St. Joe's selects city for medical facility

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Speculation was put to an end last week on St. Joseph Hospital's plans to build a clinic in Plymouth.

"We are 99 percent sure we will build in Plymouth. There doesn't appear to be any major problems. Currently our plans are to build in Plymouth," said Bill Brauker, a spokesman for the hospital, which is located in Ann Arbor.

The hospital reportedly was looking at several sites to build an out-patient/family care clinic, including Plymouth and Canton Township.

Plymouth officials earlier presented the hospital with a $3 million clinic/parking deck concept, which apparently has won approval with the hospital's various boards.

"They have all the clearances and OKs to go ahead now. It's just a matter of dollars at this point," said City Manager Henry Graper.

Under the city's plan, the city — through the auspices of the Downtown Development Authority — will construct a $1 million parking deck in the Central Parking Lot, which will tie into a $2 million clinic built by the hospital.

The deck would increase parking spaces in the lot from 232 to 300, while the two-story clinic will provide space for approximately 10 physicians.

The clinic will face Harvey Street, and be built on property currently used for a gas station and veterinary clinic.

"We hope to meet with the property owners in the near future," Graper said.

Earlier problems and questions about the property being in the Tonquish Creek flood plain have been worked out, he said.

"We are also waiting to hear on the grant application for the deck. It would sure help things out if we got the money," Graper said.

If things progress as planned, Graper said construction of the facility will begin early next spring — with the hospital moving in August.

Construction of the deck will be done in sections so the Central Lot can remain open, he said.

Reports of opposition to the project by local doctors was unconfirmed by Graper and Brauker.

"There are 17 physicians on staff here from the Plymouth area. They all have voiced support of the project," Brauker said.

"We will be coming to Plymouth."

This 1966 Shelby is now worth between $18,000 and $21,000 but originally was built for Hertz Corp. and sold for $3,500 in 1965. The car has a 289-cubic-inch Cobra engine.

Resident rebuilds Shelby to capture national honor

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

In 1966 O.J. Simpson wasn't filming rent-a-car commercials, but he could have flown through airports in Hertz' Shelby Mustang rentals.

Known then as the GT350H, the sleek black and gold cars were Ford Mustangs customized for Hertz by performance enthusiast Carroll Shelby.

The cars, now simply called Shelybys, are pure power and performance — possibly the princes in the muscle car kingdom.

One glance at Rick Jones' 1966 Shelby reveals a car made in a time when V8s and street racing were the rule rather than exception. The air scoops, hood locks, mag wheels and white-letter tires are subtle reminders that this car can travel at speeds in excess of 100 mph.

However Jones, a Plymouth resident, rebuilt his Shelby for show competition rather than street racing.

His efforts paid off earlier this month in a first place at the National Shelby Club's car judging at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency. The judging was part of a three-day Shelby convention.

"I stripped the car right down to the bare metal and built it from the ground up. It's all original, except for the tires," said Jones, a Ford Motor Co. engineer.

WHILE REBUILDING the car, Jones spent hours researching how it was built and what parts were used. Along the way he learned the history of the '66 Shelby.

The first Shelybys were built in 1965.

Flick Jones

It was Shelby's attempt to prove Americans could build production racing cars which could compete with European models such as the Jaguar.

"The '65s are all out racing cars. They could blow any car off the road. They are extremely rare now," Jones said.

In 1966 Shelby went to the Hertz Corporation hoping to sell them a few hundred customized cars. Apparently they were impressed, Hertz bought 935 Shelybys to rent through its Hertz Sports Car Club.

The Hertz pamphlet which pictured the cars, only offered in black and gold, now are worth $100, Jones said.

The '66 Shelybys sold for $3,500. Today, a car like Jones' can sell for $18,000 to $21,000.

In the car judging Jones' Shelby received 290 points out of a possible 300.

"They took a few points off because they found some polish I left on the car somewhere. I also got a few points off because I have a little dent in the passenger door," he said.

However, to a layman the car looks flawless. On the outside the paint is shined to a mirror-like finish. On the inside the upholstery is spotless, as is

Accused arsonist ready for trial

The trial of a 34-year-old Livonia man accused of deliberately setting fire to the Old Village Inn in Plymouth will begin next month.

Jury selection is scheduled to start Tuesday, Aug. 23, before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Henry J. Szymanski, according to defense attorney Robert the case, the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office offered to reduce the charges to second degree murder in exchange for a guilty plea, Delaney said.

Cook declined the plea bargain, his attorney said.

Second degree murder carries a maximum penalty of life in prison, while first degree murder carries a Cook was arrested by Plymouth police shortly after the Jan. 5 fire, which left one resident dead.

After being bound over to circuit court in January, Delaney requested a forensic exam for Cook to determine his mental competency.

The forensic exam has been completed and found that Cook is mentally capable of standing trial on the charges, Delaney said.

"I want it understood that we never had any intention of pleading incompetency," he said.

Cook supposedly had been kicked out of the hotel by owner Eugene LeBlanc almost a year before the fire.

During Cook's preliminary examination at Plymouth's 35th District Court, witnesses said Cook spoke of "killing his friend" shortly after the flames broke out.

Cook is being held without bond at the Wayne County Jail. Delaney is representing Cook as a court-appointed attorney.

Convicted motorist arrested second time

A man who recently pleaded guilty to negligent homicide in a Canton traffic death was arrested last week and charged with drunk driving.

A Wayne County Sheriff's deputy July 10 arrested Glenn Matney, 26, of Westland for drunk driving and driving with a suspended license.

Matney refused to take the breath test at the time of the arrest, which occurred on Haggerty near Michigan Avenue.

He posted $150 bond and was released. Arraignment is scheduled for Monday, Aug. 1, in 35th District Court.

EARLY LAST month Matney received five years' probation after pleading guilty to negligent homicide in connection with the Dec. 17 traffic death of Madonna Tharp, 34, of Canton. Matney was intoxicated at the time of the crash, according to a police breathalyzer test.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles Kaufman sentenced Matney to 117 days in the Detroit House of Corrections on the negligent homicide charge. Because Matney had already served that number of days in jail waiting trial, the time was applied against his sentence, and he was freed.

Originally, Canton police charged Matney with manslaughter with a motor vehicle, a felony which carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison. Negligent homicide is a high misdemeanor with a two-year maximum penalty.

According to Canton police, Matney struck a car in which Tharp was riding at the intersection of Cherry Hill and Sheldon. He then fled the scene and was arrested by Westland police.

Matney later failed to appear in district court for a preliminary examination, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Canton police arrested Matney in Ann Arbor last February when he got off a Greyhound bus arriving from Washington.

He remained in jail until his sentencing.

have a complete stock for other outdoor enthusiasts."

During his working career Goulet has been a member of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission and now is a member of the Board of Directors of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association. But as he put it, "I can't sit still."

Born in Rochester, N. H., on Nov. 3, 1915, he attended elementary schools in that area before settling in Island Pond in 1939. He graduated from Brighton High School in 1943 and immediately enlisted in the United States Air Force where he served two years.

THEN BEGAN a college career under the G.I. Bill that ended with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from the University of Vermont in 1950.

He began his engineering career in his favored Island Pond post office and then moved on to Detroit in 1951 to take employment with the Wayne Co. Road Commission.

The commission is responsible for 1,300 miles of roads and during his stay he has held various positions. His last assignment was to take charge of traffic and safety. In this capacity, he supervised the maintenance and installation of 1,500 traffic signals and 1,200 miles of traffic control signs.

When he came to Plymouth he resided in Lakeside. He married Madeline Delays of Dearborn in 1960 and they became the parents of four sons and two daughters.

But now that he has retired from the road commission he admits a keen desire to hang one more sign — over the door of a sporting goods store he hopes to open in Plymouth.

Head-on crash kills woman

A Livonia woman was killed, and two others injured, in a three-car accident early Friday morning on Ann Arbor Road at the CAO Railroad overpass in Plymouth.

Nancy J. Mikkelsen, 31, of Woodring in Livonia was pronounced dead at the scene, according to Plymouth Traffic Officer Robert Henry.

Christine J. Rafe, 37, of Queensway in Canton Township was listed in critical condition Friday at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. She was flown to the U-M Hospital following emergency surgery at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Timothy R. Thornton, 36, of Belleville was treated and released from Wayne County General Hospital Friday.

According to police, Rafe was traveling westbound on Ann Arbor Road at about 1:30 a.m. when her car crossed the center line of traffic and struck Mikkelsen's car head on.

THORNTON, ALSO heading eastbound, rear-ended Mikkelsen — sandwiching her, Henry said.

"There was no way he could avoid hitting her," he said.

"Several witnesses said Rafe didn't have her headlights on at the time. I've sent the headlights to the Michigan State Police crime lab to have them tested to see whether or not they were on," he said.

All three cars appear to have been traveling at posted speeds, Henry said.

Although a ticket wasn't issued to Rafe, police said she will be charged at a later date.

Among the charges being considered by police is manslaughter, Henry said.

After the accident, the tow truck crew ran into some problems, he said.

While towing one of the cars from the scene, its gasoline tank fell to the ground and burst into flames, burning the car and towing equipment.

