Wife says goodbye to husband, six children

By Diane Gale
staff writer

One by one seven coffins carrying Martin Dell'Orco and the six children he tried to save from the fire that gutted their Canton home were placed in seven hearses outside St. Thomas A'Becket Catholic Church Saturday morning.

Inside Martin Dell'Orco's wife, Debbie, and the couple's three surviving children, Jimmy, 14, Kelly, 14 and Adam, 6, said good-bye during the funeral services.

MARTIN DELL'ORCO died with six of his children after going back into the house in an attempt to rescue them from the Dec. 22 fire that started when an old fashioned bulb ignited a dry Christmas tree.

"Marty was totally devoted to me and all the children," the Rev. Ernest Porcari read from a note written by Debbie Dell'Orco. "He has proven that there was nothing he wouldn't do for us."

"Sometimes he would say to me: 'The only problem is I love you too much and sometimes it makes me crazy. When each child was born he was so proud.'"

Debbie Dell'Orco referred to her husband as a perfectionist who poured his love into his work, children and wife. "There wasn't a day he didn't sing with the children and dance with the little ones."

Porcari said he watched a video of the Dell'Orco's — father and mother were surrounded by their children as they made cookies.

"They so loved those kids," Porcari said. "He would take the children and dance around the table."

The crowning achievement of the family, Porcari said, was their love and devotion to each other.

Porcari read snippets Debbie Dell'Orco wrote about her dead children.

Bonnie, 11: "Bonnie means sweet and fair one," her mother wrote. "She was both of these."

Sara, 9: "She was the little mother. Whenever the opportunity came she would take charge of the children and sometimes Marty and me."

Katie, 8: "She was joyful and appreciated the details in life. She was happy, sweet and giggly."

Meagan, 5: "She was the first twin born. She was delicate and tiny. But she was strong and feisty and had a wonderful sense of humor."

Michael, 5: "He was sweet, quiet and gentle. He rough housed with his friends and brought home a menagerie of animals from frogs to kittens."

Robert, 4: "He was the sweetest thing you ever saw. His face was like an angel. We were so much alike. We seemed to have the same thoughts. He loved the outdoors."

Martin Dell'Orco's casket was at the center of the altar, with three small caskets extending on both sides. Debbie Dell'Orco was flanked by her three surviving children and other family members a few feet away. At times during the mass Debbie Dell'Orco hugged Adam, 6, who escaped the blaze.

Before the services began, the church echoed with the country music Martin Dell'Orco loved. Among the songs on the tape, Hank Williams, Jr. sang "Family Tradition."

Between 400 and 500 people packed the Lilley Road church still decorated with wreaths.

Porcari drew tears and even sobs as he recanted the story of a soldier who asked his commanding officer if he could return to the battle field. The officer said he didn't want the soldier to risk his life for a soldier who was surely dead.

The soldier went anyway. And he returned, mortally wounded, with the other soldier dead in his arms. The commanding officer was angry and said: "Was it worth going out there?" The soldier replied: "Oh. Yes it was," and explained that the soldier he brought back said before he died: "I knew you would come."

Porcari linked Martin Dell'Orco's ultimate sacrifice to the soldier's bravery and loyalty.

Martin Dell'Orco's brother, John Dell'Orco, said he spoke to Tom Keilman, Canton police chaplain, who announced that $160,000 had

1990 brought new manager, recycling

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The biggest local news events in 1990 included a plane crash, changes in garbage pick-up, a new Plymouth city manager, and downtown improvement plan.

Environmental concerns played a part in the closing of the longtime Amoco station downtown. And the year closed with city and township officials ready to take over the operation of Mettetal Airport in Canton.

Here's a month-by-month rundown of some news highlights for 1990:

JANUARY: A plan to build two five-story apartment buildings near Jack Wilcox' downtown property was approved by city commissioners. Some residents objected, but zoning provisions allowed a 10-story structure there. By year's end, renovation of the Wilcox house exterior was complete, but no work had begun on the apartments. Meanwhile, the ice festival survived the usual meltdown, and downtown shop owners FEBRUARY: From four finalists for the vacant Plymouth city manager job — including William Graham, city finance director and acting city manager — city commissioners chose Randy Byrne, Grand Blanc city manager. But on Feb. 27, Byrne decided not to take the job, after the city spent $20,000 on a candidate search that took three months.

MARCH: Readings taken by Amoco Oil Co. showed that petroleum-based pollutants from the service station on Main and Ann Arbor Trail had leaked into sewers. In California, the FBI arrested Michael Shields of Plymouth for writing threatening letters to actress Stephanie Zimbalist of TV's "Remington Steele." The city commission named two new finalists for the city manager job: Steve Walters, Northville city manager, and Gordon Jaeger, former Battle Creek' city manager.

APRIL: City commissioners picked Jaeger as new Plymouth city manager. Two businessmen proposed a teen club for the vacant Farmer Jack supermarket on Main Street as city officials urged the supermarket chain to better maintain the site, or sub-lease it. The teen-club proposal was not pursued, and by year's end the site still stood vacant.

MAY: Doug's Plymouth Amoco owner Doug Swatosh announced he'd close the long time service station in June, citing economics and negative publicity over underground fuel contamination. Thirty entrants offered ideas to improve the Kellogg Park fountain, in response to a Plymouth Observer contest.

JUNE: Plymouth Township police discovered a 17-year-old Onsted, Mich. youth had been living inside a storage unit at Stow and Go Self Storage on Ann Arbor Road. A $1 bag-tag program to deal with rising garbage dumping costs in the city won initial approval from city commissioners. A Baltimore, Md. firm signed an agreement to locate a retirement home at the St. John's seminary site in Plymouth Township, but

Program turns kids on to automobile technology

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

What began as a question in the mind of Canton's Ed Romej at a parent-teacher conference at Plymouth-Canton High School blossomed into a one-of-a-kind learning opportunity for industrial arts students, middle and high school instructors, and administrators this semester.

"Most schools I go into, the first place I head is the auto shop," said Romej, an engineering/service specialist with the Cadillac division of General Motors.

"I WANTED TO see what they had, and what they needed" at Centennial Educational Park, said Romej, whose daughter is a ninth-grader at Canton. While talking that evening with auto instructor George Bachman, Romej learned that like many schools, CEP finds the cost of keeping pace with technology to be a formidable roadblock in teaching students about industry.

With the hunch that GM could be of help, Romej went to Cadillac's training coordinator, Mike Copeland, himself a Canton resident and a 1974 CEP graduate.

With support from Cadillac, Romej and Copeland drafted a pilot program designed to acquaint students and teachers with the advanced technology involved in automobile manufacturing at GM, and the skills necessary to be part of the enterprise.

"We wanted to provide kids with a look at what the world is like today compared to five years ago. We wanted them to realize it will change even more in the next five years, and that they have to be ready for that," said Copeland.

Romej wanted to impress upon students the importance of receiving a good, well-rounded education.

"When these students come out of high school, the people they'll have to compete against will be people like us," said Romej. "I know that someone has to take my place when I'm gone. I hope I will have put forth something that students can take and run with."

ARMED WITH TWO 1990 Cadillac Allantes (sticker price, $56,000), classified videos and restricted updated equipment, accessories planned for inclusion in Cadillacs of the future, and stacks of manuals, literature and instructional material the two devoted several days to working with Plymouth-Canton staff and students.

"We weren't trying to teach them everything about the Allante, but about the major components that make it function," said Copeland. "We showed each class the on-board diagnostic capabilities and the seven on-board computers the Allante has."

Students also learned about the role team work, computers and robotics play in auto manufacturing.

Phyllis Mays, labor representative with Cadillac, and John Mitera, U.A.W. apprentice committee member, taught students about the tasks an apprentice faces on the job.

Cadillac's venture was hailed a success by both instructors and students.

"This has generated interest and piqued students' curiosity," said Mark Bondy, who teaches advanced auto technology and unibody construction at Canton.

"This made them challenge the idea of 'What am I going to do after I graduate?' — which is what a lot of these kids need to do."

Copeland and Romej got through to students because coming from Cadillac — which recently became the first car company ever honored with the prestigious Congressional Malcolm Baldrige award — they enjoyed more credibility among students than do on-staff occupational training instructors, Bondy added.

Students got the message that "the work environment is very competitive," he said. Students learned "they have to have the background, or someone else is going to get the job. You can't just hang around and hope you'll fit in. This may make a big difference in the choices they make."

Both Bondy and Larry Deck, a coordinator with Canton's occupational training program, say the pilot has terrific potential.

"A lot of these kids' dads had to be re-trained" when their jobs became obsolete, said Deck, who hopes students in robotics, electronics and other vocational areas can be exposed to the GM program next year.

"Down the road, I'd hope to see, instead of re-training, workers who are 35 and 40 years old working side by side with students in the educational system. That experienced worker could take some of the same classes high school kids are taking. That would help us, and they could help students by telling them, 'shape up, or you're going to be like I am,'" said Deck.

"Our product goes out into the workplace," said Bondy. "If industry and the schools can get together before we send them out, industry will get a better product and the person will integrate better into what industry is doing."

COPELAND AND ROMEJ ALREADY have received phone calls from numerous students interested in apprenticeships and enthused about automobile technology. "I think we lit a fire under some kids," Romej said.

"You have to give these guys a lot of credit," said Deck, who taught Copeland when he was a student at CEP.

"They came up with an itinerary, and basically put this together. They got an apprenticeship program off the ground."

Agreed Bondy: "There's no way we could make something like this occur from our end. They made something that's impossible possible. I would have died of old age trying to make this happen."

The buck doesn't stop here. Copeland and Romej are putting the program on paper so it can be taught at other schools. And, said Copeland, "we have the steps in place to donate a new Cadillac to the school."

Plane crash, recycling, downtown plan were news in 1990

the Catholic church later scrapped the deal and entered into a new sale agreement with a yet unnamed firm.

JULY: City Commissioner John Vos called for a review of the city's contract with Omnicom Cablevision, as some residents complained of bad TV reception. Amoco Oil Co. agreed to pay Mayflower Meeting House owner Ralph Lorenz $225,000 in past damages from underground oil contamination stemming from the adjacent Amoco service station. U.S. Post Office officials announced they'd likely close the Pennington post office and seek a smaller location downtown, as a new main post office was planned for Plymouth Township. A mid-air plane crash over rural Plymouth Township killed three men. Plymouth's Paula Finnegan was one of two drivers of a University of Michigan solar car that won the General Motors Sunrace USA.

AUGUST: Amoco presented a plan to clean underground oil contamination at Ann Arbor Trail and Main. State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, easily defeated primary challenger Kathleen Keen-McCarthy in his bid for a fifth term. City officials announced that as early as next year, the city could gain $500,000 or more through a planned sale of 48 acres in Northville. Longtime Plymouth zoning board member and builder Charles Cash died. Local servicemen prepared to leave for the Middle East after Iraq invaded Kuwait. Plymouth Township trustees approved a plan to create an authority to run Mettetal Airport in Canton.

SEPTEMBER: Near-perfect weather sparked a big turnout for the annual Plymouth Fall Festival. Downtown Development Authority members unveiled a downtown street-scapes improvement plan. Plymouth Township began a mandatory recycling program for residents, the second in Michigan.

OCTOBER: Some longtime residents on Roe Street said they feared for their safety and belongings, as participants in a jobs program for recovering substance abusers were lodged in a neighborhood apartment complex. The Islamic Center of America announced future plans to build a mosque, schools and other facilities in Plymouth Township.

NOVEMBER: State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, was re-elected by a 2-1 margin over Democrat Dennis Shrewsbury. Downtown businessman Fred Hill and others organized the first "Plymouth Thanksgiving" celebration for Kellogg Park. The state department of treasury found that former city manager Henry Graper owed the city $10,532. City commissioners said the amount owed to the city was closer to $5,000.

DECEMBER: Former city manager Graper said he'd pay $3,160 of expenses owed to the city, and would review remaining expenses before determining if more should be paid. Observers speculated that Plymouth Township could be the site for a new Tiger Stadium. A majority of Plymouth city commissioners said they'd join Plymouth township in forming a governing board to run Mettetal Airport, and would likely vote to join that board in January. Some residents objected to the plan, saying it could cost taxpayers' money.

Seminar comforts families, friends

By Joanne Maliszewski
staff writer

LAURA CZARNEY prays that her son will return alive from Saudi Arabia.

"I worry that war will start. And he will come home in a box. He had to walk in his dad's footsteps," said Czarney, founder of Friends of Freedom.

Tracye Johnson and Cheryl Catchings worry about their fiancés, both in Saudi Arabia.

"I feel better when people don't keep asking me how I'm doing or how I feel," said Johnson, who plans to marry Terrance James, who is in the Navy, on May 13, the day between both their birthdays.

The three were among about 40 suburban relatives and fiancés of American servicemen and women in the Middle East who participated in a day-long stress seminar recently in an Oakland County hotel with three psychologists from Goren & Associates.

The people at Selfridge Field Air National Guard helped get the word out to support group members who participated.

"These people are under a lot of stress, more than I suspected," said psychologist Steve Goren. "The question is how do you keep positive during negative times. There is a lot of hostility on the part of these people."

ONE WAY of reducing stress is good nutrition and plenty of exercise. "Go exercise. Let it out. Don't hold it in. Don't store up all that frustration and anger," psychologist Keith Levick told participants.

The men and women told Levick that all it takes is a news report or a fond memory of their loved one to activate a stress and worry attack. "All of a sudden you hear something bad on the news," said a woman. "Then I can't sleep."

Czarney said her heart was broken when she learned through a letter from her son that some of the service people in Saudi Arabia don't get letters or packages. Her group, Friends of Freedom, went to work.

"The only thing that keeps me going is knowing that people who don't have parents are nonetheless receiving packages," said Czarney, whose son-in-law also is in Saudi Arabia.

Making matters worse is that no soldier or relative can do anything about what's happening in Saudi Arabia.

"You can't control what's going on over there. But you can control your energy level," Levick said. "Do something for yourself."

Exercise — even relaxation exercises with your hands while driving — will help relieve the tension and stress, Levick said.

AND EMOTIONS are good. "Crying is not being weak. Crying is the ability to have courage."

Many participants at the seminar, which was supported by the hotel, Liberty State Bank and the Blue Care Network, attended because they are leaders of support groups for family members of men and women in Saudi Arabia.

Participants went home with T-shirts saying: "Operation Desert Shield. All our thoughts are with you," cassette tapes and literature about stress.

A support group leader asked how she can help those in her group without adding to her existing worry about her own son. "I want to know how to detach myself from their stories. I don't want to take that on to me," she said.

Goren reassured group leaders they are not there to solve members' problems. "This is a global problem, not a person problem. Just be willing to listen to them. All you need to do is listen to them. But you have to talk too about your problems," Goren said.

Sue Wuolukka said she felt better when she went to North Carolina to see her 23-year-old son, James, off to Saudi Arabia. She was the only mom there who had come to say goodbye. Now she gets letters from the other service men and women who were with her son.

"They needed you for that support," Goren said. "For a lot of them they haven't been away from their mothers for a long time."

A WOMAN who began a support group two weeks ago involved Vietnam vets to lend a hand in learning how to help their sons and daughters when they return from Saudi Arabia.

"They said, 'let them talk. If you stop them they'll shut up and never say anything,'" the woman said. "The thing is to listen."

In addition to learning about nutrition and exercise, participants learned various stress-reduction techniques, how to relax and how to cope with the stress they are feeling. "We are trying our best to help them cope with this," Goren said. "One woman told she was angry at the world. She thought of the song, 'I'll be home for Christmas, but only in my dreams.'"

The movement of troops to Saudi Arabia and the activation of reservists for assignment overseas has disrupted many local families. Here five suburbanites described how they coped during the Christmas holiday with their family members away.

Holidays bring mixed emotions

Christopher Carr in the Gulf

Redford parents tell of fears

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Sun-Mi and Ronald Carr of Redford Township are "frightened to death."

Christopher Carr, 20, the eldest of the couple's three sons, is stationed with the Army in the Persian Gulf as part of Operation Desert Shield.

The elder Carrs fear for his welfare.

"We're frightened about (Iraqi) biological capability," Ronald Carr explains. "The gas suits can't keep out biological agents. Only chemical agents. This scares us."

"On the one hand we see the need. On the other hand, use someone else's son."

Carr, a Michigan native, met and married wife Sun-Mi in 1963, while stationed in Korea.

"Very lonely," said Sun-Mi of her eldest son's absence.

Chris, a 1988 graduate of Redford Union High where he was a swimmer and wrestler, enlisted in the Army the December after graduation.

"This is the second time he is gone for the holidays. Last year he was in Panama. This is the second year in a row. I miss him. But I guess you have to do what you have to do."

Chris is also missed by brothers Alex, 18, and Jason, 10. "The only thing I wish is for my big brother to come home," Jason recently told his mother.

Bob Kowalski AF captain

Livonia pilot's family worries

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Bob Kowalski, 31, an Air Force pilot, is part of the Operation Desert Shield forces in the Persian Gulf and his Livonia parents are worried.

"We're very concerned," said Bob's mother Nancy Kowalski of her and husband Bob's feelings about their eldest son's military participation in the Middle East.

"I'm also a little nervous about the situation. Not too happy about it. But I guess with prayer and everything, you develop faith that things will turn out well."

Bob, a 1977 graduate of Livonia Churchill High who completed studies at Western Michigan University in 1981, joined the Air Force eight years ago. A captain, he flies tanker aircraft.

In letters home to his parents, he writes of loneliness and uncertainty. "The worst part is not knowing what is going to happen," he wrote in one recent letter.

It's important, Nancy Kowalski said, "to keep up the morale of our boys over there, especially with letters." She has written son Bob two to three times weekly since his arrival in the Gulf in late October.

In spite of Bob's absence during the holidays, the Kowalski home was not empty. There are four other adult children and three grandchildren.

In addition, Bob's bride of six months, Barbara, of California, planned a recent visit with her new Livonia in-laws.

Westland woman 'cried a lot'

"I cried a lot. I absolutely hate it." That was the to-the-point comment by Sherryl Morris when asked how she got through Christmas Day while her Marine reservist husband, Sidney, was on his way to the far east for special training as part of Operation Desert Shield.

But the Westland woman admitted that their son, 19, and daughter, 16, seem to be taking Morris' absence OK.

Morris left three weeks ago for California with his Marine unit.

"I can't believe I'm going through all this," said Mrs. Morris, married to her husband for 21 years.

Joining the reserves was her husband's choice and "that's what he likes doing," she said.

She added that while her husband is depressed at being away from the family, "but not as much as I am."

On Christmas Day, Mrs. Morris spent the day with her family, but "they stayed away from me."

"I left early and came home, but it wasn't the same," she said.

"Something was missing."

A constant reminder of her husband's absence is a familiar large yellow ribbon tied to a tree outside the Wayne Road Big Boy Restaurant where she works.

