Cash advance sought for new sewer project

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth Township is going ahead with plans to get a $3.8 million cash advance to design a parallel sewage interceptor for the seven communities cut from Supersewer.

The township board, in a 7-0 vote Tuesday night, authorized supervisor Maurice Breen to sign an application with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for the advance.

Breen, and other officials, including State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth Township, met with DNR representatives last week and were reassured the funds should be available by Oct. 1.

Although the money will be channeled through Plymouth Township, the design project will take in the townships of Canton, Van Buren, Northville, and Commerce and the cities of Wixom and Novi. These communities are included due to population requirements.

"The purpose of the cash advance is to allow the seven communities expelled from Supersewer to design and develop a plan for the presentation of a sewage system," Breen said.

"It's the only game in town as far as the seven communities I mentioned are concerned. If we don't get this, we're out of business as far as economic development in these communities."

THE SEVEN communities, referred to as the northern branch of the original Supersewer plan, claim they were forced by the DNR to participate in Supersewer planning.

Additional sewer capacity is needed in many of the communities, since engineering studies show the current interceptor — owned by Wayne County and tied into the Detroit sewage system — is over its capacity.

Supersewer would have tied the northern communities into a massive sewer system planned to run south into the downriver area. The southern communities are continuing with a scaled-down version of Supersewer.

The parallel interceptor plan will keep the northern communities tied into the Detroit system, with a new sewage line running next to the Wayne County interceptor.

"Theoretically, if everybody is right, it would be cheaper to build to Detroit (than going with Supersewer)," Breen said.

The cost of building the parallel interceptor — estimated at $109 million — could be defrayed if suspected pollution problems in the existing interceptor are corrected at the same time.

WITH THE cash advance, Plymouth Township must develop a grant application for the construction of the new sewage line. That application needs to be completed by next October if the project is to receive 75 percent federal funding. The remaining 25 percent would be borne by the seven local communities.

The only strings on the cash advance, Breen said, will be that the seven communities participate in the construction of the parallel interceptor, should federal funds be made available.

"There is no payback of the money unless the design is completed and the grant monies are made available and we don't participate. Then they will come back after us for the money," Breen said.

Reportedly, the DNR is giving the parallel project a number six priority for funding, with the scaled-down Supersewer project receiving a number two priority. Last year, funding was granted to projects running down to the number 26 priority, officials said.

Initially, the cash advance was expected to total some $4.5 million. But research by the DNR brought the figure down to $3.8 million.

If Plymouth Township receives the money, some 15 percent can be used for administering the project.

'Economic growth' requires incentives

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Economic growth rapidly is becoming a key term in local government circles. It means expanding commercial and industrial development within a community — a fast growing competitive situation.

Attracting big business into a community nowadays requires the cooperation, if not the lead, of the local government. The industrial development field has become a "buyer's market," with states and communities vying to sell sites.

Governmental bodies can no longer expect the granting of tax abatement on projects to attract development. The growing number of communities offering services to industrial developers is creating the competitive atmosphere.

Plymouth Township soon will jump into the field, already actively pursued by its neighbors — Canton Township and Plymouth.

The recent hiring of an administrative assistant to the supervisor will permit Plymouth Township to devote more resources to economic development, according to Supervisor Maurice Breen.

"We were hoping that the chamber of commerce would take that on, but it appears to be involved in other things," Breen said.

"We asked the chamber to get involved in it and frankly, they haven't done it," he said.

"We have buildings that are standing that are empty, and something has to be done."

(The Associated Spring plant on Plymouth Road has remained on the market since closing last year. The Plymouth Metal Abrasives building on Joy Road was vacant for some time, however an automobile manufacturer is in the process of moving a print shop into the building.)

TO PROMOTE GROWTH, Breen's assistant, Carl Berry, will be putting together an economic development program in the coming months.

"We will be putting together the needed information and make it available to developers or anybody that would want to move into the township," Breen said.

"There are lots of new programs to encourage development. We will be staying on top of that information and make it available."

"We will find out what they need and see how we can make it attractive for them to locate in the Plymouth area," he said.

Canton Township has an economic growth department already in place, with a staff to work with businesses.

"Companies today have the impression that Michigan isn't a good place to be," said Dave Nicholson, economic growth director.

Nicholson and his staff try to dispel that impression by working hand-in-hand with businesses. The department will assist a developer with any roadblocks or problems encountered during construction.

Before construction, Nicholson can help bring a business in contact with land owners or developers wishing to sell.

And, going a step further, Canton is in the process of finishing site improvements for a township-owned industrial park on Haggerty Road.

Nicholson said the economic growth field is "highly competitive." And, for that reason, his department advertises Canton as a "good home for business."

"I anticipate in the future we will become known as a bright spot in southeastern Michigan," he said.

"We're not trying to steal anybody's existing facilities, we're after expansions or, on their own will, relocations."

ALTHOUGH PLYMOUTH DOESN'T have an economic growth department, City Manager Henry Graper has been involved with aiding several projects.

The city administration has lent a hand to three ongoing projects — Downriver Federal Savings on Main Street, Henry Ford Hospital on Main, and the rebuilding of the Penniman Mall site on Penniman Avenue.

Graper currently is involved in selling St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor on a multi-million dollar parking deck and medical clinic project for the Central Parking Lot area.

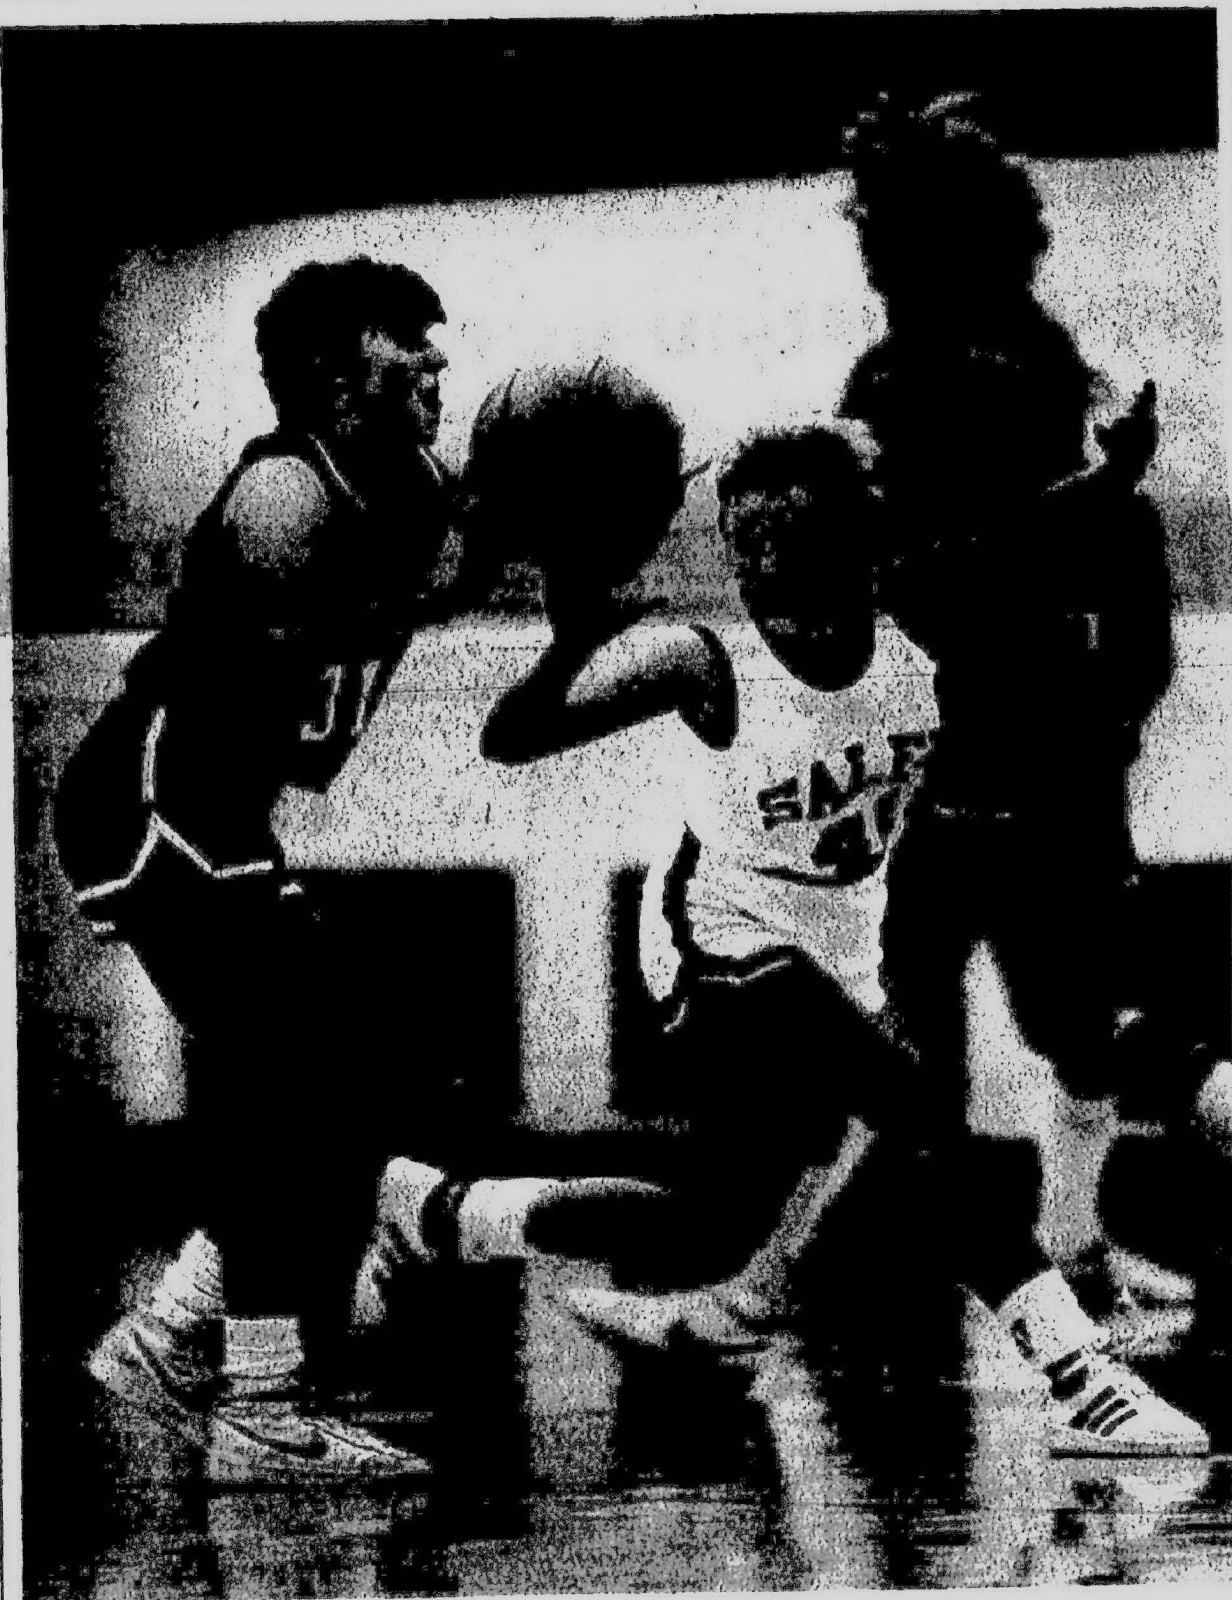

The city also has its own Economic Development Corporation in place to sell tax-free bonds on qualifying construction projects.

Graper said the city doesn't need an economic growth department because of its limited amount of available land.

"If I had as much open space as Canton, you better believe we would have a department," he said.

Tax relief requested for clinic

Property tax abatement for the Henry Ford Hospital clinic on Main Street will be the topic of discussion at a Monday, Oct. 3, public hearing.

The 3,870-square-foot clinic being built at 261 S. Main is expected to open in November and contain 10 examination rooms, as well as X-ray and other outpatient facilities.

The project developer, Robert Bake, has requested 12 years of 50-percent property tax abatement under Public Act 255 of 1978. The clinic is being built in a commercial redevelopment district which was established earlier by the city commission.

The October public hearing, approved Tuesday night by the commission, will focus on Bake's request for the tax exemption certificate. A presentation on the project will be made before the public hearing.

Originally, the developer wasn't going to ask for tax relief on the project, according to City Manager Henry Graper.

A five-year lease with the hospital, and the added value of special plumbing to accommodate the hospital, have forced Bake to seek the tax relief, Graper said.

ACCORDING TO his tax relief application, Bake estimates 20 permanent jobs will be created when the project is finished. The construction, already underway, is expected to provide work for at least 75 people.

The total project is expected to cost $287,000, with $11,000 being spent on site improvements, $175,000 for construction and $100,000 for fixed equipment.

Henry Ford Hospital plans to initially staff the clinic with five physicians.

Construction of outpatient clinics by major hospitals is an increasing trend in the suburbs. Detroit's larger hospitals are building the centers to provide medical care in outlying communities, as well as providing a wider base for potential hospital patients, according to hospital officials.

Henry Ford Hospital has several clinics in suburban communities, including a large facility in Dearborn.

However, unlike Oakwood Hospital's outpatient clinic in Canton Township, Henry Ford's Plymouth center will not have emergency room facilities. Hospital officials claim Oakwood holds the only license for an emergency room in the area.

2 stores won't take wild kids' guff what's inside

By Arlene Funke

A small group of loitering, destructive youths is creating havoc and driving away customers, say merchants at the Pine Tree Plaza shopping center on Joy east of Haggerty.

While most young customers shop for snacks and play video games, others steal, break windows and vandalize vacant buildings, shopkeepers say.

But two store managers insist they aren't going to knuckle under to the teens, and are attempting to reverse a five-year problem at the shopping center.

"I'm not going to feel threatened by a 15-16-year-old who thinks he is Mr. Macho," said Robert "Old Sarge"

Sparks, an ex-Green Beret and retired sergeant from the U.S. Army who operates Sparky's Carpentry Shop in the Pine Tree Plaza center.

"When they step out of line, Old Sarge doesn't take it," Sparks said. "When I moved in, I decided I wouldn't take any guff. The merchants are really scared, they are afraid to say anything."

JOYCE SOUTHERLAND, manager of a QuikPik convenience store, has banned children from the store unless they are making a purchase or playing video games. She says she likes children, as long as they are well-behaved.

"We're making rules and sticking to them," said Southerland, who has been at the store about seven weeks. "We're getting it under control. I want everybody to feel safe in this store."

The center contains several small businesses, including a pizzeria, children's resale store, florist and professional suites, as well as Sparky's and the 24-hour QuikPik.

The five-year-old center, which sits near the boundary between Canton and Westland, requires "continuous special attention," said Lt. Dennis Joker of the Canton police.

CHILDREN WALK OR ride their bikes to the center from nearby subdivisions and apartments, Joker said.

With no recreational activities nearby, many youths hang out at the center, Southerland said.

"Video machines attract them,"

Joker said. "There's a party store and a pizzeria. They stand around in front in groups. It attracts (youths) and then they stay."

Vandalism problems aren't confined to the shopping center, Southerland said. She said the Divine Savior Lutheran Church nearby recently was broken into and vandalized.

POLICE WILL sometimes drive kids home or issue violations, Joker said. But officers can't be there all the time.

The youths are "street-wise," Southerland said. "They know if the police come, it will be for five minutes. The courts are too busy (and) they have no place to put the kids."

Ardelean gets Christian post

Paul Ardelean has been appointed to the position of assistant administrator at the Plymouth Christian Academy, 43065 Joy just east of Main in Canton.

His duties and responsibilities will focus on future development and the business management of the school.

The appointment was confirmed recently by the board of trustees as part of the academy's plans to provide for two classrooms for each elementary grade.

Ardelean has worked 3½ years as headmaster at the American School of Brazilia, a government and embassy school there, and as science teacher, assistant administrator, and director of the Brazil branch of the Wycliff Bible Translators.

Other educational experience includes teaching in Lake Orion, Taylor, and Wayne-Westland Public Schools. He earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan, a master's degree in secondary education from Eastern Michigan University, and has done postgraduate work in administration at San Diego State and Boston State College.

Opinions vary on response to Soviets

Sanctions are 'realistic'

By Sharon Dergey
staff writer

A Southfield expert on the Soviet Union says its recent missile attack on a passenger jet may reflect power skirmishes between political factions and a potential shake-up in key Russian leadership positions.

President Reagan's moderate yet "realistic" response to the downing of Korean Air Lines Flight 007 last week, also may help indirectly to keep the "hard line" political faction from gaining an upper hand, according to Dennis Papazian. The Southfield resident is a Russian history professor and Soviet affairs expert at the University of Michigan, Dearborn campus.

"The response is appropriate to the situation. What the Soviets have done was barbaric and immoral, but not necessarily illegal. There's a limit to what Reagan can do," Papazian said.

In a televised speech earlier this week, the president urged the Soviet Union to take responsibility for the attack, which killed 269 passengers and crew, including a U.S. congressman and 60 other Americans. Several Michigan residents were aboard the doomed flight which was shot down after straying into Soviet airspace.

President Reagan also called for an apology and monetary reparations to the victims' families. He also suspended plans for an American consulate in Kiev and canceled a cooperative agreement for joint research projects in the transportation field.

MEANWHILE, HE reaffirmed plans to continue nuclear arms limitation talks, and refused to impose trade restrictions against the Soviet Union.

"I think Reagan is being realistic by not proposing economic sanctions," Papazian said. "Economic sanctions hurt us as much as it does them."

He said that a grain embargo imposed by the Carter administration in response to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan irked farmers and consumers at home, while the "Russians simply waited it out," until the restraints were lifted. Russian consumers, living in a "closed society," are less likely to openly protest food shortages or high prices, than are their American counterparts, he said.

"Most Americans are indignant over the killings and say that we should take action to punish them."

He said that a strong U.S. economy and military will put the Soviets on guard without "pushing them" too far.

"There are two elements in the Soviet psyche. They do respect strength. There's no question about that," Papazian said. "If they see that we are weak, they will perceive that it is a conscious decision on our part."

"And they have a paranoid feeling. If we're too strong and push them too hard, it will solidify their will to resist. They become very nationalistic."

He cited a possible suspension of joint nuclear arms talks as an example.

"THAT WOULD PUSH too hard. The (Soviet) hard-liners would say, 'see, you can't even deal with them!'"

'The response is appropriate to the situation. What the Soviets have done was barbaric and immoral, but not necessarily illegal. There's a limit to what Reagan can do.'

Whether talks continue may depend indirectly on the outcome of the political maneuvers by the Soviet military-industrial complex, the Communist Party, secret police and government leaders.

Papazian suggests that the recent airline disaster may be an attempt by the military to embarrass Soviet Premier Yuri Andropov, and eventually topple his regime.

