Township Supervisor Irks Lake Pointe Group

What About Property Reassessment?

The new militant Lake Pointe Homeowners Association, along with taxpayers in other parts of Plymouth Township, want the answers to the assessments in the Township—but they received little satisfaction in a question and answer session with Supervisor John McEwen in last week's Township Board meeting. Using the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation as the basis for answers, McEwen told the audience that the Supervisor as the assessor has the sole responsibility of assessments and that other members of the Board have no responsibility in the matter. "The audit being conducted by the Bureau of Taxation is still going on," McEwen said. "I will meet with the land assessor early in the week and plan increases of up to 25 per cent of the assessed value-tion on land." Trustee Dick Lauterbach asked "Will this audit give the true valuation of land?" "No," answered McEwen. "The true cash value of land can change from day to day. I won't assess homes up to 50 per cent either." Lauterbach asked, "Do you establish the true values as assessor?" The answer was "Yes". Larry Schendel, 42257 Hammill Lane, served as spokesman for the Lake Pointe group in the absence of President Maurice Breen who was delayed by a business appointment.

"Our taxes have jumped 40 per cent already," said Schendel, and there is every indication that we face another hike. A recent report by Willis Hall, one of the state's top men in the field of taxes, shows that Plymouth Township is the second worst in Wayne County in assessments with a scant 10 per cent of true value on land. We are asking that the township be reassessed to remove some of the inequities that currently exist. We feel that we are bearing more than our share of the burden in the present assessments." McEwen told Schendel that he knew of Hall but didn't agree with his findings. (Hall has been the watchdog for the Detroit Board of Commerce for years on all taxation matters.)

Trustee Gene Overholt asked "Will the Bureau of Taxation auditors give their idea of true value in their report?" The answer from McEwen was "Yes".

"However," said McEwen, "I plan to have another assessment in a year or perhaps two to bring land up to 50 per cent."

John Wilson, of the Park Lane Estates, asked "Is there any definite date for bringing the assessments up to 50 per cent?"

The answer was "No. I am following the recommendations and working with the Bureau of Taxation."

An unidentified Lake Pointe resident asked "Will the points keep going up and down as the assessments change?"

McEwen answered "The tax rate is $74.34 per thousand. It was raised last fall by the reduction of personal taxes to industry and the burden placed on land and buildings to make up the losses.

"We don't have any more money. The manner of raising it has just been spread around differently."

Breen asked "Will the evaluations turned in by the Bureau of Taxation be used as a guideline in assessments and will they be made public? The intent of the resolution turned in by our Association is to have the supervisor establish a uniform standard of assessment for the entire Township."

Breen asked "What standard will the supervisor use to establish true market value?"

The answer, "I will not go up to 50 per cent at this time."

Lauterbach asked "Is true value of land in Plymouth Township $1,000 per acre? What criteria will you use in determining the price of land?"

The answer "I'm not an appraiser and don't know the value of land."

(The Observer posed the same question to a prominent developer and an equally as prominent realtor and was told that vacant land in the western section of the Township should have a value as follows: between Napier and Ridge Roads, $1,500 per acre; between Ridge and Beck, $2,800 per acre; and from Beck Road to Sheldon Road, $3,000 to $4,000 per acre with all estimates on the low side.)

Breen asked "When will the entire township be assessed? When will buildings be reassessed? Could the Township consider hiring independent assessors to speed up the work?"

The answer, "I have never given a thought to an independent assessment. I believe

Break Ground for New $12 Million Michigan Bell Telephone Facility

Ground was broken Wednesday (today) at noon in Plymouth for a new $12 million telephone facility, one of the largest structures to be erected by Michigan Bell Telephone Company in recent years.

Preliminary plans were announced several weeks ago when Bell representatives appeared before the Plymouth City Commission to request a zoning waiver to clear the way for construction.

It was indicated then that the building would be three stories high and contain more than 91,000 square feet.

According to John Kamego, Michigan Bell manager in Livonia and Plymouth, the primary function of the building will be to house a vast amount of switching equipment for routing incoming and outgoing long distance calls.

Mayor James Houk and Plymouth Township Supervisor John McEwen joined Bell representatives at the site in the ceremonies. The facility will be situated adjacent to the company's central office at 1360 Ann Arbor near Sheldon.

Kamego explained that the equipment to be installed is known in the telephone business as "4A" apparatus and that it will augment similar equipment located in Detroit to serve the southeastern area of the state.

The Detroit equipment is nearing its capacity, Kamego said, as the number of long distance calls to and from the area continues to rise.

Besides the equipment that will handle calls automatically, there will be 132 switchboard positions occupied by operators for the special handling of those long distance calls not routed through the Direct Distance Dialing network.

"Michigan Bell's huge investment in this new facility reflects the continued upward trend in long distance usage," Kamego said, "and is part of the company's large construction program to keep up with the demand for new service and the rate people are using it."

Michigan Bell recently announced it will spend $184 million in 1967 on new construction to expand and improve its service statewide.

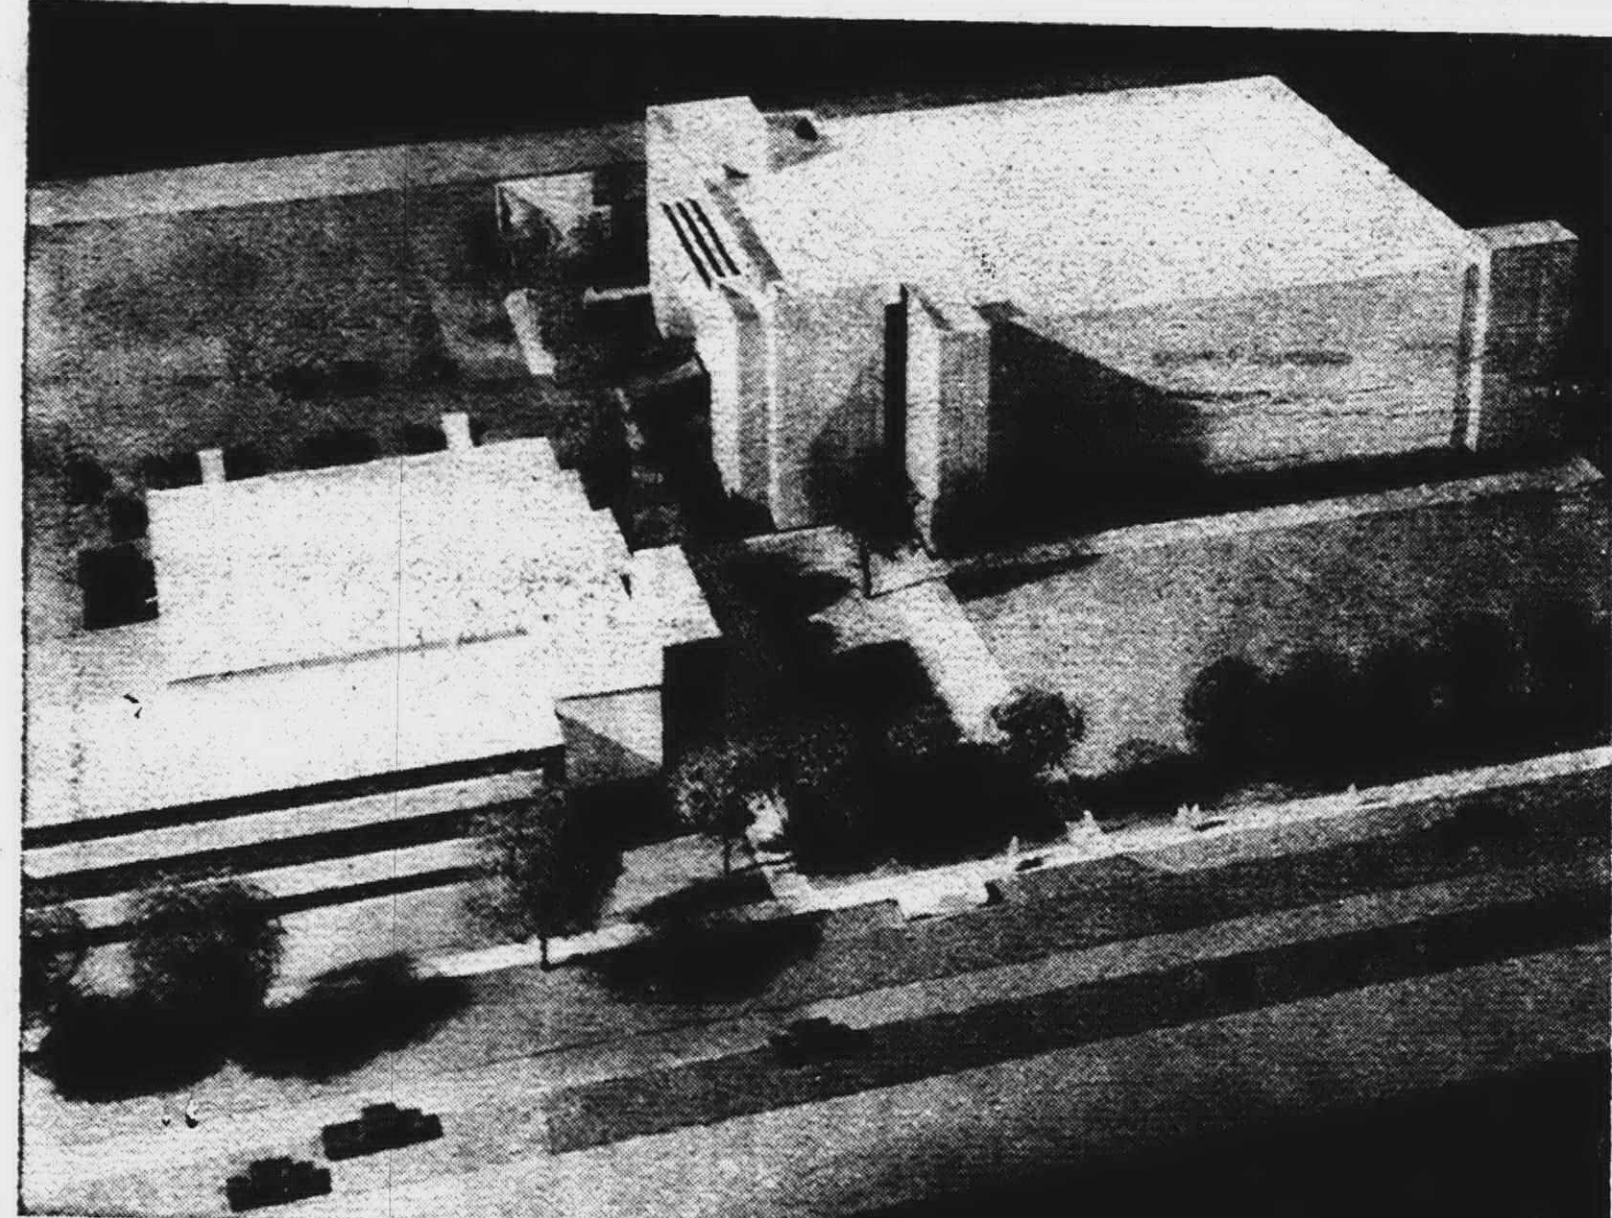

Besides the equipment space and operator positions in the new building, it will also be the quarters for some personnel working in the company's Fort division headquarters.

The eventual employee population in the building is expected to be between 500 and 600 people, Kamego said. It will contain complete kitchen and cafeteria facilities along with a parking area to accommodate about 400 cars.

To be constructed of reinforced concrete with a "blast resistant" design, the building will measure 204 by 68 feet. Basement area is included in the plan.

The architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc. are the designers, and general construction is under contract to Darin & Armstrong, Inc., of Detroit.

Plan to Invite English Mayor To Centennial

Heading the list of dignitaries being invited to Plymouth for the Centennial celebration that opens on Sunday, March 5, will be P.

D. Pascho the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England.

The Centennial Committee agreed to stretch its collective hands across the seas to add a real Pilgrim touch to the celebration for it was from Plymouth, England, the original Pilgrims sailed on their eventful trip across the Atlantic.

Along with the Lord Mayor from England, there will be a host of other Plymouth mayors invited. There are 14 cities named Plymouth in the United States and the Mayor of each of them is being invited to attend the celebration at some time during the summer.

Philip H. Power, owner and publisher of the Plymouth Mail and the Observer Newspaper group, has been designated to extend the official invitation to the Mayor of Plymouth, England, during his visit there next month.

C of C Lists Leadership Conference

The second Plymouth Community Leadership Conference will be held on the Schoolcraft College Campus on Saturday, April 8 with more than 100 expected to attend. That was the announcement Monday by Plymouth Chamber of Commerce President Carl Pursell.

The first conference, which has started several studies in the community, was held last March at the facilities of Hillsdale College with Dr. Howard McClusky, of the University of Michigan as moderator.

Dr. McClusky, professor of Educational Sociology, will serve in a similar capacity this year.

The purpose of the second conference will be to hear statute reports on two areas of governmental cooperation: Joint police study with Plymouth Township Trustee Dick Lauterbach as chairman; and joint incinerator study with Plymouth City Manager Richard Blodgett as chairman.

Invitations have been extended to all organizations, business, government, school service clubs, women's groups, labor, industry, teach-

"Where Do We Go From Here?" Asks CBD Study Committees

"What happens now? Just what have we accomplished after six months of meetings and recommendations?"

These were the comments heard after the Central Business District Implementation sub-committees made recommendations for the Municipal Parking Authority, a full-loop traffic circulation concept and a covered walk along Penniman Ave., Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail in the final report meeting in the City Commission Chambers.

In addition, the committees recommended that the report of the Beautification and Open Space group be accepted and that the members be appointed a special subcommittee of the City Commission to take its final recommendations to that august body.

Perhaps the most important recommendation was that for a Parking Authority by city ordinance to give it the powers necessary to function.

However, members of the various committees pointed out that studies and recommendations have been made before by study groups and nothing came out of the final suggestions.

Double Standard For Delinquency Hits Boys Harder

ANN ARBOR — Why are boys five to 10 times more likely than girls to become delinquent?

A University of Michigan investigator suggests that one reason is the absence of cultural and social support for delinquent behavior by girls, in other words, there is a "double standard" for delinquency.

Dr. Ruth A. Morris and associates in the U-M Institute for Social Research interviewed matched groups of delinquent and non-delinquent boys and girls in Flint — site of a continuing study of family life and youth by institute researchers.

Dr. Morris, now at Rutgers University, first reported on the research in the British Journal of Criminology.

She says that the interviews in Flint support the theory that delinquency results most often when factors prevent young people from reaching "culturally defined" success goals. These goals differ for boys and girls.

Obstacles to higher social status are most likely to lead to delinquency in boys, she points out. And obstacles to enjoying warm interpersonal relationships are most likely to lead to delinquency in girls.

Dr. Morris adds that warm interpersonal relationships are more often available to girls than social mobility is available to boys. So boys, being more often frustrated in realizing their goals, are more often delinquent.

And not only are boys more often frustrated, their delinquency is more tolerated by others, including other youngsters, she points out.

Girls in the study were less willing than boys to admit previous contacts with police — an indication that they feel more shame about delinquent behavior.

"Evidence of greater shame on the part of delinquent girls is considered one indication of awareness of greater social disapproval toward female delinquency," Dr. Morris explains.

The results also support the belief that boys are more tolerant toward delinquent behavior and feel less social pressure against it than do girls and non-delinquents, the researcher says.

They tend also to show that there is less social disapproval of boys than of girls committing the same offenses, she adds.

"All these findings combine to give considerable evidence that non-delinquents live in a social atmosphere with fewer cultural and subcultural supports for delinquency," Dr. Morris writes.

"Similarly, all girls, delinquents and non-delinquents, are continuously faced with a relative absence of subcultural supports for delinquency and a much more stringent social disapproval of delinquency than are boys. This absence of cultural support is probably one significant factor leading to the markedly lower rate of delinquency for girls."

Average hourly and salary employment of 233,849 was up more than 16,000 from the 217,741 of 1965. The United States payroll was $2,203,792,000, which topped by $140,944,000 the 1965 record of $2,062,848,000.

Gross average hourly earnings of $3.67 for Ford Motor Company hourly-rated U.S. employees set a record in 1966 — passing by nine cents the 1965 average of $3.58.

Company employment in Michigan also set a high and averaged 112,519—6,903 more than the previous record of 105,616 men and women employed in 1965.

Ford's Michigan payroll for 1966 — also a high — was

Vagnozzi Named 19th District Chief

Area Democrats Are Busy at Convention

By PHILIP H. POWER
Observer Publisher

GRAND RAPIDS—Democrats from communities covered by the Observer Newspaper Group played key roles in the Democratic State Convention here on Saturday and Sunday.

Margaret Halava of Farmington was one of five candidates for the eagerly sought post of party vice chairman, and former 19th District Congressman Billie Farnum, of Drayton Plains, presided over an important reorganization of the 19th District structure.

Also elected were officers and delegates to the Democratic State Central Committee from the 2nd, 15th and 19th Congressional Districts.

Mrs. Halava's bid to win the vice chairmanship developed early Sunday morning, when she was advised by sources close to State Chairman Zolton Ferency, that the convention was truly an open one, and that her candidacy would be to the party's advantage.

Going from district caucus to district caucus to drum up votes, Mrs. Halava accumulated support from several districts in addition to her own 19th district when action started on the floor of the convention on Sunday afternoon.

