Old Village boosters set 1990 goals

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Last year was a good year for events that promote Old Village, and this year could be even better, say boosters of the Plymouth neighborhood.

The annual Applefest, the biggest and best-known Old Village event, will be expanded from one to two days, said Mark Oppat, Old Village Association president.

The Old Village Association is dropping its summer Artsfest, formerly known as Dearie Days, to concentrate on spring, fall and Christmas events, Oppat said.

About 25 business people and residents of Old Village talked of goals and accomplishments Tuesday at the Station 885 restaurant.

"The purpose of it was to acquaint people with the association and what we're trying to accomplish," Oppat said.

Goals for 1990 include sending a regular newsletter to residents, probably on a quarterly basis, Oppat said.

OTHER GOALS include highway signs on M-14 and I-275 to alert people to Old Village, wider distribution of walking maps, organizing photo and publicity archives, new street benches and tree plantings, and trying to attract "interesting and viable businesses to the Old Village area," Oppat said.

Dates for traditional Old Village events have also been set.

Those events start with the Spring Walk, April 29-30. "It's a chance to visit all Old Village shops, some not normally open on Sunday. Also area residents participate with yard sales," Oppat said.

The Applefest is scheduled for Sept. 29-30. It draws more than 70 antique and crafts dealers from around the state, and features free entertainment for adults and kids.

The annual Christmas Walk is scheduled for Dec. 2. "Santa visits Old Village, where he has more time to visit with children than at the malls," Oppat said. "Adults visit the quaint specialty collectors shops for gifts while area choirs sing carols," he said, adding a horse-drawn carriage also makes the rounds.

Old Village Association accomplishments last year included improved communication with city officials over Old Village needs, new, improved walking maps; an Old Village hotline number, 455-7011; and allocation of federal funds for extra electric outlets to serve Old Village events, Oppat continued.

Oppat said the association plans to alert Old Village residents of the hearing date, probably in March, when the city will determine how to distribute federal Community Development Block Grant funds.

A Plymouth firefighter keeps an eye on power lines on the corner of Farmer and Irvin streets downed by high winds on Thursday.

Gusty winds knock out power

Electric power was cut Thursday for about 3,000 Plymouth community residents, as wind gusts of up to 60 miles per hour disrupted power lines.

From about 2 to 4 p.m., Plymouth police took several calls from residents as a squall line passed through the area.

"There were two trees down, one on a car," said Police Chief Richard Myers, adding there were no injuries reported related to the storm.

The wind gusts also forced down a power line at Farmer in west Plymouth, Myers said, forcing police to close a section of the street until Detroit Edison crews could repair the line.

Edison spokeswoman Lynette

Taylor said Friday that power outages ranged from five to 20 hours. "We still have some customers out," she said Friday, adding power would be restored by later that day.

Peter Schweitzer

Ex-minister, city commissioner dedicated life to the community

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Peter D. Schweitzer of Plymouth will be remembered as a man who acted on his convictions — daily. A former Methodist minister, Schweitzer dedicated his life to the developmentally disabled and to his community.

A former Plymouth city commissioner, Schweitzer, 50, died Tuesday, Jan. 23 in Ann Arbor. He was born Jan. 29, 1939 in Flint.

Schweitzer was executive director of Camp Fowler in Mayville in the Thumb area for seven years. The camp, staffed by persons from the United States, England, New Zealand, Holland and West Germany serves developmentally disabled children and adults.

Before it closed, Schweitzer was community relations director for the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Schweitzer made history in Plymouth when as a clergyman in the early 1960s, he challenged a provision barring non-residents and non-property owners from holding office.

"He challenged that and came out victorious," recalled acting Plymouth City Manager William Graham. Schweitzer was elected in 1965 and served well during a four-year term.

Graham said.

"I considered him a very good friend," he added. "He did the eulogy and service for my dad, and recently, my mom."

When Schweitzer and Graham met, Schweitzer was still a minister. "A lot of people were astounded (when he left the ministry)," recalled Graham.

Peter was a radical, liberal kind of minister in many respects. He thought there were more important things he could do in terms of humanities, and that's when he became involved with the retarded and handicapped."

City to schools: Add driveway landscaping, scrap

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

If school officials want to expand their administration building and on-site parking in Plymouth, they should plan more landscaping and scrap a driveway on Ann Arbor Trail.

That was the message from several Plymouth planning commissioners Wednesday.

At a special planning commission meeting, commissioners delayed a vote on possible approval of school board plans to renovate the site.

The delay would allow school officials to revise plans for the schools office at 454 S. Harvey downtown, before returning to the planning commission.

Several residents spoke against the project.

"I don't care to look at a parking lot right next to my house," said Elaine Anderson of Ann Arbor Trail. "I certainly don't want a brick wall. I don't want it to look like I'm caged into the place."

Diane Stamp of Penniman Street, along with other residents, asked why school officials planned so much parking at the site. "Why can't they (employees) walk from the municipal lot?" she said.

School officials and planning commissioners tentatively set Feb. 14 as the date site plan approval would again go before the commission.

School officials have proposed a 7,700-square-foot addition on the west side of the administration building — 2,500 feet in a basement and on each of two floors — and 73 parking spaces.

The building is just south of Ann Arbor Trail.

officials want to remove two houses the district owns south of Robert Bake Realtors on Ann Arbor Trail.

To pay for the project, officials would use $925,000 approved by voters in a 1986 bond issue.

Stella Greene of Ann Arbor Trail echoed the sentiments of other residents, in saying, "You're still opening up the avenue to various developers."

Several residents said approval of the project could encourage other developers to plan projects along Ann Arbor Trail east to Sheldon.

Some spoke in favor of the project.

Former Plymouth-Canton school board trustee Lester Walker said the project "certainly was voted in by the majority of the people in the school district."

He said rejection would be "a betrayal of the voters' interest at that time."

Tom Piotrowski of the chamber of commerce board of directors said he supported the expansion and keeping the schools' office in Plymouth, along with many business leaders.

Record check

2 state auditors
look at Graper's
1988-89 expenses

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Auditors from the state treasury department were in Plymouth last week to examine records of former city manager Henry Graper's expenses.

The arrival of the two auditors was sparked by questions from some city commissioners last summer over the former city manager's expenses, which include entertainment expenses for city business.

The auditors, John Bengel and Gene Arlt, "would be back to do a more detailed analysis" later this week or possibly next week, acting city manager William Graham said.

"It was an information gathering trip and it will be included in the report we forward to the (state) attorney general's office," said Robert Kolt, treasury department spokesman.

"I can't tell you when a report will be finalized," Kolt said.

GRAHAM SAID he and city attorney Ron Lowe met with the auditors, who spent roughly six hours examining Graper's fiscal year 1988-89 records.

"They asked for a copy of Mr. Graper's employment contract. They went through the paperwork and gave me the file back," Graham said.

"They didn't discuss any findings," Graham said. The auditors said they hadn't finished examining records, he said.

"We have allegations," Lowe said. "If they (auditors) have confirmation, I expect they'll make recommendations."

IF THE auditors find wrongdoing on Graper's part, they could seek charges on behalf of the state of Michigan, or make a recommendation to the city commission, Lowe said.

"There's been no confirmation of any of the allegations yet," Lowe said.

Graper said last summer that differences with city commissioners over management techniques prompted his resignation.

Cash, jewelry reported missing

A 53-year-old Plymouth woman told police someone broke into her house on Lexington and stole jewelry and an undetermined amount of cash.

The front door was pried open with a tool the size of a tire iron, police said. Closets and dresser drawers had been rummaged through, and empty jewelry boxes were found on a bed.

The incident took place sometime between 9 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. Thursday.

Police were unable to lift fingerprints. There are no witnesses or suspects.

The woman would give police a complete list of missing items, she said.

CAR MISSING: A 25-year-old Plymouth man told police someone stole his 1988 red Pontiac Firebird out of his driveway on Union Street sometime Thursday night.

Someone also took his car keys and wallet containing $40 from his bedside table in a room in the basement where he sleeps, he said.

There were no signs of forced entry, but the man said that when he awoke, he found the back door standing open.

BREAKING AND ENTERING: A Penniman Street resident told police his house was broken into sometime Wednesday.

Taken were $225 in cash and a $20 money clip, a wallet, documents, a driver's license, a Social Security card, and charge cards.

The side door of the house had been kicked repeatedly with a muddy boot, or shoe, and wouldn't close properly, police said.

The man's briefcase and its contents were found earlier the same day on Evergreen Street.

STOLEN CAR: A cab company reported a 1982 Chevy missing from its lot early Wednesday. The car keys had been left underneath the front seat. Another parked cab was found with its door ajar, but nothing missing.

The stolen vehicle has a car phone, a Motorola radio and a meter. The car isn't covered by theft insurance.

It was parked in the lot about 11:30 p.m., and discovered missing at about 2 a.m.

Police issued a bulletin to other

crime watch

departments. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

WINDOWS SHOT: A Main Street real estate company filed a malicious destruction of property report after discovering BBs in two windows Thursday morning.

One BB was found inside the building, and others between panes of glass.

Employees have had no trouble in the past, and have no idea who might have done the shooting, they said.

Damage is estimated at more than $100.

STOLEN STEREO: Car stereo equipment valued at more than $1,000 was reported missing from a car left unlocked at a Plymouth Township auto dealer lot on Ann Arbor Road.

The car was in the dealership overnight Tuesday for repairs, and the theft was discovered at 10:30 a.m., the Plymouth Township police report said. Missing were a compact disc player, a stereo amplifier and other equipment.

Police are investigating.

REPORT FILED: A Plymouth Township woman, 32, filed a report with police Wednesday that her ex-husband used his car to push her car into a cement embankment.

The woman told police he was angry because she was leaving her house after he came to pick up the children, the Plymouth Township police report said.

ASSAULT CHARGED: A Plymouth Township youth, 15, said another teen threatened to kill him at a township bowling alley. The youth filed an assault charge with Plymouth Township police.

The 17-year-old youth threatened him Jan. 21, and has done so previously, the police report said.

CAR VANDALIZED: An Ypsilanti woman, 33, found that her car was scratched with a metal object and two tires were punctured, when she returned to the car after getting out of work Jan. 22 at the Ford plant on Sheldon Road.

Plymouth Township Police are investigating.

Ex-minister dedicated life to helping others

"Basically, that was his life, dealing with those people and trying to help them," Graham said a few hours after picking out Schweitzer's gravesite.

"He was a guy who had some pretty liberal-minded ideas, and at the same time was very conservative. He had a high set of moral values."

"His having left the church isn't any reflection on his religious values or feelings about the philosophy of religion. I think he felt he could do a lot more for humanity by getting out there and dealing with it one-on-one, as opposed to from the pulpit. It takes a real special person to deal with those folks. He was a very dedicated individual."

BONNIE SCHWEITZER said her husband "touched a lot of people, and he cared about a lot of people."

"In the 1960's, he got socially involved in Plymouth with the peace march, open housing, group homes, and the fight to maintain his seat on the commission. He was a people person."

"We rarely formally planned to have people come over, but our house was always full. And the house has been full since Tuesday. I appreciate that, and he would just love it. He would be having such a good time."

Schweitzer's greatest accomplishment was being himself, she added.

"He did nothing to make himself rich or famous; he certainly wasn't either."

"He was just him, just who he was. A lot of us are going to miss him. We loved him, and still do."

SCHWEITZER WAS ORDAINED in 1964. He graduated from Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C., and Western Michigan University.

He was director of the Coleman School in Detroit for the developmentally disabled.

"When he started there in 1967, the buildings were still smoldering from the riots," recalled Mrs. Schweitzer.

Schweitzer served as a Plymouth planning commissioner and belonged to St. John's Episcopal Church of Plymouth. He formerly was a Plymouth volunteer firefighter and was involved with Youth, Inc., and the Plymouth YMCA.

In addition to his wife, Schweitzer is survived by his son, Jason, brother Robert of St. Petersburg, Fla., a niece and an aunt. His mother, Louise Schweitzer, died Thursday.

Schweitzer was buried in Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth from Schrader's Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to Camp Fowler or to St. John's Episcopal Church.

Humane Society gets no kicks from donkey game

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Don't count on anyone from the Michigan Humane Society competing in the donkey basketball game set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 15, in the Plymouth Salem High School gym.

The event is expected to raise about $1,500 for the I CARE Committee and the Salem High School Junior Class Council. I CARE is a community group with about 100 members dedicated to educational excellence in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Eileen Liska, director of research and legislation for the Humane Society, said donkey basketball is "another type of entertainment exploitation."

"Donkeys are naturally very slow-moving, shy animals. It's very stressful for them physically and psychologically when they have to be put in a situation with people riding them, urging them to move faster. Add to that the crowd yelling, noise and lights."

"It's not an appropriate thing for a donkey to have to put up with," Liska said.

The Humane Society also has concerns about the care donkeys receive while being transported, she added.

"You have to withhold food and water from them for several hours, otherwise you'd have donkeys doing you know what."

"The person who does it makes money, but at what cost to the animals? There are plenty of ways worthy organizations can raise money. Why resort to something that abuses animals physically and emotionally?"

AFTER HEARING about the concerns of the Humane Society, Northville High School discontinued donkey basketball fund-raisers.

If donkey basketball games are held at schools, it's even more upsetting to the Humane Society, Liska said.

"We are trying to teach children respect for life. This gives them the obvious message that animals are here to do whatever we want them to."

The Humane Society has an education program that reaches 260,000 children in Michigan annually.

Liska said the Humane Society plans to contact I CARE.

"Lots of times, people don't realize these things. We'd like to approach them. If it's too late to stop this one, we will try in a non-confrontational way to inform them we hope they won't do it again."

I CARE officers said they haven't yet been contacted, and were surprised to learn of the Humane Society's position.

DAVE FARQUHARSON, co-chairman of I CARE's community involvement committee, said questions raised by the Humane Society were discussed at I CARE meetings.

"The general consensus was that this isn't a problem. I am a member of the Humane Society and an animal lover from way back. At the first meeting, one of my questions, playing the devil's advocate, concerned this," he said.

"People who'd seen these before said there didn't appear to be any mistreatment of the animals. There've been benefit fund-raisers at John Glenn High School, in Wayne-Westland and at Redford Union.

"The quarters are very short. They're not like a regulation basketball game," he said.

Farquharson said he can't imagine the owner of the donkeys allowing them to be mistreated.

"This gentleman has had hundreds of these across the state. This man takes great care of his animals. They're pets of his."

"I feel really bad the issue has come up," added Farquharson. "If that's the case (with the Humane Society), I CARE would certainly want to take a close look at that."

LEE HARRISON, assistant principal at West Middle School, said the issue "did surface at the last meeting when we were discussing details."

"The gentleman who runs the company assured us that this wasn't an issue, and that the animals were cared for and not humiliated."

"Ironically, a week-and-a-half ago, a group of kids had a dance here to raise money for the Humane Society."

I CARE's plan called for school employees, students and prominent citizens including U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, to take part in the donkey basketball game.

Schools told, add landscaping

Visitors and school employees, he said, "come in and they buy and they eat in town."

"I believe this would be an addition that would be an advantage to us," said planning commissioner Robert Jones. He added that if school officials were turned away, another developer could come in and build something less desirable.

Along with some other commissioners, Douglas Miller said, "I would prefer seeing no ingress or egress at all off of Ann Arbor Trail."

Summing up the concerns of other planning commissioners, Miller suggested that school officials also increase landscaping to shield the lot from the street and nearby residents.

Transport plan eyed to ease jail crowding

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Area police seek prisoner space in new facility

Area police chiefs want to make sure that since Wayne County taxpayers are helping to pay for a new county jail that out Wayne County will be given space for prisoners.

For now the five communities — Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township — in the 35th District Court have worked out a plan to transport misdemeanor offenders to the Hillsdale County Jail.

OTHER COMMUNITIES have similar programs which were made necessary by overcrowding at the Wayne County Jail, said 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald. In 1988 Wayne County voters approved a 1 mill, 10-year tax increase to support a new Wayne County jail, which was under construction last fall and is expected to be completed in two years.

Wayne County law enforcement officials are fighting for space in that facility.

"There's serious fears space won't be allocated to out Wayne County," said Plymouth police Chief Richard Myers, president of the Wayne County chiefs of police.

"Many chiefs in the county have a high frustration level at the inability to house prisoners," Myers said.

THE HILLSDALE County transport plan is a temporary solution and happens to be cheaper at $40 daily than housing prisoners in Wayne County where the cost is $67 daily.

"The law enforcement community in Wayne County is saying here's what the problems are and here's what we need and we need it at a cost that isn't more expensive than a local hotel," Myers said.

The 35th District Court Building Authority has agreed to pay for the van to transport prisoners to Hillsdale and the local communities will provide the officers.

Currently people charged with misdemeanors, like drunk driving and shoplifting in 35th District Court, are ordered to pay fines and/or to take part in work detail assignments in lieu of jail sentences. Repeat offenders who fail to report are released when they should be jailed, law enforcement officials argue.

"Although we've tried, the jails are full with felons," MacDonald said. "People (repeat misdemeanor offenders) have gotten to know we can't send them to jail."

It's been more than five years since 35th District Court judges have sentenced jail time for misdemeanor offenders, MacDonald said.

