

Proposed funding cuts target Sheriff's patrol in Hines Park

By Teri Banas
staff writer

A committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has taken steps to slash funding to county park services and sheriff patrols, threatening the comeback of the county's largest and often-troubled park system along Edward Hines Drive.

The commission's Ways and Means Committee in a budget session Thursday voted 3-2 in favor of reducing current sheriff deputy staffing levels from 31 full-time deputies to 10 next year, eliminating 10 additional summer enforcements, and slashing a recommended park system budget by $1.3 million.

The reduction would cut County Executive William Lucas' recommended park budget of $3.3 million to $2 million. In the area of sheriff patrols, the majority voted in favor of the executive's recommendation, which was to cut the park force by 21 full-time deputies and another 10 summer deputies.

"THIS IS just a very difficult fight," said Commissioner Kay Beard, who voted in the minority. "It means a 75 percent reduction (in sheriff patrols) in the summer and a two-thirds reduction during the rest of the year."

Beard said the recommendations come at an unfortunate time when residents have begun enjoying recent improvements to the parkway.

"So many people have told me how much nicer the parkway has become," she said. "The grass is cut more often; there are new park benches and just a lot of upgrading. And with more deputies added, it's safer."

Beard, D-Inkster, represents the cities of Westland and Garden City which border the Hines Parkway. Voting with her was Commissioner Richard Manning, D-Redford.

"IT'S PENNY-WISE and pound-foolish," Manning said of the cuts. "You need sufficient patrols so that families can use the parkway and so that it's not overrun by those who would cause trouble."

The vote-split typified divisions often found between suburban commissioners and those representing Detroit. The Hines Parkway, the largest park in the county system, crosses a number of suburban communities in western Wayne County.

Voting in favor of the cuts were commissioners Clarence Young, Jackie Currie and Freddie Burton Jr.

Manning, meanwhile, was hopeful, saying Thursday's recommendation was still tentative and could be changed by the time the committee is ready to make a full budget recommendation to the board of commissioners. An informal deadline for that passed without a full recommendation last Thursday.

"We're gonna arm wrestle on this some more," said Manning.

ACCORDING TO Beard, commissioners have become hardpressed, to look for ways to balance the budget because of an estimated $12 million reduction in federal revenue sharing proposed for next year and another $11.7 million in new costs for one-time labor settlements, cost-of-living adjustments in the probate court and 1986 election year costs.

Besides losses in federal sources, local tax contributions are lowered next year because of dropping property values, she said.

Aggravating the fight for the parks services, she said, is that while sheriff patrols are mandated in the park system, it's up to the commissioners to decide what that "level of service" is going to be.

THE COMMITTEE is expected to resume its work on Wednesday in an attempt to balance a countywide budget now $425,000 out of line.

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said he expected the issue to be reconsidered then. "We're hopeful the commissioners will reconsider and take the necessary steps for the safety of the citizens."

Said parks director Eric Reickel: "We don't want to lose what we've gained."

"We all know that parks is the new kid on the block. But we'd like to think that the improvements that have been made in the past 14 months have been appreciated and will continue," he said.

Sets landmark

Sue Anne Eberline of Schweitzer Real Estate, Better Homes and Gardens in Plymouth, has achieved a new height in her real estate career. Eberline surpassed $7 million in total sales volume from January through October. She attributes her success in part to the stabilized mortgage market. She lives in Plymouth, is active in the community, and is a member of the City of Plymouth Planning Commission.

Carver earns trip

By Alvia Lewis
staff writer

Two pumpkins — one dressed as a chef in the foyer of the Cozy Cafe and one as a corpse in a casket on the floor of Hugh Jarvis — were first-place winners of the Great Pumpkin Caper.

The first placers were two of 88 pumpkins entered by local merchants in the contest, along with 300 entries from area children.

The contest, suggested by chamber member Dave Varga and sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, is the first of its kind.

Grand-prize winner of the children's division was Rachael Bohlander, 12, of Plymouth who received a trip for four to Orlando, Fla., donated by Eastern Airlines.

Other merchant winners were: second place, Folkway's, 842 Penniman; third place, Beautiful People Hair Forum, 550 Forest; fourth place, The Art Shop, Charleston Square; and fifth place, Linda's Bridal and Imports, 550 Forest.

THE FOLLOWING were winners in the children's category age 12-14:

Funniest — first, Ron Rotole, 13; second, Kenneth Czaplewski, 12; third, Melissa Fargo, 12; fourth, Lisa Smith, 13; and fifth, Danie Woznik, 13.

Scariest — first, Chris Rose, 12; second, Mindy Logrow, 12; third, Holly Fody, 12; fourth, Danie Woznik, 13, and fifth, Tracy Schwartz, 12.

Most Creative — first, Rachael Bohlander, 12; second, Brad Hayden, 13; third, Ron Rotole, 13; fourth, Holly Fody, 12, and fifth, Kenneth Czaplewski.

Those winning in the age 9-11 category were:

Funniest — first, Amy Torlora, 11; second, Angela Zaetta, 10; third, Ben Verish, 10; fourth, Julie Valenti, 11; and fifth, Jason Zuchowicz, 11.

Scariest — first, Chris, Akers, 10; second, Jeff Bainngadner, 11; third, Michael Barna, 10; fourth, Amy Furnonek, 9; and fifth, Aaron Heyniger, 9.

Most creative — first, Skan Soge, 11; second, Leo Maschouris, 11; third, Julie Aldham, 11; fourth, Shanneln Forster, 11; and fifth, Patricia Koenahrens, 9.

THOSE WINNING in the age 6-8 category were:

Funniest — first, Shane Bookout, 7; second, Holly Peleabak, 6; third, Tom Valente, 7; fourth, Krysten Durren, 6; and fifth, Jonathan Knopp, 7.

Scariest — first, Spencer Fredlund, 6; second, Carolyn Verahen, 8; third, Eric Briner, 6; fourth, Craig Mroczka, 7; and fifth, Michael Gardner, 6.

Most creative — first, Melanie Mikasz, 6; second, Nicole Fleiner, 6; third, Jamie Levandowski, 6; fourth, Molly Narrow, 7; and fifth, Scott Mowery, 6.

The Caper committee was chaired by Charlene Miller, and committee members Mike Ball, Dave Varga, Ron Lowe, Jeanine Street, Scott Lorenz and Dick Egl.

The Caper, according to Lorenz, will be an annual event.

This pumpkin in a coffin in the Hugh Jarvis gift store window was among the winners.

Chef Cozy was among the winning creations.

AAUW backs library millage

To the editor:
On Tuesday, Nov. 5, the Plymouth Dunning-Hough Library requests a millage to support the district library recently formed.
The American Association of University Women urges all registered voters in Plymouth and Plymouth Township to vote. AAUW and the library have a shared concern with promoting books and continuing education. We support the continued growth of this community resource.

Carrier of the year

Ken Truesdell of Plymouth was named Carrier of the Year for the Plymouth Observer at the 15th annual Carrier of the Year night held recently at the Observer & Eccentric headquarters in Livonia. Selection was based on length of service, amount of collections, prompt settling of account, least amount of customer complaints, neat organization of route book and proper records. Presenting the trophy to Ken are Fred Wright (left), circulation director, and Larry Darnell, circulation manager of the Plymouth Observer.

Halloween 'quiet' here

Police officials in both Plymouth and Plymouth Township said Halloween this year was the quietest in the past several years. No tainted treats were reported.
"Halloween was probably the quietest I've ever heard it," said Carl Berry, township police chief. "To my knowledge, we had nothing around here."
The same report was echoed by Lt. Robert Commire of the city police. "There were no major catastrophes, no vandalisms," he said.

HEADACHES

Nine Day Headache

For nine days straight I had a headache that wouldn't stop and nothing helped, not pills, hot packs, nothing.

