

Memorial Day Marks Passing Of Another Era

One era of Plymouth's history will come to a close and another will be born Tuesday when, for the first time, the formal observance of Memorial Day will be conducted without the presence of a single war veteran from the battlefields of the 19th Century.

Time has turned its inevitable corner, and, while the solemnity of the tribute will be the same, only the fighting men and women of the 20th Century remain to take part in the 1967 ceremonies.

Plymouth's last link with the past, 86-year-old Spanish-American War Veteran Thomas Gray, was to have ridden in a special place of honor in Tuesday morning's traditional parade.

Wednesday night Mr. Gray was placed on the "critical" list at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, with advancing age making his survival appear problematical.

It is to the war dead of the past that the day is dedicated, and Plymouth will mark the occasion in a fashion bespeaking awareness that American battle deaths in Vietnam last week alone almost equaled the entire battle dead of that long-ago war of Thomas Gray's youth.

Memorial Day activities are under direction of American Legion Passage-Gayde Post 391, and Fred Johnson is Grand Marshal. His aide is Gerald Olson of V.F.W. Mayflower Post 6695.

Parade units will assemble at Plymouth High School at 9:30 a.m., and at 10:00 will start the procession down Main St. to Kellogg Park.

Participants will include the high school band, veterans of World Wars I and II as well as the Korean and Vietnam actions, American Legion and V.F.W. members and auxiliaries, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, city and township dignitaries, and the Flight "A" 9632 Air Reserve Squadron.

The Kellogg Park program will start at 10:30 a.m. with the invocation delivered by Rev. Arnold Kehrl.

Former State American Legion Commander Oscar Hammond of Northville will deliver the principal remarks during the park ceremonies which also will include other traditional tributes.

Township Supervisor John McEwen and City Manager Richard Blodgett will lead the audience in the pledge of allegiance to the flag, Plymouth High School's James Warner will recite "In Flanders Field," Mrs. Esther Schepple will lead the singing of the national anthem, and there will be introductions of all local service posts and auxiliary officers.

The most solemn moments of the ceremony will be reached with the laying of wreaths at the Soldiers' Monument, the firing of a volley of shots by the V.F.W. Drill Team, and a lone trumpeter's playing of taps.

Graves of all military dead in community cemeteries were decorated Saturday by representatives of the American Legion and V.F.W. Both of these organizations and their auxiliaries also planned attending special Memorial Day services at 11:00 a.m. Sunday at the Presbyterian Church.

As Plymouth this year observes its own municipal centennial, so will the May 30 tribute

Subdivision Sidewalks Pose Problem For Township Board

Demand Is Made For Safety

Sidewalks.....where to place them.....who should pay for them? This is the problem that has been dropped on the laps of the Township Trustees and thus far it has been like a slippery eel--they can't get a good hold on it for a solution.

The problem was discussed and argued for more than an hour and a half last Tuesday evening. And at the end of the wearisome session the problem was tabled until such time as the Township Attorney, Ralph Cole, could furnish additional and more clarifying information.

The problem came to light with a request from the various sub-divisions in the expanding community for sidewalks in order that the children would be safer on the walk to school.

There was nothing new in the request as such things are common in growing communities, but the Township was caught without an ordinance--at least one that is up-to-date. Even then, Attorney Cole raised the question as to whether it should come under the heading of a sidewalk ordinance or a subdivision ordinance.

The nub of the problem concerns the "need" for sidewalks in the subdivisions; Many of these areas are content to maintain a rural atmosphere and do not want the concrete walks. At the same time the Township officials agree that the children's safety--to and from school--is of vital concern and they are caught in a vise of reaction.

Three specific areas were discussed at Tuesday's meeting.

First was Arbor Village No. 1 where there are no sidewalks and the home owners claim none are needed. Yet, sidewalks are necessary on Ann Arbor Road to provide safety for the children attending Allen School.

There are only three property owners who would have the walk in front of their property.

So, the question arose--should these three families be assessed for the entire walk?

Much the same condition exists on North Territorial Road where walks are needed to get to Bird School and Junior High West. These walks would serve the children living on Ridge Road and Dunn Court.

The third area is Rocker Subdivision. There are no sidewalks in this subdivision and the residents are pleased to go without them.

Unification Area Study Is Reduced

The decks were cleared for action this week for an official study as to what could be gained, if anything, by governmental unification of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, with an overlap of undetermined depth into Canton Township.

Northville and Northville Township will not be included in the research project.

The final lineup of participating units was determined Tuesday night when Canton's Board of Trustees voted to have the study made, but the two Northville governments shied away from it.

If the latter pair do anything, it will be to consider their own marriage without consulting their neighbors to the south.

The three-pronged study really is what originators of the undertaking wanted most, and no tears were shed by spokesmen of the sponsoring Plymouth Community Leadership Conference over the negative attitude in the Northville sector.

Plymouth and Plymouth Township governments started the ball rolling several weeks ago when they approved unification study participation. Canton's inclusion was a natural in view of the fact that more than half the area lies within the Plymouth School District.

Formal application for the perusal was submitted late this week to the Michigan Citizens Research Council, a non-profit enterprise dedicated to government operational studies, and immediate consideration has been promised by the Council's Board of Directors.

It is expected the board will assign a research team to start work on the study in early autumn.

Canton's Trustees gave meticulous attention to the wording of their affirmative resolution, agreeing on Tuesday that they approved the general idea but then meeting again in special session Wednesday to spell out their exact wishes. The resolution adopted at that time reads:

Salute The Flag

Here Is Proper Way To Pay Respect

When the Flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the Flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the head-dress with the right hand, holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Men without hats should salute in the same manner. Aliens should stand at attention. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the Flag in the moving column, should be rendered at the moment the Flag passes.

When the National Anthem is played and the Flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face toward the music. Those in uniform should salute at the first note of the Anthem, retaining this position until the last note. All others should stand at attention, men removing the head-dress. When the Flag is displayed, all present should face the Flag and salute. The "Star-Spangled Banner" is now the National Anthem of the United States of America. It was made such by Act of Congress, March 3, 1931. It behooves all of us to honor and respect the Flag and Anthem.

Township Birthday Is Frolic

The old red barn at Ralph Garber's place on Territorial Road was dressed up fit to kill Thursday night, and a stranger passing by might have wondered what pioneer movie was being filmed.

Some of the folks had come in horse-driven rigs, the attire varied from Ralph's own shiny overalls to barrister Ralph Cole's coonskin cap, and the gals were pink-faced and shiny in calico gowns that swept the ground as they walked.

It was darned good fun, but there also was a tone of sincerity to it not found in television play-acting.

The occasion was the 140th birthday party of Plymouth Township, and the idea was to try and recreate as much as possible the same atmosphere which prevailed in 1827 when the original township board held its first meeting in the same barn.

Paul Albright's organizing committee pretty well accomplished this, although they couldn't replace the heavy forests, wolves or rattlesnakes which abounded in the area 14 decades ago.

The township's present Board of Trustees gave the affair an official touch by conducting a short, honest-to-goodness business meeting. Then the guests--about 100 or so--enjoyed a program dedicated primarily to matters historical. Principal speaker was Prof. Ferris E. Lewis of Henry Ford

Community College in Dearborn who pointed out that the region had its first population "boom" after the Erie Canal from Buffalo to the Hudson River opened in the mid-1820's.

Col. Frederick Davids, Michigan State Police commissioner, spoke as a representative of the State of Michigan, and there also was a congratulatory telegram from Gov. George Romney.

Centennial Ball Opens Big Year

Now that Michigan Week has been written into the pages of history the City of Plymouth is turning to the celebration of its 100th birthday--and the first of the summer events on the long schedule is set for Saturday evening, June 3.

It will be the Centennial Ball and will be held at the Meeting House with all the fanfare and fervor of the "balls" that were popular at the time of the founding of the city.

A fine evening of entertainment is planned with George Alfano and his orchestra furnishing the music for the dancing. This is one of the most popular musical groups in the area and the dancing is certain to be enjoyable.

Jan Wynn, former singing star at radio station WJR will be the soloist of the evening and the laughs are to be furnished by comedian Paul Lennon.

The Ball will be the first of the social affairs for the summer and the fact that it is the opening gun of the summer Centennial program makes it even more important. Dress is optional and the public is invited.

Following the Ball, all eyes will be turned to the big Fourth of July Week when Plymouth will be host to the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England.

Willis Hall Speaks On Taxes At Forum

Willis Hall, former president of the Detroit Board of Commerce who is considered one of the leading authorities in Wayne County on the subject of taxation, will be the main speaker at the monthly meeting of the Business Men's Forum on Thursday, June 1, at the Meeting House.

For years his booming voice has caused the members of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors to sit up and take notice. He is certain to have a message and a fine explanation of the equalization factors that have the taxpayers puzzled and perturbed.

Mr. Hall also is a great advocate of unification and he, no doubt, will touch on that subject during his remarks.

The meeting, under the Chairmanship of Dr. Barber, is scheduled at noon and the members of the Kiwanis Noon Club, have been invited to attend, along with all other businessmen in the community.

Job Starts On June 3

Four Plymouth Boy Scout troops will work on cleaning out a portion of the Rouge River as a community project this summer, and will get the job under way Saturday, June 3.

Members of Troops 863, 1531, 1533 and 1534 will remove trash and debris from the riverbed as it runs through Edward Hines Park from Seven Mile Rd. to Haggerty Rd.

The Jaycees, who are sponsoring the effort, will award an eight-foot fiberglass boat to the troop which shows the greatest participation. Chairmen John Kelley and Dick Kernozek are rounding up trucks, block and tackle, and other equipment and Jaycees will actively work with the boys in the undertaking.

The work force plans to get started at 7:30 a.m. June 3, and there's no telling what they may find. Last summer a similar project netted everything from old tires to an icebox.

Michigan Glaseline, Inc., Plymouth manufacturers of fiberglass products, is furnishing the boat which will be awarded the standout troop.

Township Sidewalks Pose Issue

The necessity of having walks on Ann Arbor Road for the children who attend Junior High East and Smith School.

"This is one of the most ticklish problems we have had in quite a while," Township Clerk Helen Richardson, who is one of the Trustees confided. "And it is going to take a lot of work and study until we find the solution."

The question now evolves around the point of assessments—should they be special assessments for the property owners in the area or should it be an assessment spread on the Township tax roll inasmuch as the entire Township would benefit.

No date has been set for the next meeting, but in the meantime the Trustees and Attorney Cole are giving the problem plenty of thought.

