Church drops deal to sell seminary site

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

A contract to sell a portion of the St. John Provincial Seminary site in Plymouth Township to a Maryland firm has been terminated, said a Catholic church spokesman.

But John Erickson, president of Retirement and Health Services Corp. in Maryland, said his firm still plans to locate a 1,000-unit retirement community on the site. He said the church's action "is at least a breach of reasonable civil ethics."

Erickson said, "I personally am quite optimistic," that the firm will eventually locate a retirement community at the former seminary.

"The conditional contract is now void," said Jay Berman, spokesman for the Archdiocese of Detroit which owns the 175-acre parcel at Sheldon and Five Mile roads.

"There is another party that has entered into a conditional contract," Berman said, for the entire 175-acre site. He declined to identify that party.

'The conditional contract (to sell the site) is now void.'

"They're not going to be able to do that," Erickson said, adding his firm has spent "half a million dollars on architectural planning and design work" related to the project.

"I don't think they can terminate the contract," Erickson said, adding he's seeking a conference with the Archdiocese, which notified his firm of the contract termination by mail.

Erickson said his firm has hired a Detroit law firm to represent their interests in the project.

As to why the earlier contract was terminated, "We don't speak of fault, but there are reasons why it hasn't come to fruition," Berman said, but declined to state the reasons.

Erickson said in October that his firm hoped to close on a 35-acre piece of the property in the spring.

In 1988, the church listed all 175 acres at the site, including a golf course, for $20 million. The seminary buildings and 35 acres, excluding the course, were listed at $7.5 million.

The church signed the conditional purchase agreement earlier this year for the smaller parcel, for a reported $6 million.

Turn old paint store into new post office, city says

If they're going to move the U.S. Post Office on Penniman downtown, why not move it across the street? city officials suggest.

The Plymouth City Commission has asked the postal service to house a window service-post office box operation in the former paint store across from the post office on Penniman.

With the construction of a new main post office under way in Plymouth Township, post office officials said last summer the Penniman Street post office would likely close when the new facility is finished in June.

"It is too large for a finance unit with a retail window and post office boxes," said Susan Gillespie, post office spokeswoman.

While postal officials said last summer they would consider downtown locations for that unit, "We'll make no determination until we've looked into all the options," Gillespie said.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

The old post office on Penniman reflects in the window of the former paint store across the street. The site is favored by city officials for a new downtown post office, once the long-time facility closes next year.

According to postal service specifications on how big a "finance unit" post office should be, the paint store would almost be big enough, said City Manager Gordon Jaeger.

Gillespie said a "finance unit" post office won't be selected and opened until after the new main post office in Plymouth Township is opened.

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Plymouth's Robert Kimball brings to his new job at Madonna College a belief that commuter students can get more out of college.

"We're going to have a tea, with a string quartet and a major speaker," said the chairman of the education-psychology department.

It might not sound like much. But involvement in extracurricular activities can help build a sense of pride in teaching among the college's 400 education students, Kimball said.

"To be a master teacher is a commitment," Kimball said.

His work to get commuter students more involved in out-of-class activities "was something I was doing at Mercy College for years." After 16 years at the Detroit college, Kimball started at Madonna College in Livonia this fall.

Kimball, who holds a doctorate degree in science education, said the college has received a $622,625 grant from the National Science

Involvement in extracurricular activities can help build a sense of pride in teaching among the college's 400 education students.

Foundation to recruit students to join a science teachers education program.

NOW MORE than ever, he said, society needs well-prepared teachers.

"We've come to a point now where there are significant changes in our society and our country, and there are going to be jobs for teachers."

At a recent lunch, Kimball and Livonia Public Schools Superintendent Joseph Marinelli discussed the possibility that as many as 80 percent of that district's teachers could retire in the next 10 years.

"If you extrapolate that to other school districts, it's going to be exciting times for teachers and teacher training institutions."

AMONG IMPROVEMENTS in the way teachers are trained, Kimball cites "the testing issue."

Future teachers are tested upon entering college and before graduation, "so we can really guarantee to the public that we have high-quality teachers."

Kimball does not lament the rejection of B.F. Skinner's behavior modification theory by today's educators.

"It was sort of like going at students with a pigeon mentality. We're much more sophisticated now," as teachers now interact more with students to get results, rather than motivate by offering rewards.

A COMPUTER enthusiast, Kimball has also created five commercial software programs for elementary school children.

Also a longtime bee keeper, Kimball has had as many as 100 hives that produced 8,000 pounds yearly. After a mite infestation last summer decimated his hives, Kimball has quit the hobby for now, but will eventually start again, he said.

His wife, Diane, teaches at East Middle School in Plymouth; they have two daughters.

To boost interest in their field, Plymouth's Robert Kimball is trying to get Madonna College commuter education students more involved in extra-curricular activities.

Plymouth kin run in New York marathon

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Runner Gabriella Crandall of Plymouth Township probably figured she'd used up her 15 minutes of fame winning trophies and medals at road races in metro Detroit the last several years.

The 31-year-old mother of two never dreamed she'd be basking in the limelight in New York this November. But she was — along with her mother and six sisters — at the New York City Marathon.

It all began when Crandall, a native of Canisius, N.Y., suggested to two of her sisters that they enter last month's Detroit Free Press/Mazda International Marathon.

"I was trying to talk my two sisters into coming here," said Crandall, who's competed in both the Detroit and Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C. "My mom and sisters said they wanted to try New York." The majority ruled, and the Farias family applied to enter last week's New York City Marathon.

Because interest far exceeds the 25,000 runners the race can accommodate, a lottery is held.

When just some of the Farias family members were granted entries, Crandall's sister Isabelle De Mars of Rochester, N.Y., didn't take it sitting down.

"Isabelle wrote to someone in New York and said how we all wanted to do it together," Crandall said. That's all it took.

Not only did race officials admit marathoning matriarch Edith Farias, Crandall, DeMars, and Farias' daughters Michelle Kosilla, Shirley Conklin, Diana Sellazzo and Stephanie Farias, they made celebrities of the fleet-footed family.

At a press conference in New York Oct. 15, the official t-shirt of the 1990 New York City Marathon was unveiled when Broadway actress Linda Lavin presented a shirt hot off the screen printing press to Edith Farias.

The sisters announced they were dedicating the race to their brother Gregory, who is serving in Saudi Arabia with the Navy. A blizzard of media attention ensued.

The night before the marathon, "We were on the 10 o'clock news on Channel 5 in New York. A photographer from Star Magazine followed us around the night before and took a bunch of pictures," said Crandall. "He met us by the start and took more. Running Times Magazine and Runners World Magazine are doing something, too."

Action Sports Apparel of Livonia designed bright pink shirts for the fearsome Farias. A family picture taken at the press conference graced the front. The shirts read, "Mom and Six Daughter Team" and included the marathoners' names, numbers and birth order. When spectators along the course spotted the shirts, they immediately knew who was running by because of all the publicity the family received. The welcome cheers were deafening.

All six runners finished, and a seventh family member, Farias' daughter Margie Sollish of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., was invited to ride in a police car that led the marathon through the five boroughs of New York.

"It was great," said Crandall, who ran a personal best time of 3:31 despite temperatures well above normal. "If you're ever going to run a marathon, you have to run New York. We had a lot of attention, but even if we hadn't, it would have been good. People are out there cheering you on, everyone's helping you out. The streets are lined. Kids were out there in Harlem and the Bronx with their hands out so you could hit them. They were so happy when you did. The kids were great."

The only place that was quiet in the entire marathon was on the bridges, said Crandall.

"They were great," said Crandall, who grew up on the banks of the Hudson. "It was just so neat crossing them. I love the water, the Hudson and the ocean. It's the one thing I really miss about New York."

Crandall, a hair dresser at Philip beauty salon, ran cautiously until about the 22-mile mark. "I really wanted to hold off, and I was tired, but I just felt great. I almost got emotional because I just felt so good. I knew I could run it in. I'd say I passed at least 50 women the last four to six miles." I felt fine when I finished. It was such a mental high."

Crandall was the first Farias to cross the finish line. DeMars finished in 3:53, Conklin and Kosilla in 4:30, Sellazzo in about five hours, and Stephanie Farias, untrained because of an injury, in about 5:30.

4:42. "It was a really hot day, and my mom doesn't do well in heat," said Crandall. "Her best was 4:06, and she really was hoping to get under four and qualify for Boston."

Crandall's mother had run the Yonkers marathon just two months earlier, finishing in 4:20.

It wasn't the first time Crandall entered a marathon with her mom. The mom-and-daughter team ran Detroit together last year.

"I was ahead of her when I got to Belle Isle (half a mile from the finish) when here comes this little blonde," recalled Crandall, whose husband Paul and sons Christopher, 5, and Brian, 4, rooted for mom in front of the TV rather than make the trip to New York.

"It was my mother, passing me. I was walking by that point. We ran the last half mile together and finished in 4:24."

Running 26.2 miles hurts. Lots of runners try it once and say never again.

Crandall? "I thought after my first two marathons that maybe the marathon wasn't for me. I thought I'd do New York just for the fun of it. But I felt so good I just kind of let go. I'm ready to do a marathon right now. I may do Boston."

Seminary sale canceled

Retirement and Health Services Corp. operations last summer in Maryland, said he didn't know who the new buyer was.

"They haven't told me anything," he said, referring to the Archdiocese.

The 40-year-old seminary was closed by the Catholic Bishops of Michigan in June 1988 because of declining enrollment and rising costs.

The land is zoned residential, with lots at least one acre in size. Township officials said a buyer could seek another use for the property, as the property isn't likely to go to a house builder.

Since the purchase agreement was signed with Health Services Corp., about 1,000 acres of land kitty-corner to the seminary property were sold to Wayne County developer Robert DeMattia for a golf course, office complex and residential community.

Township officials assess the site including buildings at about $3 million. Because the land is church-owned and tax-exempt, sale to a private owner could translate to about $170,000 in potential new tax revenue for the township, according to the township assessor's office.

Becky Kacvinsky (left) and Katie Gagleard get a taste of what it was like in colonial days to act up and end up in the stocks, as Pilgrim, or teacher, Rick Plecha looks on.

Kids 'give thanks' old-fashioned way

IT'S TOO BAD the Pilgrims and Indians couldn't have been there. They would have had a wonderful time, and they would have felt right at home.

At Field Elementary School last week, teacher Pattee Rupert — with a little help from colleagues Stu Raben and Rick Plecha — whisked fifth-graders back in time to our country's colonial days.

They celebrated Thanksgiving a little early, concluding a unit on the original colonies, and the days were a cornucopia of activity.

There was cow milking on the playground, thanks to another teacher who treated her livestock to a field trip; hornbook making; quilting and cross stitching; and colonial reading.

The children churned butter and made smoked beef jerky, apple butter and johnny cakes. They learned about basket weaving, tin piercing and shoeing horses.

"This is my 20th year teaching, and I've never had as much fun as I have the last two days," said Plecha, who team teaches with Raben and Rupert.

"I've never seen kids as motivated as they are when they're learning by using their hands like this."

Three days of Thanksgiving fun came to an end Wednesday with students playing colonial games and eating their homemade food at a colonial picnic.

Then came the fun part for the social studies students: recording it all in their journals.

Man spots stolen stereo

Two weeks after car stereo equipment was stolen from his car, an 18-year-old Plymouth man told Plymouth Township police he'd spotted his stuff in a car parked at Plaza Lanes on Ann Arbor Road.

Police were called at 10 p.m. Wednesday to the bowling alley, after the man told police he could identify his equipment by scratches on the bottom of a speaker spotted in a Chevy blazer. The owner said the car had followed him to his residence two weeks ago, just before $600 in stereo equipment was stolen.

After police arrived, they confronted the Blazer owner, who said he bought it from a Mexican man for $125.

Police confiscated the stereo equipment, the police report continued. The owner said that if he couldn't reach a compromise with the Blazer owner, he'd file charges against the man for receiving stolen property.

Ring taken

A 47-year-old Plymouth man told police Tuesday that someone had stolen a ring valued at $2,500 from the dresser in his bedroom. The ring contains a gold nugget surrounded by five diamonds.

crime watch

The man said that real-estate agents have been showing prospective tenants his Blanche St. apartment but that he has no particular suspects in mind.

Rail tie-ups

Police issued 10 tickets from Tuesday morning through Thursday afternoon to the CSX System for blocking various city roads for more than five minutes at a time.

The longest blockage was for 32 minutes, from 3:14-3:46 Wednesday afternoon at N. Main and Theodore.

Radar detected

Thieves detected and stole an Escort radar detector from a 1986 Cadillac parked at a Burroughs St. residence, sometime between 8 p.m. Thursday and 7:30 a.m. Friday.

The detector, valued at $280, was stolen after the passenger window was smashed out.

Car swiped

A 1989 Lincoln was reported stolen Tuesday from the parking lot at the Ford Motor Company plant on Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

The car owner told police that when he got out of work at 11:40 p.m., the car was missing. According to the police report, there was no evidence of the theft at the scene.

Window smashed

The back window of a 1988 GMC truck was found smashed at 2:30 p.m. Thursday. The owner discovered the vandalism and reported it to Plymouth Township police.

The damage, estimated at $250, was discovered at Greenbriar at Farmbrook.

Rocky racoon

A Plymouth Township police officer threw a blanket over a raccoon and took it to the Humane Society of Huron Valley on Thursday, after he spotted the critter with "watery eyes and unsteady in his actions" near a home on North Drive near Ridge.

The humane society urges people to stay away from all wild animals and especially those who don't run away when you approach, as this behavior could mean the animal has distemper.

City postpones start of trash bag-tag program

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The start of the garbage bag-tag program in the city of Plymouth is now set for early December or the first week in January.

City officials had said they planned to start the pay-for-what-you-set-out program late this month. But a delay in the delivery of $1 tags is partly responsible for the delay in beginning the program, said Joe Russell, city solid waste coordinator.

RUSSELL SAID THAT should the program not start in early December, "We'd probably wait until Jan. 1 so people don't have to worry about it during Christmas."

In a report presented Nov. 5 to the city commission, assistant city manager Paul Sincok reported that the city is losing about $26,000 per month by picking up business and commercial garbage in Plymouth.

City Manager Gordon Jaeger says the city should drop this service.

"I don't think that's the way we should go," said Jaeger, adding, "Many cities never got into commercial in the first place."

Sincok briefed commissioners on the rising cost of dumping business and commercial trash, and options commissioners can consider to deal with it.

Besides the option of dropping the service, Sincok listed another option for commissioners to consider — billing commercial users for actual costs.

Russell said one drawback to that option is cost to the city for administering such a program. "We'd have to do all of the billing," he said.

Russell said "there may be more options" presented at the next commission meeting, Nov. 19.

To meet the garbage dumping rate rises enacted by the Arbor Hills Landfill in Salem Township, where Plymouth dumps its trash, billing would be set at an estimated $3.36 per loose yard of trash, Sincok said.

SO IF COMMERCIAL users were billed for actual costs to the city, a business owner with a six yard dumpster picked up twice a week would see monthly costs rise from $72 to $194.24, Sincok said.

A business owner with one eight yard dumpster picked up once a week would see costs rise from $21.67 to $137.83, he added.

"Commercial accounts will still experience tremendous increases in costs even if they go to a private vendor," Sincok said.

"Through recycling, commercial accounts may be able to reduce disposal costs," Sincok continued, as "there may be some revenue for commercial recyclables."

Through the bag-tag program geared to city home owners, residents pay $1 for each bag or tagged-bag accepted for garbage pick up by city crews. City officials say one benefit to the bag-tag program is it encourages residents to recycle, because the more they recycle, the less they'll pay for set-out trash pickup.

Mettetal replaces runway

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Mettetal airport is still up for sale, and it's still at the heart of a controversy between Canton Township and Northville Township. But while the future is bumpy, the present has smoothed out considerably with the installation of a new asphalt runway.

According to Ashley Heimbaugh, the airport's manager, the old runway, which was about 20 years old, was torn up Tuesday and a new runway put in on Thursday and Friday.

The cost of the project is $60,000-$65,000, said Heimbaugh. Nagle Paving Co. of Livonia did the work.

"The old runway was in very, very bad shape," said Heimbaugh. "It was unsafe, but we want to make the airport safer and have a good, safe, well marked, well lighted runway."

THE AIRPORT was closed Tuesday and reopened Saturday. Heimbaugh said that the airport has 20-150 takeoffs and landings a day, depending on the number of training flights.

Heimbaugh said that the runway has not been lengthened or widened. It remains 2,250 feet long and 50 feet wide.

The new runway is part of an ongoing refurbishing of the airport, which has been for sale for about three years. Mettetal carries a price tag of $4.1 million, according to information provided to a committee that studied the possibility of Canton Township buying Mettetal.

Early in October, about 150 volunteers painted all 15 buildings at the airport. The same month, the Federal Aviation Administration reinstated approval of instrument landings at the airport.

According to Heimbaugh, the FAA had withdrawn approval for about two months because of inadequate markings along the runway. The markings were then redone.

"This will be a beautiful little airport," said Heimbaugh. "We've been getting calls from people who'd left and now they want to come back because of the fixing up. And we've got the best location in the state, now."

CANTON TOWNSHIP declined to buy the airport in August. Since then, Plymouth Township and city of Plymouth officials have discussed creating an authority or partnership to run the airport.

Canton officials have said they would oppose any such move by the Plymouth communities. Relations between Canton and the two Plymouths "will go into a deep freeze," said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack recently.

PCEP band wins regional competition

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Marching Band was awarded the Championship Trophy at the Marching Bands of America Mid-East Regional Competition held at the University of Toledo on Saturday, Oct. 27.

In addition to the trophy, each band member and instructor was presented a championship medal.

The regional show included 30 bands from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The show was an all-day event with a daytime preliminary competition and a finals show that included the 10 highest scoring bands.

The PCEP Band received a 93.7

evening score and trophies for Best Music Performance, Best General Effect, Best Visual and Best Auxiliary.

The band is preparing for the Marching Bands of American National Competition at the Hoosierdome in Indianapolis, Ind.

More than 500 boosters, parents, grandparents, and alumni band members have purchased tickets and are planning to follow the band to Indianapolis. This competition will feature over 50 bands from across the United States.

THE PRELIMINARY competition will take place Friday, Nov. 16, and Saturday, Nov. 17. The percussion section of the band will also compete in a separate competition on Friday. The PCEP Marching Band's preliminary competition time will be Saturday morning. The top 10 bands will then be selected and compete for National honors Saturday evening.

On Tuesday, Nov. 13, band members will have an indoor practice at the Silverdome to help them become accustomed to the acoustics of a domed stadium and help them prepare for artificial turf.

The annual Band Banquet will take place Tuesday, Nov. 20, in the Canton High School cafeteria. The final performance for the season will be the halftime show at the Lion's

Family setting is key for anti-drug program

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Sitting in the modest kitchen of a Wayne County home, five lively teens munch pizza, slurp cola and recount the day's activities amid amiable chatter and jokes.

Mom hovers nearby, serving up additional pizza and coke. Dad retires to the front room, complete with earplugs to watch the evening's TV news in relative solitude.

An ideal picture of home life but in this instance, a unique family forged of common need and striving to cope with inviting yet destructive elements outside the home.

The youths, five boys hailing from Michigan and elsewhere, and the parents, Margo and Steve Andrews of Dearborn Heights, are participants in Straight, a drug treatment program that emphasizes a good deal more than mere abstinence from substance abuse.

"Honesty. Strength. Responsibility. Sticking up for myself. Being strong. Showing care," said Jason, 15, itemizing characteristics that, according to Straight training, are essential in remaining drug-free.

"I THINK I'M ready," to move from Phase I in the program to Phase II. For Jason, a black youth raised in Lansing by white adoptive parents, it means that after four months and eight days of living with the Andrews while participating in Straight, he has finally earned the privilege to visit his real home.

In Phase III he will be allowed to once again attend high school. Phase IV means renewed socializing now strictly curtailed and Phase V equates a return to normalcy and assisting others in their five-phase struggle.

The struggle is an ongoing challenge, according to Adam, 14, in explaining his reverse slide from Phase IV to II. "I haven't been honest. I'm not doing what I need to do."

Adam is the Andrews' natural son and their reason for Straight involvement. Two years ago, Margo and Steve discovered the boy was experimenting with liquor and drugs, a disquieting fact made more so because Margo's father is an alcoholic.

Now all three attend regular counseling at Straight offices in Plymouth. Their home is a "host home," a place where other participants in need of housing can temporarily reside.

"The bottom line," Steve Andrews said. "This is for my son. I have to give him 110 percent. There's no guarantee, but hopefully he'll stay off drugs the rest of his life." Full family involvement is an essential component of the program.

JOHN, A 15-YEAR-OLD from Pennsylvania whose mother moved here to be near him during treatment, has attempted rehab before, including a "lock-up facility where we'd do head rushes to get high."

"See, it's (addiction) a progressive disease. But I got so tired of it, lying and everything, I tried to commit suicide."

Bryan, a 16-year-old from Indianapolis whose mother once smoked marijuana with him, responds. "John's totally changed his whole life around."

"Being honest is the first and most important rule. When you take drugs you grow on the outside but you don't grow on the inside. And if you don't solve your problems, you're not off drugs. You can be dry, but not off," Bryan said.

John, in Phase III, has returned to high school, along with Frank, 17, from Saginaw who, after four years of drug abuse, is repeating ninth grade. Both attend a nearby high school while living at the Andrews'.

"I really enjoy being back," Frank said of school. "The biggest thing I appreciate, for the first time in three years I'm passing math. I feel sure about myself."

A successful return to school is an important step in recovery, indicating growing self restraint, the ability to avoid destructive temptations.

THIS EMPHASIS ON personal growth accounts for a 70 percent success rate in the program, according to Judith Preslar of Straight whose own adopted son has completed the program.

Straight was founded in Florida in 1976, the Plymouth chapter started five years ago. Today, 61 youths between the ages of 12 and 25 years receive treatment at a cost of $30 daily.

Fourteen families in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties provide host home facilities like the Andrews'.

Running away is not uncommon among youth in the program. John, now residing at the Andrews, once ran because "I lied. Then I felt trapped."

Lying is perceived as "a mental relapse," according to Frank, who ran during one of his first visits home with real parents in Saginaw. "I was into rebellion for a long time."

In keeping with Straight guidelines, his parents reported the run and would not allow him to return to their home. He was later readmitted to the program, starting over in Phase I.

For more information about Straight, call 453-2618.

Airport director gets new job

Wayne County director of Airports Richard Jamison will resign that post as of Dec. 1 to become principal aviation consultant for the modernization of Metro airport.

Jamison's responsibilities will be assumed on an acting basis by Robert Braun, currently deputy director for airport administration.

"There are going to be so many projects going on at the airport, that in order for Dick to commit as much time as we will be demanding, he had to be relieved of the burden of managing the day-to-day activities of both airports," Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara said. In addition to Metro, in Romulus, the county also manages Willow Run Airport in Van Buren Township.

Metro Airport expansion and modernization will continue with Tuesday's election victory for $100 million in airport bonds.

How to win at the numbers game.

The game is newspaper advertising — and the rules are changing. Rates are up in the Detroit News and Free Press. Suburban circulation is down. And all around town, advertisers are wondering what numbers to trust — and where to place their media dollars. What should you do?

Beware of smoke and mirrors.

Right now, the News and Free Press circulation is unstable at best. On the other hand, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers delivers to more than 500,000 households — and that's a real number.

How do we know? All SPRING newspapers are audited. Every year, the circulation figures for each SPRING newspaper are verified by either CAC or ABC — two of the industry's most highly-respected independent auditors.

