Trustees postpone hiring new township police chief

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

It was a case of getting the cart before the horse at Tuesday night's Plymouth Township board meeting, according to Trustee Smith Horton.

The board postponed hiring Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry to the police chief's position in the township, even though Berry turned his resignation into the city Tuesday.

Berry expected to be hired; however several trustees said the lack of an adequate job description, and questions on the title for the position and pertinence of Act 78 required postponing a decision.

The title and job description for the position can be changed to avoid Act 78, which would require that the position be filled through the civil service process.

"If we're not completely sure of the rulings on Act 78, I would like to see him as the assistant to the supervisor," Trustee Andrew Pruner said.

Pruner and Berry said the job description and title could be changed later.

"I'm uncomfortable with the whole thing," Horton said. "It's difficult to hire someone to a title that's already admittedly in doubt."

"I think we have to have a delay on it. Let's get a clarification on Act 78 and the job description," he said.

The board also voted to postpone on Berry's employment. The officials plan to iron out the job description and get a legal opinion on Act 78 before the meeting.

Supervisor Maurice Breen, who wasn't present at Tuesday's meeting, recommended Berry be hired as the township police chief. He asked that Berry be given a five-year contract with the township.

Berry turned his resignation into the city manager Tuesday afternoon, asking that Aug. 14 be his last day with the city. He is retiring after 22 years of service with the police department.

"I had no choice," Berry told the board, "today, the city requested my last day be the 15th of August."

Part of a two-year agreement between the city and township called for creating a township police chief position and eliminating the city police chief's position.

The agreement, part of the contract for shared police services, calls for a $30,000 credit to the township for the chief's salary.

Berry asked that his employment with the township be nullified when he leaves the city.

Schroeder elected president in school board selections

Glenn H. Schroeder, 64, of Plymouth Township has been elected president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Schroeder, who has spent more than 25 years in corporate finance with Ford Motor Company, was elected president at Monday night's organizational meeting of the school board.

A graduate of Michigan State University, Schroeder has lived in Plymouth for about 23 years. He was elected to the school board in 1980 and this past year served as board treasurer.

Floesie Tonda of Canton was elected vice president of the school board, Roland Thomas of Plymouth was elected secretary, and Elaine Kirchgatter of Canton was elected treasurer.

This past year Tonda served as secretary and Kirchgatter as vice president. Tom Yack was board president for the 1982-83 school year.

The election was handled routinely as it appeared the selections had been arranged in advance.

Only one person was nominated per office, and all were approved by 5-0 votes. Tonda was absent for the organizational meeting as was trustee E.J. McClendon.

In other business at the annual organizational meeting, the board voted to continue its practice of meeting on the second and fourth Mondays at 7:30 p.m. for regular meetings in the board offices at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

The board also voted to appoint legal counsel for 1983-84 as follows: Draugells, Ashton and Scully of Plymouth, for general counsel and land matters; Thrun, Maatsch & Nordberg for financial and election matters; and Clark, Hardy, Lewis and Fine for labor relations.

Illness prompts sale of popular children's farm

Jack Marts must sell his farm and riding school in Canton, a summer mecca for youngsters. Rebecca Maria Marts, 14, is assisted onto a horse by Marvel Marts.

By Ariene Funke
staff writer

Illness is forcing Jack Marts to sell his 41-acre children's farm and riding school in western Canton.

Marts suffered a severe heart attack on May 22 — his 59th birthday. Doctors have told him he must give up the summer farm he has operated for the past 16 years.

The asking price is $300,000 and includes the acreage, a four-bedroom house, barn, horses and other farm animals and equipment.

"It's a bargain," said Marts' wife Marvel, who now runs the school while keeping an anxious eye on her husband.

The farm is on Denton Road south of Proctor, in Canton's sparsely-populated agricultural area.

On a recent visit, several children — mostly girls — were practicing their riding skills in a fenced area. The crowing rooster and snorting pigs could be heard from the barn nearby.

"This is a school," said Marvel Marts. "Children take care of the animals and learn about them. They learn everything they can possibly absorb about horses."

"KIDS THINK carrots come from a Kroger store in a bag," added her husband, a slight, bald man who now walks with a crutch.

"The more we know about everything, the more we know about each other (and) the better world this is going to be."

Marts is a former special education teacher in the Plymouth-Canton school district who was fired in 1971 for alleged incompetence. Marts is appealing the firing, and the case remains unresolved after 12 years of litigation.

Meanwhile, Marts has used his teaching skills in the riding school. He believes horsemanship and discipline can be used to teach children "respect and admiration for excellence."

Marts is especially proud of helping to develop confidence among children with physical, mental and emotional impairments.

"We don't like to use the word handicapped," Marts said. "We like to say 'special.' They are special in a lot of ways."

ACCORDING TO Marts, the farm would succeed in the hands of an organization such as a YMCA, where it could be used as a teaching and recreation center.

"Can you imagine what they could do with this?" Marts said. "We tried to sell this (farm) to Canton Township before they purchased all this property out here (the new recreation complex behind Township Hall)."

Marts recently wrote a letter to the Plymouth Family Y, indicating his intention to sell the farm. The Y, which serves Plymouth, Canton and Northville, is looking for new quarters. But no action has been taken on Marts' letter, said Y Executive Director Janet Luce.

"If someone wants to do what we are doing, we want to stay here and help them and show them what we do," Marts added.

Students score above average in national testing

Students in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are learning their basic subjects well according to tests taken in four grade levels.

That is a conclusion drawn from results of a district-wide testing program in grades 3, 5, 7, and 11.

The spring evaluation program included testing of the students, and questionnaires given to students, parents, and teachers.

The students in grades 3, 5, and 7 took the Iowa Test of Basic Skills (ITBS) while 11th graders took the Test of Achievement and Proficiency (TAP).

The students scored above the national averages in reading and mathematics in each grade tested as they have done in prior years.

THE TEST RESULTS:
 • Grade 3 — Plymouth-Canton 4.3

in reading and 4.2 in math; national average, 3.8;

• Grade 5 — Plymouth-Canton 6.4 in reading and 6.2 in math; national average, 5.8;

• Grade 7 — Plymouth-Canton, 8.3 in reading and 8.5 in math; national average, 7.8;

• Grade 11 — Plymouth-Canton 13.1 in reading and 13.1 in math; national average, 11.8.

The total evaluation, including the questionnaires, allows administrators and teachers to take a systematic look at more than student achievement levels in reading and mathematics.

An additional finding is that the majority of elementary and middle school parents surveyed feel that both the reading and math programs are effective. The reading achievement levels of the students were consistent with information on the parent questionnaires.

For example, because reading is a skill which needs practice, students who read well in school usually are those who enjoy reading at home.

FURTHER SOME 80 percent of the parents of children in grades 3-5 reported that they read with their children on a regular basis. Also, more than 92 percent of these parents reported that their children choose to read for fun at home.

Between 85 and 90 percent of the elementary and middle school teachers provide class time for students to read books of their own choice. Also, all of the elementary school teachers read with their students on a regular basis. This is part of a concerted effort to help students enjoy reading.

About 94 percent of the students in grades 3, 5, and 7 reported that they enjoyed reading. Some 70 percent of the parents of elementary school children think their children feel "good" or "very good" about reading.

At the elementary and middle school levels, 92 percent of the students feel "good" or "very good" about doing math. Parent perceptions showed that 69 percent of the parents think their children feel "good" or "very good" about math.

Two-thirds of the parents feel that mathematics instruction is given "enough emphasis" at the elementary level but less than half of the middle school parents surveyed felt that mathematics instruction is given "enough emphasis."

WHEN ASKED, "Is reading homework given enough emphasis?" elementary parents were evenly divided between "enough" and "not enough." Middle school parents, on the other hand, clearly indicated reading homework should receive greater emphasis.

When asked the same question about math, the majority of parents (55.7) felt math homework was given "enough emphasis" while about 40 percent felt "more emphasis" on homework was needed.

A complete report of student achievement and the responses that students, teachers, and parents made to each survey question will be submitted to the Board of Education in August.

Balloons bring a big bunch

An estimated 80,000 people converged on Plymouth last weekend for the third annual Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival, by far more successful than the first two.

Thousands filled up Plymouth Township Park over the weekend to watch as more than 40 pilots and crews prepared and launched their balloons.

Large crowds also were downtown for the Art in the Park show in Kellogg Park, and the downtown was filled Saturday morning for inflation-beater sales.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce came close to a complete sell-out of its catfish as almost 2,500 diners enjoyed the meal at Plymouth Township Park.

In the races, Frank Palmer of Palmer Paving, Plymouth, ended up winning two free trips as sponsor of two winning crews.

PALMER won a free trip for two to anywhere in the United States that U.S. Air line has routes by sponsoring the winning flight Saturday night. He also won a free trip for two anywhere that N. Y. Air line has a route by sponsoring the winning flight Sunday morning. Pilot Phil Glebe also won the two trips.

Friday night pilot Ted Gother and sponsor Melody Farms each won two free tickets to Mexico from American Airlines. Saturday morning pilot Ray Pini won two tickets for anywhere that Eastern Airlines has a flight.

Sunday night pilot Joe Derosa and sponsor E.F. Hutton each won two free tickets from British Airways.

No one won a free car by picking up the car keys off the top of the mast of sailboats floating in the pond in the township park. But Ron McBirney came closest — within 20 feet of the keys. Coming in second was Steve Hamilton of Canton and third was Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower.

Frank Basile holds Charley on his shoulders and Abby on his knee so they can get a good view of the balloons.

More than 40 balloons took to the air each day, in groups of 15, between the creek and the bell diamonds at Plymouth Township Park.

Thousands gathered in Plymouth Township Park over the weekend to view the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival. This view was photographed Friday evening at the kickoff of the festival.

Library watch

Among new books recently placed in circulation by Plymouth's Dunning-Hugh Library are the following:

• "The President's Child," by Fay Weldon, has the fast-moving, powerful prose that typifies a Weldon novel. Here she has come up with an intriguing premise in which 6-year-old Jason looks and acts frighteningly like the man who may become the next U.S. president. In fact, he is the man's son. But Jason also is the son of Isabel, an intelligent, attractive English woman who married a man named Homer mostly because "Jason was on the way." With power and prestige at stake, there are those who are desperate to see that Isabel's secret never gets out. Death is one of the possibilities.

• "Hunter's Orange," by William Dieter, is said by critics to be reminiscent of the hunting stories of Ernest Hemingway. The novel is set in present-day southeastern Utah where three hunters and their wives, all longtime friends, are engaged in a once-only buffalo hunt. Suspense builds as the hunt becomes a harrowing hell with violence shattering their lives.

• "Natural Causes," by Jonathan Valin, is the fifth book in Valin's highly praised series of detective novels featuring tough, competent Harry Stoner. Through his creation of Quentin Dover, a TV writer, Valin portrays the narcotic fantasies of a daytime soap opera ironically brought to reality in the broken lives of Dover and those who inhabit his world.

• "War in the Falklands," by the London Sunday Times Insight Team. "Dramatically readable" is an accurate description of this thoroughly researched report on Britain's and Argentina's engagement over a group of barren islands in the South Atlantic. The Insight Team is renowned for journalistic excellence and comprehensive behind-the-scenes reporting on major international events. This book not only maintains that tradition but also tells of the ordinary men and women, both British and Argentinian, who fought and suffered in a tragic conflict which could have been avoided.

• "The Papers of Tony Veitch," by William McIlvanney, is a direct sequel to McIlvanney's prize-winning novel "Laidlaw." It is a suspenseful story of the people who inhabit Glasgow's hard world and the policeman — Jack Laidlaw — who attempts to live with and understand them. Convinced that Eck Adamson was murdered, Laidlaw pursues his few shabby clues through the Glasgow underworld and ultimately discovers that Tony Veitch is the only man who can answer the pivotal questions.

• "Devil's Paintbrush," by Martin Dibner, first executive director of the California Arts Commission. He has drawn upon his knowledge of the art world to create an absorbing story which no less a critic than Stephen King calls, "Dibner's best, most suspenseful novel." It transforms the higher reaches of the world of art into a place of adventure, danger, vengeance and romance, a place where love, greed and thwarted dreams ignite the fires of a centuries-old mystery.

• "Previews & Premises," by Alvin Toffler, employs a question-and-answer format in which Toffler presents his provocative, often startling views on such matters as the economy, the future of work, the shifting balance of racial power, the computer in politics, and the future of socialism and capitalism. As one of the influential social thinkers of our times, Toffler is a much sought-after lecturer as well as author of articles in many magazines and journals.

• "In War's Dark Shadow," by W. Bruce Lincoln, is the story of the Russian people as they entered the 20th Century. It is brilliantly told by a scholar who is as outstanding for his readability as his vivid insight. This is Russia before the Great War, from 1891 to 1914, an era of vast internal change that preceded two revolutions and the end of the Romanov empire. Its scope includes areas of Russian life virtually unknown in the West as it explores the lives, thoughts, hopes and dreams of more than 100 million people — one out of three of whom would either be in exile or have perished by the time Lenin announced the Bolsheviks' final victory.

• "Astro-Logical Love," by Naura Hayden. In definition, this book falls in the category of astrology. It's also good entertainment. Hayden is an actress, singer and songwriter as well as a best-selling author. She approaches astrological topics in a manner to peel away their mystique, and she offers easy-to-do charts to use for yourself or others. The book lists birthdays of more than 5,000 famous people, with every day of the year included — perfect fodder for ending a conversational void.

Residents fine after air crash

Four men, including two from Plymouth, sustained minor injuries Tuesday when their airplane made a crash landing in a field outside Cynthiana, Ky.

About 10:15 a.m. Tuesday the plane, carrying James Jabara and David Sibbold of Plymouth, along with Nat Sibbold and Larry Edmondson, attempted an emergency landing in a hay field, Kentucky State Police said.

The plane hit some trees and a fence while coming down, shearing off the wings and skidding on its belly, police said.

The men were taken to Harrison County Memorial Hospital, where they are being treated for minor bone fractures and bruises, pilot Jabara said Wednesday.

The men were flying in a Piper Cherokee 6 single-engine when the engine quit at 8,000 feet, Jabara said. They were en route from Detroit to Knoxville, Tenn.

Jabara radioed Lexington Airport to report the trouble, about five miles outside Cynthiana. The air controllers told Jabara to head for Cynthiana airport, however, the plane went down 1 1/2 miles away from the airport.

"I never really thought about it (on the way down). I had something to keep my mind on, and with my mind occupied I had no time to think about anything else," Jabara said.

"I wouldn't say we were lucky, I'd say it was a miracle because luck doesn't go that far," he said.

The men are expected to return to Michigan later this week.

Auto kills Canton tot

A 3-year-old Mott Road boy died late last week after he drove his tricycle into the path of a car.

According to police, Jeremy Mullins rode his three-wheel "Big Wheel" bike between parked cars at the Wagon Wheel mobile home park on Mott. The boy was struck by a car driven by Kenneth Elliott, 73, of Ypsilanti, police said.

The accident, which occurred about 11:30 a.m. Friday, was witnessed by several residents, police said. The child was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Witnesses told police that Elliott was driving slowly, but the child rode directly into the car's path. Elliott was not charged.

The Tonquish tube

An underground seaway in town?

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Hundreds of people who stroll through the business district in Plymouth never realize that they are walking along the banks of what was an open ditch with a more formal name of Tonquish Creek.

The creek enters the city at Shelton and North Territorial Road and moves in an arc over to Harvey Street, then dips through the Central Parking Lot, across Ann Arbor Trail and Forest Avenue to Wing Street and then past Fair Grounds to the city limits.

This was the open ditch back in the days when Chief Tonquish, for whom the creek and the senior citizens apartments are named, roamed the area with his fellow tribesmen.

It was to this area that he always returned after any wild skirmish down through what is now Hines Parkway.

For years the creek flowed serenely through what was the village of Plymouth.

As the village grew, due to the railroad and the Daisy Air Rifle firm, the feeling grew that the creek was a handicap to further growth and that the land through which it flowed was too valuable to be allowed to stand.

So, when the drive was on to incorporate the Village into a city in 1937, a bold move was made. It was decided to cover the creek and thus realize a lot of valuable property for business.

WHEN IT was agreed upon to cover the ditch by having it flow through a concrete tube under ground, the city started leasing the property.

According to Ken Way, the city treasurer-assessor, the ground was leased in 1935 but the actual covering of the creek was not done until 1937 when the city was incorporated.

Those who recall the days when this vast change was made say the concrete tube is at least six feet in diameter and at its deepest section it is six feet under ground.

Up at Harvey Street, where the concrete tube starts, it is only three feet under ground, but reaches six as it flows along to Wing Street and past Burroughs Street.

By covering the creek, much valuable ground was made available for what is now the downtown business district.

There were times when the creek overflowed its banks and caused grief along what is now Forest Avenue. But the move to cover it changed all that.

Now all goes on serenely. The downtown business district with its many buildings and myriad of shops on Forest Avenue made possible a thriving city.

But, today, as the shoppers visit these shops and enjoy the other business places, few of them realize that they are walking along the banks of what was once a creek but is now an underground tube through which the water flows.

Trip to west is offered

A 13-day trip out west is being offered to any interested adult by the city of Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation.

The trip will leave the Plymouth Cultural Center at 800 Franklin on Friday, Sept. 9, and return 13 days later. The trip will include at least one meal a day as well as transportation and lodging and will cover 22 states.

The cost is $699 based on double occupancy and $899 for single occupancy. People do not have to be residents of the city to take the trip. Those interested may phone the recreation department at 465-6000 or have a flyer mailed to them.

Sightseeing stops will be made to the Badlands National Park, Mt. Rushmore, Crazy Horse Monument, Black Hills, Devil's Tower, Carter Battfield, Yellowstone National Park town, Corn Palace, Wall Drive, Old Faithful Geyser, Jackson Hole in Wyoming, Grand Teton National Park, Rocky Mountain National Park, Estes Park, Garden of the Gods in Colorado Springs, Old Colorado City and the U.S.A.F. Academy tour.

In all middle schools

School suspension centers OK'd

All middle schools will have an in-house suspension center beginning this fall.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night voted to approve the expenditure of some $65,000 to accomplish that goal this fall.

During this past year the Alternative Education program has operated resource rooms at East Middle and Central Middle schools.

The board's action Monday night will expand the program this fall to Pioneer, West and Lowell middle schools. The rooms will be used as resource rooms as well as an in-house suspension centers.

The money will be used, in part, to hire staff members who will supervise the rooms, work with students, teachers, parents and administrators.

The program will be supervised by the Alternative Education Program which works with students at the secondary level who are having educational or behavioral problems and would likely not remain in school without intervention.

THE PROGRAM at Central and East has been supported with federal funds, although the school board has committed to continue Alternative Education at the middle schools after the federal grant expires in 1984.

The student service centers will be a place where students will be sent when they are experiencing behavior problems in school. After a "cooling off" period, the supervisor will work out a program with the student to correct the problem before return to the classroom is allowed.

Students who commit more serious offenses may be sent to the center for an "in-house suspension."

The school board gave an early nod of approval to expanding the centers to all middle schools at a workshop on June 25.

The board also expressed an intent to expand the program when it approved the first posting of a middle school substance abuse policy on discipline which provides that students suspended for substance abuse must contract for behavioral changes with center personnel before being allowed back in the classroom.

