

HAROLD FISCHER, a greenhouse operator, and life-time Plymouthite (standing), accepts his new job as Area Planning Director after being told of his appointment Thursday evening by Russell Isbister, far left, who has chaired the inter-governmental Plymouth Area Planning Commission. Other Commission members are John Welsher, Ralph Garber, George Lawton, Clarence Moore, Thomas Alexsy, Clark Finley, Harold Guenther and Phillip Dingeldey.

Fischer will direct area industry aims

Harold Fischer, 40875 Plymouth Rd., was named planning director for the Plymouth Area Planning Commission, climaxing several months of search to fill the post.

Fischer will assume his duties in October.

The Plymouth Area Planning Commission is a little-known inter-governmental agency formed in May of 1964 to co-ordinate industrial and commercial development in the area.

Members from the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township governments made up the committee.

Fischer will co-operate with the Industrial Development Corporation; they have been seeking industry for the area since the Daisy Air Rifle Co. left town for Rogers, Ark. Harold Guenther, an officer of the IDC, said now their company could devote more time to its primary function . . . helping round up finances for prospective industry.

The Commission members said they had been actively seeking a director for about five months. Ten or 12 men (Continued on Page 8)

Hold action on bus problem

Unhappy parents disturbed because they claim their children, must walk to school under hazardous traffic conditions, must wait a bit longer for a solution to their problem.

That became apparent in the wake of action, or the lack of it, at Monday evening's special meeting of the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education, held in the administration offices on Lilley Road.

After reviewing a lengthy report which showed that a change in transportation policy to include third, fourth and fifth graders living in areas where hazards exist would increase the bus load by 378 and raise costs by approximately $27,500, school board members seemed at a loss.

Silence greeted President Gerald Fischer's query, "Well, any suggested resolutions?"

Then one of the parents, Robert A. Visser of 42503 Five Mile Road, made a suggestion.

"WHY DON'T you contact the Wayne County Intermediate School District," he asked, "and have them conduct a transportation study and make recommendations?" Visser said he had talked with Elzie C. Wheelock, an Intermediate School District consultant on transportation. Wheelock told him (Continued on Page 3)

City picks Healy as Draugelis successor, sidelines Cape again

Thomas H. Healy was named City attorney to succeed Edward F. Draugelis, who will become City Judge on January 1, 1966.

Mayor James Houk announced the appointment at the close of the regular Monday meeting of the Plymouth City Commission.

Healy will work with Draugelis during November to effect an orderly transfer of the City's legal affairs.

Draugelis was elected to the municipal judgeship earlier in the year, but won't take over from retiring Harry Deyo until January.

Healy, who has a law office in Detroit, recently opened an office in Plymouth.

Thomas J. Healy

Draugelis had told the Commission informally two weeks ago that they had to start looking for a successor.

"Representing the City of Plymouth for the past four and a half years has been rewarding and challenging; and it goes without saying that I am grateful for the confidence that this Commission and its immediate predecessors have placed in me," Draugelis commented.

Healy for a long time worked as an assistant to the Attorney General of Michigan. He was appointed to the post by now Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, Tom Kavanagh. He worked, through that office, for the Liquor Control Commission, the State Highway Commission, and the Public Service Commission.

He served as chief counsel in the Attorney General's office.

During his six years in Lansing, he worked on right-of-way acquisition for I-23 and I-96, was instrumental in getting gas refunds returned to the consumer rather than the State by escheat, and lectured across Michigan on consumer frauds.

A graduate of the Drexel Institute in Pennsylvania, and the University of Michigan Law School, Healy is married, belongs to the Our Lady of Good Counsel church. He has six children.

Bathey is booming, building

Bathey Manufacturing Company on Mill St. is one of the fastest growing industries in the area, and this week released mid-year figures to prove it.

Among the facts and figures:

Bathey payrolls now are $100,000 a week, more than double the payroll three short years ago.

Annual material purchases are in excess of $5 million.

Gross sales for the 1965 fiscal year (Feb. 1, '65 to Jan. 31, '66) are expected to reach the $15 million (Continued on Page 8)

No more licenses

The City of Plymouth has gone out of the driver's license business, according to assistant police chief Loren Johnson.

Johnson said his clerks at the police desk would no longer be issuing licenses, upon orders from the Secretary of State's office.

City of Plymouth residents must go to Northville, Livonia, Garden City, or to various Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol license operations, like the one at Plymouth Township hall, open every Wednesday.

The City stopped issuing licenses as of last Friday.

Johnson noted the City had issued close to 5,000 licenses so far this year.

PACKED HOUSE: Grant JAR request, deny apartments

Residents of Plymouth Township jammed the Township hall last Wednesday for a wild and woolly session of four Planning Commission public hearings.

On tap were requests for an apartment rezoning, for a residential rezoning by JAR, controversial builders, for a commercial rezoning to erect a new restaurant and cocktail lounge and for a nursing home rezoning.

The rest of the agenda had to be set aside as the public hearing lasted through the night and part of the next morning.

ALL FOUR proposals met with opposition, and only one — JAR's request for rezoning from acre to half-acre lots — received favorable attention.

Two others — Jesse Tritten's proposed apartment development, and Frank and Julia Mangogna's request for commercial rezoning on the site of their present tavern — were turned down after the vigorous protest of area residents were heard.

The last one — Theodore Brown's request for rezoning for the purpose of a nursing home on the corner of Territorial and Ridge Roads was tabled for further study, and a legal opinion on a tax roll question.

Here's how the public hearings went:

JAR Request

Sam Stoller, spokesman for the JAR Development Corp., presented his request for rezoning of about 43 acres of land on the corner of Joy and Beck Roads, from one acre, country estates, to half acre, country homes. The proposed development is near Olford and Son's Woodlore Subdivision, which has half-acre lots.

Kamego names PCF division drive chairman

Plymouth Community Fund Drive Chairman John Kamego today announced the appointment of the Division Chairmen who will spearhead this year's fund drive.

They are:

Business Division: Terry West of the National Bank of Detroit.

Government Division: Robert Sincoc of the J. L. Hudson Realty Co.

Education Division: James Doyle of the Plymouth School System.

Professional Division: Dr. R. R. Barber of 864 S. Main Street.

Industrial Division: G. D. Burrows of the Gaylord Container Co.

Residential Division: Mrs. Martin Schomberger, 40810 E. Ann Arbor Trail.

Special Events: Mrs. Sidney Strong of 1251 William.

Kamego said he will meet with each of the chairmen during the coming week to discuss plans for the drive. The campaign will take place Oct. 11 through Nov. 4 and will work toward a $86,083 goal, a 7% increase over last year.

Kamego said the most urgent need at this time was for volunteer workers in the Residential Division. Those ladies interested in giving assistance to this Division or to others, may arrange to do so by calling Mrs. Ray Barber, GL 3-2762, Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, GL 3-0376, or Mrs. John Murovski, GL 3-0106.

ACTIVE in the Democratic party, and the Bar association, Healy locally is president of the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity.

The 43-year-old lawyer has lived in Plymouth three and one half years.

In other action, the Commission heard a request from builder Thomas Cape for a decision on his apartment land requests.

The Commission sent the matter to legal counsel. Cape has one apartment building on his Byron St. development with 16 apartments in it. City officials say there is land area for only 14, and the two apartments must remain empty, "red tagged" by building inspector Charles Thompson.

Cape reported that he was nearing a final deal. (Continued on Page 8)

Shorted bell saves family in Twp. fire

Fire shorted out a doorbell at the residence of Milton J. Krieg late last Friday in time to wake the family.

Krieg, who lives at 41102 Greenbrook Ln., called Township firemen at about 1:30 a.m. Friday.

Few people braved the late hours to watch the blaze, which did considerable damage to the kitchen and dinette area, and to the joists and attic area. The fire destroyed a wall between the kitchen and the garage.

Captain Barney Maas of the Township fire department said he could find no immediate cause.

No one was hurt in the blaze.

Maas termed the fire "pretty bad and, pretty messy."

"We had to go and pull a lot of things out to get at the fire, which had spread way up into the roof. That's the bad part. It doesn't take much to stop the flames, but what comes after makes a mess."

FIRE IN THE CEILING at Consumer's Discount Store on Forest Ave. downtown sent mid-day shoppers scurrying Tuesday afternoon. An overheated light fixture was figured to have caused the blaze, which was stopped in record fast time by City firemen. Smoke and water damage was comparatively light; fire damage was confined to a small area of the ceiling.

Detroit water head to speak before Forum

Gerald J. Remus, general manager of the Detroit Department of Water Supply (DWS), will be the featured speaker at the Oct. 7 meeting of the Plymouth Businessman's Forum.

Gerald J. Remus

Dr. Ray Barber, chairman of the Forum, said that Remus is expected to discuss "Metropolitan Water Services" at the Forum's noon luncheon session in Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel.

He is slated to review the progress of the DWS since 1955 — the year it began the transition from a local agency to a metropolitan service.

The water supply system serves an estimated 3.3 million persons — more than 40 per cent of the State's population — in Detroit and 61 suburban communities.

