Artley elected president of school board

By Doug Funke staff writer

David Artley, who has served on the Plymouth-Canton school board since 1983, has been selected board president for the 1987-88 academic year by his colleagues on the board.

As president, Artley will chair all board meetings. The president also signs most legal documents involving the district.

Perhaps just as important, though not an official duty, is the president's ability to set a tone for working relationships within the district.

Artley said he wants to make sure people are heard and that "there is a common understanding. You don't always have agreement but you can have a common understanding."

ARTLEY, who lives in Canton, also sees his role as a coordinator and facilitator.

"Coordinator in the sense that staff, community, board and students are working together for the common goal of excellence in educa-

"It's my job as an elected official to understand the bureaucracy and explain it to others. Get them pointed in the right direction .

Labor peace, educating all students and community involvement were cited by Artley as major issues facing the district.

The teachers' contract expires in the fall of 1988 but Artley said he expects negotiations to begin well

Hoben gets raise

Superintendent John M. Hoben, who earlier scored high marks in a performance evaluation by the Plymouth-Canton school board, was rewarded Monday with a 51/2 percent increase in base pay.

The school board upped Hoben's salary to $83,897 from $79,516. That figure doesn't include an annual car allowance of $6,000 and a yearly longevity bonus of $500. Hoben, 63, chief executive officer of the school district since 1971, administers an annual budget with revenues of $55.8 million and about 1,800 employ-

Cruising traffic is light over holiday

By Doug Funke staff writer

Plymouth Police last weekend issued the fewest tickets for downtown cruising-related activities than for any comparable period this year.

About 64 tickets, excluding parking violations, were handed out from Friday through Sunday, according to Police Chief Richard Myers.

Seven motorists were arrested for drunk driving, he added.

That compares with about 95 tickets each of the previous two weekends and upwards of 160 the weekend of April 24-26.

"In matters of alcohol and reckless or careless driving, it was as strict." Myers said of enforcement efforts July 3-5. "In cases of minor traffic violations, it wasn't as firm. We gave a lot more warnings."

Cruising traffic seemed to decrease during the holiday weekend, according to Commander Michael

FOR THE FIRST time in months, no special traffic control devices were used to thwart cruisers.

No barricades blocked the driveways of businesses on Main Street after hours. Traffic was allowed in both lanes each way on Main. Motorists again could make right turns

This year's Fourth of July weekend was an action-packed one in the Plymouth-Canton community.

The seventh annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival was held Friday through Sunday

On Saturday afternoon, the Fourth of July Parade, sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees, filled Main Street in downtown Plymouth with festive sights and sounds.

The Jaycees also sponsored a fireworks display Saturday night at Plymouth Township Park, enhanced by a star-spangled performance of the Plymouth Community Band. Other activities held during the weekend provided something for ev-

A New Trend in music

Band members share determination and optimism

By Susan Buck staff writer

When Brice Cranston graduated from high school last year, his par- plays keyboard and guitar in a group ents gave him a choice: a new car or a new digital sampler keyboard.

Cranston, 19, a band member who called The New Trend, chose the $7,500 keyboard, which is known in the recording business as an emula-

Cranston's choice is proof of the drive, determination, commitment and optimism shared by all members of The New Trend, who want to go to the top of a volatile industry.

Formed in October 1983, The New Trend also includes as members: Keith Lowers, 19, lead guitarist; Todd Wyman, 19, bass; Dustin Wyman, 16, vocalist, and Johnny Hill, 18. drummer. All are Plymouth resi-

THE BAND, which is managed by Talent Live, a Canton talent agency, recently played at a student antidrug rally sponsored by the Michigan PTA on April 4 held at the Pontiac Silverdome. The event was attended by 10,000 people.

"They loved us. We went over real big," said Cranston.

The band is busily accumulating other credits and may, pending an interview, be featured in an as yet unscheduled, two-hour television special highlighting the story of how an album, called "Busting Barriers," came to be.

people

The idea for the album was conceived by Elsie Young, a Talent Live manager and her daughter Carrie Young, editor and publisher of "Conquest," a locally produced newspaper for the handicapped.

The New Trend sang and helped to compose with fellow manager, Bruce Young of Canton, a song featured on the album called "Little House of Woo."

According to Elsie Young, the alburn caught the attention of Stevie Wonder who wants to be included on the next one.

Released in January 1986, the alburn involved the efforts of 100 people - young, old and handicapped in an effort to bring together the strengths of these people who often follow separate paths. The album can be bought at Harmony House stores. The album jacket portrays the Statue of Liberty in a wheelchair, said Elsie Young.

A MUTUAL love of music brought

The New Trend band members together.

Cranston and Lowers were friends in seventh grade in Central Middle School, where they played in separate bands. Cranston was in a group called Sierra; Lowers was in High Voltage.

We were sort of rival bands in a friendly way," said Cranston. "All of us had formal music instruction from James R. Griffith, CEP music director, who taught us theory and we all were in the marching band."

Band member Johnny Hill was recently awarded a full-ride scholarship to study music at Central Michigan University. The New Trend plays a wide range of music, from funk to techno-

"We also do our own originals," said Cranston. "We play the top 40 songs, so many of the people we play for are young."

The New Trend has played at the Studio Lounge in Westland and Liberties (formerly called The Suds Factory) in Ypsilanti. They are slated, by Talent Live, to perform at the Pontiac Silverdome again on July 25, this time to benefit a group called Michigan For Jesus.

THE CITY IS in the process of amending an ordinance to require all buildings - residences and businesses - to display street addresses in Arabic numerals.

When the number is displayed in words it often takes police, fire and emergency medical service more time to read.

Here are some of the other proposed street address requirements: • The humber must be displayed on the front of the building facing the street or on a free-stand-

EVEN THOUGH weekend tickets are down, neither Myers nor city manager Henry Graper is ready yet to lay off additional officers hired last month on a temporary basis through September to help deal with cruising problems.

Eight were hired but one has since

"I think 80 tickets over a four-day period is incredible for a 2.2 square mile city," Myers said of activity over the long holiday weekend. "In the good old days, when they wrote 15 in a weekend, that was a lot."

THE BALLOON festival featured several races.

Bill Arrandale, flying the Observer & Eccentric balloon, won the American Airlines race held Saturday morning. The prize for that race was a trip for two to Zurich or Geneva, Switzerland.

Clarence Catallo, flying the E.F. Hutton balloon, won the British Airways race held Saturday evening. The pilot's prize was a trip for two to London, England.

A "just for fun" race held Sunday morning was won by Greg Hanson who flew the Bud Light balloon.

Bill Bussey, pilot for the Stroh's balloon, was a winner Sunday evening. He was among the pilots who tossed a bag filled with unpopped popcorn into a bucket on a sailboat. The prize for that British Airways competition was a trip for two to

That competition was tied in with a contest in which pilots were to attempt to pick up a key from atop a sailboat mast.

"That had to be scrapped," said Lorenz, who is co-owner and general manager of the Mayflower Hotel. The key contest prize would have been a car from Dick Scott Dodge. "It's the equivalent of shooting a hole-in-one," Lorenz said.

The weather during the weekend was, as always, unpredictable.

"Saturday was great," Lorenz said. "It was a good day all day. Sunday was a little iffy."

Plenty of work went into the weekend's festivities. Those involved in planning and coordinating the weekend activities were looking forward to some well-deserved rest this

"We are definitely exhausted but in a nice way," Lorenz said. "Obviously, we're planning on continuing." No dates have been set for next

Treat 'kids at risk' young egislators shop state for ideas

staff writer

The younger "kids at risk" are spotted, the better odds society has for keeping them from crime and

Children's advocates gave that message last week in Detroit to a panel of state representatives studying early intervention for the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

We're not dealing with Huck Finn and Mary Poppins. These are damned dangerous kids who don't understand remorse, who call killing you 'putting you to sleep,' " said Rolando Shorey.

Shorey is executive director of Metro Youth Program in Detroit, a non-profit agency that formerly was part of government. He deals with 11- to 17-year-olds who already have been in trouble.

"Start with single-parent families," advised Shorey, who, like most of the 10 witnesses, refrained from asking for more state funds. "I don't always ask for money," he said.

A THREE-HOUR hearing in the City-County Building was the first of five that Chairman Teola P. Hunter, D-Detroit, plans this summer.

"Simply to build new prisons isn't the solution," said Rep. David Gubow. D-Huntington Woods.

"We can identify the high-risk families before kids are even born," added Rep. Wilfred Webb, D-Hazel Park, a retired school superintend-

Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, noted few ideas called for more money. Many called for straightening out bureaucratic lines between abused, disburbed, truant and delinquent kids in order to help those with mul-

Cheryl Coleman, representing the Detroit Association of Black Social Workers, said the percentage of black families headed by both a husband and wife fell from 77 percent in 1960 to 69.5 percent in 1970 and 59 percent in 1980.

There is a real difference between the ways a male and a female black children are being raised in handle young black males," Coleman fatherless homes, thereby destroying

"You're right on target - more early prevention," she told the panel. "Teachers should be trained to identify youth at risk early. Parental education must be accessible."

THE SAME point was made in a different way by Deborah Hyde of the Oakland County Probate Court youth assistance project.

"We find good parents attending our parenting project, and those that are most in need don't," Hyde said.

The panel listened in fascination to Tommie I. Summerville executive director of a non-profit group called Manhood, whose purpose is "to bring men into association with boys in fatherless homes."

When Gubow asked how the twoyear-old group differs from Big Brothers, Summerville said Manhood gives eight hours of training to men participants and brings them into contact with boys two or three times a week - "not someone to be

HE CALLED Manhood "a surrogate father program" in which the adult male acts like a father without the obligation of providing a living.

"We're talking about a generation with no daddy," said Summerville.

We're providing someone to teach discipline. We're looking for role models," said the retired school principal

In prepared remarks, Summerville noted that "51 percent of violent crime in America is committed by black youths. Forty percent of said. "The family's role is indisput- the protection, strength and modeling provided by two-parent fami-

 Metro Youth Program serves about 375 children and their families, said Rolando Shorey, at a cost of $2,600 to $3,000 each. It receives grants from the state Department of Social Services, Department of Mental Health, Office of Criminal Justice Programs and the private Skillman Foundation.

· BABES, a 10-year-old program of the National Council on Alcoholism, has trained 80 counselors and 300 Detroit parents in working with children from pre-school to fourth grade who are exposed to drugs and BABES director Maxine Willis demonstrated animal puppets that adults can use to teach children to deal with their problems. The animals represent peer pressure, care of the body and children from homes where there is chemical dependency.

Standing in for retired Detroit News columnist June Brown Garner was Lee Landes of Livonia. Better known as founder of MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers), Landes also is active in Garner's "Let's Read" program.

Landes blistered the "look-say" method of teaching reading, advocating a phonics system in which letters are sounded out. He said phonics can make readers of functionally illiterate older children and keep them from school lives of frustration, class disturbance, drug usage and out-of-wedlock pregnancy

Rep. Tom Power, R-Traverse City, praised Landes' remarks, calling schools "the source of two-bit fads" that fail to teach kids to read.

Toys R Us plans office center in Canton

By Diane Gale staff writer

A proposed Toys R Us Inc. warehouse, distribution and office center will be the second largest structure in Canton.

The 472,000-square-foot building, to be the company's regional headquarters, will be built on 20 acres north of Koppernick, east of Haggerty, south of Joy Road and the C & O

Railroad and west of I-275. The expected opening is November 1988.

THE LARGEST structure is the K Mart Canton Central Distribution complex, 960,000 square feet, on the south side of Joy Road east of Lilley.

