Firefighter arbitration settles township contract

A three-member arbitration panel recently awarded Plymouth Township firefighters an 8 percent wage increase in return for several benefit and noneconomic concessions sought by the township.

Some 18 issues were taken to arbitration late last year after negotiations and mediation failed to produce a contract between the firefighters and the

"Not only did the township come out very well, but some very critical things the firefighters were asking for were not awarded," Township attorney Charles Bokos said during a report to the township board Tuesday night.

Those items included pension plan improvements which would have cost the township "thousands of dollars" and a minimum manpower clause, he

The arbitration panel, chaired by former governor John B. Swainson, awarded the firefighters wage increases of 8 percent for each of the next three years and increases in food al-

However, the award doesn't add up to 24 percent over three years when the savings from some "non-economic" issues are figured in, according to Bokos.

"Taking into consideration what the township got back, the arbitration ruling gives the firefighters 21 percent for three years," he said.

The township won its battle for calculating all overtime on 54-hour work weeks, instead of the 40-hour weeks currently used in some emergency situ-

The number of sick hours firefighters can accumulate also was decided in favor of the township.

A reduction in sick hours was traded for disability insurance to compensate firefighters in case of a long illness.

Under the arbitration, firefighters earn eight sick hours a month and can accumulate a maximum of 780 hours. Before, they earned 24 sick hours a month and could accumulate up to 3,960 hours, Bokos said. When a firefighter retires, he can collect payment for the accumulated sick hours - at the current rate of pay.

"That has caused municipalities untold grief," Bokos said.

Starting April 1, the township will ceedings having a sound financial stapay firefighters for some of the sick tus. hours accumulated from other years.

Out of the six communities used for comparisons during arbitration, Plymouth Township ranked sixth, Bokos said. The comparison communities were Waterford Township, Canton Township, Ypsilanti Township, Redford Township and the city of Plymouth.

The arbitration settlement moved Plymouth Township up one place to # Cut government instead?

Residents speak out on tax increases

Many Plymouth-Canton residents prefer cuts in state government to Gov. James Blanchard's proposed income tax increase.

Blanchard recently proposed a 1.5-percent increase to finance current state operations and another 0.25-percent "debt surcharge" to pay off the state's $800 million in bills accrued over the last seven

Amid Monday afternoon's sunshine and warm temperatures, the Observer stopped residents outside the Plymouth and Canton post offices to talk about Blanchard's wouldn't support the plan he's got." "I don't support it because I'm already paying so many taxes," Jackie Clerc of Canton said.

"I think something needs to be done in Michigan, but I really haven't thought about it," Clerc said.

Clerc wasn't the only resident without a solution to the state's economic problems. Many people refused to comment because they didn't know enough about the tax in-

"If it needs to be done," Barb O'Connor of Canton said. "Normally I wouldn't favor a tax increase, but in this case I think Michigan needs the money.

William Brown of Plymouth supports a part-time legislature instead of the tax increase

"They should start right up at the supreme court and come right down to the legislature and cut everything one-third," Brown said.

"The structure in Michigan has to be changed, it just can't keep going on and on and on," he said.

Likewise, Charles Lewis of Plymouth supports a cut in government staffing. He suggests an increase in the gasoline tax "since the price of gasoline is coming down" and people "already can afford the price at $1.25 a gallon."

Any tax increases will kill smaller businesses in Michigan, according to Pat Touhey of Plymouth Township.

"I talk to a lot of business people, and they're just all going to go away if the taxes keep going up," Touhey

"It's poor management by the government. They take a dollar from here just to put a dime over there. It's ridiculous," he said.

Schools may use county for taxes

Wayne County may be collecting school taxes this summer in Canton and Plymouth townships.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are switching to dual tax collections starting June 1983. Half the school taxes will be collected in June and the other half in December.

Canton, by formal resolution, has refused to collect school taxes and has asked the school district to place the issue of dual taxes on the ballot for a vote of the people.

Negotiations have broken off between Plymouth Township and the school district after an impasse was reached on how much the township would charge to collect the taxes, says Superintendent John M. Hoben.

The city of Plymouth has agreed to collect school taxes and not charge the district anything for the first year. Instead the city will continue to charge taxpayers the one percent fee it now levies on school taxes and determine what a fair cost might be at the end of the year, said Hoben

Northville, Salem and Superior townships have agreed to collect school taxes twice a year for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Hoben told the board Monday night.

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, began talks this week with Wayne County to have the county collect school taxes in Canton and Plymouth townships in June and December.

Hoben told the school board that Plymouth Township first offered to collect school taxes for $135,000 and then countered with an offer of $77,000.

Hoben said a survey of 50 school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties indicate the average cost of collecting school taxes amount to $1.50 to $1.95 per taxable parcel. The cost for smaller school districts, with fewer parcels, Hoben said, was $4 to $5 per parcel while the cost for larger districts was about 34 cents a parcel. Plymouth Township's original bid of $135,000 amounted to $15 per parcel, Hoben said, while the counter bid of $77,000 was $9 a parcel which still was twice the largest fee charged among the 50 districts. "Plymouth Township's bid just was not appropriate."

By levying a one-percent collection fee against total city school taxes, Hoben added, the city of Plymouth will be collecting about $6.50 or $6.90 per

City of Plymouth residents pay $5.5 million in school property taxes, and so the one-percent fee generates some $550,000 to the city which is more than three times the highest bid made by Plymouth Township.

Canton collects some $17.3 million in property tax revenue for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools while Plymouth Township collects about $13.6 million.

The portion of Northville Township in Plymouth-Canton Schools pays a total of $412,260 in school taxes, Salem pays $811,350, and Superior Township pays $257,800.

If an agreement cannot be reached with Wayne County, Hoedel plans to continue initial discussions held with First National Bank of Plymouth and National Bank of Detroit.

Both banks have expressed an interest in collecting school taxes, but by law the district must first offer County the opportunity to bid.

This year the school district has had to borrow $16 million and pay approximately $1.3 million in interest to meet its payroll and other debts until school taxes are collected and turned over

Board faces budget deficit in upcoming school year The Plymouth-Canton Board of Edulooking at costs of $41 million and in-

cation in one breath Monday night wiped out a deficit in its current budget and was told of a pending $2 million deficit in its upcoming budget.

After adopting an adjusted operating budget for 1982-83, the board was told that the budget for '83-'84 will have to be cut by about $2 million to be bal-The current operating budget was adopted after some $1.2 million in cuts and expense-saving moves were completed. The adjusted budget reflects those changes.

FOR THE COMING fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1983, the district is come of about $38.8 million which means it must raise $2.2 million income or cut expenses by that amount to balance.

A key to the balancing act is the $855,000 the state owes the district in state aid. The payment has been delayed until this June but is expected to be taken away again in August and not repaid until June 1984, Hoben said

Because of the uncertainty of the $855,000, Hoben said, the amount has not been included in '83-'84 operating income and could be used to help reduce the $2.2 million imbalance if the state improves its financial status sufficiently to meet its obligations.

A major loss of income for '83-'84 will be due to an expected decline in the taxbase of about $25 million or 2.5 percent resulting in a loss of $875,000

The school district is projecting that total state equalized valuation (SEV) will decrease by $13.5 million or 2.9 percent in Canton, by $7.7 million or 2.1 percent in Plymouth Township, and by $3.1 million or 2.1 percent in the city of Plymouth.

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, said that the administration won't know the actual reduction in SEV until April 15, 1983. If total SEV should end up at 3 percent instead of

2.5 percent, the total income loss would be about $1 million as the district loses some $350,000 in revenue for each $10 million reduction in taxbase

BESIDES THE reduction in taxbase, the district expects to lose state aid as student enrollment continues to de-

The administration is projecting a loss of 500 students or 3 percent next school year. This will result in a loss in general state aid which is paid on a per

Because of the loss in students, though, the administration projects it will reduce the faculty by almost 18 percent to save $373,000 in salary and

The district also will save about $245,000, including the layoff of two administrative positions, by discontinuing year-round school at Field Eriksson elementaries.

The school board must give layoff notices to administrators by March 14 and to teachers by April 11.

Central administration will come to the board with a recommendation on administrative pinkslips at its March 7 meeting. The board will be holding a weekend workshop on the budget before March 26 on the '83-'84 budget.

The board expressed a desire to give out fewer pinkslips than it did this year to avoid staff disruption and morale problems as much as possible.

The district presently receives $43 per student in state aid and now projects that next year it will receive $19 per pupil in state aid.

GLENN SCHROEDER, board treasurer, said Monday night that work done so far on the upcoming budget is based on the board's goal of making as few cuts as possible in the classroom or in other areas which directly affect student learning.

Township OKs paramedic concept

Although work is underway for bringing advanced life support (ALS) service to Plymouth Township, there isn't a guarantee it will become a reali-

Township fire chief Larry Groth received the "ok" from the township board Tuesday night to develop operating plans for ALS service. However, township supervisor Maurice Breen said the township wouldn't agree to ALS services if protocol and other related issues aren't worked out Operating procedures are needed be-

Several ambulance companies offering ALS services have asked the township to enter into working agreements. The companies would agree to transport patients if the township agrees to notify the company of all emergency

"I think the township would greatly benefit from this type of concept," Groth said

ALS personnel receive more training then the fire department's emergency medical technicians. ALS personnel are certified paramedics directed by hospital physicians. They can administer drugs to a patient. We intend to remain as the first responder to calls," Groth said. "An ambulance from the closest fire station would respond to a call and the dispatch would notify the ALS unit at the same time The difference would be that township personnel wouldn't transport the patient to the hospital, he said. The ALS unit would be used, except for life-threatening situations, when immediate transportation is demanded. Using the ALS unit for transporting theoretically would free-up firefighters from road time lost in transporting. The ALS company would bill patients on their own for transportation. Besides transporting emergency patients, all non-emergency calls to the township would be referred to the ALS company. Such calls now are referred to private ambulance companies.