Andropov, a "hard-liner on politics" but moderate on economics, has begun to make modest economic reforms with an eye toward reducing the Soviet armament production, Papazian said. That may have alienated those with a vested interest in the Soviet military-industrial complex, triggering the airline incident.

"He is new in office and (likely) has not solidified his position," he said.

"If we were to play the hypothesis out, there are two alternatives. The current administration reaffirms its power, Andropov stays and we'll see a veiled apology and continued arms talks.

"Or the hard-liners will put Andropov out of office — within about a year — and we won't see any movement on talks.

"It's scary. The implications go beyond the airliner."

Dennis Papazian, a Soviet affairs expert and Russian history professor at the Dearborn campus of the University of Michigan, feels the Korean airline tragedy could lead to a shake-up in leadership in the Soviet Union. He terms the implications "scary."

Action falls short due to 'politics'

By Carol Azizian
staff writer

President Reagan should invoke trade sanctions against the Soviet Union to demonstrate America's outrage over the missile attack that downed a Korean jetliner.

That's the opinion of the Rev. Tukyul Andrew Kim, pastor of the Korean Community Church in Southfield, who knew six of the 269 people aboard the Korean Air Lines 747.

Denouncing Reagan's relatively restrained steps against the Soviet Union, Kim said, "he seems more concerned with politics than human rights."

"His condemnation (against the Soviets) was very strong," Kim said. "But he didn't follow strongly with actions."

Reagan, in a nationally televised television and radio broadcast Monday, assailed the Kremlin's barbarism and demanded that it respond to the "cries of humanity for justice." He called for just compensation for the families of those who were killed.

The president also said he was cancelling an agreement for joint research projects on transportation issues and suspending negotiations with the Soviet Union on new consulates and establishment of future cultural exchanges. He reaffirmed the U.S. ban on Soviet planes landing at U.S. airports. But he made no mention of the multibillion-dollar agreement to sell grain to the Soviets.

"I THINK HE didn't (impose) the grain embargo because he fears complaints by American farmers," Kim said.

"We ought to go by principle rather than calculate the economic or political benefit."

Kim believes that, even under the Carter administration, the United States didn't "act boldly enough" to protect human rights. Carter did suspend U.S. grain shipments to the Soviet Union after crises developed over Afghanistan and Poland.

The recent Soviet attack has even stronger ramifications for the Korean community because many Koreans already have suffered persecution at the hands of the Russians, Kim stressed.

"It's even more saddening because we've been victimized so frequently," Kim said. "We experienced the brutality of the Russians after World War II."

"I witnessed the Russian (troops) moving into North Korea after the war. They were supposed to disarm the Japanese troops and leave. But they didn't leave until they formed a Communist government in North Korea."

"Most of my congregation is originally from the north. We fled to the south because of persecution by the Russians."

That same attitude of a "disregard for human life" is reflected in Soviet actions today, Kim said. The Soviets not only have refused to accept responsibility for the recent missile attack, they also have prevented Americans and Japanese from entering their territorial waters to search for the remains of passengers killed in the attack, he said.

EXPRESSING THEIR OUTRAGE over the attack, 350 Detroit-area Koreans — many of them members of the Korean Community Church — held a rally last weekend in a Warren playfield. The demonstration took place in view of the Warren Manor Apartments, the last home of Lt. Col. Whee Byung Lee.

Lee, a Korean army officer, studied biology for two years at the University of Detroit. Lee, his wife, Kyung Ae, and two children were among the passengers aboard Flight 007 when it was shot down over the Sea of Japan.

The family attended Korean Community Church during their brief stay in the United States.

"They had wonderful experiences living in the United States," Kim recalled.

"The very morning of their departure, they were sharing breakfast with a neighboring family. Their daughter, Kwae Yun, jokingly said she would like to stay in America. And, their best, Jung Ho Kang, offered to adopt her so she could stay."

"When we held memorial services for the family (last week), Mrs. Kang cried."

Another couple — Heung Seul Park and his wife, Jaell — had been visiting their daughter Hearn, who attends the University of Detroit.

Mrs. Park's brother, Jaekwon Rhee, is an elder of the Southfield church.

'I think he didn't (impose) the grain embargo because he fears complaints by American farmers. We ought to go by principle rather than calculate the economic or political benefit.'

The Soviet Union admitted this week that one of its Su15 attack planes shot down the Korean Air Lines 747 claiming the lives of 269 persons, including 61 Americans.

The Rev. Tukyul Andrew Kim, pastor of the Korean Community Church of Southfield, knew six of the passengers aboard the Korean passenger plane shot down by the Soviet Union. In denouncing President Reagan's restrained steps against the Soviets, Kim said U.S. response should have included trade sanctions.

ton and Plymouth, undoubtedly will promote several of its features which are attractive to businesses.

The Plymouth-Canton area has access to railroads and two major expressways — M-14 and I-75. A small airport is located in Canton, with two major airports less than 15 miles away. Port access, through Detroit, is only 30 miles away.

And, in addition to available industrial sites, the communities offer plenty of residential areas for employees to locate at.

Like Nicholson, Breen believes development will pick up in the 1980s and the Plymouth-Canton area stands to grow. Even now, the township shows signs of increasing development.

And, should financing for projects continue to be available, the township has plenty of land ready to build on.

Three office complex projects are underway in the township, with plenty of space still open for leasing.

The PMC Corporation is building a two-story, 27,000-square-foot office and retail building on Ann Arbor Road at General Drive. The building will be adjacent to PMC's two-story, 13,500 square foot retail and office building currently being remodeled.

PMC plans to open the remodeled building soon and still has space available. Leasing information can be obtained by calling 455-2901.

The Marcello and Silvio Building Company plans to open its three-building office complex Jan. 1, 1984, on Ann Arbor Road across from Don Massey Cadillac.

That complex will contain some 60,000 square feet of office space — including a bank branch. Leasing information can be obtained by calling 425-0140.

Plymouth Place Associates plan to open a 84,000-square-foot office building in late fall 1984. Space still is available in the three-story building featuring two wings joined by an atrium lobby.

Leasing information about the building, on Plymouth Road across from the Hillside Restaurant, can be obtained by calling 453-6600.

THE TOWNSHIP'S three industrial parks have vacant land available for construction.

The Metro West Industrial Park, on Sheldon Road and Five Mile, is a three-phase project with space available and becoming available.

More information can be obtained by calling 478-7730.

Kids give merchants 'guff'

According to some of the shopkeepers, the youths have tossed eggs, smeared gum on store windows and broken into vacant stores.

Mary Pletzke, owner of Mary's Mix and Match florist shop, said youths keep opening her door, which causes loud ringing of a cowbell used to announce visitors.

Late last year, a resident filed a police report, saying four youths jumped on his car, yelled obscenities and exposed themselves in the center's parking lot.

SPARKS FILED FELONIOUS assault and disorderly conduct charges against a 15-year-old Plymouth Township youth in a rock-throwing incident.

A juvenile court referee dismissed those charges, but ordered the youth to pay $50 for breaking a window. Sparks said he was very bitter about referee's decision.

Kids "sneak in and steal from the cooler," added Sean Martineau, a QuikPik cashier. "They distract, so others can steal."

Developmentally disabled will have new area center

Action to consolidate state services for developmentally disabled persons in Wayne County was announced by the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

A new unit, Wayne Community Living Services (WCLS), began operation last week. It will provide home development, community placement, contract management and monitoring services.

WCLS initially will assume responsibility for about 600 developmentally disabled persons currently living in community residential programs in Wayne County. It is expected the unit will have a caseload of more than 1,000 when current home development efforts are completed.

The unit will serve persons leaving state facilities for the developmentally disabled as well as persons currently living in Wayne County who may require placement outside of their natural home.

Head of the new agency is Gerald Provençal, director of the Snyder Macomb-Oakland Regional Center, Mt. Clemens. He will assume his new duties in addition to his assignment in Mt. Clemens.

Employing 120 persons, the new unit will be located in vacant state buildings on the grounds of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, 41001 W. Seven Mile, Northville.

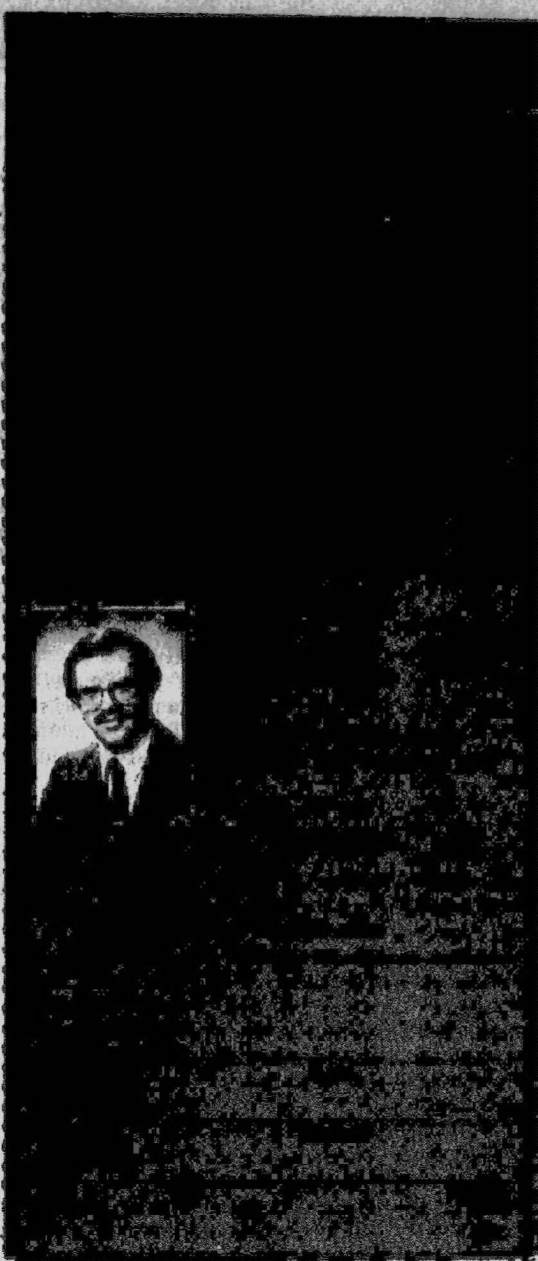

Staff and budget for the new unit will be transferred from current state agencies in Wayne County, including Southgate Center, Plymouth Center and the Northville Residential Training Center. The latter two agencies are scheduled to be phased out by the end of calendar 1983.

ORGANIZATIONALLY, WCLS will be an independent unit of the Snyder Macomb-Oakland Center, which will be responsible for overall supervision and other administrative functions.

In development of new services, the new unit will work closely with the Detroit-Wayne Community Mental Health Board. It is anticipated that operational responsibility for WCLS will be transferred from the state to the Detroit-Wayne Board within the next five years.

Michigan Department of Mental Health director C. Patrick Babcock said he particularly is pleased that Provençal has accepted the new assignment.

"The Snyder Macomb-Oakland Center, which he directs, has earned a national regional reputation for its innovative programs in developing community homes and services for the developmentally disabled," he said.

Belleek

Witness An Artisan At Work...

We invite you to visit our stores and meet Ms. Sheila Denning, a master Belleek painter, from the Belleek Pottery in Ireland. Since 1857 the artisans at Belleek have passed down their technique from generation to generation. Today, as before, each piece of Belleek is skillfully fashioned by hand.

TLC listening service asks for volunteers

A Christian-oriented telephone listening service is looking for volunteers who will spend eight hours a month manning telephone lines.

The service, called Telephone Listening Center (TLC), was begun by and is supported by Ward Presbyterian Church, Livonia.

Director Jan VanderBok said the center can use volunteers who may be members of other churches.

All volunteers are required to take 24 hours of classroom training prior to manning a phone line.

The training is conducted in two-hour sessions on Wednesday evenings Sept. 7 through Dec. 14 and one Saturday seminar.

VanderBok said that while classes have begun, those who are interested may start attending next Wednesday's session. The classes will be held in Room B of Ward Church, Farmington and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

For information, call 422-4TLC.

TLC, WHICH began in January 1982, will answer 9,000 phone calls this year, VanderBok said. The center is manned almost around the clock.

Callers are generally people who feel a need to talk to someone about personal problems and are generally lonely people, VanderBok said.

Many callers do not have people — family or friends — they feel comfortable talking to about things that may be bothering them.

"Sometimes all that is needed is a listening ear, or another viewpoint on how to handle a particular problem or situation," VanderBok said.

Volunteers are trained to be "listeners" rather than counselors, the director said. "We can and do refer people to professional counselors if we think that is needed, but we don't attempt to solve people's problems for them. We want to encourage people to talk about themselves in such a way that solutions, or actions may become apparent to the caller."

VanderBok said one thing is necessary: that volunteers be Christians. "This is an essential part of our ministry," she said.

STAND UP FOR YOUR RIGHTS!

There are those they say that our society today has become overly litigious; that people go to court over this. The public is better informed; people are less personal, etc.
Nevertheless, we live in a country where each person has a right to have a claim heard in a Court of Law. Our access to Courts is a fundamental American right and certainly out weighs the negative effect of those who file spurious or meaningless lawsuits.
If you need advice regarding a legal question, call for an appointment. Find out if you do or do not have a case. There is no charge for the initial consultation. Let's discuss your questions thoroughly and confidentially.

STRESS

Don't crack under stress

You don't have to crack under stress, you know. Because no matter what you've tried to do about stress up till now, the STRESS STOPPERS program can help you. In just six sessions of three hours each, you'll acquire the tools you need and learn how to:

- Identify stress
- How it affects you
- How to do something about it

The STRESS STOPPERS program works. Ask your neighbors and co-workers who've taken the program. Or just ask the many companies and organizations who've chosen STRESS STOPPERS to help their employees with job-related stress. When you've finished the STRESS STOPPERS program, you'll have the skills you need to get a good grip on your stress — and do something about it. All it takes is six sessions. And the first one is free. STRESS STOPPERS is sponsored in this area by the Health and Lifestyle Center of Henry Ford Hospital.

For more information, call 271-6568.

Cub Scouts in drive

Anthony P. Sayers of Plymouth has been reappointed chairman for the School Night to Join Cub Scouting program in the Gemini District, Detroit Area Council.

The announcement was made this week by Howard E. Collicott, district commissioner.

School Night to Join Cub Scouting will take place in the more than 500 elementary schools in the greater Detroit area Thursday, Sept. 22. The program will give boys in the second grade the opportunity to become Tiger Cubs and boys in the third, fourth, and fifth grades the opportunity to join Cub Scouts.

Sayers is a veteran Cub Scout leader and has served as cubmaster, pack committee chairman, assistant scoutmaster, and assistant district commissioner among other duties which lead to his being named to the chairmanship last year.

As a youth he was a Cub Scout for three years and a Boy Scout for four years. In recognition of his outstanding performance as a volunteer scoutmaster, Sayers has received the Scout's Key, Training, and Wood Badge awards.

The Gemini District assists churches, schools and civic organizations in groups and maintaining Cub Packs and Scout Troops for neighborhood youth in Plymouth, Livonia, Northville, Redford and Detroit.

Nuke freeze meetings

The arms race will be discussed at two meetings next week of the Western Wayne Region of the Nuclear Weapons Freeze Campaign.

The meetings will be held at the new Peace Resource Center of western Wayne County in the Newman House at 17300 Haggerty just south of Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The new center has both an office and meeting space at the Newman House.

Besides serving the nuclear weapons freeze committee the center also has a wide variety of material on other issues relating to the arms race and the quest for peace.

Dr. Donald Rucknagel will be the speaker at the meetings beginning 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 12, and starting 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 14.

Rucknagel, a human geneticist and hemotologist at University of Michigan, will present a slide showing entitled "Start vs. Stop," an analysis of the various approaches to controlling the arms race.

Rucknagel, chairman of the Washtenaw County Physicians for Social Responsibility, is acting chairman of the department of human genetics and is a professor of both human genetics and internal medicine.

New festival: old crafts

The Plymouth Historical Society will participate in the Fall Festival by exposing Festival goers to demonstrations of historic crafts.

The free demonstrations will take place Saturday and Sunday in front of the Plymouth Historical Museum at Church and Main Street. Items will be available for purchase at a nominal charge with all proceeds going toward operation of the museum.

The crafts to be demonstrated include needlework, rug braiding, twilling, cornhusk dolls, rug hooking, and tatting. The doll crafts to be featured will be cornhusk dolls, clothespin dolls, China dolls, and Teddy bears.

Woodworking demonstrations, which are new this year, will feature cedar fans and dulcimers. Eleven artisans will demonstrate scrimshaw, basketmaking, tinmithing, rosemaking, quilting, wheat weaving, pressed flower making, chair caning, stenciling, silhouette making, and herb drying.

Legislature faces mound of brushed-aside work

MOST STATE legislatures in America meet three or four months, then go home for the rest of the year. Not the Michigan Legislature.

In six months of sweating and straining, the Michigan Legislature produced an incomplete budget and a personal income tax increase with no provision for property tax relief.

The legislature next week will start its second session of the year. It's supposed to face all the problems it pushed aside from January to early July as it dealt with the fiscal crisis.

Far be it from us to criticize what seems to be a bipartisan position. We only hope that this fall the jobs get done.

THE JOBS, as we see them, are these:

- Medical costs. Forty percent of the state budget is social services, and half of that is Medicaid. Medical costs have been leaping up 10 or 15 percent a year, in good years and bad, whether people are working in the factories or standing in the unemployment line. Two committees had planned to address the problem this summer. There has been little sign of activity. Knowledgeable people say Michigan's rate of hospitalization per illness or injury is far higher than comparable states. If we are to avoid starved colleges and another tax increase in four or five years, the state needs to get a handle on Medicaid and medical costs and quickly.
- That $43 million. In spring lawmakers were split three ways over what to do with that amount in the social services budget, and they never resolved the question. The options: raise welfare benefits, raise home heating allowances or train welfare recipients for jobs. (We expect it may be asking the impossible to suggest it not be spent at all.)
- Colleges and universities. The recession hurt them badly with revenue losses, program cuts and tuition increases. In many, maintenance has been neglected. There's a difference of opinion whether a gubernatorial commission, the state Board of Education or the schools themselves should coordinate programs and see who will discontinue which redundant programs. Nevertheless, the buck will ultimately stop on the legislators' desks.

- Economic development. Step 1 in recovery was the state government's own fiscal crisis. Step 2 was the summer jobs program. Now Gov. Blanchard's proposal for a Michigan Strategic Fund deserves to be addressed. Can a state bureaucracy really be a source of venture capital to infant industries? Should it? Or will the money be spent politically? Stay tuned.

- Transportation. Here the legislature's record is dismal. Essentially, what needs to be done is that Lansing must give regional transit authorities leeway to go to their own constituents and ask for operating money. So fearful are many lawmakers for their jobs that they won't even allow local option proposals to go to the voters. Meanwhile, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, for one, is foundering.

- Surrogate parenting. Should married couples be allowed to hire fertile women to bear children for them? For what price? Under what regulations? The growing practice shouldn't be ignored.