No slippery stuff here. SPRING's numbers are tested, tried, and true.

Place your bet on SPRING.

Once you've studied the numbers, we're sure you'll agree: SPRING is a sure winner.

SPRING's circulation is solid and stable. It's audited. And it represents more than one million readers who have the means to buy what you sell.

No matter how you figure it — those are very good odds, indeed.

State lawmakers say they'll keep medical hearings open

By Tim Richard
staff writer

State lawmakers, in a move to revise the discipline system for doctors, say they won't shut the doors on public scrutiny.

"There will be no blanket exemptions from the Open Meetings Act and Freedom of Information Act," said state Rep. David Gubow, D-Huntington Woods, sponsor of the main bill.

"Doctors wanted to keep the cases closed until appeals are exhausted. Many of us said 'no.' Democrats and Republicans wanted them open," said Gubow.

"I objected to keeping the proceedings secret," said Rep. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield. "Their theory is, don't besmirch the practitioner's name until it (the charge) has been proven. But what if people get hurt while these proceedings are pending?"

THE BILLS ARE on the agenda today in the House Judiciary Committee. An aide to chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said amendments have been prepared to restore some of the discipline process to public scrutiny.

The problem, all agree, is that the state Department of Licensing and Regulation has a backlog of complaints against health care professionals. The same staff handles both licensing and complaints.

Thrust of the 11-bill package is to divide the work, double the fees to pay for the program, and give help to professionals with drug and alcohol problems.

"We've got 22 different boards that do licensing and discipline," said Dan Farhat, manager of state legislation for the Michigan State Medical Society. "They are not staffed properly for the number of licenses. Historically, you cannot get the guy's license for a minimum of two years."

Gubow's package arose from a special committee appointed by House Speaker Lewis Dodak, D-Monroe, during the argument over soaring medical malpractice costs.

"We think it will have an impact on liability to get rid of the bad apples so the good ones won't have to pay for it," said Farhat.

"Physicians can get a lot of delays in the procedure. This system sets up specific time tables and provides a funding mechanism to do the job."

GUBOW SAID a key portion of the act, already approved by both chambers, is a "health practitioners recovery program."

"It's like a company's employee assistance program," said Gubow. "Workers voluntarily enter the program. We offer them evaluation, treatment and monitored re-entry into the work force. But if they fall off the wagon, we have a stick that dumps them in a punishment program."

"The recovery program will be on the confidential side," he said. There was some effort to model the confidentiality provisions after the State Bar's highly confidential procedures for dealing with complaints against lawyers. But Gubow said the State Bar's procedures are under some attack for concealing too much.

Settlement conferences will be closed off but not board hearings. The fact that an allegation has been filed and the date — but not the substance of the allegation — would be public information, Gubow said.

CURRENTLY, physicians pay some $1.2 million for licenses, said Farhat. It goes into the general fund, and 70 to 80 percent is allocated to licensing and regulation.

"We'd like all the money to go into the system," the medical society spokesman said.

Medical doctors, chiropractors, dentists, optometrists, osteopaths, podiatrists and psychologists would see their annual fees rise from $40 or $50 a year to $90.

Dental assistants, nurses, physical therapists, physicians assistants, veterinarians, veterinary technicians and occupational therapists would pay lesser fees but see increases.

Asthma sufferers are in danger from theophylline-based medications, a Southfield lawyer warns.

Michael Materna and members of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America urged the government and drug industry to establish stronger safeguards for those who use those medications.

Materna, of the Southfield firm of Materna, Hires & Custer, said an unsuspecting public needs to be aware of real dangers associated with theophylline-based medications, especially with the coming of the flu season.

"Theophylline is one of the most commonly prescribed medications for people suffering from asthma. The drug also is found in many over-the-counter medications consumers can purchase without a prescription," he said.

"ATLA STAGED an 'alert' news conference as part of its consumer protection program to make the public aware of at least 26 preventable incidents of death, seizures, brain damage and cardiac arrhythmia related to theophylline use."

"Of these incidents brought to ATLA's attention, 14 involved children under 5 years of age, and our office presently represents the family of a baby who was severely damaged and subsequently died years later due to the prescribed use of a theophylline-based medication.

LAST WEEK, ATLA sent a letter to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration urging tighter safeguards on theophylline use. ATLA's efforts were joined by Dr. Theodore W. Rall, noted professor of pharmacology at the University of Virginia Medical School, and a leading theophylline expert, who urged that "over-the-counter medication containing theophylline be banned immediately."

"A safe dose can become a toxic dose in the presence of an illness such as flu," Rall added.

Materna said thousands of documents detailing pharmaceutical industry knowledge of the hazards of theophylline-based medications are unknown to the public, medical experts, the press and even the U.S. Food and Drug Administration because of a court protective order. He said a special judicial order secured the release of a 1985 internal pharmaceutical company memo acknowledging acute concerns about toxic reaction to the drug.

Boy Scouts to collect food for area's needy

Area Boy Scouts will be going door-to-door Saturday, Nov. 17, to gain food for needy families.

An estimated 30,000 scouts will be hanging plastic bags on the doors of some 500,000 metro Detroit homes. They will return one week later to pick up the bags which, scouts hope, will be filled with canned goods.

The project, called Food Good Turn, is being operated nationwide. Last year, Detroit-area scouts collected 120 tons of food.

Food collected will be distributed to the Hunger Action Coalition of Southeast Michigan. The agency, in turn, gives the food to regional emergency shelters and soup kitchens.

INDICATIONS OF ARTHRITIS

How can you tell if you have arthritis of the knees rather than a pinched nerve, or the beginning of poor circulation? First, ask yourself how did the problem come on. In arthritis, you initially note pain on walking up or down stairs, or you find it difficult to get out of a car, or arise from a chair.

None of these difficulties are present in cases of sciatica or if you suffer from poor artery blood flow.

Second, evaluate the nature of your discomfort. Arthritis pain is an ache, concentrated in the area of the knee joint. In contrast, nerve injury pain is a numbness that radiates down the leg starting from the thigh and moving to the foot.

Pain from a poor blood supply comes on after you have walked awhile, is sharp, and is located, not in the joint, but in either the calf or buttocks.

Finally, consider what relieves the pain. In arthritis, resting helps substantially, but it takes minutes to hours for the ache to end. In nerve conditions the pain may be worse at rest. In instance of poor blood supply, rest causes the pain to end in moments to minutes, while resuming activity brings the discomfort back immediately.

Thus, each of the major causes for leg pain has characteristics that aid you and your doctor to identify the cause.

Roe Street program not the best

To the editor:
I would like to address and enlighten some uninformed pseudo-humanitarians regarding the situation on Roe Street.

Marcia Andersen's aftercare abuse program is not akin to a Mother Theresa endeavor. She has started a corporation and stands to profit from it. This is being done under the guise of helping these people who have gone astray. Many worthwhile programs have been discontinued due to lack of funding i.e. the Detroit Methadone program. Andersen's as it stands is so excessively funded that she will be able to comfortably house, feed, transport and train these people while still turning a profit.

Her clients will comprise 15 percent of the Roe Street population and will be asked to leave every six months so that an equal number can replace them.

Contrary to what some of you may think, those of us who are more closely involved are not void of compassion. But let's all go back to our psychology 101 classes.

Your professor poses a hypothetical question. A fairly large group of people who after having had histories of substance abuse are covertly moved in next door to your house. He also infers that many may be there in lieu of jail terms. Our liberalistic society dictates that you are not entitled to a single profile on any of your new neighbors, not so much as a last name initial. The professor then asks you to deliberate quietly and answer either verbally or to yourself if you would welcome them.

Take your time, especially you, Andersen, Counts and Prosyk. This is not supposition to us on Roe street.

If the majority of you answered yes and would not find this objectionable or undesirable then by pure coincidence the city of Plymouth has housed hundreds of hypocrites and narrow-minded not in my backyard you don'ts in one area of the city. Andersen, with her painfully translucent self-serving naivete, has repeatedly apologized to the city for all of the things she feels she hasn't done wrong. She has asked us to reconceptualize this concentration of recovering addicts as a "concentration of creativity." I can do this since I am real close to all of the anxiety it has created.

While I am busy conceptualizing I will try to reconceptualize the introduction and implementation of this virtuous, profitable program and maybe then Andersen could get it right.

Vote is urged on Mettetal

To the editor:
Before everyone gets over-enthusiased about having a helicopter school at Mettetal Airport, I would like to point out that the last time they trained law enforcement people to fly helicopters at Mettetal it was not a pleasant experience for those living nearby.

I live near Ann Arbor Road and Lilly in the city of Plymouth and after more than a few days of taking off and landing and practicing flying with the helicopters in our vicinity, it got to be more than annoying. In training they don't just take off or land once but many times and they gain altitude and come in lower or higher repeatedly to get the experience necessary to fly under all conditions.

I called the airport the last time this training was being done, asking why the helicopters were coming so low over the houses repeatedly. They informed me that they had so many complaints coming from the residents living south, east and west as they practiced that they were routing the training area over our homes to pacify the people in those areas until the training would be completed. The man I talked to said to please be patient it would be no more than a few days 'til the training would be completed and the helicopters wouldn't be a bother any more.

Anyone who advocates a helicopter school out of Mettetal is not thinking of the people living nearby who would have to tolerate the noise at all hours. And if they had to reroute the training last time because of so many complaints, I would remind you there are even more dwellings in the vicinity now.

As far as the Metro Airport and Willow Run airplanes invading the airspace, maybe it's time that we in Michigan are shown the same consideration that other large airports in the nation show their populations living nearby; which is that jets take off to a higher altitude more quickly and eliminate much of the loud noise.

Also I would hate to see the city of Plymouth get involved in forming an airport authority trying to save Mettetal. I wonder how many people who live in the city would gain from this airport's continued existence. Although Mr. Breen seems to be very confident he knows how everything will be handled by the City Commission. Does he know something no one else does? Isn't it nice that private donors may be the deciding factor in what certain communities get involved in?

Let's all vote on it in the city and see if this is what the resident taxpayer wants the city to get involved in. Seems to me they have enough to worry about with shortfalls in the budget lately. Maybe it's time to get the petitions ready.

Ray and Rosita Smith,

Band did good job

To the editor:
A state championship competition was held in Plymouth Saturday, Oct. 27, and our local papers made no mention of it that I could find.

I refer, of course, to the Michigan Competing Band Director's competition, in which 90-92 marching bands made up of some 4,000 young people demonstrating more teamwork than any sports team could ever match were ignored by the local media.

In these days of "devil's night" mischief, these kids who work hard to produce something exciting deserve more attention and recognition.

Come on, cover the suburbs like the dailies cover the city.

Roe Street tolerance is needed

To the editor:
I am pleased you are following the controversy over the Roe Street Aftercare Program. The articles from Oct. 3 through 18 attempt to give an objective view. However, the editorial on Thursday, Oct. 18, titled "Tolerance" was especially appreciated.

I applaud Dr. Andersen. She has confronted a seeming unsolvable problem — recidivism with drug addiction including alcohol addiction. Her method of helping these people by encouraging a business endeavor may help. How will we know unless we as the public at least tolerate this plan?

The Roe Street controversy has certainly increased the sensitivity of the public to the drug issue. What about further articles on Plymouth's problem with drugs, the impact, treatment and recidivism?

Animal rights column shed light on issue

To the editor:
Over the last several weeks there has been considerable debate in our Plymouth-Canton Observer newspaper over an article written by Jeff Counts. The article, "Animal rights fanatics want to turn the world on its ear," is the focus of the debate.

Clearly the tenor of Mr. Counts' article has stimulated thought. I believe that it intended to stimulate thought. Moreover, a good editorial is supposed to stimulate, even provoke thought. Mr. Counts' article was an editorial, it provoked thought and for that he should be commended, not condemned.

The question of change in our society whenever it is proposed, and for whatever reason, should be thoroughly discussed.

Clearly, that was recognized by our founding fathers when they established the Bill of Rights, particularly the First Amendment. If those who espouse change cannot defend their position, if they react only with emotion and visceral comments and threats, those of us who are gathering the facts from which to formulate our position should indeed be suspicious.

The concept being put forth by animal rights activists, whether you believe they are good or not, calls for dramatic, permanent change. For all who have yet to decide on the appropriateness of what society is being asked to do, take care not to act on emotion, but be rational and logical. The effects of your decision will be broad and long lasting.

Mettetal supported

To the editor:
During the past few months, I have read with interest your articles regarding the purchase of Mettetal Airport by a public municipality. I feel the readers have not been given the positive side of this issue. The values of the airport to the local communities are considerable and varied.

The possibility of establishing an educational facility with the local high schools, community college and four-year university is of great benefit to the youth of our communities.

The aviation industry is experiencing rapid growth, and the number of good-paying jobs available for mechanics, pilots and aviation management personnel will be increasing by the year 2000.

THERE IS an expected 4,000-5,000 jobs to be available by the year 2000 in the metro area. Lansing Community College has a program in effect and is getting 100 percent job placement for its graduates.

As a Plymouth Township resident and grandmother, I am glad to have the airport in our community. I have taken our grandchildren there when they visit to watch the planes and activities going on. They can experience the job of watching at a safe but close proximity.

Can the airport be self-sustaining? Yes. Once it is publicly owned, it will become not only self-sustaining but will make money.

THIS IS clearly shown by the statistics the state of Michigan has made available. It does not require any tax dollars to be spent. In fact, with the establishment of an airport authority, no Plymouth Township taxes can be spent on the airport.

If the airspace above Mettetal is not protected, as it is now, for the use of small aircraft, the larger, much-noisier jet aircraft heading for Detroit Metro and Willow Run will be allowed to fly lower, and residents will experience the kind of noise annoyance that Dearborn is currently fighting.

This airport can be an important part of our community — used by all residents. Let your readers know all the facts.

Talk to the state of Michigan and the FAA and find out what can and cannot be done with regards to this airport.

No job parity for women is outrageous

To the editor:
The American Association of University Women finds it reprehensible that 36 years after "Brown vs. Board of Education," Congress may establish separate and unequal categories of relief for the victims of discrimination in its Civil Rights Act of 1990. Equitable remedies for women who have been discriminated against are central to our nation's commitment to equal justice.

AAUW believes that the cost of discrimination should be borne by those who discriminate — not by the victim. The Civil Rights Act of 1990 will require employers who intentionally discriminate on the basis of sex to pay the same cost they would pay if found guilty of other forms of blatant discrimination. That seems to us a matter of parity and of simple justice.

For too many years, women have paid the cost of employment discrimination. They've paid in emotional distress and physical illness. They've paid in limited opportunities, low wages and reduced pensions. Each time a working woman is subjected to biased hiring and promotion practices or on-the-job harassment, she pays the cost of discrimination.

Until equal remedies are available for all victims of discrimination, women will continue to pay a higher price for discrimination than others. To ask them to continue to accept treatment as second-class citizens is not only unfair, but outrageous; it is a mockery of civil rights. We urge passage of a Civil Rights Act that ensures equal treatment and remedies for all Americans — including women.

AAUW, founded in 1881, is the first and largest organization working for equity and education for women and girls, with more than 135,000 members, 1,800 branches and divisions in every state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam.

Donna M. Rhinehart, president

Column earns his accolades

To the editor:
I would like to thank you and the Observer & Eccentric for publishing the heart-breaking column written by Judith Berne on Oct. 18.

She made people aware of the plight of the mentally ill and the anguish and anxiety of the parents and relatives of those who are unfortunate to be afflicted with this dreadful illness.

It's finally come out of the closet, thanks to sympathetic writers like Judith Berne. Bravo to Judith Berne, you and to O & E.

HOUSE:

Deficit Reduction — By a vote of 228 for and 209 against, the House approved the conference report on budget legislation (HR 5835) aimed at slowing deficit growth by about $490 billion over five years. Democrats voted 181 for and 74 against and Republicans 47 for and 128 against.

Supporters said the measure would improve but not cure America's deficit problem. For example, red ink this fiscal year is projected to top $200 billion even after the bill trims it by $40 billion.

The revenue side of HR 5835 is estimated at about $189 billion. Upper income taxpayers will supply most of the tax yield as a result of cuts on their deductions and personal exemptions. Most other Americans will be touched by higher taxes on gasoline, alcoholic beverages, cigarettes and airline tickets, an extension of the wage base for Medicare payroll taxes and other revenue measures.

A defense slowdown of about $185 billion over five years is the bill's major spending restraint. Medicare curbs are estimated at $44 billion, about $10 billion of which will hit beneficiaries. Spending growth is curbed by $12 billion for farm subsidies, $7.4 billion for civil servant retirement benefits and $3.7 billion for veterans' benefits, among other restraints.

A yes vote was to join the bipartisan leadership and President Bush in support of the deficit-reduction bill. Voting yes from Michigan were William Ford, D-Taylor, and Sander Levin, D-Southfield. Voting no from Michigan were Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

Fish Inspection — By a vote of 277 for and 153 against, the House adopted an amendment to prevent the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) from taking charge of a proposed federal seafood inspection program. This put the Commerce Department and Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in control of the government's first comprehensive monitoring of shellfish and finfish cleanliness.

At issue was whether the USDA's meat and poultry inspection should also oversee fish. Most consumer groups favored the Commerce-FDA approach, arguing USDA inspection has a record of laxity. Most meat and poultry groups favored USDA jurisdiction, out of concern a Commerce-FDA seal of approval would give fish an image and marketing edge. Those who catch, process and sell fish were divided over who should inspect them.

Roll Call Report

The bill (S 2924) was sent to a conference with Senate version that empowers the USDA to run fish inspection. With time running out to resolve the dispute, it appeared the bill would die with the 101st Congress.

A yes vote was for Commerce-FDA control of federal fish inspection. Voting yes from Michigan were Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

Gay Rights Issue — By a vote of 186 for and 210 against, during debate on the fiscal 1991 appropriations bill (HR 5311) for the District of Columbia, the House refused to narrow the D.C. law protecting homosexuals against discrimination. At issue was whether the House should accept Senate language permitting youth organizations such as Big Brothers to exclude gay men as monitors without violating the D.C.

law. The vote left the gay rights law untouched.

A yes vote was to enable the Big Brothers organization in D.C. to bar gay men from leadership roles. Voting yes from Michigan was Broomfield. Voting no from Michigan were Pursell, Hertel and Levin. William Ford did not vote.

SENATE:

To Carb Deficit — By a vote of 54 for and 45 against, the Senate sent to President Bush for his signature the mammoth budget reconciliation bill (HR 5835) designed to slow deficit growth by $490 billion between fiscal 1991-95 through tax hikes and spending restraints.

Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, said "every member of this Senate knows that by far the fastest growing spending programs are Social Security and Medicare. Yet not one of those senators who spoke here today in opposition to this package and made such a demand for spending cuts has stood up" to urge Medicare and Social Security cuts.

Opponent Trent Lott, R-Miss., said "only in Washington would we call this a spending decrease because we're holding down the amount of increase. It makes no sense. Let's just state it very simply, over the next five year period federal government spending will go up probably well in excess of $200 billion in spending increases over a myriad of areas."

A yes vote supported the deficit reduction package. Voting no from Michigan were Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D.

Aid to Salvador — The Senate voted 75 for and 24 against, during debate on a fiscal 1991 foreign aid bill (HR 5114), to reduce by half the Administration's request of $85 million in military aid to El Salvador.

The cut would hold unless guerrilla forces fighting the Salvadoran government take certain hostile actions. The amendment also puts conditions on the government, including a threat of further cuts if it fails to prosecute those who murdered six Jesuit priests and their housekeeper a year ago.

Sponsor Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., complained that while Congress cuts programs at home "we shuffle money by the carload down to El Salvador and get absolutely nothing in return."

Opponent Steven Symms, R-Idaho, said Congress is "placing unconscionable restrictions on El Salvador when we should be sending a message of support for what they are doing."

A yes vote was to have military aid to El Salvador. Voting yes from Michigan were Levin and Riegle.

Aid To Egypt — By a vote of 43 for and 55 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to keep Egypt's $6.7 billion debt to the United States on the books. Occurring during debate on HR 5114 (above), the vote sustained President Bush's plan to forgive the debt to reward Egypt for its support of the Desert Shield operation against Iraq.

Supporter James Exon, D-Neb., said other debtor nations also would seek forgiveness. He added that writing off Egypt's debt would add $756 million to the 1991 deficit.

Opponent Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., said "we all know we have no better ally anywhere in the world than Egypt."

A yes vote opposed forgiving Egypt's debt. Voting yes from Michigan was Levin. Riegle did not vote.

"When you're as active as we are, you need a health plan that helps you stay that way."
"Our family likes to keep busy. We go camping, skiing, canoeing, swimming... you name it and we probably do it. We also do all we can to stay healthy. After all, nothing can spoil a weekend more than if one of us gets sick."
"So when it came to choosing a health benefits plan, we picked one that would fit our lifestyle. One that realizes the importance of staying well, not just getting better once you're sick. We chose Care Choices HMO."
"With Care Choices, our family is covered for many kinds of preventive care, like lab tests, immunizations, x-rays and doctor visits. Everything's so convenient, with a minimum of paperwork."
"Of course, we wouldn't belong to Care Choices if we couldn't get our care from some of the best doctors and hospitals around. And comprehensive coverage for hospitalization and emergency care worldwide are important features, too. But Care Choices even goes beyond that, offering members discounts on various health-related classes and programs. Now, that's a health plan!"

Roasted veggies trendy

Ventured into any trendy restaurants lately? One glance at the menu is all it takes to notice the influence the Southwest is having on our cuisine.

A few weeks back, dinner at Chimayo, Chef Brian Polcyn's new quasi-Tex-Mex spot in downtown Pontiac, turned up Chamo peppers stuffed with three cheeses. Last week, lunch at Chef Ed Janos' upscale Too Chez found another South-of-the-Border stuffed pepper sitting atop a bed of angel hair pasta.

Many of our local eateries are packing up the old steamed and sauteed vegetable routine and replacing what used to be fodder for folks without teeth, with a mixture of roasted vegetables. Grilled green onion strips, shards of carrots, slices of eggplant intermingled with an assortment of green, yellow, red, sweet, tangy, spicy and downright incendiary peppers are the latest food trend to hit the metropolitan area.

Sure, the chefs in these kitchens have $4,000 char-grills. You can easily duplicate char-grilled conditions at home with a $1,500 Jenn Air or $3,500 Gaggenau grill, but what about the folks like you and me with a $299 Harvest Gold Tappan?

THERE ARE SOME tricks left over from my Halloween bag of goodies. For starters, anyone can use a backyard grill to duplicate trendy grilled vegetables. Gas grills are more convenient, and at a recent visit to a discount store, I found a small propane grill discounted from $30 all the way down to $13.99. Resisting the urge to upgrade the Janes Gang's debt-ridden Visa card, I remembered the old Farberware grill borrowed many moons ago from Momma's fruit cellar. This electric version of the in-home grill produced stunning results.

But not to be outdone with electric, propane and barbecues, I remembered a visit with international cooking guru Julia Child a few years back and her use of a portable propane torch to singe meringue on a baked Alaska dessert. This interesting device, long relegated to a basement or garage workshop, can do wonders for blistering the skins on many of the trendy peppers and vegetables available at any good upscale produce market.

With the simple flick of a Bic lighter, any basic baked or sauteed vegetable can be brushed with a simple Italian dressing and then torched to glaze with remarkable results. Better yet, propane torches can be picked up for under $10 at any hardware or building supply shop.

Imagine what flavors can be intermingled into a basic chili by gouging a jalapeno pepper on the tip of a fork and then blistering the skin with the torch. Drop the pepper into a small bag, wrap and allow the skin to steam off, then perform a fine chop and, Voila! Instant flavor. Ditto for green peppers and their flavorful sweet counterparts, the red pepper.

