SETTLEMENT:

Custodian and maintenance workers in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will receive a 5 percent pay increase this school year and next, according to a contract extension unanimously approved by the Board of Education Monday.

The employees also will receive a $50 retirement allowance, $20 additional longevity pay, $5,000 additional life insurance, and an added $40 in uniform allowance.

SIGN OF SPRING:

Three former neighbors caught a glimpse of spring at Middlebelt Nursing Home last week. Gerry McCarthy of Plymouth and Eleanor Neely of Dearborn were visiting their ol' pal Mary Archie, 76, at the nursing home when "we noticed forsythia blooming outside the TV room," said McCarthy. "It was great. It made us feel like spring's not that far away."

OLYMPIAN COMING:

Olympic gold medalist Steve Fraser will be speaking to the Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth at noon Thursday at the Mayflower Hotel. Fraser, who earned a gold in Greco-Roman wrestling at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles (becoming the first American ever to win a medal of any kind in that competition), will speak on goal setting.

Fraser also won the 198-pound class in the 1983 Pan American games, made the U.S. world team in 1979 and 1982 and finished fourth in the 1980 Olympic trials. He is a native of Hazel Park where he won a Class A state wrestling championship in the high school ranks. He now is working for Domino's Pizza. At the time he earned the gold medal, Fraser was a Washtenaw County deputy sheriff. He also is an assistant wrestling coach at University of Michigan.

SNOW WARNING:

Following the snowfall of Jan. 10, it was observed that several homeowners and businesses in Plymouth failed to clean their sidewalks as required by city ordinance. Ken Vogras, DPW director, reminds all that the ordinance says "that all sidewalks must be cleaned within 24 hours after a snowfall, failure to do so shall cause the City of Plymouth Public Works Department to do so at the expense of the landowner." If it becomes necessary for the DPW to clean a sidewalk, adds Vogras, the fee charged will be $50 an hour with a minimum charge of one hour.

TO PERFORM:

Marjorie McClennen of Plymouth, a member of the Fair Lane Youth Chamber Music Guild, will appear in a winter concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 4, at the Henry Ford Estate, Fair Lane. Admission is free but donations, used to establish a music library, will be accepted. The estate, the former residence of Henry and Clara Ford, is on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn on Evergreen between Ford and Michigan Avenue in Dearborn.

LEADING SPARTANS:

The Western Metropolitan Detroit Michigan State University Alumni Association has elected the following officers: Wendell Smith of Plymouth, president; Sandy Sulkes of Detroit, vice president; Charles Migyanka of Canton, vice president; Robert Jaskolski of Ypsilanti, vice president; Mary Frits of Plymouth, vice president; Joseph Veitri of Canton, treasurer; and Richard Harden of Plymouth, secretary.

Emergency plan sparks controversy

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Plymouth Township's commitment to an emergency preparedness program will continue at the same level as in the past, the township board has determined.

What that means as far as efficiency of an action plan, though, still seems to be in dispute.

"The plan is adequate now," maintained Supervisor Maurice Breen. "We have a basic plan. It scratches the surface but has no depth," said Charles VanVleck, a former firefighter who is the local plan's primary architect.

The two last week took their debate to the township board, which decided that the program should be given at least as much attention as in the past with Breen to assign specific work.

VanVleck, now assigned by Breen to the building department, said he's spent very little time on emergency preparedness matters during the past six months.

"A PLAN of this type is basically always out of date," VanVleck told the board. "Ours, because it hasn't had an updating for almost a year, it would probably take 40 to 50 man hours to bring it up back to where it was."

He suggested that the township also could survey local business and industry about what resources they might provide during an emergency and do more with emergency shelters than just designate sites.

There's enough to be done, VanVleck maintains, that 18 hours a week could be spent on the job.

Breen disagrees with many of VanVleck's conclusions.

"Mr. VanVleck's position is he would like to enlarge the role of emergency preparedness in his concept rather than our concept," Breen said.

"We have procedures set up. The position of the township, very simply, is we have a plan. Chuck VanVleck was involved putting it on paper . . . so everybody knew about it."

Schools enact smoking policy

There's more fresh air to breathe in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools buildings in the wake of action taken last week by the board of education.

School board members unanimously passed a resolution banning smoking in all district facilities.

The move came in response to the Michigan Clean Indoor Air Act, which took effect Jan. 1, and "in the interest of providing a safe and healthy environment for district students and employees."

"Under the procedure, there will be no smoking in the district. This includes all classrooms, lavatories, auditoriums, cafeterias, conference rooms, and places where significant numbers of the public gather," said E.J. McClendon, school board president.

Smokers with their own offices may smoke but it's hoped "they'll be considerate while non-smokers are in the office," said trustees.

Youngsters review King's dreams

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Unlike some of their counterparts in Detroit and elsewhere, Plymouth-Canton school kids didn't have today off in commemoration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

But many students at one district elementary school know of King, the civil rights leader who was assassinated years before they were born. Students on their lunch hour shared thoughts about King's life and the way blacks and whites get along.

"He got shot and he would stop the slavery. He was a good man," said Bryan Van Dyk, 9. "The whites treat blacks regular now, but before they didn't. Blacks treat whites just like regular humans."

Things could be better, Bryan said.

"We could go on commercials and stuff like that. We could say black people are just as normal as white people. Nothing's different. Their skin is just a different color," said the third-grader.

Second-grader Danielle Griscauge said Martin Luther King "died in a war. He was black. He got married. He fought so everybody would have laws and everything and black and white people would get along with each other."

"Blacks and whites treat each other fairly most of the time. But we could make up rules that are fair rules and treat them the same way," said Danielle, 7.

"It doesn't matter where little kids sit on the school bus."

CHIP WONDERLIN, 9, was eating lunch with a couple friends. Martin Luther King "led a march to Washington and led speeches for black people. He helped them get freedom," Chip said.

"People liked him because he was a nice person and he helped people. He gave away boxes of food to poor people and he helped other people when they needed help," said Eric Sielaff, 9.

"Whites think that they're better than blacks. That's not the way it should be," said their friend Kevin.

"There should be jobs for everyone and so there won't be jobs for just whites and just blacks. There should be jobs for all kinds of people."

Chip agreed.

"They should make experiments in space, like on Mars. It's big and they could make space there for people to work. There is empty land on Joy and Sheldon and no one is using it for anything. They could build buildings and people could work there."

"People that need a job need a car," Eric said. "They should have jobs near where they live so they could walk to work. Blacks are just like other people. They're no different."

Bonnie Kenney, 12, said King "was fighting for his rights. We saw a movie on him. Blacks were riding in the back of the bus and whites in the front. He was doing pretty good."

"He didn't want more, just as much as white people."

Fifth-grader Gina McGarry said blacks and whites get along "better than they did before. We could improve — be nicer to them and make friends with them."

Bonnie, Gina and their friends agreed King's death "was sad. It's bad he died."

Taxing

Mortgage companies miss deadline

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Mortgage companies for about 240 Canton homeowners missed the Dec. 31, 1986, cutoff to pay property taxes allowing people to claim the tax as a 1986 deduction, said treasurer Gerald Brown.

Property owners complain mortgage companies have an obligation to pay taxes by the end of the year considering payments were made on the mortgage during those 12 months.

The flip side is that mortgage companies and firms hired by mortgage companies to process tax bills say they don't have enough time to meet the Internal Revenue Service's year-end cutoff. Mortgage companies legally have until Feb. 14 to pay the taxes without receiving a penalty.

However, affected residents can claim the taxes on their 1987 income tax forms.

MOST OF THE mortgage companies have paid Plymouth Township property taxes, said treasurer Mary Brooks. In fact, more Plymouth Township property owners paid their property taxes before the end of the year in 1986 than in any other year.

"This year I think people are afraid of the new tax law and people paid the taxes before the end of the year," Brooks said. "Some people even asked if they could pay for next year's taxes."

Discipline, involvement are keys to learning

By Diane Gale
staff writer

More parental input and better discipline are keys to improving the educational system in the United States. That was Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben's reaction to studies conducted by Japanese and Americans on each other's educational programs. He also noted that differences between the cultures contributes to how children react to their teachers and the need to learn. "If we had the same parental ethic as the Japanese there wouldn't be a problem. I think we can do just so much toward discipline and it becomes a support mechanism from parents. The parental expectations to achieve is much more severe in the Oriental culture and almost any European culture. "We have a more promiscuous society — not everyone, but the average in this country. The Japanese are more regimented."

WILLIAM J. BENNETT, U.S. education secretary, recently said Americans should consider importing Asian methods in teaching. Bennett praised Japanese parents' extensive involvement with schools, clarity of purpose and high expectations, efforts to instill "the right kind of habits" and character in students and the respect and "reasonable remuneration" Japan gives teachers. A Japanese team studying the U.S. educational system praised its drive for reforms but did not recommend Japanese educators adopt any of its features. The evaluations are a result of a 1983 agreement between Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone and President Reagan that educators study each other's systems.

Local educators say the U.S. can improve but in some areas they give Americans better marks than the Japanese. "If you tested I think the U.S. would do better in areas like creativity and thinking skills as opposed to rote memory," said Kent Buikema, Plymouth-Canton executive director of secondary education.

HOBEN SAID the U.S. spends too many years repeating the basic mathematic skills.

"The foreign approach is to get to the higher levels more quickly," he said.

Learning is dependent on the amount of time students spend with teachers, he said, but adding more classroom time to the school year wouldn't be easy.

Michigan requires a minimum 900 instructional hours and 180 school days annually. Plymouth-Canton schools have a contract for 186 school days and the instructional hours for elementary, middle and high schools exceed minimum requirements.

"I think our kids need more time but getting it is a ballgame of unions and whether we can afford to do it," Hoben said.

By high school graduation, Japanese students have been in school for at least the equivalent of one American school year longer than students in the United States, the Japanese study revealed.

Bennett noted Japanese education helped create "a powerfully competitive economy, a broadly literate population, a stable democratic government, a civilization in which there is relatively little crime or violence and a functional society."

Buikema had two reactions to the studies: one that the United States should take heed and the other that there's a potential to overreact.

"I've seen an awful lot of improvements in American education especially in the last four or five years. For example, we know more about how kids learn and instructional technology. That's not to say there's not room for improvement."

"I don't apologize for what we're doing," Hoben said. "I think we have a good system. I don't think we're average."

Driver faces manslaughter trial

By M.S. Dillon
staff writer

Yvonne Marie Hillier of Westland, charged with manslaughter in the Dec. 13 traffic death of Dorcas Ruth Aumann of Canton, will stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Hillier, 19, was bound over for trial by 35th District Judge James Garber after a preliminary examination Friday. An circuit court arraignment date of Jan. 30 was tentatively set.

Garber continued a personal recognizance bond of $15,000.

Manslaughter is punishable by a maximum 15-year prison term and/or a fine.

AUMANN, 67, died at the scene of the head-on collision, which took place about 7:30 p.m. on Joy Road at the I-275 overpass.

Hillier allegedly drove her car from the parking lot of the Plymouth Rock Saloon on Joy west of Haggerty. According to police, she turned east onto Joy and sideswiped Aumann's westbound car. Hillier was driving on the wrong side of the road with the lights off, officers said.

Hillier's blood alcohol level was .20, a Michigan State Police lab analyst testified. A level of .10 is considered legally drunk.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Hillier at her district court arraignment.

The victim's spouse, Bruce Aumann, was first to take the stand in the 90-minute hearing.

His broken left wrist in a cast, Aumann testified the only thing he could remember about the accident was hearing voices.

"I heard one say, 'You'll have to cut him out of the car,'" Aumann told the court.

"I came up and asked, 'Where is my wife? How is she? Where is she?'"

Aumann said he heard someone ask, "Is she still breathing?" and someone answer, "No."

THE AUMANNs were returning from Westland Convalescent Center where they'd visited Bruce Aumann's 86-year-old mother. She has since died.

Aumann, who underwent plastic surgery for cuts to his forehead and nose, said, "I have had brain scans and been X-rayed from the top of my head to my toes and back. I complained about my shoulders and they were re-checked. I know my blood sugar was way high."

Asked how fast he was driving, Aumann said "I couldn't swear to the speed. I don't drive that fast across there."

Hillier, who was on crutches, did not testify. She has so little recollection of what happened that she can't remember driving her car, said William Neckar, Hillier's attorney after the hearing.

Plymouth Rock Saloon is being charged by Plymouth Township Police with liquor violations stemming from the accident. A hearing before the state Liquor Control Commission (not yet scheduled) could result in the revocation of the bar's liquor license.

