Horton to replace Law; trustees argue timing

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

In an unexpected move Tuesday night, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees appointed Smith B. Horton to fill the trustee seat vacated by State Rep. Gerald Law.

Township Supervisor Maurice Breen earlier had said the appointment was scheduled for the board's Jan. 11 meeting. Law's resignation and the subsequent appointment was a late addition to the meeting's agenda.

The addition to the agenda met with opposition from Trustee Lee Fidge, who voted no on the agenda amendment and Horton's appointment. Fidge left the meeting following a heated cross fire with Trustee Andrew Pruner.

Horton, 44555 Governor Bradford, was appointed to fill Law's remaining two-year term by a vote of 5-to-1.

Horton, a member of the township planning commission for more than 13 years, said he was surprised by the appointment and is looking forward to working on the township board.

"I don't have any special ax to grind. I am interested in good government, at a reasonable cost," he said after the meeting.

HIS EXPERIENCE includes being a member and past president of the Plymouth Community Family YMCA Board of Directors, serving on the township Zoning Board of Appeals, and president of the Riverside Neighborhood Improvement Association.

Horton, who holds a master's degree in governmental administration, also has served on several school committees.

His school work included: chairman of the School Population Committee, Citizens Advisory Committee, school elections committees, and work as a school key communicator.

A swearing-in ceremony, both for Law as state representative and Horton as trustee, is tentatively being planned for Jan. 10, according to Breen.

The board accepted Law's resignation "with regret," and planned for a signed resolution to that effect.

Following Breen's recommendation, Trustee Barbara Lynch moved for Horton's appointment. Pruner seconded the motion and Breen opened the floor for discussion.

FIDGE SAID she resented Breen's admission to the Observer that he had asked all but one trustee (herself) to submit names to fill the trustee seat. Such action hinted of non-compliance with Michigan's Open Meetings Act, she said.

Basing her comments on the Jan. 3 article, she said the decision to recommend Horton was made in "private deliberations."

"This is a disservice to the other board members and the public," Fidge said.

Fidge said she came to the meeting and found the appointment had been added to the agenda and she was without background information.

Plymouth firefighters, answering the call in one minute, battled a fire at the Old Village Inn for more than 3½ hours last night.

One person found dead

Fire destroys Old Village Inn

By Dennis O'Connor
staff writer

At least one man is dead after a fire totally gutted the inside of the Old Village Inn (formerly called the Nelson Hotel) on Mill, north of Liberty, in the city of Plymouth last night.

Cause of the blaze, total damage and identification of the dead body remained unknown after firefighters battled the fire for more than 3½ hours.

Further investigation began at 8 a.m. today, according to city of Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall. Fire officials hope to identify the dead person sometime this afternoon.

"I'm really not going to say if that's the only one (body) until we make a thorough search of the place," Hall said late last night. "If you could see the layers of debris in there, you'd see why it's hard to tell you anything."

"It's pretty much gutted."

The Old Village Inn was the scene of another fatality in August, 1981, when Plymouth resident Stacy Hurdelbrink was murdered in the basement of the hotel.

See Monday's Plymouth Observer for more details on the fire.

City of Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall gives details of the fire to WXYZ-TV reporter Bill Proctor.

PLYMOUTH FIREFIGHTERS answered the call within one minute at 6:28, Hall said. More than 50 men, including support units from Plymouth Township and Northville Township, battled the blaze for more than 3½ hours.

Although some fire officials stayed at the scene well into Thursday morning, most of the area was cleared by 10 p.m. About 100 residents stood along Mill in front of hotel waiting to see if anyone was trapped in the blaze.

Officials requested a medical examiner shortly after 9, indicating a possible fatality. A charred body was wheeled out from the rear of the building at 9:55.

The building's outside structure remained standing, but the inside of the hotel — at all levels — were heavily damaged, fire officials said.

Delmore honored

Sarah J. Delmore of Plymouth has been named Outstanding Public Servant of the Year by the Plymouth Jaycees.

Delmore assists senior citizens in the city of Plymouth and in Plymouth Township by serving in the role of executive director of the Plymouth Community Council on Aging.

In that role she is responsible for the implementation of the senior citizen discount program, Vial of Life program, and senior citizens leaf raking assistance program among others.

A member of a family of nine, she was born and raised in Alameda, Calif. She graduated from Encinal High School in 1968 with honors, receiving a college scholarship.

Delmore's father died in 1967 when she was a teen-ager, and she had to drop out of school to assist her family. She returned to school to have her scholarship reinstated. She graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in theater in 1976 from San Francisco State University.

In December 1980 Delmore moved from Alameda to Plymouth because of a job commitment at the Detroit Renaissance Center Theatre as its theater manager.

She is a member and officer of Plymouth Grange 389 (active in marigold sale of Plymouth Fall Festival), a member of National Organization for Women (NOW) serving on its public relations committee for the Plymouth-Canton area, a member of Plymouth Goodfellows, a member of the citizens committee for the Plymouth Farmers Market, and a member of the Plymouth Citizens Advisory Council for Block Grants.

Speaking of Delmore's service as executive director for the Council on Aging, Walter N. Fletcher, president of the Council on Aging, said "Her mannerism and personality has inspired confidence among the elderly of the Plymouth community. This has enhanced the image of the Council on Aging."

"Her public service goes beyond the perimeter of office hours, having been involved in many community events she constantly volunteers her time, not only helping seniors but others."

Janine top teen

Lori Janine Carpenter has been honored with the title Outstanding Teen of the Year by the Plymouth Jaycees.

Carpenter will be honored at a Recognition Night Jan. 14 by the Plymouth Jaycees in the Jacob Room of the Hillside Inn. She is the daughter of Barbara Carpenter of Plymouth who was named woman of the year in 1982 by Plymouth Business and Professional Women.

Now a senior at Plymouth Canton High, she became active in sports and class functions while a student at Central Middle School.

At Central Middle she was on the softball and volleyball teams for two consecutive years while maintaining a "B" average. She also was a cheerleader and for three years was a member of the band, playing flute and piccolo. She also put in extra hours as a referee for the extra-intramural sports program at Central.

Carpenter was picked as a softball coach for two years by the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association for whom she coached 7-9-year-old girls. She also served as an assistant coach for a boys' basketball team for the city — a family affair for the Carpenters for the past eight years.

She also has been active with Junior Basketball for which she has refereed for four years.

After enrolling in Canton High, she earned a spot on the basketball and softball teams and volunteered to be statistician for the boys' basketball squad.

She also has been very active with her church — singing in the choir, and visiting nursing homes. She has participated in a Bike-A-Thon for Diabetes for two consecutive years, and has collected funds for Muscular Dystrophy, the Michigan Heart Association, and for Easter Seals.

During her high-school years she has earned numerous honors, including: Plymouth Elks first-place winner of the free throw contest, 1979; referee of the year award, 1981-82, and all-league pitcher in 1982.

She has been accepted at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant for the fall term.

Board considers closing 2 schools

By Dennis O'Connor
staff writer

Plymouth-Canton school officials are discussing the possibility of closing two elementary schools before the start of the 1984-85 school year.

Declining enrollment in the Starkweather and Tanger attendance areas may lead to closing both elementary-school buildings, officials said.

No school buildings ever have been closed in the district. Plymouth-Canton board members probably will make formal decisions on this issue before June of this year.

Board action will be based on future housing policies and grade configurations at elementary, middle and high-school levels. Housing guidelines were initially discussed with the Elementary Housing Committee at a board workshop Monday night. More informational meetings will take place in the next few months, as administration continues to project the district's future enrollment status.

Mike Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, told the board that decisions on closing Starkweather and/or Tanger should be made as quickly as possible to give residents at least one year to prepare for building reassignments.

"I think the quicker you go on record and let the public know when you are closing, the less flak you will have around you," Homes said.

Many Starkweather parents are upset about the school's possible closing, according to principal John Howe.

THE HOUSING COMMITTEE, comprised of five elementary principals and elementary education director Shirley Spaniel, shared different housing ideas with the board Monday night.

Upon the committee's analysis, the board learned that all Starkweather students could be housed in Allen, Bird and Smith elementaries beginning in 1984-85. Starkweather, the district's oldest school, is in Old Village, on Holbrook, in the city of Plymouth.

Most Tanger students could attend nearby Farrand, in Lake Pointe Village, Plymouth Township, beginning in 1984-85, the report said. Tanger is on Five Mile, west of Haggerty, in Northville Township. Students now attending Tanger from the Honeytree apartment complex, Canton, could be housed in Fiegel, across the street from the complex.

Board selects Horton for empty trustee seat

"be part of the group or get your hands slapped," she said.

Clerk Esther Hulsing and Breen denied that there were any private deliberations or closed meetings.

The newspaper article reported the supervisor had asked for names to be submitted, not that there had been private meetings, Breen said.

ASKED WHY he didn't ask Fidge for names, Breen said, "Why? Because she knew about it."

During the roll call vote on Horton's appointment Fidge voted no.

"No — because of the principles involved with the way it was handled," she said.

Pruner laughed and said, "Principles, sh — t!"

The township board happens to have a history of such action "if you read the front pages," Fidge replied.

"You're always on the front pages," said Pruner.

Fidge then proceeded to put her coat on and walk out of the meeting.

"Have a nice day," Pruner said. Fidge replied, "I will."

Speaking to Horton, who was seated in the audience, Breen said, "I'm sorry it had to be this way."

AFTER THE meeting, Breen said the resignation and appointment were added to the agenda "to get it taken care of."

Horton was selected for recommendation after consideration of five persons who sent a letter expressing their interest in the seat or were considered by township officials, Breen said.

The other five people to be considered were: Harry Stearnes, who unsuccessfully ran for Wayne County Executive last year; Alan Barrett, an appointee to the township cable committee; Albert Calille, who unsuccessfully ran for trustee in 1980; Don Skinner, another unsuccessful 1980 trustee candidate; and John Goulet, a former Wayne County Road Commission executive and township planner.

Lucas pledges leadership at inaugural gala

By Tim Richard
staff writer

His official oath taken Saturday, William Lucas made Monday highly ceremonial as he sought to impress on the Wayne County power structure the idea that someone is finally in charge of the sprawling bureaucracy and its red-ink budget.

"It is sobering, it is exciting, it is historic," said the new county executive Monday evening in Livonia at one of his two inaugural balls.

The day was designed to be impressive, not because Lucas likes parties but because the pomp drove home the first Wayne County executive's message:

"The past system . . . was responsive to the desires and influence of special interest groups and power brokers . . . Many of the special interest groups will try to divide these good people (the new 15-member board of commissioners, sworn in with him). "I will bring into my administration people pledged to serve only you."

AMIDST THE ceremonial trappings, the Lucas administration made these announcements:

• Three county agencies which formerly reported to the old Board of Commissioners were eliminated by executive order — the Civil Service Commission, the Board of Institutions and the Labor Relations Board. That appeared to signal the firing of John Barr, controversial former county commissioner from Dearborn Heights who headed Civil Service.

• Former state Sen. David Plawacki, of Dearborn Heights, who ran a respectable third in the 1982 gubernatorial primary, will be in charge of legislative liaison with Congress, the Michigan Legislature and the county Board of Commissioners.

• Beating the charter deadline by 90 days, Lucas on Jan. 1 submitted his reorganization plan to Clerk James Killeen for presentation to the Board of Commissioners.

An unconfirmed report said Lucas would demote Public Works Director Royce Smith to assistant, replacing him with Duane Egeland, deputy director for engineering. The report gained credence when Egeland, a serious-minded engineer, showed up at the inaugural ball. Egeland, of Livonia, is best known as the DPW's driving force behind "super sewer," the Huron Valley wastewater treatment project.

Master of ceremonies at the suburban ball, in Roma Hall, was Loren Pittman, who introduced himself to cheers as "your new sheriff." Lucas announced his appointment of Pittman as his successor as sheriff, though other county officials are contesting it.

THE BALL was attended by Lucas supporters, many officials of southwestern Wayne County communities, a handful of northwestern Wayne officials and large groups from Local 502 — the deputies union which, when Lucas was sheriff, joined him to battle layoffs ordered by the county board.

There was even a scattering of Republicans — Commissioner Mary Dumas of Livonia, township Supervisors James Poole of Canton, Maurice Breen of Plymouth and John McDonald of Northville.

Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara, who ran second to Lucas in the 1982 Democratic primary, didn't show, but his campaign mahager, Garden City Mayor Vincent Fordell, did.

The program listed as one of 70 honorary "executive chairpersons" hosting the party a sometime McNamara nemesis — Livonia Treasurer Elaine Tuttle.

Other newly inaugurated county commissioners who attended: Richard Manning, D-Redford, Milton Mack, D-Wayne, and Kay Beard, D-Inkster.

The Lucases made the rounds of tables with commissioners Kay Beard (dark dress), D-Inkster, and Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, whose white outfit was the talk of the ball.

The hall was set up for 600 persons which, at $25 a ticket, would have yielded $15,000. The event was run at cost, according to a Lucas staffer. It included cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, a fruit and sweet table, a dance band and strolling gypsy musicians.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas arrived by limousine at 8:15, about 75 minutes behind schedule, personally greeted everyone, then departed for a downtown ball in the Book Cadillac Hotel.

HIS DAY began with mass in the old St. Mary's Catholic Church in Detroit's Greektown neighborhood. A $10 prayer breakfast in Cobo Hall was followed by the ceremonial inaugural.

That was held on the steps of the historic old County Building — a symbol of the county's heritage and a goal of those who seek renovation of a solid structure.

The Osborne High School Band from Detroit entertained with rock and jazz selections, shivering in the cold wind from the Detroit River as the Lucas entourage arrived 35 minutes behind schedule.

The invocation was delivered by the executive's brother, the Rev. Lawrence Lucas of Resurrection Parish in New York City's Harlem district, where the Lucases were born. Father Lucas's prayer emphasized Executive Lucas's campaign themes: judging questions on "rightness and wrongness rather than political needs, concern for the poor, the oppressed, the homeless, the elderly."

In contrast to Lucas's nonpartisan "togetherness" theme, the mistress of ceremonies, Democratic Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths, called Lucas "the Democratic answer to Ronald Reagan," adding: "But our star has sense as well as good looks."

BEFORE DEPARTING for a $250-a-head luncheon in the Renaissance Center, Lucas delivered a short inaugural address with a tone of reform and public service.

He praised the "thousands of hours" spent by the Charter Commission, civic, religious and labor organizations to educate people that "change is needed — not cosmetic change but real change."

He held out an olive branch to lower cities and townships that he wants "cooperation" rather than domination.

His favorite word, appearing four times, was "together."

First priority will be to reorganizing county administration to balance the budget. After that:

"We must take steps to bring Wayne County into the computer age with state of the art technology."

"We must make difficult and critical decisions regarding the operation of Wayne County General Hospital and the D.J. Healy Home."

"I will give every bit of myself to serve you well."

By day, Barbara Godre of Plymouth Township works on Lucas' transition team and is concerned with Wayne County General Hospital and the D.J. Healy Home; at the inaugural ball, she and husband John were all smiles with the new county executive.

Master of ceremonies Loren Pittman (center), introducing himself as "sheriff" to loud applause, presents his former boss and Mrs. Lucas to a crowd of about 400 before their departure to the downtown Detroit inaugural ball.

Last charges before construction

Township approves final 'Super Sewer' planning costs

By Ariene Funke and Gary M. Cates staff writers

Plymouth Township officials Tuesday night approved additional funding for the planning of the "Super Sewer" project.

The action followed a 3-3 deadlock vote at a special meeting in December.

Although the board approved an additional $31,380 in development financing costs this week, Supervisor Maurice Breen said, "This is not a final decision on the project."

He told the board members they were only voting on the plan development costs.

Super Sewer — officially known as the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System — is a massive $212 million project encompassing more than 15 communities in the western and down-river suburbs.

