A new start

Three Plymouth businesses celebrated historic events in

Flag Day proved to be a banner occasion for Highland Appliance.

The retail outlet decided to dedicate its new Plymouth headquarters June 14. About 400 corporate employees watched the flagraising ceremony at the company's headquarters on Sheldon.

The flag used during the dedication was presented to the company by Chris Campbell, regent of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The flag had flown over the U.S. Capitol.

Highland has 73 retail stores in Michigan and nine other states. The building was occupied by Western Electric/Ameritech until Highland took over the structure in November 1986.

30 years

Another Plymouth corporation, Adistra, is celebrating a different anniversary. The firm is now 30

An invitation-only open house is scheduled at 5 p.m. Thursday to celebrate the anniversary. Cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and entertainment are on the agenda for the open house.

The packaging and warehousing operation now occupies the building that formerly housed the Daisy Air Rifle factory.

50 years

Both Highland and Adistra still have a long way to go catch up to Burroughs, now known as Unisys.

The company's Plymouth plant celebrated 50 years in business with a party earlier this month.

All employees and retirees attending received a coin commemorating the plant's "50 years of progress, pride and excellence.

A birthday cake in the shape of the plant also was dished out to participants.

The Plymouth facility opened in 1938 and has manufactured automation, banking and computer equipment. Now, more than 1,000 people from Unisys Financial Products Group, Peripherals Group and other business operations work at the facility.

Ford wants 4th tax break

By Doug Funke staff writer

Ford Motor Co., which has received three property tax breaks at its Sheldon Road facility in Plymouth Township, has asked for a fourth abatement.

The automobile manufacturer proposes to replace 10 mold injection presses this year and next at a cost of $5 million.

State law allows municipalities to tax improvements to plant, equipment and land at half the prevailing rate for up to 12 years.

The law, passed in 1974, was designed to create a more favorable business climate in the state.

Ford's abatement would be about $28,000 the first year, double that as the rest of the presses go on the tax rolls in 1990. A public hearing on Ford's abatement request has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 28, at township hall.

A SECOND company - Caremark Homecare - has asked for tax abatement on $1 million in improvements and new equipment for a facility it's leasing in Metro West Industrial Park.

That abatement would amount to about $14,000 the first year.

The public hearing for Caremark Homecare also will be conducted

The township board has never denied a tax abatement request. Other tax abatement requests are planned for Ford's Sheldon Road rate tax attorney, but he declined to

While no new jobs would be created with the new mold injection presses, 22 would be retained as a result of the project, Ford's abatement application indicates.

"EXISTING presses with an average age of 11.5 years must be replaced to maintain current capacity and quality requirements," the application states. "If our molding productivity remains constant, we will quickly become uncompetitive to not only our foreign competition, but to local domestic molding shops."

The merger of two companies in Livonia and the inability to find an appropriate building in that city prompts the move to Plymouth, said Patricia Moorhatch, branch operations manager.

The transfer will occur in August. About 70 employees will relocate. 15 jobs within two years after moving to the township.

Noise levels at plant to be checked

staff writer

A study funded by Plymouth Township and Howmet Corp. on Ann Arbor Road will determine whether noises coming from the plant are too loud. Complaints from people who live near the 120,000-square-foot factory prompted the review.

A report should be ready in about three months, said Richard Kolano, whose firm will conduct the study.

A noise monitoring device will be placed at three locations near the property line between Howmet and residential neighbors. Each site will be monitored 24 hours a day for a

"What our instruments will provide is a record of noise vs. time," Kolano said. "By comparing day to day and hopefully a day when the plant isn't operating, we can assess the impact of the plant in the community. RONALD HITZEL, plant manager, said he believes the study will confirm that Howmet isn't violating any noise regulations.

Hitzel added that he sympathizes with the residents.

"It is a problem," he said. Complaints generally start up in spring as the weather warms and nearby homeowners open their windows and spend more time outside.

Hitzel said he wants to be a good neighbor, but he can't close the plant.

He also said he isn't so cavalier to blame the residents even though most of them bought their houses after the plant was built

"It's a problem we'll try to work out," Hitzel said. "We'll reduce. reduce, reduce. We'll work together. You've got to constantly listen, mon-

Howmet has planted trees in an effort to establish a noise buffer, Hitzel said. The company is exploring the possibility of moving a piece of equipment, he added.

HOWMET has cooperated before when confronted with noise complaints, said James Anulewicz, township planning director.

The bill for the $12,200 study will be split between the township and Howmet.

"All that we're trying to say is what are the noises there, who is creating the noises and what is the level of noise," Anulewicz said. Howmet makes special alloy parts for jet engines.

Bar license hearing delayed again

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

The latest snafu in Plymouth Township's attempt to remove the liquor license of the Plymouthrock Saloon is just one more in a series of delays imposed by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, attorneys and Ingham County Circuit Court.

Township officials have sought since February to revoke the license of the Plymouthrock on grounds that it has become a public nuisance.

A Canton woman was killed in a head-on crash outside the bar in 1986 by a driver, then underage, who'd been drinking at the Rock shortly beforehand.

Ingham County Circuit Judge Thomas Brown was to have held a hearing Wednesday intended to determine whether Plymouth Township rightfully refused to renew the Rock's liquor license.

Assistant attorney general Arthur D'Hondt, prosecuting the case for the LCC, showed up late for the hearing.

"THE ASSISTANT attorney general was not there. He didn't make it over in time. I met him outside the building half an hour later. He is supposed to be representing the people," said attorney John Stewart, who's handling the case for Plymouth Township.

So the judge set another hearing date - Wednesday, July 13.

State law permits cities and townships to revoke liquor licenses. To do so, the local government must grant the licensee due process rights at an open hearing. The LCC must uphold the community's findings, as long as due process rights were granted.

After holding hearings in February, Plymouth Township trustees voted to a) revoke the bar's liquor license, and b) not renew the license, which was to have expired May 1.

New sign to identify schools at CEP

Plymouth Salem and Canton high school students may see a new structure on their campus come the fall.

The Canton Township Zoning Board of Appeals gave the go-ahead Thursday for the construction of a sign at the intersection of Canton Center and Joy roads, near the district's two high schools.

It is hoped that the sign will "eliminate the confusion once people get to the corner and say 'OK, which school is which," said Plymouth Canton High School principal Thom-The sign will identify the area as of it will direct people to Canton, and the other will point the way to neighboring Salem.

The proposed structure is to be bigger than what is allowed by the township sign ordinance, but the zoning board granted a variance.

The sign will be 94 square feet and will stand about 5 feet high, Tattan

He said the sign is being paid for with money raised by graduating classes, and the cost is "not being covered by any board funds."

Work is to begin next week. Tattan said the goal "is to have it all done when the kids come back at the end of August."

Liquor Control commissioner Maxine Perry said the commission may decide Wednesday whether the bar's license should be revoked. The decision won't be made public until it's put in writing. That will take about two weeks. Perry said.

Attorney Richard Rubin, prosecuting the revocation case for the LCC is optimistic but hesitant to proclaim

The field where pumpkin seeds should be germinating is bone dry.

Bunyea and his son, Wilford, survey the thirsty field.

Guy Bunyea adjusts the head of the sprinkler, which he's using to irrigate his pumpkin field.

Pond digging is salvation for dry land

The Bunyea family is used to plowing fields and harvesting crops, but the recent drought has forced them to incorporate digging ponds into their farming repertoire.

Since the sky hasn't provided water for their crops during the last few weeks, the Bunyeas have turned their attention downward. Through irrigation, they are hoping to salvage at least some of their 75-acre pumpkin field.

"We had one pond, and we just dug another one," Pat Bunyea said last week.

'She said they had to dig down 16 feet before hitting water, and that was in "an area where it always was Being at the mercy of Mother Nature may not be new to farmers, but this drought is being called the worst since the dust bowl days of the 1930s. And Bunyea said farmers aren't the only ones who should be fretting about the weather.

"Everybody in this nation should be worried because there ain't gonna be no food," she said.

Wayne County's lack of jail space is a main reason Michigan prisons are also becoming crowded, according to the state corrections depart-

There are roughly 600 more inmates in Michigan prisons this year. compared with the same period one year ago, deputy corrections director William Kime said

All are "short-term" prisoners given sentences of 18 months or less, he add 1. And most would be spending time in the county jail if space were available

It used to be judges would send these prisoners to the county jail, but they're being sent to us instead," Kime said

Of the new short-term prisoners, Kime estimated 60 percent were sentenced by Wayne County judges.

In terms of a definitive number, we don't know just how many are Wayne County prisoners," he said. "But we do know we're getting a lot of them and these kind of prisoners used to be pretty rare

DRUG PUSHERS, shoplifters and robbers convicted of home break-ins are among the type of short-term prisoners now being sent to state prisons. Kime said.

Estimates are based on the first four months of 1988, compared with a similar period one year ago.

The practice of sending short-term years to relieve crowding. prisoners to state prisons is "perfectly legal," Kime said. Nor is Wayne ounty the only county doing so.

Just the same, state corrections officials would just as soon see these prisoners housed elsewhere.

State corrections director Robert Brown Jr. said judges must use alternative sentencing, including electronic home monitoring

"Certainly sending those prisoners with sentences of a year or less to state facilities is a waste of our resources," Brown said.

Judges have been hesitant to send prisoners to the Wayne County Jail, due to lack of available space. An estimated 4,000 county jail prisoners have been released over the past two

"OUR CHIEF judge has asked us to be cognizant of our county jail overcrowding problem when we sentence, and I think that's having an impact," said Wayne County Circuit Judge Maureen Reilly, president of the Michigan Judges Association.

"I agree that all we're doing is shifting the problem from one place to another," Reilly said. "But it's easier to shift the problem to the state, where there might be funds to handle it. We know there are no funds at the county level."

Wayne County voters will be asked to support a 1-mill tax increase to build additional jail space during the Aug. 2 primary election. The new tax is expected to be used to build a new jail, expand the existing jail and add space at the county youth home

There is little chance prisoners already sentenced to state prisons would be returned to the county if new jail space were built. Kime said. "Once we have them, they're ours," he said

Kime said the department offered the following advice to all counties seeking to hold more prisoners

"OUR ADVICE isn't necessarily to build a new jail, they're expensive. he said. "Counties should explore other methods, like work camps.

Wayne County's overall share of the state prison population is also increasing Traditionally Kime said the county is responsible for about one-third the number of inmates housed in state prisons Currently that figure is 43 percent.

The percentage of county offenders sentenced to prison has also risen. In previous years, 29 percent of county offenders wound up in prison Now, that figure is 47 percent for Wayne County Circuit Court and 49 percent for Detroit Recorders Court Michigan's prison population is currently 23,500, according to Department of Corrections figures. The state's standard prison population is 20,300, based upon a 12-month aver-

The department estimates 30,400 people, or nearly one in every 3,000 Michigan residents, will be in prison

Area Dems: Election prospects look good

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Heading into the presidential election season, area Democrats find themselves fighting a strange new foe overconfidence

"The message is not to be complacent, not to be overconfident," Westland-Garden City area party chairman Bryan Amann said.

'Things are going so well, it's almost scary," added Redford-area party chairman Daniel Paletko.

It's a novel feeling for the Democratic Party activists. Many, like Amann, were in grade school back in 1968 - the last time a Democratic presidential nominee carried the

The Winners Circle column was created to address questions on the Michigan Lottery and its games. Following are few of those most frequently asked of Lottery personnel

Q: How are Super Lotto jackpot mounts determined?