"THIS IS A free country," the old saying goes. But freedom doesn't mean officials who have taken an oath of office have the option of walking away from their duties, no more than a parent can walk away from the responsibility of caring for a child he/she helped bring into the world.

Our 148 legislators should be happy they have jobs. And they should get on with the jobs that they brushed aside when they adjourned early in July.

Here's how to develop better local boards

Tim Richard

SUBURBAN newspapering is tougher than big city newspapering in one important way.

Suburbia has a glut of civic organizations to keep tabs on. What's more, the organizations don't simply complain to City Hall to solve their problems, though that's sometimes necessary. Rather, our civic groups solve the problems themselves.

Whatever we can do to help them, we try to do. Today's helpful advice is to look at a program Schoolcraft College is offering called Building Better Boards. It's a series of seven workshops on what a board of directors does and some of the better ways of doing it.

The fee is $15 per workshop. You can sign up for one, two or all. Get your own brochure and registration form by calling Schoolcraft's continuing education office at 591-6400 Ext. 409.

I've served on a few boards and committees — well, I hope. But I can attest that fellow members and I would have been better off with some of the Building Better Boards workshops because they don't teach most of this stuff in college, even in the master of business administration program.

BUT LET'S let the brochure speak for itself, and you make up your own mind.

"A. Board Membership. Saturday, Sept. 17, 9-11:30 a.m. Who should sit on a board and why. How do you approach new members, get them involved and keep them involved. . . . Richard J. Hayward, president, R.J. Hayward Co.

"B. Legal considerations. Thursday, Sept. 29, 7-9 p.m. . . . The legal aspects of the formation and organization of a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation will be presented. . . . Robert R. Thompson, attorney at law. (They tell me this has been the most popular session in the past.)

"C. Public Relations. Thursday, Oct. 6, 6:45-9:45 p.m. You will examine what a 'public' is and what your most important publics are . . . develop a practical plan for helping your organization relate . . .

Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community relations, Plymouth-Canton Schools.

"D. Goal Setting/Problem Solving for Non-Profits. Wednesday, Oct. 19, 7-9:45 p.m. Define the values of your organization, its priorities and short-term goals within your basic mission . . . Cam Caldwell, city manager, Garden City.

"E. Parliamentary Procedure. Saturday, Oct. 29, 9-12 noon. Can you organize and chair meetings effectively? Do you know how to make a motion? Make recommendations? . . . Specific problems . . . Louise Saks, registered parliamentarian.

"F. Board Roles and Administrative Roles. Thursday, Nov. 3, 7-10 p.m. Where does one begin and the other end? . . . How can the board and staff best work together? Paul Y. Kadish, Schoolcraft board of trustees; Allan Breakie, executive director, Garden City Hospital.

"G. Group Communication. Saturday, Nov. 12, 9-12 noon. How to promote small group interaction and insure that all members assume a role in the decision-making process. Trust building. . . James House, Wayne County Intermediate School District."

IF I HAD been organizing these workshops, I would have had one on board evaluation of an administrative officer.

Annual employee valuations are a big thing these days. It's tough enough to do them one-on-one. It's even tougher for a board to conduct an evaluation.

But I can't have my way all the time. This list of workshops is dandy as it is. And if you invest a lot of time to civic work, it won't hurt to invest three hours making yourself a better board member and your civic work more beneficial.

Bill Bonds' brow plays big part in government

Bob Wisler

IF YOU can believe one of Michigan's assistant attorneys general, Bill Bonds' habit of furrowing his brow while delivering the news is costing the state's taxpayers millions of dollars.

I didn't make this up, I read it in the morning paper. Assistant attorney general Tom Schimpf was explaining how the state of Michigan lost $2.8 million in federal dollars in its handling of the cleanup of the Berlin & Farro dump site near Flint.

Schimpf said that because of media attention on the dump site there was a public clamor for an immediate cleanup. The state could have halted action for as few as 90 days to get federal approval for a superfund grant of up to $2.8 million, he said. But there was the specter of Bill Bonds' brow looming over such consideration.

"With Bill Bonds furrowing his brow every night on TV as he talked about the worst toxic waste dump in Michigan, there weren't too many cool heads about this thing," Schimpf said.

PERSONALLY, I think Bonds' brow is being wasted on such matters.

I want him to get furrowed up about outting the crime rate, easing the tax load and decreasing unemployment. Why isn't he browbeating some people about excessive medical and hospital costs in an effort to keep hospitals operating and medical insurance fees within the range of a working person's salary?

At least Schimpf's assertion gives me insight into the workings of government and TV stations.

Now I know why Chris Craft and other washed-up-at-40 TV anchorwomen complain that TV stations want mature middle-aged men as anchors and younger, fresh-faced women as helper anchors.

Younger male anchors can't furrow as well. They don't have the advantage of age which allows for looser skin and an ability to produce furrows readily. And older anchorwomen with furrowed brows just don't seem to have the proper authoritative look. Perhaps it is because we all yearn for a father figure to dominate, disseminate, provide, approve or disapprove.

ONLY A middle-aged male brow can produce the kind of furrow that attracts viewers. I have to admit that around here, Bonds has the best furrow going. Mort Crim and George Sells try hard, but they just don't have the same baleful grimace to the brow. Bonds' furrow rises on one side as if his brow was sneering. When he furrows his brow on a subject, the viewer can almost feel the disdain that he has for the subjects being furrowed at.

This may explain, at least partially, why Bonds is the highest paid anchor around. A middle-aged anchor with the fastest, deepest and most disdainful furrow in the Midwest probably should be paid more than his counterparts.

But a question remains: Should state officials tremble their chins over Bonds' brow?

NO ONE suggests that government leaders shouldn't take into consideration the public's attitude toward issues. But the idea of deciding public policy based on how the policy might look to newscasters seems to be a shirking of responsibility.

Policy should be decided on what is right in the long run, not on the expectation of how things will appear in the media in the following few days.

What we need are government executives who are willing to stare back at the television set eyeball to eyeball and not blink. We need people who can stand the sight of grimacing, brow-furrowing newscasters in order to save state taxpayers money.

We need leaders who can say to themselves, "Damn Bonds' brow, full speed ahead."

In list of great women athletes, Henie's name is at the top

WHEN THE great women athletes of the world are listed, a place near the top should be reserved for Sonja Henie, the little blond Norwegian who captivated the American public like no woman before or since.

She was the epitome of grace on ice skates. Who ever could forget her after seeing her glide down the ice in the now defunct Olympia Stadium at the close of one of her ice shows.

She always will be remembered for her extravaganzas on the blades, with thousands roaring their appreciation. Let us forget, she also was one of the all-time greats in the fancy skating arenas of the world and several times won the Olympic figure skating championships in the late 20's and early 30's.

Along with her grace on the blades, she was also a great businesswoman. She, more than any other female athlete, made the world pay to see her and earned several fortunes before deciding to leave the arena to someone else.

THE MANNER in which she came to her fortune is one of the great stories of the sports and entertainment world. Sure, she was just as stubborn as she was beautiful on ice. But it was this little blonde who made the movie moguls of Hollywood and later the great promoters of the world's arenas come to her terms.

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

It was after one of her Olympic victories that she decided there were no higher honors for her in the amateur ranks. So she decided to turn pro — but not in figure-skating contests.

She made her way to Hollywood in the hope of selling herself and her troupe to the movie moguls. She had pictured herself in a top-rated movie and dreamed of the time when her act would be seen on movie screens around the world.

Her dream was given a setback when the moguls turned their backs on her. They couldn't see figure skating as an attraction in the movies.

That didn't stop Sonja Henie. Stubborn as she was, she rented an arena in Hollywood. What's more, she invited all the movie bigwigs as her guests, putting on a special show for them.

THEY LIKED what they saw. Then they approached her. But it wasn't easy. She as much as told them that if they wanted her and her show they would have to pay and pay dearly.

For a time they hesitated. Then Arthur Wirtz, who was the righthand man to James Norris, the Chicago wheat king who owned the Detroit Olympia and the Red Wings, envisioned her filling the Olympia and other arenas controlled by the Norris family. These included majority ownership of New York's Madison Square Garden, half interest in the Boston and Pittsburg Gardens and the Chicago Stadium.

IT'S HISTORY now that this combination "stole the show" as far as entertainment is concerned. She packed each arena on her annual visits and soon became the world's "darling on ice."

Through it all, she never lost her grace on the blades or that cute smile that captivated her audience as she glided down the ice in the closing moments of shows that made "The Ice Follies" a by-word across the land.

On one of her visits to Detroit, The Stroller tried to get her to put on a Saturday afternoon matinee for the poor people of the city. At the time he was sports editor of the Free Press, and was interested in charity work.

She was courteous but stubborn in her refusal. She made it very plain that she never skated for charity. She said she put her heart and soul into shows for which people paid good money to see and she didn't want to spend her energy and possibly lower the standard of her performance.

Seeing that The Stroller was a bit disappointed and feeling that she wanted to do something for the poor kids, she excused herself a moment or two. When she returned, she had a good-sized check as her contribution to the poor.

Yes, there was only one Sonja Henie and a place near the top should be reserved for her.

OU's continuing education goes a long way in 25 years

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

Lowell Eklund never expected to spend 25 years in one job. "It's too long for anyone to be in one place," who just started his 26th year as Oakland University's director of continuing education.

For Eklund, though, staying put sure didn't mean standing still. In 2 1/2 decades, he has seen both the university and his division change completely.

Today, 10,000 people pass each year through OU's continuing education courses of conferences. The offerings range from plastics engineering and legal assistance to creative writing and sewing.

As well as on campus, the credit and non-credit courses meet in 10-12 satellite locations in area high schools. They also are offered in historic Meadow Brook Hall, which has become a passion with Eklund since he took over its management in 1970.

But when Eklund first arrived on July 1, 1958, Oakland was just a fledgling extension of Michigan State University.

Eklund's MSU boss Durward Varner — who became OU's first head — sent him to the outpost to "get some activities going."

"I was sent there to launch a program," said Eklund, who had been in charge of MSU's Detroit extensions and then ran the school's conference programs out of Kellogg Center.

Working out of converted chicken coops on Meadow Brook Estate, Eklund and fellow MSU employee Roy Alexander opened up an extension offering some non-credit courses. One of the first was efficient reading, which attracted OU founder Matilda R. Wilson.

"She came and sat through the classes in her little old chicken coops. The press got quite a kick out," recalled Eklund, adding that the chicken coops had ceramic tile up the wall and a reinforced concrete floor.

A MINNESOTA NATIVE whose father worked in the lumber business, Eklund grew up in the Upper Peninsula. He attended Michigan State University on a prayer, never thinking I would finish.

During 15 years with the Army, Eklund served in the Pacific during World War II and in staff jobs in the Pentagon — including a year as aide to the chief of staff. He also earned both master's and doctorate degrees in political science at Syracuse University.

Lowell Eklund, in his 26th year of running Oakland University's continuing education programs, is in front of the building which he also oversees, Meadow Brook Hall.

On the way to a job at Chrysler Corp., Eklund stopped off in East Lansing to visit MSU's John Hannah. The university president suggested Eklund talk to another administrator and within two weeks he signed on at MSU instead.

"I never had reason to regret that decision," said Eklund, who admits the opportunity was "strictly happenstance and a little providence."

For Eklund, who doesn't like to teach, the job in continuing education was a chance to do the kind of thing he's interested in in education.

"I enjoy administration and the mission objective of continuing education to motivate adults to go back to school," said Eklund.

"As the first land grant school, MSU had the philosophy of extending university sources to community people. MSU did it 100 years before other schools, but primarily for farmers when this was an agrarian society."

Eklund said the continuing education idea didn't really take hold until after World War II, with the need for more technical and professional education.

"It became obvious that what we learned in high school and college just wasn't enough," Eklund said. "Universities began offering technical and professional courses and cultural education so people could become better citizens and parents."

Original offerings were classes like efficient reading, management, personnel relations or in the areas like engineering and business education.

As well as a bachelor's of general studies degree for non-traditional students who usually attend part time, the division offers credit and non-credit areas in a wide range of areas. Some of the newest are legal assistance, computers, accounting assistance and quality assurance.

Eklund's expertise in the field got him appointed by former president Jimmy Carter to the National Advisory Council on Continuing Education.

WHILE OVERSEEING continuing education programs, Eklund in 1970 took on another area which has become a prime interest. He became executive director of Meadow Brook Hall, the stately mansion which Matilda Wilson bequeathed to OU.

Since it was his idea to make the Tudor showplace a conference center, Eklund "personally received the dubious privilege of being responsible for the hall."

"It was a little foolhardy," he acknowledges now. "The board of trustees was very reluctant to take it over without an endowment, but I felt with a lot of hard energy and effort we could make it go."

The administrator's task was to figure out how to make it self-supporting. The successful solution was to run conferences during the academic year (now 60 to 80), an annual Christmas Walk which provides 20 percent of the hall's income, and mansion tours which attract 80-90,000 people yearly.

But the key was community volunteers, who have continued to give their time for the cause.

"That was the early panacea that got us off the ground," said Eklund, who finds it "inspirational" that so many area people are willing to donate their time.

At 65, he said his goal is to find an endowment for Meadow Brook so it will always have a stable financial base.

"Meadow Brook Hall must stand there for 200 years or we have not lived up to our stewardship obligation. It is a national treasure," Eklund said.

Biotechnology is in infancy

Horror struck Ann Arbor three years ago when the public learned the biology department at the University of Michigan was creating new forms of life.

Predictably, the media grabbed hold of the story. Before long, conferences and symposia were held to discuss the moral, ethical and even religious implications surrounding this controversial research.

Soon afterwards, concern also was raised regarding security precautions to guarantee that these newly created life forms would not "escape" from the laboratory.

IN MICHIGAN this marked the stormy beginning of recombinant DNA research — better known as genetic engineering.

Recombinant DNA is one technology under the biotechnology umbrella. Other technologies include industrial microbiology, tissue culture, enzymatic processes, and plant breeding.

Current and potential applications of these technologies are in the medical/diagnostic, chemical, food/feed, and agricultural industries.

The biotechnology industry is in its infancy. The survival of many biotechnology companies is being seriously questioned, and the commercialization of significant products from current research has yet to occur.

In October 1982, biotechnology stocks on Wall Street got a much needed shot in the arm. Genetech, a leader in DNA research, began selling Humulin, a form of insulin produced by genetic engineering.

SIMPLY DEFINED, genetic engineering is the creation of new organisms by taking apart life's basic building material — DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid).

The chemical DNA that makes up genes is then recombined in different patterns. This laboratory process has been booming since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1980 that new forms of life can be patented.

By using this process, scientists can get simple cells to act like little "factories" and make large amounts of molecules, such as insulin and growth hormones, that can be used for treating diseases.

Embryologists, geneticists, and microbiologists have labored for years to understand and replicate living organisms.

It wasn't until 1974, however, that a major breakthrough was achieved. A single cell bacterium known as E. coli, commonly found in the human intestine, was mated with a piece of DNA tissue from a toad.

Since that time, this gene splicing process has yielded a large number of important cloned products. These include human insulin, growth hormones, and interferon, a human protein that enables cells to ward off viral diseases such as cancer.

THE POSSIBILITIES for this new technology are limitless, from curing cancer and slowing down the aging process to creating a super race of plants, animals and even humans.

In addition, gene-splicers are engineering bacteria that could eat oil spills, and even bacteria that could mine minerals.

Analysts estimate that perhaps 200 to 300 companies around the world either are doing or are contemplating getting into the broad field of biotechnology. Of course, some of these have not been incorporated formally yet. But others are well established giants, such as the big pharmaceutical and chemical manufacturers.

Besides Genetech, other biotechnology companies include Molecular Genetics, Genex, Centocor, Genetic Systems, and Monoclonal Antibodies Inc. to name just a few.

In Michigan, Neogene was formed in 1981 with the objectives of recruiting and retaining outstanding professors and conducting high quality biotechnological research.

THE AGE OF biotechnology is dawning. For now and the immediate future, biotechnology seems to be a very promising industry with high growth potential.

Some observers believe, within three to eight years, genetic engineering may be as commonplace as computer chips are now.

YOU HAVE UNTIL SEPTEMBER 16 TO STOP PAYING DOCTOR BILLS.

GM employees can change from old fashioned health insurance coverage to Health Alliance Plan. But only between September 1st - 16th.

That means if you wait, you won't be covered the way you should be. By the leading health care plan of its kind in Michigan.

When you join HAP you're covered — completely. In the doctor's office and in the hospital. Even for regular check-ups, minor illnesses and allergy tests.

And you're covered for emergency care wherever you are: when you're away on a business trip or a vacation or when your kids go away to college, you're covered as completely as you are at home.

And when you belong to HAP, you choose your own HAP doctor. You can go to a brand new health center opening in Plymouth just in time for you to join. Or you can choose one of our 9 other health centers all over town.

In short, with Health Alliance Plan, you get all the professional, personal care without all the aggravation of claim forms and doctor bills.

(And if you don't work for GM, ask your employer when you'll have a chance to change to HAP.)

Artisans revive the old arts at fall festival

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Artist Bill Kuehl makes on-the-spot silhouettes at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Twenty-four craftsmen will be demonstrating and selling their age-old crafts Saturday and Sunday at the Plymouth Historical Museum. They will come from all over the state to demonstrate the time-consuming arts practiced centuries ago.

Visitors to the museum will watch a crafter from northern Michigan carve a fan from a single piece of cedar. He also will make Christmas tree ornaments from cedar wood. Another artisan will be making scrimshaw, carving bone and ivory in the same way the sailors did in the days of the clipper ships.

A man from Lincoln Park makes dulcimers. Lyle Smith, a local resident, will demonstrate marquetry.

Tinsmithing, quilling, fly tying, wood carving, needlework, and stenciling floor cloths will be demonstrated. Corn husk dolls, china dolls, tole and tinware painting, pressed flower pictures folk toys, needlework and silhouettes will be created.

The craftsmen are selected annually to come to the museum as part of the Plymouth Fall Festival celebration. Hours will be noon to 7 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Admission will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for children 11 to 17 year olds, and 25 cents for children 5-10. The museum on Main Street at Church with its street of shops, Victorian rooms and other exhibits, is showing a special collection of puppets and marionettes. Bennington and Rockingham pottery also are featured in a special showing.

Mary Rush of Dexter will be at the Historical Museum with her cornhusk dolls.

PCAC show opens Saturday

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Joy Tarasiewicz brings her old-fashioned wooden toys from Grand Rapids to the arts council show in Central Middle School.

Among the 80 artists and craftsmen who will be moving their works into Central Middle School this weekend are a goodly number of Plymouth and Canton residents. When the Plymouth Community Arts Council show opens at noon Saturday, the school gymnasium will be transformed into a marketplace for the handiwork of the craftsmen who have invested thousands of hours of their time in on their "creations."

