Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young, speaking in Plymouth last Thursday at a Kiwanis Club meeting, said suburban leaders should emphasize commonalities their communities have with Detroit, not the differences.

Young: Emphasize unity

By Keith Postler
staff writer

Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young's message last Thursday to the 200 persons who heard him speak at the Mayflower Meeting House was simple but powerful.

The big city and its suburbs are dependent on one another and need to emphasize the commonalities between each, not the differences.

During his opening remarks,

Young said of Detroit and the suburbs, "There is a mutual dependence between us that far outweighs any differences we have."

Reaction among those in the audience after the mayor's speech was generally positive.

"Impressive," said Plymouth fire chief Al Matthews. "It was the first time I've heard him speak, and I was very impressed. I think he has some very good ideas."

Said Kay Arnold of Plymouth, "I felt it was very positive. It made us aware that we do connect with the city. I felt he gave us all a lot to think about regarding education being the responsibility not of each city, but for all of us as parents and taxpayers."

Citizen groups blast rail line safety record

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Three citizens' groups, including Citizen Action, the largest public interest organization in the nation, blasted the safety record of the railroad industry, specifically CSX Transportation, at a press conference at the Novi Hilton last week.

CSX was the rail line involved in the toxic train derailment in Freeland, a rural community near Saginaw on July 22. CSX rails and trains traverse the Plymouth-Canton area.

"CSX Transportation has the worst accident record of the nation's major railroads," said Robert Creamer, spokesman for Citizen Action, which is affiliated with the Michigan Citizens Lobby.

"Given the appalling safety record of CSX and the complete inability of the Federal Railroad Administration to effectively enforce rail safety standards, the type of accident we have just experienced was inevitable."

The Freeland accident "demonstrates the need for strong new federal rules governing railroad safety in general and stricter regulation of hazardous material transportation in particular," added Creamer.

CSX trains "are Bhopals on wheels waiting to happen, and people are beginning to understand that," Creamer said.

In the past five months, CSX has had three derailments in Michigan.

A fourth occurred in Chatham, Ontario, last week.

Creamer cited findings from the United States General Accounting Office: "In 1987, CSX reported 410 major train accidents and 58 accidents involving hazardous materials, both the highest of any rail carrier in America. Adjusted per million train miles, CSX had the highest accident rate of the large Class I railroads.

"GAO found that CSX under-reported accident numbers by 43 percent," Creamer added.

REACHED AT THE Freeland derailment command headquarters, CSX spokesman R. Lindsay Leckie defended the company.

"It is absolutely incorrect to say we have the worst record in the industry."

The accident rate has plummeted in fact since 1979, he said.

"In 1979, we had 1,600 reportable train accidents. In 1988, we had 332, so that in a 10-year period we've had a continuing decline not only at CSX but on the railroads throughout the United States.

"You can cook these things any way you want. You have lies, damn lies, and statistics."

"All of our maintenance and inspection standards either meet or exceed federal regulations," Leckie added.

Citizen Action, Citizens Against Toxic Trains and the Michigan Right to Know Task Force are calling for stronger federal standards for all hazardous material transporters and stricter rail safety regulation.

There's already been response from Washington.

Sens. Donald Riegle, D-Flint, Carl Levin, D-Detroit, Reps. John Dingell, D-Trenton, and Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, have asked U.S. Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner for a safety audit of CSX on the Midland-Toledo rail corridor.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, is calling on the National Transportation Safety Board "to continue its efforts to ensure that trains are safely maintained and operated.

"Living in Plymouth, you can't avoid seeing the types of chemical cars which regularly travel through our communities.

"The potential damage and loss of life posed by such cars should require railroad companies to maintain the strictest safety guidelines and procedures," Pursell said.

GREG MCKEON, FORMER Wayne County safety director, was one among those attending the press conference. A retired Detroit fire marshal, McKeon is lending expertise to the Northville-based Citizens Against Toxic Trains.

"As a firefighter, I've picked up dead bodies. I'm emotional, because I have grandchildren who live near the tracks in Westland, Wayne and Livonia. I don't want them hurt. It's as simple as that."

McKeon also is concerned for firefighters. "They're the ones on the firing line; they're going to get killed because they don't have the protective clothing to begin with."

McKeon says he wants "people to get active. Let legislators know that we as citizens have a right to at least sleep at night. Corporations can't come in and take over with chemicals."

DR. MILTON WEISS, a Redford dentist, also attended the conference. He told of an incident two weeks ago in which "my wife was awakened by the screeching of railroad brakes at 4:15 a.m.

"We turned on our police radio. They said there was a train stopped involving six tank cars. So we woke up our kids — we have two Viet-

Teacher gets a look at the future of space industry

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

For two weeks this summer, Barbara Church of Plymouth saw the future of the space industry laid out before her, compliments of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' science and math coordinator was one of 100 teachers selected from more than 400 applicants from across the country to visit the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

NASA scientists briefed teachers on the space shuttle, space station, spacelab and other programs.

"It was a very exciting experience," said Church, who plans to share what she learned with Plymouth-Canton teachers and students this fall.

"The technology they're using is just phenomenal. I felt like I was 10 years in the future.

"By chance, they were doing a test firing of the shuttle's main engine while we were there. They have a huge test stand, 17 stories high, that they mount the engine on.

"THE NEXT day when they were finished, we got to climb up and look at the engine and touch it. That was exciting."

Teachers met Conrad Dannenberg, one of the German rocket scientists who did propulsion research for Hitler. Dannenberg came to the United States after World War II with Werner Von Braun and other German rocket scientists who headed up the United States' space program.

"The other thing that was really exciting was touring the mock-up of the new space station, called Space Station Freedom," said Church, who earned degrees from McGill University in Montreal, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

"It's made of long tubes called modules that you can walk through. If you put your arms out, you can almost touch the sides and the top. Imagine Quaker oatmeal boxes assembled in space, with nodes in between each module. The modules just fit in the bay of the space shuttle.

"There's going to be a habitation module where the astronauts will live, and labs," added Church. "They showed us how the astronauts would sleep, eat, and some of the communication facilities they'd use.

"We spent a day in the propulsion lab, and a day in the materials testing lab where they test every material used to see what kind of stress it will handle.

"They're a little shaky after the Challenger," said Church. "They've changed the entire design of the O rings and solid rocket booster" blamed for the Challenger disaster in which seven died.

Teachers learned about the "aerobreak," intended for use on the trip to Mars. The device, shaped like a giant Frisbee mounded on one end, will allow space vehicles to slow down using air instead of rockets. The aerobreak is designed to slow a craft down by bouncing it off the atmosphere, Church said.

"It's similar to a stone skipping off water," she said. "This is all research they've modeled on computer. They're starting to construct it now. It's hard to imagine they can do this."

HUNTSVILLE'S SPACE camp was another stop.

"We got to play on some of the equipment. They have things like the gravity chair; it supports five-sixths

Plymouth resident Neil Carnes, a promising young hockey player drafted last year by the Montreal Canadiens, died early Sunday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an auto in Plymouth Township.

The crash happened shortly after 2 a.m. when the motorcycle Carnes, 19, was riding eastbound on Ann Arbor Trail collided with a westbound vehicle near Brownell Street, according to Plymouth Township police.

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry on Sunday refused to comment on the accident, saying he will issue a statement when the investigation is complete.

Jerry Hill, of Canton, manager of Gino's Pizzeria, which is about 100 feet north of the crash scene, said he saw the accident.

"I WAS checking out (closing the store) when I heard the roar of the bike," Hill said. "I just looked up and saw a Trans Am headed west, and the cycle heading east collided into it. The guy went straight up in the air 10 to 15 feet.

"It was the worst thing I had seen since Nam (Vietnam)."

Montreal selected Carnes, a center, in the third round of the 1988 National Hockey League draft. Carnes, who played Major Junior

"A" hockey the last three years in Verdun, Que., did not sign with Montreal, but was invited to Montreal's training camp this fall, said A.J. Baker, commissioner of the Metro Summer Hockey League.

Carnes returned home recently and spent the last month playing in the MSHL, an amateur league for college and junior-aged players in Plymouth and Wayne. Carnes played for the Broncos along with his older brother, Alan Carnes, and "was the league's premier player," according to Baker.

Games were played as scheduled Sunday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, but Baker said the league won't be the same without Carnes. Baker said he played Saturday with the Carnes brothers in a three-on-three hockey tournament at the Wayne Arena hours before the fatal accident.

ACCORDING TO Baker, the younger Carnes left the Wayne Arena after the tournament "because he wanted to go jet skiing with his buddies. We all expected him back.

"He was a real likeable guy, a tremendous hockey talent," Baker added. "The whole state knows who he is. He had a tremendous shot and skated like the wind. For his size (5-foot-10, 180 pounds), he was very strong."

The city will be looking at a plan for the Wilcox home at an upcoming Planning Commission meeting.

Wilcox proposal gets Aug. 9 hearing

By Keith Postler
staff writer

Jack Wilcox, owner of a historic house overlooking Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth, is seeking approval from the city to develop his property with the Marcello and Silvio Building Co.

On Wednesday, Aug. 9, Wilcox will introduce a new proposal to the city planning commission that calls for the construction of two, 5½-story apartment complexes with 30 apartments per building.

In 1986, Wilcox was a member of a partnership that received city approval to build a six-story, 46-unit condominium on his property. The units were projected to sell at between $161,000 and $250,000. Marketing and financial problems arose and the project never got off the ground.

The new plan, subject to city approval before any construction can begin, includes:

- 2.174 acres of land,
- Two new apartment complexes, plus the restored Wilcox House.

- Sixty apartment units, each about 1,600 square feet,
- One hundred two parking spaces.

When asked about the plans he would submit at the Aug. 9 planning commission meeting, Wilcox said: "They're pending, and we are still making changes. They are not set, yet. The longer you delay publishing this, the better service you will provide citizens because once you publish these plans, people take sides."

"We are making changes in the plan until the commission meeting," he said.

As part of the proposal, the addition that had been built onto the back of the Wilcox House will be removed to accommodate one of the apartment buildings. Three other houses on the property, plus two garages, also will be removed.

A typical apartment will include two bedrooms, two bathrooms, a living room, dining room, kitchen and two walk-in closets.

Unity

Young says emphasize commonalities industry and Detroit, and its part in the growth of the suburbs.

Young called on suburban and Detroit leaders to work together to ensure the future of the auto industry in metro Detroit and to help lure industry back to Michigan.

By doing that, he said, Detroit and its suburbs would benefit and be able to better compete with the onslaught of foreign corporations that have entered auto and other hi-tech industries.

The suburban stretch between Detroit and Ann Arbor, he said, also has the potential to be the next great hi-tech corridor in America. Detroit and its suburbs should work together toward this goal, first by setting up a mass transportation system along that route and then developing outlying areas.

Young offered two solutions to crime — education and jobs.

BY PROVIDING a stronger educational system and luring jobs back to the city, the crime rate would slowly decline. He also said that providing education for future generations should be a state-wide responsibility, not the burden of individual school districts.

Mary Roehr, executive director of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, said, "I think that he's a master at speaking and sizing up his audience and he came across as very genuine."

"I think there were some good questions that focused on the issues, and I think having him come to the surrounding communities furthers all our goals," she said. "And I do agree with him, that what affects Detroit affects us and vice versa."

"He was very smooth," said John Stewart, a lawyer and Plymouth Township trustee. "He presented a thorough picture of what condition he thought Detroit is in. I'm very impressed that the guy gave an 18-minute speech with no notes. I was a little surprised at his emphasis on economics being the answer to many problems."

Not everyone was taken by Young's visit.

"I think the mayor needs to spend more time building a sense of commitment in his own city," said William Joyner, a public relations executive.

"We're not going to go out to Detroit till he works on his own problems. I resent the fact that he only comes to the suburbs during an election year. He should get out while he's on top," Joyner said.

Teachers focus on classroom thinking skills

Plymouth Canton Schools were transformed into a place of higher education last week for 40 teachers and school administrators from across the country.

Their assignment was to learn more about how to teach thinking skills in the classroom.

The weeklong inservice program was given by the Institute for Development of Educational Activities. The seven-day institute began with the primary presenter, Dr. Arthur Costa of California State University, reviewing how people think.

The second portion of the week, participants worked in small teams with facilitators to practice what they had learned.

Flyer recreating Lindbergh tour in area stop

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton's Mettetal Airport will be the site of a re-creation of aviation history on Friday when Capt. John T. Race lands his WACO UPF-7 biplane.

At approximately 2 p.m., Race plans to touch down in Canton commemorating Charles A. Lindbergh's 1927 Guggenheim Tour. The 82-stop tour is to benefit Project ORBIS, a non-profit, international teaching eye hospital inside a DC-8 jet.

LAST FRIDAY, from a hotel room in Elma, N.Y., Race, 68, talked about his love of aviation, his need to help others and his admiration of "the greatest pilot ever."

"When I learned about him and when I spoke to him before his death, I learned he was interested in the ecology," said Race, a Baptist minister.

"He was famous and had all the worldly things you could imagine and he felt a need to try to help turn the world around."

"He was a good man and a gentleman," said Race.

Like Lindbergh, Race is greeted warmly wherever he goes.

But there's a slight twist in their stories.

Race will be a guest of the Scott Lorenz family at Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel during his stay in the area this week.

LINDBERGH STAYED at the Dearborn Inn and was a guest of Henry Ford, "the first that is," according to Dave Crippen, of the Henry Ford Museum archives quoting from Lindbergh's wartime journals.

Race, an aviator since 1940, also holds a place in history, himself. He flew General Jodi, chief of staff of the German Army, to Reims where he signed papers that formally surrendered German forces and ended World War II.

Race also made the pages of National Geographic recently and from that has received a lot of offers to stop over during his trans-Atlantic tour. He said he has met an "awful lot of kind people offering hospitality."

"There's been, I think, a very positive reaction to the work of ORBIS. People are very interested in ORBIS and their efforts to combat blindness."

But you don't need a plane or travel far to accomplish the same type of work, he said.

"Since our world is a wounded world, maybe a way to turn it around is to try to help others in our communities," said Race, who serves hot meals to homebound seniors when he's not flying.

For five years Race has donated his time to fly the Project ORBIS jet on 26 missions carrying the 25-member ORBIS team of doctors, nurses and technicians who work, mostly in poor countries, teaching skills to prevent or cure blindness.

"For many years I have had a concept to do what I can to relieve suffering," he said. "I could use my background in flying to help ORBIS."

ORBIS has carried out 91 programs in 54 countries, teaching sight-saving techniques to more than 8,000 eye doctors and restoring sight to more than 7,500 patients.

"Wherever we go by invitation for our mission of teaching and healing, any political differences that may exist are all put aside," said Race.

"What it's about really is love," he said. "It sounds simple and sometimes trite. That's the key to all this."

When not flying small planes, John T. Race donates his time to flying for Project ORBIS, a non-profit, international teaching eye hospital housed inside a DC-8 jet.

John T. Race will be retracing Charles Lindbergh's 1927 Guggenheim Tour when he visits Canton and Plymouth this week.

name foster kids — and hustled them out. We drove to a restaurant in Brighton.

"We called the Milford police and they said the train had made an emergency stop, and that they were investigating. There were eight policemen in the restaurant who had no knowledge of this. We called police back the next day. There was no record of anything."

Tom Horrigan of Citizens Against Toxic Trains has asked Gov. Blanchard to sign an executive order mandating a 25-m.p.h. speed limit for trains carrying hazardous materials. CATT also wants toxic trains routed through less-populated areas.

"We're getting response from people all over Wayne and Oakland County, large and small towns," Horrigan said.

"Citizens of Michigan would like assessments and answers so they can make a decision. The conclusion they'll come to is that this is too dangerous for our communities."

in the MSHL, remembers Neil Carnes as being a modest person.

"He never really realized his talent," said Cyplik, of Waterford. "He'd come out here and act like everyone was as good as him. It's too bad. This was a big year for him. He had a good shot to make it."

"He was so full of life, it wasn't funny. He never had a bad thing to say about anybody and always smiled."

DAN PHELPS, a teammate of Neil Carnes in the MSHL, expressed disbelief Sunday about the tragedy.

"I never hung around with him outside of hockey, because of our age gap, but I knew him well enough to speak highly of him," said Phelps, 23 of Livonia. "He was a good kid. He was a great athlete, but you can't judge a person only on his athletic ability. You have to judge him as a person, and he was a good person."

Carnes, a former student at Plymouth Salem High School, is survived by his parents, Neil and Lois Carnes; brothers Alan and Kenneth; grandmothers Geraldine Carnes and Beulah Jacobson, and four uncles.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete as of Sunday evening, but will be handled by the Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Public Hearing by the Planning Commission of the Charter Township of Canton on August 21, 1989 at 7:00 p.m. in the Meeting Hall at 1160 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, Michigan to consider comments regarding the complete revision of the Zoning Ordinance. The revised Zoning Ordinance with Map, if adopted, would affect all parcels of land throughout Canton Township. The new Zoning Ordinance completely revises many regulations regarding permitted uses within zoning districts.