Friends and relatives had gone to Dr. Mashike, and my daughter Dolores, took me in. I was examined, x-rays were taken, and adjustments started.

I didn't think anything would help because the pain was so bad. At first nothing happened, but slowly after several adjustments the headaches disappeared and within a month I felt much better. It's been three months now and the headaches haven't returned.

If you have headaches, try chiropractic before pills get you down. I did and I'm better.

Anna Przybylo

Both of Us Had Headaches

My son David is 10 years old and has had severe headaches for 6 years. They sometimes made him sick to his stomach and put him out of commission.

My mother was going to Dr. Mashike and she thought he could help. David's upper neck was found to be out of place. After just a few adjustments the headaches were gone. A couple of weeks later David was playing soccer and he hit the ball with his head, the next day his headache was back. After an adjustment to put the vertebrae back in place, David's headache left again. (David's neck will be stronger in a few months, then he can resume normal activities).

When I saw David's results, I also started for my headaches and in one week they were gone. I have recommended this care to others because I generally felt better and don't have to take pills.

Carol and David Honsinger

Healthier Thru Chiropractic

We were referred to Dr. Mashike by a friend after we were involved in an auto accident. Peggy had injured her neck and was having headaches and I had severe neck pain.

It was hard for us to perform our normal daily routines. After approximately 5 adjustments we noticed a healthier, stronger improvement and Peggy's headaches are gone too. She has not had her usual cold and sinus problems either.

CHIROPRACTIC IS GREAT! It has helped us to have a better outlook on things. Dr. Mashike is more than a doctor who adjusts your back. His concern for his patients is extraordinary, his caring is reflected in his practice.

Greg & Peggy Ludwig

Headaches Gone

When my fiance brought me in to see Dr. Mashike, I had chest pains accompanied by shortness of breath and frequent headaches. It was hard for me to do my job well due to the pain.

In approximately one or two weeks, I noticed an overall improvement. I had more energy and a better attitude and no more headaches.

Also, I have a three year old son who was very prone to ear infections, and since he's been coming to Dr. Mashike he has had one minor earache. No more infections and visits to the hospital. Mom's, bring your children.

Kerri Pettey

Headaches, their cause and correction.
A Chiropractic Viewpoint.

So many times people will come to us as a last resort. They have gone through the gamut of tests and pills and sometimes even psychological therapy without results, or at best with only slight results. To cope, they have to take a strong pain killer which does relieve some pain but it has undesirable side effects and the headaches later return.

In short, they still have the problem. We look at the problem in a different way. Experience has shown us that most all headaches, whatever type they may be called, are usually caused by vertebrae out of alignment in the neck, which backs up pressure into the head. Depending how the vertebrae are out of alignment determines the area, type and duration of the headache.

WITH THE PROPER RE-ALIGNMENT OF THE VERTABRAE (WHICH IS NOT PAINFUL), 95 OUT OF 100 HEADACHE CASES ARE CORRECTED WITHIN THREE MONTHS, EVEN IF THE HEADACHES HAVE BEEN PRESENT FOR YEARS.

Please...don't suffer any longer. Read the testimonials and then call for an appointment.

Agent breaks law in phonied-up drama

For those who miss the blood and gore of "Starsky and Hutch," "To Live and Die in L.A." is your meat.

Quite easily this film matches, where it does not exceed, the low quality and high violence quotient of "Starsky and Hutch," but it also has a fast-paced fas-ination with sleaze, glitz and gore that probably will make it fairly successful at the box office.

Richard Chance (William Petersen) is a reckless hot-dog Secret Service agent who knows no restraint in doing his job. Anything goes. His partner, John Vukovich, an older agent played by John Pankow, is near retirement. The film opens with the two climbing over rooftops and up the side of a building to thwart a Palestinian terrorist out to get the President.

That's just for openers.

After the credits, a long montage clues us in to the nefarious counterfeiter, Eric Masters (Willem Dafoe), who is also a talented artist (or vice versa). His girlfriend, Bianca Torres, played by the very attractive Debra Feuer, appears in a rather strange dance troupe when she's not in bed with Eric or helping him eliminate recalcitrant employees.

SO FAR you quite correctly get the picture that "To Live and Die in L.A." has potentials television still won't touch. The whole project is way ahead of "Starsky and Hutch."

Chance's father-figure/partner goes out alone snooping around Master's printing plant and, quite predictably, gets himself killed. It is hard to imagine why a seasoned agent would go out on a dangerous scouting mission three days before retirement but this is Hollywood. He probably realized the plot needed his death.

All this gives Chance justification for his vendetta against Masters but one has to wonder what director/scenarist William Friedkin (with help from Gerald Petievich) had in mind in adapting Petievich's novel for the screen.

The unfortunate conclusion may be that they're selling a glitzy-image happening and that making sense of the plot is, at best, secondary.

In the course of his vendetta, Chance manages a number of illegalities, including a significant robbery ($50,000) that ends in a car chase to end all car chases, but unfortunately probably won't.

THE ROBBERY is to obtain money for a sting operation that the Secret Service won't fund. Although robbery is against the law, Chance manages to convince his new partner that it is for the sake of justice.

The film's morality is generally old-fashioned, if you consider why the various bloody corpses got that way. But there are modern overtones. Sin is punished, but only if it is real terrible sin, and virtue triumphs in its own contemporary way. Virtue, by this film's definition, is meaning well, even if you participate in an occasional murder or two and keep the robberies down to the minimum necessary to survive.

At least that's the lesson one learns from staying around for 110 minutes to see how things turn out. Maybe it's not morality, just realism.

Secret Agent Chance learns much of his key information from a snitch who only keeps her parole from being revoked by feeding Chance information. The blonde, Ruth Lanier (Darlaine Fluegel), sleeps with Chance whenever he shows up. And she seems to enjoy it. Whether or not that's sinful, it does justify the film's cynical ending.

The best word for this film is murky. Too much L.A. smog got in Friedkin's eyes this time. "To Live and Die in L.A." may please the blood-and-gore crowd, but it won't do for counterfeiting what "The French Connection" did for drugs.

Chi-Chi's grill

Char-broiled entrees are among the Mexican specialties offered at Chi-Chi's, which recently opened its newest location in Southfield. The chicken or steak Chilita combines strips of grilled chicken or steak wrapped in a soft flour tortilla, topped with Chilli Con Queso for chicken and Ranchoero sauce for steak. The Mexican salad, of chopped tomatoes, cheese, olives and peppers on lettuce, is served inside an edible tortilla shell.

More char-broiled dishes include Chajitas, marinated strips of steak or chicken, which arrive at the table in a sizzling skillet with onions. They come Ranch Style, with tortillas, five toppings and Spanish rice, or Hacienda Style, with Mexican salad and rice.

Also available marinated and char-broiled are Carne Asada, Mexican steak; halibut steak, and boneless breast of chicken.

To round out a meal, there are Mexican appetizers, the Jumbo Margarita in flavors including strawberry and banana, and Fried Ice Cream for dessert.

Hunter's feast

A menu emphasizing bounty from Michigan's fields, forests and lakes will be served at 7 p.m. Monday-Tuesday, Nov. 25-26, at the Lark in West Bloomfield. Salmon caviar caught by the bartender, Carl, and processed the Lark's owners, Mary and Jim Lark, also will be among the appetizers. For more information about the meal, at $20 per person, call 661-4466.

Saxton owned 3 feed stores in 1930s

(Part 2)

In 1934, the year Dean Saxton opened his feed and seed store in Plymouth, the city was about to settle a lawsuit with Plymouth Township.

The lawsuit had grown out of a financial dispute that began when Plymouth became a city two years before, thus separating itself from township government. The court had given the city a judgment against the township in the amount of $4,425. The township announced that it would appeal the verdict. To avoid costs of further litigation, City Manager L. P. Cookingham decided to settle for half the amount.

