

Citizens urge patrol group to curb vandalism in City

Disturbed by what seems to be an increase in vandalism in the City of Plymouth, a group of citizens has suggested formation of a Plymouth Citizens Block Patrol to aid local police.

The proposed groups would not be armed, nor would they be empowered to make arrests. But they would be equipped with portable walkie-talkie radios so they could make contact with Plymouth Police.

Earl Merriman, a city resident and staff member of the C. L. Finlan & Sons Insurance Agency, told The Plymouth Mail the purpose of the group would be to reduce vandalism.

He has approached Superintendent of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher about the matter and Fisher commented on the proposal Monday.

"It has some merit," Fisher said, "but it's one of those things you have to approach with caution. There should be some ground rules."

ONE THING that is needed, Fisher pointed out, is citizens who are willing to sign complaints when they witness an act of vandalism. There are more than enough persons, he noted, who are simply calling police.

But signed complaints are needed.

Fisher expressed agreement with some of the suggestions made by Merriman.

"I'm glad to see that people wouldn't get involved in citizens' arrests," he said. "That's a touchy area." Fisher said he had a tentative meeting set up with Merriman to discuss the matter.

If the Citizens Block Patrol were set up, this is the way it might operate:

(1) Group captains in six separate areas of the city would have from four to 10 men under their direction.

(2) When the Police Department receives complaints of vandalism in a given area, they would alert the group captain who, in turn, would alert his volunteers.

(3) The patrol would immediately take assigned posts in their area and watch for vandals. If violations were observed, the men would report to police — giving location, description of car and license number if one is being used by the violators, and identification of the persons involved, if possible.

4) When identification is possible, a complaint would be signed by a patrol member.

Merriman was particularly emphatic about avoidance of citizens' arrest activities.

"In no case," he said, "will a patrol carry arms or try to make arrests. We should only be observers." Merriman said he felt a patrol would curtail undesirable activities.

He said if the patrol were formed about 40 volunteers would be needed.

This would include about eight to ten men for each of four geographical sectors of the city and about four to six men each for the Cassady and Garling subdivisions.

Persons interested in forming such a patrol may contact Merriman at 453-6000.

The proposed formation of the Plymouth Citizens Block Patrol was prompted by a recent flurry of malicious vandalism in the city, including a rash of window smashings in cars parked along the streets.

Insurance Co. execs deny SEC charges

Complete vindication is expected by officers of the Plymouth-based Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company on charges which were leveled against them last week by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

In a special interview with The Plymouth Mail, Charles H. R. Bruce, president of Alexander Hamilton, and Robert O. Safford, vice president, expressed their belief that the charges which received wide publicity last week were unfounded.

In the past week, stories appeared in The Wall Street Journal and both metropolitan Detroit daily newspapers — noting that SEC staff investigators charged "manipulation" and violation of securities regulations in the sale of subscription shares in Alexander Hamilton Life.

Bruce, Safford and E. Keith Owens, chairman of the board of the insurance company were named in the charges along with officers of Armstrong, Jones & Co., a Detroit securities firm.

THE SEC noted that "the operations of and conduct of the insurance business of (Alexander Hamilton) is in no way involved in the proceedings against the brokerage firm."

Foley, 7 others in circuit court race Tuesday, Nov. 2

Four new Circuit Court judges will be elected Nov. 2 in a county-wide election, from a field of eight candidates.

Among those running is Thomas Foley, 11785 Pricilla Lane, who came in third in the September primary.

Other candidates are Clair Moody, Jr., Charles B. Farmer, H. J. Dingeman, Joe B. Sullivan, Orville L. Hubbard, Anthony Szymanski and Robert DeMascio.

The special election was set up by Governor George Romney after the legislature created four new Wayne County Circuit Court judgeships.

A field of 46 ran in the primary.

Youthful businessmen ringing bells

An eager young man will ring your door bell this week or next and ask for 35 cents. He's your neighbor and Plymouth Mail carrier boy and he'll be making his monthly collection.

In the past subscribers paid annually for post office distribution of their paper. But earlier this year, the Plymouth Mail converted from mail to carrier boy delivery. Consequently, if your annual subscription is expiring, he will ask you to renew it for a 35 cent monthly charge. He will not collect if your subscription has not run out.

The change was made so The Mail could bring you late-breaking local news sooner and to provide local youngsters with a chance to earn money on their own. For many of them, it is their first venture into direct, customer contact business.

FOLEY, a 44-year-old ex-Wayne County prosecutor is a World War II veteran, and has argued cases all the way to the United States Supreme Court.

He spent six years in the prosecutor's office.

Foley has waged an active campaign, and has received the endorsement of the Civic Searchlight. He polled almost 70,000 votes in the primary.

Polls in Plymouth Township will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., according to Township Clerk C. V. Sparks. Precincts Two and Three will vote at the Township Hall on Ann Arbor Road. Precincts One and Four will vote at the Lake Pointe Fire Station on Schoolcraft Road.

Sparks declined to comment.

Name R. B. Scott to succeed Jenkins on School Board

HE SAW HIS SON for the first time last week. The story behind the reunion of this Cuban family was revealed last week by a man who is trying to help them, Rev. Edward Castner of the First Presbyterian Church. Miguel Del Rio left, saw his son, front, and his daughter, Miriam, and wife Marta, and his mother, Mrs. Blanca Del Rio, after a four years separation, last Tuesday. Both Del Rio, and Ramon Arcos, center, came to Plymouth two years ago. Arcos and his mother, Mrs. Ludgarda Arcos, were also reunited. The five relatives fled Cuba in a tiny boat.

R. Bruce Scott, a resident of the recently annexed Gear School district, will replace Robert Jenkins on The Plymouth Community School Board.

Currently at Parke, Davis he is in charge of infrared spectroscopy, X-ray diffraction, and nuclear magnetic resonance services in the physical chemistry laboratory. He is a member of the American Chemical Society.

Scott is married (Patricia Mitchell), has three children, Lana, Jeffrey and Christopher.

Jenkins resigned recently to take a job in New York. Scott's appointment was approved Monday night at a special meeting of the Board. The vote on President Gerald Fischer's nomination was unanimous.

Scott was the president of the Gear School District Board of Education, and led a successful move to get that district annexed to Plymouth's Gear is an area along the border of Salem and Superior Townships in Washtenaw County. The vote to annex was approved late this summer by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Fischer said Scott was "agreeable" to the appointment. Then he, and two other board members, Ernest Henry and Robert Soth, will face re-election.

THE APPOINTMENT is allowed under State statute. Scott commented on his appointment to the Board in a telephone interview Tuesday: "I'm delighted about it. I had let it be known that I intended to run at the next annual election. This gives me an opportunity to get started a little earlier, getting some experience between now and then."

