Spring festival

The sun was out, the people were out and the world was just fine on Sunday in Plymouth for the Old Village Spring Festival. Above, Lyman Perry, found the weather just fine for fiddling along with the Silver Strings Dulcimer Society which was performing. The event featured entertainment, food craft dealers and yard sales.

Busy recycling center to expand hours May 8

By Susan Buck
staff writer

The Plymouth Recycling Center is fast becoming a routine stop for local residents.

Due to increased demand and use of the city's center, hours of operation will be expanded.

Starting May 8, the city will open the center on Wednesday afternoons in addition to its hours on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday hours.

New hours will be 4-7 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

"The city center has experienced a tremendous growth in use during the last few months," said Paul Sincok, assistant to the city manager.

"We have experienced upwards of 25 households an hour using the center. This is significant when you compare this to just three households an hour using the center last October," he said.

The center is near the city hall and fire station.

Random telephone surveys of the center's users show a need for additional hours. The city is working on expanding the number of products that it accepts at the center. During May the city hopes to begin accepting used dry batteries like AA, AAA, C and D size batteries.

THE CENTER currently accepts:

- Newspapers that are bundled or in a paper bag.
 - Plastic milk jugs, laundry soap containers and some clear plastic bottles with lids removed, rinsed out and crushed.
- There are seven major types of plastic. The plastics industry is involved in a voluntary material identification system to help separators of plastic bottles. The Plastic Container Code System shows seven types of plastic.

The City of Plymouth accepts two of the most common types of household plastics. Check to see if the container has the plastics industry code 1 or code 2 logo on the bottom of the container.

- Glass sorted by color, rinsed out with labels left on.
- Tin cans crushed with labels removed.

Nearly 800 households are registered users of the recycling center which is open to City of Plymouth residents and businesses.

First-time users of the manned center are required to complete a short information sheet and then will be sent a city resident card for future visits to the center.

Compost pickup to resume

By Susan Buck
staff writer

Keep separating and bundling those grass clippings and yard waste items, Plymouth residents, but don't set those compost bags out with the rest of the household trash just yet.

On Monday, May 7, the city resumes its dual pickup system, which began last summer and lasted through fall.

"With the quick change in temperature, city residents are now generating enough compostable materials so that we want to offer the voluntary composting program again," said Paul Sincok, assistant to the city manager.

"We are currently working with two different compost sites and our trash hauler to arrange for the separate back up and composting of the materials that our residents separate."

Until then, grass clippings and compost material will be tossed in with the regular garbage, because

Schools OK bids to demolish houses

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Two turn-of-the-century houses on Ann Arbor Trail bought by the school district for $220,000 will be demolished to accommodate the planned expansion of the Plymouth-Canton school administration building. The space will be used for 73 parking spaces.

School board members unanimously approved bids last week.

North American Dismantling will demolish the frame houses at 1053 and 1069 W. Ann Arbor Trail for $12,600. A date for the work hasn't been set.

It's suspected that siding on the house and garage at 1069 Ann Arbor Trail contains asbestos. If that's the case, the district will be charged an additional $1,500 to remove the asbestos.

The houses, both in poor condition, are vacant.

THE $925,000 addition will feature 7,500 square feet of space on the west side of the building — 2,500 feet in a basement and on each of two floors.

Academic All-Stars named

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers presents its sixth annual Academic All-Star Team on Thursday.

Sixteen of the best and brightest students of 21 public and parochial schools in the Observer area will be featured in a special section in your hometown newspaper.

The 16 members of this year's team were selected based on high school grade point average combined with national test scores. Another 26 students were honorable mention. Academic All-Stars in their own right, they missed out on making the team by a fraction. They too will be featured in Thursday's special tabloid.

Students were nominated for the team by their respective school prinincipal. A committee of Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals, led by Robert Schramke, principal at Redford Union High School, volunteered their time to select the team.

This year's field of top scholars includes students who are looking ahead to careers in medicine, teaching, science, journalism, engineering and music. They'll spend the next four years at places like Harvard, Stanford and the University of Michigan. Afterward their chosen field will be richer for their contributions.

The 1990 Observer Academic All-Star Team is made up of Lynn E. Biberdorf of Plymouth Christian High School, Mark Farris and Nicholas Parzer of Plymouth Canton High

Bids to level houses OK'd; residents object

It also will include a meeting room double the size of the existing one; offices for the superintendent and associate superintendent; four secretarial areas; space for election files; an elevator and a lobby.

A new facade and a hip roof (a roof with sloping ends and sides) will give the building a federal colonial appearance.

The project will be paid for with money from the $13 million bond issue approved by voters in 1986.

ANN ARBOR TRAIL residents and preservationists have objected to the expansion.

Mary and Craig Mauro are restoring a 110-year-old Victorian house three doors down from the future parking lot.

"We've spent thousands and thousands of dollars to restore our house," Mary Mauro said. "We feel real bad that a house equally as old and one that's older aren't being considered for anything but the backhoe."

"The people next to the two lots have put in 10 years of time and money to restore their house. They're upset that now they have to look out on a blacktop parking lot. Most of the neighbors in this area want to keep this street for homes, not for commercial use. If it's starting down the street, what's to say it won't keep coming right down?"

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP resident Marvin Robertson is among several individuals who want to buy and move one of the houses.

"They never called me back on my offer — I just wonder why," Robertson said. "I told them they could pay me in the neighborhood of $5,000 to remove one of the houses. I'm kind of upset they never got back with me."

"It's a shame. There's historical value and ecology involved and everything else. It takes hundreds of years to grow trees to build houses. To have them destroyed when you could have them reused or recycled — if they're going to spend a lot of money to tear them down, why not offer that money as incentive to people interested in maintaining the architectural history of the area?"

"It's beyond me why they can't seem to see that or at least pursue these offers. I question if there really was an intent to make them available for moving."

SCHOOL OFFICIALS received no formal bids by the advertised deadline of March 26, they said. Associate superintendent for business Ray Hoedel, who has handled the matter, was unavailable for comment Friday.

All those who showed an interest were contacted, "and there was no response to that," Superintendent John Hoben said. "As far as I know, that's what it is."

"THE CITY of homes is becoming a parking lot," said Melissa McLaughlin, secretary of the Canton Historic District Commission. "I think it is just horrible they are going to tear them down."

While moving a house is "fabulously complicated and very expensive," someone could get a whole lot of house for the money, if they had the land," she said.

"I'm sorry to see them go, but I can understand the circumstances under which it's going to happen."

THE CITY'S historical society would like to see the houses preserved, said Beth Stewart, director of the Plymouth Historical Museum.

"If the only option is picking them up and moving them, we would say do that before demolition," she said. Moving the houses destroys site integrity, Stewart said.

"The location of a house is almost as important as the architecture and history of the house. Architecturally, you can save the bricks and mortar, but you've lost the history."

Jamie Flora, an area manufacturer's representative, also was interested in the houses. His intent was to put together a group of turn-of-the-century houses on land he owns at Warren and Morton-Taylor in Canton.

"I could move them myself," Flora said. "I would think it comes down to getting Canton Township to allow me to set them there until I have time to coordinate getting a basement laid. But I guess it's a done deal. They claim they received no bids."

Compost pickup to start May 7

the compost site the city hopes to use is not open yet.

THE NEW yard waste composting center is run by Compost Systems Inc. The 80-acre site, at Geddes and Beck roads, is being financed through a Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant obtained by the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA).

A $300,000 grant will finance the start-up of the center, which could be ready this June.

In the meantime, another compost site will be used in Salem Township, Sincocock said.

"RESIDENTS SHOULD separate grass clippings by at least 15 feet from regular trash. This will assist the trash collectors."

"A good rule of thumb is to place your trash on one side of the drive and your grass and yard waste on the other side of the drive."

Clippings and compostable materials should preferably be in gray or clear biodegradable bags, the resident's own or those from the city of Plymouth, that make these materials visible to DPW workers, Sincocock said. A trash can marked "grass clippings" may also be used.

Residents will receive an environmental update Tuesday, May 1, that will contain a variety of information about the center, composting and hazardous waste.

SINCE LAST fall, the city of Plymouth has conducted this trash separation on a voluntary basis.

"The city commission is expected to adopt an ordinance in the next two months. It (the program) should be mandatory by July 1."

About 35 percent of Plymouth's 2,800 residential units have voluntarily participated in the trash separation program since last fall.

Dual pickups were replaced by one pickup during the winter, Sincocock said.

A recording, 453-1234, will assist residents 24 hours a day.

Impatient biker gets ticket for taking license plate tabs

Spring fever got the best of a 19-year-old Plymouth man last Wednesday.

When August arrived in April, he longed to take a cruise on his Yamaha motorcycle — so badly that he removed the license tabs from a 1987 Chevy parked on Starkweather

and put them on his license plate. The suspect initially denied responsibility for the deed. He later admitted it, explaining that he couldn't afford new tabs until Friday. He was ticketed and ordered to appear in district court May 16. He also was advised not to drive because his license is suspended. The suspect apologized to the car owner, who was given a victim's rights card.

Groups will need permit to use Township park

Groups that want to use Plymouth Township Park will need a permit from the township.

The Plymouth Township Board last week approved requirements for using the park at McClumpha and Ann Arbor Trail.

The idea is to provide an area available to residents for casual, unscheduled, informal, unorganized recreational use.

Activities which go beyond this use must be approved by the Plymouth Township Board.

"Before this, nobody had written down the general objectives of the park so it is clearly defined," said Jim Anulewicz, director of public services.

Basically, groups and organizations which want to use the park for more than one day and use more than one shelter or pavilion must obtain Plymouth Township Board approval prior to being issued a permit.

Normal, informal one-day activities like picnics, Frisbee tossing, horseshoes, etc. do not require a permit.

Applicants which require Township Board Approval, as well as any corporation, firm, partnership or other legally registered state group with a Tax I.D. is required to enter into an indemnifying agreement with the township and have the proper insurance coverage for the activity.

The township shall also be included as an insured party under the terms of the policy provided by the applicant in an amount determined appropriate by the township attorney.

Awesome!

Hines Park busy in warm weather

By A. Giralt Bedford
staff writer

Awesome is the word for it. The weather, the crowds and the fun at Hines Park in Plymouth Township last week.

It was awesome for the police, too. They made one run to the park when there was a report of a naked lady at the tennis courts, but found nothing.

And what's the motivation behind all the activity? Well, in the words of Casey Robinson, 17, of Garden City, "To party and meet awesome guys."

Robinson and her friend, Jeannie Evans, 18, skipped their lunch hour and took advantage of the unusually warm weather to engage in their awesome quest.

THEY JOINED other teens and young adults who used Hines Park as a showcase of their youth to sunbathe on the grass, on lawn chairs and on their cars.

With red skins and bright shorts, they played Frisbee and walked their pets. Parked cars with loud music blasting out of them lined up all along the drive.

Too much activity for some people, but nothing unusual, according to sheriff department officials.

"HISTORICALLY, AT this time of the year, before the beaches open up and when the weather is nice, there's an influx of enthusiastic park people," said Nancy Mouradian, spokeswoman for Wayne County Sheriff Department.

"It's a favorite gathering spot for young people," said Lt. Carl Zahn, the officer in charge of Wayne County parks.

The increased activity in the park has meant added work for Plymouth police.

A Detroit youth and his Dearborn Heights friend were ticketed last week for indecent exposure while urinating 75 feet from the roadway in full view of pedestrians and traffic.

There have also been some cases of teenage drinking, but nothing major. Mouradian said that in 1980 the park had many problems including alcohol, drugs and loitering.

"But since then the park has been cleaned up and now it's a family park," she said.

Chief Carl Berry, of the Plymouth Township police, said lately his department has received minimal traffic and noise complaints.

"The sheriff's department is doing a great job so far this year," he said.

THE MAIN problem is the traffic congestion, especially during weekends when traffic backs up for several miles.

To control the situation, more road patrol officers are added, said Mouradian.

She said there are more than 30 officers assigned to the park, including mounted and motorcycled officers. She said this commitment will continue through the summer. But, she added, 30 officers are not enough depending on the day and the crowds.

"We do the best job we can with the people we have," she said.

photos by SHARON LeMIEUX/staff photographer

TEENAGERS HAVE complained that after 5.30 p.m. officers won't let people in the park, but Zahn said the road is only closed when there is too much traffic, and only temporarily. The park is closed at dusk.

Evans said she was told by an officer that the reason the road is closed at 5.30 p.m. is because joggers and bikers have complained about the congestion.

"They said they want peace and quiet. They are trying to make it a family park," Evans said.

The congestion is expected to continue until May, Mouradian said. "There'll be an alleviation after the Memorial day weekend," she said, "once the beach facilities in nearby parks are opened."

Starting April 28 and through Sept. 22, the park will be closed to traffic Saturdays 9 to 3.30 between Ann Arbor Trail and Telegraph, according to Zahn.

City, Alpena to trade mayors

By Susan Buck
staff writer

Trading places, trading lives.

City of Alpena Mayor William La Haie and Alpena Councilman Thomas Kelly along with their spouses, Sharon and Judith, respectively, will participate in the Mayor Exchange Day, Friday May 18.

The Michigan Municipal League, which sponsors the annual exchange program, pairs cities which have similar population levels.

"I'm a relatively new mayor, a year and a half, and this is the first exchange day for me," said La Haie, who sits on the board of the Michigan Association of Mayors. "We didn't do it last year. It's good promotion."

La Haie said that he is interested in studying how the city of Plymouth handles similar problems. Like Plymouth, the land-locked city of Alpena is also looking for a new city manager, La Haie said.

Infrastructure and ambulance services are also on La Haie's mind.

La Haie is owner of Rene's Jewelry store, a family-owned business since 1936. His wife, Sharon, is a junior high school teacher. The couple have two children, a daughter Tracey, a Clawson resident and son Chris, 23, a University of Michigan student.

Councilman Kelly is personnel director of the Abitibi Corp; his wife, Judith is in the insurance business.

Plymouth Mayor Dennis Bila also looks forward to his trade in Alpena, 240 miles away. He will be accompanied by wife, Sally, as well as Commissioner John Vos III and wife Carol.

"It gives you a greater appreciation for the problems you are having," Bila said.

Cable company offering workshop

Omnicom Cable will offer a public access camcorder and editing workshop to Canton and Plymouth residents.

The workshop will cover how to operate the one-chip camcorders, composition of shots, basic producing skills and editing. Participants will be required to produce a 3-5 minute program. Classes meet one night per week for six sessions beginning 7-9 p.m. Monday, May 7. The May 28 class will meet on Tuesday, May 29, due to Memorial Day observation on Monday of that week. The classes will conclude on Monday, June 11.

These classes are provided by the cable company to train residents to produce non-profit access programs about community events, organizations and school events.

Omnicom provides the equipment. To register call 459-7335/7391 between 12 noon and 10 p.m., Monday-Saturday. There is a $10 registration fee. Class size is limited; advance registration is required.

Hearing set for teacher arrested in raid

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

A hearing to decide whether West Bloomfield High School teacher James Spinelle will be fired for his self-admitted involvement in marijuana has been postponed until Thursday.

The hearing before the West Bloomfield Board of Education had been scheduled for Thursday but was postponed at the request of attorneys, schools Superintendent Seymour Gretchko said.

Spinelle, 47, of Plymouth and two Southfield men were arrested March 15 after federal agents raided a Southfield house and seized 388 base-met-grown marijuana plants.

The men were released from custody pending an expected federal indictment on charges they cultivated and grew the marijuana with intent to sell it.

AT THE request of Spinelle's attorney, Steve Amberg, Thursday's hearing will be conducted in closed session, school officials said.

Amberg declined to comment, saying, "I can't tell you anything." Meanwhile, federal authorities last week continued their investigation aimed at a federal indictment against Spinelle and the two Southfield men, Richard Barth and Elmer Drouillard. Barth owns the house where the marijuana plants were seized.

"We are still coordinating our investigation with the U.S. Attorney's Office," said John Granados, a spokesman for the Drug Enforcement Agency in Detroit. "The indictment is still pending. We have only to conclude our investigation."

IDA B. LESLIE

Services for Mrs. Ida B. Leslie, 94, of Plymouth were Friday, April 27, at Schrader Funeral Home.

Mrs. Leslie died Tuesday, April 24, in Garden City. She was born Nov. 18, 1895 in Paulding Co., Ohio. She came to the Plymouth community in 1959 from Sanford. She was a member of the Rebecca Lodge No. 182 in Plymouth.

Mrs. Leslie is survived by several nieces and nephews.

The Rev. Michael J. Childers officiated the service. Burial was in Sanford Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be given to The American Heart Association of Michigan.

ELSIE V. RENSHAW

Services for Mrs. Elsie V. Renshaw, 85, of Plymouth were Saturday, April 28, at Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth.

Mrs. Renshaw is survived by her son, Harold A. Keenan of Plymouth; one grandson and a sister, Rose Pepka of Plymouth.

Mrs. Renshaw was born Dec. 30, 1904 in Detroit. She died Wednesday, April 25, in Livonia. She was a switchboard operator and retired from Chrysler Corp. after 18 years of service. She was a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church of Plymouth.

The Rev. Andrew J. Forish officiated the service. Memorials may be given to the Capuchin Monastery.

Growing cities aid plan falters

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A bill to guarantee growth communities a bigger slice of state aid ran into a snag in the state Senate — opposition from the Michigan Municipal League.

"The question is, who's gonna pay for it?" MML lobbyist William Davis told the Senate Local Government Committee last week.

Davis sees other cities, villages and townships suffering if more state aid is automatically funneled to growth communities that take a special mid-decade census and find the population up 15 percent or more.

Committee chair Harmon Cropsy, R-Decatur, postponed a vote on the measure.

AN AIDE to the sponsor, Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, said Davis had it wrong — no one would lose state aid. The increases to growth areas could be funded by the normal 5 percent growth in state revenue.

At present, communities that take a special census and find growth are entitled to aid increases. But they must fight for them in the supplemental appropriations process. In 1987 Gov. James J. Blanchard vetoed that bill. The Geake bill would guarantee more aid based on a mid-decade census.

"Not until 1988 were any supplemental appropriations made," Geake's aide said.

If enacted, the bill would have no effect until after special censuses are taken in the mid-1990s. "Now is the time to do this bill," said Gene Thornton, lobbyist for the Michigan Townships Association, "because we don't know what the gaining cities and townships will be until 1995." Thornton put the current cost of additional aid to growth areas at $3.5 million.

GEAKE INTRODUCED Senate Bill 520 at the request of Northville Township, whose clerk, Dick Henningsen, supported it in written testimony.

He said the special census helped his township "to forecast with a greater degree of accuracy our expenditures during the development of the community's five-year business plan."

But the "inconsistencies" of the legislative process are making it difficult to project revenue, he said.

Some 38 cities, villages and townships took special censuses in the 1980s, Geake's staff reported, with Oakland and western counties the big gainers.

Besides Geake's home area in the northwestern corner of Wayne County, winners in Oakland County would be the cities of Rochester Hills, Farmington Hills, Novi, Walled Lake, Wixom, the village of Bingham Farms and West Bloomfield Township.

The city of Brighton, at a freeway intersection in Livingston County, also would be a winner. So would two townships in Macomb County.

Locals join abortion protest

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

It was billed as the largest gathering of any kind in the history of the nation's capital, and people from Wayne and Oakland counties were among its participants.

For pro-life forces, this weekend's rally in Washington, D.C., was a show of strength.

"We're trying to show that we are really the majority on this issue," said Ann Thomas, president of Right-to-Life Lifespan of Metro Detroit.

Three buses departed the organization's Livonia offices Thursday night, headed for the rally.

"WE'VE PULLED people from western Wayne and Oakland counties," Thomas said. "We had one woman call and say she was coming from as far away as Clarkston."

For Patrick Feeley of Farmington Hills, participating was a way of serving God.

"It is part of my dedication to God. He has called us to stand in the gap."

John Yurko of Plymouth said he decided to become involved after talking with a friend who is an ultrasound technician.

"When you look at the picture of a baby in the womb, there's no way you can deny that is a person."

AREA PRO-CHOICE groups also had rallies this weekend, though closer to home.

Western Wayne and Downriver chapters of the National Organization for Women scheduled a Saturday rally at the University of Michigan-Dearborn in support of abortion rights.

"We want to show the deadly consequences of illegal abortions," said

Western Wayne chapter president Grace Luckscheiter. "We are pro-life, but we're also concerned about the quality of life."

THE RALLY was planned last year at the suggestion of U.S. Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., author of legislation restricting use of federal money for abortions.

Shifting elective winds have recently been blowing the way of pro-choice forces, with election of pro-choice governors in New Jersey and Virginia races where abortion became an issue.

This weekend's rally, which pro-life forces hoped would attract as many as 500,000 participants — including 2,000-3,000 from Michigan — was seen as a kickoff for 1990 elections.

"Martin Luther King Jr.'s famous March on Washington (in 1963) was estimated to have drawn somewhere around 200,000 people, we hope to at least double that," Thomas said.

BUT WEATHER, not politics, played the largest role in its scheduling.

"Traditionally, we've held rallies on Jan. 22 (anniversary of Roe vs. Wade, the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion)," Thomas said. "But, certainly, it's easier to get people to travel in April."

In addition to the Livonia site, other buses departed from Owosso. Other participants either drove or flew into Washington.

For Thomas and Right-to-Life Lifespan staff members, the days leading up to the rally were exciting.

"We were getting goose bumps," she said. "Anytime you get together with that many people, who believe the way you do, it can't help but invigorate you."

SEMCOG leadership remains the same

Mostly familiar faces will sit at the executive committee table of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Only one new face from Oakland County and none from Wayne County will join the 41-member group which meets monthly. Executive committee members were elected from local bloc meetings earlier this month.

Oakland County will continue to be represented by executive Daniel T. Murphy, Republican Commissioner Marlynn Gosling of Bloomfield Hills and Democratic Commissioner

Representing cities and villages in Oakland will be Novi councilwoman Martha Hoyer and Southfield Mayor Donald Fracassi.

Waterford Supervisor Dennis Ritter will be the new township bloc representative.

Wayne County representatives are executive Edward H. McNamara and Commissioners Milton Mack, D-Wayne; George Cushingberry Jr., D-Detroit; and Susan Heintz, R-Northville. Mack also is completing one year as chair of SEMCOG's Executive Committee and General Assembly.

Wayne's cities and villages bloc will be represented by Gail Kaess, Grosse Pointe Farms councilwoman, and Mayor Lyle VanHouten of Dearborn Heights.

Wayne's township bloc will be represented by Plymouth Township trustee Abe Munfakh.

The city of Detroit has separate representation in SEMCOG. Mayor Coleman Young's name continues in the delegate slot, although he hasn't attended a SEMCOG meeting in 17 years and usually sends an executive assistant. Council president Maryann Mahaffey is the second delegate, but usually is represented by her alternate, Clyde Cleveland. Detroit leaves its third delegate slot vacant.