THE PROJECT, to be jointly funded by the state and federal governments and participating communities, has been in the works since the 1960s.

Tuesday night's action brought Plymouth Township's share of the development costs to some $128,000, which is expected to be repaid if the township decides to participate in the construction and use of the project. There is doubt whether costs will be repaid if the township does not enter the project.

"Presumably we would get this money back, or a portion of it, if we opted out," said Breen.

The approved funds are part of the Final Interim Financing Agreement for the project, and are expected to be the final development costs before actual construction of the system.

State officials apparently are pushing to get the project started. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has set a May 1 deadline for the project's grant applications to be filed, according to officials involved with the project.

The Super Sewer plan is designed to reduce water pollution in Lake Erie and the Detroit River, and to provide sanitary sewer capacity for the suburbs.

THE FEDERAL government is slated to pay 75 percent of the cost and the state 5 percent under the plan. Participating communities are to provide 20 percent of the funding.

Currently, all homes and businesses in Plymouth Township with sanitary sewers are tied to the Detroit water and sewer system. The waste water is transported to the Detroit treatment plant via an interceptor sewer line owned by Wayne County.

The Detroit treatment plant needs repairs, and there are concerns about the Detroit system's ability to adequately serve the suburbs, according to officials. The planner and consulting engineers are recommending Super Sewer, they say.

Another waste water system alternative is the Ypsilanti Township system currently being designed.

Canton Township officials are looking into the Ypsilanti system, however Breen said the Ypsilanti system really wasn't a feasible alternative for Plymouth Township.

of the project, and their share of the costs are being spread among the remaining communities.

Funding will come from the sale of bonds by the Wayne County Department of Public Works. The communities will pay off the debt through user charges while a board of community representatives will administer the system.

Plans call for a treatment plant to be built in Brownstown Township in southern Wayne County. An underground pipe system would be constructed north along the Huron River.

The Plymouth Township board is expected to make a final decision on participation in Super Sewer in the near future.

country. He has continued to fight after the war for the less honorably recognized fellow veteran.

"His everyday energy has always been channeled in the most positive manner. The love for his family and his community has been shown not only this year but for many."

Rumsby has received numerous awards and certificates of recognition from the Jaycees, American Legion and a certificate of training from Selective Service.

The administration will analyze alternative uses, if any, for both buildings and give the board formal recommendations before the issue is decided.

President Tom Yack said it was imperative that board members understand all building-use possibilities before making a permanent decision on the future of Tanager and Starkweather.

"Whatever plan that is devised must be concrete," Yack said.

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, said he is looking at the cost-benefits for alternative uses for the Starkweather building. Some ideas include: moving community education offices from Plymouth Canton High School to Starkweather where additional day-care programs can be offered; using the second floor for additional storage; moving central maintenance offices from those on Lilley, off Ann Arbor Road, to Starkweather, or selling the Starkweather building.

The Tanager building is at a good location and might attract buyers because it's next to commercial property on Five Mile, Hoedel said.

City, township meeting on library & police

A joint meeting is expected to be held Jan. 24 in the Hillside Inn between the Plymouth City Commission and the Plymouth Township Board.

The rare public meeting of the two bodies will be held to discuss the establishment of a library district supported by a tax levy in both communities of up to one mill to pay for a 10,000-square-foot addition needed to serve township residents.

The officials also will discuss renewal of the contract in which the city of Plymouth has provided police protection to Plymouth Township for the past two years.

AN EXPANSION of the library is needed to serve the city and township combined population of some 88,000 people, said Library Director Pat Thomas.

City Manager Henry Graper estimates the expansion will cost at least $500,000 or about $78,000 a year for debt retirement.

The $75,000 could be split 50-50 between city and township (as the library's joint operation now is financed) or on a per capita basis by each municipality levying up to one mill for operation, construction and maintenance.

The township would end up paying a greater portion of the operation and debt-retirement costs because its population is greater, said Graper, but the township also would levy a smaller millage rate than the city because its tax base is greater.

Graper estimates the township would levy about four-tenths of a mill (40 cents per $1,000 state equalized valuation) initially and up to a maximum of seven-tenths. The city, in the new budget, Graper said, is expected to levy nine-tenths of a mill for the library.

The township does not have sufficient millage authorization to help finance the library expansion on a 50-50 basis and would need the added levy of up to one mill to participate, Graper told the city commission Monday night.

The millage authorization would have to be approved by a vote of township residents in a special election in June or November, 1983.

Graper said he reviewed the state law (PA164 of 1955 as amended) with the city attorney and discovered that the City Commission can establish a library district, levy up to a mill, and appoint library boardmembers without a vote of the people. If the district is established, the manager said, the city would continue to own the library building (part of which was donated to the city) and the district would lease it from the city's building authority.

Supervisor Maurice Breen was expected to discuss the idea of a library district, millage levy and appointed vs. elected library board last night with township trustees.

Graper estimates that on a per capita basis the township would pay two-thirds of the operation and construction costs.

The manager said that the city cannot afford to finance the addition by itself and so a fair-share arrangement between the two units "is the only way to go."

Now everything you've always wanted for less... is less.

Our Annual Sale—
December 26 to January 31
when almost everything is 10% to 40% off regular prices.

At Workbench, we don't have lots of storewide sales. Just one a year. But it's a dilly. Because we mark down all our best stuff. Not just a few things. Not even just a lot of things. But almost everything.

And, unlike a lot of other places, we don't bring in so-called specials. At Workbench we just go through the store with our red pencil and slash prices. Which means that right now you'll find 10% to 40% off on butcher block tables, upholstery, storage systems, bookcases, carts, music benches, desks and chair after chair. Even the already reduced "Foreign Policy" prices on most of our imports have been further price cut for this sale.

Of course, there are a few things currently oversold that we can't put on sale. Is there a cat? Only time. Because our storewide sale lasts only until January 31. So hurry.

Hammill Music moves into town

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Another new firm has joined the business community on Main Street in Plymouth.

The Hammill Music Co., one of the oldest musical instrument firms in the state, has taken over the old building at the corner of Main Street and Amelia. The new firm opened its doors Tuesday.

Aside from the floor models of musical instruments, the firm also will reconstruct and refinish both pianos and organs, general manager William Abney said. The rear of the store will be used for the latter purposes.

The new outlet will be a branch of the main Hammill store on Middlebelt Road in Livonia and will cater to all of western Wayne County.

The Plymouth outlet will carry all the leading makes of both organs and pianos, Abney said. Customers will have a choice of Steinway, Shomer, Conn, Everett or Krakauer pianos and Conn and other popular makes of organs.

Abney said he had been anxious to open a branch in Plymouth for several reasons. "First, I live here," he said, "and the people in Plymouth are grand folks. And with the new spirit being shown I think we can make a success of the venture."

The building where the new dealership is located has had many uses over the years. It originally was a garage for the Chevrolet dealership many years ago. From the garage it became a bump shop, run independently, then housed two different furniture companies. Now it has been remodeled again.

The Hammill Music Co. had its beginning at the corner of John R and Broadway in downtown Detroit. But when most of its clientele moved to the suburbs, that store was closed.

The main office and headquarters was established in Livonia, where it has been a success for some time.

The Hammill Co. will fill a musical void created on Main Street a few years ago when the Anderson Music Center closed.

"I want sale prices, but I have no appetite for leftovers."

"The last thing I want to buy is clothing no one else wanted to buy. Yes, I want to save money, but I also care a lot about how I look. You won't see me at January clearance sales. And when you do see me, you'll know I've been to The John Kent Stores."

A John Kent Man dresses better for less.

Rather than odds and ends, leftovers and fuchsia trousers, The John Kent Stores offer you a continually renewed selection of new clothing at prices that feel like a sale. Designer suits, sport coats, sweaters, shirts, trousers, and more, always priced less than you're likely to find elsewhere. So we don't have "sales." We have something better. This January, come and see how to save.

Skrel takes post on Pursell staff

Former state Representative Sylvia Skrel is moving from the State Capitol to the nation's capitol.

Skrel has accepted a position as legislative advisor in Washington, D.C., to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, whose 2nd District includes Plymouth, Livonia and Northville.

The appointment marks the reunion of a proven team, a Pursell aide said.

Skrel previously worked as constituent-service representative and senior-citizen coordinator for Pursell. She worked out of the congressman's western Wayne County office from January 1977 to March 1980 when she won a special election in the 36th state House District.

Skrel, R-Livonia, went on to win a full two-year House term in the November 1980 election.

Reapportionment caused her to run in a new district in 1982 when she lost by a narrow margin to Democrat Justice Barnes, Westland Councilwoman.

"I was looking at many options," said Skrel, "this opportunity seemed the most challenging and exciting."

Pursell said he felt fortunate to have Skrel return to his congressional staff.

"She's a real professional. Her experience in the state Legislature adds a new dimension to her abilities, and makes her even more valuable to our 2nd District constituents. She's well-qualified for the expanded responsibilities of this new job."

Pursell said Skrel will be responsible for a variety of special legislative and research projects.

She will assist Pursell in his role as a leading member of Gov. James Blanchard's bipartisan Fiscal Crisis Council. Pursell is chairman of the expenditures subcommittee, one of three subcommittees drafting recommendations on Michigan's budget problems.

Skrel will draw on her experience in state government in helping Pursell (a former state senator) seek ways to recommend further reductions in state spending.

As a state representative, Skrel served on four standing committees. She was minority vice chair of the senior citizens and retirement committee, and was a member of the committees on public utilities, women's rights and liquor control.

Her previous experience as senior-citizen coordinator for Pursell also led to her appointment to a special joint House and Senate Committee on Aging. She was elected by her colleagues as assistant House minority whip.

In Washington, she will work directly with Pursell and Legislative Director Mike Riksen.

She is a 1977 graduate of Madonna College where she earned a para-legal degree. She also has extensive experience in community and political activities in western Wayne County.

Stock office is expanding

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

With full confidence that the economy is on the upturn, Manley, Bennett & McDonald, which has been doing business in the stock market in downtown Plymouth since 1948, is expanding.

With headquarters in the building next to the Mayflower Meeting House, the company now will take over the law offices that have been vacant for a month, and will be ready to do business on a larger scale within the next few weeks.

"We feel confident that the economy will improve steadily during the year," manager Myron E. Smith confided. "And we will want to be in the thick of the market."

"Under our new plan we will have 10 brokers and seven women compared to the 10 brokers and five women we have on our staff now."

"The staff will be one of the largest in the area and is a far cry from the four brokers we had when the office was opened in 1968."

The plan to expand came about with the improvement in such things as home building, the optimistic rise in the auto industry and the general pickup in business brought about by the lowering of the interest rates.

Speaking of the remodeling and enlarging of the offices, Smith pointed out that the location, right in the heart of downtown, was ideal.

"We couldn't ask for anything better, and with the success we have had thus far, we will now be able to handle more business."

Computers coming into homes soon

By the 1990s, there won't be a job that doesn't require at least some work with computers, according to a Michigan State University specialist.

Irene Hathaway, a specialist in MSU's department of family and child ecology says, "Everybody doesn't need one yet, and there will never be a computer in every home. But the growth of the industry is phenomenal and will ultimately affect the majority of families."

She says consumers need to make sure the equipment they buy today won't be obsolete tomorrow, since the home computer market is in a sustained growth pattern for the 1980s.

CONSUMERS FIRST need to decide what they want their home computer to do and find out if there's appropriate software available, said Hathaway.

"The hardware is useless without the software, and consumers need to look into the capabilities of both before they buy," she said. "There may be nothing wrong with buying a cheaper system as long as the buyer realizes its limitations."

Hathaway said consumers also need to do some preliminary reading before going out into the home computer market. The books on computers are already out of date, so buyers should turn to monthly computer and consumer magazines and look at charts comparing the various equipment, she suggests.

The next step is comparison shopping. "It's much like the procedure was for buying a stereo about five years ago. You have to go to at least two or three stores, look at and work with the equipment if possible and talk to the salespeople," she pointed out.

Hathaway said potential buyers should also look at operation manuals to make sure they understand the language. "However, they should realize it's not going to be as simple as plugging the computer in and pushing a button. It's not like operating a toaster," she explained.

SERVICE CONTRACTS and warranties should also be examined, she says. "Especially if they're buying more expensive systems, people may want to consider those retail outlets offering the best service contracts."

With new equipment coming out almost every day, Hathaway says it's unrealistic for buyers to believe their equipment will remain "state of the art" for long.

"Buyers need to buy when the time is right for them. Their ability to use the equipment will not be diminished by innovations that follow, but buyers may want to purchase equipment that can be adapted for future software innovations," she said.

No age group will remain unaffected by the computer age. "We've already seen an enormous expansion of the home video game market," she said. "At least two universities, Drexel and Carnegie-Mellon, require students to have a computer when they're admitted. We're well on our way to becoming an information processing society."

5 generations

Five generations of Alma Game's family observed the holidays together but it was more or less a warmup for an even bigger celebration due to occur in March. That's when Alma Game (back, right) of 29653 Orangelawn, Livonia turns 90. With her are her daughter, Joyce Read (back, center) of Gladwin; Mrs. Read's daughter, Constance Moore of Plymouth, while in the front are Mrs. Moore's daughter Kim Spry (right), of Belleville and her daughter, Karen.

AID rescues midweek services

A second round in AID meetings will begin at Kenwood Church of Christ in Livonia with several new opportunities being offered to boost attendance at the midweek services.

AID is an acronym for Accountability in Discipleship. The idea was formulated last fall by Kenwood pastor David A. Baynes in an effort to involve more of the church membership in midweek church services. Its success prompted the new 10-week offerings, which will run from Jan. 9 through March 20, followed by a spring session from April 10 to June 19.

The idea is to keep the sessions short enough so that participants will feel comfortable to commit themselves on a short-term basis knowing there will be an end to it, he explained.

Groups being offered are volleyball, speaking before a group, 3-D (Diet, Discipline and Discipleship), Bible study, learning to read music, drama and bowling.

BAYNES SAID that some of the topics — bowling and volleyball, for example — may be "stretching it a point" in the traditional sense of a midweek service. But, he said, if it is successful in providing members a chance to get better acquainted and share a Christian fellowship, it meets the criteria he had in mind when he came up with the idea.

The variety of small groups seems to be meeting the needs of more of the church members, he added.

The classes are led by church members who volunteered to take part in the program last fall.

The volleyball group is open to men, women and teens and meets on Mondays from 8-10 p.m. at Roosevelt Elementary School, Lyndon and Henry Ruff. Group leader is Mike Fabian and there is no cost.

Baynes leads the speaking before a group session that also is open to men, women and teens. It meets in the Friendship room at the church from 7:30-8:30 p.m. Mondays. A textbook will be used, but purchase is optional.

Bible study will be led by Suann and Larry Dibble at 7 p.m. Wednesdays at their home. The gospel of Mark will be the focal point.

Deborah Kelbert will lead the 3-D group, a continuing fellowship for losing weight and building Christian character and self-esteem. The group will meet to weigh in at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in the church Friendship room, followed by an exercise session.

BASICS OF HOW to make sense of the score in a hymnbook and other music will be taught by John Kopy in the 7:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday night sessions to be held at his home.

Regina Fenner and Wayne Kelbert will lead the drama group, which will be in charge of a dramatic presentation for the Easter season. The group will meet at the church.

The bowling league was formed last fall, and meets weekly. Substitutes are needed. Anyone wishing to join the league activities are asked to call Harold Washburn at 478-0589.

Clairmont is retreat speaker

"Growing with the MASTER Gardener" will be the theme of the fifth annual mini-retreat at Aldersgate United Methodist Church Saturday, Jan. 11.

Planned, prepared and presented by the United Methodist Women, the retreat will focus on problems involved in everyday life and how best to cope with them.

Patsy Clairmont, noted Bible teacher, is the keynote speaker with "How Does Your Garden Grow?" as her topic.

