The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is urging the state to abandon its plans to increase the income tax and to cut spending instead.

That request was made in a resolu-Schroeder, board treasurer, and adopted 6-1 Monday night.

"Continued state and federal tax increases drain the taxing capacity of local government and, therefore, have and educational services and programs.

The Michigan Department of Social Services has grown at an unprecedented rate, resulting in more than half of the state's revenue being spent in this one area, he said.

The state has attempted to maintain the level of social services in spite of declining revenue and a growing deficit," said Schroeder.

The resolution urges the governor and legislators to "resist the quick-fix temptation to raise taxes and continue out-of-control state spending. Local government, which is more accountable and responsible to local taxpayers, resent the action you are considering.

McClendan said he agreed philosophically with Schroeder. Money from education is being allocated to provide direct social services to persons with economic needs, said McClendan, and education is not being given the chance to help those persons with economic needs over the long run.

"But if there is no tax increase in this state, education will suffer the most," McClendan predicted. "The crisis is so great that educational funds will be reduced without a tax increase. There may be some small adjustments in areas like public health or transportation, but the big whack will come from education.'

Tom Yack, board president, said it might take a calamity in Michigan such as schools closing April 1 to wake up the citizenry to shake the legislators into action. "Right now, it's business as usual in Lansing."

Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter said she'd rather take a chance and leave state taxes at present levels and appeal to the local electorate to raise one mill for education so the money can be spent in Plymouth-Canton instead of relying on Lansing for money.

At the request of Sylvia Stetz the resolution was amended to include an appeal to the state that it "become a problem solver rather than a problem

Dual tax plan's set in motion

Formal action was taken Monday night to bring Plymouth-Canton Community School residents one step closer to dual tax collections.

The school board voted 7-0 to approve a formal resolution declaring its intent to implement dual tax collections in 1983. Dual tax collections involve half of the school taxes being collected in the summer and the other half in Decem-The school board also authorized the mailing of letters to clerks of the governmental units within the district informing the units of the board's intent to implement dual tax collections.

The action is made possible by a new state law which allows school boards to approve, if they wish, dual tax collections. Municipalities may continue to collect school taxes or the taxes can be collected by the county or by the school district itself.

The administration plans on asking each governmental unit (Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, Superior Township, parts of Salem and Northships) to collect school taxes twice a year.

The school board has expressed its willingness to pay for the reasonable cost municipalities will bear for the second collection.

The letter being sent to municipalities indicates that if they do not agree to collect summer school taxes within 30 days the board will request that the county treasurer collect the taxes or will consider collecting the taxes itself.

SUPERIOR TOWNSHIP has asked the school board to delay implementation of summer tax collections until 1984 but the school board did not grant that request

Canton Township informally has asked the board to consider collecting all of the school taxes in the summer, instead of splitting the collections between July and December. Monday night the school board indicated that option would be impossible to justify.

The city of Plymouth already has informally expressed a willingness to collect summer school taxes and is negotiating to recoup its added ex-

Kay Williams, Superior Clerk, said her township's added cost will be a half-time employee plus the extra fringe benefit expense. Superior now employs a half-time employee to collect taxes in December.

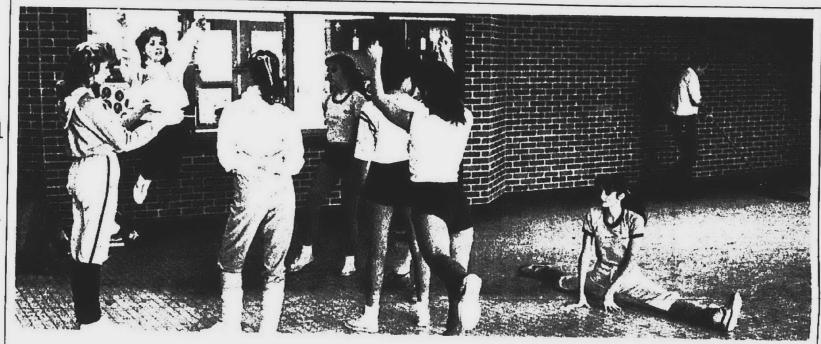

Superior Supervisor David E. Rutledge said that "township taxpayers will be required to pay 18 to 24 months of local school district and intermediate school district taxes within the period Dec. 1, 1982 to July 1, 1983 without the opportunity of planning for the change.

"Taxpayers who normally pay into an escrow account with their mortgage payments, as well as the financial institutions themselves, may be required to make major adjustments in their respective payment schedules," said Rutledge.

Superior Township does not now levy the one-percent collection fee, said Williams, and urged the school district not to impose the fee on its residents.

The school board pledged it had no intention levying the one-percent fee and would agree to make direct pay-

Will the township build them?

Sidewalks listed in grant budget

Some $25,000 was set aside for sidewalks Tuesday night as Plymouth Township officials allocated federal revenue sharing funds for 1983

Although the money was designated for sidewalks and bikepaths, the township board failed to identify particular projects that will be funded and appeared uncertain if the money ultimately will be spent on sidewalks.

The board allocated a total of $86,000, which is expected from the federal government. The sidewalk allocation was one of several projects outlined in the revenue sharing budget adopted by the township.

The sidewalk allocation came as a surprise because township officials recently said sidewalk projects weren't going to be undertaken.

The "no-sidewalk" stance was adopted when Dale Goby, a member of the school saftey committee, approached the board about such projects. It was suggested the township wouldn't build sidewalks unless the school district chipped in on the costs.

Supervisor Maurice Breen suggested the $25,000 for sidewalks could be used toward roof repairs at the Ann Arbor Road fire station. Although he didn't have estimates for repairs, Breen said the roof leaks and would need attention in the future

The trustees chose to leave the money designated for sidewalks, with the understanding they could re-allocate it at a later date

Even if the board decided to use the money for sidewalks, it's doubtful very many projects could be funded with

Trustee Lee Fidge said the last sidewalk project, along Haggerty from north of Joy to Kmart, cost $12,000. Other road blocks to sidewalk construction include the cost of obtaining the needed easements or rights-of-way.

THE REMAINING federal monies were grouped into four categories:

• Repair of a township fire department ladder truck, expected to cost

· Social service funding totalling $15,400. Included in this category were allocations for Safety Town, Plymouth Community Council for the Aging, Out-Wayne County Area on Aging, In-home and Chore Services, a van for transportation, and First Step (a spouse abuse program).

• A total of $12,900 to the Office of Emergency Preparedness. These funds will cover the purchase and installation of power generators and other items including civil defense siren mainte-

• Unallocated funds totalling $2,752. However it was noted these funds may go towards the purchase of a microfilm reader/printer expected to cost between $4,000 and $9,500.

Traditionally the township uses federal revenue sharing funds for capital improvements, such as the fire truck repair and sidewalk construction, and funding the senior citizen groups and civil defense organizations

The board unanimously approved the allocation of the funds.

· Establishing an authority whose members would be appointed by the township board and city commission. Revenues for the authority would be funnelled from the city

Teachers ratify contract

It wasn't even close.

Plymouth-Canton teachers overwhelmingly ratified a new twoyear contract with the Board of Education Monday afternoon.

About 72 percent of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association (PCEA) membership attended the ratification meeting. The contract was approved 439-94 - much to the surprise of Candi Reece, the union's chief negotiator.

The two-year pact includes a wage freeze for 38 percent of the membership at the top of the salary scale. Incremental wage increases built into the previous contract will be paid under the new agreement

The wage freeze is for the 1982-83 school year only. The pact includes an open-ended agreement to bargain for salary changes in the second year.

"I think what really decided it more than anything else is that they (teachers) thought with their heads rather than their pocket books," Reece said.

Plymouth-Canton board members face many hard budget-cutting decisions in the next few months. School officials project an estimated $3.5-million deficit on the district's $40-million budget for 1983-84.

Central administration personnel, including Superintendent John Hoben, took wage freezes for the 1982-83

THE BOARD IS expected to ratify the teacher pact Feb. 14 during the regular meeting, according to Hoben. "It's just a formality," Hoben said. 'There won't be any question of board ratification.

The freeze-incremental package was the original - and only - salary proposal offered by the board. School officials placed this same freeze-incremental schedule into initial 1983-84 budget projections. This budget must be balanced by the end of June, according to state law. . Negotiations with the teachers' union on 1983-84 school-year salaries will begin in April, Hoben said.

The two-year pact includes the same contract language as the previous contract. The board wanted - but didn't get - revisions in contract language.

Traffic officers unite in fight against drunk drivers

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

The Downriver and Western Wayne County Traffic Officers Association is taking Michigan's new drunk driving laws seriously -- and hopes all drivers will do the same.

In recognition of the legislation, which takes effect April 1, the group has planned a drunk driving seminar and demonstration.

The March 16 event in Allen Park will include a dinner, slide and talk presentations on alcohol-related issues and enforcement, and a driving demonstartion showing the effects of drink-

Officers from 37 communities, including Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Redford, will be taking part in the event and later participating in a saturation patrol for drunk drivers.

The invitation list for the event includes such notables as President Ronald Reagan, Attorney General Frank Kelley, and Secretary of State Richard Austin. District court judges and other local leaders also will be receiving invitations.

Yet, underneath the pomp and frills of the event lies a definite dedication to curbing the drunk driving problem.

"Drunk drivers have become a national problem," says Plymouth officer

Robert Henry, event coordinator. "Even President Reagan calls it a major problem - he listed it as his third priority for 1983," says Henry.

During 1982, four people died in traf-fic accidents in Plymouth. Two of them had blood alcohol contents of .10 percent or higher, says Henry.

That means 50 percent of our traffic fatalities were alcohol related. And that doesn't talk about other injury related accidents and property damage accidents," he says.

"Fifty percent of four deaths doesn't seem like a lot, but those percentages add up when you're talking about an area like Livonia or Dearborn Heights," says Henry.

Apparently the Michigan legislature realizes the importance of the problem. It passed the new drunk driving laws and approved passing some $96,000 in federal grant monies to the group. The new laws provide several stiffer penalties for drunk driving, while making enforcement easier. The changes

· Establishing a per se law which makes it illegal for anyone with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .10 percent or greater to operate a motor ve-

This change is expected to increase convictions because officers only will have to prove a driver had a .10 BAC instead of proving the driver was "under the influence" of alcohol.

• Allows for the use of preliminary roadside breath testing equipment (PBTs) by law enforcement officers.

This change is expected to increase the number of arrests for drunk driving. While the results of a PBT can't be used as evidence, they can be used for validating an arrest. Refusal to submit to a PBT will result in a civil infrac-

• Increases license suspension penalties for operating under the influence of alcohol (OUIL) convictions and creates such penalties for operating while impared (OWI) convictions.

In some cases the suspensions have been made mandatory. Many of the suspension-period maximums have been raised.

· Allows for offenders with a previous OUIL conviction to be subject to second or subsequent offense penalties when charged with OWI.

Part of the $96,000 given to the traffic officers association will be used to buy each of the participating communi-

"These units cost about $350 a piece. . Because of the cost, many of the smaller departments would probably only buy one or two units," says Henry.

Because of this grant money, we will be providing six of the portable breathalizers to each of the departments. They will go right in the police Towne and Country

During the seminar, six subjects will be instructed to drink until they reach a .10 BAC. Using driver education cars, they will try to negotiate an obstacle course while drunk. "The Wayne County Sheriff's Department will be setting up the course based on information from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (which has an alcohol task force)," Henry says. Persons attending the seminar will view video tapes showing how the six subjects drove the course before drinking. They then will watch in person as the subjects try to drive the course after drinking. "You'd really be surprised at the difference it makes," says Henry.

On April 1, the group plans to initiate a saturation patrol for drunk drivers.

"The Michigan State Police ran back over the years with the computer and came up with stretches of road with high alcohol related accidents and violations," says Henry.

"On April 1, at 8 p.m. we will be meeting and then going to our assigned areas (based on the computer findings) for eight hours and do nothing but look for drunk drivers," he says.

This same type of thing will be done several time during the summer, he

"It's going to be a great program," says Henry.

Cheers!

It's more than 'sis, boom, bah'

For those who believe high school cheerleaders show up at games just to lead crowds in a couple of rah-rahs, think again.

There's much, much more to cheerleading than crowd motivation or shouting words of encouragement to prep athletes.

In fact, cheerleading at Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools now has become a highly-competitive, year-round program for interested athletes. Cheerleaders must be physically strong to endure rigorous practice sessions that include many gymnastic-type skills.

One skill taught to Rock and Chief squads is mounting — and mounting is something that some schools have discountinued in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) for safety reasons.

Jodi Overholt, Canton's cheerleading coach, and Ellen Curtis, Salem's mentor, both support teaching mounting skills. They believe their squads possess the athletic ability and safety knowledge to learn mounting techniques for state competition.

"I give my kids a lot of credit when it comes to using their heads (on mounting)," said Curtis, a second-year cheerleading coach who started coaching the Canton Chiefettes dancing group in the mid-

Overholt, a 1975 graduate of Canton and former Chief cheerleader, urges all schools to support mounting exercises. Currently, some WLAA schools do not allow mounting routines on their home fields or courts.

"We're trying to convice them that it's okay if coaches take the proper precautions," Overholt said. "I don't even let my kids do mounting if I'm not there."

Breen was doubtful that township voters would authorize additional mills for a library.

Trustee Andrew Pruner agreed and said the library is mostly used by students. Why can't they use the high school library?" Pruner asked.

"It's very hard to get money in times like these. Why can't the schools give back what they've been taking out?" he said. "They're (the schools) putting the load back on us, and I'm getting tired of it," he said. Pruner suggested the schools open school libraries in the evening.

Trustee Barbara Lynch said she was concerned about the elected form of a library district authority.