A: Like other parimutuel games. Super Lotto prize pools are based on the amount played for each drawing. The 25 cents of every sales dollar assigned to the Jackpot prize pool forms an invest-ment in which all the principal and nterest combine to pay winners a much larger total over a 20-year period. Play ers who match five of the winning num bers share the second prize pools com-prised of 8 cents of each dollar spent on tickets. The third prize pool, shared by all who match four numbers, is paid from 13 cents of each dollar. Super Lotto has a minimum Jackpot of $1.5 million A "rollover" - when no one matches all six winning numbers-keeps the Jackpot growing until it is won

Q: What happens if a winner dies before collecting the full prize

A: Payments continue to be paid to the estate of the deceased until the full amount of the prize is awarded. This also is true of $1,000-a-week-for-life prizes in past instant games which guaranteed payment of at least $1 million.

Q: How many prizes go unclaimed and what happens to this money?

A: In an average year, unclaimed prizes represent about one percent of sales rev-enue. In the past fiscal year, they totaled about $11.6 million. Primarily made up of small prizes, this money is added to Lottery net revenues which are all assigned to the state School Aid Fund to help support K-12 education

Q: How much are Lottery retailers

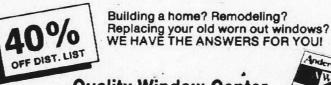

A: Lottery retailers earn a 64 sales commission on every ticket sold and receive a 2% redemption commission for their payment of prizes worth up to

Q: Are Lottery drawing machines and the computer connected?

A: Similar to equipment used in other lotteries, the drawing machines used for Daily games and Super Lotto drawings are specially designed to make a ran-dom selection of numbers. They operate completely independent of the Lottery's computer system. The main computer records wagers in the games and can verify winning tickets only after the drawing is completed and winning numbers are fed into it. Equipment checks are made before and after each drawing. All are supervised by both a Lottery drawing manager and an inde-pendent auditor, and videotaped as a matter of public record

Joint Injection plays an important role in the treatment of arthritis, particularly rheumatold and osteo-arthritis. The medication injected is a corticosteroid, similar to what the body's own adrenal glands produce, and, like the natural compound, the injected form is eliminated from the body within 24-36 hours. Yet the effect of an injection is measured in weeks to months The reason relates to the company that the injection keeps. The steroid is not acting alone, but is part of a total program of treatment and care. Usually the person receiving the injection is also on a daily anti-inflammatory medication such as aspirin. In addition, the patient is told to give the injected joint extra rest following the procedure. Furthermore, if the physician, at the time of injection, finds excess joint fluid is present, it is removed This total care often decreases joint irritation to an extent that allows the medicine that was apparently useless to regain its efficacy. For now the level of inflammation present is within the capability of that drug to control. The steroid itself is short acting. It is the favorable conditions that steroids initiate that gives this medication its reputation for success in the treatment of

SEMCOG tells state to use bonds for environment

By Tim Richard staff writer

Local officials told state lawmakers they want the entire $800 million proposed bond issue used for environmental programs - with nothing diverted into economic development.

The general assembly of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments dropped the words "as much as possible" and asked that 'the total bond issue" be used for environmental protection.

There's a really strong environmental concern out there. I'm surprised," said John Amberger, executive director of SEMCOG, a seven-county planning agency with about 130 member governments.

SEMCOG delegates, meeting Thursday in Dearborn, amended a more softly worded resolution at the insistence of Westland councilman Charles Pickering and Oak Park city manager Aaron Marsh.

THE STATE Senate was scheduled to begin work late Thursday on a package of six bills to put the bond issue on the Nov. 8 ballot.

But minority leader Art Miller, D-

Warren, said "many members had other commitments in their disciting the Pistons-Lakers basketball playoff game in the Pontiac Silverdome. He said Democrats would be leaving at 5 p.m.

Majority floor leader Phil Arthurhultz, R-Whitehall, wanted to run the session to at least 6 p.m., taking up the bond issue after disposing of appropriations bills. Instead, the bond issue will be taken up Tuesday.

Gov. Blanchard proposed the bond issue in his "state of the state" address, saying existing revenues now used for expiring bonds could be used to pay off a new issue. Total cost, including interest on an $800 million bond issue, would be $1.63 billion over 20 years.

But Blanchard threw lawmakers and SEMCOG officials into a tizzy when his detailed proposal asked money for economic development, SEMCOG's resolution said, "If monies are to be allocated to economic development activities, they should be limited to . . . environmental concerns" such as sewers for new industry.

THE SENATE Natural Resources and Environmental Affairs Committee, chaired by Vern Ehlers, R-Grand Rapids, has split the plan into two separate questions for voters:

• A $700 million bond issue for environmental work. This would include $450 million for cleanup of contaminated sites, $175 million for solid waste (trash) management, $50 million "seed money" for a state wastewater treatment revolving loan fund, and $25 million for Michigan's participation in a regional Great Lakes protection fund.

A $100 million recreation bond state Department of Natural Resources for a five-year capital outlay plan and $30 million for local proj-

The local projects would require a 25 percent match of funds, translating the $30 million in state money into $40 million in total local parks SEMCOG wants the recreation money split 50-50 between DNR and local units rather than 70-30.

A related bill proposed by Ehlers would impose a $2-per-ton surcharge

SEMCOG TOOK no position on the trash tax, but many local officials oppose it.

Pizza chef is TV star

Hot diggety pizza - my first interview with a full-blown TV star and author.

When I came to interview Chef Carl Oshinsky in his modest office in an industrial park somewhere in Plymouth, I expected to see lights, cameras and make-up people.

What I encountered was just the opposite. Another Detroit-area television celebrity? Hardly Not yet, anyway.

Chef Carl, dressed casually in a polo shirt and slacks, greeted me with a handshake.

Now, here's a guy who's launching a nearnationwide 13-week cooking show on PBS, who, prior to and after the interview, will retreat to a massive warehouse stocked from floor to ceiling with his own patented pizza stones, pizza paddles, oven gloves and other pizza-related items, and who will pack boxes of goods for shipment.

STARDOM HAS NOT affected Oshinsky. Yet. But what does the future hold for Chef Carl? The self-proclaimed "Pizza Gourmet" is starring in and hosting a weekly cooking show, which began June 9. The show is seen locally on WTVS (Channel 56) at 1 p.m.

So how did he do it? Chef Carl was performing one of his many Pizza Gourmet cooking demonstrations in a Des Moines, Iowa, gourmet shop when two class participants approached him and told him about a TV producer from WYES in New Orleans. Carl booked one of his in-home pizza parties, and the rest is history.

Having done a little local TV myself and having a sound stage and mock kitchen set-up on hand, I know that going into an unfamiliar home away from home and shooting a .13week cooking show from scratch was a feat

TO MAKE MATTERS worse, or in Chef Carl's own opinion, more exciting, the show is non-scripted. You can see him doing what he does best. He twirled pizzas, chopped vegetables and prepared dishes that had the production staff drooling after each take. The series reeks of casual innuendoes and off-the-cuff tips on cooking.

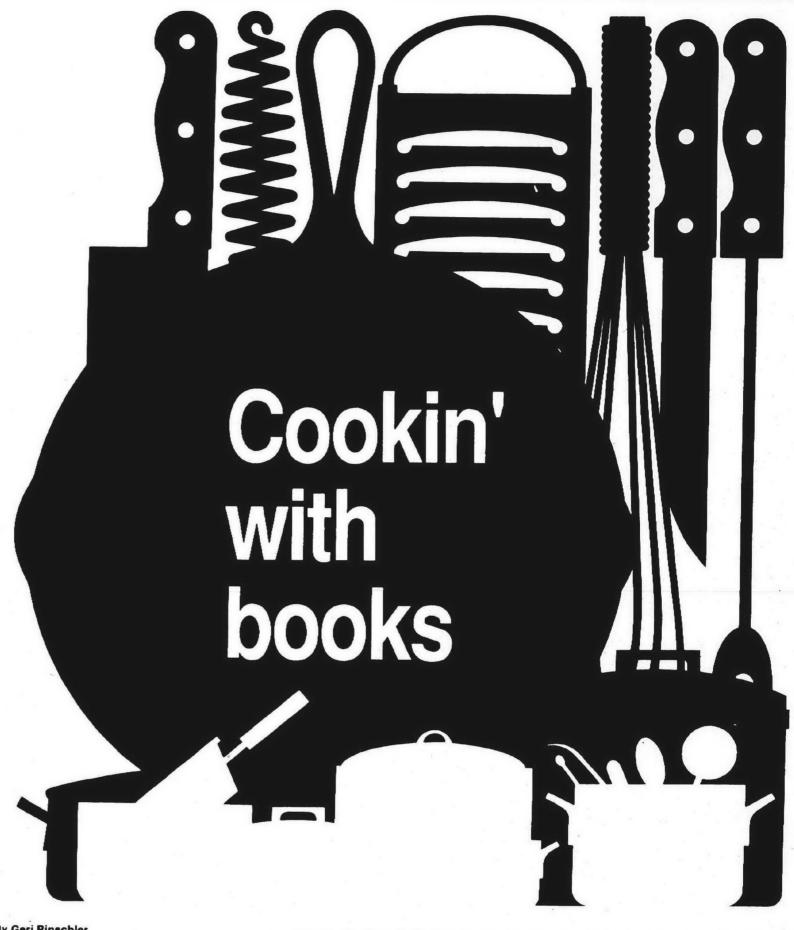

Chef Carl and an author from New Orleans took daily transcripts from the show and compiled them into a "Pizza Gourmet" cook-

So how did this nice Jewish boy get started locally? Toula Patsalis, local gourmet maven and owner of the Kitchen Glamor gourmetshop chain, helped. In addition to allowing Chef Carl to perform his pizza magic at her locations, she introduced him to guys like Guiliano Bugialli, Craig Claiborne and Jacques Pepin.

So what's in store for the Pizza Gourmet? When asked about his future, he said he hopes to turn this series into a nationwide, syndicated cooking show with hopes of getting name recognition like Wolfgang Puck and James Beard But most of all, he wants to take pizza out of the little cardboard boxes and have it homemade by everyone who enjoys playing in the kitchen.

Mark my word, folks, the next time I interview this guy, he'll have a warehouse crew, a big, cushy office and, with a little luck, will still be wearing slacks, a polo shirt and a big, happy smile.

Sylvia makes yummy 'homemade' desserts

By Anne R. Lehmann special writer

Meet Sylvia Lee - mother of four, many others, are sure to become a wife of a doctor with a busy practice, volunteer extraordinaire.

Yet what she's best known for these days are her desserts. This warm, animated woman has parlayed a lifelong hobby into an entrepreneurial success story.

for her sister's son's bar mitzvah. She took on the project with professional enthusiasm, and this one catered affair became the springboard for a career. That same evening she was asked to do sweet tables at two upcoming affairs.

Building a strictly word-of-mouth business, Lee worked magic in her Bloomfield Hills home kitchen. She turned out desserts for gala functions and some of Detroit's finest dining establishments. "I turned my house into a chocolate factory," she

Within a year she moved her operation into the kitchen of Bloomfield University School in Birmingham, hired a staff and was on her way to becoming metropolitan Detroit's answer to Mrs. Fields.