In all, three ballots were cast, each separated by various attempts to trade blocks of votes on the floor. In the end, Mrs. Robert Knox of Detroit won out, with Mrs. Halava coming in third.

The reorganization of the 19th district's structure, termed by Farnum as "an extremely important move to solidify the district's effectiveness," resulted in a unified organization covering party activity in both Oakland and Wayne Counties.

The district's organization previously had been split between each county, and it has been no secret to party workers that the old arrangement hindered coordination and work during election campaigns.

Elected chairman of the new district organization was Aldo Vagnozzi of Farmington.

Serving with him will be two vice chairmen, Rebecca Woods of Pontiac and Jerry Raymond of Livonia. Elected district secretary was Charles Deamud of Redford Township, while Phil Maggio of Livonia was chosen treasurer. All officers were elected unanimously.

Involved in the organizational change was, in effect, a setback for Ron Mardiros of Livonia, who had previously served as chairman of the Wayne County section of the 19th district. His post was abolished in the reorganization. He was not elected as a district officer at the convention caucus, despite attempts made by his supporters to nominate him for a seat on the State Central Committee.

Elected delegates to the State Central Committee were Carolyn Maggio of Livonia, Glenn Hartsell of Redford, Dorothy Olson of Waterford, and Otis Lawrence of Pontiac. Local residents chosen to be alternates were John Koza of Redford Township and Paul Kadish of Livonia.

St. Mary Has Been Busy From Minute Doors Opened

This is the second of a series of special articles on St. Mary Hospital of Livonia, its growth, its facilities, its contribution to the area and the part it expects to play in the future. This series is being written by W. W. Edgar, Observer staff writer who also is chairman of the Advisory Board of the hospital. These articles will appear from time to time in the Observer—Ed. Note.

W.W. EDGAR
From the day in 1959 when the first patient was admitted, St. Mary Hospital has played a most unusual role in medical care and has established all sorts of records for services.

Each year the amount of service increased until the figures for 1966, just released by Sister Mary Columbine, Administrator, sound almost unbelievable.

For example, 10,311 patients were cared for during the year and this amounted to 62,942 patient days.

And the number of patients treated in the emergency room reached the total of 22,596 and 1,776 regular patients were admitted through the emergency room.

During 1966 traffic reached a new high in the operating room when 7,021 operations were performed and of this total 898 were emergency cases.

According to the report 1,975 infants were born in St. Mary and 7,749 physical therapy treatments were given. And in the x-ray department 19,580 patients were x-rayed. Rounding out the service 166,151 lab tests were done.

"It was a very busy year," Sister Columbine declared in releasing the figures. It could have been even busier had we the room to care for the patients. We just didn't have a sufficient number of beds to meet the demand.

From its inception St. Mary has been an oasis in a medical desert. While most new hospitals do not attain capacity in bed patients for at least a year, St. Mary reached the peak within six months. And the rush never has subsided.

Aside from the services it rendered inside of the hospital, St. Mary also was instrumental in developing the medical community. Because of the high standards established by Sister Columbine, a host of outstanding doctors has been attracted to the community.

It has been said that the Livonia area boasts more highly skilled medical men—doctors and surgeons—than any community of like size in the country.

And more of these highly skilled medical men practice in the hospital than other institutions of comparable size.

"Now that we have installed the latest methods for operating the Emergency Room," Sister Columbine concluded, "the hospital is running very smoothly—save for lack of bedrooms."

While an addition to the hospital was built in 1965, it was mainly for emergency cases. Now, the Sisters would like to add another wing in an effort to meet the demand for services.

Along with the desire to add another wing to care for patients, the Sisters are eager to have the facilities increased so that a nursing school could be inaugurated at a high level.

Consumers Slates Expansion Program

Consumers Power Company will invest $3 million in the western Wayne County area as part of its 1967 program to expand and improve electric and natural gas service, James P. Thomas, West Wayne division manager said.

The division, headquartered in Livonia, expects to add 3,700 new gas customers in 1967. Plans include the construction of an addition to the Livonia service center, Thomas said.

The division serves 67,000 customers in an area encompassing 260 square miles of western Wayne county, including the communities of Farmington, Livonia, Wayne, Northville, Novi and Plymouth.

The projects in the division are part of the company's 1967 expansion and improvement program of $136,000,000.

Thomas said the major project in the division will be the continued expansion of the gas distribution system, with the installation of over 61 miles of new gas pipelines.

The addition to the Livonia service center will add 14,200 square feet for general purposes and 6,700 square feet for storeroom use. The building was erected in 1960 but growth of the gas business and addition of more employees necessitates the addition.

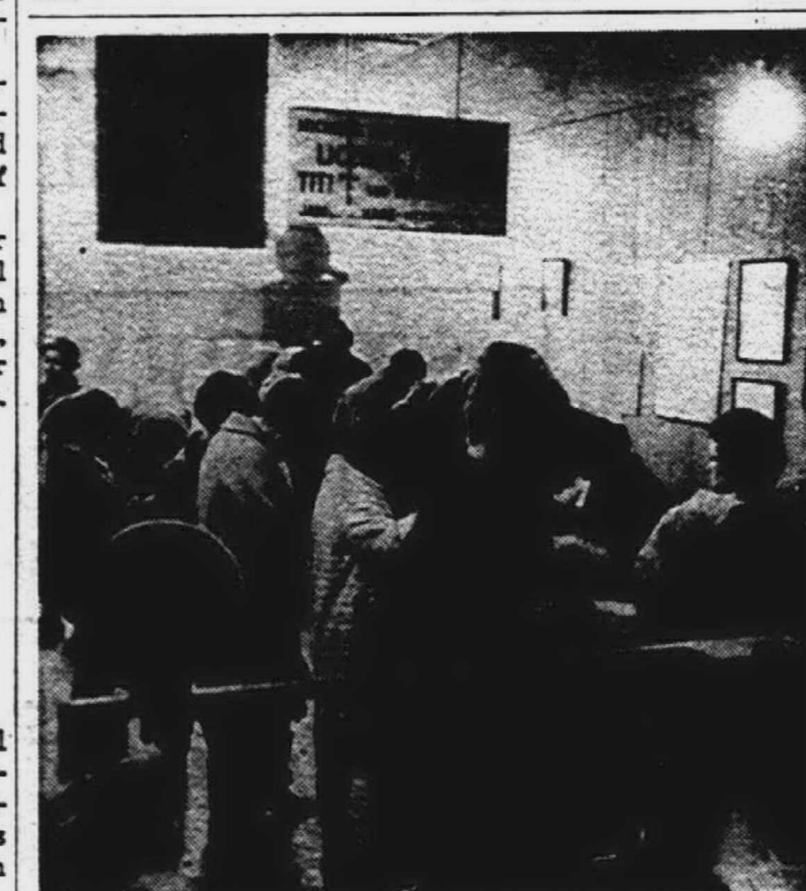

A gas regulator station will be built this year at Newburg and 7-Mile Road in Livonia to augment the gas supply to the Farmington area.

Consumers Power Company provides gas service to 735,000 customers and electric service to 979,000 customers in a combined service area which includes all but one of the 68 counties in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

Natural gas customers receive gas supplies by way of an interconnected network of pipelines from southwestern United States and from underground storage fields in various locations in Michigan.

To keep abreast of the growth of its gas operations, Consumers Power is continuing a development program in St. Clair and Macomb counties. Included are additions to the Ray gas compressor station and expansion of underground storage facilities.

LICENSE PLATE offices in the area are mobbed by those seeking auto licenses before the Feb. 23 deadline. This is a scene in the Secretary of State office in Plymouth where long lines have been the order since Monday. A big last minute rush is anticipated next Monday and Tuesday.

set and plaque. The plaque commemorated his role as the first Congressman to serve the newly created district, his service to the state as Auditor General, and his embodiment of "the legend of the self made man made true."

Robert Jackson of Pontiac, who had previously served as Oakland County 19th District

Chairman under the old organization, and Mardiros, who served in a similar capacity for Wayne County, received votes of thanks for their service to the party.

The 19th district elected a new executive board, which included a number of local residents: Margaret Halava of Farmington; Owen Cummings, Harold Dunne and George Haas of Redford Township; and Pat Whitten and Marvin Stempien of Livonia.

It was clear that district leaders were pleased at the new organization put through at the convention.

Paul Livingston of West Bloomfield, who was elected to the district's executive board, explained that months of work led up to the change, during which various problems of coordination between the Oakland and the Wayne County segments were resolved.

"Before the change, we had no unity of direction, especially during campaign time," Livingston commented.

When asked about Mardiros' role over the past several years, Livingston noted that "There has been some dissatisfaction in the party membership, particularly with the results of last year's election."

Mardiros did not comment directly on the changes made at the 19th district caucus, except to pledge continued work for the Democratic Party.

As newly elected chairman of the unified district, Vagnozzi said that "the unification move went much better than anyone expected. I think it's an omen for the future."

Vagnozzi also noted that work will be done to establish a permanent resolutions committee on a district level, and that he and his organization will work "the present Congressman's record to the attention of the voters."

The present Congressman from the 19th district is Jack McDonald of Redford, who defeated Farnum in the election last year.

DEEP IN THOUGHT at the Democratic State Convention in Grand Rapids are former 19th District Congressman Billie Farnum and new 19th District Chairman Aldo Vagnozzi. Area Democrats pushed through a re-organization of the District, which had previously been split between Oakland and Wayne Counties. Vagnozzi, who was elected at the convention, will head up the united district. Seen at rear right is Peter Ventura, Livonia City Council President.

MICHIGAN SECRETARY OF STATE
JAMES M. HARE

MARV STEMPIEN, BRANCH MANAGER

PLYMOUTH at MIDDLEBELT — LIVONIA

Council Approves 2 Traffic Signs

Acting on recommendations of Acting Police Chief Roger Vanderveen, the City Commission Monday approved permanent "Yield right of way" signs at McKinley and Maple and permanent "no parking" signs on Davis Street between Liberty Street and the C&O Railroad.

However, a third recommendation for permanent "no parking" signs on Arthur Street between Williams and Blanche Streets was referred back to the City Manager for additional study.

Chief Vanderveen had recommended that the "no parking" signs on the east side of Arthur Street be made permanent to open the street for emergency vehicles.

The Commissioners discussed the matter from all angles and finally decided it would be better for the administration to study the situation for another month and then make a recommendation.

See Assessment Fight

McEwen answered numerous questions with the stock reply "I have to wait for the report from the Bureau of Taxation."

Lauterbach pointed out that it appeared the program would extend over a period of two or three years, depending on when the Bureau of Taxation could come in to do the work.

"As it stands now," he said, "it appears as if land will be assessed at 25 per cent this year and then buildings will be reassessed in another year or perhaps later."

Another identified Lake Pointe homeowner asked "You have told us you will assess land at 25 per cent but there hasn't been anything said about what happens to our homes, practically all of which are assessed at 35 per cent. Will we receive an adjustment to 25 per cent under the present plans?"

McEwen answered "The only change this year will be in the assessments on vacant land which will be boosted to 25 per cent, there will be no change in buildings."

The homeowner charged "Well, I guess you'd have to say that we took a shafting this year and it will continue."

Breen asked "Why hasn't the reassessment been carried on as specifically required by state law? The provision for assessing at 50 per cent of true value was passed in 1963—here it is 1967 and nothing has been done at this time."

Only one homeowner supported the supervisor's proposal for assessing land at 25 per cent. Martin Stiglich, 14905 Beck Road, said that since much of the land in the western part of the township had not changed hands for years "It really doesn't have any value."

Stiglich said land assessments should be compared with those in nearby Washtenaw County rather than in Wayne because Washtenaw has more of the rural land similar to that in the Township.

In response to the questions of Breen, McEwen said that evaluations turned over to him by the Bureau of Taxation would be made public.

"They will be in the Township Hall perhaps by Thursday," he said.

And when they are, it is expected that members of the Lake Pointe Home Owners Association will be there to inspect the list and learn exactly how the valuable vacant land in the western side of the Township has been assessed.

CBD Study Committees

The Parking Committee recommendation that the City establish a Parking Authority with the power to raise funds, establish and operate parking facilities in the City received a unanimous vote.

In a second recommendation, the committee asked that the "Authority establish a business licensing procedure that would provide for assessing a parking fee for all existing businesses, such fee to be based on the number of employees and the amount of private employe and customer parking provided by the business."

Chairman Ralph Lorenz, of the Parking Committee, indicated his group felt strongly that the proposed Authority should be established by ordinance and that his group would make recommendations as to the powers and duties.

City Commissioner Arch Vallier, who attended along with Mayor James Houk and Commissioners George Hudson, James Jabara and James McKeon, posed the question of what the merchants wanted from an Authority.

"Do the merchants want paid parking or do they want free parking in the city parking lots?" queried Vallier.

The information wasn't immediately available but Chamber of Commerce President Carl Pursell promised to have the answers within another week or so to be used as a guiding point for the recommendations of the Parking Committee in setting up powers and duties of the Authority.

Chairman Wallace Loucks, of the Store Front committee, read the recommendation of his group that a covered walk be constructed for Penniman Ave., Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail and that store front changes should be controlled to the degree that changes are compatible for the overall design.

The finance committee, which made recommendations for financing each of the proposals, suggested that a special assessment was the most desirable means of financing the covered sidewalks since it is difficult to show a benefit to the city at large.

"We feel financing by individual contributions is too uncertain," the recommendation reads, "If federal funds can be obtained, they should be; but then the entire cover should be built at once, so every store can benefit from such funds."

The report of the Traffic Circulation committee, presented by Thomas O'Hara, asks "that a full loop concept, as proposed by the planning consultants be implemented as part of the city's street improvement program, as soon as economically possible."

The loop plan calls for a two-way loop around the Central Business District with turns available at Ann Arbor Trail, Wing Street and Church Street and with Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail as the principal arteries.

Financing of the traffic loop would be turned over to the City Commission in the recommendation of the finance committee.

"It is our thought that the City Commission investigate the costs of the proposed loop and if financially feasible, develop a formula to finance it through the following sources," was the recommendation.

"By assessments on property owners abutting the loop; a special assessment district; and financing by the general public."

"We believe the City Commission should look into the special assessment district and study it carefully," said Harold Guenther, a member of the committee.

The recommendations of the Beautification and Open Spaces committee were five-fold and involve an estimated cost of $200,000. The finance group told the gathering the proposals should be financed by private memorial funds, federal funds where available and other funds, such as from special service club projects.

The Beautification committee report, made by C. L. Porter, recommended:

- 1—That the basic design for beautification of Kellogg Park, as presented by consultants Johnson, Johnson and Ray of Ann Arbor five years ago, be accepted with the following additions: an impressive fountain in classical style on the Main Street side of the park; consideration of a permanent music shell; statuary and historical markers; retention of the point of the park triangle opposite Main Street as an integral part of the park; and financing by a joint community effort.
- 2—That a street and sidewalk planting program be adopted and include: a formal planting design for main avenues and streets and Kellogg Park, including permanent tub plantings to be recommended later for residential areas; an efficient plan for replacement of trees lost to natural causes and construction; and a review of the open spaces in the city in the context of the plan.
- 3—That an official flowering tree be designated for the City and placed throughout Plymouth by the City and Residents. The Flowering Crab was recommended.
- 4—That all four city parking lots be beautified including use of: landscaping and tree planting, use of dumpsters for trash and consideration of enclosures for unsightly views.
- 5—That further consideration of a mall in the CBD be delayed until after completion of the proposed loop. Penniman Avenue is not recommended for a mall because businesses on the street are non-shopping in character. It is not felt a mall would attract enough new businesses in the Penniman area.

The steering group of the sub-committees, appointed six months ago by Mayor James Houk and the City Commission to make the studies and recommendations, included: City Manager Richard Blodgett, who served as moderator of the report meetings; City Clerk Eugene Slider and Pursell.

DPW $8,328 Over Budget

The Plymouth Department of Public Works is $8,328 over its budget for care of the streets during the winter months due to the heavy snows.

That was the announcement Monday by DPW Supt. Kenneth Vogras who went over the expenditures and the budget with City Manager Richard Blodgett Monday to learn how much the deficit actually was.

"We thought our figures were wrong when we indicated the costs were about $8,000 over budget," explained Vogras. "But the check Monday showed that things were worse than we had anticipated. And don't forget we could have more winter in the next two months."

Centennial

(Continued from Page One) Mayor James Houk also is planning a visit to England in the near future and he, too, will call on his counterpart in England and urge him to attend the Centennial.

The committee is hopeful that the English official will make the trip and stop at Plymouth, Mass., enroute to pick up the mayor of the Massachusetts town for the trip here.

Having all of the Plymouth Mayors in attendance is only one of many features planned for the Centennial. The present schedule already includes 68 events and more being added each week. The heavy schedule provides for outstanding events each month from March through Nov.

Although the costs of just about everything else has increased in recent years, the price of copying materials at the Garden City Public Library has been slashed.

Mich. Bell

(Continued from Page One) Kamego said it will take about a year to complete the building itself, after which several months will be required for the installation of equipment.

The Western Electric Company, which manufactures supplies for the Bell System as well as installs central office equipment, announced that the project in the Plymouth toll center will be the largest installation ever undertaken for Michigan Bell.

