PS Director Shocks Trustees With Manpower Plea

Burr Seeks 10 More Firemen in Twp.

A sweeping series of improvements in the Plymouth Township Fire Department was recommended by Township Director of Public Service William Burr in a presentation to the Board of Trustees Tuesday evening.

Burr urged the addition of 10 fire fighters to the Township force, inauguration of a pension plan for firemen and installation of additional hydrants at danger areas in the township.

He appeared at the regular monthly meeting of the Board at the Township Hall. The silver-haired director, clad in a dress blue uniform, made his plea personally to board members. He submitted three letters on the recommendations.

Burr emphasized that additional manpower for the department was a serious and pressing need. He noted that formulation and implementation of a pension plan could do much in terms of morale and the sense of security needed among department members.

The board's response, however, was anything but enthusiastic. In fact, some seemed incredulous, noting that they felt insufficient money was available for the addition of one man—let alone 10.

Trustee Ralph Garber asked Burr how he arrived at a need for 10 men. Burr explained that the addition of 10 would permit manning all apparatus with two persons, instead of just one.

"I know this may sound outrageous to you," Burr commented to the board. "But you're going to have to adjust your thinking to it. It's coming."

Burr also noted that the department, in his opinion, was short of volunteers — about 75 per cent short. He said he felt the volunteer force should be increased to 35 men.

SIGNING OVER check for $1,246.39 to Plymouth Township is Fireman Fritz Honke as Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes looks on. Honke was paid by the Township and by two insurance companies during a recent period of hospitalization due to a back injury suffered in the line of duty. He decided he wasn't entitled to double pay and turned the insurance checks back to the Township.

He Returns Checks Township Fireman Believes in Honesty

If you had $1,246.39 that really wasn't yours, but nobody knew you had it and nobody would find out, would you give it away?

That's the question that confronted a Plymouth Township fireman recently—but he didn't hesitate a minute.

Fritz Honke turned the money over to the Township, where it rightfully belonged. It all started when Honke, a fulltime firefighter at the Township, injured his back at work about a year ago.

The injury led to his being off work from March 13 through May 10. During this time, Plymouth Township paid him his full pay of $1,077.09.

In addition, however, insurance checks began arriving at Honke's. Before it was all over, he had received $614.24 from one insurance company and $632.15 from another.

Because he had continued to receive his pay, the firefighter felt he was not entitled to the insurance checks. So he turned them over to the Township.

At last Tuesday's Township Board meeting, Trustees decided to give him back the sick days he had lost during his absence because the time off was due to a work-incurred injury and because he was so honest in turning over the money he had received from the insurance firms.

"A good man," so the song goes, "nowadays, is hard to find."

That seems to be the happy feeling that the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees holds for Honke.

Moving Up
John E. Barlow, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Barlow, 1154 Sutherland St., Plymouth, was promoted to Army PFC in Mannheim, Germany, where he is serving with the 14th Supply Company. He is a 1963 graduate of Plymouth High School.

Twp. Trustees Turn Thumbs Down Again To Supervisor's Planning Board Choices

Obviously irked because their recommendations were given no apparent consideration, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees slapped down two of Supervisor John D. McEwen's nominations for the Township Planning Commission for the second month in a row.

Trustees denied McEwen's personal recommendations by a 4-2 vote. For the second time, the supervisor submitted the names of C. Veach Sparks, former Township Clerk and planning commissioner, and Martin Fleming to serve on the planning group.

Sparks was recommended to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Commissioner Tivadar Balogh and Fleming was nominated to replace John Welsler who resigned.

Last month, trustees approved the reappointment of Austin Stecker and Maurice Breen to the planning group for three-year terms.

Disagreement on the other two openings, however, apparently goes back nearly two months. Trustees say McEwen approached them and asked for recommendations for the vacancies.

Trustee Gene Overholt agreed to contact several people to see if they were interested. But at last month's Board meeting, before Overholt could submit the names of people he had contacted, McEwen submitted a written recommendation for the appointments.

They were deferred for a month by Trustees so others could be considered for the posts.

On Tuesday, McEwen submitted the names of Sparks and Fleming again and called for action.

"I have not altered my requests," he said. "It was embarrassing at the last planning commission meeting. We didn't know if we would have a quorum or not. I would like to have action."

When McEwen finished speaking, Township Clerk Helen Richardson noted that other names had been mentioned for the posts and Overholt commented that persons he had contacted expressed a desire to serve.

"Do you wish that I withdraw these names?" McEwen asked. After the supervisor reaffirmed his recommendations again, Trustee Ralph Garber, seconded by Mrs. Richardson moved approval of them.

The motion lost 4-2, with Trustees Overholt, Lauterbach, Norman and Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes voting no.

On Wednesday, three of the four were contacted to comment on their negative votes.

Trustees Norman and Overholt and Mrs. Holmes all said they felt the names submitted by trustees should have been given some consideration by McEwen, Lauterbach

Following the defeated motion to approve McEwen's appointments, Overholt moved the appointment of McEwen.

Council OK's Paving After Long Gabfest

It took a long, tedious gabfest but the Plymouth City Commissioners finally decided to go ahead with the paving of Hartsough from Roosevelt to the Symar subdivision and Sutherland from S. Main to S. Harvey.

The recommendation of City Manager Richard Blodgett was that both projects should be approved with full curb and gutter and a width of 31 feet.

Actually, there was only one objector present — Art Shepard, 505 Hartsough, who protested against making the street 31 feet wide on the theory that it would become a speedway into Junior High East.

That's where Commissioner Arch Vallier stepped into the picture and more than two hours elapsed before the Commissioners approved the two projects. Final approval was on the basis of 27 feet wide asphalt streets with concrete curb and gutter.

However, it was agreed that the streets should match other sections—in which event Hartsough and Sutherland could wind up as wide as 30 feet in some places and as narrow as 27 feet in other spots.

NANCY DUNCKEL is working her way through college as a summer guide at the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. A junior at Michigan State University, Nancy lives with her family at 14727 Dogwood Drive, Plymouth. She is shown here at the back porch of Luther Burbank's home in the Village, explaining the historical points of interest to one of the million and a half visitors who tour this famous institution each year.

With the matter of the paving of the two streets out of the way, after a public hearing which started at 8 p.m. and lasted until 10 p.m., the Commission settled down and handled the remainder of the agenda in less than 50 minutes.

City Manager Blodgett was authorized by the Commission to advertise for bids for the Hartsough and Sutherland paving and the widening of S. Harvey.

Although he hasn't yet negotiated for the purchase of small portions of land needed for the widening, the Commission decided to give Blodgett the green light so that he could secure bids now and perhaps the City gain the advantage of having the three projects completed while the equipment is in the area.

Commission Mulls Parking Authority

Plymouth's City Commission will sit down with members of the Parking Committee, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and interested citizens in a public meeting on Monday, Aug. 29 to discuss the need of a Plymouth Parking Authority.

The Commission Monday decided it liked the sound of the recommendations but thought it would be better

The Parking Committee, composed of Ralph Lorenz, James Taylor, Robert Beyer, Herman Bakhaus, Robert Barbour, Kenneth Fisher, G. E. Davidson, Rev. Peter Schweitzer and Robert Reid, recommended the formation of a Parking Authority by adoption of an ordinance.

It suggested that the Authority should have the power to raise funds, establish and operate parking facilities in the City of Plymouth. Further it recommended that the Authority be composed of a city representative and business people located in the city.

But Frank and Julia Mangogna, the owners, have argued that the property was zoned commercial at one time, had a commercial business on it when they purchased the land and that they deserve a chance to expand and improve their business.

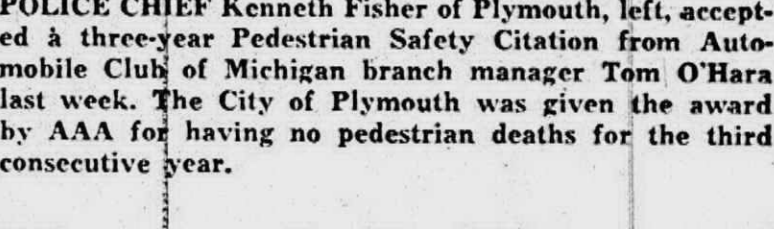

The Mangognas operate a restaurant at the location. The board's refusal to grant the request may lead to a lawsuit on the part of the Mangognas.

Twp. Board Denies Mango Rezoning Bid

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees turned thumbs down last Tuesday evening on a petition to rezone the Mangogna property at 47660 Ann Arbor Road.

The Plymouth law firm of Draugelis and Ashton, representing the owners of the property, had sought to get permission to rezone the property from R-1-E, residential, to commercial.

Over the past several years, the Township Planning Commission and Board of Trustees has repeatedly refused to take such action regarding the property. The Township has claimed

POLICE CHIEF Kenneth Fisher of Plymouth, left, accepted a three-year Pedestrian Safety Citation from Automobile Club of Michigan branch manager Tom O'Hara last week. The City of Plymouth was given the award by AAA for having no pedestrian deaths for the third consecutive year.

Plymouth Is Honored For Safety Record

Plymouth is announced as one of 34 Michigan communities receiving a special safety citation in the 27th annual AAA National Pedestrian Safety Program.

The citation is awarded to those cities competing in the program which record no fatalities for at least one year, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

In addition to the no death requirement, cities must have an effective pedestrian education program.

Auto Club presented Plymouth's citation to city and police officials on August 11 for going three years without a pedestrian death.

Among cities in Michigan which entered the AAA Pedestrian Safety Program in 1966, 13 were cited for going a year without a pedestrian fatality; eight for two-year periods without deaths; three for three-year periods without deaths, six for four-year periods without deaths, one for a five-year period without a death, two for six year periods without deaths, and one for an eight year period without a death.

Riverview was awarded a Pedestrian Safety Achievement award for 20 years without a pedestrian fatality.

State Police Make 19,133 June Arrests

Michigan State Police officers made 19,133 arrests in June, 17,265 of them for traffic offenses and 1,868 on criminal complaints, according to the department's monthly activity report.

In addition, 740 juvenile traffic offenders were arrested and 560 delinquent and 4 wayward minors apprehended.

Troopers assisted 6,733 motorists, investigated 9,538 cars, issued 22,627 oral warnings to drivers, and made 13,008 property and 2,181 liquor inspections.

Department vehicles traveled 1,896,500 miles, 1,077,575 on traffic patrol and 818,925 to investigate criminal and other complaints.

The identification section received 15,433 sets of fingerprints of which 8,609 were criminal and 6,824 non-criminal.

Of 1,491 applicants for permits to carry concealed weapons, 181 were identified with criminal records through their fingerprints.

Frank E. Zimmerman, Jr., division general marketing manager, said that appointment of the six teenage driving experts brings to 10 the number of ambassadors of motor safety who will appear before audiences throughout the nation during the next 12 months. They will share speaking responsibilities with Miss Teenage America, Collette Daiute of Paramus, N.J., and her court.

The Road-E-O title was awarded in Washington, D.C., to Terry Hall, an 18-year-old high school graduate from DeLand, Fla. The champion girl contestant was Linda L. Logan, 18, of Atlanta. The other top finalists selected for the safety campaign were Robert Rossney, 18, Ridley Park, Pa.; Paul Tschida, 18, St. Paul, Minn.; Donald Johnson, 17, Denver, Colo.; and Lynn Thompson, 17, Dallas, Tex.

"During the past four years Youth Safety Spokesmen have visited virtually every major city and in 1966 Miss Teenage America alone will travel more than 250,000 miles," Zimmerman said. "The heightened public interest in highway safety and the favorable response to our past efforts has generated far more requests than we have been able to accept."

"Addition of our six new Youth Safety Spokesmen means that we now have the potential to double the number of persons who can be reached with a very effective and personal driver safety tips message."

Schoolcraft Plans Orientation Sessions

Orientation sessions for freshman students began this week on the Schoolcraft College campus as college officials set in motion procedures leading to the registration of an expected 2,800 students beginning Monday, Aug. 29, and the start of classes for the fall semester on Thursday, Sept. 1.

Divided into groups of approximately 200 each, freshmen were assigned to one of six orientation sessions scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and afternoons.

According to Registrar Norman E. Dunn, a pre-registration information packet has been mailed to all Schoolcraft students, including freshmen who have been tested and counseled. The packet includes a schedule of fall semester classes explaining registration procedures, the name of the student's faculty advisor and a pre-registration appointment time and date with the advisor.

A page is provided in the class schedule to permit the student to prepare a tentative weekly class schedule.

Registration will start at 1 p.m. Monday, Aug. 29, and continue through Wednesday, Aug. 31. Students enrolling in the day classes or planning a combined day and evening program must register in person, Dunn explained.

Students enrolling in evening classes may register either in person or by mail. Evening class students who have been counseled will receive in the mail information on how to register, Dunn said.

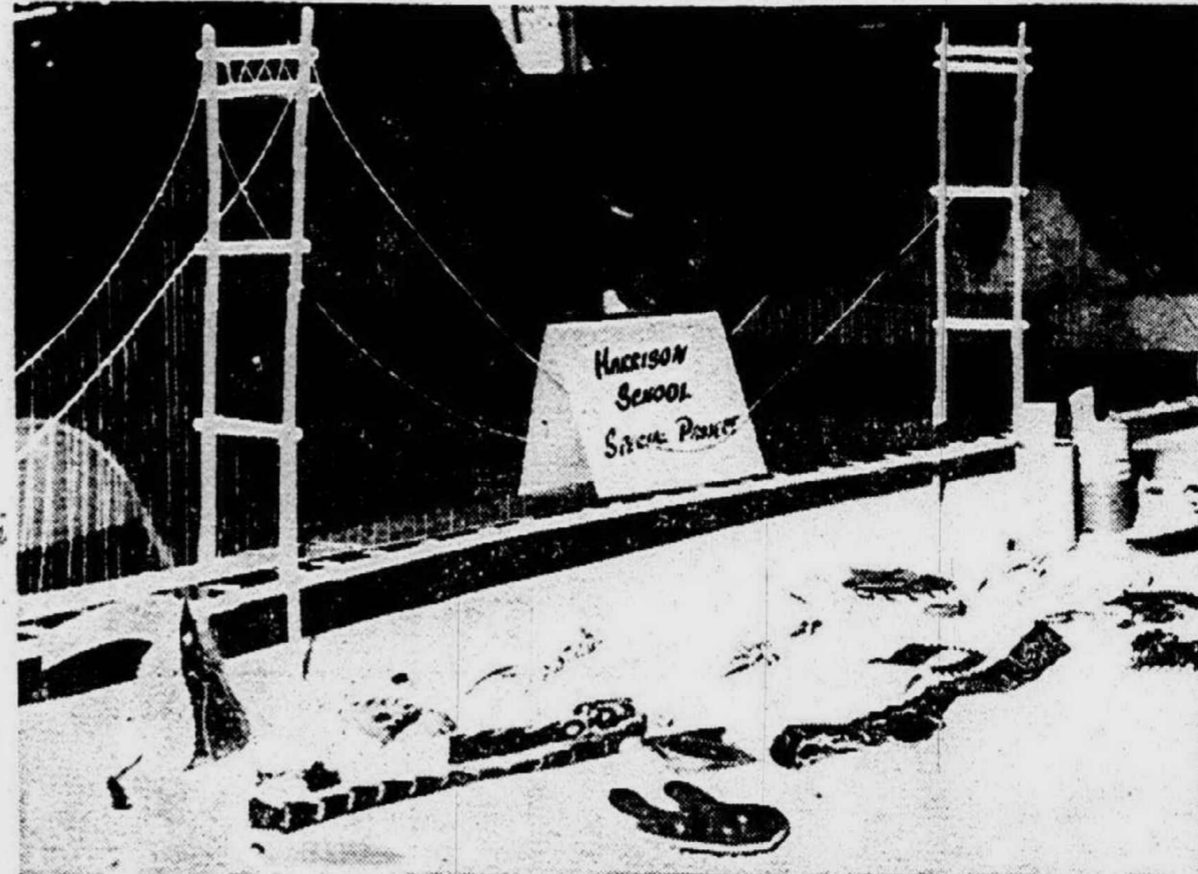

The registrar added he anticipated a fall term enrollment of approximately 1,800 day college students, an increase of about 300 from last fall, and about 1,000 evening college students. Admission of students to day college courses closed last week, according to Director of Admissions Barbara Geil. The last group of students applying for admission were given pre-counseling tests on Aug. 9.