During its first year under the new form of government, the city realized a tax saving of $23,700. This prompted Cookingham to write in his 1934-35 annual report: "One of the items which has made possible tax reduction is the elimination of the overlapping township government which was extracting a considerable amount of tax money from the citizens of this city for use outside the borders of the city."

The split between the two governmental bodies, and the resulting law case, caused much acrimony. It marked the origin of the animosity between township and city officials, which reached its peak during the 1950s when the city administration attempted to annex all or parts of the township.

LOCAL POLITICS, however, was the last thing on the mind of Dean Saxton when he opened the Plymouth Feed Store on Main Street.

Saxton was too busy trying to make a profit. He also had two other stores to watch over — one in Northville that he had opened six years earlier, and another in Redford begun only two years earlier.

Saxton, who was born in Grand Rapids in August 1897, was 31 when he opened his first store. When he was a boy, his father was part-owner of a sawmill in Pomona. The mill burned and the family moved to Traverse City where Dean's father and brothers operated a hardware store. Dean attended grammar school in Traverse City.

Later, the Saxtons moved to Detroit where Dean's father worked at the Cadillac plant. Dean graduated from Central High School and took courses at the Detroit Institute of Technology, then near Grand Circus Park. When he was 15, he got a job making syrups in Vernor's ginger ale plant, later becoming traffic manager.

In 1917, when he was 20, Dean became a member of the 32nd Division Artillery, which saw service in France during the first World War. On the way across the Atlantic, Dean caught pneumonia. He was in a hospital in Liverpool, England, for a time before going to the Continent. Of English descent on both sides of his family, Saxton got along well with the British but was soon off to Le Havre via Southampton.

In France, Saxton saw action on four major battlefronts — Alsace Lorraine, Meuse-Argonne, Chateau Thierry and Soissons. For a while he was a member of a gun crew, then became what was called a "runner" although all his running was done on horseback. During that period he learned to stay away from crossroads.

"The Germans always had them zeroed in with their big guns," he recalls.

AFTER THE WAR, Saxton worked for the Ford Motor Co., first at the Highland Park plant, then at the Rouge.

But his ambition as a boy had been to establish a business for himself, so he left Ford in 1928 to open a feed store.

past and present

Sam Hudson

He first tried to find a location in Plymouth, but without success.

His first store was opened in Northville at the corner of Center and Cady where he got free rent for the first six months. Later, he moved to 144 Main in Northville.

The year after he opened, 1929, was a bad year but his worst was in 1933 when all of the banks closed. Meantime, in 1932, he had opened a similar store in Redford and for a time that was his best operation.

He opened in Plymouth in 1934 next to the Box Bar which was then on the ground floor of the new Oddfellows building on Main Street (now the Mayflower Meeting House building). His rent was $32.50 a month. He put a manager in charge and continued to run his Northville and Redford stores.

At the beginning, Saxton knew nothing about the feed business but he studied and the Laro Feed Co., from whom he bought his feeds, was a great help to him. Three years after he opened in Plymouth, he was forced to move so he bought the building on Ann Arbor Trail which Saxton's Garden Center still occupies, although the structure has been expanded considerably over the years.

THE BUILDING was then occupied by a heating firm, Jewell and Blake, which was given six months to find new quarters. Then Saxton moved in.

Later he bought the adjacent property where L. L. Ball had conducted his photography business. The property was purchased from Ball's widow who had continued the business for a short time.

Saxton's neighbors during the early years included a bowling alley across the street, where the Laurel furniture store is now located. A tailor, named Freydl, had a place across the park at the corner of Union.

In the business block on Main were the A&P, Krogers, Taylor and Blyton dry goods and Dodge drug store. Homer Jewell had his barber shop in the brick building at the corner of Main and Penniman. It was torn down when the First Federal building was built.

Fans robbed of dramatic moments

On these fall days when the leaves are falling and the sports world is wrapped up in football, it is puzzling to note that the most interesting moments are denied to the fans who pack the stadium.

Part of the afternoons or evenings are taken up by the television cameras which bring the closest plays right into your living room. And even the baseball cameras show you when the runner is safe or out at the plate.

But the big moment is denied. That moment is halftime when the coach talks to his players. And oftentimes they are putting on a dramatic display of criticizing that would be a treat to listen to while sitting in your easy chair.

This was the case the other afternoon in Michigan Stadium when the Wolverines were held to a tie of 15 points by Indiana. The crowd of more than 105,000 sat in wonderment.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

"What's wrong with this Michigan team?" the fans asked. This followed the great game with Iowa when they lost out in the final seconds, one in which the team was super.

But now, against Indiana when the Wolverines were expected to win easily, they played poorly and seemed headed for a stunning upset.

One could tell from Bo Schembechler's behavior at the sidelines that he was disturbed no end.

WHEN THE TEAM came out for the second half, the crowd sat in wonderment. But not for long. The Wolverines were a different team. They looked like the team that had built up a great record in the early games.

It didn't take long for the Maize and Blue to show that the first half was a mistake — a mistake that was corrected.

As the points started to pile up, and victory for Michigan was assured, there was only one question asked.

"I wonder what Bo told them back in the dressing room."

This question was on most every tongue. Only the players knew what he said. But whatever it was, it turned the tide of battle.

It is just too bad that the fans who pay hard-earned money to sit in the stands can't hear these halftime talks.

Often the coaches are great orators. They can turn the tide of battle. At least Bo did, and the expected victory over Indiana came easily.

IT WAS MINDFUL of a day long ago when Gus Dorais, then the University of Detroit coach, didn't dress down his players when they trailed Georgetown at halftime of their big game.

Instead he told them that the finest days of his football career at Notre Dame were in the fall season.

"I had a lot of fun," he said. "You fellows aren't enjoying this day. But Six Mile Road will cross Livernois tomorrow whether you win or lose. Now go on out and have some fun."

They did. They beat Georgetown easily, and Gus' remarks have lived on through the years.

Too bad the fans in the stands didn't hear them.

The same goes for Bo Schembechler's talk that paved the way for the victory over Indiana.

Clock Cake

- 1 4 cup strawberry preserves
- 1 package Betty Crocker Stir 'n Frost chocolate peanut butter chip cake mix with milk chocolate frosting
- 6 vanilla-type wafers
- 6 pieces candy corn, cut lengthwise into halves

Mash preserves in small bowl with fork to break up large pieces. Prepare cake mix as directed on package except — drizzle preserves over batter. Bake and cool as directed. (Cake will have craters from the preserves.)

Make dots of frosting with wooden pick on wafers to represent numbers of a clock. Brush cut edges of candy corn with water; place 2 halves, cut sides down, in center of vanilla wafers to represent hands of clock. Frost cake with remaining frosting. Press vanilla wafers evenly on cake. Cut cake into 6 pieces, each having a clock in center of piece. 6 servings.

Chocolate Chip Cheesecake with Raspberry Topping

- 1 1/2 cups finely crushed chocolate cookie crumbs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter, melted
- 3 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
- 1 tub chocolate chip or chocolate chocolate chip ready-to-spread frosting
- 3 eggs
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- Raspberry Topping (below)

Heat oven to 350°. Butter springform pan, 9x3 inches, or square pan, 9x9x2 inches. Mix crumbs and sugar; stir in margarine. Press in bottom and halfway up sides of pan. Bake 10 minutes; cool.

Heat oven to 300°. Beat cream cheese in large bowl until light and fluffy. Add frosting, eggs and vanilla; beat until smooth. Pour over crumb mixture. Bake until center is firm, about 1-1/4 hours (center may look slightly glossy). Refrigerate at least 3 hours. Loosen edge of cheesecake with knife before removing side of pan. Spoon Raspberry Topping over each serving. 12 to 16 servings.

