Cape Gives Views on Problems

Controversial Builder Charges Harrassment by City

Thomas Cape, the ebullient builder of apartments on Byron Street who has had more arguments with the City Commission over his plans and performances than any builder in years, feels he is being deliberately picked on.

Cape objected to a story in the Observer a week ago following a heated argument during a City Commission meeting when he was seeking permission to build a concrete wall across one section of his Byron Street development to stop hot rod speedsters from racing over his recently installed blacktop road. Cape was invited to an interview at which he could state his side of the case. He feels that only one side of the problems are being presented in print. That's why this space is devoted to Cape and his viewpoint. (Shortly after meeting with Cape, the Observer was informed that he had been served with a violation notice and ordered into Municipal Court Wednesday night on charges of allowing occupancy in one of his four Byron Street apartments without a certificate of occupancy. "I feel that this Commission, especially one or two members, has been on me since the first time I appeared before it to request a building permit," said Cape. "That harassment has continued ever since and it apparently makes no difference what I do, there is something wrong and I'm told that I have violated this and that code or ordinance. "My troubles started when I asked the Commission to vacate that portion of Byron Street in front of my apartments. Two members were in favor but others were against. I finally received approval for the vacating of part of the street but not the three lots abutting McKinley Street.

"The reason for the vacating request was so that I could blacktop the street and give my tenants a good surface for entrance and exit instead of the mud, dust and generally sad conditions that they had fought for several months." Cape pointed out that this was the first of his harassments. Then he ran into more trouble in February when City Inspector Charles Thompson ordered a stop work order since he discovered the plumbing had not been inspected in accordance with the city ordinance.

Cape received word of the stop order while vacationing in Florida and said that he had to make several calls before the matter was corrected. "It appears as if the City waited until I was on vacation before issuing the stop order," he said.

"Then last week, the Commission informed me that I was in violation by ordering the entire street in front of my Byron Street apartments paved with blacktop when that area in front of three lots was city property for which no permission had been granted for the paving.

"I'll admit that I took a calculated risk in ordering the paving but at least two weeks before I presented the City Commission with a letter in which I advised them of my plans and also sent a copy of the contract with a paving company showing that I had contracted the work.

"In as much as I never heard anything pro or con, I figured it wouldn't make that much difference and told the contractor to go ahead with the work. Especially, I told him after he had moved his equipment and crews to the site to start the work. "It's rather expensive to have equipment and crews moved in and out with working so I decided to go ahead with the paving."

WHO CARES about 90 degree temperatures when there are bargains to be had? The hot weather didn't bother shoppers a bit during the two-day sidewalk sales event as this picture attests. Rows of dresses in front of Cassidy's had the attention of these feminine bargain seekers.

Tax Rate OK Starts Hassle on School Board

The Plymouth School Board Monday approved continuation of the 26.95 tax rate for areas in the school district and then became involved in a verbal rhabarb with the result that a special meeting has been called for Aug. 30 to study all mathematics of the situation before officially signing the tax resolution as required by the State.

The resolution, setting the tax rate, must be on file by Sept. 1.

Absence of Business Manager Melvin Bunk, who is on vacation and won't be back for another week, was responsible for most of the disagreement.

Actually, it wasn't that much of a split since the Board voted 5-1 for the 26.95 tax rate with Robert Jenkins, the newest member, casting the negative vote.

That officially set the tax rate for the school year but Jenkins bitterly opposed passing the resolution with the result that Board members reluctantly gave in and agreed to the special meeting.

Jenkins may have points in some of his arguments but it appeared as if he were splitting hairs rather fine in this instance and forcing an unnecessary Board meeting to satisfy his whims.

Matter of fact, he is rapidly becoming the "No" member of the board, despite only being a member for just more than two months.

Mrs. Esther Hulsing, long-time member of the Board, brought another issue to the front when she questioned what the administration was doing for improving reading in the elementary schools.

Mrs. Hulsing asked if the standard was the same in all schools at the same level and if the present program was satisfactory.

Under the questioning, Supt. Russell Isbister admitted that not everything possible was being done in this area but pointed out that the school system does have specially trained teachers handling special reading instructions.

"Teachers of this type are hard to get," he told the Board. "They are even harder to keep since their services are much in demand by all school systems.

"However, I feel that we are doing a good job even though

I will admit that we aren't doing a good job even though

Asks Board to Prepare "Specs"

Township Is Thinking of a Safety Director

Three weeks ago, Plymouth Township Trustee Ralph Garber posed the question to his colleagues that perhaps it wouldn't be too far out of line to start thinking in terms of a Director of Public Safety to head up the Township Police and Fire Departments.

The query brought considerable discussion but was dropped when several Trustees pointed out that such a proposal appeared to be a bit premature.

Apparently there has been a change in thinking since Garber made the proposal—the Board, in a special joint meeting with the Fire Administration Board and the Civil Service Board, asked the Fire Board to draw up specifications and requirements for such a position.

Trustees have long been aware of the ever increasing demand for a Township Police Department and of the fact that additional men will be needed in the Fire Department before long. This is just one of the steps they are reported to be considering so that they will be prepared when the time arrives for changes.

The Trustees also instructed the Civil Service Commission to make plans for an examination to build an eligibility list for the position of Fireman 1.

There is a distinct possibility that one or more men will be added when the new state law, lowering the hours of the firefighters, goes into effect on January 1.

"We plan on being prepared when the time comes to act on these items," said Supervisor John McEwen in explaining the actions. "We realize that a police department may be some time away but there's no time like now to get ready."

Schoolcraft Board OKs Redford Annexation Bid

Initial steps toward Redford Union and South Redford school districts becoming part of the Northwest Wayne County Community College district, more familiarly known as Schoolcraft College, were taken by the College Board of Trustees last Wednesday when it received and gave favorable action to petitions from the two school districts for annexation to the college district.

the one approving becomes a part of the college district.

In the resolution of the Trustees, it was proposed that annexation be based on (1) the condition that the limitation on taxes in the annexed district shall be increased for the same purpose, amount and years as exist in the Northwest Wayne County Community College district and (2) the annexed district will assume such bonded indebtedness as exist in the present college district.

The resolution also indicates that the voters in both

Gordon Brocklehurst, member of the RU School Board, presented the petitions from that area and Harry Haaxma, former member of the South Redford Board, turned in petitions from his district.

At the moment, the college district includes: Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth, Clarenceville and Northville.

After considerable discussion, the Trustees unanimously passed a resolution approving the petitions and already had forwarded the resolution to the State Board of Public Community and Junior Colleges for action.

If the State Board acts favorably on the petitions, it will notify the Schoolcraft Trustees, which in turn must draw up petitions directed to the secretaries of the School Boards of the annexing districts.

If two per cent of the registered voters of either district sign the petitions, then an election must be held in that district. If either one fails to secure the required number of signatures, then the proposition is killed at that point.

In the election, which must be ordered by the School Board, a majority of the registered voters from that district must vote in the affirmative for it to become annexed to the college district. Should one district approve the issue and the other reject it, then CHECK FOR $5,000 is turned over to School Board Vice President Carl Schultheiss (left) by Joseph West, chairman of the Rotary Foundation Fund. It was the Foundation and Club's donation that enabled the Board to go ahead with installation of a new lighting system for the Plymouth High athletic field. Work is expected to start within a few days with a Sept. 3 completion date.

Set Up Scholarship As Wiedman Tribute

The Plymouth Rotary Foundation Board, of the Rotary Club, announced Monday that it had accepted a substantial donation from individuals in memory of the late Paul J. Wiedman. The Board took formal action on the Fund in the regular meeting of July 28.

The fund has been designated as the "Paul J. Wiedman Scholarship Fund." It will be used by the Foundation to help deserving young people of the Plymouth Community in furthering their education. During his lifetime, Wiedman contributed much to the Plymouth Community and furnished advice and guidance to many people. The Plymouth Rotary Foundation Board feels this fund is a fitting way to perpetuate Mr. Wiedman's memory and continue this type of services to the community.

Postal Clerk F. Tomczyk Dies at 47

Stricken with a heart attack while assisting his brother-in-law with some work at his home 5011 Church Road, Ann Arbor Township, Frank Tomczyk, 47, of 6475 Beck Road, Canton Township, died within minutes. He has been a clerk in the Plymouth Post Office for the past four years.

Friends tried artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth methods but all failed and he was pronounced dead at the scene according to reports.

Services were conducted Monday in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in charge of Rev. Fr. Alfred Renard with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. The Rosary was recited Sunday night in the Schrader Funeral Home.

He was a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and had resided in the community since 1954.

Surviving are: his wife Mrs. Edwards Tomczyk; two sons, Robert and Frederick of Plymouth; a daughter, Mrs. Carol Phillips of Detroit; one sister, Miss Irene Baxter of San Francisco; three brothers, Andrew and Stephen of Hazel Park and Thaddeus of Santa Cruz, Calif.

Quits After 34½ Years

After 34 and a half years of faithful service to the Plymouth School System, School Nurse Nary Carless Monday asked for and received her release from her 1965-66 contract.

Nurse Carless made her wishes known in a letter to School Supt. Russell Isbister in which she wrote:

"After 34 years and six months working for the Plymouth Schools and enjoying every minute of the time, I decided I needed a rest so I am returning my contract. "Many thanks for your kindness and consideration during these years."

Acting on Supt. Isbister's recommendation, the Board voted to approve the release with great regrets.

Isbister also recommended five teachers for contracts as new members to the teaching staff. The recommendations were approved and contracts okayed.

The newcomers include: Mrs. Katherine Germain, sixth grade at Junior High West. She has a Bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and six years experience in Jackson County.

H. Robert Green, third and fourth grade at Gallimore School. He has a Bachelor's degree from Wayne State.

William Lowrey, elementary physical education at Farrand and Starkweather Schools. He has a Bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan and two years experience at Romulus.

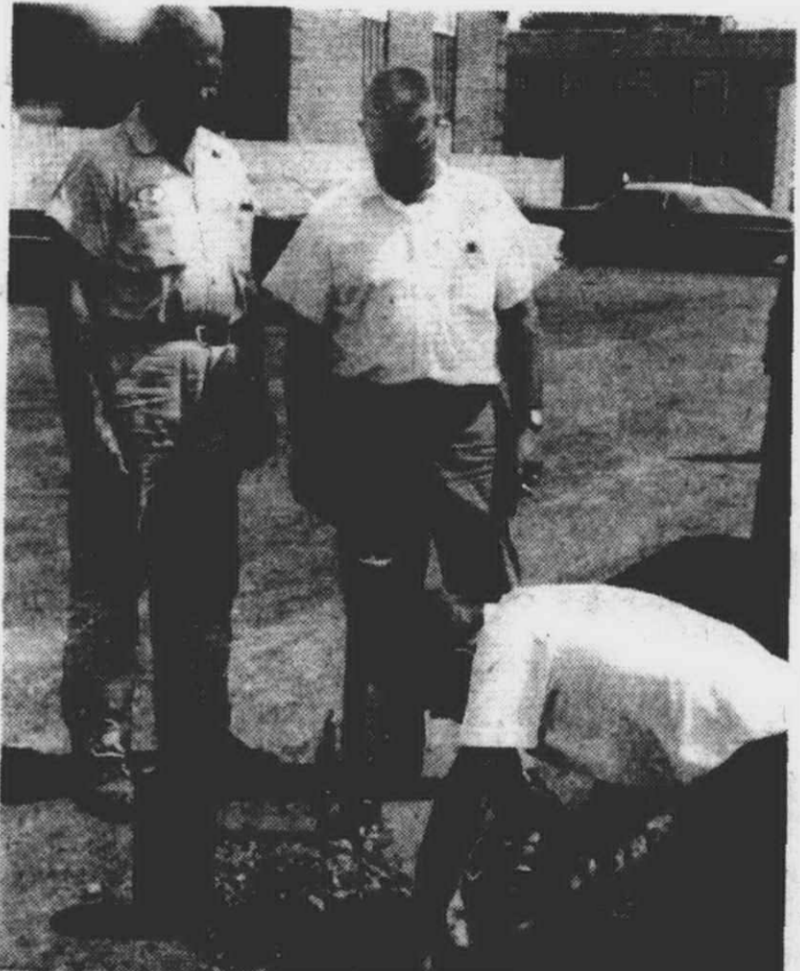

Mrs. Beverly Moore, second grade at Smith School. She holds a Bachelor's degree from Limestone College in Gaffney, S.C. and a year's experience in Greenville, S.C.

Mrs. Jeanette Swayze, elementary physical education at Allen and Smith schools. She has a Bachelor's degree from Wayne State University.

Plan Trip to Fair

Members of Plymouth's Senior Citizens Club are planning a trip to the Michigan State Fair on Monday, Aug. 30, to participate in the Oldtimers Day events there.

Those wishing to make reservations are requested to call Dorothy Wilhelm as soon as possible.

CHECKING PAVEMENT in front of apartments on Byron Street, allegedly installed illegally by Builder Thomas Cape, is David Ponke of the Michigan Testing Engineers. Looking on are: Al Diedrick (left) and Supt. Joseph Bida of the Plymouth Department of Public Works. Ponke was acting on orders of the City Commission to learn if the paving met the specifications set up by the city's engineers.

City Manager Tackles Problem of Salary Hikes for Workers

After a week of getting acquainted and adjusted to his new duties of City Manager, Richard Blodgett, Plymouth's new administrative head, quickly learned Monday that the honeymoon is over and there are problems to be solved and solved rapidly.

No. 1 on the agenda at the moment is the question of pay raises for city employees, especially for members of the Police and Public Works Departments where the city faces big losses in personnel unless a solution is reached soon.

The City Commission deliberately skipped the salary problem during the budget hearings last spring, deciding to settle the matter after the appointment of a new City City Manager with the hopes of reaching a decision by September 1.

The Commission, by resolution, made all pay adjustments retroactive to July 1.

Then they left the matter sit until after Blodgett came on the scene. The Commissioners still have hopes of making the Sept. 1 date but they didn't give the new City Manager much time to study the situation, discuss it with department heads, look over the budget, meet with the Commission in special sessions and come up with recommendations and answers.

That's why Blodgett devoted all of Monday to meetings with department heads to start an almost impossible task of preparing recommendations in the short time of two weeks.

There isn't any question but that time is of the essence. City employees are disturbed over the failure of the Commission to make any moves towards salary

Vivian Tells Of Plans For Gemini

In addition to his work on general legislation before the Congress, and his work on behalf of particular concerns of his District and his constituents, every Congressman serves on at least one Committee of the House of Representatives. In my own case, I was pleased to have been elected to the Science and Astronautics Committee.

This assignment matches my own background. Until January of this year, I had been Vice President of Conduction Corporation, an electronics research and development company based in Ann Arbor. On being elected to the Science Committee, I severed all relations with the company.

The Science Committee has as its main tasks overseeing the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation.

How Does One Get A License For Jinricksha?

LANSING — If you were manager of a branch office for the Secretary of State and someone came in and wanted to register and license a jinricksha, what would you do?

This perplexing situation arose just a few days ago at the Ferndale branch office when John A. Stebbins of Birmingham appeared and wanted to register his new motorized rickshaw.

Since there is no Michigan law covering motorized rickshaws, branch manager Howard Arnold was at a loss. After some consultation with Secretary of State James M. Hare, it was decided to register the Oriental vehicle as a motorcycle.

Hare said the situation was "quite unique" and to his knowledge, no vehicle of this type had ever been registered in Michigan before.

I should like to describe for you some of the long-range planning of NASA, in the course of my next two reports from Washington.

To probe the unknown vastness that surrounds our planet, we already have lofted many instrumented satellites and space probes, of increasing sophistication and complexity.

Our country's manned space efforts began with Project Mercury, in which we developed the spacecraft and hardware necessary to support one man in a capsule orbiting the earth.

We are now well into Project Gemini, perfecting two-man space flight, increasing the lengths of missions, and learning to maneuver in space. Most recently, during the Gemini 4 flight, you remember that Major Edward White demonstrated the ability of man to maneuver outside the spacecraft itself.

In the middle of August, Gemini 5 will further test our capabilities, with two men staying in orbit for eight days. During this time experiments will be conducted with rendezvous and docking techniques — skills that must be learned if we are to make a successful lunar landing.

The focal point of manned space flight in this decade is Project Apollo. Project Apollo means development by 1970 of a powerful launch vehicle that can send a three-man spacecraft beyond the earth's gravity, place it in orbit around the moon. Two of the astronauts will detach from the main craft in a smaller vehicle, land on the moon's surface, return to rendezvous with the main craft, and then rocket safely back to earth.

A manned lunar expedition will, of course, give us firsthand information about the nature of our own planet's natural satellite, the moon. For the first time the people of earth will have eye-witness accounts of what the lunar surface looks like.

Since the moon has no atmosphere, its surface has for countless aeons been unravaged by wind or rain. As a result, our scientists hope to learn much about the enigmas of the origin of the universe and our planet earth. From this information we will be able to determine much about the requirements of further planetary exploration. We can develop from these lunar landings the techniques that will enable us to go to Mars or Venus.

Exploration of other planets of the solar system may follow. Indeed, the vistas of space are unlimited. As we develop the means and the knowledge, we shall be faced time and again with the question, "Shall we move outward?" and we shall have to decide each time if we are willing to devote resources to the next step.

I am proud of the role which the United States Congress has played in the conquest of space. It is a task which demands vision and perseverance of our leaders and citizens—and which demands true courage of our astronauts.

In my next report from Washington, I shall write about some of the unmanned satellite work which is being carried out by NASA.

Livonia Is the Fastest Growing City in Wayne County

Livonia is by a wide margin Wayne County's fastest growing city. Of 2,748 single family homes built in the entire county during the first six months of 1965, 796 or nearly three out of every ten were constructed in the 36 square mile Livonia area. Second largest number of single homes built in any Wayne County city during the last six months were 268 units in Detroit followed by 246 in Dearborn Heights, 161 in Nankin Township, 157 in Allen Park, 125 in Trenton, and 123 in Romulus Township. Elsewhere in the western suburban area Plymouth reported 12 units, Plymouth Township 75, Northville 22, Northville Township 21, Redford Township 64, Garden City 43, and Inkster 28. Nearby Oakland County communities showed a six month increase of 19 new units in Farmington, Township, 15 in Novi, and 616 in Southfield, the biggest increase in all of Oakland. The figures showing Livonia's explosive growth were released this week by the Regional Planning Commission. The report was prepared with the aid of funds supplied by a Federal grant of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. According to metropolitan area planners, for the fourth year in succession the number of residential units authorized for construction showed an increase over the same period immediately preceding.