In a nutshell

★ Paul Richards, Dynavoice inventor and developer, will appear on "I've Got a Secret," CBS network television show, Monday, Sept. 27. The show was taped earlier this summer.

★ The City of Plymouth was the runner-up for the annual report of the Michigan Municipal League. The City of Ann Arbor was the winner.

★ Senior citizens held Sept. 20 at the Senior Center, the business session with the individual persons to discuss various plans . . . either for college or for a job right out of high school.

★ Fire destroyed a car owned by Lyndell Walker of Wayne early Monday morning when it burst into flames after hitting another car on the corner of Mack and Ann Arbor Roads. No one was injured.

PASSING TOO MUCH

PHS gridgers whitewashed in 45-0 rout by Northville Mustangs

The Northville Mustangs whitewashed Plymouth 45-0 before a jam-packed crowd at Northville's football field Friday night.

It was a steamy evening for Northville's long-sought revenge as the temperature hovered near 80. Northville lost 19-12 last year in the traditional rivalry, and 19-6 and 28-12 the two years previous.

Northville's Tom Baughman's work at quarterback was a force in the art of passing. Baughman moved his team all over the field as the Mustangs scored at will in every quarter.

PLYMOUTH could do nothing to stop Northville's outstanding end Jerry Inmsland, who weighs in at 190 lbs., and stands 6' 2". Inmsland snagged pass after pass, along with several other Northville ends, to score for the Mustangs.

Plymouth's two fledgling quarterbacks — Steve Hulce, and Dave Prochazka — spent the evening viewing the game from the seat of their football pants. They had very little opportunity to move the ball as Northville's untested line rose to unexpected heights.

Scouts had reported Northville's defenses were green and weak, but they didn't show Friday night. Plymouth, during the few times they had the ball, couldn't move more than a few yards.

Head coach John McFall undoubtedly spent long minutes in the half-time huddle making moves to stop Northville's short but sweet passes.

The score at this point was a dismal 25-0.

The half time talk did little good, and the score ended up 45-0, with a second string Northville man quarterbacking the final TD.

PLYMOUTH was outpowered and outclassed by the Mustangs, who never let up, and held on to the last second for a shut-out.

Plymouth was unable to move the ball during the opening plays. Northville's first try indicated it was going to be a long night. Northville's Mike Turnbull churned for 25 yards on a pass from Baughman.

Northville gambled on on fourth down. Baughman passed to Inmsland, who snagged it on the eight yard line. Inmsland got the honors and fairly walked over from the three yard line after taking a short pass. Score: 6-0.

And that's the way it went all night. Northville led 12-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Plymouth offense stalled early in the second quarter, despite some sharp thinking by Hulce, who at one point tucked the ball under his arm and ran for a first down. It was probably the best play of the game.

A HIGH SNAP from center on a fourth-and-29-yards-to-go situation put Northville at Plymouth's door as the defense snowed under punter Curt Irish and his attempt to run out the mistake.

Then Northville showed its style. In five plays they had cut Plymouth's defense to ribbons and scored, making the tally 18-0. Here's how they did it:

Baughman passed, incomplete.

Baughman passed, hit Inmsland.

Baughman passed, hit backfield member Doug Swiss.

Baughman passed, hit end.

Baughman passed for TD to end T. Zade.

At the half the score read 25-0. In the remaining quarters, Inmsland used his height to snag Baughman passes. Inmsland proved to be a double threat. On defense he crashed through the line several times to up-end Plymouth plays.

Baughman hit 10 out of 12 passes in the first quarter for about 270 yards, and six out of seven in the second half, for 110 yards.

The Northville subs scored after the half and the score stood 38-0 at the end of the third quarter.

PHS FOOTBALL players spent much of their time Friday night with their backs to the goal line. Here, Northville makes a push toward a score as the Rock line closes in on the ball carrier, (arrow) in time.

Pass your way to prizes

Oh dear. Sports for the 1965-66 season got off to an awful start Friday night as Northville surprised the heck out of Plymouth's green footballers.

Both Steve Hulce and Dave Prochazka show promise as quarterbacks, but they had little chance to display any form. Northville had the ball most of the evening.

Plymouth couldn't even make it hot for them once, and Coach Ron Horwath held on for a shut-out.

I suspect if Plymouth has an old-fashioned arch rival it's Northville.

Pre-game stories in the Northville Record had Horwath singing the blues because of a green line. Whatever Horwath is singing to his team and the press, it looks like it's going to be a hit tune.

Plymouth will get another crack at a non-league team when they tangle with Farmington here Friday. Farmington lost 20-6 to Bentley last Friday, and may prove a better match for Plymouth than Northville.

Junior baseballers will get a belated celebration thrown in their behalf Oct. 2 at the Elks Lodge on Ann Arbor Rd.

Sponsors Russ and Esther Powell are providing the wherewithal for the feast and party.

The newspaper business attracts the strangest people. In isolated Sierraville, California, a 10-year-old girl holds forth weekly for the "Mountain Messenger" a paper in nearby Downville.

She covers the news for this town of 300 people, all the way from a visit to the dentist to a meeting of the Firemen's association.

The people love her, and subscriptions have taken a 25 percent rise in Sierraville.

Susan Torri wrote an item about a billy goat butting a school girl on her way to class. The item was sent to a network TV show and Susan got a nation-wide plug.

As one man said in reaction:

"I'm tired of bombs bursting in the air and wrong-way cars on one-way streets . . . the news of a goat butting a little girl may not change the course of society, but it did one thing. For a few moments we were living in our own world again, and I like that sort of feeling."

If this sounds like a plug for Plymouth Mail-style community journalism, it is.

I think it points to the fact that people can know and understand each other in this highly complex world. And newspapers, particularly weekly community newspapers, can help.

The annual Punt, Pass and Kick contest will be held Oct. 9 and registrations are needed now.

According to Joseph Bida, who administers the contest, sponsored by Leo Calhoun Ford, parents should bring in their boys, ages 8-13, right away.

They can register at Calhoun's any time, with Joe Kruse.

THE CONTEST itself will be held at Hamilton Playground at 10 a.m. Bida is working to get the field ready so the youngsters can practice.

Nationally known and sponsored by Ford, the contest offers several prizes.

Contestants must punt, pass and kick down a straight line. Points are awarded for instance and accuracy, with points being deducted in direct relation to the number of feet the particular pass or kick is off center.

Plymouth winners travel to a district contest.

Registration has begun for the archery program of the Plymouth Police Youth Club at the Community Building at the corner of Union and Dodge Streets behind the City Hall.

Applicants must be between the ages of 12 and 17 and should be accompanied by a parent. The registration fee is $1.

Archers who participated last year will not be required to pay the registration fee.

Clifford "Tip" Smith supervises the archery activity. Adults interested in helping with the program should call 453-4586.

Instructors receive no pay, but there will be time for personal archery practice.

Baseball banquet

The Junior League baseball team members will be feted at the annual banquet at Elks Lodge on Ann Arbor Road, Oct. 2.

According to Joseph Bida, the festivities will kick off at 11 a.m., and go until 3 p.m.

Food and prizes will be offered.

Only parents and members of the major and minor league teams are invited.

Entertainment is as yet not set, Bida reports. Russ and Esther Powell will sponsor the event.

Board makes appointments

Three key appointments were approved last week by the Township of Plymouth's Board of Trustees.

They approved, upon supervisor John McEwen's recommendation, the following:

Ray Kimble, 4925 N. Territorial, to the Human Relations Commission, replacing Maurice Breen, who resigned recently.

Phillip Truesdell, 42347 Brentwood, as Township constable. A member of the volunteer firemen, he will replace Louis Schomberger, who has moved.

Ralph Garber (trustee) to the Plymouth Area Planning Commission, replacing C. Veach Sparks, who recently became Township clerk.

In other action, the Board named Mrs. Helen Richardson deputy clerk.

Firemen's rules and regulations were referred back to the Fire Administration Board for further study.

The board tabled action on the 1400 foot sewer span along Schoolcraft east of Robinwood, until finances could be worked out. Engineer Harold Hamill estimates the project would cost about $30,000.

LEO CALHOUN'S rezoning request (from industrial to commercial use along Plymouth Road) was given final approval.

Next Week

Plymouth will take on Farmington in football here this Friday.

Game time is 8 p.m., under Plymouth's new lights, installed this fall. They are similar to Northville's.

The remainder of the schedule is:

Oct. 1	Belleville	H
Oct. 8	Bentley	A
Oct. 15	Trenton	H
Oct. 22	Redford Union	A
Oct. 29	Allen Park	H
Nov. 5	Walled Lake	A

Your Chamber In Action

We belong to The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce because, —

One, — it furthers our service to people in the area, answering business questions, protecting buyers from the unscrupulous, referring prospects to the proper businesses and professions, and generally promoting the image of a good business community. It does so in a much deeper and more thorough way than we can hope to do it on our own. It fulfills our wish about the good treatment of customers.

Two, — the Chamber serves as the "clearing house" for newcomers as they are becoming oriented to The Plymouth community.

