Plymouth Y eyes Canton for construction site

By Arlene Funke staff writer

Officials of the Plymouth Community Family Y are looking at sites in Canton for a proposed new facility, and a decision could come by the end of Sep-

Canton possibly could donate a 13acre, township-owned site on Morton Taylor south of Joy for a new Y building, said Supervisor James Poole.

A larger, 140-acre site at Warren and Haggerty roads in Canton also may be available for use by the Y, which serves residents of Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

"Of the two properties in Canton, we prefer the Morton Taylor (one)," said Albert Calille of Plymouth, chairman of a Y building and site committee.

'It's closer to the center of our service areas," Calille added. "There are several other sites, public and private. We're hoping to make a site selection decision by the end of September."

CURRENTLY, THE Y is housed in a rented suite above stores on Main Street in Plymouth. Some classes and projects are held in school buildings and playgrounds. "It has always been a goal to con-struct a building," said Calille, noting the site search has been intense in the last few months.

Calille recently made a presentation to Canton's Township Board. The trustees took no action.

Demographic reports and marketing studies indicate local support for a fullservice Y, Calille said.

Calille envisions a full-service facility with gymnasium, rooms for classes and a swimming pool. The donation of land "would be a significant catalyst in making the project succeed," he said.

Fund-raising project would provide capital for construction. Budget details and a construction timetable probably will be announced in the next few weeks, Calille said.

We look very amiably upon this sort of facility for the community," said Canton trustee Robert Padget. "Hopefully, we can work out the financing to-

Trustee Steve Larson said he wants a definition of "full-service," and assurance the needed capital can be raised.

"Of course, you never know beforehand whether you'll be able to come up with the needed funds." Calille said. But given the nature, size, age, number of people in the communities, educational levels and income strata it's our belief we can generate sufficient funding. "To the extent we're not successful, we'd agree to restrictions reverting the property to the township," he added.

The 13-acre site on Morton Taylor was dedicated to the township in a consent judgment during the 1970s with the restriction of the original developers that the land be used for a public park and recreation.

The Y would have to obtain the support of nearby homeowners, Poole said. Calille said the Y would work through subdivision groups.

A new 'video game'?

Government eyes taped telecasts

By Gary M. Catee staff writer

The use of videotape could change the way government meetings are conducted, according to a Plymouth Township report finished last week.

The report - a year in the making - is based on several experimental es of videotape, including presenting information to governmental boards and taping board meetings. The uses of videotape are almost limitless for local governments, according to Joanna Steinman.

Steinman was hired to complete the township's research project into governmental uses of videotape and cable television, made possible by a $20,000 Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant. Her final report will be forwarded to Supervisor Maurice

Breen this week. "The cablevision aspect of the project has been a total failure," Steinman said. She cites two reasons for not recommending cable's use for live broadcasts

Since meetings never end at a set time, "you have to have a whole chan-nel to yourself. That isn't available

"Secondly, the cablevision company (Omnicom), for some reason, can't broadcast on the access channel with any reliability," she said.

Plymouth Township's access channel - shared with the city of Plymouth currently is used for printed messages. "Even with that we run into technical equipment problems," she said. "THE VIDEOTAPE aspect of the project has been enormously successful. And with this, the cable company has been cheerfully cooperative and helpful," she said.

The videotape aspect focused on planning commission and zoning uses. Out of this work four prototype tapes were produced.

The first tape was designed to be used with the aerial map of the township to give a more complete view, Steinman said.

"The entire township was ta the road. It shows just how the land

The Observer Newspapers recently announced the winners in its third annual Hot Air Balloon Festival Photo Contest.

After receiving some 140 slides tak-en at last month's Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival, the Observer news staff selected four winners.

Chuck Andersen of Livonia won first place with the picture reprinted on this Besides having his entry published in the Observer, Andersen also won a weekend for two at the Mayflower Hotel and a $50 cash prize.

SUSAN ROGERS of Plymouth Township won second place with a photo of a balloon pilot trying to snag a set of car keys from a sailboat mast.

Rogers, an employee of the Colonial Card and Camera Shop in Plymouth, took her picture with a Cannon AE1. Photography is her hobby and while she has entered other contests, this was

As second-place winner, Rogers received a $25 cash prize plus four free basses to attend Sunday Brunch at the Mayflower Meeting House. ED RANDINITIS of Plymouth Township won third place with his photo of several balloons preparing to take off in front of a pond and sallboat.

Randinitis, an employee of Parke-Davis in Ann Arbor, calls photography a hobby and has entered the Observer contest in the two preceding years. This was his first time as a winner.

An honorable mention was awarded to Mark Mizak for his photo of a balloon in front of the sun.

Hotel arson suspect's trial postponed

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

The trial of Gary Lee Cook, accuse in the Jan. 5 fatal arson at the Old VIIlage Inn, has been adjourned until next

Cook, 34, of Livonia is charged with deliberately setting fire to the hotel, 846 N. Mill; with the first degree murder of 51-year-old Clifford Bearden, who died in the fire; and assault with the intent to kill Joe Thomas, a hotel resident at the time of the fire.

Wayne County Circuit Court Jadge Patrick J. Diagnam approved the motion for adjumnment that week due to a lack of a judge and percent to hear the case. The trial is schaduled to get under way on Sept. 21 before Judge Joseph

"I think it's terrible," defense attorney Robert Delaney said of the ad-

Because many of the witnesses in the case lived at the now-closed hotel, De-laney said "it gets harder to find them as time passes."

Cook was arrested Jan. 8 and has been held without bood since his ar-raignment on Jan. 7 — when he stood mate to the charges.

Following a late January proliminary exemination in Phymouth's 85th District Court, Cook was bound over for trial in Circuit Court.

Since that time he was gives a forec-sic psychiatric examination and was found mentally capable.

Delaney plans to file a motion for dismissal of the case because of the Citing a Michigan law which guarantoes a convicted felon serving time the right to a trial within six months, Delaney said the Wayne County Circuit Court has lost jurisdiction in the case.

"Cook has been afforded less rights and less protection of the law than a convicted felon," he said.