The artisans in the show are screened by an arts council committee. Many have become familiar participants in the show. A few are doing their first PCAC show.

Judy Moore, who specializes in calligraphy and graphics, and Donna Feldvebel, with her folk art figures, are first-time craftsmen in the show. Both are from Canton Township. Dorothy Bingham, another Canton resident, will return with her porcelain dolls which have won blue ribbons at the Michigan Sattte Fair.

PLYMOUTH potter Roy Pedersen has been in the show since 1971. He sets his potters wheel and his stoneware out on the lawn beside the school to demonstrate and market his art.

Other Plymouth crafters have a wide variety of skills.

William Doughty's wooden toys and Joyce Harrington's stuffed bears have become traditions at the Fall Festival show. Grace Kabel and Therese Ohno will be there with their beautiful baskets, made from everything from pine needles to cattail rushes.

Artist Audrey Paul will show her oil and acrylic paintings. John Toth will have his wooden shelves and cabinets. David Varga does sand blasting on glass. Bonnie Andrews makes stained glass houses.

Scott Hartley of Ann Arbor will demonstrate painting his watercolor landscapes. Bradley Cross, another Ann Arbor resident, will bring his hand-crafted bronze bells.

There will be stuffed toys, wood carvings, tole, photographs, jewelry, purses, luggage and fabric ducks.

STUDENTS will sell their crafts and art work in a room set aside just for them.

The show will open at noon both days. It will close at 9 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for students and senior citizens, and children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Central Middle School is on Main Street at Church. Free parking is available behind the school.

Sandra Richards of Plymouth demonstrates the art of caning at the museum.

Salt potatoes and Lorraine star at her party

Well, Canton, remember when I said all the children were back in school? Well, to the delight of her family, Lorraine Ryan has just finished her studies at Eastern Michigan University. You may think it's a little late to be finishing school, but Lorraine was completing five years of study. And you may feel that seems a little long, but Lorraine was going for a double major — and she did.

Lorraine majored in both business computers and production system analysis, and she finished all this with a near 4-point grade average while working evenings the entire time.

Now on to the good stuff. In recognition of this job well done, her parents, Mike and Bobbie Ryan, threw a party and the Michigan weather cooperated for a change. Guests gathered under a beautiful backyard canopy and enjoyed the chit-chat and the company. They began to devour what has been reported to me as the hit of the buffet, salt potatoes. These are a small, white, new potato enjoyed in Syracuse and brought in just for the party by her sister, Marita, and husband, Vito Petrer. An added pleasure was Lorraine's new 6-week-old nephew Nicky, also brought in just for the party by sister Marita and husband Vito!

JOINING IN the celebration were such Cantonites as Gene Flanagan, Sally Belding, Don Rigo, CeCe and Tom Sobine, Steve and Kay Bammerick, Zig and Pam Friede, Jim and Shannon Moaro, Jan and Darrel Brawn, John and Dodie Beckman.

Actually, Bobbie (Lorraine's mother) told me they had to hide the "salt potatoes" being served as hors d'oeuvres, so the guests would eat some of the entree selections to follow, like the sausage and pita bread.

It seems those tiny potatoes, soaked in salt brine, then boiled, are picked up and dipped in melted butter. Although it sounds very messy, the guests loved them and continued to eat them and eat them. Although that was fine with Mike and Bobbie, what would they do with all the sausage?

Well, they hid the potatoes and continued to serve the rest of the buffet to guests like Bob and Kathy Spencer, Sue and Art Lawrence, Helen and Mike Wesner (and isn't it good to have Mike back in the news?)

As a matter of fact, many have put

Canton chatter Sandy Prebllich

981-6354

In a request to have Mike and Bobbie bring back some of these marvelous potatoes if and when they ever get down to Syracuse themselves. So along with the potatoes, sausage, pita bread, keg of beer and punch a plenty, the afternoon was enjoyed by everyone who came to honor Lorraine — friends and relatives together.

They were Dolly White, Mary and Sherman Moore, Larry and Paula Palumbo, Gary and Marilyn Orthner, Hank and Sandy Naasko, Kathy Ryan, Rick Spencer, June Hlvin, Chris Victor, Ed Victor, Gia Ruffino, Dave Victor, Joyce Thope, Ray and Arlene Biggs, Earl and Pat Merriman, Elmer and Gall Reed, and Lorraine's close friend Ken Victor and sister Bridget. Aunt Kay and Uncle Paul Distler, along with Grandmother Kay Rupprecht came in from Pennsylvania for the gala event.

LORRAINE, Canton says, "Congratulations for a job well done." If I ever have a computer question, I know where to go. Congratulations to Mike and Bobbie too! That's a big job to put a child through college, and the party should be to congratulate you! Many years of happiness and success for the entire family.

For now, Lorraine is enjoying the company of her new nephew, her sister and brother-in-law as she visits them in Syracuse. She's relaxing while catching up on the past five years' happenings as she was busy zipping through college.

I did check with one of the guests, John Bechman, on his opinion of the potatoes. In his words they were "terrific." That wasn't really the reason I called him. I just thought I'd throw that in. Actually, I called to check on a little rumor I heard about John himself.

Rumor has it that John, while golfing recently with his regular Monday night team at the Hilltop Golf Course, made the elusive "hole in one." The fact that he made the hole-in-one was not in question, but I was advised that it was not his first. I called to verify and indeed John, with a 22 handicap, has enjoyed a total of three holes-in-one.

Nice record, John, and many more to you.

I HAVE A few interesting upcoming events for you. The Plymouth Symphony League would like to invite all women in the Canton and Plymouth community and surrounding communities, to join them at their annual membership tea, Sept. 15 at either 10 a.m. or 7:30 p.m. If you have any questions or want more information please call Laura at 453-3284.

AND LET'S NOT forget the Plymouth Community Chorus, which is accepting new members at the first rehearsal of the new season. Rehearsals begin at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 13 in East Middle School. All men and women are welcome. Women must audition with the Director Michael Gross.

THE GOOD people of Calvary Baptist Church invite everyone to join them for their homecoming festivities, beginning at 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17, with a homecoming banquet.

The cost for the banquet will be $8 per person and they ask you make reservations for this. The number is 455-0022.

However, even if you do not wish to join in the banquet of food, they have a wonderful banquet of music planned following the dinner for which no fee or reservation is required. The special homecoming concert will feature Paul and Sara Bechler, Jon Case and family, Mike DeCuir and Jim LeFever. And as always on Sunday, the evening service will be filled with joyous song and all are welcome.

BEFORE I go, I'd like to add a big "Get Well" to Chris Wisniewski from all the Prebllichs! Chris, injured his hand recently and has 17 stitches 'til deal with.

I don't want you to think all my friends are clumsy, but I neglected to wish another family friend well. He missed a chunk of cheese and tried to make a sandwich using his own arm. So here's a belated but sincere "Get Well" to Rusty Johnson.

Have a good week, Canton, give me a call, and stay healthy!

Americas' contribution to herb and spice trade is plant explorer's topic

Continental cuisine would not have achieved its culinary status without the discovery of the Americas, according to Dr. Elmo W. Davis. Americas' contributions to the herb and spice trade will be discussed by Davis at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens.

Davis, an internationally known plantsman and agricultural scientist, travels all over the world on assignments for the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the food industry. He has won many awards in his field and has written for numerous publications.

THE IMPORTANT herbs and spices, which are native to the Americas, and known to the rest of the world only since the 16th century, will be the subject of Davis' illustrated lecture.

He says much of the world's diet today is based on foods native to the Americas. These include potatoes, corn, tomatoes, peanuts, pumpkins, bell peppers, capsicums, chocolate, vanilla and many others.

Refreshments, reflecting native herbs and spices, will be served after the lecture. The public is invited to attend but seating is limited and reservations are recommended. For reservations, call 764-1168 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., or 769-9414, evenings. Donation is $3.

Davis, who lives in Hunt Valley, Md., has been invited to lecture by the Herb Study Group. The Matthaei Botanical Gardens are on N. Dixboro Road, between Geddes and Plymouth roads.

Now, good health is even closer to home.

Independence Health Plan introduces two new medical centers to serve you better.

Now, with nine conveniently located health care centers and twelve affiliated hospitals, the time was never better to switch your insurance coverage to Independence Health Plan.

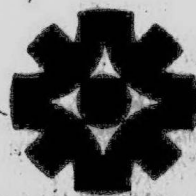

Independence covers your medical expenses in time of illness and in health, including such benefits as office calls, periodic check ups, inoculations and other precautionary measures at no added expense. In fact, with no deductibles or insurance co-payments, you may never pay a medical bill again.

Each of our health care centers is fully equipped with the most advanced medical equipment and staffed with a broad range of physicians and other specialists. Most of our centers have X-ray, laboratories, pharmacies and other medical services right on the premises. But if more extensive medical care is required, Independence Health Plan is affiliated with the most well known hospitals in the community and will provide complete, in-depth medical coverage not exceeded by any other plan.

Ask your personnel director about Independence Health Plan or call us direct for our free brochure. Remember, if you have to get sick before you can use your current medical insurance, check us out... We've got two new reasons to say... Bye, Bye Blues.

1984 arts awards nominations open

Nominations are now open for the Michigan Foundation for the Arts 1984 Michigan arts and patrons awards. Deadline for submitting nominations is Tuesday, Nov. 1.

The awards are given annually to five artists in different fields in recognition of outstanding achievement in their field. For nominating forms and additional information, write to Michigan Foundation for the Arts, 1200 Sixth Ave., Detroit 48226.

The Michigan arts awards were established in 1976. Earlier this year the foundation honored Detroit artist John Hegarty, Kalamazoo poet Conrad Hilberry, Troy sculptor Glen Michaels, Detroit actor/director Von H. Washington, and Grand Rapids New World String Quartet. Each recipient received a check for $2,500.

Patron of the arts award for outstanding service to the state in support of the arts went to former Governor William G. Milliken and Peggy de Salle of Birmingham. Patrons receive a commemorative plaque of Pewabic pottery.

moral perspectives

Rev. Lloyd Buss

Church as sanctuary concept needs revival

Churches as sanctuaries, protected havens for those threatened, is a time-honored tradition that needs to be revived.

People are fleeing oppression and violence in Central America and coming to the United States asking for political asylum. We have denied them that temporary asylum.

We have classified them as "illegals" and are forcing them to return to their homes where most, if not all, have experienced persecution, and some, execution. Some have sought help — sanctuary — from the church.

A sanctuary has always been a place set aside from the ordinary world. The first use of "sanctuary" was a holy place evoking awe — God's presence creating worship and fear. It was a special place, and it received the protection of the community because of what it offered to the community.

TRANSGRESSORS OF ITS protocol and purpose could be banished or even killed. The continual Roman harassment of Judaism's temple in Jerusalem was the key factor in Judaism's resistance to the Roman occupation, which ended with the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the Temple in A.D. 70.

The concept of sanctuary was expanded in early Judeo-Christian history with the development of "sanctuary cities," where those convicted of crimes against community were banished to live. There they received protection against avengers and reprisals see the biblical books of Exodus and Numbers).

During the Middle Ages, English cathedrals provided sanctuary for up to 40 days for those accused of crimes. Here, in the safety of the church, the accused could make his choice — stand trial or leave in exile, and use the time to complete family/personal arrangements.

THE DOOR-KNOCKER USED to awaken the custodian of the church for sanctuary at the Durham Cathedral, Durham, England, is the pattern for many a door-knocker used in subdivision housing in my community.

Providing sanctuary to Central American refugees will probably never include waking church guardians in the middle of the night, nor even having anyone stay in the church. Providing food and shelter in a church sanctuary would dramatize the need, but the issue goes beyond protection from the elements and nourishment for the body.

There is a basic flaw in some of our policies carried out by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, and we need to protect those accused out of that flaw, and we need to correct it.

CENTRAL AMERICAN REFUGEES are not criminals. They are victims of violence and turmoil in their country, not wholly of their own design or deed.

In a recent TV interview, former President Gerald Ford expressed his disgust with those who challenge the Reagan Administration's efforts to aid in the resolution of Central America's internal struggles. It is important to us, he stressed, because they are so close to us.

Geographical proximity is an important point to consider. Giving "sanctuary" to Central American refugees — expressing compassion and a moral commitment to the cause of justice and freedom — would be a clear sign to those farther away what we are all about.

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Richard Parrott, a minister with an established record in church growth, will deliver his first address Sunday as senior pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene on Haggerty north of Eight Mile in Farmington Hills.

He will speak on "God Has a Plan" at 11 a.m. services, and on "Take Care of Your Heart" at 6:30 p.m. services.

Parrott arrives from Corvallis, Ore., where under his direction the Church of the Nazarene of that city grew from a membership of 70 to 275 in six years, with worship attendance increasing from 80 to 400. During his tenure, the amount of giving tripled, 10 acres were purchased for a new church and a parsonage was built (both debt free). Double worship services were instituted.

Previously, Parrott had served as pastor in the small rural community of Latan, Mo. In less than three years, the membership of that church grew from 20 to 75 in a town of only 85 people.

A magna cum laude graduate in 1974 from Eastern Nazarene College with a degree in psychology and a religion minor, Parrott earned a master's degree in psychology from the University of Missouri. He also acquired a master of divinity degree from Nazarene Theological Seminary in 1979, and this year completed a Ph.D. degree in education from Oregon State University, also magna cum laude.

His wife, Carol has served in many capacities in his ministries and is a registered nurse. They have a son, Andrew, 2.

MEMORIAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Fall youth programs will begin at 5:30 Sunday in Memorial Church of Christ, 35475 Five Mile, Livonia. Two movies will be shown. For ages 4 through sixth graders, "Lost God Mine" will be presented. "The Greatest Story Ever Told" will be offered at the regular 6:30 p.m. worship service to junior and senior high students and adults.

Rick Alvery of Great Lakes Bible College will lead singing and praise.

UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Doris Puckett Johnson, who has lived in Plymouth, will speak at 11 a.m. Sunday at her local church, the United Assembly of God, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. A busy wife and mother, Johnson is a musician, writer and speaker. For the past 31 years, she has ministered with her husband, Bernard Johnson, throughout the world.

The Johnsons are now involved in the Brazil Extension School of Theology, an Assemblies of God ministry in Campinas, Sao Paulo, Brazil. They are also building day care centers to reach out to 15 million homeless children of Brazil.

Prior to foreign service, she studied at Central Bible School, Springfield, Mo., and the Detroit Institute of Arts. Her graduate work in religious studies was completed at Bethany Bible College and San Jose State University.

BUSHNELL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Bushnell Congregational Church, 15000 Southfield Road, Detroit, will inaugurate its fall season at the historic Mill Race Village in Northville with a new worship hour beginning at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

The service will feature the anthem, Psalm 145 by Roessler, and sung by the Chancel Choir. It will feature Alvin Belknap, assistant principal trumpet of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The church is planning a groundbreaking ceremony Sunday, Sept. 18, for a new building on Broquet Road in Novi.

ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN

A three-week series on women in the Bible will be sponsored by the Forum starting Sunday at St. Paul Presbyterian Church, Five Mile and Inkster, Livonia. Speaking will be Diane Hartmus, a junior at the University of Michigan, who is majoring in religion and women's studies. Her talk is titled "Language and Liturgy," and will be about the use of inclusive language in worship including references to God which are gender free.

Sue Carlson of the adult studies committee will speak on stereotypes of women's roles in print and advertising on Sept. 18. The next week, she will talk about the feminine dimension of scriptures. The forum meets at 11 a.m. Sundays.

GARDEN CITY FIRST METHODIST

Sunday school classes resume at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at First United Methodist Church, 6443 Merriman, Garden City. The classes are for all ages, preschoolers through adults, with a choice of three classes for adults. Worship services are at 10:45 a.m.

WARRENWOODS WESLEYAN

A summer symphony will be the theme on Sunday at Warrenwoods Wesleyan Church, 6615 Venoy, Westland. Sunday school students will meet new teachers, visit new classrooms, and will study David, the man and Biblical musician.

The new church pastor is the Rev. William F. Kinnan Jr. He and his wife Donna will receive their official welcome at this time.

FAIRLANE ASSEMBLY

The Rev. Paul Clark, newly approved Assemblies of God missionary to West Germany, will speak at 7 p.m. Sunday in Fairlane Assembly, 22575 Ann Arbor Trail, Dearborn Heights. He and his wife are soon to be involved in pioneer evangelism in West Germany.

He previously ministered in West Germany as Mobilization and Placement Service (MAPS) worker at Eurasia Teen Challenge. MAPS is a program sponsored by the Assemblies of God that places interested persons in short-term ministry at home or abroad.

ST. HILARY

A fun festival will be held from noon until 9 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11, at St. Hilary Church, 23901 Elmira, Detroit.

KENWOOD CHURCH OF CHRIST

The annual youth kickoff will take place Sept. 10-11 at Kenwood Church of Christ, 20200 Merriman, Livonia. All youth from age 4 through those in high school are invited. Tony Beaverson from Traverse City will lead the singing and present a message to youth and adults Sunday evening.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF CHRIST

The Bible program sponsored by the Plymouth Church of Christ, 9301 Sheldon, has resumed. By calling 459-9100 a person can contact the free public service Religious Information Library. It consists of hundreds of five-minute tapes on a wide variety of Bible subjects. To obtain a brochure on the tapes, call the library. Hours are noon until 9 p.m. Monday-Friday.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Leslie Parrott, president of Olivet Nazarene College, will speak at a conference on the fulfilled life Sept. 9-11 at the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail.

Sessions will be held at 7 p.m. Friday, and from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1-2 p.m. Saturday. Worship services will be at 9:45 and 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday.

Parrott has served as president of Eastern Nazarene College in Quincy, Mass., from 1970-75 and at Olivet since 1975. He has traveled extensively through the United States, Europe, England, the Middle East, Africa and the Orient. One of his trips was through the Holyland and involved a visit to the site of ancient Babylon south of Baghdad.

ST. ROBERT BELLARMINE

A family portrait weekend is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 10, at St. Robert Bellarmine Church, West Chicago and Inkster in Redford. A color portrait, 11 by 14 inches, costs $5. To reserve a time for your family, call Pat McMahon at 937-9315 or Linda Romi at 937-3159.

WARD PRESBYTERIAN

A leadership training seminar of the Detroit area Pioneer Clubs will be held from 8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, at Ward Presbyterian Church, Farmington and Six Mile, Livonia.

Seminar participants include Virginia Patterson, president of Pioneer Clubs, and Marjorie Smith, director of Christian education at Ward. Topics will concern what makes kids the way they are and how to plan club programs that appeal to young people.

Price of the seminar is $10 in advance, $15 at the door.

SACRED HEART CATHOLIC

The annual fall festival will take place Sept. 10 and 11 at Sacred Heart Church, 29125 Six Mile, Livonia. Hours are 5 p.m. until midnight Saturday, and 1-11 p.m. Sunday. Highlights will be Slavic and American food, a Las Vegas room, a white elephant sale and live bands and entertainment. Vegas Nite will be held from 7 p.m. until midnight Friday.