YOURS TRULY likes to slice eggplant about ¼-inch thick, place on a greased cookie sheet, brush lightly with a bottled Italian dressing, bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes and finish with a subtle glaze of the torch to a delicious golden patina. This will have your vegetable lovers shouting for more. The same procedure can be followed with parboiled carrot slices, plain green onions and fresh mushrooms.

Last week, the torch was used on basic sliced tomatoes topped with chopped basil and a sprinkling of Parmesan. The possibilities for using a torch in the kitchen are endless.

If you are sick and tired of basic old humdrum veggies, find a grill or torch and get roasting.

Christine Roperti feeds turkeys, who will soon become the center of Thanksgiving Day feasts. Roperti Turkey Farm in Livonia raises more than 4,000 turkeys each sales season.

These birds are really fresh

Thanksgiving ritual prompts questions

By Arlene Funke
special writer

ARE YOU LONGING to — excuse the pun — gobble a fresh, juicy turkey on Thanksgiving?

At the Roperti Turkey Farm in Livonia, the birds are nourished on a diet of corn, then killed and dressed the day before being sold.

The result is a turkey that is moist, tender and full of flavor, according to Christine Roperti, who runs the farm with her two grown sons.

"Once you have one, you just can't go anywhere else," boasts Roperti, a lifelong Livonia resident who attended Ladywood High School and graduated from Bentley High.

Customers place their orders in advance, then come to the farm to pick up their orders. By Thanksgiving Day, some 4,000 birds will have been sold.

While some people enjoy the convenience of a frozen turkey, turkey connoisseur and cookbook author

Rick Rodgers always prefers a fresh bird.

"The taste is full and natural, and I can do without the long defrosting ritual, which invariably leads to a loss of flavorful juices," said Rodgers in "The Turkey Cookbook," published by HarperPerennial.

ROPERTI'S TURKEY Farm is one of the last holdovers of Livonia's rural past. It sits on 5½ acres on Five Mile Road, west of Farmington Road, surrounded by single-family homes.

Christine Roperti is the daughter of the late Tom and Mary Roperti, who started a dairy farm in the mid-1940s. After a few years, dairy farming became too strenuous, and Tom Roperti sold his equipment.

Then a friend suggested that he "raise a few turkeys," Christine Roperti said.

"He started with 100 and sold to all his friends," she said. "Then he went to 200, then 500. Now we raise over 4,000 turkeys."

Christine Roperti, a former federal meat inspector and nurse's aide, operates the farm with sons, Tony Skrabut, 23, and Tom Roperti, 21. All live in Livonia.

Each August Roperti buys six-week-old chicks from a turkey farm in Zeeland. She fattens them on corn, wheat and oats mixed with a concentrate. The birds strut and flap their wings as they roam about the large penned yard.

As the season draws closer, Roperti switches the turkeys to an all-corn diet. She is convinced it is the corn that assures a moist, flavorful turkey.

"You can get fresh turkeys at any store," Roperti said. "You have to get it at a farm where they feed corn. A large farm that feeds hundreds of thousands can't afford to feed them corn."

THE SALES season runs from early October to Dec. 23. Most of the action occurs the week before Thanksgiving when approximately 1,000 birds are processed each day.

Some 45 million whole turkeys are eaten each Thanksgiving.

It seems the annual ritual of preparing the sumptuous holiday meal sparks a flurry of questions from cooks.

What size turkey should I buy? Can I safely stuff the turkey the day before? How long should the bird be roasted?

"You have to take a lot of precautions," said Lois Thieleke, home economist with the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service in Pontiac.

Thieleke often hears this question: "When I go to the store I see stuffed chickens for sale. Why can't I stuff my own turkey ahead of time and put it in the refrigerator?"

Thieleke points out that store-made stuffing is almost exclusively bread. Homemade stuffing may include eggs, broth, chopped vegetables, oysters or sausage. The addition of those ingredients increases the potential for bacteria in the uncooked product.

"The more stuff you add, then you have a potential for a dangerous thing," Thieleke said.

Ingesting contaminated food can result in nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea.

Sweet Lorraine's has good following

Not that many years ago, the stars at 29101 Greenfield were Ron Coden, Charlie Lattimer, Phil Marcus Esser and a host of other top-notch folk artists.

That's when the renowned Raven Gallery was in its prime. Today that address belongs to Sweet Lorraine's Cafe and the stars are the yellow fin tuna with Korean-inspired barbecue sauce, Jamaican spicy steak, Cajun burgers, pecan chicken and countless other innovative dishes prepared with the utmost attention and inspiration of Lorraine Platman.

It's to Platman's credit that the mint-colored cafe inspires the same loyalty, almost a reverence, that the Raven once cultivated. Like its predecessor, the cafe provides guests with premium talent: the menu is exciting and the food preparation is superb. There's even a bit of that feeling of camaraderie that once filled the Raven.

On any given night, guests are apt to find the likes of Hungarian goulash soup; pear-and-brie-stuffed enchilladas; avocado tempura; chicken sauteed with cherries, spinach, yellow squash, purple onions and archicoke hearts; and a dessert-like pumpkin cheesecake. Not only are these entrees imaginative and intriguing, but they are put together with such artistry that you feel you can trust the decision to mix ingredients like cherries and squash.

AMONG OUR favorites at Lorraine's are the chicken coated with ground pecans that is sauteed and served with a mustard sauce ($7.95 at lunch and $10.95 at dinner) and the wildly exciting Jamaican strip steak seasoned with hot — and we do mean hot — Caribbean spices and then broiled ($11.95 at lunch and $13.95 at dinner). It takes a strong stomach — and a cold beer — to enjoy the steak, but it's such an intensely different taste for steak that we consider it a "must try." By contrast, the pecan chicken delivers what it promises, a delicious and uncontroverial entree.

Platman obviously enjoys conjuring up all sorts of sauces. Among her specialties are an Indonesian peanut sauce served with chicken kebobs, a ginger dill sauce accompanying a scallop and shrimp dish, and a spicy creole sauce coating a shrimp and chicken entree. With her sauces, the ordinary becomes sublime.

Which is why we couldn't resist trying the yellow fin tuna that was recently featured with a "Korean-inspired barbecue sauce." The thick cut of tuna had been marinated in rice wine before being broiled. The thick, brown barbecue sauce was placed in a puddle alongside the tuna, giving the diner the option of dipping the tuna — thank goodness.

This sauce, with its ginger and tamari ingredients, was so intense that only a dab was needed to give the tuna a hot, vibrant taste. Definitely interesting, but not for the faint of heart. A cold, oriental noodle salad accompanied this entree, providing a refreshingly bland contrast in taste.

Sweet Lorraine's Cafe, 29101 Greenfield Road, Southfield, 559-5985. (Platman and husband, Gary Sussman, also own a cafeteria-styled Sweet Lorraine's at 1351 W. 14 Mile at Campbell, Madison Heights, 585-0627.)

Hours: Monday-Thursday 11 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., Friday-Saturday 11 a.m. to midnight.

Prices: Lunch: $3.25 to $10.95, with most selections $5-$6; Dinner $10.95 to $16.95. Wines $12.95-$19.95 per bottle. All major credit cards.

Value: Great. A place where innovative dining is reasonably priced.

 This year Roperti also will sell smoked turkey and upscale hams. Both hen and tom turkeys are sold. Hens are female birds, weighing from 14 to 22 pounds each. Toms, the males, average 22 to 35 pounds each. The two types are equal in taste, tenderness and moistness. Hens sell for $1.99 per pound and toms fetch $1.90 per pound. Because customers are obtaining their turkeys at the source, the freshness surpasses that of the fresh birds which are sold in a butcher shop, Roperti said. Store birds already are a few days old. Roperti turkeys may be refrigerated for up to five days after pickup. Teams of helpers, including friends and relatives, put in long hours preparing the turkeys. The process calls for the bird to be hung upside down and zapped with an electric knife. While stunned, the turkey's throat is slit with a knife and the blood drained. Then the bird is plunged into scalding water. A picking machine removes the feathers. The feet, head and innards are removed.

The dressed bird is placed in cold water for two or three hours. When completely cold it is placed in a plastic bag and stored in the cooler. DOES ROPERTI eat turkey? You bet she does, at least once a month. But never on Thanksgiving. On that day, she and her family enjoy a different kind of feast. "I can't look at turkey on Thanksgiving," Roperti said. "We like lobster." For information about a Roperti fresh turkey, call 464-6546.

SAVORY WILD RICE STUFFING
 2 sticks unsalted butter
 2 cups wild rice
 2 cups long-grain rice
 3 large onions, chopped
 2 cups chopped celery, including leaves
 4 cups chicken stock
 2 cups toasted and coarsely chopped pecans
 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
 1 tablespoon salt
 1 tablespoon dried sage
 1 tablespoon dried marjoram
 1 tablespoon dried savory
 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
 2 teaspoon celery seed
 1 teaspoon freshly ground white pepper

Melt butter in a large heavy skillet or casserole. Add rice, onions and celery. Cook over medium heat for 6 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add stock and bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover pot and simmer for 25 minutes or until stock is completely absorbed and rice is tender. Stir in pecans and seasonings, and mix thoroughly. Makes 16 cups. Can be prepared 2 days ahead. Cover and refrigerate. Bring to room temperature before using.

LUISA'S TURKEY TETRAZZINI
 1/2 pound cooked tubular pasta, such as ziti or penne
 5 tablespoons unsalted butter
 1 tablespoon minced shallot or scallions
 3/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
 2 cups half-and-half, or milk, regular or low-fat
 2 tablespoons dry sherry
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
 1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
 3 cups coarsely chopped cooked turkey (about 1 pound)
 1/4 cup fresh bread crumbs

In a large saucepan of boiling salted water, cook pasta until tender but still firm, 10 to 12 minutes. Drain pasta well, rinse under cold water and set aside. In a large skillet melt 4 tablespoons butter. Add shallot and cook over moderate heat until shallot is softened, about 1 minute. Add mushrooms and cook, stirring often, until mushrooms begin to brown, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle on the flour and cook, stirring, for 1 minute. Stir in milk, sherry, salt and pepper. Bring to simmer. Reduce heat to low and cook until thickened, about 3 minutes. Remove sauce from heat and stir in 1/2 cup of the Parmesan cheese. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In a lightly buttered 3-quart baking dish, combine the cooked pasta and half of the sauce. Stir the turkey into the remaining sauce and pour over the pasta. Sprinkle the top of the pasta with the bread crumbs and the remaining 1/2 cup Parmesan. Dot the top with the remaining 1 tablespoon butter, cut into tiny pieces. Bake until the top is golden brown and crusty, about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

TOASTED TURKEY, CHEDDAR AND APPLE SANDWICHES
 4 tablespoons unsalted butter melted
 8 slices whole wheat bread
 3 tablespoons prepared mustard, preferably honey mustard
 1 pound cooked turkey breast, smoked or roasted, sliced
 1 large green apple, such as Granny

Smith, quartered, cored and thinly sliced
 2 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Butter one side of 4 slices of bread. Place buttered sides down on a baking sheet. Spread mustard over sliced bread. Divide turkey breast evenly over mustard and arrange apple slices on top. Sprinkle cheese evenly over apples. Butter remaining 4 slices of bread and place them, buttered sides up, on cheese. Press lightly to compact the sandwiches. Bake for 10 minutes, turning once with a metal spatula, until sandwiches are golden brown and cheese is melted. With a sharp knife, cut sandwiches in half diagonally and serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Holiday ritual prompts questions

 sion service's food hot line at 858-0904 during business hours. Weekend callers may leave a message on the voice mailbox for a return call on Monday.

Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service home economist Christine Venema is available to answer questions from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursdays. Call 494-3013.

Storing food at improper temperatures is the most common food safety mistake, enabling bacteria to multiply and cause food-borne illnesses, according to pamphlets issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Food Safety and Inspection Service.

The Agriculture Department operates a meat and poultry hot line whose operators typically speak with more than 8,000 callers during the month of November, said Susan Templin, home economist and hot line manager.

"We get the whole gamut of questions," Templin said. "People are generally cooking for a large group of people. People are more prone to making handling mistakes."

Templin advises consumers to wash their hands frequently when preparing food. Chopping boards and utensils used with raw meat products should never be used with cooked food. Wash thoroughly afterward.

POULTRY SHOULD BE cooked to an internal temperature of 180 to 185 degrees, according to Templin. If you're not using a meat thermometer cook until juices run clear.

During November the toll-free hot line operates between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays. The hot line also will be open this weekend. On Thanksgiving Day six operators will be on duty from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"We are very busy on Thanksgiving," Templin said.

Following are a variety of tips to assure a safe and tasty holiday dinner:

- When selecting a turkey allow at least one pound of uncooked turkey per person.

- Never defrost turkey at room temperature. For best results defrost in the refrigerator, allowing a full 24-hour day for each 5 pounds of turkey.

- The speedy method is to defrost the turkey in a sink full of cold water. Change water and rotate bird periodically. Never use warm water to hasten thawing. Allow 30 minutes per pound.

- When thawed, remove turkey from plastic bag. Remove giblets from neck and body cavities. Rinse turkey in cold water, inside and out, until there is no trace of blood. Wipe and pat dry with paper toweling.

- Assemble stuffing and place in cavity of bird immediately before roasting. Don't stuff in advance, to avoid contamination. Fill cavity three-fourths full.

- Close openings with small skewers and crisscrossed string. Tuck wings behind the turkey shoulder. Use metal or heatproof plastic "hook lock," which comes with some turkeys, to secure drumsticks. If there is no hook lock, tie drumsticks together with kitchen string.

- Place turkey on rack, in a shallow roasting pan. Baste with melted butter, dry white wine, stock or broth, every 15 to 20 minutes. Roast at 325 to 350 degrees. Allow 20 to 25 minutes per pound for hens (up to 16

'Cookie Lady' makes turkey meat loaf meal

I find it interesting to note how often people become defined by a particular skill or talent they have.

For example, when I think of Joe Namath, football immediately comes to mind, and when Martha Stewart's name is mentioned, I associate her with entertaining.

If the friends, neighbors and relatives of this week's Winner Dinner Winner were asked to associate her with something, they would surely be unanimous in their choice — cookies!

Mary Ann Saint, a.k.a. the prize-winning "Cookie Lady," is a widow living in the Bradbury adult community complex in Plymouth. The mother of eight children and grandmother of nine, Saint loves to cook and bake and has more than 500 cookbooks. Although cookies are her specialty, she loves to entertain friends for dinner and recently submitted one of her favorite menus to this column. Featuring turkey meat loaves, a cranberry sweet potato casserole, cabbage salad and prize-winning macaroons, this dinner is as colorful as it is delicious.

SAINT FIRST started entering her cookies in the Michigan State Fair 11 years ago. Since then, she has won numerous awards, blue ribbons and even a $300 shopping spree. Her latest honor was a U.S. Savings Bond and certificate from the Archway Cookie Co., citing her for receiving the highest number of points of all the contestants who participated in the cookie division at the 1990 Michigan State Fair. Incredibly enough, this is the third time she has won that award.

Needless to say, Saint does do quite a lot of baking but is also involved in other things as well. She has been on the board of directors at Bradbury for three years where they offer many planned activities for the residents. She is also on the board of directors for the Woman's Club of Plymouth which is preparing to celebrate its 98th anniversary.

With the holiday season approaching, Saint is looking forward to hosting her yearly cookie exchange party for the members of her bridge club. She recently went on a cruise, and after spending many years of her life raising children is really enjoying herself and having lots of fun.

Thank you, Mary Ann Saint, for sending in your prize-winning menu and congratulations on being this week's Winner Dinner Winner. Wish-

Observer & Eccentric Winner Dinner Recipes

MUFFIN-PAN TURKEY MEAT LOAVES

Because they are made with turkey, these meat loaves have reduced amounts of fat and calories. Quick and easy to mix up, any left-over muffin-pan meat loaves can be frozen after baking and stored away for another dinner.

- 1 1/2 pounds ground turkey
- 1 cup quick cooking oatmeal
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 can tomato sauce, divided, 8-ounce size

Combine the turkey, oatmeal, onion, green pepper, mustard and salt. Add 1/2 can of the tomato sauce and mix well. Press mixture into lightly greased muffin tins. Brush remaining tomato sauce on tops of each. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before removing from the pan. Serves 4.

CRANBERRY SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

This colorful dish is sure to become an autumn favorite.

- 1 large can sweet potatoes, drained, 1-pound, 13-ounce size
- 1 can whole cranberry sauce, 15-ounce size
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cut potatoes in 1/2 inch slices. Combine remaining ingredients in a saucepan, and heat until boiling, stirring often. Place half of the potato slices in a 1 1/2 quart greased shallow casserole. Pour half of the cranberry mixture over the potato slices. Arrange the rest of the potatoes over the top of the sauce and add remaining cranberry mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, until hot and bubbly. Serves 4 to 6.

EASY

AUTUMN CABBAGE SALAD

- 1/2 package prepared fresh cabbage salad mix (shredded cabbage and carrots)
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 large unpeeled red apple, diced
- 1/2 cup seedless raisins
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons red wine and vinegar dressing

Combine the cabbage mix, celery, apple and raisins. Mix the mayonnaise and the dressing together and stir into the salad.

FRUIT-SHERBET AND PRIZE-WINNING MACAROONS

Mary Ann Saint won a blue ribbon at the 1980 Michigan State Fair for the following recipe for Macaroons.

- 3 egg whites
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 cups flaked coconut, finely shredded
- 2 tablespoons corn starch
- 1 teaspoon almond flavoring

Beat the egg whites until they are stiff but not dry with an electric mixer. Gradually beat in the sugar. Fold in the coconut which has been premixed in a separate bowl with the cornstarch. Cook, stirring often, in a double boiler over hot water for 15 minutes. Be sure to never let the water in the lower pan touch the underside of the upper pan. Remove the top pan from the heat and add the almond flavoring.

The cooking process causes the batter to thicken up so it will hold its shape when it is dropped from a teaspoon onto greased cookie sheets, 1 inch apart. Bake in a pre-heated 300 degree oven for 20-25 minutes until the cookies turn a very delicate shade of brown. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen cookies.

Shopping List

- 1 1/2 pounds ground turkey

Notes

Main dish is a Thanksgiving recipe for vegetarians

See story on cookbook "Vegetarian Celebrations" on Page 6B.

The following recipe is from the chapter on Thanksgiving in "Vegetarian Celebrations" (Menus for Holidays and Other Festive Occasions) by Nava Atlas (Little, Brown and Co., 1990, $14.95 softcover).

CORN, SQUASH AND RICE LOAVES

Makes 6 to 8 servings

This delicious main dish is a tribute to three abundant American crops.

- 3 3/4 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups raw brown rice
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 cups finely chopped onion

- 1 medium green or red bell pepper, diced
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup buttermilk or soy milk
- 2 1/4 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese or Cheddar-style soy "cheese"

- 1 1/2 cups cooked corn kernels
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon each: dried oregano, dill
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 cups grated zucchini
- 2 cups grated yellow squash
- 4 scallions, chopped
- Fine dry bread crumbs

- 4 cups Brussels sprouts or bite-sized broccoli pieces and florets, steamed crisp-tender

- 2 teaspoons soy or safflower margarine

Bring the water to a boil in a heavy saucepan. Stir in the rice, reduce the heat to a simmer, then cover and cook until the water is absorbed, about 35 minutes. This may be done ahead of time.

Heat the margarine in a large skillet. Add the chopped onion and saute over moderate heat until translucent. Add the diced bell pepper and continue to saute until the onion is golden. Remove from heat.

In a large bowl, combine the beaten egg with the buttermilk, cheese, corn kernels and herbs. Stir in the cooked rice and the onion mixture and mix well. Add salt and pepper to taste.

In the same skillet, combine the grated squashes with just enough water to keep the bottom of the skillet moist. Cover and steam until wilted, about 5 minutes. Stir in the scallions.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Oil two 9-by-5-by-3-inch loaf pans, preferably glass. Assemble as follows:

Transfer about one-fourth of the rice mixture to each of the loaf pans and pat in. Divide the steamed squash evenly between the two loaf pans and pat in over the rice mixture. Top each with the remaining rice mixture. Sprinkle the tops with bread crumbs.

Bake for 60 minutes, or until the top and edges are golden and crusty.

In the meantime, if using Brussels sprouts, trim them and cut an X into the base. Cook in 2 inches or so of water in a large, covered saucepan until tender but not overdone, stirring occasionally. If using broccoli, steam until bright green and crisp-tender. Drain and toss the vegetable with the margarine.

Once the loaves are done, cool for 10 minutes before slicing loaves into 8 or 10 slices each, allowing for 2 slices per guest.

France's Beaujolais Nouveau is almost here

Beaujolais Nouveau is released for sale in France the third Thursday in November. It is always the first wine to be consumed following the fall harvest.

Some say it is barely wine, but in France there is always great celebration upon its release and the excitement has spread to the United States.

This year, the Beaujolais Nouveau release date is Nov. 15. At midnight in Paris, bistros, brasseries and restaurants along the Champs Elysees are crowded with patrons anxious to be among the first to taste the "nouveau" Beaujolais. Yellow and orange stickers in the windows announce, "Le Beaujolais Nouveau est arrive."

Several local distributors will be at Detroit Metropolitan Airport to receive their air-freighted shipments. These same people will then focus on wine

work long hours to ensure that the local wine shops have their share of nouveau wine.

The price of Beaujolais Nouveau will be more expensive this year, according to Ed Johns, owner of the Merchant of Vino in Birmingham. "French Nouveau will cost from $7.50 to $9. However California nouveau wines will be about $5-$6 per bottle," he said. "Even the French realize the problem and are producing a less expensive Vin Nouveau, but it won't say Beaujolais on the bottle." Discussions with local distributors lead us to believe that air-freighted Beaujolais Nouveau may cost as much as $11 per bottle.

WINES SHIPPED by sea, available a week to 10 days later, will cost less than $10.

The Merchant of Vino will be open until midnight Wednesday to welcome the nouveau wines from France and California. "All stores in Birmingham will be open until 9 p.m.," Johns said. "Customers can enter a drawing to win a trip for two to France. We will also feature a 30-

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

The readily available 1989 Beaujolais-Villages or cru Beaujolais wines represent good value. The 1989 Georges Duboeuf Beaujolais-Villages, Chateau de la Grande Grauge ($9.75) is especially balanced and flavorful. Strawberry and raspberry aromas jump from the glass and the taster is greeted with loads of red cherry flavors. This is an accessible, pleasurable, easy-drinking wine to accompany roast chicken, turkey, mild sausages or pork roast.

ing the fresh petulance of youth. The wine is meant to be consumed young and slightly chilled so that all its grapey character can be enjoyed. Its quality is an indication of the greatness of the Beaujolais harvest that year. It previews the more elegant Beaujolais from that vintage to be released in the spring.

The Beaujolais wine region is the most southern portion of Burgundy. Today, 6,000 estates and 200 shippers sell 100,000,000 bottles of this wine. Twenty years ago, Beaujolais was not considered a serious wine in America and the hype of Beaujolais Nouveau was considered a Parisian fad until the late 1970s.

Unlike Burgundy, which produces its red wines from the pinot noir variety, Beaujolais wines are principally the product of the gamay grape. A modification of the carbonic maceration technique is used for fermentation. With this method, the grapes are not crushed. Whole bunches are fermented. The result is a wine of extraordinary fruitiness.

