tax law on charitable contributions would have a minimal impact on giving locally, say directors of charitable organizations and clergy in the Plymouth-Canton community.

Taxpayers who don't itemize deductions such as mortgage interest and property taxes wouldn't be able to deduct cash contributions to charity in 1987 even though they can do so this year.

Fewer taxpayers are expected to itemize in the spring of '87, too, if Congress, as expected, passes the bili

Still, local leaders aren't worried. "In my opinion there is a greater awareness of need and people are giving because of this need and not because of tax deductions," said Clarence DuCharme, executive director of the Plymouth Community Fund United Way.

"I don't look for a tax deduction. I'm looking to help the charity. Most contributors share that philosophy, he said. 'During hard times, when fewer people are working, those who are working gave more. They picked up the slack.

ORGANIZATIONS like the Goodfellows also don't expect much negative feedback.

"The majority of our revenue is derived from newspaper sales," said John Burdziak, a Canton Goodfellows director. Very few - if any purchasers bother asking for receipts for tax purposes.

We get some contributions from patrons of $50 to $100, but that would amount to only $500 or so. We feel it (tax change) would be a minimal effect.

Other groups like the Kiwanis, VFW and Knights of Columbus, which also raise money through vending activities, presumably would be similarily affected.

The Rev. Mark Morningstar, assistant pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, said he suspects parishioners don't tie donations to tax benefits.

"I think it's not even in the fronts of their minds when they give. They don't realize it until they do their taxes.

Robert Czapiewski, an accountant with the firm of Swad & Co., agrees.

"From my experience, they won't necessarily think about tax implications, amount they deducted, but timing," he said. "They give not because of taxes, but because they know the church needs it to exist."

December - the end of the tax year - is generally a good month for charities, because people are thinking about possible deductions and the holiday spirit kick-ins, he said

BUSY, BUSY: Plymouth Police have been hopping this summer dealing with trespassing, loitering and traffic infractions, especially along Main Street. How busy, you ask.

Well, from July 1 through Aug. 17, local gendarmes issued 657 tickets and made 40 arrests. For the same period last year, officers wrote 394 tickets and made 25 arrests. Chief Richard Myers provided the statistics.

Livonia judge nominated for federal bench

By Susan Rosiek staff writer

President Ronald Reagan has accepted the name of Wayne County Circuit Judge Patrick Duggan as a federal district court judge for the eastern district of Michigan.

Duggan, 52, was recommended for appointment by U.S Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, who made the announcement Friday on behalf of the Michigan Republican Congressional delegation.

Duggan's name now will go to the U.S. Senate for confirmation. Reagan accepted the nomination following an investigation by the U.S. Justice Department and American Bar Association, which rated him

"well-qualified."

DUGGAN WAS vacationing in Ireland last week and unavailable for comment. His wife, Joan Duggan, executive assistant to Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, said: "I'm delighted and thrilled he's received the nomination. He's worked hard for it.

"During the past 27 years, Patrick on the bench.

Duggan has been both an outstanding member of the bar and a respected judge. I would agree he is both wellqualified and deserving of appointment as a U.S. District Court Judge," Pursell said

Once confirmed, Duggan will fill a vacancy created by Chief Judge John Feikens' move to senior status

Duggan began practicing law in Livonia in 1959. Before his appointment by former Gov. William Milliken to the Wayne County Circuit Court bench in 1976, he helped in numerous Republican campaigns, including runs by Robert Griffin for the U.S. Senate, Pursell, whose district includes Livonia and Plymouth, for the U.S. House, and Milliken for the governorship. Duggan also served on the executive board of the Wayne County 2nd District.

HE WAS elected to the Wayne County Circuit Court in 1978 and reelected in 1984.

Besides being active in Republi-can party politics, Duggan has served as president of both the Michigan and Livonia Jaycees, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Livonia YMCA, on the board of trustees of Madonna College and a member of the Northwest Wayne County Guidance Clinic.

He also has taught paralegal courses at Madonna College. When nominated for the federal bench in May 1985, Duggan said he welomed the challenge of handling more complex cases.

Wayne-Westland School District

The district serves southeast Canton.

By Sue McDonald staff writer

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools is facing a difficult problem how to meet the educational demands of the 21st century and where to find the money to pay for them.

The district's administration has prepared two five-year plans for instructional and physical plant needs, which to be implemented requires some $15 million, a commodity that is in short supply in Wayne-Westland these days.

The plans were an offshoot of January's millage request, generalities developed when the district sought an earmarked 2-mill tax increase, but fine tuned over the last seven months to give district officials and the board of education an idea of what is needed to continue in the education business.

"We're not working with a wish list, but a necessary must list," School Superintendent Dennis O'Neill explained. "If we're going to provide for the instructional demands of the 21st century and protect our investment in the physical buildings of the district, these issues must be addressed."

The instructional needs are broken down into six categories - textbooks, equipment, classroom and other furniture, materials and supplies, computers and student activities. The projection is that $4.81 million will be needed over the fiveyear period, with the largest amounts going for textbooks ($1.36 million) and computers ($1.36 million).

broken down into seven categories roofing, asphalt paving, carpet and floor replacement, maintenance and operations equipment, asbestos abatement, building renovation projects and safety regulations. Those needs total $10.2 million, with a majority of the money needed for roofing ($5.20 million). According to Jerry Weidemann, executive director of maintenance and operations, there is 3 million square feet of school buildings in need of repair because the district, as a result of its financial difficulties, has "had to put a lot of things on the back burner.

"We've basically 'Band-Aided' things, doing only emergency repairs," he said. "In maintenance, if you don't take care of the small needs now they become major problems down the road.

'The average age of buildings in this district is 25 years and some still have the same desks, chairs and carpets from when they opened.'

WILLIAM HARVEY, associate superintendent for instruction and planning, said a limited budget and declining enrollment have forced the district to use out-of-date classroom equipment and furniture in the schools and as schools have been closed, their equipment and furniture has been used to supplement what's in the other schools.

"Sometimes it's not cost effective

THE PHYSICAL plant needs is to keep repairing something that's outdated," he explained. "In some ways we're forced to do it, even though it is fiscally unwise to keep putting money into repairs.' The recent decision by the school board to use $900,000 in unanticipated revenue to reinstate the elementary expressive arts program highlights the district's dilemma, according to O'Neill.

"THIS BUSINESS is all about kids, so rather than use the available dollars on physical plant projects, student programs have been restored," he said. "The action by the board highlights what's been happening over the last 10 years. Needs are second priority to programs.

We're just reacting to emergencies. making repairs and replacing equipment only when necessary."

But knowing what needs to be done also has created another dilemma, where to get the money to do the work.

Karl Starkweather was talking about his friend, Russell A. Wingard. Sixty years ago the two were heroes of the north end of Plymouth when they engaged the Plymouth Board of Education in a battle to see where the first ward school would be located. Wingard and Starkweather won; the school was built in their area instead of the locality the board preferred.

During the controversy, Wingard personally secured an option on a site on Holbrook on which to place the building. At almost the last minute, he and Starkweather got the proposal put on a separate ballot, along with the Central site proposition of the board. The north side site carried by a vote of four to one.

At the annual meeting on July 12, 1926, board member Charley Bennett rose to his feet to admit defeat, although he refuted the north-enders' charge that the board was "unfaith-ful to the people." Wingard and Starkweather got the school they wanted. It was built on Holbrook and named Starkweather School after George A. Starkweather, Karl's grandfather, a long-time school board member in the early days.