200,000 to View State Fair March

An estimated 200,000 spectators are expected to line Woodward in downtown Detroit for the Grand Opening parade of the 117th annual Michigan State Fair.

The parade will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25. In previous years it has been on Friday night, but the Fair's opening has been advanced to noon Friday, Aug. 26, pushing the parade back to Thursday night.

Always popular with young and old alike, the parade will be bigger than ever this year, with more than 150 units taking part.

Featured will be bands, drum-and-bugle corps, drum majorettes, horses, and open cars carrying beauty queens.

Units from the Armed Services will be on hand, with the Air Force showing off a Bomarc missile. Other governmental units and various industries will have floats in the parade.

Baton-twirling groups, dance schools, and drill teams made up of high-stepping girls all will take part. The parade is intended to give crowds a small taste of the Fair itself, which runs the fair until Monday, September 5 (Labor Day).

Michigan was the first state in the nation to have an independent Department of Education with its own administrator. It was established in 1837.

Circuit Judges Approve Grand Jury Investigation

DRC Plans Own Probe of Dope Charges

Irked by newspaper reports of irregularities in the conduct of racing at the Detroit Race Course and by a demand from State Attorney General Frank Kelley for a one-man grand jury investigation of the charges, E. E. Dale Shaffer, president of the DRC, has taken steps of his own to conduct a thorough survey and investigation of racing and racing personnel at all levels at the race track. Shaffer requested and received the immediate services of Spencer Drayton, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau and executive vice president of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations, and John Brennan, the executive vice president of the TRPB, to conduct the investigation. They arrived at the plant, located at the intersection of Schoolcraft and Middlebelt Roads in Livonia, Friday and have started their work. Meanwhile, the 21 judges of the Wayne County Circuit Monday voted to create a new Wayne County grand jury to investigate charges of both corruption in politics and criminal operations at the Detroit Race Course. By their action, the judges approved a request for a new Wayne County grand jury filed last week by Kelley. Judge Thomas Murphy, who presided at the session, disclosed that the circuit judges raised many points about the legality of a new grand jury at the meeting. The points will be turned over to the State Supreme Court for a decision before Sept. 1 when the new grand juror is to be named. However, Murphy said the judges approved the petition Kelley filed. It charged that: "Certain persons, either as candidates or treasurers of political committees" have filed false campaign expenses.

—Unnecessarily public officials have been bribed to prevent the enforcement of laws against gambling and prostitution. —Payoffs have been made to public officials for favors, including appointments to jobs. —Public officials and others have threatened "to accuse others of crimes," with the intent of extorting money. —Horses have been dragged at the Detroit Race Course to determine the outcome of races. —Some officers and employees of the Michigan Racing Commission and Department of Agriculture have been willfully neglecting their duties. —Unlicensed owners using assumed names, have entered horses in races at the Detroit Race Course. —There have been conspiracies among public officials and employees to violate the 1959 racing law and Michigan election laws that have resulted in an obstruction of justice.

THIS IS ARTIST'S conception of how the new Demery's store at 12 Mile and Farmington Roads in Farmington will look for Monday's ribbon-cutting opening ceremony. The program is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. and the doors to the huge new store will be opened at the same time.

Demery's Cut Ribbon Mon. in Farmington

Demery's Will Hold Ribbon Cutting Monday

Demery's will be cutting a ribbon instead of a cake on the occasion of their 55th Anniversary. The third Demery department store will be opened officially Monday, Aug. 22 at Farmington Road at 12 Mile. John William Butler, Chairman of the Board of Demery's, has invited local city and township officials to assist in the brief ceremony at 9:30 a.m.

The parent Demery store has been a landmark at Woodward and Milwaukee since 1911. The Birmingham store at Woodward and Hamilton was opened in April of 1961. The new store located in the Demery shopping plaza, will follow the convenient, three-level "ranch style" design of the Birmingham store but be much larger and more elaborate.

Asked about Demery's future expansion plans, Butler indicated that the Farmington store was "only the beginning. The success of our Birmingham branch has proven our ability to expand with an expanding Detroit."

The Demery corporation is privately owned by the John Wm. Butler family of Birmingham and the Charles A. Peck family of Detroit. Other officers include C. L. Damon, vice-president; Warren M. Rappenhagen, vice-president and treasurer; and Clare L. Prowse, controller.

Under the provisions of Michigan's 1850 Constitution, the State Legislature was required to provide free schools by 1855. Action was deferred, however, until 1869 when all public schools became free to all.

Among Detroit's "success" stories in retailing is the Demery chain of department stores, which will open its new branch at Farmington and 12 Mile Roads, Monday, Aug. 22. Ribbon-cutting ceremonies are scheduled for 9:30 a.m.

The original store at Woodward and Milwaukee, purchased in 1911 by Michael Demery, quickly became well-known for its superior lines of fine Irish linens. Gradually, other departments were added. An "heirloom" advertisement featured Children's Straw Sailors at 10c . . . Boys' Bathing Suits at 15c . . . Knickerbockers for 55c . . . Auto Goggles at 35c . . . Auto Dusters at $1.10 . . . Paper Collars at 19c per box.

Expanding into a 4 level, 67,000 sq. foot building, Demery's Woodward at Milwaukee store has long been a landmark in the New Center area. Now featuring hundreds of famous brands of merchandise, departments specialize in men's, women's, children's and infants' wear, linens, housewares and notions.

In 1961, Demery's opened its first suburban branch in Birmingham on Woodward at Hamilton . . . a three-level, 70 thousand square foot store which has been called "one of the most beautiful stores in America." Birmingham branch added the convenience of a Beauty Salon to the complete line of departments and opened a large S&H Redemption Center in the lower level for the convenience of its customers.

Demery's will open its third store in a complete shopping plaza called Demery's Farmington at Farmington and 12 Mile Roads. With almost two acres of selling area, the new store will be even larger and more elaborate than the Birmingham branch.

The new Farmington store features several innovations in retail store design. The main and lower levels have the largest installation of new, shadow-free "egg crate" lighting in this part of the country.

The store exterior, as well as those of the adjoining stores in the Demery shopping plaza, features "aggregate" surfacing. This crisp, white surfacing of cast-in-place stone particles, is also the largest installation of its kind in the Midwest. Gold colored panels, accented with aluminum tubing, are used in contrast to the clean, white aggregate giving Demery's a distinctive, contemporary building.

The store's focal point is the centrally located escalator stair-well hung with a graceful, 16 foot high, custom-made chandelier visible from all three levels. Being a replica of the Birmingham store's chandelier, this may become Demery's "trademark."

Decor is early American highlighted by wagon wheel gas-light fixtures with ruby globes. Carpeting is of red and black tweed. Black leather captain's chairs and post lanterns lend a club-like atmosphere. For the adjoining men's furnishings and boys' shops the same masculine atmosphere is maintained with heraldic symbols of brass on backgrounds of burnt sienna.

County Schools Invited To Discuss Financial Problems

Two school districts whose boundaries include Westland are planning meetings to discuss the problem of financing educational needs.

Discussing the sessions, which will have all Wayne County school board members and superintendents invited, were the boards of the Nankin Mills district and the Wayne Community district.

Nankin Mills has its session scheduled for 8 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 23, in the Henry Ford Elementary School.

The Wayne meeting has not been scheduled as yet but the board last week adopted a resolution presented by Trustee Philip R. Biebesheimer.

Elwyn Dell, Wayne administrative assistant, said Friday that although both meetings will cover the same topic, his district has not cancelled plans for its session.

Dell said that the Nankin Mills District invitation for the Aug. 23 meeting hasn't yet been received or evaluated.

He said that administrators will report to the school board at its Sept. 12 meeting to see if plans should progress for a session on public schools money problems.

The Nankin Mills invitation went out to 38 of the county's 42 districts, excluding four which the board felt had no serious financial problems.

Trustee David Gooze, also Nankin Mills' legislative representative, said in his letter to the other boards and superintendents, that "it is becoming more and more difficult to pass school millages and bond issues. School districts are forced to cut services or extend necessary payments to continue the present level of education."

"We as educators have not done enough to insure us of enough monies from the state to plan a quality program."

Wayne's Biebesheimer has proposed a state income tax to replace school property taxes.

The board member, who outlined his ideas for The Observer two months ago when he was elected to the Board of Education, favors a flat income tax earmarked for educational purposes only with the school tax levy removed from the property assessment.

"I feel there has to be a solution to the problem and it has been my thought for a long time that the property owners have too much of a tax burden," Biebesheimer said.

The idea of a meeting of all Wayne County school board members and superintendents was approved by the Wayne district's board last week in a resolution which said:

"The board of education invites the board members of the 42 districts in Wayne County, the intermediate board of education (on a county level) and the superintendents of the districts to a meeting for the purpose of planning approaches to new methods of financing public schools.

"We also instruct the superintendent to make the necessary contacts with these individuals and arrange any

Teacher Assisting County

Livonia's school district has given a leave of absence to one of its teachers to assist the Wayne County Intermediate School District which will study the educational and cultural resources of Wayne County as they relate to the county's 43 school districts.

He is Walter J. Schumacher, an elementary classroom teacher for the past five years who has been active on various curriculum study committees.

Samuel Mangione, on leave of absence from the Lincoln Park School system, will direct the study financed under Title III of the National Secondary and Elementary Act.

Taxpayers in the county will foot the bill for the $85,000 cost which is returned to them in the form of a grant.

Specific salaries for the two men were not available. A county board spokesman said policy does not permit release of the exact amount to be paid.

He did say the 12-month range for Mangione would be from $12,650 to $14,650 and that for Schumacher of 9910 Henry Ruff St., $9,750 to $11,350.

He was not certain if the amounts were to be prorated on a nine-month basis, which is the length of the study.

consultant services he might deem necessary to effectively accomplish the purposes of this meeting."

By consultants, Biebesheimer said, he wanted any state officials on hand at the meeting to provide information on the total amount of personal income tax and the funds now received by public school districts from property taxes.

In seeking a new grand jury, Kelley said the investigation would result in citizens having "their confidence in the processes of law and order reaffirmed."

Kelley asked that the investigation begin soon, but he gave no date.

Thomas M. Kavanagh, Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, would not comment on the forthcoming request for an opinion.

Fifty-two per cent of all state general fund expenditures in Michigan are invested in education.

In addition, there were five injuries reported last month because of misuse of petroleum products with four of those being children.

The DRC Story

IF YOUR WIFE SAYS YOU "EAT LIKE A HORSE", HERE'S WHAT SHE MEANS

Dieting Is Strictly For People!

Don't ever try to put this human practice across with horses.

If your Wife leans over the dinner table and says: "You eat like a horse," she is trying to get a message through to you.

The 1,250 thoroughbred horses stabled at the Detroit Race Course eat extremely well. It is a safe bet their "grocery" bill will top yours.

Many fans are extremely curious about the daily menu of the Thoroughbreds they bet on. I think you will find what it takes to satisfy a horse's appetite both interesting and surprising.

The average horse eats between six and 10 quarts of oats and consumes approximately 50 pounds of hay or grass daily. This is topped off by vitamins, minerals and other feeds.

With an appetite like that, do you wonder what a horse weighs?

The average Thoroughbred weighs between 1,000 and 1,200 pounds. He attains his maximum growth when five years old.

A Thoroughbred's size is measured in "hands," rather than inches and feet as is the case with humans. A "hand" is equal to four inches. The average horse stands between 15 and 16 hands, which means he is between five feet and five feet, four inches tall.

I think the more interesting bits you know about Thoroughbred Racing, the more fascinating you will find the Sport.

During our 84-day meeting, which continues through November 5, our every effort is directed toward providing the highest caliber of racing in a setting with the maximum in beauty, comfort and convenience for you.

We have a new $3,000,000 clubhouse, which ranks among the Sport Showplaces of the Nation. Included in it are two excellent Dining Terraces, where you can obtain the finest in food and beverages.

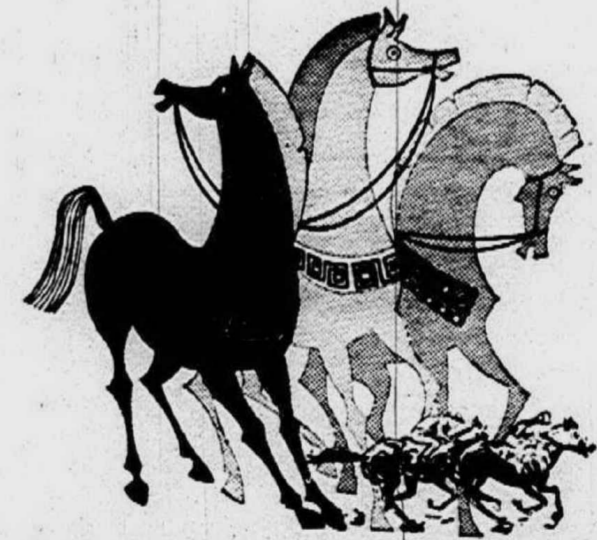

An addition this season is Ye Old Tired Horse Pub, an authentic English Pub, where you can enjoy a snack or a refreshing drink. There is never a Cover or a minimum charge.

There are three Easy-In entrances to the track. They are on Schoolcraft, Middlebelt and Inkster Roads. We have close-in parking for 12,000 cars.

The Fabulous Twin Double is part of our daily racing program.

Top racing and fine facilities are the combination we offer for your pleasure. I invite you to visit us soon.

Socially Speaking Around Plymouth

By Dorothy Sincock GL 3-0038

RED CROSS SWIMMING, life saving and water safety classes have been popular in Plymouth. This shows John McFall, 1078 Simpson, explaining to a swimming class the additional water safety courses for which they become eligible. In the water, Kay Zoet, 380 W. Liberty, and Ed Klein-smith, 290 Parkview Drive, are ready to offer the lesson for the day. Last year, 275 Plymouthites received certificates in Water Safety at 11 classes conducted by the Red Cross.

Celebrating on Monday with dinner the Gustav Phillips of Evergreen and daughter Sally. The occasion honored Mrs. Phillips' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eidt of Detroit on their 59th anniversary.

The party festivities included honors for Mr. and Mrs. David Mynatt on their third anniversary. Little daughter Debbie, only great-grandchild of course was present. Attending also were Mr. and Mrs. Byron Flechtner of Garden City and their family, Mr. and Mrs. David Flechtner of Livonia.

Looking ahead to a new production "The Desert Song" to be done in late October was the Plymouth Theatre Guild when they gathered for a Board meeting at the Kingsley Page residence in Walled Lake with a family type picnic and President Jerry French presiding.

Plans were made to hold tryouts in vocal and dialogue on Aug. 18 and 19 at the home of Sandra Richards at 853 Church in Plymouth at 7:30 p.m.

Dancing tryouts will be held on Aug. 25 and anyone interested may attend or obtain further information by calling 453-3548.

New participants are welcomed. Returning from Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper were Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Tanager. Over morning coffee the twosome learned of the honor bestowed on Nancy when she became aware of the new elementary school No. 7 will bear her name.

Both served the Plymouth Community with a combined 75 years. Nancy stated, she felt it was a tribute to both of them, "I am overwhelmed and delighted."

