Officials upset

By Dennis Coffman

Government officials from Plymouth Township and Northville Township want to be kept better informed of prison escapes from the Western Wayne Correctional Facility (WWCF).

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, joined Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen and Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz in a special meeting Thursday night in Plymouth Township.

Law, the two supervisors and Plymouth Township Deputy Police Chief Chip Snider planned to get answers to their questions about why local police, as they claim, are the last ones to hear about escapes from WWCF located on Five Mile in Plymouth Township.

"People saw police officers running through their trailer park but the police were unable to give them any information about what to look for," said riod. The facility, formerly known as the Detroit House of Correction (DeHowhich is spending millions of dollars to improve internal and external security.

Part of the former DeHoCo staff, including director Emmett Baylor, has been retained following the transition.

Snider said local police needed more information from WCCF, along with

"We were not told of the direction of travel, no names or records," said

lowing the Oct. 1 escape. It stated, "On Oct. 1 at 8:56 p.m., notification was received of a prison break. Information was minimal; four to five males walked away in an unknown direction. Corrections personnel were unable to provide suspect descriptions, origins or the reason for imprisonment. Method of escape was unknown."

SNIDER SAID he informed other law enforcement agencies, including

Snider said the State Police post in Northville had received no notification of the escape until Snider contacted it.

Snider, Law, Breen and Heintz were concerned about two escapes from WCCF within a one-week period, Sept. 24 to Oct. 1. Both escapes took place on Tuesday nights.

'I'm not sure what the prison supervisor was doing. Maybe they have administrative problems. The steam tunnels (through which both groups of prisoners escaped) were previously noted as security risk areas. These people have been in prison before and know how to get out."

A total of eight prisoners have escaped from WCCF in the one-week pe-notification of an escape.

Snider issued a report to Breen folthe Michigan State Police, Northville Township Police, Wayne County Sheriff's Department and Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

"I monitored the operation from approximately 9 p.m. until 11:45 p.m.," said Snider in his report. During the two-hour, 45-minute period, the correctional facility neglected to provide information requested on the names and backgrounds of the escapees.

Snider said the only telephone line available was the general number for WCCF, which is 459-2500.

"Two prison escapes in the last week have demonstrated to me that the facility is totally lacking in a procedure whereby local agencies are made aware of escapes. This condition could improve with the joint cooperation of corrections and local law enforcement agencies," said Snider.

· A prison liaison board be established, with all involved law enforcement agencies, prison officials, township officials and local resident representatives.

Snider recommended:

• The board should meet once a

The board should establish a "fan guarantees that if an escape occurs, we out" procedure in the event of an escape, using law agencies and a citizen 'phone alert" program.

 Officials of local law enforcement agencies would establish a command post at or near the prison area, to be used as a staging area for the distribution of all involved agencies. Communication with the prison would be established at the command post, thereby eliminating the communication prob-

· A meeting of the board would be held at the next workday following an escape for the purpose of debriefing.

"WHY IS THIS prison run so poorly?" asked Law during the meeting

"We are going to meet with prison officials Friday and we are not going to leave until we have assurances. If not, we will get someone else to run the prison. This is not an on-the-job training program. It can't be run like the city of Detroit. We are not going to leave until we have an agreement."

Facility, located across Five Mile in Northville from WCCF, did not have the problems which WCCF allegedly

"We're going to blow this thing up in their face," said Law. "There will be no splitting of hairs. We are going to find out what is going on. Apparently there is an administrative problem there. We want to put the superintendent up for some accountibility. Somebody is re-Breen said he had been assured there would be no problems with the network of tunnels running under the prison. They said they were going to be as secure as Phoenix. In terms of security, they breeched the agreement."

Breen also was critical of prison officials' failure to notify the State Police of the escapes.

BREEN DESCRIBED the situation as "volatile"

"Only seven escaped last year from secure prisons. And here we are talking about a secure facility where eight got out," said Law.

"We are going to tell them if they

Taking someone to court has always outh resident Tony Henry it was all pain and no gain.

Henry, 30, had sought damages from the City of Plymouth Police Department following an incident that occurred at 1:15 a.m. Nov. 12, 1982, on Postiff Road in Plymouth.

Henry claimed four city police officers used unreasonable force in effecting his arrest and in so doing violated his constitutional rights.

But instead of receiving compensation for alleged injury and loss of employment, Henry found himself owing the City of Plymouth more than $5,000 in court costs and his own lawyer more than $5,000 to plead his case in U.S. District Court.

But for Henry, it could have been WOTSE.

The city's attorney, Bernard McClorey, originally had asked the court to award the city $47,000 in attorneys' fees, $4,000 in court costs and $7,000 in special costs.

Henry had been involved in an auto accident in 1982 and while waiting for the driver of the other car to return to the scene with her husband, Henry got into an argument with a tow truck driver about whether or not to haul Henry's car away.

HENRY CLAIMED he was ordered by a police officer to give the tow truck driver the keys to his car and Henry complied.

He said when three other officers arrived, he became "scared and confused" and left the patrol car where he had been waiting and walked over to the other accident victim's car.

Henry said he yelled expletives at one of the officers who ordered him not to go to the other car.

He said he stood still, but that "one officer grabbed my left arm and twisted it behind my back, then another grabbed my right wrist and twisted it up to my shoulder blade. Then one of them grabbed me by the hair, and left a mark from his ringe hall on my fore-

"The cuffs were on too tight, and I was complaining about this. They then grabbed my arms and shoved me into the police car."

HENRY CLAIMED he asked the officers to remove the handcuffs because he thought his wrist was broken and was swollen.

They removed the cuffs at the station, he said. In 1984, Henry sought $485,000 in U.S. District Court and lost.

In August 1985, Henry was ordered by Judge George LaPlata to pay $5,129 to the City of Plymouth, out of more than $50,000 sought by the city. Henry's case was one of many reflecting a newfound determination by Michigan communities to fight what they judge to be "frivolous" lawsuits against them.

Even if he could afford to appeal, which Henry maintains he cannot, his case is past the appealable period, according to McClorey, an attorney representing the city.

"It's past the appeal period. Given all the circumstances, there is no appealable issue in the case. The verdict is consistent with applicable law. There has been no reversible error by the judge.

"The appeal, if it came, would have to address the good faith of the dict," McClorey stated in August.

McClorey's law firm, Cummings, McClorey, Davis and Acho, handles insurance cases for the more than 100 Michigan communities that are members of a Risk Management Authority.

owes doctors' bills, his own attorneys' fees and has, he claimed, lost income through his inability to work immediately after the incident and his inability to work at full capacity today. Although the cities' point of view, to try to avoid tying up patrol officers in litigation, may be understandable it also can be argued that cases of actual abuse of police power may go uncontested by citizens who don't want to find themselves in Henry's position.

"We want to make it unrewarding for them to file," McClorey said.

But Henry said he filed not to get rich but to get justice. "Things done were not right," said Henry. "I didn't feel justice was done. I

HENRY SAID HE was not issued a traffic ticket because the auto accident was not his fault. He said he was not charged with driving under the influence of alcohol because his blood alcohol was within acceptable levels.

Henry did, he said, receive a citation for disorderly conduct, a $50 fee which he said he paid.

"I was brought up to respect authority, and I'd never resist arrest because re's no sense in it. It would take quite a bit to make me resist arrest," said Henry.

"But now I can't even afford to eat and my shoulder's been yanked out of Plymouth police claimed they only responded to physical violence on He ry's part and had to defend the integrity of the officers in court.

Byon is, Henry said he will continue in the said work in Plymouth.

State prison chiefs promise to implement tighter security

State and local government officials met face-toface with state and local prison officials Friday afternoon in an attempt to find out why prisoners have been escaping from Western Wayne Correctional Facility (WWCF) in Plymouth Township.

Within a one-week period eight prisoners escaped through steam tunnels which led to manholes and freedom on the other side of a newly installed concertina-wire fence.

Bob Brown, state corrections director, and Emmett Baylor, superintendent of WWCF, met with state Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, and members of the boards of trustees of Plymouth and Northville

"We want proper security at the prison," said

'The escapes were unanticipated and unacceptable," said Brown. "But we are in the process of remodeling and we have checked the tunnels." Law claimed the prison was staffed by inexperienced employees who were holdovers from the time when the state prison was the Detroit House of Corrections (DeHoCo). He said many of the employ-ees were untrained and not qualified to work at a secure state prison. "We cannot discount the experience the employ-ees gained in operating DeHoCo," said Brown.