The in-school suspension/student service centers at West, Pioneer, and Lowell will be patterned after the operations at East and Central.

The focus of the program, stresses Board President Glenn Schroeder, is to keep students in school.

WHILE IN the center students will be involved with a curriculum emphasizing such areas as self-esteem, family relations, communication, and values development.

The center also will function as a resource room to deal with academic and study skill deficiencies which obstruct the student's chance for greater success with learning.

The program is coordinated by Nic Cooper and Sally Wistozky, co-directors of the Alternative Education Project for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Lowell principal accepts job in West Bloomfield district

By Judith Doner Berns
staff writer

A middle school principal for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has been named principal at West Bloomfield High School.

Dr. Gary Faber, principal of Lowell Middle School, was named high school principal Monday night, at an annual salary of $47,135.

He was on the job Tuesday, meeting with high school assistant principals and central administrators and making a whirlwind tour of West Bloomfield High School.

"I'm very impressed with the facility," Faber said. "It's a fine opportunity, career-wise. I consider West Bloomfield to be a truly fine school district."

Faber, 34, beat out 10 major candidates, after the principal of Cass Tech High School — Dr. Charles Remus — withdrew in favor of a promotion within the Detroit Public Schools.

Faber said he applied for the post after reading that Remus was the leading applicant.

"I figured they didn't know Gary Faber. You don't win the war if you don't fight the battle," said Faber, who is a resident of West Bloomfield.

Faber replaces Ted Cavin, who is the district's new director of student services and vocational education.

WEST BLOOMFIELD Superintendent Seymour Gretchko and the school board have targeted the high school for major improvements in education and human relations — which Faber is charged to execute.

His three-step approach to any job — study, propose, take action — will include gathering information from the community on the school's strengths and weaknesses.

"The goals of the superintendent to the board really relate to educational issues," he said. And he is well aware that, at least presently, the school district has the dollars to help implement these goals.

The principal of Lowell Middle School in Plymouth-Canton for the past two years, Faber also has high school experience under his belt. He was an administrative area coordinator (equivalent to an assistant principal) at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Before that he was an assistant principal at Garden City East High School and director of community-school relations for Garden City schools.

His doctorate from Wayne State University is in educational supervision and administration with a major in curriculum leadership and a minor in secondary administration.

FABER AND wife Sandra, a laid-off English and social studies teacher now working for Entertainment (Pambook) Publications, Birmingham, have two children — Seth and Lindsay.

"We've thought about the disadvantages and advantages of living in the community," she said. "The kids are very proud of him and very thrilled." "It has some real pluses," Faber said. "You're aware of the pulse of the community, and you're a fellow taxpayer."

The new principal, who is small in stature, will find himself physically looking up to many high school students.

"That's not new. You wait. You let people adjust," Faber said. "That superficial assessment wears off — they begin to relate to you as a human being."

"Breaking a stereotype is a point of strength at times. My stature has not stood in the way."

Faber claims no defined career goals. "I've always taken things one step at a time. I'm really not looking past being a high school principal. Ask me again in three years."

Resident to head Lung Association

Peter M. Pellerito of Plymouth has been elected to a one-year term as president of the American Lung Association of Michigan (ALAM).

Pellerito, who is director of state relations for the University of Michigan, was elected to the position at the association's annual meeting held recently in Lansing.

He has served as a volunteer for the Lung Association at state and local levels since 1976. Elected to the board of trustees in 1980, he chaired the public information committee from 1980-82.

Pellerito is the youngest person ever to be elected president of the American Lung Association of Michigan.

Peter M. Pellerito

BEFORE JOINING University of Michigan as an assistant to the president, Pellerito was director of public relations for Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City and before that director of public affairs at WZZM-TV in Grand Rapids.

He is a member of the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education, and of the Society of Professional Journalists (formerly Sigma Delta Chi).

As president of the ALAM he succeeds Joseph F. Smith, vice president of First of America Bank — the holding company for First of America Bank — Plymouth.

REX ARCHER of Ann Arbor is the new president-elect. Paul N. Suomi, director of communications for Northern Michigan University, was elected secretary and Susan Harvey, general manager of WILS-AM-FM in Lansing, was elected treasurer.

The American Lung Association of Michigan, one of the state's oldest voluntary health agencies, is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year.

New students should register

New residents to Plymouth-Canton Community Schools should register their children in school as soon as possible.

Registration will help establish class enrollments, speed up pupil accounting, and avoid lines for new students waiting to be registered the first day of school.

Elementary and middle school students can register directly at the building where they will be attending classes. Personnel are available in buildings to register new students any weekday. An appointment to register may be made by calling any school building.

New students in grades 10-12 are assigned to Plymouth Canton High or Plymouth Salem High by a random drawing held at the Board of Education Office, 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth. For an appointment for high school assignment, parents call call Ginnie Murdoch, coordinator of pupil accounting at 453-0200, ext. 421.

After assignment, high school students must contact the high school counseling department at 453-3100 for an appointment or to register and schedule courses.

New residents who aren't sure which school their children will attend also can call Murdoch at the board office.

Host families are needed

Host families still are needed for foreign exchange students coming to the Plymouth-Canton area.

In less than two months, foreign exchange students will begin landing in the U.S. to spend a year with American families.

For at least four students expecting to spend the year in the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area, uncertainty clouds their visit because host families for them have not yet been found.

Youth for Understanding is appealing to local families with an openness to new ideas to consider inviting one of the students into their lives and homes for the year during this difficult family-finding climate, says Henrietta McDonald of Canton, area representative for Youth for Understanding.

FAMILIES WITH or without children may be eligible to host and are encouraged to apply. Host families are volunteers who provide room and board for the student and offer the same guidance and love they give their own children.

The four European boys Youth For Understanding is sponsoring, who are expected to arrive in August, are:

Baehr Ulrich of Munich, Germany, enjoys reading, drawing, macrophotography, cross-country skiing and swimming.

Hamalaunen Petri of Helsinki, Finland, hopes to study law, hobbies include fishing, racquetball, music and reading.

Schwencke Marcel of the Netherlands has traveled throughout Europe and enjoys music, particularly jazz and soul, and the beach.

Hanssens Henning of Oslo, Norway, is interested in pursuing a career in data processing and is active in sports.

Families interested in hosting one of the four boys should call McDonald at 981-2680.

Police investigate 2 stolen car fires

Plymouth police are investigating separate fires which destroyed two stolen cars over the weekend.

As of Tuesday, police still weren't certain if the fires were related, according to Police Chief Carl Berry.

Both cars were stolen from residences and were believed to have been deliberately burned, he said.

The first fire, early Saturday morning, was reported by a pilot flying into Metropolitan Airport in Romulus, according to a police report.

The pilot reported seeing a fire in the field between Ridge and Beck roads near M-14. When officers responded, they found a 1983 Oldsmobile had been lit on fire.

The two-door Oldsmobile, owned by Sophie Wolosyn of Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth, was valued at $11,000. Wolosyn didn't know her car had been stolen, according to police.

The second fire, early Sunday morning, completely destroyed a 1981 Cadillac convertible valued at $35,000.

The car was found in a field north of Joy Road and east of Whittlesy Lake.

The owner of the Cadillac, Randal Cooper of Denise Court in Plymouth, also didn't know his car had been stolen, Berry said.

The Oldsmobile had been partially stripped before it was burned while the Cadillac was in fact before being set on fire, police said.

A gas can was found on the floor of the Cadillac.

The Olds Time Circus arrives in Northville tomorrow for two days of performances at the north parking lot of Northville Downs.

Seven Mile at Sheldon. Besides the Hanneford Elephants shown performing above will be teeter boards, trapeze acts, monkeys, horses and dogs. Performances will be at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday and last 90 minutes including an intermission with elephant rides for kids. Tickets may be purchased in advance at Lapham's Men Shop, 120 E. Main in Northville at $3 for children, $5 for adults and family (two adults and three children) for $15. At 11 a.m. Friday there will be a birthday party for Bimbo the elephant behind the Cloverdale parlour in Northville.

Students attend fine arts camp

A number of students from Plymouth and Canton are attending the first summer session at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, Twin Lake, Mich.

Students who were at Blue Lake from June 28 to July 10 included: Kathleen Albus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Albus of Canton, an orchestra major; Joyce Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Odom of Plymouth, a dance major; Caludette Glencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Glencer of Canton, a band major; Christina Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrell of Canton, band major; Nicol Shamey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lewis of Canton, an orchestra major; Kim Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Davis of Canton, an orchestra major; Lesley Correll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Correll of Canton, an orchestra major; Daniel Stacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stacey of Canton, an orchestra major; and Matthew Rakozny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rakozny of Plymouth, an orchestra major.

Blue Lake, which will host 4,100 elementary through high school students this summer, offers instruction in a wide variety of fine arts. The camp is located 15 miles north of Muskegon.

Students attending the first two-week session, primarily for intermediate school students, have the option of majoring in art, band, choir, dance, orchestra, piano, or theater.

Class of '83 thanks helpers

To the editor:

The Plymouth Canton High Class of 1983 would like to thank everyone in the Plymouth-Canton community who did so much for us during our four years of high school. There is hardly one organization, parent, or business that did not at some time offer us their time, money, or concern.

A very special and immediate thanks is owed to those many parents who put their time and money into producing the Senior Party. The party was a great success and I'm sure that the graduates will remember it for years to come.

Whenever an organization at the Park was in need of money or volunteers — such as the Plymouth Park Players — there always was a great turnout from the community. Without your concern our high school years would have lacked much.

Finally, I want to thank those students who always were willing to help out with class activities. They made our senior year a lot more fun for all of us, and certainly a lot easier for their council.

Art column encouraging

To the editor:

David Messing's art column on the fear of failure, June 23, was very encouraging.

His brief words, "You can't enjoy being successful unless you occasionally fail," and his related golf story, were inspiring to read.

There is always the chance that we might do well. That chance is what keeps us trying, whether it is in art or the daily challenges we face at home, work or school.

It was refreshing to be reminded of that basic effort to try.

Either way, the taxpayer still pays more

VERILY, VERILY, the state of Michigan is like unto a Rube Goldberg contraption: You pull one lever here, and it sets off a series of useless mechanical motions resulting in a mouse being hit on the head over there.

Either way, the taxpayer gets zapped. Consider the welfare dilemma.

Over the past 10 years, the number of married couples with children has stayed almost exactly the same in southeastern Michigan. The number of single-parent families, however, has soared something like 86 percent.

A growing percentage of those single-parent (translation: headed by a mom) families is getting some kind of governmental assistance, be it ADC, food stamps or housing aid. In 1980, one-fourth got help; by 1970, three-eighths; as of 1980, nearly half.

It's one major reason why "social services," as these payments are euphemistically called, have soared to 40 percent of the budget, and why colleges, community colleges, K-12 schools, natural resources, state police and the rest are getting less and less.

Tim Richard

WELL, THEN, you may ask, why aren't the ex-husbands and ex-lovers of all these single-parent families being made to pay child support?

The latest report from the U.S. Census Bureau says only 47 percent of women who are owed child support payments are collecting the full amount.

One reason dads aren't paying is their own financial problems, but more important reasons appear to be that they are simply refusing or they have skeddaddled from the town or state. President Reagan has promised increased efforts, through the U.S. Health and Human Services Department, to locate the vanished dads and make them pay up.

In Michigan, those of us who are either a) unhappy with the 38 percent income tax increase, b) unhappy with the way so much of that increase went to "social services" or c) both will applaud such efforts.

AH, BUT THE plot thickens. Remember, I said the state operates like a Rube Goldberg contraption.

On a visit to my old Berrien County stamping grounds, I picked up the local paper for which I once had the honor of working and read where the Hon. Chester J. Byrns, judge of circuit court, sentenced no fewer than eight dads to the hoosegow in a single day for contempt of court — to wit, failure to pay child support.

A Benton Township chap, nearly $11,000 behind, will spend 45 days in the slammer and be on probation two years. When he gets out, he will have to pay $25 a week child support plus $1 weekly in arrears. His five kids are on ADC.

Another Benton Township resident was sentenced, and I quote from the usually reliable Herald-Palladium, to "30 days for arrears of $9,763 for seven children, six of them on ADC, by three mothers."

And still another Benton Township chap got "30 days for arrears of $1,883 for two children by different mothers, both on ADC." (Italics added.)

Cheer Byrns for governor?

Before you start circulating petitions, keep in mind that both the Oakland and Wayne county jails are overcrowded. Oakland is paying big bucks to house its oversupply of prisoners in Allegan, Lapeer and Washtenaw counties. Wayne County is exploring such options as freeing the less violent types — even as it looks for money to operate that spiffy new jail which may, if we're lucky, be opened Dec. 1.

The point is that it costs us big bucks to pay for ADC for families who don't get child support, and it will cost us more big bucks to jail the errant fathers.

That's why the state is a Rube Goldberg contraption, zapping the taxpayer no matter what happens.

Legislature's fall job: find long-term solutions

THE LEGISLATURE has adjourned for the summer, and there is a temptation to rejoice. The old saw is that no man's pocketbook and freedom are safe while the legislature is in session. This year, the jibe seemed too true.

The 82nd Michigan Legislature had hardly settled in office when it was presented with a do-or-die proposal by Gov. James Blanchard — increase the state's personal income tax rate from 4.6 to 6.35 percent, or the state's services and institutions will suffer irreparable harm.

Blanchard, fresh from an election victory backed by the UAW and the Michigan Education Association, used his own political persuasiveness and the skills of the UAW and MEA arm-twisters to convince his fellow Democrats (most of whom enjoyed backing by the UAW and MEA) that they should increase the tax rate.

SOME DEMOCRATIC legislators are now wondering whether they will survive public animosity in the next election in November 1984.

The public arousal made it seem that the tax increase was a surprising and unlikely measure. The tax increase, however, should have surprised no one. Last year, then-Gov. William Milliken and the Democratic leadership of the Legislature maneuvered, lobbied, argued and cajoled legislators to wrest approval of a temporary 1-percent income tax increase. At that time, everyone in state government knew the measure would bring only a temporary respite from the state's economic problems.

The new Blanchard administration was in office only a few weeks when he announced that the state's economic problems were even more severe than revealed last year by the Milliken administration.

After some discussion, Blanchard and the Legislature agreed that the taxpayers should pay the price demanded by a declining economy and a long-standing commitment to a certain level of state services. This level includes aid to education and to people who are temporarily or semi-permanently confronted by poverty.

MICHIGAN'S SITUATION was far from unique. Other states with supposedly more versatile economies have found themselves in desperate financial straits and, as Michigan has done, increased their tax loads.

According to a recent press survey, 45 states have increased taxes this year. Speaker of the House Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, said that "many of these increases were larger than Michigan's, even though Michigan's budget crisis has been the most serious in the nation (due to the high state unemployment)."

Owen noted that every neighboring state — Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin — imposed tax increases. He says that in 1981, the last year in which figures are available, Michigan ranked 32nd in state taxes as a percentage of personal income.

THE LEGISLATURE will return in September. Perhaps then it will proceed to deal in an intelligent way with some of the causes of the burgeoning state budget and to be ahead of some future crisis. Certainly some investigation of the social services budget, which consumes 40 percent of the state budget, is in order. Certainly some investigation of the costs of higher education is in order.

The Legislature cannot rely, as it has in the past, on the governor's administration to set the spending standards for the state. If it fails to tackle the reasons for increased state spending, it will be remiss.

In theory, girls sports are equal

ABOUT 30 high school girls deftly moved up and down a football field at Livonia Stevenson High School on Saturday afternoon.

By using their feet they passed a ball with great agility. Sometimes they used their foreheads to propel the ball forward. It was apparent even to the most casual observer that outstanding athletes were on the field.

The event was the Observer & Eccentric's All-Star Soccer Classic. It was played by the best area girls' high school soccer players.

Wayne County defeated Oakland County 7-1, but the score was not important. What was that more than 300 persons attended, an excellent crowd for a girls' soccer game. It was another landmark for girls' sports in this area.

GIRLS' SPORTS HAVE come a long way, baby. But they still have a long way to go.

Although women athletes have made great strides in the past few years, they still are treated as second-class.

"An athlete is an athlete," O&E sports coordinator Dennis O'Connor said. "Girls put in just as much time, sweat and effort as the boys, and they deserve equal treatment."

But in the real world, it doesn't work that way. The first time a crunch comes to a school's athletic program, it's the girls who feel it.

Girls have their basketball season in the fall so they will not conflict with the boys' winter season. This way the girls can have access to the few gymnasiums available in a school district.

But in early December when the girls' season is ending and the boys' is beginning, who's out in the cold scrambling for practice time? (Hint: It's not the boys.)

Nick Sharkey

In the spring, how many fields are available for both girls' softball and boys' baseball? Once again, the boys take priority.

While coaches take movies of boys' football and basketball games, few girls' teams have the same services.

I'M PROUD THAT the Observer & Eccentric has been in the forefront in recognizing girls' sports. Saturday's all-star game was only a small part.

Girls' sports have been covered extensively in our newspaper since their emergence during the 1975-76 school year. We recognize All-Area girl athletes in the following sports: basketball, volleyball, softball, track, soccer and swimming.

Only in the past few years have metro dailies started to give recognition to girls' sports.

It may seem trite, but much more comes out of sports than physical fitness. Traits of leadership, responsibility and working with others are learned through sports. Persons who are physically active have more energy and feel better about themselves.

WE HAVE A vested interest in promoting women's sports. All of us have mothers, aunts, sisters and wives who could have learned much if they had been encouraged to play sports.

Let's do better with our daughters. I took my 5-year-old daughter with me Saturday to the soccer game. On the drive over in the car I explained that we would be watching outstanding girl athletes.

She clutched her doll and asked, "You mean just girls will be playing?" "Yes," was the reply.

As we started to get out of the car we both looked at her doll. "Do you want to bring that along?" she was asked.

"No, I think this time I'll leave it in the car." With that she jumped out of the car and ran to see her first girls' soccer game.

You never know where words land

W.W. Edgar

of the Fiat Co. in Italy. In the very pleasant letter, the head of the motor company called The Stroller's attention to a slight mistake and, while thanking him for devoting his space to the Italian boat, asked that the word be spelled properly in the future.

The Stroller was surprised no end to learn his efforts had gone across the seas to the head of the firm that built the motors. It was a fitting example of what can happen to the printed word once it leaves the press.

NOT SO LONG ago came another surprise. One morning when he approached his desk, he found an old copy of the Free Press. There was no note on it — just a faded paper, but it now is one of The Stroller's prized possessions.

The paper dated back to 1927. And the front page contained pictures and The Stroller's story of the University of Detroit vs. Notre Dame football game.

Just imagine! That was 56 years ago, and the paper was preserved. Now in a choice spot in The Stroller's scrapbook, it is a reminder when Knute Rockne brought his team to the stadium on Six Mile.

Both coaches — Gus Dorais and Rockne — have gone to their rewards, and even the stadium is just a memory. But to The Stroller, the scene will always live in the columns of that old newspaper.

Most surprises come in the daily mail when readers in far-off places write to comment on the column. Some are in praise, others critical. But The Stroller always has had a policy of answering all mail — good or bad — because these letters are part of the fascination of being privileged to write a column for the public prints.

ONE FASCINATING thing about writing a column for a newspaper is that when a fellow sits down at his typewriter to pound out the words, he never knows just where the column will land after it leaves the press.