Christmas different for wife

"It's not the same," Kim Richards said.

She was talking about her first Christmas in five years of marriage without her husband, William, a Marine reservist who left home Dec. 10 for special training as part of Operation Desert Shield. His unit will eventually be shipped from California to the far east.

Mrs. Richards said that her Christmas is different from other military families whose husbands or sons were shipped overseas.

One major reason is that their two children are too young to realize what's happening.

The Richards have a 20-month-old daughter and 2-month-old son, born just a few weeks before the father's unit was activated.

Richards, a platoon sergeant, and his wife are both graduates of West High School in Garden City.

"I have been getting phone calls from him every few days," said Mrs. Richards, who is a customer representative for the Auto Club of Michigan.

She and their two children spent Christmas Eve with Mr. Richards' family with Christmas Day spent with her family.

Family misses local Marine

"We worry about him and miss not having him around."

That was the comment of Mrs. Lou Ann Smith, whose son, Michael, is a Marine lance corporal stationed in Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield.

"We sent him a Christmas package Nov. 17 and hope it reached him in time," she said. The package included lots of canned food — something her son specifically asked for in view of the desert heat.

Smith will also receive two boxes of "just about everything" sent by students at St. Peter Lutheran School in Plymouth, which he attended before entering Plymouth Salem High School. He graduated from Salem in June 1988.

The Marine, who entered the service a year ago, is in a helicopter squadron.

Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, also has a brother and three sisters who also worry about him.

He calls home about twice a month and writes frequently, Mrs. Smith said.

"His first letters were upbeat," she said. "Recently, his letters indicate he is bored. There is nothing to do and no entertainment."

been donated to the family.
 "He said normally in a tragedy like this people donate between $20,000 and $40,000," John Dell'Orco said.

"I was comforted when I realized this tragedy has made our community understand the importance of love and charity," John Dell'Orco said. "Martin Dell'Orco performed the most charitable act."

"Martin's spirit lives on through us" and all the charity of the community, he added. "I'm proud to be your brother."

Debbie Dell'Orco's brother, Glen Anderson, referred to Martin Dell'Orco as his brother-in-law, his boss and his good friend. "All them (children) were great kids and we'll miss them all each and every one of them."

Outside the rain fell as a reminder of the tears shed by the people, mostly strangers, around the country and Canada.

Porcari applauded the generosity of people sending gifts and money. He praised Canton police officers and firefighters who coordinated the fund and helped with the funeral. Costs for the funeral services were donated by Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth. Burial plots at Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia were donated by Church of Christ of Plymouth.

Wayne Byrum, Canton police chaplain said: "Before the mass I gave her (Debbie) coffee and I said: 'You know there are literally thousands of people who are praying for you,' and she said: 'I can feel it.'"

PAIN THAT FLEES BUT DOES NOT LEAVE

A feature of rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, and fibromyalgia is that these arthritides flee from joint to joint, but never leave.

The reason is unclear. It is not possible to implicate insufficient rest, dietary deficiencies, types of work, or excessive activity. Climate does not play a role, as a feature of arthritis from any place in the world, and at all seasons, is migratory joint pain.

Keeping active does not suffice. What happens is that early on, the pain is present at a level low enough to permit distraction to overcome it. When the arthritis reaches a high enough intensity, the fleeting, but ever present pain, cannot be stopped by the mind alone.

What you can do is to be careful. The failure of physicians to rid you of pain opens the way for charlatans. They offer you dubious therapies at high prices. Their argument is: "It can't hurt, but may help." However, the costs hurt you financially, and the ingredients of their potions have the potential for bodily harm.

The fact is that migratory pain in arthritis is an unsolved issue. Persons who give you answers or remedies are either preparing to pick your pocket or are misinformed.

Schoolcraft College seeks applicants for trustee seat

Schoolcraft College has begun accepting applications to fill a soon-to-be-vacant seat on its board of trustees.

Applicants are being sought for the seat now held by Jack Kirksey.

Forms must be returned by 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11.

Kirksey, director of community education for the Livonia Schools, resigned from the board in an apparent dispute over selection of the college's new legal representative.

He is expected to leave the board in March.

Though Kirksey received a six-year term in 1989, his appointed replacement would serve from April 24 to June 30. Three board seats will be decided in next year's election.

In addition to the unexpired four years left in Kirksey's term, seats held by Michael Burley and Jeanne Stempien will also up for election.

The election is scheduled for Monday, June 10.

Schoolcraft, a two-year community college, serves a number of western Wayne County communities.

ELIGIBLE APPLICANTS for any

Application forms are available at the college president's office, on Schoolcraft's main campus, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Forms must be returned by 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11.

Schoolcraft seat must live within the Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville or Plymouth/Canton public school districts. A small portion of Novi Schools is also included in the Schoolcraft service area.

Trustees oversee the college budget and curriculum and are also responsible for hiring the college president.

In addition, trustees oversee activities at the main campus and at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff in Garden City. They also oversee college contracts, including those governing development of Seven Mile Crossing — a Livonia office complex built on college-owned land.

Trustees serve without pay. Additional information is available by calling 462-4460.

Local GOP leaders gear up for Tuesday's inauguration

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

Tonight revelers will ring in a New Year. Tuesday Michigan will welcome a new governor.

When John Engler is sworn into office at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday on the steps of the State Capitol building, a swarm of local Republican leaders will be there. From a 9 a.m. inaugural Mass in Lansing's St. Mary's Cathedral to a black tie gala at the Detroit Institute of Arts Friday night, Engler will work his way through Michigan to meet his constituency.

Most inaugural events are open to the public and free, except the DIA affair, which costs $75 a person.

Livonia State Rep. Lyn Bankes is happily anticipating the transition of power.

"This is really exciting. I've been talking about it all week," said Bankes.

LIVONIA CITY Council president Jo McCotter will accompany Bankes to a legislative and judicial brunch at 9:30 a.m. in the State Capitol. They plan to witness the swearing-in ceremony, but skip a "grass roots gala" planned for 8 p.m. in the Lansing Center.

"There was some talk of an inaugural ball at the governor's mansion but (outgoing Governor James) Blanchard is not leaving until the morning of the first and John Engler plans to spend the night of the first there," Bankes said. "The mansion is going to be a busy place on the first."

Bankes says one of the things she plans to follow up is Livonia City Hall's application for an equity grant for Greenmead Historic Village.

"We're going through hard times. John will cut programs that are unnecessary and keep those that are necessary. We've got a good man," she said.

Also making the Tuesday morning trek up I-96 will be Livonia GOP activist Dan Piercecchi.

"As (Republican) county chairman for the western part of Wayne County we worked for the entire Republican ticket," Piercecchi said. "None of us were surprised by the outcome. We worked like hell to pull it off."

Piercecchi said that a Detroit News Sunday poll which showed Blanchard with a substantial lead over Engler just two days before the primary election disillusioned many campaign workers "but just made me pull up harder."

"For eight years I've been looking forward to this," he said.

AFTER THE swearing-in ceremony, Engler will meet the public in a receiving line at the Michigan Library and Historical Center 1-4 p.m. The grass roots gala runs from 8 p.m. to midnight. Although it requires a ticket, admission is free.

Wednesday the new governor will be in Marquette and Thursday in Mount Pleasant for more public receptions. The festivities wind up Friday and Saturday in Detroit and Grand Rapids with black tie galas.

Making a special contribution to those festivities is Ken Kelsey of Kelsey Advertising in Livonia. Kelsey is producing a brass commemorative medallion for distribution to those attending the galas in Detroit and Grand Rapids.

"It's two and a half inches in diameter, with the state seal on one side and the capitol dome on the other with the words Michigan gubernatorial Inauguration 1991," said Kelsey, who produced 4,000 of the coins. They will be packaged in a velvet pouch and placed in a box with a gold stamp inaugural seal.

Kelsey is also supplying 10,000 tassels for the inaugural program books and drink tokens to be used at the two inaugural balls.

"I'm definitely going to be at the inaugural ball," said Kelsey, who became acquainted with John Engler through state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville. "I think (Engler) will be very good for small business people like myself," he said.

State Sen. Geake will attend the inaugural and legislative breakfast in Lansing, but not the DIA event.

Geake, longtime legislator who represents Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township, struck a more somber note on the transition of power.

"Senator Engler is taking over at a very difficult time for the state," he said. "We have a significant deficit that will have to be dealt with immediately. We'll see cutbacks in corrections and social services. There will be a fairly dramatic shift toward privatization."

Geake, however, is looking forward to the increased role he will play as vice chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee.

Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, will be in Lansing for the swearing in ceremony.

"I've known (Engler) for over six years, ever since he became Senate majority leader," Heintz said. "He's been down here. We were introducing him to the commissioners and he's also met many of our judges. I'd say he knows most people in Wayne County government."

Meatloaf recipes: 38

Every now and then, we foodies need to be kneaded down a little. Must be all that yeast, flour, good food and wine that so often "goes to our heads."

At one of my favorite restaurants last weekend, I ran into a faithful reader who commented on the fact that all I ever write about are "elaborate" foods and ideas that few working people have the time or energy to create.

Well, you asked for it. Just when you needed it the most, here are some basic holiday tips the Janes Gang uses to make life in the kitchen just a little more comfortable and less hectic.

First, never underestimate the qualities of a good meatloaf. Most folks look at this recession staple as a Tuesday night dinner. At my house, we use a basic meat loaf recipe and use it to stuff mushroom caps, wrap in puff pastry or phyllo dough (precooked) or make meatballs, which are mixed with equal parts of grape jelly and chili sauce for a tasty hot appetizer.

IF THERE'S ever any left, we crush it up and mix it with taco seasoning for a topping on nachos. Never has one food item served to be so versatile. It's freezable, microwavable, but most of all, inexpensively easy.

Everyone has their 15 minutes of fame and adulation, or so Andy Warhol says. But as for me, I'm just waiting for some fancy food magazine to ask me to name three ingredients in my cupboard.

Because so much of our entertaining is the non-planned kind, open up my cupboard and you'll find at least two cans of "exotic" vegetables along with an expanse of different oils.

The vegetables are kept for foodie emergencies like the time when, out of desperation, I opened a can of artichoke hearts, drained them and mixed with equal parts of mayonnaise and Parmesan cheese.

The mixture was then plopped into a small pie plate and baked at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. A hot, aromatic and thoroughly pleasing hot dip that was at home with french toast points or Ritz crackers.

Ditto for that can of garbanzo beans that can be blended or finely chopped and mixed with some finely chopped onion, a little oil, salt and pepper for a humus-type cold spread that when dipped with pitas from the freezer and heated in the oven can be a godsend for the busy homemaker.

SPEAKING OF freezers, mine has never made it through the holidays without a constant supply of unsliced French-type bread. This is the stuff that can be taken from the freezer still frozen, sliced lengthwise and brushed with either olive oil, vegetable oil or nut oil and sprinkled with dried basil (fresh chopped is even better but not mandatory).

Add some Parmesan and, if available, paper-thin slices of tomato for a homemade hot bruschetta that can be sliced into wafers, plated and passed as a hot appetizer that will warm anyone's heart.

Sitting next to the Campbell's Cream of Mushroom soup that, when heated and mixed with two cups shredded cheese, turns into a hearty cheese fondue is the ever-present can of refried beans.

Either one can be spread onto a large heat-proof platter and then ringed with shredded cheese, chopped onion, chopped and drained canned tomatoes and a sprinkling of cumin and garlic powder for a nacho-type dip calling for more.

So if you think that entertaining has to be planned out with ample dollar and time outlays, think again. The holidays should be a time of fun and only you can make them that way.

By Larry Janes
special writer

WJR RADIO personality J. P. McCarthy might wear the "cans" (headphones) in this family, but when it comes time to set the table for New Year's Eve, his wife Judy knows just what to do to make the New Year come in with a bang!

This year, as in years past, Judy and J.P., of Bloomfield Hills, will usher in the New Year enjoying the sun and sunsets at their winter home on Hope Sound, just north of Jupiter, Florida. Judy arrived and began holiday preparations the week before Christmas, anticipating J.P.'s arrival after his last WJR morning show program on Dec. 21.

Christmas was spent with 13 relatives — sons, daughters and their spouses — who flew in from around the country to spend the holidays with Mom and Dad.

For New Year's Eve, the McCarthy family will join with other friends, making a combined guest list of almost 60 for a ritual that will begin with cocktails at 9 p.m. and lead up to a midnight supper complete with hats, noisemakers, confetti and plenty of great food and drink.

Dining in Style on New Year's Eve

Setting the holiday table for a feast of this size is no simple undertaking. J.P. says Judy "almost makes herself crazy" concocting new ways to set the holiday table. This year, Judy was asked to join in with the Cranbrook House and Garden Auxiliary and do a complete holiday table set-up to benefit Cranbrook House in Bloomfield Hills.

WHILE SOME of the other guest table-setters chose a Christmas motif, Judy came up with the idea of doing something totally elaborate and fun for New Year's. Clutching a gold moire teddy bear that was received as a gift last year from a special friend, she set out with china pattern in tow to a Calico Corners fabric shop, where she located a delicate red, green and gold material easily cut and hemmed for a tablecloth.

Then it was off to a costume shop in search of a shiny top hat that perfectly fit the stuffed bear. Coupling the hat with some mylar confetti, some shiny brass candlesticks and her newfound tablecloth, Judy was ready to put it all together with the McCarthy's own china, crystal and silver.

The centerpiece will add a touch of whimsy, while the tableware will add that certain "je ne sais quoi" to the elegant meal that Judy will help cook and serve along with friends.

Not knowing what her friends are preparing for New Year's Eve, Judy will spend a few hours in the kitchen, probably preparing individual lamb chops, planked potatoes and a traditional New Year's favorite of the McCarthy clan, a Chocolate Angel Pie that, as Judy puts it herself, "simply melts in your mouth."

When questioned about how she pulls all this off with minimal stress, Judy claims that cooking, along with table setting and flower arranging, just comes "naturally easy."

She readily admits that she adores fresh flowers. And even though there is no formal education in design in her background, the challenge to create something is one that is taken on with gusto.

OF COURSE, with the additional help of the McCarthy children and their spouses, the "work" part of it is completed in no time, as their assistance is used to the fullest.

In addition to doing the holiday table settings for the family, Judy keeps herself busy throughout the year, assisting many local auxiliaries and charities.

She was chosen this year as one of the table-setters for the Cranbrook House and Garden Auxiliary because, in addition to being the wife of J.P., she frequently donates her time and talents to the community.

The Holiday Tables fund-raiser, the largest of the fund-raisers organized by the auxiliary, raises money for the restoration and preservation of the historic Cranbrook House.

Fondue: old favorite with a new twist

By Jennifer L. Hill
special writer

Good Food, Good Fun and Good Company for New Year's Eve. Why not try a dessert fondue party to ring in the New Year?

What better way to greet the new year than with a good glass of champagne accompanied by dessert in the form of fondue. It is fun, informal and can be done on the spur of the moment for those last-minute parties or when surprise guests drop by.

A fondue party is a great way to entertain. It is a perfect opportunity to get together and renew old friendships as well as make new ones.

Fondue is simple to prepare and can be done in advance, allowing you to get out of the kitchen and enjoy both your guests and their conversation. Your friends can also join in the preparation by dividing these tasks among the group.

The Swiss classic fondue, made of melted cheese, was the rage in the 1960s and early 1970s in many American households.

Fondue pots were also filled with melted chocolate in which pound cake and strawberries were dipped for dessert. As the novelty wore off, fondue sets took a back seat on kitchen shelves, only to come out once in a while for nostalgia's sake.

We are beginning to see the fondue set once again because of its convenience. More new and different recipes, ranging from appetizers to desserts, are being created.

IMAGINE NEW twists on the classic fondues. For instance, instead of plunging a juicy ripe strawberry into a pot of melted chocolate, a moist cube of chocolate cake can be dipped into a warmed fruited sauce. The classic chocolate fondue will remain the granddaddy of dessert fondue with more and more accompaniments for dipping — for example, peppermint sticks, festive for the holiday season.

Fresh fruits, such as apples, strawberries and bananas, are usually served along with pound cake for a dessert fondue. But to make it special, try such serving suggestions as whole dried fruit, or one of the "new" fruits: carabola stars, kiwi and mango. You can also use meringue, macarons, brownies, mini cupcakes and sponge cake to dip in the warmed sauces.

Try strips of puffed pastry lightly sprinkled with sugar to serve as an alternative. I also suggest cutting up that fruit cake you received as a gift and those holiday cookies, sugar or gingerbread men will do, to make it a little more festive for this holiday season. Place them next to the recipes, ranging from appetizers to desserts, along with the other accompaniments.

Try some condiments such as chopped nuts and toasted coconut for rolling your dipped fruit or confections in. This adds a different texture and treat to your fondue.

WHILE FONDUES are simple to make, here are a few general hints you might want to keep in mind when preparing your dessert fondue. Be sure that the temperature, or flame, is set low so that the sauce is warm enough without burning the fondue.

Also, when making the fondue that calls for egg yolk, be sure that you continue to whisk the mixture while on the stove so that the yolks do not scramble while heating. (The egg white may be used to make meringue for dipping.)

Try limiting your party to a small number so it remains intimate and more informal. Fondue is conducive to small numbers (4-6 people per pot allowing enough room for the forks in each pot).

What my friends and I do is use more than one fondue pot so that we are able to have more than one type of fondue at our gatherings. Offer your guests coffee, a nice dessert wine or cordials when the festivities begin, and, of course, a glass of champagne when the clock strikes midnight.

As the clock chimes in the New Year, raise a glass and toast to good health, good fortune and that you find yourself in the company of good friends for the new year. Happy New Year!

Sparkling wines showcased

Schramsberg, though not the first California producer of methode champenoise sparkling wine, certainly deserves credit for blazing the trail toward ultra-premium American sparklers.

This year, Schramsberg celebrated 25 years of Napa Valley sparkling wine innovation. Nearly a decade before the first French-American connection in California wine country, Schramsberg initiated the use of classic French grape varieties for making sparkling wine.

IT PRODUCES a line of fine wines that includes Blanc de Blancs made from chardonnay and pinot blanc, the perfect wine for fresh oysters.

Blanc de Noirs is made primarily from pinot noir with a small percent of chardonnay and pinot blanc for added structure and complexity.

Schramsberg Blanc de Noirs is the first white sparkling wine made from black skinned grapes produced in the United States.

Cuvee de Pinot is a brut (dry) rose that combines pinot noir, Napa gamay, pinot meunier and pinot blanc in a wine that can be enjoyed throughout the meal. Cremant demi-sec is a dessert wine made from aromatic Flora grapes. Schramsberg Reserve, a California prestige cuvee, boasts maximum complexity due to barrel fermentation, strict selection of wines for the blend and long bottle aging on the yeast lees.

