Township mulls millage vote in July

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth Township voters most likely will face a millage question in a special election July 29.

The Township Board reserved the election date at Tuesday night's meeting even though it hasn't decided how many mills will be sought.

"If we don't do anything, in 1986 we will have only $700,000 in property tax revenues, plus any increases in the State Equalized Valuation (SEV). Compared to 1980, that's a 35-percent decrease in revenue," Supervisor Maurice Breen said.

"I think the board's idea is to go back to the millage level of 1983," he said.

In 1983, the township received some $1.25 million in property tax revenues, compared with $1.16 million in 1984. The millage revenues for 1985 are projected at $1 million.

The decrease in property tax revenues is due to the expiration of two special voted millages. A half mill for fire, voted in 1979, was collected for the last time in 1984. One mill ($1 for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for police, voted in 1980, was collected for the last time this year.

"I believe the idea is to go back out and renew the special voted millages which have expired, the 1 1/2 mills," Breen said. "But that's a decision the board is going to have to make."

BREEN SAID the board must decide among five options.

"The first option, of course, is that we do nothing which wouldn't bother me. That's why we had the special millages set to expire so that we could go out to the people and see if they want to continue funding the operations," he said.

The second option would be a renewal of the expired special millages — a half mill for fire and one mill for police.

The third option is like the second, but wouldn't be a renewal. Instead the 1 1/2 mills would be voted for general operation rather than special uses.

"It would be to our advantage to put them into the general levy so we don't lose state shared revenues," Breen said.

STATE SHARED revenues are appropriated to communities based on a formula which includes a relative tax effort factor — giving more money to communities which have higher millage rates.

"In the past they used to count special voted millages in the relative tax effort, but the Department of Management and Budget has proposed a rule change which wouldn't count special millages," Breen said.

"The result would be about a 9-percent reduction in state shared revenues. We could avoid that if the special millages were rolled into the general levy. "If you don't take advantage of the shared revenues, it's just not good management," he said.

The fourth option, which Breen recommends, is to ask voters to authorize the full millage in the township charter — 5 mills. The board then would set each year's millage rate to meet the revenue needs.

This would allow the board to review changes in the SEV and township budget and set the millage rate accordingly, he said.

"This way we wouldn't have to keep setting millage elections. We could reduce or increase the rate based on need."

BREEN SAID although it's not a city, the township provides many of the services of a city.

"Any reasonable person believes that if you're going to have all the services, you're going to have to vote the millage for it," he said.

The fifth option would be a millage request anywhere between 1 1/2 mills and the charter limit of 5 mills.

"I'm going to put together a history of the millage for the board and show them where they will be in 1986," he said.

The board reserved the July 29 election date with the understanding it could be turned down if they don't want to ask for increased millage.

Balloon festival takes a dive

Lorenz calls it quits, cites money proposal as reason

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Promoters of the Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival announced last week that the event won't be held.

Promoters Scott Lorenz and Gordon Boring held a series of meetings with a township committee following concerns about parking arrangements and Township Park usage.

Tuesday night the Township Board received the committee's proposal and directed the administration to negotiate with the promoters.

"My recommendation to the committee was to table the proposal," Lorenz said Thursday.

"I told them that if it's a take it or leave it proposal, we'll leave it. I guess they had to do what they had to do and so did we," he said.

The committee, comprised of Clerk Esther Hulsing and trustees Abe Munkh and Smith Horton, recommended a proposal which called for the promoters to submit an event plan for township approval.

In return, the township would arrange and pay for shuttle buses for parking, supervision of parking, sanitation facilities and park restoration after the event. To fund the township's share, they proposed charging spectators for riding the buses and receiving 10 percent of concessions at the park.

They put together their proposal after our meeting Friday and they added a real zinger — the Maurice Breen zinger — 10 percent of all proceeds," Lorenz said.

Concessions were not defined if you think about Maurice Breen and the way he thinks, it probably means everything. We're not interested in doing that," he said.

THE WHOLE balloon festival controversy started with a heated exchange earlier this year between Lorenz and Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

While trying to reserve the park, Lorenz and Boring were confronted with a bill from last year's event.

The major portion of the $5,000 bill was charges for shuttle buses used to transport spectators from the Ford Sheldon Road Plant parking lot to the park at Ann Arbor Trail and Powell. Lorenz said he never asked for the buses or agreed to pay for them.

The remainder of the costs were for damages at the park following the event.

"I represent the township. Maurice Breen is not involved in the promotion of the festival," Breen said Friday.

"My involvement is with protecting the interests of the township. I don't believe public funds should be expended on an event which benefits a private interest," Breen said.

"Every time he (Lorenz) talked to the committee, he added things that the township would be responsible for. I think we've done everything that we could to have the event take place.

"He's dealing with a public body, and he hasn't even had the courtesy to come back to this body and let us know his response to the proposal. His actions are arrogant and contemptuous," Breen said.

Lorenz was not at Tuesday night's meeting and Breen said he learned of Lorenz's decision by reading it in the newspaper.

"WE'RE DOING an event here that's good for the community, it's a great event," Lorenz said.

"It's designed to break even with no charge to the people who come. I'll get out of the event business all together if we're not going to get cooperation.

"The City of Plymouth has cooperated and there are no strings attached. The city even gave us an award for our efforts," Lorenz said.

"Yet Maurice Breen wants to make money on his contributions. We can't operate in that atmosphere," he said.

"They have forced us to have the event at the township park. We wanted to go north and west for the balloonists' safety and for the traffic. At the park we only have a two-lane road going in," he said.

"Police Chief Carl Berry said he has a new department coming on line in July and that if you have it anywhere else he can't handle it, giving the type of service it needs.

"If you go to the park then you need buses and we told them to charge for the buses, that we couldn't pay for it," Lorenz said.

"They didn't want to make money so they added the township providing toilets and a sound system, with anything left over being split 50/50 between the township and the promoters.

"That seemed to us like a very reasonable approach. We thought we were very close until they added the 10 percent thing," Lorenz said.

BREEN SAID the township's desire is not to make money from the festival.

"Anything the township asked for in regard to money was an attempt to cover the dollars expended for the promotion. That's not a Maurice Breen commitment, that's the recommendation of a township board committee," Breen said.

Breen earlier asked Lorenz to sponsor the event through a non-profit corporation, as is done with the ice carving festival. He said if the festival truly didn't make money the township would join Lorenz in charity.

He also denied Lorenz' comment that the township wanted 10 percent of all proceeds.

"The 10 percent is only on the concessions at the park," Breen said.

"Lorenz has made many comments to the press that are not accurate. As far as I'm concerned he's acting like a spoiled child," he said.

"Going non-profit wouldn't resolve anything. If they can't accept what we say then there's no point in having the event," Lorenz said.

"We take the money and put it back into the event, and if they can't believe us then I don't know.

"My family's been in the community for a long time. It's not like we just blew into town in a limousine with gold rings on our fingers," Lorenz said.

"We have credibility in the community. We promote the community just like we promote our hotel," he said.

"Other communities recognize that the balloon festival is a worthwhile event."

Lorenz said he had informal contact with several communities wanting the event, but he isn't certain he will move it to another community.

"I'm not in the business of promoting balloons. We're in the business of promotion of our hotel and the community.

"It doesn't make good sense to go out to Saline or some other community," Lorenz said.

Police union 'stunned' by Graper's alternatives

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

The city administration has submitted three alternatives to the Plymouth Police Officers Association (PPOA) to reduce operating costs — alternatives which stunned the union.

You provided us with a list of deferrals which did not reach the amounts of money necessary for us to be able to keep the department at the level which we hoped," City Manager Henry Graper wrote to the union last week.

"It did not allow us to take care of the downsizing through possible layoffs, but only through attrition," Graper wrote.

Consequently, Graper sent his alternatives to the union Thursday.

• A 21-man department — a $31,000-a-year chief, three $20,000-a-year command officers, 13 patrol officers at $19,000 a year, and four officers at $15,000 a year.

• A 16-man department — a $31,000-a-year chief, three $28,000-a-year command officers, and 12 patrol officers at $23,160 a year.

• A 13-man department — a

$33,500-a-year chief, three $31,000-a-year command officers, and nine patrol officers at $28,545 a year.

"In light of all the discussions that have taken place to this point, your proposal quite simply has us stunned," union President Mike Gardner said in a letter to Graper Friday.

"We fail to see any relation between these proposals and any non-economic considerations recommended in Bartell & Bartell's studies submitted to the City Commission," Gardner wrote.

"Further, we fail to see where any consideration is given to the reported attitudes of the citizens of Plymouth, as also determined by Bartell & Bartell, regarding their desires for police service."

THE EXCHANGE of proposals follows several negotiating sessions aimed at saving the department. The city faces the loss of a $467,000-a-year contract with Plymouth Township for shared police services.

The township has decided to start its own department.

Lucas wants to learn from Saturn

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Wayne County Executive William Lucas has virtually conceded that Michigan is out of the running as the location for General Motors' new Saturn project.

Nevertheless he and several other Southeastern Michigan officials will meet with GM Chairman Roger Smith today to discuss the project.

The group, including Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, want to know what can be done to improve their chances of landing future ventures.

"There are some things, ladies and gentlemen, that go hand-in-hand like motherhood and apple pie," Lucas said

Friday in an address to the Plymouth Rotary Club.

"In this area the automobile industry and Detroit go together. You just naturally think, why wouldn't they want Saturn here, why wouldn't it be in Detroit?" Lucas said.

"When there is a whole series of events, a whole parade of individuals here from outside Michigan and General Motors is inviting them to make a pitch, it tells you that we are not in the competition," he said in a short speech which also touched on county reform under his administration.

Asked after the speech if he is conceding the loss of the project, Lucas said no.

"I don't want to come off as a defeatist," he told reporters. "But the message that they're sending out is, 'Folks, you in Michigan have not done everything you could have.'"

Lucas said he had talked with people from Murphy's office and they were in agreement about the approach. He wasn't certain if Young shared their feelings.

The group, as expected, still will make a pitch to land the automotive plant, he said.

"But I'm going to be going there more to listen. I am equally interested in hearing what we need to do down the road to be competitive," he told reporters.

"I DON'T expect to be told that Michigan is in the running. I hope to learn why we didn't get the project (at the outset) and what can we do better in the future.

"I want to know what steps are needed to be competitive in the future so we can try to convince Mazda to originate its project in Detroit. That is highly desirable, it means 10,000 jobs. It is something we would want to see," he told the Rotarians, assembled in the Mayflower Meeting House.

"If the State of Michigan is to be competitive, we must hang on to the people that we have.

"Most of our new jobs now come from established businesses which enlarge their facilities and grow. To be competitive, we must hold on to what we have and help them to grow and

Audit shows township in sound fiscal shape

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth Township is in good financial shape, according to the 1984 audit report received Tuesday night.

"The overall trend is favorable... the township's certainly holding its own," said Mark Chmielewski, an auditor from Plante and Moran.

Chmielewski, who presented the audit, said the rule of thumb in governmental auditing is for surplus funds to match two months' operation costs.

"The township's very close to that amount," he said. In 1984, the township's general fund revenues increased to $3.8 million from 1983's level of $3.1 million.

Chmielewski said one of the quirks in governmental accounting is that the proceeds from a bond issue are rolled into the unit's revenues in the year the bonds were issued.

On the expenditure side, the general fund total went from $2.9 million in 1983 to $2.7 million in 1984.

The township ended 1984 with a fund balance of $908,000, compared to a fund balance of $788,769 at the beginning of 1984.

That amount includes almost $700,000 of reserved funds for outstanding bills and obligations, as well as more than $100,000 reserved for the 1985 budget.

THE MAJOR AREAS in terms of revenues included:

General administration at $2.7 million, law enforcement millage at $354,673, fire department millage at $534,949 and building department revenues at $148,589.

The building department revenues, from inspection and permit fees, were some $41,000 over budget projections due to increased construction during 1984.

Some $327,000 was received in Community Development Block Grant funds, most of which was spent in '83. Another $243,000 was collected through garbage collection fees.

The major areas for expenditures included: general administration at $1.1 million, law enforcement at $344,500, fire services at $628,891, and building inspection at $109,964.

Garbage collection expenses were $195,814, $48,000 below the revenues. The surplus garbage collection fees are added to previous year's garbage surpluses and held to offset future price increases for the service.

