School district picks new elementary site

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

All systems are go for a new elementary school on Saltz Road just west of Sheldon in Canton Township.

Monday, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education unanimously approved the site for the $4.5 million facility, which will serve families in and around the Fellows Creek Apart-

Designed to accommodate 650 students, the school will be built in central Canton because "we're overparticularly in that area," said Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben. An addition being built will expand Gallimore Elementary by six classrooms.

Students who live near the new school site now are bused to Tanger and other elementaries, said Dick Egli, district community relations

It's too soon to say exactly what geographic area will be served by the new school, Egli added

'We'll need to take a look at the time to see who is closest and count heads. The question can't be answered with certainty now because it's such a growth area," he said.

MONEY FOR the construction became available when voters approved a $13 million bond issue last

The new school is expected to open in September 1988, Hoben said. Once plans are approved, the board will take bids and award a construction contract. Wakely Associates Mount Pleasant Inc. is the school architect, and Barton Malow Co. the construction manager. Both have ap-

The school doesn't have a name yet, and it appears suggestions won't be taken from the public. The board will form a committee to name the building, which will sit on the north side of Saltz about 300 yards west of

To be modeled after an existing school in Boyne City, the building will include 22 classrooms for children in grades K-5. Two or three will be used as kindergarten rooms. All will be traditional, enclosed rooms, as opposed to the open classrooms featured in other district schools. (Students and teachers working in open areas find noise a problem, and school officials are seeking affordable ways to remodel)

Group recommends sidewalks

By Doug Funke

A study committee has recommended that Plymouth Township gradually install sidewalks along major streets and use funds from the general revenue budget to pay for the improvements.

The township board Tuesday accepted the report but stopped short of endorsing the financing recommenda-

Supervisor Maurice Breen was directed to make a study of all costs associated with the first of six priorities identified by the committee

The committee consisted of trustees Abe Munfakh and Smith Horton along with residents Gail Webby and Elizabeth Clement.

The women last September asked the board to install sidewalks along Sheldon Road to service children going to school at Smith Elementary and West Middle schools.

THE COMMITTEE mentioned six priorities: · Ann Arbor Trail between Bird School and existing sidewalk, a distance of about 800 feet. Construction cost was estimated at $12,000

· Sheldon Road from south of Clare to Brookside, also a distance of about 800 feet. Construction cost, again, was estimated at $12,000.

• Ann Arbor Trail from Spicer to Haggerty, about 2,000 feet with construction cost estimated at $30,000.

• Canton Center and Ann Arbor roads from Isbister School to Pioneer Middle School, 2,100 feet with construction cost pegged at $31,500.

· Sheldon Road from Governor Bradford to St. John's Church, 1,000 feet with construction cost estimat-

• Ann Arbor Trail from Glenview to Beacon Hill, 1,550 feet with estimated construction cost of $23,250.

TOTAL estimated building costs alone for the six projects approach $124,000.

Acquisition of easements from some private-property owners to do the work and relocations of utility poles, which the report warns could be expensive, aren't included in cost estimates.

Supervisor Maurice Breen disagrees with the committee's recommendation that general funds finance the improvements.

He favors a special assessments where those who directly benefit from a specific improvement pay for it.

"How are you going to fund everybody who's going to be in here looking for the same thing for their neighborhood?" Breen said of the committee's recommendation.

"To handle it universally in the township, I think you have to set up a different process than the recommendation. General fund money is not going to take care of the problem.

"YOU PUT it up for a hearing. If people want it, they'll support it," Breen said.

The committee's report doesn't mention special assessments, although Munfakh concedes that the method is another possibility.

The committee looked only at major streets and placed the highest priority on pedestrian routes to elementary and middle schools and those leading to recreational areas owned by the township or county.

The report concludes, "Construction of these sidewalks should be based on a general master plan with a pre-determined amount of expenditure in the yearly

Tourists take over town, 500,000 to view ice show

staff writer

There's no denying that North America's largest ice show - the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular - has made things too crowded for comfort for many People who otherwise would be going about their business barrierfree in downtown Plymouth have been spied cursing under their breath, irritated with tourists' takeover of their town.

But even locals trapped in automotive gridlocks have to admit -the Spectacular is a good way to rid yourself of the post-holiday

Before it's all over on Sunday, the Spectacular is expected to draw half a million people - five times as many as last year.

The creations of ice carvers and executive chefs from as far away as Sapporo, Japan, have helped make this small city a grown-up's playground. Ice monuments resembling everything from a froze... carousel to a full orchestra have transformed Kellogg Park into an alfresco art museum.

Gentle January temperatures have softened the chiseled edges of many of the sculptures. But sunshine-softened statues atop bunting-covered stands still draw oohs and aahs from passersby.

Sunday's crowd, estimated at 125,000, was proof the event doesn't discriminate when it comes to attracting age groups. Taking in the icy sights were teenagers in love, silver-haired camera-toters, little tykes and moms and dads. Ladies came for lunch and a look,

Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel and ice festival co-chairman, has had inquiries from would-be festival-goers from as far away as Bismarck, N.D., and New Brunswick, Canada.

"Super, wonderful and great" are words Lorenz says he's hearing often. But stroll through the Spectacular and you'll hear things like. "How do they get these out of the molds?" (They don't - artists use chainsaws and carving tools only.)

White ice is more expensive than clear ice, you know" or "When the sun comes out, ice melts from the inside out.'

JAPANESE CHEFS in Plymouth for the ice-carving competition have kept busy.

They prepared Monday's $250 dinner for sponsors, culinary arts instructors and special guests at The Round Table Club. They even went to the trouble of printing a menu - not easy when you're not fluent in English.

The appetizers? "Rolled crab by radish, sour sauce; Boiled radish by Japanese soup on beans paste sauce; Pickled leg of chicken in soy sauce and rice wine; and Fresh vegetable roll by chicken grill."

Also featured: "Sliced raw tuna with green horseradish; Scallop, minced fish and onion stuffed, aluminum foil; Grated turnip on eel, fluke and sweat (sic) potato," and 'Chicken and onion brochette salty taste.

Proceeds will go toward scholarships for the winners of the Spectacular's student competition.

THE MAYFLOWER'S international guests have managed to take a time out or two from cooking and carving Hosts looking to show them a good time realized the movies were out, because only Fumio Uno, the group's exeuctive chef, speaks English. They toured Greenfield Village last year.

What was left? Well, Jason's - a topless, bottomless bar in Windsor. Asked how they enjoyed it, most of them replied, "I like.

The chefs agree on another lymouth plus — "The air is Plymouth plus clean," they said. "No smog."

The Spectacular has gone smoothly, with the exception of a chilly incident involving medals for ice festival winners. Organizers were panicking when the awards ceremony drew near, and the custom medals had yet to arrive. United Parcel Service personnel swore the package was delivered. so "we tore this place apart," said Lorenz.

Days later, after plaques were ordered in desperation, one more call was placed to UPS.

"We asked them what the box looked like, and they told us it was addressed to me, and said 'Gordon Food Service, Keep Refrigerated.'

"Sure enough, they'd ended up in the refrigerator. We had ice cold medals," said Lorenz.

Merchants and folks at the Mayflower are pinching themselves. January - traditionally the year's slowest month for Plymouth retailers now ranks second or third behind December. "We're going full tilt," said Lorenz. "February is going to feel like a vacation.'

Home schooling decision due Jan. 23

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

A decision to be rendered Jan. 23 by 35th District Judge John MacDonald should help end a feud over home schooling in the Plymouth-Canton Community

The district filed a truancy suit against John and Sandra Bennett, who began teaching their children at home in 1985 after a falling out with school administrators. A two-day trial in the 35th District Cour' ended Tuesday.

Truancy, a misdemeanor, is puni hable by a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $50, and/or a jail sentence of two to 90 days.

Though the Bennett's four children were enrolled in Clonlara School's Home-Based Education Program, the district charged they were not taught according to state law. Statutes require that children be taught for 180 days per year by a state-certified teacher using a cur-

MACDONALD will decide whether the Bennetts were in compliance when the lawsuit was filed last year

At that time, Sandra Bennett, with her husband's help, was teaching Scott, 13, Erika, 12, Jason, 10, and Krista, 8, in their horne. Both the Bennetts are high school graduates. Sandra Bennett is a licensed practical nurse, and John Bennett, who attended college for one quarter, is a draftsman in the manufacturing industry.

The Bennetts testified that their children have progressed satisfactorily. Each has done well on standardized tests administered at Clonlara, Montgomery said. In his closing arguments, Prosecutor Gary LeBret

Murder hearing adjourned

Psychological evaluations have been ordered for two Ypsilanti boys suspected of killing a 13-year-old Canton Township girl.

The two boys, both 16, are charged with the murder of Mary Anne Hulbert who apparently told friends she was going to tell the boys she was pregnant.

The evaluations were ordered Tuesday by Washtenaw County Juvenile Judge Judith Wood who, in a surprise move, allowed reporters in the courtroom during a detention

The courtroom is seldom open to the press but due to the seriousness of the charges, she said, the public should be able to follow the case.

The boys, whose names are being withheld because they are juveniles, were initially questioned by police as routine witnesses and later held in Hulbert's death.

The Washtenaw County Medical Examiner says Hulbert died Dec. 30 the day she was reported missing by her mother. The report was treated by Canton Police as a missing person's case until Hulbert's body was found Jan. 7 near Ford and Ber-office would file a petition to waive the youths juvenile status and try them as adults. Tuesday's hearing in Washtenaw County Juvenile Court was adjourned until Feb. 2, at which time it is expected the waiver procedure and detention hearing will take place.

The boys are being held on $500,000 bonds in juvenile detention homes in Washtenaw and Genesee counties. Neither had posted bonds earlier this week. Defense attorney Edward Schwartz said it was extremely unlikely his clients would post bond

He halted a detention hearing last week challenging taped statements from the boys. Schwartz said there are "many reasons" he challenged the tapes but would not elaborate.

Commander Carl Rinna of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department said investigators are continuing to gather "evidence everyday talking to friends and other witness-

4 charged in alley fight

Four men face a pre-trial hearing Monday in 35th District Court on disorderly conduct charges resulting from their involvement in a fracas Sunday at Plaza Lanes on Ann Arbor

The four fought with employees when confronted for refusing to pay after they were ejected for boisterous behavior, Plymouth Township Police reported.

Charged, according to police,

• Daniel T. Macika, 27, of Westland, for disorderly conduct - assault and battery on a police officer. .

• Steven G. Macika, 28, of Plymouth for disorderly conduct - interfering with a police officer.

• Dean C. Hasnik, 27, of Livonia for disorderly conduct - fighting. • David W. Syrylo, 27, of Livonia for disorderly conduct - fighting. Each of the four was released after posting a $50 bond on the misdemeanor charges. A pre-trial hearing is scheduled for 8:45 a.m. Monday. An employee and a police officer sustained minor injuries during the skirmish, said Chip Snider, Plymouth Township's deputy police chief.

Plymouth Township and Plymouth city officers responded to the scene, as did Wayne County sheriff's depu-

Employees at the bowling alley may have brought some of the problems upon themselves, Snider said.

"Our investigation reveals they were intoxicated when they entered the bowling area and consumed intoxicating beverages while on the premises," Snider said.

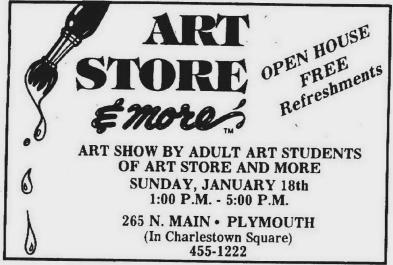

The owner of the establishment was warned that he will be cited to the Liquor Control Commission if it happens again, he added.

Art exhibit Sunday

The adult art students of Art Store & More is having an art exhibit this Sunday.

The art exhibit and open house will be 1-5 p.m. Jan. 18 at the Art Store and More, which is located in Charleston Square at 265 N. Main, Plymouth.

Because the exhibit is being held on the last day of the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular. visitors to the festival are invited to come in and warm up with hot refreshments.

Carvers to compete at Ice Spectacular

By Doug Funke staff writer

Professional chefs/carvers take center stage this weekend as the fifth annual Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular concludes a weather-shortened, 10-day run. At stake is $8,000 in prizes, including a free trip next month via Northwest Airlines to the Sapporo, Japan, Snow Festival.

Spectators may watch the professionals work from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at The Gathering across from Kellogg Park.

Some of the best chefs in metropolitan Detroit and from around the country are expected to compete, festival organizers say.

They include: Milos Cihelka of the Golden Mushroom in Southfield: Christopher Ford, Detroit Athletic Club; Danieel Hugellieri, Amway Grand Plaza Hotel, Grand Rapids, Ernesto Fadul, Chicago Hilton; and Thomas Barlow, Drake Hotel, Chicago.

OTHER CHEFS are expected from Boston, Washington, D.C., St. Louis, West Palm Beach, Fla., and Winston-Salem, N.C.

The "Symphony on Ice" is the Michigan Sesquicentennial exhibit just north of Ann Arbor Trail and Main.

Some professionals and students also may give demonstrations in Kellogg Park from 11 a.m. to dusk Sunday - the last formal day of the show.

That would be see best time to ask questions about the intricacies of carving forms out of 400-pound blocks of Ice Caper, an evening of partying and dancing to the '50s band Benny and the Jets, will again start at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Tickets at $5 may be purchased at the door of the Mayflower Meeting House.

Partygoers must be at least 21 years of age because a cash bar will be available.

STUDENT carving champions were crowned last weekend. Out-of-staters snapped up six of the top 10

Jeffery Stahl, from Joliet Junior College in Illinois, won a $750 scholarship, round-trip airfare for two on Northwest Airlines, a medal and a plaque for h is grand champion effort.

Randy Finch, a Howell resident and student at Oakland Community College, placed second and won a $500 scholarship, airplane tickets, a medal and plaque.

Third-place honors, a $250 scholarship, airplane tickets, a medal and plaque, went to Daniel Rebholz, a student at Joliet Junior College. Fourth-through-sixth place finishers — Dave Allen, Ice Sculpture School of Chicago, Greg Udebrock, a

Berkley resident and OCC student, and Rich Henry, Joliet Junior College - won airline tickets, medals and Charles E. Deeby, from New Baltimore and Macomb Community College, placed seventh; David J.Roller, Washburn Trade School, Arlington, Heights, Ill., eighth; Michelle Meyer, Joliet Junior College, ninth; and Martin

J. Folk, Pinckney and OCC, 10th. All of those competitors won medals and plaques.

THIS YEAR'S Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular may break all attendance records.

As many as 150,000 people came to town Sunday, a city official estimated.

Inbound traffic was blocked completely on Ann Arbor Trail and left turns were prohibited from Main to Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman for about an hour and a half when crowds surged around Kellogg Park.

Contingency plans were made earlier this week to consolidate and re-stock the show as warm weather started melting sculptures.