A total of 15,530 units in the four county metropolitan area authorized in the first half year of 1965 was 583 units, or four per cent above the 14,947 built during the same period in 1964.

Pastor Resigns Post On Farmington Board

One of the first things Rev. Robert E. Eddy did when he got home from his Ohio vacation was to resign from the Farmington Youth Guidance Committee. On Monday, July 26, a realtor named Leo Meagher stood up at a meeting of the Farmington Township Board of Trustees, to denounce Eddy and demand that he quit as Chairman of the Youth Guidance Committee because of the latter's advocacy of trial marriages for teenagers. (For a current statement by Meagher, see "The Reader Speaks Up", Editorial page). Meagher's shot was heard 'round the world. The young Unitarian minister he criticized has since been written about in the European edition of Newsweek, a daily newspaper in Germany, and doubtless other disparate journals. At home, the attack placed great pressure on the Youth Guidance Committee to oust him. At a special meeting on July 30, however, the Committee decided to put off action until its next regular meeting in September. By resigning, Eddy undoubtedly saved the Committee from a great deal of controversy, and permitted it to go on with its work. "It is a sad fact of public life," said Eddy in an interview with the Observer, Monday night, "that an unjust attack can be just as harmful to the work of the committee as just criticism. I don't want the Committee to have to waste all its time answering unjust attacks. It has far more important things to do."

JOY UNLIMITED: The expression on the face of Mrs. M. V. Gendron, 3425 Bridgeman, Farmington, tells a story of delight. Ryder, Vice President — Operations and Edna Clark, DRC Club Party hostess.

C'ville Receives Bond OK

Within the last week the Clarenceville School District received notification from the Municipal Finance Commission of approval for the sale of $1,300,000 of building, site, and equipment bonds. Approval was also received for the qualification of the bonds by the Department of Public Instruction.

It is anticipated that action will be taken at the Aug. 12 meeting to authorize the attorney and administration to take such steps as are necessary to provide for the taking of bids.

A tentative date for the opening of bids has been set for Sept. 2.

At the Aug. 5 special meeting of the Board of Education a report was received from the architects and administration regarding bids received for the paving of parking areas and the installation of tennis courts.

The low bidder, Washtenaw Asphalt Company, has been awarded the contract in a total amount of $66,106.18. Work will be started immediately to avoid any confusion at the opening of the school year.

Madonna Gets $2,000 Grant For Equipment

Madonna College has been awarded $2,000 worth of classroom teaching equipment and reference materials by the 3M Company in St. Paul, Minn., as part of the company's $1.5 million grant program to assist in the training of future teachers of America.

3M's Assistance Grant to Education program will enable teacher training colleges in the United States to expose future teachers to modern teaching techniques that will help them cover more material more effectively in the classroom.

According to R. H. Herzog, Vice President, the program evolved from the company's first assistance grant, a 1963 program that awarded $1.5 million in equipment to public, private and parochial schools across the country. It brings to $3 million, the amount that 3M's Visual Products Department has given to schools throughout its assistance grant programs.

Minority Neglect Cited by Educator

EAST LANSING — Youngsters from racial minority and low-income groups are being neglected in many of the nation's schools, a noted social psychologist said at Michigan State University.

Dr. Kenneth Clark said that public schools responsible for educating such children are spawning "hundreds of thousands of functional illiterates each year."

He noted that providing means of educating the low-income groups of all races is the battle that will determine success or failure of the government's War on Poverty.

Dr. Clark, chief psychologist for New York City's Northside Center for Child Development, urged that forces outside the schools — universities, business and industry — form a "salvage coalition" to alert the public to "the crisis in our schools."

Adds Four To Faculty

Dell Reed, Dean of Instruction of Schoolcraft College, has announced the appointment of additional instructors for the year 1965-66.

Two instructors have been added in mathematics.

Miss Nessena Walter has a Master's Degree in Mathematics and has been teaching at the Forsythe School in Ann Arbor.

Norman Wheeler has two Master's Degrees — one in mathematics education from Ohio State University and one in mathematics from the University of Michigan. For the past six years he has taught at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, where he was an assistant professor in mathematics.

Miss Mary Smith has accepted a teaching position on the nursing faculty. She holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from Wayne State University. She has had six years of experience as a staff member at the Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing. Previous to her teaching experience, Miss Smith was a member of the nursing staff at Cottage Hospital in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Delavan W. Sipes has been contracted to teach electricity and electronics at Schoolcraft. He has both a B.S. degree and a Master's of Education degree from Wayne State University. He has been employed by the Philco Corporation and Bendix Company and has recent teaching experience at Osborn High School in Detroit.

Here is a glossary of common names of farm animals for the benefit of city folk who will attend the Michigan State Fair, Friday, August 27 through Monday, Sept. 6 (Labor Day). This year many State Fair agriculture and livestock exhibits will have signs with educational information such as this:

- Sire—name applied to any male farm animal used for breeding.
- Dam—name applied to any female farm animal used for breeding.
- Colt—baby horse.
- Yearling—year old horse, either male or female.
- Mare—mother horse.
- Stud—father horse; used for breeding.
- Filly—teenaged female horse.
- Heifer—a young cow.
- Steer—a young bull being raised for meat production.
- Bull—male cow used for breeding purposes.
- Ewe—a female sheep.
- Ram—a male sheep.
- Lamb—a baby sheep.
- Wether Lamb — castrated lamb.
- Sow—a mother hog.
- Boar—male hog used in mating.
- Gilt—an unbred female pig.
- Shoat—a teenaged pig.
- Barrow—a castrated pig.
- Poult—a baby turkey.
- Pullet—a young laying hen.
- Cockerel—a male bird less than one year in age.

Hare Hails State's New Motor Vehicle Claims Act

LANSING — Michigan's new uninsured driver protection fund law . . . the Motor Vehicle Claims Act passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Romney . . . is a culmination of 10 years of continuous effort for Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Hare, who will administer the fund starting January 1, 1966, has been working on such a law since 1956 when a special governor's commission studying the problem recommended such a program.

Hare has known frustration. Every year he caused an uninsured motorist protection bill to be introduced, it died in committee. This year the Michigan Secretary of State's persistence paid off. But what caused him to keep at it so doggedly? "Hardly a day went by when I didn't hear of a family which suffered severe financial distress and sometimes ruin after an accident with an uninsured driver," Hare said. "The heartache, financial losses, and the personal tragedies suffered by family after family kept me trying to promote such a law in Michigan."

Hare has already started looking for a fund director and the 21 other persons who will administer the new law when collections start rolling in November 1.

Collections of $25 for each uninsured vehicle owner and $1 from all others will be made when the vehicle owner buys his 1966 license plates which go on sale November 1.

Each insured motorist will have to display a certificate of insurance when he buys plates.

This will be made available to all owners soon.

Hare admitted there were "administrative and legal problems which would have to be solved and ironed out as the fund is established."

"It is difficult to predict the way the fund will operate at this early date," he noted. "Undoubtedly, there will be problems but no new law of this magnitude ever was foolproof."

Hare said he expected the fund would probably be established with about $12-million, based on 300,000 uninsured drivers and more than four-million insured drivers.

"There never has been a head count on how many uninsured drivers we have in Michigan," said Hare. "This is an estimate based on samplings of accident reports. It may have to be revised upwards or downwards."

Arts, Crafts Contests Set at Local Mall

All "arts and crafties" of the Livonia playground system will have their day on Thursday, August 12 beginning at 7:30 P.M. in the Livonia Mall Shopping Center. That's the time of the judging of the annual Arts and Crafts Competition sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Mall Merchants Association.

Competition will be held in the various categories in crafts such as leather, clay, paper, basketry and models, etc. Age groupings will include: 5 to 8, 9 to 11 and 12 years of age and up.

Judges for the event will be: Seymour Goldberg, Manager of Crowley's and Secretary of the Association; Chick Sheer, sales superintendent of Sears, and others as yet unnamed who will be from the Mall organization and several city officials.

Prizes will be awarded by the Mall Association in each age grouping and craft category a week following the competition.

All youngsters are asked to bring their items to their nearest playground on Wednesday or to register at the Mall on Thursday beginning at 10 A.M.

This contest is another in a line of past associations with commercial establishments by the Livonia Recreation Department in the sponsorship of programs of community interest.

Editor, Publisher, Joins Observer Newspaper Staff

The Observer Newspapers this week added to their staff Robert Chatham, formerly of the Trenton area.

With the rapid expansion of The Observer chain Chatham has joined the advertising department of the newspapers.

He is also as proficient in the editorial department of a newspaper, having recently published and edited the Shore Line Courier in the downriver area.

Chatham graduated from St. Mary's High School in Saginaw and majored in journalism at the University of Chicago from where he graduated in 1939.

He has worked on newspapers most of his adult life, for the Nogales Daily News in Arizona, The Hollywood Citizen News, and The Trenton Times, as managing editor from 1961-64.

In addition to newspaper work he served in the Merchant Marines as Chief Petty Officer; was general manager of a public relations firm on the west coast and was a partner in an advertising and sales promotion firm in Kansas City.

Chatham is a widower and has two sons, Mark, 16, and Chris, 12.

Michigan Road Toll Takes Dip

Michigan's 186 traffic deaths in July were 32 or 15 per cent less than 218 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

July was the fifth of seven months so far in 1965 with a decrease compared with the corresponding months last year. There were increases in April and June.

The July deaths bring the provisional seven-month toll to 1,060 which is 121 or 10 per cent lower than 1,181 in the same period in 1964.

More complete figures for the first six months show 874 killed and 68,880 injured in 147,887 accidents. Compared with the same period in 1964, deaths decreased nine per cent from 963 while injuries were up nine per cent from 63,348 and accidents increased 14 per cent from 130,057.

Greene Motors Names Redman Sales Manager

William "Bill" Redman is the new sales manager of Greene Motors Inc. Volkswagen agency on Plymouth Road.

That was the announcement Monday by Avery Greene, assistant general manager, who stated "Bill Greene has assumed the duties of sales manager of Greene Motors Inc."

Redman joined the dealership soon after its opening in March, 1964, first as a salesman and later as used car manager.

Born in Middlesboro, Ky., he spent three and a half years in the European Theater during World War II. After his stint in the services, he joined Tennessee Greyhound Lines and moved to Monroe, Mich. in 1962. There he gained experience in the used car field and with Volkswagen sales.

"After three and a half years exposure to Volkswagens and a year and a half with Greene Motors Inc., I'm convinced that we have an unbeatable combination," said Redman after the announcement of his new position. "I'm happy and proud to be a part of this growing dealership."

Farmington Man Promoted By Holcroft Co.

John McMann, 28266 Peppermill, Farmington, has been promoted to vice president of the Holcroft and Co. of Detroit and its Canadian subsidiary. That was the announcement by President Walter H. Holcroft.

Holcroft announced the elevation of two veteran management executives to new posts at the same time. McMann and Edward Bayer, technical director of the organization since 1961, who was named vice president of Holcroft and Co. (Canada) Limited of Windsor.

McMann, formerly concerned principally with field engineering and technical service matters until becoming assistant to the president in 1963, will now be responsible mainly for general field and shop operations.

A member of the American Society for Metals and the Engineering Society of Detroit, he is an engineering graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology. He served in the Navy during World War II.

Holcroft and Company, now in its 40th year, is a major manufacturer of gas, oil and electric production heat-treating equipment.

LITS Sets Aug. 27 To File Applications

Final date for new students to apply for the Fall term of the Lawrence Institute of Technology is Friday, August 27, officials announced.

But anyone planning to apply at Lawrence Tech is advised to do so at once by Robert L. Hart, director of student services, who said the college already is nearing a record enrollment of 4,000 for September.

Hart said there is room for approximately 100 more freshmen in day college and that evening college is quickly being filled.

Lawrence Tech, in its 34th year, is located at Northwestern and Ten Mile Road in Southfield.

Accepts Position

Dale L. Petzold, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Petzold of 30508 Hoy, Livonia, has accepted a position of secondary teacher in the Southfield Schools. Petzold is a June graduate of Northern Michigan University.

Queen of Hearts Shares The Secret Of The Sauce

What a terrible disappointment it was, when I was little, to discover that the Eskimos never ate Eskimo Pies. Then I found out that the Chinese never heard of chop suey or chow mein, and the Russians do not use Russian dressing. My disillusion was so nearly complete, that when I was told that the English don't have English muffins, cynicism was the next logical step.

At about that point, I began to harbor a dark suspicion: maybe the French have never eaten French Cooking. If all the things I had heard about the cuisine of France had turned out to be mythical, it would have been shattering!

I am happy to report that it is true what they say about French cooking. It is superb. The French are people who enjoy doing things with style and grace. Even the simplest meal can be an event. The custom is a small breakfast, a two-hour lunch, and a dinner that is late and long.

Most of the restaurants don't even open until 8 o'clock at night; we often found ourselves entirely alone in a fine restaurant until nearly 9. Dinner is leisurely and lovely.

The loveliest thing about the food is the sauce. I still maintain that the reason for the use of so many sauces is that France has a relatively warm climate, and refrigeration is a relatively recent innovation, so food would be relatively tasteless (if not worse). But whatever the reasons, the art of the sauce has been elevated to classic heights. Don't be afraid of sauces; they aren't all that trouble, honestly. They do demand a few minutes of concentration at the last minute, but it isn't any harder than making gravy. And it is so worth it!

One of the most delectable of sauces was demonstrated at the Cordon Bleu by Chef Narses for a dish called Filet of Sole Bonne Femme, which means the "good wife's sauce." Fresh sole is hard to come by here, but some markets do have frozen filets. Flounder or halibut filets will do, and if your husband is so lucky as to bring home fresh lake trout, you will dine as the kings have dined!

FAITH GILLESPIE

FISH FILETS BONNE FEMME
Heat in frying pan till foamy: 4 tablespoons butter. Add: 3 finely-chopped green onions. Stir a few minutes and add: 1/2 pound sliced fresh mushrooms.

Let it bubble and cook but do not brown. Place on top of the mushrooms and onions: 2 pounds fish filets, folded in half. Do not overlap. Sprinkle with salt and white pepper.

Pour over the filets: 1 cup white wine. Cut a circle of brown paper (I just use a grocery bag) to fit the pan. Butter it on one side and place it, buttered side down, over the fish. Bring the liquid to a boil, reduce heat to simmer, cover pan and simmer about 12 to 15 minutes. Do not overcook.

What you are doing here is poaching your fish. When the filets are cooked, you remove them to a warm serving dish, and you keep them warm while you stir up the sauce.

Turn up the heat under that beautifully buttery stuff in the pan and boil it till you have about a cup left. Have ready: 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons heavy cream and 2 egg yolks.

If you have a whisk, use it, or a slotted spoon, or a fork if you must, but whatever you do, keep stirring, and add the butter, cream, and eggs in that order. Reduce your heat and cook and stir, shaking the pan over the burner, till the sauce thickens. It may take five minutes, but when it gets thick, you will know. If it thickens too much, add a little more cream; you don't want it to be sloppy.

There now! Isn't that gorgeous? Spoon the sauce over the fish and serve immediately. If you want to do some fussing and would like to serve the dish in the traditional manner, flute the tops of six whole mushroom caps, cook them with the filets, and use them to garnish your platter.

There is a sauce that is so good, you will wish dinner would never be over. It is served with steaks, fried fish, broiled chicken... I could almost eat it with pan-fried cardboard. It is the famous Bearnaise Sauce.

BERNAISE SAUCE
Place in small saucepan:
1 tablespoon minced green onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon minced tarragon (or 1 teaspoon dried)
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/4 cup white vinegar
1/4 cup dry white wine

Boil and boil till you have only 2 tablespoons left. Strain into something small and let it cool. Then beat in a double boiler: 3 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon water.

Place double boiler over hot, not boiling water, and keep stirring (you really should have a whisk) as it thickens. Gradually add the vinegar mixture and then drop in: 2 tablespoons cold butter, one at a time.

Keep stirring and slowly pour in: 1/2 cup melted butter. Beat until it is quite thick, about the consistency of mayonnaise.

Stir in at the end: a squeeze of lemon juice and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

The whole process gets a little intense for a few minutes, and I don't do it for the children (who needs it when you've got catsup?), but it is really a treasure for people who appreciate fine food.

There are countless other sauces, but these should get you started. If you are really converted, get a good French cook book... there are even some available in paperback.

I must say, however I do not upon French cooking, the French are at a disadvantage. French cooking is practically all they have. We are much more fortunate, in the long run, because our heritage has brought us habits and styles of cooking from all over the world... like English muffins.

A Pint of Blood Is Given, Easy, Painlessly and a Life Is Saved

"WELCOME, and thank you for making an appointment in advance," says Mrs. Clarence Steinbach of Garfield, Redford Township, a volunteer, to Jack Henry, Lyndon, also of Redford Township who was one of the first donors to arrive at the July Red Cross Bloodmobile.

THE REGISTRATION DESK is where Mrs. Lowellyn Pearse, Lexington, Redford Township asks, "To whom should your pint of blood be credited?" as Mrs. Robert Chism, Woodworth, Redford Township, signs the registration card. Daily, five days a week, 350 pints are needed to fill the needs of patients in 108 hospitals.

"THERMOMETER ROW"—After registration and before medical history, a donor's temperature is taken. Women, providing they have not had any children within the past 12 months, are just as eligible to give as men between the ages of 18 and 59. One must weigh at least 110 pounds as well.

A RED CROSS nurse checks blood pressure, takes a blood test and questions past illnesses. Here, Red Cross nurse Mary Reilly questions a donor. Just in case there is any doubt as to whether the donor should give on a certain day, a physician is always on hand.

So you've never given a pint of blood. You should some time. It's easy! To prove it let us go through with some of the "customers" at the Northwest Service Office of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on Merriman Road in Livonia.

Remember when you give blood you are serving two purposes. You not only help yourself should you need blood some day, you also help someone else who may require open heart surgery or because of an accident, needs blood immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gutierrez Jr., of 27610 Spring Valley Drive, Farmington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Norene Faith, to John F. Fritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Fritz of Romeo. Mr. Fritz is currently attending Oakland University. An Oct. 16 wedding is planned at the Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

MRS. HERBERT STEINER, 16913 Five Points, Redford Township, prepares the plastic bags and containers, and numbers each bag to correspond with the donor. One tube is used to test blood at the Red Cross laboratory to determine type; Rh factor and to determine whether or not blood is suitable for transfusion. The second and third tubes are used by the hospital laboratory for cross-matching. Each pint of blood is tested, as it must be completely compatible with that of the donor.