Paul and Wilma Scholbe, of North Territorial, have returned from a month's visit in the West, spending time at the Herbert Scholbe residence at Long Beach and the Norman Marquis residence in Rogers, Ark. They found the Grand Canyon's outstanding scenic views most interesting.

Dunning's employees, who enjoy serving the public, also enjoy friendly gatherings such as the one held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Bessie Sallow on Church Street. Following the successful sidewalk sale with a party, the group enjoyed the culinary specialties of all attending and followed dinner with games.

Margaret, who was unable to attend and really felt she missed a fun time, scheduled a cottage party for the near future.

Houseguests this past week of Rev. and Mrs. David Strang were the William Montgomerys. The Montgomerys have just returned from a year's stay in St. Croix, Virgin Islands where Montgomery was in training at a 250-year-old Lutheran Church. Montgomery is a senior in the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary.

Planning a visit to Meadowbrook and the Ypsilanti Greek Theater are the Don Carlsons of Burroughs St. and her parents, the C. K. Dyers and sister, Susanne of Camp Hall, Pa. who are making a visit.

Others from Plymouth attending the Greek Theater were the Kenneth Hulsings, the George Bauers and watching "The Birds" from front row seats were the George Spaniels, the Stan Webers and the James Knowles.

Drummond Island in Northern Michigan was the vacation spot for the Lawrence Becker family of Hartsough. The familiar spot is a specialty for the Beckers who yearly enjoy its surroundings.

It will be Higgins Lake Conservation Camp for Mary Ellen Dart of Penniman Avenue. Mary Ellen will be sponsored by the Lake Pointe Branch of National Farm and Garden Michigan Division and will bring back to the club a program on conservation.

Attends Signal School

Red Cross Thrives on Plymouth's Volunteers

The men can't take credit for this development.

It was Clara Barton, "Angel of the Civil War Battlefields," who, in 1881 initiated disaster relief operations in behalf of victims of Michigan forest fires, and became founder of the American Red Cross.

Issue Final Call For Boys to Register In Junior Football

Officers of the Plymouth Community Junior Football League Monday issued the final call for 9-12-year-old boys to register. The deadline is Monday, Aug. 29 at a family night program which will include registration, physical examinations, equipment distribution and parent and son orientation.

There are still 20 to 25 places available on the three teams, which will play under the banner of the Plymouth Lions. The program includes teams in the freshman, junior varsity and varsity squads.

For additional information contact George Hunter or Bud Young at 453-6687.

The Lions will join five teams from Livonia, two from Garden City and two from Westland. Games will be played Sunday afternoons with five home programs and three on the road.

Today, there are numerous volunteers in Plymouth who are lengthening the shadow of Clara Barton through services to members of the Armed Forces and victims of disaster, and through blood collection programs.

Plymouth's Community Fund is supporting the 1967 program of the Red Cross with a $4,750 allocation from the $88,543 quota it will raise in a united-giving campaign between the dates of Oct. 10 and Nov. 4.

Edward W. Schening, plant manager of the Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth, is general chairman of the drive.

After two decades of disaster relief work, the Red Cross, in 1905 was designated by Act of Congress as responsible for aiding victims of natural disasters and giving assistance to the Armed Forces.

In addition to blood collection, disaster aid and service to the military, Plymouth Red Cross activities include first aid classes, home nursing instruction, water safety programs, food service, transportation, and social welfare aid.

Last year some 33 Plymouth volunteers worked on five blood collections which netted 428 pints at two community locations and in three industries. They handled 10 additional assignments for blood collection and helped organize 14 classes in first aid and water safety. Many of the 1,178 total hours donated were spent in service at the Chapter House in Detroit.

Twenty-one Plymouth families received assistance from the Red Cross Service for Military Families in such matters as financial aid, hardship discharges and emergency leaves. Forty Plymouth families of servicemen were counselled on government benefits, medical care and allotments.

Heading up the Red Cross volunteer activities in Plymouth are: Mrs. C. Blaine Lytle, 1049 Dewey, chapter representative; Mrs. Henry R. Penhale, 985 Roosevelt and Mrs. Clarence Schuler, 340 Blunk, blood program; Mrs. C. C. Wiltse, 986 Roosevelt, food service; and Cecil L. Sharrard, 44734 Clare Blvd., disaster team.

In cooperation with the Plymouth Recreation and Adult Education Department, a "Care of the Sick and Injured" class will form on Sept. 28. Mrs. Herbert Spring, R.N., will serve as instructor.

Also, a standard First Aid class is being formed, and registrations for these courses are being taken at the Recreation office, phone 453-3100.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

Are "Super-Right" Meats a good reason for shopping A&P?

They're one of many!

OBSERVING the Scene . . .

By MYRA CHANDLER

"It may sound funny but it has something to do with the full moon."

This was Livonia Detective Sgt. Russell McQuaid's explanation to The Observer as to why the rash of indecent exposure cases and attempted and successful molesting in Livonia and vicinity this past week.

Chief of Detectives in Livonia, Captain Robert Turner, substantiated this theory.

"It is important to apprehend these 'kooks' as quickly as possible," Sgt. McQuaid added, "because so many times their sickness becomes progressive and where they are just content, at first, to frightening their victims, later they must grab them and often, finally, only bodily harm will satisfy their maladjusted minds."

"What can we as parents do about this," was our question of the police officers as well as of Captain Fredrick Davids of the Michigan State Police. "Should we talk to our children about this type of person; how do we keep from frightening and yet warning children?"

All the police officers agreed it was important to make children aware of the danger of going to the car of any stranger.

They all agreed it was important to attempt to school children not to panic; to try and get the license number of those who attempt to waylay them; to give as accurate a description as possible; and first and foremost to go directly home and tell their parents.

It is important for the parents to set an example and calmly, but swiftly, call the police. The point that angers police the most is the many parents who, because they do not want to get involved, fail to alert police to the possibility of this type of maniac roving the streets. The police say parents are doing themselves more harm by not getting involved because the guilty person often commits the same crime in an area where he can seemingly get away with it.

The most common method of these maladjusted is to ask a child for directions. Police caution children to give directions from where they are standing. They can become suspicious if the man asking for directions asks them to come closer to the car.

They should not hesitate at that point to get the license number, if possible, and go directly home with their information.

Police encourage children not to play in the large shopping area parking lots, to play in twos or larger groups, and under all circumstances to stay away from strangers. No matter how placid the neighborhood might seem in the early warm days of spring and summer and even fall, parents should not allow their children to be out without checking on them every hour or so. And certainly little ones should not play in parks or vacant fields without older children or parent being around or at least within shouting distance.

The increase in the sex deviate crimes has increased so alarmingly across the nation, that new legislation is under discussion in Washington. In Michigan the increase of forcible rape is up 38.4 per cent over 1964 and this isn't among the teen age group. It's children who are the victims. The new legislation being studied is to establish a centralized information system whereby the quick exchange of information between law enforcement agencies could aid in the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminals.

Sex offenders are repeaters. They often move from community to community and even from state to state until they are caught. In a matter of minutes, through a centralized information system, the habitual offenders could be watched.

In addition to a centralized system in each state, there would also be an inter-state check-out system, if the legislature passes.

Modern computers could give descriptions, clues within minutes, and then police can apprehend these people, get them off the street and allow citizens to breathe easier. The same centralized information is being studied for other crimes such as auto thieves, burglars, narcotic users, potential murderers.

Perhaps with such a system the Oswalds, the Specks would not have taken the toll they did.

Write your Congressman encouraging his study of this legislation. It is one constructive thing we as parents can do.

Death on a Motorcycle

The rash of motorcycle deaths in the Observer Newspaper Group circulation area in the past few months very definitely points to a need for legislation.

The toll call now reads: two in Plymouth, two in Livonia, three in Farmington, two in Garden City and one in Redford Township—all within a matter of five or six months.

We don't have the slightest idea of what step should be taken to correct this situation but the fact that nine have been killed in motorcycle accidents, six in the past three weeks; in an indication that something is wrong.

Most of the dead were teenagers or young adults. Each had an urge to drive and ride a motorcycle and all were killed in accidents that in some strange fashion appear to follow a pattern.

Asked some time ago about the danger of motorcycles on the highways, Livonia Police Chief James Jordan stated that he believed many of the accidents were caused because the motorcyclist was riding in a blind spot behind cars.

"We have discovered that many of the accidents are caused because the motorist doesn't see the motorcycle either in the side view or rear view mirrors," said Chief Jordan. "Then the car driver signals for a turn with the motorbike close behind and the motorcyclist can't move fast enough to avoid an accident.

"And all of this time the car driver isn't aware of the motorcycle because it is in a blind spot behind his car and completely hidden from view. I believe there should be some laws passed making it mandatory for the motorcycles to drive in such a way that they are completely in view of the car driver."

God Bless 'Em

The American Field Service is a non-profit organization without political or secular affiliation. It is supported by private contributions. Having served as a volunteer ambulance corps in the First and Second World Wars, the AFS started its present program of international scholarships in 1947 as the most effective way to promote international understanding in peace time.

If the AFS can do it—and it sounds like a mighty good thing—let us all spread the word. Here is a group that is doing more than just talking about peace—it is doing something!

Reader Favors Additional Shopping Area in Westland

Editor:

This letter is in reference to the current argument over the Birch Hill Golf Course in Westland. The proposal to rezone the area for a large shopping and apartment complex by the Lundblad Co. is a sound one. It is sound not only from a financial point of view but, also, because it is so sorely needed by the general public in this area.

I propose that a thorough, comprehensive survey be taken to determine the will of the majority of home owners. Such a survey, be it door to door or phone to phone, is a far better way to play fair with all the residents concerned, whether a professional planner is brought into the picture or not.

I have read the comments of Bruce Foulk, chairman of the "Save Birch Hill Committee," with great interest in both the Observer Newspaper and the Guardian Review. Mr. Foulk says the new business area would create a traffic headache. That is doubtful. A well planned shopping area, of such large dimensions as the $10 million one proposed, takes heavy traffic into consideration from the very beginning and allows for a free flow. Not to mention the fact that Cherry Hill and Merriman, right should have been widened years ago, and there's plenty of room to do it.

Mr. Foulk also maintains that the new shopping center would hurt surrounding smaller shopping areas, and that some stores in the smaller centers are already vacant. He has hit the proverbial nail right on the head. The surrounding shopping centers most assuredly are small—and thoroughly inadequate. That's exactly why people travel miles out of their way to larger complexes, in other communities instead of their own. That's why some of the stores are vacant now, have been vacant for a long time, and unfortunately will continue to be vacant. These small centers were a fine idea when the communities were also small. But the residential areas have grown at a tremendous rate, and the smaller districts simply are no longer able to serve the needs of the public.

Mr. Foulk and his committee advocate rezoning the area as agricultural and using it for public recreation. Now long stretches of green, trees, furry creatures, and recreation are a grand thing and I would be the last to knock it. This area, in fact all of Michigan, has wonderful recreational facilities and has done a splendid job of retaining its natural beauty. No doubt more of it will always be welcome. But this particular area has another pressing, vital need due to the pathetic lack of a large, well organized business district. And the site at Cherry Hill and Merriman, right across the street from Garden City's park, is the only logical, centrally located and generally convenient place for such a district.

May I repeat that the Planning Commission would do a far greater service in solving this issue by determining the will of the majority. Count all heads by taking a wide-spread, unprejudiced survey.

Phoenix or Failure?

There is an old saying that runs, "A beating sometimes does a fellow good."

In the fight game, where I served my apprenticeship as a sports writer, they put it another way. The hardened old fight managers say, "Never judge a fighter until after you have seen him on the floor." By this they mean that a fighter never shows his true ability until after he has been knocked down.

I got to thinking of these trite sayings the other day when I was asked what I thought about Jerry Cavanagh's political future now that he has taken such a bad beating in the race for the nomination as U.S. Senator. "Do you think he has learned a lesson and will listen to his advisors from now on," I was asked, "or will he let this defeat ruin his career in politics?"

As I pondered these questions I recalled a friendly chat I had with Cavanagh's chief advisor in his upset victory over Louis Miriani for the Detroit mayor's chair.

Cavanagh had been in office more than two years at the time and had brought many changes — chief of which was the barricade he had built around himself in the Mayor's office. It was becoming increasingly difficult for even some of his friends to see him in the office.

I mentioned this to his advisor and cautioned him that it seemed to most of us that "Jerry" was forgetting those who helped to put him in the Chief Executive's office.

"I know, I know," the advisor said. "Jerry is being carried away by his success. Everything he has attempted has been successful. He's just about balanced the budget — settled the labor problem at Cobo Hall that was giving Detroit a bad image, and he seems to have found a pipe line to Washington."

Here the old campaigner stopped for a moment then smilingly said, "Jerry has been having too much of his own way — things have come to him too easy. What he needs is a good beating. It will make a better man of him."

As he spoke another incident came to mind.

It was the morning after Max Schmeling had scored his amazing knockout of Joe Louis and I was sitting with Joe and his handlers in a Harlem apartment as they were trying to figure out just what had gone wrong.

For months the sports writers, and especially the old time boxing writers, were keeping their opinion of Joe as a fighter, "until after we see him on the floor."

That time was here now. And as Joe sat there, his face swollen all out of proportion and his dreams crushed all about him, his manager, John Roxborough, remarked, "If he isn't injured internally, this beating could be the best thing that ever happened to Joe."

He went on to explain that Joe hadn't been heading his handlers as he should have — that he had been setting his own training pace — and in some cases telling his handlers what to do. Now look what happened!

Joe just nodded and mumbled, "Won't happen again."

And it didn't. From the ashes of that defeat he came on to win the world heavyweight championship and crush Schmeling in their next meeting. The beating he had taken had done him a world of good.

Now Jerry Cavanagh, the progressive young Detroit Mayor, has been knocked down. He has absorbed the beating his wisest old handlers said he needed.

So what of his future? He has personality, ability, and the type of imagination it requires for high political office.

Personally, I don't believe we have heard the last of Cavanagh.

It will just be case of — Up from the ashes of defeat — to what?

Reader Speaks Up

Hanky-Panky?

Editor: I live on Wormer in Redford Township where James Bonadeo wants to build some apartments and my husband and I don't have any interest one way or another.

The other night two other couples and ourselves were in a local bar having a drink and Mr. Bonadeo came in and sat down with us. After a while we were kidding him about the apartments and Mr. Fitzgerald from Supervisor Jack McDonald's office came in and called Mr. Bonadeo to the bar and we could hear him meddling in politics and Mr.

Bonadeo just laughed.

Then Mr. Fitzgerald seemed to get very mad and told Mr. Bonadeo that the Board would never give him any apartments because Paul (Boraks) didn't want him to have any and they were in debt to him.

We asked Mr. Bonadeo about it afterward but he wouldn't tell us anything. We think there is something funny going on in Redford Township and your paper ought to find out.

TOWNSHIP RESIDENT

Dear Township Resident: The Observer has advised Mr. Bonadeo to take his being discriminated against on apartment buildings to court of law where any hanky-panky would come to light.

For Correcting Charter Editor:

I want to thank The Observer for its outstanding coverage of the proposed Garden City charter. We have found that when the voters are informed properly they respond quickly to the call of duty. Let us not feel that all efforts to give the city of Garden City a new charter is lost. The charter may be revised and the portion which was not acceptable can be corrected.

SUSAN HILL
Garden City
(Candidate for Council)

Dear Ombudsman,

Why won't the Redford Twp. Police Chief let the Civil Defense Police work the traffic light at Schoolcraft and Beech Daly Rds. even after getting an okay from the Supervisor's Office? The light must be worked manually at times, due to the increased race track traffic. His reason is that the C.D. Police are unarmed. This makes no sense.

We already work as carnival guards and at high school dances and sports events etc. unarmed and incidentally without pay. The regular police officers don't want the traffic light duty because they are already working a lot of overtime due to vacations and the extra traffic detail near Redford Union High school.