If the court overrules the motion for issal, Delaney said he will attempt to have bond set for Cook.

COOK WAS A FORMER resident of the Old Villege Inn. He allegedly re-turned to the hotel on Jea. 8 to visit some friends and left several minutes before the flames broke out.

A witness at the preliminary exami-nation said Cook told his brother he set the fire to teach a friend "a lesson." That conversation took place minutes before firefighters arrived at the hotel, the witness said.

Araon investigators have determined that the fire was set deliberately and that a medium petroleam distillate was used to accelerate it. Such liquids include charcoal lighters and paint thinners.

Besides Bearden's death, the firs resulted in an estimated $225,000 in dam-

Dolores Federico

By Arlene Funke staff writer

Convicted drug dealer Dolores Federico, 26, has been sentenced to 20-60 years in prison for her part in a botched armed robbery which resulted in the death of the intended victim.

Federico, of Canton, recently was convicted of assault with intent to commit armed robbery against Jess Brown, 27, of Ann Arbor. Brown died of a gunshot wound to the head.

The incident occurred on Lotz Road in Canton last October.

SENTENCING CAME Tuesday by Judge Thomas Foley, who presided over Federico's week-long trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Foley described Federico, a former Plymouth resident, as a "long-term danger to the community." Federico also was sentenced to two years' imprisonment for conviction of using a firearm in commission of a felony.

Under Michigan law, she will have to serve at least 22 years on the two convictions, Foley said. Her attorney has up to 60 days in which to appeal

Foley said testimony indicated Federico was a big-time drug dealer in the Plymouth-Canton area. The judge said he based the sentence on Federico's lifestyle and Brown's death.

TESTIMONY INDICATED Federico took over her husband's wholesale drug practice after he went to prison "It was a $10,000-$70,000-a-week wholesale practice in the Plymouth-Canton area," Foley said.

When you go in with a loaded revolver, anything can happen - and did," Foley added. Federico currently is serving a two-year sentence in a federal prison on an unrelated drug charge, Foley said. Imprisonment on the firearms and assault charges will be at the Huron Valley Women's Correctional Facility near Ypsilanti.

The jury earlier acquitted Federico of seconddegree murder and felony-murder charges. Felony murder is defined as a killing which occurs during a felonious act.

According to testimony, Federico formulated the robbery plan with Ricki Sparks, 31, and George McCue, 25, both of Canton.

Federico testified she met with the men to sell them drugs but became frightened they would rob her. She said she grabbed McCue's gun and during a scuffle with McCue and Sparks, the gun went off, killing Brown.

McCue already has been sentenced to 41/4-15 years imprisonment on a similar assault with intent to rob charge. Sparks is to be sentenced Friday, Sept. 2, on the same charge.

Senator reviews issues

ntrusive bureaucracy is still the foe, Levin says

By Kethy Perrich staff writer

As a Detroit city councilman, Carl Levin was a champion of local rights and believed federal officials should bow to local concerns.

Now that he's a U.S. Senator, Levin says he tries hard to make sure he' knows and does what the folks back home want.

His basic stand is: "I believe local officials know what's best for the community, and the federal government doesn't."

Levin said that when he was elected in 1978 there was "too much federal intrusion, dominance, inflexibility and waste."

"I WENT to Washington determined to reverse that."

In the four-and-a-half years he has been a senator, he has worked to diminish federal intrusion in local affairs, he

The senator said one of his top goals has been to pass a legislative veto bill which would empower Congress to overrule regulations made by any federal bureaucracy.

THE BILL passed the Senate in different forms, but still hasn't made it through the House.

One of the things that convinced him of the need for such efforts, Levin said, was the way the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) mismanaged a home acquisition program in Detroit.

"HUD almost wiped out Detroit," he

'in some areas we don't want to catch up with the Soviets because they do 'some dumb things.'

"People get frustrated with regula-tions and don't know where to go for relief," said Levin. "They want to go to their elected officials, not to an agency in Chicago."

HIS BELIEFS led Levin to vote against the Cable Telecommunications Act of 1983, which the Senate passed 87-9 and sent to the House.

Proposed by cable firms, the nationale legislation would take precedence over contracts between cable TV companies and the local communities.

Levin calls the cable legislation "arrogant, presumptuous, unethical usurpation of power" by the federal government.

He acknowledged that some cities "held up" the cable companies in developing "onerous" contracts, but said, "That's what private enterprise is all they don't like."

Levin said he thinks the bill will be defeated in the House because of concern over preserving local control.

THE SENATOR said he helped pave the way for Environmental Protection Agency action on the Huron Valley Wastewater Treatment Project, known as "super sewer."

"I basically support it, but only if the communities want it," he said. "I don't want to say they should have it if they don't want it."

Super sewer, a proposed sewage treatment plant and 60-mile interceptor serving western Wayne and Oakland counties - has since been scaled Levin is in favor of rapid transit because it will unclog roads, save gasoline and help people who can't afford private transportation get around. But, Levin saild, local authorities must first agree on what they want.

He favors a moratorium on building nuclear weapons. The senator said:

While Republicans are discussing who might make an opponent in next governmental emphasis on nuclear year's election, Levin is saying little about his chances.

His staff advised him to wait until the first of the year to announce his candidacy. "Everybody tells me I'll get to make it possible for the other guy to a free press conference next January if I just keep saying anything but I'm run-ning," joked Levin. Nancy Tanger began teaching here 56 years ago

It was 1927. That was the year the Detroit/Plymouth trolley line was discontinued. It was the year the Hotel Mayflower opened its doors for the first time. Five years were to elapse before Plymouth became a city.

Tonquish Creek, a health hazard where it flowed through the central business district, was not to be piped and covered over until 11 years later. With no milk ordinance, the village was running the risk of an outbreak of typhoid fever (one did occur three

Harry Robinson, the new president of the village, had just fired village manager Sidney Strong. Robinson said Strong hadn't responded fast enough when a resident complained about the condition of

That was the setting, 56 years ago, when a young woman arrived in town to begin her local teaching career. Her name was Nancy Walton Holliday. She is better known today as Nancy Tanger. She was to play a prominent part in the Plymouth-Canton school system for the next 34 years.