After hearing the testimony of police officers and other witnesses, Garber said, "based upon the evidence the court has heard, I believe the posture of record is such that the elements of the crime have been made out and there is probable cause to believe the defendant (committed the crime.)"

Motorist hits, robs man

A Novi man told police that he was struck by a car, kicked, then had his wallet stolen early Friday morning while walking along Schoolcraft near Haggerty in Plymouth Township.

The wallet later was recovered by police in a nearby drainage ditch — minus what the victim determined was about $360 cash.

The victim, 34, complained of injuries to an arm, according to police. His jacket was torn and he had mud on his pants, jacket and face.

The victim told police that he was on his way home after having a few beers at a Polish Legion of American Veterans post after work when he was inexplicably struck and knocked to the ground by an orange Pinto. The driver then got out the car and kicked him, the victim said.

He later determined that his wallet was missing.

The car had a Michigan license plate and was last seen westbound on Schoolcraft. The only description the victim provided of the attacker was that he was a man wearing dark pants and dark, heavy shoes.

The victim said that even though he had been paid earlier that day, he didn't flash money where he'd been drinking and no one followed him out of the post.

Police searched the Lakepointe Subdivision for the Pinto without success.

Developer strives to maintain natural look

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Jo Hulce discusses the stages of construction of the condos at Ann Arbor Road and McClumpha in Plymouth Township.

By Susan Buck

Jo Hulce's enthusiastic commitment to preserving community aesthetics and natural land amenities shows in her eyes as she discusses her latest enterprise — developing the first detached, single-family cluster condominium project in Plymouth Township.

The 10-home, five-acre condo development, called New England Corners, is located at the southeast corner of Ann Arbor Road and McClumpha. It is the first of 32 acres of planned cluster condo projects that will eventually dot McClumpha to Westbriar Road.

Hulce, a resident on McClumpha Road for 32 years and a former school board member, is a developer with Hunt Associates which is run out of her large home. She is co-developer with her son, Steven, a Chicago realtor and David Sibbold, who is living in the restored late 1800s McClumpha Home which also sits on the property.

MCCLUMPHA ROAD was named for the three McClumpha homes which were located on the road between Joy and Ann Arbor Road.

New England Corners is expected to be finished in the fall of 1988.

The $200,000 homes feature 2,000 square feet of living space on a quarter-acre of land and are available in ranch and two-story design. They will be nestled around a courtyard shaded by walnut and maple trees, like a colonial village on the green.

"Another nice thing about the cluster is that you can customize and you can save a lot of the trees," said Hulce.

A perimeter brick wall and wood fence with mature spruce and pine trees and landscaped driveway entrances will be part of the estate.

The property is rooted in history.

The United States government sold the property on which the McClumpha Home sits to Benjamin Slocum in 1825. The house was built by Ebenezer Harlow around 1860 and the property is shown on the Wayne County map of 1860, Hulce said. Later, the home was sold to Mary and Edgar McClumpha in 1871.

This is how the homestead looked when occupied by the McClumpha's in the mid-1800s.

Builders move forward after lifting of ban

By Doug Funke
staff writer

A temporary moratorium on rezonings and final building approvals in Plymouth Township has been lifted, sparking developers at various stages of activity to press on with their plans.

Carrollton Arms has completed underground utility and road construction for phase one of the Beacon Meadows subdivision, a residential unit development north of North Territorial west of Ridgewood.

Forty houses, 2,800 to 3,600 square feet carrying pricetags of at least $250,000, will rise in the initial phase, said Bob Paciocco, one of the developers.

"Our first model will probably be ready by the end of March, the middle of April," he said. "We do a lot of custom design and build situations."

CARROLLTON ARMS also plans to erect 42 condominiums and another 38 houses on the 74-acre parcel. That work start this spring.

"We expect to be sold out by some time at the end of '88 or the early spring of '89," Paciocco said. "We have four or five who already engaged us to design a house."

The sons of Paciocco and his partner, Jan Masciulli — Adriano Paciocco and Dean Masciulli — will build the houses in phase one.

The Beacon Meadows subdivision has been talked about for several years. "We bought the project 10 months ago and we made it happen," Paciocco said. "Plymouth has a good name."

Art Gerish of the Gerish Building Co. received the go-ahead from the township board last week to proceed with engineering specifications for his Plymouth Notch Subdivision.

HE PLANS to build 30 houses on 14 acres at McClumpha between Ann Arbor Road and Academy. Gerish bought the land from the school district last summer for $225,000.

"If my engineer can move as fast as I hope he does and I can get all the necessary approvals . . . I would hope I could be starting some construction of utilities in May," he said.

Gerish said he's hopeful that the first models would be finished early next year. He projected sales prices of $150,000 to $175,000.

"I've had a tremendous amount of response to the subdivision," he added.

A downsizing of permissible lot sizes from 1-acre to 1/2-acre has prompted an Ann Arbor-based development company to build a residential subdivision north of Powell between Beck and Ridge roads.

Samuel & Mancinelli Inc. offered previous owners more than $600,000 for 81 acres of vacant land there, according to documents filed with the township planning department.

"We'll have roughly a 150-lot subdivision," said Domenico Mancinelli.

"WE'RE HOPING to start construction in July or August. We hope to have the subdivision paved by October or November. They could start construction of homes at the end of this year."

His company will be involved only in preliminary development and won't actually build individual houses, Mancinelli said.

Prospective buyers could expect to pay $200,000 to $300,000 for a house in that Deer Creek subdivision, Mancinelli speculated.

He doesn't expect a shortage of buyers.

"When you consider a starter house in the U.S. today is $89,000, $200,000 isn't too much any more," he said. "I know it is a growing community. People are moving in that direction."

The township board last week also rezoned a 10-acre parcel off Ridge Road between a developing 127-acre technology park owned by Robert DeMattia and the Oak Haven Trailer Court.

DeMATTIA requested the industrial rezoning from multiple family residential to expand his technology park, said planning director James Anulewicz.

The board also rezoned a small parcel on Ann Arbor Road to commercial from industrial so that Marcello and Silvo Scappaticci can build a small retail/office structure on the site of a former junkyard.

The lifting of the moratorium on developments that would require sewer extensions and all rezonings last week pre-empted action that increased pre-construction benefit fees for developers and builders.

Those benefit fees were hiked to bring them more in line with other communities in the metropolitan area. They also will provide money to tap into an Ypsilanti wastewater treatment system. See related story.

The moratorium was in effect since Nov. 19.

Mortgage firms miss tax deadline

About 200 of the unpaid taxes in Canton are from mortgage companies that use Transamerica Real Estate Tax Service, which gathers tax information and returns it to the mortgage company. It's the mortgage company's responsibility to pay the taxes.

About 40 property taxes weren't paid by mortgage companies that work through Tigor, another mortgage servicing company.

Gary Songer of Transamerica Real Estate Tax Service said the company processed tax information on 200,000 mortgages in Michigan, and 92 percent were completed by Dec. 31.

He said this is a phenomenal task since the communities issue bills the first two weeks in December and the short amount of time includes holiday interruptions.

SONGER SAID Transamerica received "approximately 400" tax bills from Canton and 40 did not go out by the deadline. The company didn't receive tax bills from the township for those 40, Songer said.

Brown said the following mortgage holders did not pay taxes on at least some Canton property they handle:

First Savings of Ypsilanti, Metmor Financial Inc., First Family

Mortgage, General Motors Acceptance Corporation, Citicorp Homeowners Service Inc., Franklin Savings, Central Standard Savings, Foster Mortgage, Alliance Mortgage, Midstate Mortgage, City Federal Savings and Loan, Sterling Savings and Loan, Westwood Mortgage, and Horizon.

Brown said notices will be sent from his office to homeowners whose property taxes weren't paid by Dec. 31.

Songer said the system in Michigan is inefficient.

"The Legislature in the state of Michigan says you must pay the taxes by Feb. 14 and if the guy pays five weeks early he's in trouble... because he didn't pay six weeks early (before the year end).

"The mortgage companies are taking it on the knuckles because they injured the innocent party — being the homeowners. I think it's unreasonable to expect the mortgage company to move that amount of paper in that time."

SONGER SUGGESTS the state change the delinquent deadline to Dec. 31. This means the tax bill would have to go out from the treasurer's offices by late September or October.

Schools adopt smoking plan

Exceptions will be allowed only in areas identified by "smoking permitted" signs, according to the resolution.

"Smoking permitted" areas may include "empty rooms, infrequently used hallways, and other places not generally used by non-smokers."

When smokers and non-smokers are working in a single room, a smoking area may be designated if:

- At least one-half of the room is reserved and posted as a "no smoking area."

- Seating is arranged to provide a smoke-free area, and
- The no-smoking area is closest to the fresh air source

Other guidelines

- Smoking areas should be "downwind of no-smoking areas, near air grills or exhaust fans"

- Consideration is to be given to those hypersensitive to tobacco smoke. "Reasonable steps are to be taken to assure that individuals are not adversely affected by tobacco smoke."

- No smoking signs shall be posted.

- Rights of non-smokers to protect their health and comfort will prevail over an employee's desire to smoke.

- Employees and or students found smoking in areas outside of designated areas "will be in violation of state law and subject to all penalties as provided for in the law"

The resolution, incidentally, was passed 7-0 in a smoke-free board room at Monday's regular meeting.

Emergency design sparks debate periodically," Breen continued. "Police and fire department talk about it in training sessions. We meet at other times with agencies like schools, the county. Periodically we have contact with federal people."

"Most communities are at no higher level than we are," Breen said.

"We're going to keep the plan current. We don't think there's more than a couple of hours a week involved."

SCHOOL OFFICIALS late last year raised some concerns that would support VanVleck's position.

They questioned whether an emergency notification system operated by the township had been as efficient as it could be during some instances of threatening weather.

VanVleck likely will continue to be assigned some emergency preparedness duties even though he went public with a policy disagreement, Breen said. "Chuck's a good worker. In seriousness, these guys can get overblown on some of this stuff."

VanVleck suggested that a drill might answer a lot of questions.

Secure school Neighbors welcome deputies

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Pupils packing pistols?
In most high schools, it would turn heads in an instant, but at the former Cherry Hill High School, it's a fact of life.

The pupils are 38 sheriff's deputies and police officers who are attending the Wayne County Sheriff's Training Center.

An informal conversation between the center's director, Dr. Tony Shannon, and Thomas Svitkovich, Wayne-Westland Community Schools' associate superintendent for communications and finance, resulted in an agreement between the sheriff's department and the district for the leasing of a classroom and office space at the former high school.

The department at one time was a state certified academy, but that was dropped during cutbacks several years ago, only to be resurrected when the department had its "big hiring" several years ago, Shannon said.

The academy was set up at Madonna College, but when it outgrew the space, Shannon began looking to other colleges for larger quarters. None could meet the requirements like the high school and despite the lack of a signed lease, the center opened for business at Cherry Hill last October.

"I had been doing a search for about six months when I talked to Tom," Shannon said. "Nobody could match the space and cost and the expansion capabilities to meet our needs in the future like this did."

The high school's old music room serves as the classroom and the trainees have access to the gymnasium, lockers, locker room and showers for some of the physical and defensive training, Shannon explained.

THE SCHOOL district uses the high school for its adult education and alternative education programs and the addition of the training center has worked out well, Svitkovich said.

"Considering the uniqueness of it, it's worked pretty well," Svitkovich said. "Our students and staff feel good about the additional security and there's a new pride in the area around the school."

Shannon agrees, pointing to a recent outdoor physical training session. As the trainees ran through the neighborhood, residents "came out and hollared 'alright,'" he said.

Shannon also finds the center is centrally located to the department's other training programs. Defensive driving is taught at the airport and weapons training is done at the Westland and Dearborn Heights police departments' gun ranges. It also is close to the airport and hotels to accommodate outstate trainees.

Shannon describes himself as a "thinker" and he's already thinking about the future. When a state law, mandating 160 hours of training for correctional officers, takes effect, he would like to rent another classroom to install a mock lockup, complete with several cells, to add that to the center's class roster.

He also is looking at the athletic field to be made over for the defensive driving training and one of the vacant industrial arts rooms as a gun range.

Shannon also is looking at the former nurse's office for a resource center to assist officers experiencing personal problems. Sheriff deputies in need of such counseling currently have to go to Southfield for such help.

He also would like to have the center operate around the clock to alleviate the overtime local police departments incur in sending officers to training schools.