City Solons Withdraw Request for Hearing

After listening to plans of C&O Railroad officials for installing a spur to the new Ford Motor Co. plant on N. Sheldon Road, Plymouth's City Commissioners decided to withdraw their request for a public hearing before the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Commissioners, led by Mayor James Houk, met with representatives of the MSPC and the C&O in a special session Monday morning.

The C&O presented its case and the Commission decided the railroad was doing everything possible.

However in Monday evening's regular Commission meeting, the Council voted to request Supervisor Arch Vallier, who also is a member of the City Commission, to contact the Wayne County Road Commission about the possibility of an underground crossing at N. Sheldon Road.

Commissioner James Jabara indicated he had heard that the Road Commission had denied a request for the crossing.

"I believe Supervisor Vallier should try to arrange a meeting with the Road Commission," said Jabara, "to get the facts about why they denied the crossing."

Jabara said he understood federal funds were available to assist in the cost of such a project and he felt the City should take every step possible to move towards the underground crossing.

City Extends Cab Permits Until May 1

Plymouth's City Commission Monday extended the 10 taxi licenses, issued to Mayflower Cab and Checker Cab, until May 1 pending the passage of a new taxi ordinance which received its first reading during the meeting.

Each company has five permits. All have been on a continuing basis since Jan. 1 but each will be subject to renewal once the Commission passes the new ordinance to the third and final reading.

City Manager Richard Blodgett told the Commission that a recent check of the cab companies showed only one minor complaint in the last two months.

Previous to mid-December, when the Commission ordered the City Manager to call in officials from both companies to air complaints, the administration and members of the Commission had been bothered by numerous calls about poor service.

Millington Named To Board of Review

Frank Millington, who has been active in Township affairs for years as head of the Plymouth Community Civic Association, has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Walter Abate on the Plymouth Township Board of Review.

The appointment, recommended by Supervisor John McEwen, was approved last week by the Trustees.

The Trustees approved the naming of Herbert Smith as the Township's first refrigeration inspector. He will also be building inspector.

Plymouth Community music lovers will have an opportunity to see the Plymouth High orchestra perform in the new blazers, provided by the Board of Education and the Plymouth Symphony Board, at the annual mid-winter concert of the music department Saturday at 8 in the school gym.

The orchestra, choir and band will share honors. Directing the joint concert will be choir and orchestra director Fred Nelson, junior high orchestra Supervisor Michael Andres and Band Director James Griffith.

The choir will sing: Miserere Cordis Domini by Durante, Jesus I Will Ponder Now by Schuetz, Were You There? a spiritual, Charade by Mancini, and I'm Goin' to Sing, a spiritual.

The final portion of the program will be presented by the band and includes Mass from "La Fiesta Mexicana" by Reed, From Every Horizon by Dello Joio, Festive Overture by Shostakovich, and Nobles of the Mystic Shrine by Sousa. Admission is free.

Featured will be selected solos and ensembles which won honors in the district solo and the ensemble festival at Ypsilanti a week ago.

In the band portion, two outstanding features of the wind instrument presentation will be the 17-piece French Horn ensemble. It contains all of the French Horn players in the Plymouth School district and will be directed by Louis Stout, Professor of French Horn at the University of Michigan.

Jamie Randall, a senior member of the band, will play a trombone solo Andante de Allegro by Barat with Fred Nelson furnishing the piano accompaniment.

The orchestra will open the program with the following selections: Symphony No. 24 in B Flat Major by Mozart, Pezzo Ostinato from the "Charterhouse Suite" by Williams, Rondo Movement No. 3 from the piano concerto in D Major by Haydn with James Warren as soloist and

Baker Reports From Lansing

By RAYMOND L. BAKER
State Representative,
(R) 64th District

Fiscal reform continues to be the major topic of business in the Legislature. Republicans in the House have created a "climate" for fiscal reform by passing a schedule that takes up tax matters before acting on appropriation. There seems to be a general confidence that the House would approve Governor Romney's tax program. There appears to be a small Democratic faction threatening to defeat the fiscal reform package, but there appears to be enough bipartisan support to pass the necessary reforms to effectively carry out state government operations.

Hearings on the tax reform issue will be held by taxation committees around the state, including several in Lansing. These will be used not only to get public reaction on the matter of taxation and fiscal reform, but to acquaint the general public with the critical need for tax revision. At present, the state is said to be going behind by 10 million dollars a month, and will be in serious trouble by next December if prompt action is not taken.

As of Wednesday last week, 262 bills had been introduced by the House of Representatives and this number is identical with the number of bills introduced in the House last year at the same time. Some of the Republican bills introduced included a bill which would allow Grand Jurors to discuss with each other information gained in their investigations. The bill would be of particular significance in a large Metropolitan area such as Wayne County, Oakland County, and Macomb County. Currently, Wayne and Oakland Counties are conducting Grand Jury investigations. The bill has the support of both the Governor and the Attorney General as a necessary tool to fight crime in the state.

Another bill would equalize the pay of local county employees and state employees working under the jurisdiction of local supervision and doing identical jobs. The bill would provide state compensation to make up the difference in pay between these jobs.

A bill to allow school districts to transport children within the one and a half mile limit set up by law without additional allotments and without the District being penalized was also introduced. The main intent of the bill is to allow school districts through their local boards to authorize pickup of children within the mile and a half limitation where it is necessary for them to walk on public highways.

The House Committee on Judiciary Thursday reported out a bill which would correct a portion of the Michigan Vehicle Code. The bill was designed to correct a suppression of the news on accident reports. Under Public Act 171 passed by the last Legislature, accident information would apparently not have been available to the news media or anyone having a legitimate interest in the information. This bill would make accident information and the opinion of the investigating officer public information. The current Act is scheduled to take effect March 10, unless this bill is passed and given immediate effect.

Under terms of the contract signed last summer, the workers will receive six cents more per hour than the amount paid last fall. William Bedell, assistant business administrator, said the Detroit Cost of Living Index rose nine-tenths of a point in the fourth quarter of 1966: from 112.1 to 113.3.

According to a formula which has been worked out, employees will get an additional $13 (average payment) on top of the $14 which was paid for cost-of-living increases in the third quarter. This new hike in the cost of living added to the previous quarter will cost the school district $7,300.

The contract terms, agreed upon last summer with Local 118 of the American Federation of State, Municipal and County Employees, do not cover bus drivers and cooks who are only employed for 10 months. Over 200 custodians are included among those who will receive the higher pay.

lic with the critical need for tax revision. At present, the state is said to be going behind by 10 million dollars a month, and will be in serious trouble by next December if prompt action is not taken.

As of Wednesday last week, 262 bills had been introduced by the House of Representatives and this number is identical with the number of bills introduced in the House last year at the same time. Some of the Republican bills introduced included a bill which would allow Grand Jurors to discuss with each other information gained in their investigations. The bill would be of particular significance in a large Metropolitan area such as Wayne County, Oakland County, and Macomb County. Currently, Wayne and Oakland Counties are conducting Grand Jury investigations. The bill has the support of both the Governor and the Attorney General as a necessary tool to fight crime in the state.

PLYMOUTH SYMPHONY

Centennial Concert—March 5

The Kenneth Jewell Chorale, one of the most outstanding vocal groups in Michigan, will highlight the fifth concert of the 1966-67 season of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra which has been dedicated to the City's Centennial celebration. The program, on Sunday, March 5, the 100th birthday of the City, will be held in the Plymouth High auditorium at 4 p.m. with a "symphony soiree" to follow. The audience will be invited to join the orchestra, Chorale and the Plymouth Symphony Society Board in the social hour.

This will be the third consecutive appearance of the Chorale with the orchestra and the program traditionally is one of the highspots of the season.

Kenneth Jewell, Chorale director, is director of Personnel at the Interlochen Arts Academy. He commutes to Detroit each week to rehearse and perform with the group of 40 highly trained vocal artists.

Soloists for the concert are: Carolyn Grimes, soprano; and Pastor Walter Scarvie, baritone, who is minister of Lutheran Church in Mt. Clemens.

The Chorale has received high praise from Mischa Mischakoff, concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony, who said "This group of excellent young artists sounds like one fine instrument perfectly blended—precision and musicianship—excellent."

The complete program, which will be under the direction of Conductor Wayne Dunlap, includes:

Eine Kleine Nachtmusik by Mozart; Prelude and Love Death "Tristan and Isolde" by Wagner and a German Requiem by the Chorale.

All concerts are open to the public free of charge and baby sitting service will be available through courtesy of Girl Scout Troop 501.

Area Resource Center Will Open Tomorrow

Innovations in audio-visual material will be on display tomorrow afternoon at the Professional Resource Center's open house being held at the Wayne County Library in Wayne from 2 to 6 o'clock.

Taxpayer funds, returned to the local area by the federal government in the amount of $40,000, have been used by the Wayne County Intermediate School District to establish the center.

George Moffat, director of the Center, indicated that special tours, refreshments, demonstrations, and a complete array of audio-visual materials will be featured.

Administrators, teachers, curriculum directors, board members, and interested citizens are invited to attend the Open House.

As an added feature, visitors will be given a tour of the following Wayne County Library facilities:

•Book Processing Center where 58,000 volumes are being processed for schools, •Library For The Blind—(one of 32 regional centers in the United States), •Children's Resource Center, •Film Library—approximately 4,000 on 16-millimeter films.

The Professional Resource Center is available to all educational groups in Wayne County. A call to Director Moffat at the Center (722-8000—Ext. 39) is the best way to make either a group or individual reservation.

School Faces Living Cost Pay Increase

Costs of living in the Detroit metropolitan area continue to climb and, as they go up, so do the hourly rates paid 260 non-teaching employees in the Livonia School District.

Under terms of the contract signed last summer, the workers will receive six cents more per hour than the amount paid last fall.

William Bedell, assistant business administrator, said the Detroit Cost of Living Index rose nine-tenths of a point in the fourth quarter of 1966: from 112.1 to 113.3.

City Adds New Twist To Water Mains Feud

The Gaston-Alphonse act between the Plymouth City Commission and the Plymouth Township Board entered another stage Monday when the Commissioners voted to have the engineering consultants, Johnson and Anderson, report on exactly what it's estimate of $150 for a survey of water customers outside the city includes.

The Commission instructed City Manager Richard Blodgett to learn if the fee includes a study of all customers and report back at the first meeting in March.

Meanwhile, the Township Board termed a letter from the City Manager that the consultants felt it "unethical" to accept a contract to study the city's water mains for the Township, another "stall."

"The letter indicates the City will have to get permission from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission before it can sell any portion of its water system," said Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes. "The City Commission apparently didn't need the same approval when they gave us the Green Meadows customers. They just turned them over to us without asking any other authority."

Supervisor John McEwen, who resides on Governor Bradford Rd. in Plymouth Colony subdivision where petitions were presented to the Township Board several months ago requesting Township water, asked the Board what residents in that area should do.

"Do we have to sue the Township Board to get the water we want?" he asked. "This matter has been shuffled around for several months and we (the Plymouth Colony residents) want some positive action. Do we have to go to the courts to get it?"

The Township has been negotiating with the City for more than a year, trying to agree on terms for the sale of several city-owned mains to the Township. The matter has gone back and forth between the two governmental units since but is no closer to a solution now than when the petitions were first presented.

Mrs. Holmes suggested the Township bring suits to get the mains.

However, Trustee Ralph Garber pointed out that the negotiations should be for all city customers in the township, not just the residential system.

On a motion by Trustee Dick Lauterbach, the Board decided to refer the matter to Township Attorney Ralph Cole for advisement on what action the Board should take.

Besides residences, the city customers include several industries such as Burroughs, the largest source of revenue to the City.

Proposed Industrial Park to Give New Troubles to Highway Planners

New troubles appeared on the horizon for the state Highway Department in its plans for the extension of Highway M-14 across the northern side of Plymouth Township.

The Township Planning Commission has accepted for study plans for a proposed industrial subdivision directly along the tentative route of the freeway.

The subdivision, known as the Wolverine Park Industrial subdivision, is planned for an area north or Shearer Drive and west of Sheldon Road.

Carl Rosman, Detroit realtor who presented the application for Morton Scholnick, said he believed "we can fight rerouting of the highway. If the route is allowed to go through as suggested, a valuable piece of industrial property will be destroyed." The Planning Commission and the Township Board are opposed to the route proposed for the freeway and recently urged a more northerly route in a public hearing with the route location committee of the Highway Department.

Such a route would barely touch the Scholnick property while that under discussion would cover it with the main freeway and a large cloverleaf.

Scholnick is on record opposing the proposed route. Planning Commission members invited Scholnick to attend a meeting with Highway Department representatives and interested land owners Wednesday (tonight) in the Township Hall.

In other business, the Planning Commission: Listed for public hearing at the April meeting an application from Elmer Carless for rezoning from residential to professional office an area at the southwest corner of Five Mile and Haggerty Roads.

Struck from the agenda a request from Pure Oil Co. for the rezoning of a five-acre parcel at the Southeast corner of Five Mile and Haggerty Roads for lack of a formal application. Pure Oil is seeking permission to erect a service station.

A young man who enjoys Scouting, school and the National Geographic, received one of the highest Scouting honors Sunday.

Dr. Henry Walch, of the First United Presbyterian Church in Plymouth, presented the God and Country award to Bill Kesling, 13, of Pinetree, Livonia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kesling, Sr.

Young Bill has come up through the scouting ranks. He has been in Scouting for five years and started as a Cub, then a Weblo and is now a life Boy Scout member.

It took him a year and two months to earn his God and Country award. One of the most important aspects of the program was working with boys at Plymouth State Home.

Bill is a member of Scout troop No. 758 sponsored by Newburg Methodist Church. His Scoutmaster's name is William DeMud and his Dad is Assistant Scoutmaster. Aside from his newly earned badge, of which he is very proud, he also has 14 other merit badges. Bill is a student of Lowell Junior High and is an eighth grader.

For his life's work Bill is considering becoming a naturalist for National Geographic because he enjoys the magazines and thinks this would be interesting work.

Cyclist To Stand Trial

A motorcyclist followed by a policeman for minor traffic violations was bound over for Circuit Court trial recently for carrying a 38-caliber automatic revolver.

Charged with carrying a concealed weapon was Roger Amburgy, 22, of 28905 Birchlawn Street, Garden City. Binding him over for trial was Garden City Municipal Judge Richard L. Hammer.

Amburgy was observed by Patrolman Glenn Cortez last month changing lanes without signaling on Middlebelt Road and then turning right without signaling.

When Amburgy was stopped, Cortez found the revolver, loaded with nine rounds of ammunition, in the driver's leather jacket pocket.

Livonia Bank Will Expand Its Services

Livonia National Bank has established a new department, consistent with its policy of improving and expanding its business services.

President Elvin D. Dougherty has announced that Duane L. Mellinger, vice president, would head up the accounts receivable financing department and assume the responsibility for its coordination and expansion.

The new department will make advances to businesses against their accounts receivable. Dougherty stated, "This type of loan will give the business man a more liquid working capital position, and allow him to take advantage of his supplier's cash discounts."

Dougherty estimated that with the addition of the accounts receivable financing department and the expansion of other business services, Livonia National Bank would increase its total assets by 40 per cent this year.

Also announced was the decision by the Board of Directors to pay a quarterly dividend of twenty-five cents on March 15 to stockholders of record March 1, 1967.

No License, Driver Jailed For 15 Days

Jail doors have closed for 15 days behind a 33-year-old Brighton driver who continued to drive, despite several arrests for driving on a revoked license.

After failing to appear in Livonia Municipal Court to face trial, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Richard H. Kinnell of 4276 Highcrest Dr. He was picked up by Michigan State Troopers.

Kinnell pleaded guilty to driving on a revoked license and to varying his course without safe observation on Oct. 25, 1966.

He paid a fine of $25 for the second offense, set by Judge James McCann.

Livonia Teachers Not Required To Attend Evening PTA Meetings

Examination of teacher responsibilities, after school and in the evening, has been promised by Livonia School Supt. Benton E. Yates and Livonia Education Association President Roger Stephon. Their concern apparently stems from a challenge, issued by Roy Ernst, Franklin High School music teacher, asking for clarification of contract terms relating to extra-curricular duties.

A joint statement, issued Jan. 19 by Yates and Stephon reads: "... Attendance at such evening activities as PTA meetings, the chaperoning of student activities, student activities and other programs is voluntary and not required."

Ernst, well-known in this area for his musical productions, writing in "The Livonia Teacher" of January 1967, said he had asked for interpretation of the contract with the teachers early in the fall but none was forthcoming.

"I have made a personal grievance which verifies the position that teachers cannot be required to attend evening activities," he says.

"This is an area of vital concern to teachers because it is a complete revision of previous policy and gives the teachers the sole right to determine how much of his evening time will be allocated to school activities."

Yates and Stephon expressed the need for teacher cooperation in attending additional activities:

"In this and other sections, however, it is also recognized that the success or failure of such student programs is to a large extent dependent upon the willingness of teachers to acknowledge requests recognizing the importance of such activities and programs in the overall educational development of students.

"Neither the Board nor the Association wishes to see the existing program of student activities severely curtailed or jeopardized during the current school year or in subsequent years.

"It was the intent of the agreement for both parties to recognize the practices of many years and to equalize such voluntary teacher assignments.

