Ducks Unlimited

The Domino's Pizza Chapter of Ducks Unlimited presents its annual dinner 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 25 at Domino's Farms. There will be auctions and raffles of original wildlife art, signed prints, autographs, sports memorabilia and hunting and sports gear. State Ducks Unlimited officials will draw the winner of the 1990 carving of the year. Refreshments will be served 6 p.m. For more information, call Gary Kelly, 930-3469 or Bill Range, 930-5727.

Snow removal

To comply with a city of Plymouth ordinance, residents should remove snow from sidewalks in front of their houses, said City Manager Gordon Jaeger, or they could be assessed a fee if city crews to do it for them. Shoveling snow makes for safer conditions and can protect residents from potential lawsuits, he said.

Dell'Orco benefit

Proceeds from a game played by the Detroit Red Wings Alumni and the Westland Over 40 All-Stars will go to the Dell'Orco family fund. Seven members of the Dell'Orco family died in a house fire Dec. 22.

The benefit hockey game, sponsored by Playball in Westland, is 6 p.m. Saturday, March 9, at the Westland Sports Arena, at Wildwood and Ford Road.

Advance tickets are available at Playball, 35253 W. Warren, Westland and Computer Connection, 44473 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. More information is available by calling Jim Reed, 455-2983.

More than $235,000 has been donated to the Dell'Orco fund.

Heaven on ice

The 1991 Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular kicks off at 2 p.m. Wednesday with the Celebrity Charity Carving Competition at The Gathering in Kellogg Park. The Fred Hill Haberdashery Drill Team performs at 3 p.m., with laser shows and international carvers' ethnic show to follow. See special section in today's paper for a complete schedule of events.

Ice sculptors rev up; fest starts Wednesday

Merchants plan special events, 2A

If the ice festival is near, can a thaw be far behind?

Let the (ice) chips fall where they may — the festival starts Wednesday.

One feature of this year's event is the shortened length — it's scheduled through just one weekend instead of two. But while the length has shrunk to six days, the festival name keeps growing.

Organizers call this year's festival "The Ninth Annual Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular."

Another feature of the 1991 ice festival is the presence of three sculptors from the Soviet Union, and three Winter World Championship carvers from Japan.

THE FESTIVAL has been gaining attention outside of the United States, said organizer Pam Kosteva.

Because the three Russian sculptors don't speak English, "We're arranging for translators to follow them around like shadows," she said. "Lots of restaurants have donated terrific meals for them," Kosteva said, adding that tours have also been scheduled.

On Sunday, 400,000 tons of ice were to begin arriving at the Kellogg Park festival site. Last week, Plymouth Department of Public Works crews set up cinder block stands around town used to display sculptures.

And the weather forecast? "I think December was so warm and then we had such a long period of rainy time that January is going to be fine," Kosteva said.

The National Weather Service predicts possible snow on both Tuesday and Wednesday, with highs in the mid-30s and lows in the 20s — a good start for the festival, if the forecast holds true.

Festival organizers have scheduled several melt-proof events for this year's festival, including nightly laser light shows and a Detroit Red Wings old-timers game for 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Festival organizers have scheduled several melt-proof events for this year's festival, including nightly laser light shows and a Detroit Red Wings old-timers game for 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

DURING THE Jan. 16-21 festival, Main Street between Penniman and Ann Arbor Trail will be closed to traffic, but access to westbound Penniman from southbound Main will be allowed. "This will allow access to the front of the post office on Penniman from traffic traveling south on Main Street," said Paul Sincock, assistant city manager.

A public ice skating rink will be set in the closed area of Main. Sincock said the city police department could order additional street closings, depending on crowd size and traffic conditions.

The festival kicks off Wednesday with a celebrity carving competition at 2 p.m., the Fred Hill Haberdashery drill team at 3 p.m., the laser show in Kellogg Park at 6:30 p.m., an international carvers-ethnic show at 7 p.m., and a second laser show at 9 p.m.

Shoppers are invited to pick up a free passport to the "Land of Shimmering Beauty," to have stamped by merchants. Prizes offered to passport holders include a trip for two to the Caribbean.

Organizers predict 400,000 spectators will attend.

Downtown improvements to cost nearly $5 million

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The downtown street-scape improvement plan will cost between $4 million and $5 million, Downtown Development Authority members were told Thursday.

City Manager Gordon Jaeger directed city Finance Director William Graham to start putting together bond issues seeking both $4 million and $5 million to raise money to pay for the project, which DDA members said they hope will begin this year.

And so begins the first steps toward implementing the architect's plan accepted by the authority last fall. Authority members say it could revitalize downtown business and benefit the city as similar plans have Area Arab-Americans bristle at FBI probe, loyalty question

By Wayne Peal
staff writers

Metro Detroit's Arab-American residents say they are caught between colliding worlds as war in the Persian Gulf appears imminent.

Their loyalty, they say, is strictly with the United States.

FBI questioning is a sore spot even with the most moderate Arab-Americans.

"To single out any one group is wrong," said Westland businessman Sid Shaheen. "We don't want to have happen to us what happened to Japanese Americans."

Terry Ahwal, a Livonia woman long active with the American Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee, who has discussed the issue with area FBI representatives, said she was told the controversy stemmed from a "media mix up."

"My feeling, though, is that's their policy — that Arab-Americans should be scrutinized," she said. "What they're doing is saying to people who already hate Arabs that it's safe to harm Arabs."

Detroit-area Jews also voiced concern about the FBI interviews.

"While we fully support the need to maintain domestic security, we are concerned that an open-ended government plan to interview leaders of the American Arabic community may have a negative impact on the greater community's perception of Arab-Americans," Paul D. Borman, president of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Detroit, said in a statement.

At the very least, questioning of Arab-Americans has had a chilling effect on discussion of Middle Eastern events.

"Many of our people don't want to talk (to the press)," said the Rev. George Shalhoub of St. Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church, Livonia.

"The feeling is that any statement could be misinterpreted."

FBI officials failed to return Observer & Eccentric telephone calls asking for comment on the policy of questioning Arab-Americans about potential terrorist activities.

Hai Helterhoff, head of FBI operations in Michigan, told the Associated Press that intelligence-gathering activities weren't meant to harass Arab-Americans. At the same time, he urged Arab-Americans to report any instance of harassment or ethnic intimidation to the FBI.

The hearts of Arab-Americans are also with relatives and loved ones in the Middle East — including those Don Van Landingham, bartender at the VFW Hall on Mill, says there'd be no Iraq if he were president.

War talk fires up range of opinions

By M.B. Dillon

"If I was president, there wouldn't be an Iraq. It's that simple," said Don Van Landingham, as he tended bar at the VFW Hall on Mill Street.

John Van Hotten, a Korean War Marine veteran from Plymouth Township, said "we should blow 'em out of there. I'm afraid they're going to get us before the 15th."

Van Hotten added that the peace efforts under way on some college campuses "are a good way to break morale."

Mike Gallmeir, who fought in Vietnam in 1966-67, talked about Americans' attitudes.

"People think that if we go to war, it's going to be over in a few weeks. They're thinking it's a video game war. It won't be a quick war. We're not invading an island of 30 or 40 square miles. This is a country a third the size of the United States."

"If they have a war, we're going to lose 10,000 men and women to every 100,000 of theirs," he added. "It's going to be a sad situation. You're going to see a lot of men and women get killed."

Ice carvers won't be the only ones exercising their creativity during the 9th Annual Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular.

Walk around town and you'll see everything from ham radio operators in Little Professor's windows to snowballs in Fred Hill's, and a Japanese New Year's display at the Plymouth Antique Emporium.

Dick Hill, liaison officer for the Plymouth-based Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society, said, "We'll be operating as a special events station from the Plymouth Ice Spectacular. It's our club's 30th anniversary, and the ninth anniversary of the ice fest.

If atmospheric conditions are right and the federal government doesn't impose restrictions because of the Persian Gulf Crisis, it's possible radio operators could contact Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, he said.

"If conditions are good, the world is open," said Hill, who's contacted people in Antarctica, Russia, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait in the past.

Shortwave radio operators will be at Little Professor's on the Park from 8 p.m.-10 p.m. Friday, from 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Saturday, and from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Sunday.

"We've already made up certificates for anyone that wants one who contacts us on the air. It's a certificate they can have."

SUNDAY AT LITTLE Professor, newly published author Shelly Thacker will sign copies of her historical romance, "Falcon on the Wind," from noon until 1:30 p.m.

One of six national finalists in the 1989 Romance Writers of America Golden Heart competition, "Falcon on the Wind" sells at Little Professor for $3.95.

Compliments of the Japanese Cultural Exchange Group, a Japanese New Year's display will grace the windows of Plymouth Antique Emporium on Penniman.

The exchange group also is featuring a presentation of traditional Nihonbashi dancing and Koto music, which is played on Japanese stringed instruments in Kellogg Park.

Presentations, by dancer Yukiko Uchiyama and musician Pomoyo Koehler, are scheduled for 4 p.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and 4 p.m.-5 p.m. Sunday in the bandshell, to be heated for the occasion.

The exchange group, which draws heavily from Plymouth-Canton, is affiliated with the Japanese School of Detroit.

Again this year, shoppers can take a chance at a weekend for two in Cancun, Mexico by picking up a "Passport" in any participating store downtown or in Old Village.

"People can get it stamped in any store, and purchase is not required," said Pam Kosteva, executive director of the ice festival.

Shoppers who get stamps at all nine stores will be eligible to win the trip, donated by Thomas Cook Travel and Continental Airlines.

The winner will be announced at 4 p.m. Monday, Jan. 21 in Kellogg Park.

Del's Clothing and Shoes will again this year be transformed into an ice festival photo gallery.

"Every year we've taken pictures of all the sculptures, put them in frames and displayed them inside the store as a gallery," said Del Black.

"We've done it each year from the time they started till now. We'll go out this year as soon as the sculptures are done and have them developed.

"We have quite a room full, and we even have the original newspaper articles displayed."

AT NATIVE WEST, a new store on Ann Arbor Trail that sells American southwest art, the owners thought about having an artist-in-residence during the festival.

"We decided it gets too crazy. It's like a circus sideshow," said owner Becky Dodson, who instead is featuring the work of two renowned Navajo sand painters during the ice festival.

"It's difficult to get someone to go through that. We'll have a large selection of Navajo sand paintings in preparation for a show in March when we'll have a sand painter here from Farmington, N.M.

Dodson said Native West is focusing on sand paintings because "they've gotten a real positive response to them. People have been real intrigued."

In the Navajo culture, sand paintings served an important function," said Dodson. "Sand paintings would be crafted on a floor around someone or next to someone who was having a problem or illness. After the ceremony, they would scoop it up and all this exquisite, intricate work would be tossed into the wind so it would do away with any evil forces." Permanent sand paintings have only been done for 25 years, she said.

Prices start at $12, with the majority of paintings in the $20-$40 range.

"A Snowball's Chance" contest is on tap at Fred Hill's stores.

"At the men's store, we're taking one of our windows and filling it with snowballs that are really white balloons." One-hundred dollar gift certificates will be awarded to the three people who come closest to guessing the number of snowballs in the window. Winners will be announced Jan. 24th.

"The Great Meltdown" will be staged at Me and Mr. Jones.

"We're going to take half of one of the blocks they use to carve and let it sit in the window. You'll have to guess when it will be completely melted." Three $200 gift certificates will go to the winners. We'll start it on Thursday," said Hill.

The "Great Flakes Contest" will be on held at Mr. and Mrs. Jones Petite. You guessed it — the three people who come closest to guessing the number of snowflakes strung on garlands in the window will receive $100 gift certificates.

Shoppers will be treated to videos of Fred Hill's briefcase drill team marching in the Thanksgiving Day Parade and the Freedom Festival and in a recently filmed commercial.

At Paper Parade on Ann Arbor Trail, there'll be a "Pick Your Percent Off Sale" and grab-bags for children.

Shoppers can choose a card from a hat full of cards reading 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 percent off, good for everything except special orders. Grab-bags, for kids aged 12 and under, will be filled with stickers, pens, pencils and other goodies.

Thief damages car in dealer lot

A thief made off late Tuesday or early Wednesday with a compact disc player and stereo radio housed in a 1991 Cadillac parked in Don Massey Cadillac's south lot, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The equipment is worth $800, and $350 in damage was reported to the car, parked in the lot off Ann Arbor Road, the report continued. The theft was discovered at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

CHAIN SAW STOLEN: A chain saw and other tools were discovered missing Tuesday from a garage on South Burning Tree Lane near Beck Road, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The items, including a Sacs Dolmar chain saw, were valued at around $1,000. The theft, from the open garage, was discovered at 10 a.m., according to the police report.

SNOW BLOWER GONE: A red Toro snow blower turned up missing Wednesday from a garage on Mayflower near Erik Pass, according to a report filed with township police.

The snow blower, model number 38175, was valued at more than $400. The owner said he discovered the theft at 6:20 a.m., then noticed footprints in the snow near his garage.

BIG MAC ATTACK: A 26-year-old Toledo woman stopped a Plymouth police officer at McDonald's on Ann Arbor Road to report her purse had been stolen from the fast food restaurant about 8 p.m. Thursday.

Her Liz Claiborne bag, matching wallet and contents were valued at $120.

The purse also contained 10 or 12 charge cards, a check book, and paychecks in the amounts of $613 and $165.

The woman told police she ate at the restaurant and left, forgetting her purse. By the time she returned five minutes later, it was gone. The manager said no one had turned in a purse.

The woman's husband and the police officer searched the parking lot with negative results.

Improvements priced

revived downtowns in Northville and Rochester.

Architect Kent Anderson of the firm Shervish Vogel Merz said construction should begin along Ann Arbor Trail from Harvey to Main and Main from Penniman to just past the Mayflower Hotel.

"It seems like a ground-breaker for this year," authority member David Pugh said.

City officials estimate it could take three or four years to finish the street-scape renovations.

The cost for improvements to various parking areas won't be determined until the city can determine the contribution from private owners of portions of those parking areas, Jaeger said.

Anderson suggested splitting development in the downtown development district into four phases:

Phase I, along Ann Arbor Trail and Main; Phase II, along Penniman; Phase III, along Harvey; and Phase IV, along Harvey and Wing.

The authority on Thursday hired Shervish Vogel Merz to begin preparing construction drawings "you can use to take to bid," Jaeger said.

The architectural firm on Thursday presented cost estimates for various parts of the project, based on costs of typical materials that can be used in the street-scape plan.

For example, in the Ann Arbor Trail-Main Street phase of the project, standard city curbs would cost $40,800, while decorative 6-inch curbs would cost $100,000.

Brick work in that phase would cost an estimated $267,000 according to the costs presented to the authority, landscaping $70,200, benches and garbage cans $19,600.

Unemployment rates steady

Unemployment rates are holding steady in Plymouth, and falling slightly in Plymouth Township and Canton, according to the most recent figures released by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The rate in the city of Plymouth was 3.1 percent in November, the same as the 3.1 percent figure reported in October.

Unemployment in Plymouth Township fell from 3.6 percent in October to 3.5 percent in November. It fell in Canton from 4.3 percent to 4.1 percent, according to MESC figures.

Compared to November 1989, unemployment rose throughout Plymouth-Canton, from 3.8 percent to 4.1 percent in Canton; 3.2 percent to 3.5 percent in Plymouth Township; and 2.8 percent to 3.1 percent in Plymouth.

Thomas Malek, MESC deputy director, said there were seasonal employment gains among state and local schools and colleges, and in local retail trade and service establishments.

"While education, experienced typical hiring increases, the retail gains were somewhat below last year's level," Malek said. "Yet the employment increases were large enough to offset job losses in the recreation and construction industries."

Unemployment rates dropped in eight of Michigan's 12 major labor market areas in November. The state's jobless rate held steady at 7.2 percent from October to November, the most recent period studied by the MESC.

City workers get raises

The city of Plymouth's 31 non-union employees are getting raises averaging nearly 6 percent this year, following a Michigan Municipal League review of city job classifications.

The raises will cost the city $42,000 this fiscal year — an amount already set aside in anticipation of the review.

"The plan includes a proposed pay grade and salary range for each of these positions based upon comparable positions and duties in other municipalities," according to the resolution approved by city commissioners on Monday.

City Manager Gordon Jaeger said that of the city's non-union employees — mostly clerical and department heads — 12 last got raises in April, while the remainder last got raises in July 1989.

The percentage raise per employee ranged from 2.2 to 18 percent, with several getting raises to bring them up to an entry level salary for their position, as compared to salaries paid to workers in comparable municipal government jobs in other communities.

When fighter pilots rev up their engines in Saudi Arabia they'll have a little bit of Canton with them.

That's because Moeller Manufacturing of Canton makes jet engine parts for the F-15 Eagle, F-14 Tomcat, F-16 Falcon, F-18 Hornet and F-119 Stealth in its plant on Michigan Avenue.

"THERE WAS AN expedited delivery for Desert Shield parts that they needed in the Middle East, and we have supplied them with those," said James Glynn, Moeller sales manager.

"We're just a sub-contractor to jet engines manufacturers," he said. Glynn said he noticed Desert Shield contracts through Aeroquip Corporation, in Jackson.

Since Moeller has a defense contract, if an emergency government contract comes through it supersedes everything else, Glynn said.

"The United States government has the right to tell us to stop everything and tell us to build those parts," Glynn said. "We have not been approached to do that, but we would cooperate."

An emergency order would disrupt Moeller activities, because other work orders would be postponed.

"BUT WE WOULD do everything possible to support any effort in the Middle East," he added.

A lot of the times employees don't know whether an order is commercial or from the United States government.

He said, however, that there isn't a significant increase in business because of the Persian Gulf crisis. "In fact it's the opposite," Glynn said.

General Electric and Pratt and Whitney are the two jet engine manufacturers supplying U.S. jets for the Middle East crisis.

Moeller employees work with General Electric design specialists. Glynn noted that workers involved with military contracts must keep some information confidential.

"We would have information that is not public," he said. "I'm not going to say it's secret, but there are things that we don't advertise."

A Moeller subsidiary, Moeller Punch, is in Livonia.

War threat inspires varied opinions rine flyer in training, said, "I guess the biggest thing is the ladies who joined the reserves to make a few bucks. In their wildest dreams they never thought they'd be in Saudi. But they're there, they have a couple of kids, and their husbands are home."

Said Arka Shanks, who teaches photography at Plymouth-Canton High School, "In war, there are no winners. I guess I have a concern that there is such a diversity of opinion among Americans as to whether in fact we should be involved.

"I'm diametrically opposed to war. Personally, I can't say in this situation if it applies, I just don't think it solves problems."

But rather than question why we're there, "the U.S. is going to war to teach them a lesson, because they're not in agreement with what we think should be their position. That's manipulation," Shanks said.

MAJOR WILLIAM STAPLETON, a local businessman in the Army Corps of Engineers Reserve, presented another viewpoint to sixth-graders at Central Middle School Friday.

Stapleton was home on a two-day leave from Ft. McCoy in Wisconsin where he is training, outfitting and deploying troops to Saudi Arabia.

When he asked students why they think the U.S. is in Saudi Arabia, he heard answers like, "Because Saddam Hussein won't give us oil," "To defend Kuwait" and to "get Hussein out of Kuwait."

"He called us last Sunday from Saudi. He wants to come home. He says there's nothing but sand; he'll never go to another beach for the rest of his life."

The family constantly watches the TV news channels for information. "We feel that we have no business being there right now," Karen Sammut said. "That's not our country — Let them work it out."

Because Iraq invaded Kuwait, Kuwaitis have lost freedoms we enjoy. "I think we are there because Kuwait asked us to help them get their freedoms back," said Stapleton, who for eight years recruited in Michigan for the United States Military Academy at West Point, NY.

"We have enough oil in the ground to operate for 800 days in the southern U.S. Oil is what we'd like, but we don't need it. I submit to you we are over there to protect the freedoms of others.

"We've always helped when others have asked us," he said. "We aren't always successful, but we are always there to help."

Stapleton added that simply by recognizing the role of religion plays in the conflict, today's situation may have been avoided.

HUSSEIN IS Iraq's religious leader — not an elected, political leader. "Over there, these countries are governed by religion. Saddam Hussein is the religious leader of Iraq and governs the country based on religion."

Perhaps something as simple as referring to the Americans and others held against their will in Iraq as "martyrs" instead of hostages would have helped resolve the conflict.

"Maybe he wouldn't have kept them, or kept them as long. And maybe we would be closer to a settlement today," Stapleton said.

"So often we as the U.S. tell other countries what we want them to do. Because we are so powerful and big we fail to learn enough about them and their backgrounds to talk to them in terms they can understand."

Stapleton said that's a lesson that can be applied to everyday life. "As you try to settle problems in life, put yourself in the other guy's shoes and look at problems from their side of the fence. That's the way we solve problems."

Dan Shumate of Canton is a disabled Vietnam veteran.

"I've got mixed feelings," he said.

"I don't think we should be waging a war. I think we kind of make up our reasons to justify our typical old reaction to a bad guy. This fits right in with our history of intervention in all kinds of places all over the world."

"I just think the consequences, even after a war, would be very bad. The Arab world would be very destabilized, and I think it would renew more terrorism worldwide," said Shumate, who suffered a spinal injury after stepping on a land mine. He suffers from related health problems and walks with a cane.

"I don't think we should always take it upon ourselves to be the one that carries the crusade. But if we intervene, I would always support the soldiers whatever happens."

While contemplating "having another generation of potential disabled veterans, people should be aware that just recently, in the last budget, Congress gave cost-of-living adjustments to social security recipients and I believe military retirees," said Shumate, a taxi driver who is married with four children.

Families on edge

Nearing deadline worries those at home

By Kevin Brown and Diane Gale
staff writers

Families of Plymouth-Canton men and women stationed in Saudi Arabia were on edge last week, as the United Nations set Tuesday deadline for Iraq to leave Kuwait neared.

Mary Jane Phillips, of Plymouth, said her son Peter R. Phillips, who is stationed in Fort Riley Kansas, is preparing to go to Saudi Arabia.

He married Cheri Lynn on Dec. 1 in Kansas after changing the wedding date six times, "because of good old Hussein," Mary Jane Phillips said.

"I'm watching President Bush right now and I feel we're going to end up in war, and I'm wondering at what cost," she said. "And of course Vietnam is very prominent in my mind, and I certainly don't want another Vietnam. I have a son going and he flies helicopters."

"I hate it," said Lou Ann Smith, of Plymouth Township. Her son Lance

Cpl. Michael J. Smith, "was one of the first ones over there."

"I just hate that there might be a war," she said, adding, "I'm thinking with my heart and not my head."

Smith said she last talked to her son New Year's Day. "He sounded pretty calm and upbeat — I wonder if they really know what's going on," she said.

"You're talking to the wife of a retired major," said Ina Ringes, of Canton.

Her husband Maj. Gerald J. Ringes served in Vietnam. The couple's son Joseph Ringes, 24, is serving in Saudi Arabia.

"I wish he wasn't there, just like I didn't want my husband in Vietnam, but he was there and Robert's in the service," Ina Ringes said. "He's there for this country and I hope he comes home real soon."

But she wasn't confident that he would be returning home soon.

"I was hoping and praying that the talks would take care of it, I should be used to it, like everyone else," she said.

One difference between Vietnam and service people in Saudi Arabia is that today military spouses have support groups, Ina Ringes said. "No one supported us during Vietnam, but what can you do," she added.

Marine Pvt. 1st Class Dax Sammut, 19, of Plymouth Township married just six days before he shipped out to Saudi on Dec. 15. His mother Karen Sammut said Friday, "We hope nothing happens — We hope they don't go to war."

"He called us last Sunday from Saudi. He wants to come home. He says there's nothing but sand; he'll never go to another beach for the rest of his life."