The Zoning Ordinance is based upon the adopted Master Plan and is the primary tool in regulating land use throughout the Township. Its contents contain regulations affecting every parcel and property owner within the Township. Current zoning classifications of specific property are subject to change through the adoption of this Ordinance and Map.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943 of the State of Michigan, as amended.

Herb lady tells how she began

Occasionally in this business, I cross paths with other foodies who, like myself, enjoy playing in the kitchen. We swap recipes, stories and techniques over the phone, standing in line at the supermarket and in the strangest of places.

I met Diane Steinhauer of Westland one afternoon while she was volunteering as a room mother in her daughter's kindergarten class. Seems that in addition to helping out at school, she also makes time for a family of five while helping out as volunteer for the herb study group at Matthaei Gardens in Ann Arbor. She also has a 10-by-50-foot herb and vegetable garden at home and is involved in countless other activities.

An active member of the American Herb Society, Steinhauer tends to more than 150 assorted herbs in her own backyard. She can also be seen tending to the herb and botanical gardens at Matthaei. This summer, she will attend the national conference for the American Herb Society, which is hosting noted cookbook author and herbologist Sol Gilbertie.

Anyone who has more than 150 herbs in a garden is, in my book, a self-appointed herbologist. Steinhauer's garden runs the gamut of her Westland backyard, creeping down the sides of the house toward the street. She claims her garden is more experimental than functional.

THE PLOTS ARE laid out in Chinese fashion, using raised beds. The herbs are used mainly for culinary purposes, with a few of the more fragrant varieties being raised for craft purposes.

Steinhauer claims she became hooked on herbs when she first sampled fresh tomatoes laced with a basil vinaigrette. In addition, many of her herbs end up in favorite soups and stews, salads and homemade vinegars and oils.

The herb lady says she began expanding her herb garden because, "It provokes all of the senses." She likes the texture of the leaves, the smell of the flowers, the assorted tastes, and the sounds of the birds and insects that flock to the garden during the summer growing season.

She has observed wild finches, hummingbird moths and swallowtail butterfly caterpillars, in addition to thousands of butterflies and birds who partake of her herbal delights.

The wildlife is not the only thing to benefit from Steinhauer's green thumb. She and her husband, Curt, spent their honeymoon canning tomatoes for the cellar. The Steinhauer kids, Geoffrey, 13; Maren, 9; and Alexis, 6, notice that Mom has become almost a permanent fixture around Hayes School.

For daughter Alexis' sixth birthday, Mom brought in a Peter Rabbit book and went through all the herbs Peter enjoyed while hopping through the enchanted forest. The class then feasted on parsley dip, fresh vegetables and chamomile tea, just as Peter Rabbit did in the book.

IN ADDITION, the Steinhauer family has successfully planted a pizza and salad garden at Hayes School, consisting of tomatoes, basil, peppers and assorted salad fixings. In all, when harvest time approaches, Steinhauer will find herself tossing pizza, stirring sauce and assembling salads for hungry 4th and 8th graders who, unknowingly, will get a lesson on herbs and vegetables while enjoying the bounty.

Talk about being wrapped up in her hobby, Steinhauer also volunteers and maintains the formal herb gardens at the beautiful Matthaei Gardens. She assigns study topics to the various coordinators and helps with tours. She is very active in the fall herb and bulb sale and fundraiser at Matthaei.

Steinhauer is quick to point out that this year's sale will feature an amateur flower and plant show, in addition to a kitchen cupboard sale of homemade vinegars, oils and dried wreaths.

Summer soups a cool choice

Easy to do ahead

By Geri Rinechler
special writer

WHETHER YOU'RE picnicking on the patio or cruising down the St. Clair River, chilled summer soups can soothe any appetite.

If you've never attempted to make one, keep this in mind: they're versatile, digestible and so easy to make. Most of them can be made in advance, require little or no cooking and travel well. What more could a good cook ask for?

From its beginning as a mixture of stones and water, soup has evolved into many different forms, from France's gorgeous pot-au-feu, a broth enriched with daily leftovers, to an elegant chilled consommé.

It's difficult to document when the first chilled soup appeared since few European cultures embraced the idea. Tracing back through American food history, chilled soups didn't appear in cookbooks until the early 1920s.

Today, cold soups such as the Spanish gazpacho, French chilled cucumber or Hungarian sour cherry have become standard summer fare. But, if you've tried these and you're yearning for some inspiring new ideas, read on.

Not all hot soups transform nicely into chilled soups. Vegetable purees and fruit-puree-based soups work best. Avoid those made from beef bones or those made with a high butterfat content since the fat will harden when chilled and become very unappetizing.

MOST FRUIT SOUPS are a blend of pureed fresh fruit such as blueberry, melon, strawberry or a combination of them mixed with white wine. Generally, a sparkling white grape juice can be substituted for the wine if you wish to make them non-alcoholic. When selecting fruit, choose only ones that are ripe and have a fruity fragrance.

Other than gazpacho, most vegetable puree soups need to be cooked either in water, vegetable stock or a light chicken stock. Usually, a chicken broth or vegetable broth cube by Knorr-Swiss works well because the fat content is very low. For most purees a blender does the best job in rendering a smooth base. Take extra care when pureeing potatoes in a blender. Because of the high gluten content, they will become gooey.

When tasting any pureed or cream soup after chilling, you will notice the flavor becomes diminished. Spices such as curry, cloves and ginger often become muted when chilled. Other seasonings such as pepper, allspice and coriander intensify when exposed to heat for a long time. It's best to season these soups cautiously, tasting when hot and then tasting again after they have been refrigerated for a few hours.

There are no strict rules to follow

Fruit soups are among the cold summer soups, including strawberry soup (clockwise from bottom), blueberry, and chilled cantaloupe and honeydew soup.

Use berries, melons, carrots or avocados

COLD BLUEBERRY SUPREME

Serves 4

3 cups blueberries, washed, trimmed
1 tablespoon orange or lemon zest
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup fresh apple cider
2 tablespoons creme de cassis liqueur or Chambord
Garnish: 1 cup lemon-flavored yogurt

Puree the berries in a blender until smooth. Add fruit juices, liqueur and zest. If necessary add sugar to taste. Chill for four hours. Serve icy cold with a dollop of the yogurt.

ICY CARROT CREAM SOUP

Serves 4

2 tablespoons unsalted butter or margarine
1 cup carrots, peeled and sliced
3 cups medium, russet potatoes, peeled, sliced
¼ cup diced leeks, white part only

3 cups light chicken or vegetable stock
2 tablespoons whipping or coffee cream
¼ cup fresh orange juice
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
salt and pepper to taste
¼ teaspoon dried basil leaves

In a large heavy saucepan, melt butter or margarine. When hot add leeks and cook, tossing until soft and transparent. Add carrots and toss 5 minutes. Add potatoes and warm stock and basil. Cover and simmer until vegetables are fork tender. Remove from heat. Strain vegetables from soup, reserving the stock, and puree in food processor or blender. Slowly add cream and enough stock to make a smooth creamy soup. Cool. Season and add orange juice. Refrigerate 2-4 hours. Taste and correct seasonings before serving. Garnish with large Italian parsley leaves or orange slices.

AVOCADO CREAM

Serves 6

3 ripe avocados — 1½ cups diced
¼ cup whipping cream
¼ cup dry white wine
1 cup lightly seasoned chicken stock (fat free)
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon fresh lime juice pinch freshly ground nutmeg salt and white pepper to taste
Garnish: 6 small cooked, chilled, peeled shrimp and 6 sprigs of fresh dill.

Puree avocado using a wire mesh strainer or tamis strainer and wooden spoon. Bring chicken stock to a boil. Add wine and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add cream and spices, then lime juice. Cool completely, refrigerate 2-4 hours. Taste just before serving. Add more seasonings if needed. Garnish each individual bowl with a shrimp and a sprig of dill.

This soup is best when made the same day because it will darken when stored longer.

CHILLED CANTALOUPE SOUP

Serves 6

one 3-pound ripe cantaloupe, seeded, peeled and cut into chunks
1 cup fruity white wine or 1 cup sparkling white grape juice
1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
Garnish: 6 thin lime slices and 6 tablespoons sour cream

Puree the cantaloupe chunks with the wine or grape juice in a blender. Blend on high speed until smooth. Flavor with lime juice. Refrigerate covered two hours. Serve very cold. At serving time you may need to whisk or re-blend for a few seconds. Garnish each bowl with a dollop of sour cream topped with a slice of lime.

STRAWBERRY SOUP

ROMANOFF

Serves 3-4

1 pint fresh strawberries, washed, hulled, cut in slices
¼ cup apple cider or apple juice
¼ cup sparkling apple cider
¼ cup low-fat strawberry yogurt
2 tablespoons cassis liqueur about 1 tablespoon sugar

Garnish: 9-12 small-to-medium-size fresh strawberries; 12 medium, fresh mint leaves, slivered

In a blender or food processor, puree strawberries, cider, sparkling cider, yogurt and cassis. Taste, add sugar if needed.

Refrigerate 2-4 hours. Serve in bowls, adding 3-4 sliced strawberries per bowl and 3-4 slivered mint leaves. Serve chilled.

Health facts vs. fiction

Since the ancient days, people have wanted to believe that certain foods hold special nutritive properties and powers. At one time, it was believed that garlic would give you added strength and that eating chocolate would prolong life.

Lois Thieleke
home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

Wouldn't it be great if that were the truth? No more steroids for athletes, and we'd all live forever.

More and more scientific studies show there is a relationship between the diet people consume and the incidence of the leading diseases.

Take care about products with health claims when choosing a particular breakfast cereal to avoid cancer, or eating a certain oat bran to lower cholesterol, or fish-oil capsules to protect you against heart disease and on and on.

BE WISE enough to distinguish between popular, current hype and reality.

Oat bran therapy just may be a low-cost way of lowering cholesterol levels. If you add oats to your daily diet but continue to follow a high fat, high cholesterol diet, your cholesterol level will probably increase.

To the degree that low-fat oat products replace fatty items in a healthy diet, the value increases. Oat bran is only as good as your entire dietary pattern.

Eating quantities of oat muffins will add to the fiber in your diet; however it also will add lots of unwanted calories.

Having a "fiber fest" everyday by eating a high-fiber breakfast cereal will prevent cancer. If it were only that simple.

Increase consumption of breads, cereals, fruits, vegetables and legumes, these complex carbohydrates tend to decrease consumption of foods that contain lots of fat. Also eating complex carbohydrates automatically increases your intake of fiber.

Look for the words, whole wheat or whole grain on ingredient lists for breads, and cereals.

FIBER IS BENEFICIAL for diabetics. The maintenance of normal blood glucose levels is of primary concern to diabetics.

Recent research attention has been placed on the role of fiber in this process. Soluble fiber absorbs water and forms gels in the stomach. This gel formation slows the rate at which food is emptied from the stomach.

In the small intestine, gel formation leads to slower digestion and absorption rate.

Preliminary research has shown that eating two carrots a day will also lower cholesterol levels significantly. Just as with the oat products, it's the soluble fiber in carrots that is believed to be responsible for the benefits.

Here again, two carrots a day is not helpful if you have eggs and croissants for breakfast, a fatty luncheon meat sandwich for lunch and fried chicken for dinner.

CHANCES ARE that by increasing fiber you'll also increase consumption of beta-carotene. Broccoli, carrots, apricots, cantaloupe, pumpkin, squash (butternut especially), sweet potatoes and spinach are all excellent sources of beta-carotene.

The best way to ensure you're getting beta-carotene daily is to eat an orange- or yellow-colored fruit or vegetable or a dark green vegetable.

Adding fish to the diet can also be beneficial to one's health. Fish are lower in fat than foods that come from animals, and they contain a wide variety of nutrients.

Inexpensive fish that contain the now famous Omega-3 fatty acids include canned mackerel, sardines and herring. Canned salmon and white meat albacore tuna are also good sources.

Some studies have suggested that two fish meals a week may decrease the risk of developing heart disease. However, don't binge on fish to the exclusion of other healthful foods.

WHILE NOT ALL the answers are available on which foods may truly protect us against, or contribute to, the development of various kinds of diseases, there is sufficient evidence to make some personal food habit changes. Make sure you "glean" fact from fiction in balancing nutrients to maintain good health.

We keep our cars in good running order but sometimes neglect the preventive maintenance that can keep our bodies running smoothly.

Microwave chicken dijon

AP — Yes, you can enjoy microwave oven-fried chicken and still get a crisp coating. It's not quite as crispy as pan-fried but much lower in fat and more healthful.

The secret? Coat only the meaty side of each piece and cook meaty side up. That way there's no coating on the bottom to absorb juices and become soggy. Cover with paper towels — not a cover, plastic wrap or waxed paper — so moisture can escape.

MICROWAVE CHICKEN DIJON
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
¼ cup fine dry seasoned bread crumbs
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
½ teaspoon paprika
2 whole medium chicken breasts (12 ounces each), skinned and halved lengthwise
1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard

For coating, in a 1-cup measure cook margarine, uncovered, on 100 percent power (high) for 30 to 40 seconds or until melted. In a small mixing bowl combine bread crumbs, parsley flakes and paprika. Toss with melted butter.

Rinse chicken pieces and pat dry. On waxed paper brush pieces with mustard. Dip each piece into crumb mixture, coating the meatier side and leaving the other side uncoated. In a microwave safe 8-by-8-by-2-inch baking dish arrange pieces, coated side up, on a rack, with meaty portions toward edges of the dish.

Cover with paper towels. Cook on high for 8-10 minutes or until no pink remains, giving the dish a half-turn every 3 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 167 cal., 21 g pro., 5 g carb., 6 g fat, 54 mg chol., 379 mg sodium. U.S. RDA: 62 percent niacin, 19 percent phosphorus.

Herb lady tells how it all began

For more information on how to get in on this, she may be reached at Matthaei Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor. Folks interested in entering the amateur horticultural sale may contact her directly at 763-7061.

And if all of that isn't enough, the Steinhausers are also active environmentalists. She abhors the use of pesticides and says that the best pesticide of all is "your own two hands." She composts clippings and garbage and uses the natural fertilizer to keep her garden healthy.

IN THE FALL, she sows annual rye grass to help keep the garden from eroding and to add valued nutrients, not to mention that the grass "looks great in the late fall when everything has been turned under for a winter's sleep."

If you are into herbs and gardening as much as Steinhauser, you will want to stop by Matthaei Gardens. Maybe you will be lucky and she will have a pot of chamomile tea brewing on the portable stove.

Here are a couple of herb lady Diane Steinhauser's tried-and-true recipes.

HERBAL CAMOMILE TEA
10 tablespoons flower heads of chamomile
4 cups fresh water, brought to rolling boil

First, bring fresh cool water to a rolling boil. Then rinse a china, pottery or nonmetallic teapot with some of the water. Toss in the herbs (2 tablespoons fresh or 1 tablespoon dry). Add the water and allow the tea to "steep" for about 5 minutes. Strain the herbs as soon as the tea reaches desired strength. Serve with honey, lemon, orange slices or fresh herb sprigs. To make iced tea, follow the same procedure, using 3 tablespoons of fresh herbs per one cup of water. The extra allows for melting ice.

CREAM OF SORREL SOUP
1 cup fresh sorrel leaves
1 tablespoon butter or oil

Strain the herbs as soon as the tea reaches desired strength. Serve with honey, lemon, orange slices or fresh herb sprigs.

1 small clove garlic, minced fine
4 cups good chicken stock
1 cup heavy or whipping cream
salt and pepper to taste

Wash and pat dry sorrel leaves. Chop fine. In a heated saucepan, add butter or oil and saute chopped herbs with the garlic for 1 minute. Stir in chicken stock and simmer for 10 minutes. Place soup in a blender or processor and process until puree. Raise the temperature of the cream with a little hot soup, stirring constantly, making sure not to boil. Correct taste with salt and pepper, if desired.

East and West together, with easygoing dishes

"Madhur Jaffrey's Cookbook: Easy East/West Menus for Family and Friends," Madhur Jaffrey, Harper & Row, 1989, $22.50.

The one and only time I met Madhur Jaffrey was in the summer of '75. We were both enrolled in a cooking class taught by James Beard entitled "Tasting." Along with other notable cooks in the class, Jaffrey was introduced as the author of the cookbook "An Invitation to Indian Cooking," as well as an actress and friend of Beard's.

During one of the lectures on "seasonings," Beard remarked that Jaffrey taught him to grind all cooking spices such as fennel seeds, allspice and cinnamon just before using them. Later that summer I took their advice and ground some cinnamon pieces in an old electric coffee grinder. Jaffrey was right. The difference was phenomenal.