Why not give the C.D. Police a chance to make an extra buck working the light (the race track picks up the tab) if for no other reason than in appreciation for the time and energy these men have already donated to the Township? Please withhold my name.

A REDFORD TWP. C.D. POLICEMAN
DEAR C.D. POLICEMAN:

You are right. Redford Township Police Chief Hudson is not high on Civil Defense Police doing the job of the regular police force. In fact he is wholeheartedly against it. If you are interested in pursuing the C.D. police handling the race track their approval. Chief Hudson takes orders from the Township Supervisor and must abide by action taken by the your C.D. force, requesting Township Board.

Incumbent Thurber Seeks State Board Of Education Seat

Donald M. D. Thurber, of Grosse Pointe, member of the State Board of Education, Monday announced he would seek re-nomination and reelection to the Board. Thurber, a Democrat, will submit his name for re-nomination at his party's convention in Grand Rapids, Aug. 19 and 20. The position on the Board will be filled at the November state-wide election for an eight-year term.

Created by Michigan's new Constitution, the State Board of Education is given the responsibility for leadership, general supervision, planning and coordination for all public education, including higher education, in the state. It also advises the Legislature on the financial requirements of education.

Thurber was elected to the Board in 1964, winning by more than 600,000 votes. He was the front-runner among all candidates for educational posts in the state-wide election of that year.

"One of Michigan's greatest necessities is to strengthen its capacity to respond to the problems of our communities, particularly of the big cities," Thurber stated.

"Financing a first-rate system of education is a matter of policy, not of resources," he continued. "We have the resources and we can, if we are willing, have first-rate schools just as we have first-rate nuclear missiles. Most of the difficulties in meeting educational needs arise not because the people are unwilling to pay but because the state has not yet found a way to carry the load equitably and with maximum efficiency," he said.

"The State Board of Education, through its research, development and demonstration, is bringing Michigan closer to all the goals I have named. I think I can help to move Michigan education forward by continuing to serve on the Board," Thurber said.

Thurber, a Detroit public relations executive, is a former Regent of The University of Michigan. A Harvard graduate, he serves on the Overseers' Committee to Visit Harvard College. He is also chairman of the scholarship committee of the Detroit Urban League, a member of the executive council of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan and a board member of the Michigan Society for Mental Health.

Serving as chairman of Thurber's campaign committee is Alfred V. Meyers, of Birmingham, an educator long associated with the Detroit Public Schools.

Rec. Director Denies Driving While Drunk

Township Recreation Director Stuart Watson pleaded innocent last week when he appeared in justice court on charges of drunk driving.

Police said Watson and George Kovach, a Civil Defense officer, came to the police station Wednesday following a claim by Kovach that Watson almost hit his car head on.

Officers said that after a discussion at the desk they advised Watson they would drive him home.

He ran from the station, jumped in his car and started driving his car whereupon a summons was issued for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Donald Thurber

the educational needs of our time," Thurber said. "I believe that the most urgent needs are: to raise the quality of our schools and colleges everywhere and for everyone; to bring equality of educational opportunity to every child, whatever his color, creed, handicap or family circumstance; to provide vocational and technical training geared to the economy and technology of today; to make higher education possible for all young people who can benefit from it; and to bring our educational resources to bear directly on

Congressman Farnum Announces Grant for Training Nurses

WASHINGTON—Congressman Billie S. Farnum (D-Pontiac), Monday announced the approval of a $118,111 grant to train 100 unemployed workers to be practical nurses. Training will be conducted at Oakland Community College.

The grant funded under the Man-Power Development & Training Act (M.D.T.A.) was approved jointly by Secretary of Labor, W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Don W. Gardner.

"M.D.T.A. identifies current and possible shortage in our supply of essential manpower and helps persons qualify for these key positions through education and training."

Farnum commented in announcing the approval.

"In training 100 unemployed workers in this 48 week course to become qualified, competent, licensed, practical nurses, we are not only meeting a crucial need in the field of health care," Farnum continued.

"We are also taking people off the unemployment and welfare rolls and putting them on the payroll."

A member of the appropriations sub-committee on labor, health, education and welfare, Farnum added, "The additional taxes we will receive when the unemployed workers become tax-payers rather than tax-eaters will more than off-set the cost involved in running this program. Investment in education and training in human beings is one of the wisest investments we can make."

The grant provides $59,840 for training allowances to be paid to the future nurses while they take the course and $58,271 to cover the actual cost of the training.

Billie Farnum

Both the Michigan Employment Security and Vocational Education Departments developed the training proposal and submitted it for approval of the labor and NES Department.

Still Needs Job Applicants

Although Clarenceville School District has indicated that the staff for the 1966-67 school year is nearing completion, there are key areas in which a limited number of applicants are needed. These areas involve diagnostic, visiting teacher, and industrial arts.

Also, applications are still being considered for certain later elementary grades, and for English, science and mathematics in the secondary schools.

Okays Bid For Printing by Garden City

The Garden City Board of Education last week approved the bid of $4,192 for the printing of a history of the city for third grade classes.

The low bid submitted by the Edwards Brothers of Ann Arbor was well under the other quotes of $5,480 from several other companies.

However, Dr. Jack Kirsch, assistant superintendent, and Jerry Keast, purchasing agent, reported that they recommended the Edwards Brothers firm on the basis of the quality of their work, which includes a large number of books for University of Michigan and other publishing firms.

The low bidder's price includes $2,312 for the printing and binding, $780 for copy preparation at the rate of $6 for each of the 130 pages; and $225 for the teachers' manual to go along with the history book.

The other firms had quoted prices of $2,400 for the printing and another $2,000 for the binding and did not include the $250 teachers' manuals.

"The City of Garden City" was written by John Macfie, chairman of the local Historical Commission who also wrote an adult history volume several years ago.

The books are expected to be ready this fall.

Aug. 29-30 For New Student Registering

Fall registration days for students who have moved into the Livonia school district will be held on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 29 and 30 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., according to Dr. Paul E. Johnson, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction.

Although public school and City Hall officials try to keep records of home owners and renters moving in and out of the school district it is difficult to plan accurately on how many children from these homes will be attending Livonia elementary, junior, and senior high schools, unless parents and children register now.

Livonia schools are operated on the 6-3-3 basis, with youngsters in grades up through the sixth going to elementary schools, from 7 through 9 in junior highs, and from 10 through 12 in senior high schools.

"Students can enroll on Aug. 29 and 30 in the school nearest his home," Dr. Johnson said. "If a parent has any doubts if his residence is in or out of the school attendance area, he can telephone the nearest school or the Board of Education offices for accurate information."

Handbill Ordinance OK'd by Westland

Westland's City Council, faced with two different versions of controls on handbill distribution in the community, unanimously adopted the administration's draft, Monday.

The adopted ordinance would take effect next Wednesday, Aug. 24, and will include provisions to require a list of the handbill distributors to be submitted to local police agencies.

Left out of the ordinance was the required $25 fee and $250 bond by the distributors, sought by Councilman Charles McIlhargey who drafted the ordinance which wasn't adopted. He abstained on the roll call vote on the code drafted by Mayor Thomas H. Brown.

Before final adoption, the issue sparked comments from Councilman William Anderson, who said the version drafted by the committee made up of McIlhargey and Councilman John Markes, would "hamper free enterprise" in that it would hurt the small businessman.

However, McIlhargey commented that his version is nearly identical to that in Redford Township and similar to the one in Berkley and "gives the right control and doesn't squeeze out the small businessman."

He pointed out that the $250 bond he proposed would cover such items as shrubbery damaged by a handbill distributor.

In addition, he said, his version included a section on the hours handbills could be distributed and this excluded Sundays and holidays.

The City Council did include that section in the ordinance it eventually passed.

He also said that his ordinance has been in the council's hands for one month and felt "it is a good one" and isn't discriminatory.

"I don't like the $25 fee and $250 bond (required in the committee's version) but I would go along with the registration of circulators with the police department," Brown concluded.

Ticket Fixing Case Bound To Circuit Court

The traffic-fixing case involving the top two officers in the Wayne County Sheriff's Department was bound over to Circuit Court Monday by Grosse Pointe Municipal Judge Douglas Paterson.

over the preliminary examination of Sheriff Peter L. Buback and Undersheriff James Bommarito and he ruled Monday that the four counts of the charges made by Grand Juror Edward S. Piggins have been committed "and there is probable cause to believe that Buback and Bommarito are guilty of those charges."

The four counts were permitting traffic fixing; appointing bar owners and persons with criminal records as honorary deputy sheriffs contrary to public policy and the public interest; holding an illegal raffle to raise campaign funds; and forcing employees to sell and buy tickets for testimonial dinners for Buback and Bommarito.

Judge Paterson, in his nine-page written opinion, said that his study of the state law as it pertains to the case concerned the meaning of "wilful neglect of duty" which the two defendants were charged.

"I felt that neglect meant 'inattention, thoughtlessness, and heedlessness,' of the official duties of the law enforcement officers," Paterson said.

There was ample evidence that there was wilful neglect of duty, the judge continued, and probably cause that Buback and Bommarito were guilty.

The defendants' personal bonds will be continued until their trial in Circuit Court, which has yet to be scheduled.

The preliminary exam in Paterson's court, covering the July 26-Aug. 12 period, had the prosecution bring 19 witnesses to the stand and submit nearly 80 exhibits.

The defendants' attorney, Joseph Louisell, did not present any evidence or witnesses during the examination.

During the last week of the exam, three of the seven counts were dropped at the request of the prosecution. These three were losing confiscated guns that should have been turned over to the state police for disposition; losing confiscated property, and selling of confiscated beer to deputies.

Ronald Greenberg, special prosecutor for the Piggins grand jury, said that he asked that the charges be dropped on the basis that the sheriff and undersheriff, if they didn't know, should have known about those wrongdoings.

The remaining four charges are based on their knowledge and the prosecution decided to proceed on the remaining four charges.

Last week, Stanley Swiatkowski, former Nankin Township Safety Director in the community where the traffic fixing operations were said to have centered, testified that he gave Buback two photostatic copies of fixed tickets in May of 1964.

tickets, looked at them, put them in the middle drawer of his desk and indicated to me he would look into it after the week-end," he stated.

Swiatkowski also testified that in the spring of 1964 there were "a considerable number of complaints from officers regarding an inspector of the road patrol." The officers were complaining that the inspector was interfering with the duties of the court, he said.

The "traffic ticket fixing irregularities were reported by me to the sheriff several times in conversations over a period of weeks," the former safety director testified.

Swiatkowski also said that he never had the photostatic copies of the fixed tickets returned to him.

Greenberg also submitted evidence that 52 persons were made honorary sheriffs despite all of them having police records.

Redford Opens Bid for U.S. Baseball Title

This is a story of how disappointment one day brought happiness, cheers and a trip to a national tournament some 72 hours later.

It was last Wednesday that the long-awaited moment came for Manager Al Turner and his Dependable Hard Chrome baseball team of Redford Township.

Dependable was playing in Tiger Stadium—in the out-state finals of the Detroit Free Press State competition.

The opposition was Mt. Pleasant, a team Dependable had beaten the previous Saturday by a 10-6 score at Mt. Pleasant in the first of a best-of-three series to decide the state crown and the winner of a trip to the All American Boys meet at Johnstown, Pa., which starts this Wednesday.

The excitement of playing in Tiger Stadium didn't last long for Dependable . . . or for Mt. Pleasant.

Maybe it was just as well for Dependable. With the score, 4-0, for Mt. Pleasant after one inning, the rains came.

The game had to be called off.

It was re-scheduled for last Saturday, but now at Northwestern field in Detroit, a far cry from Tiger Stadium.

But that made no difference as Dependable squeezed to a 2-1 victory to sweep the series from Mt. Pleasant and become the first Greater Livonia representative to earn a spot in a U.S. tourney.

To the credit of Turner and Bob Atkins, his right-hand man, the victory over Mt. Pleasant capped a season in which:

1—Dependable had taken both the first and second-half titles in the Free Press' Greater Livonia League.

2—Won from Ferndale in a state semifinal series.

3—Then taken care of Mt. Pleasant in grand style—two consecutive victories.

"I'm proud of my boys," declared Turner as he prepared to pack his bags and lead his troops into Pennsylvania land . . . there to contest against some of the finest teenage teams in this country.

The Townshipers will have some "company" from the Metropolitan area. Adray of Detroit took the city title in the Free Press festivities and also was rewarded with a trip to Johnstown.

The finale between Redford and Mt. Pleasant was a thriller all the way.

What 2-1 game isn't?

In the words of those announcers, it was a real cliff hanger.

Mt. Pleasant almost pulled it out in the final inning against Tom Fleszar, the southpaw from the Township who attends school in Detroit at Catholic Central High.

But with the chips down and with Turner boasting the utmost faith in his ace hurler, Fleszar put out the threat and thus saved everything for the Townshipers.

Fleszar allowed only four hits while striking out 10.

But walks—eight of them—got him into a series of jams.

His mates, meantime, came through with six hits and three of them delivered in the fourth inning when Redford counted both its runs.

The Redford scoring happened as follows:

Harry Kendrick, as brilliant a catcher as the area currently boasts—and a young man who figures to be the No. 1 backstop at Michigan State next spring, socked a single to left.

Terry Rothwell then unloaded a sock which carried to the sidewalk in left center. He made it to third . . .

for a triple as Kendrick strolled home.

Jim Sproul followed with a single to score Kendrick and Redford was through for the day—scoring, that is.

Fortunately, Redford had counted just enough in the way of markers.

A triple by Lonnie Brenner and a double by Dan Williams netted Mt. Pleasant its one run in the seventh.

In the ninth, Mt. Pleasant gave Redford its biggest scare. Bob Flenn singled and Brenner was hit by a pitch.

There was nobody out. Fleszar struck out the next man, and got the second out in the inning on a pop up.

TERRY ROTHWELL scores the winning 2-1, in the finals of the Free Press outstate run for Dependable Hard Chrome of Redford in this fashion to defeat Mt. Pleasant, the national tournament in Johnstown, Pa.

The Tourney Scene . . . People and Excitement

By Morris Moorawick JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—Play ball!

It wasn't too bad at the tournament until the umpire uttered those wretched words.

Sure, the heartbeat moves a trifle faster as you prepare to join your son's car caravan on the long turnpike trek to the tourney town.

Have I forgotten anything? A jacket—it gets kind of chilly, even in August, in those hilly towns. Bermudas—you're a nobody without this trademark.

Stopped the milk delivery? Told my neighbor to pick up my mail? Could I have left anything on?

Petty trivialities. Play ball!

Everything that went before is now lost in the mounting excitement which infects each and every one that becomes a member of the mob at Pointe Stadium.

All you can see are people. Is the town that big? How many? The paper on Thursday says that 15 to 18,000 localites came—and paid—to see the opening night games.

It makes you feel just a little small to see a sandlot game.

Even me—a veteran of 20 years attending national tourneys. My sixth straight year at Johnstown. Everyone knows my camper.

Books under one arm. A portable radio in the other. Yet my fever rises each year at this time. How must it be for the novice?

You think your son's, or your neighbor's son's team is pretty good, huh?

The Johnstown Tribune lists the record of all the entries, Washington, a perennial favorite, comes into town with a sub-par 56-17 mark.

Sub-par?

What kind of records do the good teams have?

Brooklyn, which won in 1963, boasts an 82-12 slate.

How can that be? There aren't enough days in the summer to cover that many games.

But the record is gospel. They play once every week. (Continued on Page 3B)

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

No news is good news . . . so they always say.

And when something bad or unhappy occurs, it always gets to you—post haste.

So it was in double doses for the pounder of these typewriter keys.

