Commission Eyes Second Urban Renewal Project

Acting on a recommendation of the Planning Commission, the Plymouth City Commission Monday gave the green light to proceed with the second urban renewal project in the City's south-easterly quadrant and requested City Manager Richard Blodgett to ask the area coordinator of the Urban Renewal

Administration visit the City and inspect the area being considered. The co-ordinator normally comes in for an inspection and then makes a complete report at which point the Commission can decide whether to go on or drop the proposal. The area involved is that section bounded by Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail, midway between Deer and Kellogg Streets and south beyond the Food Fair store.

Vilcan-Leman and Associates, the City Planning Consultants, made a thorough study of the area involved and indicated to the Planning Commission that they thought the City would be eligible for federal grants since the area qualifies under both state and federal law.

Their report shows an estimated gross project cost of $1,025,400 with a probable federal grant of $412,050 and a net project cost of $549,000 of which the City would be charged with providing $137,350.

The Commission accepted the recommendation of the Planning Commission and agreed to go along with phase two of the project. But what happens after that is a matter of conjecture since a report will have to come from the co-ordinator and then a study made again of the entire deal.

The City is still working on the first Urban Renewal project on Mill Street which is far from completion even though all parcels of land have been sold.

Two buildings remain to be torn down and several of the plants aren't starting work on expansion programs as fast as many of the Commissioners think they should be.

The second Urban Renewal Project appears to be as many as two or three years away. Before setting that issue, the Commission must decide where the proposed Housing for Senior Citizens is constructed. That project was approved by the federal government several weeks ago but the question of a site still has the City's Housing Commission tied up in knots—knots it is having trouble shedding.

City Manager Richard Blodgett and Mayor James Houk were named delegates to the annual Michigan Municipal League convention in Grand Rapids in Sept. Blodgett is the official delegate with Houk as alternate in case the former is unable to attend.

Inasmuch as Assistant City Manager and Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher is no longer serving as acting City Manager, the Commission voted to reduce his salary $100 per month but to continue the $40 per month allowance for car use.

G. T. Stein, vice president of Dura-Tainer Corp., appeared before the Commission to answer a complaint that his firm was using the vacant Stahl building in the Urban Renewal project for storage space.

Stein explained that Dura-Tainer has received a misconception about the use of the building and already had removed most of the materials. He asked the Commission to bear with Dura-Tainer until the expanded facilities are completed.

"We hope to start work on the new addition within two weeks," he said. "Meanwhile we will have to store these materials some place. We only ask that the City delay its grading along Mill Street until we have the foundation down for our new building, then we can move our materials there for storage."

Plymouth will become the only small city in this section to own an aerial fire truck as part of its fire equipment. This was assured Monday when the Commission approved payment

SOUNDING TRUMPET for the annual Fall Festival is Plymouth's little Colonial Man, a trademark of the event that attracts thousands to the community for the four-day celebration which starts on Sept. 9. Johnny's appearance in Kellogg Park is always a sign that the Fall Festival isn't far away.

Dr. Kauffman, Breen Quit Rights Group

The Plymouth Community Human Relations Commission lost its second member in a week Monday when Dr. Paul Kauffman tendered his resignation as one of the representatives from the City of Plymouth.

Earlier Dr. Kauffman, who is moving to Traverse City on Aug. 27 where he will become Director of Research and Training at the Traverse City State Hospital, resigned as chairman and was replaced by Rev. Fr. Alfred Renaud, of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, at a special meeting of the Commission.

Maurice Breen, secretary of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission and a member of the Human Relations Commission, turned in his resignation to the Township Board.

The resignations of Breen and Kauffman were accepted by the city and township with regrets.

In his letter, Dr. Kauffman pointed out that the Commission needs an appointment from the senior high school and also a replacement for Rev. John Miller, of Epiphany Lutheran Church who left the community in early summer for another post. Rev. Miller's successor will be named by the Plymouth Ministerial Association.

Dr. Kauffman has been on the staff of Hawthorn Center where he was considered one of the top men in his field in Michigan.

Plymouth Man Drowns In Half Moon Lake

Apparently swimming out too far into Half Moon Lake, 15 miles northwest of Ann Arbor, Robert Applegate, 43, of 9295 Northern Ave., Plymouth, was drowned about 9 p.m. Sunday night.

Applegate and his family had spent the day at the lake and he was taking a last dip when he suddenly disappeared below the surface. His body was recovered a short time later, police reports show.

Mr. Applegate was an employee of the Fisher Body Co. and had resided in the area for the past 10 years, moving to Plymouth from Belleville.

Services were conducted Wednesday in the Schrader Funeral Home with burial in Riverside Cemetery.

Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Mary Applegate; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Applegate of Wayne; five sons, Robert, Frank, George, Joseph and Williams; and two daughters, Mary and Dolores, all at home, two brothers, David of Wayne and Walter of Ypsilanti; and two sisters, Mrs. Lois Brauns of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Mildred Ransom of Nevada.

Township Board Thinks Twice Before Spending

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees isn't thinking of making any unnecessary expenditures if it can figure out a way to have things done with a minimum of expense.

This was brought out rather pointedly in the monthly meeting when the Board rejected a request from Supervisor John McEwen for a clerk to aid Township Clerk C. V. Sparks in recording minutes of the regular meetings.

McEwen pointed out that the meetings were becoming more complex and he felt Sparks could do a better job as a member of the Board if he didn't have to spend most of his time at meetings recording the activities.

"Plymouth Township is growing so rapidly and the duties of the clerk are becoming so great that I feel the hiring of a person to record the minutes should be considered," said McEwen in making his presentation.

However, the request fell on deaf ears especially after some members of the Board made a point of the fact that the Township Clerk is one of the highest paid in the county.

After considerable discussion, the Trustees agreed that Sparks could use a member of his staff to record the minutes and give her compensatory time off on the day following the meeting or later in the week.

The Board agreed, after considerable debate, to send Fireman Ernest Honke to the annual Michigan Fire Inspectors Conference in East Lansing, Sept. 14-17, but indicated they had no intention of creating the position of an inspector in the department. Capt. C. L. Maas recommended that Honke be sent to the meeting.

The Board also agreed to send Sgt. Fred Knupp, a full-time fireman, to the University of Michigan Fire College during the period of Sept. 20-27.

The Trustees approved the rezoning of a site at Ann Arbor and Beck Roads from Country Estates to Country Homes on recommendation of the Planning Commission. The land is owned by Richard Fritz who has plans for eight homes at the site.

The long discussed rezoning of the Postiff Estates, Lilley Road south of Ann Arbor Road, was approved with one part zoned single family and a second to R-2-A, two family residential.

The action gives Rose Hill builders the go ahead on their plans for apartments, two-family dwelling and single family

SUMMER OVER? It appears that way for candidates for the 1965 Plymouth High football team who were issued uniforms last week by Coach John McFall and his aides in preparation for the opening practice session on Aug. 31. More than 95 received equipment during a three night session in the school gym. Shown

PHS Plans Third Orientation Day for New Pupils

With the school opening barely three weeks away, more than 125 newcomers to the Plymouth High student body are expected to participate in the third and last of a series of orientation programs Thursday, (Aug. 19) at 1:30 p.m.

The previous programs attracted 90 of the total of 300 new students expected to enroll for the start of the 1965-66 school term.

"We realize that there are probably 200 who should join in this final orientation program," said Principal Carvel Bentley, who will have charge of the afternoon events. "But past experience has shown that many can't take the trouble to devote an afternoon to learning more about their new home for the next two or three years."

"Then they have trouble getting oriented when they start classes and find the halls filled with students rushing from one class to another. We are prepared to take care of as many that do report Thursday since we feel this is a rather important program for new students."

"It gives them a chance to learn more about Plymouth High, an opportunity to ask questions and also tour the facilities to see where they will attend classes. We hope all of those who haven't participated in the two previous programs

D. Sundstrom Killed in Car Crash

There'll Be Fun For All At Annual Fall Festival

When Grandma wore her bustle and Grandpa his celluloid collar, life moved at a more leisurely pace. The people of the Plymouth Community will attempt to recapture the spirit of that era during their Fall Festival Days September 9-12.

Personnel of all downtown stores will be dressed in costumes of the type worn at the turn of the century. And if, perchance, one of those beautifully gowned ladies should drop her handkerchief as she strolls through town, many a gallant man will rush to retrieve it.

As part of the activities scheduled for Thursday evening, September 9, there will be a contest to award prizes for the best costume.

Judging will be by members of the Plymouth Historical Society. If past years are any indication, it will be a difficult decision.

In keeping with the turn of the century theme, store windows will be decorated with merchandise of that period. Like to see what Grandma looked for when she went shopping for shoes?

Or, what the local druggist of the 1890's displayed in his windows? You will find these things and much more in the windows of Plymouth stores. Always a joy, window shopping will take on added delight during festival days.

And, while you stroll leisurely through Plymouth Thursday evening, September 9, you will hear the beat of a German band in Kellogg Park.

After you have completed your window shopping, you will find delicious knockwurst sandwiches available in the park, served by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

To make "German Night" complete, a barrel of sauerkraut will be on hand to enhance the flavor of the knockwurst.

For an utterly delightful, if

Boy Scouts Begin Two-Year 'Breakthrough' Campaign

The challenge to reach boys—wherever they may live—is being faced by the Boy Scouts of America in a two-year program called Breakthrough for Youth.

The membership of the Boy Scouts of America has reached a record high of 5,585,700. This was a 2.5% increase over the previous year, but there are still many boys without the opportunity to become Scouts. According to Read Jenkins, president of the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council, the local council is currently serving over 56,000 boys and 21,491 leaders in Wayne County and the southern portions of Oakland and Macomb Counties.

"We must attain new levels of vision, determination, and immediacy," Jenkins said, "if we are to bring the values of Scouting to the boys who have not yet been reached."

Leaders who have watched Scouting grow over the last 55 years point out that the period in a boy's life for him to become prepared in mind, body, and spirit for adulthood is shorter than ever before.

"We must use imagination in locating and motivating groups in special areas to sponsor the Scouting program and make it available where boys live," Jenkins added. Some of the answers, according to those who are determined to find the necessary breakthroughs, lie in finding unusual types of sponsoring organizations, recruiting Fleming is 29, and lives at 25808 Farmington Road, Farmington, and formerly lived in Redford Township, is a construction worker.

He is alleged to have shot his brother-in-law with a .38 caliber revolver, at the Upper Straits Lake Resort in Commerce Twp.

The Police have a statement from Fleming that he had been upset over a rumor he had heard about his wife and Henry.

Livonian Eyes Starting Spot At Albion

A total of 55 candidates for the Albion College football team will report to Coach Morley Fraser on Sept. 1 when the Britons begin drills for one of the strongest schedules in school history.

Albion, defending champion of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association and holder of a 11-game winning streak, opens the campaign with a home game against Wheaton College on Sept. 18. Fraser, with 30 lettermen returning, has few personnel problems. One of the top candidates for a halfback post is Pete Boroday, a senior from Livonia and a graduate of Bentley High.

Wayne County Sheriff's Officer Denies Charges

'Fat Man' Mystery Adds Intrigue to Ticket Fixing

Everybody is getting into the act, which started this past weekend when five deputies raised the curtain on their drama of alleged ticket-fixing in the Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol. The players consist of Wayne County Sheriff Peter L. Buback, Road Patrol Inspector Dan D. Martin, four deputies and a former deputy who were known as the "Big Five" when they were together on the road patrol, the Wayne County Prosecutor's office, the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, Sgt. Paul Paciorek, heavy-set 24-year veteran, named as a key figure, and others.

Charges of ticket-fixing were made by deputies Robert Jones, Johnnie Talley, brothers Lewis and James Huddleston and former deputy Gene T. Baker.

The five were transferred from the road patrol to the Wayne County Jail by Buback shortly after the September primary election, during which, Buback said, they campaigned for his opponent in the Democratic Primary, Philip Van Antwerp, now a Detroit councilman.

Lewis Huddleston, spokesman for the group, called attention to some tickets he had photostated which he said were the judge's copies, marked "void" and bearing the initials of Sgt. Paciorek.

One of the tickets photostated was one given to James Ianni, 33675 Bock, Garden City who said he was "worried about points" and turned the tickets over to "an officer" of UAW Local 182 at the local's hall, 35603 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

In the wake of all the uproar, the Wayne County Board of Supervisors has launched an investigation into Sheriff's Office procedures in the handling of traffic tickets.

Also, the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office is conducting a probe into the charges.

Those who have been charged with misconduct, have denied the allegations.

Monday night the Nankin Township Board adopted a resolution that a request be made to the Prosecutor's office and the State Police asking them to inform the board of any developments in their investigations.

And, the widespread publicity, has caused the postponement for two months of the trial of Deputy John P. Bommarito, son of Undersheriff James Bommarito. The younger man has been accused of shaking down the owners of the E&G Superette, 26809 Plymouth, Redford Township.

Paciorek, who weighs close to 300 pounds, has denied that he is the "fat man" who is said to have fixed tickets at a Nankin Township Bar.

Jones, one of the Big Five, said he ran into a violator he had ticketed for speeding in March 1964 and asked him why he had not appeared in court. "He told me the ticket had been taken care of in a Nankin Township Bar," Jones said.

The motorist told Jones he took the ticket to the bartender who took it to a "fat man sitting in a booth."

"I was told it would cost $25," he told Jones. "I paid the bartender this sum and left." Sheriff Buback was not very complimentary to Lewis Huddleston and former Deputy Baker.

He said the two had been assigned to shadow Inspector Martin, after a tip that Martin was taking $300 a week for allowing a bingo game to flourish in Romulus Township.

Buback said that in five months the men spent as part-time undercover agents, they turned up two insignificant facts.

He wondered how they could have spent all this time spying on Martin and fail to find any cause for their charge they are now making of ticket-fixing.

Meanwhile, the plot thickens.

Post Office To Improve Local Service

Postmaster Clarence Mace announced today that all Garden City Post Office employees will be asked to take part in the new Postal Efficiency Plan announced recently by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The Postal Efficiency Plan (PEP) includes comprehensive programs for improving postal service and reducing costs," Mace said. "It is our way of helping President Johnson fulfill his pledge to provide more effective and economical government services."

In Washington, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski termed the plan's twin objectives of economy and service betterment "a matter of highest priority" and called for total involvement of all employees through the Post Office suggestion program.

Semi-annual reports will be made to the President, Mr. Gronouski said, and realized savings will be reverted to the Treasury or applied to improving postal service.

A local committee will be organized to fulfill the two purposes of the plan.

Ideas generated by individual employees will be taken up by the committee. Accepted ideas will be passed on to Washington for possible application on a national level.

Employees whose ideas are adopted nationwide will be given national awards. The postmaster general will personally oversee the programs.

Mace will be chairman of the local committee to implement PEP.

Postage Stamp Spending Tops $100 Million a Year

ANN ARBOR—Postage stamps—one of the world's fastest-growing hobbies and businesses—accounts for the spending of over $100-million a year.

University of Michigan business economist Ross J. Wilhelm says stamp collecting is not only a popular hobby but an important source of revenue for some countries.

Wilhelm points out that the number of collectors has jumped from a few million a few years ago to over 25 million today. The amount spent by collectors now totals over $100-million a year.

The greatest increase in collectors is in Europe, where incomes have risen very sharply over the past 10 years.

"For the first time since World War II, European collectors have been buying large quantities of stamps and collections in America, reversing the westward flow of stamps. The great upward shift in demand also has brought about large price increases in addition to increases in the supplies of stamps."

These increases come from three sources, Wilhelm notes: new issues by governments, the placing on the market of collections that were not previously for sale at lower prices, and the number of forgeries and faked stamps.

"The greatest increases recently have been in new issues and in forgeries," he says. "Most forgeries are skillfully done today, and involve upgrading low value stamps to higher value categories rather than actually printing fake stamps."

"While experts can detect forgeries, it is very difficult for the average amateur to do so. The detection techniques include the use of ultraviolet light as well as microscopic examination and the use of various chemicals."

Some amateurs collect forgeries, Wilhelm says. However, since it is a violation of Federal law to possess fake stamps, "most tend to be close-mouthed about this. Since they are supposed to be turned over to the Treasury Department when detected, this makes amateurs reluctant to admit they have collections of forgeries."

Postage stamps sales can be an important source of revenue for small countries like Monaco, St. Helena and Tristan de Cunha. Many, such as Ghana, have been producing large quantities of stamps especially for collectors.

Since collectors often base their collections on topical issues it is not unusual for countries to produce stamps on a particular topic just to appeal to collectors, Wilhelm points out.

"The most important topic in recent years has been the late President Kennedy, and many issues have featured him. Topics range from Shakespeare to sports, animals and "almost any category you can name."

"Countries that are producing stamps for collectors but have only remote connections with the subject will still produce a stamp. Shakespeare, for instance, has been the subject for countries ranging from the Cayman Island to East Germany," he said.

"There even are some governments in exile that issue and sell stamps to collectors—such as the Royal Bulgarian Government, residing in Spain. There are some 4,000 new stamp issues each year. The total cost of printing a complete set of 12 to 14 denominations or values with an average first issue of perhaps 15-million stamps often will be less than $20,000."

"The stamp revenues for a medium size country often run at about $300,000 a year, with as much as one-third of this coming from sales to collectors (and thus not involving any actual expense for delivering letters)."

"The British Crown Colony of Gibraltar has earned over a million dollars in revenues from stamps over a six-year period, that cost around $28,000 to produce."

It usually takes about a year to produce a postage stamp, Wilhelm explains. The process begins with the decision to issue a new stamp as well as its motif. The designs are often selected from competing local artists. The printing process used is either the recess or the photogravure process, the least expensive being photogravure.

The cost of printing depends upon the quantity printed as well as the number of colors. Most stamps of the world are printed by commercial printing houses in England and on the continent. In the United States, the government does its own printing.

Third of City Land Is Vacant

Roughly one-third of the land inside Livonia's 36 square miles is still vacant.

On the rest of it sits more than 23,000 single-family homes, however.

And, there are still around 50 farms in this fast-growing suburban community.

This study in contrast emerged last week from a "Land Use Inventory" completed by the city's Planning Department as part of a federal government sponsored project.

It was described as a "methodical cataloging and recording of the use of all land in our city" by Planner Don Hull and Mayor Harvey Moelke.

"The work," they said, "is the basic building block from which a comprehensive planning program can be projected."

Livonia, the study indicates, has about 19,670 acres within its boundaries.

Of this amount of land, 6,910.2 acres, most of it in the city's northwest areas, remains vacant.

A total of 1,432.2 acres is used for agricultural purposes on 55 farms.

For residents, there are 23,331 single family dwellings which occupy 6,346.7 acres of land; 94 two-family dwellings on 36.4 acres of land; seven three and four family dwellings on 2.4 acres of land; and 28 apartment buildings for nine or more families, on 20.8 acres.