Jaffrey's latest book is "Madhur Jaffrey's Cookbook: Easy East/West Menus for Family and Friends." And it's just what the title implies, a personal collection of her favorite recipes. Although she is regarded to be the cooking authority of Indian food, most of what she prepares are dishes from Mexico, Korea, Japan and the United States.

The editors of Jaffrey's book sum up her cooking style beautifully in the introduction: "When a woman from India who has lived in Europe marries a man from America whose father comes from Kentucky — exotic things are bound to happen."

Recipes throughout the book are intriguing, appetizing and healthy. Most of them are simple to prepare and use ingredients which can easily be found in the grocery store or health food markets. Reading through recipes such as Spicy Chick-

cook's books

en Stewed with Chickpeas or Stir-Fried Gingerly Eggplant will tell you that you've got to like spices to enjoy most of the dishes in her collection.

The majority of the recipes are written to serve four-six people. The menus are grouped into chapters based on the ingredients of the main dish such as fish, chicken or meat. There are few dessert recipes — among them are cookies and a devil's food cake — most of them contain fruit.

This is a refreshing, innovative cookbook with tasty dishes for summer cooking as well as hearty ones for the winter.

After all this, if you're still yearning to try some Indian food, "A Taste of India, Madhur Jaffrey's Far East Cookery" will be arriving in bookstores in September.

Following is a recipe from "Madhur Jaffrey's Cookbook: Easy East/West Menus for Family and Friends."

GOLDEN SESAME CORN BREAD
1 tablespoon peanut or corn oil
1 tablespoon whole yellow mustard seeds
1 tablespoon whole sesame seeds
1 cup cornmeal
1 cup all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup plain yogurt lightly beaten
1/4 cup milk
1 egg, lightly beaten

1 fresh jalapeno pepper or 5-6 fresh hot green chilies, very finely chopped (with seeds)
2 teaspoons very finely grated, peeled, fresh ginger
2 tablespoons chopped, fresh green coriander (Chinese parsley)

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Pour 1 tablespoon oil into an 8-inch-square metal cake pan and heat over a medium-low flame. When very hot, put in the mustard seeds. As soon as they begin to pop, put in the sesame seeds. Stir them about for 10 seconds. Remove the pan from the fire. Spoon out the seeds and put them in a saucer. Some will remain clinging to the pan. This is as it should be; leave them there. Just push what remains toward the bottom.

Combine the cornmeal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in a bowl. Mix slightly. Add yogurt, milk, egg, jalapeno or chilies, ginger, green coriander (Chinese parsley) and 4 tablespoons oil. Stir gently and mix thoroughly.

Spoon the corn bread batter into the cake pan. Scatter the seed mixture from the saucer over the top as evenly as you can. Bake for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown.

This bread is best served straight from the oven. I cut it into squares or thick slices and put them in a bread basket lined and covered with a single large napkin. However, it can be made ahead of time, wrapped in foil and reheated in a 400-degree oven for 10-12 minutes.

when garnishing or serving chilled soups. Sprigs of thyme or a few long pieces of chives will dress up cold cucumber, cauliflower, potato or squash soup. Sprigs of apple mint or tiny edible flowers such as Johnny jump-ups add a bit of glamour to avocado, cantaloupe, blueberry or other cold fruit soups.

A TRADITIONAL rim soup dish or cream soup dish is always appropriate for serving cold soups. But don't be afraid to use a glass dessert or berry bowl for individual servings.

Other than gazpacho, most vegetable puree soups need to be cooked either in water, vegetable stock or a light chicken stock.

Most of the time, pureed soups can be stored in the glass blender. Sometimes fruit soups will separate during refrigeration and may need to be re-blended just for a few seconds.

All chilled soups can be served as an appetizer. Just add a mixed green side salad, some crunchy French bread and a slice of cheese or pate and you will have the makings for a delightful luncheon or light supper. For a summer dinner menu, either the cold vegetable or fruit soups can be followed by a simple seafood or fish fillet, poultry or lamb entree.

Hospitals sue over Medicaid funding

Michigan hospitals are suing the state for what they term inadequate payment on behalf of needy patients. The Michigan Hospital Association filed suit in U.S. District Court last week, charging state and federal Medicaid payments fall short of costs involved in providing care for Medicaid patients. The MHA and its member hospitals allege the state violates federal requirements for adequate reimbursement. Twelve hospitals are direct parties to the suit. Botsford General Hospital, Farmington Hills, is the only Wayne or Oakland county hospital so involved, though the Southfield-based MHA said another metropolitan area hospital may be added to the suit.

"HOSPITALS WERE chosen because they represented the average hospital in terms of Medicaid payments — not too high above the average, nor too low," MHA spokesman Steven Simmons said.

Calling it a matter of economic survival for many hospitals, the MHA claims a statewide Medicaid shortfall of more than $75 million.

A recent MHA-commissioned study found hospitals received less than 80 cents Medicaid payment for every $1 of care provided to needy patients.

Other hospitals that are party to the suit include: Bay Medical Center, Bay City; Berrien General, Berrien Center; Carson City Hospital; Edward W. Sparrow, Lansing; Ionia County Memorial, Ionia; Lansing General; Macomb Hospital Center, Warren; Mercy Memorial Medical Center, St. Joseph; Saint John, Detroit; St. Luke, Saginaw and Schoolcraft Memorial, Manistique.

Simmons declined to name the other metropolitan area hospital that was considering joining the suit. "They're board hasn't voted on it yet and we wouldn't comment until they had," he said.

State park fees to increase through 1995

By Tim Richard
staff writer

State park fees will go up by half next year and keep going up through 1995 under a bill in its way to Gov. James Blanchard's desk.

The Michigan Senate last week had to vote twice on the controversial bill before giving it 24-8 approval.

"It's amazing the increase we've had in the state budget in the '80s," said Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, one of the no votes.

"For us to increase fees while the tax base is expanding so rapidly is unthinkable. There should be enough tax revenue to operate the parks," Cruce said in an interview.

THE VEHICLE admissions provide $2.8 million a year for park operations and maintenance, about 20 percent of the operating budget.

Here's how fees would rise under House Bill 4681:

The annual vehicle permit, which has been at $10 since 1980, would go to $15 next year, $18 in 1993 and $20 in 1995.

• The annual vehicle permit, which has been at $10 since 1980, would go to $15 next year, $18 in 1993 and $20 in 1995.

• Daily permits would go from the current $2 to $4 for Michigan residents.

• Senior citizen fees would go from $1 a year to half the general admission price.

• Non-resident fee would go from $3 to $6.

• Commercial buses and vans holding more than 12 passengers no longer would be able to buy annual sticker. They would be charged daily fees of up to $15 to be set by the Natural Resources Commission.

• A bigger chunk of the annual permit money would go for park operation and maintenance, a smaller proportion into capital outlay and special maintenance. This is due to voter passage of a $140 million recreational bond issue last year that is to be used solely for capital outlay.

• The Department of Natural Resources could raise fees for camping reservations and camping fees, which are paid on a daily basis over and above vehicle entry fees.

SUPPORTING the bill were Sens. William Faust, D-Westland, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, and Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Opposed were Cruce, George Hart, D-Dearborn, and Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford.

Richard Fessler, R-Commerce, had an excused absence.

Current fees are "ridiculously low," according to a staff analysis. Meanwhile, staffing is down, toilet facilities are sometimes in disrepair, and stairways are deteriorating.

"The money goes into a special, restricted fund," said Sen. Phil Arthurhult, R-Whitehall. "It is used for day-to-day operations — rangers, trucks. Fees have not been increased in a number of years. This does not meet inflation."

"The DNR budget is based on this fee increase," said Arthurhult.

Debate was brief as senators waded through a stack of budget conference reports in the cramped quarters of a committee room. The Senate chamber has been torn apart during extensive renovations of the State Capitol Building.

"Please, my little girl needs blood?"

Imagine if you had to ask for blood to save the life of someone you love. Next time the American Red Cross asks, give blood, please.

GIVE BLOOD, PLEASE

every Wednesday evening this summer

Lindsey is a 5-year-old diabetic. Her daily insulin shots, diet restrictions and constant blood monitoring only provide day-to-day control over the disease. They do not cure it. So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long-term risks of diabetes — like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated 150,000 deaths this year alone.

But thanks to your contributions to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Lindsey and millions like her have something more to look forward to. In the past decade, JDF research has made great strides in isolating the causes and conditions of diabetes, bringing us closer to a cure. At the same time, diabetes increases by 6% every year. And in ten years the number of diabetics will have doubled.

So you see, your help is needed more desperately than ever before. For more information on the warning signs of diabetes and its treatment, and what you can do to help, call JDF at (313) 569-6171.

The ruffed grouse is among fowl that enjoy dust bathing. The function of dust bathing is not known, but it is thought to remove excess lipids from the feathers that are fed upon by feather mites. It may also help fluff the feathers and aid in their alignment.

Sun bathing — It's for the birds

Summer is indeed the time for bathing. On hot sticky days, or after one has been sun bathing, it feels great to cool off in the shower.

Well, man is not the only animal that bathes. In fact birds do not always use water to bathe with either. We are all familiar with birds splashing in a shallow puddle formed by the sprinkler. Wetting feathers with water can help control their body heat and help align their feathers.

Birds also sun bathe. On hot sunny days one may see a robin, or cardinal in the yard resting on the ground with its wings outstretched and head arched downward. It may appear that the bird is suffering from heat exhaustion, but it is actually sun bathing.

Sun bathing is believed to force ectoparasites to regions of the body where the bird can easily remove them. Exposing the skin to sunlight may stimulate the production of vitamin D. There is also a strong correlation between molting and sun bathing. Sunlight may help to soothe the skin when it is irritated by the replacement of new feathers.

SEVERAL species of birds have been reported bathing in the rain and in the dew on leaves. But dust bathing is not as common. Fowl like birds, such as, quail, pheasants, and grouse are those most commonly observed dust bathing.

Timothy Nowicki

Not long ago I had the opportunity to watch a ruffed grouse dust bathing. Like most birds that dust bath, this individual rocked back and forth to form a slight depression in an old ant mound. It was very deliberate in its movements and would lie on one side with the upper wing extended. This allowed dust to get into the underwing area. There were times when it rolled onto its back while rocking and rolling to and fro insuring dust landed everywhere. In between bouts of rocking it would remain still for long periods as if soaking in pleasure. Though this behavior made the bird more vulnerable to predation, it stayed in its "tub" for about 40 minutes.

The exact function of dust bathing is not known, but it is thought to remove excess lipids from the feathers which are fed upon by feather mites. It may also help fluff the feathers and aid in their alignment.

Ficano mulls options after jail loss

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said Friday he was mulling his options after last week's Michigan Court of Appeals decision that cost him control of the county jail.

Ficano said he was meeting with his attorneys to determine whether to continue his case before the state Supreme Court in the wake of Thursday's appeals court ruling favoring county Executive Edward McNamara.

"We're weighing our options," Ficano said. "We feel there are constitutional issues involved and we feel this sets a bad precedent. But there has been cooperation lately between our office and the executive."

The state appeals court upheld chief Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman's Feb. 16 ruling awarding the jail to McNamara under terms of a 1971 prisoner lawsuit.

In March, the state Supreme Court temporarily overruled Kaufman, returning the jail to Ficano pending the appeals court ruling.

IN THAT ruling, Kaufman said the sheriff wasn't doing enough to bring the jail into compliance and had hampered improvements through "mismanagement."

Ficano, steadfastly denying Kaufman's findings, said he's never received his day in court to properly argue them.

"There's never been a full hearing in open court," Ficano said. "We never had the ability for cross-examination."

A spokesman for the executive's office said McNamara would "move promptly" to assume jail control.

"We're going to move in promptly to clean up the jail and bring the budget into balance," said deputy county executive Michael Duggan.

Former county youth home director Pete Wilson had been administering the jail under an informal agreement between both branches.

While Ficano said he assumed the informal agreement would continue, Duggan said the agreement, "was in effect until the (appeals court) opinion came out."

"We're going to do this in cooperation with the sheriff, but Ed McNamara is the jail administrator," Duggan said. "He's the one who will be reporting to Judge Kaufman."

The jail would return to the sheriff, Duggan said, once terms of Kaufman's ruling were met.

More state students need aid to complete college education

Eighty percent more state college students are using financial aid programs to complete their studies compared with those enrolled in college during the mid-1970s.

Increased aid levels occurred among all types of colleges and universities, but was most pronounced among community and independent colleges, according to a just-released Michigan Department of Education study.

The study compared the years 1986 and 1974.

While state higher education enrollment increased by 14 percent over that period, 80 percent more students had qualified for state, federal or private aid.

Michigan's public and independent colleges reported nearly 170,500 students were eligible for financial aid in 1986. The figure represents more than one-third of the state's undergraduates.

The increase can be attributed to rising tuition and changes in enrollment patterns, the economy and the financial aid system, said state Superintendent of Schools Donald Bemis.

Students at public universities received the most aid, $235 million. Students at independent colleges received $158 million in aid. Community college students received $62 million in aid.

The federal government provided

34 percent of state students' financial aid, private sources 33 percent, the state 18 percent. Colleges and universities themselves provided 15 percent of all financial aid.

Tiffany Tyra of Canton and Philip Beuck of Cleveland, Ohio, have become a successful junior world class dance duo and hope to win a national championship in roller skating.

Teens dedicated to goal of being dance champions

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

He's quiet and reserved. She's bubbly and outgoing.

He lives in Cleveland. She lives in Canton Township.

Despite their differences, Tiffany Tyra and Philip Beuck have become a successful team. What the teens have in common is roller skating.

The 15-year-old Tyra, a junior at Farmington Hills Mercy, and 16-year-old Beuck are Midwest champions in junior world class dance and will attempt to add a national title when that competition begins Friday in Fort Worth, Texas.

The two have dedicated themselves to that goal and are recognized as one of the nation's outstanding dance combinations in their age group. The extent to which they and their families have gone to make that possible is impressive.

FROM LAST September to June, Beuck's parents saw that he got to Michigan nearly every weekend for practice, dropping him off on Friday night and returning Sunday night to take him home.

Since the end of the school year, Beuck has lived with the Tyra family, allowing for more practice time at Riverside Roller Rink, which Tiffany's parents own and operate.

"It's hard but I think it's really worth it," Beuck said, "because we're doing pretty well and seem to have a good chance of winning."

Furthermore, Philip and Tiffany had to turn their schedules completely around on weekends, skating all night and sleeping days because of time conflicts with regular events taking place at the rink.

"We're at the end of the year where you don't mind it as much," Tiffany said. "This is when the bigger tournaments and competitions are coming up. But keeping up with school and getting better at skating is hard to do."

"If we had to do this year after year — the same old thing — it would be difficult. This is the first year of weird hours, and we're able to adjust."

TIFFANY AND Philip have been a team for the last year — ever since Tiffany and her parents decided she needed a new partner.

The problem had been one of height discrepancy. Tiffany's former partner was 6-foot-4; she's 5-1, and the judges found the size difference unappealing. The Tyras knew of Philip, who stands 5-5, from last year's nationals and approached his parents with the idea of forming a team.

"When I met Phill, he was so quiet. I'll talk somebody's head off," Tiffany said. "I said 'I don't know if I'm going to be able to stand this.' Once you get to know him, he's not so quiet."

"I think that's pretty true," Philip said. "It works out really well. I listen to her when she talks."

Though they have become good friends through their skating relationship, they maintain separate lives away from the rink.

"I stay at their house when I'm up here, but she goes and does her own thing," Philip said. "You can get sick of a person, and then we wouldn't be able to get along and skate as well," Tiffany said.

Tiffany, who also was regional champion in sophomore ladies figures and will skate for individual honors at the nationals, and Philip are optimistic about their chances in dance.

SOME OF THE competition will come from Riverside in the pair of Kevin Lake and Stephanie Cotton, both June graduates from Plymouth Salem and Mercy. Riverside's Shawn Jellise, who won four gold medals in the regional, is a national contender, too.

The Tyra-Beuck duo knows it will need a good performance to succeed.

Hines Park falls in final

By Brad Emons
staff writer

"Wallyball" isn't just a cute slogan anymore.

Walter's Appliance capped an impressive three-game sweep of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs Friday night at Ford Field with a 7-2 victory over Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury.

Pitcher Randy Buchler made his 45-minute ride to the ballpark from his home in Grass Lake a memorable one, winning his second playoff game on a two-hitter. The right-hander went the distance, striking out 12 in nine innings, while allowing just two hits and five walks.

But probably the happiest member of the Walter's brigade was manager Mike Keller, who after 10 years in the league will be making his first trip to the prestigious All-American Amateur Baseball Association Tournament, beginning Friday, Aug. 11, in Johnstown, Pa.

