Choose Land in Rear of Christian Science Church City Picks Site for Senior Housing

Heading the pleas of a representative group of elderly folks the City Commission ended more than a year of study Monday night and selected two acres in the rear of the Christian Science Church as the site for the Senior Citizens high rise apartments.

For the greater part of two hours the Commission listened to the discussion of four sites offered by the Housing Commission and then, with Commissioner James McKeon casting the only dissenting vote, made the choice.

Of the more than 40 senior citizens in the audience only one — Judge James Sexton — talked against the church site. He voiced his objection on counts. First, he maintained that the site was needed for a playground area, stating "there was a time when there were few children in the area, but now there are plenty and they will have no place to play if this site is taken away from them."

When he was argued down on this count, he switched and warned the Commissioners that if they approved a high rise apartment for the senior citizens they would have to approve high rise buildings throughout the area in the near future.

He fought a losing battle, however, as the Commissioners decided they would cross that bridge when they came to it.

Even then the senior citizens hadn't won their battle. Just as the motion was made to approve the site, Commissioner George Lawton interjected the thought that the 2.26 acre site should be approved only with the proviso that one acre be set aside for a playground.

This finally was ruled out when the Housing Commission explained that with the ear-marking of one acre the remaining 1.26 acres was not sufficient to meet the requirements of the Federal Housing Authority for a 60-unit building.

Aside from the site chosen the other locations offered for consideration included the ground in the area of Harvey and Sheridan Ave., with an estimated cost of $14,000; a location on S. Main Street, south of the Food Fair Market at a cost of approximately $70,000 for the land, and a location on N. Main Street opposite the Kroger Store that could be acquired for a sum between $70,000 and $75,000.

These figures were above the budget for land acquisition and were ruled out when the elderly folks in attendance voiced the opinion that the site in the rear of the church was more suitable because (1) it was close to the downtown area for shopping (2) it was close to the churches and (3) it was an area in which they had spent most of their lives and it would be "home" to them.

Another factor in the choice, after hearing from the seniors, is the fact that the city now owns the property and would not want to invest large sums to acquire land.

It was promised by the Commissioners that when the proper time came the money saved would be used to spearhead a drive for funds to build an addition to the apartments that would contain sufficient room for the holding of meetings and be a gathering place for all senior citizens regardless of where they lived.

It also was promised that an effort would be made to obtain land between the high rise apartments and Sheldon Road for a parkway for the elderly folks to go strolling.

With the selection of the site the actual building is still a long way off. The Commissioners took only the first step in selecting the site. It now goes to the Planning Commission for the re-zoning of the property for high rise apartments and another series of public hearings — then final approval by the government, the letting of contracts and then the erection of the building.

Township Board Studies Plans For Huge Water Expansion

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees hasn't decided what steps it will take in regard to furnishing water to Plymouth Colony as requested by residents in petitions presented some time ago.

The big rub in the situation is that the City of Plymouth is furnishing water to the subdivision at the moment and has set a high price on the mains.

The Township made an offer two months ago but it was rejected by the City Commission as unacceptable. The City informed the Trustees that it was holding a special meeting on Nov. 7 to study the matter.

However, the big issue before the Trustees is how much mains and connections that were installed more than 15 years ago, are worth today. It was the unanimous opinion that they aren't worth it.

It was decided to table the matter for a month and see what the City Commission has to offer after the Nov. 7 session.

At the same time, Supervisor John McEwen, who resides in Plymouth Colony, asked the Board as a homeowner and taxpayer of the Township, why he couldn't get Township water.

"What future steps do I have to take?" he asked. "Is it necessary that I and other homeowners in the subdivision start court action?"

Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes told the Board the matter had been going on for more than 19 months and was no closer to a decision now than then.

That's when it was decided to table the item for a month.

Then later in the meeting, the Trustees heard Engineer Herald Hamill discuss a proposed $1,089,000 water expansion program that would close the loop around the Township on all sides and include taking mains into Plymouth Colony as one of the 14 projects.

It was decided to table the proposal until the special meeting on Oct. 25 when it will be discussed carefully and a decision made on how far the Township can go this year.

Mrs. Holmes informed the Trustees that there will be an increase in the sewage (Continued on Page 12B)

BEAMING CAROL ENGSTROM stands on the podium as the smiling, happy 1966 Homecoming Queen at Plymouth High. She was snapped just after being introduced as the winner of the annual vote of the student body.

Carol Engstrom Is Crowned '66 Queen For Homecoming

Even though there was a brisk, whistling wind sweeping the field from the opening kickoff until the final person had left the parking lot, there were few chilled persons in the overflow crowd that viewed the annual homecoming game and festivities.

True enough, the Rocks ran into the ill-luck that has marked their season to date, but the homecoming events, planned by Co-chairmen Jeff Cardinal and Mary Vallier, with the co-operation of Band Director James Griffith, were the best in several years.

It was a gala affair from the moment the Plymouth High marching band led the homecoming parade through the downtown business section until the 1966 homecoming queen was crowned with the traditional ceremonies and fanfare in midfield.

The parade included: convertibles carrying Sophomore Attendant Judy Allen and Junior Attendant Brenda Hayes and the senior class float with the four candidates for queen. The seniors did things up in their usual manner with a group of senior boys pulling the float throughout the parade.

The four seniors were: Jane Emerson, Carol Engstrom, Jean MacCurdy and Gayle Myers.

Then followed the bonfire at the north end of the field before the ceremonies moved into the grandstand and gridiron.

The flag raising carried more impact than at any previous home game with the state championship color guard unit of the VFW Mayflower Post 6695 handling the flag raising while the band played the national anthem.

Fred Nelson served as guest conductor while Director Griffith handled the public address system for the pregame activities.

The four senior queen candidates and the attendants were introduced in a parade around the outside of the gridiron.

That was the picture when the climactic naming of the 1966 queen held the attention of the huge crowd at the halftime.

The band, which staged its best precision maneuvers of the season, saluted the yet

Bill Fronk To Leave Plymouth

William Fronk, chairman and one of the big reasons for the excellent report of the Citizen Advisory Committee to the Board of Education on future building and financing, has accepted an executive position with Hyster Corp. in Portland, Ore. and will leave the community within three weeks.

That was the announcement Monday as Fronk turned in his resignation to Ford Motor Co. where he was production and special program manager of the Parts and Service division. He had been with Ford for 12 years but indicated the offer from the West Coast firm was too good to turn down.

Fronk has been a resident of the City and Township for (Continued on Page 12B)

CBD Group Learns Underpass Construction Comes High

The Plymouth City Planning Commission and members of the Central Business District implementation committee learned that it would cost a million dollars to construct an underpass at the C&O crossing on Main Street and were advised by a planning consultant that the proposed Penniman Ave. Mall could practically guarantee future commercial growth in the downtown area.

These answers came out of a meeting of the two groups Wednesday in the City Hall where Jay Eldridge, member of the planning consultant firm of Vilcan and Leman, reviewed the proposed plans for the Central Business District.

Eldridge discussed the intended use of the peripheral drive; the improved parking lot and unimproved parking areas which receive limited use because of poor markings; the Mall; one-way streets against two-way streets; the widening of Harvey, Union and Wing Streets; changes in the Central Parking Lot to develop comparison shopping; a department store complex in the CBD; financing costs of street improvements in the southeast quadrant; elimination of parking on the main streets; land acquisition for (Continued on Page 12B)

Plymouth Mail Will Be Delivered on Saturday This Week

This is the week for the change in publication day for the Plymouth Mail so don't reach for the phone to complain to the circulation department that one of Plymouth's community newspapers is missing.

It will arrive on your doorstep Saturday morning in time to provide a full weekend of information and entertainment for the entire family.

Philip H. Power, publisher of the Mail, announced the date change last week pointing out that on the weekend families have the time and inclination to read their newspapers thoroughly.

"The only real function of a newspaper is to serve the community," Power observed. "Readers are served by informative, thoughtful reporting of the news of the community. Advertisers are served by effective, original and hard-hitting ads which bring the product to the direct attention of each reader."

"The Plymouth Mail has devoted itself to these twin concepts of service for more than 78 years. The sole concern has always been, and will continue to be, service to the community. In order to more fully serve the Plymouth community, we have undertaken an extensive program to expand and improve the Mail."

It will arrive on your doorstep Saturday morning in time to provide a full weekend of information and entertainment for the entire family.

"As part of these improvements," Power continued, "we are delighted to announce that on Sunday, Oct. 23, the Plymouth Mail will move to a Sunday publication day. The proven acceptance, readership and selling power of weekend newspapers throughout the country has prompted this change."

"Our editorial policy, while retaining its present solid coverage of community affairs, will be improved and expanded. In particular, we plan to include a number of feature articles especially geared to suburban living."

The Plymouth Observer will continue to publish on Wednesday as in the past.

College Resumes Movies Friday

"Tight Little Island," a fanciful satire involving a shipload of whisky and the thirsty inhabitants of a remote island in the Hebrides, will be presented on the Schoolcraft College fall semester Creative Arts on the campus film series at 8 p.m. on Friday in the amphitheater in the Forum.

The story involves the efforts of the islanders to save the cargo when a ship laden with 40,000 cases of whisky founders on the rocks offshore. The public is invited without charge.

Livonia Mall Offers Fun Farm

One of the most hilarious and entertaining attractions ever to come to the Livonia Mall Shopping Center is scheduled to open Wednesday (today).

A live animal Funny Farm and the famous Vernor's Old Fashioned Soda Parlor highlight the second week of the shopping center's second anniversary celebration.

The Funny Farm which runs over 100 feet long will be displayed in the Center Mall area through Saturday.

The animated farm yard features such mirth provokers as "the egg factory," an old red barn with square dancers in miniature performing their intricate steps, Hedda's Hopper, an old fashioned weathered wind mill, farmer Brown's tumble down house complete with out-house and many other structures common to farm yards.

Of particular interest to the children will be the live farm animals which will be allowed to roam through the farm yard and be petted by young visitors.

Accompanying the Funny Farm will be Vernor's Old Fashioned Soda Parlor. An exact replica of the soda parlor where dad and mom used to go for a tall cool drink or an ice cream sofa. As a special Anniversary offer the Livonia Mall has arranged to serve Vernor's ginger ale for the old fashioned price of just five cents per cup.

"We're sure that everyone will enjoy both displays because they are well worth seeing, especially for the children," said Jerry Silberman, president of the Livonia Mall Merchant's Association.

Hours for the displays to be opened are 9:30 a.m. 'til 9 p.m. on Mondays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays and 9:30 a.m. 'til 5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Plymouth Tot Wins $2,500 in Contest

Little Caren Mitchell, 20-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell, 515 Starkweather, Plymouth, has a smile that is worth a fortune.

It already has earned $2500 for the youngster as second prize in the annual Children's National Photograph contest sponsored by Montgomery Ward's.

Announcement of her good fortune was made by James McCoy, manager of the Montgomery Ward's store in Wonderland Shopping Center in Livonia, where the photograph was taken.

Aside from the $2500 cash prize little Caren also was awarded a golden plaque with her name and photograph on it.

These prizes are part of the total prize list of $25,000 given in the contest which was supervised by the National Association of Department Store Photograph Studios.

Little Caren's parents naturally were pleased with news of her good fortune and claimed it was one of the greatest thrills of their life.

The Mitchell's have one other child, an eight-week-old boy named Charles Aaron.

Top prize in the national contest went to Pamela McCain, of Lake Charles, La., who was awarded $5,000 and a gold plaque, while third place was given to Sherry

C'ville Hits High for Students

The new enrollment shows the high school with 838 students, Grandview with 785, Botsford with 770, Edgewood with 721, Junior high with 543 and Westbrook with 197.

These figures show a grand total of 3,854 students with 2,473 of them in the elementary schools and 1,381 at the secondary level.

The largest enrollments are in the kindergarten, first and second grades and indicate that the growth will continue with the day of a high school enrollment of 1,000 not too distant.

Livonian Wants Hospital Services

PCHA Expansion Sought

A move is underway to consider the possibility of Livonia joining the Peoples Community Hospital Authority which operates four public hospitals in 23 communities in Western Wayne County and eastern Washtenaw County.

The move was brought to light last Wednesday when Dr. Karl Klicka, new executive director of the PCHA, was guest speaker at the Garden City Rotary Club.

After his talk about the advantages of the Authority, which includes Garden City and Westland, he was asked how Livonia could join, by Frank McLaughlin, of 9816 Ingram, Livonia, with Medical Analysis Laboratory, 30754 Ford Road, Garden City.

Afterwards, McLaughlin told the Observer that he is planning to have himself, other citizens and Mayor Harvey Moelke meet to discuss the possibility of including Livonia in the PCHA.

At the Rotary Club luncheon in Garden City, McLaughlin asked the director what would have to be done to include other cities in the hospital authority.

Dr. Klicka replied that the first thing would be to have him talk to the elected officials in that community and then have a public election at which time the voters would decide whether to join the authority.

However, he pointed out that the 42-member board of trustees of the PCHA has to make a policy decision on "how big is too big" but emphasized that people outside of the 23-member cities are using the four public hospitals at the present time.

"We will be forced to grow," Dr. Klicka said, "and we could never control admissions. But a larger hospital is better than a smaller hospital. It can offer more extensive services at less cost. McLaughlin also said that he doesn't think the Livonia community is presently aware of the distinct advantages of joining the hospital authority.

During the Rotary Club talk, Dr. Klicka stressed that the PCHA has one of the greatest opportunities and there is no limit to what it can do.

The area the PCHA serves can get national prominence, the director continued, and I told the board of directors that they "are hiding their light under a basket."

We have four great hospitals and this is just a beginning," he said, "and the area is due to get an expanded population explosion."

He also stressed the low cost (an average of $4 per year added to the property tax) of financing the capital improvements of the hospital authority.

Dr. Klicka also said that his goal is to talk to other communities into joining the PCHA, whose residents entering authority hospitals now pay a 20 per cent surcharge over and above the basic rate.

Concerning several cities which want to withdraw from the authority, the director said that those cities "are manifesting the same type of thinking done by the Southern states who wanted to secede from the Union" just before the Civil War."

Two Nurses Killed in Auto Crash

Two nurses at Wayne County General Hospital arrived Saturday night at the Westland facility — victims of a two-car collision.

Dead of injuries in the crash at Cherry Hill and Wildwood were Miss Eunice Curtis, 59, and Mrs. Beatrice L. Collier, 55, both residents of an apartment complex at 167 South Parent, Westland.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department said that physical evidence shows that an auto driven by Fred L. Payne, 24, of 3432 Dayton Street, Westland, was traveling north on Wildwood, which has a stop sign at the Cherry Hill intersection.

Detective Kenneth Young of the sheriff's department, said that witnesses reported seeing the car carrying the nurses stopped to make a left turn onto Wildwood and their left turn signal was operating.

After passing the auto, the witnesses said, they heard "a tremendous crash" and it was so close to their car that they thought it was their own auto.

The officer said that he tried to question Payne and his passenger, Samuel D. Collins, 16, of 5970 Carlson Street, Westland, but they denied having any knowledge of the accident. The two are in Wayne County General Hospital.

Young said that he will try to question them to find out what happened.

THE END OF THE ROAD for 16-year-old Artie Pack, Jr. who was a passenger in a truck-trailer driven by Fred Collier, 20. His truck collided Oct. 11 at Haggerty and Eight Mile Road in Farmington Township with an oil truck driven by Donald Carless, 23, of Plymouth. Young Pack from West Virginia burned to death — and on his 16th birthday. Collier is in serious condition in U. of M. Hospital. Carless was arraigned in front of Justice Byron Walter of Farmington Township and released on $300 bond pending trial Oct. 28. He stood mute.

Measles Clinics Set for Sunday

Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County area parents can give their children lifelong protection against measles next Sunday (Oct. 23).

At that time, a massive campaign to eradicate this serious childhood disease will be held throughout the tri-county area. This program has the endorsement of the Michigan State Health Department and the medical societies of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Area schools co-operating in the campaign are: North Farmington High, Farmington Junior High, Bryant Junior High in Livonia Junior High West in Plymouth, Ratcliff Junior High in Garden City, and Bulman Elementary in Redford Township.

The one-day clinics are part of a tri-county program to curtail the disease that annually kills 500 children in this country and leaves thousands of them crippled or mentally injured for life.

Doctors point out that the deaths from measles are only part of the story. Common measles is a virus disease that frequently leaves its young victims paralyzed or their brains permanently damaged.

Another group of it's victims, a large group comprising 50 per cent, are so subtly injured that abnormal brain waves may be the only clue to slow-learning or other difficulties that may ensue.

Sponsors of the clinics point out that 95 per cent of all children get the disease. One in 15 may develop, immediately a potentially serious complication such as pneumonia, bronchitis, ear infection or a neurological disturbance.

In one of every two, secondary complications follow a measles attack and have been found persisting up to a year. These complications are not life threatening but lead to generally poor health, increased need for medical attention and interference with school work.

Doctors find it difficult to understand why parents don't have their children immunized when their records show that the most serious complications of common measles, encephalitis or brain inflammation ends fatally for a fourth of its victims, leaves another paralyzed or mentally impaired.

Tri-County doctors hope persons who become acquainted with these facts, will have their children immunized.

The clinics in this area will be held from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Children from age one through 12 should be immunized.

No one will be turned away because they cannot afford to pay for the immunization. However, because the clinics will cost more than there is money available, officials are asking parents to make a donation of 50 cents per child. Only one dosage of the vaccine is necessary for complete immunization.

Cannon, of Indianapolis, and this carried a cash award of $1,000.

Three well known personalities served as judges in the contest. They were: Dr. Joyce Brothers, nationally syndicated columnist; Ginger Rogers, renowned star of stage and screen; and "Skitch" Henderson, music director of NBC's "Tonight" Show.

College Reports 3,188 Students

Schoolcraft College not only enrolled more students in this, its third year of operation, but a greater percentage of its student body is attending on a full-time basis, students are taking more courses—and, the male student population is on the increase.

Detailed figures based on enrollment data of Friday, Sept. 23—the fourth Friday of the 1966-67 school year—were released this week by Registrar Norman E. Dunn. An official enrollment census is taken on the fourth Friday of each school year to meet State Dept. of Education reporting regulations.

The Schoolcraft figures show: a head count enrollment this year of 3,188, compared with 2,504 in 1965, and 2,018 in 1964, when the college first opened.

Impressive as the enrollment increase is, an equally significant increase shows up in the full-time enrollment figures. These are students taking at least 12 hours of course credit.

Dunn's figures show 1,780 full-time students this fall or 55.8 percent of the student body. This figure compares with 1,336, or 53.3 percent, last year; and only 859, or 43 percent in 1964.

The college's 3,188 students are taking courses with a combined total of 32,925 college credit hours—an average of 10.3 credit hours per student. In 1964, the 2,018 students signed up for only 18,262 credit hours, an average of slightly more than nine hours of credit per student.

Although there have always been more boys than girls at Schoolcraft, the 1966 figures show that of every 100 students, 61 are men. Last year the men outnumbered the women an even six to four. In 1964 there were 54 men in every 100 students.

Of the 1,780 fulltime students this year 1,568 are enrolled in the day college. Of the 1,408 parttime students, 1,082 take classes in the evening college.

Another breakdown of the figures shows 2,473 freshmen or first-time students, 715 students at the sophomore year level.

Two-thirds of the students, or 2,163 are enrolled in academic programs, and 1,025 are taking courses in the vocational-technical division.

Socially Speaking Around Plymouth

By Dorothy Sincok GL 3-0038

(Call to report social events in your family, neighborhood)

Soft-spoken, tawny-haired, of colorful fashion that delighted the eye.

Commentator Evelyn Arthey, of the Wool Shop, gave a descriptive composition of the models' fashions which included Marjorie Brillhart wearing her own "Great" Coat of Mohair and Gaelic tweed.

There was Laveta Hoffman, whose Brunswick "Vivian" two piece, apricot dress suit which she finished in time for the show and later walked the promenade in a silver Neuchatel made of Reynolds Cotillon yarn.

Incidentally this gown was designed by Yves St. Laurent from the House of Dior collection. For the younger set, Sheila Brady was outstanding in her "knit kick" of pink and cranberry "popolette".

Jeannine Dahlager showed off an emerald green wool and brocade combination floor length number ideal for the holiday season.

A hand knit white angora wrap was a surprise gift for Veda Dykin. Mrs. Robert Cole of Northville, looking like a model herself added elegance to her costume of white wool with a mink boa prize presented by Helynn Caplin.

Mothers — on Saturday, October 22, the second of the series sponsored by the American Association of University Women, Children's Adventure Series, will be shown at Jr. High West at 2 p.m.

The Ed Johnson Marionettes will present "The Magic Sword."

This is a story with castles and Kings, Knights in shining armor, and an exciting sword-fight.

In addition the plot involves a lesson in courage and self-confidence based on medieval times. The kids will love it and the price is 75 cents, single admission.

Never too young to learn about the community are second grade youngsters at the Bird School. Student-teacher Martha Rupert, from Madonna, is assisting Mrs. Myrtle Read on a work unit of Community by Comparison and word has it the youngsters are delighted.

It's Our Town—say Plymouth Rebekahs who will hold a rummage and bake sale at the Plymouth Community Credit Union Bldg. this Saturday from 9:30 to 1:30 p.m. Co-chairmen Louise Granger and Violet Garrison have arranged for pickup calls at 453-3335. The group uses the funds to support many community activities.

Plymouth members of the American Association of University Women will visit City Hall on Thursday, Oct. 20 at 7:45. The Honorable Edward S. Piggins, Circuit Judge of Wayne County will speak on "We the Jury". Hostesses for the coffee hour will be Chairman Mrs. Charles H. Heiney, Mrs. William T. Gingrich, Mrs. Jacob Mainzer, Jr., and Mrs. John T. Tighe.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

DETROIT EDISON

An electric water heater is for the people who don't like to run out of hot water. We're so sure you'll like one, we guarantee your satisfaction—for a whole year! What do we mean by satisfaction? Simply this: If you don't get all the hot water you want, when you want it, you get all your money back, including any you may have spent on installation. And it doesn't matter where you bought your electric water heater. The Edison guarantee still applies. No strings attached. Fair enough?