Toys R Us warehouse will employ between 40 and 50 workers. The number could "double during the season." around Christmas time, according to Michael P. Miller, Toys R

Us, Inc. senior vice president. The office will employ about 30 year-long employees.

Miller declined to say how much the property cost or the expected net value of the project. Dave Nicholson, Canton community and economic development director, estimates the building and equipment will be worth between

However, the company's site plan application "suggests" the building, land and improvements are valued at less than $10 million (not including equipment), Nicholson said. He believes the company's figure is low.

"It's going to bring in a substantial amount of tax base in the community," Nicholson said.

The company will not receive a tax abatement, a 50 percent reduction in assessed valuation for up to

"Since it's not for a manufacturing

The company is planning 40 additional Toys R Us stores in the United States and 13 additional stores internationally including the first location in West Germany.

The affiliated Kids R Us has 52 locations in the United States and an additional 21 locations are planned this year.

Toys R Us Inc. fiscal year ending February 1987 sales were at $2.445 billion, which was a 23.7 percent increase from the previous fiscal year, Miller said.

The Legislature's spending plan

AP - In its final day before adourning for the summer, the Michigan Legislature added $182 million (to this year's $6.17 billion state budget. It completed nearly all of next year's spending plan.

The House and Senate agreed to spending levels for every agency except the sate Deparment of Corrections, which was postponed until the Legis ature reconvenes in Septem-

Negotiations over next year's Corrections Department budget broke down after House and Senate con-'Ierees failed to agree on the amount Fof legislative oversight and financ-Ging for a boot camp and communitybased corrections programs.

THE OVERALL budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, if the Corrections Department is financed at agreed upon levels, will be about $6.58 billion.

That would be 3.6 percent more than the $6.35 billion in state spending for the current year.

The Legislature's spending plan exceeds Gov. James Blanchard's recommendation in January by roughly $120 million or abut 2 percent.

.. Its supplemental spending plan includes $15.7 million for job training and $10.5 million in state aid for ... Chrysler Corp.'s Jefferson Avenue complex in Detroit and Oakland Technology Center in Auburn Hills.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS in the Legislature's budget for next year in-

• A $10,000 cut in the governor's recommended $2.5 million subsidy for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra requested by Rep. Morris Hood, D-Detroit, to punish the symphony for failing to hire more black musicians.

• A $5 million increase in the higher education budget to reward 11 of the state's 15 public universities that have increased enrollment. The big winners would be Eastern Michigan University, receiving an extra $1.2 million appropriation, and Michigan State University, which collected $900,000 in the plan.

• Leaving intact $34 million in subsidies for the Detroit Institute of Arts, historical museum and zoo and another $6 million in cultural grants to outstate cities.

• A $68 million increase in the higher education budget with appropriations for the state's 15 public colleges and universities ranging between 5.6 percent and 8.2 percent above current year levels.

AN IMPASSE over a supplemental spending bill for the current budget year was broken when the House and Senate agreed to add $32.5 million to the nearly $2 billion budget for the Department of Social Services.

Majority Democrats in the House had wanted to shift surplus money from other departments to pay for an unexpected increase in this year's welfare caseloads, but Senate Republicans balked.

As a compromise, the two chambers added the Social Services funds

Peace marchers to visit Plymouth

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

The 1987 Michigan Peace March, on its way to Detroit from Sault Ste. Marie, is planning a stop in Plymouth Tuesday, Aug. 4.

The 725-mile march began Memorial Day and will end Sunday, Aug. 9, with the setting afloat of lanterns on the Detroit River to commemorate, the 42nd anniversary of the World War II bombing of Nagasaki, Japan.

Plymouth resident Glenn Davis spoke at Monday's city commission meeting regarding the marchers' local appearance.

Michigan United for Global Nuclear Disarmament, which is sponsoring the march, is "asking for four things," he said. "One is a test ban treaty. The second is a nuclear weapons freeze. Third is to end the Strategic Defense Initiative and fourth is economic conversion. Let's spend some of this money on some of our human social needs, rather than on massive nuclear weapons."

DAVIS SAID the $50,000 march is backed by the peace fellowship group at St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth Township.

"We're in favor of working though our government to bring about a new awareness of peace issues," said Davis. "On this planet there are at least 54,000 nuclear weapons."

The marchers will head into Plymouth from Ypsilanti, then move on to Novi, Walled Lake, Birmingham and Detroit. Area residents are welcome to join the march along the way, said Birmingham's Mary Diskin, Michigan Peace March co-coordinator.

"What we've really tried to do here is to get in touch with as many people as we can — people not traditionally involved with the peace movement," she said.

MARCHERS 80 far have been warmly welcomed with police escorts, community potlucks, mayoral speeches and rallies. In parks and on church grounds, "all the way through Michigan, marchers have planted carved wooden peace poles," said Diskin. "They stand about seven feet out of the ground and are four-sided. Each side says, in a different language, 'May peace prevail on earth.' The pole planting has been accepted as a Michigan sesquicentennial event."

Marchers have encountered little trouble along the way.

State plea: Repair radioactive waste law

A lot of legislation will be debated in Washington and Lansing before a low-level radioactive waste storage site ever is constructed in Michigan, state officials say.

"The result was predictable," said Beverly McAninch of Plymouth, as a seven-state commission voted 6-1 last week to pick Michigan as the first 20-year "host" state.

McAninch chaired Michigan's Radioactive Waste Control Committee, which spent the winter and spring months sounding out public opinion and seeking a possible site for the storage of such wastes. She is a former mayor, official of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and state president of the League of Women Voters.

The waste would come from nuclear power plants, hospitals, universities and industry.

THESE STEPS are brewing, McAninch said:

representative on the regional panel, has approached the state's congressional delegation to get changes in the federal law requiring 15 or more such waste sites nationwide.

There is no provision for liability to be shared," McAninch said, although the law provides for sharing construction costs. Michigan would be expected to pay 35 percent of the construction and operation costs, based on its generation of wastes. But it's undetermined how liability during construction and operation would be shared, she said.

And there's wide sentiment that fewer sites are needed.

Hales was an undersecretary of the Interior in the Carter Administration and knows the Washington scene, she said. He is a University of Michigan professor of natural resources.

• A state Senate committee, chaired by Vern Ehlers, R-Grand Rapids, is considering three bills setting up site restrictions for a radioactive waste site. McAninch noted Ehlers is a former college physics professor.

 McAninch's own committee members speak at the invitation of county boards seeking more information. There are multimillion-dollar inducements for the local governmental unit that will agree to accept low-level radioactive wastes.

Part of her committee's work is putting out fires set by Mary Sinclair, anti-nuclear power activist from Midland, and Ingham County commissioner Ellen Beale, who wants to line up all 87 counties against the project.

An era of growth creeping upon us

LYMOUTH-CANTON Community Schools once again may be challenged to adjust to rising enrollments.

During the '80s, the school district has faced stable and declining enrollments. During this period, neighboring school districts were closing a number of school buildings.

Now, it appears, Plymouth-Canton might be on the verge of another period of rapid growth. In recent years, enrollment began to increase again, to the point that Hoben Elementary is being built in Canton, an addition is in the works to enlarge Gallimore's capacity, and portable classrooms have been or-

Hoben Elementary and the Gallimore expansion are being done primarily to handle pre-schoolers and pupils already in the district. It means no classroom space is available at this moment for students moving into subdivisions now ander construction.

Projecting student growth is, at best, an art. There is high reliability in tracking students and pre-schoolers already in the district. Tracking live birth statistics five years into the future will provide a fairly reliable (though inexact) estimate of the kindergarten en-

But projecting student enrollments generated by new housing starts is risky business. Subdivisions get zoning and site plan approvals and then are delayed indefinitely by shifts in the lending market. Projects get under way but are delayed by weather, labor strife or countless other factors. Even then, the number of students any subdivision may produce remains unknown until sales are made and mortgages executed.

THE POINT IS that school administrators and trustees face an almost impossible challenge of making sure classrooms are available in the right places at the right time to maintain desirable student-teacher ratios.

One advantage of portable classrooms is that they can be shifted from one site to another in the district to absorb students from neighborhoods undergoing a population burst.

An alternative, unpopular with many parents, is to bus students away from the neighborhood school to another school that has empty desks. This breaks down the neighborhood school concept but often is necessary to handle isolated pockets of student growth.

The least desirable alternative, from the vantage of most taxpayers, is to build a school whenever an area faces a population increase. One of the most unpopular things a school board can do is build a school and then close it within 10-15 years, before the debt is paid off. A highly effective alternative in the 1970s was year-round school, known as 45-15 and ESY (Extended School Year). Year-round school, more than any other method, helped Plymouth-Canton avoid the trap of over-building during its years of rising enrollment.

Many parents, for good reason, had very strong feelings against year-round school. But for taxpayers at-large, it was a godsend.

WHILE MANY alternatives are available to absorb growth, few are popular.

Short of new construction, almost all methods of absorbing growth involve disrupting students. That invariably frustrates parents.

There likely will be a bond issue in two or three years. If growth from new subs comes as now anticipated, a request for bond money for new construction is inevitable.

Politically, year-round school never again will be accepted in the school dis-

Temporary buildings, although financially sound, pose problems of equity for students. Busing, also financially sound, will create parental unrest.

If growth is near, we can anticipate anger, accusations, frustrations, fears, etc. Both the school board and administration will come under attack. In that moment, emotions will run high. Only in hindsight will the wisdom of past decisions be appreciated.

We now can thank past boards for saving the district millions of dollars. Will we in two or three years have patience to endure times of trial when similar wise decisions are made?

SUMMER'S LAZY DAYS form a perfect, nearly soulful amphitheater of the mind and spirit that softly demands outdoor performances to fully take advantage of the respite from Michigan's chilly winters.

Fortunately, there are many such concerts in Oakland and Wayne counties.

Jazz bands, singers and classical and popular orchestras play at 7:30 p.m. every Thursday in Shain Park in Birmingham through Sept. 3. Also on Thursdays, the Rochester Municipal Park is the site of the Kiwanis Club concerts through Aug. 6.

In Southfield, big band and nostalgia-jazz musicians play Sundays at 7 p.m. in the Sun Bowl on the grounds of the Prudential Center.

There are still two concert dates, July 12 and Aug. 23, for the West Bloomfield Department of Parks and Recreation series at grounds of the Henry Ford Medical Center, west of Orchard Lake Road.

In Livonia Music Under the Stars runs through Aug. 23. Concerts begin at 7:30 p.m. at either Civic Center Park, Wilson Barn or Greenmead.

Tuesday is concert night in Redford where five more concerts await jazz fans 7:30-9 p.m. in Capitol Park.

She's home shortly after 7, waiting for her husband to end his long commute so that she can leave for a community service group board meeting. He would like to attend his son's swimming class, but Tuesday is the night he always works late. So it goes.

The baby is transferred from one parent to another. Dad, munching cold chicken from Sunday's barbecue, puts the work he brought home on the shelf and turns to more pressing matters dirty diapers and a hungry baby.

The rest of the week doesn't look much different. The lawn, cut just Friday, is ready for another clipping. Gifts must be bought for birthdays and weddings. The weekend that was going to be spent at home relaxing has already filled with social engagements and

A DECADE AGO, such families were said to be living in the fast lane. It was not an apt description or reaction. It's

But what's to complain? No one said having it all would be easy. There is a price to pay for the good life. No call to bellyache. It's better than hauling coal from a mine from dawn to dusk.