It was somewhere around 5:30 p.m. on a Tuesday afternoon that the phone rang in the sports department of the Detroit Free Press, where we have been helping out this summer, and the better half of the Maskin clan announced:

"Cracker is dead."

Cracker happened to be our 14-year-old Welsh terrier, who seemed to mean as much to the family as any of the other five members.

We knew Cracker was on her last legs. It was just a matter of a day or two, or maybe ten.

She couldn't whip leukemia of the blood . . . at her age.

The next morning, somewhere around noon, we were bumping along the final approach to Newark Airport, outside of New York City, in an American Airliner when the word went out that Charlie Dresen had passed away.

No, the pilot didn't relate the report to the full load of passengers, all of whom had boarded the flight in Detroit and had read in their morning Free Press that Dresen was gravely ill.

But we hardly had entered the terminal when Frank Blauschild of the New York Knicks, with head hanging, relayed the message.

Frankie had covered Dresen and the Brooklyn Dodgers in the ol' days when the Dodgers operated Flatbush and there was a Mirror newspaper for New Yorkers to read.

Dresen and Cracker gone.

The mission of both in their stays on earth was pretty much the same . . . to bring joy.

In different ways, of course.

Cracker loved everybody but newspaper boys and milkmen. She was a small little thing, but you never had to worry about the kids . . . as long as Cracker was around.

We wish we could have known Charlie Dresen better. The fact is our acquaintance with him was slight.

Charlie spent his last days around the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, where the Pistons have their headquarters. We'd bump into each other frequently.

He always had a smile and nodded "hello."

One never would have suspected that Dresen was a sick man the way we looked out of the Pistons' office and saw Charlie strolling along Michigan Ave. (Continued on Page 3B)

Livonia 9 Winner in 51 Hours!

Imagine a baseball game requiring 51 hours before a decision was reached!

That's what happened to Livonia and Redford Township last week in the Greater Livonia-Dearborn Class A playoffs.

Livonia and Redford were bracketed as first round opponents in a game which began on Wednesday.

They were still playing the same game Friday evening.

This is what transpired: Rain forced a suspension of play in the third inning Wednesday. Under league rules all games must be played to finish.

They tried again Thursday. No soap. More rain.

Came Friday, it was finally possible to resume—and complete—the action.

Livonia went on to win, 6-0, with Pete Hembrough picking up the victory on a seven-inning.

The winners went ahead in the first inning Wednesday with three quick runs. Paul Portney and Jim Rose walked. Singles by Jerry Allen, Leonard Pittaway and Bill Coleman followed, each producing a run.

In the second inning a walk to Jim Tremeur, a single by Portney and a double by Rose added another run.

The final two Livonia runs came in the seventh inning played on Friday. Rose singled. After Ernie Bourassa was hit by a pitch, Pittaway and Coleman followed with singles against loser Arnold Helwig.

Redford was beaten on Sunday by Adray, 4-1, and thus was eliminated from further competition.

The losers were held to only four hits—two by Rick Harlow and one each by Jack Loeffler and Dave Woloch.

The only Redford run came without the benefit of a hit in the second inning. Loeffler was walked and after reaching third on a sacrifice and stolen base, he was squeezed home by Glen Knock.

Lightning's Destruction Sets Record

Lightning had its most destructive year of all times in 1965, as major bolts hit 12,900 American houses, causing damages totaling $51,000,000. This includes major losses only—not the countless, unreported "nuisance" strikes that cause minor damage.

The statistics, released by the Lightning Protection Institute, Chicago, reflected the growing number of unprotected new homes exposed to nature's electrical punch.

According to the Institute, they also are a result of greater vulnerability to damage by lightning, brought by such features as antennas, more metallic plumbing paths, and larger floor slabs.

Of the houses hit, 11,750 were damaged, with the average dollar loss about $2,900. Lightning-caused fires destroyed 1,150 houses, with an average loss of $15,300.

Fewer than 600 of the lightning losses were identified as being farmhouses, indicating that by weight of numbers, city, suburban and countryside homeowners have inherited most of the lightning problem.

July and June, normally the worst lightning storm months, in that order, were in third and fourth places in numbers of homes struck.

August was 1965's most severe loss month with 3,480 major residential losses—over 100 a day. May had 2,700 strikes to homes, July had 2,650, and June about 1,900.

Computer Helps Soil Problems

"Improvement in soil testing laboratories has resulted in more efficient operation. The use of electronic computers is a good example. But recommendations are no better than the data on which they are based."

The above, taken from a technical publication gives you a quick idea of how complicated soil analysis has become. It takes a computer to figure out the variables. Not so long ago we used to think it was all pretty simple. You put a little soil in a test tube and poured in something out of bottles A and B.

It was all good fun but not much science. Further research has shown that to be meaningful, analysis must be much more detailed. And as far as the typical lawn was concerned it never did answer the question of adequate nutrition.

Since the typical lawn is undernourished most of the time, what it needs most and needs repeatedly, is a square meal of balanced, long lasting fertilizer.

A soil analysis under these circumstances is hardly worth while. Not, that is, unless you've got a computer handy to interpret the results.

50 Types of Concrete Blocks Livonian Uses Customer's Products in New Building

THIS SHOWS THE new office facility of Schoolcraft, Livonia, which was constructed from products of the firm's customers.

A new high in customer relations has been established with the completion of the Light Weight Aggregate Corporation's office facilities at 27611 Schoolcraft in Livonia.

Products of all the firm's customers were used in the construction of the office quarters which house the Beslite, Zell Products and Duo-Wire Divisions of Light Weight Aggregate.

"We were determined to use the products of all our customers in construction of our new building," said Mel Cruzen, executive vice president and general manager of the firm, whose divisions manufacture light weight aggregate, sound insulating floor fill and masonry wall reinforcement, "and, as a result, our offices include light weight concrete blocks from 50 different concrete block plants, as well as the products of another 20 different concrete suppliers."

At the direction of Cruzen, Samuel Redstone, A. I. A., of Louis G. Redstone Architects, Inc., specified common block and brick alone to be used as finished materials.

Cruzen said the use of special architectural shapes in constructing the building was avoided purposely to demonstrate that ordinary sizes and shapes of concrete block, all commonly available, are sufficient in themselves to create a pleasing, aesthetic effect.

The light weight concrete block employed in various sizes, patterns and textures on the exterior and interior alike provides a contemporary look that is at once complementary and decorative.

As a final touch, Cruzen said, even the shrubs in the patio area are set in a light weight aggregate mulch, which has been described by a leading horticulturist as an extremely effective mulch material.

Signs of Tomorrow

There'll Be More Color In Metropolitan Cities

At last, a little color seems headed for America's cities.

With any luck, the dull, drab urban blah will begin to disappear in a tide of red, green, orange, blue and gold as city dwellers start realizing everything doesn't have to look gray.

Chicago has a new Civic Center and it is dark brown, but things could be worse. It could be concrete color, which most of the buildings are around here.

You'd think there was a law against color, the way most buildings avoid it. And that includes the new glass buildings, too. Glass isn't exactly colorful.

The people in these glass buildings could, of course, break the color barrier by brightening the acres of glass with draperies in shades other than buff, eggshell or oyster. But maybe nobody ever told them.

Builders of downtown office buildings may be catching up with factories. Those once-grim structures have been showing up lately in rainbow robes. Manufacturers heard that an attractive place to work is considered a fringe benefit. And colors don't cost much more than noncolors.

Even the roads seem to be headed for color splashing. The Cook County Highway Department is test painting some concrete retaining walls.

Dr. Peter Oppewall of Grand Rapids, a member of the State Board of Education, is an English professor at Calvin College.

along Chicago expressways. The department feels a coat of paint beautifies the concrete as well as slows the aging process. Women have known this for years.

Some people can't wait for the city to get colorful. Michael Sorkin, 17, Alexandria, Va., a University of Chicago student, recently led fellow students in an artistic assault on a dull gray fence that surrounded a construction site.

The students turned the fence into a block-long abstract mural. University officials shooed away police.

The police thought the students were defacing the fence, which already had been defaced with the dumb gray paint the construction people ordered on it.

With any luck, the cities will get more sunny streets.

Teaching Foreign Languages Made Easy

More than 50 area educators will attend a five-day audio-visual language teaching workshop at the Mercy College of Detroit beginning Monday, Aug. 22, for instruction in the Saint-Cloud Method of teaching foreign languages.

The workshop is being held in cooperation with the Center for Curriculum Development of Philadelphia which is responsible for teacher-training in the Saint-Cloud Method in the U.S.

The objective of the audio-visual method is to instruct students to speak, read and write the foreign language with native-like fluency.

Educators will receive a basic introduction to the principles of the Saint-Cloud Method and its special teaching techniques. They will observe demonstration classes, plan lessons, practice-teach and participate as students, to gain first-hand knowledge and a better understanding of the new system.

Measuring For Carpets Made Easy

You don't have to understand the "new math" to plan a carpet purchase for your home.

To estimate the amount of carpet you need and its approximate cost, first measure the area to be carpeted.

Multiply length by width—in feet—then divide by nine to get square yards. The way most carpet is sold.

That figure, multiplied by price per square yard will give you an approximate cost.

For example, a room that measures 12x15 feet has 180 square feet—or 20 square yards.

If you choose carpeting that costs $10 per square yard, your carpet cost will be approximately $200.

Of course, your retailer will take accurate measurements and figure costs, including installation and padding, for the wall-to-wall carpeting.

He will also explain installation according to the available widths of the carpet.

Beware of Home After A Disaster

The home you have to evacuate in a natural disaster could be a home of hazards when you return.

It might even be a death-trap, warns Aetna Life in a 1966 hurricane season advisory. It noted that Hurricane Betsy alone forced 250,000 to flee their homes last year.

Toxic fumes, damaged electrical wiring, weakened floors, wildlife, and contaminated food and water are typical dangers your home may hold in the wake of a hurricane, flood, or tornado.

In your anxiety to "get home," you might be tempted to throw caution to the abating storm winds and rush inside. Don't!

A leading writer of homeowners' insurance, suggests these steps to a safer home:

Annual circulation of the State Library books has increased from 367,000 to 663,000 in the past five years.

coming if your home was hit by the disaster:

If your house has gas service, have the gas shut off before you enter.

Be prepared to be without electricity for awhile. If outside wires are down or damaged, be sure the power is off before entering the yard or house. The wires may be "live." Even if external wiring appears to be sound, turn the electricity off until an electrician can inspect the system.

Once inside, inspect for hazards, remembering that safety comes before convenience. Don't allow children in until you know it's safe.

High priority projects include:

Structural damage—Check for weakened floors, beams, and walls. Avoid area with serious damage and erect firm temporary supports where there is a possibility of collapse.

Wildlife—Search out storm-driven wildlife in your home—rats in closets, snakes in upholstered furniture.

Flood waters—Have residual flood water removed quickly. It is probably loaded with disease germs, so avoid contact. If you get wet with polluted water, change your clothing and wash yourself thoroughly.

Food—Throw out all food that is not in sealed cans or bottles.

Water supply—If in doubt about the purity of drinking water, boil it or, preferably, use disinfectant tablets until it can be tested. Check water pipes for leaks.

Roof—Cover damaged areas with waterproof material such as tent canvas or plastic. Seal by nailing boards over cover.

Windows—Cover broken windows, preferably with plywood, and clean up broken glass.

Furnishings—To help prevent mildew in rugs, upholstered furniture, mattresses, and clothing dry them quickly. Articles that become mildewed should be brushed—outside to avoid scattering mold spores in the house—then vacuumed.

Know the reputation of your repairman and avoid profiteers who try to take advantage of the emergency by overcharging and making inadequate repairs.

THIS AERIAL PHOTO OF Evans Products Company's plant in Plymouth, is tangible evidence of Evans' financial commitment in one of its more recent undertakings—the manufacture of rail freight cars. All of the buildings to the left of the water tower in the photo were completed since September 1964 when Evans first entered the railcar business. Many of the buildings, or additions to them, have been erected since July of last year. Total cost of the buildings plus equipment is estimated at $6,000,000.

Bonnie Britton to Join in Demery's Opening

When Demery's opens their third store, Monday, Aug. 22 at 12 Mile and Farmington Roads, the Junior Dress Department will be properly introduced to the public by Michigan's Junior Miss,

BONNIE BRITTON Farmington's Bonnie Britton. A 17-year-old, green-eyed blond, Bonnie's charming combination of talent, intelligence and poise won her the title of Farmington's Junior Miss last November.

The Michigan Junior Miss title became Bonnie's in January, taking her on to the exciting and rewarding experience of the national pageant held last March in Mobile, Ala.

Bonnie will be Demery's Hostess for the Junior Dress Department Monday, Aug. 22 through Saturday, Aug. 27, to acquaint all of Farmington's Junior Misses to the new spot to shop.

A 1966 graduate of North Farmington High School, Bonnie will enter the University of Michigan this fall. That she will major in the Dramatic Arts is no surprise having had several leading roles in high school productions.

Bonnie lives with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Britton, brother Jonathan, 16 and sister Sari, 10. Working and making public appearances has made a busy summer for Michigan's Junior Miss.

Why Do They Buy Homes?

Now it's motivation research for home buying. America's oldest industry is being X-rayed to determine why people really buy a new home.

Everything from the "nesting impulse" by women to the role of homes in status climbing is being reviewed.

But market research by Fuller, Smith & Ross, a Pittsburgh advertising agency, for the National Association of Home Builders, reveals that most home buyers have some pretty basic reasons for buying.

One surprise in this survey was that a very high percentage bought a spanking new house largely because low maintenance is the alibi it was clean and fresh with no upkeep required for years.

Women said it was wonderful to move into a house which wouldn't require a lot of cleaning, painting, taking hours away from the family's free time.

One of the industries benefiting from this growing demand by home buyers for minimum industry.

Last year the average new home used 282 pounds of aluminum compared to only 80 pounds in 1955.

Sales of aluminum siding for new construction have skyrocketed as builders, reacting to consumer demand, turn to a factory-painted product which should last 15 years or more under ordinary conditions before repainting is required.

Over 3,000,000 homes now have had aluminum siding installed.

Cornell Develops Soilless Plant Mix

No one would blame the home gardener if he or she became a little confused by the many formulas and recipes set forth as the key to the ideal potting and planting mix.

An extensive research program was undertaken at Cornell University four years ago to determine the optimum starting and growing medium, and the recently published results have been hailed and put to use by professional green growers.

An interesting feature is that the Cornell formula omits soil and in fact offers many advantages over soil. The Cornell mix is lightweight, sterile, easily watered and handled, has good physical characteristics, and most important, offers a controlled standard of quality.

For the small quantity most appropriate for the home gardener, Cornell Horticulturalists offer this one peck recipe:

- Vermiculite (Terra-Lite) 4 quarts
  - Shredded peat moss 4 quarts
  - 20 per cent super-phosphate (powdered) 1 teas.
  - Ground limestone (Dolomitic preferred) 1 tabls.
- Use one but not both: (33 per cent)

Its a Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wagner, 32911 Barton, Garden City, announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Michele on July 20. Mary Michele weighed in at a spanking eight pounds, 14 ounces. Waiting at home to greet his new sister was Vincent, age three and one-half years. Proud grandparents are: Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Targosz, Merriam Rd., Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wagner, Phelps, Ky.

Ultraviolet Light Harmful Although ultraviolet light is invisible to humans, it can be seen by the common honeybee, according to World Book Encyclopedia.

Fragrance is Deep Secret

A quick hop over the Mohave Desert brought them to Van Nuys, Calif., where three days were spent "doing" Los Angeles.

While there, the Hollywood Bowl, Knotts Berry Farm and, of course, Disneyland were on the top spots to be visited.

Next on the flight log was San Francisco Bay area, Donner Pass, and Yosemite National Park. Then came Crater Lake National Park, and Lake of the Woods. At Kingsley Field they saw the U.S.A.F. Thunderbirds perform.

