Isbister opposes center

The location of the proposed Plymouth Township Civic Center along Territorial Rd. drew the bulk of the objections to the new 701 master plan at its initial hearing Saturday.

Russell Isbister, superintendent of schools and a resident of the Township, was on hand, and read a prepared statement objecting to the center, which he felt had been planned without considering the rest of the Plymouth Community.

Isbister emphasized that his statement was a personal one, as a citizen, and was not connected to his job as superintendent.

"To develop a Township Center Plan now without cooperative planning with the other governmental units will add to the divisiveness which already exists and hence retard rather than enhance the movement toward consolidation. In fact, I am convinced in my own mind that the consolidation of governments should include more than the City of Plymouth and the Township of Plymouth, but also our neighbors to the South and possibly to the West as well who are a part of the Plymouth Community."

"Therefore I respectfully urge that the section dealing with the Township Center be deleted before the plan is adopted."

IN SHORT. I am in favor of a total Community Civic center but not a Plymouth Township Center. The Civic Center should be a concomitant part of the consolidation movement.

Isbister read his statement into a transcript of the meeting which was taken by a legal secretary. Copies of the transcript will not be available for several days.

Township supervisor John McEwen said Monday that the transcript will be studied, and the hearing re-convened Jan. 15. The planning commission and the Township Board will study the results of the hearing.

"I thought the hearings went very well, with the exception of the civic center location. Several people objected to that," McEwen said.

to the left, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl White, to the right. They were among the 350 persons who attended the dinner and danced to the music of Les Show and his Orchestra. More pictures on page A-3 and page A-6.

Won't take back seat in space-Vivian

"We don't want to be in the back seat in the space business internationally."

Those were the words of Congressman Weston E. Vivian last Thursday as he spoke before the Chamber of Commerce's Businessmen's Forum at the Mayflower Hotel.

Vivian, who is on the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, reviewed the U.S. space program since the big push after the Russia Sputnik success.

He told the group that he asked to be assigned to that committee because he felt he had something to contribute.

Vivian holds degrees from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Michigan. He was awarded his Ph.D. in electrical engineering from the U of M in 1959. He was elected Second District Representative.

Symphony plans Christmas show Sunday afternoon

Highlighting the Christmas program of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra on Sunday, Dec. 12 will be the Ann Arbor Cantata Singers and the Ann Arbor Recorder Society.

In its 20th season, the Symphony is directed by Wayne Dunlap. Held in the Plymouth High School auditorium, the concert begins at 4 p.m. There is no charge.

Plans are also being made for a program to be presented by the Interlochen Arts Academy orchestra on Jan. 15.

For the Christmas concert the Cantata Singers, directed by Richard Crawford of the University of Michigan, will be featured in selections from the "Messiah" by Handel.

THE RECORDER Society will play selections of Christmas music from the 16th and 17th centuries.

After several hundred years of popularity, the recorder modern orchestra and keyboard of the 18th century took the place of the intimate chamber instruments. The revival of interest in such ancient instruments has led the Ann Arbor Recorder Society to perform on such instruments as the recorder, viol da gamba, krumphorn and harpsichord.

The complete program includes:

- Ceremonial Tower music with a brass choir from the orchestra, and the singing of the Ann Arbor Cantata Singers.
- Selections of Christmas music of the 16th and 17th centuries by the Recorder Society and singers.
- Selections from the "Messiah" by Handel, with the orchestra and the Cantata Singers.
- The Santa Claus Symphony, 4th movement, by William Henry Fry (1813-1864).
- A chorale—the prelude (Continued on Page 10)

Schools hold Christmas vocal concert

A Christmas concert featuring the Plymouth High School vocal department is slated for Tuesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. in the gym.

The Girls' Glee Club will begin the program with "Sing Ye Glory, Alleluia" and "Rudolf the Red-nosed Reindeer." The Madrigal Singers will perform three Old English carols while seated around a table with lace cloth and candles, and wearing the traditional costumes.

The Mixed Chorus will sing four selections ranging from old to new, "Joy to the World" and "Dear Santa, Have You Had the Measles?" The Triple Trio has prepared three numbers: "The Snow," accompanied by Rob-in Wideman and Jane Palmer on violin, "Away in a Manger" with soloist Mary Arnold, and the popular "Sleigh-ride."

Consolidation will be the topic next Monday evening when the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce airs a forum featuring the leaders of the two major governmental units in The Plymouth Community.

Both Plymouth Township Supervisor John D. McEwen and Mayor James C. Houk of the City of Plymouth will appear at the JayCee meeting at the Hillside Inn.

