Question marks still loom in state school financing

Financing education in Michigan is not as rosy as some reports show.

That assessment was given by Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, in a "state of the State" report given this week to the school board.

Much has been said and many facts have been misrepresented in terms of the current status of the state of Michigan relative to its fiscal standing and its support of education," said Hoben.

"There is no question that the limited income tax has been a shot in the arm in helping to finance education for the fiscal 1983-84 school year. However, one does not have to look far into the future to realize that this is tantamount to a Band-Aid on a cancer."

THREE OMINOUS questions marks face the Legislature in determining financing for education in fiscal '84-85, said Hoben.

The first concern is that the income tax, by design, is in a phase-out mode of operation and will produce considerably less income for the next fiscal

The second concern, said the superintendent, is the effect of the Headlee Amendment which is estimated to produce a deficit of about $129 million during fiscal '83-84.

Hoben said there is talk in Lansing of using more "Oriental-type bookkeeping" by having the state send a check to local districts for its retirement contribution with instructions for the districts to endorse the check and return it to Lansing as "as a means of obviating their responsibility with respect to Headlee.

The third concern, said Hoben, is the Legislature's commitment to the economic stabilization fund.

When all three concerns are combined, he said, there is an estimated shortfall for fiscal '84-85 of about $500 to $800 million statewide.

The tenuous status of the Executive Order that took away and gave back and takes away and gives back - (which in our district amounts to $855,000) must be considered a contingent liability."

Hoben added that it is very realistic to expect an Executive Order cutback will be imposed upon public education during the next fiscal year.

"As in the past, shortfalls of this nature have not been balanced between welfare, state highway, or other elements of the state budget, but direct application of Executive Orders has impacted upon higher education, municipalities and, more importantly, upon local school districts."

Based on that forecast, Hoben stressed, the administration has been advised by its legislative lobbyists to extremely conservative in budgeting

Police nab guns during drug raid

By Arlene Funke staff writer

Michigan State Police officials are tallying and cross-checking more than $20,000 worth of guns seized in a raid on a Canton home last week.

Armed with a search warrant, troopers from the state police criminal investigation section (CIS) in Livonia raided a home on Derby last Tuesday. The investigators were probing reports of alleged drug trafficking at the home, of alleged drug tramexing at the nonic, near Warren Road and Sheldon.

The officers found drugs, but they also "stumbled onto" an estimated $20,000 worth of guns, a quantity of knives, records books and assorted other items in the house, state police officials said.

SEIZED WERE 50 rifles and shotguns and 20 handguns, said Lt. Joseph Koenig, of the CIS narcotics unit. Koenig believes some of items the were bartered for drugs. No arrests have been made, pending completion of lab analyses and data-gathering.

"We're still investigating," Koenig said. "This is a good seizure - an excellent case, really."

None of the confiscated guns were registered to the home's residents, Koenig said. State police investigators have confirmed that some of the impounded weapons were stolen from Plymouth, Westland, Troy and Detroit.

'I think much of this arose from narcotics trafficking," Koenig said. "Maybe we caught them at a bad time."

STATE POLICE investigators are analyzing the drugs, checking finger-prints and working with local police departments to match up items which may have been reported stolen, Koerdy said.

The case could bring possible charges of possession with intent to de-liver marijuana; possession of other controlled substances; possession of stolen property; and conspiracy to commit crimes, Koenig said.

The raid capped a two-month investigation, after state police received tips of unusually heavy traffic to the Derby

Interest rate limits favor small savers

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

The start of October could bring good news to people interested in saving money. Oct. 1 is the date interest rate ceilings and minimum deposit requirements are eliminated for time deposits of more than 31 days maturity at banks and savings and loan associations. After Oct. 1, those institutions can set their own deposit requirements and interest rates for short-term time deposits. The change is expected to bring a wealth of new lower-minimum, higherinterest accounts into the banking in-

"The lower balance requirements will help the small saver to acquire higher yields of return on his money," said Ken Currie, president of First of America - Plymouth. Until now, the higher yielding accounts required large deposits that were tied up for longer periods of time. The effect was that small savers, needing quicker access to their funds, couldn't obtain the higher interest

"The change will allow banks to offer short-term deposits at market rates right around the Treasury bill rate between 9 and 9.5 percent," Currie

He expects to see banks coming out with 90-day time deposits offering market rates on a minimum deposit of

The deregulation of time deposits of more than 31 days should "encourage greater savings on the part of the consumer," he said. While the interest ceilings have been eliminated, penalties for earlier withdrawl still are intact. For time deposits of 32 days to one year maturity, early withdrawals result in the loss of one month's interest. For deposits of more than one year maturity, the penalty is three month's interest. The Depository Institution Deregula-tion Committee (DIDC) recently announced the lifting of regulations as part of its efforts to totally deregulate the banking industry by 1956.

Lean months take toll

Tenants hope promotion will result in turn-around

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

With five tenants recently closing shop at Plymouth's Four Seasons Mall on Forest Avenue, several of the remaining food operators are hoping a new management company can turn things around.

"It's been rough; really, really rough. It shouldn't be as tough as it has been," said Rudolph Giammarco, an employee at the Yankee Noodle cafe.