"What good is enforcing drunk driving laws when they're not going to jail," said Canton public safety director John Santomauro.

"There's no surety of punishment, because of this jail problem, said

Santomauro, who initiated the Hillsdale transport plan.

"We need to put felons away. We also need to put misdemeanants away."

HE SAID taking those sentenced on misdemeanor charges to the Hillsdale County Jail is a good solution for now, but Wayne County ultimately must deal with housing Wayne County offenders.

"I think it's absolutely deplorable that we have to go out county," Santomauro said. "It's like putting a band-aid on an open wound."

Wayne County residents voted in a millage "thinking that this problem would not be continued," Santomauro said.

Building a facility in out Wayne County to handle offenders in those communities, apart from Detroit, is one possibility to consider, Santomauro said.

"What we should have done is allow Detroit (where a lot of felons are sentenced) to take care of their problem," he added.

Felons must be jailed before people charged with misdemeanor crimes.

A jail committee made of law enforcement officials is headed by Santomauro and will meet with Wayne County jail representatives to discuss possible jailing solutions. The thrust is to head off space problems for out Wayne County before the new jail is complete.

Hoben named school Superintendent of Year

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben has been named Superintendent of the Year by the Michigan Association of School Administrators. This marks the first time a superintendent from Wayne County has been honored by the MASA.

Hoben, nominated by one of his elementary school principals, beat out four candidates from among the state's 560 school districts, said Don Elliott, MASA executive director.

An eight-member panel of educators from across Michigan served as judges.

THE PANEL selected an active MASA member, Elliott said.

"Dr Hoben is chairman of our legislative committee — one of our most important and active committees. He's also recognized across the state of Michigan for his work in strategic planning and curriculum development. He speaks on those subjects throughout the state and across the country."

Hoben will be formally honored Wednesday at the MASA's midwinter conference at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in Grand Rapids.

On Feb. 23 at the national MASA conference in San Francisco, the national Superintendent of the Year will be awarded a $5,000 scholarship that will go to his or her alma mater. Hoben and the other state winners will receive a medallion.

Winners are selected based on a number of criteria, including education, experience, publications and community leadership.

BOARD MEMBERS from the Wayne County Intermediate School District recognized Hoben at Monday's Plymouth-Canton school board meeting.

Presenter Mary Blackmon praised Hoben for "bringing honor and distinction to the local school districts of Wayne County."

"The board of education salutes you for your many years of professional leadership, bringing quality education to the boys and girls of the Plymouth-Canton school district in particular, as well as other Wayne County Schools."

HOBEN PASSED the credit along to his colleagues.

"Really, it's the fine people at the county and board levels that made this possible, and I really appreciate it," he said.

John Hoben

The honor was overdue, board president Dean Swartzwelder said.

"He's been superintendent of the district for 18 1/2 years, and during that time period, he's served in about every position one can think of, and has done an outstanding job

Bill would strengthen seat belt law by claim reduction

A bill that would cut automobile insurance costs and ease burdens on the court system has been introduced by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Geake, whose 6th District includes Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Redford, said his bill would strengthen Michigan's 1986 mandatory safety belt law.

Currently, under Michigan's comparative negligence standard, an accident victim's damage claim may be reduced by the percentage that his or her own negligent actions contributed to an injury.

Under the safety belt law, however, damage claims may be reduced by no more than 5 percent if an accident victim was not wearing a safety belt.

Geake's legislation would remove the 5 percent limitation and allow a judge or jury to determine the extent to which the lack of a seat belt contributed to the victim's injuries, and reduce the recovery accordingly.

"The 5 percent limit on recovery appears to be arbitrary," said Geake. "The purpose if the comparative negligence standard is to hold individuals responsible when their own negligent actions contribute to their injury."

"It is time that we more accurately align one's own responsibility to wear a safety belt with the amount of recovery they can expect when an accident occurs."

Auditors examine Graper's expenses

"There was a difference of opinion as to how the money was to be spent on expenses. There were some irregularities in the expense account," commissioner James Jabara said in July, declining to be more specific.

FOR THE period from July 1988 through May 1989, city administrators, including Graper and other department heads, ran up a tab of $18,609 at the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth Landing and Hillside Inn.

Nearly $6,381 of that total paid for an appreciation party for members of the city's various boards and commissions, according to Graham.

Graham told the auditors he wanted to hear their recommendations on internal controls, to eliminate future concerns over expenses, he said Wednesday.

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off.
In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins. They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention.

In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. To find out more, write:

Levin convenes drug seminar

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

The federal government is putting more money into its war on drugs, according to U.S. Rep. Sanders M. Levin, D-Michigan's 17th District, who invited more than 200 community leaders to a conference last week in Southfield.

"Seldom before has Congress appropriated money" without already knowing where it would go, Levin said Friday at the conference in the Southfield Civic Center.

But Congress has made more money available, meaning individual agencies can get increased funding, providing they establish their goals and move quickly, Levin said.

Levin called the conference to help agencies within the 17th District (parts of Southfield, Detroit and Redford Township) apply for additional money appropriated for the war on drugs.

Of $8.8 billion earmarked for the war on drugs, Michigan will receive almost $74 million in formula grants, or an increase of nearly 76 percent, Levin said.

THE MONEY will be used for education and prevention as well as treatment and law enforcement, he said.

"This money will go into the trenches of the war on drugs," Levin said, "where the battle against substance abuse will be won or lost."

It is directed at middle school youngsters just becoming aware of drugs as well as addicts and those trying to help or arrest them, he said.

The money was made available, Levin continued, because of the growing realization that to win the war on drugs the U.S. must reduce the demand for narcotics, rather than curtailing the supply illegally coming into the country.

The U.S. must continue trying to cut off the supply from Colombia, Southeast Asia and other parts of the world, he said. "But the war will largely be won or lost at home."

Edie A. Clark, deputy director for prevention of the Michigan Office of Drug Agencies, said the war on drugs calls for a cooperative effort between law enforcement and prevention and treatment agencies.

"We (prevention and treatment agencies) can't win without them," she said. "And they can't win without us."

In a press conference before the conference, Levin said he strongly disagrees with those who advocate decriminalizing drugs. Among them is the distinguished George W. Crockett Jr., a former Recorder's Court judge and fellow Democrat who is the U.S. Representative in the 13 District, or Detroit.

Crockett and others have said the United States is losing its war on drugs and that decriminalizing the use of narcotics will reduce related crime.

Levin admits the United States is getting mixed results from its expensive war. "Casual use of drugs is on the downturn, while use among addicts is near the same level."

"But you can't decriminalize drugs without condoning it. That would inevitably lead to more widespread use," he said.

Local artist will teach classes at Schoolcraft

Local artist Susan Pickering Rothamel will teach a series of art courses for Schoolcraft College Continuing Education Service this semester.

Rothamel's work has been displayed in numerous galleries throughout the metro area. She has been featured in one-woman shows at the Livonia Arts Commission Invitational, Jacobson's, the America Harvest Restaurant at Schoolcraft College and the Renaissance Gallery in Livonia.

She will teach the following courses:

- Oil painting 7-10 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Feb. 7. Cost of the 11-week course is $75. The course offers an introduction to the basic techniques of oil painting. Color mixing an composition will be stressed with an emphasis on learning to control the medium.

- Color theory with oil pigments 8-10 p.m. Thursdays beginning Feb. 8. Fee is $66 for the 12-week course. Students will experiment with the rationale and harmony of the color circle and dominate colors.

- Collage 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Feb. 6. Cost is $47 for the eight-week course. Rothamel will demonstrate the types of materials necessary for the composition of a successful collage. Materials are as diverse as handmade papers, rice papers, fabric and discarded watercolors. Students will gain experience in creating their own work of art. Topics covered will include basic techniques, compositions, sources of fabric, application of materials and alteration of paintings.

Art materials 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays beginning April 10. Fee is $30 for four weeks. The course provides an opportunity for art enthusiasts to learn about available art materials. Topics to be covered include new products, properties of art materials, compatibility, longevity, short cuts and special effects used in contemporary arts.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia. For more information, call 462-4448.

INFLUENZA & ARTHRITIS

Does having arthritis make you susceptible to other illnesses?

Since arthritis, particularly rheumatoid arthritis, is the result of faulty immune regulation, it is possible that this defect impairs the body's response against the influenza virus?

Studies to date show no difference in anti-body response to influenza viruses by individuals with rheumatoid or lupus arthritis and persons without these conditions. However, arthritis medicines have a substantial influence on how you fight infection; the drug that puts you at most risk is cortisone. If you need to take it daily, you are susceptible to both influenza and pneumonia. The drug works by suppressing the body's immune response in general, and does not specifically focus on lymphocytes that cause self immunity or spare cells fighting off viruses or bacteria.

Other medications, such as methotrexate and immuran, primarily used to treat rheumatoid arthritis, have a effect similar to cortisone but not in so profound a manner. Fortunately, aspirin and similar anti-inflammatory drugs, gold, and injectable steroids do not depress the immune system's ability to respond to viruses. Thus, physicians can treat arthritis without placing you at increased risk for infections.

Fiber fodder

Chew on bran study

READING THIS column probably won't help reduce cholesterol, but who knows? It might be as good as anything else.

If I could just find a backer — some outfit like the Canadian Newsprint Producers Association or the Printers Ink Manufacturing Alliance — to commission a study, we might find that reading newspapers can reduce your risk of a heart attack or help to lower your blood pressure.

It's all in the interest of science... and maybe selling more newspapers.

What all this is about, of course, is that new study published last week in the New England Journal of Medicine that concluded that oat bran doesn't do diddly in reducing cholesterol.

Even though the study was published in what is generally considered to be the most prestigious medical research journal in the country, the findings immediately came under attack from various quarters.

That's not surprising. Stroll the aisles of your local supermarket and you'll see why. Oat bran has become big business in the last several months and big business doesn't want to hear anything negative about it.

After all, the marketing hype that has been touting oat bran as the wonder fiber of the decade was based on similar research studies which indicated that the fiber might help reduce cholesterol.

And the researchers who conducted those studies don't want their findings to be challenged any more than the cereal and cracker and muffin companies want to lose a share of the market.

BUT JUST what is behind all of this research and why, or why isn't, it significant?

The latest study, which concluded basically that people who eat a lot of oat bran showed a drop in their cholesterol level simply because in filling up on the fiber they ate less saturated fat, has been criticized for its small sample size and its "control methods."

Maybe the criticism is valid; maybe the study is flawed.

But some of the criticism came from a researcher at Northwestern University, who earlier conducted one of the most widely cited studies supporting oat bran as a cholesterol reducer.

Jack Gladden

The Quaker Oat Co. used this study as the source of information for its ad campaign touting the healthy aspects of its products.

What is not usually brought out, however, is that the Northwestern study was funded by... guess who? ... the Quaker Oat Co.

It all reminds me of a press release issued by Michigan State University a few years ago announcing research on a weight-reduction "bread diet." The research indicated (note how often that word "indicated" appears in research reports) that you could eat anything you wanted and still lose weight as long as you included in your diet 12 slices of bread a day.

The gimmick was that you had to eat three or four slices of bread before each meal. After that, of course, you tended to eat less of everything else.

The last line in the release noted that the research was funded by... the Continental Baking Co.

DOES THIS mean that all "funded" research projects are biased? Not necessarily.

A couple of days after the latest oat bran study was published, a similar project at the University of Texas at Health Science Center at Houston concluded that rice bran, which has been rumored to be even better at reducing cholesterol levels than oat bran, is equally ineffective.

That study was paid for by the rice industry, which began backing away as soon as the results were released and called the findings "inconclusive."

What all of this means is that research projects like this usually don't prove anything one way or the other. About all they do is indicate.

And how those indications are interpreted often depends on what the interpreter wants them to mean. They should be taken with a healthy dose of salt substitute.

Cat shooting angers pet owner

To the editor:

We hope that if our well-loved cat happened to slip out of our house without its collar that the Plymouth Police will use a little good judgment and not shoot it because it looks like a stray. And if it did perchance become lost that they would use more compassion in treating it.

After all, to a cat that isn't used to strangers, a large intimidating man in uniform would cause it to try and defend itself the only way nature provides — scratching and hissing or looking aggressive.

When we first came to Plymouth many years ago and had to call the police on a stray, starving German shepherd, we were told that the only way to take the dog in was for me to lure him into the police car trunk. Then they took him away in their truck, pitiful and abused as the dog looked. It seems things haven't changed much in 17 years. Maybe Plymouth needs an animal control officer that can handle these situations in a more humane manner.

For the most part the Plymouth police do an outstanding job, but a little more compassion for the animals is needed in our community.

Rosita A. Smith, Plymouth

Special high school not a good idea

To the editor:

This letter is in regard to the idea of possibly converting Central Middle School to a specialized high school. I do not think a specialized high school would be a good idea at all.

It won't give students attending it a chance to mingle with students that are not in the specialized program. The attending students will be too "closed off" from the people at the regular high school.

I AM in the TAG program myself, so I know what it is like to be closed off. Since fourth grade, when I joined the program, I have basically seen just the same people except for in elective classes.

I am looking forward to going to the high school because I will be seeing different people. If I were in a specialized high school for TAG students, I still would just see the same people until I went to college.

Derek Clemens, Plymouth

School groups should unite

To the editor:

I am addressing this letter to the people of the Plymouth-Canton community, and members and supporters of ICARE and CBE.

For some time now all of us have been faced with the conflicts surrounding the schools in our community. Predominantly there are two factions, CBE and ICARE, who are at odds with what our children should be exposed to in school. Each group has gone to great lengths to help us understand their position and in several cases have taken some sort of action to demonstrate their beliefs.

I feel that members and supporters of ICARE and CBE should be congratulated for the significant investment of their time and effort on the behalf of our children and the community. And, I would also like to extend an invitation for these two groups to now join forces to overcome some of the educational difficulties facing this community and the entire nation.

If we wish to provide a bright future for our children then we must all work together toward that goal.

With each passing day the world we live in changes and becomes smaller and smaller. With those changes comes challenges. Unless all of us takes an active role in planning for the future we, as a nation, a state, a community will be left behind.

There are countries today that are positioning themselves for the future. They will not be interested in our personal philosophical differences. They will be educating their people and ensuring the future for their children, not ours.

I believe the time has come for all of us to set aside some of the differences that separate us. Let us join forces for our good and the good of our children. I think with the combined talents of members of CBE, ICARE, the school board, parents, teachers, and students these problems can be overcome.

We are the only ones who can do it.

Thomas A. Wilson, Plymouth

Issues for joint meeting suggested

To the editor:

I am glad that Supervisor Breen and Mayor Bila have organized a joint special meeting of the trustees and commissioners of Plymouth.

My interest in better government leads me to hope for a similar meeting where we can discuss some of the following:

- Recreation: a fine arts coordinator, tennis courts and soccer fields.
- DPW: Backing up each other like the police and fire departments. • AMPLIMS computer or police information management system.

• Community promotion. While the representatives of each of the governmental units will only proceed in the "best interest" of the citizens, I am hopeful that we are making a step in the right direction on Feb. 6, 1990.

John C. Stewart, Plymouth

A time to verbalize pain

To the editor:

As it happened, I was under the dryer in the beauty shop when I opened my copy of the State News with anticipation to read my daughter's editorial. The lead hit me hard.

"The roses were weeping." My Aunt Carolyn was propped in a blissful stance, wearing 30 times more makeup than she ever would have applied herself, lying under a spray of saddened roses.

"Oh my God," I thought "An open casket."

I wasn't ready for this.

"How could she?" My grief and anger spilled in bitter tears. I pulled myself together to read her words. My heart was ripped apart to experience and share the pain she had not verbalized before. Shortly, my tears glistened with pride as I felt the impact of the tribute she had written. She was using her skills to help her work through her grief constructively.

That same evening, I opened the Observer & Eccentric and read Judith Doner Berne's wonderful memorial to her father. It was then that I realized again, the value of shared expression, skillfully and professionally constructed. It was that editorial that cemented my understanding of the need to include even very personal experiences in print.

I am certain that Judith Berne's mother and family shares my pride. Our daughters have expressed our feelings in a way we never could. Thank You.

Winter heat bills, road salt use on the rise

By Wayne Paal
staff writer

The worst winter ever? Maybe not — but winter 1990 is well on its way to being one of Michigan's coldest, most snow-filled, in recent years.

Even though the winter is little more than a month old, energy use is up dramatically. So is the amount of salt spread over area roads.

Consumers Power, primary gas supplier to western Wayne and Oakland counties, reports selling more gas heat in December than at any time in the past 13 years.

That means heating bills will be going up.

"Despite our best efforts to reduce the price of energy, especially natural gas, customers saw bills for December that were higher than they expected," said Edgar Doss, general manager of the company's metro region.

The company reports sending out more natural gas last month than at any time since 1976-77, the coldest winter this century.

Home gas heat use is expected to rise 20-30 percent over the same period last year, Doss said. Consumers Power serves more than 700,000 customers in the metro area.

AS IF December's below average temperatures weren't bad enough, they were accompanied by above-average snowfall.

Wayne County road crews have already used more than 65 million tons of road salt to date. The figure tops that used in the winter of 1986-87 and is only 30 percent less than that used all last winter.

Most of the road salt was spread between Dec. 21 and New Year's Eve, one of the busiest periods ever for county road crews.