Students from Joliet Junior College were expected to carve a large display "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," students from OCC a display "Nutcracker Suite" and students from the Livonia Public Schools a zoo montage, organizers said.

The students also were expected to carve additional free-standing sculptures to replace some doomed by

Some displays in Kellogg Park, including "Symphony on Ice," were to be sprayed with a fine mist in an effort to prolong their lives.

After graduating from CMU, Sincock was offered a job as assistant recreation director. The pay wasn't that hot - $10,000 to $11,000 a year - but he had a full-time job and again was working for the city.

Since then, Sincock has worked as grants director and, most recently, as assistant to the city manager.

Mack joins committee on waste-site cleanup

By Rebecca Haynes staff writer

Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, has been named to a statewide committee formed to develop standards for the cleanup of contaminated waste sites.

The Remedial Action Standard Policy Advisory Committee is made up of 19 representatives from government agencies, the business community and environmental groups. Mack, whose county district includes Canton Township, was appointed as the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments' representative.

To date, no regulatory standards exist for the cleanup of these contaminated sites," Mack said, adding they've been handled on a case-bycase basis. "Our job will be to develop a policy and set a basis on which these decisions can be made."

The committee was initiated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Once committee proposals are formulated the DNR will review them and adopt them as procedures that must be followed in the cleanup of every contaminated site.

'There are over 1,500 sites of environmental contamination in Michigan as determined by the state's en-vironmental response act," Mack said. "We'll be specifically addressing the 56 sites on the national Superfund list."

sored program designed to clean up contaminated waste sites throughout the country.

"What it's going to come down to is how clean is clean, and how much money should you spend on a site to make it clean," he said. "We have scarce resources available, and we need to get their maximum value.

"There's a lot of expense involved in hauling the waste away and finding some place to dump it. Do you spend the money on the most severely contaminated sites and try to clean them up, or do you go first for the least contaminated sites before they get bad?" he said.

There's a whole range of questions and what it comes down to is trying to make the best of a bad situ-

Mack said the DNR estimates it would cost more than $4 billion to clean up 700 of the 1,500 contaminated sites in Michigan.

Government representatives on the committee come from the DNR, the Michigan Public Health Department, the state attorney general's office, the Toxic Substance Control Commission, the Michigan Environmental Review Board, Office of Great Lakes, the International Joint Commission and SEMCOG.

The State Chamber of Commerce, the Michigan Manufacturing Associ-

"In addition the House and the Senate leadership have been invited to appoint a committee member," Mack said. "It's a very broad-based committee that will have a statewide scope."

The committee has been asked to complete its work by Sept. 3. Its first meeting will be held Jan.

29 in Lansing. "I know it will be a challenge," Mack said. "Waste disposal is really one of the critical issues of our time.

"What service do you use every day of your life? The things we really depend on are for someone to haul away our garbage and for our sewers to work," he said. "You can't produce until you dispose of your waste and you have to have a place to store it.

2 arraigned in drug bust

Two Detroit men were arraigned Friday afternoon in 21st District Court on charges of delivery of more than 650 grams of cocaine

The men, Michael Anthony Thompson, 30, and Earl Lathon, 41, were arrested by Garden City police and members of a special Wayne County drug unit at 12:10 p.m. Friday at an unidentified location in the southeast section of Garden City.

The two men are being held in Garden City jail pending bail, which has been set by Judge Richard Hammer at $200,000 for each de-

Preliminary examinations for both defendants will be held 2 p.m. Tuesday.

The two men face a maximum penalty of mandatory life in prison if convicted of the charges.

Police said the two men had completed a $32,000 deal for the cocaine before they were arrested. The cocaine had an estimated street value of $500,000, they said.

THE ARRESTS climaxed a fourweek investigation by the Wayne County Drug Enforcement Team, a special unit covering narcotics sales in Garden City, Plymouth, Canton Township, Westland and other western Wayne communities

Garden City police were called in when the location of the bust was determined, said Chief Ralph Gohlke.

Risks seen in comparing schools of U.S., Japan

Dr. R. Stephen Nicholson, chancellor of Oakland Community College, labeled an unusual study on Japanese education released recently by the U.S. Department of Education 'useful."

Nicholson, who lived and worked in Japan from 1950 to 1961 and who speaks Japanese, said, "To the ex-tent we can use the study to help us decide what we want to accomplish within our own educational system, whether our system is to be an equalizer of race, income distribution, equal opportunity or what, the report is useful.

"The failure of the report is our lack of understanding about cultural differences.

"The purpose of education is to transmit culture. In that sense, our system is heterogeneous. Japan's system is homogeneous.

'Education is a tool that assumes different dimensions in each culture. Educational systems are designed to

To compare the American and Japanese systems could be very dangerous."

THE STUDY grew out of conversations in November 1983 between modified slightly following World

The U.S. report, "Japanese Education Today," was conducted by international specialists within the Department of Education and was released Jan. 3.

The document concluded Japanese education provides all students with a high quality, well-balanced basic education. Ninety percent graduate from high school, the equivalency of at least one year longer in school than in the U.S. system.

The report cited two important assumptions in the Japanese system all children have the ability to learn, and habits like diligence and attention to detail can be taught.

The report also said problems include rigidity, excessive uniformity and lack of choice. Individual needs and differences receive little attention in school and there are signs of student alienation.

NICHOLSON SAID today's educational system in Japan stems from the mid-1800s, when the Japanese realized their future lay in competing with the west. The system was

War II but only in certain curriculum content.

The system, Nicholson added, is centralized, tightly organized, highly focused and highly productive. "There are structural differences, patterned after English and German systems.

Nicholson said Japanese children are enrolled in pre-schools at the earliest possible age and attend public school 240 days a year, compared to 180 days in the U.S. All curriculum and teacher training is entirely established by the Department of Education in Tokoyo.

Teachers in Japan continue to be viewed as "surrogate parents." They assign enormous amounts of homework and, Nicholson said, Japanese students work harder, sometimes up to eight hours a day, to complete it.

Japanese parents, Nicholson added, are so involved that it is not unusual for a family to spend one-third of their annual income on tutors, after-school classes and specialized instruction to help students pass required qualifying exams to advance from one level of school to the next.

'The linkage between home, school and parent is infinitely different and gives an inherently different message to the child," he said. THE RESPONSIBILITY for failsaid. "Failure carries great shame."

But once the student graduates from high school and is admitted to college, the responsibility for failure falls on the university system. Hence, Nicholson said, every effort is made to guarantee success.

Nicholson believes this is why the Japanese university system falls short of worldwide standards. If it is assumed only the brightest reach college, he said, then it is reasonable to assume they will graduate. To ensure graduation, Japanese college standards suffer

What's the value of ice festival?

Susan Roslek assistant managing editor

Ice Sculpture Spectacular has been a success as far as the number of spectators drawn to the area is concerned.

The crowds started coming in late afternoon Friday and never let up all through the weekend. In fact, the volume of cars pouring into town became so heavy mid-day Sunday that police had to block off both ends of Ann Arbor Trail in order to better handle pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

The parking lots were full and streets lined with parked cars in all directions - like spokes on a wheel with Kellogg Park being the hub. The sidewalks were full and spectators were lined up four to six abreast entering the park.

THE VOLUME of traffic did, of course, provide some inconveniences to residents, but the benefits should outweigh the negatives.

Residents quickly learned to avoid the downtown area over the weekend. There were some problems traversing residential streets with cars parked for blocks - on both sides in spots. Some homeowners had to take measures to reserve their parking space when it was necessary to leave their home.

These frustrations, though, are shortlived. After this Sunday, Plymouth will return to normal. In the meantime, we can take pride in the national attention Plymouth has received from the Ice Spectacular and from the fact that hundreds of thousands of people chose to spend their weekend here.

The short-term benefit in the economic gains of retailers, restaurateurs, hoteliers, etc., is significant in itself. The 10-day event is expected to draw some 500,000 spectators — give or take 100,000. Estimating crowds is always difficult, but given the large number of walkers and drivers seen over the first weekend the 500,000 estimate seems quite likely.

If every spectator coming into town spent only $2 then the Plymouth commercial community would benefit by $1 million because the Plymouth Ice

HE FIRST half of the Plymouth Sculpture Spectacular was held. Many people, though, purchased breakfasts, lunches, dinners, hotel/motel rooms, film, gifts, etc. It would not be excessive to suggest the economic return over the 10 days surpasses $5 million.

> THE LONG-TERM gains, while even more difficult to quantitate, are even more important to the community.

Out of the 500,000 visitors to the Ice Spectacular, a very conservative estimate would be that 25,000 had never been in Plymouth before. Of those firsttime visitors, we can conservatively estimate that 3,000 are likely to return.

And when those 3,000 return they also will be investing money in the local economy. These first-time returners will spend more, however, on their arrival here than the Ice Spectacular visitors from nearby communities, as they will likely be from distant towns and will need lodging and food. And, once here, they will shop and buy.

Each time a major festival - like Fall Festival or hot air balloon festival or the ice festival - is held, a new wave of future buyers is produced. The local business market gets the immediate profits, but the entire local economy ultimately benefits.

Commercial growth in the past decade has, without question, helped relieve the tax burden on residential property owners. The city's tax rate has remained relatively the same. Likewise the school district's millage has not changed considerably - individual rates have expired and been renewed, debt retirement mills have expired and new ones levied, but there has not been a significant increase in millage rates in recent years.

A thriving downtown makes for a thriving community. When the business economy is healthy, all of us are healthy. The growth in residential property values here has not been by chance.

Given the long-range benefits for all. we certainly can tolerate some inconveniences for a short time. We all should pray for bad weather.

Vill business pay for Big Brother?

WHEN THE Republicans were in metropolitan Detroit for their 1980 convention, a little radical paper published a scathing article about surveillance cameras dotting the downtown. It predicted that what was being installed in the name of presidential security would be retained for spying on common folks.

Well, the radicals seem to be right. News from the big city is that the Detroit Police Commission wants to use those 1980 rooftop cameras, plus 15 new ones, to set up a surveillance system of the downtown.

Officers will watch the closed-circuit TV system, in police jargon, to monitor suspicious behavior.

IT BRINGS to mind a passage from George Orwell's "1984," the 1948 novel warning us that technology and Big Brother government could become tools of oppression. The passage describes hero Winston Smith's apartment:

"Behind Winston's back . . . telescreen received and transmitted simultaneously. Any sound that Winston made, above the level of a very low whisper, would be picked up by it; moreover, so long as he remained within the field of vision which the metal plaque commanded, he could be seen as well as heard.

"There was of course no way of knowing whether you were being watched at any given moment. How often, or on what system, the Thought Police plugged in on any individual wire was guesswork. It was even conceivable that they watched everybody all the time . . . (You lived) in the assumption that every sound you made was everheard, and, except in darkness, every movement scrutinized."

DETROIT'S DECISION isn't final. Police commissioners say they will ask businesses to pick up the $400,000 cost. In other words, it won't be up to the elected city council to appropriate tax money. It won't be up to the voters. An appointed governmental body will seek private funds for surveillance cameras. No democratic shenanigans for Big

Now, the owners of most Detroit businesses live in the suburbs. The leadership, clout and money for the chamber of commerce is suburban. It would be nice if such educated and, one hopes, enlightened leaders would deny the Detroit Police Commission's request for surveillance money.

BUT DON'T bet they'll say no.

Michigan Bell Telephone for two years has been using video surveillance in its headquarters at Michigan and Readers already know how I feel about the oppressive surveillance of Detroit Edison's security corps in its downtown headquarters.

We've witnessed a governor, whose critics insist he's a flaming liberal, try to institute a system of vehicle check lanes where State Police would halt every driver on a stretch of road. We have a president who wants urine tests for drug use even of non-suspects.

Well, we still have the Michigan Constitution: "The person, houses, papers and possessions of every person shall be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures." Underline "person" and "unreasonable searches.'

I can't recall the name of that radical sheet that in 1980 warned us this would happen, but I'd like to say thanks.

Crime is public business

IT'S BEEN a long time since I've written about Conny Efstahiou. But you and I owe a favor to guys like him. And right now he needs a favor.

You see Conny's story is the kind of stuff of which the American dream is made. Greek immigrant comes to America, works hard and finally ends up owning a successful business.

I met Conny more than a decade ago when he and a colleague had just opened up a new Greek restaurant in a quiet strip along Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Hills.

Away from the din of Greektown in Detroit, the two hoped to provide a taste of their homeland in the suburbs. And for many years they did just that.

A quiet kind of person, Conny just wants to serve his customers, run his business and enjoy the fruits of his labor. He deserves that. After all he came to this country and made it a better place in his very own way.
UNFORTUNATELY FOR Conny, his dream is something of an American nightmare right now.

His dream, the restaurant he owns, is being victimized by gangs of teenagers whose parents don't know enough to keep an eye on their kids. He isn't alone in this. Many other businesses are suffering the same plight. Orchard Lake Road has become a hangout for affluent teenagers with, as one merchant put it, "a lot of money and expensive cars. They have a tremendous amount of idle time.

We know from the police records that the teens come from several of the western suburbs, including Livonia, West Bloomfield, Southfield, Walled Lake, Novi, Bloomfield Hills, as well as Farmington Hills - not exactly your run-of-the-mill inner city rowdies.

These teenagers beat up other teenagers, get drunk, harass shoppers and vandalize the stores and restaurants.

NOT ONLY do Conny and the other merchants have to put up with rowdyism, they also have to put up with a police state mentality, which is more concerned about news coverage than with the criminal element. And make no mistake about it, what has happened along Orchard Lake Road is a crime.

After several parents called news outlets to complain about the Orchard-Lake situation, Farmington Hills Police. Chief William Dwyer got bent out of.

Seems the chief wanted to keep the discussions between concerned parents and himself private. Although he has met with merchants and parents in private, he did show up at a public forum last night - where public business should be conducted.

Suburban police chiefs must realize that the only way for problems to be solved is through public awareness. That's why police chiefs are public offi-

They also need to remember that their first duty is not to keep secrets but to protect the likes of Conny Efstahiou and the rest of those who work hard for

In politics, world's a stage

WHO SHOULD PLAY Ronald Reagan in a movie about the Iran-contra affair, asked the Boston Herald.

The majority of newspaper readers who responded said the former movie actor-TV pitchman turned politicianpresident should play himself, the ultimate Let Reagan Be Reagan.

A distant second choice was Burt Lancaster followed by Gregory Peck.

If I were casting the movie, I certainly would consider Charlton Heston, who plays the powerful, scheming Jason Colby, the West Coast version of Blake Carrington, or J.R. Ewing.

Heston is tall, fairly slim and in good shape for his age, just like Ron. He has orange hair just like Ron has at times, and he wears California brown suits just

HE'S NOT quite the aw shucks goodold-boy type that Ron is, but perhaps we could train him to answer questions with, "Well, uh . . . ," to wear leather jackets and hop on and off helicopters with the little lady in tow, to banter with the press with one hand cupped to his ear and to wave merrily from hospital windows.