It is about Wingard, however, not about the Starkweathers nor the school, that I write. Wingard was a good example of human perseverance in the face of difficulties. Poets have written about the uses of adversity, and Wingard's life seems to prove their point. Before he died in 1930, Wingard asked that his old friend and classmate, Karl ing became affected and it was sug-

Starkweather, write his obituary. It appeared in the "Plymouth Mail" on June 6, under the heading: "Prominent Local Business Man Dies." Much of the information I have about Wingard was obtained from that article

Born in 1892, Wingard began work as a machinist's helper and engine hostler at the local roundhouse. During this period, he experienced the first setback to his health. His heargested that he leave the roundhouse and move to a different environment. He spent a short time with an uncle in Texas where the drier, more equable climate seemed to help his hearing. But he missed Plymouth and returned.

In 1912, he was a billing clerk in the railroad freight department in Detroit. In 1913, he became cashier in the Plymouth ticket office of the railroad. In 1915, he was promoted to station agent: In 1916, he entered into partnership with his father-inlaw, Edwin R. Daggert. They ran a general merchandising business, Daggett and Wingard. The work included lifting boxes and barrels and Wingard began to have trouble with his heart. He left that work in 1917 for a post as traffic manager at the Daisy Manufacturing Co. Later, he he was elected treasurer of Plym-outh Township. In 1923, during the era of crystal sets, Wingard opened the first radio business in Plymouth, buying the parts and assembling his own sets. His space was in the real estate off-ice of Roy Parrott. Later, he sold that business and began selling real estate and insurance. His office was in the small frame building at 139 Liberty St. where Curly's Barber Shop was later located. In 1923, he purchased the real estate and insur-ance business of E.N. Passage, said to be the oldest established real estate business along the line of the Pere Marquette Railway. It opened for business on Jan. 1, 1900.

In 1923, several months after he bought the Passage business, Win-gard had a paralytic stroke. This, on top of his poor hearing and weak heart. Although told he would never leave a wheelchair, he persevered until he could walk on crutches. Then he put away the crutches and got about with a cane. Eventually, he disposed of the cane, although his like Job, made the most of adv right hand was useless. He learned to in his short but productive life.

write with his left hand, and continued in business dealings, happy and smiling as though he had not a trou-ble in the world. He exercised his dead right arm regularly and gradually brought it to life again.

Karl Starkweather concluded his obituary of Wingard: "He passed the goal to which we are all hastening ometime during the morning of May 27, 1930. He would have been 38 years old in four days more."

Ironically, of the 700 volumes in Wingard's library, the books he gave most attention to were those about longevity. Among them were "The Prolongation of Life" by Dr. Emil Mayer; "The Art of Living Long" by Louis Cornaro; and "Stay Young" by Raymond L. Gorman.

Wingard greatly enjoyed life in spite of his afflictions, wrote Starkweather. "He was a happy, in-dustrious, public-spirited citizen."

One may not agree with the Board that the uses of adversity are sweet, but one is forced to conclude that Russell Wingard, having been tried like Job, made the most of adversity in Wayne. One girl got fired because she was leaning on the (concessions) counter," Chuhran recalled.

This girl was such a hard worker. I thought if they can do it to her, why should I be a loyal employee if they can do it to me? I quit that very night.'

Ken Vogras, Plymouth's department of public works director, first worked on a garbage truck. "I liked it; it was an outside job. I can recall the only thing I didn't like: Then, they had raw (unbagged) garbage, and there were maggots all over."

Working in the winter cold was "a bear," Vogras said. Still, jumping on and off the truck would warm you up, he recalled.

In 1948, Henry Graper, now Plymouth city manager, began a paper route in Indiana. "I was 8 years old. My parents paid a $25 bond with the Indianapolis News, because you had to be at least 16 years old."

Graper said he earned about $12 per week, delivering to nearly 90 customers in a four-prock area. "That was an awful lot of money. I had more money than any kid in school. I think I bought a bicycle.

"ONE THING I remember is the kind of promotions the newspaper put on for new customers. " Graper said paperboys were offered prizes for gaining new subscribers. The big prize was a trip to a dude ranch. which he earned one year.

Plymouth Township Clerk Esther Hulsing's first job ("I'm not going to tell how long ago") was in Grass Range, Mont. "The local principal wanted to run for superintendent of schools. I typed envelopes; I probably stuffed them. I worked about a week; I was 17 or 18 at the time."

Hulsing said she worked at the candidate's dining room table, earning 35 cents per hour. "That was the going rate in those days."

E.J. McClendon, now president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, earned $8 per week plus meals as night manager of a restaurant near the University of Oklahoma campus in Norman in 1939-40.

"A lot of kids in school didn't eat enough - I didn't have that problem," McClendon said.

Lucas-Engler ticket bouys local delegates

Wayne County executive William Lucas, the state's first black candidate for governor, became the Republican Party's official nominee at its state Convention in Detroit Saturday by asking 1,500 enthusiastic delegates to make the "dream" come true in November.

It was a convention fueled by a desire to unseat Democratic officeholder Jim Blanchard and populated with an emerging grassroots force, many of whom were promoted by the Pro-life, fundamentalist followers of the Rev. Pat Robertson.

"We are all one people, one family; let us go forward as one and make that American dream history," said the Harlem-raised, life-long civil employee Lucas before a noisy Cobo Hall convention center. "Make history in Michigan, history in America." He then added, eliciting a stand-up ovation, "I believe I will be judged by the strength of my character and not by the color of my skin."

INSIDE the clusterings of suburban Detroit Congressional Districts, even those supporters who before the Aug. 5 primary strongly backed either Brighton businessman Richard Chrysler, (particularly popular among western Wayne contingents), or "hometown" candidate, Oakland County CEO Dan Murphy, were now eager to line-up behind Lucas and his chosen running mate, 12-year Lansing veteran, state Rep. Colleen Engler of Mount Pleasant.

Also nominated to key posts were Oakland County insurance executive Weldon Yeager as the GOP pick for secretary of state to face 13-year incumbent Richard Austin and St. Clahre County prosecutor Robert Cleland, who will face near 30-year incumbent attorney general Frank Kelley.

Yeager, a staunch Lucas supporter who last year resigned as an Oakland County party finance chairman because of a dispute involving party favoritism toward Murphy, is considered capable of financing his own campaign, and therefore a good candidate, said sources. Cleland, a Lucas fund-raiser in five counties, was Lucas' pick after conservative state Sen. Alan Cropsey withdrew his nomination from consideration on Friday.

"NOW THAT the general election is here, I'm very pleased to support Lucas," said Canton Township delegate Loren Bennett, a supporter and personal friend of Chrysler's. "The ticket is an extremely strong one for the party. It's refreshing to see the party open up to new people, new faces and (Lucas) is a symbol of that new flow of people into the party."

BILL BRESLER/ staff photographer

Orchestrated mayhem at the GOP convention.

Said 17th District Chairman, Alan May of Bloomfield Township, a former Murphy man, who was even more impressed with the Engler factor: "(Lucas-Engler) is a very viable combination. Engler, in my opinion, was the most articulate of the five (gubernatorial) candidates, and lends not only legislative experience but is well spoken on political issues. She is a good complement to Bill Lucas." Echoing that sentiment was Livo-

Echoing that sentiment was Livonia delegate Art Sippola, "It's a forward ticket. Engler is a natural; she brings a lot of enthusiasm and intellect to the job."

