Attorney says Omnicom should clean up cable act

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Omnicom Cablevision should be given 60-day notice to fully comply with the Plymouth Township cable TV ordinance or risk revocation of its franchise, according to a township attorney.

The cable TV company has failed to live up to the provisions of the ordinance, which grants non-exclusive cable rights to Omnicom, attorney Angelo Plakas said in a written opinion released last week.

Plakas' opinion on the status of cable TV services was requested by Supervisor Maurice Breen and will be given to the township board Tuesday night.

"There is little doubt that the current state of affairs between the franchiser and franchisee is somewhat strained, that the foundation for the grant is eroding, and that the interests of 23,028 citizens are being adversely affected, all without fault on the part of the township," Plakas wrote.

Omnicom officials have received a copy of Plakas' opinion but "haven't read it yet" and decline comment, according to Betsy Sealey, Omnicom vice president and general manager.

Sealey will make a presentation to the board at Tuesday night's meeting.

Plakas' findings and recommendations follow a report made by a Canton Township cable committee, which Plakas incorporated into his report.

"Many of the points raised in the Canton report in large measure also apply to Omnicom's performance, or lack thereof, in Plymouth Township," Plakas wrote.

Omnicom has failed to provide promised services such as home alarm systems, FM stereo service, and a local origination studio inside the township, according to Plakas.

Before the franchise was granted, Omnicom promised to "radiate community good will," he wrote.

"The company's actions with respect to charging $15 disconnect fees (for unhooking premium services), attempting to change charter rates for subscribers before their charter terms expired, and policies regarding extension of service to areas where a density exists of not less than 70 homes per mile . . . appear to belie that statement."

Plakas also cited the argument over a $200,000 prepayment made to Canton in 1979. Plymouth Township was offered $46,500 in 1982, when the company was reminded of its promise to treat all communities equally.

Omnicom should pay the township $200,000 along with 11 percent interest, Plakas said.

The township has a "duty to insure" Omnicom lives up to the provisions of the cable franchise agreement, he said.

Plakas recommended 20 steps be taken by the township board to insure full compliance. They include:

• Obtaining and inspecting company books and records pursuant to applicable township, state and federal laws dealing with cable services.

• Petition the Federal Communications Commission to increase the township's portion of Omnicom's revenues from 3 percent to 5 percent, to cover township regulatory costs.

• Require the company to establish a studio within the township boundaries.

• Require Omnicom to refund the $15 disconnection fee to all subscribers who were charged for dropping one or more premium service.

• Board action to insure the home alarm system be made available to subscribers.

• Require Omnicom to provide cable service to all homes in the township, regardless of density quotas.

Plakas recommends the company be notified in writing of the alleged ordinance violations he listed. If the company fails to correct the violations within 60 days, revocation proceedings should start, he said.

"Whether one violation is greater than another is not of any importance for purposes of revocation, only the mere fact that there has been a violation, any violation, which was not remedied within the 60 days becomes the critical matter," he wrote.

A season ends too soon!

Cheerleader Julie Johnson, senior at Plymouth Western, stands with tears in her eyes hoping for some luck in the waning seconds of the Rocks first round regional play against Detroit

Western. But the season ended too soon for the Rocks as they lost a well-played close contest, reported in detail in today's Sports Section.

On to circuit court

Former policeman waives court exam in traffic death

A 33-year-old former Dearborn policeman charged with negligent homicide in connection with a traffic death earlier this month waived his right to a preliminary examination Thursday.

Lawrence J. Rattray of Dearborn agreed to waive the exam in Plymouth's 35th District Court. Judge Dunbar Davis continued Rattray's $5,000 personal bond pending an April 15 arraignment in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Rattray earlier pleaded not guilty to the negligent homicide charge at a March 7 district court arraignment before Davis.

The charge stems from an early-morning one-car accident near I-275 and Ann Arbor Road on March 3. The passenger in the car Rattray was driving, Janet M. Dembrowski, 22, of Dearborn, was dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia, police said.

Rattray allegedly entered the northbound I-275 exit ramp to Ann Arbor Road at a "high rate of speed," according to Robert Henry, Plymouth traffic officer.

The car went out of control near the end of the ramp, glanced off a utility pole and spun onto Ann Arbor Road, Henry said.

Rattray told police another car ran him off the road. Henry said there wasn't evidence of another car, and a witness said Rattray didn't have his headlights on.

Police believe Rattray may have been intoxicated at the time of the accident, Henry said.

District Court Judge James Garber issued a search warrant for Rattray's blood following the accident. But Rattray refused to submit to the test.

If convicted of negligent homicide, Rattray could be sentenced to a maximum of two years in prison. Garber could find Rattray in contempt of court for refusing to submit to the blood test.

Nominating petitions ready for 4 commissioner seats

Nominating petitions now are available for four positions on the Plymouth City Commission.

Three of the positions carry four-year terms while the fourth is for two years.

Of the four seats at least one will be filled by a newcomer as one incumbent is barred by city charter from seeking re-election.

The commission seats presently are held by Mayor Eldon "Bud" Martin, Mark Wehmeyer, Karl Gansler III, and Ron Loiselle.

Wehmeyer is prevented by city charter to seek re-election as he has served for two terms in a row, and the charter limits commissioners to serving no more than two successive terms.

Martin was first appointed to fill out a term and was elected to a four-year term. This will be his second bid for re-election if he decides to run again.

None of the commissioners up for election in 1983 has announced whether or not he will seek his position again.

Gansler and Loiselle were elected to four-year terms as unopposed candidates. Both operate businesses in Plymouth and have not indicated if they will run again.

The filling of Wehmeyer's seat guarantees at least one newcomer to the commission. Likely candidates are two persons who ran unsuccessfully two years ago, Greg Green and Dorothy Frid, who have remained involved in city government by serving on city boards and commissions.

ALSO TO BE voted on in the November election will be the selection of six members to the Library Board.

The Library Board has been filled by appointment of the city commission, but in 1983 the board members will run for election.

Nominating petitions for the six Library Board spots or for the four city commission positions are due by 4 p.m. June 14. The deadline to withdraw as a candidate is 4 p.m. June 17.

If eight or fewer residents file for city commission there will not be a primary election in August but the decision will be put before voters Nov. 8. If nine or more candidates file, than a primary run-off will be held in August with the final election in November.

Members of the city commission who aren't up for election this year include David Pugh, William Robertson, and Jack Kenyon.

Library friends plan colorful fund-raiser

Color Me Beautiful will be in town March 29, as a fund-raiser for the Plymouth Dunning-Hough Library.

The special event will begin at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Community Cultural Center at Farmer and Theodore.

Color Me Beautiful is a color consulting firm founded by Carol Jackson, who also wrote a best-selling book called "Color Me Beautiful." The book currently is No. 3 on the New York Times best seller list and has been popular among readers at the Plymouth Public Library.

Presenting the program will be Peg Treacy of Bloomfield Hills, one of 135 authorized Color Me Beautiful consultants who present the program "Discover Your Natural Beauty through the Colors that Make You Look Great and Feel Fabulous."

The Friends were organized to assist the library in funding special projects and to aid in library work by providing volunteers.

Members invite the public to come March 29 for the fun of finding the "real you" through color and to promote the work of the Dunning-Hough Library.

Tickets, at $2 each, are available now at the library or at Plymouth Book World, Vol I or Vol. II.

Treacy, employed by Color Me Beautiful, also owns her own image-consulting business called Pull Yourself Together. Her clients include businesspersons and non-business people. She inventories clients for their wardrobes, analyzes their clothes for adaptability, suitability to lifestyle and practicality, and prepares an illustrated portfolio containing styles, fabrics, colors, etc.

She also presents seminars at colleges and universities, teaches classes, works with businesses and their management training programs, and does personal shopping.

In her work for author Jackson, Treacy gives color classes in which students are analyzed by skin, hair and eye tone, eye patterns, general personality and overall image to determine what colors make them look their best.

Information is given to those attending to use when shopping to avoid costly mistakes and to make certain that only those colors are chosen which will enhance the appearance.

"Knowing one's colors does make shopping easier and more economical," Treacy said. "Impulse buying becomes a thing of the past. Clothes all coordinate with ease, and packing for a trip becomes simple."

These drunks escaped arrest

By Pat Waurzyniak
staff writer

Paul Pavloff climbed behind the wheel of the Pontiac LeMans, took aim at the row of orange pylons and jammed the accelerator to the floor. Seconds later, he lurched out of the car to survey the results of driving under the influence of liquor.

Pavloff, a 26-year-old Plymouth firefighter, volunteered as one of six guinea pigs for a drinking and driving test. The test was organized by the Downriver and Western Wayne Traffic Officials Association at Allen Park City Hall last week.

What he saw on the parking lot course wasn't reassuring.

"This is going to change my mind, that's for sure," said an intoxicated Pavloff after imbibing 10 ounces of Canadian Club whiskey, enough to register a 0.13 percent blood alcohol content (BAC).

"I'll admit it, yes, I've reformed," he said. "I never really thought about it before — but I'm going to now."