The whole affair, from the red, white and blue bunting draping the platform to the garb of the participants, was a well-done throwback to the past, but even so it was impossible to escape the present completely.

In their brief official session, the 1967 Trustees approved a street lighting budget for the year of $3,436.62—more than enough to have operated the whole bloomin' township in 1827—and sure enough ship in 1827—and sure enough, someone who had come to the party in one of those new fangled horseless carriages had to be reminded on the loudspeaker that he had left his lights on.

"The Township is prepared to pay its fair share of the costs of the study, but would like a firm figure on the cost before the study begins.

"The Township Board suggests the Citizens Research Council direct their efforts to exploring areas of mutual cooperation between the Plymouth area communities."

A Real Shocker . . . Light Bill Stuns Township Officials

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees and Supervisor John McEwen saw stars last Tuesday evening—and they weren't even looking at the sky.

Instead they were dealt a blow by the State Highway Road Commission that still has them staggering—for a solution.

The blow came in the form of a letter stating that, under the law, the Township was liable for the lighting system on the proposed inter-change of I-96 and I-275.

Looking at the engineers' drawing of the proposed interchange Supervisor McEwen remarked, with a note of surprise, "They have plans for 106 lights on the inter-change and the minimum rate is $10 per month. That would be $1060 per month for the Edison Co."

Before he could continue, Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, the Treasurer who keeps a careful watch on the money, interrupted with--

"They're planning two more inter-changes—one at Beck Road and another on Sheldon Road—where do they think we would get the money?"

"We'd be broke in no time," the Supervisor explained, "and we'll certainly have to look into this matter."

Not alone did the number of lights—and the cost stun the Township officials, but a comparison with Livonia left them almost limp.

There are only nine lights to be charged against Livonia. So, the Township tabled the matter for further study or until they no longer saw stars.

June 1 Set As 'Candidates Night' Town Meeting To Air Election Issues

In the spirit of an old-fashioned town meeting, all of the issues at stake in the June 12 school election will be given a thorough airing next Thursday night, June 1, at a public forum in Plymouth's City Hall.

Electors from throughout the School District, a geographic concept which encompasses all or part of six separate governmental areas, are invited to the 7:30 p.m. gabfest in the City Commission chambers.

Co-chairmen of the event are President Carl Pursell, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Terry West, representing the Jaycees. Philip H. Power, publisher of the Mail & Observer, will serve as moderator.

The forthcoming election is one of the most pivotal in history of the Plymouth School District.

At issue are two key financial propositions, plus election of three members of the Board of Education. Thirteen candidates are vying for the three positions and all have been invited to tell their qualifications as candidates on Thursday night's forum.

Up for a "yes" or "no" vote are a proposed $8.5 million bond issue to permit construction of a second high school in the district, as well as a five-year extension of the existing special five-mill property tax levy.

A six-man panel will explain the background and ramifications of these matters, the six being:

Superintendent Russell Isbister, School Board President Gerald Fischer, Assistant Superintendent-Business Melvin Blunk, Assistant Superintendent-Secondary Education William Harding, Assistant High School Principal John Hoban and Chairman Donald Tripp of the Citizens High School Study Committee.

The roll call of the Board of Education candidates will follow that portion of the program, each of the 13 being limited to a specific time period for his or her remarks. Candidates are being asked to provide prepared copies of their own biographies to the audience as a time-saving gesture.

Officials and candidates alike will be prepared to answer questions from spectators. Coffee will be served by the Jaycee auxiliary at the end of the program.

Isbister, who will retire June 30 after 16 years as superintendent, declared this week that he has high hopes of seeing a June 12 turnout of 3,000 voters in contrast to the 1,849 who cast ballots in the last general school election.

The district covers all of the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, more than one-half of Canton Township and fragments of Northville, Salem and Superior Townships.

When Isbister became superintendent in 1951, school enrollment was 2,100. By the current year it had mushroomed to 7,644 and is expected to hit the 8,300 mark next fall. For high school ages alone, this year's enrollment of 1,966 is foreseen as growing to 3,000 in 1969.

These are the cold statistical facts of growth which underlie the ballot measures for necessary facilities awaiting decision June 12.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In the May 7th edition of the Plymouth Mail & Observer a letter from "A Parent" appeared charging that members of our staff are taking clothing donated by various groups for our patients and appropriating it for friends and relatives. We are not aware that such is the case but in view of the seriousness of the charge would urge "A Parent" to communicate whatever information is available to the authorities so that action may be taken to apprehend the offenders, if indeed there are any.

Our procedure for accounting for all clothing donated to our patients is very strict. All clothing received is receipted for and sent to our stores operation where it may be requisitioned out for patient use. Equally strict procedures are in effect for proper accounting and disposition of other items given to us by interested citizens. In addition, the State Auditor periodically audits our operation for compliance with established accounting procedures.

I would, therefore, like to take this opportunity to assure all individuals and organizations interested in assisting our residents that anything given to us for our patients will be carefully accounted for and once again to urge "A Parent" to step forward and provide us with any evidence of wrong doing which would make it possible to take action. In the absence of any specific evidence to the

Memorial Day Has Undergone Changes Through The Years--and It's Too Bad

On Tuesday the nation will celebrate Memorial Day — a day that was set aside, officially, to honor the courageous men who laid down their lives on the battle fields of the globe to help save our country and to help make the world safe for democracy.

There will be the usual parades for an hour or two during the day, but it will be a far cry from the days when the war heroes were feted from sunrise to sunset — when the veterans marched down the main streets of the land to the cheers of the multitudes.

It will be a day vastly different from those when we gloried in watching the veterans pause on the bridges and toss flowers into the water to honor those who fought in the Navy, and later continue the march to the cemetery to decorate the graves of the departed.

There was something gripping about those days — even though the program never varied. There was the parade, the trip to the cemetery and the memorial exercises that were marked by some high school student reciting Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

One couldn't help but be filled with pride every minute of the day that was designed to pay tribute to the men who fought — and died.

Today, we still have parades of sorts. There are few marchers and most of the veterans are standing on the sidelines watching the "professional" soldiers ride by in automobiles.

True, we still have the Memorial Day address — but it usually is delivered by some politician who is glorying in the fact that he is able to come back to talk to his constituents.

Few of the marchers go to the cemetery to kneel on the hallowed ground to place a flower or a small flag on the graves of the war heroes. Fewer still are those who remember the sailors whose lives were just as dear.

Today, in this sophisticated age, most of our attention is centered on recreation and pleasure and the day becomes what often is referred to as Decoration Day instead of Memorial Day.

Our attention is turned to the dead — but not the war dead. Instead we keep a watchful eye on the statistics to learn whether the deaths on the highways have established new records. As a matter of fact the national safety council goes so far as to make predictions on the number — and it becomes game.

This transition is too bad. What brought it about? The answers are many. First, the veterans of the wars we remember — World War I and II — the "Police Action" in Korea, and the present strife in Vietnam — refrain from talking of their experiences. They would just as soon forget them.

Second, we haven't had a war on our own continent (and God grant that we never will) and, therefore, the battles seem so remote.

Third, much of the change came with the passing of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic — those lovable members of the GAR.

There was something about these men that was different. When they marched on Memorial Day they stirred the pride of every American.

They talked of their experiences, in fact, many of them visited the schools in those days to tell the younger generation of the horrors of war. And we enjoyed listening to them.

Many were the times we'd walk hand-in-hand with these old veterans — who regaled us with tales of Gettysburg and Vicksburg — even though they were fought on the same days.

Walking hand-in-hand with them was like walking with history.

Too bad, the young folks of today don't have the same thrill on this Memorial Day.

The Stroller...

When James Jabara took office as Mayor of the City of Plymouth he confided that he was looking forward to two exciting years.

That was several months ago and The Stroller has learned that the excitement thus far is much more than he expected.

For instance, several weeks ago, he and City Manager Richard Blodgett went to Hell to do some canoeing over a weekend. (Who ever would think of canoeing in Hell?)

Came Sunday morning and the Mayor, with keen delight, got ready for the trip. But lo, he had forgotten his paddles.

That was a Helluva fix to be in — especially in Hell.

Next he journeyed to an engineers convention up-state and on the way decided to stop and see his folks and visit some of his boyhood haunts around Mancelona.

Supposed to be a nice, leisurely trip, but it turned out to be anything but.

Along the way, Hizzoner developed a pinched nerve — or something — in his thigh and Mrs. Jabara doesn't drive.

Talk about excitement! That was only the half of it.

Came home late Sunday night and he had to visit Beverly Hills on Monday as part of Mayor Exchange Day.

He managed to "limp" through it but commented "We had a wonderful time — but they kept us out to dinner until late — and me limping."

He doesn't know what lies ahead, but Mayor Jabara has found his first few months in office rather exciting — and painful.

THOUGHTS WHILE STROLLING

Plymouth is the only city in the land, to The Stroller's knowledge, that doesn't have a straight street.

What about Sheldon Road? That's a border line and only half of it is in the city.

Did you ever notice that City Commissioner Arch Vallier's actions at the administrative table depend on the size of the audience?

Given a full house, he can put on quite a show — and remain strangely quiet when the "house" is small.

Wonder if former Mayor James Houk, who is visiting in Plymouth, England, will get the shoe size of the Lord Mayor.

Jim once remarked, "I can't remember faces — but I never forget a shoe size."

LITTLE JACK AND THE HELMET

The other morning at Evans Products Co., all guests were given bright yellow helmets to wear while going through the plant for the ceremony marking the building of the 1000th Lift-Off Cover Coil Steel Car.

Among those who eagerly donned the re-enforced helmet was "Little Jack" McEwen, Plymouth Township Supervisor, and many wondered if he was getting ready to protect himself against the barbs of the tax payers when they get their next bills.

THINGS I NEVER KNEW TILL NOW

That members of the Fresh Fancy Quality egg production circle must live up to rigid rules.

For example, their eggs are produced by caged layers, spending their lives in a sanitary, controlled environment. The eggs are cooled immediately upon gathering, taken in temperature controlled trucks to a central processing plant, where they are handled by rubber fingers and delicate vacuum control.

Wonder what my grandmother, who raised chickens, would think about that.

WHAT ABOUT THAT HILL OF BEANS?

When one wants to belittle the importance of anything one of the most popular expressions is, "it doesn't amount to a hill of beans."

Now the bean growers of the state are up in arms over the fact that their product is being downgraded.