Raspberry Topping: Mix 1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries, thawed, and 2 teaspoons cornstarch in small saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Stir in 1/3 cup red currant jelly until melted; cool.

Time For A Change

From Daylight Savings Time

Just about everybody remembered to set their clocks back Saturday, Oct. 26, at 25 hours, the longest day of the year.

But when you have only the regular 24 hours, time often isn't on your side. That's when you really need fast food ideas, such as:

Freeze Ahead: Bake two pans of Chocolate Caramel Squares and freeze one for later. Individually wrapped frozen squares are super for bag lunches.

Make Ahead: Chocolate Chip Cheesecake with Raspberry Topping is great for entertaining. Prepare the dessert at your convenience and store it in the refrigerator until serving time. There's no last-minute fuss.

Start with a Mix: Quick and easy muffin mix is great for muffins, true. It also is the instant base for old-fashioned Apple-Blueberry Crisp.

Let Someone Else Do It: Isn't it time to let the kids make Clock Cake? Adding hand-decorated cookie clocks to this oomphed-up version of chocolate cake won't take but a minute.

Chocolate Caramel Squares

- 1 package brownie supreme mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup)
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons water
- 1 egg
- 1 package (14 ounces) vanilla caramels
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
- 1-2/3 cups powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350°. Grease bottom only of rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches. Measure 2 tablespoons Chocolate Flavor Syrup; reserve. Mix brownie mix, remaining syrup, water and egg with spoon just until mix is moistened. Spread in pan. Bake 27 to 30 minutes. (Do not overbake. Appearance or touch does not indicate when brownies are done.)

Heat caramels and milk in 2-quart saucepan over low heat, stirring frequently, until smooth; remove from heat. Stir in margarine, powdered sugar and nuts; spread over brownies. Drizzle reserved Chocolate Flavor Syrup over caramel topping; swirl gently. Cool completely; cut into 1-1/2-inch squares. Refrigerate any remaining squares. 48 squares.

Apple-Blueberry Crisp

- 1 package wild blueberry muffin mix
- 1 can (20 ounces) sliced apples, drained
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- Spicy Whipped Cream (below)

Heat oven to 350°. Drain blueberries; rinse. Mix blueberries, apples, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Spoon into ungreased square pan, 9x9x2 inches. Mix muffin mix, margarine and nuts until crumbly; sprinkle over blueberry mixture. Bake until golden brown and blueberry mixture begins to bubble around edges, 30 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with Spicy Whipped Cream. 6 to 8 servings.

Spicy Whipped Cream

- 1 cup chilled whipping cream
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

Beat all ingredients in chilled bowl until stiff.

Hungarian pork chops — herbs keep calories low

Everyone seems to want and have less of everything today. People own smaller cars, live in condominiums instead of big houses, and share living space with fewer family members. And as for eating — meals are smaller, less time is spent preparing them, serving sizes are smaller and an attempt is made to keep calories at a minimum.

Today's cooks, therefore, demand convenient, low-calorie meals. One entree that can fulfill these rigorous demands is Hungarian Pork Chops. Many people may think that Hungarian dishes are heavy and calorie-laden. But that's far from the truth when you prepare Hungarian Pork Chops. A single, three-ounce portion contains 250 calories and takes a little over half an hour to prepare. That leaves the cook plenty of time to enjoy a gypsy violin serenade during dinner.

The use of herbs is a well-known method for keeping calories low in meals. Generous use of seasonings, particularly paprika, is a typical characteristic of Hungarian cooking. Paprika, a ground spice made from chili peppers, can vary in its "hotness." It is at the heart of many Hungarian dishes adding flavor and a rosy color.

Another way to keep calories in line is to choose lean meat cuts, like pork center loin chops. In order to make the proper meat selection, the meat industry is offering a nutrition information program through supermarkets. The program, called Meat Nutri-Facts, provides detailed calorie and nutrient information on many meat cuts sold in the meat case. For example, the pork center loin chop is one of several fresh pork cuts under 200 calories. Many supermarkets are now identifying the cooked calorie content with "Under 200 Calorie" fresh meat package stickers.

HUNGARIAN PORK CHOPS

Preparation time: 5 minutes
Conventional cooking time: 29 to 33 minutes
Microwave cooking time: 20 minutes

- 4 pork loin chops, cut 1 inch thick
- 1 1/2 tsp. Hungarian paprika
- 1/2 tsp. onion powder
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup well-drained sauerkraut
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream

Combine paprika, onion powder and pepper. Rub mixture evenly on both sides of chops. Place chops on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 to 5 inches from heat. Broil at low to moderate temperature 13 to 15 minutes on each side. Season with salt. Spread 1 tablespoon sauerkraut evenly over each pork chop; spread 1 tablespoon sour cream over sauerkraut. Sprinkle with additional paprika. Continue broiling 3 minutes or until sauerkraut is heated through. 4 servings.

Microwave directions for two pork chops: Reduce all ingredients in half. Combine paprika, onion powder and pepper. Rub mixture evenly on both sides of chops. Place pork chops in microwave-safe baking dish and cover with plastic wrap or lid (do not vent). Microwave at MEDIUM-LOW or 30 percent power (approximately 200 watts*) 9 minutes. Remove plastic wrap or lid carefully. Invert chops and rotate dish 1/4 turn and continue cooking, covered at MEDIUM-LOW 9 minutes. Season chops with salt. Spread 1 tablespoon sauerkraut evenly over each pork chop; spread 1 tablespoon sour cream over sauerkraut. Sprinkle with additional paprika. Microwave, uncovered at HIGH 2 minutes or until sauerkraut is heated through. 2 servings.

NOTE: Cooking times are based on a full power output of approximately 650 watts.

*Wattage output on microwave ovens may vary.

Need an hors d'oeuvre? Try these

Although I often follow the Army axiom — never volunteer — I stepped into the front line when plans for a going-away party for a friend teetered.

I collected money for a parting gift and bought two pieces of luggage, purchased some drinks and ice and delivered them to the host's house and prepared two appetizers.

Many guests brought something — dip, cakes, wine and beer — while we set out for crispy chicken that was kept warm on the outdoor barbecue.

I even carted over one of those folding tables and helped set up the buffet. I received compliments for my walnut-cucumber dip, but failed to advise that the pot cheese spread needed to be put on crackers.

"It is sort of hard for a dip," one woman observed. "But it's good, it's food."

I decided to run a little taste test on the dips.

"Which one do you like?" I asked a man trying them all.

"That one," he said, pointing to the dip that I knew was store-bought.

"But that's a packaged dip," I explained.

"I'm just a packaged kind of guy," he said.

The party, though, was a big success.

WALNUT-CUCUMBER DIP

- 1 container (16 oz.) sour cream
- 1 package (3 oz.) walnut pieces
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 2 Tbsp. white vinegar
- 1 cucumber, pared and cut in small pieces

Combine all ingredients in order, mix well and refrigerate in covered container overnight. Yields 3 cups. Serve with chips or crackers.

POT CHEESE SPREAD

- 1/4 cup butter, softened
- 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
- 7 oz. Gouda cheese, shredded
- 2 Tbsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 container (8 oz.) sour cream
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. chopped chives
- Pinch of cayenne pepper

In medium saucepan, mix butter and cheeses, blend in remaining ingredients and cook over low heat, stirring, until cheeses melt. Let cool, place in airtight container and refrigerate overnight. Yields 2 cups. Spread on crackers.

SCUFF and crayon marks on tile or asphalt flooring can be removed quickly by applying self-polishing wax. Try an Observer & Eccentric classified ad when you want to remove non-usable items from your home.

LAKE POINTE Village residents had an unexpected musical treat on Halloween.