P.S. Average-size families with electric water heaters pay as little as $3.88 a month—a standard rate—for hot water. How much are you paying?

Edison, Consumer's Join In Construction of Control Center

A Michigan Electric Power Pool Control Center will be established by the Detroit Edison Company and Consumers Power Company in another step forward in meeting the growing electric power needs of the more than eight million people who live in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

The Control Center will be constructed on a site just west of Ann Arbor, Michigan in Scio Township. It is expected to be in service by mid 1969 and it will centralize the generation and transmission of more than ten million kilowatts of power.

Walker L. Cisler, Chairman of the Board of Detroit Edison and A. H. Aymond, Chairman of the Board of Consumers Power, said the Center is an extension of a long-standing purpose on the part of both companies to achieve the lowest possible production and investment expense. Each company continues to be responsible for the electric service policy in the area it serves.

Specially trained personnel will staff the Center. The most modern computer equipment will be used, enabling almost instantaneous decision making. Communications with all major facilities in the Michigan Electric Power Pool will be maintained at all times.

The electronic computer will respond to customer requirements by selecting the most economic generating source for varying load demands. It will monitor power flows on interconnections between the systems and over transmission lines to assure maximum reliability and economy.

The computer will serve to calculate cost of power interchanged, perform related operating and engineering functions and keep pertinent records.

Charles R. Bilby, Manager of General Services at Consumers Power, has been appointed manager of the Control Center. William K. Pence, Supervising Engineer, Relay Applications at Detroit Edison, will be assistant manager and will serve as project director in the construction of the center.

Pence resides at 14920 Maplewood, Plymouth. The building will contain, together with the computer room, office space for 25 people, conference and training rooms and other facilities. The computer room will be in a specially protected area designed in accordance with civil defense requirements.

On the walls will be floor to ceiling maps of the transmission networks of both systems. Indicating and recording meters will show all essential electric power flow data.

The electric systems of the two companies were first interconnected in 1928. More interconnections were made at later dates and in December, 1962, the companies established the Consumers-Edison Electric Power Pooling Agreement which provided for complete integration of generating and transmission facilities, joint reserve responsibility and joint scheduling of construction.

Presently, each company maintains its own system operating center.

The new Center will:

- Permit maximum economy and dependability in the generation and transmission of electric energy to more than 2½ million electric customers in Michigan.
- Provide emergency power supply in case of equipment failure.
- Facilitate further intergration of the statewide electric transmission network.

Detroit Edison and Consumers Power are the two main members of the Michigan Electric Power Pool, which includes the municipal electric power systems in Detroit, Lansing, Wyandotte and Holland, also the generating plants of Ford Motor Company and Dow Chemical Corporation at Ludington.

Detroit Edison also has two interconnections with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario. A third interconnection of higher capacity is now under construction across the St. Clair River at Edison's St. Clair Power Plant.

Consumers Power is also linked with the Upper Peninsula by a transmission cable across the Straits of Mackinac to the Edison Sault Electric Company system.

The Center will be a necessary step before the Michigan Electric Power Pool establishes two interconnections, at 345,000 volts, with electric systems south of Michigan.

These interconnections, now scheduled for 1970, will connect with Indiana and Michigan Electric Company, Ohio Power Company and Toledo Edison Company. These companies, together with Detroit Edison and Consumers Power, have also entered into an Area Coordination Agreement with Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago and Northern Indiana Public Service Company.

It will then be possible to exchange energy, as needed, across an area extending from Chicago to Detroit and Western Ontario.

Northville Atty. Heads College Citizens Group

Clifton D. Hill, Northville attorney, was elected president and Charles Lowe, Garden City attorney, was named vice president as a group of area citizens completed organization of the non-profit Schoolcraft College Foundation Thursday Oct. 13, in the Waterman Campus Center.

Other officers are: George L. Clark, Northville, secretary; Robert K. Barbour, Plymouth, treasurer; and Gordon R. Ramsey, Livonia, assistant treasurer.

The Foundation was organized to assist the college by seeking endowment funds for the development of an on-campus cultural center and for student services.

Incorporators of the organization other than the officers, are Philip R. Ogilvie, Robert Freydl, Mrs. Alex Nelson, Alex M. Lawrence, Jan Reef, and C. A. Hoffman, all of Northville; John N. Santeiu Jr., Garden City; and George Bauer and James B. McKeon, both of Plymouth.

Trustees named for a one-year term until the first annual meeting in November, 1967, were—other than the incorporators and officers—

Kenneth Hulsing, Plymouth; William R. Keith, Garden City; James Thomas and E. D. Dougherty, both of Livonia; Mrs. Norman E. Kuegler, A. Russell Clarke, Stanley J. Johnston, Wilson D. Tyler, and Harold E. Bittner, all of Northville; and Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of Schoolcraft College.

Hill appointed three committees to begin development of a Foundation program. They were: publicity — Mrs. Kuegler, chairman; capital additions — McKeon, chairman, Reef and Ramsey; and scholarships — Hoffman, chairman, and Freydl.

In a review of the college building program, Dr. Bradner told trustees the campus center and a vocational-technical building were opened this year, explained that a second classroom building and a physical education plant were in the planning stages, and said the next major construction project was a cultural complex to serve both college and community needs.

Such a complex, he said, would provide an auditorium capable of staging operas, drama and symphony orchestras, an art gallery, and instructional areas for art, music, drama, and dance.

In addition, Bradner said, the college has an immediate need to match a $10,000 gift from Sheldon Hayes, Northville businessman. Hayes made the grant this summer on condition it be matched and that the funds be used for students services.

"There is a real need for this Foundation," Bradner said. "Its work is cut out for it and it can provide a great service to the college, to the students and to the community."

ANN ARBOR — A University of Michigan physician has offered a seven-point program for controlling asthmatic bronchitis, a disease that usually strikes young adults — both men and women — when they are starting to earn a living and establish their own families.

Just back from presenting his recommendations to a medical congress in Europe, Dr. Robert G. Lovell said asthmatic bronchitis "is one of the prime causes of pulmonary disability in England, and is an epidemic problem in the United States."

He said the disease usually follows an insidious pattern: a "cold" that persists longer than usual; gradual wheezing which is aggravated by exertion; absenteeism; longer and longer periods for recovery.

Finally, he said, the patient is unable to work and becomes a "permanent respiratory cripple." The progression of the disease ends "when the lungs can no longer support life."

Dr. Lovell's analysis of 100 cases led him to blame "cigarette smoking for the aggravation and perpetuation of asthmatic bronchitis . . . it may be one of the initiating causes."

Treatment is a long-term affair along these 7 lines: Stop smoking, even if the physician must prescribe sedatives and tranquilizers. Control environment to avoid irritant dusts and chemicals.

Control food and nutrition. Maintain regular mild exercise.

Begin long-term use of drugs such as antibiotics, and bronchodilators. Conduct a full-scale allergy evaluation to detect any contributory reactions the patient may have.

The seventh treatment may be as important as all the rest combined, said the U-M doctor. It calls for the physician to maintain close touch with his patient, and furnish him the encouragement and determination to stick with the treatment.

Here's Chance to Unload Old Glasses And Benefit Indigent

Those old or unused eyeglasses which many people have lying around the house are urgently needed by poor the world over according to Harry Will, head of the Harry J. Will Funeral Home Inc., on Plymouth Road in Redford Township.

Will has volunteered to collect discarded eyeglasses for distribution by New Eyes for The Needy Inc., a non-profit non-sectarian organization in South Hills, N. J. The sole purpose of the group is to help provide better vision for those who can't afford to buy glasses.

Area residents who wish to help this cause may bring the discarded glasses to the Harry J. Will Funeral Home Inc., where they will be wrapped and sent to New Eyes.

The organization was founded in 1932 by Mrs. Arthur Terry and collects glasses, broken jewelry and pieces of precious metal. The work of sorting, testing, overseas packaging and acknowledging the thousands of pairs of glasses received each year is done by volunteers.

"All metal-framed glasses and jewelry are sold to a refinery," said Will. "The redeemed cash is used to purchase new prescription glasses for the indigent. Unbroken plastic-framed glasses are tested and sent abroad to medical missions and charitable agencies equipped to dispense them properly."

Metal frames in any condition, unbroken plastic frames (with or without glasses), sunglasses, artificial eyes, and contact lenses are all needed by New Eyes. Those wishing to donate articles to New Eyes may do so by dropping off the donations at the Harry J. Will Funeral Home.

Study Shows 19-Year-Olds Are Most Dangerous Drivers

LANSING — More than 50 percent of Michigan drivers who accumulate enough points for action in the state's driver improvement program are between the ages of 19 and 24, a computer study of nearly 100,000 drivers revealed. In announcing outcome of the study, Secretary of State James M. Hare said the peak accident and point-accumulation ages show a "startling correlation, with 19 as the critical age in both studies." The latest study, says Hare, was done on 97,909 drivers with regular driver licenses. It covered driver improvement actions for more than a year from June, 1965, to September, 1966.

"As in the accident report which we issued recently, this survey spotlights the 19-year-old as the most dangerous driver on our roads," Hare said. "At 19, drivers seem to begin picking up points which lead to re-examinations and other driver improvement actions at the age of 20."

"At 18 and under, point violators are relatively few . . . although there are indications that some 18-year-olds are already headed for trouble with their driving. The study shows only 2,700 of the 18-year-olds in any point trouble."

"But comes 19, and the total rises sharply to 9,586, nearly 10 percent of the total. And at 20, the high mark of 11,040 is hit, more than 11 percent of all Michigan drivers in point troubles. "Twenty-one is also a problem age . . . but the point system is based on infractions over a two-year period . . . with 9,278 in point trouble . . . nearly 10 percent of the total. The drop-off begins with 7,704 at age 22. And at 23, there were 7,044 with a dip to 5,325 at 24.

Hare said "raw statistics can't tell the complete story of the problems of the young driver, but the study does reveal that 30 percent of the worst drivers in Michigan fall into the 19-20-21-year-old bracket."

"This by no means indicates that just because these drivers get into early trouble with point infractions that they go on to become what I call 'incorrigibles' . . . a hard-core but very minute percentage of Michigan drivers on whom nothing seems to work. These people have much more deep-seated problems, many of them psychological and drinking problems, and we don't seem to be able to rehabilitate them no matter how hard we try."

"Oftentimes, the rebellious young driver settles down with the stabilizing effects of marriage, a family, and a responsible job."

"Drinking . . . an adventurous pastime when one is under legal drinking age . . . often takes on an unglamorous aura when persons arrive at and pass the 21-year-old mark.

"These factors . . . along with natural maturity . . . bring about better, more responsible drivers in their middle 20's."

"Unfortunately, there are persons who never grow up . . . and these often become the chronic offenders . . . 'the incorrigibles.'"

The point study also revealed that drivers over 50 years old constitute under eight percent of the persons with point troubles.

Hare explained the study included drivers with seven points and above. At the seven-point level and up to 12 points, warning letters are sent out. Of the nearly 100,000 drivers examined in the study, about 15,000 involved warning letters, Hare said.

"When a driver reaches 12 points, he is re-examined for his right to continue driving. First-time 12-pointers usually are asked to attend a multiple or conference interview, and many of these persons are never in trouble with their driving again."

Warns of Dangers In Monoxide Poisoning

With the heating season just around the corner, the Greater Detroit Safety Council, a chapter of the National Safety Council, once again warns home owners of the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning.

- Make sure gas furnaces and space heaters are properly vented and periodically maintained.
- Always sleep with the bedroom window open at least a crack to circulate fresh air.
- Never start your car in a closed garage for any reason.

"Odorless and colorless, carbon monoxide can render a person groggy or unconscious before he is aware anything is wrong," warns Gerald E. Montgomery, Executive Director of the local safety organization.

Absorbed into the body faster than oxygen, carbon monoxide causes the brain to become oxygen-starved, with death following on the heels of unconsciousness, Montgomery explains.

THEODORE F. Thrasher, Manager, Gratiot-Greiner Office of National Bank of Detroit, has been elected Second Vice President of the American Institute of Banking. Thrasher attended high school in Plymouth, and was graduated from Ohio State University in 1953 with a BS degree in Business Administration. Thrasher lives in Plymouth with his wife, Marjorie and their two sons.

4 Wayne Teachers Replaced on Staff

Four teachers in the Wayne Community School District, which covers most of Westland, were dropped from the faculty list because of class size adjustments and replaced by teachers with full professional certification.

Elizabeth Kyle, Hamilton third grade, and Rosetta Maddick, Wildwood-Cherry Hill first grade, resigned after the class sizes were adjusted with the elimination of one section. Both were issued Temporary Indefinite Contracts last month because they did not qualify for fully-certified provisional certification.

Also given T.I.C. status last month before being replaced by certified teachers were James Coogan, Wilson fourth grade, and James Hirzel, Hamilton fifth grade.

Mrs. Norma Aro, Lincoln physical education teacher, resigned for maternity reasons and Mrs. Dolores Martin, Kettering fifth grade teacher, was granted a leave of absence for the same reason.

On the non-teaching side of the staff, Claude Smith, head custodian at Hamilton Elementary, resigned, effective Sept. 30, to enter retirement. Mary Duckett, Glenn High School cafeteria employee, was granted a health leave of absence.

New faces on the non-teaching portion of the school staff are Sophie Inman, assistant cook manager at the Jackson Elementary cafeteria; Helen Mason, part-time cafeteria worker at Glenn High; Jane Romej, part-time at the Wayne Memorial High cafeteria; Elizabeth Ford, Cleveland Elementary secretary; Kathleen Abbott, accounting clerk; and Bernadine Rowe, curriculum resource center clerk. The six are all replacements for other employees who were either transferred to other schools or given a health leave.

Observing SPORTS
By George Maskin

PUTTING ONE WORD AFTER ANOTHER—
Welcome to winter . . . whether we like it or not. Both the basketball and hockey seasons are underway.
There's great optimism in the camps of both the Pistons and Red Wings. Coach Dave DeBusschere of the Pistons visions a second-place finish for his charges.
Over at Olympia, Manager-Coach Sid Abel figures the Wings will make a serious challenge for honors despite a weakness or two in the defensive positions.

When mentioning the Wings, so much, of course, depends on Gordie Howe, the greatest player ever to put on a pair of skates. Gordie now is in his 21st year with the club. He remains the team's No. 1 player and inspirational leader.

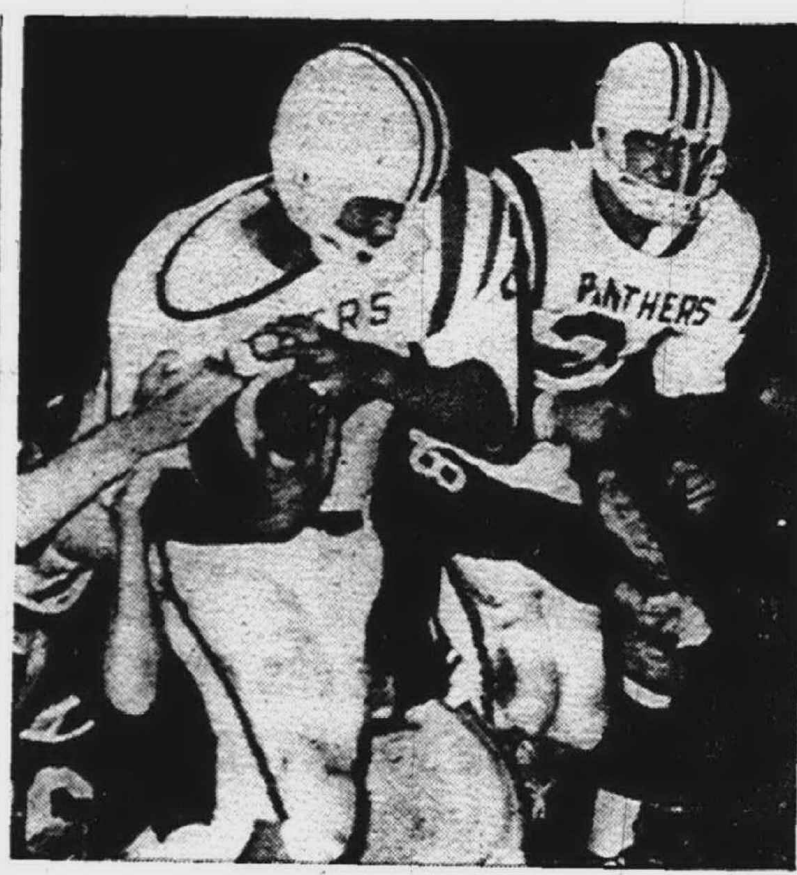

Come one of these days, much as all of us will hate to see that day come, Gordie has to start downhill. It's as inevitable as death and taxes. When he slips, the Wings might, too. It's just hard to tell.

On the subject of hockey, we noticed a little item the other day. Actually it was an advertisement by a hockey rink 'way up in Leamington, Ont., offering practice space to Detroit area amateur teams.

All of which prompts us to ask for the umpteenth time: When are cities like Livonia and Plymouth and Farmington

Davis Runs, Passes RU to 25-7 Victory

The name of "Glenn Davis" rings a familiar name around sports.

Years ago, a Glenn Davis starred for the Army football team at West Point.

More recently, another Glenn Davis brought the U.S. track team fame at the Olympics and the same Davis played end for a while with the Detroit Lions.

Now there's another Glenn Davis who's doing a brilliant football job. This Davis is a high school quarterback at Redford Union High.

The RU Davis won All Suburban League honors a year ago and it appears he's going to repeat this year.

He ranks as one of the most able prep passers in the area. He's also adept at running and a standout on defense as evidenced by the show he put on last Friday night when Redford Union celebrated homecoming by trouncing Belleville, 28-7.

Davis in the game pegged for three touchdowns, caught a pass himself that set up the fourth score, intercepted two Belleville passes and ran seven times for 77 yards.

It was Davis to Bill Mieras for 27 and six yards for RU's first two touchdowns. Then Davis pegged to Leland Bjerke for seven and another TD.

To show his versatility, Davis took a pass from Rick Ridell and ran it to the Belleville one, from where Ridell slammed across to finish the RU scoring.

ROUT ST. BENEDICT FOR 5th STRAIGHT Sorrows Clinches Share of Title

Hat's off to Our Lady of Sorrows' football team.

The Farmington gridders are assured at least a share of the Northwest Division title in the Catholic League.

Five straight loop victories—the latest by a 45-0 romp over St. Benedict—have brought Sorrows into the charmed circle and placed the team in position to complete an unbeaten-untied campaign.

All that remains for Sorrows on the regular schedule is a non-league date this Sunday evening against Nativity at Jayne Field and then a conference clash with St. Rita a week from Sunday.

St. Benedict never had a chance against the powerful Sorrows team.

On the third play from scrimmage, Sorrows had a touchdown and despite the fact subs flowed freely for the winners, there was no containing the Farmington squad's attack.

Brilliant, too, was the Sorrows defense as players like Tom Horner, Frank Walsh and Stan Pyler arose to halt St. Benedict with a mere 22 yards rushing and 19 yards passing.

Meantime, Cliff LaFond again paced the Sorrows' machine. He personally picked up 130 yards in 10 carries along with two touchdowns.

LaFond now has tallied twice in each of the five Sorrows' encounters.

It was LaFond on a 36-yard TD gallop in the first moments of the game after Sorrows had returned the opening kickoff to its own 40.

LaFond first went for six. Then Jim McGrath flipped 18 yards to Audette before LaFond broke loose to pay land.

Minutes later after a short St. Benedict kick it was Sorrows on the rival 25. LaFond streak for 16, Dave Hickey for five and Jim Karnes for four and with Hickey's second conversion, Sorrows led, 14-0.

McGrath's 15-yarder to Audette set up the third touchdown, a five-yarder by Hickey who added the point to make it 21-0 at the half.

Tim LaFond, Cliff's "kid" brother, then got into the scoring act on an 11-yard TD run after Mike Briolot had passed 21 yards to Bill Burgle.

Cliff returned to team with Hickey and boomed the ball from the Sorrows' 29 to the St. Benedict 27 from where McGrath hit John Allen on a TD pass.

Four plays later, Sorrows had the ball back and Cliff LaFond broke away for 22 yards and his second touchdown.

It was left for Mark Hartwig to go five yards to finish the Sorrows' scoring.

Schoolcraft Sports Chief Attends NJCAA Meeting in Jackson

Marvin Gans, director of physical education at Schoolcraft College, attended a meeting of the National Junior College Athletic Assn., Region 12, at Jackson Community College in Jackson, on Oct. 10.

Athletic directors from community and junior colleges in Michigan and Indiana discussed national eligibility and competition rules at the day-long meeting.

The last time the schools met in 1934, Wayne State University scored a 20-0 football win over Alma College.

East Ripped Open By Riverview, 40-0

What do you do when your team loses, 40-0?

Coach Gary Humphreys of Garden City East's high school football team simply had to admit that Riverview, which had crushed East by six touchdowns, simply was "too tough, too quick, too big, too everything."

East had taken the field with a 3-1 record and a victory over Riverview would have kept the Garden City team in contention for title honors in the Mid-Wayne League.

But Riverview never gave

East much of a chance. Scoring once in the first period, twice in the second, once in the third and twice in the last session, Riverview controlled the proceedings all evening.

What's more, Garden City East never came close. Not once did East cross midfield into the land of Riverview.

East grossed 53 yards rushing and made only one pass. The aerial gained exactly nothing.

"You have games like this, and there's so little that you can do," said Humphreys. "You only have to hope that your boys can rebound the next week without any physical or mental scars."

The big man for Riverview was fullback Bob Lambert who scored twice himself and personally ran for more than 100 yards.

St. Agatha Beaten By St. Mary's

St. Agatha high's football team found out Sunday why Wayne St. Mary's is the power in the southwest division of the Catholic League.