WHEN SCHRAMSBERG was established, in 1965, U.S. production of sparkling wine totaled 50,000 cases annually. Today, American production of methode champenoise wine exceeds 2.5 million cases.

Considering these statistics, the founding of a sparkling wine house was a courageous and prophetic investment of owners of Jack and Jamie Davies.

Imitation may be the sincerest form of flattery, but Mumm Napa Valley is not trying to imitate their French counterpart in Champagne.

"Our wines reflect the style and quality of Napa Valley fruit. This is not a French product from California," said Greg Fowler, winemaker at Mumm Napa Valley.

MUMM NAPA VALLEY increases complexity in its wines by harvesting fruit from 56 different vineyard sites in Napa, Yountville and Carneros. Each component has something special to contribute to the final blend.

Pinot noir from Napa adds a distinct cherry fruit, while the pinot noir from Carneros adds body and a touch of tropical fruit.

"Chardonnay contributes spice and zest to the wine plus a little green apple tartness expected in sparkling wine," Fowler said.

In 1989, Mumm Napa Valley introduced this country's first single vineyard sparkler, Winery Lake Cuvee.

Since beginning production in 1986, Mumm Napa Valley has increased from 10,000 to 100,000 cases annually.

MUMM STARTED with a single sparkling wine. Today, there are four styles in the Mumm line.

Mumm Napa Valley Blanc de Noirs showcases a bright blush of pink with generous flavors and weighty palate that showcases stylish fruit.

"I want the fruit pouring out from the top of the glass, strawberry fruit in particular," Fowler said.

Mumm's Brut Prestige has a delicate bronze color with touches of melon, apples and toasty vanilla-caramel on the nose and the palate.

This blend contains 35 percent chardonnay, lending the added structure and rich, lingering finish.

IN 1989, Mumm Napa Valley introduced this country's first single vineyard sparkler, Winery Lake Cuvee.

Over the past 20 years, a celebrated list of vintners has made still wines from Winery Lake grapes.

After its purchase by parent company Seagram, the Winery Lake grapes now go to make the Mumm Winery Lake Cuvee, a sparkling expression of a single vineyard from a single vintage.

Mumm's Vintage Reserve is made only in excellent years, such as 1985 and 1987.

A blend of pinot noir and chardonnay, it is a traditional champagne blend that combines the weight and tannin provided by pinot noir with the freshness and elegance contributed by chardonnay.

Try new approach to dessert fondues

BUTTERSCOTCH FONDUE

- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- 6 tablespoons butter, cut into pieces

In a fondue pot, whisk together the brown sugar, cream and the egg yolks. Continue whisking this mixture on the stove top over medium-high heat until the mixture is hot. Continue whisking for five minutes. Remove from heat. Add vanilla.

In a separate bowl, mix the cornstarch with two tablespoons of milk. Add the cornstarch mixture to the brown sugar mixture. Return to heat and whisk until thickened. Remove the mixture from the stove and stir in butter. Place butterscotch over low heat at the table.

WARM BERRY FONDUE

- 1 pint berries (strawberry, raspberry, blueberry, etc.) rinsed and picked over
- 1/4 cup fruit-flavored liquor
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Puree the ingredients in the food processor or blender and gently warm over low heat at the table.

Note: Frozen berries may be substituted for fresh fruit.

AMARETTO FONDUE

- 1 1/2 cup half and half
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 2 egg yolks, beaten
- 1/4 cup Amaretto

In the fondue pot mix the half and half, sugar, cornstarch and egg yolks. Warm the mixture gently on the stove whisking constantly until it coats the wire whisk. Remove from the stove. Add the Amaretto. Stir and place fondue over low heat at the table.

Note: Almond extract may be added if you do not wish to use Amaretto.

WHITE CHOCOLATE-HAZELNUT FONDUE

- 1/4 cup hazelnuts, coarsely chopped
- 12 ounces white chocolate
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1/4 cup hazelnut liquor, such as Frangelico

Toast hazelnuts on a sheet pan in a 350 degree oven for 8-10 minutes or until golden brown (watch the nuts carefully, they may burn easily).

Break up chocolate and place in the fondue pot. Add the heavy cream and heat slowly, stirring constantly, until the chocolate melts. Stir in the toasted hazelnuts and liquor. Remove from stove and place on burner at the table over low heat.

Pan-baking is light approach to cooking fish

PAN — A "new" concept being promoted among restaurants serving seafood holds great promise for home cooks working to blend health, economy and good taste.

The concept, dubbed pan-baking by the North Atlantic Seafood Association, offers so much versatility it can't help but sell more seafood.

Closer to home, it can't help but give those cooking for families lots of fresh ideas for fish, whether the fish that's freshest hails from the North Atlantic or any other waters.

The association defines pan-baking as cooking seafood and sauce together in individual or multiple servings.

There should be enough sauce to protect the fish from both drying out and overcooking, a boon to casual kitchen wizards who don't count precise cooking times among their areas of acquired expertise.

PROponents of pan-baked seafood say accompaniments make it possible to cut the amount of seafood used in each serving whenever economy demands. They also say that, with minimum adjustments, almost any recipe can be brought into line with lighter, more healthful eating.

Pan-baked seafood dishes can start simple, but they certainly don't need to stop there. Especially in the realm of individual servings, presentations with sauces and colorful condiments can rival a restaurant entrée with ease.

Home cooks can also identify with several of the seafood association's boasts to professionals.

While mild-tasting fish is the American way, the variety of sauces and other ethnic combinations allows terrific variety in taste and texture.

Plus, the fact that sauces can be prepared ahead of time makes pan-baked seafood a natural for quick dinners finished after a hard day at the office. Most recipes involve only 8-10 minutes of actual cooking before the dish is ready to serve.

Finally, since seafood is a category that truly shows off microwave cooking, additional convenience comes easily with pan-baking.

The following are recipes developed for the North Atlantic Seafood Association.

PAN-BAKE SCROD, ASIAN STYLE

- 12 green cabbage leaves
- 6 cod or scrod fillets (about 6 ounces each)
- 2 leeks, thinly sliced
- 3 carrots, thinly sliced
- Six 3-leaf sprigs of mint
- 6 sprigs basil
- 6 slices fresh ginger root
- 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
- 6 tablespoons dry sherry
- 6 tablespoons soy sauce

Cut six sheets of aluminum foil to 11- by 6-inches in size; butter lightly. For each serving, place two cabbage leaves on foil and top with fish and equal portions of vegetables, herbs, wine and soy sauce. Fold foil tightly to seal in juices. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven about 10 minutes.

Using a spatula, carefully open the foil and transfer the cabbage leaf pouch to a dinner plate. Remove gingerroot before serving. Makes six servings.

(Recipe from: chef Walter Riewe, Chemical Bank, New York)

PAN-BAKE SCROD PROVENCE

- 3 ounces olive oil
- 1/2 pound red onions, sliced
- 4 stalks celery, diced
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 2 medium tomatoes, diced
- 1/4 cup tomato paste
- 1/4 cup dry white wine

- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 tablespoon oregano
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- Ground red pepper to taste

Salt and black pepper to taste
1 bay leaf
5 cod or scrod fillets (about 6 ounces each)

In a large saucepan, heat the olive oil and add onions, celery and garlic. Saute until limp. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, wine and clam juice. Bring to a boil, then reduce to simmer.

Add the remaining ingredients except the fish. Simmer 30 minutes and keep hot. Place fish fillets in individual casserole dishes. Top with sauce and bake in preheated 425-degree oven for 10-12 minutes. Garnish with garlic toast, olives and parsley. Makes six servings.

Turkey soup, salad make simple New Year's dinner

Tonight is New Year's Eve, a wonderful time to sit back and reflect on the outgoing year and ring in the new one. How fast this year flew by and once again, I find myself excited by the prospect of yet another, fresh new year.

Whether you prefer to spend this last night of the 1990 in the company of friends or more quietly at home with your family, this week's Winner Dinner is well-suited for either choice. It is also a delicious menu for lunch or dinner on New Year's Day as you relax in front of the television and watch the many parades and football games that will be shown all day long.

Submitted by Peggy Brewer of Farmington Hills, this week's Winner Dinner offers a soup and salad dinner that is a nice change from holiday feasting and makes use of cooked turkey in a tasty way. Brewer, a wife and the mother of a young daughter, is a full-time homemaker.

Just prior to the birth of her daughter, she left her job at Manufacturer's Bank, where she managed the Employee Communications and Relations Department. Having organized employee recognition parties for thousands of people at her old job, she is now enjoying the flexibility of working at home. Brewer writes corporate communications and employee newsletters on a free lance basis.

SHE HAS found that this part-time work has allowed her to maintain her business skills and contacts within the business community as well as providing her with a wide variety of projects to which she now has access.

She also enjoys expressing her domestic side at home by trying new recipes as well as sitting back and simply enjoying being with her daughter.

In addition to being an amateur photographer, Brewer recently joined her subdivision's bowling team and has enjoyed having the opportunity to socialize with her neighbors.

Thank you, Peggy Brewer, for supporting this column by sharing your recipes with us and congratula-

CREAMED TURKEY SOUP

A wonderful way to make use of any leftover holiday turkey, this recipe is easy to make and can be made the day before serving. This recipe serves four to six.

Peggy Brewer also suggested the following tip for dealing with leftover turkey:

Bone the turkey after the meal and cut the meat into cubes. Place two or three cups of the mixed white and dark meat in small freezer-proof ziplock bags and place them in the freezer. Use the meat as needed for soups, stir-frying, casseroles, pasta and sandwiches by zapping in the microwave for 2-3 minutes.

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 large onion, minced
- 2 cans chicken broth, 13 1/2 ounce size
- 3 cups diced, peeled potatoes
- 2 cups turkey, cooked and cubed
- 1 bag frozen peas and carrots, 10-ounce size
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon rubbed sage
- 1 cup light cream
- 1 cup milk

In a large pot over medium heat, cook onion in butter or margarine. Add chicken broth and potatoes and cook for 20 minutes. Stir in turkey, peas and carrots, salt, pepper and sage, and cook for 10 minutes or until the vegetables are tender. Stir in the cream and milk and heat through.

SPINACH SALAD WITH SIMPLE DRESSING

Wash a bag or bunch of fresh spinach and dry well. Place in a salad bowl and garnish with chopped hard-boiled egg, mushrooms, crispy bacon pieces, minced red onion, bean sprouts, sliced tomatoes, flavored croutons, sunflower seeds, or any other favorite toppings. Pour on a heated dressing made from:

- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup ketchup
- 1 cup oil
- 1/4 cup sugar

Toss well and serve.

FRESH BREAD

Prepare a loaf of frozen bread dough according to package directions. Cut into thick slices.

MOIST MICROWAVE BROWNIES

Quick and easy to make, these brownies have a rich, chocolate flavor and can be ready to eat in six or seven minutes.

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1/4 cup unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup cocoa
- 1 cup chopped nuts

In a small bowl at medium speed on a mixer, beat together the eggs, sugar, salt and vanilla, for about one minute until light. Add the melted butter. Continue beating until the mixture is thoroughly blended. Mix in the flour and cocoa at a low speed. Stir in the nuts. Spread the batter evenly in a greased eight-inch-square, microwave-safe dish.

Microwave on high for 6-7 minutes, rotating the dish a 1/4 turn every two minutes. When the brownies are done, the top looks dry and will spring back when lightly touched. Do not overcook. Cut into squares when cooled and store in an airtight container.

Notes

Try these ideas for more enjoyable parties

AP — Good planning makes a party easier for the hosts. Use these party planning and organization tips and you'll have as much fun as your guests.

KEEP THINGS MANAGEABLE

- When making your guest list, consider how many people you feel comfortable cooking for and how many you can fit in your home. Hosting a couple of smaller gatherings may be easier than planning one large affair.

- If time or money is a factor, keep your gathering simple. Consider an appetizer and dessert buffet, late-night cookies and coffee, a weekend brunch, or a dinner to which everyone brings a course.

- When you plan your party budget, try to think of all expenses: food, beverages, decorations and flowers, any rentals required, and a baby sitter, if necessary. It's a good idea to add 10 percent to your estimate for unforeseen expenses.

- Dress up serving platters and plates with such simple yet special garnishes as sprigs of fresh herbs, tropical fruits, baby vegetables, edible flowers and sauces ladled onto each plate under the food.

PLAN AHEAD

- Decide on your menu well in advance when possible and choose recipes that can be made ahead and frozen or refrigerated. Make extras of recipes that can be frozen to keep on hand for impromptu entertaining.

- To speed preparation time, also plan quick-to-fix foods and recipes that start with such convenience foods as deli meats, frozen bread dough, purchased sauces and pre-shredded cheese.

- Stock your cupboard with a few easy munchies such as mixed nuts, pretzels, dried fruit, or chocolates to serve as filler foods along with your star recipes.

- Keep an emergency supply of cookies, baked goods, or finger foods in the freezer that can easily be thawed for last-minute entertaining and unexpected guests.

GEARING UP

- When you're looking to buy serving dishes and other entertaining supplies, check a restaurant supply store. The quality is top-notch and you'll be amazed at the variety.

- You can rent many party supplies, such as tables, punch bowls and bar glassware. It's often less hassle to obtain all the items you need at a rental shop than to borrow a few at a time from friends.

WHEN THE PARTY'S OVER

- Remove party beverages and appetizers from serving centers and replace with dessert and coffee.

- Serve your favorite brunch foods for an early breakfast.

- Be a responsible host. If you question a guest's ability to drive home, don't let him or her attempt it. Call a cab, arrange for a ride home with another guest, or provide transportation yourself.

Cookbook showcases Michigan restaurants

"A Taste of Michigan," a new cookbook published by the Michigan Restaurant Association, is a collection of more than 200 recipes from member restaurants throughout the state.

The cookbook also include information on each contributing restaurant and a section on wines. The book was designed to highlight Michigan products and also the many fine restaurants and chefs in the state.

Gift stores, and book stores (including Walden's and B. Dalton's) throughout Michigan carry the cookbook, as well as a number of restaurants.

The spiral-bound, soft-cover "A Taste of Michigan" also is available from the MRA by sending a check or money order for $12.50 plus $1.50 for shipping and handling to: MRA Cookbook, 200 N. Washington Square, Suite 10, Lansing 48933.

The MRA has been in existence since 1921 and promotes excellence in hospitality. Its more than 5,000 member locations are represented from the association's headquarters in Lansing.

A few of the cookbook's recipes, chosen from area restaurants, follow:

Chop crabmeat if necessary. Mix with rest of ingredients by hand. Fill into mushroom caps. Arrange caps on a baking sheet. Bake approximately 20-30 minutes (depending on their temperature) in 375-degree oven.

"I didn't like paying for it, neither did my dad. But I discovered, ever since he died, they pay me."

To SIDS parents, this is music to the ears.

Imagine you're a parent, checking on your baby in the middle of the night. You wait for the sound of breathing. A cry. A coo. Anything.

When SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) takes a victim, there is only silence.

It's commonly known as "Crib Death." The death of a seemingly healthy baby for no apparent reason.

SIDS is the number one cause of death in infants from one week to one year old... causing more deaths than cystic fibrosis, childhood cancer and heart disease combined.

Over 7,000 babies each year.

This killer strikes quickly, quietly, with no warning. A SIDS baby dies within seconds, usually while he's sleeping. He suffers no pain. He doesn't cry out.

One of the most disturbing facts about SIDS is that there's no way to predict it. No way to prevent it. Not yet.

But there is hope. With your help we can find the cause and the cure.

Donations of your time, and of your dollars will make a difference. You can help save a life. Then we can all hear the sweet sounds of a baby's cry.

Family, interests help staffer reach goals

By A. Giraff Bedford
staff writer

When a young Anne Pawlak was dancing and singing in her Polish neighborhood in western Detroit, she didn't dream that at 35 she would become the first chairwoman of the Garden City Hospital medical staff and 1990 Distinguished Alumna of Michigan State University — but she knew her dreams could be as big as she wished.

"You can do anything you want to," she said, adding that her family's support and her own interests have brought her this far.

A Livonia resident for the past 10 years, Pawlak was born in western Detroit, where she lived for 25 years.

She had a Catholic education, including Catholic elementary and high school and undergraduate studies at Mercy College. Pawlak received her degree in neurology from Michigan State University's College of Osteopathic Medicine.

In high school, she became interested in science. "I met some health professionals that influenced my life," she said. She decided she wanted to pursue a career in medicine and later realized "neurology was everything I wanted in medical practice."

Since so many neurological disorders are terminal, she said, this field was a good one for a compassionate individual. She said she thought she could offer help not only to the patients, but to their families.

An interesting aspect of her field is that neurologists look at things from a different view point, she said. A child may have problems in schools and a neurologist will realize they are caused by some type of seizure. With treatment, that child can be turned around and do well in school, she said.

"It is a very rewarding field." Now she works out of Garden City Hospital and also has an office at the Michigan Institute for Neurological Disorders in Farmington Hills.

A very important part of Pawlak's schedule is the time she spends teaching. She trains residents, students and interns at the hospital and at the institute. She is also a lecturer and chairman of the residents' club, a teaching program that brings speakers to talk to the residents.

The reason behind her teaching is simple:

"The future belongs to the young people," she said. "I want kids to know they can do anything they want to." She is a good role model for those children, because she comes from an average family, with no doctors in it. The support of her family and her own interest in a variety of subjects are what helped her reach her goals, she said.

HER EXCELLENCE as a teacher has been recognized with the A.C. Johnson Educator of the Year Award for 1987 and 1988 through the Michigan Health Care Corp. and the Garden City Hospital Outstanding Trainer of the Year for 1988-89.

Pawlak has been elected as 1991 vice-chairman of the medical staff and the 1992 chairman. She said she is doubly proud of this accomplishment because she was voted in by doctors at Garden City Hospital who want her to be their representative and because it makes her the first female doctor ever to hold such position.

The Distinguished Alumna Award is given to individuals dedicated to their profession, involved in the community and in teaching, and with leadership capabilities. "When I received the letter, I was very surprised," she said, laughing. "I thought they had sent it to the wrong person."

When she is done with her job, Pawlak hurries home to her husband and 2-year-old, "full of energy" son.

There, she relaxes by dancing with her child and cooking. Singing, dancing and cooking are her hobbies. She said she loves to sing light opera. She was a member of her church choir and has performed at the Dearborn and Windsor Light Opera Associations.

SHE ALSO loves dancing and has taught classical ballet, ethnic, stage and tap dancing at the Samuel Lovett School, Detroit. Since she had her child, he is her only dance partner, she said.

And when he goes to bed, she relaxes with her other hobby. She said she cooks Greek and Romanian food, and practices the Polish cooking she learned from her mother and grandmother. This holiday, she cooked 20 dozen of different types of cookies, with her mother's help, though.

"I love to eat, so I cook anything," she said.

To fight crime in Philly, people plant posies.