"The Superintendent, for the Board, and the officers of the Association clearly recognize the need to continue to examine at the next date for negotiations the entire area of teacher responsibilities for after-school and evening activities, both in terms of contractual language and in terms of the relationships such responsibilities may have to other compensated teacher tasks."

FANCY STEPPER: That's Greg Coleman (22) of Bentley as he takes off for a basket against Belleville that ran the Livonia team's record to 9-0 in league play this season. Coleman also was a football star at quarterback for Bentley.

1st Perfect Team?

Bentley Nears Loop Record

Something that hasn't happened in more than a dozen years—if ever—in Suburban Six League basketball action stands within the grasp of Livonia Bentley today.

If the Bentley team can hurdle Trenton in the Bentley gym Friday night, it would become the first team in more years than most can remember to finish with a perfect league record.

Bentley goes against Trenton with:

- 1—The league title wrapped up.
- 2—A 9-0 record in the loop.

"We have checked and checked and as far as we can determine back to 1952, no league champ ever had a perfect record," said coach George Fefles of Bentley.

"It really would be something for us to be able to go into next week's districts with a record-making league campaign behind us."

Bentley had to come from behind to beat Belleville, 70-59, last Friday night.

It was 33-32 at the half. But then Bentley outscored

Belleville, 20-11, in the third period and by three points in the last quarter to win going away.

"We just tightened up our defense," said Fefles.

"In particular, we slowed down Joe Taylor of Belleville who had made 12 points in the first half. After that he scored only five points."

Larry Grimm and Ken Bollin with 18 points each topped Bentley. Bollin swished nine baskets, Grimm seven hoops and four charities.

Grey Macy finished in double figures with 11 points while Mike McCauley fired in nine points, Greg Coleman eight, and E. Ryan, Dan Doyle and Mike Formisma two each for the visitors.

Thurston Scores Twin Loop Victories

Franklin Out to Stop Champ

Can Franklin high cool off Birmingham Groves?

This shapes up as the big question as the Northwest Suburban League basketball race reaches its finish this Friday night with Groves hosting Franklin in the featured attraction.

Groves has the title locked up with an unblemished 9-0 record for league play, plus an overall mark of 14-0 for the season.

Franklin holds second place at 7-2.

Chances for the Franklin-Groves finale carrying title significance went out the window last week when Thurston squeezed past Franklin, 67-65, in a thriller when Don Block dropped in a basket as the buzzer went off to end the game.

It made no difference for Franklin that the Livonians bounced back to beat Glenn, 64-59, because when Groves trounced North Farmington, 80-57, in another Friday game—that settled the championship issue in favor of the high-powered Birmingham team.

Franklin had put on a storming finish against Thurston. The Livonians trailed by five points with a minute to go. Then a free throw by Wicks, a Wicks basket on a rebound and a hoop by Dave Paden with 10 seconds left equalized the score.

But there was just time for Thurston's Block to get the ball off. As all hearts stood still, the ball swished neatly through the hoop and Thurston's bounced in to the thick of the scramble for at least finishing in second place.

Reg Barringer had 18 points and Gary Schulte 17 for the winners while Bob Wardrop added 12 and Block 11.

It was Chris Wendrick with 18 points and Ron Wicks with 12 for Franklin which had to play without regular Steve Atkinson, who was hurt, and minus Earl Neeley and Dave Stott in the late stages when the pair fouled out.

Glenn, just 1-8 in the league, gave Franklin a real battle after falling behind by a 30-15 score in the second period.

Led by Mike Mahakian and Mike McMaster, Glenn stormed within a point of a tie with 30 seconds remaining. But two free throws by Wicks and two more charity conversions by Tom Reich sewed up the game for Franklin.

McMasters tossed in 21 points and Mahakian 16. For Franklin the high men were Reich and Neeley with 16 points each, followed by Stott with 14.

Wicks had nine points, but more important he hauled down 20 of the 49 Franklin rebounds in the game.

The game was actually decided at the free throw line. Glenn made 26 baskets to 23 for Franklin. But in the charity department, it was 18-7 in favor of Franklin.

Prior to losing to Franklin, 64-59, Glenn had beaten Cherry Hill by the same score as Mahakian led the way with seven baskets and seven free throws.

Too much height made the difference as Groves walked past North Farmington, 80-57, to clinch the Northwest flag.

Groves presented a front line of players standing 6-9, 6-5, 6-4 against North Farmington which has nobody over 6-2.

Groves pushed ahead, 19-12 in the first quarter. The margin remained the same at half time. In fact, North Farmington had a good chance until the last quarter when Groves exploded with 28 points to the Raiders' 16 to put the game far out of reach.

The Groves front wall of Mike Rafferty with 25 points, Greg Lowe with 17 and Roy Iceberg with 17 was too much for the Raiders.

Ron Flutur led the losers with 26 points, Mike McCoy had 1-0, with John Mann next with seven. The rest of the Raiders scored four points or less in the encounter.

On the heels of beating Franklin, Thurston added Oak Park to its list of victims in easy style, 87-80.

The game never was close after Thurston took a 23-11 lead after the first quarter and made it 46-20 at half time.

Five Thurston players finished in double figures as Don Block led the way with 22 points. Bob Wardrop meshed 15, Gary Schulte 11 and Roger Steffen and Reg Barringer ten each.

The Franklin-Glenn box score:

.500 Season Looming For Clarenceville Five

A .500 season or better!

It loomed possible this week for Clarenceville high's basketball team in Wayne-Oakland League action.

With battles remaining against Brighton and Milford, Clarenceville stood at 6-8 after a pair of weekend decisions over Holly, 49-47, and West Bloomfield, 74-51.

"I don't know the last time we finished at .500 or better," said Gene Scholes, the Clarenceville coach.

Both against Holly and West Bloomfield, Clarenceville turned in strong defensive performances.

Take the game against Holly and the work fashioned by Jim McClory for the Trojans, offensively he showed no points.

But it was his job to check Greg Avery, who had been averaging 22 points per game for Holly.

With McClory staying right on Avery all the way, the latter managed only one basket and one free throw—that's right, just three points.

The game was a thriller right down to the finish. Less than a half minute remained when Chuck Watkins dropped in two free throws to wrap up the victory.

Clarenceville led, 12-9, after one period; trailed, 25-23, at the half, and went into the final period with a point edge. Ron Ray with 18 points and 21 rebounds set the pace for the winners. John Thompson had 13 points while Mark Divendorf scored 10 and Watkins finished with seven.

Clarenceville allowed West Bloomfield just one basket and four free throws in the first period in taking a 12-6 lead.

After West Bloomfield closed within eight points at halftime, the Trojans pumped in 28 points to the losers' 15 in the third stanza to put the game out of reach.

Thompson had 22 points

Clarenceville to its fourth league win in the last five starts. Ray again was brilliant rebounding with 17 grabs, plus 14 points. Watkins and Jim Amick contributed eight points each to the Clarenceville attack.

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

You're in New York for three days . . . and in the short span of some 72 hours you jam in two professional basketball doubleheaders, a Broadway show, a big track meet, a hockey game and watching the Rockettes perform on the big stage at the Radio City Music Hall.

Exciting? Sure.

But your biggest thrill comes from watching youngsters flock to sports heroes for their autographs and how Oscar Robertson, perhaps the greatest of all basketball players, always seems to find time to help in his way to keep kids on the right side of the tracks.

Picture this scene, if you will: It's Saturday night with the midnight hour approaching. Robertson had started the day in Cleveland where his Cincinnati team had played the night before.

There was a plane ride, a cab ride, an appearance at a boys' basketball clinic and then a battle with the New York Knicks in which Robertson played every moment as Cincinnati was nipped by a point in an exciting finish.

The Cincinnati team, like most other professional basketball teams playing in New York, resides in a hotel across the street from Madison Square Garden. The kids know this as they flock in and around the building in their quest for autographs.

Forty-five minutes after Cincinnati loses, Robertson comes into the hotel. At least 50 boys parade on his heels.

"Just let me take my suitcase upstairs," says Robertson. "I'll be right down to see you."

Most athletes would have used such a remark to escape the kids. But Robertson didn't.

True to his word, he was downstairs within minutes. There was another parade . . . this time as Robertson led his faithful across the lobby to a spot where he could sit down . . . and one by one autographs the scraps of paper each boy presented.

Not until each boy had been taken care of did Robertson arise and head into the restaurant for a long delayed meal.

Other adults looked on big eyed. You sort of felt embarrassed as you think about the various times in your life that you may have spurned the wishes . . . not only of your own youngsters at home, but other kids who looked to you for a little encouragement in the newspaper business or maybe in the excitement of a sports event you were officiating.

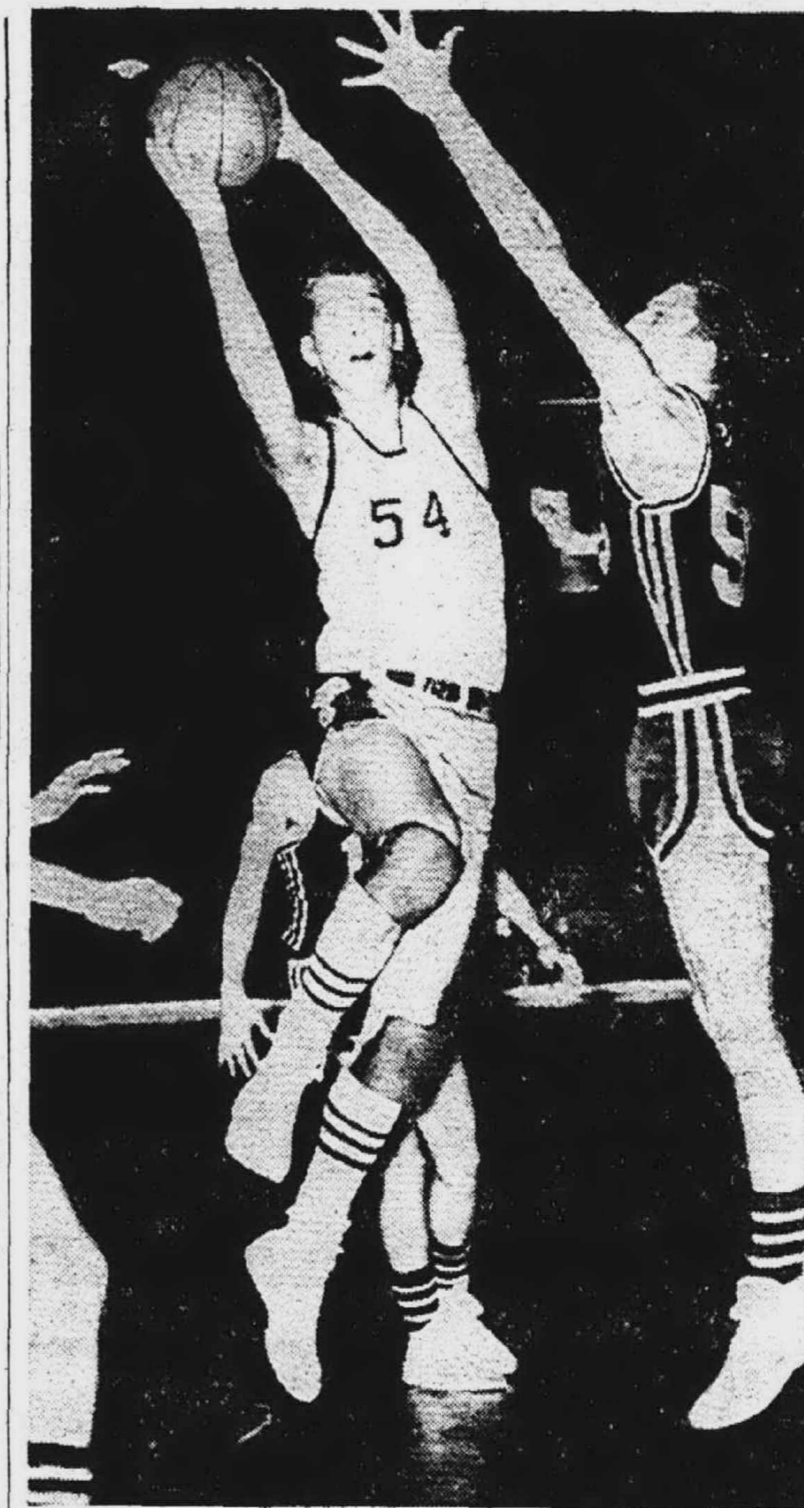

So often, we find ourselves too busy. At least, we think we're too busy for the kids.

Maybe, we should think back . . . like Oscar Robertson obviously does.

He admits that when he was a kid, "there were grownups who helped me. So, why shouldn't I try to help the kids now that I'm grown up?"

So you stand there . . . and think some more. Suddenly you find yourself boasting more admiration than ever for high school and junior high coaches who work so diligently with young boys . . . with recreation officials who strive to promote events

TWO POINTS: Thurston's Don Block (45) moves around a Franklin defender while in the air to get off a basket that helped Township team upset Franklin in Northwest League battle.

Borrowing Press Pays for West

As long as one borrows legally, there's nothing wrong. What's more, if you can borrow and profit by same, well, it's sure a happy day.

For Garden City West, coach Cal Krupa spotted something he liked when he watched the Catholic League basketball playoffs.

He was impressed by the pressing defense that Catholic Central of Detroit employed. So in practice, Krupa had his players pattern their press after Catholic Central's.

And when West went against Southgate last Friday night, there was the Catholic Central press a la Garden City West style.

"Our kids really adapted to it in a hurry," says Krupa after West walked off the floor a 72-54 victory.

The press turned what had been a tight first half—36-33 for West—into a runaway in the second half as Southgate was held to 12 points in the third period and just nine in the last quarter.

"We slowed down their big fellows, made them shoot from the outside, and it made all the difference in the world," added Krupa.

Franklin Finds Stevenson Easy

The Franklin high swimming team turned in an easy victory over Stevenson, 64-28.

Craig Anderson won the individual medley and the 400-yard free style, while Tom Bates took the breast stroke and swam on the victorious medley relay team to pace Franklin.

Collegians Offer Reason to Cheer

The losses are piling on for the Schoolcraft College basketball team, but there was encouragement for coach Bob Leggat Friday night when his forces bowed to Henry Ford of Dearborn 91-77.

Schoolcraft came through with its best second half of the season. After trailing, 53-35, at the intermission, Schoolcraft staged a rush that cut the differential to five points midway in the second half.

Alarmed by what was happening, Ford went into a stall. This forced the trailing Schoolcraft players to foul in order to get the ball.

Ford capitalized on the charities and went on to win by 14 points.

Lance Hahn had 21 points, John Felmet and Larry Duffield 15 each and Tim Krug 10 for the losers.

The defeat came after Schoolcraft had weakened in the second half two nights earlier and lost to Grand Rapids, 119-84.

Grand Rapids had enjoyed only a 49-41 margin at the half, but when Schoolcraft ran into foul trouble the game was turned into a romp. Rebounding also was on the lopsided side, 79-49 in favor of the winners.

Steve Moore ripped in 26 points for the victors.

Schoolcraft was to entertain Port Huron, fifth ranked nationally, Wednesday evening and then invade Alpena on Saturday evening as the curtain prepares to drop on the 1966-67 season.

Optimism Grows on East Cage Scene

There's an optimistic air around Garden City East high as coach Billy Joe Young readies his basketball team for next week's state district tournament.

Although out of contention for Mid-Wayne league honors, the East team appears to be finishing the regular season this week in a flurry.

85-65, followed by a 62-41 win over Robichaud last week brought a flock of smiles to Young's face.

"We're playing very well," said Young whose team now stands 12-3 overall and 6-3 in the league with the curtain dropping on the regular state Friday night at Riverview.

The triumph over Romulus in particular cheered Young.

"Remember that Romulus team had beaten such powers as Lowrey and Ecorse," declared Young.

East took a 39-28 lead at half time against Romulus and with Joe Huber leading the way added to the margin after the intermission.

Huber wound up with 32 points while Mike Maciasz tossed in 18 points and Charles Sakmar 17.

The Riverview game started on a very slow note, with East leading, 14-7, after one quarter and 28-21 at halftime.

"Our defense sparked all right in the first half, but our offense left a great deal to be desired," said Young. "Then we came alive in scoring and our defense remained just as brilliant."

Besides giving up just seven points in the first quarter, East held Robichaud to eight in the third period and 12 in the final quarter.

"If you can play that kind of defense, you'll win frequently," said Young.

The game actually was tight until Rick Clack struck for three quick baskets in the third period after Robichaud pulled within three points of a tie.

Huber again led his mates with 20 points. Clack added 13 points, Maciasz 12, Harvey Kightlinger seven, Gary Ascher six and Sakmar five.

3 Straight Copped by Stevenson

Three straight victories before a defeat!

This was the mark the young basketball team at Stevenson high fashioned over the past week.

After grabbing two straight in league play the previous weekend, Stevenson downed Warren Mott, 55-50, in a non-leaguer last Tuesday, then succumbed to Waterford in an Interlakes loop struggle, 70-64, on Friday.

Jim Olsen drilled in 10 points in the first half to get Stevenson off to a 29-19 lead against Mott and Stevenson remained in control the rest of the way.

Olsen wound up with 16 points, while Paul Tonnacher notched 12 and Dave Mastney ten.

In the game with Waterford, Stevenson hung close all the way. The big difference came in the first half when Waterford moved into 33-27 advantage.

Stevenson played Waterford even the rest of the way.