Enroute to Great Falls, Montana, they saw a sight unique to those who fly. At one time plainly visible were the peaks of Mt. Rainer, Mt. St. Helens, and Mt. Adams in Washington; Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters in Oregon, and Mt. Shasta in northern California.

Prepare Wood Before Painting

Scrape away all flaky paint on window sills and sand the edges smooth before repainting.

If there is significant bare wood, flood this with a water repellent solution available from your local quality paint dealer.

Allow it to dry overnight and then prime the whole window sill.

To prolong paint life apply two topcoats over the primer.

Ask 10 Firemen

 consideration" at the present time.
 Burr underlined the hazards he felt existed with the department at its present strength. In his statement to the board he wrote:
 "The current concept of one man responding with an apparatus to a fire, hoping that a volunteer will show up eventually, has inherent in it the element of chance, uncertainty and risk.
 "It would be idle to pretend that the undermanned condition of this department can be solved by the calculated disregard of these important factors.
 "... The present growth of the Township, and the anticipated growth, heightens the fire frequency as well as the fire risk for the people and industry of the Township.
 "This consequently creates what is known in the trade as FPG (Fire Prevention Gap).
 "To rephrase this — we are negligent in our responsibility for this protection in that we are providing only a very minimum standard of fire protection."
 Two men responding to a call, Burr noted, could put fire fighting equipment into operation more quickly — gaining minutes that might save a life in some cases.
 Present staffing, Burr pointed out, leaves no one to man the second station in the township, located near Lake Pointe Subdivision, when a man is on vacation or sick and another is taking his regular day off.
 A man must be called in on his day off in such situations, Burr noted.
 "A situation such as this," he said, "does not engender harmony to say the least. On the contrary it is depriving the men of their rightful time off given to them by State law."
 The director said he felt Trustees had a "moral obligation" to provide adequate fire protection for township residents and businesses.
 "I feel also that we must pursue the course of expansion to a better rating by the National Board of Fire Underwriters," Burr said, "so that we can in due time lower our insurance rates.

 "I want at this time to proclaim my steadfast concern for the safety of the people and property of the Township. I do not feel that the tragedy of fire or loss of life should be accepted as one of those usual or inevitable happenings, something that can not be lessened or avoided and must be endured."
 In his statement on the requested pension plan, Burr said:
 "Successful fire departments are built on the individual performance as a team, happy men, satisfied men, men who are mentally free from the annoying distractions of doubt and uncertainty, and get the job done.
 "... A man with a good pension is more mentally free to do a better job, because he knows his family will be protected and cared for if anything should happen to him."
 Commenting on the lack of hydrants in some areas, Burr pointed out that the lack of water availability can seriously hamper a fire fighting effort.
 When hydrants are located a long distance from the scene, he explained, water must be relayed through two or more pumpers — a time-consuming and costly operation.
 Burr pointed to three critical areas in the Township:
 (1) Old Northville Road between the C&O Railroad and Five Mile Road.
 (2) Haggerty from Schoolcraft south to Plymouth and east to the intersection of Haggerty and Plymouth.
 (3) N. Territorial Rd. west to Dunn Court.
 In the Northville Rd. area, Burr pointed out, there are some small industrial plants, and on Haggerty and Plymouth is the giant Burroughs Corp. plant.
 The south and west side of Burroughs, according to Burr, has no fire protection water at all.
 The Specialty Feed Mill at the intersection of Haggerty and the C&O railroad is 1,600 feet from the closest hydrant.
 Burr also recommended the installation in hazardous areas of two outlet hydrants instead of single outlet. He urged installation of water mains of ample size in areas of hazardous occupancy for more adequate fire protection.
 Trustees received all three of Burr's reports for study and consideration.
 Burr came to the Township early this year to fill the newly created position of Director of Public Service. He is a veteran of 35 years experience in fire fighting.

PHS Grid Coach Hands Out Gear to 75 Candidates

With the initial football practice scheduled for Monday, Aug. 29, vacationing Plymouth High Football Coach John McFall already has plans completed, uniforms issued and will even hold a pre-practice session with his assistant coaches on the eve of the workout.
 McFall arranged all of that prior to taking off Sunday for two weeks vacation, after handling the swimming recreation program at the senior high during the summer. He plans on being back in town on Sunday, Aug. 28 for a meeting with the coaches and then will start cracking the whip Monday.
 "We have only one way to go," quipped McFall, as he started the task of issuing uniforms to more than 75 hopefuls a week ago. "We didn't win a game last fall but I'll guarantee that things will be different this time."
 McFall doesn't have a team captain as yet. He plans on having the varsity squad make that selection from among the 16 returning lettermen a week in advance of the season opener in late September.
 The lettermen are: ends Jeff Adams, John Bida,

John Davis; guards John Egan and Neal Rick; tackles Jim Elias, Tom Mathews and Craig Stadtmiller; centers John McGraw and Sam Callam; and backs Rick Dyer, Tom Elias, Ron Lowe, Dick Micol, Dave Prochazka and Steve Hulce.
 McFall issued a letter of instructions for the candidates, urging them to start a conditioning program immediately if they haven't been on one all summer. He urged footballers to run a mile daily, 25 pushups, 30 situps, spend a minute daily in bridging, take 20 20-yard wind sprints and mainly to get in top shape for the season.
 Then he handed each candidate a list of qualities which the coaching staff considers essential for an athlete to be outstanding and a credit to his school, his community and his parents.
 These qualities are as follows:
 Aggressiveness — the most important single quality for a football player. Success of any team is determined by the fight and spirit that the players put into the game. We want men who can do more than take it. We want men who can give it.
 Enthusiasm — with this quality you will have no problem playing football at Plymouth. It is that something that makes one do his level best and encourage others to give their best in order to produce team spirit, and the will to win.
 Determination — be determined to achieve your goal of making the 1966 football team. Take pride in a serious determination to be a football player — a great one. You will only achieve that which you have a desire to do.
 Confidence — every great athlete and every great team has this quality. It is not the same thing as well-headedness. It is a feeling that you are superior to your opponent in every way, and through good hard work you will win. Always respect your opponent, but never fear him.
 Reliability — this is your greatest single quality. It is something all men should develop. If you do a complete and thorough job in everything asked of you, you will acquire a habit that will make other people respect you.
 Cooperation — you will be expected to cooperate for the good of the team. It means that each player is willing to do the task assigned and do that job to the best of his ability. We are going to have a team working together when the Northville game rolls around.
 Obedience — a winning team must have this quality. Some players resent criticism because they fail to understand the reason for it. If you are criticized it is because you are a member of the team, and there is some fundamental technique which we believe you are not doing to the best of your ability. If your coaches were not interested in you as a team member as well as a person you would probably not hear a word of criticism. This means everyone must be obedient to the orders and instructions given out.

Parking Authority

 to meet with the committee and any others interested to delve into the recommendations before making a final decision.
 The recommendations continue:
 That the Parking Authority establish a business licensing procedure that would provide for assessing a parking fee for all existing businesses in the C.B.D., and that before an occupancy permit is granted, provide that the owner must declare the number of employees to be hired. He, then, would pay a fee per employee, depending on the type of business.
 For example, a person having no parking would pay $2 per employee per month. The licensee furnishing adequate customer parking would pay $1.50 per employee per month. The licensee furnishing both employee and customer parking would pay $1 per employee per month.
 The best available estimates of the number of employees in the C.B.D. is 1,000. It is therefore conceivable that an income of $1,000 a month could be realized for the parking fund for future and further development. It is the opinion of the Parking Committee that parking in other areas of the city should also be considered and could easily be included in an overall plan.
 That the Parking Authority should establish a priority list for future parking lot improvements, as follows:
 a. South of Ann Arbor Trail between Forest and Deer Streets.

Nix Appointments

 vin Troyer to the planning commission.
 "He's out of order to make such a motion," Garber interjected. Garber pointed out that it was the supervisor's prerogative, and his alone, to make appointments.
 Mrs. Holmes moved that the matter be tabled for another month, pending further recommendations from McEwen.
 Her motion won unanimous approval, meaning that the planning commission, faced with a huge workload as development continues to skyrocket in the Township, will be forced to operate two men short for at least another month.
 In other action the board of trustees:
 (1) Denied a request for reconsideration of a petition to rezone property, owned by Frank and Julia Mangogna at 47660 Ann Arbor Road to C-2 or issuance of a non-conforming building permit.
 (2) Tabled action on a letter from Deloy Kelly, 41218 Russet Lane requesting action by Lake Pointe Subdivision developer Fred Greenspan or the Township to repair a hole on Township property.
 (3) Approved a planning commission recommendation for rezoning property behind Postiff Drive, across from the Township Hall from R-1, one family residential, to M-1, light manufacturing.
 (4) Provided authorization for a contract signing with Ford Motor Co. on a matter pertaining to the new plant site on Sheldon Rd.
 (5) Tabled action on approval of the building code and Township Attorney Ralph Cole's recommendation on adoption of a fire prevention code.
 (6) Tabled the appointment of a member to the Area Planning Commission.

 Wear your diamonds
 It would seem a shame to deny yourself the pleasure of wearing your diamonds (or other jewels).
 Yet you have no idea how many people lay their gems aside in a bank vault or their own personal jewel box thinking that to wear them would subject them to undue risk.
 Risk is always present to some degree in everything we say or do, but the reason for having jewels is to bring pleasure to the wearer, or — to symbolize some of the finest of human feelings, Love, Devotion, Recognition.
 We would hate to think of a world devoid of such fine symbols. Bare of the beauty and pleasure jewels bring to each wearer.
 Wear your jewels with pride and, in doubt about their ability to stand the wear and tear of usage, see your jeweler. He is knowledgeable, about jewels.

Queen of Hearts Advises Moms to Bake Cookies When Heat's Off

By FAITH GILLESPIE
"Happy the children. Wherever they are. Who live in a house with a full cookie jar." That is the tender sentiment expressed on the cookie jar. It is undoubtedly a part of the philosophy of many mothers, and all children agree wholeheartedly. But there stands that cookie jar, empty as a broken promise. The last thing any of us wants is unhappy children, goodness knows, but when the weather is cooking, who bakes? You can slide by in a short hot spell by filling the jar with supermarket cookies, but when the heat wears on, the enthusiasm wears off. The family begins to suffer from a nostalgia bordering upon dissatisfaction, as the memory of the aroma and taste of fresh-baked cookies lingers in everyone's little consciousness.

Well, now the heat is off. Don't waste a minute of this blessed cool weather, because no one knows how long it will last, least of all the weatherman.

These cookie recipes are in the "best ever" category, begged from cooks at the time of tasting, and added to the treasury of the family's cookie file. Pick a couple, and fill the gaping cookie jar again.

VELMA'S MINT SURPRISES: Sift together three cups sifting flour, one teaspoon baking soda, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. In another bowl, cream one cup shortening (Velma uses Crisco) with one cup granulated sugar and 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar.

Blend into the creamed mixture two unbeaten eggs, two tablespoons water, one teaspoon vanilla. Stir in dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Cover and refrigerate for two hours.

Heat oven to 375 degrees, and open a package of Rockwood chocolate mint wafers. Enclose one mint wafer in each tablespoon of chilled dough. Place on greased cookie sheet about two inches apart. Top with pecan or walnut halves. Bake at 375 for 10 to 12 minutes.

Velma says, "For years I used this recipe and then one day, when in a hurry, I sliced a Pillsbury Butter-scotch Nut slice 'n' bake cookie roll, put a mint wafer between the slices, and topped with a pecan. It turned out very well, so I continue to use the short-cut method."

Bar cookies are a boon to busy mothers, because the individual cookies need not be formed before baking. This goodie turned up on a tray at a recent wedding reception and was so delicious that I hunted up the baker and she sent me the recipe.

FRANCES REDMOND'S APRICOT SQUARES: Mix thoroughly 1/2 cup soft butter, 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, two egg yolks, and one cup flour. Press flat onto the bottom of an 8" x 8" pyrex baking dish. Bake at 325 degrees about 15 minutes, till barely golden. Remove from oven and immediately spread over it 1/2 cup apricot preserves. Over that, spread 1/2 cup pineapple preserves.

Beat two egg whites till foamy; add 1/2 cup sugar and beat till glossy. Fold in 1/2 cup very fine coconut, one teaspoon vanilla, and one tablespoon melted butter. Spread this over the pineapple layer. Return to oven and bake for 20 to 25 minutes, till the meringue is golden. Cut into squares.

The next recipe is our family favorite. We eat it for breakfast, because it has all the right breakfast ingredients.

OATMEAL CRUNCHIES: Sift together into mixing bowl two cups sifted flour, two cups sugar, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon nutmeg, and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Add and mix thoroughly one cup soft shortening, two unbeaten eggs, three tablespoons undiluted frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed. Beat till the dough is smooth; it will be thick. Blend in 3/4 cups uncooked rolled oats.

Measure level tablespoonfuls onto an ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes on baking sheet before removing them to cooling rack.

Those ought to get you started. Drop what you're doing and get going before the weather man turns on his universal furnace again. What can be more important than a full cookie jar?

Water Economy
In cases where hot water supply is limited, it is better to use a cold water rinse for laundry and save the hot water for later wash loads. Some washers offer the option of automatic cold water rinses to help you economize. Compare and consider the hot water usage as well as the total water before making a decision on which washer to buy.

Parkway Junior Players Have Successful Meeting

The Tuesday morning rain, Aug. 9, caused a last minute change of meeting site for the Parkway Junior Players. The Edward Hines Parkway meeting was moved to the home of the producer-director, Mrs. R. (Peg) Knowles at 32856 Merritt, Westland.

In spite of the confusion, the Players' first meeting had a good turnout. At this meeting the membership had representatives from the communities of Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Livonia, Wayne and Redford Township.

J. Rusis, president, 31930 Mackenzie, Westland, in his welcoming statement predicted that the membership would soon reach the 100 mark. He also said that fun was an ingredient of a drama group.

Mrs. Knowles added the thought that the more they learn and participate in the drama group, the more they will enjoy the shows they now see and appreciate the life they see around themselves.

Mrs. T. (Pat) Adama, treasurer of 14421 Eckles, Plymouth, was on hand to help this organizational and introductory meeting. Mrs. P. Yuhas of 8649 Alper, Westland, provided refreshments for the members.

Vacationing was Executive Secretary Mrs. H. (Bernice) Keller of Westland and business manager Mrs. R. (Mary) McHugh of Belleville. Other adults in attendance were Mrs. Bidwell, Livonia, and Mrs. Riopelle, Westland. For further information, call J. Rusis, GA 2-9365, or Mrs. Knowles, 421-4808.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING CURTAIN

August with its parched winds and final sizzling summer days suddenly is here. Summer stock theaters strive mightily to convince folks to stay off the beaches and patronize the air-cooled interiors of their theaters.

If Northland Playhouse continues to have shows similar to "The Zulu and the Zayda" and "Catch Me If You Can," those crowds will be returning to Detroit's number one summer playhouse.

Menasha Skulnik as the Zayda (grandfather) in "Zulu and the Zayda" gives another of his perfect performances. One of his opening speeches is "I like soup." Only Menasha could bring a storm of laughter out of such a mundane line.

Menasha skips across the stage with his weird bird-like hop and the audience roars. What is the answer to his strange powers? Technique. Like so many of the old-timers they have developed various comic techniques over the years. These time-tested techniques work wonders when properly applied and with perceptive timing.

Zero Mostel is another of the great stage personalities that is a master of technique. Method actors may have their day occasionally, but for comedy you must know your "technique."

The entire touring company imported from New York for "Catch Me If You Can" at Northland had loads of this important quality. Audiences enjoyed trying to solve the puzzling elements of this delightful mystery-comedy.