Giammarco's son and his wife, Pasquale and Angela Giammarco, own the Yankee Noodle, which specializes in an Italian dish called a "Pizza Toodle."

The summer months were profitable for Yankee Noodle, but the fall and winter months are usually at "a break even level," said Pasquale Likewise, the owner of Tony's Crusts and Subs, Tony Farrugia, says his business isn't booming in the 16-cafe mall.

"I had a few good months, but we had a bad winter," said Farrugia, whose shop specializes in submarine sandwiches.

Business was good when the mall opened, but Farrugia said staying out of red ink is now a "day to day"

The mall owners, Farmington attorneys Brace Case and Rodney Sabourin, have hired a new company to handle the mall management the Schostak Management Company, which owns a similar operation in Livonia's Wonderland Mall.

SCHOSTAK IS putting together a complete game plan for Four Seasons which includes marketing and promotional strategies to save the

"If things don't start getting into gear, those people won't be able to survive," said Tom Garrity, assistant vice president for property management at Schostak.

Although Garrity isn't personally sure how long the food mall trend will last, he wants to find tenants to replace the abandoned booths at Four Seasons.

Like the Plymouth mall, food operators have been forced to close shop at the Wonderland Mall emporium. But, unlike Four Seasons, a food emporium in Farmington Hills does a booming business.

Tally Hall, on Orchard Lake near 13 Mile Road, appears to be the most prosperous food mall in the metropolitan area.

Tally Hall's difference is that it is much larger, offers a bigger variety of cafes, and is nicely done, said Garrity.

Other factors Garrity offers for its success are the mall's location and the fact that it was the first food mall in the Detroit area. The loss of tenants at the Plymouth site isn't an indication that business at the mall is bad, Case "If you go to any mall you will find continuous turnover. This is what's happening after one year," he said. FARRUGIA AND GIAMMARCO have their own ideas about why business at their mall has declined. "I don't think we've done a good enough job promoting the mall," Giammarco said. The tenants, on a voluntary basis,

Her love of children has earned Helen Kelly a distinct status in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

At age 67 she is the oldest teacher in the system and has set something of a record by teaching first graders for the past 30 years.

Sitting at her desk recently at Starkweather Elementary in Plymouth, she confided that she just loves to be around children and wouldn't think of moving to another grade.

"It is so satisfying to watch these pupils develop with their studies. And in my role it is just like working with a bit of clay and molding some precious ob-

Kelly has four children of her own—three girls and a boy—and these afternoons, as she looks at the youngsters in her class, she wonders if her love for her grandchildren may someday cause her to retire from teaching. But she doesn't think so.

OVER THE YEARS she has experienced many odd happenings in her school room.

"One day one of the children's fathers came to me and said, 'I don't know how to be a father. I wish you would teach me. I leve my children, but just don't know how to take care of Kelly smiled as she recalled the incident and said, "It is too bad that some children are brought up under such conditions, but this man soon learned his role. But I never will forget his vis-

"As members of the Red Cross we had to act as hostesses when the government leaders came on the visits. I was at the platform the day in Cairo when Winston Churchill and Franklin Roosevelt had their meeting. On other occasions we helped to make the visits of other government leaders pleasant, and I think we entertained everyone but the Germans and Russians."

It was on that assignment with the Red Cross that she met her husband. She likes to look back on her assignment with the Red Cross for war duty.

But she says that she was glad to get back to her first graders.

AS SHE SAT at her desk one of the first graders in her class walked in and was greeted whole-heartedly.

"I have them out on the playground," she said, "learning about baseball. Not the playing of it, in particular, but in the rules of the game. "Today they are working on the lines of the diamond, the batting areas and the like. We teach this first to enable the children to know when they are out of bounds. I feel that you can't enjoy a game or play it properly if you don't Kelly follows the same pinciple in her classroom.

"The first thing I stress is learning to read. If a child can't read, he or she will have a hard time of it. So, to me, reading is the most important thing to teach them."

Kelly was born in Toledo. After attending school there she worked her way through the University of Michigan and graduated in 1941 with a degree in journalism and earned her master's degree in 1959. After graduation she came to Plymouth to teach first grade and has been Runners - often called masochists. morons, anemic anorexics and various other names by a nose-thumbing faction - experience a welcome change of pace upon entering Dr. Bruce Kaczander's office.

Largely because he channeled his own interests and talent into a sports medicine career, Kaczander is finding his job both fulfilling and enjoyable.

A runner as well as a softball, hasketball and racquetball player, the 29-year-old sports podiatrist and enthusi-ast deftly puts himself into his patients' shoes. His practice — established with partner and podiatrist Dr. Brian Kerman in the Canton Professional Plaza on Sheldon Road — is now a year old.

"WHEN PATIENTS WHO are runners come in, we schedule a little more time and give them a little more special attention, primarily to consult and lecture them. It's important," said Kaczander, a West Bloomfield resident who graduated from Southfield High

"Instead of just treating an injury, only to have it recur, we find out why it's recurring. It's all part of the total

A graduate of Michigan State University and the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine, Kaczander last year completed his surgical residency at Straith Memorial Hospital in South-field. There he met Kerman, also a runner, and joined his 13-year-old prac-tice in Madison Heights. The two staff a Wayne and Oakland County office, and work one day a week in area hospi-

WHILE RUNNING RANKS among Kaczander's first loves, an assortment of athletes sock him out.