About 20 members of the Catholic Central High School Marching Band marched through the Plymouth Township subdivision. And as residents heard the drum cadence, they came out of their houses and followed the band. Wearing their blue band sweaters, the young musicians led the parade.

They stopped at the homes of band members Mike Burns, Mark Pasley and Andy Adzima, where neighbors gathered outside and kept time to renditions of "Barbra Ann," theme song from Peter Gunn, and other numbers. Bandsmen were treated to refreshments before moving on.

Everyone enjoyed the pleasant Halloween surprise.

SUSAN KNIGHT, a 1984 graduate of Plymouth Christian Academy, has the role of a policewoman in the fall play at Malone College, Canton, Ohio.

The play, "J.B." by Archibald MacLeish, is a modern-day story of Job. It will be presented Nov. 15, 16, 21 and 23.

Susan is majoring in secondary education and English at Malone. Her parents are Judith Knight-Robinson of Plymouth and Douglas Knight of Livonia.

WILLIAM A. BAKE and his wife, Claudia, were in Plymouth over the weekend. They came to celebrate a very special birthday of his mother, Virginia Bake, Sunday, Nov. 3.

Examples of William Bake's prose and photography appear in the November issue of Reader's Digest. "The Blue Ridge: Mountains, Mists and Memories" is a condensation of his beautiful book, "The Blue Ridge." There's a touch of poetry in his prose as he describes winter in the mountains: "Nothing moves. Then the wind begins to trouble the laden hemlock boughs. A spray of snow crystals shatters. A symphony has begun."

"More branches respond to the quickening tempo of the wind. Vells and streamers dance in the sunlight as the powder catapults and collapses from the evergreens. For a few fantastic minutes, the air is filled with snow music. Then all is over. The hemlocks are unburdened, and the wind blows freely through them."

PROFESSIONAL auctioneers Jerry Helmer and Lloyd Braun will be over at East Middle School cafeteria this evening selling more than 150 handcrafted items. Dolls, stenciled baskets, hobby horses, pictures — each is a masterpiece created by parents of pre-schoolers at the Plymouth Children's Nursery.

This will be the fifth year Jerry and Lloyd have worked the masterpiece auction, primary fundraiser for the nursery school on Warren Road at Haggerty.

The auction has grown into something of a social event over the years. Admission is free, and guests begin to gather at 6:30 p.m. for conversation, refreshments and a preview of masterpieces. The auction begins at 7 p.m. Prizes have been donated by Plymouth and Canton merchants.

Lauri Keifer and Donna Hughes are co-chairing the auction. Committee members are Ginny Braidwood, Pam Tatro, Diane Ahlquist, Kathy Holbel, Gail Craven, Judy Wist and Janet Repp. This year the nursery school celebrates 25 years of serving the community's 3- and 4-year-olds.

Everyone is welcome to attend the auction and perhaps do some holiday shopping. East Middle School is on Mill Street, just north of Ann Arbor Road.

CANTON residents Linda Lupo, Claudia Swisher, Bekki Ponte, Kris Tandon, Betty Koch and Pat Daubenzler attended the Sweet Adelines convention in Flint. All are members of the Midwest Harmony Chapter.

Kris Tandon took part in the novice quartet contest, singing lead with the chapter's quartet, "Face Value."

For information about Midwest Harmony, call Pat, 961-4096, or Margo Grip, 425-0017. They meet at 7:30 p.m. every Wednesday in the Livonia Senior Center Fire Station, 10000 Farmington Road, Livonia.

'Barefoot in the Park' opens Thursday

Snow will fall in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium this weekend when the Plymouth Park Players present Neil Simon's comedy hit, "Barefoot in the Park."

"We've never done a Neil Simon play before, but we felt we owed the Plymouth-Canton community the opportunity to laugh together with one of America's major modern humorists," said Gloria Logan, the production's director/designer.

The snow is just one of the challenges offered by the show. Central to the play is a skylight revealing a view of New York City and a window ledge, six stories up. The ledge must be sturdy enough for the male lead to walk on and snow must fall through a broken window pane in the skylight onto his head.

Helping solve this problem and new to the drama department at the Centennial Educational Park is Rich White, Plymouth Salem electronics teacher.

THE PLAY revolves around newlyweds Paul and Corrie Bratter (Ryan Slavin and Julie Zasadny), Corrie's mother (Dana Pressedee), and their flamboyant upstairs neighbor, Victor Valasco (John Mueller).

Paul is a conservative, rising young attorney who has fallen in love and married a zany, energetic, lover of life — Corrie. Corrie, in her eagerness for everyone to be as happy as she is, arranges a blind date for her widowed, matronly mother with Mr. Valasco. Paul refers to Valasco as the Bluebeard of 48th Street.

This comic disaster sets off the major dispute between Corrie and Paul.

Throw in a well-intentioned telephone repairman (Ed Bellaire) and an elderly delivery man (Curtis Paul), and you have the stuff of which Neil Simon creates human comedy and makes for a delightful evening in the theater.

ASSISTING in the production is a capable student staff: Hope Buchan, assistant director, stage manager, properties manager; Brian Beals, master technician; Dana Clayton, apprentice; Shannon Silye and Dana Pressedee, master painters; Ryan Slavin, apprentice; Kate Downes and Krista Nielsen, costume masters; Leslie Papa, makeup master; Lisa Tilley, publicity master, and Robin Fielman, apprentice; Hope Buchan, property master; and Leanne

Young and Krista Nielsen, house managers.

Faculty members involved in the production are James Kaiser, auditorium manager and Mark Yamazaki, master electrician, as well as Logan (director) and White (master carpenter).

Lisa Forthover is female understudy. Cast, crew heads and crew members have been hard at work since September.

"All have the goal of sharing the human delight of being young and in love with all the tenderness and hilarity that this condition evokes to the audience," said Logan.

TICKETS at $3 are available from cast and crew members, at Plymouth Salem and Canton high school general offices, and at the door show nights. The box office will open at 7 p.m.

Curtain is 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7, 8 and 9, at Plymouth Salem High School auditorium, Joy Road west of Canton Center. Free parking available.

Newlyweds Paul and Corrie Bratter move into their unconventional apartment.

Victor Valasco wants to become better acquainted with Mrs. Banks.

Staff photos by Bill Bresler

After a night on the town with Victor Valasco, Mrs. Banks has to be carried up flight after flight of stairs by her son-in-law, Paul.

How alcohol affects you

Can you separate facts from fallacies when it comes to alcohol? If not, you are not alone — only 27 percent of the American population understands the equivalence of different kinds of beverage alcohol.

Here are some facts about how alcohol affects your body.

- The pure alcohol content of typical drinks of beer, wine and liquor is the same: about 0.5 ounces.

- Drinking slowly, eating beforehand and snacking as you drink all help slow down the effects of alcohol.

- On average, the body needs about one hour to burn off a typical drink.

- The caloric contents of alcoholic beverages are: five ounces of wine have 114 calories; 12 ounces of beer have 148 calories; and 1½ ounces of spirits have 88 calories.

save energy

Don't be misled. Thinking using your fireplace will save on gas or fuel oil. Most fireplaces actually suck more heat out of the house and up the chimney than they generate.

OLD FORGOTTEN ACCIDENT

Research shows that most sufferers of backache are victims of conditions often resulting from some old forgotten injury. Strain on the skeletal or musculature systems of the spine can allow the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions, "pinching" or irritating nerves, thus impairing their function and causing pain. Left untreated, the spinal disc can degenerate and calcify, causing even more interference and pain.

THE ROLE OF REST

When asked for his prescription for achieving a long life, the famous physician William Osler replied: "Get a chronic disease and nurse it into old age." The treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, with its emphasis on articular rest, illustrates the wisdom of Osler's advice.