Three, — it serves directly in attracting future customers for us.

Therefore: we contribute both in money and in time to its continuation.

No building Schoolcraft sports off to make-shift start

How would you like to be a coach whose entire team uses one locker belonging to a janitor?

That's the situation facing Schoolcraft College's cross country coach Tony Rizzo, and athletic director Marvin Gans.

Schoolcraft has blossomed on arid acreage along Haggerty Rd. between Six and Seven Mile Roads. It has grown remarkably fast since it first opened its doors to students a little more than a year ago.

Unfortunately, physical education facilities were pushed aside as the College's planners determined priorities for the first year. Now the second year has rolled around, and the 600 students in the physical education program have no where to go but outside, or to nearby bowling alleys.

And the cross country team, which practices on Schoolcraft grounds, share one locker, along with the coaches, in the janitor's locker room off a loading dock. There is one shower stall for the whole team.

The physical education staff is a whopping two men . . . Gans himself, and Bob Leggett. Between them, they teach Schoolcraft's 20 physical education classes.

Where do they go? Mostly to Northville State Hospital to use physical therapy facilities . . . a gym, small bowling alley and swimming pool.

Gans has also organized an extensive intramural program. Weather permitting, tennis, touch football and soccer will be played outdoors. He has also organized a wrestling team that will compete in tournaments around the state.

This year Schoolcraft will compete in swimming, cross country, basketball, golf and tennis, involving itself for the first time in the Michigan Community Junior College Athletic Conference.

Basketball games and swimming meets are held at high schools in the district. But practice space at the right time is scarce because each school district makes extensive use of its facilities, not only for regular classes and inter-school sports, but also for adult education classes at night.

For instance, last year, the swimming team, under Gans, had to practice at 6 a.m. in the morning. Only the very hardy and the very dedicated made it to practice.

They fared well last year in swimming, despite the fact that not enough swimmers were out for the sport to round out the team. Home meets are held at Franklin High School. Lack of depth also plagued the cross country team.

Gans and his meager staff have worked hard to induce more students to come out for the inter-collegiate sports. They expect it will take a few years before more than enough participants are available.

Despite the lack of facilities, the picture is not that grim. Dr. Eric Bradner, president of the College, in his first annual report to the Board of Trustees, pointed to a physical education building as one of the immediate needs.

He projected plans would be drawn up this year, and the building readied for occupancy by the fall of 1967.

No estimate of the cost of the structure has been mentioned but it may go as high as $1,750,000. Gans hopes that plans will call for student lockers to serve 5,000 students, for a gym, and a pool, hand ball courts, outside playing fields and courts, and other related areas. He notes 40 percent of the instructional area is reimbursable from the Federal government.

"I'm not trying to build an empire," Gans says philosophically, "just adequate facilities."

"I think we have done quite well really. We participated in three sports last year . . . cross country, swimming and basketball. And the fact that we gained first year admiatance to a league is significant. I would consider it a very successful season being able to compete in all three sports."

Gans said for basketball games he'd like to play at least one game in the high school of each community served by the College. That would include Livonia, Northville, Clarenceville, Garden City and Plymouth.

The physical education program is mostly for men. There are a few women in bowling classes and a water safety instructor classes.

Thus is detailed one of the ramifications of the College's growing pains . . . many, many students who must take physical education classes, yet no facilities to use.

But the department has the advantage of an able mind . . . Gans.

He has set up a faculty board of athletic control, a three man panel which helps him set policy for athletics.

In the end he should get what he wants and needs. In the meantime, the "make-do" atmosphere prevails.

Schoolcraft cross country begins Sept. 24

The Schoolcraft College cross country team will travel to Flint Sept. 24 for its first meet of the 1965 season. Schoolcraft will compete against Flint Community College and Muskegon C.C., the 1964 conference champions.

This meet will be a good test for the Schoolcraft team which has the top four varsity lettermen back from last season: Bob Geist from Catholic Central in Detroit; Keith Watson from Farmington; Nick Sihon from Bentley in Livonia; and Jerry Koski from Cody in Detroit.

New to the team this season are Tom Skinner - Cooley, Detroit; Mike Baker - Garden City; Paul Takesian - Garden City; Ken Crowley of Lincoln Park. Walt Flees of Garden City has also returned along with Tom Lepping who will be Manager this season. Tony Rizzow will coach again.

The new men have solved the man-power shortage, a factor which plagued the team last season and resulted in at least four losses.

Apartment objections ill-founded

From time to time local residents and homeowners seem to feel constrained to rise up in a sort of self-styled righteous indignation against persons who would dare threaten their sacred way of life.

And their most feared enemy, it seems, is the apartment developer.

With a hazy picture in mind of the unspeakable evils apartment dwellings and dwellers are supposed to spawn, homeowners are apt to appear en masse at public hearings to stop multiple family development before it gets off the ground.

Such was the case last Wednesday night as a proposed 60-unit apartment development was denied a rezoning request at the Plymouth Township planning commission's regular meeting.

The proposed Hawaiian Village development along Ann Arbor Trail met with stiff opposition from residents of Riverside Estates. To have been built by Township resident Jesse Tritten, along with Riverside developer Fred Garling, the apartments showed a well-done architectural scheme, and provided for a wall separating them from soon-to-be built homes to the rear.

Area residents were present in force, and presented a map outlining with large red "X's" those homeowners who opposed the plans.

Frankly, we don't quite understand their objections.

Apartments bring a high tax base, fewer children, and need fewer municipal services, according to planning experts.

There is a need for apartments in the Plymouth Community. One only has to be around a newspaper office when the classified advertising appears, to verify that fact. Apartment owners report sometimes as high as 50 calls for one lone apartment.

Apartments offer a more compact, easier life for retired people, or young people who can't yet afford a home.

They are under stiffer fire and building laws than homes.

The new ones rent from $135 and up, unfurnished. That means, for those who count income as a measure of people's worth, a fairly high class group of residents can be expected.

Apartments provide for trash removal through inspected incinerators, and ample parking under Township laws.

In short, they are as valuable to the community as homes, and less trouble, and they represent a form of residential living.

A closer, more factual look at apartments, and the problems they are supposed to bring needs to be adopted, both by residents and the planners. The objections to apartments seem far too emotional and unsound at this point.

Plymouth's most important job

In its own quiet way, last Thursday evening's appointment of a Plymouth Area Planning Director by the Plymouth Area Planning Commission may be this year's biggest local news story.

Harold Fischer, greenhouse operator and chairman of Schoolcraft College's Board of Trustees, was hired as full-time director, to serve Canton Township, Plymouth Township, and the City of Plymouth. His job is to actively seek industry and commercial developments for The Plymouth Community.

It marks one of the first concrete steps toward inter-governmental cooperation in The Plymouth Community. The past months have seen several such moves, such as the auditorium committee, the recreation site group and the joint police authority study urged by Township Trustee Dick Lauterbach.

His appointment was announced late Thursday night by the chairman of the Plymouth Area Planning Commission, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister.

The planning commission has apparently moved very carefully on this appointment. They picked a resident of Plymouth Township, the government showing the least interest in any inter-governmental moves.

They also picked a lay parson in planning, and perhaps wisely. Fischer has shown rare ability to mobilize high level groups; his handling of the chair at Schoolcraft's Board of Trustee meetings has drawn praise from several quarters.

In a time when the three governments are deeply involved in 701 Federally aided master plans, being drawn up by highly trained individuals, it's refreshing to see some practical application.

Fischer will bring that practical application to the situation. He will take over his duties in the near future, in an office housed in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters on Main St.

Fischer will draw up as much factual information as possible about The Plymouth Community for presentation to potential industrial and commercial developers.

Fischer spoke briefly at the meeting about his appointment, and noted:

"I think I'm speaking for the whole commission when I say we have a real opportunity here. We have a big community, and very good spirit. I hope we can keep it going."

To this we pledge our support.

Harold Fischer's job is potentially the most important job in The Plymouth Community. As such, what he does can, with the entire community's support, be the most important thing that has happened to Plymouth in a long time.

stands on Ann Arbor Road constituted a non-conforming use.

"I won't vote on half acre lots until Mr. Stoller withdraws his suit. He's got to do it our way," Koch said.

The Western Homeowner's Association opposed the move as did several individual residents. A petition with more than 75 names was on hand.

STOLLER said he would gladly agree to stop the suit, (presently tied up on the busy circuit court calendar) if the Planning Commission would grant his request.

The study and recommendations were requested for the board's regular meeting on October 11.

Stoller's statement drew a wave of laughter from the crowd, as someone muttered, "I'll bet you would."

The transportation survey released at that meeting underscored several things:

Chairman Irving Rozian stopped the bantering and said:

(1) Modification of policy to include third, fourth and fifth graders would add to the bussing load by 378 public school students and an estimated 49 parochial school pupils.

"Let's weigh the thing on its merits and leave as a secondary consideration whether or not he should have a crowd under us.

(2) At an average cost of $34 per pupil, this would increase costs by $14,518 plus the additional equipment needed.

Several residents of the area protested the rezoning. A petition with about 100 signatures, representing the Western Homeowner's Improvement Association, opposed the move.