AS YOU CAN SEE by the smile on the face of pretty Mrs. Chism, the actual giving of blood doesn't hurt one bit! Blood must come from people. Red Cross can't manufacture it, so the Blood Program depends on you. Every third Thursday of the month a bloodmobile visits the NW office at Merri-5 Plaza in Livonia. Call 422-2787 for an appointment.

"WOULD YOU CARE for a cup of coffee and a doughnut?" asks Mrs. Hugh Barron, 25369 Ivanhoe, Redford Township, as Mrs. Suzanne Cordon, 19511 Imperial looks on. "Thank you for coming."

SR Nursery Slates Tea

The annual "Get Acquainted Tea" of the South Redford Co-operative Nursery School will be Aug. 18 at the home of the chairman, Mrs. William Robertson of 18663 Lexington, Redford Township.

The purpose of the tea is to give the mothers who will be in the nursery this year an opportunity to meet each other and the teachers for the coming year.

It is also affords an opportunity to arrange car pools.

Nursery school will start the week of Sept. 13. For further information contact Mrs. Ernest Klimek at 425-2164.

Observer Newspapers Plan Publicity Writing Workshop

Have you elected or selected the Publicity Chairman for your organization this Fall? If so, are you familiar with the proficient way to write a news release to best represent your group? Do you know the five W's in writing a release, the do's and don'ts newspaper editors look for?

In an effort to take an interest in your group, to best publicize coming events, as well as make our job easier (we confess), The Observer Newspapers is having a workshop for all of those interested in learning how to write a concise, interesting news release.

There will be a dollar registration fee to cover the cost of the printed material we will give you. There will be professional people present to assist you in the various phases of news release, pictures, promotions for your organization.

The workshop will be Thursday, Sept. 9, place to be announced. There will be two sessions. One at noon until 3:30 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m. to 10:30. Coffee and doughnuts will be served at each session. If you are interested in registering please fill out coupon below and you will be notified by mail, as a reminder, with the address of where the workshop will be. DO NOT SEND DOLLAR with registration. The dollar will be collected at the workshop when you receive your printed material. This workshop is for men and women.

Two in Area Are Delegates to Convention

Connie Aldrich and Daisy Proctor, of Plymouth, were among approximately 5,000 members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs attending the National Convention in Washington, D.C., July 25-29, at Sheraton Park Hotel.

Keynote at the opening meeting was Marion Sadler, president of American Airlines.

The recipient of his company's 1965 Top Hat Award, from the National Federation, Sadler spoke on the expanding role of women in today's business world.

Sunday some 500 members were guests of Mrs. Perle Mesta at her home for tea. These were members who had earned "Gold" membership cards by introducing five new members to the Federation during the 1964-65 fiscal year.

Three women from Plymouth, Connie Heyder, Betty Korte, and Ada Watson, were invited to attend.

Dr. Dorothy M. Ford, president of the Federation, from Sherman Oaks, Calif., presided at the five-day convention.

"The Challenge of Change" was the title of an address by consultant J. Lewis Powell. Mr. Powell traced the changes faced by man and nature during the history of the world and related the effects to women as individuals, BPW members and citizens.

Back by popular demand for the second year, Laurence J. Taylor, Vice-President for Leadership Development at Hillsdale College in Hillsdale, Mich., spoke to a Membership Workshop on Wednesday. His topic, "Growth on Purpose," was geared to the development and utilization of leadership qualities and management skills.

New Meeting Room in Plymouth Modern, But Elegant Enough for Royalty

BEAUTY AND SPLENDOR of another era fit for royalty was apparent in the new Plymouth Meeting Room opened last Saturday night for the first guests. All of the charm of a Viennese Ball Room from the shining crystal chandeliers to the highly polished and huge dance floor, even more beautiful as seen from the graceful balcony flanking one side wall. The opening of the Mayflower Meeting Room was geared to the reception of the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz' daughter Shiela's wedding reception last Saturday evening.

If ever it showed what can be done in six weeks with good taste, coupled with imagination, determination, intensive labor and $60,000 it was displayed Saturday night when the Mayflower Meeting Room in Plymouth made its debut.

Six weeks before Saturday night the building that had been vacant since 1951 across from the Mayflower Hotel had plaster falling from the walls and wild birds flying around the rafters. It was filled with dust and memories of the bowling alley that had previously occupied it.

Saturday night it was elegant, romantic and a real asset to Plymouth community. An ideal room for a young bride and groom to greet their guests; a lovely balcony and bannister for a bride to throw her bouquet to eager faces below; a perfect setting for any special occasion.

The color scheme dictated by decorator Robert Stoeffler was that of elegance and simplicity. The shades of golden-green and bronze are carried out in the softly painted walls, heavy embossed drapes and elegant deep-piled carpeting surrounding the darkly polished ball room floor.

The high ceilings and broad expanse of the sweeping staircase and balcony all lend itself to the illusion of being in a palace in Vienna.

There is a difference, however, and that is evident in the modern two-station kitchen servicing the guests. Owner Ralph Lorenz says the facilities are equipped to serve 400 people, banquet style, in eight minutes.

Modern as a Hollywood setting also is the ladies' powder room decorated by Mrs. Lorenz — the decor for which was personally selected by Mrs. Lorenz. It reflects her elegant style and is carried out in the same green-gold in a more vivid sense, and is truly beautifully appointed.

No one in the Lorenz family has been overlooked. Son Stanton was in complete charge of ordering equipment and he has overlooked no detail. He has a complete set for 400 of English china and silver place settings — the linens are of the finest quality — in fact, quality is the keynote of the Mayflower Meeting Room. The ultimate of which is displayed in the three crystal chandeliers ordered special from Czechoslovakia in individual pieces and assembled here.

One of the most interesting facts about the opening of the new Mayflower Meeting Room was in order to be completely ready on Saturday evening many of the leading town people had to enter into the spirit and excitement of the affair. All during the week, up until late Saturday afternoon, they assisted with the menial labor, painting, polishing and countless details were accomplished by businessmen, doctors, and professional people who set aside their own responsibilities to give the Mayflower Meeting Room a community spirit, assisting in the finishing touches.

All under the able direction of George Loomas, himself 71, who also was a carpenter on the original building when it was erected in 1925, before the Mayflower Hotel.

The room will be available to accommodate banquets, private parties, dances. It does have bar privileges and is prepared for anything, elegant that is!

Sharon Rohde Wed., July 24

Sharon Rohde became the wife of Ronald Parker on July 24. Pastor Edwin Frey performed the ceremony at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Rohde of Livonia. The bridegroom resided in Garden City.

For her marriage the new Mrs. Parker wore a white gown of pois de set, with a matching headpiece and short veil. She carried a bouquet of white gardenia and stefanotis.

Mrs. Larry (Betty) Collins, friend of the bride and groom, served as maid of honor. Miss Donna Parker, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid. She was attended by Jeffery Newlove.

They wore identical gowns of blue and white chiffon. They carried bouquets of blue and white cornflowers.

Larry Collins, friend of the bride and groom, served as best man. Seating the guests were Wayne Rohde, brother of the bride, and Charles Barnes, friend of the bridegroom.

A reception for 150 followed the ceremony. The couple are residing in Plymouth Township.

There is at least one place where a man can express his opinions without question—and that is in the ballot box.

Mrs. Frederick R. Osann

Lorenz-Osann Rites at St. Andrew's

Sheila Beth Lorenz and Lt. Frederick Reiner Osann, U. S. Army, were united in marriage Aug. 7 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Livonia. The Rev. Jay P. Coulton officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz of Plymouth, while the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Osann Jr. of Birmingham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Bianchi gown of white silk organza. Finely tucked pleats comprised the bodice and re-embroidered alencon lace was applied in the belle skirt and flare sleeves.

A chapel train of peau de soie fell from the shoulders and a crown of valley lilies held her bouffant veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of Amazon lilies, philonopsis and lilies of the valley.

Linda Aho served as the maid of honor, while Sharon Noetzel and Carol Osann were the bridesmaids. Sally Osann served as the flower girl, while Randy Lorenz was the ring bearer.

The three attendants and the flower girls wore floor length gowns of white Swiss lace over azure taffeta. The empire waist and square neck lines were accented with narrow satin ribbon. They carried white antique lanterns with cascades of gradations of blue delphiniums. John Russ served as the best man. Seating the guests were Randolph White, Frank Russ, Kirk Lorenz and Steton Lorenz.

A reception for 400 followed the ceremony at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

The newlyweds are honeymooning at The Tides Inn in Irvington, Va.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Michigan State University, where she was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta. Her husband, a member of Phi Kappa Psi, also graduated from MSU.

FATAC Admits Members Only

Because of the excessively large crowds it has been drawing to its weekly open houses, FATAC (the Farmington Area Teen Age Club) has been forced to close the open houses to members only. A FATAC card will be needed at the door. The new policy will begin when the club reopens Tuesday, August 17, after a week layoff.

See You There!

Beechview Swim Club will hold an exhibition of art work for children from kindergarten through 12th grade Sunday, Aug. 15 at the club. Paintings will be displayed on the walls of the enclosure of the swim club. All children are encouraged to exhibit their art work. Ceramics may be displayed. There will be awards. Hours for the show are 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Last reminder! Bentley Class of 1957 alumni and faculty reunion picnic, Sunday, Aug. 15 at noon, Hines Park Drive and Haggerty Road. Call Sid Hood, GA 5-0263 for details.

Homemakers' College Week Attended

College Week For Women, the 38th Annual Homemaker's Conference at MSU, was very well attended by Cooperative Extension Members. Over 1,000 women from throughout the state and 46 from Wayne County attended classes and general sessions at the Conference, with this year's theme "Today's Homemaker Shapes Tomorrow's World." Among those attending were members of the Nankin Mills Extension Group including Mrs. C. K. Atkinson; Vice Pres. of Wayne County's Extension Council who attended for the full College

Week and Mrs. Albert Hardy, Mrs. Richard Swanger, Mrs. Frank Schips, Mrs. Clyde Love, Mrs. James Holiday and Mrs. Forrest Odell who attended for a day.

Many interesting classes were offered to the women. These classes were taught by Professors and Extension Specialists. Some of the classes attended by the Nankin Mills members were: "Three T's of Meat Buying" which included information on shopping for the best cuts of meat for your money, "Geography and the News" which told of living and educational conditions in Malay and Singapore; "Future Employment Is It For Me," which informed the women that special consideration must be given to finding the correct job for the individual.

One of the most popular classes was "Keeping Up With Hubby," which informed the women to the necessity of keeping themselves up-to-date socially and intellectually, one of the panelists presenting this topic was Mrs. Norman Slocum an Extension member of the Sue Winn Group in Wayne. Also presented was a class on "The History of Mich.," those present for this class heard all about the history of the Upper and Lower Mich. Peninsulas, Michigan's Upper Peninsula with its iron and copper mines attracted people of many descents and these miners carved a settlement out of the wilderness.

Guest Ministers at Trinity Announced

Rev. Tom Estes, associate pastor at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will be the guest minister at the Trinity Church of the Brethren in Redford Township on Aug. 15.

Rev. Estes is filling in while Pastor William Harold Garner is on vacation.

Other guest ministers for the vacation period are: Rev. Jack Shull, Aug. 22; and Rev. William Lovick, assistant pastor of the Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church, Aug. 29.

The true value of any religion depends on how much of yourself you have invested in it.

As a closing specialist in our Mortgage Department, Bob Mrozinski has more than a nodding acquaintance with every one of our Detroit Bank & Trust offices. You see, when you close your mortgage, we think your bank should come to you. And Bob is the man who does. In a typical day, he'll go in and out of 4 or 5 of our 88 offices to help 4 or 5 different families own new homes. Last year he closed 888 mortgages in 68 of our 88 offices for a total volume of well over 14 million dollars. This is the kind of extra service you get only at Detroit Bank & Trust. Where would you like Bob to meet you?

Study Pay Boosts

(Continued from Page 1) adjustments prior to adoption of the budget and there are rumors that some are considering shifting into private businesses for more money. All city employees feel they are entitled to pay boosts. So does the Commission, but it is the amount and the total that is puzzling both groups.

There isn't any question that something will have to be done and in substantial nature for the Police and DPW workers.

Plymouth now finds itself in the same bind of most communities in the area. The salary scale of the Policemen has been allowed to sag with the result that the Plymouth scale is well below that of other cities of similar size.

Livonia, which is in the same bind, now finds itself with numerous resignations and more on the way unless the city fathers come up with an increase that will make Livonia competitive with the City of Detroit and other cities of the same population.

Northville has been short two policemen for months due to low pay. The story is the same in Wayne and Garden City where vacancies exist with no takers.

DPW Supt. Joseph Bida was hit hard last week when one of his most valued workers, Ken Vogras, left to take a better paying post in private industry. Vogras was one of the few members of the DPW who has years of experience and could operate any and every piece of equipment. His new job reportedly pays him almost twice as much as the City.

Blodgett sat down with Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher and Bida Monday morning to go over proposed pay boosts. He spent the afternoon with City Treasurer Kenneth Way and City Clerk Richard Shafer discussing hikes for their workers.

Now his big problem is that of making a presentation to the Commissioners that will fit in with the budget and also fit in with their thinking.

Some of the Commissioners have adopted a stand of "give a wage increase and if anyone isn't satisfied, let them quit."

Livonia and Northville had the same idea and suddenly the city fathers discovered that key personnel in many of the departments, especially the Policeman had quit.

Both Fisher and Bida realize that such an attitude could wreck their departments since it is the experienced men that leave and neither can spare many in that category.

Fisher pointed out that he has lost two of his most experienced men in the past year for better paying posts.

Bida already has been hit and hit hard with the prospects that others may follow within a few weeks.

That's why Blodgett is working overtime in his second week as City Manager to try and resolve a pressing question in the next two weeks.

DOWNTOWN PLYMOUTH

Plymouth DPW News and Notes

By Joseph Bida, Supt.

The past week found the Public Works Department busy sweeping the downtown area twice and all new asphalt paved streets were swept. Grass was mowed in Riverside Cemetery and was cleaned up. All refuse barrels were emptied.

Parcs and Playgrounds were mowed and shrubs were spaded and parks were cleaned. Catch basins were repaired at Maple and Fairground and one at Fair and Fairground. All streets were patched in the north end of the city and also in area from Mill to Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail to Ann Arbor Road.

An eight-inch broken water main was repaired. This caused some rusty water complaints at the south end of the city. The four-inch Forced Sewer Main was broken to Gallimore School. This was done by a contractor putting in a Gas Main down Sheldon Road.

The Public Works Department was also busy changing many damaged signs and replacing bent posts, in the traffic control department.

If you don't get all the hot water you need with an electric water heater, you get your money back!

Every cent! Including installation cost, if any! That's the kind of guarantee you get from Edison when you buy an approved electric water heater. It's good for a full year, and you don't have to buy your heater from Edison. If you'd like, we can have an Edison Specialist come out to your place to tell you what size tank you need, the price of the heater, and its surprisingly low operating cost. To get all the hot water you need—guaranteed—call your Edison Office or see the retailer who displays the Edison Satisfaction Guaranteed sign.

EDISON

Weed killer was put on grass that has grown up in cracks of sidewalks on Main Street. A total of 128 man hours was spent on cutting down and hauling bad material out on McKinley between Byron and Palmer. Gravel and salt was put in for stabilization. I hope to have this completed this week, all except the Seal Coat.

Fall Festival Banners are being put up on the main streets, by the Public Works Department.

Limbs were cut down on Ann Arbor Trail between Elizabeth and Hamilton Streets so Michigan Bell Telephone Company can move poles back for the widening of the street. Also, the Detroit Edison Company started moving poles back between Elizabeth Street and Penman Avenue.

Then they will start on Main Street between Maple and W. Ann Arbor Trail. As soon as poles are moved Thompson and McCully will finish up Ann Arbor Trail widening.

The Public Works Department accepted the resignation of Kenneth Vogras with regrets. Ken has been a City Employee for nine years and has taken a job with Thompson and McCully for higher wages. All of us at the Public Works Department wish Ken the best of luck in his new venture.

Nankin Man Killed In Auto Crash

Donald Gorman, 27, of 29078 Manchester, Nankin Township, was instantly killed when his light sports car was struck by a vehicle operated by Hope J. Bushnell, 41, of 11566 Quirk Road, Belleville, at the intersection of Ford and Canton Center Roads.

The accident happened in a heavy fog, according to Sheriff's Patrol reports, and Miss Bushnell allegedly drove through a red light and struck the left side of Gorman's car.

Gorman was rushed to Wayne County Hospital and was pronounced dead on arrival.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the accident but reported witnesses said that Miss Bushnell had gone through the red light in the fog.

The reports show that Miss Bushnell told deputies that she did not see the light or the approaching car.

YOUNG PEOPLE visiting Hugh Jarvis Gift Shop after Aug. 12, will miss that warm welcome from Christopher Holland who will be off to the University of Michigan to study design. Chris has been an employee of the Gift Shop the past two years.

MRS. LEO COOLMAN of Palmer Street, is off to Owosso, Ludington and Kerlin to visit friends and relatives. During her stay at the Keith Baughman's cottage she attended several art exhibits at Beulah and Ludington and oh so much fun at Copemich at the Outdoor Sale that takes place only on Monday where antique dealers' wares, farm produce, cattle and what have you are disposed. A special incentive for Kay came when seven of her recently finished paintings were sold at a one man show during her visit to Ludington.

FEEDING THE CHICKS and milking the cows, Debbie, Bonnie, Dannie, Jay, and Doris Hoelscher accompanied by their Aunt Elinor Hoelscher of Arthur street returned from a stay on a Nebraska farm. This was the second summer the young people have had an opportunity to experience real farm life; returned home to Harvey street.

JIMMY COVINGTON was honored at a party with parents and friends, and a special surprise came when a large decorated cake was presented to him by his Father Alfred Renaud.

POOLSIDE FUN FOR the Robert Beyers with friends over the week-end at their home on Mill street. Obtaining possession of the huge white floating swan became the center of activity for the adult group.