BUT BAYLOR said that out of 230 prison employees, only 15 had worked in a state facility.

The state has much more rigid standards than DeHoCo," said Law.

Brown said he did not completely accept Law's definition of an inexperienced employee. "They must still come under our policies and procedures. I'd insist on it," said Brown. Because WWCF still is being remodeled to qualify as a medium security prison, barracks-type housing has not yet been converted into cellblocks. Because prisoners roam freely on the grounds in the barracks area, they have more opportunity to look for escape routes. Both Law and Brown agreed on that point.

But Brown and Baylor also pointed out that there using asbestos materials had to be approved and fire escape facilities also were not ready.

"There has never been an escape from a cellblock area at DeHoCo," said Baylor. "But there are catacombs of tunnels and those areas are still being worked on."

Law said that without a cellblock area to house all the prisoners, WWCF could not qualify as a medium security prison.

Geake made a direct plea to Brown to halt the transfer of any more prisoners to WWCF until there are adequately secure facilities.

BUT BROWN said a freeze on transfers into WWCF could back up the prison system in other reaches full capacity. "Judge me by my actions," Brown asked. "I speak to every new class of employees. One thing I dwell on is my credibility. I'll come back to you if I've got a problem. But let me apologize for the errors that have been made."

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said the prison had not lived up to the agreement it made earlier to have a secure facility.

"I intend to keep those promises," said Brown.

"Ultimately I will take responsibility. If I find a weak spot in the system, I will do what is necessary to plug it up."

Brown said there was shortage of qualified employees.

"I do not have a lot of experienced employees. If I could move some in on a temporary basis, I would do it, if I could. But I don't have any more experienced employees."

Brown came under criticism for allowing the conditions to exist that led to the two escapes from Sept. 24 to Oct. 1. But police chiefs in Plymouth Township and Northville Township also were worried about what they claimed were delays in informing local and state law enforcement agencies about the escapes and furnishing information about

"I'M NOT HAPPY with the escapes," said Brown pe is not acceptable from a secure facili-

"But when you have a prison where they are making changes, the prisoners like to go there because the escape routes have not been discovered.

While we're getting experience, it still does not make escapes acceptable."

Law pressed Brown to set up a system of contact between the prison and local governments.

"My staff will get together and work out whatever works best with local law enforcement agencies," said Brown.

Brown ordered Baylor to work more closely with local governments.

"We never had this problem before," said Susan Heintz, Northville Township supervisor. "But I have to point out some of the good that has been done. The superintendent at the Phoenix Correcmakes this all the more frustrating."

Chip Snyder, commander of the Plymouth Township Police Deperiment, expressed concern about the delay in prison officials notifying local police of the recent escapes.

The Phoenix facility is across Five Mile from WWCF. Nearby on Beck a new Scott Correctional Facility is under construction.

Law said he was concerned about similar problems at Scott.

Brown said he could not understand the "propensity" of prisoners to try to escape from WWCF as most were there because of halfway house or parole violations.

"Most of them are scheduled to go home within a year, anyway," said Brown.

"If I have to station people around the fence, I'll do it. I want to run a good system. If not, the taxpayers will get someone else," said Brown.

'We want proper security at the prison.

Aged care based on 3-tiered approach

With life expectancy increasing all across the country, there is a dire need for the proper way to care for the aged. Now care of those growing old is divided into three classe

First, there is the convalescent center. With that is senior citizen homes where they are treated both for sickness and maintaining food and health. And now comes the home for the aged.

This approach is to provide a home where the elderly who can keep house on their own. They are not sick or crip-

APPOINTED: Bill Kerans, 41, has been named public affairs manager for Bechtel Power Corp. in Ann Arbor. Since 1977, Kerans has served as press secretary to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and before that was press secretary to the Republican members of the Michigan Senate for four years. From 1967 to '72 he was assistant secretary to the Republican members of the Michigan House. He graduated in 1967 from Michigan State University with a bachelor of arts degree in communications and has worked in news reporting, sports reporting, television and radio jobs and in advertising production. Kerans was replaced as Pursell's press secretary by Gary M. Cates, most recently news reporter for the Plymouth Observer.

RE-ELECTED: Ralph Lorenz. wner of the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth, has been re-elected to the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. Lorenz, who has operated the hotel since 1939 and purchased it in the early '60s, was named Senior Entrepreneur of the Year in 1981 by the U.S. Small Business Association. As a director, Lorenz will be involved in establishing policy on major economic, legislative, political and social issues that have an effect on Michigan's business and economic climate.

FRAUD ALERT: A publishing firm from Fort Wayne, Ind., is involved in telephone solicitations in Plymouth for ads in a "soon to be published" Michigan Drug Abuse Journal. After getting pledges from small business, they come in, hand out information on drug abuse, and pick up the check. They may promise public speakers in schools and parent counseling, etc. The principles of the firm are out on bond from Branch County for several counts of collecting money under false pretenses. Can SEMTA give away the People Mover?

By Tim Richard and Teri Banas staff writers

To some suburbanites, it's an atrocity: SEMTA is turning over the Downtown People Mover to the city of Detroit - just giving it away.

Other suburban officials are breathing a sigh of relief: The seven-countyregional transit authority is unloading. the long-delayed project with its embarrassing cost overruns on Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, the man who really wants it.

"We should stop the People Mover," said state Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, a north Oakland legislator who would prefer to tear down the 2.9 miles of concrete pillars snaking around downtown Detroit, even though the project is 60 percent complete.

Generally, suburbanites were suspicious of Gov. James J. Blanchard's promise that "not only is there no blank check (for Detroit), there is no check at all." They were almost unanimous in their fear that future cost overruns would be covered by deductions from federal and state aid to SEMTA's suburban bus service.

DUNASKISS AND Rep. Paul Perakis, R-Clinton Township, today were scheduled to go into Oakland Circuit Court to seek an injunction against SEMTA for "turning over 70 percent of SEMTA's capital assets to Detroit."

Attorney Boja Jim Loncarski of Center Line will represent the two lawmakers.

Dunaskiss, a third-term lawmaker whose district includes Oakland Township, argues that 1) SEMTA has no power to give away the project, on which more than $100 million already has been spent, and 2) Gov. James J. Blanchard has no power to guarantee, even half-heartedly, any People Mover funding without legislative approval.

They (SEMTA) asked the city if they wanted to receive it, but they didn't ask us." Dunaskiss sald.

He hopes that once he receives the injunction to halt the transfer, the Legislature will cut off funds and "proceed to stop the project."

BUT SEMTA board members, in a 14-0 vote, were emphatic they were doing the right thing.

Susan Heintz, suburban Wayne County SEMTA director, said she favored the agreement because it will no longer "penalize this area for (the project's) li-

JoAnn Soronen, Oakland County SEMTA member, noted that SEMTA has had to pump additional money into the People Mover construction - at the expense of bus service funds. Recently, the Farmington Hills councilwoman noted, money planned for computers and terminals was rerouted to the People Mover.

"There's still $6.4 million out of 1986 (budget) we still have to put toward the People Mover," Soronen said. "Hopefully it won't go beyond that."

FRED TODD, Wayne County SEMTA member, concurred, calling the agreement a "first step" toward assuring the People Mover would no longer jeopardize suburban bus service.

SEMTA is "technically bankrupt" and no longer able to meet cost overruns, said Todd, county budget officer who is acknowledged to be the transit board's sharpest fiscal mind. Furthermore, said Todd, SEMTA has no assured funds to operate the People Mover once it's completed.

A local official feared cost overrun might drain money for suburban bus

"Ridership (on SEMTA buses) has been quietly growing, and there's grave concern over whether bus numbers are going to be reduced," said Joan Duggan, a mayoral aide in Livonia, where 22 SEMTA buses take commuters to downtown Detroit and back each day.

"I would think it's very much to our advantage to have funds freed up for other services. We certainly don't want to see people driving 60 miles round trip, loading up the freeways again."

A STRANGE disagreement occurred Thursday on the floor of the state Sen-

Sen. Richard Fessler, R-West Bloomfield, a conservative Oakland County lawmaker, defended the People Mover as an economic benefit.

"It has to be completed . . . It's impractical to tear it down. It's impractical to let it sit there.