The family constantly watches the TV news channels for information. "We feel that we have no business being there right now," Karen Sammut said. "That's not our country — Let them work it out."

Church addition OK'd

Plymouth's largest church won approval Wednesday for a two-story addition, as planning commissioners voted 5-4 to allow it.

Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, 1160 Penniman, won approval for the addition to the church school, despite the objections of some neighbors.

Dorothy Lyons, church pastoral associate, said, "We're just delighted; a little road-weary but very pleased after a very long journey."

In recent months, several neighbors of the church opposed the addition, saying it would add to traffic near the church. Other neighbors told planning commissioners they backed the addition.

Planning Commissioner David Pugh, who voted for the addition, said, "I do not envision the Catholic church letting this out for a hall." Some neighbors said they feared late-evening use of the addition.

Saying the addition would not add significantly to the existing traffic generated by the church, Pugh said, "It should not have been rejected on the basis of an existing nuisance factor."

Lyons said the church has yet to seek construction bids and that no start-up date has been set.

The two-story addition will include a partial basement. Plans call for classrooms and offices on the first floor, and two school assembly halls and large kitchen facilities on the second floor.

The church counts 2,400 families as members and has a school enrollment of 600 students in grades one through eight.

California cat

Cougar found in Plymouth sent west

By Amy Rosa
staff writer

A pet cougar found in Plymouth in June was flown to a California wildlife retreat Friday along with two other cougars confiscated by the Michigan Humane Society.

The 11-month-old cougar named "Everett" was found caged in the back of a pick-up truck in Plymouth and it was confiscated by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Another illegally-kept cougar, nicknamed "Mercury" by humane society employees, was found by a Troy family in October when it wandered into their garage on Limerick Lane.

Family members were initially wary of the animal, but soon discovered its affectionate and playful side. The family and police played with the cat for a couple of hours before it was turned over to the MHS.

The third cougar, "Kimba," aged 6 months, was confiscated in July by Detroit Animal Control.

None of the cats could be returned to their owners, because Michigan law prohibits private ownership of exotic and endangered animals. All three cougars remained at the Rochester Hills humane society facility while officials secured the necessary permits to admit them to California.

Friday morning they were flown courtesy of Northwest Airlines to a Wildlife Way Station housing about 1,100 exotic animals.

"JUST YESTERDAY Northwest said they'd do it," said MHS executive director Gary Tiscornia Thursday. "It's a good thing, because the only other alternative really was euthanasia."

Because all three cougars have been declawed, they can never be rehabilitated and released into the wild, said Tiscornia, who bemoaned the fact that many people in the state ignore the exotic pet law.

MHS pushed for the September 1989 law that made illegal private ownership of exotic and endangered animals, said Tiscornia, "because the animal is always the loser." Anyone owning such a pet prior to the law's enactment has been grandfathered in and allowed to keep their animal.

Tiscornia said the cougar has become a popular pet and "status symbol" of sorts in recent years, but that owners don't really know what they're getting into when they buy one.

"When they become adults they can be very difficult to handle," he explained. "As a kitten Everett was the cutest, cuddliest cat, and liked to play and play — he was just a delight. But they don't realize their own strength as they get older."

The humane society shelter has had "no official contact with" any of the families who owned the cougars, said Tiscornia, who added that one family was very upset at the confiscation. He said he did not know who the family was or which cougar they owned.

WHILE THESE were the first cougars brought to a humane society shelter, officials have received other exotic and endangered animals, including a chimpanzee seized on a cruelty case, a caiman (a four-foot alligator-like reptile) and a coati-mundi (a South American animal, similar to the racoon, only with a long snout and ring tail). The "exotics," as they're called, were all sent to refuges out of state, with the exception of the caiman, which was placed in a Detroit area facility for the purposes of education.

Tiscornia said animals like these are often ordered through "highlife" magazines like "The Robb Report," where everything from "yachts, classic autos, cougars, miniature horses" and other exotics are advertised in the classified section.

In Michigan's Upper Peninsula, he added, the exotic animal of choice is the Arctic fox, which is bred on farms and sold elsewhere. The rule of thumb in determining what's exotic, said Tiscornia, is "anything that's not domestic."

Pickup truck kills hitchhiker

By Diane Gale staff writer

A 33-year-old Romulus woman, who was hitchhiking in the middle of the road on Michigan Avenue in Canton, was struck and killed by an off-duty Novi police officer Wednesday.

Sherry Jean Porter was hitchhiking at about 11:45 p.m. in the middle of the right eastbound lane east of Canton Center Road when she was struck by a 1979 Ford pickup truck driven by Phillip Crandell Schoen, 44, Canton police said.

Schoen, a Westland resident, will not be charged in connection with the accident, said Canton police information officer Pat Nemecek.

Schoen, a sergeant with the Novi police department, has been an officer for 17 years, Novi police Lt. Thomas Hesse said.

SCHOEN SAID Friday that he took time off work because he needed to think about what happened and to "try and calm down."

Schoen knew that charges would not be filed, he said. However, he wanted to talk to Canton police to gain more information about the woman and the accident, he said.

"I'm trying to deal with it, although there was absolutely nothing I could have done," Schoen said.

"All this took place in a micro-second, but basically she was standing in the roadway when I tried to take my evasive action. I didn't have a chance to veer. It was a matter of slamming on the brakes and that wasn't sufficient."

THE WOMAN had been struck by vehicles twice in the past, police said.

A witness told police he saw Porter in the road, thought he recognized her and turned around to give her a ride.

"But it was too late, because the truck had hit her," Nemecek said. Porter was pronounced dead at Annapolis Hospital.

THE SPEED limit on Michigan Avenue is 50 mph. The road is unlit and traffic travels in two lanes in each direction.

Twelve people died on Canton roads in 1990. Five of those deaths resulted from accidents on Michigan Avenue.

A traffic study shows that the state highway will need to be widened and improved west of I-275 as the Michigan Avenue industrial corridor is developed and generates more traffic, Canton engineer Tom Casari said last November.

Letter was off base

To the editor:
Yes, Mr. Nastoff, there is a Santa Claus.

In response to your letter to the editor which appeared in the Plymouth Observer on Jan. 7, you sound like the grinch that stole Christmas.

Please be assured that I carefully review every letter you send to me and, in the past, have appreciated many of your constructive comments as well as some compliments. I have also listened intently on the occasion of your presentations during the citizen comments portion of the city commission meetings. Some of your suggestions are good and have been followed up by the administration.

However, your comments evidently directed at me in your epistle to the newspaper were totally off base and erroneous. You seemed to intimate that I was attempting to stifle public comment during my comments on the preservation of Mettetal Airport agenda item. On the contrary, my comments were exactly the opposite. My intent was to support the opportunity for all to speak on the issue without being threatened or intimidated by others in the audience. My comments were directed at those individuals — from both within and outside our community — who were interrupting, making snide remarks, being unruly, being totally disruptive, and in other ways being rude to the speaker. I was protecting the rights of those to speak both for and against the issue being discussed.

A review of the record and the minutes of the meeting support the fact that my comments were in support of those who wanted to speak — without threats or intimidation — and against those who were being rude.

The same thing had occurred a few weeks ago on the Roe Street apartments issue (I supported your position re that controversy) and I almost said something about the un-ruliness at that time. Remember, these are commission meetings and not an open house or town meeting and audience participants should conduct themselves accordingly.

Another commission watcher who has been sitting in on the monthly commission meetings a lot longer than you (20 years as a matter of fact) was kind enough to send me a letter before yours hit the paper. He was in the row right behind you. Here is what he said:

"I am proud of you. I thought your remarks Monday night were appropriate and well delivered. It is my observation that sometimes an audience needs to be 'lectured,' especially when some of its members are overly emotional and unfair."

You see, Mr. Nastoff someone else heard my remarks and clearly understood what I was saying.

You can be assured that I will not be a "weeping violet" and stand idly by while someone swears in front of a lady, smokes in a non-smokers area, or is rude to someone else who is trying to speak. Yes, Mr. Nastoff, there is a Santa Claus.

Change a disaster for Plymouth

To the editor:

I think it would be a disaster to change Downtown Plymouth. I think the drawing card is the quaintness and small town feeling when you come into Plymouth.

It was 22 years ago when we were able to purchase our first home and Plymouth was not in our budget but we chose the City of Wayne because it also offered the small town atmosphere and cozy feeling especially in its downtown district. Needless to say, Wayne made renovations and split Michigan Avenue to tear down the downtown district. They are now trying to find a way to make their district appealing again.

It's been three years since we've moved to our dream home in Plymouth. We again feel comfortable in the small town atmosphere and hope the same mistake is not made in Plymouth.

If new shops and types of stores are in demand, you should look outside the Downtown Plymouth area to build.

Legislator unhappy with gun bill story

To the editor:

Your Dec. 10 article regarding gun control seriously misrepresented my position as well as that of many of my colleagues. The article would lead the reader to believe that on the same day I called a procedure disgusting (and I was referring to the House, not the Senate, as your article states), I voted for the bill anyway. That is simply not true.

I have always opposed local pre-emption laws generally and gun pre-emption laws specifically. When House Bill 5437 first came before the House a week before the scenario described in your article, I had several amendments ready. At that point, when the NRA realized it was losing, a deal was struck that maintained 5437, but tied it to bills with the best gun laws we could ever get, including background checks, quality training, etc.

The deal fell apart in the Senate. The bills requiring training were seriously diluted, but the Senate rescinded changes in House Bill 5437, meaning that the House could not vote again on the issue. That trapped many of us and it was disgusting that the House remained in session three hours beyond its proposed adjournment only to cater to the NRA.

The "yes" votes you listed were taken from a session days earlier than the events the article described. Many of those votes would have changed, given the opportunity.

I also sent a letter to the governor, requesting that he veto the bill.

Marathon made 1990 memorable

WHEN Maggy Higgins was 10, her parents took her and the rest of their children to Ireland to meet their grandparents for the first time. Irish-born John and Bridget Higgins were glad they did. Within two years, all four grandparents were gone.

Two weeks into their monthlong trip in 1960, a frugal young Maggy had won her father's favor, managing to hang on to every penny of the hard-earned $40 in spending money she'd brought along.

But one night while the family was en route to visit friends in Dublin, Maggy forgot her little white Easter purse — and the $40 — on a city bus.

A distraught Maggy told her dad, who instructed the family to wait for him on the corner; he'd be right back. Higgins hopped buses until he found the purse. The money had been taken, but he replaced it and returned the purse to his relieved little girl.

Years later, Maggy realized what her father had done. It occurred to her that the bills in her recovered purse were in denominations different from the stolen bills.

John Patrick Higgins of Waterford, a realtor and model maker retired from General Motors, died in 1987 of a heart attack at the age of 72. Since then, Pontiac resident Maggy Higgins Zidar — an English teacher at Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School and an accomplished runner — has worked to keep his memory alive.

Each year, she and her family award the John Patrick Higgins Memorial Scholarship to a college-bound Lahser student. Candidates are asked to include in their application a few paragraphs about one family member who has made a difference in their lives.

IN 1988, WEARING a singlet and shorts bearing the words "John Higgins daughter" and an American Heart Association logo, Maggy was among the top Michigan women to finish the Boston Marathon.

The veteran marathoner raised pledges totaling more than $1,000 in her dad's name for the Heart Association.

She followed up in 1989 with four marathons, including a personal best of 3:20 in South Bend; her first triathlon; 109 races and 10 personal bests in 10 different distances.

To complete her personal "triple crown" for her dad, and to celebrate her 40th birthday, Maggy decided to again run at least 100 races in 1990, most importantly the Dublin Marathon.

"My dad ran the streets of Dublin and brought money back to me," she said. "Now, 30 years later, I want to run the streets of Dublin for the Heart Association so I can bring money back to him. He took all of us home; now it's my turn to bring my dad home."

THIS WRITER is lucky enough to be counted among Maggy's friends. So lucky that I was able to share in Maggy's "triple crown" last October.

My uncle, William Dillon, died of a heart attack within months of Maggy's father. So in their names, we raised more than $2,000 in pledges from co-workers, friends and family. Members of the Society of Irish-American Lawyers donated nearly $600 to the Heart Association.

Maggy's kidney trouble and my stress fracture notwithstanding, we were committed to finishing the 26.2-mile run through the city of Dublin.

MONDAY'S FORECAST called for 85-mph, gale-force winds and a storm predicted to disrupt shipping. But Irish luck was with us, and for the first three hours of the marathon, the sun shone and the storm held off.

Destined for a fine time of 3:37, Maggy was resplendent in a green and white singlet and shorts, adorned with shamrocks and a cheer for Galway, her dad's birthplace. Spirited spectators lining the route gave her exactly what she needed to hear.

Gifted with a fine sense of humor, the Irish took a look at my tri-color green, white and orange shorts and matching T-shirt and told me the flag never looked better. No doubt there are some Irishmen and women forever stuck with some very long noses.

EXCITEMENT MOUNTED at the starting line as more than 4,000 marathoners from 30 nations cheered the wheelers and cerebral palsy runners, whose marathon began moments before ours. Helicopters hovered overhead as the race director announced that the sum of 10,000 pounds would go to any man who broke 2:30 and any woman who ran under 2:35. Runners raised their voices in song and did the wave. In a few minutes, we were off, feeling so alive we thought we'd burst.

As we ran along the winding, rolling course through fabled city streets and along the Irish Sea, freckle-faced children with their hands outstretched gave us high fives. From their elders came an unrelenting stream of cheers: "Go lads and lasses!" "Well done!" "Gorgeous, girls!" and "Fair play to you!"

Runners couldn't have been more appreciative of the thousands of spectators, who stuck it out despite the weather. The heavens let loose, and we were pelted with rain and sleet. Wind gusts reached 35 mph, and the temperature plummeted to the low 40s. Finishing was a struggle for many of us.

As I finally rounded the bend to the finish line at St. Stephen's Green, drenched and shivering, Maggy and her cousin Anne awaited with my sweats, hot Lyons tea and candy bars. Neither Maggy nor I had run a personal best, but we weren't capable of feeling more joy. We had done it!

THERE WAS ONE place Maggy still had to go — to the house in Galway her father built decades before. The morning after the marathon, Anne drove us to Dunmore, a townland nestled in the lush, green countryside about two hours west of Dublin.

Within a few hundred yards of the empty house, the memories came flooding back.

It was at that very spot 30 years before that her dad suddenly stopped the car, got out and, without a word, began running up the narrow country road. His wife and children watched as John Higgins embraced his father, who had been standing in the road for hours, so anxious was he to see the son who had left Ireland 22 years before.

Anne pulled up to a large, new house next door to the old. Aunt Margaret was standing in the doorway, oblivious to the cold. The tears fell as aunt and niece embraced. After 30 years, Maggy had come home.

Area's Arabs seek Mideast peace

now stationed there as members of U.S. combat forces.

"My congregation is feeling very depressed," said Shalhoub. "We're Arab-Americans and we have relatives in those countries, but our sons and daughters are also serving in Operation Desert Shield."

Metro Detroit, including suburban Oakland and Wayne counties, is home to an estimated 250,000 Arab-Americans.

While the Dearborn area contains a sizable Moslem community, other western Wayne and Oakland suburbs contain large numbers of Christian Arabs.

Chaldeans, Christian Arabs tracing their heritage to Iraq, have long been members of the Southfield and West Bloomfield communities.

Palestinians, who trace their heritage to the troubled West Bank, have tended to settle in western Wayne suburbs.

WHILE MANY people in both groups retain strong ties to the Middle East, they bristle at any notion of divided loyalty.

"The main point is that Chaldeans are loyal," said Josie Sarafa, Southfield resident and coordinator of bilingual programming at Birmingham Groves High School. "Chaldeans are in this country because they want to live in a democracy."

"My feeling is if I could be a good citizen of the old country, I couldn't be a good citizen of this country," added Shaheen. "My first priority is here — the U.S. I've been here 40 years."

Ahwal said Arab-Americans are particularly hurt that so many people automatically assume their loyalty lies elsewhere.

"I've had reporters call me who assume I have a double loyalty and I'm dismayed by that," Ahwal said. "My sister is getting ready to go over there with the U.S. military and her husband (also in the U.S. military) is already there."

The threat of war, she said, is no less frightening to Arab-Americans than to Americans in general.

"I'm the guardian of my nieces and nephews and it's very difficult knowing there's the chance they could lose their mother and father," Ahwal said.

'We're Arab Americans and we have relatives in those countries, but our sons and daughters are also serving in Operation Desert Shield.'

— Rev. George Shalhoub, St. Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church

Still, Arab-Americans said many of their countrymen fail to realize that, in the Middle East, national boundary lines are often as close as suburban city limits — making widespread warfare a distinct possibility and raising fears over distant relatives.

"IN THE Middle East, countries are often only 100 miles away from each other. There's great fear, not only for relatives in Iraq, but for those in Lebanon, Syria and other countries," said the Rev. Shalhoub of St. Mary's.

The Merriman Road church is holding a candlelight prayer vigil at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

"We're inviting people of all faiths," Shalhoub said. "We want Christians, Jews and Moslems to all pray together."

"This war will be one unlike any other. The question is does anyone have the right to start something that could lead to Armageddon?" Shalhoub said.

The multi-national spirit extends to the Islamic Association of Greater Detroit Mosque in Rochester Hills, according to its secretary, Syed Mahmood Ali Khan.

"All thoughtful people hope the U.S. and Iraq will negotiate and avoid war," said Khan, who was born in India. Members of his mosque come from a variety of countries including Pakistan, Turkey and Egypt. "We're all praying for peace," said Khan. Churches have been a rallying point and source of strength for suburban Arab-Americans.

"Besides being hurt and saddened by the breakdown of negotiations, we are praying," said Sam Yano, a member of Mother of God Chaldean Church, Southfield. "We pray every day that God will work a miracle."

But while they may pray with Americans of all backgrounds, Arab-Americans know their skin color and accents make them a potential target for racism as tensions mount.

In the time honored tradition of his faith, however, Shalhoub is counseling his congregation to turn the other cheek.

"We have heard (of incidents) from some of our high school students. But this is something we don't want to play up. It's something, I suppose that's only normal in a situation like this, something German Americans faced during World War II," he said. "From our standpoint as a church, we're an integral part of the Livonia community and the community has been very good to us."

Others however, liken the situation more to the fate suffered by Japanese Americans in the days after Pearl Harbor.

Statements by Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein linking a peaceful solution to new talks on a Palestinian homeland draw a bittersweet response from many Arab-Americans. "The last thing I want is for Saddam to be my salvation," Ahwal said. "But we did give him ammunition by ignoring the Palestinian question for so long. If Iraq pulls out of Kuwait tomorrow, there's still a Palestinian question to be resolved."

Birmingham resident Barbara Aswad, a professor of Middle Eastern studies at Wayne State University, said she believes President Bush is "inflexible" by refusing to link discussions on the Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait to Israeli-Palestinian difficulties.

"WE'VE HAD a one-sided foreign policy in the Middle East for 40 years," she said. "And it's coming home to roost."

Allegations by Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz that the United States pursues a double standard with regard to actions by Arab nations have also struck a responsive chord.

"I was born here, I love my country. But I'm very disillusioned," said Jean Farida, a West Bloomfield homemaker. "If the U.S. invades a Panama or Grenada, it's called national interest. If Iraq invades, it's called aggression."

"Kuwait is a tiny little portion that was stolen from Iraq and made into a country by the British."

Despite the failure of U.S.-Iraqi talks, many Arab-Americans still hope for a diplomatic solution.

"I hope the diplomats work hard," said Henry W. Saad, a Birmingham resident who is an attorney with a Detroit law firm.

Other Arab-Americans say they oppose war — all war — because they've seen so much of it.

"I don't want war, period. And I'm speaking as an American, not as an Arab-American," said Ahwal, who lived in the Middle East at the time of the Six Days War in 1967 and has periodically visited thereafter.

"It bothers me that President Bush says it will be a quick, clean war, because I know what war is like," Ahwal said. "Not many people my age know what war is like. But I do."

West Bloomfield Reporter James Radebaugh and the Associated Press contributed to this story.

'The main point is that Chaldeans are loyal. Chaldeans are in this country because they want to live in a democracy.'

Education chief unlikely to return from paid leave

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Three weeks ago, Donald L. Bemis talked about staying on as state superintendent of public instruction.

True, Republicans had won a 5-3 majority in the Nov. 6 election. True, incoming-Republican Gov. John Engler wanted to replace him.

But Bemis' contract had 2 1/2 years to run, and in mid-1990 Attorney General Frank Kelley said the board couldn't bounce Bemis.

"Things moved rather quickly — a week or 10 days," said Dorothy Beardmore, R-Rochester, new president of the state board, in a massive understatement.

AT 6 P.M. Tuesday, an hour before the board's monthly meeting was to start in Lansing, Bemis suddenly asked for "an administrative leave for a period up to six months," effective immediately. His contract says he continues at full pay — $83,100 a year.

Without comment, the board voted 8-0 to grant it. Bemis attended neither the Tuesday evening nor Wednesday morning meetings.

"It was uncertain 'til the last moment what he would do," said board member Barbara Dumouchelle, R-Grosse Ile.

"This seemed to be a good way out for him," said member Cherry Jacobus, R-Grand Rapids.

"He hasn't said so," said Beardmore, "but he'll be looking for other full-time things to occupy his time. He's too young (55) to retire."

"Clearly John Engler was not a booster. More than once he said Bemis should seek something else to do."

'He hasn't said so, but he'll be looking for other full-time things to occupy his time. He's too young (55) to retire.'

— Dorothy Beardmore
state board president

BEMIS' LETTER said he would use the time to "examine quality education issues . . . being utilized by other states" and study "the potential for the privatization of various aspects of the Department of Education."

"He's still superintendent," said Beardmore when asked what procedure would be used to replace Bemis.

The board appointed Deputy Superintendent Gary Hawks as acting superintendent.

Beardmore, one of the board's GOP heavyweights, said members hadn't met with Engler on the Bemis situation.

"We met one time — April or May — at our request just to talk with the Senate Republicans. That was the only time," Beardmore said.

But newly elected Republican Dick DeVos of Grand Rapids told the Associated Press that Engler called him just before Christmas to talk about getting rid of Bemis. "He just reaffirmed his interest that Mr. Bemis be removed," DeVos said.

BEMIS HAD spent his working life in Utica School District of Macomb County, rising to superintendent in 1971. In mid-1988 the state board tapped him for state superintendent.

Bemis professed to be non-partisan but was championed for the post by Democratic Gov. James Blanchard.

Under the constitution, the governor is a non-voting member of the state board. Usually, however, governors have sent aides to sit in at board meetings.

"Blanchard came to the meeting when Don was sworn in," Beardmore recalled, "and one other time — to make a presentation, and then he left."

Of three persons who have represented Blanchard to the state board in his eight years as governor, only one — Tom Baldini — could be called "very active," Beardmore said.

AS ACTING superintendent, Hawks will face the immediate job of cutting the Department of Education budget by $5 million.

Engler vowed not to cut aid to schools, community colleges or universities, but the Department of Education itself is "taking the same 9.2 percent cut as anybody else," Beardmore said.

Congressmen differ on force

Like colleagues throughout the nation, U.S. Congressmen representing western Wayne and Oakland counties were divided in Saturday's vote authorizing the use of force if Iraqi troops aren't withdrawn from Kuwait by Tuesday.

Republicans William Broomfield of Birmingham and Carl Pursell of Plymouth voted in favor of authorizing military force. Democrats William Ford of Taylor, Dennis Hertel of Harper Woods and Sander Levin of Southfield voted against immediate use of force, preferring to give economic sanctions more time.

Broomfield, one of four primary sponsors of the resolution for force, said the resolution would "not commit President Bush to use military arms. It only gives him that option. In the president's hands it will be a very credible and powerful negotiating tool."