Recreation land use runs like this: 27 units of outdoor public land for recreation totaling 676.9 acres; five units of private land recreation for profit totaling 419.3 acres; 12 units of indoor private recreation facilities totaling 40.8 acres, eight units of flood plain lands and private non-profit recreation on 66.1 acres; and five acres of subdivision parks, community centers and swim clubs on 27 acres. Livonia has four hotels, motels and tourist homes on 4.2 acres; 48 extractive and industrial non-manufacturing businesses on 374.4 acres; 94 manufacturing plants on 704.2 acres; and 27 transportation, communication and utility concerns on 62.6 acres.

There are 446 commercial businesses on 426.2 acres. Personal, business and professional services number 288 and are on 78.8 acres.

Public schools total 52 on 925.8 acres and private schools number seven on 70 acres. Local government accounts for 21 units on 133.6 acres and other government agencies total five units on 9.8 acres. There are two libraries on 3.3 acres, 56 churches on 408.5 acres and seven cemeteries on 424.4 acres. Hospitals and convalescent homes total seven and occupy 71 acres.

Thieves Rifle X-Ray Clinic

The front door was unlocked and her desk pried open when she entered the offices of the Medical X-Ray Clinic, 31500 Schoolcraft, Monday morning. Then she discovered more than $35 in cash and a $25 roll of stamps were missing.

That was the report of Esther Talo, receptionist for the Clinic, in a complaint to Livonia Police.

Miss Talo told officers another office had been broken into and more than $35 stolen from a desk in the office of Dr. Richard Young, also in the building.

Drivers Under 26 Are 'Safest,' National TV Test Shows

On the night of May 24, some 32,000,000 Americans of driving age took part in a unique audience participation television program, the first "National Drivers' Test," produced by CBS News with the cooperation of the National Safety Council and sponsored by Shell Oil Company.

Although this was the largest audience that ever watched a sponsored public service program on one network, millions of drivers did not watch the program and test themselves on their driving ability and knowledge.

These people will have a second opportunity to take the "National Drivers' Test" on Monday night, August 30, on the CBS television network, again sponsored by Shell.

Why is this significant? The National Safety Council points out that nearly half of a special panel of 1,800 persons, representing a cross section of U. S. drivers, either failed the "National Drivers' Test" or rated "poor."

Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, said this means that more Americans need to be made aware of their shortcomings as drivers and improve their driving skills and habits.

He expressed the hope that the second telecast of the "National Drivers' Test" before the Labor Day weekend would help to reduce the traffic toll over the holiday.

An analysis of the scores from the special panel reveals a number of interesting facts, the National Safety Council points out.

The average score for the entire group was 51 out of a possible 80 points. The Council characterized this as a barely passing score.

Professional drivers did no better, their scores also averaging 51. Those in the panel who had had driver education had the highest average, 53.

The panel was separated into three age groups: under 26, 26 to 45, and over 45. Those over 45 had the worst average of any category, 48. Those under 26 years had an average of 52, while the middle age group had an average of 51.

Are men or women better drivers? The panel results indicated men are. They averaged 52, while the women averaged 49.

College-educated panelists scored an average of 52; high school graduates, 50; and those who did not finish high school, 48.

The August 30 telecast of the "National Drivers' Test" will give a person an opportunity to compare himself with others in his age, sex and education groups.

The "National Drivers' Test" television program has aroused tremendous interest throughout the country. More than 16 million test forms were distributed by CBS and Shell before the first show. An estimated 14 million more were printed and distributed by business firms, civic organizations, government agencies and newspapers throughout the country.

Afterwards nearly a million viewers mailed in completed test forms. This was a phenomenal response, according to experts, who gauge reaction to mass media.

Shell has made the first show into a 45-minute, 16 mm film which will be available on free loan from the Shell Film Library to traffic safety groups, schools, business, industrial and civic organizations. With each film will be a copy of the test form which can be reproduced. Data generated by the "National Drivers' Test" television show will be useful in accident prevention studies now underway. Researchers at the National Safety Council are using computers to analyze test scores of the studio participants and of organizations that mailed in forms.

Ask Hana (Questions on Hairstyles And Beauty)

(Readers with beauty problems may write in care of this newspaper, "Ask Hana" and their questions will be answered via The Observer. Letters need not be signed.)

Dear Hana:

Lately I have had a real problem with a mustache and long sideburns growing on my face. My husband is embarrassing me publicly by bringing it to everyone's attention. I feel like crawling under a rock and hiding for the rest of my life when he does this because I feel conscious of it anyway.

What in the world causes this and what can I do about it. I have tried depilatories that are sold in the drugstore, but it lasts only a few days. Stubby hair then comes in and it looks like I need a shave. It's just awful.

Worried

Dear Worried:

The depilatories sold are a temporary measure only, and I sympathize because you do have a real problem.

There is evidence that to some extent the maintenance of normal hair is dependent on normal activities of endocrine glands. Hair development and patterns on certain areas, the face being one of them, are regulated by sex hormone secretion. Have you been in for a physical lately? You may have problems in this area. Do discuss this with your doctor for it may be a hormone deficiency and today this can be treated very easily.

Now then, this will not remove the hair that has already grown on your face but it will prevent any more hair from growing. Your next step is to get rid of the hair present now. Your doctor can refer you to a good electrolytist, who will remove the hair permanently by electric treatments, and then you are in business.

Too bad your hubby ridicules publicly. A marriage counselor may be in order as the third step, but you just don't know who to trust these days. He might suggest extra-marital activities for your husband and this wouldn't solve your problem at all, so for now avoid step three until some legislation has been passed on that profession.

I am very interested in you and am sincerely anxious to know the outcome. Please keep me informed.

Dear Hana:

Why is it that every beauty shop I go to, I get the same hairstyle. It's always the bubble and I'm sick of it. Can you suggest a hairstyle for someone like me who has a large round face with a very low hairline. I think my ears should be covered and the hair should be off the face on top.

Mrs. M. N.

Dear Mrs. M. N.:

When a lady comes into our salon, we always ask if she has any preference and it's obvious you do. And it sounds like a bubble to me. Have you ever gone into a salon and simply left it up to the operator that's working with you? You know, it would give us free reign to design something interesting and becoming if given half a chance.

So often communications is our big problem. If you could stay with one salon for a while, then your likes and dislikes would soon be discovered. If you still get a bubble each time, then make a change to another salon. It's unfortunate but true that many operators are very limited in the styling area but search out a shop where each and every head is different. Keep in mind that these people are usually higher priced but you get what you pay for in the end.

Mrs. Joseph Ziska, President, Farmington's Hill and Dale Garden Club

Madam President

When Kathy Ziska decides to "go into" something she attacks the problem with such concentrated interest the results are just bound to be astonishing. And so, when Farmington's Hill and Dale Garden Club voted to make Garden Therapy their project it was no little wonder that the club, with Kathy as its president, walked off with five major awards this year. She modestly maintains, however, that "when you work with such wonderful people as those in the Garden Club, you can't help but do a good job."

Kathy lives in Kendallwood No. 1. . . "my experience selling real estate was a big help when we were picking out our lot" . . . on romantic sounding Peppermill Dr. . . "we're having a seige of the Peppermill plague right now, every house on the block but one has had some form of illness this month." The Ziskas' comfortable home is accented with arrangements of dried materials created by Kathy. . . "I made that turquoise and gold arrangement when I was taking lessons from a florist here in Farmington, and the vase I made when I took up ceramics a few years back. The Buddha is plastic—he costs only 99c!"

Kathy has two children, Mark is 14 and Michelle 7, and a husband, Joe, whom she describes as a unique tolerant man. Mr. Ziska confirmed his unique tolerance as he talked about his wife's club activities. There was a note of wonder in his voice as he said, "I don't know what motivates them—but once these women get their interest up—nothing stops them."

He may have been thinking of three years ago, when Kathy won a trip to Europe and the Chelsea Flower show in London as a prize for her flower arranging. She had "gone into" flower arranging only a year and a half before, and had taken several classes. She gives much credit to Alice Burglingame of Birmingham for giving her the inspiration and the confidence to (1. enter the show and (2. to take the trip. Kathy had never flown before and was petrified, but with her typical resolution went anyway and made her stay in Europe a most memorable one.

The Ziskas moved out to the suburbs from Dearborn about eight years ago. The move was made partly because Joe objected to having Kathy work and they felt the challenge of having a new house would help fill her time. "Right after we were married," says Kathy, "I decided a housewife should know about city government, so I went down and got a job at City Hall. I like it so much I stayed on for years."

She had words of praise for Orville Hubbard, Dearborn's mayor. "He demands work from those who work for him," she said, "and since I expect to do a full day's work, we got along fine. He runs a very efficient office, and is fair to his employees."

But when the move was made to Kendallwood she was without a job, and for a while (the true blight to a suburban housewife) without a car.

Kathy, like nature, abhors a vacuum, and it wasn't long before things were humming at Peppermill Dr. She and several friends formed the Hill and Dale Garden Club and in addition to that Kathy began writing Kendallwood Comments for the Farmington Enterprise (a local newspaper).

Her main hobby is something else again. Kathy collects recipes and cooks. She says, "I guess I have sort of an inferiority complex, most of my interests begin because I feel I don't know as much as, or am not able to do as well as, most other people. After I married I decided I could be as good or better a cook than anyone if I applied myself. I found out I just love it and I always have a huge pile of magazines and clippings with recipes I want to try out."

The Ziskas will celebrate their twentieth wedding anniversary this August. Kathy, slender, with golden blonde hair and blue eyes, would only admit to being between the ages of consent and collapse. When we commented on her youthful appearance she said she thought that today the nation's women are younger. "Not only because of new methods and general acceptance of make-up and hair coloring," she added, "but we are more figure conscious, we wear younger looking clothes, brighter colors. The conservative navy dress and sensible shoes are no longer the style for mature women."

She includes her mother, whom she admires a great deal, in the younger women of today category. Kathy says she's acquired much of her philosophy from her mother and quotes a Polish maxim which she says loses a great deal of poetry in translation, but the meaning still shines through, "Two Mountains never meet, but two people always will."

So this is Kathy Ziska, whose genuine interest in life about her has made her a woman of many facets. You have the feeling you may never know all about her because she never stops learning, growing in some new dimension. Kathy's year as president of the Hill and Dale Garden Club ended this summer . . . and comes the inevitable question. "What next?" "I don't know," she answers, "I might take a refresher course in steno type. On the other hand there's been quite a hush-hush over our school system lately—maybe I'll "go into that."

Baughman-Millar Repeat Wedding Vows

Marriage vows were exchanged between Nancy Ann Baughman of Battle Creek and Alan Duncan Millar of Garden City. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bruce Buir, of Battle Creek, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Millar of Rosslyn Avenue, Garden City.

The Aug. 7 wedding was performed at a 11 a.m. service at Sacred Heart Church with Reverend Thomas Sutherland. It was a double-ring ceremony.

The maternal aunt of the bride from Champaign, Ill., Mrs. Margaret Wehring, was matron of honor. Ruth Millar, sister of the groom from Garden City; Donna Underwood and Rosemary Byrne were bridesmaids.

David Millar, brother of the groom, was best man and Fred Koloski, Gary Millar another brother of the groom and Ken Bennett, all of Garden City, seated the guests.

A Schiffli embroidered gown of silk organza with round neckline and Dior sleeves was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The front of skirt was accentuated by a flowering bouffant chapel train. Her triple tiered veil was caught by a circlet of applied swiss lace flowers. Her bouquet was of white roses, lily of the valley and carnations and ivy.

Light blue linen gowns were chosen for the wedding attendants. The gowns were accented at waist by embroidered ribbon which was repeated in the circular headpiece. A cascade of pink daisies, carnations and gladiolus were their bouquets.

A buffet for guests honoring the newlyweds was held immediately following the ceremony at Roma Hall in Livonia. Those attending included Senator and Mrs. Edward Robinson, aunt and uncle of the bride, and the Misses Monica and Joan Denny of Pensacola, Fla., cousins of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Canada the newlyweds will live in Inkster.

The bride, a graduate of Western Michigan University in 1965, in Sept. will teach English at Divine Child High School in Dearborn. Her groom is employed by Manufacturers National Bank and is attending Detroit College of Law.

CLOSE FRIENDS of Mrs. William Titus entertained 60 ladies for lunch at a local restaurant, to honor the coming marriage of her daughter Melody Titus of Fenton. The Tituses are former residents of Redford Township. Hostesses were Sally Sharick, Jean Sansone, Roberta Ramsey, Irma Kegelemann, Evelyn Lemon. Following the luncheon Mrs. Douglas Sharick entertained members of the wedding party at her home. (l-r) Mrs. William Titus, Melody Titus, Mrs. William Cole, Sr., mother of the prospective groom.

Library Bd. Changes Day Of Meetings

Effective in September 1965 and until further notice, the regular monthly meetings of the Board of Trustees of the Farmington District Library will be held on the evening of the first Wednesday of each month instead of on the evening of the second Wednesday of each month.

This was voted desirable to all Trustees in order to eliminate conflicting dates of other organizational meetings to which the Trustees felt their attendance was necessary.

These monthly meetings to which the public is invited are held in the library, 23333 Farmington Road, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

DAR Sponsors Bridge Tourney

PICTURE TALK by Les Wilson

Easiest Movies Ever

It took two geniuses to invent movies, Thomas Edison and George Eastman. And for a long time the invention was a problem for lesser people. You practically had to be a genius yourself to use movies properly. Little by little, movies were domesticated. Now there's a new kind of movie, so easy to take, so enjoyable to show, it's a shame Edison and Eastman aren't still around to see what's just happened to their invention. The new Super 8 film format is the foundation for a whole new movie system. New Super 8 KODAPAK Movie Cartridges, new KODAK INSTAMATIC Movie Cameras, new INSTAMATIC Projectors. Let me tell you about just one of the amazing new INSTAMATIC Movie Cameras—the KODAK INSTAMATIC M4. A camera that makes taking movies of the fun nearly as easy as just watching it. You don't thread the KODAK INSTAMATIC M4 Camera. Open the camera, drop in a film cartridge, and shoot. No settings to make, nothing to remember, just aim-and-shoot. The CDS electric eye sets exposure. The lens is pre-focused. There's nothing to wind, no stopping halfway to flip film over. Battery-power drives the film—whole rolls at a time without stopping, if you like. And this is improved KODACHROME II Film in the new Super 8 size—50% more picture area than regular 8mm film. So your movies are brighter, sharper, more colorful on the screen. I wish you could try this camera. I wish you would, first chance you get. Stop in for a demonstration.

Plea from Japan

(The following is a letter received from a student from Japan. Arrangements were being made for his transportation to this country at the time a death in the family of the sponsor prevented carrying out the plans. Anyone interested in further contacting this young student may contact The Observer Newspapers, Editorial Department.)

Dear Citizen of U.S.:

My name is Genichiro Nomura and I am in Senior at Ogaki Ninami High School. As you don't know probably, our city "Ogaki" is located on the center of Japan. To the north is the Norikura Mountain range which being very high separates us, climate wise, from the rest of Japan. We enjoy a mild climate all year around with warm, bright summer and rainy fall and winter.

Did I tell you that I have been studying English language for a few hours each day. Two years ago I find it very difficult and my progress has been slow, but am now beginning to think a little in English form and perhaps within a month or two shall be able to speak perfectly.

U.S.A. closes to Japan stepping over the Pacific Ocean, Michigan is the most splendid state for Japan which the population is many and the resources are poor.

I have not my friends and family in U.S.A., but I wish to study in U.S.A. The life in the foreign country may be hard, but I wish to study in this vast country over every difficulty as hard as I can.

I am: Address: 120-8 Makino Cho Sex: Male
Ogaki City, Gifu Ken, Age: 17

Hobbies: Stamp-collecting and reading. Favorite sports: Tennis and swimming. I am a player of inter high school by tennis.

Please look for the man or the woman who take care of me through the newspaper. Please be realized my dream for a long time by your newspaper.

Annexation of the Nankin Mills School District to Livonia is being opposed by a citywide group of civic associations. At the August 10 meeting of the Federation of Livonia Civic Associations, delegates adopted by a unanimous vote with one abstention the following resolution: "The Federation of Livonia Civic Associations is opposed to the annexation of the Nankin Mills School District by the Livonia School District. Further, the boundaries of the Livonia School District should be amended so that they coincide with the boundaries of the City of Livonia."

At issue currently is where the Nankin Mills district—which has no high school—should go. New state laws require all districts without a straight kindergarten to 12th grade program to be tied in with districts which have such a program. Livonia, Garden City, and Wayne Community School Districts are being considered to absorb the district.

The Federation took its action, according to President George Kindred, "after much debate, including a presentation of facts and figures, and remarks pro and con by members of our City Council and Mayor Moelek."

Said Kindred: "The Federation takes the above position with emphatic knowledge of the educational needs and problems that beset our neighboring communities. However, the Livonia School District, once rated one of the finest in Michigan, must go to the voters time after time to obtain sufficient funds to maintain status quo. Increasing population and shrinking assessed valuation per child are problems that must be faced today. Further annexation of school districts would only aggravate these conditions and would not serve the best interests of Livonia's taxpayers, nor afford their children the best possible educational facilities and services."

The American Indian Village, featuring the 100-year-old Chief John Big Tree who posed for the Indian head on the buffalo nickel, will be one of the attractions at the Michigan State Fair, August 27-September 6.

Color Hits New Nail on the Head
The battle for perfect color coordination won't be lost for want of a nail.

Manufacturers of mineral fiber house siding are now supplying nails colored to match the hues of the pre-finished siding. When used to apply the siding, the nails blend to match — and thus "disappear."

With siding, nails and trim all pre-finished, a mineral fiber installation needs no painting.

Queen of Hearts 'Invades' Paris

When the American Embassy in Paris arranged for me to go to the Cordon Bleu cooking school, a kind gentleman from the Embassy agreed to escort me. His name was Mr. Agopian, an Armenian by ancestry, a British subject by birth, and a great fan of French cooking who had taken lessons from the chef at Cordon Bleu. We had a chance to compare cooking notes in the taxi, and he gave me his recipe for an absolutely fool-proof Armenian pilaf.

Before I can give that recipe to you, however, I must do something which I find very painful. I hate to do it, but I feel I have a moral obligation to any readers who may be trying my recipes in good faith, you might say. I am compelled to confess that when I decided to give you the recipe last week for Bearnaise Sauce, I got so hungry for it that I decided to fix it for dinner.

I have never had it fail before, but this time it did. If this disaster should happen to you, perish forbid!, you should know what to do. I think when you hear what happened, you will be adequately forewarned.

I fed the children early so that my King of Hearts and I could enjoy an elegant, intimate meal together. Due to general lack of organization around this house, it got a little late, and the little children weren't ready for bed, and some of them always think that when Mom is in the kitchen, it doesn't matter what time it is, it must surely be time to eat another meal. So there they were, and I got to hurrying.