AND IF that isn't enough to keep him thinking, he is considering putting in a studio at the school to produce training films that could be transmitted to local police departments via satellite or cable hookups.

"Hopefully, we can make this wing of the school a criminal justice center, but that's going to take time

BILL BRESLER

Ten weeks down and three weeks to go. That's how much longer a group of 38 sheriff's deputies and police recruits have until they graduate from a state-certified training program, offered by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, in a wing of the former Cherry Hill High School in Inkster. The department is renting a classroom and office space at the school from the Wayne-Westland Community Schools and is looking at expanding to make it the "home" for all of its training programs.

and money," Shannon said. "They're long-range plans, but when you walk down the hall you can see everything is here to do it."

No county funds are expended for the center. The state, Shannon said, provides a set amount of funding for each student which more than covers the cost of the training sessions. He estimates the current 13-week session, which ends in February, will produce $45,000 in state money, enough to pay the bills and purchase supplies to get ready for the next session in March.

"Once the word gets out, people will start coming in," Shannon added. "It's a nice, clean facility."

Student needs get top priority in SC's master plan

By Rebecca Haynes
staff writer

Schoolcraft College's board of trustees are considering long-range goals and the possibilities present formidable challenges.

Among the subjects being considered: Additional classroom space, improving the school's image, better career counseling and student advising and the addition of laser optics and criminal justice programs.

The board is working on the school's three-year master plan. It has taken into consideration the "wish lists" of the department heads. From these, the board will determine which goals will be pursued immediately and will formulate a plan of action.

"It's really a long-range planning process," said trustee Harry G. Greenleaf. "We're working with lots of options but the majority are related to addressing the needs of the students."

Barbara Geil, vice president of student services, talked to the board at its Wednesday work session about the importance of student success.

"STUDENT SUCCESS is institutional success," she said. "We have the student as a consumer and the student as a product."

Geil said some of the college's most important student services are hidden away on campus. She cited a need for consolidation of these services under one roof.

Putting the college newspaper back into operation was another of her goals. Trustees agreed, citing this as an immediate need to help boost Schoolcraft's image.

Another goal is the development of contacting local high school counselors and keep in touch with prospective students," said board chairman Michael W. Burley. "I'd like to see the newspaper up and running in the next year."

Adelard H. Raby, vice president for business services, suggested a list of goals should include:

Additional classroom space, replacement of the houses on Haggerty Road, renovations to the auto and machine shops and the Radcliff Center bookstore and student services offices, and the installation of a new fire alarm system.

"OUR FOCUS is really the capital needs of the college," he said. "We need to explore financing plans and determine how we can best meet our financial needs."

Greenleaf stressed the importance of board participation in the prioritizing process.

"We need to constantly be aware of the college's mission statement and continue to strengthen our instructional programs," he said. "We also must continue to participate in the economic development of the area and be involved in community outreach to business and industry."

Improving quality of instruction is a continual goal, said Conway A. Jeffress, vice president of instruction.

"We're looking at new degree requirements which would require a greater proportion of liberal arts classes for vocational students and some skill classes required of the liberal arts students," he said. "We're also looking to make some drastic improvements (addition of equipment) in the art department."

IN ADDITION, the college is looking to phase out its climate systems and automotive programs and add programs in laser optics and corrections and criminal justice.

"With the programs we're looking to eliminate it's been a concern about the quality of the classes as well as a decrease in the number of students we've had signing up," Jeffress said. "It will be a gradual phase-out. We're always protective of the students in the system and any already in the program will be offered the classes needed to finish."

Although the trend in the past 10 years has been a shift away from the liberal arts courses to the vocational, the last three or four years has seen a reversing pattern, he said. Most of Schoolcraft's liberal arts classes are running at 100 percent occupancy, he said.

Trustee Rosina Raymond said

there a lot of things to keep in perspective during these goal-setting sessions.

"You really have to keep in the back of your mind what the founders of this institution wanted," she said. "You try to adhere to an open door policy. We are a community college and we belong to the people. We always like to hear from them."

KNEE PAIN BUT NO SWELLING

Swelling of the knee followed by knee pain and a limping gait, is a familiar occurrence to someone with arthritis. The relationship results because fluid fills the knee joint to the point of stretching the capsule, and distending the capsule causes the knee to react with pain.

But at another time, the same person may have an aching knee and difficulty walking and not have any accompanying swelling. What then is the cause of the pain?

The knee contains a number of structures which if exposed for a prolonged period to inflammation will react as if injured in an automobile or football accident. Special cartilages, the menisci, are often frayed. The ligaments along the edge, and within the joint may be stretched and torn.

Treatment for knee pain is the same as for knee swelling. The first line of defense is anti-inflammatory medication, such as aspirin, to reduce the irritation. Second is injection of steroid into the affected joint, both to accelerate the healing process and to provide the individual with immediate relief of pain.

WINNERS CIRCLE

BY LAURIE KIPP

MPL

Along with other state agencies, the Michigan Lottery's fiscal year ended in September. The following summarizes the latest record-breaking year in responding to various questions.

Q: What are annual sales for the Michigan Lottery?
A: Last year sales from all Lottery games were more than $996 million, which represented a 12.6 percent gain from the previous year.

Q: How much did players win last year?
A: Prizes paid to winners exceeded $480 million, up 12.6 percent from the previous year.

Q: Does the State make money on funds used for 20-year prizes?
A: No. For each $1 million prize paid over 20 years, the Lottery invests approximately half that amount. All the principal and all of the interest combine to pay the full prize to the winner. This system helps increase the amount of prize money that can be won in a given year.

Q: How much did the Lottery provide for schools last year?
A: With all net revenues from the Lottery earmarked for the State School Aid Fund, last year's contribution grew just $11 million, or about 22 percent of the total fund.

Q: How is this money distributed?
A: All money in the School Aid Fund is disbursed according to the State School Aid Formula which was developed by the Legislature. To maintain the same level of support to schools without Lottery funds would have required another $130 per Michigan household last year.

Q: How many Lottery millionaires were created last year?
A: There were 91 players or Lottery Clubs winning prizes of $1 million or more during the year. Included was the second highest award $10 million ever won by an individual in the Michigan Lottery.

Q: How many cash prizes were awarded?
A: More than 17 million cash prizes were won during the year, the equivalent of nearly two for every resident of the state.

Q: Didn't you announce record payouts in one of the daily games?
A: Actually, record payouts were recorded for both daily games. The June 10 payout of nearly $5 million in the Daily 3 was equal to 499 percent of the amount played in that day's game. The record-setting 386 percent payout in the Daily 4 on November 4, 1985, already has been broken with a 668 percent payout on October 15 of this year.

HOW HEALTHY ARE YOU?

People under chiropractic care know the answer. They know that health is when all systems of the body are functioning all the time.

They also know that the function of the brain and nerve system is to coordinate and control all body function. That's why they come in for spinal adjustments. The adjustment they receive is to realign vertebrae which are out of place, which, in turn, interfere with the function of the nerve system.

Scientific research indicated that interference to the nerve system caused cells of the body to work improperly. This sets up disease, which leads to sickness and early death.

Chiropractic care focuses on the removal of the cause of poor health by removing interference to the nerve system.

If you are tired of being sick, we suggest you call us and ask for an opportunity to regain your health.

Life is God's gift to you, what you do with that life is your gift to God.

Lobby group picks officers

New officers have been elected for a suburban lobbying group of northwest Wayne County communities.

Mayer Charles Griffin of Westland was elected chairman of the Conference of Western Wayne for a one-year term and Mayor Vincent Fordell of Garden City was elected vice chairman.

The organization is made up of 17 communities that lobby for state grants and share information, said Griffin in an interview Friday.

Besides Westland and Garden City, the organization also includes the cities of Livonia and Plymouth and the townships of Plymouth, Redford and Canton.

Griffin, starting his second year as mayor, succeeds Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen who served two years as chairman.

Griffin said the group's major goals for this year are to implement an improved 911 emergency telephone system and to increase the organization's visibility and credibility among state legislators and Wayne County commissioners. Griffin has negotiated for transportation employees and teachers in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

CWW WILL also work more closely with the city of Detroit, newly elected county executive Edward McNamara and the Downriver Conference (made of southwest Wayne County cities) to encourage more cooperation among projects and to get a larger share of state grants.

The CWW was formally organized nearly 10 years ago with then-mayor Thomas Taylor of Westland instrumental in writing its first by-laws and serving as chairman.

The group operated on an informal basis for the previous five years to encourage more cooperation and joint information-sharing among its members.

Other new CWW officers elected for this year are Romulus Mayor Beverly McNally, secretary, and Van Buren Township Supervisor Lyane Hamilton, treasurer.

THE CWW has its staff, headed by director Ann Bollen, housed in an office at 13325 Farmington Road near Five Mile in Livonia.

Griffin said the conference's major overall purpose is to share information at all governmental levels, such as training programs for personnel and finance directors, and to serve as a "joint voice" in Lansing for state grant requests and with county officials in Detroit.

Board hikes home charges

By Doug Funke
staff writer

New home buyers in Plymouth Township probably will pay more for property with the boosting of pre-construction water and sewer benefit fees to developers.

Those fees, likely to be passed on from developer to builder to buyer, were raised last week by the township board from $1 to $15 per front lot foot for water service and from $2 to $30 per front foot for sewage service.

"The township at the present time is using benefit fees to offset operating costs," said Thomas Hollis, superintendent of the public services department.

"It's used to offset water and sewer increases. A portion of that money is used to extend water and sewer utilities when necessary."

Benefit fees are separate from tap-in, connector fees.

The township anticipates extension work with an estimated price tag of $6.2 million to hook into Ypsilanti's sewer system in lieu of getting involved with Wayne County's Son of Supersewer.

necessary money might come from benefit fees, Hollis said.

"We want developers to know our sewers are at the maximum, and it's going to cost a lot of money to provide future services."

The increase will also bring the township's benefit fees more in line with those of other municipalities in the metropolitan area.

Hollis estimated that increased benefit fees would add an average of $450 to the cost of lots in a residential development of 100 acres.

The township realized nearly $290,000 in benefit fees last year. Development of 290 lots with the new fees would bring about $1.5 million, Hollis speculated.

The township board last week also revised its water and sewer ordinance to require the installation of water conservation toilets, showers, where appropriate, and faucets in all new structures including houses.

The purpose is to cut back on excess flow charges assessed the township for treatment of wastewater, Hollis said. Individual consumers also would directly benefit from water and sewage conservation measures.

Those who already own houses in the township wouldn't be affected unless they make alterations that require plumbing permits.

Service group buys school

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Youth Living Centers, a suburban youth services organization, will finally be able to consolidate its administrative offices and programs under one roof.

The Wayne-Westland Board of Education Monday night accepted an offer from YLC to buy the vacant Harrison School in Inkster for $225,000.

The board voted 6-0, with board secretary Kenneth Barnhill abstaining, to accept the offer.

The approval ends a more than yearlong quest by YLC to find a facility to serve as its administrative offices and to provide non-residential community service programs.

YLC looked at the former Tinkham and Washington Schools in Westland and a church fellowship hall in Wayne as well as the former Marquette School in Garden City to consolidate its program, currently housed in separate locations in the Inkster Road-Avondale area of Inkster.

Last year it lost out to Arbor Drugs in its bid to buy the Washington School property and was prevented from seriously negotiating with the Garden City School District for Marquette School when city officials gained the impression that the facility would be used to house up to 700 runaway youths.

THE PROBLEM was alluded to by board president Mathew McCusker, who described it as "a hassle with a school district to the east."

YLC will make a down payment of $25,000 and make annual payments of at least $26,300 as part of the five-year, 10 percent interest rate land contract.

Thomas Svitkovich, associate superintendent for communications and finance, said YLC's monthly payments won't be enough to pay off the $225,000 over the five years so additional payments on the principal will be necessary.

Wayne-Westland School District

The district serves southeast Canton.

YLC will have to obtain zoning changes and variances to allow the school property to be used for its offices prior to the closing. Svitkovich told the board that he believes there will be no problem in getting the changes.

"INKSTER city officials are excited about this, and I don't believe there will be a problem with the zoning," he said.

The sale was well received by the school board, including Barnhill, who is a consultant for YLC and serves as its Youth Enterprises director.

Barnhill, in a prepared statement that he asked be included in the board minutes, told the board that because of his (financial) involvement with YLC he would abstain from voting on the agreement.

He also stressed that he had no ownership or interest in YLC but cited his close involvement in the sale as his reason for abstaining.