Levin, D-Southfield, was against authorizing the use of force and in favor of an alternate resolution calling for continued economic sanctions.

"I have then asked myself how I would vote if the several thousand might include one of my own four children. Because in this vital instance I cannot answer in the affirmative for my own family, I must answer in the negative for others."

The joint resolution passed 250-183 in the House, 52-47 in the Senate.

Cuddle with bowl of soup

If there was ever a time for the so-called winter doldrums to set in, this week would be it.

Here we are, right smack dab in the middle of winter. It's dark before you get home from work and it isn't light till way after you get there. The Christmas tree was removed long ago and, again, we tire of the recently rearranged living room furniture. Other than something called Super Bowl Weekend, we have little to look forward to until Valentine's Day.

This is the time of year I like to cuddle. I cuddle with my down comforter, I cuddle with a 329-page novel, I cuddle with Kibbles, my cat. But there's something about cuddling with an oversized earthenware bowl of steaming homemade soup while wrapped in down, lounging on my La-Z-Boy with Kibbles on my lap and a book at my side.

I look out the window and see the cold and snow. My hands feel the warmth from the bowl. My senses are awakened by the steam that is inhaled, yielding pungent odors, sweet smells and a sensuous warming that is felt down to the cockles of one's heart.

Textures abound, combining gossamer limp onions with turtle beans exploding with flavor. The broth can be thin and as lanky as a well-gnawed rib bone bespeckled with droplets of glistening natural juices or thick and hearty, just waiting for someone to try to make a spoon stand on end.

YOU CAN ADORN crocks, bowls and tureens with a multitude of toppings ranging from flaky puff pastry to just a swirl of sour cream. A splash of brandy or a sprinkling of fresh grated cheese can turn a steaming bowl into a culinary work of art.

Yes, there are some pay-backs. You can bribe butchers to save you desirable bones that hopefully wouldn't have been picked clean by a vulturous, inexperienced butcher. You can brown the bones, boil the bones, strain the bones, defat the bones, flavor the bones, and end up with a product that tastes like someone dropped one bouillon cube in a gallon of water. Or you can cheat a little like I do.

Cheating isn't really the term that truly expresses my need for a simmering soup on a cold, dark, dreary winter's day. When I want to eat, I want to eat now. Spending eight hours making homemade stock is neither fun nor heartwarming.

Long ago, in a land far away, there was a culinary wizard who devised a product called institutional soup base. Some of the better brands even have beef, chicken and ham as a first ingredient while some of the lesser varieties rely on salt, MSG and a multitude of other flavor enhancers to do the job.

This miraculous product that saves time and energy and produces a classic homemade French onion soup complete with puff pastry top in less than 10 minutes can be bought only at wholesale food distributors.

Contrary to popular belief, you won't have to buy a case, and many distributors have a walk-in cash and carry office just for folks like you and me.

THE BEST that money can buy is dubbed soup base, with other brands like Leone's Pride, LeGout, Custom and Majors running behind the leader but never really being able to catch up flavorwise. Not only does this miracle product make great soup, it also does wonders for gravies and sauces and keeps just about forever in the refrigerator.

Flavors available include the naturals such as beef, chicken, pork and ham, but a little research might dig up the likes of a vegetarian base, a lobster base that makes a heavenly bisque and a clam base that will have a chowder on the stove every Friday.

Many home cooks added new tools to their kitchen over the holidays. Cooking and baking should be even easier and more fun with additional "helpers." Shown above are fish poacher, croissant cutter, chef's knife and crock with kitchen utensils, accented by an antique cookbook.

New gizmos for the kitchen

By Geri Rineschler
special writer

OK, NOW THAT the holidays are over, it's time to reorganize the kitchen and make room for all your new gadgets and gizmos. But before making any rash decisions about which tools stay and which get packed away for the next garage sale, let's consult a few professionals who know all about your future in the kitchen.

Espresso machines, electric hand mixers and chef's knives were all big sellers during the 1990 holiday season, but at the top of the list was an electronic bread making machine. Priced between $230 and $350, depending upon the size and brand, this small, counter-top kitchen appliance mixes, kneads, raises and then bakes one loaf of bread any time you add the ingredients and program it to do so.

Most of these machines bake one round or one rectangular loaf, depending on the make and model you choose. It won't work for braided coffee cakes, baguettes, or rolls, so don't discard your electric mixer with a dough hook attachment just yet.

Are you as baffled as I am as to why, during recessionary times, folks are plunking down $200 to $380 for a machine which only bakes specific styles of bread? Toula Patsalis, owner of Kitchen Glamor kitchenware stores, said, "Now that the average family has a dual income and both people working, they want kitchen conveniences and they want the best."

PATSALIS ADDED that high-quality chef's knives and paring knives, especially the high carbon stainless steel, by Wusthof-Trident and Gerber have sold well.

Richard Christensen has been an associate at Bridge Kitchenware in New York City for the past 19 years. He agrees that top-quality kitchen knives are hot items. He said home cooking is now "the thing to do. Our customers realize that high-quality items are long lasting and really make a difference when you use them. In New York, more and more people are cooking at home again, not just because of the high cost of restaurant dining but because you get less quality for your dollar (dining out)."

David Smith, manager of Williams-Sonoma in Troy, agrees electric hand mixers and electronic bread-making machines are "in" but he also saw requests for hand-cranked egg beaters and elongated fish poachers.

Well, what does 1991 hold for cooking enthusiasts? Use of copper zabaione (Italian egg custard) pots and manual pasta machines is on the rise, as Italian cookery is still very popular. Christensen predicts sales increases in 1991 of the electric hand mixer and top-quality knives, along with stainless steel mandolines, a hand-operated tool that slices, juliennes or waffle cuts vegetables and fruits. The mandoline came to fame during the cuisine-nouvelle era of the late '70s and early '80s.

The "back-to-basics" philosophy in kitchenware has been obvious in the cookbook market as well. Last year Julia Child's "The Way To Cook" and "The New Basics" by Julie Rosso and Sheila Lukins each sold more than one million copies. And just as the 1990 holiday rush began, Fred Bridge and Jean F. Tibbetts added some balance to the list with "The Well-Tooled Kitchen" (William Morrow and Co., $24.95, 1990).

FOR MORE THAN 55 years, Fred Bridge has supplied cooks, from the professional chef to the weekend cuisinier. Shelves and counters of his New York store on E. 52nd Street are packed warehouse-fashion with every conceivable kitchen gadget, pot, knife, slicers and mold.

"The Well-Tooled Kitchen" is described as a guide to more than 500 kitchenware items. With more than 250 photographs, it really is an encyclopedia of utensils. Bridge and co-author Tibbetts devote the first 30 pages of the book to the history and uses of knives. They thoroughly answer all questions about the best materials and design of knives for chopping, slicing, boning, fluting, filleting and decorating food.

Not sure how or why to use a butcher's (or a multicut) steel, or even what it is? Bridge and Tibbetts explain that the steel, a tapered cylinder, is used to straighten a knife blade's cutting edge and give it a keener finish.

So before going out to buy a new truffle slicer, grapefruit knife or brioche mold to your pantry shelf, consult the source: "The Well-Tooled Kitchen."

These pleasing cakes appeal to sweet tooth

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Walter Stevanovich of Livonia knows a thing or two about pleasing customers who love sweets.

"Seventy-five percent of people buy the product by its looks," said Stevanovich, owner of Thomas Wedding Cakes. "The taste brings the customer back."

A native of Yugoslavia, Stevanovich is a baker by trade. While he has done all kinds of baking over the years, "My personal interest is cakes," he said.

Stevanovich, who specializes in fancy, special-occasion cakes and sumptuous cheesecakes, knows that elaborate decorations cannot take the place of flavor.

"I use good ingredients," he said. "It's all important — the ingredients, the baking and the decoration."

Name recognition is important, too. Stevanovich, who owns the Garden City Bake Shoppe on Ford Road, purchased the venerable Thomas Wedding Cakes slightly more than a year ago.

"It's always better when you keep the same name," he said.

For 37 years the distinctive white brick Thomas store occupied the northwest corner of Middlebelt and Five Mile roads in Livonia. Now the shop is located a few blocks east, on Five Mile Road.

STEVANOVICH HAS adapted the wedding cake recipes used by original owner Roy Thomas, who established his business in the 1920s in northwest Detroit.

The most popular wedding cake flavor is yellow-and-chocolate marble, he said. Other flavors include white, chocolate, cherry nut and carrot.

The cheesecake recipes — which include plain, chocolate, lemon and black forest — came from Ruby McCord, previous owner of Thomas Wedding Cakes.

There have been at least three generations of Stevanovich bakers. Walter Stevanovich learned to bake from his father, a bakery owner, after the family emigrated from Yugoslavia to Canada in the early 1950s.

Walter, who studied culinary arts in Montreal, later came to Detroit and worked at Oakwood Bakery. He also was a part-owner of Bartz Bakery in Dearborn for several years.

His wife Dobrinka bakes and ices cakes. Son Dan, who lives in Canton, operates the Garden City shop. Eventually Stevanovich hopes to open a string of cake shops throughout Michigan.

"There are more and more occasions," Stevanovich said. "For everything, they celebrate with a cake."

Celebrating a retirement? How about a fancy cake with a frosting vignette of a guy lounging in a hammock? There are heart-shaped Valentine's Day cakes and cakes with a telephone motif for Sweet Sixteen birthday parties.

OF COURSE, the Thomas reputation was built on its wedding cakes, towering confections decorated with

One of the things I like best about writing this column is receiving the many thoughtful letters and menus sent in by people from throughout suburban Detroit.

I always open each piece of mail with great anticipation. Perhaps you can imagine my pleasure when I recently opened a letter inviting me to Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School to help select a Winner Dinner Winner from among several dinners that would be planned and prepared by students in Barbara Lange's home economics class. I eagerly accepted the kind invitation and made plans to be there.

The awaited day arrived, and when I walked into the classroom, I was impressed with the organization that each of the five "kitchens" displayed. As the class period is only 55 minutes long, each kitchen team had prepared as much of its meal as possible the day before. Within 30 minutes of my arrival, the dinners were being completed.

I had the tough job of testing each meal and selecting a Winner Dinner, basing my decision on how well-balanced, attractively presented and easy each meal was to make. Although all the meals were delicious, family-tested winner dinner

Betsy Brethen

Kitchen 3, with Donna Czarnecki, Joel Dunkelberger, Kedra Kearis and John Rundell at the stove, got the nod.

THEIR DINNER included Chicken a la Cheddar, served on a bed of Uncle Ben's Wild Rice, with broccoli, plus Company Jell-O and Cherry Cobbler. The meal was well thought out, and the combination of the cheddar cheese with the chicken was particularly tasty.

Czarnecki, a sophomore, loves to cook. She is a member of the French Club and plays softball on the Junior Varsity team. Dunkelberger is a freshman who enjoys cooking and sometimes prepares his own meals. His hobbies are photography and skeet shooting. Kearis, a sophomore, also enjoys cooking at home. She is a member of the pom-pom squad as well as the French Club.

Rundell is a senior, who signed up for this class because he wanted to learn how to cook before he graduated from high school. He believes cooking is a survival skill he will need in the future. Rundell is a staffer on Bloomfield Hills Channel 16, writes poetry and short stories, enjoys skiing and, for his Community Service requirement, has worked at the Peachwood Inn, Retirement Home. His career goal is to become a screenplay writer, and he plans to attend the University of Detroit in the fall.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Observer & Eccentric Winner Dinner Recipes

CHICKEN A LA CHEDDAR

Easy to make, these delicious chicken rolls can be assembled in advance and baked just prior to serving. This recipe serves four.

- 4 chicken breast fillets, boned and skinned
- 4 chunks cheddar cheese, cut into cubes approximately 1/4 inches by 1/4 inches by 1/4 inches
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs

Flatten each chicken breast by rolling a glass over it or by pounding it with the edge of a saucer or the middle part of a rolling pin. Rinse each breast and place a chunk of cheese in the middle of each fillet, then wrap the meat around the cheese, securing it with a toothpick. Roll each piece in a beaten egg, then dip in bread crumbs until coated. Brown the outside of each roll in margarine. Place the chicken rolls on a cookie sheet and bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes, being careful not to overcook them. Serve each roll on a bed of Uncle Ben's Wild Rice.

STEAMED BROCCOLI

Remove the outer leaves and the tough part of the stalks. Cut off the stalks or, if preferred, cut the broccoli into 1-inch pieces. Cook in 1-inch of boiling salted water in a covered pan for 5-8 minutes. Test with a fork and continue to cook until just tender, usually about 10 minutes. Cooking time will vary according to the size of the broccoli pieces.

COMPANY JELL-O

- 1 package strawberry Jell-O
- 1 box frozen strawberries, thawed
- 1 banana, sliced

Dissolve the gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Add the thawed strawberries and juice. Stir, then add 1 banana which has been sliced. Pour into a mold and chill overnight. Just prior to serving, remove the Jell-O mold from the refrigerator and dip the bottom of the mold in a sink filled with hot water for 10 seconds. Place a serving plate on top of the mold and quickly flip the plate over so the mold can fall out onto the plate. Garnish with lettuce leaves, if desired, or serve as is.

CHERRY COBBLER

- 4 cups fresh or frozen, unsweetened, pitted, tart red cherries
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1/4 cup milk
- Light cream or vanilla ice cream, optional

Cherry Filling

In a medium-sized saucepan, combine the cherries, 3/4 cups of granulated sugar, tapioca, and 1/2 cup water. Let stand for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cook and stir until slightly thickened and bubbly. Add 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Set aside and keep warm.

Biscuit Topping

Thoroughly stir together 1 cup flour, 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cut in the 1/4 cup butter or margarine until the mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Combine the beaten egg and milk; add all at once to the dry ingredients, stirring just to moisten. Turn the hot fruit filling into an 8-by-11 1/2-inch round baking dish or 1/2 quart casserole dish. Immediately spoon on the biscuit topping in 8 mounds. Bake in a 400 degree oven for about 20 minutes. Serve warm with light cream or vanilla ice cream.

Shopping List

- 4 boneless chicken breast fillets
- 4 chunks cheddar cheese
- Bread crumbs
- 2 eggs
- 1 box Uncle Ben's Wild Rice
- 1 bunch broccoli
- 1 package strawberry Jell-O
- 1 box frozen strawberries
- 1 banana
- 4 cups fresh or frozen, unsweetened pitted, tart, red cherries
- 1 tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca
- Butter or margarine
- Milk
- Sugar
- Flour
- Baking powder
- Light cream or vanilla ice cream, optional

Notes

Dried fruits are full of flavor, concentrated nutrients

AP - Dried up, wrinkled and delicious — plums, grapes, apples, cranberries, cherries, blueberries, peaches and other fruits become flavor-packed gems when dried. Like their fresh-from-the-tree counterparts, dried fruits contain no cholesterol, very little fat and protein and a lot of fiber. Some dried fruits also are good sources of iron, potassium and vitamin A.

On the down side, sulfur compounds may be added to light-colored fruits such as apples or pears to help retain color. If you are sulfite sensitive, check labels for these words: sulfur dioxide, sodium sulfite, sodium or potassium bisulfite, and sodium or potassium metabisulfite.

When the water is removed by drying, all a fruit's nutrients become concentrated into a smaller, easier-to-eat package, making a handful of dried fruit a handful of calories. To avoid excess calories, eat only as much of dried fruit as you normally would of the fresh alternative.

CALORIE NUMBERS

- Apples (5 rings) 78 calories
- Apricots (5 halves) 42 calories
- Dates (5) 114 calories
- Figs (2) 95 calories
- Peaches (5 halves) 156 calories
- Pears (5 halves) 230 calories
- Prunes (5) 100 calories
- Raisins (1/2 cup) 165 calories

PLUMPING DRIED FRUITS

• Raisins do not require cooking but may be plumped for added juiciness. Place raisins in a saucepan and cover with water about 1 inch above the raisins. Bring to boiling; remove from heat. Cover and let stand about 5 minutes; then drain well.

• To plump dried fruit in the microwave oven, place fruit in a microwave-safe, 1-quart casserole. Add an equal amount of water. Cook, covered, on 100 percent power (high) until boiling, stirring once. Allow 1 1/2 to 2 to 3 minutes for 1/2 cup mixed dried fruit, 2 to 3 minutes for 1 cup dried apricots, and 3 to 5 minutes for 1 cup dried apples, currants, raisins, figs, mixed fruit, peaches, or prunes. Drain.

USING DRIED FRUITS

- Plump dried fruits in a mixture of water and orange or pineapple juice; then stir in seedless grapes, orange sections and pineapple chunks. Serve the compote warm or chilled for brunch or as a dessert.

• Substitute an equal amount of snipped and plumped dried apricots, apples, peaches, or pears for raisins in cookies, cakes or muffins.

Reference book tells all about Burgundy

America's wine guru Robert M. Parker Jr. has just completed a massive book (more than 1,000 pages) on Burgundy, published by Simon and Schuster, $39.95.

If you are interested in Burgundy and want to learn about it in intimate detail, this is the book for you. It also will serve as a valuable reference in the future.

Parker discusses each appellation (growing region) in detail, relates his opinion on each of 640 individual producers and includes thousands of tasting notes on wines produced from 1945 to 1989.

Although this is a book of lists, it is a useful reference to keep in a personal wine library.

AFTER THE opening 60 pages, 318 pages are spent cataloging each of 640 producers; 276 pages discuss 45 Burgundy appellations from Chablis to Beaujolais; and 348 pages are used to list tasting notes on wines from 1945 to 1989, of which only those from 1985 to 1988 are useful for current wine purchases.

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

The concluding 20 pages are used to summarize the ratings of growers and producers discussed in the first 318 pages.

Parker's brief history of Burgundy (five pages) sheds light on the complicated (dis)organization of its vineyards in contrast to those of Bordeaux.

THE MOST INTERESTING part of his book is Parker's answers to "Twenty Questions about Burgundy" (25 pages).

Even though he tends to be redundant, Parker does help the reader appreciate the charm and mystique of Burgundy.

"It would appear that no matter how much time, effort and money is spent trying to understand the wines of Burgundy, to a large extent, they remain an unfathomable mystery," he said.

Parker holds out the carrot for the enophile by saying that Burgundy "at its greatest, irrefutably provides the world's most majestic, glorious and hedonistic red and white wine."

PARKER DOES the reader a great service by explaining the importance of knowing the best producers, listing his favorites and discouraging wine purchase based on appellation or vintage.

"The argument that small estates turn out more authentic and better

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

Be forewarned that Burgundies are expensive. However, it is possible to find good values with a persistent search. The 1989 De Villaine Bourgogne Aligote de Bouseron ($13) boasts fresh fruit aromas combined with the style and charm characteristic of a very good 1989 vintage. Aligote is Burgundy's second white grape variety, but Parker considers De Villaine's Aligote to be the finest from France. We do too.

WINE BULLETIN BOARD

The great wines of France will be the topic of a five-week wine course Wednesdays from 7:30-9:30 p.m., Jan. 23 to Feb. 20, at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus, 1-696 at Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills. The class will focus on the wines of Burgundy, Bordeaux, Alsace, Rhone, Loire and Champagne. Total cost is $90. Instructors: Eleanor and Ray Heald. For more information call 471-7561.

wines than the finest negociants is a sham," he said.

This is good advice for wine drinkers, not collectors, since large negotiant firms such as Drouhin, Bouree, Faiveley, Jadot and Latour produce the region's most affordable wines.

MOST BURGUNDIES are meant to drink, not age, Parker said. We agree. These wines are to be enjoyed in the near term, not cellared for one's heirs.

Parker's rule of thumb is "drink red burgundy within 10 years of the vintage," except in great years.

Holding out hope for the collector, he said Burgundy may well be experiencing a "golden age," as evidenced by the wines of 1985 through 1989, where the "overall quality level has never been higher."

Chef Larry's recipe

CLASSIC FRENCH ONION SOUP

- 6 cups beef broth or stock
 - 4 medium onions, sliced
 - 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 clove garlic, minced fine
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1 bay leaf
 - Pinch thyme
 - Fresh ground pepper to taste
 - ¼ cup cheap, dry red wine (optional)
- Prepare the broth as needed, set aside.

In a heavy saucepan, saute onions in butter with garlic. When limp, sprinkle in sugar and continue cooking over medium high heat until the sugar begins to caramelize.

Add broth, bay leaf, thyme and pepper. Simmer for 5 minutes. Stir in wine. Remove bay leaf.

Ladle into ovenproof crock and top with a thin slice of French bread and some grated Swiss and Parmesan cheese. Pop under broiler and broil 3 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

TAKING ARTHRITIS MEDICINE WITH OTHER MEDICINE

Often, arthritis is not the only medical problem you face. Heart disease, emphysema, diabetes, and hypertension are conditions that occur independently of arthritis, and also require treatment. The question arises if drugs taken for arthritis interfere with the efficacy of other medications or increase their potential for toxic side effects. This freedom from such hazardous interactions makes aspirin and related salicylates the medications of choice when treating adults with arthritis. If you are on a blood thinning medicine, coumadin, then you should not take aspirin at the same time; however the other salicylates are acceptable. This exception aside, investigations to date indicate that aspirin is safe particularly for the individual who is elderly or on multiple medications. The same statement is not applicable to other anti-inflammatory drugs. The experience with oraflex taught physicians the lesson to be careful with new drugs. Oraflex alone had little side effects, but given to a person on several medications, oraflex ran a high risk of initiating liver damage. In the instance of taking drugs for arthritis, the old way, the aspirin way, is still the best way.

Rediscovering pleasures of bread baking

Cold winds can chill a person to the bone. It is often dark and dreary in the late afternoon when the family returns home from work or school.

Nothing is more welcome when one opens the door than the aroma of yeast bread rising, baking, or fresh from the oven. It makes home seem like a warmer, sweeter, cozier place to be than anywhere else in the world.

Today's cooks are rediscovering the pleasure of baking their own bread. Our fast-paced lifestyles make it impossible for most of us to bake all the bread we use daily, but as a special treat for your family and yourself, you should do it as often as possible.

It's really not as hard as it sounds. I don't care for the modern automated bread machines that do the whole job for you.

FOR ME, at least, there is great therapeutic value in making bread from scratch: seeing it rise, knocking out the air and punching it down.

Nothing feels exactly like warm, live bread dough as you knead it and shape it into loaves and rolls.

Certainly, you can work out a lot of aggression as you pound it, punch it and knead it into the smoothness that determines the final texture of the finished loaf.

It's a relaxing and satisfying experience that eases your tensions and takes your mind off your pressures and worries for a while.

The smell and taste of the finished product also will calm and satisfy all those who eat it in a way no purchased product could ever do.

If you want a domesticated husband and happy children who will remember sandwiches eaten in your kitchen for as long as they live, acquaint yourself with the art of bread baking.

THERE ARE hundreds and hundreds of recipes for breads of all sorts. Whole grain breads are, of course, very popular at this time.

Space will not allow me to share all my favorites with you. But here are a few good basic breads that anyone can make successfully. After you become more practiced, you may wish to try braided loaves and variations such as vegetable breads, stuffed breads and cheese breads.

kitchen witch

Any bread you can make as loaves also can be shaped and baked as rolls. These take less baking time, and many beginners seem to have better luck with them than with larger loaves.

With bread baking, as with any other art, the more you practice, the better you become. And the appreciation of those who enjoy the finished product is one of your greatest rewards.

WHITE BREAD

This is my favorite basic white bread recipe. It is especially easy for an inexperienced cook to use. It makes beautiful rolls and nice hamburger and hotdog buns. If you have trouble shaping and baking these, call me for help.

- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 cup lukewarm water
- 1 package dry granular yeast
- 4 cups boiled water, cooled to lukewarm
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1 1/2 cups white flour

Dissolve the teaspoon of sugar in the 1/4-cup of water and sprinkle the yeast over it. Let stand for 10 minutes. Combine the softened yeast, water, sugar, salt, shortening and 6 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth.

Cover and set it in a warm place to rise for about 1 1/2 hours. The sponge is ready when it is light and bubbly.

Next, mix in the remaining flour and knead the mixture until it no longer sticks to your fingers. Turn it out on a floured board and knead until it is smooth and satiny.

Place the dough in a bowl, cover and set in a warm place to rise until it is double in bulk. This should take about 2 hours.

Cut the dough into 3 portions and shape into loaves. Place each loaf in a well-greased loaf pan. Cover and let it rise in a warm place until it is again double in bulk.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 15 minutes, then lower the temperature to a moderate heat (350 degrees) and bake for 45 minutes long-er.

RICH BASIC SWEET DOUGH

There are many ways of using this rich, sweet dough, such as in coffee cakes, doughnuts and rolls of various shapes. You can add raisins before baking and then glaze or frost the finished loaves for a delicious raisin bread. Sliced apples and cinnamon are nice, too.

- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/2 cup lukewarm water
- 2 packages dry granular yeast
- 3/4 cup scalded milk, lukewarm
- 3/4 cup flour
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 whole eggs

- 3 to 4 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 4 1/2 to 5 cups sifted flour

Dissolve the teaspoon of sugar in lukewarm water, sprinkle the yeast over it and let stand until softened. Combine with the lukewarm milk and 1/2 cup flour.

Beat well, cover and let the sponge rise in a warm place until light and bubbly. Cream the butter with the sugar. Beat the whole eggs and egg yolks together along with the salt. Combine with the butter-sugar mixture and beat thoroughly.

Stir in vanilla, lemon rind and sponge. Add the flour and knead in a bowl for about 10 minutes. This dough should be soft.

Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Punch down, knead a few times and let it rise again. Form into desired loaves or shapes. Baking time varies for the selected shapes. Loaves take longer than rolls.

Note: You may call Gundella at 427-1072 for any special bread recipe, such as onion, cheese or herb, that you want but cannot find.

Salem debuts with impressive results

As the state's top-ranked gymnastics team, Plymouth Salem is expected to be good.

And the Rocks didn't waste any time showing it Thursday in their first competition of 1990-91.

Salem scored an impressive 138.9 to defeat host Westland John Glenn in its season debut. The Rockets compiled a 121.3 team.

Salem's school record is the 142.3 it scored last year in a dual meet with North Farmington.

"I'm pretty impressed," Salem coach Kathi Kinsella said. "I even thought we were kinda low on a couple of scores."

"I'M CERTAINLY hoping it's going to be a good year. We've got a long season ahead of us, but as long as we don't get hurt and we don't get bored, everything will be cool."

Sophomore Kim Miller, the defending state champion in the all-around, has the highest individual total Wednesday and finished first overall again. She won every event but the balance beam and recorded a 36.4 total.

Miller scored 9.25 on the uneven parallel bars, 9.4 on vault and 8.85

on floor exercise. She was second behind teammate Courtney Gonyea on beam with a 9.0.

"She stuck her (new) dismount off bars, and she landed her vault," Kinsella said. "I saw a few things that could be polished up, but I saw that in everybody."

Gonyea, a sophomore, scored 9.25 on beam. She also was second on floor (8.8) and third on vault (9.15). She didn't compete on bars and didn't have an all-around score.

"She works beam real hard," Kinsella said. "I think that's going to be her best event. She looks real good, and I can't wait to see what her all-around looks like."

SALEM FRESHMAN Alysia Sofios was second in the all-around with a 33.70 total. She finished third on bars (7.9) and floor (8.7), and she placed fourth on beam and floor with a pair of 8.55 scores.

Salem junior Autumn Bunch and Glenn senior Chris Prough tied for third in the all-around with 33.6 scores. Bunch was runner-up to Miller on vault (9.2), fifth on floor (8.5) and beam (8.45) and sixth on bars (7.45).

Prough placed third on beam (8.8), fourth on floor (8.55) and tied with Salem's Jenny Wong for fourth on bars (7.65). Wong also was fifth on vault (8.85), and Glenn's Marissa Maybouer was second on bars (8.0).

"We got over the first-meet jitters," Kinsella said, "and people did some things they hadn't done before in competition — and not just Miller, Gonyea and Bunch but people like Sarah Makins, Sue Farmer and Stefanie Angiulo."

"I said 'Let's have fun, get the meet over with and tomorrow we'll set up for (the) Athens (Invitational on Saturday). They did a good job, and concentrated pretty well for the first meet."

The Rocks are host to Northville in another Western Lakes Activities Association dual meet at 7 tonight.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Alysia Sofios took second place in the all-around Thursday in her first high school gymnastics meet. Competing on beam above, she scored 8.55 in that event as Salem opened with a win over John Glenn.

Rocks win '91 opener

The 1991 volleyball season began Wednesday with a major success for Plymouth Salem.

The Rocks started the new year with a four-game victory over host Walled Lake Western, winning the first two 15-6 and 15-7, losing the third 11-15 and clinching in the fourth, 15-13.

"Western has had a good volleyball program for many years, and we knew we would have to play well," Salem co-coach Brian Gilles said.

"We were a little nervous going over there, at (co-coach) Allie (Suffety) and I were, believing we're going to have a good team this year. We're real happy to get out to a good start and win the road."

Amy Krajewski had eight kills and 22 attempts to lead the Salem attack. Martha Bol had three kills out of nine attacks, Jenny Emmett four kills out of 11 attacks.

Andrea Welling was the leading volleyball

server, putting all but one of 25 total chances into play and recording five aces. Reserve setter Sarah Krygier had 13 serves, no misses and one ace. Shelby Carey graded 85 percent on her serving (13-of-15).

"Between Sarah and Caryn Tatterton (five serves), we had 18 serves and no misses," Gilles said. "That's what we want when those people are on the line."

"We're going to have to serve well and have good sets. Our serving was good, and our setting wasn't bad."

"If you serve well, you're going to have a chance, because it's a game of momentum. If they miss one or two and you keep putting the ball in play, you can keep the pressure on them."

Bol also had seven blocks, Julie Thomas and Welling six apiece. Welling had 15 digs and 13 good passes from those chances, Thomas 13 and 12, Krajewski 12 and 10, respectively.

The Rocks received serves at an 85 percent success rate and attacks at 81 percent.

"We played good defense and passed the ball well," Gilles said. "Overall, I was happy with the play of the team, being the first league game and being on the road. The pressure was on the kids, and they responded well."

"You have to be happy when you open up against a team that has been good for years and come out with a victory."

The Rocks play host to Farmington tonight.

Chiefs rally in 4th to defeat Central

By Neal Zipser
staff writer

Plymouth Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner unveiled his version of the "twin towers" Friday, but the host Chiefs' game with Walled Lake Central turned into a battle of the smaller men instead.

In an effort to get 6-foot-8 junior Tony Coshatt and 6-7 senior Rob Wilson more playing time, Van Wagoner started two centers against a much smaller Viking team.

But it was the duo of guards Karl Wukie and Derrick McDonald who rallied Canton from a 10-point, fourth-quarter deficit to lead the Chiefs to a 55-51, come-from-behind victory on Parents Night.

Canton improved to 4-4 overall and 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Central fell to 2-5 and 0-2.

"We're fortunate in having two good ballplayers," Van Wagoner said. "Our goal all season has been to get the ball inside. But you have to give Central credit. They made it tough to get the ball down low."

THE GAME evolved into a duel between the two Canton guards and the Vikings' 5-9 guards Steve Rabaut and Joel Sharpe. Central's guards had the duel won entering the final eight minutes, but that's when McDonald and Wukie took over.

Trailing 40-30 at the end of the third quarter, McDonald ignited the Chiefs' rally by nailing a three-pointer. The junior scored 11 of his 13 points in the final quarter.

After a Central basket, McDonald connected on another jumper and converted a layup to slice the Viking lead to 42-37. McDonald stole the ball on Central's next possession and fed Jon Paupore, whose jumper cut the deficit to three.

Following a pair of Central free throws, two layups by Canton senior Kevin Holmes cut the score to 44-43 with 4:20 remaining in regulation, but the Vikings weren't finished.

Sharpe drove through the Chief defense and nailed a layup while being fouled. His free throw gave Central a 47-43 lead with 3:56 left. The senior finished with 11 points.

But the Chiefs went on a 10-2 run to take the lead, 53-49. The streak was highlighted by another McDonald triple and capped by a Wukie three-pointer, which proved to be the difference in the game.

WITH 1:14 left in the game, Wukie knocked away a Viking pass and saved the ball from going out of bounds. The ball was kicked around and rolled around the Chiefs' end of the floor before being saved again from going out of bounds. Wukie picked up the loose ball and nailed the triple from deep in the corner.

"I wanted to shoot the ball the whole quarter, but I wasn't getting open," Wukie said. "When I got the ball, there was no doubt I was going to shoot it."

Two Eric Leaf free throws cut the score to 53-51 and after a charging call on McDonald, Central had a chance to tie the game with :52 left, but senior Heath Little's shot from the corner rimmed out and was rebounded by Wukie. Wukie was fouled and his two free throws iced the win and gave the senior a game-high 14 points.

"Karl and Derrick are both good high school guards, and we expect that type of play from them for 32 minutes," Van Wagoner said.

The two guards weren't surprised with their team's comeback but were surprised with the Viking performance.

"I thought we could win in the fourth quarter, because that's usually when we pull the games out," McDonald said. "We weren't pumped up at the start of the game, because I think we thought it would be a blowout like it was last year. We didn't think they were as good as they were."

"I DIDN'T think they were that good, either," Wukie said, "but I talked to Plymouth Salem coach Bob Brodie and he said they could play. We knew we had the athletes to come back."

Rabaut finished with 12 points on four three-pointers to lead the Vikings. Three of the junior's triples occurred in the first quarter. Central, which played with a patient offense for the entire game, held a 25-23 halftime advantage.

Despite six third-quarter turnovers, the Vikings converted seven of nine shots and outscored Canton 15-7 in those eight minutes. But the fourth quarter belonged to the Chiefs, who almost doubled their output in the first three quarters by outscoring Central 25-11.

Viking coach Steve Emert wasn't overly disappointed by his team's fourth-quarter collapse.

"We're a nice team and getting better," Emert said. "Yes, we are 2-5, but we are excited about our future. I think we sent out a message tonight. We have gone through a lot of adversity but have fought through it."

Van Wagoner wasn't too happy with his team's performance but is happy with his team's 2-0 start in the WLAA.

"I'M NOT happy with where we're at as a team now, but we'll be a very good team this year," said Van Wagoner, who cited the play of Paupore (eight points and four assists). We were down by 11 points at one time and showed a lot of character tonight."

Sophomores Leaf and Chris MacFarlane finished with 11 and 10 points, respectively, for Central.

Dan Bonnett had one of eight pins by Salem wrestlers Thursday. In the 119-pound match, he pinned Chris Diel in 2:46, contributing six points to his team's 58-13 victory.

Salem wallops Vikings in WLAA dual contest

Plymouth Salem wrestlers recorded nine pins en route to their second Lakes Division dual-meet victory Thursday.

The Rocks, defending champions in the Western Lakes Activities Association, crushed visiting Walled Lake Central 58-13 and look to be one of the top teams in the league once again.

"I don't know if we're that yet, but it's our goal," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "We started with a lot of young kids, and we're getting them some experience."

"In the league meet (Saturday, Feb. 2), we hope to have enough kids come through and get the big points."

The Rocks have defeated Livonia Stevenson, Northville and Livonia Churchill. But they have yet to face fellow contenders Farmington, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin and Walled Lake Western in dual meets, though Salem has seen all but the latter team in tournament competition.

Salem scored pins in the first four bouts Thursday and led 24-0 after the 125-pound contest.

Freshman John Moran (103) and Scott Martin (112) needed 52 and 36 seconds, respectively, to pin Central's Jim Donahue and Tom Abbo. In matches immediately following, Dan Bonnett (119) pinned Chris Diel in 2:46, and Chad Wilson (125) pinned Ralph Hale in 4:43.

wrestling

Jeff Shumate and Jeff Coleman had back-to-back wins at 135 and 140, respectively, to give Salem a 34-6 lead. Shumate pinned Rich Westbrook at 2:14, and Coleman defeated Barry Brown with a 10-2 decision.

The Vikings won at 130, 145 and 152 but got no closer than 34-13 before Salem finished with victories in the last four weight classes.

Salem's Pete TenBroeck pinned Mike Bouchard at 3:37 of their 160-pound bout, and Phil Haynes, filling for senior Charlie Apigian while he recuperates from surgery, won by void at 171.

"When Charlie comes back, that will put Pete and Phil against each other, because they're both 160s and it will make that weight class a lot tougher," Krueger said.

"Hopefully, next Thursday against North Farmington, for the first time, our goal is to put our (complete) team on the mats."

SC men soar; women slump

And a lot of things are going wrong for SC's women's team.

First the men. After losing four players due to academic troubles, and two more who quit the team because of financial difficulties, a slump seemed certain. On the contrary, the Ocelots won two-straight Eastern Conference games, including Wednesday's 113-91 triumph at St. Clair County CC.

Beating the Skippers was no big deal, it's true. The loss left St. Clair 0-13 overall, 0-4 in the Eastern Conference. And as coach Dave Bogataj noted, "It wasn't a pretty game. It was a playground-type thing — we let you score, then we score."

SC's offense, though, was better. Indeed, the Ocelots hardly had to get closer than 20 feet to be effective. For the second-straight game, they were on fire from three-point range. They canned 12-of-15, outscoring St. Clair CCC 36-3 from trey country.

"We're shooting the three very well right now," said Bogataj, stating the obvious but trying to downplay it, fearing a streak-ending jinx. In a win over Alpena CC Jan. 5, SC made 11-of-14 threes.

"THAT'S GREAT shooting," Bogataj continued. "But I'm not going to say anything else about it."

He did have something to say about his team's defense, however; notably, it will have to get better if SC is going to keep winning. "We can score. It's defense we can't play sometimes."

Against the Skippers, Kwesi McGill and Randy Watters took turns igniting the Ocelots. McGill connected on seven-straight threes (he finished 7-of-9) and scored 16 of his game-high 29 points in the first half. Watters was 4-for-4 from three-point range and netted 23 of his 27 points in the second half.

Dave Hamilton complemented both, netting 10 points in each half to finish with 20. Mitch Fyke scored 14 and Scott Meredith added 10. Barry Quayle (seven points) hauled down 12 rebounds and Meredith had nine, while Watters dished out nine assists and Fyke collected seven.

SC led 54-42 at the half and was never in danger. The closest St. Clair got in the second half was eight points. Ken Laming's 28 points paced the Skippers; Fred Hayes and Rob Laming added 12 apiece.

The win improved SC's record to 9-6 overall, 2-2 in the Eastern Conference.

SC'S WOMEN'S team has not fared well since the layoff between semesters. Unlike the men's team, the Lady Ocelots were unaffected by academic problems. Indeed, only one team member had less than a 2.5 grade-point average.

Coach Jack Grenan had hoped to use the time off to fine-tune his young (nine freshmen, three sophomores) squad. Unfortunately, it hasn't worked out that way. SC dropped its second-consecutive Eastern Conference game Wednesday, dropping a 53-50 decision to visiting St. Clair CCC.

Lack of scoring punch cost SC. Tricia Lucas had 17 points and nine rebounds, and Nicole Dapprich finished with 11 points and 10 boards.

No one else scored more than five; SC guards Julie Sawicki, Donna Galli, Leann Lightfoot and Stacie Smith were a combined 0-for-11 from the floor in the first half and 4-of-21 for the game.

SC TRAILED 56-50 with 10 seconds left when Sawicki connected on a three-pointer — the Lady Ocelots' only triple of the game (11 attempts). On the inbounds play, SC forced a turnover and with four seconds left had a chance for a game-tying shot. Unfortunately, they never got a shot off.

Another factor in SC's loss: free throw shooting. The Lady Ocelots made just 15-of-30. St. Clair CCC (now 2-1 in the conference) hit 10-of-20. Jenny Dobberowsky's 14 points was best for St. Clair; Carrie Hickson got 12.

The defeat left SC at 8-5 overall, 1-3 in the conference. On Jan. 5, the Lady Ocelots ran into a red-hot Alpena CC team and got thumped 100-77. The Lady Jacks hit a conference-record 21-of-21 free throws and shot 68 percent from the floor.

For SC, Lucas had 21 points, Laurel Haener scored 13 and Galli added 12. Beth Cannon and Carmen Ham each netted 22 for Alpena (7-5 overall, 1-2 in the conference).

● HOCKEY STAR

Seven-year-old Brett John of Plymouth has scored 69 goals in 31 games for his Plymouth-Nordiques hockey team this season.

His scoring total includes 14 hat tricks and nine game-winning goals. He also has 17 assists and 86 total points.

The Nordiques won a Christmas tournament in Dearborn in which John scored 23 goals in five games last month.

John, who plays center, and his Plymouth teammates compete in the Little Caesars Amateur Hockey League, which includes teams from southeastern Michigan.

"The closest player to him has 20 goals, and even 20 goals is pretty remarkable," John's coach, Doug Collins, said.

"He has a wide variety of skills. He's an excellent skater, and he has the mental attitude to drive for the net, which is something you don't often see in someone his age."

● SKI LESSONS

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department, in cooperation with Riverview Highlands, is offering a learn-to-ski program. The cost is $46 for the four-lesson, two-week program.

Each week the participant will be given two, 45-minute ski lessons, two rental equipment sets and two lift tickets. Participants must be 8 years old. Junior lessons start at 5 p.m., adult lessons at 7 p.m.

There will be two more sessions: the weeks of Jan. 21 and 28 and Feb. 4/11. For information call the rec department at 455-6620.

Canton Parks and Recreation Services is sponsoring the same learn-to-ski program at Riverview Highlands. The fee is $45 per person, $35 for people with their own equipment. Times and dates are the same as above. Call 397-5110 for details.

● SOCCER REGISTRATION

Registration for the Plymouth Soccer Club's spring season will take place during the month of January at the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department. Registration continues through Thursday, Jan. 31. Boys and girls between the ages of 5 and 18 are eligible.

The cost is $34, and all new participants must bring a birth certificate when they register. The rec department will be open until 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, for anyone unable to register during business hours (8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.). For information call 455-6620.

● ICE SKATING CLASS

Registration for the Winter II group lessons will be Thursday, Jan. 17, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Fees for Plymouth-Canton School District residents are $23, Northville and Novi residents $25 and non-residents of those communities $27.

Class sessions are once a week for eight weeks, and each lasts 25 minutes. The minimum age is 4. Classes begin the week of Jan. 21. For information call the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department at 455-6620.

● SOFTBALL TOURNNEY

The Annual Groundhogs Day Softball Classic will be played Saturday, Jan. 26, at Griffin Park. The fee is $35 per team.

Teams will battle the elements in an effort to hit the 16-inch orange softball in this unique tournament. There must be snow on the field for the tournament to take place. Only good weather can cause it to be canceled.

Interested teams should call the Canton Parks and Recreation Department at 397-5110 for information.

● FREE AGENT TRYOUTS

The Liberty Basketball Association, a new professional basketball league featuring 9-foot, 2-inch rims and female players, will conduct a series of free agent tryout camps beginning Sunday, Jan. 20, at the Palace.

Players must pre-register to attend free agent camps. To pre-register, players should call the LBA's 24-hour player hotline at 215-825-8282.

The LBA debuts on President's Day, Monday, Feb. 18, with its World Premiere featuring the Detroit Dazzlers against an LBA All-Star squad (to be televised live at 12:30 p.m. on ESPN) at the Palace.

For ticket information, call 645-6666.

● KARATE CLASSES

Canton Parks and Recreation Services is offering classes in all levels of karate during a 10-week session at the Canton Recreation Center. The fee is $35 per person. Lessons will be given each Monday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Sam Santilli, a sixth-degree black belt, will be the instructor. Classes are for ages 7 and up. Call 397-5110 for information. Registration is on a continuous basis.

● SOCCER MEETING

High school girls (grades 9 through 12) interested in playing soccer for Plymouth Salem this spring should attend an informational, sign-up meeting at 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 1, in Room 2703 of Salem High School. Coach Ken Johnson will take questions at 397-0668.

● FLOOR HOCKEY

Canton Parks and Recreation Services and the Wayne-Westland YMCA will co-sponsor a youth floor hockey skills clinic and league beginning the week of Jan. 21. The fee is $20 per child.

The sites will be Eriksson (Mondays), Hulsing (Tuesdays) and Miller (Wednesdays) for the clinic and Saturdays for league play) elementary schools. The times are 3:50-4:45 p.m. and 4:50-5:45 p.m. Boys and girls in grades one through six are eligible.

There will be five skill clinics and four Saturday games. Emphasis will be placed on participation and fun. Call 397-5110 for information.

Salem wrestlers smash league foe

The Rocks finished with Wade Langdon pinning Marson Hicks in 4:49 at 189 and heavyweight Ken Coker needing only 15 seconds to pin Steve Tokarski.

Central's Shane Rock (130) pinned Jeff Martin in 37 seconds, Lawrence Kerver (145) decisoned Josh Vlau 7-1 and Anthony Snider (152) defeated Bob Hansen 10-2.

"Walled Lake is a pretty good team," Krueger said, "but our kids wrestled pretty well. Even the younger kids are starting to wrestle well."

Some of the team's veteran wrestlers have compiled impressive records to date. Heading the list are Bonnett, who is 15-0 with 14 pins, and Coker, who is 14-2 with 13 pins.

Shumate is 21-5, Scott Martin 20-6, Coleman 17-9 and Wilson 16-6. Most of Coleman's setbacks occurred at 145 pounds. Moran is 14-7, an impressive feat for a first-year wrestler, Krueger said.

PLYMOUTH CANTON lost a Western Division dual meet Thursday to powerful Walled Lake Western, 48-17.

The Chiefs are 1-2-1 overall while the Warriors improved to 11-1-1. Canton winners were Liam Rentz, George Young and Mark Meszaros.

Rentz scored a superior decision over Dan Rester at 145 pounds, Young pinned Scott Malloy in just 59 seconds at 171 and Meszaros used a second-period pin (1:55) to stop Chad Williams at 189.

Andy Fritz (103) Jeff Rester (119), Benji Kim (125), Travis Ilacqua (152) and Todd Hoffmeyer (160) recorded pins for Western, and teammates Eric Bagalay (112), Zach Budden (130), Dave Bartlett (135) and Tom Maliszewski (140) won by decision. Heavyweight Larry West was a forfeit winner. In a double-dual meet Tuesday, the Chiefs beat Ann Arbor Huron 34-28 and tied Ann Arbor Pioneer 34-34.

Rentz, Young and Meszaros won both of their bouts. Single winners for Canton were Andy Strahan (103), Mark Armstrong (119), Joe Hunter (140) and Tyrone McCall (152).

North defeats Chiefs

PLYMOUTH CANTON began Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball play Wednesday with a three-game loss to visiting North Farmington, 15-12, 15-7, 15-10.

The Raiders are 3-1 overall, the Chiefs 0-1.

North was led by junior middle hitter Sarah Lundgren, who had 11 service points, seven kills and was 17-for-17 in receiving serves. Senior middle hitter Eve Claar had eight kills.

All 12 players saw action for the Raiders.

"The kids played well, but not as well as they can because this is exam week," North Farmington coach Sandy Lubieniecki said.

"But a win is a win. These are big ones, playing teams within the league."

Senior setter Dana Botwick had 11 points (four aces) and 12 assists. Junior setter Karen Seremet served 10 points and had nine assists.