"We've used a lot, but we're still in pretty good shape," said county spokeswoman Irma Clark. "That's because we've been able to replace what we've used." The county maintains a 70,000 ton stockpile.

Though supply might not be a concern, cost is.

The county expects to exceed the $5 million it budgeted for this winter's road care, even though the county set aside 25 percent more money this year than it spent last year.

The winter could be an especially cruel one for Michigan's needy.

Officials are concerned the state could run out of money to pay welfare recipient's heating bills.

"We're watching it carefully," Lynda Crandell, director of the Office of Special Programs and Services said.

Department of Social Services officials said they might have to ask the state Legislature for additional money before the winter runs out.

The state budget contains $211 million for heating programs designed to benefit low-income families and seniors. But officials said state budget restraints — and cuts in federal assistance — mean fewer families can be helped.

Welfare recipients can receive up to $1,600 a year for electricity and heating bills.

Detroit Edison reports peak electricity use twice topped previous records in December, though final monthly figures have yet to be compiled.

"We set a new record on Dec. 18,

Wayne County road crew loads up with salt at a local yard. Road crews have already used more than 65 million tons of road salt then we broke it — with 6,664 megawatts — on Dec. 20," said company spokeswoman Mary Kay Bean. "That was the week we had all that really cold weather."

The rise in usage isn't entirely attributed to the cold, Bean said, residential and industrial growth is also considered a factor.

The figure roughly equals the energy produced by a 9 million horsepower engine — or the combined horsepower of 75,000 mid-sized automobiles. Edison is southeastern Michigan's primary electricity supplier, with an estimated 1.9 million customers.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Foodies can be inspiring

Frequently, I get the opportunity to meet foodies like yourself. Whether it be in line at the grocery store, at the recycling center or at the library, seldom does a day go by when someone doesn't come up to me and say, "Hey, aren't you..."

When I meet people on the street, one of the most popular questions asked is, "Where do you get all the ideas to write about?" Well, in addition to reading just about every magazine I can get my hands on — not to mention cookbooks and press releases — believe it or not, I get quite a bit of material just from talking to folks like you.

I have a tendency to mingle things. One person might pass along an idea for a storyline. I file it somewhere in the back of my brain, and all of a sudden I meet someone else who kind of brings that idea back to life.

The writing process I use is similar to the combination of flavors derived from my recipe preparations. Different folks are like different flavors and, quite frequently, the flavors blend together in such a way I soon find myself with a totally new taste sensation.

Just as an artist combines colors to produce a painting, I think my job is even more interesting. Frequently when giving guest lectures, I comment that my culinary world has a platter for a palette and all the different foods are the colors, with my knives, forks, spoons and other sundry utensils my brushes. When I cook, the finished product is more like a painting, relying on the food to be my expression of colors, odors and flavors.

TASTE AND SMELL are irrevocably intertwined. Flavor is the quality of a substance that affects the sense of taste. The nature of its aroma, whether pleasant, overpowering or absent, will affect the way it tastes on a plate. For example, I frequently prepare a dish, when watching my caloric intake, using chicken, chicken broth, tarragon and lemon juice.

Anyone can saute a chicken breast in a little broth or, for more calories, a little butter. The plate presentation can be absent of any discernible aroma other than the chicken when it's sauteed with a little tarragon and then, just before serving, doused with a splash of lemon juice. The combination of tarragon and lemon juice affects the overall aroma of the chicken, making a basic, mundane piece of poultry almost bounce off the plate with smells of sweetness and tartness.

Flavors are broken down into two categories: primary and secondary. Primary flavors are those that are obvious, such as the flavors of the above-mentioned chicken and tarragon or beef and red wine in a beef à la bourguignonne.

Secret ingredients belong in the realm of secondary flavors. The light splash of Tabasco that ends up in the fondue just before serving helps to highlight the flavor of the wine and cheese used in the dish. Ditto for a splash of lemon juice that gets enveloped in my special bean soup to help pronounce the bean flavor.

AND JUST LIKE the world is filled with uninteresting and nasty people, the wrong combination of ingredients sometimes will seal the fate of the obvious. Let's face it, you wouldn't use a mint jelly on a peanut butter sandwich now, would you?

So short of getting a doctor's degree in chemistry, how does someone like you and me know when to add just the right seasoning to top off a spectacular dish? This is where my library of cookbooks, magazines, articles and press releases comes to view. I've always said never to follow a recipe verbatim, but when comparing similar recipes, I always look for the interesting little addition that will help make my dish stand out from the others.

Pot simmers with winter stew

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

What warms up a winter more easily than a simple meal of hearty stew, accompanied by crusty bread and red wine?

It takes time but no fuss

By Larry Janes
special writer

STEW TO SIMMER slowly, combining meat, vegetables and potatoes in a hearty, one-dish combination. Also, no fuss.

Mention stew for dinner and the first sentence tells all. But to some cooks, preparing a pot of stew turns into more of a fuss rather than the slow, effortless combination that a stew should evolve from.

Folks may confuse stewing with pot roasting and braising, claiming that a stew is more of a serving style than a cooking method. Good cooks worth their weight in salt, however, know that a stew can be a compelling combination of meat, vegetables and potatoes that literally melts in one's mouth.

Pot roasting utilizes a tight-fitting lid and very little liquid which is, in turn, cooked by steam.

Braising is cooking in stock or wine, used with all cuts of meat, that first involves searing the meat to force the juices into the interior of the meat. This changes the color and flavor of the resulting sauce. Then, by the addition of a liquid, the meat continues to cook, resulting in a more juicy and tender product.

Stewing, on the other hand, develops the flavor of the meat through a slow cooking process. It relies on the natural juices to intermingle with herbs, vegetables and potatoes for a melt-in-your mouth delicacy unrivaled in flavor and aroma.

WHEN MOMMA made stew, she first retrieved the old cast-iron dutch oven from the fruit cellar and scrubbed it well, while waiting for Dad to return from the local A&P with just the right amount of stewing beef cut precisely to her directives. After trimming the meat herself, she would rummage for a medium grocery sack. After adding the trimmed stewing beef, Momma would generously sprinkle on a handful of flour and toss the bag for a minute or so, making sure each piece was covered with just the right amount of flour.

The dutch oven was lightly brushed with fat and heated till the fat rippled. Adding the stew meat in three intervals, she would immediately lower the temperature and brown the meat chunks.

After a few minutes of gentle prodding with a pair of tongs (she seldom stirred randomly), an equal amount of water and dry red wine were added, in addition to a bay leaf, some peppercorns and a melange of herbs and spices. The heavy top to the dutch oven was put in place and, with just a glimmer of gas flame, the concoction was left virtually untouched for what seemed like days on end, although in honesty proved to be just a trio of hours.

Follow your nose to cinnamon-bun shop

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Mark Tanski, owner of Cinnacraz at Wonderland in Livonia, adds the finishing touch to cinnamon buns.

By Arlene Funke
special writer

The heavenly aroma of cinnamon grabbed me as I followed the pack of morning mall walkers.

A tray of fresh-baked cinnamon rolls had just come from the oven at a shop called Cinnacraz, in the Eaton Centre food emporium at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

The rolls, resting in full view of shoppers, were gigantic. Just-applied cream cheese frosting dribbled down the sides of the still-warm buns. I got in line. Calorie counting would have to wait for another day.

"The product, cinnamon rolls, just doesn't sell itself," said Mark Tanski, owner of the Plymouth-based Cinnacraz chain. "It's the atmosphere and quality. You can come to the store and watch them bake. It's fresh-baked. It's the aroma."

Took the words right out of my mouth. A sweet, delicious comfort food.

Sitting in Eaton Centre was Annette Patalon, who brought Emily and Norman Nawrocki to the mall for a morning treat. The three, Westland residents, split a giant Cinnacraz cinnamon roll with their cups of coffee.

"EVERY TIME I walk, I've wanted to try it," said Patalon, popping a bite of sweet roll into her mouth. "It's fresh and real tasty."

Norman Nawrocki, said he enjoyed the coffee. His wife Emily, raved about the sweet roll's cream cheese frosting. "I wouldn't make a habit of it, because of the calories," she said.

The Tanskis opened the first Cinnacraz, at Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor, in 1987. Other outlets are in Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi and at Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads in Plymouth, where their corporate offices and commissary are located.

Owned by Plymouth resident Tanski and his wife, Susan, the chain is one of several local businesses specializing in the sale of giant cinnamon buns baked on the premises. The name is a contraction of "cinnamon craze," recognizing the trend which Mark Tanski, a former electrical engineer, spotted on the West Coast three years ago while employed by Boeing Aircraft.

Mom's Cinnamon Rolls, in Laurel Park Place Mall in Livonia, and T.J. Cinnamon's, with locations in Farmington, Royal Oak and Pontiac, also sell sticky buns and specialty breads along with the big cinnamon rolls.

SIGHT, SIZE and smell bring in customers, according to Ken Thiemann, an assistant at Mom's, which opened in mid-November. "We fill the shopping mall with the aroma of cinnamon," said Thiemann, a Livonia resident. "Basically, it's impulse buying. The rolls are humongous. They catch everyone's eyes."

Prices hover around $1.50 each, with a reduction when purchasing six or more rolls. At around eight ounces, these aren't wimpy sweet buns. They're thick and yeasty, laced with cinnamon and brown sugar and slathered with rich frosting.

Tanski said plain, unfrosted buns are available. But most people choose the iced variety. Each one has around 500 calories.

People who can't handle such a hefty caloric wallop may opt to buy what Cinnacraz calls "cinnabits," the smaller pieces yielding half the calories of the full-size roll, according to Tanski. "You can still get a treat but they're not tied in with all those calories," he said.

Serious walkers are much more likely to buy one of several muffin varieties, rather than a cinnamon roll, he pointed out.

Stew simmers in pot

Only when a beef chunk was tasted and deemed tender enough for her demanding tastes were the potatoes, onions, carrots and celery added. I would be richer than Donald Trump if I could only bottle the aroma that filled every nook and cranny of the house when Momma made stew. To this day, the magical ritual has not changed one iota.

But then, along comes her contemporary son to change just one thing with Momma's ritual. Whereas she threw in whole peppercorns and bay leaves, only to have to retrieve them before serving, I have discovered that a small piece of gauze or clean cotton, with the peppercorns, herbs, spices and bay leaves inserted in the middle, then tied with a piece of string, alleviates the chomping down on a hard peppercorn or overly flavorful bay leaf. Just before serving, simply remove the so-called bouquet garni and toss. Then enjoy.

THE FRENCH are noted for their excellence in stermaking. Their process utilizes two main French ingredients that have fallen by the wayside in this day of microwaves and boxed cake mixes, namely, wine and time. Interesting herbs and spices, fresh vegetables and the discreet use of wine can make a fabulous stew, but the true success lies solely in the method of cooking.

A stew that has boiled on high power with as much agitation as a washing machine will cook no faster than one gently urged on the simmer setting. Everyone knows that boiled meat will prove to be tough and stringy and the gravy will be muddy with the flavors "boiled out."

Always simmer with wine for several hours so that the true taste of the vino can marry the remaining flavors into a rich, happy family. Of course, other liquids can be used for braising, such as beer, cider, broth and fresh vegetable juices.

While I'm not talking crockpot cookery here, such an electrical contraption is acceptable when you just can't get your hands on a big, old, heavy, cast-iron dutch oven. Le Creuset makes both an affordable enameled cast-iron dutch oven and a regular cast-iron dutch oven that not only result in the best stews but can double for just about anything from a casserole to a soup pot.

It is recommended that the skin that forms on the top of the pot while cooking be removed. Allowing a large pot to simmer for hours will not only produce this so-called skin but also will surface an oil or grease slick. A gravy ladle or bent, oversized kitchen spoon works best to remove this without the overmixing that could easily turn a tender pot of stew into barbecue helper.

WHEN IT COMES TO thickening, I personally don't feel the need to make everything as thick as motor oil. Some people like a substantial sauce and use a roux to accomplish this. Momma dissolved flour in milk and whisked it through a sieve so as not to get any lumps.

I guess if it was truly necessary, I would thicken with some cooked, pureed vegetables or incorporate the silky-rich taste of cream and egg yolks. Whatever your preference, fork-tender meat and vegetables in a luscious sauce can be an easy accomplishment for a busy cook. In the stewpot, if not in mathematics, the whole is often more than the sum of its parts. Bon Appetit!

ture. Cook for 1 hour. Just before serving, add lemon juice. Serve with rice or potatoes.

RAGOUT OF LAMB

Serves 10-12

- 4 pounds boneless lamb, cut into cubes
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- dash pepper
- 1/4 cup flour
- 3 cups beef broth or bouillon
- 3 tablespoons tomato paste
- 3 cloves garlic, mashed
- pinch rosemary
- 1 bay leaf
- 12 new potatoes, unpeeled
- 6 carrots, sliced
- 6 turnips peeled and cubed
- 18 small white onions, peeled
- 2 cups fresh or frozen peas
- 2 cups fresh green beans, cut into 1-inch pieces

Brown lamb a few pieces at a time in hot oil. Place in a casserole or dutch oven and sprinkle with sugar and toss over high heat till sugar caramelizes. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour. Cook a few minutes till the flour browns. Add broth to the pan and cook, stirring to mix liquid and flour. Add tomato paste and seasonings. Cover and simmer for 1 hour. Add potatoes, carrots, turnips and onions, simmer covered for 1 hour. Add green beans, cook 30 minutes. 5 minutes before serving, stir in peas. Taste and correct seasonings.

- 1 tablespoon thyme
- 3 cloves garlic, chopped fine
- 1 pound onions, sliced
- 3 pounds stew beef, cut into cubes
- 1 pound boneless pork, cut into cubes
- 1 pound mushrooms, sliced thick
- 1 cup brandy
- 2 quarts red wine

In a large dutch oven, saute bacon till crisp, add beef, 1 pound at a time and cook just to brown. Add remaining ingredients except mushrooms and mix well. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 3 hours. Remove the cover, correct the seasonings (salt and fresh ground pepper) and gently stir in mushrooms. Bake uncovered for 1 1/2 hours or until reduced by half.

LUXEMBOURG STEW

- 3 pounds veal shoulder, cubed
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 onion, sliced
- 1 pound tomatoes, skinned and seeded
- 5 whole cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- pinch thyme, rosemary, marjoram
- 2 1/2 cups beer
- 6 gingersnaps
- juice of 1 lemon

Roll veal cubes in flour. Melt butter and brown veal lightly. Remove veal and saute onion, adding a little more butter if needed. Return veal to the pan, add tomatoes, seasonings and beer. Cover and cook for 2 hours in a slow oven or over medium-low heat. Moisten gingersnaps with water, crush and add to the meat mix-

MOM JANES' BEST BEEF STEW

- 2 1/2 pound best stewing beef
- 1/4 cup flour
- 3 tablespoons bacon drippings or oil
- 2 cups water
- 2 cups dry red wine (soup stock can be used, if desired)
- 1 bay leaf
- 5 peppercorns
- 1 teaspoon parsley
- 1 teaspoon thyme
- 1 teaspoon marjoram
- 2 medium potatoes, cubed large
- 4 carrots, cut into chunks
- 4 stalks celery, cut into chunks
- 1 medium onion, cut into chunks
- more wine, if necessary

Coat stewing beef with flour, set aside. Heat bacon drippings or oil in the bottom of a heavy dutch oven. Add beef and brown on all sides, turning frequently with tongs, not stirring. After meat has browned nicely, add water and wine and herbs. (Cheesecloth or other clean, small cloth can be used to wrap herbs and spices for easy retrieval.)

Simmer, covered on lowest heat possible for 2 1/2-3 hours. Beef should be very tender but not shredded. Add vegetables and potatoes. If gravy is too thick, add more wine or broth, if desired. Cover and continue cooking on lowest heat possible for 1 additional hour. Remove bay leaf and peppercorns. Season with salt and pepper, if desired. Enjoy.

BEEF AND PORK STEW

Serves 6-8

- 1/2 pound bacon
- 1 pound carrots, sliced
- bay leaves to taste

Just follow your nose to cinnamon-bun shop

Mom's rolls are frosted with a confectioner's sugar icing. The shop also sells raisin and pecan varieties and several selections of muffins, bread and other baked goods.

"THE ORIGINAL (cinnamon roll) sells two-to-one over everything else," Thiemann said.

T.J. Cinnamon's sells the requisite eight-ounce cinnamon roll, as well as a five-ounce pecan "sticky bun."

"They are real gooey and sticky," said Lauren King of West Bloomfield Township, supervisor of the three local T.J. Cinnamon's.

The Farmington shop is carry-out only. Royal Oak and Pontiac stores have tables and, "We have people who come in with their briefcases and work," while eating, King said.

Following are locations for the shops mentioned in this story:

- Cinnacraz: Wonderland Mall, Plymouth and Middlebelt roads, Livonia; Briarwood Mall, Ann Arbor, Twelve Oaks Mall, Novi, and Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads, Plymouth.
- Mom's Cinnamon Rolls: Laurel Park Place, Six Mile and Newburgh roads, Livonia.
- T.J. Cinnamon's: 4702 N. Woodward, Royal Oak; 33181 Grand River at Farmington Road, Farmington; and 510 N. Telegraph, Oakland Pointe Shopping Center, Plymouth.