Still, there is a growing segment of society that is trying to live the '80s under rules spelled out by Donna Reed and Beaver Cleaver. Dads may spend more time with household chores and child care responsibilities, but mom still can't help comparing herself unfavorably with the way her mother ran the household.

TIME MAGAZINE recognized the stretching of two-income families with a cover story about day care that fed mothers' guilt by describing a nation of understaffed, undertrained day care centers where children are ignored while mom pursues a career.

The story is not always that bleak. But it is a fact that the nation's business with today's families. No western, industrial nation does as little in the way of day care and maternity leave as does the United States.

Many government officials and chamber of commerce types howl when corrective legislation is suggested. Rather than appreciate the great resources that working women bring to the market place, they wring their hands instead over prohibitive costs that will further burden business.

Funny thing. No one worried about prohibitive costs last month when legislators increased department head wages by up to 25 percent and sweetened their own pension plans in the pro-

His distaste is shared by some of the crowd down at the archdiocese. Van-Dine and friends would like to see the piece of art taken down because it doesn't match with the Pope's image as a peacemaker.

On the den shelves: Sorting out gift books

IN WHAT few relaxing moments there were last weekend between hot air balloon races, parades, fireworks, cookouts and preparing for an Elk Rapids respite, the summer's No. 1 household project as ordained by Mother Goose was given occasional thought.

You see, our den has become overly cluttered, unlike yours which I'm sure is neatly organized in every respect.

There's no way I would interfere with my mate's as-yet-unannounced decision on new placement of tables, lamps, sofa bed, pictures et al., as long as there is still room for my desk and typewriter. What I will do with a threefoot collection of newspapers and three cartons of what I regard as all-important trivia is the biggest problem.

The phase I really started to ponder over the weekend was the dozens and dozens of books. New shelves soon will be in place and I decided to take sort of an inventory. What astounded me the most was the wide range of subject matter covered in books received as gifts in the recent past.

SOME DONORS have seemed bent upon the improbable task of improving my mind. Others have stuck with the writing and publishing profession. There is evidence that because some enjoyed a particular work, they thought I would also. And of course, numerous volumes reflect that my interest in sports is well-known.

Mind you, none of this portion of our home library includes the vast array of cookbooks, encyclopedias, reference books, fiction of such authors as John Steinbeck, O. Henry, James Hilton and the like, or even several volumes of poetry, inclusion of which will please Livonian Dorothy Aust, publisher of the poetry quarterly, "Alura."

Now, if those who have borrowed from this stock of literature would just mind their manners and return the long-missing books, it would please me

A project such as this is time-consuming. If you've done it, you know it is impossible to go from volume to volume without thumbing through the pages in search of a remembered passage. In many there is a bookmark to indicate where I left off reading when I last had the book in hand.

A case in point is the seventh revised edition of Russell Kirk's "The Conservative Mind," which stands side-by-side with the recently received. "This World," self-identified as, "a journal of religion and public life."

Neither is as humorous as "The Superior Person's Book of Words" by Peter Bowler or James Lipton's "An Exaltation of Larks," both of which were gifts from the same charming lady who gave me the Thoedore Roosevelt biography, "Mornings on Horseback" by David McCullough, but they do counteract in-

A SET OF Robert Ludlum's thrillers is a neighbor to Alistair Cooke's "America," separated only by "Iacocca" and Tom Ainslie's "Complete Guide to Thoroughbred Racing." And, no, I do not know the reason behind such bookshelf togetherness.

More properly, the three-volume set entitled, "The Chicago Tribune - Its First Hundred Years" is professional Road With Charles Kuralt," Budd Schulberg's "Writers in America," Art Buchwald's "You Can Fool All Of the People All the Time" and "If It Fitz" by Detroit Free Press columnist Jim Fitzgerald.

Sports authors, real or alleged, include Yogi Berra, Howard Cosell, Denny McLain, Dave Diles, Bill Russell Red Smith and others.

All in all, just these recent acquisitions add mightily to a treasure that had grown steadily over the years. But there's also a special gift that always will have a position of foremost prominence because it's from our daughter, a physical education teacher and high school coach.

The title is, "All I Know About Golf" and the cover's gold inscription says it is "By Fred Delano." There isn't a single word printed on any of its 128 pages.

I read with concern Joan Kenote's letter to the editor in the Thursday, June 16, issue of the Plymouth Observ-

First, I feel that Mrs. Kenote's comments were taken out of context after overhearing a private conversation between Dean Swartzweiter and myself. My comments were made in a sad and disappointed tone; not one of vindictiveness or in a threatening matter as Mrs. Kenote would have you believe.

As we discussed, the administration would need an opportunity to develop a recommended list of reductions for the board and that we would have to follow the mandate of the voters. This process has been completed and the Board of Education has adopted the recommendations.

The board acted responsibly and with great concern and care in reducing planned spending for the 1987-88 school year. Each of the reductions will affect the education of children or the mainte-

Plymouth-Canton Community School District is a well-managed, fiscally sound district that is known statewide for its fiscal responsibility, budgeting process and astute use of tax dollars to provide quality education.

Mrs. Kenote's comment "last year, just three days after the millage increase, the board voted themselves a raise" is an outright false statement. The board's salary is set by state law and has not been altered since it was established some eight or nine years ago. A board member receives $30 per meeting, not to exceed $1,560 annually. Our major concern as board members is the quality of education of all chifdren in the Plymouth-Canton Community, not the financial remuneration.

In closing, I'd like to thank the citizens of this community who have through the years been supportive of this outstanding school system. We do appreciate and treasure the time and talent that each of you contributed to make our community a great place to raise and educate young people.

Windsor Park is flood weary

To the editor:

(An open letter to Canton Supervisor James Poole):

We are writing in regard to the sanitary sewer backup in Windsor Park

We are deeply concerned about the health threat to our families. The health department advised us that there is a possibility any time in the next 45 days of contracting typhoid fever or hepatitis as a result of cleaning up raw sewage.

We are angry because we can't use our basements fully and are forced to take special precautions including elevating items from the floor and refraining from the use of carpeting. In spite of these precautions, we still must move items such as furniture that cannot be el. ...d and incur added expenses as premature repair and replacement of appliances including hot water tanks, furnaces, washers and dryers.

We need action now to prevent these problems in the future. Some steps that may be taken could be removal of obstructions and repair of sewers, including a system of monitoring these conditions, increase sewer capacity, additional pumping stations, a moratorium on construction, purchase of pumps for individual homeowners. Also reduce taxes and water rates to compensate homeowners for financial loss.

We appreciate your prompt action and await your response to our con-

SENATE

TAXING IMPORTED OIL - The Senate voted, 55 for and 41 against, to strip pending trade legislation (S 1420) of language under which a president could have placed fees on imported oil to prevent America from becoming too dependent on it.

Oil import fees would trigger a rise in domestic as well as foreign petroleum prices. They are favored by senators from producing regions, while generally disliked by senators from states that rely heavily on imported oil.

Under the provision killed by this vote, taxing imported oil was one of several options a president could take to keep foreign oil from accounting over time for more than half of U.S. consumption.

Bill Bradley, D-N.J., said "sending subsidies to domestic producers is not the only way to address the issue of U.S. vulnerability" to suppliers of LLoyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who sponsored the provision, said he wanted to avert "an OPEC hammerlock on American national security.

Senators voting yes did not want presidents to have power to levy oil import fees.

Voting no: Michigan Democrats Carl Levin and Donald Riegie.

LABELING IMPORTED POOR - By a vote of 73 for and 19 against the Senate adopted an amendment to the omnibus trade bill (S 1420; above) under which the Food and Drug Administration must require labeling showing consumers the country of origin of imported food products, meat and poultry.

Sponsor James Exon, D-Neb., said Americans "should have the right know what they are putting into their bodies.'

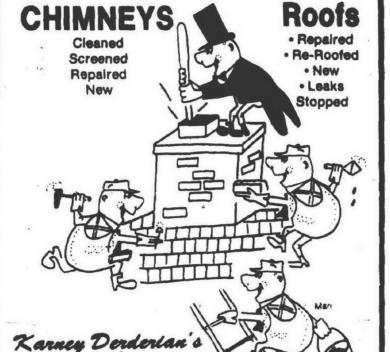

Opponent Richard Lugar, R-Ind., said the labeling would provoke retaliation and that "the last thing we ought to be doing ... is passing legislation which will end up hurting our own exports.

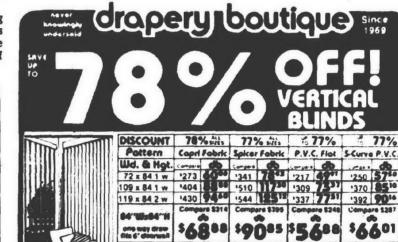

Senators voting yes supported the labeling requirement. Voting yes: Levin, Riegle

Before you buy or refinance your home, consider the advantages of our Adjustable Rate Mortgage (ARM).

Many of our ARM loan customers have saved a lot of money in mortgage interest costs over the past few years. And, at present interest rates, borrowers are finding our ARM loans to be an even better bargain. The first-year interest rate on our 15-year ARM is now only 7.25% compared to much higher rates on fixedrate loans. What's more, with the 2% annual and 6% lifetime interest rate caps that we have placed on our ARM loans, you'll pay less interest and have greater principal reduction over at least the first four years of your loan.

The lower initial interest rates on our ARM loans result in lower initial monthly payments. And, the lower monthly payments mean that it will be easier for you to qualify for the loan that you need to buy or refinance your home.

So, come to any Standard Federal branch office and learn more about our ARM loans. We'll help you find the loan that is just right for you.

RAVELING BY hot air balloon isn't the most common way of getting from place to place.

It has to qualify, however, as among the most enjoyable modes of travel. Traveling by car, by plane or by train may well be safer or at least more predictable; such methods of transportation don't, however, offer quite the same thrills that traveling by hot air balloon does.

That was certainly the case last weekend for Bill Wright of Chamblee, Ga. Wright and his wife, Mary, were among the participants in the seventh annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival, held July 3-5 at Centennial Educational Park in Can-

Conservation has been turned into sawdust

From what I have been told the two trees were about 40 to 45 years old. The third tree was a youngster by three standards - perhaps 30 to 33 Either number represents a long time when compared to the 40 minutes it took for them to fall to a couple of eager chain saws.

Not that many years ago a popular song spoke about paving paradise to put up a parking lot. That is basically what the fallen trees are about. Development is under way and the trees lost out to the air space desired for a new power line. You see, once the blue prints were drawn up it was more cost effective to fell the trees than to move the wires.

No matter the beauty of the trees, and the gift of their shade be damned. Some new blinds, a window air conditioner and we're back in business. The thinking of cost-effective minds seems to run that way.

Certainly the issue is larger than three trees. The chopper truck that left here with 40-some years of sawdust aboard will move on to other places where it is cost effective to pave paradise and put up a parking lot. No the issue is not these trees or these power lines or this place in time. The issue is us and how we have learned to define the bottom line.

IT IS COST effective (translated, profitable) to drill for oil and so the Pigeon River country of Michigan is cashed in for bucks. Our ancestors fished in the Rouge River. Our children's children may be lucky to have a few Arctic streams. It is also profitable to sell arms (they bring more money than grain). So we sell to almost anyone who will buy and make weapons our most cost-effective export.