City officials seemed a bit more receptive to the district authority

Since the library is a "people service," Commissioner Jack Kenyon said he would be in favor of an elected authority.

reached on where to house the new program an appeal was made Monday night to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education by Larry Markiewicz of Canton, president of the Central PTO.

The new program involves setting up a "planning room" supervised by an adult aide where a student in trouble can go to "cool off" before returning to the classroom.

While in the planning room the student would work out a "contract" to change behavior and would then take that contract to a counselor for approval before being allowed to return to the classroom.

Markiewicz says the only room near the office and counselors available for the planning room is the TAG office.

Markiewicz says the TAG director, Cheryl Johnson, only uses Room 105 about 20 percent of the time because much of her work is done outside her office and she could be moved to another room at Central without any great disruption.

He said that the PTO was willing to pay to redecorate the TAG office wherever it was moved.

The problem, said Markiewicz, is that it had been proposed to locate the planning room on the third floor far away from the counselors.

We recognize the possible inconvenience of moving two individuals (Johnson and secretary), but find this more acceptable than the disruption of 150plus students from the third-floor classroom presently being considered for this project," Markiewicz wrote the

Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, said it was not essential or mandatory for the success of the program for it to be housed near the central office but admitted that Greg Ownes, Central principal, preferred the planning room be near his

Homes said that some days Johnson uses her office 50 percent of the time, and that the space also is used for student testing, interviews with parents and other purposes.

Trustee Roland Thomas pointed out there could be problems moving a student who is incorrigible from the third floor to the counselor's office.

Trustee Sylvia Stetz said she felt decisions about use of space should be made by the building principal and not by central administration.

Homes said he preferred to use the third-floor space to house the planning room for the balance of the semester to avoid disruptions and then consider a change at the end of the semester.

Homes noted the planning room for Central and Lowell middle schools is being financed by a $6,500 federal grant obtained by Nic Cooper and Sally Wisotzkey of the Alternative Education program at Centennial Educational Stetz suggested the question of space should be resolved by the parties in-volved, with the decision being based on what is best for students. Homes indicated he felt he knew what the solution was and would take care of the disagreement.

Addressing the board Monday night, Williams said: "As taxpayers yourselves, you must realize that it gets harder and harder to pay those property tax bills. Many taxpayers must pay their own (not in mortgage escrow) and they save all year and count on the interest earned to help pay the bills. If you have a summer tax collection you are depriving them of this interest."

$700,000 in interest on money borrowed to meet payroll until taxes are collected.

With dual tax collections in place, Yack said, the district will have $700,000 it can spend for instructional purposes instead of wasting it on interest payments.

Explaining why dual collections are needed, Superintendent Dr. John M. Hoben said the school district's fiscal year begins July 1 but the district does not receive any property tax revenue until six months later.

With a payroll of $1 million every two weeks, Hoben said, the district must borrow $10 million or more each

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, said the need for dual collections is increasing each year as the district gets less and less state aid and must rely more and more on local

Lawmakers take up Blanchard tax plan

By Tim Richard staff writer

ace

Even before Gov. James Blanchard asked for a two-part increase of 1.75 percent in the state personal income tax rate, the issues were jelling in the committee rooms of the Michigan Legislature.

In a grim, 22-minute speech laced with such terms as "bankruptcy," "ever-deepening deficit" and "the threat of insolvency," Blanchard asked for a 1.5-percent increase for current operations and another 0.25-percent "debt surcharge" to pay off the state's $800 million in bills accrued over the last seven years.

Blanchard also offered a program of $225 million in spending cuts, promising today to release "a list of 30 programs, boards and commissions which we

But he rejected the suggestion to cut the welfare subsistence level of $1.81 a day, calling it "unwise to think of reducing state-financed help" at the same time the state is encouraging private contributions of food, clothing and aid to the unemployed.

• Will $225 million in cuts be enough? No, said Republican members of the two appropriations committees. They plan to prepare a "hit list" of $900 million in cuts - a list that would be long enough not to require an increase in the current tax rate of 4.6 percent.

 Are his revenue projections accurate? Blanchard estimated 1.5 percent will bring in $675 million, which, with his $225 million in cuts, will correct a projected $800-million budget imbalance. He figured a 1-percent tax increase to raise $450 million. Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, the minority's acknowledged taxation expert, said 1 percent would bring in $500 million. Negotiations are

 Which 30 programs, boards and commissions does he want to eliminate? "Long overdue," said Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, noting that many of the governor's proposals would require legislative action. Then Geake, a member of the Appropriations Committee, reflected a moment and added, "But not race-track aid to Northville and Livonia.

· How many votes will the Democratic leadership in the Legislature be able to deliver? Democrats hold a bare 20-18 majority in the Senate, for example - and that's assuming perfect atten-

• How long does Blanchard want the 1.5-percent increase to remain in effect? His state-of-the-state speech mentioned no time limit. Last March, then-Gov. William Milliken asked for a 1-percent increase and had to settle for a six months hike. Many legislators will insist on a time limit so that the state doesn't realize a "windfall" when the economy recovers

But about one point there appeared to be no controversy - at least not yet: the 0.25-percent surcharge Blanchard asked for the budget stabilization fund to pay off accrued liabilities. "As soon as that debt has been entirely erased and Michigan's financial integrity restored, this surcharge will expire," Blanchard promised.

"IF TODAY'S unemployment were equal either to Michigan's rate in 1978 or to the average national rate today," the former Oakland County congressman said, "we would have a balanced budget or a manageable deficit.

"But today, in spite of systematic cuts and reduced benefits to people in public assistance programs, the sheer volume of those on relief is driving our state budget into an ever-deepening defi-

Unlike the book-length state-of-the-state messages introduced by Milliken, Blanchard's message dealt only with economics: the deficit and programs to create jobs.

"I have already commissioned a border-to-border survey of local governments and communities to identify immediate public works and construction needs that can provide work for our people,"

'If I laid off every single state employee for the next seven months, we would be barely half way to solving the problem. In addition. we face an accrued deficit of more than $800 million, created by bookkeeping deviations which date as far back as 1975. Gov. Blanchard

"At the same time, I have instructed the Department of Transportation to bring to my office a list of immediately buildable projects whose construction can serve not only as a short-term source of jobs but also as a long-term improvement to our transportation system."

Tax-hike negotiations will be 'another Chrysler'

By Tim Richard staff writer

They won't say "no." Nevertheless, suburban state senators say Gov. James J. Blanchard will have to do a lot of negotiating and selling before they will approve the state income tax increase proposed by his Michigan Fiscal Crisis Council.

The panel proposed the tax rate be raised from the current 4.6 percent to at least 5.6 percent and perhaps 6 percent through 1986.

But two Republican senators from Wayne and Oakland counties found fault with the panel's methods, and a Democrat says Blanchard must seek a tax hike because he inherited "fudged" figures from the Milliken Administra-

"I WAS disappointed in the report of the Crisis Committee," said Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who again will be a member of the Appropriations

"First, it did not recommend elimination of any state programs. That is not very definitive planning. It's hard to believe, after all the gravy years, that there is no program which can't be eliminated. The committee recommended only across-the-board cuts.

"Second, it doesn't take into account the Headlee (tax limitation) amendment, which requires that 41.8 percent of the state budget go to local government. Obviously, we've got to take that Geake has his own candidate for a program that can be eliminated: MIOHSA, the Michigan Occupational Health Standards Act. "Its bureaucracy duplicates the federal government's, and it harrasses small business," the 10-year legislative veteran said.

"IT WILL be a political decision, based on a lot of negotiating," said Sen.

Jack Faxon, D-Southfield, who will be Oakland County's member of the Appropriations Committee.

The governor intends to negotiate to see how far they (lawmakers) are willing to go. Right now we're in a precarious situation. There's going to need to be increased revenue, reduced spending or both.

"Poor Blanchard! He got hit from both ends," said Faxon, explaining:

"Jerry Miller, Milliken's budget director, accrued a tremendous number of bills in one year and piled them into the next year's budget. That's what Milliken did every year. Medicare it's millions and millions out of balance. To Blanchard's credit, he's been straightforward and hasn't tried to

"We finished last year (September) by not making payments to universities and shifted all those bills to the next

Milliken's revenue predictions were high, Faxon said, because economists predicted a nine milfion car year and 12 percent unemployment, but Michigan had a five million car year and 17 percent unemployment.

Of Blanchard's staff, Faxon said, This is another Chrysler. They're geared for the biggest fight of their

"NO DOUBT there is a crisis," said freshman Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, "and possibly there will be a tax increase. But a couple of things concern

"First, my understanding was that the Financial Crisis Council was to be an independent committee. Instead, they worked exclusively with figures from the governor's office. It was not totally independent. They came up with the conclusion Blanchard wanted.

'Second, there's going to be concern for the windfall income the government gets when the economy rebounds." A 5.6 or 6 percent income taxmay bring in more revenue than neces sary by 1986, and the question of what

Cruce said he would present a bill on the subject, perhaps by the end of this

Cruce has been assigned to the Labor Committee, where he will be minority vice chairperson, and to the Commerce Committee, parallel to the committee assignments he had during his two years in the House.

MEANWHILE, A panel of college presidents came out against one portion of the Crisis Committee's recommendations - a $325-million cut in the state budget.

State colleges and universities would absorb $60 million of the cuts, community colleges $10 million and private colleges $5 million.

"An attempt to solve the entire state problem through reductions alone would render existing state services totally inadequate to the current and future needs of Michigan citizens.

"Nor will the state's long-awaited recovery be sufficient to generate revenues to support an appropriate level of state services, including a quality system of education," they said.

The report was issued by Harold T. Shapiro of the University of Michigan, Anthony J. Diekema of Calvin College, Eugene Gillaspy of Mid Michigan Community College, Richard Norris of St. Clair Community College and George Rainsford of Kalamazoo College.

IN A REPORT issued Friday, the Financial Crisis Council, chaired by Walter J. McCarthy Jr. of Detroit Edison Co. also recommended the Legislature place before voters a November 1984 ballot proposal to increase the state

Our annual sale is almost over.

Hurry—you have only till January 31 to save 10% to 40% off our regular prices.

At Workbench, we don't have lots of storewide sales. Just one a year. But it's a dilly. Because we mark down all our best stuff. Not just a few things. Not even just a lot of things. But almost everything.

And, unlike a lot of other places, we don't bring in so-called specials. At Workbench we just go through the store with our red pencil and slash prices. Which means that right now you'll find 10% to 40% off on butcher block tables, uphol-science fiction novels, will be the featured attraction at Confusion: 101 this weekend at the Plymouth Hilton.

Cherryh (pronounced"cherry"), age 40, has had her books published in eight countries including Great Britain, Japan, Italy, Argentina, Germany, Hol-land and France.

Honors and awards she has won include: American Classical League Scholarship, 1960; Alpha Lambda Del-ta; Phi Beta Kappa; Woodrow Wilson Fellow in Classics, 1964-65; John W. Campbell Award, 1977; Hugo Award for Best Short Story, 1979; Balrog Award, 1982; and Hugo Award for Best

Confusion: 101, a science fiction convention, will open tomorrow night at the Plymouth Hilton. Beside Cherryh, the gathering will feature panel discussions, contests, films, video, computer room, science fiction art show, book dealers and a masquerade ball.

CHERRYH EARNED a bachelor's degree in Latin from the University of Oklahoma and a master's degree in classics from John Hopkins University.

She is an expert in Latin, Greek, French, archeology and early Roman Empire law. She also has studied human genetics, astronomy, astrophysics, biology, botany, geology, climatology and the space program.

As a child Cherryh wanted to be a test pilot. "But gender and eyesight week I lost Flash Gordon off the airwaves for the last time."

This double trauma at age 10 sent her scurrying to find paper and pencil. "I wrote the first chapter of my first novel that night and haven't stopped since. My ambition is to earn enough to afford a commercial ticket on a shuttle to our first space station. It's a longplanned trip; I can be very stubborn."

Cherryh's first novel, "Gate of Ivrel," was published by DAW Books in 1976. The following year she won the John W. Campbell Award given annually to the most promising new science fiction writer by the membership of the World Science Fiction Society at its yearly convention. The award is named for the late Campbell, editor of Astounding Science Fiction (now Analog) from 1937 until his death in 1971.

Her first Hugo Award was for the short story "Cassandra," published in the October 1978 issue of The Magazine of Fantasy and Science Fiction, and last year she won the Hugo for best novel for "Downbelow Station," pub-lished in 1981 by DAW Books. The Hugos, or Science Fiction Achievement Awards, are named for the late Hugo Gernsback, publisher of the first science fiction magazine (Amazing Stories) and are given annually by the World Science Fiction Society.

BESIDES HER writing activities, Cherryh has taught fencing, owned and cared for a horse, tried javelins, shields, archery, firearms.

She has studied ecology and the construction of habitat, taken survival training, enjoys fishing, can construct and reconstruct topological maps, does neddlepoint, sculpts, models clay, refinishes antiques and keeps her own business records. "I read a great stack of technical publications monthly, use a computer, play video games and have ideas cooking for writing one." She also has tra-

Reorganizing Wayne County

Personnel, information departments win approva

By Carol Azizian staff writer

Two more sections of County Executive William Lucas's sweeping reorganization plan have passed the scrutiny of Wayne County commissioners.

One suffered only a name change. Commissioners, at Tuesday's committee of the whole meeting, approved parts of a plan dealing with departments of Personnel and Labor Relations and Information Processing. The Department of Management and Budget, which administers county finances, won board acceptance last Three commissioners - Mary E. Dumas, R-Livonia; Kay L. Beard, D-Inkster; and Milton Mack, D-Wayne asked for the change to avoid confusion with terms spelled out in the new coun"The charter doesn't give us authority to change the name," Beard said. "It calls for a 'personnel' rather than a 'human resources' department."