QUICK BUTTERMILK SWEET DOUGH

- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
- 1 1/4 cups buttermilk
- 2 eggs
- 5 1/2 to 6 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons salt

In large mixer bowl dissolve yeast in warm water. Add buttermilk, eggs, 2 1/2 cups flour, butter, sugar, baking powder and salt. Blend 1/2 minute on low speed, scraping bowl constantly. Beat 2 minutes medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Dough should remain soft and slightly sticky. Turn dough onto well-floured board; knead 5 minutes or about 200 turns. Shape dough immediately (no need to let rise) into desired rolls. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 1 hour. Dough is ready if impression remains when touched.

CINNAMON ROLLS

- 1/2 recipe quick buttermilk sweet dough
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon

Roll dough into rectangle, 15x9 inches; spread with butter. Mix sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over rectangle. Roll up, beginning at wide side. Pinch edge of dough into roll to seal well. Stretch roll to make even. Cut roll into 15 slices. Place slightly apart in greased baking pan, 13-by-9-by-2 inches, or in greased muffin cups. Let rise until double. Bake 25-30 minutes at 375 degrees. While warm, frost rolls with icing.

Sweet Icing

Mix 1 cup confectioner's sugar, 1 tablespoon milk and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla until smooth

Mother, teacher finds time to make speedy lasagna

Pasta has certainly come a long way from its humble origins.

Although some people might have thought it was invented by Chef Boyardee, museum books and ancient documents attest to pasta being one of the oldest and most revered foods, eaten as early as 5000 B.C. Indeed, pasta was not discovered by Marco Polo in China and brought back to Italy, for historical records show it was being eaten in Rome in 1284, almost 20 years before Marco Polo left on his famous journey.

Another interesting historical tidbit is that fettucine made with cheese, butter, cream and raw egg yolk was not invented by a restaurateur named Alfredo but was eaten by the Romans much as it is now in the year 1200, and was known by the catchy name of "lagano cum caseo."

Contrary to what a lot of children and, I daresay, some adults might believe, there is a vast world of pasta above and beyond Kraft Macaroni and Spaghetti-O's. This week's Winner Dinner, submitted by Susan Sweeney of Birmingham, offers you an alternative with a delicious and unbelievably easy recipe for lasagna.

Sweeney teaches math and social studies to fifth grade students at Brookside School Cranbrook. The mother of two children, she is working on a doctorate at Wayne State University. Her busy life as wife, mother, teacher and student doesn't leave her with much time to cook, but she has found innovative recipes that are easy to make and still delicious and nutritious.

ALTHOUGH LASAGNA is usually very time consuming to prepare, Sweeney's recipe solves that problem, as it should take no more than 20 minutes to put together. The secret to this speedy assembly is that the noodles are cooked in the sauce. A green salad tossed with a light coating of poppyseed dressing and a dessert of healthy chocolate chip cookies guarantee that no one will leave the table hungry!

Thank you, Susan Sweeney, for taking the time out of your busy schedule to share one of your family's favorite Winner Dinners with us. Perhaps from now on, the Prince can take his spaghetti and retire and

Recipes

UNBELIEVABLE LASAGNA

This dish takes about 20 minutes to assemble. It can be made in the morning, covered and refrigerated until placed in the oven. Be sure to bake it on a cookie sheet in case the tomato sauce bubbles over the sides of the dish. It is delicious reheated and amply feeds 6-8 people.

- 1 1/4 pounds ground beef, browned and well drained
- 32-ounce jar, thick spaghetti sauce
- 16-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 carton low-fat cottage cheese
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 8-10 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese
- 8 ounces uncooked lasagna noodles

Mix the browned meat with the spaghetti and tomato sauces. In another bowl, mix together the cottage cheese, eggs and cheeses. Arrange 1/2 of the sauce in the bottom of a 13x9-inch pan that has been sprayed with a nonstick spray. Arrange a layer of uncooked noodles on top and then half of the cheesy egg mixture. Repeat layers and end with a layer of sauce on the top. Noodles must be buried in the sauce. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/4-1 1/2 hours. Let stand for 10 minutes before serving.

TOSSED SALAD WITH POPPYSEED DRESSING

This recipe makes a 1/2 cup of dressing but can be doubled to make a larger quantity.

- 4 tablespoons salad oil or olive oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 clove of garlic, minced
- fresh ground pepper to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon poppy seeds

Shake ingredients together in a bottle until the ingredients are well mixed. Serve over a green salad filled with lots of fiber-filled crunchy veggies, like sliced carrots, celery, raw broccoli and cauliflower fleurettes. Cut up a tomato, chop up a bit of red onion and add some marinated artichoke hearts for a little change of pace. Toss and enjoy.

WHEAT GERM AND OATMEAL COOKIES

This recipe offers a healthier alternative to the tried and true Toll House chocolate chip cookie.

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup wheat germ
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup chocolate chips
- 1/2 cup oatmeal (uncooked)

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. In a large bowl, cream the butter or margarine with the sugars. Beat in the egg and vanilla. Mix in the wheat germ, flour and baking powder. Add the oats and chocolate chips. Mix well. Place heaping teaspoons of the batter on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake approximately 15 minutes, depending on the size of the cookies, until golden brown. Remove from the baking sheet as soon as the cookies are taken out of the oven.

Shopping List

What's the secret?

This recipe is from Chef Larry Janes.

CHICKEN BISQUE

- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 medium carrots, chopped
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 1/2 quarts chicken or vegetable soup stock
- 4 bay leaves
- 2 cloves garlic

- 1 teaspoon whole black peppercorns
- 1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup blanched almonds
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt (optional)

In a large stockpot, melt 4 tablespoons butter or margarine and add onions and carrots. Cook gently for 5 minutes. Stir in flour and cook, stirring 1 minute. Add the stock and bring to a boil.

Make a bouquet garni, tying the bay leaves, garlic and peppercorns in a small piece of material or cheesecloth. Add to boiling stock. Reduce heat and simmer gently, uncovered or 1 1/2 hours. Occasionally skim as butter and flour particles float to the top. Pass liquid through a strainer to remove lumps and bouquet garni. Reserve liquid.

Chop chicken finely and saute in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add almonds and cook 5 minutes. Add soup stock, cream, lemon juice and salt, if desired. Cook for 5 minutes.

clarification

In Larry Janes' recipe for Escar-got, from his "Taste buds" column Jan. 15, the eight cloves of garlic called for are to be combined along with the other ingredients that go into the food processor, to be processed until finely chopped.

Instructions were incomplete in the recipe for Spicy Shrimp with Snow Peas, in the Monday, Jan. 22, Taste section. Here is the correct information: In 3-quart microwavable dish combine snow peas, red pepper, green onions and corn oil.

Cover, microwave on high 1 minute. Stir in sauce and dried red pepper. Microwave uncovered 2 minutes. Add shrimp. Microwave, stirring twice, 9-10 minutes or until sauce boils and thickens and shrimp are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Frozen Chocolate Souffle can be a healthy dessert

This recipe for frozen chocolate souffle is from the article "A Great Chef's Vegetarian Dinner" in a recent issue of Bon Appetit magazine. The dessert is low in sugar and fat.

FROZEN CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE
It's hard to believe that this dense and delicious dessert is low in sugar and fat.
Four servings
1 teaspoon instant espresso powder
2 tablespoons boiling water
3 ounces Neufchatel cheese or other light cream cheese, room temperature

1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder (preferably Dutch process), sieved
5 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 egg, room temperature
1 egg white, room temperature
candied violets (optional)

Stir espresso powder into water in large bowl. Add cheese, cocoa powder, 2 tablespoons sugar and vanilla extract and work with wooden spoon or spatula to blend thoroughly.

Off heat, whisk egg, egg white and remaining 3 tablespoons sugar in top of double boiler until foamy. Set over gently simmering water. Using electric mixer, beat mixture until tripled in volume, about 5 minutes.

Stir 2 tablespoons egg mixture into chocolate mixture to lighten. Gently fold remaining egg mixture into chocolate mixture in 2 batches.

Divide mixture among 4 pots de creme or espresso cups. Cover and freeze at least 3 hours. (Can be prepared 1 week ahead.) Let stand 10 minutes in refrigerator before serving. Garnish with candied violets if desired.

It's a food myth that bananas are fattening

In our desire to eat right, we can sometimes fall victim to food myths, oversimplification and misconceptions.

Whether we are dieting to lose weight, lower cholesterol, change old eating habits or just trying to eat healthier, it's like running a maze with all the good and bad nutrition information available. Let's take a look at some of this misinformation:

Bananas are fattening! One banana has 105 calories, about the same as a quarter cup of raisins and just a couple more calories than a Bartlett pear. Bananas are excellent sources of potassium. What's more, a banana is certainly better for you than fruit packed in heavy syrup.

Two percent milk has had 98 per-

Lois Thieleke

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service cent of its fat removed! The percentage figure refers to the fat content as a proportion of the whole milk's total weight. Whole milk is 3.3 percent fat, so lowering the fat to two percent is a reduction of about a third, not 98 percent. Two percent milk is 125 calories a cup, skim milk has just 85 calories per cup.

PRETZELS ARE junk food, no better than chips or other packaged snacks! Unlike potato chips and pork rinds, which are deep-fried, pretzels are simply flour, water and vegetable shortening baked together. Almost none of the 100 calories in an ounce of pretzels comes from fat. However, salted pretzels are loaded with sodium, so choose low sodium pretzels.

Avoid jam and jelly, they pile on the calories! The bad name their high sugar content has given jelly and jam is largely undeserved. They contain neither saturated fat nor cholesterol. A full tablespoon of jelly contributes only 50 calories to your morning toast. The same amount of butter or cream cheese runs 100 calories. Butter is essentially 100 percent saturated fat; cream cheese is 90 percent saturated fat. Have jelly, hold the butter!

Cottage cheese is a great diet food! Not unless it is low-fat cottage cheese. A cup of large curd cottage cheese that is four percent fat has 235 calories. Cottage cheese fans should stick to the low fat kinds which have only 163 calories.

Certain foods are difficult to digest, so they will make you lose weight! Grapefruit and celery have both enjoyed this reputation and have been featured in fad diets. Unfortunately it isn't so. The calories your body burns in fueling the digestive cycle are minuscule compared with the calories in the food itself. Remember, no food has negative calories.

All salad greens are alike! Go for a salad instead of French fries, but I suggest you choose your lettuce carefully. A 3 1/2-ounce serving of iceberg lettuce (the kind most commonly found in salad bars) provides only a small amount of vitamins A and C and a bit of fiber. The same serving of Boston or bibb lettuce contains about 10 percent of the adult requirement for vitamin A and 10 to 15 percent of vitamin C. Spinach is an excellent choice for salad greens. It is high in dietary fiber and a one cup serving provides about 40 percent of the recommended amount of vitamin A for an adult.

APPLE JUICE is good for thirsty kids! Apple juice may be the children's choice, but its nutritional benefits are negligible. That container of 100 percent apple juice holds mostly water and fruit sugar. Apple juice for babies is generally fortified with vitamin C. A child who eats plenty of fruits and vegetables is getting enough vitamins and apple juice can not make up for a vitamin-poor diet.

There is no such thing as a perfect food. Avoid running the nutritional gauntlet, read the labels on foods to see what you're getting and/or read books or articles written by nutrition "degreed" professionals.

Many of our so-called experts are not trained in nutrition but are lawyers, actors and so forth. Diet and good health are very important so make sure you have the correct facts about the foods you buy, prepare and eat.

Parmesan Puffs prepared quickly

The January issue of Gourmet magazine offers this recipe for "Parmesan Puffs" in the monthly feature "In Short Order."

PARMESAN PUFFS

- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 stick (1/4 cup) unsalted butter
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 large eggs
- 1 cup freshly grated Parmesan.

In a small heavy saucepan combine the milk, 1/4 cup water, the butter and the salt and bring the mixture to a boil over high heat. Reduce the heat to moderate, add the flour all at once, and beat the mixture with a wooden spoon until it leaves the side of the pan and forms a ball. Transfer the mixture to a bowl, whisk in the eggs, 1 at a time, whisking well after each addition, and stir in the Parmesan and pepper to taste. Drop the batter in 8 mounds on a buttered baking sheet and bake the puffs in the upper third of a preheated 400-degree oven for 20 minutes, or until they are crisp and golden. The puffs may be served as an hors d'oeuvre or as an accompaniment to soups, meats and poultry and may be stored overnight in an airtight container. Makes 8 puffs.

Hostynski winning off-court battle, too

A FUTURE CAN be planned to the last detail, with every contingency considered, yet still end up so far off-target that the expectation and the reality bear no resemblance.

Kristen Hostynski could never have anticipated what was to happen to her this season. No one could have.

Hostynski spent much of last summer concentrating on improving her basketball skills. She was not a star, not even a starter, at Western Michigan University.

"It was probably the hardest I ever worked to get ready for basketball," she recalled. Her goal was modest: go from a part-time player as a sophomore (16 games, seven points, eight rebounds) to a top reserve as a junior.

A 5-foot-10 forward from Plymouth Salem, Hostynski put in long hours working on her shot and quickness, spending Sunday evenings at Schoolcraft College with former teammates and opponents in pick-up games.

WHEN SHE GOT to WMU in the fall, she had her team physical. A lump was discovered on her neck. Surgery was performed in October. Doctors found the lump to be cancerous.

Hostynski had Hodgkins' disease. For an older, non-athletic person, such a discovery might not be so surprising. But Hostynski was 20-years-old and in great physical condition.

How could this be? There was no answer. But as devastated as her future might seem, there was still a future.

First came treatment. Doctors thought they might have found the disease early enough to stop it with radiation instead of chemotherapy. They had to be certain, however, so Hostynski underwent more surgery in mid-November and had her spleen and appendix removed. The disease had not spread to her stomach. She was in luck.

"IT'S 90 PERCENT curable if discovered early," said Hostynski. She spent a week-and-a-half at home recovering during Thanksgiving. When she returned to Kalamazoo, she began the first of two five-week radiation treatment sessions, five mornings each week.

"It's like an intense X-ray," said Hostynski. "You tend to feel a little tired."

Despite the severity of her disease, Hostynski had not yet entirely ruled out playing basketball this season. But after several talks with her parents and some reflection, she decided not to continue.

"It was a decision I made with my parents," she said. "It would have been too stressful. I couldn't do everything."

"And I knew I couldn't give (basketball) my all, and if I couldn't, I didn't want to continue."

Her first five-week session is behind her: Hostynski just started her second, and last. The cancer seems to be shrinking, but the treatment's success won't be determined until after it's completed. Even then, Hostynski said she would have to "go back for check-ups for the rest of my life."

If there is a recurrence, she'll have to undergo chemotherapy.

PERSPECTIVE IS a funny thing with people. Six months ago, Hostynski was almost as worried about her jump shot as she was about her grade-point (she's a 3.5 student, majoring in psychology).

By October, instead of battling for a top spot on the basketball team, she was battling for her existence.

The sport still remains part of her life, but its significance has diminished. "I guess I look at basketball as not as important as it was," she said. "It doesn't seem it could be. I found out how important family is and keeping up with your studies."

Hostynski's family has been the major factor in her recovery. But basketball has filled a role, too. "In basketball, there's always that next obstacle to get over," she explained. "I think that kind of thinking has helped me get through this."

But it hasn't helped her refigure her future athletically. As Hostynski said, "I had to psych myself up last summer (to get ready for basket-

Rocks pound Glenn

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Plymouth Salem's dual-meet victory over Westland John Glenn has immediate impact on the Lakes Division wrestling standings, but the outcome has much larger implications.

While the Rocks all but won another division title Thursday by beating Glenn 40-19, it also confirms what everybody already suspected — that Salem is still the team to beat in the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association meet.

Salem improved its division record to 4-0 with one dual remaining Thursday against Livonia Stevenson. The Rockets, who wrestle Farmington in their Lakes finale Tuesday, are 3-1.

Glenn was considered the only team with a legitimate chance at beating the Rocks, who now loom as the favorite to repeat in the WLAA on Saturday, Feb. 3, at Glenn.

"I think this is it," said Glenn coach Tom Buckalew, who will retire at the end of the season after spending the last 23 years with the Rockets as either an assistant or head coach. "I don't think anyone can stop them."

"THEY'RE balanced and they're too good. Everyone we've seen in the league I feel we're competitive with, and these people dominated us."

"They're going to have some kids seeded high enough to be guaranteed a place," he added, "and (Salem coach Ron Krueger) should get points out of just about every kid on his team."

Krueger agreed the Rocks are looking good but, understandably, was taking a wait-and-see approach after his team won its 11th dual against two defeats.

"Northville and Churchill have good kids where we have good kids," he said. "It depends how we match up. From what I've seen, Glenn, Northville and us are probably going to go at it, with (Livonia) Churchill in there, too."

While seven of the bouts went three periods, Salem did win nine of the 13 individual contests as the potentially close dual never came about.

The Rocks started with three wins. Scott Martin (103) and Dan Bonnett (112) pinned the opposition. Tom Pace and Damian Taucher, in 127 and 341, respectively. Chad Wilson (119) scored a takedown in the final 20 seconds to edge Mike Pace 2-1 and give Salem a 15-0 lead.