If saying "Yes to Michigan" is only read with a dollar sign, our children are in real trouble. It is that kind of thinking that allows us to trade rivers for sewers, trees for power lines and farms for bigger businesses. We were given the earth

Conservation becomes a catch-phrase and a cause rather than a way of living that appreciates what we have to experience and what we have to pass

to use and we presume to use it up

Conservation becomes a catchphrase and a cause rather than a way of living that appreciates what we have to experience and what we have to pass on

When the few and the powerful are allowed to make the decisions for the powerless and the many, one has to wonder whether we have been going forward or backwards since

ANOTHER SONG of years ago Sixteen Tons, I believe was the title - talked of selling our souls to the company store. That kind of sale can be made as easily by a society, a city, a state and even a nation as it can by an individual. And then it becomes no one's fault. Everyone can abdicate reponsibility. All blame can be laid at the feet of committee or the doorstep of a board of nameless directors. To turn a phrase of Harry Truman. "The buck stops nowhere."

It is easier to let it go, to mow our lawns and not make waves. But if we wait for the chopper truck to drive away with our own maples before we wake up to what the bottom lineshould read, then perhaps we deserve the sawdust. The sadness is that our children will not be able to: sit under it.

Developer Lawrence Dailey of Southfield: "The riverfront is prime land, the last place in the country near water that is not already developed."

Riverfront development forges suburban links

By Janice Brunson staff writer

More specifically, a three-mile stretch of Detroit River shoreline between the Ambassador Bridge and Belle Isle where some $300 million in development is under construction.

Present projects include River Place, a $250 million multi-use development by Stroh Brewery Co.; Harbortown, a $35 million joint residential development by ANR Development and MichCon Development Corp.; a $25 million remodeling project of Renaissance Center, an estimated $20 million expansion of linked water front parks owned by the city; and an unknown number of smaller ventures by private entrepreneurs.

Why is development on the Detroit River of any possible significance to people living in Birmingham, Farmington or Westland?

"THE RIVERFRONT is the hot spot of development in a seven-county radius," said developer Lawrence Dailey of Southfield.

"Look around. The riverfront is prime land, the last place in the country near water that is not already devel-

Dailey is owner of R.E. Dailey & Co., the construction firm that is building what has been described as the "heart" of the Stroh River Place development, a 19thcentury warehouse conversion into 500,000 square feet of office and retail space.

"There's a lot of available land (along the shoreline) that has been lying dormant for a prime for tapping," said Dailey who currently serves as chairman of the 2,700-member Construction Association of Michigan.

GARY KRAUSE, vice president of property development for Stroh, agrees.

'This is not an average piece of real estate. This is fresh, clear water. This is an international border, a goanywhere-in-the-world-from-here place. This is a celebration of a true Midwestern resource.

"Why is the filling station attendant in Westland interested in what's happening on the waterfront?" Krause asked. "Because his economic health is directly tied to a healthy region.

A "vested interest" is how developer William Caldwell of Troy puts it. "Everyone living in the metropolitan area has a vested interest in the vitality and health of Detroit, whether they live in the city or not.

Caldwell, president of Caldwell American Investment of Troy, is one of the original developers of Harbortown, a riverfront project that includes 1,000 housing units and shopping center.

Although he has not been associated with the project since last December, Caldwell calls the riverfront "the key to Detroit's vitality."

EVELYN BROWN of the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation, a non-profit organization aimed at expanding the city's economic base, also uses the word "vitaliwhen describing redevelopment.

"People who come downtown are amazed at the vitality," Brown said. But she readily concedes that the big problem is "getting people downtown. "Perception seems to belie fact and in view of what we read about Detroit, it's hard to convince people to come. Image also concerns the current chariman of board of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, Bloomfield Hills attorney Richard Van Dusen. Detroit's image, according to Van Dusen, is directly tied to that of neighboring suburban communities and it is obviously beneficial for that image to be positive. 'It is clear that economic health on a continuing basis depends in part on the image of the region. Image is what attracts new business," Van Dusen said. DEVELOPMENT ALONG the Detroit River is used to portray a more positive impression of the city, described in marketing films as an area rich in history that is emerging from deterioration into a progressive "people "A return to the city's roots on the river, mixing the best of the past with the promise of the future," according to Detroit Mayor Coleman Young in one such marketing film. Developers, city officials and others envision the riverfront a mixed-use community, complete with cultural and shopping facilities that are linked to housing developments. The phenomenon has been called "yuppifying of the riverfront," "Detroit's second renaissance," and the "rebirth of the city.'

But others are more reserved in their opinions, labeling developers "genuine river gamblers" and expressing

"More diligence than ever is needed" when firms consider current shoreline projects, said contractor Ben Maibach of Southfield.

Maibach, president of Barton-Malow Construction Co., is an experienced riverfront contractor who built the Joe Louis Arena in the 1970s and the River Front Apart-

'Quality of life' is the issue

The city vs. the suburbs

Us vs. them.

Does the polarity have to exist? No, says Ted Moss, president of River Place Properties. In a speech before the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club, Moss pointed out the mutual benefits of a healthy city-suburb relationship. Here is an excerpt from his

"As a suburbanite who works downtown at the riverfront, I want to share my perspective on why we all should claim a connection to Detroit. I then want to talk about the suburbs' connection to the city.

"We all know the media thrives on conflict. Oftentimes, the suburbs are played out against the city. A local company leaving downtown for the suburbs turns into a story that plays up downtown's loss, the suburbs' gain. And when businesses decide to return to downtown — the river-front, for example — it can be termed part of a trend.

"I maintain that, when it comes to business location, it is not an 'us-vs.them' situation.

"AT STROH River Place, we are not in competition with suburban developments any more than with downtown developments or even other riverfront projects. Like other major projects in the city and in southeast Michigan, we market our product by stressing its special fea-

"The construction tradesmen who are working on Stroh River Place take pride in their role in the largest historic renovation in the Midwest. Some live in the city. But I would bet most are from surrounding communities. Do they think in terms of sub-urbs vs. city? Do they think in terms of us vs. them? I think not.

"I tend to believe those workers take pride in being part of a project that will make the community a better place to live, work and be entertained.

"Peter Stroh lives in Grosse Pointe Farms, River Place Properties chairman Bill Powers lives in Birmingham. I live in Bloomfield. But we join together in organizations that benefit Detroit.

Those who are really concerned with this area want to think of Detroit in the widest terms possible. Those who are really concerned with

But, Maibach cautions, "how quickly real change will Troy occur is questionable.

REBIRTH OR NOT, it is evident jobs have been created by the activity and suburban-based businesses are receiving a fair share of the work.

Redstone Associates, an architectural firm originally of Detroit and now of Livonia, is designing for River Place townhouses with comupterized security within an old warehouse.

We've always felt the thing that will bring Detroit back is to get people living downtown," said Redstone vice president Al Geddleman. "Our housing designs fall into that line of thinking."

EACH CONTRACT forges working links between the suburbs and the city, links illustrated by such comments as those of John Bailey who has lived in Farmington Hills and worked in Detroit for nearly 20 years. "I think of myself as a Detroiter," Bailey said. "I also think of myself as a suburbanite.

Roger Smith, chairman of General Motors, also serves as chairman of Detroit Renaissance, a non-profit group which promotes development in the city. Smith, who lives in Bloomfield Hills, said, "Many of us who live in the suburbs work in Detroit. We consider ourselves part of the whole metropolis.

"Erom that standpoint, (the city) provides a wide array of interesting, exciting and unique experiences that you cannot obtain in the suburbs. It's a special place. There is nothing else like it to be found in the area."

Now, Wherever We Have A Bank, You Have A Bank.

Manufacturers Bank has combined all of its local offices in Detroit, Livonia, Novi, St. Clair Shores and Southfield into one single bank

So from now on, wherever you see a Manufacturers Bank sign, you'll be look ing at one bank. And no matter where you live or work in metropolitan Detroit, you'll have access to the quality service at all of our 98 Detroit area branches.

this area want its people to take advantage of all the opportunities Detroit and its suburbs offer. Those opportunities can be commercial and job-related They can be social and they can be cultural.

The visionaries, the unifiers the true leaders - aren't confined to any municipal boundaries any more than they are confined to any political party Now you might say this kind of talk is lofty idealism. Well, let me bring it down to dollars and

"CITY, COUNTY and state taxes help improve services within the city that benefit city and suburban residents. A vital and healthy Detroit generates revenues not only for the city, but for the state and county, and that money is passed on to communities outside the city.

For businessoeople, Moss had these predictions:

'There will be no 'central business district' as we know it. Rather, business will be scattered throughout the suburbs and the city as land is reclaimed from neglect and transportation is improved. Businesses in the suburbs will find they need some Bort of downtown presence. And those businesses downtown will want improved links to those outside the

The Detroit business community will be more diversified than in the past as firms relocate or are formed here to take advantage of the area's engineering and manufacturing expertise. All this adds vitality to the community

"Admittedly, this is speculation. But there is always one thing you can count on happening. That is this: people are going to act in their own self-interest. Sure, the community leaders, politicians, business leaders, opinion makers and volunteers will play important roles in a brighter future for the city. We are already seeing this today. But by 1999 we will see even more clearly that reversing the physical deterioration in our central city is more than a matter of social compassion.

"AND PROTECTING funding for the arts in time of budget shortages is not just aesthetics. Making our neighborhoods safe is more than an issue of security

'Quality of life is the issue. And I believe that by 1999 even more people will recognize that the quality of life issue is one that affects them directly, affecting them economically. I believe we will see our citizens responding to efforts to improve that quality of life.

"We are counting on that. A lot of poeple - from the suburbs and from downtown - are counting on that. . . . You and I draw strength from each other. We are making a positive statement for your community. You will be our customers, residents and patrons. It is that interdependency that makes me most optimistic for our project, for our city. our state and our country."

Advertise at potential buyers

cording to the most recent forecasts. advertisers will spend $110 billion on this paid form of promotion by year

Historically, the largest percentage of advertising money has been spent by organizations working in conjunction with the nation's top 100 ad agencies.

But what about small business? Should a typical small business owner or manager advertise?

Exactly what affects the design and development of a successful advertising campaign? Is advertising the best way to reach large numbers of people both quickly and cheaply?

ADVERTISING IS defined as any paid form of promotion that allows a company to communicate some message to a desired mass audience.

The way this is done is through the use of non-personal media sources to include the print media (newspapers, magazines, trade publications and direct mail), the broadcast media (local, network or cable television, and radio), and outdoor media (billboards, signs and posters).

As a consultant working with small business in the areas of marketing and promotional program planning, I am continually amazed at the numbers of business owners willing to spend thousands of dollars on advertising, based primarily on the fact that so many people will see, hear or read their ad every week for a given number of weeks.

WHEN ALL is said and done, the purpose of advertising is to get an audience to do what is asked of · them. If one person or one million have been exposed to a firm's advertising, it doesn't mean a thing if no one does what has been requested.

Successful advertising isn't a mys-

Advertising is big business. Acterious or magical process. Like any other form of promotion available to independent business, you get out of advertising what you put into it.

There are many decisions that the business owners and managers must make before committing the time and money to advertising.

The first decision relates to what target audiences will the advertising be aimed at.

As an example, would a surgical supplies merchant expect a significant listener response by advertsing on the local rock and roll radio station? Of course not.

ON THE other hand, a vintage clothing retailer appealing to teenagers would be foolish not to consider this media source as a means of reaching this target audience.

If management cannot recognize its target audience, it would be best to hold off on any advertising until these markets are identified and subsequently located.

Next week we will discuss setting a firm's advertising objectives and formulating message strategies to meet these objectives.

Check all costs before investing

Today we will discuss the pros and cons of investing in a variety of mutual funds.

