

Board Asks $8.5 Million For Second High School

Electors in the Plymouth Community School District will be asked to approve an $8.5 million bond issue for the construction, furnishing and equipping of senior high No. 2 in the forthcoming election on Monday, June 12.

The voters have known for several weeks that the bond issue would come up for their approval at the election, but the total amount wasn't made known until Monday's Board of Education meeting.

The issue also will be used for the construction and equipping of high school athletic fields and for developing and improving sites.

The bond issue is only one of three matters that will come to the attention of the electors. They will be asked to renew a five-year, five mill operating levy, replacing one that expires at the end of the year, and also will vote for three Board members.

The terms of Vice President Carl Schultheiss, John D. McLaren and Mrs. Joanne Hulce expire at the end of June. Schultheiss and Mrs. Hulce have indicated they will seek a second term or not.

The ballot also will include a selection of an at-large member of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. The term of Leroy Bennett, of Livonia, expires at the end of June. There has been no word of any petitions being taken out for the vacancy at this time although it is believed Bennett will seek another term.

The matter of the construction of senior high No. 2 has been on the minds of school district voters for some time. The proposal received approval of a citizens' study committee at a time when a complete study of the future facility needs were discussed.

That committee found a need for additional elementary schools, a third junior high and a second senior high by no later than 1972.

Acting in accord with the recommendations, the Board asked voters to approve a $5.5 million bond issue for additional school buildings and site acquisitions a year ago. It was approved.

It was known then that the Board would be back with another bond issue this spring since that was in accordance with the recommendations of the citizens' committee.

Thus Monday's resolution asking for approval of the $8.5 million bond issue for senior high No. 3 and the renewal of the five mill levy was the final step in following the recommendations.

Board President Gerald Fischer issued a statement following passage of the resolution in which he assured the voters there would not be a millage increase because of the bond issue in 1967. In fact, he indicated the five-year building program (1967-1971) will not require more than a one mill increase in the school tax levy for facilities.

He pointed out that this bond issue, together with other financing requirements for the total five year facility program (1967-1971) will not require more than one mill increase in the school tax levy for the facilities (7.30 to 8.30 mills). For 1967, the bond requirements can be met with no increase in the total school tax levy from the current 26.95 mills.

The 1967 tax bills for many taxpayers will be higher because of reassessment on property by the local governmental units or an increased equalization factor applied by the county.

He emphasized that recognizing this, the Board of Education intends to hold the line on the school tax rate at the current 26.95 mills in 1967, assuming the state aid formula is not reduced, and

Plymouth Family Service Finally Signs Caseworker

After more than a year without a caseworker, the Plymouth Family Service Monday announced the vacancy has been filled by the Ann Arbor Family Service.

Plymouth is a branch of the Ann Arbor organization even though entirely financed by the Plymouth Community Fund. Miss Ann Jung, the first caseworker in Plymouth, resigned more than a year ago and the Service has been searching for a suitable replacement since.

Fred Gibilisco, a native of Nebraska, who has been a member of the Ann Arbor staff for the past three years, will take charge of the Plymouth branch on June 19.

Two Young Boys Burned to Death

Two young boys were burned to death last night in a fire that swept their home at 40181 Joy Road, a short distance east of Haggerty in Canton Township.

Fire Chief Mel Paulsen said their father, James Grady, a man in his thirties, tried to rescue his children, Danny, 7, and Jimmy, 4, from their upstairs bedroom but was unable to reach them because of flames.

Paulsen said both victims were burned beyond recognition and the father was treated for minor burns.

A spokesman for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department said the fire started when a fuel oil stove exploded just before 10 p.m.

He said the house was completely destroyed.

man of the Plymouth Community Fund Family Service committee; and Fred Gibilisco, who had just been named caseworker in Plymouth.

Gibilisco is a graduate of San Jose State University in California where he received a degree in Psychology. He took his master's work at the University of Michigan and received a Master in Social Work in June 1964.

Since he has been a psychiatric worker in the Children's Psychiatric Center in the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Gibilisco will be available in the Plymouth office throughout the week, Monday through Friday and the office, located in the Veterans' Memorial Building on N. Main will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

He will continue the policy adopted when the Family Service was first opened in Plymouth. He will try to assist in problems. The cases may be referred to the Service or may be on a voluntary basis.

Gibilisco indicated the Family Service can't handle all problems but will try to cover as many as possible.

During the past year, the Family Service branch in Plymouth has been covered

Symphony Starts Drive For More New Members

The Plymouth Symphony has launched its annual membership drive with the hopes of signing every family in the Plymouth Community interested in the cultural development of the area.

The campaign, which opened Monday and continues through the month of May, is for the express purpose of financing the Symphony Orchestra activities during the 1967-68 season.

The orchestra, under the direction of Conductor Wayne Dunlap, presents six free concerts each year during which many of the outstanding musicians from the area, which includes the University of Michigan, are brought in for solo performances.

Members will solicit families, industry, business, financial institutions and civic and service organizations during the month for contributions to one of the five types of memberships.

These are: Patron—$50 and up; Sustaining—$25; Supporting—$15; Active—$10; and donations—less than $10.

William Birge is general chairman of the drive. Assisting are: Business—Robert Sincok; Organizations—Dr. Robert Petersen; Industrial—Richard Merriam; Family—Mrs. Roger Zerby and Mrs. Charles Childs.

The Symphony Society Board of Directors includes 12 elected members and the President of the Women's League. President James Thomas will retire in June along with directors Robert Beyer, Mrs. Donald Graham and Mrs. Arthur Larson.

The four vacancies will be filled at the annual meeting and election on May 24 in the multi-purpose room at Junior High West at 6:30 p.m. First reports of the membership campaign will be made at the same time.

Music for the annual dinner meeting will be furnished by the Plymouth High orchestra.

The girls planned to camp out in the Holland State Park.

2 Incumbents, 11 Others Take Out Petitions for School Board

Apparently all that was needed to build interest in the coming (June 12) school board election was a reminder that with less than two weeks remaining no nominating petitions had been taken out at the school administration offices.

That story appeared in The Observer a week ago. The following day a flood of requests for petitions hit the school offices with the result that two of the three incumbents, seven newcomers and four unidentified residents have the petitions in hand. The three vacancies are for one three-year term and two four-year terms.

Only John D. McLaren, one of the three incumbents, has not taken out a petition. In fact, McLaren hasn't decided whether he will seek a second term or not although there is some indication that he may forego another campaign.

Board Secretary Mrs. Esther Hulsing reports 13 petitions have been taken out but also stated, that as of Monday, May 8, none had been returned.

The school election laws require that the petitions must be signed by a minimum of 20 qualified electors and a maximum of 40.

Carl Schultheiss, Board vice president, who resides at 11705 Amherst Court, has a petition being circulated for a four-year term. Mrs. Joanne Hulce, 9275 McClumpha Road, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Tripp, will seek the balance of that term of three years.

City Attorney Thomas Healy has taken out a petition for an unnamed person and there is conjecture it may be a former member of the City Commission. Four others were acquired by persons who refused to give their names or the names of those they intend to nominate.

The school election laws provide that no person taking out a petition has to give a name and neither does he or she have to return it.

Other petitions have been taken out for the following: Calvin Strom, 884 Palmer, immediate past president of the Plymouth Jaycees; John Batsakis, 1058 Maple, a teacher in the Walled Lake system who has been a candidate before; John Murawski, 41020 Greenbriar Lane, a resident of Lake Pointe and acting public relations director of Gaylord Container plant; Robert Childs, 14851 Dogwood Court, also a resident of Lake Pointe; E. There'll Be 7 Voting Places

Voters in the Plymouth Community School district will have seven voting sites for the June 12 election instead of the customary four as in the past.

Recognizing the fact that the mushrooming growth of the community makes it necessary to increase the number of voting places, the Board of Education decided to make the move now instead of waiting for a jammed voting day situation.

The seven precincts and the area included in each are as follows:

Pct. 1—At Plymouth High school. Includes City of Plymouth Precincts 3 and 5.

Pct. 2—At Gallimore School. Includes all of school district in Canton and Superior Townships.

Pct. 3—Plymouth Township Hall. Includes City Precinct 4 and Township Precinct 5.

Pct. 4—Starkweather School. Includes City Precincts 1 and 2.

Pct. 5—Allen School. Includes Plymouth Township Precincts 3 and 4.

Pct. 6—Junior High West. Includes Plymouth Township Precincts 6 and 7 and all of school district in Salem Township.

Pct. 7—Farrand School. Includes Plymouth Township Precincts 1 and 2 and all of the school district in Northville Township.

Police Warn: Take Heed Early or Be Sorry

Tips to Follow Before Going on Vacation

It's a warm, quiet night in the middle of the summer. A stranger — or maybe even one of the local residents—is walking through a neighborhood, and he stops at a house in the middle of the block.

On the doorstep, he notes a pile of still unrolled newspapers and six or seven unopened bottles of milk. The drapes and blinds in the totally dark house are drawn tight, and there is no sign of movement inside.

Confidently, the stranger walks up the front steps and rings the doorbell. If, by chance, someone comes to answer, the stranger simply asks for a fictitious person, receives a negative reply from the object of his query, thanks him and walks away.

However, if no one comes to the door, the stranger opens it any way. Or he goes around in back and enters a window. Or he shinies up the wall of the house and tries an unlocked second floor window. If he's lucky, there's a ladder in the yard or in the unlocked garage and he merely props it up, goes up and in.

Inside, the drawers are thrown onto the floor, closets are ransacked—and anything from television sets to cash left in the house is taken.

Unless the stranger never gets in. Vacation time is coming up, and its time that residents begin making preparations for the dream vacation that can turn into a nightmare when they return to find their houses burglarized.

The chilling facts of home burglaries can be easily avoided if the homeowner takes the necessary precautions. The Farmington Township Police Department provides prospective vacationers with a few checks they should make before they leave for their holiday. Clip the list and save it for vacation time. Notify dairy and newspaper offices to stop deliveries—do not leave notes. Leave house key with some responsible person and arrange for him or her to forward mail, take in handbills, check interior of house periodically, care for plants, watch house, and report any suspicious activity to the police. Tell police the dates of trip and who has authorized access and key to the house. Do not leave important papers, jewelry and other valuables in house. Remove perishable food from refrigerator and turn control to "low." Empty all ashtrays into fireproof container; take out rubbish and garbage. Be sure all water faucets are turned off and drains are open. Disconnect all radio, televisions, electrical appliances, and turn off all electrical switches. Turn off range and oven burners, water heater and furnace. Lock all doors and windows, including those on second floor. Pull window shades only half way down and do not fully close drapes and blinds. Do not "hide" house keys under door mat, on window ledges or in milk chute. Lock and bar milk chute door; close fireplace damper. Connect one or two lights in house to electric timers set to turn them on and off at predetermined times. Do not leave ladder outside; lock garage. And while you're at it, have a happy vacation.

tion of Catholic College Students for three years and an executive council officer for one year. She was also active in the CCD and tutoring volunteer program.

Bobby Calls for Decentralization

Stresses Need for Change

By SUE SHAUGHNESSY

Senator Robert F. Kennedy called for a decentralization of government Friday night in the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner scheduled by the Michigan State Democrat organization.

In his speech the Junior Senator from New York asserted that: "We as Democrats have tended to look toward Washington for solutions to our perplexities—and for the most part this has been correct. But now it is our responsibility as believers in the human spirit to afford our citizens the opportunity for personal participation and achievement on the great stage of public affairs: with levers of power and decision in places citizens can reach—in their statehouse, their city hall, indeed in their own neighborhood community."

"To do this requires long effort to decentralize the structure of government. We must make local government again a proud and lively career."

Approximately 3,000 of the party faithful filled the Cobo Hall Arena to hear the speech. They heard Kennedy outline a four point program for reconstructing the Democrat Party in the nation.

"First, we must find ways to liberate and enhance the importance of individual lives and actions; to protect ourselves against the giant organizations—sprawling government bureaucracies, huge impersonal corporations, and universities as big as cities—which threaten to overwhelm and obliterate the importance and value of individual man," he asserted.

"Second, we must understand the new meaning of justice—ending the dependent social programs, and which is the antithesis of democracy. Third, we must begin to rebuild our sense of community, of human dialogue, of the thousand invisible strands of common experience and purpose, affection and respect, which tie men to their fellows."

"Fourth and most important, must be our quest for world peace: not the quiet of desolation nor the stability of tyranny; but a world of diversity and progress, in which armaments and violence give way to the forces of reason and compromise which are men's only hope for survival on earth."

He called the rebuilding of community "an unprecedented task for a political party" and noted that "a sense of community begins with service—with our willing contribution to those with whom we share a neighborhood, a city or a nation."

"All of us cannot join the Peace Corps, or VISTA; but all of us, as individuals and in our party organizations, can make that same kind of effort," Kennedy observed. Congressman William Ford (D. 15th District) told the Observer that Kennedy hadn't "said anything he has not said before and that he was aware that the Democratic Party was not doing as well in bringing the young people into the party as it had and that the Republicans were doing better."

Former 19th District Congressman Billie S. Farnum noted that Kennedy has been giving the same basic speech throughout the country. Farnum, who is now Deputy Chairman for Registration and Organization for the Democratic National Committee, noted that "people throughout the country are interested in what affects them locally or on the national level in consumer legislation."

Aldo Vagnozzi, chairman of the 19th District Organization, termed the speech as the type one "might give to a college audience. He said things that should be said," Vagnozzi commented, "we should look ahead and not just to the next election."

TWO WESTLAND GIRLS, victims of a double slaying on April 28, had services held Tuesday, May 2, at the Lane Funeral Home, Garden City. The girls were Deborah Crowther, 8, and her sister Kimberly, 6, of 1604 N. Wayne Road. Survivors include maternal grandparents in Plymouth; paternal grand parents in Livonia, and a great-grandmother in Garden City.

Juvenile Court To Try Youth, 14

A Juvenile Court trial will be held in Wayne County Juvenile Court within three weeks for a 14-year-old Westland boy charged with the April 23 double-murder of two small Westland sisters.

The action toward the hearing before Juvenile Judge James Lincoln came Wednesday after a preliminary hearing was held before Juvenile Court authorities.

At that time, the court agreed that the Westland police department had enough evidence to indicate that there was probable cause to believe that the boy, John Turner, of 244 N. Byfield, committed the crime.

Victims of the rape-strangling were Deborah Crowther, 8, and her sister, Kimberly, 6, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crowther, who have moved out of their home at

Police Training Council Receives Federal Grant

The Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council has received a federal grant of $34,637 to improve the new state program for training police officers, Col. Fredrick E. Davids, State Police director and council chairman, reported.

The grant is to be matched by staff services to the value of $39,114.

The nine-member council, established under a 1965 law, represents local police departments, sheriffs departments and the State Police.

It has the responsibility of establishing police training standards and setting 1604 N. Wayne Road to live with relatives.

The girls were on their way home from the Stottlemeyer Elementary School, in the Wayne Community School District, when they were murdered in a clump of bushes in a field just north of Marquette Street.

The Turner boy is being held in the County Youth Home until his Juvenile Court trial begins.

Defense attorney for the boy is Francis J. Prebenda, who was appointed by the court.

Since the defendant is under 15, he is prohibited by state law from being tried as an adult. If convicted, Turner will be given a complete psychiatric examination. If judged mentally incompetent, he would be sent to a state hospital where he would remain until he is officially certified as being cured.

If he is not found to be mentally ill, he will face a sentence by Judge Lincoln. The choices include probation, a private boarding school, or commitment to a state institution, such as the Boys Training School in Lansing.

He can stay at the state institution only until he is 19 years old at which time the Juvenile Court loses its jurisdiction over him.

If the boy is found to be sane during his confinement at the state institution or at the time of his 19th birthday, the court has no alternative but to release the youth.

The defendant had run away from home about two weeks before the double-murder and was staying with a teen-age boy and his stepbrother at 35181 Marquette, across the road from the scene of the murders.

250 Attend Meeting Of Governmental Heads

More than 250 representatives of cities, villages, counties, school districts and townships in Southeast Michigan gathered in the new Municipal Hall in Southfield for the first meeting of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

They elected L. Curtis Potter, of Royal Oak, chairman of the Committee of One Hundred, temporary chairman and Delos Hamlin, of Oakland County, temporary vice chairman.

The initial meeting was called for the express purpose of forming a temporary organization, review the preliminary draft of the bylaws, appoint temporary committees and to hear talks by outstanding leaders.

The purpose of the Council of Governments was adequately expressed in the preamble of the preliminary draft of the bylaws.

It states "we believe the more than 350 local governments, which include cities and villages, counties, school districts and the townships in Southeast Michigan form one regional community. We realize that our individual and collective destinies rest with the interdependent actions of the family of local governments which comprise our region."

"Our goal is to retain local home rule while combining our total resources for regional challenges beyond our individual capabilities."

"We believe the expansion of the concept of voluntary cooperation among our local governments is an effective means of achieving this goal. We believe this cooperation must be fostered in two ways: by strengthening the abilities of local governments to meet individual local needs and by developing a voluntary association (council) of local governments to meet the broader common needs."

The affirmed purpose of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments is to have a voluntary organization of local governments in Southeast Michigan to foster a cooperative effort in resolving problems, policies and plans that are common and regional, with maximum efficiency and economy.

The delegates heard Chairman Mel Ravitz, of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, discuss "The Committee of One Hundred and Its Challenge," and Ralph B. Guy, Jr., Corporation Counsel for the City of Dearborn, talk on "How Do We Proceed with the Organization of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments."

Glen Peters, Secretary of the L'Anse Creuse Board of Education, presented the preliminary draft of the bylaws which was adopted.

It was agreed that the next

Bond Issue New Teachers

the preliminary tax base figures hold up. Fischer and other members of the Board plan to embark on a speaking and coffee klatch program immediately to get the story of the needs for the bond issue across to electors.

It was just a week ago that high school officials informed the Board they were making plans for an enrollment of more than 1625 at the start of the 1967-68 school year.

They pointed out that this means there aren't enough facilities to take care of all students in the physical education program and that some steps would have to be taken to forgive members of some classes from that required course until the situation is alleviated.

A total of 1,625 students will actually have the high school bursting at the seams. Members of the administrative staff were just barely able to take care of the more than 1,450 this year and the possibility of an additional 200 by next September is alarming.