City bans overnight parking, can't afford snow removal costs

Plymouth residents will shovel their own snow this winter or pay someone else to do it as city commissioners Monday night re-emphasized their determination to live within the budget and not spend over $16,000 for residential snow removal.

The Commission stood firm on this issue and the matter of on-street parking between the hours of 2 and 6 a.m. in spite of scattered complaints from citizens which were voiced at Monday evening's meeting at City Hall.

They agreed that they didn't have the money to spend on sidewalk snow removal and pointed out that a specially voted tax assessment of one half mill seemed to be the only way to provide the service.

Even when the city did provide snow removal, the complaints outweighed positive reaction from residents, according to Superintendent of Public Works Joseph Bida.

Bida said his office had received numerous complaints about when and where the snow removal contractor began his work last year.

"And we just didn't have $16,000 when we made up the budget," he commented. Commissioner James McKeon agreed with Bida. He said most of the comments he heard last year were unfavorable.

Officials did point out that there was no one to refer residents to for snow removal service.

"If the property owners want this type of service," Commissioner George Lawton said, "then it would be my recommendation that we have a vote on a special assessment of one half mill."

Most of the complaints received by the city and the Chamber of Commerce have come from older citizens who are unable to stand the physical exertion of shoveling snow.

A letter from Plymouth rector Howard Stark protesting the action was received and filed.

LETTERS FROM four residents objecting to a proposed parking ban on city streets from 2 to 6 a.m. were read to the commission. They came from Stark, Robert Archer of 335 Roe St., Mrs. Sam Stremick of 140 Caster and Carol Munshaw of 555 Byron St.

Commissioners pointed out that in cases of extreme hardship, where no off-street parking is available, permits may be secured from the city for on-street parking.

If land is available for construction of a driveway or other off-street parking a six-month permit will be issued and the property owner will be expected to take steps to provide parking.

In cases where insufficient space is available, permits will be provided on an annual basis.

The commission approved the final reading of the new parking ordinance. It will take effect as soon as signs can be acquired and erected, spelling out the new regulations.

A traffic hazard on Maple St., just west of Harvey led the commission to pass a resolution banning parking on one side of Maple.

The street has become clogged with parked cars since the parking lot on the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Harvey St. was sold and construction of a building on it began.

Apparently, the commission was told, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employees who have been using the lot have moved their cars to Maple St.

Commissioners pointed out a vacant lot on the northeast corner of Maple and Harvey that could be improved and used by Bell employees. The property is owned by the same person that owns the Bell building.

Commissioners asked that a letter be sent to the telephone company asking what steps could be taken to alleviate the situation.

IN OTHER action at the meeting, the commission presented a certificate of appreciation.

Who's George?

Who's George Washington?

That's a question that outgoing Municipal Judge Harry N. Deyo said he felt sure some youngsters in Plymouth wouldn't know the answer to.

Deyo appeared before the City Commission Monday evening to request $155 for purchase of a painting of the father of our country to be hung in the courtroom. The Judge pointed out that he felt he had saved the city more than that by not using the $325 allocated to him for travel expenses.

"You might ask, 'Why George Washington?' Deyo commented. "My contact with some of the younger element has convinced me they never heard of George Washington."

Commissioners approved the expenditure, contingent upon the approval of incoming Judge Edward F. Draugella.

In a nutshell

★ Anyone with a sweet tooth can buy all sorts of candy in the next few weeks because the City Commission Monday night approved three sales: The Lions Club, candy canes, Dec. 17 from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.; Plymouth Chapter of the Michigan Youth Camp on Dec. 11 and Dec. 18; The Plymouth Hockey Association, two days between Dec. 10 and Dec. 19.

★ The YMCA-sponsored Chip will be open Saturday from 8:30 until 11 p.m. Dec. 11; the Super Naturals will furnish the music.

★ The Kiwanis PHS Key Club will take up a house-to-house collection of used, but good toys, Monday, Dec. 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. The toys will be given to the children at the Plymouth State Home. If a Key Clubber doesn't come to your door, please call 453-2309.

★ The 11th annual Boershead dinner will be held Dec. 10 at 6:45 in the dining room of the Presbyterian Church. Bob Carlson and Robert Delaney are handling the arrangements for this, the first of Plymouth's traditional Christmas celebrations.

★ Fire in the vents of a deep fat fryer at the Burger Chef drive-in on S. Main St. caused minor damage to rafters Monday morning, according to City of Plymouth fire chief George Schoenneman.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP firemen remove the charred remains of a bed in a bedroom of a house at 12800 Dunn Cr. Monday around noon, just after dousing a fire. The blaze started in and around the bed, and caused extensive heat and smoke damage to the entire house.