"The Board of Education is a very important civic responsibility, and I feel I have a contribution to make," he added.

That term would represent the last three years of Jenkins' term. Under law the School Board could only appoint until the next election.

He joined the research staff of Parke, Davis and Company in 1944, was transferred to the Ann Arbor lab. in 1959 and has been there since.

Before joining Parke, Davis he attended graduate school at the University of Detroit, worked for the Packard Motor Car Company, and served in the Air Force as an aircraft engineering officer.

R. Bruce Scott

The Board adopted the plans of its architects for a 12-room school plus related additions.

NEVER SAW SON Reunited Cubans seek house for new life

Reunited with their families last week for the first time since they escaped Castro's Cuba under a barrage of gunfire four years ago, two Cuban men, who have been living in Plymouth, have set about the business of building a new life.

The pair, Miguel Del Rio and Ramon Arcos, met their families in a tearful reunion at Willow Run Airport.

Del Rio saw his three-and-one-half year old son, Miguel, Jr., for the first time Tuesday. He had escaped in 1962 when his wife, Marta, was pregnant.

Del Rio's wife, his son, and daughter Miriam, and mother Blanca Del Rio, along with Ludgarda Arcos, Arcos' mother, traveled the 90 miles between Cuba and Key West in a tiny boat with 32 people in it. Midway, the boat swamped, and the family lost what few belongings they had.

PCF well on way to $86,083 goal

Plymouth Community Fund returns were moving well last week, according to general drive chairman John Kamego, who reported that $15,876 had been collected to date.

The goal is $86,083.

"We should get a real good indication at this week's report meeting. I am very encouraged based on the returns of the residential captains. They are way ahead of last year's at this time."

Kamego noted that the professional and educational divisions had not been heard from yet, and would report this Thursday.

Residential division chairman Mrs. Martin Schomberger reported a total of $4,372, and $276 in pledges.

The industrial total stood at $9,053 last week.

And John Kamego reported $400 in special contributions, some of which came from the YMCA apple sale.

EDUCATION division chairman James Doyle said the goal for the High School was $700, up $400 from last year. He has organized class competition, and the Plymouth Education Association will award a prize to the class with the best returns.

Following the report meeting at Hillside on Oct. 28 a final report or victory dinner will be held on Nov. 4.

The drive began Oct. 11, and is The Plymouth Community's give-once-for-all effort.

Frank Palmer, Plymouth Community Fund president, recently pointed out where some of the money goes:

"The Salvation Army money goes to homeless and needy families. They help families when they first come to town, help them get established, and help them find housing, and buy food."

"The visiting nurse program comes out of Detroit."

Grade school students walking along Five Mile Rd., under conditions termed hazardous by parents and school transportation experts, will be bused starting immediately.

Change school busing policy

That was the School Board decision last Monday night as they met in special session to consider several items.

Parents in the area, headed by Robert Tripp, had urged that students forced to walk along Five Mile and Schoolcraft Roads to Farrand Elementary School be transported.

They awaited word from school officials who were to report how much it might cost to change the policy.

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister recommended the following change, and the Board adopted it:

"To the extent that existing facilities are available the superintendent of schools shall be given discretionary power to grant transportation on a temporary basis to part of or all of children in grades K-6 in certain areas, who live less than one mile from school, whenever in his judgment they are exposed to unusually dangerous traffic conditions."

Dave Strack to speak to CofC's Forum

David Strack, University of Michigan's head basketball coach, will speak to the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Businessmen's Forum Nov. 4.

He will discuss the coming basketball season for the U of M. The Forum committee had decided recently that a change of pace was needed for the popular Forum, and so Strack was contacted.

He will speak at a noon luncheon in the John T. Alden Room of the Mayflower Hotel.

Dave Strack has done one of the greatest rebuilding jobs in basketball coaching history since returning to his Alma Mater as head man in 1960-61.

From the Big Ten cellar with a 2-12 record and a 6-18 over mark, Strack has guided the Wolverines into the top echelon of collegiate basketball in five short years. This season his team finished as Big Ten champion with a 13-1 record and then went on to finish as runner-up to UCLA with a 24-4 record. His 1965 team, although last year's outfit shared the conference title with Ohio State, was Michigan's first undisputed title-holder since 1948.

The motion was carried. Mr. Robert Tripp, speaking for a group of interested and concerned parents who live in the Five Mile and Schoolcraft Roads area, called attention to the hazardous conditions to which the children are exposed when walking to and from school along both of these roads.

He urged the Board to waive the transportation policy and permit the older children in grades 3, 4 and 5 who live in this area to ride the buses until such time as sidewalks are constructed and the hazardous conditions are removed. The present policy provides for transportation for the younger children in grades kindergarten, 1 and 2. He noted that the parents' observations had been confirmed by the Wayne County Road Patrol, the State Police and the AAA.

Board members noted the problems which arise if an exception to the policy was made in one part of the District.

It was moved by Member Jenkins and seconded by Member Henry that the transportation policy be waived for a two-week period; that last year's practices in this area prevail (all children were transported because the route open at that time to school was more than one mile); and that a report be prepared for the Board detailing the cost of providing transportation for all children in grades kindergarten through five who live in areas where exceptional traffic hazards prevail.

Ayes: Members Henry, Jenkins and Fischer. Nays: Members Hulsing, McLaren and Schultheiss.

The motion was carried. President Fischer directed the Administration to prepare the report suggested in the previous motion and called a special meeting for Monday, September 20, 1965, for the purpose of reviewing the report and considering modifications in the transportation policy.

Member Henry, Chairman of the Community Relations Committee, commented on the Newsletter to the citizens which was in process of preparation.

Member Hulsing, Chairman of the Curriculum Committee, noted that she had been invited to meet with the Administrative Staff to review the Reading Program. She commented on the urgency for teaching practical everyday Economics in the classroom.

Assistant Sup't Harding made a progress report on the Human Growth and Development Program.

Member Schultheiss noted that he planned to meet with the Superintendent and the President of the Plymouth Education Association to plan an agenda for the Employee Relations Committee.

Facilities Planning Committee (Chairman Soth) was absent due to illness. Upon the recommendation of the Transportation Policy Committee, it was agreed to locate the storage building on the Plymouth High School site in accordance with the suggestion made by the Principal and Director of Athletics.

President Fischer asked the Board members to suggest to him within the next two weeks names of citizens whom they wish to nominate to serve on a Citizens Advisory Committee to plan on a long range basis the facilities for the School District.

Member McLaren, Chairman of the Finance Committee, noted the first budget analysis would be presented for review in October. Assistant Sup't Blunk presented for review the annual financial report which he had prepared for publication.

