive accomplishments in these areas elsewhere on today's Editorial Page.

But not everything in suburbia is growing with the same spirit nor at the same pace.

There is an important aspect of human development that is missing in the suburbs, and Michigan Week can well illustrate it.

"Spiritual Foundations Day," which inaugurates this special Week Sunday was observed by and large throughout suburbia, in lilywhite churches.

"Industrial Day" is being observed today in our industrial plants where thousands of Negroes find jobs - but who then become reverse commuters at the end of the day because they can't find a place nearby to live.

Tomorrow, "Education Day," will be marked with lessons in 'democracy' in our largely allwhite schools.

And, on Friday, "Heritage Day" will attempt to instill, among other things, the spirit of the American Dream, of brotherhood, in a metropolitan area where the "melting pot" is cooking slowly, if at all.

For the great population shifts reported by the Regional Institute are shifts toward further isolation and segregation. The 225,000 newcomers to the suburbs, the 52,144 who have

nate roles -the family maid or housekeeper, or the holder of a menial job in a local shop. Our children have little, if any, contact with Negroes on an equal footing.

There are, however, some hopeful signs:

• Suburbanites from throughout the metropolitan area will tackle the problem of equal opportunity in housing at an all-day conference in Dearborn (Mayor Hubbard notwithstanding) Saturday. Workshops will concentrate on the efforts needed to promote racial harmony and end segregated housing. Hundreds of participants are expected, starting at 8:30 a.m. at Dearborn High School;

• By this time, most suburbanites have had some contact with human relations councils, organized over the past year in a score of suburbs under a score of names. Every com- THE READER SPEAKS UP: munity in The Observer's circulation area has people of goodwill who have joined to promote the purpose of these groups: preparation of a climate in suburbia in which persons of all races and backgrounds can live in comfort.  In a conscience-stricken voice, some of suburbia's teachers are starting to speak out with a suggestion for integration of the faculties in our public schools. Almost half the staff at Redford Township's Thurston School petitioned the school board this month to hire Negro teachers; there are none in South Redford, or most of the suburbs, for that matter, at the present.

Livonia administrators have cautiously tested the water - there are three Negro teachers now and a fourth has been hired for the fall.

But here, in the schools, where the most could be accomplished to erase the white image that our children are growing up with, the tour of the facilities, including least efforts, often, are found. Livonia's four telling us about the paintings teachers may sound like a lot, until you re- in the dinning room. I am so member that there are more than 1100 on the glad this is so close to my staff. And, to our knowledge, no other suburb in this area has even taken that small step.

School Board members, unfortunately, are reluctant to talk about such matters, much less press for action. The fear of stirring up public opinion or providing an excuse for losing a bond or millage election often silences those who should be the leaders in

A chamber of commerce, as far as I am concerned, has always been "they" and not "we." The lack of selfidentification has probably been deliberate on my part. "They" always seem so make-busy and who needs it?

Two things happened in Livonia last week to shake up my thinking machine. One-Gene and Chrisie Edmundson whirled into Livonia from California to give a sick chamber of commerce a shot in the arm-no, not a shot, but a dose of smelling salts.

Aside from these sick chamber doctors, I had occasion to talk to Lincoln PTA on the subject of Livonia's future-how will you help determine it?

If a person isn't willing to do the things he is urging others to do, he is a coward.

The future of any community is based on many people making a decision somewhere along the line. Not just to be interested themselves, but to "sell" their positive ideas to others, to participate, to build, to be unified, to work toward a common goal.

"That's just what the 'Keep Pace With Tomorrow' program is," says chamber manager Phil Tanguay.

There are active Chambers of Commerce all around Livonia-Plymouth, Farmington, Garden City-and no one works harder than Elmer Hazelton in Redford Township.

It's time NOW, when Livonia is right at the cross roads to either becoming "the hub of western Wayne County," or a pathway between Redford Township and Plymouth.

It's time right NOW for citizens, both of the business community and residents, to help promote, develop GERALDINE W. JOYNER and unify the business, industrial and civic interests of Livonia.

If the "Keep Pace With Tomorrow" program is successful it will reflect itself positively in the community for all time to come.

Livonia is half grown-there is still a chance for it to develop into a strong community that will attract professional men, industry, good teachers, civic-minded citizens.

If Livonia's Chamber develops a broader base of membership through this program, which is being kickedoff this Wednesday, and continues until June 10; then there is no reason in the world the Show Train idea for Livonia cannot develop into something all surrounding communities will enjoy, like Plymouth's Fall Festival Days that draws people from all surrounding communities.

The needed community center, the hockey rink, the additional park area-all can become realities to a community where the residents and the businessmen work together, and for that matter sometimes wear the same

Franklin high's four-mile relay team of Reg Nizol, Ted Gosdzialski, Tom Lee and Dan Ryan raced to a new meet record in the Belleville relays by being timed in 18:56.2.

The Franklin team also picked up a third in the 440yard relay and fourth places in the high jump, 880 and shot put relays.

But Franklin was beaten by Birmingham Groves, 671/2 to 31½, in a dual meet as Groves showed the power which is expected to bring the school the Northwest League championship next week.

Thurston, the only team given chance to overtake Groves, had too much strength for North Farmington, 67-42, in another dual meet, to take second with North Farmington third in the league meet.