"Sarah had an excellent, all-around match, digging, passing, serving and hitting," Lubieniecki said.

Despite the loss, Canton coach Jackie Getz was happy with her team's performance.

"I was pleased considering it was the season opener and the girls had a lot of jitters," she said. "They played with a lot of intensity, and there are a lot of things we need to work on."

Plymouth Christian wins league opener

Plymouth Christian celebrated the start of league play with a 48-47 win over Bloomfield Hills Roeper, which probably felt like kicking itself following Friday's basketball game.

The Eagles are 4-3 overall and 1-0 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. Roeper is 2-5, 0-1.

Roeper had two chances to score in the final 19 seconds but couldn't convert. The Roughriders had just two field goals in the second half.

Roeper led 30-21 at halftime, but the Eagles outscored the Roughriders 18-11 in the third quarter and 9-6 in the fourth.

Manish Nandani paced Christian with 21 points, 16 of which came in the second half. Keith McCants chipped in 15 rebounds and six assists.

Tim Rosser led Roeper with 12 points, while Rick Porter added 11.

CC 64, BROTHER RICE 54: A ferocious fourth-quarter press enabled Redford Catholic Central to break its five-game losing streak at the expense of Birmingham Brother Rice Friday at CC.

Rice had a 43-39 lead entering the final period, but against the Shamrocks' pressure the Warriors folded. CC had a 16-1 run in the quarter that sealed Rice's fate.

Steve Whitlow ignited the Shamrocks, scoring nine of his 18 points in the fourth. Chad Varga also had 18 for CC, and Bob Kummer contributed 13.

Andy Halisip's 19 points was best for Rice, which fell to 0-3 in the Catholic League's Central Division (1-7 overall). Paul Grant added 10.

The win improved CC's record to 3-5 overall, 1-2 in the Central Division.

FRANKLIN 56, GLENN 50: Franklin coach Rod Hanna has a lot of teams frustrated. If the opposition defenses guard Keith Roberts, they can get the ball to center Steve McCool in the low post.

The Patriots did just that on Friday and McCool walked away with a game-high 18 points, but more importantly, Franklin defeated the visiting Westland John Glenn 56-50 in a Western Lakes Activities Association basketball encounter.

"Steve had a good game," Hanna said. "He proved his senior leadership on the floor and hit some crucial free throws down the stretch."

McCool rounded out his offensive effort by chipping in seven rebounds and three assists.

The Patriots (5-2, 2-0) led 26-21 at halftime and 39-34 after three quarters.

Roberts contributed 15 points and six assists for Franklin, while senior guard Dave Roman added 10 points.

Junior forward Kevin Champion paced the Rockets with 15 points. Jackie Howard had 10.

John Glenn is 2-4, 1-1.

STEVENSON 62, WESTERN 43: Livonia Stevenson built a 30-12 halftime lead en route to a WLAA win Friday over host Walled Lake Western.

The Spartans improve to 2-4 overall and 1-1 in the league. Western is 5-2, 1-1.

Jeff Kubik led Western with 16 points.

Swimmers look on bright side

The short-term results weren't too encouraging, but Plymouth Salem coach Chuck Olson figures the experience can only help over the long term.

The Rocks lost a pair of swimming dual meets to Western Lakes Activities Association power Northville (60-33) on Thursday and perennial state power Ann Arbor Huron (115-71) on Tuesday. Salem is 1-3.

"You have to swim good teams if you want to get any better," Olson said. "We're getting beat, but our times are getting better and there's time to get things straightened away."

"We weren't too happy about the final outcome (Thursday), but we didn't swim too bad. We're making progress. We were glad to beat a good team like Novi."

Curt Witthoff had Salem's lone individual win against Northville, swimming 1:00.17 in the 100-yard breaststroke.

HE ALSO helped the Rocks win the 400 freestyle relay, and he was second in the individual medley at 2:11.11. Gary Bergman, Albert Speath, Witthoff and Joe Pawluszka teamed for a 3:34.07 time in the relay. Pawluszka had two solo seconds in the 200 freestyle

(1:57.14) and the 100 freestyle (52.11). Bergman was runner-up in the 50 freestyle with a time of 24.48, and Jon Stridiron finished second in the breaststroke (1:07.06).

Many of the above swimmers were on second-place relays, too.

Witthoff, Stridiron, Sneath and Matt Erickson posted a 1:49.08 time in the 200 medley relay, and Bergman, Brett Petroskey, Matt Erickson and Pawluszka did the 200 freestyle relay in 1:35.84.

Witthoff had the team's only first place in the Huron meet, also. He won the backstroke in 59.70.

Pawluszka was second in the 200 and 100 freestyles with 1:56.75 and 52.23 times, and other seconds came from Witthoff in the IM (2:09.03), Bergman, butterfly, 1:01.42; Brett Meik, 500 freestyle, 5:26.13; Sneath, backstroke, 1:01.88; and Stridiron, breaststroke, 1:06.72.

Salem was second in all three relays. Petroskey, Mark and Matt Erickson and Bergman swam the medley in 1:48.08, and Witthoff, Matt Erickson, Petroskey and Pawluszka posted a 1:37.58 time in the 200 freestyle. Bergman, Pawluszka, Sneath and Witthoff completed the 400 freestyle relay in 3:36.66.

A few exercise ideas for those recovery blues

Dear Myrna: I've been bed ridden for a month, recovering from pneumonia. I am an exerciser and miss it terribly. Are there any exercises I can do in bed? I feel that by the time I recover, I will be a mess from inactivity. Help!

Do you remember when prolonged bed rest was a standard part of the cure for illness or injuries? No longer today, we know better. Doctors now encourage patients to get out of bed and move around, within reason of course.

I do recommend exercises in bed, that is, if your doctor will put a stamp of approval on it. Please ask him first.

You want to exercise in bed to preserve your strength and flexibility. I recommend passive joint motion, isometric exercises and stretching.

- Passive joint motion, or working all of your joints through their full range of motion, is essential for maintaining your fitness. Gently bend your knees and rotate your hips and shoulders. Repeat several times a day.

- Isometric exercises (holding a muscle contraction) will help preserve your muscle strength.

- To strengthen quadriceps, hold your leg out straight and tense up the muscle in front of your thigh (quads). Hold for 10 seconds and release. Repeat 10 times on each leg, progressively holding longer.

- To strengthen inner thigh, roll up a towel, place it between your knees and squeeze hard. Hold for 10 seconds and release. Repeat 10 times. As you progress, hold it more like 15 to 30 seconds.

- To strengthen hamstrings, lie on your back and bend your knees to a 90 degree angle. Push your heels down into the bed. Hold for the same amount of time and gradually progress, holding longer with a brief release.

- To strengthen calf muscles, stand by the bed and lift onto your toes. Repeat rhythmically 20 times, gradually lengthening the amount of times, holding the movement longer.

- To strengthen abdominals, lie on your back with your knees bent and feet and back flat on the bed. Lift shoulders, neck and head together, slowly and rhythmically. Start with 20 repetitions.

- To strengthen butt, lie on your back, feet flat on the bed. Tilt your pelvis up one inch and squeeze tight. Start with 30 repetitions.

Remember to stretch all these wonderful muscles you have worked. After each muscle group contracted, you must spend the time to slowly hold a stretch — at least 30 seconds in each area. Breathe deeply and relax.

Please check with your doctor and take it slow until you have fully recuperated.

Balanced bowling ball will help

SO YOU GOT A NEW bowling ball for Christmas? There is something to consider when you get a new ball, the various ways of balancing or "weighting" when it is fitted.

Some may think that only the professionals or top classic league bowlers are concerned about balance, but if your style lends itself to this technology anyone can take advantage of what can be done at the pro shop to make your equipment more effective.

With the help of an expert fitter, the following will give you a basic idea of what can be done.

The first consideration is to keep the weights within legal limits, according to American Bowling Congress rules. All pro shops know exactly what guidelines stipulate.

There have been occasions where a touring winner has been disqualified for using a ball that exceeded weight limitations.

Basically there are three types of weight balancing: label, leverage axis; along with variations to these basics.

THE USUAL METHOD is label weight. Most balls are designed to be drilled this way with all hole drilled in the area of the main engraving, or logo. This is the heaviest part of the ball. If the fingers are closer to the logo, this is called "finger weight," causing the ball to go further down the lane before it hooks.

Thumb weight means moving the thumb hole closer to the engraving, causing the ball to hook sooner.

Positive weight causes the ball to hook more as it moves toward the pocket.

Negative weight means moving the grip to the right side of the ball, causing it to hook less when it makes its move to the pocket.

Leverage weight creates a very sharp break as the ball nears the pocket, but it also may be hard to control. It is not advisable to use this method, unless the bowler has a very consistent release.

In leverage weight, the extra weight hole is drilled through the positive axis point. It can be very effective on short oil conditions.

AXIS WEIGHT can be very effective for better bowlers. It gives an even arc from the point of release to impact. The method has become popular among "crankers," those who turn the ball a lot, often preventing the ball from over-reacting or hooking too much at the heads.

10-pin alley

Axis weight also requires an extra point, an extra hole (through the label), which enables the driller to conform to ABC weight restrictions. It places the most weight at the bottom of the ball, helping to control a hook.

Axis balance is another variation. It will not use bottom weight and will produce a very consistent, even rolling hook.

There are other variations such as block weight and leveraged axis weight, used under different drilling techniques.

All the versions above describe weights that will produce somewhat less of an effect of maximum leverage or axis weight.

Another variable that comes into play is the surface friction of the ball, but that is another whole subject in itself. It deals with the sanded or polished finish, which also comes into play. This is an additional way to achieve that optimal effect from the ball.

It is not necessary to do this with a new ball. If you have a good ball, it could be re-drilled to try something novel.

I want to thank Ryan Wilson of the Pro-Am Bowling and Trophy Sales in Livonia for providing me with some good information.

Ryan, like many of the other pro shop owners, can advise you about experimenting with any of these methods. It might not be for everybody, but if you can get that little extra pop out of the ball, it just might be worth looking into.

Also, thanks to Randy Pierce of K&S Bowling at Super Bowl in Canton Township for providing additional material on this complex subject.

Sizing up that record catch

HAVING LOCATED the bottom of the lake, I raised my teardrop at the end of the hole and carefully threaded a wax worm on the shaft. Back into the icy water it went, but before the lure reached the desired depth I felt a slight tug on the line. A quick twitch from my end and, hand-over-hand, I was pulling in my first bluegill of the ice fishing season.

I'm not a big fan of first ice — although most agree it provides some of the best angling action of the season — mostly because... well... I'm chicken. Unless there's a thick cover of solid ice you won't catch me even considering a trip to the lake.

Comforted by the consistently cold weather we've enjoyed since the holidays, I accepted an invitation Saturday to join my friends Jake and Bill Edwards on "a little lake in northern Oakland County."

They kept drilling stories into me all the way to the lake about the "giant" blue gill they caught the week-end before.

But I'd fished other people's "secret hot spots" before and if past experiences held true I figured I was in line for another long, cold afternoon.

I SHOULD HAVE realized things would be different this time around as soon as we parked the car and headed toward the lake.

Bill Parker

Our journey came to an end at the south shore of a tiny isolated lake. Covered with a soft bed of virgin snow, its shoreline was decorated with more than a dozen white-domed muskrat houses.

"There's something refreshing about winter in the woods," I thought, as I stood for a moment and drank in the beauty and serenity of the surroundings. "This is what winter in Michigan is all about."

The cloudy windless skies and mild temperatures which hovered near 30 degrees enhanced the experience all the more.

"On a day like this they'll be feeding all afternoon," explained Bill, "and it's a lot easier to stay on the lake when it's not real cold and windy."

The fish were hitting and it made no difference what we used for bait. Wax worms, spikes, mousies, they all work. At times I fished with a naked teardrop dangling at the end of my line and I still had gills coming out of the hole.

Forty-five minutes into our adventure Jake pulled up a monster. It was nearly a foot long and was closing in on a pound in weight.

We only kept the one big enough to fillet — eight-inches or more — and by the end of the afternoon we had close to 40 fish on the ice.

"With all these big fish, this is the kind of lake you could catch a record out of," said Bill.

WE DIDN'T CATCH any record fish that day, but the experience got me thinking about exactly what an angler should do if a fish is caught that may be a record.

The following tips have been passed along by the National Fresh Water Fishing Hall of Fame in Hayward, Wis., for recognition of world records. The same process should be followed for potential state record or Master Angler fish:

- If you think you have a record, do not allow another person to touch your line or lure during the encounter (except for help in netting or gaffing).

- Weigh the fish on a certified scale (one which is legal for trade) as soon as possible. Such scales are found at stores, post offices, fisheries, feed mills and often in sport shops. Be sure the scale has a seal on it bearing a number, inspector and date of check.

- Weigh the fish only once in the presence of two disinterested witnesses and get their full names, addresses and signatures. Measure the girth, fork length and full length.

- Have the fish identified by a professional fisheries biologist and get that person's full name, address signature and place of employment.

- Take a close up photo (color is best). Hold the fish broadside for further identification. If possible also take a black/white photo for press reprint purpose.

- Do not open the fish and keep it cold-fresh or frozen until the status has been determined. (A taxidermist can still mount a fish than has been frozen.)

- Save the first 25-feet or more of line next to the hook/bait to send with your application for laboratory line test purposes. Wind the line on a notched cardboard to avoid kinks.

Sally Field plays Betty Mahmoody, an American woman who makes a daring escape from Iran where with her young daughter, played by Sheila Rosenthal, she is held against her will by her husband in "Not Without My Daughter."

'Daughter:' A Chronicle of remarkable courage

Despite daily tension and the many concerns residents of our area face, by comparison with much of the world we are secure and comfortable. "Not Without My Daughter" (A, PG-13, 115 minutes) dispels any doubt about that premise, particularly for women here who enjoy civil rights unparalleled in many countries.

The film chronicles the story of Betty Mahmoody, played perfectly by Sally Field. Mahmoody, a former resident of Alpena who now lives in Owosso, was married to an Iranian doctor (Alfred Molina). Although he had lived in this country for 20 years, he maintained close contact with his family in Iran.

In 1984, in order to please her husband Moody, she agreed to a two-week vacation in Iran so that he could see his family. They took their then five-year-old daughter Mahtob (Sheila Rosenthal) with them.

When the two weeks ended, Moody refused to return and became extremely abusive. Under Iranian law, Betty had no rights as we know them, and Moody could beat her with impunity, lock her up and separate her from her daughter.

The only escape possible from this life was divorce which, again under Iranian law, meant Betty would have to leave Iran without her daughter who automatically reverted to her father's custody.

There was one alternative — illegal (by Iranian law) escape through an informal underground over the mountains into Turkey. Betty ended two years of captivity in Iran by just such an arduous trip, returning to the United States in 1986.

"NOT WITHOUT My Daughter" is an excellent chronicle of her remarkable courage. Since her return to this country, she has become an outspoken advocate of the rights of children involved in international divorce/custody cases.

The film is powerful and poignant, especially so Field's ability to project so realistically the seemingly contradictory qualities of strength and vulnerability. As a matter of fact, that is just how it was. Mahmoody was extremely vulnerable in Iran, but she summoned great personal strength to escape with her daughter and return to this country.

"Not Without My Daughter" speaks eloquently about the terrible tragedy thousands of American families undergo when one parent wants to take children overseas to live while the other parent wishes to remain at home.

It also is a powerful film which effectively and realistically portrays the tragedy and terror of children torn by parents from different countries and clashing cultures.

ANOTHER LONG-STANDING, international political problem-area, Northern Ireland, doesn't fare well at all in "Hidden Agenda" (D-, R, 110 minutes), a rather long and very boring "talkumentary." Despite advertising to the contrary, it is not a political thriller.

Rather, "Hidden Agenda," preaches at great length and the only screen thrill is "The End." The film contends that the "people" and IRA revolutionaries are good while the British establishment is evil.

While such political speculation is interesting, filmmakers need to do more than preach political viewpoints. Every film must be entertaining in order to attract attention. Without that quality, ideas are lost — and so are audiences.

Inevitably viewers and critics alike will compare "Awakenings" (B, PG-13, 121 minutes) to "Charly" and "Rainman." While such comparisons are commonplace, in this case they signal a lack of originality in style and presentation, even though the film is well-done.

The major bone of contention here is that "Awakenings" has no fresh insights, no brilliant new techniques, nothing to distinguish it from other films. In the final analysis, despite, fine performances and excellent production design, "Awakenings" is nowhere near as good as it ought to be.

Dr. Malcom Sayer (Robin Williams) is a shy, retiring research scientist who was involved in what sounds like a Monty Python comedy routine — extracting chemicals from five tons of earthworms. It couldn't be done so now he needs a job and turns up as a psychiatrist at the Bainbridge Hospital for chronic patients in the Bronx. The film is based on a true story.

Dr. Sayer becomes obsessed with helping catatonic patients who, he soon discovers, developed their catatonia after bouts with encephalitis. Chief among those patients is Lenoard Lowe (Robert DeNiro).

As good an actor as Robin Williams is, his shy, bumbling routine is an obvious act through which Williams' sophisticated persona constantly emerges.

AT THE SAME time, DeNiro has all the moves down pat from catatonic to suave to nervous-spastic and back to catatonic — but somehow humanity is missing from his technically excellent performance. It's not clear whether that's his fault or whether Director Penny Marshall's vision is flawed. Whatever the reason, the bottom line is pedestrian humanism.

In a film, starring two technically perfect principles, only three ladies in support project the sympathetic that the film lacks — Julie Kavner as nurse Eleanor Costello, Ruth Nelson as Leonard's mother and Penelope Ann Miller as the girl, Paula, to whom Leonard is attracted.

All three have the emotion of great films. Unfortunately, their roles are limited — and so is "Awakenings."

STILL PLAYING:

"Almost an Angel" (C-, PG, 95 minutes).
A slow, cliched Paul Hogan doesn't make a probationary angel.

"Bonfire of the Vanities" (C+, R, 120 minutes).
Unbelievable caricatures and jumbled sub-plots detract from discussion of the politics of justice.

"Child's Play 2" (*, R).
"Chucky" returns.
"Dances With Wolves" (A, PG-13, 180 minutes).

Kevin Costner's magnificent ode to brotherhood and brutality on America's western frontier during and after the Civil War.

"Edward Scissorhands" (C, PG-13, 100 minutes).
Unusual young man with scissors instead of hands shakes up the suburbs after moving in with the Avon lady and her family.

"Ghost" (A, PG-13, 105 minutes).
Banker's ghost (Patrick Swayze) hangs around after life to protect loved one (Demi Moore). Spiritualist (Whoopi Goldberg) helps him and this romantic/comedy/thriller.

"The Godfather, Part III" (C+, R, 161 minutes).
Disappointing repeat of formula established in Parts I and II albeit slick production is worth watching.

"Havana" (B, R, 135 minutes).
Robert Redford is high-stakes poker player in Havana just before Cuba became Castro's.

"Home Alone" (B-, PG, 100 minutes).
Engaging comedy about young boy (Macaulay Culkin) left at home by accident.

"Jacob's Ladder" (A, R, 115 minutes).
Sensational, riveting film experience redeems and rewards in story of Jacob Singer's (Tim Robbins) re-entry to civilian life after Vietnam trauma.

"Kindergarten Cop" (B-, PG-13, 105 minutes).
Schwarzenegger is macho and the kids are cute but the plot isn't.

"Look Who's Talking Too" (F, PG-13, 75 minutes).
Stupid sequel has little to offer.

"Mermaids" (A-, PG-13, 110 minutes).
Fine romantic comedy features Cher as an unusual matriarch. Winona Ryder is excellent as her teenage daughter.

"Misery" (C+, R, 100 minutes).
Story of writer and obsessed fan waffles back and forth from psychotic thriller to slasher epic.

DFT continues with 'Cyrano'

By John Monaghan
special writer

With more than 70 films to his credit, French actor Gerard Depardieu deserves the title "the hardest working man in show business." He's certainly no stranger to the Detroit Film Theatre, which has premiered many of his films.

One of Depardieu's latest, "Cyrano de Bergerac," continues its two-week run at the Detroit Institute of Art's popular film program. Cyrano is "the role Depardieu was born to play," DFT director Elliot Wilhelm said.

"He's not traditionally good looking," Wilhelm said. "In fact, he didn't need that much makeup because he's got such a big nose anyway. He doesn't don the kind of incredibly long nose that Jose Ferrer wore when he played Cyrano."

THE REST of the DFT season, which continues through early May, focuses on premiers from faraway places. Most are offbeat titles from (for now) little-known directors.

"Tilal (The Law)" (Feb. 1-2) is the latest from Indrissa Ouedrago, the African director of "Yabba." In it, a young man returns from two years away to discover that his fiancée has become his father's second wife.

"Baxter," a surreal canine comedy from France, views the world through the eyes of a supremely ugly and highly opinionated pit bull. It plays April 5-7.

"Superstar: The Life and Times of Andy Warhol" (April 19-21) contains never before seen documentary footage of the late artist, along with interviews from Lou Reed, Dennis Hopper, Liza Minnelli and Shelley Winters. Clips from Warhol's films and his legendary appearance on TV's "The Love Boat" are among the highlights.

THE DFT evening screenings have moved away from older titles.

Hemdale Film Corp. gave us the Academy Award-winning "Platoon," an explosive indictment of the Vietnam War. Now it has released "Hidden Agenda," a chilling political thriller.

In the tradition of "Missing" and "Z," "Hidden Agenda" is a realistic and provocative essay on the political unrest in Northern Ireland in the early 1980s.

THE SPELLBINDING story of "Hidden Agenda" unwinds after the arrival in Belfast of four members of the International League for Civil Liberties, including league secretary Ingrid Jessner (Oscar nominee Frances McDormand) and her fiancé, American lawyer Paul Sullivan (Brad Dourif).

Movie-goers may recognize Dourif and McDormand from their co-starring roles in "Mississippi Burning" as Deputy and Mrs. Bell.

With gritty realism, "Hidden Agenda" — banned in Britain — shows the lengths, not excluding murder, to which a government, its judiciary and its secret service will go.

Awarded the special jury prize at the Cannes Film Festival, "Hidden Agenda" is an important story that wasn't being told," said British director Ken Loach. "But we couldn't just tell the story of these unexplained shootings in Northern Ireland, because it has become common knowledge that people there are shot instead of being brought to trial.

"THE NORTHERN Ireland shootings and the aborted inquiry into them indicate how Britain operates in Ireland and how the techniques used there have wider implications about how British intelligence operates all over Britain."

Loach, an award-winning and controversial, director has had four of his television documentaries banned in Britain.

"The central issue of 'Hidden Agenda' is that democracy is often just skin deep," he said. "I hope the film offers a glimpse of the reality behind the parliamentary facade, if only a fictional glimpse. That's what we want people to take from the film."

Loach's partner of 20 years, Manchester-born screenwriter Jim Allen, said he believed he was obligated to tackle the subject.

In the same way American writers are addressing the legacy of the Vietnam War, Allen said there's a "moral obligation for British writers to deal with Northern Ireland."

"It would be obscene for us not to. I want people to be aware of what's happening in Northern Ireland because what happens there has implications for Britain and the rest of the world. A lot of people are being killed there."

HEMDALE HAS made a reputation taking chances on controversial films. Rather than shy away from controversy, Hemdale executive producer John Daly seems to thrive on it.

At the film's press conference at Cannes, "Hidden Agenda" sparked a heated debate among the filmmakers and British journalists.

Hemdale set a record for consecutive awards won by an independent company after the risky "Platoon" won four Academy Awards, including best picture in 1986. In 1987, the British filmmaker produced "The Last Emperor," winner of nine Academy Awards, including best picture.