MOST OF THE Beaujolais bottled as nouveau comes from the most southern vineyards of the Beaujolais region. In spring 1991, the released will come from premium vineyards in northern Beaujolais. Among the hundreds of villages there, some have been given the privilege, under the French appellation of origin wine law, to use the village name, together with the word, Beaujolais, on the label. There are 10 such communities (cru): Saint-Amour, Julienne, Chenas, Moulin-a-Vent, Fleurie, Chiroubles, Morgon, Regnie, Brouilly and Cotes de Brouilly. Consistently superior wines have been made from vineyards in these villages.

If you have not yet sampled a light red wine with poultry, then we suggest a Beaujolais Nouveau to accompany Thanksgiving turkey.

pounds) and 15 to 20 minutes per pound for toms (16 pounds or more).

Place aluminum foil loosely over breast to keep it from drying out. Remove during last hour.

Never cook turkey overnight at very low temperature. Never partially cook the turkey one day, refrigerate and complete cooking the next day. Both methods are unsafe.

Let turkey stand at room temperature for 20 minutes before carving. Remove all stuffing from turkey and place in separate bowl.

Refrigerate leftover stuffing or turkey within two hours of serving. Cut away remaining meat from carcass. Wrap tightly in foil and refrigerate.

Use refrigerated leftovers within two or three days. Frozen leftovers should be used within three months.

The names of the first prize winner and the second prize winner of the Commodity Cuisine Competition for Michigan chefs were inadvertently transposed in the Monday, Nov. 5, issue. First prize went to Jim Milliman of Hattie's Grill in Suttons Bay. Second prize winner was Mark Brethauer representing Roy's Steak House in Saginaw. He is formerly of Roy's and now with Zehnder's in Frankenmuth. (Grand prize winner was Nedra Baldori of the Gratz Restaurant in Ann Arbor, and third prize winner was Thomas Tontapanish and Chan Dechsuwan of the Bangkok Club in Southfield.)

'Vegetarian Celebrations' is her most efficient book

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

Nava Atlas left home for the Big Apple, with a degree from University of Michigan, and determination to succeed in the art field.

In time she worked in advertising, designed book jackets, book interiors, and decided she ought to tackle the whole package for herself.

Her talent and tenacity has since led to publication of three vegetarian cookbooks. Now, she has published her fourth, "Vegetarian Celebrations," which coincided with her most important production of all.

"This was a special book for me," she said, explaining that most of the book was done while she carried Adam, first offspring of Atlas and her husband, Chaim Tabak, also a fine artist. "I did this book very efficiently because I had to finish by Adam's birth," she said.

"I SHIPPED the manuscript off one day and the next night my water broke."

With her manuscript complete, and Adam born, Atlas went to work on the design and illustration of "Celebrations" which fortunately "was the time Adam slept a lot. Now having passed his first birthday, he needs to be chased around."

For other reasons "Vegetarian Celebrations" is special for Atlas, a vegetarian since age 16.

"Holidays are always a problem for vegetarians and their guests, so invention has to continue as the mother of necessity," she said. "Families may want to include their vegetarian members in the fullest."

Nava Atlas' newest cookbook coincided with baby's birth

"Holidays and other special occasions give us a chance to gather with loved ones, reflect on our heritage, celebrate the seasons, enjoy a respite from everyday routines and simply rejoice," said the author.

"And it's hard to think of any celebration in which food isn't central to the festivities."

Atlas wrote this book for the mother troubled over how to plan a Passover Seder for her new vegetarian stepdaughter, for hosts accommodating vegetarian guests at an overwhelmingly traditional Thanksgiving, and for other similar situations.

CALLED UPON to lecture and lead workshops as well as write, Atlas found many semi-vegetarians, and dietary-restricted persons responding. This led her to address the problems of lactose-free diets, low cholesterol and others in her book.

"Vegetarian Celebrations" starts out with the New Year, presenting menus for a curry feast, Japanese New Year and a Southwestern Brunch for New Year's Day.

"The reason I did it in menu style was to benefit busy people and help them organize their time," she said.

Each of her 13 chapters has at least three holiday menus, including a Vegan Valentine, a Sephardic Seder, Irish Classics for St. Patrick's Day, a fruitful Mother or Father's Day breakfast, vegetarian barbecue, a family Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve in Southern Italy, Middle Eastern buffet, and substitute main dishes for Thanksgiving Dinner.

Atlas, who said sales are satisfactory so far, hopes "that this will be more of a breakthrough book with its mainstream feeling."

"This is probably the most in-depth book on holiday entertaining for vegetarians and persons who must be milk and/or egg free."

Atlas' other books are "Vegetarian," "American Harvest" and "The Wholefood Catalog."

Atlas says her next one will combine her writing and design, but the subject is not decided.

"My schedule is not a full one yet, but about 20-24 hours a week. Adam has changed our lives in every positive way and that changes the priorities too."

Cheeses fill roasted peppers

ROASTED BANANA PEPPERS STUFFED WITH THREE CHEESES

- 6 banana peppers
- 2 tablespoons Italian salad dressing
- 1/4 cup Monterey Jack cheese, grated
- 1/4 cup cheddar, grated
- 6 tablespoons fresh grated Parmesan cheese

Roast the peppers either in the oven, on the grill or with a torch to blister the skins. Place peppers in a brown paper bag, seal and allow to steam for 5 minutes. Shake bag. Split peppers and remove seeds and strings. Brush insides with salad dressing. Divide cheeses and place equal amounts in each pepper. Brush again with salad dressing and bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes or pop under a broiler until cheese melts. Enjoy.

TORCHED TOMATOES
3 large tomatoes
1/4 cup fresh basil, chopped or 1 tablespoon dried, crushed
12 paper-thin slices mozzarella cheese

1/4 cup fresh grated Parmesan cheese
Fresh ground black pepper to taste

Stick tomatoes with a long-handled fork. Using a propane torch, blister the skins and peel. Slice tomatoes 1/4 inch thick and place on a lightly greased baking sheet. Top with slices of mozzarella and sprinkle with Parmesan and just a bit of pepper. Pop under broiler and broil until cheese melts.

Chef's Note: You can do this without blistering and removing the skin, if desired.

How to select safe, fresh fish

AP — Here are some tips to help make sure the fish you buy is safe and fresh:

- Buy from a reputable, popular dealer to be assured of good turnover of stock.
- Buy fish that is well-chilled, on ice at about 33 degrees.
- The eyes of whole fish should be bulging and bright and shiny, not watery.

• Skin should be moist, scales shiny. Gills should be red or pink.

• The flesh should be firm and the touch. Filets should be firm and tightening.

• Fish that smells "fishy" probably has gone bad. Fresh fish smells mild.

• Eat the fish within 24 hours. Do not freeze fish unless you are absolutely certain it has not been previously frozen.

• Shellfish should be alive and lively.

In her new book, "Fish: The Basics," Shirley King suggests shoppers go to the market willing to buy whatever fish is freshest. "The depressing fact is that most of our fish reach us after many days out of water, but if fish are properly handled they can still be excellent," she writes.

The Hometown and Observer and Eccentric "Creative Living" section has the largest selection of suburban display real estate ads in the metro area.

Now, it doesn't make any difference what time it is.

You can place an Observer & Eccentric classified ad 24 hours a day!

Here's how it works: First, you must have a touch-tone telephone. Then, all you do is call us—remember, it doesn't make any difference if we're not here—to place an ad, cancel one or change something on one you've placed earlier. Let's say it's eight o'clock at night and you've just realized that the cupid on the clock you're selling plays a tin whistle. It's a good selling point, so you punch up our classified number and wait for the operator to guide you through the steps for changing your ad. Have in mind the exact information you want to give us, speak clearly and a bit slower than you usually do. And that's it. If it's after 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, your changes will be made for the next Monday paper. Or, if it's after 5:00 p.m.

on a Friday or the weekend, your changes will hit the Thursday papers. Pretty neat, huh? Of course, our Classified Ad Takers are here every Monday through Thursday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and until 5:00 p.m. each Friday. But now, if you miss them, you can still do something about your ad—at your convenience.

CC outduels Chiefs in AA regional final

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Redford Catholic Central coach Tom Mach offered a concise summation of his football team's 35-22 playoff victory over Plymouth Canton.

"Our best defense was our offense," said Mach after the Shamrocks won a Class AA regional championship Saturday at Pontiac Wisner Stadium.

It's not often CC gets caught up in a shootout, but its run-over-them, ball-control offense was more than a match for the Canton defense.

The Shamrocks controlled the clock long enough — and with results — to keep Canton and its potent offense at a disadvantage in a game that saw each team allow a season-high number of points.

"When we got the ball we did something with it," Mach said. "With that (Canton) offense and what they can do with it, that's what we had to do."

"We did a job when we had to do it. We didn't give their offense too many chances to be on the field. It was really key that our kids came out and played hard-nosed football."

The Shamrocks (9-2) will play Saginaw in the semifinals Saturday at

a site that was to be determined Sunday. Canton finishes 9-2.

THE TOTAL yardage was virtually even — CC had 289 yards, the Chiefs 278 — but the Shamrocks' awesome ground attack was the difference in the game.

CC rushed for 245 yards with tailback Arshon Stewart getting 164 yards and a touchdown on 31 carries. Bruising fullback Jon Barbara added 70 yards and scored two TDs on 11 rushes.

"Our offense wanted to control the football and keep it out of (Canton quarterback Karl) Wukie's hands," Barbara said. "I thought we did a good job of that."

When the Chiefs had the ball, they were effective for the most part, and Wukie was largely responsible for that.

He passed for all three Canton touchdowns, completing 13 of 21 passes for 107 yards, and he also rushed for 102 yards on 11 carries, often taking the CC defense by surprise with his scrambling.

"Wukie is the best quarterback we've faced all season," CC defensive coordinator Rich Coratti said. "Our defense was hoping the offense could control the ball and keep it out of his hands."

"Wukie is a good quarterback; we knew that," CC defensive end Brian Chaney said. "A lot of times our secondary was getting caught downfield when he was scrambling and he got good yardage."

CANTON COACH Bob Khoenle's biggest pre-game concern was the match up between his defense and the CC offense, which had a 40-pounds-per-man advantage in the line. But the Shamrocks were unstoppable on the ground, and that worry became reality.

"I knew they were going to do this to us," Khoenle said. "I was going down to Massillon (Ohio) and get six kids to play, but I couldn't get them across the border."

"We thought we could score if we got the ball, but we never got it. We weren't big enough to take on all of that. I'm not knocking our defense, but our kids are comparatively small."

The Shamrocks had scoring drives that consisted of 10, nine, 11 and eight plays and covered 67, 63, 64 and 60 yards, leading to their first four TDs.

CC scored off the opening kickoff on quarterback Jason Carr's 1-yard sneak. But the Chiefs, after losing a fumble on their first play, tied the score when Wukie tossed the first of two TD passes to Mike Wougamon covering 6 and 5 yards.

But each time Canton scored the Shamrocks always had an answer.

"It was a matter of momentum," Mach said. "What I was happy with is we kept coming at them offensively and putting points on the boards."

STEWART DASHED 6 yards around end, and Kerry Zavagnin's extra-point kick gave CC a 14-7 halftime lead. The Chiefs held CC late in the half, and Zavagnin's 41-yard field goal attempt was wide.

Canton had started a drive with the second-half kick, but Wukie was sacked and Dan Gusoff recovered the ensuing fumble for the Shamrocks. CC converted with Barbara running over three defensive backs and bulging into the end zone from 11 yards out.

"Arshon Stewart had a great game, and Jon Barbara had a fantastic run on the third TD," Mach said. "That was real key, to put points on the board at that time."

The Chiefs rallied again, however. A clipping penalty nullified Wukie's 32-yard scoring run, but Canton eventually got the points with his 5-yard pass to Brett Howell, who caught eight passes for 62 yards.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Karl Wukie scrambles for some of his 102 rushing yards Saturday in the Class AA playoff game at Wisner Stadium. Wukie also passed for 107 yards and three touchdowns, but the Chiefs lost, 35-22.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Canton defensive back Steve Hohl puts a hit on CC fullback Jon Barbara, who was instrumental in the Shamrocks control of the football on the ground.

"Our turnover hurt us psychologically," Khoenle said, "but we got the ball again and made it 21-14 with eight minutes to go. I really think if we had held them and gotten the ball we could have scored again."

"Of course, that's all speculation. But because of what we were doing and how we were doing it, I think we could have done it."

Instead, CC responded once more to Canton's challenge. Barbara's second TD run made it 28-14 with 3:54 remaining.

THE CHIEFS threw incomplete passes on four consecutive downs and gave CC the ball at the Canton 14 with 3:16 to play. The Shamrocks scored in three plays, Jeff Tibaldi getting the TD on a 1-yard carry.

"I never thought the game was over, even when we had 35 points," Mach said. "Throughout the game, until the end, I felt we had to keep moving on the ground and keep their offense off the field."

"What we did to stop them didn't work as well as we thought, but credit goes to their offense and the quarterback. The way he handles things, anybody would have a hard time controlling him."

Wukie showed why as he directed a five-play, 64-yard drive that ended with 30 seconds left, the Chiefs making the score more respectable (35-22) on Wougamon's second TD reception and Wukie's conversion run.

"We had a great year, won a playoff game and got to the regional final," Khoenle said. "Hopefully, we'll be able to continue this in the future. We also found another year of eligibility for Wukie."

"We felt privileged to play them, and I thought our kids did a pretty good job considering everything."

Salem lives up to top seeding, 49-46

Balanced attack propels Rocks to playoff title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

No sweat? The perspiration was still beading down Fred Thomann's forehead following Saturday night's Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball final at Northville High.

His Plymouth Salem Rocks took control of things in the second half and then held off a late desperation rally by Livonia Franklin to win their fourth WLAA crown in six years, 49-46.

"For us to step out and get 49 points against a team as talented as Franklin is a good performance for us," said Thomann, whose team finished the regular season at 17-3 overall. "But I didn't know if that was going to be enough against a team like that."

It was more than enough, but the win didn't come without some anxious moments.

Franklin trailed by as many as 14 points late in the third quarter, but began to chip away in the final period with some full-court pressure.

Junior guard Dawn Warner, who led all scorers with 18 points, fired in a three-pointer with 31 seconds left to cut the deficit to 49-44. (She later fouled out.)

SALEM, meanwhile, couldn't quite seal the final outcome, missing six straight free throws in the final 48 seconds. (The Rocks hit only 15 of 30 for the game.)

Franklin's Tracy Parenti then converted two free throws with six seconds remaining to pull Franklin within three.

The Patriots got the ball back after another missed Salem foul shot with three seconds to go, but Patty Shea's desperation heave from nearly three-quarters court failed to hit the backboard as time expired.

It wasn't really a Salem escape, however, because the Rocks lived up to their No. 1 seeding going into the WLAA playoffs. (Franklin was seeded No. 3 in the eight-team bracket.)

"In the second and third quarters our inside players did a great job of controlling the basketball game," said Thomann. "And Emily Guiliani did a nice job inside and good job finishing the plays. She had a great first and second quarter. She also caught the ball nice."

The Rocks used a balanced attack, getting a team-high 14 points from sixth woman Guiliani, the 6-foot junior, and 12 from Betsy McAllister.

Sophomore forward Yolanda Jackson, who gave Franklin fits on the boards before fouling out with 3:14 left in the game, contributed 10, while senior forward Sarah Ruete added nine.

"THAT'S BEEN THE story of our team all year long," Thomann said. "They all did a nice job."

Point-guard Christy Parmucha scored only three points, but was a steady influence for the Rocks.

"That's as good a floor game as she's played this year," said the Salem coach. "In the second half she played with good court recognition."

Salem trailed 15-10 after one quarter, but the Rocks' match-up zone defense began to take its toll on the Patriots in the second and third quarters.

The Rocks enjoyed a 28-28 half-time lead after a basket by Guiliani and a free throw by Ruete, each coming with one second left.

The third quarter was all Rocks, as they outscored Franklin 17-5 to take a commanding 45-32 advantage.

Franklin's Julianne Stesiak, who chipped in with 10 points, had the Patriots' only one field goal in the third quarter. Franklin shot a dismal 10 percent during the stretch.

"It was a combination of us going dead in the third period and our offensive rebounding," said Franklin coach Dan Freeman. "We got killed on the offensive boards. We had only five the whole game."

"(AGAINST THE ZONE) we were not moving. You can't stand and beat a zone, you've got to send cutters through. I was not pleased with the third quarter at all, although we came back nicely in the fourth quarter. But you can't afford to have a quarter like that against a team like Salem and expect to win."

Freeman said a lot of the credit "goes to Salem's defense."

"They made some adjustments defensively from the last time we played them (a 52-46 overtime loss) and it took us awhile to adjust to their adjustments," he said.

Salem was able to keep Warner, who was coming off 40- and 29-point efforts in two previous playoff games, from going on another scoring binge.

"Dawn had come in on a roll and we had to tilt our defense toward her," explained Thomann. "But sometimes that puts your defense in a bind."

"Even with Dawn scoring 18, they (Salem) took her out of the game," said the Franklin coach. "They did a good job of doing what they had to do to beat us."

The season, however, is not finished for Franklin or Salem.

Both teams are favored to win their respective districts tournaments, which open all around the state tonight.

OTHER WLAA GAMES (Saturday at Northville)

THIRD PLACE: Sophomore center Stephanie Gray tallied eight 12 points to lead Plymouth Canton (13-7) to a 38-30 triumph over the host Mustangs (12-7) in the consolation final.

Three Mustangs scored eight points apiece: Kate Holstein, Laura Apiligan and Stacey Nyland.

FIFTH PLACE: Holly Miller tallied a game-high 17 points and teammate Dawn Godfrey contributed 11 as Walled Lake Western (9-11) edged Livonia Stevenson (12-8) by a 46-44 count.

The Spartans, plagued by poor free throw shooting (six of 14), got six points from Lori Shingledacker.

SEVENTH PLACE: Karyn Koslowski led a balanced attack as Walled Lake Central (11-9) held off North Farmington (8-12) by a six-point margin, 58-52.

Jenny Czach (13), Cindy Muha (11) and Kelly Glennie (9) rounded out the Vikings' attack.

North's Eve Clear paced all scorers with a game-high 32.

LOSER'S BRACKET: On Friday, Westland John Glenn (8-12) defeated Farmington Harrison (3-17) by a 55-50 count.

Heather Hopkins and Andrea Najarian tallied 15 and 14, respectively, in a losing cause.

Rocks, Chiefs try but can't catch North

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Let's see now. According to coach Pat Duthie, North Farmington doesn't have to win another league championship in girls swimming for at least 36 years.

The rest of the Western Lakes Activities Association will be happy to hear that after the Raiders won their second straight title and third in the last four years Friday.

North has become the dominant power in a league where stiff competition each season makes it difficult for teams to establish an impressive record like the Raiders have.

"It's hard to have a dynasty in this league," Duthie said. "If you win one, that's 12 years worth. This league is so tough."

"When you win it, you've really done something. We have five great swim teams in this league and others that are coming along. You're also up against great coaches."

ONE OF those coaches and teams was Salem's Chuck Olson and the host Rocks, who were runners-up. North compiled 506 points, Salem 459. First-division finishers included Northville (401), Livonia Stevenson (386), three-event winner Plymouth Canton (373) and Farmington Hills Harrison (222).

The Raiders entered Friday's finale as the favorite, but Salem wasn't merely concerned about chasing North.

"Opponents," said Olson, emphasizing the plural. "There were a lot of good teams out there. We felt we had enough depth, certainly enough swimmers, that we ought to be able to swim well here."

"When (Duthie) has one of the top teams in the state, he ought to win this. He's got some good kids over there. We were hoping he'd leave some of them home, but they swam real well tonight."

One who did was North senior Kerry Doran, who won the 200-yard individual medley (2:12.52) and the butterfly (1:00.17) and helped the Raiders win two of three relay events.

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Amy Austin competes in the 200-yard individual medley for host Plymouth Salem in the annual WLAA girls swimming championships Friday.

The Rocks were second with 459 1/2 points while North Farmington (506) won its second consecutive title.

North started by defending its title in the 200 medley relay with Julianne Markey, Anna Palmer, Doran and Jennifer Wagner comprising this year's foursome (1:53.59). All but Doran were on the relay team a year ago.

THE RAIDERS closed the meet by repeating in the 400 freestyle relay (3:44.10), also. Karrie Kranz and Doran, holdover members from the 1989 league-meet team, were joined by Sherri Richardson and Markey.

"Having us win my last meet is a special event," Doran said. "The team had a great meet. Everything went as planned — even better than planned."

"It's scary to think it's all over and also sad knowing I'll never swim with most of these girls again."

Even more impressive is the fact Doran, who is pointing for the Class

A meet Saturday in East Lansing, wasn't tapered for the league meet.

"Two individual wins and two relay wins — can't do any better as far as I'm concerned," Duthie said. "She was the key in the medley relay. Nobody wins a relay by themselves, but she was key there."

Kranz also had two solo wins in the 200 and 100 freestyles (1:59.82 and 55.76), and Markey won the backstroke (1:01.73).

Markey, in addition, was second in the 100 freestyle, losing to Kranz by one hundredth of a second. Palmer and Carrie Worthen also finished in the top six in two individual events, Richardson one.

DUTHIE ALSO cited the contributions of swimmers Shannon O'Brien, Amy Duthie and Colleen Harrison as well as freshman divers Mandy Terrell and Elyse Turner.

"We had some phenomenal swims from every kid who swam," Duthie said. "I can't think of an event where anybody went slower than Wednesday, and we had a heckuva day Wednesday."

"I know Chuck's kids are going to swim fast. We felt our best kids were better, but there weren't many events that had less than four Salem kids. We had kids swimming fast tonight and dropping back. That's the kind of meet it is."

The loss of five seniors (Doran, Markey, Anne Schwartzberg, Duthie and Wanger) could open the door for another team next year.

"In four seasons with these seniors, we've won 37 duals and lost two," Duthie said. "I'll miss them all. I don't care how good they are. You get real attached to kids in four years."

"I'm sorry to see them go, but that's the nature of education. It's time to move on and make way for other kids. It's more than just athletics here."

Livonia Churchill just missed a first-division finish, ending up sixth with 158 points, without Ellen Lessig, who was ill and unable to compete. She was the defending champion and record holder in the 50 and 100 freestyles.

CANTON'S JENI Cooper won the 50 freestyle (25.40) and helped the Chiefs capture the 200 freestyle relay. Being a new event, Canton's time of 1:43.94 goes as a league record — the only one this year. Chris Lang, April Billins and Janet Roberts joined Cooper on the relay.

In other events, Churchill's Tara Ditchkoff won the 500 freestyle in 5:21.33 and Stevenson's Jennifer Knapp the breast stroke in 1:10.07.

were Domanski, Oparka and Angelle Love.

The rest of the Region 12 squad: Michelle Shirey, OCC; Danice Williams and Shawnette Byer, Southwestern; Sara Bitz and Edie Wood, Lake Michigan; Elisa Ballesteros and Cindy Choban, Lansing Community College; and Leslie Gregson, Mott CC.

SC powers to a regional repeat

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

It didn't really take all that long for Tom Teeters to decipher Lake Michigan Community College's strategy and plot a plan of his own for his Schoolcraft College volleyball team.

What was it Teeters came up with? Was it something only he might have noticed, a flaw only a trained eye could spot?

Well, not really. What Teeters saw was that the Lady Ocelots would be able to do just about anything they wanted and overpower the Indians. Which SC did, romping through the National Junior College Athletic Association's Region 12 Tournament at SC without losing as much as a game for the second straight year.