"It's already an economic benefit. Investors are coming in (to downtown)," said Fessler, who was nevertheless unhappy to see Detroit take over the project.

But Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, a Detroiter for 18 of his 20 years in the Legislature, asked, "Realistically, who's going to use it? I have continually lamented the demise of downtown Detroit for what people call progress," said Faxon, pointing to the tear-ing down of the old City Hall, Kern and Crowley Milner stores and the partial malling of Woodward Avenue.

BLANCHARD'S statement that "overruns beyond the city's ability to pay will come from SEMTA's budget" drew sharp rebuttal from legislators.

"He has to get legislative approval," replied Sen. Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford, whose district includes the Rochester area.

'We're providing the SEMTA money," said Faxon. "I question how the money is to be siphoned off."

"He (the governor) has no authority to appropriate; we do," said Fessler. He said the situation underscored the need for his bill to reorganize SEMTA as a three-county authority.

"The governor unilaterally amended the contract after the fact," said Patrick Nowak, deputy Oakland County executive. "That's double dealing.

AS CHAIRMAN of the Senate Transportation Committee, Fessler won passage of his bill to shift control of a new transit authority to the "Big Four" -Detroit's mayor, the Wayne County executive, the Oakland County executive and the Macomb County board chairman. But Fessler's bill is stalled in a

We're upset about it. Everybody's House committee, where the Big Four have been paying little attention to it.

"The Big Four did not show or send anyone to the hearings they had in Detroit and Lansing," said Fessler.

So last week Fessler wrote to the House committee suggesting that the four-member governing board be elected by the voters - one director each from Detroit, suburban Wayne County, Oakland and Macomb.

County conducts Rouge probe

By Teri Banas staff writer

Wayne County Health officials this week are expected to learn the source of a rare infection that killed a 23-yearold Novi man after he fell into the Rouge River in Redford Township on Aug. 10.

A meeting of top health on cials will probably take place today, said county health director Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk. Health officials will decide what action, if any, to take once they examine the results of water samples taken last week from a tributary of the Rouge in Lola Valley Park.

The results should show whether Kenneth Hagstrom's death was caused by swallowing the river water.

HAGSTROM, A mechanic, was considered robust and healthy until he began displaying "flu-like symptoms." He died of complications brought on by leptospirosis, according to the autopsy.

Most cases of the infection are caused by animal bites, animal waste and contaminated water. Only 75 to 100 such cases are reported in the United States each year, and there's a 5 to 10 percent fatality rate, the health director said. The main carriers are dogs, livestock and rats.

Lawrenchuk said the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta also was con-this. We'll be able to learn (from the center's tests) what the source was."

THE WINDING Rouge River, stretching 125 miles through 36 communities, has long been considered a veritable "open drain" with 180 sewer overflow spots dumping human and animal waste into the river during heavy rainfalls.

Often tree-lined and scenic in spots, it flows past primarily residential neighborhoods where residents have complained of odor arising from its murky and bubbling green waters.

Kenneth Hagstrom's wife, Diane Hagstrom, said her husband's condition did not become evident immediately. The events started when the young couple, married two years and the parents of a 4-month-old daughter, had rented a chaffeur-driven limousine with her brother Gary Miles and his wife for "something wild and crazy to

THEY ENDED up driving to visit friends on Lola Drive in Redford Township, and the young Novi couple took a walk into the park at night.

Diane Hagstrom said "it was dark. there was dew on the ground, and we had no idea there was water there" when her husband slipped and fell into the Rouge River in Lola Valley Park.

"I went around to the other side and called his name but I couldn't figure out why he wasn't answering me. Little did I know he couldn't hear me."

She said her husband, who couldn't swim, told her he had gone under the water. A few minutes later, he emerged "soaking wet with mud in his hair. He told me he almost drowned."

Afterward, they called a cab and

TWELVE DAYS later, Hagstrom, who lifted weights and was described by his mother as in "great health," developed a high fever and headaches and went to the Henry Ford Hospital Clinic in West Bloomfield. There, he was told to take Tylenol, plenty of liquids and

Two days later, on Aug. 24, he "could barely walk," said his wife, and they returned to the clinic.

That evening he was rushed by ambulance to Henry Ford Hospital in downtown Detroit. His illness was described as hepatitis until Aug. 27 when one of the doctors revealed a new diagnosis, leptospirosis.

"They told me he probably wouldn't make it through the night," said Diane Hagstrom, who met her husband when she was just 13 years old. "We've been together 11 years - half my life.'

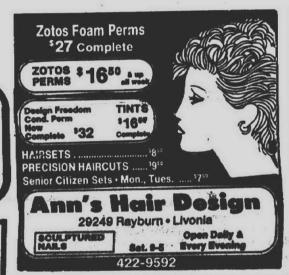

He died on Aug. 30 of respiratory failure brought on by the rare disease, according to the autopsy report.

Lola Valley Park has been a popular site for picnickers, Frisbee tossers and children playing ball. Playground equipment is in a few spots along the waterway. In the winter, children often sled toward the creek.

Lola Drive resident Kristen Preisach said she's often seen children fall into the river, either sledding or trying to skip over rocks on the way to school. "It's always been really bad — dirty."

Nearby on the east side of Beech Daly, another resident echoed her sentiments. Mary Lou Marx said a relative spotted a large group of water rats along the river while jogging one morn-

"I asked him if he meant muskrats, and he said no, rats," recounted Marx, wrinkling up her nose.

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMER

In Ansel Adams' eyes, America's wilderness is its most precious national treasure. Through photography, he immortalized the unspoiled beauty of Mt. McKinley for all to see. Some things never change.

But one great American tradition has changed-U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can

Birch descendants recall city's last farm

1985 marks the 160th anniversary of the founding in Plymouth of what later became known as the Birch Farm.

Located at the corner of South Main and Ann Arbor Road, it was the last real farm to operate in the city limits.

The sources of my information are Bruce Richard and Carol Dodge whose grandfather, Robert Birch, bought part of the original acreage in 1888 when he arrived in Plymouth from Fairport, N. Y. Birch farmed the land until his death in 1926 at age 88.

The original owner of the property was Walter McFarlane, one of the first settlers in this area:

On Aug. 18, 1825, when John Quincy Adams was president, McFarlane bought from the U.S. government 160 acres described on the deed as the northwest quarter of Section 35 of Township 1 south, range 8 east.

Plymouth's first tax roll in 1827 shows that McFarlane was assessed $1.51 on his property that year. The farm had dwindled to 37 acres when he last Birch family owners, Nellie Birch and her daughter Carol, sold the property to the Dales in 1931.

Robert Birch, the first of his name to own the farm, was born at Butler's Cross, Buckinghamshire, England, in 1838. At 17 he enlisted in the British Army and fought against the Russians in the Crimean War.

In 1857, he sailed from Liverpool on the clipper ship, Dreadnaught, arriving at Castle Garden, N. Y., the site of the American debut of the famous Swedish soprano Jenny Lind seven years earli-

AFTER FARMING three years in Fairport, N. Y., Birch moved to Washington, D. C. In 1860, he entered U. S. military service, serving with the Early in 1862, while on the battlefield at Shenandoah Valley he almost died of typhoid fever. Released from the hospital in the fall of that year, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy. After his discharge in 1864, he married Margaret Ann McMurray at Palmyra, N. Y. After she died in 1887, he married Anna Richard of Fairport. They moved to Plymouth in 1888.

In that year, they bought from Francis and Mary Hodge 37 acres of the original 160 that McFarland had homesteaded 63 years before. They paid $4,000 for the farm and the Greek Revival type farmhouse. Bruce Richard, who was born in the house, remembers that when he was a boy, the Birch Farm extended along Main from the present Main Street Car Wash to Ann Arbor Road, and extended in depth toward Mill Street.

Bruce traces his descent from Robert Birch through Birch's second wife, Anna, who was born in Switzerland. His mother was Nancy Birch. Carol's father, Winfield Scott Birch, who eventually ran the family farm, lived in an adjacent house after he married Nellie Oliver. He operated a produce farm and was vice president of the Market Gardener's Association in the early

Carol remembers that when she was a girl, South Main had farms all the way north to Wing Street. On the opposite side of Main from the Birch farm was the farm of William Sutherland, father of Donald Sutherland, the well-known local CPA. Carol recalls a conversation between her father and William Sutherland during which Sutherland said he was planning to subdivide his farm and call the subdivision "Sunshine Acres." The Sutherland development was begun in 1916. It extended from Ann Arbor Road along South Main to the house in which Jessie and I now live on Forest Avenue, just south of Linden.