Plymouth Township delegate Ken Hulsing wore a pin, bought by his wife, that exhibited some sentiment on the Lucas-Engler combination. It read: "A man of quality is not threatened by a woman of equality." TO WIN, though, May noted that

TO WIN, though, May noted that Lucas, whose Saturday nomination was particarly noteworthy considering he only became a Republican, switching from the Demcratic party in May 1985, "will need to show he can win in (the predominately Democratic) Wayne County. With Bill Milliken, the rule of thumb to win was 42 percent of Wayne County. That's realistic. He should be able to get that."

Added another delegate, a retiree from Redford Township, Orlando Cerullo: "(Engler) is an excellent pick. We should be able to counter Blanchard's pick of (female incumbent Lt. Governor) Martha Griffiths and also her vast experience in the legislature."

Said Rochester Hills delegate, Yvonne Strother, "it's a historic thing we're embarking on. This is an example of the Republican Party reaching out to broaden the party base."

Oakland County Prosecutor L.

Brooks Patterson, assessing the kind of campaign the Lucas-Engler pair would project in the months ahead, said there was no doubt that the softspoken Lucas would maintain a "statesman- above-the-fray" demeanor and would rely on Engler's pugnatious, aggressive campaign style "to carry the mail."

INDEED, Engler exhibited some of that tenacity, by announcing to the delegate crowd, "Let's go get them this fall. Let's win, win, win."

Most agreed the pair should attack the Blanchard record, particularly the 38-percent tax hike Blanchard engineered two years ago, though later turned back.

One delegate, Redford Township's Tom O'Connell, though, called the property tax issue "a cheap shot. ...any reasonable person knows that it was necessary. That was four years ago. This is 1986." Instead, he said other issues should be addressed."

A 17th District delegate, L. James Hall, 29, and a Lucas organizer in Southfield, said he has been impressed that "we've got a black man running for governor and everyone knows Republicans aren't suppose to nominate a black man and a woman." Hall, though, believes today's GOP platform does address minority'sand women's needs by "holding down taxes and promoting good common values."

MEANWHILE, in the four-member Garden City caucus, of the 15th Congressional District, caucus chairman Richard Masiarak said of Lucas-Engler, "I love 'em both." Adding, "Just take a look at what he (Luccas) has done in Hines Park since he's been in."

Added another Garden City delegate, Robert Stevenson, "I think it's a sure bet."

Party unity was a theme, and one repeated by former Governor George Romney, who looked thinner and more snow-capped than in early days. He called Lucas "a consensus candidate." He said Blanchard was now vulnerable. "He's claimed too much. He's done a snow job on the state of Michigan. And I know a brainwashing campaign."

The so,called and much anticipated Robertson influence on Saturday's convention had impact in the selection of GOP nominees to education posts, though failed to get a twothirds convention approval for the issue as a "test vote" for the Robertson followers who guessed they made up 40-45 percent of the dele- ta gates.

One Robertson supporter from Wayne County said he wasn't disappointed, though, because he believes the Pro-life, Catholic Lucs, can be counted on'to keep so-called state in-

Teacher says boo to monitor

To the editor:

I was a little dismayed at the Aug. 21 front page of the Observer when I saw, "She monitors devil worship." Here we go again! Just as teachers and students are looking forward to a fresh new school year and all the new learning and friendships that go with it we are hit with the spectre of another assault on our outstanding schools.

It should be clear by now from everything that Ms. Daskalakis has said that she has a specific agenda fraught with mysticism and personal belief that she would impose on our children and teachers had she the opportunity.

This woman, who is on a mission from the "Lord," mistakenly believes that by isolating and blinding students to the world around them through censorship that they will somehow acquire the skills, knowledge, and rational behavior needed to live productive, democratic, moral lives. Are our children really that plastic, that "impressionable," that a single book or movie will negate all of their parental nurturing and previous education? Are teachers really that unprofessional or perverse that they would impose a twisted perspective on their students? I think not.

Give us and students a little more credit for out abilities and intentions. When Ms. Daskalakis starts talking about the amount of profanity in the movie "Breakfast Club," the description of the life of a Buddhist monk in Siddhartha, etc., she is guilty of ignoring the intention/meaning of the works in question: it's like standing on a highway with a semi-truck coming at you while you complain about the cracks in the pavement. Do teachers show the film "Breakfast Club" in order to teach profanity? Of course not. Our pedagogy and curriculum are carefully designed and monitored to help our students become competent educated people.

If teaching and learning were so simple that a book or movie could entirely change a young person, school would be the most successful institution on earth. I wish we teachers had such power! But alas we struggle like an inchworm scaling Mount Everest for every increment of learning. Education, like parenting, requires a long-term consistency and sense of purpose that transcends the particular, that helps young people become their own censors.

Let's put this kind of dark cloud behind us early as we start the new school year. Let's get on with the business of teaching and learning at its best here in Plymouth/Canton.

> David Seemann, English Teacher, Canton High School

She prefers road in Hines

To the editor:

I would like to respond to a letter that was written by Leslie Olson and printed in the Observer on Aug. 14.

Olson wrote that cyclists and runners ought, for their own safety, to ride and run on the Hines Park pathway instead of Hines Drive itself, suggesting - in jest, we might hope - that those who make use of the roadway be ticketed for such an offense.

I appreciate Olson's sincere concern and wish to make known one serious cyclist's thoughts on her questions. There are two reasons why I personally prefer to ride on the road.

First, I ride fairly fast, and as a consequence, I worry about hitting other cyclists, or walkers and runners on what is in truth a pretty narrow pathway. This problem is exacerbated by the many blind curves of the path.

Secondly, the path does not run along the entire length of Hines Drive, making it necessary, for anyone riding a good distance, to use the wide and fine shoulder of the road itself.

Why We Played A Supporting Role In The Restoration Of A Community Opera House.

Near the turn of the century, two-bits and a little bit of luck put you near the front of the standing room only crowds that were the hallmark of this opera house. Mary Pickford, at the time just a blossoming star, graced its stage. As did Annie Oakley's traveling show of six-guns and other assorted shootin irons.

In fact, over the years, what with all the stars of vaudeville and theatre who performed here, you would have thought it was Broadway in New York.

Not a small midwest town's main street opera house.

Even talking movies couldn't do to the grand old place what a major fire, many years of neglect and then a condemnation notice would finally do.

Close its doors. Seemingly for good. But to the townspeople, the show just had to go on.

So when private citizens and business people got together to restore this priceless landmark, a lot of our people asked what part they could play.

You see, we're not just bankers. We're part of the community.

So we believe that sometimes it's just as important to lend a hand as it is to lend someone money.

At First of America Bank, we're proud we were part of the impressive community cast of characters that raised the money it took to bring the opera house back to life. And we applaud the entire town's con-tribution to the performing arts.

Don't let too much of a good thing spoil your appetite for tomatoes. Canning the summer bountiful fruit can be easy.

Freeze fruit fresh Tomatoes are easily frozen using safe canning methods

The annual tomato harvest can good thing grow profusely in nearly any climate. In fact, more than 90 percent 3 pounds of food per cubic foot of of home gardeners raise tomatoes and even without home gardens, tomato lovers have easy access to an abundance of fresh tomatoes during the harvest season.

Most people find that they grow far more than they can consume. There's a simple solution for preserving a stock of fresh tomate s to enjoy year and: freeze them.

With a minimum of time and equipment, tomatoes can be frozen whole; or quartered and blanched; sauteed or stewed: then stored in heavy-duty freezer bags for up to 9 months. Home economists have provided the following tips for freezing and storing tomatoes.