With soccer booming in popularity among the young, "we're seeing a lot of soccer injuries to the lower extremity (and fewer hobbling Little Leaguers); shin splints in basketball players and many aerobic injuries," said Kaczander, who also treats diabetic patients.

"A lot of the injuries I see can be prevented. A great many of them fall into the over-use category - people doing too much, too fast." Athletes can ward off injury by educating themselves, adds Kaczander who to that end often gives talks, holds clinics and makes available to patients a plethora of reading material, including "The Foot Owner's Manual."

RUNNERS GENERALLY ARE well-educated professionals "who want to know," he adds.

To spread the word about the shortage of sports podiatrists, Kaczander speaks at school career days. He also has volunteered for first aid duty at the Detroit Free Press International Marathon, and America's Marathon in Chicago.

On October 9, Kaczander will assist ailing runners at a medical station 22 miles through the Free Press marathon's 26.2-mile course. Coincidentally, his wife Karen - a runner temporarily sidelined by pregnancy - is expecting the couple's first child right around the 9th of October.

WHILE KACZANDER has run for seven or eight years and still enjoys entering 10-kilometer races and halfmarathons when he can get away, he emphasizes that "running isn't for everyone - from a medical and a nonmedical standpoint."

Children who run marathons before maturing skeletally risk bone deformities because of the repetitive pressure placed on growth centers in the long bones. Others, though physically able to withstand the rigors of running, just may not like it, he says.

But there's no excuse for not keeping physically fit, said Kaczander.

"EVERYONE CAN FIND 20 minutes three or four times a week to per-form some type of exercise. Time should never be a factor."

The personable podiatrist admits that even the well-educated, cautious runner can be injured. Kaczander himself is injured at present and unable to run. It hasn't tempered his passion for the footpaths, however.

"Running can be addictive," he said. 'You don't have to belong to a health club. The only thing you need is a good pair of shoes. You can do it all year, whenever and wherever you want. You can run down your own street. It's a sport easily accessible to everyone."

Dr. Kaczander can tell a lot by analyzing the gait of his patients He begins by looking at the shoulders and works his way down to the hips, knees and feet. If he discovers one shoulder higher than the other, bowleggedness, "toe-walking" or kneek-knee, he may be able to pinpoint a problem. "In a runner, the slightest anatomical abnormalities are exaggerated and can lead to problems," he says. Dr. Kaczander's patients also undergo a biomechanical examination. For those who run more than 30 miles a week or are injury-prone, he prescribes orthotics — sports shoe inserts individually molded to absorb shock while aligning the feet or compensating for limb-length discrepancies.

Runners, hundreds of whom showed up for last year's Plymouth YMCA Fall Run, are here to stay, in the opinion of Dr. Bruce Kaczender. The Canton sports podiatrist says their numbers have jumped from 100,000 in the U.S. in 1968 to 10 million in 1978 and 25-30 million in 1982. Too many of them, because of over-exertion and a lack of education, injure themselves unnecessarily, he Kaczander, who with Dr. Brian Kerman opened a sports podiatry practice a year ago in the Canton Professional Plaza on Sheldon Road.

Kaczander spoke before a group of runners in a free clinic Wednesday at Ford Motor's Sheldon Road facility in Plymouth to kick off the city's 4th Annual YMCA Fall Run. The event featured a one-mile, five-kilometer and 10-kilometer run, boasting a course covering Plymouth's most scenic avenues and residential areas.

Famous exortations from locker rooms

This is the season of the year when thousands upon thousands of persons gather in the football stadia of the land to watch the drama that takes places between the white stripes on the green floor below.

They thrill at the sight of Michigan State pulling the upset of the early season by conquering Notre Dame on the home grounds of the "Fighting Irish" or they groan at the downfall of Michigan in the closing minutes of their battle with Washington in far off Seattle on the Pacific Coast.

But little do they realize that the starkest drama of the day is portrayed in the dressing room just before the

It was stark drama down at South Bend when George Perles, the new Michigan State coach, stood before his team and spoke as the time came to take the field rated as the underdog.

It was a tense moment and justly for the coach for this was his first big game on a new job.

But he met the task — dramatically.

"I just told them," he said after the game, "that this was a game they would long remember. They would live with the dramatic moments the rest of their lives. And I told them to play for their families, too, so they would have fond memories."

Well, you know what happened.

Coach Perles performance was drama at its best and it recalled the day when "Biggie" Munn, another Spartan coach, talked his team into beating the "Well, it better be good. If it isn't just stay out there on the field and I'll see to it that you get a decent burial."

With that he patted his brother on the back and sent him into the fray.

There wasn't an inch gained around brother Jim's side of the field that afternoon. And his old gray-haired mother up in New England got the good news, her coaching son had so des-perately wanted when he spoke those closing words in the pre-game talk.

Isbister authored CEP concept

Sam

Hudson

When Eddie Edgar once asked him why the school district should not be confined to the city and the township, Isbister replied: "We must build schools where the children are, not where we might like to have them." Asked why those who lived outside Plymouth should not pay a small tuition as was done in the old days, Isbister responded: "Why should a youngster be denied a free high school education just because he lives in the wrong place?"