The education bloc, meeting as a seven-county whole, chose Mary Buga of the Henry Ford Community College board, Gerald McCaffrey of the Macomb Intermediate board, David Hackett of the Oakland Community College board and Robert Smith of the Livingston Intermediate board.

Elected judges are responsive

MONDAY NIGHT, NOW president Molly Yard told an audience at Birmingham Temple in Farmington Hills she had no faith at all in our court system.

She was mainly referring to last summer's Supreme Court decision on abortion that invited state legislatures to pass laws attacking Roe vs. Wade.

The high court is packed with Reagan appointees, with whom we will probably be stuck for their lifetimes.

But it made me think of our own local courts, some of which have judges up for election this year, and the old debate about appointed versus elected judgeships.

Perhaps it's a coincidence, but the judge-propelled programs coming out of our courts go above and beyond what we expected of our legal system in the past.

HERE ARE SOME examples.

• Judge Bryan Levy of the 46th District Court, based in Southfield, is about to bring out a new weapon in the campaign to get and keep drunk drivers off the road — the victim impact panel. Beginning in June, most first-time drunk driving offenders, and some repeat offenders, will be required to sit silently in a courtroom and listen while people who have been injured or had loved ones killed in a drunk-driving crash tell their stories. It came about when the Oakland County chapter of MADD approached Judge Levy a year ago.

• Judge Stephen Cooper, also of the 46th District Court, initiated two major substance abuse programs over the past two years directed at specific ethnic groups. He convinced leaders in both the Chaldean and Jewish communities that they needed to address substance abuse among their young people and put together programs for them.

• Then we have the district courts that have responded to Michigan drug czar Donald Reising's call.

Judith Doner Berne

They are acting as a catalyst for mobilizing all areas of the community to come together to work on alcohol and drug abuse problems. Cooper of the 46th, Judge Thomas Brookover of the 48th in Bloomfield Township and Judge Ralph Nelson of Rochester's division of the 52nd have taken lead roles.

• Beyond that, there's the new SMILE (Start Making It Liveable for Everyone) program, spearheaded by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Edward Sosnick. The program, which has just finished its pilot phase, hopes to reduce the trauma of divorce for children by educating their parents. A two-hour workshop is being held monthly for divorced parents with minor children in Oakland County. Together with Birmingham attorney Richard Victor, Sosnick formed a steering committee of divorce counselors, psychologists and representatives of Friends of the Court. And through its pilot program, they found parents wanted to go into the program as soon as they file, not after the divorce has been granted.

WHAT IS CLEAR is that at least in our nook and cranny of the world, some of our elected judges are getting out from behind the bench. They're taking note of what they see in the courtroom and reaching out to help design some solutions.

When the old argument about elected versus appointed judges rolls around again, I'll stick with the elected system.

Parents, churches not doing job

To the editor:

I share the same concerns for our nation (and community) outlined by Committee for Academic Freedom and Excellence spokesman Doug McClellan. Yes, we do have big problems that need our attention and deserve our effort to resolve.

Unfortunately, the solution is not as simple as many would like to believe. Public schools cannot solve, and should not attempt to solve, social and spiritual ills. Again, I must agree that parents and churches have not been getting the job done in many cases. But that does not mean the schools should take on the responsibility of raising our children. Conscientious parents will not allow it for a minute.

To succeed in life we need much more than an educational system. We need parents that are involved with their children and that provide spiritual guidance with moral instruction. We need churches that help us to apply eternal truths and wisdom to today's circumstances. Finally, we need schools that teach language, math, science and history.

When more parents begin parenting, and when more educators begin educating, we will witness an improvement in both education and society.

The postal service credits this to inflation and rising cost of delivery. I personally think that the postal service of the U.S. is just some joke for congressmen and other political figures to laugh off. Personally, I believe that the service is getting old and rusty in its job considering it has the monopoly on first class mail. The alternatives are sending it by next day commercial air mail which can cost up to 12 times more than the average first class stamp.

The solution, as I view it, is a commercial mail service with same or lower rates. And this commercial mail service should have insurance against lost or damaged mail without having to pay a fee.

I have spoken my mind in hopes that someone will realize that at the rate we are going, we could be paying up to 50 cents by the year 2000 and act about it. Write to your local postal service. Just make sure it gets there in one piece.

Farmer Jack store eyesore

To the editor:

After waiting two years for something to be done about the vacant Farmer Jack Store No. 36 on Main Street in Plymouth, it is time to voice the dissatisfaction felt by many residents about this situation.

This community has invested a great deal in the refurbishing and development of a picturesque, vibrant downtown in which we can all take pride. The rundown, abandoned Farmer Jack store has become an eyesore — windows are half-covered with torn paper, the parking lot is ill-kept and filled with holes and the overall appearance is one of deterioration.

I would ask that Farmer Jack/A&P Markets and the city of Plymouth take responsible action to improve this situation until the building is leased or sold to a viable business.

Material should be questioned

To the editor:

Steve Barnaby's article entitled "Exploiting a tragedy menaces our liberty" in April 12 Observer terribly misses and mishandles a valid concern parents are facing here in Plymouth-Canton schools and elsewhere. It is unjust to accuse these parents of wrongful action for trying to be good parents.

Do parents have a right to be concerned with what their children might watch on TV, in movies, etc.? PTAs and similar organizations as well as psychologists and social workers say, "Yes!" Some material such as that depicting violence is harmful, particularly to small children. This is because younger children have not adequately distinguished fantasy from reality. Do we call this type of concern or screening of damaging material censorship? No. We call it good judgment. It's the proper guardianship which is part of parenting. It's our right.

So, Steve Barnaby may watch "Nobody's Useless" if he'd like. That's fine. But I hope he doesn't try to force it on my children without my permission. That's not fine.

But more importantly, such guardianship is our duty to our children. Teachers might legitimately complain at times that parents aren't as involved as they would like them to be in their children's education, or that children do not receive the necessary emotional security from parents to develop good self esteem. But then why when parents are concerned or want to be involved are they not being treated with more respect or cooperation? Must not we work together? — parents, children, those who teach, and those who govern our children in our absence?

A little boy may have been very tragically influenced by graphic scenes in a film shown to his class. The film was not recommended for such young students, and was shown without pre-screening or parental permission. Our public servants such as those of the school board must cooperate in shouldering some of the responsibility.

As one of the Farmington school officials gently put it, showing the film to that age group was possibly an "error in judgment." I'd be pleased if our representatives in the tax funded public schools responded more appropriately with a similar statement. Motives of good will express themselves in gracious apologies for offenses made to others. Please, that's the least a family such as our community's deserves.

SEMCOG forecast draws criticism

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A political fight is brewing over a 30-year employment forecast that makes Detroit look bad.

"There will be significant growth for the second ring of Detroit suburbs," said James Rogers, Data-Center Manager for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Rogers told the SEMCOG Executive Committee recently that by the year 2010 there will be "strong gains" in Oakland County and the Brighton area and losses in Detroit and some of Wayne County.

SEMCOG staff members sent preliminary copies of their job growth projections to local units. The executive committee is scheduled to vote May 18 on accepting the numbers, and that's when the fight will start.

A DETROIT city planner, Harold Smith, warned, "We are at considerable odds (with SEMCOG's numbers)." "We question the method of reaching an up-front total (for seven counties) and then trying to make everything (local figures) fit."

The numbers, Smith said, will affect not only Michigan Department of Transportation road building decisions but also private investment.

"If SEMCOG's numbers are cor-

SEMCOG staff members sent preliminary copies of their job growth projections to local units. The executive committee is scheduled to vote May 18 on accepting the numbers, and that's when the fight will start.

rect, the policies of SEMCOG (opposing urban sprawl onto farmland) are useless because the numbers are different. We're wasting our time. If it comes to that, we (Detroit) will publish our own numbers."

The preliminary SEMCOG projection shows total jobs in the seven-county region rising from the current 2.18 million to 2.55 million in 2010 — an increase of 16.7 percent.

In contrast, Detroit is shown as going from 394,000 jobs to 340,000 — a drop of 13.7 percent.

JOHN AMBERGER, executive director of SEMCOG, agreed the numbers "spell big trouble for the region." With little population growth, there will be "incredible problems" paying for new sewers and roads in job growth areas.

But Amberger stoutly defended his staff's projections. "It's the most difficult work we do. The greatest danger is not to be forthright, or we won't have any credibility with MDOT," he said.

Here are SEMCOG's preliminary projections — subject to revision — in this area for 1990 employment, 2010 employment and the percentage gain (or loss).

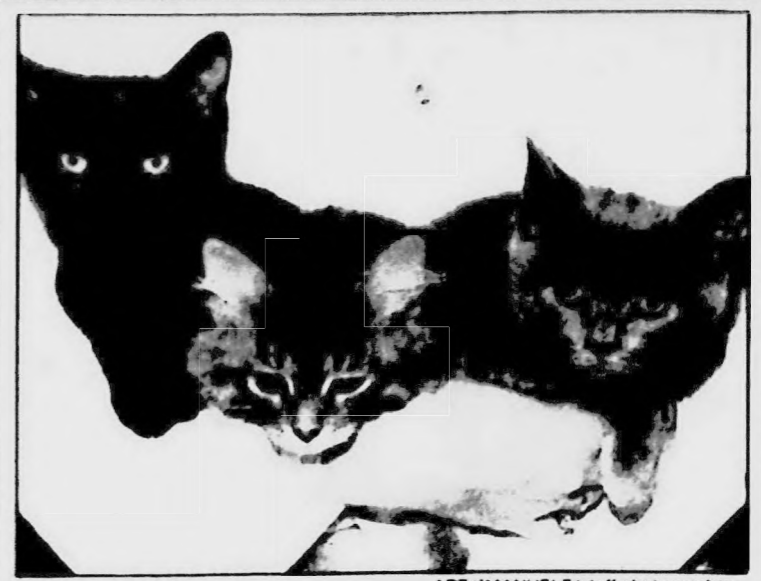

WAYNE COUNTY

Countywide: 889,772 — 947,743 — up 6.6 percent.

Humane society sets dog derby

Entrants are sought for the Michigan Humane Society seventh annual Rosey Mutt Derby, Sunday, May 6, at the Michigan State Fair Coliseum.

Dogs race to their owners in the MHS fund-raising event, the traditional kickoff to Be Kind to Animals Week.

There is a $5 entry fee per dog. Fees are used to support MHS shelters.

Dogs race in five size classes: mini, small, medium, large and maxi. A race between the winners in each class determines the Grand champion.

All dogs entered must have a collar, lease and license. Dogs must also have all current vaccinations.

Spectator admission is $2, though admission for participants is included in the dog entry fee.

Learn how to recycle

A free public seminar on recycling is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Thursday, May 24, in the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium, 32777 Five Mile.

Designed for both business representatives and private citizens, the seminar will address such topics as office recycling, buying recycled products, and glass, paper and plastic recycling. It is sponsored by the conference of Western Wayne, the League of Women Voters and the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Because space is limited, those who plan to attend are asked to register in advance.

Reservations can be made by calling 525-8690 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays.

ACHILLES TENDINITIS

You may develop pain that comes from the back of the foot. As long as you don't walk, you have no discomfort, but taking even a single step brings a sharp rebuke by your foot.

Moving your ankle shows that this joint is intact, but flexing your ankle up re-creates the pain in the back of the foot. This combination of results indicates that you have achilles tendinitis.

The usual cause is injury. Weekend and elderly athletes are at risk: tennis over age 50, racquetball at any age, and volleyball as played by those under age 30 are examples where your foot is subject to sudden stops and turns which can lead to a tear in the achilles tendon.

In most cases, stopping the activity that caused the tendinitis suffices to allow the tendon to heal. Heat is useful, but injections are not. The reason is because the tendon is thick, and the fibers that are irritated lie within the tendon and are not exposed to the tissue surface bathed in medication.

Usually the body will make its own repair. You must give this process time as healing must take place under the conditions of everyday activities, forgoing the therapeutic effect of rest.

May sky features full moon, May 9

May will offer a meteor shower, the closest approach of the planet Pluto, and two first-quarter moons.

Four of the five naked-eye planets will be visible this month. Jupiter is the brightest "star" in the evening sky. Venus, Mars and Saturn are in the pre-dawn sky. Mercury is also a morning object, but its closeness to the horizon will make it extremely difficult to spot.

The amount of sunlight we receive increases by one hour and one minute in May. The sun rises at 6:28 a.m. and sets at 8:31 p.m. on May 1, allowing for a possible 14 hours and three minutes of sunlight. On the 31st, these times are 5:59 a.m. and 9:01 p.m. for a possible 15 hours and two minutes of sun.

The moon is at first-quarter phase on the first day of the month. Officially, this occurs at 4:18 p.m. when the moon is precisely one-quarter of its way around the earth. You will see the moon 90 degrees to the east (left) of the sun.

Watch the moon as it moves through the constellation of Leo the lion on May 2 and 3. On the 2nd, the moon is approaching the bright star Regulus (REG u lus), the "heart" of the lion. On the next night, the moon will be 10 degrees to the east (left) of the moon. The moon will pass this way again at the end of the month.

MERCURY IS at inferior conjunction with the sun on May 3. Mercury is at the point of its orbit that places it between the earth and the sun and is not visible.

The Eta Aquarid (a QUAIR id) meteor shower is at its peak display in the pre-dawn hours of the 4th. This shower is named for the constellation of Aquarius, from which the "shooting stars" appear to radiate. Aquarius will be rising in the southeast before sunrise. The Eta Aquarid shower is not one of the year's best; expect to see an average of only 20 meteors per hour.

Saturn begins retrograde (backward) motion on May 4. Up to this time, Saturn has been orbiting eastward through the stars. For the next four months, Saturn will drift seven degrees toward the west.

Retrograde motion was a total mystery for the ancient sky watchers. They believed that when a planet "backed up," it had special significance and the astrologers attempted to interpret the meaning. In reality, planets don't stop in their tracks and go backward at all. Retrograde motion is an optical illusion. When a faster orbiting planet, like the earth, catches up and passes a slower moving planet, like Saturn, the slower planet appears to stop and move backward. After a few months the illusion ends, and the backward moving planet appears to resume its forward (prograde) motion.

THE MOON is near the bright star Spica (SPY ca) on the 6th and 7th. On May 6, the moon is about seven degrees to the south (right) of Spica. On the next night the moon is six degrees below Spica.

Another event, one that is totally invisible, occurs on the evening of the 7th. Pluto, the last planet to be discovered, will be at its closest to the earth until the year 2237. It will be a mere 4.31 billion kilometers (2.68 billion miles) away. To put it another way, it would take light (which covers 186,000 miles in a single second) nearly four hours to travel from the earth to Pluto!

Normally the most distant planet, Pluto is actually closer to the earth than Neptune at this time, and it will remain so until 1999. Pluto's orbit is very eccentric (oval). When Pluto is at the point in its orbit where it is closest to the sun, it is also closer than Neptune.

There is no chance that Pluto and Neptune will ever collide as one

planet crosses the orbit of the other. Pluto's orbit is not only the most eccentric, it's also the most tilted. Pluto's orbit is tipped 17 degrees with respect to the orbits of the other planet. The point where Pluto crosses Neptune is way above the orbit of Neptune.

Because Pluto's orbit is so odd, it has been suggested that Pluto was originally a moon of Neptune and it escaped. Elaborate calculations were made to explain how Pluto was able to break away from Neptune. However, the discovery, in 1978, that Pluto has a moon of its own complicated matters considerably. The jury is still out.

THE MOON will form a straight line with two stars in Libra on May 8. Six degrees to the east (left) of the moon is Alpha Librae (LYE bray); nine degrees to the east of Alpha is Beta Librae. These are the two brightest stars in the constellation of Libra, hence they are named for the first two letters in the Greek alphabet. (In actual fact, measurements have shown that Beta Librae is a bit brighter than Alpha.)

These two stars also have proper names and each is a mouthful: Zubenelgenubi (zoo ben el gen U be) and Zubeneschamali (zoo ben es she MA lee). The names are Arabic and translate to "the southern claw" and "the northern claw."

"Claws" in Libra? Originally, the stars that form Libra were included in the constellation immediately to the left; Scorpius the scorpion. When the stars were separated from the scorpion to form their own star group, the original names stuck.

The amount of sunlight we receive increases by one hour and one minute in May.

Full Moon is at 2:31 p.m. on May 9. The moon will rise in the east southeast as the sun sets in the west northwest, be fully lighted and visible all night (forming a triangle with Alpha and Beta Librae), then set as the sun rises the next morning.

The moon will be in the constellation of Scorpius on the morning of the 11th. The star only one degree above the moon is Antares, the "heart" of the scorpion. On the next morning the moon will be to the south (left) of Antares.

The star two degrees above the moon on the evening of the 15th is Saturn, the planet with the beautiful ring system. Even a small telescope can be used to see Saturn's rings.

Geake seeks guidelines for reapportionment

Sen. R. Robert Geake of Northville and three other Republican state legislators are asking the Michigan Supreme Court for reapportionment guidelines.

The Legislature is due to redistrict itself after the 1990 census for the 1992 primary. The high court in 1982 abolished the four-member Apportionment Commission which invariably deadlocked between Republican and Democratic plans.

"The court will go a long way toward eliminating partisan politics from the reapportionment process," said Lansing attorney David W. McKeague. A Republican party spokesman, he will represent Geake along with Sen. Norman Shinkle of Monroe County and Reps. Donald Van Singel of Grant and Gary Randall of Elwell. McKeague said the high court could make 1992 elections more orderly by avoiding a repetition of the 1982 mess when the primary had to be delayed.

In general, Democrats have drawn district lines with numerical exactness, often sending meandering lines to carve up cities and townships. Republicans called it gerrymandering.

Republican plans try to follow local government boundaries. Democrats say such districts vary too much in size.

McKeague said the high court in 1982 said criteria other than "one man, one vote" could be used.

"We believe the Supreme Court can best serve the people by setting forth in advance the criteria which will govern the reapportionment of the Michigan Legislature," McKeague said.

Where chili fans gather

All right, all you chili lovers out there who dream about the food that won the West.

We're getting close to one of childom's yearly featured events, the Great American Chili Cookoff — in beautiful Saline, Michigan — to benefit the National Kidney Foundation.

Mark your chili peppers with the dates Saturday-Sunday, May 5-6. Get ready to sample some of the best chili the Midwest has to offer, and have loads of fun doing it.

What really makes the best chili? On a recent chili Saturday (excuse the pun) I ventured out to a practice session of the Blue Flame Chili makers. It was there, amid a case of Michelob and a pungent aroma, that I met Brad Silvester and Dennis Hill of Ann Arbor, Brad King of Farmington Hills and Don Carney of Northville, the team behind Blue Flame Chili.

I have been a chili judge for the past seven years. Momma made chili at least once a week and, like the Blue Flame Chili makers, I too use fresh jalapenos, sirloin, tomatoes, various other items and a secret ingredient that will be revealed later in this story. What makes this chili better than the rest?

To quote the team, in unison, "It's not the chili going down. It's the aftereffects."

AS ONE OF the judges who has to sample more than 25 different chilis in an afternoon, I wholeheartedly agree, it's the aftereffects, and God knows I have aftereffects.

What exactly is it that makes these four fun-loving, product engineers from the GM Proving Grounds make chili better than the others? Well, for starters, they believe that after doing this for five years and finishing in the top 20 (out of 80 entrants) every year, they have their recipe down pat and all it needs is a little fine tuning from year to year.

King, Blue Flame Chili maker for the past four years, claims it's the secret addition of just the right amount of Nestle's Toll House Morsels that is added to the pot. "The chocolate shouldn't be noticeable, so we add just a small amount to help mellow out the heat. Then we munch on the remainder," said King.

Silvester is still considered the apprentice, with only two years' previous experience. He presently is taking gourmet cooking classes in Ann Arbor. Silvester brings along the experience of his favorite chili maker, his dad, who is a pilot for United Airlines and "has tasted the best chilis all over the world."

Chili maker Hill, gently stirring the cauldron of bubbling chili while the crew roasts fresh jalapenos over an open flame, thinks the Blue Flame chili has become much more tame since its origination, and would like to taste it hotter.

AS A RETURNING judge in this year's cookoff, I will refrain from making any judgments till I've tasted them all. But a word of warning to the other teams,

DOUGLAS E. SUSALLA

Grace Crowl, a former nursing administrator, and her husband, James, a doctor, are Bloomfield Township residents who are involved in the food business. They offer catering and carryout at their shop, Taste of Seasons in Farmington Hills.

A shop for all seasons

By Arlene Funke
special writer

LOCAL FOOD LOVERS can be glad Grace Crowl decided to give up nursing.

Seven years ago Crowl chucked her job as a nursing administrator in the surgical unit at Providence Hospital in Southfield. She enrolled in culinary-arts classes and took a totally different career path.

One year ago, having studied with some outstanding local chefs, Crowl opened Taste of Seasons, a catering firm and gourmet takeout shop in Farmington Hills.

"This is a labor of love," said Crowl, a Bloomfield Township resident. "It was my dream."

Crowl specializes in the country French and nouvelle California styles of food preparation.

"It's much lighter fare," she explained. "It isn't swimming in sauces. It's lots of fresh fruits and vegetables."

Crowl learned to love good food from her mother, a "fabulous cook." Although Crowl has dozens of cookbooks she is particularly fond of the "Open House Cookbook" by Sarah Leah Chase and the Silver Palate series of cookbooks.

Crowl uses a deft blend of spices, herbs, interesting food combinations and light dressings to bring excitement to meat, chicken and fish.

ONE RECENT MENU offering was a boneless, skinned chicken breast stuffed with onions, celery, water chestnuts and herbs. It was basted with a honey-soy glaze and topped with sesame seeds.

Another tasty choice was a Greek chicken pie, which pairs chicken breast with feta cheese, Parmesan cheese, green onions, spicy Dijon mustard and herbs. The chicken is layered in phyllo. There's also a grilled duck breast with cherry sauce.

"Health aspects are very important," Crowl said. "Chicken is the rage. And we always focus on one or more heart-healthy entrees."

Dinner specials are rotated weekly. Prices range from around $5 for the entree only, to $11 for the full meal, which includes vegetable, salad, homemade bread and dessert.

Strudels, creamy cheesecakes, luscious, moist carrot cake and several cookies and brownies are made on the premises.

Although hers isn't a kosher kitchen, Crowl also caters many "kosher-style" meals. For Passover she developed a special carryout meal of roast chicken or beef, chicken soup with matzo ball, gefilte fish, potato kugel and sponge cake.

Crowl, formerly of Lathrup Village, has worked with her share of demanding, often temperamental chefs. She believes her years of hospital work prepared her for the grueling task.

"Physicians have a tendency to think they walk on water, and so do chefs," she said.

ONE CHEF whom she holds in high regard is Douglas Grech, also known as Chef Duglass. He taught Crowl how to turn potential cooking disasters into success stories.

"With catering he has a flair that far surpasses everybody," Crowl said.