• Fully ripe tomatoes may be kept in the refrigerator for several weeks. Do not place immature tomatoes in the refrigerator; store at room temperature to allow for maturing, preferably away from sunlight. Storing in a paper bag also works well.

· Select firm, ripe tomatoes with brilliant color for freezing. Check to be sure that there are no bruises or splotches

 Freezing tomatoes usually makes them too soft to serve raw. Tomatoes freeze especially well in a sauce or relish mixture. To make sauce or relish, remove stem ends, quarter, peel and cook until tender, according to cookbook directions.

• To freeze tomato sauce or relish, cool, seal in heavy duty freezer bags. Remove excess air while sealing to help preserve fresh flavor and nutrients

 Be sure to label bags with date, sometimes seem like too much of a contents and number of servings. • Place sealed bags of tomato

Plump, flavorful tomatoes can mixture in a freezer at zero degrees F. or lower. Add a maximum of 2 to freezer space per 24 hours. This allows the safest, most efficient use of the freezer.

• To expedite freezing, position bags along freezer walls, and let air circulate among them. Once solid, the transparent bags stack easily for convenient, space saving storage.

• Thaw frozen tomatoes gradually for 8 to 12 hours in the refrigerator to lessen the opportunity for texture change.

BOTH VETERAN and novice canners need to remember that tomato acidity is a very important factor in safe homecanning, because the organism that causes botulism poisoning can grow and multiply in home canned, low-acid foods.

Researchers have found that different varieties of tomatoes all fall in the same acidity range. Newer varieties, as well as white and yellow tomatoes, contain as much acid as most of the standard red tomatoes

Studies have uncovered some conditions that reduce the normal acid content of tomatoes, however.

Overripe or damaged tomatoes should no be used for home canning or for juice. Their acid content is much lower than that of ripe, undamaged fruit. They can be eaten fresh, however, or heated and then used in a frozen product.

Tomatoes grown in the shade or those that ripen off the vine are lower in acid han those that ripen on the vine in direct sunlight in the garden. Tomatoes that ripen on dead vines are less acidic than those harvested from healthy vines and should not be canned.

IF YOU BUY your canning tomatoes rather than grow them yourself, it is impossible to know under what conditions they were grown or ripened. In those instances, it is a good idea to play it safe and add acid when water bath processing tomatoes or you can pressure can your tomatoes without using either salt or acid

One common way to increase the acid content is by adding two tablespoons of bottled lemon juice from concentrate (not fresh lemon juice) for each quart of tomatoes.

The following recipe for sweet and sour Tomato Relish provides a great method for preserving the tomato harvest.

SWEET AND SOUR TOMATO RELISH 2 cups chopped tomato (about 2 large tomatoes) 1 cup chopped celery 1 cup chopped green pepper 1/2 cup chopped onion 1/4 cup cider vinegar 2 tbsp. currant jelly 1/4 tsp. ground cloves 1/4 tsp. salt 1 freezer bag (quart size)

Combine tomato, celery, green pepper, onion, vinegar, currant jelly, cloves and salt in a 2-quart glass measuring pitcher. Cook uncovered in microwave oven 30 minutes at HIGH, or until desired thickness; stir every 5 minutes. Cool. Pour into heavy duty freezer bag, press to remove air and seal. Store in freezer. When ready to use, remove bag from freezer and refrigerate overnight to defrost. Serve cold.

The best of Michigan's orchards saved by simple preserve technique

Michigan is the nations largest producer of cherries. Although this eral other ways to enjoy cherries: year's crop will be smaller due to a cold snap in April, there still will be plenty of cherries for eating.

To pick the very best cherries, look for those with a very dark color. which is the best indicator of good flavor in sweet cherries. For sour cherries, choose those with a bright red color

Cajun is still hot for August's last picnics

A picnic is the perfect way to spend a sunny day. Whether you head for the beach, a cool mountain glade or a city roof top, whiling away the hours with friends and alfresco feasting is one of the special pleasures of summer.

While avid picnickers may be unabashed romantics, they know that foods in an insulated cooler with ice the practical side of picnic packing is every bit as important as the ambience. Experienced picnic enthusiasts can appreciate the festive look of a wicker basket, but for safety's sake they forgo it in favor of an insulated cooler or ice chest. Using proper picnic paraphernalia and planning for the protection of perishables goes a long way toward insuring the safety and enjoyment of a portable party

SOME FOODS travel better than others, and one food particularly suited for movable meals is salad dressing. Even though some people still believe that commercially prepared salad dressing can cause food poisoning, this simple is not true. In fact, salad dressing's high acidity level actually slows the bacterial growth which causes food to spoil. It's a simple case of guilt by association. When a dish containing commercially prepared salad dressing spoils, research has proven that the culprits are the perishable foods combined with it.

All foods destined to be carried from home require extra loving care. To help "summer-proof" all your picnic fare, follow these guidelines

• Refrigerate home-cooked picnic-bound foods as soon as they stop

• Prepare foods far enough in advance that the food and the containers in which they are to be carried may be thoroughly chilled before transporting.

stearning.

• Pack well-chilled perishable or ice packs.

• Pack the cooler so the food to be eaten first is on top. This will help you avoid unpacking and repacking the food outdoors.

• In the car, place cold foods out of the sun's rays, but not in the trunk where temperatures can soar.

• At the picnic site, place your cooler in a shady spot to help it keep its cool.

• Discard leftovers - don't be tempted to carry them home. Any food that has been exposed to warm. temperatures and sunshine for hours can be harmful, even though it may still look appealing.

Next time you step out to celebrate the season, try this tasty recipe twosome. Both are light new versions of all-time picnic favorités, created to suit today's fitness-conscious style of eating and both are a breeze to prepare.

No self-respecting picnic would be complete without chicken, and Crispy Cajun Chicken is sure to be a new favorite. Prepared from skinless chicken and baked instead of fried, it boasts a crispy crumb coating secured by a mixture ofmayotyped salad dressing and Cajun seasonings. The versatile salad dressing helps to seal in the chicken's moisture as it bakes and adds its own unique flavor appeal, as well.

Make room on your blanket for Summer Garden Salad, a creative and colorful melange of fresh vegetables in a creamy dressing that combines mayo-typesalad dressing and dill. Add a loaf of crusty bread and a beverage and your picnic's as easy as summer cooking should be.

CRISPY CAJUN CHICKEN 1 21/2 to 3-lb. broiler-fryer, cut up, skin removed

1/2 cups crushed sesame crackers

Brush chicken with combined salad dressing and seasonings; coat with crumbs. Place on rack of broiler pan. Bake at 400 degrees, 45 to 50 minutes or until tender. 3 to 4 servings.

SUMMER GARDEN SALAD 3/4 cup salad dressing 1/2 tsp. dried dill weed dash of salt and pepper 1 small head cauliflower, cut into flowerets, cooked, drained 1 cup cut green beans, cooked, drained prepared and stored properly. With the season's abundance, jams and jellies are a perfect way to take advantage of fruits and vegetables from your garden, or roadside stand or grocery store.

For a different ad unique spread, try Red Pepper Jam. This bright red jam looks spectacular, and its sweet and sour flavor enhances meat and vegetable dishes. One of the best ways to serve Red Pepper Jam is spread over a block of cream cheese. Serve with crackers and it will be the hit of your next cocktail party. You can also mix a few tablespoons with either sour cream or yogurt to make a marvelous dip for raw vegetables. Red Pepper Jam spread on peanut butter, grilled cheese or cold meats is a great change from the standard sandwiches. When frozen, the jam becomes a strawberry pink color, but turns bright red again when thawed. To produce tasty, flawless jams and jellies use these suggestions: • Always use the full amount of sugar in a recipe. Sugar acts as a triggering agent for the pectin to thicken. Reducing the amount of sugar may prevent the jams or jellies from setting up.