Blaze burns bedroom

An extremely hot fire caused extensive damage to a home at 12800 Dunn Cr. Monday around noon.

Plymouth township fire department captain Barney Maas said the blaze was confined to a rear bedroom, but that the heat and smoke had caused considerable damage to the house.

The house, owned by Rodney Nash, was empty at the time; his wife is in the hospital, and his three sons were not home.

Firemen arrived to find the house full of smoke. Maas said he was only able to find the origin of the fire upon arrival because of a crack in the bedroom window.

The house had been shut up tight, and the bedroom door closed, thus confining much of the damage. Maas commented on the cause of the fire:

"ALL INDICATIONS show that the head of the bed had been repeatedly pushed up against a plug, and that the Plymouth, like the rest of the country, is full of experts on the war in Viet Nam. One Plymouthite, Rick Gears, 20, has earned the title "expert."

He's been there. Son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gears, 536 Kellogg St., Marine PFC Rick Gears was home for Christmas for the first time since 1962, after 13 months in Viet Nam, last week.

Although he is not in an infantry combat group, he's seen and fought with the Viet Cong.

"They attacked our base July 8, at night. It was a Viet Cong Suicide squad. They hit us and it became hand to hand combat. We were all in foxholes; I think they were after our radio gear, but they would have had to over run us to get it," Gears said Monday, recalling his experiences.

"THE VIET CONG are fanatics; it's great to die for a cause, because just as soon as he dies he's a martyr."

"The difference? We were planning on getting out. They weren't."

The Viet Cong attack with spears and cross bows, Gears said. They have very few guns; only the trained North Vietnamese have guns, generally.

No one in his group was hurt when the V.C. hit. "We were lucky," Gears said.

On other occasions some of his buddies weren't. One of his buddies got killed when a Viet Cong booby trap sent two bamboo sticks through his head.

"The majority of the men who get killed get killed by booby traps," Gears said. "That's why the new combat boots have metal plates in the bottom."

Gears is in the air wing. His section controls the bombing strikes and fighter attacks. They use radar and radio, talk to the pilots, and direct them to targets with unerring accuracy. They are at the air base in Da Nang and the official title of his group is Direct Air Support Control Center.

"WE BOMB every day, sometimes four and five times a day," Gears said.

He also commented on the much-discussed bombing of Hanoi, the capitol of North Viet Nam:

"There's nothing in Hanoi. All the industry is outside, and we've been hitting all around it. The government is in Hanoi, but they would be well protected in the event of a bombing raid. All you'd do is kill a lot of civilians."

Gears, who is a quick thinker and an articulate young man, is spending his vacation working . . . to help at Christmas time with gifts for four brothers and three sisters.

He talked Monday also about morale, the protest marchers, and war. Hanoi Hanna pipes in music and enchanting talk urging defection over radio, just like Tokyo Rose did in WW II.

"Morale is high," Gears said. "They are doing a job, and we've got ber of Commerce president Carl Purcell, again speaking as a private citizen, urged consideration of the concept of a united Plymouth Community.

Following is the complete text of Isbister's statement: "Mr. Chairman and Members of the Commission:

"I have been a resident of Plymouth Township since 1951 and am interested in community planning and the overall development of the Plymouth area. I am confident that the Plymouth Township Board, the Plymouth Township Planning Commission and the citizens in general are equally concerned with the well ordered growth of the Township in accordance with a Plan. In fact the hearings today support this concept.

"I have examined in some depth the Comprehensive Development Plan as prepared by the Planning Consultant, Waring and Johnson. The statistics about the Township, its people, the industry, the commerce, the economics, the history and the present land use are well presented and documented.

"In general, I agree with the projected land use for the future. The Consultant deserves special commendation for making provision for neighborhood facilities, enlarged school sites for recreational areas and the open spaces for neighborhood recreation.

"As residential areas begin to develop it is imperative that the Planning Commission withhold approval from a Developer until both the School and Municipal Authorities are satisfied that school and recreational sites as well as other services recommended by the Consultant are adequately planned in the given area.

"THE ONE PART of the report which causes me great concern and about which I must register disagreement at this time is the Township Center Plan described on pages D-41 and 42 and exhibited on Plate D-41-13. I am one who believes that some day, and hopefully it will not be too far in the future, the governments of this Community will be consolidated into one unit for the purpose of promoting the general welfare of all the people."

Gearns will return to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, then will be ordered to the Philippines, a place he has always liked.

He has been at Marine Camp Pendleton near San Clemente, California, just north of San Diego, at Okinawa, and in the Philippines.