After finishing culinary-arts requirements at Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills, Crowl studied at the New York Cooking School, where she learned about classic French cuisine and elegant pastries. For three years she had a home-based catering business, which finally outgrew its quarters.

"When you have four ovens and five refrigerators in your home, it starts getting out of hand," Crowl said.

In December 1988, Crowl moved to her present location, formerly the site of a delicatessen, in the Tiffany Plaza shopping center on Northwestern Highway near 14 Mile Road. The bulk of the business is catered parties, which run the gamut from bar mitzvahs and business dinners to wedding receptions.

Crowl employs 15 full-time workers, three people with culinary-arts degrees, and several part-timers. Her husband James, a physician, helps when she has large parties — particularly when servers fail to show up for work.

Crowl sings the praises of her staff, including Bill Hickey of Bir-

Chinese food is different at Ah Wok

Long before Novi was an up-and-coming suburb, Ah Wok restaurant was drawing people westward with meals that had Detroit restaurant critics raving.

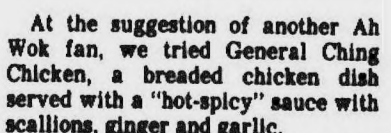

Today, Novi has changed. Ah Wok, thankfully, hasn't. Szechuan, Mandarin and Cantonese meals are still prepared with the utmost care.

Ah Wok advertises "gourmet cuisine," terminology more familiar to French or American menus than Chinese, but this is gourmet, and it is special.

A selection of innovative dishes offers intriguing alternatives to more customary Chinese fare — like an absolutely perfect Seafood Wor Ba entree featuring a combination of lobster, crab, shrimp, scallops, baby corn and other vegetables served over sizzling rice.

Not only was this a fantastically well-prepared meal, but the entree was loaded with lobster and the other seafood ingredients. At $13.75, it was a bargain.

THAT SEEMS to be the way it is at Ah Wok. The chef doesn't scrim on ingredients and the portions are hearty. He also uses first-class, fresh ingredients and doesn't treat the vegetables as filler.

At the suggestion of another Ah Wok fan, we tried General Ching Chicken, a breaded chicken dish served with a "hot-spicy" sauce with scallions, ginger and garlic.

We found this a little sweet, rather than hot and spicy, though a very interesting dish.

Because it was so sweet, it would best be tried when ordering several entrees to share — everyone could enjoy a small portion of it rather than try it as an entire meal.

SHARON LE MEIUX/staff photographer

Chef Pak Lai stirs up excitement at Ah Wok in Novi.

OTHER INTERESTING special dishes include Sam Pan Wor Ba, a dish of beef tenderloin, chicken, pork and vegetable served on sizzling rice ($10.50), and Wor Dip Har, an entree featuring shrimp wrapped in bacon ($11.25).

The two entrees we tried from the more conventional part of the menu were superb also — shrimp egg foo young and chicken chop suey.

Both were flavorful, especially the chop suey, which was among the best we've ever tasted.

This entree wasn't laden with bean sprouts. Instead it had a hearty combination of celery, onions and tender chicken. The shrimp egg foo young also was excellent and filled with baby shrimp.

MAIN DISHES are a la carte, though you can complete the meal with soup, an egg roll and tea for another $1.50.

Details:

Ah Wok, 41563 W. 10 Mile, Novi, 349-9260 or 349-9261. Dinner reservations recommended on weekends. Carryout available.

Hours: Tuesday-Thursday 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Friday 11 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.; Saturday, 4-11:30 p.m.; Sunday noon to 9:30 p.m.

Prices: $4.95-$18.50 with chef's specials $9.25-$18.50. MasterCard, Visa, American Express, Diner's Club, Carte Blanche. Value: Excellent. Highly recommended.

Area cooks take prizes in chip cookie contest

Two area residents are among winners in the "Best Chocolate Chip Cookie in Michigan" contest co-sponsored by Zehnder's of Frankenmuth and Michigan Living magazine. The Brandy Pecan chocolate chip cookie recipe created by Barbara Couillard of Westland won first prize, competing with more than 700 chocolate chip cookie recipes from around the state.

Third prize went to Karen Schanerberger of Farmington Hills for her Spiced Viennese Coffee Treat.

Couillard earned a Michigan Living Five Diamond Rating, $500 and a weekend in Frankenmuth for her first place recipe, which will be test produced in the Bakery at Zehnder's as a possible attraction on the cookie shelves.

Schanerberger receives a Three Diamond Rating, $100 and dinner for two at Zehnder's.

Second prize in the contest went to Donna McCrimmon of Belding for her Ultimate chocolate chip cookie.

Thirty recipes competed in the final round of chip competition recently at Zehnder's. Finalists included area residents Joycelyn Mancier of Rochester Hills, Chocolate Chip Maple Almond Delights; Brenda Hayes of Farmington, Malted Chip Cookies; Ellen E. Exworthy of Southfield, Michigan Chippers, and Beryl Derry of Birmingham, Turtle Chocolate Chip Cookies.

Here are the first and third prize winning recipes.

BRANDY PECAN CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup vegetable shortening
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup chocolate chips
- 1 cup brandy pecans
- 2 ounces brandy

Soak pecans in brandy for 1/4 hour. Mix together butter and shortening.

SPICED VIENNESE COFFEE TREATS

- 12 ounces (2 cups) mini chocolate chips
- 1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon instant coffee crystals
- 2 teaspoons boiling water
- 1 1/4 cups flour
- 3/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon orange extract
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup blanched, slivered almonds

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Melt over hot (not boiling) water, 1/2 cup chocolate chips or microwave in glass measuring cup 1-1 1/2 minutes on high, stirring every 30 seconds. Stir until smooth; set aside to cool to room temperature. In small cup, dissolve coffee crystals in water; set aside. In small bowl combine flour, baking soda and salt; set aside. In large bowl, cream together butter, sugar, brown sugar, cinnamon and coffee mixture. Mix in orange extract, egg and melted chips. Gradually add flour mixture. Stir in remaining 1 1/4 cups chips and almonds. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake 9-11 minutes. Allow to stand 2-3 minutes before removing from cookie sheets; cool completely. Makes 24 cookies, each 3 inches.

some of which will be comprised of questionable chili fanatics from WJBK-TV, WWWW radio, WRIF radio and Omnicom cable television, these guys have been practicing all year and they're ready to take on all challengers.

What better way to have fun on an early May weekend than to venture out to the Saline fairgrounds for the chili cookoff. This year, the Blue Flame Chili makers will make more than three gallons of their famous chili that can be sampled for 25 cents, not because the team is out for blood and money, but mainly because they want to help the National Kidney Foundation and have a great time in the process.

One $5 admission per person gets you through the gates. All proceeds go to the National Kidney Foundation.

Although it wouldn't be fair to print the exact recipe from the Blue Flame Chili team, here's a winning recipe from previous competition:

ROBERT VARGO'S MOTOR CITY CHILI 1988 Winning recipe

- 2 pounds center cut pork loin, cut into 1/4 inch cubes
- 3 1/2 pounds round steak, cut into 1/4 inch cubes
- 4 pounds ground round
- 3 large onions, diced
- 2 whole medium-sized garlic bulbs (about 40-50 cloves) peeled and chopped fine
- 1 green pepper, seeded and chopped
- 6 hot peppers (3 jalapeno/3 Hungarian) seeded and chopped (wear rubber gloves)
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 1/2 cup corn oil
- 1 teaspoon finely ground black pepper
- 1 1/2 cup (6 ounces) chili powder
- 1/4 cup (2 ounces) cumin
- 6 bay leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano
- 2 tablespoons garlic powder
- 2 tablespoons onion powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/2 cup beef base

- 2 tablespoons MSG
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon Lawry's seasoned salt
- 1 can (4 ounces) Old El Paso brand green chilies, chopped undrained
- 4 cans (1 pound 12 ounces each) whole tomatoes, undrained, chopped
- 3 cans (8 ounces each) tomato juice
- 3 cans (14 ounces) each tomato paste

- 24 raw green chilies
- 2 pounds cubed roast pork shoulder
- 2 tablespoons bacon drippings
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 medium sweet onions, finely chopped
- 2 medium cans stewed tomatoes
- 1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste
- 2 cups water
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

Use a large brown pot, 20-40 quarts in size. Brown pork, round steak, ground round, onion, garlic, green peppers and celery salt in corn oil until meat loses its pink color, about 45 minutes. Do not drain. Add remaining ingredients except tomatoes, tomato juice and puree. Mix well to blend seasonings. Transfer half of mixture to a second pot. Add tomatoes, tomato juice and puree, dividing equally between the 2 pots. Bring both pots to a slow boil, reduce heat, simmer, covered for 2 1/2 hours. Remove bay leaves before serving.

JANE BUTEL'S GREEN CHILI

Parch green chilies removing skin, veins, seeds and tops. Flour the pork and brown in bacon drippings. When the pork is browned, remove to a large 3-to-5-quart pot. Add onions to the remaining fat in the frypan and cook until clear. When all the chilies are peeled, coarsely chop into 1-inch slices; add to meat and onions. Add remaining ingredients and continue to cook over medium low heat until mixture is slightly thickened and the flour well blended.

Jane Butel is a cookbook author and owner of the Pecos River Spice Company.

Avoid boredom; use other grains

Are you trying to add more fiber to your diet and you're bored with bran and brown rice?

There are numerous other good grains that can take out the boredom. These grains can add taste, texture and more nutrition to meals. Besides whole grains, other good sources of fiber are fruits and vegetables.

Whole grains are not refined or only minimally processed so are nutritionally superior. They are virtually fat-free and low in calories. Whole grains retain more protein, fiber and trace minerals such as iron. By increasing your fiber, you gain a wide variety of health benefits. Fiber helps control weight, fight cancer, lower serum cholesterol, lower blood sugar and act as a laxative. Add fiber to the diet gradually and drink plenty of fluids so the additional fiber has something to absorb.

Amaranth grains date back almost 8,000 years. Cook amaranth seeds for pilaf or hot cereal or pop them like corn for a snack. They have an unusual peppery taste but have more protein than wheat and are rich in amino acids. Use amaranth flour to make bread, biscuits, cakes and pancakes. To use for a yeast bread, combine with wheat flour because it is deficient in gluten.

BARLEY IS another grain that has been around for thousands of years but still is unfamiliar to modern cooking. There is whole-hulled and pearled barley. The whole-hulled barley also can be sprouted and added to salads or ground into flour to make a Norwegian flat loaf. Pearl barley is less nutritious than whole-hulled but still a good source of soluble fiber. Add barley to soups, salads and casseroles.

Kasha is roasted buckwheat that is dark in color with a strong nutty flavor. It can be used for stuffings, pilafs and soups, as it complements meals of pork, beef, liver and lamb. The unroasted buckwheat is light and delicately flavored. Use it as a side dish for veal or fish; add to soups, souffles or vegetables, or grind into flour. Buckwheat flour is used in traditional Russian blinis.

Millet is nutritious for you and the birds. Millet has more protein than rice, sorghum, corn or oats. Use whole hulled millet as an alternative to rice in casseroles, ground meat dishes, salads and stuffings. Puffed millet is generally sold as a breakfast cereal but can be used to add texture and lightness to puddings and breads.

We are all familiar with old-fashioned rolled oats or the quick-cooking rolled oats, but have you tried oat groats? Oat groats are whole kernels of oats and, unlike most other grains, are not refined so they retain most of their nutrients regardless of the form. Oat groats are usually cooked as a hot cereal or as a base for salad and stuffings or used for sprouting.

QUINOA IS an ancient grain that is higher in iron than any other grain. It is a small pale yellow seed with a light fluffy texture and squash-like flavor. One nice thing is that it cooks in about 15 minutes compared to a longer time for most of the other grains.

Wheat berries, cracked wheat, bulgur, couscous and wheat germ are probably more familiar sound-

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

ing. Bulgur is dried wheat that has been cracked and is used to make tabbouleh. Couscous is finely cracked granules of wheat that have been steamed and dried. It is easy to prepare and substitutes for rice.

For more flavor, cook grains in wine or vegetable, meat or poultry stock, rather than water. When making some of the grains that need to cook longer, make a double batch and freeze for quick additions to soups, stews, casseroles and stuffings.

When making whole-grain yeast breads, blend buckwheat, barley, oat or triticale (which is a combination of wheat and rye) flours with all-purpose flour called for in a recipe. Keep whole grains tightly covered in a cool, dry place for up to five months. For longer storage, refrigerate or freeze.

These grains are not new. Most have been around for centuries, and are just now finding their way to the supermarket. Our interest in adding fiber to the diet, because of the health benefits, has renewed and aroused our curiosity about different kinds of grains. Try one, you may be pleasantly surprised how good it is.

Counselor makes meal her grandchildren love

The other day, my 8-year-old son asked me in all seriousness if I would come to all his hockey games when he was grown up and playing for a professional hockey team. It was a sweet, touching moment and a real insight into what kind of career this young boy thought, at this stage of his life, would bring him happiness and fulfillment.

Whether he ends up playing professional hockey remains to be seen, but for many people finding out what they want to do with their lives is not an easy thing. It has been almost a year-and-a-half since I took a series of aptitude tests at the Johnson O'Connor Research Foundation, and the results of those tests have had a profound effect on my life.

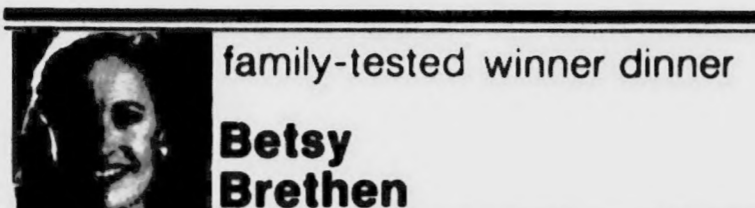

No one was more surprised than I to discover that two of my strongest aptitudes were creative problem solving and journalism. Learning more about who I was and what my aptitudes were helped give me the confidence to develop the Winner Dinner concept and discover a career that I had never before considered.

This week's Winner Dinner Winner, Lillian Ramer, is a certified social worker and counselor who specializes in helping people with addictions. She works very hard at helping her clients get to know, understand and accept their true selves so that they can set goals for their lives and work toward achieving them.

HAVING PRACTICED what she preaches, Ramer earned her bachelor of science and master of arts degrees by going to Oakland University for 12 years straight. She has worked professionally as a counselor since 1975. Before that, she did a lot of volunteer work for the Youth Probation Committee of South Oakland County and served as a volunteer probation officer in Ferndale.

The mother of two grown children and now the proud grandmother of four, Ramer submitted a menu for Baked Stuffed Potatoes, Waldorf Salad and Peanut Butter Pudding Delight. The dinner is always a hit with her grandchildren. Ramer particularly likes the menu because it can be prepared in advance, enabling her to focus on hugs and fun when her grandchildren come to visit.

With her husband recently retired, Ramer is looking forward to another family-tested winner dinner

Lillian Romer's four grandchildren enjoy this meal she prepares ahead so she can spend more time with them when they visit.

new and exciting chapter in her life. Although they are planning to spend more time at their cottage on Lake Charlevoix, Ramer plans to continue counseling others, as she finds it rewarding and fulfilling.

Thank you, Lillian Ramer, for sharing your grandchildren-tested menu with us and congratulations on being our Winner Dinner Winner of the week.

Here's hoping that this week's Winner Dinner will be food for thought, inspiring you to get to know and accept yourself and do the best possible with what you have been given.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Recipes are printed the same size so that you may clip and save them in a three-ring binder. Use a paper punch to make holes in the clipping, or paste the clipping on a blank sheet of three-ring notebook paper. Another option is to simply file the clippings in a folder with pockets that will hold them.

MOLDED WALDORF SALAD
PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING DELIGHT

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES

This dish takes little time to assemble, can be made in advance and can be frozen. Although this recipe is for four people, simply increase or decrease the ingredients proportionately for the number of people you need to feed.

4 large baking potatoes, baked
1/4 teaspoon instant minced onion or 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon freshly chopped parsley or parsley flakes
1/4 to 1 pound lean ground beef
1 cup grated cheese (Ramer suggests combining Muenster and mild cheddar) tomato slices (optional)
paprika

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Combine all the ingredients, except for the butter and meat and set them aside. Cut the potatoes in half and scoop out the pulp. Save the shells.

Brown the beef in the butter. Combine the potato pulp and meat with the other ingredients. Spoon the mixture into the potato shells. Bake them for 10 minutes. Top with grated cheese and a sprinkling of paprika the last 5 minutes.

For added color and garnishment, place a thin slice of tomato on top of the potato and then add the grated cheese and paprika.

These potatoes can be frozen. If so, they must be thawed and baked for 30 minutes at 400 degrees.

MOLDED WALDORF SALAD

This variation of an always popular salad serves 6.

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin (3-ounce size)
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup celery, diced
1/2 cup red apples, diced
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1/2 cup cream, whipped washed and dried salad greens

Prepare gelatin according to the directions on the package. Chill until it is slightly thickened. Next, add the salt and blend in the mayonnaise. Fold in the remaining ingredients, except for the greens. Turn into a 1-quart mold and chill until set. Unmold on the salad greens and serve.

PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING DELIGHT

Serving four, this dessert takes minutes to whip up.

1 package instant butterscotch or chocolate pudding, sugar-free or regular (1-ounce size)
1/4 cup peanut butter, crunchy style
2 cups milk

Using a wire whisk, blend the peanut butter with a small portion of the milk, then add the remaining milk gradually.

Add the pudding mix and beat about 1 minute. Put the pudding in individual serving cups and top with a dab of whipped cream.

Shopping List

4 large baking potatoes
1/4 to 1 pound lean ground beef
1 onion or instant minced onions milk butter or margarine salt
paprika
parsley or parsley flakes grated cheese (munster and mild cheddar)
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin (3-ounce size) mayonnaise celery
2-3 apples
1 tomato (optional) walnuts half pint of whipping cream salad greens
your choice of vegetables for steaming
1 package instant butterscotch or chocolate pudding, sugar-free or regular (1-ounce size) peanut butter, crunchy style

Notes

Kids can fix their own microwave snacks

AP — A survey by the Microwave Power Institute says nine out of 10 kids between the ages of 6 to 17 use the microwave at least twice a week. After-school snacks and light meals are favorites, including pizza, popcorn, nachos and hot dogs.

You can keep pizza fixings on hand in your cupboard and refrigerator. Pita bread can be used for the crust.

AFTER-SCHOOL PIZZAS

two 6-inch pita breads, split olive oil
1/2 cup prepared spaghetti sauce
1/2 pound shredded mozzarella cheese
2 teaspoons dried oregano, crumbled
1/4 cup mixed vegetables, defrosted and blotted dry
1/4 cup frozen chopped broccoli, defrosted and blotted dry
1/4 cup corn, defrosted and blotted dry

Brush the inner, rough side of the split pitas with olive oil. Place on a microwave-safe flat dish or plate and cook on 100 percent power (high) for 1 minute until crisp. Remove from the oven.

Spoon 2 to 3 tablespoons spaghetti sauce onto each pita half; spread evenly. Place the mozzarella cheese on top of the sauce and then sprinkle on a generous pinch of oregano. Return the dish to the oven and cook at 70 percent power (medium-high) for 3 to 4 minutes until the cheese is hot and bubbling. Remove the dish from the microwave. Spoon vegetables in the center of each pizza. Top with a dollop of sauce, a sprinkling of cheese and return the dish to the oven. Cook on 70 percent power for 30 seconds to 1 minute or until hot. Serves 4.

Wine styles vary, offering choices in flavors

"Fundamental to matching wine to food is an understanding of the differences in styles of wine because style can be more important than the variety," said Karen Keehn, co-proprietor with her husband Richard of McDowell Valley Vineyards.

"Any wine grape varietal can be made in a range of styles, each one emphasizing a different combination of fruit, tannin, acidity, sweetness and oak complexity. Style is the sum of various components, and a range of styles offers the cook unlimited flavor choices."

THE KEEHNS probably have the oldest plantings of syrah in California on their ranch in Hopland. Their winemaker, John Buechsenstein, is a leading force in a merry band of winemakers, the Rhone Rangers, who specialize in producing wines from varieties native to France's Rhone Valley.

"Syrah is often described as plummy with wild currant flavors," said Keehn. "We make a puree of ripe plums (canned plums also work), add a few dried currants and simmer this with Syrah as a base for a sauce, wine jelly or sorbet, creating a delicious flavor complement for wild game, pork, liver or pate — especially when served with the same wine."

"AS A RULE of thumb, this preparation will work well with any smoked, roasted or grilled foods with stronger flavors. For syrah, the herb of choice is rosemary."

McDowell Valley Vineyards has designed a Rhone-style label for its

Eleanor and Ray Heald

California versions of these wines. The label carries the brand name Les Vieux Cepages. After tasting the 1986 Les Vieux Cepages Syrah ($15), it's easy to understand how Keehn's concept of similar flavors can also guide the matching or traditional seasonings to the fruit flavors perceived in a wine.

MANY RED wines have a decidedly berry flavor — such as raspberry, blackberry, cherry or plum. These fruits are traditionally seasoned with sweet spices such as cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, and clove. Basil, tarragon, mint and anise also have many of the same sweet, hot, spicy characteristics and will make superior complements to the food and wine selection.

The Keehns live in the middle of their winery vineyards and have the distinct California advantage of raising their own vegetables, herbs and meats. However, Michigan's growing season is not all that short, and a small herb garden, started about now, will provide fresh herbs all summer long.

"When I begin to create a dish or plan a menu, the wine is an integral part of the over-all flavor concept, when it is used only as a complementary beverage or as an ingredient," Keehn said.

"WE WANT THE TASTE relationship between food and wine to be flavor-enhancing, a synergistic pleasure, not a competitive battle for dominance. We use wine as a significant seasoning ingredient primarily for its contributions of fruit and acidity."

"A wine's acidity can provide a structural backbone for building sauces, fruit or vegetable butters, salad dressings and stocks. Wine acidity enhances food flavors."

Keehn also observes that in addition to acids, alcohol in wine is a natural tenderizing agent. Therefore, she suggests using wine as a marinade to tenderize as well as to add flavor.

For foods that are lighter in color (such as veal and pork) and where discoloration would adversely affect visual appeal, Keehn recommends using white or rose wines with good fruit and acidity.

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

1989 Les Vieux Cepages Grenache, McDowell Valley Vineyards ($8). Produced from vines planted in 1919, this rose-style wine is impressively Rhone-like. Crisp and fresh, it will match with Mediterranean-style salads or a vegetable stir fry.

IF YOU would like to try these suggestions with McDowell Valley Vineyards white wines, you might consider either the 1988 Fume Blanc ($8) that contains 14 percent Semillon in the blend, or the 1988 California appellation Chardonnay ($9).

The Fume Blanc has fruity undertones and a broad palate feel. With this wine, Keehn also suggests foods with high texture levels such as swordfish, chicken, crab, veal and rabbit. The seasoning of choice is mustard and/or curry. "Asparagus, artichokes and spinach, which devastate some wines, work well with this Fume Blanc," she said. "The herb affinity is fresh marjoram, not oregano."