"Beans," they tell you, "grown from seed, have been known to lift concrete slabs — and in many cases, have lifted mortgages."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Few men moving into retirement are having more appreciation dinners in their honor than Russell Isbister, retiring Superintendent of Schools. Unless he's careful, he'll have stomach trouble before he leaves the job.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

What counts most are the things you learn after you know it all.

Boards and Commissions: Plymouth Has Plenty

Few cities put as much reliance in boards and commissions to keep the wheels of government rolling as does the City of Plymouth.

Most everything that comes before the City Commission is turned over to some board or committee for further study before final action is taken.

The Commissioners, for the most part, confine their official acts to passing judgment on the works of these boards and committees.

Letters To The Editor

Suggests Study Of Flag Code

Dear Sir:

Last year, on Memorial Day or Decoration Day, my wife and I attended our local parade. We stood at Main and Penniman as various flags of the United States of America passed in formation. We were the only ones who saluted and, to put it mildly, we were hurt and disgusted. Men, women and children sat, stood with their backs to the several sections bearing flags, but not one hat was removed and not one hand raised in respectful salute.

Public Law 829-77th Congress is The Flag Code. It outlines the proper display and use of the flag. Copies can be obtained showing the correct salute. Yes, the proper way to drape the coffin of a dead veteran is also pictured.

I suppose we must expect contempt for our flag at race riots, draft card burnings and like lawless demonstrations, but should it appear in a city like Plymouth.

Is it possible parents, schools, colleges and churches are slightly remiss in their obligations?

May I remind our selfish and smug citizens that their present prosperity is based upon the military spending in Vietnam and the deaths and maimings of our men in that war.

The least we living can do, in honor to our dead, is to respect the flag of Our Country. Can you help?

Very truly yours,

Harry N. Deyo

Medicare Folders Now Available

DEAR EDITOR:

Free medicare folders are now available at the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office.

The folder provides pockets for keeping doctor bills and space to record amounts paid to doctors as well as the necessary claims form requesting medicare payments. In addition, it contains leaflets explaining the methods of payment under medicare and the $50 deductible, Test said.

The folder will automatically be given to new enrollees for medicare, but those already enrolled may request the folder by writing, telephoning, or visiting the district office located at 18500 Grand River Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48223. Telephone 272-0080. Test also recommends that beneficiaries file their first medicare claim with his office to insure completeness and proper documentation.

The office is open 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and on Wednesdays from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Sam F. Test, District Manager Social Security Admin. 18500 Grand River, Detroit 48223

Readers Invited To Write Letters

Down through the years one of the most popular public forums is that part of the newspaper devoted to "Letters to the Editor."

Not all persons can talk before a group and, if they could, there are so few opportunities to speak. But most everyone can write and put their thoughts on paper.

So the Letters to the Editor column has become popular.

With that in mind, the Mail-Observer extends an invitation to its readers to make use of the columns for provocative subjects and events of interest in the community.

They should be typewritten, double spaced, and not more than 200 words in length. The letters must be signed and also contain the address of the sender, though names will not be used if requested.

New Library Books

"The Emergence and Growth of an Urban Region: The developing urban Detroit Area" is the analysis of a study made jointly by the Detroit Edison Company, Wayne State University, and Doxiadis Associates. This is a long range research project, continuing for five years, with two more volumes to be published as the work progresses.

"Ghosts" by Ursula Perrin is a novel about the experiences of a young girl growing up in the forties in upstate New York.

"A Search for the Truth" by Ruth Montgomery, author of "A Gift of Prophecy", recounts her own experiences, as well as those of many famous people she has interviewed during her career as a reporter searching for the truth of psychic phenomena.

"The Cruel Coast" by William Gage is a novel of World War II. A crippled German submarine, with half its crew wounded or dead, is trying to reach an island off the coast of Ireland for sanctuary.

"The One-Eyed Man is King" by Ian Brook is a discussion of what is happening in Nigeria, based on the author's experience as a district officer in the British Colonial Service. He criticizes the current policies of Great Britain and the United States in their dealings with the African nations. He feels that the democratic principles of government are not always the best for newly emerging nations.

"Warrior: the Story of General George S. Patton" is a brief, well illustrated account of the general's personality and military career by the Army Times.

Eagle Scout Wins Added High Honor

Eagle Scout F. Michael Hoepflich, Jr., a 1966 graduate of Plymouth High School, who now is attending Western Michigan University, gained still another of Scouting's high honors this week when he was presented the God and Country award.

The award was given Hoepflich in a ceremony at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Plymouth, on behalf of the National Boy Scout Council's Protestant Committee on Scouting.

Stringent qualifications for this honor are based upon regular church attendance, knowledge of the Bible and the teachings of one's own church, and interest in public and community affairs.

Hoepflich received the Eagle Scout badge in 1964 as a member of Troop P-1, which is sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. He has been in Scouting since joining as a Cub

"The Little People" by John Christopher is the story of a young couple who turn an old Irish castle into a hotel. They find suggestions of an evil presence in the castle, that seems to be supernatural, but brings terror in its wake.

"The Mask of Asia" by George Farwell is a description of the land and people of the Philippine Islands today.

Two new books on swimming, one for the advanced swimmer, and one for the beginner, are in time for the summer season—"Competition Swimming" by Carl Lalkan and "Get Swimming" by Howard Grainger.

"Lionheart" by Alexander Fullerton is a short humorous novel about a man and his eight-year-old son who encounter an escaped circus lion.

"The Gypsies" by Jan Yoors was written by a Belgian artist who spent much of his early life traveling through Europe as the adopted son of a gypsy family. He gives an insider's view of the gypsy way of life.

"The Big Water Fight" by the League of Women Voters tells of the trials and triumphs in citizen action on problems of supply, pollution, floods and planning across the U.S.A.

"Fierce and Gentle Warriors" contains three stories by Mikhail Sholokhov, author of "And Quiet Flows the Don". The translator is Miriam Morton, who was born in Russia, but came to the United States as a young girl. She has become well-known for the excellence of her translations from the Russian.

in 1954. He spent the summer of 1965 in West Germany under the "Youth for Understanding" teenage exchange program.

Sidney Strong, under whose direction Troop P-1 first was formed in 1922--then known as Troop 1531--was among the special guests who attended the presentation ceremony.

Congressman Esch Says:

Senior Citizens Due For Shock At Income Tax Time

Senior citizens are going to find that there's been a thief in their pocketbooks when it comes time to pay income taxes next unless Congress acts soon. This year elderly people who filed income tax returns were allowed to deduct the full cost of drugs and medicines, doctor's bills, and other medical expenses to the extent that these expenses were not reimbursed. But what many do not realize is that, unless the law is changed, they will not be allowed to deduct full medical expenses when they make out their 1967 returns next year. At the time Medicare was passed the right to deduct full medical expenses was repealed because it was felt that it would no longer be necessary. Medicare, however, does not provide for payment of any drugs except those administered in hospitals. The senior citizen who has to pay for costly drugs cannot look to Medicare to pay even part of these costs. Under the voluntary portion of the plan doctors' bills may be paid, but even here an elderly person must pay a deductible of $50 and 20% of the cost. Many senior citizens will find themselves heavily penalized if the present income tax provisions remain unchanged. That's why I have recommended and am working for the restoration of the right previously granted elderly people to deduct full medical expenses. Should Congress not act in this regard the additional tax bite on senior citizens will be bad enough, but it will be much worse if Congress should act favorably on a related Administration proposal. This is an incredible plan which would levy income tax on Social Security benefits paid to persons over 65.

While the expressed purpose of the supporters of this change in the law is to improve the tax treatment of the elderly, what it actually amounts to is double taxation. The same income would be taxed first when it was earned and second when it was paid in benefits.

The only way we are going to keep the thief out of the senior citizens' pocketbook is to restore full deduction for medical expenses and defeat measures designed to tax Social Security benefits. Your comments will be appreciated.

Scientific Prize Goes To Girl, 17

Cynthia Bruzda, a 17-year-old junior at Ladywood High School who resides in Plymouth, captured top honors among exhibitors at last weekend's Junior Engineers Technical Society science fair at Michigan State University.

Cynthia submitted the same project which brought her one of the principal awards at Detroit's Cobo Hall science fair earlier in the spring. At MSU it not only won first place in her classification but in the event's grand sweepstakes prize as well.

Her exhibit was on "The effects of benadryl and dexedrine on the active transport system of micro-organisms." It consisted of a three-piece folding display showing X-ray films and other pictures as well as two volumes of her own work on the subject.

Miss Bruzda is the oldest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bruzda, 41385 Crestwood Dr., Plymouth. After her high school graduation a year hence she plans to major in science at the college level, but has not yet determined on the school she will attend.

MSU Selects John Bortins

Michigan State University's ninth annual High School Honors Science Program, which will run from June 18 through July 28, will include John Bortins, 41530 Greenbriar Lane, Plymouth.

Bortins was among 100 students selected from among more than 900 high school applicants. Prerequisites included standing in the top 10 percent of one's class, a background of at least two years in high school mathematics, and completion of at least one course in a science elected for study in the program.

ROTC Honors Plymouth Boy

Carl R. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, 1361 Beech St., was one of 18 Eastern Michigan University ROTC cadets who received awards at a recent university ceremony. Miller, a junior, was selected for the Association of the United States Army award, which was presented by Col. George A. Murray, Jr., Head of the department of military science at EMU.

O, The Depth of God

By the Rev. David Romberg

"O THE DEPTH of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God!" - Romans 11:33.

No word in the speech of man, no matter in which language, seems to be more vague and misunderstood, than the word GOD! As we hear the divine Name used in the conversations and philosophies of men:

for example, as Svetlana Stalin spoke of "God", we come to realize that all are not referring to the same concept and idea.

GOD brings numerous beliefs and images into the mind of man. One speaks of nature as God; another as supreme truth as God; another as an actual Being, but unknown; and still others of a being Who is known, a three-personed being, but ONE God. Where do these contrary notions begin? From various sources--most of them from the imagination of man.

When we wish to know more about a person, we don't think hard about him, for that would only produce our opinion of him personally to see what he has to say about and for himself. It is this exchange of personality relationship, that we become more accurately acquainted through the unsaid things: by attitude, by actions, by "communion" with each other.

And this is so true of God. To know God, we must understand and experience THE DEPTH OF GOD. To know His Name is not enough. To believe He is the Holy Trinity of the Christian Scriptures: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, is only the beginning. To "know God", one must live with Him. One must experience for himself the "depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God." It is not the sideline spectator, but he who lives in "communion with God" day in and day out; who has experienced that God is more than a name or a concept or even a belief -- it is he alone who is able to exclaim "O THE DEPTH OF GOD!"