Carol, who was 16 when grandfather Birch died, remembers what they did for recreation on the farm when she was young. They played phonograph records and enjoyed cards, especially Pedro. They took rides on Sunday afternoons, visiting other farms to see how the crops were doing.

They gathered around the piano to sing, accompanied by Bruce's mother, Nancy Birch. Carol also remembers the farm's first truck, acquired in 1914. On one occasion, the driver couldn't stop it and it ran into the Birch green-

AT THE GREENHOUSE, started by Robert Birch and later operated by Carol's father, flowers and vegetables were grown for sale. It went out of business on a cold day in December 1944 when it was consumed by fire.

The farm's chief crop was tomatoes. In addition to being a farmer, Carol's father was an expert plumber. He devised an over-head irrigation system for the Birch Farm, an innovation in those days.

Although Bruce Richard was born in the Birch family farmhouse, his parents, Howard and Nance, soon built and moved to a house which was once the office of Dr. John Salan. It is now the office of Dr. Goburdhun at 1257 S.

Bruce's father worked for Ford's, then became a partner with Roy Parrott in the real estate business. At one time, he had a market on Penniman Avenue where Johnny's Market (now Penniman Deli) is located. He sold farm produce including watermelons, which he bought by the carload. Bruce recalls one period when the family basement was completely full of

The Greek Revival house where Carol Dodge visited her grandparents, and where Bruce Richard was born, was built in the late 1850s. It was removed from the site in the early 1970s when Clifford Speck, the dry-cleaner, gave it to Marion and Don Sober.

The Sobers moved it to N. Territorial Road, west of Beck, where it still graces the landscape, an attractive vestige of the last farm to operate within the city limits.

Nothing for nothing: even swap

Mother Nature is a grand ole gal. But remember one thing — she gives you nothing for nothing. You must work for all you get. This thought came to mind the other day when it was noticable that the leaves were starting to turn. It won't be long until they will be in full color and Mother Nature will be at her best.

It will be a great sight. One wouldn't have to go to the north country to get a thrill from her show. It will be available right in his front yard.

As The Stroller stood there, looking at the trees and thinking about the show that is to take place, The Stroller got to thinking about the parade of cars which will come up the road just to see the colors. They'll enjoy it as always. But as he stood there thinking about what is to happen another thought struck him. What about the leaves when they fall? Mother Nature doesn't clear the stage - she makes you do that. And it isn't easy if you have a large lawn. You have to pay the price, and oftimes the price seems heavy. And she must be smiling when she looks hour after hour as the leaves get deeper and heavier. But, after all, it is

WHEN THE RAKING was finished for the time being. The Stroller sat down on a lawn chair to rest. Then he got to thinking that he had been her helper all year-long.

There were flower beds, different settings and plants around the trees. But while they looked fine and all the visitors admired them, it took a lot of

IT'S THE SAME with a beautiful lawn. You just don't let the grass grow. It would look terrible if you did. Chances are the grass needs cut-

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctor Study Says New 'Hi-Tech' Pills Give You"3Times" Faster Weight Loss

No Dieting—Est Normally Diet Pills Do All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)-Good news for people who want to lose weight. In a recent highly successful clinical weight loss study. ALL people tested lost weight using an amazing new "hi-tech" diet pill program. The study was conducted by a panel of medical doctors in California on several groups of overweight people and the results proved conclusively that the new hi-tech pills test group lost weight almost "3 times faster" than the group tested using the famous grapefruit pill diet.

All Lost up to 1 lb. Per Day

Best of all, the pills allow you to "continue to eat all of your favorite foods without changing your normal eating or exercising habits and still lose weight easier and faster than ever before, starting immediately." Remarkably, ALL people in the new 'hi-tech' pills clinical test group lost weight (an average of 1/2 lb. per day up to 1 lb. per day.) It also helps eliminate bloat and puffiness.

"Pills Do All the Work" According to the clinical study, "the pills alone do all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation. "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO special exercise, and NO hunger pangs." You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

Powerful Appetite Suppressants The new pills contain a powerful clinically proven appetite suppressant that an advisory panel of doctors have determined to be "safe and effective for weight loss."

In addition, the pills also contain a remarkable calorie-free dietary fiber that expands in your stomach and tends to give you a partially satisfied feeling before you eat. Thus, the new combination of ingredients in the pills act 2 ways to aid in curbing your appetite, causing you to eat less, take in less calories, and lose weight without feeling deprived or hungry.

Pills Contain ALL Daily Vitamins

No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy because the pills are fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government USRDA recom-mended daily vitamin requirements.

The amazing 'hi-tech' diet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

West looks at technology

Marian West, library media specialist at Plymouth Salem High School, spent six weeks this summer at Princeton University on a study grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The subject of the six-week seminar, open to secondary school teachers, was "Technology and the Human Experience."

The 15-member group examined four examples of technological developments over the past 700 years. Starting with the Gothic cathedral and moving to the 19th century factory, the group then reviewed the Model T Ford and the computer.

Besides in-depth readings, participants took field trips to such places as Bell Laboratories at Murray Hill, N.J., and the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

The teachers also had time to work with the computer system at Princeton and use the prototype labs being established for Princeton students.

Each participant is preparing a re search proposal. West is doing a visual unit on the industrial design work of Detroit architect Albert Kahn who did many building designs for the Ford Motor Co., including the Highland Park and Rouge plants.

'We are surrounded by so much technology," said West, "yet we take most of it for granted. The seminar certainly made me more aware of how technology impacts on our every-

SCIATICA

In sciatica the cause of pain is compression of one more nerve roots as they leave the lower back to form the sciatic nerve. The nerve travels down the back of the thigh and then divides at the knee to provide nerve endings to the front and back of the lower leg and foot.

Compression of a nerve root is known as a 'pinched nerve." Its presence is heralded by pain down the back, side of the leg, or to the foot. In addition the leg may begin to drag in a characteristic way known as foot drop.

The usual cause of sciatica is a herniated disc, that is, pressure on a nerve root by one of the components that make up the back. Rest, time, and in rare instances, operation, are the treat-ments most often required.

Since the pain can be near the knee of ankle. it is difficult at times to tell sciatica from the onset of arthritis. However, physicians are aware of the similiarity and by special tests usually can identify which one of the two conditions is

Standard

Banking Center

Standard Federal offers a wide range of banking services. So there are a lot of good reasons for doing all your banking with us. For example:

Savings Accounts

1. Money Market Plus Accounts — with high money market interest rates, no penalty for early withdrawal and a unique bonus interest plan in which you earn extra interest for larger balance accounts.

2. Regular Savings Accounts paying the highest annual rate available from the date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

3. 7 Day to 10 Year Certificate

Accounts — all at competitive interest rates — allowing you to choose the term that fits your own investment plan.

Retirement Plans

4. Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) - tax deferred savings for a working person who may contribute up to a maximum of $2,000.00 per year. A working person with a non-working spouse may contribute up to $2,250.00 per year.

5. Simplified Employee Pension Plans (SEP) — which allow an employer to contribute to an individual employee's IRA.

6. Self-Employed Retirement Programs.

Checking Accounts

7. Interest Bearing Checking Accounts — paying 5 1/4% annual interest continuously compounded and paid

8. Money Market Checking Accounts—presently paying 6% annual interest for accounts maintaining a $2,500 balance. Interest compounded monthly for a high return.

9. Commercial Checking Accounts - designed for our commercial loan customers.

Home Loans

10. Fixed Rate Mortgage Loan — with 15 year or 30 year terms. Interest rate remains constant during the entire

11. Adjustable Rate Mortgage Loan — with a low initial interest rate, featuring annual interest rate and payment changes which are related to current market conditions.

12. Second Mortgage — a loan secured by a mortgage on property which already serves as collateral for another mortgage and which can be used for a variety of business, personal, family and household purposes.

13. Bridge Loan — a loan which bridges the financial gap when you need the equity from your present home to complete the purchase of your next home.

14. Equity Line Loans — which provide you with a convenient means of converting the equity in your home into cash without refinancing your existing first mortgage.

Consumer Loans

15. Automobile Loans

16. Installment Loans

17. Home Improvement Loans

18. Certificate/Passbook Loans All consumer loans feature simple interest which means you can actually save money on interest charges when you make additional payments or repay a loan early.