One aspect of Isbister's focus on unity appears in an article he wrote for The Nation's Schools in Sep-

past and present

In the late 1950s, when the state's universities were crowded, Russell Isbister was one of six regional school superintendents who urged their boards to consider the formation of a community college in northwest Wayne County.

The boards responded favorably, citizens' committees were appointed to foster the idea, and the result was Schoolcraft College, established in 1961.

During the 1960s, Isbister and school board member Carl Schulteiss, an engineer, conceived the idea of an educational park for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. They suggested that the school system buy a large tract of land, centrally located, to house the district's high school students and to provide facilities not possible with a decentralized sys-

The proposal for the park referred to the acquisition and development of an educational, cultural, recreational, historical and scenic park near the geographical and future population center of the school district.

Russell Isbister's dream of a unified government for township and city is apparent in several of the phrases used in the proposal. "This facility," it declared, "would be a strong unifying force among the people."

In considering the proposal, the statement read, "citizens should attempt to visualize the Plymouth communty of the future as it relates to emerging larger communities in western Wayne and Washtenaw counties. It is conceivable that the enlarged Ann Arbor community will move rapidly eastward to a point where it may encroach upon the present Plymouth community. Likewise, the push east by Livonia, Westland and Wayne communities will have a similar effect."

The proposal said that action now by those who were interested in preserving the Plymouth com-munity concept could bring to reality "an irresistible power which will ward off any movements, either from within or without, to splinter the community. . . One large open space in the center for all the people should be reserved before it is too late. If one wished to be real bold he might suggest that it be enlarged to include space to house One City Government if, and when, it becomes a reality." (The italics are mine).

VOTERS APPROVED the proposal for what turned out to be Plymouth Centennial Educational

During the 1966-67 school year, 305 acres were purchased on Joy Road between Canton Center and Beck roads. The master plan called for "two pairs of two high schools" with complementary facilities including a school farm, a nature center, wildlife habitat and large open spaces along with athletic

Much of what was planned was carried through, although, as this is written, only two high schools have been built. The school farm (now discontinued) was opened with the aid of a grant of money from the Plymouth Rotary Club. It had full-time farm manager and a variety of livestock. It was used to acquaint school children of the district with farm animals in their natural surroundings.

It is not difficult to see why Isbister and Schulteiss were attracted to the idea of centralization of the high schools. Facilities can be made available under that philosophy that would not be econimically feasible under a decentralized plan. One wonders, however, how they would have applied their visionary minds to the problems that accompanied centralization: the increased traffic, the increased amount of busing, and the problem of con-trolling large numbers of students congregated at one location as opposed to two or more locations. Since they both died prematurely, we will never know

Slim Down with Main Dish Molded Salads

Stim down with a trio of main dish salads to serve on a salad buffet or individually as a meal. They are all big in flavor but low in calories when made with a new Featherweight 87% reduced calorie gelatin.

Here's a new slim-down approach to a calorie controlled meal in a molded salad pretty enough for a party. We've followed the advice of nutritionists by starting with a low-fat protein, adding a vegetable or two and molding them together with a touch of seasoning in a sugar-free fruit flavored gelatin.

The new gelatins, which are 87% lower in calories than regular gelatin, were developed by Featherweight with NutraSweet" (a new sweetener, aspartame) which gives them a natural sweet fruit flavor. They have no sugar, saccharin or salt added.

Our choice for the sparkling layered salad starts with chicken, either cooked or canned, for the protein, and then adds colorful green peas and celery for the vegetables, a light touch of curry and the option of adding some chopped chutney, if you choose. The fresh orange flavor of the gelatin compliments both taste and appearance. Whole blanched almonds add crunch and garnish to a salad with only 126 calories pet serving.

Canned salmon marinated in low calorie Italian dressing is the inspiration for a fish shaped mold. Green onions, shredded carrots and cucumber add color, texture and nutrients while the lemon gelatin accents the color and flavor of the salad. Fresh dill blended with low-fat yogurt make a perfect salad dressing to serve as accompaniment in a seashell. Made with Featherweight gelatin there are only 115 calories per serving in the mold and 18 calories per tablespoon of dressing.

The spicy flavors of gazpacho blend chunks of tuna. cucumber, celery, tomato, green pepper and onion with lemon gelatin to create a colorful and tangy mold with merely 101 calories.

Pick your favorite molded salad and add crisp bread sticks for a good accompaniment. To keep the meal nutritionally balanced and low in calories, add a beverage and fresh

- 2 carrots, pared and shredded
- 1/2 small cucumber, coarsely chopped
- 8-ounce carton low-fat yogurt tablespoons chopped fresh dill or
- 1 teaspoon dried dill weed

Drain salmon and put into a bowl. Pour dressing over salmon and toss with a fork to coat. Cover and marinate in refrigerator 4 hours or overnight. Empty both envelopes of gelatin into a bowl. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add cold water and stir well. Chill until thickened. Add green onlons, carrots, cucumber and marinated salmon to thickened gelatin; mix well. Turn mixture into a lightly oiled 5-1/2-cup fish-shaped mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on a serving plate. Combine yogurt and dill. Serve with the salad.