Also on the expenditure side for 1984 was $700,000 for capital outlay. That amount included costs for the library addition and renovation and addition to Township Hall.

Overall, general fund revenues in '84 exceeded expenditures by $110,000.

IN OTHER fund areas, the special revenue fund account saw revenues of some $4 million, mostly from a $2.8 million cash advance given to the township for Supercenter planning work.

Also included in special revenue fund is $97,000 in federal revenue sharing money, of which $92,430 was spent on capital outlays.

Some $2.4 million of the cash advance was spent on wastewater control plans, leaving $1.4 million in the account. Interest on the cash advance, which will be rolled back into the special account, totaled $180,000.

The only portion of the cash advance funds which directly benefited the township were a small amount of administration charges. The township legally could retain the interest earnings, however, Supervisor Maurice Breen said it was better to roll them back into the special account.

As for recommendations, the auditors found that most of the township's accounting records and systems were in order.

Chmielewski did note that one special millage levy already has expired and another is due to expire this year. He suggested the township consider the implications of the millage expirations on its revenues.

HE ALSO noted that the township treasurer's department might consider investing some of the cash on hand.

"With last year's downturn of interest rates appearing to be of a relatively long-term nature, the township may want to consider measures to increase its investment earnings," he said.

"The State of Michigan has recently liberalized the investment options that are allowable for municipalities to earn interest on its idle cash."

The audit pointed out the township had a total of $25 million more in funds in "retention" of interest-bearing bank accounts.

Interest earnings on the government's all funds in 1984 totaled $200,000.

The water and sewer fund proved to be healthy. The auditor showed that net income increased from $121,570 in 1983 to $198,930 in '84, which increased the system's retained earnings to $2.3 million.

By maintaining a high level of working capital, the water and sewer system uses interest earnings to cover most of the operational and maintenance costs. Also, because of increases in the working capital during 1984, the township will not pass the recent water rate hike from Detroit on to its customers.

"The water and sewer system showed a marginal profit, which will enable us to hold rates for the upcoming year," Chmielewski said.

● CPR TRAINING

The Community Education Department of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will be conducting CPR Instructor Training classes for persons who have completed the full course in CPR and currently have a valid CPR card. The Community Education Department has provided free CPR classes for a number of years. To continue this, more CPR instructors are needed. For that reason, the department is seeking currently trained CPR personnel to devote 12 more hours to receive their instructor's card. Anyone interested in becoming a CPR instructor may call the department at 451-6660.

● FOURTH OF JULY

Plans are being made for the 1985 Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth featuring a parade and fireworks sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees. Last year, the parade attracted some 4,500 spectators and the fireworks some 25,500 persons, according to Fred Eagle, parade co-chairman. The parade will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 4. Parade entry forms soon will be available at Plymouth City Hall or Plymouth Township Hall or by calling Eagle at 464-6797. The parade also needs donations from businesses to cover the expenses of the parade. Send donations to: Plymouth Jaycees, c/o 1985 Fourth of July Parade, 14728 Ronnie Lane, Livonia MI 48154.

● ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

The employment program of the Wayne County Office on Aging is accepting applications for on-the-job training programs. The programs include on-the-job training with pay for a variety of positions in such fields as health care, sales, secretarial, clerical and maintenance. Assistance is provided for job search skills, resume writing, interview techniques, self-confidence building and goal setting. Eligibility criteria includes age 55 or older, low income, resident of Wayne County (excluding downriver and Detroit). For information, contact Herbert Alexander or Larry Gentile at 467-3454.

● SOAPSTONE CARVING

A rare soapstone collection is on exhibit through April 24 at the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main at Church. Soapstone carving, a "cottage industry" of China passed down from one generation to the next, dates back to the Sung Dynasty (960-1279 A.D.). Also on exhibit is the museum's ivory collection (also carved in China); rocks, minerals and fossils displayed by the Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society; and children's chairs (1800s) including highchairs, rocking chairs, and potty chairs. The museum is open 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission.

● CANTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Canton Historical Society meets the second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Canton Historical Society Museum on Canton Center Road at Proctor.

● WANTED: PARENT & CHILD

The "Y" Indian Guide program involves tribes of 3-8 parents with their children meeting on a rotating basis doing crafts, games or songs. Tribal outings and group Federation outings are held on a regular basis and includes three campouts, tours of points of interest, and skating. The tribes consists of different combinations of fathers-sons, fathers-daughters, mothers-sons, mothers-daughters according to age groups. The program includes a membership in the Plymouth Community Family YMCA. For more information, call the Y at 455-2904.

Job group is forming

Job Talk is a newly-formed special interest group for individuals seeking employment or who are presently employed but dissatisfied.

"If you are embarking on a career search, for whatever reason," explains Ginny Eades, "Job Talk members are eager to share successes, failures, methodology and, most importantly, offer a resource and support system for others in the group."

The meetings are held from 7-8:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays in The Letter Writer office at 41727 Joy Road, Canton. There is a $10 fee for each session, and each group is limited to 10 persons.

The group and its weekly speakers offer information on resume writing, cover letters, interviewing techniques, job hunting ideas, self-motivation, and an arena in which to express frustrations and receive positive input.

For information or to make a reservation call 455-8892.

Bra-Con breaks ground

Plymouth Township officials and Bra-Con industries representatives gathered Thursday to break ground for a 50,000-square-foot facility being built in the Metro West Industrial Park at Five Mile and Sheldon. The plant will be the first in the second phase of the park. Welding the shovels are: (from left) Jack Arthur, retired co-founder of Bra-Con; Robert DeMattie, park developer; Esther Hulsing, township clerk; Bob Bowen, Bra-Con president; Mary Brooks, township treasurer; Maurice Breen, township supervisor; and Gene Lawrie, Bra-Con vice president for operations.

then others will come forward," he said.

"If we attract jobs, then we start to get government to pay its way."

Lucas believes the metropolitan Detroit area is so conducive to automotive growth that there shouldn't have been competition for General Motor's new venture.

"Quite obviously there are things that are required to put Michigan in a competitive place," he said.

THE COUNTY executive pointed to the cost of doing business in Michigan, mainly workman's comp costs, as a factor which needs to be changed.

"Unfortunately these are things that I'm not in a position to do anything about," he said.

Such changes must be made at the state level, Lucas said afterwards — an interesting point to raise with all the speculation about his own political future.

Lucas prefaced his speech by saying he wasn't going to comment on any changes of political affiliations.

He was elected to the county's top spot as a Democrat in 1982, but has been aligning himself with Republicans ever since.

His visit to the Plymouth Rotary Club is in keeping with a trend of addressing groups in predominately Republican areas. Lucas has traveled out-state recently to speak and is slated for an appearance at the Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus this week as well as before Garden City Rotary.

"I view myself as a goodwill ambassador to other parts of the state," he said.

"The view of most people about Wayne County and even those in Southeastern Michigan is that we are people always looking for something. I try to dispel those feelings," Lucas said, adding that the trips also enhance his chances of running for "state office."

"This gives them the chance to see me, meet me and talk with me to form an impression," he said.

Police union receives city's options for cuts

Before the two sides started bargaining, a Blue Ribbon Committee was appointed by Mayor David Pugh to look into city finances and disbursement of the township funds — questions raised by the police officers.

Until last week, efforts to save the department focused on teamwork and a spirit of cooperation.

The recent exchange possibly signals a breakthrough in that spirit.

"The appointment of this committee, the commitment shown by the City Commission and administration members, and their imaginative approach to the problems were a very encouraging sign for us," Gardner said.

Negotiations with the officers started in early March with a discussion of the Blue Ribbon report.

"After an extensive analysis of the budgetary data was completed, we found that an imbalance of the budget remained, namely $105,000," Gardner said.

"We left that meeting with the belief that this was the remaining problem to be solved and returned, two days later, with a proposal that we solve that problem through a combination of wage and benefit deferrals and concessions," he said.

Grafer labeled the union's list as "deferrals," and sent his alternatives.

"It appears that money is the only criteria that has been used to formulate these alternatives, a method used in a Bartell configuration labeled as 'minimally acceptable' and strongly discouraged," Gardner's letter said in reference to a Bartell & Bartell study outlining re-configuration options.

"Perhaps other considerations were used to arrive at these alternatives, but they are not described and we do not know what they would have been.

"IT IS APPARENT to us that further discussions are necessary and advisable to re-establish objectives and to mutually arrive at a plan to meet those objectives," Gardner said.

Activities days, cleanup set for Hines Park

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Hines Parkway in western Wayne County will be turned over to pedestrians and bicyclists twice this year, and the Middle Rouge River will be cleared of logs that dam it and flood the roadway.

Those promises came from R. Eric Reichel, county parks director, in a meeting last week with local and county officials on the Hines Park Task Force.

"Eric has done an outstanding job of getting the parks looking good, not only cosmetically but in programs," said Sheriff Robert A. Ficano, who chaired the meeting in Westland.

"County parks are a sleeping giant that have potential," County Executive William Lucas told the Plymouth Rotary Club Friday. "Families will once again be going to Hines Park," said Lucas, who hired Reichel away from Oakland County last year.

REICHEL SAID the first of two Activities Days — when traffic along the drive is blocked and the park turned over to nonmotorized activities — is tentatively scheduled for Sunday, May 8.

"The reason for that day is it's the kickoff of the season," Reichel said. Groups can hold races, walkathons and other events. Families will be encouraged to picnic.

Ficano liked the idea, noting that "bad times" in the past have been the first warm days of spring, the Memorial Day-graduation period and the beginning of school in September.

The Fourth of July, however, brings no behavioral problems in county parks, officials agreed.

Unlike past years, no "rain dates" will be set if there is inclement weather on Activities Days. "Rain dates are ridiculous. If a group is committed to a fund raiser, it should go on rain or shine," Reichel said.

He and police chiefs agreed that officers should make it a habit to get out of their cars, walk through parks and say, "Hello, how are things going?" to park users. "It relieves an adversary relationship. We don't want confrontation-type management," Reichel said.

A ROUGE cleanup effort is being planned for the end of May or early June, the parks director said.

"There are blockages that act as dams. If that water were free to flow, it would recede faster, even by a day or two," Reichel told a police chief who wondered why the road is kept closed so long after flooding.

Reichel envisions getting heavy equipment — perhaps even National Guard helicopters — to remove logs and junk from the shallow Rouge channel.

He added that 200 picnic tables have been purchased and decrepit ones removed since late last year. He said vandals tend to dump, or further wreck, battered picnic tables under "the power of suggestion."

For ease of maintenance and control of vandalism, Reichel is considering concentrating picnic tables in defined areas rather than scattering them along the 17 miles of parkway. Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas of Livonia asked him to think about chaining down picnic tables, as Canadian provincial parks do.

A GROUP of vandals is damaging the Warren Valley Golf Course clubhouse, toilet facilities and driving tunnels, Reichel said.

But he reported that during the winter "incidents were few, and there was good feedback from the public on our activities."

Hines Parkway and Hines Drive run through the Middle Rouge River floodplain from Northville to Dearborn Heights. Development is restricted because the river floods several times a year, particularly east of Haggerty Road, where the river flows through flat bottom land.

Throughout the '70s, Hines Parkway was notorious throughout southeastern Michigan and Ontario as a haven for drug dealing, rough partying and vandalism. They occurred at a time when county government was steadily reducing parks budgets.

In the past three seasons, Lucas, Ficano and local officials have attempted to create a family atmosphere for the county's largest park. The county parks budget has been raised from practically nothing to $2.5 million this year.

CEP bands rates high

The symphony band and concert band from Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) recently earned top ratings from the district band festival in Ypsilanti.

Performing in the auditorium of Ypsilanti Lincoln High School, both bands received "straight I's" from the four professional adjudicators who evaluated their playing.

Participating in Class B, the concert band performed the "King Cotton" march by Sousa, "Folk Song Suite" by Ralph Vaughn Williams, and "Psalm 46" by Zdechlik.

The symphony band entered Class AA competition. Their musical selections included "Americans We" march by Henry Fillmore, "Symphony in B-Flat" (first movement) composed by Paul Hindemith, and the "Carnival" from LaFiesta Mexicana by H. Owen Reed.

Adjudicators were: Dr. Harry Begian, conductor emeritus, University of Illinois; Dr. James Moore, director of admissions, Northwestern University School of Music; Nicholas Cannici, principal (and former band director) at Ferndale High School; and James Hewitt, band director in Otsego, Mich.