19. Credit Line Loan — a personal line of credit up to $7,500 that gives checking account customers access to ready cash as well as overdraft protection.

Commercial Loans

20. Secured Loans — using equipment or inventory to obtain loans for other business purposes.

been a special flavor secret for centuries. This common kitchen staple was actually discovered by accident over 10,000 years ago, probably when some wine left in a cask turned sour. But it was certainly no accident that cooks in ancient civilizations from Babylon to Rome to the Orient immediately began using this delicious new discovery as a seasoning, condiment and preservative. Over the years that followed, vinegar appeared as a vital ingredient in some of the world's most popular cuisines—from the highly seasoned sauces of French haute cuisine to the piquant sweet and sour dishes of Chinese cooking.

Today, thanks to a renewed interest in gourmet foods and international cooking styles. vinegar is being "rediscovered" in American kitchens. Creative stateside cooks are taking a cue from the ancients and taking vinegar out of the pickle jar and beyond the salad bowl!

They're finding that just a touch of vinegar is the perfect seasoning addition to almost any dish. In everything from savory soups to dazzling desserts, vinegar's unique natural tang actually enlivens, enhances and freshens the flavors of other foods without overpowering them. Vinegar is also an ideal, economical tenderizer. Whether it's used as a marinade or simmered in a stew, it turns less tender budget cuts of meat into more succulent, juicy fare. And let's not forget that vinegar is great straight as a quick and tasty condiment for seafood, poultry, cooked vegetables and, yes, even salads.

So, if you want to learn the true secret of vinegar's versatility, try these exciting new recipes in your own kitchen. You'll discover for yourself why cooks the world over have been saying "vive le vinaigre" — long live vinegar — for centuries.

FRESH VEGETABLE VINAIGRETTE

Stove-top BBQ is crowd-pleaser

I don't keep a trivia log on recipes. But Texas, I got the fateful order. without a doubt if there were a record for most consecutive weekends prepared, topof-the-stove barbecue would be it.

I don't recall where I picked up the recipe, but I have honed it over the years since it first appeared in Pilot Light.

One month I made the barbecue four straight weekends.

"Make that for my guests," my wife in-

"No problem," I said. "Make that again for my luncheon friends," Anita said. "Really, again?" I asked.

By the fourth week, I was barbecued out. When one of my wife's sisters, her son 4 cup water

The next day my stepson dropped by and said hello after remarking: "I hear you made some great barbecue.

What my wife likes about the recipe is that I don't dirty the oven and she only has to clean one pot. I especially like the recipe because you don't have to crave barbecue just during the summer.

The next weekend, however, I suggested we dine out. We did. We did not order barbecue - I saw to that.

TOP-OF-THE-STOVE BARBECUE 31/2 pound shoulder blade Boston butt

2 medium onions, coarsely chopped

1 large green pepper, chopped 1 can (6 oz) tomato paste

3 thep chili powder 2 tsp Worchestershire sauce 2 tsp. salt

.Trim excess fat from pork, cut meat into small chunks, remove any small bones, lightly brown pork in hot oil in Dutch oven and drain most of grease. Stir in remaining ingredients, bring to boil on medium high heat, reduce heat to next lowest setting, cover and cook 21/2 hours, occasionally stirring but more often during last half of cooking. Whisk meat until shredded. Serve on sesame seed hamburger buns. Makes 8 hef-

Pasta with low-fat meat is good, heart healthy

Pasta lovers can be tough customers when it comes to making changes in diet. But Italian recibes can be heart-healthy and still retain the qualities most admired by pasta connoisseurs - the key is using low-fat meats and cheeses. This manicotti recipe features chicken breasts.

CHICKEN MANICOTTI

34 cup tomato juice 1 clove garlic, minced

1/4 tsp. oregano

¼ tsp. marjoram 14 tsp. basil

Freshly ground black pepper

2 whole chicken breasts, skinless and boneless 4 ounces low-fat cottage cheese

2 ounces mozzarella cheese, shredded

In a 1-quart saucepan over medium heat, bring tomato juice, garlic, % of seasonings and pepper to boil. Reduce heat to low and simmer mixture 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile, on a cutting board with mallet or dull edge of French knife, pound chicken pieces to about 14-inch thickness and set aside.

In a small bowl combine cottage cheese and remainder of seasonings. Spoon cheese mixture onto center of breast, leaving a 1/2-inch edge all around. From a narrow end, roll each breast, jelly-roll fashion. In bottom of 10-by-6-inch baking dish, spoon half of the tomato juice mixture, then arrange chicken rolls seamside down. Spoon remaining to-mato juice mixture over ehicken rolls, top with mozzarella cheese and bake at 350 degrees F for about 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Yield: 4 Servings

Coconut squares are easy to make

If you're looking for an easy-to-put-together conut Squares. Named after the city of Linz, Austria, the Linzer square has a rich pastry base layered with raspberry preserves. What's unique about this recipe is the flaked coconut mixture that tops the jam layer.

EASY LINZER COCONUT SQUARES 1 1/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

14 tap, salt

1/2 cup shortening

3 thsp. (about) cold water

2 eggs 16 cup sugar

2 % cups (about) flake coconut 1/2 cup raspberry preserves

Mix flour with salt. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles large peas. Sprinkle with water, a small amount at a time, mixing lightly until all particles are moistened and cling together when pressed into a ball. Press into un-greased 9-inch square pan. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

Meanwhile, beat eggs well; then gradually beat in sugar and ocntinue beating until thick and light in color. Fold in coconut. Spread preserves over pastry in pan to within ¼ inch of edges. Carefully spread coconut mixture over preserves. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool and cut into squares or bars. Makes 2 to 3

Peanut brittle, pecan pie and fudgy chocolate brownies crammed with walnuts have long been favorites of Americans, but the culinary usefulness of nuts extends far beyond their traditional use in candies and sweet desserts.

Whether chopped or whole, toasted, roasted or blanched, nuts impart distinctive flavorings, and can serve as nutritious and tasty flavor enhancers for a wide variety of main course dish-

Under the strictest biological definitions, many of the foods that we identify as nuts are botanically speaking, not nuts at all.

The peanut, for instance, is technically a legume, and the Brazil nut is really a seed but, nutritionally and gastronomically, the foods in the broad (if not altogether scientifically precise) catagory that we call "nuts" are actually very much alike.

IN PRIMITIVE societies, nuts were of particular dietary significance because they could be easily gathered and stored, and then eaten when other foods were unavailable. In a time when the only way to prevent food from spoiling was to eat it immediately, nuts were especially valuable because they would keep indefinitely.

Today, nuts are no longer such a prominent part of the typical diet, and the acorn, which was originally the most widely eaten nut of all, is no longer considered edible.

However, the nutritional value of nuts and the gustatory pleasure they provide remain as incentives for incorporating nuts into modern day meals.

For a light meal, the Summer Pesto Sauce with Basil is ideal. Served over pasta, the combination of fragrant basil and toasted pine nuts is a gustatory delight. This recipe is reprinted from "The Pasta Book" (Judy Piatkus Limited) by Audrey Ellis. SUMMER "PESTO" SAUCE WITH

BASIL

(Serves 4-6 with pasta as a light meal) 3 cloves garlic, chopped % cup chopped fresh basil leaves % eup pine nuts 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese Salt and freshly ground black pepper 1 cup, scant, olive oll

Place the garlic, basil and pine nuts in a blender and process until very finely chopped. Alternatively pound the ingredients in a mortar.

Put in the cheese and process again until the paste is thick and smooth. Add a little salt then gradually trickle in the oil, with the blender running on high speed all the time, until the sauce is thick and creamy. Season with more salt and pepper to taste, then serve it cold over hot pasta.

THE UNIQUE recipe below for Marinated Pork with Apricots and Pistachios, reprinted from "Cooking with Bon Appetit: Beef, Veal, Lamb & Pork." (Knapp Press) incorporates both pistachios and pine nuts in an unusual twist on the traditional pork roast.

MARINATED PORK WITH APRICOTS AND PISTACHIOS Marinade: 2 cups dry white wine 2 cups apple cider* 1/2 cup apple cider vinegar 1/2 Calvados or applejack 5 whole cloves 4 garlic cloves, crushed cardamon pods, crushed 2 cinnamon sticks, broken onion, sliced whole black peppercorns, 1 tbsp.