GLENN WON three of the next four to close the margin to 18-13 and keep the match interesting.

Karl Pace (125) won the latest installment of his rivalry with Salem's Ken Stopa 6-5, and Tony Pietrzyk (135) pinned Jeff Shumate in 3:44. Glenn's Cory Buckalew (140) dominated Jeff Coleman to run his record to 25-7.

Salem's lone win during that stretch was Julian Sell's 5-1 decision over Eric Ewing in the 130-pound bout.

"The way we've been wrestling, I wasn't surprised we did as well as we did," said Sell, a senior captain.

LEE EKSTROM/staff photographer

Charlie Apigian looks for the official's approval in his attempt to pin Glenn's Wes Lopez. Apigian didn't get the pin, but he did win the 152-pound match with an 18-9 decision. Apigian's win boosted Salem's lead to 28-13 as the Rocks eventually claimed a 40-19 victory in the key Lakes Division dual meet.

Canton enters winner's circle

Plymouth Canton's boys swim team recorded its first dual meet-victory in four tries Thursday, dunking visiting Livonia Churchill, 117-55.

The Chiefs captured nine of 11 events.

Jeff Brandenburg was a double winner, capturing the 200 and 500 freestyles in 2:04.77 and 5:44.74, respectively.

Other Canton winners included Steve Geddes, 200 IM (2:16.5); Nick Atwell, diving (184.3); Doug Lang, 100 freestyle (53.46); Doug Nevi, 100 backstroke (1:04.71); and Kevin Beach, 100 breaststroke (1:07.79).

Bob Fisher, Beach, Nevi and Lang captured the 200 medley relay (1:52.51), while Geddes, David Nevi, Wes Shasko and Fisher took the 400 freestyle relay (3:43.21).

Second place finishers for Canton included: Geddes, 100 freestyle, 54.01; Fisher, 500 freestyle, 5:50.04; Matt Boland, 100 backstroke, 1:09.34; and Craig Steshetz, 100 breaststroke, 1:10.56.

Churchill had two winners: Troy Walls in the 50 freestyle (24.4) and Mark Dryden in the 100 butterfly (1:00.47).

Canton returns to action Thursday at home against Walled Lake Western. The meet begins at 7 p.m.

LIVONIA Stevenson won its Lakes Division boys swim showdown Thursday, defeating Plymouth Salem, 94-78.

Stevenson, now 5-2 overall and 2-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, simply had too much power for the Rocks, now 2-4 overall.

swimming

"It was a big win," said Stevenson coach Doug Buckler. "We're a young team — only two seniors — but I think tonight we matured."

Stevenson went one-two in five individual races: Mike Goecke (1:56.22) and Joe Petrillo (1:58.5) in the 200-yard freestyle; Scott DeWolf (55.18) and Taki Caranicolas (57.56) in the 100 butterfly; Aaron Rieder (51.24) and Goecke (51.78) in the 100 freestyle; Ryan Freeborn (1:00.37) and DeWolf (1:00.58) in the 100 backstroke; and Alex Goecke (1:02.81) and Rieder (1:04.51) in the 100 breaststroke.

Rieder, DeWolf, Alex Goecke and Caranicolas added a first in the 200 medley relay (1:44.25), while Jason Norrid (220 points) took the diving.

Ron Orris paced Salem with wins in the 200 individual medley (1:57.21) and 500 freestyle (4:42.86). Teammate Chris Caloia took the 50 freestyle (23.7) and combined with Eric Bunch, Joe Pawluszka and Ben Soverjegn for first in the 400 freestyle relay (3:34.37).

"You always worry about a team like Salem or Northville in the league meet," said Buckler, whose team travels Thursday to North Farmington (7 p.m.). "But I'd say we're the best dual meet team in the area right now."

Chiefs struggle with losing skid

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

In what surely is a twist of irony, the Plymouth Canton basketball team can take solace in what the Farmington Hills Harrison team has done.

The Hawks overcame a recent slump in which they lost three straight and are now riding a four-game winning streak.

Unfortunately for the Chiefs, they became Harrison's latest victim Friday night. The Hawks extended Canton's losing streak to three games with a 75-49 blowout at Canton.

Harrison stands 3-1 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association and 7-3 overall. The Chiefs slide to 2-2 and 5-5 overall.

For the Hawks, the situation has definitely taken a turn for the better, and their rout of Canton was certainly evidence of that.

HARRISON shot 55 percent (28-of-51) from the floor, which included a blistering 7-of-11 in the third quarter, and once again made it a team effort on defense as well as offense.

"Everybody we threw out there played well," Harrison coach Mike Teachman said, "which to my mind makes it awful tough to play against."

Harrison junior Andy Smith paced the balanced scoring with 14 points. Andy Fitzpatrick scored 11, and Rob Karbowski chipped in 10, including a

basketball

one-handed dunk to begin the second half. Mill Coleman and Paul Gilvydis added eight apiece.

Most importantly, the Hawks had their heads in the game, which was reflected in their defense (forcing 18 turnovers) and half-court offense.

"I think we made some mental strides," Teachman said. "The players are beginning to see defense is the key to the game — stopping people."

"We're understanding, if we can't score off the break, we can score in the half-court offense. The break was working so well in the first three games we forgot about the half court."

THE CHIEFS, who fell behind 30-21 at halftime and were outscored 18-7 in the third quarter, didn't have anyone in double figures. Geoff Allen, who made a pair of triples, and Karl Wukie had eight points apiece to lead Canton.

Coach Dave Van Wagoner said the Chiefs should chalk it up as a learning experience and hope things begin to turn around for them, too.

"The last 10 days we've been in a slump," Van Wagoner said, "but

Salem cagers rock Glenn

Plymouth Salem, thanks to Jake Baker's 23 points and 13 rebounds, defeated Westland John Glenn 66-55 Friday.

The Rocks improve their record to 9-1 overall and 4-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association Lakes Division.

The host Rockets (6-3, 2-3) found themselves leading 31-28 at halftime, but Salem outscored John Glenn 16-13 in the third quarter and 22-11 in the fourth to record the victory.

"We did a nice job in the fourth quarter," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We handled their pressure well."

Guard Tom Noonan contributed 13 points for Salem, and Jeff Gold chipped in 11.

Bob Lawrence's 15 points guided the Rockets. Eric Spencer added 11.

The Rockets converted 16 of 18 free throws, while John Glenn connected on four of six.

ROEPER 55, PLY. CHRISTIAN 36: Bloomfield Hills Roeper had little trouble defeating Plymouth Christian Academy Friday.

Roeper outscored the host Eagles 20-10 in the second quarter and led 25-18 at halftime.

Senior center Pete Fox led Plymouth Christian with eight points. The Eagles are 3-7.

N. FARMINGTON 65, W.L. CENTRAL 49: North Farmington traveled to Walled Lake Central Friday and whipped the host Vikings.

Senior guard Matt Hoffman and junior forward Chris White led the Raiders with a game high 16 points. Junior forward Bill Chwalk added eight points and four rebounds, while senior center Eric Carlson chipped in 10 points and six rebounds. Jason Olson led the Vikings with 15 points. Daryl Pletsowski contributed 13 and Chris Cerulla eight.

North's record improves to 6-4 overall and 3-1 in the WLA Lakes Division. The Vikings are 0-4 and 1-7.

STEVENSON 62, FARMINGTON 51: Ron Baron's game-high 24 points led Stevenson past Farmington Friday.

The Spartans (7-4, 3-2) also received offensive contributions from Steve Leonard and Glenn Szeman. They had 16 and 13 points, respectively.

Greg Bjedov led the host Falcons (1-3, 4-6) with 20 points. Brian Browne added 12.

Respert leads Borgess past CC

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

Redford Bishop Borgess guard Shawn Respert stood next to his locker looking tired and sluggish following Friday's 60-44 victory over host Redford Catholic Central.

Respert's game-high 21 points, seven rebounds and tenacious defense led the Spartans to their ninth win of the season. They are 9-2 overall and 5-1 in the Catholic League Central Division.

"I am really happy with my defensive effort tonight," Respert said. "I have been struggling with my defense lately. I think my defense was better tonight than it has been in a long while. My defense really sparked my offense."

The Shamrocks (2-9, 1-5) managed to hold the much quicker Spartans to just a 7-0 lead after one quarter and an 18-10 advantage at halftime, but the Spartans would strike back.

"We were able to stay in our game plan early in the game," CC coach Bernie Holowicki said. "But in the second half, Borgess took over. They moved the ball well and had great shot selection."

With 1:49 remaining in the game, Borgess scooted to its largest lead of the game, 57-38.

"WE TOOK care of things in the second half," Borgess coach Mike Fusco said. "CC made us play its type of game in the first half and it was to their benefit. But we came out in the second half and shot the ball well, moved the ball well and played steady defense."

Holowicki believes his team could have won if they kept it close at halftime.

"I told the guys if we keep within striking distance at halftime, we could win," the CC coach said. "I guess it wasn't close enough."

Holowicki added that Respert hurt the Shamrocks with his explosive offense.

"He moved off his picks well and converted the baskets," Holowicki said. "He made it difficult for us."

"We knew we had more talent than they did," Respert said. "We felt if we could play man to man defense with them, we'd get our shots. Luckily we did."

Respert wasn't the only Spartan contributing offensively for Borgess. Senior forward Randy White chipped in 17 points and 10 rebounds.

The Shamrocks were led by senior guard Steve Whitlow's 13 points. Sophomore center Bob Kummer, back after a week-long illness that sidelined him the past two games, scored 11 along with senior guard Mark Clary.

"This is a big win for us in the division," Fusco said. "Of course they are all big. I can't think of anyone which is bigger than the other."

Lady Ocelots answer Alpena

An answer for every threat — that's how Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team handled Alpena CC 74-66 Wednesday at Alpena.

basketball

A 10-2 run in the first half enabled the Lady Ocelots to take command, although they hardly put the Lady Lumberjacks away. They battled back to the SC with 7:30 left on a Stephanie Tuori jumper.

But once again, the Lady Ocelots had an answer. They rattled off nine-straight points over the next 2½ minutes, and the game was theirs.

The win boosted SC to 12-4 overall, 6-2 in the Eastern Conference. Alpena is 4-9 overall, 3-6 in the conference.

Lisa DePlanche and a pressure defense did most of the damage for the Lady Ocelots. DePlanche got 26 points. The defensive pressure on the Lady 'Jacks guards forced 14 first-half turnovers, allowing SC to take a 33-29 lead.

Barb Krug added 17 points for SC. Tricia Lucas got 12. Alpena was led by Joyell Hyvarinen with 18 points. Kris Thurston chipped in 16 points.

SC MEN: Three shots in the final 16 seconds bounced off the rim for SC's men Wednesday at Alpena, resulting in a 73-70 defeat. The Ocelots are now 9-15 overall, 2-7 in the Eastern Conference. Alpena is 7-8 overall, 5-5 in the conference.

Neither team was particularly sharp, but the Lumberjacks' pathetic free-throw shooting (six-of-16) nearly cost them the game. They missed three one-and-ones down the stretch and, with :49 remaining, an Alpena turnover led to a Tony Rumble basket that pulled SC to within 73-70.

When Embery Pope missed a one-and-one for the Lumberjacks, SC had its chance. Rumble fired the first three-point attempt that rolled around and popped out. Ken Fuster grabbed the rebound and got off another triple-try; it, too, missed. Tom Progar boarded, but his three-pointer bounced out, too.

Al Hudson, who poured in 32 points and grabbed 15 rebounds, scored seven-consecutive points for SC that enabled the Ocelots to rally from an eight-point deficit in the final four minutes, setting up the dramatic finish.

Watters had 17 points and Rumble 10 for SC.

Canton hopes for cage turnaround

"we're going to bounce back. We're in a valley right now, and we'll climb out of it because we're capable of being a good basketball team."

Harrison led 22-20 midway in the second quarter and outscored the Chiefs 8-1 to end the half. Smith, whom Teachman said played a "bodacious" third quarter, got it started in the second with eight points.

Canton, which finished the first half with two turnovers and four straight misses on its last six possessions, failed to reverse that trend at the start of the third period.

The Chiefs turned the ball over on their first four possessions and committed six before the quarter was half finished.

"WE HAD A forward coming out and stopping the ball when they moved it to the weak side," Teachman said. "Two of those turnovers were (the result of) Blazo (Sarcevic) coming out and putting pressure on the guy and he walked. Then it was execution at the offensive end."

Harrison jumped on the opportunity, scoring on five consecutive trips down the floor at one point. The 6-foot-2 Smith scored the rest of his 14 points and grabbed most of his six rebounds during that "bodacious" quarter.

Karbowski's breakaway slam ignited the Harrison explosion as the Hawks raced to a 38-23 lead and led 48-28 at the end.

Teachman was glowing afterward, not because of the one-sided win, but because of the play from the Harrison bench.

Besides the starters, which included guard Todd Herremans, Fitzpatrick and Gilvydis, a 6-6 sophomore, were factors offensively in those roles, and Brian Ellison, Drew Rick (six points), Steve Singleton and Roy Granger maintained Harrison's edge while on the floor.

"I substituted in the third quarter with the idea of them getting their feet wet and taking them out,"

Teachman said. "But I didn't have to take them out. All 11 guys did a nice job."

"IT MAKES me extremely happy because I like to think I do more than just coach the first team."

"We're young in age and also young in experience," he added. "Maybe they have to get on the floor and experience everything I've talked about for it to formulate for them."

Teachman rested his starters nearly the entire fourth quarter while Rick, Fitzpatrick, Gilvydis and Ellison helped extend the Harrison lead with a 27-21 margin over the last eight minutes.

"We got beat by a real good basketball team that is very well coached, and that's a nice combination," Van Wagoner said. "Their pressure was good and our defense broke down. We got beat by a team that played a lot better than we did tonight."

Anderson paces Canton

Johanna Anderson won two events Wednesday and led the all-around gymnasts with a 33.75 to pace Plymouth Canton.

The Chiefs, 4-0 in dual meets, scored 133.55 and breezed past Walled Lake Western, which compiled a 94.95 total.

Anderson won on the balance beam with an 8.5 and capped the evening with a first-place score of 8.75 in floor exercise. She also was second on the vault (8.4) and third on the uneven parallel bars (8.1).

Teammate Dawn Clifford won on bars with an 8.45 and was third on beam (8.35). Kim Rennolds had the highest score of the meet at 9.15 on vault, and she was third on floor (8.6), too.

In addition, Canton's Danielle Mirto placed second on floor (8.7) and beam (8.45) and third on vault (8.4). Teammate Jenny Tedesco had the second-best bars score at 8.2.

Julie Dibble scored 8.3 on vault, 7.15 on bars and 7.2 on floor to pace Western in those events. Amber Baker achieved 6.3 on beam.

PLYMOUTH SALEM freshman Kim Miller was the best all-around gymnast at the Midland Invitational on Saturday, Jan. 20.

Miller, who won the balance beam competition with an 8.9, compiled a 35.95 total to best a field of outstanding gymnasts, edging Midland Dow's Jennifer Johnson (35.45).

The Salem athlete also placed second on vault (8.95) and floor exercise (9.25), and she was third on the uneven parallel bars (8.85).

As a team, the Rocks scored 133.3 to finish second behind Dow (136.65). Salem did better than perennial gymnastics power, Freeland, which placed third with 130.65.

"I thought it was a pretty good team score, considering we were up against Dow and Freeland," Salem coach Kathi Kinsella said.

Salem's Autumn Bunch was fifth in the all-around with 33.8. She finished fifth on vault (8.65) and floor (8.9), eighth on beam (8.4) and 11th on bars (7.85). Courtney Gonyea was third (8.75) and Stephanie Angiulo ninth (8.1) on beam.

Freeland's Kristie Kelly was first in floor exercise (9.3).

The Rocks will be host to Farmington at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

ranks as a tough dual-meet team.

On Thursday, the Shamrocks (6-1) defeated host University of Detroit-Jesuit, 97-75, as Troy Shumate figured in three first place finishes.

He captured the 200 freestyle (1:48.91) and the 100 butterfly (56.37). Shumate, Alan Afsari, Brian Dynda and John Brogan combined for a first place in the 200 medley relay (1:50.04).

Other CC individual firsts included: Afsari, 100 freestyle, 51.45; Dynda, 500 freestyle, 5:18.0; and Mike Hoeflein, 100 backstroke, 57.19 (state cut).

Afsari, Brogan, Hoeflein and Shumate took the 400 freestyle relay in 3:24.16.

CC returns to action at 4 p.m. Thursday against Birmingham Brother Rice in a meet at Oakland Community College.

NORTH Farmington won 10 of 11 events Thursday, swamping visiting Farmington in a WLAA encounter, 115-57.

The Raiders, now 2-2 overall, were paced by Mike Drelles and Chuck Chuba, each figuring in three first place finishes.

Drelles captured the 200 freestyle (2:12.71) and 100 butterfly (59.38). He also teamed up with Chris Knoche, Jim Nicholas and Keith Lee to win the 200 medley relay in 1:49.23.

Chuba, meanwhile, finished first in the 50 and 100 freestyles with times of 23.73 and 52.19. He also combined with Jerry Jihle, Lee and Knoche to win the 400 freestyle relay.