Etch 'A' Sketch draws with ska

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Ska was the "blue beat" period of Desmond Dekker and Prince Buster of the 1960s.

Ska was the "Tu-tone" era of English Beat and the Specials in the early 1980s.

Ska is the third generation of players such as Gangster Fun and Exceptions energized by punk and defining a sound for the 1990s.

Ska is here. Ska is there. Ska is everywhere.

So say members of Etch 'A' Sketch, a new group of purveyors of the traditionally upbeat dance music. Contrary to Santayana's grim prediction about the unknowing repeating the past, this Ann Arbor-based outfit revels in ska history. "(Ska) is like a lifestyle," said lead singer Pat Avsharian.

Archivists, though, are usually not the fresh-carried variety barely 18. They weren't even born when Dekker was cranking out '60s chestnuts like "Israelites," mere children when the Specials and English Beat were redefining the ska sound for the '80s.

A love of ska led keyboardist Rachel Williams, guitarist Ben Mancell and Avsharian to form Etch 'A' Sketch this past summer.

IN A SHORT time, Etch 'A' Sketch has become a regular on the Detroit-Ann Arbor club circuit while venturing out to such metropolises as Toronto and Chicago. An abandoned porno book store, a biker farm and frat houses have also served as some unlikely venues for their shows.

Yet Etch 'A' Sketch are mere babes, impressionistic while others are hardened by the futility of the music scene. Enthusiasm spills over into members interrupting one another when discussing the music they perform.

Giddiness aside, Etch 'A' Sketch are true to their craft. Their vision is unquestioned.

"I think a lot of the bands now are trying to sound like the 'Tu-tone' bands," Avsharian said. "We try to get back more to the roots."

History lessons are taught on stage. Amid a pool of flaying limbs on the dance floor, Etch 'A' Sketch performed a short but energized set recently at the Blind Pig.

Ben Mancell gyrates while paying tribute to the forerunners of ska, including a stinging cover of Dekker's "Israelites." Avsharian moves smoothly, succinctly to the beat while singing.

Other members apparently are interchangeable. On this night, the horn section includes Joe Cislo on trombone.

Big Picture wins in Marlboro Country

By Joseph S. Hoffmann
special writer

A local band called The Big Picture recently won the Marlboro National Talent Roundup.

Bands from around the country submitted demo tapes in order to be considered for the regional finals in their area. Eight finalists were then selected nationwide. Their last round was in Nashville, Tenn., last month.

The Big Picture took the win — 40 hours studio time and a $30,000 cash prize.

The Big Picture is Jeff Scott, lead vocals, Huntington Woods; Duane Harlick, guitar and vocals, Royal Oak; Mike Hynes, bass, Royal Oak; Andy Combs, drums, Pontiac; Skip Pruitt, saxophone, Detroit; Todd Ague, keyboards and backing vocals, Royal Oak.

"Any good band can go on stage and make great sounding music, but we took that music and turned it into a show atmosphere... putting on a concert for people, so that they were not just listening to music, but experiencing it," Harlick said. "I think that's what gave us the edge, the energy we have, our showmanship and our ability to take our music and have it past the second row and into the last row so that everybody gets a piece."

Their sound is a high energy compilation of jazz, funk, blues and soul. Each member is a congenial addition to the band.

PRUITT ROCKS the house with his wieldy sax solos. Hynes commands a mean six-string slap bass. Harlick plays his jazz solos with ease and conviction. Combs's fusion background melds in perfectly on the drums.

Ague's tri-level keyboard setup is used completely and to jazzy perfection. Top this all off with Scott's smooth, sultry vocals and what have you got? Well, I think you get the picture.

"We're one of the only bands in town that is pretty cohesive in its focus," Ague said. "We do a good variety of music and we always put our own signature to each arrangement."

But things weren't always so smooth sailing explained Harlick.

"Their aren't many places that accept what we do," he said "We've played at some clubs that expected to hear us play techno-pop dance music, with a lot of rap, wicky, wicky, wicky, wicky and scratching records. That was bad news, 'cause that's not what we do."

You can check them out for yourself and see what it is they do, at Corradi's AC in Troy where they perform most weekends.

HELL'S DITCH — The Pogues

Shane MacGowan may or may not be in bad shape, but he continues to write terrific songs and the band continues to make good music. "Hell's Ditch," the band's latest release is very good indeed.

In it, MacGowan shows again that he can write a lyric as well as anybody. He is probably better known, unfortunately, for his propensity for drink, and speculation continues about his physical health.

In "Hell's Ditch," we are led on a musical tour of the seedy side, where booze and betrayal abound. It's a tough and dirty place, familiar territory to Pogues fans.

The song "Rain Street," for example, "A church bell rings an old drunk sings/a young girl hawks her wedding ring."

The music is catchy, slightly exotic, and surprisingly upbeat, especially when led by the bass lines of Darryl Hunt. "Rain Street" is positively joyful in melody. So too is the opening cut, in which a well-traveled narrator seeks to spend eternity "on the sunnyside of the street."

This LP, the band's fifth by Joe Strummer, was produced by the Pogues a few years back and produced plenty of records with his former band, the Clash.

By now, the Pogues seem to have polished their raw sounds just enough. The band blends its punk roots with traditional Celtic sounds. Accordion, mandolin and tin whistle are often more prominent than electric guitars. They are likely to launch into their own arrangement of a traditional tune, as they do here with the lovely "Maidrin Rua."

Much of the band's appeal and fame stems from the ornery MacGowan, the one with the bad teeth, growling vocal and talent with a pen. On "Hell's Ditch," he seems to be raising hell less and seeking refuge more. There are hints of redemption or, at least, resignation here too, lest we despair.

"Finally found a place they could never reach/Sipping Singha beer on Pattaya Beach," he sings in "House of the Gods." If it is refuge he wants, give him refuge.

HACK — Information Society

A sound for the '90s. This is a good way to describe Information Society's latest release called simply "Hack" (Tommy Boy Records).

"We had been ordinary hacks before we had been raised to our present status as first of all the hacks in the world," explains backup vocalist Kurt Valaquen, on where they got the name.

In this computer age, this band delivers a computer age sound.

Information Society is a band out of Minneapolis, Minn. Their sound is a high-tech mish-mash, that for the most part, sounds pleasing and upbeat. They call their style of music "Kraftwerk and Funk." I think that describes it pretty well.

Information Society is not comprised of the traditional guitar, bass, drums combination. It consists of three primary members: Paul Robb, James Cassidy and Kurt Valaquen. They rely on drum machine and synthesizer effects to comprise the core of their sound.

Their cassette lists 22, that's right

22, cuts on it. But, only 10 of those songs have a lyrical content to them. Much of the album is a collage of sound effects and audio wizardry. In fact, there may be a bit too much. But when it gets right down to the musical content of the songs, they're really quite good.

Instead of sides A and B, there is the "Gilligan Side" and the "Skipper Side." Thus, on the Skipper Side of the collection, the tape kicks off the second side with an interesting sound collage called "Hard Currency."

Another song called "Can't Slow Down" is a lively dance number. I like the saxophone solo.

On the lighter side, "Now That I Have You" is one of their more dulcet contributions. It also sounds good.

Where a lot of bands have come across sounding empty and incomplete under such circumstances, Information Society seems to pull this off quite well.

THE IMMACULATE COLLECTION — Madonna

OK, I give up. No more criticism of Madonna out of this corner. Period.

By now, this Rochester Hills lass is well beyond any meaningful criticism anyway. She's a force of nature, like Yellowstone, Niagra Falls, or Elvis. She's a growth industry, like GM, Michael Jordan or Mickey Mouse.

You know all these songs, too. From the bouncy "Like a Virgin" to the slinky "Vogue," almost all were No. 1, top-of-the-pops, Casey Kasem-approved chartbusters.

And if you don't know the two new songs, you soon will. The sassy "Justify My Love" just reached No. 1 (aided no doubt by its steamy MTV-banned video). "Rescue Me," the other new track, seems destined to follow.

What's really significant about this collection is that it is among the first major artist albums issued in the new "Q Sound." (Madonna strikes again. Six years ago she was among the first to release an all-digital album.)

The new technology — itself controversial — is supposed to make CDs sound even richer and fuller. There's no definitive proof here as to whether Q sound will catch on, but Madonna's dance-beat hits do sound especially hot. Several — including "Virgin" and "Into the Groove" appear to have been ever-so-slightly remixed.

Anyhow, it's a nice look back. The difference between Madonna's almost-innocent early hits, such as "Holiday" and her later, bolder, work such as "Express Yourself" is clearly apparent. Despite the higher-than-normal list price — ouch! — there's also a generous sampling. There's even a pricey boxed edition that includes a video greatest hits.

Madonna is pulling down a curtain of sorts, but unlike recent hits packages by some contemporaries, it's only on Act 1.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

The restored version of "L'Atalante" (1934), screening March 1-3, is a notable exception, the second — and last — film from French director Jean Vigo.

Stylistically ahead of its time, with a free-wheeling "boy-meets-girl" narrative and oddball characters, "L'Atalante" was butchered almost immediately upon release. Popular songs of the day were added to the soundtrack to boost weak ticket sales.

The restoration of sound and image is exciting for Wilhelm, who counts "L'Atalante" among his all-time favorite movies and even booked it for the weekend of his birthday.

THE SEASON concludes with more restored films sporting exotic locales. "Tabu" (1931), the epic collaboration between directors F.W. Murnau and Robert Flaherty, is a love story set in the South Seas.

"Chang" (1927) and "Grass" (1925) were filmed under impossible conditions by Marian C. Cooper and Ernest Schoedsack, who later brought "King Kong" to the screen.

"They were amazing filmmakers who would find themselves standing among a herd of wild beasts and keep right on shooting," Wilhelm said.

DFT PATRONS will find a couple of changes this season. General ticket prices, which have doubled in the past two years, now stand at $5, with a book of five discount coupons available for $17.50.

More exciting is the opening of the Crystal Gallery Cafe, behind the auditorium balcony, where light snacks, pastries and a complete beverage and bar service will be offered before films.

Almost unbelievably, Detroit's most popular alternative film venue has suffered financial losses in recent seasons. These changes, Wilhelm said, should put it back in the black.

bone and Tarek Ajami on trumpet, while Chris Warland handles the saxophone.

Bassist John Holkeboer and drummer Josh Mancell (older brother of Ben) are last-minute replacements. And Josh Mancell is just visiting for winter break from college.

"I WAS REALLY into ska five years ago," Josh Mancell said. "I wanted to form a ska band really bad then. It was between the second and third generation, and no one was interested."

Josh Mancell will return to school in New York and leave Etch 'A' Sketch drummerless. Avasharian doesn't seem worried, despite the band's entering the studio soon to record a couple of tracks for a ska compilation.

"We'll find somebody," Avasharian said.

Youthful determination always succeeds. Etch 'A' Sketch are determined to add their own perspective to ska.

First, they want to shoot down some of the misconceptions — like ska is only a happy-go-lucky dance music. Avasharian wrote one number, "Slipping Away," which focuses on being a prisoner of alcohol.

The band also wants to proselytize to the un-skaed. The music has appealed to a wide variety of crowds through the years: punks, skin heads, mods, "rude boys," Rastafarians and even jazz aficionados.

"I like to play before crowds that are ignorant about ska," Ben Mancell. "Then we can open their minds to ska."

STREET SENSE

Cross-dressing: Not easy to cover complicated topic

Dear Ms. Schiff:

It has been often said that a little knowledge can be dangerous, and this statement is obviously true with respect to your Nov. 26 column about cross-dressers.

Further, your lack of knowledge about cross-dressing is particularly disturbing because many readers of your column will take your statement as the truth, and the total story of cross-dressers.

It is also why many cross-dressers find that the professional community knows very little about the subject and they, the patients, end up educating the professional while paying to do so.

I do not dispute that cross-dressing is sexually motivated in its earliest stages. Many cross-dressers remain in that stage for their entire lives. However, many move beyond this initial stage. Transvestism is not a stagnant condition as is noted in Richard F. Doctor's book "Transvestites and Transsexuals, Toward a Theory of Cross-Gender Behavior." (Plenum Press, 1988.)

You did not comment about the role of gender identity in cross-dressing. For many, in fact, the majority of cross-dressers, their gender identity is 100 percent male, but as you move through the spectrum of transvestism and transsexualism, gender identity and gender dysphasia play a definite role.

This gender identity problem was first identified by Harry Benjamin in 1956, when he established his guide to transsexualism. That established three categories of transvestism and three categories of transsexualism.

Most importantly, be recognized that human beings cannot be put into little boxes and labeled, but rather that the categories will overlap and that characteristics may transcend individual categories.

You mentioned that some cross-dressers are gay and some are not. It is generally acknowledged that the vast majority of cross-dressers are heterosexual. I've read estimates that as many as 80 percent are heterosexual. The homosexual cross-dresser has an entirely different motivation for cross-dressing and certainly has no desire to be castrated.

There are many sources for information on the subject, and I believe you could do your readers a service by providing these sources to them in a future column. A local cross-dressing organization is Crossroads, P.O. Box 1245, Royal Oak 48068 (448-0782). The national organization is the International Foundation for Gender Education, P.O. Box 367, Wayland, Mass. 01778 (617-894-8340). Both organizations have programs for significant others as well as cross-dressers.

Thank you for your time.

T.S.S.

Dear T.S.S.,

Thank you for your informative letter about cross-dressers. I made the phone calls you recommended and received further literature on cross-dressing.

As I said in my first column, the subject is a complicated one with a great deal of controversy between people of different opinions. I am putting in excerpts from your letter to transmit to the readers of this column some of your vast knowledge on the subject.

My column talked about the most common types of cross-dressing. Your letter expands on what I have said and talks about many different types. Much more, even than your discussion, could be said. There is no disagreement between us; you have told us more about than I did.

Again, thank you for your contribution to public education. I hope to keep this column open as an open forum without prejudice to any group.

A brush with unemployment leads to life of laughs

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Funny, B.B. Chang, Skip Pendleton and Sid Fishman only show their faces when Karl Anthony's around. Let it be said Anthony keeps some strange company.

Start off with B.B. Chang. He's an Oriental blues singer whose legacy was passed down by his father, Mind Mellow Egg Roll, who came over during the Gold Rush.

APPARENTLY, Mr. Egg Roll served as Hop Sing's assistant on "Bonanza." He wasn't able to cook for the Cartwrights, and instead was left with the unsavory task of washing Hoss' underwear.

This, it is said, gave Egg Roll the blues.

Sid Fishman used to own a bagel and lox store in Southfield. But Fishman gave it up to become a private eye.

Then there's Skip Pendleton. What a sad tale.

"He's a manic chemical tester for Dupont," said Anthony, shaking his head. "He's been testing chemicals too long. He's too far gone."

Anthony knows this better than anyone. He created Skip along with B.B. and Fishman.

But unlike the child who has an imaginary friend, Anthony parades his characters out to the delight of audiences at area comedy clubs.

ANTHONY'S THREE PALS and some others will appear along with a multitude of real-life comics Tuesday, Jan. 15, at Chaplin's West in Detroit. The yuk-yuk extravaganza, "Comics for Kids," is a benefit for Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Scheduled to appear are national acts Tommy Sledge, John Rathbone, Fred Klett, Louis Ramey and Don Reese, along with Detroiters Norm Stulz and Anthony.

Anthony, 24, organized the event out of gratitude. He was born at Children's Hospital 2½ months prematurely, suffering from collapsed lungs.

"I always wanted to do a benefit for Children's Hospital," said Anthony, who grew up in Oak Park. "I never knew how to go about it. Comedy seemed to be the obvious choice."

FOR THE benefit and the obvious career choice for Anthony. The likes of Sid Fishman first surfaced when Anthony did voice characterizations on WRIF-FM.

He worked on the "Pat & Wags" morning show and with Greg "The Cutting Edge" St. James during the evenings. When the station changed management, cutbacks were made and Anthony was without a job.

A search for employment ensued for six months. Stand-up comedy was a viable alternative. Anthony tried his luck at an open mike night at the Comedy Castle.

"It was very liberating. I enjoyed working in radio. I wanted to experience more of the limelight."

"On radio, when you're on the air, you don't know if people are laughing. In stand-up comedy... the response is immediate."

AS HIS stage act developed, Anthony found he could flesh out the characters by using costumes and facial expressions.

Some bits have become full-blown productions, like his pro wrestling turned Broadway piece "That's Wrestle-tainment."

He is following a path set forth by Red Skelton and Billy Crystal, both considered the masters of characterizations. Anthony draws his stage friends from everyday life.

"To flesh out a character, they have to become three-dimensional. You have to have a background. I usually sit down beforehand and make up a history of this character."

Like B.B. Chang, for instance. Anthony saw a pair of Oriental guys singing and the idea of a Chinese blues singer came about.

ANTHONY ALWAYS had an imagination, describing himself as a "closet comedian in his youth."

"I wrote for the class clown."

While Dan Quayle jokes have become standard fare on the comedy trail, Anthony and Co. is carving its own niche.

"It's something different to look at. There's only so many topics to talk about. It seems to me comedians are overlapping."

"Comics for Kids" will take place 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 15, at Chaplin's West Comedy Club, 16800 Telegraph, one block south of Six Mile, Detroit. Admission is $5. Proceeds benefit Children's Hospital of Michigan. For information, call 533-8866.

It could be said that Karl Anthony has an overactive imagination with a passel of friends he's created. But he keeps audiences laughing with the antics of his imaginary buddies.

Bikinis to beauties: A stitch at a time

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Riley Carney is the kind of guy that can keep you in stitches. But don't write the Reford Township man off as a jokester. On the contrary, Carney's talent involves Lycra, needles and thread.

In fact, you've probably seen samples of his work and not even realized it. Those walking Strohs beer cans at the Montreaux Detroit Jazz Festival. The Captain America-style costumes of male strippers America's Ultimate V. Marilyn Turner doing a spoof of Cher's Vic Tanny commercial.

His swimsuit designs helped Elizabeth Puelo, Miss Michigan 1987, win her swimsuit preliminary, and he designed a swimsuit for former Miss America 1988, Kaye Lanie Raye Rafko.

If you need just the right costume for a talent competition, a bathing suit to knock the socks off the judges, or a skating outfit that exudes success, Carney is the person to see.

That's what the Gail and Rice Talent Agency in Livonia did when it needed costumes for a bevy of entertainers.

"I make the auto show costumes for Gail and Rice," Carney said, flipping through photo albums to show off his work. His albums are like a listing from "Who's Who."

"THE LAST four Miss Michigans for the Miss America pageant have been mine," he said, pointing to a collage of photographs on a bulletin board.

If you're at the North American International Auto Show this week, you'll see his sewing showmanship on the Chevy Heart Beat Dancers, whom he has dressed since 1986.

His costumes have been worn by the Team Toyota Dancers, Chevy Geo dancers, GMC Truck dancers, and numerous narrators and turntable models. His costumes also have been worn by dancers and magicians for GM. But his pride and joy, he said, are the costumes he designed for the 1989 Chevy dancers.

"I'm really proud . . . I did the design; I had total control over the project. Auto show costumes have to hold up. These dancers perform 12 times a day for six months."

But don't look for Carney's Sassy's Designs under costumes in the Yellow Pages. He moved from a storefront in a small mall in Troy last year to the basement of his Redford Township home.

Corner shelves are stacked six deep with bolts of fabric. A Ping-Pong table doubles as his cutting and piecing table. The family cats share the sitting area with customers such as Kelly Wiechelmann, who came from Kalamazoo to have Carney create a dance costume for the upcoming Heart of Michigan Pageant.

AND DON'T look for a collection of certificates or diplomas from design schools hanging on the wall. His talent comes from two sources — his high school home economics class and a knack for working with Lycra. Lycra, you see, is the only — and we mean only — fabric he works with.

Carney got his start, so to speak, at his Columbus, Ga., high school, where he decided to break the mold and enroll in the then-girls-only class.

"I wanted to take home ec and was sent down to see the coach for a men-don't-eat-quiche lecture."

He won the battle after a "Yankee reporter" interviewed him on the lawn of the high school, but the victory had its down side. While learning the basics of sewing, he was enduring taunts in the school halls.

After school, he made his way to Miami Beach, where, while down on his luck, he salvaged scraps of Lycra from behind a store. He used his home ec talents to stitch up a selection of bikinis.

He put the top down on his convertible and headed for the beach, where he sold the bikinis for $15 each. With that, Carney became a designer and went into business for himself.

HE HAS parlayed his skills by making burlesque costumes, which at the time were "quite extravagant," and costumes for go-go dancers.

He got his start in the Detroit area by designing competition costumes for Sheryl's School of Dance in Livonia. After watching figure skating on television, he decided to make up two sample costumes in Lycra and take them to the Detroit Skating Club in Bloomfield Hills.

Carney works only with Lycra because it offers a soft drape and stretchability, making it a good camouflage for figure problems and small fluctuations in weight. He also works without patterns.

"There are no costume patterns," Carney said draping white Lycra over Wiechelmann's shoulder. "You have to have a knack for this. You either can do this or you can't. I've learned a lot by taking things apart and putting them back together."

Wiechelmann is on a fast track in the pageant circuit. A former Miss Saginaw County and current Miss Kalamazoo County, she has set her sights on the Miss Michigan crown. She competed last year and finished fourth. She decided to give the pageant one more try to satisfy her curiosity as to "what could happen."

FOR THE talent portion of the Heart of Michigan Pageant, she will dance on pointe to "Singin' in the Rain." Carney's costume will feature a '50s-style full skirt decorated with raindrop baubles and beads.

Custom-made costumes don't come cheap. Carney has been able to provide for his family quite nicely by turning out three to six costumes a week. A gown for a pageant can run between $600 and $3,000, while a skating outfit averages $125-300.

Wiechelmann has been able to afford her costume on her teacher's salary by doing the beadwork — with the help of her mother — on the shoulders.

"I definitely think you dance better when you're wearing something you feel great in," Wiechelmann said. "Riley is definitely the best. I haven't found a place that comes close to this kind of contest clothing."

Carney isn't one to advertise his business excessively, but by word of mouth his business has grown. He likes the idea of being his own boss, although he does lament those weeks when work is sparse to non-existent.

But then he need only look at his autographed photo of Doni, a Phyllis Diller impersonator. Her message is short and to the point: "To the only man who keeps me in stitches."

A drape here, a pin there, and Riley Carney finds out how the Lycra material will fall in his costumes.

Riley Carney is creating a one-of-a-kind dance costume that will have a '50s style skirt and beading for Kelly Wiechelmann's rendition of "Singin' in the Rain."

Student birdhouse designers to compete

THE ACCENT'S on creativity for student woodworkers in the Best Birdhouse Builder Contest, quickly becoming a popular part of the International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show in Detroit.

Nearly 1,200 seventh and eighth graders from the Detroit area are expected to participate in the second annual Best Birdhouse Builder Contest.

Sponsored by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, the contest is open to all seventh and eighth graders within the Observer & Eccentric circulation area.

All birdhouses will be displayed at the Cobo Conference & Exhibition Center, Detroit, during the 1991 International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show March 16-24.

Brandon Bogart, an eighth grader from Plymouth, won last year's contest. He got into the business of making and selling bluebird houses because he "liked birds, and liked to work with wood, and found it fun and profitable."

EACH STUDENT who competes in the contest must follow plans from the DNR's "Woodworking for Wildlife."

Participants may choose to build a house in one of the following categories: House Wren, Bluebird, Wood Duck, Barred Owl, Great Crested Flycatcher, American Kestrel, American Robin, and Tree Swallow.

In October, the Observer & Eccentric hosted a workshop for seventh and eighth grade science and industrial arts teachers.

The workshop explained how to fold the contest into lesson plans, ways to introduce students to following DNR specifications and use of non-toxic materials. About 50 teachers attended the 2½-hour workshop.