"I FEEL it's not a conflict of interest to vote on this issue, but because I was closely involved in this, I will abstain," he said.

School Superintendent Dennis O'Neill agreed that Barnhill's vote wouldn't be a conflict and lauded him for his work in helping to sell the property.

"The best interests of the school district were served with his involvement in this," O'Neill said. "We've been trying to sell it, but there's been little interest in it."

Police to charge 2 boys after barn fire

Canton Police are expected to charge two boys with starting a barn fire causing about $4,500 worth of damage Jan. 13 on Ford Road west of Lilley.

No one was injured by the fire, which was spotted by Canton Police at 5:35 p.m.

Fire officials at the scene noticed footprints leading away from the abandoned barn to a house on Lilley Road, which is the home of a 14-year-old boy suspected in the case, said Canton Police information officer Dave Boljesic. A 13-year-old suspect lives on Aberdeen.

The boys were brought into the police station for questioning with their parents present and admitted to causing the fire, Boljesic said.

They claimed they were playing with a lighter igniting small things and stomping it out. Canton Police will petition the Wayne County Juvenile Court to file arson charges.

The barn contained an old sofa, car parts and a bar table, the police report said.

The boys were released to their parents pending further investigation.

Plymouth 70 years ago—residential lots for $150

(Part 3)

Seventy years ago, on March 3, 1916, when the Plymouth Mail published its special "Booster Edition," the president of the village was Louis Hillmer, a lifelong resident. A photo of Hillmer, serving his sixth term as president, shows a man with deep-set eyes, a straight slender nose, and flowing handlebar mustache.

He wore one of the high neck-throating collars of the period. His vest and jacket were cut high, revealing little of the slender tie with small knot that did little to fill the space between the collar tabs.

Hillmer was the man who had encouraged the ill-fated Alter Motor Car Co. to begin production here in 1914, having given the firm free title to a piece of his property on Farmer Street on which to build their plant.

LOUIS HILLMER was one of a number of real estate developers and agents in the town.

His advertisement in the Mail offered lots in the Starkweather Estate established at the north end of town at an earlier period by his father-in-law, George Starkweather. The lots were equipped with gas mains, drains and sewers, city water, and electric lights, and were convenient to churches and schools. At the time the ad ran, 10 houses were being built on the estate and five others were planned.

Also in the real estate business in Plymouth in 1916 was Mrs. E.L. Riggs who had offices at the Riggs clothing store and at 75 Penniman Ave. She had the agency for the Lake Highlands Co. of Florida.

A real estate business at the north end, at 90 Starkweather Ave., was conducted by E.N. Passage. Passage offered 50-by-120-foot lots in the Auburn addition to Plymouth Heights, at the northwestern edge of the village. "High and dry, overlooking the village from a most favorable viewpoint," the property was owned by Oliver Goldsmith.

Passage had occupied an office with attorney George Starkweather before the latter's death and had picked up a knowledge of probating estates. He also loaned money and prided himself on never having lost a dollar or had a foreclosure during the 15 years he had been in business. As to that high and dry point overlooking the village, I have looked past and present

around several times and have still to find it.

R.G. Samsen had a real estate advertisement in the Mail offering Lewis-built homes, of the bungalow type, at prices ranging from $786 to $1,244. A representative of the Lewis Manufacturing Co. of Bay City, producers of ready-cut houses, Samsen was serving his first term as township clerk and had been township treasurer for the preceding two years.

Roy Parrott was operating a real estate business from his residence on Church Street. His photo, accompanying an article he wrote for the paper, shows a man with a receding hairline and clean-shaven face with an aquiline nose supporting small, round, steel-rimmed spectacles. Parrott's ad said he would buy, sell, lease or manage property in any part of the United States and could sell as easily in Maine and California as in Michigan.

Parrott's article, entitled "Plymouth as a Residential City," declared that, with the possible exception of Detroit, no town nearby had seen such development in the preceding 10 years as had the village of Plymouth. He spoke of the town's broad, clean dust-free streets; its magnificent, overhanging shade trees; its six beautiful parks; and its unexcelled school system. There were no saloons in the village; the residents, by public ballot, had done away with them.

THERE WAS excellent train and interurban trolley service, and one of the best municipally owned electric light plants that money and good management could provide.

Plymouth's "pure crystal spring water," from the city-owned Northrop Springs four miles northwest of the town, was known "far and near for its purity and temperature."

A number of new subdivisions had been opened recently, including the Starkweather, Auburn Heights and Elm Heights tracts. Real estate developers are mesmerized by the term "heights," prompting heights to spring up in some of the flattest parts of the country.

William A. Blunk advertised the Blunk subdivision whose lots were only three blocks from the post office and only two blocks from schools, churches, the interurban car line and the Opera House in Village Hall on Main Street. There were choice lots still available on Blunk Avenue and Ann Street.

An article in the Mail noted that Blunk had sold his farm south of town, in 1911, and bought a part of the Penniman farm from Kate Penniman Allen. He had platted the property into village lots and had built 27 homes, some of which he sold, some rented.

Perhaps profiting from Blunk's example, Kate Allen herself had built an addition on her extensive acreage and a number of lots were being sold at liberal terms. Kate's agent was Dewey Berdan, who had been a bit of a cut-up in school but was apparently on his way to business success by 1916. Berdan's half-page advertisement offered 80 lots in "Kate E. Allen's addition to Plymouth" on the basis of $10 down and $1 per week. There was no interest charge, no taxes to be paid, and no payments to be made during sickness. Lots were selling at $150 to $200, with 10 percent discount for cash.

The lots were located between Church Street and Junction Avenue, facing Harvey Avenue and Adams Street. They had sewer and gas, electricity and water. A small payment each week could put you on the road to a home of your own.

One can only speculate on how many who read the ad thought Dewey was asking too much for lots so far from Kellogg Park.

NOT EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY.

Take a look at your own pet. Can you picture him cold and starving? Or abused. Or worse.

It's an awful picture. Yet it's one that thousands of animals are forced to live every day.

We at the Michigan Humane Society are putting a stop to that. But we need your help.

We offer more than just shelter to lost and abused animals. We provide them with the medical attention and love they so desperately need. And we have a legal branch that investigates and prosecutes cruelty cases. But it takes money to continue this work. Please help.

Give to the Michigan Humane Society.

Why some types of wood cost more

Q. Why are there such price differences in fireplace wood?

A. Wood continues to increase in popularity as a complementary fuel source despite its increase in price over the past few years.

Four characteristics that will affect the price of firewood: the amount of wood, the species (types), the moisture content and the degree of preparation.

Wood is sold in standard units of measure. A full cord measures eight feet long, four feet wide and four feet high or 128 cubic feet.

County OKs fee hike for gun permit

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has increased the concealed weapon permit fee to $40 from the previous amount of $10. The fee is intended to cover the additional costs of the services provided by the county clerk, sheriff, and prosecuting attorney to process, investigate, and issue a concealed weapon permit.

The increase will affect all concealed weapon permits approved after Jan. 1.

Wayne County Clerk, James R. Killeen, said the move is apparently designed to increase revenues. "The Wayne County general fund will now receive $38 for every permit issued, whereas previously only $8 would go to the general fund."

Killeen believes the fee increase is not meant to in any way affect the number of concealed weapons sold in Wayne County.

"A $30 increase in the fee should not deter or dissuade anyone from purchasing a concealed weapon if they have a legitimate need for one," he said.

Under the law, anyone caught carrying a concealed weapon without a valid permit could be subject to fines and time in jail.

For more information contact Killeen at 224-6262.

DNR eyeing rails for trails

AP — The state wants to turn back the clock and replace a thousand miles of abandoned railroad corridors with trails for horseback riding and hiking, an official said.

Plans for the Discover Michigan Trail, which would link cities along the coasts of both peninsulas, were drawn up last year, said Robert Tyler, trails coordinator for the state Department of Natural Resources.

Officials had hoped to complete the 1,000-mile trail by 1997, but problems with gaining title to tracks have delayed the project, he said.

Another site under consideration is between Jackson and Lakeland, in Jackson and Washtenaw counties.

"I think we will be somewhat successful," Tyler said. "But we will need a lot of support from a lot of people."

ONE STATEWIDE group offering its support is Michigan Trails Alliance, a coalition of trails organizations.

"It's a challenge," Alliance president Judy Class said of piecing together the trail. "I say to myself, I want to ride my horse that entire trail. It may take me 10 years, but eventually I'll do it."

The trail, a Michigan Sesquicentennial project, would add to 7,310 miles of trails the state operates through its forests and parks, including 4,200 miles just for snowmobiles, Tyler said.

ABOUT 2,000 miles of rail lines have been abandoned in Michigan since 1970, and another 387 miles may become available in the next three years, according to the state Department of Transportation.

But the state has acquired only 200 miles so far, all in the Upper Peninsula, Tyler said.

The DNR is close to acquiring the 30 miles of track between Jackson and Lakeland and another 30 miles between Kalamazoo and South Haven, he said.

Money to purchase the corridors would come mostly from the state Natural Resources Trust Fund, which uses money earned from the sale of state mineral rights, Tyler said.

THE STATE has first shot at acquiring an abandoned railroad track, and it must pay the railroad the appraised value for the property, but that's the easy part, Tyler said.

Complex land titles often make it next to impossible for the state to purchase the land, and adjacent property owners usually want the abandoned land for themselves, he said.

Once the trail is developed, DNR Director Gordon E. Guyer said he would like to turn the project over to a private management company. Those using the trails would pay a fee to cover the cost of maintenance.

A face cord is eight feet long, four feet high and as wide as the length of the cut wood, 12 to 24 inches being usual or approximately one-third of a full cord.

A "truck load" is a vague term depending on the size of the truck bed.

THE MOST important species characteristic of wood is its heating value. Certain species (types) of wood are denser and, when burned, give off more heat.

Most wood dealers do not take the time to grade wood. It's usually cut and stacked as it falls. Learn to recognize the types of wood by the bark, so you can determine the value of the wood.

Wood can be bought "green" or "seasoned," depending on the moisture content. Seasoned or dry wood starts to burn more easily and gives

consumer mailbag

off more heat, so it is preferred. Green wood has not been aged before cutting and usually has a "hissing" sound when burned.

PREPARING WOOD is hard work, and the price will reflect how much of the work you're willing to do yourself.

If you want to have finely split pieces stacked near your doorstep, expect to pay a premium price. If you want to go the cheapest route, cut the wood yourself from free-standing trees. Wood can be bought in any stage between these two extremes.

Finally, the price reflects all of the above characteristics. A difference in any one characteristic will affect the price.

Wood is a favorite source of fuel because of its heating capabilities as well as the psychological lift it generates. It will never replace the more dominant sources of power, but it is a pleasant complement on a cold, snowy night!

With that thought in mind, let me wish all of you a very safe, happy and healthy holiday season from everyone at Concern.

ECO-TIP: for a successful, sure-start fire, try this Girl Scout trick: When arranging your kindling on the grate, add three or four "Candle Kisses." Then arrange your wood as usual.

Lowest home mortgage interest rates in eight years!

It's a great time to buy a house.

At Standard Federal, we're offering 15-year and 30-year fixed rate loans at very attractive interest rates.

The interest rates shown on the chart are based on the payment of a 2% loan discount fee. You can obtain an even lower rate by paying a higher loan discount fee.

By acting now, you can take advantage of our competitive inter-

15-YEAR FIXED RATE LOAN	9.25%	annual interest rate
	9.76%	annual percentage rate (APR)*
30-YEAR FIXED RATE LOAN	9.75%	annual interest rate
	10.10%	annual percentage rate (APR)*

est rates to purchase that new home you've always wanted.

You can apply for a new mortgage loan at any of our conveniently located branch offices. Loan approvals usually take only 3-4 weeks.

Stop by and talk to one of our mortgage counselors about a new mortgage that will be just right for you.

Or it's a great time to refinance your present mortgage.

Even if you already own a home, you can take advantage of our low mortgage interest rates by refinancing your current loan. Chances are that we can save you thousands of dollars in interest and lower your monthly payment!

Here's an example of how much someone who obtained a 30-year loan for $50,000.00 at 12% (12.41% APR) interest in September of 1985 could save by refinancing that loan with a new 15-year loan at Standard Federal today.