Twice the St. Agatha gridders from Redford Township went ahead in the game, but in the end it was St. Mary's, 33-3, to blast any chances St. Agatha entertained of reigning as divisional champ.

The loss was the second in as many weeks for St. Agatha, which now stands 3-2 overall this season. St. Mary's on the other hand is unbeaten in five outings.

A 14-yard run by Fran Castiglione shot St. Agatha in front, 6-0, in the first period, but St. Mary's countered with a touchdown by Rogowski and a conversion to take a 7-6 lead by the period's end.

Came the second period and St. Agatha went back into command. This time it was Dennis McKenna on a 12-yard scamper.

But the Townshippers had finished their scoring for the afternoon and St. Mary's had hardly begun.

Dan Cezaraz dashed in from the three and when the extra point was good, St. Mary's was on top for keeps.

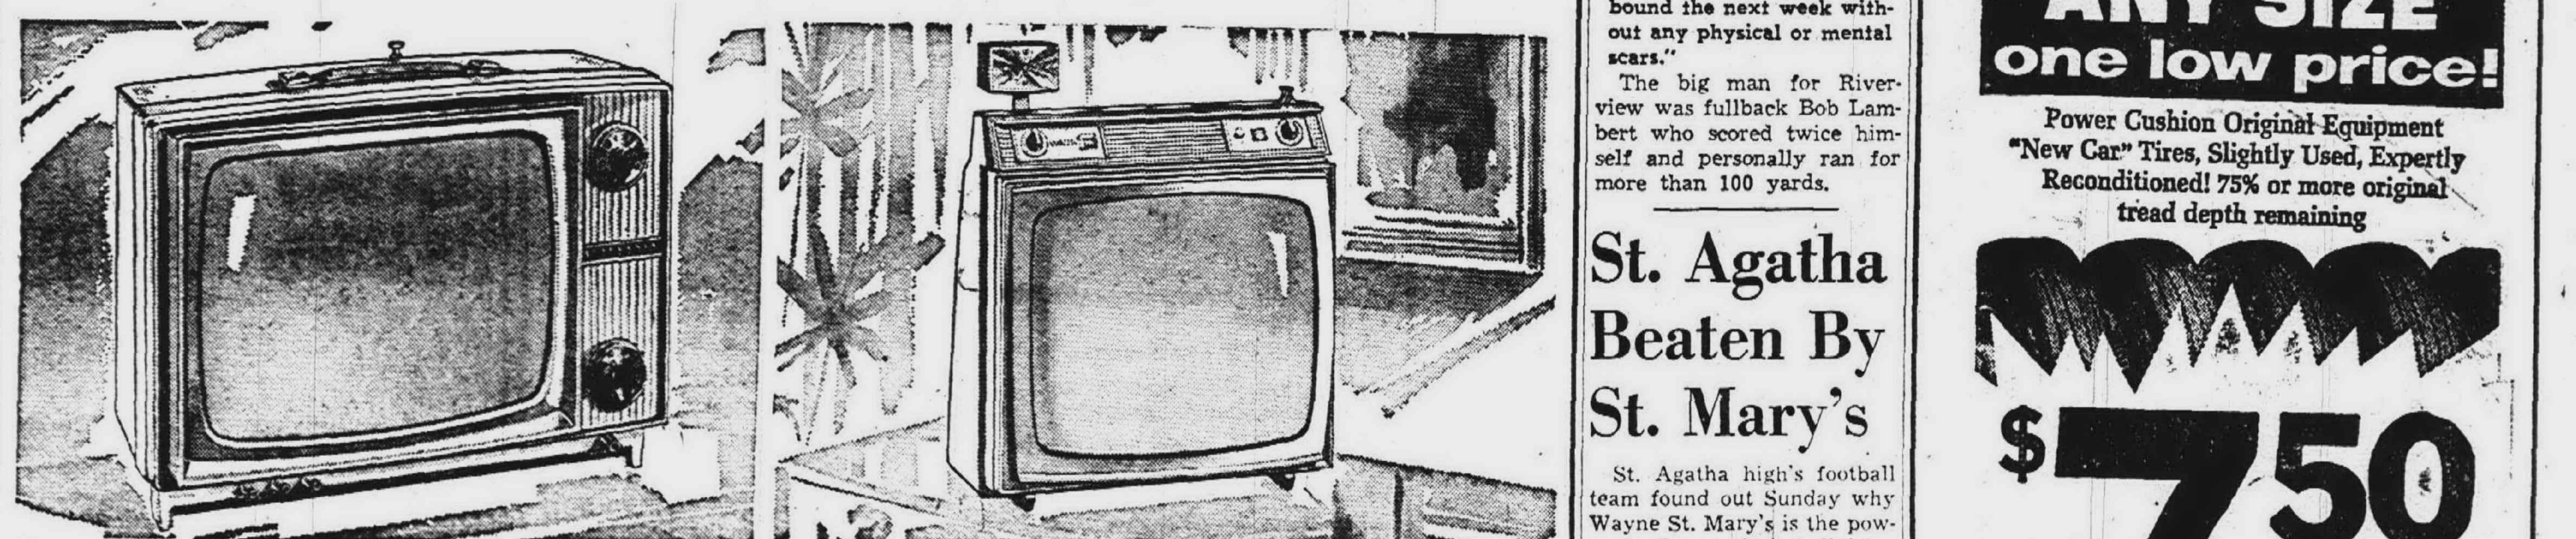

Another touchdown by Rogowski made it 20-13 in the third period and the Wayne team added two more TD's to put the game out of reach.

Exclusive of the scoring plays, a highlight for St. Agatha was a nifty 30-yard pass play in which Mike Wlezniak flipped to Dan Sweeney.

St. Mary's made good on only one of four tosses, but its ground attack was too much for St. Agatha. Rushing statistics showed St. Mary's with 185 yards to St. Agatha's 150.

Falcons to Battle for Crown

It's showdown time for Farmington and Walled Lake in high school football.

The two rivals clash Friday afternoon (3:30) at Farmington with the Interlakes League title riding on the outcome.

Farmington goes forth with a 3-0 record, Walled Lake 2-0.

A win for Farmington would assure the Falcons no less than a title tie.

"It's our biggest game of the season," said coach Bob Mistele of Farmington as he readied his unbeaten Falcons (5-0) for Walled Lake, which will be in an angry mood as it hits the Farmington gridiron.

Walled Lake had its all-winning ways snapped by Ann Arbor in a non-leaguer last Friday and the setback knocked Walled Lake out of the top ten in the various state ratings.

The Walled Lake scouts didn't get to see anything special from Farmington. The Falcons, who in previous games have resorted to spread formations and what have you, this time resorted strictly to the "Old T" and did throw a single pass.

"We just felt we could win by staying on the ground," said Mistele. Stevenson actually gave Farmington a tougher game than many had expected. The Livonians, who lack a twelfth grader, kept the high-powered Farmington team in close range most of the way.

"We were very delighted with the showing our boys turned in," said Stevenson coach Jack Riordan, "Farmington didn't tear us apart."

It also was Stevenson which turned in the game's most electrifying play when Chuck Dickey and Jerry Detter connected on a pass-run play covering 85 yards and a touchdown late in the game.

Farmington, which rushed for a total of 202 yards to 88 for Stevenson, scored first on a 40-yard march with Fritz Simons going the last six. Doug Root's conversion made it 7-0.

Root tallied from the six and Paul Misch finished the Farmington touchdown production with a six-yarder to cap a 75-yard movement.

All wasn't joyous, however, for Farmington at the end. Star end Jerry Tinkle hurt his shoulder on the second play of the game and may be lost for the rest of the season.

Misch was the Farmington workhorse with 20 carries for 90 yards. Simons made 65 yards in 14 tries.

FINDING A HOLE: Don Mooradian of pick up several yards. Franklin won the Franklin gets a block from an unidentified game to remain in a tie for the North-western Suburban League lead.

Good Chance, Says Coach

Title for Franklin?

There's a big jam atop the Northwestern Suburban League standings.

Franklin... Birmingham Groves... North Farmington... Thurston... they all have 2-1 records.

Coach Bob Bentley of Franklin figures they'll be at least co-champs when the race ends a week from Friday and he sees his team as one of the leaders.

Franklin, fresh from a 20-8 victory over Oak Park last Saturday, next draws John Glenn this Friday and then closes its league campaign against Groves.

"We can't afford another slip," admitted Bentley who was impressed with the way his charges handled Oak Park.

Dave Stott started Franklin on its way to victory over the Parkers by hitting Steve Atkinson on a seven-yard touchdown pass.

Atkinson made no ordinary catch on the play. He had to go 'way up to catch the ball. Then, after juggling it momentarily, he clutched the ball firmly and the referee's hands went up to indicate "a touchdown."

Ron Kugler's conversion.

Franklin led, 7-0, after one quarter and that's how the score stood until late in the half when Stott on a quarterback sneak slipped across to put Franklin in front, 13-0, at halftime.

Came the third period, it was Stott again on a seven-yard dash after he had gone back, looking for somebody to get his pass.

Spotting no friend in the clear, Stott slipped into the clear, eluded the grasps of several would-be Oak Park tacklers and went on over for the counter to put the game out of reach.

Oak Park averted a shutout by scoring in the closing quarter.

Franklin has a string of several heroes in the game. For example, there were Fred Davies and Jeff Trick who contributed several key blocks to make the Franklin offense click.

Atkinson, besides scoring one touchdown on a pass, hauled in another neat grab to set up the first of Stott's two counters.

Defensively, it was Gary Rogalski and Keith Isler who starred for the winners.

The 1966 Wayne State University football roster lists just one player from outside Michigan, freshman guard John Hunt of Moultrie, Ga.

Hazel Park Takes Title In RU Runs

Hazel Park ran away with team honors in the annual Redford Union Invitational high school cross country meet at Cass Benton Park.

The Parkers, acclaimed as the team to beat for this year's state Class A title, posted 34 points to runnerup Redford Union's 103.

Wayne placed third with 116, followed by Pontiac Northern with 127 and Thurston with 137.

Bentley scored 143, Farmington 225, Garden City East 235, Plymouth 279, Franklin 300 and Stevenson 408 in the 16-team meet.

Forest Jennings of Hazel Park took individual honors with the fine time of 10:43. RU's Jack Shepherd took third.

Doug Donovan of Franklin ran fifth, Al Dusak of Thurston sixth, Doug Norris of Garden City East eighth and Ed McGhie of Bentley eleventh.

Redford Union remained unbeaten in dual and Suburban Six League action by trouncing Allen Park, 15-0. The RU team grabbed the first five spots in the following order: Jack Shepherd (10:27), Mike Borg, Ron Mazurek, Dan McLalen and Joe Taylor.

Clancy Is Versatile

ANN ARBOR — Captain Jack Clancy, Michigan right end, has played in three different positions since he began his varsity career in 1963.

He started at quarterback, was shifted to halfback where he lettered as a sophomore. Missing 1964 because of an injured back, he returned at end in 1965—the post at which he played his first football in junior high school.

First Since 1961

When Denny McLain turned in a 20-13 record in 1966 he became the first Detroit Tiger pitcher to win 20 games in a season since Frank Lary posted a mark of 23-9 in 1961.

Rocks Rocks, 20-6

Bentley Still Alive

Add ball control to taking advantage of opportunities and there's the reason Bentley high spoiled Plymouth's homecoming celebration last Friday night.

Bentley, still hopeful of making a successful defense of its Suburban Six League championship, chewed up eight minutes at the outset to go in front, 6-0, and then turned two breaks into two more touchdowns and wound up a 20-6 victory.

As a result, Bentley now stands 2-1 in the conference while Plymouth is shaking in the midst of four straight setbacks (two in the league) since winning on opening night against Northville.

Bentley showed a well-balanced offense, spearheaded by quarterback Greg Coleman's nifty passing and some stellar running by Kevin Hooker and Larry Good.

In addition, the Livonians turned up a strong defense, muffing a shutout when Plymouth broke through with a score just before the final gun sounded.

"This was one of our best efforts," said Bentley, coach Larry Joiner. "If we can keep playing like this against Belleville (this Friday) and Trenton, well... we could at least wind up as co-champs."

The Livonians started for their own ten with the game's kickoff and zoomed along on the running off Hooker and Good to the Plymouth 19 from where Coleman slipped a pass to Rick Dudzinski for the touchdown.

Late in the period, a poor kick by Plymouth gave Bentley the ball of the Plymouth 46. Coleman wasted no time flipping to Dan Doyle on the 32.

After Good made eight, it was Coleman to Doyle on the Rocks' 12 as the period ended. Hooker bounced for a half dozen yards on the first play of the second stanza and then Ken Jackson swept around right end for the touchdown.

Jac Albert's conversion soccer style made it 13-0 at the half.

Bentley got to the Rocks' 11 after another Plymouth fumble in the second period, but was pushed back to the 35 on a couple of running plays and a 15-yard penalty.

But when Plymouth fumbled again in the third period Jackson recovered on the Rocks' 40 and there was no stopping Bentley this time. A big bomb from Coleman to Dudzinski carried to the Rocks' eight.

Matevia went for four and Hooker the last four. Albert's second conversion finished Bentley's scoring.

With less than a minute in the game, long pass from Mike Cederberg to Ron Lowe put Plymouth on the Bentley 26. Then Cederberg pecked seven more to Rich Fillmore.

Two more penalties put the Rocks on the five from where Tom Elias picked up a fumble by Lowe and went around end for the touchdown.

Bentley wound up with 155 yards rushing—94 by Hooker in 18 carries—and 113 in passing as Coleman made eight of 15. Plymouth rushed for 70 yards and hits on eight of 24 passes for 75 yards.

Pride Vital As West Rebounds

Pride is a small, yet a very big word.

Coach Harold Burkholder of Garden City West's high school football team harped on the word most of last week.

His charges hadn't won in four starts. Tied one, lost three.

"You're better than that," Burkholder insisted. "Show everybody around West and the community that you are."

The message got home to the West players.

They arose on Friday, on the day matters counted, and socked Lowrey, 14-0, to turn an unhappy Burkholder into the happiest man around town.

"It all was simple," explained the coach. "We just corrected some of our mistakes. Like we cut our penalties from 180 yards the previous week to just 55 against Lowrey and we stopped fumbling so much."

There were some juicy words for the West defense which had to hold off Lowrey throughout the second quarter when the Dearborn team twice penetrated the West 15. "The kids were wonderful in every respect," added Burkholder.

With Mike Alexander doing most the ball carrying, West marched 85 yards in the first period to take a 7-0 lead. Chuck Dobbs crashed the final yards into pay dirt.

In the second period, Lowrey did the pushing, but couldn't get through as West's defense stiffened with its backs to the walls.

West dominated the game in the final half, but it wasn't until Alexander slipped off on a 43-yard dash off tackle for a touchdown that the Garden City team wrapped up the victory.

The winners rolled up 243 yards rushing to 140 for Lowrey.

Lowrey was held to only one successful pass all afternoon in six tries. On several other occasions, Lowrey pass attempts were throttled before the quarterback could get the ball off.

Oh, yes, one of the penalties slapped against West was on the coach himself for yelling at the officials.

Burkholder thought maybe this helped to "fire our boys up." It's been known to have done the trick in the past. Ask Red Auerbach, ex-coach of the Boston Celtics.

Davis Runs

ing completed for 198 yards. When Davis was resting his arm, Ridell was pumping them.

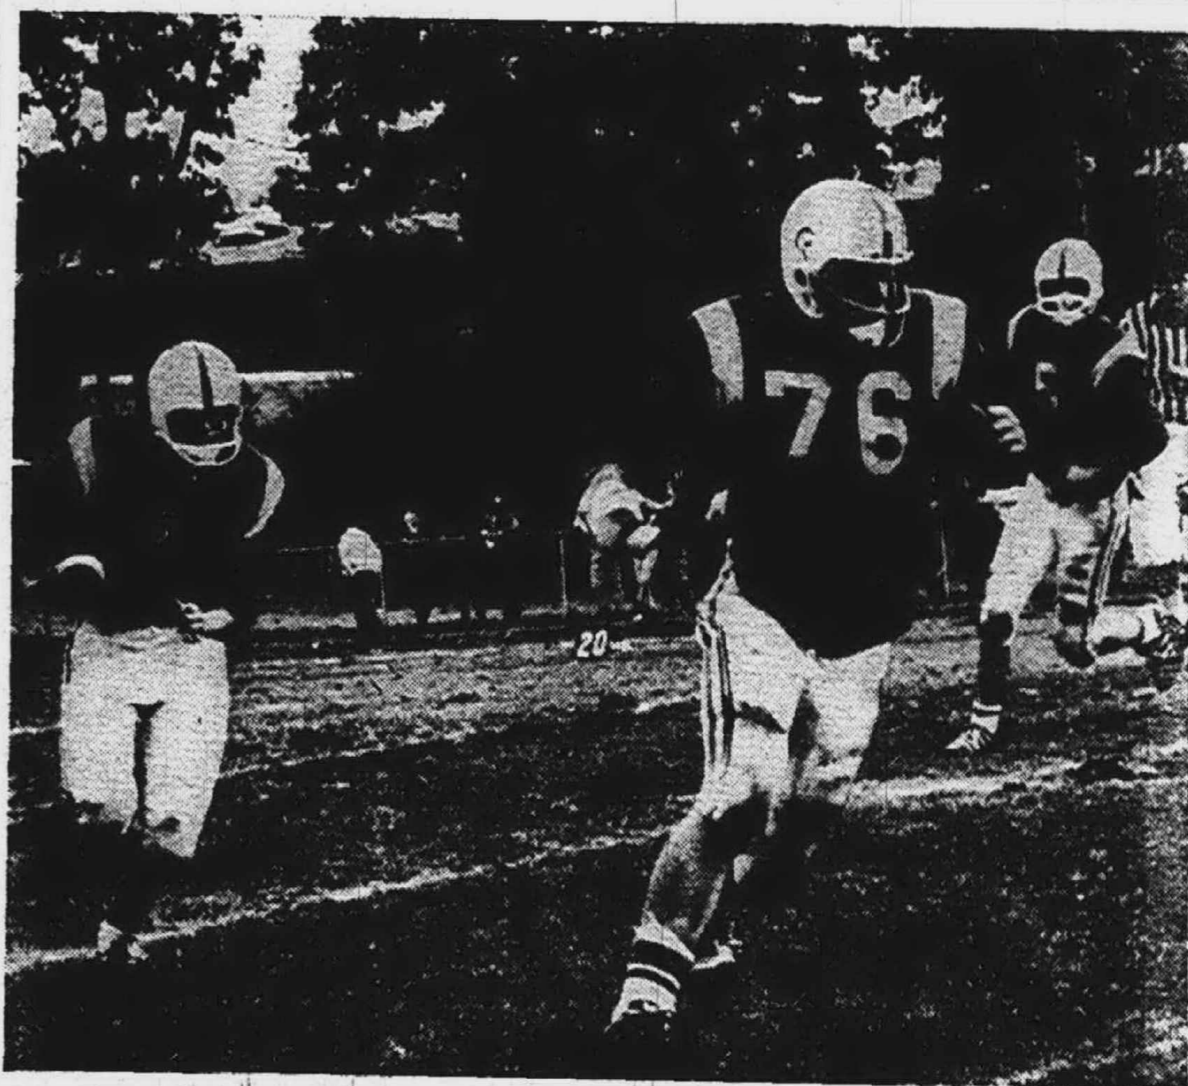

Redford Union also gathered in 115 yards rushing while the tough Township defense held Belleville to 123 yards passing and 82 yards rushing.

The one Belleville TD came on a pass from John Yocum to Bill Ray.

Belleville presented a much bigger team than RU could muster. But between the Davis-Ridell passes and some hard running and tackling, the Townshipers pushed their way merrily for yardage.

Coach John Rogers was elated with the RU defense, players like Ken Andrews, Henry DeLong, Tom Burke, John Miller, Dick Beckerleg and Jim Walker.

"They did a whale of a job for us," explained the coach.

CLEARING THE WAY: John McClory (76) clears the way for Mike Nye (41) to main unbeaten and in first place in the rip off a gain against Bloomfield Hills. Wayne-Oakland League.

Clamps Placed On Clarenceville

When you're up against a strong opponent, you can't risk the chance of opening the gates too far.

Clarenceville did last Friday afternoon against Bloomfield Hills . . . and, boom, the Hills lowered the ax on the Trojans, 25-7.

It was, perhaps, one of the biggest games Clarenceville had entered in many years. A victory would have kept the Trojans in the thick of contention for the Wayne-Oakland League title.

But now Bloomfield Hills boasts the lead with a two-game bulge over the Trojans, who stand 3-2 overall and 2-2 in the league—the best record a Clarenceville team has boasted at this date of any season in a decade.

Clarenceville gave Bloomfield Hills two quick chances to score. The Hills capitalized both times.

The first break resulted for the intercepting of a Clarenceville pass. In short order, the Hills moved in for a TD.

Then Clarenceville was guilty of two 15-yard penalties. Again the Hills scored.

"We made a couple other mistakes," added Clarenceville coach, "and in doing so, we just helped Bloomfield add to its lead."

Offensively, Clarenceville didn't do badly against the unbeaten Hills. Dave Wilson's fine passes, chiefly to Larry Martin and Tom Schalck, brought Clarenceville 107 yards and four first downs. Wilson hit on 11 of 25 tosses.

In rushing, Clarenceville picked up 181 yards, but still the Trojans couldn't make a serious march for a touch-

Schoolcraft Harriers Add 2 Victories

There's no halting Schoolcraft College's cross country team under the coaching of Tony Rizzo.

Rizzo literally has put together a powerhouse and the Schoolcraft students are turning out in huge numbers to support their team.

Schoolcraft added two more victories last week, to up its record to 12-0.

First there was a 17-41 dual meet win over Concordia College as Dan Ryan from Franklin High edged Howard Studeman from Plymouth to keep his record undefeated.

But Studeman came back on Friday to beat Ryan for the first time and set a new Schoolcraft record for the three-mile run of 15:42.