The Rev. David Romberg

St. John's Seminary Trains All Parish Priests In Michigan

Only two miles from downtown Plymouth, St. John's Seminary has never been visited by most Plymouth people. This school graduates all the parish priests in Michigan, yet almost nothing is known about it in our community.

The Rev. Eugene Van Antwerp, rector, and 12 other priests, teach 160 students in their final phase before becoming priests. Many of the students have been studying for the priesthood since they began high school. The four years of post A.B. work they do at St. John's is their last step before becoming ordained.

Not all the students at the seminary have been certain of their vocation since they were teens. There are two lawyers, and a city planner, who gave up promising careers to enter the school.

The focal point of the seminarians' day is the mid-morning mass. In keeping with the new spirit in the church, innovations constantly are being tried at mass. As soon as a new jazz-type song is given ecclesiastical approval it is sung at mass. Guitar music is sometimes substituted for the traditional organ.

Catholics who are accustomed to receiving a small white host at communion, would be surprised at the large whole wheat wafer the school uses. "Since communion is the food of the soul, this host is much more symbolic," explained one of the young seminarians.

PSYCHEDELIC ART WILL BE no stranger to new priests after seeing this poster of Christ put up by fellow seminarians (top to bottom) Bernard Karaskiewicz, John Shiverski, Doug Osborn, and Harry Benjamin.

The seminary itself with its tall rounded arches, and Italian architecture is a calm peaceful place for the men to delve into the intricacies of theology. It is also interesting that Diehl and Diehl, the architects for this building, are the same ones who are building the Ford plant on Sheldon Road.

However, all work and no play makes a dull priest. So, there are also a golf course, bowling alley and handball court on the grounds. "We no longer look at the seminary as a total institution," explained Father Van Antwerp. "As of this year students can leave campus during the day.

are about 20 per cent who leave the seminary.

"While they are here, they come closer to seeing what the life of a priest really is like, and they lose their rosy idealism," explained Father Van Antwerp.

Many of the men who leave the seminary go into some related field, such as religious instruction.

This seminary is supported by the five Michigan dioceses, who send the students to St. John's. The school which was built to hold 200 students, presently has an enrollment of 160.

Vocations to the priesthood are down all over the state. While this is not a direct concern of his, Father Van Antwerp explained that each diocese is trying to develop a recruiting program.

"Many of our priests have been in the seminary since high school," he said. "This is good, because they get to know the life and personnel. But there are also a great many who leave during their training. So the latest efforts are to attract older boys to the priesthood."

The Top Side of Life

By the Rev. David Strang

With today's article we move the Stained Glass Window to the Top Side of Life. Originally this column appeared under the title, "From the Pulpit" and was introduced as a weekly column to be written by Rev. Robert Schaden.

Now that we have gone through our growing pains, and to allow for a wider range of views on varying subjects of life the column is now being written alternately in the weekend edition of the Mail Observer by Rev. Robert Schaden and Rev. David Strang.

Today's article is written by Rev. Strang and is the first to appear under the new title, "The Top Side of Life."

A front page headline in a recent issue of the Plymouth Mail declared that a local minister found that two careers (the ministry and politics) wouldn't mix. The first paragraph of the accompanying story said the minister "has found that he can't mix a career as minister of the gospel with political life."

The implication (not the minister's) is that Christian faith and politics should sleep in separate bedrooms. The implication is that the church, and especially its ministers, should stay out of politics.

The assumption of that kind of argument is that religion has to do with "higher things"--like God and soul saving and eternal life, but not with the real life of men in the human political arena.

People use this argument to demonstrate that ministers should not talk about civil rights or Viet Nam or poverty from the pulpit since those are political issues and not religious issues.

I would submit that any argument which insists on the separation of Christian religion and politics understands neither Christianity nor politics. In fact, the best form of Christianity and the best form of politics are both talking about the same thing: Making and keeping men truly human.

Politics is the art of doing just that. Politicians who know what they are doing are concerned for man's humanity. How can we build communities in which men are able to live in peace and happiness? That is a political question.

It is also a religious question. What else can God care about if not the world and the people He made? What other question is more important for us to answer now than how we can live with each other in understanding and acceptance?

The gospel claims to provide some history-shaking answers to that question. The gospel also says that man discovers the answers as he works out the meaning of his life in relation not only to God but to other people as well.

That, again, is politics. To be sure, not all men are going to run for public office, but some men must. Our concern ought to be that the candidates know how to ask the right human questions, and those can hardly be different from the questions about life God wants us to ask.

Any form of religion which fails to care about man's political life is not true religion. Any form of politics which fails to ask questions about the ultimate meaning of human life is phony politics.

It is unfortunate in our own local situation that the minister is being forced to take another job in order to show how the ministry and politics do mix.

Perhaps in this case it's not the layman but the churches who need to wake up.

Church Holds Special Mass DAR Marks Grave From Revolution

A special Mass for peace will be held on Memorial Day at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. The mass will begin with a procession of students. Included in the service will be a talk on the part people should play in seeking peace.

"In these days of marches and demonstrations there is a chance that we forget the part God has in our world," explained Father Robert Schaden.

"We all have an obligation to pray and live for peace in our world."

DAR Marks Grave From Revolution

Members of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, D.A.R., covering Plymouth and Northville, uniquely observed Michigan Week by placing a bronze marker on the grave of a Revolutionary War soldier who was buried in Washtenaw County.

Richard E. Lord served in the Continental Army from 1777 until 1780 and eventually migrated to Michigan territory in the third or fourth decade of the 19th century. Lord's name appears in Ann Arbor's 1840 census, and he later was buried in Gellest Cemetery in Sharon Township.

Participating in the grave ceremony May 22 were D.A.R. chapter members Mrs. Harry Gettgey, Mrs. Harry N. Deyo, Mrs. F. R. Hohelsel, Mrs. Robert D. Willoughby, Mrs. Herold Hamill, Mrs. Walter Gemperline and Mrs. Walter Hammond, who is a great, great granddaughter of the Revolutionary patriot.

The Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter DAR has recently presented awards to two different groups of students.

Two high school students were presented medals of merit by the chapter after being chosen by their teachers as outstanding senior students in history. They are Sheila M. O'Brien from Ladywood High School and Judy Conn of Plymouth High School.

Each year the chapter conducts a history essay contest for students from fifth to eighth grade. This year's theme was American Naval Battles.

Winners, who each received the DAR Certificate of Award, are George Hastings, Ricarda Szczodrowski, and Dennis Sapanich from Our Lady of Good Counsel School; Philip Val-rance, St. Peter's Lutheran School; Robyn Blackmore, and Greg Hoelt from Junior High East.

Unique Way Told For Framing Art

Giant-sized paintings are tough to frame effectively, but one interior decorator came up with an exciting idea. Rather than use a conventional approach, he hung the painting, then, on either side, used a pair of 2x6s nailed edge-out against the wall.

Each pair of 2x6s runs from floor to ceiling. One of the pair touches the edge of the painting, the other is set three inches away. Wall space above and below the picture was covered with felt matching the painting's main color. The Douglas fir 2x6s were stained dark.

Expert Gives Cooking Tips

Telling housewives how to turn everyday meals into gourmet treats is the job of Janet Reese, a home economist for Swift and Co. who spends most of her time traveling and talking to women's groups and merchandisers.

Last week she included Consumers Power Co. in Livonia in a quick tour of Michigan cities.

"Women I've talked to seem to be most interested in foods they can freeze, and simplified touches in cooking," she said.

Therefore, the recipes she presented at the food demonstration last Monday stressed ease in preparation.

A bachelor's degree in home economics was the stepping stone that led Miss Reese to her career of helping other women do their cooking.

"I obtained my basic experience with a gas company—not the one you have here—and then went to work for Swift," explained the tall brunette. "About 75 per cent of my time is spent traveling, which is lots of fun, but very tiring."

"However, I really have learned what the consumer wants by talking to women throughout the country. Then we develop those ideas into recipes."

Here are some of the recipes she suggests to turn family meals or party dishes into delicacies.

BEEF FONDUE

It's hard to find a dish much easier than this—guests do the cooking.

"Fondue is good to serve after a theater party, as an appetizer, or a main dish," suggested Miss Reese. "Try it with a crisp green salad, french bread, and fresh fruit for a dessert."

The meat can be cooked in a fondue pot or in a pan on the stove. Ingredients needed are:

- beef tenderloin
 - 2 sticks butter
 - 2 cups cooking oil
 - sauce for dipping
- Cut beef into 3/4 inch cubes. Carefully trim off all fat and connective tissue. Place meat in bowl and refrigerate. Prepare sour cream curry sauce for dipping.

About 20 minutes before serving, heat together in a saucepan the butter and oil. When the mixture begins to bubble and brown, pour it into a two quart fondue dish. Light canned heat, and when fat begins to bubble again, have guests spear a piece of meat and fry it for two to three minutes.

After it is cooked, dip into the sauce, before eating.

SOUR CREAM CURRY SAUCE

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry

WHO PUTS BREAD in the stew? Janet Reese shows Mrs. Jerry Youhey (right) how to make gravy with bread.

- powder
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 1/4 teaspoon sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- paprika

Blend all ingredients except paprika. Chill. Place in small serving bowl and sprinkle lightly with paprika.

For a family meal try a French pot roast. If you ever have had trouble making gravy, this recipe solves your problem forever. Bread, which is cooked right with the roast, automatically becomes the thickening agent.

FRENCH POT ROAST

- Yield: 8 servings
- 5 pounds blade or round roast
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 whole cloves
- 4 onions sliced
- 1 pound canned tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 slices rye bread, torn into pieces
- 1 green pepper sliced into rings

Melt shortening in large skillet. Rub beef with salt, ginger, and orange rind. Brown in melted shortening. Add garlic, cloves, onions, tomatoes, sugar, and rye bread. Cover and simmer three hours and 15 minutes or until roast is fork tender. Add green pepper rings during the last 15 minutes. Remove from pan. Skim fat from pan drippings and serve with roast.

For dessert, Miss Reese suggests a baked Alaska, which uses both egg whites and yolks. This solves the problem of what to do with the yolks that are left over from the average baked Alaska recipe.

The recipe also follows the trend towards easier cooking, because it can be made ahead of time and frozen.

BROWNIE BAKED ALASKA

- 1 stick margarine
 - 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 6 egg yolks
 - 2 tablespoons water
 - 1/2 cup sifted flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 pints peppermint ice cream
 - Meringue
 - 6 egg whites
 - 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 - 1/8 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 cup sugar
- Melt margarine and chocolate in saucepan. Remove from heat. Blend in sugar. Add egg yolks and water and beat well.

