

Home break-ins up during 1983

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

House burglaries and traffic accilents top the list of increased crimes for 1983 in the Plymouth community.

The number of major crimes against people (such as homicide, assault and robbery) showed little change from ry) showed little change from 1982 figures.

The 1983 crime statistics were released last week by Plymouth Police Chief Ralph White and township Chief Carl Berry. Because the Plymouth po-lice department is contracted to pro-vide service in the township, the figures include totals for both municipali-

"B&Es (breaking and enterings) and accidents are our number-one problem. We are very concerned about these areas," Berry said.

RESIDENTIAL BREAK-INS in-creased from 192 in '82, to 261 in '83. The major portion of that increase oc-curred in the township, where residential burglaries went from 125 in '82 to. 184 in '83.

The increase in B&Es is happening all over the entire area, not just Plymouth," White said. "Our B&Es probably are being done by the same group of individuals they are arraigned and released on bond and continue to B&E while await-ing trial. That's not the entire problem, but a big part of it," he said.

The motivation for many of the break-ins is drugs, according to White. "Items are more easily fenced now. They are fencing the items for drugs rather than money. Commercial flea markets very well may be where most of the stolen property is going." To comhat the home burglary prob-lem, the township has concentrated on forming Neighborhood Watch groups. White said the neighborhood groups are White said the neighborhood groups are the best way to curb the increasing trend, and he will be promoting such groups in the city.

Conversely, the number of business break-ins decreased last year, from 128 in '82 to 70'in '83.

"More and more busine vesting in alarms. Also, people break into businesses for other items," White into bus said.

Amateur business burglars usually are after money. However, since stolen goods from homes are easily fenced, the amateurs most likely are moving into the home break-ins, he said.

"The professionals which break into busines es are after the safe or precious metals. The professional burglary is a trendy type of thing. They come in

If the Mayflower Hotel's slogan that "more people eat than swim" is true, General Manager Scott Lorenz believes those people prefer to eat where the excitement is.

By Gary M. Cates

staff writer

Lorenz is a driving force behind the ice scupiture festival held for the second time in Plymouth last weekend. He also is the driving force behind the annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival held in July, as well as Plymouth's Canadian par value program which went statewide this year.

But don't misunderstand Lorenz's intentiot. While the special events he or-ganizes do generate business for the ho-tel, his main desire is promoting Plymouth.

A close review of last weekend's ice festival demonstrates Lorenz's ability to attract the needed attention for special events. Bouncing with enthusiasm about the event, Lorenz, carefully makes sure every angle is covered. AS OF FRIDAY, the ice festival had received plenty of media attention. Be-sides coverage from all three Detroit television stations, the local newspa-pers and radio stations, publications from across the nation ran stories about the festival.

Lorenz calls this the pre-publicity. The purpose of the coverage before-hand is to attract people to the event. he said.

"The coverage after the event is great - the stuff like, there was an ice spectacular held in Plymouth last weekend. But the coverage beforehand is what we need to get people out here." he said.

"The pre-publicity this year is just exactly what we wanted."

Even as the ice blocks were being placed in Kellogg Park Friday, one could sense the excitement in the community. The streets were beginning to fill with people. Student groups and chefs filled the park as they chipped away on their masterpieces, while work crews carefully unloaded sculpted ice blocks.

It was obvious this year's ice festival was going to be a "chilling" success far exceeding last year's festival.

However, last year's restival. However, last year's restival was the first. It was a building block for Lorenz and City Manager Henry Graper, who helped develop the idea. Armed with photographs and docu-mentation of the first festival, Lorenz embarited on the task of making the second ice spectacular à success months in advance.

While lining up sponsors for the sec-ond festival, he pumped out press re-leases totall the travel and news publi-cations he thought would be interested. ON PRIDAY, the fruits of his efforts started to pay off. Guesta from Pennsylvannia checked into the hotal for the festival. A travel columnist from the New York Daily News flew into Metro Airport to cover the event. An executive in Cleveland called Plymouth to get a room for the weekend festival. A tour group bus pulled up in front of the hotel full of major hotels," he said. guests.

"I've already got people calling to say they want to help out next year. This is just the tip of the iceberg.'

This year Lorenz was able to attract many chefs from around the Detroit area. He even brought in an ice carver from Caesar's Palace.

"We will use that (the Caesar's Palace ice carver) to draw interest from other five-star hotels.

"I got letters already written somewhere on my desk to attract the other

what's inside

By promoting the big name hotels, Lorenz hopes to turn the Plymouth festival into a prestigious carving competition.

"It's like the first balloon festival. I was calling pilots trying to convince them to fly in it. Now I have to cap it at 43."

Few people now doubt Lorenz when he says the ice festival will become a major attraction. Somehow he's found the way to make his dreams become a reality.

Dr. Crosby to share findings

Dr. Emeral Crosby, the only Michigan educa-tor to serve on the Reagan administration's commission on excellence in education, is expected to draw a sizeable crowd when he speaks at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 18, in the Central Middle School gym in Plymouth.

With 15 others, Crosby recently published "A Nation at Risk," results and analysis of a study that still is sending shock waves through the U.S. educational community.