Food can be easily and elegantly tied to the wine through the seasoning. Make it fun, experiment, and remember that there is not a right or wrong way. With this attitude, eating can be elevated to a dining experience.

"We refer to seasonings as the ties that bind. These seasonings may be an herb or spice combination or another food that contributes flavor, such as tomato or garlic."

KEEHN ALSO NOTES wines that are high in acidity seem to be enjoyed more when combined with foods high in fat content, such as butter, cream or cheese. In addition, high-acid wines can be balanced by foods having some sweetness, such as a tart chardonnay served with scallops in a tarragon cream sauce. Also, acidity and alcohol in wine serve as a solvent to cleanse the palate.

Older wines, with fading acidity, are better enjoyed with foods having restrained flavors and less fat content, so as not to mask the more subtle wine flavors. With an older cabernet sauvignon, Keehn suggests a lean tenderloin roasted with fresh vegetables like potatoes and carrots, a simple sauce using the deglazed pan juices, a splash of wine and restrained seasonings — a little thyme and a pinch of salt and pepper.

Plymouth Canton broke open a scoreless ballgame in the fifth inning Thursday and defeated visiting Farmington Hills Harrison 3-0.

With two out in the fifth, Chris James doubled and scored on Ron Groh's single.

The Chiefs added two in the sixth. Jason Dembny walked and advanced on Jason Riggs' sacrifice bunt. But, when the Hawks threw the ball away at first, Dembny scored and Riggs took third.

Jeff Maxwell, who had three hits for Canton, singled home Riggs to make it 3-0.

Scott Kennedy (4-0) got the win in relief of starter John Anthony, who pitched four innings. The two combined for a two-hitter, with eight strikeouts and four walks.

The Chiefs are 4-0 in the Western Division and 6-2 overall. Harrison is 0-3 and 0-5.

FARMINGTON DEFEATED another of the Western Lakes Activities Association's perennial powers Thursday, taking an 8-5 victory from defending league co-champ Plymouth Salem.

The visiting Rocks had 11 hits to Farmington's nine, but Salem committed six errors and the Falcons one.

Farmington built a 6-0 lead through three innings to make a winner of Chris Schmid (2-0), who went five innings and scattered seven hits. He fanned four and walked four.

Shortstop Kevin Van Ord was 3-

for-4, scored a run and had two RBI and a pair of stolen bases. Dave Wilson had two hits and two RBI, and P.J. Green stole three bases, scored three runs and had one RBI.

The Falcons also pulled off a suicide squeeze in the three-run second inning. Wilson put down the bunt that scored Gary Shelp.

Farmington is 3-0 in the Lakes Division and 4-0 overall. The Rocks are 2-1 and 3-4.

"We still have a lot of work to do," Farmington coach Kevin Kansman said. "Our division is tough all the way through, so we have to keep working. But we have to feel good about it, because we've been winning."

Scott Bright had two hits — both doubles — and three RBI for Salem, and Kevin Craggs also had a pair of hits. Each player scored a run, too.

Scott Lakatos followed Schmid to the mound and pitched 1 1/2 innings before Kevin Young got the final out. Scott Rodgers was the starter and loser for Salem. He pitched three innings, giving up six runs (two earned) on two hits. He hit two batters and walked four.

IT WAS A baseball game that requires words like astonishing, amazing, incredible to describe.

North Farmington had 34 hits — that's right, 34 — and scored 26 runs

Thursday as the Raiders destroyed host Livonia Stevenson, which managed six hits and five runs in the seven-inning game.

"I haven't seen anything like it in the years I've been here," North coach Irv Horwitz said. He's in his seventh year as varsity coach.

"We never had anything like it. Stevenson is not a bad team. I don't know how many of our hits had eyes."

North had 10 players with at least two hits. The big swingers were Dave Rankin and T.J. Orman with four apiece. Both scored three runs, and Orman knocked in five runs, also.

The list goes on.

Dale Turken and Jason Horwitz had three hits, scored twice and drove in two runs, and Jason Hamill hit safely three of six times and had three RBI.

Andrew Margolick was the winning pitcher and also was part of the offensive production with three hits and one RBI. On the mound, he pitched four innings, scattered five hits, walked five and struck out two.

But back to the batters. Mike Collins had two hits, one a two-run homer, and scored twice. Brian Gonterman chipped in two hits and three runs, and Frank Marafino and Jason Miller added two hits and one RBI apiece.

The Raiders continued their heavy-hitting ways Friday, crushing host Livonia Churchill 17-9 in a WLAAC crossover game.

North is 1-1 in the Lakes Division and 4-1 overall, Stevenson 0-3 and 0-4. The Chargers dropped to 0-5.

Dual openers produce wins for CEP boys

The opening round of division dual meets had Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem taking victories from their Farmington Hills counterparts in boys track Thursday.

The visiting Chiefs trimmed Harrison 75-62 in a Western Division encounter, and the host Rocks walloped North Farmington 103-34 in the Lakes Division.

Farmington, meanwhile, suffered its first loss when Livonia Stevenson edged the host Falcons 69-68.

Canton dominated in the running events and hurdles to defeat the Hawks.

Jeff Pryslak won the high hurdles (17.2) and the low hurdles (43.8), and teammate Mike Ream also was a double winner with victories in the 800 run (2:10) and the 1600 contest (4:46.1).

In addition, Canton's Josh Walaskay won the 200 dash (23.7), Ron Staples the 400 sprint (53.0) and Matt Boland the 3200 run (10:42.3).

The teams split the relay wins, with the Chiefs taking first place in the longer distances. Pryslak, Craig Miller, Dave Washenko and Staples combined for a 3:38 time in the 1600, and Brian Beach, Staples, Jason Napolitano and Ream comprised the 3200 foursome that posted an 8:42 time.

Canton's strength in the running events was the difference as it scored a maximum number of points (32) by sweeping the 400, 800, 1600 and 3200 runs and winning the two relays.

Beach was second in the 1600 and 3200 and third in the 800. The sophomore duo of Washenko and Craig Miller followed Staples in the 400, Chris Nelson was second in the 800, Boland third in the 1600 and Napolitano third in the 3200.

"We knew we'd do well in the distances," Canton coach Bob Richardson said, "but the sweep of the 400 was a real surprise. Walaskay ran a powerful race. It was kind of an upset, because we weren't anticipating that. His first place really made a difference."

Canton's jumpers also had a good day in the field events. Mike DeJarnette won the high jump (5-8) and Karl Wukie the long jump (19-10).

Harrison was strong in the weight events. Blazo Sarcevic threw the shot put 48-1 and captured first place, and teammate Tony Shaleb won the discus with a toss of 134-4.

The Hawks also won the pole vault as the trio of Tom Weaver, Dana Herman and Dave Gloetzer reached 8-0 and tied for first.

Harrison's lone win in the running events came in the 100 dash in which track

Marcus Bolar had an 11.0 time. He also figured in his team's two relay triumphs.

Brad Owens, Bolar, Dante Anderson and Art Cayce won the 400 relay (45.7), and it was Bolar, Joe George, Owens and Roy Granger winning the 800 with a 1:34 time.

BRIAN URYGA and Steve Burlison led the Salem boys, each winning two events.

Uryga's wins came in the 1600 and 3200 runs in which had times of 4:38.6 and 10:26, respectively. Burlison won the high hurdles (15.8) and the 200 dash (23.8).

The Rocks dominated in the running events. Justin Fisher won the 100 dash (11.6), Joe Pawluszka the 400 sprint (53.68) and Mike Patterson the 800 run (2:05.6). In addition, Jeff Minor won the low hurdles (43.1) for Salem.

The Rocks also won two field events. Rob Casler took first place in the discus (128-2) and Leon Hister the long jump (21-1 1/4).

Salem's lopsided win was largely due to its sweep of the relays.

Fisher, Hister, Pat Bowie and Matt Perron comprised the 400 unit (45.6), and the 800 team (1:36.8) consisted of Mike Cygon, Andy Rojas, Burlison and Scott Austin.

Scott Robertson, Mike Rafail, John Hoffmeyer and Eric Lacy finished the 1600 relay in 4:34.9, and Patterson, Todd Cimmo, Pawluszka and Brendon Masterson completed the 3200 race in 8:40.14.

North's only victories came in the field events. Todd Pawlowski won the shot put (44-9) and Tony Catchings the high jump (6-0). Salem forfeited nine points in the pole vault since it doesn't practice and compete in that event.

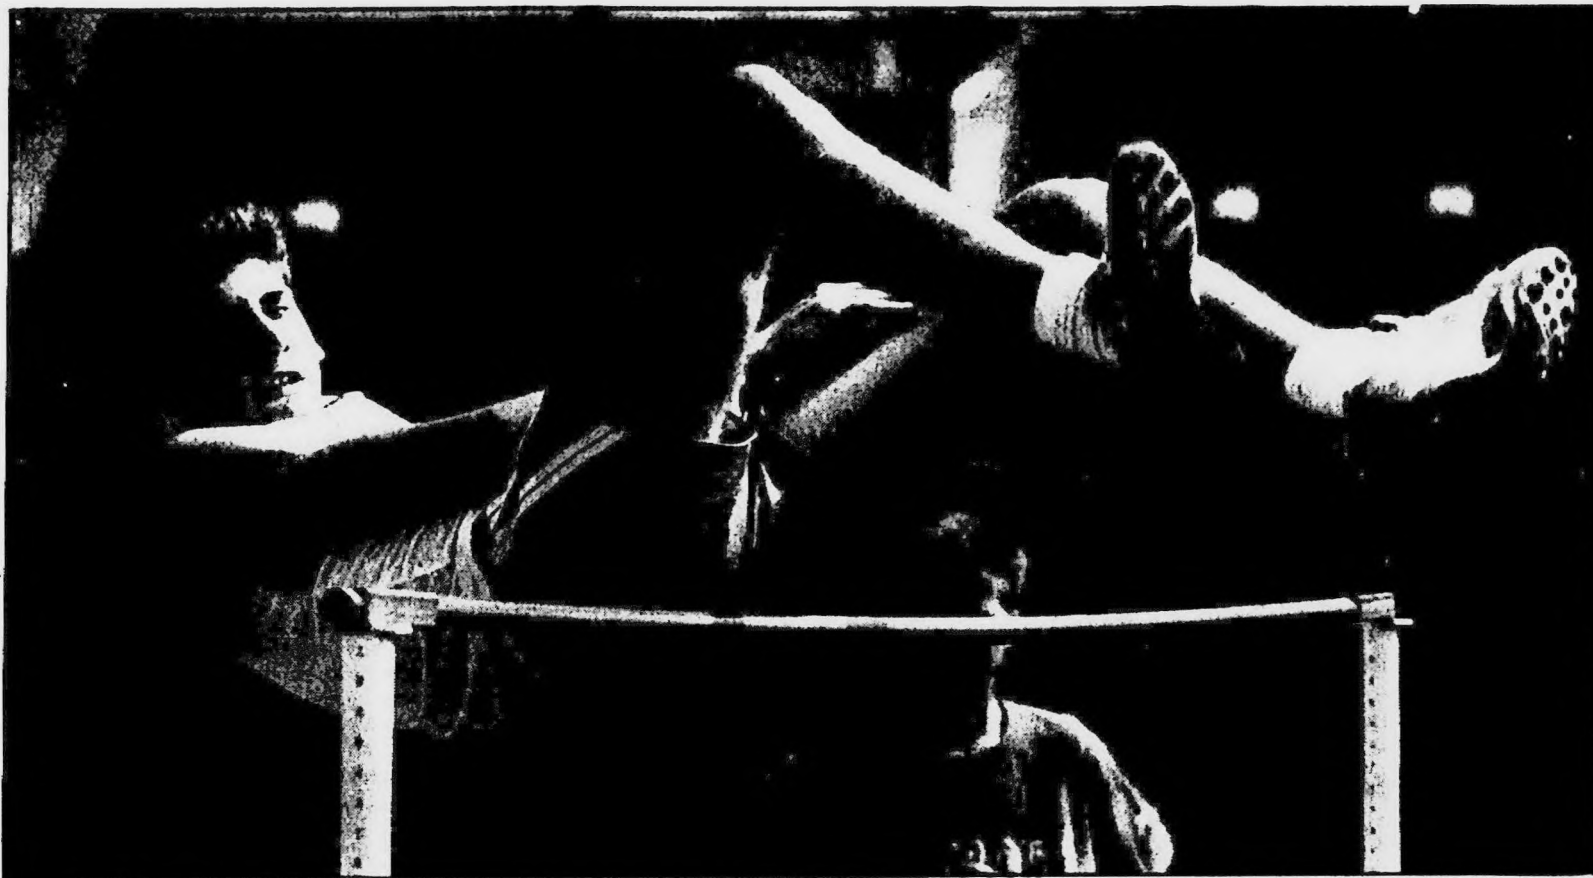

FARMINGTON HAD won the city meet and its first dual against Ferrisdale and nearly kept the streak intact Thursday.

Stevenson won the 1600 relay, the final event, in 3:37.2 while the Falcons finished in 3:40.

Farmington dominated the field events and had double winners in Dave Winey and Jason Gutting.

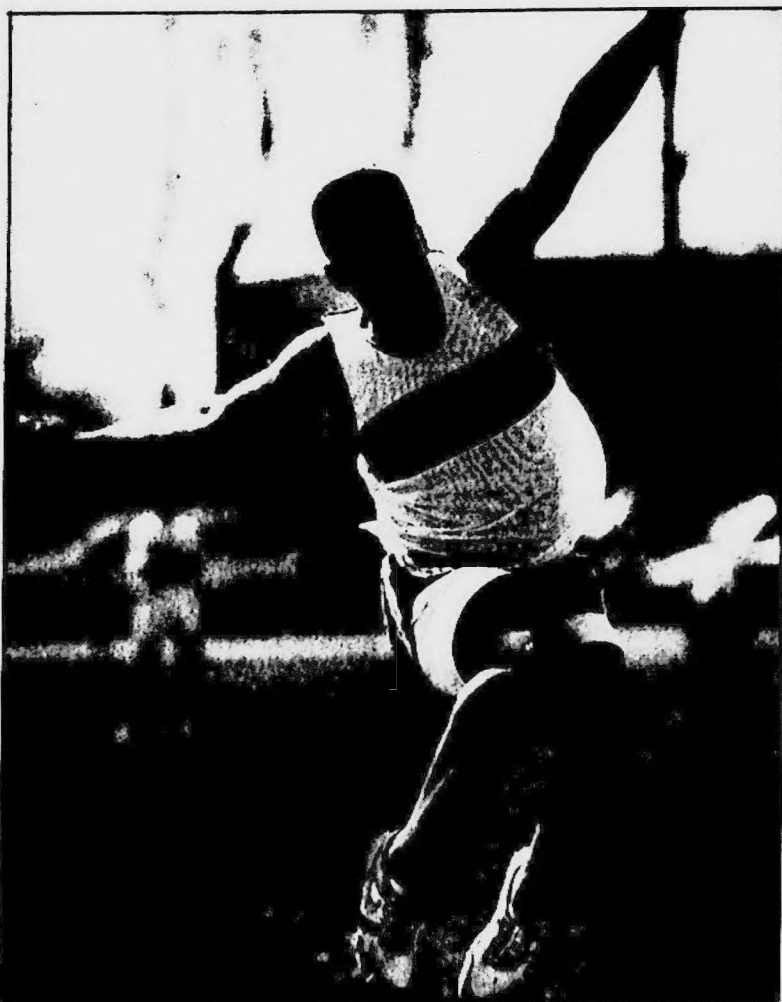

Winey was first in the 100 and 200 dashes with times of 11.6 and 23.9, respectively, and Gutting took top honors in the discus (133-6) and the Justin Fischer of Salem gives it his best effort in the high jump. Fischer won the 100-meter dash.

The Rocks won all but two events in which they competed and crushed the Raiders 103-34.

Salem defeats N. Farmington

When Plymouth Salem goes against Livonia Stevenson in girls track and field in two weeks, the meet will do a lot to decide the Lakes Division champion.

While the Rocks whipped host North Farmington 92-36 Thursday, Stevenson, the defending Lakes dual-meet champ, recorded an impressive victory over visiting Farmington, 77-51.

The Falcons, who can't be counted out yet either, are the defending Western Lakes Activities Association champions.

Jennifer Harris set a school record in the high jump and won both hurdles races to pace Salem's win in the division opener.

Harris jumped 5-4 1/2 to break the record of 5-4, which she and Cindy McSureley shared. She also won the 100-meter hurdles in 15.9 and the 300 hurdles in 48.3.

In other field events, Salem's Christina Simpson won the shot put (28-10) and Tracey Livermore the long jump (16-4 1/2).

Only all-stater Lisa Rives could keep the Rocks from winning every running event. She was first in the 1600 run with a 5:39 time.

Otherwise, Salem won all the rest: Yolanda Jackson the 100 dash (12.8), Andrea Kinnely the 200 dash (28.4), Martha Bol the 400 sprint (67.0), Stacey Wittthoff the 800 run (2:38.2) and Tammy Hickey the 3200 endurance test (12:27.8).

The Rocks also won three of the relays. The foursome of Kim Ploucha, Tonya Wheeler, Livermore and Jackson won the 400 and 800 races in 53.6 and 1:55.1, respectively. Bol, Theresa Giacherio, Dana Driscoll and Wheeler did the 1600 relay in 4:34.4.

North's Adrienne Mocello won the discus (104-6), and the 3200 relay team of Jenny Weh, Tracey Mitchell, Lisa Wantuck and Emily Shively won with a 10:53.2 time.

STEVENSON WON three relays and seven individual events, including two by Jessann Martin, who threw the shot put 34-5 and the discus 116-5.

Debbie Walsh, Lisa Christensen, Becky Adamczyk and Tracy Clark had solo wins and were instrumental in Stevenson's relay success.

Christensen won the 300 hurdles (50.8), Walsh the 100 dash (14.1),

CEP soccer teams rout Walled Lake foes

In the wake of their 2-2 tie on Monday, Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton were winners again later in the week.

Their victories came at the expense of the Western Lakes Activities Association cellar dwellers, however. Salem trounced Walled Lake Central 8-1, and Canton blanked Walled Lake Western 6-0.

Erin Harvey scored the game's first three goals for the Rocks, 1-0 in the division and 2-0-2 overall. Mandy Drummond got the next two, Michele Minton recorded her first goal and Kim Goff and Jenny Emmett finished the scoring.

The game was scoreless for the first 27 minutes at Centennial Educational Park, but Harvey gave Salem a 2-0 halftime lead. Goff and Drummond assisted on the first-half goals.

Harvey took a pass from Minton to begin the scoring in the second half. Drummond got the next two — the first on a penalty kick and the other with an assist from Kris Goff — to make it 5-0.

MINTON, THE all-state forward, has played in only two games this year. Two early games were postponed because of weather, and she missed two others while touring Europe with the Midwest Olympic Development team.

After she made it 6-0, Salem coach Ken Johnson replaced Emmett with Sara Egloff in goal. Jenny Oleksiak assisted on Goff's goal, and Emmett, who persuaded Johnson to let her play forward, finished the scoring with an unassisted tally.

"We did OK, as well as we expected," Johnson said. "We played pretty decent. Our experience and skill level showed through."

Christina Reilly and Jenny Russell paced Canton's victory at Western. Reilly scored two goals, and Russell had one goal and two assists.

The Chiefs, 2-0 in the Western Division and 3-0-1 overall, took a 5-0 halftime lead.

Leah Hutko and Lynne Nichols started the scoring, and Reilly and Russell combined for the next three. Ayana Nash, Russell, Laurie McNamara and Nichols, respectively, had first-half assists. Reilly's second was unassisted.

Christina Stansell redirected a Russell pass for the only goal during the final 40 minutes. Reserve goalkeeper Kim Babut played the entire game and got credit for the shutout.

Canton's offense dominated the contest, and its defense was hardly tested. The Chiefs registered 45 shots on the Western goal, and the Warriors attempted only four shots.

Canton duo shares no-hitter

Senior Stacey Thompson and freshman Kelly Holmes combined for a no-hitter Thursday as Plymouth Canton blanked host Farmington Hills Harrison 18-0 in softball.

Thompson started and worked four innings, earning the victory. She struck out eight and Holmes, who pitched the last two innings, fanned six. They walked only two batters and hit one between them.

The Chiefs had 14 hits and benefited from 14 walks by losing pitcher Shelly Bouwens, who struck out seven.

Thompson helped her own cause at the plate, going 3-for-4 and collecting four RBI. She also stole five bases and scored three runs. Jenny Sekovich had two hits, two RBI and two runs.

Canton is 3-0 in the Western Division and 6-0 overall. Harrison is 0-3 and 0-6.

EMILY GIULIANI had three hits and Jenny Jencks drove in three runs Thursday as Plymouth Salem defeated visiting Farmington 9-2 for its first victory.

Giuliani, a sophomore right fielder, had a triple in four at-bats and two RBI. Jencks was 2-for-4 with a pair of doubles, and Eileen Lyons and Kristin Stackpoole also had two hits. Stackpoole had one RBI.

The Rocks, 1-2 in the Lakes Division and 1-5 overall, took a 4-2 lead with a three-run third inning and eventually made a winner of junior Andrea Welling, who allowed four hits and five walks in seven innings. She struck out two.

Lisa Gale went six innings, allowed seven runs and took the loss for Farmington, 1-2 and 2-5.

NORTH FARMINGTON won its fourth straight game Wednesday, defeating Walled Lake Central 5-4, before suffering its first loss Thursday to Livonia Stevenson.

The Raiders got what proved to be the winning run in the bottom of the fourth inning when Michelle Bohnke drew a two-out walk and later scored on a passed ball.

Jennifer Knapp and winning pitcher Jennifer Lydon had two hits apiece, and Knapp also drove in two runs. Eve Claar had a double and one RBI. Lydon scattered five hits while striking out three and walking three.

The losing pitcher, sophomore Carrie Cassinski, allowed six hits and four walks. She struck out eight, but the Central defense made four errors behind her. Cassinski also went 3-for-3 at the plate and had one RBI.

The Raiders swept a double-header from visiting Livonia Churchill, 11-0 and 3-2, Friday to raise their overall record to 6-1.

Sophomore Karen Seremet got her first varsity start in the first game and improved her pitching record to 2-0. She threw a four-hitter, struck out seven and walked four.

North had nine hits, two apiece from Dana Botwick and Army Post. Botwick scored three runs and Post had one RBI.

Lydon tossed a three-hitter in the nightcap for the Raiders. She fanned four and walked one. Botwick again had a hot bat, going 2-for-2 and driving in a run. Bohnke also had one RBI.

Steady Spartans upset North

It was quite simple, really — the reasons for Livonia Stevenson's 5-2 victory Thursday over host North Farmington.

The Spartans made fewer mistakes and, generally, played better softball.