Stir in flour, baking powder, nuts and vanilla. Spread in 11 by 7 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes.

To make meringue, whip the egg whites with cream of tartar, and salt until soft peaks form. Add sugar gradually while beating well. Continue beating until meringue stands up in stiff, but not dry peaks.

Cut brownies into eight servings. Place on baking sheet. Cut each pint of ice cream into four servings. Cover entirely with meringue. Seal the sides of the brownie with meringue. This is important.

Return Alaskas to freezer. They may be stored up to two days before serving. At serving time, bake four minutes at 450 degrees. Serve immediately.

Good Buys at Grocers

By MARJORIE GIBBS
Michigan State Marketing Agent

PORK: Smoked hams and spareribs are in a number of ads. Loin cuts and bacon are also specially priced.

POULTRY: Some whole and cut-up birds are specially priced this week along with Grade A eight to 16 pound turkeys.

BEEF: Features are few and far between—primarily on rib cuts, though a few good buys may be found on chuck cuts.

FISH: Perch and smelt continue to be more than ample and more lake bass are available in good quality and larger size. Ocean fish and frozen packs are also good values, but whitefish and trout are exceptionally scarce and high in price.

LAMB: Spring lambs are scarce and the supply of wintered lambs which usually extends well into the spring is about depleted. Though there is no advertised activity in the lamb market, shoulder cuts still offer excellent values.

EGGS AND DAIRY: Low prices on large eggs continue—medium sizes may be fractionally down in cost. Larger sizes are still the best value by weight. Cream cheese and cheese slices are the most frequently advertised dairy products though almost every store in town is offering thrifty buys on dairy biscuits this week.

VEGETABLES: The sweet corn crop in Florida is near a peak, and prices on hot house tomatoes may be at the low of the season.

Warmer weather in California has improved the potato crop and shipments are increasing—prices are somewhat lower. Rain and warmer weather in New Jersey has also brought the season for asparagus into full swing. Harvesting of cabbage is fairly active and continued good weather has improved the broccoli quality and supply.

FRUITS: Favorable weather conditions have resulted in better quality watermelon than usual for so early in the season. California strawberries are also in much better quality and Michigan is expected to begin production early in June. However, overall strawberry production is lighter this year due to poor spring weather in many growing areas.

Artists Find Perfect Spot to Paint

It was a bright spring day last Wednesday, so these artists decided to drive from their homes in Redford and Livonia until they found a picturesque spot. They ended up at this site on Northville Road, just outside of Plymouth.

Originally, these ladies—who are (from left) Barbara Jerolamon, Martha Hudson, Dorothy Roberts, Patti Jerolamon, Lois Kurtz, and Anne Pritchard—had planned to spend the morning at a painting lesson. However, Helen Van Wyke, the instructor, was in a hospital in New York. Since Mrs. Van Wyke couldn't teach the class, which had been set up through the Livonia Adult Education Department, the women packed up their supplies and headed for the country.

Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Kurtz, all from Redford, have been painting together for about seven years. They met Mrs. Pritchard and Mrs. Jerolamon, who are from Livonia, through their church, and now all the women hold painting sessions at each others' houses.

Although they are all pictured painting the small dam and stone structure off Northville Road, each has produced a completely different type of painting.

Where Plymouth Lived

House Has Traveled Around Plymouth

A house steeped in Plymouth history is being remodeled by a hard working young couple named Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Butler. Originally on Main Street, the house is now at 123 Union, across from Krogers.

Built about 100 years ago, it was the birthplace of Mary Hough Kimball in the middle of the 19th century. Mrs. Kimball was the granddaughter of the pioneer Hough family, one of the first to settle in this area. Later, members of the Hough family became prominent figures in the Daisy Air Rifle Co.

When she grew up, Mrs. Kimball watched her brother, Ed, and cousin, Charlie Bennett, continue to build up the company.

During this time the little house stood on Main Street, next to Charlie Bennett's big place. Tenants came and went in the little house. A family named Potter lived there for awhile, and later the Pitchers, who still have descendants living in town.

Charlie Bennett, remembered by those who knew him as a jovial, friendly person, wanted to expand his garden.

The little house with the diminutive balcony on the front of the second story stood just north of his rambling white house. So, since house moving was fairly common in those days, Bennett decided to expand and move the house that crowded him over to Union Street.

This was in 1926. The house was now close to the Daisy plant, and many of the factory workers lived in houses on Union Street.

However, it was a non-Daisy family, named Meredith, that moved into the house now at 123 Union. A son of the family, George, did work at Daisy for awhile. The plant was a place where many boys in Plymouth got their first jobs.

Eventually, the Meredith family moved away, and the house was rented for years. The Butlers bought the place two years ago, and rolled up their sleeves and began modernizing it.

The tiny balcony looks over the front yard, but most everything else has changed. There's a new heating system, new bathroom, and new paneled walls.

Butler is a carpenter, and he and his wife have been able to do much of the work themselves. They have the experience needed, as this is the sixth house they have worked on. Butler built the first two houses they lived in after they were married.

Then they remodeled another old house. Now that they are working on their present place, they are fixing up two others.

"I like nice things, and I'm willing to work for them," was Mrs. Butler's explanation of why they are willing to put in hours of back-breaking work to make this a comfortable home for themselves and their two children.

MRS. BUTLER has added pickled woodwork to the kitchen, making it a warm, charming room.

WHEN CHARLIE BENNETT moved the Butler house, and another one, he had a garden which extended the length of the brick wall, that Mrs. Butler is pointing to.

Novel Idea For Fall

New Techniques To Help First Graders

"Children are often called immature, when it is obvious they are intelligent, but are failing in school." This interesting statement was made by Jon Jacobs, Plymouth school psychologist, who added:

"During the last 10 years, researchers have been developing tests to determine the specific reasons for the failures."

As a result Plymouth is to become the fourth school system in the nation to have a developmental first grade designed to benefit the "immature" child. Scheduled to begin in the fall, the program is planned for children about to enter first grade, but will later be carried over into other grades.

This way Plymouth can take advantage of some of the surprising results of the years of testing.

"We've found out that many learning problems spring from things like young children not remembering what they see and hear, or not being able to differentiate among the things they are seeing."

Of course any child who couldn't see the difference between two letters, would have trouble with reading, and later with other forms of learning. However, now that these physiological problems have been pinpointed, the Plymouth schools are on their way to solving them.

The new program will be under the direction of Jacobs and Shirley Spaniel, reading Consultant. Jacobs will direct the testing to see which kindergartners could profit from the program. Mrs. Spaniel will plan activities for these children in their classrooms in the fall.

The children will be in a special classroom instead of where they would have to struggle and compete with children who were further ahead in their perceptive skills.

CAN YOU PASS THIS TEST? Jon Jacobs and Mrs. Spaniel look at some of the tests which will help determine if children should be placed in the developmental first grade.

"We're calling this the developmental first grade," explained Mrs. Spaniel, because the children will have a chance to develop the skills which help their learning process. When their teachers feel they are ready they will be moved into the regular first grade."

Also for the first time, children who have minor problems will have the same advantages as those whose problems are more pronounced. By next fall regular first grades will be concentrating more on the auditory and visual skills.

This summer isn't going to be much of a vacation for Mrs. Spaniel. She will be spending many hours developing activities and materials for teachers to use in the developmental first grade, and to a lesser extent in the regular first grade; and finally on a trial basis in two of the kindergartens.

But when she's finished, it'll be all fun and no work for the children, although they will be using such impressive sounding things as a tackscope. This is basically a fancy flash card device to aid children's visual memory.

Playing with puppets doesn't sound like work, but it will be used with children who have a hard time expressing themselves.

Language difficulties will be lessened if the youngsters can speak through the puppets.

Skittapes and records will be used with earphones to develop auditory skills.

All this, according to Mrs. Spaniel and Jacobs, is much better than having the so-called immature child repeat kindergarten where he still might not pick up the skills he needs. Once the children in the developmental first grade improve their learning skills they are to be put in regular first grades.

"Since their problems have nothing to do with intelligence it's very easy for these children to catch up with the other first graders," said Mrs. Spaniel, who is now in the process of meeting with kindergarten parents to discuss the program. She is also hoping to have a booklet ready by late fall for parents, so they can do some of the skill-developing games at home.

Mrs. Skingley Earns Degree at Eastern career was originally interrupted by marriage.

She began to take part time classes in 1961. This year, with only her daughter, Penny, still at home, she went back to school full time. She has just received a grant for graduate study, and will start work on a Master's Degree on Special Education after graduation.

You're Due For More Cash in '80

If you're an average Michigan resident, you'll have about $900 more disposable income in 1980 than you have today. Michigan State University scientists point out that the national economy is expected to reach the trillion dollar level by 1980, enough to provide the population with disposable incomes of $3,000 per capita. This is about $900 greater than in 1962-63.

The Michigan economy is expected to grow at least as rapidly as the national economy, with incomes and wage rates remaining above the U.S. average.

In 1965, say the MSU researchers, wage rates in Michigan were the highest in the nation.

Taylor Honors Bill Cummins

William Cummins, a Taylor University sophomore from Plymouth, has been elected to the school's Student-Faculty Religious Services Committee, according to an announcement from the campus.

The Richard Fritzes have been on the go again. They recently returned from a five day holiday in Puerto Rico.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz are members of and traveled with the Voyagers, a travel club which owns a 90 passenger plane. The group boarded their plane at Willow Run with everyone wearing name tags and became acquainted on the flight.

While in Puerto Rico the Fritzes visited the city of San Juan which is an old Spanish town, El Morro Fort, and El Yanque Rain Forest, which is a national park in the mountains which help to preserve all the original tropical vegetation of the island.

Last week the Fritzes attended the 50th Anniversary of the National Fruit and Syrup Manufacturers Association at the Nevele Hotel in the Catskill Mountains. While there they saw the "Miss New York State Pageant" being televised.

On Sunday afternoon, May 21, Mrs. Lloyd Leach and Mrs. Elden Zang were hostesses for a baby shower given at the home of Mrs. Leach in Woodlore. The shower was for Mrs. Robert Peterson, formerly Miss Ruth Lindsey who taught at Allen School. Twelve Plymouth friends attended the dessert party.

Mrs. Peterson is now the director of Bigelow Dorm for boys at Western State University where she and her husband reside.