Greg Owens, principal at Central, described Crosby as a "motivator and catalyst who gets you to think. Parents can relate to what

"How truly surprising—the revelation that these agonies were merely signals trying to tell me that a few little bones here and there, mainly in my neck, were 'stuck together' or a little out of alignment. Do you ask me how I know this is true? It's simple; after a few chiropractic adjustments and some excercises designed to limber up my neck, these symptoms have disappeared. A fellow migraine sufferer will probably agree with me that my description of the hammers pounding on the metal bowf is too timid. The only way a person can know the degree of

Veterinary practice has changed with the times

(Part I)

The books of Yorkshire, England veterinarian James Herriot, and the television series they inspired, have done more to call attention to veterinary medicine and its practitioners than anything else since the first veterinary school was founded in Lyons, France, more than 200 years ago. Although the TV series shows Herriot and his partner treating the occasional cat or dog, most of the footage involves work with ailing livestock horses, cows, sheep or pigs. That also was true of Plymouth veterinarians of the past, before the dwindling of farms in this area.

In 1860, for example, when Plymouth's veterinary surgeon was a man named A. Dodge - and the village pro-vided a living for four blacksmiths, four wagon makers, two livery stable operators, a tanner and a harness maker - there is no doubt that Dr. Dodge spent more of his time on livestock than he did on pets. The same could be said of Plymouth veterinarians in the 1890s, when farmers exhibited their prize bulls at the Plymouth Fair, and local businessmen entered horses in the trotting, pacing and half-mile running races held annually at the fairgrounds, southwest of the railroad crossing at Ann Arbor Trail.

When they weren't treating livestock, vets who practiced here at the turn of the century were probably treating working dogs, numerous during the days when Plymouth was a sheep-raising center and John Gunsolly's Carding Mill was a going business. It still was true in 1925 when Dr.

E.B. Cavell of Northville advertised in the Plymouth Mail that he gave special attention to the treatment of dogs and cats. That he was ahead of his time is evident in his singling out of pets for special notice.

LIVESTOCK STILL occupied a good part of many veterinarians' practices as late as the 1950s when I arrived here.

But in 1984 a vet in Plymouth who does not administer to dogs and cats has little or no practice, There are exceptions to any generalization, of course: there is the Territorial Veterinary Clinic, for example, conducted by Drs. Richard A. Thompson and Douglas Engers, which takes large as well as small animals. And there are veterinarians who specialize in handling racehorses, such as those at the Northville Race Track.

But, in general, the veterinarian in urban and suburban areasitoday sees mostly pets, including not only dogs and cats but birds and exotic wildlife.

To find out what is going on in the field of veterinary medicine today, I recently interviewed Dr. Clifford A. McClumpha and Dr. Richard Kirchgatter; both of the Parkway Veterinary Clinic. First, I talked with Dr. McClumpha, who was born in the area and who remembers some of the practitioners of the past.

There was Ted Cavell, whose office was at the corner of Harvey and Ann Arbor Road, I believe he was the son of the Northville Cavell who advertised in 1925. There was Dr. Cass Kershaw. whose office was on Wayne Road and Ann Arbor Trail, but who covered the Plymouth area.

For a short time in the 1960s. Dr. Andrew Kalmus also practiced in Plym-rected a horse care and farm management course at Schoolcraft College, attracting a large number of enrollees. The 16-week course, since discontinued, included instruction in feeding, hors shoeing, breeding, horsemanship, training, farm management and com-mon ailments and diseases.

AND THERE WAS Dr. McClumpha's predecessor at the Parkway Veterinary Clinic, Dr. Wesley Lickfeldt.

Lickfeldt established the clinic at its esent locaion on Wilcox Road about 1949. McClumpha, who worked with him from 1958 to 1964, says Dr. Lickfeldt's specialty was horses. He made calls not only in Plymouth but in Canton, Livonia, Westland, Redford, Northville, Belleville and South Lyon. After selling the clinic to McClumpha in 1964, Lickfeldt began a smiliar practice in Arizona where he now lives.

McClumpha himself gravitated toward veterinary medicine as a result of a boyhood spent on a local farm. His family on both sides were among the first settlers to arrive in the area in the 1820s. The McClumphas, who came from the east, owned large acreage on both sides of McClumpha Road at the outh. It was Kalmus, in 1965, who di- linses, his mother's side, arrived at about the same time from Canada.

O&E Monday, January 16, 1984

Cliff and Rita McClumpha now live on a 25-acre farm on Warren Road. It is all that is left of a 400-acre tract that Alfred Moore bought from the U.S. Government in the 1820s for $1.25 an acre. The remainder of the property was subdivided long ago.

Cliff's father inherited the family farm but spent most of his working life as a surveyor for Herald Hammill. From the time he was 15 until he went to college, Cliff uperated the farm, raising wheat, corn and hogs and taking care of a team of horses. He graduated from Plymouth High School in 1950 and earned his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Michigan State University. (When the university was founded in 1857 as the first state college of agriculture in the U.S., veterinary arts was among the first courses taught).

Three years after his graduation from MSU, McClumpha married Rita Datcher who was from Nankin Township but attended Plymouth High: They have four children. One of them, Denese, teaches English in Madrid, Spain.

