Sitter dragged outside, beaten

A 15-year-old baby sitter was dragged from a home on Ross St. and severely beaten about the face by an unknown assailant early Thursday morning.

Her name is being withheld by the Plymouth Mail because of her youthful age.

The baby sitter told City of Plymouth police that she answered the door at about 2 a.m., and a man asked who lived here and if Frank was home.

She asked if he meant John, he replied yes, and she let him inside when he told her he would like to wait for John inside, according to City of Plymouth police reports.

Moments later he suggested they go down the street to get his car, and when she refused he grabbed her by the arm and neck, started hitting her, and then dragged her outside into the back yard.

THEN a member of the household returned, and the assailant escaped into the night.

Police have no suspects as yet. The victim described the man as about 5'5" tall, grey jacket and black pants, 165 pounds, with brown hair and a broad build.

The attacker's age was estimated to be about 30.

According to City police chief Kenneth Fisher, who discussed the case with the Mail Tuesday, the girl screamed and bit her attacker.

However, no neighbors heard the struggle because of the late hour.

There were no witnesses to the incident, and no car was found Fisher said.

Fisher noted that he didn't want to create "another Nankin Township."

"I don't want that to happen, but on the other hand I want people to be alerted."

Fisher said he didn't know why she let the man inside, and urged that no stranger should be allowed in under these circumstances.

SMOLDERS:

Stairway blaze guts N. Territorial home

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the central stairwell area of a house at 46985 Territorial early Monday evening.

Plymouth Township firemen were summoned to the home, owned by Eugene Johanningsmeir, about 5 p.m. by a neighbor, who spotted smoke rolling out of the house.

The Johanningsmeir family was not home at the time, and were reported vacationing in Indiana. They were expected to return late Tuesday.

Their entire home suffered extensive heat and smoke damage.

The fire apparently started in the center of the home beneath a staircase. The flames spread downstairs and upstairs, completely destroying the area around the stairwell. A bedroom, den and dining room also were burned badly.

CAPTAIN Barney Maas, head of the Plymouth Township fire department, said the fire must have smoldered several hours inside of the house, tightly closed against the cold weather.

The stairwell had burned out completely about halfway up. Maas said he entered the home, thought the fire might be upstairs and tried the stairs.

"I got halfway and all of a sudden there were no more stairs," Maas said.

The house was full of smoke and extremely hot when the firemen arrived. They battled the fire from atop the roof through a rear bedroom window, and then through the front door.

Strangely enough, a tinder dry Christmas tree just a few feet from the blaze never caught on fire.

The loss upstairs was limited to smoke and water damage.

Woodbrook OK

The snags facing further development of Oldford and Sons' plans for Woodbrook Subdivision on Sheldon Road were ironed out after Stewart Oldford agreed to add one more western street outlet to his plans.

Closed Friday

The Plymouth Mail offices will close all day Friday, Dec. 31.

They will not be closed Dec. 29, as erroneously reported last week.

And most stores in Plymouth report to Chamber of Commerce Co-ordinator Fran Booth that they will close at 5 or 6 p.m. New Year's eve.

The action came at a special meeting of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission last Wednesday, after ignored correspondence shed new light on the matter.

Oldford the week before had been told he had taken a risk when he put in streets and improvements in a portion of Woodbrook, having received only preliminary approval. At that time, Dec. 15, his request for final approval was tabled.

But Oldford insisted that the street layout had received the go-ahead from the Wayne County Road Commission.

Plymouth needs plans for industrial park

PLYMOUTH AREA PLANNING COMMISSION
Harold Fischer, Director

A certainty of life is change—and how our community plans for it, and accepts it can determine to a large extent whether we look back on a turning point with pride and approval or with bitter resentment.

Change can be challenging, and it is healthy if it involves growth; growth of our community, growth in our government, and growth in our citizen thinking.

Indications are that 1966 will be a banner year for industrial expansion, and several things have helped this to come about. In my opinion, one of the most significant is the effort put forth by the three units of government to form the Plymouth Area Plan-

Who's new in Plymouth?

"RIGHT NOW," states Mrs. Charles Wischman, "our main interests are our six children and re-decorating this 95 year old house we have bought." Dr. and Mrs. Wischman moved into their home at 1073 Penniman in August after Dr. Wischman finished his residency in internal medicine in June at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Having lived in the Dearborn area all her life, Mrs. Wischman has always liked Plymouth and since it is a small town and also close to hospitals, they decided this would be their home. Avid ski enthusiasts, the Wischmans plan to initiate their six year old to the sport his year. Shown above are Dr. and Mrs. Wischman, in the background, with, left to right, their adopted Chinese daughter Kim, 2; John, 1½; Lori, 3; Amy, 8 weeks; Jeff, 4; and Mark, 6.

diligent study to properly guide the physical development of the Plymouth Township area toward a more orderly, convenient and attractive region in which to live and work.

Four new apartment projects will consist of 450 units.

With the upgrading of Sheldon Road to a grade A Road from the C. & O. Railroad to Five Mile Road, and with water and sewer available, it appears that this industrial area will now develop, thus assisting in the tax base of the Township and School District.

Current files reveal that seven new subdivisions, consisting of 600 new homes, will be activated early next year.

Industrial properties, it is understood, have been, or are being purchased or sold, which indicates possible developments in this area.

There were 13.83 miles of water mains at a cost of $698,000.00 and 12.4 miles of Sanitary Sewers installed at a cost of $1,060,000.00 during the past year, assuring the orderly development of certain areas in the Township.