He speaks the Phillipino dialect, Tagalog, a language he learned in Okinawa. Gearns has also tak-on advantage of the modern armed forced policy of offering college credits, and he has over two years work in already.

As far as the Viet Nam people themselves are concerned, Gearns is pessimistic:

"I doubt the average Viet Namee understands the war. They know the Viet Cong are the bad guys, and we are the good guys. They know the V.C. burn their grass houses, steal their children and attack their women. But I don't think they understand the political implications."

Gearns spent last week seeing his girl friend, and found time Friday to speak to a history class at Plymouth High School.

"HE SPEAKS very well," said one student. "It's nice to know people like him are over there fighting for us."

They keep perspective

One of the infrequently noted attributes of local government is the generally consistent ability of the men who hold office to place the welfare of the community above individual selfishness.

This takes foresight, perception and — in some cases — a fair degree of courage and thick skin.

There are few questions which affect the local citizenry that aren't going to raise somebody's hackles; and more often than not the individual will come storming in to a meeting of the local governing group to weep and wail and apply public pressure.

Naturally, he has this right. And quite obviously elected officials should listen to the citizens that elected them. But sometimes the taxpayer's point is ill taken and his objections should be dismissed.

Two local cases involve the decision of city commissioners to hold within their budget and not allocate funds for sidewalk snow clearance and to eliminate parking on streets between the hours of 2 and 6 a.m.

Citizen reaction to the snow removal question is pretty well illustrated by a call this newspaper received about a week ago.

"Say," the caller began, "I see where the city isn't going to have the sidewalks swept this winter. Don't you think you should write an editorial?"

No, we pointed out, the commission is trying to follow a sensible fiscal policy and they simply haven't got the money. The caller, obviously disgruntled, hung up.

Monday evening was more of the same on the parking question. One man, a Sheridan St. resident whose garage is accessible from the rear, pointed out that he wasn't about to try to negotiate the alley in snowy or muddy weather.

Later he admitted that he was "lazy" and didn't want to bother with the garage since he left for work each morning at 6 a.m.

Commissioners, fortunately, looked at both questions from a wider viewpoint. They were and, to their credit, are generally able to circumvent the petulant cries of the irate few for the well being of the quiet whole.

Though overworked and underpaid, they manage to keep their sense of perspective.

And for that they deserve more credit than they are normally given.

LETTERS:

Teacher backs Bentley on play cancellation

November 28, 1965

Dear Editor:

I am enclosing the recent comments made by Mr. Wally Roberts. The Plymouth Observer drama critic, whose column on the Plymouth High School play cancellation you have no doubt already read. His views on what you (Doug Johnson) non-descriptly term "a good piece of literature" and "good drama" are quite opposed to yours. This doesn't concern me in the least; it does provide a good basis for my main point.

To push your insipidly superficial logic to its ultimate conclusion: why not produce "Fanny Hill" in its entirety; why not re-create a good old bacchanal orgy in all of its action-packed flesh tones? This could easily be done by your standards of definition since at one time someone said they were "good."

I am truly sorry for the students who worked hard on this play, thinking they could have produced it. Something should have been done on the adult administrative level to have prevented this lost time and energy.

This in no way alters the fact that Mr. Bentley was completely within his function as Principal to censor objectionable material from being disseminated in the name of Plymouth High School. These students, working on their own time could have perhaps produced the play under some other auspices if they were interested enough.

I HAVE been a student and teacher in this school system for quite a few years. During this time there have been no attempts that I know of to regulate anything that a student thinks or reads.

For discretion's sake there are some rules as to what he may say before his classmates—in the same manner, I might add, that public law demands a person to act civilly while on public streets. I freely discuss privately or in small groups with students anything they would have me comment on.

Your allegations that the schools act as a "Big Brother" to quell any controversial or untraditional subjects are not only groundless, they are characteristic of a certain segment of the population that believes they may step in to the schools any time they wish and blandly comment on any of a vast variety of professional matters dealing with learning theories, level of subject absorption, teaching methods, etc. These same people, of course, would not begin to inform a doctor that he was not using the correct drug with them.

Mr. Bentley, whether or not he likes it, has to act as judge and jury on the material that is placed in public hands with his school's name directly or indirectly stamped on it. Until this is changed by the Plymouth Board of Education, you are "saluting" the wrong person.

Sincerely,
Frederick S. Libbing

Some items of interest from The Mail mailbox. Examining physicians are now required to report injuries suffered by any child under 17 when it looks like a parent or guardian inflicted them.

According to a news release issued by the office of Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, reporting will be done under Michigan's new "battered child" law.