Joining Pavloff in a 9:45 a.m. drinking bout were Plymouth residents Peggy Anieros, Bob Ray and Cathy Richardson, Larry Moraco of Westland and Rosanne Wienczak of Livonia. All six drank enough liquor in two hours to reach a BAC (blood alcohol content) of more than 0.10 percent, the level considered legally drunk under Michigan law. New testing procedures and tighter drunk-driving penalties will take effect March 30.

SLURRED SPEECH, inability to concentrate and slowed physical reactions typified the volunteer "drunks" during a seminar which included field sobriety tests and a drive on a short course.

Ray, a non-drinker, was unable to participate after passing out with a 0.12 percent BAC prior to the road test.

While the volunteers sampled gin, vodka, rum or whiskey during their drinking hour, police Breathalyzer operators measured their BAC three times.

Meanwhile, Lt. Thomas Garvale of the Michigan State Police post at Northville put each through standard tests routinely administered by officers to suspects prior to arrests for drunk driving. Each participant was asked to touch his or her nose, walk a straight line, recite the alphabet and count backward from 100.

Afterward, Plymouth Police Officer Bob Henry accompanied the drivers on the course designed to show the impaired reactions of a drunk driver.

Although the volunteers managed the slow 25 mph forward speeds, all had difficulty backing up. Each driver knocked over several pylons.

Public Acts 309, 310 and 311, Michigan's legislation passed last September to help nail drunk drivers, allows police to administer roadside checks of drivers' BAC with a portable breathalyzer test (PBT) device. That legislation includes the new "per se" law, which determines that a driver is intoxicated at 0.10 percent BAC whether or not he appears impaired.

Increasing public outcry over traffic fatalities, more than half caused by drunk drivers, helped push the bills through the Legislature late last year. Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) continues to raise public consciousness of problems caused by drinking drivers.

FOR EXAMPLE, five alcohol-related fatalities in the Plymouth-Canton area over the past four months spurred the Rev. Kenneth Gruebel of Geneva United Presbyterian Church in Canton to organize a MADD group.

"Our primary concern is getting drunk drivers off the road, stripping them of their licenses," Gruebel said. "We're trying to change the way the public and the courts are handling these cases."

The six volunteers couldn't agree more after the drinking and driving program before an estimated 200 law enforcement officials from 37 communities in the western Wayne County and downriver area.

"I'm losing a day's pay," Ray, an employee at Rock Tool & Machine on Five Mile, said before he started drinking. "I thought it was worthwhile, and I'm glad to see the law is being changed." Anieros, a part-time Plymouth Police Department dispatcher, summed it up best immediately after her unsuccessful attempt to negotiate the course while being the most intoxicated (0.14 percent BAC) of the five drivers.

"I'm an intelligent drunk — that's the worst kind," Anieros said.

"If you've survived in the past, you've been lucky. Yeah, I learned a lesson out there."

After completing (rather unsuccessfully) the course while under the influence, Rosanne Wienczak of Livonia walks away from the test car.

Rosanne Wienczak gets in tune with her physical feelings. At this point, she is legally drunk.

Joins neighbors' fight School board agrees party store a hazard

By Pat Waurzyniak
staff writer

Norma Tims worries about her two grade-school children crossing Sheldon Road from Gallimore Elementary School to a proposed party store.

Nancy Zelleck, a member of the Gallimore Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) and secretary for the Forest Trails Homeowners' Association, is vehemently opposed to construction of a party store near the school.

George Odish wants to build a shop on Sheldon south of Joy, near the school.

Tims and Zelleck have taken their cause to the top, petitioning the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to deny Odish's request for a license to sell package liquor at the proposed store.

The Liquor Control Commission is expected to rule soon on the Odish application.

"It's basically the proximity to the Gallimore School," said Zelleck of the neighbors' opposition. "We have a lot of walkers, and the traffic on Sheldon Road is very heavy now at all times of the day."

TIMS AND ZELLECK also are worried about traffic and loitering by school students.

They pleaded their case March 14 before the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Canton Township trustees recently listened to the complaints of residents who jammed the board room in Township Hall to protest the proposal.

Residents said they were worried about the proposed store becoming a hangout and a traffic hazard. They argued that the site isn't proper for a business, despite commercial zoning.

Township trustees unanimously supported drafting a resolution opposing the location of the store as inappropriate in a primarily residential area.

The decision lies in the hands of the Liquor Control Commission, supervisor James Poole said. He urged neighbors to direct their protests to the state Liquor Control Commission because the township's resolution has no legal effect.

"We have absolutely no authority in a (liquor) license," Poole said. "We are saying we're opposed."

OBTAINING A package liquor license is different from obtaining restaurant-bar licenses, Clerk John Flodin said.

With the package liquor license, township officials can only inform the state of their opposition.

"I'm given to understand state officials take that into consideration, but they aren't duty-bound," Flodin said. "If they want to issue a license to John Smith, they can do it without your consent."

Some neighbors said Sheldon Road and the proposed five-lane connector highway (Sheldon Center Road) pose a hazard for students tempted to cross the street. The connector is expected to be finished in 1985.

Others claimed the proposed store lies within 500 feet of Gallimore

School. State law requires at least 500 feet between any liquor store and a church or school.

HOWEVER, A STATE survey showed the store is more than 500 feet from the school, said Pat Patterson, a spokeswoman from the liquor commission's licensing and enforcement division.

The state investigators measure distance from the nearest corner of the school to the proposed site.

Because nothing has yet been built, investigators will measure the distance again if construction is completed at the site.

Bob Olson, of Realty World in Canton, said his client (Odish) may drop the project because of the opposition.

"We don't want to fight — we want to help the community," Olson said. "I think their main objection is the children's safety, and that's our objective, too."

Odish is interested in operating a "safe, clean operation that's going to benefit the community," Olson said. "We're not going to shove anything down their throats."

Odish plans to present the Township Board members with color illustrations of his proposal at next week's board meeting, Olson said.

Rental paintings priced for big birthday sale

The Plymouth Community Arts Council marks the coming of spring with its eighth annual birthday sale of rental gallery works of art.

Everything in the gallery on the second floor of Dunning-Hough Library, except the permanent collection and 1982 acquisitions, will be priced for sale — many below cost. More than 100 framed works will have price tags ranging from $10 to $50. Several pairs of pictures have been marked at bargain prices, and "blue light specials" will go for $25.

Among the paintings will be original works by Michigan artists Scott Hartley, Ann Dase, Donna Beaubien, Tom Hale and others. There will be reproductions by Rick Burger, Charles Wysocki and Georgia O'Keefe.

REPRODUCTIONS of the classics will include works by Monet, Chagall, Picasso, de la Tour, Wyeth and Homer. Rental fees up to $12 may be deducted from the purchase price.

Five pieces of original work will be offered in a silent auction. Each of these will go to the highest bidder.

The whole community is invited to the birthday party from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. Refreshments will be served, and prizes of two months' free rental will be given.

The party is being co-chaired by Therese Gall and Michelle Dorrington.

AN IMPORTANT FREE SEMINAR: 50 WAYS TO MAKE YOUR IRA WORK HARDER.

Many people believe there are only a few ways the money they set aside in an IRA can go to work for them. Ways that generally lock these funds into one set investment, or a fixed rate of return.

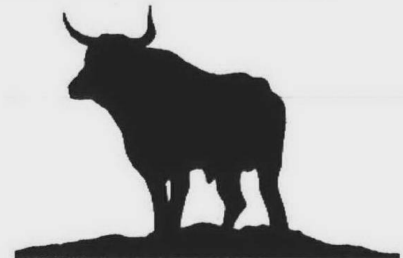

Not so. At this seminar, you'll learn how your IRA assets can be invested in zero coupon bonds, for example. Or stocks. Mutual funds. Covered call options—in more than 50 different ways!

And, equally important, how Merrill Lynch enables you to switch from one investment to another, anytime your goals change or new opportunities arise.

No other financial institution offers you more investment alternatives for your IRA. More ways for your money to grow.

You'll also learn why no other brokerage firm serves so many Retirement Plans Clients today. And how a professional Merrill Lynch Account Executive can help you achieve your retirement objectives.

This timely seminar is free. But reservations are important. To make yours, call or mail the coupon today.

2-party tax compromise shapes up

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A State Senate committee later today is expected to report out an income tax increase bill smaller than Gov. James J. Blanchard is asking but with bipartisan support.

"A one percent increase for no more than 18 months could get a majority of both party caucuses," said Sen. Richard Posthumus, R-Lowell, minority vice-chairman of the tax writing Senate Finance Committee.

"We will make sufficient adjustments to get some Republican support," added Sen. Phillip Mastin, D-Pontiac, majority vice-chairman of the key committee. "We may not get 15 or even 10 Republican votes. Maybe four or five."

If they are correct, a bipartisan Senate vote for a tax increase would be in stark contrast to the House of Representatives, which on March 2 supported one by 59-51, with all 47 Republicans opposing it.

In the Senate, Democrats have a bare 20-18 majority, but at least two Democrats would likely oppose Blanchard's proposal. Thus, any tax increase will need support from both parties.

The first-term senators Friday addressed a government relations round table of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, held in the headquarters of K mart Corp. in Troy.