No one was injured by the fire, which firefighters were called to extinguish.

Computer-time High technology hits high school

Students taking advantage of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' summer program are becoming old friends with one of society's newest crutches — the computer.

The district's Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP) in conjunction with Texas Instruments Inc. offered students a seminar in computers last week.

Participants were introduced to basic computer language. They also were given hands-on experience with the equipment. Teachers from the school district were especially enthused about the seminar, as it gave some of them their first chance to become familiar with computer technology.

The seminar represents an important step forward for the school district. Purchasing computer hardware and software is an extremely costly proposition — and one that has caused the school board much concern.

Board members differ on how important it is for students in the district to be given a chance to experiment and work with computers. They also disagree when it comes to deciding where funds for computers should be placed — at the high school, middle or elementary school level.

For more information about the district's computer program, interested persons may contact Byron Richardson, regional program manager for the youth employment program, at 453-3100, ext. 298.

Dems for it, GOP against

House OKs secret transcript inquiry

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the days before the Fourth of July recess.

HOUSE

SECURITY: By a vote of 250-151, the House reaffirmed that it wants a secret investigation into the doctored of committee transcripts by House employees.

This was a defeat for Republicans, who wanted a public probe. The dispute concerns 1982 hearings into the Environmental Protection Agency and 1980 hearings into alleged manipulation of silver prices.

Unidentified Democratic editors of the transcripts apparently changed the meaning of what GOP lawmakers said, often so as to make the Republicans sound ridiculous.

The vote was the last major obstacle to launching a secret probe of the distortions by the Democratic-controlled House Ethics Committee.

Had Republicans been victorious, they would have offered an amendment requiring the ethics panel to investigate publicly unless it approved secret sessions by a recorded vote.

Supporter Gillis Long, D-La., said the Ethics Committee has "the tools with which to conduct an expeditious and judicious investigation."

Opponent Judd Gregg, R-N.H., called the Democratic strategy a "very fast-track attempt to get this matter out of (the) public eye."

roll call report

Members voting yes favored a secret Ethics Committee probe.

Voting yes: Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit, William Ford, D-Taylor, and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting no: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

AIRPORT: The House rejected, 170-249, an amendment to limit the increase in passengers and flights at Washington National Airport.

Located minutes from Capitol Hill, National is prized by most lawmakers for its convenience. However, many area residents and officials say the airport built nearly 40 years ago to handle prop planes is unsafe.

This amendment sought to limit air traffic at National and shift some of its flights to Dulles and DWI (Baltimore-Washington International) airports. It was offered to HR 3339, an appropriations bill later sent to the Senate.

Supporter Don Pease, D-Ohio, said members of Congress appear "self-serving" when they block Federal Aviation Administration attempts to shift traffic away from National.

Opponent Eldon Rudd, R-Ariz., said National "belongs to the people of this nation," and that residents complaining about its noise and safety "have a choice not to live near that airport."

Members voting no opposed FAA plans to cap traffic at National Airport.

Voting yes: Pursell and Broomfield.
 Voting no: Hertel, Ford and Levin.

SENATE

FOOD: The Senate rejected, 24-73, an amendment whose effect was to cut funding for the three major federal food programs, child nutrition, food stamps, and the WIC (women, infant, children) feeding program.

The vote occurred during debate on the fiscal 1984 Department of Agriculture appropriations bill (HR 3323), later sent to conference with the House.

At issue was whether money for the programs should be spread over 12 or fewer months. Supporters of the pro-Administration amendment said at least $1 billion could be saved by allocating over 12 months.

Sponsor Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said "this partial-year funding mechanism, which disguises how much money we really intend to spend, is not fair to anyone involved."

Opponent Thad Cochran, R-Miss., said the amendment could deny full benefits "to all those who are eligible for benefits under the law."

Senators voting yes wanted lower outlays for the three food programs.

Both of Michigan's Democratic senators, Carl Levin and Donald Riegle, voted no.

CONGRESS: The Senate approved, 78-15, and sent to the White House the conference report on the fiscal 1984 legislative branch appropriations bill (HR 3135).

Funding Congress and its many agencies, the bill sets outlays at $1.48 billion. That is about twice what Congress cost taxpayers in 1975, but an increase of only 1 percent over fiscal 1983.

According to the Tax Foundation, the average senator will cost $2.47 million in 1984 and the average House members $913,000.

Senators voting yes favored the $1.48 billion outlay for the legislative branch.

Levin voted yes. Riegle voted yes.

William Clark set off from St. Louis with a band of some 40 men to explore the new lands of the Louisiana Purchase enroute to the Pacific Ocean. In this book Hawke, a college history professor blessed with a smooth narrative style, puts the journey's scientific achievements in proper context, at the same time conveying the awesome adventure side of the long trek.

- "Blue Highways," by William Least Heat Moon. One critic called this book "an inner look at the still-beating heart of forgotten America." Another called the author "a witty, generous, sophisticated, and democratic observer." The Chicago Sun-Times said that among on-the-road books this one is "even better" than John Steinbeck's "Travels With Charley." By now, most book patrons know that "Least Heat Moon" is the translation of the author's Indian tribal name. For the most part, the book explores the unsung side of America as seen on a magnificent, unique tour, "with the price of gasoline no object."
- "The Youngest Science — Notes of a Medicine Watcher," by Lewis Thomas. The author has that wonderful capacity of making his subject matter understandable to the layman. Not only is this the magnificent memoir of the life and work of a great doctor, it is an inquiry into what medicine is all about. It can't help but make the process leading to scientific discoveries — more real to the general reader.

- "A Measure of Time," by Rosa Guy. Prize-winning author of eight previous novels, Rosa Guy is West Indian by birth and has lived for many years in New York. In this adult novel she presents a view of 20th Century American history by chronicling the life of a black woman who escapes from Alabama poverty to take the Harlem of the '20s by storm. Hers is a rags-to-riches life and the Guy novel is unforgettable.

City manager hires intern

The Plymouth City Manager's office has hired a summer intern to assist in that office's work.

Mary Pniewski, a Wayne State University master's degree student, started work last week, according to City Manager Henry Graper.

Pniewski will assist Graper in compiling information on a tax lawsuit.

the dash containing various meters and gauges. Under the hood, the 289-cubic inch Cobra engine is polished, cleaned and painted. Sitting below the high-rise chrome air filter are head covers proudly displaying the Ford name.

"When I drive it I become a basket case, so it's really not fun. When I go out for a drive, by the time I get home I'm a nervous wreck," he said.

On one of his first trips out after rebuilding the car, Jones said he learned his lesson.

"I pulled the car out to do some cleaning in the garage. I decided I would go ahead and take it around the block," he recalled.

"I went down to Kellogg Park. When I got there I thought to myself that Sheldon Road was a lot smoother, so I headed for Sheldon," he said.

After getting on Sheldon, Jones decided to take the car on M-14, since he never drove it on the expressway.

"As I got onto the expressway, I sort of got on it and the engine really kicked in. I shot out and there, sitting on the side, was a state police car."

As the police car pulled out, Jones didn't worry about getting a ticket as much as he did about not having his driver's license with him.

"All I had visions of was the boys from Mayflower Towing," he chuckled.

"Luckily the cops didn't get me, they went on around and got some other people. I drove the car home and said, 'Never again.' Now I take shorter trips."

Hudson Realty expands into residential

J.L. Hudson Realty in Plymouth has expanded its sales force and is entering the residential market.

Joe Hudson, broker, announced this week that he has quadrupled the size of his residential sales staff from four to 14 and is seriously getting back into the home market.

The firm got out of the residential field a few years ago to concentrate in commercial, industrial, and land development.

The re-entry has resulted in a reorganization of the company's personnel with a team of three managers directing the sales effort.

The managers working under Hudson will be Dave Ramsey who specializes in residential sales, Ed Hood who is a land specialist, and Frank Mangold, a finance specialist. Hudson specializes in commercial and industrial sales.

"Joe believes in the local economy and in the future of the Plymouth community. He's the oldest broker in town but he still has a lot of faith in the community's future," Ramsey said.

HUDSON SAID that he firmly believes the Plymouth area is the finest residential community in the tri-county area.

"In my 72 years I've moved into, lived in, and moved out of 43 homes. I've lived in Livonia, Huntington Woods, Birmingham, Detroit, Lathrup Village, Farmington, Ann Arbor, Livonia — all over. And there's just no better place to live anywhere than Plymouth. I won't be moving anymore."

Ramsey said that real estate sales are getting better in Plymouth-Canton as prices have stopped declining and are beginning to rise a bit.

"Canton had a rough time during the recession but things are moving now. We sold three homes in Carriage Hills alone in just one month in June," Ramsey said.

"Plymouth and Canton need to come closer together to make this a more viable community. We can't have rivalry between the two; it's not good. Canton offers one type of housing and Plymouth another."

Hudson added that the public safety services in the community really helps convince buyers to locate here. "We show potential buyers the police station, fire department, Cultural Center, and some of the other nice facilities the community has and we sell 'em right away."