OTHER SPEAKERS conducting seminars are: Eleanore Barzler, "Are You Growing Older and Growing Up?"; Peg Rankin on "Christian Marriage";

Dr. Elaine Tan with "Christian Parenting"; and "Help, I'm Being Robbed (of Joy)" by Kathy Tack. Special guest Edwin Wilson of Fernless's Flowers will speak on "Flowers for Everyday Living."

Session begins at 9 a.m. and continues until 2:30 p.m. Luncheon and special music will fill the breaks. Reservations are necessary and must be in by Jan. 15. Registration fee is $6.50. Babysitting is not provided. Reservations may be made by calling 278-5428.

Aldersgate United Methodist is at 10000 Beech Daly, Redford Township, between W. Chicago and Plymouth roads.

Joint service marks 1st altar fellowship

Three Westland churches will hold a joint holy communion service Sunday in celebration of the historic action last September at the denominations' conventions permitting inter-communion.

Participating will be Prince of Peace Lutheran, Holy Cross Lutheran and St. John Episcopal churches.

The service will be held at 5 p.m. in St. John's, 555 S. Wayne Road and will include a baptism, music by the choirs of the three churches and a reception following the service.

IT IS THE first time Lutherans in North America have declared what is known as altar fellowship with a non-Lutheran church. Sharing of holy communion was affirmed by the conventions of the Episcopal Church in the U.S., the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches, the American Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church in America.

Two series of Lutheran-Episcopal Dialogues had determined that the basic teachings of each church are sufficiently compatible to permit sharing of holy communion.

A third series of dialogues has been planned to discuss questions that could lead to closer ties. The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod is also involved in the talks.

The action of these churches encourages the development of mutual study of scripture, the histories and traditions of each church and joint programs of religious education, mission, evangelism and social action.

Mini-antique exhibit features doll houses

Miniature antiques are on exhibit through Jan. 30 at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Displays will include hand-painted dishes, oriental rugs, metal picture frames, hand-made lace table cloths, weathered vases, cross stitching and metal fireplace utensils.

Also on exhibit is a 20-room doll house, including such rooms as a nursery, sewing room, pantry, drawing room, parlour, and all the old furniture in the attic. Other doll houses and furnished rooms are also on display.

The Plymouth museum, 155 S. Main Street, is open Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1-4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for youth 12-17; and 25 cents for children 5-11.

Salvation Army Auxiliary to meet

Donna Rose of the Evangeline Center will speak at a meeting of the Auxiliary to the Salvation Army at 11 a.m. Monday in Salvation Army headquarters, 3015 N. Main, Royal Oak.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Milton Schimpke at 647-2323.

Immanuel Lazaro, for 14 years district superintendent of Tanzania, East Africa, will speak at a 7 p.m. service Sunday at Fairlane Assembly, 22575 Ann Arbor Trail, Dearborn Heights. During his service there, there was a revival of the church, partly due to his leadership.

Last year's worries need auditing

Many of us have been quite busy over the past few weeks. We've had holidays to observe, shopping to complete, gifts to exchange, parties to attend, and expectations to meet. But now what?

We have stored the decorations away for another year. Office parties and the galas brought to us by other sponsors have taken their toll. Gift wrappings have been condemned to the same trash bags as the turkey carcass. Our bank accounts are down and our charge accounts are up. It is all over except for the proverbial shouting and in some cases the weeping. But what difference is any of it going to have made?

What difference will it have made that we did or did not finish our shopping on time. What difference does it make where the president chose to eat dinner with his family or where the hungry of the land found a handout, as long as they found one. Does it make any difference that churches were packed to hear the decree issued by moral perspectives

Rev. Robert Schaden

Caesar Augustus. Now that it is the month of January does it make a difference that the Christmas choir missed a note or two or that the tree dropped more needles this year than it did last year?

Such questions seem rather trite, and yet only a week or two ago they were of earthshaking importance. They were crucial enough to provoke an argument with a "loved one" or a fight with a stranger as we sang about peace on earth.

THESE WERE THE issues which called for valium or which provoked some to get drunk. At least for a time these issues of holiday and expectation, of family and obligation, of shopping and getting to the party on time were the all-important questions of the day. They were large enough to drown out the ramblings over the MX. They seemed far more worthy of worry and attention than whether or not we had learned anything of life by having lived it another year.

Exploring the "So what?" questions which concern the expired holidays may appear to be little more than an exercise in depression. But history left untended has a way of repeating itself. We easily become creatures of habit. And unless we take a look at it, what we worried about last year will tend to command our attention this year as well.

Proclamations that this year will be different have little chance of materializing except for those who are willing to do an audit on what happened last year.

Teilhard de Chardin once suggested that the world's greatest sin is the failure to use the power for good that the Creator has put within us. However, in the human condition, power is a limited gift. To the extent that we use it to fret about relatively unimportant matters we have little left for what really matters.

A look at past behavior and concern can affirm the good that we have done. It may also challenge us to rearrange our priorities. But not to question at all is to diminish our humanness by likening our existence to that of robots. Only when we can dare to ask what difference it all makes are we free to deplore from what was useless in the past and integrate that which was good for the future.

The session will meet from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays in West Middle School for six weeks starting Jan. 19.

Holistic Relaxation involves use of stretching, yoga postures and mind/body exercises in an effort to help a participant become a calmer, healthier, happier person. Ann Van Wagner is the instructor.

This session will meet from 2-3 p.m. Monday or Friday in the Oddfellows Hall starting the week of Jan. 17.

Nuke freeze group meeting

The Western Wayne Nuclear Weapons Freeze Campaign Committee will hold its first meetings of the year on Jan. 10, 12.

The Monday, Jan. 10, meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. and the Jan. 12 session at 9:30 a.m. in the home of coordinator Johanne Fechter at 397 N. Evergreen, Plymouth.

"Having an evening and a morning group proved successful in December," said Fechter, "so we are going to continue with that arrangement, and we have an alternative location lined up if attendance goes beyond what I can accommodate."

Besides sharing up-to-date information on the nuclear-arms race, the groups will discuss an upcoming cable-television series, an area-wide convention Feb. 19 in Detroit, and the Freeze Lobby scheduled for March 7, 8 in Washington, D.C.

Anyone wishing to attend one of these meetings, or who wants further information about the freeze campaign, may call Fechter at 455-2149.

FIND OUT MORE ABOUT YOURSELF

We all have very special talents. They're called aptitudes and they determine what we can do best. You probably know people who play music without training or who repair an engine without formal education. These people have high aptitudes in areas of music and mechanics. Unfortunately, many people never learn to use their aptitudes. Many never find out where their talents lie.

The Armed Services have a special battery of tests which can determine your aptitude. It's called the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery — or ASVAB for short. The test is given in many schools — voluntarily and without charge. If you have an opportunity to take the test, it will tell you a lot about your abilities. About your aptitudes in Mechanical, Administrative, General and Electronic areas. The test can tell you if your aptitude qualifies you mentally for Air Force service and an area in which you may want to train and work.

Together with your high school diploma, the test results can mean a brighter future for you as an Air Force specialist — trained and experienced to perform important Air Force skills.

If you haven't taken the test, your high school counselor can tell you about it. Or if you're already out of school, an Air Force recruiter can tell you where you take the test. Do it for your country. Do it for yourself.

The ASVAB test can tell you a lot about yourself — facts you need to know regarding your plans for the future. Maybe the Air Force could be part of the future, if you qualify.

College aid alive and available

by Mary Klemic
staff writer

To borrow a line from Mark Twain, stories of the death of student-aid in recent years have been greatly exaggerated. Nevertheless, students should submit their applications for financial aid as soon and as often as they can.

"The (federal) cutbacks really are not as large as the media have made them," said Spencer Johnson of Oakland Community College. "Financial aids are still very strong and viable."

Johnson, director of financial aid at OCC's Highland Lakes Campus, said many people have overestimated the amount of student-aid cuts made by the Reagan administration.

"We've never had a tremendous decline in the amount of dollars available (for student aid)," said John Tomey, director of admissions and financial aids at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. "Despite all of the attempts to cut back, not much really has been done."

JOHNSON SAID nearly 120,000 students in Michigan applied in the College Scholarship Service for the 1982-83 school year.

Of these, 69 percent are dependent (living with their parents), and 31 percent are self-supporting, he said.

This figure has steadily increased since 1979 because of the economic situation, Johnson said.

"Students have to go back to school because they lose their jobs and have to be retrained, or because students can't afford to go away to school," he said.

Johnson advised students intending to begin college in the fall to submit a financial aid form from the College Scholarship Service before Feb. 15. A student may obtain the forms from his high school, or from the college he is planning to attend.

Copies will be sent to the colleges designated by the student, which will then determine financial need and appropriate aid programs.

TOMEY SAID many students think financial aid is based solely on the parents' income.

Actually, other factors — including family size, number of children in college, parents' age and indebtedness of parents — are also considered, he said.

"Students who come from families with incomes of $26,000 to even $30,000 can qualify for some of the grants available," Tomey said. "When in doubt or when in need, contact the college's financial aid advisor or even your high school counselor."

Tomey estimated that 1,200-1,500 students at Schoolcraft (which has 8,000 students) are getting financial aid.

Forms of student aid are scholarships, grants, loans and work-study programs. Usually, only loans have to be repaid, Johnson said.

Scholarships are given for academic or other achievement, while grants are based on need. A work-study program would hire the student for a job on campus.

THE MICHIGAN Student Financial Aid Association is sponsoring a series of college financial-aid presentations in Wayne and Oakland counties this month (see listing for dates and places).

Workshops are designed to provide the latest information regarding financial aid and changes in the application process for all types of colleges and universities.

Johnson said that at the two-hour workshops, all aid programs — for high-school students as well as older or returning students — and the application process are explained. Time is reserved for questions and answers.

"There are constant changes in the programs," he said. "If somebody hears it all one year, they have to come back."

As an example, Johnson said, federal legislation would require students applying for aid to prove that they registered for the draft.

But there is still a wide variety of financial aid available for students of all ages, he said.

Electric fire in apartment

Plymouth Township fire officials are investigating an apartment fire which caused an estimated $85,000 worth of damage Sunday afternoon.

The fire, at the Brougham Manor Apartments, apparently started in the electrical wiring, according to Fire Chief Larry Groth.

No one was injured in the eight-unit building at 14090 Brougham Court, Groth said.

"Our preliminary indication is that the electrical wiring caused the fire, which started in a wall between two upstairs apartments," he said. "Only one of the apartments was occupied."

"It was not an overloaded circuit. We have asked the electrical inspectors to come in and investigate," Groth said.

Township firefighters had the blaze under control in 45 minutes, after it spread up the wall, into the attic and across the roof, he said.

Twelve firefighters and two fire engines responded to the call which came in at 3:22 p.m.

Although there was fire damage to the two upstairs apartments, damage in the other units of the building was limited to smoke, he said.

Educators are polling clients to test themselves

A CLIENT MOST OFTEN is the best judge of the effectiveness of a particular agency. This is as true in education as in anything else. Students usually know who are the best teachers, the toughest, the easiest, which classes are "Mickey Mouse" and which they had better study for.

In recent years Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have been tapping this important source of information by surveying each graduating class on what kind of job the schools have done and asking for recommendations.

Last year's graduating class, for instance, suggested that the district annually examine its graduation requirements and eliminate required classes which do little to prepare students for their future.

The "1982 clients" believed the schools should base the curriculum on future job markets, do more to help students develop public-speaking skills and be sure to offer classes in computer operation.

FOLLOWING ARE some of the recommendations the class of '82 made in the Project SCORE survey:

- Parent-student-teacher relationships: Schools need a parent-teacher-student committee to advise school board and administration before important decisions are made.

- Back to basics: Schools should offer courses to help students become well-rounded human beings. Students should be tested each year to determine if they are mastering basic skills, with remedial programs prescribed for students with weaknesses.

- Teacher accountability: Pink slipping should be based on the quality of the teacher's work, not on the number of years the teacher has worked. Administrators and parent groups should review instructional materials used in the classroom. Teachers should work with students who have learning problems — before and after school.

- School finance: Students should work with booster clubs to help raise money for extracurricular activities. For the sake of safety, schools must not eliminate bus services — if needed, require parents to pay a special fee for transportation. Hot lunch program should be optional.

- Drug abuse: Schools should offer units on methods of controlling and alleviating stress. Teachers who buy drugs from students should be fired; students who know teachers who buy drugs from students should report this to the principal. Administrators must explain to students why their lockers or cars are being searched.

- Career counseling: Schools must not pink-slip career guidance counselors because of budget problems. Schools should have job shadowing programs, co-op experiences and career days; they should teach interview skills and resume writing.

- Vandalism: Students felt a major reason students vandalize schools is to "get back" at teachers they feel have been unfair or have put them down. Other causes cited by students included: school rivalries, dares from peers, revenge, thrill seeking or too much spare time.

Recommendations included: Students and teachers should get to know each other better and be fair with each other. Vandals should be harshly punished and pay for damage done. Students who vandalize have emotional problems and need help — peer counseling should be considered. Schools should use citizen "schoolwatchers" who would be volunteers similar to the "Neighborhood Watch" program.

- Dropouts: An incentive program should be established to reward individual schools for lowering their drop-out rates. Teachers and administrators should be made aware of, and be sensitive to, the poor home situations of many students.

THE VIEWS of students are worthy of consideration because they are direct clients of the educational system.

But there is a better reason — students are citizens who will be voting to support education in the very near future.

Tim Richard

'Together,' the senators face right

JAMIE BLANCHARD borrowed a line from Jimmy Carter as he closed his inaugural address as Michigan's governor Saturday.

"Together" we shall do this, "together" we shall do that, and "together" the other thing, said Gov. Blanchard.

Carter's psychological researchers discovered the word in the 1976 presidential campaign. The theory seems to be that people like the word "together" as much as they used to like "motherhood," "apple pie" and "the flag."

But in Michigan government, we don't have togetherness yet — not by a long shot.

Blanchard is being hailed as the first Democratic governor since the 1930s to have a Democratic-controlled legislature. In their Nov. 2 victory celebrations and Jan. 1 inaugural balls, the Democrats rejoiced at their clean sweep of statewide offices.

WELL, LOOK again. Blanchard has already looked again. That's why he's being so coy about favoring a state personal income tax increase.

Look at the state Senate. Twenty to 18 Democratic, you say?

Look harder, because the Michigan Senate with which Blanchard must deal is one of the most conservative bodies we've seen since the 1950s when Soapy Williams did battle with the Elmer Porters, Paul Prescotts, Lou Christmans and other members of what he termed the Neanderthal wing of the Republican Party.

In these suburbs, to be sure, we have seen only minor changes. Democratic Leader William Faust from Westland will be back, conservative Republican Robert Geake of Northville is returning, and liberal Democrat Jack Faxon of Southfield will replace liberal Democrat Doug Ross.

And liberal Democrat Phil Mastin of Pontiac is replacing conservative Republican Don Bishop of Rochester.

AFTER THAT, the Michigan Senate takes a sharp right face.

Dana Wilson, a Democrat from Ferndale who supported the temporary income tax increase last year, lost a primary and will be replaced by Doug Cruce, a conservative Republican from Troy who didn't support the tax hike.

Kerry Kammer of Clarkston, who lost the Democratic primary for governor, will be succeeded by Rick Fessler, a rock-ribbed conservative Republican from Union Lake.

Such conservative Democrats as Gilbert DiNello of East Detroit and James DeSana of Wyandotte will return. Remember DiNello's anti-Detroit income tax drive? Crusty, snarling Joe Mack, a Democrat from Ironwood who is sometimes referred to as "the senator from Cleveland Cliffs (Mining Co.), will be back.

Dick Allen, the liberal Republican from Alma who supported public transit, was bumped in his primary by Alan Cropsey, the kid from Bob Jones U. who wants creationism taught in science classes. His dad, Harmon Cropsey, also moved up to the Senate.