Both bands, directed by James R. Griffith, are eligible to play in the State Band Festival on Saturday, April 27.

Ear infection season is here

More children may suffer middle ear infections this winter and spring than ever before.

Based on the most recent estimates, these infections, known as otitis media, were responsible for more than 27-million office visits in 1983. This compares with 22 million the year before and 20 million in 1981, an overall increase of 35 percent.

"In fact, ear infections have become the most common medical diagnosis of childhood," reports Charles D. Bluestone, a physician and director of the Otitis Media Research Center in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Although a direct correlation has not been established between the increase in ear infections and antibiotic resistance, it is occurring at the same time there is increasing resistance to the antibiotics commonly prescribed.

"Resistance could be part of the problem," Bluestone said, "but so could greater awareness of the diagnosis by physicians."

In the young child, the anatomical construction of the tube leading from the ear to the back of the nose and bacteria are thought to be responsible for most ear infections.

PHYSICIANS CANNOT change the anatomy, which nature improves as the child grows, but they can treat the infection with antibiotics.

Unfortunately many of the bacteria produce an enzyme called beta-lactamase that inactivates the antibiotics commonly used to treat ear infections as well as those of the sinuses, throat and remainder of the respiratory tract.

All told, resistant strains caused ear infections in one in five children in Bluestone's studies in the Pittsburgh area. This may be representative of other regions where physicians do not conduct such studies on a regular basis.

McEwen got township to acquire park property

(Part 5)

John McEwen, supervisor of Plymouth Township from 1965 to 1970, recalls that the idea of establishing a township park and recreation area surfaced in the late 1960s when he was approached by Louis Norman, a member of the Township Board.

Norman told him that two farmers, the Amrhein brothers who lived on Ann Arbor Trail adjacent to the Hilltop Golf Course, were considering offering their 58 acres to the township at a rock-bottom price.

"They wanted to do something for the township where they had farmed for many years," said McEwen. "The price seemed very reasonable to me so I proposed to the Township Board that we purchase the property. They turned down the idea.

"Then I proposed that the township and city buy the property jointly. Voters in both units turned that down.

"Finally, I prevailed on the Township Board to buy the land by borrowing the money from water department funds — something that couldn't be done today. We paid the money back in a year."

THE AMRHEIN acreage, since developed into an impressive recreation area, was purchased for $235,000.

"It was a bargain at that price," recalls McEwen, "but we could have had the property for less had we acted earlier."

past and present
Sam Hudson

Plymouth Township Recreation Park now includes a pavilion, a shelter, four lighted baseball fields, a pond for skating, cross-country skiing slopes and dozens of outdoor grills and picnic tables. Situated next to the golf course on rolling terrain, it is a tribute to McEwen and other members of the Township Board who saw its potential at a time when very few thought the township needed a park.

John McEwen also is proud of the Township Development Plan completed in April 1966 when he was supervisor and Tivador Balogh was chairman of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission.

The report, prepared after two years of study by the consulting firm of Waring and Johnson, was financed with the aid of a federal grant from the Urban Renewal Administration of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). It discusses planning goals, a survey and plan of building and environmental conditions, existing and proposed utilities, development plans for thoroughfares, land use and community facilities, and recommendations for using the plan.

McEwen says many of the Township Board's decisions during the past 19 years have benefited from data in the report. One of the consultant's suggestions that never has been implemented concerned a new township center.

Noting that Township Hall facilities, then occupying 1.01 acres in Ann Arbor Road, were crowded and that additional space would be needed before long, Waring and Johnson said a new center might be the answer.

The site for such a center should contain a minimum area of 20 acres, but preferably 40, and should be well-centered in the township. As envisioned by the consultants, the center would include an administration building, a fire and police station, a library, an auditorium, an outdoor theater, a swimming pool and a recreation building.

Nothing has been said in recent times about such a township center. Instead, under a later administration, Township Hall was expanded and additional acreage adjacent to the Ann Arbor Road site was purchased, as will be explained later.

If the Township Board ever gets serious about establishing such a center, McEwen will be glad to tell them where to put it. He favors as its site the triangle of land, adjacent to the Hilltop Golf Course, bounded by Ann Arbor Trail, Beck Road and Powell Road. He also believes that site would be a good location for a fire station and a library.

IN ADDITION TO Louis Norman's assistance in the acquisition of the township park property, McEwen remembers the good advice he received frequently from the late Ralph Garber, a member of the Township Board from 1963 to 1970.

Garber, the father of 35th district Court Judge James Garber, had served on the Township Planning Commission and on the Board of Appeals. A charter member of the Plymouth Heights Charter Commission in 1959, he had moved here from Detroit where he was chief assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County for many years.

McEwen remembers the late Herald Hamill as an excellent civil engineer and "a man who had his heart and soul in the township." Hamill, who began a long-term relationship as engineer with the township in 1954, supervised the installation of about 82 miles of water main. He was a member of the Township Board from 1956 to 1968.

McEwen also speaks of the excellent cooperation he received from Elizabeth Holmes, township treasurer, and Helen Richardson, township clerk, during his administration.

As to the annexation controversy and the repeated only-half-serious elections held ostensibly to pass a charter for the "City of Plymouth Heights," McEwen says that he and other foes of annexation got a fright on July 27, 1966, when the Plymouth Mail carried a recommendation that township residents vote yes on the charter. This was a complete turn-around for the Mail which said in its editorial:

"In the past editorial and public sentiment has been against the Plymouth Heights charter. People tended to look at it as a somewhat pleasantly convenient, though slightly hypocritical means of staving off annexation proceedings by what was then the smaller but wealthier City of Plymouth." The Mail declared that it now was supporting the idea of city government for the township "because it provides an equitable way of rendering services to area residents at a reasonable cost."

Strays get lots of love and lots of dog food, too

There are some dogs that are pampered, trained and entered into breed competition, such as at the Detroit Kennel Club event last weekend at Cobo Hall.

And then there are other kinds of dogs.

The strays, the unwanted, those who get lost or evicted by humans, also received some love and attention in Detroit last weekend, thanks in part to a Plymouth pet supply store.

Lydia Stack operates the 20-year-old Oakland County Shelter for Unwanted Animals from an abandoned factory site at 19801 Mount Elliott between Seven and Eight Mile roads.

IT IS the only nonprofit, donation-only shelter in Michigan whose policy is to keep and care for an animal until it can be placed.

"We do not put our dogs to sleep regardless of how long they are here, unless they are medically terminal," she said.

The shelter currently is home to 500 dogs and cats.

Hearing of this organization and its need for donations, the Iams Co., which manufactures several brands of dog and cat food, interceded through a local Iams dealer — Specialty Pet Supplies at 1498 S. Sheldon, Plymouth — and offered to ship immediately up to 20 tons of mixed product.

THE DOG food being donated, said Terri Bennett, co-owner of Specialty Pet Supplies, is worth $20,000. The 40,000 pounds was due to be delivered by 1 p.m. Sunday.

"The Iams dealer had some dog food they wanted to donate and asked us who would be a worthy recipient. We had seen stories in the newspapers about the Oakland Shelter and suggested they be the beneficiary.

"At the time, I had no idea that much dog food was going to be donated."

THE SHELTER recently received a donation of 20 acres and hopes to expand its operation, Bennett said.

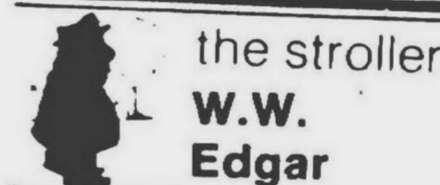

On behalf of the stray pets, Stack accepted the donation, with the exact amount of food to be determined, depending on how much can be stored safely at the old factory.

At the Oakland County Shelter for Unwanted Animals, it is no longer a dog's life, at least temporarily.

ON THESE mornings when the mail box is stuffed with anything but letters The Stroller takes one look and smiles because this so-called junk mail helps to keep healed a heart that was broken many years ago.

Mother had been left a widow with five children and The Stroller had to help the family. He got a job in a machine shop and it wasn't nice in there, but mother said that a trade was just as good as going to school. Despite this advice the muck and grease of the shop was not to his liking and he longed for the day when he could leave for what he felt would be something better.

He had been head of his class in school and he felt that there should be something better than spending the stroller

W.W. Edgar

each working day in the muck and grease.

He finished his apprenticeship and went to work as a mechanic. But even this didn't help. It wasn't what he would like. Then one day came word that our little town was to get free delivery of mail service and a test was to be given to select the help needed.

HE IMMEDIATELY raced for his mother and told her he was going to take the examination and had confidence of winning.

He told her it would be just fine. He could carry mail for a while and then, in time, he could retire and things would be fine.

She wished him well, but it seemed like a dream to her. Then came the list of folks who had signed to take the exam and The Stroller felt more confident than ever. He was ahead of all of them in school.

Came the morning of the exam. It was simple. He was the first one finished and as he left the room he pictured himself as a mail carrier, then as a retired man in our little town.

Several weeks went by and there was no word of the results. Each week he entered the post office to ask, but was told to wait a while.

THEN CAME Saturday morning and the results were in. The clerk looked at the results and then very quietly told him he had failed.

He couldn't believe it. Asked where he had failed she told him it was in spelling. This was a shock as he never had lost a spelling bee.

She told him he had misspelled the word "besiege." Finally it dawned on him. The teacher giving the exam was a Pennsylvania Dutchman and the Pennsylvania Dutch didn't pronounce soft "g's." When he gave the word The Stroller thought he said "beseech" and that is what he spelled. That little mistake left him heartbroken. For once he had failed and his dreams were shattered.

With a heavy heart he went back to the shops. But finally came a smile from Lady Luck. He sauntered into the office of our little newspaper back home and he was put to work. The editor did it just to get The Stroller out of the way on publication day.

WELL, FROM THEN on there was no more machinist trade or working in the muck and grease. But he couldn't get over the heartbreak of losing the post office berth.

Now when he looks at the mail box stuffed with what folks call junk mail he is delighted. Being a mail man with heavy sacks isn't fun and his heart finally healed.

But each time he looks at the loaded boxes he could thank the Dutch teacher who didn't pronounce a soft "g" when he should have and his dream of a post office job was shattered. But over the years the heart has healed and the stuffed mail box helps to keep it healed.

WORKING AND ARTHRITIS

"What job is best for my arthritis?" Physicians often find it difficult to give a satisfactory answer to this question.

First, all work, no matter how sedentary, brings some strain. There are mornings that you must arise immediately despite awakening unduly stiff. There are times you may stay at a desk through an afternoon in the face of extreme fatigue and the need for immediate rest.

Second, there is the unforeseen effect that your work activity will have on your joints. Some individuals with rheumatoid arthritis do well in a job in which they either stand or sit, but do not mix these activities. Other people with rheumatoid arthritis feel that they do better in a job that requires constant moving. At present there is no measure which can predict what your body's response will be.

Third, if you must earn a living, then you may have little choice in the job or hours that you can accept.

Your physician can give you his opinion on the severity of your arthritis and the likely effect therapy will have. This information, plus your needs, will provide the basis for answering the question: "What is best for me?"

Tom Hulce (who is originally from Plymouth) is young genius Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart in "Amadeus," one of the five films nominated for Best Picture of the Year. The Academy Awards Presentation will be broadcast Monday, March 25, on ABC-TV.

the movies

Dan Greenberg

This year's Oscar guesses may be better than last year's

Welcome to Greenberg's annual attempt to score a perfect zero on second-guessing the Oscar people.

Last year I came close, sitting around the house watching the Academy Awards and listening to my kids: "Yeh, Daddy, you missed again."

This year the movies truly are better than ever, and the 57th Academy Award nominations feature some of the best and most important films of recent years.

Since I had so much trouble with last year's prognostications, there's got to be room for improvement this year (famous last words) — so here it is.

Best Picture is always a difficult choice because the competitors represent such varied film genres. There is no real basis for comparing a musical like "Amadeus," albeit it is a dramatic, classical one, with the powerful documentary drama of "The Killing Fields."

Neither of those two can be easily categorized with the three excellent dramas also nominated: "A Passage to India," "Places in the Heart" and "A Soldier's Story." By the way, even those three, though comparable, are very different.

ALL FIVE NOMINATIONS are excellent, but I'll pick "Amadeus" as No. 1 because its conception is more unusual than the others, because it is so well done and because Milos Forman is so well regarded. I also think there's a snub to the Soviet bloc implicit in his success and subconsciously (or perhaps even consciously) that motivates some votes.