FLOWER SHOW LOVERS will be pleased to know Leo Calhoun has given the Garden Club the go-ahead on using his show room at the Ford Agency to display their arrangements during the Fall Festival.

A FIRST for the John E. Vincents of Church street, a new baby girl named Kristin Madonna 8 lbs., 4 oz., born July 18 in Garden City Hospital. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Vincent and Mrs. Edwin G. Lenfestey.

COOK BOOKS—Gracye Formaz, secretary at Anchor Coupling Co. claims she doesn't do much cooking, but we heard via the grape vine that she ordered an LBJ cook book, and wants to compare it with the new book soon to be in circulation, produced by Plymouth B & P W.

ONE OF the most beautiful weddings of the season—and the new Mrs. Fredrick Osann, nee Sheila Lorenz, set the pace for grace and beauty as she received guests attending her beautiful reception.

NICE TO SEE Mrs. Bernice Wiedman dressed in her white knit with soft pastel flowers edging her jacket and one could tell her fine hand in some of the decorations; along with Janet Lentz, in her cool green gown, whose work was outstanding.

SPARKLING DAUGHTERS—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilles, daughter Sally, who was so attractive in her cranberry linen and Jill Allison, daughter of the Frank Allison, in her beige linen was radiant. And young Miss Herbold, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Herbold, sweet and demure in yellow.

VISITORS, the Charles Stofkos and the Marshall Norths, close friends of Mabel and Ralph Lorenz, were able to attend and see old Plymouth friends.

LONG GOWNS and white coats made their appearance at the reception, Marian Taylor

Harvey Troutman.

Retires After 34½ Years

(Continued from Page 1) school districts must realize that the Schoolcraft College Board cannot bind itself to maintain the present limitations on taxes of one mill indefinitely and that any vote, should one be permitted, should be taken with this proviso in mind.
Should the proposal go to a vote of the districts, it will mark the second time Redford Union has taken a poll and the third time for South Redford. The electors turned down the proposal in previous elections.
However, the situation is a bit different now than in the previous balloting.
There is a movement underway to ask approval of Wayne County voters for approval of Community Colleges and those districts not aligned previously with a college will have the opportunity to decide whether to join or not.
Should this proposal pass and should Redford Union and South Redford be included in the voting, then the school districts would automatically become members of the County District and no longer could become aligned with Schoolcraft.
Indications point to voters being asked for a 1.25 mills for the County Community College project and there is a strong indication that it would receive enough support from the City of Detroit to pass.
Thus, Redford Union and South Redford students would have to attend a college from the County setup—that college currently is slated for a site near Inkster.
These are some of the reasons why the Redford School districts are anxious to become a part of Schoolcraft College before the vote is approved and ordered on the Wayne County proposition.
Schoolcraft College already is under operation at its site at Seven Mile and Haggerty Roads in Livonia. It already has buildings and a student body. It will graduate its first classes next May.
Under the County setup, the college opening would probably be as much as two years away and the site most certainly isn't as accessible or as close as that of Schoolcraft.
Harold Fisher, chairman of the Schoolcraft Board, and President Dr. Eric Bradner hope to receive a favorable reply from the State Board before the end of the week at which time the College will immediately send the petitions for an election to the secretaries of the School Boards.

Plymouth Legion Wins District Recognition

New officers of the 17th district of the American Legion were installed in impressive ceremonies last Saturday with the installation in charge of past presidents and the 16th District ritual team.
The following awards were presented at the program:
The State Department presented the 17th District with the Faley Trophy in Boys State for the highest percentage of over quota in Michigan.
Pete Crawford, District Boys State chairman, received a plaque for highest over quota for the district. Dave Allen received the Lisle Alexander Trophy for the best District Adjutant of the year.
Passage - Gayde Post No. 391 of Plymouth received the Giles Reeves Trophy for Community Service. The Americanism Trophy and Blood Bank, all from the Department.
At the state convention held in Lansing, Post member Ernest Kot was elected vice-commander for the third year.

Mrs. Hulsing, who heads the curriculum committee, indicated the matter would be brought to the attention of her group when it begins having meetings with the teachers to discuss the various programs shortly after the start of the school term in September.
In other actions the Board:
Approved construction of a storage building at the senior high for use of the athletic, maintenance and vocational education departments.
Approved expenditure of $4,500 for repair work on the boiler room roof at the high school.
Deferred action on an exterior roof line for Gallimore and Bird School additions.

Deferred action on approving an easement for a water main in front of Bird School along Sheldon Road pending an official request from the Plymouth Township Board.

West Trail Home Plans Open House

The West Trail Nursing Home, 395 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, will hold an open house Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. for inspection of its expanded quarters.
Owner and Administrator Carl Lampton, who started the Home in 1959, has added 21 beds for a total of 46. The Home has grown from 11 beds in 1959 to the present total as a result of two expansion programs. The first in 1963 boosted the capacity to 25 beds and the most recent to the total of 46.
The newest addition, which will be opened to the public for the first time Sunday, includes nine semi-private rooms, a three-bedroom ward and a four-bedroom ward.
Lampton has a staff of 18 at the Home including two registered nurses. It is city and county approved and has a state license.

"Now I'm told that I don't have enough land to meet the requirements for my fourth and final apartment of the project and that an occupancy certificate will not be issued for two of the units until I get additional land. Where am I going to get land at this late time?"
City Inspector Thompson affirmed the last statement pointing out that Cape was short 6,000 square feet of the space needed according to the city code.
Cape had copies of all letters he sent to the Commission requesting hearings on the various controversial items and complained bitterly that the newspaper stories never mentioned the communications.
"I'll admit that I was wrong in some instances and perhaps I have been guilty of flying off the handle before the Commission at times but I feel that this has been a deliberate harassment on the part of some Commission members who are opposed to the construction of apartments in the City of Plymouth. But why does it have to be me that is always being picked on?"

U.S. Consumer Income, Spending Intentions Show Gains Over 1964

During March of 1965 a nationwide survey of 1964 income levels was conducted by the Commerce Department's Bureau of the Census. The resulting statistics heavily underscore the continuing prosperity of our nation's families, according to Frank A. Alter, Director of the Department's Detroit office.

In 1964, for example, the median income of families in the United States was approximately $6,600—up 5 per cent from 1963 and 57 per cent over 1964, according to the estimates.

Compared with 1963, nearly half a million families moved above the $3,000 income bracket, and 1.4 million families in the U.S. in 1964. The study revealed that about 8.4 million families had annual incomes below $3,000 while 10.8 million families enjoyed incomes in excess of $10,000.

Predictably from the above data, the percentage of U.S. families with incomes below $3,000 has decreased greatly during the last 10 years. In 1954, 31 percent of our families earned incomes under $3,000; since that time the figure has steadily dropped to 23 percent in 1959, 19 percent in 1963 and 18 percent in 1964.

On the other hand, families with incomes of $10,000 or more have increased from only 6 percent in 1954 to 12 percent in 1959, 20 percent in 1963 and 22 percent in 1964. The median income for men advanced 3 percent over the 1963-1964 period to $4,600. Concurrently, median income for women rose 6 percent to $1,400.

After further mentioned that consumer intentions to purchase household appliances were higher in April 1965, than in April 1964, according to a sample survey taken by the Department's Bureau of the Census.

In the 1965 survey, 6.8 percent of the sampled households reported intentions to buy any of the selected household items within three months, compared with 6.3 percent a year earlier.

For the six months following the survey, intentions to buy the seven household durables showed no significant change because of a decline of intentions to buy during the second three months of the six-month period. Items covered in the survey are washing machines, refrigerators, TV sets, air conditioners, clothes dryers, dishwashers, and high-fidelity and radio equipment.

April 1965, consumer intentions to buy new automobiles continued at a high level, the survey also showed. A total of 9.3 percent of sampled households reported intentions to buy a new car within 12 months compared with 8.9 percent in April 1964.

Intentions to buy a used car within 12 months were reported from 7.3 percent of the households in April 1965, compared with 8.1 percent in April 1964.

Reported intentions to buy new or previously-occupied houses remained unchanged from a year earlier, according to the survey. In the 1965 survey, 24.7 percent of the households contacted reported expectations of favorable changes in income, statistically unchanged, from the 24.5 percent of April 1964. A total of 23.2 percent of the households reported ownership of two or more automobiles compared with 22.4 percent a year earlier.

Livonian Receives Honors

EAST LANSING — Judith Schoenberg, 31471 Curtis Ave., Livonia, a student at Bentley High School, has received honors for proficiency in TV-radio at the 18th annual High School Communication Arts Summer Institute at Michigan State University.

A total of 253 high school students from Michigan and 12 other states participated in the third session of the program, which ended July 30.

Enrollment for the three sessions of the 1965 institute totaled 602. The High School Communication Arts Institute was sponsored by the MSU College of Communication Arts and the Continuing Education Service. MSU faculty and other authorities provided basic and advanced instruction for students in such fields as printed and duplicated newspapers, yearbook editing, radio-television, debate-forensics, acting and technical theater.

State Fair Calls Queens, Twirlers

Michigan's prettiest girls and most talented baton twirlers were reminded Monday that entry deadlines are approaching for the Michigan State Fair's beauty queen and baton twirling contests.

The Fair itself opens Friday evening, August 27, and runs through Labor Day, Monday, September 6.

The deadline for entering the Miss Michigan State Fair contest is August 20. Only winners of other beauty contests during the past year in the state of Michigan are eligible.

Preliminary judging will be in the Community Arts Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 1, with the finals at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, September 2, in the Music Shell.

For baton twirlers, the entry deadline is August 26. Classes include novice girls and boys, freshmen girls and boys, junior girls and boys, senior girls and boys, junior and senior teams, and junior and senior corps. Application forms and further information are available from Cleighton Melis, director of music and parades, Michigan State Fair, Detroit, 48209.

Mayor Moelke Has A Point

Getting the new Jeffries Freeway routed through Livonia today may be as difficult as construction of the First Transcontinental Railroad a hundred years ago.

Only unlike the railroad, it isn't geographic or physical barriers that have halted planning for the highway. The problem exists because State Department engineers adamantly refuse to modify the plans for the north-south Freeway link which, under present proposals, would split off a large chunk of Livonia from the rest of the city.

It has been close to a year since the Freeway route proposal was first released. And during these 12 months, Livonia officials have cooperated completely with the Highway Department in its plans for developing the east-west Freeway link along Schoolcraft Rd.

But from the point where the Freeway route turns northward — between Haggerty and Newburgh Roads — the city has held off.

Why?

The answer is simple — and justified.

City planners point out that Livonia's future residential growth will almost all take place in the northwest part of the suburb. If a surface-level Freeway, like that proposed here, is constructed with only three or four overpasses to link the area between the Freeway and the city's western limits with the rest of the city, it will seriously curtail development. And, what's more, it will separate Schoolcraft College's campus from easy access to many Livonians.

The solution, as proposed by Mayor Harvey Moelke and the City Council (a unity seldom seen and as rare as a blossoming Century Plant), is simple: move the Freeway slightly westward to correspond to the present Haggerty Road thoroughfare.

State Highway Department engineers have thus far refused, crying "too expensive." But the Department's financial experts should realize that the increased cost of providing utilities to the split-off area, the loss of revenue through reduced development, and the delay caused by the dispute are all effects of their uncompromising attitude.

City officials have co-operated to their full legal extent in helping the Highway Department plan the east-west link of the Freeway, which will run through Livonia at what is now Schoolcraft Rd., from Inkster Rd. to Newburgh Rd. The same spirit of compromise and co-operation with the needs of Livonia residents should be shown by the Highway Department. As Mayor Moelke pointed out last week in a press statement, "Freeways in an urban area should serve the people there; not just through traffic."

DAVID ELSILA

THE READER SPEAKS UP Wants Rev. Eddy Off Youth Council

Editor: In an article recently issued to this paper by the Rev. Robert Eddy, there is no doubt that he was referring to me, and the impression given by his article is that I acted in an irresponsible manner and without having been apprised of all the facts.

His article was a sermon released to the Detroit Free Press relating to the sex problems of our teenagers, and was issued on May 1st, of this year. There couldn't possibly be any question of what he meant in this article. Any doubt that may have existed was removed through an interview with a representative of this paper three weeks later. At that time, when he was asked "Do you deny that you are advocating trial marriages of our 17, 18, and 19 year old youths?" his answer was, "I do not deny it."

It is very embarrassing to me to have to become involved in this controversy, inasmuch as it puts me in a position of appearing to malign an individual. I have already stated that he has the right to his beliefs and the right to express them. However, any citizen who subscribes to the moral teachings of the Catholic, Protestant, or Jewish faiths, cannot stand by and see problem children in this community indoctrinated with this philosophy. He says that he does not advocate promiscuity in his capacity as local Chairman of the Youth Guidance Committee. It is very difficult for me to believe that any man will not reflect his convictions in what he says and does.

This whole controversy could have been avoided had this committee accepted his resignation promptly several months ago. I may be old-fashioned, but I believe that the problem of our teen-agers belongs in the homes, the churches, and the schools. Any problem beyond the control of the parent, the pastor, or the school teacher is a problem for specialized professionals in this field. I see nothing in the background of the members of this committee to qualify them as such. I suggest that we take necessary steps to provide professional personnel in our schools, where this matter can be properly handled.

In Support Of Eddy

Editor: I wish to express support for Rev. Eddy. But since his character was attacked here, I feel it should be defended here. My statement should not relate to his position on the Youth Guidance Committee, as that committee has already decided in favor of Rev. Eddy.

Though not a member of his church, I have had talks with Rev. Eddy and like to think of him as a friend. As I have come to know him, I have never been more impressed than with his integrity and personal morality.

On the Vietnam issue he participated in a controversial, unpopular action. Still, I find it difficult to see how we can be criticized on either moral or patriotic grounds. As a man of courage he had to oppose a policy that went against his basic beliefs. For to him the political reasons for this war are not sufficient justification for the killing of men, women and children.

His position may be in conflict with world realities; but, it must be conceded, it is in no conflict with Christian doctrine and teaching, nor with the United States Constitution and its principles. Conversely, I believe that his actions have reinforced both doctrines and that, believing as he did, it would have been un-Christian for him to have abstained from behaving just as he did.

Who Can See Private Files?

Comments made by a letter writer in the Aug. 4 issue of The Observer led to some further thoughts on the subject of the operation of public agencies.

The penman, David M. Stevens of Livonia, says that school "Personnel files contain information given in confidence, recommendations by third parties, and entries by supervisors who have an opportunity to compare the subjects with his peers."

The question that continues to puzzle me and some other citizens is: Who is privileged to see these "confidential" files?

Does their inspection stop with the Superintendent of Schools? Or the school board president? Or the school board members?

If the school board can look at them, is there an oath a school board member takes that seals his lips from revealing what these files contain if they have come to his attention?

State Rep. Vincent J. Pettipren of Nankin introduced a resolution in the past session of the State Legislature that would permit the school teacher himself to examine his file.

Judging from this action, there are apparently remarks in these files that even the school teacher does not know about.

If this be true, it is a sad state of affairs, because — should the comments be derogatory — the subject has no chance to defend himself.

It is similar to the raw files of agencies such as the FBI, the CIA, The Detroit Police Department, which contains merely allegations without proof and yet at times have been used to besmirch characters of reputable citizens.

This is also why I object to executive sessions on personnel. I have heard unjust accusations of people who have no chance to make any sort of rebuttal because the remarks were made behind closed doors.

As a result of this, I will not attend any public meeting where I am advised the remarks "are off the record."

I welcome comments such as those made by Mr. Stevens for it is by public discussion that we solve our problems. It would be a great pleasure to hear from more of our readers.

We are seeing our freedom ebbing away as we abdicate our privilege as citizens to be kept informed.

School Board Displays Courage

The Farmington Board of Education should be commended for the most difficult but just decision it recently made regarding the awarding of the milk supply contract to the lowest bidder, Sealtest Dairy. In doing so it took the business away from the local Farmington Dairy which has been the supplier and drew fire from many Farmington businessmen.

The School District followed its established procedure and advertised for bids for its milk supply. Seven companies responded and the two lowest bids — $100,427.06 from Sealtest and $100,623.21 by Farmington Dairy — were submitted to the Board for consideration.

In a split and debated decision the Board awarded Sealtest the contract — and so it should.

We believe it is in the best interest of the local taxpayers to accept the lowest bid, other things being equal. (The administration assured the Board both companies were equal in quality and service). The question still lingers: Should the taxpayers of the School District pay a premium to retain business in the hands of local concerns? If the small difference of $200 between Sealtest and Farmington Dairy is overlooked, should $300, $500, $1,000 or even more be overlooked? We don't think so.

Also, once an organization has advertised for competitive bids, they have an obligation to accept the lowest acceptable bidder. It is a matter of ethics as well as selfish interests. Deviation from this policy might result in fewer bidders the next time due to resentment.

The Board might even find itself in a position where it has only one firm bidding. This is a dangerous risk to take. It could mean higher costs to the School District resulting in an increased burden to the taxpayers. Strict competitive bidding eliminates such possibilities.

JOY STINSON EDUCATION WRITER

Truth On U. S. Youth

Last week, this page carried a statement by the international organization known as Moral Rearmament, in which one of its members — a Jordanian student, apparently representing the feeling of the group — described American youth as soft.

The world, which is jealous of our success and power, enjoys describing our youth as spoiled. The truth, however, is far different.

In Vietnam today, our youth is fighting as tough a war as any generation has ever fought. In every other underdeveloped country in the free world our peace corps is sharing the hardships and the danger. Here at home where generation after generation has accepted the segregated police states of the south, this generation went south to free them.

Those of us who think we were better have just forgotten.

Poor Road Planning

Editor: Once again the Oakland County Road Commission and certain members of the Farmington Township Board are to be congratulated for their lack of foresight.

It's bad enough that Middlebelt Road between Grand River and Eight Mile Road has to be closed for about six months, but its even worse that no provisions were made to ease the situation.

Two very simple things could have made the alternate routes more tolerable. 1. Orchard Lake Road between Freedom Drive and Eight Mile should have been black-topped. 2. The shoulder of the north side of Eight Mile, east of Middlebelt, should have been black-topped for about 100 feet. At the present, any car waiting to make a left turn off Eight Mile onto south Middlebelt, ties up traffic for blocks because only one car can pass on the right due to huge holes on the shoulder of the road. This is extremely bad because of all the commercial vehicles that travel industrial studded Eight Mile. I'll never know why something wasn't done beforehand inasmuch as this Middlebelt development must have been in the planning stage for many months before the actual work began. It's a rotten shame when it can take a person almost a half an hour to drive one mile in this congested mess.