More grades need language

To the editor:

An open letter to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

While the board is in the process of considering middle school curriculum changes due to conversion to a six-period day, I would like to make several suggestions regarding the foreign language program:

1. I feel that foreign languages should be offered to seventh and eighth-grade students.

2. Though I believe it is preferable to offer all interested students this option, if this is not possible for 1984-85. at least the TAG (talented and gifted) students should be given this opportunity. I am a German teacher in three

Plymouth middle schools. I feel foreign languages should be offered earlier for several reasons. Research shows a child's ear (or the ability to attain a good accent) is much keener at a younger age.

Also, in the seventh grade, there is more opportunity to relax and enjoy a language. By ninth grade, there are many other difficult subjects which require a lot of homework. There is pressure to crowd a lot of work into German I in ninth grade, so that the middle school students will not be at a disadvantage in German II, where they join portunity to incorporate music, culture, geography, and many of the the aspects which enrich a language class and make it a total learning experience. I envision a seventh and eighth grade class called German language and culture. which would give some fundamentals in the language as well as an appreciation for the people, customs, and arts of Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Certainly, similar courses in Spanish or French language and culture might also be offered.

For one semester I taught English as foreign language in a high school in Germany. My students had started English in the fifth grade and were remarkably fluent in my 10th 13th-grade classes. I see no reason why American schools cannot do an equally competent job in teaching foreign languages

I am a resident of Ann Arbor where foreign language classes start in seventh grade (alternating with gym) and continue as a full five-day course in eighth grade. Students also can begin German in ninth grade. I have been very appreciative of the foreign language classes my own children have. This year I have a son in seventh grade German and a daughter in 10th grade German.

The recommendations of the National Commission on Excellence in Education included a renewed emphasis on foreign languages. There is evidence that interest in languages is increasing in our district. If students are given an earlier opportunity to elect language

The elderly can add spunk to life

On these cold winter mornings, when a fellow is tired of the slippery sidewalks and the piles of snow and needs a bit of inspiration, the last place you would expect him to look would be an old folks home.

But, strangely, The Stroller had his spirits lifted in some of the most unexected places.

So he paid a visit to the Tonquish Creek Manor to have a chat with the oldest resident - Mae Harris - and it was one of the most interesting visits he has had in a long time.

At the age of 95 she was looking forward to a visit during the holidays and when asked which was the best Christmas she ever enjoyed, she didn't hesi-tate to answer, "This one coming up."

The answer surprised The Stroller. He had expected to be told about a yuletide of her youth. But she didn't look back.

"I am going to be with my family, and I can't wait to be with them.'

An interesting note to the traffic enforcement category is the decrease in the number of drunkdriving citations, from 92 in '82 to 73 in '83. That decrease took place despite the implementation of a drunk driving task force last summer.

One homicide was reported, the result of the Old Village Inn arson early in '83. This compares to no murders in '82.

Cooking for a mini-household can be a maxi-headache! Most readily available main-dish recipes are family-sized and not always easy to cut down. And, if your refrigerator or freezer space is minimal, leftovers can be a problem. Although more and more food manufacturers are recognizing the need for smaller packages, the selection currently on the market falls short of the variety available for bigger families.

So, how do you avoid the rut of more-expensivethan-you'd-like, but easy-to-make-for-two, entrees? Head for the dairy case! Eggs are conveniently packaged and wonderfully versatile. For starters, they can be fried, scrambled. cooked in the shell, poached and baked. And, if you're looking for a more exciting culinary adventure, eggs can be made into omelets, quiches, souffles, skillet scrambles, sandwiches and salads.

Not only are these dishes easy to make, but they can be varied endlessly because eggs go well with almost everything. Since a serving of two contains all the protein you need for a meal, round out the menu with cheese, milk and other dairy products and fresh fruits and vegetables that you can buy in just-what-you-want quantities. A number of vegetables are sold in small cans, too. And, the IQF (individually quick frozen) vegetables are especially handy since you can easily pour out part of the package and keep the rest frozen for later.

For carbohydrates, buy a small loaf of bread and save freezer space for the slices you can't use within a few days. Both rice and pasta are as easy to cook for two as they are for a larger family. Herbs and spices are terrific flavor enhancers, but they can be an expensive investment if you don't use them often. To preserve their aroma as long as possible, store them away from heat, light and moisture. Consider sharing them with a friend or neighbor. Put half a bottle's worth into a tightly sealed plastic bag for -swapping.

Once you let your imagination soar, cooking for two can be an interesting challenge instead of a chore. Pick up a dozen eggs or two and start by trying the recipes here. Then, check the captions for ideas on how you can make each one an appetizing new dish the next time you're cooking for just the two of you.

HEARTY EGG SKILLET BAKE

2 servings

Designed for twosomes with big appetites, this "baked" egg dish cooks on top of the range. Next time you make it, eliminate the mushrooms and use a tablespoon or so of chopped green chiles and yellow onions in place of the celery and green onions. Spark with a dash of chili powder instead of caraway and top with Jack cheese for a south-of-the-border flavor.

- 1-1/3 cups sliced fresh mushrooms OR 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1/2 cup sliced celery

Sunday and the second states

- 1/2 cup chopped green onions with tops 1/4 cup butter
- cups (12 oz.) frozen Southern-style hash brown potatoes

1/2 teaspoon salt

- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
- eggs
- 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Gruyere or Swiss cheese

In 8-incb omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook mushipoms, ellery and onions in butter until crisp-tender, about 4 minutes. Stir in potatoes, salt and caraway seed and continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until potatoes begin to brown, about 10 minutes 10 minutes.