Another sell-out week is anticipated at Northland when Louis Nye arrives this week with "Charley's Aunt." Mr. Nye has been convulsing audiences nightly with his comic antics as he plays the nation's leading summer theaters. Old Wally advises you'd better get your tickets now for this hilarious visit to the funniest of the classic comedies.

Shouts of "bravo," two standing ovations, endless curtain calls to applause that never seemed to end still tingle the tender teenager ears of the Livonia Summer Theater Workshop members. Their superb version of "South Pacific" has been tucked away for posterity; the six-performance run is now history.

The glorious memories will live on until next summer when once again the talented Livonia youth will present one of your favorite musical comedies. Incidentally, if KATHLEEN KUBIT, 16, of 29950 Highmeadow, Farmington, appeared in the leading role of a famous actress in the Cranbrook Drama Department's production of the musical "Stardust." The satire on the Stanislavsky method of acting, was directed by Joseph Coffman of Farmington. Others from Farmington who have appeared in Cranbrook productions are Harold Green and Betsy Selesinger.

There is no admission charge for the concerts which will be presented through Sunday, Sept. 4.

TOM BARON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Baron, 9978 Riverdale, Redford Township, appeared in the recent production of "Oliver" at the Northland Playhouse. Cast as one of the workhouse boys, Tom will be a junior at Benedictine High School in the fall. He is also a caddy at the Western Golf and Country Club.

Some of the changes which we predicted several weeks ago here have begun to take place at CKLW. Don Zee has replaced Duke Windsor on the all-night show there.

Bud Davies is also slated for an exit from CK Country, at least as far as AM radio is concerned. Davies will be concentrating on their FM operation as he moves into a newly-created position there.

Chuck Berry, one of the pioneers of the early years of rock is in this week at the Gay Haven. Would you believe that he was once a disc jockey?

Much by now has been said and written about the controversy caused by some out-of-context quotes by John Lennon of the Beatles.

For newspapers to have jumped with front-page coverage of the Beale ban from that righteous center of all goodness—Birmingham, Alabama, is ridiculous.

For other radio stations around the country to have followed by grabbing at the attention angles with similar self-imposed "bans" on Beale records because of the alleged statement that the "Beatles were now more popular than Christ," was inexcusable.

the entire incident for the meaningless dribble that it was. Only the hick-towners, hoping for any publicity, regardless of cause, jumped onto the bandwagon.

Detroit's Marvin Gaye is drawing raves for his show which opened last week at the Copa in New York.

Golden World Records, based out of this area and known across the country, is reported to be in negotiation for possible sale to Berry

Gordy Jr.'s Motown Corporation. If the deal goes through, it will leave Motown far and away the top independent recording corporation in the country.

Unless some new ideas and approaches start coming out of the studios, the decline in acceptance that is already beginning to show itself may take hold fully and the famous "Detroit Sound" may become one of silence.

Kathy Can Cook And Play Golf

KATHY THOMAS
A young lady who is fast becoming one of Farmington's famous is 17-year-old Kathy Thomas. She resides with her guardians, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ziegel, her grandparents, on Wicklow Road. Claims she is more an athletic type than a homebody, but it would take some "proof of the pudding" since she won the "Betty Crocker Home-maker Award of the Year" at North Farmington High School in her senior year of '66.

About two years ago, she felt forced to learn golf, since the family all golf and had done so for a long time. Members of the Lakeland Country Club in Brighton proved to be a perfect opportunity for Kathy to get a try—and she loved it.

Lessons were scheduled for her with Tom Kinsley, the golf pro, and he encouraged Kathy to continue. Kathy did continue and entered the Junior District Golf Association of Michigan's Tournament where two hundred (mostly boys) participated.

Having a 20-or-better handicap, Kathy was invited and did join the Association so she could be in the championship playoffs, and came home with the championship for the girls tournament. The perpetual trophy she acquired has her inscription added and will be exhibited at the Lakeland Country Club for one year.

Among her other accomplishments are five trophies and several ribbons for swimming at the Green Ridge Country Club in Grand Rapids and a trophy and ribbons for riding (jumping and equitation or hunters seat style) at the Kentree Stables Horse Shows.

She still makes sure there is time for dating and will be heading for Michigan State in September where she is majoring in Physical Education.

Time Near for Hubby Calling

Hen—rescccccccccc!!!!!!
The call will bring in friend husband (provided his name is Henry).

Hog calling and husband calling are two of the most popular of the contests staged at the Michigan State Fair each year.

The calls will ring out loud and clear at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2, in the Old Timers' Grove at the Fair. Prizes are the same in each: $10 for first, $7.50 for second, $5 for third. Does that place friend husband in the same class as the hogs?

Robert McLachlan, director of agricultural exhibits specifies these conditions for husband calling: "Any member of the gentler sex between the ages of 18 and 80 is eligible, providing she ever expects to have, now has, or did have a husband. No entry fee is required. File notice of your intention to compete with entry clerk before the contest takes place."

Judges will follow the same rules, picking the winner on this basis:

- Volume and carrying capacity, 30 percent;
- appeal 20 percent;
- assurance 20 percent;
- originality 20 percent;
- clearness and musical ability 10 percent.

The Fair opens Friday, Aug. 26 and runs through Monday, Sept. 5 (Labor Day).

Reckless Driver Pays $150 Fine

Dale A. Kapin, 24, of 15952 Lola Drive, Redford Township, paid a fine of $150 last week in Livonia for reckless driving. Originally charged with drunk driving, he pleaded guilty to the lesser charge when he appeared before Municipal Judge James McCann. He also lost his right to drive for 30 days.

Takes Vows at Calvary Baptist Church

Calvary Baptist Church in Plymouth was the scene of the wedding of Lana Theota Williamson to Albert Henry Baylis II. Rev. Patrick J. Clifford officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williamson, 15075 Finch Drive, Plymouth. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Baylis, 7760 Crane Rd., Ypsilanti.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was of "candlelight" satin with Venice lace at the waistline and sleeves, and a bateau neckline with a detachable cathedral train edged in Venice lace. A crown of Venice lace held her elbow length silk illusion veil. Her bouquet was white roses, ivy, and a white orchid.

Lucy Barnes, maid of honor, wore a floor length blue rayon linen dress with a fitted bodice and scoop neckline. There were blue velvet streamers at the waistline. Her headpiece was a cabbage rose. She carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Mrs. Gerald Pounds, Mrs. Wayne Gossman, and Patricia Baylis were bridesmaids. They were attired similarly to the maid of honor.

Leanne Baylis and Carol Farmer were junior bridesmaids. They wore dresses similar to the other attendants, but with empire waistlines.

Charles Baylis was best man. John Kauffield, Melvin Hall, and Bill Alder, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk suit with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a pink silk suit with white accessories. Both wore

A reception was held at the church after the wedding. Over 300 guests attended. Some came from Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Canada.

The bride wore a blue linen dress with white accessories. She has a B.A. from Michigan State University and a M.A. from Eastern. The bridegroom was graduated from Moody Bible Institute, and has a B.A. from Eastern. He is now attending Dallas Theological Seminary.

Following a wedding trip to Northern Michigan, the couple will make their home in Irving, Texas.

Cleaning Up Is a Breeze

Cleaning up after a backyard barbecue becomes a breeze if you use a streamlined system to soak and move the dirty dishes indoors. Just team a lightweight plastic baby bathtub or large basin with a child's wagon. Before the meal, fill the tub with hot soap or detergent suds and place it—along with a rubbish can—near the outdoor dining table. Afterward helpful guests can scrape their dishes into the can and slip them into the suds. This suds-soaking prevents food particles from "cementing" themselves onto the dishes until you can pull the heavy tub into the kitchen. Then wash the dishes by hand or machine.

Plymouthites Take Course In Wildlife

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Edgar, 12350 Ridge Road, Plymouth, recently completed a two-week course of natural history at the Audubon Camp of Maine, located at the Todd Wildlife Sanctuary, a forested island in Muscongus Bay, Maine. They were two of 54 special students enrolled during the past two weeks and one of more than 600 teachers and adult conservation leaders who are taking the famous Audubon nature courses at four such institutions this summer. The other adult training camps conducted by the National Audubon Society, all staffed by outstanding naturalist-instructors, are at Greenwich, Connecticut; Sarona, Wisconsin, and Dubois, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar took courses in bird study, marine life, and nature activities, the latter consisting of training in techniques of teaching natural science and conservation. The Michigan State Library was an independent agency from 1828 until 1965 when it became a division of the Michigan Department of Education.

Most Modern of Beauty Salons at Demery's in Farmington

Beauty has emerged as an all-important element of today's "total look" concept of fashion.

Aware of this fact, Demery's new store in Farmington has created a most complete and handsomely appointed Beauty Salon to deliver its fashionable beauty message.

What's new in coiffures, make-up and wigging will be told in a charming, refreshing atmosphere. Setting the mood for the entire salon is the reception area.

A "drawing room" arrangement is created here by imaginative use of contemporary colors in fabrics, floors and wall coverings, making an interesting background for tasteful furnishings and appointment.

Carried through in the main-salon, where talented stylists get down to the basic business of beauty, the basic color scheme enhances an air of charming informality. Individual nooks are set aside for each facet of beauty-making, utilizing the most attractive and functional of latest salon accoutrements. Included are special styling areas where all the scissors-wielding and roller-plotting takes place.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE? Inside the new Beauty Salon at Demery's-Farmington, beauty-makers will soon be hard at work clipping, styling, coloring and be-wigging the prettiest heads in town. They forecast short and curvey as "the look to have." A sampling of current curvey croppings are shown here.

A hair coloring studio has specially engineered "daylight lighting" so hair and complexions can be viewed in their own true tonalities. There is a permanent wave corner, specializing in all of the newest "custom formula" perms.

Wigging, enjoys a home of its own. Cashed in its own private corner of the Beauty Salon is a Wig Boutique where patrons may choose from a vast store of the newest designs. Everything from fine, imported natural hair full wigs and every conceivable shape and size of hair-piece, even to single add-on curls.

Visit this salon during "Get Acquainted Days," Thursday, Aug. 18 through Saturday, Aug. 20. Demery's Farmington store, Farmington Road at 12 Mile, celebrates its official Grand Opening Monday, Aug. 22.

The Beauty Salon will be open during Demery store hours, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday, Thursday, Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday. Call 476-8900 for appointments.

Let's Talk Fashion

with June Simpson

It's a mad, mad, mad world of fashion! Now, if ever, come perfect and less-than-perfect fashion offerings from every corner of the globe. And, every corner of America is the final seat of judgment as to what will—and will not—receive the nod of popularity.

You can see the reserve side of the fashion coin in every collection, as the world's most gifted designers strive to present the dashing and the different.

From Britain comes the military influence, with big bold buttons and disciplined fabrics giving fashion an organization that's as practiced as the changing of the guard.

Fashions from Israel show a new kind of inspiration, combining the elegance and mystery of an ancient world with a dynamic handling of fabric and color that shows freshness and youth. The rich handsome look of hand woven fabrics and bold designs are definitely giving the tiny nation a place in the fashion sun.

From the Black Forest come fashion ideas as exhilarating as the sound of the hunter's horn. Pert hats with practically no brim at all, and set at a jaunty angle, show the influence of the traditional dress of the area. Short suit jackets, short skirts, knee length knit hose and buckled shoes whisk you off to another century, another world.

The latest fashion "word" is a delightfully feminine and contradictory story—maybe that's why fashion fascinates us so. Skirts are short-except of course for the Paris "greatcoat" look, and that drops way "way down" to mid-calf. A little too avant, they say, for general popularity in the United States, but could be the long shadow of the coming events?

One might suspect that most Paris designers are dedicated viewers of "Lost in Space." That some of the new fashions are out of this world one takes in stride. It's the tip-toe look of silver plate that quite takes one's breath away. The "wet" silvery look of rain fashions for the out-of-doors, share-the-fashion spotlight with the silver look of lame for night-time glamour.

One daring Paris fashion—fingers tipped in sterling as silver as your grandmother's teaspoons! And, from fingertips to footnotes the silver fashion goes. Little pumps with tiny silver heels, shoes done in gold or silver lame, ankle-high boots of silver bring a silver standard to the new fashion look.

Our narrowing world has brought many changes, and the impact upon our everyday life increases each year. Perhaps one of the changes we find rich with promise is the free-flowing exchange of cultural gifts and ideas—not least among them—milady's fashions.

Scissors Cut Bacon

A tip from Ellen Edwards, home economist, on cooking bacon: An easy way to prepare bacon bits is to remove a section of slices from the package and cut with shears into 1" lengths. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally with a slotted spoon as pieces cook.

In a large skillet, a whole pound of bacon can be prepared at once. Crumble lightly before using.

Hawaiian Touch Makes Party Standout

There are many clever themes and decors for parties, and recently Stephen, son of the William Cloggs of Kendallwood Subdivision, Farmington, came up with an ingenious idea.

At the time of graduation from North Farmington High School, there were many graduation parties so he decided to wait awhile.

Several weeks ago he planned to have a "going away to college party." The luau theme was developed after deciding on the menu. Invitations were sent to his friends and several teachers and counselors from North Farmington High School. Everyone was asked to dress in costume for the occasion.

So well did the weather, guests, and hosts conspire for the party that the arriving visitor might well think he had stumbled onto a native beach. Candle and beach lights were the only ones on the grassy slopes. A barbecue pit had been especially dug. A fresh ham, chicken, and corn on the cob, turned slowly on the coals.

MRS. CLOGG is one of those hostesses, whose guests upon receiving an invitation to her home, decide to fast during the day so they can do justice to her menu.

The tables were laden with foods as pretty to look at as they were good to eat. Fresh pineapples and watermelons had been hollowed out and heaped with fruits. Salads of every description were arranged on leaves and in bowls. Fruit juice and punch were drunk from attractive containers.

You couldn't tell a teacher from a pupil in the sarong-clad, gardenia-laden group.

During the evening, all reminisced about the past year and discussed their futures in college.

Guests who plan on attending the University of Michigan were: Host Steve, Bonnie Britton and Eren Ozker.

Central Michigan University will claim Ricki Pender, associate hostess, Cheryl Frederick, Nancy Nauman, Sande Dunham, and Donna Pender.

Registering at the University of Miami in Ohio will be Bill Oldershaw, Rich Schultz and Mary Lynn Griswold.

Tim Lenta, Karen Schultz and Paul Acosth will attend Michigan State University.

Ginny Anglebrandt will attend Western Michigan University and Joanne Wiens Eastern Michigan University.

Thom Carley and Paula

Boys are off to Albion College and Gary Forte will head for Northern Michigan University.

Larry Pederson will be a sophomore at General Motors Institute, and Robin Hall a junior at Schoolcraft College.

All of the guests were graduated from North Farmington High School.

Teachers and counselors from N.F.H. were Mr. and Mrs. John Herrington, Mr. and Mrs. Warren McKenzie, assistant principal, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kinney and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steele. Others were: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pender, Chris Pender, Cindy Rose, Randy Harp and Denise Thaggait.

THIS APPARENTLY CAREFREE native in authentic dress even to the flowered circlet on the ankle is surprisingly enough not an islander but Norman Kinney, counselor at North Farmington High School.

Harper Is Tops as Mystery

Troy (as Robert Webber) portrays him in Harper is, as one character says, "a perfectly elegant man."
He is soft spoken, handsome, and perfectly mannered. He has however, one king sized flaw in his character; he is a sadistic fiend.
Sometimes the movies become too real for comfort. As for example, in Quo Vadis, where the lions kept coming, coming, coming. And in Psycho when the knife kept going in deeper.
In "Harper" when Robert Webber says to Julie Harris with an ingratiating smile, "I am a man who actually enjoys the suffering of others and this last little trick you will find unendurable," and then proceeds to cruelly torture her; her agonized screams make you writhe in your seat.