Member Jenkins entered the meeting at 8:40 p.m. Members of the Board of Education and interested citizens who reside in the Five Mile-Schoolcraft area and the Clare Boulevard-Sheldon area reviewed the hazardous conditions to which children are exposed in walking to and from school. Emphasis was placed on the importance of transporting students, the hiring of crossing guards, the importance of constructing sidewalks in areas where students are required to walk to school along busy highways, the possibility of reducing the speed limit along certain highways and the installation of appropriate signs.

President Fischer read correspondence of the Superintendent of Schools directed to the Wayne County Road Commission requesting the installation of signs and the reducing of the speed limit on Five Mile Road.

Assembly sets program on 'Headstart' project

The Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity will hear speakers from Ypsilanti and Livonia discuss their experiences this past summer in presenting a "Headstart" program to their communities, Oct. 27.

In charge of the Livonia project was Edwin LaDuke, principal of Monroe Elementary School, who will address the group.

The speaker from Ypsilanti will be Dave Weikert of the Special Services Department of Ypsilanti Public Schools. The Ypsilanti program was centered in Perry School, Ypsilanti.

"Headstart" is a Federally subsidized program which came about through the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

It is a program for culturally disadvantaged children, with the hope that these youngsters will have a better school adjustment if they are given some pre-kindergarten experience.

The basic used for a determining point is family income of $3,000 or less a year, and 85% of the children taking part in such a project are to come from this segment of the school district population.

The Federal Government bears 90% of the cost, and the local district takes up the other 10%.

The public is invited to this

Homeowners to hear deputy on police protection

"Police Protection In The Township" will be the theme of the first of a series of informative meetings to be sponsored by the Western Homeowners' Improvement Association at Gallimore school on Thursday evening, Oct. 28, at 7 p.m.

Inspector R. Novak of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department will be the principal speaker and will give Township residents an insight into the types and extent of police protection they can expect. A question and answer period has been arranged so that citizens may take an active part in the program.

The meeting is open to the public and all interested citizens, especially those living in the association area, are urged to attend.

The Western Homeowners' Improvement Association serves the area bounded by Canton Center Road, Ford Road, Napier, and Ann Arbor Roads, and is made up of community minded citizens residing within that area.

Schools alter bus policy

The old policy called for K-2 to be bused if they lived less than a mile and were exposed to traffic hazards. Everyone else walked, unless they lived a mile away. An easement, or sidewalk placed this summer in the rear of the Farrand School put many students within the one mile limit who were not last year.

Isbister said he had enough facilities to handle the Five Mile area, and the Clare Blvd. area, which is just west of Sheldon Road. These students must walk to Smith School, and thus have to cross busy Sheldon Road.

Three new buses are on their way, Isbister noted, but these are merely to take care of existing increased enrollment needs.

The whole matter will be reviewed again in June, next year, when budget time rolls around. The new policy involves no new capital outlay, Isbister said.

A Wayne County Intermediate School District transportation expert, E. Wheelock, had agreed with parents' claims that students walking with their backs to traffic was dangerous. He urged temporary use of existing facilities, and a long range study, both of which the Board agreed to Monday.

Your Chamber In Action

The composition of the Education Committee of your local Chamber of Commerce is made up of men from the community schools, local industries and business.

Papers have been prepared and distributed on the following topics: "A Position of Tax Reform" and "Occupational Training in the Plymouth High School". A third paper is being prepared and will be distributed concerning "sound schools require adequate financing".

During Michigan Week in May, a "Career Week" for students was planned and implemented by the Committee. Evaluations showed that 815 students took part and were counseled concerning vocations. 74 career meetings were held with consultants from industries, business and colleges.

A program of welcome to new Plymouth teachers was provided. City and Township officials along with the Chamber of Commerce officers welcomed the new teachers and provided about 60 new teachers with materials about the community.

Our final undertaking for this year will be to attempt to organize a Business-Industry-Education Day, enabling businessmen and industrial leaders to explain and show local teachers how business and industry operates and why.

To the Supervisor and Highway Commission of the Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan. Sirs: You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on October 7, 1965, decide and determine that the certain section of county road described in the minutes of said meeting of said Board should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a public highway, and that the abandonment of another section of said county road should be denied.

The portion of the minutes of said meeting describing said sections of county road is attached hereto and made a part of this notice, which is given under and by virtue of Act 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended.

WHEREAS, the premises were viewed in accordance with said statute; and

WHEREAS, it appears from said hearing and view of the premises that the best interest of the public will not be served by the absolute abandonment and discontinuance of the entire length of said road as prayed for in the petition, but only a portion thereof should be abandoned and discontinued.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that it is in the best interest of the public that that portion of the above-described county road described as follows:

All of Wiles Street, 40 feet wide except the northerly 17 feet (measured at right angles to Geddes Road) as shown on said Supervisor's Canton Plat No. 3, be and the same is hereby DENIED.

Boo-boo takes driver's licenses out of City

Of all the decisions which have emanated from the creaking machinery of state government in recent years, one of the most abysmally ill-conceived stands out as a serious disservice to residents of The Plymouth Community.

Back in the good old days, not so long ago, local residents could apply for or renew their driver's licenses at two community locations.

They could go to the Plymouth City Hall from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. five days a week, or go to the Plymouth Township Hall from Wayne County Sheriff's officers.

But all that has changed, thanks to the state governmental bureaucracy. Now, according to orders laid down by Secretary of State James Hare's office, Plymouth Community residents have an unusual choice.

(1) They can get licenses one day a week at the Plymouth Township Hall from Wayne County Sheriff's officers.

(2) Or they can go somewhere else and like it.

Originally, Hare's office decreed that no licenses would be issued after July 1 by police departments that had been handling less than 10,000 licenses annually.

Then, after the scope of this administrative boo-boo had become apparent, Lansing thoughtfully extended the time in which Plymouth Police could continue to issue licenses to September 1.

Since then, local residents have been going here and there for licenses.

Many of them have been going to Northville, which for some strange reason or another was selected as one of those departments that could continue to issue licenses.

Northville Police Chief Eugene King told The Plymouth Mail his department's licensing workload has increased tremendously.

"It's creating a hardship," he commented, "and we're contemplating the addition of help which we don't want to do." So far, King said, advertisements for clerks to help with the increase have produced nothing.

The only other alternative, he said, is to curtail the Northville Department's 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. schedule or put things on an appointment basis.

Last month, the chief noted, Plymouth applicants outnumbered Northville area residents by three to one.

All of which stands as some kind of monument to governmental muddle at the state level.

Frankly, we're tired of the whole thing.

We're tired of seeing Plymouth Community people inconvenienced and taken out of their way.

We're tired of seeing decisions made at the state level which penalize the local population.