If you recall, the battered child syndrome received a splash of publicity a year or two back in national magazines. The articles detailed cases of parents bringing children in for treatment with the excuse, "He fell down the stairs," when the extent and severity of injuries belied the explanation.

The new law releases the doctor from secrecy, makes it possible to establish the nature and cause of adult-inflicted injuries to children, to prosecute the adults responsible, and to remove the child from the custody of the adults who inflicted the injuries.

While I doubt if it's possible to legislate humane treatment, nevertheless this law is one of those little heralded actions of state lawmakers that should win them plaudits.

I'm glad somebody up in Lansing likes kids.

One of the most significant actions taken recently by the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education passed relatively unnoticed.

A release from the Michigan Education Association brought to mind that the local board had officially recognized the Plymouth Education Association as the representative of local teachers.

PEA has been dealing with the board for years, of course, in connection with teacher salaries and other matters; but the signing of Public Act 379 this summer put public employees, for the first time, on an equal negotiating footing with their employers.

This means that local teachers are in a much stronger position than before when they discuss employee relations with the Board of Education.

While, legally, local teachers still cannot strike, they can employ stronger action than in the past. For instance, they will be negotiating, through PEA, an extremely detailed contract which will spell out salary, duties, fringe benefits and other things not previously covered in detail in contract form.

In the metropolitan area, local Education Associations have been encountering competition for representation of teachers from the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO.

More and more information has been coming in lately from the Wayne County Republican Committee, data which indicates that the Michigan GOP is really digging in and preparing to do battle with the Democrats.

Locally, I would suggest, the Republicans are working harder than ever before. They are apparently refusing to be complacent in an area that has traditionally been a GOP stronghold.

Leadership is younger, enthusiastic, more determined and could even be characterized as "tough" in persons like Carl Pursell and Ed Johansen of the Plymouth GOP.

The local Republican club has been sponsoring meetings on questions of public interest, has recently acquired some office space and obviously is devoting more energy and adrenalin than ever to party affairs.

I wonder what the Democrats are doing lately?

Former Plymouth Mayor Robert Sincok is a free lance photographer, I guess, and he took my picture at the Symphony's Christmas shindig Saturday evening.

I told him I would pay double the normal Rotary Club fine if he could get his shot published anywhere in the next week. Naturally, I assume he'll do the same.

So the picture above, reading clockwise from upper center, includes Sincok; local pharmacy mogul Robert Beyer; Beyer's wife, Mickey; and Sincok's wife, Dorothy.

Beyer is exempt from the double fine agreement. But I think Sincok and he should pay for their wives too.

Speaking of Women

BETTY AND RALPH Cardenas, left to right, of Mexico City, Mexico are visiting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stribley on Carol St. for three weeks. The family friendship began two years ago when the Stribleys were hosts to another Cardenas boy, Pepe, on the foreign exchange program.

Friendship--it's great!

A friendship which began two years ago with a quick phone call to a Plymouth family is a continuing thing in the Richard Stribley family of Carol St.

In November, 1963, Mrs. Stribley received a call asking if she would host Pepe Cardenas, who was then on his way by plane to Plymouth from Mexico City. Mrs. Stribley agreed—and the entire Stribley family enjoyed 15-month-old Pepe for his two months' stay.

Just two weeks ago, Nov. 22, Pepe's brother and sister, Ralph, 12, and Betty, 15, arrived at the Stribley home as houseguests for three weeks before traveling to New York City to visit an aunt.

In the meantime many letters have traveled between Plymouth and Mexico City. Last summer the Stribley boys, Tom and Steve, and a neighbor, Don Wylie, visited the Cardenas family in Mexico City and "were treated like kings."

Betty, a tenth grade student, and Ralph, a seventh grader, saw their first falling snow on Thanksgiving weekend. Both say they "just love Michigan and Plymouth."

Bubbling with enthusiasm on every venture, they are being kept very busy. They have attended classes in the Plymouth schools, watched the Thanksgiving Day parade in Detroit, toured Belle Isle and an auto plant. They also visited Michigan State University for a day, returning to Plymouth for their first train ride.

As a Girl Scout, Betty was interested in attending a Plymouth Girl Scout troop meeting.

November to February is the regular vacation in Mexico City. Since this is their coldest season (it gets down to 50 degrees) and the schools are not equipped with heat, it is an appropriate time for the school holiday. Their classes will resume on Feb. 1.

The children's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jose Cardenas.

Folksongs will be topic at AAUW meeting

Guest speaker at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women will be Mrs. Roland Bonamici. Her topic will be the history of work and freedom songs in America.