My research shows that although the cost of investing is steadily rising each year and the marketplace is inundated with different types of mutual funds, you can still make money if you know what funds work best for

Lure of No-load Funds

Three observations are apropos

First, every mutual fund, whether load or no-load, charges a management fee for managing your funds. So a no-load fund is not a no-fee

Second, since there are no load or fees involved with these funds, it is quite difficult to find a financial planner who would "manage" your investment in these funds.

Third, many no-load funds typically charge distribution or other types of fees which affect the total return of these funds.

Consequently, over time, the "total load" on a no-load fund could be higher than the load imposed by a load fund.

finances and you Sid Mittra

Notwithstanding the above considerations, if you wish to keep your money invested for, say, a year or so, you will be well advised to purchase only a no-load fund that fits your risk tolerance level and investment objectives.

Back-load Funds

Reflecting the mutual fund industry's responsiveness to an alternative to the traditional front-load fund, more than 600 funds have adopted the 12b1 plan, thereby becoming back-load funds.

In the strictest sense, these funds presume that the larger the fund's asset base, the better for all shareholders due to economies of scale, the use of a greater variety of management and technical strategies, and the lower execution costs.

Also, in these plans you benefit from the investment of the entire investment funds without any deduction for sales charges. Finally, even if you plan to liquidate your investment in, say, two years, your sales charges would be no more than what you would pay in a low-load fund and the charges won't be levied until you do redeem your shares.

In passing, I might mention that some of the best names are associated with back-load funds.

Low-load funds

Several funds now charge up-front 3 or 4 percent sales charges and therefore fall in this category. Some of these funds have established a good track record, and therefore are worthy of your consideration, especially if you are investing for the long-term.

Front-end load funds Contrary to what many people be-endangered species. In fact, many have established long and venerable track records and do provide attractive forms of investment.

Two observations are apropos here. First, front-end load funds should be selected only as a longterm investment. Second, some mutual fund timers have produced highly attractive rates of return by timing front-end load funds. The reason is simple. When the timing model developed by a professional timer perfectly fits the profile of fluctuations of a fund, over time the results can be phenomenal. However, a note of caution is in order. Since the sales charges can be as much as 8.5 percent, you should let your financial planner decide whether or not this type of mutual fund is appropriate for you.

"Your Investments, your Taxes and Tax Reform" seminar, sponsored by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Coordinated Financial Planning, will be held from 7-9.30 p.m. Tuesday, July 21, at the Baldwin Public Library, 300 W. Merrill. Birmingham.

Focus: HOPE, a metropolitan special service agency, is looking to assist needy area senior citizens, new mothers and mothers-to-be through two food distribution programs.

The organization's "Food for Seniors" program provides meat, poultry, vegetables, fruit, cheese, peanut butter, instant and evaporated milk, cereal, beans, instant potatoes, rice, honey, juices and raisins to more than 29,000 seniors each month.

Its "Food Prescription Program" provides the same materials, plus baby formula, juice and cereal for more than 40,000 pregnant women, new mothers and their children monthly.

Seniors must be at least 60, with monthly income below $596 per individual or $802 per couple.

Pregnant women and first-year mothers are also eligible. Children are eligible up to age 6.

Services are free. Transportation is available.

Further information is available by calling 883-1140.

Volunteers are needed to distribute food. Those interested in volunteering are asked to call Kae Halonen at 883-7440, Monday through Friday during normal business

Legislature off until Sept. 22

Both chambers of the Michigan Legislature are scheduled to return to the Capitol on Sept. 22 for the fall

The winter-spring session of the 1987 Legislature ended last week after lawmakers passed a flurry of budget bills Tuesday.

Special committees and those studying long-range bills will hold some meetings and hearings during

Veterans plan reunion

Local veterans who served in the U.S. Fifth Infantry Division are invited to attend a Labor Day Weekend reunion Sept. 4-7 in the Stouffer Hotel, Battle Creek.

Organizers say the reunion is of special interest to World War II veterans who trained at Fort Custer before eventually participating in D-

How to select college major

Schoolcraft College instructors will tell prospective students how to select a college major Monday, July

Participants will review possible majors as well as job market statistics. Staff members will discuss financial aid programs and school, job and home schedule-making.

The free program will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Additional information is available by calling 591-6400, Ext. 312.

Eastern raises its tuition 6 percent

Eastern Michigan University has raised tuition by 6 percent, beginning with fall 1987 classes.

Michigan residents will pay $50.75 per credit hour for undergraduate classes, an increase of $3. Residents will pay $69.75 per credit hour for graduate level courses, a $4 increase.

Out-of-state tuition is now $124 for undergraduate courses,a $7 increase and $163 per credit hour for graduate courses, a $9.50 increase. Ohio residents are eligible for in-state tuition rates under a reciprocal agreement with the University of Toledo.

The increase is $93 more per year for in-state and Ohio undergraduates and $96 for graduate students. For out-of-state students, the increase is $217 for undergraduates and $228 for graduate students.

Tuition increases should produce an additional $1.6 million, a university spokesman said.

The Wolverine VIII Soccer Tournament had a distinct Buckeye flavor last weekend.

Some 170 teams competed in the three-day extravaganza, which began Friday at three different sites in Livonia, capped by the championship finals Sunday at Schoolcraft College.

Ohio teams captured six of the 13 age divisions and finished second in

But in the under-19 division for girls, Ohio was shut out as two longtime Livonia rivals battled for the championship. The Hawks, coached by Paul Dugan, prevailed over the Crusaders, coached by Dave Lussier, 2-1, in double overtime. The two teams are primarily made up of players from Observerland.

The game wasn't decided until 22 seconds were left in the second fiveminute overtime as Farmington High sophomore Carrie Maier scored on an assist from Kim Montgomery.

IT WAS THE third time this season the Hawks had beaten the Crusaders. In a previous matchup between the two teams in the Michigan Youth Soccer Association State Cup, the Hawks also won in OT to qualify for Saturday's Midwest Regional in Burnsville, Minn. And during the regular season encounter, the Hawks prevailed by a goal.

"This was a good tuneup for the regionals," Dugan said. "I've had seven of these girls for eight years now. We won the under-16 (at the regionals) and took third that year (1985) in the nationals. I'm looking forward to it.

After a scoreless first half, Jennifer Sherman scored for the Hawks. but Laurie Hauber, a freshman from Harvard, countered with a goal or the Crusaders. The game remained 1-1 until Maier's goal.

Elks rally, defeat Ypsi in last at-bat

The Canton Elks produced a winning effort in the clutch Tuesday as they edged Ypsilanti 9-8 to run their Redford Adray-Connie Mack League

The Elks, 14-1 overall, faced an 8-4 deficit when they came to bat for the final time in the top of the seventh inning. With the pressure on, they came up with the five runs needed to win.

The decisive inning, in which the Elks sent 11 batters to the plate, began with Joel Riggs hitting safely. Tim Dowd drawing a walk and Steve Waite reaching base on a fielder's choice. An error on the latter play allowed Riggs to take third and loaded the bases.

Chris Sisler started the scoring parade with an RBI single. Then Dowd scored on an error, Waite on a passed ball as the Elks cut Ypsilanti's lead

AFTER TODD Kenyon was hit by a pitch to load the bases again, Kevin Learned and Steve Johnson were issued RBI walks, the second bringing Jay Buelow to the plate with the win-

Riggs went 3-for-5 and scored two runs, as did Sisler. Vince Fox keyed a four-run first inning with a two-run single.

The father-son racing duo of Tom and Doug Goad, competing in the IMSA Firestone-Firehawk Endurance Series with its Pontiac Firebird (No. 19 at left), met with success in '86 and is off to a good start in '87.

Father-son combination hits big time in endurance racing

UCCESS DOESN'T just breed success. In the world of auto racing, it breeds expansion. Ask Doug Goad.

The 29-year-old Farmington Hills resident and Birmingham Seaholm graduate has traveled a long, twisting road in a six-year racing career. He started driving a 1974 Buick Opel in the Waterford Hills circuit in 1981; now he's racing a Pontiac Firebird on the International Motorsports Association Firestone-Firehawk endurance circuit.

And sharing the driver's seat with him is Tom Goad - his father.

As Doug explained, "My hobby has grown into a time-consuming business operation.

IT'S ALSO GROWN into a fairly successful operation. After a spotty initial season on the IMSA Firestone-Firehawk circuit in 1985, the Goads improved dramatically in 1986. Their car finished all but one of 10 races, and they were first in the first five races of the season.

But problems haunted them. "Last year was frustrating," admitted Doug. "Our introduction into motor sports was a real learning ex-sionals," said Doug. "We had to get real serious or get out. This was no game anymore.

The Goads finished the '86 campaign with Doug fifth and Tom sixth in the driver's standings. Their teammates, Andy Pilgrim and Bill Bayley, who were also driving a Firebird, placed third (Pilgrim) and fourth in the driver's standings.

But it was Doug who was awarded the Norelco Cup, presented annually to the circuit's best driver.

"That kind of made up for a lot of things," he said.

THE 1987 SEASON has started smoother, if not as successful, for the Goads. In the six-hour opening race at Sebring March 20 they placed third. At the three-hour Riverside (Calif.) race April 25, a flat tire dropped them from second to 85th; they eventually finished sixth. The six-hour Phoenix race May 16 proved disasterous A blown gasket crippled their car, taking them to 28th out of 32 entries. That was no way to prep the car for the grueling 24-hour Watkins Glen (N.Y.) race, the next stop on the circuit. Of the 80 cars that started the June 17 race, the Goads had qualified 12th

By the first turn, Doug had streaked into fourth place. Problems kept cropping up, however: a spinout on wet, slippery, repatched pavement; a lap lost when the brakes failed; a change of the rear axle which, fortunately, took less than 41/2 minutes.

AND YET the Goads persevered. When the 24 hours had elapsed they were in second place, one spot ahead of teammates Pilgrim, Bayley and Tim Evans and 1:20 behind the winners - despite nursing blown

At the three-hour Road Atlanta race June 28, the Goads overcame a poor qualifying position (16th) and Doug's dehydration to move into sixth place with 30 minutes left in the race when they were mistakenly waved off the track by officials who thought they were spilling fuel. That dropped the Goads to 11th, and that's where they finished.

Five races remain on the schedule, starting this weekend at Summit Point (W. Va.). "Our object," said Doug, "is to win a manufacturer's championship." That goal is within reach; prior to the Road Atlanta

LAKERS 7, WILDCATS 5: As in Monday's game, the Lakers prevailed in the third period, outscoring the Wildcats 3-2 and protecting a 4-3 lead.

Olschanski and Sauer paced the victory with two goals apiece, and the former also added a pair of assists.

Chris Nickerson scored twice for the losers. who forced a 2-2 tie at the end of one period.

SPARTANS 4. BULLDOGS 3: The Spartans scored three second-period goals and then held on to win a squeaker.

Dan Lambert's second goal at 1.50 in the third period upped the margin to 4-1 before the Bulldogs rallied with two late goals, including one by Livonia's Dave Bramble, who had two goals and an assist.

Doug Smith and Mark Ottenbreit had the Spartans' other goals. Smith was credited with two assists also WOLVERINES 3, BRONCOS 3: The Broncos rallied to force a stalemate when Eric Kapelanski and Dave McAuliffe scored third-period goals.

But Ypsilanti bounced back with four in the bottom of the inning, tying the score on Tom Dessellier's two-run homer. Ypsilanti pulled ahead with two-run innings in the third and sixth.

Mike Sulak picked up the pitching victory after coming on in the sixth to get the final out and then striking out the side in the last of the seventh.