TWO YEARS LATER, with her books balanced and orders steadily increasing, Lee rented the place on Ten Mile, hung her distinctive green Desserts shingle, and set up a kitchen filled with what she calls "the Cadillac of food equipment." Though Lee admits her products are not what one would call lowcalorie, she said nutrition does play a role in what she creates. Her bran muffins are low cholesterol and high fiber and the two regular varieties of bread - six-grain health bread and Bavarian bread - are made without sugar, eggs or fats.

Also, she is very willing to tailor-make products to suit specific dietary needs. "If someone hates raisins or nuts in their oatmeal cookies, they call to let me know to put up a dozen for them without those ingredients and it's as good as done."

TASTE AND texture aside, Lee's creations are also design masterpieces. Photos of her creations line the walls of the bakery, including her one-of-a-kind chocolate pinwheel torte, multi-tiered wedding cakes and a banana cake with a stained glass design.

Her recipes, she said, are her own, although she admits to having learned a great deal from her Viennese mother who entertained often and was thought of as a master baker. Lee is always experimenting. Standard favorites like apricot pound cake, raspberry cheesecake and apple pie line her shelves, but she is open to new ideas. Her operation is really a family business. Each member of the Lee clan contributed something to Desserts' overall success. Her husband's keen business sense was indispensable when she first set up shop. Lee's kids help with promotional ideas, and when traveling they are on the lookout for new ideas. Her parents, who spend six months in Florida each year, work behind the counter during the summer.

In this world of mass-marketed cakes and pastries, it's nice to know that someone's mother is doing the baking you wish you could do yourself. As one happy customer offered between mouthfuls, "This is one great bakery!" Here's Sylvia Lee's recipe for:

ROCKY ROAD CHOCOLATE CHEESECAKE

1 cup chocolate wafer crumbs 2 tablespoons melted butter

Filling: 1 1/2 lbs. cream cheese 1 cup sugar 6 eggs 1/2 cup milk 1 teaspoon vanilla 1 tablespoon butter l ounce semi-sweet chocolate

Topping: 8 ounces chocolate chips 1 cup heavy cream 4 cup chopped walnuts 4 cup granola

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix crust ingredients and pat mixture on bottom of well-greased 8-inch springform pan. In mixer combine and beat filling ingredients, slowly adding the melted ingredients last. Pour into pan and bake for one hour. Turn off oven and let sit one hour. When cool, blend dry topping ingredients with liquid and spread on top, Refrigerate and serve.

basic cooking utensils and knowledge Recipes for cakes, cookies, ice cream and puddings have been passed down to the author from family members and old family friends.

Bailey considers himself primarily a designer, a talent which he employs in his home furnishings shop in New York's Saks Fifth Avenue. Other best-selling books he authored are "Good Parties," "Country Flo-"City Food" and "Country Weekends," for which he received the Tastemaker Award for Best Cookbook in 1983.

The Tastemaker Award is the only award honoring cookbooks. In 1987 books were honored in categories of international cooking, basic and American cooking, baking and desserts, vegetables and fruits, healthy light and diet, writings on wines and spirits, writings on food, single subject, community cookbooks, specialty cookbooks and the best cookbook BEST COOKBOOK of 1987 was Lord Krishna's Cuisine the Art of Indian Vegetarian Cooking" by Uanuna Devi. Winners for 1988 wil! be announced early next spring.

"Foods of the Sun (Cooking of the West and Southwest)" by Anne Lindsay Greer (Harper & Row, 1988, $22.50) presents a clever collection of contemporary recipes of Southwestern American cuisine.

Among the 300 tempting recipes are Tortilla Soup, Sweet Potato-Corn Tamales and Chocolate-Cinnamon Fritters. For those of you who enjoy these flavors but are unfamiliar with many of the uncommon ingredients, the author offers detailed descriptions of chilies, herbs, exotic fruits and vegetables, as well as wild game birds and poultry.

This comprehensive edition is filled with a large collection of recipes that can be easily followed by a neophyte and at the same time are tantalizing to the gourmet cook.

Not to be confused with Anne Lindsay Greer, Anne Lindsay is the author of the "American Cancer Society Cookbook" (William Morrow & Co., 1988, $17.95). As you would expect, this cookbook features recipes that are low in fat, high in fiber and

Two new comprehensive cookbooks recently released deserve mention: "The Good Housekeeping All-American Cookbook" (Hearst Books, $24.95, 1987) and Vol. 1 of Jacques Pepin's "The Art of Cook ing" (Alfred A. Knopf, $35).

LINGUINE WITH SHRIMP AND TOMATO From "The American Cancer Society Cookbook"

In this recipe the shrimp and tomato should be quickly cooked over high heat to preserve flavor and texture. If using fresh pasta, make sauce first, because the pasta cooks so quickly.

14 pound linguine or whole wheat noodles

1 tablespoon vegetable oil I large clove garlic, finely chopped

2 tablespoons finely chopped shal-2 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped 14 teaspoon dried basil, or fresh, chopped, to taste 1/4 pound small or medium shrimp (raw or cooked)

1 or 2 scallions, chopped salt and freshly ground pepper

In a large pot of boiling water, cook linguine until al dente (tender but firm) or according to package directions; drain.

Meanwhile, in heavy skillet, heat oil over high heat. Add garlic and shallots; cook, stirring, for about 30 seconds. Add tomatoes and basil: cook, stirring for about 1 minute. Add shrimp and cook, stirring, until shrimp are hot and, if using raw, turn pink. Sprinkle with scallions and season with salt and pepper to taste. Spoon over hot linguine.

Picnic will impress your main squeeze

This column is not just for women Men can add a great deal of romance to their lives by cooking a meal for their special women.

Whether you are male or female, and want to impress your current love interest, try a romantic picnic. It is always nice to eat by the water, be it a lake, a river, a pond, or just a little stream

Such a place is not hard to find. I once read somewhere that nowhere in Michigan are you ever more than six miles from a natural lake of one size or another. But picnics don't have to be held in a traditional setting. You don't need woods, water, or even a roadside park.

One of the most memorable meals I ever spent with a man was eaten in the cab of a pickup truck by the side of the road. We been to an afternoon auction in Monroe. Instead of using the expressway, we were driving home by way of the old river road, which passes Detroit Beach, Willoe Beach and South Rockwood.

TIRED, DUSTY and dirty, we were not presentable enough to go into a restuarant on a Saturday night, but we were both very hungry. Earlier that day, we had bought some nice ripe, homegrown tomatoes and sweet onions from a roadside stand, and we also had a loaf of home-baked bread we purchased from a woman at the auction.

My friend stopped at a little party store and bought some salami and soda pop. A mile or so down the road, he parked the car under a tree. We tore the unsliced bread apart with our hands and cut up the tomatoes and onions with an old jackknife that happened to be in the glove compartment.

among the best I ever tasted. We laughed and talked, and enjoyed our minute on each side. Carefully remeal in the sunset. That was many years ago, but that impromptu picnic will always be one of my best memories and, I'm sure, one of his,

My son once packed a picnic lunch consisting of cheese, crackers, fresh strawberries and champagne, to share with his girlfriend in a parking lot atop Cobo Hall. They had gone downtown early to get parking for some event they were attending in Cobo Arena. She must have enjoyed it. She married him soon after.

If you want to plan something really romantic, get an old-fashioned picnic hamper. Forget about potato tite. chips, nachos and other store-bought snacks. Take time to pack something a little different.

TAKE ALONG a real tablecloth and nice, big, real napkins. Wrap (Hazel nuts leave interesting dark ever buy ready-made. them around two lovely champagne glasses to pack them. No paper plates or plastic flatware, either.

This time, use the real thing. Picnics are fun for breakfast, lunch or dinner. If it's an evening or late-night picnic, be sure to pack candles - the kind you burn in glasses, so that the wind doesn't blow them out.

If you and your true love don't drink champagne, try some of the non-alcoholic sparkling wines now available. (The little Italian market on Joy and Newburgh roads in Livonia carries a good variety. Though sometimes I do buy all they have on the shelf.)

When your basket is packed, take your beloved to a romantic spot away from the crowd, and enjoy. One couple I know shared such a repast in an old cemetery, where they had gone to collect historical data for a paper one of them was writing.

Wherever you hold your picnic, remember to leave the site as lovely as you found it. Take nothing away but your memories, and leave nothing behind but you footprints.

Here are a few of my favorite picnic goodies you might like to try.

egg white, and 11/2 cup flour. Beat with electric mixer until smooth. Add enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board, and knead about 5 minutes, or until smooth and elastic.

Clean and lightly grease the bowl, and return the dough to the bowl, turning to grease all sides of the dough. Cover, and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk (about 1 1/2 hours)

Punch down the dough, and knead for a minute or two. Then divide it into four pieces. Further divide each piece into 12 equal pieces.

With the palms of your hands, roll each piece into a 5-6 inch rope. Shape each rope into a ring with ends overlapping. Pinch the ends together to seal.

Let rest 15-20 minutes until they begin to rise

In a four-quart pot, heat 2 quarts of water, and 2 tablespoons sugar. Simmer, but do not boil. Grease a large baking sheet and set it aside.

Arrange the bagels on the prepared baking sheet. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In a small bowl, beat the egg yolk with 1 tablespoon water. Brush bagels with egg yolk mixture. Sprinkle with poppy seeds or sesame if desired.

Bake about 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Soup is great on a picnic. Whether a hot soup, or cold, it can easily be carried in a pint or quart-size thermos bottle, depending on your appe-

ARTICHOKE SOUP SUPREME

14 cup butter or margerine 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour 1/8 teaspoon pepper

4 cup hazelnuts

2 tablespoons chopped green onions 's teaspoon salt 's teaspoon ground nutmeg

2 cups half and half (or frozen non-dairy cream) 1 (6-ounce) jar or can of artichoke hearts, drained

2 cups chicken broth, or bouillon (I use Knox bouillon cubes; follow directions on the box.)

In a medium saucepan, melt butter or margerine. Add onions, and saute over a medium heat until transparent. Stir in flour until smooth and thickened. Add chicken bouillon, salt, pepper and nutmeg.

Cook over medium heat until slightly thickened. Pour into a blender Add artichoke hearts and hazelnuts. Puree until nearly smooth. Return mixture to saucepan, and add 2 cups half and half (or non-dairy creamer, thawed).

Cook, and stir over low heat until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat at once. Do not boil

Mix all ingredients together, and let set in refrigerator for at least one hour before serving. Note: This recipe makes 8 servings. If you wish to save some for a later time, set that portion aside before adding lettuce. You may keep it several days in the refrigerator

When ready to use, add lettuce one hour before serving. (Adjust the amount of lettuce added both times,

There are all kinds of sandwiches, and I'm sure you have your own favorites. My favorites are cold roast beef, cold roast pork, and, of course, cold chicken sandwiches. But no in the modern fast-food form.

Thick slices of home-cooked meat placed on bread, spread with either butter or salad dressing, sprinkled with salt and pepper, and, perhaps, with a leaf of lettuce added, are better than any sandwich you could

Trees produce flowers, seeds

Spring's profusion of forest-floor wildflowers often distracts our attention from the flowers of the trees overhead

Wildflowers bloom early in spring because sunshine can still penetrate to the forest floor. Sunshine is used by the plants to produce flowers, which eventually produce seeds

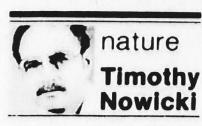

We sometimes forget that the winged maple seed we see came from pollinated flowers of a maple tree, or the cotton fluffs floating through the air came from pollinated flowers of the cottonwood tree.

BUT NOW THAT our attention is not directed to the forest floor, we can take note of some very conspicuous tree flowers.