Dennis Nystrom, chief of Lucas's transition staff, explained that the name was changed in the reorganization plan because the department encompasses more than just personnel functions. Labor relations (negotiations of collective bargaining agreements) and grievance procedures also are coordinated by the department.

"This budget morass is no small mat-ter," Nystrom said. "Department heads are guessing about the (cost figures), and it's not their fault "

Beard urged Nystrom to have the budget ready before the board adopts the plan.

The board has met twice so far to review Lucas's reorganization plan, required by the new county charter. The board has 90 days to either approve or reject the plan.

Trustees OK appointments

Six township residents were appointed to various boards Tuesday night by the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees.

Acting on the recommendation of Supervisor Maurice Breen, the board made the following appointments: • To the planning commission - Audrey Etienne, until July 1983; and Abe Munfah, until July • To the board of review until December 1985

- Joyce Dasher, Ken Sabo, and Frank Ross. • To the board of appeals until December 1985 - Lee Wolgast.

The township board is expected to fill another board of appeals seat in the future.

Prior to her appointment to the planning commission, Etienne served on the board of appeals. She is a government teacher for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Dasher, Sabo and Ross have served on the board of review during the last two years.

Munfah and Wolgast received their first appointments to township positions Tuesday night.

'Work time' replaces prison time

staff writer

One of the first things Judge Dunbar Davis did when elected to the 35th District Court 14 years ago was to set up a work program, a branch of the probation department which served as an alternative to going to jail.

Over the years the program, now being revitalized statewide, has savedtaxpayers close to $500,000 in funds that would have been spent on keeping

"I find that if young people, and even older ones, are given the choice of spending time in Dehoco (or going to jail), they will choose the work program." Davis said.

"Over the years, we have had more vision in the afternoon and party at . The program means in the way of savthan 1,000 cases where the choice was to go to work. And with the cost of maintaining a prisoner at Dehoco $50 a day, one can see the vast sums that the taxpayers have saved."

Much of the work done has been at Our Lady of Providence, where law-breakers do lawn work and landscap-

Other major jobs done have been at Maybury State Park, the Mill Race Park in Northville, the home for the retarded on Deer Street in Plymouth, the school farm at Joy and Canton Center Road and at school nature trails.

According to Davis, many lawbreakers have never been disciplined at home - they sleep in late, watch tele-

'And would you believe it," said Carol Nalepka, chief probation officer for the court, "many parents have called us to offer thanks for the change we have made in their boy's life."

Davis, proud of the program and its success, said he is constantly on the lookout for jobs which can be done through the program.
"Some of these young people, after serving their probationary period, have carried on the work to earn a livlihood, so the program has been beneficial in other ways," Davis said.

"When you consider that the cost per day in Wayne County Jail is $95 and at Dehoco it is $50, you can imagine what

SC talented-gifted program registering

Pre-registration in classes for talented and gifted children at Schoolcraft College will be available by telephone on Feb. 7 and 9.

The college is offering 17 classes this winter for academically gifted children ages 7 through 14, and a new offering for preschoolers aged 4-5.

Classes run for eight weeks beginning Feb. 26. They will be taught during the late afternoon and Saturdays on campus, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

NEW CLASSES for this winter are computer programming IV, beginning typing, beekeeping for beginners, beginning conversational Spanish, and advanced writing and proofreading.

The class in creative arts for preschool children is also new. Utilizing the "integrative model of the brain" approach to learning, youngsters will have many opportunities to interact with other children of high potential. Instructors are Susan Ryan and Iris

Connally of Livonia Public Schools.

According to Robert Burnside, who coordinates the Schoolcraft program, students must have been classified by their local school criteria as talented and gifted to be eligible to register.

Certification by their school principal, coordinator or teacher is required on the registration form.

PARENTS CAN call the continuing education office at 591-6400, Ext. 404 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Registration materials will be mailed or can be picked up upon completion of preregistration. Payment, certification and registration forms should be returned by Feb. 17.

Resident tuition and fees range from $30 to $42 per class. Non-resident costs range from $35 to $51. A $3 registration fee is also charged.

Late registration on a first-come, first-served basis is scheduled Feb. 23-25 from 2 to 4 pm. in the Student Affairs Building

By George! Myth clouds image of our 1st president

"No American," one modern biography begins, "is more completely misunderstood than George Washington."

A sweeping statement, yes, but one most historians would quickly second. Over the years, they concur, layers of legend and myth have obscured Washington "the man," leaving little today but a blurry likeness of the nation's first president.

The cherry trees, the ice on the Delaware, the bitter winter at Valley Forge, the portraits, the image on the dollar bill - all have played a part in forming an oversimplified popular conception of Washington as steadfast military leader, Founding Father and benevolent president — an icon, in effect, that didactic 19th-century writers and, some believe, Washington himself helped create.

"All through his adult life Washington was to be closely concerned with his reputation," the eminent Washington biographer Marcus Cunliffe has written. "In part this was simply an aspect of his canniness — a matter of taking care that there was a written record of what was done to him as well as by him." Beyond this, Cunliffe, the author of "George Washington, Man and Monument," contends, "Washington needed the solace of public approval."

Today's scholars are determined to discover a Washington less perfect and monumental than we know him, a man more "real" and interesting in character.

"HE IS A NEVER-ending source of interest," says historian Margaret Klapthor, curator of a major Smithsonian exhibition at the Natural Museum of American History commemorating the 250th anniversary of Washington's birth. The exhibition opens Feb. 23 and continues through the rest of the year at the National Museum of American History in Washington, D.C. "We are still learning things about him. He is still full of surprises for the researcher and is endlessly fascinating. He is multi-faceted."

To begin, there is his appearance. Today, the popular image coveyed by late-life portraits is of a rather stern, short, white-haired gentleman, a father figure. But in 1758, when he was 26, Washington was described by a fellow officer as "straight as an Indian, measuring six feet two inches, his frame padded with well-developed muscles, indicating great

From an early age on, like many of his 18th century peers, the future president saw himself as a "figure upon the stage" playing a role in the "scenes of life," Klapthor and her Smithsonian colleague Howard Morrison point out in their catalog related to the exhibition.

WASHINGTON WAS ever alert to styles and appearances - the props and costumes, so to speak, needed for his roles. These concerns, coupled with his sense of duty to self, family and community, continued throughout his life in the Army, on the frontier, at his farm, during the Revolution and as "He was always ambitious, but not in the negative sense of the word," says Christine Meadows, curator at Washington's home, Mount Vernon. "He wanted to do the right thing at the right time and was keen - as he put it - on acquiring things that were "neat and fashionable." After his marriage, for example, the young squire ordered many luxuries from England, always of the latest style furniture, rugs, art, china, glass, silver, fabrics and even a parrot for the children.

Buring his presidency, Washington came to feel that the way he personally presented himself would help the young nation become legitimate in the view of other nations. Klapthor points out. "Washington realized that the respect he attained as an individual would overflow to the nation as a

But there would be a price to pay for Washington's con-cern — some historians call it obsession — for duty, form and the recognition he always sought. It was exacted in the 19th century and is still paid today. Washington "has become entombed in his own myth," Cunliffe concludes. "Surely no one else has been so thoroughly venerated and frozen in leg-

"WE STARTED OUT," Klapthor says, "to see why Washington has become a monument, then we turned to what he was as a man. This is the next natural step in the examination of Washington it certainly is not another glorificiation."

As a boy, the Smithsonian curators say, George Washington unconsciously absorbed many of the notions and values of the local Virginia gentry, which modeled itself after the English upper class and struggled somewhat clumsily to achieve its aspirations in a provincial widlerness. Even as a child, he was concerned with how he was considered and perceived, copying down in his school books such rules of civility as, "Bedew no mans face with your spittle, by aproaching too near when you speak."

As Washington grew older and observed his family and their friends, he seemed to have recognized the importance of fulfilling his class-designated role, actively modeling himself into the kind of person who would achieve not only the respect of his peers, but also a personal sense of self-esteem. Washington's half-brother, Lawrence, became a model for George when their father died in 1743. George was then 11, but even as a young child he had been spellbound by Lawrence's glamour, ubranity and charm - not to mention his red British officer's uniform, a symbol that may have sparked George's interest in the glory and adventure of a military career.

Lawrence's Mount Vernon neighbors, the Fairfaxes, one of the Virginia's ruling families, "provided quite a heady entre to the aristocratic life of a gangly teenager," Klapthor and Morrison note. "He was fascinated, indeed enchanted by their elegance and leisure, by their witty and cosmopolitan conversation, by their extensive circle of powerful and enganging friends.

GEORGE ALSO WAS aware of the value of land, which was essential to the economic well-being of the gentry, and a knowledge of topography offered surveyors many important social and political advantages in Virginia society.

George was fascinated with surveying because he had a mathematical and methodical mind. At 16 he drew his first survey a plat of Lawrence's turnip patch. A year later, through his Fairfax connection, he secured his first job assisting a surveyor in plotting the town of Alexandria, Va.,

Yet he also felt that military service would bring rewards beyond those offered by surveying. In 1752, he applied for the position of adjutant for the Viriginia colony, and the following year he was picked to lead an expedition west of the Blue Ridge mountains to order the French off British lands. This and other ventures won Washington the rank of colonel in the newly organized Virginia regimment.

What he hungered for, though, was the glamour, prestige and self-esteem associated with the rank of a regular British officer. But his efforts to secure a royal commission were containually rebuffed, in part a reflection of the second-rate status given the American colonies by the crown.

"He did everything feasible to win preferment" in the military, Cunliffe writes, but "there is something unlikeable about the George Washington of the 1753-58 period. He seems a trifle raw and strident, too much on his dignity, too ready to complain, too nakedly concerned with self-promo-

In 1758, he resigned from the Virginia Regiment and returned to his estates for the next 14 years, playing the role of the gentleman farmer.

BUT HISTORY beckoned. When the Second Continential Congress, meeting in Philadelphia in 1775, voted to establish the American Continental Army, Washington already had a regulation for military leadership that crossed colonial borders, and his "appearance as the only military man at the Congress combined with his personal demeanor and self-control, his social confidence and political experience made a powerful impression on the delegates," according to the curators. He was unanimously elected commander.

Although Washington never won an out-and-out victory during the Revolution, he won renown and respect as a successful military leader, history records. The reason, it now ems clear, is that Washington reconciled himself to the truth that "on our side the war should be defensive."

The war over, Washington returned to Mount Vernon in 1784 and for six years enjoyed a "freedon from public cares." He did not want to return to center stage, he said. He agreed with wife Martha, who wrote that she knew "too much of the vanity of human affairs to expect felicity from the splendid scenes of life." He wanted to remain a farmer at Mount Vernon, the place he loved most, and in fact, whenever he was away, he kept close tabs on every detail about

Early in his life, Klapthor and Morrison conclude, Washington had learned that a gentleman had certain duties to fulfill. His belief in duty, his hunger for esteem and his sense of leadership than came to overwhelm "his preference for comfortable privacy."

Abraham lines up key GOP moderate

Spencer Abraham moved closer to the chairmanship of the Michigan Republican Party as a moderate leader joined conservatives in backing him for the top post.
Oakland County Executive Daniel T.

Murphy announced his support for Abraham Monday, three weeks ahead of the state GOP convention.

'After losing an election, we need some revitalization," Murphy said at a press conference Tuesday. "I think Spence is going to bring some new young blood to the party."

Abraham, 30, of East Lansing, is a lawyer and served as Richard Headlee's pollster in Headlee's campaign for governor last year.

CONSERVATIVES have been lining up behind Abraham in recent weeks.

Robert J. Huber, who ran second in the 1982 U.S. Senate primary, last week revealed Spencer is the No. 2 choice of precinct delegates who answered a poll made by his organization, Michigan Citizens Supporting the Pres-

Of 381 persons who answered the survey, there were 264 points for for-mer state Sen. Jack Welborn, 252 for Abraham, 168 for Headlee, 157 for Huber and 93 for Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson.

Since neither Welborn, Headlee, Huber nor Patterson is a candidate for the chairmanship, that leaves Abraham as the conservatives' top choice.

Asked why he believes Abraham is more qualified than the other two candidates, Murphy said, "We need a change from the organization we've

"Ranny Riecker is a great lady and a great Republican. But she doesn't represent a change.

"Dick Chrysler would be a change. He's a high-caliber Republican who would be very competent to do the job if elected.

"BUT I support Spence because the party leadership backs him."

Riecker, of Midland, has been Michigan's GOP national committeewoman since 1968, and Chrysler is a Brighton businessman.

Murphy said he's confident that "more than a majority" of Oakland's 259 GOP delegates will support Abraham. It will take 933 of the party's 1,865 delegates to pick a replacement for retiring Chairman Mel Larsen of Murphy's support is significant be-cause he generally backs the moderate mainstream of the Michigan GOP.

MURPHY'S ENDORSEMENT is "obviously significant" because he's the Republican official representing the largest number of constituents in Michigan, Abraham noted.

Abraham cited his experience in "all mechanics of campaigning — fund raising, polling, research, precinct or-

"In almost every part of the party, there's strong sentiment that we need that kind of technical, nuts-and-bolts, grass-roots rebuilding.

If elected, Abraham intends "to bring people in the party together to build and grow and be competitive in 1984.
"We must expand our base of donors from 20,000 and go into communities that haven't been tapped yet rather than seeking bigger and bigger dona-tions from a small pool."

JERRY ROSEN, chairman of the 17th Congressional District GOP organization and its 1982 candidate, added he supports Abraham not only be-cause he's technically qualified, but also because he has good ideas for broadening the party's base.

"He has good ideas for reaching out to new constituents - women, minorities, blue collar workers."

ESY: helpful but disruptive

SY AND TSY are two acronyms which will leave everyone's vocabulary next month probably forever.