(3) Two more busses would probably be required at a cost of $13,000 making a total added cost of $27,518.

Planning Commission members were quick to point out that the type of community they foresaw could not be made up of acre estates.

(4) The school district is having trouble locating qualified persons as school bus drivers and crossing guards. Several crossing guard posts remain unfilled, in spite of ads placed in local papers.

Joe Mogle, leader in the area's improvement association, didn't like the idea, and said Stoller was asking for a "carte blanche."

It was the added cost, however, that seemed to concern board members. While they noted that they have no legal obligation to provide a safe conveyance to school, they agreed that there was a moral obligation.

"Is JAR negotiating in good faith? The fact remains that a suit stands against the people of the Township. How can he sue us on one hand, and ask for a concession on the other?" he said.

But they also agreed that they preferred to spend money on education rather than transportation. President Fischer asked board members if the additional expense was warranted.

DESPITE the objections of the residents and a 'no' vote from both Koch and Austin Stecker, the request passed.

They also agreed that they preferred to spend money on education rather than transportation. President Fischer asked board members if the additional expense was warranted.

Mangogna's request was turned down after comments from both the Mangognas and residents of the area. Commissioners indicated their prime reason was that the building as it presently Mangognas are using a 60-year-old building. They planned a new $75,000 building on the same site, but had to seek rezoning to put it up.

TRITTEN'S REQUEST

Jesse Tritten and Fred Garling's request for rezoning for a piece of land on Ann Arbor Trail from residential to multiple dwellings was turned down by the Commission after residents of the Riverside Estates petitioned for denial.

Both Koch and Commissioner Carl Hartwick voted yes on the proposal.

RESIDENTS of the area pointed out that Garling had promised the area would be residential when they bought their homes.

Smith B. Horton, spokesman for the area's home improvement association, presented the objections, and displayed a map with red "X's" marking the homes that opposed the move.

PLYMOUTH MAIL
 "Where The Plymouth Community Comes First"

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOLS
 Admin. Office 1024 S. MILL

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third and final installment of a three-part look at "news releases" sent to newspapers for publication. Past weeks' offerings have included comment on the public relations "news release," and the activities of professionals in this field. This week, government and politics come under scrutiny.

Our lives, nowadays, are inextricably interwoven and intertwined with the machinations of government and politics. In my book, once you get past the local level, there is no longer any such thing as an independent politician — regardless of party affiliation.

Rather, the man who would serve his country, must first pay obeisance to the clay god of public opinion as formulated and controlled by mass manipulation.

To say that there are no independents may be unfair. But to say that there are no long-term independents can't be far wrong.

An example? I give you Plymouth's Congressman, Weston E. Vivian of Ann Arbor, a freshman Democrat in a Republican district.

Since assuming office — perhaps by grace of a Lyndon Johnson landslide — Vivian has been the subject of several "fill in the blanks news releases" issued by the National Republican Congressional Committee.

This newspaper has published none of them simply because they are not news releases. They are opinionated editorializing. They are not fact. They are propaganda.

They are ground out in mass volume at a central location, the name of the hapless Representative is typed in on the mimeographed copy, and they are distributed to newspapers in his district.

They are part and parcel of the neo-science of opinion forming and manipulation, used with equal skill by both political parties. To wit: "The Republican Congressional Committee pointed out to (2nd Michigan) District voters: today that ratings by a (sic) independent, highly respected research service showed that their freshman Democratic Congressman is a 100 per cent rubber stamp for Lyndon Johnson.

"The committee referred to a study just published... which shows that Congressman (Weston E. Vivian) voted 100 per cent for key White House bills.

"The committee stated: 'We expected that many Democrats would show some loyalty to the man upon whose coat-tails they rode into office... Democratic Congressman (sic) such as (Vivian) have voted time and time again to have Congress abdicate its responsibilities to the White House.'

"The committee statement continued: 'We do not believe that people in any district in the Country want a 100 per cent rubber stamp... Unfortunately, Congressman (Vivian) has shown little evidence that he will ever vote against the White House.'

Now, the general public — be they Republican or Democrat, are not generally caught up with the study of semantics.

By and large, they are not inclined to dissect what they find in a newspaper and label it fact or propaganda. Unfortunately, many of us still believe what we see in the news.

Our newspapers are full to overflowing with verbal dung splattered upon the page by opinion molders; and government and politicians have become the biggest utilizers.

Here at The Mail, we junk from the City of Detroit, the County of Wayne, the State of Michigan and, most often, the Federal Government.

Lyndon's cowpokes are spewing forth stuff from virtually every agency; and now they have entered into the field of "suggested editorials."

Witness the recent offering from the Youth Opportunities Council, sent of course, in government franked envelopes to newspapers all over the country. The packet contained:

(1) Remarks of The President himself (as actually delivered at 12:10 p.m. EDT on August 21).

(2) A "fact sheet" on an innocuous "major campaign to get young Americans to return to school."

(3) And the "suggested editorials," one short and one longer, an example of which follows:

"In most communities across the country, the new school term is just about to begin. Close to 17 million young people should be returning to high school. Unhappily, thousands of them won't... The President has appealed to individuals and organizations in every segment of American life to undertake this effort through a national campaign to encourage young Americans to return to school.

"His proposal is deserving of the widest possible support." In the lengthier version, there are these paragraphs:

"We think such a campaign is deserving of the widest possible support on the part of every organization and every individual with opportunities to touch upon the lives of our young people.

"And the time is now."

Quite obviously, few people are going to knock a campaign to encourage kids to complete their schooling.

But that's not the point.

The point, gang, is that I'm not about to surrender the sovereignty of my editorial page to an already overgrown government — whether the cause is motherhood or delinquency, mental health or dropouts.

And I say to hell with political news handouts.

Where do you come in? In summation, you come in when you pick up the newspaper in the comfort of your easy chair. Your obligation to yourself and your own intelligence is not necessarily to be cynical, just pleasantly skeptical.

Read with an eye to semantics, to word meaning. Ask yourself if a "news release" on a given politician, Republican or Democrat, is really that. Or is it a propaganda blow struck by the opposite side, or a self-generated public relations release handed out by the politician's press aide?

Ask yourself if a story about a government program or a new product or anything is really news.

Gale Micol, David Mumma exchange vows

Gale Lee Micol and David Randle Mumma exchanged marriage vows Saturday afternoon, Aug. 21. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Garrett at the Dixboro Methodist church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Micol of Dunn Ct. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mumma of Birmingham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of lace and chiffon styled with accents of satin. Her shoulder length veil was secured with a satin bow and she carried white roses and baby mums.

Attending the bride were Faith Judson, as maid of honor, and Kyle Micol, the bride's sister, as junior bridesmaid. They wore brocade dresses with matching head bands and carried tinted daisies.

Serving as best man was Eugene Frank Gerald Micol, uncle of the bride, seated the guests.

Following their reception, Mr. and Mrs. Mumma left for a wedding trip to northern Michigan. They will live in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mumma

Nancy Nidy is bride of Richard Ottensman

Nancy Carol Nidy became the bride of Richard Erwin Ottensman on Saturday morning, Sept. 4, at Our Lady of Good Counsel church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Francis C. Byrne.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Nidy of Provincetown Lane, was given in marriage by her father. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ottensman of Rocker St.

The bride chose a gown of silk organza trimmed in Alencon lace and seed pearls. A matching pearl and crystal crown held her fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Joanne Hunt, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Luanne Ottensman, sister of the bridegroom, and Sharron Nidy, sister of the bride. Flower girl was Mary Ann Pappas.

The attendants were gowned alike in white lace over Nile green crepe fashioned with Empire waistlines. They carried crescent bouquets of yellow fugi mums and green grapes.

Serving as best man was the bride's brother, Edward Nidy, Jr. Ushers were Thomas Garchow of Ross St., William Pentecost of Evergreen St. and Ted Nidy, brother of the bride. Another brother of the bride, Jerry, served as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Nidy chose an olive green brocade dress with matching jacket and the bridegroom's mother wore an off-white sheath with pink accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

After a reception for about 250 guests at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Ottensman left for Beloxi, Miss. where Mr. Ottensman is stationed with the Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ottensman

Suanne Smith wed in afternoon ceremony

The Rev. Edward Castner performed the double ring marriage ceremony which united Suanne Carol Smith and Richard Frost Dillman in the First Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 14.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Smith of Amherst Ct. The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. N. A. Dillman of Kalamazoo.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father wearing a white floor length gown of nylon chiffon over taffeta detailed with hand applied Venice lace on the bodice and skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and roses.

Leslie Smith attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Linda Brooks of Haggerty Rd. and C'Havla Rusche of Birmingham.

The attendants were dressed alike in full length coral gowns and carried coral carnations and Melbourne Abbey roses. Their headpieces were circlets of coral roses and carnations.

Neal Van Eck of Kalamazoo served as best man. Ushers were Hal Smith, brother of the bride, Andre Furtado of India, and Barry Austin of England.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith chose a soft blue shantastick dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige lace dress with bronze accessories.