There being nothing older than yesterday's newspaper, the printed word is apt to land in many unusual places. Many householders will take the paper and use it to wrap the daily garbage before placing it in the collector's can.

Others will clip certain items of their liking — among them, a fellow's column — and preserve it in a scrapbook. Some have been known to have a column framed and sent to the writer as a means of telling him how much they enjoyed it.

Still others will read the printed word and then, finding an item with which they don't agree, take time out to send a scathing letter to the writer.

All of these things are fascinating to the architect of the column, and oftentimes the returns are filled with all manner of surprises.

ONE OF THE first real surprises in The Stroller's career came years ago when the Gold Cup races on the Detroit River were the most popular attraction of the year.

On this particular year, Count Rossi, the Italian sports enthusiast, was making a bid for the top American award with a boat powered by a Fiat motor.

The Stroller spent considerable time in Rossi's camp and one day devoted his efforts to telling the public the features of a Fiat motor. It wasn't meant to be an official report, but he did use several technical terms.

You can imagine his surprise a week later when he received a special delivery letter from the head

Burley elected chairman

Businessmen's 'reign' ends at SC

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The Paul and Harry show has come to an abrupt end at Schoolcraft College. Three women trustees Monday lined up behind Michael Burley to elect him chairman of the college board, giving him a 4-3 victory over former chairman Paul Y. Kadish.

"Paul took us for granted," said trustee Rosina Raymond, who did most of the talking for the new majority in an interview following the meeting.

THE UNDERLYING issue, as Raymond explained it, was the dominance over the board by "these two big businessmen." Harry G. Greenleaf (chairman from 1979 to mid-83) and Kadish (chairman from 1976-79). Greenleaf is manager at Ford Motor Co.; Kadish is resident of his own insurance agency.

"Look at our bylaws. The chair has unlimited powers — only what we trustees give him," Raymond said. The first-term trustee saw Kadish and Greenleaf assuming more and more authority and called for a return to "a sense of equality between us . . . a sense of collegiality."

Agreeing with her were trustees Laura Toy and Sharon Sarris.

Michael Burley, a Northville school district administrator, became the new chairman of the Schoolcraft College board of trustees with his vote and those of the three women trustees. 'We want some things to happen that are innovative,' he said of the vote.

Significantly, the old patterns of Democrat vs. Republican that had been in evidence in past years broke apart entirely Monday night. Burley, a Republican in his private politics, was supported by the three Democratic women. Kadish, a veteran of Democratic politics, was supported by Republicans Greenleaf and Mary Breen.

BURLEY, an administrator in the Northville school district and trustee for four years, shared the women's feelings. "We want some things to happen that are innovative," he said.

There was a geopolitical issue, too — the fact that four successive chairmen since 1973 had been Livonia residents. "Some folk feel Livonia is dominant," said Raymond. "It is timely and proper that we elect Mike Burley from Plymouth-Canton as our chairperson."

The board elected Raymond vice chairwoman, Sarris secretary and Toy treasurer.

Sarris won a 4-3 victory over Kadish for delegate to the Michigan Community Colleges Association.

Burley's political planning began as soon as Greenleaf revealed he would not seek a fifth year in the chair. By the time Kadish decided to seek his old leadership role, Burley had lined up Kadish's most likely supporters. Burley's four votes were in place several days prior to the meeting.

ONLY ONE new face is on the Schoolcraft board this fiscal year. Breen, a Plymouth-Canton school district resident and assistant principal of Livonia's Stevenson High, was elected June 14 to replace retiring Len Wozniak of Livonia.

The current board includes two Plymouth-Canton residents — Burley and Breen — and five from the Livonia district — Raymond, Sarris, Toy, Greenleaf and Kadish.

"At Joe Muers You Just Feel Special"

My brother Otis and I have been serving the Muer family for over 41 years and we're proud of it! We're not alone. Others can boast of over twenty and thirty years with the Muers. We're like family. We all care about each other and doing things right. We know the food at Joe Muers is only as good as we are.

So we make people feel special and they keep coming back. Kids who celebrated their birthdays at Muers are now having their business lunches. Friends of Papa Muer's kids are bringing their kids to dinner. Coming to dinner at our restaurant is a tradition for lots of Detroit families.

Joe III, Tom, Mary Ann and Joe IV are third and fourth generation Muers who feel special about that tradition. They know there's only one sea food restaurant in Detroit that can say its family has served families for 54 years. It's Joe Muers!

ENERGY PLUS+

Plant modernization. A key ingredient of Michigan's revitalization.

For the past 20 years, Detroit Edison has been involved in a massive program of modernization. Replacing old power plants dependent on diminishing gas and oil with new plants fueled by abundant, cost-efficient American-produced coal and uranium.

Today, this program is near completion. And that's good news. Good for businesses contemplating expansion. Good for attracting new businesses. Good for our state economy. Good for you.

Here's why.

- Abundant energy is a prime consideration for businesses interested in expanding or relocating to Southeastern Michigan. That means more jobs. More utilization of an already skilled and proven labor force.
- As more new businesses discover Michigan's plentiful advantages, such as our vast waterways, ideally located industrial parks, state-funded economic incentive programs, and, of course, lots of electricity, they will make our area's economy more vibrant. More stable. Plant modernization has helped to set the stage for economic recovery. And, even now, promising results are beginning to show.
- Naturally, the benefits of more new businesses and a strengthened state economy mean you enjoy a better standard of living. Plant modernization also means you enjoy a healthier standard of living through use of advanced technology to protect the environment.

Completion of our 20-year plant modernization program means the beginning of a new era for Southeastern Michigan. An era brimming with promise, opportunity and assurances of ample energy. Energy today, plus energy that will take all of us into the 21st century.

THE STAFF OUT at the Dunbar Davis Hall of Justice celebrated Judge Davis' 70th birthday in grand style. The first surprise, when he arrived at the court Friday, was the apparel of the staff. They were wearing T-shirts with a photograph of the judge on the front along with the words "Happy Birthday, Judge."

But the celebration didn't stop there. The staff along with Judge James Garber and George Wiland, court administrator, had more to come. They had told Martha Davis that she was to get her husband out to Hillside Inn by 5:15 p.m. When she suggested that they had something to do at 5 p.m., the judge said he had planned to play tennis for a couple of hours with Carl Pursell and Earl Merriman. He probably wouldn't be home until 6:30.

At 70, the judge still jogs five or six miles, or spends two hours at a stretch on the tennis courts.

However, he was persuaded to give up his tennis match and go along with Martha. The court gang was gathered in the Country Room at Hillside. Chris had a welcoming "Happy Birthday, Judge Davis" on the sign board. The special birthday cake was decorated with — what else? — two tennis rackets along with the birthday wishes.

WHENEVER I talk to Carolyn Weage, I always ask about Brad, her younger son. Carolyn is a charter member of the Plymouth Community Band, and Brad was something of a child prodigy on the piano. Brad could play the piano before he could climb up on the piano bench. He could play anything from ragtime to the classics.

During his college years, he spent the summer at his father's home in Cedar Point, and at nightclubs. He is teaching and working on his doctorate in Florida, where he is involved in electronic music. Brad, Carolyn, older son Steve and his wife got together for a Caribbean cruise. One night they had an amateur night with the passengers participating. Steve and Brad, after a five-minute conference to plan their act, entered the contest.

Brad played the familiar role of the nightclub pianist, and Steve was the obnoxious drunk who heckled him. Their act was taped and replayed for days on the ship's television screens.

Carolyn plays and teaches trumpet. She was a member of the Phil Spitalney All-Girl Orchestra, which many of us remember. "I didn't enjoy it. I quit after nine months as soon as I had the opportunity to join the Swingettes," Carolyn said. The Swingettes was a six-piece band that played all over the United States. "We had a wonderful arranger, and we could double on instruments."

The Swingettes played all the U.S. Army camps, and their picture appeared at the top of Billboard Magazine twice. Two members of the group met their husbands on the Army tour. One of them was Carolyn, who met her husband, Ken, when she was with the Swingettes.

KEN BEAUCHAMP stopped by the other day with an update on the adventures of Sheila. Ken was just 5 years old when a mourning dove and her mate usurped a hanging basket on the Beauchamp's front porch as their nesting place. They added a few decorator touches of their own — twigs and the like — and proceeded to raise their family.

Ken announced to his mother and dad that the lady dove's name was Sheila, and Sheila became something of a celebrity on Blunk Street until she raised her and departed. That was in the summer of '81.

Sheila returned last summer and she and Frank (Ken had decided on a name for her mate) raised two broods. Ken says he named him Frank after his Uncle Frank.

The Beauchamps and the neighbors had almost given up on Frank and Sheila this spring, when they reappeared. They hatched two eggs, then seemed in an awful hurry to get the young birds off on their own. Ken couldn't figure it out. They all disappeared, and some bees swarmed on a post by the nest. Frank and Sharon returned, but the bees buzzed around them, and Ken says they stung the doves. Mike, Ken's dad, called an exterminator to get rid of the bees.

Sheila and Frank now have two more babies. Ken says Sheila stays on the nest until 5 p.m. when Frank arrives to take over.

Band concerts hit a high note

By Elinor Graham
staff writer

The Thursday-evening band concerts in Kellogg Park have been described as "something straight out of a Norman Rockwell painting." Four centuries ago, it would have been the kind of thing the Bruegels would have preserved on canvas.

The Plymouth Community Band concerts are Thursday-night happenings for six consecutive weeks each summer. Band Director Carl Battishill raises his baton at 8 p.m., and several hundred people rise to their feet for the playing and singing of the National Anthem.

They begin to arrive long before concert time, setting up their aluminum lawn chairs or spreading their blankets on the grass. Others sit on park benches, the rim of the fountain, or on the grass.

Dress for the concert is left up to the individual. They come in dresses, suits, shorts, jeans, slacks, jogging attire. There always are a few wee ones in sleepers, ready to be popped into bed the minute they get home.

They drink pop, eat popcorn, and lick ice cream cones or popsicles. On a warm night, the old drinking fountain on the corner is in constant use.

THE HALF A hundred or so members of the community band are as varied as their audience. There are junior high students and retirees, computer programmers and draftsmen, accountants and engineers, teachers, businessmen and executives. College students home for summer vacation rejoin the band.

Battishill is director of instrumental music at Lowell Middle School. Last week he invited George Cavender, former director of the University of Michigan Marching Band, to be guest conductor. The theme of the concert was "Let George Do It."

Cavender conducted two numbers, "Light Cavalry" and "Circus Bee." He told the audience about the wonderful surprise that awaited him when he arrived for Tuesday night's rehearsal with the band.

"There was one of my idols, 93-year-old Morris Myman, who was director of the Michigan Orchestra Band and the "Circus Bee" at rehearsal. He was staying with orchestra member Doug McLeod and was going to appear with the Detroit Concert Band, conducted by Leonard Smith.

Tonight's guest conductor, Ernie Jones, chairman of the worldwide executive committee of D'Arcy, MacManus & Masius Inc. advertising, will direct the band in "Poet and Peasant" and "Pride of the Wolverines." A variety of music will be featured in the program — marches, show tunes, and the big band sound with some old Glenn Miller arrangements.

THE NUCLEUS of today's community band was a small group of seven men. They took their instruments out of retirement, dressed as a German band, and rode in a 1925 Buick convertible in Plymouth's 1959 Fourth of July parade.

They were: William Edgar, Keith

Burton, Stanley Roose, James Garber, William Upton, Sy Cooper and Gene Burkhardt. Looking for direction, they called on James Griffith, band director at the high school since 1957, who agreed to help them.

The Plymouth Community Band, as it now is known, met for the first time in January 1967 in the band room of the high school, now Central Middle School. The new musical organization included Jim O'Gay, Conrad Krankel and Orlean Baker on clarinet; Sharon Sprague and Lou Tandy on flute; Jim Garber and Chuck Childs, trombone; Jack Wells, alto sax; Stanley Roose, drums; Keith Burton, tuba; and Bill Upton and Carolyn Weage on piano.

They staged a Midnight Madness sale. The band started its eight-week concert series Friday, June 21, 1981. College and high school students swelled the ranks to 32 musicians.

Band members set up their chairs and music stands in the grass, and the sound was lost among the trees. The second year, Michigan Bell furnished the manpower to erect a canopy to help the acoustics. Wives of band members sold cake and ice cream at the concerts to help meet expenses of the season.

THE CITY OF Plymouth purchased a $9,000 portable bandstand in 1983 to be used by the band and other civic groups. To help pay their share of the cost, the bandmen added a refreshment stand and sold soft drinks.

By this time, the band was gaining recognition as the first community

Clark, Wells champion body-builders in state

This past weekend two Canton residents walked away with top awards in a statewide body-building championship. Ron Clark and Sharon Wells won hands down the top honors at the Michigan Mixed Pairs Championship in Detroit at the Redford Theater Saturday night.

This was Sharon's first competition, but she breezed through it with her well-prepared routine and form at 5 foot 5 inches and 110 pounds. Sharon and her partner, the well-seasoned Ron Clark (Mr. Michigan 1983), moved through their routine with all the power and beauty of a winning team. And win they did! Posing to the sound of "Midnight Rendezvous" by the Babbles, they won everything they came for, from the best presentation right to top honors as first place in the state mixed pairs championship.

Their victory takes the pair to Las Vegas to represent Michigan in the national championship in August.

Sharon and Ron met in January at Samson and Delliab's on Lilley, where Ron trains with his wife, Brenda. Many of you may have seen Ron's picture in newspapers lately as he has been featured for his recent win of the Mr. Michigan 1983 title.

As Ron appeared on stage, the crowd could be heard saying such things as "totally awesome, huge, devastating!"

For Sharon, the reaction was "beautiful, gorgeous, cute blond." And ladies, (and this is going to hurt) Sharon Wells has been married for 19 years. She is, if I may quote, a "beautiful, gorgeous, cute blond" 28-year-old school teacher from John Glenn High School in Westland. So I guess female body-building is a bit different than men's, and I guess it's never too late to start!

But you don't have to do it alone. This is one you can get your sweetie to join in! For inspiration just have him take a gander at Ron when he's working in Meijers meat department. He's the one that looks like he has on 12 jackets but is only wearing one!

Good luck in August and remember Canton is with you! Good luck to Ron in your Atlanta competition at the end of this month. No thanks and congratulations to Ron's wife, Brenda, and Sharon's husband, Sidney, for your active support and spirit.

EVERYONE WANTS to be needed, and if you're a nurse, have I got a deal for you. You don't have to worry about the salary because there is none. But if you have taken time off to raise your children, are retired, or are still working, you are needed very close to home to help out at Oakwood Hospital on Warren.

They tell me that every 6-8 p.m. Tuesday. The nurses have volunteered their time to take blood pressures at no charge for anyone who might like to have theirs to check. They are in the process of training several volunteers from the community to help with this service. However, they would like to have at least one trained nurse there each Tuesday. They offer this service only on Tuesdays, and they are trying to accommodate all people — such as the working population that can't get out to any daytime volunteer sessions.

So if any nurse could spare one night a month and would like to give a hand to a fairly simple but important task, please call Sue Law, 453-0876, and talk it over. She sure would love to hear from you. And if you're not a nurse, but would like to have your blood pressure checked, remember it's free and friendly Tuesdays at Oakwood Family Medical Center on Warren and Canton Center.

Watch, I'll get them more business and no nurses! Please, if you're a nurse give her a call!

MOST OF THE Canton-Plymouth Schools are experiencing their first full summer vacation, and I was just wondering how everyone is doing?

Well, if things are getting a little tense in your neighborhood I have some encouraging news! I know the parks are not always as close as you would like to see them, and sometimes it's hard to remember what time what is happening. But things are happening, and I'll try to keep you posted.

You missed the Super Stars, Canton's Fifth Annual Youth Superstars at Griffin Park Saturday, July 9. In addition to its ongoing programs in the local parks, Parks and Rec. has a special program at 7 p.m. Wednesday. It is for children 12 years old and under and includes a magic show, cartoons, local talent, games and fun for everyone. This is free and fun; no reservations are necessary.

If you want to know what's happening in the recreation department, call them at 397-1000 and ask; they'll be glad to help!

However, with a little effort and a lot of fun, your block could become your own recreation department.

Yes sir, a field day, run by just the neighborhood kids! Jeff Talbott and Tammi Prebllich pulled off a pretty terrific day with help from a lot of friends who were good sports on and off the field!

Yes, folks, this was kids at their best. The adults stayed out of it as only kids officiated at each event, although lemonade was made by Mrs. Talbott and the awards by Mrs. Prebllich. Everything else was done by the kids themselves, right down to measuring the distance and recording each score!

They all want to do it again. And you know what, I'm gonna do the ribbons again, because I thought it was great. So don't sit around saying "aww there's nothing to do." Go do it!

The children who participated were: Cathy Altierman, Chris Bollerud, Kim Collins, David Hoo, George Hoo, Li-Chan Hoo, Danny McGuire, Stephanie McGuire, Caty Prebllich, Roger Sloane, Jody Talbott and the officials, Tammi Prebllich and Jeff Talbott.

All competitors won either a first-, second- or third-place ribbon and everyone got a merit award for participating. Chris Bollerud took six first-place ribbons and volunteered to pull out of some of the races to let the gold spread around, and I think that deserves a first-place ribbon! Thanks kids, you're a pretty terrific group!

SEE YOU ALL next week, and maybe Mike Wesner will do something so we can see his name back in print! Get with it, Mike, we miss you!

The Plymouth Symphony League is accepting applications for its 1983-84 round-robin bridge season. Deadline for applications is July 31. Play begins in September and ends in May. Denski-Porter

Paul and Barbara Dencki of Lotz Road, Canton Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Marie, to Patrick A. Porter, son of Mrs. William E. Porter of Red Clover Court, Farmington. The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. Her fiancé graduated from North Farmington High School in 1979. He is employed by First of America Bank in Plymouth and attends the University of Michigan. They plan an October wedding in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, Plymouth.

Traffie-Anderson

Judith and James Traffic are living in New Ipswich, N.H., following their April 30 wedding in Apostolic Lutheran Church, Southfield. The bride's parents are William and Jean Anderson of Powell Road, Plymouth. Isaac and Jennie Traffic of New Ipswich, N.H., are the bridegroom's parents. The bride's sister, Karen Kangas, was matron of honor. Gary Bertram was best man. The wedding reception was in the church parlors and the couple honeymooned on the West Coast. The bride is a 1983 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. She was employed at Phoenix Lake Professional Clinic. Her husband is in the construction business in New Hampshire.

Youngman-Johnston

Mr. and Mrs. Deen R. Youngman of North Brunswick, N.J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Shari, to Paul D. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Johnston of Burger Street, Plymouth. The bride-elect is a 1979 graduate of North Brunswick Township High School. She is a U.S. Navy Hospital Corpman. Her fiancé is a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. He is a U.S. Navy deep sea diver. Both are stationed aboard the USS Sierra (AD-18), homeport Charleston, S.C. They plan to be married in May 1984.

Meyers-Davies

Robert Meyers of Birmingham and Mary Louise Meyers of Farmington Hills announce the engagement of their daughter Janet Barbara to Dr. Donald Brian Davies, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Davies of Plymouth. The bride-to-be is a graduate of North Farmington High School and Michigan State University. Her fiancé is a graduate of Plymouth High School and University of Michigan Dental School, now in dental practice with his father in Plymouth. An August wedding is planned in Church of Our Saviour Presbyterian Church in West Bloomfield.