The strength of the residential market here, added Ramsey, is evident by the fact that many residents buy and sell but remain in the Plymouth-Canton area.

"There are a lot of sales within the community, to a larger or smaller house, or from the city to a larger lot in the country. We are keeping people in the community — that says a lot."

oral quarrel

Today's Oral Quarrel question is: "WHO DO YOU THINK WOULD WIN IF THE MICHIGAN PANTHERS PLAYED AGAINST THE DETROIT LIONS? If you wish, why not share with us whom your favorite Panther player is." The responses of our readers follow:

• The Panthers have a bunch of good talent, like Anthony Carter and quarterback Herbert and the Lions have not so good players. The Panthers are much a much better team — physically and emotionally.

• The Lions would win because they have been playing together so long and they are an established team. The Panthers are good in their league but that's because all the other teams are new just like they are. The Panthers play together pretty well compared to the other teams but they wouldn't play as well in the NFL. My favorite player is Anthony Carter.

• I think the Panthers will win because they have a better quarterback. And Anthony Carter is my favorite player.

• The Lions would win because they have prettier uniforms and my favorite player is Ken Lacey.

• I think the Panthers would win because they showed when they had a 1-4 record they came back and won the championship and that's something the Lions can't hardly do. My favorite player is AC, Anthony Carter.

• The score would be the Lions 45 and the Panthers 20, primarily because the defensive backfield for the Panthers is not quite up to par with NFL standards. In terms of the favorite player my choice isn't a player but Mr. Taubman, the owner, who has some very good ideas on how to run a professional organization.

• Well, it's not hard to figure that one out. Naturally the Panthers would be the way the Lions have been playing. I don't know any of the players individually; all I know is what is overheard in the other room. The Panthers have got it hands down!

• The Panthers would win. Anthony Carter is my favorite player.

• I think the Panthers would win and Anthony Carter is my favorite player.

Hotel, near bankrupt in 1930s, hired a manager

(Part II)

Charley Bennett, president of Dais, was toastmaster at the banquet in 1927 when the Mayflower Hotel was dedicated. Bennett, who had been ill for several months preceding completion of the hotel, gave credit to Fred Schrader and his committee for completing the project.

Bennett called the opening of the hotel "the biggest and most important event in the history of Plymouth." He overlooked the importance of the day in March 1925 when William Starkweather and wife Keziah built the first home on the spot where the hotel later stood. And he forgot about the effect on Plymouth of the day in 1871 when the railroads came to the community.

The founders couldn't have picked a worse year to erect a hotel than 1927. Two years later came the Great Depression, triggered by the stock market crash in the fall of 1929. Between 1929 and 1933, the nation's unemployment rate rose from 3.2 percent to almost 25 percent. In Michigan, the unemployment figure for non-agricultural workers actually reached 43 percent.

Then in 1933, six years after the hotel opened, the nation's banking system ground to a halt. Between 1930 and the inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as president, 5,504 banks shut down. As a result of the economic malaise that gripped the country, over 85 percent of the hotels in the United States went bankrupt.

To make matters worse for the Hotel Mayflower, that was the period when past and present

the government decided to re-route U.S. 12. It had come through town on Ann Arbor Trail, past the hotel. Now it by-passed the center of Plymouth and the hotel, whose site had been chosen because of the traffic the directors thought Highway 12 would generate.

For the next ten years, the Mayflower just managed to keep its head above water. By 1939, however, its stock, originally sold for $33 a share, was selling for 25 cents a share. Carl Shear, one of the hotel's directors, told me that he, among others who could afford it, picked up many additional shares of the hotel stock at that time.

The Mayflower was about to go into receivership when a young man who had learned about food handling and food costs at Eastern Michigan University's McKenny Hall entered the picture. His name was Ralph G. Lorenz.

AFTER GRADUATING from Plymouth High School, Lorenz had worked his way through Eastern.

One of his jobs was food handling at the EMU student union. As assistant manager of the cafeteria he learned to cater to 1,700 students and faculty. It was there that he learned about the logistics and economics of buying, preparing and serving food in large quantities. Somehow, he also found time to be captain of Eastern's golf team.

In the spring of 1939, Lorenz was between jobs. After leaving EMU he had been a partner in a restaurant venture that didn't work out. He was now looking for work. One day, he met local attorney Perry Richwine on Penniman Avenue. Richwine was then a member of the Mayflower Hotel's board of directors.

When he heard that Ralph was free, Richwine said he would talk to the board about hiring him. That is how Ralph Lorenz, who was born Aug. 11, 1910, and who arrived in Plymouth via Ellis Island from his native Galicia (then part of Austria) when he was 11 years old, became manager of the Mayflower Hotel. It was in March 1939, and Lorenz was then 29.

Ralph's wife, Mabel Dana, whom he met at EMU, was then teaching. With her income as a backstop, Lorenz made a proposition to the financially-strapped hotel directors that they couldn't turn down. He offered to work for low wages if he could have a percentage of any profit he was able to make for them. Since they were not use to making a profit, they had nothing to lose.

LORENZ HAD great confidence that he could turn the venture around, but the outlook was bleak.

For one thing, the hotel owed seven years back taxes to the city and the county. For another, creditors were demanding payment of past bills and the hotel staff had not been paid for several weeks. Ralph himself was unable to cash his first six month's paychecks because the hotel owners lacked funds to honor them.

The first thing he did was to ask creditors for time. He remembers a man from the Chicago Packing Company who agreed to advance money to pay some of the other creditors. Ralph asked him why he was willing to take that risk.

"My driver knows you from the time you were at Eastern Michigan," the man replied. "He told me that you will make this place pay. All I ask is that, if my price is right, you buy your meat from me."

Ralph agreed and Chicago Packing got his meat business from then on. "They, and some other creditors were patient. They said to pay them when we could. They were loyal to us and we have continued to be loyal to them."

Lorenz said since the only coffee the hotel has served since he took over 43 years ago is LaTouraine. "It's made in Boston," he said, "and its flavor never varies."

Memories of Mom's dinner recalled

One of the first things a writer usually does when each new edition of the paper comes off the press is to turn the pages to see how his contributions appear on the printed page.

But not The Stroller. The first thing he does is to find the page featuring all sorts of desserts and other delicacies with the hope that he can find there a story on a sandwich that has been on his mind since his early youth.

Back in those days our family operated a small lunch counter. It was our only means of support after The Stroller's father died, and his mother tried to carry on.

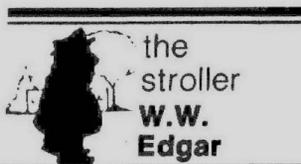

This was long before hamburgers became the most popular of sandwiches and when ham-and-cheese combinations were the most often ordered.

For that reason mother kept a plate of sliced ham ready for serving at all times. And with that she always had a goodly portion of sliced cheese. The kind of cheese she used had only the slightest of holes and often was referred to by the Dutch housekeepers of our time as "rat" cheese because it was the type of cheese that was used in rat traps.

Then one evening she got the surprise of her life. A newcomer in town walked in, took a seat at the counter, and asked if she would make him a special sandwich.

Always one to oblige, she asked just what he wanted.

"I'd like an egg sandwich," he said,

"with a thick slice of Spanish onion. And I'd like to have it toasted."

This was a strange combination. But Mother acted unconcerned and went about the task of satisfying the customer.

She had never heard of that combination. And it kept puzzling her to the point where she put together such a sandwich just to learn how it tasted. It was not all she thought it would be. But she said nothing.

Then came the greatest shock of all. One night a week or so later the same gent walked in and after taking his seat at the counter, said to Mother, "You were kind enough to make me a special sandwich the other night. Will you try another of my favorites?"

Asked what he wished this time, this new customer asked that mother toast the bread, place a thick slice of Spanish onion on the bottom, add a thick slice of orange and then cover the orange with peanut butter.

Mother looked dazed for a moment. But she went about her work to satisfy the customer. But to the day she passed away she never could understand such a combination.

It was almost like the time another chap took his seat at the counter and, after being served an oyster stew, asked for the ketchup. Mother shuddered when she watched him pour the catsup into the soup.

IT'S SUMMERTIME!

Food and Fun Move Outdoors

Summertime provides the opportunity for good food and fun, especially when they're enjoyed outdoors. These delicious recipes incorporate cheese as the perfect touch to eating in warm summer weather.

Using your backyard as the setting, these recipes are perfect for a light dinner at dusk or a sunny Sunday afternoon get-together with family and friends. Start with Alpine Appetizers that combine monterey jack cheese and Swiss cheese with bacon, green onion, eggs and milk. Mix the ingredients together and bake in a square baking dish. Cut into squares and serve on stoneground wheat crackers or other square crackers. What better light meal?

Make a Festive Fruit and Cheese Tray by arranging slices of mild cheddar cheese and extra sharp cheddar cheese with strawberries, melon balls and pineapple slices. The summer season offers a wide variety of fruits to choose from, so take advantage of the warm-weather harvest at your food stores. While you are choosing your fruits for the platter, be sure to find the ingredients for a BLT Strata Salad. It's simply a bacon, lettuce and tomato mixture without the bread. Add Swiss cheese slices, cucumber, hard-cooked eggs and thousand island dressing for a taste-tempting layered salad that will keep your company coming back for more. The cucumber adds color and snap.