Mastney fired in 15 points with Paul Pender getting 14 and Olsen 10. For the winners it was Carl Arrington with 22.

Showdown To Decide Loop Title

It boiled down to what happened Tuesday night as to whether Farmington high would repeat as the Interlakes League's basketball champions.

Entering the final week of action, Farmington and Pontiac Northern boasted identical league records. This made their head-on clash a showdown for the crown.

Farmington stayed in contention with an 80-70 win over Walled Lake as the Falcons roared ahead early and held on in the second half.

Fritz Simons and Mike Ames each notched six points in the first quarter when Farmington grabbed a 20-14 advantage.

By halftime it was 37-27 for the Falcons with George Grimmala notching eight points of his own in the second quarter.

Greg Dorow pumped in eight baskets and five free throws for 21 points to top the victors. Simons finished with 16 points on seven hoops and two charities.

Grimmala had nine points along with Ames. At six each were Al Kilkka and Doug Hamilton.

The season will end for Farmington Friday in a non-leaguer at home against Roseville.

Teams Clash In AAU Cage Final Saturday

Cage fans in the area are invited to view the Michigan AAU Men's basketball finals Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Clarenceville High School gym.

Featured in the final will be Lutomski Post of Detroit and Knecht's of Lathrup Village, who conquered teams from Livonia, Detroit and Ecorse.

All Goes Wrong As Rocks Bow

What do you say when your team has been beaten by a 57-33 score?

What is there to add when your team makes only 11 out of 71 tries from the field?

And 11 out of 26 free throws?

And only 12 points in the first half, with four coming in the second period?

Not much. So right . . . and that's the way it was of all types to meet the wishes of every youngster and teenager.

And you feel yourself wanting to salute ever so much those fathers and those mothers who work with Little League programs, even if the programs themselves leave a little to be desired.

The kids are copycats; they copy adults from the moment they enter the world and can start thinking for themselves.

If we are to sit around, or stand around, and fault the modern younger generation, maybe some of the blame has to start right with us . . . the grown-ups. As we've said, maybe we haven't offered the kids enough of our time or our ideas.

The madness of work, of other social life dominates over us . . . when it shouldn't. Somehow, we had to learn something as we watched the Oscar Robertson parade of youngsters and the Big O having something nice to say to each of these 40 or 50 boys.

It's conceivable that Robertson's second or two may have saved one boy in that crowd from winding up in a detention home.

If Robertson can do it, why can't the rest of us?

Sorrows Reigns as Co-King

Figure this one out: After reaching the semifinals of the Catholic League's Second Division playoffs, Our Lady of Sorrows high's basketball team "went backward" to beat St. Benedict, 77-39, and tie Orchard Lake St. Mary's for the Northwest Division crown.

Here's the reason behind the unusual development.

The heavy snow had forced postponement of the Sorrows-St. Benedict game when it originally was scheduled.

Rather than to delay the divisional tournament, it was decided to permit both Sorrows and St. Mary's to contest.

After Sorrows won in the first round and lost in the semifinals, time presented itself for the Farmington team to take care of its unfinished business with St. Benedict.

'NO, YOU DON'T': Tom Kimble (34) of Redford Union goes high over Allen Park rival for a shot. Kimble made certain his effort wasn't blocked as Township cagers rolled to victory.

RU 'at Best', Belts Parkers

The regular season has produced some lumps for Redford Union high's basketball team.

But it's ending on a note that should send Redford Union into next week's district tournament at Southfield with more than just a ray of hope.

"This was our best all-round game of the season," explained coach Dave Nattingly after Redford Union ripped apart Allen Park, 76-68, last Friday and started preparing for next Friday's invasion of Plymouth.

"We moved the ball around like we should," declared Nattingly.

Redford Union went into a 34-29 lead at halftime and finished strong by outscoring the Packers, 42-39, after the intermission.

High man again for RU was Leland Bjerke with 21 points. But in this game Bjerke was more than a scorer. He was an all-around player.

Farmington Brownies Many Books to Vietnam

Farmington City Neighborhood Girl Scouts are planning a Birthday Celebration for Sunday, March 12, at 2 p.m. at Farmington Junior High. All the scout troops in the neighborhood will be participating and it promises to be quite an event.

Because of their age, Brownies usually do very simple things as a service project. Troop No. 604 which meets at Our Lady of Sorrows decided on a more ambitious project than usual. These girls collected and cut out jokes and cartoons, mounted them on paper, made covers of construction paper with original designs, then bound them together to form books. Those were then sent to soldiers in Vietnam. Judging by the appreciative comments from the soldiers those books were thoroughly enjoyed.

Senior Scout Troop No. 258,

Bridget Reagan, adviser, is getting ready for a Tremendous Thinking Day program. This will be held today at the City Park in Farmington from 4 to 5 p.m. and 24 Scout Troops have been invited to attend.

Narrators will take the scouts on an imaginary trip around the world in song and story. As a part of the story each troop will put a faggot on the fire and make a wish for International Friendship. All of the scouts will join in the singing.

During the course of the narration the Seniors will perform the Mexican Hat Dance. At the conclusion of the program the Scouts will all join hands in a circle for the Netherlands Closing—"I am a link in the golden chain of world friendship-scouting. I must keep my link strong and bright."

With the singing of "Day-time" Taps program will come to an end.

The Juniors of Troop No. 713, Orchard Hills School, have been preparing for the investiture of new scouts but they have really been beset by bad luck. First of all Mrs. Harriet Rice, one of the leaders broke her leg. But undaunted by this, she learned to get around on her own and planned to participate anyway. When a death in the family forced her to leave town, her co-leader, Mrs. Barb Turpin, went right ahead with the plans on her own.

Now Mrs. Turpin, is in the hospital with a staph infection and everything was looking down until Mrs. Edna Miller, Nove neighborhood chairman, stopped in and took over. She just couldn't stand by and see all their plans go up in smoke.

Junior Troop No. 1036, Alameda School, Co-Leaders Mrs. Judy Cleveland and Mrs. Shirley Sloan, have been busy working on their Art in the Round Badge. At Christmas time these girls made decorations for the Christmas tree at the Farmington City Hall, sunburst to be used for decorations by their parents and a manger set out of paper mache, which was displayed at the City Hall also.

On January 18, the troop visited the John Glick Pottery Studio. They were taken on a tour of the studio and were shown how he makes all his pottery. At the next meeting each of the girls brought in a piece of art work of her own creation.

At the same time these girls have also started to work on their Songster Badge. At one of their meetings two senior scouts came in and helped them to get started on this badge. Senior scouts, Tess Schafer and Eve, lyn Allen, helped make up dance steps for a song. At an other meeting cadette scout, Janet Steinke, also came in to help them on this badge.

Stempien Appointed To Legislative Committee

House Democratic Leader Joseph L. Kowalski announced today the appointment of Marvin R. Stempien to the Legislative Information Committee (LINC). Stempien served as State Representative in the 73rd Legislature (1965-66) from the 35th District which includes Livonia.

The new Legislative Information Committee will serve as an advisory council to the Democratic Caucus of the Michigan House of Representatives. The primary purpose for the formation of LINC is to bring a broader, state-wide representation of views on public issues to the House Democratic Caucus.

In announcing Stempien's representative Kowalski said:

"We are pleased that Stempien has accepted our invitation to serve on the Legislative Information Committee. Stempien's appointment will mean that the 35th District will be represented in the House Democratic Caucus during the coming two years.

"During the years of 1965-66, Stempien served in the House of Representatives as a member of the Committee on Apportionment, Education, Judiciary and State Prisons.

"The special knowledge and experience Stempien has developed through his work on these committees will be of great value to our Caucus."

"We believe that Stempien's appointment to LINC will benefit the people of the 35th District, also, because Stempien will be able to represent their views directly in the House Caucus.

"The election of 1966 narrowed drastically the geographic base of the Democratic Caucus in the House of Representatives. We hope to expand that base through the activities of LINC.

We'd ask you to compare it... but with what?

Comparing a Cadillac has always been a problem, for the car has long been clearly in a class of its own. In 1967, the challenge is even greater... because Cadillac has never before asserted its leadership so convincingly.

Start with beauty. Cast about for a luxury car contender that can list such styling advancements as Cadillac's dramatic new roof line, its forward sweeping front design and its graceful and flowing side contours. Then consider that there are eleven exciting examples of this kind of Cadillac beauty... as well as the totally new Eldorado, the world's finest personal car!

Consider also the incomparable newness of Cadillac's beautiful interiors and their unexcelled safety and convenience. There are passenger-guard door locks, a hazard warning system, a dual circuit braking system, latches that hold folding front seats securely in place and dozens of other safety features.

And, of course, there's performance. There's nothing else smoother than Cadillac's V-8 power; nothing else easier than Cadillac's improved variable ratio power steering; nothing else surer or steadier on the highway.

Visit your authorized dealer and measure Cadillac against your own motoring requirements. It's the only valid comparison test for the Standard of the World.

Even George Would Like This Cake

By FAITH GILLESPIE
Queens of Hearts

The day this appears on your doorstep will be George Washington's birthday.

Our son Patrick will be four on the day before, so we were looking at the calendar in gleeful anticipation. There was George Washington's picture.

"Who's that guy?" Patrick wanted to know.

"That's George Washington," I said. "His birthday is the day after yours."

"Where does George Washington live?" was the next question.

"Oh, he doesn't live in the world at all anymore," I explained. "He's dead."

There was a long pause. Finally Pat asked, "If he has got dead, how come he has a birthday?"

So off we went into a big discussion about how people can have a birthday when they can't have a birthday party, the two ideas being inseparable in the four-year-old mind. That was the part that bothered Patrick.

The part that bothers me is that I said all I had to say about George Washington last year, in spite of the remarkable fact that he is the only person whose birthday is observed as a legal holiday in every state in the union.

As I recall, I said that he was a great man, among other things, but a somewhat destructive child with long hair, so if your son cuts up things with hatchets and refuses to get his hair cut, he may grow up to be President, provided he is steadfastly honest, of course.

Anyhow, several other people were born on February 22, and some of them did some significant things, even if their births aren't honored in every state in the Union.

Among them are the composer Frederic Chopin (1810), and dear old James Russell Lowell the poet (1819), and someone named Robert Stephenson Smyth Baden-Powell (all that) in 1857.

Robert Stephenson Baden-Powell was the fellow who invented the Boy Scouts, which is something I never knew before. He was a soldier in the British army, and he decided that British boys weren't getting physical exercise and outdoor life (doesn't that have a familiar ring?), so he got the Boy Scouts going in England in 1907, bless his heart.

As things worked out, however, it is George Washington whose day this is, so I guess it is fitting to publish a recipe in his honor.

This one is a chocolate cake with cherries, and ever since I ate it at a birthday party in 1947, I've thought it was great. It doesn't come from a package mix, but think of old George and the Revolutionary Army at Valley Forge, and the ordeal won't seem half bad.

MRS. BRUNET'S CHERRY CHOCOLATE CAKE

Cream together 2/3 cup soft butter with 2 cups sugar. Cream in 2 egg yolks and 2 squares melted (or liquid) unsweetened baking chocolate.

Sift together 3 cups sifted flour and 1 teaspoon soda.

Drain a 6-oz. jar of maraschino cherries into a measuring cup and add buttermilk to make 2 cups. Add flour and liquid alternately to the creamed mixture, beating until smooth after each addition, starting and ending with flour.

Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Add the well-drained cherries cut in quarters, and 3/4 cup coarsely broken walnuts. It doesn't hurt to mix a little flour into the cherries and nuts first, to keep them from sinking.

Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 55 minutes, until a toothpick stuck in the center comes out clean.

Go ahead and have a party for George Washington, even if he can't come.

Plymouth Rotary Anns Get OK for Annual Sale.

The City Commission Monday approved a request from the Plymouth Rotary Anns to hold their annual Easter Lily sale on March 17 and 18 with the proceeds going to the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County.

The Rotary Anns will sell lilies from 4 to 8 p.m. on March 17 and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 18.

Fire Lieut. to Attend Instructor's Event

Capt. Barney Maas, executive officer of the Plymouth Township Fire Department since the resignation of William Burr, Director of Public Service, will make his annual appearance at the Fire Department Instructor's Conference in Memphis, Tenn. on March 21 through March 24.

Trustees pointed out that one of the regular firemen had been on sick leave and quailed whether it would weaken the department too much to have Maas at the same time. Maas informed the Board that ailing fireman was back on duty and the Board approved the trip.

Maas, who has attended the meeting for the past several years and taken part of his vacation at the same time to visit relatives in Tennessee, received approval from the Township Board last week. There was a reluctance on the part of the Trustees until Capt. Maas explained that one of the Sergeants would step into the capacity of temporary executive officer during his absence.

Bentley Eyes Swimming Title Share

A chance to tie for the Suburban Six League's dual-meet swimming title awaits Bentley high Thursday night at Trenton.

The Livonians need a victory to match the Trenton team which so far is unbeaten in nine loop meets. Bentley is right behind at 8-1 in the conference and 11-12 overall. A school record by Bentley's medley relay team of Brian Donaldson, Dane Trembath, Bill Palmer and Ron Mehol highlighted Bentley's 60-45 victory over Belleville last Friday. The quartet was timed in 1:49, compared to the school mark of 1:50. Dan Schreiber won the 200 and 400-yard free style races for Bentley while Dave Kee took the individual medley, Pakmer the butterfly, Donaldson the backstroke and Chris Stewart the breast stroke.

MORE and MORE PEOPLE ARE BRINGING THEIR PRESCRIPTIONS TO DOT....let us help you save dollars!

what is the definition of a private brand?

To some people, it is a retailer's own brand created with selling price first in importance and quality second.

To us at A&P, it's the opposite.

Quality comes first.

Value...the best for the least is the rule for our private brands.

If this wasn't true, how foolish we'd be to invest, as we have, literally millions of dollars in processing plants and testing laboratories.

If all we wanted were products we could sell cheaply without quality control, anybody could produce them for us.

The idea of quality private brands isn't new at A&P. As a matter of fact, it's one of our oldest policies—and by golly, we're proud of it.

Are A&P Private Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

SUNNY SOUTH or colored TV—that was the choice Janet Schemers, 8807 Sarasota, Redford Township, had to make when she won a contest conducted by Tennyson Chevrolet, 32570 Plymouth Road, Livonia. Janet had to guess the dollar value of a car full of groceries and came within five cents of the $110.55 total. She was looking for a car when she was induced to enter the contest. Even then her boy friend suggested she add 50 cents to her guess and it won her a prize of either a trip to Florida or a color TV. She's shown with Tennyson Sales Manager Ed Columbia making her choice of the TV set.

Bit of Paint Adds Joy To Old Wornout Toys

Does your child cherish a toy that has become worn? A new coat of paint may be all that's needed to brighten up this toy and turn it into a bright new treasure. You can stretch your child's Christmas for many months by simply painting those wagons, tricycles, dollhouses, and other playthings that have begun to rust or chip.

Painting is easy and fun—and so much more economical than replacing toys. These tips from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association will help make your job easier.

First you should decide on the type of paint to use for your project. Of course, you'll want to choose bright, gay colors, but you must be careful that the coatings you use contain no ingredients that would be harmful if chewed or swallowed by young children.

In fact, if a paint contains even small amounts of lead, antimony, arsenic, cadmium, mercury, selenium or soluble barium it is not advisable to use it on children's toys.

Have your reputable paint dealer check the label of the paint you are purchasing to assure its safety. Quality paints will give best results—and always read the label directions carefully before starting to paint.

You'll want to use brushes of proper sizes for each project. Round and flat sash brushes are often used, and small artists brushes are helpful when working on small toys.

If the top has any cracks, dents, or nail-head indentations, you'll need to use some type of filler or spackling compound. You may find that a filler in tube form will be the handiest since you can squeeze out just the right amount as needed.

Any wooden surfaces should be sanded before painting. Then, go right ahead with the application of your color. Just remember to avoid dipping your brush into the paint more than one-third of its bristle length. Always start on an unpainted area and work toward a painted one when you have just refilled your brush.

When working with metal that has rusted, you can use either coarse sandpaper or steel wool to remove the corrosion. After the rust is removed, be sure to use a special rust-inhibiting primer on the bare metal. For a final coat, use a hard-drying durable enamel.

Handy, easy-to-use cans of aerosol paints may further simplify your task. They can also be used to create new designs by using stencils or to add a gay stripe by spraying over masking tape.

Your youngster will be even more pleased with his "new looking" toys if you personalize them by stenciling his name or initials on the top or side.

New Siding Improves Looks of Your Home

Is your house worn and tired-looking? Is the exterior dull and outdated? Is it plagued with cracked boards and peeling paint? The diagnosis may be poor siding.

Poor quality or improperly installed siding can do more than detract from the appearance of your house.

It can cause heat loss in winter, force your air conditioner to overwork in summer and result in a number of maintenance problems.

Residing is a practical solution. With a modern building material like hardboard siding, the job is neither difficult nor expensive, and will add to the good looks as well as the life of your house.

The advantage of exterior hardboard is that it is specially manufactured for outdoor use and will stand up to year-round weather without cracking, splitting or denting.

Installation is easy, because the siding is lightweight as well as hardy and can be worked with ordinary carpentry tools.

In most instances, hardboard siding can be installed right over the old siding. This provides extra insulation and saves the trouble and expense of removing old boards.