With a spoon, make 4 indentations in potato mix-ture. Break and slip an egg into each indentation. Cover and continue cooking over low to medium heat until eggs are almost set, about 3 to 5 minutes. Uncover and springle with sheets. Re-cover and continue cooking until enge are desired degree of doing tess, about 3 to 4 minutes.

QUICHE TARTS FOR TWO

2 servings

These tarts are elegant, but ever so easy, since toast cups replace the traditional pastry crust. The second time around, substitute pimiento and green pepper for the mushrooms and onions, and Cheddar cheese and crushed basil leaves for the Gouda and dill.

- 8 slices whole wheat bread 4 eggs, well heaten 2/3 cup sliced fresh mushrooms OR 1 can (2 oz.) sliced
- mushrooms, drained 1/4 cup chopped green onions with tops

1 tablespoon butter 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Gouda or Swiss cheese 2/3 cup dairy sour cream 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon dill weed

Cut crusts from bread and discard or save for another use. With a rolling pin, roll bread until very flat. For each 2 slices, place 1 slice on top of another, turning 1/4 turn to make an 8-pointed figure. Roll again. Fit 2 rolled slices into each of 4 lightly greased 6-ounce custard cups, pressing to fit to cups. Brush with small amount of the beaten eggs. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven 5 minutes.

In small omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook mushrooms and onions in butter until tender but not brown, about 3 minutes. Spoon about 1-1/2 tablespoons of the mushroom mixture and 2 tablespoons of the chcese into each bread-lined cup. Beat together remaining eggs, sour cream, salt and dill weed. Pour about 1/3 cup of the egg mixture over mushrooms and cheese in each cup.

Bake in preheated 350°F. oven until knife inserted near center comes out clean, about 20 to 25 minutes.

FRITTATA FLORENTINE

2 servings

The filling cooks along with the eggs in this unfolded omelet variation. When fresh spinach isn't available, skip the bacon and try sauteed chopped onion and shredded zucchini. Add a pinch of crushed oregano leaves for zip.

4 slices bacon, diced

4 thin slices tomato 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded

3-1/2 cups (about 6 to 7 oz.) chopped fresh spinach, cooked and drained Cheddar cheese

In 6-inch omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook bacon until crisp. Remove from pan, drain and set aside. Pour off all but 1 tablespoon of bacon drippings. Beat together eggs and spinach. Stir in reserved bacon. Heat reserved bacon drippings in pan over medium heat until hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. Cook over low to medium heat until eggs are almost set, 8 to 10 minutes. Arrange tomato slices on top. Sprinkle with cheese. Cover pan, remove from heat, and let stand until eggs are completely set, about 5 minutes.

BASQUE EGGS 2 servings

In the Basque area of southwestern France, a zestily flavored tomato mixture is scrambled right in with the eggs for a dish called Piperade. In this version, the "sauce" serves as a topper for your choice of fried, poached or scrambled eggs. When you're in a more fancy mood, use it as a filling or topper for omelets.

1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes, 1 to 2 cloves garlic, minced undrained 1/2 cup chopped green pepper 1/2 cup chopped onion

4 eggs 4 slices Italian or French bread, toasted

Place tomatoes, pepper, onion and garlic in small saucepan. Stir to break up tomatoes. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until liquid evaporates, about 20 minutes. Meanwhile, fry, poach or scramble eggs. For each serving, place either 2 fried or poached eggs or 1/2 of the scrambled eggs on 2 slices toast. Spoon tomato mixture over eggs.

CORN PUDDING SOUFFLES 2 servings

If you've never made a souffle, give this modern, streamlined recipe a whirl. And, if corn doesn't appeal to you, stir in about a cup of shredded, cooked and well-drained carrot and 1/4 teaspoon dill weed.

2	tablespoons butter	1/2	cup (2 oz.) shredded Cheddar
2	tablespoons flour		or Colby cheese
12	teaspoons instant minced	2	eggs, separated
	onion	1/4	teaspoon cream of tartar
/8	teaspoon paprika	1	can (7 to 8-3/4 oz.) whole
	Dash salt		kernel golden corn, drained
12	cup milk

In small saucepan over medium-high heat, melt butter. Blend in flour, onion, paprika and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Stir in milk all at once. Cook and stir until mixture boils and is smooth and thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in cheese until melted. Set aside.

In small mixing bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar at high speed until stiff but not dry, just until whites no longer slip when bowl is tilted. Thoroughly blend egg yolks into reserved sauce. Stir in corn. Gently, but thoroughly, fold yolk mixture into whites. Carefully pour into 2 (12 oz. each) soulfle dishes or casseroles. For a "top hat", hold spoon upright and circle mixture to make ring about 1 inch from side of dish and 1 inch deep.

Bake in preheated 350°F. oven until puffy, delicately browned and souffles shake slightly when oven rack is gently moved back and forth, about 20 to 30 minutes. Serve immediately.

For soup nuts, a nutty choice

I'm a nut about soup so I re-created a favorite I had at a fancy restaurant in Mexico City. My wife agreed that the walnut soup tasted as good as the one served at the Hacienda de los Morales. She likes it hot; I prefer it chilled.

I also tried a recipe for almond soup that I suspected would be on the sweet side. Anita didn't care for it, suggesting I eat it after the meal.