Most folks love the flavor of barbecue, and Junior Barbecued Heroes are easy to prepare without lighting the grill. On French bread rolls with green pepper rings create the flavorful combination. It's then topped with pasteurized processed American cheese slices and broiled until the cheese melts lending a rich, mellow flavor to the tangy sandwich ingredients.

Even the novice cook can make Chicken Salad in a Puff. Simply combine chopped cooked chicken, sharp natural cheddar cheese, chopped celery, mayonnaise and mandarin orange segments and chill. To make the shell, combine water, margarine, flour, salt and eggs in a saucepan. Spread the mixture onto the bottom of a pie plate. The mixture "puffs" itself while it bakes. After it's cooled, just spoon in the chicken mixture.

Ready for dessert? Your friends couldn't possibly resist this recipe for Sensational Shortcakes. You can make the shortcake ahead of time. The day of your gathering, combine cream cheese, powdered sugar, orange juice, grated orange rind, whipping cream and strawberry slices to top each piece.

ALPINE APPETIZER

- 1/4 cup milk
- Stone ground wheat crackers

Combine cheeses, bacon and onion. Add combined eggs and milk; mix lightly. Spoon into 8-inch square baking dish. Bake at 325°, 25 to 30 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cut into squares. Serve on crackers.

BLT STRATA SALAD

- Kraft thousand island dressing

Arrange tomato, cheese, half of cucumber, egg and remaining cucumber on greens-covered plate; sprinkle with bacon. Serve with dressing. 6 servings

JUNIOR BARBECUED HEROES

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup Kraft barbecue sauce
- 4 8-inch French bread rolls, heated, cut in half lengthwise
- Green pepper rings
- Deluxe pasteurized process American cheese slices, cut in half diagonally

Brown meat; drain. Add onion; cook until tender. Stir in barbecue sauce. Cover; simmer 10 minutes. For each sandwich, cover bottom half of roll with meat mixture, green pepper and process cheese. Broil until process cheese begins to melt. Cover with top half of roll. 4 sandwiches

CHICKEN SALAD IN A PUFF

- 2-1/2 cups chopped cooked chicken
- 1 cup (4 ozs.) shredded Kraft sharp natural cheddar cheese
- 1 cup chopped celery
- Kraft real mayonnaise
- 1 11-oz. can mandarin orange segments, drained
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup Parkay margarine
- 1/2 cup flour
- Dash of salt
- 2 eggs

Combine chicken, cheese, celery and enough mayonnaise to moisten; mix lightly. Stir in orange segments. Chill.

Bring water and margarine to boil. Add flour and salt; stir vigorously over low heat until mixture forms ball. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Spread batter onto bottom and sides of well-greased 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 400°, 30 minutes or until golden brown. Turn off oven. Prick puff with fork. Leave in closed oven 10 minutes. Remove from oven; cool. Spoon in chicken mixture just before serving. Top with additional cheese, if desired. 8 servings

Combine dry ingredients and rind; cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add combined milk and egg, mixing just until moistened. Drop approximately 1/3 cup batter, 3 inches apart, onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 425°, 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

Combine cream cheese, 1/4 cup powdered sugar, juice and rind, mixing until well blended. Gradually add remaining powdered sugar to whipping cream, beating until stiff peaks form; fold into cream cheese mixture. Chill. Split shortcakes; fill and top with cream cheese mixture and strawberries. 8 servings

Sleuths trim market bills

Broccoli, mushrooms and cherry tomatoes add the "garden fresh" to Garden Fresh Rice Pilaf. Because the vegetables are cooked briefly, they retain their fresh-picked flavor, crisp texture and bright colors.

Veggies add texture to rice

A revolution has been sweeping kitchens here and abroad, bringing with it a strong emphasis on fresh and light. The fresh refers to ingredients — the freshest fruits, vegetables, meat, poultry, fish and dairy products the market has to offer — while the light describes the simpler, cleaner methods used to prepare the fresh ingredients.

A dish ahead of its time in terms of freshness and lightness is the pilaf. The pilaf, one of the world's oldest rice dishes, forms the basis of the cuisines of Greece and most Near Eastern countries. Traditionally, pilafs have been exceptionally flexible dishes because ingredients could be varied to suit individual tastes and available foods. While the ingredients may vary, the success of a pilaf depends upon the rice. In a pilaf, the rice grains must emerge well cooked but separate, never sticky or too soft.

Paired with the fluffy, separate-grained rice in today's pilafs are fresh-from-the-garden vegetables. Broccoli, mushrooms and cherry tomatoes star in Garden Fresh Rice Pilaf. Because the vegetables are cooked ever so briefly, they retain their fresh flavor, crisp texture and brilliant colors. Ground nutmeg and shredded mozzarella cheese add a touch of the unexpected to this international side dish which goes from garden to table in just 30 minutes.

Adding a refreshing change of pace to warm weather meals are cool and colorful rice salads. A European favorite for many years, rice salads are now becoming popular in the United States and Canada. Dilly Garden Rice Salad, with its tangy American flavor, features zucchini, green onions and vine-ripened tomatoes in a light and tangy dilled yogurt dressing.

Dilly Garden Rice Salad and Garden Fresh Rice Pilaf are only two of the dozens of recipes featured in Uncle Ben's 40th Anniversary Recipe Collection. All are easy to prepare and many are easy on the budget as well. For your copy, send $1 in check or money order and one proof-of-purchase from Converted Brand Rice to: Uncle Ben's 40th Anniversary Recipe Collection, P.O. Box 55199, Houston, Texas 77255. GARDEN FRESH RICE PILAF
 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced
 1 clove garlic, minced
 2 tbsp butter or margarine
 1 cup rice
 1/4 tsp nutmeg
 2 1/2 cups beef broth or bouillon
 1 tsp salt
 2 cups small broccoli flowerettes
 1 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
 Sauté mushrooms and garlic in butter in 10-inch skillet over medium heat 1 to 2 minutes. Stir in rice and nutmeg. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until rice is golden. Add broth and salt. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat. Cover tightly and simmer 15 minutes. Stir in broccoli. Cover and continue to simmer until all liquid is absorbed, about 10 minutes. Stir in tomatoes. Sprinkle with cheese. Makes 6 servings.

DILLY GARDEN RICE SALAD
 1 cup rice
 1 carton (8 ounces) plain yogurt
 1 tsp sugar
 1 tsp salt
 3/4 tsp dill weed
 2 medium zucchini, thinly sliced
 4 green onions with tops, sliced
 2 medium tomatoes, chopped

Cook rice according to package directions. Transfer to large bowl. Cover and chill. Combine yogurt, sugar, salt and dill weed. Stir into rice. Stir in zucchini and onions. Chill at least 1 hour. Just before serving, stir in tomatoes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

There are two types of shoppers: the haphazard spender and the alert planner. It's almost effortless to hit the grocery store when you must restock the pantry and refrigerator, maybe scribbling a few needed items on a scrap of paper, filling the shopping basket helter-skelter as you scoot up and down the aisles, not paying any attention to displays or prices. But it is very foolish. It's smarter to organize shopping trips. There are guidelines I follow that pay dividends before I depart for the supermarket. They include:
 Checking newspaper ads for sales and coupon bargains. Making a list of what is needed for the week's menu. Deciding on the store offering the biggest bargains. Considering stops at two stores if worth the savings. Placing coupons, bonus-stamp cards and special cut-out ads in one envelope per store, writing the items on the outside.

PLANNING TO buy foods in season, when they're most plentiful and less expensive. Once you're inside the supermarket, the key words are "be alert." It is not a shopping sin to deviate from your list.

Frankly, I've realized more savings from unadvertised sales than published ones — like the time I made a killing on Swiss cheese at the deli counter.

The slicing Swiss was $1.09 a quarter pound, but I noticed prepackage cubes were $2.99 a pound. I picked up two packages and discovered that someone's mathematical error was my reward. One package was .58 of a pound for $1.26; the other .42 of a pound for $1.14. I got a pound for $2.40.

Another time I was at the beer cooler when I saw two stacks of six-packs selling for $2.19 each, limit two. Close by was a stack of 12-packs for $5.19 each, no limit.

I've been most successful at the meat counter. While my wife snubs steak that loses some redness, I find the $1 to $1.50 per pound saving more than compensating. However, I must peel off the "special" sticker before I get home so Anita doesn't give me any flak. I've never had to make excuses for the taste when I cook them the same day.

Greg Melikov

WHILE I usually shop on Fridays because it's banking day, I have no qualms about returning to the supermarket to take advantage of the sales on Sundays through Wednesdays. For instance, I've purchased ground beef for 99 cents a pound on Tuesday. For every three pounds I bought, I figured I received one pound selling at the regular price free.

I've also found ground veal selling for about the same price as ground chuck side by side.

But I've made out the best with tuna fish, buying 6 1/2-ounce cans for about 30 cents. That's why I usually have five or six cans in the pantry and am always looking for new recipes.