In a cost-cutting move, Plymouth-Canton Board of Education's is expected to eliminate Extended School Year (ESY) scheduling from Field and Eriksson elementary schools in Canton. Both schools will be the last buildings to switch to a ninemonth Traditional School Year (TSY) schedule next fall. This move will save the district more than

It is just one in a series of program-cutting decisions that the board must make as it wrestles with a projected $3.5-million deficit in the $40-million budget for the 1983-84 school year.

Future board members, 10 or 20 years from now, will recall the ESY-era of the 1970s and early '80s and commend the administration for the program. But when ESY finally ends in August, the only tears you will find are tears of joy and happiness from parents and children on this unusual schedule. These parents and students also should be commended for living with this unpopular - but necessary — scheduling system.

ESY TRULY was an innovative way to control rapid enrollment growth in the district.

Year-round school was a long-term, money-saving system that absorbed the short-term population rise in Canton.

It started as a pilot program at Miller Elementary School in the early 1970s and expanded with population growth to many other elementary schools and to one middle school throughout the decade.

Doc's corner

Dennis O'Connor

The system used school buildings 50 weeks per year. Students attended school year-round on four, nine-week sessions separated by three-week vacation periods

Many believe ESY helped students retain more learned information because review periods were shortened because there were no long summer vacations. Student achievement was not hampered by the ESY schedule, test scores indicate.

A one-fourth enrollment growth was absorbed at each building because of ESY, rather than having schools sit empty during the summer months.

Consequently, the district avoided the financial agony of building more schools and then the emotional struggle of closing them during periods of population decline. Money, therefore, was used to finance learning programs and services instead of paying construction and interest costs.

THIS ISN'T TO SAY, however, that all suffering was eliminated with ESY.

We sympathize with parents who had elementary children on an ESY schedule and middle school or high school students on a TSY schedule - at the same time. We also recognize that many students were forced to shift from one school to another and sometimes to still another — during this growth

Both situations were disruptive to family lives. And it seemed unfair and unjust that many of the same families constantly were affected by these changes, while other families in this large district never experienced such disruptions.

Recent enrollment declines bring an end to ESY, and short-term savings to the district. The $250,000 savings includes reduced utility costs and less in salaries for teachers, administration and clerical workers because schools will be closed for the summer months.

Now it seems fair that all families will be on similar schedules next fall.

The board should remember the sacrifices made by "ESY families" in future decisions that may shift students from one school or schedule to anoth-

If these disruptions should occur again, then the headaches should be spread throughout the district and not to families that lived with ESY.

Newspaper jargon

The 'bulldog' could run a 'blue streak'

IT MAY come as a bit of a surprise to learn that the folks who strive to use proper English and make your home town paper enjoyable have a language of their own inside the plant, and the origin of most of it is lost in antiquity

For instance, what do the terms "bulldog" and "blue streak" edition mean to the average reader? And why do printers of the old school refer to pictures or "cuts" or why do writers signal the end of their stories with "30"? And what is a newspaper "morgue" and a "red ball?"

Well, The Stroller has done a bit of research, and he has learned some surprising things.

THE BULLDOG edition had its origin in New York City when the Tribune was fighting with its many rivals for circulation. With the tenacity of a bulldog, the Tribune sent out editions a bit early and beat all rivals to the suburbs. The earliest edition of a paper today is referred to as a "bulldog" edition.

When The Stroller came to work at the Detroit Free Press years ago, a paper called the Canadian Bulldog was a Sunday paper printed on Thursday — in time to have it sent to Canadian outlets to compete with the Canadian Sunday papers.

Years later, The Detroit News, in a circulation battle with the Free Press, issued a later afternoon edition to compete with the early Free Press editions. Because of the speed with which it was put out, it was referred to as the "Blue Streak" — from the expression "he ran like a blue streak."

In the old days, too, pictures that appeared in the papers were printed from zinc plates. These were cut out of larger pieces of zinc and naturally were referred to as "cuts."

IN EVERYDAY life, a morgue is a place to store or place dead bodies. So it is with a newspaper. The morgue is a place where old editions, pictures and clippings are kept for future reference.

And the ending of a story with "30" is a throw-back to the days of the old Morse code telegraph operators. When they finished sending a story over the wire, they signed off with three dots and seven

Meanwhile, The Stroller, in his research, was in-formed the term "red ball," which meant a story was to be rushed into type, came from the red fire out of a cannon. Newspaper delivery trucks used a red ball to symbolize their speed and urgency.

IN THE OLD-TIME composing rooms where the type was set, the word "take" acquired a strange meaning. Today when a story runs more than a sheet of paper, the second sheet is called an "add."

But Hank Witherspoon, boss of the Free Press composing room, discarded the word "add" and

When a story came to him that was rather long, he would cut it into sections and pass it out to several Linotype operators, in order that it could be set in type more quickly. And the term "take" became

So, there are some of the odd terms and how they came about to make your paper more pleasant and entertaining to read.

Swinging away from jobs

The trade-off for slowing inflation

HE MAJORITY OF AMERICAN voters got what they wanted - unemployment. During the Carter administration, the hue and cry of the public were against the burden of inflation. The desire to bring inflation under control was shared by everyone . . . almost everyone; or at least the desire was shared by enough voters to bring Ronald Reagan into office. The president did bring inflation under control. Predictably, we entered into an era of high unemployment. But that's the trade-off for curbing infla-

Personally, I'm not sure the majority of voters upset with Carter and high prices were really voting for joblessness. I don't believe most voters recognize the relationship between unemployment and inflation, but were voting for a hoped-for "normal" economy of low inflation and low unemployment the so-called middle ground.

Unfortunately, the American economy passes through the middle ground very quickly, and so we cannot for long enjoy moderate inflation and moderate unemployment at the same time. Instead the economy spends most of its time on extreme paths high inflation or high unemployment.

Economists complicate the path our economy travels by constructing a lot of complicated graphs with a myriad of curves, dotted lines, colored lines, bars, dips, peaks, etc. Other economists understand these hieroglyphics but most people, including myself, don't. I find it easier to comprehend the ways of our economy by envisioning the picture of a pendulum. In so doing I will be guilty of gross generalization and over-simplification which my economist friends quickly will point out, but a layman doesn't need specific, sophisticated understanding of the

SO LET'S see in our mind's eye the path of the

The pendulum swings from right to left. After reaching the extreme point to the left, it swings back until reaching the extreme position to the right, and reverses its path. The pendulum's path

can be measured with a protractor.

In my own mind, I envision a period of inflation occurring when the pendulum is swinging on its left path, and unemployment occuring on the right path. As the pendulum travels along the inflation path, employment increases. In turn, as the pendulum swings to the right, inflation drops proportionately.

In theory, there would be no inflation and no unemployment at the moment the pendulum arrives at bottom. But that is a single point, and we pass over it so quickly that there are no practical effects. In fact, I believe the mid-point is an ideal never reached.

The American people err in thinking of the economy by assuming that "normal" is a period of both low unemployment and low inflation. But that is not so, and the pendulum's path demonstrates why "normal" really is "extreme."

For the sake of discussion (the line must be drawn someplace), assume the middle ground is between 170 and 190 degrees on the compass. Anything to the left of 190 degrees represents a period of high inflation, and anything to the right of 170 degrees symbolizes a time of high unemployment.

If we assume the economy is cyclical, then it spends most of its time travelling along "extreme" paths. The vast majority of the time the pendulum is travelling along the left-extreme or the right-

Viewing it in this manner, we can easily understand that "normal" occurs when the pendulum is travelling along one of the extreme paths and that the middle ground is really an abnormal period of adjustment — a fleeting moment which doesn't remain long enough for anyone to really adjust to the change of direction.

That analogy, hopefully, is simple enough that I should stop right at this point. But I cannot resist the temptation of a short observation before clos-

THE ECONOMY can change direction by deliberate action

It's almost as if we had two little men on ground level with ropes tied to the pendulum. The little man to the right goes into action as the pendulum passes the mid-point and enters the inflationary path to the left. The little man on the left swings into action as the pendulum is travelling to the

Each little man can choose when to pull on his rope and change direction. He can pull gently when the pendulum is passing out of the middle ground or he can wait and tug fiercly when it approaches the top of the swing.

Traditionally, the rope which pulls the pendulum away from extreme inflation is incentive for consumer savings or increased taxes. A traditional rope to pull back from unemployment is increased government spending. Right now, both little men are fiercely pulling on their ropes - at the same time — and no real change in direction is occurring.

We are increasing spending with the deficit rising fast, offering incentives for consumer savings and increasing taxes.

And so the path of the pendulum is flattening. When it becomes a straight line, the economy will come to a standstill because there is no natural momentum, and something drastically different will be needed to make adjustments.

My preference is to endure high inflation because don't like the trade-off of high unemployment. You may feel more comfortable on the other path. That's OK. Where we as voters err, though, is when we ask our leaders to produce the middle ground or when we believe politicians who promise to deliver that portion of the pendulum's path.

We need to learn to tolerate a bit of each evil because we cannot adjust quickly enough to avoid

Help those who walk to school

(The following guest column, submitted by Lynn S. Hoehn, deals with providing a safe route to Allen Elementary School for the child of Dee and Ron Krueger, as discussed at previous school board meetings).

The route for the Krueger child is composed of two elements — the location of the crossing and the location of the walk path.

The present school district safety committee recommendation is that the child be crossed in front of Allen School and then walk north on the unsidewalked side of Haggerty Road. The parent desires that the child walk on the sidewalks on the east side of Haggerty and be crossed at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty.

• The crossing in front of Allen: This recommendation must have been predicated on the fact that the mid-block crossing is as safe or safer than the corner crossing. What documentation backs this premise? If the mid-block crossing is safer, why are we allowing children to cross at the corner in the morning and afternoon?

• The flashing light: Mention also was made at the school board meeting of the school zone flashing lights. When parents at West Middle School requested similar lights for their no-light crossing at Ann Arbor Trail and Beacon Hill, they were informed that flashing lights had no effect on the safety of a crossing — they merely made parents feel better.

 The actual walking path: The existence or use of sidewalks never has been a criteria of our present safety committee in determining a safe walking route; however, sidewalks often have been a determining factor with the school board. The record indicates that the school board used sidewalks as a determining factor for at least seven decisions since

If the school board approves a route requiring a kindergarten child to walk three-tenths of a mile on the unsidewalked side of Haggerty, then does the board also intend to review immediately all of the earlier seven decisions in which the lack of sidewalks were a determining factor?

On Aug. 24, 1981, board member Tom Yack is quoted in the school board minutes as saying this about the Gallimore decision, "The main issue was whether there was a safe walkway or not." On Sept. 14, Yack stated "... that standards must be the same across the district.'

• The safety committee's decision-making process: It is my understanding that the safety committee made this new recommendation without thoroughly reviewing certain documents which deal with the moving of the crossing from in front of Allen to Micol, not from Ann Arbor Trail to in front of the school. The report from the Wayne County Sheriff's office has for workman, Allen principal, as the complainant - not Mrs. Krueger.

Both statements reaffirm the present crossing as best located to serve the Gold Arbor and southbound Allen students. However, both officers were concerned with the lack of sidewalks on the west side of Haggerty. Neither officer seemed to address the question of what was the best walk route for a child in the Krueger location.

Some additional concerns are: Timing: The Krueger child has had a route and crossing location change midyear. The parent was happy with the prior location and did not request this change. Will there be other unrequested changes for other students midyear?

 One-way busing for kindergarteners: A kindergarten child north of Ann Arbor Trail and west of Haggerty (almost directly across Ann Arbor Trail from the Krueger child's home) walks to school and is bused home. I have never heard of our district having this practice before. Is this a new busing service available to all parents? If so, who authorizes and chooses which children receive this · Crossing guard's presence and statement at Plymouth Township Board meeting: Who authorized the Allen School crossing guard to speak about the Krueger child's route at the Jan. 11, 1983, Plymouth Township Board meeting? Was she speaking as a citizen or as a school district representative?

• Prior bad experience: Mrs. Krueger has reason to distrust the Allen crossing location. Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen at the township board meeting assured her publicly she had been right in her prior concerns, that the situation had been rectified, and that reprimands had been given by the school district. He also informed me by phone on Jan. 13 that the township had been repaid in full for the disputed period.

As a citizen, and as president of the School Council, I always have been able to assure parents that, in this district, citizens can speak to issues, voice objections, and make public criticisms and that no actions would be taken against their children.

It truly is unfortunate that, through a combination of probably very unrelated and thoroughly explainable events, the Krueger child appears to have been singled out for an unsolicited midyear change to a unique route. Knowing the high integrity level and outstanding reputation of the staff involved, I am sure their compassionate understanding of Mrs. Krueger's justified distrust of the Allen crossing will cause them to recommend reinstatement of the Krueger child's original route. Otherwise it would seem logical that at least some of the other questions raised here should be answered publicly by the board or its

How you can learn from past mistakes

"To err is human - to forgive divine." This adage has been around for ages, and how true it is.

We could expand its interpretation in our photography pursuits to say that making a mistake is OK as long as we learn from the experience.

Yes, there are common errors that. photographers make, and all too often they're repeated. But learning from a mistake will result in photographic growth that will in turn lead to better

Today I'm going to point out the more common mistakes photographers make and then suggest how to correct and learn from them.

· "Film didn't advance through camera?" This mistake probably has happened to everyone, and how disap-pointing it can be when you have no shots of that special event.

This problem is simple to correct. Just make sure the sprockets are engaged when loading the film and then keep an eye on the rewind knob. If the knob turns in reverse as you advance the film, everything will come out OK.

• "Only getting partial pictures with flash?" This is common mistake when using strobe units, and don't blame your flash, either.