"I told the girls before the game 'You don't have to do anything special; you just have to play like you did against Salem,'" Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit said.

The Spartans, 2-2 in the Lakes Division and 2-2 overall, had won that game 4-1 with a solid performance, and that's pretty much how they played Thursday in dealing North its first defeat in five games.

Kelly Cotter, the winning pitcher, held the Raiders to four hits and three walks in seven innings.

SHE STRUCK out three and let the defense make the plays behind her. Stevenson committed four errors, but none contributed to the North scoring.

"They were hitting the ball hard," Hebestreit said. "But we had the outfield playing in, and we cut off some of those bloop hits. Our catcher (Anna Nascimento) held them in check; they weren't running."

"Kelly Cotter was the key. She kept the walks to a minimum, and we can play when she does that. The defense was there. Cotter can pitch when people are doing their job."

The Raiders, 2-1 in the Lakes and 4-1 overall, had their most error-filled game with six miscues.

Losing pitcher Jennifer Lydon struggled through a poor first inning in which Stevenson scored three runs, and she scattered six hits over seven innings. She struck out seven and walked only two, but one walk came with the bases loaded in the first inning.

"We didn't have our heads in the game," North coach Dave Brubaker said. "We came out flat. We definitely took them lightly. We were hitting the ball OK, but they made the defensive plays on us early."

Italia had half of Stevenson's hits while going 3 for 4, and Carrie Palmisano had two hits.

THE SPARTANS were ahead from the start after its first three batters — Jackie Richardson, Italia and Beth Bisio — reached base and scored in the first inning in which they went through the batting order.

Bisio had an RBI single, Italia scored on a bases-loaded error and Lori Shingledecker.

"Nine batters — that was just a gift," Hebestreit said. "That set the tone. It was a 2-2 ballgame after that."

North errors allowed Rachael Al-lor and Gina Renko, pinch running for Palmisano, to score insurance runs in the fourth and fifth innings, respectively.

The Raiders had only two base runners in the first three innings, but Stevenson's alert play in the field erased the threat. Vikki Seamons, who had two hits, was thrown out by right fielder Bisio trying to stretch a single into a double, and Terri Gruca was cut down at third in a double play.

North got back-to-back RBI singles by Courtney Knapp and Seamons in the fourth to make it 4-2. The Raiders had runners at second and third with one out but left them stranded. North had runners at the corners with two out in the seventh but failed to score.

"THEY MADE some fine defensive plays," said Brubaker of the Spartans. "The girl bobbles the ball and the right fielder is right there to throw my girl out. That was a good play."

"We hesitated (running the bases). You hesitate, you lose. We want to be aggressive and pressure the other team into mistakes, but we were making too many mistakes ourselves."

"We were riding an emotional high coming into the game," he added, "and when you take a team lightly this is what happens."

Stevenson rolls

Adamczyk the 400 run (1:03.3), Clark the 1600 run (5:38.7) and A.J. Koritnik the 3200 run (12:39.1).

Walsh anchored the 400 relay team (54.3) that included Kim Nelson, Amy Pack and Nicole Todd, and she was the leadoff runner on the 800 relay (1:52.7) with Adamczyk, Nelson and Christensen following.

Christensen also anchored the 1600 unit that posted a 4:21.9 time. Todd, Clark and Julie Martin rounded out the foursome.

The Spartans were behind early in the meet, but "the turnaround began when we went 1-2-3 in the 100 dash," Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg said. "Then we won the 400 and 800 relays, and we went 1-2 in the 400.

"Right in the middle of the running events we turned things around real quick. The start of it was the 100. That was a surprise for us to do that in the sprints. I can't remember the last time we did that."

Shelli Gaul won two events for Farmington, the 100 hurdles (16.5) and the high jump (4-9). Sue Gibson was first in the long jump (14-9 1/4), Carrie Maier the 200 dash (28.4) and Jennifer Kiel the 1600 run (5:38.7).

The winning 3200 relay team also included Kiel. She, Jenny Derwinski, Cheryl Casaroll and Gretchen Clappison won the race with a 10:31.5 time.

Publinx qualifying dates

It may be difficult to believe, but sometime soon the weather will get warmer and golf season will be in full swing. So take note, female public links players: sectional qualifying tournaments for the 14th United States Women's Amateur Public Links Championship are set.

The qualifiers will be at three sites within the state, on three different dates: May 29 at Stonehedge Golf Course in Augusta; June 1 at Indian River Country Club in Indian River; and June 4 at Rattle Run Golf Course in St. Clair.

The U.S. Women's Amateur Public Links Championship will be June 20-24 at Hyland Hills Golf Course in Westminster, Co.

Sectional qualifying will consist of 18 holes of stroke play. The number of qualifying berths available at each site will be determined by the USGA after entries close May 9.

In conjunction with the sectional qualifiers, an age-group tournament will also be held, and will be open to any woman amateur with a valid USGA handicap.

Entries must be received by 5 p.m. May 9. Entry forms and additional information may be obtained by writing Sara Wald at 2050 Yorktown, Ann Arbor, 48105, or by calling 668-8571. Entries are also available at local public courses.

Boyle Chevy has new look for this year

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Boyle Chevrolet, a perennial power in men's modified fast-pitch softball, opens a new season tonight with some new faces and changes in its lineup.

Pitching has long been the team's strong suit, but that's where the change will be most noticeable.

Livonia's Curtis Richards and Canton's Al White had been the only pitchers in team history. They were major reasons why Boyle — until last year known as FGS Radiator and Compware before that — has done consistently well in the national tournament.

White, a world-class hurler who played for a Miami powerhouse last season, will be on the roster again, but the team will begin grooming his son, 22-year-old Curt White, as the pitcher of the future.

"I'd say he's ahead of what his father was at his age," said Dave Brubaker, an original team member. "When Al first came up, he could throw decent but he was wild. Curt has watched, he's learned and now he's doing."

RICHARDS voluntarily won't play for Boyle this year. Instead, he'll pitch for Little Caesars in Port Huron and play second base with A.J.'s Bar in the Livonia Men's Class A Modified League, which Boyle has long dominated.

Richards on the mound almost guaranteed victory for Boyle, but it didn't do much to promote a competitive atmosphere, according to Brubaker.

"It was a deterrent to the game around here," he said. "Class B teams didn't want to come up and play, because they didn't have a pitcher to compete."

Al White will be available to pitch in the big games, but the younger White and Brubaker, who has always played catcher, will otherwise do the pitching.

"We're out there to be competitive," said Brubaker, a 1973 Churchill grad who coaches the North Farmington girls softball team. "If we have to go toe to toe and slug it out with some of these teams, that's what we'll do. "I'm not about to give up catching, though. My knees are fine I'll be 35 this year, but I can still play."

IN ADDITION to Brubaker and Curt White, Boyle returns Rick Dreher, Mike Kesson, Keith McManaway, Jim Stoitsiadis, Steve Dawson and Tim Bowden, an Air Force pilot who will be in Arizona for flight training until the end of July.

One of the newcomers but a veteran in terms of age and experience is Jim Foster, 34. A former baseball teammate of Brubaker at Churchill, he was the most valuable player in the Western Six League in 1973.

Boyle also has added Tim Robinson, Doug Kirkpatrick, Dwayne Bennett, Brian Dawson, Brian Tiller and 6-foot-4, 230-pound Ron Wandzel, a former Catholic Central and Northwood Institute football player.

"It's a new look; it's a youth movement," Brubaker said. "This year we figured it was time to make some changes and get some youth into the lineup."

"We're going to try and teach these guys how to play the game and, hopefully, carry on the tradition of excellence."

Boyle will compete in the annual BP's National Invitational in Atlanta on Memorial Day weekend for the eighth consecutive year. Boyle was 12th last year but had finished as high as second in other years.

"The young guys are gung-ho," Brubaker said. "They want to see this competition so we're going."

Boyle has been to the national tournament in Miami seven years in a row, too, finishing seventh last year. The team also won a tournament in Fostoria last summer.

During the regular season, Boyle will play in the Livonia league every Monday night and the Plymouth Modified League on Wednesdays. Boyle was the league and playoff winner in Livonia last year but finished second behind Total Foods in the Plymouth circuit.

Farmington's Ryan Adams won the high jump (5-6) and Eric Meyer the long jump (19-7 1/2). Paul Rockwood of Stevenson was the pole vault winner (10-0).

The Falcons were best in three other individual events. Dave Clinard won the 1600 run (4:54), Joe Miller the high hurdles (16.2) and Mario Nordini the 3200 run (11:06.4).

Farmington managed only one relay victory, that coming in the 3200 in which Don Sweeney, Matt Langdon, Dave Link and Eric Crawford put together an 8:41.4 time.

Stevenson winners included Rodney Westlake in the 400 run (52.6) and Scott Freeborn in the 800 run (2:08.2). The Spartans ran the 800 relay in 1:36.8 and the 400 relay in 47.1.

End of season doesn't mean end of bowling

NOW THAT THE regular season is winding down, it does not have to end just yet for those that wish to keep on bowling. The spring and summer leagues are now forming at most of the area's centers with a lot to offer at a smaller price. The "off-season" leagues can have a lot of appeal to those who do not want to lose their rhythm, or maybe just want to improve their game under competitive conditions. Spring and summer leagues are usually of short duration, 10 to 12 weeks, with something for every bowler. Merri-Bowl in Livonia has a senior citizens no-tap league beginning at 12:30 p.m. Monday, May 14. The cost is only $2.75 per week, plus point money. The center also offers mixed, youth, competitive men's, house, trio and afternoon ladies leagues, complete with nursery and baby sitting. Cloverlanes in Livonia has a "His 'n Hers" fun league beginning May 10 where every bowler receives a get away night at the end of the league season. Cloverlanes also offers a "Moms" league at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, which features a videotaping session. Do bring the kid: who can sign up for a one-hour summer league. Toddlers can be taken care of in the nursery, no charge.

in a pleasant environment. Town and Country Lanes in Westland has a "Battle of the Sexes" league where three men bowl against three women every other week. The other week is divided along sex lines. Woodland Lanes in Livonia has a full schedule of spring and summer leagues ranging from bumper bowlers to top classic bowlers. An interesting league is "Newcomers" (meet your neighbor) with free baby-sitting at 7:30 p.m. on Fridays. Also at 7:30 p.m. Friday is a league for teens (13-18 year-olds). Another bowling center, Beech Lanes in Redford, will close for the summer and re-open by mid-August. The Inter-Lodge Masonic League lost a good man last week as Ami Goldirsch passed away. He took up bowling later in life, starting out as a 50-year-old beginner. His average improved each year as he learned the game, not to mention his enjoyment from winning a few jackpots. He will be missed by the Inter-Lodge group. The Michigan Junior Masters Association held fort recently at Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield. The winner in the girls division was Michelle Ewald (St. Clair Shores, who defeated Tamika Glenn of Farmington Hills in match play). Dustin Bowerman of Lansing downed Nick Reeser of Lansing to win the boys crown.

Ask The Doctor? Headaches

Dear Dr. Gover,

I'm 46 years old, fairly active, have a good job and bring home headaches, along with the bacon. I've tried exercising after work to reduce tension, aspirin, and even a cocktail but the tight neck and stress headaches continue. Am I a candidate for chiropractic?

Mr. L.J. - Canton

Dear Dr. Gover,

I am 33 years old and for the last fourteen years have been waking up with a sick headache, about once a week. Lately though, they have been coming more frequently. I've increased the amount of motrin and other painkillers but they no longer seem to work. Can chiropractic help me?

Mrs. C.M. - Plymouth

There are several major types of headaches. Vascular headaches consisting of migraine and cluster result in pain associated with the expansion of the blood vessels of the head and neck and can be linked with chemical events in the brain.

Migraines are associated with throbbing pain, nausea, vomiting, sensitivity to light, sounds, smell, irritability, blurred vision, and a sore tight neck. The triggers for a migraine can be any of the following: change in sleep patterns - too much or too little, caffeinated foods such as chocolate and vanilla or beverages like coffee, tea, colas, or citrus juices, preservatives like monosodium glutamates, alcohol, cigarette smoking, weather changes, exertion, motion, bright lights, and nerve pressure.

Cluster Headaches are most common in men. They typically occur in the same location and are associated with sharp pain but for a shorter duration than migraines. In addition, one eye usually becomes irritated and red and one side of the nose runs. The cause of these headaches can be relaxation following a stressful activity or event, kinking of the neck causing nerve pressure.

Another variety of headache is the Tension Headache. This headache is often associated with muscle spasms caused by the misalignment of the neck and upper back and shoulders, these headaches may occur daily and result in a dull pain. The trigger is often linked to stress, but depression, teeth grinding, and nerve pressure also are culprits.

Rebound Headache is another type which has been linked to prolonged daily use of pain killers, decongestants, ergotamines and even caffeine. The headache occurs when the drug is not taken on the anticipated schedule.

Mr. L.J., yes, you are a candidate for chiropractic. Your "stress headache" and tight neck muscles are indicative of the Tension Headache. Tension Headaches result from nerve pressure and while stress at work is a major contributor, aspirin and cocktails are not the answer. You may consider breaking up your daily routine by stretching every two hours, reducing caffeine intake and seeing a chiropractor to gently remove nerve pressure.

Mrs. C.M., chiropractic can help. From your description you may be suffering from both vascular and rebound type headaches. Since you wake with headaches, you may be kinking your neck at night, resulting in pressure on both nerves and arteries of the neck. See your chiropractor for a detailed study and let me know how things turn out.

Chiropractic can help reduce headaches by realigning the spine and removing the cause of the nerve pressure. Many types of headaches can be controlled or eliminated and without the side effects of painkillers or the risk of rebound headaches.

RECYCLING IS GOOD NEWS:

Overcrowded landfills. Garbage barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.
Bad news.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle.

It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation:

1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.
2. 25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.
3. Our employees have begun to routinely put office paper (memos, computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets.

Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

Here is a list of recycling centers in the Observer & Eccentric circulation area. Please call the center nearest you for guidance in preparing your recyclables—

NEWSPAPERS

What do an apple, a cow, and a car door have in common?

Recycled newspapers play a role in all three. Apple growers in the northwest use recycled newsprint for packing, farmers use it for bedding instead of straw and auto manufacturers use it in car doors. There are many uses for your used newspapers, why not start saving them today?

Dr. Daniel Barry of the University of Michigan Medical Center used a computer to develop his concept of liquid cushioning in a special plastic pad in the sole of a shoe to serve as a shock absorber.

Hydro-flow is putting 'cush' in your shoes

By William Coutant
staff writer

You could say he has carried his foot fetish to extremes. Or maybe he is just a frustrated basketball player at heart who has taken great strides to improve his game.

But Dr. Daniel Barry, an assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the University of Michigan Medical Center, may have helped more than a few amateur athletes jump a little higher and run a little further with fewer injuries. At least the Brooks Athletic Shoe Company thinks so.

Brooks athletic shoes use the "Hydro-flow" technology Barry helped develop to make their shoes cushion the blow of feet pounding on pavement. The shoe has helped him to new heights on the basketball court, although he can't quite dunk a basketball.

Barry, a researcher and inventor, said the idea came indirectly out of his work with prosthetics (artificial limbs). A Ph.D. in electrical engineering and a medical doctor, Barry has combined the two disciplines to build better limb replacements. But he found the fake legs were sometimes better than the real thing.

"Patients would tell me, 'You know, my prosthetic leg feels livelier than my other leg. Can't you do something for my good leg.'"

Yes, he could.

Barry said the idea of air, water and gel cushioning for shoes has been around since the late 19th Century. But the technology to make a workable, affordable shoe using that technology has only come to the fore in recent years.

Nike and Reebok have used air to advantage, and Tiger Asics uses gel in some of its models. But those systems are based on "energy return," which is not as efficient as the Hydro Flo system, where a liquid not only cushions the blow, but spreads the impact throughout the foot rather than send it back up the leg, he said.

Ray Fredericksen, a researcher for Brooks, said his testing at the Michigan State University biomechanics lab has shown the liquid system to be 40 percent better than others.

Fredericksen said Brooks has compiled a data base over the past few years that along with the development of new materials, has brought shoe technology a long way in a short time.

"We knew the problem (of impact)," he said. "The idea was to spread that over time."

BILL HANSEN

As far as being a music bar, Finney's Pub, across the street from the Detroit Medical Center complex on Woodward Avenue, is a cozy place to see favorite band.

FINNEY'S PUB

Rock'n'roll with a dash of Jiffy Pop

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Somehow, it's reassuring to look out from the front window at Finney's Pub in Detroit and see five hospitals. Where better, we ask, to be stricken with a heart attack or appendicitis while drinking a beer?

There are other things to like about Finney's Pub, which is smack dab across the street from the Detroit Medical Center complex on Woodward Avenue. The beer's cold. The barkeep is friendly. The atmosphere is cozy.

Perhaps that can be said about a number of bars that serve popcorn. But how many watering holes actually serve Jiffy Pop? Finney's does at $1.50 for an aluminum plateful.

"Is this stuff great or what," said Glynn Scanlon of Livonia, offering some of his popcorn to a person at the bar.

Granted, you could probably use sodium saturated snack to de-ice the sidewalk outside, but all the reason to order a few more drafts. The popcorn and alternative rock combo is tough to beat on a Saturday night.

As a music bar, Finney's Pub is a cozy place to see favorite band. Music groups perform in a place off to the side referred to as the "recovery room," but the enclave is where bands do their best ear surgery.

The room is small, but the acoustics bouncing off the brick walls are fine.

ACCORDING TO Sue Summers, who books bands into Finney's, The Gear, the Reputations and 3-D Invisibles draw the biggest crowds. She also schedules out-of-town acts as well.

But she added, "I'll book anything. I'll give anybody a chance."

On this night, we're treated to a triple bill of the Sensitive Big Guys, Static Alphabet and the Idiots — who all have Livonia roots. The music of the Sensitive Big Guys is too loud, so we retreat to the main operating room of the pub.

There, a group of women in leather jackets and two-tone hair sit around a pitcher of beer at one table. At another table is a pair of studious looking college students. The place draws heavily from the suburbs and from nearby Wayne State University.

Apparently, doctors, nurses and other employees from the nearby hospitals drop by for a post-op pop and a little rock. "Those are the regulars," Summers said. "Some of them come for the dinner hour and end up staying."

By day, Finney's Pub takes on flavor of a full service neighborhood haunt. Hospital personnel pack the place during the day and early evening.

A FULL lunch and dinner menu features of sandwiches, salads and soups. Daily specials for Mexican fare and pizza are popular, according to owner Paul Judd.

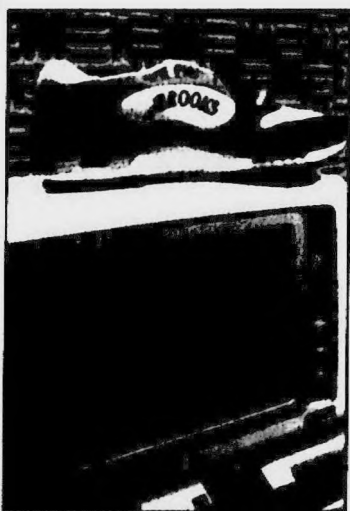

On Tuesday and Thursdays, Finney's Pub has four dart leagues going. During the summer, the Pub sponsors 12 softball teams who play in a park by the Detroit Medical Center.

Friday and Saturday, live music can be heard. Doctors, chemists, animal research folks, pharmacists and the odd professor or two usually head home on Friday night.

Then there are those who stay.

The Hydro Flo system shoe.

By William Coutant

If it seems like athletic shoes have now found their own place in the world of fashion, changing like hemlines and popular colors. There are reasons.

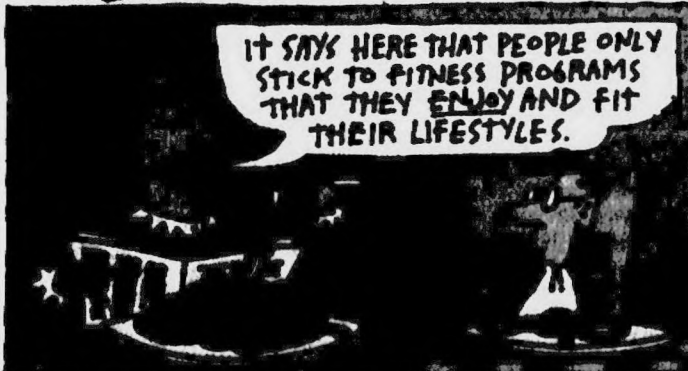

It hasn't been that many years since University of Oregon track coach Bill Bowerman used a waffle iron to create a new, more stable and cushioning sole for running shoes, which Nike called the "waffle trainer."

In the past few years, lighter, stronger and more durable materials have been used to improve the shoes dramatically. And the use of air, gel and liquid as ways to cushion the footstrike has not only helped the athlete use the energy returned to jump higher and

During a business trip to Rio, Emily Reed (Carre Otis) falls in love with the mysterious, seductive James Wheeler (Mickey Rourke) in "Wild Orchid."

'Q & A:' A lot of questions and not a lot of answers

The premise of "Q & A" (F, R, 130 minutes) is that all police are corrupt, shakedown artists and/or sadist, all politicians are self-serving attorneys, and finally, that Manhattan — and all other urban areas — are jungles populated exclusively by homosexual drug addicts, prostitutes, gangsters, drug dealers and, of course, by the aforementioned corrupt officials who are society's last line of defense.

If you buy that you may not be as insulted as I was by this film's confused plot and violent, mean spirit. It is really quite incredible that director/scenarist Sidney Lumet, whose rich and extensive filmography includes "The Pawnbroker," "Network" and "Running on Empty," believes audiences will sit still for a film so poorly structured that revision and confusion are the two major emotions it evokes.

Now for the bad news. Lt. Mike Brennan (Nick Nolte) murders a hoodlum as the film opens and the remaining two hours are spent trying to explain why. The title, in case anyone wonders (or cares), refers to court stenographers shorthand for the question and answer dialogue which is at the heart of police investigations when officers shoot people.

"Q & A" is long on questions and very short on answers. Chief of the New York City District Attorney's Homicide Bureau, Kevin Quinn (Patrick O'Neal), assigns young assistant D.A. Al Reilly (Timothy Hutton) to manage the investigation. Two detectives, Sam Chapman (Charles Dutton) and Luis Valentine (Luis Guzman), are assigned to help him. The only thing easy in this film is figuring out which one is black and which one is Hispanic. Reilly, Quinn and Brennan, of course, are Irish while the court stenographer, the mob attorney and Reilly's mentor in the department are Jewish.

THAT'S THE basis for lots of ethnic ribbing, some of which is funny, some of which is difficult to understand and some of which reflects the tension in multi-racial ethnic urban mixes.