Lovers of the 20th century may have rejoiced when Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo ran last in the gubernatorial primary, but did you notice who his successor will be? His brother, Bob.

Do you remember last year how Majority Leader Faust got the tax hike through the Senate Finance Committee? He appointed himself and Republican Leader Robert VanderLaan of Kentwood to the committee to create a 4-3 favorable vote.

Well, VanderLaan, a moderate of the Milliken-Brickley school, has retired from politics at 50. The new Senate GOP leader will be John Engler, a rip-sportin' Headleeite.

Lots of luck with your "togetherness," Gov. Blanchard.

TV changed sports writing

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

LIKE COUNTLESS others across the land, The Stroller spent most of New Year's Day with his eyes focused on television.

There, in the comfort of an easy chair in his living room, he marvelled at the sights of the Rose Parade in living color. And later in the day, he watched with intense interest as the Michigan football team battled UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

It was wonderful to watch every play, oftentimes with a better view than if he had been in the press box.

But as the game ended and the final score was flashed on the screen for all the world to see, it dawned on him that this electronic device had changed the sports writer's approach to writing the account of the contest for readers of his newspaper.

IN THE OLD days — and The Stroller is a member of the "old school" — it was mandatory that the final score of the game and the size of the crowd be mentioned in the opening paragraph. And goodness knows what fate was in store if they were forgotten.

Today such an approach would be a waste of time and space, for folks already know the outcome, the score and who played the hero's role. They saw it on television.

So today's sports writer must approach the story from a feature angle — something, perhaps coaching strategy, not shown on the screen. Oftentimes the score of the game is not mentioned until the fifth or sixth paragraph, as background, so great has been the change.

No longer does a daily newspaper produce an "extra" edition. The result has been flashed across the land both by television and radio. Writers now build their reputations on the feature prose they construct in telling the story of the game.

WHAT IS TRUE of football is true of all other sports. There was a time when newspapers flashed extra editions to Tiger Stadium that could be bought at the gate no sooner than the game was over.

Now, the folks know the score and have heard the plays through the voices of the radio announcers and TV commentators. Here again, the baseball writer is not confined to telling the score in his first paragraph.

Where the TV cameras limit the imagination of the sports writer is at a major fight. No longer can the writer, sitting at ringside, "dress up" a story by making a torrid battle out of an ordinary fight.

No longer does the boxing writer send a blow-by-blow, round-by-round account. Nor do baseball and football writers wire play-by-play accounts. So the writer must seek a behind-the-scenes feature approach.

OBTAINING THAT feature angle can be difficult.

Sometimes it may be found in the fighters' dressing rooms after the final bell. Other times the battlers' boasts before the opening bell can be the cornerstone of the final story for the paper.

TV and radio have taken much of the fun and excitement out of the newspaper offices on fight night.

How well The Stroller recalls the days of the "extras" when he spent his time on the afternoon of the fight writing all sorts of alternative opening paragraphs. When the outcome was known that night, quick as a flash, the correct one was placed in the page form and raced to the press. It was always a battle with the rival paper to see which reached the main corners of downtown Detroit first.

Gone are the days of the "extra" and the days when the writer was confined in his approach to the prose that would appear in print under his byline. Broadcasting changed them.

The county: cost-efficient or a game?

FIGURING OUT what is going on in Wayne County government is like trying to determine what is going on in the Arab League.

There are so many intrigues, cabals, feints, parries, threats and hidden rewards that you'd think county government figures all were training for the CIA.

We consulted Joe Schwartz, our political pro, the other day to try to put things in perspective. Here are some excerpts of our conversation.

Q. Joe, county executive William Lucas has been in office only a few days, and already he is involved in two lawsuits over whether he has authority to appoint his successor as sheriff and to appoint three new road commissioners. He has made several appointments to other offices. Is this the start of a more more effective county government?

A. Too hard to say at this point. Lucas could argue his appointments show he means to clean house. Someone else could say his appointments show that he, like most politicians, is interested mainly in rewarding friends who campaigned for him and appointing those who will do his bidding.

Q. What about his decision to appoint Loren Pittman to succeed him as sheriff?

A. Pittman has been undersheriff more than 10 years. He can be expected to direct the department much as Lucas directed it. That may not be so good. Lucas overspent his budget by $20 million over his 14-year sheriff's career and fought tooth and nail against money-saving ideas like discontinuing the sheriff's road patrol.

Q. Would Bob Ficano, the other appointee, be any better at administering the department?

A. There's no evidence he would. He has no record as an administrator or money saver. He seems to be just a good Democrat who happened to be in the right place at the right time.

Q. How's that?

A. Ficano was an attorney in a Livonia law firm when he decided to be the Democratic candidate for state representative against Republican Sylvia Skrel in a marginally Republican area. He lost twice. When the job of deputy county clerk opened up, those who run the Democratic Party in Wayne County blessed Ficano for the job. He became County Clerk Jim Killeen's deputy.

Now comes 1982 when Lucas is elected executive and has to resign as sheriff. Lucas wants Pittman to succeed him. All of a sudden two-thirds of a triumvirate — which might have the property statutory authority to name a new sheriff — come up with Ficano's name. The two-thirds are the same Killeen and chief Probate Judge Joseph Pernick.

Q. What does it look like?

A. Well, let's say Killeen, as prime mover in this scenario, is merely interested in more efficient county government and thinks that if Pittman becomes sheriff, the county will never get rid of one of the county's biggest money drains, the deputies. He may think Ficano just the man to preside over a department which should be made cost effective.

Q. Any other scenarios?

A. Yes. Killeen may be really interested in trying to build more political influence. He may also be in league with the labor union types who are irked that Lucas won't play ball. They asked Lucas to get rid of Republican attorney Dennis Nystrom as his chief honcho and be more of a Democrat — that is, surround himself with loyal Democrats to the unions' liking. Lucas refused. Now comes their revenge. Instead of Pittman, he gets Ficano and aggravation.

Q. Which scenario do you buy?

A. I will rule out one — that Killeen is interested only in more efficient county government.

roll call report

Ford, Brodhead back 'paperwork' measure

Here's how area members were recorded on major roll call votes in closing days of the 97th Congress.

HOUSE

IMMIGRATION: The House rejected, 110 for and 213 against, an amendment to a bill (HR 7357) aimed at stemming the flow of illegal aliens into the United States.

The amendment largely was an effort to protect the rights of U.S. citizens who can't get a seasonal farm job because an alien already has filled the position. At the same time, it placed a paperwork burden on employers.

The measure was backed by the civil rights lobby and opposed by agriribuness.

It requires employers to keep written records of all who apply for work so that complaints of discrimination could be traced more easily. It went beyond pending language that required records to be kept only on those individuals actually hired. HR 7357, the first major reform of U.S. immigration laws since 1952, later died with the 97th Congress.

Supporter Robert Garcia, D-NY, said the amendment "is actually the heart of the entire immigration bill as it pertains to the potential for discrimination"

Opponent Robert Badham, R-Calif., said the amendment would create a feld day for "the civil rights folks," and he added that "it's about time somebody spoke up for the employer in this country and said that enough is enough."

Members voting yes wanted the immigration reform bill to require added record-keeping by employers to facilitate later checks of claims of discrimination. Voting yes: William Ford, D-Taylor, and William Brodhead, D-Detroit.

Voting no: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, and Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit (whose district includes part of Troy).

Not voting: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge.

HISTORIAN: By a vote of 230 for and 97 against, the House gave itself a history office to make sure the House is properly recognized during the 1989 commemoration of the 200th birthday of the U.S. government.

The yet-to-be named historian and staff are to be temporary employees who would leave the government payroll after 1989.

Critics noted, however, that "temporary" congressional offices have a way of becoming permanent.

This vote reversed a September vote to prevent adding a historian to the House bureaucracy. The Senate has a historian who is paid $46,855 annually.

Advocates of a House historian said the office would not have a specific appropriation and would be funded out of "contingency" accounts. Critics said that still is a drain on the Treasury.

Supporter James Quillen, R-Tenn., said that although "the image of the House is at a very low ebb," the historian "will come up with a program that will help us re-establish the great image that this body deserves."

Opponent Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, called the office "foolish" and said "the House has lived without this type of an office, gotten by all these years, and saved the taxpayers some money."

Members voting yes wanted to create the office of House historian. Voting yes: Ford.

Not voting: Pursell, Hertel, Brodhead, Blanchard and Broomfield.

SENATE

TAXES and TRUCKS: By a vote of 54 for and 33 against, the Senate passed and sent to the president a bill (HR 6211) raising the federal gasoline tax a nickel per gallon.

The bill requires states to permit the entry of larger trucks and raises user fees for heavy trucks. Its goal is to create some 200,000 jobs via bridge and highway repairs to be financed by the higher gas tax.

Trucks up to 80,000 pounds, 102 inches wide and 75 feet long in double-trailer rigs will be assured access to interstates in all states and to state and federal roads feeding the interstates.

Provisions increasing the gas tax and truck sizes will take effect in April. Senators voting yes favored the bill.

Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., voted yes. Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., did not vote.

PAY HIKE: The Senate refused, 24 for and 71 against, to table (kill) an amendment to repeal the 1981 law that permits pay hikes for senators and House members to take effect automatically unless Congress acts to block the raise.

The measure also would have blocked the 15-percent pay hike that House members recently approved for themselves.

The vote occurred during debate on the stopgap appropriations bill (HJ Res 631) that funds much of the government through next September.

Despite this vote, the repeal later was voided on a parliamentary ruling, and the 1981 law remains unchanged.

Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, who voted to kill the repeal, said it was wrong to legislate through an appropriations bill.

Sen. J.J. Exon, D-Neb., who wanted to repeal the 1981 congressional salary law, said that if senators want a raise "we should stand up on the floor of the Senate and vote . . . up or down."

Senators voting no wanted to repeal the law providing automatic pay hikes for members of Congress. Both Levin and Riegle voted no.

Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., who voted to kill the jobs money, said the Senate should "face reality" and realize the president would veto any bill containing massive outlays for public service jobs.

Opponent Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, said it was time "to do something concrete for the 12 million unemployed Americans."

Senators voting no favored the $1.2-billion public jobs outlay. Both Levin and Riegle voted no.

Kelley uses D, H against Edison

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has won the denial of a $21.6-million Detroit Edison rate increase by a state Public Service Commission (PSC) hearing officer.

Kelley had opposed the boost in electricity charges, saying the request was banned by proposals D and H approved by voters in the Nov. 2 election.

The proposals, under a preliminary order by Ingham Circuit Court Judge Thomas L. Brown, require a "full and complete hearing of rate adjustments" and prohibit certain automatic adjustments of rates.

EDISON ARGUED that the increase it sought, based on changes in the consumer price index (CPI), is not an automatic adjustment. It contended that a December hearing on the increase in the CPI meets the "full and complete" hearing test.

Hearing Officer Theodora Mace, in granting Kelley's motion to dismiss Edison's rate-hike request, said the limited hearing on the CPI increase is not sufficient to comply with the proposals' requirements.

Detroit Edison has the right to appeal her decision to the full commission.

"This ruling reflects the first fruit of the action of the voters in abolishing utility rate adjustment clauses," Kelley said.

"If it is sustained by the PSC and the courts, it will represent significant progress in slowing the pace of Edison's rate increases."

THE UTILITY sought the hike in electricity charges through an indexing system begun by the PSC in 1978.

It allows rates to be increased at the beginning of each year based on CPI increases occurring in a 12-month period that ends in August of the preceding year.

A hearing is held in December to determine the CPI rise and to calculate the kilowatt-hour surcharge to be imposed at the start of the new year.

On Dec. 2, portions of the two proposals became effective as a result of Judge Brown's order. That case, a test of the legality of the proposals, faces a show-cause hearing in the Circuit Court on Dec. 20.

Citizen defends Davis decision

To the editor:

The recent controversy regarding Judge Dunbar Davis' decision on the (teacher Scott) Kurtz case has prompted me to write my first-ever letter to a newspaper.

Some who wrote have mentioned the lack of respect for teachers and authority in general. I agree that this condition exists and is most disconcerting. However, I know Davis well enough to know he is as much concerned as we are. I have had the opportunity to sit in and watch many of his honor's cases and believe him to be a fair and just man.

Kurtz, in his attempts to maintain discipline in the school (sorely needed I might add), crossed the line of law. Perhaps that law, as others regarding discipline, should be reviewed. If the laws are changed, then a judge can rule on law and morality.

What seems to be confusing to most is the very reason for the Davis decision against Kurtz. His decision was based on a point of law. Too many of us are emotional and not lawyers. A judge must decide on points of existing law and precedent not on personal beliefs, whims or public opinion.

Consider the Hinkley case in Washington D.C. where not guilty — but insane — law was in effect.

The point is the same in both cases. Davis ruled on existing law — whether the law was right or wrong. He has no other choice.

For this reason I support the decision of an honorable and just man, Judge Dunbar Davis.

CEP actors invited to represent U.S.A.

A troupe of young actors from the Centennial Educational Park has been invited to perform in the Spectrum Theatre Festival in Austria. They will be one of two secondary school groups representing the United States at the international festival early in June.

Gloria Logan, head of the drama department at the CEP, is hoping they make it to the festival in Villach.

The invitation was the result of their performance last June at the International Thespian Conference in Muncie, Ind. which came after several years of performance observation and evaluation.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools administration has approved the trip. Now it is up to the young thespians and their mentor, Gloria Logan, to come up with $25,000. They are optimistic. One of their first moves was to acquire passport photographs.

The $25,000 will transport the 11 members of the cast, two chaperones and the set to and from Villach, Austria.

THE THEATRE Arts department at Eastern Michigan University combined pride with positive action when the invitation was announced.

Logan is an EMU graduate and keeps in touch with the professors in the drama department. They have booked three performances of "Feiffer's People," the play the Austria Company will do at the festival.

Members of the drama department at CEP already are selling tickets to the opening-night performance at EMU. July 8 will be EMU Tribute Performance Night with all receipts going to the Austria Co. Only 400 tickets will be sold for donations of $10 each. The Tribute night audience will see "Feiffer's People," see slides of the Austrian trip, and take part in a salute to major patrons. There also will be a wine and cheese reception.

The troupe will split the box office for the July 9 and 10 performances.

AS WELL AS sponsoring and booking the play, EMU is assisting in the redesign of the set, using light-weight materials. It costs $4 per pound to fly the set to Austria. It will be shipped June 1, in advance of the troupe's departure.

"At $4 a pound, it comes to $8 a pound there and back," said Logan. "The technical director at Eastern is working with me in experimenting with new materials. The stage is even smaller than the one at Muncie." She said that, fortunately, the play requires a single set. It also involves rear-screen projection in which 150 slides are used.

Two of the members of the cast, Mark Holland and Pat Chevillot, graduated in June. Both were awarded theater-arts scholarships from EMU and will rejoin the cast for the Austrian trip.

"Feiffer's People" is a collection of vignettes which makes it flexible. Logan said that with editing and cutting, it can be adjusted to the one-hour time limit allotted to the performing groups at the festival.

THE TROUPE has not been given its performance schedule. They do not know if they will give one or more shows.

Logan explained that the Villach festival is held every other year.

"And because it is international, we will see plays in many languages. Luckily, two members of the cast speak German, Mike Mitchell and Heidi Wordhouse. They will help us communicate when we are over there."

Members of the cast are Tim Angell, Cletus Karamon, Jeannine Coughlin, Kelly Miller, Lisa Rohde, Celia Stuart, and Holland, Chevillot, Mitchell and Wordhouse. Gloria and her husband, Norm Logan, band director at John Glenn High School in Westland, will be chaperones.

She is hoping the members of the troupe will be sponsored by community businesses and industries.

"It is such an honor to be invited — for both the school district and the drama department. I hope we can go," she said. All donations to the Austria Co. project will be tax deductible.

THE FESTIVAL will be June 5-10. Housing in Villach will be arranged by Alfred Messing, festival director.