Horsechestnuts — with their large, white, clustered, upright spiked flowers — can be seen blooming now.

Black locust trees have large, drooping clusters of white flowers that can be seen blooming now, too. Their leaves, which have several small leaflets along a central shaft, are visible but not full size.

Their flowers are fragrant and are pollinated by insects. When a flower is pollinated, it will develop into a neared like seed and pea pod-like seed pod.

They will grow to be about five inches long with four-eight seeds inside. Honeylocust trees produce a similar seed pod that is much larger and may be a foot long.

SEEDS KNOWN to be 88 years old have survived in the soil without de-

Black locust trees grow fast and can grow from the roots of existing trees. Dense thickets of trees may be derived from one or two original plants. Growing quickly and in dense thickets makes them useful for erosion control.

Champion black locust trees may grow to be five feet in diameter, but most trees are only 15-20 inches in ADMICK!

Black locust trees produce drooping clusters of white flowers and 5-inch seed pods.

diameter. They produce a very strong durable wood which was used for fence posts at one time.

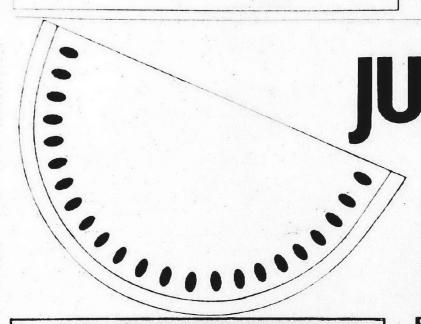

Though the trunk may be straight, the bark has a twisted appearance, and the branches have a very zigzag ppearance.

Locust trees and garden peas are members of a group of plants called legumes.

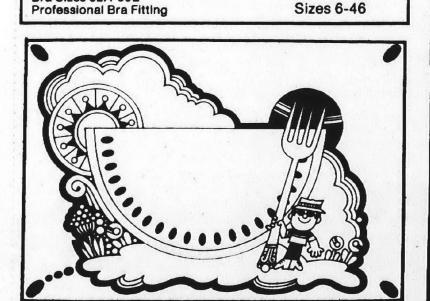

All legumes have bacteria associated with their roots which can take nitrogen from the air and make it useable by plants. They are very helpful in enriching the soil.

Three years later, the experience seems like ancient history to Carnes. But if anything, it shows the moxie instilled in the budding National Hockey League centerman even Carnes was selected in the third round (46th pick overall) by the Montreal Canadiens recently in the NHL Amateur Draft.

THE BOOK ON Carnes is that he's a good scorer, a hard skater and a tenacious checker. He netted 31 goals and 34 assists for the Verdun Canadiens of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League.

The knock against Carnes is his height (5-feet-9). Eric Taylor, scout for the Montreal Canadiens, merely laughs at that one

'You want to check him, you'll find out how solid he is," said Taylor in a telephone interview from Mon-

Taylor, who was instrumental in bringing Carnes to Quebec, remembers one game against Trois Rivieres. Carnes moved on a player along the boards, and barn, the player was ushered off the ice and into the clinic. Carnes went in for another clean check, and bam, that player was needing first aid, also.

Carnes thought he would go in the second round to Washington Capitals. Taylor said the Canadiens had him going in the first round.

But Carnes is certainly not disappointed about going to the Canadiens. The club has a history of strong drafts, starting back with former general manager Sam Pollack, who discovered the likes of Guy LaFleur, Ken Dryden, Bob Gainey and Larry Robinson.

"IT MADE ME feel real good," said Carnes about being drafted by the Canadiens. "I talked with the new coach, Pat Burns. He coached

Marion realizes dream to play for U-M

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

A possible baseball scenario of the

It's the bottom of the seventh inning, the University of Michigan is leading Miami (Fla.) 4-3 and Todd Marion is pitching for the Wolverines.

The Hurricanes have runners at second and third with two out. Tension is high as the suspense reaches its zenith.

Marion strikes out the man at the plate and clinches the College World Series championship for

That may be just a dream right now, but Marion already has found out that dreams really do come true. Marion, who graduates from Plymouth Salem High School this month, realized a longtime ambition when he received an athletic scholarship to play baseball for the

THE MULTI-TALENTED player made it official when he signed a national letter of intent to attend U-M earlier this spring, but he has been committed to the Wolverines since last fall.

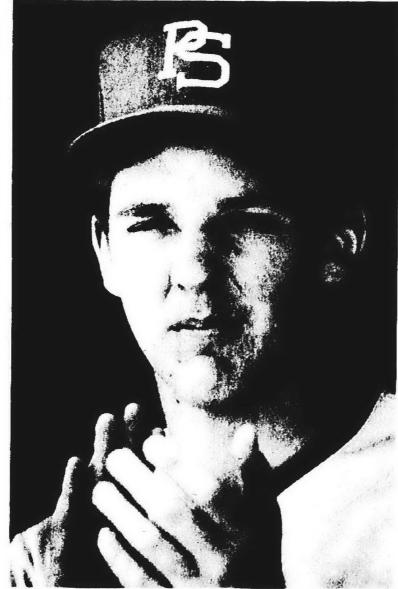

There was never any doubt in Marion's mind where he wanted to spend his college days or what he wanted to do once U-M coach Bud Middaugh put the scholarship offer on the table

"As a kid growing up, I was a Michigan fan and hated MSU," he said. "I never imagined I'd be going there and playing a sport. I have to pinch myself every now and then to make sure it's true."

Marion did visit the Michigan State campus, and several Mid-American Conference schools showed an interest in his baseball skills, but U-M was the first to make a firm offer. The others knew they shouldn't bother calling any more.

"I always wanted to play for a Big Ten college," he said. "Michigan was my No. 1 choice, but I would have been extremely happy to play for anybody in the Big Ten. This is all Michigan where a U-M assistant saw him putting into practice the pitching advice Middaugh had given him.

"He apparently was impressed with that," said Marion, who accepted the invitation to visit the campus in the fall. "Before the Canton game, I hadn't even thought about playing there, and, by the end of September, I had a scholarship.

"I guess all the camps I went to and the recognition I got paid off in the end.

Marion was unable to pitch during the final three weeks of his senior season because of soreness in his right arm, but that isn't expected to hinder his future as a pitcher. The inflamed condition should go away after extended rest.

I wasn't concentrating in warmups," he said. "I was more concerned about not falling on the mound. Instead of throwing the ball, I was short-arming it more than I thought."

With U-M pitchers Jim Abbott (Oakland Athletics) and Mike Ignasiak (Milwaukee Brewers) being drafted this year, Marion could be needed sooner than expected to shore up the Wolverine staff.

"(Middaugh) hasn't talked to me specifically about what I'll be doing," Marion said. "It'll be a big step for me. I'll be the young one, and I'll just do my part when I get

Carnes remains with Canadiens

Hull in the Quebec League. I think he respects my play. I think they have high hopes for me

As a matter of fact, the Canadiens do. Taylor ran off a list of scouts who were impressed with Carnes' play, most notably Claude Ruel.

More than likely, Carnes will spend at least another year in the junior league at Verdun. There, he will be under the watchful eye of former Canadien great Jacques Lemaire.

Verdun is operated by the Montreal organization, making the transition to the NHL club a bit easier.

Carnes' first year at Verdun was not an easy one. The adjustment to a new culture, a new language and a new way of life was difficult. He became homesick.

"I was only 15 years old," he said. "It was really a big adjustment. Even this season, I was 17 and was it tough to go. You stay home for six months with your family and friends. It's tough to go back.

'The first year was really difficult, though. I didn't get settled in until Christmas."

CARNES WILL TAKE a detour on his way back next season. He'll attend his first NHL camp.

In preparation, Carnes will tryout with the U.S. Junior National Team in August. He also plans to play summer hockey again.

One area in need of work, he admits, is defense. He's already looking forward to September. "You go out and show them what you can do," he said. "They'll probably send me back to my junior team and tell me to work on a few things. But I'm sure I'll make an impression Tonya Walaskay, Canton, long jump: Walaskay, a senior, leaped 16-5 earlier this year to claim a school record and the best distance in the area.

Observerland unit includes Canton duo

She also finished fifth in the long jump at Canton's regional, and she owns the school record in the 100 hurdles, clocking 165. Walaskay finished third at the WLAA meet in the low hurdles and sixth at the regional. She was named the Chiefs' most improved athlete.

Tonya has made herself one of the area's finest track athletes through hard work and sacrifice," Canton coach George Przygodski said. "Tonya also has maintained a 3.6 grade-point average and plans on continuing her education next fall at Michigan State"

Angie Miller, Canton, high jump: Miller will take her track exploits to Western Michigan University At Canton, she was a two-time state champ in the high jump, winning in both her junior and Miller has twice won regional titles in the high jump and is a three-time WLAA meet champ. She holds Canton's school record with a high jump of 5-74.

She is one of the area's most versatile performers, winning the 400 run at the WLAA meet as a junior. This year she placed second in the 400 and, for her career, is a part of six school records.

"Angie is an outstanding athlete, an outstanding competitor," Przygodski said "She is probably a better competitor than she is an athlete. She never backed down from the competition."

RUNNING EVENTS

Angie Ross, Borgess, 100 hurdles: Only a junior, Ross tied for the area's best time in the 100 hurdles at 15.7. She was a regional champion and also a member of her school's 400 relay team that led the area with a time of 50.0.

"Angie combines a tremendous work ethic with a wonderful sense of humor." McGreevy said. "She is a pleasure to

Colleen McPhee, Churchill, 300 hurdles: A senior. McPhee took with her a school record in the 300 hurdles, running 47.0 She was second in the WLAA meet and third at regionals. McPhee also had a second-place finish at the East Detroit Invitational

She also ran in the 1,600 and 800 relays, which finished first and second, respectively, in the WLAA meet.

She is a very hard worker and has improved quite a lot from the beginning of the season," Churchill coach Kelly Graham said. "She was one of our captains and a very good leader."

DeDe Newman, N. Farmington 100 dash: Newman emerged this year as one of the area's best young runners. Only a sophomore, she has two years of competition left to improve on her WLAA

all-area girls track meet record time of 125 in the 100 dash She was a fourth-place finisher at the regional and was second in the 200 dash at the WLAA meet. Newman also competed on North's sprint relay teams

"DeDe has developed into a quality sprinter because of her concentrated effort to improve the techniques of the event," North coach Ralph Temby said.

Kim Mitchell, Borgess, 200 dash: Mitchell owned the area's best time in the 200, recording a 26.0 She also ran a leg in Borgess' 1,600 relay that won the Class B title in 4 03 72

Mitchell, a senior, won the coaches' award at Borgess for most sacrifice and

Kim was an inspiration to the rest of the team. Nice kids can finish first." McGreevy said

Gretchen Loyd, Churchill, 400 run: Loyd won the 400 run at the WLAA meet in 100.2 She also claimed a first in the 200 at the WLAA, clocking 26.4. Loyd was fourth at the regional in the 200

She was a member of the 400, 800 and 1,600 relay teams. The 1,600 quartet won the WLAA meet, and the 800 team settled for a second-place finish.

"I can basically rely on her to perform well in anything I ask her to run and get some point production out of it." Graham said. "She also is one of our captains and a good leader. She has qualities in sportsmanship, class and team spirit."

Roberta Wiggle, Livonia Clarenceville, 800 run: Wiggle is only a sophomore but set a school record in the 800, clocking a 2.206. She also holds the Metro Conference all-time mark in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:285. She finished third at the regional and also competed in the long jump

'She has a lot of drive and heart," said Clarenceville coach Dick Davio. "Roberta is going to improve and do well for us the next couple of years.