When he's not working, Reilly pines for his long lost girl, Nancy Bosch (Jenny Lumet), who is now "married" to Bobby Texador (Armand Assante), a drug dealer of considerable clout. In fact, he's so tough, he comes down to the police station for questioning without an attorney. In any event, that's the main crowd. I won't (can't) explain why Police Lt. Brennan is running around threatening, beating and shooting people. It's not that I'm avoiding revealing the ending, it's just that the film is so confused no one would believe that all this mayhem is about a skinny street punk who became a major public official.

The answer is that "Q & A" contains 130 minutes of graphic violence, frightening threats of violence, plus and unclear, tangled plot and assorted other unpleasantness. Anyone foolish enough to submit themselves to such agony deserve the problem of puzzling this one out on their own.

But it is a shame that such a talented cast has been assembled and directed in this awful mess by someone with Sidney Lumet's talent and credits.

WE MAY BE forgiven for skipping the midnight screening a week ago of "The Guardian" (R). This story of an evil nanny is designed to prey on the fears of every young parent, namely, that those who care for their children are not to be trusted. Noted filmmaker and Oscar winner William Friedkin ("The French Connection," "The Exorcist") directed.

While we're on the subject of unpleasantness, every decent person ought to have an innate distaste for Mickey Rourke, who is carving his niche in film history as the ultimate sleaze.

The stereotype begun in "9½ Weeks," "Angel Heart," "Johnny Handsome" and "Homeboy" is continued here in "Wild Orchid" (R, *). Unfortunately, Rourke's decadent characters generally are showcased in pretty spectacular settings with good production values.

"Wild Orchard," with Rourke as a mysterious, seductive financier, is set in Brazil and co-stars Jacqueline Bisset portraying "a passionate and uninhibited international banker" — honest that's how the press materials describe her. Once audiences accept that, the rest is easy and fashion model Carre Otis with her deep décolletage quickly impresses viewers as an "innocent young lawyer." Ah well, sleaze sells.

On a lighter note, "Spaced Invaders" (PG) is a clever idea. Martians intercept a 50th Anniversary rebroadcast of Orson Wells famous "War of the Worlds" program which supposedly told of a Martian invasion in 1938. The Martians take this broadcast as their signal to invade. The complications should prove delightful.

STILL PLAYING:

- "Angel Town" (*, R). A new twist on martial arts.
- "Born on the Fourth of July" (A) (R) 144 minutes. Touching, graphically disturbing, poignant, frightening autobiography of Ron Kovic (Tom Cruise), a paraplegic Viet Vet.
- "Camille Claudé" (R). Oscar-nominated (Best Actress and Foreign Film) story of Auguste Rodin's mistress, a sculptress in her own right.
- "Cinema Paradiso" (A-, 120 minutes). Excellent story of Alfredo (Philippe Noiret), the projectionist in a small Sicilian town just after World War II.
- "Crazy People" (C-, R, 90 minutes). Ad exec (Dudley Moore) proves that mental patients are nicer than sane people but weak and underdeveloped structure undercuts that humorous thought.
- "Cry-Baby" (B-, PG-13). Stylish, nostalgic piece about teens in the 50s.
- "Driving Miss Daisy" (A) (PG) 100 minutes. Fine acting highlights personal drama of Jewish widow (Jessica Tandy) chauffeured by a black man (Morgan Freeman) set against southern changes from 1948-1973.
- "Ernest Goes to Jail" (*, PG). Because someone stole his identity.
- "The First Power" (D, R, 95 minutes). Executed serial killer returns for revenge against cop (Lou Diamond Phillips) who put him away in the first place.
- "The Gods Must Be Crazy II" (B-, PG, 97 minutes). Sequel is attractive but too much simple-minded comedy detracts from parable about conflict between industrial and natural societies.
- "Glory" (A) (R) 110 minutes. The glory of the first black infantry regiment during the Civil War is captured in this outstanding film.
- "The Handmaid's Tale" (B-) (R) 109 minutes. Compelling, but structurally flawed futuristic tale of American gone wrong with permissiveness, pollution and radiation.
- "The Hunt for Red October" (C-) (PG) 135 minutes. Confusing underwater sequences are as murky as this tale of Soviet sub commander (Sean Connery) trying to defect.

Wiseman focuses on 'Death'

By John Monaghan
special writer

For more than two decades, documentary filmmaker Frederick Wiseman has turned an unblinking eye on such American institutions as the missile base, department store, high school and juvenile court. His new film, "Near Death," focuses on the terminally ill with painfully realistic results.

Like many of Wiseman's films, "Near Death" debuted on public television. Critical acclaim secured a recent release at Ann Arbor's Michigan Theatre (where Wiseman answered questions after a screening). The six-hour long epic arrives at 1 p.m. this Sunday at the Detroit Film Theatre.

"Near Death" takes place in the intensive care unit of Boston's Beth Israel Hospital, where doctors and families decide the shaky futures of the terminally ill. Drugs and machines keep them alive, raising the question of "quality of life" and the futility of simply "existing."

THE DOCTORS use phrases like "we never know the future for sure, but..." to the grieving family members, who must ultimately arrive at a decision. Three of these families agreed to be filmed for the documentary, hoping that their experiences will help others face similarly grueling traumas.

Sometimes the medical talk is decidedly matter-of-fact. "Your lungs are about as bad as they can get," a nurse tells an 83-year-old patient. "I want to help you, but I only want to help you in a manner which you want to be helped. I don't want to keep you alive unless you are living."

Documentary filmmaker Frederick Wiseman turns unblinking eye on terminally ill patients, their families and the staff of Beth Israel Hospital in "Near Death."

One of the many surprises in "Near Death" is discovering which bedside manner is more effective. A doctor repeats the same compassionate words of solace from one family to another. Another doctor may be more straightforward, perhaps blunt, but the most caring in the individual situations.

Not all of the patients at Beth Israel are elderly. A 33-year-old husband and father had a bad reaction to a medication. He has only days to live. What was basically a fatal medical complication weighs heavily not only on the family but also on the doctors.

UNLIKE CONVENTIONAL documentaries, Wiseman's doesn't rely on flashing editing to keep an audience glued to the screen. You get the sense that Wiseman only cuts when his camera runs out of film. He uses black and white film and nearly no musical score.

For Wiseman, the real drama comes through the flowing of the situations, which he observes objectively — a cinematic fly on the wall. What he has recorded serves as a numbing reminder of the life-and-death situations almost everyone is forced to face.

"The Entertainer" (Britain — 1960), 7 and 9:30 p.m. May 4-5. Laurence Olivier is perhaps his greatest role as Archie Rice — a lewd, second-rate vaudevillian who tries to run the lives of those around him. Written by John Osborne, directed by Tony Richardson and presented here in a pristine wide screen print.

"Near Death" (USA — 1989), 1 p.m. May 8. Documentary filmmaker Frederick Wiseman focuses on the families, doctors and patients in an intensive care unit at Boston's Beth Israel Hospital. A true epic at six hours long.

HENRY FORD CENTENNIAL LIBRARY, 16301 Michigan Ave., Dearborn. Call 943-2330 for information. (Free.)

"The Man Who Knew Too Much" (Britain — 1935), 7 p.m. April 30. A vacationing family accidentally gets mixed up in an assassination plot led by a fiendish Peter Lorre. This early Hitchcock classic was later remade by the director in the 1950s.

for information. (Free.)

"Mildred Pierce" (USA — 1945), 10 a.m. May 1. Joan Crawford as the mother who sacrifices all to give her daughter all the things she never had. Little does she realize that she has created a monster. A classic tear-jerker directed by Michael Curtiz.

REDFORD THEATRE, 17360 Lasher, Detroit. Call 537-2560 for information. ($2.50)

"The Music Man" (USA — 1962), 8 p.m. (organ recital at 7:30 p.m.) May 4-5. Meredith's Wilson's hit musical play comes to the screen with color and warmth. Robert Preston is the bogus music man who takes River City, Iowa, by storm. "Goodnight My Someone," "Lida Rose," "Till there Was You" and the show-stopping "76 Trombones" highlight the songs.

SOUTHFIELD PUBLIC LIBRARY, 2600 Evergreen, Southfield. Call 354-9100 for information. ($2.50 season membership)

"Idiot's Delight" (USA — 1939), 7:30 p.m. May 3. In this adaptation of the Robert Sherwood play, a gang of very disparate characters are forced to share each other's company in an Italian hotel on the eve of World War II. A strange mix of comedy and pacifist sentiments starring Norma Shearer, Burgess Meredith and Clark Gable, who performs a memorable song-and-dance to "Puttin' on the Ritz." Shown here on big screen video. Concluding the current library season.

TELE-ARTS THEATRE, 1540 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 963-8690 for information. ($3.50, $2.50 students and senior citizens on weekends, $2 Wednesdays and Thursdays)

"Henry: Portrait of a Serial Killer" (USA — 1986), May 2-5 (call for show times). Loosely based on a true story, this gruesome film chronicles the life of a mass murderer (wonderfully underplayed by Michael Rooker). Though done with considerably more style than your standard slasher picture, "Henry" walks the thin line between art and pornography.

"Letter to the Next Generation" (USA — 1990), May 3-5 (call for show times). This independently made documentary recounts the Kent State massacre, opening on the date of its 20th anniversary. It also contrasts the politically active students of yesterday with the materialistic ones of today.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

For those who view television as background entertainment, well, Academy Entertainment has two just-for-you on the video racks May 3.

"Rebel Storm" (R, 1989, color, 99 minutes) is a look at the future that is short on originality and bears too much resemblance to "A Handmaid's Tale" and a number of other post-apocalyptic films.

In this instance the apocalypse is the ascension to the White House of a hereditary line of evangelical rulers. When "Rebel Storm" opens in 2099, that line is represented by the Blessed Reverend Jimmie Joe II (Rod McCary) whose rule is enforced by shock troops roaring around on motorcycles and in rather decrepit vans. Their garb is somewhere between Darth Vader and the Roman arena.

Their leader, Don Waldo (John Rhys Davies), is a sadistic fanatic who will stop at nothing to repress and eliminate the Kropfelders. The latter, it turns out, sum up everything abhorrent to fundamentalists — atheistic rock'n'roll and sexuality.

Things get pretty silly when a film's dramatic focus and political turning point is popular music. Elliot Kropfeld, it turns out, was a rock'n'roll disc jockey who refused to knuckle under when the Christian evangelists assumed power.

The Reverend Jimmie Joe and his well-to-do supporters profess fundamental Christian values but hypocritically live a decadent life with, for example, a copy of "Playboy" selling for $120,000. Scapegoating the Kropfelders is a major technique of this corrupt ruling elite.

THE GOVERNMENTAL fiction is that the Kropfelders are anti-social monsters to be eliminated and there was no Kropfeld in the first place.

Enter the heroines of the Kropfeld undergound, the Hart sisters, Mila (June Chadwick) and Blaise (Elizabeth Keifer) whose mission is to discover VHS tapes which prove that Kropfeld existed. By coincidence they join up with two would-be heroes, the Cage brothers, Artie (Zach Gilligan) and recently paroled Joe (Wayne Crawford).

After all the usual shoot 'em up, desert chase sequences which are pretty well staged, well, do I have to tell you? Rock'n'roll may be where it's at but this film is simple-minded by any measure.

If you believe the premise of "Rebel Storm," however, you probably are so well anesthetized by the media that you won't question "Blown Away" (1989, color, PG-13, 92 minutes) and its preposterous assumption that high-fashion model Lauren La Salle (Loni Anderson) doesn't know that her husband, Rick (James Naughton), is a top-level drug dealer.

During several years of marriage, viewers are expected to believe, all these hard types landed at their country estate in helicopters and she never caught on. That's life in the suburbs with a major modeling career and a cute daughter.

When Lauren does overhear an incriminating discussion, she confronts Rick with her knowledge of his nasty occupation. His reaction, of course, is positively unfriendly when she raises the question of divorce and custody of their daughter.

GIVEN HIS refusal, she manages to slip away with $2 million in cash that conveniently happened to be in the house where she could get at it.

Lauren changes her identity, launders the two million bucks and takes flying lessons with Charlie (John Heard).

Of course, the next step is to evade Rick's gang of thugs and kidnap the baby. The finale of this epic is quite incredible.

No doubt these two tapes will make money with their clichéd but standard chase-and-shoot formula. Cars, trucks, vans, planes, choppers, bikes — everybody likes a good chase even if it's a replay of the last 17 chase sequences.

Of course, there is so much interest in tapes of every sort and so much money flows in that everyone is interested in being part of video cassette's success story. The large number of Oscar-nominated films available on tape this year prior to Awards night is an indication of the shift in the business from the box office to the home VCR.

But this kind of success bodes ill for the country's intellectual level. When anything sells, producers will sell everything.

STREET BEATS

Organized Rhymes consists of Ronnie "Ronnie B" Bryant of Detroit and Brad "D.J. B.A.M." Kallen of West Bloomfield.

'Burbs meets city in Rhymes

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

This rap has a rhyme and a reason. Perhaps that might not be clear at first. A duo of a black rapper and a white disc jockey might throw you. But when Ronnie B. takes to the mike and spews out his bitter poetry, ripe with images of city living, the message becomes clearer.

Organized Rhymes consists of Ronnie "Ronnie B." Bryant of Detroit and Brad "D.J. B.A.M." Kallen of West Bloomfield. Their alliance symbolizes a goal of uniting city and suburb, white and black — two areas that have become quite polarized.

"That's what we're doing," said Kallen, a 1988 graduate of West Bloomfield High School. "You think about it. I live in West Bloomfield and he (Ronnie B.) lives in Detroit. He only lives 10 minutes away, and yet, it's a culture shock."

The rap duo has a single out on Just Chillin' Records in Detroit and

Kallen said he's always had an interest in dance and rap music. He learned the art of spinning discs in part thanks to boxer Thomas Hearns. His mother, Jackie Kallen, served as the Kronk fighter's publicist.

YOUNG KALLEN practiced scratching on dated equipment until Hearns stepped in. Hearns gave Kallen some state-of-art stereo gear, including a pair of turntables.

"That was the best present in the whole world," Kallen said.

At one get-together, Kallen put on an instrumental record and Ronnie B. let loose with a torrent of rapper's prose for 10 straight minutes.

"He rapped off the top of his head," Kallen said.

"I just go into the studio and listen to the music," said Bryant, 18, who

Except these weren't merely a rhyme of obscure words. Most of the lines dealt with the cruelty of the streets, where children die with frequency and drug pushers have their own fiefdom.

Ronnie B. and Kallen collaborated on several numbers, one an anti-drug song "Walk Away." One day, the two had both just lost a friend. Brad had an acquaintance killed by a drunk driver, Ronnie B. a friend left dead by a bullet.

The end result turned out to be "That's Life," which is on the group's current single.

"We wanted to do a serious, realistic song — what you'd see in the streets," Kallen said.

KALLEN SAID Ronnie B. has a gift for lyrics. He's no slouch at the turntable, either. He continues to perfect his craft.

"Everything looks easier than it is," he said. "You have to have control of the record itself and do exactly what you want to hear . . . You have to train your ear and your mind to do it."

Kallen has his influences, ranging from Ice-T to Third Base, an all-white rap group. Ice-T, along with others such as Public Enemy and N.W.A., have come under criticism for the controversial nature of their music and for the violence at some of their shows.

Kallen doesn't feel rap music is natural catalyst for such incidents, blaming it instead on a few "drugged up" individuals who infiltrate shows. He hopes Organized Rhymes brings a much more positive image to rap.

Organized Rhymes will perform a series of shows at area schools, including an upcoming performance at Detroit Southwestern High School.

Like all local aspiring artists, Kallen envisions a major record deal, videos and stardom. One objective has already been achieved.

REVIEWS

READING, WRITING AND ARITHMETIC — The Sundays

The Sundays are a brilliant band. That's all need be said. But, for most, that simply won't do. Of course, people would like to know why.

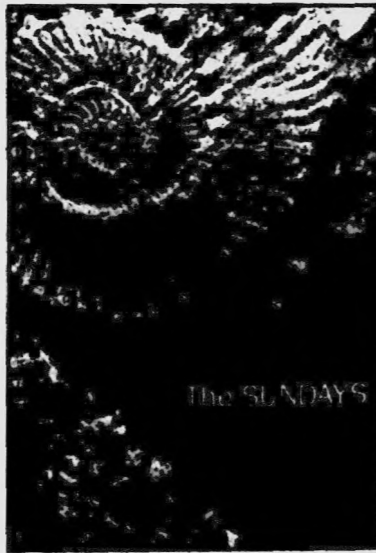

After countless listens to The Sundays' debut album "Reading, Writing and Arithmetic," (Geffen) the whys to The Sundays' joyous music outnumber succinct answers. And, therein lies the beauty.

The Sundays hail from North London and are pegged as the band of 1990 by the British music press. Skeptics, naturally, would doom the outfit to whither in its own hype.

But the four-member outfit could win over the most jaundiced music listener with a steady, unrelenting stream of gorgeous guitar melodies and breathless vocals by its lead singer Harriet Wheeler.

Part of The Sundays' appeal is they've seemed to encompass all what was positive musically of the 1980s and refined them.

On a cursory listen, one could draw comparisons between the lovely almost schoolgirlish vocals of Wheeler and those of 10,000 Maniacs' Natalie Merchant. The major difference is Wheeler is not strung-out on vocalizing about social issues and causes.

Instead The Sundays' lyrics are laid back, open for introspection and interpretation. Singing Wheeler in the uplifting "My Finest Hour": "We are who we are/What do the others know/But poetry is not for me/So show me the way to go."

David Gavurin's guitar play is often understated, but nonetheless outstanding. He displays occasional flashes of swirling guitar buzz that leaves your head spinning.

— Larry O'Connor

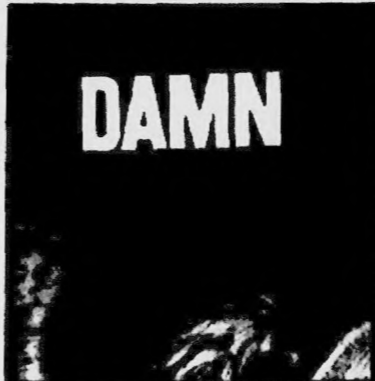

DAMN YANKEES — Damn Yankees

First, there was Bad English, in which Neal Schon, Jonathon Cain and John Waite joined forces in a calculated move to land a few chart singles. They succeeded, but mostly on the pop side of rock.

Now, meet the Damn Yankees, who are also likely to succeed commercially, but with a slightly different audience — and in a much louder fashion. Group ringleader Ted Nugent, Michigan's own guitar hero, saw to that. He and his cohorts, Tommy Shaw (formerly of Styx), Jack Blades (formerly of Night Ranger) and drummer Michael Cartellone, have created an album that should put AOR program directors across the country in a state of nirvana.

Despite this being Nugent's most overtly commercial project in years (if ever), it's difficult to find any signs of compromise. Each song contains at least one heavy dose of a signature Nuge riff, not to mention a dash or two of the subtle sexuality that makes Nugent's music so endearing to the faint of heart.

Blades and Shaw split the vocals throughout the album, with Blades getting the nod for "Coming of Age," the current single. Shaw contributes some old Styx harmonies to Blades' vocals in "Bad Reputation," yet another guitar workout. "Runaway" sounds like an outtake from the last Shaw solo album that Terrible Ted souped up in his inimitable way.

This album sounds like a bunch of rock veterans who got together to share some licks, crank up the amps and have a heck of a good time. Blades even borrowed the idea from the debut Night Ranger release of having a self-titled song on the album — the result is a fun, lyrically worthless romp.

Each of the three main components makes their own distinctive contribution to the project, making the album a worthwhile buy for more than just Nugent, Styx, and Night Ranger fans.

— Bob Sadler

A GILDED ETERNITY — Loop

It is difficult to describe "A Gilded Eternity" by Loop. You won't find any hit singles on the album. No appealing pop hooks. The album, in general, isn't particularly catchy. It is not really like anything else.

Perhaps it is supposed to be artistic. That's probably the most feasible answer.

The lead singer, guitarist and founding member of the band, known only as "Robert," explains the album thusly: "You don't have to be out of your skull to listen to repetitive music. Our music is trance-like anyway. There's this cycle, and there's always things coming off the cycle, taking to a completely different tangent. It all depends on the listener. It should be a whole, a conglomerate. Nothing in the music should be more important than anything else. It should be a total onslaught of everything together."

As strange as this "explanation" sounds, it actually does make a little bit of sense. You see, the album is full of loud, fuzzy guitars, thumping bass and pounding rhythms — common stuff in energetic rock or punk albums. What is unusual is that instead of "revving up" the listener, these sounds work together to lull the listener into a trance.

The sounds are repeated to a monotonous degree. Hence, the description of "trance-like."

It seems impossible to believe that music made with fuzzy guitars, thumping bass, ect. . . could be hypnotic, but Loop has managed to do it with this album.

The group said that they were influenced by such divergent elements of popular culture as Vietnam films, M.C.s, new age, Stanley Kubrick and San Ra. Judging by "A Gilded Eternity," Loop doesn't seem to be lying. Their music is something that can only be described with almost meaningless oxymorons like "loud new age" or "relaxing hard rock."

In other words, this is challenging music. It can't be adequately explained either in words or by comparisons to any other type of music — it has to be heard to be understood.

Cagey costume

So you want to play with the Big Boys, eh? Well, now you can — at least you can look like one even if you can't slam-dunk. Now there's a sports shop that offers actual uniforms, warm-ups and shoes of Detroit Piston players. Proceeds from the authentic team attire go to charity. Uniform pictured belonged to former Piston Mike Williams. For more information, call Great Stuff Summit Place Mall, 692-0123.

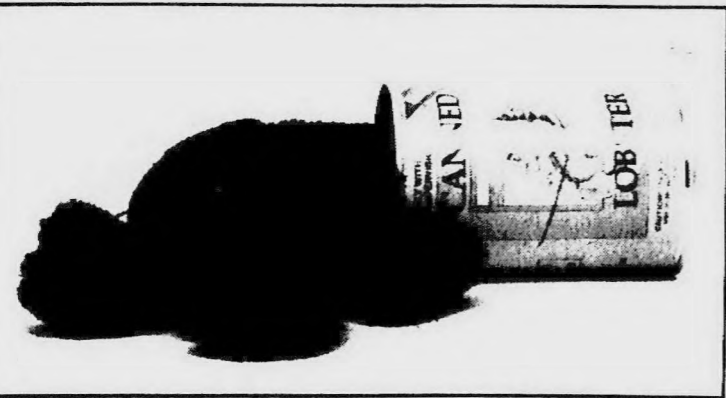

Another view

The National Society for Animal Protection in Clawson has designed T-shirts with an animal's view of the art world. The first two designs in a series are Muttisse, for dog lovers (in the art style of Matisse) and Picatso, for the feline fanciers (a tribute to Picasso). Proceeds from the sale will support the campaign "Loving our pets to death." Shirts are 100 percent cotton and priced at $16 in adult sizes of M, L and XL. For more information, call 435-6655.