Other North firsts were recorded by John Juliano, diving, 227.70 points; Knoche, 500 freestyle, 5:15.66; David Gerts, 100 backstroke, 1:03.73; and Dan Knipper, 100 breaststroke, 1:07.4.

Farmington's lone winner was Craig Mathie in the 200 IM (2:18.99).

North returns to action at 7 p.m. Thursday when it hosts Livonia Stevenson.

ball). I don't know if I can get that way again.

"I'll wait and see how my recovery goes, how well my conditioning is."

Maybe no plan is the best plan, after all. Hostynski has already met one of life's greatest challenges head-on and survived.

Canton wrestlers put hold on Hawks

The Chiefs picked up pins from Mark Ballou (130), Kevin Plalou (135), Nick Purzer (160) and Matt Ciantar (189).

Harrison, after voiding to Canton's Matt Berry at 103, jumped in front 12-6 with first-period pins by Craig Durant (112) and Dave Prusinski (119). The Hawks also were void to allow Canton to pull even.

Canton got first-period pins from Ballou and Plalou to pull ahead 24-12. Harrison's Gary Devine (140) won a 10-4 decision from Joe Harder, and teammate Dave Gloetzner (145) and Canton's Jim Yack fought to a 3-3 draw as the Chiefs maintained a 26-17 lead.

Mark Gicetner scored a 12-second pin at 152 to pull the Hawks within three points, 26-23, but the Chiefs pulled away with pins from Purzer and Ciantar at two of the next three weights.

Purzer made it 32-23, but Harrison's Todd Lytwyniuk (171) won 8-3 to keep it close at 32-26 before Ciantar pushed the score to 38-26.

Both teams were void at heavyweight in the Western Division encounter.

FIVE STRAIGHT victories boosted North Farmington to a 49-20 dual-meet wrestling win Thursday night over Livonia Stevenson.

The Raiders improved their record to 4-6, while the host Spartans dipped to 4-13-1.

North trailed 12-6 early in the match but won the next five bouts from 125 pounds to 145 and built a 30-12 lead.

Jared Lawrence (140) needed only 56 seconds to pin Neil Ebner, and Joel Lattin (125) and Marcus Brown (130) had first-period pins. Lucian Van Cleave (135) blanked Brian Mitchell 3-0, and Matt Thompson (145) won a 5-1 decision from Adam Samulski.

"Glenn is always a tough team, though. We've been working hard, and anything we do is because of hard work. We have only meet next week, so it's going to be a tough week of practice (leading to the league meet)."

Salem's Ron Miller (145), wrestling in his first match since becoming eligible in the second semester, pinned Ryan Wilson in 4:19, and Charlie Apigian (152) defeated Wes Lopez 18-9 as the Rocks edged forward, 28-13.

SALEM WON three of the last four bouts, with Kraig Kuban's second-period pin (3:10) of Pete Israel at 171 being Glenn's last success. Kuban boasts a season record of 31-1.

For the Rocks, Steve Burlison (160) pinned Zach Bozanic in three minutes. Brian Burlison (189) won a 5-2 decision over Garnett Woody in one of the most-anticipated duels of the evening. Salem heavyweight Ken Coker blanked Jason Dunn 5-0.

"We had the early weights come through for us," Krueger said. "I thought Miller did a real nice job. The two kids we hadn't had available (including Apigian, who was sidelined by a back injury) came through when we needed them."

Krueger also said Kevin Smith, out with a broken arm most of the season but expected to help at 119, didn't make weight and had to certify at 125 where he is behind Stopa.

"He's locked up now," Krueger said.

Buckalew emphasized the Rockets have a lot of wrestling ahead of them. Despite the setback, Glenn still looks impressive at 16-3 overall.

Coaches asked to call in scores

High school gymnastics coaches or their designated representatives are asked to call Plymouth Canton coach John Cunningham with their team's best individual scores.

The Observer will run a list of the area's top 10 gymnasts in each event, including all-around. Coaches should call Cunningham, who will compile the list each week, at 455-1741 in the late evening.

BREAST CANCER STARTS AS A BUMP SMALLER THAN THIS.

Every Friday MedStop is offering instruction in breast self-examination as part of a woman's comprehensive yearly exam. By learning the proper technique for breast self-examination, you can actually detect the early danger signs and stop a dreaded disease.

MedStop also offers diagnostic tests that screen for heart disease, cervical cancer, sexually transmitted diseases as well as calcium and iron deficiencies.

We have dedicated a special program committed to women's self help and survival. So take time for your health and call MedStop today for your appointment.

There are a few unspoken and unwritten laws we tend to live by. You know... Like the one about if it's not broken, don't fix it. Well, Karl Nilsson has found truth in one of those laws, but it took a "criminal" act to prove its wisdom. See page 4D.

According to Dabish, there are few professional bodybuilders. Most are amateurs who have found that bodybuilding is like any other sport — the more you practice the better you become.

"While thousands may never become Arnold Schwarzenegger, for many the discipline and the hard bodies that accompany the sport are enough," Dabish said.

It would have to be. Penetrating the ranks of professional weightlifting is difficult. There are only about seven men and women a year who turn pro.

"It's like football," Dabish said. "Millions play it, but only a few are professionals."

According to Dabish, only weightlifters Ron Love and Linda Murray are currently on the professional circuit in Michigan. The countless other men and women pump up for the thrill of losing fat, gaining muscle and feeling better.

"They don't," Dabish insisted, "do anything different than anybody else who wants to keep fit. They are clerks, policemen, housewives. And instead of sitting on a couch and getting lazy, they train."

IT'S WHAT THEY do with their leisure time that separates them from the rest, Dabish said.

Peter Nielsen, owner of the Eye of the Tiger in Farmington agrees.

A weightlifter, Nielsen began building muscles at age 15 after doctors diagnosed his chronic illness as Crohn's Disease, an inflammation of the intestines.

His physique at 28 tells the story of how Nielsen beat the odds and the disease to capture the amateur titles of Mr. America in 1983 and Mr. International Universe in 1984.

Steve Nelmark started training when he was 16 years old to "quit getting beat up."

At 24 and no longer susceptible to the threats of meatier men, he must work a construction job to support his family. But whether it's the first or last thing he does, weightlifting is as much a part of his life as getting up every morning, he said. It's become, he said, the 'fabric' of his life.

"I feel cheated when I don't exercise," Nelmark said. "To not do it is weird."

Nelmark said he'll train "forever" even if he "never makes it to the top."

"It's the pump that you get watching your arm get bigger," he said. "It's addictive. It's as if bullets could bounce off your chest when you're working out."

ONE THING dominates the ranks of amateur or professional weightlifters. You have to love it, Nelmark said.

"You can't be the kind of person who says, 'Oh, God, I've got to go into the gym today.' Sure, there are times when I'm tired when I go to work out. But I keep pushing myself."

Weightlifting: Just building a better body

By Chris Rizk special writer

They look like they are in agony when working out, but weightlifters will tell you it's as ego lifting as it is body building to pump iron everyday.

You've seen the familiar pictures of sweat pouring like buckets off their bodies as they struggle to lift the weights, their faces contorting and reflecting back from the mirror that is as much their tool as the other accouterments of the sport.

What you haven't seen is the changing nature of an old sport.

Gone are the days when weightlifters were considered muscle bound and brain dead. Today's weightlifters are a different breed, bringing to the ranks more an attitude that reflects health as well as strength than their 1930s, or even 1950s, counterparts.

"A long time ago, it was just for muscle size," said Bill Furnari, owner of Bodyworks Gym and Fitness Center in Livonia. "Now, knowledge about the sport is greater and we're looking for symmetry and total body development."

Translated, it means the big guy is not always going to win the prize in competition.

Today, as health and exercise move to the forefront of daily living, aerobic exercise is as important as pumping iron for bodybuilders, Furnari said. Both the serious bodybuilder and the casual exerciser work out at his facility.

"The human body," Furnari said, "is the only machine that works better the more you use it."

THE EVIDENCE is found in the spurt of health club memberships over the last decade, he said.

National Physique Committee chairman William Dabish said bodybuilders don't weightlift for the prize money.

"They do it to feel good about themselves," he said. Dabish, who runs a national chain of health clubs, called Powerhouse, governs amateur bodybuilders and organizes competitions for the 100,000 or so members

'Inn' places to stay in California

By Mary Augusta Rodgers special writer

Q: We are planning a trip to California and thinking of using bed and breakfast accommodations. What are our choices?

Mrs. R. H., Bloomfield Hills

A: Your choices are nearly as varied as the climate and scenery in the state of California. How about a studio apartment in Del Mar near San Diego, a houseboat in Sausalito across the bay from San Francisco, an inn made of railroad cars in the wine country or a new art-filled inn near Mendocino on California's northern coast?

They illustrate the many kinds of accommodations to be found under the generic "bed and breakfast" label. It's assumed that you'll have a car, and that you like to get off the beaten path now and then, if you can do so without sacrificing the usual comforts and conveniences.

served for B-and-B guests. The location is excellent — a public beach is within walking distance, a state park, a golf course and the shops and restaurants of Del Mar and La Jolla are nearby. San Diego is about a 20-minute drive away.

There's a bedroom with bath and a private patio garden ($50 a night for two), and, down the hall,

The studio is a large, sunny bedroom with bath, a conversational area with a sofa and a coffee table, a kitchenette and a glass-enclosed porch overlooking the back garden. (The porch can be a dinette, another bedroom, or both.) It's all pleasant and comfortable, the kitchenette is a big plus if you, like us, hate being locked into daily restaurant meals.

A full breakfast is served on an outdoor deck when the weather is good. (That's most of the time in the San Diego area.) The hosts, Mike and Connie Segel, are easy-going, friendly people, interested in their guests and generous with tips on where to go and what to do.

RESERVATIONS are made directly with the Segels. Write them at 12930 Via Esperia, Del Mar, Calif. 92014, or call (619) 259-4863.

MOVING PICTURES

It comes as no surprise that "Batman," starring Michael Keaton and Kim Basinger, was the top box office attraction in 1989, racking up with $250 million in ticket sales.

'Batman' earns big bucks to win at box office in '89

Kenneth Branagh's "Henry V" premieres at the DIA's Detroit Film Theater (reviewed last week by John Monaghan) and that's the only new film on local screens this week.

Now that the 1989 box-office stats are in, it's time to reflect on that record year.

Despite a drop in the Christmas holiday period ticket sales — largely attributed to the lack of major new blockbusters — 1989 closed out with $5.02 billion in ticket sales. That's up more than 12 percent from the previous record year — 1988 — when the take was $4.46 billion.

The past few years — each one a new record — have been fueled by increasing ticket prices as you well know if you've shelled out $5.50 lately. The national composite ticket price last month was $4.57. That includes all the dollar nights which are mostly two bucks since distributors have been raising their minimums charged to exhibitors. The going rate often is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children at "dollar" nights.

What is most encouraging to the film industry, however, is the fact that after 28 years of selling approximately 1.05 billion tickets annually, 1989 recorded 1.13 billion in ticket sales, up almost a million per week over 1988. Despite population increases and other factors, that's a significant increase.

BUT THE news is not cheery across the board, since a third of those $5 billion in box office dollars were earned by the top 14 films. What happened to the more than four hundred other movies produced last year? Not as much as the producers dreamed.

The winners' list ranges from "Field of Dreams" at almost $63 million to number one, "Batman," with $250 million in ticket sales during 1989. To make matters worse, counting down from "Batman," the top seven films garnered almost 22 percent of the year's total take.

If you're planning on breaking into the movie game, pick one of the top studios because the 14 big earners were produced by seven companies.

Clearly, Warner Brothers had the dollar lead with "Batman" and "Lethal Weapon 2," registering just under $400 million.

Number two was Universal with four big winners — "Parenthood," "Back to the Future, Part II," "Uncle Buck" and "Field of Dreams," combining for $316 million — while Buena Vista's "Honey I Shrunk the Kids," "Dead Poets Society" and "Turner & Hooch" reached $295 million in ticket sales.

Paramount only had one big film, but more than $196 million for "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade," with terrific overseas sales, certainly is something to brag about.

THE REMAINING three were United Artist's "Rainman" — almost $130 million during calendar year 1989 with $42.5 million more in '88 — Tri-Star's "Look Who's Talking" at $115 million and Columbia's "Ghostbusters II" with $112.5 million in the till by year's end.

Although it's much too soon to predict what 1990 will bring, the

The glory of the first black infantry regiment during the Civil War is captured in this outstanding film.

"Harlem Nights" (D) (R) 110 minutes.

"Internal Affairs" (B-) (R) 80 minutes.

"The Little Mermaid" (A) (G) 80 minutes.

"Look Who's Talking" (C+) (PG-13) 97 minutes.

Contrived, poorly structured story of pregnant CPA (Kirstie Alley) and her search for a perfect father for her baby. Bruce Willis is the baby's voice.

"The Music Box" (C-) (R) 123 minutes.

A shadow of doubt flaws this statement about the terror and brutality of the Holocaust. Jessica Lange stars as attorney defending her father against war-crime charges.

"National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation" (B-) (PG-13) 90 minutes.

"Roger and Me" (A) (R) 90 minutes.

Media manipulation on behalf of America's growing underclass.

"SKI PATROL" (A) (PG).

"Steel Magnolias" (B-) (PG) 110 minutes.

Talented cast, led by Shirley MacLaine's performance, falls short in depicting problems of six Southern women.

"Tango and Cash" (C) 110 minutes.

"Texas Chainsaw Massacre III" (A) (R).

"Tremors" (PG-13).

Kevin Bacon fights giant worms from beneath the earth.

"War of the Roses" (D) (R) 110 minutes.

Unpleasant, malicious dissection of divorce proceedings at their worst with Danny DeVito, Kathleen Turner and Michael Douglas.

"We're No Angels" (A) (PG-13) 110 minutes.

Robert DeNiro and Sean Penn is fine comedy of errors as unlikely and very odd couple of hoods on the lam.

"Wizard" (D) (PG).

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

CityWide joins Tele-Arts

By John Monaghan
special writer

In the two years since opening in Grand Circus Park, the Tele-Arts Theater has fulfilled its promise of bringing alternative films to downtown Detroit. And while some titles have attracted sizable audiences, the theater has yet to draw film goers with consistency.

That may soon change. A newly formed group called CityWide Cinema will present a unique program of films that will co-exist with the regular Tele-Arts schedule. This Thursday marks the opening with a benefit screening of "Mapantsula."

Filmed in 1988, "Mapantsula" may be the first major black anti-government film to come out of South Africa. In it, a petty crook becomes alive politically when thrown into prison with a group of freedom fighters. The film will also play over the weekend.

Film goers attending the Thursday benefit must pay a membership fee of $30 ($50 for couples or $20 for students and senior citizens). This includes a free Tele-Arts T-shirt and discounted admission to CityWide Cinema screenings. Coupon books offer 10 admissions for $15.

"Ever since we opened, there has been a small but loyal crowd who has wanted to help," said Carl Allison, who up until now has been the theater's one-man band of manager, booker and promoter. "Now they can really do something."

CITYWIDE CINEMA began when Allison sought funds from the Detroit Council of the Arts. A board of directors was selected, headed by Martin Bandyke, a WDET radio host whose Sunday night "Dimension" program often focuses on film.

"The board has sprung from all aspects of the community, which we tried to keep as diverse as possible," Bandyke said.

For their first outing, the board chose an eclectic list of titles, including "Penn and Teller Get Killed" (March 2-4), starring the famous magicians and directed by Arthur Penn; "The Rainbow" (Feb. 23-25), Ken Russell's second adaptation of a D.H. Lawrence novel; and "Speaking Parts" (March 9-11) by Canadian Atom Egoyan who Bandyke feels will be a major director in the '90s.

Another Canadian director, Ron Mann, will appear during the screening of his 1982 "Poetry in Motion" on Feb. 12.

Both Allison and Bandyke agree that up to this point, the Tele-Arts' biggest problems have been promotion and consistency of product. Although the theater has premiered major works like "Alice" and "The Navigator," bookings have been a crap shoot regarding quality.

FILMS ARE now hand-picked and often screened in advance by the members of the board.

CityWide Cinema will screen Friday-Monday and some afternoons.

The Tele-Arts meanwhile announces its own schedule changes Wednesday and Thursdays are $2 nights when quality second-run features will screen. Midnight shows on Friday and Saturday will present cult films like "Harold and Maude" and "Toxic Avenger II."

STREET BEATS

Elvis Hitler: Not quite Elvis, definitely not Hitler

By John Logie
special writer

The man who now calls himself Elvis Hitler and leads the group of the same name, was not entirely responsible for his becoming a musician.

At least part of the credit (or blame) belongs to Snake-Out leader and Wanghead Records impresario Len Puch, who "suggested that after years of hanging around with musicians and being a wise guy, that maybe I should try it."

Elvis remembers his terror after returning from a vacation and being told not to make plans for a specific evening in January 1986 by Puch and his bandmates. When Elvis asked why, he was told that he was scheduled to perform at Paycheck's in Hamtramck.

"I made every excuse I could think of," Elvis recalled. "I said, 'Well, I don't know... I've never played live before. I don't know any songs and I don't have a band...' and they said, 'Don't worry, it's all taken care of.'"