"Plymouth Township has never supplied the so-called ambulance service (used for non-emergency calls)," Breen

Although the township isn't ready to pick a particular ALS company, Breen said the administration has limited the field to two companies - Huron Valley Ambulance Company and Community Huron Valley Ambulance is associated with St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor and currently provides similar service in the city of Plymouth.

Community EMS is associated with Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills and currently provides ALS service in Farmington Hills.

Legislators hear protest from suburban tax foes

Proclaiming comedian Don Knotts as his candidate for president, Livonia resident Jim Geoffrey drew attention as he joined the protest on the steps of the state cap-

They spent Tuesday's lunch hour protesting Gov. James Blanchard's plan to raise the state personal income tax to 6.35 percent.Blanchard is asking increases of 1.5 percent for operations and .25 percent to retire an accumulated deficit.

The House passed a modified version of the proposal by 59-51 vote Wednesday. The bill will go to the Senate for further discussion.

JIM GEOFFREY, a Ford Motor Co. engineer from Livonia, got a lot of amused attention with his sign that advocated "Don Knotts for Governor" with a dozen teabags suspended from it. To this first-time demonstrator, Knotts symbolized the stumbling, ineffectual comedian. The teabags recalled the anti-tax fervor of the pre-Revolution Boston Tea Party.

"Blanchard is giving us a red herring with this Economic Alliance," said Geoffrey. "Those busi-ness and industry leaders are in bed with him. They're part of the problem.

There were mixed feelings on whether a sales tax increase from 4 percent to 5 would be more acceptable. "If we had to have a tax, I would prefer a sales tax because you can avoid it," said Winky. But Geoffrey said,"A sales tax would be no less onerous. We just assume a tax increase is needed. We can't tax our way to prosperity.'

THE EVENT was a field day for Republican legislators, whose caucuses are working to come up with figures showing the state is overspending on such matters as colleges and welfare, and that no permanent (18 months or longer) tax hike is needed.

Republican Reps. Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, Jack Kirksey of Livonia, Frederick Dillingham of Fowlerville and Sen. Ed Fredericks of Holland all denounced the tax plan.

"The governor and the Democrats are now on a fast track. They're going to run it through ning Wednesday," said Dunaskiss.

In his ground floor office, Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford, promised to vote "no on a permanent increase. Maybe yes on a temporary. Maybe.

Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, observed the rally standing next to the statue of Civil War Gov. Austin Blair. The freshman lawmaker was frustrated that he had to make a yes or no decision on a tax increase while no visible effort was being made to work out a long-term financial plan.

"You come up here, and it's assumed - you have a deficit, so you raise taxes," Law said. He said he opposed a permanent tax hike, then gritted his teeth as he philosophized that temporary measures have a way of becoming permanent.

DAVID LITTMAN, vice president and senior economist at Manufacturers National Corp., urged lawmakers to put Michigan's house in order before even considering a tax hike.

Littman, a member of the Bloomfield Hills school board, gave a detailed analysis, with chart, contending "Michigan has consistently outspent its peer group of states (the 13 most populous) . . . in many of the key budget areas.'

Littman's examples included spending on education, welfare and libraries. He said that if spending was reduced to the 13-state average in either education or welfare, the state's budget could be bal-

"All economic forecasts have been revised upward," Littman said, adding that existing taxes would produce $500 million more than projected as the economy improves.

JIM MORBERG, director of the House Fiscal Agency, called Medicaid "the worst fiscal problem in this state. Medicaid costs are going up 12 to 15 percent a year, and it doesn't care whether we're in a recession or not."

Hospital costs, rising relentlessly, are helping to push up Medicaid costs. Asked about the state's cost-containment efforts on hospitals, Morberg said 'very little progress" has been made. Many cases have been taken to court, and the state has lost most, he said.

Asked about staff estimates of the budget deficit that have been lower than Blanchard's, Morberg said the House and Senate Fiscal Agencies have revised their earlier estimates, as low as $614 million, upwards to the $700-plus million mark. He said Blanchard's $900-million deficit estimate was "reasonable."

"The smartest move I ever made was back in 1941 when I came to Plymouth, and I will never leave it."

The speaker was Minerva Chaiken, more familiarly known as just "Minerva," owner of the Minerva's-Dunning's women's apparel shop on Forest Ave-

She has been in business in Plymouth for 33 years now and is proud to be listed among the oldest business establishments in the city.

It was an odd twist of fate that brought her to Plymouth in April 1941.

"I had been working at Kern's in downtown Detroit and was invited by a friend to take a ride out to Plymouth," she said as she leaned in a comfortable chair behind several hundred thousand dollars' worth of inventory. "I accepted the invitation and was shown a store on Penniman Avenue.

"I just sat in the automobile, and, incidentally, it wasn't heated. I didn't see anyone go in to the store, but there was plenty of traffic on the street. There was the post office, a theater, a bank and other buildings that attracted folks. So, I said to myself, with traffic like that, this store should be able to do business. So we bought it."

For the next 19 years the store did a worthwhile business on Penniman Avenue. Then disaster struck - the building was destroyed in one of the worst fires in the city's history.

It was just about that time that Margaret Dunning was thinking of retiring from business, and Minerva moved into Dunning's store on Forest Avenue. That was 14 years ago, and the business has been thriving ever since.

"I have seen many changes take place since I came here," she said. "I have watched Forest Avenue develop. I have watched with pleasure the beautification of Kellogg Park and the big changes at the Mayflower Hotel. But the one that pleased the most came when Lou Goddard developed the mini-mall where the old D&C was located and is now the Edison office.'

Minerva was born in Philadelphia and practically grew up in the ladies' wear business. Prior to her coming to Detroit she was employed at Gimbel's, one of the largest stores of its kind in the East.

"I came out here to marry a man from Philadelphia, and we were in busines together. He died a short time

Along with the interior appearance of her store and the fresh-looking apparel on the racks, she is proudest of her staff that now numbers 18 full- and part-time employees.

She is proud, too, of the fact that many of her old-time customers who moved away return "home" to do their shopping for wearing apparel. Many of them live in Ann Arbor, Farmington, Livonia, and other cities in southeastern Michigan.

"And I am proud, too, of my inventory. I have made it a point to have stations stocked with fresh material. I never want to show anything that looks the least bit old. I learned that in the big places in the East, and it has worked out well here."

The cuts needed could drop as low as $1.2 million, he said, if the district gets the $855,000 in state aid which has been delayed.

"If the $855,000 is delayed again un-til June 1984," said Schroeder, "then for all practical purposes we don't have

• ROBERT F. RUSSELL

Army Reserve Sgt. Major Robert F. Russell of Livonia, son of Catherine and James Campbell of Canton Township, has received his second Oak Leaf cluster to the Army Commendation Medal, signifying the third time he has earned the award for outstanding duty achievement.

The part-time soldier is operations sergeant major in the operations and training section at headquarters of the 300th Military Police Command USAR in Inkster. He also is a full-time civilian employee of the 300th, working as a staff training assistant.

The recent award was for his contributions in managing the 300th's participation in Mobilization Exercise Proud Saber - one in a series of worldwide tests of the nation's ability to respond to a military emergency.

A 1953 graduate of Detroit Chadsey

High School, Russell joined the Army Reserve the next year and started out as a military policeman at Fort Wayne in Detroit.

Q. Do insurance companies offer IRAs?
A. Definitelyl in fact, Prudential is a leader in IRAs.
Furthermore, years before anyone ever heard of IRA or even Social Security, Prudential was helping people plan for retirement. And when you retire, only an insurance company can provide a retirement income you can't

Should Detroit waterboard be regionalized?

Suburban officials are moving on three levels to regionalize the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (DWSD) in the wake of federal indictments against a Detroit city official and contractors.

"The rate increases, combined with these serious clouds - it's intolerable," said Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn, who has long battled the city's sole control of a facility which serves Detroit and 103 neighbor-

The battlegrounds will be U.S. District Court, the Michigan Legislature and possibly the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, Kuhn said.

IN FEDERAL Court, Kuhn's attorney, William P. Hampton, this week will join the U.S. attorney's office in asking Judge John Feikens to remove Charles Beckham, as director of the DWSD. Beckham and five others were indicted on charges of bribery and racketeering in connection with a sludge-hauling contract.

But Kuhn said he will go one step beyond the U.S. attorney and ask Feikens also to remove Detroit Mayor Coleman Young as special administrator of the DWDS, which is under the supervision of the federal court since a 1977 antipollution case.

"He is all powerful, and he has violated his trust," Kuhn said of Young. "He went around the city council and unilaterally took power into his own

At the beginning of the case in 1977, suburban officials had asked Feikens to appoint an administrator not connected with the city of Detroit. Among the names tossed around were the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Lee A. Iacocca, then out of work after being president of Ford Motor Co. "He had a higher calling, God bless him, and saved Chrysler," said Kuhn.