Jams and jellies freeze well when bled or tripled the ratios become saucepan. Add sugar, lemon juice, disproportionate and prevent jelly and jam from gelling properly.

· For the best possible results, always finely chop all fruits and vegetables used for making jams. However, do not puree. Using pureed produce for jams will add too much liquid and fruit for a good gel.

• Squeeze juice from fresh fruit for making jellies. Frozen concentrate is also a fine substitute.

· Always use the specific form of pectin called for in a recipe. Pectin comes in both liquid and powdered forms, and they are not substitutes for each other.

· Pint-size freezer bags are convenient for the times when just a smaller portion of jam or jelly is needed

The parties are among various things the Civitans have done for local seniors, such as donating a television set to Tonquish Creek Manor residents and closed caption devices to local nursing homes.

"That's how they got started," Sund said of the parties. "And they've just grown and grown and grown in popularity. People look forward to them each August."

Club members also sponsor activities for other community residents, including an annual essay contest for Pidsosny.

Volunteers from the local Civitan Club help out at the parties, as do those from the Elks Lodge and its women's auxiliary, the Vivians.

We do get a tremendous amount of assistance," Sund said. Local merchants also help out with donations of food items, gift certificates, flowers and other items.

Sund enjoys the parties, even though there's a lot of work involved. "It's great. I enjoy it. Each year I

Breastfeeding: a time for nurturing

By Julie Brown staff writer

OR A NEW mother who is breastfeeding, a little support from family and friends can go a long way. "The more support you have, the better," said Susan Klawitter, a registered nurse at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Help on the home front can make breastfeeding easier and more pleasant for new mothers, she said. Suggestions from La Leche League members or from friends and neighbors who have breastfed their children are also helpful.

"Don't be afraid to contact them and let them be your moral support when you decide to breastfeed," said Klawitter, who works as a motherbaby nurse on the maternity unit at family members. St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

BREASTFEEDING provides the newborn with a natural immunity to certain bacteria and viruses, Klawitter told the women at the Arbor Health Building program. Breastfed babies are also less likely to have allergy problems than are formula-fed babies.

In addition to the nutritional benefits for infants, breastfeeding allows mothers and infants time to interact. Breastfeeding can also provide a time of calm and peace during a new mother's otherwise hectic day.

Breastfeeding also allows a woman's body to return to its pre-pregnancy state more quickly, even while she eats an additional 500 calories per day, Klawitter said.

DURING THE Tuesday night program, the women watched a film, Nursing: A Family Affair." The film covered some of the lifestyle changes involved in breastfeeding, including women returning to the workplace and continuing to breastfeed.

The first six weeks following birth represent the greatest time investment in breastfeeding, Klawitter said. That time corresponds to the weeks when most women are home on maternity leave, thus making it possible to get off to a good start.

"By that time, your milk supply is established." Breastfeeding is essentially supply and demand, she said: thus, a woman's body will soon get the message to produce less milk during the workday hours.

During a woman's pregnancy is the time to begin thinking about fit-ting breastfeeding into a work sched-ule, Klawitter said. It's a good idea to see if a restroom or other area is available for using a breast pump. Storage of breast milk is possible if there's a refrigerator at work; insu-lated bags can also be used for stor-

Women who are at work during the day can leave breast milk behind to be used for feedings in their absence. Breast milk can be refrigerated for up to 48 hours or frozen; formula can also be used to supplement feedings of breast milk, Klawitter said.

SOME BUSINESSES do have onsite child care, which can go a long way in making a nursing mother's job much easier. Household help, flexible work hours or an extended maternity leave can also help the new mother adjust, the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital nurse said.

Whether new mothers return to the workplace or stay home all day, fatigue is a common complaint.

woman eats nutritious means on a regular basis. Women need to check with their doctors to see if any medications should be avoided while breastfeed-ing. Cigarette smoking should be avoided, as should heavy consump-tion of alcoholic beverages or those containing caffeine.

New mothers are often concerned about being discreet while they arebreastfeeding, Klawitter said.

SOME CLOTHING styles are better than others in allowing nursing mothers to be discreet. Two-piece outfits are more practical than one-piece ones; a shawl or receiving blanket can also be used as a cover.

Having a mother breastfeed can be difficult for older children in the family who may feel neglected. The time can be used to read or tell a story to an older child, Klawitter said

The parents' attitude is the key in helping older children feel like they're a part of things, she said. "Eventually, the child will pick up on that as well."

The arrival of a newborn and the demands of breastfeeding can also put strains on a marriage. Although a woman's libido is not affected by breastfeeding, the fatigue and sore-ness that follow childbirth can have

IT'S BETTER for both the mother and the child if weaning is done gradually, said Klawitter.

Mothers may also feel sadness when they stop breastfeeding, she said. Such feelings aren't really any-thing to be worried about.

Lew Huddleston could sense that fate hadn't exactly stacked the cards in favor of his Canton Sports softball team Wednesday night in the first Plymouth-Canton Observer Softball King showdown.

First thing he found out was that his opponent, E.F. Hutton, champions of the Plymouth Parks and Recreation A League, had been red-hot winning their last eight games in-cluding a mercy-rule victory over Plymouth Rock the night before.

Second thing he found out was that his best player, shortstop Eric Baismacked a pair of two-run home runs and Dave Cane hit a monstrous grand slam homer to cap the six-run first inning.

"It's like I said, if we keep them in the ball park, we have a chance." said Huddleston, who coached Canton Sports to the Canton Parks and The reality of it all hit home in the first inning as E.F. Hutton scored six Recreation Department First Division title. "Take away the home runs times and went on to win the comand it's a 3-2 game."

> CANTON SPORTS squandered numerous scoring opportunities, leaving nine runners on base. They left the bases loaded in the third.

"We run hot and cold. This wasn't real hot," Huddleston said.

"They do that to me all the time in Plymouth," Smith said.

The shift really bothered him. He hit the second pitch over the left field fence.

Mark Lipinski and Mike Pniewski then singled and Doug Ogg walked setting the stage for Cane. He blasted Mike Anderson's pitch way beyond the center field fence some 290

Smith, whose father Myron cocoaches the team with Bill Williams and whose brother Ron plays right center, added his second two-run shot in the fifth. Ironically, Smith had hit only two home runs at Mas-sey prior to Wednesday night.

"This was a lot of fun. With all the people here it was nice to get a couple of hits," said Smith who played on nationally ranked Jamies teams for two seasons.

> Rick Vigil was the only Canton Sports player with more than one hit. He stroked a double and a triple and scored one of the two runs.

"I thought we played as well as we could, under the circumstances," Huddleston said. "They are a very good team and they hit the ball hard tonight. It's a hitters' game and you just got to do the best you. Hopefully, we'll be back next year."

But for this year, crown Plym-outh's E.F. Hutton the Plymouth-Canton Observer's Softball King.

It's a tribute to the communities' youth soccer programs.

How else can you explain the consistent wealth of talented soccer players showing up on the rosters of Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem year after year?

Canton, for example, lost two All-Area, all-Western Lakes standouts (Steve Morell and Rob Opatrny) and two all-Western Division players (Bryan Whiteley and Greg Houston) from their 16-7-1 Western Division co-championship team of last year.