You simply didn't set the shutter speed dial as the correct synchronization speed, usually 1/60 sec. A mistakenly set speed of 1/125 or 1/250 sec. will produce a black band over your

• "Subject blurred in picture?" You didn't use a fast enough shutter speed.

A speed of 1/125 sec. will stop minimal movement such as walking or slow head movements but will not freeze fast action such as sporting events. Using a fast shutter speed of 1/500 or even 1/1000 sec. will do the trick.

• "Composition not right?" Are your subjects too centered, have you grown a telephone pole in Aunt Tilly's head, or, worse yet, have you decapi-tated her in the finished print?

The solution is to take a few extra seconds for a careful look through the viewfinder before taking your shot. Look at all corners of the screen thoroughly for any distracting objects. Often, a slight ajustment in camera angel or position will vastly improve your composition. Placing the subject off-center or using a wide apeture ot minimize depth-of-field will help, too. "Shoot a roll at the wrong ASA?" With black and white filmm, overdevelop if you've underexposed the film, and underdevelop if you've overexposed. Chances are you'll get satisfacory negatives.

With color film, tell your photo dealer of the error, and with his special instructions to the processing lab, you should get OK pictures. In the future, pay close attention to each roll of film you shoot, making sure you've set the

Also, tape the end of the flim box to the camera as a constant reminder of the film you're shooting.

· "Pictures under- or overexoosed?" If you've set the ASA correctly and exposure still isn't right, chances are you're shooting under abnormal lighting conditions such as extremely bright or dark backgrounds.

Solution: Move in close to the sub-ject take a meter reading, and use this setting when you snap the shutter. Another solution: Use a meter reading taken off the palm of your hand to neutralize the effects of light extremes.

To err in our photography is human, but to learn from the experience is most certainly divine.

WSDP is just as much a part of "lo-cal radio" as any other station. Our range is approximately 700 square miles, which is in the range of most of Observerland. WSDP also is the most powerful high school radio station in the state aat 200 watts.

During the fall, WSDP covered girls' basketball, including the Salem district final upset versus Westland John Glenn. WSDP also covered football. We traveled to the Western Lakes title game between Salem and Farmington Harrison - live - in addition to all of Canton's and Salem's home games.

I was the play-by-play man for Canton, and you can't tell me there is no high school sports on radio. I don't talk into a microphone so that nobody can hear me. I also do color commentary for Canton boys' basketball during the cold and snow of winter. In addition, FM doesn't "crackle."

Another station, right out of Southfield, also carries games in that area. It is WSHJ, 88.3 FM.

WSDP also tentatively plans to cover baseball this spring. You might recall that Canton went to the state finals before losing last year, and Salem won the Suburban Eight title.

Tom, there are high school sports on the Detroit radio dial. Just look harder. Joseph M. Slezak, Jr.

To the editor: The evening meeting of the Plym-

Working with the Central Middle School PTO, Superintendent John Hoben accepted a January 1982 report for a planning room to be designed after a Livonia model. Now that Central has been granted revenue for the program, Mike Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, has an objection to its implementation.

His personal guarantee to Cheryl Johnson to keep Room 105 (for Talented and Gifted activities) places the planning room success in jeopardy.

Marge Langendam visits with Julia Czako, manor resident.

Sheryl Swanson, LPN (left), Marge Langendam and Elaine Winkelman worked as a team at Whispering Willows.

Marge promises she'll be back

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Marge Langendam's retirement party at Whispering Willows Manor was a bittersweet affair. Residents and staff of the small nursing home on Warren Road in Canton Township, hated to see her go. Her promise to remain involved was reassuring to Mischa Kahn, owner and director of the manor.

"There couldn't be a nicer person,"

The residents know she can't forget them. For years she has been closer to them than members of their own family. In fact, for many of them, she has been family.

This is Marge's second retirement. Her first was almost 25 years ago.

"I went for two weeks to cover until they found a nurse. I had retired, I wasn't going to work any more planned to stay home and keep house. I began my 25th year at Whispering Willows in December," she said.

HER EXPERIENCE in nursing had been in surgery and obstetrics, which she enjoyed.

"I had no experience in geriatrics and at first it was such a change. But it became a very, very important part of my life. I took a six-month leave of absence to upgrade my nursing skills and I missed the people at the manor. They had become so important to me. I kept going back to see the people."

At first she was director of nursing at the manor, then she served as administrator, and for the last two years director of nursing. In more than 24 years, she worked for four owners.

She said many of the people are very depressed when they first come to the home. "Many don't need medication. They need personal contact."

Langendam said her first concern was, "What can I do to brighten their day? You get them interested; encourage them to engage in activities."

SHE ALSO encouraged relatives to visit them in the manor.

"Families experience a feeling of guilt when a member of the family goes into a nursing home. I talk to them and tell them there is no reason for guilt. There comes a time when a family can't take care of themselves.

can't take care of themselves.
"I tell them entering a nursing home is not the end of it. Many are better off and happier in a nursing home situation. But I do tell them that I expect them to come and visit their relative. And if they can't come, at least write to them, drop them a card."

She said the guilt feeling does keep families away.

Every little gain in a new resident's response gives a lot of satisfaction, she said.

"You cannot be negative."

VOLUNTEERS can play a major role in building morale, according to Langendam.

"Some individuals come in just to talk to the residents. A former Plymouth teacher will come in to talk to them, or take them for a little ride and buy ice cream cones. Or read to them."

She said Cub Scout troops and church groups plan activities for the residents

"The Canton Township Senior Citizen's Kitchen Band came to entertain them. They loved the music and their colorful costumes."

Some groups choose the Christmas season as a time to remember nursing home residents. The staff would prefer to have the foods and favors spread out over the year instead of a seasonal windfall

"Mr. Kahan, who has a master's degree in social work, sometimes reminds the groups that there are 12 months in the year," said Langendam.

"You know in a small nursing home like Whispering Willows, each one is a person — an individual. You spend more time with them than with your own family. You know their moods, their likes and their dislikes. It becomes a very personal relationship."

Marge will now be free to travel with her husband, John Langendam who retired two years ago. Former Plymouth residents, the Langendams now live at Whitmore Lake.

And Mischa Kahn is planning on taking some time off, too. Marge, who has a director's license, has promised to fill in for him when he goes on vacation.

Elaine Winkelman, secretary at the manor said, "We all love her. We're like one big family here."

Marge Langendam, who put her retirement on hold for almost 25 years, will not forget her family at Whispering Willows.

Administrator Mischa Kahn takes Marge out for lunch the day before her farewell dinner party.

Toledo art trips feature amazing private collection

Rene Magritte's "La Clet des Champs" is in the collection on exhibit at the Toledo Museum of Art. The French artist, a member of the surrealist generation, painted the oil on canvas in 1936.

Two bus trips are planned to the Toledo Museum of Art to view the Thyssen-Bornemisza collection of 20th century masters. The major exhibition of 66 European and American masterpieces will be at the museum until Feb. 20.

The exhibition represents 57 of the foremost artists of this century selected from the greatest private art collection in the world, owned by Baron H.H. Thyssen-Bornemisza.

Following its closing in Toledo, the exhibition will travel to the Seattle Art Museum, the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, and the Metropolitan Museum of Modern Art.

The bus will leave St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road at 9:15 a.m. Feb. 8 and 15. Cost of transportation and guided tour at the museum is $14.50. Lunch is not included but is available at the

"They serve a lovely luncheon there," said Gae McCord, who is arranging the tours. "And diners may have a glass of wine if they choose."

FOR RESERVATIONS call McCord at 453-1559. The Feb. 8 tour is just about filled. There are more openings for the Feb. 15 tour. Bus will return to Plymouth between 3 p.m. and 3:30.

The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection is considered the most important private art collection in the world, with the exception of the Royal Collection inherited by Queen Elizabeth II of England.

The collection was started by the first Baron Thyssen-Bornemisza, father of the present baron, who fled his adopted Hungary during the revolution of Bela Kun. The family moved to Holland and then settled in Switzerland where the baron built a gallery next to Villa Favorita on the shores of Lake Lugano.

The collection was divided among the Baron's four children after he died in 1947. The present baron believed the works should remain together as a memorial to their father. He began by purchasing pieces from his siblings.

Today the collection represents an impressive cross-section of European art from the 13th century to the present day and also of American paintings from the late 18th century to the present.

PAINTINGS in the exhibit span more than 70 years — a diverse collection that reflects the wake of Impressionism and the period after the two world wars

Among the artists represented are Marc Chagall, Salvador Dali, Stuart Davis, Charles Demuth, Max Ernst, Richard Estes, Juan Gris, Georgia O'Keefe, Pablo Picasso and others.

Included are masters of major movements in 20th century art such as German Expressionism, Cubism, Russian Constructivism, Futurism, Surrealism and the New York School.

The baron began to form the modern collection in 1960. The works in this current exhibition usually hang in the baron's private apartment in the villa and in his other residences around the world. The baron divides his time between his European steel, mining, manufacturing and banking interests and building his collection. He has residences in England, Jamaica and St. Moritz.

The baron's grandmother was an American from Delaware and nearly half his companies' employees are now in the United States. He spends a lot of time in the United States and visits shows, museums and private collectors on business trips.

He says his affection for American Western art is a remnant of his youth. "The American West was a fabulous dream for me, this wild life and Indians with strange habits."

Rocco-Hooper

Jill Hooper and Kenneth M. Rocco of Ludington exchanged marriage vows Dec. 11 in Ashbury Methodist Church in Traverse City. The Rev. Wirth Tennant officiated.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hooper of Kingsley, Mich. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rocco of Napier Road, Canton Township.

The bride's long chiffon gown had a high neckline and the bodice was accented with silk embroidered lace. The skirt extended into a lace-edged chapel train. Her lacey bridal hat was trimmed with pearls, silk flowers and veiling. She carried a bouquet of white mums and roses.

Nan Goldsmith was matron of honor. She and attendants Jody Smith, Jenny Hooper and Sharon Mott wore floorlength burgundy gowns and carried burgundy mums and cream roses.

Pette Rocco was best man. Groomsmen were Mike Ervin, Bill Orosey and Rick Honer.

After a wedding reception at the Grand Traverse Hilton, the couple traveled to Northern Michigan on their "I was surprised at what I got out of attending meetings," she said. "I ended wedding trip.

In search of truth

Adoptee champions the right to know

By Marie McGee staff writer

Barbara Hall has a favorite saying: "The truth will set you free.'

The Livonia resident came across the slogan three years ago in seeking help from the Adoption Lifeline of Altoona, Pa., a group dedicated to helping adoptive children establish their identity.

It has also prompted her to speak up about a negative image she feels has been created by a recent Detroit television news special involving the rights of adoptive children.

Aired as a channel 4 "I-Team" investigative report, the story involved a young man who had been given out for adoption at birth but who locates his birth mother, only to be rejected by her, and the mother's claim that her right to privacy had been violated. The invasion of the mother's right to privacy was blamed on a clerical error on the part of an unidentified state employe.

The result, the story showed, was a family torn apart "because someone made a mistake and typed her name on the birth certificate.'

Background of the case is this: the Flint woman had the child as the result of a rape. She gave up the child for adoption at the time of birth and believed that she was protected by the adoption laws from further identity. She subsequently married, but never revealed to her husband the fact that she had the baby.

AFTER reaching adulthood, the son suddenly contacted the mother after learning her identity and her life has been in turmoil ever since, the television news story said.

The segment showed the tearful and distraught mother and her equally upset husband. It also showed pictures of the son and gave details of his past, including the fact that he was a convicted felon who was wanted in California on a fugitive

By chance, Barbara Hall saw the story and several things about it bothered her - especially since she was trying to locate her birth mother and seek

"My first impression was that the story was very negative," said Hall."I began to worry about the impression it left, particularly from the point of view of the total rejection."

One of Hall's main concerns was that the episode would have a discouraging effect on other adoptees who might be considering looking for their fami-

"I was afraid someone watching it would be afraid to try and find out about their identity. The show made you feel like adoptive children have no right to find out about themselves or their birth

HALL, HERSELF was a child of rape, given up for adoption when she was 6 months old in Pittsburg, Pa. At the age of 21, she began to search for her birth mother and any facts about her identity that she could uncover. She did so with the full encouragement of her adopted parents, who had told her at an early age of the adoption.

'Most adoptive children have a certain amount of curiosity. They want to know the truth. I wanted to know about my mother and anything she could tell me especially about my birth father," Hall said. "It's important to our lives."

She said the television news report was so disturbing that she contacted the reporter and asked him to present "the other of the side of the story" and show a reunion with less trauma and conflict. Not all adoptees are an embarrassment to their families like the one in that story," she said.

He refused, she said, but that didn't stop her from speaking out.

'Not all reunions end up as horrendous as that story made them out to be," she said.

That was not your typical case," continued Hall, the mother of two who has a degree in psychology. She said she told the TV reporter "if that son had been white, shown up in a three-piece suit, driving a Porsche, you wouldn't even have a story. It was story because it aired someone's dirty linen.

SHE SAID THAT the TV story was misleading because persons watching the show could easily get the impression that adoptees legally are prohibited from finding out about their background or who their birth parents are.

"That's not the case at all," she pointed out. Most states have laws that allow adoptees, upon reaching the legal age, to file a request for certain identifying information.

Then, if enough information can be released, the adoptee can proceed on his or her own in trying to locate members of his family.

In Michigan, the process is complicated and usually only general information is released by the various agencies involved in the individual's case. Name of the birth mother or father is never released unless a letter of consent is on file in Lansing stating that the name can be released.

Hall learned many of these facts on adoptees' rights in trying to locate her own mother, she said. Pennsylvania law permits adoptees at age 21 to receive a copy of the original birth certificate, showing the birth mother's name, age and place of birth. It made made her job of trying to locate her mother a whole lot easier.

Her quest for the truth, so far, has not turned out as happily as Hall originally envisioned.