Feikens instead picked Young, citing the principle of city home rule and cloaking the mayor with great powers

KUHN SAID he is seeking help from several senators in getting state legislation to regionalize political control of DWDS. The seven-member governing board, though it has three suburban members, is appointed and removable by the mayor of Detroit.

"A regional authority would not be beholden to any one mayor," said Kuhn. He added that state Sens. Richard Fessler, R-Union Lake, and Gilbert DiNello, D-East Detroit, are interested in the project.
"I want them to get all 38 senators surveyed. This should not be a one-man nitely better, but they (engineers) don't or two-man bill," Kuhn said.

The general plan is to have a ninemember water board with representation based on population — three from Detroit and six from the customer communities.

BESIDES BOARD control, a second targets the Detroit city charter provision which allows only city residents to work for DWSD. A major operating problem has been hiring qualified persons to operate the plant.

"Every engineer in the state of Michigan has been surveyed twice on working there," said Kuhn. "The pay is infiwant to live there."

He added, "Detroit does not own the plant. It was paid for with massive federal and state grants, and 65 percent of the revenues come from the 103 customer communities."

Kuhn acknowledged his own petition drive fell 20,000 signatures of what was needed to place a similar change in state law on the ballot.

Detroit will resist any effort to regionalize the DWSD. In a 1981 interview, Beckham called the system one of Detroit's greatest civic prides.

Dems back Blanchard but worry U-M regents

By Tim Richard staff writer

Michigan Democrats gave Gov. James J. Blanchard a blank check to solve the state's fiscal crisis but gave direct orders to the University of Michigan Board of Regents to sell its stock in companies doing business with South Africa.

"They're giving Blanchard the same latitude I wish they'd give me," said U-M Regent Thomas Roach, who lost in his state convention effort to argue down the South Africa resolution.

Otherwise, last weekend's convention was tranquil. In the words of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young - "Nobody got punched out, not much bad names and bad language."

The climax came at 2 p.m. Sunday in Detroit's Cobo Arena when the 2,000 delegates by acclamation elected Rick Wiener, 35, state chairman to succeed Libby Maynard. Wiener's nominating speech was given by Blanchard him-

DELEGATES approved a resolution urging "all Democratic legisators to support the governor in his efforts to resolve this (financial) crisis.'

No one mentioned either a permanent income tax increase (Blanchard's proposal), a temporary income tax increase (some legislators' proposal), a graduated rate income tax (a perenniel Democratic favorite) or a sales tax (proposed by the business-labor Economic Alliance).

But in one of the few split votes of the day, the convention shouted its approval of a resolution asking all public college boards to sell their stock in companies doing business in South Africa "so that business as usual cannot go on.

It was a victory for state Rep. W. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, author of a law requiring divestiture. Bullard also argued in favor of the resolution policies had been adopted by religious groups, labor and even the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Bullard's act takes effect April 1. White South Africa must learn they must begin to change and grant the fundamentals of human dignity to all citizens," Bullard said.

"THAT RESOLUTION gives me a problem two ways," said Roach, an Ann Arbor attorney who was re-elected to the U-M governing board last November.

"First, it follows an unconstitutional law. The state constitution, since 1850, gives the regents power over the expenditure of funds. It's an important constitutional isue. For 15 years, the Legislature had run the university.

Governor Milliken, when he signed the law on his last day in office, suggested it might be unconstitutional. It's probably the unanimous feeling on the board that it's unconstitutional and that we should attack it.

"Second, it's not an apprpriate response to South Africa's apartheid. Everyone agrees apartheid's immoral, unconscionable. That's a given.

But how do we best end it? We own stock in many Michigan companies -Ford, GM, Chrysler, Burroughs, Kellogg - which have divisions or subsidiaries in South Africa.

"Divestment is a symbolic act which. when done, accomplishes nothing. If we sell our stock, who will buy it? Someone with a more responsible position?"

In 1978, the U-M board in 1978 adopted a policy requiring companies in which it held stock to report progress in such areas as desegregation of the work place, equal pay for equal work, training and promoting blacks to supervisory and management positions and providing equal medical benefits, Roach said.

"Ford Motor Co. is one of the best from the convention floor, noting such achievers," said Roach, citing promotions, housing and health care, wages and dealings with black unionists.

These things are resulting in change in South Africa - too slowly, but change. They are more effective than to sell our stock.'

Two consulting firms monitor such corporate practices for a fee, he said. When Black & Decker, the tool making firm, refused to comply, U-M sold its stock. Stock in a second firm, which he did not name, might also be sold, he

IN OTHER business, the convention resolved to oppose President Ronald Reagan's proposed arms buildup, advocated a local content bill for auto parts, asked corporations to exercise "a social responsibility" on plant closings and urged a boycott of Apex (formerly Cunningham) Drug Stores.

On education matters, the Democrats accused Reagan of undermining separation of church and state with a tuition tax credits proposal, asked

Michigan congressmen to make education a priority of the federal government, advocated training in the schools in computer programming and electronics, asked improvement in the quality of vocational education, and asked colleges to work to eradicate racism and prejudice on college cam-

Plymouth Area REACT, Inc. is holding training classes to teach tornado spotting and reporting for the National

A spotters class will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10, in Plymouth City Hall at 201 S. Main, and a public awareness class will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 23, in Plymouth Township Hall at 42350 Ann Arbor "With the lack of ice on the lakes and snow on the ground to absorb the energy of the sun, the atmosphere may become heated to present an early spring-like condition, bringing about unusual weather patterns," said Bill Deedler of the U.S. Weather Service.

SPOTTERS would be trained to recognize cloud formations and other conditions that could bring on severe weather.

Paul Cook, commander of Plymouth Area REACT, said: "This is the sixth year our team has studied severe weather. For the last three years we have been spotting not only for the Weather Service but also for the city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township."

Cook urges interested residents to attend the classes.

For retirement income you can count on.

If you are a wage earner, you can put real security into your financial future by establishing a tax-sheltered "Individual Retirement Account" (I.R.A.) at First Federal of Oakland - even if you already have a pension plan where you work ... and especially if you don't.

Start your I.R.A. at First of Oakland with as little as $10 and contribute as much as $2,000 a year ($2,250 if you have a nonworking spouse), up to $4,000 a year for working couples. Then, with an I.R.A., you'll save on taxes now and in the future, too, because all the money you save - plus all the interest that accumulates - is totally tax-free until you retire, when you will likely be in a lower tax bracket.

So, for a retirement income you can count on, stop by and ask us about our wide range of I.R.A. investment options today. You'll receive personal, knowledgeable counseling without having to pay a cent in fees or commissions. Besides . . . in times like these, who can afford to be without an

Schoolcraft labor negotiations may be tough

Schoolcraft College employee unions may face tough negotiations this year when contract talks open in April.

That's mainly because of the uncertainty surrounding state aid payments to the college.

"It's obvious that what happens in Lansing will have a definite impact on what we can offer," said Michael Petrack, who will act as the college's chief negotiator in talks with three of the four unions whose contracts expire.

THE COMMUNITY college could lose nearly $75,000 in state money as a result of Gov. James Blanchard's proernor has delayed two monthly payments totaling $834,000 to the college.

State aid accounts for roughly a third of the college's revenues. The other two-thirds comes from property taxes and tuition fees.

Lawrence Ordowski, president of the 22-member union representing assistant deans and directors, agrees with Petrack. But he's still optimistic.

"A lot depends on what Gov. Blanchard is able to pull off in Lansing with regard to the income tax hike," he said. "If we don't panic early, we may wind up getting more than we anticipated."

BUT ANOTHER union spokesman, Bonnie Bryant, doesn't buy the argument that the college may be financially strapped this year because of the state's budget crisis.

"I know there are problems with cutbacks in state aid," said Bryant, president of the 51-member union representing secretaries.

But, Bryant said, the college gave pay hikes to faculty, non-union personnel and some executive administrators this year. The other four unions should get their fair share, she said.

"Job security will also be a big issue for us," Bryant added.

THE COLLEGE laid off eight secretaries and four custodians and maintenance workers last year.

The secretaries union, the Schoolcraft College Association of Office Personnel, is awaiting the outcome of an

Quality is the key edge in market, says resident

Selling top management on quality control was the topic of a presentation given recently by a Plymouth resident employed by Ford Motor Co.

Dave Schwinn spoke on "How to Get Your Boss Interested in Quality" at the Quality in Management and Service mid-year conference of the American Society for Quality Control in Chicago.

Quality professionals continually bemoan the lack of support they receive from their management in the assurance of quality excellence, said

Schwinn, who works in quality engineering for Ford's.

The presentation given at the conference told how to discuss quality in terms management can understand profitability, said Schwinn.

The frequently misunderstood relationship between quality and productivity was explored in the presentation by Schwinn who also discussed Ford's recent heightened interest in quality and productivity.

SCHWINN BEGAN his career after earning a bachelor of mechanical engineering from General Motors Institute.

He spent the next six years with Frigidaire Division of General Motors in the automotive and home appliance industries performing process engineering, quality engineering, and quality control supervision.

By the time he left General Motors, Schwinn also had earned a master's in business administration degree from Wright State University and a professional engineering certification from the state of Ohio.

At Ford Schwinn has worked in process engineering, product planning, product design engineering, reliability and quality engineering.