The promised band, as it turns out, was Snake-Out's rhythm section and despite Elvis' protestations, he did perform at Paycheck's, playing only the three songs he and the band had rehearsed and leaving the stage after an exhilarating 10 minutes. The show was part of what Elvis describes as Puch's grandiose scheme to produce "It Came from the Garage," a compilation of Detroit-area bands. Elvis and his ad-hoc band performed well enough to earn a slot on that record.

In 1987, Elvis Hitler recorded a full-length album, "Disgraceland," at Puch's Garageland Studios in New Boston. The album came to the attention of Enigma Records, a California-based major independent record label, which quickly signed the band to its sub-label Homestead.

"DISGRACELAND" was remixed, remastered and repackaged and given an international release. The Homestead version of the record received encouraging reviews.

In the wake of that record, the band arrived at its current line-up — Damian Lang on drums (formerly drummer of Snake-Out), Warren Defever on bass (formerly interim bass player for Snake-Out), Elvis Hitler on lead vocals and rhythm guitar (a semi-founding member of Snake-Out who never learned how to play stand-up bass well enough to perform publicly with the band) and John Defever on lead guitar (who refreshingly, has never been a member of Snake-Out).

The borderline incestuous relationship between the two bands is further compounded by the fact that Snake-Out's current bass player, Jim Auge preceded Lang as Elvis Hitler's drummer.

Elvis Hitler's current line-up includes Damian Lang on drums, Warren Defever on bass, Elvis Hitler on lead vocals and rhythm guitar and John Defever on lead guitar.

The band toured extensively before returning to Garageland last year to record for Restless Records, another Enigma sub-label. The new record, "Hellbilly," picks up where "Disgraceland" left off, scrawling portraits of surf slaves, ghouls and various misanthropes against an apocalyptic landscape strewn with broken beer bottles and pick-up truck shrapnel.

Elvis Hitler routinely receives great reviews from the British press, but "Hellbilly" has not gone over well with some American critics.

"A FEW PEOPLE called and told me about a review in the most recent Guitar World magazine where the guy totally cuts us down," Elvis said, "and the East Coast Roeker just totally destroyed us."

"They warned people not to buy it, saying that it stinks, and we're a crummy band, and I'm a second rate guitar player, and John Defever stole all his licks. Anything bad you could say, they said."

In addition to occasional critical slugging, Elvis feels increasing pressure to defend the band's name, which has already cost it some valuable opportunities.

"I'm sure it's bad taste to a lot of people," Elvis conceded. "It's supposed to be black humor, or it could be kind of sick, but when I thought of it I felt... that maybe people would be able to laugh at it."

"It's two names that are known by everybody, and they go together in a catchy way. I thought it would be amusing and that people would not forget it, which they don't, but probably for the wrong reasons."

Elvis takes pains to distance the band from neo-fascist and racist groups, but that message hasn't always gotten through.

At their record label's behest, the band filmed a video for "Showdown," the first song on the new album. The video is, as Elvis terms it, "perfect fodder for MTV," with the quick editing, sleaze and violence that are common place on the station.

MTV WAS planning to air it as part of the weekly alternative music program "120 Minutes" until some of the powers that be began voicing objections, not to the video itself, but to the band's name. The band and Restless have started a postcard-writing campaign in hopes of swaying the programmers, but at this point it seems likely that the video will never reach its intended audience.

The band's name is also preventing it from touring Europe, where it has received its most favorable reviews.

"We can't go to Europe because no promoter will book us," he said. "They're afraid that because of the name, it's going to attract trouble, and they don't want to risk it."

Elvis admits flirting with the idea of dumping the name, but he now feels that he will probably stay with it, and try to overcome the misapprehensions it creates.

"I have all these people who are eager to accuse me of racism or white supremacy or anti-Semitism, and it's none of that," he said. "It's just that I'm not pleased with mankind as a whole. If I'm racist, I'm a racist across the board."

While the name, in hindsight, seems obviously ill-advised, it's also true that Elvis Hitler is probably being too subtle and clever for a medium which routinely defies the obvious. Despite the band's nitro-burning pedal-to-the-metal sound, they are eminently capable of operating on several levels at once, as evidenced by their recent cover of Sgt. Barry Sadler's "Ballad of the Green Berets."

"I thought, 'what if we did a super reworked-up thrashabilly version of this song,' and so I did it," he said. "... it's kind of a way to mock and poke fun at people, but at the same time give the illusion that I might be glorifying and praising."

"It's kind of a slap in the face doing that song, which is probably like a hymn for the Green Berets, but the way we do it is kind of like the way Hendrix did 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Most of what I do depends on your perception."

REVIEWS

DEEP

— Peter Murphy

Usually, when a band breaks up, the singer carries the legacy of the group's sound. In the case of the band Bauhaus, this doesn't hold true.

You can hear a few traces of the old band on Peter Murphy's new solo album, "Deep," but gone is the deep, throbbing bass of Bauhaus tunes like "Bela Lugosi's Dead." The other Bauhaus members went on to form Love and Rockets, a band that has now veered far from their original sound and dangerously close to Top 40.

Murphy sings with his trademark deep, resonant voice of the Iggy Pop-David Bowie genre. The Bowie influence is especially noticeable on "Deep Ocean Vast Sea" and "Marlene Dietrich's Favourite Poem." Bowie once said that Bauhaus was his favorite band and even got one of their songs into his movie, "The Hunger."

On "Deep," Murphy is equally adept at somberly belting out ominous rockers as he is at singing gentle ballads. In other words, the slow songs aren't sappy and the fast songs are angry and powerful. The ballad, "A Strange Kind of Love (Version One)," has heart-felt, hopeful lyrics like, "There is no terror ground/Or place for rage/No broken hearts/White wash lies/Just a taste for truth/Perfect taste choice and meaning. A look into your eyes." Murphy's plaintive singing and the simple instrumentation made the song sound almost like it came from a 1970's rock opera.

The lyrics on "Deep" tend to be rather cryptic but, if you feel like taking the time to understand what the songs are about, you'll find some pretty poetic stuff. In the song "Deep Ocean Vast Sea," Murphy mixes his religious metaphors with apocalyptic, Christian religious imagery like Dense lyrics aside, this album is a great listen. Murphy is at his best on his complex, yet ultimately rewarding latest offering. Just keep in mind that "Deep" is a Peter Murphy album, not a Bauhaus one. Murphy's solo stuff isn't better or worse, just different. If you're looking for that good old Bauhaus sound, buy an old Bauhaus album.

RHYME

— Marty Willson-Piper

Have you ever noticed that if you buy someone's first album and really love it, the second one you buy by that artist never seems quite as good?

This rule holds true in the case of Marty Willson-Piper's second solo album, "Rhyme."

In 1988, Willson-Piper, a member of the band The Church, put out the vastly underrated album "Art Attack." Although it never attained commercial success, it was a favorite among those who presumably know music — like record store owners and certain female music critics.

Like Pink Floyd and Roxy Music, Willson-Piper writes music that you will find in the rock "rock" section of the record store, but it isn't really rock'n'roll music.

Willson-Piper creates his own genre by combining gentle, floating vocals, mesmerizing "found" background sounds like a ticking watch or muted conversation and beautiful, atmospheric melodies.

"Rhyme" is music for dreaming. It's not an instant favorite like "Art Attack," but it does sort of grow on you after a few listenings. In other words, highly recommended.

Willson-Piper has a knack for writing songs that sound both modern and indescribably ancient. He hangs out in places like Stockholm, Paris and Sydney and the European influence is obvious in his music.

With "Rhyme," Willson-Piper doesn't give us a rehash of the same stuff on "Art Attack" although it would have been great if he had. It seems as though some record-company type told Willson-Piper something along the lines of "Write me a hit, Marty baby! Give me some pop hooks!"

This is especially apparent on the insufferably peppy tunes "Cascade" and "Melancholy Girl."

Fortunately, these two (or three, depending on your verdict of "Idiots") songs are isolated flaws which can be easily overcome. The rest of the album is classic Willson-Piper.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF GOOBER & THE PEAS

— Goober & the Peas

Let's hope Goober & the Peas never take themselves seriously. If they do, contemporary music as we know it might be in serious trouble.

Right now, we'll gladly settle for the Goober & the Peas that's irreverent, mocking and more fun than a barrelful of moonshine. For those of you who may not be familiar with Goober & Co., the band has been performing a little more than a year now in the Detroit area. The group earned its spurs, opening up for the Red Hot Chili Peppers at Saint Andrew's Hall.

Goober's roots go back even further to Michigan State University, where as students the band would perform at barbecues and parties. The band's appeal to this point has been visual, mainly due to the classic cowboy get-ups and the gangly stage presence of 7-foot tall Goober.

Don't let the cowboy hats or the Wyoming driver's licenses fool you, these guys can sound about as country as the Kennedys on "The Complete Works of Goober & the Peas." Perhaps that's why "Funky Cowboy" is as much an anthem as it is a mutated piece of country jerky. Against the backdrop of the spikey guitar lines, lead singer Goober howls on about he is not the average drugstore cowboy. (The video for this tune, incidentally, is hilarious.)

But if that ditty doesn't lasso you by the ear, check out "Hot Women (Cold Beer)" or "Dear Grandpa" (we get two "Dear Grandpas" here). Like all Goober & the Peas' compositions, the tunes are marked by Goober's Hank-Williams-using-helium vocal stylings and gut-busting lyrics.

The sound is as raw as two rocks grinding against one another, and as original and enjoyable as any new music band to roll down this path in awhile. Goober & the Peas are hot.

Even Aunt Bea and Andy could tell you that.

FEAR & LOAFING

Freezer burn

There was a death in our home last week. Actually, it was a murder. Committed with a screwdriver. And the killer is still at large.

I first saw the now deceased appliance back in 1974 when it was left behind by the former occupants of my home.

After two decades of faithful service, I figured the old refrigerator deserved a good defrosting. That was my first mistake. Besides being against my housekeeping policy of benign neglect, the sudden urge to defrost broke the Seventh Law of Things With Motors: "If a mechanical device (car, toy, hair dryer, etc.) is at least semi-functional, any attempt to improve its performance will immediately finish it off."

Actually, the melt-down wasn't so much an act of tidiness as desperation. Over the years, the build-up of ice crystals had slowly reduced the usable freezer space to the size of a shoe box. Perfect for hiding valuables or storing a rolled-up pizza, it became a sort of tourist attraction.

And although our social events often lacked ice cubes, they never lacked a conversation piece. Opening our freezer door replaced videos and charades. Twice we were voted "best glacier south of the Arctic Circle."

Reluctantly, I donned my rubber gloves and began chipping through layers of forgotten foods. Somewhere between finding my lost keys and a frozen sneaker, my screwdriver slipped and pricked the fragile aluminum skin.

FROM A pinhole, pressurized freon gas shot out like a tiny gyser. In moments, the elderly fridge wheezed its last gasp and slowly assumed room temperature.

Looking back, I can honestly say the worst part of stabbing my refrigerator was not the terrible inconvenience it caused my family. It wasn't even the horrendous expense of replacing it. It was having to deal with appliance salesmen.

Firing squad. Shark tank. Appliance store. Not an easy choice. But the day after the accident, I braced myself and entered the store. "After all," I told myself, "it's just an air conditioner for food. What's so complicated about that? Just pretend you know what you're doing and don't let 'em smell your fear."

Determined not to appear naive, I scribbled notes and hid between the rows of gleaming new refrigerators. Suddenly, I sensed man-made fibers coming my way. As I turned, bad breath on two legs pumped my hand and asked me what I was looking for.

Karl Nilsson

"A very basic, simple unit," I gulped. "Maybe with an ice water dispenser."

"Ice water? That's ancient history. Today, we got through-the-door everything... mustard, ketchup, taco sauce..."

"Of course," I countered, glancing at my notes, "but I also need adjustable humidity to keep the leftovers fresh."

"FRESH? THAT'S old hat. Our 'Clone Queen' analyzes the molecular structure of leftovers and regenerates them. Pop in a drumstick and pull out a whole new chicken!"

"That'd be hard on the old diet," I responded.

"Diet? Maybe you need the 'Tattle-Tale' photo snooper. Every time the door opens, it snaps a picture. And, of course, our meat locker option includes a free side of beef autographed by James Garner."

Edging toward the door, I mumbled, "I'd better discuss this with my family."

"Family? If you really care about your family, you'll want our 'Cryogenic Supreme.' Should one of your loved ones die, you can freeze them in liquid nitrogen until medical science finds a cure — or until you need the extra space for a holiday bird."

"How do you expect people to pay for all this technology?" I stammered.

"Pay? Why these new models are coin-operated. Once a week our man empties your coin box. If you're an average eater, you'll be paid off in about 10 years."

STEPPING upwind of his onion candy, I switched subjects. "But suppose it begins to leak freon gas. How could I tell?"

"We don't use freon anymore. Now we use nitrous oxide — laughing gas to you. It compresses well and provides a foolproof test. Grab your newspaper and read that Fear and Loathing column. If it seems funny, you've either got a gas leak or brain damage."

Seizing my chance, I pushed him into the self-cleaning hypersonic vegetable crisper and shut the door. Hopefully, by the time the future owner discovers a freeze-dried salesman among the zucchinis, science will have found a cure for polyester.

STREET SENSE

Putting children's needs first

Dear Barbara,

I have read in your column and in others about the kinds of problems the holidays can cause. This is especially true, if you are divorced with children.

My ex-wife and I have come up with a solution I am proud of and want to share with you. Our children decided that it is important for them to wake up in their own home on Christmas Day. We respect their decision. Since they live with their mother, they always wake up with her. I call them Christmas morning and often have them for Christmas dinner. Because they are happy with this solution, I am, too.

Proud Papa

Dear Proud Papa,

You should indeed be proud. In popular literature, divorced parents are unable to put their children's needs first. There are many examples of how this is true even when the parents sincerely want to be loving. The problem is "especially true" during the holidays, birthdays and other celebrations.

There is an observation to be made of this phenomenon. It is that festive occasions emphasize family togetherness and so they also emphasize what divorced parents have given up. That is, divorcees have forfeited affiliation. They may have done so for honorable and rewarding reasons, like independence, freedom and greater self-esteem. But during times when family closeness is idealized, these other values may be quickly forgotten.

Freedom, independence and even greater self-esteem can seem to lose importance when you cannot share Thanksgiving and Christmas with your children. Thus, the parents' attempt to deny the realistic consequences of their behavior.

They try to keep their children near during these times, even when it is not in the children's best interests. Since children can't realistically be in two places at once, one parent must, at every celebration, feel the emotional and physical separation that the divorce has wrought.

That is not to say that this very same parent might not, at other times of the year, feel that the divorce was a good decision. But at holiday time, the painful aspect is so emphasized that many parents want to avoid the intense feelings.

For whatever reason, you seem to have made a more realistic adjustment. It gives me great pleasure to print your letter as a guide to other divorced parents. They must be willing to accept the consequences of their actions even when it is painful. This might eliminate some of the pain for their children.

Old railroad cars double as an inn

ies, specialty shops and trendy people. It's like that if you've never considered staying in Sausalito, let alone on a houseboat.

A reservation service called Bed & Breakfast International has, among its many San Francisco area listings, accommodations in four luxurious houseboats docked at the Sausalito harbor.

The houseboat accommodations vary, but all have attractive bedrooms with bath and big windows to take advantage of the views. One includes a private deck and a telescope; another has a hot tub and small garden. Rates start at $84 a night for two. One entire houseboat is available on weekends for $125 a night.

It's best to let the B & B International people describe each accommodation. They have complete information and are conscientious about details. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. (PST) Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Call (415) 525-4569 or write Bed & Breakfast International, 1181-B Solano Ave., Albany, Calif. 94706.

(3) THE WINE country is awash with so many good B-and-B inns, the only problem is making a decision. In Yountville, for instance, there's the Burgundy House on Washington Street, (707) 944-2855, an old stone building that was once a brandy distillery, now a small inn with charming bedrooms furnished with antiques.

Another inn, also on Washington Street in Yountville, is so unusual and stylish, it deserves mention although it's not strictly speaking, a B-and-B. (Coffee is provided in the morning and wine in the evening, but guests go to the cafe across the street for breakfast.)

It's the Napa Valley Railway Inn — six railway cars and three cabooses from the early 1900s made into spacious and handsomely decorated rooms with skylights, bay windows and tiled baths.

Each of the nine rooms has its own entrance, opening onto a platform bright with flowering plants in tubs. Current newspapers and magazines are piled on the steps leading to the inn's office in another caboose.

The old Yountville depot is on one side of the inn, a vineyard on the other. Well-known restaurants, like Mustard's Grill and Domaine Chandon, are nearby. Railway Inn rates run from $65 to $105 a day. Inquire about weekend and out-of-season (November through February) prices. Write 6503 Washington St., Yountville, Calif. 94599, or call (707) 944-2000.

(4) The town of Mendocino on California's rugged northern coast began as a fishing and lumbering town and has become a vacation place known for its spectacular scenery, art colony and B-and-B inns.

Stevens Wood, in nearby Little River reflects both the art of Mendocino and the natural beauty that inspires it, and is named for the land's original owner, Isaac Stevens. Set in the only virgin woods left in the area, it is within sight of the ocean.

STEVENS WOOD has 10 suites, all with fireplaces and lovely views, done in an elegant contemporary style.