The meeting is scheduled for Bird Elementary school, 220 Sheldon Rd., beginning at 7:45 p.m.

A musician and collector of folklore and folksongs Mrs. Bonamici accompanies herself on the guitar and dulcimer. She has attended the University of Detroit, Eastern Michigan University, Dearborn Junior College and the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts. She is also a member of the Three Cities Art Club, a member of the Northville-Plymouth Writer's club, and has had selections of poetry published.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. T. F. Devereaux, chairman, Mrs. W. O. Breed, Mrs. A. E. Gulick, Mrs. Leon Scharmen and Mrs. Juan vander Harst.

ENJOYING THE COCKTAIL hour before the gourmet dinner of stuffed Cornish Hen and the dancing to the delightful music of Les Shaw and his Orchestra are Mr. and Mrs. William Sempliner. They were among the capacity crowd who attended the annual Christmas Ball, sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League, at the Mayflower Meeting House Saturday evening. The Meeting House was resplendent in its Christmas finery for the event which drew 350 persons.

Baby talk

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dolan, Jr. have announced the birth of a 3 lb., 4 oz. daughter, Judith Ann, on Nov. 14. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dolan, Sr. of Chubb Rd.

Twin sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Byrnes of Los Gatos, Calif. on Nov. 29. Terrence weighed 7 lbs., 6 1/2 ozs., and Michael Thomas weighed 7 lbs., 10 1/2 oz. Mrs. Byrnes is the former Marilyn Card. Grandparents are Mrs. Frances Wick of Reseda, Calif., Mr. Brodie Card of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Byrnes of Boston, Mass.

Who's new in Plymouth?

"ACTUALLY," SAYS MRS. ROGER Small, "we moved to Plymouth because the school system was so highly recommended." And she added that they "just love it." The Smalls moved to Plymouth just a month ago from Littleton, Mass., near Concord. Mr. Small accepted a position as financial analyst at the Rawsonville plant of Ford Motor Co. on the graduate program. They live at 686 Coolidge St. Shown above, from the left, are Mrs. Small holding 11 month old Lisa, six year old Kimberley, and Mr. Small holding 4 year old Robin.

More people buy Chevrolets? Yes!

Than any other make car? Yes!

Any other? Yes!

There must be reasons. Sure!

Name ten. OK:

1. All these comforts are available: steering wheels that tilt or telescope; AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio, first ever offered in cars; and Stratobucket seats (to give you just a sampling).
2. Comforton automatic heating and cooling you can order—Just dial the temperature and turn it on; Comforton automatically keeps you comfortable no matter what the weather outside.
3. More engine choices—the widest horsepower range available: the 425-hp Turbo-Jet V8 in Chevrolet and Corvette to a 90-hp Four in Chevy II.
4. Body by Fisher—Craftsmanship by the world's best known coachmakers with everything from luxurious interiors to the long luster Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish.
5. Self-cleaning rocker panels flush out salt and other corrosives with rainwater, dry themselves with outside air—another way Chevrolet takes extra care so you needn't bother.

6. A hushed and gentled ride with body mounts designed to isolate vibration better and shock absorbers matched to body style—coupe, sedan, convertible, wagon.
7. America's only rear-engined car, Corvair, with more weight over the driving wheels where you need it and less on the steering wheels where you don't.
8. America's only true sports car, Corvette, with fully independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes and engines you can order up to 427 cubic inches.
9. Higher resale value—Chevrolets traditionally are worth more at trade-in time because more people want Chevrolets . . . new or used.
10. All these safety features standard now: seat belts, front and rear; padded dash and sun visors; outside mirror (use it always before passing); shatter-resistant inside mirror; 2-speed electric windshield wipers for better visibility in a downpour; windshield washers; back-up lights.

Walled Lake, Fordson dump PHS in cage openers

This weekend had everything for Plymouth Rock basketball fans except one—victory.

There was the exciting opening debut of sophomore Mike Stakias, who set the Walled Lake crowd on its ear with four straight hook shots from the side of the court to boost a second half rally by the Rocks Friday.

There was the outstanding play of untested center Jim Scharman, who showed up strong on the backboard and scored 10 points against Walled Lake.

There was the 15 point out-pur by Walled Lake from Chuck Catlett, another untested cager.

BUT THERE WAS no victory.

Walled Lake topped the Rocks in a classic overtime finish, 77-75, and Fordson, pressing the advantage of the Rocks having played the day before, won easily Saturday, 55-46.

Despite the Rock rally, Walled Lake's hot-shooting guard, John Huebler, kept the Vikings in the game throughout. Pint-sized Huebler tossed in 43 points, a gigantic effort for a first game.