LAYERED ORANGE CHICKEN SALAD

6 servings

126 calories per serving

- 1 package orange gelatin dessert
- 1 teaspoon instant bouillon chicken flavor
- 1 cup boiling water
- 3 cups cold water
- 18 blanched almonds
- 2 cups coarsely diced cooked chicken
- 1 cup cooked green peas
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 teaspoon curry powder 1 tablespoon chopped chutney (optional)

Empty both envelopes of gelatin into a bowl. Add instant bouillon and boiling water; stir until dissolved. Add cold water and stir well: Chill until thickened but not set. Arrange almonds in bottom of a lightly oiled 2-quart fancy mold. Pour half of thickened gelatin into the mold over the almonds. Chill gelatin until just set. Combine chicken, peas, celery, curry powder, and chutney; add to gelatin in bowl and mix thoroughly. Spoon chicken mixture over set gelatin layer. Chill until firm. Unmold on a serving plate.

When you paint under a hot sun, you don't feel like cooking. Anita didn't feel like it. Hector has one specialty: eating.

We tried one dinner of fast-food hamburgers and all the trimmings, but that didn't hit the spot. Carry-home Chinese food was fine for one meal. We didn't have any leftovers.

The tastiest dinner during the week of painting came from the supermarket. I took time out to shop and bought two 12-ounce packages of frozen breaded chunks of chicken that entitled me to another package free. Those nuggets of white meat took less than 10 minutes to brown in a large skillet of

CEP Marching Band to be in music bowl

The 173-member Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Marching Band will be one of 36 high school marching bands competing Saturday. Oct. 29, at Tropicana Music Bowl at the University of Cincinnati's Nippert Sta-

The event is one of 10 regional competitions sponsored by Tropicana Products of Bradenton, Fla.

The winner of each event will be invited to participate in a national championship in 1984, date and site to be an-

The CEP Marching Band is directed by James Griffith.

Bands will be judged by a panel of high school and college music teachers from across the country. Their individual comments will be recorded on cassette tapes and presented to the bands following their performances.

"Judging is one of the most important aspects of the competiton," says

Dr. Terry Milligan, Tropicans Music Bowl VI-Ohio program director and director of bands at the University of

"Not only are we looking to declare a winner, but we are trying to provide a means by which these bands can improve their performances through the constructive comments and suggestions of the judges."

The contest is a benefit for the Syrian Shrine/Burns Hospital Van Fund and for the participating marching bands.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the CEP Marching Band at 453-3100, Ext. 328, or the Syrian Shrine Temple at 1-513-751-3800.

Milligan added that the program is designed to support, encourage and improve high school music education. More than 3,000 musicians will participate in the music bowl in 1983.

FRAN AND DOUG Kerr invited members of The Ambassadors over to see themselves on cablevision. Doug is soloist in The Ambassadors, a congregation of musicians who produce the big band sound of late 30s and '40s.

The band performed Saturday night at the Plymouth Fall Festival and, later, Jack Wilcox interviewed Doug and Al Townsend, band leader: on his Plymouth Profiles television show. So it was an exuberant gathering of band members, spouses, friends and relatives who assembled to eat, drink and watch

Jack had included a couple of Omnicom film clips of the band's festival performance in his Plymouth Profiles giving the musicians an opportunity to hear and see themselves perform.

They are an interesting group of doctors, bankers, engineers teachers and other professions who make up the band. Al Townsend played trumpet in the Gene Krupa band. All are professional musicians who earn their living in other professions. They play not only the old tunes from the era of the Dorseys, Goodman, Miller, Berrigan and other greats, they play the music of the '50s through the '80s in the big band style.

The Kerrs' party had the flavor of an opening night performance with talk show host Jack Wilcox sharing congratulations with the "big band"

THE 32 SENIOR citizens who spent five days at the Castaways at Port Austin had such a good time, they all want to go back.

Three clubs were represented on the trip — Active Seniors Elks Plymouth Lodge 1780, Y Travelers and the Plymouth Township Seniors. Sparky Kallunki reports that the planned activities included a scavenger hunt, Bingo, dance contest, marshmallow roast on the beach overlooking Saginaw Bay, wine and cheese party, and a lunch picnic where they cooked their own hotdogs.

"Sut the highlights were an old-fashloned hay ride and a costume party," said Sparky. The first place winners were Mr. and Mrs. Mahatma Ghandi, dressed in sheets off their bed. "In real life they are Jack and Margaret Mc Ewen. Jack was a one time Plymouth Township supervisor and claimed he was glad he wasn't running for re-election."

There was a tie for second place between Ray and Margaret Lampron and Ruben and Sparky Kallunki. The Lamprons were Adam and Eve. They wore longjohns complete with fig leaves, apple, rubber snake and huge rubber feet. Ruben was dressed as a pregnant bride carrying a bouquet of weeds and Sparky, in her husband's prisoner (Black and white striped) pajamas, even had a ball and chain.

Sparky said, "We have been on many senior citizen trips, but this was the first time three clubs were together, strangers, and not one harsh word ever spoken. By the time we were ready to come home, everyone was the best of friends."