BORN NANCY WALTON in Oklahoma, raised on a Virginia tobacco plantation, Nancy arrived in Michigan with her family while still in her teens. A graduate of Central Michigan University, she taught in Lansing for a short time before coming to Plymouth as the bride of Tom Holliday (who died in past and present Hudson

Nancy's first job here was at the old Central School where she taught the 6th grade. The superintendent of schools at the time was George A. Smith, a strict authoritarian. Nancy remembers that Smith would not permit his teachers to go to the movies or to use nail polish. He also made it clear that he expected teachers to remain in town over the week-

Nancy married Roswell F. (Mike) Tanger in 1947. Tanger, born on Bowery Street (later called Maple), was Plymouth's first parcel post delivery man in 1919 then he was 19 years of age. At that time the post office was between Huston's Hardware and the bank on Penniman Avenue. Later it moved to the same side of the street, west of the Penn Theatre. Then, in 1939, it was moved across the street to its present location. Mike Tanger was with the post office 41 years (1919 to 1960).

Among her recollections, Nancy remembers that the local PTA began about 1930 and that Claude Buzzard was its first president. She also recalls that the Teachers' Club began in 1946. Carvel Bentley was its first president, Nancy Tanger its second.

Beginning in 1948, Nancy began a 13-year tenure as school principal. From 1948 to 1950, she was principal at Starkweather School. During 1950, for a short time, she was principal at Central School where she replaced Nellie Bird. From 1951 to 1961, she was principal of Bird School.

ASKED TO COMPARE teaching conditions during her early days with those of today, Nancy says one thing that differed was class size.

She had 49 children in class during the first year she taught here. In her easiest year, she had 40. Today, classes run from 25 to 30, and she thinks that is a step in the right direction.

In Nancy Tanger's early days of teaching there were no school buses. Everyone walked home for lunch. There was good cooperation between the administration, the teachers and the parents. Rapport was especially good between teachers and parents. There was no difficulty getting in touch with mothers during the days when few women went out to

But the old days had its problems, too. Among them, Nancy remembers overcrowded classrooms, lack of supplies and equipment and the lack of resource people.

After Mrs. Tanger retired from the Plymouth-Canton school system in 1961, Madonna College named her coordinator of teacher education, a position she held for five years. When she retired from Madonna, the college named the Nancy E. Tanger Scholarship in teacher education after her.

THE TANGERS TOOK early retirement because Nancy and Mike like to travel.

They have toured all of the United States, and have travelled extensively in Canada and Mexico. They have visited Europe 15 times, have been in Egypt five times, have gone on safaris in Africa, and have visited South America, Australia, New Zealand and New Guinea. Now they would like to go to China.

The Tangers say that the most unusual spot they have visited is the Galapagos Islands. The countries they like the best are New Zealand and Switzerland.

Nancy says she got the most satisfaction during her 34 years in public school education from teaching children to achieve their utmost and to work together. She says she always strove to find something good to say about each child. She feels that a dialogue between teacher, student, parent and principal is of vital importance.

In 1952, when she was principal, Bird School instituted an Outdoor Education Camping Program. Teachers went on campouts with the children. The sixth-grade camp program was cancelled by the school system in 1980 for financial reasons. Nancy was sorry to see it go.

Nancy Tanger is a past president of the Women's Club and is active in the Plymouth Historical Society, the Order of Eastern Star and the Presbyterian Church. She is an honorary member of Delta Kappa Gamma for outstanding achievement in education. The Nancy E. Tanger School on Five Mile and Haggerty was named after her in

Labor Day: As the World Turns

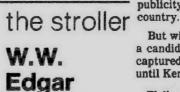

Sitting at home on a recent afternoon suddenly there flashed on the TV screen the introduction of the soap opera "As the World Turns."

Having no interest in the afternoon opera the message did bring about the thought that the world really does turn and it is noticeable more and more as Labor Day nears.

One of the great turns is the change that has come about when presidential election nears. There was a time when Cadillac Square in downtown Detroit was the scene of the opening verbal salvos of the candidates on Labor Day.

One of the first to take advantage of the setting was Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the crowd he attracted still stood as the record until the old City Hall was razed and in its place came the horrible looking area that now ex-

In glowing oratory FDR stood before the gathering in 1933 and sought the labor vote. It was a stirring address and the friends he gained that afternoon helped start him on the way to the White House.

Because of that start, he never forgot Detroit and returned later on speak at the Naval Armory and started a tradi-

In his wake came Harry Truman to open his campaign. Then came Adlai Stevenson, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

IT WAS while sitting on the platform at the City Hall Square that a press photographer snapped the picture showing that Stevenson had a large hole in the sole of his shoe. That picture became a major part of the campaign publicity and was shown throughout the

But with all the furor of entertaining a candidate for the presidency, no one captured the gathering as well as FDR until Kennedy came along.

Well, The Stroller remembers the day this boyish looking lad from the aristocratic regions of New England made his bow in the battle for the White House.

There seemed to be a touch of the drama in his every word. And the gathering that covered all of Cadillac Square took him to their hearts. In that hour or two at the speakers stand in front of that old granite City Hall, he left a feeling that he had the ability to run the country and follow in the footsteps of Dwight Eisenhower.

In fact, so great was the impression he made that when he took over the White House the spot on which he opened the successful campaign was named Kennedy Square. It still is Kennedy Square - and always will be a reminder of that first big day.

So great was his charm that he had to fight his way back to his suite at the Book-Cadillac. It was a lasting mem-

Now the old city hall is gone. The Book-Cadillac is struggling to keep its doors open and the candidates for the presdency no longer look upon Detroit as the site to usher in their campaigns.

It is a sure sign that the world does turn. But those of us who can recall the day when Franklin D. Roosevelt made his stirring speech to the gathering that jammed Cadillac Square back to the old County Building, easily can bring back that scene again.