THEIR GUESSES of bipartisan support came only a day after Senate Republican Leader John Engler of Mt. Pleasant announced a majority of the 18 Republicans would support a scaled-down version of the Democratic governor's plan. The GOP would:

- Increase the state personal income tax by 1 percent for nine months — from last Jan. 1 to the end of the fiscal year Sept. 30. (Blanchard asked a temporary debt retirement increase of 0.25 percent and a permanent operating increase of 1.5 percent.) The current rate is 4.6 percent.

- Make "improvements" in the single business tax (SBT), which is essentially a payroll tax. Posthumus gave three examples: taking workers' compensation charges out of the tax base, taking unemployment comp taxes out of the base and allowing a credit for low-profit firms. He did not elaborate. (Blanchard's plan does not address the SBT.)

Posthumus said Republicans are concerned that the tax be levied only as long as necessary, and that the long-term business climate be the prime concern. After nine months, he said, Republicans would be willing to consider whether the tax needed extension.

THE ECONOMIC outlook divided the Democratic and Republican tax spokesmen more than their tax views.

Said Democrat Mastin, a three-term state representative and Pontiac city manager before his victory over incumbent Donald Bishop last year:

"Sen. Engler supported a short-term (six months) tax last year. It may be Sen. Engler is incapable of learning from past mistakes. . . There has been a consistent overestimation of revenue and underestimation of expenses. We have a tradition of guessing wrong. Every time. I tend to be pessimistic about the immediate economic future."

Said Republican Posthumus, who carried a "conservative Dutch" agricultural district east of Grand Rapids:

"I would disagree significantly. State Treasurer Bob Bowman is the only one predicting a billion-dollar deficit. He's out there by himself. We don't believe the deficit is as bad as Treasurer Bowman says."

BLANCHARD'S Office of Management and Budget bases its prediction of a $900 million current year deficit on an economy that sells eight million autos, a zero increase in the gross national product and an unemployment rate of 16.5 percent.

But the Senate Fiscal Agency, a staff arm of the Senate, forecasts a $656 million deficit, $9 million auto sales, a 1.6 percent increase in the GNP and an unemployment rate dropping to 15 percent, according to Republicans.

As they were speaking, the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce was sending out a news release reporting a 10.1 percent increase in retail sales in Metropolitan Detroit for the month of February compared with February of 1982.

THE HOUSE bill gave Blanchard his 0.25 percent increase to retire the accumulated debt and 1.5 percent tied to unemployment. For each 0.75 percent the jobs rate falls, the tax rate would drop 0.1 percent.

Mastin, in a recent letter, said spending cuts must be made before or simultaneously with an income tax increase, and that spending cuts alone won't resolve the deficit. Mastin added a tax increase should be only temporary, and that there must be guarantees the state won't spend any "windfall" from larger-than-expected revenues.

Republicans, however, are predicting just such a windfall if Blanchard's request is passed.

The Blanchard-House 1.5 percent increase would yield a $290 million surplus by the end of the current fiscal year, they said. In contrast, the Republican 1 percent hike would yield only a $47 million surplus, and it would be designated for a "working capital reserve" account.

Mastin said he would be "very interested in offering Michigan voters the opportunity to shift next year from any income tax increase adopted by the legislature to a sales tax increase adopted by the people," pointing out a sales tax would raise revenue from non-resident tourists.

U-M's Shapiro calls tax hike 'courageous'

University of Michigan President Harold T. Shapiro expressed increasing concern at the proposed continuation of the deferral of state payments to state colleges and universities.

The proposal was made last week by state Treasurer Robert Bowman.

"We have received no state payments since Jan. 1," Shapiro said. "If the March payment is now added to the January and February deferrals, the university's general fund will have had to borrow more than $45 million simply to carry on the day-to-day operations of the university."

"This will cost the university nearly one-half million dollars per month in interest earnings alone. Further, it makes planning almost impossible."

Earlier, Shapiro praised the state House of Representatives for passage of the income tax increase as the necessary first step in solving the state's fiscal crisis.

"In my opinion, House Speaker Gary Owen and his colleagues have taken a courageous action in adopting this measure," Shapiro said. "While I personally favored Gov. Blanchard's proposal for a permanent tax increase, using a decrease in the unemployment rate to trigger a decrease in the income tax is a creative solution to this problem."

"This new round of deferrals now makes quick action on the tax proposal by the Michigan Senate absolutely imperative. We are running out of time.

Safety patrollers joining food drive

Safety patrollers at 28 metropolitan area schools will collect food donated by their classmates for "Operation: Food Basket," an Automobile Club of Michigan program developed in response to the state's record unemployment levels.

"By involving safety patrollers in 'Operation: Food Basket,' we are broadening the scope of their school and community service and expanding the number of collection points for food," said Robert Cullen, Auto Club's safety and traffic engineering manager.

More than 800 safety patrollers will ask for donations March 21-25 from fellow students at public and parochial schools. Collection points are Greenfield School in Birmingham, Larkshire in Farmington, Jane Addams in Redford Township, Hull in Livonia and St. Damien in Westland.

FOOD COLLECTED in the tri-county area will be distributed to families through the Detroit Neighborhood Services Department, the Wayne Metro Community Services Agency, the Macomb County Department of Social Services, and the Agency Council for County Emergency Services in Oakland County.

Donations also may be made at 500 Operation: Food Basket collection sites, including the Auto Club's offices and claim centers.

Western Wayne County sites are in Livonia, Plymouth, Wayne-Westland and the west side of Detroit.

Oakland County offices are in Birmingham, Farmington, Lathrup Village, Southfield and Troy-Rochester.

As of March 1, more than 101,000 pounds of food have been collected at Auto Club offices.

Sci-fi fans to convene

The science fiction reviewer for the Chicago Sun-Times will be guest of honor at a science fiction convention Saturday and Sunday, March 26 and 27, in the Oakland Center of Oakland University, Avon Township.

Roland Green, who also wrote the "Wander" trilogy and co-authored "Janissaries Clan and Crown," will attend.

Sponsored by the student organization Order of Leibowitz, the convention will be held from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. March 26 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 27.

Displays, movies, animation features, a masquerade ball and demonstrations are planned.

Lab trooper to be sergeant

A Michigan State Police trooper from the Northville laboratory has been promoted.

Jon L. Stanton, 33, becomes a specialist sergeant III effective March 27.

A native of Owosso, he is assigned to the firearms, explosives and toolmarks unit at the Northville laboratory. He joined the State Police in 1972.

Cable class at MSU center

A class on "Cable Communications" will be offered 6-10 p.m. Tuesdays, March 29 to May 31, at Michigan State University's Southeast Regional Center, 20500 13 Mile, Birmingham.

The four-credit class will be taught by Thomas Baldwin, MSU professor of telecommunications.

Baldwin will examine technical, political and commercial aspects of the cable industry. He will also assess the impact of the latest advances — direct broadcast satellites, low power TV and home computers.

Registration continues through March 24 at the southeast regional center. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays. Registration information is available at 645-5410.

City official runs at SC

Daryl J. Delabbio, Garden City's director of administrative services, will seek a six-year term on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees in the June 13 election.

Making his first bid for public office, Delabbio, 29, is seeking one of three full terms on the community college board.

He is the first person to make a formal announcement. Trustee Rosina Raymond of Livonia has indicated she will seek a new term, and board Chairperson Harry Greenleaf, also of Livonia, has taken out petitions. Trustee Len Wozniak of Livonia has not revealed his plans.

A FIVE-YEAR resident of the district, Delabbio has a bachelor's degree from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids and a master of public administration degree from Wayne State University.

His duties as No. 2 person in the Garden City administration include personnel administration, preparing bid specifications, research and staff assistance to the zoning board of appeals, community relations, public information, financial planning, staff research, cable television and council agenda preparation.

O&E 'Heart to heart' service begins today

Beginning with today's edition, the Observer & Eccentric introduces "Heart to Heart." This service is designed for suburbanites who wish to meet new people.

It will appear as part of the classified advertising section of every Monday's edition.

Here's how it will work.

A person will compose a message to appear in the newspaper for a basic charge. The Observer & Eccentric will keep the name and telephone number of that person confidential. A box number will help to identify those who respond to the message.

The Observer & Eccentric will then put the responses in a special "Heart to Heart" reply box. All responses will be handled in strict confidence.

Replies will then be mailed to the person putting the message in the newspaper.

In addition, if someone wishes to respond confidentially to a "Heart to Heart" message, a private reply box may be rented at the newspaper.

The first "Heart to Heart" can be found in today's classified advertising section.

COOK UP SOME MAGIC

...with the Younger Set

Like the mischievous white rabbit who led Alice into Wonderland, parents can lead their children into the magical world of cooking. Given half a chance, boys and girls from toddlerhood on will make marvelous messes. Most youngsters can't wait to get their hands in the flour.

Teaching kids to cook not only provides the fun and satisfaction of putting things together, but also answers a very real need for working moms who need help in the kitchen. Children ranging from eight or nine (if already kitchen-handy) to fourteen are at the ideal age to share some responsibility for dinner.