"The bad part of town." Abandoned cars. Sidewalks scattered with crack vials. Bombed-out buildings.

A neighborhood whose spirit is as broken as the bits of glass that dot the street. There are only two things to do if your neighborhood becomes a war zone: give up or take action.

The Philadelphia Story
One day, in the "bad part" of Philadelphia, a neighbor complained to a neighbor. And then to another. And then to more. People didn't like their homes being "taken over." Feelings of helplessness and resentment turned to action.

They went to the police for help.

Soon a substation was established where folks could readily report crime. Weekly meetings began. Community watches started. Things started getting fixed up. Vacant lots were cleaned up and fenced off. Abandoned cars were towed away. Painting and repairing programs began.

The neighborhood was cleaning itself up. The local 4-H Club even helped set up garden clubs where kids, teens and adults could work together on plants and flowers while talking over ways to raise awareness.

When people care and get involved, neighborhoods change. When a block doesn't look like a haven for crime and drugs, it won't be. And in this part of Philly, where once only apathy grew, seven gardens now bloom.

This is only one success story of many. To find out what can be done in your neighborhood, write: The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20589-0001. And help...

'90 filled with sports achievements

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Another year in sports is about to end, and it was certainly a full year for Plymouth-Canton athletes and teams, featuring a lot of memorable moments and accomplishments.

Before we celebrate the New Year, this last day of 1990 seems an appropriate time to review those highlights. Here we go, beginning with last January and working our way to December:

• Plymouth Salem wrestling had another fine season in 1990, winning the Western Lakes Activities Association title for the second year in a row and eighth time in nine years.

The Rocks were heavy favorites and scored 215 1/2 points to runner-up Westland John Glenn's 147. Scott Martin (103), Julian Sell (130), Steve Burlison (160), Brian Burlison (189) and heavyweight Scott Breithaupt won titles for Salem.

The Rocks also won three invitations during the season, including their own, but bowed out of the post-season team tournament with a district loss to Belleville, 32-25.

• Ron Orris had a great year in his final season of swimming at Salem. He led the Rocks to the WLAA championship and won two individual state titles at the Class A championships.

Orris, possibly the greatest high school swimmer in Michigan history, set state records when he won the 200-yard individual medley in 1:50.97 and the 100 butterfly in 49.79.

He was named co-swimmer of the meet along with Ann Arbor Huron's Tom Bailey, who also won two events and set a pair of records. Orris' outstanding performance in his prep finale was in contrast to the previous year when he was second in two state-meet events.

Orris broke the IM record held by former Ann Arbor Pioneer swimmer Dave Cherek, who swam 1:51.9 in 1981. The butterfly standard had belonged to North Farmington's Brian Goins, who turned in a 50.79 in 1985. By winning the butterfly, Orris avenged his loss to East Lansing's David Klaviter in 1989. Klaviter was runner-up in 1990 with a 49.99 time.

In late January, Orris spent a week in Europe with the U.S. Junior National team, competing in Berlin and Paris.

• Salem won its third consecutive WLAA title in boys swimming and its sixth in eight years.

The Rocks won with superior depth and surprised some skeptics after losing four dual meets. Salem totaled 467 1/2 points, Livonia Stevenson 411 and favored Northville 410.

Orris won the 200 freestyle and butterfly with record times of 1:42.38 and 51.70, respectively. He also set a record in the 100 freestyle, swimming 47.41 while leading off the 400 relay. The Rocks had four swimmers score in all but one event.

• It was also a good year for individual wrestlers. Salem had three earn a place in the Class A finals. Brothers Steve and Brian Burlison were third at 160 and 189, respectively, and Pete Israel was sixth at 171.

Both Burlisons had to come from behind to win consolation finals. Steve to beat South Lyon's Larry Olson 8-6 and Brian to edge East Lansing's Jim Seaton 4-3.

Brian Burlison finished with a 46-1 record, Steve Burlison 42-2-1 and Israel 37-15. Brian Burlison was a regional champion and was 42-0 going to state. Sell also qualified for state but was unable to compete because of an injury.

The Burlisons and Israel won district titles, and teammates Sell, Ken Stopa, Dan Bonnett and Scott Martib qualified for the regional tournament, too.

• Salem had its best season in gymnastics, winning its first WLAA title and ending North Farmington's streak of 13 consecutive league championships, the last five in the WLAA.

North scored a season high of 140.25 in the league meet, but the Rocks hit a school record 141.65. Ironically, Plymouth Canton had beaten both teams in dual meets but was third in the league at 138.75.

Freshman sensation Kim Miller was the individual league champ on bars, beam and all-around (37.05) and finished second on vault and floor. Salem's Courtney Gonyea won the floor competition.

• In the dual-meet season, Canton gymnasts defeated North for the first time, ending 12 years of frustration. The Chiefs scored 135.85, the Raiders 135.45.

Canton also won a showdown between state-ranked teams with Salem. The Chiefs were rated No. 3 at the time, the Rocks No. 5. Canton scored 137.9, running its record to 7-0, and Salem 135. The Chiefs won with depth as Salem's Miller won every event.

• Salem had a great year in boys basketball, too. The Rocks became the first non-parochial school since 1975 to reach the Class A quarterfinals. Salem was the team that did it then, also.

The Rocks finished the regular season 18-2 but got a wake-up call in preparation for the state tournament when they were beaten by Livonia Stevenson in the WLAA championship game, 61-60. The Spartans made up a 44-35 deficit at the end of the third quarter as guard Rick Laven scored a career-high 26 points.

Salem defeated Canton 57-44 in the district opener and avenged its loss to Stevenson, winning the Northville tournament 79-68. Jake Baker scored 22 points and had 13 rebounds, and Ryan Johnson had 20 points and 14 boards.

Baker raised his stock with college recruiters the next week when he had a career-high 32 points and 14 rebounds as the Rocks outdueled Ann Arbor Huron 73-71 in regional play.

Salem won the regional title with a not-so-easy, 86-73 win over underdog Romulus at Ypsilanti. The Eagles led 21-12 early in the game, but the Rocks shot 77 percent (20-26) in the second half. Baker had 24 points, Johnson and K.C. Kirkpatrick 20 each.

The season ended in the quarterfinals when No. 2 Battle Creek Central stopped Salem's tournament run 89-77. Baker scored 22 points. Marc White and David Freeman had 27 and 26 for the Bearcats, respectively. The Rocks finished 23-3.

• Individual gymnasts did well in state competition. Miller was the state champion in the all-around, scoring 36.30. She also was best on bars (9.05) and was fifth on beam.

The Rocks also had their best-ever team showing at the state meet, finishing third behind Midland Dow and Muskegon Mona Shores. Canton did well, too, placing fifth.

Gonyea captured second place on beam and eighth on vault as a freshman, and Canton's Kim Rennolds,

Shorians' shooter shells Shamrocks

By C.J. Rieck

Wanted: One moderately adept point guard. Good defender. Shooting ability a plus, but not required. Send resume to Bernie Holowicki, basketball coach, Redford Catholic Central.

Well, why not? Holowicki has tried just about everything else. Everybody else, too. On Friday, it was Bob Kummer's turn to bring the ball down court. Kummer, you might recall, started as a sophomore for CC last year — at center.

Against Saint Clair Shores Lake Shore, Kummer should have stayed at center. Examine the scoring summary and the obvious conclusion would be the difference in the game, which the visiting Shorians won 65-57, was Matt Trombley: 31 points overall, 16 in the fourth quarter.

Hard to argue with that. But put the guy Trombley shares the team captainship with — point guard Ryan Conlan — in CC's backcourt, and the Shamrocks would have won. Easily.

CONLAN DIDN'T score all that much — 12 points. But he took care of the ball against CC's pressure (Lake Shore only committed 10 turnovers in the game) and got the ball to Trombley. That was the difference.

As Holowicki noted after the loss, the Shamrocks' third in a row (2-3 record), the problems at point guard "continue. They're getting worse."

"We've tried. We've tried so many different things and combinations. I know Bobby's playing out of position."

Problem was, Lake Shore coach Greg Esler knew it to. The Shorians (3-2) pressured Kummer from the start and never let up. In the first quarter he had the ball stolen three times and committed four turnovers. CC lost the ball seven times in the period and was fortunate to be trailing just 13-12.

"We took advantage of (Kummer)," said Esler. "We knew Kummer is a great player,

but we thought we could pressure him."

STILL, LAKE SHORE continuously failed to take advantage of its first-half opportunities. Missed shots (11-of-27 in the half, 41 percent) and missed free throws (six-of-11, 54 percent), together with CC's superior inside game, kept the contest close through the second and third quarters (29-27 at half, 43-39 after three).

The Shamrocks' chance to take command of the game came midway through the third quarter. Trombley was whistled for his third personal foul with 4:50 left in the period, and the Shorians — ahead 40-35 — went into a shell. For 4:43, they did not score a point; they committed four turnovers in that span.

And yet, CC couldn't catch them. The Shamrocks scored just four points, missing two-of-four free throws. Conlan got three points for Lake Shore in the last minute to push its lead back to four.

Trombley did the rest. He was averaging 26 points a game entering the contest, but CC limited him to just eight in the first half. A short talk with his coach between halves got him going.

"I got him at halftime and told him I thought he was playing soft inside," said Esler. "He came out and played great in the second half. He's a gamer."

INDEED, TROMBLEY had scored seven points before drawing his third foul in the third quarter. In the fourth, he simply could not be stopped, inside or outside. When Kummer was called for his fourth foul with 4:15 left, Trombley attacked.

"We said the ball's going inside, and it did," said Esler. "When Kummer got his fourth, (Trombley) went to work on him."

Eight more points went on the board, courtesy of the 6-foot-4 senior center, before the game ended. CC did make a run, thanks to freshman Chris Chichila's six points and five apiece from sophomore Bob Schneider and Kummer. Schneider's three-pointer with 3:31 left tied it at 55.

But Lake Shore outscored the Shamrocks 10-2 the rest of the way. Chichila led CC with 16 points; Kummer had 14 and Schneider finished with nine.

There were other problems for CC other than at point guard. The defense was ineffective at either checking Trombley or pressuring Conlan. Asked what he wanted his team to do with Trombley, Holowicki replied, "We wanted to guard the guy." And CC's pressure? "We ran a zone press, but they didn't have much trouble with it. It was weak pressure."

Which means this youthful CC squad (just three seniors) will have to grow up fast to make something out of this season.

'90 loaded with great sports stories

Dawn Clifford and Heather Murphy also scored at state.

• Plymouth-Canton athletes were in demand by college recruiters, too. Ryan Johnson announced he would play football at Eastern Michigan.

Canton all-stater Susan Ferko signed with Miami of Ohio to play basketball, and teammate Stacey Thompson continued her playing days at Pennsylvania.

Dorris chose Michigan State over Texas and Michigan as the place where he wanted to swim collegiately.

In the early-signing period in November, Salem senior Jake Baker committed to Central Michigan for basketball. He averaged 18 points and 12 rebounds as a junior.

• In college news, former Salem star Jill Estey became a starting guard on the Illinois women's basketball team as a freshman, and Dena Head continued to be a mainstay of the Tennessee women's basketball team.

Todd Marion, rebounding from serious arm trouble that jeopardized his baseball career and forced him to throw sidearm, set a single-season strike record at Michigan. Former Clinton shortstop Steve Waite, a third baseman at Eastern Michigan, made the all-MAC team.

• Canton three-peated as WLAA champion in boys tennis. The Chiefs didn't have a single winner but were second at four flights — No. 3 singles (Scott Jones), No. 1 doubles (Kris Kilpelainen and Bryan Williams), No. 2 doubles (Brady Owens and Shawn Hart) and No. 3 doubles (Joe Binder and Adam Majewski). The Chiefs also qualified for the state meet for the first time and did so in a difficult regional. Pioneer dominated the regional tournament, but Canton tied Huron for second place.

• Canton's girls soccer team lost 1-0 to Farmington, and it cost the Chiefs a chance to defend their WLAA title. Livonia Churchill won the Western Division instead but lost 2-1 to Farmington.

Salem won the WLAA consolation game in girls soccer 2-1 over the Chiefs, but Canton had its turn the next week. For the third straight year, Canton eliminated the Rocks in the district tournament, winning 4-3 when freshman Colleen Connell scored the deciding goal in overtime.

Canton won the district title 2-0 over Ann Arbor Huron and avenged a 1989 loss to East Lansing, 2-1. But the top-ranked Chiefs were upset in the regional final by Kalamazoo Central, 1-0. The Chiefs finished 13-3-2.

Canton senior Jenny Russell was a marked player all year, having been named an All-America in January for her play in 1989.

• In track and field, Salem's Jennifer Harris won the high jump at the Spartan Relays in March.

Harris and Canton's Stephanie Gray were regional champions, Harris winning the 100-meter hurdles and Gray the high jump. Harris also placed fifth in the 300 hurdles and teammate Yolanda Jackson second in the 100 dash.

In the WLAA meet, Harris was a double winner in the high jump and 100 hurdles. Other individual winners were Tracey Livermore of Salem (long jump), Jackson (100) and Canton's Kim Gudeth (400). Champions in boys track were Dean Benedict of Canton (discus) and Leon Hister of Salem (long jump).

In the Class A championships, Harris and Jackson tied for fourth place in the high jump, and Harris also was eighth in the 100 hurdles. Gudeth (800) and Gray (high jump) were ninth.

• Canton won its sixth consecutive Western Division title in girls track, the Canton boys their first. Both teams were 5-0 in division dual meets.

• Salem avenged a pair of baseball losses (18-12 and 15-3) to Westland John Glenn in a pre-district game, beating the Rockets 4-2 behind the pitching of Rob Kowalski.

The Rocks won their third district championship in four years, beating Ypsilanti (8-6) in the first game and Adrian (3-1) in the final. Scott Rodgers and Dave Makowiec were the big hitters in the Ypsilanti game with four apiece.

Salem had won 13 of its last 17 games following a 4-6 start, but the season ended in the regional tournament. WLAA champ Farmington beat the Rocks 6-5 in the first round when Chris Schmid hit a two-out single in the seventh inning. Salem finished 17-11.

Kowalski represented the Rocks in the annual all-star game at Tiger Stadium and earned a save in the East's 6-3 victory.

• Canton's softball team had a banner year. The Chiefs were the top-ranked team in Observerland during the regular season and finished with a 24-4 record.

Canton won the Western Division title with a 10-0 record but lost to Walled Lake Central in the WLAA championship game, 5-2. The emergence of freshman pitcher Kelly Holmes allowed senior Stacey Thompson to play catcher and gave the Chiefs a strong battery combination.

The Chiefs lost a marathon, 21-inning game to Belleville in the district tournament at John Glenn, 8-2. The Tigers scored six runs on four hits and two errors in the 21st inning.

Holmes faced 95 batters in the near-five-hour game and allowed 17 hits, but she struck out 22 and walked only eight. Canton's defense made nine errors behind her, however.

• In all-star competition, Susan Ferko scored 11 points as the Michigan girls defeated Ohio 78-77 at The Palace. Ryan Johnson was a line-backer for the East in the annual high school all-star football game at MSU.

• The Canton Hornets, an under-11 boys soccer team, and the Plymouth Lightning, an under-16 girls team, won their respective age-group titles at the Wolverine Tournament. Frank Carey coached the Lightning, which included area players Jenny Emmett, Gwen Gibbish, Kris Goff, Leah Hutko and Shelby Carey.

• The Mid-America Mustangs won the girls 13-14 state championship in slow-pitch softball and finished 16th in the world tournament. The Mustangs beat rival Osburn Trucking in back-to-back games, 8-7 and 10-8, in the state tourney.

The roster included Kate Strahan, Cindy Lehnis and Britta Anderson of Plymouth; Tara Wasiak, Stacy Movinski, Jenny Garvey, Stephanie Long, Lori Thomczek, Dani Mortiere, Sarah Rowe and Stacy Sinke of Canton.

• The Metro Magic Wolves became the first Michigan boys soccer team to win an under-16 national championship. The Wolves won the U.S. National Youth Challenge Cup in Woodbridge, Va.

Area players on the team were Matt Lee, John Truskowski, Kerry Zavagnin, Matt Cook and Chris Hayes of Plymouth; Mike Makowiec, Brendan Sullivan and Scott Lerner of Canton. John Boots was the head coach and Roy Lerner the assistant.

• Pete Podrasky of Canton signed a contract to play professional hockey in Sweden with the Roma IF team following a four-year collegiate career as a defenseman at Northern Michigan.

• Canton enjoyed its most successful football season, and once again the annual Canton-Salem game generated a lot of pre-game excitement.

The Chiefs were 9-2, nearly became the first team other than Farmington Hills Harrison to win the Western Division title and made the state playoffs for the first time.

Canton's only regular-season loss was a 21-15 defeat in the third week against Harrison. The Chiefs went 8-1 and avenged last year's 25-8 loss to Salem with a 34-0 victory in the finale.

Salem was 1-2 after losing early to playoff qualifiers Northville and John Glenn but won five straight and finished 6-3 with a young team that improved as the season went on.

Canton quarterback Karl Wukie passed for three TDs, rushed for another and accounted for 224 yards in total offense against Salem. Jason Riggs rushed for 106 yards and caught all three TD passes.

The Chiefs won their first-ever playoff game 22-16 over Lakes Division champ John Glenn but lost in the next round to eventual Class AA champ Catholic Central 35-22. Wukie, the all-area quarterback, passed for 107 yards and three TDs and also rushed for 102 yards in that game.

• Canton started the girls swim season by winning the WLAA Relays. Becky Hoisington and Amy Kodrik set a record with 432.15 points to win the diving.

• The Canton girls cross country team won the Redford Union invitational with Amy Smith leading the way with a seventh-place finish. Heather Meyer, Kim Gudeth and Lana Boroditsch were top-20 runners.

• Salem had an outstanding year in boys soccer even if the Rocks didn't realize all of their goals.

Salem, ranked No. 5 in Class A at the time, tied No. 1 Livonia Churchill 1-1 and beat nemesis Stevenson 5-3 to win its first Lakes Division title. Andy Cosenza scored a goal and set a single-season assist record (22) with three.

The Rocks captured their first WLAA championship, beating Churchill 2-0 behind a pair of Cosenza goals. It was the first loss for the Chargers.

The Rocks needed a three-goal second half to erase a 3-1 halftime deficit and defeat Canton 4-3 in the opener. Cosenza scored the winning goal, while Mike Presley was outstanding for the Chiefs with a three-goal performance.

Salem, which had hopes of returning to the state final after a runner-up finish in 1989, was eliminated by Churchill in the next round, 2-1. The Rocks ended the year 18-5-1.

• Canton won its fifth straight Western Division title in girls cross country, the Salem boys their second Lakes Division crown. Both were 5-0 in duals.