Michelle Gayney, Borgess, 1,600 run: The junior went undefeated in 11 dual meets. She had the area's second best 3,200 time and holds the school record in the 3,200 run at 11:27.

Gayney also is a three-time state qualifier in the fall for Borgess' cross country

'Michelle's effort in the Operation Friendship Meet typified her spirit," McGreevy said. "She was tripped in the first 200 yards, but got up and fought her way back into contention.

Karen Kantor, Churchill, 3,200 run: The senior was the area's best distance runner, winning WLAA meet titles in both the 1,600 and 3,200 events. She meet and 12th in the 1,600 run

Her time of 11 25 0 in the 3,200 was a school record. She easily outdid the rest of Observerland in the 1,600, recording a best time of 5 15 5

She has a lot of ability to do well in anything from the 800 on up. Graham said. She is very responsible, knows what she has to do and does it

RELAYS EVENTS

Bishop Borgess, 400 relay: Angie Ross, Philana Hooper, Shelley Blanding and Kim Mitchell earned a second-place finish at the Class B meet and led the area with a time of 50.12.

Ross and Hooper are juniors and will return for their senior campaigns.

"Philana is a very versatile athlete." McGreevy said. "She long jumped, ran the sprints and our speed relays.

Farmington, 800 relay: Carrie Maier, Amy Trunk, Nicole Tocco and Angie Forge set a school standard in the 800, clocking a 1 46 3. The team also won the WLAA meet, finished third at the regional and third in the Oakland County Meet. They never lost a dual meet running together, and all four are underclassmen

They have a great attitude and are fierce competitors," Farmington coach Bruce Brown said. "Best of all, they all are back next year

Borgess, 1,600 relay: Felicia Bunton, Lyshay McGowan, Akoco Boubai and Kim Mitchell led Borgess to a secondplace finish at the state meet by winning the 1.600 relay in a time of 4 03 72

The crew also won the regional and the Catholic League meet

They had our fastest time in the mile since 1981, and the last two meets they really put it together." McGreevy said.

Farmington Mercy, 3,200 relay: Kathleen Gerigk, Noelle Gates, Carrie Walton and Heather Sullivan make up one of the youngest relay teams in the area and already they own a school Gates is a junior and the rest are freshmen. The quartet was first in the regional with a school record 958.0 The team also claimed a first in the Catholic League meet at 10:15. They were second in the Operation Friendship meet Walton, who finished first in the 3,200 run at the regional and league meets, was named most valuable athlete. Gerigk was first in the 1,600 run at the regional. "The most exciting thing about this relay team is that they will all be back next vear," Servais said.

Work it out

July job searching

By Elsa Frohman staff writer

School's out, the beach is beckoning. But your bank balance is subterranean, and your tuition will be due come September as certainly as George Hamilton is going to get a tan this summer.

Monday, June 20, 1988 O&F

What's a body to do? Like the old song said, "Get A Job."

So, just where are you going to find work now that it's the middle of June and all the "good jobs" have been filled?

You could mow lawns. Landscapers are always looking for extra help.

You're allergic to grass clippings. Well - you could paint houses. Paint fumes make you sneeze' How about life guarding? Oh, you can't swim. Well, I'm sorry, but General Motors just isn't looking for a summer

DON'T DESPAIR though, there are plenty of summer jobs out there even at this late date - if you know where to look.

You can join the migrant crews that pick cherries up the western side of the state. Schools are generally looking for playground supervisors this time of year.

According to the Michigan Employment Security Commission, the Michigan state park system is a major summer employer. However, the park jobs are desirable, and you have to apply while snow is still on the ground to tie one of those jobs down. (This is to get you procrastinators started on your job search for summer 1989.)

Another opportunity exists at any of the resorts around the state. The demand for waitresses, bus boys and cleaning help rises as the tourist season gets under way.

But if you're looking for the nearperfect summer job, you might want to consider your regional amusement park.

Imagine a job where you can spend your off hours taking advantage of unlimited free rollercoaster rides. Think about singing and dancing on stage in a Western saloon in Ohio. Or maybe you'd rather pilot a passenger ship through the crowd-

It is possible to earn your tuition and have fun at the same time.

AMUSEMENT PARK employment certainly won't push you into a high tax bracket, but it just may offer more fun per dollar earned than

The Wright stuff

Not that being so laid back is hard work or

But Steven Wright says while he's on stage tossing off those dry, witty observations in a semi-comatose monotone, his mind is actual-

'It's really kind of weird," the king (and maybe the only practitioner) of deadpan comedy said. "There are a hundred things a minute going through my brain, but (the audi-

That means no political jokes, no jokes about television commercials, no gimmicks like screaming or smashing food on stage.

And no crude sexual or racial language. In fact, Wright may be the only comic working today who has been profiled by both Rolling Stone and The Christian Science Mon-

Summer paycheck

Many of the people here come back year after year. I know of teachers who come to work here during the summer.

Right now, however, Ballard has a goal. 'I'm saving up my money to go to L.A. and try my luck.

NOT ALL Cedar Point's summer workers are performers. Michelle Vincent, 22, another Michiganian, is a sweeperette. Another repeater, this year Vincent is a group leader. supervising a team of young people with brooms and dustpans who roam the park making sure everything is extra clean all the time.

We answer guests' questions and settle complaints as well," Vincent

One of the biggest challenges for sweeperettes is catching and deterring line jumpers

We let them know the park policy and tell them to get out of line and go to the end," Vincent said.

Rowdy behavior isn't a big problem, she said. "People are there to have a good time. They'll kid around

All Cedar Point employees get unlimited admission to the park and unlimited rides when they are off duty. In fact, early in the morning, before the park opens, employees are asked to ride most of the rides to test them before the guests arrive. While the performing jobs are filled before the season begins, Cedar Point continues hiring other types of workers throughout the summer. For information, call David Hensley in the personnel office at 419-627-2243.

A LITTLE closer to home, Boblo offers a variety of summer jobs. A little out of the ordinary for amusement park workers are the men who operate the Boblo boats.

the park's two ships up and down the Detroit River. This is the real thing. Seamen aboard the Boblo boats are members of the International Seafarers Union. They are fully licensed professionals. Davis is a wheelman, that is, he operates the boat's steering wheel. He shares the wheelhouse with a captain and navigator who plot the boat's course.

During the park season, Davis lives aboard the Boblo boat. "It's required to have a certain number of seamen aboard the boat at all times," he said. The crew is kept on board and ready in case of an emergency when the boat is at the dock

When the Boblo boat isn't running, Davis ships out on a variety of other vessels, including Great Lakes freighters. A few years ago, he shipped out on a military vessel (as a civilian seaman), which went to Rotterdam, Netherlands.

He has been shipping out since 1977 when he joined the seaman's union "on a whim.

"I was dissatisfied with the job I had, and it seemed like an adventurous and exciting career," he said.

THE CREWS aboard the Boblo boats take their jobs seriously. There isn't much joking around when you are piloting a craft carrying several hundred passengers down a river that carries a heavy stream of shipping traffic.

You have to be able to concentrate," Davis said.

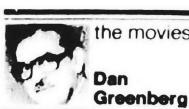

The Boblo boat crews are allowed into the park while the boat is docked there, but Davis said he doesn't use the park very much.

"I guess I'm just not an amusement park kind of person," he said. Davis said he enjoys working for Boblo because he meets interesting people; it's a steady job, and it's close to home.

Helena, Ark, in the 1930s resembled Las Vegas on a smaller scale, says veteran guitarist Robert Junior Lockwood, who pioneered the King Biscuit Time blues show on Helena radio station KFFA.

It was a wide-open town. Everything was wide open," he said recently in a phone conversation from his Cleveland home.

Lockwood grew up in Helena and in 1941 hooked up with harmonica player Rice Miller to start the influential blues program. The daily, 15minute show was sponsored by King Biscuit Flour.

Miller, better known as Sonny Boy Williamson, and Lockwood became two of the most influential blues players in the Mississippi Delta at Lockwood learned his own licks well. Robert Johnson, the pioneer Delta blues guitarist and singer, was his stepfather and guitar teacher in the early 1930s.

Lockwood said he wasn't too interested in guitar until he heard Johnson play.

"He was very fascinating. He was playing things that other guitarists weren't playing."

Johnson would teach Lockwood songs before returning to the road. When the teacher returned, Lockwood would have mastered the lesson, and Johnson would teach more. Lockwood told Palmer his stepfather saved him from a knife-wielding woman one day when Johnson and Lockwood played together.

LOCKWOOD RECORDED his first record in 1940, a tune called "Take a Little Walk With Me," and is said to have written several songs that have become blues standards, "That's All Right," and "Little Boy rock - sounds as good as ever. Now for the bad news. "Out of Order," on the whole, is just another in the series of latter-day Rod Stewart albums. One couldn't even call it a disappointment, since Rod's long string of mediocre releases has sufficiently lowered expectations to the point where any Stewart release is

It's not as if he isn't trying. On

Say this for Rod Stewart and his attempts to update his sound, hooking up with ex-Duran Duranies John and Andy Taylor plus ex-Chic masterminds Bernard Edwards and Tony Thompson. So the sound here is Rod the Mod meets the Power Station.

Stewart's strength, however, has always been his voice, and here it gets swallowed up in the wall of noise production. In at least one instance, the hard-hitting approach also undercuts some of Stewart's best song-writing

'Forever Young" (a Stewart original, not the Dylan song) is a fine, touching ballad that could have been the album's highlight if he'd only gone back to the plaintive acoustic guitar and mandolin sound that ran through such albums as "Every Picture Tells a Story" or "Never a Dull Moment.

In summation: The single's a winner, but as for the rest, it's pretty much the same old song-and-dance. - Wayne Peal

CHIEFS OF RELIEF

Chiefs of Relief

Way back when punks weren't hippies, the Sex Pistols brought emotion back to music

As that band lived by its punk ethic and broke up, it has been curious to see what the individual members have done. Obviously, Sid Vicious is not doing too many live gigs these days Johnny Rotten/Lydon is Mr.

Steve Jones has become a heavy metal hero, making guest appearances on Iggy Pop's new LP and saying"No" to drugs on MTV sermons.

And here is a sample of what drummer Paul Cook has been up to: Chiefs of Relief (Sire).

Unfortunately, this self-titled alburn suggests how much controlling input he had in the Pistols - none. First, suspicions are aroused by the tacky, bound-for-the-bargain-bin album cover and confirmed by the chorus of the first track from those ever-friendly vacation-loving Chiefs of Relief: "We're Chiefs of Relief/I'll tell you where we've been/We've been to China, we've been to Rome/ We want to take the whole world home." Yes, mother, supper for 11

Chiefs of Relief fall between the music world's rock and a hard place the band's songs are more rhythmic (but not as melodic) as Big Audio Dynamite and yet don't have the energetic rhythm and snarling heavy metal guitar trademark made popular by groups like the Beastie Boys.

The record company tries to attach some credibility to the band by telling us that their debut single, 'Freedom to Rock," was a top hit in 1985 in the United Kingdom. That's supposed to put Chiefs of Relief ahead of the Beastie Boys in the rock-rap department.

But it just comes across as an attempt to cover up the similarities to a band that has achieved a lot more success and notoriety with their inherent obnoxiousness

The Chiefs are just too harmless for their own good

Somewhere over Ann Arbor, there's a stomach. If you find it, could you please return it. It's mine.