Well, the steaks got ahead of me, because I couldn't find the dried tarragon, and the bottle of tarragon vinegar, which would have served, was standing there in the cupboard, empty. (Does that ever happen to you?) I finally got going, and was stirring the sauce for dear life, when I remembered I hadn't taken the plates down and put them into the oven to warm, and everybody knows, an elegant meal cannot be served on a cold plate unless it is a cold meal.

"Stir this," I said to Alison, who is four, "and don't stop stirring till I tell you."

I just turned my back for an instant, and Alison would have stirred like the battle-scarred veteran of the kitchen that she is, but when I reached up for the plates, the potato chip can fell right down, practically of its own volition (with just the slightest assist from me), and it scared Alison into immobility.

I put down the plates, and in the confusion, with everyone running in to see what the racket was, that beautiful Bearnaise sauce separated. It simply turned itself into an oily, curdled failure of a sauce.

So I have some advice for you (from a failure... who could know better?). Think ahead, don't hurry, warm your plates beforehand, locate your tarragon before you begin, and don't even think of turning your back on a sauce. BUT... if something does happen in spite of all your care, don't be discouraged. If that sauce even begins to look as if it just might possibly start to consider separating, remove it from the heat immediately. Stir in a tablespoon or so of cream or condensed milk very quickly and beat with a vengeance. It should work. And there is one consolation: nobody's perfect.

By this time, you might be delighted to have a never-fail recipe, and Mr. Agopian said, "If you do exactly what I tell you, this will never fail." This is exactly what he told me:

MR. AGOPIAN'S ARMENIAN PILAF

Place in saucepan: 1 cup long-grained white rice. ("I never use anything but Uncle Ben's," said Mr. A.) Add: 1/2 cup butter, 1 small chopped onion, dash of salt.

Put on low heat and let rice bubble in the butter while you do the next step.

Bring to a boil: 2 cups chicken stock, fatty if possible. When it is boiling vigorously, pour it into the rice.

"You may add 1/2 teaspoon of tomato extract," said Mr. A. I didn't have any, so I deviated from his instructions and used a good teaspoon of tomato paste, and it didn't fail.)

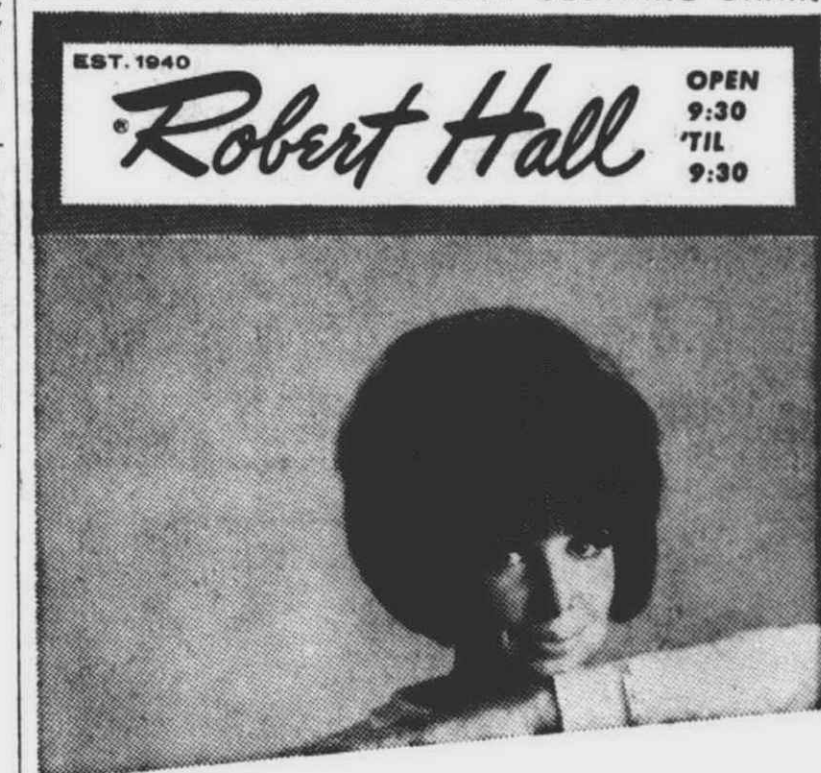

Then pour it all into a buttered earthen casserole and place it, covered, in the middle (Right in the middle," he said specifically) of a hot oven, 400-425 degrees, for twenty minutes. Remove it and let it stand for 10 minutes. Open it and stir with a wooden spoon ("It must be a wooden spoon."), cover it, and leave it.

"Leave it one hour, two hours a day," said Mr. Agopian "but leave it. It gets better when you leave it." So I did that too, and heated it in the oven for 15 or 20 minutes at low heat the next day. It was perfect. Try it... I am sure you will share my gratitude to Mr. Agopian. It comforts me to know there is a recipe that will never fail.

MR. AND MRS. THURSTON G. DEAN

Livonia Bride Will Live in Chicago

Sheila Ann Wyllie and Thurston Gerald Dean were united in marriage on Aug. 7 at the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Livonia. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Harry M. Hilborn, a friend of both bride and groom. Reverend Hilborn is pastor of the Evangelical Spiritual Church in Chicago, and is also president of the Independent Spiritualists Association.

The bride, a native Livonian, is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Steven Wyllie. Given in marriage by Frederic A. Randall, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie and lace, with a chapel train. Her elbow length veil was centered by a cluster of matching lace petals trimmed with rhinestones. She carried a tapered cascade of eucharis lilies and apricot sweetheart roses.

Jean Wyllie was her sister's maid of honor. Sandra Simms served as bridesmaid. Terri Randall, Jr. served as flower girl. All three girls wore floor length gowns of apricot peau de soie and lace. Jean and Sandra carried extreme crescent bouquets of variegated foliage. Terri's bouquet was identical only in miniature.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of capri blue peau de soie and lace, and a matching petal hat.

Ted Dean was his brother's best man, while Luther Dean served as groomsman. Michael Materna seated the guests.

An informal reception followed the ceremony at the Rose-dale Gardens Club House.

Following a honeymoon in Bermuda, the couple will reside in Chicago where they will both be continuing their education.

Looking Around LIVONIA

Refreshments, all the corn you can eat with trimmings. There will be dancing from 9 to 1 a.m. with the Statesman Band. Call Jack Hickox, GA 1-5660 for tickets.

Welcome Awaits New Parents Without Partners

Parents Without Partners, the Livonia chapter, welcomes new members and meets the fourth Wednesday of the month at United Church of the Nativity, West Chicago at Henry Ruff at 8 p.m.

All parents without partners are invited to join this national, non-profit, non-sectarian, educational organization. Lectures are given by authorities in fields related to problems of the single parent; their problems, interests and needs, complemented by group discussion, group therapy meetings and coordinated parent-child activities.

PWP aims to provide an educational, social and cultural fellowship among persons who have similar problems, interests and needs in order to become more effective and mature parents in the dual role that has fallen upon them.

Newly elected officers are: President, Eldon Price, Livonia; vice president, Sandy Campbell, Livonia; secretary-treas., Romaine Ammen, Garden City; publicity, Roger Versept III, Plymouth; Program Committee: Eldon Price, Sandy Campbell, Romaine Ammen, Roger Versept III, Joy Armstrong, Isobel Giannola, Louise Slowel with Peggy Walker as chairman.

The group expressed thanks to Angela Bailey for her fine year as President 1964.

Show Antiques

Want to show off a collection of American antique oak furniture? Use ponderosa pine paneling for a backdrop, selecting a grade with only occasional knots to keep pattern to a minimum. Finish the pine paneling clear to bring out its warm golden brown color which complements and contrasts so handsomely with the paler gold of oak.

Watch your time carefully—but that doesn't mean the clock.

Festival Offers Fun

Continued from Page 1) noisy, experience, you are urged to visit Plymouth Saturday morning, September 11, for the children's pet show. Dogs, cats, rabbits, turtles—you name it and you'll find it at this show.

It will be held in Plymouth's central parking lot, a fact which should be quite apparent as soon as you get downtown. In addition to ribbons for the different classes of pets, a free ticket to the Penn theatre will be given to every child who enters a pet. If you've been to Plymouth recently, undoubtedly you have noticed the colonial bugler in Kellogg park. The people of the Plymouth community have grown quite fond of this little man.

Because they know, when he appears, festival days are close at hand. With his hat perched jauntily on his head and his cheeks puffed out, it has been alleged an occasional note escapes his bugle.

Plymouth Starts Search for New Refuse Caretaker

The City of Plymouth is looking for a new caretaker of the refuse disposal site in Salem Township following the request of Joseph Boshnyak for release from his contract due to illness.

Boshnyak has been troubled with a recurring back injury and has been advised to rest for at least three months.

The request for release was granted and City Manager Richard Blodgett and DPW Supt. Joseph Bida were instructed to start an immediate search for a successor.

TALKING OVER plans for the many agricultural exhibits as Michigan State Fair time nears are Bob McLachlan (left), director of that department, and State Fair General Manager Walter A. Goodman. McLachlan, of 15109 Farmbrook, Plymouth, joined the Fair staff last year. He succeeded his father, Eldon McLachlan, as director of agricultural exhibits. This year's State Fair, the 116th, opens Friday evening, Aug. 27, and runs through Labor Day, Sept. 6.

Eye New Project

Commissioner Arch Vallier, who was the prime mover in securing the new equipment, told the Commission they owed a vote of thanks to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and the City Council for their efforts in making the truck available for Plymouth.

Arch received a vote of thanks from the Commission for his work on the project. The City can pick up the truck anytime it desires and the City of Detroit also offered to train men to handle the equipment if necessary.

A rhubarb developed when the Commission started the job of awarding contracts for the demolition of buildings and sidewalk construction at the Urban Renewal project on Mill Street.

The argument started when Attorney Ernest Weiner, acting for Monarch Wrecking and Lumber Co. of Detroit, entered a protest against awarding a contract to the Plymouth Excavating Co. for its bid of $9,250 for the demolition work.

Weiner indicated his client felt the Plymouth Excavating bid wasn't legal since it failed to meet all of the required specifications.

When informed that the Commission felt the requirements had been met, Weiner told the Council that his client preferred to withdraw his bid. Then he was informed that it was too late and that the deadline was up to the time the bids were opened.

Under the terms of the bidding, Monarch faces forfeit of its bid bond totaling $545 if it withdraws.

The matter was turned over to City Manager Blodgett and City Attorney Edward Draugelis for study and a recommendation to the Commission at next Monday's special meeting.

In other actions, the Commission: Approved recommendations for parking in the alley behind Allison Chevrolet made by the City Manager.

Heard a report on the activities of the police department and a request from the City Manager for additional time to make a full report.

Heard a report from the City Manager that he had started study and work on a proposed wage increase for city employees and hopes to have the final report ready before the end of the month.

Denied a request from Dr. Van Newkirk for an assessment relief on his lot at the corner of Jener and Maple Streets.

Approved expenditure of $9,932 for the widening of Ann Arbor Trail from Penniman to Elizabeth on recommendation of DPW Supt. Joseph Bida.

Approved payment of $490 for repair on the pump at the refuse disposal site in Salem Township.

CONTINUOUS loyalty, baling hay, picking corn, lawn jobs with an Observer route is how Buddy Burleson, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Burleson of Ross Street has spent his summer. Each week the young man has delivered 125 papers for the past four years—quite a record! Now entering the ninth grade he has decided to pass his route on to David Pocklington also of Ross Area. Residents, be watching for your new young man.

SPEAKING OF faithfulness, how about 28 years on the same street. Jean Mining who greets daily shoppers at the Penniman Market, and I might add is a busy girl with all the lunch customers from surrounding offices in and out, has spent all these years on the same block serving the public.

THE DAKOTAS for the Oscar Luttermosers and children who spent two weeks visiting Mrs. Luttermoser's family. Traveling back with them was Mrs. Lorenz spending a month with her daughters Mrs. Edward Holdsworth and Mrs. Luttermoser.

NEW ENGLAND VACATION. Amy and David Schwartz along with their parents Mr. and Mrs. John Schwartz chose the New England states to vacation. Traveling through the White Mountains and a stop at the National Park in Concord, N. H., caught their fancy. Former residents of Plymouth, Lee and Louis Kolin were delighted to have the Schwartzes visit them in New Jersey.

GRAND TRAVERSE BAY for the Matt MacLellans and daughter Marcia and so much fun when the Richard Neales and their family joined them for a holiday week end.

BUSY PEOPLE. The Carl Caplins flew to Chicago to attend the wedding of Karen Rickman. While there, they squeezed in a gift show, hopped a plane and got back in time to attend the Lorenz wedding the same day. Little Kimberly Joy, 10-month-old daughter of Ty and Nancy Caplin visiting here from California is continuing to keep her grandparents busy. Incidentally Ty is now the Assistant Pro at the Olympic Club in San Francisco.

HONORED: Sandy White, employee of the AAA, was honored at a birthday party with her co-workers attending. Ruth Hanes filling in at the Chamber Office scurried over to wish her well and enjoy the delicacies.

PHS Plans

(Continued from Page 1) will join in this final showing. Bentley will be assisted by Assistant Principal John Hoben, head of the counseling department who has had charge of drawing up schedules for all students at the high school.

The program includes a short welcome from Bentley and Hoben, a discussion of what Plymouth High offers followed by a question and answer period and then tours of the facilities.

Principal Bentley has made arrangements to have other members of the counseling staff available for the tours should the attendance make it necessary to divide the group into more than two sections.

"We of the high school administration believe this type of program is invaluable to new students," the Principal stated, "It only requires about an hour and a half and it certainly eases the way for those who are coming in from other communities and need helping hand until properly adjusted. This is a chance to make part of that adjustment."

No advance registration is required. Students are asked to report to the school auditorium for the start at 1:30 p.m. and the more attending, the better and more profitable it will be for all.

Let Us Have Right to Work

14b—hanging like a diamond in the sky—is in peril of losing its bright light of freedom.

And all of Michigan's Democratic Congressmen have backed on the gossamer thread which holds this important part of the Taft-Hartley Act in its labor heaven.

For all of them—including this area's Billie Farnum, Weston Vivian, and William D. Ford—cast their ballots in support of President Johnson who is supposedly paying labor for supporting him in his bid for the presidency.

14 b—Oh, let not thy light go out!

This section permits states to enact and administer right-to-work statutes which guarantee the rights of workers to refuse to join a union without sacrificing their jobs.

Shine on, shine on, 14 b, up in the sky!

Does this mean anything to you, John Livonian, or Robert Nankinite, or Sister Plymouth or Uncle Garden City and Aunt Redford?

It sure does!

If 14 b is retained, the right-to-work might eventually come to Michigan.

Many of us believe in the importance of good unions but we would like to join them because we want to and not because we have to.

A union-shop contract means that everyone, who works for the company that has signed it must soon join the union whether he wants to or not.

14 b—you were still there at the twilight's last gleaming...

Rep. Vivian says he voted for

H.R. 77, which was adopted 221 to 203, so we "can ask that the ground-rules for labor-management relations be made uniform throughout the country." Aren't they under the present law?

Wow, little 14 b, glimmer, glimmer...

14 b now dangles in the Senate where proponents of its repeal claim to have 52 on their side; 36 against; and 12 undecided.

Let those of us who value freedom more than special privilege explore our senators to examine their consciences and then let the chips fall in the right places!

Let 14 b become as symbolic as the Statue of Liberty, the Rock of Gibraltar!

Oh, 14 b—mica, mica, parva stella!

BILL GAIL

Take Politics Out Of Sheriff...and Vice Versa

The ticket-fixing charges which broke over the weekend, involving the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. in Livonia and Nankin, makes of vital interest to this community a recent speech by Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White.

Justice White was eminently qualified to give the speech, having come to the high court from the office of Assistant Attorney-General. The speech itself must have been painstakingly prepared. It was given before the National Conference of Bar Presidents.

In it, White urged the reform of the nation's traffic court systems, to help cut down the 30 million traffic violations recorded in America each year.

One of the reforms he specified was an end to ticket fixing: "It is wholly clear that we cannot tolerate the fix, that we cannot run traffic courts for revenue rather than for the purpose of influencing behavior, that serious violators must face the judge and that the accumulated experience of the better traffic courts should be made available to all."

Traffic courts, he stated, must be "brought into the regular court system, be subjected to judicial and administrative control and be made courts of record with responsibilities equal to a task before them."

Traffic judges, White emphasizes, "should be full-time judges of adequate ability with proper insulation from political control."

Political rather than legal obstacles, he says, have prevented these reforms.

White's speech was a broad look at a general condition prevalent around the country. It deals with the judicial rather than the enforcement side of the law. But in spotlighting the promiscuous influence of politics on law, White has, we think, put his finger on the cause of the current problem in Wayne County.

Much of the stature of J. Edgar Hoover is based on the fact that he took the FBI out of politics, and made it civil service. One of the main reasons Adlai Stevenson is considered a great Governor of Illinois is that he took the State Police out of politics.

On the other side of the coin are the infamous political sheriffs of the south. Men like Laurie Pritchard, in Albany, Georgia; Lawrence Rainey, in Philadelphia, Mississippi; and James Clark, in Selma, Alabama will be condemned by history as lawmen who gave in to the ugliest public passions.

There is no attempt here to equate our Peter Buback with this kind of Sheriff. He is by all reliable accounts a decent man, and a responsible official. With the exception of an under sheriff, appointed by him, his staff is entirely filled by civil service. His power over them is limited, and does not include the power of dismissal.

But the Wayne County Sheriff is nevertheless a politician, not only elected, but elected on a party ticket. And his deputies participate in party politics.

The favor giving and favor seeking which are intrinsic arts of the political process are not paths to excellence and integrity in law enforcement. Let's get the Sheriff out of politics altogether.

A Big 'Thanks' from 11,000 Youngsters

Editor:

This letter is written for the purpose of thanking all those persons whose assistance helped to make the Farmington Area Recreation Commission's program the success that the total participation figures suggest it to have been.

The Commission is not only grateful to those governmental, civic, and social organizations that provided the necessary monies, but also to numerous individuals who gave their moral support to the Commission's endeavor to make this past summer a pleasant one for the youngsters to enjoy. It is surprising the number of people whose behind the scene assistance is required to make possible a smooth running and efficient program such as the one the Commission feels it brought to the community.

First and foremost the Commission is most appreciative for the assistance given it by the Farmington Board of Education and its Superintendent, Mr. Gerald V. Harrison. Without their assistance the program would not have been possible.

Our many thanks are extended as well to the Superintendent's staff in the persons of Robert Read, Byron Oliver, John Cotton, John Gresehover, and Ralph Vert, and to the principals and custodians at the schools used.

At this time, also, the Commission wishes to make known to the general public its appreciation to businessmen of the Clarenceville and Farmington area who contributed prizes which were awarded to winners of contests at our field day held July 30. These stores include: Robertson's Hardware and Wurzbacher's.