His present assignment involves making management presentations on the use of statistics to improve quality and productivity, and on Employee Involvement (EI) which is a form of participative decision-making in place at

Schwinn also prepares statistical training materials and consults with on the use of statistics in business man-

IN HIS TALK at the conference, Schwinn said that in its early stage of development the importance of quality control never got to top management in a way that encouraged its commit-

"Although the message did not move U.S. management, it did move Japanese management and the results are obvious throughout the U.S. economy. A few U.S. managers are beginning to understand, but the message must

The message which must be given to top management is that improved quality leads to improved productivity which results in improved profitability, said Schwinn.

'Managers understand that, above all else, they must have profitability. Quality control, from the manager's viewpoint, is often perceived as a drag on profits not a propellant."

Profits increase with increased sales or decreased costs, said Schwinn, and improving quality almost always does

One concept not always understood by top management, said Schwinn, is that the most effective way to improve quality is to change the production process — not the inspection process.

"Americans are used to 'burning the toast and scraping it.' Americans ex-pect the plane to be late, the food to be cold, the luggage to be lost, and the car to go back to the dealer for service. Management can no longer accept these conditions if the U.S. is to compete with Japan.'

If this is to happen, Schwinn stressed, professionals in the quality control field must avoid the trade jargon and communicate to management in simple terms consistent with the background of managers.

In summary, Schwinn said that to get management interested in quality the quality control professional must ex-plain how quality effects profitability; propose and plan to improve quality and productivity; and, show positive results from a pilot project.

Joint concert was a first

As a charter member of the Plymouth Community Chorus, active board member, and historian of the chorus, I wish to address myself to the letter written recently by Wayne Dunlap, for-mer conductor of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

The Plymouth Community Chorus that hosted the Michigan State "Johnny Mann's Great American Choral Festival" was founded in September 1973 by William Grimmer and had never sung with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra before Friday, Feb. 11, 1983, in that stirring and memorable concert through the foresight and efforts of Michael Gross, musical conductor of the Plymouth Community Chorus.

The chorus, orchestra, and narrator the "Lincoln Portrait" (the Hon. Dunbar Davis) were brought together for this wonderful community endeavor. The facts in the Observer were accurate in reporting this successful event of the season

On Feb. 3, 1974, the chorus made its debut on the stage of Plymouth Salem High School auditorium with the Plymouth Community Band in a "Tribute to Sigmund Romberg" directed by Mr.

Mr. Grimmer was our first musical conductor from 1973-77, David Gladstone from 1977-78, and Mr. Gross from 1978 to the present date. Fred Nelson, mentioned in the letter, never has been associated with our musical

From the success and standing ovations received on Feb. 11, 1983, in our first joint venture, let's hope our two quality musical organizations can do it again sometime.

Every cruise ship offers an ambiance all its own

CRUISE SHIP is a sensory experience. The taste of food. The rattle of slot machines. The feel of the hot Caribbean sun against your skin as you bake beside the pool. The sight of seagulls circling against island shores.

That's what we're all doing here, at sea aboard the cruise ship Mardi Gras, enjoying the sights and smells of another world, but something else creeps up on you as the week goes by. People.

There's Manuel from Honduras, and Louis from Haiti, who serve us 10 courses at breakfast, lunch and dinner every day, pamper us with special orders and even dance around the dining room holding flaming desserts aloft when the theme of the day requires it.

Both Manuel and Louis have wives and families at home. They sail these ships, pampering a new set of tourists every week, because they can earn more money afloat than at home.

There's Cruise Director Gary Hunter and his cast of characters: Kiki, Buford, Doug, Andy, Dale, who organize silly games during the day, a bingo party every evening, and a different show twice every night in the Grand Ballroom. You'll find one of them performing after midnight every night in the Point After Club and later winding down in the disco.

Your table mates are the same at every meal, so after a while you have a family growing around the soup and the pate, the fish and seafood, the meats and pies and flaming desserts.

Whether or not you play together during the day, you take your table mates home with you in the pictures you paste in your album, and you write to them every Christmas until you can't remember which one was which.

1-of-a-kind traveler Iris Jones contributing travel editor

TRAVELERS PICK a cruise ship for its ambiance and its ports of call. The Mardi Gras is the oldest of the Carnival Lines, known as the "fun ships" be cause they cater to a casual crowd. This is the old Canadian Pacific Steamship Lines cruiser the Empress of Canada, renovated 10 years ago.

It has the larger cabins, polished wood and brass of an older ship; of course it also lacks the luster of a new ship. The newest ship on the Carnival line, the Tropicale, has all that new luster and none of the old glow, so you take your pick.

The Mardi Gras sails out of Miami every Sunday afternoon at 4; there are three days at sea and three days in port. The ports are Cozumel, on the gulf coast of Mexico; Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island; and Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

Cruising veterans know that every cruise ship has its own ambiance and caters to its own crowd. The Mardi Gras is for the traveler who doesn't want to dress up for dinner. Those who like tuxedos and glamor choose other ships. It's casual, although some people find life aboard a little more structured than they want it to be.

Industry experts will tell you, however, that only 3 percent of Americans have ever taken a cruise. Most of us are exploring an entirely new way of spending a vacation. Here is a typical

The daily newsletter is under your door when you wake up. If you hung your card on the doorknob the night before, your cabin steward will bring you breakfast. Otherwise you must choose between all those fattening courses in the Flamingo Dining Room, or eat with your feet up from the Seaview Snack Bar on deck.

What time you go to breakfast depends on whether you chose the early or late sitting when you came aboard. That is certainly the most important decision of the week, because a 7:45 a.m. breakfast, a noon lunch and a 6 p.m. dinner give your day a different rhythm than meals eaten at 9 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

After all this heavy early-morning decision making - "should I have eggs, pancakes, crepes, omelets, or all - most people spread their bikini'd and lotioned bodies on deck chairs around the small pool forward, the deck bar that overlooks the pool or the sundeck that overlooks both.

During days at sea, some people don't leave the lounge chairs until dinnertime. You can eat hamburgers on deck any day you like instead of shrimp, quiche, pate, steak and all that fattening stuff in the dining room.

During shore days, the launches leave early for optional tours or late for those who want to wander on their own. Most people return for dinner, and a rattle-and-spin through the gambling rooms before settling down to floor shows and late-night activities.

If its the last day aboard, on any cruise ship, its tipping time: usually $2 per person per day for the waiter, $1 for the bus boy, $2 for the cabin steward, plus anything you are inclined to give to the maitre d's or the wine steward. Figure $50 each per week, tops. Tips, drinks, gambling, optional tours and shopping are your only expenses. Everything else aboard a cruise ship is

Off-season cruise rates start soon

Off-season runs from April to De-cember in the cruise business. Spring and fall offer good weather at savings off-season rates on the four Carnival Line ships range from $860 for an inside cabin with upper-lower bunks to $1,205 for an outside cabin with twin beds on an upper deck to $1,595 for a verandah suite.

The four ships are Mardi Gras, sailing Sunday from Miami for Cozumel, Caymen Island, Jamaica; Carnivale, sailing Sunday from Miami for Sammana, San Juan and St. Thomas; Festivale, sailing Saturday from Miami for Nassau, San Juan, St. Thomas; the brand-new Tropicale, sailing Sunday from Los Angeles for Puerto Vallarta, Mazatlan and Cabo San Lucas.

SINGLE TRAVELERS should check out Norwegian American Cruises. which joins with Singleworld to feature cruises for singles, Singleworld is a reputable New York-based tour operator.

Norwegian American also offers two-, three-, nine- or 14-night cruises to Alaska and Canada during the summer, and theme tours like the Gold Rush to Alaska on the five-star liner Sagafjord. The five-star rating was given by Fielding's Worldwide Guide to Cruises. The Sagafjord was voted cruise ship of the year by the World Ocean and Cruise Liner Society.

The brand-new Nieuw Amsterdam from Holland America will make its maiden voyage from Le Havre, France, to New York City, May 15-23, rates $2,085 to $3,385 per person, including air fare to Europe. This superliner was built by the same people who built the Ile de France, now the Nor-

Royal Viking just released its 1983-84 schedule, highlighting four-day Mexican cruises starting at $540, and a 99day Grand World cruise with a pent-house suite price of $70,884. They do two-week jaunts between Australia and Tahiti; around Bali; through the Panama Canal and on the Mediterranean. The long ones go for 60 days around South America, three weeks Singapore to Sydney or Sydney to Hong Kong.

Some of you might prefer the summer New England and Canada cruises: 14 days round-trip between New York, Prince Edward Island, Montreal, Quebec, Maine, Massachussets, Rhode Island, New York. Or the 21 days from London to New York or from Copenhagen to New York. You also can cruise to Russia.

The most important financial information for your consideration: It's a buyer's market, because the lines have introduced large new ships into a recession period. Check your travel agent for fly-cruise or other money-saving ways to sail.

Finally, watch for Ethel Blum's new book, "The Total Traveler by Ship," available after April 25 from bookstores, Hipporcrene Books Inc., New York, or by mail from Travel Publications Inc. One Lincoln Road No. 214, Miami Florida 33139 ($12.95 plus $1 postage).

Party regulars target Nystrom's fees and tactics

DENNIS NYSTROM, who is Wayne County Executive William Lucas' acting chief of staff, is well on his way to becoming the county's most controver-

In a government dominated by Democrats and labor, Nystrom stands out like an investment banker at a UAW rally.