The homeowners in this example had monthly principal and interest payments of $514.31. If they continue to pay on that loan until it matures, they will pay an additional $127,169.18 in interest. However, by obtaining a 15-year fixed rate loan now at 9.25% (9.76% APR) they will save $84,751.84 in interest. What's more, they will be able to pay off

	Current 30-Year Loan	New 15-Year Loan
Interest rate	12% (12.41% APR)	9.25% (9.76% APR)
Unpaid Balance on $50,000 loan (as of December 1986)	$49,753.46	$49,753.46
Monthly payment	$514.31	$512.06
Interest yet to be paid	$127,169.18	$42,417.34
Last payment due	August 2015	December 2001

*All of the annual percentage rates in the above example are estimated based on a $50,000.00 loan with a down payment of at least 20%. The term of the loan and all of the normal prepaid finance charges (including a 2% loan discount fee) were taken into consideration in calculating these annual percentage rates.

their mortgage 13 years sooner, and their monthly payment on the new 15-year loan will actually be $2.25 less than the payment on their old 30-year loan.

If these same homeowners wanted to reduce their monthly principal and interest payments even more, they could obtain a 30-year loan from Standard Federal at 9.75% (10.10% APR). In this case, they would reduce their monthly payments by $86.85 and still save $23,037.04 in interest over the remaining term of their new loan.

The interest rates shown above are subject to change. So, now is the time! Stop in at any Standard Federal office and talk to one of our mortgage counselors to see just how much you can save.

Matt Littleton sparked Canton's 58-43 win against Harrison Friday night with a 13-point effort off the bench. BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

On top Feisty Chiefs pace division

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Alley cats. Plymouth Canton plays basketball like a bunch of hungry alley cats. The Chiefs are small, quick and mean. They seem to swarm the court. You think you have a lane to the basket. Suddenly, there's a Chief ballhawking you. You pick up your dribble anywhere on the court and it's an instant trap. Should you hurt them in some way, make them mad, they come back at you twice as strong. Regardless of how far you think you have them down, they never quit battling.

That was the type of game the Chiefs played Friday night against Farmington Harrison. The result was a 58-43 Canton victory — a victory that put the Chiefs in first place in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"I thought we played a strong game defensively," said Canton coach Tom Niemi. "We used our press very effectively. We used it against Dearborn Tuesday and it worked well for us then, too. We will continue to use it. It's quite complicated and it took time to develop. But they are playing it well now."

THE CHIEFS forced 12 turnovers in the first half and bolted to a 28-18 lead. The badgered Harrison shooters hit 6-of-19 from the floor and 6-of-13 from the foul line in the first half.

"Where we lost this game was when we missed all those free throws in the first half," said Harrison coach Mike Teachman. "We weren't able to hit our shots inside, either, but then it's hard when you are getting hit. Give Canton credit, though, they made their shots when they had to and their press gave us trouble early when we kept dribbling into the corners."

One of the hazards of Canton's hell-bent defensive play was a proclivity to commit fouls. The Chiefs were whistled for 24 fouls on the night. Three starters — Tyrone Reeves, Roger Trice and Jeff Anulewicz — fouled out.

Harrison couldn't take full advantage of that situation for two reasons. No. 1, the Hawks made only 13 of 23 foul shots in the game and many of the misses were front ends of one-and-one opportunities. No. 2, Canton got tremendous play from its second unit.

"Roger and Jeff played despite being sick with the flu. Then three of them went down with fouls. But our bench just did an excellent job. They played a real unselfish game. I'm real proud of the way those kids played. They played to win," Niemi said.

Matt Littleton and Brad Carey were the standouts off the bench. Littleton shared game-high scoring honors with Reeves, each with 13 points. Carey added seven points.

THE HAWKS made one serious run at the Chiefs late in the third quarter. With 6-8 center Brad Ridgeway doing a large share of the work, Harrison ran off a 13-4 spurt in the final minutes of the third and first minute of the fourth quarter. A steal and basket by Ridgeway and two free throws by Scott Bissell drew the Hawks within three, 38-35, with 6:31 left to play.

Many teams would have folded at that point. Alley cats, however, don't fold.

Littleton calmly answered Bissell's free throws with a 15-foot jumper. Reeves forced a turnover and made a nifty pass to Trice for a layup. After a Hawk misfire, Littleton drained another short jumper. Another Harrison miss was followed by a Reeves basket.

One minute and 20 seconds after Harrison pulled within three, Canton spread the margin back to 11, 46-35. Ballgame, even though Reeves and Trice fouled out soon after that surge.

RIDGWAY AND Chad Burgess scored 11 each to pace Harrison.

Ridgeway also had seven blocks and four steals.

Roger Trice, who at 6-0 is Canton's most effective inside player, added 10 points. Brian Paupore, another starter slowed by the flu, added eight points.

Referees Ken Dersey and George Heger called 42 personal fouls and two technical fouls (both on Harrison's Gary Schwedt). Teachman, though careful not to detract from Canton's effort, was not pleased with the work of the two officials.

"It was not only what they called, it was what they didn't call," said the veteran coach. "In my opinion, these were not varsity-caliber refs."

The loss leaves the Hawks with a 3-3 league record and a 4-4 overall mark. Canton is 4-2 in the league, 5-4 overall.

Salem cruises

It was a classic basketball confrontation Friday at North Farmington. Big men vs. little men, inside power vs. outside finesse.

Not that North was without an inside game, what with Rick Karcher and Chuck Howard, both 6-foot-5. But against Plymouth Salem's Mike Hale (6-5), Rick Taylor (6-7) and Dave Collins (6-8), well, let's just say the outside shot was far more attractive.

But as usually happens in such showdowns, it's the big men who rule. They did at North, as Salem pulled away to a 61-46 Western Lakes' triumph. The win pushed the Rocks' record to 6-0 in the league, same as Westland John Glenn (a 78-63 victor at Walled Lake Central Friday). The two teams will meet Friday at Salem.

Ruggiero is thinner and shot-shy, but she's still the on-court general

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

TOM WILLIAMS was there. He coached her in middle school.

Larry Baker and Mike King were there, too. They coached her in high school.

Heck, everybody was there. It was like old-home week. Her mom and dad, other relatives, a whole bunch of her friends from high school — quite a reunion. They filled up a section of bleachers at University of Detroit's Calihan Hall Wednesday.

One wise guy cracked: "U-D should schedule Colorado State every year — this is the biggest crowd of the season."

The attraction: Annette Ruggiero. The former All-Area, all-state point guard from Plymouth and Farmington Hills Mercy High School is now in her second year with the Colorado State women's basketball team.

"It would have been a lot nicer if we won," Ruggiero said. "But it was great. I was so surprised to see all those people. It was like old times."

HER TEAM put up a valiant effort against the heavily favored Titans — a team that features a couple of Ruggiero's old pals, Terri Ford from Mercy and Amy Austin from North Farmington. Colorado State fought from behind all night and eventually took a four-point lead with less than five minutes to play. But U-D overpowered CSU in the final minutes to escape with a 60-55 win.

It was a good-bad night for Ruggiero. She played hard and played well, but her team lost.

Good-bad. Typical of her two years at Colorado State. On the surface — a 4.0 grade point average and starting role on the basketball team — it seems life is too easy for Ruggiero. Beneath the surface, hidden by her accomplishments and amiability, are many arduous and anxious moments.

Ruggiero, typically, didn't disappoint anyone (except maybe herself) with her performance Wednesday. She still wears the French braids in her hair and the intense, almost ferocious expression on her face — her trademarks at Mercy. She is still the floor general, taking charge at both ends of the floor.

An assistant in the CSU Sports Information Department said this about Ruggiero: "She doesn't roll up a lot of big numbers, but the coach (Brian Berger) said the team would fall apart if she wasn't out there."

Does that sound like the Annette Ruggiero we knew at Mercy, or what?

CLEARLY, THOUGH, it is not the same Annette Ruggiero. For starters, she has lost some 20 pounds since the summer. She was always a small point guard; now she looks tiny.

Annette Ruggiero
CSU point guard

"I was trying to lose some weight," Ruggiero said. "I had gained like 10 pounds since last year. I lost like eight pounds, then I started getting real busy with school and basketball and everything. I didn't expect to lose that much."

"But I feel like I'm in the best shape of my life. The coach really works us hard. Plus, we only have nine players so there are a lot of times when I have to play 40 minutes (like Wednesday night). It's hard to tell if the weight loss has anything to do with endurance. But I feel good."

There is something different about her game, too. She didn't shoot the ball a lot at Mercy, but she was never afraid to put it up. Watching her play Wednesday, one could sense Ruggiero's reluctance to shoot. She put up just three shots: she missed one, made one and had one blocked.

"I am supposed to be shooting more," she said. "I have heard a lot about that. I think the coach is starting to accept the fact that I'm not shooting guard. But he wants me to put it up more."

"I know I have to look for the shot more. Right now my teammates don't expect me to shoot so they don't really look for me on the court. But if I started shooting more, they would start looking for me — the whole thing would kind of snowball."

THE ISSUE is causing some anxious moments for both Ruggiero and Berger. Berger, in his first year with CSU, has more or less told Ruggiero to shoot it or sit.

"He said that when the league season started the team was going to need someone in there who was willing to shoot the ball. He said if I wasn't willing to do that, he would find someone who was. He said he doesn't care about my percentage. He just wants me to shoot. My shooting percentage has been horrible lately (25 percent after 12 games)," Ruggiero said.

It's an adjustment that Ruggiero knows she has to make. She'll make it. She has had to make several adjustments since arriving at Fort Collins, Colo.

She played on four straight winning teams at Mercy. In her first year at CSU the team lost 21 games — far more than Ruggiero had ever lost in high school.

"It was just miserable," Ruggiero said. "There were a lot of team problems. It's a lot better this year. Last year, there were a lot of girls who didn't get along with the coach. There was a lot of backstabbing. This year, everybody gets along great."

WITH A NEW coach, Berger, came renewed hope for the CSU program. It also fostered serious concern among the returning players.

"At the start of this year we worked out with the assistant coach. We didn't meet the new coach until practice started. When he showed up we were all so scared. He's a real tough guy, a real disciplinarian. I like that, it makes me a better player, but he scared us to death," Ruggiero said.

"We kind of felt like, well, he didn't recruit us so he might not think we are any good. It was scary for a while. I had to really work to earn my spot. I heard stuff that he said about me. He kind of thought I was overweight. I don't think he thought I was good enough. That really motivated me. I figured I just had to prove to him that I could play."

See, it hasn't exactly been a cakewalk for Ruggiero. But then Ruggiero has always been one to respond to a challenge. Going out to Fort Collins was an immense challenge. She could have made it easier on herself by going to Western Michigan (which had a keen interest in her services) and staying fairly close to home. She was well known in Michigan. Nobody ever heard of Annette Ruggiero in Colorado. She virtually had to start from scratch.

"I know now that I made the right choice," she said. "I was so close to going to Western. But after coming home now, I realize Western was just too close to home. It is really exciting to come home now. Going away forced me to be independent."

HER NEXT challenge is to help CSU build a winning basketball program.

"Turning it around here is very important to me," she said. "We're close right now. We're missing just a little something. We haven't won enough yet to really know how to win."

Who better to teach someone how to win than Annette Ruggiero?

Canton stops losing skid; Rocks pummel Northville

Ah, yes. The Plymouth Canton boys swim team entered the win column for the first time this season Thursday upsetting Westland John Glenn 95-77.

swimming

"Just a great job by our kids," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "We had a long talk after Tuesday (a 127-45 loss to Livonia Stevenson). I let them know I wasn't pleased. They came out fired up tonight. It's been a long time coming and there was a lot of hooting and hollering going on afterwards."

Schwinn, Frank Wisniewski and Tom Hone on a 3:34.9.

Jim Walker won the 50 free (24.5) and Dean Roberts won the 100 backstroke (59.96).

The Chiefs are 1-5 on the season, Glenn is 3-1.

Mike Helmstadter was the team's top point producer. He won the 200-yard freestyle (1:56.8) and the 500 freestyle (5:23.2). He also swam the first leg of the victorious 400 freestyle relay. He teamed with Steve PLYMOUTH SALEM had an easy time with Northville Thursday, winning 124-47.

The best races were Salem vs. Salem. Like in the 200 medley relay. David Miller, Geoff Taylor, Phil

Bocketti and Mike Hill swam a 1:47.5. Don Harwood, Ron Orris, Doug Soho and John Kim were right on their heels in 1:48.0.

In the 100 free, John Irvine (52.5) edged teammate Mike Hill (52.9). In the 100 breaststroke, Taylor (1:08.0) nipped John Hobgood (1:09.1).