Studeman's efforts with Ryan second helped Schoolcraft post 35 points to 48 for Jackson, 49 for Henry Ford and 92 for Delta in a quadrangular meet.

Soph Smashes Raiders' Record

Rick Randall, a sophomore, is the new holder of the North Farmington high school cross country record.

Randall was timed in 9:38 to eclipse the old North Farmington standard by ten seconds as he led the Raiders to a 19-39 victory over Birmingham Groves in a dual meet.

North Farmington now has won four straight meets. In Wayne State University first football season, 1918, the Tartars won all four starts, scoring 100 points and blanking all four foes.

Observing Sports

going to build their own indoor ice arenas? Certainly, there should be some dollars in recreation funds to help get such a location started.

No question who's the premier high school cross country runner in the area:

The name: Jack Shepherd of Redford Union, who is yet to lose in dual meet competition and has finished among the leaders in the various invitational.

In our recent hopping around with the Pistons through a flock of eastern and midwestern states, we note, among other things:

1—Football action starts earlier and finishes earlier in Michigan for high schools than in many locations—nearby Illinois, included.

2—State Associations away from Michigan don't frown on post-season, all-star attractions for senior athletes in football and basketball.

3—Several states have adopted state tournaments in baseball, something Michigan should have, but doesn't.

Remember Capt. Pete Dawkins, who went from suburban Royal Oak to become one of the all-time football greats and scholars at the United States Military Academy at West Point?

Pete attended prep school at Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills and Greg Joyce, the kid who cuts our lawn and attends Cranbrook, tells us that Dawkins is to receive the second annual Cranbrook alumni award on Oct. 28 at the University Club in Detroit.

Dawkins made All America in 1958 when he led Army to an undefeated season. He was voted the "player-of-the-year," and the winner of the Heisman and Maxwell trophies, the most distinguished awards that are presented each year to amateur athletes.

Pete was more than a football ace. He ranked seventh scholastically in his class of 507, proving that many athletes have brains, too.

He went on from West Point to Oxford in England where he became only the fifth American to win a "letter" in rugby. He also starred in cricket—like rugby hardly an American sport.

More recently, he served a tour of duty in Vietnam and now he's back at West Point, teaching history and social studies, to our future army leaders.

The hunting season is with us and there'll be many during the next few weeks who'll come up with the most fantastic excuses in the world why they must miss a day or two at work or school.

If you're going off to the woods with gun in tow, need we remind you to watch your step . . . squeeze that trigger only when you're certain the target is what you're after . . . not a fellow human seeking the same prize.

Doctors also are quick to issue a warning that those who are not accustomed to much exercising should guard against overexerting their hearts. Tragedy in the way of heart attacks that are fatal mar every hunting season in this state . . . and other states.

what is the definition of a private brand?

To some people, it is a retailer's own brand created with selling price first in importance and quality second.

To us at A&P, it's the opposite.

Quality comes first.

Value...the best for the least is the rule for our private brands.

If this wasn't true, how foolish we'd be to invest, as we have, literally millions of dollars in processing plants and testing laboratories.

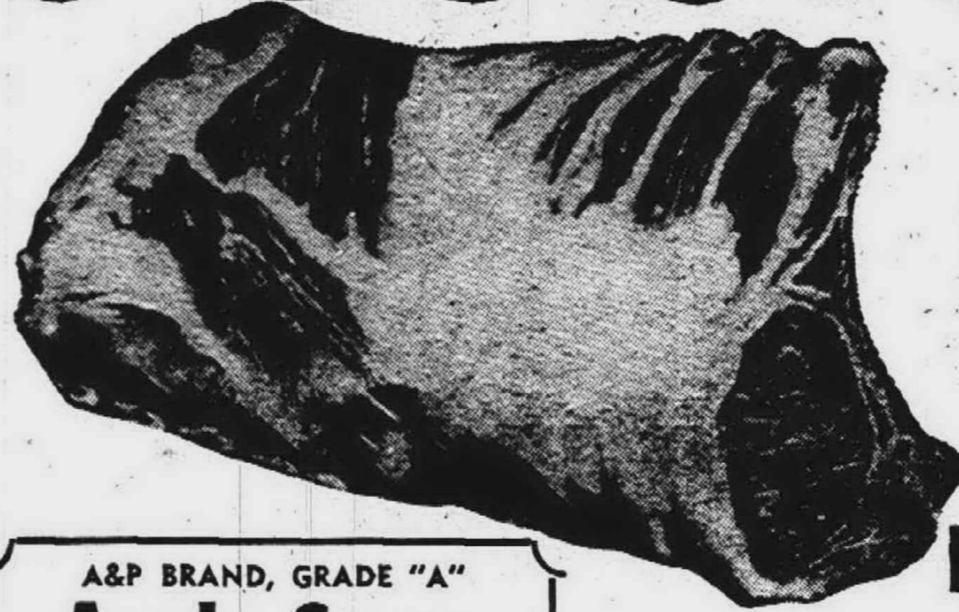

If all we wanted were products we could sell cheaply without quality control, anybody could produce them for us.

The idea of quality private brands isn't new at A&P. As a matter of fact, it's one of our oldest policies—and by golly, we're proud of it.

Are A&P Private Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

Industrial Paint Dries Instantly

An instant-drying paint may one day be adapted for home use.

Now used by industry, it employs an electron curing process that dries paint as soon as it is applied.

Restore and Save

Think twice before giving up on your old home. A complete remodeling may cost only one-fourth as much as a new house, yet will have the conveniences and fresh look you most want — in the neighborhood you really don't want to leave.

Break Dull Winter Days With Painting Projects

Winter isn't just another season—it's a state of mind. Its months mean snowmen and holidays, hot cider and cinnamon, family gatherings and fireside fun. Your recreation and living rooms should reflect the atmosphere of warmth and cordiality that are associated with the indoor living of the season—these moods can be created easily and quickly with modern paint products.

And color is the by-word in this redecorating scheme. For instance—the icy blues or greens used to convey coolness during Summer's heat should be replaced with deeper tones—perhaps in the red or gold spectra—which will produce an opposite effect.

But the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association reminds you that just as you can play tricks with color—it can play tricks ON you!

For instance, those colors classified as "dark" and/or "warm"—such as deep forest green, royal blue or purple—absorb light. If used too extensively on walls, they tend to be depressing and can actually make a room seem smaller.

"Warm" colors generally include the reds, oranges, yellows and yellow-greens. These tones—although they can minimize size if over-used—usually convey a feeling of warmth and are emotionally stimulating.

The average home-owner will run into the problem of the too-small—and yet too cool—room. He now knows that if he uses a bright or deep warm color for atmosphere, he may jeopardize the appearance of size created with paler paint tones.

There are ways to achieve an atmosphere of warmth without forfeiting apparent size, however.

One very popular technique calls for the application of a coating in a pale, pale tone—perhaps one of the off-whites—on three of the four walls of a room, and a splashy, warm paint color on the fourth. This trick will make the "warm wall" a focal point, and yet allow size to continue as the over-all impression.

Another much-used method of combating the size-versus-warmth problem consists of using a paint color which is warm—such as one of the yellows—and yet light enough to create the illusion of size in a small room.

But no matter what architectural difficulties you hope to surmount—or what mood you want to create—paint and its rainbow of color is the key which will unlock doors to decorating loveliness in your home all year round.

A Test of Strength

A good way to insure the safety of older, straight ladders, used for outdoor painting, is suggested by the National Paint, Varnish, and Lacquer Association. Lay the ladder flat on the ground, and put all your weight on each rung—if one of them breaks or splinters, it's time for a new ladder.

PAUL D. KELLY (left), loan guaranty officer of the Veterans Administration, studies a copy of the recently liberalized GI Bill for home loans. With Kelly is Everett J. Wilson, president of the United Northwestern Realty Association, at whose recent luncheon meeting Kelly explained the GI Bill.

Find GI Loans Going Begging

"Many service veterans are not taking advantage of the recently liberalized home loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration," Paul D. Kelly, VA loan guaranty officer, told members of the United Northwestern Realty Association.

"Our records indicate that in Michigan 188,000 post-Korean war veterans became eligible for home loan guarantees under the new GI bill signed by President Johnson in March. Another 22,500 Michigan veterans will become eligible each year hence," he reported.

Apparently many of these eligible veterans are not yet aware of their increased GI benefits, Kelly said. However, he foresees greater participation in the near future.

Kelly explained the new law provides that veterans with more than 180 days of active military duty, who were discharged from the service after Jan. 31, 1955, have at least until March 3, 1976, to complete a GI home loan.

Many veterans are seemingly under the mistaken impression that the VA home loan guarantees are only for lower-priced homes, Kelly said. "This is absolutely false. For all practical purposes, there is no maximum on the amount you can borrow from a bank on a GI loan." He added, "It's not a bit unusual for us to process loans on homes of $30,000 to $45,000 valuation."

In addition to home purchases, loans are available for alterations, repairs or improvements in homes already owned and occupied, he explained.

Also addressing the Realtor group were VA chief appraiser Stanton C. Hunton, speaking on VA appraising, and George W. Gibson, VA loan processing chief, discussing credit and loan analysis.

Women Reclaim the Family Room

Back in the days of the colonists, the lucky housewife who had a family room in her home could call it her own. She also called it the "keeping room," a place to display her china, keepsakes and other memorabilia.

All that changed. The action crowd of the Roaring Twenties threw out the fond memories and renamed the room the "whoopee room." Since then activity, recreation and rumpus have characterized this area.

Latest trends in family rooms indicate, however, that women may be reclaiming them. Family rooms are merging with kitchens, which are definitely the gal's domain.

They both benefit from sharing common walls and floors of decorative and durable materials like easy-to-care-for ceramic tile.

The hardy materials and furnishings of the kitchen work just as well in protecting the family room space.

Whether the functions of those two areas are compatible, however, remains to be seen. The family room-kitchen is likely to become a second living room. And the family may have to search out a new room to put activity, recreation, rumpus and whoopee back in their lives.

Which makes one wonder: what's going on in the living room?

Fescues Sown on Highway Edge

As an experiment, the Lawn Institute at Marysville, O. sowed lawn seed containing fine fescue along the highway border in front of its offices when the highway was reconstructed.

With no fertilization and only occasional mowing, the fine fescues have dominated the planting, the Institute reported.

Such grasses make a more attractive turf than does the typical mixture containing coarser field grasses used by most highway departments.

The Institute recommends a blend of fine-textured species as very appropriate for highways through and approaching urbanized areas and for the median strips seen by millions of travelers.

Can't Maintain Humidity With Normal Home Tasks

Lots of people assume that normal household activities—cooking meals, doing laundry, taking baths and showers—are enough to keep the humidity in a home at a comfortable level this winter, but it just isn't so.

Even if a family of four followed such a routine every day, they'd still need to evaporate the equivalent of a bathtub full of water to maintain the 35 to 40 per cent relative humidity level recommended by comfort experts.

Evaporation (perspiration) from one person, 3-4 pints daily; taking a shower, 1/2 pint; taking a bath, 1/4 pint; mopping an average kitchen floor, 1 quart; doing 10 lbs. of laundry, 5 quarts; preparing meals for 4 people, 1 pint at breakfast, slightly more than 1 pint at lunch, 3 pints at dinner.

This adds up almost 20 pints or 4 1/2 gallons per day. But on a typical winter day, your home may need 30 to 40 gallons of water added to the air. A standard bathtub holds about 40 gallons of water.

The figures, of course, vary according to the outside air temperature and the size of the house. But they do emphasize that an additional source of moisture is needed if your indoor relative humidity is to be at a comfortable level.

Why? Here's how the engineers explain it:

When cold outdoor air infiltrates your home and becomes heated, its capacity to hold moisture increases sharply. Thus, while outdoor air at zero degrees may have 50 per cent humidity, this same air drops to three per cent relative humidity when heated to 70 degrees.

On the average, the air in your home in winter time has only 10 to 15 per cent relative humidity, which is drier than the air in Death Valley or the Sahara Desert.

This dry air literally sucks moisture out of furniture, walls, fabrics, your nose, throat, and skin. Dryness speeds evaporation of perspiration from your skin, and you feel cold even when the thermostat reads 70 or 75 degrees. So you turn the heat up.

A humidifier is needed to bring the indoor relative humidity up to 35 to 40 per cent, the point at which most people feel comfortable. Many humidifiers are inadequate because they put out only a few quarts of water a day.

In fact, while 80 per cent of homes have some sort of humidifier, less than five per cent of these units have sufficient moisture-producing capacity to do the job.

This type of furnace humidifier using rotating bronze evaporating discs (Humid-Aire FH300) is recommended. As the discs turn, they pick up water, hold it in suspension on the fine mesh screening, and expose it for evaporation in the warm air stream from the furnace.

Under extreme laboratory test conditions, this type of humidifier evaporated 68.5 gallons of water per day, far more than the average home would require. In normal use, the humidifier is easily capable of maintaining the proper humidity level even on the coldest days.

Added benefits are the absence of any bothersome lime dust or maintenance problems. The humidifier will work in the hardest water, and requires only periodic draining to keep it in top shape. There are no pads, plates, or belts to clean or replace.

Stanislas Resumes DRC Action in 'Cap Saturday

Racing's Upset-Star-Of-The-Year is ready to resume action at the Detroit Race Course.

Stanislas, owned and trained by Detroit, Mrs. Mildred Kerr, tops a fine field in the $25,000 added DRC Handicap, which highlights the 10-race card at the Livonia track Saturday.

This will mark Stanislas' first start since the victory in the $100,000 added Michigan Mile on Sept. 17. In The Mile, Stanislas conquered Tom Rolfe, Selari, Amberoid, Big Rock Candy, Staunchness and other "big name" stars in the handicap division.

Stanislas not only won, but by a convincing margin of three and one-half lengths.

Willie Shoemaker, the brilliant veteran who rode Tom Rolfe said after The Mile, "There are no excuses to make for my horse's performance. Stanislas won with authority."

After The Mile victory, Mrs. Kerr faced a tough decision in mapping her star's future.

"There were some big races in New York and New Jersey and Chicago in which I could have entered him," she says. "But I decided he had earned a rest and that the best plan to follow was to keep him at the DRC and run him in two handicaps for which he is eligible here."

The first of the two races to which Mrs. Kerr referred is the DRC Handicap this week. The other is the $25,000 Auld Lang Syne Handicap on the DRC's closing day, Nov. 5.

"After the two DRC races, I will take Stanislas and the other horses in my stable to Florida for winter campaigning," Mrs. Kerr says.

In addition to Stanislas, Mrs. Kerr has another outstanding prospect in her string. It is the two-year-old Southern Charmer.

Southern Charmer took one of the top events at the DRC during the past week against six rivals. The event was one of the few tests thus far for two-year-olds at a mile or longer.

Southern Charmer showed a liking for the distance and was clocked in an excellent 1:37.1 for the mile.

Off that performance, Southern Charmer may give Mrs. Kerr a contender in the 1967 three-year-old events next season.

AS THE DRC moves into the final phase of its meeting with 15 racing days remaining, there are several record bids in the making.

Robert Gallimore, who took over the riding lead at the end of the first month, now is closing in on a long-standing mark set by Johnny Sellers during the 1957 season.

Sellers rode 100 winners at the DRC that season and now Gallimore stands an excellent chance to top the mark.

Gallimore has been consistently brilliant during the record bid. He has ridden three winners on six occasions during the DRC meeting, had four winners twice and five winners once. In addition, he rode one or more winners every day for 20 consecutive racing days.

Gallimore has been the contract rider for Detroit owner T. A. Grissom and Trainer Dewey Smith.

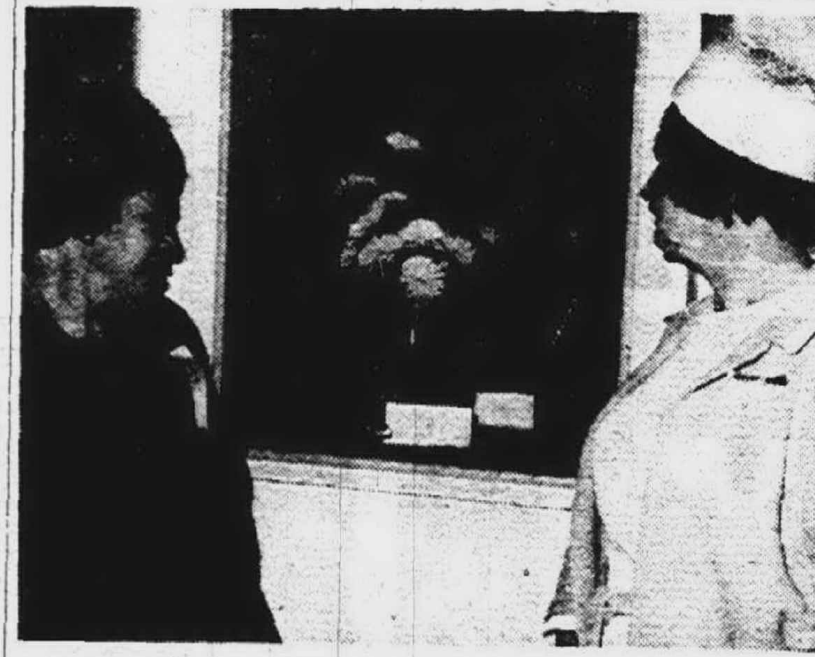

Grissom appears likely to topple the veteran M. H. Van Berg as the DRC's leading owner.

Smith is the DRC's top trainer and his successes here have put him in the forefront nationally.

Smith has trained 51 winners and has a seven victory margin over his nearest rival, Robert L. Irwin, who handles the Van Berg string. The DRC record for a trainer is 66 victories. It was set by Jack Van Berg in the 1964 season.

Road To Rock, owned by Boston sportsman Peter Fuller, pulled a surprise by winning the Turfwriters Cup, which featured the weekend program at the DRC.

Ridden by Frank Callico, Road To Rock ran far back through the early part of the mile and 70 yard event, but then made a great stretch run to beat Dunham, the runner-up, and Papa W., which finished third.

Flashy Redhead Fine Game Bird

ANN ARBOR—The red-head duck cruises at 40 miles an hour but can step up speed to 55 miles an hour if chased, says George Hunt, University of Michigan associate professor of wildlife management.

"This is a splendid game bird of simple, austere beauty," he states. "Not quite as large as the canvas-back to whom it is allied, the male has a brighter chestnut-colored head and shorter bill."

Michigan is apt to see considerable numbers of this species during the spring and fall migration periods, particularly on large water areas like Saginaw Bay, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and the western end of Lake Erie. In the spring, small groups may be seen on Michigan's inland lakes.

Redheads are quite gregarious, says Hunt, and in the fall you might see as many as 20,000 in close-knit flocks, called rafts, resting on the water.

The floating nest is placed among the reeds in shallow water. Nesting has occurred in Michigan but it is a rarity.

From ten to 15 eggs are laid. The young, a bright yellow in color, are precocial, beginning to hunt for food soon after hatching.

The red head dives from the surface of the water—sometimes as deep as 20 feet—for vegetation, which is its principal food. Wild celery, which grows from the bottom of lakes and rivers, is a favorite.

Seedling Tries To Start Life in Second Story

Tree experts are blaming a bird because a tree is growing in a tree here.

A cedar sapling about two feet tall has sprouted in dirt collected in a fork of limbs on a large elm tree.

The cedar's base is about six feet off the ground. A nurseryman said a bird probably dropped the cedar seed in the elm fork.

Softwood lumber accounts for about 75 percent of U.S. production, and hardwood 25 percent.

orite food item. "This bird mews like a kitten when it goes courting," says Hunt. "In fact, you have to be very close and things have to be quiet or you can't hear it at all."

Beat Weeds To Punch

Why wait until spring to face a lawn made unsightly by weeds when it's so easy to kill them in autumn? Now, while weeds still are growing lustily, is the ideal time to apply one of the many products containing 2, 4-D or that chemical plus 2, 4, 5-T.

2, 4-D alone will kill a wide variety of broad-leaved weeds like dandelions and both broad- and narrow-leaved plants. Weeds which are resistant to 2, 4-D alone, like ground ivy or purslane, quickly succumb when treated by the combination of the two chemicals.

It is possible to buy either type of control as a concentrated liquid to be sprayed on weedy areas in the lawn.

Granular forms of weed killers also are on the market. These are applied with a fertilizer spreader.

Whether spraying or spreading, caution is the watchword. Choose a time for application when air is still; protect valuable broad-leaved plants near the area to be treated, since chemicals cannot distinguish between them and weeds.

Work as close to the weeds as possible so there is no drift to nearby desirable plants. Follow directions on the package of weed killer to the letter.

Height of grass at time of treatment makes little difference but wait to mow again until a day or two after treatment.

Keep one sprayer for weed killers alone and mark it so no one will use it for anything else.

No matter how carefully a sprayer is cleaned after use for weed killers there still often remains a slight residue which can kill valuable ornamentals the next time the sprayer is used, especially after months of storage.

Banana Peels Valuable For Fertilizing Plants

Except for a fleeting moment of fame during World War II when banana skins greased the skids at ship launchings, the banana peel has been useful only to a dwindling number of slapstick comedians and circus clowns.

Now, it would seem, that's all about to change. The latest recipe for a prize-winning rose garden calls for banana peels, and there's no telling what that could do for the banana business.

In a recent article in a gardening magazine, a New Orleans gardener, Phyllis Holloway, reported on her success over the past five years using banana peels as rose fertilizer.

This news, for quite obvious reasons, attracted the interest of John M. Fox, president of the United Fruit Company, the world's largest producer and marketer of bananas.

Fox set his research staff to work finding out about the peel's fertilizing properties and they verified Mrs. Holloway's theory that banana peels make an excellent food, not only for rosebushes but for other plants in the garden as well.

United Fruit's researchers report that the slippery yellow skins are high in potash and decay rapidly in soil because of their high water content.

Six to nine peels can be used safely at one time. They should be mashed into the soil around a bush; it's not necessary to cut them up or bury them deep, but they should be covered lightly with soil under the leaf area of the rose plant.

