County tosses out petitions for recall

By Kevin Brown and Diane Gale staff writers

The Wayne County Elections Commission on Tuesday rejected recall petitions against five Plymouth city commissioners, ruling that the wording wasn't clear

But petitions with revised language will be submitted "probably within a week, I'm sure," said Paul Nastoff, of the citizens group seeking the recall.

The decision stalls for now a recall drive mounted by Plymouth Concerned Citizens against Mayor Dennis Bila, Mayor Pro-Tem Ralph (Jack) Kenyon, and commissioners John Vos, James Jabara and Ron Loiselle

A move by the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township to begin efforts to buy Mettetal Airport in Canton and operate it jointly sparked the

'I'm elated the elections commission threw out the recall petition," Vos said Tuesday.

'The ruling takes the cloud away from the airport purchase," said Maurice Breen, Plymouth Township supervisor. "We can now move for-

BREEN SAID the next step is to raise locally about $300,000 toward the purchase. The cost of the airport is about $4 million.

After the money is raised, federal and state money to pay for the airport will be sought, he said. The elections commission rejected this language, submitted by the citizens' group on the recall petitions: • "Failure to faithfully represent the majority of citizens of the city of Plymouth by voting to acquire Mettetal Airport on Jan. 21, 1991.

 "Failure to provide information regarding taxes, liability insurance and the future expansion of Mettetal Airport.

· "Failure to make voters aware that their money was being pledged under the Michigan Constitution Headlee Amendment in support of Mettetal Airport.

• "Failure to permit a citizenwide vote on the commitment of taxes and evenue bonding regarding the support of Mettetal Airport." James Killeen, county clerk and member of the elections commission, said each of the four points cited by recall backers were incor-On the first point, he said, "They (commissioners) did not vote to acquire Mettetal Airport.' On the second point, he said, "The commission is not in a position to provide all that information," as the information is yet unknown. On the third point, he said the word pledged "Has no legal substance. You either commit the money or you don't. There isn't any commitment of money at this point.'

And on the fourth point, Killeen said establishment of a citizen-wide vote on the matter is not up to the commission. "The ballot has to be a citizen referendum," he said.

A SIDE issue in the recall drive was the naming of Breen as a recall target. The Breen petition was submitted to the elections commission but was later withdrawn.

County officials said that the name of Warren Dusbiber appeared on the petition naming Breen, but following the filing, Dusbiber contacted the county to say the filing wasn't valid.

County officials identified Plymouth attorney and Plymouth Township trustee John Stewart as the person who filed the petitions against. the city commission members and against Breen.

Stewart said he didn't file the petitions. "I was a messenger, I dropped them off," he said. "Legally it constitutes nothing.

"I was in my office that morning and was going downtown to court. One of the people behind the petition drive asked me to drop them off," he said. "I didn't even hand them to anybody, I just set them on the coun-

He said that during a preliminary inspection of the petitions by Ed Carey, county director of elections, Carey noticed that Breen was identified on them as a city of Plymouth commissioner.

"Carey noticed it," Stewart said. so my secretary went behind the counter, whited out the title and typed in the correct one.'

I never even gave them my name," he said. "My secretary said she was filing them."

HE CHARACTERIZED the incident as a mixup.

Meanwhile, Vos said he will contact the State Bar Grievance Committee to investigate Stewart's con-

Last week, Breen's attorney John Nora asked Richard Padzieski, chief of operations for the county prosecutor's office, to investigate the petition filing.

Padzieski said he has yet to decide if there is criminal involvement, adding the name of one filing the petition doesn't have to appear on that Carey said Stewart filed the petitions against the commission and the "fraudulent" one against Breen. Vos said he was "shocked and concerned that Stewart was involved in filing the recall petition against the city commission.

Members of the county elections commission are Killeen; Freddie Burton Jr., chairman and chief judge of probate; and Raymond Wojtowicz, Wayne County treasurer. They all voted to reject the recall petitions.