David Miller was a double winner, taking both the 200 individual medley (2:16.7) and the 100 backstroke (59.9).

Other winners for Salem were Jeff Musson in the 200 free (1:58.5), Kevin Tunich in diving (219.15) and Eric Bunch in the 500 free (5:21.4).

Bocketti, Harwood, Soho and Orris won the free relay in 3:29.1.

The Rocks are 2-1 overall and 2-0 in the Western Lakes.

RICK SMITH

Denice Tackett was named the team's most valuable player Wednesday after her Salem team defeated rival Plymouth Canton.

Rocks spike Chiefs

Plymouth Salem's first volleyball win of the season came at the expense of their chief rivals, the Plymouth Canton Chiefs.

The Rocks used some well-placed serves and a lot of gritty defense to bury Canton 15-7, 15-7 Wednesday night.

"We played much better defense," said Salem coach Betty Smith. "Plymouth Canton is a very scrappy team. I was pleasantly surprised. It's good to see Canton playing better."

Salem scored 13 of its 30 points off ace serves. Jessica Handley and Kara Cummings had three aces apiece.

The Salem players voted Denice Tackett the player of the game.

She was successful on 20 of 26 attacks with eight kills. She also blasted home two ace serves.

"She is very aggressive on the back row," Smith said. "If it's near her, she goes after it. That's what you need."

Aimee Hayden, Jane Klaes, Handley and Cummings also had strong efforts for the Rocks.

IF CANTON were to pick a most valuable player, it probably would have been senior Stephanie Knowl-son. She was the Chiefs' most effective weapon at the net.

"All of a sudden, she just slammed one to the floor," Smith said. "It was like, 'Wow, where did she come from.' She is really a strong hitter."

Said Canton coach Allie Suffety: "Salem's quickness beat us pretty bad. Stephanie had a good night attacking, though."

The Rocks (1-2) will host Walled Lake Central Monday.

"We've had some good practices," Smith said. "We seem to be on a high now. I hope it continues."

Canton (0-3) will travel to Walled Lake Western.

Nothing went exactly according to plan Wednesday night at Oakland Community College.

Except maybe that OCC won, as expected, over a Schoolcraft College team that Raider coach Lynn Reed admitted "surprised me."

The score, though, was indicative of the kind of game it was: 112-103, with the deeper OCC team able to outrun and outshoot their SC rivals.

"Instead of trying to defend people, we're trying to outscore people," said SC coach Bob Wetzel. "We couldn't control the tempo, either, and you have to control it against a team like this."

CONTROL WAS a concept both teams chose to ignore. So was defense and patience and simple things like looking for a good shot. In this game, any shot was a good one.

OCC, now 12-6 overall and 4-3 in the Eastern Conference, was the favorite coming in, only because SC dropped six players because of poor grades and picked up five others two weeks ago. The Raiders started out to fulfill that prophesy, scoring the game's first eight points and rolling to a 14-5 lead in the game's first four minutes.

But if anything was evident by the middle of the opening half, it was that no team would dominate. SC answered OCC's surge with one of its own, scoring 10 straight points to go up 15-14.

THE RAIDERS reassumed the lead quickly, and they kept it from the midpoint of the first half through the game's end. But their lead was never a sturdy one.

The reason for OCC's inability to put the Ocelots away was simple. "That was not the same team I scouted," said Reed. "We got up on them early but they adjusted well. They were very quick."

The SC team Reed scouted featured big men Aaron Brown and Don Edwards inside and Mike Simpson at guard. Those three — who accounted for 50 percent of the Ocelots' scoring and 65 percent of their rebounding — came up short in the classroom. The addition of the quicker Derrick Kearney and Les English changed the team's personality.

Still, OCC dictated the pace, which pleased their coach. "I think it's to our advantage to play an up-tempo game," he said, then added, "but we easily could have lost that game tonight."

SC'S BEST CHANCE for the upset came with 12:15 left to play. The Ocelots trailed 52-47 at the half, but four points by Derrick Kearney and three more from Bill Sweet in a 7-2 run cut SC's deficit to 71-69.

OCC missed on its possession, giving the Ocelots a chance to tie. But they threw the ball away, and the wasted opportunity ignited an 8-0 streak for OCC, giving the Raiders a 10-point lead.

Zollie Stevens, who poured in 34 points, broke the Raider string with a three-pointer, but OCC got right back on track, using three SC turnovers to score six more in a row to go up 85-72.

"Rebounding was the key thing," said Wetzel. "We talked about it and talked about it, but we just didn't do a very good job rebounding. We gave up too many put-backs."

A LOT OF those put-backs were put-ins by OCC's Sam Smith, who popped in 33 points; Reggie Anderson and Derrick Williams, who had 20 apiece; Carson Butler, who netted 18; or Jimmy Sherrell (from Avondale), who scored 12.

Joining Stevens in double-figures for SC were Kearney (21) and Desmond Steele and English (12 each).

The loss dropped the Ocelots to 5-11 overall and 3-4 in the Eastern Conference.

On Saturday (Jan. 10), OCC whipped Macomb CC 103-93 at Macomb. Smith's 26 points led the Raiders. Williams had 24, Gary Holt collected 23 and Butler scored 14. Scott Allen led Macomb with 26.

Greg Wendt surviving in CBA

By Brad Emons
staff writer

What's life like in the Continental Basketball Association?

If you have some time, former Catholic Central High School and University of Detroit star Greg Wendt can tell you all about it since joining the Pensacola (Fla.) Tornados of the CBA.

Although he's only one step away, the NBA may seem miles away for aspiring players like Wendt.

"Last year at this time I was talking to my teammate Kevin McAdoo about what we'd be doing after graduation and he asked me about the CBA and I said 'No way,'" Wendt said. "I heard a lot of horror stories about it, but it's not as bad as I thought."

Wendt turned down an offer to play pro ball in Belgium just before

people in sports

the Tornados opened training camp in mid-November.

He's satisfied with his decision, at least for the moment.

"I'VE ADJUSTED to it," he said. "There's a lot of traveling and you have to come to the realization that you're up one day and down the next. You've got to keep your emotions on an even keel because sometimes you're playing five games a week."

Wendt says he is comfortable in his Pensacola surroundings. He lives in a one-bedroom efficiency apartment at the Best Western Hotel on North Davis Highway. The northern Florida climate also is nicer than Michigan at this time of year and the team flies to most of its destinations around the CBA.

"It's not a place where I'd want to make my permanent home, but I like it," Wendt said. "Other than the naval base, there's not too much here, although we play in a nice facility."

Although the Tornados are below .500, Pensacola leads the CBA in attendance, averaging nearly 4,000 per game at the 10,000-seat Civic Center.

"WE HAVEN'T BEEN doing real well, but the fans have been hanging with us," said Wendt. "I was kind of shocked because I remember going to some of the (Detroit) Spirits games at U-D and they'd be lucky to get a 100 people. I'm kind of shocked at what I've seen."

Wendt, a small forward at 6-feet-6, normally comes off the bench. He's been averaging nine points and three rebounds per game. In the season opener he hit seven of 10 shots from the floor and finished with 16 points. He scored 17 points in one quarter against Charleston (S.C.) and once grabbed eight rebounds.

"It's a lot more physical than in college," Wendt said. "And a lot of it's mental. You can't allow yourself to get emotionally into the wins and losses like you do in college. There's more energy surrounding the team when you're in college. This is much different."

Wendt often plays alongside former NBA center Marvin Webster, 33, who is trying to make a comeback after being out two years.

"MARVIN HAS ADDED a lot and he's the consummate pro," Wendt said. "He does his job every night. He's a quiet person who I've gotten to know. He's a nice guy and helps us out whenever he can."

Wendt's main goal this season is to increase his minutes on the floor and catch the eye of some NBA team.

"They're not looking for guys to come in and star," said Wendt of the NBA scouts. "They're looking for a guy who plays a role. Look at Fred Cofield (formerly of Eastern Michigan and the Knicks), he just got called up by Chicago and you realize how quick things can change."

"I just have to be patient, but I'm like everybody else (in the league). It's basketball purgatory and I want to get out of here as soon as possible."

Schoolcraft's academic policy puts coach on 'spot

QUESTION: WHAT'S a basketball coach paid to do?

- A. Coach basketballs;
- B. Coach balls into baskets;
- C. Coach people with basketballs.

If you answered A or B, you're reading the wrong section of the newspaper. Try the comics.

If you said C, congratulations. That is the correct answer. It was really a pretty easy test — unless, of course, you were foolish enough to use the Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach as a point of reference.

I wonder what Bob Wetzel thought his duties would be when he first accepted the coaching position at SC. He says now that he "knew it was going to be a tough transition year," but in the next breath he adds, "No, I didn't expect it to be this tough."

How tough is it? Last week, Wetzel got some good news and some bad news. The good news was that five players were being added to the team, including last year's star, Derrick Kearney.

The bad news was six players were lost to academics, including three of the team's top four scorers and the top three rebounders.

WHAT MAKES the dismal news hard to digest is that it doesn't have to be like this. Wetzel is faced with a difficult situation — taking over for a fairly successful, well-liked coach who was canned partly because too many of his players could not maintain their academics. Now, one semester into his tenure, Wetzel's faced with the same problem.

What's a guy to do? Well, he could look for support from his administration.

Only this administration has set a new course in athletics. In an age when most colleges envy and try to emulate athletic programs like that at the University of Michigan, SC seems determined to become the Northwestern University of the Eastern Conference.

WETZEL HAS been plopped smack into a no-win situation. SC, you see, isn't playing by the rules.

That's because the NJCAA revised its standards. Last year, a player had to maintain a 1.75 grade point average and pass 12 credits during fall semester to keep his eligibility. This year, the rule says any player eligible at the beginning of the season is eligible for the whole season.

SC's administrators won't comply. Instead, they insist on following last year's rule. They dumped Rocky Watkins, last season's coach, after five players were lost to grades. Watkins often vented his frustration privately. He established a required study table for players struggling with their grades. He got an academic coach to tutor them. But, as he found out and later said, "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink."

The assumption by the SC administration was that Watkins recruited the wrong type of players. They wanted more academically sound athletes, the kind who wouldn't embarrass the school.

CAN YOU imagine? Put yourself in Wetzel's position. A new coach in an unfamiliar recruiting area, without any established contacts with local high school coaches. His first year's success is dependent upon leftovers, players Watkins recruited. Guys like Kearney and Don Edwards and Les English and Desmond Steele and Zolzie Stevens.

SC struggled through the season's first two months. But with a squad bolstered by five new additions, Wetzel had a chance to put something positive together.

And for a new coach, that can be of utmost importance. Winning makes recruiting easy. And in this region, with Highland Park and OCC and Henry Ford all vying with SC for athletes destined to play JC ball, a new coach needs all the breaks he can muster.

The only break Wetzel got from the SC administration was a bad one.

It's going to be very difficult for SC to win in its conference under these circumstances. Watkins managed some success by luring talented city kids to the suburbs. Without that influx of talent — if Wetzel is limited to the western side of metro Detroit — wins will be rare.

I DO NOT favor athletics over academics. Understand that. Question is, should the six players SC declared academically ineligible be allowed to finish the season?

The NJCAA rules say yes. In fairness to SC officials, the players knew what would happen if they failed to make their grades. But such a clear-cut, no-messing-around decree shows little support for the athlete or student. There must be a middle ground somewhere.

Greg Wendt is one step away from the NBA — one long step. He's playing for the Pensacola Tornados in the CBA.

Rocks edge North; Eagles get victory

"It was a real good game until the last four minutes of the fourth quarter," said North coach Tom Negoshian, whose team dipped to 3-5 overall and 2-4 in the WLAA. "Then we had to do some things we didn't want to have to do. We started to put the ball up at a quicker pace."

Against rebounders like those roaming under the boards for Salem, there are few second chances. But the Raiders didn't need many in the first half, according to Rock coach Bob Brodie.

"They shot the eyes out of the bucket early," he said. "We had them shooting 55 percent in the first quarter and 72 percent in the second, and none of those were inside. They were all outside jumpers. (Kurt) Dudek did most of the damage for them. He got 14 of his 20 points in the first half."

The Raiders' shooting allowed them to stay close to Salem, trailing just 29-25 at the half and forcing Brodie to make a defensive adjustment to try and contain Dudek. The Salem coach put M.J. Ewald, a 6-3 guard, on the shorter Dudek, a move he said "was the key, right there."