"Harper" is excellent movie fare. There is a bumper crop of top flight stars. And much of the suspense is due to the clash between Harper (Paul Newman) and Troy (Robert Webber).
Webber's Troy is reminiscent of the infamous Professor Moriarty who was the nemesis of Sherlock Holmes.
"Harper" is a terrific draw at the box-office because of its stars, suspense and sex appeal generated by Pamela Tiffin.
Webber is adamant in his no publicity edict. There are absolutely no facts available on his private life. He believes that the more the public knows about a star's personal life, the less believable his roles become. And Webber wants to be known to the public through his acting.

The Observer would say he had scored in this role. So believable is Webber as ring academy award winner, Troy, that we would predict that in the future, should he come toward someone with a smile, and strike a light, they will undoubtedly head for the nearest exit.
Webber's next picture will be "The Dirty Dozen" starring Lee Marvin. — Jerry Wendt

Plan Show to Aid Greek Theater

Mrs. Frances Rupe of Orchard Lake, lady impresario of leading Michigan antique shows, announced that she will present a large-scale show and sale in Birmingham beginning Aug. 22 as a benefit for the Ypsilanti Greek Theatre.
Mrs. Rupe, a member of the recently formed Birmingham-Detroit Committee for the Ypsilanti Greek Theatre, said she has completed contracts for the benefit with 45 major antique dealers in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Delaware, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky, and estimated that the value of the collectors' items to be exhibited will exceed $100,000.

The three-day show, to be called "Antiques Treasure Hunt in Birmingham," will be held on the entire first floor of the Briggs Building at the corner of Woodward and Maple in the heart of downtown Birmingham, in Stanger's showroom on Woodward in Birmingham, and at a third location to be announced.
Mrs. Rupe said the original intent was to use only the Briggs Building, "but it has become necessary to secure additional space because of unexpectedly high interest and response by leading dealers."
The "Antiques Treasure Hunt" will open with an invitational champagne preview from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Aug. 22 at all three locations. Guests of honor will be Dame Judith Anderson, star of the Ypsilanti Greek Theatre production of "The Oresteia," and Mrs. Mildred Lahr, wife of Bert Lahr, star of the Greek Theatre production of "The Birds."

The public will be admitted to the preview for $10 per person.
The "Antiques Treasure Hunt" show and sale will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Aug. 23, 24, and 25 at all three locations. Admission is $1.25 per person. All proceeds go to the Theatre.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES PHILLIP FERGUSON
Plymouth Couple Wed
In Martha Mary Chapel

Susan Ruth Hoeprich was wed to Charles Phillip Ferguson, July 23 at 8 p.m. in the Martha Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village, Dearborn. Rev. Orin Van Loon from the Berkeley Community Church performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Hoeprich, 1133 Sutherland, Plymouth; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Ferguson, 48100 Powell Rd., Plymouth.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The processional was Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" and the recessional was "Trumpeter's Tune" also by Purcell, both played by trumpeter David Wolter of Saline. The vocal solo was "The Lord's Prayer" sung by contralto Alice Stentz.

The bride's gown was floor length and of silk organza over taffeta accented with chantilly lace and seed pearls around the neckline and sleeves. Matching lace was sewn on the attached, chapel-length train. The headpiece of crystal and pearls outlined the lace holding her shoulder-length veil.

Christine Hoeprich (sister of the bride) was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length pink nylon sheer over taffeta. The empire line was accented by multicolor flower trim. The back of the dress was adorned by a floating panel secured with a bow. Christine carried a bouquet of white daisies and pink sweetheart roses.

Nancy Sue Cole, the bride's cousin from Silver Springs, Maryland, and Mary Ellen Ferguson, the groom's sister, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor's except in color. Nancy Sue's gown was yellow and Mary's was green. Their flowers were white daisies and yellow sweetheart roses.

Richard Alsbro was the best man. Tom Heath and Michael Hoeprich, the bride's brother were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a pink, floor-length gown of silk organza with an accordion-pleated skirt. The groom's mother wore a gown of green crepe with a beige lace bodice.

Over 125 guests attended the reception at the Clinton Inn near the chapel. Guests were from Tennessee, Ohio, Maryland, Massachusetts, and New York as well as from Michigan. Music for dancing during the reception was provided by Larry Livingston and his ensemble from Plymouth.

The bride wore a pink suit for her trip to Niagara Falls, Lake Champlain, the Green Mountains of Vermont, White Mountains of New Hampshire, and Boston.

Both of the newlyweds graduated from Plymouth High School. The groom is a graduate of Cleary College and is now affiliated with Sutherland-Robson Accounting firm in Wayne. The bride is a senior in the School of Education at the University of Michigan.

The newlyweds will make their home on the North Campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Kandy Ellen Schell and Frank Joseph Trace were united in marriage recently at a candlelight service at Grace Lutheran Church in Detroit, with Pastor Victor F. Halboth, Sr., officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle E. Schell, and the groom, son of Mrs. Hilda Trace, all of Detroit.

The altar was decorated with vases of white gladioli and palms. Lighted candelabra adorned the chancel steps. Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Evelyn Bruggman and soloist was Carl Stark, singing "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white nylon and alencon lace over taffeta. Pearls and sequins trimmed the scalloped neckline of the lace bodice, featuring elbow length sleeves.

The full skirt was fashioned of nylon with lace front panels and scalloped hemline. Her chapel-length train was attached with bows at the shoulder, and her bouffant, shoulder-length veil fell from a three-tiered crown of pearls and crystals.

She carried a basket of white and yellow roses.

Kathy Schell, sister of the bride was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Connie Schell, sister of the bride, Karen Munding, cousin of the bride and Kathy Trace, sister of the groom.

Renee LaFrance, cousin of the bride was flower girl. All of the bride's attendants wore floor-length gowns of mint-green taffeta and nylon, with matching bows for headpieces, and white gloves and shoes.

The maid of honor and flower girl carried baskets of yellow and white daisies, and the bridesmaids carried baskets of yellow daisies.

Attending the groom as best man was Martin Kohn, and his other attendants were Lyle E. Schell, Jr., brother of the bride, Marvin Smith and Ron Lambie. Ring bearer was Steven Radishaw.

Mrs. Schell wore a two-piece ensemble, the dress fashioned of green silk shantung and a nylon mattelasse coat, with pink accessories.

Mrs. Trace wore a pink silk sheath with white accessories and both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A reception for 250 guests was held at an I.O.O.F. Hall and the newlyweds left on a 10-day tour of northern Michigan.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Schell of Mylo, North Dakota, relatives of the bride; and Mrs. Julia Austervich and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Austervich of Boyertown, Pennsylvania, relatives of the groom.

  - 1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
  - 24 slices party rye bread
  - Cherry tomato slices
  - Pimento-stuffed green olive slices

Pick Jewelry for Flattery of Your Skin

With costume jewelry more colorful, larger and dramatic than ever before, make certain that the pieces you choose to wear complement your complexion, the shape of your face, and your costume, says beauty authority, Max Factor.

Follow a few basic tips and your jewelry will become twice as flattering. First, apply sheer foundation makeup that will give your skin a smooth, even tone against the dazzle and color of the jewels. Bring the color down over the jawline and throat. Choose a shade to match your skin, but on the creamy beige side when you wear gold jewelry, and on the rose-beige side when silver is worn. If you select the new dramatic and colorful contemporary-primitive jewelry, be sure the colors flatter your complexion and go with the costume you are wearing.

LIP HARMONY

Then, make this jewelry even more flattering by selecting a lipstick to harmonize with the most important shades. Pure white jewelry will flatter a clear skin and point up one that is less than perfect.

Black jewelry is difficult to wear, for it accents lines in the face and neck. Unless your figure is tall and willowy, wear modified versions of the large earring, bracelet and bead rage.

Dangling earrings are for you if your face is full or oval, but a round or chunky style, worn at the earlobe level, will widen a face that is long and prove to be more flattering.

Pamela Van Camp Is July Bride

Pamela Sue Van Camp became the bride of Dewey Ellison in a July 16 ceremony at the Salvation Army Church in Detroit. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Van Camp, 21436 Mayfield, Farmington. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellison, Ashville, N. C.

Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the church. Lieut. Gary Crowley performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a white brocade street length dress of an A-line design with a white hat with a small veil. She carried a Bible with a spray of white carnations.

Alberta Wilt, maid of honor wore an aqua dress, street length, with white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. Roger Mitchell was best man and Kennard Van Camp was an usher. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The mother of the bride wore a light green printed crepe dress with matching hat.

Following the ceremony, over 50 close friends and members of the family met in the church basement for a reception.

The bride wore a blue dress with white accessories for her going away outfit.

The newly married couple planned a wedding trip to North Carolina and the Smoky Mountains.

The bride was graduated from Farmington High School in 1962 and has been employed as a secretary in Farmington.

Plymouth Symphony League Plans Antique Mart

As Plymouth awaits its annual Fall Festival, the Plymouth Symphony League busily plans their fourth annual Antique Mart as part of the community event.

While the festival will occur September 8 through 11, the antique mart will begin at noon, Friday, September 10 and remain open through Sunday, September 12.

The mart, composed of 22 dealers from Plymouth and the surrounding areas, will be housed, as before, in the Grange Hall and Community Center Building — both on Union Street.

Each dealer will display many items, among them specialties such as jewelry, coins, glassware and furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hill of Manor Hill in Plymouth will be present. Their featured item will be a recently-purchased, three-foot, brass bird cage, dating from 1880.

It once housed a parrot in the home of former owner of the Detroit Baseball Co., Frank J. Navin.

Other specialties to be shown include Hill's Georgian silver, one pair each of Louis XV and Louis XVI country chairs brought from France, dolls and toys.

All proceeds from the antique show go to the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Nearly 150,000 Michigan high school students took driver education last year.

NEWLYWEDS MR. AND MRS. BILL SIGNORELLI, 15012 Robinwood, Plymouth, admire the ocean view from the terrace of the Nassau Beach Hotel. They honeymooned in the Bahama capital following their marriage July 30 in St. Theodore Church, Wayne. The bride is the former Linda Levandowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Levandowski, 9408 Newburgh, Livonia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Signorelli, 15012 Robinwood, Plymouth.

The Distaff Side...

By Jerry Wendt, Women's Editor

Those who think I tend to see the world through rose colored glasses will find this column a distinct change of pace. For I have one subject upon which my thoughts are not exactly flowery.

Journalism, or the fourth estate as it is called, is a time honored and highly regarded profession. Boswell, Samuel Pepys, Benjamin Franklin, Charles Dickens and more recently Hemingway, Sinclair Lewis and Louis Bromfield were all gentlemen of the press. Fannie Hurst and Margaret Mitchell were reporters.

Yet many times the press has to be lumped with a renegade group and suffer the discriminations caused by a few people who are not even worthy of the name.

The only similar profession I can compare it to is the theater. Often theatrical people are the worst offenders against the press. For example, many times a person is charged with a sordid offense, arrested by the police and will give his or her occupation on the police blotter as actor or actress, even though they may not have been active in the business for years.

Yet the stigma sticks and for that reason many fine members of the theater have to endure the general misconception of members of their craft.

Likewise newspaper people have to endure criticism caused by free-lancers or "penny-liners" or "flacks" as they are known in the trade. These are not "working members" of the press. They tend to write the most sensational material they can in hope of a sale.

Few reputable publications buy these, but the most lurid do and these are not governed by the same ethics of most papers and magazines.

That is not to discredit all pennyliners or free lancers. Many writers got their start in that fashion. I, myself, toiled in complete obscurity as a "flack" until the Observer decided to give me my "break."

ing of the impossibility of picture taking.

I believe that people who earn fortunes from the good will of the public should consent to interviews provided they are kept in good taste.

The best way to handle this, with benefit to everyone, is, in my humble opinion, at a bona fide press conference. The best place, of course, is to have this at the Press Club. It is certainly not necessary to "wine and dine the press" many of whom, due to occupational ailments, are on restricted diets anyway.

The Observer has attended many conferences from the Grand Hotel at Mackinac Island to a terminal at Metro Airport and we can think of no occasion, when properly handled, they did not prove a boon to all parties and a matter of good reading to the general public.

TYPICAL of the disappointed Beatles fans was Carole Kabrin who visited the Observer office with sketches of the Beatles which she had hoped would be presented at a press conference which was cancelled. Carole, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kabrin at 19541 Parker in Livonia will enter Stevenson High School this fall.

One of the best interviews we ever attended was one Carl Ferrezza, promotion director of Universal Pictures, arranged for Lana Turner. It was at a very early hour and the press was served coffee and rolls.

Then Lana came in for a chat.

Probably no star has ever suffered more from the hands of the press than she. Her private life has been exploited; she has been harassed and criticized. Yet underneath her exterior is the heart of a real trouper.

She didn't know what she would be subjected to by the press, yet she had risen at 5:30 a.m. to be ready. She came in with her head high and smiling.

Ferrezza remained in the background if it were necessary for him to be called on. It wasn't. In fact, everyone lingered, including Lana, enjoying the chat. No one embarrassed her by questions about her family.

She herself brought up the subject of her daughter in a perfectly natural way. We were talking about the new short skirt length. Lana is very tiny. "I don't have the right figure for them," she said, "but my daughter Cheryl, who is tall and slender looks perfectly elegant in them."

The point is that Lana didn't know what was in store for her but she could take the good with the bad, and regardless of anyone else's actions she was determined to do her part.

Another good press conference was that for Herman and the Hermits and the Animals recently in Metro Airport. This was strictly a case of obliging the public, since the articles would appear after their appearance.

Paul Cannon, of WKNR, "went bond for the press"—this means that he took the responsibility of all that went on. The press asked him the questions and he asked the group, then repeated the answers.

There were no "asides" and "off the records." Reporters and photographers were admitted separately.

Everyone behaved commendably and the public was given reading matter that was interesting and yet in good taste.

We don't believe reporters should EVER bring outsiders to press conferences. We don't think they should try to question celebrities alone. On the other hand, we think celebrities should realize the press is asking questions for an interview and not in the position of smitten fans. After all, it is a job.

We think the Beatles made a grave error in not having a bona fide press conference while here.

We always like to end an article with a good quote and we liked the one Frank Judge of TV Magazine made. "I think it's a mistake to go to the airport to meet the Beatles," he said, "John Lennon will probably walk on the water to get here."

CARL FERREZZA

The most recent example of this was the alleged misquoting of the Beatles by lifting "a line out of context." Because of this, all newspaper people were barred from interviews.

It all goes back to the theory of "noblesse oblige" or just what does a person who has been blessed by fame and fortune owe to the less fortunate who may be interested in him.

"Noblesse oblige" means that by the very fact that you have been blessed you are therefore under obligation to those less fortunate. People will always be interested (no matter how much they pretend to be indifferent) to Dame Fortune's favorites.

I believe that both celebrities and the press should observe certain rules of the game and that each has a role to perform to the public.

A newspaper person should not sit in judgment of a celebrity. Public opinion has made him a favorite and the job at hand is to report. I do not believe that public persons should ever have their privacy invaded.

Actually most members of the press have to have a gun pointed at their head before they will go into anyone's home, hotel, apartment, etc. The worst possible conditions to interview prevail: interruptions, telephones, people, noise and a non-professional atmosphere. To say noth-

There are some problems a Want Ad can't solve...

But not many . . .

Unless you are "out on a limb" in the literal meaning of the phrase, as this unhappy gentleman seems to be, chances are an Observer Want Ad can come to your rescue.

Want Ads were invented to be low cost problem solvers. People read them to find such vital things as jobs, homes, automobiles, farms, furniture, offices, machinery and appliances. And countless others place ads to sell valuable but unneeded items, and to find hard to locate items.

If you find yourself "out on a limb," remember that a low cost Observer Want Ad can help you find your way back.