Representatives of the Plymouth Jaycees were on hand for Monday's meeting to seek permission for a "Pennies for Vietnam" fund raising campaign and all promised to get the entire support of the chapter to help build support for the new schools.

"This proposed school isn't elaborate in any manner," said President Fischer. "There have been numerous other high schools built in the area at much higher costs. We have tried to give the Plymouth Community the kind of school they want, the kind they will be proud to have their children attend. The cost estimates at this time are $8.5 million. We need a new school, this is the cost and we're asking voters to support this issue."

Jaycees Host Junior High's Top Bowlers

Champions of the Junior Bowling League of Junior High West, sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees, were feted at a dinner given recently for all of the league's 60 participants. Kenneth Kabel was in charge of the season's activities on behalf of the sponsors.

The championship team honors went to a fivesome of Bob Gilles, Bob Hartig, Mike Jabara, Ed Osbold and John Wilson. Dale Robinson won the trophy for the highest single game score of the season, 236.

Plymouth Council Approves Budget; Salaries Still Open

Although salary boosts for the Department of Public Works and the police and firemen are still in negotiation and probably will be for some time, the Plymouth City Commission Monday approved a budget of $1,592,712 for 1967-68 as presented by City Manager Richard Blodgett.

It is $229,000 higher than that presented a year ago.

Blodgett told the Commissioners that Commissioner James McKeon, head of the labor employ relations committee, have had several meetings with negotiators from the Teamsters Union, representing the DPW, and the Police and Firemen's Association.

"Nothing has been resolved to date," he said. "We will continue negotiations until we arrive at a settlement that will be satisfactory to the Commission and the Unions and then present the proposed contract to the Commissioners for approval."

The general fund revenues for the new fiscal year reflect a $257,000 increase over 1966-67. However, nearly $180,800 as this hike is proposed to be realized through the sale of Motor Vehicle Highway and Special Assessment bonds for street constructing purposes.

With no increase in the tax rate of $16.65 per thousand, but because of a $1.8 million increase in assessed valuation, property tax revenue should increase by more than $23,000.

In telling of salary increases, Blodgett indicated the administration is studying hikes for all personnel that would average about five per cent across the board.

The budget allows an additional two firemen as required by state law which permits firemen to work only 56 hours a week compared to 63 during the past year. The new limit on hours is effective July 1.

Increases in the fire department budget will allow for two aluminized suits and walkie-talkie units that will enable firemen to keep in contact with each other in the event of a major blaze. It will allow firemen outside to talk with those inside buildings and enable them to order changes in fire hoses and personnel without moving in and out of buildings.

The police department budget has been increased to include $10,000 for proposed salary increases, $1,250 for additional education training and $3,500 for specialized equipment including walkie-talkies.

The new equipment also includes a new radar device which prints the information on tickets that can be used in court trials and eliminate charges of culprits that it is their word against that of the policeman.

Plymouth also has become a link in the Law Enforcement Information Network, a statewide organization which reports incidents on teletypes and also relays them to all participating units via a computer located in Lansing.

Blodgett also recommended the installation of sprinkler units at the City Hall to relieve workers of the DPW from that chore.

He plans to beef up the tree program with a budget of $8,000 compared to $6,000 a year ago. This will include improved removal services of trees on city property; spraying service twice a year for Dutch Elm disease instead of once as at the moment.

The sidewalk program will be continued with work slated to start in the southeast quadrant with the completion of the southwest quadrant.

The park areas program has been increased by $8,000 to provide the city share of funds to be allocated for the acquisition of additional park land along Tonquish Creek.

Under the heading of miscellaneous is an item for Central Services which shows an increase of $33,000 over the $80,362 of a year ago. Of this boost, $30,000 will be used in insurance accounts for employees.

The equipment fund has been balanced at $92,910 compared to the $124,989 last year. This is due to the unusually large amount of equipment purchased last year. Allotments for new equipment include: replacement of two cars in the Police Department; a front end snow plow blade for the DPW along with replacement of other equipment at a cost of $13,190.

City Fathers Ok Study of Arena

The dream of a community center for the City of Plymouth came a step closer to reality on Monday evening.

The step was taken when the City Commission, without a dissenting vote, approved a feasibility study for the possible erection of an enclosed facility that would house a skating rink and make possible an arena type building for other activities.

The vote came as a climax to several months study by the Centennial Committee and, prior to that, the Steering Committee of the birthday festival.

The vote also ended a controversy — or misunderstanding — that had gripped the entire community for the past month. This misunderstanding was centered on what had been termed a skating rink.

When the Centennial Committee was formed some months ago with former resident, Joseph Tarantino, as chairman, it was instructed by the City Commissioners to develop a permanent memorial for the Centennial.

With that in mind the Committee sounded out all organizations for ideas and finally set February 8, as the deadline for submitting projects.

Then, on the evening of February 8, three delegations appeared. The first, the Jaycees, offered a plan for the conversion of the church on Ann Arbor Trail into a Youth Center.

The second was to have been a plan for a new Historical Museum and was to have been offered by the Senior Citizens. They failed to make a presentation, claiming that the City should build the museum.

Chairman Tarantino then sponsored a group that included experts from Chicago to offer an outdoor skating rink. This plan was adopted and the rink was to be built for a price estimated at $170,000.

No sooner had the plan been announced, however, than protests came from all sections. The protests were built around the theme that the skating rink was not suitable — especially at that figure.

A quick change of plans, however, was sponsored by the Committee and the new program called for the building of an arena type building to house the rink at a cost of $350,000.

To many, this was still a skating rink and it was opposed until a meeting of the rival groups a week ago. At this meeting the misunderstanding was corrected.

The lone question remaining was the financing of the feasibility study.

The firm of T. E. Samuelson, of Chicago, submitted a contract calling for a payment of $2,000 for the study. There was this provision — if the study was accepted and the building approved, the cost of the study would be included in the building. If the building was rejected after the study, the City would be liable for the $2,000.

This hung fire until Monday evening when the City Commission approved the ordering of the study and gambled on the possibility of the building not being built.

Under the plan, adopted on a motion by Commissioner George Hudson with the support of Commissioner James McKeon, the Mayor and the City Clerk are to act for the City in the signing of a contract.

This done, it was estimated that the study may take several months.

Thieves Hit 2 Livonia Apartments

Two apartments at 29050 Dardanella, Livonia, were broken into Friday, but residents apparently scared off the thieves before they could remove the loot.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cooling reported to Livonia police that as they entered the hallway of the apartment building about 1 p.m., two men first started to walk very fast down the hallway and then turned to Mrs. Cooling and asked her if she knew where the manager was. She directed them.

After entering their apartment, they discovered the following items wrapped in a bed sheet and pillow case: a portable TV set, a stereo record player, a tape recorder, a camera, a radio, several bottles of whiskey, and a clock. Taken from the bedroom was a ladies' Gruen wrist watch valued at $85.

The couple had noticed a Ford Thunderbird parked in front of the building when they returned, and it was gone right afterwards.

According to police, the subjects were described as follows: one man was 28-32 years of age, about 5'6", 185 pounds, of stocky build, with dark complexion, black wavy hair, wearing a dark brown suit, a white shirt, and a tie. The other was described as 16 to 18, 145 pounds, slim, with dark hair, and a sport shirt and pants.

About 4:30 p.m. the same day another resident of the building, Joan McCurdy, reported that both bedrooms of her ground-floor apartment had been ransacked. Nothing appeared to be missing, although cameras and other items were disturbed.

Knives, Axes Are Used In Melee

David L. Junk, 23, of 9912 Fairfield, Livonia, was booked by Livonia Police on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after a fight during which, it is reported, he swung a double-bladed ax at his opponent.

Police officers were dispatched to a Plymouth Road Restaurant, on report that a fight was in progress. The men, milling around at the parking lot, put their weapons away when police approached.

Witnesses gave the following account of the incident: Lawton Williston, 27, of 3109 Chicago, Flint, said that he and Frank P. Maldaner, of 5805 N. Linville, Westland, were sitting in the restaurant when Junk and four others entered.

Two women in Junk's party told police that Williston and Maldaner were using vulgar language. Then Williston asked John L. Garrett, 21, of 9018 Hugh, Livonia, "What are you looking at," and used an obscenity. Junk challenged Williston to a fight.

Williston stated that Junk threatened him with a knife and that he told Junk he'd fight with him outside if he put the knife away. According to the reports, Williston told Maldaner to get a bat out of his car, and Junk ran to his own vehicle and opened the trunk.

Junk claimed that at this point he was struck on his head with a night-stick type of club and the trunk lid was slammed on his head.

Then, reported Williston, Junk took a double-bladed ax from the trunk and began to swing it.

John Walker, 24, of 35955 Hess, Livonia, stepped between the two men, taking the club from Maldaner and the ax from Junk. He put the ax in Junk's car and gave Junk the club to use. At this point police arrived.

Officers questioned the subjects and witnesses, and Corporal Gerald Lenard took the knife from Junk's pocket. The ax, club, and knife were brought to the station, as were the five men involved.

Junk was arrested and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Williston, Maldaner, Garrett, and Terrence B. Salisbury, of 30634 Warren, Westland, were released to appear when notified.

Six police officers were on the scene as a result of the fight.

This five-day course for shelter management instructors is one of several special courses offered by the Civil Defense Staff College.

As part of the National Civil Defense Program, millions of fallout shelter spaces found in existing buildings throughout the country and which meet certain standards are marked by the Federal Government and stocked with food, water, sanitation, medical and radiological detection supplies and equipment.

"Personnel must be trained to manage the people who may occupy these shelters. The shelter management instructors' course conducted at the staff college provides training in fallout shelter management to those persons who will return to their communities and train others to serve as shelter managers in case of emergency.

Let's Keep the Cities, But...

Maybe if we turn city governments back to the Indians they will know what to do with them.

Don't laugh. It could happen.

It probably won't, though, because the structure of government is like building the atomic bomb: No one person is ever allowed to understand it until it goes boom. Then it's too late for everybody except the mourners and those with 20-20 hindsight.

Observerland cities—Livonia, Garden City, Farmington and Plymouth—are all in different stages with their city charters, either building the bomb or picking up the pieces.

Westland is a sort of oasis of peace, having adopted a charter on April 25, 1966, and whether everybody likes its provisions or not, the city is planning a birthday celebration of its effective date, May 16.

It's a strong-mayor charter and Mayor Thomas H. Brown is getting $15,000 a year. So we know at least one citizen is happy.

Meanwhile, back at Livonia, a charter commission is revising the document and already the shooting has started. Mayor Harvey W. Moelke states the first fragments of the charter is stripping the mayor of his powers to run the city. Some charter commissioners say it isn't so.

Commissioners have done in-depth research on city charters, the hardware of the structure and the philosophy of its provisions. So far nobody seems interested in the bomb.

Garden City's charter proposal was shot down by the voters last Aug. 2 and the big fight now is whether councilmen or citizens or a combination of both should try the rewri's job. And all you Ban the Bomb marchers: Forget Garden City.

And Farmington voters rejected a new charter last June. They felt they were confused and they were unhappy at the way it was presented.

Plymouth has a charter which is under fire on a constitutional question: Whether a requirement that candidates be taxpayers deprives people of their rights.

The case will be going directly to the Michigan Supreme Court in a challenge to the Circuit Court victory of the Rev. Peter Schweitzer, of the Plymouth Methodist Church, who contended the provision would forever bar him from public office since he lives in a tax-free church-owned building.

Then there's Plymouth Township which every four years comes up with a proposal to charter Plymouth Heights, a city that would surround Plymouth. Hardly anybody is serious about it, however.

Everybody else does it, so why not? Plymouth cannot, of course annex any of the rich industrial tax base while a charter is pending. Sorry about that, Plymouth.

So the point is that the cities owe a step-by-step explanation to the people, stating the rationale as well as the philosophy they are trying to carry into government.

And the people owe to their elected officials a thorough study of the document, an understanding of the question when they go to the polls.

Nobody yet has figured out a way to correct Nagasaki.

—DON HOENSHELL

Let's Block That Gap

Politicians and citizens are miles apart in space and very often eons apart in their thinking—a condition pundits call the Communications Gap.

It is sometimes sad—and quite often, funny—to watch a State Legislator rise ponderously and pooh-poo a bill "because my people back home aren't very excited."

And back home, the people figure Rep.

X has gone to Lansing and, with luck, they'll never hear from him again. Some of his actions on the floor are a mite strange in light of local sentiment in his district.

Now, however he votes in Lansing, your legislator will know how you feel—or, at the very least, he'll know you had a chance to tell him.

—DON HOENSHELL

Go Get 'em Tiger...and Write

Observerland legislators in Lansing want to know how the folks back home feel about the major issues of the day—and the people want to know how they can be contacted.

As a public service to both, the Observer presents the following list. Both representatives and Senators can be reached at the State Capitol, Lansing. Home addresses are included.

Letters To Editor:

Appalled at Apparel

Editor:
I am writing this, hoping you will put it in your paper to wake some of the parents of Livonia.

We attended an open house at Emerson Jr. High for future Emersonites next September. My son told us that none of the boys were dressing up, but I didn't believe him. I couldn't see parents allowing their children to go to a school function such as this, without wearing their best.

I overheard several of his friends talking and they all

Bring the Guns, Help Us Learn
Editor:
I have an idea that would be good for educating students.

It is when a class studies on a subject, some of the things pertaining to that subject should be ordered and brought in for the class to see.

For instance, when a class studies on the old guns of the Civil War, the class might really like to see them. If these (some of them) could be brought in, I think a student would learn more from this than reading about it in a textbook.

Ken Oliver

Question of Love
Editor:
If the Detroit "hippies" really love their fellow man, Mr. Power, then why aren't they helping distribute milk in Southeast Asia instead of candy on Belle Isle?

Lin Lewis

said their parents were allowing them to wear school clothes, so I decided to do the same. I was shocked to see the way the boys from Wilson School were dressed. Some in tennis shoes, in jeans, in sweatshirts, in dirty old pants and filthy jackets. I never saw so many pairs of unpolished shoes in one place in my life. The mothers and fathers were dressed nicely, why not their sons?

My son did have on good dress pants, polished shoes, a clean shirt and a neat clean jacket and he almost looked out of place. A couple of boys had on sport coats and ties and they certainly looked very nice. I know the next function the school has, my son will wear a suit coat, even if he is the only one. If a boy does not have one, he certainly owns a dress shirt and necktie.

I have been to Emerson in the past and the boys always were dressed neatly, but not last night.

If this is a look at the future youths of Livonia, City Hall had better start training more policemen. The old saying goes, "Look like a bum, act like a bum."

What ever happened to the boy who combed his hair, brushed his teeth, and polished his shoes before he went out in public?

Please don't misunderstand, many of the boys were clean and neat, but too many were not. If this is what they wear to a dress-up function at their school, what will they wear to class? You fathers would not go to a meeting in old sloppy clothes, so why let your son? Let's teach our children a little pride in themselves.

Let us have the future seventh graders at Emerson make us proud of them. I know we are going to do our best next September. Are we of the Livonia poverty area? We didn't even express that as even though poor, one can still be clean and neat.

On The Youth Conference
Editor:

Just a note to express my appreciation and that of the Livonia Youth Commission for The Observer participation in the conference at Stevenson High School on April 8th. You all deserve a big A for perceptive manner in which you made your contribution to the conference.

There were numerous comments from the students indicating their pleasure with the atmosphere of free discussion that prevailed (and I might add some comments bordered on outright disbelief that the resource people could take it so well and still refrain from overpowering the young people with their obvious expertise).

To date, I'd say we have a hit on our hands, but the proof of success still depends on our ability to get the follow-up on the road. This we will start immediately. Again, many thanks for your help.

R. C. Linton, Chairman
Livonia Youth Commission

SENSE and NONSENSE

One of the magazines newspaper men often read is something called Editor & Publisher. It contains various bits of news of supposed interest to our profession.

A recent ad in E & P suggests why we may be seeing a lot of cigars in our news photos in coming months. The ad, for the Cigar Institute of America, announces a $3,000 prize contest for winning photographs of cigars used in the news section of newspapers.

Among the contest rules are:

- (1) Any press photographer is eligible who submits his published news photo which includes a cigar presented in a favorable and interesting manner.
- (2) No "gag" photos are eligible. However, a woman smoking a cigar is not considered a gag if gracefully presented.

The ad announces that the contest was "conceived in the belief that, under the proper circumstances, the inclusion of a cigar can often add greater impact to a news photo."

If newspapers go along with this sort of thing, in which newsmen are paid to stress certain things in the news they put out, we see no reason why it can't be expanded to other areas.

Like helping George Romney's campaign for the presidential nomination.

Romney's backers could announce an award to any reporter who submits his published story presenting Romney in a favorable and interesting manner.

Advertising is fine, as long as people know it's advertising.

But most newsmen resent an ad campaign that smacks suspiciously of bribery. For a sure sign of the times and the problems of newspaper economics, it should be pointed out that the city of Westland, with nearly 75,000 residents has five newspapers covering the community while New York City, with more than eight million persons, has only three daily newspapers concerned with its welfare.

OBSERVING the Scene...

By MYRA CHANDLER

True, The Observers may not be the first newspapers to circulate on the moon—but they are on the launching pad and headed toward higher goals, greater accomplishments, and stronger leadership.

The group of vigorous veterans of the Fourth Estate which Publisher Philip Power is drawing around him can only result in sharp, clear reporting based on objective, yet imaginative and thought-provoking coverage of daily events in our bustling communities.

Newspapermen you will learn to know and respect like Don Hoenshell, formerly with the Detroit News, who will fill my slot; Tim Richard, who hails from a Kalamazoo daily—and women like Margaret Halava, knowledgeable in the world of politics as well as in the workings of the city room. She is Philip Power's executive secretary and a good person to get to know.

There will be strong leadership through controversial waters on matters pertaining to human relations, good government, school needs, and public financing.

In keeping with the long and vital tradition of The Observer Newspapers, which has not changed since their inception, Philip Power is no fence-rider.

Disagree with him you might, but respect him you will.

As you become acquainted with his style, you will recognize the fact that he will not be bought, intimidated, or conned. He has a set of strong principles on which he can and does rely for decisions.

There are few other fields of endeavor where it is more important to find your own premise, grab your best hold, and cling to it with a death grip, than the newspaper game. You must not be so afraid to lose that you fail to make yourself heard.