Also, I understand that Eight Mile is to be widened this summer, which will necessitate the constant use of side roads to get from Grand River to our jobs on Eight Mile. This means that the people living on these side roads will eat dust and have miserable roads the whole summer unless centrally located Orchard Lake Road is black-topped.

But then, why should Oakland County worry about the wear and tear on our ears, nerves, and pocketbooks — nevertheless, as we "hicks" from Farmington have been told before, this isn't Bloomfield.

Observing the Scene...

By MYRA CHANDLER

A law was passed in the State of Michigan this year that has just become interpreted for newspapers by Secretary of State James Hare. It will have a real effect on a portion of the 12,500 teen traffic violators recorded in this state.

The new law says "names of guilty juvenile traffic violators can be printed. Under a new law, PA 42, names of juveniles 16 or older who pay a fine, plead guilty, or are found guilty, of a traffic violation can be printed in a newspaper with the same rights of privilege as exist in other court records."

Previously these cases were assigned to the Probate Court where records are not open. The Observer Newspapers have always held fast to the policy of not printing the names of violators 16 or 17 years of age. It has been an unwritten agreement not to do so.

It was always the opinion of my late husband, Paul M. Chandler, that there should be one legal age, for voting, smoking, marrying, drinking and being responsible to face the consequence, when as an adult, they had the privileges of an adult behind the wheel.

As a State Representative he worked arduously to change this law and was in touch with youth advisors, counselors, school people all over the state in soliciting their help and ideas on this problem.

This change in the law of putting a 16-year-old driver into the point system and in the adult court is significant and a step in the right direction. His plan was to raise the driver age to 17 — or even 18 — rather than have the 16 year old answerable in the adult court.

Nevertheless for a 16-year-old to drive, but not come under the laws of the state regarding violations is giving him a license to be careless and not starting young drivers off on the right road.

Local law enforcement agencies are varied in their opinion of exposing these tender teens in print.

Judge Michael Bradley of Nankin Township is against exposing a first offender. "I would be against it; I think the publicity would tend to make the youth a hero and actually it would be more of a punishment to his parents and relatives."

Detective Lt. Robert Turner of Livonia Police Department takes the opposite view and believes if the youth knew his demeanor would be exposed in print in his home town paper it would serve as an additional curtailment to take a drink while driving, to speed, or drag.

Police Chief Ken Fisher of Plymouth is against exposure of the young people. He feels more could be done with the police working quietly behind the scenes with them.

Chief Irving Yakes of Farmington Township feels it is a good thing. "Previously juveniles were not under the point system and I firmly believe they should be. I doubt if the real violators of traffic law would be much affected by publicity either way. We'll be giving out more tickets because these kids were sent to juvenile court which was ineffective. Justice Court will be much more effective. It was time such a law was passed."

The buzz-saw this reporter ran into opposing the idea was Judge James Lincoln who was on the Board to draft the change in the new law. He is definitely against the publicity unless the names of ALL age violators are exposed. He thought it was definitely discriminatory just to print the 16-year-olds' names. He agreed there was value in publishing the names of drunk drivers found guilty — but wanted to be sure it had nothing to do with the age of the guilty driver.

Judge Lincoln reminded me of the exchange of correspondence he and Paul had last fall — and in going through the correspondence it was plain our late publisher was thinking about launching an experimental campaign whereby juveniles committing adult crimes would be exposed. If over 14 in all traffic, liquor and delinquency felony cases. And under 14 if it was a second offense.

A letter from a judge in Montana claimed to have cut crime carrying out a law he fathered in 1961, providing for open court hearings for juveniles accused of felonies which included newspaper coverage, naming names.

He said juvenile felony cases were down 49 per cent compared in a three-year period.

The fear of punishment and the fear of publicity worked in a double way. It brought some apathetic parents into the act — many didn't give a hoot and holler what their kids did as long as they weren't involved themselves — exposure brought personal embarrassment. They rode a closer herd on their wild ones in their homes because of the girls at the bridge club and the boys at the office finding out.

Sounds far-fetched, but so is breaking up a school with a hammer to hear glass smash; gang-like attacking an innocent person to hear them hollar; or stealing a car for a joy-ride.

Let's Name School

Editor:

Isn't it time that a name is chosen for the high school Livonia taxpayers are paying for on Six Mile Rd.?

Visitors have often asked us the name of the new school and we must always answer "It has not been named yet."

We should name it after some worthwhile local citizen or some national figure and put a big, big sign up telling everybody the name of our new high school.

10 Lion Clubs Plan Picnic For Blind

The Lions of Region 3, District 11-A-1 will sponsor a picnic for the blind and their families on Aug. 20. Lunch will be at 1:30 p.m. The location will be at Perrin Field on Edward Hines Drive 1/4 mile west of Inkster Road, in Nankin Township.

Lunch and refreshments will be furnished by the Lions of Region 3.

More detailed information can be had by calling KE 2-5000, LO 5-8914, UN 1-0278, or 273-5265. Admission is by ticket only, and is limited to 350 people.

District Governor Myrle Burch and Deputy District Governor Len Ricketts will co-ordinate the picnic and festivities. Walter Solek of the Motor City Lions Club will co-ordinate the reservations.

The Lions Clubs sponsoring this picnic are the Gratiot, Nor-town, Westown, Livonia, Lamp-lighter Lions of Livonia, Grosse Pointe Woods, Harper Woods, Redford, Brighton Township, Midwest and Motor City Lions Club.

It takes a real genius nowa-days to make both ends meet.

ANTIQUES, Shaker item variety, all handmade with perfect, beautifully simple lines will be one feature of the year at the Plymouth Antique Mart, Sept. 10, 11 and 12. The above rockers, chairs, chest of drawers, boxes, lamp stand, baskets will all be at the Jack Banks' booth at the Mart. See you there!

Shaker Antiques Found At Plymouth Mart

Who invented the clothespin? Who originated commercial laundry equipment over 100 years ago? The Shakers were responsible for both of these. Our authority is Mrs. John Banks of Northville. Collectors of Shaker handicrafts and lore, the Banks' hobby has grown to the point where their exhibit will be one of the highlights of the Plymouth Antique Mart, Sept. 10, 11 and 12, during the Fall Festival.

Visits to old Shaker communities and the Shaker museum at Watervliet have added much interesting background information.

The Shakers were pioneers in many fields. In the 19th century apple juice was a favorite drink. Water from the streams and wells in the settlements was responsible for typhoid epidemics and other illness. Apple juice was healthful. Lack of preserving methods resulted in fermentation—which in turn resulted in drunkenness.

Drunken children were a common sight. The Shakers developed a method of preserving the fresh apple juice and were the first to give children pasteurized cow's milk to drink. They recognized the healthful benefits of citrus fruits and used them extensively.

An iced tea recipe from an old Shaker cook-book has become a favorite of the Banks' this summer. The tea leaves are steeped in cold water for 12 hours.

Antiquers will have an opportunity to add rare items to their collections when they visit the Jack Banks' booth which will feature authentic Shaker furniture and accessories.

Scouting Couple Feted at G.C. Luau

A surprise lawn party was held Saturday, July 24 for Mr. and Mrs. MacNivens, Leona, Garden City. Palm trees, coconuts and Hawaiian music furnished atmosphere to the decorated patio and yard.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Biegolski, Mr. and Mrs. R. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rotar, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henachell, Mr. and Mrs. B. Hylko, Mr. and Mrs. M. MacNivens, Mr. and Mrs. D. Maton, and Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

A gift plaque and lapel pin were presented to Mr. and Mrs. M. MacNivens for their services to cub scout pack 744 of Memorial School, Garden City.

Aloha and the best of luck was wished to them by all who attended.

69 Attend High School Orientation

The second of a series of three orientation programs for new students to Plymouth High School attracted 69 newcomers who toured the facilities and were given an insight into the school curriculum by Principal Carvel Bentley and Assistant Principal Gus Gorguze.

The program was under the supervision of Gorguze assisted by Bentley and the third and final of the series will be held on Thursday, Aug. 19 with Principal Bentley in charge assisted by Assistant Principal John Hoben.

The finale will start at 1:30 p.m. and will follow the pattern of the other two with a short talk to the gathering explaining the school's programs and then tours of the facilities.

Both Principal Bentley and Assistant Principal Gorguze expressed satisfaction with the turnout last week but each believes there are as many as 200 newcomers who haven't yet visited the school.

"We are announcing the time and place of the third and final program in plenty of time for all to receive notice," said Bentley. "We at Plymouth High believe all new students and newcomers to the community should attend one of the orientation-tour affairs."

For that reason, Bentley and Hoben are looking forward to an attendance of more than 150 for the third program.

"We'll take care of the entire group regardless of the size," said Bentley. "We plan on having other school aides on a standby basis if the group becomes too large for Mr. Hoben and myself to handle alone."

"We can't stress the importance of these orientations too much. We want all newcomers to the Plymouth High school body to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the building ahead of the start of classes."

The DRC Story

LIPSTICK SMEARS and THE SUSPICIOUS WIFE

Confucius and Shakespeare were Horse Players.

But it doesn't take a Chinese philosopher or an English poet to spell out the dangers of the Husband who goes home from the race track with lipstick smears on his collar or cheek.

It is a tell-tale mark. The translation is easy for any Suspicious Wife. The explanation is very difficult for the Branded One.

If you find yourself in this predicament, I wouldn't suggest saying you were kissed by one of the horses running at the Detroit Race Course. But you might interest the Suspicious Wife in the lips of our thoroughbreds. There is something special about them.

The fields for our nine race program Monday-through-Friday and the big 10 race card on Saturdays are drawn from the 1,500 horses stable on our grounds. Every one of these thoroughbreds has a LIP TATTOO.

It is far more meaningful than the Hearts-and-Dagger, the Slithering Snake or the Dancing Girl Tattoo on the arms or chest of the old time sailor or carnival character.

The Lip Tattoo is a safeguard taken for the Fan's protection, and to increase your racing pleasure at DRC. It is a means of quick and positive identification of every thoroughbred. It is as foolproof as fingerprinting among people.

The Lip Tattoo consists of a letter designating the year of the horse's birth and four digits of his Jockey Club registration number. The tattoo is on the inside of the horse's upper lip.

The Lip Tattoo is one of the multiple steps taken by the 50 major tracks in the United States and Canada which are members of the Thoroughbred Racing Association and its Racing Protective Bureau, to safeguard the sport and guarantee its high level conduct.

The Detroit Race Course is the only Michigan track which belongs to the TRA.

Our constant and continuing aim at the DRC is to provide the finest in facilities and the best in racing for your entertainment and pleasure.

We have a new $3,000,000 clubhouse, which will open soon; excellent dining facilities in our Mile Terrace and Silk Room; a pleasant and relaxing atmosphere in our spacious bars; parking for 12,000 cars, with Valet service for those who desire it; a new paddock and Walking Ring that has the horses in view of the spectators at all times; Express Lines in our betting areas; and a new entrance off Inkster Road, which speeds the flow of traffic.

It adds up to A Package of Pleasure . . . and one of the real bargains in entertainment. Our General Admission is only $1.

Racing is finer and more fun at the DRC. Come out soon and visit us.

Readers Speak Up on Littering, Generosity, School Reorganization

Builders Litterbugs?

I, the undersigned would like to ask a question of someone. Is there anyone in City Hall "Big" enough (authority-wise) and unafraid to uphold the law relative to builders? Why can't enforcement of these laws compel builders to clean up during and after construction of houses?

If I, a small taxpayer, were to throw dirt in the street I would be ticketed for littering and fined, justly so. However a builder can and does leave dirt, crushed stone, sand laying in the street undisturbed. I have made many attempts to locate some authoritative person, bureau or department to have this situation remedied. All my efforts have been to no avail.

Providence has relieved the street of some of this debris when rain washes the mud away but alas into the sewer system.

The taxpayer, after looking at this debris accumulating in front of his dwelling decides to tackle the problem with a broom and shovel. However, after the fourth or fifth time of cleaning up after the builder the taxpayer realizes this is no solution. Not even a refund to the taxpayer for street cleaning.

The public streets are not the only place that debris accumulates. It is not an uncommon sight to see paper boxes, lumber scraps, aluminum siding, plaster board littered over the entire neighborhood. (Keep Livonia Beautiful). Occasionally this debris is burned by the builder forcing Mrs. Taxpayer to close up her house against smoke and flying refuse. Later,

Merriman-Six Assn. Against Nankin Annex

Editor:

At the regular meeting of our Association on July 24, it was brought to the attention of our members that the Livonia Board of Education was to meet on August 10 with a committee involved in the proposed reorganization of the Nankin Mills School District.

The possibility of the Livonia School District annexing the Nankin Mills District was discussed by our members, and the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"The Merriman-Six Improvement Association is opposed to the annexation of the Nankin Mills School District by the Livonia School District. We recommend that the Livonia Board of Education use every means within its power to amend the boundaries of the Livonia School District so that they coincide with the boundaries of the City of Livonia."

One of the greatest problems facing the Livonia School District is the shrinking assessed valuation per child. The an-

Agrees With S. Holden

Editor:

I would like to thank you for printing Sprague Holden's editorial of July 28 concerning travel. I do not understand the President either because this would be harmful to the enrichment of the people and it also hurts other countries.

We recently took a trip to the Bahama Islands but were saddened by the fact that the amount of duty-free goods will be lowered in this country.

This will greatly hurt the economy of this country as everyone usually buys their liquor quota. President Johnson is accomplishing nothing because we and many others will still go to the islands — not because we want to spend money outside the USA but because we get enjoyment out of something un-American.

U-M Grads Rank High In Politics

ANN ARBOR—State universities have played an important part in preparing the men and women now holding high elective office in the states and the national government.

A survey compiled by the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges indicates that 56 per cent of the governors, 60 per cent of the U.S. senators, and 49.2 per cent of the Congressmen are alumni of state colleges and universities.

The University of Michigan, according to the survey, numbers among its alumni one current governor, three senators, and 15 congressmen. The governor is Donald S. Russell of South Carolina. The senators are Lister Hill, Alabama; Philip Hart, Michigan; and Clinton Anderson, New Mexico.

Ten of Michigan's 17 congressmen are alumni of The University of Michigan. They are Representatives Raymond F. Clevenger, Gerald Ford, Charles C. Diggs, Robert P. Griffin, Martha W. Griffiths, James Harvey, Edward Hutchinson, Lucien N. Nedzie, James G. O'Hara, and Weston E. Vian.

Extremists Create Tense Conditions

EAST LANSING — The rise of extremist and other pressure groups is creating unprecedented tension for local governments, according to a Michigan State University political scientist.

Dr. Charles R. Adrian said that traditional governing patterns are dissolving in a political environment inhabited by right- and left-wing extremists, conservatives, middle-class suburbanites and declining ethnic groups.

"Solving problems," he said, "will have to be done in the oldest and best political tradition— compromise and cooperation. Leaders will have to cooperate with diverse groups, including some persons and groups with whom the leader is not in agreement and for whom he has little respect."

Dr. Adrian, chairman of MSU's political science department, made his remarks before the 42nd Congress of Cities in Detroit.

The Mayor's Committee, Keep Livonia Beautiful, says: "Litter-bugging is contagious. If you throw trash on the streets, others will also. Next time you have litter to throw away... put it in the proper receptacle! The neighborhood you save may be your own."

N. Redford Gains Regionals

It's back to Marshall and the Connie Mack regionals starting on Thursday for North Redford Township's baseball team, managed by Bob Atkins.

North Redford landed in the regionals by sweeping four straight after losing the opener in State tournament, which was held last weekend in Marshall.

The state meet actually never was finished. North Redford and Midland were to have met Monday for the title, but rain dictated otherwise.

As state finalists both landed in the regionals along with Toledo and host Marshall. In Thursday's action, North Redford will take on Marshall at 4:30 p.m. after Toledo engages Midland in the morning.

Two defeats will spell elimination for a team.

The Marshall winner will stay in the same city Sunday to engage the winner of the Springfield, Ohio, regional for the right to advance into the Connie Mack world series later this month at Farmington, New Mexico.

"This really was a team effort," said manager Atkins. "We had the pitching, the hitting and the defense. And, the kids also showed they had the ability to come off the floor after losing the first game to Midland, 3-2."

Notable was the fact that Redford made only one error in the five games at Marshall. The individual standout in the field was Shortstop Randy Maltby, who handled 12 consecutive chances without a slip.

Rick Berryman, a North Redford ace all season, shared pitching laurels with Larry Ruszas and Steve Evans, who were "borrowed" from Livonia and Northville, respectively. Tourney teams may add three batters.

Catcher Harry Kendrick of Redford led all hitters in the tourney with eight hits in 15 attempts. George Little took over the injured Clyde Ziegler and bagged six safeties in his last eight starts. Robby Masson batted five hits in his final six attempts.

North Redford made it into the regionals by blanking Kalamazoo in one of the longest games a Township team ever has played. The contest started Sunday at 1 p.m. and finished around 3:30 p.m. Monday.

That was because of the rain. The wetness stopped the teams with one out in the Redford half of the fourth. The teams picked up from that point and barely were able to reach the 4½-inning mark when the rain interfered again and stopped all play.

But, by now, Redford led, 5-0, and it was an official game.

In the Sunday part of the game, Redford tallied twice in the first inning. Masson started with a single, but was retired trying to score on a hit by Kendrick. Then Mike Stachurski, borrowed from Livonia, slugged a double and Dick Beckerleg a run-producing single.

Little was on second after a single and sacrifice in the fourth when play was stopped on Sunday. He was back there on Monday and after Ruszas walked, both scored on a hit by Masson. An error and Leland Bjerke's single finished the scoring.

Ruszas was the winning pitcher, going the distance. He walked the lead off man in the fifth inning, then hurriedly got the next three—just in time to beat the rain.

The tourney started on a losing note for Redford, with Midland decisioning the Township-pers, 3-2, in an eight-inning duel.

Redford took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Leland Bjerke was safe on an error. Jim Johnston walked and Dick Beckerleg was hit by a pitch before Randy Maltby delivered a sacrifice fly.

After Midland forged in front, 2-1, a single by George Little, two walks and a sacrifice fly by Clyde Ziegler knotted the game at 2-2.