With the banana peel method, United Fruit says, fertilizing can be carried out on a monthly basis during those seasons.

Fertilizing in the real hot or cold months can damage plants.

Roses grow best where drainage is good and roots do not lie in water too long. There should be enough sunshine—early morning rather than hot afternoon. Along with the high potassium (potash) content, United Fruit says, banana peels contain calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, sulfur, sodium, silica and chlorides—all good for plants.

Automatic Irrigation System Helps

If you are replacing your lawn consider installing an automatic irrigation system as long as you are disturbing the soil.

It is comparatively simple to install at such a time. Lay out the proper type of plastic pipe to determine necessary coverage.

Then dig a slit trench a few inches deep with a flat spade, fit in the plastic hose, and cover.

The system can be attached directly to an outdoor faucet, ready to be turned on by hand or by a time clock that activates the valves automatically according to a set schedule.

What better way to have your lawn watered while you are on fall vacation?

Heavier Accent

For open book shelving, take a look at two-inch lumber at your dealer's yard. The extra-thick shelves can furnish a strong accent for both wall and books, when finished to provide a contrast to surroundings.

Working Congressman:

A Day With Billie Farnum

ORDERS OF the day are issued by "the Congressman" in between phone calls. The staff reports early and leaves the office about 7:30 p.m. with no over-time. When asked why the devotion to duty every answer came out the same—"It's so darn exciting—so much is happening and something different every day." (l-r) Eliot Stanley, Washington Administrative Assistant from Oklahoma; Tim Carroll, Legislative Assistant from Oklahoma; Geraldine Rice, Personal Secretary.

GREETED BY FAITHFUL Ernest Petinaud who has been head waiter in the U.S. House of Representatives dining room for 45 years. He greets Congressman Farnum morning, Congressmen gather daily for inspirational words to see them through a day that calls for patience and wisdom at every turn.

A DAILY RITUAL, Congressman Farnum enters the "Sanctum Sanctorum," Committee Room on Appropriations. Everything within is classified and no one but the members of the committee, the secretary, and witnesses are allowed to be in the inner committee room during sessions. Here is where the Congressman spends at least two to three hours every day.

FOLLOWING a grueling "mark-up" meeting the Appropriations Sub-Committee informally discuss activities of the meeting. A "Mark-Up" is serious business and every Congressman above has to vote on the appropriation in committee and then again on the House Floor. These are veterans, with the exception of Congressman Farnum from the 19th District, their responsibility is grave. Congressman Farnum was appointed to this committee because of his years in government as Assistant Secretary of State and Auditor General of the State of Michigan. He had considerable fiscal experience before coming to the Hill. (Left to right) Congressman Laird (R) from Wisconsin; Congressman Fogarty (D), chairman of the Sub-Committee; Congressman Farnum; Congressman Mahon (D) Texas; Congressman Mathews (D) Florida.

The staff claims he tries to do it all, read every letter, answer every phone call.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE? The reading material in this closet covers $112 billion dollars worth of legislation. Every piece of it has to be read by Congressman Farnum as a member of the Appropriations Committee. Rather than cut 5 per cent across the Board as suggested by some, the Appropriations Committee is working diligently to pare away bureaucracy. So far they have managed to pare $169,000,000 from the President's budget.

Farmington To Get New Post Office

WASHINGTON, D.C. Oct. 14—Congressman Billie S. Farnum (D-19th District-Pontiac) announced in Washington today the approval of a new postal facility for the City of Farmington.

Plans for the new building indicate that it is to have a net interior of 9854 square feet, a platform area of 2500 square feet, and an open area of 51,690 square feet. This is a substantial increase in size over the present facility

Senator Hart Will Speak At Wayne U.

Senator Philip A. Hart (Dem., Mich.), will be the main speaker at Wayne State University's 18th Annual Journalism Day, Monday, October 24. Hart will speak at 2:30 p.m. in Room 101, State Hall, on campus.

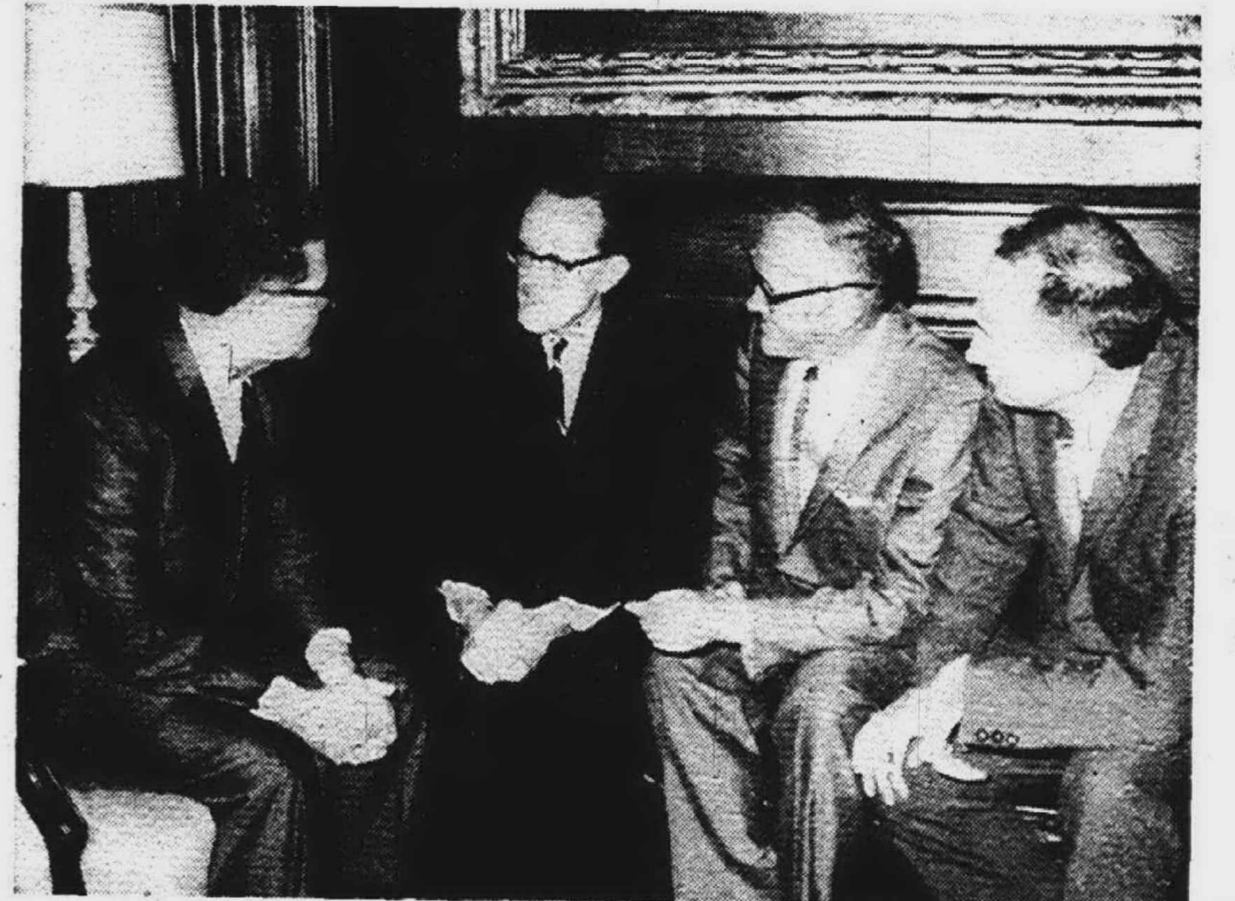

He will discuss the relationship between the press and the Senate, including his own experiences with reporters and correspondents on the Washington beat.

which has a net interior of 6528 square feet, a platform area of 500 square feet, and an open area of 10,060 square feet.

Approval of the new facility is being sent to the Regional Office of the United States Post Office Department in Chicago.

Following the selection of a suitable site by a real estate officer from the Regional Office, bids will be reviewed. Construction of the new facility will begin after the awarding of a contract by the Regional Office.

Congressman Farnum expressed his satisfaction upon hearing of the approval of this much needed facility and stated his intention to continue to strive for postal improvements in the district.

Pledges Fair Election

Congressman William D. Ford (Democrat-15th District which includes Garden City-Westland) has signed the Code of Fair Campaign Practices, joining with other candidates who have pledged to conduct their campaigns solely on the basis of issues.

The Congressman said also that he would instruct his supporters to refrain from any unfair practices in the forthcoming campaign, preceding the November 8 General Election.

By unfair practices, Congressman Ford said, he refers to whispering campaigns, false rumors, distortion and misrepresentation of facts, anonymous leaflets, personal vilification, slanderous accusations, last-minute smears, and similar tactics.

"I intend to base my campaign, as I have always done in the past, on basic principles of decency, honesty and fair play," Congressman Ford said. "I believe in vigorous, but fairly conducted campaigns, so that the voters may exercise their constitutional right to a free choice in the election."

The Code of Fair Campaign Practices was drafted by the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, of Washington, a non-partisan organization devoted to fighting unethical campaign methods.

Who Can Be Cold With New England Beans On The Stove?

By Faith Gillespie

The place where the action was last week was in New Hampshire. Not people action, nature action.

We were there, and it was glorious. The great forests of the White Mountains were blazing with color, color so amazing that if an artist were to capture all the tones exactly in oils, you'd swear it was phony.

The dark evergreens heightened the yellows and golds and browns and rusts, and the red maples vibrated in crimson flame. It was really something.

Old Mount Washington, the highest peak in the East, caps the scene, its barren crest, some 2000 feet above the frost line, rolled into the clouds.

There had been snow on the mountain, and private cars were turned away from the toll road to the top. The station wagons, still called "stages," were making the climb, so we went up.

The day was fair and warm, but the young man who was the stage driver was wearing a fur-edged parka. We buttoned our light coats with some unease, and were on our way.

The view of the great valley was superb as we ascended, rising above mounded slopes carpeted outrageously with color.

Gradually the air chilled, and the trees got scrubby, and then there were no trees at all. We were above the frost line. The wind was stronger. Clouds wisped quickly past. Rime frost stood out at right angles from posts and rocks.

The next thing we knew, we had driven into instant winter. At the top of the mountain an eerie blizzard raged, a cloud blizzard with ferocious wind, clocked just then at 75 miles an hour.

It was 17 degrees above zero. Although no snow was falling, we couldn't see a foot in front of us—we were surrounded by icy cloud. It was spooky and splendid.

Then we came down, back into the benign autumn day, gazing back with awe at the mighty mountain.

We drove across the White Mountains on the beautiful Kancamagus Highway, where white birches punctuate the palette of the mountainsides, past the Old Man of the Mountain, and up to the Green Mountains of Vermont. After spending some time at Stowe, where we stayed at the Trapp Family Lodge, we forded Lake Champlain by ferry, and crossed the Adirondacks. We left the mountains behind with regret, but then we found another kind of beauty at Alexandria Bay, in New York at the Thousand Islands.

I brought back a recipe from a New Hampshire friend. I'm hoping it will evoke lovely memories for us, and I believe you will enjoy it too.

NEW ENGLAND BAKED BEANS: Soak one pound navy beans in cold water overnight. In the morning, boil the beans for 15 minutes or when blowing on them causes the skin to curl slightly. Add one teaspoon baking soda while beans are boiling. Drain, reserving liquor, and place about half of the beans into a baking pot. Add 1/2 pound salt pork which has been washed, scraped, and scored. Pour in the rest of the beans. Level off (it says here) so the pork is even with the beans. Place in a cup measure one tablespoon dry mustard, one teaspoon baking soda, and 2 1/2-3 tablespoons light molasses. Mix and then fill cup with hot bean liquor; stir and pour over beans. Add enough bean liquor or hot water to cover beans. Cover and place in 200 degree oven all day. Add liquid if they begin to dry out. Half an hour before serving, remove the cover to allow browning. The place where the action is this week is Michigan. If you missed New Hampshire this time, just drive out to Kensington or the Huron Valley. There may not be mountains, but the color is there in all its glory. Then home to savory-baked beans. Who needs New Hampshire?

Russian Roulette on Road Is a Dangerous Game

With the amount of traveling, roads are jammed in every direction. A disturbingly large number of those motorists and their passengers will never reach their destination, and of those who do, a proportion will not get back home. They will finish up in a hospital bed—or worse.

The laws of probability are inexorable in this massive variant or not too great an increase, on the previous year's figures.

Predictably, the motorists will lay the blame on the authorities for failing to improve a road here, straighten out a dangerous curve there, install traffic lights at a bad junction or do something about an insidious black spot.

No doubt, this is true up to a point. Road improvements do reduce accidents but this fact should not be allowed to obscure the overwhelming reason for the ghastly toll.

It cannot be repeated too often that the motorist himself is the prime cause of accidents—far more important, even, than mechanical defects in the vehicles. Police and road safety officials are perplexed by the problem of getting this simple message across to drivers. Certainly, far too many motorists fail, consciously or unconsciously, to adapt their speed and conduct to the prevailing conditions. Even the most careful driver suffers the occasional lapse in concentration—and there, possibly, lies the kernel of the matter. Human beings are not machines. We are very fallible, and prone to silly mistakes. Nevertheless each man owes it to his fellows to discipline himself as far as is humanly possible.

Increasingly restrictive measures in the form of speed limits, police patrols and vehicle checks are inevitable. It is essential, though, that such a campaign be accompanied by redoubled efforts to bring home to the motorist that the question of life and death is very largely in his own hands.

When a motorist complains at the high cost of motor vehicle insurance, he usually thinks in terms of the cost of repairing dented coachwork or a crumpled wing. He would do well to think in terms of repairing battered human beings, because that is immeasurably most important than any car wreck.

Any man who has mown down a fellow human and seen the consequences in terms of pain and injury or death is likely to be a more careful, more considerate driver henceforward, but society cannot afford to allow each motorist to learn the lesson the hard way.

A sportsman who wielded his rifle with the same casual abandon as so many drivers handle their equally lethal motor cars would quickly find himself in trouble. The dangerous driver deserves the same social ostracism as the dangerous gunman.

Decalog of Advice Is Offered to Guide Parents

(It is the opinion of the editor, the pearls of wisdom written below should be missed by no parent. To give further circulation to it, permission was requested and granted from The Detroit Free Press to reprint the Sidney Harris column of Wednesday, Sept. 7.)

A COLLEGE CONFERENCE on "Parents and Children" has asked me to contribute a few lines to its symposium, since I am unable to attend in person.

Knowing full well that almost all advice on child rearing is futile, I am nevertheless tempted to suggest the following Decalog for Parents:

Thou shalt honor no other gods but God, steadfastly refusing to make thy child a minor deity in thy household.

Thou shalt make no promises that are broken, whether these be promises of pleasure or promises of punishment; for unless thy child learns to respect thy word, he will not respect any person.

Thou shalt teach thy child by example, and not by precept; for a parent who teaches a child religion and morality, and yet lives by greed, passion and hypocrisy must expect his conduct to be followed and his counsel ignored.

THOU SHALT WORSHIP the Sabbath communally, with the family, and not seek solitary pleasures, which plunge each member of the family into social and spiritual isolation when they should be most together.

Thou shalt instill no fears into thy child but rather impress upon him that love casteth out fear; and that he who commits no wrongs because of fear is merely weak, whereas he who pursueth righteousness because of love is truly strong.

Thou shalt help thy child accept the variety of mankind with joy and wonder in God's creative originality; and not breed in him that terrible false pride of superiority, which stunts and twists the personality of man.

Thou shalt be not too much a parent allowing thy child freely to make his own mistakes, and not protecting him unduly from the painful consequences of his errors.

Thou shalt not expect nor demand love from thy child simply because thou art his parents; but thou shalt try to win his respect as a person by justice, humor, and understanding.

Thou shalt not force thy child to develop in thine own image, but assist him in becoming the best kind of person his own nature requires.

Thou shalt look daily into thine own heart and examine there thy motives; for when thy motives are unpure, love curdles into possessiveness, and thy child is no longer a creature of God but an instrument of Man's misguided passion.

Education and 3 Districts

Westland voters in the Nankin Mills and Wayne Community Schools will go to the polls the week before Christmas to vote on a plan which would merge the smaller Nankin Mills district with the larger Wayne district.

However, the Livonia School District citizens and officials are keeping an eye on the campaign (quiet up to now) and the results of the Dec. 19 election.

The question on the ballot will probably be one of the most important one Nankin Mills voters will ever have to decide since public education is one of the most important factors in our society but also because the school tax represents the largest portion of the annual tax bill.

Although the Dec. 19 election directly concerns only the Wayne and Nankin Mills voters, it seems that the history book on the issue, which dates back to 1956, also includes the Livonia district.

Over the past years, most of the citizens in the Nankin Mills seem to favor the splitting of the district along the Hines Parkway with the north half becoming part of the Livonia system and the south half merging with the Wayne district.

Livonia School District officials have made no bones about their opposition to this while the Wayne officials have remained a bit more neutral.

But it seems at this time that the future and fate of the education of several thousand Nankin Mills students deserves more consideration than that.

The Observer hopes that the Nankin Mills and Wayne school boards can come to some kind of joint direction for their voters before the Dec. 19 election. But the Livonia school figures should also be part of the picture—and the sooner the better.

Editor:

I would like to remind the residents of North Westland of a meeting coming up on Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall. At that time the Planning Commission will decide whether to reject or approve a petition to rezone 10 acres of property owned by Stan Kostan from R-1 residential to R-2 for the purpose of erecting 160 units of two story apartments.

I am sure that those of you who attended the public hearing know how important it is for all of you to attend this Planning Commission meeting. Only by a show of force can we convince this Commission that we are all against it.

Two hundred residents of this Community signed a petition against this. Now let those same 200 residents show how sincere they are by taking the time to attend this meeting and any others that involve this area.

I am sure that everyone feels quite strongly against having apartments invading our choice residential properties. But it is not enough to just sign a petition and sit back and wait for others to fight against it.

It is a community problem and it needs the support of the whole community by attending all meetings now and in the future.

If this proposal goes through, it will be because the Planning Commission doesn't care about the home owners of Westland, the residents of Westland don't care enough about the community they live in to fight for their home owners rights.

Let us show them we care by attending this meeting on Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

See you all at City Hall.

Admires JBS

I am a great admirer of those courageous people who dare to be members of the John Birch Society.

The Communists, and their many leftist followers, know that this fearless society is one of their most potent enemies. That is why, the enemies of freedom, are leveling some of their most intense propaganda at The John Birch Society, to render them helpless. Judging from the many fine Americans who have succumbed to the communist line of confusion, deceit and lies, their propaganda has been a major success and most effective.

By letting down the guards that protect American freedom, people serve the Communist cause, often unknowingly, when it was obvious that Mr. Eisenhower had done just that. Robert Welsh, in his great concern and love for our country's welfare, made a very human and understandable statement, that Eisenhower, was either very naive or a communist.

This was all the enemy needed to twist and blow up, all out of proportion, to their use and needs. To make their opponents appear ridiculous and irresponsible is their purpose and aim. Sadly, there seem to be many helpers ready and willing to echo their subtle lies. To "Divide and Conquer" is one of the Communists most potent weapons.

May God speed the day, and it is coming, when "lukewarm" Americans finally awaken to what is happening to their hard earned freedoms and lend a hand, and not a hammer, to these dedicated, humble, God-loving Americans.

Fellow Americans, let us not be deceived for "the devil is a liar and the father of it." St. John 8: 44. The forces of slavery have not lost sight of their goal to "bury us."

Is it any wonder that, in their hurt, many of the society, have become over zealous and critical? Who of you, their critics, could have enough love for your God and country to guard its freedoms, by standing firm and unyielding, while all these insults and abuses were being hurled at you?

"I know thy works, that thou art neither cold or hot.

So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth." Rev. 3: 15 and 16.

For Mr. Lowe

Editor: My congratulations to Mr. Hammer who is promising to show up for work on time and applying the "golden rule" in his courtroom. (I assume he means to apply it outside the courtroom also). But, I hardly think these statements can be used as a campaign platform—I have always felt this was an everyday rule which applied to any responsible citizen.

For my tax money, I'm interested in prevention of crime instead of prosecution and punishment. Mr. Lowe's platform shows an understanding of today's problems and a straightforward attempt to do something about them. If it takes a cup of coffee to get his ideas out to the public then I'll help pass the cups!

OBSERVING the Scene...

By MYRA CHANDLER

There is more honesty, forthrightness, and less duplicity among the youth of our nation than any other segment.

The most poignant bit of philosophy out of the South Pacific came from a song, "You have to teach them to hate—before they're six, seven or eight."

We are born honest, loving without reservation. It is adults that work steadily on children, teaching them to lie and cheat. Not in words but by actions.

Seasoned speakers have told me they might go before a group of adults and fake a speech—most of the audience do not seriously listen anyway—but not before a group of high school seniors or young college students. This group not only listens, but they want answers to questions.

No wonder some politicians quake at the thought, Proposal No. 1 on the Nov. 8 ballot might pass. If it does they can refrain from the usual handshake, "howareya" routine. If it does pass there will be 400,000 18-to-20 year olds in Michigan eligible to vote.

The Observer not only endorses this proposal for all of the usual reasons, but also because we firmly believe it will put our double-talking, charming, rouge politicians on their guard and will bring fresh enthusiasm for the politicians to "level"; to face their responsibility and behave like statesmen. Anything less a youth will see through. This group has enough courage, doesn't yet own enough to be a "fat-cat," but will speak up with a vote for the one who will "measure-up".

Can you imagine a Jack McDonald, for instance, who is running for Congress in the 19th district, facing a group of 18-year-olds and telling them how he supports education when he personally, as Township Supervisor, torpedoed one bond issue in South Redford Township and did not lift a finger to support Community College for Redford Township, but instead cooperated with those opposing it for the township. MacDonal couldn't get away with passing out cards in one precinct in the morning for one candidate for State Representative, and in the afternoon for his opponent. Adults might say "that's politics" but young adults would resent it and repudiate it at the polls.