TUNA-ARTICHOKE CASSEROLE

- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of celery soup
- 2 cans (14 oz.) artichoke hearts, drained and halved
- 2 cans (6 1/2 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
- 1/4 cup broken up cashews
- 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 1/2 tbsp. butter, melted

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In small saucepan, combine wine with soup, bring to boil, occasionally stirring, and remove from heat. In 1 1/2-quart casserole, in order, layer half of artichokes, tuna, cashews and soup mixture; repeat. Toss bread crumbs with butter, sprinkle over casserole and bake uncovered 25 minutes, when crumbs turn golden. Serves 6.

THE HONORARY

memberships awarded this year by the Plymouth Community Arts Council were well deserved. The recipients were Clara Camp, Nan Cooper and Joyce Foust.

Clara is a financial whizz. She has served as treasurer of the arts council and just about all their special projects over the years. Sometimes she and husband Gil have worked as a team. Clara was very active in the Professional Performing Series of several years ago and always can be counted on to give her all.

Nan was one of the originals who helped bring Arttrain to Plymouth. She, too, was active in the Professional Performing Series and has been a super ticket-seller for every PCAC event. As the council's "jack-of-all-trades," she steps in wherever needed.

Joyce was instrumental in establishing the Art Rental Gallery. It was Joyce who did the research, helped decide what would be in the gallery, then set up the guidelines. She served as first chairman of the rental gallery and has been there to offer help and encouragement all the way.

The arts council as a whole deserves an honorary commendation for its contributions to the way of life in the Plymouth and Canton communities.

JEAN MOREHEAD,

principal trumpeter player with the Singapore Symphony and a former Plymouth resident, was guest artist in a recent concert at Eastern Michigan University. Jean performed with EMU music faculty members Carter Eggers, trumpet, and Mary Ida Yost, organist. The concert was in the university's new Alexander Music Building Organ Studio.

Jean has served as principal trumpet with the Singapore Symphony since 1991. She earned bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Michigan. She taught at Olivet College before moving to Singapore to join the music faculty of the United World College of Southeast Asia.

A former member of the Plymouth Community Band, she also has been featured soloist with the band.

DIAN SMITH brought back some new quilt patterns from the Quilt Market in Minneapolis, Minn., the nation's trade show for the quilt industry.

Dian's mother and grandmother made quilts and she loves to sew. She has been quilting for a long time and has taught quilting for the past eight years. She sold her works at arts and crafts shows and has participated in Art in the Park. In March, she opened Dian's Quilt & Fabric Shop in Warren Smith's old house on Main Street, Plymouth. Her husband, Allen, must have been relieved when she opened the shop. She had been making quilted picnic hampers out of half-bushel baskets and when her output reached four gross, there wasn't room in the garage for their car.

The Wall Street Journal has noted that the quilt industry has solidified into a $50 million to $100 million a year market and still is expanding.

"The explosion of interest in quilting has spawned numerous classes, workshops, how-to articles, magazines, books, newsletters and quilting supply businesses," according to the Journal. Dian said all were represented at the Quilt Market in Minneapolis.

She teaches classes in beginning quilting, vests, jackets, and even has a stencil quilt class. She brought back a lot of new patterns from the market.

Dian and Allen have three daughters, ages 7 through 10. She has been a Plymouth resident for 12 years.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club for winning one of 25 awards given by Civitan International.

The local club won third place in the Outstanding Total Youth category. Members sponsor the Plymouth-Canton Junior Civitan Club and work with them on many projects. They sent 10 young people to the district Civitan Youth Seminar at Albion College. They sponsored Roses for Reye's (syndrome) sale, raising about $1,200. Civitans also provided materials and assembled buttons for the Centennial park Band Boosters. They "adopted" two group homes for the retarded and provide assistance as needed.

Monday morning golfers tee off for enjoyment

By Elinor Graham
staff writer

They start teeing off at 9:30 a.m. Mondays — the first mixed golf league for retirees in the Plymouth-Canton area. Chuck Childs of Plymouth Township organized the league this spring. Play began May 1 at Brooklane, the nine-hole, par-3 course on Six Mile Road at Sheldon.

They've been rained out a couple of times, but some of them played through anyway. Averages range from the 30s to the 70s. Some are longtime golfers, and some are playing for the first time. There are no handicaps.

"We play against our own average. We're not trying to beat anybody," Childs said.

Cost for the nine holes is $3. "We have no dues. In fact, we don't have any rules. It's social, and it's fun, and we want to keep it that way."

CHILDS SAID 30 signed up and about 25 show up each Monday morning.

"It's not too late to join the league," he said. "There's no need to call in advance, just show up. We have people from Westland, Canton, Plymouth and Northville — they come from all over."

They have just about an equal number of men and women, and they mix up the foursomes. The position of secretary is passed around.

"Betty and Wally Austin (of Canton) took a turn, and Florence and Bill Von Glahn have done it. We mix it, two men and two women, so everyone can get acquainted. We have a good time."

Play ends about noon, and most of the golfers stop at the clubhouse for a drink — beer, soft drink or a coffee. "Some stay for lunch, and some go out and play another nine holes," said Childs, who has one of the lower averages in the league.

FOURSOMES slated for play last Monday were: Betty Olstad, Elisha Martin, Harry Roebuck and Dave Weems; Ann Konarske, Mary Dillon, Mahlon van Ormer and Fred Delano; Isabel Maurer, Norm Davis, Ernie Strom and Charles Pettelle.

Marie Criger, Lee Flodquist, Art Gross and Wally Austin were in the fourth group.

They were followed by Alice Fisher, Betty Austin, Marvin Criger and Rex Hoffmar; Flo Von Glahn, Kay Jettinghoff, Chuck Childs and Ken Fisher; Gwynn Haystead, Jean Jacox, Pat McNeely and Ray Kimble; and threesome Irv Milligan, Stan Michalek and Bill Von Glahn.

All the golfers walk the scenic course in the rolling green hills of Northville Township. Mornings like this are what retirement is all about.

Jeanne Jacox takes a practice swing as Pat McNeely watches.

Staff photos by Bill Bresler

Irv Milligan, off in the rough, checks to see if he has enough clearance to swing his club.

Chuck Childs, who organized the league, says the whole thing is for fun and each player completes with his/her own average.

Students attend World Youth Conference '83

Cheryl Dilts, a student at Olivet Nazarene College, and Kandra Dilts, a student at Plymouth Canton High School, were delegates to World Youth Congress '83.

They were among more than 2,000 youth and adult leaders who attended the congress in Oaxtepec, Mexico, sponsored by Nazarene Youth International. Twenty-five countries were represented.

During the event, the participants were trained in leadership principles, heard messages and concerts by special resource personnel, and experienced first-hand the language and culture of other countries. Each afternoon they enjoyed sight-seeing excursions. They had the opportunity to talk with youth leaders from around the world concerning needs and programs designed to meet those needs.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kring of the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene attended as sponsors. Kring is youth pastor at the church and serves as president of the Eastern Michigan District Nazarene Youth International.

THE DILTS sisters were selected to attend the congress from applicants in the Eastern Michigan District. They had to meet requirements in district involvement and Bible memorization, and were interviewed by the district NYI selection committee.

They will share their experiences and concepts learned with youth in their local church.

They are the daughters of Richard and Carolyn Dilts of Plymouth. Pastor of the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene is the Rev. Carl R. Allen.

Dumas' resolution defeated

Wayne board backs off super sewer

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Western Wayne County Commissioners suffered a setback last week in their efforts to have county lawyers fight a state decision against the long-planned super sewer.

The full county board of commissioners refused to refer the controversy to the county corporation counsel office.

Despite the setback, it is possible that Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy and Wayne County Executive William Lucas will go to court to try to reverse a July 1 Department of Natural Resources decision.

The DNR, which controls federal funding for sewer and wastewater treatment projects, refused to authorize the federal funds for the full 60-mile project scheduled to serve 16 communities in western Wayne County and western Oakland county.

In turning down funds the DNR cited unresolved questions raised about the system by the city of Detroit.

DETROIT MAYOR Coleman Young has fought the plan claiming it would unnecessarily draw customers from the Detroit water and sewer system and that it spur further urban sprawl which would draw businesses, industries and people from Detroit.

Wayne County commissioners from Detroit lined up Thursday against a motion by Commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, to have the county's corporation counsel "investigate the legal rights . . . and decide whether legal steps should be taken" to rescue the project.

"The odd part of this is," said Commission Chairman William Suzore, D-Wyandotte, "the very people attempting to sabotage the project are the ones whose constituents would most benefit."

"When Detroit unemployed go hungry this winter, they can thank the commissioners and their mayor who have contributed to this project's downfall," Suzore said in reference to the construction jobs the project would involve.

Meanwhile, western Wayne suburban officials are investigating shorter alternatives to the proposed $298 million system, which is known officially as the Huron Valley Wastewater System.

DUMAS SAID continuing to utilize the present Detroit sewer system would result in heavy pollution of the Middle Rouge River, which runs through the middle of the county's Hines Park.

"The DNR admits — EPA says — Detroit admits that the Rouge interceptor lacks the capacity to handle those wastes," she told the Wayne Commission.