Choice plan fuels fears

Plymouth-Canton school officials say Gov. John Engler's plan to allow students to attend the public school of their choice, even across district lines, is fraught with problems.

Engler's proposal, one of many in the legislative hopper, would require districts to participate, making available 1 percent of their space for incoming students. Openings would be assigned by a lottery. Schools would be given state money for each out-of-district student accepted.

Children living within the district would receive first choice in selecting their school.

Plymouth-Canton school board members Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas are expected to announce their bids for re-election this month. William Joyner of Plymouth also has taken out nominating peti-

Swartzwelter, board president, has called a press conference for 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Palermo Pizzeria and Restaurant on Ford Road in Canton. He has returned his petitions and has been certified.

Thomas, who took petitions out but has not yet returned them, will make an announcement Feb. 25.

The school election is June 10. Nominating petitions are available at the board office, 454 S. Harvey, for any registered voter and resident of the district interested in running.

Candidates have until April 8 to file nominating petitions April 11 is the last day candidates may withdraw from the race.

The much talked-about bond issue which would finance two new elementaries, a "Phase Four" building at Centennial Educational Park and technological and other improvements - is not expected to appear on the June ballot.

The bond issue, which would seek a minimum of $50 million, tentatively is scheduled to be decided by voters in a Sept. 24 election

Schools fret over choice plan

Hoben said he suspects that eventually, a joint House-Senate plan will evolve, permitting choice within a district but not outside districts.

"We don't have enough room at the high school, and we don't have room at the elementaries, so I don't know how it's going to work. There are some very difficult issues that are going to have to be looked at,"

"They will have to review crossdistrict busing and who is going to pay for it.

The whole issue of collective bargaining is interwoven. With people moving around from school to school, how are you going to con-

The superintendent said he isn't opposed to the plan, but doesn't think it will improve schools.

"I'm not opposed to schools of choice, but I don't think it will accomplish what they want. The betters are going to get better, and the worse will get worse."

IN MINNESOTA, where a ol-of-choice plan was impleted three years ago, little inge has been noticed, aside from the recruitment of athletes, Hoben said.

'It hasn't made that much difference. Only 6,000 kids in the whole state have taken advantage of it," he said

'I haven't seen any empirical evidence that it's a better way to go or will improve schools.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools leases a middle school from Livonia. The high schools house 4,600 students, 400 over capacity. Projections show enrollment rising to 5,000 to 5,200 by the LOSS OF local control is another concern.

"Intermediate districts would be responsible for coming up with a program that would be approved by the state board and would be implemented upon local districts," Hoben said of one proposal.

This would take away local control and make it very difficult. I don't have any fears for our district. I feel we have a good district and people would probably opt into

THE DISTRICT'S teachers haven't yet taken an official position on the issue, said Chuck Portelli. president of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association.

Unofficially, "we are opposed to cross-district and in-district busing. We're not offering any opposition to in-district busing, and we're not supporting either.

"I don't think people know enough yet," he said. "I'm sure it will be a hot issue before this year is out. Then we will have to officially take a position.

CROSS-DISTRICT BUSING "led to all kinds of problems in the early 1970s," said board president Dean

'The best way I can describe cross-district busing is a can of worms. Big worms.

It seems to me cross-district busing now would raise a lot of those same issues."

Plymouth-Canton schools are at "the peak of our capacity," he said. 'We have no extra space, which is a major problem."

STUDENTS EXPRESS a variety of opinions.

"I think it's a good idea," said Canton freshman Jamey Kay. 'People pay taxes and can't go to the school they want to."

Kay said her sister's boyfriend

ary and has to go to Belleville schools where students are scared.

"He has a lot of friends there, but kids want to beat him up. He dropped out and now he's going to night school."

The schools-of-choice plan is a bad idea, said Erika Swegles, a Canton sophomore.

We are already overcrowded with the freshmen (new to the park this year). I think our whole school district is good, so it'd be even

The plan "sounds like a good idea," said Brian Barna, a Canton senior

"We have too many students here to begin with. Probably other schools don't have as many kids. With so many people, it's real hectic here trying to get to your classand Oakland County to play at Farmington Harrison. As far as I'm concerned, local school districts don't have any extra money for busing students outside their district."