Due to the forthcoming potential growth, new voting precincts will be created early next year for the entire Township. It is expected that those citizens of Plymouth Heights will be the first to familiarize themselves with these precincts when they attend the poles to vote on their new charter, which will be presented in late spring or early summer.

COMMENCING with 1966, the Planning Commission is expected to adopt a Comprehensive Development Plan (701 Project), which will outline the future development of the Township.

MANY THANKS to the Township Board, Planning Commission and other public officials who have cooperated faithfully and diligently during the year to make it one of the most progressive years in Plymouth Township history.

The citizens of the area are urged to support the plan and demand that the Township be built in accordance with the plan, when adopted. The Planning Commission and Planning Consultants are to be commended on their long,

To all residents of the Plymouth area, it is hoped that the forthcoming year will hold for you a full measure of health and happiness.

With deep appreciation, we extend greetings and our warmest wishes for a Happy New Year to all those we serve.

Much done in '65, but much remains

The past year has been a fruitful year for the Plymouth Community, but many problems still face local governments.

As 1966 approaches, rather than pass out accolades, pat heads and write bouquets, it seems wiser to look back at the things that didn't get done.

Plymouthites should give thanks for the kind of progress that has been made in all areas of the community. And the people who worked hard deserve their reward for hard jobs well done.

But what about things that didn't get done?

What about the report of the auditorium committee, which was presented to the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education in early July?

What about the recreation site committee, which was formed with members from the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township, and at the time of its formation, was heralded as a concrete, large scale co-operative move?

What ever happened to the Automobile Club of America's exhaustive study of the City of Plymouth's traffic problems — a survey provided free by AAA?

What ever happened to the request by Township trustee Dick Lauterbach for action on his Township police report, submitted early last spring?

The list goes on. For instance, developer Patrick Finlan petitioned the City of Plymouth for a decision on high-rise apartment units on Sept. 27. As we go to press it has been 105 days since that request, which still stands without a concrete answer or even of one soon.

While the accomplishments of 1965 are many, they represent only a small portion of the tasks that remain.

Good ideas and plans come forth, but die later because there is either no public pressure and interest, or there is slow and incomplete action by governments.

It's easy for an idea to gather dust, or for a program to stall out.

That's why, if Plymouth's going to be truly different, progress is not going to be made by saying "My, we have a fine community here, without any problems we can't really solve." Rather, it should be said, "We've got a good start, but we've got a long way to go."

The year 1966 should bring continued action on the following problems:

- The issue of co-operation between the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township — an issue which leaves a community united in education, culture commerce and family life dis-united in government.
- The ever increasing enrollment in Plymouth schools — an enrollment that threatens to overtake and engulf present and proposed facilities.
- The lack of adequate police protection for the 10,000 residents of Plymouth Township, and the salary differential between City firemen and Township firemen.
- The continued expansion of Plymouth's industrial horizons through the Plymouth Area Planning Commission.

• The ever-increasing problems of the City with downtown traffic, parking and land use.

• The building boom in Plymouth Township, and governmental services needed to handle increased population.

All these problems, and the issues raised surrounding them, constitute a full agenda for the governments of the Plymouth Community — for the year 1966.

We've got a good start, but we've got a long way to go.

Hats off to Plymouth Post Office personnel

Dear Editor:

Hats off to Plymouth's postmen and workers in the Post Office.

For years I always mailed my cards in Plymouth and had excellent delivery. This year I mailed in Livonia and took five days to reach Plymouth and a week to reach Livonia.

I called the Livonia Post Office and I didn't get a courteous answer. I had a package to mail so I came all the way into Plymouth just to mail it and, with a smile, the man behind the window said, "May I help you at this window?"

He was very courteous when I asked him the best way to send it.

I realize at this time of year that they are very busy in post offices but give me the courteous person that waits on me and you come out feeling good.

So keep up the good work, Plymouth postal workers. You really are appreciated.

Plymouth G. I. supports U.S. Viet Nam policies

EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of the letter below is the 23-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Beach of 674 Auburn St. A graduate of Plymouth High School, he attended Adrian College and the Electronic Institute in Detroit before entering the service in May, 1964. His father, who died five years ago, spent 38 months during World War II fighting in India, south of his son's location in Viet Nam.

Dear Editor:

I don't know what you would call this note I am sending—I guess it's sort of a personal opinion but it seems to be shared by most of the men in my same situation.

It seems that a few minority groups are getting their views broadcast far and wide. I feel that I'd like to express my opinion to someone who knows a few people.

As we were eating in the mess tent the other day, a Pvt. came in slightly drunk and was quite peeved at the Army in general. (Over here in Viet Nam, you can't blame anybody for getting drunk now and then. It's a rough country.) He was cussing out a few sergeants under his breath, then his conversation turned to Viet Nam.

He had been in An Khe when his outfit was ambushed by the Viet Cong. He was wondering just how many people knew what was really happening and going on around here. Some of his buddies are still in hospitals and a few of them were shipped home in boxes.

The talk of him buying a baseball bat and kicking the you-know-what out of the demonstrators when he reached California was just drunken talk, but his views on the policy of the United States in Viet Nam are shared by all of us here. One hundred per cent support!

Working with the Military Police, I have a lot of contact with the civilian population here. We have received reports of the Viet Cong trying to bribe children and some of the Vietnamese civilian workers to plant bombs or throw grenades in places frequented by the G. I.'s. Instead, they come to us or go to the civilian authorities and give the information to them.