The final was all SC — 15-6, 15-2, 15-10. Which means the Lady Ocelots become the third SC team to qualify for an NJCAA tournament this fall. Both the men's and women's soccer teams are destined for Trenton, N.J., this weekend; the spikers will go south, to Miami, for the 16-team NJCAA Tournament Nov. 19-21.

"Middle blocker was their weakness, defense was their strength," was Teeters' brief synopsis of Lake Michigan. "We just wanted to keep hitting it at them and wear them down."

IT WORKED. Left-side hitters Kari Domanski (from Livonia Ladywood) and Elena Oparka were nearly unstoppable; if the ball was set to them, their attacks scored — often going right through Lake Michigan's block attempts.

SC had danced through the early rounds of the tournament without much of a struggle, beating Oakland Community College 15-0, 15-3; Mott Community College 15-8, 15-4; and Lake Michigan 15-12, 15-2, 15-6. SC's first win over Lake Michigan dropped the Indians into the losers' bracket, where they defeated Southwestern Michigan Community College 15-13, 15-10, 15-12.

And that set up the rematch with left) side," said Fowler. Weren't there any adjustments the Indians could have made? "Not really."

The only attacks that worked at all for Lake Michigan were dink kills in the middle of the court. And there was no way those would work for long.

"We weren't going to overshift to cover it," said Teeters. "If they were going to beat us, they were going to have to hit through us."

Lake Michigan couldn't.

SC, which improved to 40-3 overall (20-1 vs. NJCAA opponents), landed four players on the 12-member All-Region 12 team, with setter Jennifer Sproul (from Livonia Churchill) earning Most Valuable Player honors. Others Lady Ocelots on the team

Hoop fans tune in tourney

IT'S TIME TO SIT BACK, rock back on your La-Z-Boy, flip on the remote control and tune into your favorite prime-time TV program. The selections are numerous and the quality of programming varies.

The same goes for Observerland girls basketball.

November begins the ratings sweeps, so let's determine where these teams stand going into the state tournament.

By the end of the week, 127 district champions in four different classes will be determined.

Who will be the survivors and who will get the axe?

Stayed tuned for the Emons Ratings: See district pairings.

HEAD OF THE CLASS

Plymouth Salem (18-3): The Rocks are solid with coach Fred Thomann calling the shots. The Northville district will not be an easy one, but Salem should get through and sail into the Trenton regional where Ann Arbor Pioneer awaits in the first round. The Rocks should make it to the state quarterfinals.

GOING PLACES

Farmington Hills Mercy (14-5): The Marlinis should reel in a district title at Walled Lake Western and could make the regional finals at Southfield-Lathrup where their stumbling block, Central Division foe Birmingham Marian, awaits.

GOLDEN GIRLS

Livonia Franklin (16-3): After a mild slump, the Patriots have rebounded nicely in the Western Lakes playoffs and should have a head of steam going into their own district where Garden City looms as a test. If the Patriots prevail, a tough first-round regional opponent — top-ranked Detroit Murray-Wright — is lurking at Southfield.

QUANTUM LEAP

Redford Union (13-7): First-year coach Gary Fuks has done wonders with this team and winning a district title against a weak field is a distinct possibility. A first-round regional opponent (at Southfield) could be either Dearborn Fordson or Taylor Center.

Brad Emons

DESIGNING WOMEN

Garden City (18-2): The Cougars completed their most successful regular season ever and should make it a district final rematch of a year ago against Franklin. But this time the Patriots are playing on their home floor, not a neutral site. GC, however, is capable of getting through.

GROWING PAINS

Plymouth Canton (12-7): The Chiefs are much improved and could give rival Salem some trouble in Wednesday's matchup at Northville, but Canton's young team is a year away from making waves again in the state tourney.

Livonia Ladywood (8-12): To say the Blazers have been a major disappointment this season is an understatement, but they play a tough schedule and could be more than competitive in a tough Northville district. Tonight's game against host Northville will say a lot about Ladywood.

Livonia Stevenson (12-7): The Spartans, another young team, won't back down from the competition. They own a victory over Canton and could cause trouble for either Ladywood or host Northville. Junior center Teresa Sarno appears to be rounding back into form after an injury.

WHO'S THE BOSS?

Walled Lake Central (10-9): The Vikings have a good little point guard in sophomore Cindy Muha, who can give any team headaches. Central received a generous draw in the Walled Lake Western final and should play Mercy for the championship. Remember, Mercy has already beaten the Vikings.

North Farmington (8-11): Can Miss Basketball nominee Eve Clear carry the Raiders past first-round foe Walled Lake Western? Possibly, but getting by Mercy is a tall order.

Walled Lake Western (8-11): The Warriors pulled off an overtime win last week against rival Central and have a fine player in Holly Miller. Tonight's first-round game against North is a toss-up.

UNSOLVED MYSTERIES

Redford Bishop Borgess (7-9): The Spartans are playing at home against a questionable field. Detroit Dominican (10-7), Borgess' first-round opponent, may have a slight edge going in, but Borgess is capable of beating any of the other teams in the field and advance into the Madison Heights Madison Class B regional. If guard Kyra Woodard gets hot, the Spartans will advance.

Redford Thurston (10-9): The Eagles could reach the district final at Borgess, but winning it is another story.

LIFE GOES ON

Farmington (4-16): The Falcons could beat Southfield on Tuesday and reach the RU district finals against the host Panthers. A 15-point win by Farmington Thursday over Livonia Churchill means that the Falcons cannot be taken lightly in this district draw.

Westland John Glenn (8-12): The Rockets have talent and could give Garden City a tussle Wednesday night in the Franklin district. This team had Salem on the ropes earlier this season and has the capacity to be a spoiler.

KNOTS LANDING

Livonia Churchill (9-11): The Chargers, possessing some fine athletes, have been up and down all season. If they execute, they can give teams trouble, but at Franklin, it's a longshot. Churchill received a first-round bye, but it was no bargain.

Farmington Harrison (3-17): The Hawks are at the bottom of the barrel in the 12-school Western Lakes League, but could be competitive in a weak district field at Borgess. Sophomore center Heather Hopkins, as always, is the key.

21 JUMP STREET

Plymouth Christian (15-5): The Eagles didn't catch a break in the Class D district at Auburn Hills-Oakland Christian. The host team has only one loss and Oakland Catholic is 14-6. Plymouth Christian, which opens Tuesday with Bloomfield Hills Roeper, needs to jump to another district.

RESCUE 911

Lutheran Westland (15-5): The Warriors, behind sharpshooter Stephanie Locks, are a decent team in Class C, but their district draw at Detroit DePorres is a nightmare. First, they must get through Catholic League playoff qualifier Royal Oak Shrine and either host DePorres or Birmingham Country Day. That's a little too much to ask.

Redford St. Agatha (4-13): The Aggies meet Monday's Shrine-Lutheran Westland winner on Tuesday at DePorres. There's not much more you can say.

EMPTY NEST

Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (8-11): I hope Huron Valley coach Harvey Kightlinger knows what he's getting into. The Hawks' first-round foe, host Allen Park Inter-City Baptist, sports a 15-3 record. Say no more.

MURDER, SHE WROTE

Livonia Clarenceville (3-14): It's been tough sledding this season for the Trojans, who opened their season with a 54-26 loss to Harrison and should end their season Tuesday against Thurston with another lopsided defeat.

Eagles win by 63 points

Plymouth Christian Academy wrapped up a successful regular season campaign Friday in girls basketball, thumping Taylor Light and Life in a game played at Lowell Middle School, 72-9.

The Eagles jumped out to a 34-5 halftime lead and held Light and Life scoreless in the third period, increasing their lead to 50-5.

Junior center Jenny Moore was one of four Eagles in double figures, pouring in 20 points and grabbing 11 rebounds.

Junior forward Jill Butler contributed 13 points, while senior guard Tamara Tilly and junior forward Christin Thomason each added 11.

SOCCER TRYOUTS

The East-West Soccer Ambassadors, a national amateur athletic organization which selects players between the ages of 11 and 19 from across the country to compete internationally, will conduct tryouts in Michigan this month.

The sessions will be 4:30-6:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 17, at Kick'n Around in Kalamazoo, 10 a.m. to noon Sunday, Nov. 18, at Canton Soccer Dome in Canton and 4-6 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 18, at Total Soccer in Southfield.

Players are asked to bring their own ball and a $15 application fee. For information contact East-West at 216-248-0200.

USED EQUIPMENT SALE

The Canton Parks and Recreation Services is having its Sixth Annual Used Sports Equipment Sale from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1, at Canton Corners Shopping Center (Ford and Lilley roads).

Sellers should bring their equipment to the site on Thursday, Nov. 29, from 6-9 p.m. to be priced and tagged for sale. The seller sets the price and gets the money, with the exception of 15 percent that goes to Canton Parks and Recreation Services.

Volunteers will be on hand to do the selling, so the owner doesn't have to be present on Dec. 1. Sellers can pick up their money or unsold items between 1 and 2 p.m. the day of the sale. For information call Bob Dates at 397-5110.

SKI CLUB SIGN-UP

Registration for the Plymouth-Canton Ski Club will take place 4-8:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 15, in the Canton High School cafeteria. The fee is $60.

All students registering on this day will be guaranteed a club membership. Therefore, there is no need for everyone to be present right at 4 p.m. The club is open to all sixth through 12th graders who reside in the Plymouth-Canton School District.

The club travels to Mount Brighton every Friday and Saturday evenings except during holidays. The fee covers all transportation, chaperone costs, four advance tow tickets and lessons.

For information call the Community Education Office at 451-8660.

STATE CUP SWEEP

The Livonia Y's Michigan Hawks girls soccer teams made it a clean sweep of the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association state cup championships held Oct. 27 at Jaycee Park in Livonia.

All members of the Livonia YMCA Premier Soccer Club and affiliated with the Livonia Premier Soccer League, the Hawk swept the under-19, -17 and -16 age-group titles.

The '73 Hawks defeated Kalamazoo TKO, 4-0, while the '74 Hawks unloaded on the Lansing Capitol-Area Soccer league Cosmos, 7-0.

The '75 Michigan Hawks clinched their division with a 3-1 triumph over the East Detroit Express.

All three Hawks teams will travel next July to compete in the Midwest Region II Championships in Sioux Falls, S.D. The nationals will be in Omaha, Neb.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will offer a women's basketball league this year. The entry fee is $300 for a 12-game schedule, plus $5 per non-resident.

Each team is allowed up to 10 non-residents on its roster. Games will be played Monday nights with the possibility of an occasional Thursday game. There is a six-team limit.

Registration begins the week of Nov. 12 for new teams. League play will begin the week of Dec. 3. For information call Tom Willette at 455-6620.

SOCCER CHAMPS

The Michigan Lazars '75, affiliated with the Livonia Family Y, recently won the Michigan Youth Soccer League Boys 16 (Premier Division) title with a 10-0, outscoring their opponents by a combined score of 52-2.

Members of the Lazars '75, coached by Bill Emery, include goalie Jason Emery, Chris Skover, Bill Binkiewicz, Dave Binkiewicz, Doug Hammond, Tim Graves, Jason Corney, Dan Brody, Matt Borden, Charles Price, Jai Hazinski, Jeremy Pinard, Paul Skoczyias, Brian Collier, Brian Killian, Tom MacDonald and Seamus Rustin. Ron Corney is the assistant coach.

The Livonia Y Strikers, an under-10 girls soccer team, recently won the Western Suburban Soccer League crown with an 8-0 record.

Environment as important as 3 R's

A recent ecology presentation to a group of Girl Scout Leaders reminded me that while the 3 R's are important, there are a number of areas we should be working on to promote a cleaner, healthier environment:

- 1. Prevent Possible Pollution
Limit the use of hazardous household products, such as cleaners, insecticides, and aerosols and dispose of these products correctly.
Save household and car batteries for collection at a recycling center or hazardous collection day. Switch to rechargeable batteries.
Limit the use of fertilizers and pesticides — particularly near lakes, streams and ponds.
Plant trees to absorb carbon dioxide and reduce the greenhouse effect.
- 2. Reduce Yard Waste
Cut the lawn more frequently and leave the clippings on the lawn. They do not promote thatch.
Start a backyard compost pile with leaves, grass clippings, food waste (no meat products).
Use less fertilizer and pesticides.

consumer mailbag

- If you don't bag the clippings, you will automatically need less.
- Use low maintenance groundcovers to reduce lawn size.
- 3. Conserve Energy
 - Car:
Drive less by combining trips, car-pooling, using mass transit, riding a bike.
Keep the car engine tuned up and tires properly inflated for greater fuel efficiency.
 - Home Appliances:
Reduce clothes dryer operation. Hang items up to air dry (it will increase the humidity in the house also).
Turn off television, radios, lights when leaving a room.
Select appliances with a high energy efficiency rating.
Turn down the thermostat in winter, turn up the thermostat during the summer.
 - Home Maintenance:
Add insulation to walls and ceiling.
Have the furnace checked and cleaned annually. Change the filters regularly.
Use landscaping to shade the home in summer and let the sun through in winter.
 - Water Conservation
Use cold water to wash clothes whenever possible.
Use faucet aerators and low-flow shower heads.
Put a plastic jug of water in the toilet tank to reduce the water used with each flush.
 - 4. Insulate the hot water tank and pipes.
Turn off water while shaving, brushing teeth, washing dishes, etc.
Shorten shower time.
 - 5. Promote Conservation Practices
Encourage environmental education and practices in the schools.
Complain to store managers and manufacturers about wasteful products and packaging.
Avoid buying "disposables" and over-packaged products.
Rent, rather than buy, tools and equipment.
Join and/or support local environmental groups.
Support and vote for candidates with good environmental records.
Be a role model for family and friends.

MHS program features pet baths, photos

Pets can be groomed and have their picture taken with Santa Claus during the Michigan Humane Society's annual Dog Wash, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 18, at the MHS Shelter, 37255 Marquette, Westland.

Baths and blow-dries will cost $10-$50 depending upon the size of the dog and condition of its coat. Nail trims are an additional $5. Reservations must be made.

After grooming, pets can have a Polaroid snapshot taken with Santa. Photos are $5, proceeds will be donated to the MHS. No appointments are necessary for photos.

A bake sale, craft sale and MHS T-shirt sale will also be featured. MHS Christmas cards will also be available. Reservations can be made, and additional information is available, by calling 721-7300.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office.

It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

To prevent crime in Tucson, police use sensitive, highly sophisticated surveillance equipment: Tim, Rose, Gert, Anthony, Yvonne, and Ramon.

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off.

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins. They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention. In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. To find out more, write: The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20539-0001. You can make a difference. You can help...

RECYCLING IS GOOD NEWS:

Overcrowded landfills. Garbage barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.

Bad news.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle.

It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation:

1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.

2. 25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.

3. Our employees have begun to routinely put office paper (memos, computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets.

Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

We don't cover world news, but we care about the world.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

What do an apple, a cow, and a car door have in common?

Recycled newspapers play a role in all three. Apple growers in the northwest use recycled newsprint for packing, farmers use it for bedding instead of straw and auto manufacturers use it in car doors.

There are many uses for your used newspapers, why not start saving them today?

IN THE 1950s, THE NUMBER OF NEW HOMES WAS ON THE RISE.
 NOW IT'S THE NUMBER OF NEW HOMELESS.

EACH YEAR, THERE ARE OVER 25,000 HOMELESS IN SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN.

Every night nearly 1,200 people sleep on the streets of Metro Detroit...in fear and loneliness. Now, more than ever, the United Way Torch Drive needs your donation to help organizations, like the Coalition on Temporary Shelter and Salvation Army, provide a safe and caring place for the homeless to go. Plus your contribution will aid over 150 agencies that teach the illiterate, feed the hungry, work with troubled youths and more.

Please, this year, give generously to the United Way Torch Drive. Because for thousands, there really is no place like home.

Give a little piece of your heart.

A grand retreat in Grand Rapids — Ohio

Situated on the outskirts of Grand Rapids, Ohio, The Kerr House was built in 1880 by the town's first and foremost merchant, not to mention owner of the general store, B.F. Kerr.

By Debbie Sklar
special writer

Sunny Arizona and posh California may have their share of beauty spas that cater to the rich and famous, but the Midwest has its own shining star right smack dab in Grand Rapids . . . Ohio, that is.

When the Kerr House first opened its doors to the world in January 1980, the world couldn't believe someone would open a spa in the Midwest.

Who would go to the Midwest when they could go to the West Coast or sunny South? Specifically, who would go to Grand Rapids, Ohio, a restored canal town along the banks of the Maumee River, about 25 miles southwest of Toledo and 75 miles southwest of Detroit?

Ten years later, the questions have been answered. Smart people go to the Midwest, people who want to feel their best, improve their lifestyle, enjoy a vacation and return to work relaxed and energetic, and experience the warmth of the heart of America.

"As a matter of fact, people travel great distances to receive the benefits The Kerr House provides," said owner and manager Laurie Hostetler.

Guests come from all over the United States, including Hawaii and Alaska, not to mention such foreign locales as Australia, Japan, England, Brazil and France. Some guests return with friends or members of their families; some prefer to come alone and get away from the world.

AND KERR House is a world unto itself, according to Hostetler.

It was a cold winter day in 1977, when Hostetler, an enthusiastic curly-haired former Girl Scout leader and yoga teacher, happened across a perfect Victorian mansion on the outskirts of tiny Grand Rapids. It was suffering from extreme neglect, but with the foresight she would later apply to her guests, she could see the perfect specimen it would become with an ample application of loving care.

The home was built in 1880 by the town's first and foremost merchant, not to mention owner of the general store, B.F. Kerr. His benign and bearded presence beams down from the parlor wall, making you wonder what he would think if only he could see his very proper home host to changing groups of liberated ladies in various states of dress padding to the sauna or a massage.

Whether you've driven 50 miles or flown 3,000 miles to get to The Kerr House, you step back in time when you cross over the threshold.

Hostetler said everything in the old home is sturdy and usable and the experience is such that even people who don't care for antiques love The Kerr House.

"The comfort and luxurious interior makes them feel right at home," Hostetler said.

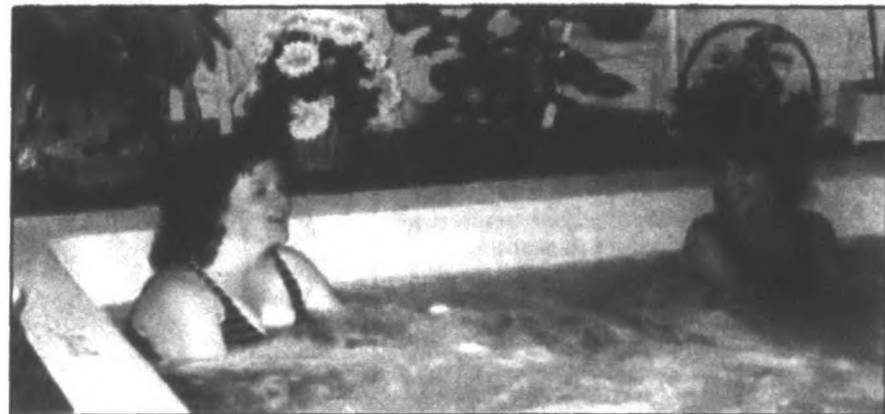

THE FIREPLACES are outstanding with fine woods, beautiful carvings and sculptured tile accents. Two of the fireplaces have divided flues that wrap around breathtaking stained glass windows. Another stained glass widow is over the double doors in the entry, filled with the original furnishings of B.F. and Ann Kerr.

The dining room is done in red oak. There's a beautiful red oak herringbone ceiling and wainscoting, accented with a hard maple flooring. Each evening, dinner is served on different fine china, silver, stemware and tablecloths, with fresh flowers on the table and a harpist or violinist as entertainment.

One of the five bathrooms has the original copper bathtub in a walnut frame. And, in fact, the wood throughout the house is to be treasured. The 12-foot ceilings and 10-foot high carved doors lend a feeling of spaciousness.

The loft is huge room (2,500 square feet) with all the angles of the roof preserved. The walls, ceiling and carpet are a soft blue, giving many guests the feeling they've gone to heaven, Hostetler said.

THE BASEMENT has eight

In the basement of the former mansion, guests find among other things a cafe and beauty shop as well as the sauna, whirlpool and hot tub.

rooms — the kitchen, cafe, whirlpool and massage rooms, beauty shop, lounge, gift shop and utility room. The hot tub, large whirlpool and sauna are in the same area.

The bedrooms have authentic Victorian ambiance, including high-backed, carved bedstead, with matching marble topped dressers and washstands. Lace curtains are snuggled inside massive carved cherry or walnut window frames. The finely polished woodwork and carved door frames are finished the same inside the closets as on the outside.

Yes, the home itself is lovely, but why is The Kerr House so special?

According to Hostetler, the answer is that there are only six to eight guests a week, allowing a warmth among people and continuity of a program that has been called "outstanding" by many guests.

The people who work with the guests genuinely care and are experts at making each one feel special, Hostetler said.

"THEY SERVE the guests breakfast in bed and give them daily treatments, such as massages, facials, hair and nail treatments, body wraps, polarity and reflexology," she said.

The Kerr House program offers an exercise regime, teaches guests to breathe deeply, how to feel a balance between the mind and body and feel the excitement of functioning at peak capacity on natural energy rather than nervous energy.

The Kerr House's primary — and most effective — program is five days — Sunday evening through Friday — but weekend packages are available. Shared rooms with shared baths cost $2,150 for five days. A two-day weekend costs $575. For more information or to make reservations, call (419) 832-1733.

Antiques abound in The Kerr House and Victorian features like fireplaces with carved wood mantles and sculptured tile accents have been restored to their former beauty.

In the parlour, guests can lounge on a traditional Victorian set with matching armchairs. Some of the furniture in the home dates back to the original owners, B.F. and Ann Kerr.

MOVING PICTURES

Claus von Bulow (Jeremy Irons) discusses his defense with attorney Alan Dershowitz (Ron Silver) in "Reversal of Fortune," a film about the most sensational murder of the '80s.

'Reversal of Fortune' is maudlin and boring film

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

"Reversal of Fortune" (C-, R, 110 minutes) is a maudlin melodrama that quickly loses sight of its major rationale — Constitutional protections must be guarded with great care no matter how despicable the protected may be. Certainly, the von Bulow family portrayed here have no redeeming characteristics to attract viewers.

This slick production takes a look at the issues in the widely-reported case of Claus von Bulow (Jeremy Irons), accused of attempted-murder of his wealthy wife, Sonny (Glenn Close). Based on the book of the same name by Harvard Law Professor Alan Dershowitz (Ron Silver) — von Bulow's attorney on appeal and retrial, — "Reversal of Fortune" is faulted in conception and execution.

From its slow and leaden opening — Glenn Close's voice-over sets the scene while we watch her comatose body — the film bogs down in a boring and repetitive structure. No matter how important the issues, watching scenery and Close's body as Sonny in insulin shock just doesn't provide the moving images generally associated with films. After all, they're called moving pictures for good reason.

Viewers here are forced to examine and re-examine a dismal tragedy that mars the fine brocade of the rich and decadent. The sub-plot involving a drug-dealer who purportedly provided Sonny's son with drugs but winds up taping Dershowitz to discredit him is confusing and never clarified.

Despite occasional sparks of human conflict between Irons and Silver which highlight the Constitutional issues, the film is constantly dragged down by the comatose Sonny von Bulow and the repetitive flashbacks supposedly designed to help viewers discover what really happened. As in real life, we never learn and the process of non-discovery is tiresome.

Conflicting values and divided loyalties among three generations of a Los Angeles family highlights Danny Glover's latest film, "To Sleep With Anger" (PG).