It's the first time I've had soup for dessert.

ALMOND SOUP % cup finely chopped blanched al 3% cups milk 1 tbsp. cornstarch 14 cups heavy cream 3 egg yolks

3 thsp. confectioners sugar

Bring 3 cups milk to boil with al-monds, reduce heat to medium low and simmer several minutes. Blend cornstarch and ¼ cup milk, pour in large pot, stir in hot milk and almonds with wooden spoon. In blender or food processor, blend cream, eggs, sugar and cinnamon and stir into milk. Serve hot or chill and serve cold. Serves 4-6. WALNUT SOUP

1 cup websuts 1 small onlos, coarsely chopped 3 cup chickien broth 2 thep. butter 2 thep. all-purpose flour 1% cups half and half 1 bay leaf % tsp. white pepper

Cover walnuts with boiling water, let stand 5 minutes, drain and pull off loose dark skips. In blender or food pro-cessor, purce walnuts, onion and 1 cup broth. Melt builter in large saucepan, stie in flour, cook on medium low heat prote, melt putter in targe saucepah, stir in flour, cook on medium low heat 1 minute, stirring, gradually stir in half and half and add bay leaf. Cook on me-dium heat, occasionally stirring, until mixture comes to boil and thickens. Add walnut mixture, remaining broth, pepper and salt and cook 30 minutes, frequently stirring until soup thickens slightly; turn down a notch if it bubbles. Remove bay leaf. Serve hot or chill and serve cold. Garnish with parsley or chives. Serves 4-6.

St. John's Seminary to host mini-concert

The beautiful chapel of St. John's Seminary in Plymouth Township has been selected as the location for the second mini-concert of 1983-84 season presented by the Plymouth Symphony Society.

The concert will be at 4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 22, in the seminary on Five Mile just east of Sheldon Road. A cheese and wine reception will follow the performance. Tickets at $5 per person are available in advance at Beitner Jewelry, 905 W. Ann Arbor Trail, or Hammell Music Inc., 331 N. Main, Plymouth. Tickets also may be purchased at the door, the day of the concert.

"An Afternoon of Chamber Music" for winds and piano will feature "Quintet for Piano and Winds" by Mozart, and "Trio for Oboe. Bassoon and Piano" by Poulenc phony Orchestra. Treva Womble, oboe; Robert Williams, bassoon; Douglas Cornelsen, clarinet; and Corbin Wagner, french horn, will be joined by pianist Pauline Martin for the mini-concert. Treva Womble and Robert Williams, residents of Canton Township, are husband and wife. Pianist Martin, lived in the Plymouth area until recently when she moved to Birmingham.

The mini-concerts were introduced this season to provide music for smaller audiences in a more intimate setting than the auditorium. Concert-goers also have an opportunity to meet the guest artists at the reception after the performance.

The Plymouth Symphony's next regularly scheduled program will be Sunday, Feb. 5, in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium. Maestro Johan van der Merve will conduct in an all-orchestral program.

'Everyday Life in Russia'

Plymouth Town Hall topic

Nila Magidoff says, "How life in the Sovi-et Union has changed." She has returned to 19her native Russia many times since she left, alone, at the outbreak of World War II.

1710

Magidoff will be at the Penn Theater in Plymouth at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 1, the third speaker in the Town Hall Series. The topic of her talk will be "Everyday Life in the Soviet Union Today."

She is the wife of former NBC correspondent, Robert Magidoff. While her hus-band was doing his radio broadcasts from Moscow during the war years, Nila Magidoff was speaking at War Bond rallies from Madison Square Gardens to the Rose Bowl. the became an enthusiastic and patriotic U.S. citizen.

During her years in Russia, she led many yes. She went to Moscow after she finished schooling. She worked in factories, exored the wilds of central Asia, traveled nd Europe and became an author.

HE SURVIVED a life of extreme poverty, hard work and exile to Siberia.

But her energy, vivacity and irrepressible sense of humor, could not be suppressed by the iron-handed Soviets.

After the war and as a United States citizen, she rejoined her husband in Moscow. They left Russia when he was expelled on charges of spying for the United States. The Magidoffs said these were "trumped up' charges.

She has been back many times since then, keeping track of changing conditions there. On her first return trip to Russia, she tra-veled with her friend and biographer, Willie Snow Ethridge. Mrs. Ethridge's book on their experiences together is entitled, "Russian Duet."

Magidoff and author-humorist Irene Kampen went to Moscow recently. They rented a Russian "Drive Ur-self" car and drove some 3,000 miles across the Soviet Union. The account of their hilarious experiences is recounted in Kampen's book,

"Are You Carrying Any Gold or Living Relatives?" The title is the direct quote of a customs official. Kampen was a Plymouth Town Hall speaker last season.

THE TOWN Hall Series is arranged by the Friends of Y, in support of the Plymouth Community Family Y Building Fund. The Feb. 1 lecture will be the third in a series of four for the 1983-84 season.

Those who do not have season tickets may call Janet McKelvey, 453-8865, for reservations. Donation at the door is $7.50. A celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House will be directly after the lecture. For information about the luncheon, call 453-8865. Reservations must be made in advance.

Luncheon guests will have an opportunity to present questions to Magidoff in an informal session following the meal.

In her talk, she will discuss the growing resurgence of religion, the underground press, and the "Americanization" of the Russian people.