Or, in reverse, what young person would not support the vigor and vision of a man like Jack Kennedy; or appreciate the strong and fresh Bob Griffin image; or the courage it took for a shoo-in candidate for Congress from the 5th District in George Charles Weltner to resign because he did not choose to run on the same ticket as Lester G. Maddox the negro-hater and Governor candidate. Whether the 18-year-old gets the vote or not this articulate young Weltner might well be our President one day. Young People will reward his kind of courage.

Other more obvious reasons leaders are supporting the vote for 18, 19, 20-year-olds are because they are dying for the Country. Why shouldn't they have a voice in who sends them to war; their Congressman, their Senator and their commander-in-chief, the President of the United States.

It is the American way, participation must have representation.

This age group pays income and property tax. They can be tried in adult courts.

They are excused from compulsory education and any form of aid to dependent children, social security—they are no longer children. But they are not considered adult until 21. To be three years in limbo is unnecessary.

They are, at the peak of their prowess in education and therefore are better informed. Their literacy rate is higher than in any older age group. Forty per cent of them are in college.

Leaders of Michigan, beginning with Governor Romney support the proposition. Others are Congressman Alvin Bentley of Owosso; Walter Reuther, president of UAW; Dr. John Hannah, president of Michigan State U.; John Feikens and Damon Keither, co-chairman of Michigan Civil Rights Commission; Dr. William Keast, president of Wayne State U.; Edward Mecher, commander of DAV; Boniface Maille, state commander of VFW; Rev. Malcolm Carrop, president of U. of D.; U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart; Congressman Billie Farnum of 19th District; Congressman William Ford of the 15th Congressional District.

Both GOP and Democrats have endorsed Proposition No. 1.

If there are questions on the vote, or you would like to have a discussion, either yourself or in a group, you may call Rolf Dietrich, chairman of the Michigan Region. He is a Plymouth resident and can be reached at GL 3-0784.

Explaining the Governor

Editor:

Referring to Bruce E. Duke's bewilderment at Romney stating he was both conservative and liberal; it is really not hard to explain; like being gentle AND firm. Anyway, a conservative is one who is moderate, adhering to sound principles, conservative, and staying within safe and lawful bounds—that's our Governor! A liberal is one who bestows in a noble way, generosity, giving, not constricted, free, one who emphasizes liberty and the ethical content of Christianity, liberal in mind, independent in opinion... that's our Governor—yours AND mine... may his tribe increase! LILLIAN AITKEN DOTY

OMBUDSMAN

(A new feature in The Observer Newspapers — we will do our best to be a go-between, a red-tape cutter as the name indicates. When you have exhausted all other measures on a problem write to us (keep it short, please) and we'll see if we can help. Yes, John Q, you can fight city hall — with your own Ombudsman!)

Dear Ombudsman:

The mayor, during the last campaign, bragged about how he made Federal money available for sewers. With money available from three separate Federal agencies for sewers, why is the administration refusing to extend the sewers to the Northwest area?

They claim it would not be financially feasible and the population does not warrant sewers, but how can it be developed without them? They say that our taxes would have to be raised if they extended them to our area — then why have we been paying taxes all these years at the same rate as the rest of the citizens who enjoy all the facilities? Shouldn't we be taxed as farmland?

A "BOONDOCK" CITIZEN

Dear Boondock: Sorry about that sir: but since you are not using your land for farming, but for speculative purposes, you must suffer the inconvenience of no sewers. Now if you would develop your own property a sewer will be extended — but as long as you are sitting on it, waiting for a land developer, the sewer will not be extended until the land is developed.

Just Chatter... by W. W. Edgar

You won't find his name listed with the greats among the college football coaches.

His name never has been linked with such immortals as Fielding H. Yost, Bob Zuppke, "Pop" Warner, Amos Alonzo Stagg or Knute Rockne.

But for years Tom Keady was a name to be conjured with in the small college ranks and many are the tales they still tell about his psychological approach to the gridiron problems of his day.

In the early 20's Tom coached at Lehigh University, just up the hill a bit from the Bethlehem Steel Works in Bethlehem, Pa. and his teams roamed the gridiron giving better than they took. And in the process Tom became quite a character and a legendary figure where steel men gather.

One of my first meetings with Tom was an unforgettable one. For it gave me a better picture of the man than ever could be painted.

In was close to midnight and we were walking along after attending a meeting and decided to drop in the neighborhood tavern to remedy our dry throats.

As we stood at the bar, imbibing a few "soft" drinks—neither of us drank—Tom turned and said, "I think I hear some familiar voices coming from that side room."

With that, we walked across the room, and Tom opened the door. What we saw would have upset most coaches in these days of the Joe Don Looney's, Bobby Lanes, etc. For seated at the table were four of his varsity players, including his brother, Jim, a husky half back.

"Just in time to buy a drink", the coach said, took a place at the table. There wasn't a dissenting voice and for the next two hours we had a grand visit. There was no faulting of the players—just a fanning bee interspersed with the sound of filling up the glasses.

We finally left and as we walked toward the Lehigh campus, the coach whispered to me, "Don't miss practice this afternoon."

I didn't. And I'll never forget what I saw.

Coach Tom ordered a surprise scrimmage and said to his quarterback, "I want you to call only two plays, but keep repeating them. I want you to send these two backs at these two tackles (the four players who had been with us at the refreshment emporium).

For the next three hours the drill went on until the players could barely stand. Finally, Tom called a halt, and as he walked away he called, "See you down at the tavern tonight."

"Like h-I you will", the players panted. It was Tom's way of disciplining those who broke training. There was no running to the newspapers with the story. Tom handled it his way.

And I recall one year, on the day of the big game against Lafayette, Tom gathered the players in a big circle on the gym floor and called them, one by one, to stand up. He'd talk to them, give them a pat and send them out on the field.

All the while his brother, Jim, sat there smiling and winking, as much as saying, "There'll be none of that for me."

Finally Jim was the last player left. Ordered to stand, Coach Tom walked over to him, placed his hand on Jim's shoulder and there followed one of the most dramatic moments I ever have seen.

Looking him right in the eye, the Coach said gruffly, "Your name's Keady, I believe. Well, Jim I'm your brother Tom, and up in New England this afternoon there's an aged gray-haired woman waiting to hear how her boys did in their big game."

Jim's head bowed and he sort of choked.

Then Tom continued: "What kind of news am I going to send her—good news or bad news. Well, Jim, it better be good. If it isn't, just stay out there and I'll see that you get a decent burial." With that he sent his Brother Jim down the chute to the playing field.

There wasn't an inch gained against Jim that afternoon. Tom Keady, the coach, had gained his point, with his brother, Jim, as a pawn.

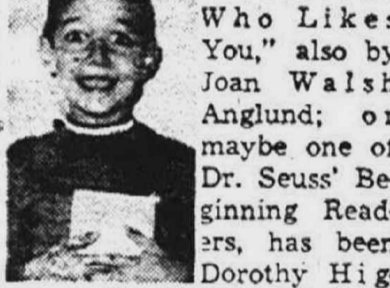

No wonder he is a legendary figure down on Old South Mountain, hard by the Bethlehem Steel Works.

"Little Book Store," A True Success Story

By GEORGIA MOSSMAN

That six-year-old Jay can go 'round the corner and discover the book he's holding; or "A Friend Is Someone Who Likes You," also by Joan Walsh Anglund; or maybe one of Dr. Seuss's Beginning Readers, has been Dorothy Higgins' "dream" for more than 10 years.

JAY for more than 10 years.

Dorothy, who is also known as Mrs. Harold Higgins, "the librarian at Cleveland School," "the lady who lives on Melrose," and "Mother" to six children, realized that "dream" when she opened "The Little Book Shop," less than three months ago.

Being a resident of Livonia for many years, and knowing and loving books, was the foundation for her long-term plan to have a book store, in Livonia. When some of her library patrons wanted to buy books off the school shelves, not knowing where else they might be available, this provided her with further impetus.

When there was still no other store specializing in reading materials in a city of 100,000 people, and a building nearby became vacant, she "set up shop."

Although Mrs. Higgins will not be stocked to capacity until Christmas, she already has over 2,000 "titles" from which to choose. There are good things to read in paper back or hard cover; for all ages and interests, and they are available in a variety of prices, beginning as low as 15 cents.

For "free," she has filled one of her shelves with old copies of National Geographic, which she allows her young visitors to clip pictures from for school reports.

Mrs. Higgins has tried to maintain a well-balanced stock of fiction and non-fiction; she has a wide selection of magazines; some small gift items (with the Beatrix Potter books and figurines being her great pride); and she has offered to be of service to her visitors by displaying samples of Christmas cards that are sold for charitable purposes.

In addition to the current best and better sellers, she also carries a complete line of educational paperbacks; scholastic titles; data guides; and high school and college Review Notes. Also many of the books for "assigned reading" in the schools are available for Mrs. Higgins is working closely with the teachers to make the necessary books more readily available to students.

Livonia's only book store carries all 38 titles in "The Wizard of Oz" series; the "classic" Hardy Boys and Bobsey Twins' books (some in paper back for 39 cents); "how-to" and special interest books ranging from "A Seal's World" to "Funniest Fan Letters to Batman;" stories about religion; a wide variety of cook books; and a listing of every book presently in print, any of which can be ordered for delivery within three weeks. Plymouth Road, between Hubbard and Merriman. Hours are 1-4 and 7-9:30 p.m. Or call 425-6050.

HEALTH FOR ALL: By JUNE HART

Emphysema: A Counter Weapon

Good news can crop up in the most unlikely places. There is good news these days, for example, about the normally grim subject of emphysema—the "Sneaky Pete" of major lung diseases. An important step has been taken toward counterattacking this insidious ailment; if successful, the measure may help turn the tide of its disturbing increase shown during recent years.

The counterattack takes the form of a new program mounted by the Queens (New York) Tuberculosis and Health Association in cooperation with the Queens Hospital Center. The former organization, which has conducted an emphysema clinic for several years, is now undertaking to screen 5,000 working men between the ages of 40 and 64 who show no outward symptom of disease. Emphysema attacks principally men, and this is the most vulnerable age group.

The significance of this move becomes evident when we realize one of emphysema's outstanding characteristics. It usually creeps up on its victim without warning, damages the lungs without betraying any visible symptoms for a considerable time, and in advanced cases makes the act of breathing a desperate struggle. So stealthy is the disease that a relatively small proportion of its victims realize that they are ill until it has become well entrenched.

The Queens project, supported by the federal health service's Chronic Respiratory Diseases Branch, will include chest X-rays, test of lung function, and the taking of medical histories. Those in whom disease symptoms are discovered will be cared for as outpatients at the emphysema clinic. Long-range treatment programs will be planned, with monthly clinic visits.

By detecting and treating emphysema in its early stage, it is hoped that results can be achieved in arresting the disease.

$$ "Industry Inquiries" $$ Should I Begin Investing Now?

(Mr. Wysong welcomes all inquiries on investing. Send your questions to THE OBSERVER, "INVESTING INQUIRIES," 33040 Five Mile Road, Livonia, Michigan. The answers are the opinion of Laurence A. Wysong who is considered highly qualified on the subject.)

Q. I am 26 years old with $200.00 a month over and above our household and living expenses going into a savings account. My feeling is that now would be a good time to start a stock investment program, but I am in the dark as to how much to invest. Also can you recommend any books on the stock market?

A. May I commend you on your wisdom? A stock investment program started now in the present depressed market should have satisfactory long term results. The opportunities to purchase stocks at their present low levels have been far and few between in the last ten years.

In reviewing your living expenses requirements my opinion would be that you could invest $100.00 monthly. I would adjust this figure from time to time depending upon your situation. To help you on your way towards a successful investment program I have forwarded, under separate letter, a number of publications on the stock market.

Theatre Ticket Could Buy Life

Did you know President Jack Kennedy might be alive today if Lee Harvey Oswald had had the benefit of a place such as Northwest Child Guidance Clinic?

How many potential killers are stalking our classrooms this minute? The Clinic's entire aim and purpose is to catch these disturbed young people while they can still be drawn into a productive society—and where they will have a place. Their work is important. But their funds are inadequate. Many school districts, including Livonia send a long drem to the Clinic but do not support it financially. The Livonia School Board, for one, has refused steadfastly to support this Clinic, that stands ready to help with highly qualified people in 16 school districts in our area.

The Clinic Board, rather than see the doors close, are having a six-week theatre party. Charles Shafer, owner of the Quo Vadis Theatre located on Wayne Road across from Hudson's Westland has cooperated and proceeds from every theatre ticket sold from Oct. 12 through Nov. 30 will benefit the Northwest Child Guidance Clinic.

This is a chance, as a citizen, to have an evening's entertainment and assist a disturbed child find a new life. This child is not only your enemy but his own. Tickets are available by calling Mrs. Louis Pearlman, GA 4-4317, or by stopping at the Livonia Observer office, 33050 Five Mile Road in Livonia.

street improvements: increased traffic flow caused by the construction of I-96 and I-275; and zoning to permit future commercial growth.

The CBD implementation committee, a 30-man advisory group, was established by the City Commission to make a thorough study of the CBD plan over a period of six months or less.

It is being assisted by the City Commission, Planning Board, City Planners and the Chamber of Commerce.

The following six action teams will immediately begin to search for ways and means of implementing the plan, suggest changes and determine priorities:

BEAUTIFICATION—Chairman Wayne Dunlap, Margaret Wilson, Cal Strom, Myrilla Schrader and Lee Christensen. Group to meet Nov. 3.

PARKING—Chairman Ralph Lorenz, Robert Reid, James Taylor, Robert Beyer, Robert Barbour, Rev. Peter Schweitzer, Herman Bakhaus, and Kenneth Fisher. Meet in early November.

FINANCE—Chairman Don Sutherland, Harold Guenther and Charles Engstrom. Meet on Oct. 18.

STORE FRONTS—Chairman Wallace Loucks, Don Zander, Terry West and Margaret Dunning. Meet Oct. 18.

TRAFFIC CIRCULATION—Chairman Thomas O'Hara, William Saxton, James Buckingham and Joe West.

LAND DEVELOPMENT—Chairman Harold Fischer, William Fehlig, Robert Reid, Pat Finlan and Loren Gould. Meet Oct. 20.

Members of the Planning Commission assigned to the action group included: Parking—Ron Coosaia; Finance—William Fronk; Beautification and Open Space—Ike Porter and George Bauer; Traffic Circulation—James Warren; and Land Development—Art Shepard.

The groups will hold a general meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall to discuss additional plans and progress to that point.

City Fathers Revive Play Center Talks

The possibility of the City of Plymouth acquiring a 40-acre site on Beck Road near Northville for a recreation center was received Monday night.

Just as the regular Commission meeting was about to adjourn, Commissioner George Lawton asked that a committee be formed to make a study of the site again with the thought of acquiring it "before it is too late" and guaranteeing the city suitable recreational facilities.

He pointed out that an investigating trip had been made more than a year ago, but that nothing came of it.

U.N. Day Proclaimed

Monday, Oct. 24, has been proclaimed by President Johnson and Governor George Romney as United Nations Day in honor of the 21st anniversary of the signing of the United Nations Charter.

At the request of Plymouth's U.N. Day Chairman, Raymond D. Homer, the International Relations Class of Plymouth High School is preparing a series of presentations about the United Nations.

"We are planning to give team lectures to all interested junior high and elementary school social studies classes about the complex organization of the United Nations," said Homer.

"Having accumulated many benefits during each year of the existence of the U.N., it is only fitting and proper that we remind our neighbors and ourselves of them.

"Every president of the U.S. in office since the U.N. was founded in 1945 has shared in the belief that the U.N. is an essential element in efforts to achieve a world peace with freedom and justice for all.

"The U.N. needs everyone's support in order to continue promoting world peace and establishing good international relations. Your help in observing U.N. Day will be greatly appreciated."

And he argued the time was now ripe to take serious action.

For a moment it was agreed that the idea should be turned over to the Recreation Commission for study and recommendation.

But Commissioner McKeon pointed out that this Commission included members from the Township and wasn't in a position to decide anything for the city's acquisition of the ground.

At this point Mayor Houk named a committee consisting of the City Manager, Richard Blodgett, Commissioners James McKeon, James Jabara and George Lawton to make the study and report back as soon as possible.

He explained that the proposed site is "one of the best in the entire surrounding area for a city recreation center."

Choralaires To Sing for Methodists

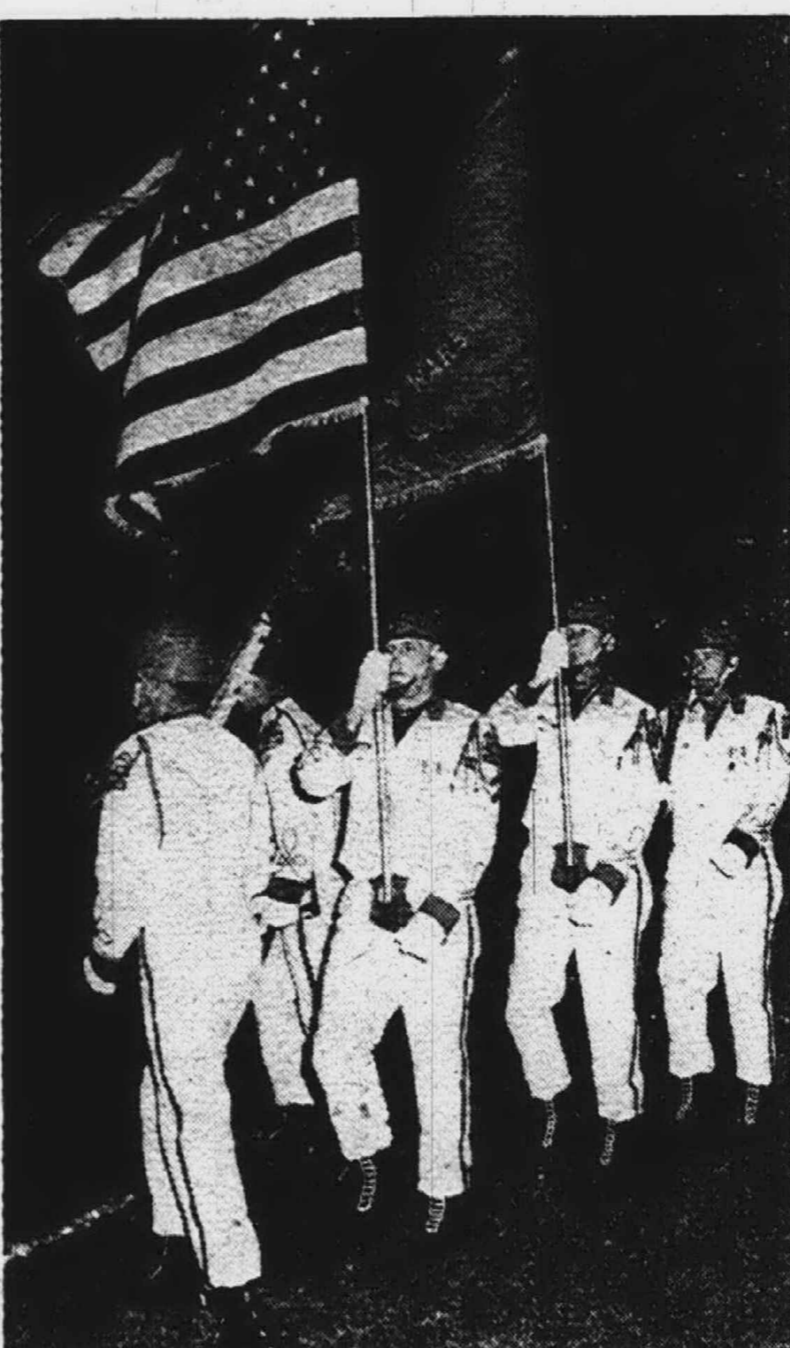

The Lutheran Choralaires will present a program in the First Methodist Church in Plymouth Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m. with Gerry List as director.

Twenty men of song celebrate 20 years of singing... that in a nutshell describes the history of the Lutheran Choralaires. Organized at the conclusion of World War II primarily as a service organization for the Church, the Lutheran Choralaires since have expanded their musical presentations for all kinds of Church, civic, industry and organizational affairs in personal appearances and on radio and television.

Their repertoire includes sacred choral works, classical and concert selections, show and modern tunes—music that has put the Lutheran Choralaires "on stage" for performances such as the silver anniversary broadcast of the International Lutheran Hour, Mass Rallies for the Lutheran Layman's League, the Presidential Prayer Breakfast for the National Jaycee Convention, National Junior Achievement functions, plus appearances with a host of celebrities such as Dinah Shore, Pat Suzuki, the Steppe Brothers, Wes Harrison and other stage personalities, and in concert as guest artists with the Scandinavian Symphony Society and Dr. Leonard Smith's Detroit Concert Band.

Members of the Choralaires come from a number of local communities, Detroit, Dearborn, Redford, Livonia, Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods, St. Clair Shores, Warren, Bloomfield and Huntington Woods, and each is active in his own local Lutheran parish.

Their business activities are just as diversified, representing fields in accounting, architecture, engineering, teaching, commercial art, printing, plant managing, computer operations, sales, advertising and promotion.

PRECISION MARCHING state championship color guard of VFW Mayflower Post 6695 added color to the homecoming activities as they smartly paraded to the flagpole for the flag-raising ceremonies.

Carol Crowned Queen

Then came a number dedicated to newspaper carrier boys of the area and across the nation in honor of National Newspaper Week.

It was followed by the singing of the Plymouth High Alma Mater with Nat Sibbold leading the singing and Nelson directing the band.

Then came the dramatic presentation of the Homecoming attendants, the four senior candidates and their escorts.

Plymouth High Mayor Darre Disbier introduced each of the six before receiving the final report of the election committee from the homecoming co-chairmen.

There was a moment of silence as he opened the envelope and then a huge roar spread over the crowd when he announced, "The 1966 homecoming queen is Carol Engstrom."

Carol received congratulations from her three classmates and then was officially crowned by 1965 Queen Pamela McAllister. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engstrom.