They have been investigating rock-bottom travel expenses. Tentative itinerary is, flying from Detroit to Munich, Germany, by train from Munich to Villach, train from Villach to Belgium, ship from Belgium to England, three days in London, flight from London to New York to Detroit.

The whole trip averages out to about $2,000 per person. It is up to them to raise the money.

Research shows

Hope for parents guilty of child abuse

Parents who abuse their children can stop — and even become model fathers and mothers.

That's the finding of an Oakland University associate professor who spent four years researching and counseling groups of abusive parents.

"Absolutely. With proper treatment, not only will they refrain from abuse but many times they become model parents," said Mary L. Otto, associate professor of Human and Educational Services.

While most researchers have been concerned about the children involved, Otto approached the serious problem of abuse differently.

Otto dealt with parents with the goal of developing a primary prevention model that would help stop abusive behavior and prevent it in future generations.

Citing National Council on Family Relations figures, she said one million children in the United States were subjected to violent abuse by their parents and two thousand children died painful deaths from torture in 1980.

"Child abuse, by definition, is the use of physical violence to make a child feel ashamed and guilty. The abuse destroys the child's self-value," explained Otto.

"Distinct from physical punishment, the abuse makes the child feel unworthy and that is emotionally worse than getting hit."

ABUSIVE PARENTS are not monsters or weird. They are simply unskilled at parenting and emotionally immature, explained Otto.

Her goal was the help the parents feel good about themselves and become the best parents they could possibly be.

She distributed self-assessment forms every six months to measure the parent's progress. The educator also discussed child development and organized a support group that encouraged parents to interact with each other outside the group session.

Her research indicated some primary factors relating to child abuse.

While not hereditary, abuse is very much learned. Statistically, most abusive parents were themselves abused as children.

In addition, she found stress is a significant factor.

"Most alarming was the number of incest victims in the group," added Otto. "In an average group of 12 individuals, at least five experienced some type of sexual trauma."

AFTER SEVERAL months of counseling, Otto noted an increase in the number of parents achieving their goals.

"About 85 percent of the parents reduced hitting to less than twice a month, opposed to daily hitting. Also, all the parents perceived themselves as yelling less," she said.

Many parents in the self-referred group set goals higher than ordinary parents, attempting never to hit nor yell again.

In the future, Otto plans to conduct research on middle-class violence and stress and develop an intervention model for incestuous families.

Poolside trim and tone whittles excess inches

A new 12-week calorie burners' session will begin Jan. 10 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Lark Samouelian, who has conducted weight-loss sessions on Channel 13 Cablevision, will direct the program. The new poolside classes, incorporating swimming and exercising, was initiated by Denny Campbell, general manager of Metro 13, Samouelian and Ken Windsor of the Hilton.

The "calorie burner" will work out in Samouelian's personalized trim-and-tone exercise program. It will consist of warm-up, seven-minute aerobic trimming and toning exercises and cool-down. All will be done to music conducive to motivating the spirit and burning calories. There also will be the option of a swim in the pool.

Sessions will be available Monday-Friday at 7 or 8 p.m. There will be a $3 sign-up fee and a $1.50 swim fee each night.

For registration information call Samouelian at 455-2317.

Jack McCarthy, looking like a man who enjoys good food, watches as Gus Skarvelakas, cook at Dimitri's Restaurant in Southfield, loads a plate full of ethnic food.

Radio, TV newsman culls recipes for print

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

People do judge cookbooks by their cover. And by their binding and illustrations.

So says Jack McCarthy, television personality, who just published "Jack McCarthy's Restaurant Recipes" an enterprise that took four years.

"When it comes to cookbooks, people want more than information," McCarthy said. "Many folks collect cookbooks. I'm going to be seeing a lot of those people so I don't want mine to fall apart."

The Grinch that stole Christmas almost purloined McCarthy's gift to his waiting fans when publication of the spiral bound, color-illustrated publication was delayed past holiday "prime" time. But the collection is now in the stores.

Originally, McCarthy intended to circulate the book only by mail, but it is now available at Jacobson's, Hudson's and Pages and Pages at Hunter's Square. It can also be ordered by mail from Box 473, Franklin, Mich. 48025 at $5.95.

"One week after the first books went into the mail, we began to get repeat orders from Texas, Florida and California, as well as local fans," he said.

THE AFFABLE McCarthy, a freelance television reporter at Channel 7 in Southfield, is the host of "Friday Feasts," a show that features food and restaurants. His connection with food predates his work as a newsman.

He's logged 27 years in radio and television, but his career in kitchens began at age 4.

Born in Louisiana, McCarthy said his mother cooked with "vigor and spices." "Cooking is a real hobby for me," he said. "My mom really encouraged me all my life."

"When I was in the fourth grade, mom got the mumps. My dad can't fry eggs, but I could. I had a little footstool to stand on and I made pork chops, corn, mashed potatoes and gravy. I'll never forget that menu."

"Like every other kid, I can remember hiding the brussel sprouts, but now I love them."

McCarthy lived in Panama and six states before starting first grade, but grew up in Canton, Ill., where his folks still live.

"I didn't know what I wanted to do, except be a pilot, until I got into radio during high school," McCarthy said.

THE DAUGHTER of his high-school principal had a 15 minute radio program playing the piano. Her father was the announcer. "I offered to do the announcing sometime, and they took me up on it a few times. I was always a ham."

Those few pinch-hitting roles landed the teen-ager a part-time radio job.

"I had no illusions about being part of the media, because I made 50 cents an hour for the radio work and the same pay for being the morning janitor at the station."

In his 27 years in the business, McCarthy estimates he's had three or four Christmases off and has covered many tough stories, including the 1967 Detroit riots when he became a target as well as a reporter.

He insists the work of a television reporter is far more difficult than it appears.

Early in the 1960s, he worked in television with John Kelly in Peoria. It was then he met Carol, his wife of 17 years, who was an Ozark Airlines stewardess.

The couple now live in Bloomfield Township and have two sons: Brett, 16, and Sean, 12.

"They don't consider their dad being on television much of a big deal," McCarthy said.

In 1965, Channel 2 hired John Kelly to come to Detroit while McCarthy was scouting a job in Denver. "Kelly told me they were looking for a reporter in Detroit," he said.

"Salaries depend on the size of the market, Detroit was important. I came here and was hired.

"JOE WEAVER was the lone reporter at Channel 2 and I was second," McCarthy said.

He worked at the station for more than five years and was the first on-camera person to leave for Channel 7. "Then Marilyn Turner left and the exodus began."

McCarthy's Friday evening visits to restaurants and kitchens of interest have a big following in the area. "All kinds of people watch it, but the people who respond by calling or writing in are working class people," he said.

Students in a Milan, Mich. high school have been printing the recipes McCarthy featured on his Friday Feast show for distribution to fans, certainly an incentive toward doing the book.

"Several people claim credit for urging me to do the book so it's hard to pinpoint it's godparent, but we had to do the show two years just to get enough recipes at 52 each year."

McCarthy said some are flamboyant recipes by top chefs, others are simple creations of talented home cooks. To him, the true stars of the publication are the cooks and chefs who opened their kitchens and shared their recipes.

INCLUDED are soups, seafoods breads, poultry and meat dishes from restaurants such as Dimitri's, the Golden Mushroom, The Chamberlin, Excalibur, the Meeting Place, El Nibble Nook, the Toll Gate and Kingsley Inn to name just a few.

"Jack McCarthy's Restaurant Recipes" is being sold by several local charities who receive $1.25 per sale to help their causes.

Channel 7 gave permission for the book but it is an independent project through Jack McCarthy Enterprises in Birmingham, a public relations firm he operates.

McCarthy set high standards for his first book and doesn't deny if sales go well he may have another out sometime in 1983.

Canton chatter

We live in Canton, and we are proud

What is all the cheering about?

Our own post office soon will be open for business in the Harvard Square Shopping Center. The final inspection by the township took place in late December, and every resident is anxious to visit and partake of its services.

The Community Credit Union opened its doors just recently in the New Towne Shopping Plaza. For years, Cantonites have frequented the Plymouth Credit Union and the operators of the establishment saw the need for Canton residents to enjoy a location of their own.

New pumps for the main sewers in Forest Brook subdivision left many homeowners with dry basements during the week of heavy rains we experienced in mid-December. Other subdivisions have benefited as well from the upgrading of the sewer system throughout Canton.

Canton now will be on the maps of Michigan. When directing folks from out of town, many of us used to say we are located halfway between Detroit and Ann Arbor. Most of the time, Detroiters never heard of Canton so we geared ourselves to telling everyone we were just outside the city limits of Plymouth.

MOST EVERYONE has heard of Canton through our expanded shopping facilities, or through large businesses coming to Canton such as Miesel/Sysco Inc.

The Canton Parade is the second largest parade in the state of Michigan, with the Detroit Thanksgiving Day Parade still Number One. More than 100 groups, sports leagues and organizations joined in to make a better than ever parade this past August.

Play equipment has been placed in Flodin Park on Saltz Road with the recreation department planning several sports activities there this spring. The Canton Community Recreation Center behind the municipal building is in beautiful shape for the chalking of the six soccer fields, two baseball diamonds and one football field. Sports events seems to take priority with many residents and there should be no more grumbling about the lack of good playing fields close by.

With the devaluation of property everywhere, more than 2,000 residents requested their taxes be reviewed by the township of Canton. When the smoke settled at township hall there were 7,000 homeowners receiving lower tax bills in December. Our local government did not ask if they could raise our taxes so they did not inquire if we would like our taxes lowered.

OUR FINE library is a topic of pride for everyone using everything from the index files to the convenient bookdrop. The zebras came to the Canton location this year. All membership cards and every book is now computer coded for a more efficient library. Young and old enjoy the variety of exciting programs offered by Deborah O'Connor and her staff.

Yes, we have had an identity crisis in Canton. It was the folks in Plymouth who have helped us grow and now it is time to say thank you for all your help and we are on our way to becoming a fine community such as Plymouth. There will continue to be many instances where Plymouth and Canton combine forces to attain specific goals.

Project First Step in Canton succeeded in upgrading 25 homes for senior citizens with improvements such as a new furnace or a new roof.

A RECENT contract negotiation brought lower trash collection costs to the township budget. The retirement program offered to the employees of the township was negotiated recently bringing many tax dollars back to the township for other uses.

There is presently one township employee for every 405 residents, the lowest ratio in the tri-county area.

Our township government deserves a thank-you once in awhile. It is working for all of us because we care enough about each other and the way we live.

La Leche grows in popularity

The La Leche League of Plymouth-Canton has split into two groups to meet the needs of nursing mothers in the area. Group I meets the third Tuesday of each month and Group II meets the second Thursday.

The meetings in private homes are informal. Participants get support and guidance from others going through the same experience. Leaders in charge of the meetings have gone through special training and have nursed a baby for at least a year.

These leaders are available for support and information 24 hours a day by telephone.

Each group has a library of books on topics including breastfeeding, childbirth, nutrition and child care. The league's manual, "The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding," may be purchased.

LA LECHE LEAGUE is an international, non-profit organization whose goal is to encourage good mothering by breastfeeding.

There are more than 4,200 La Leche groups in the United States and throughout the world. La Leche, which is Spanish for "the milk," began in Chicago 26 years ago when one mother helped another with problems concerning nursing.

The American Academy of Pediatrics and the Canadian Pediatric Society agree that breastfeeding is very beneficial to infants at least through the first year. They believe that human milk is nutritionally superior to formula.

Anyone interested in learning about the benefits of breastfeeding is welcome to attend the meetings. It is not necessary to be pregnant or a new mother.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 13 at 42270 Ashbury, Canton Township. Ashbury is off Lilley between Ford and Warren. Times and locations of both groups' meetings are listed regularly in the Observer Clubs in Action column.

Persons attending a meeting for the first time do not have to register in advance. Nursing babies may accompany their mothers.

For more information call 459-1322 or 420-4012.

Angora wool just one use

Try 4-H rabbits for a real soft touch

By Margaret Miller
staff writer

Rabbits offer a multiplicity of reasons for being the focus of a 4-H club.

"They're nice pets," said Patricia Smith, for 10 years the adult leader of 4-H youth interested in rabbits.

"But they also are a food animal," she noted. And besides that, Smith pointed out, rabbits have fur that can be turned into soft coats or spun into even softer wool.

Rabbit clubs are popular in the 4-H, said Connie Testorelli, a program assistant in the 4-H division of the Wayne County Extension.

"They're good for kids who are interested in farm-type animals but live in suburban areas and can't work with cows or horses," she said.

Because rabbits aren't strictly pets, Pat Smith makes sure the young animal-raisers know about their commercial value.

"We have slaughtering clinics and tanning clinics every year," she said.

And on a recent rabbit club evening at Holmes Junior High in Livonia, Donna Pacheco came to show everyone how to spin rabbit hair into wool.

AN ANGORA RABBIT named Snowbird and owned by Garnet Patten turned out to be the star of the evening, but other breeds came to the meeting to watch with their owners.

Pacheco took the unprotesting Snowbird and showed the club how the long hairs can be combed out and then carded so it is ready for the spinning wheel.

"You don't clip angora rabbits," she said. "Spinners don't want clipped hair; there are too many short ends."

She said an angora like Snowbird can be combed several times a year and the hairs stored in a paper bag. When she had some of his coat combed out, she began pumping her spinning wheel and turning the fur into soft yarn.

"Some spinners just put the rabbit on their laps and start the wheel going," she noted. "I don't do it that way, though."

She twisted her fibers as the wheel turned. "Angora is easy to spin because you don't have to do anything to the fiber," said Pacheco. "You can mix it with wool to make it go farther. But it's the softest fiber there is. Merino is the finest wool you can spin, and it's not anything like angora for softness."

WHILE PACHECO was letting some of the club members take their turns at the spinning wheel, Smith talked about the group she heads.

A psychiatric nurse, she has been with the rabbit club since her own daughters were in 4-H and raised rabbits.

The 30 or more youngsters who show up for monthly meetings range in age from 10 through high school.

"They're in the club for different reasons," Smith said. "Some have one rabbit and it's a pet. Some have angoras and sell the wool. Some have show rabbits, French lops or tans or Netherland dwarfs."

"And some are raising meat rabbits." All members attend the slaughtering and tanning clinics, she added, and other 4-H club members come for those events. "It's important to all rabbit owners to know about slaughtering," she said. "Then when you have a litter you can't sell you can slaughter them and eat them."

The club also puts on its own show each year and joins in 4-H shows at the Belleville fairgrounds. Steven Hatypis is the current president.

The club show used to be in Smith's Livonia back yard, but this year it will be in the barn on the Wayne County Extension complex in Wayne.

THE RABBIT ENTHUSIASTS who meet at Holmes are known as the Rainbow Bunnies.

Their group originally was affiliated with Rainbow Riders, young people interested in horses and riding, said Smith. "My girls had both rabbits and horses," she noted, "but now they are older, we've split off the group of those who want to learn more about rabbits."

Those interested in joining the club are invited to call the Wayne County Extension, 721-6565, or Pat Smith, 476-8478, after 5 p.m.

"Rabbits are a good hobby," said the leader, "and what you learn can help you make money later in life."

The hands of Donna Pacheco firmly grasp the soft angora during the spinning process.

Then Donna Pacheco shows the 4-H members how to spin the rabbit hairs.

Renee Jamison has her hands full with a very fluffy rabbit.

How to submit news items to newspaper

News of clubs, service organizations, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are printed without cost in the Suburban Life Section of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer newspapers.

News items may be dropped off or mailed to the office at 481 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. Special forms are available for club news, engagements, weddings and 50th wedding anniversary announcements.

Black and white pictures are preferred as they reproduce more clearly than color photos. A self-addressed, stamped envelope assures return of the pictures, or, they can be picked up at the office a week after they have been published. Mail should be addressed to the attention of Elinor Graham, Suburban Life editor.