These names were inadvertently misplaced and to the heads of these businesses, the Commission extends its sincere apologies.

It is the hope of the Commission that those who gave of their time and money can hear the quiet thanks of the 11,905 youngsters who benefited by their generosity.

Four Critical Votes

Editor:

My message to your readers should be: four votes equal five million dollars of the taxpayers' money. For that is the magic number that was needed to pass my bill which would have saved the taxpayers of Michigan five million dollars per year.

House Bill 2759 would have provided for a self-insurance plan for all the school buildings in the State of Michigan. Under the plan, each school district would pay $1.00 per membership child into a statewide reserve fund until a maximum reserve of $3.00 per membership child was accumulated. Then no further payments would be made and the losses would be paid from earnings accrued to the fund.

On April 27 my bill received a big boost when the State Department of Public Instruction came out in favor of it and submitted a written report to Governor Romney stating that the bill could save the taxpayers of Michigan about five million dollars per year. The report showed that for the 1962-63 school year all the school districts in the state paid almost seven million dollars for fire insurance premiums while the annual fire losses were averaging between $250,000.00 to $500,000.00 per year.

On May 25 the bill was brought to a vote and to my amazement it was defeated by a 45 to 47 vote. On May 26 I made a motion to re-consider the vote by which the bill was defeated. On the eve of May 28 we tallied up the promises and thought we had 62 votes—six more than the 56 required to pass the bill.

At 11:30 p.m. the bill was again brought to a vote and again it was defeated, this time by a 52 to 48 vote—just four votes short of passage. It is interesting to note that each time all of the Republican members of the House voted against the bill. Their argument was that my bill was a socialistic idea that infringed on private enterprise.

Since all of the state agency buildings have been self-insured since 1913 at a savings of about one million dollars a year and since over 400 private corporations are using self-insurance for certain risks, I considered their argument a smoke-screen. If there is a lesson to be gained from this fiasco, it should be that we can't count the votes until they are registered on the board, and the insurance lobby is powerful.

The Legislature is a tremendously interesting and challenging experience but I am still learning and I shall re-introduce the same bill at the next session and I expect it to pass on its merits.

From Early Builder

Open Letter to J. B. Folsom:

On a recent visit to Livonia, I read with interest your letter to The Observer regarding the early days of Rosedale Gardens. While I have never resided in Rosedale, I did help to plaster your home together with my brother Victor, now of Livonia.

At the time we were in the employ of our father, who contracted with the Sheldon firm for perhaps the first 50 houses. I remember very well the problems we had in furnishing temporary heat during the cold weather, and locating and transporting water for mixing the plaster.

Some of the early home owners' names I recall are Birch, Brown, McNutt, and we also plastered the grocery store. I left Detroit in 1927, coming to this city to establish my own contracting business. It looks like the Builders Built Well When They Built Rosedale Gardens.

For Humanism

Editor:

At the Farmington Forum on State Rights I was led off on a tangent away from the center of the arena. We squabbled about fringe benefits away from the hard core of truth which is reality. Suffice it to say that Gandhi was in the right place and the right time in history and he succeeded because he was the right man. So down goes the British empire, down goes the French empire, down will go the last remnants of the Belgian empire and the Dutch empire and the German empire and alas and alack the American empire followed in time by the Russian and the Chinese empires, they too will go down in time and finally there will be nothing left but the people. Yes, said Carl Sandburg in his wisdom, and The People Yes said Isadore Berger in his wisdom.

There was only one wise man at the panel the other night, the rest of you were pigeon-holed in politically oriented categories, blinded to the crying needs of the others. We all have crying needs, and somehow we try to fulfill ourselves often at the expense of others, and that is where the trouble begins. All a man needs is food, shelter, love, respect, and dignity. More or less in that order, supply these basic needs and you have solved the problems of the world. Deny them and there will be changes made. Count on it.

We congratulate ourselves on being rational human beings, why not try to act like rational human beings? Is it rational to shoot a man because he is hungry and cold? Is it rational to bomb a country because it is hungry and cold? So a country that is hungry and cold looks around (communication revolution) and they observe that Russia has done it in 40 years time (limitations on freedom) and that the United States has not done it in 200 years (war on poverty) and also limitations on freedom (Negro revolution).

These countries (the people) have no alternative. Wouldn't it be rational to give them an alternative? Can't we afford to be a little magnanimous? Isn't it in our own interest to make friends instead of enemies, to love and take care of those who are less fortunate than ourselves? Or are we going to spend all of that loose change that is floating around this country to build bigger and better bombs and gases and breed bigger and better man-killing bugs, to protect our material gains from the onslaught of the rest of the world? This, sir, is reality and the way you are headed is toward a fortress against the whole world.

In the words of Isadore Berger, wouldn't it be nice to Win for a change? Can't we be Human for a change, or What?

Name It Now

Editor:

When will the new High School on Six Mile Rd. be named? How long can we call it Section 9 School? I think that as a school is proposed and planning has begun it should be named. There is nothing as unglamorous and without warmth or prestige as giving a school just another number, just as we are becoming just numbers. If the board of Education is looking for a distinguished name, I would like to second the motion, which I don't doubt has already been suggested, that it be called the Winston Churchill High School. What greater tribute to an adopted son of America? A world statesman. I think it has gone long enough without a name.

'Tell the Truth'

Editor:

In the August 4 issue of The Observer Supervisor Jack McDonald outlined his GOP philosophy to the local Republican club and a point he made was, "Republicans believe in fiscal integrity and during prosperous years the government debt should be decreased". This is an admirable statement and one which I heartily agree with but four weeks ago in a prepared statement to the Township Board the Supervisor reported that for the current budget year expenditures were estimated at $1,966,811.87 and revenues were estimated at $1,806,050. for a proposed deficit of $160,761.87.

The Supervisor's statements indicate that what he says has no relation to what he does. His pious statements for public consumption are just so much window dressing. As an elected official, I believe the Supervisor has a responsibility to the people of Redford Township to tell the truth once in a while.

Smashing Bottles

Editor:

I feel I just must speak out about a problem which has been bothering me for some time.

It is the new recreation of our youngsters of smashing pop bottles on sidewalks and parking lots. As a bicycle rider, I have found one cannot ride much more than two blocks before running across broken glass. Usually, it is closer than that. It really irritates me to think I can't even drive to our nearest shopping center without having to watch carefully where I park.

Aside from the cost of repair and replacement of tires, the real danger to children playing on the sidewalks bothers me no end.

What happened to the pastime of gathering pop bottles and cashing in a heap of them for a movie or big candy feast?

Teenager, On Fathers

Editor:

What's wrong with the parents of today? Everyone talks about the modern teenager and how bad he is, but does anyone speak of the parent of today? NO!

Is the parent some sort of supreme being in which everything he does is right and justified?

Recently the Detroit papers carried a front line story on a parent that publicly disowned his teenage son. His reason was one of a beer party that broke out into a riot. The boy received a 15 day jail sentence and the father made sure his son carried out the sentence instead of just paying the fine.

The father was right in having his son carry out the 15 day sentence. The lesson may well be taken. During the jail term something was bound to sink in the boy's mind. But the disowning part played by the father only showed his ignorance. What father who had any love and consideration for his child would publicly disown him? The father apparently just wanted publicity to show how tough he was. He sure didn't show any worry. It wasn't probably his fault in the first place during the upbringing of the boy.

If he would have given his son more love and attention, nothing like this would have happened. Therefore the disownment is really a sad note toward the father, notso much the teenager.

For the boy it was a time of need and comfort but what did the father do: He blasted his own son in the papers by telling how rotten he was.

Can he be justified as a father?

The Right to Jury Trial

By ATTY. GEN. FRANK J. KELLEY

For centuries the common-law right to trial by jury has been regarded as a safeguard of life and property. It has even been suggested that the number 12 has a special significance.

The late English Lord Coke said: "It seems to me that the law justly delighteth herself in the number of 12 jurors for the matter of fact, for is that number not much suggested in Holy Writ, as 12 apostles, 12 stones, 12 tribes, etc."

The right to trial by jury in Michigan is guaranteed by the State Constitution. In a criminal case the right is absolute; however, in a civil case trial by jury is deemed to be waived unless it is demanded by one of the parties. It is no longer necessary in Michigan that the jury be comprised of 12 persons in all cases, however. The new Constitution provides that the jury may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record.

The following persons are excused from jury duty: Officers and employees of the United States; officers and employees of the state; county officers and their deputies; all judges of courts of record; all attorneys and counselors; all persons more than 70 years of age; and any person who has served as a juror during the 12-month period immediately preceding the term to which he is called to serve as a juror.

A CONGRESSMAN'S WORKBOOK

By CONGRESSMAN BILLIE S. FARNUM Representative, 19th District

WASHINGTON — From the standpoint of our underground moisture supply, our area is in the fifth year of a "drought" certain to continue at least two more years.

That is what I am told by one of the most interesting experts I have consulted in an effort to get background information on ways to help cope with water and drainage problems in our district. My object, of course, is to make available to local officials whatever Federal help may be obtainable in solving our water, drainage, pollution and similar problems.

The expert is C.L. McGuinness, of the Water Resources Division of the United States Geological Survey. He has studied underground moisture all over the country and has made extensive surveys in our locality.

Our underground water supply... as well as the level of many Oakland County lakes... tends to be closely tied to the Great Lakes. McGuinness says that Geological Survey studies show that the big lakes started getting less moisture than they need to maintain their levels in 1960 and have shown a deficiency since.

Is there a chance the condition may be permanent?

No. There have been much worse droughts in the ancient past, McGuinness says, and the proof of it comes from a study of annual growth rings in trees. These reveal to scientists other periods of moisture deficiency longer and much more severe than the present one affecting the Great Lakes.

Is there a cycle—a regular period of high and low Great Lakes levels?

None that can be established to the satisfaction of scientists, McGuinness reports. He says there is a hint, but nothing more, that there might be a connection between lakes levels and 23-year cycles of sunspot activity.

How can two more years of underground "drought" be predicted?

McGuinness says this is possible because records show that it takes two to three years for effects to be felt in our area after the Great Lakes start to get a normal supply of moisture.

How does he account for the fact some Oakland County lakes went to abnormally low levels while others were much less affected? Water that is available tends to flow into sandy areas, and lakes there get enough underground water to help replace much of the evaporation.

I enjoyed talking to McGuinness. He has spent a lifetime in one pursuit and certainly impressed me as having mastered his scientific field. He is one of the most articulate of the Federal experts in this area I have come across.

Incidentally, he is now following up some matters on practical approaches to correction which came up in our conversation.

Obviously there now are no existing practical ways to control all Great Lakes levels but I do believe there may be discovered ways to cope with local conditions resulting from lake levels if it is done on a community by community basis.

Doing this is a local job for local officials, and some are hard at work at it. My object is to get them whatever assistance is available that has already been paid for by our income and other Federal taxes.

I will make future reports on water supply, drainage, sewer, pollution and related problems as material becomes available.

Observing the Scene... By MYRA CHANDLER

As a kid I can remember the delight of the long, hot, lazy summer which began early in June and lasted to September — it was delightful. My mother can remember "having help" for three dollars a day, buying a steak for 40 cents a pound, buying a luxury car for $700 and a dress to match for $15.

My mother no longer enjoys this in reality, nor does her counter-part. My counter-part does though — from June to September — long, lazy, hot summer.

It's still nice, but if it doesn't change there is going to be trouble — and not just here in River City, but all over the United States.

School Boards are beside themselves with rising costs — and so they should be. School administrators are adamant about not lowering academic standards — in fact improving them — and so they should be; teachers are dedicated to getting a living wage worthy of their profession — and they certainly should be — and parents, poor parents — the heavy in the act — are complaining about the high cost of taxes — and darn it — so they have a right to it.

What is the answer? Well, in my opinion, I will tell you what it is not. THAT IS STICKING TO TRADITION. We did it this way 50 years ago and we can't change our concept. We have to. We have changed it many ways, many times.

At the risk of sounding like a broken record — Please will someone tell me why we have to let our kids out for spring plowing in June? Why can't we use our school all year long?

Edifices we build in Livonia alone, it's astronomical. A new high school a year, indeed. We are pricing ourselves right out of this world. No wonder there is such unrest — we are heading into blowing ourselves off the face of the earth only to start over.

There must be a better way. Why can't all we hand-wringers sit down — not be afraid to change traditional ways of doing things and really meet our needs head on.

And the answer is NOT government subsidy — the more intelligent among us these days — the more it seems it is the absolute salve and balm to say — "Oh, thank goodness, we will get Government money." Where is the end of that? Even the wild-eyed Dem must see the money isn't coming from God.

In this same line of thinking the Livonia Firefighters have closed their ears to the Mayor's possibility of combining fire and police protection. To economize — so they, the men, can be paid more money and resources do not have to constantly go to buildings with their high rate of interest.

This system works in the cities of Farmington and Oak Park. There is much to be said to initiate a study of it in Livonia. There is panic in the fire department this night because of the idea being discussed about — I say let us study it — let us take a cool look at the entire situation. Without emotion, but with dollar bills in our eyes, let us try to shake ourselves loose a little of our horse and buggy ways — from where I sit we could all stand with a little mental streamlining.

How to 'Manage' People? Library Books Will 'Help'

Figures show that nearly two-thirds of the persons who lose their jobs are fired because of "personality defects" and their "inability to get along with people."

Skill of Getting Along With People," and Douglas McGregor's "The Human Side of Enterprise."

Skip Rosenthal, city librarian, points out that books from the Livonia Public Library can give "helpful hints on how to build personality and improve personal relations."

The Livonia libraries are open as follows: Monday through Thursday, 12-9; Friday, 9-5; closed Saturdays until after Labor Day. The South Branch is located at 33720 Plymouth Road, GA 7-1990, and the Sandburg Branch is at 30100 W. Seven Mile Road, GR 6-0700.

A number of excellent handbooks at the library offer advice to supervisors on how to "deal effectively with employees." Some of the titles include Joseph Famularo's "Supervisors in Action: Developing Skills in Managing People," Robert McKean's "The Supervisor," and Richard Van Dersal's "The Successful Supervisor."

Now in the Redford area, at the corner of Joy and Beech-Daly roads, there's a new car-repair center with some surprises for you (read below).

New Shell Motorlab ends "trial and error" in car repairs

We test your car 121 ways before recommending a single repair—then guarantee every repair we make.

Now there's a completely new and different kind of automotive repair center here in the Redford area. It's called the Shell "Motorlab."

Motorlab offers you three advantages you won't find at ordinary car repair shops:

- 1. Specially trained "diagnosticians" pinpoint your car's troubles with 121 exacting tests—all this for only $6.95.
2. Specialist mechanics make expert repairs at reasonable prices. (But you're not obliged to have the work done at Motorlab.)
3. You get an ironclad written guarantee on every repair—parts and labor—for 90 days or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first.

Why make 121 tests?

We find out precisely what's wrong with your car—and what's right with it. Motorlab's 121 tests eliminate "trial and error," to save you from costly repairs you don't really need.

We check your car from radi-

Motorlab is easy to reach from either Michigan Ave. or Telegraph Ed. Here—just 25 minutes from downtown Detroit—is a new and different car repair center.

tor to tailpipe. For example, we:

- Analyze your car's exhaust gases, to see if your carburetor is functioning at its maximum efficiency.
Measure wheel alignment to within half a degree, to help you get maximum tire life and smooth, precise steering.
Check overall performance at speeds up to 60 mph, while your car stands still.

What happens after the tests? The test results are checked against specifications for your car's make, model and year. Then a diagnostician gives you a complete written report on your car's exact condition.

He explains what should be fixed right away, what repairs can wait, and what you don't have to worry about at all. He tells you just what each repair will cost. (He knows exactly what's wrong, so he can make accurate estimates.)

How can Motorlab guarantee repairs?

After our specialist mechanics fix your car, they test it again, to make sure the trouble is corrected. That's why we can afford to guarantee all our work, in writing.

Can repairs be charged at Motorlab? Certainly. We'll bill you at the end of the month. Or you can extend payments over 6 months, a year or longer with our "Custom Payment Plan." We custom-design the terms to suit your exact needs.

There are lots of extra features at Motorlab, including:

- An air-conditioned Customer's Lounge, where you can relax and watch through a glass wall while we test your car.
A Shopping Promenade, where you can browse through select lines of appliances, sporting goods, toys, housewares, etc. We have "everything for the shopping motorist," at bargain prices.
A Car Wash so thorough we even clean under your car, to wash off corrosive road salt.
A fleet of Rent-A-Cars.
Free Shuttle Service between Motorlab and the nearest public transportation, if you drop off or pick up your car yourself. We'll also give you a free ride to and from nearby shopping areas.
Pick-up and Delivery Service, arranged through your neighborhood Shell dealers.

Come look us over. Drive out and see why we call Shell Motorlab a completely new and different car repair center—a way to end expensive "trial and error" in car repairs.

HOW A FRIENDLY CHAT COST ME $3,000,000

You remember the comedian's gag line: "With friends like that . . . who needs enemies?"

One Saturday a year ago, our Clubhouse dining terrace was crowded. We had to turn away numerous fans who wished reservations. A friend of mine, observing the situation, remarked, "You should enlarge the dining terrace." I agreed we needed more space. So, what originated as an idea to merely expand our dining terrace turned into a $3,000,000 construction program for a new Clubhouse.

We open the magnificent new Clubhouse Saturday. Everyone who has had a preview look, terms it one of the finest sports facilities in the United States.

It is a facility I am proud to offer the racing fans of Michigan. It is one, I believe, they deserve.

The amazing growth of racing in Michigan has brought new responsibilities to management. One of the paramount responsibilities is to provide a facility which guarantees comfort, convenience and maximum pleasure for the fans.

This was our ambitious goal when we started our expansion plan. I believe we have attained it. I invite you to visit us soon and make your own judgment.

In our new Clubhouse will be "The Winner's Circle" dining terrace. It is a beautifully appointed restaurant serving the finest food and beverages. It can accommodate 650 persons. We invite your reservations. Call GA 1-7170.

Urge GIs Apply for Insurance

Officers of Passage Gayde Post, American Legion Monday warned veterans that only nine months remain to take advantage of the new G. I. Insurance which goes off sale on May 2, 1966.

Robert Fitzgerald, Veterans Administration Regional Manager for Michigan, said all eligible should make application at once.

The insurance is open to those veterans originally eligible for G. I. policies between Oct. 8, 1940 and Jan. 1, 1957 and for those who failed to take it out or, having purchased it, let all or part lapse.

To secure the new insurance, veterans must have a service connected disability or a non-service connected disability so severe that commercial insurance can't be purchased.

Fitzgerald points out that while a full $10,000 policy may be taken out, the veterans also may purchase as little as $1,000 or $2,000 and thus provide protection for their families for only a few cents a week.