Heston certainly would have the proper training as Jason Colby for playing the kind of character who decides to set up a secret army in the basement of the White House headed by a marine lieutenant colonel; who directs disinformation campaigns aimed at making people believe there are Libyan terrorists loose in the U.S.; who wants to bomb the capitals of foreign countries; who helps both sides in a Mid-eastern war; and who sells arms to one country and then uses the profits to finance another war in another hemisphere.

But wait. Not even Aaron Spelling or the Shapiros could dream up such convoluted plots. It's too far-fetched for straight night-time soap opera; it would have to be played as a dark comedy a la Terry Southern's "Dr. Strangelove." It's probably too comic for even that. I'd have to go with comedian John Candy or comedian John Madden, if either could lose half a side of beef.

JUST IMAGINE Candy or Madden sitting in the Oval Office yelling at Col. North (played by Treat Williams), "This is another fine mess you've gotten us into, Ollie," while the three stooges playing Shultz, Weinberger and Poindexter are slapping each other in the Making movies of political sagas would probably make the political activity more interesting and palatable to the folks at home who pay the cost of the follies.

Just imagine, every local political character could be played by some actor instead of the politician-actor play-

William Lucas, who starred in a longrunning morality play about political futility, might best be played by Richard Pryor, if he can learn to talk without swearing.

My first thought about the actor who should play Gov. Blanchard centered on Michael J. Fox but Fox is probably too young to play the one-time boy-guv. Besides, Fox, given a pair of glasses, would look more like state treasurer Robert Bowman. At 5-foot-2 Fox is closer to Bowman's height than the 5-7 governor's. Blanchard would have to be played by someone with more stature. someone like Richard Dreyfuss or Dustin Hoffman.

DOUG ROSS, who is being touted as a possible Democratic candidate to run against Oakland County Executive Dan Murphy, is too loquacious for most actors now posturing, but how about Daniel Travanti, the straight arrow Capt. Furillo?

Lee J. Cobb would have been a natural to play Murphy, and Broderick Crawford could have done a great Johannes Spreen (ex-Oakland sheriff), but the actors have gone on to the great playhouse in the sky and I can't think of suitable replacements.

As the folksy Oakland County Sheriff John Nichols, I'd cast Andy Griffith, with almost the same mannerisms he had on Mayberry R.F.D. For Coleman Young, I'd pick either John Amos or Ben Vereen, depending on whether you think being mayor of Detroit is a serious or laughing matter.

Trip west has a rosy ending for ASU fan

A HAPPY MEMO to Bill Waun, Wendell Wagner and many others who have wondered whether leukemia-stricken Karl Hyslop made it to the Rose Bowl as he vowed to do in a mid-December message to this column from the Texas Medical Center at Houston: Yes, he did.

In case you missed the initial chapter of this tale, Hyslop is a well-known former steel industry executive in this area who was laid low by disease in 1984. Back in the '50s he starred as a football linebacker at Arizona State University and he was determined to get to Pasadena to see the Sun Devils play Michigan.

The hindrance was that last January doctors told Karl he had no more than nine months to a year left in life.

When NBC's cameras panned the stadium New Year's afternoon, I wish they had focused on Row 75 in Section 13 to show a smiling, bearded, 49-year-old man in an ASU sweatshirt leaping with joy in the triumph of the moment. That was our friend. He may have been the happiest of all 103,168 people who were there.

KARL TOOK the long way around to return from Pasadena to the hospital at Houston, stopping first in the Detroit area to see his children. When he called, he sounded terribly tired.

His New Year's morning flight to California was delayed two hours, causing him to miss the kickoff and the game's first touchdown. "But that was a Michigan score, and as things turned out it didn't matter. In the second half we overwhelmed your guys," he said.

I asked how his medication was working and was told, "I'm on borrowed time anyway, and it's a day-to-day, week-to-week thing. I'll go as long as possible."

It didn't seem quite right to wish Happy New Year, but when this man does reach the end he'll go out a winner.

CAN YOU STAND one more reference to football? It's included because after mention of Norte Dame's Four Horsemen in a recent column, several readers asked if I would find out who orginated the nickname. It took no effort at all.

Turn the clock back to 1924. The Irish were to play the Cadets of West Point in New York City, which would remain the host to this annual autumn fixture for many seasons.

It was a series that had box office mystique. The phrase "Subway Alumni" to describe Notre Dame's followers in the big town characterized the multitude who rooted for the Irish without ever seeing a college campus.

So, in '24, when Knute Rockne brought in an unbeaten team to challenge Army in mid-October, the setting was ready-made for journalistic poetry. Grantland Rice obliged, his lead in the New York Herald-Tribune Oct. 19, 1924 reading:

"OUTLINED AGAINST a blue-gray October sky, the Four Horsemen rode again, In dramatic lore they are known as Famine, Pestilence, Destruction and Death. They are only aliases. Their real names are Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden. They formed the crest of the South Bend cyclone before which another fighting Army football team was swept over the precipice at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon as 55,000 spectators peered down on the bewildering panorama spread on the green plain below them."

The score was 13-7. Four years later, it was from this series that the football world gained another memorable phrase when Notre Dame stormed back in the second half to beat Army, 12-6. This was from George Gipp's supposed dying message, used by Rockne in his halftime speech that day:

"Sometime, Rock, when the team's upagainst it; when things are wrong and the breaks are beating the boys, tell them to go in there with all they've got and win one for the Gipper."

You must be familiar with the words. Hollywood even made a movie about it. Some say it's still being shown at The. White House.

A primer in grass roots democracy at 'work'

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT 101: (Tonight, class, in order to get a better understanding of local government, we will study how the citizenry makes its desires for community development known to government officials. To aid us in our discussion later, let's listen to a cassette tape of a typical hearing before a zoning commission).

CHAIRMAN: "Regarding the current proposal for construction of apartments in the northwest corner of the township, we will entertain suggestions from the audience, beginning with the first row on my right. Madam, kindly step to the mike, give us your name and your views on rezoning. Try to keep it to one or two sentences."

CITIZEN I: "My name is Sally K., and if you want a sentence I'll give you a sentence. How about 90 days in the county jail? I tell you, it's a crime the way the township has overlooked looking over our water problem. This year my husband and I are 65 and we're sinking fast, thanks to the drainage situation. It's already so bad we can't afford to have any more children. And have you ever visited our neighborhood after a light rain? Well, don't. Not unless you bring hip boots and a certificate of paid-up insurance. As for the vacant lots next door to us (where you want to build apartments), are they now listed in the travel directory as a water recreation area? You want to hear about my basement? I have to keep a rubber raft tied to the steps just so I can get canned goods from the fruit cellar. And listen to this, instead of hauling dirt out of our basement, we haul it in. My husband and I are trying to build an island in the center so we'll have someplace to live after we pay our water bill. Right now, there's more standing water in this township than there is in Hoover Dam. And now, you want to add more toilets? Are you kidding?"

CHAIRMAN: "Thank you for your astute delineation of the problem, Mrs. K. Now may we hear from the gentleman in the baseball cap. That's right, you cir."

CITIZEN II: "My name Ladislas Z. I come America this place two year. My brother Hamtramck, nearby city. He has job at. . ."

CHAIRMAN: "Mr. Z., we're sure your brother has a fine job but we're not interested. . ."

CITIZEN II: "Why you no like my brother? He citizen many year and..."
CHAIRMAN: "Mr. Z., your brother's citizenship is not germane to. . ."

CITIZEN II: "You say right. Not Germane(sic). He born Polish, now American citizen."

CHAIRMAN: "Would you kindly tell us if you have any objection to rezoning
the tract in question?"

CITIZEN II: "Please?"

CHAIRMAN: "Would you like apartments..."
CITIZEN II: "I no want apartment, thanking you. I already have nice house. Apartments mean many husband, many wifes, many childs. My house mean only one husband, one wife, two childs, age four and little Vladimir, he only..."

CHAIRMAN: "Mr. Z. . ."
CITIZEN II: "Back in old country,
me, my wife live apartment long time
— near to church. Priest — he very nice man — he say. . ."

Roy Denial

CHAIRMAN: "Yes, yes, Mr. Z., he's a nice man. . ."

CITIZEN II: "You liking my priest? Good. I smile you. Why you no smile me?"

CHAIRMAN: "Mr. Z., I thanking(sic), I mean, I thank you but our time is running short. Please be seated. May we hear from the man in the dark jacket? Meanwhile, sergeant, would you help Mr. Z. to his seat before we have an international incident?"

CITIZEN III: "My name is Everett J.

and I think it's high time we stopped pussyfooting around about what it means to rezoning R5 to RM. Do you know what RM really means? RM means motorcycles and mambo dancing. It means mugging and mailbox mayhem. On our street we already have so much wild traffic that I've had to outfit my mailbox with a rubber post so that it will bounce back everytime a car hits it. In fact, my mailman has applied for combat pay. And if we get any more families in this neighborhood, the Post Office will only guarantee a mail drop once a week - by air. How in the world can you people. . .'

CHAIRMAN: "Thank you, Mr. J. Well, now. It is indeed refreshing to have you citizens reason with us as we strive to solve this problem. While the commission has previously indicated that it looks favorably on this rezoning proposal, we have as yet taken no formal position. However, to allay any fears you may have, I would want you to know that I was joking when I mentioned earlier that I didn't mean what I said about reconsidering our decision not to change our position."

("That's it, class. Now that you've listened to this partial transcript of the hearing, please write a report, pointing out the ways that the give-and-take of such a forum serves to assist government in fulfilling its obligation to function for the good of the people.")

FICHIGAN BECAME a state 150 years ago, on Jan 26, 1837 In Plymouth, that date will be celebrated with an open house at the Plymouth Historical Museum on Sunday, Jan. 25.

"After 150 years, one day plus or minus isn't that big of a deal," said Bruce Richard, president of the Plymouth Historical Society

"It's only logical to do it that way." Holding the open house on a Sunday will allow more people to attend than a weekday celebration would, he said

The local celebration of Michigan's sesquicentennial will be held noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 25, at the Plymouth Historical Museum. 155 S. Main St. Birthday cake and punch will be served. Admission is free of charge

"So that was the tragedy around here, that so many of them were

The museum also has a display on the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution, celebrated this year along with the Michigan sesquicentennial A display of commemorative plates is also featured.

The downstairs area of the museum includes a wall display of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. series, "A History of Michigan in Paintings." Cases in that part of the museum hold displays on such subjects as the railroad and interurban, schools, newspapers, government and local stores

THE STORE display includes an 1871 ledger from the Starkweather Store. The government display includes an 1852 assessment roll for Plymouth Township and an 1899 poll list with men's names only, as women weren't allowed to vote in those days.

Plymouth industries, such as the rifles made by the Hamilton Rifle Co, are also well-represented at the museum.

A will can provide peace of mind

By Julie Brown staff writer

It's easy to put off writing a will. Thinking about death, after all, isn't the most pleasant of endeavors. Not having a will, however, can lead to disaster "It's a likely probability that we're all going to die," said Robert J. Essick, a Southfield attorney. Planning ahead by having a will can make a death easier to cope with for family members. What you want to do is to help yourself and help your family," he said. 'A will will help you get things

Writing a will forces people to look at their financial status in a number of areas. They may find, for example, that a life insurance policy is no longer an adequate one. Although in most families one spouse will die before the other, it's possible that both may die simultaneously. In writing a will, it's important to cover the question of child custody, Essick said. Provisions can also be made for financing a child's

It's often beneficial to include a provision that a child not inherit the full sum at age 18, he said. It may be a portion of the funds at an older age, such as 25, 30 or 35.

"Hopefully, they've learned some of the lessons of life that you're not there to teach them.

IN NAMING a trustee for a child, it's important to pick someone with good business sense, the attorney said. The provisions of the will will vary according to the size of the estate and the wishes of the parents.

In looking at assets, it's important to consider the value of any life insurance policies, the attorney said

Such policies are valuable assets and may fund the bulk of the estate. Many holders of insurance policies designate their spouse as the prima-

Be honest. When was the last time you took the time to make your child feel that you cared? Really cared. Oh, sure, being a parent isn't easy these days. But being a child has never been more difficult. Children are our most precious natural resource. Our future. That's why Channel 2 has committed itself to a major community project called "For Kids' Sake".

All through the year "For Kids' Sake" will bring you special dramatic programs, news stories, and more — all aimed at helping parents and children understand each other's needs and responsibilities. Please take the time to watch. Join us. For all our sake. For kids' sake.

The Rev. John O'Callaghan stands in front of St. Mary Church in Wayne, which is celebrating its 125th anniversary.

St. Mary keeps faith 125 years

By Larry O'Connor

T. MARY CATHOLIC Church in Wayne has stood for 125 years, and the Rev. John O'Callaghan doesn't have to be an architectural wizard to know

All O'Callaghan has to do is recall the events that followed a meeting with St. Mary parishioners shortly after he was appointed pastor three years ago.

The main item on the meeting's agenda was the church debt, which had ballooned to $500,000 because of a recent renovation. O'Callaghan, only two months at St. Mary, had the uneasy task of telling members they would have to help erase the bill.

"A man stood up and asked, 'I've been at St. Mary's for 21 years, and I've been involved in one (fund-raising) drive after another. Where is it ever going to end?," said O'Callaghan, in the dramatic voice of an Irish storyteller. "I said, 'I hope in helps to fortify a strong fou of togetherness at St. Mary.

Three years later, some $400,000 of the $500,000 debt has been wiped away. O'Callaghan gives credit to the strong spirit of the congregation, which numbers 2,100 families.

"They're down-to-earth people," said O'Callaghan about the parishioners, a large portion of whom come from Westland and Canton. "They're easy to work with. They appreciate the ministry and one another."

Which all probably has to do with the church's history.

ST. MARY Church was established in 1862 as a mission church, meeting at various sites. The first Church building was constructed of bricks made from local Rouge River flats, in 1872. Through a civil war and two world wars, with a depression thrown in, St. Mary continued to current site.

The previous location was converted into St. Mary Parochial School in 1924, which exists today for children in kindergarten through eighth grade.

The church itself has had many face-lifts. The latest renovation, in 1981, was designed primarily to bring members closer to the altar.

But closeness to parishioners isn't just limited to seating. O'Callaghan likes to note the easy rapport between the congregation and the eight-member pastorial staff.

O'CALLAGHAN SAID it makes his job easier.

"It's a lot of fun ministering here," said O'Callaghan, who was a pastor at St. Richard Church in Westland 1977-83. "There's a real nice thing between the members and the staff. "Celebrating liturgy with the peo-" ple is always a good time. You'll look over, and you'll see people who might tease one another. It's the lighthearted, relaxed at-mosphere which O'Callaghan saysseparates St. Mary from some Catholic parishes, whose members don't appreciate a good joke from the

But when it comes to business, things get done at St. Mary. Aside from eliminating $100,000 debt, O'Callaghan would like to see a day care established and the strong youth ministry continued.