She said the food was terrific. "They even sent one of the boys into Port Austin to buy oatmeal for those of us who couldn't cope with the big brakfasts every morning. And they ordered a huge banana sheet cake - all decorated - for Karin Wahlstrom, who celebrated her 77th birthday while there."

LOCAL CRAFTERS will be taking part in the Craft Gallery Fair in Davisburg Saturday, Oct. 8. Show hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Springfield Oaks Activity Center on Andersonville Road.

Molly Pemberton of Canton will be at the show with her handcarved wood items. Roberta Barassu, with personalized handpainted Christmas ornaments; Nancy and Tom Lulek with country fold art; Jean Burbank with soft sculpture, and Cathy Cooper with candles, all are from Plymouth.

NORTHVILLE'S AutumnFest '63 and Tivolo Fair will be Friday and Saturday with all kinds of interesting activities. The Northville Historical Society is arranging the Tivoli Fair which will be at the Northville Downs Race Track. There will be 140 exhibitors. All proceeds from the fair will be used to furnish the Wash-Oak Schoolhouse and the blacksmith shop at Mill Race

That hearing, if held, involves Marc Davis, a Wayne County sheriff's deputy, charged with the fatal shooting of his sister-in-law, Kimberly Wilson of Garden City, and the serious wounding of her husband, Todd, and Davis' wife, Mrs. Davis, also a sheriff's deputy, was separated from her husband for several weeks and was living with her sister, Mrs. Wilson, at the time of the shooting in the early morning hours of Sunday, Sept. 18.

Dewey goes to bat for battered women

By Sherry Kehan staff writer

ANE DEWEY has stepped into the role of executive director of First Step at a time when staff members are telling her that violence is escalating in spouse abuse.

She's learning there is also more alcohol-related violence, and that from one-half to three-quarters of First Step's battered clients have unemployed husbands. The martial arts are contributing a new stick that has been used to injure women. Other angry males are still relying on their hands and feet as the weapons of choice to hurt the females in their life.

The staff is also reporting several cases of beatings of a mother by her son, taking his abusive father as a role model. There have also been incidents of a violent husband suddenly turning on a daughter and sexually abusing her.

In August, 95 new clients contacted First Step, the Westland-based agency which helps victims of domestic violence in western Wayne County (except Detroit) and downriver. That was about the same number asking for help in a peak month, November 1979.

Eighty-seven families have used First Step's live-in shelter since it opened in February.

"VIOLENCE WITHIN the family setting should not be tolerated by our

'Violence within the family setting should not be tolerated by our society. Services to help families experiencing such violence must be allowed to continue and expand to meet the need. I see it as my job in this new position to help our services do just that.'

society," declared Dewey. "Services to help families experiencing such violence must be allowed to continue and expand to meet the need. I see it as my job in this new position to help our services do just that."

Dewey comes to the job with a degree in social work from the University of Michigan. Thirty-one years old, her most recent job was as executive director of an agency west of Chicago which provided support services for handi-capped children, adults and their fami-

She grew up in Michigan, and when she saw an advertisement in a Detroit newspaper recently for the position of director of First Step, she decided to try a return to this area.

"I liked the challenge," she said. "It is a good cause. I had been active in women's issues in Detroit. This is a very new field as far as social service is concerned. People are still trying to understand the extent of the problem of domestic violence and find a solution. I'm excited about being involved in a field so new. "I also liked the duties of executive director at the other agency and see this job as a continuation of the duties I had liked. I see one of my main tasks as fund raising and public relations. There is a lot of community outreach to do. Also the preventive aspects of abuse need attention."

She said she thought the job would not be depressing because "progress takes place because of your help.

FIRST STEP was started in 1978 by a coalition formed by the Northwest Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW). Particularly active in the project were Mary Ann Pinkerton of Plymouth, Sheila Nobriga of Livonia and Cathy Aerni, a Westland resident. Also involved was the Rev. Doug Hodges, then the pastor of Norwayne Baptist Church in Westland.

The agency was launched with donations of money and office space from the city of Westland, after which the state, area cities and private organizations made financial contributions. Just recently Westland underlined its continued interest in the program by giving First Step $41,000.
"First Step is very supportive," commented Livonia police officer Anne Dempsey. "The service is real good, and it has helped tremendously. It is an excellent referral for us."

Livonia police officers often hand the First Step information card to women after a call on domestic violence.

Frequently a battered woman re-fuses to prosecute her husband after his attack on her. Dempsey estimated that only 5 percent of the cases go to final prosecution. She thinks it is due to a number of factors.

"There may be an emotional tie," she There may be an emotional tie," she said. "Or after 30 years of marriage, she may not want to give up her lifestyle. She may want to be married to him. First Step kelps her see alternatives open to her."

At the First Step shelter, 43 percent of the women who find temporary refuge there return to the assailant. Fif-

Jurek jaunts spur Rocks

By Bred Emons staff writer

Plymouth Salem coach Tom Moshimer claims that Scott Jurek is an "easy going guy with a dry sense of hu-

That may be true except when the fullback/linebacker steps out on the football field.