"This is great, and I'm still shaking inside," said the Livonia manager. "I felt it was 'meant to be' after our last (regular) season game when we beat Little Caesars 1-0. That's the point where we wanted to be. It made us believers."

BUCHLER also made believers out of Hines Park, mixing a variety of off-speed pitches with a lively sidearm fastball to handcuff the opposition.

Buchler is no stranger when it comes to winning the big one.

In 1987 he and Walter's catcher Tim Crabtree led Grass Lake High to the Class D state crown. As a freshman this past season at Hillsdale College, he was voted the Great Lakes Conference's most valuable pitcher.

"He was on the money all night long," Keller said. "But we also played real good defense."

"We made some excellent plays. It was a team effort. That's the way it's been all season long."

Shortstop Ken Droplewski, a Wayne Memorial High graduate and a member of the Henry Ford Community College team this past spring, made three sparkling defensive plays on the night to propel Walter's to victory.

And as the Walter's players like to refer to, they hit "plenty of seeds."

The first outburst came in the second inning when Walter's produced five runs.

JOE STURTZ, the left fielder from North Farmington High headed for Indiana University, started the surge with a double and scored on Crabtree's single.

Droplewski then reached base on an infield hit and advanced on a Hines Park infield error.

With the bases loaded, Jeff Pendell walked to make it 2-0. Marty Wolfe followed by sending a hard smash past Hines Park first baseman Derek Humphries, scoring two Tempers flared in the seventh inning of Friday's championship game, leading to a bench-clearing brawl. After a collision between Walter's pitcher Randy Buchler and Hines Park's more runs. John Gotts' then earned credit for an RBI on a ground out.

Walter's made it 6-0 in the fifth when Dave Houghtby and Sturtz pulled off a double steal with runners at first and third.

Damian Hull then scored Walter's seventh run when Pendell, a Livonia Churchill grad, singled.

That was more than enough cushion for Buchler, who said he was "pumped up" for the finale.

"Their pitcher (starter Brett Loomis of Siena Heights) gave me my only loss in college, and the last time out he beat me on a no-hitter," Buchler said. "It gave me added incentive. I felt great out there tonight, although the last inning I got a little tired."

BUT HINES PARK failed to take advantage. The bats were silent all night long.

Hines Park snapped Buchler's shutout bid, however, in the seventh when Chris Sisler singled and later scored on a wild pitch. They added one in the ninth, but it was too little, too late.

"It would have been nice to have gone (to Johnstown)," said Hines Park manager Dave Racer of the LCBL's regular season champions. "Sisler and Loomis had their hearts set on going."

"Our game is pitching and defense. Our pitching really didn't let us down. We haven't been playing defense the way we're capable of during the past week, and Walter's (the third-place team) got hot at the right time."

"I expected it to be us and Caesars at the end, but they got hot and that's what it takes."

On Wednesday, Walter's handed Hines Park its first loss of the four-team, double-elimination playoffs, 9-3.

But in the first game of the doubleheader Friday at Ford Field, Hines Park bounced back for an 8-4 win over Duffy's Plumbing, earning a second shot at Walter's.

Sisler, the ex-Canton High stand-out now at Kansas City Community College, hit a homer and double to send fourth-place Duffy's packing.

SHORTSTOP STEVE Michelz and Mike Siwajek each had two hits for the losers.

Both teams have qualified for the National Amateur Baseball Federation regional tournament, which begins this weekend at Ford Field.

But the night and the LCBL season belongs to Keller and his Walter's crew, who dedicated the 1989 campaign to the late Bob Foust, a former player and Westland firefighter who drowned last spring.

Foust's jersey, No. 21, was draped along the fence inside the Walter's dugout during the playoffs.

"From the beginning of the season our goal was to go to Johnstown," Keller said. "Tonight we had the chance, and it became a reality."

"Now we can give Bob's jersey to his parents."

And Keller could not forget John Mestak, the team's sponsor.

"He's the backbone of this team," said Keller, who is also known as "Stick."

"John always said, 'Stick, whatever you need, you've got it.' Without 'Wally,' we wouldn't be out here."

Dance partners prep for national

"Our coach, Vicki Barry, keeps telling us all the judges know about us now," Tiffany said, "and we can't make any mistakes because they'll be watching us. Others they might not be watching as closely."

Should they finish second or third, Tiffany and Phillip would move up to world class level. If they place first or second, they also will be invited to compete in the Olympic Sports Festival next year.

"I see us doing pretty well," Phillip said. "There's a couple teams we have to watch out for. We'll have to skate our best."

"So far we've won all our meets except one, which was our first one," Tiffany said. "A lot of people get nervous under pressure. We just have to skate strong and look presentable."

Competing in individual figures, Tiffany will have more to concern herself with during the weeklong competition. On the other hand, that offers some contrast instead of doing one event all the time.

"I USUALLY do two hours (a day) of figures, and we did three hours of dance this morning," Tiffany said. "It's nice to have my own event, to break away and do something by myself instead of five hours of 'Figures are a lot harder than dance, because you have to be controlled in figures. If you get nervous, it won't affect you as much in dance.'

— Philip Beuck

dance."

"Figures are a lot harder than dance, because you have to be controlled in figures," Phillip said. "If you get nervous, it won't affect you as much in dance. I have a brother on the world team, and that's the biggest problem, keeping the nerves under control."

Competing in a non-interscholastic sport also has meant little recognition among their peers at school. But both have been skating since they were very young and obviously enjoy it and find the sense of accomplishment gratifying.

"I'm filling out college applications right now, and when they ask 'What extra curricular activities did you do at school?' I can't fill that out," Phillip said. "I'm an excellent skater because I've dedicated most of my time to it."

Spartans rebound with lopsided win

The Spartans stopped a two-game losing streak in a big way Thursday and won a Metro Summer Hockey League-leading seventh game.

Mark Issel poured in five goals as the Spartans, the first-place team in the Bakes Conference, rolled over the Huskies 16-7.

Gary Scott and Kory Kucharski contributed three goals apiece to the rout. Scott also had four assists, Kucharski three and Issel one. Overshadowed by the defeat was Rob McDonald's four-goal, one-assist performance.

The Falcons and the Broncos passed their most recent tests to remain tied for first place in the Eagle Conference at 6-2-1.

Alan Carnes had three goals Thursday to pace the Broncos in their 8-5 win over the winless Wildcats, and teammate Mike Kneiding chalked up three assists.

The Krygier brothers led the way for the Wildcats. Mike Krygier knocked in four goals, and Bryan was the main support person with three assists.

The Falcons dropped the Wolverines 8-2 on Wednesday as Duane Roe paced a balanced effort with two goals. Keith Pietila had two assists for the winners, and Matt Peal managed a goal and an assist for the Wolverines.

In other Wednesday action, the Lakers and the Bulldogs skated to a 5-5 tie that included key plays by opposing goaltenders Kevin Beals of the Bulldogs and Doug Abraham of the Lakers.

Mark Beaufait tallied a game-high three goals on behalf of the Bulldogs. Doug Tucker was credited with two scores, and Sean Flynn registered a goal and one assist.

The Lakers, who had whipped the Spartans in their previous outing, had a pair of two-goal scorers in Larry Pilut and John Smith, who also had an assist.

In a game played Tuesday, the Huskies outlasted the Wolverines for a 13-8 victory. The high-scoring affair included hat tricks by Pete Joelson and McDonald and a pair of goals by Paul Nieto. Joelson also had three assists and Nieto two. Matt Hoos scored twice for the Wolverines.

Ladies Pro Tour hits town

The ladies are coming to town! Lady bowlers, that is. The Ladies Pro Bowlers Tour will stop at Satellite Bowl on Michigan Avenue west of Telegraph Road, Aug. 6-10. The finals will be nationally televised.

For those bowling enthusiasts who are interested, they can enter the pro-am competition. This is a chance for amateur bowlers to bowl with the professionals. The prize fund in the pro-am is $6,000, with $1,000 guaranteed for first place. A nine-pin, no-top format will be used.

The amateur participants also will receive a souvenir sweater and other gifts in addition to the opportunity to bowl with three top professional lady bowlers.

The tournament features the world's best professional women bowlers. Among the participants will be Westland's Aleta Hill (two-time Bowler of the Year), Dede Davidson (1988 Rookie of the Year), Detroit's Cheryl Daniels (winner of three tournaments in 1989) and Carol Gianotti (1989 WIBC Queens champion).

Also competing will be past champions Dana Miller, Jeannie Malden and Lorrie Nichols and the winners of the last four U.S. Open tournaments - Wendy MacPherson, Carol Norman, Lisa Wagner and Robin Romeo.

The pro-am part of the tournament takes place Sunday, Aug. 6, with the youth competition at 11 a.m. and the adult squads to follow at 1 p.m. The pro portion of the tournament begins on Monday, Aug. 7, with qualifying rounds and continues through match play, which begins Tuesday evening and concludes with the nationally televised stepladder finals at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 10.

Pro-am entries and tickets to view the tournament sessions are available at the Satellite Bowl. Ticket sale proceeds will benefit Special Olympics. For further information call Mark or Diane Voight at 278-7400.

The Good Old Days are here again. This annual promotion by the Bowling Centers Association will take place Aug. 4-6. The participating centers will offer open bowling throughout the weekend for 50 cents per lane, and hungry appetites can be taken care of with 50-cent hot dogs.

The participating bowling centers in the O&E area are Bel Aire Lanes in Farmington, Bowl One in Troy, Country Lanes, Drakeshire and Langan's Nor-West Lanes in Farmington Hills; Merri-Bowl, Wonderland

10-pin alley

Al Harrison

Lanes and Woodland Lanes in Livonia, Garden Lanes and Silver Lanes in Garden City, Redford Bowl, Redford Lanes and Mayflower Lanes in Redford, Oak Lanes, Westland Bowl and Town & Country Lanes in Westland, Plaza Lanes and Plymouth Bowl in Plymouth, Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield, Super Bowl in Canton Township and West Bloomfield Lanes.

These lanes will be open throughout daytime and evening hours for everyone to come out and bowl at the Good Old Days bargain rates and have a lot of fun. If you are not a bowler but would like to give it a try, balls and shoes are always available.

The recent hot weather hasn't affected the scoring at Bel Aire Lanes as the Un-Mixed Mixed League last Wednesday night had Dan Schumacher with a 670 series on games of 243, 175 and 253. Max Lynch was right up there, too, with a 603 series including a 243 game.

In the Family Twosome, Gary Burgess Jr. had a 364 series. That was 127 pins over his average, which surely will go up. In the Tuesday Trio League, the high game was rolled by Howie Gerencsich with a 264 and Ted Middleton had the high set with 426. King of the Hill competition was won by Steve Herman as he beat out Pro Shop owner John Fallows for the prize money.

At Country Lanes, Dave Mahaz of Westland came through with a 399 game in the Monday Men's Trio League. Country Lanes has completed the lane finishing work and is ready for those high-scoring league bowlers this fall.

The action at Drakeshire Lanes involved a 300 game by Kenny Kosick of Canton Township while competing in the Men's Classic Trio League. Mike Brown hit an 889 series for three games while Dick Seattle scored 1,040 in a four-game block.

A noteworthy event is the selection of Drakeshire and Novi lanes as the sites for the Michigan State Youth Tournament next March and April. The tournament will cover all Saturdays and Sundays in those months.

The State Youth Jamboree will also take place at Drakeshire on Oct. 28-29. This will be an opportunity for any and all interested parties to become informed about all levels of youth bowling from the Bumpers all the way up to the collegiate level.

Town & Country Lanes in Westland had some outstanding scores in its Wednesday Nite Trio League as Harry Fill registered a 722 series and Dan Altizer came up with a 790 total.

At Woodland Lanes in Livonia, the Family Foursome League featured Ron Spicer with a 268 game. In the Men's Doubles, Gary DeBise hit a 718 series on a block of 267, 247 and 204. The Men's Trio League, with a four-game format, saw Chuck Dobrick at 869, Pat Burger 876 and Ken Kubit 874. In the Tuesday Trio League, Jim Gagnon rolled a 278 game in a foursome of 911.

The kids instruction series is well under way, and the youngsters are learning quickly under the instructional skills of Laura Podluszny. These kids may turn out to be tomorrow's superstars, like 8-year-old Billy McMillan who is learning the basic steps along with 11-year-old Kevin Green, who can deliver the ball much better than he could two weeks ago. He says he can really get the ball "down the lane." These kids will have completed a six-week course which will get them off to a good start if they wish to continue bowling and perhaps join a fall league.

Merri-Bowl in Livonia will start something new this fall: the Bad Bowlers League. It will be limited to those who average 150 or less. There will be T-shirts, trophies and a pizza party included in the program.

This is a great chance for those who always wanted to try bowling but were hesitant to join a league and may be embarrassed. In the Senior No-Tap League, Rose Harding bowled a 300 game a few weeks ago - quite a thrill for the senior bowler!

Power a key component of good physical fitness

Dear Myrna: You have a class in your studio called "Low Impact Power Pac." I have noticed the term "power" a lot lately. Is this a new term used in exercise or just another fad word?

Power - no, it is just not a fad. Power is one of the components of good physical fitness. Common terms are strength, speed, work capacity and power. The term power is simply speed multiplied by strength. Power is called upon for all quick movements, jumping and acceleration.

One form of training that is commonly used to develop power is plyometrics (standings jumps, multiple jumps and hurdle hops). We have been using some plyometric techniques in our impact aerobic classes to increase strength. Plyometric exercise demands flexibility and agility. They increase the intensity of your aerobic workout.

An athlete might want to develop power by speed lifting, timed reps, dead stops and medicine ball.

We use the name Low Impact Power Pac for our low impact class that includes a spurt of power moves with the low impact aerobic. There are two power drills of five minutes each. These power moves are controlled impact which adds strength training to our lower bodies.

Power moves add interest, variety and fun to a low impact aerobics class.

(Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your letters to: Sports Department, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48012.)

GOLF TOURNEYS

The Eighth Annual Detroit College of Business Alumni Association Golf Outing will take place Friday, Aug. 4, at Fellows Creek Golf Course. The cost of $50 will include 18 holes of golf with a cart, hot buffet and refreshments.

See times are 10:30 a.m. through 12:15 p.m. To reserve a tee time call the alumni office at 581-4400 or send a check payable to the DCB Alumni Association at 4801 Oakman Blvd., Dearborn, 48126.

The Plymouth Elks Seventh Annual Golf Outing is slated for Sunday, Sept. 17, at Fox Hills Country Club. The cost is $35 per person and includes 18 holes of golf, steak dinner and course prizes. Proceeds will be used to support the Major Projects Fund, which assists handicapped children.

Participants need not be an Elks member. Teams of four men, four women or mixed foursomes are being accepted. The deadline to sign up is Thursday, Aug. 17. For information call Kathleen Zelek at 451-2160.

FALL SOFTBALL

Canton Softball Center is accepting registrations for its fall softball leagues, which include men's, women's and coed teams. There is no residency requirement. The season begins Sunday, Aug. 27, and consists of 16 games. The fee is $195 per team. Call 483-5600 for information.

HOTSHOT HOOPSTERS

The first- and second-place finishers in the Canton Parks and Recreation Department's Annual Pepsi/NBA Hotshot Basketball competition were:

Boys - 9-12: 1. Dan McKlan, 73; 2. Adam Cunningham, 67; 13-15: 1. John Kandes, 64; 2. (tie) David Scott, Neil Dixon and Erik Bloomquist, 59; 16-18: 1. Jeff Martin, 79; 2. Mike Donhost, 72.

MUSTANGS SOFTBALL

The Mid-America Mustangs, a 15-and-under girls slow-pitch softball team, is recruiting players for the 1990 summer season. Tryouts for the USSSA/ASA-sanctioned team will be Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 12-13. For information call Ray Knickerbocker at 455-5893.

STEELERS FOOTBALL

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers football program has openings on its varsity team. If you are 12 or 13 and weigh 100-140 pounds or 14 and 100-120 pounds, you are eligible. For information call Sue Herman at 455-7299.

LIONS FOOTBALL

The Canton Lions Football Club is still taking registrations for the 1989

football-cheerleading season. Openings remain for boys 9-14 in football and girls 9-11 in cheerleading. For information call Debby at 397-1720 or Katie at 981-4691.

PUBLINX GOLF

The Michigan Women's Publinx Golf Association will have its Fifth Annual State Publinx Golf Tournament on Saturday, Aug. 19, at the Huron Golf Club, the new 18-hole course at Eastern Michigan University.

The tournament is open to all amateur women golfers. The medal play tournament will be flighted by verifiable USGA handicaps. There will be one medalist in the 49-and-under age group and one in the over-50. For information call 477-2522.