The Veterans Administration Regional office at 210 Grotat at Library, near Hudson's Downtown store, will provide full details.

The Legion Auxiliary will hold its rummage sale on Saturday, Aug. 21 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Legion Home on Sheldon Road. All items will be appreciated. For pickups call Chairman Betty Richter at 453-8942.

Redford-Detroit Post and Unit will hold its annual installation of officers on Saturday, Sept. 4 at the Brightmoor Community Center, 14451 Burt Road.

Passage Gayde Post will hold its next meeting on Sunday, Sept. 5, in the Post Home.

Passage Gayde Unit 391 will hold its first meeting of the new fiscal year on Wednesday, Sept. 15, in the Legion Home at 8 p.m.

Farmington Senior at U-D Spends Summer in Mexico

Recently returned from a summer spent teaching in Huitzco, Guerrero, Mexico, is Gary Winston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Winston, of 24765 Ivywood, Farmington. Winston taught English to high school students, set up recreation programs for young people, and showed educational films to adults.

A senior majoring in languages, Winston was one of six students and recent graduates of U. of D. who were sponsored by the Conference on Inter-American Students for this intercultural exchange project.

Louis Stein Resigns As Canton Twp. Supervisor

Louis Stein, 66, longtime supervisor of Canton Township, has notified the Board of Trustees of his resignation effective Aug. 31.

Stein, who has served as chief executive of Canton Township for the past 13 years, gave the Trustees a brief written statement in which he said he was resigning "with regrets."

The Board tabled the resignation with the hopes that Stein would change his mind.

However, Stein, when contacted, said "there's no chance of a change. I have been supervisor for 13 years. I ran reluctantly this last time with the understanding that I would probably resign before my term ended."

"The people have never refused anything I recommended. But this is a confining job and I have always felt that I should be available at all times."

Stein said that he and his wife plan a trip to the west coast as soon as his resignation becomes effective. Their plans also include other tours and trips.

A former railroad contractor, Stein retired before his first term as supervisor. He indicated he has no plans on entering business.

Stein and the late Roy Lindsey, who served as supervisor of Plymouth Township for 11 years prior to his death last winter, were powerful figures in the Wayne County Board of Supervisors over the years.

Stein just completed a one year term as chairman of the powerful Ways and Means committee of the Board of Supervisors.

Lindsey had held that position three times during his years of service with Plymouth Township.

The Canton Township Board is expected to meet within a week or 10 days to name a successor—after receiving assurance that there won't be any change in Steins' plans.

DPW FACTS

BY SUPT. JOSEPH BIDA
Plymouth Dept. Public Works

The Department of Public Works has had some complaints recently about the rubbish and garbage pickup service.

I feel that most of our residents are not aware of the fact that the contractor makes the pickups for 90 cents per month per home or $10.80 of your tax money is paid annually for this service.

Refuse containers must have handles and must not be larger than 35 gallons. We at the DPW feel that the service in Plymouth is not bad compared to other cities where residents must separate the rubbish from the garbage and the fees are much higher.

Many cities pickup garbage only and some in the immediate vicinity pay $3 monthly or $36 per year. It is my personal feeling that we have an excellent contract.

However, if you have complaints, please call the DPW office at 453-7737 or 453-1556 and we will take every step to correct them.

The department was busy during the past week cleaning all city parks. The grass was mowed at Riverside Cemetery and around the headstones. One funeral was handled during the week.

Crews were busy finishing the work on McKinley between Palmer and Byron and Arbor Trail and Union Streets. Chloride was placed on Linden Street between S. Harvey and Herald and also on McKinley and Hamilton.

Both well fields were mowed and work continued on mowing weeds and high grass on vacant lots.

Stumps were removed throughout the city by crews and the chips will be removed this week. The stumps were on the following streets: Maple, Auburn, S. Harvey, Riverside cemetery, Joy Street, N. Harvey, Blanche, Church, Pennin, Hamilton, N. Evergreen, Hartsough, Kellogg Park, York and Park.

City Receives AAA Plaque For Safety

The City of Plymouth received official recognition Monday for its outstanding achievement in the 1964 AAA National Pedestrian Safety Program. A pedestrian safety plaque, recognizing the city's two-year period without a pedestrian fatality, was presented by Automobile Club of Michigan at the regular Plymouth City Council meeting.

Michael Conrad, of Auto Club's Plymouth division office, made the official presentation. Joseph Zabelski, safety consultant from the Club's Safety and Traffic division, explained the plaque's significance.

Plymouth was one of 26 Michigan cities cited in the national contest for pedestrian safety records ranging from one to 19 years. Altogether, 1,871 cities from 34 states competed in their respective classes.

"Y" Summer Agenda Ends On High Note

The summer program of the Plymouth Y.M.C.A. for boys of junior high age ended on a high note last week when Director Tom Workman took a group of 12 north for a canoe work week.

The boys worked three days to pay expenses and then canoed for three days, paddling 90 miles on the Au Sable from Roscommon to McKinley. They slept in tents, did their own cooking, had nature tours and group games during the week.

Workman had a total of 60 boys in the program during the summer, taking several canoe trips with a maximum of 35 boys on any single trip.

Another highspot of the summer was a trip to Tiger Stadium to watch the Bengals in action as guests of the Detroit Baseball Company.

'Blue Velvet'—Smooth Name but Harsh Results

"Blue Velvet" is neither the name of a race horse nor a fabric, but it is the name of a killer.

The killer is talc, one of the ingredients of a certain pale blue antihistamine tablet with a long medical name. In very recent years narcotic addicts have been combining this drug with paregoric, and injecting the mixture into their veins. It is these addicts who have given the mixture the name "blue velvet."

The antihistamine drug boosts the paregoric's soothing effect, immediately causing a blissful state which lasts for several hours. Unfortunately, nately this blissful state may be followed in due time by death, Wayne State University School of Medicine researchers recently discovered.

Wayne State doctors were the first to identify the "blue velvet" phenomenon and to report it to the medical world, and it was partly as a result of their work that the Michigan legislature passed in the spring of 1964 a law making paregoric a "prescription drug."

A pathologist on the Wayne staff, Prof. Henry E. Puro, was asked with his associates in 1963 to investigate the case of a 32-year-old woman who had unexplained high blood pressure in the vessels of her lungs. After careful examination the doctors discovered that talc crystals had caused damage to these blood vessels so that a clot had formed.

In talking with the patient during his investigation, Dr. Puro learned she was injecting a substance into her veins which she called "blue velvet." The killer ingredient of this substance, talc, was to be the cause of her death only a few weeks later.

The story of the "blue velvet" addiction, as related in part by this same patient, was reported in 1964 by Dr. Puro to the International Academy of Pathology.

Narcotic addicts bought and boiled down paregoric. They then combined this drug with the crushed blue antihistamine tablet, and "blue velvet" resulted.

The paregoric itself is harmless when properly used, as is the tablet taken orally, but when the two are combined and injected into the veins by syringe, the insoluble talc crystals of the antihistamine eventually lodge in the lung tissue. Because the blood vessels of the lungs are very small, the crystals clog them.

Sometimes the crystals injure the lining of larger blood vessels also, and where the injury occurs a clot will form. The result in both cases is high blood pressure in the lungs, a condition that can threaten or bring about death.

Other states are now interested in the "blue velvet" addiction, and are also contemplating passage of a law like Michigan's.

Teachers, more so than other active citizens, must keep up with our rapidly changing world in order to do the complex job of educating youths to mesh into the problem-filled environment in which they will live, work, and play.

Livonia Teachers to Get Pre-School Orientation

In Livonia, as part of the preparation for the school year ahead, educational activities of many kinds have been held during the summer on nearby campuses and at institutions and workshops in suburbia.

Dr. Henry Heusner, director of elementary education, this week announced initial orientation programs to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 8 and 9 for mathematics and language arts teachers.

Elementary school pupils will return to school on Thursday, September 10.

"As changes in our society continue to mount at a fantastic rate and as educational research points to promising new ways to cope with the new or altered educational tasks at hand, the responsibility of teaching our children has grown increasingly complex," Dr. Heusner said. "We can no longer hope to 'do the job' with existing methods and materials."

As part of Livonia's policy to keep abreast of ways to improve the quality of our educational program, Heusner pointed out, the school staff has, for the past several years, been conducting intensive curricular studies in the areas of mathematics and language arts. These studies include:

1. Becoming completely informed about recent trends, research studies as well as evaluations from other school systems of methods, materials, and/or related ways of organization.

2. Planning and carrying out selected studies in the Livonia system.

3. Re-defining instructional goals and guidelines related to the discipline.

4. Evaluating current practices in Livonia against these goals.

5. Making recommendations for changes in methods, materials, and organizational patterns.

6. Making recommendations for in-service activities needed to implement these changes.

Heusner added that in-service activities are planned in two phases. First, to assure a good start, it is necessary to give all teachers an overview at the very beginning of the year. After this, follow-up activities will be spotted throughout the school year as needed.

"Because we believe parents are interested in knowing of changes and improvements in our teaching patterns and practices," Heusner said, "we hope to keep all communications media fully informed of new trends in teaching. Livonia has a national reputation for quality education and we want to keep it that way. The best is none too good for children living in this complex world and informed parents and a knowledgeable public will help keep our schools in a position where they offer youth the best that research and educational cooperation can bring."

Elesa Sales Soar Over $2 Million for Fourth Time in '65

For the fourth time this year monthly sales for the Elesa Realty Company exceeded $2,000,000.

Sales of improved real estate during July totaled $2,023,523, up slightly over July of last year when $1,983,629 was sold.

June, 1965, sales totaled $2,578,636, an all-time record in the 35-year history of the firm.

Spacious Facilities Make Track Finest in Nation

DRC Opens $3 Million Clubhouse Saturday

The grand opening of the Detroit Race Course's new $3 million clubhouse will be held Saturday, August 21. Special ceremonies will mark the opening of the clubhouse, which ranks among the finest sports facilities in the United States.

Dale Shaffer, President of the DRC, termed the expansion program a vote of confidence in the development and future of thoroughbred racing in Michigan.

"Racing in Michigan has made amazing strides in recent seasons," Shaffer said, "I am confident its growth will continue. With our new clubhouse and other expanded facilities we are providing our fans with the finest possible racing plant. It was designed with their comfort and convenience in mind."

The clubhouse has a dining terrace, "The Winner's Circle," which will accommodate 650 persons. This almost triples the previous terrace dining space.

In addition to the terrace, the clubhouse features a genuine old English tavern, Ye Tired Olde Horse. There are snack bars and beef buffets.

Mutual areas are on the ground and terrace levels. The top level will be used for special Club Parties.

In front of the clubhouse, there is a sloping ramp, dotted with benches, which will provide an ideal view of the racing strip for thousands of fans. The area provides a front-and-center view of the beautiful new walking ring and paddock.

Three huge mosaics, featuring the Etruscan horse motif, feature the interior decorations.

U-M Packs Strength At Tackle

ANN ARBOR — The tackles should be one of the stronger points on Michigan's line this fall, with All-American Bill Yearby heading the defensive group, and senior Tom Mack, on the offense.

Yearby gained All-American honors defensively last year but it is possible that his size and speed could rate him for some offensive duty as well. The 6-3, 222-pounder from Detroit is a senior, and played 269 minutes of football last season.

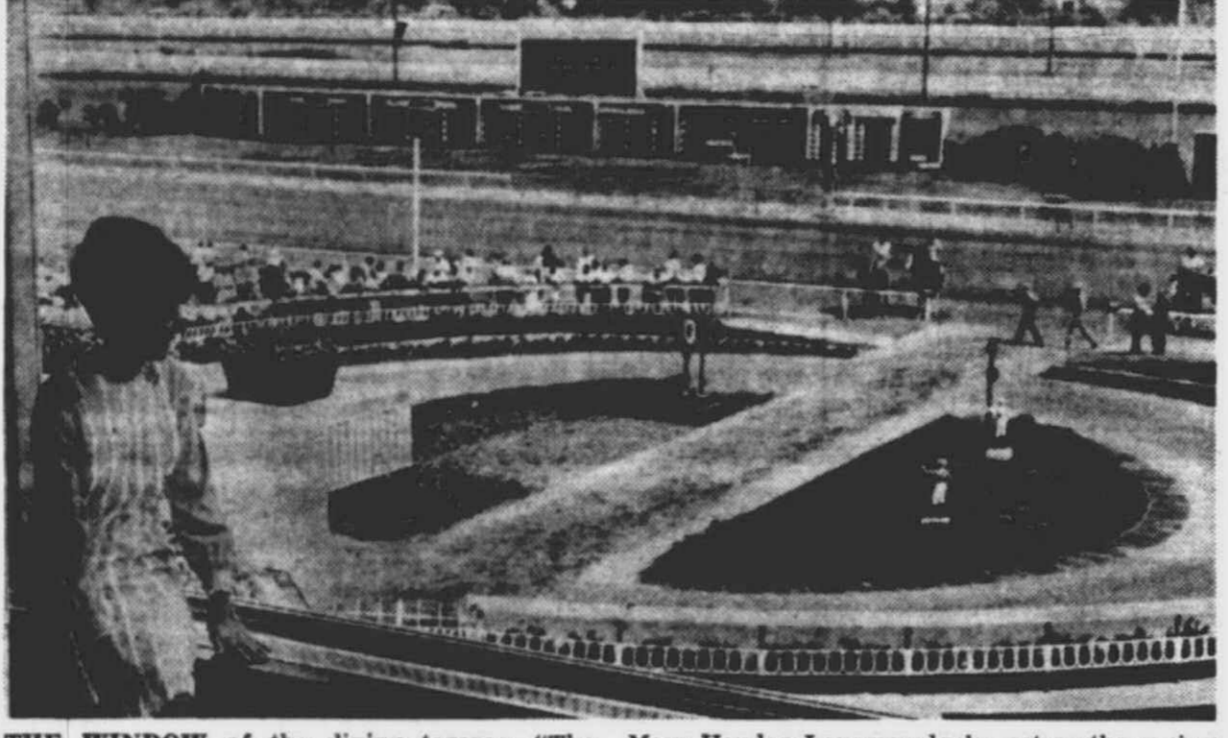

Mack, one of the fastest linemen on the squad, stands 6-3 and weighs 228. He played 270 minutes in ten games last fall. One of the hardest workers on the squad, he won the Morton Trophy as the group's most improved player in spring practice a year ago. He's the son of Ray Mack of Cleveland baseball fame a number of years back.

Two other senior lettermen figure in the tackle situation. Charlie Kines of Niles, O., probably will be at an offensive spot opposite Mack, while Chuck Ruzicka, who lettered two years ago, will see defensive duty.

A pair of Detroit juniors figure in the picture as well. They are Henry Cartwright, 6-3, 235, and Bill Hardy, 6-1, 220. Although neither is a letterman both have shown marked improvement.

Jim Hribal of Dearborn, 6-0, 220; Pete Mair, 6-4, 228, Allentown, Pa., and Ray O'Donnell, 6-1, 200, are other juniors in the picture. O'Donnell is the brother of Joe O'Donnell, former Wolverine captain.

Among newcomers are Dave Byers, 6-3, 235, from Warren; Dave Porter, 6-4, 222, also a former high school wrestling champion, and Ray Phillips, 6-3, 217, from Evanston, Ill., who looked particularly strong in spring drills.

THE WINDOW of the dining terrace, "The Winner's Circle," in the new $3,000,000 clubhouse at the Detroit Race Course serves as a frame for the beautiful walking ring. Pretty Mary Hayden Levesque looks out on the racing scene. The new DRC clubhouse will have its grand opening next Saturday (August 21).

N. Redford Wins State Then Falls in Regional

His team didn't win the regionals... but Manager Bob Atkins had to express pride over the showing of North Redford's Connie Mack (boys 16-18) baseball team.

Never before had an area team gone so far... marching through the districts and to the state crown before subsequently losing in the regionals at Marshall last Friday.

It took a 1-0 effort by host Marshall to knock out North Redford in a nine-inning duel after Marshall had beaten North Redford, 3-2, in the first game of the regionals and the Townshippers had downed Midland, 3-1, in the second tourney encounter.

The game with Midland actually served a dual purpose. The two teams had reached the state finals the previous week, but weren't able to play off the title game because of the weather.

It was agreed that they should meet in the regionals—the first such engagement would settle the state flag along with counting in the regionals.

Marshall pushed over one run in the first inning and two in the second to outlast North Redford in the regional opener.

Steve Evans, borrowed from Northville, was the victim of the Marshall uprisings. Errors, a double steal and wild pitch, along with two hits, figured in the run-making.

Rick Fisher and Dave Bourassa finished up for the Townshippers and didn't allow a run in the final five innings. A walk to Robby Masson, fielder's choice, triple by Harry Kendrick and single by Mike Stachurski brought in the two Redford runs in the sixth. The Townshippers loaded the bases before the inning was

Livonia Plays Host To Tourney

Livonia will play host this week to the men's state slo-pitch district tournament.

The scene of action will be Henry Ford Field on Farmington Road Friday and Saturday. Opening pairings will match Livonia against Garden City at 7 p.m. Friday with Dearborn Heights meeting Nankin at 9.

The winner of the meet will advance to the state slo-pitch championships at Roseville, Aug. 27-29.

Either Chevrolet Spring or Livonia Lanes will represent Livonia in the meet.

Chevrolet won the Livonia Class D unlimited league for players of any age while the Limited "D" crown went to the Livonia Lanes.

The teams were to meet in a best-of-three playoff this week to settle the overall flag.

Chub Krug has managed the Chevrolet team with Don Likewise, Owen Minch and John Worsley three of his stars.

Ray Mawhorter has served both as manager and star of the Lanes team which swept unbeaten through all 14 of its games in the Limited "D" action.

Area Teams Will Begin Playoffs

Joe D's No. 2 clinched first place in the Garden City Recreation Softball League by knocking off Santieu 10-4 in last week's league play.

The victory sends them to the State R.A.M. district playoffs which begin in Livonia on Aug. 21 where they will compete against the champions from Dearborn Heights, Nankin, and Livonia.

In other league action, second place Thunderbird Inn smashed Wolan-Caldwell 16-1 and third place McK's-Wyandotte won a pair of squeakers, beating Wolan-Caldwell 5-3 and edging Joe D's No. 1, 5-4 in 11 innings.

Playmates Lounge split a pair, beating fourth place Tri-Merchants and losing to seventh place Santieu 8-6.

The Tri-Merchants bounced back to take a 9-8 victory over last place G. C. Hospital.

The Hospital also lost to Joe D's No. 1 by a score of 12-5.

Attention, Preps!

If you're a high school football candidate, the time for practice is swiftly approaching.

Drills begin one week from Monday (Aug. 29). Many coaches of area teams already have put out an order to candidates when to report for physicals and to pick up uniforms.

If you haven't received the news, it's suggested that you contact your coach or one of his assistants as soon as possible. No prep can play high school football without first undergoing a physical exam.