Several films are previewing this week without benefit of screenings. Looking at their titles telegraphs the reasons why.

In "Child's Play 2" (R), "Chucky" returns for more of the same struggle between a young boy and a demonic doll which characterized the original in 1988.

"The Krays" (R) is another in this season's glut of gangster films. This one is about twins who ran a vicious underworld empire in London.

STILL PLAYING:
"Avalon" (A+, PG, 126 minutes). Excellent film chronicles an immigrant family's successes and failures in America.
"Bloodlet II" (R)

DFT resurrects 'Joan of Arc'

By John Monaghan
special writer

"The Passion of Joan of Arc" is one of those landmark films you so often read about but rarely get the chance to see. This week, Carl Dreyer's 1928 silent film highlights an ambitious seven-week tribute to the director at the Detroit Film Theatre.

Stylized sets, startling use of closeups and naturalistic performance make it far more timeless than many silent classics. Fellow director Jean Cocteau paid the ultimate compliment when he wrote, "It seems like a historical document from an era in which cinema did not exist." "The Passion of Joan of Arc," which Dreyer called "a hymn to the triumph of the soul over life," was the first of a handful of classic films he created. It paved the way for the equally intense "Vampyr" (1932) and "Day of Wrath" (1943) to follow.

DREYER FIRST became interested in Joan of Arc in 1920, when the Catholic Church canonized the 15th century shepherd girl. The French government was anxious to film the life of a famous historical figure and lured Dreyer away from his native Denmark for the assignment.

He originally wanted to make

"Joan" a sound film, but recording equipment proved far too closely. While sound would have eliminated distracting title cards and provided a definitive musical score, the movie speaks brilliantly through its images.

Dreyer employed closeups to show the anguish the young woman felt through the trials, tortures and climactic burning at the stake. He shot the movie in sequential order on elaborate sets to build up the intensity of his actors, especially Marie Rene Falconetti in the lead.

At the time, Falconetti was well-

Preston Sturges is the focus of an MCA-Universal Home Video promotion which includes the release on Nov. 15 of two of his films never before available on video cassette — "The Great Moment" (1944, 83 minutes) and "Hail the Conquering Hero" (1944, 101 minutes). Sturges is noted as the first screenwriter to direct his own films in the Hollywood studio era.

The five previously released Sturges films include "Christmas in July" (1940, 67 minutes) with Dick Powell and Ellen Drew. "The Great McGinty" (1940, 81 minutes) was Sturges' directorial debut. He won an Oscar for his screenplay for that film, starring Brian Donlevy, Akim Tamiroff and two regulars in Sturges films, William Demarest and Franklin Pangborn.

Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda are featured in "The Lady Eve" (1941, 94 minutes), a spoof on high society. "The Palm Beach Story" (1942, 90 minutes) stars Claudette Colbert in a screwball comedy about a restless young lady who leaves her penniless husband (Joel McCrea) in search of fortune. "Sullivan's Travels" (1941, 91 minutes) also stars Joel McCrea — a Sturges regular — along with Veronica Lake. McCrea plays a movie director who wants to see America from the underside and sets out as a bum with empty pockets.

ALL SEVEN Sturges films are in black and white and unrated. Given the values and control of the Hays Office Production Code in that era, these films are all G by contemporary standards.

McCrea is the star of "The Great Moment," probably one of Sturges' least successful projects. Set in the 1840s, it's a confused story about Dr.

On the run with Run Westy Run

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Run Westy Run is a garage band. Except one wouldn't want to park a Cadillac where this Minneapolis outfit is performing.

Doors might get scratched and the hubcaps could end up missing. Run Westy Run is one of those groups that can be a bit reckless. Their bumper-car frenzy stage presence has earned them kudos in prairie-land and beyond.

In the studio, the band works in the meticulous manner of a chop-shop being scouted out by the cops.

This leads to some rather frenetic, skittering guitar music that reveals flashes of brilliance along with its fair share of blemishes on "Green Cat Island" — the band's latest LP on Twin/Tone. Lead singer Kirk Johnson acknowledges as such but offers no apologies.

Besides, there's always the next album that will be recorded during the spring in Athens, Ga.

"The next one we're going to spend more time recording," said Johnson, whose band performs Wednesday, Nov. 14, at Club Heidelberg in Ann Arbor. "This one we recorded in 15 days."

STEVIE NICKS uses about the same amount of time writing a lyric. The slap-dash quality of the LP is not a reflection on the work habits of Run Westy Run, though.

Otherwise, they wouldn't attract the likes of R.E.M.'s Peter Dinklage to produce their records. One of the reasons for the short time spent in the studio came down to economics.

Two of the band's previous albums were released on the California-based independent label SST. Naturally, the group waited for some money from SST to record LP No. 3. The check never came.

So, Run Westy Run borrowed money from a friend and did the album on their own. Twin/Tone (Replacements, Robyn Hitchcock, etc.) thought enough of "Green Cat Island" to distribute it.

Run Westy Run can be very much the suburban rock'n'roll band, using a heavy dose of primal guitar to speak their cause. Yet, the group also has a keen sense of rhythm buttressing on funk and punk. And, damn, if Kirk Johnson doesn't sound like Iggy on the opening cut.

All of which makes the flaws acceptable if not cherished like an infant's tumble trying to walk. When Kirk Johnson talks about spending more time with pre-production on the next LP, it's enough to make one wince.

THEN AGAIN, this is not a band on the first time around. Run Westy Run has been together for five years and features Johnson and Johnson (and Johnson). Brothers Kirk (singer), Kyle (bass-guitar) and Kraig (guitar-bass) are at the core of the group with guitarist Terry Fisher and Dan on drums.

Run Westy Run has kept good company from the start. Grant Hart from Husker Du and Buck co-produced the band's demo. The R.E.M. guitarist has taken over the production reins.

"He's into doing it again and we are into doing it again," Kirk Johnson said. "We want to push ourselves a little more on the next one."

Buck's production work hasn't stopped the comparisons to the Replacements and Soul Asylum, though.

"They have (made comparisons) anyway just because you're from Minneapolis and stuff," he said.

Loudhouse: Not your usual audio-visual

By Joseph S. Hoffmann
special writer

Loudhouse is not your run-of-the-mill heavy metal mix. That's what drummer Vin E. meant when he said, "We're not just another salesman on the block." This band is from Detroit and it shows in its street sense and attitude. The thing that catches your attention is the unusual fusion of influences that makes up its unique sound.

Vocalist Ken E. said the music and stage presence are influenced as much by non-musicians as it is from bands of the '70s and '80s.

"William Burroughs' cut-up style of writing is one of my personal big influences," said Ken E., who is a 1982 graduate of Livonia Bentley High School. What does cut-up style mean?

"It's when you cut-up all your lyrics and put them into a bag, then you pull them out and piece them together to form an unusual, but meaningful, lyrics combination."

Another influence on the band is black and white movies. Sound strange? That's because you haven't seen their stage show. If you had, you'd have seen the three television monitors that run images throughout the show. It really adds a different sort of twist.

"One night the band brought a real USDA choice pig head on stage," said Ken, who proceeded to do a tribal dance with that pig head. Not satanic, tribal.

"WHAT IS my biggest influence?" asked bassist Tim Cross. "That would be Walt Disney. If you're in a band it helps to watch a lot of cartoons."

These guys just got back from L.A. where they've signed a record deal with Virgin records.

"For the longest time no one knew what to do with us, now we've signed for a record deal and everyone wants on the bandwagon," said Ken E.

On stage the band is as much a visual experience as they are auditory. Every member of the band dons the same tattoo, evidence of the branding from their baptism in L.A.

Lead guitarist Mike Cross claims his solos to be '70s influenced, but his rhythms to be his own.

An outstanding feature of their stage show is their tireless singer

REVIEWS

ROOM TO ROAM — Waterboys

The Waterboys' last album, "Fisherman's Blues," was an Irish postcard ripe with images of the auld sod and Guinness-induced poetry by Mike Scott. The LP marked a change of direction for the Waterboys, who seemed to prefer sonic antheams until then.

On "Room to Roam," the Waterboys have decided to stick around for another pint of stout. This LP, on Chrysalis/Ensign, delves deeper into area of Celtic folk with homespun ditties from Eire.

Not content with sounding only a bit "trad," the Waterboys go the full distance with music filled with tin whistles, accordion, fiddle and mandolin. For the most part, the band pulls this off — again — with a great deal of charm and eloquence.

Numbers like "The Raggle Taggle Gypsy" and "Room to Roam" have an undeniable knee-slapping quality to them, whereas the fiddle-happy "Natural Blues Bridge" runs dangerously close to Irish Rovers territory.

What the Waterboys don't want to become is the musical equivalent of the amiable uncle who has no teeth but plays a mean harmonica and tells a great story. He's great to see on the holidays, but do you want him living with you. In all this roots revelry, the Waterboys have forgotten to be a rock band.

This should be a major concern for Waterboys fans. Yet, when Scott sings the flute wispily, "A Man is in Love," there is a warmth and sincerity that transcends the lack of verve in the overall tonality of the album. "Room to Roam" is very much about discovery for Scott, who sings "I'm starting to see a bigger picture/I'm starting to color it in."

Scott explores those feelings more in depth on "Something That Is Gone," where he does a great deal of soul-searching with the somewhat jazzy nightclub piano feeding the investigation.

"The Star and the Sea" only hints at the Waterboys' rock prowess lost in the mist of this Celtic musical journey. And something tells us Mike Scott and company are not coming back from this trip.

SMILE — Ride

Ride is yet another neo-'60s, flower-child band. Don't make the mistake of grouping Ride with bands like the Strawberry Zots and Jellyfish though, because Ride differs from these other novelty bands in an important way — they're good.

The quartet of musicians — Mark Gardener of vocals and guitar, Andrew Bell on guitar, Steve Queralt on bass and Lars Colbert on drums — hails from jolly old England. Apparently, they started playing music together in art school, following in the footsteps of bands like the Talking Heads, the Kicks and the Rolling Stones.

According to their press release, if we can believe Sire records highly excitable publicity department, the band then became fabulously popular in England, racking up hits in the Top-40 and being praised by New Music Express and Sounds as a "Hope for the '90s." One of their concerts in England was described as a "near-riotous affair."

For once, a record company press department doesn't seem to be yammering away about nothing. Ride is worthy of the praise. The band takes on a tired genre (in this case psychedelia) and adds a distinctive and original spin to it.

Their songs are heavy on guitars and Moody Blues-esque harmonies.

The guitar licks are as addictive as the famous one in Cream's "Sunshine of Your Love." This makes their songs instantly likable. On first listening, a song like their "Drive Blind" will become an instant favorite. You haven't heard these songs before, but they will immediately seem like old friends.

The overall sound of the songs is somewhere between bands like Traffic and the Moody Blues. The vocals are heavily echoed, making the band sound like an early version of Depeche Mode.

Their songs are usually about that old 1960s standby — mild-expansion. Check out the song titles: "All I Can See," "Furthest Sense" and "Like a Daydream."

Fire up your lava light and take a Ride.

HINDU LOVE GODS — Hindu Love Gods

The Hindu Love Gods are the result of a collaboration of Warren Zevon and a Stipeless R.E.M. Apparently, Zevon met Peter Dinklage, Bill Berry and Mike Mills several years ago when he was down in Athens, Ga., recording some demos.

When Zevon was recording "Sentimental Hygiene," he asked the fellows from R.E.M. to sit in on the sessions as special guests. During an evening of frivolity after one of the recording sessions, all four men decided to gather 'round one microphone and start singing classic old tunes. It was from a tape of this night that the Hindu Love Gods album was made. Zevon sings vocals on this light-hearted release.

So far, critics are divided over whether they like this release or not. The people who don't like it complain that it is unoriginal to do an album full of covers and say that the record doesn't sound "alternative" enough — whatever that means.

The other camp, myself included, takes this releases for what it is — just a spontaneous, off-the-cuff recording that just happened to be tape of a bunch of musicians goofing around. However, when musicians of the stature of Warren Zevon and Peter Dinklage goof around, the result is bound to be interesting.

And interesting it is. The Gods cover 10 tunes, a majority of them blues tunes, ranging from Robert Johnson classics with "Walkin' Blues" and "Travelin' Riverside Blues" to "Mannish Boy" and Willie Dixon's "Wang Dang Doodle."

Arguably, the best cover on the album, is the Gods' version of Prince's "Raspberry Beret." Like Sinead O'Connor and Mitch Ryder before them, the Hindu Love Gods have made a cover of a Prince song that sounds even better than when Prince sings it himself. Zevon ultra-cool vocals on the tune might win him a few more fans from people who bought the album because of the R.E.M. connection.

Zevon and R.E.M. fans will also enjoy checking out the liner notes which feature candid photos of the quartet during the recording session.

Love: There's no in between

Dear Barbara:
I have done everything for my partner. He was recently having trouble at work and I encouraged him to quit so that he could regroup. I told him that I would support him. He had really gotten himself in over his head in a lot of ways, and I have been there to help him out every time.

We have known each other for six months, and I moved in with him this month. During the closet-cleaning that needed to be done for me to move, we often fought. He seems to get so controlling about what I keep and do not keep.

I like having him around for moral support when I do these tasks, but then he is so fun and makes everything hard. I do love him, but I am confused that he does not return my support in kind. He says that he loves me, but then is domineering, even critical. He is often also loving, affectionate and kind.

I have never had a successful intimate relationship, although I am 48. Do you think that this is my problem or his?

Confused

Dear Confused,

You've got me confused, too. I would have to know much more about you to know why you have not had success with intimate relationships and whether or not this is your problem or his.

In the first part of your letter, you complain about this man being no fun and making everything hard. In the second part, you say you are the cause because you can't have intimate relationships.

In any intimate relationship, if you want the positive rewards of being with someone, then you must accept the total package. That means accepting the negative ones, too. If you can't accept the whole package, then you cannot make a lasting relationship.

Apparently, your confusion is not being able to accept a clear-cut decision, i.e., the whole package or nothing. You prefer to live in between and complain.

If you are dissatisfied with this response, please write with further details, because I'm dissatisfied with it, too.

known for playing light comic roles in Paris. For her only appearance on film, Dreyer insisted that she perform without makeup.

Much of the brilliance of "The Passion of Joan of Arc" is owed to cinematographer Rudolf Mate, who later became a director in Hollywood. His expressive use of shadows later highlighted film noir titles like "D.O.A." (1949) and "Union Station" (1950).

DREYER'S OWN career did not continue so happily. "The Passion of Joan of Arc" was a commercial failure, opening at a time when sound films were all the rage. Banned by religious leaders and edited by distributors, the film was shown in several butchered versions until 1951, when a full print was found and re-released with a classical music soundtrack.

For this week's afternoon screenings, recorded music of organist John Muri will serve as a soundtrack. For a critical reading of "Joan" and comparison to other Dreyer titles, Jytte Jensen from the Museum of Modern Art will lecture Dec. 2.

William T.G. Morton, the dentist who is now credited with discovering the possibility of using ether as an anesthetic.

The project was taken away from Sturges and edited by someone else. It suffers from a discordant opening with a series of vignettes and flashbacks that are confusing and never resolved in the film's rather abrupt conclusion.

Once viewers pass that opening section — and if they're willing to ignore the quick ending — there's some pretty good stuff in the film's main section. William Demarest as a patient-turned-friend-and-associate and Franklin Pangborn as a crotchety old professor are well worth watching. Both are masterful performers.

In addition, there's always that wonderfully witty and humorous Sturges view of the world, an attitude which characterized Hollywood's studio era: The world is a marvelous place which can always be conquered by optimism, dedication and hard work. Well, almost always.

"HAIL, THE Conquering Hero" is the much more satisfying of these two first-time video cassette releases. Eddie Bracken is mistaken for a war-time hero by his home town even though he has been discharged for hay fever. Again, Demarest and Pangborn steal the show and are well-worth your viewing time.

For those who missed it, Nov. 8 was a momentous date for fans of "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" (1975, R, 105 minutes) which appeared in video cassette that day. As well, all you curious folks who wondered why people were dressing up in strange costumes and throwing food at the movie screen during late shows for the past 15 years can now discover the answer in the privacy of your own home.

CBS Fox is mounting a major campaign for this premiere. The video includes a special five minute prologue produced by "Rocky Horror's" producer Lou Adler, featuring footage from the film's 10th Anniversary celebration at New York's Beacon Theater. There's also some recent footage shot at UC Berkeley's Theatre. A new music video, "Time Warp," has been added at the end of the tape. This segment shows fans performing the "Time Warp" as done during midnight screenings.

IF THAT'S NOT enough to get you running right over to your video store, "Science Fiction Double Feature: Reprise: and "Time Warp Instrumental," two songs from the international version are included.

All this should attract the curious as well as the "Rocky Horror" aficionados. CBS/Fox is taking no chances with their investment on this one and they have devised a number of new anti-piracy measures. The tape's suggested retail is $89.98, a price that ought to test the loyalty of "Rocky Horror's" dearest fans.

No doubt the video release will reap more profit for "Rocky Horror's" producers whose low-budget project has grossed over $150 million at the box office worldwide since it was released in 1975.

Now's your chance to join this strange and wonderful world of cult-film viewing without the fuss and bother of toast and rice thrown at the screen. Of course, if you want to throw stuff at your home screen, by my guest. Just don't try to watch it at my place.

Grading the movies

"Narrow Margin" (B, R, 95 minutes).

Despite an obvious plot with a hokum-laden conclusion, Gene Hackman and Anne Archer are entertaining in this DA vs. the Mob chase film.

"Night of the Living Dead" (R). Remake of George Romero's 1968 cult zombie film.

"Pacific Heights" (A-, R, 105 minutes).

Suspense and excitement as psychotic tenant terrorizes his landlords.

"Postcards From the Edge" (C+, R, 105 minutes).

Disappointing, jumbled, show-biz story of mother-daughter conflict doesn't live up to its advanced billing nor to its superb cast.

"Pretty Woman" (A-, R, 120 minutes).

"Problem Child" (C, PG).

Suburban couple adopt mischievous child.

"Quigley Down Under" (D, PG-13). Humorous, trite western with Tom Selleck in Australia.

"Sibling Rivalry" (C-, PG-13, 87 minutes).

"Tune in Tomorrow" (C+, PG-13, 100 minutes).

"Waiting for the Light" (C-, PG, 95 minutes).

Even Shirley MacLaine as eccentric aunt can't save this heavy-handed and simplified satire of human gullibility.

"Welcome Home, Roxy Carmichael" (D-, PG-13, 95 minutes).

Life gives Allen-Mishler his laughs

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

A wedding ring and a couple of children can change a guy. Just ask Jeff Allen-Mishler. "When I was drinking heavily and single, I would talk about drinking heavily and being jingle," Allen-Mishler said. Today, Allen-Mishler's observational style of humor speaks about family, trying to make ends meet and living straight in a crazy world. One-liners are at a minimum. Allen-Mishler doesn't sit down to write; telling stories comes natural. Few of life's experiences can easily be summed up in a quip. Sometimes he can get political. "The whole thing that is funny is that since George Bush has been in office, we've invaded Panama... we're involved in Saudi Arabia,"

Allen-Mishler said. "I'm glad he's in a kinder, gentler mood. I'd hate to be around him when he's p---d." Sometimes he can poke fun at himself. "I've been getting calls for Tim Allen for work," said Allen-Mishler, who has since added his real name to his middle name to avoid confusion with the Birmingham comedian. "I was on the phone with this guy from Bermuda. I was booked to play there and I was going to bring my wife and everything. 'THEN THE GUY on the phone says, 'You're the guy who does the power tool stuff.' I told him no... I never heard from him since." Allen-Mishler's story, though, is more of self-realization. He's been a stand-up comedian for 12 years. He's appeared on VH-1's "Stand-Up Spotlight," MTV's "Half Hour Comedy Hour" and recently taped an appearance for "Caroline's Comedy Hour" on A&E. A native of the Chicagoland area, Allen-Mishler is said to have a blue collar point of view combined with an excellent delivery and stage presence. His saggy eyes and raised eyebrows punches it all home. Off stage, though, Allen-Mishler describes how heavy drinking nearly destroyed his marriage. He's been through rehab and has become "more focused" as a comedian. Better yet, Allen-Mishler has become a little wiser. "One time I was in Houston, Texas, ranting and raving about how George Bush was scumball," Allen-Mishler said. "I mean this is his home state and all right after the election. These people start booing. 'I get off the stage and the manager gets right in my face and says, 'I don't think you should be calling the President a scumball.' I started to yell back at him... Next thing I know I can't work in four clubs that this guy happens to book. 'I'VE REALIZED I have to be more restrained.' Allen-Mishler dismisses those days as "all in the past." He attributes part of the problem to his drinking, although the incident in Texas occurred after he had quit. "When you drink for 14 years and give it up, you can get grouchy," he said. The turning point with his addiction came when he was about to divorce his wife, Tammi, who continually complained about his drinking. They have two children, Ryan, 3, and Aaron, 7. "When you are ready to give up your wife and kids so you can drink," he said, "it lets you know something is wrong."

At times mistaken for fellow comedian Tim Allen, Jeff Allen-Mishler offers audiences his observational style of humor and speaks about family, trying to make ends meet and living straight in a crazy world.

Toronto serves up a feast for film lovers

By Ralph Valdez and Martin Bandyke special writers

There's no other celebration of film in North America like Toronto's annual Festival of Festivals. Every fall, a mere four-hour car or train ride will put you in a movie lover's paradise.

This year, the 15th edition of the fest served up nearly 300 films from 44 countries. Everyone in the industry, from low budget directors to mega-buck movie stars, converges at Canada's movie mecca, heightening the excitement of this 10-day party.

It's the place to go to get a jump on some of the newest and the best releases of 1990, many of which have and will make it to Detroit in the coming months.

Dennis Hopper's latest effort, "The Hot Spot," has already showed up in the metropolitan area. Hopper returns to the director chair for the first time since "Colors" with an infinitely more satisfying film noir tale of lust, blackmail and murder.

Don Johnson is Harry Madox, a smug drifter whose number one love interest is the innocent, young and unattainable beauty Gloria (Jennifer Connelly). But Harry meets more than his match in local vamp Dolly Harshaw (Virginia Marsden).

THE TRIO tangle in Texas heat to an unforgettable soundtrack featuring Miles Davis jamming with John Lee Hooker and Taj Mahal in a music lover's dream.

Dealing with subject matter that could easily become overwrought and hackneyed, director Bertrand Tavernier masterfully avoids shallow melodrama and pursues deeper emotions in "Daddy Nostalg." Dirk Bogarde, in his first movie role since Fassbinder's 1978 film "despair," is Caroline's (Jane Birkin) seriously ill "Daddy."

Caroline's extended visit brings out the sweet camaraderie between father and daughter, not shared by Miche (Odette Laure), Daddy's devoted but uptight wife and Caroline's mother. Exquisitely natural dialogue and commanding performances, especially by Bogarde, help carry this powerful, yet contemplative work.

Dysfunctional, the latest American buzzword, aptly describes the articulate but whacked-out characters in the suburban tragic comedies of Long Island newcomer, director Hal Hartley. Last year's "The Unbelievable Truth" set the stage for the modern misanthropes that people Hartley's films.

THE JOKE MAY stay the same, but the punch line is ever changing, firmly establishing Hartley's twist-

Director Aki Kaurismaki's perfectly realized, heavily ironic comedy "I Hired a Contract Killer" features the welcome return of veteran French actor Jean-Pierre Leaud, star of such classics as Truffaut's "The 400 Blows" and Godard's "Masculine Feminine."