Yet, coming back are All-Area halfback Scott Morgan and all-division players Steve Rudelic and Pat Frederick.

Salem, it would seem, was devastated by graduation. Ebon Nash, Eldon Nash, Andy Orr, Joe Knoerl, Mike Tanner and Dave Dameron were all key figures in the Rocks' 10-6-5 season in 1985.

Don't feel too badly for the Rocks, though. Returning is 16-goal scorer Ted Hanosh, along with starters Mike Zaretti, Dennis Dameron, Randy Balconi, Doug Faver and Mike Ulaszek.

Both, as they are every season, will be contenders in the grueling race for supremecy in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"WE SHOULD perform well this year," said fiery third-year Canton coach Mike Morgan. "I have basically an untried defense and an experienced offense. The defense must mature quickly for us to be effective in this very tough league." Senior Dean Barberio and junior Jim Hadde are the two experienced members of the Chiefs' back wall. Others vying for starting defensive roles include junior Tom Collins, sophomore Dennis Dowarowicz, sen-ior Todd Mueller, junior Dan Nash-lon, senior Jack Palmer and junior Doug Sobolak.

At midfield, Morgan and Rob Crain, both seniors, along with junior day, Sept. 9, at home.

Todd Nichols and sophomore Jeff Tutor, return. Others looking for time are sophomores Rick Menary and Jamey Nesbitt, and junior Andy Shiner.

Rudelic, Frederick, Dave Dahlberg and Dan Douglas give the Chiefs a speedy and game-tested foward line. Junior Steve Marshall will also get some time.

"We will hold our own against all other teams," Morgan said. "The best around are going to be Livonia Stevenson, Salem, Livonia Churchill, Northville and Catholic Central. North Farmington could also be strong."

WHERE CANTON may be a more wide-open offensive-oriented team, look for Salem to be more conservative and defensive-minded.

"I am confident we will play our usual type of strong defense with a good counter-attacking game," said sixth-year coach Ken Johnson, who was given a clean bill of health following a heart attack last spring. "We have two excellent goalies, good team speed, good ball-control play-ers and excellent team spirit."

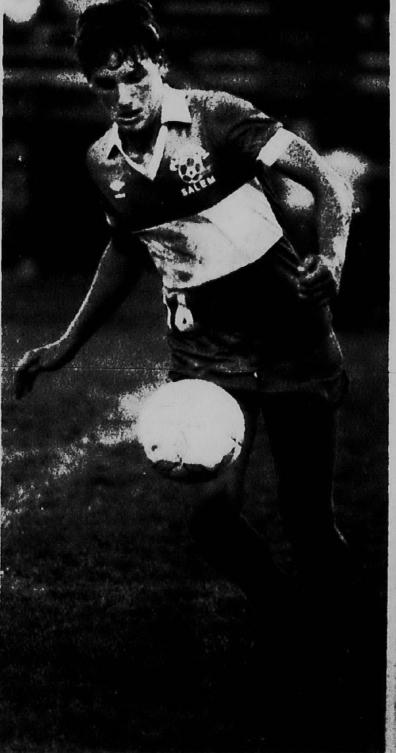

Dave O'Malley and Don Kuntz, both juniors, will share the goalkeeping chores this season. Protecting them will be Favor, a senior, and juniors Ulaszek, Rick Najaarian and Mike Sturdy. The midfield may be Salem's strength. Zaretti, a senior, had seven goals and six assists a year ago. He'll anchor the middle with Dameron and Balconi. Balconi tallied six goals and six assists last year.

Hanosh, a senior, and juniors Pat Sturdy and Dennis Reynolds will play along the forward line. "We expect to be contending for the title with Stevenson, Churchill and Northville," Johnson said. So what's new?

Salem will open the season Satur-day, Sept. 6, at Stevenson. Canton also opens with Stevenson on Tues-strong-armed QBs in historical MIAA

Defense outshines

By C.J. Risak staff writer

History and football in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) go hand-in-hand, so it should come as no surprise that the most obvious of lessons to be learned from last year's season is an old one.

Basically, numbers are nice, but the only one that really matters comes under the win column.

In other words, stats don't mean a thing.

That was most apparent last year as two of the most proficient quart-erbacks in league history piled up impressive numbers. A pair of Ro-chester graduates - Alma's Dean Ulrich, who set an MIAA total yardage mark the previous season, and Adrian's Bruce Crosthwaite, who busted Ulrich's record last year - were simply outstanding. But neither was able to guide their teams to the championship of the MIAA, the oldest conference in the country (founded in 1888). That dis-tinction went to a neit of quarter. tinction went to a pair of quarter-backs who shared the position at Albion.

THE OFFENSIVE numbers senior Ken Kish, a Farmington Harrison grad, and Dave Yaw combined to accumulate for Adrian were not im-pressive. Kish completed 32 of 71 for 434 yards and four touchdowns, with five intercepted: Yam were not five intercepted; Yaw was 58 of 114 for 583 yards and four TDs, with one

Yet Albion went 7-2-1 overall and Yet Albion went 7-2-1 overall and won the MIAA with a 4-0-1 mark. Adrian was second (4-1), followed by Rope (3-1-1), Alma (2-3), Kalamazov (1-4) and Olivet (0-5). Albion's success a year ago was a surprise. The Britons selection as MIAA pressname bothell formation as

Johnstown flooded with baseball mania

A visitor last week to Johnstown, Pa., this re- to Johnstown. porter saw little evidence of the 1973 disaster.

The surrounding mountains are lush green and the air is crystal clear. This old industrial town is rid of the hydrogen sulfide odor that continues to plague many northern industrial complexes.

But after spending a few days talking to the natives of this quaint habitat, 1973 remains vivid.

"Rained 21 straight days," said one Johnstown old-timer. "They had to move the tournament to you," chimed in Rose in early July. Altoona."

'The economy never bounced back," said another.

But downtown Johnstown shows signs of life. Storefront businesses are attractive. City blocks have been turned into malls

Although struggling to keep pace with the rest of the nation, Johnstown comes alive once a year.

THE FOCAL POINT is the All-American Amateur Baseball Association tournament. Sixteen teams east of the Mississippi battle for supremacy in the weeklong event, which attracts some of the best college players in the nation.

The AAABA Tournament, born in 1945, has produced such major league greats as Al Kaline, Reggie Jackson and Steve Garvey. Johnstown's own Pete Vukovich once played in the prestigious tourney.

connection, the Livonia Adray baseball team, was making its sixth trip

Instead of taking reports over the phone, I decided to see the tourney firsthand

Early in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League season, I made a pledge to Adray coaches Ron Hellier and Stu Rose that I would go to Johnstown if their team qualified.

"What a year to make a pledge," said Hellier; his team was struggling early in the season.

'You've got to go Johnstown, but I don't know if we'll be going with

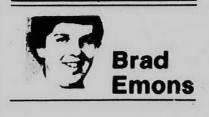

AS IT TURNED OUT, Livonia won the league playoff and got out of its own AAABA regional, beating formidable teams from Philadelphia and Cleveland.

Holding true to my pledge, I jumped in Hellier's car for the 71/2hour ride and suddenly found myself in baseball heaven.

Reflecting back on my four-day stay, several things stick out in my mind:

 Check-in at the Johnstown Holiday Inn: Every team must register at a designated time and for Livonia it was 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

The players are whisked into a small room, in front a group of menacing individuals from the Johnstown Old-timers Association, who proceed to read them the riot committee member Charles Fitzgerald. "We haven't had any destruction (by the players) here in our town for 41 years and we're not about to have any now.