Eight Woodlore couples attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Redlin's son, W. Lloyd, to Lorie Deputa, in Jackson, Michigan, on May 20. The wedding was held at the First Presbyterian Church followed by a reception at the Cascade Club House, Miss Lynn Redlin was one of the bridesmaids. Lloyd has finished his second year in medical school in Ann Arbor where the newlyweds will reside. His bride is a teacher at the Willow Run School.

Recently a shower was given for Lorie Deputa by Mrs. Henry Wassman and Mrs. John Van Wagoner at the former's home in Woodlore. It was a staples shower and one of the gifts received was a mop with a painted face called "Twiggy".

Residents of Woodlore are happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bryant home again. The family left here for Clearwater, Florida, to spend Easter vacation. While there Mr. Bryant had unexpected surgery which extended the stay for six weeks. When they returned in May, Mrs. Bryant said "Nothing ever looked better to us than Woodlore."

Several couples from Woodlore attended the "Newcomers Dance" held at Loty's on May 19. A cocktail party preceding the dinner dance was given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacKenzie.

During the past few weeks several bridal showers have been given for Cheryl Parmenter, daughter of the Lawrence Parmenters, of Ridge Road.

TAMPA, Fla.--James E. Lake of Plymouth has been named to the honor roll for the fall semester at the University of Tampa. To earn this distinction, a student must achieve at least a 2.0 average out of a possible 3.0 for the semester. Lake maintained a 2.29 average.

A sophomore, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Lake, 275 Garling Drive. He is a graduate of Plymouth High School and is a psychology major.

Michigan's Farm Total Decreasing

The number of farms in Michigan is expected to be cut in half by 1980, but the percentage of those grossing $20,000 a year or more will increase fivefold, according to Michigan State University agricultural economists.

Census figures show there were 93,000 farms in Michigan in 1964. By 1980, the total is expected to be only 45,000. In 1964, only about 11 percent (just over 10,000) farmers grossed over $20,000 a year. By 1980, the total is expected to reach 25,000 -- 55 percent of the total number of farms.

Best Redford Union in Showdown

Rocks Bag Title Share

Plymouth High's baseball team can do no worse than share the Suburban Six League's 1967 championship.

The Rocks clinched at least a tie for the crown Thursday when they subdued Redford Union, 9-8, in a wild showdown for the top slot.

The two teams had taken the field tied for first. With the win, Plymouth now stands 7-2, while Redford Union holds a 6-3 mark.

All that remains is another head-on clash between Plymouth and RU either next Wednesday or Thursday. A win would give Plymouth the flag outright. RU, by winning, would gain a co-championship.

Nick Darmogray, a seldom-used pinch-hitter, emerged as Plymouth's hero-of-the-day against RU. With the score deadlocked at 8-8, the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the seventh and final inning, Darmogray delivered a game-winning single.

It marked the second time this year, he had delivered in a pinch to win a game.

The expected duel between ace pitchers Dan Camp (Plymouth) and Dale Bjerke (RU) never materialized. Both were tagged fairly hard.

Camp, who on Monday had beaten Allen Park, 2-1, was chased in the fifth inning while Bjerke gave way in a seven-run Plymouth explosion in the fourth.

Redford Union had gone ahead in the third when Lee Bjerke doubled in two runs. Rod Ferguson's triple made it 4-0 in the fourth before Plymouth struck back with seven big ones.

Camp got the Rocks going with a homer. Pat Williams and Dave Prochazka followed with singles. A walk to Mike Cederberg loaded the bases. Then Russ Carlson doubled over two runs. A walk to John Bida and a single by John Gillis re-loaded the bases.

Up came Camp again and this time he doubled the bases clear to give him four RBI's in the inning.

RU retaliated with three runs in the fifth to tie the game on Lee Bjerke's two-run homer, a single by Howe and triple by Kevin Fox. In the seventh, Bjerke homered again to put RU ahead, 8-7.

Then came Plymouth's final turn. Camp began things once more with a single. Walks to Prochazka, Cederberg and Rick Fillmore forced in one run and set the stage for Darmogray's winning belt.

FAST FIELDING — Pitcher Dale Bjerke of Redford Union pounces on bunt by Plymouth's John Bida and fires to first base for the putout. Rocks won thriller, 9-8.

OBSERVER NEWSPAPERS

Bentley Walks Off With Track Title

To the surprise of nobody, Bentley High walked away with the Suburban Six League track championship at Belleville Wednesday night.

The Livonians piled up 96 points to finish far ahead of runnerup Redford Union with 59. Trenton placed third with 40 1/2 and was followed by Plymouth with 22 and Belleville 7 1/2.

It marked the third time, including the last two, in five years that Bentley finished first. On the other two occasions the team was second.

The achievement climaxed the two greatest years in Bentley's track history. During the period the team has lost only one out of 20 dual meets.

The achievement climaxed the two greatest years in Bentley's track history. During the period the team has lost only one out of 20 dual meets.

Starting with a slam of the field events in the afternoon program, Bentley picked up five more victories in the running races held under the lights.

Two league records went by the boards and in another event, being held for the first time, a third mark was established.

Larry Grimm of Bentley cleared 13 feet, one inch for a loop standard in the pole vault, although he fell four inches short of his school record set the week before.

In the 440-yard dash, Belleville's Ken Jackson streaked to a record of 50.4 seconds while Jack Shepherd was clocked in 9:45.2 to become the first loop record holder in the two-mile, which was introduced to prep track in Michigan for the first time this year.

The brilliant duo of Ken Jackson (not related to the Belleville star) and Doug Thomas again paced the Bentley blitz. Jackson roared along to victories in both hurdles while Jackson copped the two dashes and anchored the winning 880-yard relay team.

Mark Formsa (high jump), Rick Dudzinski (long jump) and Larry Miller (shot put) accounted for the other Bentley victories.

All three figured in new school records, although Formsa's mark came in the 440-yard where he placed second in the time of 51.2 seconds.

ON HIS WAY — Ken Jackson, (center) of Bentley clearing final hurdle as he heads for victory in league meet. He beat out Dave Derr (Plymouth) and Fred Howell (Bentley). Jackson triumphed in low as well as high hurdles.

Thrilling Comeback Wins for Falcons

Talk about your sports comebacks! Farmington High pulled one off Wednesday evening to capture the Interlakes Conference track title at Waterford with 108 1/2 points to runnerup Pontiac Northern's 107.

The Falcons had trailed Northern by 20 points after the completion of the four field events. With might in the running events, Farmington chopped away at Pontiac until the final event—the mile relay—was scheduled.

The odds still were against the Falcons. They had to win the relay, while Northern finished no better than fourth in the five-team race. Only then could Farmington annex the title.

Well, Farmington won the relay and in the final 30 yards of the anchor leg, entries from Walled Lake and Stevenson raced past the No. 4 man from Northern to give the title to Farmington.

Here's how Farmington and Stevenson placed in the league meet:

Long Jump: 4 - Brown, (F), 6 - Mastny (S). High Jump: 3 - Detter (S), Tie for fifth - Charles (F).

Pole Vault: 3 - Bush, 5 - Irey (F), 6 - Avis (S). Shot Put: 4 - Detter (S), 5 - Lynott (F), 6 - Simons (G).

Two-Mile: 2 - L. Williams (F). High Hurdles: 2 - LaFevre (F), 3 - Wendall (S), 5 - Sacharski (S).

Mile: 1 - G. Williams (F), 2 - Roth (F), 6 - Reynolds (S). Time: 4:31.5.

880-yard: 1 - Donovan (F), 5 - Gores (S), 6 - Harrison (F). Time: 1:58.3.

440-yard: 1 - Hines (F), 3 - Denny (S), 5 - Choppe (S). Time: 50.8 seconds.

880-yard relay: 1 - Farmington (Attwell, Cornwell, Davis, Brown), 3 - Stevenson. Time: 1:32.8.

Mile relay: 1 - Farmington (Donovan, Cornwell, Shires, Hines), 3 - Stevenson. Time: 3:28.9.

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

Quotable quotes . . . and advice rendered youngsters by sports personages who care:

JOE SCHMIDT, head coach of the Detroit Lions: "Just give 100 per cent all the time. If you do, nobody can holler at you. Remember, too, that in most sports you are part of a team . . . you win and lose together. Suppose you make three touchdowns or ten clean tackles and your team still loses. Don't sit back and gloat that you did your part—that losing was somebody else's fault. You had a part in that defeat. Remember that."

DAVE DILES, sportscaster for WXYZ-TV and radio: "The best advice my mother gave me was to always be a gentleman. This holds true on the sports field, in your school room, in the realm of business . . . in everything. Be a gentleman, first and last. The rest of your battles then will come easier."

BUDDY YOUNG, one-time professional football great: "Nothing is more important, as I see it, than pride . . . pride in yourself. Because if you have pride, you're so apt to do a better job."

DAVE BING, the rookie-of-the-year with the Detroit Pistons: "If you enjoy success, don't go around popping off yourself. It's okay if somebody else praises you in the papers, on radio or TV, at a banquet. But when it comes to you, yourself, don't gloat. You never know how the fortunes of life will take a big turn tomorrow."

It's getaway week for the trotters at the Detroit Race Course in Livonia.

It's been a record-setting series of nights for the Schoolcraft-Middlebelt oval despite the fact the weather hasn't been what it should be for this time of the year.

The gates won't remain closed too long, however, at the DRC. The runners move in there for their long run in late July. Don't be too surprised if the trotting and running seasons in Michigan are extended . . . starting earlier and finishing later!

DON'T FORGET DEPARTMENT: It's "Bat Day" at Tiger Stadium this Sunday. Here's a great way for Little Leaguers to stock up with war clubs for the season and also see one of the most exciting teams in baseball today—meaning the Tigers.

The finals Tuesday night in the Les Anders Memorial Baseball tournament. It'll be a classic game, irrespective of which two teams contest for the championship and the trophy.

The Motorcycle races at the DRC Sunday. Here's a fascinating sport, which doesn't get too much attention in the press, radio, etc.

The first home appearance next Sunday of the Detroit Cougars, as major league, professional soccer comes to the Greater Detroit area for the first time. Home games will be played at the U. of D. Stadium, which has been "dolled up" for the occasion.

You still have a chance to sign up for the various summer bowling leagues which will operate at area establishments. Time was the pin buildings had to shut down when the warmer weather arrived because they had no air conditioning. Not so any more. Now a days bowling alleys are a great place to cool off when the heat strikes.

Who Needs A Forfeit?

There were no umpires present for Bentley High's baseball game with Trenton Thursday. So host Trenton announced it would forfeit the proceedings to Bentley.