It was one long to be remembered.

pickled favorites from garden and orchard

"Country" is a state of mind, a feeling, not a place on a map. Whether you call home a high-rise condo or a colonial saltbox, country is experiencing the best of the past while keeping up the present. Country is warm, friendly people; neighbor helping neighbor. Country is the charm of the little things that make a house a home. Country is cooking hearty meals and the pride and joy of a well-stocked pantry.

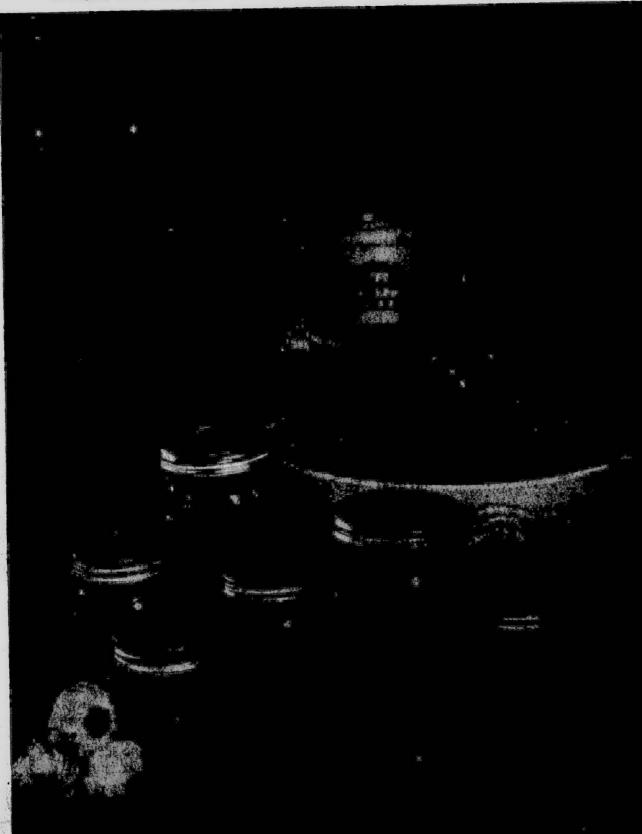

In the spirit of country the home economists at Ball Corporation have adapted several down home pickled "receipts" of yesteryear into simple up-to-date recipes such as Home-Style Dill Pickles, Blue Ribbon Pickled Peaches, and County Fair Pepper and Onion Relish.

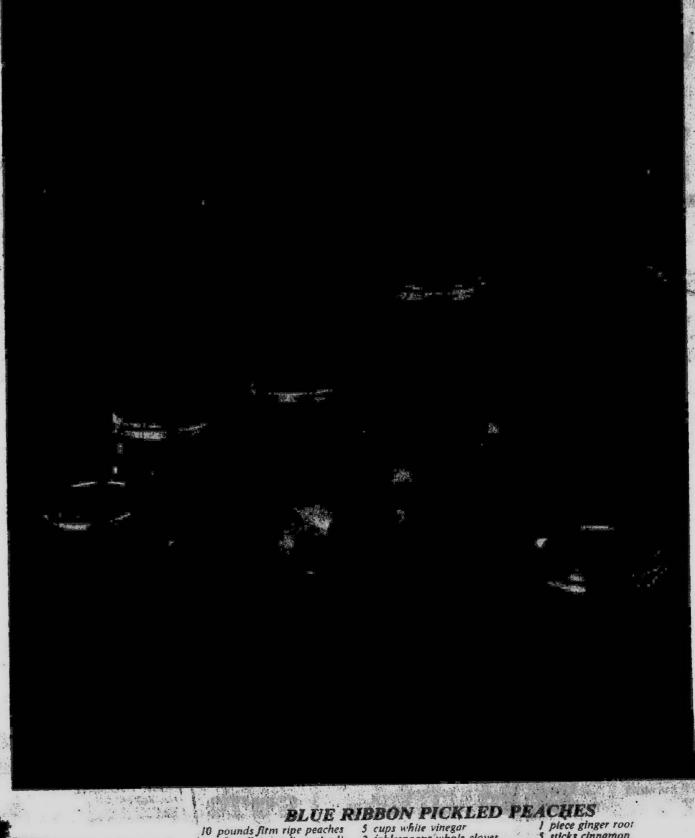

Pickling was once a way of preserving food for the long winter months ahead. Today, pickling is done, not out of necessity, but for unmatched flavor, economy, and personal satisfaction. Almost anything that grows in a garden or orchard can be pickled. Besides cucumbers, there are peppers, beans, corn, squash, melons, peaches, pears, and apples, to name a few.

The best pickles begin with the freshest vegetables or fruit, just picked from the garden or tree, if possible. If fresh dill is available by all means use it, although dried dill seed is an acceptable alternative. Use two tablespoons of dill seed for each head of fresh dill. Be sure to purchase spices each pickling season, as spices tend to deteriorate and lose their flavor during storage. Select a high grade white distilled or cider vinegar of four to six percent acidity. You'll also need to buy canning salt. It acts as a preservative, adds flavor, and crispness to the pickles. Do not use regular table salt; the additives in it can cause discolored pickles and cloudy liquid.

Today's country kitchen pickles, while preserving the old-fashioned flavor of the past, keep up-to-date with the present. Homemade pickles are now heat processed in a water-bath canner. This insures a good seal, while destroying the microorganisms that cause spoilage. Even though it might be tempting to pack pickled foods in old-style glass top jars with wire bails, standard home canning jars with two-piece lids give the safest, most reliable results. After processing the recommended times, allow the jars to cool; test for a seal by pressing in the center of the lid. If the dome is down, the lid is sealed. Remove bands and store pickles in a dark, cool, dry place. Pickled fruits and

10 pounds firm ripe peaches 5 cups white vinegar (small to medium sized) 2 tablespoons whole cl. 8-1/2 cups sugar

2 tablespoons whole cloves, crushed

(2 Inches long)

Wash and peel peaches. Put in a solution of 2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar, and I gallon water. Dissolve sugar in vinegar; add a spice bag made of cloves, ginger root, and cinnamon sticks. Bring to a boil. Drain salt-vinegar solution from peaches. Carefully add peaches to boiling syrup and cook until they can be pierced with a fork, but not soft. Remove from heat and allow peaches to stand in syrup overnight.

Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's instructions. Bring syrup and peaches to a boil. Carefully pack peaches into hot jars, leaving 1/4 inch head space. Cover with syrup leaving 1/4 inch head space. Remove air bubbles with a non-metallic spatula. Adjust caps. Process 20 minutes in a boiling water bath canner. Yield: about 4 quart jars.

These frankfurter kabobs make an attractive and economical meal for family and friends.

Hot dog! It's cookout time. Dripping with extras, from mustard to chill to cheese, hot dogs are one of America's favorite summertime foods. Américans eat more than 5 billion dogs between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

It's easy to see why frankfurters have become a mainstay of warm weather menus. The smoky, mildly spiced flavor of meaty frankfurters lets you combine or top them with just about anything. Vary the foods you pair with franks and the way you prepare them and your meals will never be mo-

Hot dogs are an economical meat ingredient in quick-to-fix casseroles and skillet dinners. Since franks are purchased fully cooked, there is no need to spend time browning the meat; cooking time is really just heating time. A pound of frankfurters yields a pound of edible meat and serves 4 to 5 people.

Great appetite whetters begin with frankfurters, too. Bite-sized pieces are delicious dipped into tangy sauces or wrapped with pastry "jackets." Frankfurter kabobs, made by spearing pieces of hot dog and vegetables or fruit on skewers, make good small appetizers. Larger kabobs, like those in Barbecued Frank Kabobs, form attractive entrees for outdoor cooking and eating.

% cup cateup

14 cup brown sugar

2 tsp. Worcesterskire sauce

Drain pineapple, reserving 2 table-spoons juice. Combine juice, catsup, brown sugar and Worcestershire sauce in small saucepan and cook slowly 4 to 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blanch green pepper, if desired. Alternately thread pieces of frankfurter, pineapple and green pepper on eight 10-inch skewers. Brush kabobs with sauce. Place on grill over ash-covered coals so kabobs are 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 8 to 10 minutes, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally. 4 to 5 servings of 2 kabobs each.

Enjoying the best and the worst minutes. Drain pork ribs. Butterfly beef ribs. Place ribs on grill over hot

I've enjoyed the best of barbecue times - like when my brother, Carl, showed me an old Boy Scout trick to get the charcoal burning.

He took about a 40-page section of newspaper, slit the closed ends, rolled it (Ightly widthwise and tied the "newspaper log" in two places with string. Then he cut it in half and saturated both pieces with charcoal starter.

Carl put the paper logs side by side in our small hibachi, feathered ends up, stacked the briquets in a pyramid over them and lit the logs.

We allowed the logs to burn about 30 minutes until the flames ceased and gray ash began to appear on the coals. I fished out the remains of the logs with a garden hoe handle, put them in a metal garbage can cover and hosed them down with water.

Carl spread out the coals and we were ready to barbecue. No fuss. No

I'VE ENDURED the worst of barbecue times - like this year when my wife invited some friends over and almost nothing went right.

First, I had to borrow a barbecue because I couldn't find the grill of the hibachi. Secondly, I dug out a bag of briquets that I later discovered were two

Then, I used only one paper log and all of the charcoal starter trying to light the coals as the 20 percent chance of rain 100 percent over the patio chased me to the carport.

Finally, I got the coals burning continuously, thanks to my wife, who dashed to the store for more charcoal starter and some fresh briquets.

When I put the first batch of ribs on the grill, the rain was pouring, but I didn't mind by then. I was planted in a lawn chair, sipping a cold beer, basting the ribs with barbecue sauce and relax-

Boiling pork ribs before you barbecue removes excess grease and allows them to cook faster.

Butterflied beef short ribs cook through better; not splitting them will produce rare insides. Rubbing the metal grill with cooking oil will help prevent sticking. Basting ribs with too much barbecue sauce will lead to caking and burned outsides. Thick barbecue sauce is used up faster than thin. Having a hot sauce and a mild sauce on hand will please all palates.

SYLVIA HAFNER of Worgi, Austria is spending a month with Celia Stuart of Plymouth. Celia is a member of the local high school drama group that went to Austria in June to perform at the international drama festival in Villach, Austria. The troupe also spent some time in Worgl, where they stayed with host families and gave several performances of "Feiffer's People."

Cetia stayed at the Hafner home and Sylvia came here Aug. 4 for a month's visit. Her hosts and other members of the troupe have been showing the 16-year-old Sylvia

She has been to Pine Knob to see Men at Work, and has a Men at Work T-shirt as a souvenir. She's been roller skating for the first time, and loves it - says it is easier than ice skating. She spent two days at the 4-H Club Fair with Celia. They took her to Cedar Point for a day, to the RenCen and to an ethnic festival in Detroit. She's been sailing on a 65-foot sail boat and swimming at Camp Dearborn. Future plans call for a trip to a jazz festival and to Niagara Falls.

CELIA AND Sylvia said forgl is about the same size as Pismouth. The main industry is a

You can buy everything there toys, flowers, records," said Sylvia. As is usual with visitors from abroad, the conversation got around to American food.

"At home, we eat dinner at noon. Everthing closes down. The kids are out of school from noon to 2 p.m. and the stores are closed. We eat our big meal at noon."

When asked about new foods she had tried for the first time here, her first response was "onion rings and seedless grapes, and nachos and potato chips — we have potato chips but they are not as good as the ones you have here."

Sylvia said, "We have a McDonalds but they don't taste the same as here. And they serve beer at the McDonalds at home. But not if you are too young." She explained en children are dining out with their parents, they may drink beer or wine. What does she miss? She misses the mountains and the und of her own language, which is German. She does miss some foods, too, "Our ice cream and coffee are much better," she said. SYLVIA ATTENDS grammar school and has no firm tarese plans. She would like to do comething that would involve travel. She said drama is an elective, "and we are not very good compared to the Plymouth High School actors."

She went on to give rave reviews of "Feiffer's People" performances in Worgl. "We had enough English to understand if they did not talk too fast." She said she thought they were wonderful.