Still, the Rocks led by just 44-39 entering the final quarter. Their size finally started taking its toll, however; Collins got all eight of his points in the period, and they outscored North 17-7.

Hale had 21 points for the winner. Brian Kearis got 15 and Taylor had 14. Hale's nine rebounds was high for Salem (8-1 overall), which outboarded North 28-15. Karcher chipped in 11 points for the Raiders.

STEVENSON 54, FARMINGTON 38: Livonia Stevenson started slowly but finished with a flourish, outpointing the Falcons 42-24 over the final three quarters to win going away Friday at Stevenson.

Free throws played a pivotal part in the Spartan win. They hit 14-of-21, including all seven of their chances in the fourth quarter, to two-of-five for Farmington. Rich Gregor poured in seven of his 13 points in a 17-8 Stevenson fourth quarter.

Farmington (2-6 overall, 1-5 in the WLAA) got 11 points from Ron Jones.

PLY. CHRIST. 58, LUTH. NW 54: Plymouth Christian (7-1 overall, 5-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Association) overcame an early deficit to knock off Farmington Lutheran Northwest (4-4 overall, 2-4 in the MIAC) Friday at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth.

Pat McCarthy's 22 points and Steve Windle's 10 points and eight assists topped the Eagles, who trailed 13-10 after one quarter before taking a 26-24 halftime lead. Greg Gamzow netted 22 points and Andy Lewis added 12 for Lutheran Northwest.

Raiders top 136 mark in win

North Farmington's gymnastics team had its best performance of the season Wednesday, beating Dearborn 136.35-126.2.

Kim Heller and Lucine Toroyan were the top scorers. Heller, a freshman, scored 35.7 all-around. Toroyan, a senior, notched a 35.3.

Heller placed first on vault (9.35), balance beam (8.6) and floor exercise (9.0). She was second on uneven parallel bars (8.75).

Toroyan won bars with a 9.35. She was second on beam (8.45), second on floor (8.7) and third on vault (8.8).

Kara Karhu added a second on vault (9.05), a third on beam (8.15) and a third on floor (8.65). The Raiders are 6-0.

FARMINGTON evened its record to 2-2 with a 106.8-40.5 win against short-staffed Bloomfield Hills Andover Wednesday.

Amy Frontier won beam with a 7.8. She was second on vault (8.0), second on bars (7.5) and second on floor (7.4).

Jackie Daly won vault with an 8.6. Debbie Ford won bars with a 7.7. She was third on vault (6.9) and third on floor (6.7).

Julie Lawton added a second on beam (7.4) and Jennifer Held was third on bars (5.5).

IN TODAY'S JOB MARKET EMPLOYERS WANT MORE THAN THE SAME OLD B.S.

Every year, over a million new college graduates put on their new blue suits and go job hunting. All of them have degrees. Most of them have hearty handshakes. But very few have what employers want most — practical work experience. That's why there's a nationwide program called Cooperative Education. It allows students to alternate studies at the college of their choice with paid, practical work experience in the career of their choice. So Co-op Education students graduate with more than a degree. They have practical knowledge. And a competitive advantage in today's crowded job market. And that sure beats trying to B.S. your way into a job.

'V' is for violence in Hollywood

Violence comes in all shapes and forms, particularly in current motion pictures, where it is packaged as a regular product.

If the MPPA Ratings were meaningful, we could probably check how many murders rate an "R" or how graphic sexual display may be and still cater to young dollars with a PG.

A comparative study of violence in films drums up some pretty ludicrous contradictions. One man's "X" is another's "R" and there is no consistency from one film to the next. Parents are justifiably puzzled as to what kind of guidance they should offer their children.

What does one tell children 13 or under about "Assassination" (PG-13)? A concerned parent might guide them elsewhere than this ridiculous and poorly produced film. From the box-office statistics, however, that's not been the case so we'd better advise further.

MOM AND Pop might start off telling the children that the latest Charles Bronson-Jill Ireland vehicle is highly implausible. The screenplay by Richard Sale, who has written 31 feature films over a long career, is based on his novel, "My Affair with the President's Wife."

Ex-U.S. Senator Bunsen of Hawaii (Michael Ansara), chief of staff for President Calvin Craig (Charles Howerton), is trying to assassinate the First Lady (Jill Ireland) because she may divorce the president, whose injury heroically landing an F-111 left him impotent. Good reasoning, right, kids?

Naturally, a widower has a better chance of re-election than a divorced politician. All this was worked out in Sen. Bunsen's evil mind during the inauguration as he hired Reno Bracken (Erik Stern) to kill the First Lady.

Now, children, are you still with us? It just so happens that Bracken is a sworn enemy of Secret Service Agent Jay Killian (Charles Bronson), who is just returning from leave after an unpleasant divorce. Don't ask KILLIAN LEADS the First Lady's security team, along with his girlfriend, Agent Charlotte Chang (Jan Gan Boyd, who has distinct problems reading her lines — of course, it's not easy to giggle and simper at the same time).

There's lots of shooting and explosions to punctuate the bad acting. Bronson, in particular, seems disinterested and sluggish, a far cry from the old, hard-driving violent characters for which he is so well-known.

How in the world does a parent guide a child through such a film experience?

"The Bedroom Window" (R), on the other hand, is a well-made murder mystery that rises above the average, with unexpected twists; tense, suspenseful moments, and enough comic relief to alleviate the violence and terror.

At least this film is up front in its sexual content, nudity and violence. If — and that's a big if — theaters enforce age limits on "R" ratings, parents wouldn't have to worry as much about the materials to which their children are exposed.

TERRY LAMBERT (Steve Guttenberg) is having an affair with Sylvia (Isabelle Huppert), who just happens to be married to Terry's boss, Collin (Paul Shenar).

After some late-night bedroom antics, while Terry is in the bathroom, Sylvia looks out the bedroom window and sees Henderson (Brad Greenquist) attack Denise (Elizabeth McGovern).

Henderson is frightened off. Later that night he kills another girl. Terry feels that Sylvia's testimony would help the police, but she can't come forward because of her affair with Terry. So Terry pretends to be the witness and gets more deeply involved than he expected.

The scenario proceeds along an unusual tack, with just enough realistic detail to convince us that such complications are plausible.

While there are some weak spots, on the whole the film is entertaining. Henderson's attorney (Wallace Shawn) pulls off a slick experiment but it's questionable how he obtained his key fact about Terry's contact lenses. The film is well-paced, and some of the other questions get lost in the shuffle.

HUPERT HAS just the right amount of distance and disdain from the pleasures she shares with Guttenberg. We never learn why she is cheating on her husband, but it doesn't matter.

Unfortunately, her sophistication overpowers Guttenberg's character and characterization. She seems just right, while his self-conscious and embarrassed little laughs qualify less as acting and more as the young employee (read "less experienced actor") uncomfortably dealing with the boss's wife (a renowned actress).

McGovern is effective as the non-nonsense, cocktail waitress who can take care of herself. Greenquist's pervert is properly withdrawn and perverse, while Shawn does a neat characterization as an offbeat attorney.

the movies

"The Bedroom Window" has its perversity and violence, but the film is well-done and deservedly "R"-rated. Thank goodness no parental guidance is required. If it were, I'd have to explain our society.

What does one tell children 13 or under about "Assassination" (PG-13)?

Elizabeth McGovern is Denise Connelly, the victim of an attack by Brad Greenquist, in the role of Henderson, a pervert, in "The Bedroom Window."

Entertain Away The

"WINTER TIME BLUES"

Tired of those "winter time blues?" Use your imagination to create new ways to beat those "blues." Start by planning some get-togethers with friends.

For sports fans this is definitely a time of delight. Gathering to watch college and pro football games is always fun. It's also basketball and hockey season. If you're not a big sports fan there are plenty of other opportunities to share with friends. Try hosting your own movie night; invite some friends over, rent a movie and pop it in the VCR.

No matter what the reason for getting together, you'll want to feed your guests. And after a long day or week at work, putting on a party may not be an inviting prospect.

Dips are a favorite party food and easy to prepare. But don't rely on old standbys — try something new. Mexican Bean Dip will definitely be a crowd pleaser. Pork and beans make this dip rich in flavor, high in fiber and low in fat and cholesterol. And with the aid of a microwave it takes only a few minutes to prepare. This zesty dip, of taco seasoning, green pepper, onion and Cheddar cheese will go great with a variety of dippers. If your taste buds beg for something a little milder, try Easy Bean Dip. Made with lemon juice, sesame oil, soy sauce, garlic and onions it's a great go-with for pita bread.

Finger foods are a must at any party. They're easy to prepare and fun to eat. For example, Chicken Gourmet Nuggets are bite-size morsels of crispy chicken filled with a variety of savory mixtures. There are Mexican Style, Ham and Cheese, Spinach and Herb and Pizza Style. The nuggets heat quickly in a conventional or microwave oven.

Antipasto Kabobs, made with California grown marinated artichoke hearts, sliced pepperoni, cherry tomatoes and pitted whole ripe olives, are another party favorite. Tender, bite-sized marinated artichoke hearts, grown in the cool climate of the Monterey Bay area, are perfect for these kabobs. Or enjoy marinated artichoke hearts in Artichoke Squares. They can be prepared easily in a conventional or microwave oven.

To make preparation and clean-up easy, you'll want to use as few dishes as possible. Microwave bowls are a hostess and host's dream. The ultimate in cooking versatility — you can use these bowls in a conventional or microwave oven and also place them under the broiler.

Don't let winter dampen your spirits. Get together with friends, enjoy good food and celebrate the season with lots of fun to brighten-up everyone's days.

Micro-Tips To Help You Entertain

Entertaining is easy with a microwave oven. Here are some helpful tips to make food preparation for your next get-together a breeze.

- When cooking dips or sauces in your microwave, always stir warmed outer edges into cooler inner areas. This will increase speed and provide for even cooking.
- Use the appropriate utensils in your microwave oven. Glass or glass-ceramic dishes are ideal because microwaves can easily pass through them.
- Cooking for a crowd? Remember, only a set number of microwaves enter an oven at any one time. Therefore, if you intend to cook several items in the same microwave, you'll need to allow for more cooking time.
- When reheating foods, cover them to prevent spatters.

Mexican Bean Dip

Microwave Directions:

1. In covered blender or food processor, combine beans and taco seasoning mix. Blend until almost smooth.
2. Spoon bean mixture into 2-cup bowl. Stir in green pepper and onion. Cover. Microwave on HIGH 2 minutes or until hot. Stir well.
3. Garnish with cheese and additional chopped green pepper. Microwave on HIGH 45 seconds or until cheese begins to melt. Serve with dippers.

Conventional Directions:

1. In covered blender or food processor, combine beans and taco seasoning mix. Blend until almost smooth.
2. Spoon bean mixture into 1 quart saucepan. Stir in green pepper and onion. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low; simmer 5 minutes, stirring often.
3. Spoon bean mixture into 2-cup bowl. Garnish with cheese and additional chopped green pepper. Serve with dippers. Makes 1½ cups.

Antipasto Kabobs

1. On 6-inch bamboo skewers, arrange a combination of drained marinated artichoke hearts, sliced pepperoni, cherry tomatoes and pitted whole ripe olives. Brush with marinade from the artichokes.
2. To Serve Hot: On a platter, microwave on HIGH 30 seconds or until hot.

2. Drain artichokes, reserving marinade. Chop artichokes; place in bowl. Stir in cheese, eggs, parsley and pepper.
3. Spoon 2 tablespoons reserved marinade into a skillet. Over medium heat in hot marinade, cook onion with oregano until tender; add to chopped artichoke mixture.
4. Pour into 8-inch square non-sticking baking dish. Sprinkle top with bread crumbs; dot with butter.
5. Bake at 350° F. for 30 minutes or until hot and lightly browned. Cut into squares. Makes 20 appetizers.

Organization is the key to 'meals in minutes'

Today's hectic lifestyle makes it very tempting to plan dinner around a bucket of chicken, a bag of burgers or a frozen dinner. Fast foods can dent the budget and may shortchange you nutritionally. "Foods fast" as opposed to "fast foods" may be the perfect solution — Meals in Minutes!

Food and nutrition has gone from fad, to trend to lifestyle. The active lifestyle of busy family members can make it very difficult to gather everyone together for a traditional meal. Most families are into lighter meals, easier preparation of foods and faster cleanup. Time-consuming cooking (other than holidays) has really passed its prime.

"Foods fast" preparation does not mean defrost and cook a frozen TV dinner or open a box. Instead, use your imagination. The key to quick and easy nutritious meals is organization. Start by planning menus. Think about how much time you have for preparation, cooking and cleanup.