1 tbsp. whole alispice, crushed 1 1/2 tsp. ground ginger rate the stems (often very sweet and tender). 2 TOAST ¼ cup slivered almonds 4 cup butter

In a small saucepan or frying pan over hgih heat, toast the almonds, moving them around steadily. When the almonds are lightly browned and fragrant, add the butter. Set aside. BOIL 6 cups water Salt to taste

Bring water to a boil over high heat, with lid on. Plunge in the spinach and push and dunk with a perforated ladle. As soon as the spinach wilts, remove with just a few swipes of the ladle and place into a serving dish. Press the ladle against the spinach and pour out excess water. Pour the toasted almonds and butter over the greens, toss, season with salt and serve.

For texture and flavor, cheese and nuts are an ideal combination. The recipe below for Somerset Potted Cheddar with Walnuts is reprinted from "Cooking with Bon Appetit: Buffets" (Knapp Press) and makes a perfect starter for an autumn meal.

SOMERSET POTTED CHEDDAR WITH WALNUTS

1 pound cheddar cheese, crumbled or coarsely grated

34 cups (11/2 sticks) unsalted butter, piece of toast.

room temperature 2 tbsp. dry sherry 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce Salt and freshly ground pepper 4 ozs. walnuts (about 1 cup), coarsely

Combine cheese and butter in large bowl of electric mixer and blend well. Mix in sherry and Worcestershire sauce with salt and pepper to taste. Add walnuts and mix until evenly distributed. Taste and adjust seasoning. Pack cheese mixture into crock and seal lightly. Refrigerate until ready to use. Let cheese stand at room temperature for 1 hour before serving. 6 to 8 servings.

Tips to successfully microwave meat

Meat can be cooked successfully in the microwave oven, but since many meat products are dense and compact, several techniques can be used to promote even heating.

 Shape ground meat patties and loaves like a doughnut, with a hole in the center of the formed

• Overlap or shingle meat slices like "fully cooked" ham and pre-cooked roasts.

• Arrange uniform meat shapes, like meat patties, meatballs or sausage links, in a circle. Leave the center empty. When microwaving steaks and chops which contain bones, place the meatier portion to the outside of the dish or container, the bone and tail-section toward the center.

• Use sauces and seasonings on top of meats like chops and steaks to add color and keep the meat moist.

• Pierce skinless sausage products to allow steam to escape and prevent bursting.

 Shield edges of roasts or projections that may overcook with small pieces of foil.

 Collect meat drippings with microwave-safe utensils. Use a trivet or rack for roasts and bacon - a colander containing ground beef over a glass

• Rearrange meat by stirring meat strips and cubes and inverting meat way through cooking.

APPLE DAY in Plymouth's Old Village offers more than apples, cider and doughnuts, although Plymouth Orchard will have a good supply of those on hand.

The all-day celebration of autumn will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 12, with special Apple Day bargains in all the shops.

Old Village merchants Betty Nelson, Earlene Woodward and Jan Sidell have lined up all kinds of festive events and entertainment. Some of the entertainers will perform on the streets.

The Howell Sweet Adelines are sending a strolling quartet. Crazy Richard will be juggling around the village. A group of cloggers will be dancing. Musicians will play oldfashioned dulcimers.

They are expecting at least 70 artists and craftsmen, who will set up shop on Farmer and Liberty streets and in Cobblestone Alley. The Balloon Bust will be at 6 p.m. on Mill Street. The city of Plymouth's "cherry picker" will be used to release dozens of balloons. These balloons contain prizes and surprises - coupons and small gifts - one entitling the finder to brunch for two at the Plymouth Hilton.

The square dance begins at 7:30 p.m. by the gazebo on Farmer Street. Bob Brennan, one of the best known callers in the state, will be in THREE LOCAL artisans will participate in the Junior Service League of Ann Arbor's Towne Sampler. The holiday shopping event will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 19 at Applicon, 4251 Plymouth Road, Ann Arbor.

Ingrid Dijkers of Plymouth will show her mixed media puppets and dolls. Joanne C. Fredericks of Canton will show watercolors and ink works, and Susan Logue of Canton will have her country teddy bears and Amish dolls.

Admission to the Towne Sampler is $2 and proceeds go to the league's charitable projects.

CONGRATULATIONS to Minerva Chaiken who is marking her 35th anniversary as a Plymouth merchant.

She established her dress shop on Penniman Avenue in 1951 and was there until it was destroyed by fire in 1968. Later that year, she moved to her present location in Dunning's on Forest Avenue. It became Minerva's Dunning's and with more space, she extended her merchandise.

Minerva says she has seen many changes in the city and especially on Forest with its new malls...

"They are such nice stores with nice merchants, one helps the other. And we now have plenty of parking. I wouldn't change one thing about the people in Plymouth. When they move away, they always drop into the store when they come back to visit their children."

She said it was surprising how many Ann Arbor people come to Plymouth to shop. "And there are a lot from Dearborn, and Belleville, and Farmington Hills.
"I love Plymouth. Every event the city puts on is a success."
After 35 years, that is no small compliment.

Junior Group Goodwill

Show to benefit handicapped has all-Michigan theme

By Loraine McClish staff writer

Junior Group Goodwill Industries launched its all-Michigan Antiques Show and Sale this year by winning a blue ribbon at the Michigan State Fair for its dilly bean recipe.

"We've moved our show to the Michigan State Fair Grounds this year so we're going Michigan all the way," said Mary Jane Watkins, a Farmington Hills resident and president of the group whose members gather from throughout the metropolitan area to-work year round for the annual three-day show.

"Gov. and Mrs. (James) Blanchard will be our honorary chairmen. Michigan antiques will be front and center. Cherry and apple pies are on the menu. All of our country store and boutique items, all of our decorations will accent Michigan," she said.

'Our dilly beans are somewhat of a tradition in our country store, one of the favorites of our homemade items that go up for sale every year, and since we're going to be at the fair grounds in November, entering our homemade product seemed a good way to get our show under way."

Other than the change of location and its accompaning theme, Donna Anderson of Bingham Farms, the show's chairman, retains the tradition of the

The traditional preview party for the group's 38th annual show and sale runs 7-10 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7 in the exposition building on the State Fair grounds, at Woodward and Eight Mile. The show continues Friday-Sunday, Nov. 8-10.

TRADITION continues with about 45 antique dealers coming from through-out Michigan to show and sell 18th- and 19th-century American and English furniture, primitives, toys, jewelry, art, clocks, dolls, silver, tin, glass and crys-

Light lunches and dinners will be offered. Coffee and desserts will be served throughout show hours.

The American country crafters coming to the show this year will be demonstrating stained glass, stenciling, weaving and spinning.

Cook books that have been offered for sale by the culinary-minded members of Junior Group Goodwill in the past return with a 1985 edition called Good Will Potpourri," that will be on sale for the first time during the November sale.

"Good Will Potpourri" has been two years in the making by a committee headed by Lou Davis of Rochester.

The smart-looking 200-page cream and maroon colored book that bears the group's "little red school house" logo lives up to its potpourri name, and contains the blue-ribbon-winning dilly bean recipe.

ALL OF THE committee members want it known that the show this year is top heavy with fur coats going up for sale. In the words of Redford resident Mary Lou Miller, "we got a bumper crop this year."

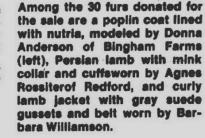

"And all of them have price tags marked less than $500," said Marge Merrick of Plymouth.

Elly Jorgensen, a member from Farmington Hills who is chair of the exhibitors committee this year, wants it known that the silent auction will be heavy on estate items left to Good Will Industries, many of them from the estate of Jean Taylor Bodkin.

The Junior Group, the women's auxiliary of Goodwill Industries, was founded in 1933 by Taylor-Bodkin to assist physically and mentally handicapped adults who are the clients of Goodwill for sheltered workshops or, in Watkins' words, "anything that needs doing."

The Antiques Show and Sale represents 12 months of preparation and is the junior group's major fund-raiser. Money from last year's show bought a bus that brings clients to Suburban Oakland Life Enrichment Center (SOLEC), a day program for emotionally handicapped persons who are either ready to leave a hospital or who have lived for a time in the community.

The year before that, the show's proceeds paid for the opening of a Goodwill resale store that is doing double duty - bringing in money while acting as a training ground for handicapped persons in retailing.