The 6-foot-2, 200-pound senior carried the ball 27 times for 102 yards and made a key interception Friday night, pacing the Rocks to a 21-13 victory over visiting Livonia Stevenson in a key Western Lakes Conference encoun-

"Scott's a quiet guy," Moshimer said.
"Actually he's kind of funny."

But Jurek, a major college prospect, wasn't funny to Stevenson, which suffered its first defeat.

"What really hurt us is that we couldn't stop the fullback," said Stevenson coach Jack Reardon. "He's awfully good. He ripped us and got some tough first downs.

JUREK'S INTERCEPTION of a Dan Gilmartin pass with 9:13 to go in the third quarter set up Salem's go-ahead

With the ball on the Stevenson 43, quarterback Mark Tindall got things rolling with an 18-yard keeper. Six plays later, Jurek scored on a fouryard run and Mark Dixon kicked the extra point to make it 14-7.

"That was a key drive," said Moshimer. "That touchdown really picked us up."

At the close of the quarter, Salem's speedy split end Craig Morton returned a Stevenson punt 58 yards to the Spar-

The Rocks then needed only four plays to score, capped by Tindall's fiveyard run with 20 seconds remaining in the period. Dixon kicked his third straight extra point to put Salem in command, 21-7.

The Spartans, however, refused to quit during the final 12 minutes of play.

GILMARTIN, hitting three consecutive passes for 37 yards, marched Stevenson down to the Salem six-yard line. But the Rocks' defense held tough and gained possession of the ball.

But after a Jurek fumble, Stevenson scored with 4:28 remaining on a fiveyard TD run by Steve Bixby. Salem, however, blocked the extra point.

The Rocks then ran out the quarter, making three key first downs to keep the ball away from the Spartans. Tindall and Ken Harmon rushed for 63 and 45 yards, respectively, giving Jurek plenty of support on the ground.

Salem gained 219 yards on the ground and much of the credit should go to blockers David Bunch, Rusty Watson, Paul Smallwood, Pat Walsh and John Nichols.

"THAT OFFENSIVE LINE did a helluva job," said the Salem coach. "They got off the ball real well. When we can get off the ball like we did and with our backs, we can move the foot-

"I think this team came of age a little tonight. And with this win we have an opportunity to do something. Stevenson and Walled Lake Central were the co-favorites in the league.'

Salem will take its 3-0 record Friday night into Livonia Churchill.

On the first play of the second period, Salem tailled its first TD on a 10yard off-tackle dash by Jurek, capping a 55-yard, 11-play drive.

Stevenson railied right before the half on Brian Trainor's 13-yard run. Gilmartin marched the Spartans 65 yards on 10 plays and kept the drive going when he hit tight end Andy Taliaferro over the middle with a key 34-yard pass on third down.

FOR THE NIGHT, Gilmartin completed nine of 18 passes for 115 yards. He was intercepted twice.

Trainor rushed 15 times for 55 yards and Bixby added 36 yards on 13 car-

The Spartans had trouble moving the ball in the first quarter, but opened things up somewhat in the second.

But according to Reardon, the difference was: "He (Jurek) hurt us and Salem had the ball on us quite awhile."

Chris Gilles, shown above in action a year ago, has a shot at getting into the main draw of the Virginia Slims tennis tournament.

Gilles earns a berth in Slims tournament

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Nobody thought Lisa Bonder could do it either.

Lisa Bonder, fresh from her stunning victory in the Queen's Grand Prix tennis tournament in Tokyo, Japan, was a virtually unheard of amateur tennis player from Saline when she won the right to play in the Virginia Slims tennis tourney in Detroit. Though many of the touring professionals at that time bemoaned having an amateur qualify for the main draw, Bonder won her first round and earned her place on the tour. Now Plymouth's Chris Gilles has her shot at getting into the main draw of the Virginia Slims tennis tourney.

GILLES IS ONE of 32 players competing in the Virginia Slims qualifier tournament, beginning Friday, Sept. 30, at the Beverly Hills Raquet Club. The 32 players, all touring professionals except for Gilles, are vying for four open spots in the main draw of the Virginia Slims tourney.

Gilles, a 17-year-old senior from Plymouth Salem High School, has been ranked among the top junior amateurs in the country for the past two years. She won the state high school tennis championships in No. 2 singles as a junior last year, but she opted to forgo high school tennis this

Among the reasons she gave for not playing high school tennis was to be able to play in the Slims tourney.

Gilles is the only local amateur to qualify for the Slims qualifier tourney. She won a mini-tournament last week against seven other local players to gain the berth.

IN THE FINALS of that mini-tourney, Gilles defeated her 15-year-old sister, Wendy, 5-7, 6-1, 6-1. Wendy is also ranked high among national junior amateurs.

In the first round of the mini-tourney, Chris defeated West Bloomfield's Chris Nagel, 6-2, 6-3. Candy Kopetski from Sterling Heights was Chris' next victim, 6-4, 7-6, before she beat Wen-

There was some speculation that both Wendy and Chris would be able to compete in the Slims. Brian Gilles, the girls' father, thought there was a chance that Chris would get a wildcard entry into the Slims' main draw, and Wendy, by virtue of her second-place finish in the mini-tourney, would gain access into the qualifier.