That, with a 17-point effort from Viking Terry Lehman, put Walled Lake out of reach.

Walled Lake led 35-28 at halftime. Then, behind the scoring of Stakias, and key tip-ins from Scharman, the Rocks moved to a 69-69 deadlock by the end of regulation play. The Rocks scored 25 points in the final quarter, and held the Vikings to 13.

The overtime opened with an exchange of baskets, but John Huebler continued to score with long, sizzling-hot shots from outcourt.

The game ended with Plymouth trying to score and tie. Plymouth shot only 19 out of 35 at the free throw line, a poor percentage.

Against Fordson, the Rocks were tired, and could muster no high scoring spurge, like Stakias' second half at Walled Lake.

FORDSON'S Guy Guidice hit for 28 points. He led the Fordson attack in the first quarter, as he hit five straight baskets for 10 points.

The Rocks led 28-25 at the half, and 39-35 at the end of the third quarter.

But Fordson exploded for 20 points in the final frame, and held the tired Rocks to 7.

Stakias hit for 10 points, with eight coming for Catlett and Scharman respectively, and nine from Bob McCall.

Scharman has been a stand-out on the backboard, netting an average of 18 rebounds for the two games, according to head coach Dick Bearup.

The Sporting Life

Cagers look promising

Doug Johnson

Richard Bearup's basketballers have the makings of a fine team.

They all but beat Walled Lake Friday, going into an exciting overtime clash. Sophomore Mike Stakius dazzled the crowd with a 26-point output, most of it in the second half.

Young Stakius planted himself on the right side of the basket, and hooked in eight straight points. Up until then the Vikings had called the game all theirs.

Stakius' 26-point production recalls last season, when, if I remember right, only once did someone score over 20 points, as the Rocks finished with a 4-11 record.

A lot of ifs remain, but the Rocks can win a lot of games this year if . . .

- ... if Stakius holds up a top rebounder and point-producer . . .
- ... if Jim Scharmen continues to develop at center . . .
- ... if Chuck Catlett can produce like he did against the Vikings, both point-wise and rebound-wise.
- ... if Rick Jones, the only real veteran from last year, can come into his own as the team leader and play maker.
- ... if the bench, with Bob McCall, John Davis, Bill Way and Ron Lowe can continue to support the effort . . .
- ... if shooting at the freethrow line can improve

There are many ifs, but Bearup seems to have a lot of the answers to Plymouth's cage troubles.

Basketball in Plymouth will never really be on the upswing until the Rocks win — consistently. That is the biggest if of all.

A remark last week about the lack of deer hunters (successful) lead to a report of three:

- James Sciba, 14295 Shadywood, five point buck, opening day in Manistee.
- Rod McNeil of Ann Arbor Trail, 8 point buck, near Tawas.
- Bruce Butler, 123 N. Union, 10 point buck, near Rapid River, his biggest.

So far, I've only heard from three Plymouth hunters. The town must be full of lousy shots.

Hockey team sponsors have been increasingly difficult to get, and this year, the Midgets, age 15 and 16, are being sponsored by the Wilson Engineering Co. of Saginaw. Another team is being sponsored by Plymouth sports figure Vern Schilawski, and University Litho, of Ypsilanti. I suspect that local sponsors would be welcome, and any calls should be directed to Jim McKindles, 453-7036.

Santa Claus was fun for all up town Saturday, and he took most of the kids with the grain of the salt. But he appeared non-plussed when one three-year old asked for a shotgun.

"A real one," the youngster emphasized. Most of the children couldn't really believe it was Santa — right here in Plymouth. One woman was sure, he was really here and asked for a fur coat. "It never hurts to ask," she said.

Vivian talks on space

WHY DID President Kennedy want to spend $20 billion to put America on the moon? Vivian answered the question this way:

"We need to match the Russians in technology. But we also need to be sure that the people throughout the world know that a democratic and industrial country run on the free enterprise system can work as well as the communist system. That's why President Kennedy made that decision."

Vivian discussed the two areas the space program was using un-manner missiles for: weather and uprepair probes, and for relay and communications.

"I seriously believe we should do this work," Vivian said. "And we should do it well. But I don't think we should pour the national welfare into it. We can't move too fast."

Congressman Vivian also discussed the manned flights, and pointed to the vast network of backup systems. He said that the goal of a man on a planet would be accomplished soon.

"The hard job," he said, "is to do it over and over again, and have no one lost."

The other consideration, he said, was finding an economic use for a man in space.

"SHOULD WE populate the moon? I'm not very excited about it," he commented.

Technological fall-out has been the by-product of the space race, he said—increased technical knowledge which can be used in areas not related to space.