MacNiven-Goudeseune

Malcolm and Carlene MacNiven of Canton Center Road, Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Robert Alan Goudeseune, son of Robert and Barbara Goudeseune of Provincial, Canton Township. The bride-elect is a 1980 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. She is a student at Eastern Michigan University where she is majoring in interior design. She is employed at Pizza Hut in Plymouth. Her fiancé, also a 1980 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, attends University of Michigan-Dearborn where he is majoring in accounting. He is employed by Total Petroleum of Plymouth. No wedding date has been set.

McCue-Larson

Mr. and Mrs. Graham McCue of Maple Street, Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Connie, to Arthur Larson Jr. of Greenfield, Wis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Larson of Traverse City, former Plymouth residents. The bride-elect graduated from Plymouth Canton High School in 1978 and from the University of Michigan-Dearborn in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in business administration. She is employed by Alexander Grant & Company in Denver, Colo. on the audit staff. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth Salem High School in 1978 and from the University of Michigan in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in computer science. He is employed as a software engineer by Medical Systems Operations in Milwaukee, Wis. They plan to be married in May 1984 in Trinity Presbyterian Church, Plymouth.

Band concerts in the park have universal appeal band in the area. The Plymouth Community Credit Union became sponsor of the band in 1963 by donating $1,500 to underwrite the cost of presenting the summer series. The credit union also sponsored the band's first banquet in the Mayflower Meeting House in November 1965. The band began its scholarship program in 1965. The last concert of the summer became scholarship night, when contributions were made by the audience using the "pass the hat" method. In 1970, $496 was collected, permitting eight $50 scholarships to be granted. Three more were contributed by the Vivians, the women's auxiliary to the Elks. The scholarship program was phased out in 1973 after awarding 64 scholarships. It has been revived with the band giving two grants and the Weage Family presenting two in memory of Kenneth Weage. James Griffiths conducted the band until 1977, when he was succeeded by Robert Burr. Carl Battishill has been conductor for the past several seasons.

CLAYTON LARQUE is president of the band. He joined the organization in 1962, undecided if he should play drums or trumpet.

LaRoue ranks with originals Keith Burton, Bill Upton and Carolyn Weage as longtime members of the band. Doug McLeod, band librarian, joined the group in 1982. McLeod is a music collector, specializing in old marches, some of which are out of print. He spends his vacations burrowing into the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., searching for old music which he hand copies for the band to use.

The band concerts in the park have moments of nostalgia for both the audience and the musicians. The recent death of Harry James brought back memories of the great trumpet player to Clayton Lalloos. He was 14 when he went to the Walled Lake Casino to hear James. He had $4 in his pocket. He told the ticket-taker that he was not going to dance — he just wanted to listen to the music. He was told to keep his money and just go behind the bandstand and listen. It was a memorable evening. He saw him once more, a few years later in Detroit.

THE CONCERTS are the place to meet old friends and neighbors. It's the place to take visiting friends and relatives.

Among the early arrivals last Thursday were Ethel and Marshall North and two granddaughters, Fred and June Hadley, Gordon and Marion Arthur. Rosemary and Rudy Norquist, Ruth and Ed Judd, Rita and Tom Notebaert, Pam and Pat Touhey with youngest son, Chris, were there.

New addition to the band concerts were the programs provided by Hammill Music.

For 25 bicyclists, the concert was a bonus. The members of a metropolitan area bicycle club attended their first band concert in Kellogg Park, and they loved it.

They were on their weekly Thursday-evening ride, which always begins in Dearborn. They had been through Northville and were on their way back through Plymouth when they stopped to see what was going on. They stayed for the whole concert.

"We start our Thursday trips as soon as the snow is gone," one of the cyclists said. He said the cyclists were from all over — Rochester, Royal Oak, Dearborn, St. Clair Shores.

"This concert is a bonus," he added, as he stretched out on the grass in the park to listen.

America benefits from private schools

The debate about Michigan tax money for higher education has profound implications which ought not to be missed in a flurry of rhetoric or a hope of a quick way to reduce taxes. The proper quest is for high and long-term value from our dollars. We must look at issues concerning the quality of life which are measured in decades or centuries rather than months or years.

American higher education has been shaped by the pioneering work of private colleges and universities. State-financed universities came along later and have been providing education for a somewhat lower cost to the student. There is also the benefit of research which is possible to a greater degree in public schools because of size and budgets. The style and qualitative aspects of campus and classroom continue to be influenced, however, by the private schools.

The major value of private higher education is an ability there to foster a personal quality in both campus and classroom. The creation of a better society rests on institutions which foster improved human relationships. Private colleges exist as a mission to America.

THESE SCHOOLS carry an important thread of respect for tradition and heritage which is all too easy to forget. Our society fosters a throw-away mentality which can easily destroy vital aspects of education if we only have schools dominated by public funding. Source of money does influence policy.

In a similar vein, private schools have freedom to experiment with new efforts in education. Academic freedom is real in both types of school but freedom to control the entire atmosphere and change the feeling and tone of campus life is limited in large state schools. The point is that a state monopoly in higher education is not desirable. The continuing influence of private schools is essential for the very meaning of higher education. State aid to students in these schools carries no power to diminish or alter the educational aims and practices of private schools.

We are a pluralistic society and public money must be spent in ways which preserve diversity rather than create monopoly. National mood and policy is that we must see that students from minority groups are educated. This is reflected in admission offices in both types of schools. But the startling result is that private schools graduate most of the minority students they admit and the drop-out rate in public higher education is high.

IN 1980 WITH only 23 percent of the students, private schools awarded 33 percent of all bachelor's degrees, 37 percent of all master's and doctoral degrees, and 60 percent of all professional degrees. These schools awarded 52 percent of undergraduate and 74 percent of graduate degrees of the 53,834 corporate executives in a Standard and Poor's listing. Tuition aid to private college students has been a successful national venture.

Michigan ranked 17th in 1966 in appropriation to higher education per $1,000 of personal income. By 1982 we had fallen to 39th. The drop means change in both public and private colleges. Because private schools operate too near the merely surviving level, the reductions cannot continue. We will create a state monopoly if we stop providing tuition aid to students who choose the values of private higher education.

Things turn out just ducky for Newburg flock

By Maria McGee
staff writer

THINGS ARE just ducky between Newburg United Methodist Church pastor Jack Giguere and the newest members of his flock — six baby mallards.

Giguere became "godfather" to the downy darlings after the mother duck was killed while nesting in the church's rose garden.

Long on spiritual expertise, but short on what to do with 16 mallard eggs that were getting colder by the minute, Giguere quickly called on parishioners Ed and Katie Summers. The Summerses have long been known to be nature lovers.

"Bring 'em over," said Ed Summers. Ironically, the Summerses had an incubator stashed away in the attic.

"IT'S BEEN there for 30 years," said Katie Summers. "And it still worked. It even had a thermostat. It was too good to be true."

Giguere gave a progress report last week of the multiple births to his people flock in his weekly column in the church bulletin, The Newburg Scroll.

"Of the 11 eggs, 10 hatched out, but one was deformed and immediately died," he wrote. "The remaining are doing very well. They think Mrs. Summers is their mother, for when she leaves the room, they peep very loudly."

And Mrs. Summers is the first to agree. "I talk to them. We're getting very attached to them. It's going to be hard to let them go," she said.

BUT THAT won't happen until they are in full feather and ready to cope with the beasts of prey who inhabit the Hines Park area adjacent to the Summers' home on Stark Road.

One of them is probably responsible for Mother Duck's demise.

But meanwhile, the baby mallards frolic by day in a pen in the Summers' backyard under the couple's watchful eye. Each day the pen is moved to another spot in the yard so the babies will have fresh grassy munchies.

At night, they are moved inside the house, just in case.

The Memorial Church of Christ annual summer picnic will be Saturday at Camp Dearborn in Milford. Picnickers will meet at the camp pavilion at 11 a.m. and convene for lunch at 12:30 p.m. People are asked to bring a meat dish, a passing dish, a salad or dessert and their own table service. Pop and ice cream will be provided. Following lunch, the Seekers Class will sponsor games and award prizes. Other activities available at the camp include swimming, miniature golfing, baseball, tennis, paddleboating, kayaking, sailboating and rowboating. Admission to the camp is $2 per car for Dearborn residents and $5 per car for non-Dearborn residents. Reservations are not required. Maps to the camp are available at the rack in front of the church, 35475 Five Mile, Livonia.

● WARD PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. William Scott, a missionary to India for 32 years, will speak at the 8:30 a.m., 10 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. services Sunday at Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington, Livonia. Scott, who represents Bibles for India, a Grand Rapids organization, began his work in India three years after the nation achieved independence and two years after Gandhi's assassination. He has been able to observe Indian politics, socio-economics and religion.

● UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Jeff and Jewel Brawner will be preaching and singing at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at United Assembly of God, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. Everyone is invited to attend and nursery facilities will be provided.

● SACRED HEART BYZANTINE CATHOLIC

Sacred Heart Byzantine Catholic Church, 29125 W. Six Mile, Livonia, has invited divorced and separated Christians to attend this Friday's meeting of Bethany. The meeting, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Kenneth's Church, 14951 Haggerty, Plymouth, will feature a guest speaker discussing "You and Your New Role:

Resigned." Further information may be obtained by calling Bill Stefani at 478-2620.

● WARRENWOODS WESLEYAN

Members of the Warrenwoods Wesleyan Church, 6105 Venoy, Westland, are invited to attend an old-fashioned camp meeting through Sunday at the district campgrounds in Vassar. Daily activities include puppets and children's programs, speakers and singing and music. People may spend a day or camp on the grounds for an extended stay. Further information may be obtained by calling 281-5030 or 584-4665.

● FAIRLANE ASSEMBLY

A free summer musical and music concert are scheduled over the next several days at Fairlane Assembly, 22575 Ann Arbor Trail, Dearborn Heights. "Home Again - Portrait of a Family" will be performed Friday, Saturday and Sunday by the church's Rhema-Drama troupe and Sanctuary Singers. "Home Again" is a drama that combines humor and music in stressing the importance of family togetherness. Performances are scheduled for 7 p.m. all three days with an additional 10:30 a.m. performance Sunday. Admission is free, but tickets are required. They may be obtained by calling 561-3300. At 7 p.m. Tuesday, the recording artists Festival of Praise and the Spurrilows will perform in a free concert at the church. The concert is described as "an experience in music, worship and praise."

Rev. William Scott

● NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST

Upcoming activities at Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, include a singles meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday featuring a speaker discussing "Fitness year 'round for singles," an administrative board meeting open to the public at 7:30 p.m. Monday and a youth outing to Cedar Point Tuesday.

● FAITH LUTHERAN

"Already . . . Not Yet" is the topic of the sermon to be delivered Sunday at the 8:15 and 10 a.m. worship services at Faith Lutheran Church, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia. The sermon is part of the "back to basics" series that is being presented during the church's season of Pentecost.

● ST. JOHN NEUMANN CATHOLIC

The Rev. Alex Steinmiller, a youth minister for 13 years, will speak on youth ministry at all the July 16 and 17 masses at St. John Neumann Catholic Church, 44800 Warren, Canton. In addition, Steinmiller will celebrate a special mass for young adults at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

● UNITY CHURCH OF LIVONIA

The Ambassadors of Love Choir, under the direction of Rev. Charles King, will perform at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Unity Church of Livonia, at 2666 Five Mile Road. The concert will feature contemporary songs, Broadway melodies and traditional hymns. No admission will be charged, although an offering will be taken.

In concert

The John Mathews Family, a Christian music group from Nashville, will be performing at two local churches this weekend. The family will present its musical celebration of praise at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Canton Calvary Assembly of God, at 7266 Madison in Canton Township, and at 7 p.m. Saturday at Livonia Assembly of God, at 33015 W. Seven Mile Road in Livonia. Both churches have invited the public to attend the performances. There will be no charge for admission at either performance, although offerings will be taken. The John Mathews Family has performed on radio on television and at some 3,000 concerts over the past 10 years.

Commuter airlines fill gaps left by major carriers

THIS IS an aspect of air travel that I have not explored before: the small commuter plane. Many of them fly out of this terminal, the Marine Air Terminal, at La Guardia Airport in New York City. Other fly out of the shuttle terminal on the eastern side of La Guardia.

Between them, these small commuter airlines fly a significant number of passengers to places not otherwise served by the airline business. The number of commuter services has increased dramatically since the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) deregulated air travel. Large carriers dropped many short flights from their schedules, and commuters moved in to fill the gap.

I am aboard East Hampton Air, on a 15-passenger plane bound for East Hampton, Long Island. As we taxi out and do a quick climb over the water, we see motorboats making long, white wakes under the Throg's Neck Bridge and tiny sailboats stitched to the mainland shore.

Flying a small plane is of course a different experience from flying in a big carrier, but I feel safe and comfortable up here. The hardest part of flying the commuter route so far was finding the airline desk in the first place.

MY TRAVEL AGENT was told to give me time between planes to get to the Marine Air Terminal, and I had an hour and a half to spare. It is easy enough to find signs, and regular shuttle buses run from the various La Guardia terminals on weekdays. On weekends, few of the regular between-terminal shuttle buses work, so you must be more alert.

I was instructed to find the sign for Butler Aviation, and I found it easily enough, including a phone number to call for pickup on weekends. I waited 20 minutes before a man in a Butler Aviation shirt came out of the terminal; he had been looking inside while I waited outside.

The moral is: Leave enough time, and get specific pickup instructions when you make your reservation.

East Hampton Air, like many of these small commuters, does not ticket through the computer, so your travel agent must call them directly for reservations. At that time, the agent will be told one of the hard truths of the business. The East Hampton Air agent will take your credit card number, and if you don't cancel 24 hours ahead of flight time you'll be charged for the flight whether you take it or not.

There are only a few small commuters that follow this policy, but if you listen to Frank Lavigna, president of East Hampton Air, you will understand why. It costs every airline a lot of money for no-shows, but small airlines can least afford it.

"TODAY IS a good example," Lavigna said. "Twelve people booked on this flight, but only eight showed up. I could have brought a nine-passenger plane over from Long Island but I made an equipment change because of those 12 reservations and brought over a 15-passenger plane."

"It costs me 60 percent more to fly that larger plane. I lose money flying empty seats after passengers have asked me to promise them those seats."

People object to paying for flights they don't take, of course, but Lavigna maintains that the courts have upheld his policy. He said that many of the no-shows are people who may or may not want to go to Long Island for a meeting or a day at the beach. "Sometimes they make four bookings on four different flights, all in different names, but we catch them because they leave the same phone number and the same credit card number."

There are 'insider's tips' about commuter service. You can fly at a discount if you fly against the flow of traffic. For example, I am on the 11 a.m. Sunday flight from New York City to East Hampton, at a cost of $60 one-way. Most of the late Sunday flights New York-East Hampton are $30.

The number of commuter air services has increased dramatically since the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) deregulated air travel.

People like to take day trips to Long Island on Sunday morning and come back late in the day, so a plane may be full of paying passengers going one way and empty coming back.

TO GIVE YOU an idea of the commuter services available, the following small airlines fly out of this one terminal: East Hampton Air flies year-round between New York and East Hampton, Montank Caribbean Airways flies the same route in summer. Trans East International Airlines flies between New York City, Newark, Boston, Providence, Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard, Hyannis, Hartford, White Plains, Atlantic City and Long Island.

Catskill Airways flies from La Guardia to Oneonta, N.Y. Susquehanna Airlines schedules from Binghamton, N.Y., to White Plains, Newark, Sidney, Boston and La Guardia and from Sidney, N.Y., to La Guardia, Newark and Boston.

A dozen others leave from the eastern terminal at La Guardia, and hundreds more fly out of airports around the country, usually on relatively short runs to places not served by the bigger airlines. Some of the commuters actually are run by the large airlines. American operates Pilgrim, and United Airlines operates Empire and Air North.

For more information on commuter airlines that might fly to a destination that interests you, check with your travel agent.

Burley gives a new look to Schoolcraft chair

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The Paul and Harry show has come to an abrupt end at Schoolcraft College.

Three women trustees Monday lined up behind Michael Burley to elect him chairman of the college board, giving him a 4-3 victory over former chairman Paul Y. Kadish.

"Paul took us for granted," said trustee Rosina Raymond, who did most of the talking for the new majority in an interview following the meeting.

THE UNDERLYING issue, as Raymond explained it, was the dominance over the board by "these two big businessmen," Harry G. Greenleaf (chairman from 1979 to mid-83) and Kadish (chairman from 1973-79). Greenleaf is a manager at Ford Motor Co.; Kadish is president of his own insurance agency.

"Look at our bylaws. The chair has limited powers — only what we trustees give him," Raymond said. The third-term trustee saw Kadish and Greenleaf assuming more and more authority and called for a return to "a sense of equality between us . . . a sense of collegiality."

Agreeing with her were trustees Laura Toy and Sharon Sarris.

Significantly, the old patterns of Democrat vs. Republican that had been in evidence in past years broke apart entirely Monday night. Burley, a Republican in his private politics, was supported by the three Democratic women. Kadish, a veteran of Democratic politics, was supported by Republicans Greenleaf of Livonia and Mary Breen of Plymouth.

BURLEY, a Canton resident, administrator in the Northville school district and trustee for four years, shared the women's feelings.

"We want some things to happen that are innovative," he said.

There was a geopolitical issue, too — the fact that four successive chairmen since 1973 had been Livonia residents.

"Some folk feel Livonia is dominant," said Raymond. "It is timely and proper that we elect Mike Burley from Plymouth-Canton as our chairperson."

The board elected Raymond vice chairwoman, Sarris secretary and Toy treasurer.

Sarris won a 4-3 victory over Kadish for delegate to the Michigan Community Colleges Association.

Burley's political planning began as soon as Greenleaf revealed he would not seek a fifth year in the chair. By the time Kadish decided to seek his old leadership role, Burley had lined up Kadish's most likely supporters. Burley's four votes were in place several days prior to the meeting.

ONLY ONE new face is on the Schoolcraft board this fiscal year. Breen, a Plymouth resident and assistant principal at Livonia's Stevenson High, was elected June 14 to replace retiring Len Wronski of Livonia.

The current board includes two Plymouth-Canton residents — Burley and Breen — and five from the Livonia district — Raymond, Sarris, Toy, Greenleaf and Kadish.

Other board members through 12th grade districts in the college district are Clarendonville, Garden City and Northville.

The board continued its policy of holding regular meetings at 8 p.m. the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Hoben elected to the MASA

Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, recently was elected to the executive board of the Michigan Association of School Administrators (MASA).

Hoben, whose term will run from 1983-86, is one of four elected directors to the seven-member board which represents more than 800 administrators throughout the state. The association promotes the improvement of public education and advances the professional spirit and growth of its members.

Hoben has served as superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for the past 13 years and has served in various capacities within the district since 1965.

Lucas orders 4-day work week

A temporary four-day work week for Wayne County employees will begin later this month, County Executive William Lucas has announced.

"The alternatives to the temporary four-day work week are a severe curtailment or cessation of many county functions affecting the public health or safety, indefinite layoffs, payless paydays and an increasingly self-destructive deficit," Lucas said Tuesday at a news conference.

"Those alternatives are neither prudent nor in the best interests of our county residents."