AFTER SEVERAL years and a lot of letter writing, she finally learned that her mother lives in Battle Creek, but refuses to see her.

"I've talked to her on the phone, but she won't allow me to come and visit her. She says I can write her letters. I've sent her pictures of my two children and she has told me about her family.

A 28-year-old half sister, for instance, lives in either Livonia or Redford, her mother told her. She also learned from her mother that she wore a girdle during the whole pregnancy. "It's a wonder I wasn't born retarded," she said.

A disappointed Hall says she will not force herself on her mother "even though I know where she lives and I could easily go there and knock on her Hall said she pleaded with her birth mother "to meet me just once. Then if she doesn't want to see me again, I promise in learning about her birth father and "what kind of man he was."

All adoptees "just want information" to help them understand their own families and any health problems that could be related to heredity. Her own son, for instance, is gifted in math, but has a sight problem. Hall said she learned that her birth mother was also gifted in math, so she can make the connection. "But I wonder about his problems with sight. Doctors are always asking you if something ran in your family."

SHE FEELS FATE played a big hand in helping find her mother. After writing to various agencies and all the schools in the small town where her

That person recalled the family had moved to Akron and also remembered the children's names. Through contacts in Akron, Hall was able to learn that her mother had married and moved to Battle Creek shortly after Hall was born.

It's ironic, Hall added, because in the 10 years she has been married, the Halls have moved eight times in connection with her husband's job with the industrial credit division of Westinghouse Corp..

Finally, two years ago, they landed in Livonia. That's when she learned that her birth mother was less than 150 miles away.

"It was like I was supposed to find her," Hall

Now all she has to do is convince her mother that "the truth will set you free."

Kyle, a 26-year-old Farmington resident, is unable to hold down a job because of it. It's why attending school humiliated him, and the reason he doesn't date.

Like thousands of others in metro Detroit, Kyle suffers from a common yet often unrecognized disorder called Dyslexics, many of whom possess normal and above average intelligence, encounter great difficulty with spelling, reading and mathematics because of a neurological inefficiency.

Most are unable to progress beyond the junior high school reading level.

DR. JOHN G. FAUENHEIM of Farmington, a clinical counselor, said hundreds of thousands of America's 25 million illiterates — people completely unable to read or write — are dyslexic. Yet, with the exception of educators, society generally remains unaware of

"In adulthood, it's still in the closet. There's a lot of rejection out there, but it's something that has to be brought out into the open," said Frauenheim, di-rector of clinical counseling at William Beaumont Hospital's Neuro-Education Center in Royal Oak.

"A dyslexic who has a job working on cars may use the people he works with to avoid revealing his disorder,

"If he needed some information from a manual, he might pretend he's working on a car and say to another employee, 'Hey, what does that manual say?'

Other dyslexics have resorted to wrapping their hands in a cast when applying for a job, or avoided writing checks in public to hide their condition.

"All dyslexics have similar experiences in terms of a significant need to keep the problem hidden from others, feeling isolated, and not knowing what it is," added Frauenheim, who holds a Ph.D. in educational pyschology from Wayne State University and has orked with dyslexics for 25 years.

"WE'RE TOUCHING on a subject that's been very hush-hush," agreed Lou Yonce of Troy, a dyslexic 31-yearold jeweler who made the engagement ring Henry Ford II gave his present

"It was harder to tell my wife I couldn't read than it was to ask her to get married. And telling my mother-inlaw was really traumatic Agreed Kyle: "It's affected my whole social life — and it's hard to talk about. I'm always on guard, and walking away from people worried I'm going to have to read a piece of paper."

Lou and Kyle, both high school graduates, are tutored by special teachers and meet with other dyslexics at the Neuro-Education Center. Kyle hopes to build up his reading and writing skills so that he can return to his automotive

Lou's job, which involves managing 20 people and designing jewelry for a Detroit manufacturer, is so important to him he "has to let it out" and learn to relax with people.

Often, there's no indication that something is medically wrong with a dyslexic. But symptoms include an inability to learn to read adequately despite normal intelligence and normal opportunity for learning. Dyslexic children are unable to sound out phonics and have difficulties recognizing words and symbols, said Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch, director of clinical research at Northville's Hawthorn Center, a public mental health children's facility.

DYSLEXICS TEND to blame their condition on a variety of things, says

"They'll say, 'it was my first-grade teacher, 'it was because of my par-ents,' or, 'I'm just dumb.'"

Zoo commercial wins festival prize

W.B. Doner & Co.'s "Zoo Stars," the talking animal public-service spot produced for the Detroit Zoo, has won 'best of festival" at the U.S. Television Commercials Festival Awards, presented last week in Chicago.

The festival is the largest international organization devoted exclusively to the selection and recognition of outstanding TV commercials. Entries were invited from Canada, Ireland, Australia, the United Kingdom and the "Zoo Stars" depicts the animals as if they were on Broadway prior to a curtain call - a behind-the-scenes look at rehearsing, warming up, and a case of the jitters before a performance.

ACCORDING TO Detroit Zoo Director Steve Graham, the zoo has had the most dramatic attendance increase of any zoo in the country this year. There is no doubt in anyone's mind that the major thrust of our popularity has come from the Doner cor cial." said Graham. "At the end of the from last year. Our figures for winter said the station has received numerous letters and phone calls about the zoo's public-service spot. "Before Christmas, people called to ask when the zoo PSA would be shown so their out-of-town guests could see it," she said.

Doner's Steve LaGattuta, executive creative director, Sheldon Cohn, producer, John DeCerchio, writer, and Steve Kidd, art director, produced the spot. Castorri and Co., Image Express, Producers Color Service, Victor Duncan, Inc., 18 actors and a myriad of other friends of the zoo from the private sector contributed.

IN THE PAST, Doner has done public-service spots for the United Way of Central Maryland, the United Foundation in Detroit, the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Baltimore Museum of Art, the Better Business Bureau and the 1980 Census for both Baltimore and Detroit as part of its continous community commitment. W.B. Doner & Co., in its 45th year, is one of the nation's leading full-service

The soul searching led one of Frauenheim's patients to believe that his witnessing of a plane accident in which a person was decapitated is to blame for his inability to read.

Rabinovitch said the cause of dyslexia is very likely some circuitry in the brain that prohibits any learning of symbols, letters and words.

Though usually unapparent until the end of first or second grade, dyslexia is present at birth. Evidence indicates it present at birth. Evidence indicates it is hereditary, and that the condition is 20 times more common in boys than in the mother. Most researchers think the parietal lobe to the back and left of the brain is the affected area, added Rabi-

Work done at Harvard University suggests that in some dyslexic children, the left hemisphere of the brain is less developed than the right. The left side of the brain deals with language, speech and reading, while the right controls artistic and constructive skills.

"The specific nature of the neurological problem will probably be understood in the coming years because of brain scans," said Rabinovitch, who

Those most severely affected dyslexics may be able to reach the third- or fourth-grade level with remediation while mildlyaffected dyslexics can become relatively good readers.

"The Carrot and the Stick: Survival vs. Survival," a program of poetry, music and discussion concerning the nuclear arms race, will be offered at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 30, in First United Methodist Church, 6443 Merriman, Garden

City.

The event is sponsored by the Western Wayne County Nuclear Weapons Freeze.

The purpose of the meeting is to share concerns, raise consciousness about the nuclear weapons situation and report what area residents are trying to do about it.

The group also hopes to raise funds to send a delegate to the national weapons freeze campaign meeting in St. Louis, Mo. Feb. 4, 5 and 6.

The program will include poetry readings by Rosina Raymond of Livonia, trustee at Schoolcraft College, and Mi-chael Gramlich, coordinator of the event and full-time volunteer in freeze campaigns.

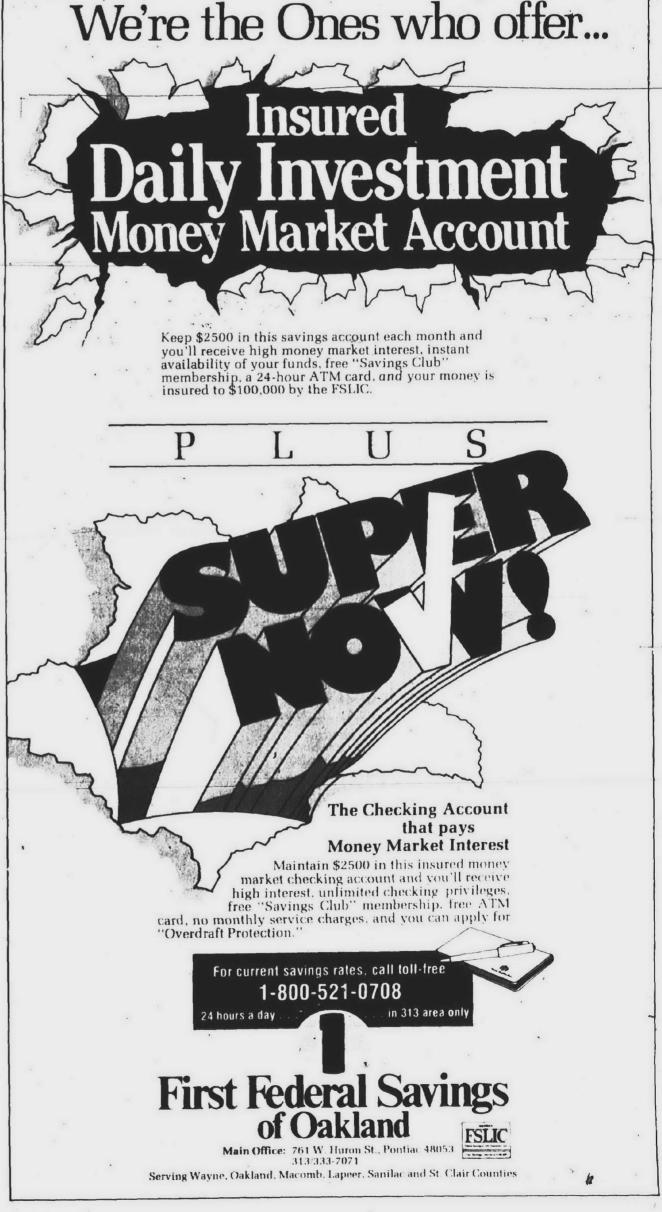

Gramlich served in the U.S. Marine Corps for more than seven years, and witnessed an atomic bomb test in Nevada. He is author of "(Love) !lotes from Ground Zero.

Other meetings on the nuclear freeze will take place on Feb. 7 and 9 in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia. The event on Monday starts at 7:30 p.m., the one on Wednesday is at 9:30 a.m.

Edthye Blake re-did some of the music for the melodrama and also added some new punch lines to the script. She also came up with commercials that will be aired during scenery changes.

Dinner theater aids the hungry

Sword of the Spirit Lutheran Church members are taking a villainous approach to help feed the hungry while enjoying a pretty good meal them-

It involves dinner theater on Sunday. Feb. 6, and the presentation of an oldfashioned melodrama complete with hero (yea), heroine (sigh) and, of course, the dastardly villain (boo).

All the proceeds will be turned over to the Soup Kitchen operated by the Capuchin Fathers in Detroit.

They're calling it SOS Dinner Theater - partly to call attention to the distress faced by thousands who are hungry and homeless and partly because the show will be a giant spoof on the "soaps" - the packaged variety, not the serials currently so popular on daytime and nightime TV.

THE SHOW IS the brainchild of the church's fellowship committee, which surveyed the congregation on how best to accomplish the goal of helping their fellow man in this hour of need.

"The results were overwhelmingly in favor of the dinner theater," said Austia Lee, who is coordinating the event with the help of Joyce Day and Shirley Klokkenga.

A lot of that enthusiasm to continue in the dramatic vein probably stemmed from the success and the fun the congregation had in a filming of their version of the story of the nativity. Four sessions of filming were done in Kensington Metro Park. The result was a slide presentation that was shown at the Christmas eve service.

While the farcical take-off on soaps will be the spotlight grabber, the dinner could wind up stealing the show.

A special menu has been arranged by Klokkenga and a culinary colleague, Charlotte Lemieux. Both women operate a small catering business and have catered many of the church events.

WHAT THEY CAME up with was a menu that will feature a variety of gourmet soups including a provocative taste-tempter called dill pickle, a special bread (using Swiss cheese) they use in their catering business, and an assortment of salads. Dessert will be a cake shaped and decorated like a bar of

The show will feature Ruth Grandahl as narrator; Carole Edwards as Prell Pureheart, the heroine; Travis Nixon as hero Sudsly Doorite, George Lemieux as Herbal (Pa) Pureheart; Melanie Napolitano as Dove (Ma) Pureheart; Jim Brewer as Borax Karlof, a semiheroic janitor; Cyril VanLoke and Ed Caram as Spic and Span, local yokels from Scrubbsville, Wash.; Carol Johnson and Marge Benjamin as Bubbles and Ivory, a couple of friendly bubblegum-chewing saloon girls.

Mary Ellen Carlson will have the dubious honor of playing Olive Tegrin, a hair-raising evil witch that is also known as Tegrin the Terrible.

Villianous Dirty Don Dinglethorpe will be played by Don Grandahl.

Actually, said Lee, the script calls for the name to be Dan, but Lee changed it to Don to help him get into the role of slinking low-down no-good-

Help with adapting the script with some local touches came from church member Edythe Blake, who admitted to doing some of this kind of writing about 25 years ago. She also came up with commercials that will be heard during scenery changes.

The set was designed by Bob Kotrba and the accompanist is Sue Dickinson. On the tech crew are Dave Gallinat, Steve Mansmith and John Klokkenga.

Music during dinner will be provided by a cello husband-wife duet of Paul and Karen Wingert, both of whom are members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. At the organ will be Maggie Maul. Teens of the church will wait on tables during the dinner.