But the coaches agreed to play a scrimmage game and Bentley won again, this time by a 4-3 score as Ed Ryan popped a pair of homers.

It was Bentley's second win of the week, following on the heels of an 11-3 romp over Belleville.

Dave Gorton coasted along on the mound and received his major hitting support from Bill McAlpine and Ed Ryan. Each slapped out two hits while McAlpine knocked in three runs.

Franklin, Raiders Lag

Strength in the shorter races enabled Birmingham Groves to carry off the Northwest Suburban League track championship at Bentley Wednesday night.

Groves amassed 57 points to Thurston's 48 and Glenn's 43 while Franklin scored 41, North Farmington 22 and Oak Park lagged far back with 12.

Thurston had shared the title with Groves last season.

Bob Anderson's wins in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and Ron Middlecott's fine effort of 49.7 seconds to capture the 440-yard run paced the night's festivities for Groves.

Anderson was one of three double winners. The others were Jerry Wright and Wayne Holman, both of Glenn. Wright captured the two hurdles while Holman won the high jump and then captured the pole vault with an excellent leap of 12 feet, 3 inches.

A foreign entry also emerged as one of the champs. Ross Smith, North Farmington's exchange student from Australia, won the long jump, soaring 20 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Smith also was fifth in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

North Farmington had one other winner in Bill Johnesse who fired the shot put 51 feet, 10 inches.

Franklin, in taking fourth place, came up with two victors. Dave Collins triumphed in the half mile in 1:58.6, a new school record. The Franklin mile relay also crossed the finish line out in front.

Franklin's Bob Gajda also posted a school mark of 49 feet, 11 1/4 inches, by placing third in the shot put.

Finals on Tuesday In Anders Meet

The third annual Les Anders baseball tournament comes to a close with the semi-finals Monday and the finals Tuesday at Henry Ford Field on Farmington Road in Livonia.

Play Saturday was to settle the four qualifiers for the "semis" with play to begin at 6 p.m.

Tuesday's championship contest is set for 8 p.m. and will be preceded by a consolation game for third place.

A new champion is assured. Thurston, winner a year ago, was knocked out in the first round. So was Franklin, the first victor in the Anders' tourney in 1965.

The meet is jointly sponsored by the Livonia Recreation Dept., the Livonia Optimist Club and the Observer newspaper group.

Admission will be free for both Monday and Tuesday games.

Farmington Picks Coach

Appointment of John Line-man as new basketball coach at Farmington high school has been announced.

Lineman, who has compiled a record of 71 wins against 18 losses during the last four years at South Haven High, will replace Jack Quiggle, the Falcons' head basketball mentor for six seasons.

Quiggle is leaving Farmington at the close of the current school year to take a new assignment in Upper New York State.

Lineman is rated as one of the brightest of the young cage coaches on the Michigan prep scene. His teams have reached the state Class B finals in two of the last three years.

South Haven was rated No. 1 in "B" during the 1966-67 season.

The new Farmington mentor was graduated from South Lake High in St. Clair Shores and attended Asbury College in Kentucky and Western Michigan University.

The return to the Farmington High faculty of Richard Tyler to assist Bob Misteale in football and coach baseball also has been announced.

Misteale will give up his baseball duties next year.

Falcons 'Net' Share Of Crown

Farmington High's tennis team has extended its title parade in the Interlakes Conference.

By beating Pontiac Northern, 4-3, and then Walled Lake, 5-2, the Falcons finished the season deadlocked with Waterford for the crown. Each has a 7-1 record.

It's the third straight year Farmington has won or shared the title.

In the clincher against Walled Lake, Craig Anderson and Bob Brown triumphed for Farmington in the singles while Rick Seeburger-Bill Bliss, Howard Broadman-Jim Atkinson and Dave McDonald-Don Currier gave the Falcons a sweep in the doubles.

Something New For Track

Something new in track meets will be staged next Wednesday at Belleville High School.

The Suburban Six and Northwest Suburban Leagues will stage a head-on battle with the first three finishers from their respective meets battling away for honors.

Club Officers Like Leaders Of Symphony

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles on suburbanites and clubs, based on our correspondent's attendance at the recent day-long Program Planning Institute in Detroit.)

By NATALIE SHIRLEY
Special Writer

In the make-up of a typical club, there are four main officers—the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

There was an analogy made by Mrs. Harold Davison, a speaker at the Program Planning Institute in Detroit: ".....Officers in a club are not unlike the composition of a symphony orchestra."

"THE PRESIDENT (or chairman) has the position on the podium as conductor. He knows the full score. With his (or her) overall knowledge of club purpose, its by-laws, and all duties, he coordinates the organization to its fullest capacity."

He presides. He conducts. It is not the president's duty to DO everything, but he must give direction and be aware and fully informed on what and how all other officers are performing.

"THE VICE-PRESIDENT is like a concert-master." He, also, must know the score, never knowing when he must take over.

This office is, unfortunately, thought of as just an honorary office. Never accept a position with this thought in mind.

In the role of "understudy to the president," the vice-president should also be completely aware of the constitution or by-laws of your club and be ready to take over in the absence of the president. The officer in charge should at all times work hand-in-hand with the vice-president, keeping him in the know.

THE SECRETARY—"conducts the business of the orchestra". The prime essentials of a good secretary are promptness, accuracy and, again, thorough knowledge of the rules of your club.

Many organizations provide for two—a recording secretary and a corresponding secretary.

The recording secretary keeps an accurate record, or minutes, of all business transacted at all meetings of the club. The corresponding secretary will write letters at the direction of the president, reflecting the official "voice" of the organization to the public and keeps files of all letters received.

Some groups prefer only one secretary—that officer carries the total responsibilities of this position.

THE TREASURER: "Just as the symphony orchestra needs a financial manager to function well", your club treasurer will act in this capacity. The treasurer not only pays the bills, but keeps records of all funds received and advises the officer and membership of monies available.

The treasurer should have a cash book. These books, or ledgers can be purchased at any department or variety store. They are not difficult to keep, and a knowledge of technical bookkeeping is not necessary.

If your club is large and has an extensive outlay or income, it might be wise to inquire about bonding the treasurer. The "holder of the purse strings" has the job of taking care of other people's money and this is no little responsibility, be it a group with a bank balance of one dollar or one million.

GOOD OFFICERS, like the composition of an excellent orchestra, will bring out the many talents of all. Under their direction, everyone will perform better.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Butler, of Haslett, Mich., and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Eileen Lachapelle, of Farmington, and William Clark, of Detroit.

A reception at the Haslett Community Church in Haslett followed the nuptial mass.

Mrs. Thomas Fuller, of Lansing, was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Marilyn Bissonnette, of Farmington, and Mrs. Dale Dailey, of Lansing.

Assisting the bridegroom were Philip McKenna, of Detroit, as best man, Richard Roy, of Huntington Woods, Joe Nespodgany, of Portage, Mich., and Lowell Brown, of Detroit.

Both newlyweds are graduates of Central Michigan College, where the bridegroom was a member of Sigma Tau Gamma. After a Chicago honeymoon, they plan to live in Detroit.

MARY MARGARET PIACH

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Piach, of Fry Road, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to SP/4 Arthur V. Fulton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Fulton Sr., of Park Lane, Plymouth. The bridegroom-elect is stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., with the 101st Airborne Division of the U.S. Army. No wedding date has been set.

JUDY WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Ray White, of Farmington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy Lee, to Terry Lee Belvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Belvin, of Brighton. Both are students at Eastern Michigan University. A September wedding is planned.

Farmington Couple Exchanges Vows

In a candlelight, double ring ceremony, Sue Ann Scott became the bride of Michael Matthews, May 6 in the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, Detroit.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Scott, of Wayburn Road, Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. V.S. Matthews, of Graythorne Avenue, Farmington.

Following a reception in the church parlors, the couple remained in Detroit a few days and then traveled to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where the groom is a private in the United States Army.

The bride wore a floor length lace-trimmed gown of silk linen topped by a long coat which carried the Chapel length train. She carried a bouquet of Spider mums.

Mary Lou Clapper, of Farmington, was maid of honor. Sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. James Scott, of Livonia, Karen Schultz, Farmington, and Deborah Konkle, Detroit, were the other attendants.

Best man duties were carried out by Michael Kowalski, of Farmington. James Scott, of Livonia, brother of the bride, Gerald Steadman of Union Lake, and Steve Paski, Farmington, seated the guests.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from North Farmington High School.

Perennials: Blooms All Season

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

A garden filled all season with colorful blooms that requires no work is the dream of all gardeners. Although it's impossible to ever fulfill this dream, a well-planned perennial garden comes as close to this as is possible.

Perennials are plants that live for many years and come up again each spring, with the clumps growing bigger and the flowers more plentiful.

If the plants are carefully chosen and skillfully arranged the garden has the effect of continuous mass bloom. This is an illusion, because many plants are at different stages of development.

It is like a game of chess. The strategy must be planned in advance so that the right piece is in the right place at the right time.

FOR THE MOST dependable and effortless display, choose a few hardy varieties that bloom at different times and use them as the "backbone" or framework of the garden.

Iris, daylilies, oriental poppies, and phlox would be good for "backbone" plants. Plant large clumps throughout the garden bed, filling in between with other perennials.

The most dramatic display is achieved when the plants have a backdrop of a wall, fence or hedge. If the bed has a background and is to be viewed from only one side, put tall growing plants at the rear; use medium sized ones in the middle and use low plants for a ribbon-like front edge.

If the bed is viewed from two or more sides the taller plants should be in the center with shorter plants surrounding them. Plant in clumps and drifts and not in stiff lines and follow the rule about height loosely, bringing a few taller plants into the middle of the bed for a more informal, graceful effect.

ONE SECRET of a beautiful perennial bed is repetition.

Group two or three plants of a "backbone" variety to make a sizable clump and repeat the clumps at intervals throughout the bed to create rhythm and continuity.

The plants that fill in between the major clumps should not only enhance the color scheme, but should be chosen because of complementary texture and tone of foliage.

In early spring, the beds could be gay with tulips and daffodils enhanced by clumps of white candytuft, yellow perennial alyssum, blue phlox, violas and/or get-me-nots.

As spring progresses, iris take over with their stiff sword-like foliage and elegant large blooms in delicate or strong colors.

Oriental poppies bloom with an unrivaled brilliance and contrast with the early lemon day-lilies. Blue baptisia and colorful lupines, both members of the pea family, flower next along with dainty columbine and spicy scented pinks and sweet william.