And the only thing that would make us less weary would be remedial action by Secretary of State Hare's office to unravel the mess of red tape that long distance licensing has created.

Anyone in search of respite from the realities of mundane living should get wrapped up in a PTA shindig.

Oh sure, I know, the PTA is supposed to be in disrepute throughout the country. Their ranks are being infiltrated by the John Birch Society and ADA and ACA and the Communist party.

Their numbers have been depleted by campaigns against obscenity and pinkos in the classroom. It is said they are generally a thorn in the sides of most school boards.

But take Smith School. I say, take Smith School, because I have no choice — I gotta take Smith School. That's where girl child is enrolled in the third grade and boy-type animal attends kindergarten. And Mom signed me up in the PTA. "Hey," she asked last week, "how would you like to work at the annual school fair?" "Your're kidding," I said. So Saturday evening I worked at the annual school fair.

When I walked in, Chief Dishwasher Bob Brandt said I could extricate lunch tables from their recessed wells in the gymnasium wall.

I did such a bang-up job on that he let me help wipe the school year's accumulation of peanut butter and jelly off some of the benches.

That went so well I was demoted to run the coffee urn which was recessed in a little opening so most of the customers couldn't find it.

"What we need is a sign," I said. "How about a piece of cardboard?"

So Bob, who also goes by the name of Big Chief Laughing Polecat in the YMCA Indian Guides, extricated his tomahawk and cleaved us a hunk from a potato chip carton.

Someone found a crayon that was an inch thick and a half inch long and I carefully lettered this inscription on the cardboard: C-O-F-F-E.

"Plan ahead," the big chief commented. "I haven't got room for the other 'E,'" I explained. "Ha," somebody muttered, "I always wondered about the spelling in The Plymouth Mail."

Promptly at 7:30 p.m., a half hour after she should have, Mommy relieved me and surrendered small boy to my care and keeping.

"I can't find his sister," she commented. "You look for her." And she thrust a multi-colored balloon on a stick into my hand.

So I looked, followed by a small tow-headed lad with a shrill bamboo whistle that some incarnate fiend had given him.

Now, Smith School is divided into three corridors which shoot, at right angles, off from the main hallway. All three were jammed beyond belief with hollering kids and bewildered looking parents.

Each room was packed with humanity, most pint sized, who were eagerly trying the games and amusements. It was through these that we wandered — me with a pile of picky outer garments burdening my arms and a lump of gluey fudge of indeterminate origin clutched in one hand while the balloon on a stick waved gaily from the other.

Kindergartener bobbed along with his miserable bamboo whistle, going "PHWEET!" and we never did find his sister but eventually she showed up where her mother was working; and there she waited for us.

We got all dressed up to go home and Big Chief Flying Pterodactyl bid us goodbye. "Quitter," he said.

"How, Big Brave Rumbling Dinosaur," we responded.

But I guess the fair was a success. And the PTA puts the money raised to good use in the school.

It seems to me that two of the keys to a PTA that gets things done are hard working officers and cooperative school officials.

Which is to say that Happy Warrior Brandt and his Squaw, Joan, and the Kal Jabaras and others equally as active deserve a lot of credit.

And so does Smith Principal, Miss Ruth Erickson. The scene, of course, is repeated with variations by other elementary PTA groups in The Plymouth Community and they all merit praise.

Too often we hear of nuts who render parent-teacher groups ineffective and ineffectual.

Too seldom we pay tribute to the hard workers who make such groups vehicles of achievement.

PCF should stay in Plymouth

Conceived in 1945 as an independent drive, the fund has been conducted by Plymouth people, for Plymouth people ever since.

And it should stay that way.

Community Fund officials, including Frank Palmer, president, are quick to point out what would happen if the Plymouth Community Fund became part of the Detroit United Foundation drive. For example, the work in the family service area would be seriously impaired, Palmer notes.

"We'd have a family service, but chances are it would be a year before anybody got help. They'd be on a waiting list."

Nor would we have the dental service for indigent patients, one of the few in the state, or money for the local YMCA, or a senior citizens allotment.

It has been the theory of the PCF that money must be kept available to resolve recognized needs of The Plymouth Community; this cannot be done if the Plymouth Community Fund becomes part of the United Foundation.

One recipient of PCF funds most assuredly would not get funds if the United Foundation were involved — the Plymouth Symphony. Frank Palmer puts it this way.

"The $2,000 given to the Symphony is money that keeps them together." The money is given to them at the point when their budget runs low, just before their membership drive in the spring.

"I determine it as a binding ingredient that keeps them in our community."

There are strong sentiments in the community regarding its inclusion in the Plymouth Community Fund drive, both pro and con.

We favor its inclusion, particularly because it is such a small investment for such a big asset. The Plymouth Symphony is an important part of the cultural life of Plymouth, and is one of the really tangible so-called "unique" things about Plymouth. The Symphony ranks with the Fall Festival and the Community Fund itself in importance for Plymouth, and becomes much more significant than the grey paint, white colonial columns and early American atmosphere in making Plymouth truly different.

While the larger part of the value of the Symphony's free concerts cannot be measured in dollars, it can however be measured in people made happy by fine music.

Because of this, the Symphony, and the entire Plymouth Community Fund deserve the support of the Plymouth Community, this month, during the annual drive.

A DONATION OF $500 to the Sheltered Workshop was made last week by the Lions Club of Plymouth. The workshop is a training ground for mentally retarded young adults, who are given simple jobs like counting or packaging. The gift was announced by Lions president Dr. Raymond Barber, and was given to JayCee national director Wendell Smith, center. Smith, and the Plymouth JayCeos spearheaded a drive to get the workshop. Gene Harrison, who was chairman of the Lions Club effort looks on.

TOWNSHIP PLANNERS:

Set hearing on shopping center, review 3 apartment developments

New apartment developments and another controversial commercial rezoning request on the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty Road indicated to the Plymouth Township planners last week that development was still booming.

Plans for two new apartment developments were submitted, and a hearing set on the shopping center at the regular meeting of the Township planning commission last Wednesday night.

Robert Wedler's request for C-2, commercial rezoning on the southeast corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty had been tied up for several months after the first request was denied in July.

But Wedler had been told by a Township official that he could re-apply. Township planners thought he couldn't so they sought a written opinion from Township attorney Earl Demel.

Demel has been seriously ill, and was unable to put the opinion in writing.

THEN, after repeated requests from Wedler for action, last Wednesday the planners listed his commercial rezoning for public hearing in November on their own initiative.

Residents in the area had opposed the original request, which was for C-2, which permits, among other things, a bowling alley and a bar.