THE SHORTENED work week, affecting some 3,000 workers, will begin July 29. All non-essential county employees will be laid off for the entire day, Lucas said.

He said the layoffs will continue every Friday after that until the county deficit is "reduced to manageable proportions" and the county has "improved its ability to operate within a reasonable yearly budget appropriation."

Also, Lucas and an estimated 40 appointees and members of the executive staff will take a one-day pay cut while working a full five-day week. The shortened work week is expected to save the county more than $2 million a month.

A tax increase or long-term borrowing wouldn't solve the county's basic problems, while expenditures must be reduced, Lucas said.

"If no action is taken now to reduce expenditures this year, the county faces payless paydays by Sept. 19," he said. "Were it not for a county policy of routinely delaying payment to creditors, we would have difficulty meeting the payroll next Friday."

IN ADDITION, the county will "totally re-vamp" its medical care system, Lucas said. He said the move will save almost $22 million in the next fiscal year, near Wayne County's projected deficit for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30. The county's total accumulated deficit is estimated at more than $130 million.

"The deficit severely hampers our ability to bargain collectively with county employees," Lucas said. "There is no money to put on the table. What we are really negotiating is how much larger a deficit county government can tolerate next year."

As part of his executive order cutting the work week, Lucas said county funds wouldn't be spent for facilities, equipment or materials "unless absolutely essential."

Kruszewski's return delights OU followers

Sue is back. That's what the summer basketball camp brochures at Oakland University are advertising. In attractive gold letters on the leaflet's back page, it reads that camp director Sue Kruszewski is back in town. And Sue's glad to be back. Just where was Sue? Well, Oakland University's new head women's basketball coach, who transformed the University of Detroit Lady Titans into a nationally ranked team during the late '70s, spent the last three years learning about the northern part of the Pacific coast.

A NATIVE DETROITER, Kruszewski went west to coach the University of Washington Huskies. And nothing against the state best known around here for its temperamental volcano — Mt. St. Helens — but Sue would rather be setting strategy and creating lineups in the Motor City.

A silver-haired, lean-faced 40-year-old, Kruszewski compiled a respectable 50-32 overall record at Washington. But it was nothing compared to her 69-15 three-year stint at U-D. Kruszewski believes women's basketball in the Midwest is a shade more mature than anything the Northwest has to offer. She talked about the differences earlier this week at the OU gym while a number of her camp assistants drilled the 50-odd students in basketball fundamentals.

"Looking at basketball in the Northwest, I think the basketball in the Midwest has a lot more to offer," she said. "I had to go away to see that."

BASEBALL IN WASHINGTON is not as advertised for women (as it is here). In fact, I recruited a lot from this area, and a lot of my players came from southern California.

"I think I missed the aggressiveness of the people. The Northwest is very outdoorsy, and most of the people are really laid back. I just like the more aggressive type of basketball that is played here a little better."

"I don't regret that I went out there at all. Some people never get the chance to do something like that. I decided that no position is so important that you can't live where you want to. I made the decision to move here, and that's why I'm back."

And the move suited Oakland University's athletic officials just fine.

IRONICALLY, THE OU job opened when Pioneer coach Dewayne Jones took the women's varsity position at the University of Detroit. But Jones didn't depart the Rochester-based campus without leaving his mark. Kruszewski will be taking over a team that compiled a 70-18 record during Jones' three-year tenure.

During that span, the Pioneers won two Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Association championships and qualified for the Division II playoffs the past two years. The Pioneers were fourth in the nation in the 1981-82 school year.

KRUSZEWSKI'S HIRING WAS important to OU for two reasons:

• Kruszewski is well known around Detroit, and she will give the Pioneers some much-needed exposure. Despite the unqualified success during Jones' years, attendance and publicity were sparse.

• Kruszewski is a proven coach and should continue to direct Oakland's successful women's basketball tradition, which started with the school's original head coach, Rose Swidzinski.

Kruszewski, who graduated from the University of Detroit in 1964, is looking forward to the new season despite the loss of All-American Linda Krawford.

"When I was at U-D, OU was one of the top teams in the state. They are in different divisions (U-D is Division I and OU Division II), but I don't see too much of a discernible difference between the two schools."

"WE STILL TRAVEL, but maybe not as far. At U-D we had 12 scholarships, and here we only have seven, although the maximum we can have is 12. I feel there is not much difference between a Division I and II school, but there is a major difference between them and a Division III school."

"A quality Division II school can compete with a Division I school. But, we (Oakland) lost four athletes this year — Linda Krawford, Kelly Kenny, Anne Kish and Teresa Vondrasek. This will be very much of a transition year for us."

"I believe in fast break and aggressive-type basketball. I like very physical and very intense type basketball, which has been here for a while already. I just want to maintain the respect that Oakland has had here in the state and the Midwest."

U-D leads the career series against Oakland 5 games to 2, although the Pioneers have won the last two meetings against the Lady Titans.

And here's a date to remember: On Feb. 1, Oakland University will play the University of Detroit at Calihan Hall in Detroit.

That's when they'll surely say: Sue is back.

Stars show they have 'super' stuff

Canton's youth is what the Superstars competition is all about. So judging from this year's results, the Parks and Recreation Department has to be proud.

After all, it was the youngest of the young who stood apart in this year's fourth annual event, sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department last Saturday at Griffin Park.

More than 150 participants turned out to test their skills in a variety of events, such as basketball shooting and dribbling, golf, running, baseball, Frisbee (tee and soccer). Competition for both boys and girls was divided into three age groups: under 9, 10-12 and 13-15.

AND IT WAS YOUTH that reigned, as not one but two 9-and-under boys broke the previous total-point record of 38 set in 1979 by Joe Murray.

Mike Ross finished on top with 46 points, reaching that total with firsts in basketball shooting and golf and seconds in Frisbee, soccer, running and basketball dribbling. Jason Lipke was second in total points with 43, which also beat the former record. Chris Bray was third with 31.

In the 9-and-under girls, Tamara Rogers grabbed four firsts to pile up a near-record 50 points and win handily. Rogers' wins came in basketball shooting, golf, running and baseball. Amy O'Connor was second with 40 points, and Cheryl Hume was third with 33.

Jeff Elliott fell 3½ points shy of the record but was still a big winner in the 10-12 boys' group. Elliott scored 45 points with wins in the basketball dribbling, Frisbee and baseball and was second in the basketball shooting. Andy Shiner was second (38 points), and Mike Steimázek placed third (19).

FOR THE 10-12 GIRLS, Susan Ferko, a former 9-and-under champion, moved up to claim another title by notching 36 points. Her total edged runner-up Jenny Smith by four. Ferko scored in six events, including wins in basketball dribbling and baseball. Jeanine Lenaghan was third with 26.

Competition among 13-15 boys was stiff, with Steve Nickerson nipping Tony Shiner by a single mark, 41-40. Nickerson won the golf, running and baseball, while Shiner was first in basketball dribbling, Frisbee and soccer. Third-place went to two-time past champion Joe Murray (30).

Dena Had easily outdistanced Jenny Kincer and the other 13-15 girls with a total of 55 points, 3½ short of the record. She won five times and placed in six events. Kincer's second-place total was 40, with Anne Marie Zimmerman netting 23.

Mr. Versatile: Salem grad proves value

By Brad Emons
staff writer

"How well we do depends on how he does offensively," said Adray Appliance manager Bob Atkins, sizing up his third baseman Joe Humphries.

Appliance, which includes Plymouth Salem graduates Dave Slavin and Humphries, is trailing in the Detroit Adray Baseball League (19 years and under) race, but is still in the hunt.

Humphries has a tall order to fill, but so far he is batting in the No. 3 slot and sports a .340 average.

"He's a good, aggressive hitter," said Atkins. "Playing without him would be difficult."

On Tuesday, Humphries was in the starting lineup as a designated hitter for the Detroit Adray All-Stars, which lost 4-1 to Team Canada.

While Humphries proves to be a valuable commodity in the summer, he was just as valuable this spring as a freshman for Western Michigan University.

His career blossomed relatively late. As a high school junior he was named an All-Observer on several occasions and finished with his bat and arm, en route to second-team All-Observer honors.

Please turn to Page 3

Joe Humphries was the only freshman starter for WMU this season and has enjoyed an outstanding summer for Adray Appliance.

A golfer's chance to boast: It's O&E tournament time

Can it be true? Is it time once again to risk both club and reputation on the golf course?

Not quite yet. But the future all too quickly becomes the present, so if your ambition is to play in the 1983 Observer & Eccentric/Whispering Willows Golf Tournaments, now is the time to start preparing.

Get out to the driving range and put in a few practice rounds, 'cause this tournament promises to be as competitive as those in the past.

As in the past, there will be an 18-hole women's tournament and a 36-hole, two-day men's championship. The women will play Wednesday, Aug. 24. The men's tournament is set for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1-2.

LAST YEAR, 48 women and 194 men competed in four different flights: championship, first, second and third. Carol Trombly shot an 81 on the par-71, 5,772-yard course to win the women's title.

And Matt Wiley of Canton had a 60-foot putt snake its way into the cup for a birdie on the last of 36 holes to finish with a 75-73, 148, good for a one-stroke victory in the men's championship flight.

Getting into the swing of tournament golf is simple: Just fill out the accompanying coupon and send it, together with a check for the appropriate amount, to Gary Whitener, tournament director, at Whispering Willows.

The tournament is open to all residents living within the Observer & Eccentric's coverage area (those included are listed on coupon).

Entry fee is $15 for the women's tourney and $30 for the men's. Whispering Willows is located at 20500 Newburgh, just south of Eight Mile, in Livonia.

The number of entries is limited, so get yours in now and start practicing — before the future becomes the present and then turns quickly into the past.

Men's, Women's golf tournament sponsored by O & E/Whispering Willows

Women's: 18-hole medal play; Wednesday, Aug. 24. Entry fee is $15. Handicap maximum is 40.

Men's: 36-hole medal play; Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1-2. Entry fee is $30. Handicap maximum is 38.

Women's entries close at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17. For starting times, call 476-4493 after 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 22.

Men's entries close at 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 24. For starting times, call 476-4493 after noon Thursday, Sept. 29.

Open to all residents of Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, Garden City, Westland, Redford Township, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Southfield, Lathrup Village, Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Bingham Farms, Franklin, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Hills, Troy, Rochester and Avon Townships.

Canton pitchers subdue rival

Bucky Blake and Mark Bennett combined on the mound to outduel Redford Township Junior Athletic Association (RTJAA) pitcher John Nissen in leading Plymouth Canton to a 4-1 Connie Mack League baseball victory Tuesday at Canton.

There were only seven hits in the contest — four by RTJAA and three by Canton. But errors and some daring base running helped Canton put the winning runs on the board.

In the second inning, Steve Johnson doubled and went to third on an error, coming home on Jim Dillon's sacrifice fly.

BOTH TEAMS scored a run in the third, and Canton added two in the sixth. The first three batters reached base on an error and two walks. After a suicide squeeze bunt failed, Dillon singled in a run and Johnson scored on a double steal.

Blake went the first five innings, striking out six in earning the victory. Bennett got the save with two innings of work, striking out four, including all three batters in the seventh. Nissen went the distance for RTJAA and absorbed the defeat.

Canton was aided by some great defensive plays by outfielders Bryan Capnerhurst and Danny Martin. Capnerhurst snared a pair of fly balls to rob RTJAA batters of potential hits and Martin made a diving catch in the third to end a possible rally.

Like a sweet, savory dish with a slightly sour aftertaste — that's what the week was like for the Plymouth Salem DiPonio Mantle Division baseball team.

Certainly the sweetness of winning three straight games, two in come-from-behind fashion, outweighed the sour finish of a 14-5 rout at the hands of Redford at home Sunday.

The win streak started with an 11-7 victory at Taylor Tuesday, July 5. A four-run rally in the fifth sparked the triumph, with Brian Tiller collecting three hits in four trips, and Tim Robinson collecting two hits, scoring three runs and driving in three others. Tim Halmekangus was the winner in relief.

LAST THURSDAY, Salem visited Southgate and came home with a 6-4 win. Chris Belhart earned the victory, with Halmekangus getting the save.

Again, Robinson's bat proved instrumental as he went 3-for-4 with two RBIs.

Robinson kept up his torrid hitting pace Saturday to lead Salem to an 8-7 home victory over North Farmington II. Robinson slammed a three-run homer to insure the win in the fifth inning. Jim Lynch added three hits in three trips, scoring twice and knocking in two runs. Tiller went all the way to pick up the win.

Which led the busy DiPonio squad into Sunday's debacle against Redford. A three-run homer by Doug Nester and two hits by Curt White went for naught in the loss.

QUALITY CONSTRUCTION BUILDS STREAK

Quality Construction continued to tear apart its Pee Wee Reese League foes as it ran its conference record to 14-1 and its overall mark to 18-1.

On Sunday, Quality romped over the Northville Gold, 30-3, behind the hitting of Peter Bidolli, Dan Boyle, Mike Culver, Tracey Ewald, Andy Gee, Tom Hill, Chris Johnston and Tim Pilot. Marc Martinkowski and Boyle combined on the mound for the victory.

Last Saturday, Quality defeated Plymouth-Canton Little Caesar's, 9-2, sparked by the mound performances of Johnston and Bob Files. Culver, Gee and Johnston topped the hitters.

England is next stop for Villa

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Travel is nothing new to the Villa Soccer Club.

The 15-and-under soccer team, comprised of some of the top soccer talent in both Wayne and Oakland counties, is quite accustomed to traveling around the Midwest to play a little kick ball.

But, the trip the team will embark upon July 29 is a bit different, a bit more exciting.

The team will be flying across the Atlantic to historic, culturally enriched England. A total entourage of 40, including 13 players, the coach, parents and friends, will spend two full weeks seeing sights, learning a new culture and playing a good amount of soccer.

WHILE THE TRIP will be a first for the parents and players, for head coach Clive Armitage, the trip will be a homecoming. Armitage was born and raised in England, near Birmingham. He played soccer and rugby throughout his youth. He came to the United States five years ago.

people in sports

"Some of the parents suggested the idea of taking a trip to England at the beginning of last year," Armitage said. "I said let's wait and see how we make out in our own leagues and we'll go from there."

His Villa team did very well. Last year they were 15-0-3 and won the Western Suburban Soccer League. This season the team finished in a tie for first but lost the playoff game 2-1.

For further proof that his team could handle tough competition, Villa finished runner-up out of 42 teams in the Wolverine under-16 tournament at Schoolcraft College, and placed high in tournaments in Toronto, Virginia, Cincinnati, and Dayton.

ARMITAGE WAS ASSURED his boys could play with the English teams. The team will play 10 games in 10 days in England against local teams from Bristol, Birmingham and London. "The boys will get the call of the morning right off the bat," Armitage said.

Armitage also hopes to take his team to a professional soccer match in England, and even set up a practice session with one of the local pro teams.

"The trip will be beneficial to the boys in two ways. First, it will enhance their soccer experience. They will be playing against teams that range from mediocre to extremely good. They are going to play the best under-15 team in the whole Bristol area," Armitage said.

"And it will also be a cultural experience for them. We will be housed with a set of English families for four days. They will be able to learn English customs, and toward the end of the trip we will have about four days to travel about and sight-see," he added.

To finance the trip, the team held a series of garage and candy sales throughout the area. In the end, their efforts raised some $6,000. They also received sponsorships from area businesses that totaled another $1,000.

"It was an awful lot of hard work, but it paid off for us," Armitage said.

THE VILLA TEAM competes in the Bonanza Soccer League, known as the major leagues of youth soccer, in addition to the WSSL. The team is selected each year from the top players in Wayne and Oakland counties.

Players on Villa are from Farmington, Northville, Plymouth, Brighton, Birmingham, West Bloomfield, and Troy.

They are: Chris Hackman, Jerry Potter, David Niebrzydowski, and Jim Misares from Farmington; Bruce Wasik, Dan Magdick, and David Raduzni from Northville; John Kold and assistant coach Doug Kold from Plymouth; Roger Jacks from Brighton; Todd Winters and Alex O'Kulich from Birmingham; Tommy Fisher from West Bloomfield; and captain Chris Bologna from Troy. Armitage is from Northville.

The team thrives on challenges. Playing soccer against some of the finest youth teams in England, for a group of 15-year-olds, might be the supreme challenge.

Expos surge to top with victory spree

The Expos increased their Garden City Class A Invitational baseball lead to two games with a pair of victories last weekend.

On Saturday, the Expos trimmed Erhard Motors, 6-4, at Garden City Junior High. They also beat A&K Electric, 10-3, Sunday at Garden City High School.

The wins give the Expos an 11-3 league mark. Trailing in the standings are: Beech Daly Clinic, 7-3; Three Kegs Round and A&K, 8-4; Warrick Clutch, 7-5; Erhard, 7-6; Gangsters, 2-11; Runners, 0-14.

Herb McManaway went 3-for-4, including two triples, while Bob Fenech chipped in with two hits and an RBI in the win over Erhard.

Todd Curvin led Erhard by going 2-for-3 and Rob Bennett added a two-run single.

Keith Howe, the winning pitcher, worked all seven innings. He scattered eight hits, walked two and struck out six. Bennett, meanwhile, took the loss.

Howe was the hitting hero in the win over A&K. He went 3-for-4, including four RBIs. Craig Money and Dennis Meixner contributed two hits each.

Dan Osowski and Joe Ebbitt each collected two hits for A&K. One of Osowski's hits was a solo homer.

Paul McKolay, the Expo starter, went all the way. He scattered six hits, walked two and struck out three. Marty DeMorais took the loss.

BEECH DALY CLINIC kept pace with a 6-5 win Friday over Warrick followed by a 6-2 triumph over the Gangsters.

In the victory over Warrick, BDC's Greg Alcala drove in the game-winner with a single in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Gary Mancini, the winning pitcher in relief, belted a two-run homer in the fourth inning. Teammates Joe Saunders and Gary Battle combined for five other hits.

baseball

Matt Creutz led Warrick with two hits and four RBI. Mark Bak also had two as Warrick was out-hit, 11-9.

Scott Hill, who pitched 4 1/2 innings, suffered the loss.

Hill was also the losing pitcher in a 4-3 defeat to A&K, Sunday at Garden City Junior High.

A&K scored four times in the seventh capped by Rick Hall's game-winning double, scoring Jack Higgins. That enabled Bob Thomas, who scattered nine hits, to gain the pitching win.

Higgins led the way by going 3-for-4. Teammates John Sabourin and Dennis Munding added two hits each.

Bak and Al Lord collected two hits each for Warrick.

WARRICK, however, rebounded to beat the Runners, 15-8, behind Ed Kasprzynski's two-run homer (his second hit of the game) in the third inning. The lead gave his team a commanding 12-4 lead.

Creutz was the only other Warrick player with two hits.

The Runners, meanwhile, received two hits each and one RBI apiece from John Smelik, Mike Thomas, Amin Abed and Frank Farkas.

But despite out-hitting Warrick 10-7, the last-place Runners suffered a disaster on the field, committing 11 errors.

That was enough for starter Jack Robertson, who lasted 1 1/2 innings.

His counterpart, John Martindale, had much better support during his five innings of work. He picked up the pitching win.

Three Kegs also won twice last week, defeating the Gangsters, 5-0, and Erhard, 10-6.