"If you lose your key to your room . . it'll cost you $15. If you're not in your room by midnight, you'll be locked out and on your way home. If you're caught fighting during a game, the whole team is going home.'

"Does this mean reporters, too?" I whispered jokingly to Livonia player Bob Foust.

• The AAABA banquet: Tickets were scarce for the affair - only 20 per team. Somehow, Hellier was able to finagle a ticket for me from one of the Old-timers.

The dinner was sponsored by Coca-Cola, and the AAABA brass thanked the bottlers at least 10 times.

After the chicken dinner, the players were asked to vote for the AAA-BA queen. Twenty 23 AAABA beauty queens were paraded in front of some 320 guys and the whole thing The AAABA piqued my curiosity "If you're caught drinking we're got a little embarrassing. The Old-this season again because a local sending you straight home," said timers asked the girls to parade around a second time in their evening gowns and some of the girls looked like they were ready to crawl under a table. It was male chauvinism at its best, but the Old-timers were having a grand time.

AAABA president Vince Lorenzo of Brooklyn then gave his "State of the Baseball Address." He painted a gloomy picture of the game and said, "We're not playing for fun anymore like the old days." I tend to agree, but I wish Vince would have been a little more positive.

• The AAABA drawing: This was the most exciting part of the banquet until Livonia Adray drew neighbor Detroit Adray Appliance in the first round.

Why do we have to play each other when we could play right at home?" asked a depressed Hellier.

You could tell the players on both teams were not eager to play each other, especially Todd Krumm, the Michigan State footballer, who opted to play for the Detroit team this summer instead of Livonia.

In Livonia's 2-1 win over Detroit, I got the feeling Krumm felt uneasy playing against his former teammates. He went 0-for-5 and struck out to end the game.

Schenectady, N.Y., meanwhile, drew host Johnstown Coca-Cola. That meant they'd get to play opening night at Point Stadium in front of 12.000 fans.

'Never drawn Johnstown," Rose said. "That would be something for our kids "

• Point Stadium: What a unique ballpark, situated on the banks of the Allegheny River off the side of a huge mountain.

The dimensions are similiar to Fenway Park in Boston - 270 in left, with a 50-foot-high screen running down left center. Dead center goes forever, some 480 feet and right field is 294 down the line, great for the left-handed sticks.

The crowds for the night games were enormous. The whole town gets behind the host team, chanting "Coke is it!"

For many of the natives, the AAA-BA tournament is the social event of the year. Streams of teenage girls, straight out of Mary Kay Cosmetics, cruise the scene.

"One year," recalls Hellier, "one of our ballplayers almost got married down down here. My daughter is in high school and now she wants to come down. I said to her, 'No way, honey.'

• The scouts: During the course of the week, some 70 major league scouts invaded the five different playing venues around Johnstown.

Ed Katalinas of the Tigers, the man who signed Al Kaline, is a longtime visitor to the AAABA.

At Vo-Tech Field, where Livonia met Columbus, Ohio, in the loser's bracket, longtime Tiger scout Peck Popovich renewed an old acquaintance in Ron Rozman, whose son, Rick, a pitcher, was making his fourth appearance in the Johnstown tourney with the Livonia team.

Popovich, a member of the Tiger organization for 33 years, remembered Rozman when he was a Triple-

A player in spring training at Lakeland, Fla.

Nearly all the major league teams sent representatives, including the Mets, Angels and Brewers.

• The players: Two come to mind.

The scouts were particularly taking note of Jimmy Abbott, the onehanded Detroit Adray Appliance pitcher from the University of Michgan, and Philadelphian Howard Freiling, a first baseman at the University of North Carolina.

But I'll remember two players in particular.

Martin Eddy, a pickup for the Livonia team. Eddy had three hits in 11 at-bats - all solo homers. He's already on his way to Dallas Baptist University.

The other was Andy Meltzer, the personable and hard-throwing lefthander from the Philadelphia squad.

Meltzer, who hitched a ride with us one night from the University of Pittsburgh-Johnstown (where the players were housed) to Point Stadium, talked glowingly about his Johnstown experience.

"I've never seen anything like it," said the Temple University sophomore. "These people here are something else the way they support this tournament.

"I hope I can come back again next year. This is a lot of fun."

I tend to agree, Andy. Not even a flood would stop me from coming back.

Low-profile Wolverines patiently await chance

By Chris McCosky staff writer

A crowd of reporters and wellwishers surrounded Jim Harbaugh at Thursday morning's University of Michigan media day.

Paul Jokisch was similarly entrapped. Television and radio people took turns thrusting microphones in the faces of Tony Gant, Jamie Morris, Ivan Hicks, Garland Rivers and Mark Messner

These are some of the high-profile members of the Wolverine football squad.

Waiting in line, unmolested, to get a mug shot snapped was Farmington Harrison graduate Geof Bissell. Amidst a large group of U-M linebackers, no media people in sight, was Birmingham Seaholm grad Joe Holland. On the sidelines, leaning against the brick wall, was Country Day product Rick Sutkiewicz.

These are a few of the many, many low-profile team members.

The U-M roster lists 116 names. The team's pre-season depth chart lists 61 names. Only 11 can be on the field at one time. You get the idea how easy it might be for a player to remain virtually anonymous on this team.

Yet each year between 55 and 60 players work year-round to get into plus the fact that he is a resident ad-

He was one of three players to walk on in the spring prior to the 1985 season. The other two players failed drug tests and are no longer with the program.

"I practice with the team and I dress for home games," he said. "You do your best to catch the coach's eye. It's very tough. They bring in freshmen on scholarship every year and they are always going to be given the first chance. I just hope that once before my senior year is over I'll hear coach call my name, and I'll get to step on that field.

Bissell, who has three years of eligibility left, harbors no bad feeling about being a so-called "name name.

"People always ask me how I can stand it, just practicing and not getting into the games," he said. "Well, I love it. I get to be a part of this team. I get to play ball. And I get to run through that tunnel and onto this field with 106,000 people cheering. It's a rush."

erback spot. "They've alternated the last two years - I think one started four games and the other started five games last year — and they'll battle it out again this year," said Schmidt.

Mostly they'll try to get the ball to MIAA co-offensive player of the year Lance Brown, who gained 997 yards rushing and caught 11 passes for 144 more, scoring 12 TDs.

IF THERE is a team that can unseat Albion, the coaches think it will be Hope, which won three of the previous four titles.

"Our prospects at this point are probably far better than last year at this time," said Ray Smith, coach of the Flying Dutchmen, who return eight offensive and seven defensive starters. "Our depth is good. And the fact that we were not league champions last year is a great motivational factor.

The Dutchmen will be relying on senior Ed Conniff, from Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook, to handle the kicking chores. Last year, Conniff punted for a 32.5 yard average and connected on 15 of 18 points-after-touch-down and two of four field, goals, scoring 21 points.

Next in the coaches' poll was Adrian, which will be counting on Crosthwaite heavily this season. The Bulldogs return just three defensive starters and between four and six on offense.

"You win with your seniors," said Adrian coach Ron Labadie. "We had 20 seniors - last year."

STILL, THE BULLDOGS won't be exactly empty-handed - not with Crosthwaite back for his junior campaign. The 6-0, 190-pound first-team All-MIAA selection completed 136 of 216 passes for 1,893 yards and 18 TDs, with nine intercepted. His 1,183 total yards in MIAA games eclipsed Ulrich's mark by 10, and he set a league passing efficiency mark of 166.97 points.