The key to raising your own chef de cuisine is to involve the younger set early, at three or four years of age, in simple tasks which meld with their relatively short attention spans.

To keep up the enthusiasm, try a variety of dishes that can be associated with familiar and favorite stories like the fanciful Alice in Wonderland tea party.

The presentation of these treats is delightfully childlike. And the story can be woven into the cooking lesson and used as a diversion if you sense the young chef is becoming frustrated with a certain project.

No doubt Heritage Shortcake and Sesame Cookies would have been included in the Wonderful tea party had the Mad Hatter and the March Hare known how these treats excited young children like Alice.

Leave the magic of the Heritage Shortcake to your young chef by guiding him or her in filling and topping the shortcake with the fruit and marshmallow creme mixture.

Meanwhile, the Sesame Cookies provide the opportunity for the novice to shape dough into balls, roll them in sesame seeds, and place them on the cookie sheet as Mom and Dad fills the cookie centers with preserves.

Cakes are what made Alice grow very, very tall in Wonderland. That can be the topic as you prepare the Angel Mallow frosting for the Cupcakes With Petite Daisies. Explain to your child the magic of watching the beaten egg whites form soft peaks. Frost the cupcakes together.

Lastly, to appease the Queen of Hearts, try the Finale Fruit Tarts. Once the shells and filling have been prepared, invite your young chef to assist in filling the tarts and garnish with strawberries and bananas.

The Moral of the Story for success with your growing chefs is: maintain flexibility. Specifically,

- Don't overwhelm them with long lists of rules.
- Know in advance that when youngsters help cook, total cleanliness is next to impossible and that the final clean-up chores may well be yours alone.
- Avoid the temptation to take over and do everything yourself.
- And, above all: Always enthusiastically eat what your young chefs help cook!!

HERITAGE SHORTCAKE

2-1/3 cups all purpose biscuit mix	1-1/2 cups peach slices
* * *	1-1/2 cups strawberry slices
1 cup whipping cream	1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 teaspoon vanilla	1/2 cup blueberries
1 cup marshmallow creme

Prepare biscuit mix according to package directions for 8-inch shortcake.

Whip cream and vanilla until slightly thickened. Add marshmallow creme; continue beating until stiff.

Split shortcake; fill with half of fruit and marshmallow creme mixture. Top with remaining fruit and marshmallow creme mixture. Garnish with mint, if desired.

CUPCAKES WITH PETITE DAISIES

1/2 cup sugar	1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
2 egg whites	1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons water	24 cupcakes

Combine sugar, egg whites and water in double boiler; beat with electric or rotary beater over boiling water until soft peaks form. Add marshmallow creme; continue beating until stiff peaks form. Remove from heat; beat in vanilla. Frost cupcakes. Decorate with:

Petite Daisies

For each flower, dip scissors in water. Cut across the flat side of miniature marshmallow to form petals. Arrange five petals on wax paper in a daisy design, slightly overlapping tips. Dip inside of flower into colored sugar to coat cut sides of petals.

FINALE FRUIT TARTS

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese	1/2 cup sugar
1 cup flour	2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt	Dash of salt
2/3 cup margarine	1 cup milk
* * *	1/2 teaspoon vanilla
	Strawberry halves
	Banana slices

Divide cream cheese in half; reserve 4-ozs. for filling. Combine flour and salt; cut in 4-ozs. cream cheese and margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Divide dough into 12 balls; chill. On lightly floured surface, roll out each ball to 4-1/2-inch circle; place in 3-inch tart pan. Prick bottom and sides with fork. Bake at 375°, 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely.

In saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually add milk; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture becomes clear and thickened. Add vanilla and remaining 4-ozs. cream cheese, cubed; stir until smooth. Fill tarts. Chill. Before serving, garnish with strawberries and bananas. 12 tarts.

SESAME COOKIES

1 cup margarine	1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar	Sesame seeds
1 teaspoon almond extract	strawberry preserves
2 cups flour

Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in extract. Add flour and salt; mix well. Shape rounded tablespoonfuls of dough into balls; roll in sesame seeds. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Indent centers; fill with preserves. Bake at 400°, 10 to 12 minutes. Approximately 3 dozen.

Plain old ham stars in party-special entree

Fortunately, elegant entertaining doesn't have to take a lot of time or money. Ham and Artichokes Deluxe is a delicious example of a company-special entree that's compatible with the budgets and hectic time schedules of today's hostesses.

HAM AND ARTICHOKE DELUXE

- 1/4 to 1 lb. cooked smoked ham, sliced
  - 1/4 inch thick Pastry Shells*
  - 2 cups (8 oz.) mushrooms, halved
  - 1/2 cup sliced green onions
  - 2 tsp. butter
  - 1/4 cup flour
  - 2 cups milk
  - 1/2 cup shredded Gruyere cheese
  - 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen artichokes hearts, defrosted
- Prepare Pastry Shells. Cut ham into strips 1/4-inch wide. Cook mushrooms and onions in butter in large skillet 2 to 3 minutes; stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk and cook slowly until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add Gruyere cheese and continue cooking, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Stir in ham strips and artichoke hearts; continue cooking until heated through. Spoon into Pastry Shells. 4 servings.

*PASTRY SHELLS

1/4 of a 17 1/4-oz. pkg. frozen puff pastry sheets (1 sheet)

Thaw puff pastry 20 minutes; unfold. On lightly floured board, roll out sheet to 13 x 13-inch square. Cut out 4 circles, 6 inches in diameter. Shape pastry rounds over four 10-ounce inverted custard cups, making pleats so pastry will fit closely. Prick thoroughly with fork to prevent puffing. Place inverted custard cups on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (400°) 12 to 15 minutes or until brown. Carefully remove shells from cups. Cool on rack. Yield: 4 pastry shells.

Plain old ham becomes an elegant entree when combined with artichokes and served in an easily prepared puff pastry.

Variations on a French-toast theme

When I was a youngster I made French toast many a Sunday. It was simple: white bread dipped in a mixture of egg and milk, then fried in butter.

That was when I enjoyed eating more than cooking. Times have changed. Today I find more satisfaction in preparing a dish enjoyed by others.

If there ever was an original French toast, it probably was born in New Orleans. Pain perdu (lost bread) is economical as well as elegant. It's a tasty way to dispose of French bread left over from dinner.

The batter can be spiked with brandy, but a little vanilla extract will suffice. Shortening and bacon drippings replace butter. But I used the drippings from link sausage I prepared one morning to go with the French toast, then melted the shortening in the already hot skillet. I humbly accepted the sitting applause.

I tried a Puerto Rican recipe that received rave notices at the breakfast table, too.

The batter is composed of egg and orange juice. Instead of using vanilla, I crushed about 30 vanilla wafers and dredged the batter-coated bread in them. I used raisin bread and added a little margarine to the skillet each time I fried a batch.

French toast, whether it's made the New Orleans style or the Puerto Rican way, is a mouth-watering treat.

NEW ORLEANS FRENCH TOAST

- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 tsp vanilla
- 2 tsp sugar
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 6 slices day-or-two-old French bread, 1-inch thick
- 1 tbsp link sausage or bacon drippings
- 2 tbsp shortening

Slightly beat eggs in soup bowl, gradually add milk, then vanilla, sugar and salt and beat to combine. Soak bread on both sides in egg mixture. Heat drippings and let shortening melt in large non-stick skillet and fry bread on both sides on medium heat until golden brown. Sprinkle on confectioners sugar and serve with syrup or honey. Serves 3.

PUERTO RICAN ORANGE FRENCH TOAST

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 1/4 cups finely crushed vanilla wafers
- 10 slices raisin bread
- Margarine

Slightly beat eggs in soup bowl, gradually add orange juice and beat to combine. Place crushed wafers in another soup bowl. Dip bread on both sides in egg mixture, then dredge in wafers. Melt 1 tablespoon margarine in large non-stick skillet and fry bread on both sides on medium heat until golden brown. Use 1 tablespoon margarine each time bread is added to skillet. Serve with syrup. Serves 5.

Cancer is often curable. The fear of cancer is often fatal.

If you're afraid of cancer - you're not alone. But some people are so afraid that they won't go to the doctor when they suspect something's wrong. They're afraid the doctor might "find something." This kind of fear can prevent them from discovering cancer in the early stages when it is most often curable. These people run the risk of letting cancer scare them to death.

IT WAS GREAT weather to be outdoors, just wandering around town.

A good day to peer in the windows of the former Terry's Bake Shop and wonder how Maggie Laforrest would redecorate. She'll be making changes before she moves her Maggie and Me originals from her present shop on the corner of Main and Union.

It was a day for strolling, for reading plaques on the city hall lawn. There's the one for former Mayor Mary Childs, "Because she cared," the plaque under the sugar maple donated by the Lions Club; the gorgeous flowering crab donated by the Woman's Club; and the clump of trees given as a thank you from the Massachusetts delegation to the Republican Convention in Detroit in 1860. They were to replace trees damaged by the big storm that swept through the area while the delegates were in residence here.

Curiosity led to the old Violette Riess house on Harvey, which Howard Hamerind is having converted to a dental clinic. The neighborhood boys had been fascinated by the old bones unearthed in the back yard. Just one bone was visible, and it seemed best not to imagine its origin.