He's optimistic, with good reason, those things will get accomplished.

"To see this parish come together... The debt was enormous and people were discouraged by it. They never thought we'd pay it off." It looks like heaven can wait.

Disposable society cheapens our lives item appeared that described how a 4-hour-old baby, apparently in good health, was found in a deserted alleyway in Detroit. A tiny child, found by a stray dog, left to the whims of time and space - perhaps to survive, perhaps to die.

"A sign of the times," some might maintenance." say. A disposable baby in a throwaway world. Alvin Toffler, in his book "Future Shock," reminds us that we indeed live in a throwaway society, that we are trained from birth to use products and then promptly discard them. We have disposable lighters, razors, diapers, garments, even au-tomobiles. Out with the old, in with the new, every day of our lives.

This is a world that Martin Buber, the distinguished philosopher, described as expressing the "I - It" relationship, in which we learn to consume not only things, but also people. Of course, in order to carry out our daily routine and accomplish our appointed tasks, we need to function on a utilitarian basis with oth-

But for our own sake and for the sake of humanity, we need to be able to move forward from the "I - It" to the "I - Thou" level where we value people for what they are, as ends in themselves, and not as means for our own purposes. Sadly, in spite of this, many of us continue to love things and use people - instead of the other way around.

No more vivid illustration of this truth can be found than the condition of marriage in today's society. One of every three marriages today is failing. Searching for the impossible, seeking gratification of unrealistic expectations, many pursue fairy-tale romance and accept nothing less than "living happily ever after." They simply are not prepared to work at marriage - and nothing less than conscientious effort and consistent devotion is required for

THIS ATTITUDE comes from living in a throwaway society in which we lavishly consume human relationships just as we consume commodities on a department store shelf. Many people move from one relationship to another, eternally believing that the next one will be ideal

SEVERAL MONTHS ago, a news and fulfilling without complications, sacrifice or compromise.

At the first sign of trouble, we leave. Like car owners trading in last year's model for this year's, many trade in husbands and wives, in hope that the current model will. provide them with "trouble-free

It is not only adults who dispose of family relationships; it is also children who choose to run away when life gets hard or confusing. In this country, there are millions of "runa--way" children who dispose of parents, school and friends for the illusory freedom of the streets. Tragically, such children often turn to the worst form of vice and degradation in order to survive.

Many of the "runaway children" are really discarded children, abandoned by parents who find them inconvenient. From newly born babies left in alleyways to unattended children killed in tenement fires, the story is the same.

Nor is this tragedy confined to the : * urban ghetto, for it is enacted in the suburbs, as well. Children can be emotionally and psychologically abandoned even when they live in comfortable homes and are granted material comforts.

THE PICTURE appears bleak indeed. But as Tevye says in "Fiddler On The Roof" "Dear God, send us the cure. The sickness we have already." What then is the cure? The therapy is simple. The answer is found in that attitude which sees each and every human being as having been created in God's image. This is the moral bedrock of the Western religions, who teach the same fundamental lesson: "Life is a sacred trust - from God." People must not be used, abused, disposed of, manipulated, exploited, or discarded.

To fully realize our humanity means the giving of our feelings and our time - giving of ourselves - to a wife or husband, to our children, to a friend or neighbor.

It means meeting our deepest responsibilites in the community, in our country, in the brotherhood of

It means sharing the pain and suffering of others, knowing well that "they who sow in tears shall reap in

Editors find commercial successes

By Carolyn Smith special writer

Image Express Inc. of Southfield has cut a nice niche for itself in the film editing business.

Its main work is finishing television commercials for advertising agencies and independent producers. But it also edits documentaries, features and industrial films.

Co-founded in 1978 by Lee Lipner, the firm's president, and Bill Riss, its vice president and senior editor, it's the largest full-service editing house in the Detroit area.

At first occupying 700 square feet in one room, the company went to work for W.B. Doner in Southfield and Ross Roy in Detroit, editing local spots. The good word spread. Soon the firm's editors were working on national ads for Campbell-Ewald in Warren and D'Arcy Masius Benton & Bowles in Bloomfield Hills.

In eight years the company has expanded its staff to 15, its premises to 5,000 square feet, its one room to several and its billings 10-fold, said Lipner

Although he characterizes the film-editing process as "exciting work," Lipner said editors are usually "under tremendous time pres-

Editing is the last thing to happen to a TV commercial before it goes on the air, he explains. The ad concept is worked out between the agency and the account. A producer may shoot up to two or three hours of film footage. But it's up to the film editor to select scenes or images, link them to a theme and concept, and keep the message within a 15-, 30- or 60-second spot.

"A 60-second ad is like a feature film to us," Lipner said, referring to the increasing use of 15-second ads.

THE PRESSURE comes from trying to keep the concept intact and pleasing to the ad agency, the account and television viewers. And that can be a sensitive undertaking when choices available to a film editor are "almost infinite" and "egos and reputations are on the line,"

If low-keyed Lipner prides himself on remaining sane in what he calls a 'generally insane business." maybe he only has to recall "Zoo Stars," a public service announcement for the Detroit Zoo. The 30- and 60-second spots featured singing and talking zoo animals, pacing and panicstricken over their lines, voices and appearances for their film debut. A little insane, indeed. But the endearing ad won a Clio award and "best of show" at the U.S. Commercial Festival a couple of years ago.

Riss, winner of several awards over his 23-year career, said he worked for three days on three hours of footage for "Zoo." An average project takes two days, he said. Although writing words and music routinely is done before the editing process, the pattern was reversed for "Zoo" - a tribute to Riss' work.

Riss also is the film editor of the "Lean on Me" Chevrolet truck theme, Pontiac's "Conversations," and "Coach Riley" for Eckerd Drugs. Of the popular Chevy truck "Heartbeat of America" ads he said, "I thought 'Heartbeat' was good but not great. The feedback has been that it's great, and I appreciate it."

Other television advertising accounts served by Image Express include Ameritech, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, Chiquita bananas, the Detroit Free Press, Highland Appliance, K mart, Little Caesar's pizzas, Vlasic pickles, Detroit Edison, Perry Drugs, Sohio gasoline and the Michigan lottery and tourism departments.

A GOOD FILM editor, Lipner explained, is keenly attuned to continuity, focus, visual clarity and dramatic sense. More than anything else, the editor has instinct for what's good and right.

"I do whatever feels good," said Riss. "I cut the way I would like to see the ad on television. But when I see other ads on TV, I can detech myself because I'm not involved.'

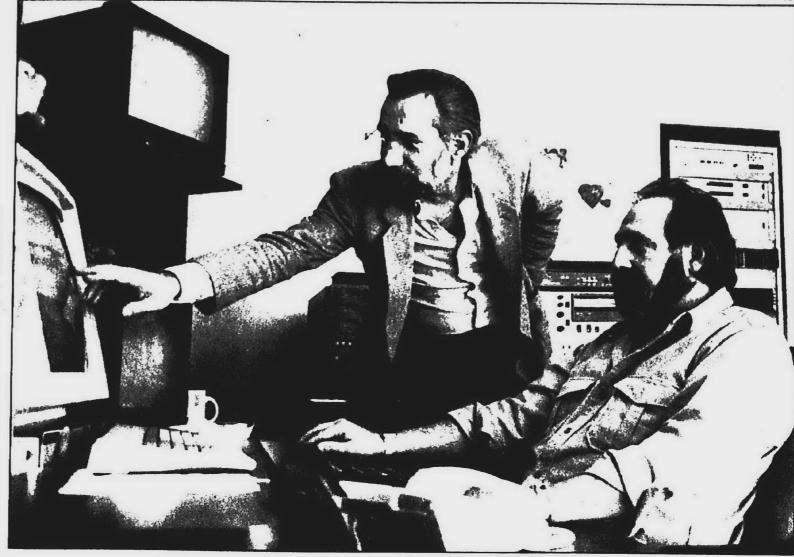

Riss said his favorite project is not a well-known commercial. It is a 15minute film documentary on Vietnam veterans that aired once and died for lack of financial support.

"That was a big watershed for me and my feelings about my service in Vietnam. It was very emotional.

The flow of creative juices often is

Coldwell Banker buys Goldhouse

Coldwell Banker Real Estate Group has acquired the residential real estate brokerage operations of Century 21 Goldhouse in Plymouth and Livonia, expanding its presence in the northwest

Announcement of the acquisition was made by Joe Hanauer, chairman and president of California-based Coldwell Banker Residential Group. The sale price was not disclosed.

James A. Courtney formed Century 21 Goldhouse in 1979 in Plymouth, with a second office added in Plymouth and a third in Livonia in 1981. The company has 82 full-time sales associates in its three offices and offers brokerage, relocation and new homes marketing services.

Courtney will be district manager for Coldwell Banker, which opened its first Detroit-area sales offices less than a year ago, according to Hanauer. It now has 12 company-owned offices in Wavne, Oakland and Macomb counties, with eight more scheduled to open this year

In February 1986, Coldwell Banker opened offices in five Sears stores: in Twelve Oaks, Livonia Mall, Oakland Mall, Lakeside Mall and Macomb Mall. Branch offices were opened in Troy and West Bloomfield in March, and in Birmingham in June. In September, the firm acquired Earl Keim Realty in Lathrup Village.

among business owners and managers concerning the role and importance of marketing to the consumer goods and services venture. "Marketing," as defined by the American Marketing Association, "is the process of planning and executing the conception, pricing, promotion and distribution of ideas, goods, and services to create exchanges that satisfy individual and organizational objectives.'

This definition explains what marketing is. Why it is necessary must again be stressed - in order to best satisfy customers on a regular basis at a profit to the enterprise.

But as we all realize, many firms fall far short of best satisfying the customer on a regular basis. Anyone who has ever experienced the ignorant or s-l-o-w sales staff, the store manager who is never available, playing "let's find the product" where it should be displayed, but isn't; these are just a few examples of business ventures requiring assistance in the area of marketing.

Unless the right product or service is offered to customers, at the right price, promoted to them in the right way, and (finally) made available to them at the right place . . . they won't be satisfied and, therefore, most likely look to your competitors for assistance.

SO WHAT'S the first step in understanding how to successfully plan and develop the marketing activities of your current or proposed business? First, to identify and locate the type(s) of customers your business now serves, or would like to serve in the future.

It isn't enough to say "everyone;" not everyone would be interested in doing business with the retailer who emphasizes discount prices - expecially if there is a personal price to pay by spending time at the estab-

Why life insurance can be a good investment

Part II

Last week we argued that a universal life policy may be a better investment than "buy term and invest the difference." It should be said at the outset that if you have a definite short-term need or if you need a maximum amount of inexpensive life insurance coverage, term insurance is still the best way to go.

However, if you are looking for a combination of insurance and investment and can afford it, universal life may provide a better alternative.

John Jones, male, non-smoker, age 45, is in a 38.5 percent tax bracket and needs $250,000 insurance coverage. He has a choice of (1) buying a term and investing the difference in a CD earning 7 percent interest, or (2) investing in a universal life policy currently paying 9 percent interest.

In Chart A the buy-term-and-invest-the-difference strategy is presented, while in Chart B the results of buying universal life are present-

In this illustration, as early as in year three the universal's accumulated value (total fund) beats the "term and invest" fund balance. In the sixth year, the cash value (surrender value) exceeds the investment balance of the competing

A Special Place

Concerned sons and daughters know there comes a time when an elderly parent is getting a little slower in step and needs a little more support and supervision. A nursing home is out of the question. Too expensive. Too much care and confinement. Now there is a gracious alternative - the luxurious Plymouth Inn, an assisted-living facility.

Opening in January of 1987, this magnificent 50 room facility will be the first of its kind in the community. Designed for those elderly who are basically independent who can bathe, dress and feed themselves yet need some encouragement and motivation. The Plymouth Inn meets their needs, budget and lifestyle. It's a special place.

The Plymouth Inn provides 3 delicious meals, graciously served in a beautifully appointed dining room. Spacious mini-suites or deluxe semi-private accommodations overlook tranquil landscaped grounds. Extensive social programs and varied recreational opportunities keep minds involved and stimulated. A game room. Chapel. Beauty parlour. Many quiet cozy corners. The latest in fire and safety protection. All this and more await those who select the Plymouth Inn.

Call today. Arrange to visit our special place. Make it yours. It's here in Plymouth just 30 minutes from everywhere.

Editors find commercial success

slowed by a myriad of small but important technical details. Lipner likens the film-splicing process to the work of the newspaper editor who had to cut and paste sheets of paper before computerized word processing came along.

The film editor's boon is the Edit-Droid, a computerized electronic system that cuts, splices, stores and cross-references picture and sound. A two-day job using conventional videotape editing technology is reduced to four to six hours with the EditDroid.

The system was made available last year by the Droid Works, San Rafael and North Hollywood, Calif. So far, there are 15 of them in the United States and one in Canada. Image Express has the only one in the Detroit area, Lipner said.

THE CREATIVE talent of a film editor often goes undetected by the average viewer, but it is significant. "Our editors can contribute to the execution of the idea, the different ways of handling it and its shift in emphasis. It's a tremendous challenge to select the right images and arrange them in smooth, seamless sequence," Lipner said.

For a man who majored in chemistry at the Illinois Institute of Technology and did graduate work there in photography, Lipner feels he's found "the perfect blend" for his technical and artistic interests. "We have a good time here. I've never regretted it. It sure beats the hell out

A suspended Dearborn Heights police cadet faces trial in Wayne County Circuit Court for allegedly robbing a Little Caesar's Restaurant in Westland Nov. 30 and sexually assaulting two female employees.

Jeffrey Duncan, 22, will be arraigned Monday, Jan. 26, in circuit court on two counts each of armed robbery and second-degree criminal sexual conduct. He was bound over after an hourlong examination on the charges before Westland District Judge Gail McKnight.

Duncan, who was arrested Dec. 19 by Westland police, is being held in the Wayne County Jail on bonds of $750,000 stemming from five other incidents in Westland, Livonia and Canton Township.

He is scheduled to appear in Livonia's 16th District Court Monday for examination of larceny, robbery and assault charges relating to the Aug. 27 holdup of a convenience store and a Sept. 10 incident at a gasoline sta-

Two women - the store manager and a part-time employee - were the only witnesses to testify at Monday's hearing, and both identified Duncan as the man who robbed the restaurant and sexually assaulted that the man had placed an order for a pizza and waited until it was done before he announced the holdup.

The other employee was called from the back room in response to a phony complaint, the woman testi-

Both women testified that the man told them he had a gun and held his hand in his pocket although they never saw a gun.

The women were ordered to walk to the safe while the defendant locked the front door.

The store manager testified that the man knew where the safe was because she had placed money there while he was waiting for the pizza. She said a money bag containing $161 in cash was removed from the safe before they were ordered into a walk-in refrigerator.