SOCCER HELP NEEDED

The Canton Soccer Club needs high school-age boys and girls to help with its 5- and 6-year-old soccer programs. Requirements for the paid positions are two hours per week and a soccer background. Call Jerry Parent at 455-5139 for more information.

SOCCER TRYOUTS

Players for the Hawks girls soccer teams are needed in the following age groups: '78-79 under-12 and '75-76 under-15. For information on all Wolves and Hawks age groups call Kathy Coyne at 427-3336.

Tryouts for the '74 Wolves Little Caesars II Division boys soccer team will be held Tuesday, Aug. 1, and Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 6:30 p.m. at Livonia's Jaycee Park. Call coach Kathy Coyne at 427-3336 for more information.

Players interested in trying out for the '75 Wolves Little Caesars II Division boys soccer team should reach Dan O'Shea at 729-1478 after 5 p.m. or Kathy Coyne at 427-3336.

SOFTBALL TOURNEY

Men's and ladies softball teams are invited to participate in the 15th Annual Allen Park Labor Day Softball Tournament. The double-elimination event will take place Sept. 2-4. The entry fee is $65 plus $10 per game for umpires. Team and individual awards will be given. Team reps should contact Rick Sparks at 675-3219.

Pick a street . . . any street. You're sure to find someone cruisin' by on a bicycle. Bicycling is a favorite summer pastime not only for the fun of it, but for the physical fitness aspect. American Youth Hostels has cashed in on the pastime with bicycle "clubs" that meet weekly for jaunts on two wheels. See Page 6D.

BEAVER ISLAND

'America's Emerald Isle'

By M.B. Dillon
 staff writer

Tranquility, natural beauty, solitude, simplicity and old-fashioned friendliness — these are some of the things Beaver Islanders like best about their Lake Michigan home.

They're also the reasons vacationers, looking to get away from it all, fall in love with the place. If you can't relax here, there's just no hope for you.

Twenty miles northwest of Charlevoix, Beaver Island is 13 miles long and six miles wide — the largest island in Lake Michigan.

Largely forested, Beaver boasts seven inland lakes, 41 miles of beaches, 100 miles of scenic roads and numerous hiking trails. Fishermen and hunters will tell you the island is blessed with a rich variety of animal and plant life.

There are wonderful restaurants, fascinating museums; a biological station; marinas; lakeside campgrounds that operate on the honor system; delightful shops with hardwood floors and wooden screen doors; even an antique toy store where a note invites you to leave the money on the counter if Mary isn't around.

Islanders are proud of their quality schools, and their newest asset — a library funded chiefly by Land's End retailer Gary Comber.

Sunsets on Beaver Island are something to behold.

Star-gazers are in heaven here.

Beaver is the largest of an 11-island archipelago that from the air "looks like a scattering of emeralds strewn by the hand of a playful giant against the deep blue of Lake Michigan," suggested one travel writer. Those en route to one of Beaver's two small airports are free to judge for themselves.

VISITORS opting for the 2½-hour ferry ride ($21 round trip) from Charlevoix are treated to eye-pleasing sights as well. The boat docks in the heart of St. James, a harbor town nestled in a bay lush with evergreens and sandy beaches.

A sign reading "Cead Mile Failte" (100,000 welcomes in Irish) gives visitors their first clue that Beaver is, notwithstanding, Beaver Island is a friendly, Irish place.

It's not unusual for newly-arrived city slickers to be offered a ride to their motel or cottage by a passer-by. If they accept, travelers may learn how rare it is for an islander to remove the keys from the ignition. Local wisdom has it that that's a good way to lose them.

One of the nicest customs on Beaver is the wave, and not the kind you do at Tiger Stadium. You can bet that whether you're on foot or on wheels, an islander will never pass you on the road without waving hello.

Please turn to Page 4

An afternoon rush hour on Beaver Island's main street, the King's Highway consisted of a pickup truck and a child on a bicycle.

Archie La Freniere, Beaver's "unofficial governor-general," swatted plenty of flies while presiding over the Shamrock Bar for 37 years.

Island has a colorful beginning

By M.B. Dillon
 staff writer

When it comes to colorful Michigan island history, Beaver Island has a lock on bragging rights.

Need convincing? Visit the island museum, better known as the Old Mormon Print Shop. On the National Register of historic places, the museum is staffed by Beaver Island Historical Society volunteers who'll confirm it in a minute. (They'll also invite you to help yourself to a paperback or two from a shelf on the front porch, as long as you bring it back, trade it for a book of your own, or make a small donation.)

Beaver was formed nearly 10,000 years ago when a stubborn limestone lip scraped rocks and sediment from the belly of a passing glacier.

Little is known about Beaver's first Indian inhabitants, but it's said Ojibways were around when the first white trappers and traders arrived.

Christianity may have come to Beaver Island as early as the 1600s. Bishop Frederic Baraga built the island's first church in 1832.

The only kingdom ever in existence in the United States was founded in 1847 by self-coronated James Jesse Strang, leader of a Mormon colony on Beaver.

By 1850, Mormons outnumbered the "gentiles," mainly Irish, and by 1852, non-Mormons were crowded off the island.

In the Old Mormon Print Shop, the red-headed Strang started the first daily newspaper north of Grand Rapids — the Daily Northern Islander.

A flamboyant lawyer, Strang also served in the state legislature. He appropriated land on the island, contended he received divine commands and practiced polygamy.

Once upon a time in Sveti Stefan

By Iris Sanderson Jones
 contributing travel editor

Q: Four of us are going to Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, on a one-week tour, then staying another week on our own. We plan to spend a few days sailing and a few days land touring. The literature keeps referring to a hotel, or an island, called Sveti Stefan. What's the story on Sveti Stefan?

A: If you like sea tales, you will love the story of Sveti Stefan on the Adriatic coast of what is now southern Yugoslavia. The story begins in the 15th century.

The walled city of Dubrovnik sat in its jeweled setting beside the sea 65 miles to the north. The walled city of Budva sat above the sea six miles north. The Turks controlled the Adriatic coast 40 miles south of the island in what is now Albania and made regular forays into the area.

It was a dangerous place to live, so the people who lived on the rocky mountainsides of Montenegro decided to build a wall around a tiny rock island as someplace to go when the fighting started. The island was just offshore, so they could walk across at low tide. Today, that entire walled island village is the Hotel Sveti Stefan.

Before I tell you more, let me tell you how to get there by the scenic route. You will have toured the beautiful seaside city of Dubrovnik. Drive south along the scenic coast, with a stop for water sports, history and browsing in Cavtat.

This whole Adriatic coast is popular with European tourists, who come to sail, explore the living remains off ancient history, enjoy the sunshine and sun on the beautiful beaches. You can pick your beach style — rock, spa-quality mud, sand, pebble, nude, whatever.

There is a huge double bay called the Gulf of Kotor between Dubrovnik and Sveti Stefan. Spend at least a day driving around it, stopping at Herceg-Novi and other towns.

DRIVE TO the top of the mountain for a spectacular view and tour the ancient city of Kotor, wrapped in a wall from sea to mountain top and back again. Drive across the mountains to the walled city of Budva and six miles on to Sveti Stefan. You can take a ferry across the gulf, but you would miss all that wonderful touring.

You first see Sveti Stefan from a hill above the Adriatic, an island of red roofs, trimmed around the edges by a stone wall. When you turn down off the Adriatic Highway and pass the summer homes (now hotels) of the former Yugoslav royal

MOVING PICTURES

'Hooch' is dumb, 'drooly' d-u-m-b

Welcome to the Wonderful World of Saliva — and if you think a big, ugly dog that drools in all directions is funny, well then, you're gonna love "Turner & Hooch" (D, PG, 95 minutes).

Hooch is portrayed by an unpleasant looking animal, Beasley, and his double Igor, both De Bordeauxs, a French breed of mastiff. About half way through the film, while sitting on an all-night stakeout, Detective Scott Turner (Tom Hanks) turns to the dog and says, "I'm boring you."

I can't speak for the dog, but for myself, I couldn't agree more. "Turner & Hooch" is filled with infantile humor — the dog's heavy spittle flung in all directions and deposited everywhere, particular in the fastidious Turner's clothing and home. Hooch also enjoys chewing furniture, car upholstery and leaving a mess wherever he goes, including the immediate atmosphere which he fills with flatulence — much to almost everyone's amusement.

The film's real problem, however, is not childish bathroom jokes but its own schizophrenia as it fluctuates from serious murder-mystery to a conventional Disney comedy all about men and animals bonding. The comedy element wins out but in the final analysis, "Turner & Hooch" tears itself apart figuring out what it wants to be.

The story opens with Turner's waterfront friend, Zack Gregory (Reginald VelJohnson), Hooch's master, murdered by the bad guys. Hooch is a witness and winds up staying with Turner during the investigation.

For the most part, the investigation is subordinated to the alleged comedy of sloppy dog destroying meticulous home, car and office of Mr. Clean, Detective Scott Turner. The complicated murder investigation gets lost in the background of these immature jokes and, at several points, is incomprehensible.

The simple-minded silliness is carried to the nth degree with the love interest, veterinarian Dr. Emily Carson (Mare Winningham), who it should be no surprise, has a lady dog so that Hooch can do it in the streets while Turner and Carson are doing it inside.

Yes, friends, they do it, even in Touchstone Pictures — Disney's arm for mature entertainment. But don't worry, parents, they don't show anything, just talk about it, so you needn't worry. This film is so childish that kids young enough to enjoy it won't understand what they're talking about.

THE DELIGHTFUL Babar stories created over 50 years ago by Cecile de Brunhoff and illustrated by her husband, Jean, now are on the screen in an animated version which should amuse children of all ages.

Produced in part by the Nelvana Company, whose 1985 success, "The Care Bears Movie" holds the box-office record for a non-Disney animation, "Babar: The Movie" is set for a major co-merchandising campaign so look for Babar dolls everywhere.

Interested in trivia? They've got that, too. How many artists were required to create the Babar film? Answer: 281 and they used 37.5 gallons of paint on 150,000 animation cels. Great fun.

So, what did you expect? Jason is still a corpse with an attitude. At 110 minutes "Friday the 13th: Part VII" (F, R) is 100 minutes too long.

"Jason Takes Manhattan" isn't quite accurate either. It's more like Jason takes an extremely slow boat to the Big Apple while killing off everyone in sight in a litany of uninspired gore. This movie has the look and feel of a junior high school film project.

Production values are nil and suspense is non-existent. Nothing here is fun or enjoyable. What is disturbing, particularly since this movie is aimed at a young audience, is the tacit approval of promiscuity and the frequent use of cocaine and heroin. This is unforgivable and a wholly unnecessary breach of the supposedly socially responsible consciousness in Hollywood these days.

There isn't a single redeeming aspect in this movie to make it worthwhile. Save your money and your time. Trust me, you've got better things to do. Reviewed by Susan Fincham.

STILL PLAYING:

"Batman" (C+) (PG-13) 120 minutes. Michael Keaton is a dud in the title role but Jack Nicholson's Joker is terrific.

"Dead Poets Society" (A+) (PG) 124 minutes. Robin Williams' sensitive portrait of a fine teacher is complimented by excellent young actors as his students.

"Do the Right Thing" (B+) (R) 120 minutes. Sharp, incisive and entertaining commentary on today's urban America.

"Field of Dreams" (B+) (PG) 111 minutes. Fanciful baseball story as Iowa farmer builds diamond so Shoeless Joe Jackson can play again.

"Ghostbusters II" (C-) (PG) 102 minutes. It's less funny the second time.

"Great Balls of Fire" (C) (PG-13) 105 minutes. Jerry Lee Lewis is energetic and entertaining but biography is hokey whitewash of a decadent life.

"Honey, I Shrunk the Kids" (B+) (PG) 105 minutes. It's fun but it ain't easy to be small.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" (B+) (PG-13) 120 minutes. Good entertainment, but enough already.

"Karate Kid III" (D-) (PG) 105 minutes. Boring, cliched sequel.

"Lethal Weapon II" (B+) (R) 115 minutes. Glover and Gibson do it again in high, albeit violent, style.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Stewart shines in series

By John Monaghan
special writer

A director once said that Jimmy Stewart's success came from his ability to be so "unusually unusual." It was a feature that proved irresistible in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" (1939) and "It's a Wonderful Life" (1946), where he played common men in an uphill battle for dignity.

The Livonia Mall plays tribute to Jimmy Stewart in a continuing series of free films. Screening Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m. (Squeezed in before the mall's matinees), previous films have attracted word-of-mouth audiences up to 300.

More than the previous series, which saluted Judy Garland, Clark Gable and Debbie Reynolds, the choices in the Stewart festival are testimony to the actor's greatness. Though passing over his famous films with director Frank Capra, four out of the five films scheduled rank among his finest work.

Hitchcock's "Rear Window" (1945) kicks off the month-long series on Aug. 1. In a bizarre twist on the term "neighborhood watch," Stewart plays a bed-ridden photo-journalist who suspects murder in the apartment across the courtyard.

WHAT MAKES "Rear Window" so incredible is that the audience never strays from the photographer's apartment. We see what he sees from the confines of his bed and as he battles the homicidal Raymond Burr, armed with nothing but flash bulbs.

Fortunately, the rest of the titles hail from the previous two decades — three from the busy year of 1940. "Born to Dance" (1936), playing Aug.

22, provided Stewart with his first big break. Though a clumsy hoofbeater and Eleanor Powell introduced a slew of Cole Porter musical numbers, including "Easy to Love" and "I've Got You Under My Skin."

He teamed up with Katherine Hepburn, Cary Grant and director George Cukor for "The Philadelphia Story" (1940), the stagey but breezy film version of the Broadway play. It screens Aug. 8.

Stewart plays a reporter covering a society wedding only to fall in love with the bride (a beguiling Hepburn). Ex-husband Grant, meanwhile, has his own plans for getting her back. Stewart won his first Academy Award for this.

MY PERSONAL favorite among Stewart films is "The Shop Around the Corner" (1940), screening Aug. 29. Ernst Lubitsch directed, with Stewart and Margaret Sullivan as employees in a Budapest notions shop. For close to a year, they despise each other without knowing that they share a common bond — they are each other's lonely hearts pen pals.

And while the Aug. 15 offering "No, Time for Comedy" (1940), is true to its title, think of this as your only chance to see it on the big screen. Even in his lesser films, Stewart exhibited a sincerity and warmth that no actor has since equaled.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

There's nothing like vintage Bogie, and "The Desperate Hours" (B, 112 minutes, unrated) is just that. While there's an appealing, competent supporting cast, including Arthur Kennedy, Martha Scott, Dewey Martin, Gig Young and Mary Murphy, this one is all Bogart and his nemesis, Fredric March.

This 1955 black and white Paramount release — just two years before Bogart's untimely death — was produced and directed by William Wyler. Joseph Hayes adapted his novel and play for the screen and Paramount is releasing the video cassette on Aug. 2.

The story is pretty simple and straight forward, almost cliched in these days of widespread hostage-taking. Bogart, his brother and a semi-moronic agent, Coblish, escape from jail and turn up at Fredric March's nice, polite, proper house, which they take over, holding March and his family hostage. They're waiting for Bogie's girlfriend to show up with the loot.

MARCH IS faced with the classic dilemma of every lawful and orderly person: Does duty lie with loved ones or with society? March opts to protect, as well as trying to save, his family from these desperate men.

"The Desperate Hours" starts rather slowly but builds effectively to a tense, exciting conclusion which should raise everybody's blood pressure.

The opening, however moderately paced, does set the scene of the '50s extremely well. The cars, the hairdos, the suits and dresses, everything including the ladies' figures are remarkably similar. Even after watching the entire film carefully, it is difficult to recall distinguishing features of the mother, daughter or kid brother's school teacher.

But then the '50s was a time of conformity. No doubt in another few decades, with proper historical distance, commentators will say the same thing about the '80s. Nonetheless, "The Desperate Hours" is worth

It's also worth screening as a psychological face-off between Bogart and March because that's what the film is all about. No doubt some will complain that this is haggard Bogart reprising his '30s style in a '50s milieu — and there's something to be said for that point of view — but it is enjoyable and entertaining anyways.

THE FILM develops well on the psychologically level as intertrial pressures work on the three gang members as well as on the family held hostage.

The police forces — city, county and FBI — come in for some pretty modern criticism insofar as their pettily interests outweigh their concern for the family's safety. In desperation Fredric March's wife says, "Nobody knows what's going on in here."

That hopelessness characterizes so much of modern life and the film is successful in dealing with that fear and with the terror of being held hostage.

STREET BEATS

Folk comes in from the street

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

From off the street comes Roger Manning

The New York City folk artist has stepped straight from the pavement and into the alternative music charts with his spiky acoustic sound. Before signing with SST Records, Manning was a street musician in New York City. He'd perform bluegrass numbers in the subways, mostly to a large black and Hispanic audience. They seem to dig it.