Activities of more major scope than regular club meetings may warrant more extensive coverage and a photograph. Call the newspaper, 459-2700, well in advance of the event to permit scheduling a photograph.

Breaking news stories (and we appreciate telephone calls on these) like fires, accidents, etc., receive on-the-spot coverage.

Other events, planned in advance, should be announced a week or so before the actual date.

Country antiques at mall show

A little bit of country moves into the Livonia Mall Jan. 12-16 for the annual winter antiques show that will boast some larger than usual displays of furniture.

Appearing in the show for the first time will be furniture from the collection of Connie Dornbos of Ypsilanti. The emphasis will be on country living.

From Kalamazoo, Helen Wagner will have a display of cut glass, painted china, custard glass and sterling souvenir spoons.

Other booths will feature china, primitives, frames, pottery, and silver.

Admission to the show is free of charge. Livonia Mall is located at Middlebelt and Seven Mile.

Peer training counseling offered

Women interested in participating in peer counseling training may arrange an appointment at Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center. They are invited to call the center at 591-6400, ext. 432 by Jan. 14.

Group interviews will be at 10 a.m. Jan. 17, 18 and 19. The eight-week empathy training course will meet from 9 a.m. to noon Mondays and Wednesdays, beginning Jan. 31.

The program is designed for those with an interest in helping women discover their potential. Participants will study how to listen with empathy and ways to solve problems. Upon successful completion of the training sessions, they are requested to serve as volunteer peer counselors three hours a week for a minimum of four months.

Individuals pay for 2.5 institutional credit of instruction.

For more information, call or visit the center in the second house south of the Schoolcraft Campus on Haggerty Road in Livonia, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 7-9 p.m. Wednesdays.

THERE'S MORE THAN ONE WAY TO GET THE BEST OF THE MONEY FUNDS.

We know of two in particular:

The First Investment Services from your First American Bank.

Both give you the best of the money funds: Immediate access to your money. Competitive money market rates. And no fees or penalties for early withdrawal.

But beyond that, you'll find differences that can make all the difference.

Our Investment Savings Fund. The rates are high, the minimum's not. With a minimum deposit of just $2,500 (the lowest the law allows), you can earn money market rates. And you can get to your money any time you need to.

Best of all, it's FDIC insured, up to $100,000 per depositor.

Our Investment Checking Fund. Write any number of checks for any amount.

Unlike money market funds, you can write an unlimited number of checks, for any amount large or small.

That's what makes our new $2,500 minimum Investment Checking Fund so attractive to investors looking for money market rates, FDIC insurance and something more.

Which brings us to perhaps the best reason for taking a serious look at either of our First Investment Services.

It's the simple convenience of dealing with people you know, at a place where you do your regular banking. It's an intangible, but an important one.

The First Investment Services from your First American Bank. Suddenly, your money fund alternatives look twice as promising.

Salem comeback falls short

Rocks squander late opportunities

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Dramatic it was. Heroic it wasn't. Plymouth Salem's basketball squad stormed back from a 12-point fourth-quarter deficit to within two and had chances — several of them — to tie it up Tuesday against Ypsilanti. But the Rocks failed and lost for the first time in five outings, 49-47, at Salem.

The defeat marred the Rocks' valiant comeback in the game's late stages. With 5:48 to play, Steve Lawrence, a third-year starter playing his first game this season for Ypsilanti, sank a pair of free throws to give the Braves a 47-35 lead.

That's when the Rocks made their run. Glenn Medalle's two free throws cut it to 10 with 5:23 left. Marvin Zurek then hit two more foul shots a minute later. Rick Berberet's basket cut Ypsi's lead to six and Matt Broderick's short jumper made it a four-point game with 2:14 still to play.

BUT BY THAT time, play on both sides had started to deteriorate. Salem had committed six turnovers in the third quarter and five minutes of the fourth, while Ypsi was guilty of mistakes five times. But in the final five minutes, with only four points separating the two teams, the game turned from basketball to volleyball.

Ypsilanti repeatedly turned the ball over under Salem's pressure. And the Rocks were obliging enough to give it right back to the Braves. Each team made four turnovers in the final three minutes.

Add to that the Rocks failure to convert two layups, then missing a pair of free throws that would have tied it with one second left, and Ypsi's inability to hit any of three one-and-one attempts, and the result is what turns coaches' hair white and stomachs sour.

Salem's Fred Thomann and Ypsi's Dick Ouellette gave different reasons for their teams' sloppy play. "We haven't played anyone with much basketball ability," Thomann said. He added that "we didn't play very well. Not very well at all. We struggled early, but played better as the game went on."

OUELLETTE PUT the blame for the sloppy final period on an old scapegoat — the officials. "It was sloppy," was his description of the officiating, noting one play in which Salem's Zurek scored with 31 seconds left and Ypsi called timeout. When the Braves inbounded the ball, Dave Spears was fouled but no time elapsed.

"We set it up by missing free throws," Ouellette

Crystal clear

Sports predicting for '83

Don't you just love those end-of-the-year stories about highlights and lowlights of the previous 12 months? Or how about the list of false prophecies? You know, like Sparky Anderson predicting his Tigers will win 90 games, or Wilfred Benitez saying he'll knock out Thomas Hearns. Of course, if it wasn't for the Los Angeles Rams, Monte Clark would be eating his words, too.

But predictions, no matter how outrageous or insignificant, are what keep otherwise dull events interesting, especially in the world of sports.

How exciting could the world of boxing be if, in a pre-fight press conference, Muhammad Ali would have told those in attendance, "I have one heckuva an opponent confronting me. If I don't watch it, I'm likely to get beat."

NO WAY. We're used to predictions like the one from Mr. T in "Rocky III." Asked what his prediction would be in his second bout with Rocky, Clubber forecasted: "Pain."

So what you have prior to the beginning of each new season or event usually is a bunch of words scientifically tossed together to tell you exactly how things are going to work out — if, of course, words spoke louder than actions.

As a sportswriter, I'm used to hearing predictions. As a fan, I'm more accustomed to reading them in newspapers. Now, it's my turn. Time to look ahead at some of the top stories — as far as I'm concerned — for 1983.

● Livonia Stevenson graduate David Hall comes off the bench to score 28 points as the University of Michigan basketball team upsets UCLA in the NCAA finals. Hall, a reserve player who saw limited action during the course of the regular season, hit seven of 14 shots prior to the championship game with the Bruins. He was called on after starting forward Ike Person was injured. Person collided with Bruin Ron Dogers and then fell into the basketball support structure where he suffered a separated shoulder.

"It's not easy putting a youngster like that in there and telling him to win the NCAA championship for you," a Michigan coach was heard to say afterward. "But that's what we asked and that's what he did."

● Badger Dave Blackmer boots a 53-yard field goal with three seconds left as Wisconsin earns a Rose Bowl berth with a 10-7 victory over Michigan. Blackmer, a graduate of Farmington Harrison High School, was once considering the Ann Arbor university in pursuit of higher education.

"I liked the coaching staff a lot better, though," Blackmer explained of the switch to Wisconsin.

"It was a smart move on his part," first-year Badger coach John Herrington said.

● In a related story, Farmington Harrison, which saw its enrollment fall to 512 this year, wins its third straight state football championship as the Hawks defeat dePorres, 28-20, in the Class C game.

Junior all-purpose back John Miller rushes for 312 yards, passes for 197 yards, and returns three kicks and five punts for a net total of 304 yards. Miller also punted five times for a 59-yard average.

The win was the Hawks' 35th in a row.

● Livonia heavyweight Craig Payne, tired of politics in the amateur boxing division, turns to the silver screen and shocks the world with a

Hall stands tall in Rose Bowl test

By Brad Emons
staff writer

A brief phone conversation with Dave Hall's mother summed up the Rose Bowl.

"He's gone through quite an experience," said Marsha.

A back-up quarterback is seen, but seldom heard. At Michigan, Hall usually stands on the sidelines next to Bo Schembechler, the head coach.

"I'm listening to the plays being called and that helps me pay attention better," said the Livonia Stevenson grad. "It keeps me in the game."

With six minutes to go in the first half, starter Steve Smith was crushed on an option run and had to leave the game with a separated shoulder in Michigan's battle with UCLA.

That was Hall's cue. He was going to play substantially as a Maize and Blue for the first time in his three-year career.

Hall didn't have time to think where he was at although it was the biggest game of the season. He had to get the club moving and help erase the deficit on the scoreboard.

"I WAS NERVOUS the first couple of plays," Hall admitted. "But I was pretty much involved in what I was doing. It would have been easier, though, if we would have been up 10-0 (UCLA won the game 24-14)."

people in sports

Hall, who threw just 14 passes coming into the game, said the Bruins' defense played it straight up.

"UCLA didn't really blitz at all," Hall said. "Basically, their defense was to stop the run, but they usually sent more backs in on second and third downs."

"I just wished they would have blitzed more because that would have given us one-and-one coverage with Anthony Carter (Michigan's All-American wide receiver)."

Hall, tentative at first, grew more confident as the game wore on.

He threw a pair of fourth down touchdown passes in the second half and completed 13 of 24 tosses on the day for 155 yards.

One pass, however, he'd like to have back. It was Blanchard Montgomery's 11-yard interception return for a TD in the fourth quarter.

"All through the game he (Bo) was very positive," said Hall. "He even took the blame for the one interception, but I shouldn't have thrown it."

"It was a new play we tried."

CONSIDERING the circumstances, Hall's performance was applauded.

"Bo said he was pleased with the way I played and kept my poise," said Hall. "and Rich Hewlett (ex-Michigan quarterback and now a safety) told me I did well and congratulated me. He encouraged me on the sidelines."

Just like he handled his job on the field, Hall was a poised performer despite all the sudden media attention.

"It was kind of strange," Hall said of the media onslaught following the game. "I was just glad I could play."

"I think it will help me a lot for next year. I just wish the game would have been longer. I felt better and better as the game went along."

Hall, who returned Monday night with his teammates from California, doesn't get much rest.

He started classes yesterday along with track practice.

"I'll be working on the decathlon," said the junior economics major. "It will take some months to get back in that type of shape."

"I'll take a couple of weeks off and then begin throwing every day."

HALL, who was redshirted last year and has two years of eligibility left, will not rejoin the Michigan basketball team.

"It was just too much on my knees,"

Dave Hall good showing

he said. "I developed tendonitis."

Hall will compete in the indoor track season followed by spring football practice.

And he'll go into spring practice this year knowing No. 7 can do the job when called upon.

"Dave did a very respectable job, I thought, under those tremendous, nervous conditions," said his former high-school coach, Jack Reardon. "We're all very proud of him."

Host Salem readies for mat invasion

Mat might. Wrestling supremacy. The state title will not be on the line Saturday at Plymouth Salem. But wrestling fans will get a chance to see some of the state's best teams at the Salem Invitational.

Sixteen teams will invade the Rocks' gym, including several of the state's best. Joining host-team Salem and potent neighbor Canton will be defending Class C champion Montrose, perennial local mat power Westland John Glenn, Macomb County tournament champion Mt.

wrestling

Clemens and several other talented squads.

Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger rated the Salem Invitational as being "right there with the John Glenn and Temperance-Bedford (tournaments). I think we're more balanced than the Bedford event."

HIS ROCKS, who emerged with the Canton Invitational title last week, are the defending Salem champions. Glenn, Mt. Clemens and Belleville have all won championships during the eight previous years of the Salem tournament and will be aiming for another Saturday.

The rest of the field includes both Ann Arbor Pioneer and Huron, Clarkston, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Fenton, Flushing, North Farmington, Portage Northern, Trenton and Ypsilanti.

Krueger feels his team has a good chance to defend its title. "The tougher the tournament we get into, the better we're going to fare," the Rock coach said. "We have five or six kids that can place anywhere."

Saturday's preliminary competition starts at 10:30 a.m. The consolation finals should begin at about 6 p.m., with the finals following approximately one hour later.

Admission is $1 for students and $2 for adults for each session (preliminaries and finals). Adults can also buy an all-day ticket for $3.50.

admitted. "And our free-throw shooting has been excellent."

Salem got itself into a hole early by failing to score a basket until the 5:54 mark — of the second quarter. By that time, Ypsi had built a 12-4 lead. It could have been larger, but the long holiday layoff left both teams flat and mistakes mounted on both sides.

Salem did get it going, cutting the Braves' lead to 21-18 at the half. Ypsi again got into gear in the third quarter to make it 39-30 after three quarters and maintained command before Salem's surge.

Zurek finished with 10 to top the Rocks. Broderick netted eight and Medaille seven. Lawrence and Spears had 12 apiece for Ypsi, with Anthony Knox adding 11.

The win was only Ypsi's second in five games, with the Braves first playing against Canton Dec. 7. Beating Salem prompted Ouellette to say, "Aren't their any other teams out here we can play?" Perhaps none quite so obliging.

Strategy backfires as John Glenn tops Churchill

By Ken McDonald
special writer

Mike Baydarian scored only two points Tuesday night, but they were the most important two points of the game.

The sophomore guard from Westland John Glenn sank two free throws with 17 seconds to break a 44-44 tie as the Rockets nipped Livonia Churchill, 47-44, in a non-league basketball game.

Glenn raised his season record to 7-2 while Churchill fell to 4-2.

The Chargers fought back from a 10-point deficit in the final period and tied the game on John Grzybski's 18-foot jumper with 20 seconds to go.

basketball standings

Glenn coach Dan Henry then called timeout to set up a final, last-second shot. The Rockets had to take the ball the length of the court to score.

But Churchill coach Don Albertson became the perfect host, ordering his team to intentionally foul Baydarian, who missed a key free throw a minute earlier. The strategy, however, backfired.

"We were looking to go for the last shot and then all of a sudden we were shooting two shots at the line," said Henry. "I couldn't believe it."

After Baydarian's free throws put Glenn on top, Churchill came back but was unable to convert the equalizer with five seconds to go.

Glenn center Paul Grazulis grabbed the missed shot and passed to Greg Gill, who was fouled. Gill followed by making one of two free throws to seal the verdict.

"I THOUGHT they would bring it down with Gill and he would be either drive inside and dish it off, drawing a foul, or take the outside shot at the buzzer," explained Albertson. "He's their best shooter and I wanted to have some time left at the end of the game if he made it."

Glenn broke a 14-14 deadlock after one quarter, reeling off 12 unanswered points. Churchill scored only one basket in the second quarter, that coming with 54 seconds left on a shot by John Merner.

The Rockets maintained a 10-point advantage most of the second half, but Churchill pulled back into the game on Craig Hunter's tying basket with 3:40 remaining. Tim Luch, who led Churchill with 13 points, then made two free throws a minute later to give Chargers a two-point cushion.

Glenn, however, came back behind four of Jack Walker's nine points.

Gill tossed in 15 to lead all scorers. The 6-foot-8 Grazulis, who was effective in the first half before getting into foul trouble, added 10 points.

Merner, a 6-6 senior, added 10 in a losing cause for the Chargers.

THE ROCKETS managed a third-place finish last week in a holiday tournament at Henry Ford Community College.

Glenn fell to tourney champion Toledo Scott in its opener, 59-46. Grazulis led all scorers with 19 points and Baydarian chipped in nine.

"Things went much better for the Rockets in the consolation game as they slammed Dearborn Fordson, 77-49.

Glenn outscored the Tractors 21-6 in the second quarter and never looked back in the surprisingly easy triumph.

Baydarian notched 20 points while Todd Jennings and Gill contributed 17 and 11, respectively.

'Masked man' leads Stevenson

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Who was that masked man?

To Franklin and the fans in the stands, it was probably the Lone Ranger. But really it was 6-foot-5 sophomore center Bob Sluka, who led Livonia Stevenson to a convincing 68-54 basketball win Tuesday night over the Patriots.

It was Stevenson's fifth win in six games. Franklin, meanwhile, fell to 1-5.