BOTH WOMEN testified that they were ordered to remove their clothing. The part-timer told the court that "he yelled at us to hurry up and kept looking around to see if someone was coming."

They testified that they were ordered to kneel, one behind the other, facing a wall.

The employee said that she didn't trust him and watched him drop his pants and kneel behind the store

She also testified that she 'snapped" when the man reached for her

"I jumped up and said 'you're going to have to kill us before you touch us'," she testified.

BOTH SAID the man then pulled up his pants, left the walk-in and could be heard swearing outside the refrigerator and knocking the telephones from the wall. "He said we would be the first ones tonight, pulled up his pants and left," the store manager testified. The women added that they waited until they heard the front door buzzer, indicating the man had left the store, before leaving the walk-in Both also testified that they discoverd personal belongings missing after the holdup.

Duncan's attorneys quizzed the two women on whether they noticed any scars on their attacker's face or

ASKED ABOUT not seeing a gun, the women said they believed he had a gun and that the only time they saw his hand out of his pocket was during the assault.

"If someone says he's got a gun in his pocket, I'm not going to wait for him to show it." the store manager

Buenos Aires: splendid S. American surprise

By Richard and Mary Magruder special writers

The face of Buenos Aires is astonishing. It sprouts hundreds more high-rise buildings than any other city in South America except Sao Paulo, Brazil, yet it has no clustered skyscraping city center in the accepted sense.

Its tall office structures, hotels, condos and other high-rises are scattered for miles and miles in almost evry direction except riverward, and it gives the impression from a high window downtown of stretching almost into infinity, about as far as you can see

These lusty, diligent, often-perplexing Portenos drink twice as much wine, per capita, as even the most vintage Parisian (and the Argentine wines are wonderful), and are said to consume three times as much beef per year, per capita, as the devout steak-eaters of Dallas or Des Moines or Denver

At the other end of the state Plaza Mayo is the white, colonial Cabildo where the country's independence was se-

Their subway system is one of the best in the world . . . and the cleanest, yet their streets and boulevards are clogged every rush hour with some of the most impenetrable

THE STATELY Avenida 9 de Julio is the broadest boulevard in the world (two full city blocks across) yet, due to an accident of city planning, is just 16 blocks long, end to

The Rio de la Plata is not really a river at all, but an enormous arm of the Atlantic that is so wide here that only on the clearest of days may one catch a glimpse of the other (Uruguayan) side.

Only in the last couple of years have the Argentines been able (for the first time since Juan Peron rose to power) to throw off the bonds of military rule and, entirely through democratic processes, begin to set for themselves a course determined by their own will.

ONE UNATTRACTIVE legacy of the nation's newly won democracy is political and social graffitti. It defaces many of the city's most glorious monuments, and almost every other available surface throughout the city-center.

Otherwise, the greater part of the city of Buenos Aires remains as dignified and elegant as we remembered it from the 60s, and has somehow managed to keep the "artists of the walls" off the surfaces and monuments of Palermo, Belgrano and the opulent up-river suburbs.

One of the Americas' most-fashionable shopping ways is a narrow high-rise-enclosed pedestrian street called Florida, bisected by a similarly restricted street called LaValle, where most of the city's best cinemas and fine restaurants are ar-third of the world removed from the boot of Italy, the accents of that faraway and lyrical land are communicated to the hearts of every Argentine, throughout the city and all over the country.

Spanish, as spoken down here, and particularly in Buenos Aires, recalls more of Milano than Mexico, and "Cielito Lindo" is heard much less often than "O Sole Mio."

Three out of every four Argentines had one or more Italian grandparents, they say.

The pulsating La Boca sector, facing the harbor, is the core around which revolves one of the largest Italian populations in the world (more than a million in this area alone, we were told).

There are still dozens of delightful Italian-Bohemian restaurants-cumclubs (our longtime favorite is Spadaveccia) renowned for their freeflowing Argenine wines (usually the reds), copious servings of Italian pastries and South American

The true heart of the greater city is the handsome Plaza Mayo, principal governmental, religious and civic site in Buenos Aires. At one end is the lovely Pink House, La Casa Rosada, or Presidential Palace, and arrayed around and at the other end of the stately plaza are the National Cathedral of Argentina, the Municipal Palace of Buenos Aires, Banco Nacional and the pristine, white, colonial Cabildo, where the country's independence was secured.

Avenida Mayo runs due west from May Square, crossing the remarkable Avenida 9 de Julio and ending

Nine de Julio is the site of important commercial, governmental and cultural edifices, none more imposing or signficant than the enormous Teatro Colon, the city's extraordinary philharmonic hall and opera

It is severe, gigantic (a block wide and two city blocks deep, five floors up and three basements down), and has its own symphony orchestra, opera, classical ballet and drama companies, one of the largest stages in the world, and employs 1,800 people (exclusive of the performers) within its massive confines.

IN A METROPOLIS dotted with handsome parks and plazas, there is none more gracious or appealing than midtown Plaza San Martin, filled with giant, spreading shde trees, mosaic walkways and miniplazas, San Martin centers on a glorious bronze and polished red granite monument to General San Martin, hero of much South American independence and beloved of Argentines, for he is entombed in the National Cathedral, on Plaza Mayo.

Some of the city's finest hotels, condominiums, apartments and older office structures are arrayed around the upper Plaza, and downhill around the less dappled lower Plaza. Uphill are the towering, Art Deco Kavanaugh Building, very French Army Club, a few fine townhouses and the wonderful old Plaza Hotel, the Waldorf Astoria of Buenos

Cheap taxis, fine dining, live nightlife

By Richard and Mary Magruder special writers

Taxis, especially since the recent currency conversion, are dirt cheap, with meters reflecting codes, which are then translated into distances. times and fares.

We hired a cruising yellow cab ight off the street photo stop and start, riding all over the central city, and ended owing a bill of $9.12 U.S.; with a two-buck tip, we felt like the last of the big spenders!

The Buenos Aires "Subte," or subway system, is excellent, clean, with fast, well-maintained trains, grids the city-center and spokes out in four lines to distant suburbs. It's so inexpensive, it's almost sinful

Rental cars are readily available, at rates slightly higher than stateside equivalent (and few large cars for hire), but watch out for unreported dents and nicks, which they might try to charge to your account, on re-

WHERE TO STAY

Our favorite is (and has been for a quarter of a century) the Plaza Hotel, at the corner of San Martin Square, at the entrance to the highfashion Florida shopping street. It's so old-fashioned it's downright stuf-

But attendance and service are unsurpassed in the city, food is good to superb in the Plaza's five restaurants, room service is reasonable and fast, and the off-lobby fur, leather and jewelry shops are ranked as among the best in the city. Two blocks down Florida is the Sheraton Hotel, biggest in the city, best of the newer places, with sumptuous lobbies and public rooms, excellent restaurants and cocktail lounges (including a rooftop rendezvous that is as good as such places can get, with breathtaking vistas out over the city and riverward).

Other fine hostelries include the Claridge, Republica, Presidente, Alvear Palace, Libertador, Pan-Americano and a dozen more three-star establishments and scores of oneand two-star hotels.

WHERE TO DINE

In this nation of vast cattle ranches (estancias), beef reigns supreme, and is available in every conceivable form throughout the city, which also boasts some of the finest steak houses on earth.

We've loved the Cabana as long as we've adored Buenos Aires, with its generous portions especially the steaks, where a so-called "luncheon steakette" weighs in at 12 ounces, and a normal dinner steak can be two inches thick and hardly leave room for its platter.

Other superior dineries are the Plaza Grill and the one at the Claridge, El Repacho de San Telmo, the London Grill and Oyster Bar, medieval El Caldero, the 60-year-old stalwart The Jockey Club on Evenida 9 de Julio, Hostal del Lago in Palermo Park, Au Bec Fin (the city's best French restaurant), the Bistro and El Aljibe in the Sheraton.

Hereabouts are hundreds of other great dining spots, from true gourmet restaurants to such super places as El Palacio de La Papa Frita (The Palace of the Fried Potato), with an overwhelming menu, others other than Spadaveccia in La Boca and so many confiterias (small cafes, more or less, though many are more than less) and sandwich and short order places beyond the counting.

WHAT TO DO AFTER THE SUN GOES DOWND

Take a nap first, since the bar owls in this sophisticated metropolis don't even begin to shake their feathers until 11 p.m., then go out and don't expect to get in until dawn.

The Italian-Beohemian spots in La Boca are always worth a try, but be prpepared to do some spot-hopping L'Horizon and the great cover subsequent visits.

Shannon Meath of Canton (No. 5) tries to slam one through Farmington's double block during the Chiefs' loss Monday.

Falcons spike the Chiefs; Pasta, N'ville ruin Rocks

Service reception continues to be the biggest thorn in the side of the Plymouth Canton volleyball team.

Farmington pounded in serve after serve Monday to defeat the Chiefs 15-6, 15-5 in a Western Lakes match at the Farmington Training Center.

The match was similar to Canton's loss to North Farmington last week. A lot of service points and very little match play.

Kelli Koss had the hot hand for the Falcons. She scored 16 points off her serves in the two games.

"Everyone else contributed, too," said second-year Farmington coach Maureen McNabb. "It was a good all-around effort."

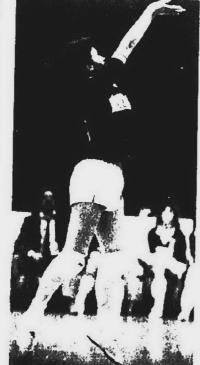

The win improves Farmington's record 2-1. Canton falls to 0-2. The Falcons host Westland John Glenn Monday and the Chiefs travel to Walled Lake Western.

PLYMOUTH SALEM coach Betty Smith learned a valuable lesson Monday night: Never feed her team lasagna before a match

The Rocks lost their second straight match of the season, 15-8, 15-9, to Northville.

"One big problem: the kids had dinner at my house and we had lasagna. It went right to their feet," Smith said. "They just couldn't move. We couldn't get a pass off and they had a lot of free ball. We beat ourselves."

Despite the loss, Jane Klaes and Denice Tackett played well. Klaes

Stephanie Knowlson on the return

had four blocks and four kills at the net and Tackett was effective in the back row.

Setter Kara Cummings, Jessica Handley and Chris Kolka also played well for the Hocks (0-2). Salem will host Walled Lake Central Monday. FARMINGTON HARRISON lost its second straight Western Lakes match Monday as Walled Lake Central topped the Hawks 15-13, 15-8.

"We started out strong and had a good chance to win game one," said Harrison coach Ron Shortt. "We were up 12-7 and started missing serves. It killed our momentum."

Janine Whittemore had another outstanding match for the Hawks. The powerful senior had seven kills at the net and nine digs in the back row. Theresa Spisz also played a strong match with three kill spikes and two ace serves.

The Hawks, 6-4 overall and 0-2 in the league, travel to Livonia Frank-lin Monday.

NORTH FARMINGTON felt the effects of its 16-hour run to the Andover-Lahser championship last Saturday. Walled Lake Western beat North on Monday 15-7, 15-12.

"We played well. Western is a very good team. But we were a bit leg-weary. We weren't able to block as well," said North coach Sandy Lubieniecki.

Suzi Butcher made only one error in the match. She nailed nine of 10 spikes with three kills. Stephanie Knapp and Kris McMinn also played well

North, 10-3 overall and 1-1 in the Western Lakes, will host Livonia Stevenson Monday.

Salem stops jinx, routs Ypsi, 66-54

By Bill Parke staff writer

Plymouth Salem varsity basketball coach Bob Brodie won't soon forget Tuesday night.

For the first time in the history of Salem's basketball program, the Rocks beat Ypsilanti.

"It's just great," said Brodie. "They've been our Achilles' heel, but it's nice to break away and get that monkey off our back. We beat them once when I was with the JV, but this is the first time the varsity team has ever beat them.

"In the past we always wanted to slow the game down and try to control the tempo as much as we could. But with their quickness they always stole the ball away from us. This time we changed our game plan and went after them. We thought the key would be to attack them."

IF THE VICTORY itself wasn't sweet enough, the fact that the Rocks played a near-perfect game enriched the triumph even more.

Salem (7-1) dominated the boards, finishing with a 25-11 advantage on the defensive end of the court and a 12-2 advantage on the offensive boards.

When the Braves' persistent pressure defense tried to stir up some turnovers, the Rocks countered with a well-executed, alert passing game. From the floor Salem connected on 28 of 48 shots. They also picked up 10 points on 16 trips to the charity stripe.

Once the Rocks advanced the ball to their end of the court there was little the Braves could do to stop them.

With the likes of 6-foot-8 Dave Collins, 6-7 Rick Taylor and 6-5 Mike Hale lurking beneath the basket, the inside points against the much smaller Ypsilanti team were inevitable.

"Dealing with their pressure was the key," said Brodie. "We had good recognition with our passing game. Once we advanced the ball to half court we were able to find the open man. When we did set up our offense we got the ball inside and took advantage of our height."

TAYLOR PACED the Rocks with 18 points. He also had three blocked shots. Hale pumped in 14 points, dished off 11 assists, had two steals and blocked one shot. Collins finished with 13 points and Bryan Kearis meshed in 12.

Ypsilanti's only real threat came at the start of the second half.

Trailing 39-25, the winless Braves came out fired up and their pressure defense finally took its toll.

Four Salem turnovers and some hot outside shooting from Dwayne Tubbs — who finished the game with 25 points — enabled Ypsilanti to run off 11 unanswered points as they closed the gap to three, 39-36. But that's as close as they got.

"THEY LOVE to live off their pressure." said Brodie
"Against a team like that, it's just a matter of time before you have a breakdown. They came right after us in the third quarter, but we weathered the storm and bounced back. They got some steals and were able to score on them, but we didn't lose our composure. We held on to the lead and got back into the game."

Canton surprises Dearborn

It was only a non-league win, but it had to be a huge confidence builder for the Plymouth Canton basketball team.

The Chiefs went into Dearborn Tuesday night — a gym that is notoriously tough on visiting teams — and knocked off highly touted Dearborn 64-59. The Pioneers were 5-1 coming into the game.

"We really kept them off balance with our pressure defense," said Canton coach Tom Niemi. "We forced a lot of turnovers, especially in the first half."

The Chiefs came at Dearborn in waves. Niemi played two units to keep the attack fresh.

The first unit was led by Tyrone Reeves, Roger Trice and Jeff Anulewicz. Reeves scored 17, Trice 15 and Anulewicz scored eight points and grabbed nine rebounds.

The second unit, featuring Matt Littleton, Mitch Fyke, David Foxworthy and Brad Carey, combined for 22 points. Littleton scored seven and Foxworthy six.

Dearborn, which could get no closer than four points in the final quarter, was led by Steve Moore's 30 points. Canton is 4-4 on the season.

"The defense was definitely the key," said Salem coach Bob Brodie.