The new application will be for C-1, which does permit shopping centers, but no bar or bowling alley. In other action, the Township planning board reviewed plans for three separate apartment developments:

The rezoning request of George and Bernard Stadtmiller for a 128-unit apartment development along Ann Arbor Rd. just west of Sheldon Road a few hundred feet. Planning consultant W. C. Johnson has recommended against the rezoning. It will be up for public hearing in November.

The rezoning request from Gerard Loiselle for 112 apartments on the southeast corner of Five Mile and Bradner Roads. The matter was handed to Johnson for study.

The rezoning request of the Holtzman and Silverman, and Gould Development Co. for apartments, 160 units, near the freeway route, south of Ann Arbor Trail, and east of Haggerty. This matter was also sent to Johnson for study.

The commissioners also saw the plot plan for Postiff Estates, with 68 homes and 10 duplexes planned.

The planning commission voted to deny the request of Theodore Brown for rezoning from R-1 to R-3 for the purpose of a convalescent home at Territorial and Ridge Roads.

Brown had agreed to seek waivers from residents in the area, but failed to produce them at the meeting Wednesday.

John Welsher moved acceptance of the request for the 75-bed home, and Russell Ash seconded it. But the rest of the commission voted it down, with Clayton Koch abstaining.

The commissioners indicated they voted it down because it conflicted with zoning plans, was spot zoning, and had not been recommended by Johnson, their professional planner.

Nancy Mettetal marries Gary Lee Pride

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Pride

In a double ring ceremony on Friday evening, Oct. 15 Nancy Lee Mettetal became the bride of Gary Lee Pride. The Rev. Henry J. Walch performed the 8 o'clock rites in the First United Presbyterian Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Mettetal of Marlowe St., the bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Pride of Pacific St.

The white brocade bridal gown, designed and sewn by the bride and her aunt, Mrs. Donald Herrick, was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, fitted skirt and scalloped train. She wore a pearl and diamond pendant necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. A pearl and crystal bead tiara held her veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white Fuji mums intertwined with beaded ribbons.

Suzanne Mettetal was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were her cousin, Mrs. Joseph Calhoun and Mrs. Daniel Dowsett of Ypsilanti.

The attendants wore gowns of brocade with a fabric pattern matching the bride's dress. Cascading bouquets of rust and gold Fuji mums accented the gowns of gold. Tailored bows held the attendants' circular tulle headdresses.

David Cheney of Plymouth carried out best man's duties. Seating the guests were Robert Mettetal, II, and Peter C. Wooley.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mettetal chose an antique gold and green silk brocade dress with gold accessories. Mrs. Pride wore sage, gold and bittersweet brocade with beige and bronze accessories. They each wore a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Pride left for a motor tour of northern Michigan after receiving 150 guests in the parlors of the church.

The couple are both graduates of Plymouth High School. Mr. Pride has served four years in the United States Navy. His wife received her associate degree in art from the Henry Ford Community College.

Mr. and Mrs. Pride will live at 41655 Wilcox Rd.

Recovery, Inc. aids many in restoring mental health

Recovery, Inc., a self-help mental health organization, is a tremendous aid to at least 30 members in the Plymouth Community.

Meeting each Monday evening at 7:30 in Room 114 at Plymouth High School, the members conduct an informative discussion panel and also help each other by relating their own experiences.

The discussion leader in Plymouth is Mrs. Sandra Wagenschutz, who has just returned from an intensive two day leaders' conference in Detroit. All Recovery leaders are former mental or nervous patients who are trained in the self-help method developed by Dr. Abraham A. Low, professor of psychiatry.

The purpose of Recovery, Inc. is to prevent relapses in former mental patients and chronicity in nervous patients. However, it is not necessary to have been hospitalized or under the care of a psychiatrist in order to participate in the meetings.

Again, as Mrs. Wagenschutz points out, "The member must want to help himself. He must realize that he has a problem and want to overcome the problem. No one can do it for him."

Recovery, Inc. in no way supplants the doctor. It neither diagnoses nor treats anyone. It is a self-help program through which many persons have found a way back to normal living.

In order to acquaint people with the Recovery method of self-help, the local group will present a panel demonstration discussion upon request. Last Tuesday the group demonstrated their work to a sociology class at Plymouth High School.

Anyone interested in Recovery may call Mrs. Wagenschutz, 453-0327, attend any Monday evening meeting at the High School, or write Recovery, Inc., Box 231, Ann Arbor for information.

New Books At Dunning-Hough

Among the new books available at Dunning-Hough library, according to Mrs. Warren Worth, are:

"The Incurable," a tale of revolution and royalty, by Helma de Bois, is a fictional account of Robespierre and his Rein of Terror at the time of the French Revolution.

"Skid Row in American Cities," by Donald Bogue, analyzes the social structure of skid row, emphasizing the idea that the people there are not solely the alcoholics, but varied types who have had other causes for their slide downhill.

"On a Shoestring and a Prayer," by Raymond Sloan, is the story of a nun whose life was devoted mainly to hospital administration.

"Man-made America: Chaos or Control?," an inquiry into selected problems of design in the urbanized landscape, by Christopher Tunnard, Boris Pushkarev, Geoffrey Baker and others. It is a challenging presentation of the problems of regional and urban planning.

"God's Own Junkyard," the planned deterioration of America's landscape, by Peter Blake, is a report "written in fury," by the editor of Architectural Forum, intended to stir the tastemakers about the uglification "of the American landscape by individuals whose main concern is 'private gain.'"

"The New Good Housekeeping Cookbook," edited by Dorothy Marsh, is a perennial favorite in a new edition, enlarged and illustrated.

"Electronic Data Processing Systems," a self-instructional programmed manual by Leeland O'Neal covers all practical aspects of modern systems. It includes self tests and a comprehensive examination with answers.

"How to Build Your Own Furniture," by R. J. De Cristoforo, includes construction details, design elements, assembly procedures and techniques.

Gourmets enjoy this hors d'oeuvre

For mixed reactions among the guests at your next party, try the Tartar Spread suggested by Mrs. Norman Hughes of Crestwood Dr. Made from raw hamburger, the spread is used on crackers or bread as an hors d'oeuvre.

The Hughes family have been Plymouth residents for just one year, moving here from Bowling Green, Ohio. The children are Lynne, 9, who attends Farrand school and Kerry, 4½.

Mrs. Hughes says she enjoys sewing and knitting and is also a swim enthusiast. She is a member of the Newcomer Club and enjoyed the Gourmet group last year. A leader of Brownie Girl Scout Troop No. 217, she is also a fourth grade room mother.

As an advocate of James Beard who authors Gourmet cook books, Mrs. Hughes chose this recipe from his book.

TARTAR SPREAD

- 1 lb. finely ground raw round steak
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ Tbs. dry mustard
- ½ tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- 1 medium onion
- 1 clove - finely chopped
- 1 Tbs. capers
- large amount of chopped parsley

Mix thoroughly and put in a large bowl. Let guests spread it on rye or pumpernickle bread or crackers. Have a pot of mustard available if they like it extra hot.