Salem won the boys regional championship at Marshbank. John Thomas led the Rocks, finishing seventh. Derek Cudini (11), Mike Patterson (13), Andy Hellmers (23) and Steve Boudreau (27) helped Salem make a strong showing.

• Salem's girls basketball team reached the Class A semifinals for the third time in five years, an achievement that culminated another great season by an area sports team.

The Rocks won their fourth WLAA championship in six years, beating Livonia Franklin 49-46.

In district play, Salem edged Canton, a team that improved during the year and won the Western Division crown, 37-34 and blasted Stevenson 73-46 in the final.

Sarah Ruete scored a career-high 25 points as the Rocks overcame once-beaten Pioneer 63-57 in the regional, and Betsy McAllister scored 19 as Salem overpowered Monroe 70-48 to win the championship.

• Salem and Canton couldn't stop North Farmington from winning a second straight WLAA title in girls swimming, finishing second and third. Canton's Jeni Cooper was league champ in the 50 freestyle and helped the Chiefs win the 200 freestyle relay.

• The Salem boys swim team gave reason to believe it will contend for a fourth straight WLAA crown, winning the annual relays in December. Canton was second.

The Rocks won only two events but scored in all 10 and were no worse than fifth in any one. Pat McManaman and Steve Salhaney combined to win the diving, and Curt Witthoff, Jon Stridiron, Matt Erickson and Joe Pawluszka set a record of 1:46.6 in the 200 medley relay.

Canton's Ron Trosin, Matt Terrel, Doug Nevi and Dave Nevi won the individual medley relay.

• Salem's boys basketball began the new season playing the way it did in the tournament last March. The Rocks finished the 1990 part of their schedule 6-0 and ranked No. 5 in Class A.

Salem beat state-ranked Huron 60-50 and whipped WLAA contender Harrison 83-60 in its last game. The Rocks face a formidable Ypsilanti team in their first game of 1991 on Friday at home.

THIS WINTER, THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN WILL BE STRICKEN WITH DIABETES. THE REAL TRAGEDY BEGINS WHEN THEY'RE TREATED FOR THE FLU.

During flu season thousands of children are stricken with insulin-dependent diabetes. These children are usually between the ages of 5 and 16.

Unfortunately, many parents and emergency-room personnel often confuse the warning signs of diabetes with the flu. Or, in some cases, urinary tract infection.

The major warning signs for diabetes to watch out for are: frequent urination, excessive thirst, extreme hunger, dramatic weight loss, nausea and vomiting. As well as irritability, weakness and fatigue. Generally, these symptoms appear over a three or four-week period, but don't appear as suddenly as flu symptoms.

If the child is not treated immediately, his or her blood sugar can go out of control leading to what is called diabetic ketoacidosis. Which in turn can lead to diabetic coma. The warning signs for diabetic ketoacidosis include excessive urination, great thirst, stomach pain, nausea and vomiting, dehydration which can lead to dry lips and sunken eyes, rapid breathing, followed by sleepiness.

So this winter, do something to really protect your child during flu season. Learn the symptoms of diabetes.

RECYCLING IS GOOD NEWS:

Overcrowded landfills. Garbage barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.

Bad news.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle.

It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation:

1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.
2. 25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.

3. Our employees have begun to routinely put officer paper (memos, computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets.

Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

What do an apple, a cow, and a car door have in common?

Recycled newspapers play a role in all three. Apple growers in the northwest use recycled newsprint for packing, farmers use it for bedding instead of straw and auto manufacturers use it in car doors.

There are many uses for your used newspapers, why not start saving them today?

WRITE IT AND REAP!

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

John Monaghan will be the first to admit that 1990 was a red letter year for alternative films. So much so that he can name his 10 most memorable films.

STREET BEATS

Steve Young is perhaps the best known unknown songwriter in the business. Luminaries like Joan Baez, Waylon Jennings and Hank Williams Jr. have sung his songs, but recognition still eludes him.

MOVING PICTURES

"The Bonfire of the Vanities" — with Saul Rubinek, Tom Hanks, Kevin Dunn and Morgan Freeman, to name a few — had a poor showing during its first week, grossing just over $3 million.

Good holiday box office may mean a green 1990

Don't look for any new films until Jan. 11. Even Hollywood needs a breather after its double pump action with a multitude of Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday releases.

Many of these films are disappointing the studios and Warner's leads the list. "Bonfire of the Vanities," with a $40 million price tag, opened poorly, taking in just over $3 million its first week. That's not promising. Neither was the critical response.

Another major motion picture from Warner Bros., "The Rookie," co-written by area resident Scott Spiegel, also fared poorly with the critics and the box office, garnering a mere $14 million in three weeks.

None of the other recent releases are performing all that well either. "Godfather III" is the only new film with significant enthusiasm. It opened Christmas Day and the financial word isn't in yet.

It's indicative of the problems motion picture producers face in the new year when $14 million at the box office is described as "mere" or "paltry." Each year during the '80s unprecedented box office boom, production costs and ticket prices rose constantly. But so did box office receipts and the Hollywood express careened on down the tracks. "Bigger and better" — always the Hollywood motto — was their major business philosophy in the '80s.

NOW, WITH economic problems rising, the first deflation reported in more than 40 years and the threat of war, Hollywood may have to face the new year with a more austere approach. Mega-million dollar deals and exorbitant production costs may be history. Already resistance to rising ticket prices is climbing as more and more people wait for motion pictures to appear in video cassette.

The economics of renting a $3 tape for the whole family are clearly more attractive than $6 tickets. Week in and week out, the video cassette rental charts are dominated by recent theatrical motion pictures. Need for more money may force Hollywood studios to raise their prices to video cassette distributors. That, in turn, will elevate tape rental charges although not enough to challenge $6 at the box office.

Whatever the '90s bring, clearly the '80s were a golden decade for Hollywood. And 1989 set the all-time box office record with $5 billion plus and 1990 should come even closer

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Alternatives aplenty in '90

By John Monaghan
special writer

After taking a long swim in the mainstream, the Maple Theatre came back in fine form, premiering some of the best (and most controversial) alternative films this year.

The Tele-Arts, which continues to hang on by a financial thread, premiered a crazy quilt of worldwide titles.

The Detroit Film Theatre continued to play it safe with lengthy weekend performances while its afternoon series paid ambitious tribute to great directors.

Add to it the classic programs at the Redford, Livonia Mall, the Detroit Film Society and the Michigan Theatre, and movie-goers had more choices in 1990 than they may have thought for alternative films in the Detroit area.

FOR MY part, I spent some memorable hours at alternative movies. In no particular order:

(1) "C'est La Vie" (France). Diane Kurys took a child's-eye view of divorce in the 1950s. This funny, insightful film continues at the Maple Theatre.

(2) "Woman in the Window" (USA - 1944) and "A Foreign Affair" (USA - 1947). In November, the Detroit Film Society paired these rarely screened gems.

The first, by Fritz Lang, starred Edward G. Robinson as a milk-toast professor dragged into murder. Billy Wilder's "Foreign Affair" involved Mariene Dietrich and amazing footage of post-war Berlin.

(3) THE DFT'S afternoon tributes to Jean Cocteau and Carly Dreyer brought classic and little-seen titles back to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

(4) "My Left Foot" (Ireland). Jim Sheridan's very unsentimental look at writer Christie Brown's having "To the Limit" (USA - 1990), through April 1991. The latest Omnimax spectacular intercuts amazing athletic feats with an analysis of how muscles and blood meet the challenge. Not intended for people with claustrophobia, the movie becomes a first-person "Fantastic Voyage" into the human body.

MAPLE THEATRE, 4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for show times. ($5.50 general, $3.50 twilight)

"C'est La Vie" (France - 1989). The effects of separation and divorce are felt by all members of a family during a summer vacation in 1958 France. Director Diane Kurys based the story on her own early life.

MICHIGAN THEATRE, 16301 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor, 669-8397. ($4.50; $3.50 students/seniors)

"The Icicle Thief" (Italy - 1989), through Jan. 17 (call for showtimes). Comic filmmaker Maurizio Nichetti (sometimes described as "the Italian Woody Allen") created this surreal comedy in homage to "The Bicycle Thief." Nichetti plays a filmmaker horrified by the mutilation of his masterpiece on television, where commercials break into the action at the worst possible moments. Soon the black-and-white film world and real world of color meld, causing epic mayhem. Lots of fun.

"Fantasia" (USA - 1940), through Jan. 8 (call for show times). Walt Disney mixed classical music and animation in this masterpiece. Shown in a newly restored color print in tribute to the film's golden anniversary.

"The Elephant Man" (USA - 1980), 10:20 p.m. Jan. 4 and 10:45 p.m. Jan. 5. David Lynch filmed the story of John Merrick, a grotesquely deformed man who became a celebrity in Victorian London. Stunningly filmed in black and white wide screen.

"Dune" (USA - 1984), 9:10 p.m. Jan. 6. Frank Herbert's sci-fi epic comes to the screen in a confusing, occasionally exciting version by David Lynch.

TELE-ARTS THEATRE, 1540 Woodward, Detroit 963-8890. ($4; $3 students/seniors)

"Dr. Caligari" (USA - 1990), through Jan. 8 (call for show times). A midnight movie remake of the German silent classic finds the infamous doctor's granddaughter conducting bizarre experiments on hapless patients. Colorful, campy entertainment should please "Rocky Horror" fans.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

Looking back, or looking forward, there's nothing but good news for the video cassette business. Although figures aren't yet available, 1990 was a banner year with every indication of record sales and rentals for video cassette producers and distributors.

Recent theatrical motion pictures lead the list of favorites but exercise tapes and other self-improvement materials, cable TV pics and comedy programs as well as old broadcast television favorites continue to attract home entertainment dollars.

In the last category, CBS Fox Video decorated the holiday season with a long thought lost rendition of the principle cast members of "I Love Lucy" singing "Jingle Bells." The clip first aired on Christmas Eve 1951 and again the following year. Entitled "I Love Lucy's Jingle Belle," it is available on a home cassette, "I Love Lucy and The Honeymooners: A TV Christmas Present." This 52-minute tape also includes holiday episodes from "I Love Lucy" and "The Honeymooners."

A slightly different type of holiday tie-in is almost 6 1/2 hours of "Godfather I and II," boxed in a special collector's edition with a 12-page commemorative booklet and additional footage from both parts.

THIS MAY BE the ticket (just under $100) for "Godfather" devotees although it seems a bit much for a couple of gangster movies that are not considered as great as they say, at least not in this corner.

Despite the luke warm critical response to "Look Who's Talking" when it debuted theatrically in late '89, the film cracked the $100 million box office barrier and sold more than one million units on video cassette. Tri-Star rushed production of

"Look Who's Talking too" to take advantage of that success. Their haste was apparent in the latter film's weakness. That translates into "look for it on cassette early in the year."

Other new trends in home video programming slated for the new year include a lot more motion pictures available on laserdiscs and wider distribution of the newer format, 8mm video.

Both LIVE Home Video and Buena Vista Home Video Worldwide closed out the year with announcements that they would release a number of titles in the 8mm format. Buena Vista is the Disney-Touchstone releasing company and they have an agreement with Sony to enter this new market.

Their package includes eight Touchstone titles already available on video cassette and three Walt Disney films, "The Little Mermaid" and a two-volume musical feature about Elvis Presley, "The Great Performances - Center Stage" and "The Man and the Music."

Young: Honesty before success

A storm cloud of serenity, a gushing wind of disparity. Steve Young's music is not about taming the mind or the soul.

"It's not necessarily entertaining," Young said. "I'm not here to make you feel better for two minutes. I'm here to be honest with you... That's where my heart lies."

Such an ethos separates artist from entertainer, craftsman from mere performer. In Young's case, it may also separate recognition from a career.

Young is perhaps the best known unknown songwriter in the business. Luminaries recording his songs include The Eagles, Waylon Jennings and Hank Williams Jr.

Yet Young hasn't found his place yet. Or, more than anything, a place hasn't been found for him.

Possible reasons? First, his southern roots was perhaps deemed "uncool" in the protest singer era of the early 1960s. Nick Tosches wrote in his book "Country: The Biggest Music in America" how Joan Baez "was repulsed by the presence of a white southern man" in her home at the wedding of Richard and Mimi Farina.

Then there was his foray into the country rock movement, which later led him to be lumped in with the outlaws such as Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson. He gravitated away from that without ever cashing in.

There were his own problems with alcohol, which hampered his career in the early-mid 1970s.

Then there is Young's refusal to play the record industry game.

"THE BOTTOM line is there is something deep inside that may be afraid of success," he said. "I think deep down I didn't want to be successful. I wanted to be hidden away, be more obscure."

Obscurity, perhaps, but it has been obscurity on his own terms. Young has released only eight albums during a 20-plus year career — all critically acclaimed and spanning a wide variety of styles from folk to country.

"Seven Bridges Road" is his watermark LP, mainly because it piqued the interest in the Nashville set and because many felt he was leading the way to a new country sound. Jennings later recorded "Lonesome Or'ny & Mean" off of "Seven Bridges Road" LP.

RCA jumped on the bandwagon. Young released "Renegade Picker" and "No Place to Fall" on the label — his tag of a country outlaw further enhanced.

Young and his music, though, was never totally at home with the whiskey rabble-rousing crowd. He lived it, but didn't necessarily believe in it.

"To some extent, that's all very true," said Young about the outlaw image. "To another extent, it wasn't true."

"I felt my ideas were more universal... I didn't believe I was fully being myself. I felt I was living behind this mask — Boozie being this mask."

Also, Young feels the rogue image was partly a creation of RCA. Surprisingly, he's not bitter at the record industry.

Steve Young has released only eight albums during a career that spans more than 20 years, all critically acclaimed and spanning a wide variety of styles.

ANY ANGER and resentment goes deeper, Young said. He was born in Georgia and raised in rural poverty where he had a "dark childhood with a lot of pain and sensitivity."

His father came and went, finally leaving the family when Young was 9. He recalls his dad as a man with some unusual ideas, one of them being a self-proclaimed atheist in the Bible belt.

In his youth, he remembers the street singers who performed in town. They sang a soul-stirring blend of gospel and blues, possessing a spirituality that has always burned at the core of Young's music.

Perhaps Young is a performer's performer simply because he doesn't walk a bridge over his past and feelings. Rather, he digs tunnels into them.

"I don't think there's an escape from anything... there is no shortcuts," he said. "It still scares me, all this stuff. I can't see how it can be accepted. It's powerful."

"Sometimes, I'm reluctant to bring to the stage. I'm doing it slowly."

Local band granted 'Whiplash' wish

Heaven's Wish is a hard rocking fivesome that had to earn its spot on stage with Motor City Madman Ted Nugent at the annual "Whiplash Bash" tonight.

A local band opening up for Motor City Madman Ted Nugent before a packed house on New Year's Eve at Cobo Arena. Wishful thinking, perhaps?

Not for Heaven's Wish. The hard rocking fivesome will provide the perfect segue for the bear-hunting, gonzo guitarist. Heaven's Wish opens for Nugent tonight in the second installment of the annual "Whiplash Bash" at Cobo. Showtime is 9 p.m.

This is not some outfit picked randomly off the street, mind you. Heaven's Wish emerged the logical choice after competing in a field of 157 groups for "Michigan's Best Rock Band Competition" sponsored by Al Nalli Music and the Studio Lounge in Westland.

To enter, bands had to submit a two-song tape. Out of the 157 entries, 18 finalists were selected to perform live at the Studio Lounge.

Heaven's Wish was one of finalists performing on successive nights in October, beating out A.Z.U.R. in the

REVIEWS

IF THIS HAD BEEN AN ACTUAL EMERGENCY — The Blanks

One of the elements that made The Clash truly one of the great bands of its era was an inner-struggle of its two creators. With Mick Jones, there was a knack for writing an indelible pop song. With Joe Strummer, we had a driving political orator. Together, they were dynamite — as in the explosive, not Big Audio Dynamite.

The reason to rehash The Clash here is the same might be said for The Blanks on their latest seven-song effort "If This Had Been an Actual Emergency."

Literally, The Blanks continually underline the class struggle that exists in today's make-a-buck, run amuck society. Musically, the band displays a willingness to put forth a melodic sound at times while not compromising on the issue at hand.

A salvo against the establishment is fired on the first note. "Be False to Your School" is a rancorous twist on the ole Beach Boys' chestnut.

To their credit, The Blanks don't parody the Beach Boys sound. Instead they attack the theme of the song in a virulent guitar manifesto. "They want you to be true/They want you to obey/They like the way things are/And they want to keep them that way."

But political oratories can run aground and become rather spastic, especially in the venom spewing "Government Shutdown." The diatribe has a lot to say but doesn't say it.

By contrast "Flying Lessons" is a metaphorical, bittersweet romp through the playground. The child-like escape is climaxed by a chiming guitar break by Steve Bitto.

"For Phil (Ochs) And Others" possesses a similar endearing melody, paying tribute to an apparent hero.

"Stray Shadows" is nothing less than intriguing, if not a bit ominous. Guitars slither on the surface while Bill Boyer unloads some bile at the indifferent attitude society has toward poor people. The number is dedicated to the Detroit/Wayne Homeless Union.

The reggaeified sound of "Weekend Education" adds yet another twist to the multi-dimensional talents that are amply filled in by The Blanks.

— Larry O'Connor

O'ZONE: NOISE OF A SUB-CULTURE — various artists

This compilation was made as the sound track to a surf video called "O'Zone." The video features stuff like pictures of people surfing and interviews with famous surfing dudes. Whether or not you actually intend on seeing the video, you'll still want to give its soundtrack a listen.

The record's sound lies somewhere in between the "party tape" you'd make if you had the time and a brief listen to your local high school or college radio station.

"O'Zone" (I.R.S.) manages to mix reggae, rap and hard rock into one big, energetic romp. All of the different styles of music on this have one important thing in common — they're not made for sittin' to.

Imagine a mix of the Red Hot Chili Peppers' "Funky Crimes" followed by Bad Brains' "With the Quickness," then Ice-T's "Hit the Deck" and the English Beat's "Twist and Crawl." Those are just the first four songs on "O'Zone." Later, Jane's Addiction's "Standing in the Shower" comes screaming in as does Concrete Blonde's "Days and Days."

All of these songs are old news, but they sound fresh again when all put together in this particular arrangement. There are no slow songs here, so the whole mix is sort of a high-energy, breathless blur. It's, like, surfing music dude.

Other good reggae/rap stuff on the compilation are Pato Banton's "One World (Not Three)," Mano Negra's "The Rebel Spell" and Consolidated's "Message to the People." Like we were saying, it's a weird mix of tunes, but it works.

Besides all of the righteous surf tunes, the album comes with an extra bonus — groovy fluorescent slashes of orange on the cover. Try it under a black light for maximum coolness.

All in all, "O'Zone" can be equally whether you're a surfer, would be surfer or a person who prefers the land-locked life.