Brodie credited hustle of Moore, Mike Hale and Keith Smith with keeping Anderson under wraps. Anderson scored a game-high 20 points, but they were extremely hard-earned. Hale, a junior, offset Anderson's scoring with an 18 point performance.

Canton soars; Rocks fall

Plymouth Canton's gymnastics team established itself as one of the leading contenders for the Western Lakes Western Division title with an explosive performance Monday.

The Chiefs beat Northville 126.9-

"This was a lot better than I expected," Canton coach John Cunningham said. "I think we set a school record for four-event points and this is only our second meet. And we had a lot of falls. I think we will stay right around 125. We could push up around 130 with a few less falls."

Maureen McLean and Brenda Perry led the way for the Chiefs. McLean won two events: the vault (8.6) and uneven parallel bars (7.7). She placed third on floor exercise

Perry, who won all-around honors with a 31.8, placed second on vault (8.35), second on bars (7.65) and second on floor (8.15).

Apryl Mosakowski won floor with Mary Jo Charron and Darcy Gignac tied for second on balance beam with a 7.95. Gignac also took a third on vault (8.2).

Megan McGow contributed a third place on bars (7.55) and Sharon Moran placed fourth on beam (7.9). The Chiefs (1-1) will travel to Walled Lake Western on Monday.

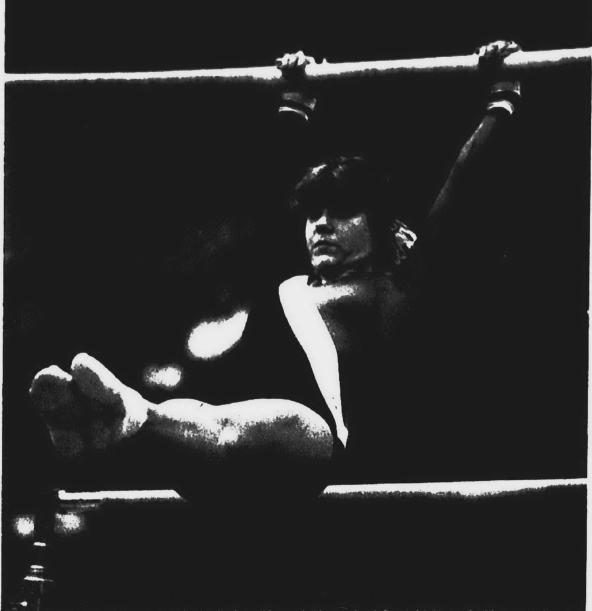

PLYMOUTH SALEM lost its second straight meet of the season Monday, a 127.75-124.7 decision at Dear-

Amy Pastori was the Rocks top all-arounder. She was third overall with a 30.6. She took a third on floor with an 8.25.

Becky Talbot won beam for Salem with an 8.15 and took a second on floor with an 8.45.

Jackie Huff placed third on bars with an 8.05 and fifth on vault with

Dana Holda placed third on vault (8.5) and Jenny Syria placed third on Darcy Gignac placed second on beam and third on vault to help Canton reach a team score high of 126.9 Monday against Northville.

The Rocks (0-2) will host Walled Lake Central Monday.

FARMINGTON HARRISON beat non-league foe Southfield-Lathrup Monday 115.6-107.35, but the win was costly.

Tracey Solomon, one of the team's top all-around performers, injured her ankle during her floor routine. Coach Linda Perkins estimated that Solomon would be out a minimum of placed second on vault (8.45) and second on bars (7.55).

Sharon Lawson was the top scorer for the Hawks. She won on vault (8.75), bars (8.75) and floor (8.8). She was second on beam (7.6).

The lowered score could be attributed in part to the absence of talented freshman Kim Heller.

Lucine Toroyan and Kara Karhu paced the winners. Toroyan won on bars (8.25), beam (8.7) and floor (8.9). Toroyan was second on vault (8.3). Karhu won vault (8.65), and placed second on both bars (7.6) and floor

Nicki Yuskowatz placed third on beam with a 7.25 for North (5-0).

Jenny Rick took a third on vault (8.2) and Amy Solomon placed third on beam (7.3).

The Hawks (2-2) will travel to Clarenceville Monday.

Engineers finally snap Fraser jinx

staff writer

The Plymouth-based Hennessey Engineers Junior A hockey team pulled a Jekyll and Hyde act last Friday night the team fell asleep in the third period against the visit-ing West Seneca Wings out of Buf-falo and blew a four-goal lead in the final 10 minutes. The game ended in a 9-9 tie after Buffalo, a Midget Major team who will join the North American Junior Hockey League next year, scored twice in the final minute.

The unhappy ending marred a few strong individual performances. Defenseman Tom Madden scored three goals. Dan Frantti, another defenseman, had four assists. Larry Pilut had a goal and three assists and Plymouth resident Chris Belhart notched three assists. But that didn't placate Engineers coach A.J. Baker.

"I was sick." Baker said. "I felt really bad. Not for myself but for the organization, the assistant coaches and the players. That was just pathetic."

BAKER SAID he had "a little heart to heart" talk with his team prior to the team's Saturday night game in Fraser against the Falcons. The Engineers hadn't won in three tries at Fraser this year and Baker was understandably concerned.

"I don't know if what I said had anything to with it, but we got some top-notch performances Saturday night," Baker said.

The Engineers rolled the home team 6-3. The win raised the Engineers' overall record to 15-10-5. The team remains two points behind second-place Fraser in the

hockey

NAJHL standings. Compuware continues to lead the league.

Bob Mlynarek and Leif Gustafson paced the offense for the Engineers with two goals and an assist each. Bryan Krygier had a goal and an assist and Canton resident and Catholic Central product Eric Kapelanski added a goal.

Kapelanski scored his goal against his former teammate at CC, Falcons goalie Tony Esser.

ENGINEERS GOALIE Dave Church kicked away 23 of the 26 shots blasted at him.

"We had a tremendous first period," Baker said. "It was exactly what we needed after that debacle Friday night."

Baker said what made the difference Saturday night was three periods of non-stop hustle.

"In the other games against them (Fraser) we would give up a lot of goals in a short period of time," Baker said. "This time we didn't allow them to get on a run. They would score, then we would answer. We never let them get any

NEXT UP: Some of the future stars of the North American Junior Hockey League will gather Friday night at the Plymouth Cultural Center Ice Arena.

The Engineers will play host to a team of Junior B all-stars beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 students and $1 for senior citizens and children 14 and under.

Troy Athens gymnasts will have a lot on their minds the next two days. Not only will they have to deal with the responsibilities that go along with hosting a tournament, but they will be targeted by the competition as the team to beat at the inaugural Athens Invitational.

Ranked No. 1 in the state in a recent poll, the Red Hawks will debut as hosts Saturday for a tournament that, for more than a decade, had vitational. Last year, Dearborn High, citing rising costs, decided not to host the tournament.

"After last year's tournament, Dearborn High made it known they would no longer be holding it and asked Troy High if they wanted to be the hosts," said Athens coach Frank DiVito. "They (Troy) decided to come to Athens and see if we wanted it because they felt our facilities were better suited than theirs."

IN ADDITION to the top-ranked Red Hawks, the field includes North Farmington, Freeland, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Holland - the secondthrough fifth-rated teams, respectively. The rest of the field is made up by Troy, Rochester, Adams, Plymouth Canton, Lakeview, Grosse Pointe North, Adrian, Dearborn, Edsel Ford, Fraser and Royal Oak Kimball.

"We wanted to invite the best teams in the state, and I think we've done just that," DiVito said. "There is a lot of competition in this field and that means anybody can win. It will depend on which girls hit their routines.'

The favorites to do that have to be the Red Hawks after setting a school record with 135.50 points in their opening meet against Lahser.

"There is an advantage and disadvantage to being ranked No. 1 this early in the season," DiVito said.
"The advantage is that it will give the girls a lot of confidence. The disadvantage may be that they won't work as hard in practice. But I don't mind being No. 1 right now. I just hope we don't peak too early and don't have anything left at the end of the season.'

ATHENS' HOPES for a tourney title will rest with the performances of freshman Melissa Miller and sophomore Natalie Leich. The Red Hawk duo enjoyed solid outings in the win over Lahser and should figure prominently in the final standings of each event.

Leich is currently rated No. 1 in the state in the vault after scoring a 9.25. Other top scores by Leich include a 7.95 on bars, 8.55 on beam and 9.15 on floor.

Miller's top scores have been 9.1 on vault, 8.9 on beam, 8.45 on bars and 9.35 on floor. Miller is ranked No. 1 in all-around and Leich No. 5.

The rest of the Red Hawk contingent includes freshmen Jennifer Brown and Val Talia, sophomores Tiffany Kinaia and Michelle Riera, junior Janice Greff and senior Tara Christopher.

North Farmington, winner of last year's Dearborn Invitational, is expected to provided a stiff challenge for the top spot. First-year coach Jeff Dwyer has a solid corps of returning gymnasts in Lucine Toroyan, Kara Karhu and Nicole Yuskowatz

Whalen's the center of U-D's surge

By C.J. Rieak staff writer

One last season of playing basketball remains for Mary Kay Whalen. This is it. And so far, Whalen's senior campaign has consisted of something old and something new, and with any luck it'll have a happy ending. First the old.

Whalen is back playing a position she hoped to be rid of after she left Michigan State: center. At 6-foot-3, the Livonia Franklin graduate was always inserted in the post. But her outside shooting touch and an aversion for the pounding inside players must absorb convinced her she'd be happier at forward.

That's where Whalen played last season, her first after transferring to University of Detroit following her marriage, the birth of her child and a year away from the game. But a change in Lady Titan coach Dewayne Jones' thinking has put Whalen back in the middle of

"OH, I DON'T really care," said the always-smiling senior. "I end up down there (underneath the basket) anyway, sooner or later. I might as well start there.

Besides, the change in schools has caused Whalen to change her thinking. "I think they let us get away with more in the Big Ten," said Whalen, comparing her days in the pivot at MSU with U-D. "The girls were bigger and stronger (in the Big Ten). There aren't as many tall people in our (Midwestern Collegiate) conference, real-

So Whalen hasn't minded posting low, back to the basket. Indeed, she looked comfortable there in Monday's 98-70 rout of Xavier, scoring 11 points and grabbing seven rebounds. She also had two steals and a blocked shot. The win was the Lady Titans' second straight in MCC play; they are 8-4 overall.

Anyway, Whalen doesn't exactly trot up and down the court in semi-slow motion, wait for the ball to be passed inside to her and then muscle her way to the basket. Not with U-D's style of play.

WHICH BRINGS us to the new

A year ago, Whalen teammed with Cammie Maki, then a 6-4 freshman, in U-D's version of the twin towers. That didn't work too well. U-D finished 16-12, 8-6 in its last season in the North Star Conference, a poor record considering the talent the team posse So coach Jones decided to go with a quicker lineup.

Maki now starts on the bench, and only gets into the game when Whalen needs a breather.

"Last year, we didn't have the people to play this way," said Whalen. "(Coach Jones) wanted to go with a faster lineup this year.

Which meant if Whalen was going to play, she was going to have to run. She is. In Monday's game, Whalen's initial defensive position was harassing the opponent in-bounding the ball. She then double-teamed the player the ball was passed to. If the opposition beat the pressure, Whalen had to hustle back to pick up her defensive assignment.

THE RUNNING is more than Whalen is used to. "It's different," she admitted. "But I like having a changeof-pace like this once in a while. And when I run around a lot, I usually do better."

Whalen handled her responsibilities, both offensive and defensive, well against Xavier Monday. And if statistics mean anything, she must be handling them well on a regular basis. She's averaging 13.3 points, 8.5 rebounds, over two blocked shots and nearly two steals per game, and is hitting 57.3 percent of her floor shots.

Entering MCC play, Whalen was listed among the top 10 in the conference in five different categories.

Which brings us to a hopeful happy ending. Is one forthcoming for Whalen?

Could be. U-D was the preseason favorite to win the MCC. And accomplishing that is something Whalen would relish

Hanging tough

S'craft outgunned by Highland Park

staff writer

The cards were stacked heavily against the School-craft College men's basketball team on Saturday. The Ocenous were playing high-powered Highland Park Community College minus six players, including three starters who were recently declared academical-

With several new faces in the lineup, Schoolcraft was also facing former head coach Rocky Watkins, who took the assistant's job at Highland Park this season.

(He was released last spring after seven years).

Although Schoolcraft was beaten, 111-100, the Ocelots, under first-year coach Bob Wetzel, did not suffer the embarrassment some feared.

"It was a tremendous job and I was pleased to play like we did," said Wetzel, whose team fell to 3-3 in the Eastern Conference and 5-10 overall. "We had some guys who have only been with us a few days. They really weren't sure what we were doing offensively and

HIGHLAND PARK, now 17-3 overall and 5-0 in the conference, led by as many as 20 points in the first half but couldn't deliver the knockout punch.

Schoolcraft pulled within eight with 3:10 to go on Jeff Vakratsis' short jumper, but the Ocelots never got any closer against the talented Panthers.

"We did a good job of breaking their press or we never would have scored 100," Wetzel said. "The key was rebounding and second shots. We rebounded hard, but our kids just are not as big."

Highland Park's two 6-foot-7 centers, starter Clauzell Williams and reserve Johnnie Bell, combined for 23 rebounds and six blocked shots.

Guard Antoine Williamson, a 6-footer from Detroit Cooley, was also a thorn in Schoolcraft's side, scoring a team-high 21 points.

Schoolcraft sports

"He (Williamson) stepped in the gap (of Schoolcraft's zone defense) and made some big shots," said Wetzel. 'Just about everybody on their team has that penetra-

Five other Panthers scored in double figures including Derrick Gilliam (17 points), James Gillispie (16), Rodney Heard (13), Clauzell Williams (11) and Willie

"WE DIDN'T PLAY with intensity and we didn't play smart," said Highland Park coach Bob Dawson. "They wanted it for Rocky, so they tried to do it all on offense.

"We tried to play everybody (14 players) and when you do that sometimes you lose your intensity. We let them stay in the game, but Schoolcraft shot awfully well, especially in the second half."

Desmond Steele came off the bench to lead Schoolcraft with 22 points and Zollie Stevens added 20.

A pair of newcomers who recently became eligible last week, Les English and Derrick Kearney, added 19 and 15, respectively. (Starter Phil Weiss was the other player to score in double figures with 11.)

With the loss of 6-8 Don Edwards in the middle and 6-5 Aaron Brown up front, the 6-5 Kearney, who started his career at Louisana Tech, may have to play center, as well as handle the ball against the press as he did against Highland Park.

English, a 6-2 jumping jack, will most likely play forward. He's already jumping center.

But despite a lack of height, the Ocelots could turn things around during the second half of the season if they continue to play like they did against Highland

St. Mary's eliminated

The trip to the National Catholic College Tournament last weekend in Dubuque, Iowa, went about as expected for St. Mary's College - lots of free throws for their opponents.