Bill Eldred fund tops $900

A cash gift will be presented to Bill Eldred next week when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Notebaert of Beech Ct. and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Martin of Fairground St. visit the J. L. Hudson delivery man who recently underwent the amputation of his leg. The total as of Oct. 25 in the Bill Eldred Fund is $927.90.

Bill returned to his home, 471 E. Troy, Ferndale, on Oct. 23 from a lengthy stay in the William Beaumont Hospital and will be fitted for an artificial limb in about eight weeks.

The fund was established as a gift from Bill's Plymouth friends in appreciation for the many friendly services he performed for his customers.

In a phone call to The Plymouth Mail, Mrs. Eldred expressed the family's gratitude and appreciation for the cards and notes Bill has received and for the thoughtfulness of their Plymouth friends.

Last minute contributions to the fund will be received by Betty Korte at the National Bank of Detroit until Friday, Oct. 29.

PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS visiting Plymouth House last week were Mrs. Harold Guenther of 1142 N. Holbrook and Mrs. Ray Hulce of 9275 McClumpha Road. Brown is reproducing the many sound effects on tape and atmosphere is being added by use of lighting effects devised by Kenneth McLeod, and publicity chairman Sandra Richards is doing a shing about town with tickets and posters. Ellen McNeiece is conferring with Jacob Rumpf, director, concerning the many tasks that befall her as a producer, while Barbara Johnson is standing by as assistant to the director.

Redford Union in easy 20-6 victory over sagging Rocks

Redford Union ran two touchdowns around Plymouth's ends Friday night and that was enough to win the game, 20-6.

Both touchdowns were scored by RU's fullback, Jim Johnston. And, after the half, Terry Shirkley broke the game wide open and ran 80 yards up the middle, breaking at least two tackles, for a touchdown.

It was the fifth loss for the Rocks, who have scored only 21 points in six games. Rain and a muddy field hampered Plymouth's passing attack. It rained most of the week, and the Redford Union field at Lola Valley School was a sea of mud.

The Rocks ride deep in the Suburban Six cellar, experiencing one of their worst seasons in many a year.

Hubert Humphrey and the big time

There is a time in the life of a newsman in small-town community journalism when he yearns for the big time — the chance to cover a race riot, or a big election, write an in depth feature on Viet Nam, or cover a major speech of an international figure.

I guess my big break came last Friday when I went to Livonia Franklin High School to hear Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey dedicate Livonia's new high school, the Adlai Stevenson High School on Six Mile Road.

Humphrey was late, about two hours, and it gave me a chance to soak up some of the big-time atmosphere in the press rooms. Tables, chairs, typewriters, telephones were all on hand, along with various and sundry press people.

Time dragged on and it was announced that Humphrey's plane had just left Buffalo, New York. At this point, the WXYZ-radio and TV newsmen decided to play cards. I had read a pre-release of Humphrey's speech three times, so I had nothing to do but listen. Joe Weaver, of WBJK TV-2 was talking to the Queen for United Nations Day.

Hubert Humphrey arrived, and spoke only a few minutes. He is young and strong looking, and his face doesn't show nearly the strain that President Johnson's face shows.

It was a good speech, exactly what you would expect from Humphrey — clear, crisp, no nonsense administration policy, with a few kind words for a man who deserves many decades of recognition, Adlai Stevenson.

It was the big time for me I suppose. Frankly I look forward to the day when Vice President Humphrey and I walk out of a building together to face a crowd, and somebody nearby mutters, "Who's that guy with Doug Johnson?"

Crush AP in cross country

Howard Stuedeman paced the Plymouth harriers in a 15-50 romp over Allen Park last week, as the Rocks took the first seven places.

Stuedeman's time was 9:39. Coach John Sandmann reported he was very pleased with Stuedeman's work. The young runner has set the pace for the Rocks all season.

BUT THE DAMAGE had been done earlier when Plymouth left its ends open for RU power plays. With pulling lineman, and good backfield blocking, Redford Union was able to move well against Plymouth.

RU scored in the first quarter, then a Plymouth TD bid failed as quarterback Jim Arnold and his teammates were unable to come up with a play good for six inches.

Moments later Plymouth had the ball intercepted by RU's Henry DeLong. But Plymouth's Roger Smith, playing his best game so far, recovered a Redford Union fumble. Three plays later Plymouth was forced to kick.

At this point RU uncorked its power play around end and Jim Johnston, picking up a block from Kent Griffiths, skirted 40 yards around end for the TD.

Plymouth continued to miss the services of Curt Irish, who was sidelined with a knee injury. Dick Dyer ran at fullback for Plymouth, and picked up some yardage, but not at the right time.

Both Arnold and Dave Prochazka ran the team at quarterback.

LEO CALHOUN FORD announced the winners of the annual Punt, Pass and Kick contest Saturday. '66 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe—one of 19 models with fine-sculptured new Body by Fisher

NOW! '66 CHEVROLET JET-SMOOTHER IMPALA

If you go by first impressions, you could get the idea this clean-honed new '66 is more car than you ever got in an Impala before. And you'd be absolutely right.

Take Chevrolet's newest Turbo-Jet V8's, for instance. You can now order a 396-cubic-inch version with 325 hp. Or you can go for a 427-cubic-inch Turbo-Jet with up to 425 hp.

There's even a new, smoother version of the standard six.

The ride, too, has been refined to a new Jet-smooth level of comfort.

And there's more in the way of those little extras—that come as standard equipment. Like backup lights, padded instrument panel, and windshield washer. More in the way of custom features you can order, too, including AM-FM stereo and automatic Comfortron heating and air conditioning.

How come so many improvements in a car that was already America's solid favorite? That, as you'll see when you check this one out at your dealer's, is what keeps it the favorite.

See the new '66 Chevrolet, Chevelle, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Insurance execs deny charges

A story carried in Sunday's Detroit Free Press reported that the SEC staff charged that Bruce and Safford were directors of Armstrong Jones, and that the brokerage firm "caused" the insurance firm to be incorporated and caused it to enter into an underwriting agreement with Mid-Western Investment Co., headed by Owens, for sale of subscription stock.

According to The Free Press story, the staff charged that Mid-Western entered into a selling agreement with Armstrong Jones and the SEC staff charged, "the brokerage firm caused the insurance firm to sell 682,000 more shares than was authorized and that these shares were purchased by the brokerage firm, the six individuals and their associates."

The charges also allege that Armstrong Jones was caused to trade Hamilton Life shares in the over-the-counter market at prices in excess of $7 a share, as well as sell the stock to persons residing outside of Michigan.