Burt Reynolds finds the ladies irresistible and develops a complex in "The Man Who Loved Women."

It's a real turn-off seeing macho man cope with women

If you enjoy ego-tripping with Burt Reynolds, then "The Man Who Loved Women" is for you. The film is well photographed and attractively set in the slicker parts of Los Angeles and Houston. And it has lots of pretty girls.

But, are you ready for Reynolds as a sculptor so psychologically crippled that he can't enjoy artistic renown, and success with every beauty he approaches?

That's the story of "The Man Who Loved Women." Successful sculptor David Fowler (Reynolds) is so disabled with oedipal contortions because of his mother's loose morals (and no identifiable father) that he is compelled to seduce every good-looking woman he can. Supposedly he does it so well that they love him for it. Eventually he becomes psychologically paralyzed and unable to make decision

He seeks help from psychiatrist Marianna (Julie Andrews). The film is told in flashbacks from her couch. Those flashbacks, in turn, are derived from her voice-over reflections at his funeral, an elaborate occasion which opens the film with numerous lovely young girls debarking from black limousines.

AMONG HIS REFLECTIONS are several sequences with Louise (Kim Basinger), wife of Houston oilman Roy (Barry Corbin). She's devoted to kinky sex in dangerous situations. Basinger is lovely and energetic, tackling her role with considerable elan, but the crux of this film's problem is the embarrassed hesitancy with which Reynolds accepts her favors.

If this all sounds like a showcase for macho-man Reynolds, you're right, even though director Blake Edwards ("Breakfast at Tiffany's," "Days of Wine and Roses," "10". and "Victor/Victoria") notes it wasn't meant to be that way. Edwards has said, "When I saw Truffaut's 'Man Who Loved Women' I was excited by the idea of exploring, in greater depth, at im ible question. What's the difference between truly lov. ing women and merely making love to women? Who is the lover, who the womanizer?" A noble intention but it won't wash when you set Reynolds and his macho/comedy image in the slick and glitzy surroundings of his macho/comedy image in the slick and glitzy surroundings of Southern California and Houston oil palaces. All those people may be psychologically disturbed but the images are too polished to convey anything but material success. No matter how many times Andrews' sensitive, clipped British voice-over reports how much David Fowler has given to women, and that's why they love him so, the audience never sees what he has given, only what he takes and then only enough of that to consult a marginal titillation qualify as marginal titillation.

HIS ONLY TRULY GIVING act is to a prostitute, Nancy (Jen-nifer Edwards), who becomes his studio assistant and miraculously so artistically inclined as to strain our credulity. The trouble with "The Man Who Loved Women" is credibility. It isn't possible to believe all the foolishness projected. Reynolds as a psychologically disabled lady-killer is tough enough. But his sud-den cure because of a good view of his lady psychiatrist's thighs during an earthquake is beyond belief. The fact that she won't marry him leads to a relapse, an auto accident and, just when the intensive care nurse tells him (and the audience) that he's going to recover, he falls out of bed and dies trying to get a better view of the nurse's body silhouetted in a thin uniform against the light. Do you believe all that? It may be what happens on the screen but it isn't at all convincing. In fact, it is silly watching Burt Rey-nolds self-consciously ego-tripping with lots of sexy young girls. Feminists, quite rightly, should be offended by this film as it exploits women, pure and simple. Everyone should be offended that an accomplished filmmaker like Edwards would star his talented with Audatom in such measure talented wife Andrews in such nonsense.

Instrumental in Canton's 54-52 upset win over powerful Livonia Stevenson was senior guard Mark Bennett (pictured in an earlier game), who scored 14 fourth-quarter points to trigger a come-from-behind victory Friday night.

Upset city! Chiefs stun Stevenson

By Chris McCosky staff writer

It will go down as the greatest win in the history of Plymouth Canton basketball since Scott Adler, Dave Visser and company bested Plymouth Salem in the district championship back in 1980.

The Chiefs, trailing by as many as seven points in the third quarter, chipped and chipped until finally highly touted Livonia Stevenson crumbled, 54-52.

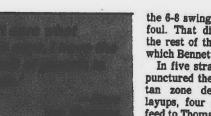

"No way is Canton a better basketball team than we are," said angry Stevenson coach George Van Wagoner. 'We just played right into their hands."

It's hard to argue with him. Steven-son entered the game with a 7-1 record, having just beaten Livonia Bentley on Tuesday. The Chiefs (6-2) were coming off a disheartening loss to Livonia Churchill.

Then there was the size advantage. Everyone of the Spartan starters are as tall or taller than Canton's tallest man. Stevenson's starting front line went 6-8, 6-6 and 6-4. Canton's went 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

BUT FOR THIS one night, for this one snowy Friday night at Stevenson High School, Canton was the better team - for three reasons: Mark Bennett, Gary Thomas and Stevenson's inability, or unwillingness, to go inside. "I don't care what anyone says," said

Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner (nephew of the Stevenson coach), "I have the best pair of guards in the area. People don't know about Mark good guards and so does Salem, but my kid is the best." It was Bennett who took charge in who kept Canton in the game until then.

Thomas, a diminutive 140-pound sharp-shooting guard, missed his first four shots in the first quarter. Then he made six in a row, all from long range. He added six more points in the third quarter to help Canton chip the Spartans lead down to two, 39-37.