Dumas said rejection of the project "will cause irreparable harm to future growth" in the suburbs, cost 5,000 new construction jobs and throw away the $4 million spent by suburban governments in advancing super sewer plans to Lansing and Washington.

Her resolution lost 6-6 as several of the 15 commissioners shuffled in and out of the room during the three-hour meeting.

Supporting it were Suzore, Kay Beard, D-Inkster, Edward Plawecki

Jr., D-Dearborn Heights; Milton Mack, D-Wayne, and Joseph Jurkiewicz, D-Taylor.

Missing from the meeting was Richard Manning, D-Redford, who could have provided the seventh vote to keep the appeal alive, at least at the committee level.

"This is premature," said Commissioner Samuel Turner, D-Detroit, of the effort to refer it to county lawyers.

Police to join to curb drugs

Wayne County sheriff's deputies, suburban police departments and the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) will join forces to fight distribution of dangerous narcotics.

"It's a real breakthrough in cooperative efforts," said Sheriff Robert A. Ficano. "Usually, agencies have jealously guarded their jurisdictions."

Ficano, the former deputy county clerk from Livonia who was appointed sheriff last spring, said county parks, waterways and Metropolitan Airport will be particular targets.

Since the sheriff's department has been patrolling county parks this year "we've had 100 arrests for use of LSD, cocaine, marijuana, PCP" and other drugs, Ficano said.

seized in drug raids, allowing communities to sell them and keep the revenue. (But contraband, weapons and drugs will be kept as evidence and eventually destroyed.)

"In the past," Ficano said, "we never had this kind of resource."

He said the Federal Foreiture Act gives DEA the right to confiscate cars and other property seized in drug raids, and a recent Michigan statute gives local law enforcement agencies the same right.

But DEA's decision to waive its right "could generate some revenue for the county," Ficano said.

Geake named to task force

State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, has been appointed to the 32-member statewide Medicaid Task Force and the Senate Special Committee to study the issue of substance abuse.

Geake represents the 6th district which includes Livonia, Redford, Plymouth, Canton, and Northville.

Geake, who is one of six legislators selected to be on the task force, says Medicaid is the largest single cost item in the state budget and has been increasing in cost between 10 and 15 percent each year over the past few years.

The cost of the Medicaid program next year will amount to nearly $1.7 billion.

As a member of the Senate Special Committee to study substance abuse, Geake will be looking at funding allocations, evaluating quality of care and recipient rights rules, cost effectiveness, and the impact of substance abuse on highway safety.

THE COOPERATIVE effort calls for:

- 1) DEA to provide funds and expertise — "buy money," telephones, cars, radios and auxiliary equipment.
- 2) Manpower to be supplied by the sheriff's department and communities which border such county parks as Hines — Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Westland, Dearborn Heights and downriver communities.
- 3) DEA will waive its rights to confiscate cars, boats and other property

Kenneth A. Fox, D.D.S., P.C.

FIRST SIGN OF A FUTURE CAVITY

You want to be able to keep your teeth free of decay and minimize the number of fillings and other restorations, but this problem is difficult to solve without professional help. For example, if you could detect the first sign of a future cavity you'd be ahead of the game.

The first noticeable sign is a white spot on the unbroken surface of a tooth. The outer enamel of a tooth is much denser than the inside, which is composed of a tooth mineral rich in calcium. Once the acid that causes decay breaks the outer barrier, however, and a cavity begins to form, the tooth must be restored and protected with a filling. Even before the white spot appears, considerable mineral within the tooth may have been lost to decay.

That's one reason why regular dental checkups are recommended. Under the professional eyes of your dentist, problems can be discovered in their early stages when they are much easier and much less costly to treat.

Left untreated, dental decay can cause havoc; it can and will only get worse. Dentistry is one area of medicine where potential problems can be "seen" before they get out of hand.

New recruits brighten U-D baseball future

By Brad Emons
staff writer

University of Detroit baseball coach Bob Miller is beaming these days.

He is just about wrapped up with one of his most successful recruiting seasons in 20 years.

"We've had a great year recruiting," Miller said. "You have to get people who can push the people who are already there. We'll have a lot of youth, but it gives us the depth we need. You can't go with just nine players."

One of Miller's first signees was All-Observer pitcher Joe Taraskavage of Garden City. On Friday, Miller said he received a verbal commitment from Plymouth Salem shortstop Mickey Madsen.

The U-D coach also gained commitments from six other players.

Taraskavage led Garden City to the Northwest Suburban League title with a 7-1 record and a 1.36 ERA. The big left-hander struck out 95 batters in 87 innings.

At the plate, he batted .448 with 24 RBI.

"WE'RE COUNTING ON Joe's bat because we have a senior at first base," Miller said. "He could be a spot starter."

Miller's first baseman is Tom Miner, formerly of Garden City West. He said Miner "was instrumental in getting Joe."

Madsen, meanwhile, was an All-Area performer three straight years at Salem. He led the Rocks to a 18-9 record and a berth in the Class A semifinals. He batted over .400 and was noted for his fleet feet.

"We think he's really going to contribute," Miller said. "He has great speed and great base stealing. He never strikes out. He's swift and has the ability to play second base, shortstop or the outfield — a rabbit."

Detroit finished last season with a 36-16 record under Miller. The Titans won the Midwestern City's Northern Division crown, but was ousted by Oral Roberts in the playoffs.

MILLER ALSO added a pair of junior college players with local ties.

Catcher Kevin Lowery, who played last season for Oakland Community College, and outfielder Alex Rasky of Henry Ford CC, both signed.

Lowery caught for Livonia Collegiate champ Livonia Adray last season, while Rasky was one of the league's top hitters, playing for Redford-Westland Adray.

"Lowery can play first base and just has a great arm," said the U-D coach. "And we hope Rasky can step in for Dave Boomer and gives us some home run production."

Another top U-D signee is outfielder-pitcher Gary Peters, a Detroit Tiger draft pick from Royal Oak Kimball. Peters will be joined by catcher Phil Beggs of Taylor, and pitchers Rany McMinn of Clawson and Chris Steffe of Madison Heights.

Miller, a Redford Township resident, said he hopes to sign one more player.

Tiger tutors teach finer points

By C.J. Nisak
staff writer

Fundamentally speaking, this camp was a roaring success.

What camp? Don't be upset if you didn't hear about it — lots of folks never knew that Milt Wilcox of Detroit Tiger fame, together with his pal Jerry Mijal, sponsored a baseball clinic last week at the Wayne-Ford Civic League.

Normally, whenever a Tiger shows up to a clinic or collector's show or makes any kind of public appearance, you can bet your Tiger yearbook that hordes of autograph-seeking fans will swarm to see him.

Which is what made the Wilcox affair somewhat different. First, not one but four Tiger players took part in the five-day camp. And three of the Tigers' coaches also were on hand. But instead of mobs of people flocking to see their athletic heroes, only "about 100 kids" were present, according to Mijal.

WHICH SHOULD give you a clue what this camp was about. It wasn't an autograph-seeking session — the pros didn't stand around signing baseballs all day.

They instructed. Likewise, the Tiger coaches coached, and Mijal, with a great deal of help from several local high school baseball coaches, worked to make this camp meaningful.

From first returns, their labor appeared fruitful — even at the 139 bucks for the five three-hour-a-day sessions.

"It's been worth every penny," one satisfied mother said. "I've been here every day, and I learned a lot just watching. It was well worth it."

It was a nice added touch of Mijal's — allowing parents or whomever to sit in and watch for free.

STILL, WHAT FRUIT this camp will bear won't be known for some time. Wilcox knows it.

Inside sports

This camp had one specific purpose: to teach the fundamentals of baseball.

"I know there's a big need for fundamentals," said the Tiger hurler, who formerly lived in Canton and now resides in West Bloomfield. "I grew up in Oklahoma, and we more or less picked up the fundamentals on our own."

"There are a lot of (professional) organizations that don't teach you as well as others. Some guys come up now and don't know the fundamentals."

Which inspired Wilcox and Mijal. "We're good friends," Mijal, a Westland florist who pitches batting practice for the Tigers, said of Wilcox. "We got to talking last winter about how there's a lack of fundamental training in baseball."

"We said, 'Wouldn't it be nice to have a camp here in the Detroit area for kids to learn and, in conjunction with that, meet some of the Tigers?'"

SO THAT'S WHAT the pair did. Since it was the first attempt, lack of publicity can be forgiven. And, although the cost may seem high, consider what the participants received:

- A Milt Wilcox baseball camp T-shirt.
- Tickets to a Tiger game.
- A Tiger baseball hat.
- A Milt Wilcox-autographed baseball.
- An 8-by-10 color photo taken with Wilcox.

And, perhaps most important, some invaluable instruction.

"It's surprising how much they learn," Wilcox said. "I think the kids listen to us a little more because we're playing now."

WILCOX ENLISTED the aid of Tiger coaches Gates Brown, Dick Tracewaki and Roger Craig and fellow players Bill Fabey, Lynn Jones and Alan Trammell for the camp.