Most of the people realize we are here to help and they appreciate our being here. Since the United States has arrived in force, there are now plenty of jobs for the people to work at, and we pay with money instead of promises, the Viet Cong cannot survive without the support of the people. But this is never read or broadcast, only the number killed or the terrorist activities of the Viet Cong.

Viet Nam is a beautiful country, and the people in general are hard-working people, contrary to popular beliefs. But disease and death sort of over-ride the beauty at times.

BUT WITH the help of the United States and the soldiers of the U.S., much progress has already been made. The children, which are certainly Viet Nam's future, go to school six days a week and many of them speak very good English. They sort of idolize the G.I.'s.

Sure it's going to take a lot of money and, at the present, American lives. The soldiers over here are doing their very best and deserve the support of every free person on this earth. We may not understand why more bombing is not being carried out in North Viet Nam. We have the right to criticize, but still go along with what is being done.

I wish these demonstrators could hear what comes over Radio Peking. When you have to tell lies like that to keep people on your side, something is definitely wrong.

The people that have shown their support through cards, gifts, blood, etc. are greatly respected by the men here. They are certainly helping the United States and our thanks go out to them.

It will be good to get home, to say the least. But everyone here is thankful for his chance to help other people, who certainly deserve freedom, in their time of need.

Sincerely,
SP/4 David M. Beach

Cites omission of key name in recent story on Mayflower

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following are excerpts from a letter sent to National Bank of Detroit Vice President Floyd A. Kehl of Plymouth by Cass S. Hough of the Daisy Manufacturing Co. of Rogers, Arkansas:

"I just finished reading the last edition of the Plymouth Mail, telling about Ralph Lorenz' acquisition of the Mayflower, and his plans for the new meeting house.

"In the story that the Mail carried about the origin of the present Mayflower Hotel, I was amazed to find that they had omitted one what I consider to be extremely important detail. The man who was chairman of the fund raising committee, and who brought about this what seemed to be a near miracle at that time—was Edward C. Hough—and nowhere in the news story nor in the editorial dealing with the change does his name appear.

"You know the family is not after publicity—I don't need to tell you that. However, when history is recited it is important that it be recited accurately, and completely, and I think for that reason someone ought to call attention of the Plymouth Mail to the fact that Dad's name was omitted from this list, and that he did, in fact, direct and lead the fund raising campaign which produced the more than $200,000 in less than a day's time . . ."

Sincerely,
Cass S. Hough

The other day I was wandering around the area in search of appropriate New Year's material when I stumbled down a dead end hallway in one of the local governmental office buildings and came face to face with a narrow door.

The legend "Broom Closet" had been scratched out and beneath it the title "Superintendent of Community Co-operation" was painted in droopy free hand letters.

Inside, a little man in ancient colonial-style clothing sat sleeping. His silver buckled shoes were propped up on a battered desk and a three-cornered hat was crammed down over his Romanesque nose.

A battered bugle lay next to him on a pile of musty, dusty papers. Atop the heap was a copy of last year's December 29 Plymouth Mail. "See Growth, Co-operation in 1965," the headline blared.

"Hey," I said, "hello there!"

The little man didn't budge.

"Wake up," I cried, "it's late in the year."

He didn't stir. I lifted the brim of his Spirit-of-76 hat, causing a cloud of dust and a moth or two to drift out from beneath it.

"Halloooooo!" I hollered.

No response.

Picking up the bugle from the desk, I blew a hearty blast into the mouthpiece.

"Brrraack!" and the little man sat up, tilted his hat back to a rakish angle and peered at me from beneath it.

"Good heavens," he mumbled. "Horrible sound. Hasn't been used since September. What do you want?"

"Well, I'm from the Plymouth Mail and I want to know who you are and what your name is and why you're sleeping in this broom closet. — Then after you tell me that, if you've got an idea or two for a New Year's column I'd appreciate hearing them."

"Apparently," he said testily, "what you want is someone to write your beastly paper for you. Tell you what I'll do. I'll give you everything you ask, and then some."

The little fellow sat up, brushed his gnarled hands together in the manner of someone about to tackle a fearsome task, glared at me from beneath his headpiece and began to speak.

"Originally," he said in a voice cracked with age, "I came to Plymouth as kind of a symbol — someone picked me out to represent this annual four-day thing you call The Plymouth Community Fall Festival.

"Then, over a year ago, the people that run the Plymouth Community Fund Drive thought it would be nice if they could use me in their yearly campaign. And you gotta admit," he continued modestly, "that I dress up the campaign literature quite a bit.

"Well," he said, "I fell in love with the place.

"Liked it. Liked it real well."

He fumbled through the debris on the desk and unearthed a long-stemmed clay pipe, stained with use. After he filled and lit it, he continued.

"Well," he said, "thought I'd stick around for a while. Read your paper last year at this time and thought there'd be a place for me — figured you'd need a superintendent to co-ordinate all the co-operation that was comin' up.

"Mebbe I was wrong," he commented through a cloud of dense, pungent smoke. "I ain't exactly been worked to death. Got me this office and hardly nobody bothers me except at Fall Festival time.

"And you know what, boy? You need co-operation now more'n you ever needed it before. You think you got problems now, wait a few years." He creaked to his feet and extracted a map of Wayne County from a shelf of papers in the corner.

"You see this?" he demanded — his face coloring and his voice growing stronger. "Look at it!