So do several people on the alternative/college music trail. Manning recently wrapped up a summer-long tour which included a stop at The Blind in Ann Arbor, in support of his self-titled debut album on SST.

Manning music is folk, but not too folksy. He's been lumped into emerging group, the anti-folkies, along with artists like Cindy Lee Berryhill. Part of the movement is in response to what Manning says is a "comfortable" folk scene.

There's nothing soothing on "Roger Manning," which was recorded on a four-track tape machine in his New York apartment. Every song title has the word "blues" in it and he even takes a swing at fellow folkies in "Lefty Rhetoric Blues."

Sings Manning, "Listen to the lefties talkin' on the radio/they're putting down the government/what the (blank) do they know/they gotta ring, they make me sick, they oversimplify everything."

So much for being vague. Manning is also direct onstage, discussing his favorite author Jack Kerouac, the folk scene, busking and the influence punk has in his music.

Did author Jack Kerouac have an influence your songwriting?

"Kerouac would write musically. If you read Kerouac, you should read them fast because they sort of pop along. I never seen any Kerouac stuff until four years ago. Just the 'go-man-go attitude about life, besides the fact he drank himself to death in real life.

"The first song on the whole album, 'No. 14 Blues,' has a line in it: 'The sad bird chirping church steeple down.' I didn't lift it from him, but that might have been the way he would've written it."

What's the state of the folk scene?

"The folk scene has been too relaxed and too comfortable in my opinion. That's where you have the anti-folk scene. It wasn't so much being anti-folk music, but more anti-boring and comfortable scene. Today, you have people who are willing to go onstage and rock n'roll. I'd rather play in a rock club than a folk club, but I'll play both."

How do you compare with the likes of Tracy Chapman and Michelle Shocked?

"Did you read that review in Rolling Stone? The guy who did the writing said I was confused, self-absorbed, self-righteous... and uncertain. The last line was something like 'Uncertainty is the theme of this album. In this respect, Manning has more in common with most rock bands than Chapman or Shocked.' For a month I tried to figure out what the hell he was talking about.

"He may have a point there. Chapman writes in a more loftier terms and Michelle Shocked is writing in this cutesy country way... whereas maybe I'm just up there being confused, self-absorbed and self-righteous. I don't know."

Why is there a lack of song titles on the album?

"That's just to screw with your head there. It's a sort of anti-title thing. You get these guys, they get onstage, they sit on a stool, start picking and say, 'This song is East Chicago Ballad' or something like that and I'm supposed to be impressed. It's already been done. I thought it would be funny to have the word 'blues' in every title."

What's it like making a living as a street musician in New York City?

"It's difficult. When you start out in the street or subway, you never seem to make any money no matter how good you are. It's like you have to collect some street dust before it begins to work.

"I chose to play less and less in the street because people just walk by and it's a distraction.

"It's nice to play on the platforms (in the subway) because people are standing around waiting for a train. I talk to people and say, 'This song is about this and that.' First they look at you kind of weird, but New York people are really cool. It doesn't matter what you do so long as it's really good, they're open to it." How does your punk influences set you apart from the rest of the folk crowd?

"A lot of the folk scene, quote end quote, don't even think about that music. It's important music in this day and age, even it was 10 years ago. One of my favorite anecdotes is that I was at one more established folk clubs and one of hobbies was to cover Top-40 songs. I did a song by Simple Minds, 'Don't You Forget About Me,' that was in the movie 'The Breakfast Club.'

"I did the song and the head of booking of the club comes up to me afterward and congratulates me on the new song I had just written. Talk about out of touch!"

MUSIC VIEWS

Some local gigs that left their mark

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The band: Bootsey X and the Lovetones. The place: Paycheck's Lounge in Hamtramck.

Many tunes have since past through these ears (which perhaps explains why I have to say, "Could you repeat that?" a lot).

Nonetheless, it's time to sit back, cogitate, calculate and articulate just what the hell we've been listening to for nearly two years. As a result, yours truly has come up with a list of local gigs that have had a profound impact on his life, the ones that made him stay out late and endure the frying pan upside the head from his wife.

Gangster Fun, July 1987, at The Hamtramck Pub: Ska never sounded so good on this night. John Bunkley possessed all the qualities of a frontman, amiability, enthusiasm and polish. The band was called back for two encores, further enhancing a great night of music and everyone sang "Happy Birthday" to one of the band members.

Hippodrome, December 1987, at The Ritz: Having heard Chris Richards interviewed on Scott Campbell's "Detroit Music Scene," we decided to check them out. Only about five people showed up to listen, but that didn't affect this energized outfit. In fact, Richards seemed to thrive on it and left all five members of the hard rock audience applauding.

Ann Be Davis, April 1989, at The Blind Pig: The lead singer flopped around like perch on the Cleveland shore. The stage antics blended well with some scorching guitar work and a crack rhythm section.

Frank Allison & The Odd Sox, March 1988, Nectarine Ballroom: Frank and the rest of crew opened for Adrian Belew and The Bears. The sparse acoustic quality of the songs mixed with Allison's intensity onstage were an unbeatable combination.

Volebeats, June 1988, at Paycheck's Lounge: The Voles were performing as part of a Tremor Revue, so the set was short. Yet the tumbleweeds were blowing down Caniff Avenue after this countrified group took the stage, providing a very intriguing sound.

Orange Roughies, July 1987, at The Blind Pig: The purpose of the visit was to check out The Hysterical Narcotics, but the opening act caught our eye. The lead singer was bouncing off the walls while the guitarist continually drove home some excellent guitar lines.

3-D Invisibles, January 1989, at Saint Andrew's Hall: A friend told me this band was hot. I didn't believe him. Then when Creeping Rick started to crank out some serious monster boogie, we were hooked.

Strange Bedfellows, January 1989, at Hamtramck Pub: The striking thing about this show was the lead singer, Missy Gibson, who sang about such obscure things as doughnuts. The nice harmonies with back-up vocalist Beth Yates made for some delightful music.

REVIEWS

ANDERSON, BRUFORD, WAKEMAN AND HOWE

Over the past two decades, the art rock ensemble Yes went through quite a few personnel changes. And the game of "musical chairs" continues, with bassist Chris Squire and guitarist Trevor Rabin now holding on to the Yes name while vocalist Jon Anderson has reunited with the band's early '70s core players.

You would guess that a reunion of such capable players — charismatic keyboardist Rick Wakeman, versatile drummer Bill Bruford and stalwart guitarist Steve Howe — might produce some memorable music. Unfortunately, the best playing this group will provide is likely to come during their concert tour, playing songs from the old days. The album comes off sounding like an excuse to tour and resurrect a bygone era.

The individual brilliance of each of the players actually seems to deter from this album's success. In the first track, "Themes," the ground being covered is familiar; it's another of the multi-themed compositions that made Yes so arty in its heyday. However, each player is featured at the expense of the others, creating a disjointed piece of art.

The only song that comes close to remembering the glory days is the track now receiving album-rock airplay — "Brother of Mine." Rick Wakeman and Howe temporarily revert back to their prime form, and Bruford proves that he's never lost it. In the final movement of the piece, ex-Yesman Geoff Downes (who also played with Steve Howe in Asia and produced part of Howe's ill-fated GTR collaboration with Steve Hackett) steps in for added support.

The rest of the album explores some different musical planes, like the totally ill-advised "Teabots" — which features a Calypso melody. But the word for this album is excess — too much virtuosity and not enough thought in writing and arranging an album worthy of the cast of characters.

It could be said that these old masters of art rock run a musical gamut here — heading into an artistic wall.

GOOD EVENING — Marshall Crenshaw

Verse, chorus, verse, chorus, guitar break, chorus, chorus, "Aaah, aaah" backing vocals, clean guitar sound, broken hearts, misguided love. This is pop, yeah, yeah.

Marshall Crenshaw, Berkeley's own and the closest person that modern pop has come to recreating Buddy Holly, releases his fourth LP for Warner Bros. and his first since 1987. It is definitely one of his strongest.

On this LP, he forgoes having all his own songs showcased in favor of strong songs which showcase his ability to pick winners.

Amongst the songwriters featured are Richard Thompson ("Valerie"), John Hiatt ("Someplace Where Love Can't Find Me"), The Isley Brothers ("Live It Up"), Diane Warren ("Some Hearts") and he co-writes with Bo-Deans and Leroy Preston.

Not bad company. Despite the diversity of the people involved, the songs all gel really smoothly. From Thompson's "Valerie" ("Well, I'm soft in the head and I give her hard cash, She spends all my money on junk and trash.") through John Hiatt's "Someplace..." ("Surely there's somewhere in this great nation, Where no one comes together just to fall apart.") and Warren's "Some Hearts" ("Some hearts seem to have it so easy, some hearts have the stars on their sides.") back to Crenshaw's own "Whatever Way the Wind Blows" ("Whatever wind of change goes tearing across the world, I'm always going to be close to you, girls.") things flow well.

With some fabulously passionate slide playing from Sonny Landreth, solid and imaginative bass playing from ex-Joe Jackson Band member Graham Maby and topped off by Crenshaw's vocals (and impressive guitar work), this album deserves, and more than rewards, repeated listenings.

Crenshaw is forging way ahead for a band that enjoys a song and hopefully it may open a few unplugged ears.

IN THE NEW HITSVILLE

— The Gear

The Gear is on the edge of something big or nothing at all. "In the New Hitville" EP (Chocolate Mustache Records), there is a group at the crossroads.

At times, the threesome has all the hooks and lyrics to wreak havoc on the music scene. Then there are those signs that The Gear is following down the same path worn by many other sparse guitar punk groups.

Oh please, let us believe that songs like "Get Twisted" and "In the New Hitville" are an indication of where The Gear is headed. If so, this band has hope of breaking out.

Undoubtedly, "Get Twisted" is the song of the year in these circles. An engaging melody is wrapped delicately around some rather cynical but well-written lyrics.

"In the New Hitville," the title track off the four-song EP, is a bit more aggressive but still carries its own niche with some spirited guitar playing and forceful vocals.

Again, The Gear seems to hit the right groove and riffs it. The music, however, cannot be said for the other numbers, "The Real You" and "Lead Hard and Fast." They are not bad. In fact, they're quite expressive guitar numbers.

But these are not the kind of songs that will make people take notice. In fact, they make The Gear seem like a handful of other Detroit bands. One gets the feeling that there is a need to conform to the model of guitar crashing heroes, such as Theplacements or Bad Religion.

What The Gear will do remains to be seen. But after listening to this EP, we definitely know they can do

'To thine own self be true'

Dear Barbara,
I really enjoy your column and respect the way you speak to those who write you for advice. I hope you'll be able to help me out a little bit with my dilemma.

I've been going with a wonderful, loving, faithful man for 1 1/2 years now. We have a good relationship and others enjoy and admire it. I love and care about him deeply, but sad to say, I don't think I've ever been in love with him. I've never thought about him in a dreamy, happy way. I've never really desired him in a passionate, romantic, sexual way, even though he is very good looking and is an excellent lover. This has made me feel guilty and dishonest throughout the entire relationship. I have cared for him and treated him well, but I've always felt bad that my whole heart and soul wasn't with him. He really deserves that much of me since he's given wholeheartedly of himself.

He asked me to live with him and marry him many times, but I just could never do it. I have always voiced my hesitations, have told him I am not ready to "settle down" or commit myself entirely. He that, yet still he hangs on and loves me as strongly and devotedly as ever. I almost wish he would treat me bad so I could have a reason to break up with him. The last thing in the world I want to do is hurt this man. We've been through a lot together and I know how very sensitive he is. He'll be devastated, if I leave him, probably wonder what he did wrong when he's done nothing wrong. How can I tell him, after all of this time, that he just doesn't "turn me on"? What a thing to say!!! It would make him feel like he's ugly or something, and that's just not true.

I know this letter is very long already, but I must add one more important aspect of this dilemma. About three months ago, I met a guy who just makes me crazy, and I want to go out with him. I have been totally faithful to my boyfriend and I do not want to "sneak around" with this new man. He hasn't asked me out yet, but I know he likes me and is attracted to me in return. I have "held myself back" out of loyalty to my boyfriend, but if I'm honest with myself, I know that that really makes me angry. I'm staying with a man I do love and care about, but it's mainly because I don't want to hurt him, not because of blinding passion or a real want. And I'm not talking of just a physical thing; it's not sex that I yearn for, it's something much more all-consuming than that. I've been in love before and I know this isn't "it" for me with my boyfriend. And that makes me very sad because it obviously is "it" for him. I wish I could say I feel the same, but in my heart of hearts, I know I don't.

Please, Barbara, help me decide what to do about this situation in my life. This new man interests and attracts me enormously in a way that my boyfriend never has. But my boyfriend is the kindest, sweetest, most generous and thoughtful man I've ever met. Girls tell me to "hold on to him" and I know I'm a lucky lady. For my birthday last month, he bought me a diamond and emerald ring, though I told him I never wanted a ring. I feel trapped and guilty and I cry myself to sleep many nights. I desperately seek your advice.

Janie

Barbara Schiff

Dear Janie,

I enjoyed reading your letter very much and I'm going to take this opportunity to thank all my readers who have sent letters and given me such pleasure.

If I understand your letter, you are not doing what is best for you or you would not be so unhappy. In continuing with this man who you say you love, you are not being true to yourself. Also, for the sake of your security, you are being unfair to him and leading him on only to let him down painfully when the time comes.

My following statement is a vast generalization and can easily be criticized. I will make the statement anyway in the hope of gaining clarity and decisiveness. If a woman is capable of experiencing the excitement you describe in yourself and is capable of generating the same in the man she wants, she would be better going for that rather than settling for dullness and security. However, moving away from decisiveness and clarity, a woman's age would have a large weight in which mate to choose. The younger you are, the more my statement is true.

Many women face this dilemma. Whatever choice you and others like you make, it is important to be able to live happily with the compromise.

Island offers a quieter way of life

False-front buildings, many dating to the 1890s, give St. James the feel of a frontier town. Anchoring St. James is the Shamrock Bar, kitty-corner from the dock in the heart of town. The Shamrock stays open year-round for breakfast, lunch, dinner and evening diversion.

During the 37 years native islander Archie LaFreniere ran the Shamrock, he was known as Beaver's "unofficial Governor-General."

Now retired, the harmonica-playing LaFreniere has no intention of leaving Beaver, even if he does have to travel a ways to see Notre Dame's Fighting Irish play football. Mrs. LaFreniere, the former Frances Connaghan, also wants to stay put. Like their parents and grandparents and great-grandparents before them, several of LaFreniere's children have settled on Beaver.

"I ENJOY IT here. It's a closer knit community; it's just a peaceful place," said Mrs. LaFreniere, during a time out from preparing dinner.

"My paternal grandfather came here in winter. He walked across from Goodhart near Cross Village," recalled the Governor-General. "My grandmother ran a boarding house near the lumber mill where she served luncheons and dinners."

LaFreniere, now 76, was the third eldest of eight children. His mother died at 38 giving birth in the family home in town, now the LaFreniere gift shop.

"It was her death that got a doctor on the island," he said.

Tourism has replaced fishing and logging as Beaver's primary industry — something that gives rise to mixed emotions. LaFreniere welcomes the boost to the economy "as long as the building doesn't get out of hand. We're not about to let anyone make a mess of our nice atmosphere, the water and all that."

So-called "off-islanders," several from the metropolitan Detroit area, are making a go of it in tourism, and enjoying themselves.

Bob and Lil McGlocklin moved to Beaver 20 years ago from Garden City. In what was once a rectory, they run the Circle M Supper Club, home of the Circle M Famous Big Burger with steamed onions, cheese and sauteed mushrooms, billed by the Wall Street Journal as one of the top 10 burgers in the U.S.

The Circle M is a few miles out of town. It sits all alone on a pastoral meadow laden with flowers and trees. The McGlocklins offer free transportation to the restaurant, and Bob often shuttles patrons in his own van.

ARLENE AND Richard Bailey of Rochester began vacationing on Beaver 17 years ago. In 1978, they bought and renovated the Beaver Island Lodge, a restaurant with rentable condominiums perched on a bluff overlooking Lake Michigan.

They became full-time residents in April. Their son Mike, a Schoolcraft College culinary arts product, is chef at the lodge, a great place to catch sunset. Mike's wife Jayne manages the dining room, and Bailey's daughter, Lisabeth, is an artist.

Lisabeth has an in-house gift shop and helps manage the condo association.

Why do they love Beaver?

"The simplicity of things and the beauty of the island. Life is simpler here. You get away from the traffic and the people," said Arlene Bailey, whose husband is retiring this year from Ford Motor's comptrollers' office.

For more information, write or call the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, Box 5, St. James, Beaver Island, Mich. 49782 or call (616) 448-2505.