Articular rest means giving the joints, even those not involved with arthritis, every possible chance to minimize the strain upon them. If you have rheumatoid arthritis, you need to analyze each activity of your day. You look for opportunities to lie down or sit comfortably as often and as long as possible. You use your hands, knees and back efficiently, finding devices such as special handles and large key rings so your finger need not strain to open doors. Since emotional tension expresses itself as strain on joints, articular rest means developing a mental discipline toward worry to accept so much, but no more.

Rheumatoid arthritis causes you to consider your body as a precious resource to be used wisely. By doing so you are both treating your joints and following the advice of Dr. Osler.

"I couldn't recognize people on the street. I didn't know I had cataracts."

I shouldn't have been surprised — after all, most people over 60 have some form of cataract. I just sort of accepted my blurred vision as part of growing older and, frankly, I didn't think there was much I could do about it.

I only wish that I'd visited the Livonia Cataract Center before I gave up many of the activities I enjoyed so much. At the consultation there, my doctor assured me that cataract surgery could do much to restore my vision. And most important to me, my doctor took plenty of time to answer every one of my questions.

My operation took only a short time and I was home the same day. I have good vision now and I'm enjoying life again. I waited a long time to get help, but you don't have to wait. Arrange your consultation with Livonia Cataract Center by calling 522-0805. They can help.

Salem closes door on Barr era, 33-0

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

"We love Mo, we love Mo," chanted the victorious Plymouth Salem football players as they hoisted their coach Tom Moshimer onto their shoulders and carried him into the end zone.

On the other side, Plymouth Canton coach Richard Barr — who had just coached his final game at Canton — huddled with his players. The mood was much more somber.

"I told them if this is the worst thing that ever happened in their lives, they were damned lucky," he said.

Thus, another football season ended at the Centennial Educational Park Friday night. Final score: Salem 33, Canton 0.

Sometimes what is on the scoreboard doesn't accurately depict the game. This time it does.

Salem gained 290 total yards against a normally stingy Canton defense, 273 on the ground. Canton mustered 24 yards total and just one first down on the night.

"THIS WASN'T anything like the way I envisioned it," said Barr afterwards. "Not this game, not the last six years."

His Chiefs were simply outmanned. Without the services of its top three quarterbacks, Canton was forced to go with a wide receiver — Todd Wood — at quarterback.

"We were very limited in what we could do," Barr said. "But we did the best we could. The kids have nothing to be ashamed of. They came out and they played."

The very first play set the tone for the entire contest. Salem quarterback Paul Makara ran the ball for a sizable gain before fumbling. Each team had a crack at recovering the fumble. Finally Salem fell on it — 20 yards upfield from where Makara originally coughed it up.

Eleven plays later, Ron Piwko scored the game's first TD on a 5-yard run.

The rest of the night, with the exception of one brief sequence of events, belonged to Salem.

"We wanted to just go out there and play," said Moshimer. "What we didn't want to do was mistake ourselves out of the ballgame. We made some mistakes, but the kids still came to play."

ON THE Rocks' second offensive possession, they marched 32 yards in nine plays and scored on Brian Tiller's 1-yard dive. Two plays set up the score: a 30-yard punt return by Tiller and a 17-yard Makara-to-Chris Hill pass. It was the first pass attempted by Makara all season.

After a failed point-after Salem led 13-0.

Late in the first half, Tiller returned a punt 67 yards for an apparent TD but the nifty run was nullified by a clipping penalty.

When Salem took the second half kickoff and marched 76 yards — 44 of them gained by Piwko — and scored on Makara's 2-yard run, the fight seemed to leave the Chiefs.

They fumbled the ball right back to Salem on the first play after the score. On Salem's first play, Jerry Sumner busted into the end zone from the 27.

Salem capped the scoring with 36 seconds left in the game. John Storm, on a quarterback keeper, rambled 42 yards.

CANTON, WHO picked up its first and last first down of the game with 4:45 left in the third quarter, had one opportunity to score. It came late in the third quarter after Dan Olszewski recovered a Makara fumble at the Salem 26.

Dave Liuzzo, however, missed on a 39-yard field goal try.

Still, the Chiefs had their standout players, especially on defense. Olszewski, Wood, Derrin Brege and Brian Gothard were in on the majority of tackles.

For Salem (3-6), Makara carried the ball 22 times for 92 yards. He was also a contributor on defense. Piwko gained 59 yards in eight carries and Sumner chipped in 48 in seven.

Defensively, Kurt Urban picked off a pass and helped jam Canton's running game. Bill Juchartz also played an exceptional game on the defensive line.

While Salem's dominance over Canton on the CEP gridiron remains intact, another streak associated with the rivalry ended Friday. For the first time in three years, Mother Nature didn't rain on the Canton-Salem game.

North puts fright into Rocks' night

Most coaches around the Observersland area feel that the best way to defeat Fred Thomann-coached basketball teams is with a tightly-compacted zone defense.

Thomann, the highly-regarded Plymouth Salem coach, will disagree with that theory, but would have a hard time arguing his case after Thursday night's thriller at North Farmington.

Dena Head's basket off an offensive rebound at the buzzer gave Salem a 36-34 win, but North's zone gave the Rocks fits.

"We played great defense," North coach Greg Grodzicki said. "We packed in our zone, and Heather McPhillips (North center) did an outstanding job for us."

"You know, we got beat so badly by them the last time (41-13) we wanted to give them a better game. We were ready to play."

SALEM SCORED 12 points in each of the first two quarters to forge a 24-17 lead. But the Rocks scored just 12 more the rest of the game.

"I tried to convey to the kids that North Farmington has beaten the best teams on their schedule in their own gym," Thomann said. "They did a nice job with their defense. They prepared very well for us."

Thomann, overall, seemed thankful for the competition.

"This was a nice game to be in," he said. "We got an opportunity to feel the heat of a close game and win. We've had only three or four close games all season."

The game was tied at 32 with 1:10 remaining and North in possession of the ball. The Raiders slowed the tempo and ran some time off the clock. But with 22 seconds left, Salem stole the ball. The steal resulted in a pair of free throws by Kristen Hostynski to put the Rocks ahead.

girls basketball

With eight seconds left, North's Ann Howard drained a 19-foot jumper to retie the score.

SALEM CALLED a timeout to set up its final play. Jessica Handley took the shot with three seconds left. It missed, but Head was in perfect position for the rebound and knocked in the winning hoop.

"Dena Head worked very hard," Grodzicki said. "She really earned her baskets."

She scored 18 points to lead the Rocks. Hostynski added 10.

For North (7-7 in the Western Lakes, 9-7 overall), McPhillips led the way with 16 points, including a key three-point play which helped bring the Raiders back into contention in the final quarter.

Howard chipped in 10.

Salem continues to lead the Western Lakes Division with a 13-1 record. The Rocks are 14-3 overall.

CANTON 72, HARRISON 9: While one Western Lakes division leader was sweating bullets, the other barely sweat.

All 10 Plymouth Canton Chiefs got into the scoring column Thursday as the Western Division champions kept Farmington Harrison winless.

Diana Knickerbocker led the Chiefs with 14. Jennifer Gansler scored nine. The Chiefs are 13-1 in the league and 16-1 overall.

Harrison has now lost 56 straight games.

BILL BREBLER/staff photographer

Dena Head scored the winning basket at the buzzer Thursday night to give the Rocks a win at North Farmington.

STEVENSON 53, FARMINGTON 47: Kelly Kowalski has quietly placed herself among the elite players in Observersland.

The Stevenson senior, averaging close to 20 points per game, notched 27 points to help bury Farmington Thursday. She usually scores from the perimeter, but against the Falcons, she scored inside. And when she didn't score, she was fouled. She connected on 13 of 17 free throw attempts.

Sue Zatorski added 15 for the Spartans (8-11 in the Western Lakes, 5-12 overall).

Becky Philip scored 14 and Lisa Edwards 11 to pace Farmington (1-15).