Unjustly fired from his job and deeply despondent, Jean-Pierre hires a contract killer to execute himself, then unexpectedly falls in love and decides that life is worth living again. The trouble is that he can't find his prospective murderer in order to call off his own killing.

Leaud is simply brilliant, his halting English and priceless facial expressions evoking sympathetic laughter.

story of the widely hated Claud von Bulow and his retrial for the attempted murder of his wife Sunny.

SUBLIME AMBIGUITIES abound in possibly the most objective telling of the mystery everyone thinks they've already solved.

Director's Monika Treut, Richard Kwietniowski, Pauline Chan, Peggy Ahwesh and Keith Sandborn have come up with a program of short films that kicks off with Treut's "Annie," a charming but lightweight documentary about porn queen and now performance artist Annie Sprinkle.

The following three films are increasingly audacious and inventive. Kwietniowski's "Flames of Passion" is an experimental, black and white, boy meets girl love story set in a train station with hypnotic images and music. Chan's "The Space Between the Door and the Floor" recounts a man's erotic obsession with a woman's underarm hair.

Ahwesh and Sandborn's "The Deadman," based on "Le Mort" by author Georges Bataille, is a truly bizarre and original piece of transgressive cinema. After the death of her lover, a woman seeks out the farthest reaches of sexuality and depravity. This naively grotesque and perversely funny work comes from the afflicted minds of two young New Yorkers.

IN THE EARLY 1960s, London's

rough East End was the feared home turf of the infamous Kray twins, nightclub owning gangsters whose strangeness and cruelty was legendary.

In director Peter Medak's "The Krays," the brothers' rapid rise and fall is skillfully rendered by Martin and Gary Kemp, ex of the "new romantic" musical combo Spandau Ballet. Renowned stage and screen actress Billie Whitelaw brings an incredible mixture of cynicism and warmth to the difficult role of the cold-blooded twins' smothering mother.

Walking a fine line between trash and treasure, Medak's stylish psycho-drama is most successful when the mood is dark and probing and the sentimental cliches are at a minimum.

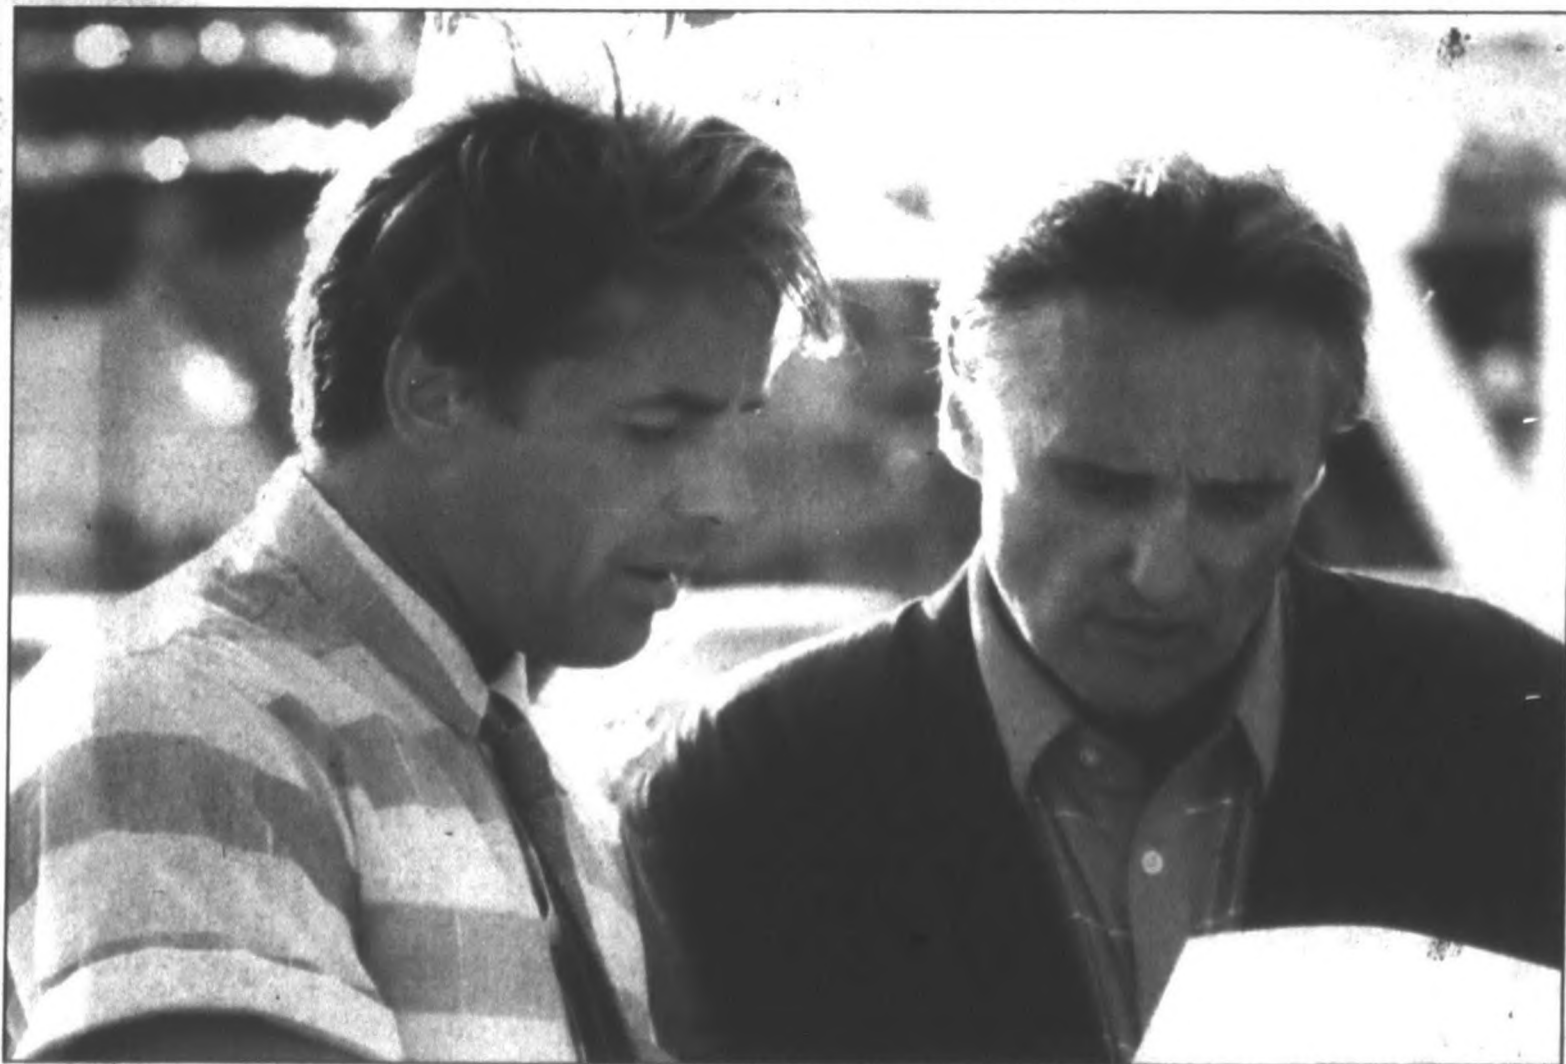

The ultimate irony of director Chuck Workman's "Superstar," a film biography of Andy Warhol, is that Warhol himself would probably have loved the fact that it's really quite bad. Far from a labor of love, Workman was commissioned to make a documentary film about an important artist and that's all he did.

Attesting to the importance of Warhol's life and work is the fact that this film has a hard time being ruined by the director's lack of talent. Great footage of the Velvet Underground is almost destroyed by Vanilla Fudge music on the soundtrack, while the heavy handed use of Pink Floyd's burnt-out song "Money" dominates scenes of Warhol's obsession with wealth.

IN OTHER HIGHLIGHTS was "Freeze, Die and Revive" by Vitali Kanevski and "Taxi Blues" by Pavel Lounguine, respectively the winners of best film and best director at this year's Cannes fest; Robert Altman's "Vincent and Theo," about the Van Gogh brothers; Jane Campion's "An Angel at My Table," winner of the critic's choice award in Toronto; Michael Verhoeven's perceptive "The Nasty Girl;" Yvonne's Rainer's "Privilege," and Derek Jarman's rigorous but rewarding "The Garden."

There were a few disappointments — Tom Stoppard's "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead," a who's-on-first routine for college grads; and "The Grifters" by Stephen Frears, where a talented director, cast (Angelica Huston, John Cusack) and a potentially exciting screenplay (based on a Jim Thompson novel), all add up to tedium.

Martin Bandyke is assistant music director at WDET-FM, where he co-hosts "Dimension" with Ralph Valdez 9 p.m. Sundays.

Dennis Hopper goes over a scene with Don Johnson who plays Harry Madox, a smug drifter, in "The Hot Spot."

Late architect inducted into Hall of Fame

The Michigan Women's Studies Association (MWSA) inducted the late Emily Helen Butterfield, former Farmington resident, into the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame Oct. 25.

Butterfield received the MWSA's Life Achievement Award for accomplishments as:

- Michigan's first registered woman architect.
- Founder of the Detroit Business Women's Club, forerunner of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and founder of Alpha Gamma Delta, an international collegiate women's fraternity.

She also was an author, artist, poet, watercolorist and calligraphist.

The Women's Hall of Fame originated in the MWSA, an organization of academic and professional women at Michigan State University in 1973. Women who have made significant contributions to education, art, civic, business progress are

Furniture art theme of display

A NEW generation of artists, drawing on the principles of furniture design, is creating innovative products that look as good in a museum as they do in a living room.

In dozens of studios across the United States, these artists are combining materials and designs previously unknown to the furniture world and creating functional art. Furniture that can be used, certainly, but furniture that makes a statement about the owner and artist.

Jamie Robertson's signature blue inlay can be found in tables and chests, and even decorative indoor ladders.

Consider the futuristic, metal-mithed chairs by Charles Crowley. Or the decoratively detailed tables of Wendy Stayman.

THESE WILL be just some of the examples when the work of 16 art furniture makers from across the country is gathered in Farmington for an exhibit by Janis Wetsman 20th Century Decorative Art of Birmingham.

"Art Furniture for Everyday Living 3," Janis Wetsman's third exhibit devoted to the genre, will showcase the different styles and materials being used today.

Broholm, a Massachusetts artist whose work premiered in the Detroit area last year through Wetsman, will be available to explain his techniques, inspirations and how to integrate his pieces with current decors at the exhibit's opening reception, 5-8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 15.

The exhibit will run at Artpack Services, 31505 Grand River, Door 10, near Orchard Lake Road, in Farmington through Dec. 8.

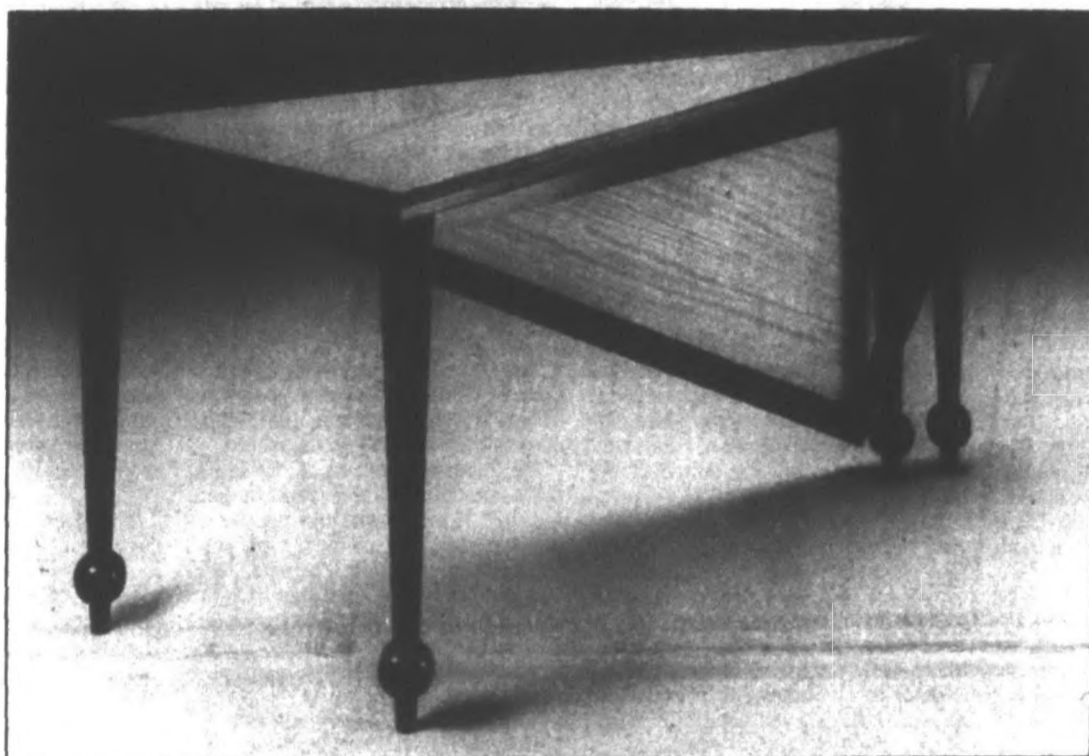

The artists featured in the Wetsman Collection are considered the second generation of furniture makers. Many of them are graduates of furniture design programs that emphasize conception and design.

They make one-of-a-kind pieces, evolved from an increased awareness of functional art, said Janis Wetsman, collection owner.

Butterfield named to Women's Hall of Fame either recognized as historic or contemporary honors in Michigan.

Butterfield and her father, Wells D. Butterfield, architect and first mayor of Farmington after its incorporation in 1926, designed business, industrial and public buildings, and homes, churches and schools.

WHEN EMILY Butterfield, a graduate of Detroit Central High School, graduated from the Syracuse University School of Architecture, its first woman graduate, she returned to the Detroit area.

She was associated with her father in the firm of Butterfield and Butterfield. It was dissolved with the retirement of her father in 1930.

In 1940, Emily Butterfield retired and lived in her native Algonac until her death in 1958 at age 74.

Among the Butterfield buildings now registered as Michigan Historic Places are houses in the Oakland subdivision and the Glen Oaks Clubhouse, both in Farmington Hills.

The First United Methodist Church of Farmington was one of nearly 30 Butterfield churches. Highland Park High is one of their schools. They designed their homes near Farmington Road and Shiawassee.

THE MOST obvious imprint Emily Butterfield made was as an initiator. While at Syracuse University, she was one of 11 young women who founded Alpha Gamma Delta. Now, there are 175 campus chapters, with 200 alumnae chapters.

In 1912, Emily Butterfield and 12 other young Detroit professional women formed the Detroit Business Women's Study Club, limiting membership to one representative from each business or professional group.

From this group came the Detroit Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and a charter membership in the Michigan, national and international business and professional women's clubs respectively in 1918, 1920 and 1934.

Butterfield's avocations of writing and painting-pen/ink sketches brought her recognition and provided pleasure to many others. She exhibited watercolors and pen/ink sketches at the Toledo Artists Club, the J.L. Hudson Gallery and the Scarab Club in the 1920s and 1930s.

In 1927, in recognition of the first annual Detroit Festival of the Arts, the Scarab Club exhibited "Women Artists at the Scarab Club from 1914-1927"; two Butterfield watercolors and a pen/ink sketch were hung.

In 1989, 50 Butterfield watercolors, architecture blueprints and examples of calligraphy were exhibited in the Beien Gallery of the Women's Study Association Building in Lansing. The exhibit was assembled by Alpha Gamma Delta members Jane Graf of Royal Oak, Carol Fansen of Livonia and Elizabeth Lee of Novi.

EMILY BUTTERFIELD wrote for architectural professional magazines and for Town and Country and House and Garden magazines.

She published two books, "Young People's History of Architecture" and "Heraldry in American College Fraternities," both illustrated by her pen/ink sketches. She wrote frequently for the Alpha Gamma Delta Quarterly and was its editor for seven years.

Her concern for young people was evident in the books she wrote and also in teaching a Sunday School class of high school youth and being a leader of a Girl Scout troop.

She participated in the community affairs of Neeshish Island in northern Michigan, where the family had a summer cottage and was postmistress there during World War II.

For many years, she was an official bander of waterfowl.

Wells D. Butterfield shared the family tradition of leadership. He was a charter member of the Detroit Exchange Club No. 1. He was Farmington's first mayor and encouraged Emily in developing the business and professional women's organizations.

After his retirement, the architectural firm was dissolved. Emily continued to write and paint in Farmington and Algonac. Both Wells D. and Emily Helen Butterfield were buried in the family plot at Oakland Cemetery, Algonac.

Pictures and memorabilia of Hall of Fame inductees are hung in the Michigan Women's Historical Center and Hall of Fame in Lansing. The Hall now spotlights more than 80 women.

Wetsman sponsoring Bostonian metalsmith

As the result of Janis Wetsman's sponsorship of metalsmith Charles Crowley, a new body of work in the decorative arts will be created: a series of contemporary sterling silver tea services.

Wetsman, of Janis Wetsman 20th Century Decorative Art in Birmingham, is providing a year-long stipend for the Waltham, Mass., artist to create a body of work he otherwise could not accomplish.

"I'm acting as a sponsor, an angel, a patron," Wetsman said. "It will allow him to concentrate on a series of tea services without having to try and support himself."

As an artist/metalsmith since 1984, Crowley has concerned himself with speculative and commissioned holloware and furniture, and commercial and ornamental metalwork. All the teapots and services in the series will be sterling silver.

"I have always wanted to do a body of work like this, but I was never afforded the time to do it," said Crowley, awarded first prize in the 1990 Fortunoff Sterling Silver Design Competition in New York.

BEFORE 1984, Crowley was a jeweler/goldsmith, a designer and builder of lacquer and metal boxes, and co-owner of Progressive Metalware, which designed and produced a line of pewter holloware.

"This very unusual opportunity was offered to me, and I was happy to take it," Crowley said.

His work will be represented in "Art Furniture for Everyday Living 3," an exhibit of contemporary craft furniture at Artpack Services in Farmington Nov. 15 to Dec. 8.

Wetsman and Crowley became acquainted through the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston about three years ago. The business relationship took about a year to form, although Crowley had two of his pieces in Wetsman's initial exhibit two years ago.

"His work is very simple, very elegant," Wetsman said. "I'm drawn to his shapes and sizes. He doesn't waste a lot of energy doing grandiose work."

NED COOKE, assistant curator at the Boston museum, said Crowley has successfully adapted his understanding of machinery — metal lathes and milling machines — to individual, custom production.

"It's very finely detailed, as well as well-conceived," Cooke said.

Crowley, who said his designs are based on whimsical ideas, noted tea services are a traditional object for sterling silver.

By next fall, the Wetsman-Crowley relationship will result in at least 12 pieces, which Wetsman would like to exhibit across the United States. Prices are likely to range from $10,000 to $12,000.

Art you can sit on showcased

"Because of that increased awareness," she added, there's "an increase in the use of furniture that has an intrinsic value, rather than pieces that will be replaced."

THE ART furniture movement has promoted important styles from the 1930s and 1950s. These styles function both in the home and office, and as art as well as furniture.

"Hopefully, what is created now will have the same timelessness, and we will understand the value of that which is not mass-produced," Wetsman said.

Wetsman believes the second generation of studio crafters have demonstrated a greater interest in the history of design and construction, new technical possibilities and the combination of wood with other materials.

A cabinet ($9,500) by Ronald Puckett, for example, combines padouk, wenge, holly and marble. Chairs ($3,900 each) by the same artist are built with painted maple, curly maple, padouk and leather.

"Art Furniture for Everyday Living 3," also will feature the work of Charles Crowley, Peter Dudley, Tom Duffy, John Dunningan, Beth Forer, John Lesch, Tom Loesser, Richard Scott Newman, Tim Philbrick, Henry Royer, Peter Spadone, Wendy Stayman and Howard Werner.

Detroit Symphony holiday tickets now on sale

Tickets for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's annual Christmas Festival are on sale at several locations in the metro area, including the Fox Theatre and Orchestra Hall box offices and all Ticketmaster locations.

This year's Christmas Festival features seven presentations, including:

- performances of Handel's "Messiah."
- Weekender Pops, featuring Marvin Hamlisch.
- Detroit News Young People's Concerts with Santa Koz's Music Fest.
- Bach's complete Brandenburg Concerti.
- An Evening with P.D.Q. Bach.
- "The Nutcracker Ballet" at the Fox Theatre.
- A New Year's Eve gala "Night in Old Vienna" led by DSO music director Neeme Jarvi.

THE 1990 Christmas Festival opens with performances of Handel's "Messiah" at 8 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 6; 4:30 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 8; and 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9.

Acclaimed conductor Nicholas McGegan leads the DSO with soloists Julianne Baird, soprano; Patricia Spence, mezzo-soprano; Jeffrey Thomas, tenor; and William Parker, baritone.

The Detroit Symphony Choral, Eric Freudigman, director, joins McGegan for these performances, sponsored by the Detroit Edison Foundation.

Audience members are urged to bring their scores to the Saturday, Dec. 8, performance and are invited to join in singing the choral portions of this timeless masterpiece.

THE WEEKENDER Pops Series features entertainer Marvin Hamlisch, composer of "A Chorus Line," "Sophie's Choice" and other film and stage hits.

He performs at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 7; 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8; and 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9, led by DSO associate conductor Leslie B. Dunner with the DSO. These concerts are sponsored by Merrill Lynch.

The Detroit News Young People's Concert Series features a program, "Santa Koz's Music-Fest," with children's entertainer Stefan Kozinski.

The audience is asked to bring their noisemakers and toys to join Maestro Kozinski and the orchestra in what promises to be a rare performance of Leopold Mozart's "Toy Symphony" at 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8. These concerts are sponsored by Detroit News/Gannett Foundation.

LAST YEAR'S performances of Bach's complete Brandenburg Concerti were so well received that they have been brought back again, this year with virtuoso conductor/violinist Joseph Silverstein.

Several of the orchestra's musicians highlight this favorite Christmas program. Performances take place at 8 p.m., Friday, Dec. 14, and 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16.

Musical madness prevails whenever Professor Peter Schickele, semiconductor and pianist, presents his hilarious spoof on classical music: "An Evening with P.D.Q. Bach (1807-1742)?"

The DSO is fortunate to procure the services of Professor Schickele to mislead the orchestra in these performances of music by this quasi-member of the Bach family incarnation. This special one-night only performance takes place at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 15.

THE DSO's popular holiday production of "The Nutcracker" returns to the Fox Theatre for 15 performances, beginning Friday, Dec. 14 and running through Wednesday, Dec. 26.

This year marks the second season of performances at the Fox Theatre in association with Brass Ring Productions and Olympia Arenas, and the 16th season of the DSP's collaboration with Dance Detroit, Jacob Lascu, director/choreographer.

Joining the DSO and Dance Detroit are guest principal dancers from the New York City Ballet: Merrill Ashley and Jock Soto on the evenings of Dec. 19-23; and Melinda Roy and Peter Boal on the evenings of Dec. 14-16, 18 and 26. Principal dancers for the matinee performances will be announced at a later date.

DSO associate conductor, Leslie Dunner, leads the orchestra for all 15 performances. The Women of the Detroit Symphony Chorus will provide off-stage chorus parts at the close of Act I.

Conductor/violinist Joseph Silverstein will appear in the DSO's performance of Bach's complete Brandenburg Concerti.

TO END the 1990 Christmas Festival, Jarvi has chosen to lead the orchestra in a special New Year's Eve gala, "Night in Old Vienna," at 9 p.m. Monday, Dec. 31.