Optimists Beaten in 'D' Playoffs

During regular-season action, the Plymouth Optimists took their bumps in Class D — Connie Mack baseball action.

However, it was a different story for Cliff Burpo's charges in the playoffs.

The team surged back to dominate in the American Division of the Greater Livonia League and then battled North Dearborn (National League kings) through three games before succumbing in the overall playoffs.

But, despite the reversal against North Dearborn, the Optimists still qualified to represent the area in the Inter-city playoffs which were to begin this week.

In the series against North Dearborn, this is the way the battle went:

1—North Dearborn squeezed to a 5-4 win in the opener.

2—The Optimists bounced back to take a 2-1 thriller in eight innings in the second fray.

3—The deciding contest went to North Dearborn by a 4-2 score.

Now for the details: The Optimists blew a great chance to jump off to a flying start in the series.

They cashed four runs in the initial inning of the series opener to take a 4-0 lead when John Adams singled, Jim Arnold homered, Mike Klinkhammer singled, John Bida was safe on an error, Dave Prochazka singled and Mike Lockwood delivered a run-scoring grounder.

Dearborn bounced back with three runs in the first and then went ahead, 5-4, in the third on a single, error and passed ball.

There after, North Dearborn couldn't do a thing against the Optimists.

Came the final inning, it looked like the Plymouth team would at least tie matters. The Optimists loaded the bases with one out.

Dennis Mashinsky was called from the bullpen by North Dearborn and proceeded to get the next two men on strikes to end the game.

Dave Nunez and Jim Robertson shared the pitching honors for the Optimists in their 2-1 victory that squared the series. The loser was Duane Pelez.

It took one extra inning to decide the contest.

In the eighth, Mike Lockwood and John Bida unloaded singl-

400 Children See Lathers Trip Rivals

Over 400 boys and girls invaded Garden City Park for the second annual Playground Day, Aug. 11, sponsored by the Garden City Parks and Recreation Department.

The morning's activities were topped off by a very exciting championship softball game between Lathers and Farmington. Lathers scored five runs in the top of the ninth, as they defeated Farmington 11-6.

At 12 o'clock, the boys and girls reported to their cook-out area and roasted hot dogs. The Recreation Department furnished the pop and watermelon as the boys and girls seemed to consume large quantities of food without any wasted movements.

After all had eaten heartily, a stage was set up at the pavilion for a talent show, which consisted of seven acts. The day was ended on a wet note as the children climbed into the outdoor pool for a swim.

OBSERVING SPORTS

By George Maskin

Exhibition sports attractions sometimes don't mean a great deal—from a spectator's standpoint.

Managers and coaches use such attractions to test their veterans, who seldom get to perform; to test rookies or for experimental purposes.

Chances are this will happen next Friday night when the Detroit Lions square off with the Baltimore Colts at Tiger Stadium in Harry Golmer's first home appearance since succeeding George Wilson as head man of the Lions.

But there'll be something special about Friday's encounter. Regardless of who wins on the field, there'll be BIGGER winners elsewhere — at Children's Hospital in Detroit.

Don't let me hear some wisecrack pop out: "We live in the suburbs . . . what do we care about a hospital in Detroit?"

But live where you will . . . and have yourself a sick kid in need of some special treatment. When you reach the doors of Children's Hospital they don't tell suburbanites: "Get away, you don't belong here."

Having spent the last few weeks helping out on the sports desk of the Detroit Free Press, we get the feeling from fellows like Lyall Smith, George Puscas and Jack Berry, who have been regulars at the Lions' Cranbrook camp, that the 1965 squad could prove an interesting one.

This item should especially excite Farmington's Bud Erickson who happens to be Assistant General Manager of the Lions and also the team's director of publicity.

We know from experience that it's much easier to bark about a winner — than a loser.

The Lions appear to have greater depth than in the past. They'll have a better running attack and this should make the opposition's defense more honest. Heretofore, foes haven't had to fear Detroit's runners a great deal.

The addition of Ron Kramer will help the defense — and maybe the offense—considerably. And, so it goes.

Baltimore hits town with Johnny Unitas and the other members of last year's Western Division champions.

Add the Lions, Baltimore and Children's Hospital together . . . it's for a night you won't want to miss.

And the night is this Friday . . . the place Tiger Stadium.

Spent an interesting hour or so the other evening with three of the American League's better umpires — John Stevens, Larry Napp and Frank Kinaman.

Stevens was laughing when it was said: "You can't beat the umpire's working hours — two or three at the most on the average day."

"Nonsense," retorted Stevens. "I'm always at the park when the home team starts batting practice. That's usually three hours away of the game."

"I sit there and watch where the balls go. In particular, I'm careful to note how the ball rebounds off the various fences. Making such mental notes can come in handy."

"That's how I knew that when we had a disputed call right out at Tiger Stadium on a ball hit by Joe Pepitone of the Yankees, I didn't hesitate in telling Kinaman that he was wrong when he said the ball didn't go over the right-field screen."

"From those mental notes I had kept, I knew that the way the ball came back on to the field, it had to have cleared the fence and been bounced back by a hand. Had the ball hit the fence, it would have jumped differently."

Stevens told us that many umpires — including some in the majors — loaf too much.

"You have to concentrate and stay alert every second you're working. And that goes whether you're behind the plate or on the bases. You never know when something will happen. If you're asleep, you're heading for deep trouble."

From talking to umpires, we slipped into the Book Casino of the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel for lunch with one of the state's most successful high school basketball coaches.

The conversation got around to prep football and how many schoolboy coaches were getting around the rule which says they can't practice until Aug. 29 in the lower peninsula.

"It's a bad rule in many respects," our friend said. "Why I'll bet that right now just about every high school coach in the state is working out some or all members of his team. Otherwise, they never could get ready for the season."

"Imagine, we try to tell the kids to follow rules, but coaches are laughing at the rules. How in the world can you teach kids the right way when you deliberately tell them to do something wrong?"

The coach then talked about basketball. "More and more high school summer basketball leagues have popped up in Michigan. There are special camps for prep cagers and swimmers, etc."

"I fear that something is going to happen one of these days whereby the State Association will put a halt to any summer sports activity. This wouldn't be right, but we coaches can hear our football buddies screaming."

"They insist on the same breaks for their teams as we get in basketball and swimming."

"These guys have a point, too. Believe me, I am all in their favor. Why should anybody say that kids can't do this or do that during the summer when they are not in school and itching to do something in the way of wholesome sports; something concrete."

On the subject of football, our two teams are starting assembling next week for physicals and drawing equipment.

There'll be no time to waste once they spring into drills a week from Monday.

Yep, the summer has gone.

Franklin Hurler Still Winning

Ken Bratherton continues to dazzle the baseball opposition. The sensational pitching star of Franklin High's championship team the past two years, Bratherton now is the standout on another kinglypin — Detroit Favro.

Thanks to Bratherton's mound success, Favro last week won the Detroit Division of the Detroit Press Baseball competition and starting Thursday will go after national honors in the American Amateur Boys tournament at Johnston, Pa.

N. Redford

Redford clicked quickly for two runs in the first inning when Robby Masson was safe on an error. Kendrick tripled and scored on a wild pitch.

Midland put together a single and double for its only run in the third. North Redford got that one back when George Little and Kendrick walked and Stachurski delivered a single.

Berryman picked up five strikeouts in the game. In ability to capitalize on scoring chance after scoring chance proved costly to North Redford in the second Marshall battle.

Three times North Redford loaded the bases. But nothing happened.

The Townshipers left eight batters stranded in the last three innings.

Fisher hurled until one was out in the seventh. He scattered four hits. Evans worked one inning and Bourassa the next 1 2/3 frames.

A single, error and squeeze bunt, the latter off Berryman, produced the game's only run.

Kendrick was hailed as the top player in the regionals. He poked out 11 hits in 25 times at bat, including a double and two triples.

He picked up six assists in three games—a rare feat for a catcher. He picked one runner off second, another off first.

In addition, he came within a couple feet of tying the game in the bottom of the ninth. He drove a long blast—just foul—over the left field fence.

was the only other Township hit in the game.

Against Midland, five-hit pitching by Dick Berryman over, but couldn't push across another run. Masson's single

Elks Outduel Nankin to Reign as Class E Baseball Champs

It's on to the districts this week for the Livonia Elks after taking the Livonia Class E (boys 14-15) baseball playoffs.

The Elks took their best of three series from the Nankin Jaycees by romping in the final contest, 14-5.

In the previous two encounters, the Elks had taken the opener, 8-3, but succumbed to Nankin in the second tilt, 3-2.

An eight-run uprising in the first inning settled matters in a hurry in the final game.

Dave Storm opened the big assault for the Elks with a triple. Then Bill Hellstein singled him across.

After Larry Draughn walked, Dave Fisher delivered a sacrifice. Craig Greg singled and Mark Dommer and Dave Tovey followed by drawing walks.

Larry Prenis also walked. Then Storm, up for the second time, singled. Hellstein also came through with his second hit of the inning—another single. Draughn singled and Fisher knocked in the final tally with an infield out.

In all, during the game, the Elks blasted out 20 hits. Storm was the big gun with a triple and two singles.

Dave Paden fashioned his second victory of the season as he held Nankin to only five hits. He never was in serious trouble after his mates handed him an 8-0 lead in the initial inning.

Paden had posted an eight-hitter in the first game of the series.

Hellstein and Daryl Goll provided the big power of the Elks. Goll had three singles and Hellstein a double and single.

The game was decided in the final inning when Vern Westlund lashed a triple and came home on a single by Patterson.

A victory for the Elks in this week's regionals would send them to Jackson for the state Class E tournament which starts Thursday.

Cardinals Best Lions to Cop Class 'F' Flag

Thanks to the strong arm of Robert Sievert the Cardinals rule as Livonia's Class F (boys 11-13) baseball champs for 1965.

The Cards won a best-of-three series from the Lions by gaining a 3-2 decision in the final game after the Cards had taken the opener, 8-3, only to lose to the Lions in the middle contest, 8-0.

Sievert was the work horse all season for the Cardinals. Overall the team had a record of 17 wins and two defeats.

Sievert fashioned 10 of the triumphs, while losing only once.

Bob Hood turned in the five wins for the Cards while Roland Eveleth copped the other two.

In the deciding game, Sievert struck out 13 batters and allowed three hits. He didn't walk a man.

Matt Stachurski led the winners with a double and two singles while Chris Larsen had two singles and Randy Foreman a double.

The losing pitcher was Dave Rice, who in the previous encounter turned in a spectacular shutout against the Cardinals.

Sievert and Hood had shared the pitching in the 7-3 victory which started the Cards off in high gear.

When we fully understand our relation to the Divine, we can have no other Mind but His—no other love, wisdom, or Truth, no other sense of Life, and no consciousness of the existence of matter or error" (pp. 82, 205).

The delegates adopted major proposals for the expansion of the mission and educational program.

Stress Importance Of Bathroom Safety

Don't slip up on bathroom safety, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Injury of at least two prominent Americans recently in bathroom falls reminded us once again of the potential hazards. Former President Harry S. Truman broke two ribs and sustained cuts on the face when he slipped and fell in the bathtub of his home.

Astronaut John Glenn was incapacitated for months after he was injured from slipping on a scatter rug in his home bathroom.

Today's Health offers some pointers on bathroom safety—

- Use suction-type bath mats or non-slip strips in tubs and shower stalls.
- Install wall-mounted grab bars or hand rails near showers and tubs.
- Use skid-proof mats on the bathroom floor. Avoid accident-dealing scatter rugs.
- Fasten shower curtain rod securely. You likely will grab for the curtain if you slip.
- Teach your children to turn on the cold water tap first, then adjust the hot water to proper temperature. This will help avoid scalds.

- Electricity sometimes causes fatal bathroom shocks, because water is an excellent conductor. Never touch an electrical fixture with damp hands or while sitting or standing in water. Keep all electrical fixtures out of reach of the tub.
- Keep a special container for discharged razor blades. Never drop them in the waste basket.
- Use plastic glasses and containers in the bathroom as much as possible. Slivers of broken glass can slash bare feet.
- Locks on doors can trap young children. Be sure your bathroom door can be opened from the outside in an emergency.
- Plastic or safety glass in shower stall doors may prevent cuts should you slip and fall against the door.
- Store medicines and chemicals safely beyond the reach of children.

Shade Trees Fading Out In Cities

The giant shade trees which arch Michigan's city streets and walks will be "a thing of the past"—replaced by shade of lesser stature—within a few generations, a national shade authority said at Michigan State University.

"Today's towering shade trees were planted under conditions favorable for their growth," said John Michalko, Cleveland Commissioner of Trees.

"We no longer plan for trees to live 50, 60, or 100 years," he continued. "If we get 25 to 30 years growth from them we feel satisfied."

Even in Cleveland, which was once known as "The Forest City" and which spends half a million dollars a year on street shade, lack of space, obstructions such as concrete and utilities above and below the ground, the reflected heat of pavement, plus damage, soot and gas from automobiles, as well as disease and insects, are greatly reducing the life-span of trees, he said.

Providing shade for city streets is a never-ending job. It requires a fulltime department staffed by skilled employees. Cleveland removes more than 4,000 old or undesirable trees each year, replaces some 4,000 of them, he explained.

The city has tested more than 100 species of trees to find those best suited for specific conditions and needs.

"Trees are a community's greatest asset," Michalko declared. "Cities are known by their trees."

Life and growth of city shade trees, he said, can be increased through the selection of proper trees and by "building-up" growing conditions within the city's confines.

Control of Raspberry Borer Is Prevention

Adult beetles of the raspberry cane borer appear in early June and feed on the tips of raspberry canes.

The female, after mating, makes two rows of punctures around canes about six inches from the tip of the new canes.

She then lays a single egg near the lower row of punctures. Thus girdled, the tip begins to wilt. The egg hatches in early July and the young larva burrow toward the base of the cane and over winter.

The second year, the larva burrows through the cane and kills it before the fruit matures.

The larva spends the second winter in the base of the cane near the crown.

Control measures are primarily preventative. These measures consist of:

- Cutting off infected tips several inches below the girdled portion soon after the wilting symptoms are noticed.
- Removing and destroying all infected canes.
- Eradicating wild brambles near the raspberry planting.
- Spraying with insecticides.

On the lawn WITH LARRY LAWRENCE

I notice that when I recommend putting fertilizer on a lawn in midsummer, older people are often incredulous. They can remember the strong taboo against any such practice, based on the violent nature of those early chemicals.

Younger people never knew them and are quite used to present day fertilizers such as Turf Builder, which can be safely used any day of the year.

Feeding a tired looking lawn in mid-summer is the way to help it green up again. If you can give it a good soaking too, so much the better. But you don't have to. The very first rain, even a heavy dew, will trigger the feeding process and the grass will begin to respond immediately.

Personally I favor making the application early in the day or in the evening. But that's not because it's easier on the lawn. It's because it's cooler on the operator. And that's me.

Plants have been used for living fences as far back as 3,000 B.C., when they were used by the Egyptians, and perhaps earlier.

Today they have many more uses, as population has grown. Evergreens make a year-round screen. They can be tall or short as desired.

Tall evergreen fences may be used to cut off cold winds. They may be planted in such a way to "trap" the sun, making an area warmer during cool spring or fall days; or, in semi-tropical areas they can shut off the sun in the late afternoon.

It all depends on where they are located.

Flowering fences of deciduous plants, such as Roses, Forsythia, Lilacs, Hibiscus, Oleander, or evergreen Camellias, Azaleas and many others provide beautiful dividing lines between properties, and are admired as much by one's neighbor as by oneself.

Taxus, or Yew, Podocarpus make excellent fences. Taxus is the deepest green of all evergreens and it will keep its color all year. Ilex also makes a fine fence. There are many others.

For a barrier fence, Barberry, Buckthorn, Holly, Roses will serve. Check with nurserymen to find a fence which serves your purpose best.

Plant fences are much lower in cost than metal fencing or wood.

If care is used to select the plant which, at maturity, will be at the height you desire, you'll be better pleased.

Plant fences require no painting. Some, like Barberry, or Taxus, require almost no maintenance whatever.

New Panel Eases Work In Building

An unusual, all-purpose panel for exterior uses is offered by lumber and building supply dealers east of the Rockies.

Chief advantages are its factory-applied paint prime-coat, stability under any weather conditions, low cost and versatility, according to the manufacturer, Masonite Corporation. The knifed board won't split, crack or splinter.

The quarter-inch-thick panels, called Weatherall, are available in sizes from 4'x8' to 4'x12'. They are used in remodeling and new construction.

Aside from buildings, the panels have many uses around the home—for fences, signs and outdoor structure such as garden houses, playhouses, tool sheds and farm buildings. Another application is exterior soffits.

As an example of the cost, a solid panel fence 28 feet long and four feet high costs under $25, plus lumber and nails. The same amount of paneling would side a child's playhouse four feet high, six feet wide and eight feet long.

"A big advantage offered by this exterior hardboard is its baked-in primer, which is a light gray," says John Concord, Masonite's home improvement consultant. "Craftsmen will find painting much easier and their work much smoother over a factory-applied primer."

Proper License Is A Must For Spray Applier

Make sure the person you hire to apply pesticides on your property is licensed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division to do this work.

The person licensed to do this type of work for hire has established to the Division's satisfaction his qualifications to perform this type of service. Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre says pesticides improperly applied can fail to give satisfaction, can be unduly costly, and may even prove harmful.

In the state there are many holders of licenses entitling them to apply economic poisons for hire.

Persons who hold these licenses have proven their qualifications to the satisfaction of the Department's Plant Industry Division. These qualifications include their knowledge of types of pesticides and the recommended strengths at which they should be applied.

Other knowledge required includes precautionary measures that should be taken, the timeliness of applying pesticides, and the need for adequate and complete coverage in order to achieve the effects desired.

Persons needing this service are perfectly within their rights in asking a prospective applicator to show his credentials that he is licensed to perform this type of service for hire.

A Poison To Kill Crabgrass?

The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station reports an unusual effect from one material used to kill nematodes, those microscopic worms that attack plant roots.

Experimenters found that the material promotes the germination of crabgrass seed.

They said "presumably this material may make crabgrass killers more effective by causing a higher than normal percentage of dormant seeds to sprout and be killed. Or it might be used to grow a more dense stand of crabgrass."

So application could mean more — or less — crabgrass.

Best Roses Marketed in Autumn

You won't be able to get them before fall, but if you fancy the newest of the fine roses you can be thinking about the 1966 All-America Rose Selections recently announced.

Here they are, after two years of intensive tests in 23 official trial gardens across the nation:

Matterhorn, a tall, vigorous, hybrid white tea.

American Heritage, ivory-yellow hybrid tea, with tall growth.

Apricot Nectar, an apricot-color, fragrant floribunda.

Matterhorn is the first white hybrid tea to win the honor in six years. It has five-inch blooms on long stems.