Denim won't be denied

Denim trends have ranged from stone-washed to tie-dyed to ripped and torn — all in the name of fashion. Here is yet another alternative. Artist Aggie Kass will create a work of art on your favorite jean jacket. Combining antique jewelry found wherever and acrylic paints, she will capture your personality. Also, Chudik's in Birmingham will remodel your old fur to use as a lining for the jacket. Aggie Kass Interiors, 648-3903.

Canned critters

You won't find them in your local supermarkets and they're not even edible. Canned lobsters, beaver, moose, whale and shark are furry collectibles for all ages. STREET SENSE

Find out why of problem

Dear Ms. Schiff,
I know this is not an uncommon problem, but I could use your help in dealing with it because I am personally involved.

My daughter, age 11, is a pretty girl who is somewhat mature and sophisticated for her age. She is talented and does very well academically. She also is a very sensitive child.

The problem is there is a certain girl in her class who has made it her everyday goal to make my daughter miserable. She also enlists her friends to help her taunt and harass my daughter.

To say the least, we are all very tired of this bullying and need to stop it. (It has been going on for three years I recently found out.)

G.A.

Dear G.A.,

Thank you for writing. I hope this answer comes quickly enough to be helpful.

I understand that you are worried that your daughter is being scapegoated by girls who are jealous of her. This sometimes happens. However, it also happens as often that children that are scapegoated bring some of their troubles upon themselves.

In this situation, there is not enough data to help your daughter. It is surprising that this problem has existed for three years without your knowing about it.

Your next step is to have conferences with your daughter's teachers. Find out from them what they have observed. If there is anyone else who may have seen these interactions, get their input as well. Any objective understanding of this problem will help you decide on the course of ac-

Again, I want to caution you against summarily blaming the other girls. Interactions like the one you describe can have many subtleties. When parents ignore their own child helps to precipitate events, they deprive that child of a valuable learning experience — a learning experience that may help with better interpersonal relationships for the rest of his or her life.

If your daughter is doing all that she can to create a harmonious atmosphere, there may not be a way to "put an end to this" at all, let alone diplomatically. A switch in classes this far into the school year is not advisable.

Calls to the other girl's parents might put your daughter in an even more vulnerable position. Hopefully, by next year, if she is placed in a class with the ringleaders, then she will be able to handle it efficiently.

Barbara Schiff

Your daughter has a lot going for her. This will help her in eventually putting this behind her.

FEAR & LOAFING

When Queen Isabella sent Columbus out to find an all-night drug store, he ran into the Bahamas by mistake.

At least that's the official version. Actually, he landed at Miami and blew the royal nest egg at the dog races.

And that's what gripes me about a recent headline: "55 million Americans Discover walking."

Unless you've been crawling from room to room or slithering out to the driveway, how does an adult "discover walking?" Except on those rare instances when someone pours Margaritas down your throat with a funnel, you've probably been walking upright for years.

Actually, the only thing we've discovered about walking is how to spend large amounts of money doing something we used to do for free. I grew up thinking of walking as one of life's simple joys — the one activity that required no special talent or equipment. All it took was two legs, dry land and enough energy to overcome gravity.

Often associated with pleasurable pursuits like romance, sightseeing and relaxing, walking was pretty much taken for granted during the first 6,000 years of recorded history.

UNFORTUNATELY, since its discovery by the Committee for Turning Pleasure into Pain, walking has ceased to be a recreation and is now officially designated as a competitive sport, a grueling exercise and the biggest moneymaker since high fiber food.

This new multi-million-dollar industry has spawned a flood of products for the "Serious Walker."

Afraid of being labeled a "frivolous walker," people are pursuing this latest fitness craze with serious determination and serious money. To avoid sidewalk embarrassment, ask yourself these questions:

1. Do you take walking lessons? Serious walkers practice stride length, hip tilt and push-off until they can waddle like a duck.
2. Do you study anatomy? Your feet contain 52 bones. Serious walkers know each of their names and favorite foods.
3. Do you understand cardiology? Your heart pumps five quarts of blood per minute. That's roughly what a serious walker can expect to lose from dog bites and insects.

4. Do you spend a fortune on shoes? Every six months, 75 new walking shoes hit the market. Serious walkers buy one of each.

5. Do you carry an array of electronics? Early walkers strapped on a loincloth. Modern walkers strap on a pulse monitor, pedometer, audio pacer, calorie counter, wind gauge and stop watch.

6. DO YOU march to the beat of a different Walkman? Serious striders stay motivated with songs like "Walk on By," "Walk Like a Man" and "Walkin' in the Sand."

7. Do you lug an anchor around? For maximum agony, serious walkers use hand, ankle and belt weights. Scrap dealers patrol walking trails for cast-off iron.

8. Do you own all the toys? Serious walking requires a fanny pack, walking stick, trail food, squeeze bottle and acupuncture insoles.

9. Do you wear high-tech duds? Serious walkers wear anatomically correct, body-hugging tights that reflect headlights and wick away moisture. They also cause cash to evaporate.

If you answered "yes" to all nine, you're a serious walker — too serious for this planet.

Sure, you'll swing your arms, sashay your hips and hit your target heart range come rain or shine, but you'll never stroll, saunter, amble or otherwise enjoy yourself on two legs again.

Now that the media overkill has spoiled every conceivable waking activity, what's left to promote? I can see the ads: "250 million Americans discover sleep! If you're a serious about sleeping, learn to sleep faster, harder and more efficiently than ever..."

Prof puts 'cush' in shoes

With a special liquid silicon pad, the impact of a foot strike has been "spread."

Finding the right liquid — one that would maintain consistency despite changes in temperature and pressure — was the "material issue" that Brooks solved, Fredericksen said.

The result is a system that can help athletes of whatever ability perform better and with fewer injuries.

That is satisfying to Dr. Barry, the physician. "I'm a physician not only for the research," he said. "I went to medical school so that I could apply the research to develop prosthetics for people. That's critical."

Barry said the research and manufacture of better athletic and other types of shoes has taken off in recent years for several reasons, not the least of which is the demand for more comfortable and functional athletic shoes. Add to that the development of cheaper and stronger materials, and that adds up to the possibility of developing better shoes.

"The time had come to make this work," Barry said. "The concepts have been around since the 1800's, but the technology has recently come to the fore."

Before recent times, designing a shoe incorporating air, gel or liquid technology would have produced a shoe "too heavy, too expensive and too unreliable," he said.

Finding a liquid for the Hydro-flo pad that would not freeze in cold weather, not expand and could be manufactured cheaply could only be possible in the last few years, he said.

Then there's those swooshes, stripes, and leather uppers that catch the shoe buyer's eye.

"There is always going to be a fashion issue," Barry said. "Even if it is a good shoe, nobody is going to buy one that's ugly. It's such a competitive industry."

Barry spends most of his time in research. He has developed a system that uses the sounds muscles make (that's right) when expanding and contracting to determine their health and how best to treat them for injury. His system, called acoustic myography, is patented.

But for all his ingenuity, the good doctor still has the same dream of dunking a basketball, something the slender 6'4" amateur hoopster can't quite accomplish — yet. When the TV ad shows Michael "Air" Jordan jamming the basketball and Spike Lee following with the observation that Michael "can" but you "can't," Barry shows the full smile of a man who isn't quite ready to give up that dream.

Liquid silicon eases the jolts of athletics run further, but has lessened injury. It's become an exact science — literally.

"The concepts have been around since the 1800's," said Dr. Dan Barry, a researcher in biomechanics with the University of Michigan Medical Center and a developer of the "Hydro-Flo" liquid system Michigan-based Brooks Shoe, Inc. uses in several of its models. "The technology (to use those concepts) has recently come to the fore."

Finding the right material and the right design to make a shoe enhance performance and protect against injury is a long-range proposition.

Barry has worked with Ray Fredericksen of Brooks to test and develop the Hydro-Flo system. The idea itself had to be tested extensively at the Michigan State University Biomechanics Gait Laboratory. The results were good for the system, with a 40 percent improvement in shock absorption, Fredericksen said.

The new shoe design has already won good reviews from "Runner's World" magazine, and has gotten the attention of some people who know running shoes.

"The public has become aware how comfortable shoes can be," Barry said. "But there is always a fashion trade-off."

With all the developments in shoe technology, there is one constant.

"There is never going to be a shoe that will substitute for proper training," Barry said.

D.C. Malone and Hampton Nootcheez have given up playing musical instruments on the streets of Toronto. Instead they're bringing their brand of comedy to clubs in metropolitan Detroit.

They drop music for lots of laughs

By Pat Schutte
staff writer

D.C. Malone and Hampton Nootcheez met in Toronto in 1972. Nootcheez was playing the flute, Malone the guitar, for spare change on the streets of Toronto. They bumped into each other and have been together ever since.

"Another day, another 70 cents Canadian," joked Malone of the "chump change" they used to make.

Early members of the stand-up comic wave, Malone and Nootcheez cut their comic teeth in the Detroit area in the late 1970s with early Detroit acts like Dave Coulier, Mike Binder, Sheila Kay and Tony Hayes.

"It was really disorganized back then, real raw comedy, lots of money problems and stolen material," said Nootcheez who hails from Eugene, Ore. "But we honed our acts and became one of the original stand-up duos."

Compared to the Smothers Brothers — "Tommy and Dicky," said Nootcheez, obviously not impressed with the comparison — they do combine music with comedy, but not like the former duo.

"We'll do a song, starting out normal, then just wreck it," Nootcheez said. "We make it perverse in a cute kind of way and people sit back and can't believe what they're laughing at."

The D.C. in Malone stands for "Dennis (his real name) Cyclone."

"That's because I'm a real whirlwind kind of guy," he said.

Nootcheez got his simply appropriate nickname during a "Bloody Mary drinking, cheese- whip eating frenzy," said Malone who lives in Seattle and makes a yearly pilgrimage to Jimmi Hendrix's grave. "How fresh was the cheese? It was new cheese." So Hampton "Nootcheez" it was, he said.

Malone said that one reviewer compared them to Art Carney and Jackie Gleason as Kramden and Norton.

"I'm 6-5; he's 5-7," said Malone of himself and Nootcheez. "I have long hair; he has short hair. I wear leather; he wear sweaters. I'm a hippy; he's hip."

They sound more like "Joe the Bear and Sam the Mouse."

Gradually gaining popularity throughout the 1980s, Malone and Nootcheez opened for the likes of Mitch Ryder, Pablo Cruise and the Talking Heads. Nootcheez even claims that David Byrne (leader of the Talking Heads) "snuck into our dressing room while we were performing and ripped off a bunch of Malone & Nootcheez T-shirts!"

Byrne could not be reached for comment.

One of a few "partners in comedy" routines, relying on timing and playing off of each other is the key to their success.

"PARTNER TIMING is more essential than anything else," said Nootcheez. "You always have to be conscious of the other guy and try to make things look as improvised as possible, which in most cases things are."

"I'd like to call our act a real up-tempo departure, a pure escapist routing," said Malone, not being able to decide if he's a musician or a magician. "Bottom line is that it's a real good time. We're living room comics."

Malone and Nootcheez will perform Tuesday through Saturday, May 1-5, at Chaplin's West Comedy Club, one block south of Six Mile on Telegraph, Detroit. Show times are 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 and 10:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. For reservations, call 533-8866.

She 'swaps' kids for comedy clubs

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

Norma Zager has a bachelor's degree in journalism from Wayne State University. Good. Then why not have her write her own lead.

"When Norma turned 39, she had to make a choice. Her children no longer required her constant care... so what was she to do with her extra time?"

"I love chocolate cake too much so the choice was easy."

Not bad, Norma, not bad at all. As the West Bloomfield-based comedian sees it, she's been "lucky. I feel like a show business veteran, but it's only been less than four years."

A native Detroit, who graduated from Mumford High School in its heyday back in 1964, the comic is a normal, red-blooded wife and mother of two, who does the laundry, the cooking, and most everything other homemakers do.

"West Bloomfield has been our home for 10 years now," she said, adding that her professional commitments take her out of the state. "Mostly, I go to Los Angeles and Las Vegas or entertain in local clubs and comedy spots."

Asked about how her son and daughter respond to their mother's entry into the world of entertainment, Zager said: "My 12 year old enjoys it, but for the 17 year old, the jury's still out."

Whatever the youngsters think about their mother, the comic, Zager gleans from their experiences, their attitudes, and their sibling rivalry as fodder for her act.

"I TALK ABOUT my husband, my sister-in-law, and all kinds of everyday incidents in my life," she said. "In fact, I went to the school of life to get my feel for comedy and the ability to put it all together and make it come out funny."

While attending that school, Zager looked to the brilliance of several comics for her inspiration.

"My special mentor has been Carl Reiner," she said. "And I always paid attention to Sid Caesar, Milton Berle and Lucille Ball."

Locally, she appears regularly at the Comedy Castle, the Looney Bin, and many private parties.

"I set little goals for myself, but sometimes unexpected things happen that even surpass my goals," she said. "I had a half-hour comedy show on cable television — called 'Norma' it was nominated for an ACE award — and a show on Channel 4."

"I did TV in Las Vegas and was on HBO and Showtime."

And on Tuesday, May 1, she will be on the Dick Purtan Show, WKQI FM, 95.5. Presently, Zager is working on a benefit for the homeless.

"I do a lot of charity work," Zager said. "I honestly never say no to a good cause."

A very special inspiration throughout the years for Zager has been her husband Michael, who finds time to travel to all her shows when he isn't working at Anchor Lake Printing Co. in Redford.

"MY HUSBAND is still my inspiration after all these years... but not in the same way," said Zager. "If he picked up his underwear, I wouldn't have an act."

Zager's act is a family act. She only schedules her road trips during her children's school vacations.

"We use out-of-town gigs as family vacations," she said

Norma Zager will perform Tuesday through Saturday, May 1-5, at the Comedy Castle, 269 E. Fourth, Royal Oak. For reservations, call 542-9900.

'Baubles' add pizzazz to suit-and-tie crowd

By Joanne Sobczak
special writer

Cavemen used teeth, claws and bones of animals for it. King Tut was buried in a tomb filled with it. Henry VIII's clothes were adorned with it.

Even though history has shown that it's nothing new, and the last few decades have been very conservative at best, the 1990s have opened the door for men to accessorize their outfits with whatever jewelry turns them (and their partners) on.

"Why not," said Patti Smith, owner of Patti Smith Collectibles in Royal Oak. "Women have so many fashion accessories to use and the poor man only had his shirt, tie and jacket."

Well, that may have been the case during the Ward Cleaver era, but not any more. Attractive men's jewelry on display in the stores today go far beyond the typical tie tack and cuff links.

Brooches and decorative pins are available to dress up suit lapels. Bolos with rhinestone centers can substitute for a tie. Clasps with connecting chains can replace the collar bar, not to mention a necklace here or a bracelet there. And yes, earrings, when tastefully worn, can look as great on a guy as they do on a woman.

"Today's jewelry is designed for the man who knows himself and likes to express his individuality," Smith said. "He is already someone who stands out in a crowd and uses accessories because he feels good wearing them."

SMITH HAS has been in business for 10 years and her customers range from a 16-year-old prep boy from Grosse Pointe to the conservative businessman on Washington Boulevard.

"Men's current fashion accessories say 'I want something fun and different,'" Smith said.

Michael, as he is known professionally, creates the Butterfield 8 line — mostly brooch and matching earrings sets for women and unisex pins — and sells to shops like Smith's (which accepts many designs from local artists). He believes jewelry, whether worn by men or women, "expresses one's own sexuality and sensuousness."

"It feels nice to have something smooth around your neck or wrist made from polished metal or stone," he said. "Diamonds, in my opinion, look tacky on men. I don't like glitz or flash. I like a gold ring or something like a cartouche."

"Wearing jewelry gives me personal gratification. I don't want to impress anyone but myself."

While Michael may not find diamonds are his best friend, Rick Abraham of Troy has been enjoying shine and sparkle for 15 years. Abraham has a variety of diamond rings as well as gold chains and bracelets.

"I HAVE special kinds of chains, not cheap but really good jewelry," he said. "Nothing gaudy. I like quality. It gives a good feeling because you have something nice on. It's not for anybody else; it's just for me."

Abraham's favorite piece, next to his wedding ring, is a two-carat baguette pinky ring he received from his wife as a gift.

BORIS AYZIN, owner of Borsetta at Northland Mall in Southfield, believes that relief has come for those men who worry about what other men think.

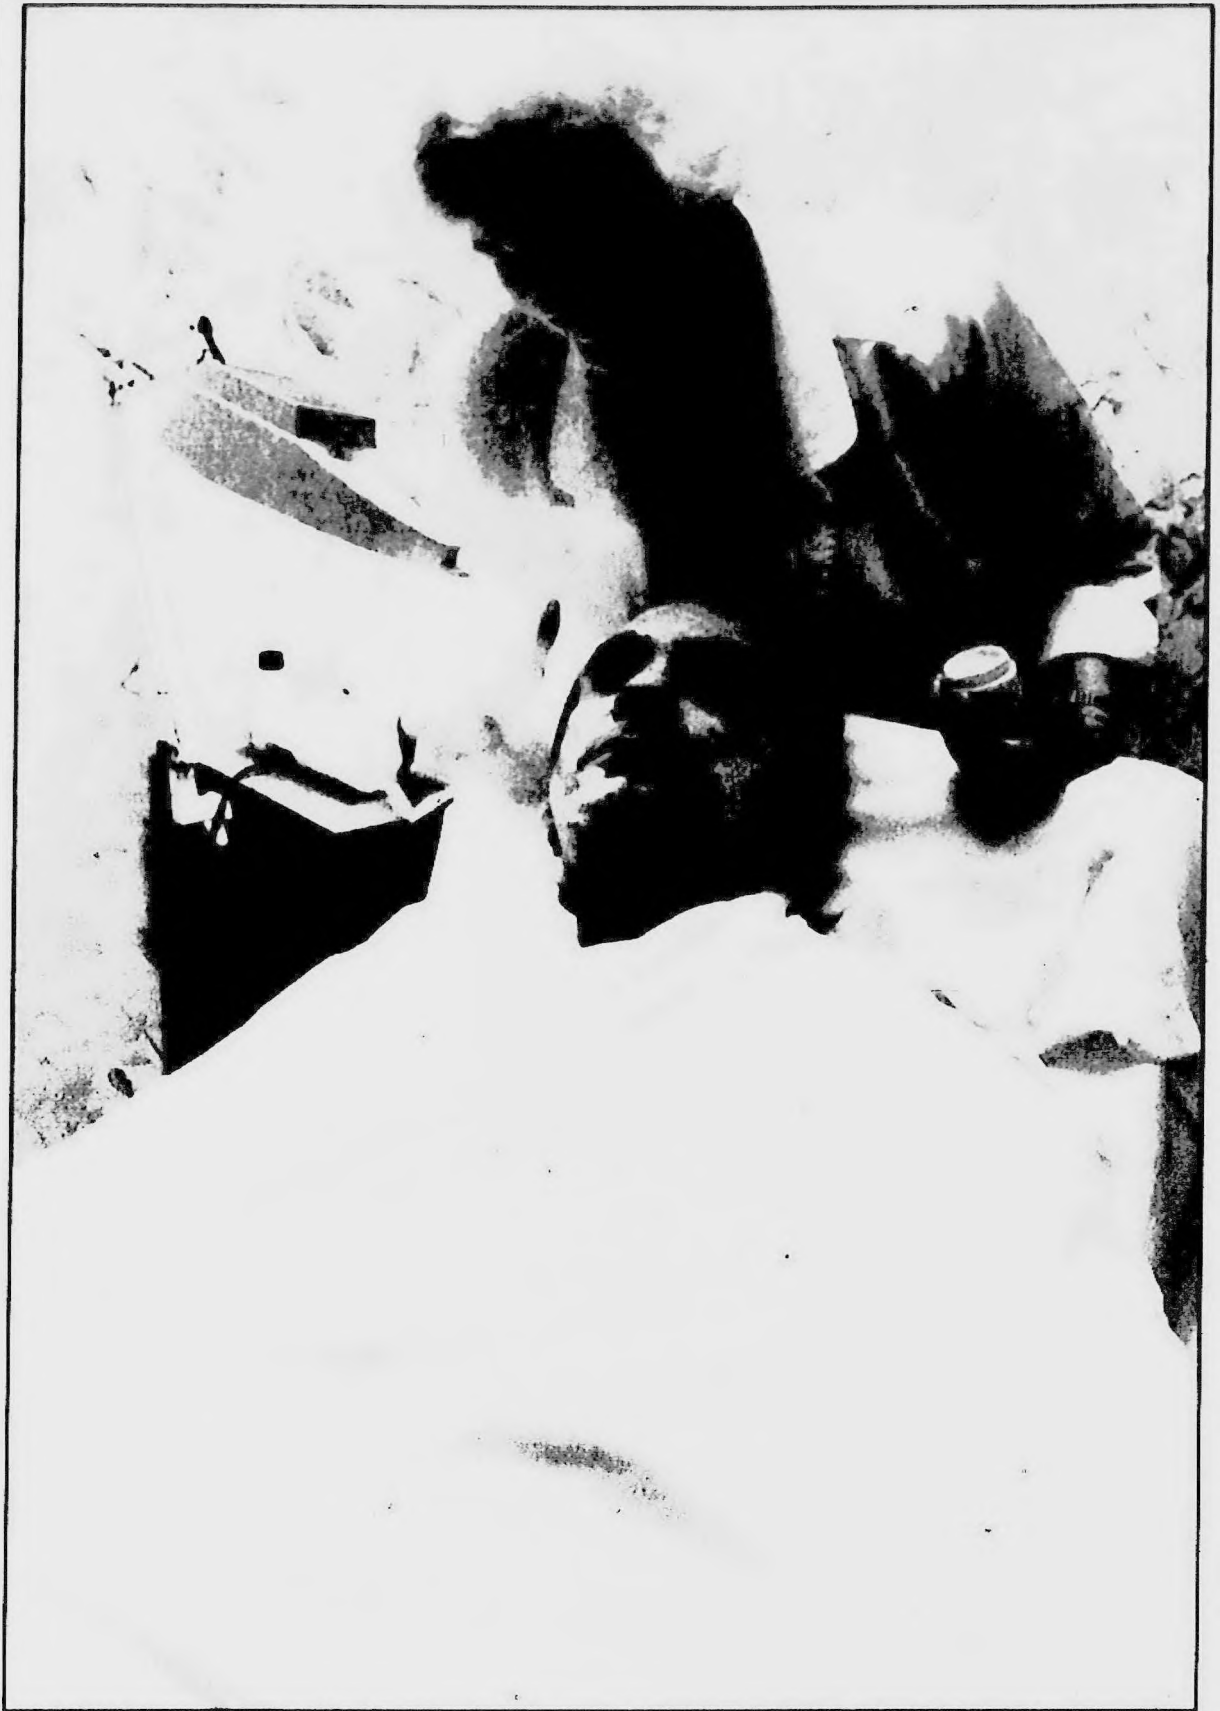

"It was the macho image that prohibited the use of jewelry," he said. "And the macho image is no longer here."