Another asset of hardboard is its low-maintenance quality.

Because it is an engineered wood product, the surface is free of knots or rough grain and takes paint or stain easily.

It can be kept fresh and new looking with an occasional hosing down.

A wide choice of sidings makes it easy to select the right one for your house whether the architectural style is traditional, contemporary or ranch.

A rough-textured surface is ideal for rustic ranch houses, board and batten panels and grooved vertical siding are appropriate for contemporary or ranch and horizontal lap siding goes well with traditional or modern houses.

American Women Want Better Baths

"I want at least two bathrooms, double lavatories, bigger bathtubs and showers with seats" — so says the American housewife.

In a recent survey, women from all parts of the country were questioned extensively about all facets of their house preferences.

The results showed the bathroom as a prime consideration by almost everyone, and that most felt it an area needing a great deal of improvement.

The Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports that the wants of our land's ladies will not go unheard.

Homebuilders already are meeting the demand with 2 1/2, 3 and 4 bathroom houses — using the latest in modern fixtures to keep in step.

More and more builders are making bathrooms the focal point of their houses, realizing that such glamor gives potent selling ammunition.

Many, for instance, combine a bath with a powder room to provide multifixture convenience and economy at the same time.

Others are combining bathrooms with dressing rooms for maximum personal convenience in hygiene, grooming and dressing. Regardless of design, any home is made more livable with additional bathroom facilities—family and guests enjoy and appreciate the added privacy and convenience.

Today's modern bathroom is no longer just a functional part of the home. With such fixtures as attractively colored twin lavatories, combination tub and shower, single control faucets and ample storage space, it is now a place of beauty as well as convenience.

If you are planning to build a new home or remodel your present one, talk to a qualified plumbing contractor about multiple bathrooms. His expert service — from planning to installation—will be valuable in assuring well-planned and smartly styled bathrooms in your home.

For Teen-aged Girls

European Tour Set by YWCA

Senior high school girls of Northwest Branch YWCA and people-to-people living ideas into action by taking Y-Teen Clubs have decided a three-week bus tour of Europe this summer.

Overseas transport will be by jet aircraft, and from July 10-31 the girls will tour Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France, lodging in YWCA's, carefully selected private homes and youth hostels.

Two experienced YWCA tour directors, Miss Jo An Shaw and Mrs. Margaret Walter, will accompany the girls.

By the use of bus transportation, the housing arrangements, and useful amounts of free time planned, the girls feel they will have good opportunities to get to know as much as possible about the people, customs and ideas of these countries.

Each girl planning to participate must also join in several group work projects to take some of the responsibility from their parents for the $690 all-expense fee. Car washes, a Hootenanny, bake sales, a pancake dinner and a folk festival are among the plans for this fund raising.

The Northwest Y-Teen Clubs have opened the trip to Y-Teens of other Detroit metropolitan areas. Girls must be 11th or 12th graders, or June graduates.

A feature of all YWCA trips, there will be three pre-trip meetings to help the girls prepare completely for the trip. There will be help with what to wear, packing, languages, as well as data on points to be visited. Further details may be had by calling the tour directors at the Northwest YWCA, KE 7-8500.

Parents Club to Hold Dad, Son Banquet

The Henry Ford Elementary School Parents Club will hold a father-son banquet at 6 p.m. tomorrow, Thursday, at the school, 38075 Ritz at Ann Arbor Trail.

Theme of the banquet, which will have chicken dinners served family style, will be slot car racing with models to be given away.

The program also calls for Rohloff the Magician to provide the entertainment.

In Time of Need—someone to take over the details.

Livonia Kindergarten Teacher Joins in Memorable Conference

What makes a good teacher? Enthusiasm, for one thing—both in and out of the classroom.

A sense of humor.

And, most important, an abiding respect for every child as a total personality, not just a mind to be stuffed with facts.

These were some of the conclusions that came out of a most remarkable symposium in which one of Livonia's rather remarkable teachers took part.

Mrs. Alice Marks, who teaches kindergarten at the Randolph School, said the symposium which took place in November at Tucson, Ariz., was one of the highlights of her career and will long be an inspiration to her.

The experience began, Mrs. Marks said, when a letter asked her to join a group of 12 outstanding teachers from around the country for a weekend discussion on classroom prospective at Tucson.

"My first reaction was to wonder who was sponsoring the symposium and why in the world I had been chosen," she said.

A little long distance research revealed that the man behind the symposium was Murray Eisner, vice president of Westab and Montag corporations, which produce school supplies.

Eisner, she learned, had asked Dr. Richard I. Miller of the University of Kentucky education department to select a cross-section of leading teachers from around the country to discuss teaching methods and objectives.

"And they asked me because Dr. Miller needed a kindergarten teacher and a Midwesterner and had happened to hear tape recordings

MRS. ALICE MARKS

I made while serving as a research person in an experiment two educators did on kindergarten art work," Mrs. Marks said.

"As a starter," she recalled, "each of us was asked to write a paper, telling why we were teaching, our satisfactions and frustrations, what we need to be better teachers and our three greatest personal challenges."

"And when we got to Tucson, the truly amazing thing about the conference was the we just stated them differently."

This was particularly interesting, Mrs. Marks felt, because the teachers involved came from all over the nation and all types of schools. There was a man who taught in Harlem, a woman who taught in a private school in Atlanta, representatives of large and small schools in the West and on the Eastern seaboard, a teacher from a country-type, all-Negro school in Alabama.

Two New Babies Keep Grandma Busy

When Mr. and Mrs. John Hacker, of Farmington, became grandparents, they didn't precisely ease into the job.

Their first two grandchildren, both girls, were born just three days apart at the Northwest Grace Hospital this month and stayed in the same nursery.

They visited not one, but two, young mothers in their across-the-hall hospital rooms.

And then both babies and mothers came home to Grandma's for a pleasant stay at the Hackers' comfortable home at 26742 Westmeath until the two mothers had their doctor's permission to take complete charge of their offspring.

That apostrophe is in the right place—both mothers had the same doctor, of course.

The first baby to arrive was Luanne Carlene Blue, who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Blue, the former Dorothy Hacker, on Feb. 6.

On Feb. 9, Mr. and Mrs. Hacker were standing by the hospital nursery window, admiring Luanne, when another newborn was wheeled in.

It was Ronda Kae Hacker, tiny daughter of the Hackers' son, Ronald, and his wife, the former Ina Tallman.

Mrs. Hacker had planned from the start to have both mothers stay with her until they could be on their own.

"I was so sure they wouldn't both be here at once—they couldn't possibly arrive at the same time," she said.

But they did, and the Hacker home is definitely not a place of bedlam.

"The babies are both so good," marveled Grandma. "And one is being nursed, so there's just one formula to make. And we have diaper service for both. We certainly did have that deliveryman confused."

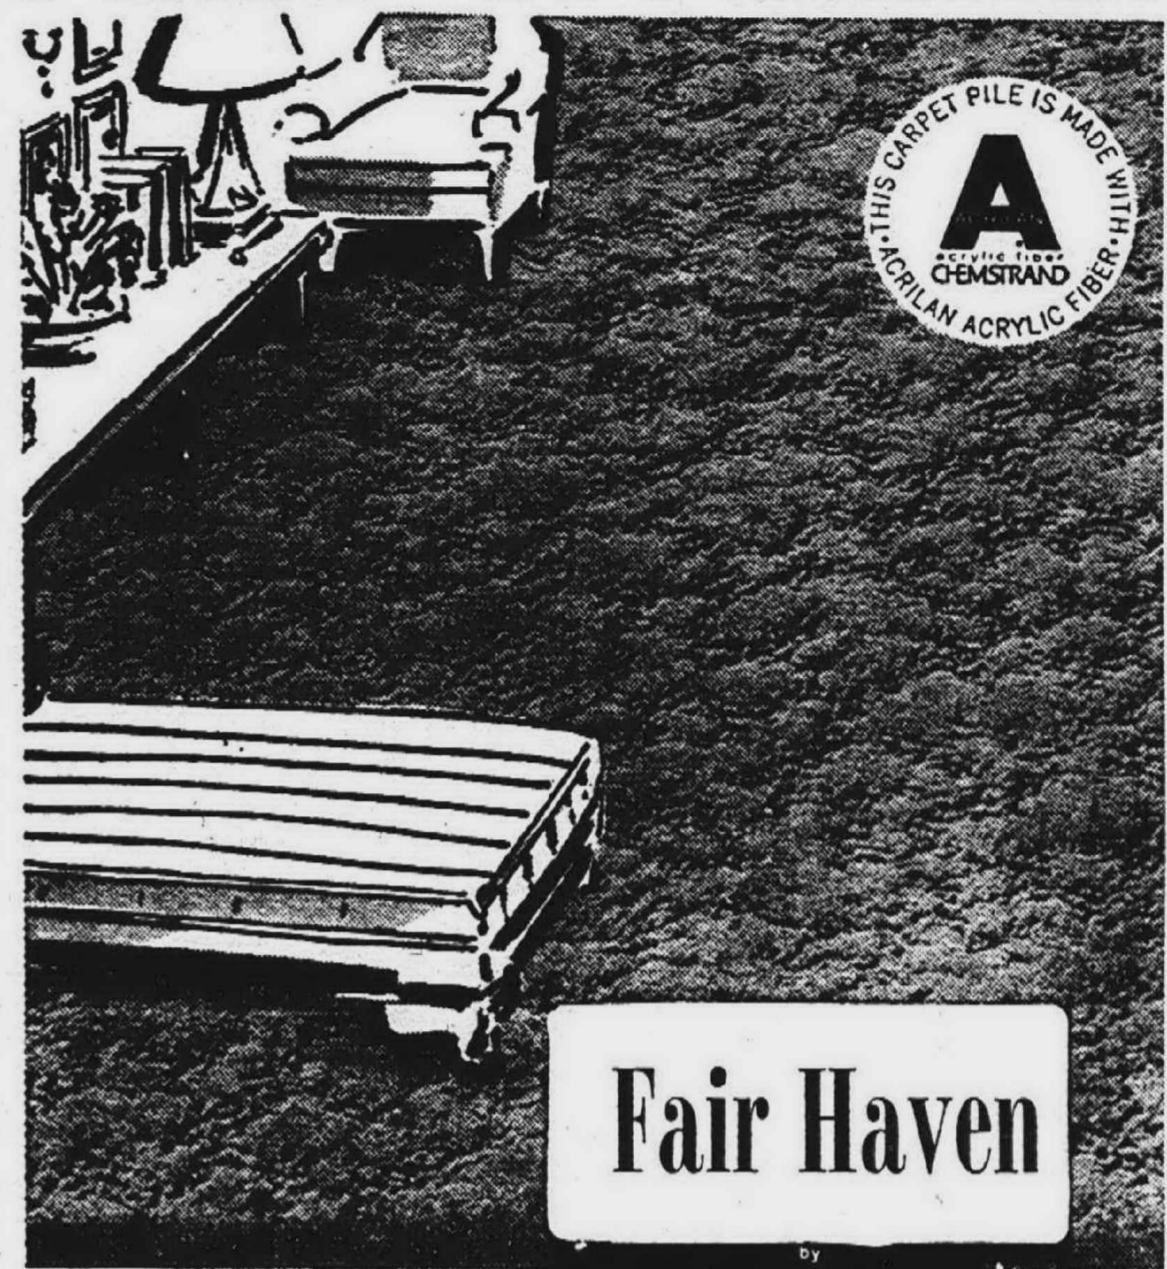

It's a rare moment when both babies are awake but Grandpa makes the most of his opportunities to take pictures. One prize snap he took is of Mrs. Hacker's mother, Mrs. Sophia DePotty, of 31215 Five Mile, Livonia, holding great-grandchildren numbers 29 and 30.

Luanne and her parents soon will return to their home at 26305 Middlebelt, in the same subdivision, and Ronda and her family will head for their home at 29850 Six Mile. They soon will move to Plymouth, where Hacker is manager of the Eckles Oil Co. plant.

Grandma wouldn't have missed any of this for the world. "But I told them next time they'd better plan better," she said.

Glass Picture Workshop Held by Garden Club

The Livonia Branch of the Womens National Farm and Garden Association held a "Glass Picture" workshop at their meeting this week at St. Andrew's Church. Mrs. Alex Clark, conservation chairman, spoke on "Is Keeping America Beautiful Our Responsibility?"

SHIRLEY FORD

One of Farmington's busiest artists has a special reason for pride during this Lenten season.

Mrs. Blaine Ford has learned that the head of Christ she painted in 16 hours on Good Friday three years ago now is hanging over the altar in the new bell tower at Concordia College at St. Louis. It will be dedicated at Easter time.

Shirley Ford's deep-toned, intense oil painting created quite a stir among many local residents who had known her for her pastel portraits of Farmington children, her flower arrangements and decorations, her work with Girl Scouts and at hospitals.

George Ramsay, her minister at the First Presbyterian Church in Farmington said of it: "In realism has been caught the agony, the tenderness, the strength, the patience, the kindness, the humility of real love."

The painting was purchased recently by Mr. and Mrs. H. Freundt of Orchard Lake Road and presented by them to the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, seminary. Shirley hopes to get there to see her work in its place of honor — when she finds a few spare minutes.

For, at this point her life is pretty well filled with such matters as a full-time job as art therapist at Northville State Mental Hospital, more pastel portraits, singing in her church choir and in the Farmington High School and Community Chorus presentation of "The Holy City," and membership — in Shirley's case it's always active membership — in the Farmington Historical Society, the Girl Scout Council and the Hill and Dale Garden Club.

Her work at Northville among the mentally ill and emotionally disturbed patients was on a volunteer basis for two years. In the spring of 1965 she put on

Recipe Contest Is Announced

Over 200 recipes have been entered in Edison's Annual "Queen of the Kitchen" contest now in full swing. Deadline for entries is midnight, Feb. 28.

The contest is held in cooperation with the Detroit Central Business District Association's "Salute to Women Who Work Week," which begins March 12.

The contest is open to any girl or woman living in southeastern Michigan and employed full-time outside the home. Contestants are to submit a recipe for a one-dish meal that can be cooked in an hour or less.

The ten most interesting and promising recipes will be chosen by Contest Judges, Kay Savage of the Detroit Free Press, Cy Riley of the Detroit News and Edythe Fern Melrose of CKLW-TV. The ten finalists will be notified Thursday, March 2.

All finalists must be able to participate in a Cook-off Thursday morning, March 16, in Edison's Electric Living Kitchens in Detroit. Winners will be announced at an award luncheon immediately following the Cook-off.

Electrical appliances will be awarded to the ten finalists. The "Queen" will win a top-of-the-line electric range. Second prize is an electric rotisserie-broiler with shish-kabob attachment; third prize, a 10-speed solid state electric blender. Other modern electric appliances will be awarded to the seven runners-up.

Recipes are to be sent to Detroit Edison, Electric Living Division, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit 48226. Each entry must include name, address, telephone number and place of employment.

staff full time. It was an opportunity she gladly accepted.

But there was regret that she'd have to give up the Girl Scout leadership she'd begun when daughter Gay was a Brownie and continued eight years as Gay progressed on to senior scouting.

She did organize a memorable hike for Girl Scouts around Farmington last fall and plans to do the same with a gathering of Brownies this year. She continues as a delegate on the Farmington Girl Scout Council.

Also, Shirley and the Scouts are making big plans for an art and craft show of the work of Northville patients. It will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in April with the Scout Council as sponsor.

With Gay now a busy cheerleader at Farmington Senior High School and husband Blaine continuing in the restaurant business as he's done for 32 years, Shirley still finds time for her portraits.

"I've got records of at least 32 of them," she said, thumbing through a small notebook, "and I'm sure there are more."

She takes time to cultivate new interests — this year a class in sculpture in Farmington Evening School under Victor Stokes of Oakland University.

Fittingly enough, her first piece was a clay head of Christ — a recreation of the bell tower altar.

St. Valentine's Church Setting For Rhodes-Glenn Ceremony

A Nuptial Mass at St. Valentine's Church in Redford Township united Lucille Ann Glenn, of Redford Township, on Feb. 10.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Glenn, of Redford Township, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rhodes, also of Redford Township.

Father Ludger Guy, S.J., of Winnipeg, Manitoba, uncle of the bride, officiated at the ceremony.

A wedding reception for 300 guests followed the ceremony.

The bride wore a long-sleeved floor-length gown of ivory peau de soie, trimmed with imported chantilly lace and covered with crystals and seeded pearls. Her chapel-length train also was trimmed with the lace, pearls and crystals.

Her fingertip veil fell from a cabbage rose headpiece, and she carried a cascade of white roses and carnations.

The bridal attendants wore gowns of toast colored chiffon over champagne peau de soie with toast colored pea de soie coats. They wore matching head pieces and they carried cascades of pink carnations and rose buds.

Maureen O'Meara was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Cynthia Rhodes, sister of the bridegroom, Lucille Guy, aunt of the bride, Daniella Guy, cousin of the bride.

Flower girl Elizabeth Rhodes, sister of the bridegroom was dressed like the other attendants.

The best man was John Rhodes, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Keith Glenn, brother of the bride, Chris Rhodes, brother of the bridegroom, and William LeBut, cousin of the bride. Larry Price, another cousin of the bride was ringbearer.

Mrs. Glenn chose a teal blue brocade ensemble for the wedding, and Mrs. Rhodes wore an aqua two-piece dress.