"Look at the people pourin' out this way, look at the shopping centers growin' up — there's Wonderland and Livonia Mall and Westland and a buncha smaller ones planned right in your back yard. Look at the schools you're gonna need and the governmental services and the tax revenue.

"Hoo boy, you got problems!

"You got developers that'd build houses on twenty foot lots if you'd let 'em. You got people that'd just as soon see Plymouth be another slam-blam, ticky tacky, crack in the picture window suburb.

"Problems you got plenty of — and more on the way — and co-operation you need more of than 1965 produced."

"Yeah," I agreed. "But what do you suggest?"

"Well," he said, "I suggest you take a more positive approach. Ya know, you made some mistakes at the Mail this year — not that that's any sin, but you still made 'em.

"But you took some positive steps too. You say your newspaper is where The Plymouth Community Comes First; now it's up to you to prove it.

"Prove to the business people that you've got their best interests at heart because you know they mean a lot to the community. Ask how you can serve them better. Show them how they've gotta work more closely together to survive with the kind of expansion that's coming.

"Prove to the governmental units that you are really constructively concerned for the future. That doesn't mean you put your editorial needle away; but it does mean that you use it judiciously.

"And prove to your readers that you care about them."

"I guess what you're saying is we'd better try to put out a better newspaper, huh?"

"That's right," he replied.

"After all," he pointed out. "You live here. You own a home here. You're raisin' your kids here. You got a stake in this community.

"Now all you gotta do is prove it."

"O.K.," I told him. "I'll try."

"That's the spirit, sonny," he said. Then, yawning, he added sleepily:

"Come back next year and tell me how you made out."

I promised him I would.

Nancy North weds William West

Mrs. William West

In an evening candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church Tuesday, Dec. 28, Nancy North and William West were united in marriage. The Rev. Hugh C. White and Sanford P. Burr performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall F. North, 4335 ElMonte Drive, Saginaw, formerly of Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph West of 837 Church St.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of peau satin fashioned with a mock jacket of Alencon lace, elbow length sleeves, and a high scoop neckline. The windswept skirt, which fell to a chapel length train, featured a hemline of Alencon lace. Her veil was secured to a Dior bow trimmed with lace and she carried a bouquet of cascading gardenias.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Paul Heydenburg of Midland. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Nelson, sister of the bridegroom, Jeri Meckley, a sorority sister of Wyoming, Mich., and Martha Wall of Beck Rd. The attendants wore floor length gowns of ruby velvet, trimmed in matching satin, styled with Empire waists and elbow length sleeves. Head pieces were of matching satin and velvet. The bridesmaids carried lace edged nosegays of white mums and red sweetheart roses.

Flowergirl Kevie Brown, daughter of the Thomas Browns of Ann St., wore a white organza over satin A-line, floor length gown styled with cap sleeves and a sash of ruby velvet. She carried a miniature nosegay, and wore a crown of red and white sweetheart roses.

James Jensen of Plymouth served as best man. Groomsmen were Paul Heydenburg of Midland, Richard Schryer, Robert Smith, Mark Fischer and Gerald Wallace of Plymouth.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. North chose a lotus green, floor length gown. Mrs. West wore a silver blue, floor length gown. Both wore white accessories and carried orchids.

About 300 guests from Plymouth, Saginaw, other Michigan cities, Iowa and Ohio attended the church reception.

Mr. and Mrs. West left for a short wedding trip. They will live in Kalamazoo where both are juniors at Western Michigan University. The bride is affiliated with Chi Omega sorority and the bridegroom with Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Kay Selle is bride of Andrejs Krukklitis

Kay Sandra Selle became the bride of Andrejs Krukklitis in a double ring ceremony Tuesday evening, Dec. 28. The 7:30 rites were performed by the Rev. Norman Berg in St. Peter's Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selle of Roosevelt St. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Karlis Krukklitis of Burger St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white silk peau de soie blended with Alencon lace. Pearl tracery frosted the rose patterned lace on the midlength sleeves and bordered the hem of the controlled skirt which flared with backswept fullness to a court train.

A matching circlet of jeweled lace caught her bouffant veil of filmy, silk illusion. She carried a cascade of gardenias and ivy.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. James Stander of Cincinnati, Ohio. Bridesmaids were Julie Smith of Franklin, Mrs. Charles Young of Coldwater, and Barbara Krukklitis, sister of the bridegroom.

The bridal attendants wore floor length gowns of red velvet with a white brocade bodice. They carried bouquets of white mums and holly and wore matching red velvet Dior bows in their hair.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Selle chose a floor length gown of French blue crepe and brocade with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gown of green brocade and matching accessories. They each wore a gardenia corsage.

After receiving about 200 guests at the Mayflower Meeting House, Mr. and Mrs. Krukklitis left for a two week wedding trip to California.

The young couple are both graduates of Michigan State University. They will make their home in Plymouth.

Fudge has "just right" chocolate flavor

LIZZIE, in the front, and Barbara, behind her, are enjoying their mother, Mrs. H. Joseph Brisbois of Irvin St., make some delicious fudge for them.

A delicious easy-eating fudge with that "just right" chocolate flavor is suggested this week by Mrs. Joseph Brisbois of Irvin St. She says this is a good recipe for a change-of-pace from all the Christmas candy.

The children are Lizzie, 3, Barbara, 5, John, 6, Amy, 8, Cheryl, 9, Christine, 11, Mary, 12, Hal, 13, and Cathy, 15.