Stevenson assumed command of the close game with a 13-8 spurt in the third quarter.

Shamrocks win Catholic league

Redford Catholic Central turned in a Class A performance Sunday night at the Pontiac Silverdome, thrashing Dearborn Divine Child, the state's No. 1-ranked, Class-B team, 13-0, for the Catholic League football title.

The Shamrocks, who only a week earlier knocked off the state's No. 1-ranked, Class-A team, Warren De La Salle, appear to be picking up momentum as the first round of the expanded state playoffs open this weekend.

CC, sporting an 8-1 record, will face Dearborn Fordson (8-1) at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium. The game is tentatively scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

It was the third Catholic League championship in 10 years for CC coach Tom Mach. The Shamrocks simply wore down the previously unbeaten Falcons in the second half.

"This team has been through a lot this year with all the injuries and other adversity we've had," said Mach. "And they've beaten some good teams during that time."

"It means a lot to them. This is the first time they've all been healthy. These kids deserve it."

AS USUAL, CC's defensive unit, playing like stormtroopers, kept Divine Child in check until the offense could take over.

The Falcons outgained CC in the first half in total yardage, 135-41, but had no points to show.

That's because CC's Tom Elfrid booted his team out of trouble with punts of 46, 42, 41 and 67 yards in the first half.

Midway through the second quarter, Divine Child moved down to the CC 13-yard line, but secondary hound Ken Wandzel intercepted a John Young pass, the first of three on the night for the 6-4, 210-pound senior, thwarting the Falcons' scoring bid.

That interception seemed to turn the tide.

In the third quarter, CC got the ball on the Falcons' 27 when tackle Dan Nash recovered a fumble. With quarterback Mark Stieve hitting Wandzel and Greg Haeger for first-down passes, the Shamrocks scored on seven plays, capped by Chris Kassa's 3-yard TD run off tackle.

Later in the quarter with Divine Child hemmed in on its own 18, full-back Bob Kachie tried a quick kick on third down, but he shanked it out of bounds for only 9 yards, giving CC the ball on the Falcons' 27.

THE SHAMROCKS wasted little time in scoring as wingback Mark Grenier took a pitch with the help of Kassa's block, racing 23 yards into the end zone with 11:33 left in the game.

"We were wondering whether to throw or run on that play," Mach said. "They were double covering Wandzel, so we had him take their defenders on the fly and we went to the same side."

Divine Child never threatened again as CC's defense got a pair of interceptions from Wandzel and a quarterback sack each from John Forsythe and Paul Linenberg.

"Wandzel's a great athlete, and we know potentially he can do whatever he wants to," said the CC coach. "He has great hands and when the opportunities came his way, he made the best of them."

Mach also had special praise for his punter Elfrid.

"Those were the best punts I've ever seen from a high school kid in this kind of pressure situation," said Mach. "He put us in tremendous field position."

But it was CC's defense that pleased Mach the most.

"Our philosophy is to win with defense," he said. "And it's no coincidence we have a good defense every year. Rick Coratti, our defensive coordinator, is one of the best in the state."

Stevenson trips Rice to claim 'A' title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

A team that coach Pete Scerri admitted he may have underestimated at the beginning of the season captured the state Class A boys soccer championship Saturday at Flint's Atwood Stadium.

Making its fourth consecutive trip to the state finals, Livonia Stevenson erased defeats to Troy Athens in 1983 and 1984 by edging Birmingham Brother Rice for the 1985 championship, 4-3.

"You look at our team this year — a lot of freshman and sophomores," Scerri said. "It's a lot of hard work. But when you believe in yourself and you believe in the coach, you're going to go somewhere."

Stevenson finished the season at 22-0-2 en route to its second state crown. The Spartans won the first Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) state tourney in 1982.

"They came in with a confident attitude this time," Scerri said. "You should have seen them on the bus. They were loose."

THE SPARTANS carried the play in the first half, but Rice held tough. Just six minutes into the match, Stevenson scored when Swedish exchange student Christian Amborg headed in a shot on a beautiful pass from midfielder Karl Bach.

But just two minutes later, Rice's Kord Kutchins slipped behind the Spartans' defense for a goal to make it 1-1. Craig Donahue assisted.

At the 11-minute mark of the first half, sophomore Mel Karfis put Stevenson ahead 2-1 when he booted in his own rebound on a scramble in front of the Rice net. But only seven minutes later, Kutchins got his second goal on a pass from Steve Schliem.

Amborg then headed in his 32nd goal of the season on a double-touch pass by Jim Kimble off an indirect.

The score stayed 3-2 until midway through the second half when Lars Richters punched in a throw-in from Kimble, giving the Spartans a commanding 4-2 lead.

BUT RICE forward Sean McMannon took a corner kick from Schliem to pull the Warriors within one goal with nearly 20 minutes left to play.

Stevenson then withstood a furious Rice charge, highlighted by goalie Dan Millner's sliding save with 5:27 remaining.

"Anytime you get a lead, you get conservative and start to relax," said Stevenson's outstanding sweeper, Steve Karfis. "We let down a little, but they're a good team."

Rice coach Alex Maderal said the Spartans are deserving champs. "Stevenson had something to do with the way we played," he said. "They went to the ball and they beat us on the restarts (corner kicks, throw-ins and indirect kicks)."

"At times our defense didn't play the ball as well as we have, but I think they dictated the tempo and that was the difference. Give them credit."

KIMBLE, a freshman player on the Spartans' 1982 championship squad, said this championship meant just as much as the first one.

"We felt we let it slip out of our hands last year," said the standout midfielder. "We felt we had something to prove. Every game was a struggle. I'm just fortunate to be on a team such as this for four years."

Scerri said his team had a tradition to preserve.

"Every team wants to be better than the last one," he said. "I knew we were going to win, but my stomach didn't want to tell me that."

"Rice was a very good team. They played an excellent game."

The Warriors, who lose 18 seniors, bowed out with a 19-2-3 record.

Steve Karfis of Livonia Stevenson (left) battles for the ball with Brother Rice's Charles Beach during first half play. Stevenson won the state Class A championship with a 4-3 triumph Saturday at Atwood Stadium in Flint.

Plymouth Christian keeps Liggett all bottled up, 44-21

Plymouth Christian's chameleon-like defense confused Grosse Pointe University-Liggett enough to keep the Knights from scoring in double-figures in any quarter, as the Eagles posted a 44-21 win Friday at Pioneer Middle School.

"I guess I'm a defensive coach," said Christian's Mark Brandel. "I get upset when they don't do things. I kept changing up our defenses, sometimes coming with pressure."

What Brandel also did was make some adjustments at halftime to stop University-Liggett guard Susan Clark, who scored all 10 of her team's first-half points. Christian was not in danger, leading 17-10, but Brandel wanted to make sure it stayed that way.

It did. Clark was held to five points in the final two quarters as the Eagles outscored University-Liggett 27-11.

"Whenever she (Clark) passed the ball, we made sure she didn't get it back," said Brandel.

At the other end of the floor, Christian was getting good offensive games from senior guard Becky LeBar (14 points) and sophomore center Elaine Priebe (13 points, eight rebounds). Jill Skrubellos contributed seven rebounds and five assists.

Mercy goes cold against Blazers

By Chris McCoaky
staff writer

Livonia Ladywood basketball coach Ed Kavanaugh was accepting congratulations from many of those who witnessed his team's 39-33 victory against Farmington Hills Mercy Thursday night — which clinched the Catholic League Central Division championship — when his two young children came out of the stands to greet him.

"Hey, when did you guys get here?" Kavanaugh asked.

"We saw the last three minutes," was the response.

"Ah, that was the worst part of the game," Kavanaugh said.

Well, yes and no. It may not have been the prettiest, or the best played portion, but it was easily the most exciting.