And on the way, there had to be a stop at Folkways, Emma's and Book World Volume II. Gary Beglinger and cohorts had been working all weekend making changes. Just watch for more. When Gary goes on one of her creative binges, the results always are amazing — and pleasing. Can see why Emma's is a popular choice for showers and rehearsal dinners.

A BELATED HAPPY birthday to Warren Wood, who celebrated his 90th birthday last Friday. He was born March 18, 1893 in Hastings, Mich., and he and his wife, Mabel, have been married 69 years.

Daughter Fran Kerr and son-in-law Doug hosted a birthday party for Warren with cocktails and dinner for 18 people at their home in Plymouth Township.

He was a tool and die maker who retired at 65. He maintains a very busy and active pace.

FINALLY saw a robin Friday morning, had been hearing them for weeks. Virgil Norgrove reported a robin sighting more than three weeks ago, over on Virginia. Christie Newland reported the first Canton sighting more than a week ago.

KATHY THOMAS, a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, has been inducted into Michigan State University's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. Academic excellence in liberal arts and sciences earned the honor of being selected for the nation's oldest honorary. Kathy is a senior majoring in sociology.

ANDREA BELL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bell of Sussex Court, Canton Township, has been initiated into Kappa Delta sorority at MSU. Andrea graduated from Plymouth Salem High School. She is a sophomore majoring in merchandising management.

HATS OFF to Lark Samouelian for orchestrating one of the most entertaining fashion shows on record. Her "Falling in Love" production in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium raised $1,700 for the Multiple Sclerosis Society, and donations still are coming in. Members of the audience and those who participated are asking when she's going to do another one.

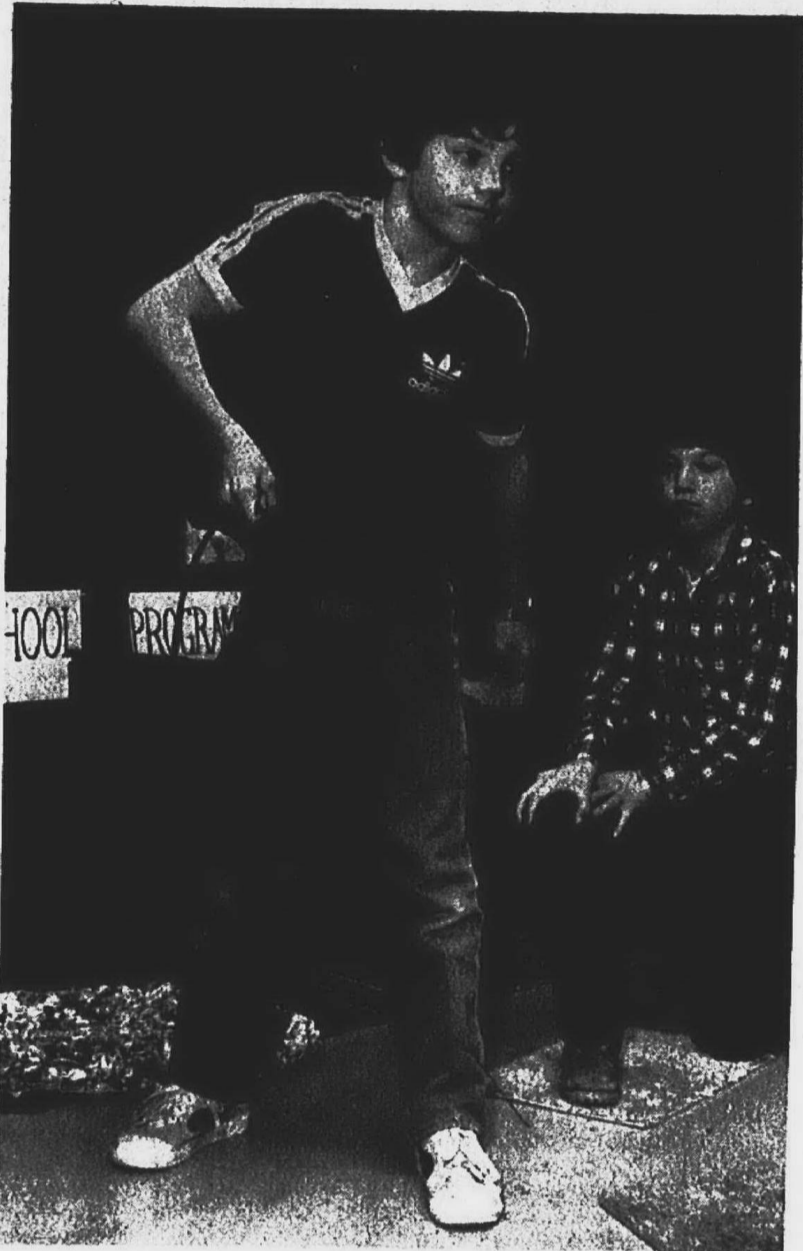

Jo Agosta won the grand prize, two round-trip tickets to Orlando, Fla. John Peters won the half-day at the Great Shape Spa; Kathy Kriscunius won a half-day at Great Shape; Lois Stuart won the Mayflower & Co. cut and style; and Theresa Pavone won 10 weeks at Lark's Personalized Trim 'n' Tone.

MARGARET Hynick and Phil Wyeys had high scores at Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center. There were eight tables in play.

THE SYMPHONY League's annual Whale of a Sale opens at 9 a.m. Friday in the Plymouth Grange Hall, 273 Union Street. It will run until 5 p.m.

This is the sale of sales for those inveterate bargain hunters.

Lynn Lyon and Patsy Rollins are chairing the sale.

Mark Cassel finds the old iron pot is heavy even when it is empty.

Mike Schmizze enjoys hearing about the frontier life.

The students give rapt attention to the tales of life on the frontier.

Steve Bahlow tries on a carrying yoke with the help of Andrea Dubrinsky.

At historical museum

A child's life on the frontier

The students heft a large iron pot. They try on an old carrying yoke and sniff a bar of homemade soap. They examine a twig broom and a basket made of twigs. And they learn to make spills for lighting a fire.

It's all part of the Frontier Family educational program available at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Some of the old words are new to the students' vocabulary. But at the end of the session, they have a good understanding of a child's life on the frontier 125-150 years ago.

Marge Mitchell, who developed the education programs at the museum, said the presentation is geared to the age of the children. The hands-on history lesson is individualized for each group.

THEY LEARN that wood ashes from the fire were used in the making of soap. They are shown an old wash tub and the batter, a stick used to pound the dirt out of the clothes. The tub, they are told, also was used as a bath tub by members of the frontier family.

A canvas square soaked in wax served as a handy carrier, or, folded properly, it became a leak-proof drinking cup.

A touch of humor adds to the students' enjoyment of their journey to the past. Mitchell said she found the story of the traveller on the old Chicago Pike in several diaries and journals.

She uses it to illustrate the condition of the roads in the 1800s.

According to the story, a traveller on the old Army road saw a perfectly good hat floating on a puddle. As he picked it up, a voice said, "Let go of my hat."

"What are you doing down there? Do you need help?" asked the traveller.

"No, I've got a good horse under me," was the response.

THE STUDENTS are given a word picture of the frontier with its great forests. They learn that the early settlers considered trees a nuisance and felled them as fast as they could to clear fields for planting.

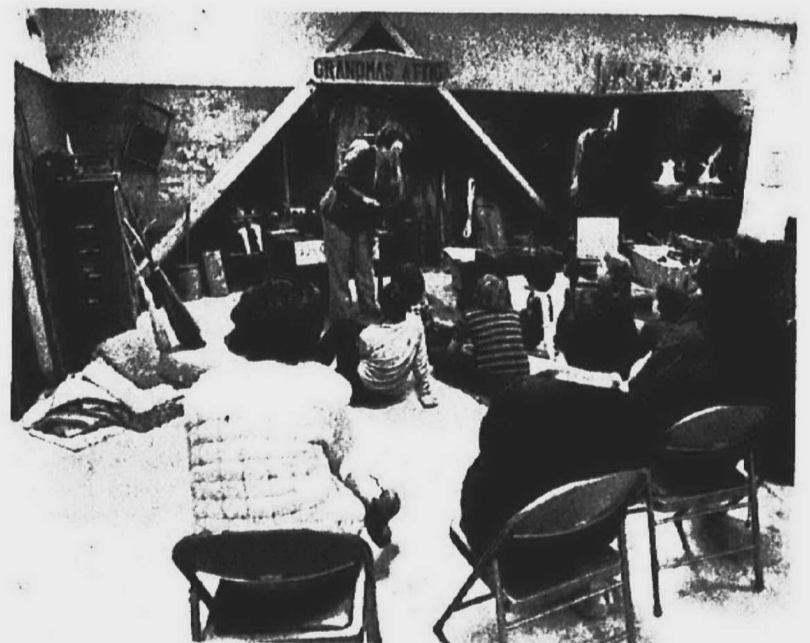

The children are asked, "What did they do with all that wood?" They suggest it was used for heating their homes, for cooking and for making furniture.