It often makes for a lonely life but the newspaper reporter who "buys the game," turns his head, and takes the safe middle road, is not worth his salt—to himself or to his readers.

Disagree, agree, boo, applaud, but please read, and speak up!

And know that the basic aim of these papers is not now—or ever has been—to store away money in huge piles in a vault—or provide a sinecure so that the publisher can recline with ease in an ivory tower.

No, it is the dedication of The Observers to be the consciences of their communities, to mirror the activities that make the community great or mediocre, to be ever watchful of the wheeler-dealer politico, suspicious of "executive" (really closed) meetings, and to care about the good things the citizens of Observerland are doing.

As I wind up my own 12-year-tenure with The Observer, I can honestly say to my friends and allies—you are in good hands—and to my enemies—you are in very good hands, too.

As for myself—I intend to be like Auntie Mame, and, as the song goes, "Open a new window—open a new door—travel a new highway that's never been tried before..."

Favors Wiretap In Conspiracies

Editor:
I am writing in regard to your article published in the Observer Newspapers concerning wiretapping.

There are many pros and cons related to this subject today. I believe it could be a very useful means of investigation if it is done in the proper manner and in the proper cases, mainly felonies. Our society must be protected from conspirators and, in conclusion, wiretapping can certainly be an asset to the public and their properties.

John B. Stanford
Plymouth

On Wiretapping

Editor:
In a recent article headed: "Wiretapping Illegal, Immoral", I have the same feeling as the writer. We would not want wiretapping legal in our country even though in some cases it might be helpful in government or law enforcement.

Many, many Americans still love freedom enough to stand up and express their opinions on subjects that take away more of our privileges and freedoms. I would not want my telephone tapped even though I wouldn't have anything to hide. I for one hope the congress will help keep the phone private.

You'll find Great Characters Along River of Printer's Ink

By W. W. EDGAR

PADDLING DOWN the river of printer's ink, one doesn't have to go very far before encountering some unusual characters.

For some strange reason, never fully explained, the world of journalism attracts a breed of humans far different than any other profession—and many of them have become legendary figures.

During the few decades that I have been paddling, I have had the pleasure of knowing such outstanding characters as Ring Lardner, Damon Runyon, Grantland Rice, Paul Gallico, Westbrook Pegler, W. O. McGheehan, O.O. McIntyre, and a host of other writers whose names have graced some of the best news stories ever written.

And along the way I have served under several outstanding editors, among them the late Malcolm W. Binyay, whose characterization of "Ifey the Dopester", during the Tigers Golden Days in 1934 and 1935, made a figure that will live forever in the annals of baseball.

He was the second great editor under whom I served and while I have many memories of him, he didn't compare to the old gent back home who started me along the stream of Printer's Ink.

HE WAS A fellow named Charlie Weiser and he was the last of the "Brown Derby Set". For a time he shared the honor with the late Al Smith, colorful Governor of New York who became famous in politics for his constant cry of "Let's look at the Records" every time he was challenged.

But with the political defeat of Brown Derby Al in his race for the presidency he faded from view. His Brown Derby was seen no more and my old editor, Charlie Weiser, reigned alone.

Despite the fame and glamour of these two it is another who furnishes me with some of my fondest memories.

To his family he was Harold Mitchell, but to the fellows paddling along the river of Printer's Ink he was just plain "Hal." He was the night news editor for years and his sharp mind, his keen judgment of a story, and the manner in which it should be used endeared him to the "boys." And his kind handling of their stories brought many of them a great portion of fame.

But Hal had an unusual side, too.

HE WAS A graduate of Oberlin College in Ohio and all he ever would tell you about this institution of higher learning was, "If you want to get saturated with religion, that's the place to go."

Hal didn't get saturated. But he never used a cuss word—which made him unusual in his profession.

He was a white-haired man, given to wearing his fedora hat while at work, and he never was without his spectacles as they were known in those days. What's more, they were "nose-pinchers" and he wore a chain over his right ear.

Even tempered most of the time, he did get upset on occasion, but never enough to swear. He would sputter something in rage and no one ever could recognize any words. I made it a point to try to decipher the "code" and listened night after night as he muttered something like "TLNI." Every time he became disturbed with anyone he would toss his pencil on the desk, turn to the perpetrator and mutter "TLNI."

It became quite a guessing game, trying to figure out what he was saying. Finally, at night, when the paper had "gone to bed", we got to chatting and he admitted that TLNI, meant "Total Loss with No Insurance."

"And that's as bad as you can get," he explained. What a character!

I'll never forget him.

It seems to be the fashionable thing these days for politicians to call for a restructuring of their party.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy did it before a group of Michigan Democrats last week.

Not too long ago Congressman Donald S. Reigle from Michigan's Fifth District did the same thing before a convention of the Wayne County Young Republicans.

Friday night's gathering for the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day fund raising affair was my first exposure to the Democrats.

The speech wasn't the only similarity between the Republicans and Democrats though.

In spite of the valiant efforts on the part of those who were in charge, the affair was late in getting under way. This is normal in GOP circles too.

As usual, the entire program had to be re-arranged and the featured speaker was moved to the front of the program. (Maybe all this means is that program planners should take note of busy schedules in today's jet society.)

Another similarity is that nobody really sat down and ate a calm and peaceful type meal. Political gatherings are always noisy and confused. Everyone mills around and talks while the dignitaries are introduced, the speakers pentificate, and awards, if any, are made.

There was also a cross section of the population present. Cars in the Cobo Arena ranged from the small economy size models to Cadillacs and Lincolns. The only thing that proves is that the Democrats are no more the party of the poor than the Republicans are strictly big business and big management.

Kennedy was mobbed after the speech by a collection of autograph seekers which included the very young ladies complete with flowered hats and even some men who had that slightly rumpled look that long-time party workers have attained.

The most interesting sight of all, however, was a man who was probably in his 70's leaving the hall after the speech. The gentleman hobbled along with the help of a cane with his coat open to show the collection of campaign buttons he wore on his suit coat. On top of the row was a "J.F.K. for President" button.

Was that to show his fondness for the Kennedys in general or was it simply because the RFK buttons are being manufactured at the present time?

Time Change Heading for 1968 Ballot

State elections workers today checked through nearly 200,000 petition signatures to determine whether the Daylight Savings Time issue will go on the ballot in November, 1968.

The petition campaign, launched by State Senator Raymond D. Dzendzel (D-Detroit) seeks to overturn a 1967 law exempting Michigan from the Federal Time Act.

The Federal act requires observance of Daylight Savings Time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

The filing of valid petitions automatically suspends the state law until the voters decide at the polls.

Opponents of Daylight Savings Time are trying to block the effect of the petition campaign in court.

Backers of Daylight Savings Time argue that the extra hour during the summer and early fall months will benefit recreation, family living, will reduce traffic accidents, provide advantages for business and commerce and reduce juvenile delinquency and crime.

"Is Michigan to be made a separate 'time island' in between the east coast and the midwest for six months of the year," the pro-Daylight Savings Time backers ask. "Is Michigan to be out of step with every other major financial, commercial and manufacturing community?"

They contend that Michigan's failure to go along with fast time will confuse travel schedules, television and radio programs.

The Teachers Speak

Efforts Fail To Upgrade Certification Standards

By ROGER D. STEPHON
Executive Secretary Livonia Education Association

For the past several years, the teaching profession has been concerned with the low certification standards of the State of Michigan. At the present time, the State Board of Education has proposed a new code, the first real revision in many, many years.

Having seen the original proposal and subsequent revisions, teachers throughout the State of Michigan are alarmed that so little has been done to increase both the minimum qualifications for entry into the profession and the additional requirements for permanent or continuing certification. At a hearing held just last week at the Michigan School for the Blind, State Board of Education members heard teacher groups and Board of Education groups express their views on the proposed code.

Surprisingly, teachers appear to be more interested in upgrading their own standards than do their employers. Some employers contend that should entrance requirements be raised to a "professional level," many school districts would be hard pressed to find warm bodies to fill classrooms. The fact still remains that the children of the State of Michigan would be far better off on half day sessions with fully qualified teachers manning the classrooms than to attend full day sessions under the guidance of substandard personnel.

The biggest bone of contention is the 90-day special permit which is offered by the State of Michigan after the completion of just 60 hours of college preparation. The Michigan Education Association objects vigorously to the inclusion of any and all substandard permits in the certification code.

Specifically, the Michigan Education Association opposes the inclusion of a half-year special permit in the certification code for a person with 60 semester hours or more of college credit who does not teach more than one semester or 90 days during any school year, especially since this permit is renewable the following year upon the recommendation of the superintendent of schools without additional credit.

Also of concern to educators throughout the State is the number of hours beyond completion of the Bachelor's Degree that are required in order to obtain permanent or continuing certification.

The proposed code suggests that such a degree be granted on the completion of 15 semester hours in advanced course of study beyond the Bachelor's Degree. The Michigan Education Association, on the other hand, demands that one of the minimum requirements be the successful completion of 30 semester hours in an advanced course of study beyond the Bachelor's Degree.

At the hearing held just last week, at least one State Board of Education member took issue with the MEA in terms of its "demand." When one considers the number of years revisions to the existing code have languished on one person's desk or another, it is small wonder that an organization of 60,000 professionals would not, in fact, demand that the entry and maintenance requirements be improved.

While it must be admitted that there are some improvements in the proposed certification code over that which currently exists, I do not feel we can afford to look back at how far we have come. Instead, we must look forward to how far we have yet to go. As professionals, teachers are taking steps to insure that their profession will be better tomorrow than it is today. The State Board of Education has a responsibility to its constituents through the State to help the profession effect such improvements.

In the final analysis, whether we be State Board of Education members, teachers, or citizens, it is definitely in the best interests of our children to do as much as humanly possible to improve the training and preparation of those who will guide our youth.

Teams Sign For Westland Slow Pitch Competition

Westland's Parks and Recreation Department has been busy registering teams for its slow pitch leagues.

Up to date it looks like seven teams for the "A" League, and seven teams for the "C" League and only four teams for the new experimental "Ushers-Church" League.

Several managers were up at the first manager's meeting April 26 at the Recreation Center on Dorsey.

League rules, contracts, and fees were given out at this meeting. Another meeting for managers is set for next Wednesday, May 17, at 8 p.m. at the Recreation Center, 32715 Dorsey Road.

This meeting will be the last session before league play begins. All fees are due at the meeting.

If any other teams are interested in participating in one of the leagues, they may contact the Westland Recreation Department at P.A. 2-7620 between 9 and 5 p.m.

It still needs some church teams for the Usher's League. Class A plays on Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m.; Class C on Fridays at 6:30 p.m.; and Class Ushers-Church League on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m.

For further individual or team information, persons may contact the Recreation Department before May 17.

Democrats Slate Memorial Dinner

The Farmington Democratic Club's annual dinner this year will honor the late Alf Landgren and benefit the Farmington District Library. The dinner is scheduled for 6:45 p.m. Monday, May 22, at Botsford Inn.

Farmington Democratic Club Chairman Gerald Freedman said that members decided to forego the funds raised at the annual dinner in order to donate them to the Library as a memorial tribute to Landgren.

A long-time resident of Farmington Township, Landgren was famous for the smorgasbord he prepared for each meeting of the Democratic Club. "Many persons came to the Democratic meetings just to be around when the meeting ended and Mr. Landgren served his food," Freedman said.

"Mrs. Landgren was also a lover of good books and good music. That's why we are happy that we can combine this tribute with a contribution to the library."

"Mrs. Landgren will be a special guest of honor at the dinner," Freedman said. "The dinner will be non-political and we welcome all of Mr. Landgren's friends." W. Allen Nelson, member of the Farmington City Planning Commission and long-time friend of Mr. Landgren, has been asked to speak at the dinner on behalf of the Democratic Club.

Dinner chairman is Harold Shpiece. Tickets, priced at $5 each, can be purchased by calling Mrs. Marie Mutschall, at 474-8129.

Bd. of Education Named in Top 12

Charles F. Deubel, President of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association of the United States, announced Monday, May 1, that, on the recommendation of the Livonia Department of Classroom Teachers, the Livonia Board of Education has been named among the 12 regional first place winners for the NEA-Thom McAn School Board Award. Livonia's nomination, submitted in the area of Community Relations and Staff Relations, recognizes the significant steps taken during 1963-64 to develop a balanced Board of Education, to implement staff involvement, and to stimulate public education and public involvement in the educational program of the school system.

The Community Relations area include such aspects as creation of programs to promote better public understanding of the school program; provision of open hearings of the Board; increasing the usefulness of parent-teacher groups; fostering of cooperative relations with civic groups and public agencies interested in community improvements; encouragement of free and open relations with the press and broadcast industry; and development of community recreation and cultural programs.

In the words of Francis C. Rooney, Jr., President of the Thom McAn Shoe Company, "Both Thom McAn and the Department of Classroom Teachers expect the NEA-Thom McAn School Board Awards Program to heighten public awareness of the importance of new ideas, new efforts, and new achievements in the field of public education. Such developments hold the promise of attaining the goal we all seek—a better public school education for all American children everywhere."

Officials of the Livonia Education Association and the Livonia Department of Classroom Teachers are planning an appropriate ceremony early in June, at which time the award will be officially presented to the Livonia Board of Education.

Drivers, Not Firms, Pay For Overload

Truck overloads brought fines to four drivers last week whose cases were assigned to Randall Kohler, Redford Township Justice of the Peace.

Charges against the companies whose trucks they were driving were dismissed. Theodore Petroff, 7775

Rosemary Dearborn Heights, and Calvin C. Vert, 17660 Five Points, Redford Township, advised Kohler they would remit their fines by mail.

Both were fined $115 for violating weight restrictions while driving Detroit Pure Milk trucks.

Petroff's truck was cited for a 5,000-pound overload and Vert for 4,900 pounds.

Fines of $65 were ordered for Walter C. Kupski of 5273 Dartmouth St., Dearborn Heights and Harold G. Fenner, 6990 Patmore, Pontiac.

Both were driving trucks owned by Angelo DiPonio.

Bentley, RU in Relay Honors

ALL OUT EFFORT: Garden City East's Bill Crowell lunges in vain to beat out Riverview foe at tape in the hurdles. However, Crowell won three other events to pace his team.

Casper, Crowell Star In Track

Bill Casper and Bill Crowell are the big names in high school track this season around Garden City.

Casper, who runs for West High, cracked the school record in the two-mile when he was timed in 10:11.8, almost seven seconds under the former mark which he himself had set.

Casper's effort came as West beat Lowrey, 63-55, in a dual meet.

Meanwhile, Crowell turned in a one-man show against Riverview, but he didn't help his team which went down to a 63-55 setback.

Crowell copped the high jump and the pole vault and also raced to victory in the low hurdles. He was second in the high hurdles.

Dan Bell scored a double for West in the meet with Lowrey as he copped the high jump and the long jump.

The West team then lost to defending Tri Rivers League champ Southgate, 76-42, winning only four events.

Bell (long jump), Don Smith (high hurdles), Scott Frazier (low hurdles), and Mike Alexander (220) triumphed for West against Southgate.

The West team now stands 4-2 in the league and 6-3 overall.

Thailand Gal Is Table Tennis City Champion

Supanrigar Boonmonthira, foreign exchange student from Thailand, captured the Women's Class B Singles Table Tennis title in the Livonia City championships.

The 17-year-old Bentley High School lass (called "Cindy Boon") for brevity by fellow students) defeated Marsha Lamond.

Other winners in the Livonia Recreation Department tournament were:
Class B: Men's singles — Jim George, runnerup, Gordon Kelly.

Boys under 17 years — Mitchell Ephraim; runnerup, Bill Himm; under 13 years — Tom Luch. Girls: under 17 — Mary Beth Jientko; under 13 — Kim Watson.
Class A: Singles — Janice Martin; runnerup, Ron Hoekstra.

Bentley and Redford Union, running one-two for honors in the Suburban Six League's track wars this spring, hauled in some "outside" glory last Saturday night.

Competing in the Monroe Relays, Bentley placed third with 32 1/2 points, while Redford Union with 17 points finished eighth in the 19-team field. Ypsilanti won the crown with 4 points, followed by Grosse Pointe's 36.

Redford Union, which is hoping that Plymouth can upset Bentley this Thursday and thus pave the way for the Township to tie Bentley for first place in the league, pulled off the big upset at Monroe. The RU mile relay with a fancy clocking of 3:29 finished first and beat out, among others, the No. 1 rated quartet in the state from Ypsilanti Central.

Dave Pike, Mike Borg, George Corombas and Jim Childress carried the mail for RU in its victory dash. RU's other points came in the mile where Jack Shepherd ran second and Bob Junk took fifth.

Meantime, Bentley hauled off points — both in individual and relay competition.

Doug Thomas took second in the 100-yard dash, Ken

Jackson second in the high hurdles, Frank Miller second and Larry Haggert fourth in the shot put, Larry Grimm third and Gary Gilders fifth in the pole vault and Mark Formosa tying for fifth in the high jump.

The Bentley shuttle hurdle relay team of Gary Eggleston, Fred Howell, Thomas and Jackson hit the finish second. In the 880-yard relay, Jackson, Bill Warren, Tom Spuller and Thomas combined to place third.

When the final dual meets of the league campaign are held Thursday, Bentley will be shooting for a perfect 5-0 finish against Plymouth. Redford Union, which has lost only once — to Bentley — must win Thursday and Bentley lose for a deadlock at the top to result.

The highlight of the Plymouth-Bentley meet will center in the hurdles where Bentley's Jackson and Plymouth's Dave Derr stake... their unbeaten dual-meet... records in a head-on battle...

St. Agatha Charging To Crown

A baseball title for St. Agatha?

The prospects are getting brighter and brighter. The parish team from Redford Union boasted a 5-0 record going into this week's play in the Southwest Division of the Catholic League.

Ann Arbor St. Thomas stood second, a game off the pace, and with the two teams slated to collide Thursday at Bell Creek Park. St. Agatha could just about settle matters with another victory.

The weather restricted St. Agatha's play last week to one game — an 11-1 romp over Immaculate Conception.

Coach Jerry Sievert used four pitchers, leading off with his ace, Chuck Costello, who worked two innings and struck out the six men he faced.

Costello deserved a rest. During the previous two weeks he chalked up four victories.

Jim Koplon, Mike Menett and Will Stroud followed Costello to the mound against Immaculate Conception for short periods and between them they allowed just one hit — a triple in the fifth that knocked in the losers' one run.