JULY FINDS the perennial garden at the height of its glory with tall spikes of blue delphinium the stellar attraction.

Madonna lilies or regal lilies are the classical combination, with their waxy white trumpets setting off the blue of the delphinium. A few clumps of orange lilies such as Enchantment will really make the garden sparkle.

Daylilies are among the easiest flowers to grow but are unrivaled for graceful foliage and elegant blooms. They come in a variety of shades from pale cream to yellow, apricot and deep orange and maroon.

Shasta daisies come into bloom in mid-July. Their clean white and yellow color looks fresh and complements other brighter colors.

Although May is the favored month for transplanting perennials, most can be moved with care at any time during the growing season. Container grown stock can be purchased and planted at any time during the season to create an instant garden or to fill in bare spots that develop in an established perennial garden.

BIG PRODUCER
The atomic power plant of the future—the fast breeder reactor, of which Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant is the world's largest—will actually produce more nuclear fuel than it consumes, according to Detroit Edison's Public Information Department.

RATES CUT
Detroit Edison instituted rate reductions of $3.7 million annually in 1964, $4.5 million annually in 1965, and the most recent, announced in April of this year, a $7.23 million promotional rate reduction, $3.73 million of which will continue on the annual basis.

More Industry Going Up

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP has the biggest construction project going in westurbia — a $5.5 million Ford Motor Co. plant on Sheldon Road south of Five Mile Road. With 645,000 square feet of space, it will employ an estimated 500 persons.

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP'S industrial park in the southwest section near the intersection of I-96 and I-696 is the site of the recently-completed HML Industries, Inc. plant. Employing about 75, HML, formed last year, is a manufacturer of commercial transfer, stock control and other redistribution equipment.

LIVONIA IS the site of a $1 million Hercules Cold Drawn Steel Corp. plant that will employ about 40 persons when completed about the first of 1968. It's located on Amrhein Road east of Eckles Road in the city's industrial belt. A Toledo-based firm, it is moving to Livonia from a Detroit plant.

Road Engineers Push 8 Projects

The Oakland and Wayne County Road Commissions have eight projects proposed for construction during 1967 in the Observer Newspaper Group circulation area.

This was the report of the county engineers at the Inter-County Highway Commission of Southeastern Michigan ninth annual highway construction meeting. Department heads from Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne presented their proposed highway construction plans for 1967 and reported on continuing and completed 1966 projects.

The Michigan State Highway Department also reported on its proposed programs for the six southeastern Michigan counties.

The major item slated by the state in the area is in Livonia, where it plans to widen Plymouth Road from four to five lanes for a distance of 4.8 miles from Inkster Road to Ann Arbor Road in the city.

It was this project that almost brought a bitter battle between the Livonia City Council and the State Highway Department. It was finally resolved when each gave a bit and the widening of Plymouth Road agreed to by the state.

Projects proposed by the Wayne County Road Commission include re-construction of Sheldon Road from the

Congressmen Hit School Aid Bill

Both Republican congressmen from this area have announced their support of the so-called Quie Amendment to the federal school aid bill.

Reps. Jack McDonald of the 19th District and Marvin Esch of the 2nd District attacked the bill's aid formula.

McDonald said the amendment, named for Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., would provide Michigan $15 million more than the administration-sponsored aid bill.

Esch, of Ann Arbor, said that under the administration bill, "Michigan schools this year have 161,620 children . . . for which they will be allotted $40.2 million; for the same number of children in New York, the state would receive $63.5 million."

He, too, said the Quie amendment would raise Michigan's share of the federal aid.

Programmed Baggage Cart Readied Here

A few years from now, when the new supersonic transport jets start carrying upwards of 500 passengers across the nation, and current airport facilities are taxed by the greatly increased passenger volume, new measures will have to be taken to cope with the problem.

In Farmington Township's Industrial Park, a four-year-old corporation that has just moved into its new, 18,000 sq. ft. plant, is taking steps to ease at least part of the airlines' dilemma.

Headed by Thomas A. Murphy, a 31-year-old executive with a keen sense of direction in the ever-expanding travel-service industry, the Teletrans Corp. is currently developing a revolutionary inter-terminal baggage transport system to serve the industry's mushrooming needs.

Teletrans' system, presently under prototype development at the Farmington plant with $100,000 backing by the Air Transport Association, an industry-wide association of 37 domestic airlines, is centered around a complex scheme of electronic baggage delivery via programmed carts in a maze of pickup and discharge stations and connecting tracks.

Teletrans, which located in Farmington because of the area's centrality to the homes of the firm's employees, expects the prototype system to be completed in mid-June. And, thus far, the system is working exactly as was planned on paper.

"Whenever someone develops an innovation like ours," Murphy states, "there are people who remain cynically skeptical of its workability. It's gratifying to see that our innovation works."

And should the ATA be satisfied with the final Teletrans prototype, it should work out well financially, too, for the fledgling firm. Some estimates as to eventual billings for a fully-accepted program go as high as $50,000,000.

This is how the Teletrans plan will solve that problem:

Passenger baggage would be turned over to the airline at any one of a number of airport wide check-in areas, such as parking lots, rampside sidewalks or ticket counters. The luggage—up to two suitcases or 75 pounds per passenger—would be placed on a cart, the cart's memory unit would be given flight number and destination and the carrier would scoot off along a safe, electro-magnetic track to a terminal collection spot. All baggage for one particular flight would be loaded on that plane after being deployed at the collection center.

When the plane arrives at its destination, baggage would be reloaded on the carts and delivered to purchased selected stations throughout the airport.

The system, which would be able to carry 99.4 per cent of all airline baggage, would not be able to be constructed at U.S. airports until mid-1968 due to architectural problems and approval of airline financing. Cost estimates come to approximately $1,000,000 per mile of track. Each cart would cost about $125.

Franklin Rules as King Falcons Rally for Victory

Franklin high has regained the baseball throne in the Northwest Suburban League. After missing out last season in a bid repeat as kingspin, Franklin wrapped up the 1967 pennant Monday with a 6-4 victory over Oak Park.

and Save Stott of Franklin combined to pitch a no-hitter, only to lose on walks and errors. As a result Franklin finished the league campaign with an 8-2 record and the season with an overall 8-7 mark. "We put all the emphasis on winning in the league when we felt it counted the most," said coach John Hartsig of Franklin.

Clutch relief pitching of Chris Wendrick, Franklin's season-long mound ace, helped to save the day against Oak Park and salt away the flag. Wendrick took over in the sixth inning after Rick Mack had worked three frames and Fred Davies two and allowed only an unearned marker the rest of the way.

The strikeout was the big item as Farmington High's baseball team rallied for a 4-3 victory over Pontiac Northern to kill Northern's fleeting hopes for a share of the Interlakes League title.

Splurge Pays Off At End

A big finish marked the end of the line for Our Lady of Sorrows' baseball team in the Catholic League this season. Tied at 1-1 with St. Cecilia, Sorrows pumped over three runs in the seventh and final inning to gain a 4-1 victory, a 5-5 record in the final divisional standings. Once more it was Greg Main who came through with stellar pitching effort for Sorrows. This time he relieved with one out in the second inning and struck out 10, walked three and allowed only two hits the rest of the way. He had replaced Bob Theisen after St. Cecilia had loaded the bases and scored a run. Main then fanned the next two batters. A homer by Chuck Theisen on a drive that cleared the fence at Littlefield playground in Detroit tied the score in the fourth.

Raiders Split in Finales

A 7-6 victory over John Glenn and a 10-0 bombing at the expense of Groves ended the Northwest League baseball chase for North Farmington high. The pitching of Mike McCoy and the bat of Hub Copp sparked for North Farmington against Glenn. But in the Groves' encounter, the Raiders were held to five scattered hits as Groves enjoyed a slugfest. Glenn jumped off to a 3-0 lead against North Farmington with four straight singles in the first inning. Glenn then added three more runs in the third on two hits, a walk and three errors. North Farmington cut loose for five runs in the third on singles by Rick Scott, Jeff Werner and Norm De Courcy, a homer by Copp and two walks and two errors.

Meantime, Franklin made the most of six hits, turning them into as many runs. In the first inning, Bill Helstein's double and Mike Cox' single got Franklin off on the right foot. Ron Salhaney doubled and walked home on Steve Atkinson's triple in the second. Four runs in the fifth inning sewed up the proceedings. Atkinson walked and Davies was hit by a pitch. A sacrifice moved them up a base and they strolled in on a double by Helstein. After Cox walked, Salhaney delivered a two-run hit to finish the Franklin scoring. Glenn wasn't able to get the ball out of the infield against the deliveries of Paden and Stott. The former went five innings and Stott the final two. Both the Glenn runs were scored in the fourth inning. Three walks jammed the sacks. Then a double play eased the pressure. And still there was no score.

Thereafter Wolfman never was in serious trouble the rest of the way. Farmington rebounded with two runs in the first when Rick Norton walked, Al Kilka tripled and Jerry Tinkle singled. In the third a single by Wolfman, a triple by Mike Thompson and an error by the catcher trying to tag out Thompson led to the final tallies of the afternoon. The Farmington season ends next Wednesday afternoon against North Farmington.

Brothers Set Track Pace

With the Christopher brothers, Mike and Mark, leading the way, Our Lady of Sorrows' track team cruised past Wayne St. Mary's, 70-48, in the final dual meet of the season. It was the last tuneup for Sorrows before next Monday's Second Division championships are decided at Brother Rice stadium in Birmingham at 1 p.m. Mike won three events--the high jump, long jump and the low hurdles, with respective efforts of 5-4, 18-1 and 22.2. Mark copped the 100 and 220-yard dashes in 11.2 and 25.1 seconds, respectively.

It's 50-50 Season for Stevenson

The 1967 Interlakes League season ended on a 50-50 point for Stevenson high. The team without a senior won four and lost four in the league. A chance for a winning record went out the window Monday when Stevenson was blanked by Waterford, 6-0, a victory which also gave Waterford the outright league crown. John Hill came within an eyelash of hurling a no-hitter for the winners. A scratch single by John Kladyk on an infield tap was the lone safety Stevenson could fashion during the afternoon.

But another walk and a wild throw opened the gates for Glenn to cash two markers which was all that Kerry Webb needed as he held Franklin to two hits, singles by Larry Prentiss and Helstein, which netted the losers their only run.

Thurston's Day

It was Thurston 164, North Farmington 177 and Franklin 187 in a triangular golf meet as the teams prepared for the league meet at Burroughs next Friday. Ron Higgins with a 40 was low for Franklin.