Nystrom is a successful attorney with a law firm in Southfield, a Bloomfield Township resident and a staunch Republican who was active in the political campaigns of such Republicans as former U.S. Senator Robert Griffin and, for a time, gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee.

Then what is he doing holding the second-most powerful job, if not the first, in county government? That's what a host of county politicos would like to

Various Democrats in high standing have put pressure on Lucas to dump Nystrom, but Lucas, who admires Nystrom's abilities as an idea man, program developer and administrator, has resisted steadfastly. Nystrom, who ran Lucas' campaign for county executive, says he admires Lucas and is willing to slight his law practice to help Lucas re-form Wayne County government.

BUT NYSTROM has managed in the two months since Lucas took office to alienate a host of county political figures, and his standing with the County Commission is about as high as that of Herve Vil-

Lucas, who handily won six Wayne County elections as a Democrat (four as county sheriff), attended the Democratic state convention last weekend and was politely snubbed by major party figures.

A big reason: Nystrom's political status is anathema to Democratic party regulars.

Union chiefs, especially, are unhappy with the idea of a budget-cutting Republican commander marching their troops out of jobs

There are also complaints that Nystrom is abrasive and uses tactics better suited for courtroom jousting than political negotiating.

A MAJOR SORE point is Nystrom's renumeration as Lucas' chief of staff. Nystrom is working on a contractural basis rather than for an employee's salary and terms of the arrangement have so far been kept secret.

A number of estimators think this means he is working on an hourly attorney's-fee basis which equates to $100,000 a year or better. Nystrom came to the Lucas camp after representing the Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies Association, and then the association and Lucas, in court battles with the county board over the size of the sheriff's road pa-

Lucas, the deputies and Nystrom lost last year. Nystrom's $256,000 fee has not been paid. Lucas has asked county commissioners to pay the bill out of county funds, but commissioners have so far stalled. Nystrom has been talking about salary concesssions and layoffs, but the unions are already pointing to Nystrom's financial arrangment and saying there is no equal sacrifice in the executive's inner circle.

When the figure for the current contractual arrangment finally becomes public, it is liable to be up there in the same attorney-fee strata, which will create a new clamor.

The odds are that shooting at Nystrom has just begun. Whether Nystrom will want to remain in the circle of wagons remains to be seen. He may decide to return full-time to his law practice before the controversy over his job becomes noisier and more

Blanchard's tax proposal needs major revisions

HAVING AN old governor with tired, worn-out ideas was a hard enough pill for Michigan taxpayers to take. But having a spanking new chief executive peddling the same old tax elixir is much more than the hard-working people of this state can be expected to swallow.

But that is what the young, new Gov. James Blanchard, in collusion with like-minded legislators, is attempting to force down our throats - an increased income tax, from 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent, mixed with educational budget cuts which would prove harmful to the state's recovery.

Frankly, we expected better.

SINCE TIME immemorial, the income tax, especially the flat-rate genre, has been known for its unfairness. As Plato once told us, "When there is an income tax, the just man will pay more and the unjust less on the same amount of income.

Blanchard's tax plan not only is innately unfair, it is an unimaginative prescription for a state which cries for bold new ideas. We strongly urge the governor and his legislative cronies to return to the

Blanchard should take a closer look at combining a temporary sales tax with a temporary income tax. Although far from perfect, the sales tax does lift some of the burden from state taxpayers to the many persons taking vacations in this state.

The sales tax's regressive features happily have been modified by the 1976 exemption of food and

Besides, the division between the haves and the have nots has increased considerably during the recession. We believe those who have the ability to enjoy economic buying power should pay more in

Although the Economic Alliance for Michigan, a group of the state's business and labor movers and shakers, has endorsed Blanchard's plan, it also has recommended a sales tax plan.

Blanchard should take a closer look at combining a temporary sales tax with a temporary income tax.

BLANCHARD has leaned toward high-handedness in dealing with sales tax advocates. A sales tax increase would require a vote of the people to amend the state constitution. Because of the economic conditions, Blanchard says there isn't enough time to put it in place.

Michigan taxpayers have made it emphatic they want more of a say. We've survived the economic mess this long. We can survive until taxpayers express their wishes

Those who advocate passing the income tax increase now and asking the people about a sales tax later are dabbling in political sophistry. Implementing an increased income tax now would certainly kill any chance a sales tax proposal would have in the future.

WE ALSO QUESTION Blanchard's priorities in the $225 million of cuts he has proposed. His proposed educational cuts are distasteful and counterproductive to Michigan's economic recovery.

For this state to become economically viable once again, we need to retrain our present work force. We need to train the next generation for the next technologies in which this state must be profi-

We need to develop research facilities and programs such as the Metropolitan High Technology Center at Wayne State University. This was established to attract research-oriented high technology firms in the state. The concept already is providing badly needed jobs and revenue.

Axing $60 million from the state's educational budget will abort such progressive attempts at economic recovery.

TV's gift: uneducated millionaires

WHAT A WONDERFUL thing it has been to sit back on your favorite chair and watch the top football games of the country or have the Detroit Tigers play right in your own home.

And how wonderful it has been to start the New Year right by watching the famous Rose Parade strut across your living room and the biggest college game of the year being waged within arm's

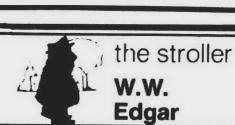

Sure, these things have been wonderful, and little thought has been given through the years that the same television that is providing so much free entertainment is also starting to create a lot of harm.

This has come to light in the past several weeks as the United States Football League - a loop that hasn't played a game - wages a war of dollars to sign players.

THE REAL THREAT came the other day when it was learned that the Jersey City team in the new league has signed — and guaranteed — $16.5 million over five years to Herschel Walker, the Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Georgia. Walker has another year to go to earn his degree from the University of Georgia. To top it off, Walker was paid, so it was stated, $1.5 million for agreeing to leave school and sign the contract.

That means he will be paid more than $3 million a year for carrying a football, compared to the $200,000 that is paid the president of the United States for carrying the burden of our government. To make matters worse, Walker couldn't have attained his high ranking if there had not been linemen in front of him to open holes through which he could race with the football.

WHERE IS ALL the money coming from to pay these high salaries to athletes? Surely not from paid admissions. Sellout crowds in every stadium could not come close to paying the bill.

The answer is that television is taking over sports spectaculars.

Several years ago, the TV folks startled the sports world by paying each team in the National Football League $1 million each season. That figure has grown, so it is said, to $15 million a season.

And mind you, that is with "free" television. Now that cable television serves many more homes, the time has come when these stations will take over the bonanza paid each team. And where will most of that money come from? It will come from the customers of cable companies who will be asked to pay a monthly rate for the privilege of watching the sports events - and other entertainment - at home.

THAT MAY NOT be too bad. But where the harm is being done is taking these young fellows out of college before their graduations. Sure, they are making millionaires out of the stars, but without an What's more, they are removing the athletes from such world events as the Olympic Games and giving them the riches that seemingly are unearned.

Another thing to ponder: How do these bloated salaries affect the ranks of the unemployed and those who stand in line to pick up a package of cheese or a few loaves of bread at the welfare cen-

It is bringing some unrest in the country, and the television we thought was so great is to blame for it. Is it worth it?

A new boss at the top always sends stress signals through the system. So it is with Donald Hodel, the new secretary of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), who jokingly refers to himself as the "last male appointee to Reagan's Cabinet."

Since assuming the post last December, Hodel has given few public indications of what his leadership of the Department of Energy will mean.

Hodel was in Detroit recently to give the keynote address at the Michigan Republican Convention. In an exclusive interview, Hodel gave a look at the course he is setting.

The surprise is that in an administration known as a friend of oil, Hodel is a strong advocate of conservation and renewable energy technologies.

Unlike his predecessor, dentist James Edwards, Hodel is no stranger to energy issues. The attorney from Oregon has held key positions in the energy sector for 15 years, including a fiveyear stint as administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration in Oregon. Before assuming the DOE job.

energy secretary

Hodel was undersecretary of Interior.

As we talked, Hodel revealed an enthusiasm for the new job and a commitment to laying the foundation for a revised national consensus on energy policy. Excerpts:

Q. The DOE budget seems to be tilted in favor of the nuclear industry, with little or no funding for conservation and renewable energies. Do you

A. That's not correct. When I came on board, I found a 1984 budget that was 95 percent out of the station. I re-alized that we needed to do more in conservation and renewables than we had been proposing.

So we increased by 41/2 times our proposal for 1984 over what we had proposed in 1983. We went from $22 million to $102 million in conservation.

In solar and renewables we went from $74 million to $102 million. The preception is that we are hostile to these energy options. I am trying hard

Q. How are you planning to do this?

A. I've asked the director of SERI (Solar Energy Research Institute) to give me a back-of-an-envelope analysis I don't want a fancy analysis yet of what it would take in terms of capital and operating expenses to turn SERI into a real national solar lab, so that in five to 10 years we could expect to be in the forefront of solar technolo-

I have, in the same spirit, asked the conservation and renewables assistant secretary to give me a list of options what we can do to highlight the importance of conservation and renewable

Also I have met with a lot of environmental groups and asked them for

Q. What about the nuclear side of the budget picture?

A. Our budget, with $848 million for nuclear this year, is a 1-percent increase over last year's request. Two-hundred-seventy million dollars is for the Clinch River Breeder reactor.