After a brief honeymoon in Washington and New York, the couple will reside in Dover, Del. where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force.

The new Mrs. Rhodes is a graduate of Ladywood High School, and her husband was graduated from Redford Union High School.

Plymouth Pair United in St. John's Church

An all-white wedding at St. John's Episcopal Church, Plymouth, united Janet Ann McIlhargie and Donald A. Nickerson in marriage Saturday, Feb. 4.

White mums, daisies and snapdragons on the altar matched the white gowns of the bride, maid of honor and bridesmaids. The attendants' bouquets of red roses formed an accent.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McIlhargie, of Plymouth, and was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Nickerson, of Plymouth Township.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. Canon David T. Davies.

Peau de soie with pearl-embroidered alencon lace fashioned the bridal gown. The scissor-pleated A-line skirt ended in a chapel train. The bride's veil was secured by a pearl-trimmed headpiece and her flowers were orchids, roses and ivy.

The attendants were Shirley Nickerson, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and another sister, Constance, and Diane Wells, of Mt. Clemens, as bridesmaids.

Their gowns were white antique satin with bell skirts and wateau panels, and they wore white satin headpieces.

Dave Timcoe, of Garden City, was best man, and the ushers were Tom and Philip Goebel, Jim Burgett, of Plymouth, and John Nolan, of Northville.

Assisting Canon Davies as acolytes were Harold Schorn Jr. and his brother Phillip, of Livonia.

The bride's mother wore an ice blue sheath dress and matching jacket, and Mrs. Nickerson's costume was a powder blue.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parish hall. The couple took a wedding trip to Ohio. Both are graduates of Plymouth High School and they will make their home in Plymouth Township. The bride is a secretary for the Detroit News and her husband is employed by the Ford Motor Co.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD J. PANKO

Local Teachers Wed In Saginaw Rites

Margo Louise Blanke, who teaches sixth grade in the Kennedy School in Livonia, and Richard J. Panko, teacher at Garden City West High School, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, Feb. 4, in St. Mary's Cathedral, Saginaw.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Blanke of Saginaw, and the late Joseph A. Blanke, also has taught at Ansbach and Nurnberg, Germany, in Army schools for dependent children.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Panko Jr., of Davison, Mich.

Father Ken Lerczek heard the couple's vows.

Given in marriage by her brother, John J. Blanke, of Livonia, the bride wore a taffeta gown with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and bell skirt accented with crystal and pearl beading and ending in a court train.

Her silk veil fell from a pearl-trimmed pill box headpiece, and she carried a colonial arrangement of pink roses and stephanotis.

OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

Even to psychiatrists and policemen, the difference between rape, seduction and mutual attraction is not entirely clear.

After what happened over the weekend at the Democratic State Convention in Grand Rapids, there must be a lot of people in the Democratic Party who are wondering about the same problem.

In the caucus rooms, along the hotel back stairs, in the bars and on the floor of the convention itself, topic A of conversation centered on what Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh was doing to the party and, equally, what the Democratic Party was doing to him. Key facts in all the speculation were:

Cavanagh's support of Zolton Ferency as state party chairman, support which was announced just a few days after a group of party leaders tried to make it clear to Ferency that they thought that stepping down would be in the best interests of the party; Cavanagh was the only top rank party leader to publicly support Ferency before his successful re-election bid at the convention;

The strong and ultimately successful drive for the vice chairmanship made by Mrs. Robert (Patti) Knox, a party worker of long and wide experience but identified by most as a Cavanagh partisan. It was clear at the convention that Cavanagh was the big gun.

He had flown back from his trip to Southeast Asia to attend. His experienced staff was much in evidence, working the crowds of delegates. Mrs. Knox's campaign was the only one for vice chairman thought out in advance, sporting things like blue silk ribbons and nicely printed signs.

Other party leaders were not much in evidence. Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, defeated in last year's election, aroused affection and respect, but the old thunder was missing.

Organized labor, which had decided to keep hands off the convention, stuck strictly to its decision.

Former Congressmen, defeated in 1966, worked hard at keeping their own districts in line.

Even Ferency, the state chairman, could not have felt his state-wide image was the best, after his defeat by Gov. Romney last year.

It was a curiously leaderless convention.

It was also an "open convention," which implies that no one man or one group was exercising leadership. Cavanagh was dominant in the minds of the delegates because, with the exception of Senator Philip Hart, he was the one man available who had a chance of making it big . . . who had a chance of becoming a state-wide winner . . . who has the image and magnetism to make an impact on Michigan voters.

Quite simply, Cavanagh was the only potential big winner on the scene.

As such, the party clearly wanted him and needed him. For if nothing else a political party must have a man who can win big.

But it wasn't quite so simple.

For Cavanagh had run against Williams in a bruising primary over the Senatorial nomination. Although Cavanagh lost, the damage done to Williams' image and the money spent that could have gone into the general election battle with the Republicans probably contributed to Williams' loss to Senator Robert Griffin.

Cavanagh had been offered the nomination for Governor. He had rejected it. His presence on the ticket, in the opinion of some observers, could have saved the seats of three of the Democratic freshman Congressmen (including this area's former Congressman, Billie Farnum). But he wasn't there. Nor did he campaign over much in support of the ticket in October and November.

No wonder a lot of Democrats were sore at him.

So the problem of the past weekend convention was this: What was the Democratic Party to do with a guy who had contributed to the party's defeat in 1966, but who was also the only guy around who had any chance of winning big in the near future?

For Cavanagh, the problem was strangely similar: What was he to do with a party which was suspicious of him, but also which was absolutely necessary to him if he had any further political ambitions at all?

On both sides, feelings were ambivalent: Attraction and repulsion; suspicion and admiration; need and rejection. But something happened between Cavanagh and the Democratic Party this past weekend.

Zolton Ferency's re-election depended a lot on Cavanagh's support. Patti Knox, a Cavanagh supporter, is the new vice chairman. Cavanagh dropped for good the non-partisan tag he carried for a long time as the Mayor of Detroit.

When the morning after the convention came, the Democratic Party found Cavanagh solidly in its bedroom. No one knows for sure just how he got there, but there he is.

Rise Up Quaffers, Fag Addicts

Editor:

It seems that our good State of Michigan is in financial trouble again (or will be so shortly). Always quick to act for the good of the State, some of our wise men in Lansing came up with the very original suggestion to again raise the tax on cigarettes. The decision was a logical one. After all, Michigan's cigarette smokers and beer drinkers have so willingly carried the State's tax burden for so many years, why shouldn't they again show a little extra effort.

But, the tremendous tribute volunteered by the beer drinkers and cigarette smokers is no longer enough to pay many of the State's bills. Some of our more courageous men in Lansing have now dared to ask the whole working population to pay an equitable part of the expenses. Of course, they stuck their political foot into a teeming ant hill. The outraged righteous of Michigan will keep an income tax law from being passed, and they will smugly continue to free-load off the complacent cigarette fanciers and beer lovers of this fair State.

We can never hope to abolish our so-called nuisance taxes, but we could ask the State and the non-paying population to publicly recognize the dedicated efforts of us nuisance-tax payers to keep the State of Michigan financially afloat.

Several suggestions come to mind: An official holiday from work for drinkers and smokers only, with full pay and preferably on a Monday. Possibly an official portrait depicting a John Doe with beer mug and fag, to be hung in the State Capitol and painted by John Choppin. These things may never become reality, but we could at least start a campaign for recognition by mailing loads of our cigarette butts and bottle caps to our respective legislators in Lansing and an occasional little package of the stuff to non-indulging good friends and neighbors.

Sincerely
Herman G. Duerr
Livonia.

Why Hawaii?
Just a month or two ago, the Garden City Council turned down the Mayor's request that the city pay his travel expenses to Hawaii. However, now that the entire council is included in the free trip, the motion passes unanimously.

Why must a city the size of Garden City send five delegates to a national Mayor's conference?

If every U.S. city sends proportionately as many delegates, the Hawaiian Islands will sink into the Pacific.

Very Sad Taxpayer

dream of delight to answer each article sentence by sentence but since this is just a donation to encourage your readers, I'll try to keep it short.

Firstly, if the legislators I know are prone to "dispose" what the governor will "propose" they darn well better be ready with a better "propose" to meet the needs of their state.

Secondly, there really are some of us who already know how to treat other human beings without joining a committee or indulging in "palaver." We learned it where all best learning takes place, at the knee of a Christian mother.

Thirdly, the cartoonist who portrays Romney's white horse stepping upon the poor peon (like me, and thee) may draw a thousand more in a similar vein and they will still remain untrue. Magazines, newspapers, newcasts, periodicals, polls sometimes portray him as a sanctimonious Sir George, but they do not change the facts.

Fact is, he is not only the best the GOP have to offer, he is the best the whole political scene has offered in years. Most writers know this since even the most critical insert a sentence or two about his morality lest the reader think they are against that in a man. More importantly, the American voter is fully aware of his qualities and I don't mean only the Republican voter.

It's a far cry from being loyal, admiring, and thankful for such a man and "worshipping at his shrine." No "shrine" Romney; he is a vigorous, hard-working, all-American realistic, honest, sad, glad, angry man, at times, even as you and

Editor:

First, I would like to apologize for the delay in letting those who were interested know what happened to the small puppy that was thrown out of a car on Howard Road, Jan. 3.

When the statement was made that his suffering was over, it was grossly incorrect.

The little fellow came down with a type of distemper (due to the extreme exposure) that affecting the nerves. After several trips to the doctor and careful care by his new adoring benefactors, I am happy to report he is making a remarkable recovery.

The doctor gave him a 50-50 chance to make it, and as he said, if he is willing to try, we'll do everything possible to save him.

Believe me, the affection shown by the family of six who adopted him; the pleasure and happiness "Snoopy" has brought them in return, is immeasurable.

For Segregation

Editor:

In honor of brotherhood week I feel it compelling to inform you that you are wasting your time.

It is not that I doubt the sincerity of your intentions or motives, but many citizens of the community (myself for one) do not share these convictions.

I am not ashamed that I support housing segregation. I feel separation of the races (concerning housing and community living) is essential, and I would not support any legislation or candidate that advocates "fair" housing laws.

Having reservations about writing this note to you, I felt it necessary that someone should speak for those citizens who are concerned about expressing their true convictions.

So, you see, you do have the proof you wanted, not just palaver.

OBSERVING the Scene . . .

By MYRA CHANDLER

The only evidence of Spring must be found in our hearts these wintry days.

To the politico, however, sure signs of Spring are the Party conventions. Things always get warmer after a partisan convention as evidenced last week by the Dems in Grand Rapids. This is sure to be true with the GOP this weekend in downtown Detroit. With the Governor in control there probably won't be too many controversies (the right-wingers may make a little noise) but Chairman Elly Peterson is sure to remain in control. She is most competent and there are really none to challenge her ability. So it should be a peaceful weekend for those of us covering the convention which is a happy thought for some of us who are battle-weary.

The week was peaceful, really. In the mail arrived a wonderful book, filled with warm philosophy and strong guidelines, "May I Have A Word With You?" written by Rabbi Morris Adler and compiled by his widow Goldie Adler and Lily Edelman. Publication date will be March 10, but it was sent through the mail by Crown Publishers for review and revelation to the public. It is a book to be shared—my favorite chapter is "If I Were Christian," which happened to be an address by Rabbi Adler during Brotherhood Week at the Central Methodist Church in Detroit on Feb. 18, 1940. These of us who received the book promised not to release a review until after March 10, but it would be my fond desire that all of those who have hate in their heart and criticism for their fellowman on their tongue to absorb this chapter. Too much to ask, no doubt.

But then with tongue in cheek, last week, we ran a tribute to Brotherhood on the editorial page. The Observer invited those not participating to join a Human Relations Group in their community. Expecting no mail on the subject, the week was made warmer and more Springlike by having 11 human beings in Observerland reply. Six were from Farmington.

There are many signs the majority is becoming concerned for its fellow man. In fact, Montreal has devoted an entire Fair to the subject. The theme of Expo '67 in Montreal opening April 28, is MAN.

According to its latest invitation it says visitors will be able to view a futuristic automobile, an underwater house, a polar city, new film techniques, an advanced breed of cow—and will have, for all to study, a panorama from the primitive huts of Neolithic man to the supercity of the 21st century, MAN'S world—past, present and future.

MAN and HIS WORLD will be represented by 70 countries and will combine drama and serenity with fear and hope in revealing what man has done with the atom, electronics, with his land and cities and with himself.

Man will be catapulted to Labarinth: MAN in the community, the enchanted city, the world city, his planet and space, Man and the polar regions, Man and life, Man on the oceans, are but a few of the experiences available. Those planning to visit the Expo '67 say there is no way for the visitors, be he man, woman or child, city dweller, farmer, nomad or cave-dweller to not feel he is living presently in a most vital time and is on the threshold of wondrous things to come.

The entire Expo '67 has been planned with this thought in mind—to give man an opportunity to "stop the world" a minute and get a good, long view of where he is and where he is going.

There are many ways to get to the Fair—by car, plane, train, bus or dog sled—but one way you might consider is most unique—by boat. This is a free plug, incidentally,

The S.S. South American is planning seven special days altogether with two nights and three days at the cruises during June, August and September. It takes five days altogether with two night and three days at the fair. During that time you may take all of your mail on board—and use the ship as your hotel.

The fare is as low as $279.50 per person which includes meals and room—and remember it also includes your transportation without having to stop for gasoline, traffic lights or other inconveniences of family traveling. With plans like these Spring can't come soon enough.

Berates Observer

Editor:

I have always thought of The Observer as a well planned paper.

But when in large print and heavily boxed I read "The Draft? Stinks—Says Letter Writer," I think twice.

Everyone has a right to their opinion but does the one you printed Feb. 1, 1967 have any facts to back it up. And this you used as a conclusion to the public opinion poll! The article then proceeds to say this one opinion coincides to other public sampling. Public opinion was that the draft needed a change, they did not say "it stinks." The opinion was also used in context with—"The Draft? Stinks" as an attention getter.

If I used the word "hell" in a letter it would probably be part of the paper's headlines.

Do You Eat A Lot Of Food, And Still Feel Hungry?

The average American male has increased the size of his waistline by three inches in the last ten years. He eats more because he is still hungry, consequently he gains weight. He does not assimilate his protein because he consumes too many carbohydrates. A high carbohydrate diet will eventually help you to get in trouble with low blood sugar levels by stimulating the pancreas into an overflow of insulin in the bloodstream. Low blood sugar levels may in turn help develop a craving for sweets, goodies and alcohol.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Curiosity of the week must be the fact that Jack McGriff, son of Floyd McGriff, publisher of a chain of suburban weeklies which many observers have called anti-Negro, is now "advising" and financially backing a new Negro newspaper.

The other stockholder in the venture, Stokess W. Boykin, is a public relations man and reportedly was dismissed about five years ago from the Pittsburgh Courier. He had also reportedly served with the Detroit Tribune, which was known as being the most conservative Negro weekly newspaper in the country.

Particularly odd is the choice of the name for the new newspaper, The Michigan Herald. Apparently, someone didn't bother to check the files, since the Michigan Herald was the original name of a weekly which was said to have been sponsored by the Communist Party.

Wonder what kind of editorial policy the new paper will have?

At one point, outside observers at the Michigan Democratic State Convention, which was held over the past weekend in Grand Rapids, might have thought things in the 19th Congressional District were getting a little too rough.

Former Congressman Billie Farnum, who presided over the district's caucus, used a large hammer as a gavel. "I've got this hammer now," Farnum commented during a noisy interval in the caucus, "and I really don't expect too much of an argument."

Fact was that no other gavel was available, and a couple of lusty whacks with the hammer certainly helped quiet down the caucus.

An Observer editor last week did a double-take when he noticed a cute little elementary school girl in Westland sporting a large button with huge letters demanding, "KISS ME." In smaller letters were the alternative: "Or Buy Me a Mustang."

Since the youngster is too young to get a driver's license, it should not be ignored that the Nankin Mills school she attends is—believe it or not—the Henry Ford Elementary.

Just Chattin'

Little Death Notice Unleashes Another Flood of Memories

By W. W. EDGAR

Several weeks ago the public prints carried the news that Virgil Zetterlind had passed to the great beyond. It was only a few lines and possibly few persons noticed.

This is too bad. For "Zet" as he was more familiarly known, was one of the real giants of amateur baseball in the metropolitan Detroit area and he helped sow the seed for the mammoth junior league programs available to today's youngsters.

"Zet" was one of a quartet of the most colorful persons connected with sport in the golden days of the 1920's and the marks they left on the sport never can be erased.

Associated with him were Walter Wert, George J. (Shorty) Moran, and Hubert G. Johnson. And it was this group that founded the Detroit Amateur Baseball Federation and its many offspring that today are known as the Little Leagues.

"Zet" was the smiling one of the quartet—and at the same time the most serious. He was the business man of the group and it was from his fertile brain that many of the ideas came for the betterment of the game for the boys.

It was "Zet" who conceived the idea of "Amateur Day" in Tiger Stadium—an event that, for years, helped finance the entire sandlot program.

The other members of the group had their own niche in the scheme of things, but it was "Shorty" Moran who captured the fancy of the imagination. Only about five feet tall, but with silver hair, he was known as the "Silver Toned Orator." And not without reason.