THE BEAUTIFUL — The Beautiful

Structurally, this band breaks all the rules. The Beautiful steer clear of the "verse, chorus, verse" song structure. Yet, they are the perfect persona of the great American garage band.

This band is born on the busy streets of New York City. Their music is somewhat of a jumble of a neo '70s revival mixture.

They are a three-piece band. This debut album consists of five of their songs. Out of the five, the one worth honorable mention is called "Apart of Time." It is a slow, semi-melodic song. It sounds a little like the Rolling Stones when they try to pull off something amorous with the stridulate vocals of Keith Richards.

Another song called "Fine Science of Chaos" is just that, more chaotic than melodic. Their music is raw, unpolished and unstructured. But then, that is what they want it to be.

"We're not scared," says the band's guitarist/vocalist Jonathon Lacey. "We're not afraid to take risks that other people might not try because it's safe."

Lacey explained the band stays away from "4/4 hard rock time," and many times the bass will play the melody in addition to holding the rhythm.

All this considered, it still comes across as hardly new or innovative.

Lacey is the group's primary member as he plays guitar, sings and does all the song writing. Perry Botteke plays bass and the newly-added Frank Ferrer is on drums.

Upon adding Ferrer to the band, they fired their singer and manager. In one week, they brag of learning a set's worth of material to go on the road with. One week? Maybe that's part of the problem.

There is some talent in this threesome, but the music is typical if not slightly outdated.

Although I agree with the claim that their music is loosely structured. Loose structure alone, does not a good song make.

Heaven's Wish gets its 'Whiplash' wish championship round Nov. 5. One of the judges was Nugent's manager Doug Banker.

 "I think they're (Heaven's Wish) one of the hardest working bands in the area," Banker said. "They're original. They come across as a real band."
 A REAL BAND that is really grateful for the opportunity for wider recognition. The outfit has been performing a yeoman's schedule of dates at such places as the Studio, Harpo's and the Ritz. People who've caught their act at those places already know how good Heaven's Wish is.

 Performing at Cobo Arena could be the kick in the amplifier needed to get the word out.
 "For a long time, the band wasn't getting the recognition we thought we deserved," said lead vocalist Ron Vanderlip. "We've been working real hard on our stage show."
 "Maybe this will open some eyes."

'The Edge' to air bash

A special New Year's Eve celebration will be broadcast live on "The Cutting Edge" on CIMX-FM 88.7, featuring Rhythm Corps, See Dick Run and Twiggy Barbust.
 The show starts 8 p.m. The party, itself, is being broadcast from an undisclosed location. Some clues to where this invitation-only bash is actually taking place have surfaced.
 • Think former Canadian prime minister.
 • Think former Big Time wrestler with long legs and star of the TV sitcom "One Day at a Time."

On a smaller scale, Heaven's Wish has done that with an infectious hard rock beat.
 Also, the effort in their stage show — using pyrotechnics in their act along with choreographed steps — puts an added charge in the band's 60-70-minute sets. And, all of which would seem ideal for an arena-sized show.
 The band has been together for 3½ years and includes drummer Rob Julien of St. Clair Shores, guitarist Tom Janssen of Richmond, guitarist Mike Blair of Dearborn, bassist Jim Ellery of Richmond along with Vanderlip.

Asking for help is 1st step

Dear Barbara,
 I am so afraid of getting fat. I am consumed by thoughts of food and I binge. Then I take laxatives so that I will get rid of it all. This has been going on for two or three years. I take 15 to 20 laxatives a night and I cannot seem to get out of this rut.
 I am going to college while living at home. My parents don't know anything about my problem. I am able to keep it secret from them. I have begun dating a boy I like very much. I am so afraid that he will find out. I am also afraid that I may be doing something harmful to my body.
 I do not have the money to see a therapist and under the circumstances, I cannot ask my parents.
 Will you be so kind as to talk about all of this. I feel nervous and unhappy most of the time.

It happens at the time that she must have her own opinions, make her own decisions and take emotional chances. She feels unable to meet these demands and thus becomes involved in food and purging as a defense against feelings and dilemmas that she is inadequate to.
 This is a simplified explanation to a complex problem. You may see yourself in it because you say your problem developed in your senior year or around graduation from high school. This is a time of intense self-searching for teenagers.
 Your method of purging and laxative abuse does create bodily dysfunction. Dr. Richard Feldstein, a Birmingham psychiatrist, said that the most dangerous side effect of laxative abuse is an electrolyte imbalance which would lead to cholera and diarrhea. In the worst possible case scenario, this could be life threatening.
 In your situation, this is not likely. The greatest likelihood is that your body has adapted. That is, your body thinks the 15-20 laxatives a night is normal. They are doing the work of your bowels; you have developed a physical dependence.
 The kicker is that they no longer induce weight loss. Your body, on 15-20 laxatives, is like anyone else's without the laxatives. It has established homeostasis.
 Most bulimics do not gain weight when they stop taking laxatives. However, they continue, even with this knowledge. The psychological reasons for continuing are unconscious and, therefore, you must get help to understand your motivations.

 I do not have enough information to know if the assessment that your parents can't be told is true. If it is, then you must get help yourself. William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak has eating disorders support groups. They meet on the 10th floor — 7-8:30 p.m. Mondays for anorexics, Wednesday lectures for all eating disorders and family members and Friday for bulimics.
 Begin there. Good luck.

 "THREE MEN and a Baby," "Good Morning Vietnam," "Beaches," "Cocktail," "Big Business," "Stakeout," "Splash" and "Adventures in Babysitting" are the eight Touchstone titles available since Dec. 10 in the 8mm format.
 LIVE Home Video's six-title 8mm offerings, first available Nov. 1, were led by "Total Recall." The company and its children label, "Family Home Entertainment," have plans to release "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles: The Movie," an animated episode of the Mutant Ninja Turtles, "The Fabulous Baker Boys," "Air-America," "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "Babar: The Movie" on 8mm during the first quarter of '91.

 LIVE, along with Buena Vista, is associated with Sony in this 8mm venture and they report more than 1,700 titles now available. That's not many compared to the 125,000 listed in the 1991 "Video Sourcebook," but a good start for a new format.
 As competition grows and popularity of the Video Walkman TV/VCR grows, no doubt large numbers of 8mm video formatted films will become available. Certainly, they're already competitively with Buena Vista and LIVE titles announced in the $20-30 range.

 Another change to watch for, open pricing, was announced by Orion Home Video. Beginning in April 1991, all of their releases priced above $30 will no longer carry a manufacturer's suggested retail price.
 THIS SUGGESTS that competition is building in the home video marketplace and at least one company is willing to take its chance with market pressures and, of course, the wholesale price they set for their dealers.
 Another new trend, sports videos combining music videos, a story line and original footage, will appear in early February with "Michael Jordan's Playground." It includes a music video, "Anything's Possible," wherein Jordan makes his musical debut. This could open up a whole new field for athletes, particularly if they're talented. Naturally, there's a promotional tie-in with Wheaties.
 Finally, for those who indulge excessively during the holidays and need to lose weight but don't have the time, there's something new in exercise tapes. Wood Knapp Video announces the Jan. 4 release of "The Five-Minute Workout," an hour-long exercise tape with Sandy Duncan and choreographer Kevin Carlise.
 This one is sponsored by Nabisco Biscuit Company (there's a $3 rebate if you purchase the right crackers) and is advertised as effective, exercises that can be done while shopping or waiting for a bus. Sounds intriguing but why does it take an hour tape to explain a five-minute workout?

Ridley spins yarns of small town life into humor

By Larry O'Conner
Staff writer

Mike Ridley has a story to tell. Quite a few, actually. Except the hulking singer/comedian is sans guitar, instead plopped down in one of those conference room swivel chairs in R&A Records offices in Troy.

Ridley's "Attitude Check" is a spinning collection of chuckling ditties, compiled in a wide variety of styles — from country to pop.

Also, the Southfield resident has recently recorded a single with fellow Detroit comedian Thom Sharp to benefit the Tiger Stadium Fan Club, whose mission is to save the ball yard on Michigan and Trumbull avenues.

Tiger broadcaster Ernie Harwell is featured on "Baseball" and Sharp's number "Don't Tear It Down!"

LIKE A lot of the songs on "Attitude Check," there's a large piece of Ridley involved in his single "Baseball."

"My dad and my brothers and myself went down to Tiger Stadium all the time when we were younger," said Ridley, 38, who is a teacher. "We're all baseball nuts."

"All of the sudden you realize, in the overall scheme of things, saving a ball park is probably not the most important thing in the world, it's saving Detroit."

For Ridley, it's all about memories, which might not stand out from songs off "Attitude Check" by their names alone — such names as "Hiding in the Pines," "Six Pack to Go" and "Making Love with Loretta."

THEN RIDLEY tells the tale behind the title.

For instance, "Six Pack to Go" is one of several slices of rural life whittled from Ridley's life in the sticks — Wolverine, Mich., population 364.

The place he sings about is a small-town tavern. At 10 minutes before closing time, the bartender would yell last call. In a mad dash, some would proceed to the bar to get a six-pack to go, which would be put in a brown bag with their name written on it.

"Hiding in the Pines" is a twang-and-torch number about owning a pick-up truck with C-F-ing Bs.

WHILE PERFORMING, Ridley taught physical education at the town's only school. The job paid $14,000 a year, but he developed an ear and eye for country living. He came back loaded with images of laid back life.

"I hear so many funny things up there. You have to go into the coffee shops and listen to the conversations. There are so many individuals."

Ridley recalls the janitor of the school, who had a bad stammer and whose biggest fear was that he would be asked to call out bingo numbers at a fund raiser.

He also mentions "One-Eyed" Jack, who was a jack of all trades and who could stay all night at the tavern drinking coffee and playing cribbage.

RURAL YEARNINGS aside, Ridley has a knack for capturing urban life as well. "Safe Sex," for example, was a riverboat ditty culled from a conversation he tuned into at an area bar while he was performing.

His knack for deadpan humor is undeniable, such as in "Rubber Doll" — a jazzy tune about mail-order inflatable love. Ridley sings, "She's an airhead/that's OK because I'm in love with her anyway."

Parodies are fun, but there's another side to Ridley. He talks about someday being taken seriously as a musician.

Amid the shot-and-a-beer humor, Ridley possesses the storyteller's voice of a folk singer. After all, comedy came later.

RIDLEY WAS performing in a Mackinaw City establishment one night when a couple came up and asked him for his address.

A month later, Ridley got a call from the "Tonight Show." The producers wanted a video of him doing his comedic/acoustic music schtick.

Dumbfounded, Ridley sought the advice of his brother, Mark Ridley, owner of the Comedy Castle in Royal Oak.

"I said, 'Mark I'm not a comedian.' He said, 'Do you want to be?'"

Soon, Ridley was working as an emcee at the Comedy Castle.

"I really got an education working with guys like Thom Sharp and Bob Saget, who also play guitars. I wouldn't bring my guitar. Instead, I used my own material."

ANOTHER COMEDIAN in the Ridley family was born. Many would assume Mark Ridley to be the funniest of the family. Not so, according to Mike. That title would go to little brother Frank, 30, who is an opera singer.

Anyhow, Ridley is still developing a keen comedic sense.

"I do and I don't. I'm one of those comics who's always saying, 'I wish I wrote this' or 'I wish I wrote that.' Sentiment — I'm good at writing that."

Some of the ditties on Mike Ridley's "Attitude Check" are slices of rural life whittled from his life in Wolverine, Mich., population 364.

How to win at the numbers game.

The game is newspaper advertising — and the rules are changing. Rates are up in the Detroit News and Free Press. Suburban circulation is down. And all around town, advertisers are wondering what numbers to trust — and where to place their media dollars. What should you do?

Beware of smoke and mirrors.

Right now, the News and Free Press circulation is unstable at best. On the other hand, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers delivers to more than 500,000 households — and that's a real number.

How do we know? All SPRING newspapers are audited. Every year, the circulation figures for each SPRING newspaper are verified by either CAC or ABC — two of the industry's most highly-respected independent auditors.

No slippery stuff here. SPRING's numbers are tested, tried, and true.

See what's behind the numbers.

OK — so dazzling numbers can be misleading. And, when it comes to newspaper circulation figures, you want more than quantity. You want quality.

We've got it. SPRING's one million readers are some of the most affluent consumers around. SPRING newspapers go to suburbs with the spending power to buy more cars, condos, boats, bikes, appliances, apparel, gizmos, and gadgets than most other Michigan communities combined.

Best of all, SPRING delivers this upscale suburban market at a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

Place your bet on SPRING.

Once you've studied the numbers, we're sure you'll agree: SPRING is a sure winner.

SPRING's circulation is solid and stable. It's audited. And it represents more than one million readers who have the means to buy what you sell.

No matter how you figure it — those are very good odds, indeed.

BILL HANSEN

Entertaining at home for $65,000

By Pat Schutte
special writer

Let's say, just for kicks, you wake up one morning buried in $100 bills . . . about 100 grand worth.

And let's just say that you just happened to be going out in the afternoon to look at a little color TV and a cheap AM-FM cassette boom box.

Now, instead of decking out your flat with $150 worth of junk, let's see what we can arrange with the nouveau riche blanket you woke up under.

Let's take this to the heights and purchase the best, most expensive, elaborate, loudest, clearest, biggest, most tweaked out home entertainment system that money can possibly buy.

Beginning with the TV, let's go with something so gargantuan that you'll have to provide several exits, sell popcorn and hire an usher. That's right, no puny 50-inch screens here, we're going with the full-on projection television.

For starters, you'll need a huge room, one with walls that are around 30 feet wide so they can accommodate the 20-foot projection screen that's motorized and rolls down from the ceiling.

While your friends are admiring your extensive library built into the wall of your entertainment room, push a button and, presto, down rolls the biggest screen they've seen outside of a movie theater. Cost: $3,000.

"Who needs books, let's watch 'Repo Man,'" you could say.

MOUNTED ON the ceiling, looking very un-TV like is the actual unit that will provide the picture. Much in the same concept as a theater projector, your unit will be sent a signal from a laser disc and power light through computerized red, blue and green guns to create a dazzling picture. Crisper than a theater picture and in the comfort of your own home. Cost: $5,800.

"Could you please put your feet down," the usher could say to one of your buddies.

So with the theater-sized screen with a television quality picture, we need only add one more feature —

bone-rattling, filling-loosening, plaster-cracking SOUND!

bone rattling, filling loosening, plaster cracking SOUND!

According to Michael Stewart of Audio/Video Systems in Rochester Hills, the guys who sell and install these units, we will need speakers galore.

"We'll start with eight sub woofers behind the screen and two floor model sub woofers," said Stewart of the ultimate "raise the dead" wall of sound for your home entertainment system. Cost, with the projection unit and screen: $38,000.

AND WITH all those speakers, you're going to need something to drive them, so Stewart also recommends a Lexicon Surround Process System powered by a pre-amp. What this does is give your entertainment system "the theater effect," Stewart said.

With four amplifiers at 200 watts per channel, putting the power to the 22 front, rear and side speakers, the processing system will direct the sound to encircle the viewers with "like you were there" sensory thrills. Cost of the amps, processor and accessories: $20,000 ballpark.

"The processor can take a jet and start the sound behind you, bring it to the sides, and then up to the front of the room . . . just like the jet flew overhead," Stewart said.

To go with the 3.5- to 12-inch disc player (accommodates compact and movie discs), we'll add a Super VHS player (new on the market) with 430 lines of resolution versus 230 in normal VHS. Cost: $2,000.

Now to our stereo system. Done in Denon equipment, Stewart suggests that we power the system with two amplifiers and one pre-amp. And for your information, everything plugs into the pre-amp where it is then directed to the amplifiers and sent to the speakers. Real loud. Real clear. Cost: $2,400.

FROM THERE, we need a tape player, like a multi-deck, three-head, digital audio deck with auto reverse and the ability to do your taxes (just kidding). Digital audio sounds identical to compact discs, offers 120 minutes of sound, and selects songs almost as quickly as a CD. Cost: $1,000.

Other than a stereo tuner and a pair of headphones that will blow sound out your nose ($750 for both), we should be set. (Note: If you still have some albums and can afford this system, replace them with CDs and digital tapes.)

Now what's neat about the Lexicon Sound Processor is that it's also connected to your stereo. Stewart said that it's "totally programmable" and can turn a room into a concert hall.

With enough sound and visual effects to attract friends you didn't even know you had, you also may attract those who want your system in their house. For this, Stewart suggests a set of louvered steel security blinds that double as a light-tight shade system to give your projection system the ultimate in darkness. Cost: $1,800.

All right. Ready for the final cost? No you're not. Did you think you'd just go ahead and install this yourself? Uh-huh, I'll bet.

THE SPEAKER cable and connectors alone will cost you $3,000. And it would also be a good idea to allow Stewart and his partners to do the installation. At $40 per hour and 20 hours to install it, we're looking at another $800 bucks, or a $3,800 installation fee.

So without furniture, lighting, carpeting, shelves, paint . . . or anything, we've just increased the value of a plain old room to $65,000 by adding a TV and stereo.

Stewart also carries systems that are "very affordable" for you and I, which is nice seeing as how very few of us wake up these days, buried in $100 bills.

Door 2 Door

A hot meal that's not homemade

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

After a hard day's work, going home to cook dinner is about as much fun as cleaning out closets or going to the dentist. But now there's an alternative to dinner at mom's, pizza, burgers, fried chicken and microwave dinners.

It's as easy as calling 288-Food. In less than an hour, Door 2 Door will deliver gastronomic bliss to your doorstep from any one of 40 popular Oakland County eateries listed in its 80-page restaurant menu guide . . . Satisfaction guar-

Door 2 Door delivers lunch and dinner from restaurants in Birmingham, Bloomfield, Bloomfield Hills, Franklin, Huntington Woods, Orchard Lake, Royal Oak, Southfield Troy and West Bloomfield.

Think of the possibilities. Pizza from Buddy's, Charley's Louisiana Shrimp, Fox and Hounds or burgers from Matt Brady's.

All this, and more, brought to your home or office by drivers dressed in waiter-like uniforms who will even set the table.

Leave the driving to them while you unwind. Place an order from your car phone or when you get home. Take a shower, shuck your suit for a comfy pair of sweats, open your mail, relax. Don't worry about fumbling for money when they arrive.

"FOR THE safety of the drivers, we don't accept cash," said Kirk Scott, 31, president of Door 2 Door based in Clawson. "We accept VISA, MasterCard or personal checks."

Orders can be placed, seven days a week 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Delivery charges range from $3 for customers who live or work within five miles of the restaurant, about a 10-minute drive away; or $6 for deliveries up to 10 miles or a 10- to 20-minute drive away. Charges don't include driver's tip.

With Door 2 Door, meal planning is as easy as picking up the phone. Call 288-Food and operators will enter your address, special instructions to your home or office, credit card and phone numbers into their computer.