All the suites are equipped with cable TV, telephones and refrigerators. A full breakfast is served either indoors or out, and wine is offered with hors d'oeuvres in the late afternoon. Smoking is permitted only on decks or outdoors.

Suites are from $90 to $175 a night. Inquire about off-season or special rates. Stevens Wood is at 8211 Shoreline Highway 1, Little River. Write it at P.O. Box 170, Mendocino, Calif. 95460, or call (707) 937-2810.

Mendocino, two miles north, has several excellent restaurants — Cafe Beaujolais, McCallum House and a small place called — I'm afraid — Chocolate Moose.

STREET CRACKS

Don't let the doctoral degree in psychology scare you. David Daniel is just as zany a comedian as the next and the extra education is just fodder for his routines.

David Daniel is a doctor . . . of comedy, that is

By Julie Brown
staff writer

David Daniel's found comedians tend to be thoughtful and well-informed.

"They're a very intelligent group of people in general," said Daniel, a comedian who appears regularly in the Detroit area. "A lot of them have a Ph.D. in life, they really do."

Daniel, 26, recently completed work on his Ph.D. in psychology at West Virginia University. He earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from San Diego State University and a master's degree in psychology from West Virginia University in Morgantown.

After finishing his master's degree, Daniel came to Detroit for about a year. He did graduate work at Wayne State University and taught psychology.

Daniel, who grew up in Los Angeles, has been working as a comedian for about six years, having started as an undergraduate at San Diego State University.

"I decided comedy's what I want to do. As a matter of fact, graduate school has just given me fantastic material."

DANIEL INCORPORATES his academic background into his comedy routines. He does something on people who go to a therapist because the mail is late or the garbage doesn't get picked up.

"You don't need a therapist for that, you need a country and Western singer."

Daniel's act is "fairly clean. There are no dirty words in any of this." He uses material on current events, watching CNN regularly to keep up with things.

The first half of his act includes local humor. He finds things out about each place he visits.

"Everywhere there's a mall there's something funny."

He talks about what it takes to be a psychology major and about how psychologists appear on TV talk shows. Daniel's act makes reference to Geraldo Rivera's show on Satan worship.

Daniel worked to change the timing and delivery on that part of his act; he found some people thought he was a Satan worshiper.

"I do a lot of things on religion." He talks about Catholicism and about people going on a "sin binge" and experiencing "spiritual bulimia."

Daniel wasn't raised as a Catholic. He tried that part of his act out on Catholic friends.

"I don't want to be offensive to anybody except for fanatics." He avoids material that belittles women.

"I don't do any gay-bashing. It's very easy, but I don't see any reason for it."

DANIEL TALKS about TV evangelism and about reincarnation. If reincarnation is a reality, he said, people who commit suicide most likely will be extremely angry.

He then likes to give audiences a rest, getting away from those heavy topics.

"That's what they're there for, to have fun, and so am I." He talks about dating a Haitian, bisexual junkie with cold sores on her lip.

"I met her at the blood bank."

Originality's important to Daniel, who does some improvisational work toward the end of his act. His work as a comedian takes him all over the U.S. and Canada.

Daniel also does some counseling and teaches undergraduate psychology courses, but he's not sure the life of a full-time academic is for him.

"It may happen down the road. I'd be a really good teacher, but not a good academic. I like the interaction with people."

At one point, Daniel considered quitting graduate school. He realized the "stage time" he got in classrooms was helpful. Daniel also enjoys performing his comedy routines on campuses for college audiences.

Faculty members he's worked with consider his comedy work an added dimension of teaching, but at the same time wish he could be more committed to psychology.

"Going on the road is no big deal because I handle it professionally from my end." He's scheduled his comedy work around his academic commitments.

"My comedy's come a long way, even since when I was in Detroit." He's looking forward to appearing soon at the Looney Bin Comedy Club.

"I've always had a really good time in Detroit when I've worked there. I like Detroit audiences."

David Daniel will appear at 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 1-3, at the Looney Bin Comedy Club, lower level of the Wolverine Restaurant, 1655 Glenarry, Walled Lake. Price is $7 and reservations are required. For reservations, call 669-9374.

Boxed in

Books being stacked to the ceiling in the basement storeroom of Civic Center Library guarantees the biggest selection yet at the book sale Friday-Sunday, Feb. 2-4, sponsored by the Friends of the Livonia Library in the atrium of Civic Center Library, 32777 Five Mile. Here, Jeff Martell, 4, and Katie Millerwise, 3, got a sneak preview of what's coming. The two are surrounded by boxes of books that will be for sale. Sale hours are: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Flower-garden show plans begin to bud

By Marge Alpern
special writer

Several recent horticultural publications have carried articles that contain such catchy phrases as "Foliage as Filters," "Foliage Fighters," "Plants as Pollution Fighters," "More Than Just a Pretty Face" and "Beauty That's More Than Skin Deep."

These expressions may sound light and cute, but the articles are based on hard facts from recent research done by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The articles begin by saying that chrysanthemums and aeronautics may not seem to have much in common, but studies by NASA show that mums and other plants can remove up to 80 percent of several harmful gases commonly found in modern buildings. The studies were conducted under laboratory conditions as the agency sought ways to keep air clean for long periods in the closed conditions faced by astronauts. The findings, however, have broad implications for human beings in the modern urban setting.

Among the pollutants inhaled by office workers in our tightly sealed office buildings are formaldehyde and benzene fumes. Chemical toxins are released by innocent looking, ordinary objects, such as furniture, carpeting, and facial tissue. Gases emanate from photocopying machines, fumes from cleaning solvents and pollutants from cigarette smoke. These all create indoor pollution and can cause nausea, headaches and long term illness.

THIS INFORMATION is based on the findings of Dr. Anthony V. Nero Jr. at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory in California, a leader in the study of indoor air pollution.

He says: "The risks posed by indoor pollutants are, in fact, comparable in magnitude to those associated with exposure to chemicals or radiation in industrial settings."

"Living green and flowering plants have been found to clean and purify the air by reducing amounts of formaldehyde, benzene and carbon monoxide in modern construction."

"When a plant takes in a harmful substance," he continued, "such as formaldehyde, it does not act as a filter, but it actually metabolizes the material — breaks it down physically and chemically to use as food and then releases fresh oxygen back into the atmosphere."

Dr. B. C. Wolverton, the NASA investigator, said that "The more foliage, the healthier the environment." Some of the more familiar houseplants, all of which happen to be vigorous and easy to grow. Included are philodendron, spider-plant, sansevieria, spathiphyllum, Dracaena marginata, and Dracaena Warneckii. Two flowering plants, chrysanthemum and Gerbera daisy, are also mentioned in the study.

So now, instead of including plants in our homes and offices strictly for design or beauty or for the simple love of growing things, we are being encouraged to grow plants to keep our homes and offices healthy and clean.

Larry Pliska, who first told me about this study, is the owner of Planterra Tropical Gardens in West Bloomfield. Pliska has had a great deal of experience in designing landscapes for many modern, tightly sealed buildings.

His talents have brought him national attention. He recently received the 1990 National Environmental Award from the Associated Landscape Contractors of America for the interior of the Galleria Office Building on Northwestern Highway and 12 Mile Road. The unusual cathedral-like ceiling of the building allows a great deal of light to enter the indoor garden, and the plant arrangements create a stunning effect.

Planterra, incidentally, is one of several area nurseries that is participating in the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show on April 6-7-8 in Yost Fieldhouse on the campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

In addition to exhibits and displays, there will be a large marketplace where Planterra will offer a special selection of unusual bromeliads from South America, cactus palms small enough to carry home, ming aralias, bonsai cactus gardens and a fine group of ferns, including small staghorns.

Taylor Orchids in Monroe will also have a trade booth at the show. Offered will be over 1,000 blooming phalaenopsis because owner Ron Cienski feels this orchid is the best choice for the beginner who does not own a greenhouse. But — not to worry — there will be other varieties as well.

Another specialty grower who will have a trade booth at the show is Wild Nature Greenhouse of Brighton. Wild Nature will be featuring cacti and succulents, and since this nursery is the largest grower of these plants in the eastern part of the country, a great assortment can be anticipated.

All in all, about 40 growers are expected to take part in the show, the theme of which will be "Secret Garden."

For more information on the show, call or write Judith Corkran Katch, Matthaei Botanical Gardens, 1800 Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor 48105, or call 998-7343.

Tools are there for utilization

Q. You have mentioned your Organizing classes several times. My husband is very disorganized and I'm wondering what your sessions cover and if it would be worthwhile for him to take off work to attend them?

A. I cannot tell you if your husband should attend or not. When people attend my seminars (as they often do) because their mates, co-workers, etc., need help, I emphasize that these are self-improvement classes. Unless the other person specifically requests advice, it is seldom effective to try to organize another person.

Organizing can be contagious, however. After living or working with someone who is "carefree" for several years, a well organized person sometimes lowers his or her standards. This change may be almost imperceptible until things finally get out of control and one realizes something must be done. When one party attends classes and begins quietly reorganizing their home or office, the other person is usually so impressed they want to know how to do it, too.

I often compare my classes with weight loss clinics. Some participants lose no weight, some lose weight and gain it back, and some lose weight and keep it off. In the same way, I offer every tool necessary for people to get organized. Students may never utilize any of my techniques, they may use some of them for a while, or they may become very well organized by using most of the ideas I share. The decision to change is usually dictated by how motivated the student is.

My first session deals with the importance of goal setting and with procrastination — clarifying why goals are often set but not accomplished. The second and third sessions cover time management techniques and tools for scheduling time. The fourth session, called Inner Dynamics, is my favorite. It explains how traits, attitudes, aptitudes, depression and right and left brain thinking affect organizational abilities.

The fifth class, Organizing Your Possessions, improves decision making and features a slide presentation of home storage ideas. Finally, in Paper Paradise you can learn how to organize your papers so you can keep a clear desk and still find what you need. Mail handling and a home filing system are discussed, as well as business applications.

I suggest that you let your husband read this column and make his own decision about whether or not to attend.

To enroll in individual sessions or the full six-week Organizing for Success Course, call Schoolcraft College at 462-4448. In-house seminars for businesses are also available.

Tokyo Quartet returns

The Tokyo String Quartet will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 2, at Detroit's Orchestra Hall on the Chamber Music Society series. This is the Quartet's 20th anniversary season and the group is making three European tours and performing in 45 North American cities.

Building Scene

Marilyn Fitchett editor/591-2300

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Monday, January 29, 1990 O&E

The second tower of Columbia Center at Big Beaver and I-75 in Troy is under construction. But another office building spurt to match the one that occurred in the '80s is unlikely.

'90s office market will project different look

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

The 1980s — the decade of the office.

Perhaps an exaggeration, but the explosion of office buildings in the last 10 years changed the face of southeast Michigan.

But what of the future? Reaction from developers and market analysts ranges from cautious optimism to bullishness.

Doug Winkworth, head of development for Kirco Realty and Development, said although there will be some new office developments, a greater emphasis will be placed on renovation and specialized development in the 1990s.

"We don't see spectacular growth, but we're optimistic," Winkworth said. Kirco will be building new offices in Troy, Southfield and the Detroit Central Business District in addition to projects in the Ann Arbor area.

Winkworth said he looks toward the 1990s with an eye for specialization. General purpose, multi-use office buildings are a quickly giving way to specialized use buildings intended for one client or research and development.

Typically smaller with fewer stories, the specialized buildings may help markets like Auburn Hills and Novi that have not had success with general use offices.

Joel Feldman, vice president of Hayman Co., the Southfield property management and leasing firm, said it is unrealistic to expect 1980s-like growth. "Records in every sense of the word, both in construction and occupancy, were set," Feldman said.

BUT THE RECORDS may be little more than a game of musical buildings, he said. "What I'm trying to say is it may look like 50 percent growth but may be more like 10 per-

Lewis Kasselmann, vice president at Cushman & Wakefield of Michigan is more bullish on the office market, noting the term "musical buildings" is overused and perhaps inappropriate.

"In the last two years the metro area has added eight million square feet — that's eight million square feet of real growth," Kasselmann said.

Vacancy rates have increased, but there was a $10 million increase in leasing activity too, Kasselmann said.

"Most office space demand was promoted by the area's economic vitality." Assuming the economy remains strong, the office market should remain strong, he said.

Feldman said there are no safe bets in today's complicated office market, but a few areas continue to look promising.

LIVONIA, WHICH was predicted to be a slow market in 1989, surprised many by filling up rapidly with major tenants like AAA of Michigan and Electronic Data Systems. "They went from leasing 160,000 square feet in 1988 to more than 625,000 square feet in 1989 — that's almost a 500,000 square foot increase in leased space."

Cushman & Wakefield's Kasselmann said Livonia is likely to be an increasingly more important office market because of its access Ann Arbor and Lansing, in addition to the tri-county market.

But Kasselmann disagreed that the Livonia market was ever truly soft. Despite tremendous fluctuations in the Troy and Livonia markets, they have been the two most stable markets in the metropolitan area.

Troy, Hayman's Feldman said, will see development, but office space is limited. New developments like the Northfield Office Center near Crooks and Long Lake Road and the Columbia Center at Big Beaver and I-75 are doing well — in part due to the development slow down and because of extremely aggressive leasing efforts by building owners.

KASSELMAN SAID a misperception about the Troy market is occupancy can't keep up with the growth. "The truth is it has kept up with growth and has continued to have stable vacancy rates."

He said the opening of I-696 is bound to affect the office market in the communities through which the freeway winds, but some of the recent predictions about the affect may be overstated.

Farmington Hills, for example, will not be the next Troy for two basic reasons — one, Farmington Hills does not allow high rise buildings, and two, the land just isn't there, he said. But I-696 may help fill vacant offices in established markets, he said.

Feldman said projections about Farmington Hills becoming the "next Big Beaver Road" — particularly along 12 Mile Road between Drake and Novi Road — is likely to occur only if proposed freeway entrance and exit ramp improvements are realized.

Novi has the potential to become a larger office market than Farmington Hills, but until existing offices fill up, there isn't likely to be much spillover, Kasselmann said. Continued office development is unlikely in the fledgling Auburn Hills and Rochester Hills markets where supply exceeds demand, Feldman and Kasselmann said.

The Birmingham/Bloomfield market, once one of the most exclusive office markets, has changed dramatically in recent years. At one time, tenants would crawl over each other to get into the area, but today there are vacancies, Feldman said.

Troy's Royal Coachman sold

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Holtzman and Silverman Cos., one of the largest rental property developers in southeast Michigan, bought the second largest apartment complex in Troy last week.

Co-chairman Jonathan Holtzman announced Wednesday his firm has purchased the Royal Coachman Apartments — second in size only to Somerset Park Apartments — to expand its customer base and go after the underserved, first-time renter market.

The new venture will be called Village Park Apartments, a Village Green Community, a name chosen to capitalize on the 18 Village Green Apartments owned by his firm, he said.

"We were getting the 25- to 40-year-old renters making $25,000 to $60,000 a year, but we were missing a lot of 18- to 30-year-old renters making $18,000 to $30,000 a year," he said.

The 44-acre, 545-unit complex at I-75 and Rochester Road will be renamed Village Park of Troy. It is jointly owned with Aetna Institutional Investors, a limited partnership managed by Aetna Realty Investors.

The purchase price has not been released.

"What we heard — and when you have 16,000 apartments you hear a lot — is there were people that liked our apartments, but we didn't have anything in their price range," Holtzman said. Village Green Apartments rent for $570 and up.

"We saw an opportunity to buy an existing community, upgrade it enough to get it close to what we offer at Village Green, and still not compete with ourselves," he said.

Holtzman and Silverman normally doesn't buy older properties, but develops new properties, Holtzman said. "Village Park, a Village Green Community, is really a different direction. We have a clearer idea of what we're going to do."

Holtzman said his firm is already looking for other communities. "But it can't be just anything — it has to have good location, good size and a good foundation on which we can build."

The Royal Coachman apartments are 20 years old and will require renovation but the basics are there, he said. "They may not have cathedral ceilings or fireplaces or have contemporary designs, but they will share many of the amenities that Village Green apartments have."

In addition to interior and exterior renovation, new appliances and light fixtures, the new Village Park will see a new gate house/entry, 5,500 square foot club house, swimming pool and recreational areas and car ports.

Jack Wake, of Wake-Pratt Construction Company, part owner and manager of the Royal Coachman, said that several buyers have approached him about buying the apartments in the past, but the timing wasn't right.

"There's no special reason (for the sale)," he said. "It's just that it's 20 years old and it's time to move onto other things."

"Most people own a property and sell it after five years, but we held it much longer — it's good property," Wake said. "It's got a great location and depreciation hasn't been a problem."

Marinas go condo

What can you tell me about the "dockominium" market in northern Michigan?

"Dockominiums" are spaces in marinas that have been condominiumized. I know of several in the Charlevoix area that have been extremely successful. It appears that if these are well managed they can be a good investment. You should be certain that the developer has obtained the requisite permits and you should be cautious in reviewing the condominium documents. Check the amenities that will be provided as this could be a crucial factor if you choose to lease, particularly when you are competing against public marinas.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney specializing in condominiums, real estate and corporate law. You are invited to submit topics for this column by writing Robert M. Meisner, 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham 48010. This column provides general information and should not be construed as legal opinion.