Tennis and skiing are Sylvia's favorite sports.

"She's the best skier in Tyrol," said Celia, "but she doesn't mention

And Sylvia has acquired a new favorite singer since she came to this country. She said his name is Prince. (Someone this writer had never heard of but evidently everyone else has.)

She is not particulary impressed with sweet corn, although she has tried it. "We don't eat much corn at me," she said.

Sgirla will leave for Austria Sept. And Celia, who graduated in June from high school, will attend Sastern Michigan University where she has a scholarship in theatre.

Selling at a local crafts, art show

By Loraine McClish staff writer

Organizations which stage arts and craft shows are lining up artisans now to put their work up for the shoppers who will be out in number searching for a one-of-a-kind item.

Crafters are buying spaces for their booths and readying their inventory while the organizers have started jurying and letting out contracts in preparations for the Christmas gift buying crowd who will be visiting the shows from mid-October through mid-Decem-

After attending these shows as a shopper, Roxann Eathorne is sure that any number of crafters go home woning how they can turn their own hobby or craft into a profitable small

"A craft business is like any other business venture. It demands drive, pride in the quality of your work, devotion and some business skills." Eathorne said.

The longtime seller of crafts who has taken on the job of coordinating Our Lady of Mercy High School's fall arts and crafts shows, passes along some advice for the crafter who would like to turn a profit this fall.

EATHORNE HAS three questions for the first-time seller.

Do you honestly feel that your craft or art is of the best possible quality that you can produce?

Do you have the time to keep up the quality of your craft if you are continually selling at shows?

Do you have the necessary business skills to maintain accurate records?

"You have to be able to answer yes to all three questions before you should consider selling," she said. "Then begin by setting up and keeping accurate iness records."

On the business end of the new venture, Eathorne suggests that all re-ceipts and saleslips for materials purchased to produce the craft should be saved. The new businessperson should contact a bank to examine the convenience of accepting major credit cards, and have business cards printed to be picked up by potential buyers at the shows. Sales books are also a must.

"All of these business considerations should be made before selling at any craft show. And I might add that many promotors and sponsoring groups are now requesting that their craftpersons have a valid Michigan Sales Tax License, That license may allow you to receive some discounts in wholesale supply companies," she said.

ARTS AND CRAFTS shows can be found in at least three ways.

Newspapers have a classified section exclusively for advertising the shows, Or the shows might appear in the paper in a calendar of events, or a small separate article.

Another way to find shows is by talking to local craftspeople. Eathorne says that they are usually "more than willing to talk about their craft and the experiences they've had in one show or another."

The third way to find future shows is to contact Michigan Council for the Arts and ask for its calendar that lists many, but by no means all, of the shows scheduled for the state in a given

The shows come under two categories; juried and non-juried.

"In a juried show, you will usually be asked to submit pictures or slides of your craft. Professional pictures are not needed but try to send pictures which show the detail of your work," Eathorne said. "Other juried shows ask you to come in person with your craft.

"The non-juried shows accept your craft with jurying, but they usually have some guidelines concerning the nature of the crafts that they will ac-

"As a beginning craftsperson, I would only select three craft shows luring any one season. You do not want o over extend yourself by entering too nany shows because you want to gain good reputation with the buying pubc and promoters concerning the quali-of your work.

"I firmly believe that quality arts or rafts cannot be mass produced," she

THE CONTACT between the ring group and the crafter is nly by phone, the promoters will probbly ask a few questions to find out if he craft offered fits in with their ideas what that show should contain.

"If you want a contract, now is the time to ask for one," Eathorne said.
"And this is also the time to ask how many exhibitors will be in the show; types of publicity that show uses; and how many people went through their

"When you receive the contract and the accompanying cover letter, you will find that it is quite specific with date, set-up time, location, admission charge. If you have asked for electricity, for example, make sure that is spelled out in the contract.

"Keep all of these notes. Keep all of the notes you've taken on every show you've contacted or worked in.

"And usually, within the contract, there will be some indication on when you can expect a notification of accept-ance," she said.

AFTER RECEIVING acceptance, concern should turn to the crafter's setup and table display.

In this matter, Eathorne says, "I would suggest setting up your display as early as possible to avoid the chaos connected with setting up in any craft "Please remember that in most shows you are expected to carry in your own crafts. Use containers that are light weight or have a very strong partner to assist you. Your table display should reflect good taste and your own personality.

"At a minimum, all shows require a table cover which reaches close to the floor. Never have your table cover completely to the floor because if someone abould step on it, you could loose your entire inventory" she said.

"I would also suggest a table display of varying heights in order to catch the attention of the buying public. You may want to use shelves which can be attached to your table by using clamps. I have also seen wooden crates, painted or unpainted, used in a very effective or unpainted, used in a very effective display. "Imagination and good taste are the key ingredients to any good table dis-play," Eathorne said.

EATHORNE is a firm believer that advertising the craft show is a joint responsibility for the crafter and the sponsoring group.

"With your acceptance into a show or soon after, you can expect to receive advertising cards," she said.

"These cards are sent to the craftperson so that he or she can publicize the event. As a co-chairperson of an arts and crafts show it is very dis-heartening to attend another craft show and find some of your drafters there who have not bothered to put out the cards that you have sent to them."

Another suggestion for advertising is one that Eathorne learned from the crafters who keep guestbooks in a prominent spot on their display tables. "These people encouraged those who visit their table to sign the greetbook with their name, address and what they are interested in purchasing." Me mid. "Such books become a very important tool for advertising yourself, as well as "One last suggestion is to misseg-graph a list of future shows you've con-tracted for with those dates, times, and locations. A potential contumer may northly today but he back for your nast ships, if he or she knows where to find you," she said.

Eathorne sums up her guidelines by asying, "The quality of the craft that you produce and your imagination are the keys that will turn your hobby into a successful craft business

Tindali to Jurek will be an often-called play for the Rocks. Quarter-back Mark Tindali and fullback Scott Jurek are keys to the Salem

By Chris McCosky staff writer

You're going to need a scorecard to keep track of who's playing where for Plymouth Salem this year.