Joe Huhn and Dan Sweeney paced the attack for St. Agatha. Huhn drilled out four singles in five trips to the plate while his mate lashed out a double and two singles.

Four runs in the fourth inning put the game out of reach for St. Agatha.

Costello started the uprising with a walk. Huhn singled and Sweeney doubled. Dennis McKenna and Ron Blackmore followed with singles, John Minahan walked and Paul Rica slapped a double before the side finally was retired.

In addition to taking on St. Thomas, St. Agatha also had a game scheduled against Wyandotte St. Patrick this week.

Both rolled along last Thursday when Bentley swamped Allen Park, 85-32, and Plymouth chalked up a 69-48 decision over Belleville.

Shepherd was the star as RU blitzed Trenton, 67-51, in a league tussle after posting 54 3/4 points to Edsel Ford's 46 and Franklin's 44 3/4 in a triangular affair.

Running the two-mile against Trenton, Shepherd was timed in 9:48.3 to set a new varsity record and post one of the best performances turned in by a Michigan schoolboy this season.

Plymouth will be hard-pressed for manpower against Bentley. The Rocks have been operating minus starting shotputter Tom Elias, out with an injury; half-mile ace Bruce Cavender, who suffered a fractured leg and two-miler Dick Goepf, out with a cracked vertebrae.

Results of last week's meets involving Redford Union:

REDFORD UNION 54 1/2, EDEL FORD 48, FRANKLIN 44 3/4 (RU and Franklin Places)
Shot Put: 2 — Andrews (RU), 4 — Gajda (F).
Long Jump: 1 — Troia (F), 2 — Davis (RU), 4 — Oehl (RU). Distance: 19 feet, 2 inches.
High Jump: Tied for first between Arnold (F) and Oehl (RU). Height: 5 feet, 6 inches.
Pole Vault: 2 — Headlee (RU), tie for third: Gillespie (RU) and Kenyon (RU).
Two-Mile: 1 — Shepherd (RU), 2 — Clark, 3 — Mazurek (RU), 4 — Hallet (F). Time: 9:50.1.

No-Hitter Squashed, But Victory Is Saved

Greg Main, sophomore pitcher at Our Lady of Sorrows High School, knows how Steve Barber felt when he pitched a no-hitter for Baltimore against the Tigers, but couldn't win. Main flipped a no-hitter for eight innings — last Friday against St. Francis de Sales... and didn't win, either.

However, after Main finally yielded a safety in the ninth inning (two more than the preps usually play) his mates got him a run and a 1-0 victory.

"We should have won earlier and given Main the thrill of capturing a no-hitter," Sorrows coach Bob Kelly said.

"We had some great chances. Twice Sorrows had made as far as third, but couldn't get them in."

But Main wasn't unnerved. He kept pace with loser Bob Szeffi and when it was all over, Main had chalked up 19 more strikeouts to bring his total for the season to 65 in 33 innings... just a trifle under two per inning.

What's more, he has yielded only four earned runs.

Main, who wears glasses, walked two and hit two in beating St. Francis de Sales. He never was in serious trouble as his booming fast ball resulted in the opposition hitting only one fly to the outfield until the hit came in the ninth to run his try for baseball's hall of fame.

There was nothing fluky about the hit. It was a clean shot over second. The blow came with one out and Main blamed himself.

"I let up and threw the ball too high," he said.

Sorrows triumphed in the ninth under a tense situation.

Mike McAskin walked and stole second. Then Frank Barber and Dennis Perry walked to load the bases.

There was one out. Coach Kelly went for some strategy. He called in Dennis Haffey, who stands four feet, 6 inches. Dennis is an excellent bunter and also a tough man for a pitcher to face.

With Dennis at bat, Pat Kelly took over the pitching for St. Francis. His first pitch got away from the catcher and McAskin slid home under a high tag for the winning run.

Less than 48 hours later, Main was back on the mound, facing St. Andrew. But he was socked for two homers in the first inning and he finished the game playing first base.

Unbeaten St. Andrew continued its hitting assault and wound up with a 9-3 victory. The big blow for Sorrows was a homer by Jim McGrath.

BID FOILED: Pitcher Greg Main of Sorrows walks from mound in ninth inning after losing a chance to win a no-hitter. But he still won game from St. Francis de Sales, 1-0.

Start Play May 19 In Anders Meet

Baseball teams from Garden City East and Livonia Franklin High Schools will have the honor of opening play in the second annual Les Anders Memorial tournament on Friday, May 19 under the lights at Henry Ford Memorial Field.

The tourney, which attracted 14 of the 16 teams in the Observer Newspaper Group circulation area, is sponsored jointly by the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation, The Observer Newspaper Group and the Livonia Optimist Club.

Actually it was started three years ago by the late Les Anders, then athletic director of the Livonia School system who represented the Optimist Club in joining the Observer and the DPR in co-sponsoring the meet.

Anders died shortly before the start of the tournament a year ago and it immediately was tagged as the Les Anders Memorial.

Only Farmington and North Farmington refused to enter this year. In each instance the baseball coaches of the two schools reportedly told Athletic Director Jack Cotton that they preferred not to be

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

You pounce the sports beat and sense excitement the likes of which the Detroit area hasn't expressed in a long time.

The Tigers are off and running... the change in coaches at the Detroit Lions has produced a new spirit... the Pistons have plucked two dandies from the college ranks to bolster their forces along with returning Terry Dischinger next winter.

Sports can do wonders for a community, especially when other problems seem to plague the people. And, certainly we have them today in this country what with the Viet Nam war and the constant battle all of us face when it comes to taxes.

At the moment, the Tiger followers are cautious. Past memories, past failures, past disappointments have led most of us not to go hog wild on the subject of a pennant.

But the Tigers would appear to have assembled a club that could go all the way. They have superlative pitching, an excellent defense and so far you can't fault their offense too much.

Every winning team has to have a spark... and in our book the Tigers are getting their "fire" from Al Kaline.

So much has been said that the "Tigers can't win with Kaline." Nonsense. He has shown that when he's healthy, he's truly their leader.

When we saw Kaline down in Florida a few weeks ago, he impressed you with perhaps a different type of an attitude. Kaline bubbled with confidence. He still does.

The other afternoon, if you were at Tiger Stadium or watching at home on TV, you could see how important Kaline is to the Tigers.

In the first inning he slams one out of the park to put the team in front against Baltimore. Later with a great throw he cuts down the potential go-ahead run for the Orioles and ignites the Tigers into a late bustout that beats Baltimore.

Watch Al on the base paths. He runs like a rookie. It's this kind of an approach by the senior citizen of the Tigers which inspires the others to get the job done. To date, it's been quite a job.

As for the Lions, the hiring of Joe Schmidt to boss the team already has created a new feeling among the players. Schmidt isn't talking championships — yet.

He merely insists that when the hour for the kickoff arrives, his players will be ready, physically and mentally. The Lions will work as a unit.

One thing is certain. There'll be none of the walkouts, the blasts at the coaches, etc., which prevailed during the regime of Harry Gilmer.

The Lions' players either will respect Schmidt and his staff, or they'll go elsewhere.

Schmidt admits there's much he doesn't know about coaching. That's why he has surrounded himself with veteran talent, men who have coached in both the pro leagues.

As for the Pistons, we were truly surprised by the developments of last week's college draft. The Pistons had been debating on whether to pick Jimmy Walker or Sonny Dove as their first choice.

Neither coach Dennis Butcher or G. M. Ed Coil dreamed that the Pistons could nail down both.

But the Pistons have. Walker already is signed to a pretty, fancy four-year contract. Dove and his agent have big ideas, too.

Rocks Out To Tie Belleville for Lead

There's optimism in the Plymouth High baseball camp and also because of a "camp." The Rocks are confident they can catch and perhaps overtake Belleville for first place in the Suburban Six-League.

With just about half the campaign finished, Belleville set the pace as the week began with a 4-0 conference record. Plymouth stood at 3-1.

"We still got another shot at Belleville and the way we're going, we think we can beat them," said coach Frank Fisher of Plymouth.

One thing is certain. When Plymouth goes against Belleville in the rematch (Belleville won the first one between the schools), it'll be Dan Camp hurling for the Rocks.

Camp, a lefty, has turned iron man for the Rocks. He pitched twice last week as Plymouth won over Allen Park, 3-2, and Trenton, 4-2.

Until Trenton counted two runs off him, he had gone 21 innings without yielding an untainted marker. Neither Allen Park score off him was deserved, so all in all, he has pitched 32 inning and yielded just two markers.

This figures out to a brilliant earned run average of .571.

Camp isn't a bad hitter, either. He stroked a big triple in the Trenton game and came through with a big hit, along with Dave Prochazka in the triumph over Allen Park.

Redford Union found out how tough Belleville was last week. And so did Bentley.

Neither could score a run against the front-runners.

Bentley was edged, 1-0, as veteran Bill Ray outduelled Dave Gorton, while Redford Union was no match for Belleville in absorbing a 10-0 trouncing.

The Livonia team had a great chance to win when it jammed the bases on a hit by Greg Macy and Ed Ryan and when Bill McAlpine was hit by a pitch. But nothing happened—at least in Bentley's favor.

McAlpine was hit on the right elbow and there's some doubt how the injury will affect his pitching. He divides the hurling with Gorton.

Belleville started slowly against Redford Union, counting once in the second and once in the third. But a five-run uprising in the fifth put the game out of reach.

Bill Howe ripped out two hits for RU, while Glenn Buckingham, Lee Bjerke and Bob Fritz had one each.

The Townshipers then rebounded to down Trenton, 5-3, with four runs in the third inning turning the trick.

Walks to Kevin Fox and Rod Ferguson and an error giving Dale Bjerke life loaded the bases. Buckingham singled in a run and Bjerke scored on a wild pitch. Another walk to Howe jammed the bases. Then an error sent over two more runs.

A walk to Bill Fahey and two miscues finished the RU scoring in the fourth.

Dale Bjerke gave up four hits, struck out five and walked four.

FANCY SHOT: Bob Stover of Plymouth High handles a return shot with ease. The Rocks again have a strong tennis team.

Win 3 Straight: East Sets Pace In Title Chase

A three-team race, headed by Garden City East, is taking shape for the Mid-Wayne League's baseball title.

East is surging along with three straight loop victories and boasts a half-game edge over Taylor Center and Riverview, who have won their first two starts.

Something, however, must give this week what with East facing both Riverview and Taylor.

East received some strong pitching from Marvin Martin and George Boboczy in fashioning respective 4-2 and 8-2 victories last week over Robichaud and Lutheran West.

Martin tossed a two-hitter and struck out six, Boboczy allowed Lutheran only three hits.

East tallied two runs against Robichaud in the fourth on a double by Kevin Wilkinson and singles by Joe Huber and George Boboczy.

The final two East runs came when Rick Klack was safe on an error, Monte Hackman singled and Boboczy delivered a sacrifice fly.

A four-run inning sewed up the East victory over Lutheran West. Mike Sparkman was safe on an error. Then hits by Huber and Boboczy and a fielder's choice for Martin brought in the four runs.

Boboczy with three hits in three attempts helped his own cause.

West High's baseball team, meantime, went down to two losses in Tri-Rivers League play.

Riverside tripped West, 3-1, while Schafer applied a 4-0 whitewashing job on the Garden City team.

Bob Gamache toiled four innings against Riverside and gave up four hits. Bob Chidester finished and allowed two hits.

The only West run came in the first inning when Chuck Evans singled, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Jim Furay's single. It was one of three hits Furay belted out in the game. The other West hit came off Don Buczek's bat.

West was held to three hits in bowing to Schafer. Furay doubled and Buczek and Evans delivered singles as Chidester lost on a four-hit-ter.

The setback was West's fourth in five starts.

Livonian Bids For 2nd Title At Flat Rock

When it comes to round track auto racing, youth may be served—but not in the championship department at Flat Rock Speedway.

Dick Mitchell, the late model champion who makes his home in Trenton, is 41 years old.

Mel Murphy, a Livonia Police Department Patrol-Lieutenant, the Figure 8 champion, is 39 years old.

Both are married. Mitchell has four children; Murphy, two.

Both drivers will be in competition every Saturday night this season, defending their titles from rivals in various age brackets. But here, the comparisons end.

Mitchell is a fellow who has won many races and, at least three ARCA titles in the last few years. Currently he holds both the Flat Rock and Toledo Speedway late model championships.

Murphy, driving a 1955 Chevy last year, was the only driver to make it through the Figure 8 season with one car. And, he replaced only half a bumper during the entire season.

He won only one race in his entire four years of competition—a race between the top point leaders last season. Yet, he wound up the 1966 season with 1,580 points, 25 more than Dick Simmons who held the crown for two straight years. And, at Lansing, where both also raced, Simmons was No. 1 while Murphy was runner-up for the title.

Murphy, 5-9 and 175 pounds is driving car 6-A, a bright red job that many fans predict will be in the winner's circle more often than not this year.

Saturday's 10-event program begins with trials at 7:30 and racing at 8:30 p.m. Parking is free.

Walke to Kevin Fox and Rod Ferguson and an error giving Dale Bjerke life loaded the bases. Buckingham singled in a run and Bjerke scored on a wild pitch. Another walk to Howe jammed the bases. Then an error sent over two more runs.

A walk to Bill Fahey and two miscues finished the RU scoring in the fourth.

Dale Bjerke gave up four hits, struck out five and walked four.

Sorrows Triumphs on Depth

You can win without winning!

Sound strange? Well, Our Lady of Sorrows' track team captured only six of the events last Saturday but still downed St. Theresa, 63-55, in a dual track meet.

Piling up second and third places helped Sorrows to come out on top.

Mike Christopher led the way with wins in the shot put and the low hurdles.

Sorrows faces St. John's of Ypsilanti next Saturday.

The Sorrows' winners against St. Theresa:

Two Mile: Bill Strand. Time: 12:07.3.
880-yard: Jerry Horner. Time: 2:11.2.
440-yard: Bill Hartsock. Time: 53.6 seconds.
Low Hurdles: Christopher. Time: 22.3 seconds.
Mile relay: Sorrows (Horner, Ron Shuster, Strand, Hartsock). Time: 3:53.9.

Wayne State University's track team will enter the Central Collegiate Conference Meet on June 3 at Marquette University.

VERSATILE performer for the North Carolina State track team is Bob Svoboda, of Farmington. He has participated in the sprints and broad jump for the Wolfpack and also runs a leg on the 440-yard relay team.

Parade Planned For Farmington Little League

South Farmington's opening of the Little League baseball season has been scheduled for Saturday, May 13, and will feature a noon parade from Old Town Hall to City Park.

City officials, parents and Farmington residents in general have been invited by league executives to attend the launching of the annual summer program in which an estimated 750 boys participate.

Games will be played nightly at City Park and Our Lady of Sorrows diamonds.

TONNEMACHER PUTS STEVENSON ON TOP: 2 One-Hitters In A Week!

Stevenson high's baseball team is on fire!

By cooling off Waterford, 3-0, last Friday, the newest of Livonia's high schools has bounced into a tie for the lead in the Interlakes Conference.

Stevenson stands 3-1. So does Waterford, which hadn't lost in the loop until struck by the Stevenson machine, led by pitcher Paul Tonnemacher.

Tonnemacher, a junior, achieved in the Waterford game a trick matched by few prep hurlers. It was his second one-hit shutout of the week.

He had set Walled Lake down, 1-0, losing his bid for the hall of fame when Jim Norton singled in the sixth inning.

Against Waterford, Tonnemacher had a no-hitter working until the fifth stanza when a single by Bud Thomas ruined Tonnemacher's "dream try."

But he didn't mind missing those no-hitters, winning was more important for Tonnemacher and his mates among whom there are no seniors, because the school still doesn't boast a 12th grade.

Thus, the "babies", are showing the old guys a few tricks in the league.

Tonnemacher, who fanned 10 in the Walled Lake game, added seven more on strikes in the Waterford encounter. For the second time in a week, he didn't walk a batter.

All three of the Stevenson runs against Waterford came in the fifth inning. And Tonnemacher helped out.

He singled after Dick Silber had started the assault. After Tim DeWitt walked to jam the bases, Silber was picked off third base.

This didn't discourage the Livonians. Dave Fisher promptly followed with a two-run double and Fisher came around when Bob See drilled an RBI single.

Farmington, meantime, dropped a 5-4 verdict in eight innings to Pontiac Northern.

It was a game in which Farmington was sailing along, leading by a 4-1 score until the seventh inning when Northern capitalized on two hits, one a double by Bill Del Rosa, to pull even at 4-4.

Then in the eighth inning, Dela Rosa came through a game to drive in Patterson with the winning run and send Farmington's Dan Wolfman down to a defeat.

Northern had scored first, but Farmington put together two-run innings in the fourth and fifth to go in front. A walk to Joe Himmelspach, a double by Al Kilka and single by Jerry Tinkle did the job for Farmington in the fourth.

In the fifth, Ed Rice was hit by a pitch. Dana Ketteridge doubled and Himmelspach singled.

Trojans End First Round With Victory

The final game of the first round of baseball action in the Wayne-Oakland League finally brought Clarenceville high something to cheer about.

After dropping six straight in the conference, the Trojans arose to beat Brighton, 4-2, and offer coach Gordon Larson a happier outlook for the second round of play which began this week.

The Trojans tightened up their defense after a shaky start against Brighton and went on to win behind the combined pitching of Gale Armstrong and Mike Nye.

Brighton had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning on two hits and a pair of miscues. But in the fourth Mike Gordon singled over Nye and Armstrong to knot the count at 2-2.

In the fifth inning, the Watkins brothers broke the deadlock. Carl delivered a sacrifice fly on which Chuck came across.

Then in the same inning it was Tom Schlack squeezing in Kerry Rifkin for the final run.

Brighton put two on with one out in the fifth when Nye replaced Armstrong and fanned two to end the frame. Nye then whiffed four more batters in the next two innings to keep Clarenceville out in front.

Weather Stops Action in Track

It's unusual for the weather to stop high school trackmen. But last Thursday's Stevenson-Walled Lake meet was called off. The track was too wet. It also was too chilly, the rival coaches felt.

Mike Clark, Wayne State University sophomore second baseman rapped out eight straight hits over a three-game stretch in his freshman year.

but sooner or later they'll agree to what the Pistons have to offer.