Meanwhile, Mijal lined up local coaches Fred Crissey and Dave Racer of Plymouth Canton, John Zimmerman of Southgate Aquinas, Norm Hoopes of Westland John Glenn, Jim Casarowski of Wayne Memorial, Dr. Leon Lande, former hitting coach at Wayne State, and John Judge, the Tigers' bullpen catcher.

By the way, this was not a one-shot deal. Wilcox and Mijal plan on holding another clinic next year and are working on a series of one-day instructional clinics around the state during the winter.

Who knows? Their efforts may blossom nicely for the Tigers someday.

"It's surprising how much they learn. I think the kids listen to us a little more because we're playing now."

— Milt Wilcox

It wasn't all fun and games, but when the instruction was over with for the day, camp participants were able to get some Tiger autographs — that of Lynn Jones (left) and camp organizer Milt Wilcox (above).

Taraskavage shutout puts Walter's in hunt

Walter's Appliance, behind the pitching of Joe Taraskavage, remained in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) playoff picture with a 4-0 upset victory over Redford-Westland Adray.

Going into Friday's action, Walter's trailed Michigan National Bank by four points for the fourth and final playoff spot with eight games remaining.

Taraskavage, bound for the University of Detroit this fall, tossed a five-hitter against RWA with six strikeouts and one walk.

It was his third win against one loss.

"He responds to the team and he keeps them in there," said Walter's coach Mike Keller, appraising the left-hander's value.

Ray Kovich was the losing pitcher. He was touched for three runs in the fifth.

Kevin Bellisle delivered the key hit, a two-run double. He raced home on the play when RWA threw the ball away.

Walter's scored its other run on a walk by Carl Novick, followed by a sacrifice bunt by Jim Stoltzstad and single by Mike Kisiel.

Jeff Valdes reached base safely four times for RWA, including three hits.

LIVONIA ADRAY, meanwhile, moved into first place with its sixth straight victory, a lopsided 13-2 triumph over MNE. The game was stopped in the fifth inning because of the league mercy rule.

The LCBL leaders got another strong performance by lead-off man John DePillo. The Flint native led off the game with double off MNB starter Pat Conway and later added another double and triple to go along with two RBI.

baseball

Greg Kuzia, Randy Baringer and Greg Everson added two hits each. Catcher Jim St. John also drove in two runs with a perfect hit-and-run single to right field.

Taking a 4-0 lead after two innings, Livonia exploded for five more runs in the third, followed by two in the fourth and one in the fifth.

MNB scored its two runs in the bottom of the third off winning pitcher Mike MacDonald, who allowed just two hits.

"THE GUYS have been hitting the ball well," said interim coach Stu Rose, in for the vacationing Ron Heller. "The two keys are Baringer at short and (Don) Dombey at third. They've started to hit. When they play confident, the whole infield plays better."

Rose and his interim assistant, Glenn Murdock, led Livonia to three straight wins in Heller's absence.

"We told them we'd try to keep even with RWA until he (Heller) comes back," said Rose. "The team has responded because they know its playoff time."

Upsets jolt GC loop leaders

A&K Electric got back into the Garden City Class A baseball chase Thursday with a 9-7 win over the frontrunning Expos in a game played at Garden City Park. Gordie Graham went 2-for-3, including a two-run homer, to spark A&K to the victory. Shortstop John Sabourin chipped in with a pair of RBI on a solo homer (in the sixth) and a sacrifice fly.

Going into weekend action, the Expos and A&K sported records of 11-4 and 9-4, respectively.

Dennis Melxner led the Expos by going 2-for-4, including a two-run homer in the seventh. Keith Jensen also had two hits in a losing cause.

Both pitchers went the distance. Winner Al Anderson scattered nine hits and walked three, while loser Joe Drabik allowed seven hits and nine walks.

ERHARD MOTORS pulled off an upset in the second game at GC Park, an 8-4 triumph over Three Kegs Round.

Greg Kuhnlein, the winning pitcher, tossed a three-hitter and capped a four-run Erhard uprising in the fifth inning with a double.

Kevin Parks added three hits in three trips to the plate and knocked in two runs. Mike Toth also drove in two runs for the winners on a sacrifice fly and a bases loaded walk.

Erhard raised its league record to 8-6.

Three Kegs, which fell to 5-5, made two of its three hits count on the scoreboard. Jim Remington ripped in a two-run homer in the fourth and Mike Pranks followed with a two-run blast in the sixth.

Three Kegs starter Bill Robb, who worked 4 1/2 innings, was the losing pitcher.

Signs letter

Livonia Stevenson graduate Gary Mexicotte has signed a national letter of intent with Bowling Green (Ohio) State University, head soccer coach Gary Palmisano announced. Mexicotte is one of four players to sign with the Falcons. The 5-foot-11, 170-pound college freshman was a member of the National Soccer Coaches Association America/McDonald's High School All-America team. The two-time All-Stater led Stevenson to the state Class A championship and a perfect 25-0 record last season. He scored 48 goals and added 17 assists during his senior year. He totaled 107 goals for his career. Mexicotte, also an All-Observer choice in basketball, recently won the James Brieske Award for being the outstanding athlete at Stevenson.

Road trip FLiP Rowdies take soccer act to Sweden

By C.J. Rieck
staff writer

What talented feet those FLiP Rowdies have.

The under 16 girls soccer team, with players from Farmington, Livonia and Plymouth, have racked up 18 wins in 19 games this season, including Waterloo and Wolverine tournament wins. They've won the under 19 state championship and their division title in the Bonanza Express Soccer League (BESL).

So what's new? The Rowdies have been together for four years and won their BESL title each time. Last year, they lost 10 of 76 games played; the year before, they were beaten nine times in 85 games.

But come Tuesday, those skillful toes of the FLiP Rowdies will take them to territory they've never been before. The Rowdies will travel to Borlange, Sweden, to compete in the Dalecarlia Cup, the Swedish national soccer tournament.

THE ROWDIES are excited. The Swedish tournament officials are excited. And the families of the players are excited.

"This is the biggest tournament in Sweden," said Rowdies' coach Dave Lussier. That makes Lussier's job that much more difficult, trying to keep his players concentrating on soccer instead of travel.

"We had a practice this morning and they were all worrying about clothes and how much money to take," Lussier said.

people in sports

But what about the competition, coach? Can the Rowdies go into a strange country and match the best Sweden and other European countries have to offer?

"I've heard both pros and cons about it," Lussier said of the tourney. "I've heard our level of soccer in this area is above their's, and I've heard that their's is better than ours."

"But the opinions I've heard are from people who really aren't too sure. I do know the team that won the championship last year will be our hosts. I would think, in all honesty, we'll have enough to keep us busy."

THE 16 ROWDIES will stay with Swedish families to help defray costs. The Swedish officials were so excited about the local team coming that they waived the entry fee and have already sent tournament shirts to the Rowdies.

The team will fly into Copenhagen, Denmark Tuesday, then travel to Borlange. The tournament's opening ceremonies will be Sunday, July 24. Play starts the next day, with the Rowdies to play one game a day. Championships are slated for Saturday, July 30.

Lisa Rigstad of Livonia Bentley and Shelly Staszal of Plymouth Salem are the team's top scorers, with Dorene Dudek of Livonia Churchill, Kim Paterson of Bentley and Annette Ruggiero of Farmington Mercy providing "strong support", according to Lussier. Terri Groat of Churchill and Anna Glendenning of Kalamazoo also play forward for the Rowdies.

Midfielders are Lisa Russell, Lori Engel and Kim Reeves of Plymouth Canton and Pam Craigie of Livonia

Stevenson. Defenders are Chris Lussier of Churchill, Colleen O'Connor of Salem, Margie Wangbichler of Canton and Cheryl Galindo and Danielle Montroy of Livonia Stevenson.

Doreen Beagle of Stevenson and Jenny Gans of Northville are the team's goalies.

SOME PEOPLE RETIRE WITH MORE THAN JUST A GOLD WATCH.

You work hard all your life and what do you get? Well, depending on where you work, you could get cancer. Asbestos has been proven to cause cancer. Certain toxic chemicals like formaldehyde and freon are being investigated. If you've worked with radioactive particles or even worked near them, your risk is greater. And even if you've worked nowhere hazardous, it wouldn't hurt to get a checkup. Because the incidence of cancer after the age of 45 to 50 increases rapidly. Over the next several years the American Cancer Society will be conducting more research into certain lifestyles and exposures which could increase cancer mortality. So know the risks. Don't smoke. Watch what you eat and drink. Look for the warning signs of cancer. And retire not only with a gold ticker. But a healthy one, also.

Big family runs Fetzer Vineyards

Richard Watson

The phrase "family winery" usually conjures up associations of small-time mom-and-pop affairs, the struggling wife and husband with one or two children pitching in where they can. It is a good association most times. There are a great many such enterprises in California wine country.

But the phrase, apt as it is when applied to Fetzer Vineyards in the Redwood Valley of northern Sonoma County, violates the image in several ways. First, the family is huge (even with the recent death of patriarch and founder Bernard) — numbering some nine children (plus their wives and husbands).