Mrs. Brisbois keeps busy as a member and former leader of the CFM at Our Lady of Good Counsel church, a member of Rosary Society and Bird PTA, a Sunday School teacher at OLCG, and a former Girl Scout leader. She also enjoys a game of bridge.

She says that the older children enjoy making this fudge, too.

EASY-EATING FUDGE
2 C. white sugar
1/4 C. light corn syrup
2 1/2 Tbl. butter or margarine
1/2 tsp. almond extract
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
2 1/2 sq. unsweetened chocolate
1/2 C. whole milk
1 C. chopped walnuts

Put sugar, chocolate, corn syrup, milk in pan over medium heat. Stir constantly until all is melted, blended well, and dunked. Increase heat, but don't stir. Keep over heat until the thermometer reads 232 degrees, or the soft ball stage. Remove from heat. Stir in butter. Wait till heat reduces to 110 degrees or luke warm. Beat awhile. Add vanilla, almond, nuts. Mix. When thick pour into 9 x 9 greased pan. Cut when partly cool. Makes about 2 dozen 1 inch squares.

Schools have aid of citizens

(Continued from Page 1) facilitated a broader and intensified program, including auto mechanics, advanced welding, and electronics, designed to provide effective training for work in many technical fields of importance in today's business and commercial world.

With the assistance of advisors from these fields, the course offerings have been modified and are being updated continually to assure their effectiveness in preparing for useful work at a time when technology and business requirements are constantly changing.

In the past year, expanded facilities and financial resources have permitted better housing and educating of our youngsters in the critical elementary grades. With added library facilities, new classrooms, and more teachers, it has been possible to upgrade specific areas of elementary instruction, giving attention particularly to reading skills, mathematics, and the arts.

WE WERE fortunate that increased state aid, an expanded tax base and the 3.25 mill increase voted last March provided the means in 1965 to make important improvements in compensation for the professional staff and other employees of the school district. This has assisted materially in retaining and attracting competent personnel for our school system.

Providing quality education is always a challenge, but it will be particularly so in the coming year. We face both problems and opportunities as our community grows and changes. Fortunately we are favored with particular advantages that should assure a continuance of high quality education in the Plymouth Community, despite the inevitable problems and pressures inherent in our growth situation:

1. We are undergirded with a reservoir of capable talent—in our professional staff and interested citizen groups—that has provided sound planning in the past and will continue to strengthen our planning for the future. The current Citizens Facility Study Group has undertaken the kind of thorough and objective analysis of our growth patterns and financing alternatives that is essential to the Board's planning for the critical years soon to be upon us.

Following their report a thorough study will be made of the detailed curriculum requirements planned for in our second high school.

2. We have a sound financial base on which to build for the future. Our state equalized valuation per pupil continues to be relatively high as a result of the business and industry expansion that has been fostered, with considerable success, in our area.

Also, the state has made some progress in stepping up its support and some limited federal assistance will be usable for specific purposes in our district. In terms of our debt position, we have managed to hold our indebtedness and related interest costs to a minimum, leaving us in as favorable a position as possible to meet the needs of the future. In both our operating budgets and facilities budgets, major efforts have been and will continue to be, given to getting the most for every dollar expended.

3. We have a community spirit that stimulates and expects forward-looking programs in education. The Board of Education senses this and is striving continually to establish policies and generate the means, with public support, to realize our mutual goals for excellence in education. In these efforts, we welcome at all times the constructive suggestions and assistance of interested parents and other citizens.

Urges study of consolidation

After the spring election, the Commission welcomed two new members to its fold to replace former Mayor Richard Wernette and Commissioner Robert Beyer. James McKeon and George Hudson, though relative newcomers, are dedicated to keeping Plymouth moving forward and will give us progressive thinking during their terms of office.

IN KEEPING with the administrative phase of our Government, it should be pointed out that the balance of the property in the Mill Street Urban Renewal Project has been sold.

This property, through the efforts of the Bathey Manufacturing Company and Dura-Tainer Corporation, has added or will add valuable industrial tax base to keep our total tax picture in balance. We also welcome the addition of the new Wheel-Truing Plant now being built in our Industrial Park on Plymouth Road.

During 1965 our Department of Public Works, under the supervision of Joe Bida, has completed many projects. Several of our major streets in need of repair were resurfaced and recapped to reduce the high cost of street maintenance incurred in the past.

Under a grant from the Federal Government, our water distribution system was completely revamped to eliminate many old and undersized mains.

This project, with the aid of our new reservoir, will help increase pressures and insure better distribution of water throughout the City. Included in this project was an addition to our Six Mile Road well house with new chlorinating facilities and telemetering instrumentation. The dismantling and removal of the two elevated water towers will conclude the work covered in our water supply and distribution program for 1965.

THE YEAR 1966 will be a year of decision for Plymouth and the Plymouth Community.

Dying boy gives gift of life

"The finest present I've ever received."

For the grief-stricken Karl Van Newkirk family of Jener St. these words from James Fitch at the Wayne County General Hospital may be some comfort.

Fitch was the recipient of a kidney from the body of 7 year old Bradley Van Newkirk, who, with his brother, Jeff, 11, was killed when they ran in front of a truck on Sheldon Rd. Dec. 20. Dr. Van Newkirk consented to the transplant when doctors approached him at Wayne County General where Bradley was taken in critical condition after the accident.

The Sporting Life

Why are we . . . ?