After a reception for about 100 guests at the Fellowship Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Dillman left for a wedding trip to Canada.

The young couple are graduates of the University of Michigan, where Mrs. Dillman was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Her husband will continue working on his Master's degree in electrical engineering at the University. They will make their home in Ypsilanti.

Gyde-Davis Speak Vows

West Salem Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Ethel Gyde and Benjamin Franklin Davis on Saturday evening, Aug. 21. The Rev. Ferris Woodruff of the South Lyon Methodist Church officiated.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gyde of Plymouth, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown made by her mother. The lace bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves while the softly pleated skirt was lace over satin. Her only jewelry was a small pendant worn by her mother on her wedding day. A headpiece of satin and lace petals held her fingertip veil of tulle and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Joanne Jones of South Lyon, attended her as matron of honor. Carol Reich of South Lyon was bridesmaid.

Their identical gowns of Copenhagen blue were floor length sheaths of taffeta. They wore blue taffeta headpieces and carried white carnations.

William Gyde, Jr., brother of the bride, served as best man and the usher was Niel Jones of South Lyon.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gyde chose a blue lace dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. A reception followed the ceremony at the Salem Town Hall for over 75 persons.

Woman's Club honors new members at tea

At a tea in her home on Harding St. on Sept. 24 Mrs. Ray Barber will welcome the new members of the Plymouth Women's Club.

Mrs. Barber, president, will be assisted by the members of the executive board.

Honored at the two o'clock tea will be Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Mrs. Charles Derr, Mrs. Gordon Hartford, Mrs. Jamiel Jabara, Mrs. Edward Sawusch, Mrs. Max E. Micol, Mrs. Gene Overholt, Mrs. Russell Ash, Mrs. Everett Burmister, Mrs. Dale Dauderman, Mrs. Ray MacDougall, and Mrs. Robert Gotshall.

Baby talk

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. McDonald of Fairfield, Calif. announce the birth of a 7 lb. 8 oz. son, Darrel James, born Aug. 22. Mrs. McDonald is the former Marjorie Dolan. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dolan, Sr. of Chubb Rd. are the grandparents.

Antique Mart rated success

According to the committee, dealers were so enthusiastic about the success of this year's show, that the Symphony League is assured of a full house for next year's show.

The Antique Mart is a major money raising project of the Plymouth Symphony League and all proceeds go to aid the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Special credit for the success of the show goes to Mrs. Donald Graham, publicity chairman, Mrs. Harvey Troutman, decorations chairman, and to Mrs. John Moehle, chairman. All members of the League turned out, some with their families, to work of the success of the Mart.

Set story time for pre-schoolers

Story Time for pre-school children will be held in Dunning-Hough Library on Tuesdays at 10:30, beginning Oct. 5. Both old and new stories will be told and all children who enjoy listening to stories are welcome to attend.

The new children's librarian is Miss Gene Gardner, who received her B.S. at Michigan State University in 1964, and her Masters in Library Science at the U of M in August of this year.

Miss Gardner is a native of Vicksburg, Mich., where she worked in the library after school and Saturdays while she attended high school.

You build a new home to get exactly what you want

why not get the heating system that gives you exactly what you want

Electric heat is custom heat. There's a thermostat in each room so you can dial the exact warmth you want... in the baby's room, the den, the kitchen, every room! Electric heat is the clean, modern heat. No drafts or cold spots. You get even heat from head to feet. Ideal for your new home.

It's also a good choice as supplemental heat for your present home—to warm up a chilly bedroom or new family room. The cost? That depends on your particular home. Electric heat may be your most economical heat. It won't cost you a penny to find out for sure. Just call Edison for a free estimate.

Miss Phipps marries Andrew Winiarski

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Winiarski

Arlene Marie Phipps of West Ann Arbor Trail and Andrew Winiarski were married Saturday afternoon, Sept. 5 in the Timothy Lutheran Church, Wayne. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Glenn Wegmeyer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Phipps of Granite City, Ill. Andrew Winiarski of Warren is the bridegroom's father.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length acetate and silk brocade gown with Empire styling and a shoulder length veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white fuji mums.

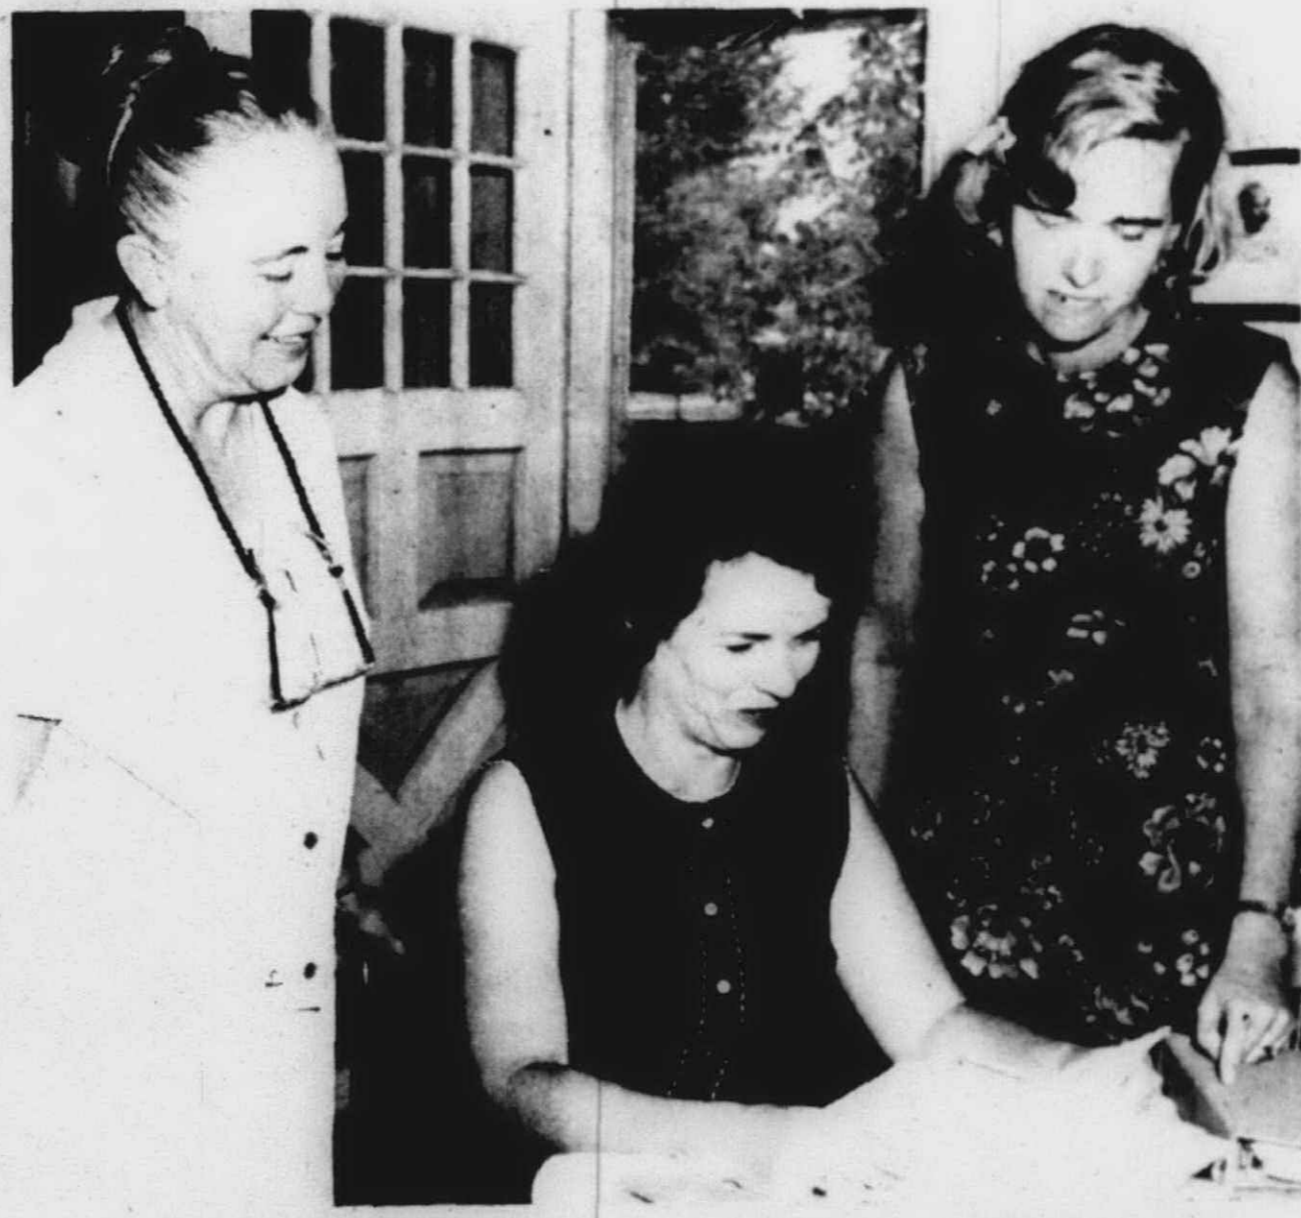

Mrs. Karen Parker, matron of honor, chose a pink taffeta and chiffon floor length dress. She carried pink and white carnations.