"Shorty" didn't have much "book learning," but he loved to use "big" words and never missed an opportunity to speak—and be the leader of the move for more and better sandlot baseball.

Fortunately and unfortunately, he oftentimes used the big words in the wrong places or got so confused that even he didn't know what his words meant. But he was always colorful.

The DABF used to hold its meetings in the old band hall at the Elmwood Recreation Center on the east side of Detroit. The meetings were well attended for no other reason than that folks wanted to hear "Shorty."

One of the classic lines he left for posterity came one evening after a long debate between the followers of the Risdon Creamery and the Grennan Cakes teams. After allowing the debate to continue for the better part of an hour, "Shorty" finally banged the gavel and, as president, issued these orders:

"We'll have no more of this restlessness—we have come down now to the question of 'Don't you want it—or don't you.'"

You can imagine the consternation he caused until the boys decided he just wanted a vote.

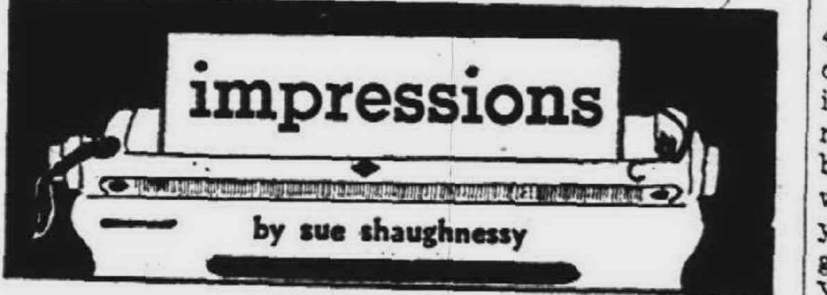

On another occasion he walked into the Free Press sports department one evening, after a meeting, to discuss the possibility of a feature story for Amateur Day at Tiger Stadium (then Navin Field).

When the sports didn't leap with enthusiasm "Shorty" opened up. Pounding his fist on the desk for emphasis he said:

"This is going to be colossal—it's going to be gigantic." He stopped to take a breath and for real emphasis, he banged his fist again and said, "In fact, it might be mediocre."

Yes, "Shorty" was colorful and was one of a colorful quartet, the like of which we may never see again.

And "Zet" was the last of them.

by sue shaughnessy

I think that one should support the police and assist them in their jobs.

However, I had an experience last week which still causes my blood pressure to rise whenever I think of it.

Down in that famous suburb called Dearborn the police have set up a nasty little thing known as a speed trap. It's on Ford Rd. just as the roadway narrows down from a divided highway to four lanes. The speed limit drops from 45 to 35 with nary a warning sign.

You've guessed it. Thanks to the Dearborn Police, I am the owner of a speeding ticket. The offense is doing 45 in a 35 mph zone and the fine is $15.

I don't even deny that I was speeding. I don't really think that I was going as fast as the patrolman claimed, but it is very likely that I was traveling over the legal limit.

Then why am I angry with the police? Because of the questions the patrolman asked.

After requesting my driver's license and car registration, he asked if I was employed and where I worked.

I must admit that I was so surprised at the question that I told him. I wish that I had thought fast enough to tell him that the answer to these questions need not concern him.

The final insult was that on the ticket there is a form to note the person's race. I know that this is against state law.

A lawyer has told me that I didn't need to answer the questions as they were not required information.

Probably if I hired a lawyer and fought the case, I wouldn't have to pay the fine. Unfortunately, I have neither the time nor the money to fight a $15 ticket in order to make a point.

This, I suspect, is the entire thinking behind the Dearborn Police Department's procedure.

The recent decisions of the Supreme Court have been somewhat upsetting. They seemed to tie the policeman's hands in combating crime.

However, personal liberty is infringed upon in small ways. While I have nothing to hide—especially about the place of employment—I still resent being asked the question.

I am fortunate that I am employed and that my skin happened to be the right color, though. If I had been on the wrong side in those answers the tickets probably would have been written up as 15 or 20 miles over the speed limit and I probably would have had a harder time.

At any rate, if you don't have the time nor the inclination to fight for a principle, beware of that nasty speed trap on Ford Rd.

Say It Isn't So

The Observer will pay $5 for any picture used on its Feature Page. The above sign was cited by several Observerland Citizens who could not believe their eyes and called the paper. School staff photographer Lin Lewis brought in the first print. Subsequently we received two others.

One lady said she would have taken a picture of it but she couldn't believe her eyes. Not so funny, one man said he almost rammied the car ahead of him doing a double-take at the sign. "After a weary day at the office you just shouldn't be that startled," said the motorist.

Is Stock a Hedge Against Inflation?

(Mr. Wysong, stockbroker for Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, welcomes all inquiries on investing. Send your questions to THE OBSERVER, "Investing Inquiries," 33050 Five Mile Road, Livonia. The answers are the opinion of Lawrence A. Wysong who is considered highly qualified on the subject.)

Q.—My wife and I are both in our sixties, have no dependents, and are retired. We have approximately 700 shares of G.M. common stock, $27,000 in savings accounts, $3,000 in series E bonds. Our home is paid for. We hold a 6% land contract for approximately $20,000 which nets a 10% return.

I feel that the stock and income property are a hedge against inflation. In your opinion, do you feel that our investments are sound?

A.—Doing some quick figuring I approximate your annual income at $7,800.00 without including Social Security or pension income. I don't believe it is necessary to improve on this income unless your spending habits are far above the norm of most retirees.

Presently 40% of your capital is in fixed income producing holdings which is not a bad ratio for your age and situation as long as you continue to receive at least 5 or 6% return on this capital. I would strongly suggest some diversification with your G.M. stock.

Your G.M. stock represents 40% of your capital. Four out of every $10.00 you have is tied to the fortunes or misfortunes of the automobile industry. My opinion would be to switch some of your G.M. stock into a few good quality utilities and oils. You would then have representation in 3 basic industries of our country and a somewhat more balanced security portfolio.

All in all I would say that you have a good mix between fixed income investments and inflation protection.

Ladywood Senior Wins $100 Bond

Professional Corner

Engineering news-views-student guidance by Fred W. Bradley, P.E.

First things first. Just WHAT IS an engineer? "An engineer is one who takes the discoveries of pure science and puts them to use for mankind." In other words, a "pure" scientist does not care if his discoveries are EVER put to practical use; he is a researcher just for the sake of pure research, for adding to the sum of human knowledge.

The engineer takes this knowledge, develops new processes, materials, structures, machines. The automobile could never have been designed or built by a pure scientist. An engineer could never have developed atomic theory, unless he departed far afield from true engineering. Of course, there is a large in-between area, some scientists actually try to make their discoveries of use to mankind, some engineers (especially with large corporations) mix semi-basic research with conscious effort to invent something new.

What kinds of engineers are there? You name the field, there is a branch of engineering which tries to make it useful to mankind. There are major branches, of course: electrical, mechanical, chemical, civil, to name a few. And each of these is sub-divided many times. For example, electrical engineers delve into power work, communications, electronic, and many other specialized areas.

This column will touch on the many questions which have been raised by students. Most questions are from students who are considering engineering as their life's work, while others are already committed but have special questions. They are real, live questions, mostly developed by our local chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers (Rouge Valley Chapter) and engineering students at Schoolcraft College. The questions could be vital to both high school and college students.

What abilities does it take to become an engineer? A student must be able to think logically and clearly (math is a great help in this); he must be able to express himself clearly, orally and in writing (your English courses should be helpful); he must enjoy working with THINGS, and if he hopes to progress into managerial positions he must be able to work with PEOPLE. If he likes to be a "loner" his field may be Research and Development; if he likes people, is a good mixer, then supervisory and management may be his fields. In any case, the student should analyze himself and his abilities: engineering may or may not be his best field.

Need any more information regarding this one? Write to the OBSERVER, attention of "Engineering Column."

Wally Roberts UP' GOING CURTAIN

Arthur Miller's much-heralded "Incident at Vichy" had its midwestern premiere at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater last week. "Incident at Vichy" begins an Arthur Miller Festival of plays to be produced by the University of Michigan Players.

The Doctor gets no further with his stage companions than millions of ministers, pacifists, and philosophers have over the long haul of the centuries. "Incident at Vichy" ends in a flurry of words and the Nazi officers ready to shoot first and ask questions later.

David Rhys-Anderson so stylized his movements and speech patterns in the highly important role of Von Berg that Miller's script, quite weak at times, had little chance of surviving. Mr. Anderson would do well to realize that an ounce of naturalness is worth several pounds of artifice.

The Dearborn Players Guild has assembled talented semi-professionals from several Wayne County communities for their presentation of "Fiorello." Vic Slapik seen locally with the Livonia-Redford Players and the Redford Suburban League musical comedies has the hilarious part of Morris. His Jewish kibbutza dance is a show-stopper. Vic not too many years ago was a professional dancer.

Sharon Kent from the Garden City area will sing and dance the "I Love A Cop" number. Only recently she left the cabaret circuit as a professional singer and dancer to become a housewife. Her comic interpretation of Dora in "Fiorello" has all the earmarks of Gwen Verdon doing the role.

Pat Dorrian from Plymouth has the role of Nina, a lady striker. Her vociferous presence on stage adds to the excitement of a stormy picket line when a duty-bound cop tries to discipline them. Pat worked out at the Greenfield Village for two seasons as a member of the professional summer repertory group.

YOUNG ARTISTS from the area will have an opportunity to receive training from the Detroit Art Institute beginning March 5 when art workshops open at three locations: Garden City Library; Larkshire School in Farmington; and Whitman Junior High in Livonia. Contact these centers or the Art Institute for information about the workshops which are open to children from first to twelfth grades.

MSU Choir Sets Concert In Livonia

The State Singers of Michigan State University will appear at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia, Sunday, March 5, at 8 p.m.

The concert is part of the "Cap & Gown Series," a project which provides Michigan communities with music and drama by University student and faculty groups.

Directed by Dr. Richard E. Klausli of the M.S.U. Department of Music, this choir is renowned for its brilliant singing and varied repertoire performing with a beautiful blend, strong rhythmic vitality and keen sense of pitch. An instrumental ensemble, composed of singers in the choir, enables the group to perform selections with the original instrumentations.

The State Singers' repertoire includes contemporary sacred and secular music, folk songs, spirituals, 16th Century polyphony and motets. Included are Bach's "The Lamb That for Us Was Slain" (for chorus and orchestral accompaniment) "O Clap Your Hands" by Thomas Cousins and the "Canticle of Daniel" by Gary White, a Ph.D. candidate in composition at M.S.U. Of special interest are the unusual compositions from Dorati's "Missa Brevis"—the "Kyrie and Sanctus" which is scored for choirs, five songs, three cymbals, and three triangles.

The program is sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church as a community service and is open to the public free of charge.

Children's Play Opens March 2 in Westland

"An Adventure in Fantasy Land," featuring Cinderella and The Story Book Tale will be presented by the Parkway Junior Players March 2 and 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Nankin Mills Elementary School, located on Hubbard and Ann Arbor Trail in Westland.

The production is directed and produced by Georgan Yuhas and Peg Knowles. The play adaptation was written by Bernice Kellar. Cinderella is portrayed by the following teen members: Step Mother: Joan Rockelman, Fairy God Mother: Pam Yuhas, Cinderella: Terry Charlesworth, Prince: Lance Arp, Drussilla: Lynn Erickson, Ernestine: Joyce Cunningham, Herald: Bruce Metzger, Soldier: Gary Alterton, Narrator: Jo Anne Russ. Pat Knowles will narrate the Story Book Tale and the pre-teen ages, 6-to-11 years, will portray the characters.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Bernice Kellar at GA 2-3660.

Inge Classic Opens Friday

The Broadway success, "Come Back, Little Sheba," will open for a three-night run at Bentley High Auditorium this Friday, Feb. 24. Show time is 8:30 p.m. except for Sunday which has a 7:30 p.m. curtain. The show will be presented by the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford and will be the second of the current season which opened with "Oliver" last fall.

A new twist will be given "Sheba" in its staging by the Theatre Guild. This consists of an updating of the set from that which has been seen by previous audiences who shared an ill-kept house of the late depression years with "Doc" and "Lola," the main characters. Instead, the Bentley audiences will share an ill-kept house of the sixties with the Theatre Guild cast.

Many critics have described "Sheba" as a comedy-drama; and indeed it is. With many laughs on its face, it is a melancholy story at heart. "Come Back, Little Sheba" is as honest as its tawdry setting and as real as home-made bread. Lola (Shirley Hulet) is a funny woman. Doc (Howard Halstead) a charming man.

William Inge takes you into a cheap little house, where a mismatched couple trapped into marriage 20 years ago are just getting along. He is a chiropractor who meant to be a doctor, an alcoholic clinging to Alcoholics Anonymous, a neat man married to a slattern, a rather sentimental idealist constantly, but patiently, revolted by his wife's innocent stupidity.

She is a frowsy, good hearted woman whose rose colored dreams of the past are symbolized in her wistful calling for her lost dog, Little Sheba. He baffles her. She gets on his nerves. And there they are, respectably trapped in a forced marriage.

Tickets for "Come Back, Little Sheba" may be purchased at the Bentley door or ordered in advance by calling GA 1-0114 or KE 7-8109.

Missionary To Report On Africa

The Rev. Fred C. Renich, General Director of Missionary Internship, Inc., of Farmington, will report on his recent trip to Africa at the Evangelical Free Church of Farmington, 23845 Middlebelt Road, Sunday, Feb. 26, at 6 p.m.

Mr. Renich was the principal speaker at the Annual Winter Conference of the 450 missionaries working in the Congo, Kenya and Tanzania under the Africa Inland Mission. During his five-week stay in Africa he was able to make an extensive survey of the mission's work in these three countries.

THE REV. FRED C. RENICH

Outstanding among the impressions made upon Mr. Renich were: the surprise to find thousands of established churches, the welcome of the Congolese Christians who had experienced much suffering during the years of political upheaval in their country, and the tremendous need for more missionaries.

Mr. Renich was a missionary in China before the Communists seized that country. From there he engaged in itinerant Bible teaching and evangelistic work in Australia. He has since made extensive tours of missions in India, East Africa and South America.

The public is invited to hear Mr. Renich. A light supper will be served following the services with an opportunity for questions and further discussion.

Franciscan Habit Donned By Two Livonia Men

Brother Walter (Michael) Roszak, and Brother Carl (Gregory) Mead, both of Livonia, were invested with the tertiary habit of the Franciscan brother in recent ceremonies at St. Joseph Brothers' Training School, Cincinnati, O.

The Very Rev. Roger Huser, O.F.M., Minister Provincial of the Cincinnati Franciscan Province, officiated.

Easter Seal Program Aids 538 Persons in 1966

A record 538 crippled children and adults were helped during 1966 by the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County, it was announced today by Ivan R. McFaul, President of the Society.

Of the total, 326 children and 212 adults received treatment and other rehabilitation services financed mainly by contributions made during the Easter Seal campaign, he reported.

These contributions made possible medical diagnosis, physical and occupational therapy, residential camping, special education, speech and hearing programs, and other services to rehabilitate handicapped children and adults. They also purchased wheelchairs, walkers, hospital beds and other special equipment for loan to crippled persons.

Programs of the Society include assisting individuals to find out about, reach and use effectively all the resources of the community, and providing those services not offered elsewhere. The latter covers summer Day Camp for crippled children as well as year round classes and clubs for teen-agers and adults.

McFaul said the Society also contributes a portion of its Easter Seal funds to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, of which it is an affiliate.

"The generous response of the public to the Easter Seal appeal this year will allow us to continue and expand these vital services to the crippled children and adults of our State," McFaul said. "Until medical science can eliminate crippling, the Easter Seal Society is dedicated to alleviate crippling in this area to the best of its ability."

The Easter Seal campaign began Feb. 20 and runs until Easter Sunday, March 26.

School Closing Policy in Wayne District Is Outlined

The cancellation of classes in the Wayne Community School District, Jan. 30 prompted Superintendent Harry Howard to review the policy concerning the closing of school because of bad weather.

Howard, head of the district which includes most of Westland, said that whenever school is closed for inclement weather, the central office and building offices are swamped with phone calls from parents who either approve or disapprove of the decision.

"On days when the school does not call off school and other districts do, the calls are about equal in number and just as inflammatory in many cases," Howard said. In reviewing the Wayne district's policy on school closings, the superintendent said:

"For those who take the attitude that the children are going down streets that have established one way traffic only and the cars that are stuck in front of them create many problems.

"Children waiting for that bus would be held up an unnecessarily long time and in some cases the bus might not arrive at all.

"We must think the problem through a little more deeply. We are living in a day much different to the day in which you and I attended school. Please be assured that when the Board of Education and administration decide to call off school for the day, it is done with the overall welfare of the student in mind.

"When school is called off, every radio station in the area is notified. In the case of Monday, January 30, the calls went out at about 9 p.m. Sunday, Radio stations Sunday night carried the broadcast as well as on Monday morning. "We would encourage all citizens to listen to the news broadcast if in doubt as to whether school will be in session. Insofar as staff are concerned, they are excused only in cases where it is impossible for them to get to work. In such a case, they are called by their principal through a fanout. Many of our employees come through impossible conditions to keep the operations of the school district going that are necessary.

"In the final analysis, those of us who are aware of the types of injuries received by students and of all the other dangers and in the end have the responsibility for their safety, must make this decision."