That was the beginning of a busy 24 hours for Her Majesty. She took her place on the throne of the senior float. Then Queen Carol and her court were escorted around the field for all to see the new homecoming ruler.

Carol ruled over the activities through the traditional Homecoming Ball Saturday night in the school gym where she and her escort led the historic coronation waltz.

Meanwhile, the band concluded the Friday evening activities with a post-game performance that found very few leaving the stands.

disposal rates based on the gross water used.

She made a motion that the Township do nothing about the present rates for six months until the Board learns by experience what the affect will be on the net profits.

Supervisor McEwen reported to the Board that the funds allotted to the Fire Department for operations during the fiscal year are down to a balance of $2,000 with almost six months remaining.

Wheel Trueing Gives Council New Worries

The skeleton of the Wheel Trueing building on Plymouth Road again is the cause of deep concern among the City Commissioners.

Calling attention to the fact that nothing has been done to the building for months, Commissioner James McKeon asked Monday night that a meeting be held with the proper officials to determine what steps should be taken.

It was announced that there are several prospects willing to purchase the site if Wheel Trueing is not going ahead with plans.

To learn what these plans are City Manager Richard Blodgett and City Attorney Tom Healy have been instructed to meet with the Wheel Trueing spokesmen and determine the terms of the contract now held with the city.

He pointed out that the department has had more calls thus far than it did in all of last year. He blamed the population growth and the extreme dry weather for the unusual number of calls.

However, he told the Board it will have to start thinking of some action since it is almost a certainty that the $9,000 budget will be entirely used before the end of the year.

The Board discovered it would have to make an additional allotment to the library fund. The Wayne County Public Library Board presented the Township with a bill for $15,009.57 is its share of the cost of operation of the Dunning-Hough Library.

The Trustees had allotted $15,000 and had to boost it an additional $9.57.

In other actions, the Trustees:

Received the resignation of Donald Tapp from the Community Human Relations Commission with regrets. Tapp is moving to Phoenix, Ariz.

Approved an additional two telephone extensions for the DPW and Building Inspector's office.

Approved recommendations of the Planning Commission on actions taken in the Sept. 21 and Sept. 27 meetings.

Approved the purchase of a Burroughs adding machine for the Treasurer's office.

Approved the appointment of Trustees Ralph Garber, and Louis Norman and Treasurer Mrs. Holmes to a committee to study the acquisition of vacant property for community facilities.

Celebrate National Business Women's Week

District BPW Clubs Honor Outstanding Members

MRS. THOMAS (NORA) HORN, receives some stencil work from Larry Montgomery while Amy Andes waits her turn to have a question answered in a busy day at Allen school in Plymouth.

This is the week when all the girls who sit at desks—as well as those who perform countless other services in the business world—come into their own.

Oct. 16 to 22 is National Business Women's Week, and members of Business and Professional Women's clubs in the area are making the most of it.

The Farmington Business and Professional Women's club picked its "Woman of the Year" with the honor going to Mrs. Jessie Habermehl, 22857 Frederick.

In Livonia, officers of the BPW visited Mayor Harvey W. Moelke and tried out his desk for size as he signed a proclamation of the week honoring "the achievements of all business and professional women."

The Livonia Business and Professional Women's club also will help host a banquet of the organization's National Federation, on Saturday, Oct. 22, in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit.

Members of the BPW groups vary in their talents and work, but they are united in their program to promote leadership experience, community awareness, legislative know-how and greater knowledge of current events through their organization.

In Plymouth, the BPW honored Mrs. Margaret Stremich, a partner in the operation of the Hillside Inn, and Mrs. Nora Horn, secretary of the Allen elementary school on Haggerty Road, for their contributions to the organization.

Mrs. Stremich, who was born in the old farmhouse that stood on the site of the present Hillside Inn, moved into the City of Plymouth at the age of eight. Her father, Jacob Streng, opened a restaurant across from the Pere Marquette depot.

After her marriage to Jake Stremich, Margaret and her husband purchased the old farmhouse from her father in 1934 and started the Hillside Inn. Following the death of her husband in 1948, Mrs. Stremich operated the Inn alone until 1952 when she formed a partnership with her nephew Robert Stremich.

She now has charge of the general office and serves as hostess to the many community organizations.

She is the grandmother of five grandchildren and spends considerable time with them, gradually easing up on the heavy schedule she has kept for so many years.

Mrs. Horn, mother of two including Russ with the armed forces in Germany and Nancy, a sophomore at Plymouth High, has been a secretary to Principal Donald Rank for 11 years.

She also serves as corresponding secretary for the Plymouth BPW and writes the monthly bulletin. She is a member of the Plymouth School Secretarial Association.

Mrs. Lois McAllister, chairman of the club's civic participation committee, has arranged a tea Friday afternoon from noon to 3 p.m. in the Dunning-Hough Library. All business women in the area are invited to participate in recognition of National Business Women's Week.

Mrs. Habermehl, who lives at 22857 Frederick in Farmington, with her husband, Austin, has been employed for many years in the Farmington area and also has been active for a long time as a volunteer with the American Red Cross.

She is a past president and parliamentarian of the Farmington BPW. She also has been a delegate to the National Federation of Business and Professional Women-convention and served on its elections committee, and recently helped organize the new chapter of the BPW in Milford.

Mrs. Habermehl, was honored by the Farmington organization at a dinner meeting Monday, Oct. 17, and given an award by President Mrs. Marie Papke.

The woman named for this honor each year is picked for merit and ability in various business and club activities.

This year's honoree is the mother of two married sons, Bruce, of Farmington, and Charles, of Novi. She is a charter member of the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington.

Mrs. Jessie Habermehl

Alpha Kappa Deltas Meet

Founder's Day of Alpha Kappa Delta, international honorary teachers' sorority, was celebrated recently by two Livonia chapters in a joint meeting at the home of Geraldine Stone, 19638 Hardy.

Members of the Beta Eta chapter were hostesses, and the Tau chapter furnished the program. Doris Fedus showed pictures she took last summer when she visited her daughter who is working as a Peace Corps member in an Indian village in Bolivia.

MRS. MARGARET STREMICH checks her reservation book for day at Hillside Inn where Business and Professional Women meet each month in the Jacob room.

MRS. SARAH SMITH (right), president of the Livonia Business and Professional Women's Club, tried out the mayor's chair after Mayor Harvey W. Moelke signed a document proclaiming Oct. 16 to 22 National Business Women's week. Mrs. Virginia Barrie, public relations director of the club, looks on.

The DRC Story

TWO MEN WITH A FAST 'LINE' MAKE HORSE TALK FOR HUMANS

The Big White Pad Looks Like A Doodler's Nightmare.

It is filled with figures which, at the moment, have meaning only for the men who wrote them. Within a matter of hours, however, they will be studied avidly by thousands, and will take on great importance.

The figures represent THE MORNING LINE on the races at the Detroit Race Course.

We race daily, except Sundays, now through November 5. Each day throughout our 84-day meeting, Racing Secretary Ray Hopton and his assistant, Norris Gwin, "doodle" diligently to compile The Morning Line.

The "Line" reflects their knowledge of the conditions of each race and the past performances of every starter. It becomes part of the program information and a guide for the bettor.

The "Line" is the early probable odds. Its compilation is careful and thorough. There is logic for each figure in it. Fans place great reliance on The Morning Line, but few know how it is made.

I feel the more knowledge and better understanding a Fan has of all phases of racing, the greater his enjoyment of the Sport will be. I believe knowing how The Morning Line is drafted will increase your Racing Pleasure when you visit the DRC.

The formula for "making" a line is this: The perfectly balanced line is 100, plus the parimutuel tax, which in Michigan is 15%, plus the number of starters in the given race.

Let's take the field in a recent DRC race and translate The Morning Line for you:

HORSE	MORNING LINE	PCT.
BALAFIB	5-to-1	17
WILL DO IT	4-to-1	20
POWDER FIELD	3-to-1	20
PRINCE BUSTER	15-to-1	6
QUEEN OF COURT	10-to-1	9
IRON STAR	8-to-1	12
COUNTY TRICK	2-to-1	33

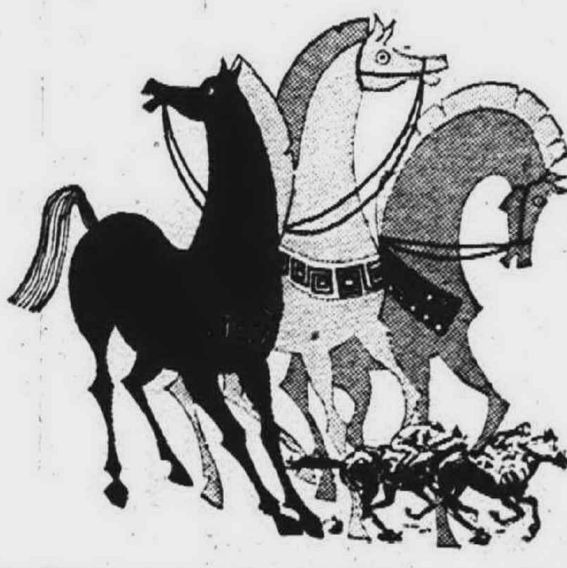

Now...100 plus 15 plus 7... equals 122. Add the percentage side in our line and it comes to 122, a perfectly balanced line.

You do not necessarily have to achieve the perfect balance every race. There's permissive flexibility that allows you to be over or under by small margins.

Does The Morning Line always work out to parallel the actual payoff on the race?

Not by any stretch of the imagination. In parimutuel wagering, you and the other bettors determine the final odds. They are based on the percentage of money bet on the winner as against that wagered on all starters. But The Morning Line generally is an accurate barometer. Only in isolated cases is it far off.

The next time you visit the Detroit Race Course, and I hope you will make it soon, check The Morning Line against the payoffs in each race. The figures can give you some fascinating moments. After a bit of study and practice, perhaps you will enjoy making your own "line."

Robert Webber--The Italians Have a word for His Life

By JERRY WENDT WOMEN'S EDITOR

There are a few collectors items left in this world. Hens teeth, first editions, and an interview with actor Robert Webber.

Webber's avoidance of publicity would make Garbo look like a lens louse by comparison. The reason is not an aversion to newspaper people particularly, but due to a crowded schedule that leaves him almost no time to himself.

In a profession which thrives on publicity, you have to be good to get away with this, and Webber is good, an actor actor. Even movie critic Judith Christ in the World Journal Tribune referred to his performance in "Dead Heart on a Merry-Go-Round" as a "delectable character."

When finally contacted by telephone we questioned him regarding what are probably the two top movie choices this year. Both are made by M-G-M. One is "The Dirty Dozen" filmed in England. Directed in Technicolor by Robert Aldrich, the Kenneth Hyman production is based on E. M. Nathanson's best-selling novel of condemned soldiers who are given the chance of redeeming themselves by undertaking a near-suicide mission prior to D-Day. This picture, according to rumors, is slated to be one of the great war pictures of all time. The picture was filmed in England and all the stars lived there. A chaateau was constructed in which the Dirty Dozen were quartered.

Webber plays the part of the Colonel in charge of the regiment. The Observer asked him how he liked working in this picture.

"Very much," he said, "we all had the feeling that it was an excellent script. And Lee Marvin is a very good actor. He has worked long and hard for his fame."

"Are you in for a run of heavies?" we asked him. "After 'Harper' you are going to have a hard time convincing people that you are not somewhat of a sadist at heart."

Webber laughed, "You'll get a change in my next picture. In 'Don't Make Waves,' I play light comedy."

This is the picture that will co-star Sharon Tate. She is hailed as the successor to Marilyn Monroe. "Will she be another Monroe?" we queried. "I don't think that is fair to her," Webber replied, "She is a beautiful girl, and a talented one. Given the right opportunities, she will be able to carve out a satisfactory career of her own. Nothing is more unfair to an actor or actress than to compare them to someone famous before they have a chance to show what they can do on their own."

Webber has been in the business for 20 years and has played in every medium. Today he films pictures in Europe, Hollywood, and New York, with equal ease.

He was getting ready to plane to Italy, one of his favorite spots for his next picture. He will spend five months there.

"What will this be about?" we asked.

"I can't tell you," he said, "the news hasn't been released as yet. Claudia Cardinale will co-star with me."

Europe (yet to be released here) is responsible.

To be young, to be famous, to play opposite the great beauties of the world—the Italians have a name for it—"La Dolce Vita."

"New York Like a Different World" ... Says Jerry Wendt

Every person deserves a flight to the stars at least once in his life. A chance to see what the successful people of the world are like at work, at play, and just plain socializing. To observe what they wear, what they eat, and most of all what they really think about their lives and the people around them.

That is just what we did on our trip to New York, and we want to take you, with us. New York is not the place for the budget-minded or the commonplace. You might just as well make up your mind that things are going to be expensive, and then try to have the most fun and enjoyment you can.

Come and play Alice Through the Looking Glass with us as we step through the TV screens into the sets and see the stars—see the top Broadway show and visit a movie star via the telephone, and stroll Fifth Avenue and see the latest fashions.

We will give you a capsule shot in the column this week and then other weeks we'll give you in-depth features so that you will know what to expect in the entertainment and fashion world this year, and will feel like you had really been on the trip to that Mecca of excitement and magic—THE BIG TOWN.

The New York Hilton was our headquarters and that is the place for a woman to have that pampered—queen like feeling. From the moment you step in the doorway, and are greeted by "Lady Hilton," your smallest wish is attended to. A fillip was added by the fact that this was the headquarters for Rockefeller.

One could sit at tiny tables and sip cocktails while watching all the great arrive for his huge ball. There were people from all over the world (including Bobby Kennedy) and it was a cosmopolitan sight.

We visited Ed Sullivan and saw the rehearsal of his show. He had a star studded cast, the zany Martin and Rossi, Myron Cohen, and the petite Petula Clark, a size 5 at least and who glittered all over in a sequin dress and the new metallic stockings. Sullivan is the most charming of men, and is constantly surrounded by audience and fans and cheerfully poses with families for pictures to be shown back home.

We visited our favorite new star of the season "The Hawk" played by Burt Reynolds—Channel 7 at 9 p.m. Burt is a former football player and lived in Florida prior to coming to New York. He is a sure bet for Hollywood stardom.

He is handsome, a good actor and in our interview displayed extraordinary common sense. It was an exciting thing to watch the actual episode "Legacy for Lousy Future" being filmed. We sat in the chair clearly labeled "The Hawk" with the permission of his bodyguard Tony Amato, a colorful character, whose driving us home through New York traffic at the rush hour was a story in itself.

The wee small hours of the morning found us on the set of Today, and finding the cast alive and on their toes at 6:30 p.m. These people live by an entirely different time schedule than other people and have adjusted to it beautifully.

That day we saw Rebecca West, and the Anglican Bishop of England, all being interviewed. Later we breakfasted with the cast. Hugh Downs is a most likable person.

Kind, idealistic minded about his job, he gave us an excellent interview.

Later, we managed to ground the mercurial Robert Webber, between planes to Italy via the phone. This actor avoids the press, not out of dislike for them, but because he has so little free time to himself. He willingly however, told of the two top movies of the year, "The Dirty Dozen" and "Don't Make Waves," in which he co-stars with Sharon Tate, hailed as the successor to Marilyn Monroe.

If you come to New York you must see "Wait a Minum." This show is impossible to describe except that it contains more talent and entertainment than could be told. Its musical score is so intriguing that I immediately ran as fast as my legs could carry me, to purchase it.

Its stars satirize the world of today and yesterday in song and dance, and all the instruments used are from South Africa. Some of the numbers are excruciatingly funny. There were no less than seven curtain calls the night we were there. This is the most original show I have ever seen.

The Spanish influence has taken over in New York completely. Bergdorf Goodman and Lord and Taylor feature giant size candlesticks.

There are wild hot colors, of vivid orange and pinks. There can't be a zebra or a leopard roaming the jungle judging from the looks of the stores.

Pillows, pajamas, liquor bottles, coats, purses, all are in zebra and leopard. The women are wearing loads of eye-make-up and very little lipstick, plus my pet abomination, white stockings.

Michael Dann, CBS vice-president of programming, gave us an interview in his offices on the 29th floor of the CBS building. Dann is a graduate of the University of Michigan. The view from his windows is the most breathtaking I have ever seen.

Saarinens designed the building and it is a credit to him. Later Dann had George Ettinger, his press representative, show us the private screening room where pilot films are shown and the future stars are born. We'll describe it more deeply in the future but it beggars description.

New York is a wonderful town, full of wonderful people and after returning from a vacation, you start to count the days (and get out that empty piggy bank) until you can return.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING CURTAIN

Puffing proudly on his mahogany-bowled pipe, Dr. James Gousseff allowed spiraling wreaths of smoke to catch carelessly in the far corners of his twinkling eyes. His smile during intermission time at Eastern Michigan University's premiere of their new laboratory theater was genuine. Head of the drama department, Dr. Gousseff had every reason to beam so beneficently.

The EMU Lab Theater had skyrocketed to a glorious start.

John Stanton, an ambitious and talented graduate student, had worked long and hard preparing a one act play for the first part of the inaugural bill. John's show had drive, impact, and the emotional message of the drama had many an eye in the audience misty.

His actors (fellow students in the EMU drama department) performed superbly. Ray Nichols who did set designs for the summer "Thunder Carnival" presentation at EMU showed great skill as an actor. Every "bit" part became a big part under John's direction.

Would the play that followed intermission carry on the fine tradition already established by Mr. Stanton?

If Dr. Gousseff had any doubts as he tapped out the last hot coals before signaling to his highly efficient group of technicians, he certainly didn't give any hints. His stoic behavior only radiated great confidence.

And well it might for another graduate student, a Mr. Pat Patterson presented his one act play. It was a comedy and a satiric dig at current customs and mores of our times. Pat didn't miss a trick in the staging of his play.

Linda Siglin and Ted Mills had the 50 member audience so involved that in their exuberance they applauded wildly and spontaneously three times during the show. Their laughter came so quickly and consistently it sounded like 500 people responding.

Yes, it was a night to remember on the Eastern Michigan campus. The premiere of the EMU Lab Theater wasn't advertised too heavily. The 50 tickets were snatched up by students who must have seen some of the rehearsals. You can be assured that if any repeats of this program are announced, an audience will be waiting in Room 107 where the Lab players create their own special form of theatrical magic.

After the program which lasted two hours, the audience reluctantly stayed in the halls of the Drama Building. They were still in a dazed condition. It's not often you see so much good theater in such a short space of two hours. In fact, the glorious part of theater is that when productions are top quality, you never believe you have spent any time at all viewing them.

For once old Wally could find little to complain about. Dr. Gousseff pointed out the air-condition unit for Room 107 had been delayed due to a strike of the Fan Blowers Installers Union in South Wixom. But even the heat in the room disappeared once those talented thespians turned on their cool characterizations.

How can this be topped? On Nov. 5 and 6 an evening of pantomime will be presented starting at 8 p.m. If you are in the vicinity of Quirk Theater and Room 107, you might amble over and enjoy a thespic treat.

Eastern Michigan now joins University of Michigan and Wayne State with lab theater for student actors and directors to stretch their creative wings. Old Wally welcomes them and assures them that they have arrived full-grown.

ALL THESE MEN are members of the Plymouth Choralaires, an all male chorus open to men over 21 years of age. Their meeting night is every second and fourth Tuesday at Room 142 of Bentley High School in Livonia. A membership drive is now underway for the organization which sings for various social clubs, civic groups and churches. For further information contact either L. Couzens at 421-8578 or Jack Paulson at 422-6280.

Theatre Guild Opens Season

The Plymouth Theatre Guild will open its season Oct. 27 at the Plymouth High Auditorium with a production of "The Marriage-Go-Round," a comedy about the ordeals of monogamy which played on Broadway for 16 months.

Additional performances are scheduled for Oct. 28 and 29.

Appearing in the lead roles of the couple are Milo Jordan and Sue Griebel. Judith Poggenburg will portray the Swedish professor's daughter and Jim Blackman will appear as a romantically inclined professor at the upstate New York college where the action is set.

Leslie Stevens is the author of the comedy. He also wrote "The Champagne Complex" and "Bullfight." Director of the Guild production is Jacob Rumpf, while Edward J. Toland is the producer.

Shaw's Comedy Is Lopsided and Silly

By SUE SHAUGHNESSY

Have you ever heard of a sphinx with a lopsided, silly grin?

Well there's one holding court at the University of Detroit Theatre for the next two weekends that shouldn't be missed.

The sphinx sets the tone for the opening scene of the U. of D. production of George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra." The grin — lopsided and silly — also foreshadows what is to come in the play and the production.

Shaw uses all his usual tricks in the play and gets in his digs at the soldiers, politicians, British morality and anything else that happens to catch his fancy. He also tries to get his message about "justice" across.

Seamus O'Brien appears as the middle-aged, silly but wise Caesar constructed by Shaw. Nancy Carbonneau appears as the girl queen, Cleopatra, while Marge Paquet plays the "heavy," her slave, Flutateeta.

All three try hard and manage to keep afloat. Director Alan Jorgensen, who was evidently a last minute replacement in the role of Britannus, just about steals the show.

However, he has one of the better roles in the play, delivering most of the punch lines so that really isn't so strange.

Shaw is enjoyable at any time and the U. of D. group does bring every possible laugh out of the play. Just don't go looking for any sort of tremendous message and be prepared to believe anything and you'll find the evening worth while.

The production will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings during the next two weekends, Oct. 21 and 28. Call ahead for reservations as the tiny theatre on the third floor of the University Library has a limited seating capacity.

Special Show Set At Terrace

Television star Jerry Booth will judge the Halloween Costume Contest Saturday, Oct. 29 at the Terrace Theater in Livonia. He will begin the judging at 11:35 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded for the most frightening costume, the funniest and the most original.

The doors open at 10:15 a.m. for a Cartoon Bonanza featuring 42 minutes of cartoons. Following the judging at 12:10 p.m. "The Comedy of Terrors" featuring Boris Karloff, Peter Lorre, Vincent Price and Joe E. Brown will fill the screen.