Saturday, Bruce and Owens made a general denial of the SEC charges. They noted that within 30 days after Alexander Hamilton stock went on the market, it was over subscribed by more than $2.7 million.

"A quick rise in the price of the stock caught the attention of the SEC," Bruce said and he, Safford and Owens were called in for an inquiry.

Alexander Hamilton stock which began selling for $4 a share, rose to 10, 15, 16 and finally 18 at the time of the annual stockholders meeting. For the past five and a half months it has been holding at 12 1/2 to 14.

In the wake of last week's publicity, however, the stock price dropped to 8.

Both Bruce and Safford said they had never made a statement to anyone about whether they should buy or sell stock.

"WE ARE not in the stock business," Bruce said. "We're in insurance 100 per cent." The two insurance executives detailed the phenomenal growth of Alexander Hamilton.

The company wrote 15 million in its first month of operation — what the average U.S. firm writes in its first 12 months.

Safford said every insurance sales figure published by the company was audited, in direct conflict with SEC's contention that misleading, fraudulent information was used in reporting practices.

Both men expressed dissatisfaction with the wave of publicity.

"All they (SEC) are saying," Bruce noted, "is 'These are allegations.' No indictments have been issued."

Bruce said the SEC investigation has stretched out over the past year and a half.

"SEC would come in and go out," he said, in their investigation of the insurance company's books. Bruce said Alexander Hamilton officers, weary of the lengthy investigation, finally took it upon themselves to bring it to a head through their attorney, Thomas Meeker of Philadelphia, former SEC general counsel.

In denying the charges, both Bruce and Safford noted that if they had been manipulating stock prices for their own gain, it would follow that they would sell at the high price. However, they said, they all have more stock now than when the issue was first made.

They said they felt it was unfortunate that people with faith in Alexander Hamilton should be frightened by the wide publicity.

IF THE charges were founded, the two men said, indictments would have been handed down and a stop order would have been issued against sales at Alexander Hamilton. Earlier in the week, Hamilton executives issued a statement in the matter. In part, it read:

"We are looking forward to the hearing as a means of clarifying the issue which has been dragging on for over a year and a half. We specifically deny the allegations brought by the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission."

"... The charges are not based on fact but on assumptions regarding prior relations that existed before the Life company was formed. ... We will use the hearing to prove all of these charges totally unfounded between the principals of the brokerage firm and the life company."

"We expect to be fully vindicated."

Two are assigned to this community," Palmer said.

THE SENIOR citizens allotment goes for the use of the Masonic Temple. "This should be expanded," Palmer said. "A lot of them come to this every week. They need someplace to go daily ... just a place they know they can drop down to anytime."

The dental fund is one of the few around, and works through the school nurse, who refers cases.

"The local dentists carry on with a low rate. And they often don't make a charge. We get a fine quality of service and co-operation from local dentists," Palmer commented.

The Family Service agency would be seriously impaired if the PCF joined the United Foundation of Detroit," he said.

"We'd have a family service, but chances are it would be a year before anybody got help. They'd be on a waiting list," Palmer noted.

The YMCA money cannot be used for pleasure trips, but is used for the youth programs aimed at the underprivileged, the school drop-out and the jobless.

The $2,000 given to the Symphony is "money that keeps them together," Palmer said. The money is given to them at the point when their budget runs low, just before their membership drive in the spring.

"I determine it as a binding ingredient that keeps them in our community."

ABOUT $10,000 of the money goes to 22 united health and welfare agencies administered through the United Foundation.

They are living in the home of a man who is in the hospital at the moment, but is due to return home soon.

Rev. Edward Castner, of the First Presbyterian Church, and George Lawton of the Methodist Church, have helped get the Cuban family settled.

"They are looking for a house to rent," Castner said, "and they are extremely hard to find. If anyone knows of one, I wish they would let us know. And the girl can't go to school until we've settled that."

Both men are welders at Evans Products.

The family said that conditions in Cuba are just as bad as they have been reported to be.

Neither Del Rio or Arcos would reveal exactly where their home had been in Cuba, for fear of reprisals. Arcos has a cousin who is in prison because he tried to stop the Communists from breaking up a procession to his church.

FOOD in Cuba is very scarce they report, through Castner, who must act as an interpreter. And all food is rationed, with books, Russian food is especially bad, and is often spoiled.

The government allows only one and one-half ounces of coffee per person a week, a half-pound of beef. Medicine that Del Rio sent to his wife had been cut in half in quantity by government inspectors.

The family reported that churches had been closed by Castro, and that the children were being indoctrinated in governmental ideology.

Everyone in Cuba has to work on a volunteer basis, two days a week for the government. Mostly the work is on the farms, cutting cane sugar.

When asked if it was possible to speak out against Castro, Del Rio replied with a quiet "no," and a finger drawn across his own windpipe, to indicate if he had, he would have been literally cutting his own throat.

HE FURTHER noted that the secret police cultivate informers, and that freedom as they know it in Plymouth was not possible in Cuba.

The architects indicated that at least three weeks would be needed for the contractors to get the bids in. The building projects are set for completion sometime in the fall of 1966.

Fischer urged that the Board "lean over backwards to favor active bidding." The architects report bidding will be high. Back in September they reported that building costs were increasing as much as 35% in some cases.

THE WHOLE construction market is extremely active, and very high, school officials note.

The Family Service agency would be seriously impaired if the PCF joined the United Foundation of Detroit," he said.

"We'd have a family service, but chances are it would be a year before anybody got help. They'd be on a waiting list," Palmer noted.

The YMCA money cannot be used for pleasure trips, but is used for the youth programs aimed at the underprivileged, the school drop-out and the jobless.

The $2,000 given to the Symphony is "money that keeps them together," Palmer said. The money is given to them at the point when their budget runs low, just before their membership drive in the spring.

"I determine it as a binding ingredient that keeps them in our community."

ABOUT $10,000 of the money goes to 22 united health and welfare agencies administered through the United Foundation.

The road between Mamfe and the Nigerian border is only about 40 miles in length. But it is so bad that only one way traffic is allowed on it. On alternate days vehicles travel from east to west and then in the opposite direction on the other days.

By chance we picked the right day to arrive in Mamfe. For our timing was such that we could continue our journey the next day.

But what we didn't know was that there is very little private transport on this road and the regular commercial transport leaves at 6 a.m. So by the time we were ready to go there was no transportation available. The police at a check point along the road in Mamfe told us there probably wouldn't be any vehicle going in the direction we wanted to go for the next 45 hours. They said to continue looking at the sights around the town.

If anything passed on the road they would stop it and put us aboard it. Several hours passed without any results.

In the meantime we saw the town. One of the most interesting sights was a local restaurant. In front of it hung the head of an animal.