ADAM KOCIK started and went three innings, allowing six hits and six runs. But he struck out seven and walked two. Derek Darkowski worked the next 2% innings before Sulak entered the picture.

In light of the Elks' one-run victoxy margin, two defensive plays also figured prominently. Johnson, the eatcher, put out a baserunner trying to steal home in the third inning, and Sisler made a running, leaping catch against the left-field fence in the fifth, robbing the batter of a two-run

On Monday, the Elks scored four runs in the bottom of the third inning to erase a 2-0 deficit and take con-Irol of a game that resulted in an 8-2 victory over the Livonia Mustangs. TALK OF MANUFACTURER'S championships was well removed from Doug's thoughts six years ago when he was a weekend racer at Waterford Hills. Then came the championships; he won his GT-3 class and finished third overall in his Opel in 1982, captured the driver's ture. title and his class again in '83, then repeated as the GT-3 class champion in 1984.

That's when his dad, Tom, got involved in the driving. "He got tired of crewing for me," said Doug, "so he went out and bought his own car."

belt failed, slowing the Goads, then the rear axle exploded, finishing them.

The team's season of success did not go unnoticed, however. Mr. Joe's Racing Team of Southfield joined this year, bringing a third car and driver Evans - and additional sponsorship dollars - with it. Another car was later added, giving the Bayley Motorsports/Pontiac Firebird team four entries.

ALL IN THE pursuit of, as Doug put it, "racing for free." For he and his father, however, it's meant something else.

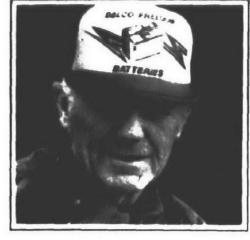

"It's something fun to do together," Doug explained. "Some guys like to play golf together. We like to race cars."

It's no hobby any longer, though not with a "$200,000 budget for four cars." Doug has his goals: "I, personally, would like to win a driver's championship."

But his ambitions stop short of major circuit racing. "I don't think I'd ever want to drive an open-wheel car. The wheels can get hooked and the cars can flip too easy.

For now, keeping his four-car team among the circuit leaders is enough.

Sports Fest first priority for netters

staff writer

Lisa Bokovoy and Debbie McDonald share the same attitude toward their upcoming involvement in the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival: It's another step up the ladder.

Where their respective ladders will lead is difficult to tell, since both are still negotiating the lower rungs. But it's no secret where each would like to be when their climb reaches its pinnacle — on the 1992 U.S. Olympic volleyball team.

But that's still a long way off, and they know it.

'I'm not even going there thinking about that," said McDonald, a Redford Bishop Borgess graduate who started as Purdue University as a

WHICH IS ALL any of the girls want out of the Festival games - a chance. There's more than just medals at stake in this competition; the big prize is recognition.

Bokovoy, a Livonia Stevenson grad who just completed her sophomore year at University of Kentucky, knows it.

"The (Festival) coaches make player evaluations after the tournament," she said. "Then they make their recommendations to the Olympic board."

Both McDonald and Bokovoy leave for the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, N.C., Saturday. Twice-a-day practices begin Sunday and last through next Friday. The four-team tournament begins Saturday, July 18. At the conclusion of three days of match play, the top two teams will play for the gold medal, with the next two teams battling for the bronze.

The gold-medal game will be telecast live by ESPN, the cable television sports network Wednesday, July

Father of aerobics is alive and kicking

Dear Myrna: Since I have been reading your column, you have mentioned Dr. Kenneth Cooper as being the father of aerobics. Is he still alive and kicking and what is he doing now?

Dr. Kenneth Cooper is very much alive and kicking and even more active than ever. I refer to him as the "father of aerobics" and he has

In 1968, Cooper published a book called "Aerobics," which introduced a whole new way of thinking on the subject of exercise. The book was written while Cooper was an Air Force physician and became a best seller to promote the "training effect," which improves the body's ability to use oxygen through vigorous physical activity.

The theory of his "Aerobics" book promoted strong heart, lungs and blood vessels - not necessarily slim, well-toned bodies. Health being the bottom line of his book, it opened a whole new way of thinking in the field of exercise. The word "aerobics" became a household word.

Currently, Cooper's headquarters is in Dallas. His Aerobic Center is a 30-acre wooded complex including a clinic, a health club and a 40room hotel. During the past 15 years, businessmen from all over the world have been taking advantage of the Aerobic Center. Cooper's program has appealed to many corporations.

His non-profit research laboratory is constantly developing new facts relating to health and aerobics. Currently, the laboratory is involved with testing the young population internationally. They are trying to prove the relationship between physical fitness and health; not just physical fitness and the ability to perform it.

In a recent interview with Cooper, he said: "After 26 years, I am still practicing what I preach. At age 30 I was in very poor condition, having gone through medical school and internship. But then I had a frightening experience of heart arrhythmia that made me aware of what I was doing to myself.

"Since then, I have not missed five consecutive days in getting some type of aerobic exercise, mostly jogging. I do three miles, five days per week. I'm always fighting a time schedule. I arrive at the

"At the end of the day, even though I feel worn out mentally, the exercise stimulates me. If I don't work out, I don't have much energy or desire. So I use exercise at the end of day for three reasons: it tranquilizes, depresses the appetite and makes you feel high and creative. Over the years, I've covered 22,000 miles. I have not missed a day from work because of illness since 1956.

'The reason I exercise is for the quality of life I enjoy. There is a distinction between being fit and being healthy. You can be healthy and still not fit and not be able to enjoy life to the fullest, because you don't have the strength to climb to the top of Mount Fuji with your 15year-old son, which I did last summer. You don't have the the strength to go skiing and go to the top of those mountains and really enjoy it. I can do that because I'm fit. I might not be able to do that, or it might be dangerous, if I were merely healthy."

The bottom line, according to Dr. Cooper, is six components of being fit:

U.S. gives islands to state

FERS to the growth of a state, people usually assume there was an increase in the population. After all, land doesn't grow. And we all know there isn't any land yet to be discovered in the state, right?

Wrong. Well, sort of wrong. Potagannissing Bay, on the western shore of Lake Huron's Drummond Island, is speckled with dozens of tiny islands. Some are as small as one-tenth of an acre and most of them are still unnamed.

Since the state was admitted to the union on Jan. 26, 1837, many of these islands, along with a few others scattered throughout the state, have been under federal jurisdiction. Some housed lighthouses and others were simply omitted when Michigan was surveyed in the early 1800s.

HO SEZ they don't make movies like they used 'That's exactly what we're trying to do," declares director Jeff Boucher of Birmingham. He and producer Susan Doll Jolliffe, a former Birmingham resident, are partners in Joss Pictures of Huntington Woods.

They will begin filming "Good Copy" next month on Mackinac Island with Gil Hill starring as the island police chief.

"'Good Copy' is in the old roman-tic tradition," Jolliffe said.

Boucher thinks it's much harder to do romantic films. "It's easy enough to make a teen movie with sex, violence and bad jokes. We're trying to make a suspenseful, entertaining film," he said. "We want to scare people but we don't want to gross them out. We want to make them laugh.

.Jolliffe said, "So many pictures show the garbage demps in Detroit. Here we have a chance to show some of the pretty things in Michigan."

"Good Copy" is a romantic adventure set on Mackinac Island. The hero, Jack McCallister, a reporter for the island paper, sets out to enhance his career with a phony kid-

THE VICTIM of the hoax? Jinx Winford, daughter of the richest man on the island, fudge mogul Fred Winford. Nothing ever works out, and the mythical Indian medicine man Jack blames for the kidnapping turns out to be real.

"We've got a pretty ambitious project, and people on Mackinac are really excited about 'Good Copy,' Boucher said, obviously pleased that his film will showcase the island. 'Somewhere in Time' did not show the island. People are going to know that this is Mackinac Island.' Quite an ambitious enterprise, even for a bright, talented, hard working couple in their 20s.

How do two young people set about choosing such a career? How do they raise $1.2 million, cast Detroit Police Commander Gil Hill of 'Beverly Hills Cop" fame and devote their lives to filmmaking?

It's not easy but Boucher and Jolliffe are well on their way, with softspoken determination.

Birmingham-born and Milfordraised, Jolliffe "started working for a newspaper after getting my degree in journalism from Northwestern. But I decided working for a paper

"It's rare to find the right person at the right moment and the right place and ready to take the same risks - obviously it's a risky business. It requires a certain amount of willingness to give up everything else in your life," she said.

Boucher commented. "We're taking the bull by the horns. Instead of working our way up through the ranks or trying to make it out of the studio system, we decided to raise the money ourselves and start at the bottom of the top.

Add a little luck to their hard work, talent and determination the result "Good Copy" will be good

Orchestra gives Copland first- class treatment

Brook Festival had a much larger audience last Thursday than during its previous two weeks. This was, of course, the beginning of the long Fourth of July weekend After observing roads severely congested by vacationers heading north and so many others braving downtown Detroit traffic to watch the fireworks on the river front, it was a wonder there were so many left to attend the Meadow Brook program.

Traditionally, these holiday concerts have been followed by a lavish display of fireworks on the grounds. This year, however, the fireworks were cancelled due to inability to obtain fire insurance for the pavilion.

This must have left many in the audience disappointed. Had this been more widely advertised, it might have affected the attendance for this program, featuring music by Aaron that it amounts to much more than a simplistic display of nationalism. It is the kind of music that could embrace everybody, regardless of national origin.

To a large degree, Copland's music is appealing in its accessibility. It has none of the harsh and controversial contemporary elements that tend to turn audiences away. It features melodies that one can actually sing, some of which are based on fa-

This program provided samples of both familiar and less familiar works by Copland. Among the for-mer were "El Salon Mexico" and "Billy the Kid." Among the less familiar were the short work "Letter from Home" and the Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra.

Guest conductor Leonard Slatkin. music director of the St. Louis Symphony, is among the most respected visiting conductors here. His ability to combine plain, old-fashioned enthusiasm with high musical standards was crucial in elevating this music to high art. Whatever one's opinion may be of the music's intrinsic quality, one tends to treat it with respect after such a capable performance.

Visiting clarinet virtuoso, Richard Stoltzman, excited the audience with

• SUNSET SERENDIPITY

Walk the woods at dusk — just as the sun sets. That's the invitation from the staff of the University of Michigan-Dearborn Environmental Study Area for a tour at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. As the sun sets, walkers will be alerted to sights and sounds that occur as night hours approach. The tours are free and last about 90 minutes. Walkers should meet at the study area's main entrance on Fairlane Drive inside the UM-D campus. Dress for the season.

• METALWORK COLLECTION

The Cranbrook Metalwork Collection, a fascinating exhibition of silver, gold, brass and iron objects, will be on view at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum through Sept. 20.

Featuring 33 objects and 17 drawings, the show presents many of the finest metalsmithing pieces from the Cranbrook Collection. Vases, jewelry, sculptures, andirons, chalices and lamps are among the works on display. Drawings by Ellel Saarinen for flatware, gates and andirons are also included.

For tour information, call 645-323.

Arts group redefines its focus

The Arts Alliance Group, a nonprofit organization consisting of individuals interested in enhancing the quality of the arts in the northwestern suburbs, has reorganized and redefined its purpose.

According to Ken Kelsey, new TAAG chairman, "We have changed the focus of TAAG from being a 'fund-raising' organization to a 'funraising' group." The emphasis of TAAG now will be to organize artistic programs and excursions which will be fun and a good entertainment value for the arts consumer.

Recently, TAAG members took a bus trip to Ann Arbor for a jazz concert by Dave Brubeck. The next program will be a trip to Chicago to see the Chicago Symphony Orchestra perform at the Ravinia.