Doug Johnson

New Year's always makes me reflective about everything. I was fortunate to come to the Plymouth Mail right out of college with very little experience in newspapers and only a shirt-tail degree in journalism. I had graduated as a teacher of English, of all things. The past year has been the best of all my 23. Plymouth is an aware and friendly community, with a sense of identity, and I like it.

I interviewed a prominent industrialist earlier this year, and one of his opening comments to me was: "I can't see why the Plymouth Mail is always trying to stir things up all the time." The man shall remain nameless, because I've heard similar comments elsewhere. For instance, we were called Communists because we printed an interview about a community leader who suggested the United Nations consider the admission of Red China. The name-calling doesn't disturb me because it means two things: The man involved read our newspaper, and it caused him to think about an issue. That, friends, is why we are here.

I believe it is to the credit of the management of the Mail that the editorial staff has been allowed to stir things up a bit. Our paper should have the news of the Grange and the VFW and the Girl Scouts, and even my pet peeve, the PTA's. But we should also carry stories on the vandalism, the youth problems, the dropout rate, venereal disease, sex education in the schools and boondoggles in local government. The paper should reflect the desires of the people; believe we should make available a product that advertisers want to buy space in, and people will read. But selfishly and yes, even egotistically, I think we should give people what they need, not only what they want.

In this, again egotistically, we are part of a concerned minority hoping to prod the majority into, first of all, thought. The Plymouth Mail needs to be the protector and propagator of the traditions of Plymouth and its institutions. But, in addition, it needs to be, and is, I think, the cutting edge of change. And I think our public letterbox columns have always been open to opinion, including opinions not agreeing with those stated editorially by the Mail. Above all, I think we have maintained a fundamental principle of journalism — accuracy, and the facts clearly labeled as news, and opinions either labeled 'editorials' or signed with a byline. What we can do, and where we can go from here is largely dependent upon public acceptance of this newspaper.

The chief virtue of Plymouth, as was quickly pointed out to me, was that it was unique — different. It is, but not because of the early American atmosphere, the white colonial columns or the grey paint. Even the Symphony and the Fall Festival shrink in importance in making Plymouth different. In the end the same problems of education, youth, crime, industrial expansion and taxation that face all American communities confront Plymouth. But Plymouth is different because of an abundance of human resources — combined with good old-fashioned civic spirit, hard work and clear thinking. And Plymouth may also be different, just in small degree, because it has a hometown newspaper willing to "stir things up a bit."

BRIGADIER ERNEST HAMMER, left, is presenting Mrs. Helen Worley of Holbrook St. the doll she chose from the Salvation Army Toy Shop last week while Mrs. Harvey Thomas, right, of Rowe St., a worker, looks on. Each Christmastime donations of toys, food and clothing are made to the Salvation Army which services the needy persons in the Plymouth area through the Toy Shop. Brigadier Hammer states that they took care of the needy throughout Christmas week.

There's a New Year right around the corner . . .

It could be a good one . . . a Happy New Year . . . as we would all hope to have it . . . if every corner in the world had a corner of Plymouth. There are, however, these vague and ambiguous havens of hatred like Viet Nam . . . suddenly household words recognized by one and all down to the youngest working mind in the family. There are, too, diversified opinions regarding the issues at stake and the strategies in use and all of the helpless feelings that prevail here when we are engaged in war there.

The issue here . . . in wishing all of Plymouth the happiest of New Years . . . is to graphically and sensitively show an awareness of the contrast of things . . . here and there.

An awareness that must prevail . . . for while we have the things they fight to protect and safeguard for us . . . it would really be quite impossible for us to ignore the very fact that they are fighting . . . and protecting . . . and safeguarding.

And so with our warmest feelings, at the end of the year 1965, when the nation prospered and the war went on . . . and as we prepare to enter into 1966 . . . let's take the time somewhere along the line of auld lang syne . . . to be particularly grateful that this year we are here . . . saying a silent thank you to all of those everywhere who make our peace and our prosperity our true and living possibility.

Woodbrook #1 receives final approval from planners

(Continued from Page 1) Township planners, however, said the letter had never come to their attention, thus revealing an administrative slip-up.

Chairman Irving Rozian said Monday night that the matter of correspondence had been cleared up, and all pertinent letters on any one item would be brought to the Commission's attention immediately.

Oldford agreed to a second western outlet to his subdivision, an outlet that will not endanger what he has already accomplished.

And the Commission also took the opportunity to reaffirm their stand on preliminary approval not constituting final and unqualified permission to lay streets and put in utilities.

Planning consultant W. C. Johnson cited Section 1.02 of Township Ordinance No. 13, which makes Act 285, Michigan Public Acts, 1931, a part of the local subdivision ordinance, a law that states preliminary approval does not mean final approval.

Oldford agreed to a recommendation from Johnson for the second street outlet, and indicated it would mean the loss of one lot.

Earlier, Oldford had received a letter from the Road Commission urging him to move the one outlet to the south. Johnson felt one was also needed at the north end, and the matter was agreed upon.

In final action on the matter, the planners voted to give final approval to Oldford's plans for the first half of the subdivision, now known as Woodbrook No. 1.

In other action, the Commission discussed the 701 public hearing held at the beginning of the month. The hearing gave the residents of Plymouth Township their first look at the Federally aided 701 master plan for comprehensive development.

Commissioners agreed to delete any mention of the site of a proposed Township administrative and recreational center.

THE PROPOSED site along Territorial Rd. drew considerable fire from people at the hearing.

The Commission further decided to have Johnson report on the advantages and disadvantages of sites in residential, industrial and commercial areas.