Best Actor presents a sentimental difficulty when two fine performances are nominated for the same film (F. Murray Abraham and Tom Hulce from "Amadeus") so the solution is someone else. If that's the case this year, then Jeff Bridges in "Starman" should win, but I'm betting on F. Murray Abraham's superb performance as Sallier.

Besides the fact that I think she was far and away the Best Actress among this year's nominees, there's probably a sympathetic undercurrent for Vanessa Redgrave, even though "The Bostonians" was out of the mainstream. The three gals in the "Dustbowl Trilogy" — Sally Field, Jessica Lange and Sissy Spacek ("Places in the Heart," "Country" and "The River") probably cancel each other out. My vote is for Vanessa.

Best Director will go to Milos Forman, even though there's a lot of sentimental favoritism for Woody Allen and "Broadway Danny Rose," which will win Best Original Screenplay.

In spite of the considerable sentiment for Sir Ralph Richardson's excellent performance in "Greystoke" and the other fine performances, Adolph Caesar in "A Soldier's Story" has got to be the winner for Best Supporting Actors. Best Supporting Actress will go to Peggy Ashcroft in "A Passage to India," which will also win for "Best Cinematography."

AGAIN, TRYING TO second-guess the academy's voting behavior, it will go for "The Killing Fields" for Best Film Editing because the academy thinks it ought to get something. I agree, but in spite of my great regard for that film and its social importance and impact, the other choices were better. Of course, if "Amadeus" makes the kind of sweep of the awards that Forman did in 1976 with "Cuckoo's Nest," then the Editing prize will be his, along with all the rest.

As for Best Original Song — don't ask me. I'm not into the Top 40 stuff. All five songs were very popular, and that's the name of the game — so "Ghost Busters" should win that one and for Visual Effects. Among other lesser awards, I imagine Prince will win Adaptation Score for "Purple Rain," although not on my recommendation.

what's at the movies

AMADEUS (PG) Superb rendition of Mozart's life with Tom Hulce and F. Murray Abraham. Directed by Milos Forman.

BROTHER FROM ANOTHER PLANET (Unrated but probably PG-13) Humorous and clever, as black extraterrestrial slave escapes and lands in Harlem. Marred by murky conclusion.

FANTASIA (G) Walt Disney's animated classic featuring a new digitally rerecorded Dolby stereophonic soundtrack.

HEAVEN HELP US (R) Rebellious students in strict Catholic High School, starring Kevin Dillon, Andrew McCarthy and Donald Sutherland.

THE KILLING FIELDS (R) Must-see, intense story of brotherhood amidst the horrors of war in Cambodia, based on Pulitzer-Prize-winning article by New York Times correspondent Sydney Schanberg.

MISCHIEF (R) Typical high-school story, well-produced but too explicit for young teen-agers. Parents take the big rap for all that is bad.

MURKIN IN ACTION II (No rating available) Chuck Norris still doesn't believe official reports about his son. Tune in next week.

1984 (R) Richard Burton's last film, a brilliant rendition of George Orwell's frightening vision of the future. Not to be missed.

A PASSAGE TO INDIA (PG) David Lean directed this story of love and class struggle in 1930 India. Based on E.M. Forster novel, with Judy Davis.

TUFF TURF (R) Another high school flick, heavy on the music, including Southside Johnny, Marianne Faithfull and Heart Attack.

Diet Revolution: It's OK To Eat Bread!

And pasta, and buns, and cereals, and crackers...and cookies and cakes, occasionally.

Anyone who wants to eat wisely—whether to lose weight, to stay fit, or just to feel good—can enjoy a wonderful array of wheat-based foods. Nutritionists, doctors, scientists, and food experts agree that wheat foods and other foods containing complex carbohydrates (fiber and starch) are good for you!

Time was when dieters were unwisely told, "Cut out starchy foods." But no more! There's now scientific proof that complex carbohydrate foods, a primary source of energy, vitamins, minerals, and fiber, are one of the answers to improved nutrition.

Recent research reports confirm that the carbohydrates, such as starch, in these foods not only contain less than half the number of calories per ounce than fats, but, when consumed in excess of our daily energy needs, are actually less fattening.

More Miles Per Slice

The complex carbohydrates of wheat foods provide time-released energy or long-lasting fuel. As Dr. William J. Evans, Chief, Human Physiology Laboratory, Tufts University, says, "Carbohydrates are extremely important in the diet of an athlete. A quick glance at the training table shows that athletes recognize the value of a diet high in complex type carbohydrates for peak performance and sustained energy. Today's healthy, active people of all ages can certainly benefit from similar food choices."

Carbohydrates and Protein

Wheat products, when teamed with the complementary proteins in foods such as peanuts or dry beans, nuts and seeds, dairy products, eggs or small amounts of animal protein foods, also provide complete, inexpensive protein. Peanut butter on toast, cereal with milk, macaroni and cheese—all of these delightful combinations make up complete protein packages, supplying all the essential amino acids a body needs.

Fiber

Wheat foods, particularly whole grain products, also provide dietary fiber, plant material which is not digested in our gastrointestinal tracts. Fiber adds bulk and helps maintain regularity and may also have a role in helping to prevent certain types of cancer.

What Does It All Mean?

The bottom line is that wheat-based foods—breads, pasta, cereals, rolls, crackers, cookies and sweet pastries—are good for you. And as you know, a good thing tastes good, too. So savor their benefits—low calories, fiber, vitamins and minerals, variety, taste...and energy!

The recipes featured here are just a small sample of the many tantalizing ways you can enjoy food for you wheat-based foods. You probably have your own wheat-based concoctions, have even more. The Wheat Industry Council has prepared a series of fact sheets on wheat foods, including important nutrition information. For a free set of fact sheets, write to: Wheat Foods, P.O. Box 208, Manhattan, KS 66502.

It takes energy (calories) to convert excess food protein, fat, sugar or starch into body fat. In the case of carbohydrates (sugar and starch) this conversion cost is about 28 percent of their original caloric content. Fat, on the other hand (or hip), takes a lot less energy to store away—only about 7 percent of its calories. As Dr. Elliot Danforth, Director of the Clinical Research Center of Vermont, has stated, excess fat, "can be slipped with little cost directly into our fat cells, whereas excess carbohydrates must first be converted into fat before they can be stored in our fat cells, and that costs calories."

The American Heart Association and several other authorities are recommending that the American diet include more carbohydrates—as much as 55 percent of daily calories—especially complex carbohydrates like those in wheat foods. And bread, rolls, buns, pasta, cereals and crackers provide the way with a lot of choice and a great deal of menu variety.

Count the Calories

Adult Americans average only about 18 percent of their total daily calories from wheat-based foods including desserts. Some authorities* recommend that we should increase our consumption of carbohydrates, principally complex types, from about 40 to over 50 percent of total calories. And even dieters should have four servings of food from the BREAD/CEREAL group each day. There are plenty of great foods from which to choose. Check the low scores below:

Examples	Calories
Bread (per 1 oz. slice)
Enriched white	76
Whole wheat	70
Cereal (per 1 oz. dry)
Unsweetened wheat flakes	110
Pasta (per 2 oz. uncooked)
Spaghetti/macaroni	210
Crackers (per 1/2 oz.)
Saltines (5)	60

*American Heart Association, American Diabetes Association, U.S. Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs

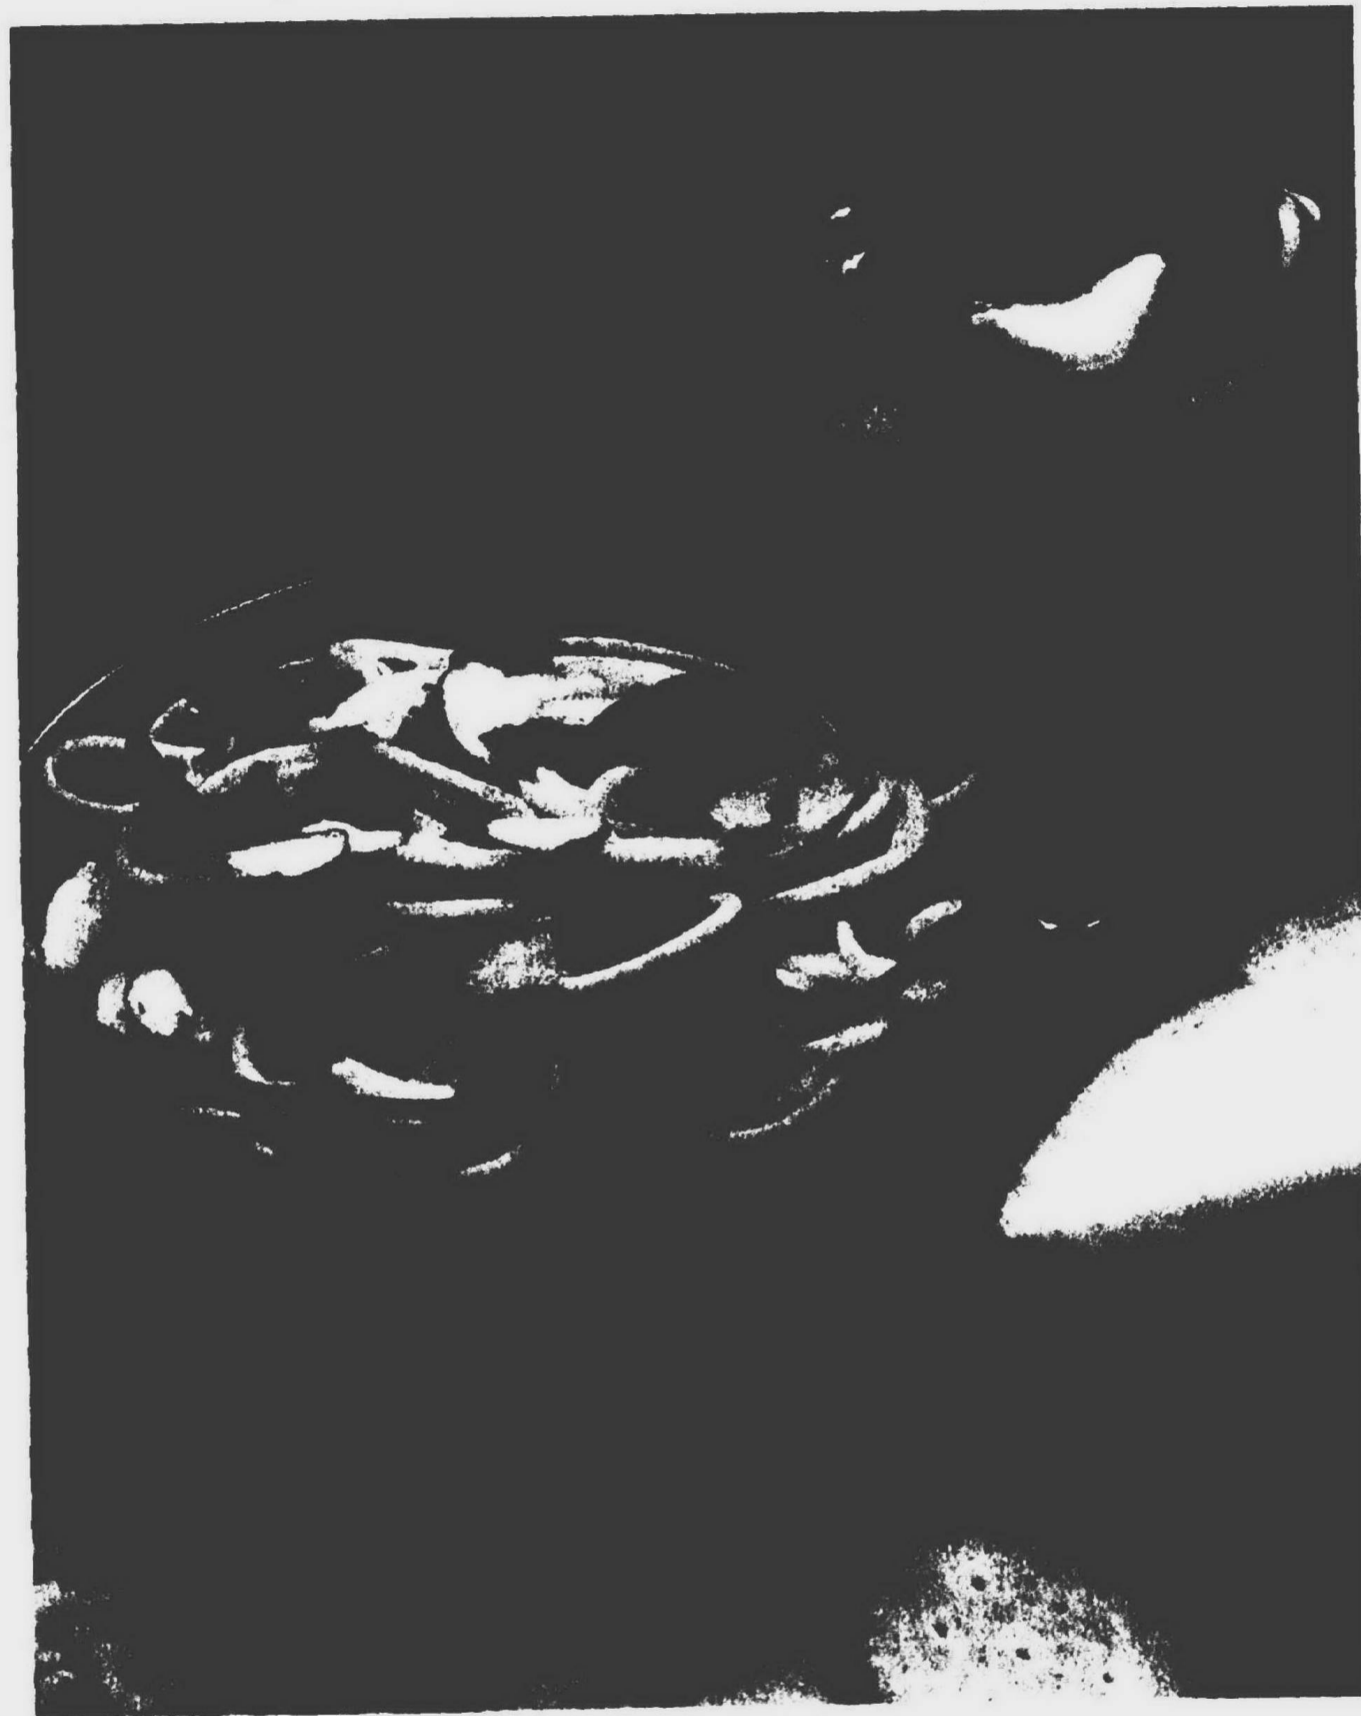

Count the Nutrients

The percentages of various nutrients the average adult gets each day from wheat foods are impressive! Count them and see:

Nutrient	% of Total Daily Intake
Protein	10%
Fat	9%
Carbohydrate	29%
Calcium	14%
Iron	23%
Magnesium	13%
Phosphorus	13%
Vitamin A	5%
Thiamin	37%
Riboflavin	20%
Niacin	21%
Vitamin B ₆	9%
Vitamin B ₁₂	6%
Vitamin C	3%

Count the Cost

Wheat-based foods are a dollar bargain, as well as a calorie bargain. A recent survey showed that wheat foods accounted for less than $6 of every $50 spent on food, about $2 for bread and rolls, $1.60 for cookies, crackers and sweet goods, $0.95 for cereals and $0.25 for macaroni, spaghetti and egg noodles.

Pasta Primavera

A medley of colorful, fresh vegetables combines with low-fat pasta to make this picture-pretty and very satisfying meatless entree. Grated orange peel adds an unexpected—and delightful—flavor accent.

- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup purple onion, sliced
- 1/2 cup chopped radishes
- 1 pound enriched spaghetti or other pasta
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 cups fresh spinach
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 cup pepper
- 1/2 cup Dash nutting
- 3/4 cup sunflower seed kernels OR sliced almonds, toasted

In large bowl, combine spinach, orange juice, onion and radishes. Cook spaghetti according to package directions, drain well. Toss spaghetti with oil, orange peel, cheese and seasonings. Add to vegetable mixture, toss to combine. Sprinkle with seeds. Serve immediately. Makes 8 servings.

Crunchy Wheat Flake Topping

The irresistible nutty flavor and delightful crunchiness of this nicely spiced cereal mixture make it a terrific topping for fresh fruit, ice cream, frozen yogurt, pudding—you name it. Or, sprinkle it atop creamy yogurt and fruit to make a nutrition-packed breakfast "sundae"—one that'll give you energy with staying power.

- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup wheat flakes
- 1/2 cup wheat bran
- 1/2 cup wheat germ
- 1/2 cup wheat bran
- 1/2 cup wheat bran
- 1/2 cup wheat bran
- 1/2 cup wheat bran

In small saucepan over Medium high heat, bring juice to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until liquid is reduced to 1/3 cup (about 5 minutes). Remove from heat. Stir in butter, vanilla and cinnamon. Combine wheat flakes and nuts in large bowl. Drizzle with apple juice mixture and toss until cereal is completely coated. Spread on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 275°F oven until mixture is crisp and richly browned, stirring occasionally, about 35 to 40 minutes. Cool thoroughly. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 6 cups.

Middle East Pate Sandwiches

The flavors of the Middle East combine to make an attractive—and very tasty—sandwich. The complementary proteins of the bread, beans and cheese supply all the essential amino acids.

- 1/2 cup sesame seeds, toasted*
- 1/2 cup (15 1/2 oz.) garbanzo beans, drained
- 1/2 cup plain yogurt
- 1/2 cup (1 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 clove garlic, peeled
- 1 cup fresh parsley sprigs
- 1/2 to 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 8 slices bread
- Softened margarine
- Cucumber slices
- Lettuce leaves

With the metal blade of a food processor or in blender, process toasted sesame seeds until finely chopped. Add beans, yogurt, cheese, lemon juice, garlic, parsley and cumin. Process until smooth, adding more yogurt if needed. Spread bread with margarine. Divide pate equally between 4 bread slices. Top with cucumber slices and lettuce. Close sandwiches with remaining bread slices. Makes 4 sandwiches.

*Toast sesame seeds in dry frying pan over Medium high heat 3 to 5 minutes until golden brown. Stir frequently.

Cola pot roast saves money

I still clip coupons from newspapers and magazines. In fact, a friend gave me a little gift: a coupon clipper that relies on a versatile finger and a sharp razor blade.

I also still clip bonus coupons and save bonus stamps, those yellow and green ones that you must paste on a card to collect dividends.

I still try to use the regular coupons and bonuses together when I can at the supermarket to double my savings.

After a year of keeping a log, I found that most of the double coupons went for dishwashing liquid, paper towels, flour, cooking oil, coffee, frozen pizza and soft drinks.

With the double coupons, I also got two boxes of macaroni and cheese free, a pound of unsalted margarine for 74 cents and a 49-ounce box of washing detergent for 74 cents. Not bad, huh?

But the three top savings were: Coffee, which cost from 45 cents to $1 a pound, including a regular coupon savings from 30 cents to $1 on three purchases.

Frozen pizza, which cost from 45 cents to $1.29, including a regular coupon savings averaging 25 cents on four purchases.

Soft drinks, which cost from 74 cents to 94 cents an eight-pack, including a regular coupon savings averaging 25 cents.

Eleven times I put double coupons to work on soft drinks. I don't drink soda, but my family does.

However, I do cook with cola on occasion. You can, too.

COLA POT ROAST

- 3 to 3 1/2-lb. beef chuck roast
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 tbsp. cooking oil
- Salt and black pepper to taste
- 2 cups cola
- 1/2 cup water
- 6 medium potatoes, halved lengthwise
- 6 carrots, halved lengthwise

Wipe meat with damp cloth, dredge in flour, heat oil in electric frypan at 350 degrees and brown roast on both sides. Sprinkle on salt and pepper, add 1 1/2 cups cola and 1/2 cup water, cover, with vents closed, and simmer at 220 degrees 1 hour. Remove roast, add rest of cola and water, put in potatoes and carrots, place roast on top, cover and cook another 40 minutes to 1 hour, until meat is tender. Slice meat, serve with vegetables and pour on gravy. Serves 6.

Dumplings top stew

Try this down-home recipe for meatball stew. Homestyle dumplings made from refrigerated biscuits top off this nourishing meal.

HEARTY MEATBALL STEW AND DUMPLINGS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. garlic pepper
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 10 1/2-oz. can condensed tomato soup
- 3 carrots, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1/4 tsp. thyme
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 7.5-oz. can refrigerated biscuits
- Paprika

In medium bowl, combine ground beef, egg, onion, salt, pepper and 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder, mix well. Shape into 1 1/2-inch balls. In dutch oven, brown meatballs; drain. Dissolve bouillon in boiling water. Add water, soup, vegetables, thyme and remaining 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder to meatballs; stir gently. Cover and bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes.

Separate dough into 10 biscuits; cut each biscuit in half. Place biscuit halves on hot stew mixture. Sprinkle with paprika. Simmer uncovered for 10 minutes; cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes longer. 5 to 6 servings.

TIP: Three cups frozen stew vegetables can be substituted for carrots, potatoes and onion. Reduce initial simmer time to 5 minutes.

Women speak out on restroom gap

By Penny Wright
special writer

FEMALES DON'T talk much about public toilets. They don't like the subject. One woman speaks for many: "I try to avoid going to public restrooms." Women have more reasons than men to dread answering "nature's call" away from home. Public toilets fail to meet their needs most of the time. "You know, women are always waiting in line," said a Royal Oak theater-goer. A Plymouth woman lamented, "I have nightmares about them." A Birmingham mother said, "I am specially concerned for the children. I always clean up the toilet area for them."

A Detroit male sympathized, "I think women take longer, yet buildings have more facilities for men." A frustrated Oak Park husband added, "Sometimes my wife isn't in and I am already out."

EXCESSIVE LINES and congestion in women's restrooms often force extreme measures. "At Pine Knob, I have seen women going into the men's john to go," said a male Detroit. Added a female traveler, "In Houston, during a women's convention, we posted guards at the door and changed the men's restroom to a women's."

The problem is nationwide, according to findings published in the January/February issue of "Plumbing Engineer" magazine from a survey of public "powder room" users.

The results revealed that women routinely face long lines, congestion, dirty conditions, and the lack of sanitary and convenience features to meet their needs. Three-quarters of the respondents declared the number of plumbing fixtures in women's restrooms inadequate.

More than 400 women "came out of the water closet" and candidly answered the survey questions about public powder rooms. Respondents noted that building owners, designers and public officials failed to take into consideration the added time women need in restrooms due to their physiology, dress and behavioral habits. In short, women need special consideration.

The magazine survey followed a July/August 1984 article in the same publication that spotlighted the problems women have with public restrooms.

Author and professional engineer Dr. Alfred Steele pointed out that plumbing codes have taken a policy of benign neglect with respect to public toilet facilities for women.

Principal offenders are stadiums, sports arenas, theaters, concert halls and auditoriums. Steele said these large-crowd complexes are woefully lacking sufficient numbers of plumbing fixtures, he noted.

A LOCAL EXPERT agrees. "I think where somebody (code writers) really goofed were places of assembly," said Joseph Olivieri, mechanical engineering professor at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield.

Olivieri, who teaches a design course for architectural students, recently reviewed the Michigan plumbing code requirements for large assembly buildings with his class.

Based on a sample of 3,000 people at an event, the class calculated that barely 10 percent of the audience could be accommodated at the restrooms during the evening. More significantly, they observed that due to the use of urinals, the men's restroom facilities provided 1 1/2 times more fixtures than the women's restrooms.

The result of such codes, Olivieri said, is long lines at both men and women restrooms, but as far as the males, "they can get out quicker with the urinals."

"There was a rest stop up north where stuff was all over the floor. I stopped a woman from going in with her barefooted child," said a concerned woman. "It was disgusting."

Is the situation unhealthy? Yes. Besides inconveniences and discomfort, local health officials say that overcrowded restrooms have potential health hazards.