Beaver Island has a 'colorful' history

IN 1856, HIS colony of 2,000 torn with strife, Strang was fatally shot by two disgruntled Mormons.

Leaderless, the Mormons left, making way for former islanders and fishermen to return to Beaver from neighboring islands. Many were Irishmen who'd left their country on "coffin ships" during the potato famine.

"Sociologically, Beaver Island is just fascinating," said Shirley Gladish of Beaver's Historical Society. "Not every small town has experienced such dramatic eras. And anything that happens on Beaver Island is highlighted by its isolation."

"In the mid 1800s, Beaver was open for homesteading. That attracted many people whose roots were in northwest Ireland. They could have farms and they could fish, so to come to Beaver Island from eastern U.S. cities, where Irish were told they need not apply, was a logical pathway.

"In Ireland, they weren't permitted to own land. Here they could, so it was just like heaven. The fishing was fabulous."

The Irish christened Beaver "America's Emerald Isle," a name

that's stood the test of time.

One of the most treasured chapters of Beaver Island history began in 1893 with the arrival of Feodor Protar, who came from a family of eminent professors from the Russian Baltic province of Livonia.

The white-bearded Protar was said to be a haunted, desperate man who kept his troubled past to himself. Before moving to Beaver and taking up housekeeping in a small cabin on Slioptown Road, Protar had led successful careers in theater and newspaper publishing.

UNTIL HIS death in 1925, he lived on the fruits of the land and dispensed free medical help to islanders, who gave him the title of doctor.

When Protar sensed his death was approaching, he wrote these instructions:

"One strong bag and a heavy stone will cover all requirements . . . and four friends. Let me slip into the water is all that is necessary."

It wasn't to be. In accordance with state law, Protar was buried on land near his home. Islanders took up a collection and erected a tombstone. The spot is entered in the National Register.

STEVE CANTRELL/staff photographer

Restaurateurs Lil and Bob McGlocklin left Garden City for Beaver Island not to get rich, "but for a way of life. There's a nice slow pace here," they say.

Humor with dash of sports

By Bob Gendler
Special writer

Bill Scheft is a guy who's not only established himself as a top-notch comedic performer and writer, but also as an accomplished free-lance sports writer.

In the opportunistic world of stand-up comedy, there are performers and there are those who specialize in writing material.

Bill Scheft is a guy who's not only established himself as a top-notch comedic performer and writer, he's also an accomplished free-lance sportswriter, with articles published in The New York Times, Sports Illustrated and Sport magazine.

Naturally, with those credits, a significant portion of his humor originates out of a passion for sports. That's why Scheft loves to come to Detroit.

"New York (where he resides) is a great sports town," Scheft said, "but the people who go to comedy clubs aren't necessarily sports fans. In Detroit, it's the same people."

Scheft had thoughts about each of the major franchises in Detroit, except the recent NBA champion Pistons.

"A losing team is much more interesting than a winning team. There's a lot more to poke fun at."

quipped, "I love coming to town with a losing football team. That really hurts."

On the Tigers, who possess the worst record in the majors, "The Tigers have a new season ticket plan. Buy one, get one free. Buy two, you can pitch."

Scheft provided more sobering thoughts about the current state of the Red Wings.

"I think it's really tough when people are celebrating before they win a Stanley Cup. But Betty Ford's going to have a heck of a team this year."

Originally from Boston, Scheft grew up with the Celtics, Bruins, Patriots and Red Sox. He graduated with honors from Harvard and said he doesn't understand why many are intimidated by the Ivy League mystique.

"They say going to Harvard opens a lot of doors for you," Scheft said. "They don't tell you that those doors have to have your father's name on them."

After graduation, Scheft took a job as a sportswriter in Albany, N.Y., which he found to be a very lonely place.

"I used to go to the batting cages and bring a glove," he confessed.

After a couple of years in Albany, Scheft moved to The Big Apple and tried to make it as a free-lancer, a rather tough proposition. When that wasn't putting enough food on the table, he looked to find something else.

"I just didn't want to eat bologna

the rest of my life," Scheft said.

He auditioned at New York's "Catch a Rising Star" and began the long climb up the comedy ladder.

"That was back in the days when it used to take two years to make a living in stand-up," he said. "Now it takes about a week — because there's so many clubs."

IN THE eight plus years, he's been in comedy. Scheft has done a lot of television. As he puts it, "I've done everything but the shows that can help you." He's appeared on Fox's "The Late Show" and "The Wilton North Report," CBS "Morning Program" and "The NFL Today," NBC "Sportsworld Looks at Sports Humor" special and Cinemas's Richard Belzer special.

Eventually, Scheft would like to give up live performance in favor of writing. He's already written a few scripts for television pilots and dreams of one day writing something to run on Broadway.

"I like performing, but I feel I'll always be 10 times the writer," he said. "I'm satisfied with my act, though."

And he says that his stints at The Comedy Castle in Detroit are his most enjoyable ones on the road.

"It's my favorite club," he said. "I really mean that. If I ever get a (cable TV) special, I'll do it in Detroit."

Bill Scheft returns to Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle, 2595 Woodward, Berkley, Tuesday through Saturday. For showtimes and reservations, call 542-0000.

Many women face this dilemma. Whatever choice you and others like you make, it is important to be able to live happily with the compromise.

False-front buildings, many dating to the 1800s, give St. James the feel of a frontier town. Anchoring St. James is the Shamrock Bar, kitty-corner from the dock in the heart of town. The Shamrock stays open year-round for breakfast, lunch, dinner and evening diversion.

During the 37 years native islander Archie LaFreniere ran the Shamrock, he was known as Beaver's "unofficial Governor-General."

Now retired, the harmonica-playing LaFreniere has no intention of leaving Beaver, even if he does have to travel a ways to see Notre Dame's Fighting Irish play football. Mrs. LaFreniere, the former Frances Connaghan, also wants to stay put. Like their parents and grandparents and great-grandparents before them, several of LaFreniere's children have settled on Beaver.

"I ENJOY IT here. It's a closer knit community; it's just a peaceful place," said Mrs. LaFreniere, during a time out from preparing dinner.

"My paternal grandfather came here in winter. He walked across from Goodhart near Cross Village," recalled the Governor-General. "My grandmother ran a boarding house near the lumber mill where she served luncheons and dinners."

LaFreniere, now 76, was the third eldest of eight children. His mother died at 38 giving birth in the family home in town, now the LaFreniere gift shop.

"It was her death that got a doctor on the island," he said.

Tourism has replaced fishing and logging as Beaver's primary industry — something that gives rise to mixed emotions. LaFreniere welcomes the boost to the economy "as long as the building doesn't get out of hand. We're not about to let anyone make a mess of our nice atmosphere, the water and all that."

So-called "off-islanders," several from the metropolitan Detroit area, are making a go of it in tourism, and enjoying themselves.

Bob and Lil McGlocklin moved to Beaver 20 years ago from Garden City. In what was once a rectory, they run the Circle M Supper Club, home of the Circle M Famous Big Burger with steamed onions, cheese and sauteed mushrooms, billed by the Wall Street Journal as one of the top 10 burgers in the U.S.

The Circle M is a few miles out of town. It sits all alone on a pastoral meadow laden with flowers and trees. The McGlocklins offer free transportation to the restaurant, and Bob often shuttles patrons in his own van.

ARLENE AND Richard Bailey of Rochester began vacationing on Beaver 17 years ago. In 1978, they bought and renovated the Beaver Island Lodge, a restaurant with rentable condominiums perched on a bluff overlooking Lake Michigan.

They became full-time residents in April. Their son Mike, a Schoolcraft College culinary arts product, is chef at the lodge, a great place to catch sunset. Mike's wife Jayne manages the dining room, and Bailey's daughter, Lisabeth, is an artist.

Lisabeth has an in-house gift shop and helps manage the condo association.

Why do they love Beaver?

"The simplicity of things and the beauty of the island. Life is simpler here. You get away from the traffic and the people," said Arlene Bailey, whose husband is retiring this year from Ford Motor's comptrollers' office.

For more information, write or call the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, Box 5, St. James, Beaver Island, Mich. 49782 or call (616) 448-2505.

Beaver Island has a 'colorful' history

IN 1856, HIS colony of 2,000 torn with strife, Strang was fatally shot by two disgruntled Mormons.

Leaderless, the Mormons left, making way for former islanders and fishermen to return to Beaver from neighboring islands. Many were Irishmen who'd left their country on "coffin ships" during the potato famine.

"Sociologically, Beaver Island is just fascinating," said Shirley Gladish of Beaver's Historical Society. "Not every small town has experienced such dramatic eras. And anything that happens on Beaver Island is highlighted by its isolation."

"In the mid 1800s, Beaver was open for homesteading. That attracted many people whose roots were in northwest Ireland. They could have farms and they could fish, so to come to Beaver Island from eastern U.S. cities, where Irish were told they need not apply, was a logical pathway.

"In Ireland, they weren't permitted to own land. Here they could, so it was just like heaven. The fishing was fabulous."

The Irish christened Beaver "America's Emerald Isle," a name

that's stood the test of time.

One of the most treasured chapters of Beaver Island history began in 1893 with the arrival of Feodor Protar, who came from a family of eminent professors from the Russian Baltic province of Livonia.

The white-bearded Protar was said to be a haunted, desperate man who kept his troubled past to himself. Before moving to Beaver and taking up housekeeping in a small cabin on Slopdown Road, Protar had led successful careers in theater and newspaper publishing.

UNTIL HIS death in 1925, he lived on the fruits of the land and dispensed free medical help to islanders, who gave him the title of doctor.

When Protar sensed his death was approaching, he wrote these instructions:

"One strong bag and a heavy stone will cover all requirements... and four friends. Let me slip into the water. It is all that is necessary."

It wasn't to be. In accordance with state law, Protar was buried on land near his home. Islanders took up a collection and erected a tombstone. The spot is entered in the National Register.

STEVE CANTRELL/staff photographer

Restaurateurs Lil and Bob McGlocklin left Garden City for Beaver Island not to get rich, "but for a way of life. There's a nice slow pace here," they say.

Bill Scheft is a guy who's not only established himself as a top-notch comedic performer and writer, but also as an accomplished free-lance sports writer.

Humor with dash of sports

By Bob Sadler
Special writer

In the opportunistic world of stand-up comedy, there are performers and there are those who specialize in writing material.

Bill Scheft is a guy who's not only established himself as a top-notch comedic performer and writer, he's also an accomplished free-lance sportswriter, with articles published in The New York Times, Sports Illustrated and Sport magazine.

Naturally, with those credits, a significant portion of his humor originates out of a passion for sports. That's why Scheft loves to come to Detroit.

"New York (where he resides) is a great sports town," Scheft said, "but the people who go to comedy clubs aren't necessarily sports fans. In Detroit, it's the same people."

Scheft had thoughts about each of the major franchises in Detroit, except the recent NBA champion Pistons.

"A losing team is much more interesting than a winning team. There's a lot more to poke fun at."

quipped, "I love coming to town with a losing football team. That really hurts."

On the Tigers, who possess the worst record in the majors, "The Tigers have a new season ticket plan. Buy one, get one free. Buy two, you can pitch."

Scheft provided more sobering thoughts about the current state of the Red Wings.

"I think it's really tough when people are celebrating before they win a Stanley Cup. But Betty Ford's going to have a heck of a team this year."

Originally from Boston, Scheft grew up with the Celtics, Bruins, Patriots and Red Sox. He graduated with honors from Harvard and said he doesn't understand why many are intimidated by the Ivy League mystique.

"They say going to Harvard opens a lot of doors for you," Scheft said. "They don't tell you that those doors have to have your father's name on them."

After graduation, Scheft took a job as a sportswriter in Albany, N.Y., which he found to be a very lonely place.

"I used to go to the batting cages and bring a glove," he confessed.

After a couple of years in Albany, Scheft moved to The Big Apple and tried to make it as a free-lancer, a rather tough proposition. When that wasn't putting enough food on the table, he looked to find something else.

"I just didn't want to eat bologna

the rest of my life," Scheft said.

He auditioned at New York's "Catch a Rising Star" and began the long climb up the comedy ladder.

"That was back in the days when it used to take two years to make a living in stand-up," he said. "Now it takes about a week — because there's so many clubs."

In the eight plus years, he's been in comedy. Scheft has done a lot of television. As he puts it, "I've done everything but the shows that can help you." He's appeared on Fox's "The Late Show" and "The Wilton North Report," CBS' "Morning Program" and "The NFL Today," NBC's "Sportsworld Looks at Sports Humor" special and Cinemax's Richard Belzer special.

Eventually, Scheft would like to give up live performance in favor of writing. He's already written a few scripts for television pilots and dreams of one day writing something to run on Broadway.

"I like performing, but I feel I'll always be 10 times the writer," he said. "I'm satisfied with my act, though."

And he says that his stints at The Comedy Castle in Detroit are his most enjoyable ones on the road.

"It's my favorite club," he said. "I really mean that. If I ever get a (cable TV) special, I'll do it in Detroit."

Bill Scheft returns to Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle, 2595 Woodward, Berkley, Tuesday through Saturday. For showtimes and reservations, call 542-0000.

Taking to the road for fun and fitness

By Lynn Waldemith
special writer

Summer's here and the bikin' is easy.

Whether you're an avid cycling enthusiast or just a beginner, biking is the perfect summertime activity. It's fun, it's simple and it's an excellent form of aerobic exercise.

Riding a bicycle allows you to stay in shape while you enjoy the outdoors. One of the best ways to discover new bike routes and meet new people is to participate in a ride, sponsored by a local biking club or organization.

American Youth Hostels Inc. in Berkley is one of the largest and best known biking groups in the tri-county area. The organization sponsors rides every day of the week except Fridays.

"We offer a diverse group of rides that match different abilities and styles of riding," said Jim DeBaker, president of the AYH Bike Club. "And most of our rides tend to be on low traffic routes."

AYH grades its rides according to typical riding speeds. Although the average speeds will be lower because of stops, the grades are "D" for slow (7 to 10 mph) rides, recommended for the beginner or for those preparing for the more advanced rides, "C" for moderate (10 to 13 mph) rides, "B" for moderately fast (13 to 16 mph) rides, "A" for fast (16 to 19 mph) rides, and "AA" for very fast (20 plus mph), recommended only for the very advanced bicyclist.

IF YOU aren't sure of your ability, DeBaker recommends that you start at a low grade ride and move up when you feel comfortable doing so. By the way, don't let the name American Youth Hostel fool you. People of all different ages participate in AYH rides, including teenagers and senior citizens.

Riders are assessed $2 for each AYH-sponsored ride. Most of the group rides are have a leader, but on some of the simpler routes, riders are simply given a map and directions.

The number of people who participate in an AYH ride varies anywhere from one to 50, but special event rides, such as the Firecracker 100, can draw as many as 1,000 riders.

Biking is especially popular on weekends and so are the AYH weekend rides.

Every Saturday, AYH sponsors a ride, known as the Clarkston-Orion Express, which gives bikers the opportunity to pedal through Clarkston and Lake Orion. Special Saturday rides are also available each month.

The first Saturday of the month features a ride that begins in Hartland in Livingston County, north of Brighton. Riders are provided with maps and have the option of biking anywhere from 25 to 75 miles.

The third Saturday of the month highlights a ride from Dearborn to Northville — approximately 50 miles round trip, although riders have the option of going fewer miles. Much of the route consists of Edward Hines Drive, which is largely closed off from vehicular traffic on Saturdays.

BICYCLING can certainly cause you to work up an appetite. Perhaps that's one of the reasons why the Sunday Morning Brunch Ride, held every Sunday, is AYH's most popular biking event.

The brunch ride offers a variety of different routes, some of the destinations include Birmingham, Northville and Plymouth. After meeting at Nine Mile and Evergreen roads in Southfield, riders begin their workout, which is approximately 25 miles with a brunch stop halfway.

AYH also offers a regular series of rides during the week. On Mondays, the Lakeshore Spin features a scenic 20- to 25-mile ride through the Grosse Pointes and along the shore of Lake St. Clair.

The Ego-Opto Ride on Tuesdays is a 20- to 25-mile ride through the country and suburban areas in Plymouth and Northville. Wednesday is the Cranbrook Ramble. The 20- to 25-mile route goes through Cranbrook and the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

On Thursdays, the M&M Ride takes bikers through Berkley, Lathrup, Southfield and Birmingham at a very easy pace with a stop for ice cream.

All AYH weekday rides begin at 6 p.m.

Another popular ride is the Firecracker 100. Held on the Fourth of July, the Firecracker 100 is AYH's annual fund-raising ride. The starting point is Milford, and bikers have a choice of completing a 25-, 50- or 100-mile route.

For more information about the Firecracker 100 ride or any of the regular AYH rides, call the AYH office at 545-0511.