The results were predictable, too: SMC lost its opener to Loras College, which just happened to be the host of the 16-team NAIA tourney 94-85 Thursday, then followed that with a 68-59 defeat to Cardinal Stritch (Milwaukee) Friday.

The setbacks dropped SMC to 7-11 for the season, and makes the Eagles 1-10 over their last 11 games.

Both games were decided at a painted stripe 15 feet from the basket. SMC shot 19 free throws in the two games, converting a measly seven; its opponents combined to take 65 free throws, making 48.

BEING OUTSCORED at the free throw line 48-7 over two games makes winning a difficult task. The Eagles never really had a chance in their opener against LC, trailing 39-32 at the half and, after LC opened up a 56-41 lead with 16 minutes left, SMC never got closer than seven.

Five Eagles reached double figres in scoring, paced by Bradley Turner, who came off the bench to get 16 points and 10 rebounds. Theo Pearson and Greg Spraggins netted 11 each (Spraggins also had seven assists) and Safaa Qasawa and Mo Steward contributed 10 points apiece, with Steward nabbing seven

But SMC hit just four-of-11 foul shots: LC connected on 27-of-36. SMC outshot its foe from the floor, collecting 39 field goals (in 83 shots, 47 percent) to LC's 33 (of 66, 50 per-

Bob Derouin's 28 points was best for LC. Greg Revansek had 22 and Willie Brown chipped in with 13.

IN THE LOSS to Cardinal Stritch, the Eagles took command early and held a 19-9 lead. But CS battled back to tie it at the half (29-29), and it remained close until the waning min-

A key stretch for SMC came with five minutes left. A Spraggins threepointer tied the score at 49-all, and after a CS miss, Spraggins hit another triple to put the Eagles up 52-49. A technical foul was then called on the CS coach, so Spraggins stepped to the line to try to increase SMC's advantage to five.

The junior guard missed both foul shots, however, and SMC compounded its mistake by failing to score on its possession. CS got baskets in each of its next two possessions to regain the lead (53-52).

The Eagles' failure to open up a lead when they had the chance proved fatal. CS went ahead in the final minutes and kept the lead by sinking 10-of-11 of its free throws down the stretch. For the game, CS hit 21-of-29; SMC was three-of-eight.

QASAWA HAD 15 points, Spraggins notched 14 and Pearson collected 10 points and 11 rebounds. Steward managed just two points but grabbed 10 rebounds. Pete Loyda paced CS with 19 points and 12 boards. Michael Carter had 15

It was not a memorable trip for SMC forward Jon Bow, the team's leading scorer and rebounder. Bow was in foul trouble throughout the opener and managed just eight points before fouling out with seven minutes left.

No one's perfect; I ought to know

OO BAD there weren't any members of the Livonia Churchill boys soccer team at the Livonia Family Y Sunday night. They would have been able to see poor sportsmanship at its ugliest — far worse than ever exhibited by the Chargers.

As I'm writing this, Sunday night is checking out and Monday morning is checking in. I can't sleep. Some five hours earlier I made a complete hind end of myself in a recreational league basketball game.

Is there anything more meaningless in the total scheme of life than a recreational league basketball game?

That reality didn't stop me from fouling out and, in a fit of stupidity, verbally and physically attacking the referee.

After Churchill lost to Livonia Stevenson in the district finals of the state soccer tournament last fall, I wrote that the beaten team wore its frustration like a jersey.

If that was true, and I believe it was, then tonight I wore my frustration like a neon sign.

LIKE THE Churchill players, I can come up with alibis for my be-

My rage was triggered by a patently, pathetically incompetent official. I was sure this guy had it in for me. He wanted to flex all the power vested in him by those handsome zebra stripes; he wanted to show me who was boss. And he did.

Did I react like a rational, supposedly educated person who condemns high school kids for misconduct in interscholastic athletics? Did I consider that this poor guy, for about $10 a game, was not having much fun chasing a bunch of aging, foul-mouthed, past-theirprime-time players up and down a basketball floor?

Hell no. When the fifth and fatal bad foul call was made, I defied rationality. I exploded. I charged him, cursed him, shoved him. A real class act.

It wasn't pretty. I'm glad my son wasn't there to see it. And I'm glad John Neff or any of his Chargers weren't there. If they were, they could have written one heckuva letter to the editor.

I GUESS the point of this is that we all do things we are red-faced about. Ain't none of us candidates for sainthood.

When I wrote the article about Churchill's ill-mannered behavior, I wrote from a very empathetic point of view. You think I didn't know how those guys felt? You think I didn't feel the frustration right there on the sidelines?

You bet I did. And sorry to say, I probably would have reacted to it just like some of the Churchill players did.

Because of my empathy, I was able to convey it so (too?) poignantly in the newspaper.

I sure wish I had been able to restrain myself on that basketball court tonight. I'm sure some of the Churchill players felt the same after their loss to Stevenson.

SOME, THOUGH, probably still think they acted properly, that my article was just some pro-Stevenson horse manure. I understand that. I would have felt the same

I was a hot-head in high school. I lost my temper and embarrassed myself and my teammates more times than I like to remember. Coaches and parents and friends would say, "Chris, if you would just keep a lid on that temper of yours you'd be a much better player."

Ha. I'd laugh at them. They didn't know me. I was just a supercharged competitor. I wanted to win more than those other coolheaded guys. What I lacked in ability, I thought, I made up for in intensity.

Lies, lies, alibis. Look where that stubborn attitude got me. I'm behaving the same way - worse actually - than I did back in high

The best that can be said for me is that I'm no hypocrite. I know a jackass when I act like one; er, I mean, I know a jackass when I see

But that isn't making it any easier for me to fall asleep tonight.

VER WONDER what a fisherman does in the winter? I mean, sure, there's ice fishing. But you can't brave the winter conditions all the time. It often gets so unbearably cold here in Michigan that even the most diehard ice fisherman has to retreat to the comforts of a warm house.

I found some answers recently at the January meeting of the Four Seasons Fishing Club. Based in Garden City, club membership is open to the public but most members come from western Wayne County.

Part of the agenda was a show-and-tell period in which members of the club displayed and explained about winter projects they used to break the monotony of winter. Most of these projects are benefi-cial to the fisherman when spring finally arrives, but they also help pass the time over the winter months.

ONE OF THE simplist and probably most useful projects was a wood-

Tony Brehler admitted he sometimes has a hard time measuring his catch with a standard tape measure. To combat this problem Brehler came up with a three-sided box, open on one end, the top and the front. On the bottom of the box he installed a wooden ruler with boldly displayed inch markers. Now he can simply lay his fish in the box, get an accurate measurement and return the fish to the water with as little trouble as possible.

Art Dittmar, Michigan United Conservation Club Region IV vice president, uses the winter months to clean up and repaint some of his old lures and spoons. A new coat of paint and some fresh lure tape works wonders on old, scratched-up tackle.

Dittmar, who also teaches a fishing class at Garden City West High School over the winter, discovered that if he applies a coat of clear Krylon to his refinished lures - and even to some of the new lures - his success rate increases dramatically.

WHEN I first started having better luck with the lures coated with Krylon I decided to investigate a little further," said Dittmar. "I fished with identical lures, at the exact same time, but one was coated with Krylon and one wasn't. On the Krylon coated lures I had a success rate of 3-1 over the non-coated ones.

'The Krylon coated (lures) are shinier and reflect light better. It also enhances the colors and makes them brighter. I think this is why the fish hit them better. It's the best thing I've run into over the past few Dittmar also pointed out that the Krylon coating helps keep the lure tape secure.

Joe Zawislak, an avid bluegill ice fisherman, displayed a unique setup he uses and has had excellent success with Zawislak removes the swivel from a Mister Twister and uses this as the base of his rig. He ties the middle of the Mister Twister to the end of his fishing line. To one end of the Mister Twister he attaches a piece of fishing line with a hook and the bait of his choice - usually a grub, mousie or wax worm. To the other end of the Mister Twister he attaches a shorter piece of fishing line, a hook and a fly. (He also puts a peeled wax worm or mousie on the hook with the fly to give his bait a natural scent).

Zawislak attaches a plastic salmon egg approximately six to eight inches above the fly. This egg acts as a bobber and keeps the fly moving up and down. As he raises and lowers his line in the water, the plastic egg sinks and floats giving the fly a natural movement.

FOR NIGHT fishing Zawislak adds a piece of twisted aluminum foil to his line a few inches below the surface of the water. The light from his lantern reflects off this foil catching the eye of any passing fish. When the fish moves closer to investigate the glittering foil it also notices the bait.

One of the newer members of the club, Dan Martin, plant manager for Riveria Marine and Tackle Supply in Pontiac, had perhaps the best display of all, although it had nothing to do with a winter project.

Through Martin's efforts, Riveria donated two sets of two Model 300 short arm manual downriggers area eateries and rates them on a 100-point scale. Up to 30 points are awarded for ambiance, which includes general atmosphere and service; 55 points for food, and 15 points for price/value rating. A total count of 59 points of less indicates a restaurant is not recommended; 60-74 points signify from passing to good; 75-89 points designate very good with some extraordinary features; and 90-100 points show that a very special dining experience awaits

RYSTAL SWAN in the Novi Hilton, I-275 at Eight Mile, Novi (349-4000) is a gracious, attractive restaurant combining subdued lighting and enough space between tables to allow a feeling of privacy. The decor is tasteful and soothing with a pastel peach scheme, fresh flowers on the tables and mirrors and room dividers to add extra dimension. As an extra touch, if you have made a reservation, the captain and waiters use your name ("Is everything all right, Mr. G. . . .?") when they visit your table.

Combined with the sense of intimacy, this courtesy gives a very pleasant feeling during the meal. Even the menu showed care and attention as, for example, the normal "soup du jour" was titled "soup of the evening." Dinner took three hours and 20 minutes, and reservations were promptly honored.

Your traveling taster visits our needs — with water and clean silverware, for example. But we had to request more rolls, and there were considerable delays in service during part of the meal and while waiting for the check. Our overall impression was that the waiters were nice young men, hired from near the hotel, who did not have the expertise that a more experienced staff brings. They were trying, but they seemed more like hotel employees than waiters in a fine restaurant.

SERVICE: 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 11.

There is a dish of fresh vegetables with a tasty garlic dip to start your evening. We ordered a variety of appetizers, and they were definitely the highlight of the entire meal. Especially outstanding were the escargot ($6.75) and duck strudel (7.25), each served in a light, flaky pastry. Both dishes were unusual and well worth ordering. The angel hair pasta with seafood and parmesan cheese ($5.50) was also delicious, but the pasta was a bit overcooked. Finally, the chicken sate, served with a light, well-flavored peanut sauce, was quite good. Appetizer portions were very generous.

We ordered a Caesar salad ($4.75), which was prepared at the table. Although fresh and tasty, the salad had a strong taste of lemon and lacked the traditional anchovies. A special salad with radicchio lettuce and hot goat cheese was attractive, unusual

The beef came overcooked with little taste and lacking the promised peppercorn coating. The salmon had a very strong taste and was tough, perhaps indicating that it was not really fresh. The lobster was the best of the plate. The scampi di jonghe ($15) was dry and unappealing without proper bread crumb batter and lacking a garlic flavor. The attractive presentation of the plates as not enough to make up for the food it-

Desserts were a mixed treat. The "chef's special" fruit cake ($2.75) was dry and looked better than it tasted. The lemon kirsch cake ($2.75) tasted better than it looked. Best of the offering was bananas Foster ($7.50) prepared at the table. It was rich and delicious although lacking enough cinnamon for our own taste. As with the appetitizers, dessert portions were extremely large.

DESSERT: 10 points maximum. Points awarded - 7.

You are entitled to expect a great deal for $100 per couple. The atmosphere was ideal, and the price was especially high because we ordered so many dishes. Nonetheless, the food itself did not measure up to the cost, and so the dinner seemed over-

January's turning out to be a promising month for stay-at-home filmwatchers. This month's cable offerings range from the ridiculous to the sublime.

Starting off with the ridiculous there's "Pee Wee's Great Adventure" with Paul Rubens alias Pee Wee Herman as an overgrown boy in search of his stolen dream bicycle. The story harks back to the misadventures and fantasies of kids who grew up in the Eisenhower generation and puts enough of a goofy spin on them to make them funny in the Reagan era.

It even includes the same old childish repartee we've all tried to forget we ever used — juvenile gems such as "I know you are, but what am I?" and "If you like it so much, why don't you marry it?"

It takes Pee Wee and his gang of goony friends one hour and 32 minutes to track down his balloon-tire wonder. This chicken-necked nerd is funny for perhaps one hour of the movie but by its end you want him to knock it off already.

RUBENS, WHO IS behind "Pee Wee's Playhouse" - one of the most imaginative shows to be seen on Saturday morning television in years, is better in that shorter format. Still, check out "Pee Wee's Great Adventure." When you run into your own level of Pee Wee overkill, just turn it off. Shown Saturday, Jan. 10; Thursday, Jan. 15; Tuesday, Jan. 20; Sunday, Jan. 25; and Wednesday, Jan. 28, on Cinemax.

If you have the chance to view only one movie at home this month, make it "Runaway Train." You won't be wasting your time. It's a film with great acting, a disturbing viewer for a long time. The soundtrack, Vivaldi's Gloria in D Major, is put to effective use. It does exactly what a good film soundtrack should do — heighten the dra-ma, the tension, without overpowering it. For those who have stereo VCR equipment, the tape of this movie has great stereo sound. If you don't subscribe to Showtime, rent this one. It's shown Saturday, Jan. 17; Wednesday, Jan. 21; and Monday, Jan. 26, on Showtime.

Finally, a note of warning. Avoid "Clan of the Cave Bear," based on Jean M. Auel's popular novels. It's so bad, its star, Daryl Hannah, refused to do a publicity tour for it when it was first released in 1986. For masochists who want to see the story of a woman in Cro-Magnon times, HBO shows this piece of work Saturday, Jan. 31. Better to switch off the set and read the book.

"My (creative) writing is totally unrelated to what I do for a living," she said.

Her background in film helps explain the subtle references to "The Wizard of Oz," "Casablanca" and "Dracula" in her award-winning short story, "My Mother's Shoes."

She received her $1,000 check at a luncheon at the Westin Hotel given by DADA to honor the three adult and three high school contest winners and preview the Detroit Auto show which begins its nine-day Cobo Hall run Saturday, Jan. 10.

CASSANI, WHO said, "I'm an old movie fan, " looked like she could have been in one of those films she likes so well. Her long red hair and bright red, spike heel pumps made a dramatic contrast to her winter white outfit and soft hazel eyes. The equally subtle literary references in her story confirm her statement that she reads constantly.

"I had one creative writing class at Wayne. Hal Youngblood was my teacher. He and his assistant, Chuck Dapaz, gave me'a tot of help and confidence.'