Here's what people say

Area entertainment centers and what their patrons said about the restroom facilities:

PINE KNOB

"I've seen people using the trees in the parking lot because they've been waiting so long." — M.S., Detroit

"I've waited for a date to come out of the restroom for 40 minutes." — P.T. Grosse Pointe male

U-M FOOTBALL STADIUM

"If you know the right one to go to, you don't wait." — E.K., Royal Oak

"Long lines, long wait. I've seen urine all over the floor." — G.S., Birmingham

FORD AUDITORIUM

"At intermission, I don't even clap, I just jump up and run for the restroom." — E.K., Royal Oak

"Poorly designed." — B.M., Plymouth

MUSIC HALL

"I planned ahead. I went during lunch in Northville and didn't go again until I returned home." — M.B., Plymouth

TIGER STADIUM

"If I drink beer at Tiger Stadium, I would be standing in line all the time. I don't drink beer because I don't want to miss the game." — M.P., Detroit male

MEADOWBROOK (outside)

"All right, considering it's out-of-doors." — B.S. Birmingham

"Restrooms are terribly far. I don't know what a handicapped person does there." — B.M., Plymouth

COBO HALL

"Went to a family event. As expected, the women's line was along the wall out the hall." J.G., Canton male

"And remember, PLENTY of women's restrooms this time!"

Infection linked to problem

A University of Michigan medical researcher maintains that a woman's aversion to public restrooms makes her prone to urinary infections.

Dr. Jack Lapides, retired professor of urology at the University of Michigan Medical School, contends that many women avoid using public restrooms to the point of holding back normal bladder voiding. Constant restraint of bladder activity could cause infections.

In a group of 250 women with a documented history of recurrent urinary tract infection, Dr. Lapides found that a majority of the women were infrequent voiders, urinating once in five to 10 hours.

Lapides believes that women with poor voiding patterns may over-distend their bladders. In the process, the antibacterial defenses of the urinary tract are weakened by the disruption of the structural integrity of the bladder tissue and decreased blood supply.

WHEN THE TEST group was treated with antibacterial medication and placed on a regime of frequent voiding, a majority of the patients experienced clearing of their infections.

"We see many women with this condition," said Lapides. "Sometimes it's related to the work an individual does and whether her trips to the restroom are restricted. Sometimes it's related to a woman's aversion to using public toilets."

According to Lapides, women will avoid public restrooms for a variety of reasons: too few toilets, fear of contracting diseases, a sense of modesty and the difficulty of removing undergarments.

Over the years, Lapides has diligently pressed for improved conditions in public restrooms. "I think it's quite a problem as far as women are concerned," he said.

Code points up restroom bias

By Penny Wright
special writer

ATOP STATE plumbing official says that public toilet facilities are biased toward men. Let's examine the issue.

It's intermission time at Crysler Arena in Ann Arbor. Long lines have formed outside the restroom doors. Both men and women wait. The men's line moves noticeably quicker and soon disappears. The last woman passes through the restroom door moments before the basketball game resumes.

An easy explanation is that women are slower. There is a compelling reason. A careful count of toilet fixtures in each restroom shows a male advantage in facilities of 1 1/2 to 1.

Puzzled? So are a lot of females when they compare numbers with males.

"I always thought the lines were longer because we took so long," said a

"I would say that the existing plumbing requirements are sexist. They are more biased toward men. Men have written the codes in the past. . ."

"Finally, we are seeing women participating in the development of codes. Governor Blanchard, for instance, has appointed a woman to the state Plumbing Board as a citizen's representative. . ."

female sports fan. "You don't know what the other restrooms have."

ARCHITECTURE students at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield during a class exercise tallied restroom facilities in their classroom building. They found male toilet fixtures outnumbered female toilets by a ratio of 7 to 1 despite the fact that the student body numbered 250 women to 350 men.

The explanation: the building was constructed when female architects were a rarity. The women students countered that even the new buildings on the campus failed to adequately meet their needs.

In a nationwide survey conducted by "Plumbing Engineer" magazine, three-quarters of the female respondents indicated they were being short-changed on restroom facilities. "There always seems to be five times more women than facilities," commented one woman. "I wouldn't know what to do if I could just once walk right into a restroom without waiting," another woman said.

THE CONSENSUS: "Women's special needs are not being considered in most public restrooms." The needs include: added time requirements, privacy, extra cleanliness in toilet areas and more storage space.

Inevitably women ask, "Why not?" A Michigan plumbing official offers this candid response. "I would say that the existing plumbing requirements are sexist. They are more biased toward men," said Jim Cummings, chief plumbing inspector for the state. "Men have written the codes in the past."

Cummings explained the number of lavatory and toilet fixtures available in any building is determined by state and national plumbing codes. These codes have been written typically by all-male committees.

The situation is changing. Women are getting jobs as engineers, building inspectors and plumbing professionals.

"Finally, we are seeing women participating in the development of codes," said Cummings. Gov. James Blanchard, for instance, has appointed a woman to the state plumbing board as a citizen's representative.

Cummings continued. The national construction code, BOCA (Building Officials and Code Administrators), has finally come to accept the fact that building users are now 50-percent male and 50-percent female.

"THIS IS A first bold step," said Cummings. "We've identified it as a problem. This is progress."

Cummings cautioned against expecting quick changes in restrooms. There are many roadblocks to getting adequate toilet facilities for women.

First the nature of the problem. In assembly places, with peak surges during intermission, "There is no way that you can install enough facilities to satisfy all those who want to use them," Cummings said.

He suggested the female urinal (a seatless toilet fixture) could be used to shorten lines. Women's urinals were introduced in the early 1960s in an attempt to relieve restroom congestion. Most women avoid using the fixture.

"If we had acceptance of the female urinal, then it would speed up the line," Cummings added. "What we need to do is educate females that a urinal can be used."

Health department officials point to another roadblock to relieving congested restroom facilities — building owners.

Harry Boyle, director of commercial and industrial hygiene in Detroit, said his department routinely goes through city theaters, arenas and assembly places during time of peak use to check overburdened facilities. "We have had complaints about people misusing fixtures at large assembly places. We have effected changes in many cases. It hasn't always been easy."

BOB LONG, SANITARIAN for Oakland County, believes that congested facilities is a problem that can be addressed. "It's more of an education aspect to get owners to see what the problem is and how it can be alleviated," said Long. "The code provides for the minimum. We can only ask for more."

A building designer explains the process.

"The code is the starting point," said Richard Pinnell of the Detroit-based architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls. "We then look at all sorts of things that make the situation different; whether beer is served, if children will be in the audience and what types of intermission will occur. It's up to the building owner to determine whether plumbing facilities should be increased or modified."

"Sometimes you get into a situation where you have to make modifications," said Pinnell. For example, when designing Joe Louis Arena, no one anticipated how many men would use the restrooms. The resulting unsanitary conditions prompted fixture changes.

A lack of space can also hamper efforts to modify restroom facilities. Grant Collins, assistant manager of the Music Hall in downtown Detroit, is aware that the women's facilities in the 55-year-old building are lacking. "We could start knocking out walls, but we hate to lose the historical value of the building."

Instead, the theater management has tried to extend intermissions for 20 or 30 minutes when possible. "It kills me if the intermission isn't long enough," he said.

The cost of plumbing fixtures also discourages restroom reform. Local plumbing officials point out that concessions bring in money, while bathrooms don't.

"Economics is a big factor in increasing the number of toilets," said Albert Cohen of the state plumbing board. Cohen estimates the cost of adding one water closet to an existing building could be $10,000 to $15,000 depending on plumbing and building modifications.

Arts council announces spring craft classes

The Plymouth Community Arts Council spring schedule of craft classes began Wednesday, March 13, with a five-week basket workshop that runs through April 10. Students learn to make baskets Wednesday afternoons and evenings, for a fee of $15.

Other classes include Ukrainian Easter Eggs or Pysanky 1-3 p.m. Thursday, March 21, at a fee of $3.50. Students will learn the centuries-old technique of decorating eggs with a styus dipped in beeswax.

A class in pierced and decorated lampshades will be held Tuesday, March 26, and Tuesday, April 23.

Students will learn the basic skills of making decorative lampshades in the pierced style and other techniques for decorating shades. Fee is $6.50 and $2.50 for the kit.

Calligraphy for beginners runs from April 4-25. For the tuition fee of $14.50, students learn the art of elegant handwriting, including the Chancery Cursive alphabet.

A CLASS on decorated baskets and flower pots, Tuesday, May 7, uses the techniques of sponge painting and stenciling to decorate baskets and flower pots. Fee is $5, materials $3.

Students can learn how to make a slim tote basket 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday, May 13, for $10.50 (materials $6). The basket is used to carry magazines or papers or can be used as a summer purse or sewing basket.

On Tuesday, May 14, a class on straw bee skep or colonial bee hive shows the student how to make this reproduction of early bee hives used in colonial days. The class, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., is $6, $15 for materials.

A class 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday, May 20, will show how to make primitive dolls by giving the fabric an old look. The fee is $6, $12 for materials.

Easter designs in quilling will be taught 4-6 p.m. Tuesday, March 19. Students will use the centuries-old technique quilling or wrapping paper strips into light curls to make delicate designs, featuring Easter egg and spring floral patterns. Fee is $4, materials $2.

A Pysanky for children class will be held 4-6 p.m. Thursday, March 28, for $4 ($5 for materials).

A candlewick class will be given 4-6 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, for $4 (materials $3). Students will make springtime designs using the candlewick technique of knots.

The final class Thursday, May 9, will show how to decorate a country-style box, using a sponge and a stencil. Fee is $4, materials are $2.

Those interested in attending can enroll in person, by mail or by calling 455-5260 from 9 a.m. to noon. The office is located at 332 S. Main, Plymouth.

Goins guides Observer tankers again

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Brian Goins, North Farmington's All-American, two-time state champion and state record holder, headlines the 1985 Observer-land swim team.

By Brad Emons
staff writer

If you're going to start with an All-Observer swim team, you'd better start with North Farmington's Brian Goins.

The senior is a two-time state Class A champion in the 100-yard butterfly, consequently making him a high school All-American.

Goins was the major reason for North's 11th-place finish last week in the state meet at Eastern Michigan University, the highest place among any area team.

He was also instrumental in North's third consecutive Northwest Suburban League (NSL) crown this season.

North swimmers are listed on the first team in five of the 11 events. The Raiders also gained one at-large berth.

Livonia Stevenson, which tied North in a dual meet during the regular season and won the Western Lakes Conference meet, landed two first-team spots and one at-large berth.

Introducing the 1984-85 All-Observer swim team, as selected by area coaches:

FIRST TEAM INDIVIDUAL EVENTS

Greg Wolff, Ply. Salem, 200 freestyle: A senior, Wolff led Salem to a 10-3 dual-meet record and a second-place finish in the Western Lakes meet.

At the WLAAC championships, Wolff gained second in the 200 and 500 freestyles and was a member of the Rocks' second-place 400-freestyle relay squad. His best time in the 200 freestyle was 1:48.7.

A state qualifier three consecutive years, Wolff plans to attend the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

Mike Tumey, N. Farmington, 200 IM: A sophomore, Tumey's best time in the 200 IM was 2:01.81.

He set an NSL record in that event and won the 100 butterfly in the league as well.

A member of North's victorious 200-medley-relay squad in the league, Tumey was also a state qualifier in two individual events.

With Tumey aboard, North finished fifth in Class A in the 400 freestyle relay.

Kevin Everhart, Liv. Stevenson, 50 freestyle: A senior, Everhart was Stevenson's big gun this season.

He finished sixth in the 100 backstroke and 10th in the 50 freestyle (22.07) at the state meet.

He also helped the Spartans to a ninth finish in the 400-freestyle relay at the state meet.

Everhart holds five school or pool records at Stevenson, and holds the Western Lakes Conference mark in the 100 backstroke (56.4).

"Kevin is the kind of kid I hope all coaches would have a chance to coach," said Stevenson's Doug Buckler.

Andy Flower, Ply. Canton, diving: A junior, Flower came on strong at the end of the season after suffering a broken hand earlier on.

He placed second in the regional, third in the state Class A meet with 420.20 points (12 dives), and first in the Western Lakes with a 439.5 score.

He also holds the six-dive record at Canton with 375.85 points.

"Last year Andy didn't make it out of the diving regional," recalls Canton coach Hooker Wellman, "but this year he finishes third in the state meet."

"That's some kind of improvement. And it's done through hard work."

Brian Goins, N. Farmington, 100 butterfly: Goins may best be remembered for his state record time of 50.79 for the butterfly in a preliminary heat at the state championships.

Not only did he win the butterfly at the state meet for the second year in a row, he also placed third in the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:42.94.