The TAAG group will leave on Friday, July 24, and will return Sunday, July 26. The per person price of $199 covers round trip train to Chicago from Dearborn and back, two nights at the Westin Hotel, all transfers, admission to the symphony concert on Saturday, July 25, at 8:30 p.m., and all taxes and gratuities for the above items.

THE CHICAGO SYMPHONY will present a Russian night at their July 25 concert. The renowned Soviet maestro Gennady Rozhdestvensky will be conducting the Shostakovich Symphony No. 10, E Minor, Opus 93 and the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 3. The guest planist will be Nelson Friere.

The group will depart on the Amtrak train from Dearborn at 12:05 p.m. on Friday, July 24 and will return the following Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Information regarding the TAAG trip to Chicago can be obtained from Diana Socha at Travel-Masters, 591-9022.

Future TAAG artistic endeavors will include an art auction in October and a concert by the Jackson Chorale in the early winter. Additional information about membership in TAAG and its activities can be obtained by contacting Kelsey at 261-2620 or by writing TAAG, P.O. Box 2412, Livonia, 48151.

A stucco-like exterior with aqua arched canopies will greet customers at the front entrance of the new Jacobson's set to open Aug. 15 in Livonia.

New Jacobson's contemporary in design

N OCTAGON-shaped skylight—an impressive 56 feet above the base of a glass escalator — is one of the many design highlights of Jacobson's new Laurel Park Place Livonia store opening Aug.

The 150,000-square-foot, two-level store has a contemporary "abstract classic" design. An off-white, studio-like exterior with contrasting aqua arched canopies creates a fresh and appealing look that architecturally blends with the surrounding neighborhood. Inside, a marble staircase, wood and marble trims throughout the store, hand-carved wood moldings and arched windows are surrounded by combinations of pastel and neutral color schemes.

The exterior architects for the project are Brown and Deyo Associates Inc. of Bloomfield Hills, and the general contractor is D. M. Kitchen of Troy. Jacobson's own store planning is responsible for the interior design and space planning.

"Each of our stores — and Livonia is the newest example — is a reflection of the community it's in," said J. Russell Fowler, chairman of the board of Jacobson's. "The individuality of each Jacobson's store has been an important factor in our success.

art commissioned by the federal government during the 1930s — were published by the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) to celebrate 50 years of federal patronage of the arts. GSA is the government's business manager, providing, among other things, workspace for most federal civilian agencies.

Called "Federal Art: Portrait of the Nation," the collection was unveiled in Washington, D.C. last month by GSA Administrator Terence C. Golden. The 24-by-30-inch posters, printed in full color, are available in prepackaged sets of five for $10 per set.

"OUR GOAL IS TO increase the quality of the space we occupy by creating an attractive and people-oriented environment. We are making federal art widely available to federal agencies to enhance their workspace," Golden said. But the offer is also being made available to the general public.

Five posters showcase works originally commissioned for GSA's Art-in-Architecture program, which allocates one-half of 1 percent of the cost of new construction projects — of major renovations — for fine art to enhance federal buildings. Since 1962, GSA has commissioned more than 250 works nationwide.

During the depression years,
Golden said, the government also commissioned art for federal office buildings, post offices and courthouses, "producing the first body of truly American public art." Ten posters depicting art from this period feature original paintings now in the Smithsonian's collections.

The Golden Anniversary series, "A New Deal for American Art in Federal Buildings," 1935-1943, includes two sets of five posters each, with works commissioned by the Work Projects Administration (WPA) and other federal agencies.

Set one consists of "Greetings from a Manhattan Artist," by Ida Abelman; "Sixth Avenue 'L,"" by Francis Criss; "Composition," by Stuart Davis; "Structure," by Eugene Morley; and "Aerial Act," by Louis Schanker.

SET TWO CONSISTS of "Festival at Hamburg," by William E.L. Buffn; "School's Out," by Allan Rohan Crite; "Italians in Jefferson Park," by Jerome Myers; "Artists on WPA," by Moses Soyer; and "Skating in Central Park," by Agnes Tait.

The Silver Anniversary series, "Celebrating the Vitality of American Art in Federal Buildings," 1962-1986, showcases five works from GSA's Art-in-Architecture program: "Flamingo," by Alexander Calder; "Tlingit," by Robert Hudson;" On High," by Alexander Calder; "Joatinga," by Frank Stella, and "Chorale," by Isaac Witkin.

Although published primarily to enliven government work areas, these handsome prints would brighten any room — at home or at work. They also would be ideal gifts for art or history buffs

The posters are available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402-9325, or by calling (202) 783-3238. They also may be purchased at Government Printing Office bookstores.

"Skating in Central Park" (1934) by Agnes Tait is one of 15 posters in a portfolio of public art being offered by the U.S. General Services Administration.

Mixing colors is very time consuming and often frustrating. So let's continue with the discussion we started here a few weeks ago with a few more color recipes from Carmine a watercolorist whose work I admire Carmine teaches at the Art Store & More and I am pleased with the success of her students. Here's some of her advice

A FAVORITE pigment of mine is brown madder alizarine. Put a little of this pigment (with a lot of water) next to a wash of neutral tint. Both colors will absolutely glow.

French ultramarine plus a little alizarine brown madder can be an interesting combination - especially if allowed to mingle on their own wet in-wet instead of pre-mixing them on the pallette. Sometimes I help them a little by tilting the paper to control how they bleed.

'Also, try throwing light wash of brown madder alizarine (or Indian Red) into the distant sky or landscape. This can give the feeling of sunset, but don't overdo it.

"Sometimes I have completed a landscape and discovered it didn't have the depth I wanted. Those mountains just didn't settle back into the distance the way I would have liked. One solution to this is to put a light wash of Paynes gray or neutral tint over the area I want to recede. This usually pushes things into the background fairly well.

"Also, a good neutral gray can be mixed with cobalt turquoise and alizarine in equal parts. Cobalt turquoise can be a beautiful color if toned down with a touch of brown madder alizarine. Also, a mixture of cobalt turquoise and French ultramarine can be absolutely beauti-

"THE BEST WAY TO find your favorite is to get out your paints and play - keep records of some of the combos you really like. Make a color swatch and write under it what you used to mix that color. That way, six months from how, you won't be desperately trying to remember how

Frame picture before you shoot

We'll all agree that a properly se-lected and assembled frame will add greatly to the presentation of a piece of artwork, including photographs.

But, did you know there's another kind of frame you can apply to your photographs, one that will make you nictures much stronger with far greater impact?

I'm referring to a technique called "framing" done through the viewfinder as you compass your shot. As a compositional tool, framing can turn an otherwise-plain shot into one with strength and vitality.

How do you begin to use framing techniques? Begin by looking through, around, over and under a foreground object that totally or partially frames a more important subject behind.

For example, hanging branches will add interest to the sky and will round, either in color or tonal values. give emphasis to the landscape or will be exciting too

seascape in the background

An overhanging roof adds accent to a street scene An archway will direct attention to the subject inside. and a foreground rock formation will give substance and foundation to an overall scene

EVEN PORTRAITS can be made more dramatic when a window is used as an impromptu frame

Often, framing effects are so natural that you may not be aware of them in a photograph Yet if the framing were absent it would be missed, and the picture impact diminished

Look for unusual frames such as a car door an outstretched arm, or a twisting river or fence. Frames that contrast with the area they sur-

Because many of the frames you'll be using will be close to the camera, you will have to pay careful attention to depth-of-field. Often times, a small aperture (f11-22) will be needed to maximize depth-of-field so that foreground objects and background subjects will both be in focus in the final picture. By using your camera's depth-offield scale and depth preview button, you'll be able to achieve the zone of sharpness your shot requires. SWITCHING TO a wide-angle lens will increase depth-of-field even further and will help you to get foreground objects in the scene.

There may be times when you want to intentionally blur the foreground to obtain a misty, almost romantic effect. Just adjust the depthof-field accordingly

Short shots

Monte Nagler will conduct a weekend photography seminar July 25-26 as a part of Cranbrook P.M.'s summer offerings.

The Saturday instruction will be indoors. On Sunday, those enrolled will be able to put what they learned into practice on the Cranbrook grounds on Sunday

Ideas galore at Homearama

OMEARAMA, the builders annual showcase of new idea houses being held from July 9 to Aug. 2 this year, will almost triple in size with 34 new builtespecially-for-Homearama houses worth $10 million, making it one of the largest shows of its type in the country.

For the first time in its five-year history. Homearama will be staged at two sites simultaneously - in Rochester and in Macomb Township. The Macomb Township location will be the first time Homearama will be in the east side.

Each house is the creation of its own team of architects, builders, interior designers and landscapers, and incorporates their latest ideas and techniques.

DONALD PRATT, chairman of Homearama for the fifth year for the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, is optimistic about this year's

"This is by far the finest, most exciting Homearama we have ever presented," said Pratt. "I wouldn't be surprised if attendance hits 150,000 or more, doubling last year's 80,000.'

Pratt, president of Wake-Pratt Enterprises Inc. of Troy, bases his predictions on Homearama running 25 days this year compared with 18 last year, and also that Homearama is being held at the prime time of the year with better weather and more daylight hours. Last year's Homearama in Livonia featured 12 houses and run Sept 12 through Oct. 12.

Nineteen houses will be clustered in the hilly Stony Pointe subdivision in Rochester, called by Pratt "one of the nicest sites we could ever find for Homearama, and one we've had our eve on for a couple of years

HOUSES AT STONY Pointe or Parkdale between Rochester and Dequindre roads, will be in the $225,000 to $500,000 price range

On the east side, 15 houses in the $115,000 to $200,000 price range will be in the Jefferson Meadows subdivision on 22 Mile between Hayes and Romeo Plank roads in Macomb Township, now Detroit's fastest-growing suburban area

Homearama will be open noon to 10 p.m. Mondays-Fridays, and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

The admission price of $4 per person at each location includes an extensive plan book covering all houses. Discount coupons for each location are available at all offices of Detroit Edison, First Federal of Michigan and Standard Federal Bank, which sponsor Homearama with the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan

A tent of exhibits on house heating, cooling and financing will be presented by the co-sponsors at Homearama. Free parking is provided at each location, and refreshments will be sold.

Home decor ideas abound

One of the nicest things about any Homearama are the ideas on home decor the show presents along with the the latest in home design. Here, in the Jasmine home, by Lepore Building Co. in Jefferson Meadows, interior designer Elaine M. Hershock captures a feeling of warmth in the classic French two-story home that features - among other things - a master bedroom with a fireplace with tile and wood mantle The living area is shown here.

Homearama is showcase of what's 'in' in new homes

STROLL through the 34 new homes displayed in Homearama, in two locations this year, July 9 to Aug. 2, will leave no doubt as to what's "in" in new homes.

Each the product of its own team of builder, architect, interior designer and landscaper, the homes showcase the latest features that are tempting today's home buyers, plus innovative features for tomorrow's homes.

French doors are definitely in, but not only for interior doors but exterior doors

In the interiors, they lead from den to gathering room in the Kensington by Woodlake Homes and from the nook to master bedroom in the Oakville by J.C.A. Construction, two of the 15 homes on display in Jefferson Meadows, the Homearama location on 22 Mile between Haves and Romeo Plank in Macomb Township.

EXTERIOR FRENCH doors lead to the decks in the Atria, by Sgroi Construction, The Excalibur, by Cohen/ Winkler Properties, and the Nouveau, by Laran Building Co., all in Jefferson Meadows. Also there, the Jasmine, by Lepore Building Co., has French doors leading out from the foyer.