They discover wood was used for just about everything. They look at spigots, whittled by the men; an old fishing rod made of three kinds of wood; the twig baskets and brooms. It seemed all their tools and implements were made of wood.

FRONTIER Family is the latest of several educational programs offered by the Plymouth Historical Museum. Planned for groups of children, they include Grandmother's Attic, a segment on Indians, a trip to the old general store and a day in the life of a pioneer child.

Reservations for groups may be made in advance by calling the museum, 455-8940. The evening and colonial Kiwanis Clubs of Plymouth will pay the costs for students in the Plymouth-Canton area.

The majority of the classes which take advantage of the museum programs are from surrounding communities. Some teachers have brought their classes to all of the programs. The museum staff enjoys seeing the students act as museum guides when they return with their parents.

Terry Compeleo enjoys the story of the traveler on the old pike road.

'Rainbow of Fashion' benefit is Tuesday

Pat Hann will coordinate "The Rainbow of Fashion" dinner and fashion show at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Livonia holiday home.

Among the models will be Jo-Jo Shuttly McGregor, honorary spokeswoman for Leukemia, Research, Life, Inc. The annual show presented by the Newcomers Club of Livonia will benefit the Livonia Family Y campership program and leukemia research.

Several Plymouth merchants are participating in the show. There will be fashions from John Smith, Enchante Lingerie, Whittings, Geneva's of Plymouth, New Gal in Town, Chic Boutique and Elliott's Saddlery. Hairstyles and makeup will be by Great Shape Salon and Spa, Mayflower and Company Salon and Philip Nolan's Hair and Skin Care Center.

Schoolcraft lost 2 millage elections in 1979

(Part XLV)

In March 1979, after three straight millage losses at the polls, Schoolcraft College trustees decided to try another tack.

They held a special election to insure that Schoolcraft's needs would have the voter's undivided attention. During the preceding seven years, college millage proposals had experienced competition from school district millage requests on the same ballot.

They also tried to soft-pedal the election by avoiding advertising and not seeking media coverage. Efforts were concentrated on getting out the "yes" vote by mounting a volunteer telephone campaign designed to alert former students and known friends of the college.

As a result of these tactics, voter turnout hit a record low. The number of voters who turned out (7,821) was less than the student enrollment of the college, and practically all of the students were old enough to vote. The number was less than the 9,295 voters who turned out in October 1961 when the college was created, and there were only four communities in the college district in that year.

Not only was the turnout low, the effort to get only the "yes" vote people misled. The request for a property tax increase of one mill for five years was opposed by 58 percent of those who voted. The tally was 4,252 for and 3,029 against.

Not one of the school districts approved the proposal. Livonia, which had six trustees on the board, gave it the least support with only 40 percent of those who voted saying yes.

One can only speculate on the result had the election been given widespread publicity and the "no" voters attracted to the polls.

IN APRIL it was announced that The Campus Globe, the student newspaper at the college, had won eight awards among papers at two-year Michigan colleges.

Faculty adviser Doug Johnson said he was particularly pleased with the first in news writing and feature writing. First place awards were won by students Diane Boldea, Jim Watson, and Rich Asher.

The college's 14th annual commencement exercises were held in May. There were 764 graduates. The speaker was Dr. John W. Porter, Michigan's superintendent of public instruction. Porter, the youngest man and the first black ever to head a state education department, is now president of Eastern Michigan University.

On June 11 the trustees went back to the voters in an effort to obtain approval of two property tax proposals totalling one mill. One-half mill was asked to complete financing of a culinary arts addition to the Waterman Campus Center; another half-mill for major maintenance and equipment purchases.

past and present

Sam Hudson

This time the trustees tried to get maximum publicity. Most of them worked on a steering committee to get the millage passed. A four-page tabloid paper was mailed to about 90,000 college district households to acquaint voters with the need for the millage.

For the fifth consecutive time, the millage went down to defeat — both halves of it. The prior attempts had been made in September 1971, June 1976, June 1977, and March 1979. The voters had not approved an increase in millage for the college since 1966 when 0.77 of a mill had been added to the one mill approved in June 1962.

The trustees were justifiably puzzled. Barely six months before the election, a survey of 329 randomly selected households in the college district, directed by a Lansing political pollster, had shown that citizens had a strongly favorable impression of the college and the programs it offered. Yet they apparently did not want to vote more than the annual 1.77 mills which (with a small unvoted debt retirement levy) had supported the institution for the preceding 13 years.

THE ELECTORATE is not known for its long memory.

But in this case some of the voters may have remembered that the report of the citizens' committee, put together by the University of Michigan in February 1961, had indicated that not more than one mill would be needed to carry on the college in the foreseeable future. It also said that "increased valuations due to further industrial and/or residential development, everything else being the same, will tend to reduce the local millage necessary."

In May 1964, one of the questions posed to the Schoolcraft College "hot wire" was: "If the voters approve the 0.77 millage increase, how soon will it be necessary to have another increase for Schoolcraft College?" The answer given: "Hopefully, never."

It does not take an economist to recognize that the answer was unwisely optimistic, nor to notice that phrase, everything else being the same, in the 1961 report. Everything else did not remain the same. The taxbase did increase at a rapid rate, but the inflationary factors that contributed to its increase also contributed to the spiraling costs of the college.

A study of the relationship between the rising taxbase of the college versus the rising costs of the institution might now be in order. If the latter has outstripped the former, this fact, made known to the voters might get them to respond more favorably to future millage requests.

Aside from the inflation which has taken place since the 1960s, the college is providing services not envisioned by those who made the original estimates, and after 20 years of use some of its facilities must be in need of refurbishing and even expansion.

Where's the 'dizzy' rookies?

Training camps just aren't the same

Being a creature of habit The Stroller can't resist the temptation to turn to the sports pages each day and keep up on the news from the major league baseball camps. And each morning he is disappointed that there is no mention of any "daffiness" boys.

Surely, times haven't changed that much that there are no rookies in camp who mix a lot of fun and laugh-provoking antics with their ambition to earn a place on the team.

Being a veteran alumnus of the spring camps, The Stroller just can't believe that there are no successors to the memorable Dizzy and Daffy Dean, of the old St. Louis Cardinals, and Paul "Dizzy" Trout of the Tigers.

As he reads up and down the columns of his paper, the memory of Dizzy Trout and his debut with the Tigers comes floating back through the years.

It so happened that Trout made his first appearance in the Tiger camp in 1937, the year following Manager Mickey Cochrane's misfortune of being hit by a pitched ball in Yankee Stadium — a blow that made him a bench manager later in his career.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

Cochrane wasn't on hand in the lobby when Trout made his first appearance, and The Stroller was the only one to greet him.

Finally, Mickey entered the scene, and The Stroller introduced him to his latest pitching candidate.

As they shook hands Trout looked Cochrane in the eye and said, "your pitching problems are over. I'll take care of that."

Mickey just stared. Nothing like that ever had happened to him before. With that moment Trout took charge, and in an hour or so everyone knew he was in town.

When he reported for his first workout Mickey asked him, "What is your best pitch?" Trout answered, "It's the old bandanna. That's what I used back in Sandcut, Ind., and I feel it will be good enough here."

With that he pulled a red handkerchief from his pocket and explained he used it like a bullfighter. "When the bull comes out I pull out my red bandanna to scare him. And it will be that way with the batters."

When Trout cut loose in the practice session the Tiger boss knew he had something on his hands with which he would have to reckon.

When the exhibition season started Dizzy tried to coax Cochrane into letting him be the starting pitcher. He didn't get the assignment. But he kept coaxing him until he was named to start the fourth game.

"I'll bet the Dodgers won't get a hit off me," he said to Cochrane and bet him a necktie. Strangely, that's what happened. He didn't allow a hit in first four turns on the mound and became the talk of the camp.

No rookie ever strutted around like Dizzy. He was going well until he faced the Cardinals at Daytona Beach on Easter Sunday. The Cards started riding him, and he became confused, despite the bandanna, and his bubble burst when he walked four men in a row.

"What's wrong?" Trout asked, "I once walked six in a row down in Sandcut, but we finally won the game."

But that was the finish of Trout for that season. He was sent down to Toledo for more training. But Dizzy got the last laugh.

When he returned to the majors the next season he stuck and became one of the "Tiger pitching corps" mainstays.

He has gone to his rest now, but he always will be remembered along with Dizzy and Daffy Dean as one of baseball's never-to-be-forgotten "daffiness boys."

Evidently, they don't come like that any more.

Police aide extravagant?

To the editor:

In financially troubled times how can the city of Plymouth justify hiring additional help for the police department?

A police chief should be able to handle his workload — others before him did — and police Hines Park as well. The city now has two on the payroll doing the work formerly done by one man. Soon we can expect the new administrative assistant to request a secretary since he is an ex-aircraft mechanic.

Better yet the city should have brought back the laid-off building inspector or some other laid-off person from the city ranks. Poor judgment was used to hire someone in the first place; secondly, a qualified person should have been hired who needed a job, not a retired double-dipper.

Local farmers help to feed, clothe poor

Local farmers are working through the Wayne County Farm Bureau to help provide food and clothing to needy persons.