ROOFTOP FIREFIGHTERS from Plymouth Township battled a fire in the central stairway of this home on N. Territorial Rd. late Monday afternoon. The fire smoldered several hours, and did considerable damage. (See story, Page One.)

The youthful orchestra is a college-preparatory arts school geared precisely to training the talented young musicians. Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president and founder of the National Music Camp and Interlochen Arts Academy, will also be directing part of the concert.

Tickets are also available at Junior High East and West and, after Jan. 3, at the Melody House.

in the words of their motto, to place service above self.

When a photographer was not available on the afternoon of December 24, Plymouth Rotarians offered to take their own picture of a television set presentation at Maybury Sanitarium.

The TV set was being given to the institution by Plymouth Rotary.

So The Plymouth Mail provided its normally trusty Rollei-flex camera and Rotary President A. D. Johanson, Executive Secretary Harry Draper and Treasurer Loren (Bud) Gould set off for Maybury.

THERE THE presentation was made and a picture was snapped of Rotary officials and Maybury Superintendent Dr. W. L. Howard, Director of Nurses Miss M. Tiberti and Children's Building Supervisor Mrs. M. Godley.

Unfortunately, a lever on the camera was on the wrong setting when it was turned over to the Rotarians and the picture did not turn out. Neither did shots of local hockey players taken Monday and pictures taken Thursday afternoon by Mail staffers.

Industrial park

THE CREATION of an industrial park enhances our opportunities to offer individual sized parcels to fit specific needs, with good roads and all utilities available.

In my few months of meeting with company representatives, it has become apparent that bare acreage on secondary roads, with an all or nothing clause on its size, with no utilities installed, has small attraction.

From the book "Techniques of Industrial Development" is the quotation: "An industry goes where it is invited and stays where it is well treated." We can make this apply to our community, and strive to make our changes well planned.

We must not be afraid to grow!

COLD FEET...?

A generation ago some people thought rubbing the soles of the feet with grease would ward off a head cold. Today, we know better. Adequate rest and a well-balanced diet go a long way toward preventing colds. But, sometimes even the best precautions aren't good enough. When you are ill—whether you have a cold or something more serious—effective medications are important. They can be the difference between pain or comfort... slow or fast recovery. Let your physician decide the remedies you need. Then come to us for the prescribed medication.

May we extend to the residents of our community a Very Happy New Year. We believe that the person who is really concerned about establishing a more solid relationship with his God has the greatest assurance of happiness. It is our hope and prayer that you are one of those who has already resolved that in the year 1966 you will be more diligent in your search for the TRUTH as it is revealed in the Sacred Scriptures. We, at the Plymouth Church of Christ would count it an honor to assist you in carrying out such a resolution. We extend to you a cordial welcome at all of our services the first Sunday in the year (January 2nd) and to all of the services throughout the year. If you have not attended Sunday School regularly why not bring your children and enroll them in one of our many classes. There is a class for each age group. We'd be very happy to have you and eagerly anticipate your presence.

An Explanation Concerning the Church

It isn't an exclusive or proud church. You find it is very simple. It does not propose to feed vanity with a display of vain things. Its aim is not to amuse or entertain those who attend its services. But it exists in your community as a simple body of Christians pointing all who look its way to Jesus Christ as God's Son, the hope of the world. Its doors are open to those who, from the quiet depths of their hearts, would reach out to God in simple worship and obedient living.

You may be surprised to find that there isn't much ready-made for you in this church. There is no ready-made creed such as you find in many places. You take the word of God and make it your guide as you believe everything it teaches. There are no ready-made prayers. Every believer expresses his own earnest longing for the presence of God and for His sustenance and guidance. There is no ready-made order of worship. Each church (congregation) of our Lord arranges its own order in harmony with the items of worship described in the New Testament.

You may be surprised to find that this church is a free church under Christ as its only head. It has no organic connection with any other congregation, but is bound by a unity of faith with all those everywhere who "speak where the Bible speaks and are silent where the Bible is silent."

In this church every Christian is a priest. There is no distinction between "clergy and laity". We believe that all Christians are called "to be saints." Their gifts and functions may differ but their status before the Lord is the same. Jesus Christ is our High Priest.

This church is the outward manifestation of the deep conviction in many hearts that simple apostolic Christianity can be produced today by the same living word which produced it in the first century. We do not claim perfection as human beings. We were all sinners who were saved by the grace of God upon our trusting obedience to the gospel. We seek humbly to serve Jesus and to urge all others to do so. Our aim is to glorify God and honor Christ in our lives and in our teaching. Truly to be a free New Testament Christian, without dictation from man, is a glorious privilege.

The 210-pound African lioness above originally was sent to the Custer State Park in South Dakota for breeding purposes. Hillside bought the animal, for $2,50 a pound, had it shipped to Thompson-Cain Co. for inspection and then sent on to Plymouth. Hillside owner Robert Stremich, right, said the hide will be tanned. A visit from Michigan's Soapy Williams

My arrival in Lungi Airport in Freetown in the midst of a typical Sierra Leone cloud-burst signaled the end of an exciting vacation. Like most returning vacationers I looked forward to a moment of relaxation before going back to work.

The tempo of outside activities suddenly accelerated too. There was no doubt about it, my vacation had definitely ended.