Serving as best man was David Rathbun of W. Ann Arbor Tr. Seating the guests were David Brown and Grahm Savage, both of Livonia.

Mrs. Phipps wore a beige knit sheath with brown accessories for her daughter's wedding.

About 100 guests honored the young couple at a reception held in Wildwood Hall, Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. Winiarski then left for a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, Mo.

Mrs. Winiarski is employed at Industrial Strainer in Plymouth while her husband works at Hillside Inn. They will live at 634 S. Mill St.

NEW OFFICERS Symphony League begins busy season

The Plymouth Symphony League has started another busy season with a new executive board at the helm and many activities planned for the benefit of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra.

New officers are Mrs. Marvin Sackett, president; Mrs. Herbert Burley, secretary; and Mrs. J. William Moon, treasurer. Board members include Mrs. Robert Voreck, Mrs. F. Wells Smith, Mrs.

Leslie Gallagher, and Mrs. Cass Kershaw. The board is appointed for a three year term.

After the Antique Mart, which was held during the Fall Festival, the next activity sponsored by the League is the annual Symphony Ball slated for Dec. 4 at the Mayflower Meeting House on Main St. Mrs. James Jabara and Mrs. James Knowles are co-chairmen of the event.

The Round Robin bridge tournament, which netted $1500 last year, is already under way with Mrs. Conrad Krankel and Mrs. Fred Sigmon as co-chairmen.

Other League projects include the annual Pop concert in May and a house tour held in the spring.

The money raised from these projects helps pay fees for the Symphony conductor and guests, buy instruments when needed, and help finance work shops for the orchestra. The League also furnishes refreshments for the orchestra at each practice.

New books at Dunning-Hough

Among new books at Dunning-Hough Library, according to Mrs. Warren Worth, librarian, are:

"The Book of Diamonds; Their History and Romance from Ancient India to Modern Times," by Joan Dickinson, combines a discussion of the nature and history of diamonds with a practical guide for anyone who owns a diamond or plans to buy one.

"Challenge for the Pacific; Guadalcanal, the Turning Point of the War," by Robert Leckie, documents the Japanese and American operations during and after the 100 day battle.

"Ghosts I've Met," by Hans Holzer, is written by a parapsychologist who interviewed people in the United States and Europe who have seen or heard ghosts.

"Battle for a Continent," by Harrison Bird, is a narrative account of the battles and skirmishes of the French and Indian War.

"Introduction to Russian Realism," by Ernest Simmons, discusses Pushkin, Gogol, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Chekhov and Sholokhov.

"The Golden Eagle," by Robert Murphy, author of the prize-winning book, "The Pond," weaves fact with fiction in telling the story of these great birds.

"Self-renewal; The Individual and the Innovative Society," by John Gardner, is a study of society which maintains that social progress is dependent upon the energy, purpose and creativity of the individual.

"My Appointed Round; 929 Days as Postmaster General," by James Edward Day, gives an inside picture of official and unofficial Washington.

School Board Minutes

A special meeting of the Board of Education of Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held Monday evening, August 3, 1965, in the Board Room of the Administration Building, 1024 South Mill Street, Plymouth, at 8:00 o'clock.

Present: Members Fischer, Henry, McLaren and Schultheiss; Assistant Sup't Blunk and Sup't Isbister.

Absent: Members Hulsing, Jenkins and Soth.

Also present: Mr. Barbour, Mr. Tyler and Mr. Chihani.

Due to the absence of Secretary Hulsing, President Fischer appointed Member McLaren to serve as Temporary Secretary.

The following sealed bids for the purchase of $700,000 in tax anticipation notes to be issued against the 1965 operating tax levy were opened and read as follows:

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT
Plymouth, Michigan

To the Citizens:

Your attention is called to the financial and statistical report of the Plymouth Community School District for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965. The financial records of the School District were audited by Sutherland and Robson, Certified Public Accountants, and the following statement is taken from their report to the Board of Education:

"In our opinion the accompanying combined balance sheet of the various Funds and the related statements of revenues, expenditures and fund equity present fairly the financial position of the various Funds of the Plymouth Community School District of Wayne and Washtenaw Counties at June 30, 1965, and the results of their operation for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting procedures recommended for educational institutions by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year."

Of special interest are the three projects financed from the Building and Site Sinking Fund; namely, the Allen, Farrand and Senior High School Additions. Building projects started and for the most part completed during the 1964-65 school year included a seven classroom addition to Farrand Elementary School, an eight classroom and library addition to Allen Elementary School and a Vocational Education Addition to Plymouth High School. These projects were financed from the Building and Site Sinking Fund, composed of funds both from a current tax levy voted for that purpose and the sale of short term bonds authorized by the Municipal Finance Commission.

The excess of expenditures over revenues in the general fund amounting to $139,426.42 will be partially offset by an increase in anticipated 1965-66 revenue from a 3.25 mill increase in general fund taxes voted by the electorate in March, 1965, and additional state funds.

The Board of Education solicits continued interest and participation on the part of citizens in the long range development of the school system. Careful planning is essential to cope with the rapid growth in population.

Citizens are invited to call the Central Administration Office, 453-0200, for further information regarding the Annual Report.

Respectfully submitted,
Russell L. Isbister,
Superintendent of Schools

Apples at your doorstep

Autumn is expected to bring a bumper crop of apples to Plymouth, and the YMCA boys are offering a chance for you to get yours early. They will pick apples at David Woods' farm on Warren Rd. on Oct. 2 and Oct. 9, and will deliver them to your house between Oct. 11 to 23. YMCA officials indicate apples may be delivered on a limited basis Oct. 4-8. The boys will pick the apples as a fund-raising project, and sell them, by the bushel, for a nominal price. Orders may be called in to 453-2904. Both golden and red Delicious and Jonathon apples are available. A price cut will be made if a customer picks them up at the YMCA offices at the Credit Union on Harvey Street.

Cape not guilty on violation

Judge Harry Deyo found builder Thomas Cape not guilty last Wednesday in municipal court on charges of allowing occupancy of one of his apartments before they were completed. Building Inspector Charles Thompson had tagged the building because the electricity wasn't hooked up properly, according to police. Police report that the case against Cape did not show he had allowed the apartment occupants (Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall), to move in. Cape admitted, according to police, that he knew they were there, but stated he had not given them permission. However, Cape, who defended himself, was found guilty on another count — building a bridge over a creek near his apartment development without a permit. Judge Deyo fined him $10 for that charge.

Plymouth Twp. Minutes

SEPTEMBER 2, 1965 Supervisor McEwen called the meeting to order at 7:40 p.m. All members present except Dick Lauterbach. Chairman immediately referred to three items on the agenda. ITEM I. EXTENSION OF NORTH TERRITORIAL WATER MAINS. Clerk C. V. Sparks read a communication from the Township Engineer, Herald Hamill, relative to the approximate cost of extending the water main on N. Territorial Road, west of Glenview Subdivision. Mr. Hamill submitted an estimate of one being for 233 lin. ft. of 12" main at $2,017.40 and another to Beck Road consisting of 900 lin. ft. of 12" main at $8,395.00. After considerable deliberation by the Board, it was moved by E. Holmes, supported by L. Norman, that the Engineer be authorized to extend the water mains west to

Beck Road, and that this project be added to our existing contract with Wayne County and Mascon Construction Company. Carried unanimously. ITEM II. JURISDICTION AND MAINTENANCE OF STORM DRAINAGE LINES AND EASEMENTS IN WOODBROOK SUBDIVISION. A communication from S. Oldford and Sons was read by the Clerk, requesting this Board to assume the maintenance of storm drains in the Woodbrook Subdivision located on Sheldon Road north of Ann Arbor Road. It was pointed out that the Wayne County Road Commission will not assume jurisdiction of storm drains which do not fall in dedicated road ways and that this is a normal procedure in all municipalities in the State. Engineer Hamill recommended that the Township assume said responsibility and, upon a motion by E. Holmes, supported by L. Norman, it was unanimously approved that the Township assume said responsibility for this drain and that the D.P.W. be informed of this jurisdiction. ITEM III. WATER MAIN EXTENSIONS - HAGGERTY ROAD, ANN ARBOR ROAD TO JOY, ANN ARBOR ROAD, HAGGERTY TO TERRY ST. Estimates for the installation of water mains for the above project was submitted by Engineer Hamill amounting to $47,568.50, as outlined in a proposal submitted by S. Weissman Excavating Company, dated August 20, 1965. It was recommended by the Engineer that the proposal be accepted as an extension to the Sheldon Road Contract. It was moved by C. Veach Sparks, supported by Gene Overholt, that the Treasurer, Elizabeth Holmes, be authorized to transfer sufficient monies from the Water Bond Reserve Fund to the Construction Fund. Carried unanimously. There being no further business, the Supervisor declared the meeting closed. It was moved by Ralph Garber, supported by C. V. Sparks, that the meeting be adjourned. Carried. The meeting was adjourned at 8:12 p.m. to meet with the Planning Commission.