Thomas finished with 21 points, hitting eight of 18 shots.

BENNETT STOLE the show in the fourth quarter. With 6:10 left, he hit a bomb from beyond the top of the key to tie the score at 39. The score went back was fouled. He missed the front end of and forth seven times as Bennett a one-and-one, and Sluka was fouled on traded hoops with Stevenson's Bob Slu- the rebound. ka and Tom Domako.

With 4:56 left in the game, Domako, the 6-8 swingman, picked up his fourth foul. That dictated Canton's strategy the rest of the way. Drive the middle, which Bennett did like a master.

(P,G)10

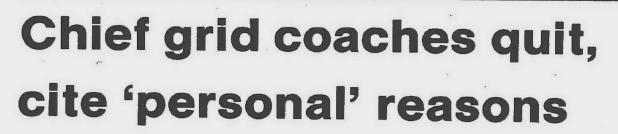

In five straight possessions, Bennett punctured the mid section of the Spartan zone defense. The result: two layups, four free throws and a nifty feed to Thomas for two more points. With 2:39 left, Canton led 51-48.

Canton seemed to have the game locked in the next series of possessions. Jim Schlicker, who held Domako to Bennett. I know (Bishop) Borgess has just three free throws in the final 12 minutes of the game despite giving up eight inches in height, made an unbelievable steal and behind-the-back pass the fourth quarter, but it was Thomas in the same motion, falling out of bounds. The pass went to Bennett who fed back to Schlicker. Schlicker was fouled, but missed both free throws.

> STEVENSON dodged a bullet. They then dodged another. Stevenson missed two shots and with less than two minutes remaining, Canton was holding the ball and a three-point lead. That's when Rick Rozman intercepted an errant pass and converted two free throws to pull the Spartans within one.

Bennett, Thomas and Schlicker then put on a stall clinic for the next minute. With 46 seconds left, Kevin Hawkins the resignations were the result of ten-sions between the coaches and Canton said. "You don't like to lose personnel. But, when it happens, it happens. There

"They've decided to resign for personal reasons," said Barr Friday night. "They have their reasons. We sat down and talked about it. We accepted the resignations."

Barr said the district has already bewill be people that want to step into their positions."

Thomann said that four years of losing seasons at Canton had nothing to do with his decision to resign.

"The kids had nothing to do with it," he said. "I want to be emphatic about that. The kids had nothing to do with it."

Malson rescues Chiefs

It came down to the heavyweight again, and Plymouth Canton's 270pound Jim Malson really came through.

The Canton wrestling team trailed the home team, Walled Lake Central, by two points last Thursday entering the final weight class - the Central's Zane Forbes were left to decide the important Western Lakes dual meet.

Malson trailed 2-0 late in the final period, but used his size advantage to roll his opponent over. There were nine seconds left in the match when Malson got the pin.

"WE REALLY pulled together as a team," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "I'm really proud of the kids. We've got to have everybody pitch in to win — we had a couple slip-ups during the meet but the kids really held together."

The win keeps the Chiefs undefeated in league dual-meets, 5-0. They are 5-2 overall. The loss drops the Vikings to 5-2, 3-2 in the league.

The Child's raced to an early lead with three quick victories. Jeff Condit, at 100 points, defeated Central's Dave Zehnder 4-2. At 107, Heath Smith

> After Larry Janiga decisioned Rich Barber 6-0, at 147, Central again ran off three straight wins. Entering the final two events, the Vikings led 27-21.

> Enter Keith Keckes. In just his first year of wrestling, Keckes was called on to keep the Chiefs in contention. A loss at 198 would have put the meet out of reach. Keckes came through with convincing 16-6 pounding of Jeff Bettari.

"Keith's win really took a lot of pressure of Jimmy (Malson)," said Chrenko. "He really picked us up." The Chiefs competed in the North Farmington Invitational last weekend. Details of tourney will be in Thursday's Observer.

PEYMOUTH SALEM got lucky.

At least that's how coach Ron Krueger viewed last Thursday's meet against Farmington.

"They are as tough as nails," Krueger said of the Falcons. But the Rocks survived 37-26, to improve their ague record to 8-1.

The "luck" came late in the meet. Semy left to go. Farmington's 198-pound ace Dan Purilo came up injured prior to the match. Salem's Brian Johnson was awarded a win by default and Salem got six points to put the meet out of reach for Farmington.

Actually, the default became immaterial as Salem's heavyweight Marc Cygan whipped 300-pound Bill Kritcher 10-4 in the final event.

"We wrestled well," said Krueger. "We have to keep improving. If we lay back now and say 'hey, we beat Farmington,' we're going to end up getting beat by Canton and Walled Lake Central.'

THE MEET was not a total victory for the Rocks. Co-captain John Jeannotte, in the process of pinning his opponent Rob Anglin in 4:48, injured his knee. Krueger said he would know the full extent of the injury by today. He was certain that Jeannotte would be unavailable for last weekend's North Farmington tourney. He is also doubtful for Thursday's showdown with Canton.

Dave Dameron got back on the winning track for the Rocks, outpointing Jason Forge 2-1 at 114 pounds. Rick Vershave did the same at 121 pounds, besting John Gregory 12-4.

At 134 pounds, Keith Kwasny pinned the Falcons' Gary Blair in 1:34. Bruce Zak also earned a pin for Salem, falling Scott Martinuzzi in 55 seconds.