That didn't come about, partially because the wild-card entry went to

"It's sort of exciting," said Chris. "I really think I can win a round. I have played against Lisa (Bonder) a lot, and I have always done well against

She said she didn't much care if she got the wild-card entry or not. The important thing, Chris said, was to have the "chance to compete." Gilles' first match in the qualifier will be at noon, Friday, Sept. 30. Her opponent has yet to be drawn.

Qualifying play runs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited and there is no admission.

Through the past tournament efforts of the Junior League, approximately $1 million has been raised for various community service projects.

But despite the worthwhile efforts, some members of the Junior League were perplexed with the lack of response from the game's stars, who pulled out of the Detroit stop for various reasons.

"I think everybody is very enthusi-astic about it now," said tournament director Joan Stanton. "We're pleased to have Chris and she's a good ticket seller. It's a shot in the arm.

"Things have picked up. There's a lot more interest with the change in the Calender. I think we'll have more of a pop-in crowd than we had before. People are more likely to come down here more in the fall than in the winter because of the weather."

ANDREA JAEGER won the last Detroit tournament, sponsored at the time by Avon, back in February of 1982. The lack of a big-name field and a crippling blizzard during the middle of the tournament cut the attendance somewhat.

Defense and John Stoitsiadis' passing that's really all Livonia Churchill needed.

The Charger defense shut down Plymouth Canton, limiting the Chiefs to 90 yards through the air and less on the ground, while Stoitsiadis shredded the Canton secondary for 186 yards passing in a 14-6 Churchill victory Friday at Churchill.

The win came in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) opener for the Chargers and was their first overall after two defeats. Canton is 0-1 in the WLAA and 0-3 overall.

STOITSIADIS PLAYED a part in both Churchill touchdowns. The Chargers got on the board first, as the senior quarterback capped a 41-yard secondquarter drive by racing around end and into the end zone from three yards out. Matt Wiljanen's kick put Churchill up

In the third quarter, Stoitsiadis connected with John Fraser on an 18-yard scoring pass. Wiljanen's boot increased Churchill's lead to 14-0.

Canton's only score came late in the third quarter, as Jody Spitz hit Dave Knapp on a nine-yard pass to cap a 60-

Stoitsiadis completed nine of 21 tosses for 186 yards and one touchdown, with one intercepted. Irwin Anderson-Smith caught four passes for 101 yards and Fraser hauled in two for 52 and a TD.

Canton quarterbacks Spitz and Tony Aikens combined to complete six of 17 for 90 yards and one score.

Salem balance sinks Farmington

Plymouth Salem clobbered Farmington, 59-28, last Thursday night, but that wasn't enough to satisfy coach Fred Thomann.

"We still have a long way to go," he said. "In terms of the team situation, in terms of defense. We have to play real, real good defense to be successful. Offensively, we have to get better shot selection. We are far from being where we have to be."

Against Farmington, Pam McBride scored 14 points and Dawn Johnson, 13. Fran Whittaker chipped in with nine.

"We got good balance tonight," Tho-mann said. "A lot of people scored. We were also able to defense their one real good scorer tonight."

Salem held Farmington's leading scorer, junior Alyse Fortune, to just six points. Rhonda Lancaster pumped in 15

Salem came flying out of the blocks, surging to a 13-4 first-quarter lead before Farmington knew what hit them.

The Rocks took an 11-point advantage, 27-16, into the second half. A 16-7 spurt in the third quarter put the game away.

Salem will host Northville on Tuesday, then face undefeated Livonia Bentley on the road Thursday.

Down by 24 points entering the fourth quarter, Canton stormed back to get within five points with about 1:30 left in the game. Churchill, however, individual skills to handle that kind of held onto the ball and the lead. The Chiefs outscored Churchill, 23-7 in the final eight minutes.

> We finally decided to play a little basketball," said an exasperated Canton coach Phyllis Cunningham Mulroy. "But, we couldn't outdo the damage we had already done.'

Guard Beth Frigge was the catalyst of Canton's furious fourth-quarter rally. She anchored the pressure defense, forcing steals and turnovers. She popped in six points in that final stanza.

"We did not react to what Churchill was doing," Mulroy said. Consequently, the Chargers raced to a 22-6 first-quarter lead. They led 32-12 at the half.

"There were many positive things that came out of this game. We proved we can come back. It's nice to know that we are not going to give up," Mulroy said.

She was also pleased with the Chiefs'

Churchill edges Canton, Late goal carries Salem

By Paul King special writer

Livonia Churchill is still unbeaten in boys'

The Chargers had their collective hands full Thursday before prevailing over Plymouth Canton, 2-1, at Churchill.

The Chiefs' Tom Wright got the only goal of the first half on a deflection off a Churchill defender.

The Chargers got back into it offensively largely due to the efforts of Chris Rose. Churchill tied it at the 6:29 mark of the second half on Ray Galasso's 15-yard drive, with Rose picking up the assist.

Before the midway point of the second half, Rose struck again, netting his first goal and the eventual gamewinner. Mike Duckworth drew the assist.

Rose's offensive efforts were matched by Churchill goalie Sam Matovski, who turned aside 20 of 21 Canton shots. Churchill had 13 shots in the