Sluka was riding high all night as he poured in 22 points, making 11-of-13 shots. He also grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked four shots while playing with a protective mask after suffering a broken nose in practice on New Year's Eve.

"Bob's a very capable player," said Stevenson coach George Van Wagoner. "In fact, I'm going to put masks on the other four guys."

While Sluka controlled things inside, 6-7 junior forward Tom Domako played Tonto, riddling Franklin's zone defense with his pinpoint shooting.

Domako gunned in four straight long-range shots in the first quarter as Stevenson jumped out to a 20-17 lead and finished the evening with 23 points to lead all scorers.

Franklin's full-court pressure failed to bother the Spartans as senior guards Gary Mexicoote and Pete Rose controlled the tempo.

SLUKA GOT hot in the second quarter, scoring 10 points (two baskets on tip-ins) as Stevenson spread its advantage to seven, 37-30.

Franklin's shooting and fast-break attack went sour in the third quarter. Rose and Sluka, meanwhile, combined for 12 points as Stevenson built its advantage to 55-36. After that it was "Hi-Oh Silver and Away" for the Patriots.

"We're trying to find a combination that can play consistently for four quarters," said Franklin coach Jim McIntyre. "At times we play well, but nothing is consistent.

"But we're still scrappy and eager to get on the right track."

Mike Johnson led the Patriots with 16 points and center Bob Stebbins added 12. But none of the Franklin starters shot better than 45 percent.

Stevenson senior forward Bob Palmisano did a commendable job of guarding Stebbins. He also helped out offensively, passing off for eight assists.

ROSE AND MEXICOTTE combined for 14 points and their play pleased Van Wagoner.

"Tom (Domako), Gary and Pete can all make the outside shot," said Van Wagoner. "And Gary is starting to find himself. He's getting back into it after playing soccer."

Stevenson travels tomorrow to Plymouth Salem in a key Lakes Division game at 7:45 p.m.

Observer to list best swimmers

All boys' swim coaches are asked to help us in listing the fastest high school swim times in the area during the months ahead.

Your part is easy: Simply give Livonia Stevenson coach Doug Buckler a call with your team's fastest times. Buckler will be compiling the listing, which will appear on the Observer's stats page starting in January.

Buckler can be reached from 2:30-5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at Stevenson by calling 261-1250 and asking for the pool. Times can also be reported to Buckler in the evening at 531-8872.

Your cooperation is necessary in making this endeavor an accurate one. So, coaches, start calling in your swim times.

Pro tour parity: purses larger

The members of the team are Steve Jurak (231), Ed Gurney (225), Pete Anton (197), Mary Thomas (178) and May Gilnas (149).

JOE DALLACANA drew a frown from "Lady Luck" recently at Merri-Bowl. With 11 consecutive strikes, Dallacana was headed for a perfect game and an American Bowling Congress award. But he left the No. 10 pin standing on the final ball and had to settle for a 299.

Cheryl Rehling paced the women for the week with a 263 in 650.

AT GARDEN LANES, Joe Buzanowski topped the St. Linus League with a 633 and Jerry Szosak led the Vinco circuit with 635. Carol Martel topped the ladies group with a 630.

In the pocket

by W.W. Edgar

Professional bowling is going big time this year.

With a prize list passing more than $2 million, the sport will now take its place with other sports that lavish the leaders with large purses.

Included in the 16-tournament spring schedule are the National championships in Toledo and the Firestone event at Akron — both have prize lists of $200,000.

These purses are by far the largest ever offered in bowling and marks another step up for prestige.

AS THE LEAGUE season enters the final half of the schedule, sharpshooters have a series of difficult targets to beat for the year's high scoring honors.

On the women's side, Cheryl Daniels has the high series with a 767 in the ladies all-star league. Geri Beattie has a perfect game and the Bonanza Restaurant team holds two top counts with a 1,112 game in a 3,102 series.

On the men's side, 58 perfect games were rolled. This is one more than was rolled at this point a year ago. Meanwhile, Bob Strampe has an 824 series and the Bonanza Restaurant team has a 3,650 that includes a 1,255 game.

THE SHOOTERS at Westland Bowl got off to a good start in the new year when three leglers broke the 700 barrier and earned membership in the western suburban 300 club.

In the Monday morning men's league, Phil Kupras closed with a 258 for 742, beating Rick Williams who had a middle game of 259 for 731. Meanwhile, John Kmiecik registered a 288 and then scored a 201 and 223 for a 713 series in the all-star league.

THE SENIOR citizens set a new high for the season at Woodland Lanes when one of the teams posted a 790 series.

SNOWMOBILE FUND-RAISER
Ever think about taking a scenic five-day ride through Michigan's Lower Peninsula — on a snowmobile?
That's what is set for Feb. 7-12, and it's all for a good cause: to support the Michigan Special Olympics.

The Vic Wertz Distributing Co. will sponsor the second annual event, and former American League baseball player Wertz will make the 625-mile trip. Last year, the benefit collected $27,000 to support the Special Olympics and, according to Wertz Distributors general manager Mitch Cohoon, that total should be surpassed "by $10,000 or more."

The caravan ride begins at the Wertz distributorship in Mt. Clemens on Monday, Feb. 7, and will arrive in Mackinaw City Saturday, Feb. 12. Along the route, the caravan will make overnight stops in Bay City, Grayling, Sugar Loaf Mountain (site of the Special Olympic Winter Games), Gaylord and Alpena.

Riders, in cooperation with the Michigan Lions' Club, are collecting funds. Anyone wishing to make a contribution should send a check to Vic Wertz — Special Olympics, PO Box 804, Mt. Clemens 48043, Attention: Kent Kukuk.

STRENGTH-TRAINING CLINIC
Gene Baker, coach for one of the National Sports Festival weightlifting teams last summer, will be the featured speaker at a strength-training clinic Saturday, Jan. 22 at Detroit Country Day School, located at 13 Mile and Lahser in Birmingham.

The clinic, sponsored by the American Weightlifting Coaches Association, is free and open to anyone interested in weight training. Baker's talk will center on Olympic-style lifting and how to integrate it into a strength-training program.
Baker will also talk about the Junior Olympic weightlifting program, sponsored by the AAU. The program will feature demonstrations and a question-and-answer period.
The clinic runs 1,3 p.m. For further information, contact Baker at 981-0784.

PITCHER SOUGHT
Girl softball players who fancy themselves as more than capable pitchers might be interested in trying out for the Finlan Insurance Women's Softball Club. The team, comprised of collegiate and ASA-honored players, is looking for good fastpitch pitchers who would like to play on a team that travels throughout southern Michigan and into Indiana.
If you think you have the qualifications, call Mr. McDowell at 455-3737.

GOLF DATES
Swinging your clubs might be difficult this time of year, but you can still get into golf by attending one or all of three scheduled golf luncheons this winter.

Deane Beman, commissioner of the PGA tour, will be the featured speaker at the Tuesday, Jan. 18 luncheon at Detroit Golf Club, with the topic being the PGA tour, specifically the 1983 model.
On Feb. 22, Oakland Hills Country Club will be the site of a luncheon with the speaker being Hord Hardin, chairman of the Masters Tournament and former president of the USGA. Chick Harbert, former PGA champion and Meadowbrook Country Club pro, will be the featured personality at the March 29 outing at a site to be determined.

The price for each luncheon is $16 per person, with proceeds split between the Michigan PGA Junior Golf Fund and the Evans Caddie Scholarship Fund. The luncheons are under the joint sponsorship of the Golf Association of Michigan (GAM) and the Michigan section of the PGA.
For further information, call Doug Findlay of the PGA at 569-0400 or Bud Erickson of the GAM at 569-3400.

CRESTWOOD POOL
Registration for swimming lessons at Dearborn Heights Crestwood pool will be held 7:30-8:30 p.m., Jan. 17 and 19 at the pool. All levels of instruction are available, including parent-tot for children ages 1 and 2, preschool for swimmers ages 3 and 4, beginner through advanced swimmers, advanced lifesaving, springboard diving and adult lessons.

HOCKEY GREATS
Former Red Wing greats will return to the ice Jan. 11 for the Lucky Strike Masters hockey game at the Joe Louis Arena at 7:30 p.m.
Gordie Howe, Ted Lindsay, Alex Delvecchio, Frank Mahovlich, Bill Gadabny and other former Red Wing icers will face off against a squad of Masters led by Phil Esposito, Bobby Hull, Yvon Cournoyer and Stan Mikita. Proceeds from the game will benefit current and former National Hockey League players through the Phil Esposito Foundation's NHL Alumni Crisis and Post Career Planning Program.

The cold facts:

State offers 101 ways to enjoy winter

The Snowbirds have already flown south to warm weather places, leaving us to contemplate that inevitable moment when we first get stuck in the snow. The unseasonal green grass not withstanding, winter is here.

The farther north you go, the more Michigantians know how to enjoy winter instead of just cursing it as many Detroiters do. There are 101 mostly crazy ways to have winter fun, from the traditional carnivals and downhill skiing to more exotic pastimes like the National Snurfing Championships in Grand Rapids, the Polar Ice Cap Golf Tournament at Spring Lake and the Irish Weekend at Shanty Creek, where they drink green beer on the slopes.

If you just enjoy looking at winter, you will find snow mounding the hillboards soon-enough, evergreens frosted like Christmas trees as you approach the Big Mac bridge and natural ice sculpture turning the Lake Superior shore into an alien planet in all directions.

Some northerners know how to spend a day climbing and photographing the icy shorelines, walking away from civilization on snowshoes, taking off alone into the woods on cross-country skis. They also know how to dress for such an experience, and the kind of safety measures that bring them back alive.

Safety in very cold weather includes layered clothing for warmth; a ski pole or crampons for balance and support; sunglasses. City slickers may forget that it can be dangerous to be lost in the woods at 10 below zero, so follow common-sense safety directions if you plan to walk, ski or snowmobile alone.

If you would rather go winter-crazy in a group, there are winter festivals in every village and town in the state. According to Jim Hall, President of the East Michigan Tourist Association, there are more than 50 winter carnivals in the eastern half of the lower peninsula, from Flint north, alone.

The biggest are in the upper part of the L.P.: Tip-Up Town in Houghton Lake Jan. 15 and 16 and Jan. 22 and 23; the 58th annual Winter Carnival at Grayling, oldest carnival in the state, traditionally held the second weekend in February.

THE TRIPLE CROWN Snowmobile races start with the Thunder Bay 250 during the Alpena Winter Carnival Jan. 14 to 23 and move on during February to Lincoln, Traverse City and Sault St. Marie.

The Snow Carnival, Jan. 28-30, including the Moose Jaw Safari Jan. 29, is the highlight of winter in Harbor Springs. The North American VASA cross-country skiing race takes place Feb. 12 in Traverse City, which also hosts the Frozen Cherry Festival Feb. 18-20.

Smeltania, first held during the Great Depression and revived three years ago, will dominate the ice of Lake Charlevoix at Boyne City Jan. 28-30.

Lots of winter events are connected with downhill ski resorts, especially at Crystal Mountain in Thompsonville, where a variety of ski races and other

1-of-a-kind traveler
Iris Jones
contributing travel editor activities are listed throughout the winter.

There's the Lang Lauf five- and 15-kilometer race at the Pando Ski Area in Grand Rapids Jan. 15; Pando also hosts the National Snurfing Contest Jan. 29 for those who like to surf on snow.

Hilton Shanty Creek has a Bavarian weekend Feb. 4-5 and Irish Weekend March 19 at Bellaire; there's a snow festival at Timber Ridge in Gobels Feb. 12-13.

Here's a list of some of the other fun things to do in the Lower Peninsula this winter:

West Michigan — winter sports festival in the White Lake Area Jan. 28 to Feb. 6; White Lake also has the Snofari at Montague Feb. 4 to 6. Winter Festival, Saugatuck, Jan. 29; Winter Fun Festival Ludington Feb. 2 to 13.

Gun Lake Winter Festival Feb. 4 to 6; Hart Winter Carnival Feb. 11 to 13; Valentine Winter Carnival at the Swiss Valley Ski Area near Jones Feb. 25 to 27.

The further north you go, the more Michigantians know how to enjoy the beauties of winter, such as these ice formations (left) near Marquette. Once winter really gets going, vacationers can see evergreens frosted like Christmas trees as they approach the Mackinac Bridge and natural ice sculpture turning the Lake Superior shore into an alien planet in all directions.

Driving in dark has added rules

Night driving can be stressful, but that condition can be eased with some care. The Automotive Information Council (AIC) has compiled some tips pertaining to the car and to the driver.

It suggests that a driver sit in the car for a minute or two before starting to permit the eyes to adjust to darkness.

Don't look at the lights of on-coming cars, a practice that will change the focus of the eyes. Instead, look to the right of the lane marker or at the shoulder markings.

Don't wear colored glasses to avoid headlight glare. They reduce needed detail in night vision.

ON A LONG trip, keep alert by moving the eyes, arms and legs and take occasional rest stops to reduce eye and body fatigue.

Watch your speed. Don't "over-drive" the distance you can see.

Regarding the car, make sure the headlights and tail lights are clean. Under adverse weather conditions, stop frequently to clean dirt, ice or snow from the lights.

The inside surface of the windshield should be clean to avoid distortion from on-coming headlights. This is especially important in summer if you have a plastic dashboard. Deposits from smoke attract moisture and increase distortion and glare.

WINDSHIELD WIPERS should be able to clean the windshield without leaving streaks or smears, which can hamper vision. Have the blades replaced if the wipers don't clean the windshield.

Check the windshield washer fluid level weekly so you don't get caught with an empty reservoir.

Car care booklet will help you cope

Regular maintenance is a crucial factor in the life of your car. And according to the U.S. General Services Administration, a few easy checks can help you avoid a broken fan belt on the road or more serious engine problems.

Learn the routine maintenance you can perform in Car Care and Service $1.25 from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 104K, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

You should check your oil at least every other time you fill up with gasoline. Don't add oil until you're a quart low, but when you reach this point, put in a can of all-weather oil.

IF THE oil warning light ever comes on while your engine is running, turn off the ignition immediately. Continued operation could result in major engine damage.

Periodically check the fluid in your manual or automatic transmission. Cars with automatic transmissions must be checked while the engine is running. If the car whines while it's shifting, it could mean your car's transmission needs service.

Check your tire pressure at least once a month. Buy a tire gauge and learn how to use it.

And learn how to "read" the tires themselves: wear on the edges indicates your tires are underinflated, while wear in the middle means they're overinflated. Maintaining the correct pressure not only prolongs tire life, it can also improve your gasoline mileage.

WHENEVER YOU take your car in for routine maintenance, ask the mechanic to check your hoses for soundness and your fan belt for correct tension.

Every spring and fall, have the anti-freeze-water mixture tested. This can help you avoid a freeze-up or boilover.

If your car ever does overheat while you're driving, pull over and turn off the engine to let it cool. If you're stuck in traffic and can't pull over, shift into neutral and press the accelerator one quarter down.

Then turn on your heater, it will drain some of the excess heat from the engine while you look for an opportunity to stop and turn off the ignition. Of course you'll get a little warmer with the heater on, but you'd get a lot warmer pushing the car, rather than letting the engine do that.

THE BOOKLET also contains tips on how to get the best service for your automobile. And when you order Car Care and Service you'll receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog.

The catalogue is published quarterly by the U.S. General Service Administration's Consumer Information Center and lists more than 200 free and low-cost booklets of general consumer interest.

Second runs Tom Panzenhagen

"Start the Revolution Without Me" (1970), 1:30 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 7. Originally 98 minutes.