THE PROPRIETOR told us that he served a different kind of meat each day and the head was from the animal that was killed each morning. The day we were there a goat's head was on display. Thus his customers would know that goat meat was being served.

The attractive library in Enugu alone accounts for over 200,000 of these books.

Dauids tells realtors suburban crime rising

Crime in the suburbs is rising at an alarming rate. It will continue to increase unless the community as a whole adopts a more realistic attitude toward juvenile delinquency.

Such was the message that Michigan's top law enforcement officer brought to Detroit-area Realtors last Thursday, State Police Commissioner Frederick E. Dauids spoke to a luncheon meeting attended by members of the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors at Cregar's Restaurant, Detroit.

The number of young people involved in serious acts of misbehavior has risen consistently for the past six years, Dauids reported. "Crime figures for the past three years indicate that 55.7 per cent of the total arrests for major crimes involved children under 17."

DAUIDS reminded that in our modern society the city limits, township and county division boundaries grow less distinct each year. As a result, he said, youthful behavior and youth crime have taken on new dimension and character.

"The availability of the automobile, improved roads and a thriving economy have done much to make today's youth mobile. These changes and their related community involvements place a premium on cooperative effort by schools, courts and law enforcement agencies," he declared.

Commissioner Dauids called on the community to revise its thinking regarding transgressions of the law by juveniles.

"One of the most significant factors in the complex attitude toward youth problems today, he maintained, is the false teaching which tends to blame society for all the frustrations, woes and inconven-ences — real or imaginary — visited upon our young people."

He attacked the "foolhardy theory which condones rebellious conduct against authority, law-and-order or any regulation of measures which restrict young people, their whims, wishes, desires, and activities."

Dauids said: "This astonishing belief has spread into the schoolroom, the living room, the courtroom, and now into the streets of our nation in the form of wild, drunken brawls."

"NO DOUBT," society has failed our youth, but not in many ways seem to this, "David continued. "Rather, the delinquent has been in the failure to teach them the meaning of discipline, restraint, self-respect, and respect for law and order and the rights of others. Consequently, the lesson now is both painful and costly."

Dauids called for closer cooperation between police and school.

"In many schools there is a lapse in police-student relationships between the Green-Pennant traffic-safety programs of the elementary years and the driver-education courses on the high school level," he pointed out.

He suggested that it would be "proper and beneficial" in this important period of student civic development for the police to participate in some manner in the school activities.

Newburg Methodists set crusade

Dr. E. Bruce Wilson, from department of Home Missions and Field Service, section of church extension and a Methodist pastor for many years, will direct the Stewardship Crusade, held Oct. 21 through Nov. 1 for the Newburg Methodist Church.

After sessions of training under Dr. Wilson, calls will be made on all members and friends of the church asking for a two-in-one pledge. As the annual canvass, it will take care of current and benevolence expenses for 1966, and a three year pledge toward the Stewardship Crusade, 1966-68.

The minister is Rev. Paul I. Greer and the general chairman is Edward Reid. There are 12 crusade committee members and 125 canvassers who will do the calling.

The ultimate goal is $126,500 — $90,000 for a three-year period will enable them to continue to retire their debt on the church and parsonage; equip and complete their present facilities; project plans for desperately needed educational and fellowship units, and $36,500 for a one-year period for the local budget.

The Newburg congregation was established in 1834; then moved its present location of the oldest church in Livonia at Ann Arbor Trail and Newburg Road in 1915. The membership at that time was 100. When they moved into the new church at Ann Arbor Trail and Levan Road in 1962 the congregation was 446. The membership has grown to 675 at the present time. The Sunday school membership has grown from 317 to its present enrollment of 790.

For those of us lucky enough to be seniors, there was no school Monday as the sophomores and juniors spent all day in their homerooms taking standardized tests. Next Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5, we'll be given another reprieve. But — we must take the bitter with the sweet, the bad with the good.

KIDNAPPER

Today was... report card day. Class competition will form the basis for this year's High School Red Feather Drive, as sophomores, juniors, and seniors dig deep into their pockets and their pennies, nickels, and dimes (oh, come on now!) — er, rather, quarters, half dollars, and dollars to support the Drive, their school, and their class.

The class with the largest donation will be awarded some sort of prize, Tuesday, class presidents Tom Chander, Pete Bender, and Mike Stikas gave pep talks over the PA to their respective classmates.

Tomorrow is the last collection day for the event. The all-school plays, "The American Dream" and "The Sandbox" have been scheduled for production on Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20.

Forming this year's debate teams are the following: for the negative, Larry Smithson seniors couldn't let an opportunity like this pass by, and so a big surprise party was planned for Mike, to be held at the Chip.

With the help of a certain sophomore decoy, Mike was sent out into his garage, where he was "captured" and led blindfolded into another senior's car. After driving him around for quite awhile, with threats of all sorts of high school pranks, the capturers took poor Mike to the youth center where several of the high schoolers were waiting to bid Mike good-bye!

FIRE

Hal Marshall fired up his salesmen this morning when he told them we'll take almost any deal this week on a new Chrysler or Plymouth or any used car at Bob Mallory's Arbor Chrysler-Plymouth, 111 W. Ann Arbor Rd. in Plymouth, Michigan.

BOB MALLORY'S Arbor Chrysler-Plymouth dealership gave the Plymouth Community School driver's education program four new Plymouth Fury III's, for use, free, for one year, last week. The four-door hardtops are complete with radio, heater, power steering and power brakes, and come equipped with the driver education equipment for the instructor. Bob Mallory, left, presents the keys to the cars to William Green, driver education teacher, and assistant superintendent of schools, Melvin Blunk.

IN ADDITION TO ENDING LIFTING, LUGGING AND HANGING CLOTHES ON WASHDAY A WORK-SAVING GAS DRYER WILL DO ALL THESE EXTRA JOBS

- VALET SERVICE—wrinkles can be removed from corduroy, velveteen or wool garments by placing them in dryer for short tumbling period with damp sponges or bath towels. Place sponges or towel in dryer before putting in clothing to build up steam. Use medium heat setting. Bath towels leave lint on dark cottons, so damp, colorfast sponges are best. There must be moisture to release wrinkles and prevent shrinkage. Remove garments before completely dry and hang on wooden or plastic hangers until completely dry.
- FLUFFING OR DUSTING draperies, chenille bedspreads or other articles that need airing. Place in dryer on "no heat" setting and allow to tumble for 5-10 minutes.
- REMOVING MOTHBALL ODORS from clothes that have been stored. Use "no heat" setting and short tumbling time.
- BATHING SUITS & SNOWSUITS can be dried in pre-heated dryer with bath towels (which have been in dryer during preheating). Dark towels are advisable with dark fabrics.