Tony Bennett lost his heart in San Francisco, so why shouldn't I be entitled to misplace a piece of my anatomy once in awhile?

Perhaps I should explain. See, a couple of weeks ago a call came from Jan Shaffer, who is in charge of media relations for the Willow Run Air Show.

Shaffer said the Holiday Inn Aerobatic Team was coming to town. He wanted to know if someone from our paper would like to go along for an airplane ride.

I said, "Sure." First mistake. Maybe I should mention I have only flown once before

That didn't dawn on me until I was at Willow Run Airport shaking hands with stunt pilot Randy Brooks.

The plane we were to ride in is a Pitts Special S-2 aircraft that is powered by 260 horsepower Avco Lycoming AE10-540-D4A5 engine. The Pitts Special has a top speed of 210 miles per hour and can climb 3,000 feet per second.

To the average Joe, it looks like a Volkswagen with wings.

FIRST THERE was the little matter of the waiver. We were in a hurry, so I signed it after scanning it over. I think it said something to the effect, "If injury or death should result from this ride, Holiday Inns and its subsidiaries are not liable to give you or your family free continental breakfast during their stay." Or something like that.

Brooks showed me how to carefully get into the small cockpit, which with the 90-degree plus temperatures, felt like somebody's armpit. There were seat belts on top of seat belts and straps on top of straps. Brooks happened to mention one of the harnesses was a parachute (reassuring thought).

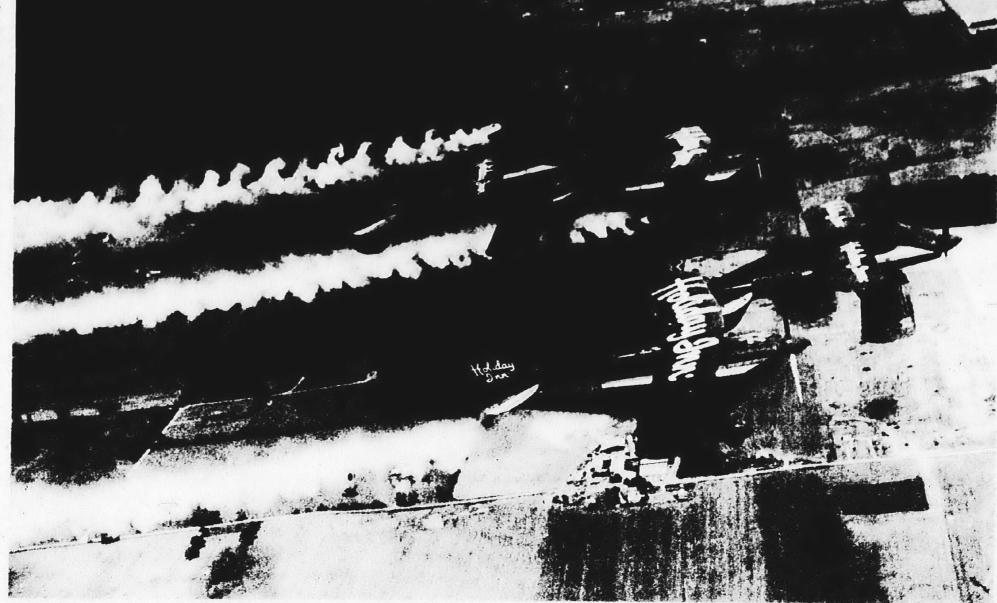

"By the way, see that knob over there? Don't touch it, or we'll be in trouble," Brooks said. "Oh, and see those foot pedals underneath? Well, don't touch those or we'll really be in trouble.'

"If a problem arises, I'll say bail out three times. OK," he added.

A little word about Brooks. He looks like the average All-American fellow, the kind who was probably your paperboy or a leader of the local Boy Scout troop. His voice sounds so reassuring. Like bailing out is some physical exercise one should do before breakfast to strengthen his cardiovascular muscles.

The son of a test pilot, Brooks was born at Edwards Air Force Base. He is the youngest member of the Holiday Inn Aerobatic Team. Other members have served in the Air Force, mostly as fighter pilots.

AT LEAST with Brooks, I knew we weren't going to be dropping bombs on the University of Michigan or some Ann Arbor farmer.

Seeing the world upside down goes with the territory for the stunt pilots of the Holiday Inn Aerobatic Team.

Reporter turned "test pilot" Larry O'Connor boards the plane.

When the plane hit the runway, there was nothing but blue sky. Before we knew it, we were hovering over Ypsilanti. Ypsilanti is a beautiful city - from 4,500 feet.

Things were coasting along just fine, flying in formation for awhile.

Then a voice came over the radio. "Hey Larry, do you want to break away from these guys so we can do some aerobatic manuevers?" asked

"Sure," I said. Second mistake. I get queasy even looking at ferris wheels - when they're not moving. Before muttering any second thoughts, we were upside down. Then we did complete loops. Then we shot straight up in the air. Then we rapidly lost altitude.

The first loop was OK until we completed it. Then I realized something wasn't feeling right.

"How do you handle that one?" Brooks asked after one complete

"Barely," I said.

"Yeh, it's thrilling. I know," he

Another thing about Brooks: He can't hear too well. Next to doing a was as green as the color of the belly slide on a carpet of razor plane blades, the last thing I wanted to do was do another loop.

I began to look at the white bag more intently. My attention began to focus solely on it. All of a sudden I found my hand touching the bag. 'Naw," I thought. "Tough it out."

Then Brooks decided to take a sharp curve, rapidly dropping a couple hundred feet. I dropped my face in the white bag and was doing my own manuevers. My face, I'm sure. Pepto Bismol

Finally, and mercifully, the plane made it back to Willow Run Airport. Brooks checked to see how I was doing. A smile came to his face (he was glad I made it to the bag).

"Larry, you just had what we call the white bag special," he said. Oh, by the way, Brooks is also a comedian. Soon other pilots were coming over. One stuck out his hand. 'You're a fighter pilot now," he

Toledo: it's no longer a laughing matter Jamie Farr is king

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Toledo is the back yard of America. Everyone cuts through it on his way to somewhere

Until recently, few people have stopped to take a serious look through the Glass City. Oh, Toledo has all the usual Midwest city things: an industrial economy (with glass being the big ticket production), shopping malls, places to eat, etc. But to truly understand Toledo is to understand the aura surrounding the city's most divine leader: Jamie Farr

Like Lenin in the Soviet Union and Mickey Mouse at Disneyland, the likeness of that with the hawk nose is everywhere. Yes, what can you say about a city whose favorite son is a guy who made a name for himself dressing up in women's clothing trying to get a Section 8 military discharge as Cpl. Max Klinger on the television show 'M*A*S*H*.'

Try as you might, you cannot get far without seeing Farr.

Drive down the street, his mug is on a billboard. Go into a shop at Portside, his autographed picture is on the wall. Open a Toledo Mud Hen program, and there he is with a baseball jersey on. There's even a women's golf tournament named after him. AT TONY Packo's Cafe, another enclave of Toledodom, there's sort of a Jamie Farr hall of fame. Included on the hallowed walls are a couple of women's hats from his Klinger days on M.A.S.H. one of his cigar butts, an autographed tongue depresser, an honorary degree from the University of Toledo and a slew of autographed pictures. The elderly man on his way out who cuts into the serving line at Tony Packo's, though, couldn't give a hoot about Jamie Farr.

"Where's the Dukakis bun?," he asks, almost demanding. "It's not up yet, sir," the waitress replies.

"Ah geez. We brought all these people here to see it," he said, turning around for the Anyone who's anyone has an autographed hot dog bun on Packo's wall (At last count, Jamie Farr had about four). Presidential hopeful Michael Dukakis recently visited Toledo and had one of Packo's famous hot dogs.

He's in good company. Bob Hope, Jimmy City).

Carter, Arthur Fiedler, Elke Sommer and Burt Reynolds all have their buns on the wall at Packo's. It ranks right up there with getting a key to the city.

"WE USED to have them autograph a real hot dog bun," said Tony Packo Jr., part owner of the Toledo institution. "But they (the buns, that is) would get dry and shrivel Packo solved that. Celebs now sign Styrofoam buns, which like the hot dogs, stand the

The hot dog is half a Hungarian sausage swathed with mustard, onions and Packo's special sauce. The hot dog was the brain child of Tony Packo's father, Tony Packo Sr. Since most people couldn't afford a sausage sandwich during the depression, the senior Packo figured a half-sausage in hot dog form would be the ticket.

He was obviously right. Packo's is famous nationwide, especially with Klinger constantly raving about the hot dogs on "MoAoSoH." The junior Packo has begun marketing Tshirts and sweatshirts along with foodstuffs like pickles, hot dog sauce and mustard rel-

THE AIR around Ned Skeldon Stadium is sort of dead on this day. That stems from the paltry crowd of 200 souls scattered around the ball park taking in the Mud Hens.

But not to worry assures Jim Rohr, assistant general manager of the Detroit Tigers' farm team. Attendance picks up during the summer when school lets out, and the weather is warmer.

"We really pack them in for the chicken," said Rohr, sounding like Colonel Sanders.

The famous San Diego Chicken is a feathered fellow, who tours ball parks around the country. His comedy schtick includes running around the field between innings toying with fans and kicking dirt on players and umpires. THE ONLY thing getting kicked this day is the behind of the Mud Hens. The Hens are trailing the Columbus Clippers, the New York Yankee triple-A farm club, by four runs. Who cares. This is the baseball Abner Doubleday had in mind more than a 100 years ago. One can hear the crack of the bat, the ball hitting fielder's gloves and players swearing when they strike out.

On top of that, they serve real beer right from glass bottles (After all, it is the Glass

Baseball and hot dogs aren't the only Toledo at-

The city has a bevy of first-rate restaurants and shopping centers, including Portside on the Maumee River. The Toledo Zoo - featuring a pair of visiting pandas this summer - is one of the nation's finest. As is the Toledo Museum of Art. Some suggestions on traveling to the Glass City. For one, avoid I-75 if possible. Construction near Monroe has been known to snarl traffic for miles. An alternative route would be to take I-94 west to US-23 south to I-475 east, which leads to downtown Toledo.

Here's a brief guide to some of the Glass City's • Portside resembles downtown Detroit's Trapper's Alley in design, but on a smaller scale. Like Trapper's Alley, there are plenty of specialty shops and places to eat.

Some of the more unusual shops include a Wolverine/Buckeye shop, selling both University of Michigan and Ohio State University souvenirs. Not a bad idea considering Toledo is sort of the DMZ of the Wolverine-Buckeye rivalry.

The M.A.S.H. (Mud Hen All Sport House) sells a whole line of Mud Hen souvenirs, including used baseball pants and women's underwear that has "I'm Behind the Mud Hens" printed on the back.

Want something to eat? Try the seafood stand on the top level. They serve a mean clam chowder in a Bud Light beer cup for $1.75. A beer-wine shop sells imported beer by the single bottle. (Portside is at 408 N. Summit. For more information, call 419-

• El Grecho, Rubens, Rembrandt, Gainsborough, Van Gogh, Degas, Monet, Matisse and Picasso have their works displayed at the Toledo Museum

The museum has special exhibitions, concerts, films, lectures along with programs for adults and children. There's a cafe and bookstore. Admission is free (except for special exhibits). The Toledo Museum of Art is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and from 1-5 p.m. on Sunday.