That formidable array takes care of most of the management functions of the winery, all of them except for chief winemaker. For that critical function, Bernie hired Paul Dolan in the late 1970s, and Dolan's place seems secure as an outsider.

There are, of course, other non-family members running things in part, but this has been and seems destined to continue to be a family operation.

THE SECOND exception to the stereotype is the scope of the operation. Last year saw Fetzer pass the 400,000-case-per-year level, now exceeding neighbor John Parducci by more than 50,000 cases.

And the financial scene is excellent today, thanks largely to Bernie's excellent marketing and distribution strategies established over some 14 years he led the operation. Growth at the winery suggests that sound profits are being made. The most dramatic example of this is the separate facility recently opened to handle the white wine production, which has now caught up with the red wine production.

Chief reason behind the winery's success has been the quality of its wines. Fetzer is usually associated with red wines and has come to be known as the producer of some of the finest zinfandels to come out of California.

The last several years have seen four different issues each year. There have been the light and fruity issues from Lake County, modestly priced and designed for early consumption. The Lodi releases have been eloquent and noble; the Scharffenberger chewy and rich, and the Ricetti hard and demanding in their youth, only to mature into rich and complex statements with five to eight years of age.

All in all, only Ridge Vineyards in Santa Clara does as well year in and out with this grape in all its complexities.

BUT, UNLIKE the scene at Ridge, the excellence does not stop there. Fetzer does nearly as well with cabernet sauvignon. Again, a Lake County issue is designed for immediate consumption (though soon all Fetzer wines will come only from its home county, Mendocino), and a Mendocino release is the equal of many others in tannin, complexity and depth.

The recent 1979 Cole Ranch (Mendocino) promises great things for wines of that appellation and the estate-bottled wines are also of great quality. Quite an array.

Fetzer's other reds, gamay, pinot noir and petite sirah, are generally of sound quality without being exceptional. Sometimes the petite sirah becomes a bit of a monster, but usually the winery is dependable.

The whites tend to be clean and crisp and, with one exception, lacking in complexity. Johannisberg riesling, chenin blanc, a blanc de blancs, fume blanc and pinot blanc are all pleasant and sometimes excellent. While gewurztraminer suffers from the usual California fatness syndrome.

However, with chardonnay, Fetzer excellence again shines. Try the 1981 Barrel Select currently available to see what a well-balanced, properly oaked Chardonnay should taste like. Marvelous!

AND TO SAMPLE what pure chardonnay tastes like, without oak-aging to develop complexity, try the 1982 Sundial. One has the feeling that a new age in chardonnay quality is just beginning as Paul Dolan acquires skills in working with this most rewarding grape.

Finally, for everyday consumption, Fetzer's Premium Red and White wines are available in 750 ml. as well as 1.5-liter bottles. Both sound investments.

A struggling mom-and-pop operation this is not. Many consider it one of the truly great wineries of California, this writer among them.

Bob Crosby and Bobcats to play aboard Boblo boat

Bob Crosby and the Bobcats may be best known for Dixieland jazz music, but they will switch to polkas or contemporary pieces during big band night aboard the Boblo boat Friday, July 29. The cruise departs the dock at 8:45 p.m. and returns at 11:45 p.m. Tickets at $14.95 in advance ($15.95 at the dock) are available through AAA and Boblo offices, with group sales and senior citizens rates available through Boblo's office in the Veterans Building, 151 W. Jefferson, Detroit 48226 (phone 259-7500).

Crosby's musical career began with bouts of stage fright at the age of 15. He overcame the fear while in college by singing in an orchestra. He later became the first male vocalist in a band formed by the Dorsey brothers.

In 1936, Crosby was leading his own band and soon began appearing on radio and television and on the cover of music magazines. From the 1940s through the 1960s, Crosby appeared in main-room entertainment shows in Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe. He is credited with producing more than 3,000 records. Brother of the late crooner Bing Crosby, Bob Crosby bears the familiar Crosby features and laid-back style of Crosby fame.

Satire loses bite in 'Trading Places'

"Trading Places" (R) has been around for several weeks, but I just recently saw it.

I had heard some good things about the movie. People said it was a bright comedy, that Dan Aykroyd and Eddie Murphy countered each other perfectly, and that the presence of Ralph Bellamy and Don Ameche was an inspired piece of casting.

All true. But the movie is not without some notable faults. More about these later.

Aykroyd plays a pompous Philadelphia executive, Lewis Winthrop III. Winthrop directs the commodities brokerage firm of millionaire brothers Duke and Duke (Bellamy and Ameche).

THE DUKE BROTHERS are always arguing nature versus nurture. Randolph (Bellamy) argues that, given the right environment, anyone could become a successful and productive member of society. Specifically, he believes anyone could manage the business as Winthrop does. Mortimer (Ameche) argues that a person's heredity determines his behavior.

They decide to test their theories. Now the movie becomes a story of "how the lowly have risen and how the mighty do fall." The Dukes frame Winthrop as a drug dealer. He is jailed, beaten, fired from his job, disgraced before his peers and tossed out on the street without any money. His assets have been frozen and his credit cards taken away.

Continuing their experiment, the Dukes replace Winthrop with Billie Ray Valentine (Eddie Murphy), a street-wise black hustler who scrounges money by pretending to be a blind and legless veteran.

Of course, it is these extremes that heighten the humor as the situations are reversed. In this case, there are not only the extremes of wealth and poverty but the social extremes of the executive of the WASP establishment and the black panhandler from the ghetto.

Billy Ray quickly catches on to being a commodities broker. It's like being "a bookie," he says. Winthrop never does get the hang of poverty, even with the help of an attractive hooker (Jamie Lee Curtis).

WINTHORPE'S DOWNFALL and degradation are so great, you can't help but feel some pity for the man. This is no mean achievement on Aykroyd's part, when you consider how completely detestable he has been.

Where "Trading Places" begins to lose points is when Billy Ray and Winthrop realize they are pawns in a game the Dukes are playing. Everything is very predictable from then on.

However, it is not just the predictability of this last third of the movie that makes it inferior to the rest of the film. The comedy becomes coarser, the social satire is diminished, and extraneous scenes and characters are introduced for no reason other than to pull off an overworked joke with a man in a gorilla costume.

John Landis, who directed "Trading Places," appears to have lost faith in the story idea two-thirds of the way through the film. This is unfortunate, because the movie is funny and the actors are terrific, including Denholm Elliott as an unflappable butler.

As if these merits aren't enough, Eddie Murphy has so much talent and charisma he only has to stare into the camera, and the result is hilarious.

Too bad Landis caved in to silly jokes and a lot of unnecessary scenes of bare-breasted women. He should have had more faith in the premise of the movie, the actors and, above all, the audience.

what's at the movies

ATOR (PG). Epic adventure of myth, legend and magic starring Miles O'Keefe in the title role, with Sabrina Siani and Ritz Brown.

CLASS (R). Romantic comedy about a young man who has an affair with an older woman who turns out to be his best friend's mother. Jacqueline Bisset, Cliff Robertson and Rob Lowe star.

COUP DE TORCHON (A CLEAN SLATE). Academy-Award nominee for best foreign-language film. Bertrand Tavernier directed comedy starring Philippe Noiret and Isabell Huppert.

FLASHDANCE (R). A determined young woman works as a welder by day and a dancer by night. Movie doesn't make too much sense but the dancing makes a terrific impact.

OCTOPUSSY (PG). Roger Moore is again the dapper Agent 007 as he goes to India to crack an international jewel-smuggling operation in this 13th James Bond adventure. Also with Maud Adams.

PORKY'S - THE NEXT DAY (R). Raunchy gang members from Angel Beach High School tangle with school administrators, corrupt officials and their own active libidos.

PSYCHO II (R). After 22 years in a mental hospital, Norman Bates (Anthony Perkins) returns to re-open the Bates Motel. Vera Miles, of the original cast, also returns in this sequel to Hitchcock's chiller.

RETURN OF THE JEDI (PG). Third chapter in the middle section of George Lucas' "Star Wars" trilogy. With Luke Skywalker, Hans Solo, Princess Leia and other characters from the previous films as the Rebel Alliance battles Darth Vader and the forces of the Empire.

SNOW WHITE (G). Disney's classic animated feature about a princess, a magic mirror, seven dwarfs, a witch and a prince. The 1938 film still ranks as one of the best, perhaps the best, animated features ever made. Every child deserves to see this and adults should treat themselves to a repeat viewing.

STAYING ALIVE (PG). John Travolta recreates the role of Tony Manero, now struggling in the competitive world of Broadway dancers, in this sequel to "Saturday Night Fever."

STROKER ACE (PG). Burt Reynolds wears a chicken suit and races stock cars sponsored by Chicken Pit restaurants in a movie which is truly the pits.

SUPERMAN III (PG). Action, comedy and romance are on tap as Superman (Christopher Reeve) and Lois Lane (Margot Kidder) battle an evil entrepreneur and a computer genius. Cast also includes Richard Pryor, Robert Vaughn and Annette O'Toole.

THE SURVIVORS (R). Contemporary urban comedy with Robin Williams and Walter Matthau on unemployment, and even a hit man, Jerry Reed, looking for a job.