Al Phillips won the high jump and the broad jump to face Thurston to its victory. The Townshippers won all the field events to pile up a sub-"I'll Be Seeing You" was the stantial margin.

Thurston also sent Bob Lloyd and Ursula Bingesser from the ski club to tell the students how it operates. The representatives spoke about the good and bad points of their activities and the problems that had confronted them over the years. Pictures of some of the good and bad points of Thurston were also taken and sent to John Glenn for the orientation ceremony. It is hoped that

The sports scene at Bentley high won't be the same starting in September. Athletic Director Les Anders will be gone.

Anders is moving over to run the sports program at the new Livonia high, which still remains unnamed. George Fefles will replace Anders at Bentley and also continue to coach the basketball team.

Enough superlatives can't be found to detail the job Anders has done at Bentley. There is every reason to believe he'll build the new school's athletic program into one of the best in these parts.

We understand that the still-unnamed school will field a football and likely a basketball team on a small-scale basis next year. The opponents probably will be limited to reserve teams only.

But, starting in the spring of 1966, the new school likely will plunge headlong into varsity competition.

We also learned the school will join a strong league, but not the ones in which Bentley and Franklin now are com-

St. Agatha Remains In Front

The title hopes of St. Agatha High in the Northwest Division of the Catholic League will be decided in this-the final week of the campaign.

St. Agatha entered the week with a 5-2 record while Orchard Lake St. Mary's ranked second with a 4-3 mark. Each side had three games left, including a head-on meeting.

The Townshippers scored a 4.2 win over Pontiac St, Frederick last Friday after being blanked by Orchard Lake, 9-0. on the previous Tuesday.

A triple by Mike Wlezniak and single by Gary Kaminski gave St. Agatha its first run. Then a walk to Collins and triple by Mike Roemer made it 2-0.

After St. Frederick tied the game at 2-2, a walk to Kaminski, double by Collins, single by Roemer and an error netted St. Agatha its deciding runs.

Wlezniak poked out two of St. Agatha's three hits against Orchard Lake.

School officials in Livonia want no part of such a move. But the schools will contest against each as Franklin and Bentley have in the last two years.

Potter's team has emerged as 1965 co-champs with Pontiac Northern in the Interlakes League.

Strange is our world. On Wednesday, we walked across the street on our way to the weekly Sportcasters luncheon at the Press Club.

"How you doing?" came the cheerful voice of Nick Sullo, who long had run the Detroit recreation athletic program and was well known in the suburbs.

We asked Nick if he could arrange for some halftime entertainment for next winter's Pistons' games.

"Sure thing. Just tell us what you need. We have it."

We told Nick we'd contact him later, but that will not be possible any more. The next day Nick dropped over at the wheel of his car-a heart attack had snuffed out a wonderful life almost at the moment another great guy, John Miller, passed from the world the same way.

Miller had served the Pistons, the Red Wings, the Lions and Tigers for many years in various capacities. No man saw more sports events in these parts.

Pick RU For Title In Track Redford Union will reign as the favorite next week when the annual Suburban Six League high school track championship is decided at Plymouth.

The Townshippers picked up five points toward the overall crown by finishing unbeaten with five straight conquests in dual meet action.

Right behind came Bentley with Plymouth also in the thick of the contention.

A 671/2-411/2 triumph over Plymouth brought Redford Union to the end of a successful league dual campaign last week.

Eric Bargo was the big man for Redford Union. He won the broad jump and also both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. He also anchored RU's winning half-mile relay team.

Meantime, Bentley turned in a fine showing by placing second in the Belleville Relays with 361/2 points to champion Roseville's 39.

Wayne had 331/2, Inkster Robichaud 30, Belleville 17, Franklin 15 and Taylor 11.

Bentley turned in two victories in the various relays by winning the mile event in a new school record time of 3:29.1 and the low hurdles. The old Bentley mark for the distance was 3:32.5, set two years ago.

Mark Formsma, Rich Budzinski, Phil Balla and Jim Gregg formed the record-setting Bentley quartet.

Bentley relay combination placed second in three other races while Franklin came through with one victory-taking the four - mile in which Bentley took a third spot.

The storyline of "Any Wednesday" depends on the relationship of a wealthy industrialist, his mistresses, a visiting owner (Cass Henderson), and his wife. So far the plot doesn't sound like anything too special. True. This triangle approach to a comic situation has been tried thousands of times.

What is the difference then with "Any Wednesday."

Mariel Resnik, the brillant author, has infused her ageold plot with four lovable characters. You get to know Ellen Rodgers, the mixed-up mistress. Her adulterous relationship with John Cleves almost seems quite acceptable. After all, she is such a likeable happy pixie. Her hanky-panky can't be wrong. or perhaps you keep telling yourself once a week isn't so bad. Keeping things in moderation is always a wonderful excuse.

Monica Moran glides through her role, wide-eyed and petulant. Her moments of childish joy when she spies the balloons left by her lover are sheer delight. Monica hails from a theatrical family. She is the daughter of Thelma Ritter. You saw Monica recently in the movie "Take Her She's Mine." Her performance at the Fisher adds spice and life to a most difficult lead role.

In most plays the mistress side of the triangle is far from the sympathetic side. In "Any Wednesday" the audience must feel sorry for