Playoff opens on new field

The North Redford Little League will dedicate a new baseball field in the name of past president Chuck Lawson, who died last month at the age of 60.

The dedication will take place at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at 19250 Lexington, located just north of Seven Mile between Beech Daly and Inkster roads.

"Chuck was a very dedicated man who spent all of his time with little league," said interim president Dan Reinbold.

Lawson began work with the North Redford Little League in 1961 and became president in 1971 when he expanded the league into three divisions and almost 40 teams.

The dedication will be part of the first leg of the Little Baseball Inc. national tournament for 11-12 year-olds, which concludes next month in Williamsport, Pa.

FIRST-ROUND action in the double-elimination event begins at 1 p.m. with Grossie De facing Lincoln Park. At 5 p.m., Southeast Detroit tangles with Romulus.

North Redford versus defending champ Taylor at 5 p.m. Second round action continues next week with Westland, which drew a first-round bye, playing at 4 p.m. Monday.

The championship game is slated for 3 p.m. Saturday, July 23.

DESPITE THE LATE surge, colleges stayed away. But early last August, only weeks before the start of classes, Humphries got a call from WMU coach Fred Decker, who signed the left-hand-hitter, right-hand thrower to a partial baseball grant.

"I had a chance to go to Crowder (Mo.) Junior College or walk on at Arizona State or Miami (Fla.)," Humphries said, "but Joe Carbo (a scout of the Cincinnati Reds) suggested Western Michigan."

Humphries was one of four WMU freshmen to letter.

He played in 41 of the team's 47 games, sporting a .237 batting average with 22 hits and 33 total bases, helping the Broncos capture the West Division of the Mid-American Conference. (WMU was 26-21 overall.) His best game this spring came against Central Michigan where he belted two home runs.

As a left fielder, Humphries did not commit an error, boasting a .1000 fielding average.

AS THE TEAM'S only starting freshman, Humphries was forced to make a few adjustments to the college game.

"The pitching was tough to get used to," he said. "Especially the sliders from the left-hand pitchers. They're all throwing 84 to 85 mph and it's tough to see the break."

"I hit the ball well. I moved around in the order. Mr. Decker wants me to hit the ball more to the opposite field. I sometimes pull the ball too much."

Humphries handled his schooling as well as baseball. He completed 27 credit hours in liberal arts with a 2.9 GPA.

"It's a nice school," he said. "I really enjoy Kalamazoo."

As a sophomore, Humphries could prove to be a valuable asset for the Broncos. He can play left field, third, first and may even get a shot at pitching.

"I threw in the scrimmages, but they didn't let me pitch the first year," he said. "I guess they wanted to save my arm."

Rookie jolts tourney foes

The biggest surprise of the bowling season came last week in the finals of the Michigan Bowling Proprietors Charity Tournament when Shirley Collins of Fenville, a first-year bowler with a 107 average, won the top prize with a count of 693.

Competing on the lanes at Mason, Mich., she had games of 157, 169 and 118, plus a "spot" of 249 pins.

When she was handed the winners check of $1,500, she said it was the finest thing that could have happened as both she and her husband are unemployed.

She paced the field that included 105, 606 entries with 51,225 entrants coming from the Detroit area. Of this number, 4,016 came from the West Bloomfield Lanes.

The highest finisher among the Detroit-area group was Ted Saluadre of Westland, who finished fourth.

With the huge field this year the tournament has raised more than $1 million for charity since it started 17 years ago.

THE FINAL figures have been released by the Women's International

In the pocket

by W.W. Edgar

Bowling Congress and show that the former Detroit Aleta Rsepecki, who now lives in Florida, topped the prize winners with $34,304, that included the $26,000 she won by capturing the Queens tournament title.

Her big winnings make her the leading candidate for the Women Bowler of the Year Award and top ranking on the ladies' national all-star team.

THE TWO veteran rival were at it again last week at Bel-Aire Lanes, and this time Ed Lubanski with a four-game count of 929 bested Billy Golembiewski by 79 pins in the four-game trio classic. Lubanski had a 258 for high game and Golembiewski a 244 in an 860 series. They both had to give way to Tim Smith, who paced the field with a 278.

THERE WAS been battling in the mixed doubles at Garden Lanes. Bowling for the first time on the newly resurfaced lanes John Martel showed the way with a 646, with Andy Stan taing the runner-up role with 618. On the ladies' side Judy Mazur was high with 613, eight pins more than Gene Shienke.

Here's a handy list of area golf courses

GOLF — MANKIND'S greatest sporting dilemma. Played for enjoyment, it often becomes more frustrating than fun. Most of the game's exercise comes from searching for lost balls in forests, fields or uncharted waters.

Yet each year, people crowd courses throughout the area to challenge both the little white ball and their own patience.

The following is an alphabetical list of the public courses within the Observer's circulation area. Included are the various courses' names, addresses, phone numbers, number of holes, par, yardage and rates. Other information can be obtained by calling the number provided.

We hope this list is of service to you. At the same time, however, we offer this piece of advice: It's only a game.

Enjoy!

Oasis rolls on to 5th straight

Oasis Golf Center chalked up its fifth straight women's fast-pitch softball victory in the Livonia Parks and Recreation circuit with a 6-0 triumph last week over Hadley's of Lapeer.

Pitcher Jan Boyd notched her third straight win with a five-hitter at Ford Field. The University of Michigan ace recorded eight strikeouts and has not walked a batter in three Livonia outings.

Offensively, Oasis started slowly, collecting only two hits over the first four innings. But in the final three innings, Oasis came up with six runs on seven hits.

In the fifth, Boyd drew a two-out walk

and came home on Allison Cole's two-run homer.

Jody Humphries opened the sixth with a single followed by a two-run homer from Sherry Kiselica, her second of the season.

BOYD led off the seventh with a single to center and Cole walked. Linda Jimenez brought home Boyd with a single up the middle and Humphries followed with her third straight hit, bringing Cole in with the final Oasis run.

Joanne Pachiva also added two hits for the winners.

Oasis will take on the Plymouth Vivians at 8 p.m. Friday at Ford Field.

Here's the scoop!

Ice cream savored from White House to your house

At least one thing made Calvin Coolidge smile. Evidence of a slight but satisfied smile exists in a 1928 photo. In this historic picture, Mrs. Coolidge is spooning up ice cream as the president stands by holding what looks suspiciously like the remains of an ice cream cone.

Coolidge might not have loved being chief executive, but he loved ice cream. His favorite dessert was advertised by the ice cream industry as the "President's Pudding."

But Silent Cal was not the first presidential fan of ice cream. George Washington liked ice cream so much that, in the summer of 1790, he bought about $200 worth from a New York City ice cream merchant. Washington kept "two pewter ice cream pots" at Mount Vernon and owned a "Cream Machine for Making Ice."

Thomas Jefferson, ever inventive, had his own 18-step recipe for ice cream and a unique way to serve it — in small balls encased in warm pastry. In addition to the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson gave America its all-time favorite flavor when he brought 200 vanilla beans and a recipe for vanilla ice cream back from France.

The first presidents ate ice cream made from rich, heavy cream, natural flavorings and native fruits and nuts. In addition to vanilla, Washington and Jefferson likely enjoyed such flavors as greengage plum, fig and black walnut. Chocobollica can rest easy. They also had chocolate.

Dolley Madison, always delightfully different, preferred strawberry, which she served mounded in a "large shining dome" on a silver platter.

BUT AMERICANS did not invent ice cream; its exact origins remain frosted in mystery. Like the movies, its development was peripatetic and evolutionary. At the end of the 13th century, Marco Polo brought a recipe for a frozen dessert made with milk back to Italy from the Far East. From Italy, the popularity of frozen desserts, which evolved from ices to sherbets to ice cream, spread across the courts of Europe in the 16th and 17th centuries.

Once Americans discovered ice cream, the hordes of Genghis Khan could not have held back their enthusiasm for it. The first recorded appearance of ice cream in America was in 1700. At the time of the Revolution, ice cream was sold in exclusive New York confectionary shops. With the growing availability of ice through harvesting and insulated storage early in the 19th century, ice cream parlors began appearing in major American cities.

In 1846, a boon to mankind was invented by a woman named Nancy Johnson. The hand-cranked ice cream freezer eventually brought homemade ice cream into the lives of many American families. It was inevitable that ice cream would leave the back porch and become big business. When Jacob Fussell, a Baltimore milk dealer, found himself with a surplus of cream, he made ice cream — lots of it. In 1851, Fussell, a close friend of Abraham Lincoln, became the first full-fledged ice cream manufacturer and wholesaler in America. As the industry grew, increased output and lower prices put ice cream in reach of most Americans.

In quick succession, they were able to spoon into the soda, the sundae, the ice cream cone and the ice cream cake.

THE INVENTION of the ice cream cone has drawn a number of claims, although most agree that the cone was popularized at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair and thrust into the hands of a waiting American public. The ice cream cone was the consummate culinary creation for always-on-the-move Americans.

But there was a relaxed way for Americans to enjoy their ice cream too — in ice cream parlors and drugstore soda fountains. In the 1920s, when the country closed its saloons, the ice cream industry grew by scoops and cones. The ice cream industry suffered a setback with the repeal of prohibition, but survived that and the Great Depression. President Franklin Roosevelt assured the country that he ate ice cream daily.

Today the drugstore soda fountain is almost a thing of the past. In the 1950s, fountains were removed from drugstores at the rate of 1,200 a year to make room for the more profitable racks of bottled cures and perfumed lures. Supermarkets, drive-ins and fast food chains took over the dispensing of ice cream to a nation that has never fallen out of love with the stuff.

In the 1960s, a new generation of ice cream stores grew by serving ice cream with more butterfat.

Last year Americans produced more than 632 million gallons of ice cream. And despite the wide variety of flavors ranging from dill pickle to licorice, vanilla and chocolate are still the biggest sellers.

'Bucket of van through Georgia and a house boat with dog soup'

The following is a small sampling of soda jerk jargon. The list has been selected from one compiled by Paul Dickson in his ice cream history, "The Great American Ice Cream Book," published in 1972. Based on the work of several linguists and folklorists, the list is an abbreviated one, for each region of the county, city or town and individual soda fountain had special calls of its own.

Go ahead and string a few calls together, and you'll be speaking the language of the "licensed fizician."

- Adam's ale — water.
- Belch water — glass of seltzer.
- Black bottom — chocolate sundae.
- Black stick — chocolate ice cream cone.
- Break it and shake it — eggs in a drink.
- Bridge — four of anything.
- Bucket of — a large scoop.
- Bucket of hall — small glass of ice.
- Burn — a malted milk shake (chocolate).
- Chase — pass (verb).
- Chicago — pineapple soda or sundae.
- Choc in — chocolate soda.
- City juice — water.
- Crowd — three of anything.
- Dog soup — water.
- Drop — a sundae.
- Echo — repeat the order.
- Eighty-one — glass of water.
- Eighty-six — out of the item ordered.
- Eighty-two — two glasses of water.
- Fifty-five — root beer.
- Fix — carbonate water.
- Forty-one — lemonade.
- Fourteen — special order, listen carefully.
- George Eddy — customer who leaves no tip.
- Glob — plain sundae.
- Go for a walk — to take out.
- Gorp — greedy eater.
- Handful — five.
- Hoboken special — pineapple soda, chocolate ice cream.
- Hold the hall — no ice.

"A crowd of white sticks on wheels of the reel." Translation: Three vanilla ice cream cones to go — in a hurry.

It was a picturesque, humorous and functional language that apparently began in the late 19th century but which by the late 1930s was already beginning to fall out of use. Today, it is heard no more. But it has been preserved by linguists, folklorists and ice cream historians. It was the colorful jargon of the soda jerk.

The soda jerk, so called because he jerked the draft arm on the soda fountain, was a uniquely American figure. He used his special lingo as verbal shorthand for calling out orders and instructions, as theater to entertain the customers and to just plain show off.

Soda jerking was, in its golden age from 1900 to 1950, a highly desirable profession. Apprenticeship as a "pearl diver" (dishwasher) was often necessary before the big break came. Soda jerks ranged in years from teens to middle-aged men. In 1906, in Fred Sanders' Detroit ice cream parlor, they were "neat" young women.

The structure of a soda jerk's call consisted of the method of preparation, the number and size of the order, the basic soda fountain item and special instruction. For example, "Shake a crowd of patch" was an order for three strawberry milkshakes. An elaborate number system was used as quick communication between soda jerks. The number 13 meant the boss is coming and 87½ signaled the entrance of a good-looking woman.

- House boat — banana split.
- In — soda.
- In the air — a large glass.
- In the hay — strawberry milkshake.
- Inhale — to drink.
- Jerk — an ice cream soda.
- L.A. — a la mode.
- M.D. — Dr. Pepper.
- Mode mode — two scoops of ice cream on pie, etc.
- Mad — chocolate ice cream.
- Ninety-eight — the manager.
- Ninety-five — customer leaving without paying.
- Ninety-nine — head soda man.
- Oh gee — orangeade.
- On — all sundae.
- On wheels — to go.
- One on the city — water.
- Patch — strawberry ice cream.
- Post — assistant manager.
- Pink stick — strawberry ice cream.
- Pop boy — soda jerk who doesn't know his job.
- Riffle — refill order.
- Salt water man — ice cream mixer.
- Shake one — milkshake (chocolate).
- Shoot it yellow — lemon Coke.
- Spla — whipped cream.
- Split one — banana split.
- Squirt — soda dispenser.
- Stretch one — large Coke.
- Suds — root beer.
- Thirty-one — lemonade.
- Through Georgia — chocolate syrup added.
- To the left — lemon flavor (traditionally to the left of the Coke syrup pump).
- To the right — cherry flavor (right of Coke).
- Twenty-one — limeade.
- Van — vanilla ice cream.
- Vanilla — pretty girl out front.
- Western — chocolate Coke.
- White cow — vanilla milkshake.
- White stick — vanilla ice cream cone.

Savino's Ices owner Lou DeCillis serves up a triple decker to a customer at his shop on Middlebelt near Seven Mile in Livonia.

Savino's ices are a hot item

Lou DeCillis grew up in New York City and knew how popular Italian ices were with New Yorkers and visitors. When visiting Detroit six years ago, he also realized that ices were not being served here.

"Ices are so popular in New York, they had to go good out here," said DeCillis, 33. "So I transplanted everything here."

That's what gave birth to Savino's Ice Cream Co., a firm which retails and wholesales homemade ices and ice cream from its Livonia base.

"We began wholesaling ices to restaurants and, about a 1½ years ago, to independent supermarkets," DeCillis said.

Today, Savino's ices may be ordered from the menus of many Detroit area restaurants, including the Lark Restaurant in West Bloomfield and La Rotisserie at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

The ices also may be purchased by the pint at about $1.59 from Sanders, the Merchant of Vino in Southfield, the Oak Ridge market in Royal Oak and Shopping Center markets in Southfield, Berkley and West Bloomfield.

DeCillis promotes his ices as a low-calorie substitute for ice cream.

"THE ICES ARE 'less bad' for you than ice cream," he said. "They're less fattening. They have no milk, fat or cholesterol. And they have less than half the calories of ice cream (about 100 calories for a normal serving of about four ounces). I can't say they're good for you, but what dessert can you say that about. We don't put vitamins in them."

The ices, DeCillis said, are well-suited as a substitute for ice cream in drinks. He recommended putting a scoop of one of the ices in a glass and pouring a favorite wine over it. A drink and dessert guide that uses the ices is available at Savino's.

The ices come in a variety of flavors, with five available most times. Currently, Savino's is serving chocolate, lemon, papaya, pina colada and raspberry.

Ices have a long tradition, DeCillis said.

"They predated ice cream," he said. "They date back to the Roman Empire and even to China. In those days, they were a drink for kings and royalty. They would flavor snow with fruit puree and juices. To keep snow for longer periods, they would store it in underground ice houses."

Don't wait to add to IRA

My client, John Doe, was surprised to learn that even though the deadline is April 1984, anyone who doesn't make a contribution to an IRA or a Keogh plan now is just throwing money away.

A working couple investing the maximum of $4,000 at a 10-percent rate of return could lose up to $150 in tax savings by procrastinating until next April 15. That is because your money can do something inside an IRA that it generally cannot do outside — accumulate interest and dividends that are tax deferred until you start withdrawing.

There is a special way to look at IRA and Keogh funds, especially for people in their 30s or early 40s. Over the long run, conservative investments such as bonds and bank certificates of deposit (CDs) probably won't grow as much as stocks in up-and-coming industries.

AN INVESTOR who will not be needing his cash for 30 or 40 years probably would do better to invest in a diversified portfolio of the issues of high-technology and other innovative growth companies than to tie up his money in fixed-interest securities.

finances and you

Sid Mittra

Indeed, almost anyone who feels optimistic about the immediate future of the stock market should keep at least a significant portion of his IRA or his Keogh portfolio in stocks or growth-oriented mutual funds.

If you are a conservative investor and would want to stay away from the stock market, you may consider fixed income securities. Currently, AA-rated long-term industrial bonds, for instance, are paying close to 11 percent interest, as are corporate bond unit trusts — fixed portfolios of bonds sold in small-denomination shares.

ONE INVESTMENT that offers unusual convenience to IRA and Keogh holders is the so-called zero-coupon bonds. Zeros don't pay any annual interest. Instead, they are issued at a discount and mature at face value.

Most have terms of 10-30 years, but you can sell them ahead of time in the bond market.

Because you don't realize any cash gain until a zero-coupon bond matures or you sell it, you don't have to reinvest annual interest payments that arrive in installments.

Bear in mind, however, that you cannot make withdrawals before age 59½ from IRAs and Keoghs without paying a 10-percent penalty and back taxes. So don't contribute money that you might want in the next couple of years to satisfy your financial goals.

Sid Mittra is president of Coordinated Financial Planning Inc. in Troy and a professor of economics at Oakland University in Rochester.

Apple Computer: solid, overpriced

I have never seen you make any comments about Apple Computer. I bought the stock at $30 in 1980 and have made a lot of money on it. What is your advice on buying more of the stock?

When I consider buying a stock, I look at two areas: One is the company's business and its prospects. The other is the price at which I can buy the stock.

When I look at Apple Computer's business, I see that over the past four years, the company's sales have grown from $8 million to $583 million. That is a fantastic rate of growth. Four years ago, the company's sales increased six times in one year. Last year, sales were up 74 percent.

That's a much smaller yearly rate of increase, but still an exceptional performance. It's obvious that Apple is producing an unusual rate of business growth.

When I check earnings per share growth, I find there is also an impressive record. Four years ago, the company multiplied its earnings per share by four in one year. This past year with sales ahead by 74 percent, earnings per share were up 51 percent.

Again, we have a very good performance. As far as the company's record of business and earnings growth is concerned, I would be very interested in buying the stock.

When I look at the price I have to pay to buy that business, however, I have a hard time saying yes to a purchase. Currently, Apple is selling at $55 a share. Last year, it earned $1.04 a share.

That means the company is selling at 51 times earnings. Another way of putting it is that it could take the company 51 years to earn as much as it would cost me to buy it.

Phil Marcus Esser loves Detroit scene

By Carmina Brooks
special writer

HE IS AN AWESOME talent who has not left Detroit for the lure of big bucks along the Great White Way or in Western Wonderlands.

He is called "Detroit's renewable resource," "Detroit's urban minstrel" and "one of Detroit's municipal treasures" by entertainment writers.