HAPPY LANDING

This takes nerve! Imagine dropping into space with nothing but a "silk umbrella" between you and eternity! Yet men do it every day, and they trust that umbrella as we would trust our best friend. Faith is something like that white parachute, as thousands upon thousands of Christians can testify. Faith upholds you and supports you, no matter how rough the going may be. Without faith in a loving God, man is very much alone... and man was never meant to deal with life's problems by himself. Like the first parachute jump, faith isn't easy at the beginning. It takes courage to hand over the reins of one's life, but you can be sure of one thing... you'll always land on your feet. Strengthen your faith by attending the church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Or is it an attempt by someone to channel your thought into a certain groove?
Is Vivian really a "100 per cent rubber stamp" for the big man in the big White House? Or, if he's an independent and just happened to vote 100 per cent with the administration, is someone trying to force him, by molding public opinion, to vote differently for the sake of re-election?

Should all kids go back to school? Or would some of them be better off outside for a simple job in keeping with their talents?

Ask what the motive is, if any, of the writer.

Do it with the weekly newsmagazines, do it with the daily newspapers, do it with stories in The Plymouth Mail and do it in conversation.

Don't let yourself be brainwashed. It isn't intellectually healthy.

Addendum.

To "A churchgoer": Your letter of two weeks ago to The Plymouth Mail has merit. If you had signed your name, we would cheerfully withhold it upon request. The Mail does not publish unsigned letters, however.

To all of you out there in television land: Next week I will give in to my Thoreau syndrome and wander off to commune with nature in the Huron National Forest.

mark, compared with $5 million three years ago. Bathey expects to spend approximately $1 million for the expansion and improvement of facilities in fiscal year 1965.

Bathey purchased the major portion of the City of Plymouth's urban renewal project on Mill St., and this enabled the company to expand its manufacturing area by 100,000 square feet.

R. Boyd Armstrong, legal counsel and an officer of the company, said five additions have been completed in the last ninety days. He, and company president Doug Bathey, noted employment stood at about 400 people, and would go up even more this year.

BUILDING isn't new to Bathey Manufacturing. They have been building since they bought the place in 1948. At that time, Armstrong recalls, it was a Hudson Terra-plane auto dealership.

The company plans additional additions to the building along the rail spur, and then out towards the front of the property — about 50,000 square feet.

This year, they brought out a new folding bin. Material handling containers, however, have been only part of their expanding plans. They produce many parts for the automobile industry.

For instance, they fabricate the parking lamp container for Ford's Mustang. Their operations in automotive hardware are extensive.

They recently spent considerable money on equipment, including a roll forming machine to aid them in a new venture in part fabrication. The expensive press will make parts previously purchased outside.

Bathey, the biggest industrial material handling container manufacturer in the world, sells all over the world.

"We spent $582,000 through Aug. 31 of this year on expansion," Bathey commented last week. "For us that's quite a bit. Next January, the fiscal year ends. It depends on general business conditions, which we anticipate will be good... if they continue we will do similar things next year."

Fischer named applied for the job, and five or six were seriously considered before Fischer was picked, according to the Commission.

The first meeting of the Commission was held on May 7, 1964. The City of Plymouth, and Plymouth Township budgeted $5,000 apiece for the project, and Canton Township added $2500. Much of the money will be used for the director's salary, and expenses involved in preparing industrial and commercial development information, including a map.

RALPH GARBER, Plymouth Township trustee, and most recently appointed member of the Area Planning Commission, said:

"There may also be a time when we, or he (Fischer) will want help from the individual planning commissions."

A portion of the Commission will meet in the near future to work out the administrative details for the new post.

Other members of the Commission included City Commissioner George Lawton, City resident and retired industrialist Clarence Moore, and ex-mayor and industrialist Harold Guenther; from Plymouth Township, are line on financing, and needed land vacated along Byron to meet requirements. Finances can't go through until all apartments are cleared, he said.

"I've reached a point of no return," Cape said. "I do apologize for a few things that have transpired here."

The Commission listened to Cape, then sent his requests to attorneys for study.

In other action the Commission:

Approved the sale of the final chunk (half acre) of urban renewal land on Mill St. to Muntwyler's Dura-tainer Corp.

Sent to the manager for study a petition from Sutherland St. for curb and gutter.

Approved the purchase of a new loader, after much debate, for $16,900.

Tabled for study a Planning Commission recommendation for a walk around the stores and a new entrance in the central parking lot.

Ralph Garber, lawyer and trustee, Clark Finley, Wayne County Deputy Treasurer, and John Welscher, a traffic manager for Chevrolet.

Canton is represented by newly appointed supervisor Phil Dingeldey, builder Thomas Alexsy, and Trustee Richard Palmer.

Fischer spoke briefly after being told of his appointment.

"I think I'm speaking for the whole Commission when I say we have a real opportunity here. We have a big community, and very good spirit. I hope we can keep it going," Fischer said.

Harold Fischer was born in Plymouth in 1922, and is a graduate of PHS and the Michigan State University short course in horticulture.

A member and past-president of Kiwanis ('58), Fischer served in the Army, is married, and has three grown sons. Harold Jr. is a senior at the University of Michigan, Mark is a junior at West Point, and Grant is a freshman at Eastern Michigan University.

Fischer's main interest outside of family and business has been public education.

Active in PTA work and citizen's study committees, he was elected to the Plymouth School Board for two three-year terms, serving as president at one point.

Fischer represented Plymouth in the study committee that moved on the formation of Schoolcraft College. He chaired the committee, stayed on after his School Board term expired, and eventually when the college became a reality, was named Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Fischer was recently elected as one of two representatives for Michigan community colleges on the Higher Education Advisory Board of Michigan.

Mail news space 3 to 1 over competition

If you're interested in Plymouth news, The Plymouth Mail is the place to look for it today — just as it has been for over 75 years.

That's what Editor and General Manager Dave Wiley told a local service club in a recent talk, as he pointed out that The Mail holds more than a three to one edge over any other publication.

Speaking before Plymouth Rotary, Wiley noted that criticism is sometimes levelled at The Mail.

"Let's take a look," he commented.

"On August 4, The Plymouth Mail published 885 column inches of Plymouth news. The Observer published 331."

"On August 11, The Plymouth Mail carried 1,042 inches of Plymouth news compared to 327 in the Observer."

"On August 18, we had 900 inches of Plymouth news," Wiley continued. The Observer had 300.

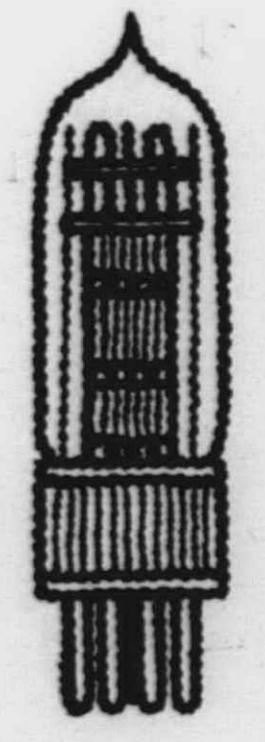

"On AUGUST 25, The Plymouth Mail published 1,157 column inches of Plymouth news. The Observer carried 245." The month's total, he said, was 3,984 inches in The Plymouth Mail and 1,203 inches in The Observer, an edge of more than three to one.

Wiley noted that The Mail is smaller than its bulkier, Livonia-based competitor.

"If we combined The Farmington Enterprise and The Plymouth Mail," he said, "we could give you a larger paper. But we believe that Plymouth wants its own paper, devoted exclusively to the community."

In the end, he said, his primary role is listening to the community and determining how The Plymouth Mail can produce the best possible newspaper.

PETERSON DRUG
YESTERDAY'S MEDICINE, TODAY'S COW FEED
A short time ago, people thought blackstrap molasses was effective treatment for anemia and rheumatism. Today we know better. We wouldn't think of relying on "home remedies" when we have so many fast-acting, reliable modern medications available to us. But remember—most medicines should be taken only upon the advice of your physician. The next time you're not feeling up to par, see your doctor first. Then, if he orders medication, come to us for quality prescription service.

A Gas Dryer does much more than just replace the clothesline
IN ADDITION TO ENDING LIFTING, LUGGING AND HANGING CLOTHES ON WASHDAY A WORK-SAVING GAS DRYER WILL DO ALL THESE EXTRA JOBS

- VALET SERVICE—wrinkles can be removed from corduroy, velveteen or wool garments by placing them in dryer for short tumbling period with damp sponges or bath towels. Place sponges or towel in dryer before putting in clothing to build up steam. Use medium heat setting. Bath towels leave lint on dark cottons, so damp, colorfast sponges are best. There must be moisture to release wrinkles and prevent shrinkage. Remove garments before completely dry and hang on wooden or plastic hangers until completely dry.
- FLUFFING OR DUSTING draperies, chenille bedspreads or other articles that need airing. Place in dryer on "no heat" setting and allow to tumble for 5-10 minutes.
- REMOVING MOTHBALL ODORS from clothes that have been stored. Use "no heat" setting and short tumbling time.
- BATHING SUITS & SNOWSUITS can be dried in pre-heated dryer with bath towels (which have been in dryer during preheating). Dark towels are advisable with dark fabrics.