Division I colleges are after his services because of his unlimited potential, according to coach Pat Duthie.

"I believe he's still got an awful lot to work with," said the North coach. "He's not close to being done improving. He can get a lot better."

Goins also won the 200 freestyle and helped North set a league record at the NSL meet 400 freestyle relay.

Mike Buatti, N. Farmington, 100 freestyle: A junior, Buatti's best times of the season came at the league meet where he won the 50 freestyle (22.23), 100 freestyle (49.30) and helped the Raiders set a league record in the 400 freestyle relay (3:29.1).

In 1984, Buatti was also a member of North's 400-freestyle-relay squad, which set varsity and pool records.

Kirk Raddatz, Farm. Harrison, 500 freestyle: A senior, Raddatz was a workhorse for the Hawks in the long distance events.

He posted the area's best time in the 500 freestyle (4:48.8) at the state meet, finishing 11th in Class A.

Raddatz captured both the 200 and 500 freestyles at the Western Lakes Conference meet, setting a league record in the 500 (4:49.0). His best time in the 200 freestyle is 1:47.44.

John Kovach, Catholic Central, 100 backstroke: A sophomore, Kovach was the area's second best individual point-getter at the state Class A meet, finishing second in the 100 backstroke (54.44) and fifth in the 200 IM (1:58.83).

In the Catholic League meet, Kovach won the 200 freestyle in a school record 1:46.55, to go along with the backstroke.

The talented Shamrock also holds the state AAU record for 15-16-year-olds in the 200 butterfly with a time of 1:57.55.

Eric Hutchinson, Liv. Churchill, 100 breaststroke: A senior, Hutchinson by far was Churchill's biggest point producer.

He placed fifth in Class A with an area best time of 1:00.53.

In the Western Lakes meet, Hutchinson proved equally as adept, capturing the same race in 1:03.9.

RELAY EVENTS

Joe Saunders, Steve Taormina, Chris Morasky and Dennis Ward, Liv. Stevenson; 200 medley: These four swimmers are one of the main reasons why the Spartans broke Plymouth Salem's stranglehold on the Western Lakes championships.

Freeland, Muzbeck win gymnastics titles

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

What was supposed to happen did, but how is an entirely different story.

Freeland High School, the 1983 state gymnastics champion and heavy favorite to win the team title Friday night at Troy, did indeed capture the crown. The scenario took a strange twist when three Falcon gymnasts came up lame before the meet ever started.

To make matters worse, the Falcons' opening event — the balance beam competition — featured an inauspicious start as Freeland scored 31.75, the third lowest of the eight teams.

Freeland rallied from that point on and piled up 138.25 points to edge Holland's 138.00 total. Traverse City was third with 137.00, followed by East Kentwood (136.50), Troy (134.85), Ann Arbor Pioneer (131.30), Parma Jackson County Western (130.60) and Dearborn (124.95).

To no one's surprise, Walled Lake Western's Barrie Muzbeck captured the all-around title with 38.05 points. Freeland's Lori Stanick, the only senior on the loaded Falcon squad, was second with 37.60 points.

BUT THE STORY of the night was Freeland's resiliency. Wednesday, Linda Gleasner fell and suffered a concussion. Thursday, Dana Dumont injured her heel. Friday, in warmups before the team and all-around competition, Suzanne Hendricks injured her foot with what was believed to be a fractured toe.

After the Falcons took turns falling off the beam, it looked as though a fired-up Holland team would win the team title.

"We were looking to break the school record," Freeland coach Alice Buchalter said, before she learned her team won the title. "Now we'll just be happy to take home a trophy."

Stanick and Jamie Nelman, who placed fourth in all-around, helped carry the Falcons to victory. Their efforts, coupled with the team's incredible depth, was the difference.

"I thought it was all over," Buchalter said, referring to Hendricks being scratched. "When you take a 36-37 (all-around score) out of the lineup, you start getting ulcers."

"I told the kids not to give up even if you're down after one event. We've worked on that principle all year long. We had to exorcise ourselves and do better on the next three events."

Walled Lake Western's Barrie Muzbeck concluded her Michigan high school gymnastics career Saturday with three first-place finishes in the individual championships at Troy High.

Muzbeck, who won the all-around total the night before, posted two-day scores of 19.35 on the parallel bars, 19.15 on the balance beam and an 18.8 in floor exercise — all first places. She tied Holland's Jeni Hescott for first in floor. Freeland's Jamie Nelman won the vault competition with a combined score of 19.15.

Southfield-Lathrup senior Lana Horowitz placed fourth in floor (18.55) and was tied for sixth on beam (17.50). Troy junior Suzanne Enciso placed sixth on the vault (18.55).

The highlight of the competition was Muzbeck's beam routine, which earned a 9.7 score from the judges and a standing ovation from the fans.

That they did.

Freeland scored 35.85 on vault, 36.75 on the uneven parallel bars, and 33.90 in floor exercise to escape with the title.

"It was just awesome," said North Farmington coach Mary Glitz, whose team won the state title in 1979 and 1981. "That's all I can say about them (Freeland). I can't believe one of their girls breaks her foot and they still win. I was very impressed."

While Freeland was turning the heads of the 750 fans on hand, so too was Muzbeck, the 1983 all-around champion. When Muzbeck prepared for her first event — the bars competition — a hush fell over the otherwise boisterous crowd.

MUZBECK DELIGHTED the fans with a 9.7 on the bars — her highest score of the night. She also scored a 9.65 in floor, 9.3 on vault and a 9.4 on beam.

Troy, a sixth-place finisher last season, moved up a notch this year. Suzanne Enciso was 12th in all-around with a 34.85 score, and was sixth on vault (9.25) after Friday's competition. Individual event champions were decided Saturday.

"We're not really disappointed," said Troy coach Sandy Smith, who was hoping to place in the top four of the team competition. "The competition is just so tough. It's been a very good season. The kids have done well, they've just never been in a big-meet situation like this this year. They're not accustomed to this kind of pressure."

Troy's Michele Sirna, in her last high school competition, placed 16th in overall as the consistent performer scored 33.75 in all-around. Sirna was not at full-strength since she was fighting off an illness which kept her out of practice Wednesday.

Southfield-Lathrup senior Lana Horowitz, second in all-around last year to Bloomfield Hills Lakeser graduate Sisi Porretta, was 10th in all-around with a 35.10 score.

Horowitz was fourth in floor (9.28) and tied for eighth on beam (8.55). She also scored an 8.4 on vault and an 8.9 on bars.

Rochester's Lisa Rotondo was 12th in all-around (34.55), while Birmingham Seaholm's Katie Dahn was 19th (33.60). Rotondo scored 8.8 on vault, 8.75 on bars, 8.1 on beam and 8.9 in floor. Dahn scored 8.6 on vault, 8.9 on bars, 8.25 on beam and 8.45 in floor.

the 100 backstroke. He also qualified in three events at the state meet.

Taormina, a sophomore, was the league champion in the 200 IM and took third in the 100 breaststroke. He holds records in both events.

Morasky, a sophomore, won the 50 freestyle in the league (22.5) and fourth in the 100 butterfly. He holds two school records.

Ward, a junior, won the 100 freestyle in the league (49.4).

As a team, Stevenson won the Western Lakes meet and placed seventh in Class A. Their best time is 1:40.04.

Mike Beatti, Dan Mannisto, Mike Turney and Brian Golas, N. Farmington; 400 freestyle relay: The swimming exploits of these four are well known.

In the state Class A meet, this quartet finished fifth overall with a time of 3:14.49. In a preliminary heat, the same foursome clocked an area best of 3:14.3.

North's 400 freestyle relay squad also won the league crown.

Mannisto, an underclassman, was valuable in a number of events for the Raiders.

AT-LARGE BERTHS

Mark Pratt, Redford Thurston: A senior.

all-area swimming

Pratt won the state Class B championship in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:01.33.

He was undefeated this season in the breaststroke and won the Northwest Suburban League crown. Pratt also helped Thurston to a 15th-place finish (Class B) in the 200-medley relay.

A two-year captain, Pratt has been Thurston's team leader.

Matt Ford, Redford Union: A senior. Ford was a surprise in the Class A diving as he finished fourth overall with a total of 399.10 points (13 dives).

He was also NSL champion with a league-record points total of 416.4.

Scott Stinson, N. Farmington: A senior. Stinson excelled in the 200 IM (2:03.8) and the 100 breaststroke (1:03.46).

He was second behind teammate Turney in the 200 IM at the league meet and was a member of the league-champion 400-freestyle-relay squad.

Eric Davis, Farmington: A senior.

Davis was a state qualifier for three consecutive years. This season he qualified in 200-medley relay and 100 butterfly.

In the Western Lakes meet, Davis finished fourth in the 50 freestyle and tied for second in the 100 butterfly. He was also a member of the league-champion 200-medley-relay squad.

Sean McDermott, Catholic Central: A junior. McDermott posted a best time of 54.46 in the 100 butterfly at the state meet.

He grabbed second in the 500 freestyle at the Catholic League meet with a time of 4:55.9, and posted a best time of 2:06.8 in the 200 IM. He was listed high in three different events in the Observerland rankings.

Lewis Ministrelli, Liv. Stevenson: A senior. Ministrelli's best events were in the freestyle swim.

He recorded clockings of 49.4, 1:50.2 and 5:00.6 in the 100, 200 and 500 freestyles, respectively.

One of the Spartans' inspirational leaders, Ministrelli was also a member of league-and school-record 400-freestyle-relay squad.

Pat Duthie, N. Farmington, coach of year: His teams have dominated the Northwest Suburban League pools for the past 14 years. This past season, North was undefeated and ranked No. 1 in Observerland along with Livonia Stevenson. Duthie's program will be a welcome addition to the Western Lakes next season.

Miss Basketball takes talent west

By Brad Emons, staff writer

Michigan's Miss Basketball is taking her talents outside the state.

Livonia Ladywood guard Emily Wagner made a verbal commitment last week to play for the Stanford University Cardinals in Palo Alto, California.

She will sign a national letter of intent with the PAC-10 school Monday, April 15.

"Basically I felt Stanford had the best offer, combining both athletics and academics," said the two-time All-Stater. "I also liked the coaches and the fact that I have a chance to step in and play right away as a freshman."

"I also have relatives out there so I don't feel I'll really be away from home," Wagner said. "It was a very hard decision. All the schools I considered were very good."

Wagner said she also considered Michigan, Michigan State, California-Berkeley, Duke, Virginia, Ohio State and Northwestern.

"It was a lot of little things that tipped the scales, but I could have been happy with any of them."

The PAC-10 conference which Stanford belongs to is one of the nation's premier womens basketball conferences.

Dottie McCrea, in her ninth season as Cardinal head coach, could not be reached Friday for a comment on Wagner's commitment.

The 5-foot-10 Wagner, voted the top senior player in the state for 1984 by a statewide coaches association, led Ladywood to the Class B state championship final in December before losing to River Rouge, 47-46.

As a junior, Wagner helped the Blazers past Rouge for the state crown.

In her sophomore year, Wagner was a major force in Ladywood's 22-game winning streak, which ended against St. Joseph in the state 'B' quarterfinals.

Wagner excels in the classroom as well as on the basketball court.

Sporting a near 4.0 grade-point average, the articulate Wagner is planning a career in medicine.

ADULT SOFTBALL

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is currently accepting registrations for all adult softball leagues, including men's, women's and 35-over.

Rec department offices are open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

MENS RECREATION NIGHT

Canton recreation is sponsoring another 10-week session of mens recreation (mostly consisting of pickup basketball). The program is offered to Canton residents only.

The program, housed at Eriksson Elementary School, begins Wednesday, March 27 and runs between 6:45-9:45 each Wednesday for 10 weeks. The fee is $10. Call 397-1000 for more information.

PCJBL SIGN-UP

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League will hold registration for the 1985 season from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, March 23, at the Canton High School cafeteria.

Boys and girls who will be 7 years old on or before July 31, 1985 and no older than 18 on or before that date are eligible to compete.

The PCJBL is offering a few new elements to the program this year. Included in the entry fee is a ticket to see the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds play a benefit game at Tiger Stadium.

Also, the PCJBL is offering boys softball for the first time. All boys aged 13-18 can choose to play either baseball or softball.

The organization is in need of adult managers and umpires. The managing positions are volunteer, umpires get paid per game.