At 147, Andy Ward won a key 7-5 de-cision against Dave Cunningham.

"We have got to keep working hard," said Krueger. "As I see it, we don't have any more easy days ahead of us."

Ocelots' 2nd-half surge upends Raiders Monday, January 16, 1984 O&E

By Chris McCosky staff writer

1.661

The Oakland Community College women's basketball team showed up for its game against Schoolcraft Community College Wednesday with just six players on its roster. By the game's end, they would have just four.

But OCC, badgered by ineligibility and injury, gave the Ocelots all they could handle before falling in the final minutes 75-67.

In fact, the huffing and puffing Ocelots were the badgered team at the end of the first half. The Raiders, using a confusing man-to-man defense and some strong inside play from Diane -Kalbfleisch (14 first-half points) and Karen Kennedy (13 points), built up a 37-31 lead on the Ocelots.

The Ocelots appeared fatigued and frustrated. The Raider defense, which is man-to-man disguised as a 3-3 zone, forced Schoolcraft to shoot from long-range, despite their obvious size advantage. Lucky for the Ocelots, Redford Un-ion grad Cathi Hengy hit more than a few of those long-range bombs. Hengy kept Schoolcraft close with 16 first-half tallies. The rest of the squad was not so hot - Schoolcraft made just 14 of 40 shots in the first half.

"WE DON'T worry about size," said OCC coach Larry Hojna'. "We just go at it hard. We did everything we had planned to do, except win the game." The rag-tag Ocelot crew that ended the first half, came out looking like champions in the second half.

at halftime," said Ocelot coach Ed Kavanaugh. "We just didn't have any in that first half and that surprised me because this was such an important game. for us."

Schoolcraft sports

The game was important because both teams were 1-0 in the Eastern Conference and as Kavanaugh said, We wanted to establish ourselves as contenders early on."

contenders early on. Several things happened in the sec-ond half that seemed to get the Ocelots going. The first thing, ironically enough, was Hengy picking up her fourth foul early in the half. The Ocelots could no longer rely on Hengy's Lukens made two steals and scored eight points in a three-minute span to put the Ocelots ahead 64-59 with 4:25 emaining.

The bottom fell out for OCC after Sheryl Evans, who contributed nine key points off the bench for Schoolcraft, converted a three-point play to put the Ocelots up by nine, 69-60, with 2:37 left to play. Chris Dietz and Kalbfleisch (the game's leading scorer with 20) fouled out and for the final two minutes, OCC played with just four players, HOJNA WAS not pleased with the of-ficiating, and he made his feelings known both during and after the game.

"There were some very questionable calls made out there," he said. "The loose ball calls just weren't there. But, that's not it. They played a fine game."

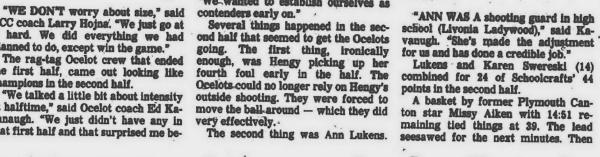

The referees whistled 44 fouls me, 25 against Schoolcraft, game, OCC.

Despite the numerous whietles, the game reacured several quintennung and dividual performances. OCC's Rhonds Hofacer, e jackrahbli-quick guard, punctured the Schoolcraft defense with her drives and passes. Site scored 16 points and had atz anders, Kennedy, a 5-foot-9 swing player, scored consistently inside, tallying 18-points points.

points. For Schoolcraft, besides the afore-mentioned Lukens (17) and Hengy (18), Jane Hart came off the bench when Hengy went out and seemed to solidify the defense. She allowed Hofacer, who seemed unstoppable, just four points. Swereski finished with 18 points for the Ocelots the Ocelots. The win left Schoolcraft at 6-5, while the Raiders fell to 6-9.

Rock gymnasts notch 2nd win in history

It's not customary to celebrate ex-cessively after the first contest of the season. But in this case, perhaps a little celebration is warranted.

The Plymouth Salem gymnastics team opened its 1984 campaign with a 112.95-84.05 victory against Walled Lake Central last Wednesday.

So, what's so special? It was Salem's second win in its gymnastic history. "I couldn't believe it," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella. "I had to double check the scores. I knew we deserved it, but I wanted to make sure." She didn't really have to double check. The victory was decisive.

Salem captured the top four places in three of the four events, and placed one-two-three in the fourth.

SOPHOMORE BETH Rafail took first in both the vault (8.4 points) and the floor exercise (8.4 points). She also placed second in the uneven-parallel bars and tied for third in the balance Senior Suzanne Gibbons won the other two events. She scored 7.1 in the bars and 6.75 on the balance beam.

Lukens, who scored seven first-half points, came to life in the second half. She directed the offense from her point guard position and tossed in 10 second-half points.

Freshman Jackie Huff and sophomore Sara Michalik each placed in the top three in three events. Huff was second in the vault (7.6), second in the floor exercise (7.55) and third in the fourth place finishes for the Rocks. bars (6.65).

Michalik took thirds in the vault team," said Kinse (7.25), the beam (6.45) and the floor ex- lot of work to do."

Bahna also contributed with three Lakes powerhouse.

"I'm very optimistic about this team," said Kinsella. "But, we have a