Director Bud Yorkin has had as many flops in the last 20 years as his former partner and producer, Norman Lear, has had hits. The list includes "Come Blow Your Horn," "Never Too Late," "Divorce American Style," "Inspector Clouseau" and "The Thief Who Came to Dinner." If these films have anything in common, it's that they have nothing in common, which may account for Yorkin's inability to settle into a distinctive and effective directorial style. "Start the Revolution," however, succeeds despite Yorkin's clumsy handling, and thanks largely to the delightfully hammy performances of stars Gene Wilder and Donald Sutherland. They play two sets of twins — one pair downtrodden peasants and the other pair affected aristocrats — at the time of the French Revolution. Hugh Griffith and Orson Welles also star. Rating: $3.10.

"Bride on the River Kwai" (1957), 3 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 7. Originally 161 minutes.

Early in his career, David Lean directed and co-scripted films from such famous novels as "Great Expectations" and "Oliver Twist." As a writer he reduced these works to a fraction of their original length, but as a director he maintained, and brought to life, the spirit of each novel. Later in his career, Lean directed "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Lawrence of Arabia" and "Doctor Zhivago," epic works one and all but films that never lose sight of detail or character. Alec Guinness, William Holden, Sessue Hayakawa and Jack Hawkins star. Rating: $3.55.

"That's Entertainment, Part 2" (1976), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 133 minutes.

The original "That's Entertainment" showcased MGM's many musical stars, while this sequel features comedy and drama, as well. Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly play host to Greta Garbo, Judy Garland, the Marx Brothers, Jack Benny and many more. Rating: $3.

"Young Frankenstein" (1974), 9 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 105 minutes.

When you parody a parody, you're likely to come out third best, which is what happens to Mel Brooks' "Young Frankenstein," the film that's a remake of "Bride of Frankenstein," which was director James Whale's tongue-in-cheek sequel to the original "Frankenstein" (1931). That's not to say that always-funny Gene Wilder and Peter Boyle (as the monster) don't have their moments. But there are more tired jokes than new ideas here. Madeline Kahn, Cloris Leachman and the late Marty Feldman also star. Rating: $2.50.

Area musicians made their mark in 1982

By Nick Charles
special writer

In 1982, the local music scene was just as busy as the rest of the country. The year belonged to a single performer. It was owned by Marshall Crenshaw. The 28-year-old Berkley native stunned the world with his debut album of pure pop masterpieces.

Crenshaw played the Royal Oak Music Theatre, the Second Chance Bar and Hart Plaza before bopping off to London, Dublin and Stockholm (not to forget New York City and an appearance on the David Letterman show).

In August, the Look released its second album, "Look Again," on Southfield's Plastic Records. The album's single, "You Can't Sit Down," was played on the "rate-a-record" portion of Dick Clark's "American Bandstand" on Sept. 11 and pulled a powerful 94 percent. It had a "very infectious beat to it," Clark told the TV audience. "It'll be a big hit."

"I got excited when I heard it, but it was like it was happening to someone else," said Randy Volin, the Look's guitarist. "It took me at least a day to believe it."

TOBY REDD released its debut album, "A to Z," on Plastic Records while Letter O (formerly Radio City) logged a fantastic debut on Canada's A&M Records.

It's also definitely "Time to Move" for BSA (Bittersweet Alley). Hopefully, that means onward and upward for the hardest-working group in the Detroit area.

BSA is recording its first album for Orient/RCA Records (of Canada.) Lead guitarist/vocalist Gary Spaniola is producing and arranging the upcoming album. It's set for release this month.

Another talented guitarist producing his own works is Bruce Nazarian of the Automatix. The group recently signed with MCA Records.

"It's going real well," Nazarian said. "We're done with most of the recording and it should be out by February."

While all these people are busy writing and recording music, WLLZ-FM's Dave Scott and Doug Podell are responsible for Detroit's answer to MTV, the cable music network. Their show, "The Beat," airs at 11 p.m. Saturdays on WTVS, Channel 56.

THE SHOW, simulcast on WLLZ-FM, is one of the best things to come out of the Detroit area in a long time. Not only does "The Beat" feature videos of national recording groups, it showcases local bands.

The mystical, magical game of musical chairs seemed to be played every year as line-ups of bands all over the country change. Metro Detroit isn't any exception this year, with the break up of the Knack. Two members of the band (Bruce Gary and Berton Averre) are playing with former Doors' guitarist. Robby Krieger. Lead singer/songwriter Doug Fieger formed a new group, Taking Chances.

He's written a lot of new music and they have dates all over California, Texas and the Southwest," said June Fieger of Southfield, the musician's mother. "Doug is writing all the new material."

Detroit's own boys in red (or whatever color they're wearing this year), the Romantics, replaced bassist Rich Cole of Rochester by rehiring lead guitarist Mike Skill.

"A lot of people say I left because of musical differences, which isn't true," Cole said. "I liked what I was doing. They had to replace me with Mike because of their lack of songwriting ability. Mike's a good songwriter. I won't deny that."

COLE IS putting together a new band in Rochester. "I'm having a great time working with these people. It's a break from the grind I was in," he said. The Wagon Wheel Saloon in Troy conducted its second annual Muscular Dystrophy benefit Sept. 5 with the help of flutist Alexander Zonjic, Vizitor, Tri-fecta (one of the best pop bands in the area), the Rick Hall Band and Letter O.

Special credit goes to Lorio-Ross' David Black, who actually sold personal belongings off his body, yelled, begged and went without sleep to help this year's benefit earn $3,186, topping last year's take.

"I felt great that it was a success," said Paul Van Gamper, Wagon Wheel manager. "The whole situation was very positive."

Jeff Ryan of Canton fulfilled one of his dreams when he wrote "Recollections, the Detroit Years." The book tells the story of Motown's artists, records and influence. Singer Martha Reeves, a Motown alumna who once was teamed with the Vandellas, is helping Ryan promote the book.

Bob Stewart of Bloomfield Hills left his band, Bolts, in which he played keyboards, sang and composed, to form his own sound company. Stewart has joined forces with guitarist Russ Epker of Birmingham, who played with the News, a Birmingham-based band. The talented twosome will be spinning off jingles for Dave Orr at Associates of Bloomfield.

SOUTHFIELD'S WRIF-FM conducted its second annual "Motor City Jam" at Cobo Hall and raised more than $25,000 from 8,200 fans to help pay for the Detroit Zoo train. The jam, headlined by the Romantics, featured the Dick the Bruiser Band, Letter O, Toby Redd, BSA, and the Look.

WLLZ of Farmington Hills joined in on the fun by sponsoring its first "Motor City Rocks" concert Sept. 11 at Pine Knob. The concert, which began at noon and lasted until 11 p.m., featured 10 bands. Among them were the Roomates, the Cadillac Kidz, Vendetta, Mugsy, Adrenalin, and Strut. Mitch Ryder led the lineup. All proceeds from the show went to Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Southfield.

Meadow Brook's 'Folly' never really gets going

Performances of Lanford Wilson's romantic comedy "Talley's Folly" continue through Jan. 23 at Meadow Brook Theatre on the Oakland University campus near Rochester. For ticket information call 377-3300.

By Helen Zucker
special writer

Meadow Brook Theatre's production of "Talley's Folly," directed by Charles Nolte, is 90 minutes of puzzlement.

David Regal, a strong, macho actor, dims his personality to play Matt

review

Friedman, a Jewish accountant from St. Louis; and Deanna Dunagan, who looks like everyone's ideal of a nurse's aide, tries to convince us she's really batty Sally Talley.

There isn't an ounce of sexual chemistry between Regal and Dunagan — and the result of the meeting between this improbable pair is a wildly improbable talkathon.

Strong sexual attraction is the only thing that could have pulled this script into the realm of the barely believable. Even then, the script has problems that the best of actors, working at top bent, would have trouble surmounting. (I kept remembering Regal's wonderful performance as a longshoreman in "View from the Bridge" a year ago and, even more, remembering the way everything clicks together in Arthur Miller's play.)

THE JOINTS simply don't meet in Wilson's "Talley's Folly." It's a poorly crafted piece of work. It's heavy with symbolism. The characters sit in a rocking boat in a disintegrating boat-house that looks like a gazebo. Matt attempts to ice skate on the rotten wood and falls through. He is pulled out of the "thin ice" by Sally. She warns him there are snakes underneath.

The low sound of rushing water is heard throughout. Yes, we know. Life is rushing by, life is fragile. You want to get up and yell, "Cut all the symbols! Enough already!"

The set, designed by Peter W. Hicks, picks up every symbol in the play, and even adds a few. Bullrushes? That's where Moses, the saved Jewish baby, is found by the town princess, who pulls him from the water.

And, of course, Matt is a klutz, knocking skis and pails everywhere, but he can add mammoth figures like lightning and knows all about economics. Sally, the daughter of the town's leading garment manufacturer, can't add up her own savings account.

WELL, THAT isn't too unbelievable. The political conversations are the truly crazy ones. Matt says he is past all "isms," believes in nothing. "War is life; life is war." Yet he will "never bring a child into this terrible world." I cannot think of a stronger political statement. Sally's politics seem to evolve from some sort of private snit. She is fired from Sunday School for reading "The Theory of the Leisure Class" to her charges. Yet she knows nothing about the world outside her small Missouri town.

Oddly enough, thin as she is, Sally Talley is more believable than Matt Friedman. Wilson's boyhood in a Missouri town adds a few touches of reality that simply don't carry over into the life of a Jewish immigrant.

It's as if Wilson had been mesmerized by tales he heard in New York of escaped refugees; considered them colorful people, and he was going to make up an even better tale than the factual escapes we have all heard (and which are often wilder than fantasy).

Matt's tale of his boyhood escape with his uncle in 1914 rings false. And the sudden intrusion of nightclub jokes about Ben Franklin and his wife, ethnic jokes about Poles and Italians and Jews, seems stranger than the howling dogs, rednecks in the yard and old Aunt Charlotte yacking away up in the house on the hill.

THE PLAY SEEMS to be taking place in some strange Southern town. There are overtones of Truman Capote and Tennessee Williams. Wilson, upon winning the Pulitzer Prize for "Talley's Folly," said, "I wish I were Faulkner, because he could get it all down."

I wish Wilson had Faulkner's knowledge of the human heart. And Faulkner's magic way with words. I am puzzled as to why "Talley's Folly" won the Pulitzer.

Deanna Dunagan plays Sally Talley, the female lead in "Talley's Folly" at Meadow Brook Theatre.

backgammon

of the Cavendish North backgammon club

I have but one New Year's resolution for backgammon players: let me keep my objectives clearly in mind and let me do my own thinking.

The position diagrammed above occurred in a weekly Sunday tournament at the Cavendish North. White had rolled a 6-2 and stopped for a moment to consider his position. Clearly he has no chance to win the game but by avoiding the gammon he would stay alive in the match.

White therefore played his forced 6 from the black 11 point to his own 8 point and quite correctly played the 2 on his inner board from his 6 to his 4 point. Now unless his opponent rolled a double, white would be off the gammon as all numbers allow him to take a man off on his next roll.

Notice that if white had played more hastily and brought his last man in to his 6 point he would not be able to bear off a man on his next roll, if he rolled any of the following numbers: 5-4; 5-3; 4-3; 4-4; and 5-5, a total of 8 numbers out of 36 possible.

IN OTHER WORDS, if white loses sight of his objective and relies on some general rule such as "You can't get 'em off until you get 'em in," or "Always take as many crossovers (moving from one quadrant to the next is a crossover) as possible when trying to run off a gammon," he would not maximize his chances.

Such axioms are fine but they can never take the place of clear thinking.

By making the correct play white will achieve his goal 83 percent of the time, which is to say whenever his opponent doesn't roll a double. His infer-or alternative of bringing his last man home, which seems to fulfill the general rules mentioned above, yields a 64 percent expectation of success. The choice should be clear.

I would like to start out the new year by thanking those readers who sent in their backgammon problems and would again like to encourage any reader with a question about backgammon to write to me in care of this paper or directly to the Cavendish Club in Southfield.

For all those of you who got backgammon sets for Christmas and would like a sound foundation in the fundamentals of the game, I heartily recommend the six-week series of beginners' lessons offered at the Cavendish Club starting Jan. 17. It is probably the best bargain in backgammon at $12 for the entire series.

ANOTHER GOOD idea for those players interested in sharpening up their game would be to compete in local tournaments. Such tournaments are held every week in Plymouth, Livonia, Flint and Southfield.

This weekend Detroiters will have a rare opportunity to see some of the finest players in the country competing in the Motor City Nationals on Friday-Sunday at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. I understand that last-minute entries are still available in all flights from beginners to championship.

Spectators also are welcome, so those who can't commit themselves to a weekend of backgammon can at least stop in and see what a major backgammon tournament is like.

(Ms. Field's real step-father is Jock O'Mahoney, a former stuntman who later played Tarzan after dropping the "O" from his name); and Robert Klein does a savage impersonation of director Peter Bogdanovich who dir-

Bacteria mellows red wines' acidity

In the ancient days, and in those of not so long ago as well, wines would be closely watched in the spring following harvest and initial fermentation. On occasion, wines that had been resting quietly since their initial period of ferment would suddenly burst into life, an "awakening to the spring" with the warmer weather.

Our understanding of this phenomenon comes from the work of Louis Pasteur. At the turn of the century he learned that this dramatic spring madness is nothing less than a secondary fermentation, induced by bacteria sometimes present in the winery.

When these wild strains of bacteria were activated by warm spring weather, they would change the wine. When they were not activated, nothing happened. Very unsatisfactory. (Nor can initial fermentation be left to the caprice of nature. Cultured yeast strains are used to assure this occurrence, as well.)

Today, nearly all modern wineries induce the process in certain wines by using controlled yeast enzyme strains. It is no longer left to chance. This ability dates only from the 1950s in both France and California, the latter owing its knowledge to the fine technicians of the University of California at Davis.

What happens in this operation is that the yeasts go to work on the wine.

When the bacteria strains are introduced into the wine, they begin to multiply until they have amassed sufficient strength to attack the malic acid that is a natural element of grapes. They break down the diacid, malic and degenerate it into a monoacid, lactic, which contains only half the effective strength.

The process reduces the strength of the naturally present acids in the wine and dramatically softens it. Thus, from an ideal perspective, one wants malolactic fermentation to occur in those wines that are naturally high in acidity, i.e., reds, and to not want it in those that are low, i.e., whites.

The introduction of yeast strains and increase in temperature assures that Cabernet Sauvignon, Petite Sirah and Zinfandel will go through malolactic fermentation each spring following harvest. The event tends to take away some of the harshness that is a natural product of the winemaking process, especially in the big red wines where extended skin contact in the crushed grapes has produced a highly acidic product.

Because Pinot Noir is naturally less endowed with acidity it is frequently kept cool and free from the yeast strains so that it will retain the slight acidity it naturally has.

The process may take a week or up to six months.

In the more delicate world of white wines, where initial fermentation is cool and the wine is stored that way, secondary fermentation is not wanted except sometimes in Chardonnay. This massive white wine which is often more acidic and flavorful than some weak reds, may well be induced to go through the process to make it softer and more complex.

Chardonnays that are described as "buttery" have probably been through the exercise or at least some of the cuvee has. It is the sweeter, fruitier wines (Chenin Blanc and Jhannisberg Riesling especially) that need the acidity of the grape to offset their natural sweetness, thereby producing wines described as "balanced".

The process of producing wine, such a "natural" operation, has a great many subtle nuances. One of them, the action of a simple enzyme on malic acid to reduce it to lactic, is extremely important to the quality of the red wines we drink.

Middle-class blacks subject of new book

"The World from Brown's Lounge," a book by Michael Bell, associate professor of English at Wayne State University, has just been published by the University of Illinois Press.

Bell spent three hours a day for 18 months observing the life of middle-class blacks in a West Philadelphia bar, listening and observing, to complete his urban research.

In doing so, he discovered a well-ordered society that has "its own special rules and ethics and revolved around the intense verbal word play found in narration, disputation and spontaneous performance."

Before Bell joined the Wayne faculty in 1974, he was an archivist at the University of Pennsylvania Folklore and Folklore Archives. His Ph.D. is from the University of Pennsylvania.