This delightful evening of Vienna classics by Offenbach, Ponchielli, Massenet and others would not be complete without dancing to big band music made up of members of the DSO and a traditional countdown to midnight. A glass of champagne or soft drink is included in the price of each ticket.

Manage time well to stay organized

Q: My wife is upset because I never get home from work at 6 p.m. as I tell her I will. I have good intentions, but every day, I have so much to do, I work until the last minute, drive like crazy and I'm still late. Then the next morning, my desk is in a mess and I have to start over from scratch. Do you have any suggestions to help me get away on time?

A: People are funny. They will schedule everything — planning meetings, appointments, every type of project, etc. — but overlook a simple key to their success: Keeping their office organized.

You need to analyze what's going on. First, figure out how much time you devote to closing up your office. Too often, people overlook this last important aspect and then wonder why things pile up.

If the answer is five minutes or less, as you seemed to indicate, you are probably piling things in stacks with the thought, "I don't have time now so I'll put that stuff away tomorrow." Beginning tomorrow with yesterday's work, however, automatically starts off your day with a deficit.

Now, consider how long it would take to close up your office properly? That is 1) completely putting away and filing things where they belong, and 2) planning the next day while things are still fresh in your mind. This may take 15-30 minutes, depending on your working habits during the day.

The second part of your analysis is: Once you've left your office, how long does it take to get home? On one consulting job I did, a doctor insisted his office was only five minutes away from a huge hospital, so he allowed only five minutes to make that little journey.

What he was forgetting was how organizing

much time it took to collect his belongings, walk the long halls and grounds, get out of the parking lot, make the five-minute drive and then park, walk in and get settled into his office. His "five-minute trip" actually took 20 minutes. This is a typical example of how people underestimate time.

If you want to get home by 6 p.m. and it takes 30 minutes from the time you grab your coat until you arrive at your own front door, then you probably need to "quit working" by 5 p.m. to have time to close up your office properly and plan your next day.

Rather than "not having time to quit early," you will easily regain that time and more the next morning by getting off to a quick start and working when you are more rested.

You need to establish a new psychological mindset: You will "quit working" one hour before you want to be home. By using self-discipline to adopt this proactive (not reactive) philosophy, you will feel good about yourself, be well organized, get more done and have a happy home life, too.

You can order a booklet of Dorothy Lehmkuhl's first 52 Organizing columns by sending $5 and a long, self-addressed envelope, with 65 cents postage, to Organizing Techniques, 6185 Worlington, Birmingham 48010.

Raise the roof with cement

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Time was, there were few options for putting a roof over your head.

Back when Alley Oop the caveman wandered the plains, there was the natural stone cave roof — it kept the rain away, but lacked aesthetic appeal.

Then came early man's first attempts at building. Thatch, sticks and stones served a purpose, but the water damage was terrible every time it rained and the furniture and carpeting constantly needed replacing.

So man turned to products made from natural materials, like wooden shakes and stone shingles, and although they had appeal, they had a half life of about two weeks. Then came tin roofs, but there was that cat thing on hot, sunny days.

So man invented asphalt shingles and there was much happiness. They looked pretty good — albeit a bit drab — and the water damage was kept to a minimum.

But now, residential roofing products have taken a leap ahead. In addition to new, multi-colored, longer lasting fiberglass-asphalt shingles, there are other alternatives, including cement shingles made to look like the wood shakes and stone of the past at half the cost and twice the durability.

Ron Nordquist, sales representative for Architectural Roof Tile Inc., a Kalamazoo firm that distributes concrete-based roof tiles throughout the state, said for color, durability and style, nothing beats concrete roof tiles.

Styles include a flat tile made to look like natural slate; a semi-flat tile with beveled ribs exposed to the surface; a curved tile created to recall the styles of Mexico and Spain; and a rough, uneven pattern that simulates wood shakes.

"You can get the look of (real) slate at about half the cost," he said.

MADE FROM Portland cement, plasticizers, manufactured iron and chrome oxides, and aggregates, cement tile styles include a flat tile made to look like natural slate, a semi-flat tile with beveled ribs exposed to the surface, a curved tile created to recall the styles of Mexico and Spain, and a rough, uneven pattern that simulates wood shakes, Nordquist said.

"They've been making these in Europe for 200 years," Nordquist said of the molded-roof tiles, but today's product is far superior. "It's a 200-year old product with 1970s, 1980s and 1990s technology."

Cement tiles have been in use in the East and South for years, but it is only within the last decade or so that the process has been perfected for use in colder climates.

Cement shingles have added thickness to give the roof character and depth. They are also attached to the roof with an air cavity beneath to add insulation value.

"In California and Florida, it's probably about 65 percent of the market; in Michigan, it's probably only 4 percent of the market," he said.

Probably the greatest advantage to cement roof tiles is their durability, Nordquist said. "This roof will last for 50 years — you may have to re-roof an asphalt roof two or three times in that time."

Tiles are also resistant to the freeze-thaw cycles, Nordquist said.

"That's important because in Michigan, we can have as many as five freeze-thaw cycles per day."

Tiles also hold their color indefinitely because the coloring is applied throughout, rather than on the surface, he said.

BECAUSE OF the way it is attached, the molded-cement tile also offers insulation, Nordquist said. Rather than laying tiles directly on the roof, molded cement tiles are mounted on furring strips that create an air pocket between the roof sheathing and the tile, thereby preventing direct heat transmission.

The air cavity also keeps the moisture barrier between sheathing and tile dry. Roof coverings that lay directly on roofing underlayment speeds up the deterioration of the roof, Nordquist said.

Nordquist said that while molded-cement roof tiles are heavier than asphalt shingles, they are not so heavy as to damage the roof. "Structurally, it's no different. It can't be a cheaply made house, but if it's a well-made roof, I can put tile on it."

But cement tile doesn't come cheap, Nordquist said. "It's not for everyone. Depending on the style and (difficulty of) installation, it costs between $400 and $900 a square (roughly 100 square feet)."

Four factors can affect the cost of putting in a cement roof, he said, including the amount of cutting, the roof pitch, access to the roof, and the number of stories. "It's about four times the cost of conventional shingles."

"The only thing it can't do is save you money right off the bat," he said.

If it looks like a wood shake and has the texture of a wood shake, it must be a wood shake — but appearances can be deceiving. This isn't a wood shake, it's molded cement, and its manufacturer guarantees its durability for 50 years.

Old-time asphalt shingles get new lease on life

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Don't sell the flat fiberglass/asphalt shingle short — the old stalwart still has a few tricks up its sleeve.

The old thinking that a conventionally shingled roof needs replacing every 10 years just doesn't apply in today's superior-designed roofing tile.

John Gross, advanced sales representative for Owens-Corning Fiberglas Construction Products Group in Oak Park, said new materials and production techniques on the fiberglass-asphalt shingle has added years to the life of the roof.

"We spent nearly $13 million in the roofing division (for research and development) this year alone," he said. During the 1980s, the wet process used in manufacturing longer-lasting shingles was perfected, cold climate sealants were introduced to improve weathering, and the overall strength of the shingles structure was improved.

For the builder and contractor — and even for the homeowner, the most important selling point of the shingle is durability, he said. "The heart of the shingles is better than it used to be."

The materials put into today's shingles are better suited for roofing.

The newer fiberglass-asphalt shingles have greater strength and resist water, thanks to an inorganic, glass fiber mat, which takes the place of the old organic felt.

GROSS EXPLAINED the asphalt shingles of old were made with an organic felt base that absorbed moisture that caused shingles to buckle, curl, blister and swell.

Organic felt, made mainly from newspaper pulp and wood chips, absorbs water more easily, which causes the shingle to break down.

Today's shingles also have improved weathering grade asphalt and better sealed exteriors, Gross said.

Because of the better materials and manufacturing processes, today's shingles come with guarantees ranging from 25 to 40 years, he said.

But perhaps even more important than the physical improvements to the shingles — at least to the average consumer — is the appearance and color of today's shingles.

Gross said that the shingle must perform aesthetically as well as functionally. "The pitch of the roof is getting steeper and steeper so you see a lot more roof."

Traditional roofs with 12 feet of height for every four feet of height have given way to 12 feet of height for every 12 feet of height, he said.

"There are strip shingles with, shadow lines, dimensional shingles, and shingles with accentuated blends to create hot spots — things that aesthetically make roofs look better," he said.

Gone are the days when roofs were all gray. Of course, gray is still available, but builders and homeowners can choose from a variety of reds, greens, browns, golds blacks and even off-whites.

And these colors have different shades to add character to the roof's appearance, he added.

In addition to colors, shingles also have different textures today, Gross said. The flat style of shingle is still the most common, but more elaborate "shadow shingles," which create an illusion of dimension and gives depth to a roof, are gaining popularity. Shadow shingles use intense blend drops for vividness and an interrupted shadow line to provide randomness and dimension, he said.

Look to city, co-op rules to resolve burning issue

We have a number of neighbors in our cooperative who insist on burning leaves on the playground areas of the cooperative. It makes it hard for the kids to play and the smoke makes me sick. The board seeks to ignore this, saying it gives some of the elderly folks something to do. What can I do?

First, the burning of leaves may well be in violation of a local ordinance, which city officials have a responsibility to stop by ticketing or other means. Second, the burning of leaves may be a violation of the cooperative rules, particularly if not done by an authorized person or company. You should advise the board in writing of its obligation to enforce the rules or promulgate new or additional ones, as the case may be, to prevent pollution, maintain safety and to otherwise improve the investment of the cooperative and its surroundings. Perhaps the cooperative can place additional recreational facilities in the playground for both young and the more elderly.

What can be done to stop noise coming from the unit above me in my condominium? The board doesn't seem to do anything about it.

This is one of the most common complaints in condominiums perhaps because of the proximity of the units to one another, lax codes on sound conditioning and poor construction of buildings. Depending on your particular situation, the condominium association or the developer may have a responsibility to do something. Of course, part of the problem depends on whether your neighbor upstairs is acting within "normal" bounds or is causing noise that is above and beyond reasonableness. In the latter case, you and the association have recourse against the co-owners depending upon the condominium documents. Obviously, more information is needed to answer your question.

Are there any rules or standard procedures that pertain to the painting and maintenance of decks? The decks were built by the developer and listed in the sales brochure of standard features as a private wood deck off of the main living room and shown on the prints as a limited common element. The patios and courtyards are mentioned in the by-laws as being limited common elements, but the decks are not mentioned. The board is trying to determine whether the maintenance of the decks is an association or co-owner responsibility. The board has been told by the managing agent that the decks are usually a co-owner's responsibility. There are some co-owners who are insistent that it be an association responsibility. The board would incur an assessment that we are trying to avoid. The board would also have regulations as to the upkeep of the decks if it is a co-owner's responsibility. If the board wishes to make this a co-owner responsibility, what should be done to enforce this regulations?

It is difficult to determine with any certainty whether the maintenance or painting of the decks is an association responsibility vis-a-vis a co-owner responsibility without reviewing the condominium master deed, the condominium bylaws and the site plan. Relying on the managing agent to give you an opinion is both unwise and inappropriate. The management company should be managing, now lawyering. In addition, if the opinion of the management company is wrong, it may not even have liability insurance to cover its inaccuracies. What the association must do is to obtain a comprehensive legal opinion regarding whose responsibility it is to maintain the decks. Whether an assessment should be levied to pay for the maintenance of the deck is dependent, of course, on whose responsibility it is to maintain the deck. The board may wish to establish regulations concerning the maintenance of the deck, assuming that it has the jurisdiction over the deck area, regardless of condo queries

Robert M. Melsner

who is responsible for maintaining or painting it. If the board wishes to change the condominium bylaws so as to ensure that the co-owner is responsible for the deck, that will require the necessary approval processes set for in the condominium bylaws and the relevant condominium statute. Even the question of what percentage is necessary to amend the condominium bylaws may be the subject of legal disagreement.

You have a number of questions of a serious legal nature that should be addressed by the board with the benefit of competent and experienced legal counsel as soon as possible.

This is a great time for Scorpios. Keep a sense of mystery about your personal life, especially in the workplace. People will find you more intriguing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Read between the lines. You must be patient this week to avoid unnecessary arguments. Make sure others understand your intentions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

A friend will bring you some happy news. Take time to just reflect on life. Things are complicated, but there are ways to simplify life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Your career will need your full attention. Loved ones can relieve pressure on the domestic front if you will simply communicate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Take action on a task that should have been done weeks ago. Don't depend on others to do your dirty work. You are capable of doing the job.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Friends will show great appreciation of your talents. Romance is in the air, but it may not come from the source you would normally expect.

By C.C. Clark

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

This is a great week for renewing commitments made to loved ones. If you are just beginning a relationship, a very important issue may arise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Avoid making promises you know you can't keep. Though your financial picture may look a little rosier, don't overspend this weekend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Don't get paranoid, but do watch for accidents waiting to happen. It will seem bumping your knees and stubbing your toe are a way of life.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

You may receive a letter from a loved one. You will need to confide your fears to a friend, and they will provide some answers for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Your bank account experiences some good luck, although it may not involve an increase in funds. Changes made at work prove positive.

STAR NOTES

Macdonald Carey's words, actions continue on 'Days'

By Candace Havens

"Like sands through the hourglass, so are the days of our lives." Macdonald Carey first said these words on Nov. 8, 1965, and 25 years later these words are repeated before every airing of Days of Our Lives.

Throughout the month of November, Days is celebrating its 25th anniversary, along with one of its most enduring and endearing original characters, Dr. Tom Horton, portrayed by Carey.

Born in Sioux City, Iowa, Carey's screen career began in 1942 after several years of singing and acting on radio and on stage. In 1941 he had a successful stint in Lady in the Dark on Broadway.

Throughout the '40s he worked as a contract player with Paramount, playing leads and second leads. He made more than 40 movies including The Great Gatsby, Odongo, Copper Canyon, Tammy and the Doctor and End of the World.

Cable Comments

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN
Executive Director,
SW Oakland Cable Comm.

As I walked through the studio door, Betty Schelling and her production crew of Vita Accioli, Fran Dudas, Gretchen Pugsley, Ken Glide, Bob Wightman, Mel Shulman, Linda Newman and Cathy Stolzer were all quietly setting up for the shoot.

This group of warm and professional people are diligent volunteers who produce very fine television.

I was asked by Producer-Director Betty Schelling to host her series entitled, "WOMEN ON THE MOVE." It is quite a privilege to be able to do an interview and then go on to other responsibilities. The tough part however, is forcing yourself to concentrate on a subject intently for a couple of hours and wiping out all other projects. Most of the shows are taped in the morning. I am a morning person, but a "quiet energy" morning person. Though I move around quickly, talking is an effort.

However, I am motivated by the special opportunity to have a conversation with special people who represent a cause or an organization. Guests on "WOMEN ON THE MOVE" are always such caring and interesting people. With an hour to explore the subject matter, the dialogue goes far beyond the superficial level. As interviewer I must concentrate, be curious and work hard to bring out the unique personality of the guests. All these elements insure that the program has the continuity and the dynamics to keep the attention of the television audience.

Interviewing in this manner is very hard, but rewarding. I am always exhausted afterward. Nevertheless, each production has run very smoothly. The preproduction planning and the precision of the production crew is evident in the final product. The guests comment on how laid back and organized everyone is. This is the ultimate compliment to a Producer.

My style of interviewing is to spend a couple of minutes beforehand with the guest. I don't ask them many questions so that I will not lose the important element of spontaneity. I explain to the guest the format of the interview and ask if there are any areas which they do not want me to broach. I approach an interview as if I were writing a book about the person. This encourages them to share details they might otherwise not discuss.

In this way an interview becomes much more intimate. The conversation then becomes intriguing to the television audience. They become very involved and feel as if they are sitting there with us.

"WOMEN ON THE MOVE" guests have been insightful and stimulating.

Barbara Levin warmly shared her life experiences as our guest. It was interesting to hear of her career changes and role priorities. She has worked on war missile research and computers; she also has a law degree. She has practiced law in Washington D.C., raised a family and has been a supportive wife of Senator Carl Levin. She was knowledgeable and interesting yet relatively low key. I was impressed with her charisma and drive. Barbara Levin is definitely a woman on the move.

Nancy Swanborg, Marcie BloomVettese and Marlene Kershaw joined us as representatives of Schoolcraft Colleges Women's Resource Center. The Center deals with changes and transitions in people's lives. Programs are available to lend support services, grants and education to women and men who are adjusting to divorce, separation, death or a disability, and need to find paid employment. These three women were a wonderful representation of determination and resourcefulness. So many services these days are taken, but not the Womens Resource Center. Through three different programs they try to secure the most appropriate means of enhancing the potential for success in each individual, while they open a new chapter of their lives.

Botsford General Hospital's Director of Volunteers, Adele Emmer, shared with us the excitement generated through the Volunteer Organizations of Botsford including the Red Cross Volunteers, Volunteer Guild (Gift Shop) and a new program for Patient and Guest Room Service. Nancy Lawton, Doris Gaiser and Nancy Adams spoke on their experiences as they personalize the services provided through Botsford General Hospital. As women on the move, they shared the wonderful experiences that both the patients and they have had through the years, as each benefit from the relationship developed by giving to one another. The Volunteer programs include the entire hospital, spreading hard work among their staff so that the burden is easier for everyone.

Nancy Schmidt of the Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan challenged our television audience to bring humor into our lives. She told us of the studies and specific cases where a sense of humor has enhanced the lives of people and family members who are stricken with ailments that require extra patience and commitment. Most people think one needs to be happy to find humor in a situation. She suggests that humor is a mind set and that if we look for it and smile, the rest will fall into place. Humor simply makes us feel good and eases tension, therefore, it is healthy and healing.

Show going strong in its third season

By Mary Ann Townsend

In a career that has included stage, television and film, as well as journalism, Candice Bergen has found a role that fits like a glove and allows her to do the comedy she has desired to do since childhood.

She is firmly set in the third season of her critically acclaimed series on CBS, "Murphy Brown."

"I love this character. I love Murphy," Bergen said. "She's a character with incredible heart, with dynamism and real ability at what she does. And, of course, more than anything, I love the edge on her."

Bergen, in real life, has developed many of the same characteristics as her character. An acclaimed photo-journalist as well as an actress, she also has real ability at what she does. Bergen has had photographs and articles published in magazines such as "New York Magazine," "Playboy," "Life," "Esquire," "Vogue," "Cosmopolitan" and "Ladies Home Journal."

As far as incredible heart, Bergen has had a successful marriage to film director Louis Malle since 1980. When she is not filming, they take their young daughter Chloe to their home in France. Bergen has also proven herself a devoted stepmother to Malle's two children, Cuote and Justine.

And, finally, Bergen developed an edge while growing up as the "sibling" of Charlie McCarthy, the dummy of her ventriloquist father Edgar Bergen. "At home the whole thing was sort of like competition. And in a public sense, he was sort of my nemesis, because when I was on my father's show I wasn't allowed the laughs. Mostly the laughs belonged to Charlie."

Now Bergen is in her third year of getting the laughs as television journalist Murphy Brown. Mixed with the pressures of her profession is quite a bit of humor, from the diverse personalities on the "F.Y.I." staff to Eldin, the housepainter who seems to be eternally working on her apartment.

Bergen said people seem to relate to the situation with Eldin, and newspeople with whom she has spoken fully understand the ironies that come from juggling journalism with home life.

"Almost everyone had a story that was the equivalent of hanging up on a Secretary of State to talk to the house painter," she said.

Playing housepainter Eldin Bernecky is Robert Pastorelli. The character is a thorn in Murphy's side, but he is also a source of support once she gets home from the studio.

Pastorelli was born June 21 in New Brunswick, N.J. and was raised in Edison, N.J. As a young boy, he was always in trouble in his hometown and was eventually sent to reform school. There, following his instincts, he started a theater group and developed his passion for acting.

He began performing in local plays throughout New York, and in 1977, made his professional debut in "Rebel Without a Cause" with the New York Theatre Ensemble. Five years later he moved to Los Angeles to guest star in an episode of "Barney Miller," and he has been working there ever since. His feature film debut came in "Outrageous Fortune," and he appeared in "Beverly Hills Cop II."

TIME OUT

New program covers NBA inside stuff

By Steve Paschal

Through the years, NBC has been one of the leading innovators in professional sports coverage. This season, the network is once again on the cutting edge of sports entertainment with NBA Inside Stuff.

Each Saturday throughout the basketball season, former Minnesota Vikings wide receiver Ahmad Rashad and co-host Julie Moran headline a fast-moving, high-energy half hour that features the hottest players in the National Basketball Association as well as the previous night's scores and highlights from all the week's games. In addition, Rashad and Moran will update the Saturday scores.

Rashad graduated from the University of Oregon in 1972 and was a first-round draft pick of the St. Louis Cardinals. He played in Buffalo and Seattle before going to Minnesota, where he set the Viking career reception record with 400 catches in just seven seasons. In 1983, Rashad joined NBC Sports.

Prior to joining NBC, Moran appeared on a variety of television programs for the CBS Television Network and the Movietime Channel. She served as a sports reporter for WCTV/Tallahassee after graduating magna cum laude from the University of Georgia with a degree in broadcast journalism and reported for Julius Erving's Sports Focus on ESPN.

TRIVIA, ETC.

Many actors have knack for writing

By Steven Alan McGaw

Questions:

1. In 1976, an excellent character actor (now deceased) wrote a best-selling book about sailing, titled Voyage. Name the author.
2. This actor has written several best sellers, among them Crowned Heads, Lady and Harvest Home. Identify this writer and his first big book. (Actually, it was no bigger than the rest, but ... never mind.)
3. The Moon's a Ballon was one volume of what actor's best-selling autobiography?
4. This bandleader-turned-TV star titled his autobiography simply, A Book. Who was it?
5. In his autobiography, this screen legend referred to himself modestly as just a "song and dance man, a hooper." Identify him.
6. There are lots of books written about Marilyn Monroe. If you've read one, this shouldn't be tough. How old was Marilyn at the time of her first marriage, and what was her husband's name?

Answers:
 1. Sterling Hayden
 2. Thomas Tryon, who first hit it big with The Other (A great book!)
 3. David Niven
 4. Desi Arnaz
 5. James Cagney
 6. Marilyn was 16 when she wed aircraft mechanic Jim Dougherty.

BITS AND PIECES

Jane Pauley to continue to explore 'Real Life'

Jane Pauley has signed a five-year contract with NBC News, and her new program, Real Life with Jane Pauley, will return to the NBC prime-time schedule mid-season as a regular weekly series. Real Life presents a fresh look at life in the 1990s. The program premiered with five specials this summer and was a critical and ratings success, examining subjects that interest the average American and probing the problems and concerns we all confront daily.

U.S. troops in the Middle East will be receiving "home video" letters from the cast and crew of Knots Landing. In the taped messages, Joan Van Ark mimics her role as Val, Larry Riley sings and Kent Masters-King talks about her grandfather, the first African-American Marine. The theme of the messages: "We're thinking of you, you mean a lot to us, and we hope you get home soon."

Motown 30: What's Goin' On, a two-hour special celebrating the Motown Sound and the music and artistry of African-American performers who have influenced popular entertainment in America and around the world, was taped live at the Pantages Theatre in Los Angeles for broadcast in November on CBS.

International superstar singer Julio Iglesias will headline his first full-length concert special for American TV when HBO presents Julio Iglesias: Starry Night, debuting Nov. 24. The hour-long special was filmed in Los Angeles at the Greek Theatre.

John Spencer, who played Detective Lipranzer in Presumed Innocent, will join the cast of NBC's I A Law as a "trampled but talented litigator." He becomes the 14th regular cast member.