In March, I have to go back to Congress with a proposal as to how we are going to get that off the federal funding role. If I'm successful, we will see a significant drop in the amount of fund- must let the market work. ing we spend on nuclear.

Q. Does this indicate a change in policy for the DOE?

A. I think this is an important trend. a shift in the role of the department more toward a scientific and technological orientation. I think that's the role it ought to play.

I was out at the Fermi Lab - fascinating experience. They are working on technology transfer, how to move the technology into industry so that jobs and economic activity is created. These are the areas I think the department can move into most effectively.

Q. It sounds like federal involvement in determining energy policy will di-

A. I do not believe it is possible, and I don't believe it is proper, for a federal department to try to tell the American people what to pay, when to pay, or how much to buy of any particular energy source.

That market out there is so much more complex than you would believe, and when we have tried to control it, we have screwed up enormously. We

Q. How "free" do you propose the A. The free market extends to all energy forms, which means letting even nuclear stand on its own feet. One of the things we have in our budget is Clinch River as a demonstration project. Now I say we can't afford to buy demonstration projects any-

Q. Our domestic energy industries fear that the technical leadership they currently enjoy will be eroded without federal support.

A. There may be a risk of that. I get that argument from the nuclear people, breeder people, and the coal and fusion industry. It would take an enormous volume of money to try to do all those things.

I think what is important is that we continue the tax incentives and keep reminding ourselves that the iniative and flexibility that has come out of this country in the technical areas is astonishing. The $80 billion that is sent on research each year in the United States offsets the combined total spent by the rest of the free world.

Q. Has Washington given any thought to the plight of a state like Michigan, which is currently importing 87 percent of its energy?

A. In a broad context, yes. We are trying to see to it that you have a wider array of options, including conservation and renewables. We are not inclined to meddle in the market. The reality is that Michigan has been a tremendous industrial producer, and the income from exporting products to other states has in the past more than compensated for the import of energy.

I come from an energy-deficient state. The state of Oregon is a net importer of energy. When the building in-. dustry went on the skids in the late 1970s, the state had trouble paying its energy bills. The fact is the market was not working well.

In the long run Oregon was better having flexibility than having the iron hand of government coming into the

THERE MUST have been a brisk northwester blowing the night of Saturday, Feb. 12. That was the day Louis and Helen Gest of Livonia took their grandchildren, Lauren Rotole, 8, and Ronnie Rotole, 11, out to dinner at Mr. Steak. Lauren and Ronnie live in Plymouth and attend Our Lady of Good Counsel School.

A birthday celebration was in progress at a nearby table in the restaurant. The guest of honor, a woman, had been presented with a helium-filled balloon and as she left the restaurant, she gave her balloon to Lauren.

Before the Gests and their grandchildren finished dinner and departed, Ronnie attached a note to the balloon. The group returned to the Gests' home on California and as they were getting out of the car, there was a slight "difference of opinion" between the children. As they argued over who would carry the balloon into the house, it got away from Lauren. That was Saturday night.

On Tuesday, Ronnie received a letter from Agnes Ager of Carrolltown, Pa. She said her 14year-old son, Eric, had caught the balloon as it was coming down in an open field near their home, Feb. 14 (Monday).

Mrs. Ager wrote that finding the balloon had "put a lot of excitement in our lives." She is a part-time nurse and her husband is a state trooper. Son Eric is a mechanical whiz who fixes and sells bikes. She described Carrolltown as being near Pittsburgh

They estimated that the balloon had soared about 400 miles in its journey over Lake Erie to its landing place in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Gest said, "Our grandson

Bonnie Coughlin (at right), Chuck O'Flaherty and Michelle Samouelian model Sportsventure fashions. The Plymouth Park Players, directed by Gloria Logan, will provide between-thescenes transitions by dramatizing one-minute skits from "Feiffer's People." They also will have a concession stand at the show to earn money for the cast's trip to the Austrian Drama Festival. There will be prizes, music, and dancers. Lark Samouelian is producing the show, which will be co-hosted by Denny Campbell, general manager of Metro 13 cablevision.

MARIA STERLINI hosted her annual Christmasin-February party last weekend. This is a special treat for the midwinter blues, although we have not seen much of a winter so far this year.

A large nativity scene welcomed 90 guests to the holiday party. Every room had a touch of Christmas with all of the delicious yuletide favorites for all to enjoy. Folks from all corners of Canton and Plymouth look forward to celebrating Christmas again with Maria and her family.

WITH THE WARMEST of regrets I must make this my last column for Canton Chatter. My children and I will continue to reside in Canton, but I feel there is a need for fresh ideas in Canton

In 21/2 years with this column, I have met many wonderful and interesting people in and about Canton. The service organizations for men and women make Canton an ideal place to work and play. The numerous churches which have sprouted up within our boundaries in recent years offer exciting places or worship for family and friends.

The preschool programs in our township have given my children a giant step toward a good background for life. I always have expressed a strong positive feeling for the public elementary schools we have in Canton. A school is only as good as the teachers. My children always have had a dedicated professional in charge of them during the school

THERE WERE times when I have attended the township board meetings to complain about something in my neighborhood which did not suit my fancy. Our local government is doing its best with what is available.

We are not lacking for enthusiastic and energetic members of our recreation department to keep everyone from the tiny toddler to the musical senior citizen busy. The continuing education department of the high school continues to offer numerous courses to improve you, your body, your mind or even your household skills.

The Country Festival in Canton continues to grow because we are growing stronger every year as a community working together.

I WILL MISS staying in touch with many folks who only saw me when I stopped over to talk about information for my column. Staying close to my friends in this area is important to me, but the extra time in my busy days does not permit a great deal of chatting over a cup of coffee.

My neighbors have been in the limelight of this column many times. They are the most loving, caring, helpful, and kindest people I have ever known, and this is a special thanks to all of them.

I hope you will be responsive to the new Canton Chatter columnist by communicating your parties, birthdays, anniversaries, school functions and community activities to her.

I have enjoyed my six years in Canton and look forward to a bright future for all of us who care about Canton

SAT., MARCH 5 9-11:30PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)

DIAMOND LAURENCE

OLIVIER

THE JAZZ SINGER. The most recen version of movie's very first "talkie", 1927 with Al Jolson, who said "You ain't heard nothin' yet!" Yeah? Well, you ain't seen nothin' 'til you see Neil Diamond as a talented musician torn between a life of familial and religious traditions, and the lure of a show business career.

SUN., MAR. 6 9-11PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) BABY SISTER. Passion between a beautiful young woman and her sister's boyfriend, threatens to destroy a family forever. Sultry romantic drama with Phoebe Cates, Ted Wass, Pamela Bellwood and Efrem Zimbalist, Jr.

MON., MAR. 7 9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)

JR.STORY

RICHARD THOMAS

LIVING PROOF: The Hank Williams Jr. Story. Richard Thomas as the young country music singer struggling to establish his own identity after years of performing in the shadow of his folk-hero father

(8 Central/Mountain) DEADLY LESSONS. Teleflick unpreviewed at presstime.

TUES., MAR. 8 8-10PM NBC (7 Central/Mountain) THE SWARM. Michael Caine, Richard Widmark, Richard Chamberlain and Katherine Ross pick up a pay cheque from Hollywood's ole master of disaster, Irwin Allen. This one is about these killer bees.

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)

CRACK'D

GERALDINE CHAPLIN TONY CURTIS EDWARD FOX ROCK HUDSON ANGELA LANSBURY KIM NOVAK ELIZABETH TAYLOR

THE MIRROR CRACK'D. Lukewarm Agatha Christie with Ms. Lansbury as Miss Jane Marple, polking around the small British town of St. Mary Mead looking for a killer in the midst of a troup of movie stars on location for a motion picture. Hudson, Chaplin, Fox and Curtis are on hand but it is Novak and Taylor as aging movie queens (hummmmn!) hissing insults at each other that lends interest to this one

Conversation needed to keep wisdom alive

During an intense experience someone will say, "I could write a book." Despite electronic communication we still want printed words to convey what we feel is important. We respect experience which reveals enough wisdom to merit printing. ,

In any waiting room most people are reading. It is the popular leisure activity. We regard someone as an expert if their writing is published.

Our president declares this a "Year of the Bible in a pluralistic nation with vast numbers of citizens who do not regard it as a holy book.

Those who do revere the Bible are splintered by differing interpretations. Most divisiveness in religion is rooted in clashes over Holy Word.

WHAT IS going on? Why do we hold writing in such high regard and yet have our most vigorous disagreements about the meaning of books? I offer two hunches with consequences in each.

A second hunch is that we confuse information with wisdom. We give too much reverence to printed words. Something is not automatically true

Is winning at all costs worth the sacrifice?

UCH A SIMPLE question, Eric. Why wouldn't you answer it?
Eric is Eric Kopsch, the wrestling coach at Southfield-Lathrup High School.
He has an outstanding athlete in senior Chris Parent, a 138-pounder who'll be shooting for a state championship this weekend at the Class A finals at Lansing Eastern High School.

Parent, who has lost only three of his 52 matches this season, won a regional title and finished second in the district despite being hobbled by a severe ankle sprain suffered in an earlier tournament.

Parent wore a special bandage during the regional competition last weekend. His coach doesn't think he'll need it in the finals, however.

Just an idle question: Which ankle is hurting, coach?