The French doors separating the formal dining room from the great room in the Shenandoah, by Hopper Construction, also in Jefferson Meadows, are bronze leaded.

Double French doors lead into the library in the Oak Wood, by Wake Pratt Enterprises, one of 19 homes in Stony Pointe Homearama location on Parkdale Road between Rochester Road and Dequindre in Rochester.

POSITIVELY IN is the use of oak wood, as the names of Wake Pratt Enterprises so visibly recognize. This hard, durable wood is found almost everywhere in everything, from staircases and paneling to kitchen cabinets and

Oak paneling is used in both the study and the kitchen of the Hampton, by Olympia Homes Inc., in Stony

A solid oak herringbone-pattern floor is featured in the Wake Pratt home as Elegante, by Vito Anthony Homes in well, and an oak parquet floor is featured in the Shenandoah.

Open, winding and hanging staircases are an innovative item this year. The Hillcrest, by Barnard & Associates and Caesar Homes in Stony Pointe, has a three-story winding staircase of oak,

The stairway in the Jeffersonian, by A. E. Mead Inc. in Jefferson Meadows, is circular, while the one in the Allison, by Rayco Building Co., is free standing.

SOMETHING NEW in stair rails are those made entirely of glass in the Renaissance, by D. E. Parsley Builder Inc., at Jefferson Meadows.

Master bedrooms on the first floor came in a year or two ago, and now Kellett & Saylor and William D. Rex Custom Builders, Ltd. have advanced the concept with master suites on the first floors in their Stony Pointe homes.

The Bedford, by Kellett and Saylor, incorporates an attached study and whirlpool bath in their suite, while Rex incorporates a den with fireplace and two-person marble jacuzzi tub in its RexCrest home.

The two-person principle of togetherness is very much in, with other doubles tubs in the RexCrown, another home by Rex in Stony Pointe, and the Shenan-

Two-person showers are found in the Carrington, by Oliver Homes Inc., and the Michele, by Sura & Schneider Builders Inc., both in Stony Pointe.

A new development in the two-person separate but equal concept is the his and hers separate walk-in closets in the master suites by Jim Sardelli & Associates' Elegante in Stony Pointe, and in the Auburn, by Kamego Building Co. in Jefferson Meadows.

ISLAND WORK centers in kitchens are bigger than ever, as seen in the Heritage, by CJM Builders Inc. in Stony Pointe. Some incorporate a sink, like the ones in the Tricia, by Rayco Building Co., and the Meadowbrook, by D&T Construction Co., both in Jefferson Meadows. A cook top is incorporated in the one in the Nouveau, and an island is a snack bar in Rayco's other home in Jefferson Meadows, the Allison.

Box-out windows are more prolific than ever this year, and featured in such homes as the Omni, by Pacific Homes at Jefferson Meadows, and the Manchester, by Bing Construction Co. in Stony Pointe.

Greenhouse windows and garden windows are still in, like the one in the kitchen of the Yorkshire, by M.J.C. Homes Inc. in Stony Pointe.

Arched windows are more in than ever, with a good example found in the Stony Pointe, where they are in the library and master bath.

The Homearama unofficial award for the most fireplaces - still in this year - goes to L.C. Homes Inc. for the four they designed into the basement, great room, master bedroom and living room of the Sheffield, in Stony Pointe.

The most unusual fireplace in Homearama may well be the one of drift

1st Federal 'privileged' to offer home financing

First Federal of Michigan is co-sponsubdivision in Rochester. The site is $500,000. Parkdale Road, north of M-59, between Rochester and Dequindre roads.

"As Michigan's largest provider of home mortgages for more than 35 years, we think it's most appropriate and a real privilege - to work with the Michigan on this project," said Ronald A. Sinclair, First Federal's executive vice president for lending, in announcing his on Saturday and Sunday. company's participation.

'The 19 homes this year are absolutely spectacular, and are packed with great ideas for building materials, design and decor," he commented. First Federal provided funds for lot development in the subdivision, and soring the Rochester Homearama, to be construction funds for model homes, held July 9-Aug. 2 at the Stony Pointe which range in value from $250,000 to

> "Now we look forward to having the opportunity to prove the end-loan financing to purchasers of homes in the entire subdivision." Sinclair added.

First Federal loan officers will staff an information booth in the Homearama Builders of Association of Southeastern exhibit pavilion throughout the show. Hours are noon to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Current loan offerings from First Federala include a one-year adjustable rate mortgage, 15-year and 30-year fixed-rate mortgage loans, and a special 15-year graduated payment mortgage

Deck the homes . . .

The last few years has seen the popularity of wood decks grow and popularity of wood decks grow and grow. They're even more popular this year with Homearama models in both Stony Point and Jefferson Meadows. Shown is a deck on the Meadowood, built by D&T Construction, in Jefferson Meadows. It is accessible from the dining room. Many of the homes feature French doors to wood deck patios areas.

Country English touches

A country English flair is evident in the formal wood paneled library of the Brookstone, by the Brody Group, in the Stony Pointe sector of Homearama. Focal point is the marble fireplace, one of two in the two-story transitional colonial. For the opening, special flowers have been flown in from England and placed throughout the home. Interiors were by Modern Studio of Interiors.

Renaissance

One of the unique features in the Renaissance, by D. E. Parsley Builder Inc., is the all-glass stair rail leading to the balcony bridge overlooking the foyer and gathering room. The house also has three skylights and a media room. Price range for the three-bedroom, three-bath English Tudor: $160,000-$170,000. In the Jefferson Meadows portion of Homearama.

Stony Pointe to have lighted walkway system

OR THE FIRST time in its fiveyear history, Homearama will feature a pedestrian sidewalk with a prototype lighting sys-

The lighting system, a joint venture of Detroit Edison and developer Carl Sams, will provide security lighting in the 1988 Homearama homes in the Stony Pointe subdivisions in Rochester.

The walkway lighting system features decorative colonial-style fixtures that use 70-watt high-pressure sodium vapor

"Many communities do not provide street lighting to subdivisions," said Ray

A. Maly, builder development specialist for Detroit Edison.

"Carl Sams was interested in trying something new with the Stony Pointe development that could enhance the safety and value of homes with a subdivision that has not street lighting.

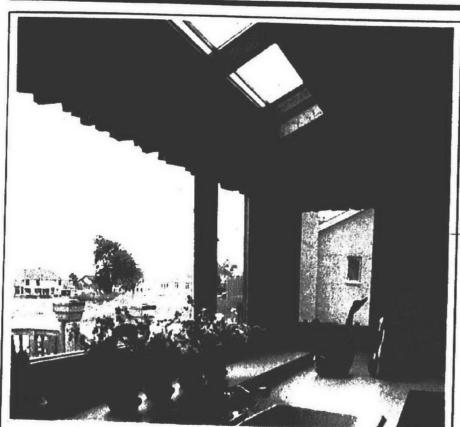

"This pilot program allows us to evaluate the installation and overall acceptance of a lighted walkway system. Because of its success, we hope to offer a similar package to other developers this

IN ADDITION TO the walkway lighting system, Detroit Edison has designed the security lighting systems in almost all Homearama homes in Stony Pointe and Jefferson Meadows subdivision in Macomb Township

"Our lighting experts designed lighting layouts and recommended appropriate fixtures for the homes' exteriors including lawn, deck and driveway areas," Maly said. "All fixtures include automatic or photocell timers to maximize the use of the safety lights."

Some of the Homearama homes also have the latest in heating and cooling systems. Air-to-air heat pumps were installed as add-on features to fossil-fuel furnaces to give homeowners efficient, economical heating in the winter and air conditioning in the summer.

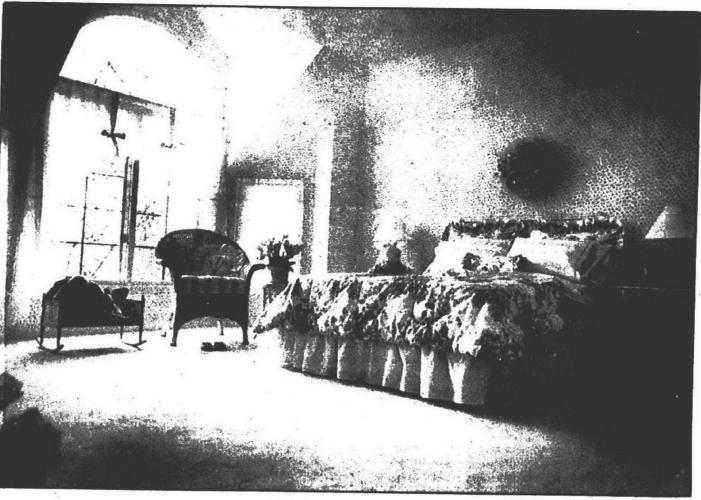

Detroit Edison is sponsor of Homearama, along with First Federal of Michigan and Standard Federal Bank. Discount coupons, good for $1 off the admission price to Homearama Monday-Friday, will be available at Detroit Edison customer offices two weeks prior to Homearama.

Standard Federal is Homearama sponsor

Standard Federal Bank is co-sponsoring Homearama to be held July 9 through Aug. 2 in the Jefferson Meadows subdivision, on 22 Mile Road between Hayes and Romeo Plank Road in Macomb Township.

"As one of the leading lenders in the Detroit metropolitan area, we are proud to participate with the Builders Association of Southeastern Michlgan in this year's Homearama project," said John P. Ray, executive vice president and chief lending officer at Federal Standard Bank.

He said Standard Federal is very excited about this year's Homearama because this the first year the event will be presented in the eastern suburbs of metropolitan Detroit.

The 15 homes in this year's Homearama offer a variety of creative and unique home building ideas for the thousands of visitors who will attend the show.

Standard Federal provided the construction money for the model homes and "we will also offer financing to purchasers of homes throughout the entire subdivision," Ray add-

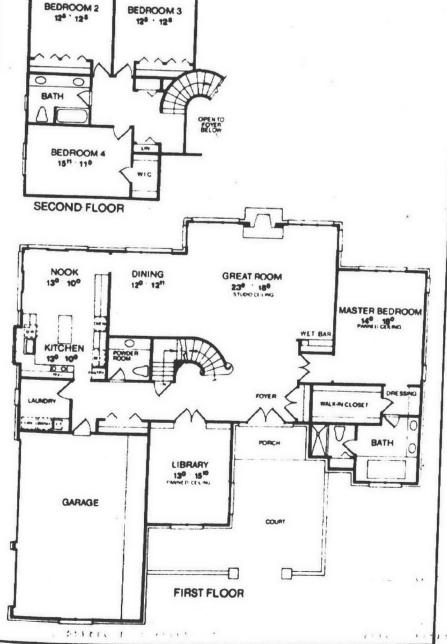

Standard Federal will have an information booth in the Homearama exhibit area for the duration of the show. Hours for the show are noon to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Your insulation can be robbed dramatically of its "R" value efficiency for those building or siding their home. No other single element will affect the family energy budget more. So careful consideration is given to selecting the type and amount of insulation to provide the best "R" value efficiency.

Unfortunately, depending on many factors, this efficiency can drastically drop. One of the major culprits is air infiltration. Now, from DuPont, there is a cost effective solution.

Insulation is a major concern It's called Tyvek® Housewrap ...and its significantly reduces air infiltration.

Priced amazingly low, and easily installed by your builder, DuPont Tyvek® Housewrap can raise your insulation efficiency right from the start. And that can mean solid savings. We urge you to write for our free brochure on Tyvek® Housewrap. See how very little it can cost you to protect your "R" value.