They will also answer questions about the menus and whisk your order via computer to the restaurant where preparation begins.

A delivery person, dispatched by radio, picks up your order at the restaurant, complete with instructions to your address. Delivery takes 20 minutes to an hour, depending on the distance, weather and road conditions. The food is kept warm in insulated boxes made of space-age material used by NASA, Scott said.

Once you place an order, the information is stored so you don't have to repeat your address, phone number, etc., and that saves time, too.

"Time is the currency of the '90s," said Scott. "People don't have time to cook. Door 2 Door is great for people who are single and living in apartments. They don't want to cook for one person."

"IT'S CHEAPER than going to a restaurant. One drink in a restaurant pays for the delivery charge."

According to Scott, with more and more women working, couples are calling for Door 2 Door.

"They don't want to come home and cook dinner," he said. "People want to eat . . . Now!"

Door 2 Door aims to please. A new Frequent Diner Club allows customers to pay a one time fee, $175 for six months or $295 for 12 months and order as often as they like and pay no delivery charges.

Feeling a little Italian? No problem. You pick, Pasta Primavera from Cafe Jardin, Baked Manicotti from TGI Fridays, or Scaloppini alla Marsala from Oliverio's.

Need to escape? Pop a travelogue into the VCR and order food from Bangkok Club, The House of Hunan, Kabob Grill, Natraj, Phoenixia or Ristorante di Maria.

With Door 2 Door you can have your friends over for a dinner they'll never forget.

"We had one customer who had a dinner party for four couples. They ordered hors d'oeuvres from one restaurant, entrees from another, and dessert from another," Scott said. "They were placing orders every 10 minutes; it worked out fine."

Door 2 Door can also help busy people plan a memorable birthday or anniversary dinner. Orders can be placed in up to two weeks in advance so you can surprise the special someone in your life.

Boosters make overtures to young adults

By Jeff Hooten
special writer

IMAGINE A lavish evening of appetizers at the Whitney followed by tickets to the Detroit Symphony at Orchestra Hall. How about following an evening performance of the DSO with post-concert desserts at the Rattlesnake Club?

Or maybe an elegant Sunday brunch in the lobby of the Fox Theatre followed by, you guessed it, an afternoon with the DSO at Orchestra Hall. Sounds interesting? Sounds fun? Sounds like "Lifestyles of the Independently Wealthy and Socially Elite?"

If you answered "yes" to any of the previous questions, a group called Overtures wants to pleasantly surprise you. Since February 1989, Overtures has combined DSO concerts with pre- or post-concert parties at various downtown Detroit locations.

"What we're trying to do is get people interested in the city again as well as the orchestra," says Southfield resident Dawn Hykan, a member of Overtures steering committee. "It's a lot of fun. People have really been enjoying it."

"Something that's real exciting this season is the new musical director, Neeme Jarvi. This is also our first season in (the newly renovated) Orchestra Hall."

BY TARGETING young adults in their 20s and 30s, Overtures hopes to attract a new generation of classical music lovers to the DSO. Like many major symphonies around the country, the DSO has watched its base of supporters grow older while the influx of younger fans has been anything but overwhelming.

"The average age of most symphony subscribers is around 50 or 51," said Tom Gulick, DSO marketing vice-president. "Overtures has been a very successful group for us. It exposes (younger) people to the symphony in a very positive way. Hopefully in the future, some of them will move on to become (DSO) subscribers."

By appealing to a younger audience, Gulick feels Overtures is generating an interest in the arts typically lacking among today's youth.

"Children today aren't exposed as much to classical music. People

Estonian native Neeme Jarvi first took the podium as the DSO's 11th music director in October, his first position with an American symphony orchestra. He emigrated to the U.S. in 1980.

are intimidated by the symphony. For example, they aren't sure when to clap. With Overtures, they are surrounded by their peers. This helps them to relax."

"Overtures is really not a group that is particularly well-versed in classical music," Hykan said. "They just enjoy it and want to have a good time with it. They also want to meet other people who enjoy it and will support the symphony so that it won't go away."

NOW IN its third season, Overtures has come a long way since fall 1988, when three young professionals were discussing opportunities for involvement in the community, particularly in the area of the fine arts.

That's when Birmingham resident Erica Peresman, her husband, David Jaffe, and their friend, Doug Graham, came to the conclusion that since the DSO lacked a young people's support group, they would start their own.

Their first step was to contact the DSO, where they quickly hooked up with Gulick. Already concerned over the lack of fresh faces at the symphony, Gulick didn't realize the solution would arrive in pre-packaged form.

Overtures' original three organizers were soon joined by Amy Lardner of Birmingham and Lynne Marotta of Grosse Pointe, who together with Hykan now form Overtures' six-member steering committee. With the help of several volunteers, they set about organizing their first events.

The initial three functions in February were virtual sellouts, prompting the group to schedule two more events in spring. After capping their season with an outdoor concert/picnic at Meadow Brook, Overtures was not only a hit with the young adults of the metro area, but with the DSO as well.

SINCE THE DSO sees groups like Overtures as future subscribers to the symphony, the two parties quickly developed a symbiotic relationship, not only with each other but with local establishments in the downtown area.

Pre-concert meeting places especially are often chosen based on their proximity to Orchestra Hall. With many restaurants eager to attract a group of young professionals, Overtures is able to offer their events at an affordable price.

Chuck Dyer, DSO group ticket sales head who works closely with Overtures in planning events, explains: "We seek out facilities that are willing to work with us and that want to open up their establishments to this exciting young market."

Overtures events aren't cheap, with most for the current season priced at $35, yet by ordering tickets as a group, Overtures can provide an event package that would be out of reach for many people if bought individually.

Current symphony subscribers take note: The social events are not available individually. "It's a package deal, with no exceptions, to expose new people to classical music."

SOMETHING NEW that Overtures is offering this season are non-concert events referred to as musical "chats," where symphony members and other individuals associated with the orchestra discuss various musical topics.

These weekday events, offered at a greatly reduced price, usually last a couple hours and include hours of d'oeuvres. The "chats" are just one more method that Overtures hopes will make the symphony a little less intimidating.

"The musical chats are another way of getting the people involved to understand the music a little bit better so they'll have a better appreciation of it when they go to the concerts," Hykan said.

Volunteers: backbone of DSO support group

By Jeff Hooten
special writer

Getting people involved in the Detroit Symphony Orchestra is a primary goal of Overtures, especially since everyone who works on events, from the steering committee on down, is a volunteer.

The fact that everybody offers their time for free also helps keep event costs down. "We're just trying to cover our costs and break even," says Dawn Hykan, a steering committee member.

About four weeks before each event, 10-15 volunteers gather for what Hykan calls a "mailing party," where brochures for the next event are sent out.

This is where steering committee member Lynne Marotta's background as a graphic designer really comes in handy. "She designs all of our brochures," Hykan said.

About two weeks before each event, the volunteers meet again for an evening of "telemarketing," where they call people on the mailing list to remind them about the event in addition to taking orders.

While they are pleased with the number of people who have volunteered thus far, Hykan says they're always looking for more:

"It's good to have new blood, with new ideas, new creativity coming in, new thoughts about where to go, what kind of concerts would be appealing, etc. The more people you can get involved, the more it will appeal to them because you won't have the same people doing the same thing all the time."

OVERTURES HAS a mailing list of 1,200 people, covering both Detroit and the suburbs.

Though made up primarily of professionals, Overtures wants to appeal to any and all young adults with an interest in classical music, regardless of background or social status.

"The group is diverse," Hykan said. "It's singles, marrieds, people with families and no families."

"They come from all over," added Chuck Dyer, DSO group tickets sales head. "It's an urban and suburban group. At our last event, we had people from Riverview, Plymouth, Wyandotte, Livonia, Detroit, Grosse Pointe, Southfield, Farmington, Troy, Sterling Heights, and several from Birmingham. It covered the map. It's exciting to have people coming from a wide geographic area all focusing in on the orchestra."

Not only does Overtures cater to the "under-40" crowd with events like a post-concert party at Clubland, they also try and schedule concerts featuring their peers, such as the most recent concert/brunch featuring the DSO's young concertmistress, Emmanuelle Boisvert, performing Stravinsky's Violin Concerto in D major.

Overtures events have an average attendance of 75 to 100 people, with the capacity of the establishment usually the only limiting factor.

ANOTHER SERVICE that Overtures has come to provide is that of a "welcome mat" to people new to the metro area.

Says Cheryl Williams, a former resident of Los Angeles who recently moved to Birmingham: "I found out about Overtures from a co-worker and I think it's great. I've met some interesting people. I've lived in other cities and it's very reasonably priced compared to other areas."

"I'm planning to attend more events, and I especially like the daytime events for the more relaxed, less party-like atmosphere."

Hykan understands the lively atmosphere of Clubland is not for everyone: "We try and divide the events evenly between Friday, Saturday and Sunday so that we have a good sampling for everyone. It gives a variety for people to choose from."

"Not everyone comes to all five or six events, it's still not a subscription series. At this point, most people come to maybe two or three events during the year. It's a hard age for people to commit to being subscribers because of time constraints. So, we're looking at maybe having mini-subscriptions of two or three events at a time, to see if that might be successful."

Gifts that enlighten, enrich and entertain can now be found at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

Items available only at museum and village gift shops or by mail order are priced from 75 cents to $6,500. Gift-quality merchandise has been created in virtually every medium, from paper, pewter, and glass to gold, velvet and videotape.

These distinctive products are inspired by aspects of American history and technology explored in the Dearborn museum's exhibits. How Americans lived, worked and kept their homes from colonial times through the present is evident in the full line. Products range from exact reproductions to interpretations of artifacts in the museum's collections:

- A taste of American history. A distinctive line of foods reflecting two centuries of American taste is available exclusively through museum and village shops. Among the tasteful choices are a variety of mustards, relishes and fruit butters.

Mulling spices and fruit-flavored teas are available, along with specialty bake mixes, including bread, sugar cookie and gingerbread. Food items are priced from 50 cents to $3.75.

- Advertising signs. Vintage signs promoting Fisk tires, Indian motorcycles, and ice-cold Vernors' ginger ale (5 cents per bottle) are among the images that once dotted the American roadside. These signs, now a part of the museum's "Automobile in American Life" exhibition, have been re-created for the American home. Sign wall hangings and decorative magnets are priced from $3.50 to $25.

- Cook books. Cook books offering accurately reproduced early American recipes (and accompanying homespun wisdom) are available for those with a culinary bent. One such offering is the Eagle Tavern Cook Book ($10.95), which features information on 19th-century life as well as recipes prepared at Greenfield Village's popular dining spot of the same name.

- Cross-stitch creations and embroidery art. Greenfield Village sites enjoyed by visitors have been captured in cross-stitch. Do-it-yourself kits include the pattern, backing, yarns and instructions for creating cross-stitch images of the Wright brothers' home, the historic Eagle Tavern, and other village buildings. Kits are $13.95 to $15.95.

For stitchers looking for a more historical perspective, reproduction samplers are available in kit or finished form. The finished samplers are stitch-by-stitch replicas of works in the museum's collections. The individually assembled kits are just as painstakingly accurate, containing background fabric and threads bleached or dyed to resemble the originals. Sampler kits are $7.50 to $34. Finished samplers are $145 to $780.

- Enamel eggs. The 18th-century art of enamelling on copper is practiced to create beautiful and colorful trinket boxes. Egg-shaped enamel boxes featuring designs adapted or interpreted from items in the museum's collections are $70 to $140.

- Model cars. Those who enjoy viewing the historic cars at Henry Ford Museum can now take many of their favorites home as scale-model replicas, available in a variety of materials and priced for every pocketbook.

For the car connoisseur who has everything, custom-made replicas can be made to order through the museum. Scale models of several vehicles in the collection can be fashioned of gold, silver, bronze and pewter. Additional touches, such as diamond headlights or ruby tail lights, are also available. Prices start at approximately $5,000.

For the collector who doesn't have everything yet, there's a book of 24 detachable postcards featuring vehicles from the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village collection. Among the cars depicted are Henry Ford's 1896 Quadricycle, a 1931 Bugatti Royale cabriolet and a 1963 Studebaker Avanti. The book of ready-to-mail postcards is $3.95.

Other auto-related items including individual postcards and greeting cards, models, model kits and coloring books are 50 cents to $35.

- Pewter tableware. The subtle beauty of pewter has appealed to Americans since colonial times. Now Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village offers a pewter tableware collection that combines traditional elegance with modern convenience.

All pieces are lead-free and suitable for food service or decoration. Candlestick holders, coffee and tea service pieces, bowls and porringers, serving platters, and other items are $15 to $140.

- Pottery. The elements of life, earth, air, fire, and water, come together to form one of the earliest human creations: pottery. Using traditional tools and techniques, modern artisans fashion clay into forms used in America centuries ago. Plates, bowls, mugs, casseroles, pitchers and other pieces for utilitarian and decorative use are $4 to $60.

- Primitive paintings. Primitive-style paintings based on seasonal activities at Greenfield Village make a wonderful gift to warm any house. Scenes of summer fun, fall harvest activity and winter's holiday joys are represented along with two views of spring: a wedding on the Village Green and view of bustling farm life. Lithograph prints are $30 unframed, $100 framed. The images are also available as note card sets for $3.95.

- Toys from simpler times. Today's kids can enjoy a variety of early American childhood treasures reproduced for sale in museum shops. A wooden hoop and stick or ball-and-cup toy can help youngsters develop coordination. Quill pens show children the challenge their great-grandparents met learning to write. Other items, such as tops and musical toys, give youngsters a feel for the play time of early American youth. Toys are $3 to $25.

Shoppers may gain access to the museum store without admission charge through The American Cafe entrance. Those who wish to visit Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village will find three stores filled with holiday delights from which to choose.

Floors are taking on a varied style of their own — from traditional carpeting and vinyl coverings to rich woods and painted cement. This Armstrong pattern in sky blue is called Moderne from the Vanguard Collection.

Floored Consumer choices span many options

(AP) — The sky is the limit when it comes to floor design these days — from "rugs" painted onto wood floors to faux marble to concrete.

Rules that set design choices for floors are crumbling, according to House Beautiful magazine, giving way to a nationwide movement to experiment, to try new materials, to embellish and mix surface treatments.

In Florida a local artist uses the wood floor as a canvas on which to paint a rug design with acrylics, sealed with non-yellowing polyurethane.

"It's new and it's fun," Palm Beach decorator Mimi Kemble McMakin said. "We no longer abide by the old rule that every floor must be covered. Rewriting the rules makes sense, too. In our climate the cooling system must be very efficient to prevent moisture from invading knotted and woven rugs and carpets."

Architect Duo Dickinson of Madison, Conn., sees many old wood floors freshened with painted rug designs or stencil patterns — traditional ideas he says are enjoying a renaissance in New England.

"In Arizona and California room additions, there are a great many wood floors colored with thinned paint," said architect Robby Reid of Tempe, Ariz. "In fact, we're seeing wood floors reintroduced for warmth — to balance harder surfaces like granite countertops and white plaster walls."

Architect Stephen Mead of Des Moines said in Iowa clients have become more receptive to wood floors in kitchens and breakfast areas.

"When we use wood flooring below wood cabinets in the kitchen," he said, "a fairly monochromatic background is created and the space seems larger to the eye."

ONE DESIGN swing spotted in California by Santa Monica decorator Nick Berman is a move away from bleached wood floors.

"People want richer color values," he said. "I now use a lot of mahogany on floors. Even bleached mahogany produces a rich tone."

Aiming for inexpensive elegance, Berman's latest floor inspiration is bare particleboard with crisscross mahogany inlays, coated in polyurethane.

Mixing woods can make the floor a distinctive design element.

"The approach can be enriched by laying in strips of metal, such as brass or aluminum, between floor boards," John Stern of Kentucky Wood Floors said.

Designers also are using strips of contrasting woods to delineate space — to outline a dining area or set apart a family-room corner for children's games. Many of the patterns produced with different shades of wood are available in prefabricated prepackaged units for remodelers.

"In the Southwest, the creative person's answer to tile is concrete," said Reid.

UNPOLISHED LIMESTONE tiles, a step up from concrete, are the rage in California entryways, according to Santa Ana designer Carole Eichen.

Brick floors are showing up frequently in sun rooms, family rooms, kitchens and entries. From all over the nation there is growing demand for marble and granite on entryway and bathroom floors.

"What may be growing in popularity at a faster pace are the new faux marbles, granites and slates," said Mead.

In yet another variation, inexpensive sisal rugs are painted to imitate an Aubusson.

In recent years, manufacturers have catered to do-it-yourselfers with sheet vinyl flooring, parquet wood flooring and both strip and plank wood floors.

'People want richer color values. I now use a lot of mahogany on floors. Even bleached mahogany produces a rich tone.'

Soviet rugs: hottest export since caviar, vodka

(AP) — Rugs from some of the more exotic republics of the USSR are available in the United States for the first time in decades.

The price of Soviet rugs is being jacked up by a 45 percent tariff left over from the Cold War, according to an article in Esquire magazine, but if the United States grants the Soviet Union most-favored-nation trade status, the punitive tariffs will disappear.

In spring 1990 the ABC carpet store of New York City worked out a deal with the Soviet Union's Novozexport to bring both antique and contemporary rugs here exclusively, but now a half dozen more outlets have been added around the country and if the tariffs are eliminated, the supply may swell.

These rugs come from Armenia, Azerbaijan, Turkmenistan and Dagestan, with strange powerful patterns in primal geometrics in colors such as oxblood and claret red, yellows that speak of diverse soils and terrains, and blues that reflect the sky.

The folks of these republics still tend to think of themselves as the nomadic tribes they once were.

Their rugs are among the finest in the world; their patterns are not unlike those tribal patterns we call Persian or Turkish. The Caucasus region of rug production is farther east than Turkey; Turkistan abuts Iran and Afghanistan.

ALL THESE places share a cultural ancestry that predates Muhammad and Marx and maybe even Moses. Rugs were accessories for tents, or yurts. Rugs and related weavings covered every available inch of the portable domicile — floors, walls and camel backpacks.

The stuff was as abundant as simulated wood grain on the interior of a Winnebago.

They also were a symbol of independence. The tribes who make the rugs are no respecters of borders.

The tribal patterns, transmitted by memory, are modified with individuality and spontaneity, conveniently modified to meet the tastes of the purchasers.

As long ago as the turn of the century, when French country furniture was all the rage among the Muscovite aristocracy, the weavers across the Urals worked modifications into their patterns to match the fashion.

There are two classes of these rugs. Those made before about 1920 were created by individuals using traditional organic dyes. Those made since, mostly by collectives, use the modern dyes that changed the products of the Navaho and Amish as well.

The antique rugs tend to be small and their complex patterns — intricate as calculus — make them collectibles much sought after by a handful of connoisseurs. Beginning at $500, they are still a bargain.