Granted, there's another league on the horizon. But it would appear that the best players feel that the place to perform is in the National Basketball Association.

The signing in the past week of Walker and ex-Princeton great Bill Bradley brought only smiles to the NBA in its "war" with the new American Basketball Association.

All of which should swell basketball interest around Cobo Arena next winter.

SHORT STUFF: Rick Clark, the ex-Thurston high pitcher, has developed into one of the aces on the staff of the California Angels. He originally belonged to the Tigers, who lost him in the professional draft. The Tigers would "love" to get him back.

Another Redford Township product, Dave Woloch, has become a star in a hurry for the Tigers' farm team at Lakeland, Fla. The fans have tabbed the 5'-8" Woloch as "The Little Monster." He cracked out ten hits in the team's first three games, including a game-winning homer.

When we mentioned girls' teams on a high school level last week, we might have noted that Our Lady of Sorrows boasts a softball team this spring with two twin sisters among the team's stars.

Fortunately for high school trackmen, the regionals this year are a week later (May 20) than usual. It's welcomed news, considering the chilly and wet spring we've been fighting.

Franklin Nine 'Chased' In Hot Battle

It's still anybody's race with two weeks to go in the Northwest Suburban high school baseball league.

Kingpin this week was Franklin with a 3-1 record. But defending champion Thurston was right behind in a tie with Groves at 2-2 and they're just another game off the pace from Glenn and North Farmington.

After getting off to a rough start the week before in its bid for a repeat crown, Thurston held off a rally by Glenn for a 4-3 verdict and then slipped past Groves, 3-1, before ending the weekend with a 5-2 conquest over Cranbrook in a non-leaguer that went three extra innings.

Here's the way the Thurston story went: THURSTON 4, GLENN 3 Sophomore Tim Carr of the Townshippers had a no-hitter going until the sixth inning when Glenn got to him and jumped back into the game after trailing by a 4-0 score.

A two-run double by Felan and an error produced three quick runs for the Groves and brought in Thurston ace Deno Syrios to put out the fire and preserve the victory.

Errors had helped Thurston to notch its runs, all in the early going.

THURSTON 3, GROVES 1 Bob Durand chalked up a neat-four hitter while Bobby Holmes was the offensive star for the victors.

Holmes counted the first Thurston run in the second inning when he walked and made it the rest of the way around on errors.

In the third inning, Holmes stroked a single to sock in a pair of runs and decide the issue.

THURSTON 5, CRANBROOK 2

Syrios went the rout for the victors, but he had to wait until the tenth inning when his mates finally broke lose against strong Cranbrook.

In the tenth, Paul Santangelo began matters with a triple. He came over on a single by Holmes. Reg Baringer followed with a double and Marty Inglesoulian a single to account for the three tallies.

Elsewhere in the league, they still were talking about the 14 runs Franklin scored in the fifth inning against North Farmington. It had to be a record—for Franklin and the league.

The explosion simplified matters for Chris Wendrick who chalked up the victory by allowing only two hits.

It was one of two fine mound efforts during the week for Wendrick who came back against Oak Park to turn in three hitless frames in relief and aid his team to a 2-1 decision after Rick Mack had started and Fred Davies had been hurt.

Dave Paden's double was the key blow for the victors.

Three runs in the fourth inning made it possible for Glenn to edge North Farmington, 4-3, with a triple by Webb, a double by Felan and singles by McMaster and Vanderberg doing the job for the Westland team.

Webb also was the winning pitcher as he scattered four hits, while Dan Litchman suffered the setback.

Singles by Norm DeCourcy, Scott Jentz and Tom Snyder figured in the scoring for North Farmington.

Wayne State University's 1967 Homecoming football opponent will be nearby rival Eastern Michigan.

Thurston Thinclads Get 'Rich'

Thurston high's track delegation struck it rich in the big Central Relays at Mt. Pleasant last Saturday.

The Townshippers picked up a pair of first-place medals in posting 18 points to place seventh overall in the big field which saw Pontiac Central carry off Class A honors.

Miler Glen Dusk from Thurston broke the tape first with an excellent time of 4:24.8 while facing some of the finest distance performers in the state.

Then it was Thurston at the head of the pack in the middle distance relay. The combination was comprised of Rick Roe, Bull Swiger, Ted Kasper and Randy Tipton.

Meet by meet Thurston continues to prove it's class in the Northwest Suburban League.

The Townshippers, under coach Dale Bennett, have chalked up three straight decisions in the conference without losing and appear to be too strong for the rest of the five-school field.

Glenn tried its fortunes against Thurston last Thursday and didn't come close as Thurston ran up an 86-32 verdict.

The one-two punch of Wayne Saylor and Ken Blaskie almost did the job by themselves for Thurston.

Blaskie raced to victories in the high and low hurdles while Saylor was first home in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. In addition, each ran on the victorious half-mile relay team.

Thurston copped all the running races. Glenn engineered three triumphs by placing first in the long jump, high jump and the pole vault.

Shot put: Steffen (T), Bryant (T), Gainer (G). Distance: 49 feet, 4 3/4 inches. Long Jump: Chaveriate (G), Nole (T), Wright (G). Distance: 19 feet, 9 inches. This bloodmobile is open to the community. Eligible donors are encouraged to donate to the account of their choice. For the sake of convenience, appointments can be made by calling 422-2787.

Red Cross needs new donors. Qualifications include ages 18-59 (18-21 unmarried adults must have parental consent and be 110 lbs. or more and one must be in good health).

CIRCUS TIME for kindergartners—A few first hints of Spring were enough to spark the enthusiasm of Johnson elementary school youngsters to put on their very own circus. Chairman Tells Plans For Beautifying City Beautification of the city of Livonia is being encouraged by the Mayor's Committee. Keep Livonia Beautiful, which has sent letters to 500 organizations, churches, and service stations in the city.

Sofia Anderson, chairman of the committee, reminds citizens that Livonia received a Distinguished Achievement Award for programs in beautification, health, and safety for 1965 and 1966. Entries submitted by community groups this year will be entered in the National Cleaner Town Contest.

Organizations that use any facility of the Livonia Public Schools are invited to donate shrubs and flowers to the school for children to plant during Michigan Week, May 21 through 27. Such landscaping helps children to develop greater pride in their school, and vandalism is decreased.

A Youth Beautification Scroll listing all youth groups which contribute to beautification will be published in the Observer Newspapers. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, and other youth organizations may send reports and photographs of their clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, and landscaping activities to the Mayor's Committee for entry in the National Contest.

Clergymen of churches and owners and operators of automobile service facilities have received suggestions for various improvement projects they may carry out. A letter with ideas for industries is being mailed this week. All these activities should culminate in a very successful Community Pride Day, May 20.

Bentley Students Win Drafting Test

Twenty five students were recently named as winners in the annual High School Drafting contest, sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers. Of the 25, there were 11 students from Bentley, most of them students of Marty Klozikis second and third year advanced drafting classes.

In February students from approximately 90 high schools in the state were given a piece of metal knowing only that it was a part to an automobile. They were asked to draw a layout of it, to measure and dimension it, and give it a name. They were informed that their work would be graded on correctness, dimensional accuracy, completeness and neatness. They were told that they were competing against such technical schools as: Cass Tech, Pontiac Northern.

An Awards Banquet was held to honor the winners and their parents and the instructors. Mr. E. R. Karrer, the Division Products Manager, Lincoln-Mercury Division, Ford Motor Company, spoke on: "What is an Automobile Engineer."

Winners from Bentley High were: Robert Armstrong, David Gregg, James Groat, James Nicolai, Jerry Nutt, James Paulson, Paul Primeau, Cliff Snyder, Sandra Waters, Marvin Wells, Richard Yarling.

Thieves Going Into Business?

Jay Real Estate and Insurance, 27850 Plymouth Road, Livonia, was hit by thieves who took business equipment valued at $859. Jay Fiore, 46, reported to the Livonia Police Department that the following items were discovered missing the morning of April 24: one 3 M copy machine, one Paymaster check-writing machine, and one IBM electric typewriter.

The cleaning lady had notified Fiore of the missing machines after she arrived at work at 7:30 a.m. According to police, she said that the back door, which is usually difficult for her to open, was easy to unlock that morning.

Plymouth Historian Seeks Old Photos

Sam Hudson, public relations and advertising director for Evans Products Co., member of the Schoolcraft College Board and long active in affairs of the Plymouth community, has been commissioned by the Plymouth Centennial Committee to write a history of the community.

Hudson has been collecting material and photographs for the past month. He asks anyone in the area who has old photographs, histories, diaries, letters, maps, newspapers or similar material to contact him at his home, 44951 N. Territorial Road or by calling 453-7100 during the day or 453-3551 in the evening.

The history will cover: geography, topography, antiquities, pioneer settlement, economic, political and religious developments, population history, the family, education, newspapers, publications and libraries, social and fraternal organizations, the arts, science and technology, law, social problems and reform, recreation and folk lore.

Sam desires the following kind of material to aid in the work: previous histories, histories and biographies of early families, old maps, old photographs, old directories, diaries, private letter, old business account books and other business records.

Copies of old anniversary addresses and sermons, old military records, old telephone books, old local newspapers and newspapers from adjoining communities, abstracts of title and title deeds, surveyors' records, and old advertising material. Histories of local churches, social and fraternal organizations, schools, professional groups and similar organizations. Museum specimens and interesting artifacts native to Plymouth.

Anything else of a historical nature not covered above. Hudson points out that photographs and pictures can include early residents, buildings, churches, schools, fire engines and companies, fires, street scenes, community gatherings, celebrated persons visiting Plymouth, ice cream socials, catastrophes such as floods and blizzards and any others which have historical significance.

Library Shows Way To Happy Holiday

Thousands of Livonia residents will flock to the national and state parks for sight-seeing and relaxation this summer. The Livonia Library has many books and pamphlets which give data on the location, size, history, and points of interest of each park.

Perhaps the most lavish and colorful of the volumes on the national parks and monuments of the U.S. is "America's Wonderlands," by the editors of the National Geographic Society. The 512 page guide gives detailed information about Yellowstone, the nation's first park, and the 28 other national parks.

Two guides—Edwin Kieffer's "How and Where to Vacation With Children — and Enjoy It," and Sunset Magazine's "Sunset Family Camping" — give tips for the novice on all aspects of family camping. Both books point up difficulties that may mar the trip and suggest ways of combatting them.

Other books which will help you get the most out of your camping vacation are "All About Camping," by William K. Merrill and "Complete Book of Camping," by Leonard Miracle. Guides to camping areas in national parks and other recreation spots include "Campground Atlas of the United States and Canada," by James Bier, and "Western Campsite Directory," by Sunset.

The Livonia Libraries are open as follows: Monday through Thursday, 12-9; and Friday and Saturday, 9-5. South Branch Library is at 33720 Plymouth Road, GA 7-1990; and the Sandburg Branch is at 30100 W. Seven Mile Road, 476-0700.

Corner Eye Catchers

Use the corners of your yard as small showcases for special flowers or specimen shrubs. Highlight the bed with a right-angled screen built of cedar in a board-on-board pattern, determining height by the bed's plantings. Three to four feet usually is best for the showcase corner.

Families wishing to finance home improvements will have little difficulty finding sources of funds, according to a poll taken by the Western Wood Products Assn. of 189 lending institutions. All lenders said they liked to make home improvement loans, and hoped to increase volume during 1967.

Hybrid Lilies Not Hard To Grow By Home Gardner

There are still many home gardeners afraid to plant any lily other than the tiger lily.

They feel lilies are too hard to grow that their cultivation should be left for the horticulturists. Nothing could be farther from the truth, say the garden experts at Green Thumb Tool Company, a division of Union Fork and Hoe Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Today we have many beautiful, new hybrids or selected strains of lilies that are positively iron-clad, as hard and fool-proof as anything that grows.

Among the widely available are the Mid-Century Hybrids originated in the Pacific Northwest.

These hybrids are, for the most part, in the yellow-orange-red range and come in three basic types: with the trumpets hanging down, facing out or pointing upward.

In the northern states the blooming season is early July. One reason for their hardiness is that one of the ancestors is the old, rock-hardy tiger lily but, they are not carriers of disease as the old tigers are.

Tigers should never be grown where better lilies are, because practically all of them in this country are infected with a virus that the tiger can live with but most others can't, especially that gorgeous, old but very susceptible gold banded lily of Japan.

Another group of lilies worth trying are the large, spectacular, white trumpet group which include Olympic Hybrids, Black Dragon, Green Dragon and various others with color-tinted outside.

For informal areas, like woods or poking out of shrubbery, the much smaller-flowered but attractive naartagon hybrids are ideal. They come in white, creamy, bronzy, purplish and other tones. Try some.

Another most useful, all-purpose group are Shuksan and the so-called Bellingham Hybrids. These are a mixture of our western natives and are very good for informal plantings.

Finally, we come to the most glamorous of all, the Aurelian Hybrids, the product of several hybridizers.

These give us not only yellows and oranges but also the softest creams, fawns, salmon, chartreuse, etc. — and extend the blooming season most usefully.

Their cultured All lilies like a nice, deep root run. Prepare the soil deeply, working in at least 2 inches of humus, some good long-lasting fertilizer such as is sold for vegetables (6 pounds per 100 square feet) and make sure that drainage is good. Most do not need lime.

If drainage is not the best, raise the bed a few inches. Then plant the bulbs with their bases not over 5 inches deep.

Lillies can usually pull themselves down to the depth they like best, according to type and bulb size.

Only Madonnas should be planted with their tops not over an inch beneath the surface.

Light or partial shade is often helpful but not necessary. Maintain a permanent mulch over the soil to keep it cool.

Space the bulbs 12 to 18 inches apart and water weekly if drought threatens. Staking is usually not necessary.

Lawn Booklet Is Available

A new 24-page full color booklet, called "Lawn and Garden Guide for Busy People," will be of interest to readers seeking answers to common lawn and garden problems.

The booklet gives information on lawn and garden care. It's filled with facts on feeding, seeding, watering, mowing, and protection against insects and weeds.

This booklet is divided into sections:— Early Spring, Late Spring, Early Summer, Late Summer and Early Fall. Each section depicts a seasonal chore with timely hints.

Included are vivid color photographs of the most troublesome lawn weeds to enable the gardener to determine his weed problem before he attempts to solve it.

Free copies of the booklet, "Lawn and Garden Guide for Busy People," available from leading lawn and garden, hardware and department stores that carry Greenfield lawn and garden products.

Garden clubs and other groups desiring ten or more copies may write Greenfield Merchandising Department, Elanco Products Company, Indianapolis, Indiana 46206.

For Accent Wall

An intriguing accent wall for book corner or entry is made with paneling of battens, two-inch wide boards. Knots here add to the effect. Use a light-toned wood like western hemlock for a sunless area, a darker wood like western red cedar when there's plenty of daylight.

Water Faucet Filter Is Easy to Install

The first chrome plated water filter to connect directly to a kitchen sink faucet to remove objectionable tastes, odors, discoloration and cloudiness from tap water has been developed by Guardian Filter Co. of Geneva, Ill.

Easy to install in less than two minutes by means of a special adapter that fits any kitchen faucet after removing the aerator nozzle, the attractive Aqua-Guard filter eliminates the need for bothersome hoses and counter-top clutter.

Instead, the filter becomes a functional part of the faucet, and they swing from side to side as a unit. If the sink faucet has no aerator nozzle, a special faucet connector is available to facilitate quick installation of Aqua-Guard filter.

The new kitchen appliance diverts tap water through an activated carbon cartridge to remove the taste of chlorine, sulphur, rust, scale, metallic substances and algae.

The result, say Guardian's water specialists, is a "polished" water of the finest bottled-water quality. It's so good you can taste the difference in drinking water, coffee, tea, boiled foods, frozen juices, baby formulas and ice cubes.

When desired, users can restore conventional sink water flow simply by turning the diverter valve from "on" to "off."

Smartly designed to fit any kitchen decor, the glistening appliance is made of chrome plated Cyclocac thermoplastic manufactured exclusively by Borg-Warner Corp.

The tough, plated plastic combines the luster and durability of chrome with light weight and corrosion resistance. It is not affected by household detergents, alkalis or mild acids.

According to the manufacturer, Aqua-Guard filtered water costs as little as one-tenth of a cent per gallon. This is much less than the cost of bottled water of comparable quality.

The filter is available in hardware stores, department stores, drug stores and variety stores.

AT CINEMA II
'The Game Is Over' Chills and Heats

By WALLY ROBERTS
 "The Game Is Over" gives Jane Fonda a chance to purr and play a sex kitten in a beautifully photographed movie that alternately chills and heats your bloodstream quite effectively.

Director Roger Vadim has visually caught the spirit of Paris, the munificence of a French millionaire's mansion, and the breathtaking Normandy countryside. The colors are rich, dazzling to the eye at times, and give the film a superb beauty.

Jane Fonda is the only American in "The Game Is Over," and her British lover-boy, Peter McEnery pitches woo in the "Alfie" manner. He's sure to become a favorite after these torrid tempestuous scenes with Fonda.

"The Game Is Over" contains those tempting topless scenes that Miss Fonda tried to remove from "Playboy" magazine. Why she wanted to be so bashful it's hard to understand. The sex game as played in these sizzling scenes are a credit to the actress and the director. It's played for keeps.

Of course, Mr. Vadim as you recall originally worked with Brigitte Bardot. He started this new wave of intimate movie-making. "The Game Is Over" continues his successful pattern and his camera work gains new stature.

Costly settings, brilliant outdoor photography, and a sobering ending give "The Game Is Over" a tantalizing flavor. Director Vadim's camera work is unshibited and the topless scenes are done with artistic composition and in good taste.

"The Game Is Over" is playing an exclusive engagement at the Cinema II in the Livonia Mall.

Jane Fonda and Peter McEnery team up with Director Roger Vadim in a slick, fast-paced story of love among the upper classes and what happens when the older husband discovers his wife has been dallying with a son from marriage number one. The noxious revenge he inflicts provides a stunning climax.