Dennis Wilkin, a farmer in Canton Township, is working closely with George Carpenter of Romulus and Elsie Fulford of Wayne on the project.

Carpenter and Fulford are coordinators of Project AIM for the Farm Bureau. AIM is an acronym for Agriculture Involved in Michigan.

Wilkins recently sold a truckful of shelled corn and used the money received from the sale as a donation to Wayne County Farm Bureau's Project AIM.

Wayne County is not a large farming county anymore, Fulford said, but Farm Bureau members are trying to help through Project AIM, with cash donations to help local soup kitchens and food closets to feed the hungry and needy in this time of need.

The coordinators and Farm Bureau board members have been urging each member to solicit cash donations or food items to help feed the hungry.

Anyone wishing to help this project can mail a check, made payable to Wayne County Farm Bureau — Project AIM, to Wayne County Farm Bureau at 35613 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Free service, less taxes too?

To the editor:

I've just finished reading Tom Baer's column in the Observer. "Is Winning at all costs worth the sacrifice?" is an excellent piece of work.

What really caught my eye was the second part regarding physical education in the schools. A woman becomes concerned because her daughter becomes exhausted after one trip down a basketball court, and she blames the schools! She even wants principals to teach physical education to her daughter.

I'll bet the mom wants her child bused to school or drives her there herself — right up to the front door, too. In these difficult economic times, why is it people want less taxes, more "free" services, and are so willing to tell others what everyone else should be doing? Why doesn't this woman walk, or better yet jog, with her daughter to and from school and save everybody time and money?

Enjoyed column on supermarket

To the editor:

Just a little note to tell you how much I have enjoyed reading W.W. Edgar's column, "The Stroller," in the Observer.

It is one column that has been followed faithfully since living out here from our move from Dearborn Heights. The Stroller's down-memory-lane stories are delightful and especially the March 14 column regarding supermarkets. It is frustrating, but one must feed the body — your columns feed and delight the mind.

Soup report is appreciated

To the editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to commend reporter Pat Waurzyniak for the article "Groups join to help jobless" published in the Plymouth Observer on March 7, 1983.

We are very grateful that he included not only the name of the service agencies that participated in our Bread and Soup Supper, but also the phone numbers.

It was important to our Christian Service Commission that anyone reading an account of the program would have access to this information for their own use or to pass on to a friend or neighbor. The reporter accomplished this. For that and the entire article we give him a standing ovation.

GREATEST CAUSE OF TOOTH LOSS

Lack of cavities do not necessarily indicate a healthy mouth. In fact, you can lose all your teeth while never having a cavity. How? From "periodontal disease" - the greatest single cause of tooth loss in adults!

Periodontal disease is a condition involving gums, the tissues around the teeth, and even the supporting bone in advanced cases. Some of the symptoms are loosening of teeth, or bleeding, red, flabby or swelling gums.

In most cases, there is little or no pain at first, making it easy to convince yourself that there is nothing really wrong. Be aware of a passive attitude. It is estimated that 95% of the population has some kind of gum disease at some time in life, mostly after age 35.

There are home care regimens to prevent periodontal disease and dental treatments to stop it. But there is only one way to catch the problem. Get treatment in time - before serious damage is done.

Whether it's a routine banking service or a broad-scale employee retirement program, we realize that your needs and problems are vitally important to you. So we take special interest in giving you the best banking service possible.

Machines and computers? Of course, we have them...and we make the most of their capabilities. But we don't let them get between our people and you. The next time you have a banking problem, give us a call...or stop in at the Manufacturers office near you. Just look for our sign... the sign of the personal touch for all your banking needs.

Rocks slide in regionals, lose to Detroit Western

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

An equation for success on a basketball court: Force your opponent to make mistakes.

Then capitalize on them. Plymouth Salem got the first part right. The Rocks forced Detroit Western to commit 25 miscues in their first-round state regional tournament game Thursday at Eastern Michigan University. But Salem failed to take advantage of enough of those opportunities.

Summation: A 53-49 Western victory. The season-ending loss left the Rocks with a sparkling 21-3 mark. Western was 16-6 going into Saturday's regional final against Antoine Joubert and Detroit Southwestern.

After falling behind early, Salem stormed back to within four at the start of the fourth quarter but never overtook the Cowboys. And, ultimately, the Rocks' inability to cash in on several scoring opportunities in that last quarter cost them the victory.

IT WAS A GUTTY final-game performance for Salem. Playing away from home for the first time in eight games, the Rocks came out tight, and, as coach Fred Thomann admitted, it took them awhile to adjust defensively.

The Cowboys scored six points before Salem got a shot at the basket and led, 18-10, after one quarter.

A blowout was clearly a possibility after Western outpointed the Rocks, 9-3, in the first 3 1/2 minutes of the second quarter to take a 14-point advantage. But Salem bolted back with a 12-1 rush before the half and trailed by just three, 28-25, at the intermission.

It was at that point that it appeared Salem would take control of the game. But it never happened.

"OUR KIDS ARE battlers," Thomann said of the second-quarter comeback. "They don't know how to pack it up."

"Two years in a row we got to that game (regional opener) and were in a situation where a team could blow us out. But we made it close. That says a lot for our kids and the way they deal with adversity."

"It would be fantastic if we could win that game, but we didn't."

What momentum Salem gained with its second-quarter flurry was lost in the first four minutes of the third. The Rocks didn't score a point until John Cohen's basket with 3:40 left in the period.

Still, they trailed by just 37-33 entering the fourth quarter. What Thomann called "a coaching mistake — it was my fault" cost the Rocks a basket in the early moments, as Western's Richard Hunter grabbed the ball off the tip and layed it in for a 39-33 Cowboy lead.

"SOMEONE IS supposed to guard against that," Thomann said. "But I didn't designate who to do it. It was my fault."

But Salem opportunities came. Western scored its last field goal of the game with 6:05 remaining. The rest of its points came at the free-throw line.

On three straight possessions, the Cowboys turned the ball over. Salem scored nary a point.

Matt Broderick pilfered two passes but missed short jumpers. Dave Houle picked off another pass but had his layup blocked. Erich Hartnett nabbed an offensive rebound; later he made a clean steal. Both times he allowed the ball to dribble off his hands and out of bounds.