Tom Moshimer, entering his 17th season as head football coach of the Rocks, is pulling out all stope. Starting halfbacks from last year are going to be playing offensive line. Players that would normally play offense only will be playing offense and defense. His two quarterbacks will be splitting time in the defensive secondary, as will his wide receivers.

Through all this madness, Moshimer hopes to find a winning combination.

We have the lowest number of people out this year since 1974. We have 10 or 11 kids out sick with the flu," Moshimer said.

IN ADDITION, the Rocks lost 25 players to graduation last year. The lack of bodies has forced Moshimer to make drastic changes.

Dave Bunch, who was a starting halfback as a junior last year, will play offensive guard. Jeff Arnold, another halfback from last year, will play split

Despite all the changes, the Rocks offense looks sound, especially thebackfield. All-Conference fullback/ linebacker Scott Jurek is returning. He'll play between juniors Chris Raymond and senior Ken Harmon in Moshimer's patented option backfield. Junior Craig Morton will also see ac-

Senior Mark Tindall, who saw limited action last year, and junior Steve Sobditch are battling for the quarterback spot. Tindall appears to have the edge thus far.

We are going to throw more this year," Moshimer said. "No sense in not using all the speed we have."

SALEM IS indeed blessed with speed. Arnold, Harmon, Raymond, Morton and wide receiver Mike Galliers can all fly.

But, the bread and butter of Salem's attack, as always, will be the option.

We are going to try to run the op-tion. I think by passing more, we'll open up the running game. Last year, teams got away with bunching us be-cause they knew other than (Dave) Houle, we had no receivers. But, if we with Bunch, Chris Hymes, Paul Small-can't run the option, we're in trouble," wood and John Nichols.

There is a real scramble going on for the tight end spot. Junior Steve Potoc-zak is battling seniors Reid Williams and Chris DeSantal for the spot.

Otherwise, the offensive line is set

MOSHIMER IS a bit concerned about his defense. For one thing, they are small, And for another, they are relatively inexperienced.

By Chris McCoeky staff writer

Plymouth Canton has never had a 500 season in football, but fourth-year coach Richard Barr believes this will be the year that elusive barrier is bro-

In fact, Barr thinks his team has a good shot at second place in the Western Lakes West Division.

That's pretty strong optimism considering the team lost 10 starters from a year ago, including All-League receiver and potential All-Stater Bob Wasczenski.

WASCENSKI, WHO caught 30 passes good for 614 yards and 10 touchdowns last year, has transferred to, of all places, Farmington Harrison, last year's Class A state champs.

Barr's optimism is spurred by what looks to be a pretty solid defense anchored by All-Division lineman Paul Fletcher, all 6-foot-4, 220 pounds of

The defense is the best it's been since I've been here," Barr said. "The key to our season will be the defense. We would have won a lot more last fill. year if we would have given up less

Canton had a definite penchant for yielding the big play last year and Barr has set out to eliminate that trait this

Besides Fletcher, Jim Burczyk, Dave Szary, and Rodney Williams all have game experience defensively. However, the secondary is virtually untested. Barr will rely upon two juniors and one sophomore in the defensive backfield.

THERE ARE NUMEROUS question marks offensively for the Chiefs. Number one question mark is at quarterback. Jody Spitz will step into the start-ing role this year, replacing second-team All-League performer Pat Murphy who graduated. Pretty big shoes for a senior with little experience to

Also filling big shoes will be David Knapp, a junior sput end w the void left by Wasczenski.

Joining Spitz in the backfield will be returning lettermen Williams, a punishing fullback in addition to his defensiye abilities, Jim Burczyk and Szary. Rod Boyd and Matt Flower, both newcomers, will also see a lot of action.

On the offensive line, lettermen Fletcher, Doug Chilcoff, Eric Wines, and tight end Jim Kaske, will be joined by newcomer Brian Callahan.

"We have a solid first unit," Barr said, "but we are lacking varsity experience." Barr also bemoans his team's lack of size. Only one starter is above

AN OVERALL lack of depth also plagues Canton. "We have to hope nobody gets hurt. If a few key people get hurt, we're going to be in trouble," Barr said.

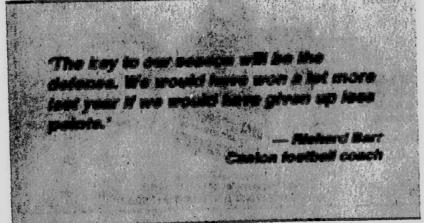

Aside from the weaknesses, Barr feels he has a solid unit. Indeed, his team has solid players in Williams, Fletcher, Burczyk and Szary. He also has good new talent in Knapp, Spitz, Boyd, and Flower.

"For us to win," Barr said. "We are going to have to take away the big play from our opponents and not commit turnovers ourselves. If we can control the ball we will do alright."

Canton will open the season at home against Livonia Bentley, Friday,

Time is running out on varsity wrestling at Bishop Borgess High School.

Farents attempting to keep the program off its back will make a final plea tenight before the school's board.

Wrestling was one of four extracurricular programs trimmed in late July by the Borgess administration. Also axed were boys tennis, interscholastic bowling and freshman cheerleading.

The No. 1 reason is economics," said athletic director Ralph Owen, now in his 12th year. "We were asked by the administration to cut back in every department. All budget areas had to be cut back."

Owen cited a "tight gym schedule" and "growth in intramurals" for dropping the sport.

"Two-thirds of our student body is involved in intramurals," Owen said. "We have 700 alone in floor bockey. And with bingo, it's hard to fit wrestling in."

BORGESS enrollment declined approximately 100 from a year ago, but remains the largest parochial co-educational school in the state at 1,560 students.

Three years ago, Owen had to drop varsity swimming and gymnastics. Leading the parents group is Mrs.

Dolly Ward, whose son John is a top wrestler at 167 pounds. Mrs. Ward and a "select few parents" met last week to discuss alternatives with the administration, including principal Jack Grif-

"There's a 1-percent chance," she said. "I don't forsee it. Personally, I want it there because of my son. But what we want is what's good for the school. The kids and parents are willing to work."