PCHA SIGN-UP

The Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association will have its annual early registration day from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 30 at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The registration is for the 1985-86 season and interested participants should bring a birth certificate and $30 registration fee.

After March 30, the fee is $45.

Benefit hoops at Schoolcraft

A team of celebrities, including Horace King and Alvin Hall of the Detroit Lions as well as several media celebs, will take on Schoolcraft College's student programming board in benefit basketball game at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Schoolcraft.

Tickets, available at the Schoolcraft activities offices and at the door Wednesday, are $2. All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes to help fight against birth defects.

Members of the celebrity team include Brad Emons and Chris McCosky from the Observer & Eccentric, Virg Jacques and Fred McLeod from TV 2, Fred Hickman and Roger Weber from WDIV Channel 4 and Jay Berry from Channel 7.

Michelle Chaffin, Dean Choma and Bob Pelletier head up the Schoolcraft contingent.

Sponsors for the event include Action Distributing, WLIZ radio, Little Caesars and Schoolcraft Community College.

Cunningham grabs spot on all-GLIAC

For the fourth straight year, Oakland University's Brenda McLean has been chosen to the All-GLIAC Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) women's basketball team, while the Pioneers' Chris Howze was picked to the All-GLIAC men's team for the first time.

McLean's choice gave her a clean sweep of All-GLIAC honors. Earlier she was named to the conference's All-Academic cage team, and she was also picked to the All-GLIAC defensive squad.

Joining McLean on the 10-women All-GLIAC team was Peary Cunningham of Wayne State. Cunningham, a junior guard-forward and Plymouth Canton graduate, helped the Tartars finish second behind Saginaw Valley.

McLean, a 6-foot-1 senior forward who averaged 14.5 points and 9 rebounds in conference games, was first team All-GLIAC in each of her previous 3 seasons.

Center Kim Nash and forward Sarah Kaub earned honorable mention accolades for OU. Also receiving honorable mention was Wayne State's Ann Roy, a Livonia Bentley grad.

Howze finished second in the GLIAC in scoring to Wayne State's Grady

Lowry, also an All-GLIAC selection. Howze, a 6-3 junior forward and Orchard Lake St. Mary's grad, scored 19.8 points per game in GLIAC play.

Pioneer freshman Scott Bittinger, a 6-foot guard, was named to the All-GLIAC defensive team, joining 4 seniors and a junior.

IN OTHER COLLEGE NEWS:

Missy Proctor, a Bloomfield Hills native and an Albion sophomore, was honored as the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's (MIAA) most valuable woman swimmer.

Proctor won 4 events at the MIAA championships, setting records in each. Her victories came in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle and 100 and 200 backstroke.

Livonia's Janet Ray, a senior at Western Michigan, split eight No. 3 singles matches on the Bronco spring trip west March 2-9. Ray won at San Diego Mesa Community College 6-2, 6-1; at Long Beach State 7-4, 7-4; at University of San Diego 6-0, 6-2; and at Point Loma College 6-1, 6-0.

Ray also won 3 No. 2 doubles matches on the trip. WMU went 4-4 to run its dual meet record to 12-5.

OLSM bows out of tourney

By C.J. Neak staff writer

Tim Donke said it best.

"We caused our own demise," the Orchard Lake St. Mary's basketball coach summarized after the Eagles were ousted in the National Little College Athletic Association (NLCAA) tournament semifinals by Bluefield (Va.) College 81-74 Thursday in Norfolk, Neb.

Two factors caused St. Mary's defeat: First, an opening half stretch in which they couldn't find the basket, and second, a hot-shooting streak by Bluefield that lasted the entire game.

THE EAGLES led 16-8 when they suddenly went ice cold. Bluefield outscored them 26-3 in one run and eventually built a 26-26 halftime tie.

St. Mary's battled back behind the scoring of Bobby Wade, Rich Hartnett and Steve Kopicik, narrowing the gap to 4 points in the second half but never drawing closer. Wade finished with 18 points while Hartnett and Kopicik bagged 14 each.

Bluefield, which took its 2nd record into Friday night's final against Blackburn (Ill.) College, shot a spectacular 70 percent from the floor and connected on 28 of 49 free throws. Guard Gene Stovall topped Bluefield with 30 points, including 11-of-13 shooting from the field.

The loss dropped St. Mary's to 15-

basketball

16 going into Friday's consolation final against Sue Bennett College of Kentucky.

LAST WEDNESDAY, the Eagles advanced to the semifinals by holding off Platte (Neb.) Community College 61-54.

"We were better than them," said Donke, "but (Platte) played really well. And it was like a homecourt game for them, so I was really proud of our kids."

St. Mary's made five mistakes in searching for the victory. They were only 11 single turnovers and they hit 10-of-12 free throws down the stretch to truncate Platte.

Platte, which trailed 39-34 at the half, took a 51-50 lead with 5:07 to play. A Lance Davis jumper put St. Mary's back on top. After Platte got a free throw to tie it at 53, the Eagles took the lead for good on 2 Bobby Wade free throws. Hartnett followed a Platte miss with 2 more free throws to give St. Mary's a 3-point advantage.

Wade netted 18 points for the Eagles. Hartnett had 13 and Kopicik collected 9 points and 10 rebounds. The loss dropped Platte to 28-4.

Chicago fighter is Payne's 1st pro foe

The long-awaited professional boxing debut of Livonia heavyweight Craig Payne is slated for Thursday at Cobo Arena.

Payne will battle Mike Evans (3-2-1) of Chicago in a 6-round bout as part of a 9-fight card.

Headlining the evening of boxing is former WBA light heavyweight champion Eddie Mustafa Muhammad. Mustafa (43-6-1), of New York, will continue his comeback attempt by facing Clarence Osby (11-3-1) of Milwaukee in a 10-round bout.

Detroit junior middleweight David Braxton, the No. 1 challenger in the WBA with a 32-1 record, goes up against Reggie Miller (17-3) of Lake Charles, La., and Kronk's Lionel Johnson and Joe Johnson are on the card as well.

A special guest appearance by Alexis Arguello, the former lightweight, junior lightweight and featherweight champion, is also scheduled. Tickets are $5, $8, $12 and $20 and are available at Hudson's, Ticket World and Griffin's Sports Shops in Livonia.

Baseball clinic set at Canton

The second session of the Plymouth Canton Chiefs Baseball Clinic, sponsored by the Canton Parents Baseball Club, is slated for the weekend of March 29-30 at Canton High School.

For $15 dollars, players can learn the fundamentals of the game from two of the state's winningest and most respected high school coaches: Fred Crissey and Dave Racer.

The session runs over two days: 6-10 p.m. Friday, March 29, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Crissey (who has amassed a 220-68 record at Canton and produced eight all-stars) and Racer, along with conditioning coach Mark LaPointe, will teach the fundamentals of sliding, hitting, fielding, throwing, pitching, catching, infield play and outfield play.

The facilities at Canton are equipped with a pitching machine, batting cage and hitting tees. Youngsters nine years of age and older are eligible to participate.

For more information call any of the following people after 6 p.m.: Tom Kenyon 453-5667, Gary Lyle 455-3444, or Matt Kocik 455-6122.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF INTENTION

OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN TO ISSUE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT BONDS

TO ALL ELECTORS AND TAXPAYERS OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

TAKE NOTICE that the Charter Township of Plymouth intends to issue Industrial Development Revenue Bonds (the "Bonds") in the aggregate principal amount of not to exceed Eight Hundred Thousand ($800,000) Dollars, extending for not more than forty (40) years and bearing interest at not more than 10% per annum, for the purpose of financing all or part of the cost of acquiring, constructing and equipping an industrial facility as defined in Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended, located on property being described as Lots 27 and 28 Preliminary Plat for Metro West Industrial Park No. 2, to be recorded in the Plat book, Wayne County Records, in the Charter Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan. Said industrial facility will be leased by the Township to KATHLEEN DUL AZNAVORIAN, ALEXANDER S. DUL and ESTELLE C. DUL, who will be required to make payments to the Township in amounts sufficient to pay all principal of and interest on the Bonds and who will have the option to purchase such industrial facility and the equipment therefor for One ($1.00) Dollar upon expiration or termination of the lease term. Said industrial facility will in turn be sub-leased by KATHLEEN DUL AZNAVORIAN, ALEXANDER S. DUL and ESTELLE C. DUL to CONSOLIDATED CLIPS & CLAMPS, INC. a/b/a CLIPS & CLAMPS INDUSTRIES, a Michigan corporation.

Said Industrial Development Revenue Bonds are to be issued in accordance with the provisions of Act No. 62, Public Acts of Michigan, 1963, as amended (The Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act of 1963).

SOURCE OF PAYMENT

Neither said Industrial Development Revenue Bonds nor the interest thereon will be general obligations of the Charter Township of Plymouth and in no event will the Industrial Development Revenue Bonds or interest thereon be payable from any tax revenues or other funds of the Charter Township of Plymouth, but the Industrial Development Revenue Bonds and interest will be payable solely from revenues derived from payments to be received as rents from KATHLEEN DUL AZNAVORIAN, ALEXANDER S. DUL and ESTELLE C. DUL and/or their sub-lessee, CONSOLIDATED CLIPS & CLAMPS, INC. d/b/a CLIPS & CLAMPS INDUSTRIES, a Michigan corporation.

REFERENDUM RIGHT

THIS NOTICE is given by order of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Plymouth, Michigan, to and for the benefit of the electors of said Township, in order to inform them that said Industrial Development Revenue Bonds will be issued without submitting the question of their issuance to the electors of the Township, unless within 45 days from the publication of this notice, a petition signed by not less than 5% of the registered electors of the Township, requesting a referendum upon the question of the issuance of said Industrial Development Revenue Bonds, is filed with the Township Clerk of said Township, in which event the Industrial Development Revenue Bonds will not be issued unless and until approved by a majority of the electors of said Township voting thereon at a general or special election.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDINANCE NO. 88

AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH A POLICE DEPARTMENT FOR THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH; TO DEFINE THE AUTHORITY AND DUTIES OF THE SUPERVISOR; TO AUTHORIZE THE EMPLOYMENT OF POLICE OFFICERS AND CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES; TO ESTABLISH RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE OPERATION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ACQUIRING OF PROPERTY EQUIPMENT AND BUILDINGS; TO PRESCRIBE THE POWERS AND DUTIES OF SUCH POLICE OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Police Department Created. There is hereby created and established within the corporate limits of the Township of Plymouth a police department to be known as the "Plymouth Township Police Department."

Section 2. Authority and Duties of Supervisor. The Supervisor of the Township of Plymouth shall exercise general supervision and control over the Plymouth Township Police Department.

Section 3. Appointments. The Department shall consist of such police officers, civilian personnel, reservists and volunteers as shall be determined by the Township Supervisor. All appointments of police officers, however, made by the Supervisor to the Police Department shall be approved by the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth.

Section 4. Rules and Regulations. There shall be created by the Township Supervisor or his designee, such rules and regulations necessary for the government of the Police Department and its members, which rules and regulations shall be approved by the Township Board. Such rules and regulations shall also prescribe the powers and duties of all duly appointed police officers so as to invest them with such authority as may be necessary for the preservation of quiet and order and the protection of persons and property within the Township of Plymouth.

Section 5. Powers and Duties. Duly appointed police officers to the Plymouth Township Police Department shall have such powers as authorized by law to protect property and preserve the public welfare and safety of all persons within the Township of Plymouth. In carrying out said duties, police officers of the Plymouth Township Police Department may arrest and prosecute offenders in the District Courts and through the Office of the Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney, in the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne.

Section 6. Property, Equipment and Buildings. The Township Board shall, in its sole discretion and upon recommendation of the Township Supervisor, acquire by lease, purchase or otherwise such equipment, apparatus, supplies, property, buildings and/or motor vehicles as the Township Board shall determine are necessary for the operation, management, and maintenance of the Police Department.

Section 7. Severability. This Ordinance and various parts and sections and clauses thereof, are hereby declared to be severable. If any part, section, paragraph or clause is adjudged invalid, it is hereby provided that the remainder of the Ordinance shall not be affected thereby.

Section 8. Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 9. Publication. The Township Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

Section 10. Date of Effect. This Ordinance is hereby declared necessary for the preservation of the peace, health, and safety of the people of the Charter Township of Plymouth and is hereby given immediate effect.

This Ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth at its regular meeting called and held on the 12th day of March, A.D. 1985, and was ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.