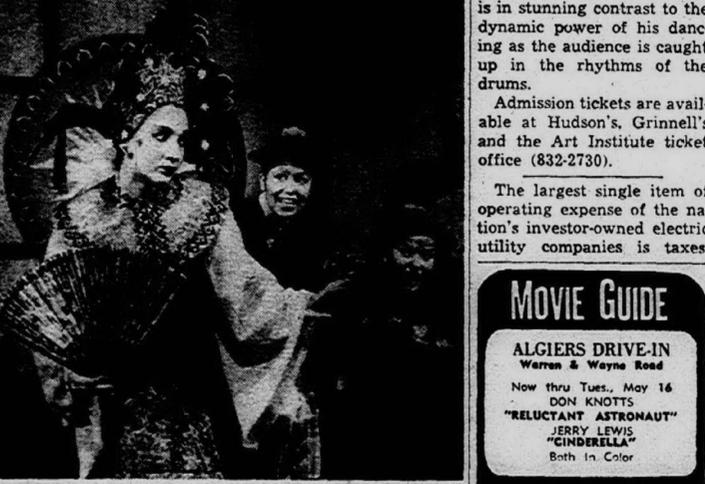

Students Attend OU Festival

More than 750 youngsters from four counties descended on the Oakland University Campus last week for a novel Choral Reading Festival.

School children attending from the area serviced by The Observer included:

Farmington: Fairview; Gill; Kenbrook; Middlebelt; and Shiawassee Schools; Keeler School in the Redford Union District; Adams and Shear from South Redford; and Perrinville from the Nankin Mills District.

Harry T. Hahn, director of the conference, said the purpose of the Festival is to encourage oral interpretation of prose and poetry in the classroom.

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY Children's Theater will present "The Emperor's New Clothes" at 2 and 4 p.m. May 20 at Bentley High School, Livonia. Sponsored by Coolidge School PTA, tickets for the event are 50 cents and may be purchased at Coolidge School, 474-8210.

GOING UP' CURTAIN

Albee's "Delicate Balance," a crackling whiplash of a play that will surely disturb you enough to put your thinking cap on, opened last week for a short two week run at the Fisher Theater.

Hume Cronyn, who turns in an impeccable performance as a wealthy suburbanite faced with a philosophic crisis, announced during curtain calls that Edward Albee had won the 1967 Pulitzer Prize for "A Delicate Balance," the Pulitzer Prize Award for the Best American Play is always a most coveted honor. And Albee was long over-due to be so honored.

His plays are far from pleasant. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe" left many a patron with a wry taste. In fact, many playgoers were frankly disgusted. "Tiny Alice" mystified and puzzled most people. "Delicate Balance," his current entry opened earlier this year on Broadway and did little to endear Albee to the great masses of folks that make a show a solid hit.

Yet all critics and audience members had to admit though "Delicate Balance" might have its faults, the play still was provocative, had many poetic passages, and its barb-like wit was devastatingly delightful. So it was with Detroit audiences. They cheered the effective dialogue, approved quietly the shimmering poetry, and were fascinated by the impact of this latest Albee masterpiece.

"A Delicate Balance" is Albee's fervent plea for society to maintain its proper balance for survival. He is worried that some form of pestilence or disease is going to wedge its way into our ordered society and destroy our way of life.

The destructive use of the atom bomb, the Vietnam War, the constant push for the buck are but a few forms of the virus that could easily blight our present society. Whatever disturbs the normal order of our existence could create a perpetual chaos and destroy society.

Early in "Delicate Balance" Agnes (Jessica Tandy) proposes that she might go mad to escape all the problems that beset the world. And yet that isn't truly the best solution. Her husband assures her that it's far better to continue "to do what we can do."

Keep society in order at any cost. Don't rock the boat.

Conductor 'To Guest' At Concert

Dr. Harry Begian, a nationally known conductor, will be a featured guest at the Franklin Band and Orchestra Concert on Saturday, May 13 at 8 p.m.

Begian is well known for his work at Cass Technical High School and Wayne State University. He has been a conductor on the summer music staffs at the National Music Camp, Michigan State University and the University of Illinois.

Three Franklin students will be featured soloists on the program. Andy Trestrail, violinist, will perform "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint-Saens. Judy Shirley, clarinetist, will play the "Premiere Rhapsody" by Debussy. Mary Begian, flutist, will feature the premiere performance of "Spring Sonnet" by Michael Cunningham.

Vigorous drum rhythms will set the temps for village stories, dances and ceremonies of Africa when Percival Borde and his company of performers present "The Talking Drums" in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium Saturday, May 20 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

This is a Children's Holiday Theatre program sponsored by the museum's Theatre Arts Dept.

Borde's quiet charm as he introduces folktales or explains the songs and chants is in stunning contrast to the dynamic power of his dancing as the audience is caught up in the rhythms of the drums.

Admission tickets are available at Hudson's, Grinnell's and the Art Institute ticket office (832-2730).

Meadow Brook Announces '67-'68 Season Schedule

Alan E. Schwartz, chairman of the Meadow Brook Theatre Committee, announced the 1967-68 season of plays to be produced at Oakland University by the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre. The season, expanded to seven productions and 35 weeks, will begin Oct. 5 with "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde.

The Premiere Season, which opened in January and will officially end May 28 with a production of "The Three Sisters" by Anton Chekhov, consisted of six plays and 21 In addition to the opening show, "The Importance of Being Earnest," Oct. 5 through Nov. 5, the Fernald Company will produce Ibsen's "John Gabriel Borkman" Nov. 9 through Dec. 10; "Charley's Aunt" by Brandon Thomas over the Christmas and New Year holidays, Dec. 14 through Jan. 14, and a new American play, "And People All Around" by George Sklar, Jan. 18 through Feb. 18. Shakespeare's tragedy "King Lear" will be presented Feb. 22 through March 24. March 28 through April 28 will see a double bill of "No Exit" by Jean Paul Sartre and "The Firebugs" by Hans Fritzsche. The final production, May 2 through June 2, will be Anton Chekhov's "The Seagull."

Each of the seven plays will run for five weeks with openings nights scheduled for Thursdays throughout the 35-week season.

Because of the overwhelming response to the Premiere Season from area schools, three matinee performances a week will be devoted to school audiences and a major Student Audience Program is being developed with study materials made available to the participating schools. Mrs. W. Edwin Mosher, Jr., will co-ordinate the program.

With three student matinees a week, the evening performances will be reduced in order to stay within the eight-performance week required by Actor's Equity Association. Performances will be held Wednesday through Saturdays at 8 p.m. and at 6:30 p.m. on Sundays. The school matinees will be at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The 1967-68 season will see five directors at Meadow Brook. Eric Berry, a member of the Fernald Company, will direct the initial production of the new season, Oscar Wilde's unique and immortal comedy "The Importance of Being Earnest." "John Gabriel Borkman" by Ibsen will be directed by the distinguished Norwegian-American director John Fillingier. John Fernald, Artistic Director, calls Fillingier "a brilliant interpreter of Ibsen." Fillingier will direct the play from his own new translation.

HURD HATFIELD (center), Broadway from May 10 to 14. The Professional Star, appears with Jonathan Bolt (left), after Program of the University of Michigan and John Randolph in "Ivory Tower" at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater, Ann Arbor, Michigan. Hatfield is presenting the drama about the treason trial of an American poet.

Country Fair Opens

All of the color, excitement and gaiety of an old-fashioned fair comes to life this week as Greenfield Village stages its seventh annual Country Fair of Yesteryear.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will find the Village transformed into a period setting of American history when home arts were a vital part of everyday life. School children from Michigan and Ontario will vie for blue ribbons in cooking, baking and arts and crafts judging.

A variety show will be presented each day during the Country Fair, and in the games tent children will compete for prizes as they did in an earlier rural America.

Admission to the Country Fair of Yesteryear, May 11-13, is included in the regular charge to Greenfield Village.

Thomas D. Smith, 19, of 28487 Bridge, Garden City, was jailed by the Livonia Police on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Smith was arrested at the Big Boy Drive-In lot, 33427 Plymouth Road, for reckless driving. According to police, he had sped at 90 miles an hour on Plymouth Road and had changed lanes without signaling.

When it was found that the automobile contained cans of beer, Smith was also charged with illegal possession of alcohol. Police reported that Smith and his two passengers had been drinking.

A 13-inch knife with a six-inch blade was found in Smith's coat pocket, and he was then given the weapons charge.

One passenger, William S. Booth, 21, of 12245 Inkster Rd., Livonia, was issued a summons for littering when police saw him throwing a can of beer out the car window.

Booth and another passenger, John J. Sokach, 20, also of 12245 Inkster Rd., were released to appear when notified.

Survey Shows 20 of 100 Men Produce Nothing

ANN ARBOR—Out of every 100 office workers in America, the equivalent of 20 to 40 people produce nothing.

Management consultant Bruce Payne, writing in Michigan Business Review, a publication of the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration, says the efficiency of the average office today is seldom higher than 80 per cent and may be as low as 60 per cent.

Payne, whose consulting firm has offices in New York, Boston, and Los Angeles, suggests the use of labor measurement techniques (such as time and motion studies) to improve office procedures and production.

"Today less than 5 per cent of the total clerical work force in the United States is measured against accurate standards of a 'fair day's work.' On the other hand, over 80 per cent of the blue collar workers are working under some form of modern work measurement system," he writes.

By 1970 it is expected that there will be 37 million white collar workers, compared with 30 million blue collars, says Payne, who adds:

"This constitutes a self-evident opportunity for management to turn its attention to this important and mounting cost of doing business—office labor—and reduce its cost."

It is now possible to measure and control office and clerical work accurately and economically, the consultant explains. And because the office has had little attention from the time and motion study engineer, the results now being achieved are substantial. Generally, offices using the new tools of clerical work control are reducing their labor costs by at least 20 per cent and more in many instances.

Payne cites five main reasons why it has taken so long for productivity measurement techniques to be used in the office.

—First, the factory has had most of the attention from the time and motion study engineer, for it was here that the large dollars were being spent.

—As factory productivity improved, the growing relative cost of the office and clerical operation slowly began to be recognized by much of management, but no immediate solution came to mind. Some managements thought the computer would take care of all the excess labor in the office. This proved not the case, and in many companies the staff tended to remain the same, or even increase in some instances.

—The original technique of predetermined time developed in 1948 could easily measure the repetitive motions carried out in a manufacturing operation, but could not economically measure and control the more complex and diverse tasks performed by people in the office.

—There was no proven total approach to controlling white collar labor that would produce lower costs and still gain complete employee acceptance.

—Management has always been fearful of developing a human relations problem in the sensitive area of the office.

However, over the last four or five years, a number of progressive managements have found their indirect and office costs mounting when compared with factory costs, and have entered this area of study, the author points out.

Dogs Without Licenses Are In Trouble In Livonia

March 1 was the grace period for 1967 dog licenses.

If your pooch was four months of age or over he has to have a dog license. Licenses were due in December 1 to be renewed by December 1.

A house-to-house check will begin and penalties given if you have a dog in your home without a license.

It is also unlawful to allow a dog to run loose in Livonia. SEC. 2.11. REASONABLE CONTROL—

The law reads as follows: "A dog shall be deemed to be under 'reasonable control' when said dog is with the owner or some member of the owner's family, or some other person with permission of the owner. A dog shall be deemed not to be under 'reasonable control' when it commits damage to the person or property of anyone other than the owner, except in the defense of the owner, his family, or his property; or, in the case of a female dog while in heat, off the premises of the owner, unless confined in the process of being transported to or from such premises."

SEC. 2.12. RUNNING AT LARGE.

"The words 'running at large' shall constitute the status of any dog off the premises of the owner thereof; provided however, that a dog under reasonable control shall not be considered to be running at large.

Dog Wardens Mahlyn Reed and John Wade picked up over 1200 dogs, plus 150 other animals running at large last year. There were 300 people who suffered from dog bites in Livonia last year—and the largest percentage of them were children.

Parents should instruct their children not to pet or play with stray dogs. Residents are asked to call the Livonia Police Department and report stray dogs. Call GA 1-2900 Ext. 303.

Schools Offer Aid in Speech

Summer speech correction classes will again be offered by the Livonia Public Schools speech correction department, according to George T. Altenberger, speech correctionist and chairman of the service section unit.

"These classes are for all Livonia children in need of speech correction help, regardless of prior therapy," Altenberger said.

The program, to be offered in Jackson elementary school at 32025 Lyndon from 8:30 to 12:30, will begin on June 26 and end on Aug. 4. Classes will be on a one or two-hour basis.

Assisting in the program will be Robert Branch, Patricia Clinton, Christine Irons, Jack Pearson, Sybil Piersma, Patricia Prill, Anne Quigley, and Kenneth Thompson.

Parents interested in sending their children to these classes should call GA 2-1200, Ext. 321.

Did you know that the VFW Auxiliary bi-monthly visits West Trail Nursing Home with gifts galore and an evening is spent with entertaining the residents with bingo? This week, the Jay-C-ettes of Plymouth took over the job and gave a bit of relief to the Auxiliary.

Jay-C-ettes met Wednesday in the VFW Hall on Mill street with representatives from the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Newcomers Club of Plymouth, the Soroptimists, the Woman's National Farm & Garden Club, the VFW Auxiliary, Plymouth Woman's Club and the Daughters of American Revolution with 50 in attendance.

The purpose was to decide whether an overall club organization should be formed, which would be a help in planning a calendar of non-conflicting events. An organization that would help all understand the purpose and projects of each club and support them. The invaluable proof of joining together on community ventures was one of the benefits discussed.

The group was enthusiastic and planned to meet on June 5, in the VFW Hall to further plans. Once again an invitation is extended to any club in the community to attend.

School Previews Set for Youngsters

Livonia school principals are announcing still more "roundups" for pre-kindergartners and their parents who want to get a look at their school and a briefing four months before their five-year-olds begin their great educational adventure.

According to Clyde L. Jack, principal of Kennedy elementary, his PTA greeters will run a morning orientation for families whose last name begins with A through K at 9:30 a.m. and those with names L through Z at 1:30, on Thursday, May 11th.

Jack urged all "old-timers" in Livonia to remind newcomers with pre-school children of the annual "roundups" which this year will be for children born on or before December 1st, 1962.

There will be no regular kindergarten classes scheduled at Kennedy on "Roundup Day," Thursday, May 11.

Robert E. McCann, principal at Hull elementary school at 34715 Lyndon, has scheduled orientation sessions for Tuesday, May 16. Parents and children eligible for kindergarten next fall living on Park avenue and east of Park will attend the morning roundup at 10:00 a.m. while those living west of Park will be taken care of at 1:30 p.m.

Coolidge, Cleveland, Roosevelt, and Wilcox were among the schools which had successful roundups last week. A unique feature of the Coolidge orientation, according to Michael Mikula, is the follow-up program wherein youngsters eligible for kindergarten next fall will be asked back in smaller groups to join regular kindergartners for an hour one day a week for four weeks.

"We hope this indoctrination program will whet their appetites for school and facilitate their acceptance of the new situation," Mikula said. "During the hour the youngsters are in class, the mothers will be in a discussion group with a resource person from the school system acting as a discussion leader."

Cleveland school principal Garland Borden reported the roundup there as "very colorful" and thanked Mrs. Pat Moon, PTA president, and her committee for putting on a successful program for their neighbors.

Residents of Livonia who have moved into the district recently who have children who will be of kindergarten age next fall are invited to phone the nearest elementary school for information regarding their child's eligibility.

Beans for Casserole Cooking

Casserole cooking, because it's so convenient, has become many a homemaker's friend. Often it's a whole meal in a dish and one that practically minds itself. No last-minute rush, no pot-watching. It can be made ahead and reheated later or rest comfortably in a low oven when guests aren't quite ready to eat or the family's late for dinner.

HAM PARTY BAKE
2 pounds dry navy beans
2 medium onions, sliced
½ cup molasses
½ cup ketchup
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon ginger
3 to 4 pound ham shank
Salt to taste

Soak beans in cold water overnight. Next day add more water to cover if necessary and add onions. Bring to boil in covered saucepan and simmer 1 hour. Drain and re-serve 3 cups, adding water if necessary to make 3 cups. Mix liquid with molasses, ketchup, vinegar, mustard and ginger. Place ham, surrounded by beans, in pan or large earthenware casserole and pour liquid over all. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven 1 hour and 25 minutes. Remove ham and cut into medium-sized cubes and reserve. Continue baking beans, uncovered, 1 hour and 40 minutes longer. Return ham pieces to beans during final 30 minutes of baking. Serves 12. TIP: Excellent reheated next day with a little tomato juice added if more moisture is needed.

BEAN AND CORN DINNER

3½ to 4 cups canned pork and beans
1 (1 lb.) can whole kernel corn, drained
1 (8 oz.) can tomato paste
¼ cup minced onion
½ cup red table wine
1½ cups grated yellow cheese
Salt and Pepper to taste

Reserve ½ cup of the cheese and combine all other ingredients. Place in greased casserole and top with remaining cheese. Cover and bake in 325 degree oven for 1 hour. Uncover during last 15 minutes of baking. Serves 6.

CHUCKWAGON SPECIAL

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 pound ground beef
1 package onion soup mix
½ cup water
1 cup ketchup
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons vinegar
2 (1 lb. 4 oz.) cans pork and beans

Heat the butter in skillet and break up ground beef and brown. Combine all remaining ingredients and stir into skillet. Mix thoroughly and transfer to 2 quart casserole. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes till heated through. May be served topped with crisp, crumbled bacon. Serves 8 to 10.

High School Officials Get Bomb Threat

Two Livonia high schools received bomb threats Monday, April 24, according to the Livonia Police Department.

A person phoned Stevenson High School at about 11:50 a.m. and stated, "There's a bomb in the school. Don't worry about it," and then hung up. The police radio dispatcher also received a call from someone who said, "There's a bomb in Stevenson High School, and it's going to go off any minute."

Officers aided by school personnel searched classrooms, restrooms and underground tunnels, while custodians checked the swimming pool locker area, but did not find a bomb.

Later that day, at 1:40 p.m., the switchboard operator of Franklin High received a phone call stating, "There's a bomb in the school and it's going to blow up." Upon officers arrival, school personnel had already searched the school to no avail.

Plymouth's First Garden Walk Will Show Glory of Spring

Plymouth homes in all their spring glory will be on view Thursday, May 18, in an extensive garden walk being undertaken for the first time by the Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Nine gardens are featured in the tour, which will be conducted from 1 to 4 and 8 to 10 p.m. Seven have special lighting effects for the evening garden walkers.

The club advises its members and others interested to "wear low heels and enjoy the tour" in looking over the colorful and interesting effects that some of Plymouth's best gardeners have worked out.