Present for the sponsoring organizations were: Steve Barnaby, O&E managing editor; Carol McCloud, O&E promotions manager; Tim Nowicki, O&E nature columnist; Rosalie Lamb, senior staff vice president, Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, Farmington Hills; Sally DeRoo, teacher, Middle Junior High, Plymouth; Ed Burger, teacher, St. Valentine, Redford Township; Mike DeFrancesco, teacher, Hilbert Junior High, Redford; Rose Szwed, public relations director, Stone & Simons Advertising, Southfield.

To foster increased involvement and excitement, lectures by contest officials were given to area schools, including St. Michael, Southfield; Troy Adventist Academy, Troy; and Bloomfield Hills Middle School, Bloomfield Hills.

A PANEL of judges will select the winners at the International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show March 16. Prizes will be awarded in each grade level.

Prizes include: $150 gift certificate (first place); $100 gift certificate (second place); $50 gift certificate (third place); $25 gift certificate (25 honorable mentions); $10 gift certificate to Harmony House and a certificate of appreciation from the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers (all participants).

Teachers of first, second and third place winners will receive an evening for two at The Golden Mushroom, Southfield.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are owned by Suburban Communication Corp. in Livonia.

Plymouth middle school student Brandon Bogart, a master woodworker, won the 1990 birdhouse building contest for a bluebird house. The eighth grader is shown at work in his home workshop last summer.

Now's the time to gain control over finances

Happy New Year! By now, you have probably either made New Year's resolutions or decided to ignore doing so. Something few of us can ignore, however, are bills.

Everyone seems to be mumbling these days about how they overspent during the holidays. The rule seems to be, "People overspend in direct proportion to their financial abilities." Whatever your economic level, if you don't owe on bills right now, you are probably in the minority.

Now may be a good time to make a New Year's resolution to get your finances organized and keep them there.

list of simple things to do right now:

- Separate your '90 financial papers into one file box for tax preparation.
- Record your Jan. 1 odometer reading if you write off the use of your car for tax purposes.
- Put your checkbook register with your '90 papers for taxes. Ask the bank for a new blank one, if necessary.
- Write in "1991" on your next dozen checks, so you won't forget.
- Obtain tax forms you'll need from the library or from the IRS.

NOW FOR the harder stuff: Or-

ganizing your finances to stay out of debt. First, take a realistic look at what charging does to you. One woman told me recently, "I'm so excited! I get my new Ward's charge card this week! I just got my Visa card last month and so far I've only charged $325. It has a $500 limit and the payments are only $12 a month, so I'm doing pretty good!"

I felt like crying for this woman. Until she applied for a credit card, she had managed her financial affairs quite well. Now she has not only incurred debt (probably for items she could have done without), she has added monthly finance charges at exorbitant rates.

Sadly, she will probably perpetually owe on these credit cards for the rest of her life, while the credit card companies reap the profits she so eagerly handed over to them.

Credit cards are convenient to avoid check-cashing hassles or carrying large amounts of cash. So long as you pay them off totally every month that's fine, because there are no finance charges if you don't carry over a balance. When you don't, however, you "lose" by paying interest rates at sometimes double the prime rate.

One way to keep from overcharging is to make an entry in your checkbook for every charge you make. This, in effect, sets aside money to make your payments at month's end. When your bank balance hits zero, you know you can't afford to charge more that month. Enter an extra amount in your checkbook at the beginning of each month to gradually pay off your previous balance.

Next week: Organizing your finances and how not to make the same mistakes next year.

When you make the Crossing your home, you'll get more than a new address. The Crossings of Canton, offers 19 different floor-plans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhouse or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

Discover these features at The Crossings at Canton:

- Dens & Fireplaces
- Fully-applianced Kitchens
- Patios or Balconies
- Central Air Conditioning
- A Clubhouse with sauna, indoor pool, exercise room, and more!

Visit The Crossings at Canton today. We're just 20 minutes from Ann Arbor and downtown Detroit, yet comfortably away from it all. From I-275, just exit Arbor Rd. West to Haggerty Rd., follow south to Joy Rd. then east to The Crossings. Open Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5, Sun. 12-5. Phone 455-2424 today.

Structural steel detailers produce drawings of every steel connection on commercial buildings. Fabricators make the pieces. Erectors put them up. The result can be striking — like improvements to the Cobo Conference & Exhibition Center pictured here while in progress.

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Steel detailers, who schematically draft every steel-to-steel connection for commercial buildings designed by architects, will be in great demand in the years ahead.

So a consortium of steel manufacturers and installers here has established a three-year cooperative education program — believed to be the only one of its kind now operating — to meet the industry's needs during the 1990s and beyond.

"In the next five to 10 years, we will be losing a vast majority of detailers we have in Michigan," said Albert L. Frechette, executive director of the Great Lakes Fabricators and Erectors Association.

"The majority of the people in the business are in their late 50s and older. They're going to retire in the next few years, and we have no one to replace them. The industry has done a poor job of telling the world there's a career here," he said.

A formal co-op program put together by industry professionals and teachers at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn was launched a year ago.

Upwards of 20 will be chosen for the third group to begin in September. About 18 are now involved.

THE ONLY requirement to apply is a high school diploma or GED certificate.

"We are taking every student with the assumption that they don't know anything about steel, don't know anything about construction and don't know anything about drafting," Frechette said. "We'll teach them.

"What I'm looking for is a student who is ready to settle on a career, can fit into the work environment and ethic required in the business and has basic math skills. There's no age limit. It's wide open now."

Applicants should contact Frechette at the association offices (358-2620) in Southfield to arrange an interview. Applicants will take a career ability aptitude test and a basic math test during the initial screening.

Survivors will interview with all fabricators and erectors who want to sponsor a student in the work-study program. Frechette attempts to work out matches based on how applicants and employees rate each other after the interviews.

Sponsorship is a prerequisite for participation. Students alternate semesters of full-time classes and full-time work with sponsors and a single evening class. Students are initially paid at about $6 per hour while at work.

"Technical courses designed by the industry and taught by people in the industry include structural drafting and elements of commercial construction," Frechette said.

Students now in the program probably can expect to pay about $3,500 for three years of schooling. About 75 percent of the students have tuition paid by their sponsor, Frechette said.

COURSES LIKE metallurgy, physics and failure analysis are taught by Henry Ford instructors. An associate's degree in architectural technology is awarded upon completion of the program.

Graduates could earn upwards of $20,000 annually

when they join the work-a-day world in a couple of years, Frechette projected.

Job opportunities are expected to be ample. "They make contacts within the industry over three years," he said. And in economic downturns? "You always need detailers for whatever work you have going on."

Richard Burns, a Southfield resident, had worked as a drafting trainee for Allied Drafting before beginning the co-op program in February 1990.

"SO FAR, so good," he said. "It will be great for beginners not in the business already. The school will advance you a lot quicker than if you came to the job and tried to learn by yourself."

"I learned how things work — contractors, bidding — rather than just drafting," said George Papazoglou, a Canton resident and co-op at Northville Fabricating.

John Holmstrom, owner of a detailing service in Livonia, and Thomas Ross, owner of a steel fabricating company in Detroit, were on a task force that recommended the program.

"It (detailing) is an area that has been neglected many, many years," Holmstrom said. "Some larger fabricators used to train in-house. They have passed out of existence and no one picked up the training."

"There's really a crying need for new blood in this skill," he added. "Even with a recession well in place, there's still a need."

Said Ross: "Anybody that completes the program would probably have no problem finding a job. They could probably graduate 20 a year and have no problem placing them."

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Indemnification clause controversial

Our managing agent is negotiating its contract with us and has provided us with a form that provides that the management company should be indemnified by the association and placed as an additional insured on its insurance policy. We do not have a lawyer reviewing the contract and am wondering whether you see any problems. The management company has also suggested that it can't get insurance to cover us in the event that it is careless.

Management companies can obtain insurance coverage for their liability if they are willing to pay the price for it. It is not unreasonable to ask that the association be indemnified for the negligence on the part of the management agent that results in the association's being sued. Whether the association should indemnify the managing agent for similar activities is frequently a source of controversy and the subject matter of negotiations. You should not enter into the contract with the management agent until you have had an attorney who is clearly independent of the management firm to represent your best interests and who explains to you the ramifications of these indemnification clauses and the lack of insurance protection by the managing agent as it relates to the association.

We are concerned about the developer of our condominium project absconding with our funds. We have not received an accounting from him and are wondering what legal recourse we have. He still controls the association and refuses to give us any records of the association's books. What can we do?

You have a serious problem that requires immediate action. Hopefully, the members of the association will be willing to expend the monies if necessary to get proper assistance. Assuming that you have made every effort to advise the developer through the advisory committee of your need to review these documents and he refuses, I would hire an attorney knowledgeable in condominium law with particular expertise in dealing with developers. It may be the your developer has merely been guilty of poor bookkeeping or conceivably has mishandled or misappropriated the funds, in which case there may not only be civil but criminal ramifications. It is of the essence that you should exhort your co-owners to assist you in undertaking these tasks.

We are having difficulty getting access to a co-owner's unit to repair a sump pump that services three units. Do you have any practical solutions?

A letter should be sent to the co-owner requesting cooperation and advising him or her of the rights of the association to gain access at a reasonable time. Make the offer in the letter to be as accommodating as possible, but the association not only has the right to obtain access on reasonable notice, but in the case of emergencies, can literally break into the unit.

Try to establish a procedure where the co-owner can be reached in the case of an emergency and if the association needs to gain access, short of an emergency, that it will give five days' notice, for example. If these efforts are not successful, have the association attorney write a more stern letter advising him or her of the association's right to obtain an injunctive order requiring that the co-owner comply with the condominium documents and that the legal fees and costs will be charged to the co-owner under the condominium documents and statute.

INTERNATIONAL
AUTO SHOW

DETROIT

Auto fest follows long, winding road

By Dan McCoach
special writer

VISITORS TO the North American International Auto Show from the metropolitan area can be forgiven for being merely awed when they walk into a Cobo Hall reincarnated with multi-level displays that suspend real cars well above the show floor, circumnavigated by an experimental electric car on an elevated roadway.

Visually, Detroit is the most imposing of the big international shows, if only because it is concentrated mainly in a single hall, rather than in the multi-building convention centers in Germany's Frankfurt or Japan's Tokyo.

This year, it's also the most expansive, incorporating the most new car introductions and the most new concept cars of any show in the world.

More intriguing is the intellectual stretch, with the addition of Industry Trade Days and a significant showing of futuristic engineering, affecting both the safety, power and structure of future automobiles — all efforts to expand NAIAS into a forum for issues, as well as a showcase for cars.

Still, it's an auto show, which means that all this can't be done without a solid dose of hoopla, dancing girls and artfully arranged models. (Don't laugh, Bill Bonds once did a stint on an auto show turntable).

The organizers are still feeling their way to set the proper tone. Last year, the most popular event was a group of Lansing auto workers who carefully assembled a Buick Reatta on the show floor. This year, who knows?

Past auto shows have included a trained seal balancing piston rings on its nose, the Andrews sisters, a live cougar and, once, a model who lived in a trailer on the show floor for the duration of the Chicago show.

DETROIT'S OWN auto show, now laboriously renamed the North American International Auto Show, still claims to struggle for recognition among the world's great car expositions in Europe and the Orient.

On the surface, such insecurity about the annual pagan ritual that celebrates the car in its spiritual homeland makes as much sense as Arnold Schwarzenegger worrying about standing out in a Boy Scout troop.

But the fact is that it's just three years since a coalition of Detroit area dealers and industry leaders decided to pump up Detroit's show to international stature.

That was when members of the Detroit Auto Dealers Association, including Heinz Prechter, Dave Fischer, Carl Fischer, Ken Meade, Bob Thibodeau and Gordon Stewart, led by executive director Dan Hayes, made a calculated effort to create an international media event out of what had become mainly a huge local tent sale for Detroit-area retailers.

"We realized there was an opportunity to raise the stature of the show in the eyes of the world," said Stewart, co-chairman of this year's show.

The DADA found immediate support for expanding the concept of the show from then-GM President Robert Stempel and GM Vice President Lloyd Reuss.

"The support of the manufacturers was critical," Stewart said. "It's really their show. They supply the cars and the displays. They make it happen."

THE VISION that the group began pursuing was that of the archetypal European auto show, a concept that was, well, foreign to most Americans.

Detroit, in fact, is one of the oldest auto shows in the nation, tracing its roots to a livestock-and-car show at the Light Guard Armory in 1899, a year before the first National Auto Show in New York. The DADA tried its first show in 1907, in Beller's Beer Garden.

Early U.S. auto shows, particularly the national show in New York, were driven by the intense competition between hundreds of fledgling auto manufacturers scrambling to present themselves to the New York investment community, and also to potential dealers willing to take a chance with their new products.

The scramble for attention led to the use of paid touts, chauffers and other self-proclaimed experts who would endorse the products on the floor.

One ingenious entrepreneur led new showgoers to a one-way elevator that led to his upper-floor display, after which they had to walk back to get to the main show floor.

NOTHING MUCH has changed except for the scale of the event, with glitzy selling efforts sharing space with displays of new cars.

The U.S. auto show thus historically has been a populist appeal to the masses, the marketing alter ego of the mass-produced automobile, which was quickly embraced by the American middle class as quickly as the manufacturers could develop the technology that lowered its price.

Not so in Europe, where the car took longer to descend from its position as a plaything for the wealthy.

Even in the post-World War II era, when numerous European manufacturers launched minicars to put a war-torn economy back on wheels, a car was only a distant dream for the average consumer.

Hence the spectacle of the European auto show, which became more of an emporium of unrealized dreams than a place to sell cars.

THE HUGE halls at Frankfurt also became something of a social mecca for the whole industry, with so-called "press days," where the executives cajoled journalists, programmed for a week before the show opened.

Along with the new cars, there were hundreds of support groups, including suppliers, aftermarket manufacturers, even repair tools, each with their own exhibit hall.

The European shows became so extensive that few countries attempt to carry one off every year. But that merely expands the mystique, as Frankfurt trades attention back and forth with Paris every other year.

To the Europeans, and later at Tokyo, what is most important is the atmosphere that combines corporate marketing oneupmanship with the notion that it is at Frankfurt or Paris where the reputation of a major automaker is set in stone.

On the range

Ford will introduce the Ranger compact truck design (above) at the North American International Auto Show. The design is executed on a Ranger extended cab sports vehicle. A fully functional vehicle, this futuristic design illustrates what the personal use buyer can do with a little imagination. Unique exterior styling modifications complete the aggressive theme of the vehicle. Meanwhile, Ford has tapped the new Explorer utility vehicle to design a futuristic "office on wheels." This vehicle will contain the latest electronic gadgetry, including state-of-the-art communications hardware surrounded by a detailed executive office environment.

CARS, IN all their majesty and mystique, will take on an exciting new meaning for fourth graders during the 1991 North American International Auto Show.

More than 450 youngsters from 13 Detroit-area schools will receive a hands-on lesson in building and making cars at the Chrysler Corp.-sponsored education center.

Kids will be introduced to designing, engineering, naming and marketing cars.

"For many of these boys and girls," said Valerie Becker, Chrysler's national education program administrator, "this will be their introduction to some of the important and exciting jobs in the auto industry."

Participants will learn how to modify cars to improve gas mileage. They'll also have the chance to design their own concept car.

With the help of computers, they'll mix and match various interior and exterior color schemes, pick a name for their car and identify target markets.

A tour of the auto show will climax the very special lesson, just attendance rose from $4,919 to 8,346.

In this second special promotional section for the auto show, we've strived to present a closeup look at what's new for car buyers not only in 1991 but also the decade ahead.

Cars indeed have come a long way in the century since Henry Ford I built a quadricycle and tinkered with the internal combustion engine during the 1890s in a wood and coal shed on Bagley Avenue in Detroit.

More than $64,000 of road-eating machinery, the Chevrolet Corvette ZR-1 tops the American-nameplate price heap with enough performance, speed and sportiness to impress even the most jaded auto observer. Look for it on the Cobo Center floor.

Not every car at the North American International Auto Show is designed to appeal to the Donald Trumps of the world. There are a good many cars for the under $10,000 crowd, including the Geo Metro XFI, the least expensive car with an American nameplate.

U.S. fare ranges from pricey to modest

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

AMERICAN NAMEPLATE automobiles may not have the disparity in costs that some of the imports do, but car hunters and watchers at the North American International Auto Show can still find prices ranging from below $10,000 to over $50,000.

On the summit of the price heap is the top of the line 1991 Chevrolet Corvette ZR-1, at a whopping $64,138.

All the things that the word Corvette conjures in the mind — performance, speed and sportiness — are back for the new 1991 ZR-1.

FOR THE purists, those who have to know how to tell a 1990 from a 1991 Corvette ZR-1, all new model year Corvettes have new side "gill" panels, wider, integrated body-color side moldings and a center, high-mounted stop lamp in the rear window.

Corvette has also made some modifications to its powertrain, including low restriction mufflers that use larger section sizes and are tuned for better exhaust note control, and a power steering fluidcooler, previously an option, but now standard.

Also featured are independent suspension, power rack and pinion steering, and front and rear, anti-locking disc brakes that can stop the nearly 3,500-pound automobile from 60 mph hour to a standstill in 125 feet.

The eight-cylinder, 5.7-liter, multi-port fuel injection has 375 screaming horses under the hood capable of propelling the ZR-1 Corvette from zero to 60 mph in a mere 4.3 seconds.

THE VALET key system, which allows the driver to gain full access to full 375 hp performance, has been revised in the ZR-1 to default to normal power on each ignition cycle. To accommodate electronic accessories, including items like cellular phones, compact disc players and other 12-volt accessories, the ZR-1 incorporates an auxiliary power plug.

And to help avoid those expensive engine repairs, the Corvette ZR-1 incorporates a new low oil sensor that warns drivers before damage actually occurs.

Finally, just in time for the expansion of the AM band (the Federal Communications Commission is expected to approve the expansion in 1991), all Corvette radios have been expanded to reflect the availability of more AM frequencies.

WHILE THE Corvette conjures images of performance, speed and sportiness, the Geo Metro, the least expensive American nameplate car, strives to appeal to the cost and fuel efficiency conscious.

Actually, there are two configurations of the Geo Metro, the Geo Metro and Geo Metro XFI, that tie as the least expensive American nameplate cars at the North American International Auto Show.

Both Geo Metro models have a manufacturer's suggested retail price of $6,795, but there is a distinction between them.

The Geo Metro XFI is a five-speed, two-door hatchback with options limited to a rear window defogger.

The Geo Metro is configured slightly differently. While also a five-speed, two-door hatchback, it can be fitted with an AM-FM digital clock radio, automatic transmission and a rear windshield wiper.

THE DIFFERENT configuration, in addition to limiting the number and types of options, allows one very important difference, gas mileage. The Geo Metro XFI EPA mileage is 53 miles per gallon city, 58 miles per gallon highway.

The Geo Metro EPA mileage is 45 miles per gallon city, 50 miles per gallon highway.

With the exception of these differences, the two configurations are much the same.

THE Geo Metro sports new seat and door fabrics and new exterior and interior colors for 1991.

And while the Geo Metro isn't equipped with the four-wheel independent suspension and the

The three-cylinder, 1.0-liter, electronic fuel injection is capable of generating a modest 55 hp.

Mitsubishi displays concept car

Mitsubishi has selected the North American International Auto Show as the venue for the North American introduction of its all-new HSR-II concept car.

The HSR-II (High Speed Research) experimental car has served as a rolling test bed for new Mitsubishi products like the 3000GT sports car and an all-luxury, four-door sedan scheduled to be introduced in mid-1991 as a 1992 model.

The technology that eventually found its way to the 3000GT was first tested on the HSR-II.

Mitsubishi engineers used the platform to perfect the 3000GT's all-wheel-drive, four-wheel steering, four-wheel electronically controlled independent suspension, four-wheel, anti-lock brakes and computerized Active-Aero system.

The HSR-II (High Speed Research) experimental car has served as a rolling test bed for new Mitsubishi products like the 3000GT sports car and an all-luxury, four-door sedan.

Minivan quickly becomes a family favorite

By Don Chaikin
special writer

THE MINIVAN has forever transformed that great American institution, the family station wagon. With its ability to carry whole families and all their necessities comfortably — strollers, boxes of disposable diapers, playpens — while still being easy to drive and park, the minivan is racing into the spotlight as one of the most popular family cars.

At least one version of the minivan is available from each of the domestic carmakers, and many foreign makers have jumped on the van-wagon, too.

Although the models all adhere to the basic formula of a high-sided, wide-doored, flat-floored box on wheels that can fit in the garage, each manufacturer has created its own interpretation of the formula.

Some are front-wheel drive, some rear-wheel and some four-wheel. Most have rear hatches and sliding center-side doors, but you can also find minivans with hinged rear doors or hinged center-side doors.

At one end of the spectrum are vans that are car-like in ride and behavior, at the other, those with ride handling more characteristic of a small truck. The truck-like vans compensate for their harsher ride with greater towing capacity and a high, commanding-view-of-the-road driving position.

REGARDLESS OF which dealerships you visit, however, you'll find that the level of luxury appointment can rise as high as your budget allows, including leather seats.

All the minivans can be fitted with the same accouterments that their more traditional car cousins have: air conditioning, power seats and windows, cruise control, elaborate stereo systems and more.

But minivans also offer special options such as seating configurations for five, seven or even eight people and additional rear-seat heaters and air-conditioning outlets.

All minivans have at least one thing in common besides their shape and size: they are not considered passenger cars by the federal government. This means that these vehicles need not meet the same safety criteria as passenger cars.

However, thanks to the swelling popularity of the minivan and other so-called multi-purpose vehicles, government-mandated safety standards will be changing in the next few years.

Meanwhile, there's no need for alarm. Manufacturers have been incorporating many safety features into the vans since their inception; minivans as a whole have a safety record comparable to those of most passenger cars.

THESE ARE some of the best choices in minivans:

The Dodge Caravan, along with its twin, the Plymouth Voyager, started it all. Despite all the new competition, these vans still set the standard with front-wheel drive, pleasing looks, clever interior touches (such as a clever arrangement for a slide-out center cup holder, storage drawer under the right passenger seat and pop-out side and rear windows), and choice of standard or extended length.

In 1990, the Caravan and Voyager got new, more powerful, Chrysler-designed and built optional V6 engines and a four-speed automatic transmission.

The 1991 models will include an optional all-wheel drive system and four-wheel anti-lock brakes. There's also a luxury version, the Town & Country, which features leather seats and brings back the "woody" look, '90s style. Prices start at about $12,500.

The Ford Aerostar's stylish looks cover a sturdy, rear-wheel-drive, truck-derived chassis that offers a nice compromise between car-like and truck-like rides.

In addition to typical Ford amenities, such as a useful cargo-area net and headphone jacks so that the stereo can entertain the kids in back without deafening you, the 1990 model had some important improvements, including a new V6 engine, an improved four-speed automatic transmission and rear anti-lock brakes.

You might also opt for the full-time, electronic, four-wheel drive in either the standard or the extended-length model. Prices start at about $12,500.

THE CHEVROLET Astro has to be the toughest-looking of the bunch. It has a squat, muscular body that does aesthetic justice to its truck-derived, rear-wheel-drive chassis.

The Astro offers the most convenient rear loading by virtue of its hinged rear cargo doors; you can open one side only, if that's all that's needed. The 1990 Astro can be equipped with a V6 engine, a four-speed automatic transmission and four-wheel anti-lock brakes.

Last spring, the options expanded to include a full-time, four-wheel-drive system and a "stretched" version for added space. Prices for the Chevy Astro start at about $14,000.

The Mazda MPV is the only imported minivan that was designed for the American family. The others are adaptations of vans designed to meet the particular needs of the Japanese.