Midland won it in the eighth after Dave Bourassa had taken over from Berryman. A hit and three walks carved the winning Midland run.

Redford then bounced back with a 3-0 shutout over Comstock Park (near Grand Rapids) as Steve Evans, added from the Northville team in the Greater Livonia Mack League, scattered four hits, struck out 11 and walked one.

Dave Bourassa singled in Robby Masson with Redford's first run. Then Masson was safe on an error, stole second and came across on a double by Harry Kendrick.

DRC Readies New Clubhouse Facilities

A record start and bigger things to come is the keynote at the Detroit Race Course as the 84-day meeting moves through its second week.

The DRC, which established attendance and mutual handle records a year ago, was off to a faster start than it was in 1964.

With an opening date now set for the new $3,000,000 clubhouse and its expanded facilities, President Dale Shaffer is confident the tempo during the coming weeks will be even faster.

"Our formal opening date for the new clubhouse will be Saturday, August 21," Shaffer announced. "However, we propose to have the facility open several days in advance of that date so that we can check the complete operation and make certain everything is in perfect order for our fans."

The new clubhouse will make the Detroit Race Course one of the sports showplaces of the Mid-West.

"The growth of Michigan racing in recent seasons has been phenomenal," Shaffer said. "With the growth has come additional responsibilities for management to provide fans with the facilities they deserve."

"That was the basic philosophy behind the ambitious remodeling and expansion program of the DRC this season. We have taken every step possible to provide for the comfort and convenience of our fans. I am confident they will be delighted with the new clubhouse."

Many of the changes at the DRC already have met with the enthusiastic approval of the racing public. The new entrance off Inkster Road has proved highly popular and has reduced the traffic flow at the Middlebelt and Schoolcraft entrances.

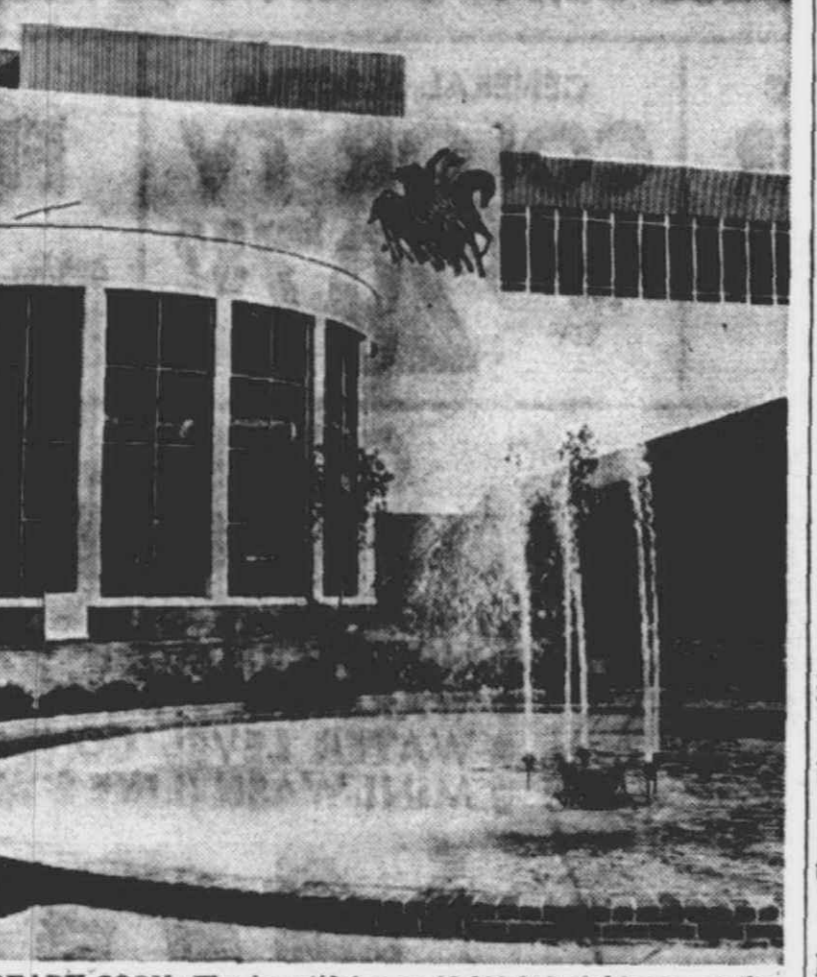

The new walking ring and paddock have been highly popular. Five elevators around the walking ring provide front-and-center viewing of the horses for large number of fans.

The new electronic message board, The Turf-O-Gram, is in full-time operation. It flashes scratches, weight changes, jockey changes and other up-to-the-minute racing information.

The big 10 race card Saturday at the DRC will be featured by the $15,000 Rose Leaves Handicap. It is at a mile for fillies and mares, three years old and up.

From now through Saturday, there will be continued observance of "Good Neighbor Week." Coupons in last week's issue of The Observer newspapers are good for an admission to the track.

READY SOON: The beautiful new $3,000,000 clubhouse at the Detroit Race Course is nearing completion. Here the patio walk and fountain near the clubhouse drive are seen. The Etruscan horses, which furnish the decorative motif of the building, are seen high on the facade of the clubhouse.

OBSERVING SPORTS

By George Maskin

PUTTING ONE WORD AFTER ANOTHER—These are exciting days at the Detroit Race Course where huge throngs are turning out daily to watch the thoroughbreds in action. And how about that $43,735 twin double?

Comes the 18th of the month the DRC is slated to open its new clubhouse. They tell us the structure will top anything around the Midwest when it comes to beauty, viewing facilities and spots where you can dine while you observe what's going on.

The DRC does everything to make its customers happy... everything, that is, but give you the winners—even when it comes to a race in which the favorite storms across the line first and pays only $2.60 for a couple of bucks.

Talking about picking winners... one selector was bemoaning the fact he had called—and in print, too—the winners of the daily double the other day. "Imagine," he told us, "the horses clicked for $98, but I didn't have a cent on them."

One hates to raise the issue, but something should be done about the sandlot umpiring in these parts.

From those who know, there have been far too many beefs this summer... topped by the forfeit in the first round game last week in the area Detroit Free Press baseball playoffs.

Such situations don't help to make for better baseball.

How does one correct the situation? We'd like to suggest higher fees for the men in blue, thereby attracting a more select group to work the sandlot contests.

As matters now stand, many top officials, who handle football and basketball games, stay clear of baseball—for one reason alone: the pay is too meager.

Farmington's Howard Perry, a Colt League enthusiast, was remarking about the Farmington Stars were ousted in the district playoffs: "The enthusiasm for kids' baseball for boys 17-19 around the Farmington area isn't what we used to have when I managed similar teams in Southgate (near Wyandotte)."

"Down there we found out that the boys' baseball could somehow pull the community together. Up here, not as many boys or parents have an interest in baseball. They care about other things—like cars, dates, etc."

Let's welcome in football with a royal turnout at Tiger Stadium Saturday evening when the Lions meet the Baltimore Colts.

This is a charity contest for Children's Hospital which promises to develop into a thriller.

From those close to the Lions' training camp, we learn that Harry Gilmer knows what he is doing and that the Lions could surprise a great many folks.

It certainly was a smart maneuver the Lions pulled off in landing Ron Kramer away from Green Bay.

Kramer was insistent on the switch. He told us a month or so back that he just couldn't leave his wife and children behind again for six months.

"I want to play for the Lions," declared Ronnie, who we remember first as an all-stater at East Detroit High and later as a star at the University of Michigan.

Ronnie is bound to help the Lions.

ADRIAN KO'S TOWNSHIPERS Tourney Hopes Jolted

Their hopes were high... but it wasn't in the cards.

Maybe the rain had to be blamed.

But Redford Township's baseball team failed Saturday at Ann Arbor in its bid to win a trip to Altoona, Pa., this week for the All American Boys regional tournament.

The stage of battle was the University of Michigan diamond.

Manager Al Turner's Redford forces were matched against Adrian in the semifinals in the outstate windup to the Detroit Free Press competition.

Earlier in the week, Redford had won a best of three series from Ferndale for the right to play in Ann Arbor.

Going against Adrian, Red-ford's first batter Ken Black socked a homer.

Things looked bright, indeed, for the Townshipers. But as matters turned out, this was the last run Redford was to score.

When the game had to be terminated by rain in the seventh inning, Adrian held the upper hand, 4-1.

"We'd have won had we been able to get in the last two innings," the Townshipers said afterward.

Joe Hubbard, the Adrian pitcher, was simply too tough for Redford after the first inning. He gave up only four other hits—two singles by Rick Harlow, one single each by Dave Woloch and Tim Fisher.

Redford had only itself to blame for losing. An error in the second inning gave Adrian one run. Another miscue in the fourth sent across another tally. An error in the fifth opened the gates for the final two Adrian runs.

If Redford had any consolation, it was Adrian which won the championship game by downing Saginaw, 9-5, when the final day of action resumed with a shift to the playable Ford Field in Livonia.

In the playoff between Redford and Ferndale, the series began with the first game being forfeited to the Townshipers.

Redford led, 4-1, in the fourth when the Ferndale manager jumped at the umpires. He was ordered from the premises... but didn't go.

The ump's then informed the pilot they'd forfeit the game. Still he wouldn't go.

So the forfeit was ordered.

Rick Fisher was pitching for Redford. The Townshipers had scored three times in the second inning on a double by Jim Sproul, a triple by Fisher himself and singles by Harry Kendrick, Woloch and Harlow.

In the third a hit by Gary Knock led to the fourth Redford run.

Game two at Royal Oak's lighted park ended in a 1-0 victory for Ferndale. Arnie Helwig was the loser on a five-hitter. A double, sacrifice and ground out led to the game's only tally.

Tom Tanner pitched the deciding game won by Redford, 4-3.

He gave up seven hits and had to put out the fire when Ferndale rallied with single runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

A homer by Black started the Redford scoring in the third inning. Woloch walked, stole second and counted on a single by Lou Banwert.

In the fourth, Black and Woloch singled, moved up on a groundout and scored on Harlow's slugging single to the outfield.

That won the game—the last Redford was to win in Free Press League action this season.

The team had dominated in three of the four rounds of action in the Greater Livonia League before going on to beat Ferndale.

For many of the players, there'll be a chance to play against Detroit's best in the Free Press All-Star game at Tiger Stadium on Aug. 25.

Turner has been named to manage the team. He'll pick boys from Livonia as well as his own for the game.

Wolverines Face Task Of Replacing Ends

ANN ARBOR—One of Michigan's chief problems this fall is replacement of four starting ends and adequate reserves at these spots.

Missing from last year's Big Ten and Rose Bowl title winners will be both offensive starters John Henderson and Ben Farabee, as well as defensive wingmen Capt. Jim Conley and Bill Laskey. Henderson collected 393 yards on pass receptions, three for touchdowns.

Replacing offensive starters probably will be Steve Smith and Craig Kirby, both senior lettermen. Smith, a 6-6, 230-pound athlete from Park Ridge, Ill., caught eight passes for 131 yards during his 100 minutes of action.

Kirby, from Royal Oak, played 77 minutes and caught six passes for 38 yards. Two years ago he played 112 minutes and caught 13 tosses for 166 yards.

Chief defensive veterans, who are lettermen. They are Jeff Hoyle, Chicago senior, standing 6-1 and weighing 190, who saw 53 minutes in action last season, and Clayton Wilhite, Bay City junior, 6-4, and weighing 200 pounds. Wilhite played 27 minutes behind veteran Bill Laskey in 1964.

Among other candidates who've had some experience are Tom Parkhill, Ada, O., who made the Rose Bowl trip; Dave McLaughlin, Chelsea and Royce Spencer of Chicago. Parkhill is a 6-2, 202 athlete while McLaughlin, a rugged hitter and a former halfback, weighs 205. Spencer also weighs 205, and showed up well in spring drills. Stan Kemp of Greenville, a letterman end will be punting specialist again.

Sophomores headed by Roger (Rocky) Rosema of Grand Rapids, 6-3, 215, should provide some help to the veterans. These include Tom Pullen of Ottawa, Canada, 6-4, 200; Jim Berline, Niles, O., 6-0, 192; Jon Heffelfinger, Battle Creek and Dennis Monthei, Detroit, 6-2, 210.

A homer by Black started the Redford scoring in the third inning. Woloch walked, stole second and counted on a single by Lou Banwert.

In the fourth, Black and Woloch singled, moved up on a groundout and scored on Harlow's slugging single to the outfield.

Rex Cawley Wins, Loses

Ex-Farmington high great Rex Cawley added more track honors last Sunday as the United States whipped Poland in Warsaw.

Cawley placed second in the 400-meter hurdles and then anchored the victorious American 1,600 meter relay team.

Cawley's successes followed on the heels of a victory the previous week against the Russians in Kiev.

The one-time Farmington prep great, who won state schoolboy hurdles titles and set new records, now makes his home in Los Angeles after attending the University of Southern California.

That won the game—the last Redford was to win in Free Press League action this season.

The team had dominated in three of the four rounds of action in the Greater Livonia League before going on to beat Ferndale.

For many of the players, there'll be a chance to play against Detroit's best in the Free Press All-Star game at Tiger Stadium on Aug. 25.

Cawley Shows Growth; Will Open A Business

"Rex Cawley is the sort of guy who wins an Olympic medal, then tucks it away in a drawer." This assessment of the famed Farmington hurdler was made by Jack Murphy, Sports Editor of the San Diego Union, before Cawley and his wife Judy left for eastern Europe, to compete in track meets against the Poles and Russians.

"Not that the medal lacks meaning to him," explains Kelly. "It symbolizes not only victory but years of hard work, sacrifice and self-discipline." Rex sent the Murphy article to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cawley, of 32305 Middlebelt, Farmington Township. It provides some fresh insights into the thinking of the dedicated young man who put Farmington on the sports map, not only by winning an Olympic victory in the 400 meter hurdles last year but by setting a world's record in that event as well.

What makes Cawley run? According to Murphy, the reasons are two-fold. The one-time Peck's bad boy has matured, as Farmingtonites discovered in his return home in November, into a serious, socially conscious man. He believes that his participation in the State Department's cultural exchange program is a contribution to human understanding.

But there also remains the Cawley that Farmington remembers. He keeps on running because he likes it. Writes Murphy: "He finds the excitement of the crowd a tonic."

Cawley looks back on his 11 hard years on the cinder paths as "highly worthwhile." "It's hard," he concedes, "when you force yourself to get out and run all alone at 7 p.m.; it's not easy to stay in training nine months a year. But I have no reason to second-guess myself.

"Look at it this way: I've been all over the world and done things and seen things that I couldn't have bought for a million dollars. I've traveled in style. If I hadn't been a runner would I have met the prime minister? Would I have lunch with the President?"

With a group of his friends, Cawley is about to open a health studio in Encino, Calif., which will offer a Japanese massage treatment known as Shiatsu. "Shiatsu" means finger pressure. The treatments will be given by five trained Japanese masseurs.

Though he will soon be a young business man, Cawley continues to take sports seriously. About the meet with the Russians, which we lost for the first time despite his first place finish in the 400 meter hurdles, he says: "We go over there knowing we aren't purely track competitors.

"We've got to win because the entire world is watching. This is one of the few areas where the U.S. and Russia have a direct confrontation and the results can be measured.

"We are the world's mightiest nation and if we do poorly people will begin to have doubts. By the same token, an American victory makes them wonder what is wrong with the Socialist system. Believe me, we feel the pressure. It's comparable to the Olympic Games."

Rex has a good rapport with the Russians. "When some of our youngsters compete for the first time they won't even speak to the Russians. They see a red flag every time they meet a Russian; they'll cross a street to avoid him. But that soon passes. We get along fine because we don't talk political ideology—we talk athletics. I know I'm not going to convert a Russian to capitalism in a brief chat, and he sure isn't going to make a Communist out of me."

National Meet Draws Livonian

CAMP PERRY, Ohio—Gualupe J. Gonzales of 14217 Park Ave., Livonia, competed in the 1965 National Pistol Championships held at Camp Perry. The matches are sponsored by the National Rifle Association of America and the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice in cooperation with the United States Armed Forces.

Gonzales and the more than 2,000 competitors firing in these matches represented the country's finest pistol shots.

Farmington Nine Big in Legion

Wally Christensen has to be proud of his boys from Farmington who played American Legion baseball this summer. During the regular season, Christensen's team won 17 and lost five in the 18th District League to just miss out in the title running.

Last Thursday, Christensen was invited to lead a team of all-stars from the 18th District against a similar group from the 7th District, which represented Mt. Clemens, the Thumb Area and Port Huron.

The scene of action was Tiger Stadium. For the fifth straight year and the sixth time in seven summers, the 18th District came out a winner. This year's score was 4-3.

The boys from Farmington played a big part in the victory. There were pitchers Chuck Viane and Steve Page. Viane, who posted a brilliant 6-0 record during the regular season after starring in prep play for North Farmington, worked the first two innings at Tiger Stadium.

He retired the side in order in each frame. Four of the men he faced went down swinging.

Page was the pitcher in the fifth and sixth innings when the 18th District cashed its winning run. He gave up a single and walk and also was credited with the victory.

Barry Aeneda started in the outfield for the 18th district and the Farmington boy dropped a neat bunt single which led to the 18th's first run.

Carl Misch turned in a bang-up job at third base.

Dick Johnston did some of the catching and Wayne Johnston worked three innings in right field and picked up one hit.

Miles Kearney, the young man from Our Lady of Sorrows, was brilliant in the field at shortstop. He performed for five innings and turned in three sparkling plays.

Only Rick Krumm from Farmington didn't get a chance to pitch at the Stadium. Christensen just couldn't squeeze in a third hurler from Farmington. Rick was disappointed, but he understood.

BY DETROIT PISTONS

Maskin Promoted

A salute to George Maskin, sports editor of the Observer Newspapers.

Maskin has been named Assistant Executive Manager and Director of Publicity for the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

The promotion was announced last week by Don Watrick, the Pistons' executive manager.

Maskin, who will continue to edit the Observer sports pages, joined the Pistons' publicity and promotion staff five years ago after the Detroit Times suspended operations.

He had been a member of the Sports Department of the Times for more than 25 years, serving both as a writer and a desk-make-up editor.

In his new role with the Pistons, Maskin will have full charge of handling the team's publicity.

He also will serve as the club's travel secretary, arrange the team's regular season and exhibition schedule and supervise the editing and publication of the Pistons' Game Magazine and press books.