Mother Nature really stacked the deck against the giant pandas, but you would never know it by watching their adoring fans at the Toledo Zoo this summer.

Le Le and Nan Wan were loaned to the Toledo Zoo for 100 days by the People's Republic of China, creating more excitement than anybody has seen in the "Glass City" since John Denver spent a week there one day in the 1970s.

Chinese museum exhibit "The Panda and the Dragon" or read the information highlighted in the panda pavilion, you will wonder how pandas ever survive at all.

It is difficult even for scientists to tell the males from the females. When America's first live panda, Su-Lin, died at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo in 1938, they discovered belatedly that the two-year-old female was re-

No wonder the giant pan-IF YOU BROWSE through the da is nearly extinct, with only an estimated 1,000 left in the "wild." And that's not so wild, since the Chinese have now built reserves for them in the mountains of central China where the only giant pandas in the world still live.

When the People's Republic loans pandas to foreign zoos, they send those animals that probably won't mate anyway. I saw Basi and Yuan Yuan in San Diego last January, two great cuddly critters who sat behind a glass wall and ate bamboo while all of us adored them.

ZOO VISITORS have the same mesmerized look on their faces as Le Le and Nan Nan wrestle and play in their much more accessible setting in Toledo. Q. I have a terrible wax buildup on my floor and it just won't come off. What can I

A. The problem is easily solved - when you know how. The simple key is to match your wax remover to the wax you use.

There are two basic types of wax: Wax based polishes and metal interlock finishes. The wax based polishes include the acrylic waxes commonly found in the grocery store. These waxes are softer than metal interlocks, require more coats for proper sealing and require buffing. They also wear off more easily and can be removed by de-

Metal interlock waxes are the ones preferred by professionals. This harder, more durable wax requires fewer coats and needs little or no buffing. It cannot, however, be removed with common detergents or detergent-based strippers.

The only ingredient which will "unlock" the metal interlock is ammonia, therefore an ammoniated wax stripper must be used to remove metal interlock waxes. Ammoniated strippers must be used carefully because they are extremely potent. They can "burn" the floor if instructions are not followed. Like anything else, however, there should be no problem if the rules are followed

To strip, divide the floor into workable areas. Spread the stripper over the first area and wait until the solution looks gunky and creamy. Then spread the stripper over the second area to "work" while you remove wax from the first. To remove, use a floor squeegee to scrape the gunk into a dust pan, then pour into an empty bucket. Next, spread stripper over the third area as you strip the second and progress around the room in this manner until you finish.

Next, rinse your floor with a vinegar and water solution to remove the residue. Be sure to let the floor dry thoroughly before waxing. (Your floors will take much longer to dry when the humidity is high, so stripping on a low humidity day will speed up the whole process. A fan can also help.)

On your first coat of wax, cover only the main traffic areas. Allow to dry thoroughly. Then apply a second coat around the center of the room, stopping about six inches from walls and heavy furniture. Let dry comoletely Finally wax the entire room third coat. This method provides a hard cover over wear areas without showing lines where you ended the first two coats.

I recommend purchasing your waxes, strippers and squeegee at your local janitorial supply where you can buy professional quality products. (I shop at Oliver Supply in Pontiac.) Call others first to assure they sell retail, and be sure to buy matching waxes and strippers. Don't just assume since you buy at one place that they will work well

There is no better way to brighten your home than doing it with plants and flowers. To me, there is something exhilarating about plants when present with imagination. You can do more than adding a splash On two occasions I substituted plants in lieu of drapery. In the dining room of each home I used ficus trees and plants. The one home sits on a hill with a bay window facing the road. On the outside of the bay, a ficus was placed on either side; in the bay, affording privacy, hanging plants and on the floor plants in brass and porcelain containers.

The effect was charming.

The dining room in the other home had a doorwall which faced a ravine. My client loved to look out on the natural setting. Here, I left the doorwall free of an adornment but placed a 7-foot ficus on either side with branches bowing to each other, giving the effect of an arch

WHEN YOU GROUP plants, you can mix shapes to get a sense of variety and pacing or you can repeat a basic shape. I find generally the greater the three-dimensional feeling you can achieve, the better a grouping of plants will look. If you have a typically rigid line of potted plants on a shelf or window ledge, shift a few pots to the front or rear. Try varying the heights. Stick to two or three types of containers. Too many can be jarring in the most harmonious room.

There are styles available in containers to blends with any setting. Porcelain, Oriental ceramics, handmade clay pots and mirrored metal are a few of the choices avail-

Now, if you are one of those people who say, "I just don't have a green thumb," don't despair. You can achieve the look of natural plants by using silk. There was a time I felt artificial plants were a no-no, but today at Elliott's on Merriman Road in Livonia, you will find trees, plants and flowers so real you will have to touch them to be certain.

Condos began as apartments

By C. L. Rugenstein special writer

LOOMFIELD CLUB Condominium, an apartmentto-condominium conversion in the heart of Bloomfield Hills, has more than its address going for it.

In an area where the average asking price for a new home is around $700,000, Bloomfield Club condos start at $61,900 (for the one-bedroom ranch) and top out at $89,900 (for the three-bedroom, two-bath model).

And Bloomfield Club's developer Eric Yale Lutz is proud enough of that fact to promote it as "The Condominium of the Decade," affordable living in Bloomfield Hills.

How did he manage such a marketing coup? Timing, said Lutz' director of marketing, Jim Morse. We bought it at a good price.

Eric Yale Lutz and Associates, a real estate and investment company, entered a joint venture with Radnor Corp., (a subsidiary of Sun Oil) to buy the 24-building rental property in 1979 with the idea of converting to condos. But when sky high interest rates sent the real estate market into decline in 1981, Lutz and company decided to bide their time.

"IT WAS A GOOD rental property," Morse said, "and condos being a lower price product were hit harder by the crunch.

In the interim Lutz and company poured $2-million into renovations, mainly exterior and grounds improvements. By the mid '80s, the market turned again. Last October, with their apartment rentals up to $825 per month, they decided to convert and go to market.

"This is the largest conversion in the Bloomfield-Birmingham area," Morse noted. It's also an ambitious venture with 192 units worth over 15 million in sales when the phase 3three bedroom units are ready for market in August of this year. The condominium market now is steady Morse said, making people look a little more enthusiastically: "Many of don't buy now."

What they're buying on the average of two per week are established residences (the apartments were built in 1970) with fully landscaped grounds and mature trees.

Twenty-four full brick buildings on 25 acres are Palladian-style and look more like large mansions than former apartments.

THE MANCHESTER is the onebedroom model, with approximately 850 square feet of living space. The Huntington is the two-bedroom model, with 1,050 square feet. Room sizes for both are about the same, though the Huntington has a generous-sized second bathroom with shower sales office will eventually be converted to the clubhouse. They recently added a patio designed by landscape artist Jim Scott.

"Based on our experience, we hought nesters and singles," Morse said of his target market. "But we saw more single women, ages 25-65, coming in to buy. Typically they underbuy - they could afford more but are cautious because this is their first home

MORSE SAID A profile done in April 1988 revealed 75 percent of Bloomfield Club buyers were starters, sensitive to monthly payments. Most of them had been renting.

Living rooms are large (20-by-11feet approximately), and kitchens a bit small (about 8-by-7) but efficiently arranged. Buyers are offered the option of taking the units with the original appliances (including dishwashers and garbage disposals) or upgrading to new Whirlpool appliances. The original countertop in the model's kitchen was in surprisingly good condition and current, style-

Lots of closet space is another amenity - both models have walkin closets in the master bedroom. Buyers can opt for a private stackable laundry unit if they're willing to

One amenity remaining to be completed is the pool. Morse says excavation will begin on it soon, and the

What's better than a circus?

By Nechama Bakstspecial writer

Q: What is more captivating, more thrilling, more visually stimulating and has more attractions than a circus?

A. A'parade and a circus.

Starting at 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 21. the Livonia Spree Circus will regale circus lovers once again with high wire acts, wild animal shows and other exciting performances featuring among them the hilarious antics of two clowns named Normy and Corky.

Two days later, at 3:30 p.m., the clown band and other stars of the circus will vie for the public's attention while parading from Lyndon and Brookfield to the Spree festival site at Ford Field, Lyndon and Farmington

Spree on Parade, which is only in its second year, was a great success last year serving as a kickoff for the circus and the magic show that follows the circus each evening, according to Karen Burskey. Spree Committee board member.

Burskey said last year's circus was packed to capacity and there will be few changes this year. And "we're expecting a bigger crowd" for the parade. she said, "a lot of people have been calling."

AFTER THE magic show Thursday evening. Spree-goers may attend a spaghetti dinner, sponsored by the Livonia Disabled Veterans Chapter 114, 4-9 p.m. at Eddie Edgar Arena.

The cost of the dinner is $3.25 for adults and $1.50 for children younger than 12.

Performances of the circus, spon sored by the Spree Committee and Wade Shows, are scheduled for 4 and 6 p.m. Tuesday, June 21, through Thursday, June 23, at 2, 4, 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and at 1:30, 4 and 6 p.m.

Tough choices

Food options mind-boggling

To eat or not to eat will be a moot question for hundreds of visitors to the Livonia Spree this year. The real question will be what to eat and that promises to be a tough decision.

With more than 11 vendors scheduled to hawk their wares from Tuesday, June 21, through Sunday, June 26, the choices will be mind boggling.

TO GIVE you some idea of what's in store come Tuesday, aside from the usual popcorn, hot dogs and drinks, here's a bird's-eye view of some of the eats you will be able to sample:

- Livonia firefighters will light a fire under some good, hot pizza.
- The Livonia Symphony Orchestra and the Livonia Stevenson High Band Boosters are teaming up to offer a selection of nuts.
- The Italian American Club of Livonia will pamper you with wine along with its sizzling. Italian sausage sandwiches.
 Livonia High-Nooners will serve
- traditional hot, buttery corn on the cob.

 Boy Scout Troop 897 will tempt your palate with mouth-watering bar-
- your palate with mouth-watering, barbecued beef and stacked ham.

 • VFW Post 3941 will be looking for a crowd for its kielbasa, sloppy
- joes, and kapusta plate.

 The Nativity of the Virgin Mary Greek Orthodox Church will be grill-ing up plenty of its popular shish kebab.

- AND TO satisfy the sweetest sweet tooth, there will be desserts such as:

 Livonia Masonic Lodge 586's sin-
- fully delectable chocolate covered strawberries.

 Stroh's ice cream ar 1, for soft ice cream fans, the Livonia L nesses' soft
- ice cream.

 Bavarian cream fudge with strawberries and cream dished out by the American Legion Post 32.

• TCBY, yogurt brought to you by the Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502. On Sunday morning, though, you may be yearning for some good, oldfashioned pancakes. The Spree Committee is arranging that, along with sausage, juice, coffee and milk at its fourth annual Spree Pancake Breakfast in the Eddie Edgar Arena from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The Spree Committee has invited city officials to the breakfast, so this will be a good time for residents to get acquainted with those elected to run their city. Admission to the breakfast is $2.50 for advance tickets and $3 at the door.

Groups manning food stands at the festival also will be in attendance. The group that sells the most tickets for the breakfast and the group with the most members in attendance will split the proceeds of the breakfast.

Chefs prep for Chili Cook-off

The heat will be on inside Eddie Edgar Arena Sunday, June 26, regardless of what weather forecasters predict.

Some serious cooking will be going on thee, when more than 30 chili chefs, serenaded by the Keith Taylor musical group, rev up to capture first prize in the Livonia Jaycees Chili Cook-off.