American Heritage ranges from ivory-yellow buds to long-stemmed, pale-candy-yellow blooms with scarlet tints at maturity.

Apricot Nectar is a direct descendant of the lovely Spartan.

It is free-flowering and has an old rose fragrance. The plant is about three feet tall and bushy.

The judges, faced with a tough decision, selected all three roses for the awards.

An important consideration is foliage, which in Matterhorn is bright green, in Apricot Nectar a striking dark green, and in American Heritage a two-tone bronze-green.

Hybridist E. S. Boerner of Jackson & Perkins, who developed Apricot Nectar, deserves special mention.

It is his 11th AAS success—the 18 J&P roses to win this coveted honor since 1940. Nine of Boerner's winners have been floribundas.

Uneven Water Supply Causes Tomato Rot

That scourge of tomatoes, called blossom end rot, is not a plant disease. It is caused by an uneven water supply to the fruits.

To avoid the trouble with your tomatoes, water the plants deeply once a week if weather is dry, and mulch over the ground with any convenient material, like dried grass clippings, an inch deep immediately after watering.

This mulch or covering will help keep the soil more evenly moist during the time between soakings.

Try Pegboard Strips in Garage

Foot-wide strips of Masonite Peg-Board serve well for garden tool and miscellaneous implement storage in a garage. Simply mount the strips at approximately eye-level so that the handles will clear the floor.

They may be attached directly to wall studs or to furring strips on a solid wall so that the Peg-Board fixtures will have clearance.

Primed and painted, the strips will improve the appearance of the garage. A factory-finished Patterned Peg-Board also is available.

Where extensive storage is required, full-size 4x8-foot Peg-Board panels are recommended. A complete line of heavy-duty fixtures is available.

'Observer' Entertainment Editor 'Does' N.Y.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Observer staff member Sue Shaughnessy spent last week in New York. The following are her impressions of three Broadway shows she saw.

By SUE SHAUGHNESSY

NEW YORK, N.Y. — "Notice the blend of a musical, comedy and serious drama for your pleasure," commented my N.Y. ticket agent (a friend) when she sent me the tickets.

It was a blend all right — "Funny Girl," "The Owl and the Pussycat," and "The Glass Menagerie."

Let's take the latter first—because I think it was the best. Tennessee Williams' 20-year-old drama has lost nothing in the aging process. It is still one of the classics of modern American theatre and very much unlike some of Williams' more violent later works.

The story revolves around a family consisting of Amanda, the mother; her son, Tom; and her daughter, Laura. The fourth character is a gentleman caller, Jim, who appears in the final scenes.

Jo Van Fleet appears as the mother, while George Grizzard is the son and Pat Hingle, the gentleman caller. Piper Laurie appears as the daughter.

The best performance is turned in by George Grizzard, while Piper Laurie turns in the worst. Miss Laurie seems to be pining for her ingenuite days and the portrayal suffers.

"Owl and the Pussycat" is a very, very funny evening of theatre. It could, also in the right circumstances, be deadly. The cast has only two characters—F. Sherman played by Alan Alda and Doris W. (Diana Sands).

They are unequivocally speaking — great! The play borders on bad taste quite frequently, but the ability and artistry of the actors keeps the evening from falling over that cliff.

The author's hands should be slapped, however. The play is long—better than two and a half hours. A great deal could be cut from both the first and the third acts (which are simply one long scene each) to bring the length down.

While this production is excellent, and the play easy to put on—two characters, one set—it is not anything for the unwary. Many many pitfalls exist in the play itself and more could arise through interpretation of the characters.

It is a tribute to the talent and hard work of Miss Sands and Mr. Alba that they are avoided in this production.

The last play—the first one I saw—is "Funny Girl" starring Barbara Streisand. What more can I say.

It is no "Hello Dolly" by any means. It's slightly better than "110 in the Shade."

Johnny Desmond is currently in the cast as Nick Arnstein and the story of Fanny Brice's life with the gambler is passable and people who are or were fans of Miss Brice will enjoy the evening.

"Funny Girl" is a rather typical musical and has all the good and bad points of the contemporary musical.

Maybe it can best be summed up by saying that while I didn't feel that the evening was an absolute waste of money I certainly wouldn't want to see it again.

Put Greenfield Village On Summer List—Others Do

Daily attendance records continue to be set at this world famous 260-acre museum of Americana, with its nearly 100 historic homes, shops and other buildings, as well as the massive 14-acre Henry Ford Museum.

A record total of 13,941 admissions were counted on Tuesday, August 10, at the Village and Museum. The year's first non-special event attendance mark was set on Sunday, July 18, when 12,258 visitors were recorded. That figure has been topped on three dates since.

In 1964, a total of 1,300,000 admissions were recorded by the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. Year-to-date admissions through the first week of August are 101,358 ahead of the comparable period a year ago.

Bambole, Adult Fare At La Parisien

by SHEILA A. GALLAGHER

If you like sexy adult movies Boccaccio style and wonder what four carefree directors with a stable of breathtaking gals can do with a modernized version of the Tales of the Decameron, then "Bambole" at La Parisien is your kind of mid-summer movie.

when you first discovered that 14th century raconteur, Giovanni Boccaccio, hidden back in the stacks of some private or university library.

At times, pedestrian in pace, as were the classic Boccaccio stories, the four segments of the film which opened at the comfortable La Parisien gets most of its glamorous impact from the international stars who gambol through it in various stages of undress.

The ladies are Gina Lollobrigida, Elke Sommer, Virna Lisi, and Monica Vitti and the men they carry on with, to the complete delight of "Bambole" audiences, include Nino Manfredi, Jean Serel and Akim Tamiroff.

"Bambole", It should be told, consists of four separate stories from Boccaccio's classic "Tales of the Decameron," all brought up-to-date but still possessing their original frank and delightful ribaldry.

Fourth of the segments that comprise "Bambole" is the one that has captured international attention for its satiric imitation of the silent screen's sexier stars. This is the one in which Miss Lollobrigida, who needs no exaggeration of her piquant appeal, plays a hotel owner in Rome considerably miffed when one of her handsome guests ignores her charms. Spitefully, she tells the man's uncle, a Monsignor, that the nephew is making both eyes and passes at her and "Monsignor" something of a disciplinarian, does something about it. The nephew is Jean Sorel; the Monsignor, Akim Tamiroff.

Virna Lisi plays a bride in "The Telephone". She is newly-wed to Nino Manfredi and that eager bridegroom one warm Sunday afternoon, is especially attracted by his blonde wife in her filmy garments. A long distance telephone call from her mother—a conversation which goes on, and on—finally drives the impatient bridegroom out of their apartment altogether; he winds up with a sun bathing neighbor, who has a reputation for "friendliness", and his still-talking young wife doesn't know he is gone.

Elke Sommer plays a bouncy role as a Swedish girl in Rome earnestly seeking the perfect male, one who will father the ideal son she is prepared to give to the world. Her experiment in eugenics involves a series of tests for virility, physical prowess and mental superiority, but her single-minded search for perfection bogs down when she runs into romance.

Third segment of "Bambole" stars Monica Vitti as a young woman who wants to rid herself of the elderly insensitive, soup-slurping boor to whom she is wed, and she even hires a cutthroat to do away with him, but Monica's plans go awry and she is condemned to a life of listening to soup being slurped.

"Bambole" is an adult summer film. One which can be enjoyed in a comfortable, air-conditioned theatre. That is, of course, if you're an adult who has fond memories of those high school or college days

DEATH COMES TO RICHARD III as the Minnesota Theater Company's production of Shakespeare's "Richard III" sweeps to an exciting, bloody finish. Lee Richardson as the dagger-wielding Richmond and Hume Cronyn as Richard III provide a host of thrills as they fight furiously in one of the most memorable scenes at the Tyrone Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis. Five classic plays are being done in repertory at this Midwest home of quality drama. Season continues until November 20. Booklets containing exact schedules of plays can be obtained by writing to Bradley Morisson, Director of Public Relations, Tyrone Guthrie Theater, Minneapolis, Minn., 55403. Wally Roberts reports on his annual visit to this Midwest home of fine theater in his column.

U. of D. Repertoire Opens Town and Gown

The Stan Kenton concert Sunday Aug. 29 at the University of Detroit is an extra added attraction in this year's U. of D. "Town and Gown" celebrity series.

Kenton will present "A New Era in Modern American Music" at 8:30 that evening in the new auditorium in the U. of D. Memorial Building.

The "Town and Gown" name is derived from past years at Oxford University when the people of the town did not get along with the gown students from the University.

In those days the term was derogatory. The U. of D. series aims at bringing together the people of Detroit and the U. of D. students. Eight more concerts are planned for this season.

This marks the first appearance by Kenton in this area in a number of years. Featured with the orchestra is vocalist Jean Turner. A number of new original Kenton compositions are to be included in the evening's repertoire.

For ticket information call 342-1000.

Several summer stock theatres in different parts of the country have invited her to join them in their next year's productions.

"Enter Laughing" Now at Northland

Menasha Skulnik, venerable stage star who has been making audiences laugh and cry for some 50 years, is heading the cast of "Enter Laughing," comedy hit which had Broadwayites roaring for over a year, which opened at Northland Playhouse on Tuesday, Aug. 17.

Based on an autobiographical novel by Carl Reiner who, after a ludicrous start, did become a successful actor, producer and writer for TV, "Enter Laughing" was written by Joseph Stein, co-author of "Take Me Along," "Plain and Fancy" and other musical comedy hits.

As the irascible employer of a stage-struck teenager, Skulnik returns to Northland where he last appeared in "Come Blow Your Horn" in 1963. Martin Huston will have the role of the lad who gets caught up in one farcical deception after another as he tries to hide from his employer and his anxious parents the double life he leads while he works as a messenger by day and acts in a seedy pass-the-hat theatrical troupe by night. The stage-smitten youth's simultaneous involvement with three girls provide still more sources of merriment.

"Enter Laughing" will run through Sunday, August 22, and will be followed by the Broadway musical comedy hit "Camelot," starring Patricia Morison, opening on Tuesday, August 24.

Meanwhile, the Northland Children's Musical Theatre will present its final production of the season, "The Elves and the Shoemaker," with performances at 2 p.m. on Saturday, August 21, and at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday, August 28.

Free refreshments will be available for senior citizens on Old Timers' Day at the Michigan State Fair, Monday, August 30. The fair opens Friday, August 27, and closes Monday, September 6.

Wally Roberts GOING UP 'CURTAIN

A quick ride to Metro Airport and before you can fasten your safety belt, the huge metal bird in which you have strapped yourself is almost half-way to Minneapolis, Minnesota—home of the Tyrone Guthrie Theater. Total flying time for this space adventure is a meager hour and 20 minutes.

The non-stop flight to this air-conditioned city with its eight lakes and 5,000 acres of parkland is the best way presently to Minneapolis. The expressway situation is still badly muddled. By 1967, you should be able to drive to the "city of lakes" in a matter of nine hours.

Why take so much time to talk about a town so remote from the smoke-stacks of our fair Detroit area? Minneapolis is the home of a theater founded on imagination, nerve, enthusiasm, and the desire to present the best of our classic plays. The Tyrone Guthrie Theater became a reality on May 7, 1963.

The Minnesota Theater Company is now in its third season. Their past two seasons contained some brilliant productions. Nothing however, can top the success and critical praise of the 1965 season.

When theatrical companies perform plays in repertory (a different play each performance), it is most unusual when the entire bill is consistently successful. Often times two out of the three plays will be hits. Or if you do four plays you might have three of the plays outstanding. The Minnesota company is doing five plays ("The Miser," "Richard III," "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," "Way of the World," and "Cherry Orchard") and each of them have scored "bullseyes" artistically and financially.

"Richard III" was old Wally's favorite. In past years I've seen possibly five or six productions of this Shakespearean classic. Minnesota's "Richard III," under the sure, confident direction of Sir Tyrone Guthrie, emerges a superb production. From Richard's opening remarks... "This is the winter of our discontent..." to his final battlefield cry of anguish... "A horse... my kingdom for a horse..." this exciting production rivets your attention. And not the slightest bit of information about English history is necessary to enjoy this play.

Shakespeare in "Richard III" provides valuable insight into the nature of evil. Richard is the epitome of the evil mind at work to gain power and prestige. His withered arm, mis-shapen back, and uneven length of his legs provides physical basis for his anger at the world. The Minnesota production added a new dimension to the usual Machiavellian portrayal: Richard treated his physical disabilities lightly, even at times with a comic glint in his eyes. Finding humor in so bloody a play as "Richard III" is not easy. The levity was not distracting; it gave new power to the somber moments.

Historically, "Richard III" records the ending of the long English civil war between the Houses of York and Lancaster. The War of Roses lasted 30 years in England. Far more bitter and savage than our small scale version of the North versus the South in the Mason-Dixie struggle.

The battle scenes that bring this classic drama to a rip-roaring ending are staged realistically by Mr. Guthrie. Folks sitting next to us in the third row arched back protectively in their seats. They felt every blow. As the swords rang and clattered many an audience member felt the empathic stab as soldiers died quite naturally on the Tyrone Guthrie stage.

At the Guthrie Theater you are exceptionally close to the action. The Minnesota stage is even more intimate than the Stratford, Ontario stage. The Minnesota stage thrusts out into the audience a great deal more. Their upstage area is more flexible. In fact, though this may seem heretical, old Wally feels the Guthrie theater is a better, more effective home for classic dramas of all eras.

Hume Cronyn dominates this production of "Richard III." His twisting and turning never became excessive. Most actors in this choice role have a tendency to over-do the role. Mr. Cronyn varied this interpretation, watched the rhythm of the scene, and kept the vocal balance between himself and the other actors so effective that the play moved magnificently. Dr. Guthrie's violent pace had each scene literally tumbling one upon the other which made this "Richard III" a rewarding experience. Even though the story line is simple in this bloodthirsty tale you still must keep the action moving. Dr. Guthrie always does this effortlessly.

Not everyone can fly to Minneapolis to see this production that truly is a theatrical event. Thus, old Wally proposes that a wise Broadway producer schedules a limited tour and a short New York city engagement for "Richard III" during December and January.

The Minnesota Theater Company is in operation until November 20. If you are taking a late fall trip to the upper Midwest city of Minneapolis, don't forget "Richard III" or any of the other four "smash" repertory productions at the Tyrone Guthrie Theater.

THE BILLBOARD
Fisher Theater—"PICKWICK" More detailed review next week. Harry Secombe is wonderful. Good show and should make Dave Merrick richer. Will play for two more weeks.

Champ Beats 5 Contenders

Al Falkiewicz repeated his first place finish with an unblemished 5-0 record in the annual Garden City Horseshoe Tournament.

Bill Fletcher also regained the runner-up trophy with a 4-1 record, his only loss going to Falkiewicz in a tight match.

Other finalists who qualified for Sunday's six-man round robin were: Archie Rodgers, Elmer Brown, Bill Montgomery and Ron Brown.

A few daring spectators braved the 90-degree heat and saw a very exciting finish as Falkiewicz defeated former champion Bill Montgomery in his final round to clinch the title.

At the Terrace Theatre extra added attraction Debbie Reynolds and Harve Presnell head the cast of M.G.M.'s, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" screen version of the smash Broadway hit musical. Also held over is "Code Name Operation Crossbow" with Sophia Loren and George Peppard. Don't fail to see these two great hits at the Terrace, both are in Panavision and color.

101ST TO VIET—Members of the 101st Airborne Division troop to planes at Fort Campbell, Ky., to embark for South Viet Nam. Thousands of the division already are there.

DEATH SPOT—A policeman and bystanders look at the spot in Americus, Ga., where 19-year-old Andy Whatley (inset) was shot to death during civil rights activity in the town.

VIET NAM BUILDUP—At Fort Benning, Ga., members of Company D, 1st Battalion (airborne), 12th Cavalry Regiment of the 1st Cavalry Division pack their 105mm recoilless rifles for departure to South Viet Nam. And at the U.S. Army Depot in Atlanta, Ga., workmen stencil big crates for shipment of equipment for the 1st Cavalry. This activity follows President Johnson's announcement of more U.S. forces in South Viet Nam.

ESCAPED CASTRO PRISON—Luis Casas Martinez, ex-governor of Cuba's Camaguey Province, is helped by his sobbing sister Graciela in Miami, Fla., where he arrived after escaping a Castro prison camp. He drifted on a small raft for 12 days before a sloop picked him up.

HIROSHIMA—This is a wax dummy of a victim of the atomic bomb, on display in the atomic bomb exhibition hall in Hiroshima, Japan. He was a school boy, caught in the open when the bomb detonated. Disfigurement is result of heat and radiation. The dummy was made on basis of photos taken before the boy died after that fateful Aug. 6, 1945.

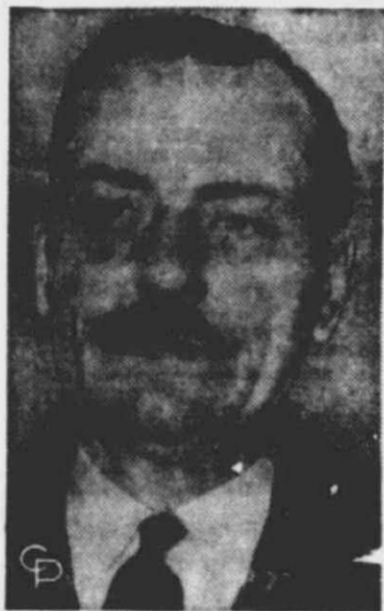

GETS 120 DAYS—Mario Savio, 22, the we-don't-like-anything free speech leader on the University of California campus, and wife Suzanne, 26, walk into court in Berkeley, where he was handed a 120-day sentence for trespassing and resisting arrest over a sit-in demonstration. She got 45 days.

Hiroshima today is a thriving city, with little left to remind of grisly day 20 years ago.

THE NEW TRIMLINE PHONE—The Bell System is introducing this new telephone, called the Trimline, over the nation. The dial, dial tone button, receiver and transmitter are all in the caller's hand. A touch of the dial tone button next to the dial recalls the dial tone between calls so the user doesn't have to reach for the base to hang up to get a dial tone. The dial is three-fourths of an inch smaller than current dials.

Enoch Powell

A THREE-WAY fight is on for leadership of the Conservative Party in Britain among Edward Heath, 49, the party's economics spokesman; Reginald Maudling, 48, former chancellor of the exchequer; Enoch Powell, 53, former health minister.