The big hangup is storage of wrestling mats and finding adequate practice space. The wrestling team has practiced on the theatrical stage, in the hallways and in the cafeteria, according to Owen.

THE SCHOOL recently added an exercise-weight-room annex, but wrestling equipment cannot be stored there, according to Owen, because of state fire laws.

Ward was to meet with the Borgess Dad's Club to see if bingo equipment could be housed in another room of the Borgess physical plant instead of the old weight room.

"The coaches have volunteered to coach for free and we could maybe hold a school dance to help raise money," Ward said. "But they (the administration) want a four-year commitment and we could only offer them two."

Ward was told by administrators that it costs $5,000 per year to run a varsity wrestling program.

Head coach Joe Bothel, meanwhile, was upset by the way administrators handled the decision.

"There's a lot of politics going on at Borgess," he said. "I guess practicing on the stage disrupted the baskethall team. I'm sure that played a decision. "It hurts me because we had a good team coming back. I thought we came a long way with the program. "I HAD wind of it last March, but I didn't want to believe it. And then I don't hear anything about it until July 26 or 27. It hurt me professionally a great deal. It would have been differsey Field. Massey had to beat MBM

Despite home runs by Mark Morgan,

Bob Smith, Tom Guilfoyle and Wayne

Hamilton, MBM lost 11-10. A three-run homer by Massey's Don Catagno was twice to win the tourney.

Bothel, a teacher at St. Gerard's in Detroit, said he missed an opportunity to apply for coaching positions at a pair of Class-A public schools.

"They (the administration) state there's a lack of interest," Bothel continued, "but I thought they took some-thing from these kids."

Ward said her son will not transfer "because he plays football and baseball and doesn't want to leave his friends for his senior year."

Two wrestlers, Ken Freeman and Mike Graczyk, have already registered with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for the fall term. Graczyk posted 22 wins after Christmas.

ANOTHER WRESTLER, Joe Linck, is contemplating a move to Dearborn Heights Crestwood, according to Heavyweight John Ketchum, one of the team's top returnees, was turned back in his attempt to enroll in another private school because there are no openings available.

"Yes, I'm upset," said Mrs. Ward. "If they had told the kids sooner they would have had some options to play with. A lot of these kids went to wrestling camps this summer."

Students who transfer must sit out one semester, according to Michigan High School Athletic Association

. In a sense, 1983 will be a rebuilding year for the Rocks. After losing 25 seniors last year, Moshimer has had to virtually start from scratch. But, Moshimer is optimistic.

"We don't use the word 'rebuilding'. We are more inexperienced, that's all. We are real green. I'm happy in a sense because I get the chance to play a lot more kids than I could in the past. And we really have come a lot farther these last couple weeks than I had expected.

"But, I really won't know what we have until our first four-way scrimmage. I'm optimistic, but we'll just have to wait and see," Moshimer said.

A team of All-Stars from the Plymouth-Canton area finished third in the Milan Invitational Baseball Tournament last week.

The team, comprised of 9- and 10year-olds, was co-sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League and Quality Construction.

The team compiled wins against Sommerfield, Saline and South Rockwood, before losing to Detroit West-7 and Southgate.

Tracey Ewald, Casey Kirkpatrick, Jeff Maxwell, Tom Noonan and Scott Rodgers paced Plymouth-Canton hitters. Others contributing to the team's success were Chris Antzak, Jason McLenaghan, John Schreiber, Anthony Pappas, Steve Balog, Dan Sayers and Jason Eby.

Rodney Dangerfield would drive anyone into a frenzy with his antics in "Easy Money."

the movies

Louise Snider

Comic Dangerfield won't get respect for 'Easy Money' become nervous and edgy, what does watching him for 90 minutes cause? Ninety minutes worth of discomfort, that's what. The proof of the pudding is "Easy Money" (R), critic's Exhibit A.

Dangerfield's general physical demeanor in this movie is a continuing assault of jerks, quirks, shouting, puffing and raging. He could drive a catatonic into a fit of St. Vitus Dance.

Dangerfield plays Monty Capuletti, the low-life husband of a simpleton helpers. Beautiful plays Monty Capuletti, the low-life husband of a simpleton heiress, Rose (Candy Azzara). Although she was presumably raised in privileged circumstances, you would never know it from her appearance or that of her household. She has about as much class as a Twinkie.

Just marrying Monty would be enough to confirm her absence of good judgment. But there's more. Their home is furnished in a manner that makes it a monument to bad taste. It's a sanctuary for every revoltingly cute object. It reflects the polyester quality of the humor in this movie - sleazy, artificial and easily pack-

CARRYING THE THEME further, Monty dresses in a "regular guy" look, all synthetics and mismatched patterns and colors. He makes Archie Bunker look like a fashion plate in comparison.

This is a movie which is hung up on stereotypes of lower-middle-class life, like bowling shirts and painted flamingos on the front

The gimmick in "Easy Money" is the conditions of grandmother's will. Rose's mother will leave $10 million to her, providing that Monty reforms. He must lose weight, stop smoking, drinking, gambling and philandering.

For a man who has devoted his entire life to nurturing these habits, the will reads like a sentence to a torture chamber. But his family and friends aren't going to let him give up $10 million just because he craves a smoke or a pizza.

The agony he suffers from such deprivations during his endurance trial of one year makes up the featherweight plot of the movie.

EMBROIDERING THIS plot are comic twists derived from the stereotyped images. The most offensive of these is the depiction of a Latino character, Julio (Taylor Negron) as a dumb greaser. Julio is engaged and then married to Monty's daughter (Jennifer Jason Leigh), who is even less bright than Rose.

The only family member with a modicum of smarts is the grandmother (Geraldine Fitzgerald), who owns a swanky department store. However, even her intelligence must be questioned for wanting to leave her money to her family when there are so many worthy charities around — the Lint Collectors of America, to name just one.

"Easy Money" does have a few good one-liners and one or two good visual gags, but generally it's a coarse movie that abounds with jokes about bosoms, buttocks and booze.