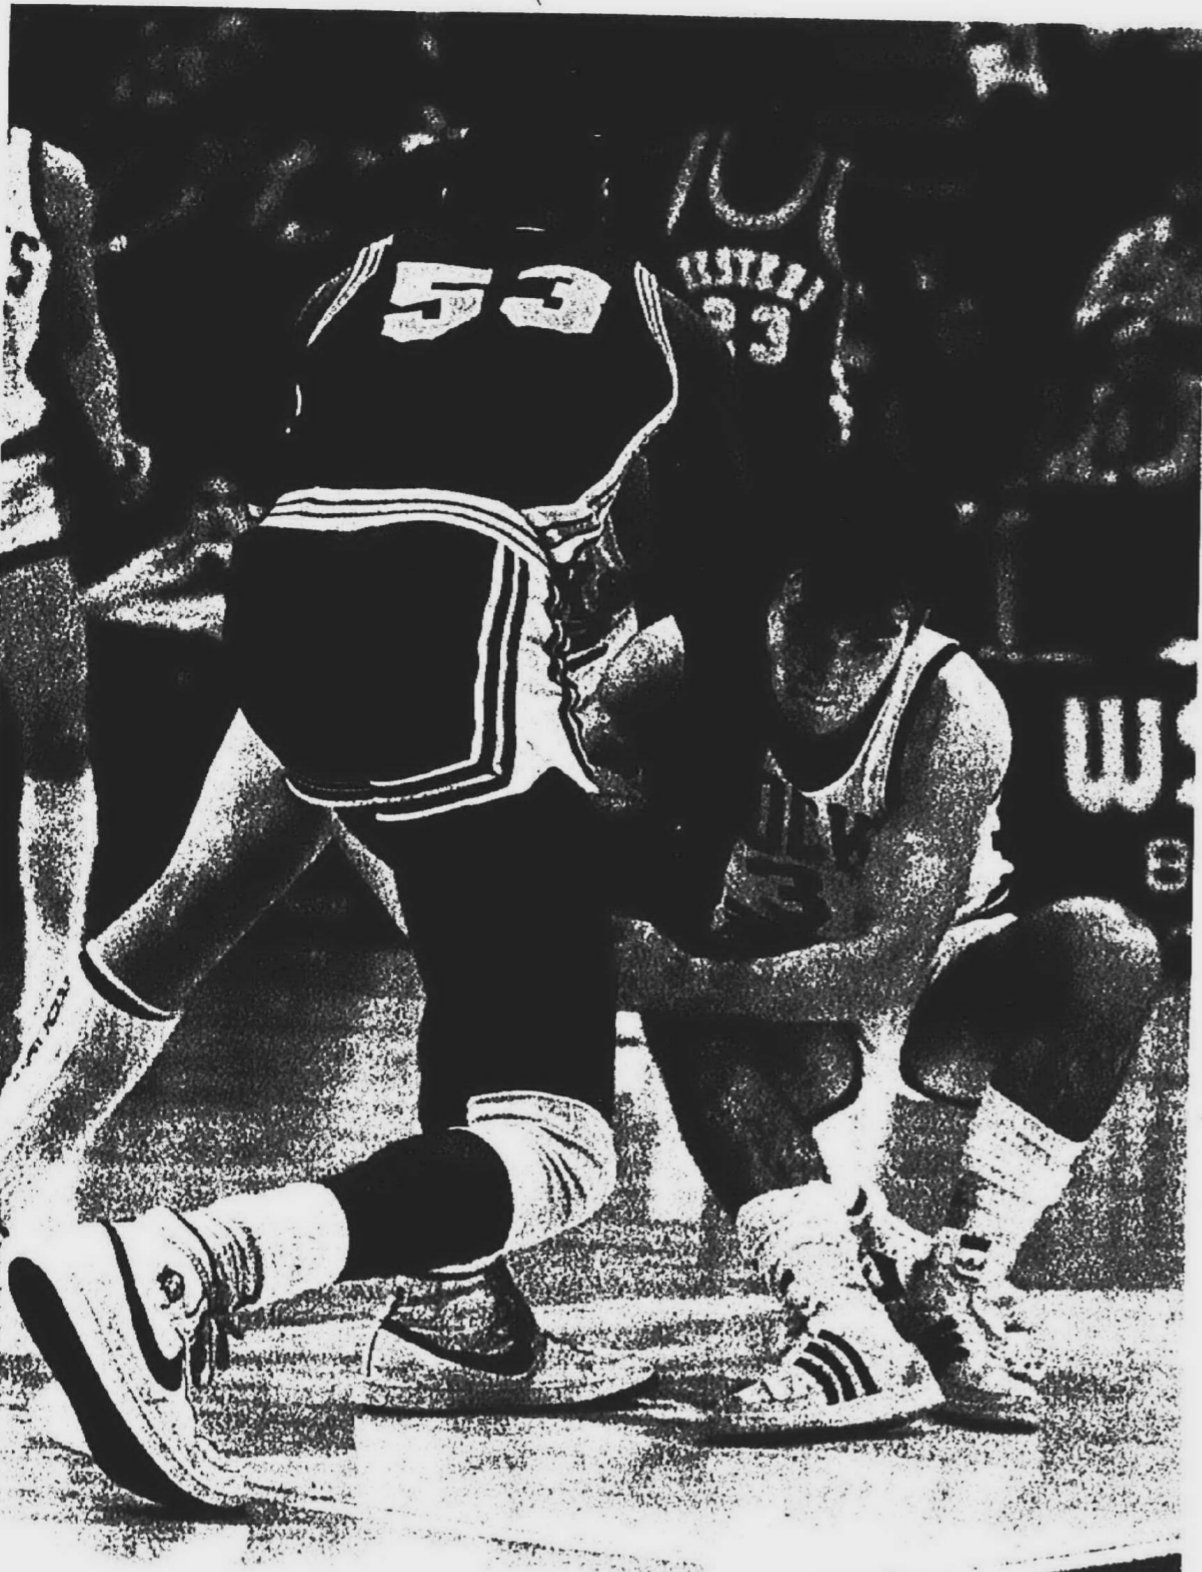

All isolated instances, but together they proved catastrophic.

JOHN COHEN turned in another superlative effort off the Salem bench. The 6-foot-4 senior poured in 19 points, hitting eight of 12 chances from the floor.

But Salem did not shoot consistently — next highest scorers were Marvin Zurek and Houle with eight apiece. The Rocks were 22 of 51 for the game (43 percent), including a dismal 10 of 26 in the second half (38.5 percent).

Western built its first-half lead behind a hot-shooting performance from the floor. The Cowboys were 13 of 19 in the first two quarters (68.4 percent) before

Trio of state champions lead area mat squad

A championship team and three state champions headline the 1982-83 All-Observer wrestling team.

Redford Catholic Central, coached by Mike Rodriguez, grabbed its sixth Class A title two weeks ago in Lansing as Jeff Alcalá and Matt Raedle ruled their respective weight divisions.

As a team, CC also captured numerous invitational titles in addition to the Catholic League and district crowns.

Two other CC wrestlers join Alcalá and Raedle on this year's first team. The Shamrocks also landed six grapplers on the second team.

Plymouth Salem, a 10th-place state finisher, put three wrestlers on the first team including two-time state champ John Beaudoin. The Western Lakes champs had one other team member on the second team.

Westland John Glenn, Northwest Suburban League champs (NSL), placed two on the first team and one on the second.

Four other schools also are represented.

Here are the best wrestlers by weight class as selected recently by area coaches:

FIRST TEAM

Kevin Richardson, Garden City,

heavyweight. A two-time state qualifier, Richardson reached the finals in his division before losing.

He compiled a 44-7 record as a senior and was first in four invitational tournaments, first in the NSL and second at the regional.

Richardson recorded 30 falls, 21 coming in the first period while going undefeated in dual meets.

Rick Vershave, Plymouth Salem, 98 pounds. The Salem junior won 31 matches and pinned 11 opponents.

He was most impressive in tournaments, winning the Western-Lakes, placing second in the district and gaining fourth in the regional.

Vershave was fourth or better in 10 tournaments.

Tom Gibson, Westland John Glenn, 105. Gibson closed out his career with 99 wins after going 34-7-1 this season.

A two-year state qualifier, Gibson won two invitatorials, captured the NSL title, grabbed second in the tough Temperance-Bedford District and placed third at the regional.

This is Gibson's second All-Area honor of the year. He was a standout in cross country.

Mike Palajac, Redford Catholic Central, 112. The senior co-captain was a heavy contributor to CC's state title run.

This movie makes a case for scripts with good material

An unstable mix of mystery and comedy that is too thin to jell, "Trenchcoat" (PG) stars Margot Kidder and Robert Hays as two Americans playing detective on the island of Malta. The movie is like a duck-billed platypus, a little bit of this and a little bit of that — a private-eye spoof, some slapstick comedy, a dab of romantic adventure. It also boasts the mandatory car chases and semi-bumbling police. All these strands are brought together in a ragged assemblage that has a very amateurish look to it. Kidder is a court stenographer who wants to be a mystery writer. She goes to Malta for a two-week vacation in search of material for her novel. She doesn't have to search long. Her first day of sightseeing, she blunders into a murder. Kidder would like to solve the crime through her own investigations. Unfortunately, "Trenchcoat" doesn't present the kind of mystery calling for the services of a sharp-minded detective. The emphasis is on Kidder's confrontations and narrow escapes, not on problem-solving.

BY MAKING A CACHE of plutonium the prize everyone is after, the script need not bother about logic. It can, and does, simply introduce a number of people of different nationalities and races who are all after the plutonium. Kidder is at the nuclear center of their activity because she unknowingly possesses the clue to the plutonium's location. Thus we have various people following her, attacking her and kidnapping her. Everyone is after her, it seems, except the police, who think she is a crazy, sensation-seeking tourist. The only person she can turn to for help is another American, Robert Hays, whom she met on the flight to Malta. At least, he believes her, and she can count on him. Or can she? Is he after the plutonium too? "Trenchcoat," in spite of a couple of murders, is a lightweight film. Its assets are a scenically interesting location, Robert Hays' easygoing charm, Margot Kidder's throaty, sexy voice and a sturdy supporting cast playing various kinds of wacky people. John Justin is quite funny as the stuffy manager of the quiet, conservative hotel where Kidder keeps disturbing the peace. Daniel Faraldo is Nino, a lusty Italian who is after Kidder for more than sex. Gila Von Weitershausen is a suspicious-acting German; David Suchet is the muddled police inspector; and Pauline Delaney and P.G. Stephens are a smiling Irish couple who give the young lovers encouragement.

ON THE NEGATIVE side, the movie lacks momentum, jumps about erratically and doesn't build to a climax. Even worse is its patronizing attitude toward the heroine. Although Kidder's character may be intrepid in looking for clues, when it comes to following someone, she hops in the car, then confesses she doesn't know how to drive a stick shift. She may be gutsy, but she is also naive, and it takes a man to rescue her. Kidder and Hays are both fine actors with a real flair for comedy. They deserve better material, something more sophisticated, less Disneyish.

Chinese painting exhibited

Kou-Nien Chang, a native of Kiangsu Province, will conduct an exhibition on Chinese painting at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Liberal Arts Building at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Co-sponsored by the Chinese Cultural League and the college, admission is free. Chang, a professor, first came to America at the invitation of St. John's University in New York to give a series of lectures and exhibit his paintings. He has returned often to display his work, exhibiting at the New York World's Fair in 1964-65 and Expo '67 in Canada. His paintings have also been shown in Italy, Belgium and Japan. After moving to Taiwan, Chang was awarded a literature prize by the Ministry of Education and a gold medal by the Chinese Fine Arts Association. His large painting, depicting the scenery of the East-West Highway during the four seasons, is 8-by-48 feet. It was first shown in the gallery of the National Historical Museum and then at St. John's University and the University of Michigan. It took Chang a full year to sketch and design it. This is the first of four monthly offerings on Chinese culture to be presented at the college. Phone the college at 591-8400, ext. 218, for more information.