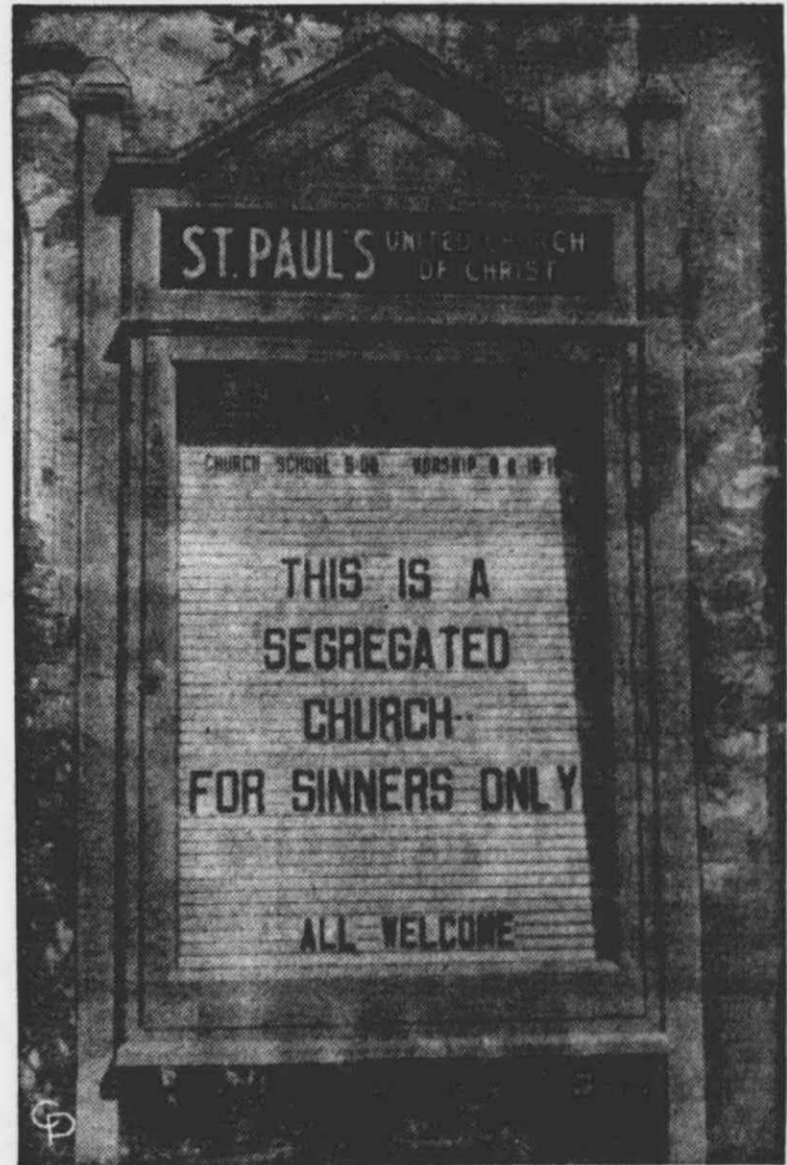

STRIPPED OF TITLE—Gloria Jon, "Miss New York State" of 1965 and first Negro to win the honor, charges in New York that she was stripped of her title because she is a Negro. Ted Marshall, director of the New York State Beauty Pageant, said the 22-year-old former Chicago Playboy Club bunny had been relieved of her title because of "an unwillingness or inability to fulfill the obligations of the title." He said the title will remain vacant until the 1966 "Miss U.S.A." Pageant.

FULL SUPPORT of President Johnson's views on the South Viet Nam situation are expressed by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois as he sits in a familiar spot atop his desk in Washington.

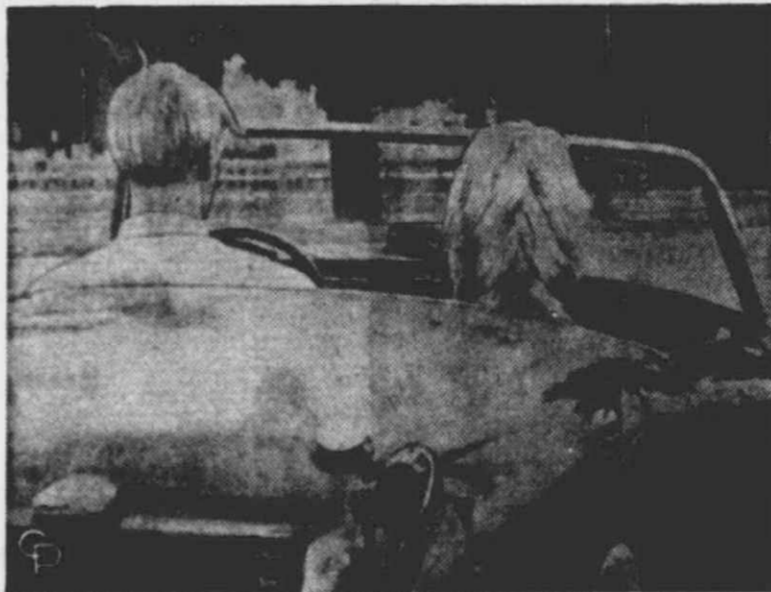

ACTOR HELD IN BRAWL—Ramon Ortiz, 22, actor who appeared with Burt Lancaster in the film, "The Young Savages," is shown at police headquarters in New York after he and a teen-aged companion were arrested for alleged participation in an East Harlem street brawl. One teenager was killed and four others injured in the fighting.

INCLUDES ABOUT EVERYBODY—The Rev. Allen Marheine's church in Piqua, Ohio, got a lot of attention with this sign.

A DRESS, REALLY—High on the what-won't-they-think-of-next fashion list in New York is this Jacques Tiffau creation, a turtleneck dress with a matching goggle-like band across the face. The eye-catcher of it is that heart-shaped cut-out. It goes right to the skin.

"Who was that lady I seen you with?" Answer, look below.

"That wasn't no lady, that was my dog," says John Maier in La Crosse, Wis. Well, he didn't really say that—his grammar is not as bad as that ancient vanderbilt joke. The dog is a 3-year-old Afghan hound named Bolder's Dhi-Mond. John calls him Bean, and Bean is not wearing a wig, either.

IT'S UP TO HANOI—Holding a news conference in Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the United States wants to know just what the Communists would do in return if the U.S. halted air attacks on North Viet Nam. "Nobody has even hinted" at whether Hanoi would pull its 325th Division out of South Viet Nam and call off the guerrillas if the U.S. attacks ceased, he said.

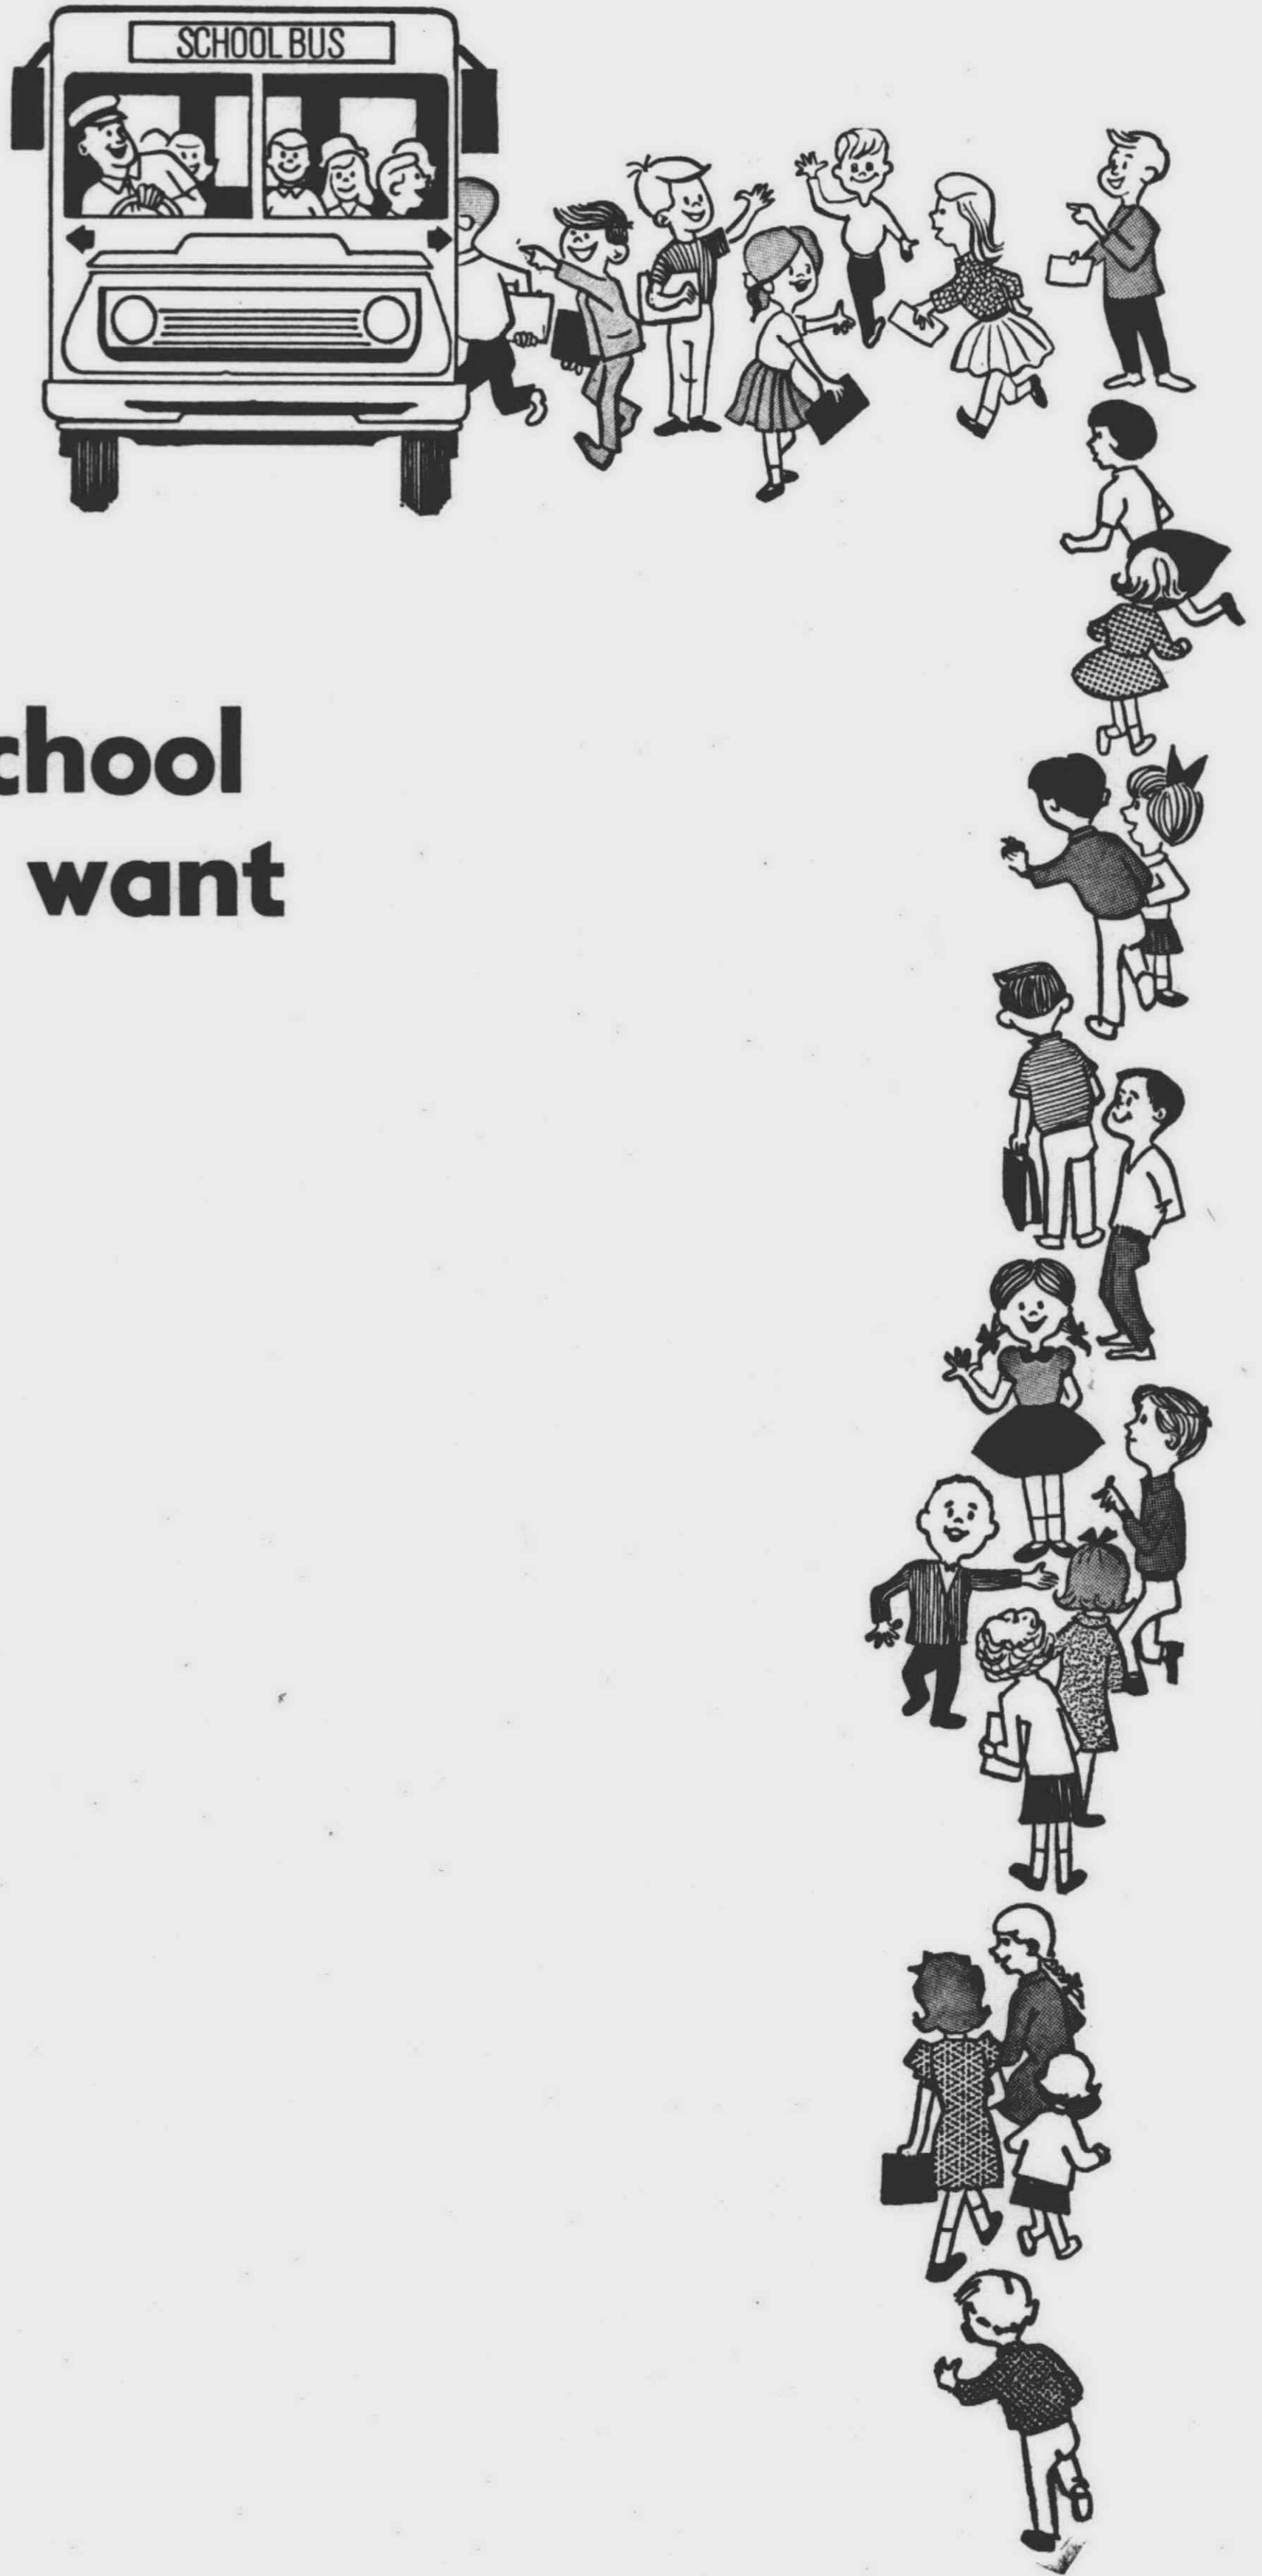

PRIEST KILLING ARRAIGNMENT—Mrs. Dorothy Bressie, 55, is led to her arraignment in Los Angeles on a charge of shooting to death the Rev. John B. Thom, 32, a Roman Catholic priest who was acting secretary to Francis Cardinal McIntyre, in the diocesan office. A hearing was set for Aug. 4. Said she, "It doesn't make any difference why I did it. Now the man is dead. I did it and that's enough. My reason I will take to the electric chair."

TAKES UCLA POST—Roger W. Heyns (above), University of Michigan vice president, goes to the University of California as chancellor Oct. 1. He will succeed Acting Chancellor Martin Meyerson.

THE FIRST order of business is to resolve the U.N. financial and constitutional crisis," says Arthur J. Goldberg in New York on assuming his new ambassadorship. "If we don't put our own house in order, I doubt that we will succeed in putting other houses in order."

"Sorry, Filled Today"

A white card—not too large, really—had to be made up the second day after we opened the Arts & Crafts program in the Livonia Mall Community Room.

We hadn't ever expected to need such a sign. Once it was made-up, we did not expect to use it often.

But it was placed on the Community Room door nearly every weekday afternoon, because of the overwhelming response from the mothers and children—aged 5 thru 11—of the community.

It was our original intention to provide an afternoon program, from 1 to 4 p.m., weekdays, to entertain children while their mothers shopped.

We did do that. We also found that many mothers discovered the program as a neighborhood project; took turns in car pools to bring the boys and girls and take them home. Some days as many as six cars waited for neighborhood groups of children to leave class.

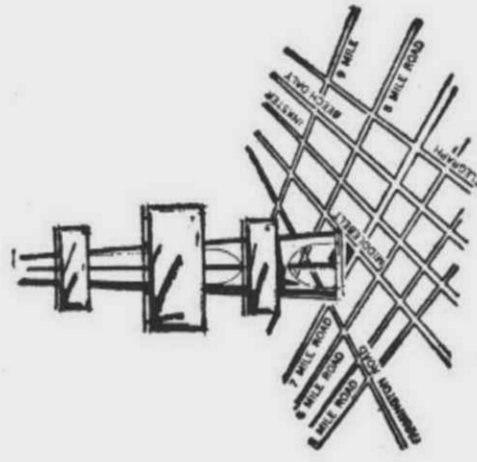

We can't express how happy your acceptance of the Arts & Crafts program makes us; but we can tell you this: We'll have the program again next Summer . . . so keep those car pools in mind . . . just like we're keeping that sign ready to dust off, the one that says: "Sorry, Filled Today."

Sincerely