Africa and me Snail's pace gives better view

by Lon Dickerson

The sun was setting as we crossed the river which forms the border between Gabon and Cameroon. The driver of the truck in which we were riding had told us as far as the first small village on the road, but we were hopeful that once there we could find different transport, heading north.

When we got to the village, however, there was no transport to be found. It was getting dark, and the official who had to sign our visas was away on trek and wouldn't return until morning. Thus we had no alternative but to spend the night there.

Our presence caused some concern among the villagers as there were no accommodations for visitors in the village. While they discussed our plight we munched on the sugar cane which they had kindly provided for us. At last they announced that the only thing they could offer was to put us up in one of their homes. We quickly assured them that we were very grateful for their hospitality and that we did not require an elaborate room or food as they imagined. This explanation seemed to put their minds at ease.

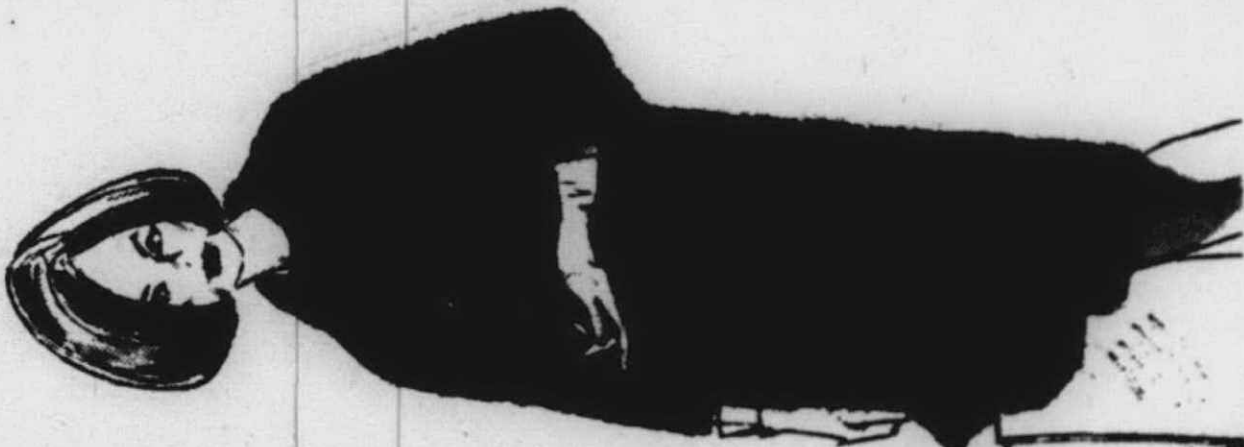

invited us to a birthday party that night. During our stay one of the doctors gave us a tour of the mission hospital.

The hospital was a modern structure. But as at Dr. Schweitzer's hospital in Gabon the entire family stayed with the patients. It was interesting to observe the same philosophy being applied amidst modern facilities.

THE CHURCH was an immense building which could seat over 3,000 worshippers at one time. A few years ago the congregation was made up of approximately 25,000 people, making it the largest Presbyterian church in the world. Now, however, several churches have been built in other villages so that the people will not have so far to walk.

Barston finds part of ancient Rome in Africa

Spending a summer vacation digging among ancient ruins in the wilds of Africa may not seem too interesting for the majority of students, but to Lester Barston, 22, of Farmbrook St. it was not only exciting, but very rewarding.

TAKING A BREAK from a round of family visits with his Belgian relatives is Lester Barston (center) and his cousin Frans D'Haeseleer and uncle Gustaaf D'Haeseleer. Barston stopped in his mother's home town of Ninove, near Brussels, on his return trip through Europe after two months of archaeological work in Lybia.

part in an archeological expedition to Africa sponsored by the University. The two men, along with two U of M professors, Clark Hopkins and Donald White, met in Rome last May to be-down the coast to the small village of Susa, inhabited by approximately 800 Arabs. This was the nearest village to the ancient ruins of Apollonia, the site of the dig.

IN 400 B.C. Apollonia was an important sea port for the biblical city of Cyrene. In these ruins the archeologists were mainly interested in the walls and fortifications of the ancient city. Barston was detailed to a trench at what had been the main gate to Apollonia. "My task as trench master," he said, "was to supervise the actual digging by the 40 Arabs I had working in my trench. I took charge of any finds, cleaned them up, and made identification of the artifacts."

Most interesting of his finds, he added, was some ancient glass work which turned out to be excellent glass samples of the Roman Empire. The many pieces of broken glass were gathered up and preserved for glass research at the University.

Another find in Barston's trench was about 200 ancient coins of the Greek, Roman, and Byzantine era. These rare coins had a range of 800 years, he said.

Life in Africa wasn't so bad. After spending half the day at the dig, the men visited other parts of Lybia and became well acquainted with the American ambassador to Africa, Richard Lightner, and with other Westerners who were traveling in northern Africa.

One jeep trip took them down the coast of Lybia and 50 miles into the wilds of the jungles.

AFTER the archeologists finished their digging on July 16, Barston remained in Europe, visiting Rome, Switzerland, England and Belgium.

The highlight of his Belgium trip was a visit to his mother's relatives in Ninove, outside Brussels. Since he had learned the Belgium language under a Belgium language scholarship in America, Barston could converse with his cousin and uncle in their native tongue.

After returning to America aboard the Empress of Canada on Aug. 24, Barston prepared to leave for Harvard University where he will be working on his doctorate in classical history under a Woodrow Wilson scholarship. He will begin the fall term at Harvard the end of Sept.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Barston of Lake Pointe.

gin their venture. An architect also traveled with them to make drawings of any find finds and to plot the excavations.

From Bengasi in northern Africa, the group traveled down the coast to the small village of Susa, inhabited by approximately 800 Arabs.

This was the nearest village to the ancient ruins of Apollonia, the site of the dig.

IN 400 B.C. Apollonia was an important sea port for the biblical city of Cyrene. In these ruins the archeologists were mainly interested in the walls and fortifications of the ancient city.

Barston was detailed to a trench at what had been the main gate to Apollonia. "My task as trench master," he said, "was to supervise the actual digging by the 40 Arabs I had working in my trench. I took charge of any finds, cleaned them up, and made identification of the artifacts."

Plymouth Hi-lites

by Judy King

Well, by now everyone at the High School has begun to settle down to the work of the school year. The sophomores have stopped hunting for room 40. The juniors have begun thinking about an upcoming Prom.

The seniors have developed the usual signs of senioritis. The counselors have deciphered the IBM-processed schedules.

The new teachers have finally gotten used to the routine of changing classrooms every hour.

And the old teachers have scoured the backs of their minds for long-forgotten subjects which they all of a sudden find themselves teaching again!

Another welcome sight — the newly-completed industrial arts addition, servicing those boys interested in welding, electricity, automobiles, and machinery.

It's picture-taking time again and the entire student body had ID photos taken by the school photographer today. Senior pictures for the yearbook will be taken through Wednesday, Sept. 22. Supervising the photographing will be Plymouth editor, Mary Ann Slincock, who has revealed that work on the yearbook has already begun, but that a theme for the book has not yet been chosen.

And speaking of school publications — the paper, Plymouth Press, earned a first class rating once again from the National Quill and Scroll critical service.

Those door-to-door salesmen that will be walking the streets of Plymouth and ringing your doorbells for the next few months will probably be Christmas-card laden salesmen trying to meet their quotas of $19.75 worth of goods sold. Project chairman Phyllis Barney and Sue Hulce report that the cards, which will arrive Sept. 24, are of greater variety than ever and will include two boxes of all-occasion cards.

Novelty ice cubes will also be sold.

The money from the sales is used to pay for cups and gowns, yearbooks, and the senior banquet. The class is striving to meet a goal of $800.

Brigadier Ernest Hammer, local Commander of The Salvation Army, announced today that Colonel Marion M. Cohn, Commander of The Salvation Army for the Eastern section of Michigan, will be speaking at the 10:30 a.m. service at the Plymouth Community Center, 290 Fairground Street, this Sunday morning.

This visit to Plymouth since he has taken this command about two years ago.

The Salvation Army is observing its Annual Rally Day and is having Homecoming services at the Plymouth Community Center, 290 Fairground Street, this Sunday morning.

A great Open Air service will be held Sunday evening at 6:30 and the final service will be at 7 p.m. in the Army Hall, with Major McLean preaching. The public is invited.

The Salvation Army is a member agency of the Plymouth Community Fund.

Colonel and Mrs. Cohn will be the special speaker in the morning and will speak in the Sunday School at 10 a.m. and in the evening service at 7 p.m. A souvenir gift will also be given every member and visitor who comes to Sunday morning this Sunday. After the service there will be a basket-pot-luck dinner.