IN ADDITION to canning, baking and creating crafts, amid the general every-year administrative jobs in getting ready for the show, this year the group was faced with "an awful amount of empty space to decorate in the fair grounds' large exhibition hall," said Jerry Wendt, a member from Farmington Hills.

The answer to that came with medieval-type banners decorated with oldtime country fair themes that will hang from the rafters, all handmade by the

Jerry Wendt (at left) of Farmington Hills pours tea for the last time from the silver service that was donated to Junior Group Goodwill and next month will be owned by the highest bidder in the silent auction, a feature of the annual show and sale. With Wendt are Mary Jane Watson, president of the group, Barbara Williamson of Northville and Joan Scrutton of Livonia.

Canton gives game to Franklin

Livonia Franklin must have thought it was Christmas Friday night.

Taking advantage of six Plymouth Canton fumbles and two interceptions, the Patriots had a field day winning 31-7 and spoiling Canton's homecoming.

Franklin's charm was working right from the start. After driving 70 yards in the first possession, Bob Solnikowski settled in to try an 18-yard field goal. The snap was bad. Solnikowski chased it, picked it up and flipped the ball to a wide-open Mark Kerpet in the end

Rocks put hammer to North

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Sometimes a game's just gotta be played.

However the players, coaches, fans, officials, etc., feel, the game must go because the contract's been signed.

Last Thursday, Plymouth Salem's girls' basketball team was in just such a position. The Rocks were coming off a 43-38 victory over stateranked Farmington Hills Mercy Tuesday, a game that was emotionally draining.

And, as any stonecutter can attest, you can only squeeze so much emotion out of a Rock.

"WE PUT a lot of energy into Tuesday's game," admitted Salem coach Fred Thomann Thursday. "We knew we'd have a tough time getting up for tonight's game. But the game was on the schedule, and you've got to play

"But we knew we'd have to work our way through it."

The team Thomann's Rocks worked through - North Farmington wasn't any happier about the scheduling, particularly coming apart 41-13 on Salem's court.

Putting it bluntly, neither team was sharp offensively. Both teams had sparks defensively. And in the end, Salem had more of everything.

"We don't have a good scoring team," said North coach Greg Grod-zicki. "We don't have the scoring punch from our guards that we've had in the past. We've got to work the ball inside to Heather (McPhillips).

"We've just got to hope the other team makes mistakes, and Salem isn't the type of team to make many."

THE ROCKS made a few, but their arsenal was too potent for the Raiders. Salem scored the game's first six points, had an 11-2 lead after one quarter and zoomed to a 21-7 halftime advantage - accomplishing all this in spite of nine-for-32 floor shooting in the first half (28 percent).

"We had great scoring opportuni-ties," said Thomann. "We didn't hit our shots, but at least we were getting them. There are going to be nights when the shots aren't going to drop. That's why you have to play good, solid defense.

North's zone defense was fairly effective, failing only to neutralize Salem's superior board strength. Dena Head slipped inside the Raiders' boxout efforts to snare offensive rebounds, giving the Rocks two, three and at times four shots at the basket.

That power around the basket was lacking from North's offense. McPhillips was all the Raiders had under the basket, and in the face of the Rock defensive maelstrom, she wasn't enough. Balls were knocked loose frequently - North committed 26 turnovers - and were quickly swallowed up by Salem defenders.

AND YET, the Raiders never lagged on defense. "I don't think they broke on us much," said Grodzicki, who throughout the game urged his Raiders to drop "back into the paint" on defense.

'We only gave up 21 points in the first half," the North coach pointed out. "I was real satisfied with our defense. But I can't believe we only scored seven. .

With that the Raider coach shrugged. McPhillips was his leading scorer with seven points. No one else had more than two.

Head's relentless play harvested her 10 points. Stacy Sovine contributed nine points and Jessica Handley chipped in with eight.

It doesn't get easier for North, now 4-4 overall and 2-4 in the Western Lakes. The Raiders travel to play unbeaten Plymouth Canton at 7:30 p.m.

Salem no cinch to win WLAA tennis title

Don't hand the Western Lakes tennis title over to Plymouth Salem just yet.

Although the Rocks are undefeated and a heavy favorite to come away with the championship at the league tennis meet Wednesday, the feat is no lead-pipe cinch.

Going into league meet, Salem is on top of the Western Lakes' Lakes Division with an 11-0 record. The Rocks are also leading in the overall league dual meet standings which will count 50 percent towards the league title. Plymouth Canton, 9-1, is on top of the Western Division and runner-up overall.

"It's going to be hard to beat Salem in Nos. 1-2-3 singles," said North Farmington coach Norm Staniszewski. "For anyone else to win it, they are going to have to take No. 4 singles and all three Enter Livonia Stevenson, the league's third best team overall in the dual meet season.

THE SPARTANS have the three premier doubles teams in the conference. Laurie Lenox and Tanya Petouhoff at No. 1, Susan Ting and Kelly Cascaden at No. 2, and Emily Snow and Mary Pelloni at No. 3 have yet to lose a league doubles match.

We definitely have to sweep doubles and pick up as many points as possible in singles," said Spartans' coach George Croll.

Picking up points in singles will be extremely tough. Plymouth Salem's Wendy Gilles, Anita Toth and Lisa Belsky have not been beaten in league play. Gilles and Toth have not as much as dropped a set.

The key event will be No. 4 singles. Salem's Missy Smith has played extremely well since taking over the No. 4 role midway through the season.

OTHERS IN contention for the No. 4 singles medal are Canton's Pam Penland, North's Monlque Baker, Livonia Churchill's Brenda Carman and Walled Lake Western's Tracy Thomas.

The division meets are set for Tuesday with the Lakes playing at Walled Lake Central and the Western a Plymouth-Canton's Centennial Educational Park. The survivors of the two divisional meets will square off at CEP Wednesday in the Western Lakes finals.

Jim Kenner of Westland demonstrates the new technique of playing disc golf.

Disc golf, flinging fun for all

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

The concept and the terminology are the same as regular golf, but disc golf can literally drive someone up a tree

"The only thing different is that a disc can get caught in a tree, which is very difficult for a ball to do." explained Jim Kenner, owner of Discraft Products in Westland, which designs the discs used for the new sport that has cropped up in the area recently.

Disc golf can be played at courses at Raintree Park in Troy (17 Mile, south of Wattles) at Stony Creek Metropark, northeast of Rochester, at Royal Oak's Star Park on 13 Mile, two miles east of Woodward Avenue, and in Monroe. More courses are expected to be built soon in the metropolitan area.

BASIC KNOWLEDGE of golf and how to throw a disc (similar to a Frisbee) is all that's needed to play. No great athletic skill is required; anyone who can throw a disc can play.

The strategy of disc golf is similar to the sport played with clubs.

A strong, accurate throw from the tee-off area is needed, and it's just as easy to slice with a disc as with a ball. From there, a player continues to toss the disc until he or she hits either a basket or a

"It's a lot of wrist and a lot of arm," Kenner said.

THE COURSE is set up with a tee-off area and a fairway to the hole, which can be a chain basket or a pole. Courses have nine or 18 holes, and the distance to each hole can range from 100 to 450 feet.

Courses are scattered throughout the United States and Canada, but the game is especially popular in southern California, Oklahoma and northern Illinois

Here, the game is still in its infancy. Stony Creek operations supervisor, Bob Havard, reports 60 to 70 people use the disc golf course there each week. He said there are courses in the works at other metroparks.

"IT'S THE TYPE of thing you can put up and walk away from," Havard said. "It operates itself. That's the beauty of it." And the beauty of disc golf, according to those who play, is the game itself. Many golf enthusiasts became involved as Fris-

Adam Weiss of Southfield became hooked on disc golf when he couldn't find enough people to play the team-Frisbee game, Ultimate, after moving from Grand Rapids. Weiss practices disc golf three hours a day, seven days a week.

"(I like) the variety," said Weiss, who works as an automobile test driver. "(It's) the beauty of flight, the variety of Frisbee games and the people."

"The biggest appeal of ball golf is the individual challenge against the course and the elements," said Kenner, who is the only manufacturer of golf discs outside California. "And like ball golf, disc golf is addictive."