The modern rugs are less expensive, and they have been made larger in keeping with the expansion of living spaces — everywhere except in the Soviet Union.

In the republics these rugs are big business. The Azerbaijani collective of Azerkhalcha includes 13 factories and employs 3,000 or so women weavers.

Soviet president Mikhail Gorbachev, Phil Patton wrote in Esquire, needs all the hard currency these rugs could bring in so he can deliver steaks and stereos to his restive comrades.

Policies require uniform enforcement

Our co-op has a so-called traffic and safety policy that isn't being enforced on all members. Some members are being asked to pay a $25 fine for a second offense of parking more than two cars and the third offense will call for eviction proceedings. Is this possible when a policy is not enforced on everyone and board members change the policy when they themselves are noted for violations?

Simply put, no. The restriction, rule or policy must be enforced uniformly against all members. It cannot change depending on who is being prosecuted. Accordingly, it would appear that if the restriction was ever contested, you co-op's policy of unequal treatment would not stand the test. I would write the board and tell them about the problems you perceive in regard to the fine policies.

Can you tell me if the recent amendments to the Michigan Handicappers' Civil Rights Act apply to condominiums?

An employer under the Michigan Handicappers' Civil Rights Act is defined as a person who has one or more employees. An employee does not include an individual employed in domestic service of any person. Therefore, the Handicappers' Civil Rights Act would apply to a condominium association if it has one or more employees. The act is designed to provide the opportunity to obtain employment, housing and other real estate and full and equal utilization of public accommodations, public services and educational facilities without discrimination because of a handicap.

Please note that there is a specific provision in the condominium statute regarding modifications to the condo queries

Robert M. Melsner

common elements requested by a handicapped person, but that specific provision is exclusive of the rights guaranteed to handicappers under the Michigan Civil Rights Act.

My ex-husband and I are divorced but paid off a house on a land contract but still owe taxes. Now that we are divorced, we would like to know if we did not have the title recorded, do we own the house or do we have to wait until the taxes are paid? I want to sell my half of the house. How do I go about doing this? You will probably not be able to record the deed until the back taxes are paid. If the taxes are paid, presumably by getting half of the contribution of your ex-husband, get a deed from the land contract seller, ask them to make the deed to "Jane Smith and John Smith, tenants in common." If you got a deed, record it, and then do another deed from yourselves to yourselves as above and record that. I am assuming, of course, that the divorce judgment did not discuss the house.

Once you own the property as tenants in common, you are legally free to sell your half. Bear in mind, though that as a practical matter, it can be difficult to sell a one-half interest in real estate. Perhaps your ex-husband will join in the sale and you can split the proceeds. You should seek the advice of an attorney to protect your interests once you are clear as to your intent concerning the disposition of the property.

HOROSCOPE

December 30 through January 5

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Recent events have you in turmoil. Focus on what is most important. In just a few days, the past few weeks will be a blur.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Your powers of persuasion greatly influence those around you. Spend the weekend with someone special and tell them how much you care.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
An authority figure needs your support. Stand behind them and voice your support whenever you can, but be sure your priorities are in order.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Telling someone the truth may not be the best idea. There are times when a person is more open to criticism, and this is not one of those times.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
A sense of power enables you to complete tasks you never thought possible. Those who have been indifferent to you are coming around.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Small children can bring great joy into your life. Be cautious when dealing with strangers, especially concerning money matters.

By C.C. Clark

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
The past is exactly that, the past. Get on with life, and don't worry about what might have been. Don't let others' comments bring you down.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
A casual remark could bring disaster if you are not careful. Think before you speak, and make sure you are dealing with the right person.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Treat yourself to a night out on the town, or if that's not your style, curl up with a good book and let the rest of the world take care of itself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
This is a great week to sit down and make plans for the new year. Look at priorities and find out what is important in your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
If you've been thinking about changing something in your appearance, now is a good time. Those around you will be receptive to the change.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Let your mate know he or she could help around the house more. If you are single, this is a great time for meeting people.

STAR NOTES

Letterman knew radio or TV was in store

By Candace Havens

Although his show is aired an hour past most of our bedtimes, David Letterman is one of the nation's most popular entertainers. NBC's Late Night with David Letterman is a combination of sarcasm, irony and one-liners, served up by a good-natured host with a smile that would make the tooth fairy proud.

A native of Indianapolis, Ind., Letterman had wanted to be in television or radio most of his life. He majored in radio/TV at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind., and after graduation he got a job at Indianapolis' WLWI-TV. At different times, he was the host of a Saturday morning children's show, a weatherman, a news anchor and a late-night movie host. In 1975, after a year of hosting a radio talk show in Indianapolis, he moved to Los Angeles to pursue a comedy career.

His first network television exposure came on the brief CBS variety series Mary, starring Mary Tyler Moore. Subsequently, he was invited to be a guest on NBC's The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson, and he made his first appearance on that show Nov. 24, 1978. He has made a total of 21 guest appearances on that show and has been guest host 50 times.

In 1980, NBC hired him to host a morning comedy/variety, The David Letterman Show. The program only ran for three months, but it became the prototype for his late-night program.

Pat Morita stars in Choose Your Own Adventure: The Case of the Silk King, Sunday on NBC.

TIME OUT

Football bowls viewers over

By Steve Paschal

It happens every year. The battle lines are drawn over who is No. 1 in college football.

However, the controversy over which college football team should be anointed the finest in the land rages particularly strong in this season that has seen five different pretenders toppled from the heady heights of No. 1.

Someday in the foreseeable future, the traditional college bowls will be scrapped in favor of a playoff system. But until that time, the mythical national champion will continue to be crowned by a fickle combination of the country's coaches and sportswriters.

With bowl invitations being unofficially extended earlier and earlier each year, several of 10 bowls being aired by the three major networks ended up shooting themselves in the foot. However, at least three bowls should garner big numbers in the ratings game.

NBC has the big winner in the New Year's Day prime-time Orange Bowl game between top-ranked Colorado and Notre Dame, ranked fifth after two trips to the top of the polls. If the Irish knock off the Buffaloes, the winner of the CBS Cotton Bowl clash between No. 3 Texas and No. 4 Miami will have a legitimate claim to No. 1. A win by second-ranked Georgia Tech over Nebraska in the Citrus Bowl on ABC could further cloud the No. 1 debate.

Kim (Lisa Rieffel) must deal with her dad's remarriage on CBS' The Trials of Rosie O'Neill, Monday.

TUESDAY

U.S. Ice Dance Champions Joseph Druar and Susan Wynne join Walter Cronkite (center) for a holiday salute From Vienna: The New Year's Celebration 1991, Tuesday on PBS.

Cable Comments

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN
Executive Director,
SW Oakland Cable Comm.

Has the list of your New Year's resolutions finally wound itself around your feet? Now that 1991 is upon us, do you find yourself negotiating compromises with yourself on how many pounds you really play to lose (fifteen is much more realistic than 20, isn't it?) or on how you will stay at your job just a little while longer before you start to look for a new one? Well, as long as you're trying to get off to a good start, you should be applauded. Rome was not built in a day, after all.

There are lots of local cable chows this New Year's week that might help you bolster your dedication to your goals of being slimmer, smarter, better looking, successful and more tolerant of your kids, spouse and in-laws.

The exercise shows on our community channels are a testament to our collective American obsession with fitness. Whether you choose "Simply Aerobics" or "Body By You," both on Southfield Channel 35, "Body By Janis" on Channel 11, or "Southfield Body Shop" and "Southfield Body Shop Low Impact Aerobics," on Southfield Cable 8, you are bound to, if not whittle yourself down to a shadow of your former self, at least put some years on your life by pumping that old cholesterol out of those old arteries.

Young people aren't immune to the "start-over" fever the New Year inspires either, and the haunting specter of finances affect them, too, in the post-Holiday glow. This Thursday at 7:45 p.m. on "Southfield Students Ask," students find out how to make their money work for them, through smart money management. This will especially come in handy for those teens who spent $300 on designer labels this holiday (for themselves). This show is followed at 8:00 p.m. by "Explorations: Careers" which this week focuses on future careers in accounting (a career well-suited to the above-mentioned dollar-crazed kids, no doubt!). In this achievement-oriented society, it seems it's never too early for youngsters to map out their career-plan or to learn fiscal responsibility.

Southfield Cable 8 plans to get you in the right frame of mind, even before Father Time transmogrifies into the Baby New Year, with an inspirational program entitled "It's 4th Down and You Have a Lifetime To Go." The show features WXYZ Channel 7's human-interest reporter John Gross, who is perhaps best known for his "Athlete Of The Week" feature. Gross brings along a group of "special" people who have beaten the odds to become winners in all aspects of life, including a young man with cerebral palsy who has bicycled cross-country, a local musician who is deemed the "best guitarist in the United States," and a roller skating grandmother who has been Ms. Senior Michigan. Gross teaches his audience that nothing is impossible with perseverance. The show plays Monday, New Year's Eve, at 8:00 p.m.

If you're looking to find out how to peacefully integrate the demands of family, work and play this year, "Contemporama" on Local Origination Channel 11 may be just your ticket to the 90's. This weekly one hour video-magazine focuses on contemporary issues and lifestyles, including education, business and how-to health care. It plays Monday at 8:00 p.m., and Thursday at 9:00 p.m.

Also on Channel 11, those of you who have no more ambitious New Year project than to get in closer touch with your cable viewing, should tune in for "Cable Highlights." This week the show will present a forecast of what HBO has to offer in 1991. "Cable Highlights" can be seen Tuesday at 6:00 p.m., Thursday at 9:00 p.m. and Saturday at 7:00 p.m.

There are lots of things we can do to make our lives better and easier this year, and you may just get some ideas from a local cable program. And the great thing is, it's never too late to try, so when you miss those self-imposed goals, take a deep breath and start over again. My New Year's resolutions, you might ask? I'm not telling. That way, when I break them, no one will know but me.

THIS WEEK'S BEST BETS:

The sports-craze on local cable rages on, and not that the weather is chilly and you can't get out and toss around the football (baseball, basketball) yourself, you can live vicariously through coverage of community sports leagues. On Channel 11's "LO-11 Sports" this week, high school sports will be in the spotlight, Wednesday and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday's team names are yet to be announced. Sunday's game is basketball action between Oak Park High School at Southfield High.

What's more frightening than a six year old wielding a hockey stick? Not much that I can think of, but it also makes for some fun television, and that's why Southfield Cable 8 will bring you

"Dillinger" re-made for television

Mark Harmon and Sherilyn Fenn star

By Amy Schmidt

On the evening of July 22, 1934, John Dillinger went to the movies. He was 31 years old. He had been Public Enemy No. 1 for exactly one month. With his girlfriend, Polly, and her landlady, Anna — radiant in her red dress — he went to see Clark Gable in a gangster movie at the Biograph Theatre in Chicago. So the story went and so the story goes.

On Sunday, Jan. 6, ABC continues the Dillinger film legacy with the premiere of "Dillinger," starring Mark Harmon and screendom's heir apparent Sherilyn Fenn. The first made-for-TV movie on the subject, the film is a David L. Wolper production, produced by his son Mark.

Such is the clout of Wolper Productions that ABC asked them what kind of movie they had always wanted to do. (Wolper's long history of credits includes the beginning and ending ceremonies of the Olympics, "Roots" and "North and South.") "Dillinger" was their answer.

Why would anyone want to re-make a movie that has been done twice before? The first "Dillinger" was made in 1945 and starred Lawrence Tierney. (Film buffs will spot Tierney making a cameo appearance in this film.) The second starred Warren Oates in 1973.

Mark Wolper explained that what his company sought to do was create a film that was as historically correct as possible. He believes his "Dillinger" is the most accurate of the three. For example, contrary to popular belief, Polly Hamilton, Dillinger's girlfriend, was not "the woman in red" who fingered him for the FBI that fateful night. The handmaiden of history was a woman named Anna Sage, a disreputable immigrant who set up Dillinger in a deal to avoid deportation. (Hamilton is played by Patricia Arquette and Sage by Lucy Childs for the ABC movie.)

According to Wolper, this is the story: In the summer of 1933, John Dillinger was just another ex-convict released after having served a prison term for attempted robbery. A year later he was the most wanted man in America, with a series of flamboyant bank robberies and two jail breaks to his discredit.

It was Dillinger's arrogant style that made him an FBI target. He delighted in informing the press when federal agents blew an easy chance to catch him. So brazen was he, that he took one of his preferred ladies, Billie Frechette (Fenn), for a nearly public picnic at his father's family farm, inviting the neighbors to be photographed with the outlaw. Dillinger, as Wolper would have it, was actually a likeable character with many friends and supporters.

ABC's "Dillinger" was filmed in well-preserved areas of Milwaukee, Wis., resembling Chicago. Shooting a period film from 50 years ago was no easy task. The main problem, said Wolper, was eager Milwaukeeans in modern dress appearing on roofs and windows in the street scenes. Then there was the problem of telephone lines and freeways showing up in the shots.

Even so, Wolper says his film is extremely stylish, and that he and ABC are pleased. But you can be its judge.

Young actors didn't age as quickly as characters

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I am a big fan of One Life to Live, and I've been watching it since it first began. My question is this: What happened to the real Joey, Kevin and little Victoria? Were they not getting old enough fast enough for the show's pace? I miss the old Dorian Lord (Robin Strasser), but I've gotten used to the new one. Also, when is Viki ever going to get over this stroke? Will Niki be with us from now on? Thanks. — Michael W. Carter, McMinnville, Tenn.

Dear Michael: You were absolutely correct in thinking John Paul Learn, Ryan Jarvis and twins Janelle and Tamara DeMent were not aging quickly enough. Due to Viki's stroke storyline, the writers felt the children needed to age considerably in order to deal with their mother's illness. They were replaced by Matthew Vipond, Chris McKenna and Erin Torcy.

Dear Candace: A friend told me that the guy who plays Paige's boyfriend on Knots Landing is leaving the show. Is he really leaving? And I would like to know why, if he is. He's good-looking, and I'll be sorry to see him go. Thanks for the information. —Debbie T. in Tennessee

Dear Debbie: Joseph Gian (Tom Ryan, Knots) was written off the show so the writers could take Paige (Nicollette Sheridan) in another direction. It seems Paige will be a little more interested in the older man in her life — until someone better comes along.

Dear Candace: What a nice article you wrote about Peter Reckell! He is a great actor and one of my favorites on Days of Our Lives, the only soap I watch. But I am ashamed of the storyline any more. I think the writers are sick. Why can't they write a loving family story? Oh yes, they have lost a lot of super couples. It seems no one can be happy. I don't see how they can continue with all this.

On Friday, Nov. 23, 1990, the story was reminiscent of years past, which I enjoyed a lot. So, let's hope for better stories in the future. —A fan of the Super Couples, Guernsey, Ohio

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748.

Gregg Rainwater solves dispute over character's earring

By Polly Vonetes

Q: My sister and I need you to settle a bet on The Young Riders. The Indian character, Buck, wears an earring. I say those are teeth of some kind on the earring; my sister says they are bones. Who's right? Also, the series seems to be the most historically accurate and realistic western I've ever seen on TV. Has it won any awards? —Leta Bowers, Cibola, Texas

A: You are going to be sorry you ever asked about Gregg Rainwater's earring because, Leta, you lose. When I asked Gregg about his earrings, he chuckled and wanted to know what you had guessed they were. He then told me they are made from the vertebra of a rattlesnake. The Young Riders won an Emmy Award for its costuming, although it was nominated in several categories. The show was also honored with the American Western Heritage Award.

Q: Can you tell me how old Billy Mummy and Angela Cartwright were when they filmed Lost in Space and how old are they now? —Janet, Paterson, N.J.

A: Billy Mummy was born in 1954; he was 11 years old when he signed for the series Lost in Space. Angela Cartwright was born in 1952, she was 13 years old when the series began. The series premiered on Sept. 15, 1965, with its last telecast on Sept. 18, 1968. Their ages now are 36 and 38, respectively.

Q: Please give me the name of the actress who was with our dear Mary Martin in the late seventies in an incident in San Francisco. I shall indeed appreciate your answer. —Gladys Jackson, Atlanta, Texas

A: Janet Gaynor was the actress involved in the 1982 taxi accident with Mary Martin. Gaynor passed away in September, 1984. She had been in poor health since the accident.

Q: Can you please send me the addresses of Inside Edition and Life Goes On? Not too long ago, Inside Edition did a segment on artificial heart valves. I wasn't able to catch it all. Life Goes On holds a very special place in our family's heart. To us it is the best entertainment on TV. You see, on Sept. 13, 1989, our 6-year-old son who had Downs died. It was on Dec. 13, 1986 that an artificial heart valve was placed

A: Write to: Inside Edition, c/o King World, 1700 Broadway, New York, NY 10019, Life Goes On, c/o Warner Bros. Television, 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, CA 91522. Good luck in receiving the information you seek!

Q: Can you tell me if Regis and Kathie Lee are related? —Gladys Walser, Minnesota Lake, Minn.

A: Regis (Philbin) and Kathie Lee (Gifford) were born miles apart, in more ways than one. Regis was born in New York City. He is part Irish and part Italian. He is a graduate of Notre Dame and is one of their most illustrious and vociferous alumni. Kathie Lee was born Kathie Lee Epstein in Paris, France, where her dad was serving as a naval officer. At the tender age of 12, she declared herself a Christian after viewing a Billy Graham movie.

Q: How do we get to write to Willard Scott on NBC's Today Show? I have an aunt who will be 102 years old, and I would like to contact him. —Mrs. Harlan Hintze, Eagle Lake, Minn.

A: Write to: Willard Scott, c/o The Today Show, NBC Audience Relations, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10112.

FAMILY FAIRE

Parades, specials provide good fun

By Anne Wheeler

Families can gather around to spend the first morning of the New Year watching a variety of parades on TV.

All three networks will cover the Tournament of Roses Parade from Pasadena, Calif. With this year's theme of Fun 'n' Games, comedian Bob Newhart will serve as grand marshal. Prior to coverage of that event, CBS offers the Cotton Bowl Parade from Dallas, while NBC gives viewers a slice of the Sunkist Fiesta Bowl Parade with Willard Scott and Kelly Lang.

Of course, you and your family won't want to miss the King Orange Jamboree Parade, Monday, Dec. 31.

But parades are not the only shows for families to view this week. NBC marches in with Choose Your Own Adventure: The Case of the Silk King on Sunday, Dec. 30. Pat Morita (The Karate Kid), Charles Haid (Hill Street Blues), Soleil Moon Frye (Punky Brewster) and Chad Allen (My Two Dads) star.

On PBS, watch U.S. Ice Dance Champions Susan Wynne and Joseph Druar as they salute skating pioneer Jackson Haines. From Vienna: The New Year's Celebration 1991 airs Jan. 1. Dubbed "The Father of Figure Skating," Haines was the first person to combine music and dance with skating.