Tickets are $3 and can be obtained by contacting Edith Blake at 532-3091 The church is at 34563 Seven Mile Road, west of Farmington. Show time

Character is destiny. Criminal justice reforms keep challenging the assumption that character defects require limiting the person. The new assumption is that people can change. Moral defects can be overcome. Of course, it doesn't always happen. But despite many horrors, we are trying. Government has a responsibility to return a functional person to society in each case where it is at all possible.

FAMILY IS destiny. Old assumptions sacrificed the young for the benefit of senior citizens or even ancestors. Now there is a high value of each person in worldwide opinion. Infanticide is virtually wiped out. So many human defects are merely a matter of degree that we change the family to protect the life and nature of each member. The value new life is no longer regarded as a gift the family as a unit.

Governments and religions demand commitment as the act of creating a family. Responsibility for each other and to each other become a crucial personal responsibility. Outsiders and laws cannot guarantee the security and stability needed in a family as a foundation of development by each member. We are each responsible to balance commitment with freedom so family is place where we grow from roots

When abortion was not a medical skill we had death, disease, and mutilation or we had extended family units to care for what we now call an unwanted child. Governments can be responsible for insuring adequate health care and nutrition for pregnant women.

Responsibility to love a child into life falls on individuals, so society cannot guarantee it. The consequences of carrying a fetus to full term must be weighed by mother and doctor. The results of abortion or delivery are the responsibility of one person. Health in all its physical, psychological and soical meaning is determinative. A biological blessing or accident of conception is not the sole factor in assessing the span of the years a child needs nurture.

Old assumptions don't guide us when the questions are so different. Rights and freedom of choice now locate responsibility differently. Law defines which responsibilities are the burden of governments and which rest on people. The value of each person and freedom of choice to become better people is better than some centuries ago. We improve by asking the largest possible

Basketball, a non-contact sport? It would be hard to convince Franklin's Mike Johnson of that as he takes a dive after running into

Slow start, fast finish for Chiefs

Canton catches fire, rips Pats

It was a nauseating start for Plymouth Canton's basketball team Tuesday.

But the finish would remedy any ailment.

And how did the Chiefs spell "relief" in their 57-51 non-league win at home over Livonia Franklin? J-E-N-N-I-N-G-S, that's how.

Canton just couldn't have gotten off to a worse start. Four minutes into the game the Chiefs trailed 17-4

"We had trouble with their press," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. Just last Friday Canton destroyed Walled Lake Western with a fast-break offense, shooting 70 percent from the floor the Warriors tried a full-court press.

AGAINST FRANKLIN it was different. "We were just standing around," Van Wagoner said. He called two timeouts in those four minutes, then went to the bench and inserted junior forward Mike Jennings into the lineup.

Jennings, one of the best outside shooters on the Canton squad, responded with four straight baskets that enabled the Chiefs to close the deficit to 23-19 after one quarter.

A 10-2 Canton advantage in the second quarter put the Chiefs in front by four at the half and it was a battle the rest of the way. With 2:30 left in the game and the score tied, Ron Rienas hit a short jumper and Mark Bennett canned four straight free throws to clinch the win.

"We worked the ball against their zone for some good shots," was how Van Wagoner explained the finish. "When it was winning time, we took charge.

"We played one of our best games of the year, except for the first four minutes.

IT WAS CANTON'S third victory in a row, lifting its record to 5-6 overall. If the Chiefs are streaking now is a good time for it - they play at Plymouth Salem Friday night in a Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) contest. Another streak remained alive for the Chiefs. In each of their five wins, they have outrebounded their opponent. They beat Franklin on the boards by a 26-21 margin.

Rienas poured in 21 points to top the Chiefs' offensive effort. Jennings finished with 11 and Bennett added 10.

Mike Johnson notched 25 for Franklin, with Bob

Stebbins bagging 14. The loss dropped the Patriots

Ex-Plymouth Salem ace Cheryl Sobkow scored 20 points and pulled down 17 rebounds to power Schoolcraft College to a 70-48 women's basketball win Saturday against Highland Park Schoolcraft's Eastern Conference record is now 4-2. The Lady Ocelots trail first-place Henry Ford Community College (6-0) and Oakland CC (5-1).

Sobkow, a 5-foot-9 center, sparked a second half surge as the Lady Ocelots pulled away from a 26-25 halftime

Cathi Hengy, formerly of Redford Union, added 19 points and Deborah Johnson chipped in with 14.

Marie Doss netted 17 to pace Highland Park

ON MONDAY, Hengy and Johnson each tallied 15 points as the Lady Ocelots defeated city rival Madonna

The win gives Schoolcraft a 9-4 overall record.

Schoolcraft, which led 25-22 at the half, also received scoring help from guard Kathy Peck who pumped in 12.

Ashley Long and Tim Harwood each raced to a pair of first-place finishes to pace Plymouth Salem to its fifth dual-meet win in six outings Tuesday, 79-46 over Redford Thurson at Thurston.

Long's wins came in the 200-yard individual medley (2:15.7) and the 500 freestyle (5:26.3), while Harwood captured the 200 free (1:57.4) and 100 butterfly (59.5).

Long teamed with Mike Harwood, Neil Dostie and Jeff Walker to take the 200 medley relay (1:55.2) and Tim Harwood combined with Walker, Tim Shaw and Chuck Eudy in grabbing the 400 free relay (3:44.8).

Other winners for the Rocks were Todd Riedel in diving (199.15 points), Shaw in the 100 free (54.2) and Mike Harwood in the 100 backstroke (1:03.4). Salem seconds went to Mike Harwood in the 200 individual medley (2:20.6), Walker in the 50 free (24.7), Bill Matthews in the 100 back (1:06.3) and Dave Workman in the 100 breaststroke (1:09.0).

IOLENCE AND SPORTS.

Friday, Jan. 14 — Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Bentley meet for the first time since last February, when Bentley topped the Spartans to win the Suburban Prep Hockey League

This time, Stevenson reigns, battering the Bulldogs, 5-2. But the game is not without incident. Twenty-three penalties are called, and a fight erupts in the third period between a penalty box attendant and a Stevenson player on the bench in street clothes. A Livonia policeman and two reserves are called on to quiet the off-the-ice disturbance.

During the game, Bentley players skate precariously close to the Stevenson bench, banging their sticks along the boards.

After the game, the Spartans celebrate their victory by batting a stuffed bulldog around the ice.

Tuesday, Jan. 18 — Birmingham Brother Rice faces Catholic League Central Division rival Detroit Catholic Central in a key basketball contest. Fans from both schools jam into CC's tiny gym, CC fans filling one end of the bleachers and Rice's the other, with parents and adults in the

The CC announcer calmly introduces the Rice starting lineup. Applause from the Warrior fans, while Shamrock backers mockingly ignore the process by reading newspapers.

Lights at both ends of the court dim, leaving only the center of the court lit, creating a spotlight effect. The announcer's voice changes from lethargy to bubbling excitement as he blasts, "And now, for Detroit Catholic Central, the home of the Catholic League football champions . . The entire CC team is introduced, then the starters. Both groups of fans are in a frenzy. None will sit during the next 90 minutes. At halftime, Rice fans wander close to the CC end of the bleachers, cheering. Just before the resumption of play, Warrior supporters streak past the CC bench and tear down a banner.

Emotions continue to climb, with fans from both schools crowded right at the edge of the court. During a fourth-quarter timeout, it erupts. A CC fan makes a wild attempt to abduct the Rice flag. There's a struggle, fists fly, CC Dad's Club members intervene, but the CC fan finally wrestles the flag away from a Rice supporter. The CC fan then, on the court in front of the entire Rice cheering section, bangs the flag on the floor and busts it. Rice fans pour onto the court, and CC supporters race to support their comrade. Some players join in the fracas. It's cleared up in a few minutes, with little damage. Some punches are exchanged but no serious

Tuesday, Jan. 25 — Redford Thurston travels to Taylor Truman for a non-league game, pitting a pair of once-beaten basketball teams.

The on-court battle nearly turns into a slugfest. Truman's Kip Boynton bangs Thurston leading scorer George Sibel with elbows and forearms. When Boynton finally fouls out in the fourth quarter, he punches Sibel in the back of the head as he leaves the court.

The crowd behind the Thurston bench harasses and threatens the visitors, compelling Eagle coach Gary Fralick to request a police escort to the team bus. Before they leave the gym, a brick is hurled from the Truman side of the gym into the empty bleachers on the visitors' side.

VIOLENCE IS part of sport. It always has been and no doubt always will be. And that isn't all bad. 'Tis far better to compete on the playing field than the battlefield.

But when is violence acceptable and when is it intolerable?

Fair play governs it on the playing surface. Violence within the rules. A good, clean hit is not only acceptable, it's appreciated by football Coaches. Injuries are not considered in judgments like this.

Violence on the playing field, what is acceptable and what isn't, will be debated as long as there is sport.

No one, except perhaps the craziest of psychopaths, supports crowd violence. On the field of competition, violence is confined by a 100-yard rectangle or boarded ice rink Control is the key. And responsibility is the best weapon.

Examine the three incidents and search for parallels. All three were important games. At the ice rink, a fight was started by a player-turnedspectator and an arena official.

At the Rice-CC basketball game, an announcer helped get things bubbling. Indeed, in the Rice locker room after the game coach Nick Conti told his players, "Their mistake was that they announced that CC was the home of the Catholic League football champions. They forgot one thing who the Catholic League basketball champions are (Brother Rice)."

Players, at all three contests, played a role in the violence. Bentley icers banging their sticks at the Stevenson bench, and Stevenson players slapping around a stuffed bulldog, CC and Rice cagers joining in a freefor-all; Truman's Boynton inciting the crowd with his overly aggressive

THERE IS NOTHING more senseless than crowd violence. At its worst, it can kill. In sports, it can cause cancellation of games or force them to be played in empty gyms, as has happened in the not-so-distant

Fan is short for fanatic, which means "a person inspired with excessive and bigoted enthusiasm.". Another derivative of the word is fanaticism, which is defined as "violent enthusiasm".

Limiting such emotion is a necessity and responsibility of everyone: over-zealous announcers, players, coaches, school officials, the press and the people in the crowd. Whatever violence is connected with sport, keep it confined to the playing field.

Within the playing field, violence is governed by rules. When it spills into the crowd, it's senseless.

Lines of reason must be drawn to keep fans from turning to fanati-

It's a hard road to travel, but cyclist keeps pedaling

staff writer

The U.S. Olympic team is looking for a few good cyclists.

That's why 24-year-old Jeff Pierce of Livonia is going through "basic training" at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. Pierce, a 1982 Michigan State University graduate, is a four-time state cycling champion and two-time U.S. National Team member. He was a bronze medalist last year at both the National Sports Festival and U.S. Championships.

"I'm laying the foundation down for the season," said Pierce, who will train at the site until March. "This is a good program for fitness. It's good for everybody because it's a long cycling season.

"We do weightlifting, play volleyball and racquetball, attend aerobics classes and do light cycling (40-60 miles per day). The altitude is great because it makes the body work harder. It's a great place this time of year. There hasn't been any snow and the temperature has been in the PIERCE IS primarily an individual road racer, but also has competed in the four-man Olympic team time trial events.

"I'm more suited to road racing," he said. "The distances are from 120-125 miles whereas there's more strategy involved in team time trial and the distance is much shorter (60 miles)."

His 1983 goals are to race in the Pan American Games this summer in Caracas, Venezuela, then travel to Switzerland for the World Champion-

"I think my chances are fairly good," said Pierce. "The training here should really help because usually in the winter I've gone to school. "Now I'm concentrating solely on cycling and training."

Pierce, who graduated from MSU with a degree in business management, is sponsored in Colorado Springs by the Miller High-Life Brewing Co. When he's not at the camp, Schwinn, a well-known bicycle manufacturer, takes care of his living expenses.

"I'M RACING full-time - 10 hours a day," said Pierce. "I've also spent some time in Phoenix riding and training. I've been on the Schwinn national team for eight years and I'm the captain of a five-man team."

The U.S. Olympic program is directed by Eddie Borysewicz, who is aided by 10 of the finest cycling coaches in the country. A native of Poland, Borysewicz is preparing Pierce and other promising cyclists for the Tour of Texas March 1 in Austin.

"Eddie likes everybody to do things his way," Pierce said. "It's his program. Mike Walden is my coach back home. He's coached Sheila Young and Connie Paraskevin. I do a lot of the things Mike taught me and mix them in with what Eddie's teaching."

Pierce has been able to handle the boot-camp type workouts, including a unique cycle-cross course.

"WE RIDE through mud and hills and have to carry the bikes on our shoulders," Pierce explained. "That's where the weightlifting helps. "But it (the training) really hasn't been that taxing so far."

Pierce, who graduated from Stevenson High School, played five years of hockey in Livonia house leagues before taking up cycling seriously.

Briggs nets 94 in 2 Ocelot wins

When the going gets tough, the tough get going.

That's been Schoolcraft's cry in men's basketball of late. The Ocelots, who suffered through a mid-season slump, have rebounded impressively scoring three straight wins to raise their overall season record to 17-4.

Saturday, Schoolcraft won a key Eastern Conference game with an 86-81 triumph at Highland Park. It was was only the third loss at Hackett Fieldhouse for the Panthers, two coming against Schoolcraft this season. Carlos Briggs bagged 27 points in the second half as the Ocelots overcame a four-point deficit at intermission. The 6-foot guard finished the night with 43 points to maintain his national scoring Schoolcraft sports lead (35.5). But more importantly, the Detroit Benedictine graduate shot a high percentage from the floor (65.3) and free-throw line (90) to pace the Schoolcraft win.