Kenner, who has played the game for seven years, has been involved full time in the development of discs and courses during that time. His wife, Gail McColl, is the Women's Midwest disc golf

Kenner is working on the development of a better disc (which is smaller and heavier than a Frisbee for wind resistance) and a less-expensive aluminum target

The cost of a nine-hole course, with chain-basket targets, ranges from $4,000 to $5,000 to con An 18-hole course with aluminum targets could cost a minimum of $2,500 to construct, according to

A prototype course was installed with the help of Kenner at Colorado State University. And so far, it's been well received. "It's right on campus," he said. "There's been a tremendous amount of play, and the students really

One of the sport's growing pains, especially at the Stony Creek course, has been vandalism. "The kids like to tear down the signs telling the yardage between holes, and they like to bend the poles," said Havard.

Along with the cost factors involved and easy access, disc golf fits in well at municipal and recreation parks because virtually anyone can play.

But even as courses pop up in parks, it's still a somewhat foreign sport, judging by an unsubstanti-ated story Kenner heard about an incident at a disc golf course in California.

"A couple of guys went out to play one day, and they noticed this couple had put aluminum foil in one of the baskets and were barbecuing a chicken." Wrong kind of birdie.

Falcons stall Engineers

A three-goal blitz in the second period carried the St. Clair Shores Falcons to an 8-3 North American Hockey League (NAHL) Junior A victory Thursday over the Redford Engineers in their home opener.

Ron Rolston, Mike LaLonde and Dave Porter each scored twice, while Livonia's Chris Tancill added four assists for the Falcons, who upped their NAHL record to 2-0-1. Redford, which dropped to 0-1-1, got solo goals from Darrin Hotts, John McDougall and Leif Gustafson.

The Engineers next home game is Thursday against Compuware at the Redford Ice Arena. The first puck will be dropped at 8 p.m.

Meryl Streep is Susan Traherne, a Resistance heroine, whose life and loves are explored in "Plenty."

the movies

Greenberg

'Plenty' offers less with poorly plotted tale of woman's life

Critical arguments waxed hot and heavy after a screening of "Plenty," Meryl Streep's lastest film.

Some said, "They left out several scenes.

Others noted, "The scenes were out of order." Still others felt there were unnecessary sequences in the film.

The correct answer, please: "All of the above!"

For two hours the audience was tormented with "Plenty," a mad film written, produced, directed and acted by talented people who should have known, and done, better.

Streep is a luminous, talented actress whose performances in "Silkwood" and "Sophie's Choice" easily place her in the front ranks of contemporary actresses. Sir John Gielgud needs no introduction. Neither Streep's glowing presence nor Sir John's occasional flash of brilliance can save this film from total disaster.

Although produced by Joseph Papp (and Edward R. Pressman), who has previously demonstrated his talent on Broadway and on film, "Plenty" belies his credits and those of the entire company. Poorly directed by Fred Schepisi in a confused screenplay by David Hare, the leaden result drags the audience this way and that,

"PLENTY" FEATURES Streep as Susan Traherne, a British secret agent working with the French Resistance during World War II. Her lover, another agent, Tony, is caught by the Nazis and sent to Buchenwald. Still another British agent, Lazar (Sam Neill), parachutes into her bed and bicycles out of town the next morning.

Whether because of these agent/lovers or the pressure of working in the underground, Susan goes mad and sets about destroying every relationship she enters, including the one with the audience.

Every facet of film craft is poorly executed in "Plenty," with the exception of the photography. There are lots of nice-looking scenes, but what one has to suffer through to view these lovely vistas just isn't worth the price. Much dialogue is incomprehensible because of heavy British accents. Of course, that may be a

Each time a coherent story seemed about to emerge from the mists of Schepisi's uninspired directing and Peter Honess' abrupt and disjunctive editing, the film swiftly cut to another time in another part of the forest.

It is no defense to produce a bewildering and perplexing film and say that it follows the pattern of the character's madness. There is a logic to everything. Surrealism, the dream world, the unconscious, the subconscious — even insanity — all have a set of rules by which events transpire.

GRANTED, IT IS often difficult, in the physical world, to comprehend the flow of the psychological world. Given the time and effort, however, the logic and motivation may be discovered.

The film may represent what madness is all about, but filmmakers have long understood that what counts is how it looks, not whether or not it's true.

One scene approaches a clear statement of the absurdity of things. English diplomat Sir Leonard Darwin (Gielgud) attends a dinner party at Susan's house immediately after resigning from the Foreign Office because of the Suez Crisis. Reminscent of Bunuel's "Discrete Charm of the Bourgeoisie" (Oscar for 1972's Best Foreign Film), the scene is acted stiffly by undirected performers. Any momentary sparkles of brilliance that might make such a scene work are lost in the abrupt editing pattern.

Two hours of disconnected blathering, no matter how talented the performance, is a prescription for boredom and discomfort. Therefore, Dr. Dan's Rx: "Stay home."

Traherne sales her triend Mick, Bling, to be the father of the child a

New stars rise on vineyards scene seems each year has its newly discovered wineries, its newest stars. Each vintage, a new group is born onto the wine scene. The last couple have seen Frog's Leap, Storybook Mountain, Fisher and Duxoup come into prominence, to name but four that come to mind readily. This year will see some more, reflecting generally high-quality wines that have somehow caught the attention of the public. They may or may not be entirely new wineries but suddenly their wines sell out quickly. They are "in" for now. It is a combination of merit and chance that governs these things, I am convinced after years of watching this phenomenon.

Some — a surprising number in fact of these wines are available to us locally. But not all.

One that is not, chiefly because of its limited production, is Dunn Vineyards. Randy Dunn, also the winemaker at Caymus, uses his own house and an outside shed to produce small amounts of profound cabernet sauvignon. The grapes are local, grown high on Howell Mountain' (eastern side of Napa), and produce an intense yet very classy

In extremely cultish California it tion with the release of his 1980. Most esteemed by collectors are some large bottles packaged in separate wooden cases, now selling for big dollars when they can be found

Also very "in" is another basement shed operation, this one in the Coastal Mountain range below San Francisco, an extension of the Santa Cruz Mountains. This is Cronin Vineyards, maker of excellent pinot noir and chardonnay, adding cabernet sauvignon to its repertoire just recently.

With only a few regional retail outlets, this wine is extremely hard to find. Most customers pilgrimmage to the winery on Saturday mornings when Duane Cronin is there, "resting" from his electronics position in the Silicone Valley. A bachelor, he has turned his lovely home into what is now essentially a winery and winery outlet. These are wines to savor; get your friends to buy them for you at Beltramo's.

Now, enough of these esoteric things, the stuff you can't get here.

Available locally is Lyeth Vineyard and Winery, makers of red (cabernet) and white (sauvignon blanc and semillon) only. No basement operation this: the facility is contained in a nouveau chateau structure on the west side of Highway 101 in the Russian River.

Lyeth is one of the new leaders in the industry who are disdaining the use of varietal names, leaving him free to blend each vintage to taste. The resultant white for 1983 is one of the loveliest white-bordeaux-styled wines I have ever had, rich in the soft lemon flavors from the semillon and boasting a crisp tartness from the other. Marvelous!

THE RED, from 1981, is massive and will age well for several years. The white is decently priced at about $10, the red is in the $17 range; a bit steep. But for the special occasion down the road, a real keeper.

The biggest sensations in early 1985 in Napa were the two releases by the Ehler's Lane Winery, in the central part of that valley. A 1983 sauvignon blanc was first out and it received excellent recognition, as well it should. That release is available locally in somewhat limited supply and will soon be followed by the winery's chardonnay, which I have not yet tasted but has California. The present issue, the 1983, is not cheap at $15 but is a lush thing that should take about two more years to develop fully. The owners are also making a second wine under a different label, but not as a "second label." The name Morgan is to be used with chardonnay only. The name St. Vrain will be used for the sauvignon blanc. It, too, is a well-structured wine. I question, however, this particular market-

The Place may become the place to dine. At least that's what the management and staff of the Place in Royal Oak are hoping will happen.

There's a new focus on the restaurant's menu and its creative chef, Shaun Delaney, formerly of Sweet Lorraine's in Southfield. Every other week the menu changes, with emphasis on each dish being totally fresh and made from scratch.

The Place, owned by John Foril and managed by David Foril, celebrated its first anniversary in May. The restaurant's decor is sophisticated, with an elegant, art deco look.

The menu used to be one where there was a little bit of everything, which seemed to draw customers looking for all kinds of dining experiences from ca-