The MPV, Multi-Purpose Vehicle, features stylish looks (such as a blunt nose, bulging fenders and a squat-to-the-ground stance, which gives it a low and brawny look), and passenger-car ride and handling.

This rear-wheel-drive minivan (four-wheel-drive is also available) is unique in offering a wide-opening, hinged, center-side door. More usual are the optional V6 engine, a four-speed automatic transmission and rear anti-lock brakes. Prices start at about $13,700.

THE PONTIAC Trans Spot and its siblings, the Chevrolet Lumina APV and Oldsmobile Silhouette, keep the latest in minivans all in the family. They're startling to look at, thanks to large laid-back windshields in front and vertical tail lights running up to the roof in back.

GM's new generation of front-wheel-drive minivans offers not only innovative technology, their bodies are made of huge plastic panels instead of steel, but also innovative design, with center bucket seats that can be folded to form tables or beds.

The lightweight individual seats are lighter and easier to remove than the awkwardly heavy center bench seats of other vans.

Trans Sport prices start at about $15,000, Lumina APV at about $14,000, Silhouette at about $17,000.

The Mazda MPV is the only imported minivan designed for the American family.

IF YOU SEE ONLY ONE CARLINE AT THE SHOW, MAKE IT AMERICA'S MOST TROUBLE-FREE: BUICK.

There's a lot to see at this year's auto show. But for a showing of superior quality, visit the Buick display.

The 1991 Buicks are impressive. Especially since Buick ranks as America's most trouble-free carline, according to J.D. Power and Associates' 1990 Initial Quality Survey.SM It is also the only American carline to rank among the world's 10 most trouble-free. These findings are based upon owner-reported problems during the first 90 days of ownership.

After the show, see your Buick dealer for another display of automotive excellence. And find out why Buick is the new symbol for quality in America...and beyond.

Sticker prices span automotive spectrum

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

WHAT HAS four wheels and a glove compartment? The most expensive and least expensive automobiles at the North American International Auto Show.

Comparisons end there. With more than 750 cars and trucks from 40 of the world's automotive manufacturers, one is going to expect a wide variance in prices.

Domestic car companies like Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge, Ford, Jeep-Eagle, Lincoln Mercury, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Saturn will all be showing off their wares.

Joining them will be the import and specialty dealers like Acura, Alfa Romeo, Audi, Avanti, Bertone, BMW, Honda, Hyundai, Isuzu, Jaguar, Lamborghini, Lotus, Mazda, Mercedes-Benz, Mitsubishi, Nissan, Nissan/Infiniti, Pininfarina, Peugeot, Porsche, Range Rover, Rolls Royce, Saab-Scania of America, Sterling, Subaru, Suzuki, Toyota/Lexus, Volkswagon, Volvo and Yugo — not to mention the concept car companies.

So what's the most expensive car at the auto show?

THE ROLLS ROYCE Corniche III convertible, a two-door touring car, holds top honors in the price category at a whopping $220,100.

The Corniche III, with body panels handcrafted and hand-fitted by the prestigious Mulliner Park Ward coach works in London, is being touched by the manufacturer as the most glamorous motor car Rolls Royce has ever built.

Once completed, the shell is delivered to the main factory for the fitting of the powertrain and subframes. The unit is then sent back to Mulliner Park Ward for completion.

Each car takes nearly six months of meticulous crafting by leather, metal and cabinet specialists to complete. The fascia (we call them dashboards here) is made of burr walnut with crossbanding and boxwood inlay.

A center console containing a leather storage cabinet holds a cellular phone and an illuminated cassette and compact disc drawer. Carpeting? Get out of town. Only the finest in lambswool rugs was deemed acceptable to cover the flooring.

According to Rolls Royce, four of the five convertibles completed each week are imported to the United States.

REFINEMENTS INCLUDE driver's-side airbags, a heated door mirror that adjusts angle automatically to the position of the memory seats, a new 10-speaker stereo entertainment system, including a compact disc player, electrically operated, heated dual area lumbar supports, upholstery of the finest English leather, anti-lock brakes, and, of course, powered rack and pinion steering.

Perhaps one of the most unique features on the Corniche III convertible, and other Rolls Royce models as well, is a computerized self-leveling suspension.

Sensors in the suspension constantly monitor road conditions for changes. If the road surface becomes rough, the computer automatically adjusts, switching the suspension from soft to firm.

Howard Mosher, president and chief executive officer of Rolls Royce, claims the suspension "provides armchair comfort on the highway and a firm ride on the corners."

And, of course, the top is one touch, power operated. But it's not just power operated. One of the greatest complaints often cited about convertibles is that the tops are poorly fitted, resulting in whistling, drafts and water leaks.

Not so with the Corniche III. Engineers spend two weeks fitting the top to each car so that when the top is closed, it's closed.

But even in the best climates, there are going to be days when the top will be closed. Realizing this, Rolls Royce has included a dual-can International Auto Show. But shoppers can be surprised at some of the features they get for their money.

THE LEAST expensive cars at the auto show is the Yugo 1991 GV Plus, an import from Yugoslavia with a manufacturer's suggested list price of only $4,825.

Or as Yugo puts it: "If schmoozing with blue bloods is not your cup of tea, the new Yugo will instantly communicate your more frugal side. However, you could finance the new Yugo GV Plus if you really wanted to. Then again, for around $5,000, you could just throw it on your credit card."

After a period of company crisis, then gradual recovery, Yugo is looking forward to 1991 with anticipation, according to company president John Spiech.

Yugo is launching an all-out effort to get people to take the car seriously with 357 improvements over the older model, a 40,000-mile, four-year warranty with free maintenance for the first year or 12,000 miles.

Yugo is banking the current economic slowdown and the increasing importance of fuel economy will encourage motorists to take another look at its newly engineered products. The EPA fuel mileage for the Yugo GV Plus is 27 City/34 highway.

Although there is a significant price difference between the Corniche III and the GV Plus (about $215,000), the lower priced import has more to offer than a glove box and four wheels.

The front-wheel drive, four-passenger car sports a new 1.3-liter, four-cylinder engine capable of speeds near 100 mph. A new Bosch motronic multi-port fuel injection system, the same injection system found on a Porsche, provides a peppy 67 hp engine that "will allow you to toss a little asphalt when the mood strikes."

The Yugo accelerates from zero to

And while the car doesn't have a computerized, hydraulic suspension, it does have a four-wheel independent suspension with MacPherson struts.

The Yugo sports rack and pinion steering (unpowered) and Bendix dual circuit, power-assisted front brakes and rear drums operated by a specially engineered proportioning valve.

GM realized this when it took a new Corvette to Europe, and managed to steal the Geneva show. The launch of the then-radical Ford aerodynamic styling started at Frankfurt, as did the unveiling of the startling BMW V-12 engine.

ONLY A few years ago, the Japanese manufacturers began coming to Europe in force, not to sell cars, since European countries were still carefully restraining them in their home markets, but because you had to go to Frankfurt to see and be seen.

All of which was not lost on Detroit auto executives, which in a growing spirit of ecumenicalism, began regular attendance at the big international shows.

All this led to the decision to attempt just such a show atmosphere in Detroit, where it all began.

It was a risky effort when first proposed, since even on the U.S. national scene, Detroit was ranked third behind Los Angeles and Chicago. Foreign participation historically has been poor in Detroit, partly because of the assumption that Detroit is a poor place to sell foreign cars.

Today, the momentum is there in Detroit, if not the stature. The press attendance is at least equal to the big shows in Frankfurt and Tokyo, and the legions of executives, the feeling that this, indeed is the heart of the world auto business, lends the Detroit show credibility in the eyes of the world.

Handcrafted, prestigious, imported from England, the Rolls Royce Corniche III convertible, at a manufacturer's suggested retail price of $220,100, will be the most expensive car at the North American International Auto Show. It's not for the penny pincher.

Melt-proof events slated for ice festival

The Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular will have some melt-proof events when it gets going on Wednesday, Jan. 16.

A laser light show will be conducted twice each night during the festival which runs through Monday, Jan. 21, according to Pam Kosteva, festival organizer.

The laser show is one of several melt-proof events scheduled this year, the festival's ninth, to better deal with the semiannual festival melt-down.

This year, the festival has been rechristened the "Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular."

"We've finished our arrangements for the Japanese and Soviets," Kosteva said. Four Japanese sculptors, including the winning team of the Winter World Championship in Asahikawa, Japan, and the ice-carving singles champ of Sapporo, Japan, are scheduled to carve in Plymouth.

Three Soviet carvers are also scheduled to attend, Kosteva said. Three professional U.S. carvers who participate in Plymouth will be invited to the Moscow International Ice Festival in Feb. 4-11.

"It's quite an honor, and quite a compliment to the Plymouth community," Kosteva said.

"There's a lot of enthusiasm among the carvers because of the opportunity of working with the Japanese and Soviets," she said.

Meanwhile, Kosteva reported that two of the 11 men participating in the Old Man Winter Look Alike (beard growing) Contest "have fallen by the wayside and surrendered to the perils of the razor."

Also scheduled for this year's festival, Jan. 16-21, is a hockey game between a group of Detroit Red Wings old timers and a Plymouth team at the cultural center.

Some new ideas for the ice-carving portion of the festival include a contest in which local TV and radio personalities will try their hand at ice carving, with likely humorous results.

Also this year, a free trip to the Caribbean will be raffled.

Festival organizers agreed to scale down the festival this year, so that it runs on just one weekend.

The festival, which attracts 400,000 people annually to downtown Plymouth, will feature more than 200 carved ice sculptures.

Three competitions will be featured: one for professional individual carvers, one for individual student carvers and one for a national team title.

The $192,000 needed to put on the festival is raised by the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular board.

Carvers such as Dean Jaramillo of Warner Ice in Chicago will be on hand during the festival.

Arts Council to hold fest photo contest

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will hold a photo contest in conjunction with the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular. The contest is open to those attending the ice festival Jan. 16-21 in Plymouth.

The theme will be "Moments in Ice." There will be two categories: students (up to 18) and adults. Students may submit snapshots in black-and-white or color. Adults will be asked to submit 5-by-7-inch prints in black-and-white or color.

The contest is open to all photographers. Applications will be a 3-by-5-inch card with name, address and telephone number printed. They should be mailed to: Plymouth Community Arts Council, 332 S. Main, Plymouth 48170 (Attention: Photo Contest).

Deadline for the photo contest will be 5 p.m. Monday, Jan. 28. Winners will be notified Monday, Feb. 4.

Judging will be done by local high school teachers, newspaper photographers and other area residents.

Three members of the Oakland Community College culinary arts program worked on their entry during last year's event.

Contributions sought for the ice festival

The Plymouth International Ice Spectacular Board is seeking donations from residents to keep the annual festival going, according to Pam Kosteva, executive director.

To help support the festival that runs from Jan. 16-21, checks may be sent to the Plymouth Community Ice Sculpture Spectacular Inc., 386 S. Main, Plymouth, Mich., 48170.

January 14 - January 20

HOROSCOPE

January 13 through January 19

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You come upon a great challenge and discover hidden talents. This is a good time to entertain new thoughts about your outlook on life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Laughing at the absurd helps make life easier, especially when dealing with relatives. Family members mean well and are trying to please you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Helping others is important, but look after yourself first. Be careful when criticizing co-workers. Your words could have an adverse affect.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You may feel tense and anxious about your life. Don't worry about the things you can't change, and work on those you know you can improve.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Complications regarding work or school could arise. Make sure to pay bills on time to avoid future hassles concerning finances.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Before you defend another underdog, make sure you have your facts straight. You must use great tact when dealing with outsiders.

By C.C. Clark

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Keep lines of communication open with loved ones and business associates. A great idea for a new project is just around the corner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Work will keep you running, so take time out this weekend to have some fun. Take advantage of those who offer to help with specific tasks.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
A project you start this week could lead to better things. A companion suggests something you are apprehensive about. Follow your head.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 21)
Patience and good humor are necessary for you to make it through this week. Things seem impossible, but they aren't as bad as you think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Let go of all quarrels this week and lighten up. You are your own best judge of character; don't rely on others to do your dirty work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
The week begins fast, but by midweek you have it all under control. Problems are easily handled with a cool temper.

STAR NOTES

Ian Buchanan melts hearts in his roles

By Candace Havens

He has a Scottish brogue accent that melts hearts, and Ian Buchanan isn't hard to look at, either.

Most know him as Duke Lavery from General Hospital, where he became one of daytime's hottest commodities. Fans still haven't forgiven him for leaving the show. But he had only planned to be there for three years and felt it was time to move on.

After working in the London theater scene, Buchanan joined the cast of ABC's Twin Peaks as Richard Tremayne. The character is part of the "who-is-the-father-of-Lucy's-baby love triangle." David Lynch spotted Buchanan while filming one of the Obsession commercials.

Richard is a "pompous cad — the type of guy who has obviously seen too many movies," comments Buchanan. "My friends say I must be brave to play myself on television."

Buchanan left home at the early age of 14 because of problems at home. In talking with him, you get the feeling life wasn't too easy for him back then. Even now, his family back in Scotland doesn't think much of his stardom. "My sister came out to L.A. for a visit when I was working on General Hospital. About the time the show was to come on, she had me turn on the television. She watched about 10 minutes and then turned it off. She then said, 'Well you weren't as bad as we thought you would be,' and that was that."

Drew Thacher (Bill Smitrovich) heads the household on Life Goes On, Sundays on ABC.

TIME OUT

Hockey all-star game scheduled for Sunday

By Steve Paschal

The biggest names in professional hockey will be on the ice at Chicago Stadium Saturday, Jan. 19, when the best of the Wales and Campbell Conferences face off in the 42nd National Hockey League All-Star Game.

Although Pittsburgh great Mario Lemieux will miss the game due to an injury, the stadium will still be filled with all-stars who are sure to be future legends of the game. 1989 NHL MVP Wayne Gretzky heads a star-studded roster.

Following the NHL All-Star Game, NBC will switch to Aloha Stadium in Honolulu for the 45th Kodak Hula Bowl. The game, which is the last chance for college seniors to impress professional football scouts before the NFL draft, matches the best players from the East against the West.

This year's lineup of all-star players includes Miami Hurricane defensive tackle Russell Maryland, the winner of the Outland Trophy as the nation's top interior lineman, and Alfred Williams of the Colorado Buffaloes, the Butkus Award-winner as the top college linebacker in the nation. The rest of the lineup features 15 first-team All-Americans, including Notre Dame's Michael Stonebreaker, Colorado running back and Heisman Trophy finalist Eric Bienenmy, Brigham Young's Chris Smith and Maurice Crum of the Miami Hurricanes.

Cassidy Friel plays a girl hidden from her father in The Whereabouts of Jenny, Monday on ABC.

TUESDAY

Conrad McMasters (Clarence Gilyard Jr., left) assists top Atlanta defense attorney Ben Matlock (Andy Griffith) in solving murder cases on Matlock, Tuesdays on NBC.

Cable Comments

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN
Executive Director,
SW Oakland Cable Comm.

They burst into the room with such flourish that even I became caught up in the whirlwind of energy. His stature is striking and his eyes are alert and dancing. His voice is eager but also hesitant. All together the image he creates is a personification of the Hollywood Producer! Meet Mr. Patrick Harris.

She was there too, entering the room with quiet directness. Her eyes are kind and yet her posture, as she settled into her chair projected a woman of decision, who expected quality. Meet Patricia Isham, the director.

They are the dynamic duo who are bringing "P.S. Let's Talk About It" to Community Television. The co-host is beautiful and lively Stacey Winteringham. This team is enjoying creating a fun, spontaneous talk show, and frankly it is Patrick's desire to learn in a fun environment which sets the tone of the show. A student at Wayne State in Television Production, Patrick is eager to obtain real production experience. He has just completed an Internship with Channel 7. Patrick believes that enjoying your work is the key to staying motivated and doing a good job.

Another idea which this 'Producer' values is brainstorming with production team members. Before each show he and Stacey prepare at least 60 questions to ask their guest. They are prepared however, to incorporate those predetermined questions into any spontaneous conversation or subject matter that might arise. In order for the show to go smoothly Patrick and Stacey must manage their time effectively.

he exclaimed. I would also add that a professional attitude and positive nature goes a long way. Potential guests determine whether or not they will take the publicity risk with your show if they sense your sincerity and professional ethics.

You may see the show "P.S. Let's Talk About It" in January. Look to your schedules for the days and times. If it is not in your cable system then request it. The shows they have done are:

Homeless with Alice Horton from the Baldwin Shelter in Pontiac.

TV Tips on how to prepare for an interview with: John Kelly and Marilyn Turner.

The philosophy behind a Judgeship with Judge Harris.

Topics for future shows include: Babies, Babys, Bishop Gumbleton, Vince Wade-Channel 2 and Married Couples.

The relationship of the production crew is an important subject to this young Producer. Patricia and Patrick tease back and forth about the relationship between the Producer and the Director. The Director needs to know what the Producer wants, so that the other crew members will be prepared to respond on the demand of the Director. Pat stated that she enjoys the role of directing "because she can walk away and go home." She began as the 'Audio' person on shoots. She likes this position because you were expected to sit down and she could make comments and know that no one would hear her. Because of this responsibility she was able to have a vantage point from which she could see and understand what 'behind the scenes' means. Metrovisions' staff person urged Pat to go from audio to directing.

Both Patrick and Patricia emphasize the importance of trust throughout the crew. Keeping calm and concentrating on the responsibility of each crew position is a priority for each person. The Director is the supreme ruler during the taping therefore independent creativity is only explored upon the wishes of the director.

An important and yet difficult task is reviewing the show afterward and dealing with criticism. Everyone recognizes that they must learn the fundamentals even as they are having fun.

Eager and driven, Patrick would encourage all of you to participate. He would love to hear from the viewers and wouldn't mind new ideas. Look forward to the shows of 1991 as they strive for a more comfortable looking set. Make yourself cozy, sit back and enjoy the show!

"P.S. Let's Talk About It"

Q: This is the first time I have written to you, and I wish you would help me. Can you tell me if Robert Mitchum is dead, and if not, where is he and what is he doing? Also, Kirk Douglas, is he dead? If not, where is he and what is he doing these days? —Bertha Cowan, Tow, Texas

A: It was nice hearing from you Bertha, and it's even nicer to be able to tell you that both your stars are alive and well. Robert Mitchum starred in a short-lived series for NBC last season, Family for Joe. He is still active in the acting profession, accepting only the roles that really appeal to him. Kirk Douglas has published a very successful book about his father.

Gregg Rainwater feels duty with 'Young Riders' role

Actor brings sensitivity to role as native American

By Mary Ann Townsend

Gregg Rainwater is in tune with nature as his character Buck Cross on ABC's "The Young Riders."

Before moving to Tucson last year for the show, Rainwater enjoyed seeking out quiet, natural environments in and around L.A. They say the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence, and that's the case with Rainwater. Now that he's in the serenity of the desert around Tucson, he has a new pastime.

"Right now I'm trying to understand this computer 'thang,'" he said, discussing the new computer equipment he had just bought. "I understand kindergarteners are learning computers these days, and here I am totally computer illiterate."

But the Young Rider does have several other passions: his Humane Society adoptee, a chow/malamute or husky mix named k.d. (after k.d. lang), and involvement in the Earth Communications Organization. E.C.O. consists of members of the media who try to get ecological messages across through their work. An example he gave of how the group works is the episode of "Murphy Brown" in which the "F.Y.I." staff begins recycling.

One effort he made last year was

CABLE NEWS

ACE Awards honor excellence on cable

By Christy Bergslien

No less than nine cable stations will broadcast The 12th Annual ACE Awards, live, Sunday, Jan. 13. The awards represent the cable industry's highest honors for programs and performances. James Woods will host the event. Among the 361 nominees are Paula Abdul, Hume Cronyn, Faye Dunaway, Albert Finney and The Rolling Stones.

World Championship boxing is on hand Saturday, Jan. 19, when Aaron Davis defends his WBA Welterweight title against Meldrick Taylor. The to use china plates on the set of "The Young Riders" instead of the styrofoam plates provided by the caterer. Fellow cast members once thought him strange, he said, but this year the caterer offers a choice, and many cast members are selecting china.

"What this group is trying to do is to sort of weave environmental messages into the fabric of peoples' psyche through the media, through print," he explained.

The young actor takes that sensitivity about the world into his role as mixed breed Indian Buck Cross on ABC's "The Young Riders." Buck is the product of a Kiowa Indian mother and a white trapper father. He understands both worlds, but doesn't quite fit into either.

"I like his coming from both sides — the white part and the Indian part. He has a wider perspective than a lot of the other riders have. He's had to; he's seen both sides...He's actually more on the stabilizing side of the characters," Rainwater said.

Rainwater in real life is part Indian. The grandson of a Cherokee and Osage Indian, Rainwater believes he has extra responsibility to provide a positive role model through the character. His fan mail seems to suggest he is succeeding.

action airs live on HBO. Sylvester Stallone and Kurt Russell have nothing in common in Tango & Cash — except nailing drug lord Jack Palance (Batman). When the kingpin finds a way to frame the two rival cops, they become reluctant pen partners amidst a mob of convicts who know them very well. The action-packed film premieres Jan. 19 on HBO.

The Sinead O'Connor Concert Special debuts on Lifetime, Wednesday, Jan. 16. Taped in Holland during O'Connor's worldwide tour, the concert features hits from her double platinum album I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got. (Does this include hair growth, do you suppose?)

Richard Dreyfuss and Holly Hunter co-star in a modern remake of the 1943 Spencer Tracy classic, A Guy Named Joe. Always premieres Friday, Jan. 18.

"It definitely will give you a boost when you read something about how somebody thinks differently because of a character you portray. People are seeing Buck and saying, 'He's a great guy and I just met another Indian guy who's just like Buck' or 'I never talked to him in school and now I just found out he's a really nice person.' Things like that are great," the actor said.

The series has been noted for its authentic depiction of the Old West with an Emmy for costuming and an American Western Heritage Award.

Female fans of Rainwater's may be interested in knowing that, at present, he is not romantically involved. He's still looking for a woman who's more Earthly than glamorous. "I've met many of them, but not 'her.' That will come. Whatever will be will be," he said with an uncomfortable pause that lightened up with, "Right now I have a dog."

Gregg Rainwater stars as half-breed Indian Buck Cross in "The Young Riders," seen Saturdays on ABC. The actor respects the impact his role has on others, much like he respects the role he plays in real-life.

BITTS AND PIECES

Who is mother of James MacArthur?

By Steven Alan McGaw

Questions:

1. Remember actor James MacArthur from Hawaii Five-O? Who's his mother?
2. Identify the film from which this character comes and the actor who played the role: Thomas Jerome Newton.
3. Cliff Robertson made his screen debut in what film?
4. Name the actress who played David Bowie's girlfriend (sort of) in The Man Who Fell to Earth.
5. Who played Humpty Dumpty in the 1935 film version of Alice in Wonderland?
6. When this raucous singer appeared on The Steve Allen Show in the '50s, they once threw chairs across the stage to match and augment the intensity of his performance. Who was it?

Answers:

1. Theatrical legend Helen Hayes.
2. The film is The Man Who Fell to Earth, in which singer David Bowie made his screen debut as Newton, the tortured alien who comes to Earth in search of water for his own dying planet.
3. Picnic.
4. Candy Clark.
5. W.C. Fields.
6. Jerry Lee Lewis. The song, by the way, was "Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On."

Roseanne Barr to produce series, movie, special for ABC

ABC Entertainment has entered into a long-range agreement with Roseanne Barr and her husband, Tom Arnold, to produce a new half-hour series, a special and a television movie. The agreement includes commitments for a new half-hour comedy series, not intended to star Barr, which could commence production anytime after the current 1990-91 broadcast season.