He followed Monday night with 51 points in a 111-87 win at Madonna Col-

George Meriweather and Tom Niergarth came up with key steals in the final minute to help Schoolcraft overcome Highland Park.

Merriweather, a 6-2 guard from De-troit Northwestern, finished with 14 points, 10 assists and six steals. Bill Keyes added 12 points and seven rebounds while Niergarth registered 11 points and five steals.

Eugene Tillman topped Highland Park with 30 points.

"THIS IS our biggest win because it helps us maintain our momentum going into the second half of the year," said Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins. "We stayed in the game by not turning it over. We had only five (turnovers) in the first half and seven in the second

"Highland Park was ready for us. It was a thriller all the way."

As a team, Schoolcraft made 24 steals.

"The finish was something else," Watkins said. "Tom Niergarth made a free throw to give us a one-point lead, but he missed the second and George somehow out jumped everybody in the lane and made a 360-degree move in mid-air and flipped it (the ball) in with five seconds left."

Another key to the victory was the rebounding of 6-4 Ricky Johnson.

"Highland Park dominated the backboards in the first half," said Watletns. We had only nine rebounds and Keyes was the only guy getting anything.

"Ricky came in during the second half and had seven rebounds. That really gave us a lift."

Stevenson thwarts pesky Belleville

staff writer

It was a new night of basketball for Livonia Stevenson and the result was all too familiar.

The Spartans made it 10 victories in 11 tries, but it wasn't easy as they escaped with a 56-55 basketball triumph Monday at Belleville.

The game was moved one day up because of a scheduling conflict at the Belleville gym. (Michigan prep basketball teams normally play on Tuesday and Friday nights).

"I'm glad to get it because Belleville is a good club," said Stevenson coach George Van Wagoner. "I didn't get a chance to scout them and if you know them it helps. But give Belleville credit, they're a quick team.

Van Wagoner's team also wasn't allowed to practice on Sunday because of a long-standing policy set by Livonia Public Schools' administration

Belleville, now 8-2 overall, jumped out of the gate fast, building a 22-10 basketball lead after 10 minutes of play. In the first quarter, Stevenson made just three of 19 shots.

Stevenson, however, began getting easy layups off its fast break and zipped ahead at the half, 33-26.

"We worked so hard to stop them inside that we got caught down the floor for layups when they were releasing their guard," said Belleville coach Tom Niemi. "We were so concerned about the boards because of their size.'

BELLEVILLE, whose tallest starter is 6-feet-3, battled the much-taller Spartans evenly on the glass with the exception of the second quarter.

The Tigers, although down by seven at intermission, patiently worked themselves back into the game in the third quarter.

Steve Thornsberry's driving layup put Belleville ahead 49-47 with 4:22 remaining in the game. The Tigers, however, relinquished the lead by making two costly turnovers with just under three minutes to play.

Tom Domako's two free throws put the Spartans ahead by four, 55-51, with 55 seconds to go.

Belleville cut it to two on a jumper by Keith Vawters 10 seconds later, but Stevenson worked the clock, setting up Pete Rose's winning free throw with 14 seconds to go. The Tigers' Troy Thomas then made things interesting by putting in a rebound, cutting the Stevenson lead to one, 56-55.

STEVENSON followed by calling an unnecessary timeout after Thomas' basket. The Sparfans, however, managed to run out the clock although Thornsberry came up with a steal near mid-court and launched an errant desperation shot at the buzzer.

Curt Ullstrom, who came off the bench to give the Spartans another lift, led all scorers with 16 points. He made two big baskets down the stretch.

Point-guard Gary Mexicotte, who started Stevenson's 23-8 outburst in the second quarter, finished with 14. And Domako, the 6-7 junior, added 13 points and 12 rebounds. Bob Sluka, a 6-5 sophomore, grabbed eight rebounds but wasn't his usual self.

"Bob's having back trouble," said Van Wagoner. "We should have gotten the ball inside a lot more, but you can't let their kids get into the passing lanes and we let them to do it."

Belleville was led by 6-4 junior Michael Mellon, who scored 14 points and snared 12 rebounds. Thomas and Vawters added 10 and eight points, respectively.

"THE TURNOVERS in the first half and mental errors in the last couple minutes were definitely a factor," said Niemi. "We missed a lot of layups in the second quarter and it cost us.

"Stevenson's deep-corner, outsideshooting hurt us. They're a good club and this game can't but help us."

'Newsboy' participates in 1890s weekend

Westland resident Marc Gawronski will pass out free copies of the Edison Courier, a compilation of 1890s stories, at the Great Escape Weekend at Henry Ford Museum. The event is open to the public for the regular museum admission.

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

WENTY-ONE-year-old Marc Gawronski of Westland will be dressed as a newsboy of the 1890s and distribute copies of the Edison Courier during Greenfield Village's Great Escape Weekend on Saturday and Sunday at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

Gawronski, a senior majoring in psychology at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, is an actor by avocation, and the appearance as a newsboy is his latest "role."

at a different, nostalgic period in his-

For the 1890s weekend, Gawronski will be "handing around a compilation of articles from the decade 1890s-1900." "It's a good reflection of life in the 1890s," he said of the free, souvenir newspaper.

The tall, well-spoken young man added that the newspaper also includes for the visitor details of the weekend in the museum and of the museum theater, where Little Egypt (the belly dancer who gained fame at the New York World's Fair) will per-

"There'll also be a variety show featuring Jeannie Head, with songs from the 1890s, and readings from the 1890s including 'Casey at the Bat,' "

STROLLING CHARACTERS will impersonate Mark Twain, the Wright Brothers and Annie Oakley.

Gawronski will be wearing knickers, white shirt, suspenders and cap. "Any costume you see at the village is historically accurate," he said. "All costumes are made by the period clothing department."

The broadsheet he will distribute includes some amusing old-fashioned ads. One is for an umbrella-like canopy, to go on your bicycle. The shade was offered by the Bicyle Canopy Co.

Tidbits of information are passed along in shorts headed "Society Fads"

He was last seen on stage playing the lead in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre. It was his first role for the museum theater, which holds open auditions for each

"My previous involvement was community theater," Gawronski said. He played Freddie Eynsford-Hill in the Garden City Civic Theatre production of "My Fair Lady." Eynsford-Hills is the young Englishman who becomes enamored of Eliza Doolittle and sings "On the Street Where You

"I ALSO DO a lot of work with the Dearborn Civic Theatre," Gawronski

This weekend's "Great Escape" at Greenfield Village is the first of three special weekends, each looking back or "Things Men Want to Know," from Demorest's Family Magazine, and also items from the New York Times.

Young women had taken to early rising. "No more lolling in bed until 10 o'clock," was reported as one fad. For men of propriety, loose change no longer would jangle in pockets. Instead it would be kept in a pocketbook, and "even if only a newspaper is being puchased, the pocketbook must be brought forth."

WHEN THE WEEKEND'S over, it will be back to his studies for newsboy Gawronski. He expects to go into clinical psychology or social work for his career but wants to continue in theater.

"I will probably do theater on the side. It's something I'll always be doing," he said.

He first became interested in the stage while a student at Divine Child High School in Dearborn. He started as an assistant director and spent three years as assistant director of musicals there before graduating in Performing at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre in "A Connecticut Yankee" was an interesting experience, he found. "It was fun getting the children involved in the fantasy," he said.

The Yankee is transported back to 528 A.D., the time of King Arthur, in the play, which was presented as the museum's annual family show. All the shows at the museum are historical ones, the actor said.

Gawronski enjoys his active life and, when asked, passed along a tip on how he manages it all. "The secret is to take one thing at a time. When rehearsing, not to study. When studying, not to run your lines through your

the two separate lives of a widower and a recent divorcee, and how these two lives entwine. The dialogue is ingenious and reflective of the thoughts that prevail in these modern times.

Only Simon throws thoughts into action, so that the audience can laugh at itself, finding humor in common situations, such as the dating game, a marriage gone sour, or unsuccessful attempts at infidelity.

In this particulr production, the com-

The witty exchange of dialogue between George and Jennie brings enthusiasm back into his life, and he rapidly begins to fall in love.

Leo attempts to set up his brother, George, with eccentric women in the hope that this will liven up George's life. Faye, also playing matchmaker for Jennie, is desperately trying to discover ways to add some spice to her own love life.

Like his later film "Gallipoli," Australian director Peter Weir's "The Last Wave" starts out in a slow, almost plodding, manner and maintains this snail's pacing until, after gradually building upon itself, the film opens out and climaxes in a crashing crescendo. Richard Chamberlian stars in the story that deals with aborigines and the occult. Stick with until the finish and you won't be disappointed.

Vincent Price will be remembered for his horror films, even though his work in that genre amounts to only a fraction of his motion picture credits. And "House of Wax" is vintage Price. as well as a surprisingly durable and popular film in terms of lasting, boxoffice appeal. Oddly enough, Andre de Toth, who had vision in only one eye, directed the 3-D film, and a 31-year-old Charles Buchinski, later known as Charles Bronson, also stars.

with the New York Jets, and because he led his team past the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl III somebody thought he could act. Had Broadway Joe turned in this kind performance on Super Sunday, the Colts would have emerged as winners. Ann-Margret fares little better, but perhaps does as well as could be expected given the film's outdated script (about motorcycle rebels) that would have been better suited for the late-1950s. In fact, "C.C." is so bad that it's nearly good. Rating: 98 cents.

"Smokey and the Bandit" (1977), 9 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 7. Originally 96 minutes.

If you thought "C.C. and Company" was bad, wait until you tune in "Smok-ey and the Bandit." Granted, Burt Reynolds exudes a certain charm, and he sometimes manages to epitomize the image of macho hero that little boys of all ages feel they have hidden inside themselves. That's not to say Burt has ever made a really good film, but from time to time his characters have touched a nerve in us all. "Smokey and the Bandit," however, is another candidate for worst film of all time. The film's premise is preposterous, the acting deplorable (Jackie Gleason was never worse), and the vulgarities both spoken and presumed to exist between characters - qualify "Smokey" for the Hollywood graveyard. Rating: 75 cents.

The Michigan Opera Theatre will return for an evening of dinner theater from 7-10 p.m. Feb. 4 at The Community House, 380 S. Bates, Birmingham. "Broadway Revue," a panoply of show tunes, will be presented. The song and dance revue, which was performed at the 1980 Freedom Festival and the Republican National Convention, will be staged by the MOT touring company. After the show, a dinner prepared by the Community House chef will be served. The entree is London broil. Tickets are $19.50 per person. For reserva-tions call 644-54832.

TOMORROW'S STARS

Southfield resident Jim White is executive producer and host of "The Stars of Tomorrow," premiering at 12:30 p.m. Saturday on WJBK-TV, Channel 2. The weekly half-hour program is produced entirely by the local television station. Two Detroitarea groups, the Admirations and the Funkateers, will perform. Keith Bell of WJLB radio will be guest DJ and the Four Tops will be special guest stars on the opening show.

• THURSDAY FILMS

The movie comedy "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex" will be screened at 1, 6 and 8:15 p.m. today on the Winter 1983 Thursday Film Series, in Room J-294 on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills. Tickets are $2 for the general public and $1 for OCC students.

• 'HENRY IV'

The Hilberry Theatre is presenting "Henry IV, Part I," first play of a triology celebrating the deeds of Henry V, on the Wayne State University campus in Detroit. The Shakespearean play continues in repertory at the Hilberry through April 1. For tickets contact the box office at 577-

'Glass Menagerie' captures the mood

William Gibbs III was in town recently. Bill - Brother Rice class of '68, Michigan State University class of '72. which makes him a bit younger than Bronco Nerd of Michigan's Kalkaska Mountain Winery - is most recently of Felton-Empire Vineyards.

His purpose in being here, in addition tion, their preferences being gewurzto visiting his family, was to announce his decision to make his winery a significant marketing matter in the Detroit area.

Its presence has been evident for a couple of years but just barely. Now associated with a new distributor, Bill has seen our area as a significant national market for his 15,000-cases-ayear winery and has decided to concentrate his attention on us as one of his prime "outstate" markets.

It is a good decision. Michigan is a prime consumer, probably fourth nationally, of California wines

THE WINERY ITSELF is in the low mountains above Santa Cruz, surrounded by madrone and redwood. It was originally used, from 1945-64, as the famous Hallcrest Winery. In its day it was the producer of some of the finest cabernet from California

The property lay quiet for the next 10 years until the mid-1970s when Bill, winemaker Leo McClosky and two others joined together to purchase it and its limited amount of grapes. The two had been at Ridge together but decided to strike out on their own to purchase grapes selectively and process them in

When winemakers are free to purchase their grapes, they can make anything they want to and are not dependent on their own grape production. Leo and Bill have taken advantage of this and have, over the years, produced a large array of wines. However, personal preference seems to be aiming them in a Germanic directraminer and, most important, white riesling. The latter has been especially effective for them. They have won much national acclaim for their lateharvest desert wines and have done nearly as well with their table wine production

Their goal is to be known as table wine producers. The late harvest is a quirk of nature they plan to take advantage of when they can.

ADDITIONALLY, two excellent reds have been made recently. A full, complex and warm pinot noir from is a beautiful thing. Small amounts are in Michigan, to be followed by a 1980 cabernet sauvignon using Hallcrest grapes just loaded with good fruit and balanced with strong

In addition to the pinot noir, a riesling and a gewurztraminer, both from 1981, are now on the shelves. Worthy of investigation.

And then there is the unfermented grape juice they have bottled. Several different grapes have been used in this venture but riesling and beaujolais have been most successful. Designed as a quick cash-flow operation, it has been a huge success for them, essentially allowing them to buy time for their aging

The first six years of Felton Empire have been interesting ones, and successful as well. The future looks good with Leo in the winery and Bill on the road making white wines in a world that cannot seem to get enough of