The jam-packed Brother Rice gymnasium was rocking and rolling. The intensity was high and the game close. But when the dust settled, very little actually happened in the final three to five minutes of the game.

LADYWOOD, which never trailed in the game, built up a 37-29 lead three minutes into the final quarter.

Enter the vaunted Mercy fourth-quarter, helter-skelter press.

In its final 12 offensive possessions of the game, Ladywood scored two points. Mercy forced six turnovers in that span.

Unfortunately for Mercy, it scored on just two of its final 14 possessions.

Much ado about nothing.

"Tell me," Kavanaugh asked rhetorically, "who really wanted to win that game at the end?"

From Mercy coach Larry Baker's point of view, the game was not decided in those final minutes.

"You can analyze this game as well as I can," he said. "You're not going to win many games against Ladywood when you only score 33 points. You have to credit the fine defense played by Ladywood and some exceptionally poor shooting nights by a couple of our key individuals."

MERCY (12-4) HIT on just 14 of its 51 shots from the field — many of them from short range — and hit 5 of 11 from the free-throw line. Mercy never connected on more than four field goals in any one quarter.

"There were a couple of things that we wanted to do against them and did," Kavanaugh said. "We think they have some outstanding one-on-one players so we wanted to play a zone to take that away. We wanted to make them take as much time as possible in each of their possessions."

"Also, we wanted to change defenses as much as possible. We did that, I thought, at key times. It took them out of their game for a little while."

But Baker wasn't as quick to cite Ladywood's zone as the key to the game.

"I was happy they played zone," he said. "I think we're a more effective team against a zone. I don't think our lack of recognition was the key. The key was that we didn't initiate many good passes on offense."

The reason Mercy wasn't making good passes was Jenny Nadeau. The Ladywood guard was tenacious at the top of the Blazer zone and interrupted Mercy's offensive flow throughout the game.

LADYWOOD, WHICH is an impressive 16-0 on the season, got strong games out of Cathy Schram (12 points) and Mary Joy Konczal (10 points). Those two picked up some of the scoring slack for Ladywood's twin towers, Sue Laliberte and Debbie Lapinski played to a virtual standoff with Mercy's big players, Missy Duczynski and Terri Nalodka.

"Balanced scoring has been one of our strengths all season," Kavanaugh said. "We've been getting all five starters in double figures."

Mercy's loss overshadowed a brilliant effort from guard Yvette Maison. The junior led all scorers and almost single-handedly kept Mercy in contention with 14 points and five steals.

"If there's a silver lining in this, well, there's two things," Baker said. "No. 1, Maison came of age tonight as a ball handler and a floor leader. No. 2, 10 games ago we set winning the Catholic League championship as our top goal. This loss does not hamper the attainment of that goal one bit. In fact, we're in a strong position in the playoffs."

The Catholic League playoffs will begin Tuesday (see The Week Ahead).

For Ladywood, though, Thursday's win was extra special — despite Kavanaugh's attempts to downplay the contest.

"WE WANTED to treat this as just another game," he said. "I can't see getting crazy over something like this when we have so many more big games left to play."

Sure.

"But I'm elated to be 16-0," he added. "The kids deserve it. They worked their butts off for this."

Also the Blazers had never defeated Mercy twice in the same year. The win gives Ladywood a clean title sweep in the Central Division: the freshman, junior varsity and varsity teams won their respective championships.

"I'm happy," Kavanaugh concluded.

CEP tankers post victories

The Plymouth Canton swim team posted a 107-62 Western Lakes victory against Livonia Franklin Thursday, but it fell short on its secondary goal.

The Chiefs would like to qualify its 300-yard medley relay team for state competition. But Thursday, the team of Jean McLenaghan, Julie Cox, Michelle Stackpole and Lynn Massey missed the state cut by .04. Its time of 1:59.04 easily took first place.

The highlight of the meet came in the 100 freestyle. Lynn Massey, the Chiefs' senior captain, swam a personal best 56.8.

Canton's other firsts were recorded by McLenaghan in the 200 individual medley (2:31.1), Lisa swimming

DeJong in diving (188.40), Stackpole in the 100 butterfly (1:08.74), Kelly Kirk in the 100 backstroke (1:13.3) and Sue Schendel in the 100 breaststroke (1:18.67).

The Chiefs (4-3) also won the 400 freestyle relay with Massey, McLenaghan, Stackpole and Cox swimming a 4:00.15.

PLYMOUTH SALEM also had an easy time of it Thursday, taking Farmington 106-66 in Western Lakes action.

The Rocks (8-2) won eight of 11 events. Cindy Elliott won the 200 IM (2:29.4), Kristal Taylor won the 50 free (26.7), Tina Aquino won the diving (168.3), Shannon Murphy won the 100 butterfly (1:05.6), Tracy Meszaros won the 100 free (59.34), and Laura Shaffer took the 100 backstroke (1:08.6).

Shaffer, Erin Olson, Murphy and Taylor teamed on a 2:04.36 to win the 200 medley relay. Murphy, Sue Bonnett, Elliott and Shaffer went 4:08.0 to win the freestyle relay.

Lady Ocelots kickers knock off U-M, 4-2

Few emotions propel people further than revenge.

Case in point: Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team, which Wednesday avenged an earlier defeat to University of Michigan by whipping the Wolverines 4-2 at Schoolcraft.

The victory was important for other reasons, though. It kept alive the Lady Ocelots' win streak, now at nine, and it further cemented their stake for a post-season berth in the NJCAA tournament.

"I'm confident now that we'll get it," said Schoolcraft coach Ed Dudek of the team's playoff hopes. "I'll be upset if we don't get one."

U-M beat Schoolcraft 3-1 Sept. 25 in Ann Arbor. This time, the Lady Ocelots broke on top.

They led 1-0 at the half, thanks to Wendy Propp's goal on an assist from Julie Kusza (from Livonia Stevenson). Schoolcraft eventually built its lead to 3-0 in the second half before U-M made it close by scoring two straight goals.

Kusza drove a direct kick into the net from just outside the 18-yard line for the Lady Ocelots second goal. Denise Piwko made it 3-0, converting a Tina Bazar pass.

After the Wolverines rallied to pull to within one, Angie Butterfield dashed any further comeback plans by turning a Piwko pass into Schoolcraft's fourth goal.

Dudek praised Propp and Kusza for their hustle and strong performances by midfielder Jane Moylan and full-back Shannon Bowler (both from Livonia Ladywood).

Schoolcraft, 11-3-4, plays its final regular-season game at Michigan State University (15-2-2) at 3 p.m. Wednesday. The Lady Ocelots would then be idle until the NJCAA tournament at Mercer Community College in Trenton, N.J., Nov. 27-30 — providing they are given a bid.

SPIKERS FINISH PERFECT

Schoolcraft's volleyball team ended its Eastern Conference season the way it began it — with a win. The Lady Ocelots swept Flint Mott CC in straight games, 15-3, 15-5, 15-6, Thursday at Schoolcraft.

The win boosted the team's record to 31-7 overall and allowed it to complete its Eastern Conference schedule with a perfect 8-0 slate. Schoolcraft is one of the favorites in the Region XII tournament, which starts Thursday at Kalamazoo Valley CC. The region winner advances to the NJCAA finals.

In Ansel Adams' eyes, America's wilderness is its most precious national treasure. Through photography, he immortalized the unspoiled beauty of Mt. McKinley for all to see. NEVER CHANGE.

Some things never change. But one great American tradition has changed—U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more, but never less than 7½%.

But some of the best things about Bonds haven't changed. The interest earned is still exempt from state and local income taxes. Still cost as little as $25. And can be purchased at almost any financial institution. Or easier yet, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Like the wilderness, they're another part of our proud heritage.

Variable rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least 5 years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than 5 years earn lower interest.