Ayzin, whose boutique is filled with women's accessories plus unisex items, said many find new fashion pins and the like attractive on men. He shares his love for mixing and matching with his wife. In fact, they wear each other's jewelry.

"MY WIFE takes my bolos and brooches," he said. "They're virtually interchangeable. They are not specifically men's bolos or women's brooches. They're of a neutral design."

Ayzin claims that 90 percent of his male customers buy for themselves. Smith said that 35 percent of her male clientele also shop for their own wardrobe. She added that one-third of her sales are earrings.

It seems clear that whether it's gold, silver, gems, stones or even teeth, one thing is for sure — when it comes to selecting an accessory or two in the '90s, it's definitely a man's prerogative.

Kitty Wagner, owner of a facial salon and spa in Farmington Hills, does a facial for Michael Josef, a 39-year-old salesman from West Bloomfield.

Men discover that 'look'

By Joanne T. Sobczak
special writer

While the fashion industry is offering numerous options in men's accessories, the cosmetic companies are providing choices in good grooming beyond the regular splash of after-shave.

Annie Harrell, who has been selling Clinique cosmetics at Hudson's at Northland for 10 years, has a couple male models who are regular customers. But there are others who dare to purchase foundation and loose powder to produce and even skin tone.

"You know like when a man begins to lose his natural skin pigmentation," she said.

"I knew a businessman whose beard grew so fast that by the end of the day he had a five o'clock shadow, so he wanted to wear some foundation," added a co-worker.

Michael Josef's venture into the cosmetics world began with a gift certificate from his wife to the Kitty Wagner Facial Salon and Spa in Farmington Hills.

"Now I go once every two, three months," said Josef, a 39-year-old salesman from West Bloomfield. "At first, when I told my friends (the guys I played cards or golfed with), they laughed and asked if I was gay. But I said 'What's so wrong with going to a place full of beautiful ladies who pamper you?'"

"The facials relieve stress and leave a great complexion."

JOSEF WORKS with the construction industry and finds that his white collar job is still pretty dirty.

"I wash my face with a glycerin soap, shave and then follow with a honey-almond scrub which supplements and after-shave conditioner," he said. "This helps when your job requires you to be at an industrial site where a lot of dust and dirt gets into your skin."

Josef, who considered a tanning salon to take the ugly winter gray away from his skin, was advised by Kitty Wagner to try a bronzing gel instead, because it didn't dry out the skin.

"It gives me a little color and takes away the winter washed-out look," he said. "You no longer look like you were under a rock."

Wagner not only pampers Josef's face, but has a male clientele from ages 14 to 76 who appreciate her skin care suggestions. Her salon offers men facials, manicures and pedicures.

"Most of our clients are doctors, businessmen and executives," she said. "This is youth-oriented society and most men today stay in the work force longer. I think these two reasons are why men have begun caring more about their skin and looks."

According to Wagner, all her male customers use the salon skin care system and 50 percent try additional cosmetics like corrective makeup for under eye circles, bronzing gels and tinted moisturizers.

"A POPULAR moisturizer designed for men, called 'Adam,' contains no drying alcohol, which is particularly suited for a man over 50," she said.

Actor-model Jake Daniels' first exposure to cosmetics was as a teenager using a tinted acne medication. Now that he is a big guy (6 feet, 2 inches) and in his 30s, he wears the Mary Kay bronzer (the Day Radiance foundation in male form). Daniels has been using makeup for the past 16 years.

"I use a moisturizer, toner, bronzer and sunscreen," Daniels said.

Appearance is number one in his profession. Daniels co-hosts "Talk of the Town" on WCAR radio and will soon star in the movie "The Genesis File," scheduled to be filmed in Detroit this summer. He began using makeup for the camera, but liked the way his complexion looked that he now uses it every day.

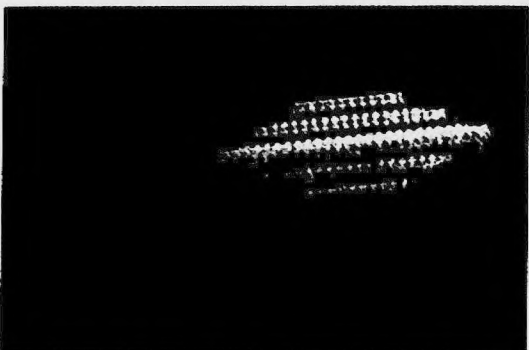

"This is the decade men will relax about their machismo," he said. "The whole stigma about using cosmetics is changing."

Leslie Roland, co-owner of The Packaged Deal in Southfield, would confirm that Daniels is a man who knows what he is talking about.

SHE WILL represent her public relations firm as a guest speaker in San Francisco at the "Look Successful and You'll Be Successful" lecture for the 5,000 men of the Million Dollar Round Table, an elite group of life insurance agents.

"We will be focusing on looking good and using skin care products including bronzers," said Roland, whose office carries the Jeffrey Bruce cosmetic line and often receives phone calls from men encouraged by their wives to give skin care products a try. It is her view that men must take responsibility for their own appearance because they want and need to.

Reality indicates that proper grooming and attractiveness is no longer in pink bottles just for women.

Pick a pocket, any jacket pocket and add a little pizzazz with a pocket brooch at Borsetta's at Northland Mall.

What makes up that 1990s look

By Joanne T. Sobczak
special writer

Guy, if you are searching for a new look or just want to add to your accessory collection, here are a few fashion tips to consider:

- Brooches (the most popular item at Borsetta) in various rhinestone designs — musical notes and instruments, words like Detroit and "Bad Boys" and a big favorite, animals like birds, dogs, bears, lions and especially elephants.

- Collar bars beyond the plain and simple, usually with a stone or ornate center in the middle of the bar with a charm dangling below it.

- Collar chains — two fancy tie tacks connected by a chain, may substitute the traditional collar bar or be worn on a suit lapel or vest. (Patti Smith's sells a "Fishing for Compliments" pin collar chain of a gold fish skeleton that twists or expands.)

- Chantelains — similar to the collar chains except they are larger and more elaborate in design, also to be used on a lapel or vest and can be placed across the shoulder like an epaulet.

- Cuff links of vintage design or made of different polished stones. Cuff links with matching studs for formal wear.

- Button covers with connecting chain usually made of a smooth stone or ornate metal used on shirt collars favoring this type of accessory.

- Bolos replace the tie with a provocative western look created with a jeweled or elaborately patterned center slide connecting two black strings from the former wrangler style.

- Decorative pins and medals of various sizes.

- Rings can be gold or silver holding stones or turquoise, lapis, amber, carnelian and malachite. Jewels are still in vogue.

- Shirts designed with large buttons of pearl and faux jewels in gold metal and 1930s Bakelite.

- Suspenders made of mesh and elegant gold chains now replace typical stretch cloth.

Jeweled sunglasses and rhinestone tie pins are making a masculine fashion statement as accessories, available at Borsetta's at Northland Center in Southfield.

Directions: pottery

Pottery by Farmington Hills artist Elizabeth Lurie will be one of the features in Directions, an exhibit of porcelain, painting, drawing and sculpture now in progress at the Ann Arbor Art Association Exhibit Gallery through Saturday, May 19. Lurie began working in clay in 1969 at Pewabic Pottery in Detroit. Her first studio was located in the laundry room in the basement of her home where she worked at the potter's wheel while she raised two children. She graduated from Trinity College in Washington, D.C., with a bachelor's degree in English literature and went on to the University of Michigan and graduated with a master's in 1965. She will conduct a porcelain workshop 2-5 p.m. Sunday, May 6 at the art association. She'll discuss the special qualities of porcelain, demonstrate throwing techniques, and present a slide lecture. Shown here: at the left, a patterned teapot, clear, pale green glaze over white porcelain; at the right, patterned pedestal bowl, clear aqua glaze over white porcelain. For more information, call 994-8004. Lurie will follow the Ann Arbor exhibit with one at the Troy Art Gallery, opening May 19.

Delegating tasks factor in success

Q: How is it that some people are so tremendously successful and others, like me, seem to struggle along, barely getting done what I need to, much less accomplishing "great things?"

A: There is, of course, no one specific answer to your question because it takes many factors to produce success. These include aptitudes, intelligence, education, charisma, willingness to take risks, etc. Let me touch on just two important factors — attitude and delegation. First is attitude — a matter of thinking small or thinking big. Small thinkers spend an inordinate amount of time worrying about little details, while big thinkers devote their time to making big things happen. These people are global thinkers who can see the Big Picture.

Dorothy Lehmkuhl

Global thinkers understand which actions pay back the greatest return. They learn early on how to delegate, even when there are no official subordinates. They identify appropriate times to hire out work, bring in consultants and even learn subtle ways of delegating upwardly (to an immediate supervisor or higher).

About 20 years ago I knew a young married man who started a savings plan of $5 per month (a tiny amount even then). That same man now lives in a fabulous penthouse and earns close to $1 million a year. His success did not come from savings but rather an ability to delegate and a philosophy that he take off an hour a day, a day a week, and a month a year for personal time. He is not only financially successful but is also in great physical shape because he takes time to exercise daily. Happily, he also still takes time to maintain contacts with longtime friends. This man could only accomplish what he has in one way — by working smart.

When interviewed on Larry King's show recently, Donald Trump admitted that he "couldn't possibly get everything done through hard work and long hours." Instead, he said, he "surrounds himself with good people." This, I believe, is what separates financially successful people from those who are not: Realizing one person has human limitations, and carefully choosing others to handle work they can't do.

Beware, however, of how effective others can be. One man recently employed a new person for $30,000 specifically to generate more business. That means it will take $30,000 of extra net income before one cent of profit is generated. Such measures must be carefully evaluated before enacted.

You must consider what payback your efforts will bring and then focus on your most productive activities. By spending your time effectively and finding others to handle work you can't easily do, you too can be more successful.

Dorothy Lehmkuhl is owner of Organizing Techniques in Birmingham. She teaches time management and organizing through speeches, seminars, consulting and writing.

Sew savvy

2-day event to include hands-on sessions, workshops

Spring brings the annual sewing seminar for sewing enthusiasts with the popular event scheduled to take place on Friday and Saturday, May 11-12, at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

"This is the ninth year for this creative event," said a Schoolcraft spokesman, "and due to popular demand, we have expanded it to a two-day program." Sewers from all over the state of Michigan as well as Ohio, Illinois and even Canada attend the seminar. This year it will include a hands-on, daylong workshop on Friday plus over 40 workshops on Saturday.

Registration is being accepted now for the seminar with a descriptive brochure available by calling Schoolcraft College, Continuing Education Services, at 462-4448.

Open to the public, the seminar is priced at $65 per person for the Friday hands-on workshop (including kit and luncheon) and $45 per person for the Saturday sessions with lunch optional at $7. Interested persons can register for both the Friday and Saturday sessions at a special price of $105. The Friday workshop is limited to 40 participants (who bring their own sewing machines) as opposed to an expected registration of 450 on Saturday, which does not require equipment.

THE FRIDAY WORKSHOP brings nationally known sewing expert Margaret Islander to head the hands-on, all-day session on, "Industrial Shortcuts for the Home Sewer." Islander, whose focus is to make sewing a joy and personally fulfilling, teaches time-saving sewing methods to the clothing manufacturing industry as well as to individuals. She is a frequent consultant to production businesses and dressmakers. In addition, Islander owns and operates the Island School of Fashion Arts in Oregon. Islander and her unique sewing techniques have been featured in Vogue, Butterick, Sew News and other sewing related publications.

On Saturday 40 separate workshops will be offered bringing top instructors in each field to share their expertise. Working with beautiful sheer fabrics like chiffon and silks, luxurious ultrasuede techniques, old-fashioned battenberg lace, window treatments for today and creative home decorating with fabrics, plus quilted clothing, sewing with handwoven fabrics, tailoring and speed quilting will all be included. In addition sessions will address the special skills in sewing for the petite figure, sewing for the man in your life, all about linings, tailoring, special accessories, all about patterns, buttonholes and knitting machines.

Want to know the secrets of sewing faux fur? There's a special double-session on this timely subject as there is on fitting jackets and pants; surface and fabric design, alterations and makeovers, and pattern drafting. Other double sessions include the unique art of pictograms, Brazilian embroidery and chateleine construction.

Islander will speak to the audience following luncheon on Saturday sharing her important tips for the home sewer. Call 462-4448 for more information.

Poet Daniels to read

Poet Jim Daniels will read from his new book, "Punching Out," a collection of poems about working in an auto factory, at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, May 6, in Borders Book Shop in the Novi Town Center, off Novi Road, south of I-96. Daniels knows firsthand about factory life — he spent two summers working at the Ford axle plant in Sterling Heights to earn money for his college education.

save energy

Use your dishwasher only when it is full. Turn it off when the final wash cycle is completed and open the door. Your dishes will air-dry. It's best to use your dishwasher in the cool of the evening.

The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better.

We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the lush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floorplans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one—the result of our recent "Capital Improvement & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

Discover these features at The Crossings at Canton:

- Dens & Fireplaces
- Fully-applianced Kitchens
- Patios or Balconies
- Central Air Conditioning
- A Clubhouse with sauna, indoor pool, exercise room, a new party room, and more!

Visit The Crossings at Canton today. We're just 20 minutes from Ann Arbor and downtown Detroit, yet comfortably away from it all. From I-275, just exit Arbor Rd. West to Haggerty Rd., follow south to Joy Rd. then east to The Crossings. Open Mon.-Fri., 10-6, Sat. 10-5, Sun. 12-5. Phone 455-2424 today.

Where would Her Majesty live in Birmingham? At Buckingham, naturally.

She'd love the royal park across the street. She'd dote on the spacious one or two-bedroom apartment with fresh new interiors from the most modern appliances to the best lighting fixtures to designer carpeting to contemporary verticals. She'd like the uncommon amount of room and royal way the service staff treats her. After all, a person's home ought to be their palace.

'Tis the season for LURING customers

Spring, the season of renewal, also signals a rebirth in the housing industry.

More builders appear to have work in progress, more buyers seem to be in the market, and financial institutions are pitching mortgages, some in a big way.

Comerica Bank and a major acquisition, Bloomfield Mortgage, processed more than 6,600 mortgages and home equity loans with an aggregate value of $578 million last year in Wayne and Oakland counties.

But the bank isn't resting on those laurels. Comerica recently aired radio ads advising that it will meet with mortgage applicants at their convenience outside of normal business hours and the traditional bank setting.

"I don't think we're doing any more advertising now than in the last several years," said Douglas Cook, president of Comerica Mortgage. "The market has always been very competitive here."

Comerica spends three times as much money advertising during the first three months as it does the rest of the year, Cook said.

WHILE RADIO ads are designed to put a financial institution's name in the public eye, most advertising is directed to real estate agents and publications likely to catch the eyes of builders, bankers said.

"A lot of our product advertising is delivered by hand to Realtors' offices," said Michael Lubig, manager of the mortgage department at Standard Federal Bank. "It gives us a chance to go into their offices, try to see if we can help them."

Comerica also focuses on agents and builders, Cook said. "Consumers aren't in the market all the time — maybe only every five to 10 years," he said.

Appealing directly to home buyers can be a hit-or-miss proposition, concurred John Owens, director of marketing communications for National Bank of Detroit.

"FROM AN advertising perspective, we want position in the mind," Owens said. "Someone may not want a mortgage this year, but maybe next. We want to make them aware we're in this business."

NBD is running a television ad which depicts a father and young children running through a sprinkler at home. The voice-over extolling the desirability of homeownership, concludes, "The right bank can make the difference between worrying about it and enjoying it."

The goal is to promote both mortgages and home equity loans, Owens said.

"A home loan for most people is one of the hardest decisions. It really is an anxiety process. We want to make them feel comfortable with the process," Owens said.

COMFORT MEANS different things to different lenders.

Shore Mortgage of Southfield introduced a telephone application procedure where a buyer can talk to a loan officer, select a loan package, get a completed application through the mail, sign it and send it back for processing.

Changing times call for different business practices, said Kathy Foley, spokeswoman for Shore Mortgage.

"When you have two working people in a household, they can't routinely take time out from 10 to 4 to take out a loan application," she said.

Vantage Mortgage of Southfield offers a free, pre-qualifying certification. Everything except an appraisal and credit history is verified before a buyer finds a specific property on which to make an offer.

"WE ARE trying to do the most we can to get the most business," said Donald VanAkin, Vantage president.

"Basically, everything competition offers, we've already done," said Lubig of Standard Federal. "We call it the anytime, anywhere mortgage and we pre-qualify."

Lubig sees the period "now through the end of July" as the prime season for mortgage hunters.

Extra touches like pre-qualifying, pre-approval, taking application information over the telephone and meeting customers outside of regular business hours are becoming increasingly important for financial institutions.

"I think they do shop service more than ever before," Lubig said. "One of the worst things a consumer can do is shop rates and after closing, find out they're sending the payment to San Francisco or something."

"If you looked down the table, we are all fairly close to each other," said Owens. "Many people come to their primary institution first."

"You'll find generally service is what sells a mortgage, not the rate," VanAkin said.

Metropolitan Detroit is one of the best housing buys in the country, according to The Prudential Home Affordability Index.

The index measures the percentage of a family's gross monthly income it takes to make a mortgage payment with a standard down payment of 20 percent on an average-priced home in an area.

Detroit, with an average monthly mortgage burden of 18.5 percent of gross household income, ranked 33rd on the 'favorability scale' of 150 U.S. markets surveyed.

Peoria, Ill., ranked first with an average monthly burden of 8.8 percent. San Francisco, at 54.1 percent, was 150th.

The latest index covers the last three months of 1989.

As a general rule of thumb, financial institutions here limit monthly mortgages including principal, interest, taxes and insurance to 28 percent of income, 36 percent including all other debt.

THE INDEX for the fourth quarter showed that in 97 of the top 150 markets, homeowners wouldn't have to set aside more than 28 percent of income to make monthly payments on the average home.

Three metro areas in Michigan — Grand Rapids, Flint, and Lansing/East Lansing — ranked better than Detroit.

Grand Rapids, with an average monthly mortgage burden of 15.6 percent of household income, ranked sixth; Flint, at 16.6 percent, ranked 14th; and Lansing/East Lansing, at 17 percent, ranked 18th.

Ann Arbor, the only other metro area in the state to appear on the listing, ranked 51st with a monthly mortgage payment of 20 percent.

A GOOD balance between supply and demand has resulted in a favorable affordability rating for housing in Detroit, said Jerome M. Baranski, vice president of The Prudential Great Lakes Realty in Birmingham.

For the study's purposes, metro Detroit includes Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair, Livingston and Lapeer counties.

Metro areas in California make up eight of the 10 most expensive housing markets in the survey. They ranged from 45.1 percent in Oxnard/Ventura to 54.1 in San Francisco.

Tremendous appreciation in the value of real estate in California is one big reason that financial institutions there generally allow a greater percentage of income to be applied to mortgages, said Jeanne Henderson, spokeswoman for The Prudential Real Estate Affiliates.

"FOR SOME reason if they default, we'll take the property and make money anyway," Henderson said.

As good as housing values are in metro Detroit, several areas in the Midwest had slightly better percentages, according to the survey.

They include:

- Minneapolis/St. Paul, where the monthly mortgage payment on the average-priced home is 16.3 percent of gross monthly income.
- Kansas City, Mo. — 17.1 percent.
- St. Louis, Mo. — 17.4 percent.
- Indianapolis, Ind. — 18 percent.
- Cincinnati, Ohio/Covington, Ky. — 18.1 percent.
- Cleveland, Ohio — 18.2 percent.

Midwest metropolitan areas with worse percentages than Detroit include:

- Milwaukee, Wis., where the monthly mortgage payment on the average-priced home is 19.1 percent of gross monthly income.
- Chicago — 21.6 percent.
- Buffalo, N.Y. — 21.7 percent.
- Pittsburgh, Pa. — 22.5 percent.

The index is compiled quarterly by WEFA of Philadelphia.

Co-owner ignores association rules

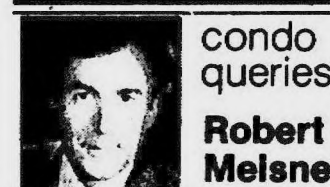

I live in a small condominium community with a management company. We have one neighbor who is a builder and developer who is always ignoring condominium regulations. Will you discuss what can be done to control this person? Each time he is confronted he laughs and says that we should sue him because it will take years and thousands of dollars to do anything about it and we could lose in court. Do small condominiums like ours have any way of controlling people like this without a legal battle?

I would write a letter to the board of directors of your association demanding that it take action against the co-owner. If it fails to do so, seek legal redress both against the board and the management company who apparently are not living up to their legal responsibilities. I would be prepared to follow through with your threat to your association has a responsibility to pursue a co-owner such as this, particularly where you can obtain a legal opinion from counsel to the effect that you have a reasonably good likelihood of success. This co-owner is obviously trying to intimidate a small condominium project but should not be allowed to get away with it.

the board believed that it was not necessary to have the management agreement reviewed and was in a hurry to retain this person as he believed that the managing agent would put everyone in shape, including the association's attorney, CPA and the insurance consultant. The board got around to advising its attorney of the retention of the management company. The attorney recommended that the management agreement be reviewed. The board, realizing that it made a mistake, asked the association's attorney to review the management agreement, and it was determined that there were a number of items in the agreement that needed revision. What can be done now with the management agreement, which we now have to admit belatedly is inappropriate?

I have seen this situation occur often in condominiums where the managing agent, perhaps in a good faith effort to consummate the deal, does not give the board an opportunity nor does he or she suggest that the board have the management agreement reviewed by counsel. Unfortunately, the management agreements generally are drafted to the benefit of the management company, and there are normally provisions in the agreement concerning indemnification, termination of the managing agent and a change in ownership in the managing agent, which are extremely important to condominium associations and that may have to be negotiated. In your situation, I would contact the managing agent and indicate that you are unhappy with the fact that it did not suggest to you that your attorney review the management agreement that you appear to be the professional thing to do. Perhaps you will then be in a position point out the items to the management company and if it is operating in good faith it will seriously consider revising its agreement to meet your reasonable requests. Learn from this lesson for the future.

We are a very affluent condominium project with most of the units in excess of $400,000. We have just taken over control of the condominium association. The lawyer for the developer is a friend of one of the board members. I am afraid that our condominium is being run like a country club in the sense that the directors do not think they need legal advice, and if they do, they just defer to the developer's attorney. How can I convince them that they may be wrong? I am one of the five board members.

Somehow they must be led to recognize they are incurring potential liability and that they have a responsibility to retain independent counsel who has no affiliation with the developer to advise the association of the various issues, particularly if the project has been recently turned over to the members of the association when there are a number of audits that must be undertaken, including a financial and a legal audit. Perhaps you can show this answer to your board in hopes it will recognize that it is perhaps operating in a potentially precarious manner.

GARAGE

GARAGE

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

It's easy!

Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.
2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.
3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to the upcoming sale.
4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop than sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!