The competition benefits the Sheldon Park Senior Center on Farmington Road in Livonia.

First place will entitle the winner to a cash prize of $350 and a chance to participate in the International Chili Society's State of Michigan Competition scheduled in September.

Registration for Sunday's competition, which begins at 11 a.m., is $25 for International Chili Society members and $40 for non-members. Tasters are welcome at 2 p.m. to the tune of $1.

The senior center provides seniors 55 and older with a wide variety of activities such as crafts, dancing, card games and small appliance repair.

Seniors 60 and older are invited to join a nutrition program at the center where hot lunches are served.

The Senior Center, housed in a former fire house, is in need of repair, and the Jaycees aim to upgrade the facilities for more activities, according to Colleen Broderick, Jaycee chairwoman.

Strange happenings at Spree bed race

By Nechama Bakst special writer

Something strange is going to happen at the Great Spree Bed Race Saturday. June 25, but the Spree Committee isn't talking Karen Burskey and Gary Garrison, board members in charge of the race, are advising people to be at Eddie Edgar Arena at 5 p.m., however, if they want to find out what's going on.

TWO YEARS ago, the Livonia Spree's first bed race was enormously successful, according to Burskey.

Seven beds were decorated by groups such as Ladies of Liberty, Roadrunners of Windsor, and the Bed Bugs — all of whom won in one category or another.

But, alas, last year, not a single bed showed up.

The Spree Speedster, a bed created by the Livonia Spree Committee, waited forlornly for some brave bed-knight to challenge its speed but it was a miserable story of no show and no go.

This year, Burskey vows, thing are going to be different. First, the Spree committee is having the beds built, which removes a lot of pressure from the bed racers.

AND SECONDLY, Burskey said, they'll be adding a little "Surprise excitement" to the race. So, she's hoping things will go back to the way they were two years ago.

"It's a wonderful event, based on what Windsor does," Burskey said. Windsor has more than 100 people participating in the bed races they organize at their annual International Freedom Festival, and Burskey said these races draw large crowds to the festival.

Teams of five, made up of four runners and one person riding in the bed, will be running against the clock from the starting line on the north side of Eddie Edgar Arena to Stark Road — and back — a distance of about one-quarter mile.

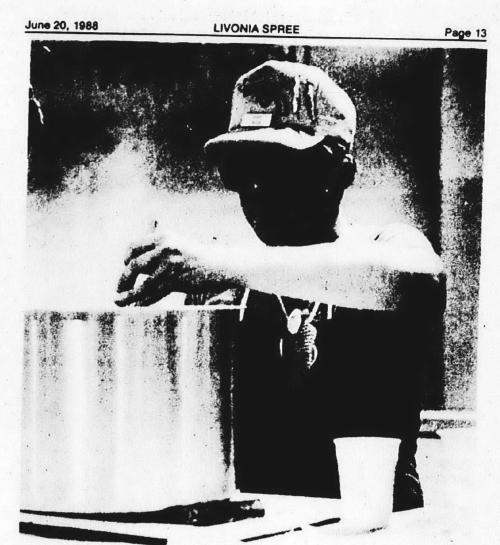

The winning team, who will have the over-all best time, must then compete against the Spree Speedster, which won by default last year. There also will be awards for best costume.

Gary Garrison, an equipment mechanic for the city of Livonia and the Spree board member who is building the Spree Speedster, said he saw a picture of the bed only once but thinks the finished model will be "real fine."

Iron Works Apprentice School Local 26 is building three beds for the race.

Teams will compete in a male division, a female division and a co-ed division, at a cost of $5 per team. Proceeds will go to a local charity.

All teams must register one hour before the event on the north side of the arena.

The Michigan Eye Center was founded by Dr. Dennis Z. Weber to coordinate senior eye care needs with an eye center providing surgical and technological excellence. It specializes in myopia and cataract surgery.

The center, with offices at 8538 Canton Cenger Road in Canton and Suite 140. 31000 Telegraph, Birmingham, has courtesy van transportation and other community outreach programs.

Cataract surgery is a virtually painless operation, said Weber, which takes only about 20 minutes on an outpatient basis and can restore vision in a healthy eye. In most cases, he added, patients can resume normal activities

Making it happen

Livonia Spree is made possible each year because of the large corps of volunteers who invest hours in planning throughout the year. Leading this large corps of residents are the officers, president Don Vyhnalek, vice president Rich Skaggs, secretary Dave Kimpel and treasurer Bill Fried. The Flying Caballeros from Mexico were one of the featured acts under the Big Top of the circus for Spree '87. Before the circus begins, a parade is held each year with all the participants headed toward the circus site. A popular feature of the parade are children who decorate their bicycles, get dressed up and join in the fun. Among the parade participants last year was April McGhie, then 5, who is shown here with her decorated bicycle just before the parade be-

Fantasies of life under Big Top

Tracey Parker, Kim Robesky and Sanjay Kacholiya are the winners in this year's Livonia Spree Essay Con-

Sue Rosiek of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and Spree Committee members Bev Griffin and Roger Walkin.

The winning essays are reprinted

TRACEY PARKER, age 10 and in the fifth grade, wrote:

"Why I would like to join the circus for a day, is because I would like to feel how a star feels. How someone who people look up to because of valor, beauty, and skill feels. To hear the cheering of the crowd shouting 'Bravo' 'More' to be the clown who gets the most laughs; the tight rope walker who keeps the audience in suspense; the ringmaster introducing the acts. All members of the circus play a big part. Ready to back you up if you fall or make a mistake. The whole circus is like one family; working together. All for one and one for all. Helping, working, performing, perfecting. If I were a bare back rider, balancing on a horse as the audience cheers. If I were the lion tamer, willing to risk his life for the pleasure of the crows. A tight rope walker, standing high above all of the people. Walking slowly so as not to make a mistake. The band playing, the ringmaster's booming voice, the crowd's glamerous cheers, the encouragement of other performers. Oh, these are the sounds of glory. The smells a circus performer smells; popcorn, cotton candy, the smell of the animals, all familiar. When the show starts and each act is presented, the feeling of tension, excitement, laughter, relief fill the air. Almost every child sitting in the audience is wishing, hoping, dreaming, of the fantasy that one day he or she will be the tight rope walker, ringmaster or hero that they look up to. Why would I want to be in a circus for a day? To feel the feelings a performer feels, smells, hears, witnesses. But most of all, to be that child who has accomplished that seemingly "im-walking around in these silly suits with make-up all over my face and a big red nose stuck on my face. It sure feels good to make all the kids so happy. By the way, I'm Chuckie, the clown. I love making little children happy. All day, I walk around and see the children. I take them out to the center and sit on the elephants with them and play with them. They really enjoy it. They run back telling their mom and dad how much fun they had. I, also get on the big unicycle and ride around seeing everybody. Me and what you might call, my clown friends, Joe and Harry, do all sorts of tricks for the people. We tumble and play games, we even get into or on those teensy little cars and motorcycles. How do you think it would feel to be in that big clown outfit scrunched into a teensy little car with about 15 or 20 other clowns! Ugh! I can't tell you how many people ask us how we do it! The only bad thing about being a clown is how hot and sticky and smelly you get! And all that make-up feels like glue, dripping off your face! But, when I see all those happy little faces, I know it's all worth it!

SANJAY KACHOLIYA, a high school student, wrote:

"To be part of a circus would be a lifetime memory for me. It has always been one of my dreams to perform in a circus. The circus is a trip to fantasy land. There are so many exciting and funny sights to see. The Livonia Spree Circus is no exception to this. Whenever I drive by the Spree, I can almost smell the popcorn. I can also picture the big circus tent. My face always lights up whenever I go to a circus. I know that my day will be filled with many fun events. The circus has always been a big attraction for me. Thus, if I could join the Livonia Spree Circus I will have accomplished one of the things that I have always wanted to do in my life. "The circus has provided many great memories for me. The bright colors of the large tent have always amazed me. When I was a little boy, my mouth would always hang open whenever I saw the tigers jump through 'the ring of fire.' I am still shocked over the way the ringmaster controls all of the animals. He seems to have their attention at all times. The clowns are another great part of the circus. I love the way they make people laugh. They are full of tricks and surprises. A clown's smile always seems to light up my face. I have always wanted to be a clown, for I feel that clowns make up a major part of the circus. I have seen many circuses, including one in my home country of India. Circuses throughout the world have many similarities. For example, there are still the thrilling acts and the ferocious growls of the animals. It seems as if the circus communicates a certain language that people can understand all over the world!

surely be a learning experience for me. I enjoy meeting new people and I like working with animals. I absolutely know about the hard work and effort involved in setting up a circus. This fact would only make me appreciate the circus even more. I would also like to join the circus because I could get a hands-on experience working with animals. I would be ready to perform any task that comes my way. I feel that I am a hard worker who will give 100 percent at anything I attempt to do. If I could just be a part of a great circus, then I would be truly satisfied! One other reason I would join the Spree Circus is that I love to entertain people. I enjoy seeing people laughing because I feel that this takes them away from their everyday problems of life. A circus is the perfect place to go if one wants to laugh or watch some incredible acts in total disbelief. These are the reasons why I would wnat to be part of the Livonia Spree Circus. I would truly be honored if I could become part of such a successful and respected circus!

becomes part of reality. It would be a great thrill for me to perform in the Spree Circus. I realize that being part of the circus can be quite demanding. But I know I can handle whatever comes my way. Participation in the Spree Circus would be something that I could tell my kids I did. Being part of the Spree Circus is something that I would greatly covet for the rest of my Three Livonia Youth Commission memorial scholarships of $1,500 each will be presented during Friday's Livonia Spree birthday celebration.

The presentations will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Eddie Edgar Arena on Lyndon just west of Farmington Road. The scholarship presentations will be part of the Corporate Cup Challenge activities Friday, June 24.

The Livonia Youth Commission will be presenting to Jim Garrison, Sandy Miller and Jim Mogan memorial scholarships to students of Livonia Public Schools and Clarenceville Public Schools. Garrison, Miller and Mogan were former members of the Livonia Anniversary Committee.

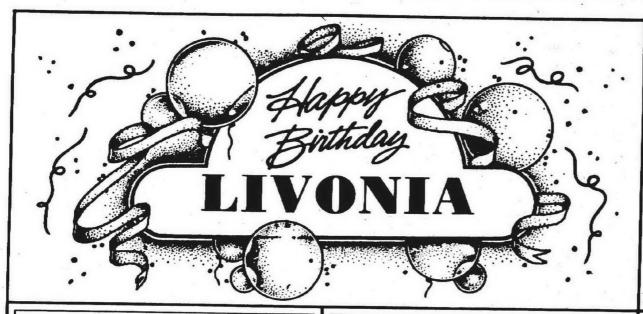

This year's winners are: Joe Overaitis of Blackburn Ave., a senior at Livonia Franklin High who will be attending Wayne State University; Pamela, Vergos of Brentwood Ave., a senior at Livonia Churchill High who will be attending University of Michigan in Ann Arbor; and Jennifer Guerin of Parker St., a senior at Clarenceville High who will be attending Michigan State University

The above students were awarded the scholarships on the basis of grade point average, community involvement, and work experience.

The $4,500 in scholarship money awarded this year is generated from proceeds from the annual Spree celebration. In past years $1,000 scholarships have been awarded.

Winners were notified in April. Anyone wanting information for next year's scholarships may call 421-2000, Ext. 353, to receive an application.