He is 6-foot-2-inches of blue-eyed, bearded baritone and a handsome hunk of a man who sings and writes lyrics presented as drama. In the last decade he has experienced a metamorphosis. He has grown from a folk singer into a performer-director-writer-producer and acquired a deep sensitivity to the human condition.

He is Philip Marcus Esser.

Esser, a Livonia resident, landed in Detroit in 1964 fresh from a hitch in the Air Force. At that time the 23-year-old was looking for the folk-singer circuit the Detroit area offered.

HE HAD JOINED the Air Force as a non-questioning Catholic kid who believed God is on our side," he recalled recently.

I fell into folk music while stationed in Denver. I was literally taught sensitivities and realities by the songs. I remember meeting all those people and their songs with lyrics that revealed a more truth than I was aware of. I didn't have an awareness of human beings," Esser said.

It was the process of becoming a folk singer in the '60s that triggered his growth, both spiritually and as an entertainer.

He feels fortunate to have ended up in Detroit. Everything is happening here at the cusp of human development. In Detroit we have the ingredients to establish a racial equity and a rational human rights goal. We have been forced to deal with each other racially, both economically and socially, out of the unfortunate circumstances of whites fleeing the city.

"Within that crisis, I see a wonderful development of people being put into a situation where they now must deal with each other whether they want to

"I GOT AN overview of things. I've seen tremendous human life lost and disastrous changes. And I have changed from an insensitive person to a sensitive person. That is my metamorphosis."

Esser is committed to Detroit and is a positive force working to reshape the new downtown.

He wants Detroit to become the cultural and entertainment center for the metro area and truly believes, "It's all going to go back downtown."

For this, he works as a volunteer with the Business District Association on special projects. He helps with the international ethnic festivals, and entertains gratis for people and groups fighting for civil and human rights at fund-raisers and celebrations like the recent Focus Hope Bob Lo Boat Ride.

"It's easy to be in trouble. I seem to be a conscientious objector," he mused.

IN FEBRUARY, at a fund-raiser in Southfield for Dan Rutt, Michigan's first young man to be indicted by a federal grand jury for refusing to register for the draft, he sang a contemporary folk song out of the '60s.

"I told him he had better act like a man. I will never kill another. He thinks he is better than his brother that died. He is fasting until the killing is over. He is a prophet. He is a martyr. He is a coward. He is only playing games. He can't do it. He can't change things. This has been going on for 10,000 years. Take your place, son. You must choose now. Win or lose now. And if you lose, you only lose your life."

After those lyrics, the bowl that was passed was full of $5 bills.

Esser's paternal ancestors were a Catholic military family who fled to America in the 1870s "as conscientious objectors to escape the Prussian system," Esser said.

His repertoire is vast and he has been described as "a preservationist of fine vintage songs."

ESSER'S CURRENT musical production is "Hotel Brel," a revue he produces, directs and also acts in as a featured performer with his singing partner, Barbara Bredius, and dancer Kathleen Kelly. It runs through Labor Day weekend in the Woodward Room at the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Performances are at 7 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays — dinner show $18.50 — and a $5 show is at 10:30 p.m.

If you have never heard Brel songs, you should. "Hotel Brel" is a selection of 14 Brel songs — of doomed love, wartime, death and daily pleasures. The late Belgian-born poet, actor and songwriter died in 1978.

Esser's wife, Susan, runs the sound and created the costumes for "Hotel Brel." Until recently, she also managed the Annex at John Laffrey's Viayards in Southfield until it was sold. The couple have four children (Heather, John, Eric and Erik).

Esser is given credit for a Brel revival, and it has been written that nobody does it better. About a decade ago Esser and Bredius produced their version of a long-running New York revue, "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris," at Mercy College. It was a smashing success that played to 60,000 showgoers and ran 15 months.

This had a lasting impact on Esser. He learned he could do it all. His horizons broadened, and he began searching for a larger forum for his talents.

NOW 41, Esser reflects, "I have not been able to find the right circumstances to produce shows. My dilemma is what to do. Everything — or just perform, direct, write or produce?"

Born in Iowa, Esser grew up in Omaha, the second oldest of seven children. He first entertained in kindergarten as "Popeye the Sailor Man." As a teen-ager, he had his own rock group and was a Mario Lanza fan. His love of the city and downtown began in the '50s in Omaha, he said during a recent interview at the Detroit Press Club.

Esser attended Creighton University in Omaha (the Jesuit equivalent of the University of Detroit) and Central Michigan in 1962. The Air Force taught him something about missile electronics.

"I remember the 1940s dimly. Lighting was dimmer," he said with sly humor. "Things were not overstuffed. I was very aware of airplanes, but for the longest time I never knew they carried bombs."

many years, doing everything from dinner theater to music revues.

Esser avoids calling himself religious. He says, "I suppose I am a spiritual person."

AN EXAMPLE of Esser's talent can be heard every night at midnight when radio station WEEH-AM starts its day at 1440 on the dial. A few years ago Martha Jean, the Queen, asked Esser to write an anthem for the station. His lyrics proclaim: "God is in Detroit. I just saw him. He walked and talked with me. From Pallister to Putnam. He told me of a special love he has for all. And when he turned the corner at Orchestra Hall, he smiled at me as he wrote on the wall, 'the acoustics are perfect in Heaven.'"

Two years ago Esser wrote a musical "Me for President" that was performed in Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit. It is a one-hour fantasy about a little black boy and a girl who are competitive candidates for president.

He hopes, "Maybe it will be produced again in the next presidential election year."

"I am probably the happiest person I have met," he said. "Fortunately I can sing. I can make a living with my singing."

Esser, who starred in the Michigan Opera Theatre production of "Sound as Music" last season, recently auditioned for the MOT production of Stephen Sondheim's "A Little Night Music," which will play the Music Hall in November. The cast will be announced shortly.

"Entertaining is just always what I did," Esser said. "I didn't really ever consciously think it would be my career."

John Dankworth introduced himself as C.L.A., at Friday night's Meadow Brook Music Festival Concert. That, he explained, means Cleo Laine Accomplishments. P. Midway through the concert, I was ready to declare myself a C.L.G.

And that means a Cleo Laine Groupie.

The flawless pop singer has that effect on people. After the concert and the usual G.A.S.O. (that means the Great American Standing Ovation), it seemed that the sellout crowd at Meadow Brook was ready to join me as a C.L.G.

The reason is simple. While some of the middle-of-the-road pop acts Meadow Brook books year after year have grown stale, Cleo Laine ages like a fine wine. So no matter how many times she appears in this area, it just isn't enough.

SHE STILL CAN amaze even a somewhat jaded music reviewer with her vocal dexterity, her easy modulations, her perfect pitch and her wonderfully free and easy way with a song.

That's the way it was Friday night as Laine and husband Dankworth, backed by their own trio and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, showed why she frequently is referred to as the best singer in the world.

You need only refer to what she does with an old standard like "Crazy Rhythm" to understand why she inspires such seeming hyperbole. She moves effortlessly up and down the scale hitting every note just the way it should be hit. When she engages in a bebop duet, singing wordless notes to Dankworth's capable alto sax, it's sometimes difficult to separate the instrument from the voice.

Or, what she does to Bessie Smith's old blues number "Gimme A Pigfoot," a song first recorded in 1933. Laine doesn't try to do a growling imitation of Bessie Smith. Instead, it's Cleo Laine, and somehow it still comes out as a classic blues — but decidedly vocal magic.

Then there's Noel Coward's "Mad About the Boy." The song came from a 1930s musical Coward wrote called "Words and Music." In the show, the song is written for four characters: a woman of the world, a schoolgirl, a cockney charwoman and a prostitute. Laine took the first three, adding, "I never do prostitutes on Friday."

AS SHE SINGS three verses of the song, she makes each character come to life. In the process she not only reminds how fine an actress she is but mesmerizes with her song as well.

Dankworth, an excellent musician, composer and arranger, is brilliant as he plays the blues while his wife — who frequently overshadows his worth — sings "Born on a Friday." Dankworth was one of the founding figures of modern British jazz, and he continues to be a thoroughgoing professional.

Laine joined his group as a singer somewhere around 1952, and the musical partnership has flourished ever since.

Along with perfect timing, Laine can add a light touch with some comic clowning. But she can unleash a hurricane when she attacks a blues and come back with a beautifully entrancing "Stardust" during a medley in tribute to Hoagy Carmichael.

After sipping through the treacherous ground of a Mozart tune, she can reshape Sondheim's "Send in the Clowns." Maybe it has been overdone in the last few years, but Laine succeeds through stunning subtlety.

Although it seems impossible, Laine gets better each time she gives a performance. That's why she always deserves all of us C.L.G.s giving her a sincere G.A.S.O.

The golden days of yesteryear return when Northland, Westland, Southland and Eastland centers hold the "Good Old Summertime Sidewalk Sale" today through Sunday.

Daily entertainment events are being featured at the shopping centers. The Detroit Concert Band, mimes, street-theater troupes, strolling musicians, popcorn, lemonade and red-white-and-blue balloons adorning the malls give the event an old-fashioned flavor.

Shoppers may have old-time photos taken of themselves.

Dr. Leonard B. Smith and the Detroit Concert Band will appear at 7 tonight at Northland Center in Southfield, at 7 p.m. Friday at Westland Center and at 7 p.m. Saturday at Eastland Center. The band kicked off the four days of festivities with a performance Wednesday at Southland.

Other daytime and evening entertainment at the centers includes:

- Acts Without Words — Scott McCue of Detroit and other mimes "speak" to audiences with their special brand of comedy and drama.
- Appearances by "Huck Finn" — Dearborn native Wayne David

Parker as Huck converses with Mark Twain and re-enacts the favorite mischief-maker's familiar stories.

• Juggling — Jonathon Haglund of Dearborn works with bowling balls, machetes and other unusual items.

• Folk music — Judy Ann Richer, also of Royal Oak, strolls the mall playing the guitar or banjo and singing old-time favorites.

• Barbershop music — the Downriver Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., offers its harmony and choreography.

• Tales of Yesterday and Today — Three elderly Detroit women — the Oldsters Mime Troupe of the Attic Theatre — share their lives with others through mime, storytelling and song.

• Scenes from "Division Street" — Members of Royal Oak's Fourth Street Playhouse present scenes of comedy from the play by Steve Tesich.

• Story Theatre — Favorite tales from Aesop and the Brothers Grimm take a modern twist in presentation by Southfield's Actors Alliance Theatre Company.

These comprise California's best

(Second of two parts)

Part I of this article named the first eight of the Sweet Sixteen California wineries that afford the customer best value for the dollar. They are Beringer, Burgers, Coscanso, Foster, Firestone, Gallo, HMR and Kenwood. The present listing completes the group:

LOUVE MARTINI (Napa) — One of the oldest, Martini resists the temptation to raise prices in the inflationary food. The wines generally are ready for drinking when released. One rarely sees "whines" them, but they are always dependable and representative of their varietal.

Martini is known more for reds than whites, but there are none to be avoided. Note especially some Special Selection releases of zinfandel and cabernet — a bit more costly but worth the mon-

McDOWELL 'VALLEY Vineyards (Lodi) — Bonded only in the late '70s, this family operation boasts its own regional appellation and has issued some truly classy wine. French chardonnay of stature, crisp and clean with a hint of minerality, and a bunch of earthy reds: zinfandel, pinot noir and cabernet. Until the winery catches on and perhaps raises prices, this is definitely one to find on the shelves at reasonable prices.

FARDUCCI WINE Cellars (Menocchino) — The founding father of the Menocchino County industry, this winery is now threatened with considerable local competition. But it remains still a producer of excellent values. Dependable and fairly priced, Farducci uses little oak to complicate tastes. It is the fruit of the grape that is featured.

Especially recommended are French chardonnay, chenin blanc, chardonnay, sauvignon blanc, zinfandel, petite sirah and pinot noir. And don't overlook its generic. The red and white table wines in the four-liter jugs are a best value if you can handle that amount.

PEDRONCELLI Winery (Sonoma) — Another old-family-Italian winery that has resisted price escalation. These are all dependable wines. The line of whites is balanced by a standard aggregate of reds, the gamay beaujolais being its only consistent weakness.

RIDGE VINEYARDS (Santa Clara) — zinfandel, zinfandel, zinfandel

SEBASTIANI Vineyards (Sonoma) — Another family-owned Italian winemaker, this Sonoma giant is a marketing innovator and, some say, genius. Best values today are under the August Sebastiani label, 1.5-liter bottles of colombar, chenin blanc, gronachs rose, pinot noir, zinfandel and cabernet in the 96-7-a-bottle range. Excellent for everyday wines.

Under its regular label, the barbers, zinfandel and pinot noir blanc especially are not to be missed. Each December the new year's gamay beaujolais nouveau is a real seasonal joy.

SOUVERAIN Cellars (Sonoma) — Distribution on this label has been a disaster lately, so the wines are hard to find. When located, they offer good value, perhaps better for whites than reds.

WENTE BROS. (Livermore) — Considerably above average in its releases of whites. The only red to be sought is its usually excellent petite sirah. Among the whites, the pinot blanc, chardonnay, grey riesling, dry semillon and sauvignon blanc are all excellent each vintage.

And the blanc de blancs is one of the best all-purpose introductions to wine beverages for anyone. Its soon-to-be-released champagne is said to be excellent as well.

A retrospective glance at this two-part review leaves me feeling a sense of being incomplete. Sixteen wineries means many excellent-value producers must be omitted. Where are Beauville Vineyards (a bit pricey, but always good to excellent), Carneros Creek (makers of great pinot noir and chardonnay), Clos du Val (elegant cabernet, merlot, zinfandel and chardonnay), giant Inglenook (stable and fairly priced varietals), Mastanucci (maker of absolute zinfandel) and Stony Hill (not available here and by subscription only in California, but maker of some of the most elegant chardonnay in the state)? The Sweet Sixteen, embellished to the Terrific Twenty-two. That seems better.

Wayne State heaters tell 83-84 season

Wayne State University's Hilberry and Bonstelle 1983-84 Theatre seasons will include a variety of classical and modern plays ranging from Shakespeare to Thornton Wilder.

A total of 12 productions will be presented at the Hilberry and Bonstelle Theatres from Oct. 7 through May 12, seven in rotating repertory at the Hilberry and five in the Bonstelle series.

The Hilberry's new productions, presented by the theater's graduate repertory company, with official opening dates are:

- "A Voyage Round My Father" by John Mortimer — Oct. 19.
- "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder — Oct. 20.
- "Misalliance" by George Bernard Shaw — Dec. 1.
- "The Liar" by Carlo Goldoni — Jan. 12.
- "Hamlet" by William Shakespeare — Feb. 9.
- "The Beau's Stratagem" by George Farquhar — March 22.

Meadow Brook Music Festival stars will include Tony Bennett on Friday night, Kris Kristofferson on Saturday and Glen Campbell and Tammy Wynette on Tuesday.

upcoming things to do

MUSIC FESTIVAL

Appearances by Tony Bennett and Kris Kristofferson, two performances by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and a children's concert will be presented this weekend at the Meadow Brook Music Festival in Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

The DSO Pops will back Bennett's romantic vocals at 8 p.m. Friday. Kristofferson — singer, songwriter and movie star — brings his country music to the outdoor pavilion at 8 p.m. Saturday. Billy Swan opens the show.

Vancouver conductor Kazuyoshi Akiyama directs a pair of concerts at 8 tonight and Sunday, featuring music from Japan, Germany and France, with violin soloist Ida Kavafian.

Sen. Jack Faxon narrates Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" in the children's concert at 11 a.m. Saturday, with Erv Monroe leading the Oakland Youth Syphony.

Glen Campbell and Tammy Wynette bring country music to Meadow Brook at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Campbell, who calls himself "a country boy who sings," performs on a double bill with singer-songwriter Wynette.

Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians will sing for Meadow Brook audiences at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Information on tickets, lawn coupon books and programs is available at the festival box office (377-2010).

FANNY'S LOUNGE

Strider performs through July 30 at Fanny's Lounge at the Troy Hilton Inn. The Top 40 band plays for dancing starting at 9 p.m. Mondays-Saturdays. Hugh Borde's Trinidad Tripoli steel band appears for Summer Nights parties starting at 6 p.m. Fridays at the Troy Hilton's outdoor courtyard. Cover charge is $5 for Summer Nights.

JULY JAZZ

Marcus Belgrave is the featured performer at this week's "Jazz in July" series at 2 p.m. Sunday on the lawn of the Bloomfield Township Public Library. The free concert is sponsored by the Friends of the Bloomfield Township Public Library. Concertgoers should bring their blanket or lawn chairs. Trumpeter Belgrave, who played with the Ray Charles orchestra for five years, moved to Detroit in 1963. He is frequently called to both coasts for major recording projects.

RENAISSANCE AUDITIONS

The Michigan Renaissance Festival will hold its first talent auditions 2-6 p.m. Friday at Oakland University's Varner Hall. Auditions are outdoors and participants are requested to audition in costume with a one-to-three-minute presentation of a light, humorous nature appropriate to the Renaissance (16th century) period. Needed are musicians, jugglers, mimes, street entertainers and members of the royal court, for the annual festival weekends Aug. 20 through Sept. 25 at Colomblere Center in Clarkston. For more information, call 645-9440. Other open audition dates are 2-5 p.m. July 30-31 at the festival site, 5 p.m. till dark Aug. 3, at the Southfield Public Library and 1-3 p.m. Aug. 6 at the Rochester Municipal Park.

LOVING CUP

Marlene, Danny, Steve and Bill — the foursome of the Loving Cup — appear Tuesdays-Saturdays through Aug. 27 at Darling Lilly's, 39599 Orchard Lake Road, south of 14 Mile Road, Farmington Hills.

COFFEEHOUSE IX

Open mike, stage and exhibit space for musicians, poets, mimes, dancers, actors, photographers, painters, sculptors and art lovers is available beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday at Coffeehouse IX in the Bull Pen of the Barn Theatre at Oakland University. An open jazz jam starts at 10:30 p.m.

ORGANIST PLAYS

Stan Zimmerman returns 2-9 p.m. Friday and 1-6 p.m. Saturday, playing show tunes and requests on the Allen Organ, at Somerset Mall in Troy. The free concert is open to the public.

AT HURLEY'S

Paul Locricchio and Metro appears nightly Monday through July 30 at the Northfield Hilton, Crooks Road at the I-75 exit in Troy.

BLOOMFIELD CANOPY

Lori Jacobs sings and plays piano and guitar Tuesdays-Saturdays through Aug. 6 at the Bloomfield Canopy Restaurant and Lounge, 6560 Orchard Lake Road, just south of Maple Road, West Bloomfield.

MIME ARTIST

Scott McCue, Detroit mime artist, will make personal appearances at the Northland, Westland, Eastland and Southland Malls' "Good Ol' Summertime Sale," today through Saturday. McCue is known locally for his commercials and as director of the traveling mime company, Detroupe. He has been in New York preparing for a debut of two new pantomimes which will premiere Aug. 12 at the Performance Theatre Center in New York.

BARBERSHOP QUARTET

The Center Stage Barbershop Quartet will appear at Nightcap with Mozart at 11 p.m. Friday at the Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 Woodward, one mile north of Birmingham, in Bloomfield Hills. Center Stage has won medals both nationally and internationally and will tour Great Britain in December. Admission is $5, $3 for students under 12. Complimentary wine and beverages are served before and after the concert. For further information, call 62-MUSIC (626-8742).