But the coach wasn't saying, although he had plenty to say about why he wasn't saying.

"You don't reveal which ankle," said Kopsch, a disgusted tone creeping into his voice. "People (future opponents and their coaches) may read the article and shoot on that ankle. Some people out there still might not know which one is injured."

Kopsch's concern stems from an incident he says happened at the district tournament two Saturdays ago at Troy High.

"Chris reinjured that ankle last week (in the district) because an (opponent's) coach had fire in his eyes and yelled, 'Grab it and hurt him!"

REMEMBERING THAT incident really got Kopsch going on ethics — or, more properly, the lack of ethics — in sports today.

"All these years in football, the rule in any league I've ever been in seems to be: Get the guy where he hurts. In hockey, it's the same thing: Hurt a guy.

"Where's he bandaged? Hurt him there. Put the quarterback out of the game and we'll win.

"Hey, we've lived on that philosophy for how many years now? It's gross. It's indecent. But it's what they're doing.

"I watched matches all day yesterday (last Saturday at the Hazel Park Regional). I watched people I've known for a long time. Their sons were wrestling. If there was a bandage on (an opponant's) arm, sometimes the father'd yell, 'Pull on his arm! Pull on his arm!'

"I just don't know what's happened to people." Well, Eric, you could always plead insanity theirs, not yours.

MAYBE IT WAS the words "girls basketball" which woke me from my 5 a.m. stupor Monday.

The old Sony Digamatic had just clicked on and some woman was talking about her daughter's elementary school girls' basketball team.

The program was called "Point of View." It was the station's attempt to give John/Jane Q. a chance to air his/her views over 50,000 watts, sort of an electronic letter to the editor.

The woman became concerned while witnessing the basketball game because most of the little girls, her daughter included, seemed to be exhausted after just one trip down the court.

An assistant principal had the answer: Because of money problems, all the physical education teachers had been fired. No phys-ed teachers, no phys-ed classes.

That's when the woman became upset Fortunately, "Point of View" was rebroadcast at a more reasonable hour, and I was able to copy her words.

"But we still have teachers," she said, presumably to the assistant principal. "Since all elementary teachers are required to have physical education as part of their training, I thought they should be teaching it.

"We are aware that fitness of the body has a great deal to do with learning and life success in general."

"Schools which cannot afford a specialist still should have a planned physical education program, taught by teachers and principals yes, even assistant principals, if necessary."

This statment was delivered in a tone of voice which said very clearly, "Don't give me any of your guff, you paper-pushing bureaucrat."
Well said, woman! That's my point of view,

Hope your words look as good in print as they sounded to me at 5 o'clock the other morning.

Northville to advance to the WLAA tournament finals opposite Livonia Stevenson.

Series finale

Salem vs. Stevenson

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Four weeks ago, Plymouth Salem basketball coach Fred Thomann stood on the Livonia Stevenson court after the Rocks' 55-50 conquest and said:

"I'm looking forward to when we play them again."

Thomann knew that the only way Salem and Stevenson could meet again would be in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) finals. The Salem coach's prophesy proved accurate — the Rocks disposed of Northville Tuesday, 63-47, in the WLAA semifinals to insure just that.

Stevenson advanced to meet Salem in the WLAA championship game with a 53-43 victory over Livonia Churchill Tuesday at Churchill. The final contest in what has become a best-of-three series will start at 2:45 p.m. Saturday at

"I THOUGHT BOTH games were close and intense and I think this one will be, too," said Thomann of the two previous meetings. Stevenson won the first one Jan. 7 at Salem by a 49-48

"I don't think either team will do much different. Both are playing awfully well right now. I don't think either will screw around with what they're doing."

What Salem is doing is riding a 13game winning streak, ignited by balanced scoring and solid defense. The Rocks had both phases going for them against Northville Tuesday, racing to a 28-14 halftime lead. Northville never got closer than 13 the rest of the way.

Glenn Medalle popped in 16 points to top Salem's scorers. Dave Houle contributed 14, Matt Broderick had nine and Erich Hartnett tallied eight.

Bob Pegrum's 13 points led North-

THE MUSTANGS inability to convert at the free throw line was damaging. They hit on just six of 13 in the first half as Salem built its lead and were only 13-of-27 for the game, crippling their comeback chances.

Thomann's strategy against Stevenson has not changed much since their last meeting. He referred to Pete Rose as "the key to their team,", called 6-7 forward Tom Domako "an excellent scorer and rebounder" and said his team "can't let (guard Gary) Mexicotte run wild.

"We're going to have to make those people play and then go after them at the end," he said, adding that he figured the championship game would once again be close.

"It's going to be a great game," Thomann predicted. "I'm just glad that we have the opportunity to play in it."

FARMINGTON 61 CANTON 46

The Chiefs collapsed in the second half with a lackluster effort, losing their second straight game Tuesday at home

"We came out totally flat," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We played a horrible basketball game.

"We played terrible, terrible defense. It was uninspired basketball — by far the worst game we've played all year." Canton's poor defense led to a battle at the free throw line, which Farmington won handily. The Falcons canned 29-of-38 tries to 10-of-24 for the Chiefs. The score was close throughout the first half, with Canton clinging to a 14-11 lead after one quarter but trailing at managed just nine points in each of the final two quarters and Farmington gradually pulled away.

Ron Rienas was the only Chief to reach double figures in scoring, netting 15. Mike Scarpello and Mark Bennett accounted for eight each. Scott Hayosh dumped in 20 for Farmington, with the intermission, 30-28. But the Chiefs

Chris Keller and Terry Geistler bagging 12 apiece. Canton, now 9-10 for the season, hosts Livonia Bentley at 7:45 p.m. in Thursday's Parent's Night game.

3 Chiefs qualify for finals

Salem sends 4 to state

By C.J. Risak staff writer

A week ago, Plymouth Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger predicted that "the team that wins our regional will win the state."

An intense John Cohen passes off on a

Krueger based his assessment on the talent of the teams competing in the Trenton regional last weekend. And, if the Rock wrestling coach is accurate, the state Class A title tilt this weekend will be a hard-fought battle — just like the regional tourna-

The Class A tourney will be at Lansing Eastern High School. Six area mat teams will be represented in the Class A finals. Preliminaries begin at 10:45 a.m. Friday, with semifinals (10:45 a.m.) and finals (5 p.m.) slated for Saturday.

Prior to the regionals, Detroit Catholic Central, winner of the tough Temperance-Bedford district, seemed to have the inside track to the state title. That changed in the tight struggle at the Trenton regional tourney last weekend.

NO TEAM DOMINATED, but Temperance-Bedford, a long-time wrestling power, survived to capture team honors with 99½ points. Wayne Memorial was close behind with 94½, followed by CC with 80, Plymouth Salem with 60½ and Westland John Glenn with 48.

Other local teams that will be represented at the state finals are Plymouth Canton, which finished 10th (27½), Livonia Bentley, which was 16th (18½), and Garden City, which tied for 17th (16).

CC and Salem will both send four wrestlers to the finals. John Glenn and Canton qualified three each, Bentley has two and Garden City one.

THE SHAMROCKS and Wayne Memorial each crowned three regional champions. Temperance-Bedford had just one weight class winner, but placed eight wrestlers in the final four. The top four finishers in each weight division qualify for the state finals.

Mike Palajac got CC's first title, capturing the 112-pound class by outscoring Mike Budziak of Trenton, 10-4, in the finals. Enroute to the crown, Palajac sidelined a pair of local wrestlers, Canton's Todd Bartlett (5-0) and Bentley's Anwar Yaffai (7-0).

Bartlett finished fourth, losing in the consolation finals to Walled Lake Central's John Andrews, 7-1.

wrestling

MIKE DIMANNO (145) pounded out a 16-3 decision over Glenn's Rob Paciocco in the finals for a second CC title. Canton's Marty Heaton, who lost to DiManno, 9-4, in the semifinals, took third with a 9-3 victory over Adam Siedlecki of Temperance-Bedford.

ford.

CC's Matt Readle rounded out the Shamrocks' trio of champions by claiming the 185 title with a 3-

1 triumph over Jerry Curby of Ann Arbor Pioneer.
For Salem, John Beaudoin continued to prove that moving up a weight class would not hinder his quest for a second-straight state championship. The defending 132 champ won two straight matches on pins, then rolled over North Farmington's Eric Collier, 21-4, in the 138 finals.

JOHN GLENN'S DON Forchione also claimed a title, romping over Ken Lucas of Dearborn Edsel Ford, 7-1, in the 155 finals. Forchione's biggest challenge enroute to the crown came in the semifinals against CC's Jeff Alcala. The Rocket wrestler earned a narrow 5-3 decision.

Alcala placed third when he pinned John Woo-chuk of Salem in the consolation finals.

Garden City's Kevin Richardson reached the heavyweight finals after besting Chris Sobbe of Milford, 8-4, and Bob Petties of Ann Arbor Pioneer, 10-3. In the finals, Richardson dropped a 4-1 decision to Doug Johnson of Ypsilanti.

BENTLEY'S PAUL DOULETTE and Glenn's Tom Gibson vied in the consolation finals at 105. Gibson had beaten Doulette earlier in the tournament, 7-4. The Glenn matman was then sent to the consolation bracket by Doug Harper of Temperance-Bedford, 14-7. Gibson won the rematch with Doulette as well, 7-1.