DETROIT LAESTADIAN CONGREGATION

Juha Pentikainen of Finland will speak at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 13, at the Detroit Laestadian Congregation, 290 Fairground, at Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. He is a professor of anthropology at the University of Helsinki and has conducted seminars on anthropology on his recent tour in United States and Canada.

COVENANT COMMUNITY

Jews for Jesus, a music and drama group, will present an experience of Messianic joy in program called "Liberated Walling Wall" at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14, in Covenant Community Church, 25900 Student, Redford. For more information, call Rick Bradley at 535-3100.

Fournier opens 'Legacy' series

Monsignor Edmund Fournier, a priest in Detroit for 46 years, will give the initial lecture at Madonna College in a series to commemorate the Detroit Archdiocese's 150th anniversary.

The lecture will recount the first 50 years of Catholicism in Detroit and will be given at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 9, in the lecture hall at the Livonia college, 1-96 and Levan Road. There is a $5 fee.

Fournier, now retired, served at Sacred Heart Seminary as vice rector, dean of students, and professor. He currently serves as registrar and resides there. He has been priest in the parishes of St. Hugo of the Hills, Bloomfield Hills, St. James, Ferndale, and Sacred Heart, Grosse Ile. From 1979 to 1981 he was secretary to Cardinal John Darden.

The series of lectures, called "A Legacy of Faith," will continue for 10 Friday nights. It is open to the public and may be taken for college credit.

The second lecture, Friday, Sept. 16, will continue the history of Catholicism in Detroit (from 1833 to the present) and will be given by Dr. Randal J. Hayes, professor of history at Madonna.

For further information or a schedule of the series, call the Office of Continuing Education at Madonna College, 591-5188.

Ward offers electives

The fall semester of Ward Presbyterian Church's school of Christian education will offer seven adult electives. Classes are offered 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

Dr. Bartlett Hess, Ward's senior pastor, will teach a 16-week class on the book of Hebrews.

"Death and Dying: A Christian Perspective" will be taught by Dr. Robert O. Woodburn, executive pastor.

Two eight-week courses are: "How to Avoid Problems in Marriage," taught by Timm Jackson, minister to single adults. Jackson is the instructor for Ward's divorce recovery workshops.

THE REV. ALFRED Gould will teach on the subject of "Prayer, God's Pattern for Christian Living." Gould, a veteran missionary, is Ward's minister of visitation.

An eight-week membership/information class will also be offered. The Rev. W. Wallace Hostetter, minister of evangelism, is the instructor.

Those interested in Ward's telephone counseling ministry may take the TLC (Telephone Listening Center) training. The 16-week class is instructed by Jan VanderBok, TLC director, along with several guest lecturers.

Three eight-week elections will begin Nov. 2. These are: "The Holy Spirit and the Church," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Christians in the Marketplace."

The classes are open to the community, free of charge. For more information, or to enroll, call 422-1150.

Rally pointe

Rally Day, the official opening of the fall schedule at Mt. Hope Congregational Church in Livonia, will be highlighted by the presentation of a ballet performance by one of its parishioners, Cynthia Pucci. A dance teacher for the past 15 years, Pucci will dance to the Cat Stevens arrangement of the hymn "Morning Has Broken" at the 10:30 a.m. worship service. Sermon topic will be "Choosing Life." An 18-year member of the church, Pucci is in her third year as Sunday school superintendent and her seventh year as a Sunday school teacher. In addition to her church work, she will be teaching over 20 classes weekly in various Livonia schools as part of the fall lineup of community education classes. She and her husband Frank are the parents of two daughters, Tish, 12 and Emilia, 5. Mt. Hope is located at 30330 Schoolcraft.

Don't overlook rental property as an investment business briefs

Despite frequent references to the possibility of mortgage rate increases, the real estate market appears to be quite strong, making rental property an attractive tax-sheltered investment.

There are two major reasons for this. First, the prices of rental properties are attractive. Second, the government has devised a more generous depreciation schedule for these properties.

Landlords, like investors in real estate limited partnerships, can deduct not only their taxes, mortgage interest and operating costs but also a fraction of the value of their property each year. Under the new tax law, that fraction has been increased.

Some investors also will benefit from the new tax credit for rehabilitating a landmark house.

BUYING A RENTAL house is only a little different from buying a house to live in. Make sure that the neighborhood is economically stable.

Look for solid construction and sturdy appliances before you worry about attraction and looks. Most tenants will not treat a house carefully because they are not the ones who will have to pay for the repairs.

If you have older parents who would like to move to one of these retirement apartments, there is an excellent way for you to enjoy the tax benefits of being a landlord.

The IRS used to outlaw most tax deductions when you rented your property to a close relative, but Congress eliminated that restriction starting in 1981. The IRS insists only that you charge your relative a fair market rent.

BEFORE YOU make up your mind about using rental property as a tax-sheltered investment, however, consider the two major drawbacks of rental housing. First, an investment house or apartment can create a lot of management trouble. If you turn over your property to a professional manager, his services may cost you as much as 15-20 percent.

finances and you

If you are not going to manage your rental property, you probably would do better to buy shares in a real estate limited partnership instead.

SECOND, A RENTAL house or condominium is a fairly risky proposition. If your tenant walks out, you may be stuck with an empty house for months, but you will still have to make mortgage payments.

Should you wish to sell your property, its value will depend not just on the neighborhood but also on the local economy and the availability of mortgage money. Even under the best of circumstances, finding a buyer can take months.

Moreover, before you can begin to profit from the sale of your property, it must appreciate more than 6 percent — the usual commission that most real estate brokers charge.

So the bottom line is this: Rental housing offers a unique opportunity to invest in tax-sheltered investment. However, it has major drawbacks that must be analyzed carefully before making a decision in this regard.

Charts just make a point

A dull statistical question can have an important answer.

"I am a statistician, and I just saw two of your reports which, from my point of view, seem more designed to mislead than inform. In one case, you have compared one item on a semi-log graph with another on what looks like a stylized grid. That's not good. Then I see you putting charts together to sell Syntex Corp. stock that are all the same size, but one is in hundreds of millions, one is in tens of millions and one is in just dollars. My statistician's mind makes me very suspicious."

In investing, it often is more important to look at the point that is trying to be made rather than the way it is being presented. We have a lot of people write who ask the question whether one is really better off over a period of time putting their money in stocks or leaving it in cash items.

To help answer that question, we prepared one graph that shows how from a 1940 value of $1, the purchasing power of the dollar dropped to about 14 cents at the beginning of 1983. That, we figure, gives you a pretty good idea of what happens if you keep your money in cash items.

To show what happened to stock prices in the same period of time, we checked the Dow-Jones Industrials. They went from roughly 150 in 1940 to 1,050 plus at the start of 1983.

today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investment Clubs

The graphs we showed were used to dramatize those facts and get your attention. These figures suggest very strongly that the individual who had his assets in dollar items from 1940 has lost a lot of purchasing power.

The individual who had his money invested in the Dow-Jones Industrials would have seen them rise enough in dollar price to more than equal the dollars lost in purchasing power. Of course, some stocks did less well than these averages, and others did better.

A study of the records of investment clubs for the past 23 years shows that in most years, this large group of investors did better than the averages.

In the case of the Syntex Corp., we were showing in the graphs how three important figures have grown in the last four years.

Sales are up 113 percent, they come in hundreds of millions. Dollar earnings are up 149 percent, they come in millions. Earnings per share are up 155 percent, they just come in dollars.

Those are important figures in judging the value of an investment, and to us, suggest Syntex is well worth buying as long as the price is right.

Columnist advises

74-year-old cut-up is both foolhardy and spunky

Dear Jo:

What do you think of a 74-year-old man, who has "one too many" at the family reunion picnic and then proceeds to jump off the change house roof into the deep end of the swimming pool? This performance was given by my grandfather at last year's reunion, and since he reads your column, I think he could use some good advice.

Unsigned

Dear Unsigned:

Frankly, as a nurse and a health educator and a believer in the prevention of accidents, I think his actions were somewhat foolhardy, and he should be advised to play a more conservative role at future family reunion picnics. But as a gerontologist and a woman, I have to admire his spunk.

gerontology

Dear Jo:

At what age does one begin to have a decline in hearing — and can cigarette smoking have an effect on hearing?

Mrs. B.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Apparently as part of the normal aging process hearing can begin to decline as early as age 40. As to whether cigarette smoking has an effect on hearing — according to the Detroit Area Support for the Hard of Hearing Newsletter, Oct./Nov. 1982, cigarette smoking increases the incidence and severity of hearing loss more than that of normal aging.

Dear Jo:

What are the early warning signs of cancer of the prostate?

Mr. W.

Dear Mr. W.:

Unfortunately, cancer of the prostate in its earliest stages is a silent disease. There are no early symptoms and no simple test to detect it other than the annual rectal exam.

Although cancer of the prostate ranks as the second most common malignancy in men — 90 percent of all the disorders are benign and treatable.

The problem with the disease is that it is all too often diagnosed too late when it has already spread to other parts of the body.

For early diagnosis and treatment, men over the age of 65 should have a yearly physical exam which includes a rectal exam.

Dear Jo:

When I was visiting my relatives in Toronto last fall, they introduced my husband and I to a game called Trivial Pursuit. It is a game played with a board, dice and cue cards that forces one to call upon so many things that we had thought we had forgotten. Do you recommend this game for older adults — (I surely do) — and do you know where I can purchase one?

Mrs. W.P. (age 71)

Dear Mrs. P.:

Trivial Pursuit is an excellent game for adults of all ages. It forces the players to constantly use both their short- and long-term memories. Older people seem to excel at it — so yes, I do recommend it.

For the name of the distributor near-

Dear Jo:

What is the life expectancy of the North American Indian?

V.T.

Dear V.T.:

Unfortunately, the life expectancy of the North American Indian is very low — 40 to 50 years, which is more than 20 years shorter than that of persons in the general population. Only 5 percent of their population are 65 years of age or more — which is less than half the percentage for the rest of the population.

A new season full of sports drama, thrills

THE COMING ATTRACTIONS of sports, appearing soon at a field of competition near you. What will happen:

- Farmington Harrison will keep its football winning streak alive until it plays arch-rival North Farmington again.
- That won't happen until the state playoffs.
- Detroit Catholic Central will win the state football championship.
- Less than 10 minutes after claiming the state title, CC coach Tom Mach will be besieged by questions regarding recruiting — a topic revived because a parochial school has triumphed.
- Fred Thomann will keep the Plymouth Salem girls' basketball team on its winning track, but a long run in the state playoffs will hurt his boys' team.
- A Livonia-based team will win the Class A boys' soccer championship — again.
- Birmingham Brother Rice and Catholic Central will meet for the Catholic League football championship — again.
- Salem and Harrison will meet in the Western Lakes Activities Association grid playoff title game — again.
- Troy Athens, behind the defense of transfer Allana Cummings, will make it to the girls' basketball state semifinals.
- Rochester will surprise everyone and tie Royal Oak Dundero for the Metro Suburban Activities Association football title.
- Farmington Our Lady of Mercy will finally do something it has failed to do in the past few years — win a Catholic League girls' basketball championship.
- Elimination bouts for first football weekend: North Farmington will edge Salem, Harrison will outlast West Bloomfield, and Rice will fall to Chicago Mt. Carmel.
- Six former Observer & Eccentric players will start the season at quarterback for Michigan colleges: Frank Wedesky (Redford Bishop Borgess) at Northwood; Mike Gatt (Catholic Central) at Hillsdale; Ken Kish (Harrison) at Albion; Rusty Mandle (Plymouth Canton) at Saginaw Valley; Dave Yarema (Brother Rice) at Michigan State; and Dave Hall (Livonia Stevenson) at Michigan.
- Al Iafate of Livonia Bentley will earn a berth on the U.S. Olympic hockey team.
- A pair of Mercy players will earn a berth on the O&E girls' All-Area basketball team.
- Farmington school district athletic director Ron Holland will renew the North Farmington-Farmington Harrison football rivalry.

Above, Salem's Pam McBride drives past Canton's Beth Frigge to score two of her game-high 18 points. Below, Canton guard Marie Krashovetz played a strong floor game in a losing effort. At right, Kathy Ross's expression speaks a thousand words. Canton fell to the Rocks in the season opener, 51-34.

Salem opener to be testing experience

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

If Plymouth Salem head coach Tom Moshimer had his way, he wouldn't begin the 1983 football season by playing at North Farmington.

North, with first-year coach Jim O'Leary at the helm, looks to be a strong contender for the Northwest Suburban League title this year. They return the nucleus of a team that went 5-4 last season, winning their last four games.

Unfortunately for Moshimer, he won't get his way. Salem plays at North, 2 p.m., Saturday in the season opener.

"They are sort of like we were last year," said Moshimer. "They are coming off a good season and they are returning an experienced crew."

Salem, on the other hand, is still a bit unsettled. They graduated 25 players off last year's team and have been hit with illness and injury at the outset of this season.

THE MOST SERIOUS injury was sustained by lineman Chris Hymes, the only experienced lineman the Rocks had. He tore ligaments in his leg on the first play of the first preseason scrimmage last week. Hymes was on crutches Tuesday and was not expected to see action in Saturday's opener.

Defensive tackle Mike Killingbeck, who injured his thumb, is also questionable for Saturday.

North will enter the season free of injuries and full of optimism.

"I'm not going to say we are going to go all the way, but we have a very good team," said O'Leary.

Ken Goss, Scott Draper and David Kramer, all with 4.5 speed in the 40, give North a dimension of speed like few teams have. Goss, Draper and fullbacks Brian Hood and Tom Spahn will do a good share of running. But, North, with quarterback Eric Engel and Kramer, can also score with the pass.

THE 1983 VERSION of North football will have a different look to it than North teams of past years. The reason for the new look is the speed.

"I don't want to give anything away," said O'Leary, "but we're not going to be conservative."

The Rocks, despite the uncertainty on the line, should also be pretty solid offensively. All-Conference fullback Scott Jurek returns to lead the charge out of Moshimer's wishbone backfield. Jurek will be teamed with Chris Raymond and Ken Harmon in the backfield. Senior Mark Tindall will quarterback the Rocks.

Ouch!

Rocks sock injured Chiefs

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The game, for all intents and purposes, was decided an hour before it began.

LouAnn Hamblin, Plymouth Canton's most productive offensive performer, injured her ankle in pre-game warmups and was unable to play in her team's season opener against rival Plymouth Salem.

The loss of Hamblin, coupled with a similar ankle injury to Tami Budlong, another would-be starter, left coach Phyllis Cunningham-Mulroy's troops a little thin.

Those injuries plus a tenacious display of defense put forth by Salem, made the opening day score an unceremonious 51-34, in favor of the Rocks.

Sophomore Diana Knickerbocker led Canton scorers with 13 points and she grabbed seven rebounds.

"I think we are off to a great start," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "Our defense was real good early. Our offense, well, it takes time to score. In every opener I can remember, the score was always way down."

What pleased Thomann most was the performance of his key three: McBride, Johnson and Fran Whittaker.

"Our key people played very well for us tonight and I was also pleased with the others. Michelle (Dawson), Mary Ann (Weast), Cathy (Schinker), and Terri (Lesniak) looked real good."

Salem's defense, more than anything, took the game away from the Chiefs. Employing an aggressive man-to-man, Salem limited the Chiefs to just three shots in the first quarter.

SALEM WAS LED by Pam McBride, who scored 18 points. Dawn Johnson scored 11 and Terri Lesniak tallied eight.

Only in Plymouth

Tankers out to sink Spartans

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

IT COULD only happen in Plymouth. When Plymouth Canton swims against Plymouth Salem this season, two sets of sisters will be on opposing sides.

Only in Plymouth. Freshman Cindy Elliott swims freestyle events for Salem. Her sister, Kim, is a senior co-captain for Canton. She too swims freestyle events. Shanon Murphy is a freshman on the Salem swim team. Her sister Noel swims for Canton.

SALEM AND CANTON finished fourth and fifth respectively last year in the Western Lakes girls swim league. Both teams hope to improve upon their finishes in 1983.

Canton coach Hooker Wellman believes the teams to beat in 1983 are Livonia Stevenson and Salem. Ironically, Salem coach Chuck Olson says Stevenson and Canton are the teams to beat.

Only in Plymouth.

swimming

On the serious side, Canton looks like it will improve. Last year the team established six new school records, and Wellman believes more records will be broken this year.

Returning from last year is Ginnie Johnson, who as a sophomore placed fourth in the state in the 100-yard butterfly. She set school marks in the 200 individual medley and 400-freestyle relay.

Kim Elliott, a varsity record holder in the 200 medley and 100 breaststroke, and Sue Sawyer, a consistent four-year swimmer will return and join Johnson as tri-captains.

CANTON IS ALSO blessed with outstanding divers. Seniors Shawn Neville and Cindy Sherwood placed first in the Western Lakes Diving Relays last year. They may be the best diving tandem in the league.

Margaret Gilligan, who holds the varsity record in the 200 freestyle, also returns, as do senior Cathy Stern and sophomores Lynn Massey and Kelly Kirk.

Wellman believes he will have a number of swimmers qualify for the state meet, but his first goal is to move up in the league.

"You never know about this league. We can finish anywhere from second to fourth. I really think Stevenson will be the team to beat again," he said.

Salem was hit pretty hard by graduation. They lost eight of their top swimmers including diver Cindy McShirley who finished sixth in the state last year.

"WE HAVE A good group coming out this year, but there are definitely some holes to fill," said Olson.

He will be counting on senior tri-captains B.J. Bing, Amy Dunn, and Renee Rudin to fill those holes.

Other strong swimmers for Salem will be seniors Cheryl Truskowski and Kris Graham; juniors Teresa Shaffer and Chrissy Kirk; and sophomore Crystal Taylor.

Olson has 30 swimmers on his roster this year and that added depth will mean added points for Salem. The point system in high school swimming has been changed. Instead of getting points in just four places, points this year will be given for five places.

Salem's weakness will most likely be its divers. It has lost all four of its divers from a year ago.

"IT WILL BE tough to even hold our spot in the league this year," said Olson. "But, at the same time, we made progress last year. We will shoot to be in the top three. I feel good about it."

Canton will open at home Thursday, Sept. 15, against Belleville. Salem opens the same day, on the road at Ypsilanti.

Teams will be hard pressed to knock off defending champs Stevenson. But if it can be done, it can be done. Only in Plymouth.

FILE PHOTO

Junior Ginnie Johnson will play a key role in the success of the 1983 Canton tankers. She was the fourth-best butterfly in the state last year.

Plymouth Caesars are world champions

Plymouth's Little Caesar's Women's slow pitch softball team traveled to Omaha, Neb., last weekend to compete against 49 other teams for the world championship of women's softball.