MOONLIGHT CRUISE

The Motor City Chorus, Detroit No. 1 Chapter of SPLBSQSA, the barbershop singing society, will host the 37th annual Detroit River Moonlight Cruise on the Bob-Lo Boat on Friday. The boat leaves at 8 p.m. from the Bob-Lo dock, west of Cobo Hall near Third Street, and returns at 11 p.m. The cruise features barbershop harmony from many quartets and choruses which will be on board. Tickets at $8.50 per person may be purchased dockside from a barbershop chapter representative. For further information call 775-8575.

NIGHT FLIGHT

A special jazz concert, featuring Detroit-area musicians, will be at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Presidential Inn in Southgate. The event is a 35-year-anniversary musical tribute for WJR radio host Jay Roberts. Featured bands will be Johnny Trudell, Jack Brokenaha, Chet Bogan Wolverines Jazz Band, and the Chuck Robinet Trio. Admission is $5, to go to Roberts' favorite charity.

SOUP KITCHEN

Peter Madcat Ruth returns tonight, Wednesday and July 21 to the Soup Kitchen Saloon in Detroit. He offers his own brand of folk, jazz and blues. Madcat plays harmonica and also guitar, jaw-harp, African thumb piano, penny-whistle and an assortment of other instruments.

"Five Million Years to Earth" (1969), 1 Saturday night on Ch. 50. Originally 96 minutes. What makes a horror film horrible? Three films this week that lean to the sci-fi side of horror provide an answer.

"Five Million Years to Earth" is a British film that's an offshoot of a BBC television series called "Quatermass," which is the name of the lead character, professor Quatermass. The film is a chilling tale of a Martian invasion, but unique plot twists make this invasion unlike any other ever shot on celluloid.

The film begins with the discovery of an alien artifact beneath the streets of London. Coincidentally, the film was released in 1968, the same year in which another film, "2001: A Space Odyssey," premiered and utilized a similar opening sequence. Unlike "2001" however, "Five Million Years" was made on a meager budget with limited special effects.

Instead of high technology, it offers clever scripting and believable characters. It also blends science and myth — formidable ingredients when combined in such horror films as "The Exorcist," for instance.

Finally, the film progresses in steps, so that certain clues to the Martian invasion are provided piecemeal. This makes the film suspenseful as well as horrifying. It's also entertaining, intellectual and unassuming.

"Logan's Run" (1976), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 120 minutes.

"Logan's Run" is not entertaining, intellectual or unassuming. It was filmed on a big budget, but even the sophisticated special effects come off as second rate in this essentially one-jeke film.

Everyone in a futuristic society lives well but dies young. That's the meat in this cinematic goulash. Everything else is warmed-over plotting that has seemed sassy another bad film before. Michael York stars as a scientist, a sort of cop who prevents so-called zombies from fleeing their domed city before they can be put to death on their 34th birthdays. Jerry Agutter is a runner who convinces York that there can be life after 30. Peter Ustinov, Richard Jordan and Farrah Fawcett co-star.

Rating: $2.25.

"Soylent Green" (1973), 1 Monday night on Ch. 7. Originally 100 minutes.

"Soylent Green" does better at combining special effects with plot and characterization than the other films, but that's not to say it's a better picture than "Five Million Years to Earth."
Rating: $2.80.

Nature calls talented women artists

By Carol Azizian staff writer

Impressionistic desert landscapes, floral still lifes, and moon and leaf-shaped alabaster sculptures by three women artists create a nature panorama at Southfield's Civic Center Gallery.

The women — Mary Souder of West Bloomfield Township, Dorothy Clark of Farmington Hills and Ann Wallis-Bull of Bloomfield Hills — combined their talents to present a show capturing the essence of their individual styles.

Although each artist works in a different medium and method, all three are drawn to the same subject matter — nature.

"It's a coincidence that this show concentrates on nature forms," Souder said.

"Dorothy and I decided to share the exhibit, and then I asked Ann to join us because we wanted a sculptress."

SOUDER'S style has been influenced by the Impressionist tradition. She paints shapes and forms in rich colors to generate feelings of tranquility in the desert scenes, and turbulence in the summer storm pictures.

"I traveled west six years ago and took a lot of photographs," Souder said. "But I don't work from the photos."

"My paintings don't look like anything I've seen. It's just a feeling I get when I use my imagination to paint the scenes."

Although bordering on the abstract, Souder's works are still recognizable as representations of landscapes.

"The rocks, waterfalls and mountain shapes aren't clearly defined. They're almost abstract," she said, describing her style.

"I USED to go hiking before I was married," she said. "That influenced me for years."

"I always loved the outdoors. I don't like to be cooped up inside too long."

The former Redford Union art teacher has been painting and exhibiting her works in the Detroit area for nearly 30 years. She's a member of the Farmington Artists Club, Palette and Brush Club of Detroit and the Creative Council.

Souder and Clark, longtime friends and colleagues, shared studio space for years in the now-defunct Garret Gallery, an artists cooperative in Farmington.

"It was a place away from the telephone and the washing machine," Souder said. "Being with other artists was inspirational."

"Sometimes we critiqued each other's work. But we didn't lean on one another for ideas."

EVEN THOUGH she's a member of several organizations, Clark also longs for the days when she shared studio space and equipment costs with women painters and enjoyed the company of other artists.

"Women artists need to get together," she said. "Twenty-seven years ago (when she began painting), you had to peddle at galleries. You had to work your fanny off, get out and push, be aggressive."

"That's why women artists formed clubs so they could have shows and sell their paintings."

Clark said she could never earn a living solely from painting, Clark has found a market for her still lifes.

She has exhibited throughout the Detroit area — with the Farmington Artists Club, Palette and Brush Club, Detroit Society of Women Painters and Sculptors, Naples Art Association of Naples, Fla. — and at the Michigan State Fair and Detroit Institute of Art Rental Gallery.

FLORAL MOTIFS characterize her realistic style. Clark's subjects have included children and wildlife — influenced by a trip to South Africa.

"I paint things I know. I know flowers because my garden is pretty much a part of me. I also love to paint the way light hits them."

Clark has experimented with abstract painting, but says the "does n't satisfy me."

"Maybe I'm just too old to change," she chuckled. "This 20th century and sometimes that I may be behind the times."

"But I paint for people's enjoyment. If somebody sees one painting and it sends shivers down their spine, then I know I've reached that person."

Moving more and more toward the abstract after working traditional figurative subjects, Wallis-Bull reveals the color and form in her alabaster sculptures.

"I've been working with alabaster for years. I love the way it feels under my hands. I've been toward the abstract after working with sculpture. I've been toward the abstract after working with sculpture. I've been toward the abstract after working with sculpture."

Writers enjoy group support

By Mary Klemic staff writer

When Charles Oliver talks, people listen.

The Plymouth resident knows some good stories. And he has an eager audience every month when he attends a meeting of the National Science Fiction Writers Exchange Group.

The group meets once a month to read and discuss stories, many of the tales written by members themselves. In the words of co-founder Guy Snyder, the small organization offers "mutual support" for aspiring writers.

"We get together and read manuscripts, and after each reading you have constructive criticism by the members," explained Snyder, a Farmington Hills resident. "We have had works read anonymously, too."

In addition, the group puts out a monthly newsletter that contains reports to help members penetrate the writing market and other information. Published writers are invited to the meetings to share their experiences in the field.

"WE HAVE had a number of people here who have said they didn't have the feeling to get in the habit of writing (before joining)," Snyder said. "Now they feel the incentive to write."

Snyder and Ted Reynolds of Ann Arbor formed the group in January 1982 when 'Mostly, the writing profession is like the acting profession. Most of the actors have to work at other jobs and make only $3,000 or less when they get an acting part. The same is true for writers.'

Snyder was having trouble with a story he was writing. Snyder, editor of the Michigan Constructor and Builder Magazine, has written a novel and a novelette, among other works, and has been a finalist for the John W. Campbell Jr. Award, given to the best new writer.

"He showed the story around to a few friends and decided that maybe it would be a good idea to form a group to workshop things that were written," Oliver explained. "It brought in a lot of people who hadn't published anything before. We get the benefit of their input."

The group now has a "core" membership of 10 and a mailing list of 35. Its members, ranging in age from 18 to mid-40s, come from several communities, including Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Detroit, Wyandotte, Utica and Flint.

NEW MEMBERS must give three readings of their original works, each at least 15 minutes long. To be an "active" member, they must give two readings within a 12-month period.

"They don't have to be original works at that point," Snyder said.

Members hold a variety of jobs. One does design work for automotive companies. Another is a medical student at the University of Michigan.

Two other published writers besides Snyder belong to the group. More than 12 stories by Reynolds, a clerk in the anesthesiology department in an Ann Arbor hospital, have appeared in Isaac Asimov's science fiction magazine and other publications. He has been nominated for two Hugo awards, given by a world science fiction convention every summer. Four of his stories have appeared in "best of the year" collections.

Lloyd Biggie, the only "full-time" writer in the organization, has written 14 books and 75 stories and articles.

"Mostly, the writing profession is like the acting profession," said Snyder, whose works include five novels and a three-act play. "Most of the actors have to work at other jobs and make only $3,000 or less when they get an acting part. The same is true for writers. It's extremely difficult to make that second sale."

Art lesson No. 6

Variety is the key to a good drawing

This is the sixth in a series of art and drawing lessons by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and gives lessons and operates an art store at Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, in Livonia.

Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington

By David Messing special writer

What makes a good pen-and-ink drawing? I'm sure there are as many answers as there are artists. But to me a good pen-and-ink drawing should have a full range of grays, black blacks, and white whites. It should also have a variety of line lengths, line widths and line direction. Perhaps pointillism here and there. All adding variety and interest. And interest of viewers is what most artists crave. There is no one out there who can tell me he resents an "ooo" or an "aaah" when his works are being viewed. It is twice as nice when you create your piece to express yourself, not caring if anyone approves, and still find approval. What a blessing it is to be an artist.

You look and study everything around you, where others only see their surroundings. You as an artist can express a feeling, and that expression will outlive yourself. Others ventilate their feelings in conversation which perhaps is soon forgotten. You as an artist have an ability, and though you have refined it and nurtured it, still it is a gift of God.

You as an artist have the choice to use the gift, or not to use it. For example: You as an artist may choose to be an electrician, but an electrician cannot choose to be an artist. If you feel you have even the slightest amount of ability, it is your choice to pick it up or lay it aside. Even if you pick it up later in life, it's nice to know it's there.

classes but the classes which rarely have openings are all the adult classes. Many of those students have said, "I haven't drawn for 20 years," and they are thrilled with what they can produce.

To begin with it is best to draw from pen-and-ink drawings. It is especially difficult to do pen and ink from photos. Pick subjects with lines on them like wood barns and shacks, trees, furry animals and etc.

Action figures in comics and magazines have given many young artists a head start in pen-and-ink drawings, because interest develops ability at a more rapid rate than instruction. Aside from the problems that the human figures pose, I notice in my classes the teenagers do very well in the media. A teen-ager with some good pen-and-ink drawings in his or her portfolio can land a good full- or part-time job.

Pen and ink plays a major roll in commercial art. Many young artists have an idealistic dream of doing art shows and selling paintings to make a living. I have never desired to be a "starving artist." There is certainly no need to.

OF COURSE, I love to sell my paintings between those sales. I make a regular income by designing symbols, cartoons, signs, illustrations, camera-ready artwork etc. All in some way related to pen and ink.

Important to begin with is will do, a fine felt-tip pen, a pencil and an eraser. As you improve your drawing skills, you can enjoy the variety of lines they produce.

That you constantly have a tip into an open bottle of ink has a way of getting knocked off the table. I'm still applying

Q. How do you draw an animal that has many details, like a bird. How can you draw all those feathers?

A. There is no need to draw all the feathers. I like to group areas of details into highlights and shades. The top of the eagle's head was loaded with little feathers. I eliminated them, making a strong highlight on top of the head. Under the brow and the eye, there were many feathers; instead I made quick stroked lines in the general direction of the feathers, which made a nice shading for that area. Use your imagination; that's how your artwork becomes original.

giving to Mom about her white curtains and the carpet in the dining room.

WOULDNT IT be neat if they invented a pen that holds the ink inside? Well, you can be the proud owner of a technical pen. Perfect... what it could do. Technical pens range in size from No. 6, which is very wide stroke, to No. 00000 that is a hairline. The problem? They clog up. A clogged pen is no fun.

Not 1 extension cords. Every cord I own is knotted and twisted. I bought a 100-foot extension cord now is an 80-foot ball of cord with 10 feet on either side. Oh well, I'm sure more artist than I am, have given in to the temptation of smashing their clogged pen into the table top.

But a technical pen is the best tool there is for art store activities from panache had you'll love it.

One of the best technical pens I have ever used and sold is the Reform pen by Alvin. It just doesn't clog, even on clay-coated papers, and you don't have to hold it straight up and down as many others require you do. The best size is No. 00 as it is best suited to all around sketching. The cost of a technical pen ranges from about $8.95 to $14.95. But Reform is offering the No. 00 at a price of only $1.50, so everyone can afford to give it a try.

After you have a nice pen, try some Bristol board or some hot press illustration board. There is a new illustration board called line coat. This is very white and has a smooth clay coating, so you can easily scratch off a mistake with a razor knife.

Now, about the ink. Pelican has been my favorite for years, but the Higgins company has come out with Black Magic, and it has my vote. Black Magic is very, very black. It is terrific in a brush and fantastic in a quill pen. Also very free flowing in a technical pen. The only problem you face with good pen, ink and paper is that you have no excuses. But then again maybe you don't need excuses.

Women artists

"I was getting bored with figures," said the former Boston resident who moved to Bloomfield Hills more than two years ago.

A former biochemist, she returned to school after raising her children to earn a master's degree from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Later, she attended DeCordova Museum of Modern Art in Lincoln, Mass., to study abstract methods.

"With figures, you're confined to what you see and by the material," Wallis-Bull said. "If, by accident, you lop off a knee cap, you're finished."

"But with abstract sculpture, you can incorporate the error into another work of art."

"I ENJOY it because it sets me free," she added. "I can get a lot of flow and movement in the stone."

Wallis-Bull creates series of sculptures — all referring to life forms. She carefully chooses her stone from New York and Massachusetts, occasionally carrying a backpack into mines to chip away at the alabaster. Then she sculpts and polishes round or geometric shapes, leaving parts of the rough stone curving or hugging the finished forms.

"I deliberately go to life forms — seeds germinating and unfolding, leaves opening up, the movement of surf — because I feel positive about life," she said.

Sculpting is a time-consuming, tedious and expensive art form, she said. "It teaches you humility and patience."

But Wallis-Bull remains fascinated by it, returning to school periodically to brush up on her skills. She also has joined the Sculptors Guild of Birmingham, Creative Council and Detroit Society of Women Painters and Sculptors.

Science fiction writers' group

THE GROUP'S emphasis is on science fiction, but works read at the meetings can be any type of fiction, including fantasy and gothic.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we heard a western one of these days," Snyder said.

The organization got its first members after it was advertised at the annual convention of the Ann Arbor Science Fiction Association. An ad for the group in a Detroit newspaper also generated interest, as do appearances by group representatives at other science fiction gatherings.

"We get members any way we can," Oliver said. "We go to area conventions and pass out flyers. A big convention takes place every January at the Plymouth Hilton, and we had a suite there."

WEEKEND workshops are being planned by the group for the summer.

The group's structure is informal. There are no dues. Members meet at each other's homes starting in the afternoon, and dinner is served if meetings run into the evening. The meetings are "open to the public," according to members.

"Anybody is welcome to attend," Snyder said. For more information, write Snyder at 22230 Greenhill Road, Apt. 77, Farmington Hills 48024.

New chest has a long history

This chest in the French commode form is copied from an early Regency example (circa 1716). One of the unusual features is the shape of the top in relation to the front of the drawers. The line of one echoes the other. Boule work (an inlay of precious metals) is another interesting characteristic of the drawer fronts, sides and surface of the wood tops. The DeLuyne's Chest, from the Malfert-Amos Collection is imported by Connoisseurs Gallery Inc, a division of Henredon Furniture. The fruitwood chest, with or without ebony stain and with wood or marble top, is available through Baker, Knapp & Tubbs of the Design Center, Troy, open to the trade only.

Wall Mural to debut at Artists Market

The Detroit Artists Market will dedicate a wall mural between 5 and 7 p.m. Friday as part of its summer celebration. The mural, made possible by grants from the Gannett Foundation and the Michigan Foundation for the Arts, recently was mounted on the market's exterior south wall.

Kurt Novak, who received a bachelor of fine arts degree from Wayne State University, designed the 75-by-25-foot mural. His design was chosen from more than 30 entries in a competition held in 1981. Novak also will exhibit several paintings created in conjunction with the mural.

Also on exhibit will be works in all media by artists who were represented in shows during the 1982-83 season.

The Detroit Artists Market is at 1452 Randolph in Harmony Park. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. The market will be closed during August.

When alongside a lake, choose a nautical theme

By Corinne Abett
staff writer

In house on Upper Long Lake in West Bloomfield, the outside sets the tone for the interior design.

Interior designer Larry Klein and the homeowners, the Richard E. Sikorskis, quickly recognized the impact of the lake outside on their design plans.

"The lake is the star," said Klein, "that's why they bought the house."

The house, three stories overlooking the lake, is nestled into a treed slope that gives the entry area welcome privacy and helps create the impression of up-north aloneness in the midst of a populated area.

Klein, a disciple of contemporary, went with a nautical theme minus all of the usual clichés.

THE VIEW from the floor-to-ceiling living room windows often includes the brightly colored sails of one of the family's favorite toys. The trees outside soar the three stories but allow a wonderful view of the lake and shoreline.

The carpeting in the living room is a very light beige. The modulars are covered with a quilted wool in pale parchment. The travertine marble fireplace is another elegantly muted shade.

The high-gloss lacquer, revolving coffee table in a soft honey beige is beautifully sculptural.

"This is a room of shapes rather than furniture," said Klein, whose studio is in Farmington Hills.

To the right of the entry to the living room is a wet bar, tucked cozily near an open spiral stairway to a loft retreat.

THE FLOOR of the dining room is bare, contrasting interestingly with the three-quarter-inch, glass-topped Bruetan table with radius corners.

The only color in the room is navy, complemented by white.

The contemporary Vice Versa fabric on the chairs is navy and white. Walls and ceiling are navy, even the the vintage prints on the wall are predominately blue.

The vertical blinds are polished chrome, and the custom built-in cabinet, which makes an attractive serving area, is white Formica.

This, like the rest of the house, is a room of attractive lines and shapes with a crisp, clean, sophisticated presence.

The dining room continues a nautical theme. The chairs are navy and white, the walls and ceiling are navy and the built-in cabinets are white Formica.

A magnificent view of Upper Long Lake — with the family sailboat ready to go — is the focal point of the living room.

Artists are needed for fall show

The Huron Valley Arts Council is seeking artists to participate in a juried art show called Art in the Park on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17-18.

Sixty to 70 artists will be selected to display and sell their work. Cash prizes also will be awarded.

Entry blanks may be obtained by contacting Pat Oldford, P.O. Box 303, Milford 48042.

The council especially is looking for quilters and other folk artists.