To enjoy bicycling, all you really need is a bike that's in good running order and comfortable clothing that won't get caught in the bike chain or spokes.

A WATER bottle is a good idea, as well as a bag of some sort to carry a jacket or sweater, a spare tube and patch kit, or any other items you might need.

But the best piece of advice is to wear a safety helmet when riding.

"If you break an arm or leg, you can fix that," DeBaker said. "But if you crack open your head, you may not be so lucky. We don't require riders to wear a helmet, but we strongly encourage it."

"I consider the $25 to $50 that you spend on a helmet the best insurance policy that you can have."

If you're interested in biking through scenic northern Michigan, Michigan Bicycle Touring at (616) 263-5885 and Bicycle Cruises at (800) 222-0072 offer a variety of weekend and week-long bike tours.

Information about other biking groups and tours are available at local bike shops.

In addition, bike maps that show road surface type and recreation facilities are available through the Michigan Department of Transportation. The maps highlight designated bike facilities, roads with paved shoulders and roads with low traffic volumes.

Kinsey Report: A new 'blues'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Once Donald Kinsey saw the future in the face of a great bluesman, the brightness faded.

"We did a show with (Albert King) in Pittsburgh not long ago," said Donald Kinsey, guitar player with The Kinsey Report. "It's almost like the years of the ups and downs and being used has taken its toll on him. It hurts me to see him like that because I know him so well. I heard him say, 'Donald, I don't give a damn about playing any more.'"

The story of the blues artists has often been a tale of woe. Bad management and exploited by promoters have left some greats broke, alcoholics or drug addicts and, worse, dead.

The sight of a burned-out musician who once set the stage on fire with his high energized style guitar playing was not only painful, but somewhat frightening, especially to a member of a group that has been touted to be the blues band of the 1990s.

The Kinsey Report has just released what is undoubtedly the blues album of the year, "Midnight Drive" (Alligator). Several cuts are outstanding. Several cuts are deserving of commercial radio play.

Yet, there are no guarantees that will happen.

"We just played New York City a couple of weeks back and this guy came up to me and said, 'Wow you guys were great. When's the new album coming out?'" said Donald Kinsey, perhaps best illustrating what The Kinsey Report is all about.

THE KINSEYS remain strong. They are family, both on and off stage.

Their father, blues legend Lester "Big Daddy" Kinsey introduced his sons Donald, Ralph and Kenneth to the music at an early age. They toured from the late '60s until 1973. Then Donald Kinsey went on a 12-

The Kinsey brothers — Ralph, Donald and Kenneth — have been inspired by their father, blues legend Lester "Big Daddy" Kinsey, who introduced his sons to the blues at an early age.

'I think it's very important (to bring in new audiences). College radio has been a great help in allowing us to do that. I wish (commercial) radio would. They are playing more of our music.'

— Donald Kinsey

year musical odyssey that saw him perform with King, and later, reggae greats Bob Marley and Peter Tosh.

When Donald Kinsey returned to his hometown of Gary, Ind., and was back together with his father and brothers, a new sound had been created. Their brand of music would be a volatile blend of funk, reggae and rock'n'roll while still rooted in blues.

"I think it's very important (to bring in new audiences)," Kinsey said. "College radio has been a great help in allowing us to do that. I wish (commercial) radio would. They are playing more of our music."

"My thing on that is that it should be a combination of both old and new because it's a learning process and history thing going on, too. I think that people are digging on the Kinsey Report's album should also have the chance to experience a person like my father — who is more traditional and Delta like — because you get a chance to see how it came to be, the now and the then."

"BIG DADDY" Kinsey still tours with his sons. He will appear this week at the Motor City Blues Festival at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

"Big Daddy" provides the stabilizing influence for The Kinsey Report. "My dad and I just had breakfast together this morning," said Donald Kinsey in a phone conversation from Ottawa, Ont., where the group was performing that night. "He helped open our eyes, not just to music but to things that are going on around us, which, to me, is more important than music sometimes."

But there have been others who have made Kinsey's eyelids expand. Three years spent touring with Albert King proved beneficial. He appeared on two of King's albums "I Wanna Get Funky" and "Montreux Festival."

Kinsey later met reggae greats Marley and Tosh at an Island Records press party in New York. He took up an invitation to record with Marley, only to find himself present when six gunmen made an attempt on Marley's life.

Kinsey was in the kitchen with Marley when the shooting occurred. He escaped injury, but Marley was wounded. Shakened, Kinsey returned home.

He reunited with his brother, Ralph (who had spent time in the Air Force) and Ron Prince (longtime Kinsey Report member) and formed the rock and reggae outfit The Chosen Ones.

DURING THAT time, Kinsey also toured and recorded with Tosh who was killed in 1987 by a gunman. The group opened for the Rolling Stones on their 1978 U.S. Tour, helping bring reggae to a wider audience.

"Reggae music was new to me," Kinsey said. "So much of it reminded me of growing up in Gary, Ind. There are spots you can go to Gary, Ind., now and places in Kingston, Jamaica, where you could hardly tell the difference."

"I really felt I was somewhere where I was supposed to be. I got deep into it. I wanted to see it grow. We started looking at it like, 'Wow, why can't a reggae tune by Bob Marley be in the Top 100 of Billboard?'"

"Marley eventually hit the Top 100 Billboard with 'Rastaman Vibration,' on which Kinsey performed. Now, The Kinsey Report is striving for chart action."

The group released "Edge of the City" in 1987 and was well-received by critics but never rose above blues circles. "Midnight Drive" (Alligator) could be the ticket.

"When we put the album out, everyone felt really good about it," he said. "So you never know how or what's going to happen."

"The important thing is that we establish ourselves and our identity."

The Kinsey Report will perform on Sunday as part of the Motor City Blues Festival this weekend at the Michigan State Fairgrounds. For ticket information, call 313-662-6000.

Hotel has that fairy tale 'look' family, Sveti Stefan appears before you like a fairy tale.

The turrets and their sentries have gone, but otherwise the island looks much as it did centuries ago, buildings climbing step by step up the rocky hill above the wall.

Ancient Montenegro was a tribal society and each clan had 12 families. The Pastrovic clan built the wall, each family built a house inside the wall and whenever enemy ships came into view the people would flee to the island.

The clan did that for about 200 years. They moved into the walled island permanently during the 17th century and built stone houses.

By the end of World War II, there were only five families left on the island. Artists had discovered the place by then, and one of them had a great idea of turning the whole island into a hotel. It took a few years for the bureaucratic wheels to turn, and the five families didn't move willingly to larger modern houses on the mainland, but in the 1960s, Hotel Sveti Stefan opened to the public.

THERE ARE 116 rooms set in the old houses and shops. The government built a causeway and a sand beach and spent millions of public and private money restoring the village.

When you walk across the causeway and through the wall to the reception desk, you might be assigned a room in one of the old houses or you might get a whole stone house to yourself.

The alternative is to visit the hotel for lunch, or dinner, about $20 for a large meal, or pay about $3 just to tour the island, and use the receipt for a cake and coffee at the bakery.

Rent a car in Dubrovnik. People who fly in and take the airport limousine to Sveti Stefan pay $75 for the whole car, full or empty. Or take a bus to Budva.

Handling disliked tasks

Q. I travel on my job and must turn in expense reports. When I get back though, I always find 10 other things that need doing and several days often go by before getting it filled out. Does everyone have an aversion to expense reports?

A. You seem to be suffering from the "Working Hard To Get Out of Work" syndrome. This is a skilled procrastinator's ploy which is amazingly effective. Here's the rule: When a disliked task needs doing, any other work ranks a higher priority.

One woman hates ironing, but dislikes sending Christmas cards even more, so the only time her ironing is caught up is — yep, you guessed it — right before Christmas. When it's time to clean closets another woman can think of a million telephone calls she just has to make.

A friend of mine loves giving speeches. Although she knows the material inside out, putting talks together is somehow excruciating and she avoids it as long as possible. That's when her desk is cleanest because her weaknesses overtake her and she will do any "To Do" in sight rather than sticking to outlining her speeches.

Disliked tasks vary for different people. One person may mow the lawn as a means of getting out of paying bills while another may pay bills to avoid lawn mowing. "Having" to run errands is a great excuse for not cleaning out the garage. At the office, telephone calls, coffee breaks and "having to discuss an issue" with someone else are effective avoidance factors. All too many parents feign being "busy" to avoid spending quality time with their children. A pity.

To overcome the problem: 1) Identify distasteful tasks which aren't getting done 2) Acknowledge to yourself the excuses you are using to avoid them and 3) Using self discipline, do them first. Doing hated tasks first is well worth the effort because it's such a relief to have them done. You can then regard yourself with more pleasurable activities the rest of the day while enjoying a feeling of freedom. Also, you can think more clearly without the burden of dreaded work hanging over you.

On your next trip, take an expense report with you, fill it out first daily and it will effectively be complete when you return.

condo queries
Robert M.
Meisner

Q. Our condo association has asked to inspect our unit for electrical problems. They claim there is a safety hazard, and there is some talk about them replacing certain fixtures in the units. Do they have the right to gain access to the unit for such inspection?

A. It depends on your condominium documents, but most documents allow the association reasonable access in order to inspect the common elements and to avoid safety problems to the extent that a condition in your unit may cause a safety problem for other units and/or the common areas. The association has a good argument. On the other hand, the association should be prudent in regard to the extent of the repairs to your unit to insure that it is not encroaching upon individual rights and/or responsibilities of co-owners. Also, the contractor retained by the association should be monitored to insure that there are no abuses. You may also wish to consult the electrical inspector for the municipality in order to confirm that the actions taken by the contractor for the association are proper!

Q. Can you please describe what one purchases in buying a cooperative unit. I am thinking of buying one in Detroit, and I am wondering how it differs from a condo.

A. When you buy a cooperative, you are in effect buying a share of stock in a cooperative association. Also, you sign a proprietary lease with cooperative leasing out a particular unit in the cooperative project. If you default in the payment to the cooperative of the monthly service charge, the cooperative has the right to seek your eviction and to repossess your stock certificate. Cooperatives generally are more difficult to finance as banks in this locale have not been receptive to providing cooperative financing. It is also sometimes more difficult to ascertain the true market value of a cooperative unit. Caution is always the better part of valor as in any purchase of real estate.

Resort class condos in golf setting

Living room of the Bay Tree condominium. Award-winning Chicago designer Sara Olesker coordinated the interiors.

By Corinne Abett
staff writer

style brings a fresh, clean look to this new community.

AS GOLF grows rapidly as a popular leisure time activity, builders and developers have picked up on the theme. Vacation condos and year-around homes ring lush green fairways and offer stunning views of the tees and the manicured, bunkered greens.

One of the most recent to capitalize on the public's interest in golf is the Holtzman & Silverman/The Fisher Group who are developing The Fairways, a condominium community at the southeast corner Square Lake and Rochester Road in Troy.

Sylvan Glen golf course is on the southwest corner of the same intersection. So, while the course isn't connected to The Fairways, it is directly across the road — about two good wood shots away.

The two- and three-bedroom units, ranging in size from 1,400-2,000 square feet, are priced from $130,000. There will eventually be 98 townhouse and ranch-style residences, four or six to a building. The building sites are attractively arranged on a well-landscaped site with a large, picturesque man-made pond in the center with tennis courts at one end and clubhouse and large outdoor pool at another.

SEVERAL MORE small ponds, fountains, extensive landscaping, lots of plantings and trees, brick detailing along the walkways and the gently curving streets give the development a pleasant country look. The exterior, "eastern seaboard,"

That is accomplished through the use of brick, limestone and siding in combination with multipaned windows and skylights, columns and long, vertical rooflines with gable ends.

The interiors of the models, done by Sara Olesker Ltd. of Chicago, carry on the bright, fresh, traditional/country look. Olesker, as in her past work here, has a nice touch for the sophisticated/country look — warm, inviting and quite chic.

This is particularly the case in the three-bedroom, 2½ bath Baytree model where she has used lots of polished chintz, bright lemon carpeting, Queen Anne and Chippendale pieces, deep green accents and English ivy wall covering in the kitchen.

IN ANOTHER model, the two bedroom, 2½ bath Augusta, she went for a jewel-toned, California look and in the two-bedroom, 2½ bath ranch, the Carmel, she created an elegant interior using peach, celadon and ivory.

These different approaches give the visitor a good idea of how the many choices of flooring, carpeting and cabinetry will look. All residences have full lower levels with full-size windows, large enough and with plenty of natural light, to be completed as a pleasant guest suite and/or a family activity area. Each residence has a separate courtyard entrance and attached garage (one and two car).

Models are open noon to 6 p.m. daily. For information, call 879-0900.

WHAT'S NEW ON THE MARKET

THE PRODUCT — A tape rule with adhesive backing.

Manufacturer's claim — That this metal rule has blades that incorporate a peel-away adhesive backing that enables them to be affixed to most work surfaces for effortless measuring . . . that there are two models, one 8-foot long, the other 12-foot long . . . that the measuring blades are ideal for workbench edges, layout and drawing tables, counter top and any work surface where speed and reliability are required . . . and that both blades are protected with a plastic film for added durability and corrosion resistance.

THE PRODUCT — A 100 percent fabric blind.

Manufacturer's claim — That this product combines the soft, elegant look of textured fabric and a translucent quality with the convenience of a conventional horizontal blind . . . that the fabric construction permits a gentle level of light to fill the room when the blind is closed and a stream of sunlight when it is open . . . that there are two types of fabrics available, one richly textured open weave, the other a more tailored design . . . that the blinds have a custom-crafted fabric valance and a fabric-covered bottom roll . . . that the blinds are treated with a fabric protector and an anti-static guard to repel dust and dirt . . . and that the same fabric is available by the yard for special top treatments of the blinds.

THE PRODUCT — A loud alarm to guard against the movement of objects inside the house.

Manufacturer's claim — That this alarm protects against unwanted opening of doors, windows and drawers of any type, as well as against the taking of objects and items from their desired locations . . . that it is battery operated with no wires, no installation and cannot be turned off except by somebody who knows the security code . . . that it works with hotel doors, mobile homes, car doors, storage facilities, computers, audio-video equipment, safes, copiers, file cabinets and art work . . . and that the 9-volt power supply unit is easy to hide from intruders.

THE PRODUCT — A new line of programmable electronic thermostats.

Manufacturer's claim — That these thermostats are powered by batteries to allow greater compatibility and reliability with heating and air conditioning systems . . . that they allow the user to program each day of the week individually to meet the needs of the most demanding lifestyles . . . that there are four temperature set points per day to provide automatic climate control . . . that soft-touch keypads are similar to those found on microwave ovens to assure proper registration of programming . . . that there is a quick-touch temperature override to allow consumers to accommodate changes in heating or cooling requirements . . . and that the climate control information center features large, easy-to-read liquid crystal displays.

(The tape rule is manufactured by Stanley Works, New Britain, Conn. 06050; the fabric blind by Window Covering Division, Hunter Douglas, Upper Saddle River, New Jersey 07558; the alarm by Hart Technological Ind., 6520 14th Ave., Brooklyn, NY 11219; and the thermostats by Jameson Home Products, 2820 Thatcher Rd., Downers Grove, Ill. 60515.)

Homearama set to go

In this seventh annual showcase of "new idea" houses by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM), 10 showcase houses built especially for Homearama in the $375,000-$675,000 price range will be shown at Hills of Oakland Subdivision, developed by Mocerri Development, Grand Blanc, on Adams Road, just north of Dutton Road, in Oakland Township, north of Rochester. Homearama opens Aug. 31 and runs through Sept. 24.

Homearama hours have been expanded again this year.

"Homearama's major focus continues to be to offer the finest homes at the most convenient times for the general public," said James S. Bona-deo, president of BASM and of Bona-deo Builders in Plymouth.

New hours this year will be: 3-11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

EACH HOUSE is the creation of its own team of a BASM builder, an architect, an interior designer and a landscaper, incorporating their latest and best ideas in design, lifestyle, construction techniques and materials, interior decoration and energy conservation.

"This year's Homearama homes will exhibit the very latest in housing trends," said Dennis P. Dickstein of Ralph Manuel Associates — Realtors, chairman of the 1989 Homearama.

Admission is $5 per person, which includes a plan book covering all Homearama homes.

The Green Hill difference:

Do you come home to an apartment or a 75-acre estate?

Most apartment living measures 600+ sq. ft. Ours measures over 3,000,000 sq. ft. Green Hill residents enjoy a gorgeous 75-acre estate setting of park and woodland, peace and tranquility. You're right next door to the I-275 corridor, Michigan's multi-billion dollar explosive growth area and just minutes away from I-96, a direct route to downtown Detroit. See our 1- and 2-bedroom luxury apartments, terrace residences and country townhouses on 9 Mile, 1 1/2 miles west of Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.