The team brought the coveted title home, winning 13 of 14 games in the double-elimination tourney. Caesars, coached by Al Campbell of Plymouth, beat teams from Colorado, California, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Detroit, Nebraska, Illinois and two from Florida, en route to the championship.

To qualify for the world tourney, Caesars won the Milwaukee Regional Tournament. The team's season-long record is 55-4.

Local players on the team include Kim Archer from Livonia Bentley High School, and Kim Cesarz and Mary Crechiolo from Westland John Glenn High School.

S'craft girls soccer kicks in gear

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Soccer is a transition game. Not just on the field. For Ed Dudek, the new Schoolcraft College girls' soccer coach, it stretches beyond the chalk boundaries.

"This is a lot different than high school," Dudek said, comparing his new post to the one he holds in the spring at Livonia Churchill. "We had 40 girls come out at Churchill."

At Schoolcraft, Dudek is trying to build a new program. And he's doing it in a minimal amount of time, getting started just last month.

"WELL, WE'RE trying to put one together," Dudek said of his efforts so far. "We've got 13 players out right now. It's really an informal program, put in at the last minute. Kids might have come to Schoolcraft had they known there would be a program."

"We've got enough for a team, but they all have other things to do. Some of them aren't going to be able to make all the games. They already told me that. They have jobs and things."

"They're nice kids, and they're really good. But that's a lot to ask of 13 kids, to play a full schedule."

So what Dudek needs, first, is more players. The team is playing at the club level, which means it doesn't get the financial benefits a varsity squad does.

LACK OF NOTORIETY is also a problem. People aren't aware that Schoolcraft will field a girls' team.

"Even our schedule isn't set for the year," Dudek said. The reason is that most college teams set up their fall schedules in June. With such a late start, Schoolcraft is struggling to find opponents.

But soccer is a numbers game, and not just on the scoreboard. A team needs 11 players, and the new Lady Ocelots are dangerously close to that minimum.

"If we have any injuries or illnesses, our whole season could be wiped out," a concerned Dudek said. The limited number of players also hurts practice sessions.

BUT THERE ARE pluses. The biggest, according to Dudek, is "the girls are really interested in soccer."

And those that are out for the team form a fairly solid nucleus. Current team members include Livonia Stevenson graduates Cindy Gabel, Jill Sorenson and Sue Firestone; Dawn and Heather Brda and Judy Snyder of Livonia Franklin; Renee Brown of Livonia Bentley; Martina Mellin, Angie Butterfield and Chris Pettit of Northville; Linda Funke of Livonia Churchill; Therese Boehlein of Garden City; and Judy Willard, who played in the Great Lakes Women's Soccer League.

"RIGHT NOW, they're comparable to an average high school team," Dudek rated. "They have the potential to be above average, but we lack depth and they haven't played that much together."

"All the players have above average talent. But some are playing out of position. They're smart enough to do it, but it isn't their natural positions."

Fortunately, there is still time to develop. The first game on Schoolcraft's schedule isn't until Sept. 24.

At present, the Ocelots practice or scrimmage a Bonanza League team on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Dudek figures defense to be the team's current strong point, since they lack a top flight striker.

"We'll have to work for every goal we get," the new coach said. "No team will blow us out, but we won't blow any one out, either."

WHAT BOTHERS Dudek is the knowledge that there are players who might have attended Schoolcraft had they known about the team. He's hoping to attract that type of player next season.

A recruiting tool for Dudek might be a trip to the national tournament in Baltimore. Schoolcraft has already qualified — it's the only junior college with girls' soccer in region 12.

"We'll wait and see how we're doing before deciding if we will go or not," Dudek said of the possible trip.

Money for uniforms and some travel will be provided to the team through a special Schoolcraft fund. However, Dudek said if a trip to Baltimore is planned there will have to be a fundraiser.

"It's not the ideal set-up," Dudek said of the first community college girls' soccer program in the state. Only Kalamazoo College offers girls' soccer at the varsity level.

"But it's a start. And the girls want to play soccer."

What more can a coach ask for?

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

Notice is hereby given that Wayne County, with the joint approval of William Lucas, County Executive, and the County's Private Industry Council, has submitted the Transition Period Plan for funds provided under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) as administered by the State of Michigan Department of Labor.

The Transition Plan describes the general activities and services designed to meet the needs of targeted segments of the population who are experiencing handicaps in obtaining employment. The plan also outlines the involvement of the private sector in partnership with government in order to better design and implement job training programs within Wayne County. Total funding requested for the nine month transition period (October 1, 1983 - June 30, 1984) is $3,915,288.

The Wayne County service delivery area (excluding the City of Detroit and the Downriver Community Conference area) intends to provide the following levels of activities:

Classroom Training	54%
On-the-Job Training	26%
Try-Out Employment	11%
Limited Work Experience	6%
Employment Generating Services	3%

The proposed plan will be available for review by appointment at the Wayne County Employment and Training Administration, 440 East Congress, Detroit, Michigan 48226. Specific comments and/or inquiries regarding the plan may be made to Mr. Arthur M. Lewis, Director, at the above address or by telephone to (313) 234-7160.

This notice is published in accordance with Section 190(a) of the Job Training Partnership Act.

Livonia fast pitch team wins title

Daly's Restaurant, a women's fast-pitch softball team from Livonia, captured the Class B state championship last weekend in Coldwater.

Lisa Bokovoy, a junior at Stevenson High School, proved to be a valuable tournament acquisition by Daly as she hurled the Livonians two of three wins in the six-team, double-elimination tournament.

The tall right-hander blanked the Scottville Scotties, 6-0, on a five-hitter. Scottville's Patty Lundberg led off the game with a single to center field, but Bokovoy's prep teammate, catcher Linda Loeffler, threw out the runner trying to steal second base as Lisa Parsons made the tag.

The winners executed a much-talked about double-play as Kathy Siemlesz snared a line drive to right field and whipped a throw to shortstop Linda Webb of Garden City, who leaped to nail the runner at second base with a bare-hand grab.

Daly, meanwhile, scored twice in the first and added a pair each in the second and fifth innings to put the game out of reach.

Centerfielder Bonnie Hudick led the Daly hitting attack with a 3-for-4 performance, while Webb added two hits and four RBI.

DALY OPENED tourney play with an 11-1 triumph over Marshall Stars, comprised primarily of Albion College players.

Bokovoy tossed a three-hitter, while her teammates collected 13 hits. Kathy Siemlesz led the way by going 3-for-4. Parsons, Terry Gonda, Webb and Hudick added two hits apiece.

Gonda was the tournament's leading hitter with an .857 average.

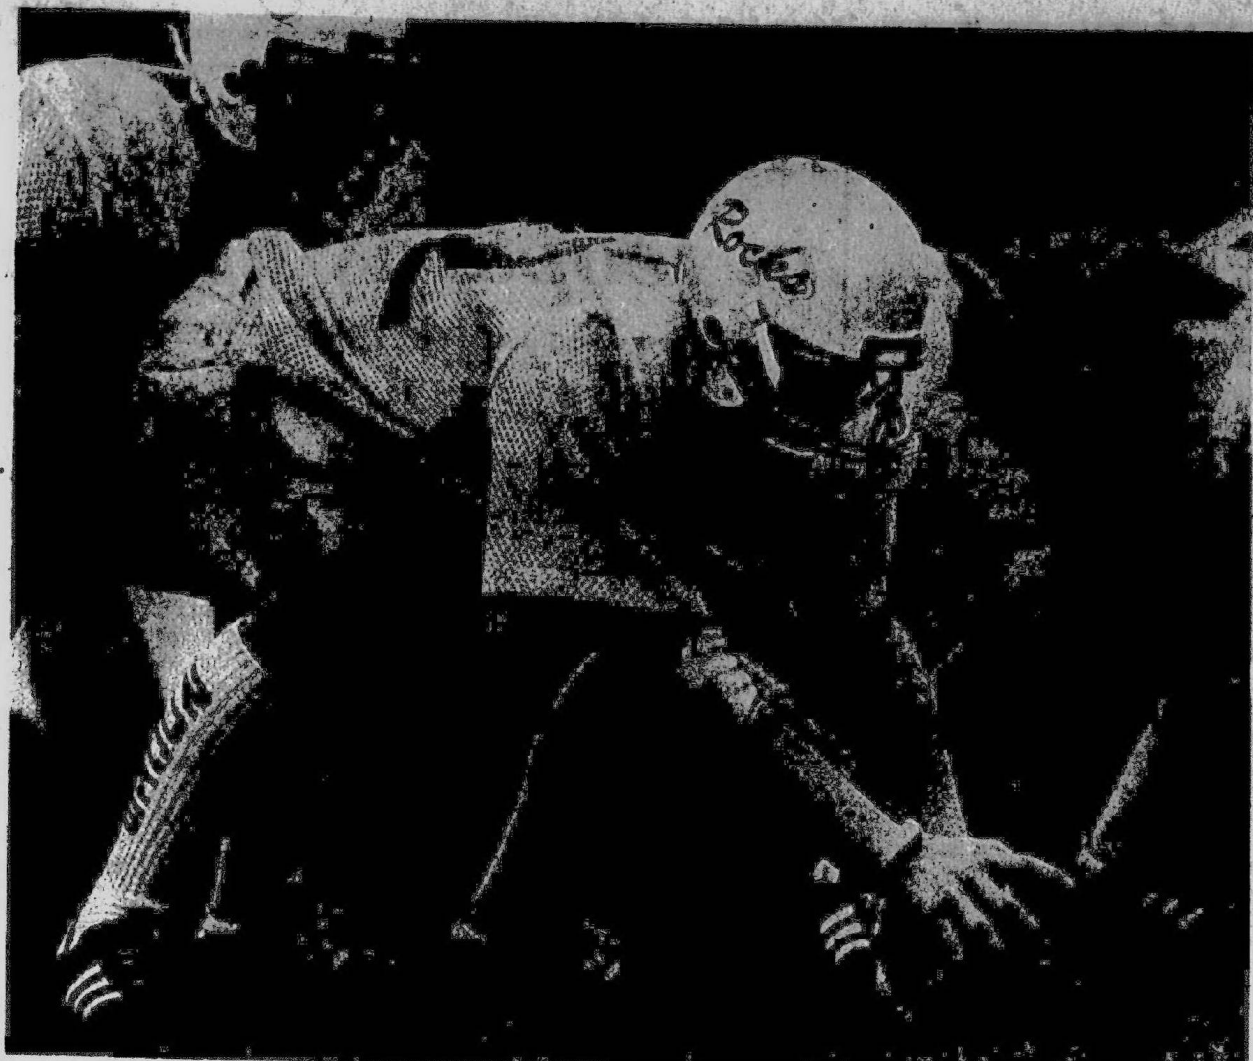

In the second round, Daly used the no-hit pitching of Garden City's Kim Lackey to beat the Scotties, last year's Class CC champions, 2-0.

Lackey faced only 24 batters — three reaching base late in the game on walks. One runner, however, was erased on a double play, while another was gunned down trying to steal second by Daly catcher Sheryl Horvath.

Siemlesz led the way with two hits and one RBI. Lackey drove in the other Daly run.

THE CLASS B champions finished the season with a 30-10 overall record, while recording a third place finish in the Livonia Women's Fast-pitch League at 8-2.

Hudick was the team batting leader at .417, followed by Lori Swanson, who hit .404. Swanson was unable to compete in Daly's final two tournament appearances because of a volleyball commitment to Central Michigan University.

Big Chris Hymes, the only experienced lineman on the Rocks roster this year, tore ligaments in his leg last week. He is not likely to play in Saturday's season opener at North Farmington.

line, Moshimer converted Dave Bunch, who started at halfback last year, to guard. Paul Smallwood and John Nicols will also start on the line. After that, Moshimer said he isn't sure who will start.

The key to the game, both coaches agree, will be defense.

"I GUESS they are impressive," said Moshimer. "They'll run a lot of power runs, off tackles and sweeps, and they throw well."

Moshimer will have to rely on a mostly inexperienced defense to stop North. Jurek, a potential All-Stater, is the only experienced player Moshimer has on defense.

The task before O'Leary is to stop Salem's always dangerous wishbone offense.

"The wishbone is tough to defense," said O'Leary. "We only see it once a year, but we have been working on it and we will be prepared."

North has a strong core of linebackers and down linemen, but their inexperienced secondary may be suspect. The game boils down to simply, North's experience vs. the relative inexperience of Salem.

"It's too bad we have to play such an experienced team right off the bat. But, that's the way it is. We are going to have to play an outstanding game to beat them," Moshimer said.

SALEM THEN PUT the game out of reach reeling off 18 straight points in the second quarter to take a 27-4 lead.

But, Canton never quit. They came back with a spurt of eight straight points at the end of the half to close the gap to 29-12.

"I'm looking at this game in a positive way," said Mulroy. "Emotionally, the girls were dealt a big blow. The leading scorer goes out right before the game. But, we scrapped and fought and hustled. Knickerbocker played tough and (Marie) Krashevets just played her heart out."

INDEED, THE Canton girls did not quit. In fact, they played the second half dead even, 22-22. (Granted, Salem was substituting freely.)

Between halves, the injured Hamblin remained seated, still in uniform, ankle taped heavily, on the Canton bench. She had her head down.

"I'll have it X-rayed after the game. I can't leave during the game. I have always looked forward to playing against Salem. To say it's hard to just sit here is an understatement," she said.

The third quarter, essentially, pitted Salem against Knickerbocker. The young sophomore scored eight of Canton's 12 points in that quarter.

The fourth quarter was a free-for-all, yet, Canton outscored their neighbors 10-6.

Prognosticators limber up

By Brad Emons and Chris McCosky staff writers

The first week is always the toughest for expert grid prognosticators.

Most coaches are optimistic, while others "play down" their chances purposely. Others, meanwhile, are flat out realistic. New faces will determine the course of the 1983 football season for the most part. That is what makes it difficult, but here goes anyway:

LIVONIA BENTLEY at PLYMOUTH CANTON (7:30 p.m. Friday). This game is traditionally close and low scoring with Canton gaining the edge last year.

Word is that Canton and Rodney Williams looked good in a pre-season scrimmage last week.

Bentley, meanwhile, can rely on field goal kicker Chad Darke. Picks — McCosky goes with Canton by seven. Emons goes with Canton in overtime.

LIVONIA STEVENSON at REDFORD UNION (7:30 p.m. Friday). The home team has prevailed in this encounter for the past four seasons.

RU has a speedy backfield, and Stevenson counters with quarterback Dan Gilmartin. This is a key game for both teams. Picks — McCosky likes Stevenson by a field goal. Emons sticks with the home team by six.

BISHOP BORGESS at RIVERVIEW (7:30 p.m. Friday). Borgess should be one of the most improved teams in the Catholic League, while Class B Riverview is coming off an 8-1 season.

The Spartans have experience at the skill positions. Picks — McCosky and Emons like Borgess by 10.

BELLEVILLE at WESTLAND JOHN GLENN (7:30 p.m. Friday). Word is that Belleville has some speedy running backs, but nobody compared to Keith Gates (now at MSU).

Glenn is inexperienced, but has quarterback Jeff Hawley and coach Chuck Gordon going for them. A tough opener for Glenn. Picks — McCosky says Belleville by three, while Emons takes Glenn by 13.

grid predictions

GARDEN CITY vs. WAYNE MEMORIAL (7:30 p.m. at West). The Cougars have a new coach (Dean Shipman) and a JV team that went 9-0 last season.

Wayne, however, could have a team comparable to the one Rick Rogers played on a few years back. Garden City will be tested early. Picks — McCosky predicts a close game with Wayne winning by one. Emons goes with Wayne by a touchdown.

WEST BLOOMFIELD at FARMINGTON HARRISON (2 p.m. Saturday). The Lakers were dealt a severe blow losing tailback Todd Krumm, who is out indefinitely with an injury.

Adding punch to the Harrison lineup are transfers Bob Wascenski, an All-Observer end from Canton, and cornerback Geoff Bissell from Ohio.

They join tailback John Miller, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards as a sophomore in Harrison's Class A title run. Picks — McCosky takes Harrison by 14. Emons agrees, but by 17.

PLYMOUTH SALEM at NORTH FARMINGTON (2 p.m. Saturday). The Rocks are coming off an 8-1 season, but lost 25 seniors.

Big-time player Scott Jurek, however, returns at fullback/linebacker. It won't be enough offset North's experience and speed, led by Ken Goss and Scott Draper. Picks — McCosky and Emons go with North by 10 and 13, respectively.

FARMINGTON at SOUTHFIELD (2 p.m. Saturday). This is a battle of first-year coaches. Cal Fletcher takes over at Southfield, while Don Kuick enters at Farmington.

Southfield should have more weapons, while Farmington is "building." Picks — McCosky goes with Southfield by a touchdown. Emons goes with an upset, Farmington in overtime by six.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL at LIVONIA FRANKLIN (2 p.m. Saturday). The Patriots lost a bundle of talent from last season's 8-1 squad.

Churchill coach Ken Kestner, meanwhile, vows it's improved from a 1-8 campaign in 1982. Franklin will go to the air under a revamped offense by Armand Vigna. Picks — McCosky likes Franklin by a point. Emons goes with the Patriots in overtime.

NORTHVILLE at REDFORD THURSTON (1 p.m. Saturday). The Eagles went winless in 1982, but new coach John Switczenko is out to break that losing skid.

Northville has dominated this series, but lost a great deal from a year ago. Nobody knows what to expect. Picks — McCosky and Emons stand by Northville by seven and 14 points, respectively.

REDFORD ST. AGATHA at DEARBORN ST. ALPHONSUS (2:30 p.m. Saturday at Dearborn Fordson). The Aggies will be hard-pressed to repeat a 7-2 season. They won this game last year, but Alphonsus will be looking for revenge.

Enough said. Picks — McCosky and Emons like St. Al's by 10 and 13, respectively.

CLARENCEVILLE at WATERFORD OUR LADY OF THE LAKES (2 p.m. Saturday). This game recently was added to both teams' schedules.

Class B Clarenceville is coming off a 6-3 season, while Lakes earned a trip to the Catholic League's C-D and Class D state tournaments last season. Picks — McCosky smells an upset, Clarenceville by 8. Emons takes Lakes by eight.

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. TRAVERSE CITY (2 p.m. Saturday at the Pontiac Silverdome). A battle between ex-Class A state champions.

CC roughed up the Trojans in its opener last year at the "Dome." The Shamrocks appear to be the team to beat in the tough Catholic League Central Division, and one prep prognosticator says they'll win it all. Why does Traverse City keep scheduling this game? Picks — McCosky and Emons like CC by a touchdown and 15 points, respectively.

All-time records in jeopardy again

This is the week when Greater Detroit's half million bowlers step on the approaches and fire the opening shots of what is expected to be another high scoring year.