To have a well-equipped kitchen you need to consider a generous supply of food staples — the basics, such as flour, sugar and shortening

Lois Thieleke

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

— so you can put together a meal immediately. This means fewer trips to the grocery store.

Streamline shopping by planning ahead for several meals and do the shopping all at one time.

Look at what convenience appliances you may have in your kitchen. The biggest time-saver is a microwave — the cooking time is cut in half or more. "Meal in a Peel," a baked potato with meat, vegetable and cheese on the top can be a very quick and nutritious meal from the microwave and certainly less expensive than the fast food restaurant.

At home you can control the salt in your cooking that can't be held in check at a fast food restaurant. There is very little cleanup with microwave cooking because you can cook on the serving dish. Leftovers can be made into your own TV dinners and popped into the microwave for a quick meal with more imagination and more nutrition than the purchased kind.

Stir frying has been gaining in popularity. Use a wok or a skillet. Chicken, beef, pork or other meats are sliced thin for quicker cooking. The meat should be fully cooked, but all the vegetables are better if still crunchy. Lemon juice or herbs sprinkled on these will eliminate salt and bring out the good flavor of the vegetables.

Crock pots are great for long, slow cooking. Since this is the time of year for hearty soups and stews, let the crock pot have the meal ready in minutes.

Let the food cook all day and when you arrive home the soup/stew is ready. Serve bread and a piece of fruit and you have a nutritious meal in minutes.

Since a crock pot makes a larger batch, freeze some for another time. Tough meats cooked in liquid in a slow cooking method can make them very tender. Using leftovers in soups/stews makes preparation time even less.

Food processors and blenders make chopping, peeling, slicing, shredding and pureeing easier and quicker. Do extra for the next time so you are preparing two or more meals at one time. One mess, one cleanup.

Pressure cookers can speed up cooking time. These are especially helpful for less tender cuts of meat and large vegetable pieces that you need in a hurry. Be careful with the pressure cooker, follow the manufacturer's directions for use.

Broiling and stove top cooking are usually faster than one item oven cooking. Do several things at the same time. If the oven is set on 400, in 30 minutes you can have meat pie, biscuit roll-ups, pasties, baked salmon, escalloped potatoes, cobbler, baked apples and muffins.

If the oven is set on 375, in one hour you can have meatloaf, casseroles, spanish rice, stuffed peppers, baked potatoes, upside-down cake and gingerbread.

If the oven is on, make two roasts at the same time, use one and freeze the other. Remember when you double a recipe you only clean the kitchen once!

A freezer can really be helpful for a quick meal by offering convenience and flexibility to meal planning. Freeze foods in containers you can use in the microwave or oven. You do not have to wait to thaw them out — just pop in the oven.

Other helpful suggestions are: shorten the cooking time by cutting ingredients in small pieces. So what if the spaghetti isn't 12 inches long. Use boiling water or very hot water in recipes that call for water. A flat baking dish cooks faster than a regular casserole dish. Cake pans are great for casseroles. Bake on the garnishes and save time. Just before baking, press nut meats or fruit gently into bread, cake and cookie batter. No need for icings or glazes. Foods heat faster if they start out at room temperature. This does not mean foods sit out on the counter all day. Instead, when you arrive home, take the food out of the refrigerator while you remove your coat, look at the mail, or whatever.

Make individual portions as opposed to one large (for example, individual meat loaves instead of one large). Look for recipes that are one dish meals or casseroles. Always have some "no cook" food on hand, such as canned fish, cheese and fruit. A meal can be made hot or cold, fast or slow with these.

You may still be tempted to turn into the first fast food place you pass on the way home. Whether it be fast foods or foods fast, remember the key is moderation and variety for good eating and good health.

Economic ground beef is versatile, easy to prepare

Fast, economical, easy-to-prepare and convenient meals. That's what today's busy cooks are demanding. And that's what they can expect when they use one of the most versatile and least expensive beef cuts in the meat case — ground beef.

Ground beef's versatility is primarily due to the way it is made. It's mechanically ground lean beef from the round, chuck, flank, neck or shank and lean meat trimmings cut from the rib and loin.

The price usually varies, depending on the ratio of lean meat to fat. These variations range from 70 percent lean to 90 percent lean, but are never less than 70 percent lean.

Versatility also is evident in the many ways ground beef can be prepared. It can be broiled, panbroiled, panfried, roasted or cooked in the microwave oven. And with the additions of various seasonings, it can take on different flavors from around the world.

For example, classic ground beef stuffed peppers can take on an all-together different flavor by adding an Italian parsley pesto and rice-shaped orzo pasta to the stuffing mixture. Besides being innovative, this recipe for Beef 'n Orzo Stuffed Peppers can be prepared and cooked in just 45 minutes in the oven and less in the microwave oven.

Many upscale restaurants are serving thin-crust pizzas with new and unusual ingredients. Ground beef can really go gourmet when it's used as a topping for a version of this "light" pizza, Easy Beef Tortilla Pizzas. Flour tortillas serve as the crust for these individual pizzas. Because of ground beef's versatility, a slight variation in seasoning and cheeses can change the pizzas from Greek to Mexican.

The final test of ground beef's versatility is to turn the ever-popular hamburger into a regional specialty, Cajun Beef Burgers. Distinctive Cajun cooking comes from Louisiana and has been influenced by the French, Spanish, Blacks and Indians. Another word to describe Cajun is "hot."

To make Cajun Beef Burgers, ground beef patties are seasoned liberally, top and bottom, with a combination of garlic salt, paprika, basil, mustard, thyme, red pepper and black pepper. A contrasting coolness is provided by topping the finished burgers with tender-crips cooked onion rings, tomato slices and a dollop of sour cream.

The possibilities of ground beef recipes are unlimited. Right now the price of ground beef is at its lowest in six years. So stock up, and see how many new ground beef recipes you can discover.

pepper. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F, for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 servings.

Microwave directions: Follow conventional directions to prepare parsley mixture; reserve. Place peppers, cut side up, and ¼ cup water in 9-inch microwave-safe dish. Cover tightly with plastic wrap, venting one corner and microwave at high 4 minutes, rotating dish ¼ turn after 2 minutes. Cover tightly; let stand 5 minutes. Invert peppers and drain on absorbent paper. Arrange ground beef in a ring in all-plastic sieve or small colander. Place sieve in bowl; cook at high 2 minutes. Stir to break up beef. Continue cooking at high 2 minutes; stir after removing from oven. Sprinkle salt over beef. Stir in parsley mixture, orzo and tomato. Spoon an equal amount into each pepper. Place peppers in microwave-safe dish; cover with waxed paper and continue cooking at high 6-9 minutes, rotating dish every 3 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining Parmesan cheese.

Helping others learn to cope

By Julie Brown
staff writer

At 25, Ron Luce isn't all that far removed from his teenage years.

In his younger days, Luce went through some difficult times. His parents were divorced. Luce abused alcohol and drugs as a teenager. He found, however, that there was a better way to live.

"In the middle of all that, God helped me out."

Luce now serves as president of Teen Mania Ministries. He and his wife, Katie, travel throughout the U.S. and other countries, helping teenagers learn to cope with modern-day pressures.

"Most kids don't see God or church as a viable answer," said Luce, who has been involved in youth ministry for the past six or seven years.

Teen Mania, based in Tulsa, Okla., is an interdenominational ministry. Ron and Katie Luce present the assembly program to teenagers in schools and churches.

The Teen Mania program came to Plymouth last week. On Wednesday and Thursday evenings, the program was presented to middle school and high school students at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

THIS IS Luce's first time in Plymouth. He knows the Rev. Douglas McMunn, associate pastor at First United Methodist Church, from their college days.

Teenagers today face a number of issues, Luce said, including drugs, alcohol, peer pressure and sex. Some teens are victims of abuse; some must cope with the strain of watching their parents go through a divorce.

Modern-day teenagers face a real complexity of problems, Luce said.

Many don't get the love, acceptance and attention they need from their parents. They may look elsewhere for such love and acceptance, getting involved in drug and alcohol abuse or premarital sex. Some teenagers run away from home or consider committing suicide.

"That's a sad, sad situation there. I want to help them get out of that."

Often, teens try to pretend they aren't affected by their problems, Luce said. They may put on a false front.

The Teen Mania program is presented both to students of junior high/middle school age and to older teenagers. It's important to reach the younger students, Luce has found, as teenagers often get involved in bad situations in early adolescence.

"Kids are more open to ideas when they're younger," he said. By the time teenagers reach high school, they tend to be more set in their ways.

LUCE, WHO has a master's degree in counseling psychology from the University of Tulsa, enjoys working with teenagers of all ages.

He found that the students at the program in Plymouth seemed to be looking for answers.

"These young people seem like they know a good thing when they see it."

The Teen Mania program includes a summer missions project. This summer, a trip to Guatemala is planned.

McMunn, associate pastor at the First United Methodist Church, was pleased with the local Teen Mania program, which attracted approximately 45-50 students each evening. Parents were also encouraged to attend, particularly for the second evening.

"There's so much confusion in the teen culture over how to get the most out of life," McMunn said. Many teenagers become involved in things that don't contribute to a happy, healthy life.

"A lot of lives are being ruined because of those things."

Teenagers from more affluent communities generally don't lack for material comforts, the minister said. They may, however, lack a sense of purpose for living.

As a teenager, McMunn found his faith to be helpful in coping with the pressures he faced.

"I hope that these teens can find the same thing. I know that Teen Mania is offering a positive alternative in Jesus Christ."

The Bible offers a number of ideas on how the family should work, according to Ron Luce.

Ron Luce knows from his own experiences that it's not easy to be a teenager.

Teen years are tough ones

It's not easy to be a teenager. Drug and alcohol abuse, premarital sex, peer pressure and other sources of stress make the teen years difficult ones.

"God cares about all those things that young people are going through," said Teen Mania's Ron Luce.

In his travels with Teen Mania, an interdenominational ministry, Luce has found that teenagers talk mostly about how difficult things are at home.

Many watch their parents go through divorce. Teenagers pretend they're not affected by such family breakups, but they are.

Teenagers may try to cope by becoming involved in drug or alcohol abuse, running away from home or becoming sexually active.

"Although they're doing all those things, inside they're not very happy," he said.

The teenage years create a strain, even for the closest of families. Luce told students and parents at Thursday's Teen Mania presentation. The program was presented Wednesday and Thursday at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

"There is this process of change called adolescence, teenage years, whatever you want to call it."

THE INCREASED independence that teenagers seek causes strain on the home front.

"God didn't design home and life to be terrible," Luce said. "If he invented it, then he should know how it works."

The Bible is filled with ideas of how the family should work, said Luce, who has a master's degree in counseling psychology. During Thursday night's presentation, he read from the Bible and talked about how its teachings apply to modern-day life.

It's important to obey your parents, Luce told the students.

"That implies that parents need to work together closely." In some families, however, parents don't work together. Instead, the teenager is able to divide the household.

Parents need to agree on standards for their children, Luce said. Children must, for example, know just what chores need to be done at what time.

"There's agreement there, there's order in the home."

There's a difference between just having offspring and being a parent, Luce said. Being a parent implies that there's caring and nurturing involved.

"We talk to kids all the time that have the material things." Teenagers from such well-to-do homes still may lack a sense of purpose for living, he said. They may feel lonely.

IN SOME families, a grandparent, aunt, uncle or other person may provide that sense of caring and nurturing for a teenager, he said.

Even though the teenage years are tough ones for young people, it's also difficult to be a parent, Luce told the students.

Although Luce isn't a parent himself, he said he understands the difficulties parents face. Brand-new parents don't go to a school to learn how to bring up children. Instead, they must learn through trial and error.

Teenagers also need to honor their father and mother, he said. Parents, however, should also treat their children with respect.

Following the Bible's teachings will help make family life happier and healthier, Luce told those at Thursday night presentation. The program was presented to middle school and high school students whose parents were also encouraged to attend, particularly for the second evening.

Going to church to worship and to learn will help families cope.

"I think God is tired of the pain and hurt in families," he said.

"God's on your side. He really cares about you, and he wants you to have a good life."

The Rev. Douglas McMunn (front), parents and students listen to the Teen Mania presentation.

Music also is a part of the Teen Mania ministry. Ron Luce and members of The Way, a musical group at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, lead the others in song.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and read the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time if you advertise the price of the item or service you offer. The people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as Ek (eat in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall tires) and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.