"I work more on an observation level. I have to take in a lot of things and formulate them in my mind. 'My Mother's Shoes' was a culmination of a year's experience. I wrote the story on a Saturday night. I go on instinct on a lot of things. The story has to be in your mind first - if you push at it, it weakens. This story is dedicated to my mother who died in August.

Cassani who won in 1985 for her story, "Under the Waxie, Dixie Moon," said she wasn't certain if this one, describing her feelings about her mother's death, would appeal to the judges because it was so subjective, but it was one she felt compelled to write and enter in the contest. Filmmaking trio focuses on documentaries

By Faye Kuzma

7 ITH THE very first click of the camera, reaching for the stars has been the ambition of three school teachers who have founded Meridian Films specializing in documentaries.

That they are on the way to accomplishing what they set out to do is evident when you take into account the fact that in less than 10 years, the fledgling company has received an Academy Award nomination and several film festival awards

Their latest achievement came this fail when one of their documentaries, "Waiting Tables," won two awards in the Great Lakes Film Festival. It also won a coveted CINE Golden Eagle in international com-

CINE is the acronym of the Conress of International Non-Theatrical Events. Golden Eagle films become part of a world-tour package with Meridian Films representing the U.S. in this tour.

MERIDIAN'S FOUNDERS are Pamela LaBlanc of Livonia, Linda Chapman of Westland and Freddi Stevens-Jacobi of Indianapolis. The name of the group reflects the trio's aspirations. "Meridian" comes from an Alice

Walker ("The Color Purple") novel by the same name. It means apex or the highest point. Thus, it is meant to suggest the excellence that is the filmmakers' aim.

But, by coincidence, also is the name of the street in Indianapolis where the company is based.

Striving for success has meant the group has had to overcome certain obstacles. One big one is the time each woman can give to the project. All three hold full-time teaching jobs. The filmmaking is done on off-

"Working full time, we're limited to the time we can spend," said La-Blanc. "We used to hop on the train and go to Chicago a lot of weekends. Now we're limited to the holidays and some vacations. So, any major shoot or grant-writing (which has enabled to them to continue their work) usually happens in the summer.'

LABLANC, 43, HAS taught for 12 years in Woodhaven High School in that downriver community. She received her first grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts in 1978. She used the funds to bring film professionals to her students. In a course on film editing, for instance, she brought in Christa Kindt of Unique Films in Livonia and Andrea Gomez from the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit.

LaBlanc also arranged film camp experiences where her students could meet professionals in the filmmaking field.

Upshot of all the extra-curricular projects was that LaBlanc found herself becoming increasingly involved not only in teaching film and assisting student filmmakers, but in producing films herself.

Meridian's first film was entitled, "See What I Say." Its focus was to demonstrate the value of sign language between the hearing and deaf cultures. The film received as many as 11 awards, including a blue ribbon, in the American Film Festival in 1981 and a prize in the Margaret Mead Film Festival in 1982.

THE FILMING WAS done at a Holly Near concert. A feminist singer and songwriter, Near worked with Jane Fonda when the movie star went to Vietnam in the '60s. Near has all her concerts interpreted for the hearing impaired.

Initially, the Meridian filmmakers were drawn to the uniquely artistic movements of Susan Freundlich, recognized American sign language interpreter, who interpreted Near's songs by combining mime and dance with sign language.

"We thought that was something very filmic," said LaBlanc, adding, 'Then we got pulled into the issue.'

The issue, said LaBlanc, was the accessibility - or the lack of it - of the arts, culture and political events to the hearing impaired.

"It's not a pretty picture," La-Blanc said. "Did you know that the third largest concentration of deaf people is in Michigan with the auto

"I DON'T THINK it was until we were editing that we realized that we'd made a foreign-English film," she laughed. Editing "provided quite a challenge in terms of not being able to make the aesthetic decision about editing the priority: it had to be sign. You can't cut off the sign in the middle of a word.'

Editing is not dependent on completed sentences in a film utilizing a spoken language because it is possible to "slide sound." However, when it came time to edit "See What I Say," the film team realized the built-in demands of their subject.

For instance, the team had the film captioned so that it would be totally accessible. Moreover, 90 percent of the film shows sign language on the screen. Finally during interviews, translators were needed.

'We had no idea what we were getting into," said LaBlanc, "when we first saw the pretty signing up on stage there."

That was probably the biggest challenge in the shooting, too. In documentary, you have a lot of talking head shots," she said. "If someone, because of what they're saying. shows emotion, you zoom in on the person for the emotional drama on

But that couldn't be done in "See What' I Say" because, as the film team soon realized, if the hands were not a part of the shot, the result would be a loss of meaning.

ANOTHER SURPRISE for La-Blanc was learning that there are dialects of sign language.

"Someone from Boston doesn't necessarily understand Ann Arbor's sign," she said.

As a matter of fact, when the film was shown in San Francisco, the hearing impaired audience immediately recognized the sign language, because of added gestures and flourishes, as that used in Boston.

The credits show the team as joint producers and directors. However, in order to learn more about the film and in order to avoid getting locked in one role, the team frequently switches roles.

For "See What I Say," LaBlanc conducted interviews and directed; Chapman produced; and Stevens-Jacobi was camera operator. The film was shot in three days over a Thanksgiving vacation, yet it took three years to raise the money, shoot it, edit it and distribute it.

THE IDEA FOR Meridian's latest film, "Waiting Tables," came while the trio was working up a five-year projection for their company. They

David Pulice, co mplement the women's attire with black tuxedos, pink bow ties and cummerbunds

This show, regarded as a lowbudget production, was created by Sondheim to showcase himself as a composer/lyricist. Director David Pulice turned to this show and to this group of local professionals to recover from the company's outstanding but poorly attended "Barber of Seville" last September. The experts don't necessarily have to come from out of town. This group underscores this point dramatically.

Rochelle Rosenthal gave a memorable performance as the Beggar Woman in Michigan Opera Theatre's production of "Sweeney Todd" a few years ago. In this show, she shows she can spit out Sondheim's "Another Hundred People" lyrics just as clearly and do many types of characters. Her "Losing My Mind" was penetrating. "The Boy From . . ." was funny.

The usually classical Maria Cimarelli was just as versatile emotional in "A Boy Like That," honky in "Broadway Girl," and sad in her rendition of "Green Finch." Cimarelli took her top notes easily and gently, not harsh-

THE THREE MEN, are all experienced revue singers. Pavelich's high notes were beautiful in "Finishing the Hat." Vondrak's lyric high baritone was never out of his range. Pulice is well aware of his powerfully dramatic lower voice especially in "Never Could I Leave You" and his ability to deliver out the fast and furious Sondheim lyrics

Rosemary DiDomizio, a good actress, was humorously appealing in "I Never Do Anything

Pulice's directing put the sing-ers in the limelight, using few props. His direction was simple and effective. Accompanists David Wilson and Beverly Labuta share the responsibility for the show's success

The French idea of musical revues is seldom carried out with this much continuity. This is good entertainment, folks.

It continues this weekend with performances at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 2:20 p.m. Sunday. For more information, call 349-8110 or 349-0868.

Writing's nitty-gritty has a new outlet

THEN I WAS a kid growing up, my father, who was not much of a reader himself, stopped somewhere every payday and bought me a book. I still have several of them, including one of my favorites at the time, "Ann Sheridan and the Sign of the Sphinx"

I also had "Betty Grable and the House of the Iron Shutters," "Ginger Rogers and the Riddle of the Scarlet Cloak," and "Deanna Durbin and the Feather of I read each one

I KNEW THAT it was a privilege not given to many ordinary 9-yearolds, and I owed one to the Grolier Society for giving me the world in 20 imitation leather, illustrated, often easy-to-read volumes.

For they were not your ordinary encyclopedias. No. these books were filled with stories and poems and features like "How does it work?"

and was somehis little town times chastized for his dreaminess, as I often was.

And I learned later that it was not those musty men at the Society of Grolier but my own parents who had given me this extraordinary gift, and at great cost to them - $5 a month for a whole year, layoff or no layoff.

And it's been me and books ever since. We're close. And glory be I have discovered that this entire town is swarming with book people. We get together and revel in our discoveries and when a writer speaks, we listen. We make instant and sometimes lasting friendships based on our admiration for certain authors. or even certain genres.

We're wary around people who don't read the same things we do. We try to be kind, but honestly, have they got bubbles for brains?

We see ourselves in people like my friend. Gracia:

MY FRIEND GRACIA found herself in a waiting room once with absolutely nothing to read. There weren't even signs on the walls. She read logos on tennis shoes and messages on T-shirts, and after that she panicked. She embarrassed herself by reading label and cleaning instructions inside the coats of complete strangers - sometimes while they were still wearing them.

My friend Gracia wouldn't think of living in a place that didn't have a tub with just the right backslant for reading. She devises ingenious ways to keep the pages out of the water when she drifts off. She couldn't abide cohabiting with anyone who wouldn't understand why she has to be in there so long, and why she has to keep running the hot water.

She would rather spend her extra cash on books or magazines than on anything else. Which explains by Gracia and I never stand out in a crowd - unless it happens to be a crowd of fairly well-dressed people.

SHE BEGAN building a library and found she'd created a monster. She could only add books. She could never replace them. She could not throw them out or sell them or even give them away. Sometimes she thinks she can.

She even goes so far as to fill boxes with books she thinks she doesn't want. She bought some of them by the boxful on the last day of the used book sale because she didn't want them to be orphans, but she knows she'll never read them. So the boxes sit in front of the shelves until she can no longer stand it. But, she tells herself, now they are on lesser

And Gracia has already told me what she wants to see here in this space every other week.

She wants to know why, all of a sudden, all the good writers are coming from Michigan. (William Kienzle, who ought to know, says he thinks it's something in the water.)

SHE WANTS ALL the nitty-gritty on who's writing what and why, and when their books will be out, and whether they write with quill pens or crayons or lap typewriters like the kind Will Rogers used to use.

She wants to know what's ir in the bookstores, and way certain of them think they're so special - and, if they've got writers coming in to sign books, when that will be and do they give discounts and do they serve free

She wants to know all about the big used book sales: How and when they collect the books? Where do they store them? Where does the money go? And will they let her in a little ahead of time so she can get the good stuff? She wants me to sit down with some of our writers and just shut up for once and let them do the talking.

She wants me to read some of the books first and let her know if she should even bother.

If there's something going on around there that has to do with reading and writing, she wants to know about it.

And you know Gracia. She gets what she wants. But you could make my life a lot easier if you would take a minute to fill me in on what exactly is going on.

Film trio gains international attention exhibitions discovered that each of them had worked as a waitress at one time or another. Later, they heard two songs that reinforced the idea. The first was "Please Tip Your Waitress," by Willie Sordell. The other was a song by Jane Siberry called "Waitress" from an album called "No Borders." In it, Siberry sings, "I'd probably be famous now if I wasn't such a good waitress.'

Funding for "Waiting Tables" came from three grant sources: Michigan Council for the Arts, Indiana Arts Council and Center for New Television, Chicago. The film team interviewed waiters and waitresses from the formica counter to the linen-covered table restaurant.

"We tried to get at some of the issues: tips, benefits, retirement, image," said LaBlanc.

'The image of waitresses in the print media is not real positive," she continued. "Probably it is a reflection of the culture's attitude about women's work. Waiting tables is a serving, nurturing, mothering kind of image. That's usually not valued in a monetary way."

The food service industry is the single largest employer of women and youth. Moreover, 89.1 percent of all serving people are waitresses. An interview with Gloria Steinem is central to the film's message.

THE FILM INCLUDES interviews with those involved in the food industry illustrating the ring around the pink collar. One waitress, for instance, voiced a commonly held notion: "When a man is waiting on customers, the experience is described as 'dining out.' When a woman waits on those same customers, they are just 'eating out.' "

The film opens with an experimental dance that's edited to Jane Siberry's song.

"During production," said La-Blanc," we always called it the Waitress Ballet' and actually ended up working with a choreographer. We had ideas in mind of the kinds of repetitive movements we wanted to be sure to include.'

A 1973 clip from a Lilly Tomlin special, in which she does a waitress routine, also is included.

Tomlin complains about growing up in Detroit and wanting to be a waitress. Then she travels to New York where "all" she can get is acting job after acting job, hit after hit. Curiously enough, several of the waitresses and waiters interviewed in the film doubled as actresses and ac-

LABLANC DESCRIBED the film's audience as the general public, people involved in the service industry, and service-related jobs. Also interested would be high schools and colleges with food management, restaurant management and hotel/motel management majors.

'We try to put the viewer in the shoes of either the waiter or waitress," LaBlanc said.

Meridian's current project was acting as a support crew documenting the recent "Great Peace March," in which 600 Americans walked across the country over a six-month period. The Meridian crew helped document the last leg of the march.

The peace march film will be a one-hour video documentary to be released next year, LaBlanc said.

Co-producer Pamela LaBlanc (left), waitress Sandy Phillips and co-producer Linda Chapman pose outside a Chicago diner that served as a backdrop for Meridian's awardwinning "Waiting Tables" film which won a coveted international CINE Golden Eagle and will be part of a worldwide tour.

VER THE PAST few weeks I have "Honey-Baked," 'Hersheyed," "Godiva'd" and "egg nogged" myself into a new wardrobe.

My elastic-top corduroys just can't give any more. I tried to fit into a pair of my old Levis and the metal button actually popped off. No, it didn't just fall off — it flew across the laundry room and hit the open door of the dryer. I can still hear the "ding" sound at that moment of metal-to-metal impact.

Unbuttoned and depressed, I wondered how much pressure it must have taken to actually pop a metal button from off a pair of Levis. I need to shed 17 pounds — and fast. So this year I am making some resolutions and I mean "heavy."

BEFORE I GET into the New Year's goals, I have some old business to clear up from the 1986

Christmas Card-Contest. I would like to congratulate our first-prize winner in the adult category: Patricia Hilton Wilbur. Patricia and h er husband recently moved to Michigan and read about the contest in the Farmington Observer. Her beautiful card entry is a nice combination of good concept and ex-cellent technical ability: a dove of beace sitting on a snow covered bow upon which is hung a single Christmas bulb. On the bulb are continents symbolizing the earth. The image of the dove is reflected on the bulb and adds a nice touch as it represents "Peace on Earth."

Pat said her drafting table is getting old and wobbly so she will enjoy her prize of a new drafting table.

First prize in the 10-to-14 year age category went to Jeff Wild. Jeff simply drew a wreath. It had a nice loose look to it and was an easy first

THIS YEAR'S SPECIAL entry went to Tim Jacek. His entry was a beautiful snow scene full of good thought and excellent technical skill.

Other winners were: Lesley Carmichael of Plymouth; Steve Grotoski of Livonia; Cheryl Ginzel of Westland; Mike Bencik of Livonia; Honorable mention: Jean Warner of Farmington Hills; Dorothy Hamon of Detroit; Eric Kohler of Livonia.