One spot of interest is the garden Mrs. James O'Day will put on view at her home on Park Place.

The O'Day family lost home and garden in a fire three years ago, so their free-form patio garden is a start-from scratch and extremely interesting endeavor.

It features an unusual rock garden raised from the patio and utilizing driftwood along with rocks and flowers.

Next door to the O'Day's, the flowering trees of the Edwin Schrader home are bound to be a highlight of the walk.

The Schrader's English garden includes vegetables as well as flowers and shrubs and a grass walk and new lighting system adds to its interest. Also on Park Place is the Elvin Taylor garden with a lovely lighted fountain.

The O'Day, Schrader and Taylor gardens all run together with no fences to obstruct, so visitors can move from one to another with freedom.

One unusual stop will be the natural wild flower garden of Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel on S. Evergreen, which the birds already have found to be a natural haven.

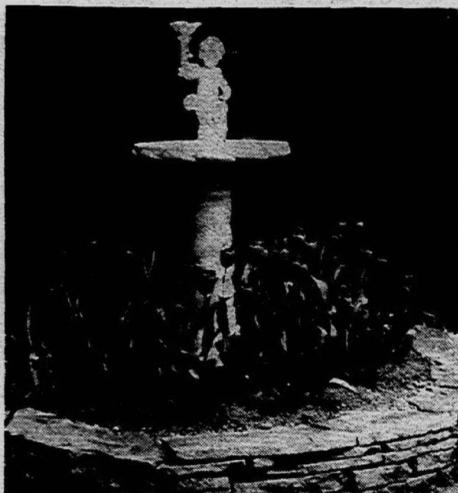

There will be a visit to the Japanese garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eber Readman at 959 Dewey. It's complete with rocks from all over the country and a Japanese Buddha, but no grass or flowers.

The A. E. Van Ornum formal garden on W. Maple is centered by a cupid bird bath with red tulips surrounding it.

Visitors may stop at the various gardens in any order they wish. Tickets may be purchased from garden association members, and proceeds from the project will go to the group's scholarship fund.

MRS. JAMES O'DAY prepares her unusual rock garden for its visitors at the May 18 Garden Walk sponsored by the Plymouth branch of the National Women's Farm and Garden Association.

BRIGHT RED TULIPS surround the cupid fountain in the A.E. Van Ornum garden, also to be featured on the tour. The hours for the walk will be 1 to 4, 7 to 10 p.m.

This Fast-Growing Club Has 53 Families, 300 Kids

There's a new club in this area that already boasts 53 families with a grand total of 300 children.

And it's likely to grow by leaps and bounds — bigger leaps and bounds than most clubs—because this one accepts only families with five or more children.

Headed temporarily by organizer Richard Abowd, of Twelve Mile Road, Farmington, the group will hold its next meeting at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 16, in the basement of Our Lady of Sorrows church.

"But we're definitely not a religious organization," emphasized Mrs. Louise Sidloski, one of the founding members. "We meet at the church because there aren't many places around big enough for a group like ours."

Mrs. Sidloski said the club also hoped to welcome members from Livonia and other communities near Farmington.

"One of our main aims is to organize a cooperative that would enable us to purchase quality merchandise at lower prices," Mrs. Sidloski, who has seven children, said.

"We think there are many merchants in the area who would be interested in dealing with us," she added. "Why, just those 300 pairs of shoes several times a year..."

She said the family members also planned some social activity—probably about one picnic a year would be all they could manage for so many people.

"And we're interested in some educational possibilities," she said. "For ourselves, an exchange of hints in raising a lot of children. Like, how do you decide which TV shows to watch."

"Then, we'd like to help our neighbors understand that children in large families can be well trained—that our aim as parents, like parents with smaller families, is to raise the best citizens we can."

There's one family in the club with 13 youngsters, and another with 12. Richard and Sarah Abowd have 11.

Abowd said there was some discussion as to how many children constitute a "large" family.

"We decided on five," he explained, "because that's the point at which there's one left over when father and mother each hold a youngster by each hand. That's when you know there are a lot of them."

RICHARD AND SARAH ABOWD of Farmington have 11 reasons for helping to found a club for large families, and 10 of them show in this picture. The youngest Abowd was taking a nap when it was snapped. The Abowds and 52 other families are banding together in an educational, social and economic venture.

Redford Pair Marks 50th Year

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wingblad, of Woodworth Avenue, Redford Township, will be honored at a 50th wedding anniversary celebration on Sunday, May 14, in Clarenceville Methodist Church.

The couple will repeat their marriage vows and then receive friends at a reception at the church hall.

The Wingblads were married at Jamestown, N. Y., on May 17, 1917. They moved to the Detroit area about 30 years ago, and have lived in Redford Township for 16 years.

Their daughter, Mrs. William March, and sons Gerald, Arnold and Wilbur, and their families all plan to attend the anniversary festivities. All live in the Detroit area. There are 12 grandchildren.

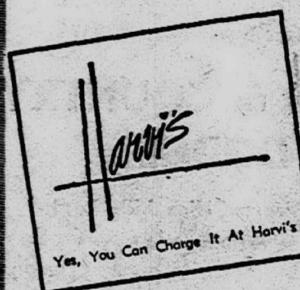

Wingblad retired from work as a carpenter about five years ago.

Save the children's old socks and cut the tops off them, just above the heels. Use them to make fashionable snug-fitting caps and straight skirts and sweaters for your daughter's dolls.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

It took a tonsilectomy to do it, but Mrs. Audrey Sefton hardly left her Garden City home for 10 days recently.

Husband Donald could scarcely believe the sudden absence of political work, school library assistance and the rest of his wife's busy whirl of activity.

But even the loss of a couple of tonsils can't keep a good woman down for long.

So by now Mrs. Sefton is likely to be working hard again on her current project, co-managing the campaign in which Frank J. Wanderski is seeking reelection to the Garden City School Board.

She'll also be returning to an active part in helping a group of 25 volunteer mothers staff the school library daily at St. Dunstan Catholic school. She organized that project this year and didn't really stop directing it—tonsilectomy or no.

In the next few weeks she'll add another important job to her busy schedule, because she has been appointed one of five members of a Garden City charter study committee. The group will give careful consideration of the present city charter and recommend changes and amendments.

It was Garden City Councilman Robert S. Wildish who appointed Mrs. Sefton to the charter committee post. And that was fitting, because her first move into political circles came three years ago when she handled publicity for Wildish's first council bid.

Later she was campaign co-manager when John O. Parry decided to run for the school board.

She's proud of the fact that both those candidates led their fields when election day came around. But politics has its downs, too, and Mrs. Sefton was on the losing side when she recently managed Charles E. Lowe's unsuccessful bid for the post of municipal judge.

Her political activity and work in the Parent-Teacher Association at Lathers-Florence school led to Mrs. Sefton's being named by a publication listing outstanding young women in the United States.

And that honor led in brought to a citation from the city council of Garden City that was presented to her in March.

"I keep wondering, though, just why I was named for that book," Audrey Sefton mused. "Nearly every woman I know is as busy and active as I am."

Now she remains active in the PTA group although both her children, eight-year-old Kendrick and Ann, six, are no longer attending Lathers-Florence.

She also is advisor for the newspaper put out by the sixth-grade class at St. Dunstan's. Next fall she'd like to teach regularly at St. Dunstan's. She was on the faculty at Redford High School in Detroit before her children were born.

"I love teaching," she said, "and feel I really belong in the classroom."

Audrey Sefton's enthusiasm undoubtedly make her a fine teacher—but she's no slouch in the political arena either.

Town Hall Group Will Share Profit

Any questions can be answered by calling Mrs. Wagenschutz, 349-2976.

Rouge Valley Club Re-elects President

Mrs. Frank Carter, of Inkster, will continue in office as president of the Rouge Valley branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

She was re-elected at the group's April meeting at the home of Mrs. Doyle Davison in Dearborn. Hostesses for the evening included Mrs. Dan Pierce, of Livonia, Mrs. Charles Casper, of Westland, and Mrs. Luther Smith, of Inkster.

Another feature of the meeting was a white elephant auction, with profits earmarked for the association's scholarship fund.

Other officers to be installed with Mrs. Carter in June are Mrs. George Siefer, of Inkster, first vice president and program chairman, Mrs. Leo Hecker, of Inkster, recording secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Goebel, of Dearborn, second vice president and membership chairman and Mrs. Casper, recording secretary.

Percentage Church of Risen Christ Of Over-65 Will Lay Cornerstone Folks on Rise

Four per cent of the United States population was in the 65-and-over age bracket in 1900. Today more than nine per cent are 65, says Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, extension family life and child development specialist of The Pennsylvania State University.

The older population is expected to increase about 40 per cent during the next 20 years. Various factors contribute to this increase in the aged. Since 1900 science has made advances, including gains in control of infectious diseases, generally improved medical care, plus improved nutrition and sanitation. An overall rise in the standard of living in the United States has helped to increase the number of aged.

The decline in the birth rate from 1910 to 1940 has resulted in a reduction in the number of persons who would now be 25 to 55 years old. Also the decline in immigration, that formerly increased our working age groups, is contributing to the higher percentage of aged, Mrs. Duvall points out.

More and more people now live into the nineties. In the United States today, some 13,000 persons are over 100 years old. A person is not a different individual when he reaches a certain age. No matter what age they are now, individuals need to explore the many facets of preparation for life during these later years, Mrs. Duvall adds.

Tips on Care Of Knit Outfits

If you own a textured acetate knit outfit and it needs pressing between trips to the cleaners, Michigan State University clothing specialists offer these suggestions.

Remember to turn your garment inside out and press on the underside of the fabric. Do not tug, pull or manipulate while the fabric is damp with steam and avoid too much pressure. This can cause a shine or leave marks. If there is a wet spot on the garment, let it dry before you press it or you may dull the fabric.

Ford Tells Of Woman, 'Her Car'

The woman driver's growing importance as a sociological and economic force is underscored in a special section of the April issue of Ford Times.

The Ford Motor Company monthly publication devotes more than half its pages to exploring "The Woman and Her Car."

"This issue depicts the relationship between the woman of today and the automobile to which she owes much of her independence," says Owen W. Bombard, Ford Publications manager. "With women expected to represent more than 50 per cent of all U.S. drivers by 1970, they are exerting an increasingly greater influence on car design and engineering."

From self-styled interiors to all-weather wardrobes, the woman's touch is evident throughout the seven-article special section.

In "Sweet Chariot," the automobile is cited as the liberator of the Victorian damsel. "Style It to Your Way of Living," shows how women can design a personal "car of perfection" by choosing from thousands of Ford color combinations and luxury options.

Economy driving tips and a look at fashions in tune with current vogue highlight the article. "Ford, Fashion, and the 1967 Mobil Economy Run." Included is artwork on Ford's 20-piece, color-coordinated travel wardrobe.

For suburbanites, "Instant Transportation" offers the busy housewife hints on the conveniences of inexpensive auto leasing for the two-car family requiring additional transportation.

Inner-City Women Visit YWCA Class

Twenty women from an inner-city parish were guests at the May meeting of the St. Edith Altar Society in Livonia, under the auspices of the Urban Affairs Committee, Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women Community Apostolate program.

The meeting was arranged between Mrs. Edmund Verbeke, President of St. Edith Altar Society and Mrs. McLean Morrison, President of Visitation Parish Altar Society, Detroit.

The two groups involved were inter-racial and the women of varying ages. The program was an exchange of information between the inner-city and suburban areas as well as a sharing of ideas to further the needs of their parishes and schools.

After the meeting, the more than 100 women involved broke into discussion groups, and all later reported a most stimulating and interesting evening.

Anyone desiring more information on arranging a similar project may contact Miss Elizabeth McDonald, Community Apostolate co-ordinator for the Wayne Western Deanery, National Council of Catholic Women.

YWCA Class Holds Art Show

Enhancing the beauty of spring, the La Palettes Art club will hold a show Saturday, May 13, from 11 to 4 p.m. at 13950 Beatrice, Livonia (just west of the Schoolcraft and Middlebelt).

The open air show and sale is sponsored by a group of women enrolled in the Homemaker's Holiday Art class of the Western Wayne County YWCA.

A wide collection of pastel, portrait, oil and water color paintings will be shown and may be purchased. The public is invited.

MRS. JUDY GUNTHER is the new field representative for the Northwest Service Office of the Red Cross. The office is located in Livonia and serves this entire area.

Scottish Week Alertness to Danger Is Women's Best Weapon

Women who must be alone on the streets at night "should always keep alert to signs of danger," suggests Rosemary Klug, chief of the women's division of the Detroit Police Department.

And she considers a flashlight their best defense. "There is a natural tendency for women to be afraid to walk the streets alone," said Chief Klug.

"This sensitivity to danger actually is a woman's best weapon against assault. Many crimes couldn't or wouldn't have been committed if women had been more alert and more aware of the possibility of danger."

Chief Klug is opposed to women carrying protective chemical sprays as weapons, since they easily can be turned against the woman holding them. Also, she said, they must be triggered, they must be on target and hit the eyes.

She cautioned women not to count on them for protection, as they are "likely to give one a false sense of security."

Of much more value is the standard size flashlight. "First," she said, "the flashlight is a source of light and criminals hate light; secondly, it is an excellent defensive weapon."

Speaking before women's groups, Miss Klug makes 10 recommendations to walking women:

- Have a companion with you, even during the daytime.
- Should it be necessary that you walk alone, avoid walking close to alley entrances or open fields.
- Carry your wallet in your coat pocket, rather than in a purse.
- If someone attempts to take your purse, let them have it. It is better to lose the contents, than be injured protecting it.
- Should you be grabbed, use your flashlight as a club. Screams and light are two of the most effective protective measures you have, don't hesitate to use them.
- Should you be followed, stop at the nearest lighted home or business place and phone the police.
- Vary your route, avoid walking along the same route at the same time every night.
- Never accept rides from strangers.
- Carry a hat pin. The pin is effective because it can be carried conveniently and inconspicuously.
- Miss Klug advises against fighting back. "However," she said, "if you must, you can use your fingers to gouge your attacker's eyes, you can pull his hair, bite him, kick him, stomp on his feet—as only a woman can do."

Love that Citrus Fruit? Here's How Freeze It

Freezer owners might take advantage of this year's record citrus harvest to put oranges and grapefruit on ice.

Home-frozen fresh fruit will keep its original quality for as long as a year at zero degrees (0°) F.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Consumer and Marketing Service reports that freezing oranges and grapefruit is a fairly simple operation. Start by choosing firm, heavy fruit that is free of soft spots. And remember that heaviness is your clue to thin-skinned, juicy fruit.

Then follow these steps:

- Wash and peel the fruit. Divide it into sections, removing all the membranes and seeds. Slice the oranges if you prefer.
- For grapefruit with many seeds, halve the fruit, remove the seeds and then cut or scoop out the sections.
- Pack the prepared fruit into containers and cover with a cold sugar syrup. Medium syrup is recommended—1 cup sugar to 1 1/4 cups of juice or water. The sugar may be dissolved in the liquid by stirring. But if you heat the mixture to dissolve the sugar more quickly, be sure to cool it before using. For better quality, add 1/2 teaspoon crystalline ascorbic acid to a quart of syrup.
- Be sure to leave head space for contents to expand during freezing. Leave 1/2 inch for a pint container. Seal containers and freeze.

Catholic Central Mothers To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Catholic Central Mothers' Club will be held Wednesday, May 17, in the school gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. Speaker for the evening will be Rev. Fr. William J. Gibbons, C.S.B., Principal of Catholic Central High School, and new officers will be elected.

Assistants Could Save Time for Busy OB's

Obstetricians and gynecologists could cope with the increasing demands for their services if they would train non-physician associates to handle the routine care and education of pregnant women, according to Dr. J. Robert Willson of the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Dr. Willson, chairman of the U-M Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, said physicians should devote more time to premarital examinations, to patients with physical and emotional problems and to preventive medicine. They should spend considerably less time doing things which trained associates could perform equally as well.

"A trained obstetric associate could give diet and hygiene instructions, provide much of the routine prenatal care for normal women and counsel her on family health problems which arise during and after pregnancy," he said.

"This would permit the physician to devote more time to women with complicated pregnancies, those pregnant for the first time and to help more expectant mothers than he can at the present time."

Training programs to develop obstetric associates are now practically non-existent, Dr. Willson noted. But he urged that appropriate classes be started in teaching hospitals where both doctors and nurses could participate in educating this new group of specialists.

He said the typical obstetrician today is strapped by time. "Pre-natal care for most patients, particularly those who have already had one child without difficulty, often is little more than a series of social visits with the doctor. Yet they prevent the obstetrician from seeing other women who may be encountering serious problems.

"The emotional aspects of reproduction are equally as important as the physical," he says. Some women may be considering pregnancy only as a means of satisfying their own neurotic needs. Others use it to bolster a failing marriage. Neither is very successful, he points out.

"It is important that women who want to get pregnant for social or neurotic reasons be discovered before they conceive. If obstetricians would help these troubled women delay pregnancy until they have solved their personal problems, it certainly would help the mother, their children and community."

Dr. Willson noted that too few doctors do adequate premarital examinations or take this opportunity to counsel their patients on family planning and the other problems of family life.

"Too often gynecologists like myself are consulted by a recently married woman with congenital absence of the vagina. Only after attempting intercourse does she become aware of the absence, although almost all have consulted a physician for a premarital examination.

An important but difficult problem, reports Dr. Willson, will be that of educating the physician. He must be taught that the most important thing he has to offer his patients are his skills in diagnosing, treating abnormalities and in preventive services, not just routine check-ups.

Jaycees Plan Statewide Vietnam Drive

A proposal that the Plymouth School District participate in a statewide campaign during Michigan Week to raise funds through donation of "student pennies" to build a children's medical facility in Vietnam today only awaited acceptance by the Plymouth Education Association to become a reality.

The undertaking is an inspiration of the Michigan Jaycees, of which Plymouth's Wendell Smith is state president. Hopefully, the Jaycees' aim is to raise $185,000 through Michigan schools, between May 22 and 26, for the needed hospital.

It has been proposed by the Jaycees that during the period of Michigan Week as many as possible of Michigan's 2,370,000 school children voluntarily contribute three pennies per day to this cause.

In Plymouth, although the Board of Education endorsed the project in its Monday night meeting, a further go-ahead must come from the Education Association.