Special treats for all the kids will also be distributed. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Theater on Plymouth Rd.

throws away the fortune which had been carefully amassed for him, goes to the big city to live his narcissistic life, leeches on the sympathy of women who include ever present television panelists and finally die in a too-late orgy of self-examination. The production, adapted to the stage by the Court Theatre's Tom Darnell, is taken from a novel written by the well-known cartoonist Jules Feiffer. The Court Theatre first drew attention last season when they began to act in the Detroit Art Institute's Kresge Court. With success they have moved to larger quarters at the Detroit Waldorf School for their second season. "Harry" is an adult drama and is not recommended as children's entertainment by the sponsors.

Cuban Opens Missionary Conference

Dr. Ruben Lores, Cuban evangelist, will inaugurate the week of Missionary Conference at the Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church, Six Mile at Farmington Road, with a report of the rapid changes in the religious scene in Latin America.

Dr. Lores is making this stop on his way to the Berlin Congress on Evangelism, called by Billy Graham, and will speak at the 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Worship Services at the church.

Also speaking during the week will be two Presbyterian medical missionaries, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Greig from Cameroon in Africa, and Dr. Norma Farmer from India. The missionary meetings will be held Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7:30, in addition to the regular Sunday worship services. The public is invited.

The couples' group, Pathfinders, is sponsoring an International Dinner on Saturday night. The speaker at that time will be Dr. Peter Van Lierop, dean of the College of Theology at Yonsei University of Seoul, Korea. Each morning the guest missionaries will be present at an informal coffee hour at 9:30 a.m. to answer questions and enable the congregation to get to know them personally.

Dunkelberger Is Seminarian

Michael Lee Dunkelberger was among the 41 new students participating in the opening of the 114th academic year of The Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. The total student enrollment for 1966-67 is 133. Mr. Dunkelberger is the son of the Reverend R. C. Dunkelberger, D.D., 32501 West Chicago, Livonia, who is minister of Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church.

In 1966 he received his degree from Alma College, Alma, Michigan. Upon his completion of three years of academic work he will receive his Bachelor of Divinity degree and qualify for ordination in the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. Dunkelberger will live in the Men's Dormitory on the new and modern campus of Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky.

Urge Churches, Clubs Sign C of C Lists

Several churches and organizations are not listed with the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

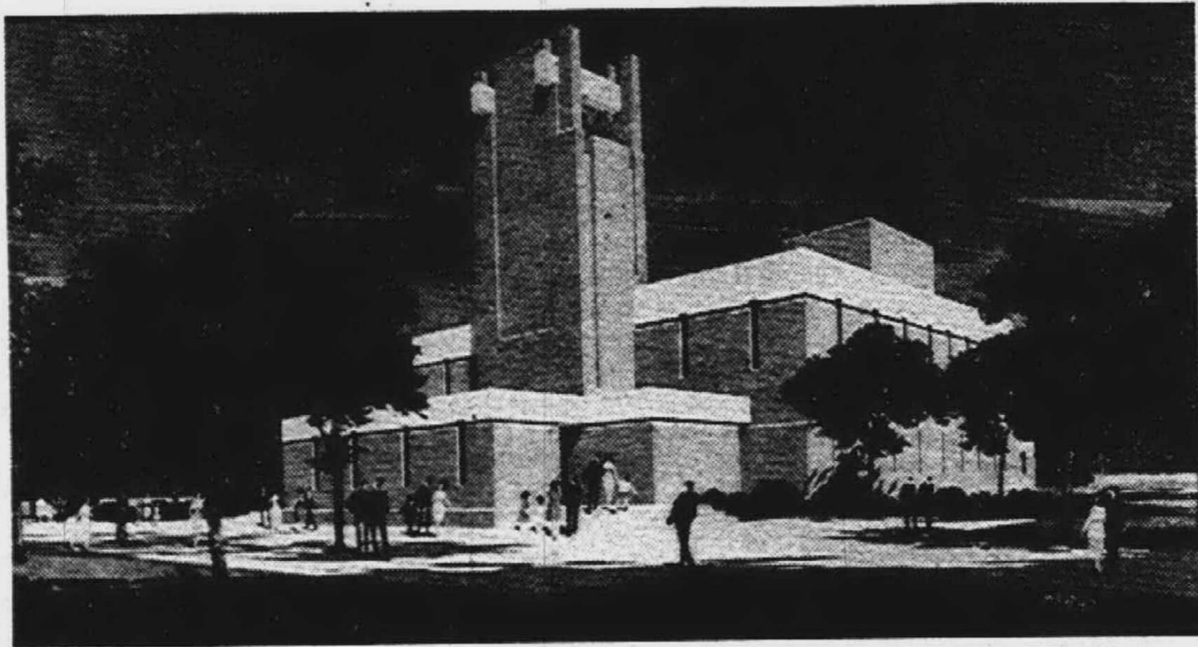

Chamber coordinator Fran Booth last week issued an appeal to all organizations to be sure their name and proper phone numbers are available at the Chamber.

"We get a lot of calls for a particular denomination of a church, or a local organization. Quite often, we can't find anything in phone books or our own directories," Mrs. Booth explained.

The Chamber each year publishes several directories for Plymouth residents as well as newcomers. A list of Chamber members, of industries, and organizations is available. The Chamber number is 453-1540.

Keep Knitting Yarn Clean

Place a ball of knitting yarn in a plastic bag and twist the quick-twist tie tight enough to prevent the yarn from slipping out, but loose enough to allow the thread to pull through easily. Keeps work and wool clean, says the "Glad" Home Service Group.

Byzantine Church Breaks Ground For New Livonia Building

The Sacred Heart Byzantine Catholic parish community will break ground for its new church in ceremonies at 11 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 23.

Bishop Nicholas T. Elko, bishop of the Pittsburgh Byzantine Catholic Eparchy, will conduct the ceremony at the newly-acquired site at 29175 West Six Mile Road near Middlebelt in Livonia.

The new church, scheduled for completion next summer, is designed by the architectural firm of Greimel, Hammond and Hoey of Ferndale and will seat 350 persons.

Following the Eastern church's traditional use of light as a symbol for Christ, the building's baptistry and sanctuary have been designed to be bathed in natural light. The sanctuary will have an icon screen, traditional in Byzantine rite churches.

Sacred Heart Parish was established in 1957 at its present site, 15534 Beech Daly, and serves Byzantine rite Catholics in northwest Detroit, Redford township, Livonia, Southfield, Nankin, Plymouth, Northville and Garden City.

Father Myron Hornyak is the pastor.

Madonna Sets Annual Affair Next Monday

The Madonna College Advisory Board will hold its annual scholarship dinner-dance at the Thunderbird Inn on Monday, Oct. 24. Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., with dinner at 8 p.m.

John Carlo and Arthur Kobierzynski, owners of the Thunderbird Inn, are donating the proceeds to the college scholarship fund.

The fund provides loans for Madonna College resident students in need of financial assistance. Six freshmen have received loans from last year's proceeds of $1,800.

Tickets are $25 per couple, $15 per person. Arrangements are being handled by Mrs. Thomas Stalmack, secretary of the Advisory Board.

Water Deaths Are Ahead of '65 Count

Michigan's 285 deaths in 575 water accidents in the first eight and a half months this year already exceed by 50 fatalities and 28 accidents the state's water toll for all of 1965, according to State Police provisional figures.

Through September 15 last year there had been 210 persons drowned in 474 water accidents. The full year toll for 1965 was 235 deaths and an equal number injured in 547 accidents.

The breakdown on 251 deaths this year on which official reports have been received included 134 swimmers or waders, 40 who fell from bridges, banks, docks or piers, 29 boat operators, 26 boat passengers, 17 who fell through ice, three who attempted to rescue others, one skin or scuba diver and one who fell into a tank.

Provisional information has been received on 34 other deaths. At least 203 persons have been injured so far this year.

With the advent of cooler weather in the fall months, the state's water accident toll normally decreases markedly after mid-September.

Garters for Curtains
Make loose elastic garters for your bedroom window curtains, and keep them on a hook on each side of the window.

Three-fourth yard of elastic makes a nice size garter. Slip it out and over the curtain and draperies when the window is open at night. It will hold the curtain back gently but securely.

In the morning you can drop the curtain back in place and there will be no wrinkles.

Famed Gospel Team Appears in Plymouth

Brigadier Ernest Hammer, Plymouth Salvation Army Leader, announced that the Gospel Team known as "The Lamplighters," of Helena, O., will begin a series of services at the Salvation Army Citadel, 290 Fairground, on Sunday, Oct. 23.

The "Lamplighters" consist of two lady Evangelists; Rev. Dr. Jeanne Mosier, who does much of the speaking, and Rev. Beverly Hall, an unusually fine pianist and singer.

They are not strangers to Plymouth audiences, having ministered in Plymouth a number of times, as well as the Detroit House of Correction. This will be their second Gospel Campaign in Plymouth.

"The Lamplighters" are in demand as a Gospel Team and the leaders of the Plymouth Salvation Army Corps feel fortunate in being able to secure their services for this campaign, which will finish Sunday, Oct. 30.

Services will be held each evening at 7 p.m. throughout the week, with the exception of Saturday evening. They will be featured in Sunday School both Sundays at 10 a.m. and the morning worship service at 11 a.m.

Charitable Groups Need Permits to Solicit Funds

By ATTY GEN. FRANK J. KELLEY
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Any charitable organization seeking donations in more than one county must be licensed for that purpose by the Attorney General. Only a church, a church sponsored charitable organization or a veterans' organization chartered by the Congress of the United States is exempt.

A charitable organization is defined by Michigan law as any corporation, institution, association or private person interested in obtaining such a license should request a registration statement by writing Frank J. Kelley, Attorney General, Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan.

In addition any citizen's suspicion that he has been approached for a donation by an unlicensed group should be reported to the same address.

Children of Beth Am Join In Simchat Torah Rites

Some of the youngest members of Temple Beth Am played the major roles in the Temple's celebration of the holiday Simchat Torah recently.

Simchat Torah is a joyous holiday celebrating the conclusion of the annual Torah cycle, and its observation includes the ceremony of Consecration, in which children of kindergarten age are blessed by the Rabbi.

The ceremony traditionally begins the child's formal Jewish education. In it, the children are consecrated to the Torah, the central object of Jewish activity and learning.

They participate in the procession of the Scrolls, which symbolizes the way the Jewish people have attempted to walk in the way of the Torah. Each child of the congregation is given a flag with an apple on top, and the young-

Ralph Cessna Lectures at Science Church

"Is There a God?" will be discussed from the Christian Science viewpoint at a public lecture by Ralph W. Cessna, C.S.B., of Evanston, Ill., at the Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, 20011 Grand River.

Mr. Cessna will discuss mankind's growth toward a deeper understanding of the nature of God and how it relates to spiritual healing.

The speaker was a newspaperman in Michigan and Florida before joining the Christian Science Monitor in 1929. He has been an authorized teacher of Christian Science for 16 years.

THE VALUE OF A SPIRITUAL OUTLOOK "VISION"

Every day we depend on "vision" that goes beyond what our eyes see. The challenge is always to find a greater vision — a deeper spiritual perception — that will guide mankind's progress, and lift men everywhere into their heritage as children of God. Hear this public lecture on "The Value of a Spiritual Outlook" by PAUL E. ERICKSON, C.S.B., of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Rabbi Wine Speaks On Euthanasia

The moral question of euthanasia, or mercy death, will be discussed by Rabbi Sherwin Wine at the Birmingham Temple service at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 21.

Services are held each week at the Robert Frost junior high school in Oak Park. Following the program there is an opportunity to discuss the sermon and refreshments are served.

Informal evenings also are held twice a month for those interested in discussing the philosophies of humanistic Judaism with Rabbi Wine.

Mix Styles, Smiles

"Styles and Smiles" is the theme of a fall fashion and vaudeville to be given by the St. Agatha Women's Club at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20, in the gymnasium of St. Agatha school, Beech and Pembroke.

Styles will come first, with members of the club modeling fashions from Sears. The models will be directed by Mrs. Harold Shannon and Mrs. Robert Jess, with Mrs. Raymond Zwiler coordinating the models and Mrs. William Brazzil commenting on the clothes.

After the fashion show and refreshments, the group will present its vaudeville show.

MRS. CHARLES STOLL, 28460 Elmwood, Garden City, places a Torch Drive hostess hat on Leandra Vanzo, of Livonia. The two, among 200 representatives of 15 Detroit companies serving as hostesses for Torch Drive functions, met at an instruction luncheon. They will assist at 10 report meetings and the Victory Dinner on Nov. 10. The United Foundation campaign, which got underway Tuesday, seeks $24.95 million for nearly 200 local, state and national services.

43 Madonna Frosh Receive State Grants

Forty-three Madonna College freshmen were recently named state of Michigan Tuition Grant Winners for this scholastic year. They were awarded a sum total of $8,200 for the fall semester to help them pursue their education in a private college.

All students admitted that the assistance given them under the grant enacted in June of 1966 did provide greater opportunity of educational choice to attend a private college.

The grant is available to all Michigan residents who enroll as full-time freshmen in a private, non-profit college or university in Michigan. Tuition cost must exceed $240 per semester. One may not hold any other grants or enroll in religious education.

Grants range from $50 to $250 per semester. The amount received depends upon family "effective income."

To apply, one must obtain a state of Michigan Tuition Grant Program application and Confidential Financial Statement from the college or high school or by writing directly to the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority.

Applications for second semester grants must be completed by Nov. 5.

Lamplighter Lions, Plymouth Theatre Guild Collect Toys

The Lamplighter Lions Club of Livonia in conjunction with the Plymouth Theatre Guild will present, "Marriage-Go-Round" at the Franklin Auditorium on Nov. 1, 2 and 3, at 8:15 p.m.

"Marriage-Go-Round" played on Broadway and as a traveling show with Ozzie and Harriet Nelson at Northland Playhouse. The Plymouth Theatre Guild will put on the three performances as a benefit to help the Lamplighters with their "toys for Alaska" project. Admission will be a two dollar donation or a toy of equal value.

All proceeds will be used to buy toys for the Indian and Eskimo-kiddies in Alaska. This area was visited by member Len Ricketts of the Lamplighter Lions in June of this year and he found some of the families have a cash income of only $300 per year. He said they literally live off the land. Due to the high shipping freight charges and low incomes some of these kiddies have never had a doll, wagon or toy as we know them.

Members of the Midnight Sun, Fairbanks and College Lions Clubs in Fairbanks, Alaska will have members come to this area Nov. 9. They will pick up vehicles to be delivered to dealers in Fairbanks. These vehicles will be loaded with the toys and taken to Fairbanks. Upon arrival in Fairbanks bush pilots donating their services and planes will fly the toys into the isolated villages and camps in time for the kiddies to have a "Merry Christmas." Anyone wanting tickets for the play or to make a donation call Len Ricketts, GA 1-8024 or 349-2144, or Jim Mogan, president Lamplighter Lions, 476-5533.

Meet Robert Daniel

A son, Robert Daniel, was born Oct. 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Udman, 28900 Lancaster, Livonia. Mrs. Udman is the former Carol Stone.

PAULINDA Zakrzewski, junior student nurse at Madonna College, is the first Madonnite to be elected to a state office. Paulinda, shown doing laboratory work at St. Mary Hospital, was named treasurer of the Michigan State Student Nurses Association at the annual meeting in Lansing recently.

Madonna Lists Audio-Visual Campus Series

Madonna College will hold a series of audio-visual demonstrations on its campus within the next few weeks. All demonstrations, at 9:30 a.m., are open to the public. Admission is free.

On Oct. 22, a representative from the Technifax Co., will demonstrate the diaz color transparency process.

On Oct. 29, Miss Gertrude Bonk, director of the Allen Park Audio-Visual Center, will lecture on the use of overhead transparencies in the classroom. Miss Bonk is also an alumna of Madonna College and a member of its Advisory Board.

On Nov. 19, a 3-M company representative, will demonstrate the use of overhead projectors and copy machines. He will also teach the audience to make transparencies, spirit masters, laminations, hot lifts and photo copies.

HELEN JUDI CARRIER

Helen Judith Carrier, daughter of Mrs. Ora Phillippi, 11564 Cardwell, Livonia, is engaged to SP/4 Thomas D. Hedge, currently serving with the Army in Vietnam. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hedge, 9381 Canton Center Road, Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Franklin High School and her fiance graduated from Plymouth High. The couple plans to wed next April.

LINDA HECK

The engagement of Linda Louise Heck to Charles Knechtges is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heck of Livonia. Miss Heck, a 1965 graduate of Bentley high school, is employed by Maccabees Mutual Life Insurance Co. Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Knechtges of Wayne, graduated from Wayne Memorial high school in 1965 and is employed by the U.S. Post Office in Wayne. A Nov. 25 wedding is planned.

Atonement Topic For Scientists

Atonement as the day-by-day effort to yield one's life to obedience to the laws of God is the theme of this week's Lesson-Sermon titled "Doctrine of Atonement" to be read in all Christian Science branch churches this Sunday.

Jesus' words, "If ye love me, keep my commandments," from the fourteenth chapter of John, are related to this explanation from the denominational textbook: "The Christ was the Spirit which Jesus implied in his own statements: 'I am the way, the truth, and the life; I and my Father are one.'"

Polish Dinner Planned

The St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Churchwomen will sponsor a Polish Family Style dinner at the church, 26431 W. Chicago, from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 29. Reservations may be made by calling KE 7-5455.

LEA MITCHELL

Lea graduated from Bentley high school in Livonia in 1965. Her fiance is a graduate of Bentley high and the University of Detroit and is a physical education teacher at Whittier junior high school in Livonia. The couple plans a spring wedding in California.

Mrs. Foust Is Treasurer for State P.E.O. Sisterhood

Mrs. Frederick B. Foust of Plymouth, former president of the Plymouth Chapter of the P.E.O. Sisterhood, is beginning a two-year term as state P.E.O. treasurer.

Mrs. Foust, who attended a meeting of the state board in Marquette Oct. 13 to 16, was honored recently by the local group and given the organization's Centennial Medallion at a breakfast at the Mayflower Hotel.

The group, which has members from Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington and Northville, also had a meeting recently at home of Mrs. D. R. Taylor of Livonia to honor Michigan officer Mrs. T. C. Cobb of East Lansing.

The P.E.O. organization is a national one with 150,000 members, and the meaning of the initials is a well-kept secret. However, the group makes no secret of its three special philanthropies, all connected with education for women.

They include an educational loan fund, set up in 1907 to assist women seeking higher education, an international peace scholarship program established in 1949 to bring selected women from other nations to study in the United States and Canada, and operation of Cottey College in Nevada, Mo., which offers a two-year course emphasizing liberal and fine arts.

Cushion Your Silver

Silverware should be stored apart from cutlery or other sharp kitchen tools. A silver chest is fine. Or, if you store silverware in drawers, try lining them with a clean soft terry cloth as a cushioning material.

Beans Good Fare In Many Lands

You'll find Les Drugstores in Paris, American processed cheese in Germany, our cornflakes in England and the hotto doggu in Tokyo. No less surprising are the tasty dishes from countries round the world made with the beans we think of as distinctly American. Each has its own special national touch, each is different and delicious.

- SPANISH BEAN POT
- 2 #2 cans kidney beans
 - 2 tablespoons bacon fat
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme
 - 1/2 teaspoon rosemary
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 2 whole cloves
 - 1 teaspoon ginger
 - 2 teaspoons dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 - 2 tablespoons vinegar
 - 1/2 cup juice from any pickled fruit
 - 4 slices bacon
 - 1 onion, sliced thin
 - 1/4 cup strong black coffee
 - 1 jigger brandy
 - Salt to taste

Put beans in bean pot. Mix together all other ingredients except bacon, onion, coffee and brandy. Pour over beans, stir and bake 1 hour at 275 degrees. Cover beans with onion, then top with bacon. Bake 15 minutes longer in 400 degree oven. Add coffee and bake a few minutes more till bacon is crisp. Add brandy and leave in hot oven till all is thoroughly heated. Serves 8 to 10.

- TURKISH FASULYA
- 1/2 pound dry navy beans, soaked overnight
 - 3 small onions, chopped
 - 2 cloves garlic, finely sliced
 - 1/2 cup cooking oil
 - 4 carrots, sliced
 - Salt and Pepper to taste
- Add more water to cover, if necessary, and boil beans 1 hour. In a deep kettle pan-fry onions and garlic in hot oil 10 minutes. Add beans, carrots and seasoning. All ingredients should be just barely covered with the bean liquor. If not, add a little water. Simmer till beans are soft, about 45 minutes. Serve with crisp bacon and a fruit salad.

- LEBANESE SALAD
- 1 pound can kidney beans
 - 4 tablespoons oil
 - Juice of 1 lemon
 - Salt and Pepper to taste
 - Chopped dill, parsley and mint
 - 4 scallions, sliced fine
 - 1 tomato, sliced
 - 1 hard cooked egg, quartered
- Drain kidney beans. Blend oil, lemon juice, salt and pepper in salad bowl. Add beans and mix well. Scatter dill, parsley, mint and scallions over beans. Top with tomatoes and egg. Serves 4.

Hare Warns of Excessive Vote Costs

SAGINAW — The state's chief elections' administrator has warned of the growing problem of lavish spending on elections to win elections. Secretary of State James M. Hare, speaking before a group in Saginaw, pointed to the Pennsylvania gubernatorial primary won by industrialist Milton Shapp. A complete political unknown. Shapp won after spending $1.4-million in the final few days of the primary campaign.

"He used television, movies, paid endorsements by famous athletes, glossy brochures, and finally a direct mail campaign which reached more than a million Democrats. His campaign manager candidly explained that you sell candidates 'like you sell soap'."

Hare noted that Michigan campaigns are becoming "increasingly more costly and lavish."

"It may well be that the best advertised candidate can be the ultimate winner," he said. "Michigan's situation can develop much like the Pennsylvania in that there is no limitation on what candidates may spend. Generally, it's the man with the most money, everything else being equal, who wins." Hare said he would continue to strive to put through legislation which would put "realistic curbs on campaign spending."