Maskin, 48, is expected to continue his extensive travels with the Pistons. He "covered" the team in 30 of their 50 road games last season.

During one ten-day span, he made no less than three different trips to New York City.

Since joining the Observer, Maskin has built up the area sports coverage in all sports.

He started with three high schools on his "beat." Now there are 12.

Covering the preps is old stuff for Maskin. With the Times, Maskin reported on the Detroit city, suburban and out-state teams. He was recognized as one of the top authorities on schoolboy sports in Michigan.

Maskin is married and the father of two sons — Richard, 18, and Doug 15, and a daughter Julie, 12.

He also proudly includes in the family, Cracker (a Welch Terrier who's 13) and Cookie (a schnauzer) who's four months old.

N. Redford in Finals

Continued From 1st Sports Page The final Redford run materialized when Johnston was hit by a pitch, advanced to second on a stolen base, to third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Maltby.

For the second game in a row, Kendrick bagged two hits.

Then followed a 1-0 shutout over Three Rivers with Evans pitching five innings and Berryman the last two.

Evans yielded four hits while Berryman allowed one. The latter struck out three batters.

The only run came in the third inning. There were two out when Masson walked. Ziegler and Kendrick followed with singles to chase in what proved one of the biggest runs in a long time for the Redford team.

In Sunday's first game, it was Redford over Kalamazoo, 5-1, as Berryman allowed three hits and fanned nine.

Robby Masson and George Little each slammed out three hits while Kendrick picked up two more.

Redford jumped in front with three runs in the third when Masson singled, Bjerke reached base on an error. Kendrick singled. Mike Stachurski was safe on an error and Little singled.

In the seventh, singles by Kendrick and Little, along with an error on which Stachurski got to first netted Redford two more runs.

DPR to Host Archery Contest On Saturday

It's bow and arrow time for all archery enthusiasts at Ford Field Archery Range on Saturday, August 14 at 10 a.m.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation and is open to four age groups, 6 to 8; 9 to 11; 12 to 18 and a fourth group is for 19 and over for both boys and girls.

There will be prizes awarded to all winners. The archery tournament competition is designed for individuals at all levels of ability. Beginners as well as veterans are welcome. All contestants are reminded that they must furnish their own equipment.

Observing Sports

ball players go to work two weeks from Monday. Already the coaches at the various schools are getting ready to go to work. Of course, they can't do anything official — because it's against the state rules.

But the coaches have sent along some notes to their charges to start getting into shape, to watch what they eat and maybe bounce around in the backyard.

As we have said before, we think it's ridiculous that practice for high school football teams is limited to just under three weeks in Michigan.

The preps need much more time to get into shape — for football.

Best wishes to Hal Schram, the Detroit Free Press prep expert, who has been laid up in St. John's Hospital in Detroit. Hal has been suffering from an attack of the kidneys.

Are some of the Greater Livonia area boys baseball teams playing too many games? The question was raised the other day in a discussion on Connie Mack and Free Press competition hereabouts.

There have been situations of late where certain teams have played as many as seven games in six days. "No team has the pitching to handle such a schedule," one manager said.

"We also had a very bad jam-up in the playoffs," said another pilot. "This should be avoided."

It might make better sense if teams were to restrict their play to just one league . . . and have a three-game per week restriction.

It's flattering indeed to have a new title in our work with the Detroit Pistons. It's nicer, yet, to have many folks pass along their congratulations.

The Reggie Harding incident of a week ago doesn't help the Pistons. The team already has suffered enough with the departure of star forward Terry Dischinger to the army.

Whether Harding plays depends on the police and courts. But, one man doesn't make a team. And the Pistons will start training on Sept. 13 and open their season on Oct. 16 — with or without Reggie.

Reggie is the kind of a guy you like one second . . . then despise the next. It seems, he offers no happy medium.

MRS. MARTHA BETZ, Services for Mrs. Betz, 68, of 25745 Deborah, Redford Township, were conducted in the Harry J. Will Funeral Home, in charge of Rev. Edward Castner.

Rabbi Wine Urges Truth

In the latest newsletter of the Birmingham Temple, Rabbi Sherwin Wine states that "the greatest gift a parent can bestow on his child is the act of integrity. It is not the job of the sensitive parent to play religious games; it is his duty to show his child the nature of his real beliefs. Respect is not born of indulgence; it arises out of a genuine consistency of word and action. The thoughtful parent is the 'selfish' person who devotes considerable time to clarifying his own values and attitudes. If he has not resolved his own religious confusion, he will only confuse the child."

Robert Stoner Attends Session

Robert Stoner, minister of music at the Trinity Church of the Brethren in Redford Township, attended the Regional Music and Worship Workshop at Manchester College last week.

Besides being a participant in the high-caliber workshop directed by Dr. Austin C. Lovelace, nationally known authority in church music, he was a panel member in a discussion of music in the smaller church.

The Soul Is Topic Sunday

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Bible selections will include the following from Isaiah: "The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee: but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory."

This theme will be developed in related passages from the Christian Science textbook: "Day may decline and shadows fall, but darkness flees when the earth has again turned upon its axis."

The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death, as the central life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind."

Buber's Influence

Jewish Theologian Martin Buber's influence will be discussed at the Birmingham Temple Aug. 13 in a sermon entitled "If Martin Buber Had Been a Humanist."

IN LIBERIA
Richard Bologna Returns to Area

The past two years have been "exciting" for Richard Bologna, 24, of 30412 Ledgeliff, Nankin Township. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Querino Bologna.

He has spent the time teaching as a member of the peace corps in Liberia, West Africa.

For the first year, Bologna was the only volunteer in Mondu, a section in the interior located about 40 miles from the coast. He taught approximately 55 tribal children in grades six through 10 science, mathematics, and biology.

He taught in a high school in Cape Palmas, a coastal city, during the second year. His 80 students were in grades seven through 10. There were nine other volunteers in the city.

"Liberia has a desperate need for middle level men," Bologna said, "but they have the idea the only way to get ahead is through formal education."

Thus the teaching of the academic subjects on the high school level because the peace corps is invited by the government to help with a specific task.

"Progress is being made, however," Bologna stated,

"the last two peace corps missions to Liberia were to teach on the elementary level."

"Our greatest accomplishment, was to spread, if not a favorable, at least a realistic image of the United States. I think that the peace corps has succeeded in improving the country's picture among the people in Liberia."

Liberia was colonized in 1847 by freed negro slaves from the United States. They set up a government, conquered the resident tribal peoples and have been ruling the country ever since.

The economy of the country is based on rubber and iron ore.

Bologna, a 1963 graduate of Eastern Michigan University, said that he entered the peace corps for "experience and adventure."

"It was exciting and very good experience — far better than anything I could have gained here," he concludes.

Back in the States for one week, he has just signed a contract to teach at Detroit's new Murray High School next year. He says that what impressed him on his return is the "tremendous wealth of the country and its middle class."

Lies have to keep moving or the truth will nail them down.

Missionary Sets Garden City Talk

Joyce Showerman, a missionary from the Vashli School in Thomasville, Ga., will speak at the Aug. 19 meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist Church in Garden City.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Slides will illustrate Miss Showerman's talk about her work with the underprivileged and homeless children. Her work is a project for the WSCS Missions.

All are welcome.

Awning Windows Make A Porch for All Seasons

Selecting the right windows for the right job is half the battle in good porch design. A thoughtfully designed porch—with versatile windows that provide maximum ventilation—lets a homeowner adapt quickly to the weather changes that can disrupt life on the porch.

Many homeowners have discovered an awning window of ponderosa pine is ideal for an enclosed porch. The window, which is available in stock sizes, is exceptionally easy to open and close, provides maximum ventilation, keeps out rain and assures year-round comfort.

Awning windows provide 100 percent ventilation. They can also be opened and closed quickly in series simply by turning a rotor handle.

Awning windows were the perfect solution for Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hawkins, who built a porch and patio addition to their New Jersey home overlooking a naturally wooded lot. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, who had given up their home at the seashore, greatly missed having their own porch. When they decided to build a porch on their house, they wanted one that could be used as an extra room all year.

The porch was added by breaking through a dining room wall that formerly contained a window. Awning window units were installed in all three exterior walls of the porch. The walls were paneled with wood.

Ponderosa pine was selected for the windows because the wood is a natural insulating material and provides maximum comfort in winter, when the porch is heated.

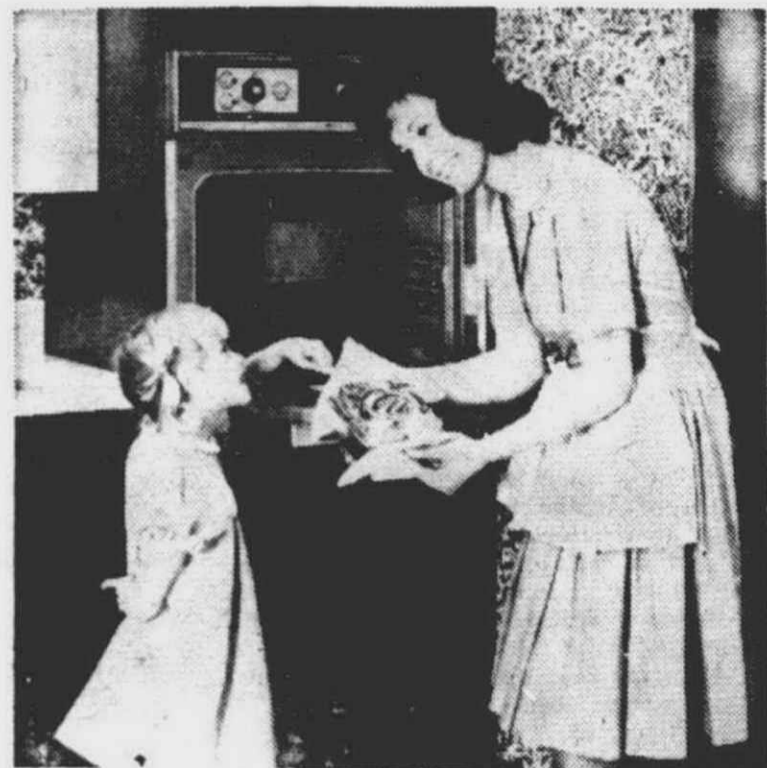

A patio, leading off the porch, completes the outdoor living project. Patio furniture, a vintage park bench and appropriate landscaping supplied the finishing touches.

Now Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins have a porch that doubles as a family room, or as a sitting room when guests drop in. They can now enjoy their home more completely, both outdoors and indoors, and in all seasons.

Designers Woo Young Marrieds with Walnut

The growing young married market is being wooed with walnut groupings by some of the leading furniture manufacturers.

Of the 24 new walnut bedroom and living room collections shown at the Spring Southern furniture market, 6 were designed and priced for young marrieds. Two other manufacturers introduced walnut groupings for the same families at the Chicago winter furniture market.

Why this emphasis on young marrieds? Interest in the market is based on two national surveys. The Research Institute of America reports that 5 per cent of the heads of households today are under 25 years of age. In 15 years, the Institute says, this number will be almost double.

The second study, by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, indicates that more families plan to buy major household furniture or appliances in the next 12 months.

The names of the new walnut furniture groupings are indicative, too, of the manufacturers' targets. They are: "Young Family Collection" (Basic-Witz), "Contemporary Collection" (Richardson-Nemshoff), "New Ida II" (Kroehler), "Forward Image" (Stanley), "Young Ideas" and "Keynote" (Bassett), "Rhythm" (Lane), and "Marquee Modern" (Kent-Coffey).

Young families create new and varied living patterns which designers say influence the home furnishings market. Studies reveal that many of their first home possessions are a blend of the new and old... bought, collected and inherited.

For this reason, young marrieds temper a natural taste for the contemporary with an appreciation for the traditional. New furniture groupings, therefore, play down the careless look of earlier casual collections. The elegant look, as exemplified by walnut with its natural beauty of wood grain and durability is being favored.

The new bedroom, living room and eating area groupings for young marrieds are carefully planned and executed for small apartments and expanding family requirements. One manufacturer, for example, shows a walnut collection in which there are no "buffets, dressers or chests" per se. Instead the modular components are designed to fit any room and to serve a variety of purposes.

Prefinished Oak Floors Now Used

An increasingly large volume of oak flooring nowadays is being used in remodeling, including room additions.

The latter have become one of the most popular of home improvements, according to surveys.

Prefinished oak often is favored for these applications because the home owner wants to have the project completed as soon as possible, with minimum fuss and bother.

The prefinished stock is completely treated at the mill, up to the final waxing and polishing.

Thus four or five days, the time usually required for on-site finishing, are saved.

In remodeling, an average size room can be re-floored with gleaming new oak and put back in service the same day.

Strip style flooring can be nailed right over old wood. Block oak flooring can be laid in mastic over concrete and other surfaces.

Montgomery offers the following tips for safe barbecuing:

• Never use gasoline, cigarette lighter fluid or other highly flammable liquids to start the fire.

• The safest starter is wood shavings or similar materials. There are also many liquids and chemically treated solid starters

Safety Hints For Summer

The back yard barbecue can become a nightmare, warns Gerald E. Montgomery, Executive Director of the Greater Detroit Safety Council, a chapter of the National Safety Council.

Flammable liquid used to start the fire, is the number one trouble-maker, but there are other dangers. Fires, Montgomery says, have started from potholders left on or near grills, from hot coals that fell through holes in the grill to wooden porch flooring, and from coals dumped into cardboard cartons.

Another major danger comes from taking the grill indoors. "In closed areas the carbon monoxide gas produced by the burning charcoal can reach deadly proportions."

Montgomery offers the following tips for safe barbecuing:

• Never use gasoline, cigarette lighter fluid or other highly flammable liquids to start the fire.

• The safest starter is wood shavings or similar materials. There are also many liquids and chemically treated solid starters with high (safe) flash points.

• Never add liquid starter once the coals are burning or still warm.

• Don't keep more than one pint of liquid starter on the premises at one time.

• Keep small children and pets out of the area. They could burn themselves or push the grill over onto someone else.

• Wear clothing with no dangling shirt tails or frills that could easily brush against the fire.

• Use good grill equipment, a long-handled spatula or fork or pair of long tongs for turning meat, getting potatoes from the coals and adding fuel just where you want it.

• You also will need a pair of heavy glove-type potholders and a water spraying device to keep down the flames.

• The best way to burn out of coals is to let them dispose in the grill. If this isn't feasible, they should be deposited in a metal container with a lid. Never bring them into the house or place them near combustibles.

Suggestions Listed for Care of Furniture

Too much wax or furniture polish can actually do more harm than good to fine furniture finishes.

This is one of the suggestions offered by the American Walnut Manufacturers' Association in caring for fine furniture. Others are:

• "Authentic boiled oil finishes should be treated only with an occasional application of boiled linseed oil.

• "Oil-type or low-lustre finishes can be washed once or twice a year, using a mild soap and water solution. Wipe with a damp cloth and buff dry with a good paste wax.

• "Vigorous hand rubbing is recommended to assure that the thin coat of wax is highly polished. Heavy waxing is always to be avoided."

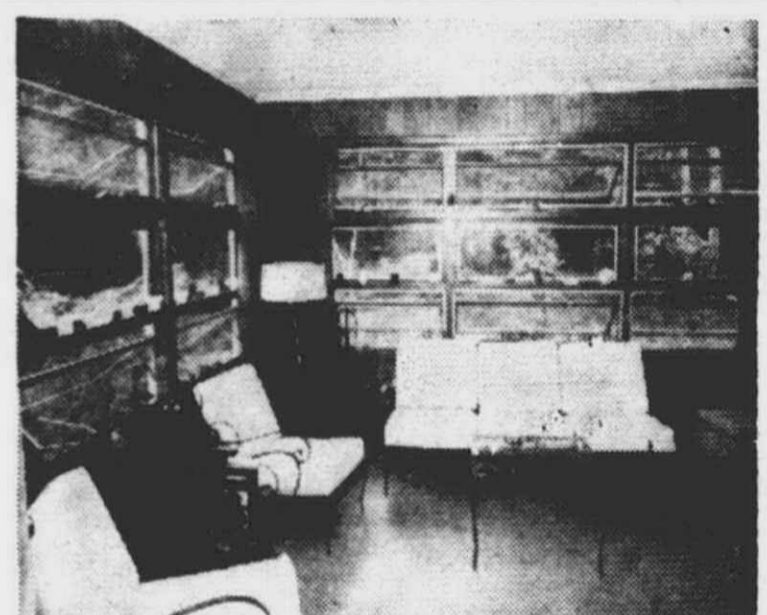

In cases of over-waxing not removable by soap and water, Donald H. Gott, executive director of the association, suggests this formula: To a quart of warm water, add 1 tablespoon of olive oil and 1 tablespoon of turpentine. Dip a soft cleaning cloth in the mixture, swirl it around and press out excess water. Rub down the furniture with this mixture until excess wax is removed and the original luster is restored to the wood. Follow with a thin coat of paste wax.

This information is from a booklet which may be obtained free from the American Walnut Manufacturers' Association, 666 N. Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60611. Ask for "The Care of Fine Walnut Furniture."

Panel Door Adds Accent to Closet

You can give distinction to functional closets by using heavy, rich-looking panel doors.

For single closets, use the same hinge-hung stock doors of ponderosa pine that are used for interior or exterior entrances. For double closets, simply hang two three-foot-wide panel doors on sliding hardware. Whether stained or painted, panel doors will add elegance to any room.

WELL-DESIGNED PORCH can become family's favorite room all year. Stock awning windows of ponderosa pine keep porch airy in summer (even when it rains) and comfortable in winter (when porch is heated). Low-maintenance floor and furnishings reduce housekeeping chores.

Top Entertainment Free At State Fair

Shows by top stars of the entertainment world will be a big bargain at the Michigan State Fair this year. They'll all be FREE to State Fair visitors.

Music and fun will be the keynotes in the Music Shell and on stage in front of the Grandstand.

The first Music Shell show will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday, August 27, the first evening of the Fair, with the nationally known Serendipity Singers on stage.

That group also will present shows from Saturday, August 28, through Wednesday, September 1, at 3, 5:30, and 8:30 p.m. daily.

NBC television's Hullabaloo gang will be on hand for shows at 4, 7, and 9:30 p.m. each day from Saturday through Wednesday. Singing and dancing stars of the fast-moving show include Johnny Rivers, the Four Tops, Lesley Gore, Tony Clarke and the Hullabaloo Dancers. They'll feature all the latest and most popular dances such as the Watusi, Swim, Pony, and Frus.