Within a few days two new groups of Peace Corps Volunteers comprised of 100 volunteers arrived in Sierra Leone. A new program of

Africa & Me

Peace Corps participation in primary (grade) school teaching awaited 16 of the new arrivals. About 50 of the volunteers replaced the volunteers in various secondary (high) schools and government departments who had returned to the United States in mid-July.

Some of the remaining 34 volunteers have joined other volunteers in various schools throughout the country, while the others have gone into schools and government departments which did not previously have volunteers on their staffs.

THE EVER increasing demand for more volunteers illustrates how successful the Peace Corps has been in Sierra Leone. The first group of volunteers in 1961 was made up of 37 people. There are now approximately 200 volunteers in the country.

There was one graduate of Albion College, my alma mater, in that first group of volunteers. I became the second volunteer in Sierra Leone from Albion College (enrollment, 1,400). The new group contains yet a third Albion graduate.

The Peace Corps representative here didn't realize this volunteer and I were graduates of the same college.

The arrival of G. Mennen Williams, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs, on an official visit to Sierra Leone in late September made it seem even more like some sort of homecoming.

Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, President of Ghana, visited Sierra Leone in October. Numerous other government officials and representatives of various organizations have also visited the country since my return.

For me the most welcome arrivals, however, were 9,000 books donated by C.A.R.E. and U.S.I.S. for use in the library's primary school service.

In September the country mourned the death of Lady Lightfoot-Boston, wife of the Governor General who is the head of the Sierra Leone government. The state funeral which she was accorded was rich in pageantry.

The muffled drum beats, dirges, and procession of government officials and military units rekindled for me memories of another state funeral in Washington, D. C. almost two years ago.

A GIGANTIC WINDOW mural was prepared by the members of the Junior High East art classes last week, under the direction of Penny Wise, who created the overall design, and Ann Wehmeyer, Rita Foege and Kathy Bostedor. Absent when the picture was taken was Debbie Bierman. The painted winter wonderland mural covers all the four sections of the huge library windows on the east side of the school. The Christmas mural has become sort of a tradition, according to art teacher H. Dittmar.

To offer grad class on community college

Beginning Jan. 3, at 4 p.m., in Room A-520, a graduate course entitled "The Community College" will be offered at Schoolcraft College with credit available for the course from Michigan State University, the University of Michigan, and Wayne State University.

Classes will meet for 11 weeks, according to Dr. Eric Bradner, President of Schoolcraft College. Sessions will be from 4-7 p.m. each Monday.

The instructor for the class will be professor George L. Hall who holds full professorships at the three great universities. Dr. Hall is a leader in the community college field and is considered one of the top authorities in the United States, Bradner said.

Individuals who have been admitted to graduate study at one of the three institutions may register for the class. Individuals who are not in graduate programs at one of the three institutions may register for the class for graduate extension credit at the University of Michigan. The only prerequisite for admission for graduate extension credit is the bachelor's degree.

Fees are payable at the initial session of class. A minimum of approximately ten students are needed for the class to be held.

Rocks idle 3 weeks

The Rock swimmers and cagers will have a three-week rest over the holidays.

The PHS basketball team will practice this week, and head coach Richard Bearup has scheduled a scrimmage with Clarenceville.

They will resume their bid for a place in the Suburban Six standings against a powerful Trenton team on Jan. 7, at Trenton.

The Rocks will be well rested; in many of the past years they have participated in holiday tournaments.

THE SWIMMERS will be looking for their first win of an already disappointing season. John McFall's swimmers have come close in several meets, losing many events by fractions of seconds.

So far they have lost to Wyandotte, Bentley, Fordson and Belleville. The new year will give them a shot at Trenton, a team that is expected to dominate the league swimming title race this year.

Trenton won the Suburban Relays here in Plymouth a few weeks back with 80 points, giving the Rocks a taste of what to expect.

The Trenton meet is here, Friday evening, beginning at 4 p.m. Jan. 7.

Both the swimmers and the basketball team practiced over vacation.

Cagers in 8th, 9th open Jan. 6

About 40 eighth and ninth grade basketball players have been practicing the past few weeks for their opening game, Jan. 6, with Farmington East.

The ninth grade team is under Casey Cavell; the eighth grade team is under Wayne Weimer.

The schedule for January includes:

- Farmington East Jan. 6 home
- Farmington Jan. 13 home
- Dunchel Jan. 20 away
- Pierce Jan. 27 away

Both teams play on the same day. Games begin at 4 p.m. at Junior High East.

THE HARLEM DIPLOMATS will play a faculty team at Plymouth High School Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. The faculty-Diplomat game will be kicked off with a ball handling display done in darkness with the only visible objects being shoes, hands and a basketball. Admission to the game is $1, with money going to the Pep Club and Varsity Club. The Diplomats have played extensively in South and Central America. The game promises to be a fine mixture of comedy and basketball.

The Old Timer

"I'd wish the government was half as fussy how it spends money as it is about how I spend it."

BIG JIM SCHARMEN has been a key in the hopeful resurgence of Plymouth Rock basketball. Here he goes up for a shot with a defender's hand in his face.

Greetings

Happily, we welcome the opportunity to come into your homes at this joyous time, with our thanks for your patronage, our greetings and wishes that you may enjoy the very best the holidays can hold.

DENNY SHELLEY set a record two weeks ago in the Plymouth Hockey Association when he scored five goals in a single game, in a 6-3 rout of Inkster. Randy Sharland held the old record with four goals in a 1960-61 game with Wayne. Shelly, a junior at PHS, plays on the Trading Post team. Sharland is now a freshman at Michigan State University, with a non-preference major.