The Association's fundamental contract with the Board specifies that teachers shall not be involved in more than one collection effort per year among students, this being the annual Community Fund drive.

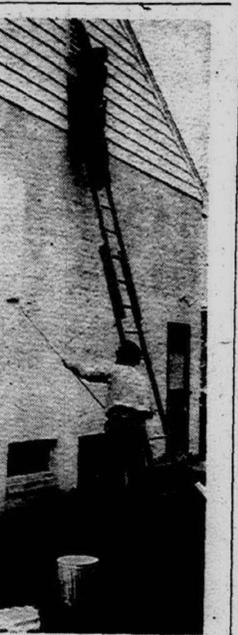

Terry West, speaking for the Plymouth Jaycee chapter, told the Board his organization will provide supplementary manpower to ease the teachers' burden, if necessary.

Supt. Russell Isbister recommended Plymouth's participation and praised the Jaycees for their initiative. It also was pointed out that Governor Romney, the Michigan Education Association and the executive committee of the Michigan Superintendents Association also have given their endorsements.

The project has the official designation of "Michigan Pennies for Vietnam" and the climax is scheduled for May 27, known as Michigan Week's "Youth Day," when all collected contributions would be forwarded to a statewide rally at Hillsdale for totaling.

LADDERS GO UP and so do painters as members of the Plymouth Jaycees start the task of painting the Salvation Army Hall on Fairground Ave. The Jaycees started the chore in the morning and were all finished by 3 p.m.

Plymouth JC's Paint, Clean SA Building

The Plymouth Jaycees did their bit during Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up week by devoting Saturday to painting and cleaning up the Salvation Army Hall on Fairground Street.

Eighteen members report-

ALL ALONE as he paints, near the roof of the Salvation Army Hall, is this hard working Plymouth Jaycee. It wasn't quite a true story of the venture since 17 of his fellow members were busy on the other side of the hall.

ed. bright and early in the morning with scrapers, rollers, brushes and ladders and had the job complete by 3 p.m. Chairman Cal Strom, who announced his candidacy for the Board of Education a day later, indicated the Jaycees used more than 20 gallons of white paint to cover the exterior of the building.

The Jaycees plan to make this community service project an annual affair. With the assistance and co-operation of the City of Plymouth, the Jaycees hope to make Plymouth a cleaner and more pleasant place to live.

Brigadier Ernest Hammer and members of the Salvation Army staff provided the workers with coffee and doughnuts and gave them a big thank you when the work was completed.

Auditorium Big Item In School

Probably more discussion focused on the possibility of having an auditorium than any other single facility in the school. From the first meeting of Oct. 22, the need for a facility to provide for presentation in drama, speech and music for students was a concern of the whole committee planning the second high school. A sub-committee was named to study the need for an auditorium and make recommendations to the whole committee.

The sub-committee was made up of Don Tripp, Wilma Newton, Cal Strom, Terry West, Peter Schweitzer, Dudley Barkow, William Grimmer, Mike Hoben, and William Harding.

The sub-committee studied first the students' need for such a facility, secondly the community need and then the committee reviewed in depth past recommendations to the Board of Education for an auditorium facility. These past recommendations were the result of a citizens committee appointed by the Board of Education in 1965.

The sub-committee then recommended that the auditorium should be considered as a theater plus two large-group instruction areas. The main floor of the theater for drama, speech, music, class assemblies, etc. will provide 800 seats and an adequate stage area.

Large-group instruction areas will be placed in a balcony and be so designed as to include two spaces divided by partitions for 150 seats each. This balcony area will be used on a daily basis for scheduled classes in social studies, English, science, etc., and will be used for school and community events whenever more than 800 seats are required.

Because this auditorium will be used by students and adults in the evenings, the sub-committee recommended that separate entrances from the remainder of the school will be needed and the facility should be located near a parking area.

To conclude with a few of the additional services that will be part of the new high school.

The health office will consist of a nurse's office, a small students reception area and a dispensary or examining room. The health suite will contain a separate boys' and girls' cot room of 50 square feet, for sick or injured students.

In the lunch room or food service facility the idea of a single large room for lunches has been done away with in favor of three smaller facilities which throughout the day can be used for other activities.

One of these spaces will be used as a study hall area. The second space will be used as a large-group instruction space when not being used for lunch. The third space will be called a student commons area where students may gather before, during and after the school day. This space will be located near the gym.

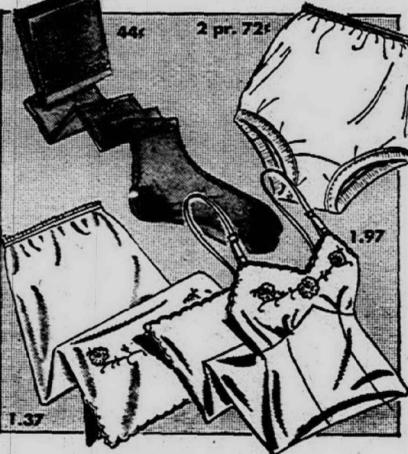

By its location it can be used as a school and community social center throughout the school year. Three lunch periods will be scheduled at the new school. Seven hundred students will be fed each period.

The administrative facilities will be dispersed throughout the building for better control and supervision. The principal will be in the center administrative office. There will be two assistant principals in other parts of the building. One of the assistant principals' offices will have provisions for data processing to assist in student scheduling and report cards.

This office will be located next to the business education department where equipment can be shared and students from the departments can take training on this equipment. The other assistant principal's office will contain a small space of a night school director's office who will administer the evening classes.

Vallier And McEwen Get Appointments

Plymouth City Commissioner Arch Vallier, who also is the city's supervisor and representative on the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, received appointments to two major committees announced by chairman Mel Ravitz.

Vallier was named chairman of the Sheriff and Medical Examiner's committee and will serve on the Equalization and Airport committees. In addition he was appointed to special committees concerning Friend of Court and Employee Duty Disability.

Plymouth Township Supervisor John McEwen, who has been a member of the Board for a relatively short time, was named to the Wayne County General Hospital and Infirmary, Wayne County Training School and Roads and Bridges. He also is a member of the social committee on Human Relations.

Plymouth Coed Is Honored At Indiana U

Mary Rupert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rupert, 39720 Koppnick, Plymouth, is listed among the honor students at Indiana University to be invited to the 147th anniversary celebration on May 3.

Miss Rupert, who was named to the Deans' Honor List during the first and second semesters of this school year for attaining a perfect 4.0 average, will be among those receiving special recognition.

The Deans of the College will hold a reception for the Honor Students and their parents in the Indiana Memorial Union from 2 to 3 p.m. the same day.

Miss Rupert, who will be graduated in June, has accepted a teaching position with the Milford schools. She plans on taking work toward her Masters degree during the summer before taking her teaching assignment.

School Aide Leaving Wayne Post

Henry B. Christensen, Director of Buildings and Grounds of the Wayne Community School District, began his duties as Physical Plant Planner for the Macomb County Community College recently.

Macomb County Community College, just getting started, will eventually consist of three campuses. The Physical Plant Planner will supervise the development of campus master plans and planning of physical facilities. He will assist in the development of educational specifications for new facilities and coordinate plans for new construction.

The Board of Education accepted Christensen's resignation with regrets at a special meeting Monday night following Superintendent Howard's announcement.

Christensen came to the Wayne Community School District June 5, 1961, as Director of Buildings and Grounds. He furnished leadership in organizing the operation and maintenance divisions. His role in planning and directing new buildings is well known throughout the school district and the metropolitan area.

He has been directly responsible for some $22 million in new school construction projects. New schools constructed during Christensen's tenure included Glenn High School, Hamilton, Patchen, Roosevelt, Stottlemeyer, Wildwood, and Tinkham Elementary Schools. Tammy Lamee Chosen Junior Miss Americanism Queen

The second annual Junior Miss Americanism Queen Program was held at the Farmington V.F.W. Post

Home on April 23. Object of the program is to select a junior queen from the 5-7 year-old age bracket to reign for the year 1967. The winner this year is Tammy Lamee, daughter of Commander and Mrs. Vance Lamee. Runners-up were Gloria McKenna and Debra Smith.

Plans for the queen and her court are to have them appear in the May Day Parade, Detroit; V.F.W. State Convention Parade, Sault Ste. Marie; Farmington Founders Day Festival Parade; Farmington Firemen's Day Parade and the Michigan State Fair Parade.

Vickie Weatherford, last year's queen marched down the golden carpet to receive a citation from the V.F.W. for the role she performed. An old fashioned sing-a-long of patriotic songs was led by Robert Smith accompanied by Helen Walunas.

Cathy Rouse and Debbie Scafuri danced a tap routine followed by the teen band of the Nottingham-Way lead by Jim Johnson and his group including Larry Smith, Paul Lamar, Kit Wiensel and Rick Rummins. A hula dance was presented by Patricia Pietrowski, Kimberlee Lamee and Jane Keeton. Readings of some Americana in the form of a brief history were given by Diane Coutts and Cathy Rouse as well as a reading by Bob Fougere of his own composition concerning Vietnam.

Shortt Is Best

Army Pvt. Gary M. Shortt, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Shortt, 24637 Farmington Rd., was chosen his basic combat training company's outstanding trainee at Ft. Knox, Kentucky. He attended Oakland Community College and Schoolcraft Community College.

WAYNE E. LAMBERT of 25503 Lyncastle Lane, Farmington, has been named controller of Albert Kahn Associated Architects and Engineers. A graduate of the University of Michigan, he was an account manager with Arthur Anderson & Co. prior to AKA.

Citation Awarded Posthumously To Staff Sergeant for Gallantry

A Silver Star for gallantry was awarded posthumously to S-Sgt. Leslie E. Wright, brother of J. W. Wright, of 20851 Robinson, in a recent ceremony at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The citation for Sgt. L. E. Wright, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wright, of South Lyon, related the events of Nov. 8, 1966, when he lost his life in Vietnam. Serving as a platoon leader with Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry, Sgt. Wright distinguished himself by going to the aid of first one and then another of the injured men in his unit during Operation Attleboro near the Cambodian border.

Disregarding his own safety, he braved the fire of enemy automatic weapons, small arms, rockets and mortars to help his men until he, too, was mortally wounded.

Legion Slates Baseball Tryouts

Tryouts for the Farmington area American Legion Baseball team will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14, for all boys from 16 to 19.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. both days, tryouts will be held at Our Lady of Sorrows Field, on Powers between Nine Mile and Ten Mile.

American Legion baseball is the equivalent of Class D baseball. The Farmington entry, scheduled to play other area teams every Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, is coached by Harry Kujawa.

Summer School

Eleven courses will be offered in the second annual summer session at Oakland University, June 19 through Aug. 11, planned principally to provide graduate courses for school teachers unable to participate in the University's regular trimester program.

Teacher Courses At Oakland U.

For graduate students enrolled in a degree program at Oakland, the 1967 courses lead to master of arts degree in English and to master of arts in teaching degrees in English, mathematics, elementary education and reading instruction.

The courses are also offered to persons completing master's degrees elsewhere and to others, graduates and undergraduates, who are not pursuing a degree program but find an individual course appropriate to advance their education.

For teachers holding provisional certificates, summer session courses in their respective fields would all apply toward qualifying for a permanent certificate.

5 Ford Salesmen Receive Honors

The winning salesmen are Fred J. Taylor, Gerard T. Condon, Ronald E. Leitch, Richard Schilbe and Michael Newman.

Trains At Center

Groundbreaking Set

Bank to Mark Birthday

The Detroit Bank & Trust Company will break ground at 10 a.m. next Tuesday for its permanent office in the Nankin Industrial Park, Westland.

The event, coming on Westland's first anniversary as a city, will be staged as a giant birthday party with special invitations going to families of children who share the city's birth date.

The bank will be the first building started in the 113-acre industrial park which is being developed by Leho Corporation, real estate firm specializing in the development of industrial parks. When fully developed the park is expected to have about 20 plants and be the industrial heart of Westland.

Breaking ground for the bank at Palmer and Newburgh will be Westland Mayor Thomas Brown, Raymond T. Perring, chairman of the Detroit Bank & Trust; C. Boyd Stockmeyer, president of the bank; and Fred C. Jans, executive vice president of Leho Corporation. The bank opened a temporary office at the site more than a year ago.

Following the groundbreaking ceremony, an informal birthday party will be held on the site. Each child who shares the city's birth date, May 16, 1966, will be presented with a complimentary $5 savings account by the bank.

Birthday cake and the trimmings will be served from a tent to be erected that morning.

Other special guests will be parents and siblings of the one-year-olds, members of the Westland City Council, and other city and school officials, the fall of this year.

The Palmer-Newburgh office is one of three Detroit Bank & Trust offices in Westland. The others are located on Wayne Road just south of Warren and at Ann Arbor Trail and Merriman Road.

Veterans To Hold Parade

Westland's Veterans of Foreign Wars Harris-Kehrer Post 3323 and the Allied Veterans of Western Wayne county are sponsoring the Memorial Day parade to be held in Wayne on May 30.

Any civic or patriotic groups that would like to participate in the parade should contact SFC. Robert Reed, at the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in the Wayne Post Office or phone 722-3388, for more information.

First Candidate Gets Petitions

Russ Tuttle is hoping that the early bird gets the votes. Tuttle, of 7507 Wildwood, Westland, was the first City Council candidate to pick up nominating petitions although the deadline for the filing of petitions for the Sept. 12 primary election is August 14.

The candidate, who obtained his petitions Friday, April 28, from City Clerk Marian McWilliams, promised the community a program of fiscal integrity, intelligent industrial planning and zoning to protect the property owners' equities.

A graduate of the University of Michigan and a Korean War veteran, Tuttle is a supervisor of technical editing and compositor typing at the Bendix Aerospace Systems Division in Ann Arbor.

At present, he is a member of the city's Zoning Board of Appeals, Executive Board of the League of Westland Democratic Voters; and is now serving his second term as a Democratic precinct delegate in the city's 16th precinct.

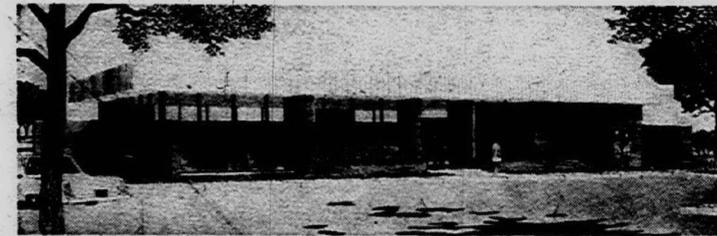

Previously, he was on the Nankin Township Board of Canvassers and Personnel Board. Tuttle is a past vice president of the Tonquish Civic Association and is now active in the Edison PTA and St. Theodore's Catholic Church.

The primary and general election next summer will be the first since local voters approved the change from a township to city status on April 25, 1966.

There will be a partisan primary vote on August 14 with four city council candidates from each party to be nominated for the November race.

CHECKING THE CALENDAR for the deadline for filing nominating petitions is Russell Tuttle, first Westland City Council candidate to take out petitions for the Sept. 12 primary election. He picked up the petitions April 28 from City Clerk Marian McWilliams.

GROUND BREAKING ceremonies will be held for the new Westland branch of Detroit Bank and Trust at 10 a.m. Tuesday to coincide with the city's first anniversary of the community's incorporation. The Branch, of which an architect's rendering is shown above, will be in the Nankin Industrial Park, Palmer and Newburgh Eds.

Pupils Clean Up Grounds

Students at John Marshall Junior High in Westland are working after school and Saturdays participating in a landscaping project. Some 30 boys and girls are actually digging the holes and planting shrubs at the main entrance to the school.

The landscaping is one of several projects included in an experimental after-school program approved under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. The costs of the shrubs and other materials are included in the total reimbursement from the Federal Government.

During the school year these students participated in many out-of-school activities, which included boating, swimming, tobogganing, as well as class-type sessions. The landscaping project was selected for their being on the experimental program.

William Groves, Principal of Marshall, states that a small group of teachers headed by Counselor Dennis Connolly are to be commended for their outstanding work with these students.

Also assisting with the program are Walter Henke, Director of Secondary Education, and Bill Taylor, Director of State and Federal Programs.

Gets Promotion

Ronnie Browning, son of Mrs. Clarkie Browning, 31743 Rush St., Garden City, was promoted to Army S-4 in Vietnam, where he is serving with the 1st Cavalary Division.

MARSHALL JUNIOR HIGH School students from Westland clean up school grounds and landscape the lawn.

The staff of Consumers Power Company (on Farmington Road) are proud parents this month.

Three years ago a bird's nest was discovered in the pile of rocks and gravel in the circular driveway of the company, by maintenance man, Bill Morse. Bill and Jim Naden, another member of the crew put yellow stakes out for visibility's sake as the nest, eggs and bird are the exact color of the stones.

Each year the bird, a Killdeer, came back but no eggs were hatched. This year three of the four eggs are now fuzzy baby birds cawing on the grounds. Someone, not known to the employees, puts bird feed out each day and the mother bird has become used to the attention of the entire company's personnel, who pass by the family each day.

The Livonia Artists Club (who hosted the Festival of Arts at Carl Sandburg Library recently) will hold their meeting Thursday, May 11, at 8 p.m. in the home of Lillian Carrol on Six Mile Rd. A color tour of the Orient will be featured. Mrs. Olive Harrington may be contacted for information at 422-3688, regarding the club.

Joel Durand, member of the club and expert in acrylic abstract paintings, will be enroute soon for an art show in New York.

May 14 through May 21 is Symphony Week. The women's auxiliary of the Livonia Youth Symphony Society are promoting a geranium sale at Ward's Wonderland just prior to all the festivities of the week.

Friday and Saturday are the days of the sale—you buy for your garden or for Mother's day, which is Sunday—and you help support the Livonia Symphony at the same time. These welcome summer flowers will be available in four colors.

The Parks and Recreation people are getting their Rock and Mineral Club off the ground at a meeting in Schoolcraft College, May 18 at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a tour of the facilities at Schoolcraft with Prof. William 'Rocky' Ryan and John Bedford acting as advisors for the group. This first kick-off meeting for the Club will be held in the Geology Lecture Room.

Two Senior Citizens Clubs have fun trips planned for this month. The Pioneer Unit, on May 19, will have a bus trip to Holland, for the Tulip Festival. Reservations must be in soon so please call GA 1-2000 for information.