"He's a strong suit for us," said Labadie of Crosthwaite. "He's a good one. He's not fast, but he reads defenses well.

They'll need the offense; senior back Matt Santilli (5-9, 170) from Plymouth Canton is one of the few experienced returnees on defense.

ALMA, MEANWHILE, will be trying to make up for a disappointing 1985 campaign. Enthusiasm is high with the Scots, who will be playing on a new artificial surface.

One reason for the optimism is Ulrich, who is back for his senior year. The 6-3, 185-pound quarterback hit on 105 of 212 passes for 1,659 yards and 10 TDs, with 12 intercepted, lastyear.

And yet, as impressive as those numbers were, Alma coach Phil Brooks is convinced Ulrich is capable of far more. "He has a chance to do a lot more, to set a lot of records," said Brooks.

Several Scots were banged up last year, including senior offensive tackle Vince Consolo (6-5, 275) of Rochester. "It was hard for him to hobble, let alone practice, last year," said

Brooks. "I feel we'll be pretty good as long as we stay healthy." The offense better stay well and play well. Alma's defense surren-dered 250 points a year ago, and af-ter the team was selected to win the MIAA in the preseason poll, it fin-ished fourth and was 5-4 overall.

NOW FOR the also-rans. For the past few seasons, Kalamazoo Col-lege and Olivet have struggled to see who would finish out of the cellar. Last year, that dubious distinction went to winless Olivet.

"We ave struggled," admitted iv oach Glen Stevenson. "It's rough road the last five years. Oliv be But we have made the commitment that this will be our first winning season since 1974." That's tough talk, and it may be hard to back up. The Cornets were outscored 355-63 a year ago, and despite returning an experienced squad, there may not be enough tal-ent. Sophomore Bob Keller (5-9, 184) from Livonia returns at defensive back; he led Olivet with three interceptions in 1985. At Kalamazoo, second-year coach Jim Heath is pinning his defensive hopes on senior team co-captain and second-team All-MIAA pick Chris Mack (5-9, 220), a defensive tackle from Garden City. "We're expecting big things from him," said Heath.

The Hornets will need a lot of big things from a lot of people to improve on last year's 1-8 record.

4 films outstanding for human qualities

In spite of all the trash around, there are worthwhile films that attempt to teach us what it means to be human even while they entertain

Rob Reiner's latest, "Stand By Me," and a British import, "Letter to Brezhnev," both R-rated, and two films at the Detroit Institute of Arts next weekend, "Smooth Talk" and "Dreamchild," offer more than the mindless horrors of extra-terrestrial monsters or dumb ducks from outer space.

Once again Reiner demonstrates his talent and versatility in "Stand By Me," based on the Stephen King novella, "The Body." In a lot of ways it is a "little movie" but a very nice one.

Four young boys hike off into the woods to search for the body of a young fellow who had been killed while walking along the railroad track. Along the way they encounter themselves as well some nasty older fellows, leeches and the horrors of the night, which may be the same as growing up. Both difficult.

THE FILM'S charm lies in the four young boys maturing, the unaffected acting of Wil Wheaton, River Phoenix, Corey Feldman and Jerry O'Connell, and Reiner's deft directorial touch, which keeps their travels moving through what might easily have been a trite forest hike to self-discovery.

"A Letter to Brezhnev" is a dank, dismal and realistic portrait of a couple of working girls in Liverpool. Teresa (Margi Clark) packs chickens and her friend, Elaine (Alexandra Pigg), is on welfare when she's not fighting with her sister, Tracy (Tracy Lea), her mother (Mandy Walsh) and her father (Joey Kaye).

All things considered, it is a pretty unpleasant lot and their lives are grim. That's the whole purpose of the film which, up to a point, is well-executed. A couple of Hollywood touches and considerable difficulty comprehending Liverpudlian English detract from what might have been a terrific film.

One night the girls are out on the town and pinch a fat wallet from a fat guy who was trying to deal Teresa. The girls take off for fancier bars and meet two sailors, Sergei (Alfred Molina) and Peter (Peter Firth), from a Russian freighter in the harbor on a public relations exercise.

Well, I could have forgiven that bit of unlikely romanticism if I could have understood everything they were saying and there weren't a couple of other items to strain credulity.

TERESA HOOKS UP with Sergei and they both just want a good time but Peter and Elaine want more from life and spend the night

the movies Dan Greenberg

talking. They fall in love. Peter points to a star, which is inordinately bright, something painted on a Hollywood sky, and that becomes "their" star.

The ship leaves in the morning and Elaine decides she will follow Peter to Russia. That, as you can well imagine, is not so easily accomplished. One of the problems with the film is that the struggle to join her lover seems rather easy. When she finally writes to Brezhnev, he sends her her a plane ticket Structurally, the film suffers from lack of proper technique to make her long struggle to join Peter seem as realistic as her miserable life in Liverpool. That aspect of the film is, indeed, well represented and her escape from a dreary life is the film's point, but the process of escape is too quick and easy in terms of film time and energy.

In spite of the difficulty with the sound track, the "Hollywood" star and the ease with which Brezhnev sends plane tickets, the film provides a worthwhile 90 minutes of pleasure, viewing the human spirit at its best: looking for something better.

For a good number of years, Eliot Wilhelm has offered excellent film programs at the Detroit Institute of Arts. His Detroit Film Theatre is starting another season exhibiting a wide range of films, most of which are not shown commercially in this market. This season includes Fellini's latest, "Ginger and Fred," Friday-Saturday, Sept. 19-20.

TWO NEW FILMS highlight the Detroit Film Theatre this coming weekend. "Smooth Talk" is a 1986 Joyce Chopra film based on Joyce Carol Oates' story, "Where Are You Going, Where Have You Been?" starring Laura Dern. The story deals with an adolescent girl on the brink of sexual awareness.

"Smooth Talk" will be screened at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday at the Detroit Institute of Arts Theatre on Friday, while "Dreamchild" will be shown there Saturday, also at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

"Dreamchild" is a 1985 Bristish movie about the memories of 80year-old Alice Hargreaves (Coral Browne). In her childhood Hargreaves was the object of Charles Dodgson's obsession. Dodgson is better known as Lewis Carroll. Here's an opportunity to see the story of the real "Alice in Woonderland" in a film not otherwise available.

Documentary theme 'touches heart' of filmmaker

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

His video documentary on Carl and Sander Levin entitled "Brothers in Congress" is a perfect example of the kind of project that appeals to filmmaker Philip Handleman of Birmingham

"They have to be projects that in some way or another touch my heart," said Handleman, in a recent phone interview about the documentary. The 27-minute film will be shown at 1:30 p.m. Sunday on television station CBET, Channel 9, Wind-in the political process. He believes the Levins are a good choice as a film subject because they are "a pretty notable exception to the runof-the-mill politician.

In the documentary, the two brothers share not so much their political side but their personal side, Handleman said.

"I thought it would be refreshing to ask different kinds of questions,* he said, like what kind of impact has the political lifestyle had on their children?

son. He said that he has been active them around their hometown of Detroit for several days, letting the camera roll. I interspersed natural footage with the interviews.

The film producer said the fun part was going on location, but that the project required months of preparation and months of editing - six months in all.

'We got some great footgage," he said.

As an example, he cited scenes of Sander Levin participating in the Focus Hope parade last fall and talking to marchers and Handleman. Other settings shown in the film