As they take their turn at trying to hit the pocket here are the all time records that they will be trying to better:

TEAM EVENT
February 23, 1978, Stroh's 3691 single game 1328

INDIVIDUALS
March 3, 1970, Gaston Marois 300-275-288, 867

DOUBLES
March 13, 1960, Ed Lubanski and Bob Kwolek 1582

SINGLES (five games)
March 17, 1961, John Farkas 1323

HIGH TRIPPLICATE
May 23, 1982 John Bennett 279-279-279-837

HIGH AVERAGE FOR SEASON
1959-1960 Billy Golembewski 96 games 234 average.

CLASSICS The all stars both on Tuesday and Thursday beat the gun in the season opener and there were a few surprises in store.

First, the Stroh team, bowling on Tuesday, rolled a 3241 to sound a warning of the scores that can be expected over the rest of the way.

The big gun in this opening firing

In the pocket by W.W. Edgar was Ralph Petty with a 696 series that included a 256 finisher.

The Tuesday classis will have a new twist this year in that Ed Lubanski, former Stroh captain 20 years ago, is back in action, as possibly the oldest all star still active. On the other end of the age scale, Dave Hamilton, the Farmington youth, will be on hand to oppose Ed several times this season.

MERRI-BOWL Kurt Suokas, a member of the major division of the Youth League, fashions a 279 game that may stand for a while as the high game in the league.

In the ladies league, Mike Surdyk rolled a high game of 254 and in the handicappers league Ken Mikkila bowled a 670 series that included a 246 finisher.

WOODLAND LANES Helen Parrish paced the senior citizens with a high single of 207 and John Panzo posted a 991 to take top honors in the men's trio loop.

BEL-AIRE Cass Podota, Mal Podota and Bob Parker wound up winning the trio league title in the finest season the league has had in several years.

cross country Farmington rules triangular meet; Hawks win dual Farmington's depth proved to be too much Tuesday in a triangular boys cross country meet held Tuesday at Redford's Lola Valley Park.

Coach Jerry Young's team won the meet with 26 points followed by host Redford Union at 40 and Livonia Clarenceville with 63.

RU's David Adkins took individual honors with a time of 16:25 over the three-mile course.

Farmington, however, placed six of the top 10 finishers including junior Bruce Kerr, second, 17:18; Dave Dunneback, fourth, 17:39; Bryan Lawton, fifth, 17:58; Chris Inch, sixth, 17:59; Tim Bourgeois, ninth, 19:13; Brad Tobin, 10th, 19:50.

RU's Ed Buchanan finished third in 17:33. Clarenceville's top two places went to Nick Lulgjuraj, seventh, 18:16, and Rick Williams, eighth, 19:11.

Victorious Farmington resumes action Tuesday at Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

FARMINGTON HARRISON'S boys couldn't offset the one-two showing of Livonia Stevenson's Ken Dubois and Mark Rorick, 23-36, in a meet Tuesday.

Dubois, a senior standout, covered the three-mile course in 16:20. Rorick was next at 17:27.

The visiting Spartans also got a fifth place finish from Mike Newton (18:06).

Harrison's top three finishers were: Don Lacey, third, 17:38; Mike Esker, fourth, 17:53; Tom Blisson, sixth, 18:08.

Harrison's girls, however, behind Lauri Runk's top clocking of 19:39, prevailed against Stevenson, 27-30.

Runk was followed by teammates Paige Cummins, third, 20:59, and Jenny Anderson, fourth, 21:30.

Sue Tatigian and Michele Economou grabbed second and fifth for Stevenson with times of 19:59 and 21:50, respectively.

Laugh time

Standup comics keep metro audiences in good humor

By James Windell
special writer

IT'S NO LAUGHING MATTER for Mark Ridley on Friday and Saturday nights when he has to turn away hundreds of customers.

But that's the way things go when you've got one of the hottest comedy clubs in Oakland County and metro Detroit.

It used to be that just the mention of Detroit would get you laughs if you were a standup comic. Now those comics are coming to this area to get paid and make people laugh.

Comedy clubs, led by the successful Comedy Castle in Royal Oak, are finding a place for themselves in the entertainment spectrum in Southeastern Michigan. And even the bigger venues, like the Premier Center in Sterling Heights, are doing well with comedy acts.

So, what's so funny these days?

IF YOU MAKE reservations at the Comedy Castle or get there early enough on a weekend, you can find out. Two warmup comics and a nationally known headliner provide the jokes at the club in the basement of John Laffrey's restaurant at 4616 N. Woodward, Royal Oak.

The jokes are on almost anything and everything. Ronald Reagan, missiles, marriage, family and anything else that comes into the slightly warped minds of comedians like Marty McCall and Bill Kirchenbauer.

Kirchenbauer, who has been seen on TV in the "Mork and Mindy" show and in the feature movie "Airplane," is a visual comedian with a rapier-quick wit and a devastating bluntness.

Bringing in top comedians like Kir-

Bringing in top comedians like Bill Kirchenbauer, Thom Sharp and Vic Dunlop, Comedy Castle manager Mark Ridley has found success.

chenbauer, Thom Sharp and Vic Dunlop, Comedy Castle manager Mark Ridley has found success. So much so that he can charge a $7 cover on weekends and still turn away as many as a 1,000 folks before the weekend is over.

Clearly enjoying the resurgence of comedy, Ridley has worked hard to make this happen. Five years ago he laid the groundwork for the present comedy revival by providing a club for aspiring comedians. At Laffrey's for two years, Ridley credits the restaurant with some of his success.

"YOU JUST CAN'T make it in a 99-seat room," Ridley said about previous comedy club attempts at the Meeting Place, Friday's and Stafford's — all in West Bloomfield. Now he's in a comfortable 160-seat room which has the advantage of a good restaurant upstairs which draws people for the food and atmosphere.

The bottom line for Ridley, though, is that the Comedy Castle is making it because its name — which Ridley has retained despite several moves — is synonymous in the area with reliable and funny comedy.

When he had a corner of Friday's on Orchard Lake Road in 1979, Ridley had an open mike policy and would-be comedians got 10 minutes a week to present their routines before a live audience.

Some of those comics are now opening for headliners or appearing at clubs around the country. Leo Dufore, one of those once-fledgling comedians, runs the Comedy Corner in Windsor.

In addition to the Comedy Corner, other places that feature comedy are Traax, on Gratiot in Detroit, where there's a Comedy Showcase every Wednesday night; Comedy Kitchen in Detroit, which brings in comedians five nights a week; and the Premier Center in Sterling Heights, which has recently been successful with a First Detroit Comedy Jam (featuring well-known comedians David Couler, Mike Binder and Howie Mandell), as well as with regular appearances by the big-name comics.

OTHER NIGHT SPOTS, such as Frisco's (which just closed) in West Bloomfield's Orchard Mall, have tried comedy without finding an audience. Frisco's for a time featured the Comedy Trolley, with emcee Lowell Sanders.

"We had a comedy feature night at the beginning of the summer," said comic Sanders, a Comedy Castle graduate. "We were featuring the best local talent around but it really didn't take off like we hoped it would."

However, Sanders is still very optimistic about comedy in the area. "Any place where you have a lot of people patronizing a restaurant or a club, comedy will work out. With the Comedy Castle doing well, it will help everyone," he said.

Sanders plays some of the better comedy clubs around the country. One of the young comedians in the area who got started in the late 1970s, he has watched the growth of the comedy business.

"There's a lot better opportunity now than when we started out five years ago," he said. "It's become a real big business."

COMEDY IS BIG business at the Premier Center, where such superstar comedians as David Bronner, Rich Little, George Carlin and Bob Hope draw huge crowds and command ticket prices in the double digits.

Elizabeth Roach, director of public relations and promotions for the Premier Center, said, "All the comedy shows we've done have been big successes. Comedy has gone over real well, and we'll continue to do it."

Bea Evans is owner of the Comedy Kitchen, on East Larned near the Renaissance Center. While the club has not had the success of the Premier Center, Evans remains sold on comedy.

"We're open five nights a week with amateurs during the week and headliners on the weekend," she said. The Comedy Kitchen recently featured comedian Tony Hayes.

"We have good shows and a real good business," Evans said.

WITH ONLY ABOUT 56 comedy clubs across the country, it's still a highly competitive market with fewer venues than there are good comedians. Some 15 clubs or restaurants have tried to promote comedy in the area without making it.

Some comedians earn living on lucrative party circuit

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

All the comedy isn't in the clubs, however. Many comics make their living primarily by being booked for private parties, company parties and conventions.

Dennis Harlan, president of Entertainment Consultants of America Inc., books comedians for shows around the country. "This is a whole different market," said Harlan, who heads the two-year-old agency in downtown Plymouth.

He said that conventions are where the money is and comics he handles may make from $1,000-$2,000 a night, in contrast to many upcoming club comics, who can't afford an agent.

Harlan explained he handles only some of the bookings for the comics he represents. "They work with a lot of agents throughout the country. One agent doesn't have all the work," he said.

HE PERIODICALLY books Paul Lennon, an impressionist/singer and comedian from Northville, who is "one of the busiest and best comedians in the country." He also occasionally books Jimmy Nelson, who lives in Florida.

The ventriloquist/comedian is perhaps best known for his TV commercial for Nestle's.

Harlan has booked Karrol Fox of Farmington Hills, a standup comedian who does magic and for many years was Milky, the Clown, on Detroit television.

The agency has gotten bookings for Eddie Jaye of Birmingham, currently the emcee for country group Alabama on tour. Jaye does a 40-minute show, 20 minutes of standup comedy and 20 minutes with his dummy, Carleton the Crow.

Harlan said comics at the comedy clubs "tend to be a little raunchy and blue," for their audiences. The material is cleaner and the comics classier at company parties, attended mostly by married couples. "They do not like blue material," he said of the companies.

"The Chase" (1966), 8 tonight on Ch. 50. Originally 135 minutes.

For all its name appeal — "The Chase" stars Marlon Brando, Robert Redford, Jane Fonda, Robert Duvall, Janice Rule, Angie Dickinson and E.G. Marshall, was directed by Arthur Penn, written by Lillian Hellman and produced by Sam Spiegel — this film's about as intriguing as an episode of "Knot's Landing" or any other TV soap opera. The small-town scandals at the heart of the film are simply passe today.

Rating: $2.
"North to Alaska" (1950), 11:40 tonight on Ch. 9. Originally 122 minutes.
Fans of John Wayne can thank Henry Hathaway for directing some of the aging star's more respected films in the last two decades of his life. Blame director Andrew McLaglen for the likes of "The Undefeated" and "Chisum."

Second runs Tom Panzenhagen

Hathaway's credits include "True Grit" and "North to Alaska," which is one of those enjoyable, two-fisted action yarns. Ernie Kovacs, Stewart Granger, Capucine and Fabian co-star.
Rating: $2.85.

"Rio Grande" (1950), 4:25 a.m. Saturday on Ch. 2. Originally 105 minutes.
For the second week in a row, Ch. 2 will air its best movie of the week at an outrageous hour. Bill Flynn, that's not very good programming. "Rio Grande" — the last entry in John Ford's cavalry trilogy that includes "Fort Apache" and "The Yellow Ribbon" — is another of the director's marvelous blends of action, myth and western scenery. John Wayne stars as a cavalry officer fighting the Indian wars. The Ford stable of co-stars includes Ben Johnson, Harry Carey Jr. and Victor McLaglen. Maureen O'Hara also stars.

Rating: $3.35.

"No Way to Treat a Lady" (1968), 8 p.m. Monday on Ch. 50. Originally 108 minutes.
Rod Steiger's portrayal of a demented ladykiller is so chilling that it overwhelms the subtler comic touches that fill this film and it throws the picture out of balance. It's hard to chuckle at bumbling George Segal when a craved killer, whose crimes are slowly depicted, looks in the mirror. This film's a thriller but it's not one of those pictures that leaves you feeling very uneasy. Vivacious Lee Remick co-stars.

Rating: $2.90.

"Valley of the Dolls" (1967), 12:30 Wednesday night on Ch. 7. Originally 123 minutes.
There may be worse movies than "Valley of the Dolls," but few of them are so bad that they're this good. "Dolls" is so campy and so unintentionally funny that it's actually worth watching. Barbara Parkins, Patsy Duke, Sharon Tate, Susan Hayward, Paul Burke and Martin Milner star in the film from the Jacqueline Susann best-seller.
Rating: $2.50.

Jazz groups to 'Jazz It Up'

Three nationally known Detroit-area jazz groups will perform at "Jazz It Up," a benefit jazz concert sponsored by Marygrove College from 2-6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 18, on the college campus in northwest Detroit.

Proceeds will be contributed to the student scholarship fund at Marygrove College. The event is co-sponsored by radio station WJZZ.

Orthea Barnes and Mildred Vanev Scott with P'Zazz are local jazz artists with a national reputation. In the last three years, since they have been together, they have released a number of hit records including "Sometime Soon," "Risen Cost of Love" and "Ear Candy."

MARCUS BELGRAVE is a trumpet virtuoso who performs frequently in the Detroit area and other major U.S. cities. He founded and directs the Jazz Development Workshop and its repository company, the New Detroit Jazz Ensemble.

Midnight Sky has performed at the Montreux Jazz Festival, the International Freedom Festival and WJZZ's Concerts in the Park. The group is currently promoting its original recording "Captain Midnight."

Tickets for "Jazz It Up" are available at all CTC outlets or by contacting the Admissions Office of Marygrove College, 8425 W. McNichols, Detroit 48221, phone 862-8000, ext. 220.

Senior-citizen package offered

Henry Ford Museum is offering a new senior-citizen package, available weekdays from Oct. 24 through Nov. 30.

Senior citizen groups of 10 or more may receive admission to the museum, a Heritage Hall lunch and a 10 percent discount on all merchandise in the museum's stores for $5 per person.

Rain or shine, passengers may be dropped off at the museum entrance to visit among the 12 acres of indoor collections.

For reservations call 271-1620, ext. 415, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Vineyards radiate from city's center

It seems each year warrants a new column reviewing the spectacular growth, both in quality and quantity, that occurs annually in Mendocino County of Northern California. Here is another, reporting wine findings from a recent trip that will soon make their impact on our market.

The focal point of the county is the city of Ukiah, an hour and a half north of San Francisco on highway 101. Vineyards surround the area and constitute the northernmost wine-growing region in the state.

Twenty miles north of Ukiah viticulture ceases in California. But radiating out from its center are miles after mile of lush vineyards, made vigorous by the relative warmth of the area.

There are no cooling breezes here from San Francisco Bay, and the mountains to the west block most Pacific breezes. This is warm country, good for cabernet, zinfandel, sauvignon blanc, petite sirah and others. Occasional cooler regional microclimates support chardonnay and pinot blanc.

MOST EXCITING finds this year were Tijsseling Winery south of the city and Braren Paul in Potter Valley, well to the north and east. The former is tied in with smaller Tyland Vineyards and shows promise of being yet another producer of fine, sparkling wines.

The first issues are scheduled for release soon, and distribution into Michigan is being worked out. Still table wines are made as well, but greatest hopes are for a 25,000-case-per-year production of the sparkler.

Braren Paul Vineyards, named after its co-founders, is in an isolated area, almost the northernmost winery on the North Coast. Its first issues reached California shelves less than a year ago, and it, too, is being picked up soon by a local distributor.

Look for an excellent sauvignon blanc and chardonnay as well as a 1980 zinfandel from the Ricetti Vineyards that is huge and tannic and will demand maturation time. If its prices here are as favorable as they are in California this may be a Best Value set of releases when we get them.

A third new winery, the Paul Dolan Vineyards, is easily the smallest in the area, making only modest amounts of chardonnay and cabernet of excellent quality. Amazingly, this wine is available locally, at least the complex and sophisticated chardonnay is.

THE CABERNET (1980) has not yet been released at this writing, but preview tasting suggests a promising future for it. Paul Dolan, also the winemaker at Fetzer, seems unable to make a less-than-excellent wine wherever he labors.

wine

And there are others. Whaler Vineyards makes light, inexpensive and pleasant zinfandels only, both a red and a white, but they probably will not get to our area. Frey Vineyards is a family complex in the far north and seems not yet to have identified a style or focus of its own. Hidden Cellars has achieved some favorable initial press. And so it goes.

Add these three winners and the several others to the aggregate that also includes such quality names as Parducci, Fetzer, Scharffenberger, Milano, Mountain House and, of course, the great McDowell operation, and it is apparent that the region boasts not only a strong present but a rich past as well.

Mendocino is rapidly gaining good reviews as a region among the best in California in the only way a region can, by consistently producing excellent wines. These have the added benefit of not carrying a Napa appellation, a term that causes the price of each bottle to increase some $1-3 just because of the name.

Mendocino wines in general are fairly priced and are safely recommended to beginner and veteran wine drinker alike.

The statistics on the "Loch Ness Monster" are impressive to coastermaniacs who seek out new thrills every summer at amusement parks. The monster at The Old Country, Busch Gardens in Williamsburg, Va., plunges riders 130 feet to two interlocking loops at 70 miles-an-hour. It is one of the fastest in the world.

Williamsburg, Va., plunges riders 130 feet to two interlocking loops at 70 miles-an-hour. It is one of the fastest in the world.

A coaster coward takes a ride

This summer I rode the Loch Ness Monster. If you are neither a coastermaniac nor a coward, that won't mean much to you. Coastermaniacs are accustomed to being scared out of their wits on roller coasters. Cowards have more sense than to get aboard.

I was definitely in the coward class when I was dragged aboard the Loch Ness Monster at The Old Country, a theme park owned by Busch Gardens in Williamsburg, Va.

I had chosen cowardice many years ago when I walked up to a coaster called Six Flags Over Georgia in a theme park near Atlanta. My two sons had spent years scaring me to death on roller coasters, but on that day I rebelled.

As I approached the great coaster, my heart in my mouth, a small voice in my head said "you don't have to go on that roller coaster if you don't want to." I didn't. And I swore I would never board a roller coaster again.

I avoided the Texas Cyclone, the Gemini, the Colossus, the American Eagle and all the giant dippers of this world until that moment in the summer of 1983 when a crowd of "friends" gathered around me, like a scene out of a spy movie, and moved me en masse through the gate. There was no getting away short of calling the cops.

If you, too, are a coward, you may not know the statistics of the Loch Ness Monster, which has been scaring people out of their wits for five years at Busch Gardens. It drags you slowly, slowly, screaming the while, to the top of a hill, drops you straight down 130 feet, corkscrews you at the speed of light through two 360-degree interlocking loops and sends you screaming home. That's a 13-story climb above the treetops of the wooded theme park. That's a force of three-and-a-half times the pull of gravity.

THOSE OF you who are coastermaniacs are laughing by now, looking down your noses at those of us who must be dragged screaming onto a roller coaster. A million and a half of you ride that monster every year.

There are dozens of them around the country, of course, each claiming to outscare the other. Many of them are on wooden frames, because metal frames were so "secure" that they didn't scare people enough.

A roller coaster guru called Robert Cartmell puts out a ten-best list every year, and any coastermaniac worth his salt has been on all of them.

If you still long for a little Saturday afternoon fright, if dropping thirteen stories turns you on, don't despair, summer isn't quite over.

Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio, is open for another two weekends, through Sept. 18. It is closing the season with two fun fest weekends that are centered around the Hofbrau Beer Garden, which is much more my speed.

There will be lots of music and dancing. Sunday, Oct. 18, will wind up the summer with the Cedar Point 10K run, with runners following a certified course through the 364 acre resort. That starts at 10:30 a.m., if you are a runner. That is another sport I manage to avoid.

Those of you who are going south this fall will find a new ride called the Congo River Rapids at the Dark Continent, Busch Gardens in Tampa, Florida. You will also find a new attraction for young children called Dwarf Village. It is in the park's Bird Gardens section and offers two rides that may be very much my style.

Travel series starts 50th year

The World Adventure Series launches its 1983-84 series with a film on The New Switzerland Sunday, Oct. 16, at the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA). Filmmaker Ray Green opens the fiftieth anniversary season of the series, which was founded by the late George Pierrot in 1933.

The combination of lecture and film begins at 2:30 p.m. Sundays in the DIA auditorium. You can buy tickets for individual shows for $3.50 starting Monday, Sept. 19. Season tickets cost $35 for 15 shows; you can also pay $22 for the eight shows in the first half of the season or $20 for the seven shows in the second half of the season.

The October schedule continues with An Artist Sees Spain by Frank Carney Sunday, Oct. 23, and Italian Capers by Rudi Thoreau Sunday, Oct. 30. Other fall and winter programs include The Caribbean, Greenland and Denmark, The Danube to the Black Sea, The Ozarks, Wales and the Lakes of England, Hawaii, Red China, Scotland, Indonesia, Greece, Yugoslavia and the Adriatic.

STAN MIDGELY will give a couple of post-season shows — The Roads of Autumn and British Columbia — March 4 and 11; they are not included in season ticket prices.

The World Adventure Series can also be seen on television, the new season starting Saturday, Oct. 1, with An Insider's View of Alaska and continuing at 6 p.m. Saturdays on Channel 56.

Three shows by Kenard Lawrence, coordinator of the World Adventure Series, will be shown during the three weeks preceding that date, also at 6 p.m. on Channel 56.

George Cantor of the Detroit News will host Tunisia, Part I, Sept. 10. Iris Sanderson Jones, Travel Editor of the Observer-Eccentric Newspapers will host Tunisia, Part 2, on Sept. 17 and Austria on Sept. 24.

The World Adventure Series has also booked films for a new set of programs to be offered this winter by Oakland Community College (OCC) Highland Lakes Campus. You can see the films while enjoying coffee and cake cafe-style at 73501 Cooley Lake Road in Highland.

The Highland films are Greece, Sept. 23; Mexico, November 18; Yellowstone, Grand Tetons and the Midwest, January 27; Hotel Barges in Europe, March 23. Call 360-3041 or 360-3188. Tickets are $3.50 ($3 for senior citizens) for individual shows, $12 ($10 for senior citizens) for the series.

Community Wind Ensemble

Schoolcraft strikes up band for season

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

At first glance, they don't seem to have anything in common.

They are students and professionals, teenagers and retired. They work at a variety of jobs and live in different communities. But as they go about their individual lives, they carry what may be the best-sounding "secret" around — they are all members of Schoolcraft College's Community Wind Ensemble, which will be warming up this month for its fifth season.

The ensemble is a concert band of between 44 and 55 woodwind, brass and percussion instrumentalists that has delighted audiences, as well as its own members, since 1979. Since it was first organized by Dr. Richard Saunders of Schoolcraft College in the fall of that year, it has performed in concerts around the area, including at the University of Windsor.

"I was asked if I would form a band that would play the top caliber of band music available," said Saunders, who conducted the concert band. "We wanted to do something in an ensemble in which the players were extremely competent, and didn't have an opportunity to play anymore."

THE ENSEMBLE follows a principle that was started several years ago at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y. It allows the wind section to play without string accompaniment, giving every player a chance to be heard, according to Saunders.

Forming the ensemble was easier than Saunders anticipated. He first made a list of the instrumentalists he wanted, then contacted the musicians he knew. The response was more than enthusiastic.

"Every single person I called accepted the invitation," Saunders said.

Some of the players work with music. There are college music students and band and orchestra directors from Livonia, Wayne-Westland and Allen Park in the ensemble, for example. But also in the roster are an attorney, a dentist, a pathologist and engineers. They range in age from 15 years to a 70-year-old retiree who performs in the trumpet section.

"It's a chance for them to keep their instruments out of the clothes closet," Saunders said.

MEMBERSHIP IN the concert band is open to anyone who can pass the audition requirements, according to Saunders. He said there aren't enough spaces to accommodate all those who audition.

"We expect a player to be highly competent and a very good sight reader," Saunders said. "We ask that they bring a piece of music to the audition that best demonstrates their efficiency, then we listen as they sit with the ensemble to see how well they read (music). We ask persons in the band to give their evaluation."

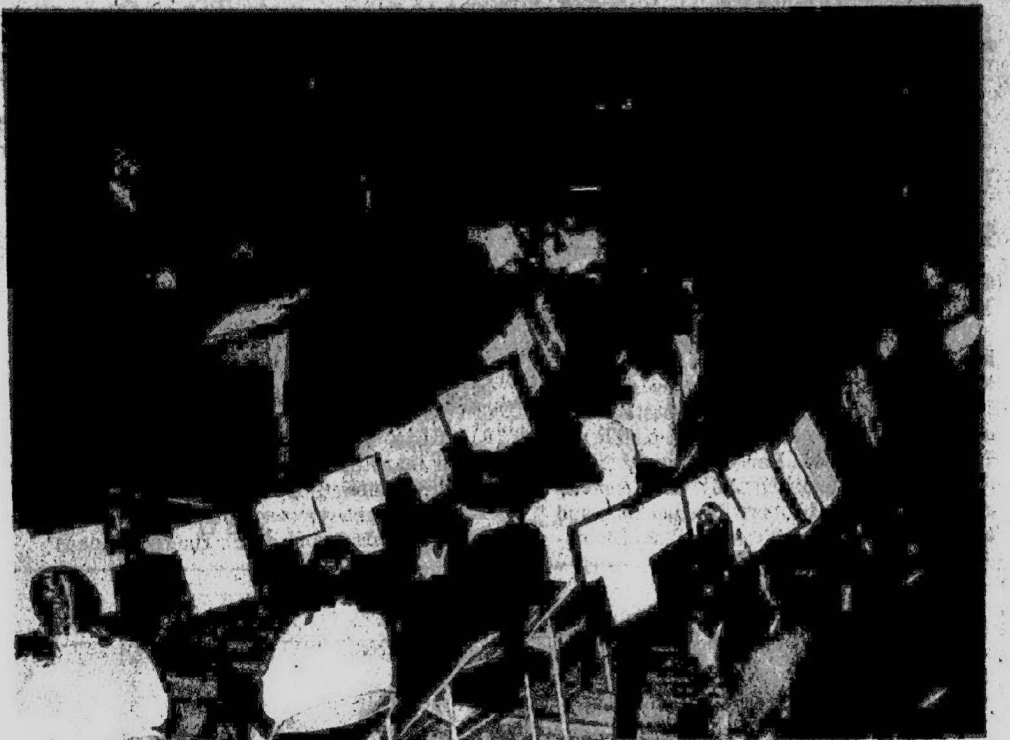

The requisites may be tough, but playing in the ensemble is as enjoyable as possible, according to Saunders.

"I think every rehearsal should be enjoyable for the musicians," he said. "It's important that each one is a good one."

"We gear our rehearsals accordingly, so they're fast-paced," Saunders went on. "We don't spend a lot of time poring over one or two measures of music. That should be done at home and not at the rehearsals. Every rehearsal has been a concert for them."

REHEARSALS ARE scheduled for two-to-three hours on Wednesday nights. Concerts are scheduled for Wednesday nights when possible, usually from September through June. This past year the concert band performed through early July. Its 14 concerts in the past year included a series of "music under the stars" performances in Livonia.

"We've expanded the repertoire tremendously," Saunders said. "We play modern band music, from (John Phillip) Sousa to Broadway, symphonic literature and a lot of American composers, those who have written since 1950.

"We build a repertoire of 30 pieces and rotate it all year long," he continued. "We keep in mind who our audience will be. If we're in a shopping mall, for example, we'll keep the music fairly short and simple, so people can stop for a minute and go on, whistling the tune. If we're giving a concert where people pay money to come and listen, the music will be more involved so you're going to have to interact with it."

Saunders recently left Schoolcraft for a university post at Traverse City. He said the ensemble should continue through the "foreseeable future."

"As long as there are people who are interested and who make it interesting," Saunders said. "The popularity with the audience seems to be increasing."

Anyone who wants to audition may call 591-6400, Ext. 510, at the college for information.

Commercial art can be means to an end

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, Livonia. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23552 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David P. Messing staff writer

In the last Artifacts column, I listed some of the qualities and contents of a good portfolio. When I speak of a portfolio, I am primarily thinking of commercial art.

Of course, there are different types of portfolios. A water colorist may have a much different portfolio than an architectural designer. Your portfolio is merely a selection of art work you have done in the past.

If, for example, you were asked to illustrate something technical or prepare a job safety manual (whether you were paid for it or not) these are things that are valuable in your portfolio. If someone else thought you were capable to do these illustrations, then the next person might feel easier about commissioning you.

I am reminded of Wayne, a friend who trims and cuts down trees. When he is on a job he is usually approached by people in the neighborhood who ask him to do work for them too. Because their neighbor trusted him and felt he was capable, they are more likely to give him a job.

If your portfolio consist of pastel puppies and watercolor barns then you should seriously think of building a commercial portfolio. One reason is m-o-n-e-y! In commercial work, a fee is expected.

LET'S SAY a man opens up a sporting goods store. Let us also say that he hires your neighbor as a stockboy. Now one day he mentions his need for an artist to design a logo and a symbol for his new business. So your neighbor says, "I have an artist neighbor who could do the job."

Artifacts

So now what do you do? Show the man who needs a logo your pastel puppies or watercolor barns? Of course not. This is one case where you leave your portfolio home. Simply meet the man and ask pertinent questions about his business and what the name signifies. "Logo" simply means name. So ask him if he wants to look like he has been in business for years, or if he wants something clean and modern looking. Ask about his ideas.

If he wants a symbol, what are the feelings he wants to convey? Then go home and sketch out five or six "roughs" and meet with him again to gain some feedback. Assure him also that this is the point to be outspoken. If he doesn't like any of your roughs, he should say so. Roughs are just samples of possibilities and they are disposable. If he likes one or two, then you can proceed with job.

How much do you charge? This question should be dealt with before any finished work is done. It's better to make the back to pay statement about money.

SINCE I also own a store, I know that the cost involved for operating a business is sometimes staggering. As a matter of fact when a customer asks if I own the Art Store, I usually say, "No. I owe on the Art Store. The bank owns it."

I know a cheap cash register is about $600, store fixtures are one or two thousand dollars and an outdoor sign is anywhere from $500 to $3,000. So what business owner is going to drop over when you tell him you want one or two hundred for a design that is going to represent his business for years to come? That's not a lot when you consider how important a logo is to a business.

LET ME help you start something commercial looking in your portfolio. Contests are fun and this one is good incentive to try your hand at commercial art. What we will do is have a first prize of a $25 gift certificate (big deal huh?) at the Art Store and More. We will print your design in the Artifacts column.

20th annual Marshall historic home tour arrives

Five private homes and a church will be first-time attractions of the 20th annual Historic Home Tour sponsored by the Marshall (Mich.) Historical Society Saturday and Sunday.

The theme for this year's tour is "The Midwest's Grand Old Tour." Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $7. They may be purchased at Interstate approaches to Marshall during the days of the tour. Children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

This year's new attractions include Queen

Anne homes built in 1886, 1896 and 1902; an 1852 Gothic Revival, an 1872 Romanesque Revival Church and a turn-of-the-century vernacular which has been adapted for modern living.

These six buildings bring the number of newly restored structures on the Annual Historic Home Tour to 17 in the last three years.

According to the Historical Society, the showplace of the tour will be the lovely Italian Villa, Oakhill, a National Register building.

ANOTHER ATTRACTION is an 1843

Gothic Revival, Hillside, with terraced landscaping straight out of Andrew Jackson Downing's first book on Gothic Revival architecture.

Two Italianate commercial buildings can be seen in the downtown business district. One built in 1868 now houses Dr. Haley's dentist office and the Goodwill Store, and the other, built in 1873, houses Sherman Associates, Realtors. Next door to Dr. Haley's office is the recently restored Studio C Gast Iron facade.

In addition to the private buildings, featured are two historical society landmarks, the 1860 Italianate Honolulu House museum and the completely restored 1902 GAR Hall archival center.

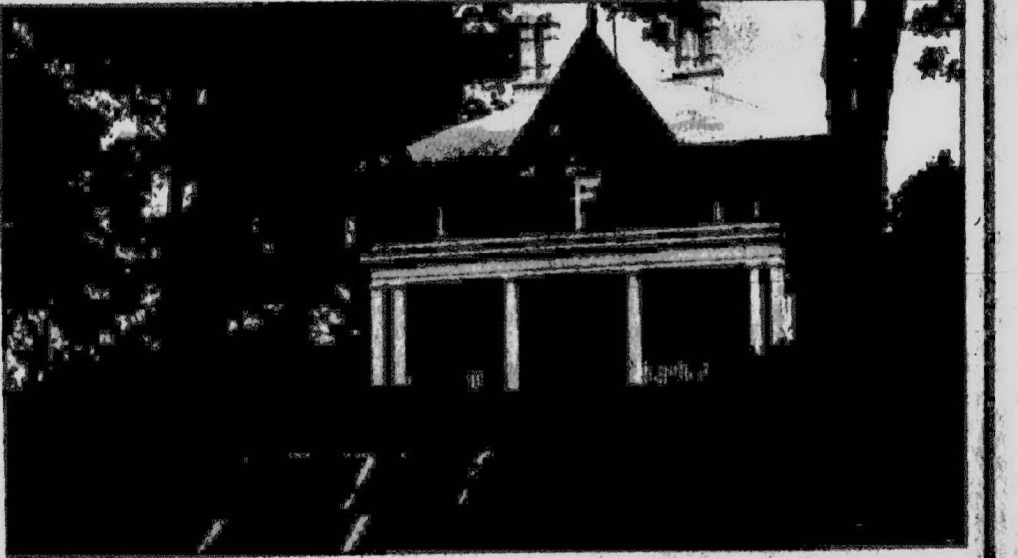

The home tour attempts to recreate the ambience and spirit of the 19th century with band concerts, parades, antique shows, Civil War battles, strolling musicians, church luncheons and bake sales, and arts and crafts fairs including the juried "Occasion for the Arts" show at the middle school.

MOST OF the houses on tour will also feature special craft demonstrations and musical entertainment.

The Marshall downtown merchants are holding open house Saturday evening. Free refreshments will be served.

Free shuttle bus service will be available. Buses pick up tour goers at the free off-street parking lots and deliver them within walking distance of all the houses and structures on tour.

Included in the tour are the following:
• Doris Stagg Home (circa 1852) — A classic Gothic Revival, this house has board and batten siding. The Stags bought this house 42 years ago and have filled it with family heirlooms and collectibles including Mrs. Stagg's antique doll and clock collection.

One of the homes on the Marshall tour is this 1843 Gothic Revival House owned by John and Fee Berry.

Local history says that this house served as a hiding place for run-away slaves.

• Oakhill (1858-59) — Said to be Marshall's most beautiful home, this Italian villa sits on a hill at the north end of Eagle Street overlooking the city. Originally built by Chauncey M. Brewer, an early Marshall merchant, the home features many original Brewer furnishings. The home has been restored by a succession of owners.

• Jim and Sandy Mason Home (1886) — This beautiful Queen Anne was designed by architects Spler and Rohn from Detroit, specialists in railroad stations like Ann Arbor's Gandy Dancer. The Masons have owned the home for 10 years during which time they have undertaken a room-by-room restoration. The home is featured during restoration. Many of the rooms are beautifully finished but can be contrasted to others with bare walls. This home also features heirlooms and collectibles.

• First Presbyterian Church (1873) — Built in the Romanesque Revival-style, this handsome church has served Marshall worshippers for over a hundred years. In 1913, Gardner said, it was "the finest Church in Michigan outside Detroit." The site of the parsonage is one of Marshall's most famous. On this site in 1832 Calhoun County's first school house was built with Eliza Ketchum, daughter of the city's founder, serving as the teacher.

Contest: a chance to match your talent against others

Since commercial art most often has restrictions, here are ours: The artwork must be on a 9x12-inch illustration board. The art is to be camera ready, black ink with grays done in ink wash, halftone screens, or ink line shading.

Design a stylish logo and symbol for a fictitious designer jeans company. Let's say the jeans are called "Crickets."

Be sure to show the design of stitching which is so popular on the back pockets. This should resemble an ad-that you might see in the paper. I will judge this by how you design and position the logo, symbol and pocket design within the 9x12 inch area.

Creativity and cleanness of presentation are very important. All entries must be submitted by October 29th to the Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt Road, Livonia 48152.

Remember the logo means the name and how you write or print it. The symbol is what you choose to represent the name. Now I don't want to give any ideas but a good symbol for this contest might be a little black bug that goes... chirp... chirp.

COMMERCIAL art is a way to make a living, while waiting to sell paintings and drawings. When you are drawing and painting whatever you like, the chances of selling enough pieces of art to earn a living are slim. But when you paint or draw at the request of customers you can make a relatively good income.

I once had a very successful show at a local mall. To top off a great week I was asked to represent Michigan in the "World's Artist Guild" show coming to Michigan for the first time. I was so excited I couldn't even over-eat! (which is my usual mode of celebrating). The show came and they displayed my works under a large Michigan flag. I sold nothing in four days.

I was so embarrassed, I sent an apology to the governor. By the fifth day I was, as they say, "ready to deal." Finally some little lady talked me down to $55 on a painting and that was my sale of the week. Within a few days my bruised ego began to heal and I sold a design (which required little time) for $200. As I watched this business man clutching my design and giggling with joy, I remembered haggling with that lady over a couple of dollars. It was then I began to really appreciate commercial art.

So whether you are a high school student, college student, housewife, or a business man, I would like you to try this "cricket" design contest. Remember

Q. How do artists get such clean lines in their commercial lettering?

A. Most lettering is done by a computerized type setter. Highly stylized lettering is done with dry transfer type. What you might be referring to is ber I want to see the logo, symbol and a drawing of the back pocket design.

ARTFUL HINT: If your acrylic paint dries too fast add some retarding medium. This will slow drying time up to six hours.

lettering done with a long hair brush and ink, or even a felt tip pen. Draw or brush the word many times. When you find one you like, carefully ink it and clean the lines. White-out or scrape off what you don't like. When it is reproduced the camera picks up the clean black lines.