Canton's Tim Collins was a 6-2 first-round loser to Temperance-Bedford's Roger Witaszek in the 126 class. Collins regrouped to place third, however, with a 3-1 win over Dave Millitello of Walled Lake Western in the consolation finals.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

In February of 1976, rated for just one week in most of the popularity polls as the No. 1 Class A basketball team in Michigan, the Rocks tasted defeat for the first time as Belleville's Tigers posted a 63-57 triumph. Nonetheless, Salem, which is now 16-1 overall, still leads the Suburban 8 in its drive toward a 3rd straight undisputed championship with a 10-1 mark. "They beat us square up," admitted coach Fred Thomann of the Rocks, as he avoided offering any form of alibi. Belleville astounded the packed house by racing to a 13-0 lead in the first 5 minutes and from then on it was all up hill for the Plymouth troops. High scores for Salem were two brothers, all-starter Jim and Tom Ellinghousen, Mike Primeau and Brian Wolcott.

Archer's aim: Spartan success

By C.J. Risak staff writer

The combination of old friends, a building program and a close location was more than Kim Archer could

That's why the Livonia Bentley athlete has decided to take her awesome basketball skills to Michigan State University this fall.

The decision was not an easy one. Choosing a college never is. For Archer, the finalists were Purdue, Indiana and MSU.

So many different factors to be weighed in making such a determination, and yet for Archer the simplest of all proved decisive: the desire to be seen by her greatest fans, her parents.

"It would be kind of a letdown if they weren't there," the Bentley senior said.

THAT'S BECAUSE they always have been, according to Tom Lang, who coached Archer at Bentley in basketball for four years and in softball for

"They haven't missed one of Kim's games since she was in eighth grade." Lang said.

"She would have been happy with either Indiana or MSU. But (the proximity) was the ultimate reason she chose State?

Lang has referred to Archer as "the best athlete to ever attend Bentley." Her talent is indeed plentiful; she's been the top player in Observerland by a vote of the coaches for the last two years - in both basketball and softball. In her last Bentley basketball people in sports

campaign, Archer averaged 17 points, 14 rebounds, six assists and five steals per game.

"SHE'S AN OUTSTANDING athlete," said Karen Langeland, MSU's coach for the past seven years. "She's the best to come out of Michigan in a

"She has great court sense, she's a great passer and rebounder and she shoots the ball well."

Lang figures Archer will make an instant contribution to the MSU program.

"State really needs Kim," he said. "They really don't have anyone who dominates out on the court the way Kim can. It's not going to be in scoring but in rebounding and passing that she'll really contribute.

"I really think Kim will be a dominant player in the Big 10."

Langeland agrees, adding that this season MSU, 5-8 and seventh in the Big 10, has a problem Archer can solve immediately.

"Passing has been one of our team weaknesses this year," the MSU mentor said. "She should help improve that."

THE PLAYERS ARCHER will be passing to are familiar faces: Ronna Greenberg, an All-State selection in Class B at Livonia Ladywood, played together with Archer in junior high. Greenberg is a transfer from Louisville and will be elgible to play for the Spartans Jan. 1.

Starting for MSU this year is Livonia Franklin graduate Mary Kay McNall. A 6-3 freshman center. McNall has been a pleasant surprise for Langeland, averaging 10.4 points and 7.5 rebounds MSU's starting forwards, Jackie Carter and Lil Preston, graduate this year. Archer will get a shot to fill one position, with Langeland's other re-cruiting prize, Sue Tucker of Okemos, getting a shot at the other. Greenberg also figures to be in the battle.

"We think Sue Tucker and Kim Archer will complement each other well," Langeland said.

AND WHAT DOES Archer think about all these plans?

"It seems like their program is becoming a lot stronger," she said. Asked if she felt the MSU program was on the road to success, and if she thought she would be a part of it, Archer answered, "I think so" and "I hope so."

There won't be any softball - at least not for the first year. "I'm going to concentrate on basketball," the All-State softball selection said. "Academically, it's going to be tough for me."

Athletically, it shouldn't be. Not with the support in the stands, the friends on the court and a program on the rise.

FLANDERS ALSO BEGAN entertaining veterans' groups.

As part of her USO duties during the war, Flanders would help soldiers send home messages. "I used to accompany these kids who were so homesick and dying inside. I worked on a disc-recording where the soldiers could send messages or songs back to wives and sweethearts and mothers. There was one soldier who really got to me, he was so sad. It was then that I developed a bond with these people.

"I also realized that this is the way you pay rent for another day, by helping people. If I can help in some way, then that's the way I pay my rent."

She credits her compassion for peo-ple to her father. "My daddy was one of the best neighbors I've ever known. It's just a desire I have to share what the Lord has given me.'

Flanders and her husband went to Florida in 1977 when he was diagnosed as having bone cancer. "We were there three years because he needed the warmth to be comfortable. But, after he died, I decided it just wasn't home, and I came back to this area.'

Flanders has put hundreds of volunteer hours into entertaining at various veterans' hospitals in the state. She has received voluntary service awards from the Veterans Administration in recognition of her active participation in their programs.

"Citizen Kane" (1941), 1 p.m. Sat urday in the library meeting room of Canton Township Hall on Cantor Center south of Cherry Hill, phone 397-1000, free. Running time 11! minutes.

You've seen "Kane" several times you say, so why go see it again? Well, it you've never seen the film on the bis screen, you've never really seen it at all. And if you've never heard the film on a good sound system, you've never really heard it at all.

Remember, Orson Welles' background was in radio, and "Citizer Kane" is a very aural film. You easily can tell what's happening on the screen by listening to the film, which brings us to the question of who wrote the thing Orson Welles or Herman J. Mank-

The pair are listed as coscreenwriters but Mankiewicz is considered the driving force behind the film by "revisionist" critics seeking to dispell the "boy wonder" moniker earlier attributed to Welles. But Mankiewicz's background was in pictures, so it's more likely that the sound-oriented Welles scripted the film. In fact, it's more likely that cameraman Gregg Toland had a greater impact on the picture than did Mankiewicz, because Welles had never worked behind the camera before. At any rate, "Citizen Kane" is one of the best films of the last 50 years; we can only hope that the Canton library is equipped to display the film as it deserves to be displayed.

Sloane, Agnes Morehead, Dorothy Comingore, Ray Collins and George Coulouris star. Ratina: $3.85.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" (1951), 2 Friday night on Ch. 2. Originally 122 minutes.

Two of the best performances of the last 50 years are ones given by Vivien Leigh and Marlon Brando in the late Tennessee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire," directed by Elia Kazan. Both are marvelous - she as Blanche Du-Bois, a faded southern belle, and he as the course, sensual Stanley, husband of Blanche's sister, Stella (Kim Hunter). Karl Malden also stars as Blanche's potential love interest.

Leigh and Brando are so good together, though, that, despite fine supporting performances, you long for them to interact more often than they do. It's this chemistry, for instance, that makes the scene in which Stanley "clears" the table work so well. Were Leigh left out of that sequence, it wouldn't have half the impact it has.

Rating: $3.80.

Mahler's symphonic trip still unequaled

By Avigdor Zaromp special writer

Whenever a reference is made to one of Mahler's symphonies, there is a temptation to refer to it as a "montimental Mahler symphony" - or something to that effect.

The term is a glaring redundancy.

"A Mahler Symphny," in itself, al-ready has the term "monumental" implicitly implied. His third symphony, in addition to its monumental structure, which is axiomatic in view of the foregoing observation, also happens to be one of the longest. For that reason, it was the only work on last week's pro-

Not everybody might feel comfort-able with sitting through such a long composition, especially when it is performed without intermission. This might explain the many empty seats on Thursday night.

But the fault doesn't lie with the symphony, which was profound and glorious in every bar. Rather, the problem is in the sad fact that not many people are fortunate enough to be sufficiently exposed to musical creations on such a high level.

IF YOU WERE to combine Mahler's symphonies end to end, you would reach the stars — at least symbolically. This is also true if you combine the third symphony with one of the best orchestras, a top-rate conductor, a talented singer and two good choirs.

All of these things materialized in this performance, resulting in the most rewarding program this season.

Guest singer was French-born opera star Jocelyn Taillon, mezzo-soprano. In addition, there were the Women of the Kenneth Jewell Chorale and the Chirst Church Choir of Boys and Girls.

These choirs, with their directors Eric Freudigman and Frederic DeHaven, respectively, deserve high credit for their contribution to this magnificent performance.

Maestro Gary Bertini is known for his affinity to Mahler, whose second and fifth symphonies he conducted here on previous occasions. His profound, demonstrated ability will cause him to be even more sorely missed following his expected departure at the end of

With all the extensive orchestration and monumental structure (here we go again), there is nothing redundant or obsolete in this compostion. Each group of instruments, as well as many solo ones, play crucial roles.

If you have the impression that the task of a percussionist boils down to pounding away at the drums, such a simplistic notion would be quickly dispelled after listening to the various shades of drum-rolls, combined with other percussions, displaying refined and controlled sounds ranging from pianissimo to fortissimo, with superbly shaped crescendos in between.

PROMINENT SOLO parts were expertly done by principal trumpet Ramon Parcells and principal trombone Ramon Turner.

Parcells also played the fluegelhorn, a refined and mellow sounding trumpet, behind the stage in the third movement. His and Turner's rich and colorful tunes provided yet another element that was elevating to the spirit.