On Thursday, September 2, a new crew of entertainers will come into the Music Shell.

The Supremes, Detroit's own singing group which has been an international hit, will take the stage at 2, 4:30, and 9 p.m. on Thursday; at 2:30, 5, and 9 Friday through Sunday; and at 3, 5:30, and 9 on Labor Day.

Jack Jones and the Jimmy Wilkins Orchestra will also be on hand those days. They'll go on at 3:30, 6, and 10 Thursday through Sunday, and at 4, 7, and 10 on Labor Day.

Wally Roberts

'CURTAIN GOING UP'

In 1901 Anton Chekhov, the classic Russian playwright, wrote "The Cherry Orchard." It was always his feeling that this play was certainly funny, at least, it was conceived so.

Director John Hirsh, a new, brilliant addition to the directing staff of the Stratford Shakespearean Festival has staged "Cherry Orchard" with Chekhov's comic conception firmly in mind. (A fortunate meeting of minds.)

"Cherry Orchard" as done by the Stratford Shakespearean troupe has a light filippant touch. You seek such lightness in life. Indeed, the happy side is what most of us prefer to view. Too often tragedy stalks our life. Sunshine and happiness are two attributes of living that are constantly in demand.

Chekhov's "Cherry Orchard" as produced over the years too often emphasizes the dreary nature of the Russian aristocrats, the rootlessness of the intelligentsia, and the boring void that infected the upper classes prior to the Revolution. Most directors look upon this play as a sedate, slow-moving portrayal of an era dying in Russia. Sort of the last gasp of a ruling class before the workers rose and snuffed them out.

Too many productions seen by old Wally (four in number) have almost put me to sleep. Fearfully I approached the Stratford version. Was this to be another long-winded, dull production?

Not at all. Laughs replaced long diatly moments. Each of the highly competent Stratford players gave a polished performance that added new luster to roles formerly fairly taster. Douglas Campbell, Francis Hyland, William Hutt, and Kate Reid etched their characterizations beautifully. "Bravo" sang out the audience at the end of the show. Such praise was richly deserved.

Stratford's "Cherry Orchard" was as gay as an orchard in full bloom. The happy moments only served to heighten the more poignant moments when you realized how foolhardy Madame Ranevskaya was in letting her orchard be purchased for summer cottage lots.

Each of her empty, displaced, purposeless friends, that try to help her, only served to magnify the huge social upheaval taking place in Russia. Chekhov, of course, never gives any clues in his play as to whether he approves of this social upheaval. He remains neutral. His job in "Cherry Orchard" was merely to report the tremors of the earthquake taking place in Russia as reflected by the souls of these people.

The interesting and exciting thing is that you as a fortunate member of the audience at the Stratford Festival have the opportunity to peer intently into the depths of these souls. You get to know and love these people. You sympathize with them. When the Cherry orchard is finally being chopped down, each blow strikes at your sense of well-being. You reflect and wonder about the recent cherry orchards in our nation in 1965.

I hope you find time to see this memorable production of "The Cherry Orchard." It's one of the finest old Wally has seen in the past ten years at the Ontario home of great drama.

"Cherry Orchard" will be done eight more times this season. Dates are as follows: Aug. 16, 21, 23, 26, September 1, 4, 7, 10, 11, 20, 22, 29, or if you must "steal" a ticket to this rare theatrical event of the decade, do go by all means. From all advance reports the Fisher Theater has another smash hit in "Pickwick," the British musical that is arriving on Broadway in much the same manner as "Oliver" did.

"Pickwick" opened in Los Angeles in June and is hopping across the country garnering bushels of critical acclaim before it docks for a long stay in a New York theater. Currently, "Pickwick" is enjoying four weeks of capacity business at the Fisher as the first attraction of its 1965-66 season. Harry Secombe, a British music hall comedy singer, plays the lead part as the ro-tund, pixie-like Mr. Sam Pickwick.

Many of the same folks that put "Oliver" at the top have combined their talents to bring home another musical comedy winner Peter Cod is directing. Sean Kenny has designed settings that give the show movement, style and fluid transition. Advance reports from Variety indicate that the music is equally as melodious as was in the earlier Dickens musical. Box office sales at the Fisher are brisk. Purchase your tickets immediately if you want to see this smash London musical.

Student Prince at Northland This Week

Sigmund Romberg's melodious "The Student Prince," considered the "My Fair Lady" of the Twenties, with beautiful opera-television star Elaine Malbin and handsome Robert Simpson in the singing leads, graces the stage of Northland Playhouse this week.

Overwhelmingly the most frequently performed musical throughout the world since its first presentation in 1924, "The Student Prince" has in it at least eight melodies that have given Americans more reason for humming and whistling than the songs from any other single show.

Among the buoyant Romberg songs that have continued to be popular favorites since the show soared in its notable success are "Deep in My Heart, Dear," "Student Life," "Golden Days," "Serenade," "Just We Two," "The Student March" and "The Drinking Song."

Elaine Malbin has starred in numerous operas throughout the world, as well as on Broadway in the popular "Kismet," while both she and co-star Robert Simpson have performed in many concerts and on network television shows.

"The Student Prince" will be at Northland Playhouse through Sunday, Aug. 15, followed by the Broadway comedy hit, "Enter Laughing," starring Menasha Skulnik. As its next-to-last production, the Northland Playhouse Children's Musical Theatre will present "The Invisible Indian Chief," with a dancing bear in the cast, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., on Saturday, Aug. 14.

Local Art in Ann Arbor

The work of three local artists will be among the 76 works of art currently on display at the 13th Annual Regional Art Exhibition at the Rackham Building on the Ann Arbor campus of the University of Michigan.

The artists are:
• Emily Fox of 20450 Dalby Ave., Redford Township.
• Marvin Beerbohm of 22201 Gilman Ave., Livonia.
• Jean Herr, 9049 Perrin, Livonia.

The program, to continue through Aug. 13th, is designed to offer state artists a variety of expression and, through the public exhibit, an opportunity to see their works in the context of other creative efforts.

BACK AGAIN ARE the popular Casey Twins, featured performers of the Ice Royals, which appear this week at Wonderland Center, Plymouth Road at Middlebelt. The young twins, along with Meg and Mike Muto, Lou Folds, and Earl Dunn, will present three ice skating exhibitions daily through Saturday, August 14. The shows will be staged on the mall at 2:15 — 6:30 — 9:15 p.m. There is no admission charge.

DRAMA FESTIVAL

Special Ticket Rates Available for Families

Special rates for families and educational groups are now available for American Drama Festival performances in the Henry Ford Museum Theatre, Dearborn.

According to a recent announcement by Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, sponsors of the American Drama Festival, the following family rate now prevails for all performances:

Parents and one child in a family are admitted for regular price. All other children in the family (14 years or younger) are admitted without charge as guests of the Museum and Village.

An educational group rate is also available and may be obtained by writing to "Ticket Reservations, the American Drama Festival, Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Mich." In addition to the above special admission rates, persons who visit either the Museum or Village the same day they attend an American Drama Festival performance, are admitted to the Museum Theatre at half-price on presentation of their Museum or Village admission ticket stubs.

Founded last year as a means of educating and entertaining audiences through the authentic presentation of early American plays, the American Drama Festival is presenting three fine plays in repertory through Sept. 6.

The plays are Anna Ritchie's 1845 comic satire, "Fashion," Benjamin Woolf's social reform melodrama, "The Almighty Dollar," and James Barker's "Superstition," a tragedy based upon actual historical events that affected the early Puritan communities.

Performances are given at 8:30 p.m. six nights weekly. There are no performances on Tuesdays. On Saturdays, there is a 2:30 p.m. matinee in addition to the regular 8:30 p.m. performance.

Free Art Demonstration Slated Aug. 15 at Franklin

Suburbanites living in communities in western parts of the metropolitan area are an artistic group. In an art alone, there are more than 2,000 active amateur painters, according to former school board member Herb Nelson.

"People who live in Plymouth, Farmington, Livonia, and other more affluent communities can afford the cost of canvases, paints, brushes and other materials needed to pursue artistic avocations," Nelson said. "Moreover, art instruction in our suburban schools is top-quality, and inspired kids often end up by sparking a parental interest in arts and craft activities."

Nelson, who runs the Livonia Custom Picture Framing Company, is co-sponsoring the local appearance of painter Helen Van Wyk at Franklin High School on Sunday, Aug. 15 with the adult education unit of the Livonia Board of Education.

Miss Van Wyk, a frequent visitor to Livonia, will show how to paint portraits in oil and conduct a color symposium. Of special importance to painters, geared to a scientific age, she will show how new polymer materials can be used to create excitingly different creations.

These recently introduced plastic paints and adhesives are widely used in creating collages and montages, art forms which are enjoying a fresh boom due to the manner in which these new materials can be blended with fabrics, photographs, clippings, colored paper, and various "found" materials.

Miss Van Wyk's demonstration will be held in the north cafeteria room of Franklin High, 3100 Joy Road between Merriman and Middlebelt, at 2:00 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 15.

There is no admission fee and all suburbanites inside and outside of Livonia, are invited to come, watch, and to ask all the questions for which they need answers.

THE BILLBOARD

Concept Theater Club: "THE SLAVE" and "THE TOILET." Two Savage dramas that sting in their analysis of the race problem. Woodie King from the Broadway company directed. Theater is located at 401 E. Adams and holds only 70 people.

Unstable Theater: "A PHOENIX TOO FREQUENT." Mary Robb, Florence Riney, and Victor Schramm are featured in this long one act by Christopher Fry. Will play for five weeks.

Lydia Mendelssohn Theater: "HANSSEL AND GRETEL." Humperdinck's operatic version of the ageless fairy tale. Opens Aug. 11 for a five-day run.

Fisher Theater: "PICKWICK." British musical on its way to Broadway. Will remain for four-week stay. Opens on Aug. 9.

Northland Playhouse: "THE STUDENT PRINCE." Old time favorite returns for a second visit. Highly successful venture two years ago for the Northland management. Opens Aug. 10 for a one week stand.

This old world would be in a lot worse shape if some men preached what they practiced.

"Operation Crossbow" Is Vivid Entertainment

By SUE SHAUGHNESSY
"Code Name Operation Crossbow" opened at the Terrace Theatre last week. It will play there for the next few weeks. An MGM release it is billed as "The incredible story of Hitler's Secret Weapons—the V-1 and V-2 Rockets! The Mission that Won the War!"

Whether that's true or not—the picture is vivid. I have an English friend who spent the greatest portion of World War II doing volunteer work in London. One night she told me about the V-1 and V-2 rockets and how she would never forget them.

"It was the peculiar noise the V-1s and the absolute silence until just before it hit with the V-2s," she commented. "Everyone became somewhat accustomed to the noise of the air raids and the bombs, but these were different. I don't think that I will ever forget that sound."

The conversation—which took place almost two years ago—came back to me last week while viewing the film in question.

As I said, it's vivid and reasonably convincing. The story or the film is not completely plausible, but then I didn't expect it to be.

I have no idea whether or not it's true — it might be because all the real heroes die in the end. And then too truth is often stranger than...

Sophia Loren appears in what probably is her smallest role since she achieved fame. She also comes to an untimely end. Unusual and somewhat refreshing.

All in all it's excellent family entertainment if your family likes war pictures. Trevor Howard, Tom Courtenay and George Peppard all turn in excellent performances.

TERRACE MANAGER BILL MARCUS greets Air Force Recruiters Sgt. Jack Gunch and Sgt. Daniel Schingbeck to the opening night showing of "Operation Crossbow." Behind the gentlemen is a model of the X-15 experimental high altitude plane currently on display at the Terrace.

Acting Classes Set at Art Institute

Beginning Saturday, Sept. 18, six classes in various phases of theatre and acting will be offered for children and adults by the Theatre Arts Dept. of The Detroit Institute of Arts.

Each class will meet for eight sessions at the museum with each session lasting one and one-half hours. The classes are conducted as workshops with limited enrollment.

Emphasis in all of the work is upon meeting the needs of the individual student according to Dr. Audley M. Grossman, Jr., Curator of Theatre Arts at the Institute. Placement of students in the courses at the discretion of the instructor. Specific classes to be offered are:

- Creative Drama (ages 7-10) 10-11:30 a.m.
- Beginning Acting (ages 11-14) 10-11:30 a.m.
- Beginning Acting (ages 7-10) 12:30-2 p.m.
- Advanced Acting (ages 11-14) 12:30-2 p.m.
- Advanced Acting (ages 15-18) 2:30-4 p.m.
- A class in Theatrical Makeup open to older teens and adults will begin on Wednesday, Oct. 13 from 7:15 to 8:45 p.m.

MYI Group Returns

Musical Youth International returned Aug. 4 from a month's concert tour of Mexico. Returning with the group were three Livonians: James Fisher, Douglas Roose, and Tim Topolewski.

MYI is scheduled to appear in Durango, Mexico during 1968 for the Olympic tour.

The MYI group gave concerts in Guadalajara, where they performed in Deljollado. Following a special request concert for the mayor in the plaza, MYI members were his personal guests at a typical Mexican banquet.

Mexico City was at the culmination of the tour. The group visited the famous pyramids and, upon entering the Citadel, they were voluntarily moved to song.

The young people have used the medium of music to cement relations between the United States and Mexico.

STRICTLY ADULT ENTERTAINMENT

SHOW STEALERS were Linda Eagle as Mrs. Paroo and Barney Hyland as Winthrop in the production at Franklin High School the past two weekends of The Music Man. Critics, local, and professional, proclaimed the musical excellent from the standpoint of music, directing, acting and costuming. The youthfulness (a junior in high school) was well hidden by Linda in her portrayal of Mrs. Paroo. The above twosome have a long, long way to go in "show biz" if this be their calling.

Music Man Cast Winds Up Success In Pool

What do more than 100 happy kids do after a successful summer production of a smash hit like "The Music Man" closes?

They throw a party, of course. Then they go back to the hard job of striking the set and tidying up the stage and returning borrowed props so that the Franklin High principal, the school board, and various cooperative community groups and merchants will welcome them back next year.

Last Saturday's finale of the Meredith Willson hit was not only a sell-out, but a large number of procrastinating citizens were turned away at the doors.

"We're sorry," director David Hirvela said, "but generous press reviews, television movie coverage, and word-of-mouth advertising brought more and more people in. Maybe next year people will order tickets in advance and we will be able to take care of everyone."

When the curtain came down Saturday and the standing ovation of the audience ended the entertainers and their aides continued in high gear for their closing night party.

Franklin principal Dave Amerman authorized use of the high school pool for a cool-off swim. Then, while waiting for party pizzas, cakes, and other refreshments to arrive, two school combos played dance numbers for the cast, the stagehands, the ushers, the musicians, and scores of others who had put so many weeks of work into the successful production.

"Stars" danced with prop girls, tuba players went round and round with usherettes, and "townsfolk" mingled with musicians.

Hirvela praised the work of those who worked so hard behind the scenes.

"Although those on stage get primary attention of the audiences, we must never forget the large numbers of willing hands who do the scores of chores needed to get a show on the road."

When asked about royalties on so recent a hit as "Music Man" musical director Roy Ernst said, "It cost us $750 for the six nights. This is less than most groups pay for this popular musical because we have kept our admission prices way down. This gives the ticket buyers the advantage."

"We try to break even, and we have," Ernst went on. "As long as we cover expenses the Board of Education is pleased and a great many young people get enriching summer experiences. And the audience, we believe, has a lot of fun at very low cost."

The big Saturday night fun fest was followed on Sunday afternoon with a big cleanup job to tidy up the auditorium area.

Meadowbrook Season Closes This Weekend

The Meadow Brook Festival concerts for the season will end this week with performances by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra scheduled this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at 8:30 p.m. in the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion on the campus of Oakland University.

Sixteen Ehrling will conduct with Jerome Hines, noted bass of the Metropolitan Opera, appearing all three nights.

Hines will sing on Thursday and Friday nights the Mozart arias Non piu andral from "The Marriage of Figaro," In diesen hell'gen Hallen from "The Magic Flute" and Madamina! Il catalogo from "Don Giovanni" and the Monologue and Death Scene from Moussorgsky's "Boris Godunov." The program will include Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," Feter's "Contrasts for Orchestra," Balakirev's Overture on Three Russian Themes and Rimsky-Korsakov "Capriccio Espagnole."

Saturday Hines will be heard in Handel's "Largo" from "Xerxes," Schumann's "The Two Grenadiers" and Wotan's Farewell from Wagner's "Die Walkure." The orchestra portions of the program will include Bartok's Concerto for Orchestra, Brahms' Variations on a Theme by Haydn and Wagner's Magic Fire Music from "Die Walkure."

Pavilion seats and grounds admission are available at the Meadow Brook Festival office.

Landscape Honored for Month of August

Highly-charged with emotional content, "Alpine Landscape" by Ernst Ludwig Kirchner is the Painting of the Month for August at The Detroit Institute of Arts.

In 1905 some young German artists formed a group called Die Brucke (The Bridge) and stated their purpose as the revitalization of German art. One of the group's principal's was Kirchner. The work they produced remained within the German tradition of strong emotional expression, but the visual means were new: color harmonies and disharmonies, simplified forms and explosive movements breathed new life into German painting.

During his association with Die Brucke, Kirchner's work displayed a great interest of modern man, until 1916 when he moved to Switzerland for health reasons. Here he became a painter of nature and of man's relation to the forces of nature.

"Alpine Landscape," painted just four years before his death (1938), is intensely expressive—a monumental mountain landscape filled with tension made visible by clouds which literally explode in the sky. The colors—raw oranges, high-keyed blues and purples—bombard the viewer with a feeling of nervous excitement. Slashing brushwork conveys a feeling of anger and creates a mood which, like the real Europe at this time, was in a state of turmoil and anxiety.

The trees and Alpine cottages seem balanced precariously on mountains which shift and move under them, as Hitler's rise to political power at this time was shifting the very foundations of German life.

This important canvas by a master of 20th century German Expressionism is in The Detroit Institute of Arts Gallery 49.

Throughout August, members of the museum's Education Department will present special talks on "Alpine Landscape," the Painting of the Month, at 12:45 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The museum's summer hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

Daily children's contests at 10 a.m. will be held at the Michigan State Fair, which runs from August 27, through September