Vivian said he presently could see no need to significantly raise the national budget allocation for space projects.

"Where are we going next? Oddly enough, no one knows," he said.

Vivian discussed the Gemini flights, the Apollo plans, Tyros missiles, the National Science Foundation, and some of his personal experiences with space projects.

CATCH THE CURE

An old cookbook gives this cure for asthma, "Wear the skin of a muskrat—fur side next to the body—over the lungs." Certain relief was assured. American Legion Auxiliary

OPERATION: SHOW YOUR COLORS

Mrs. Mae Hoelscher, President of Passage-Gayde Unit No. 991 of the American Legion Auxiliary, said that the National Legion has now formulated its plan to demonstrate national solidarity in support of the government's efforts in South Vietnam and to counter the demonstrations being organized by certain elements in the nation.

The American Legion and Auxiliary members are united in support of the National Commanders L. Eldon James' plan to supply miniature lapel American flags to all Department Headquarters to be distributed and worn by all American citizens who are willing to wear them in demonstration of support of our government's program in Vietnam.

Mrs. Hoelscher said that service, fraternal and veterans organizations throughout the country are being invited to participate in this program.

The objective is to have millions of American citizens show their support. She said that the small American flag on coat lapels—worn from border to border and coast to coast will visibly demonstrate the unity of the American people in support of the President.

Chrysler driver education program comes to PHS

Bob Mallory's Chrysler Plymouth dealership on Arbor Rd. will sponsor a "Music for Modern America" program at Plymouth High School, Dec. 15, at 8:30 a.m. Featuring driver education set to music and directed to young adult students, the assembly presents a group of thirty musicians and singers. The entire activity is part of the new expanded Chrysler Corporation driver education program, which included special arrangements, allowing Plymouth dealers to furnish deluxe driver education cars to schools on a no-cost, no-profit basis.

The Spurlows average 22 years of age. All members hold individual music awards at State or National levels. For example, Stan Morse, the lead trombonist and arranger, won the Horace Heidt youth opportunity and has played with Lionel Hampton's Orchestra. Jim Bolton, a king-sized baritone, is one of eight in the group who recently toured Europe with a Teen Team of entertainers.

One of the biggest problems postal employees face is illegible handwriting. At Christmas time, when mail volumes skyrocket, this can become a major problem, acting postmaster John A. Mulligan said today.

The use of ZIP Codes by mailers does help speed up the process because often the city and state are unreadable. The ZIP Code will direct the mail to the post office from which it will be delivered.

Clerks in that post office being more familiar with local residents may be able to figure out the person to whom the mail should be delivered.

ANOTHER significant problem is the number of parcels delayed or actually undelivered because of poor wrapping or packing. Postmaster

MRS. MARY ANNE COREY, 958 Ross, left, has been named "Mother's March of Dimes" Chairman by campaign director Charles Gehring and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Witwer, 593 Hartsough, co-chairmen of Plymouth "March of Dimes" campaign. Mrs. Corey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wittwer. The family have been very active in "March of Dimes" projects for the past twenty years.

Carrier of the week

Paul Gilmore, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilmore, 13661 Ridgewood, is this week's Carrier of the Week.

Young Gilmore attends Junior High East, and plays clarinet in the famous Rocket Band. A ninth grader, he belongs to Boy Scout Troop 1531.

He and his family have lived here for six years. Sports interests center around golf and football, and he likes to race model airplanes.

His route covers Ridgewood, Dunn Crk., the Francis Apartments and part of N. Territorial.

Jr. Hi West

Junior High West's United Fund "Mighty Mascot" contest collected a total of $407.03. That's about $160 over our goal of $250. As a result, our school mascot for the school year, 1965-66 is "Neeble Neeb."

The seventh grade mixer was held after school Friday, Nov. 19. There were games, sports, movies and dancing. Refreshments were on hand when hunger pangs struck.

Those persons who have completed the tryouts and are to be P.A. announcers are Jim Frank, Kathy Leach, Mary Swanson, Cathy Swanson, Liz Lawson, and Dan Spurling.

Outline Christmas package procedures

Mulligan urged that special care be taken to see that each package is tightly stuffed and that nothing rattles around inside.

Parcels are generally shipped in bags and often heavier items rest on top of smaller, lighter parcels. The postmaster encouraged mailers to be a bit cautious and insure all packages.

All parcels should be addressed on only one side and should have the address written somewhere on the inside of the package in case the exterior wrapping should also come off. It is a good idea to enclose a list of the contents.

Poor packaging and illegible or incorrect addressing accounts for about half a million undelivered parcels each year.