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR PAUL CUMMINGS said schools of choice would make a mess of high school

"I think we'd be creating problems that we haven't had to deal with in the past," he said.

Recruiting middle and high school athletes is not what education is all about. It's tough enough on high school seniors. I'm sure there a lot of sleepless nights before athletes make a decision about what college or university they go to," added Cummings, who oversees athletes on 40 varsity teams at Centennial Educational Park.

"I don't feel it's educationally sound myself. You don't just pick a school to play basketball. You pick a school for your future.

"I don't know if that's the right direction to go. Minnesota has been doing it for only three years, and there are no real solid stats to go on.

"My question is, what educational benefits do we gain by this? We're getting into not only athletics, but segregation and integration problems that would start all over again.

At this point, I think this is some-thing we should be looking at instead of jumping into."

He thought he would return to his law firm after a five-year stint as Wayne Circuit Court judge and almost three decades later. Judge Thomas J. Foley, plans to retire April 1 from the job he grew to

Foley is returning to the other side of the bench in an advisory capacity for the firm, Kitch, Saurbier, Drutchas, Wagner & Kenney, where his son, Thomas J Foley, is a partner

'This is the time," said Foley, whose 70th birthday is in July.

I've got my health," he said "I feel good. I get around and do a lot of things. So many people wait to retire until they're sick and they can't do anything.

Explaining that he was only intending to serve as judge for five years before he returned to his law practice, Foley said, "Here I am 25 years, plus, later," he said.

The dynamics of a judge's schedule engulfed him.

"There's always something pending - future opinions and cases." The Plymouth resident for almost 40 years has seen a lot of changes in the community. Adjusting his long thin body in his chair he recalls looking out his window and seeing acres of open space and driving on Sheldon Road, which was dirt at the time. The courtroom has gone through as much of a metamorphosis, he said, in what he refers to as a litigation happy

AMONG THE most memorable of his cases, Foley said, was the Charles Fisher murder trial. The microbiologist, and Canton resident, was found guilty of first-degree murder in the strangulation death of his wife.

Another that's burned into his memory, Foley said, was a Downriver murder case. Two men held up a jewelry store and vowed not to leave any witnesses. A group of people in the shop were ordered to lay down in the back room. "They systematically put a bullet in each of their heads," Foley said shaking his head in disgust.

The murderers, Foley added. "are where they should be, with Mr. Fisher.'

When asked if he has second thoughts about people he sentenced to life in prison, he said: "I didn't do the dastardly deed and society has to be protected. Sometimes you find cases where you don't think the person is inherently bad. You never find someone more remorseful than at the time of sentencing. But the first minute before and after they're a totally different per-

It's that adamant tone and conviction that has given him the reputation of being a tough judge with a strict play by the rules attitude

Like the time he drew national attention by citing the striking Detroit Teachers Association with contempt of court charges in the 1970s. And papers across the country picked up the story when the fiery judge from Detroit ordered padlocks on the doors of pornographic outlets.

Nothing I've done on the bench I would have done differently,"

Sitting on the State Judicial Tenure Commission for the past 10 years, a commission he also chaired, Foley has seen the law enforcers become lawbreakers.

The most recent case was City of Detroit 36th District Court Judge Leon Jenkins who was removed from the bench by the tenure com-

It's unfortunate when someone with all that education, who has the position of authority, trust and importance in a community abuses it to an extent that we have to remove them from the bench," Foley said. "It's a tragedy when you think

And Foley recently also served as co-chair, with the late G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams, on a special committee investigating corruption charges against Michigan Appeals Court Judge S. Jerome Bronson, who committed suicide in 1987 after bribery allegations began to unravel.

Foley said his committee poured over files, briefs and other information, including Bronson's telephone calls, until finally they had an opinion. Williams died near the end of the investigation and Foley wrote the final report.

We found that there was some wrongdoing," Foley said. "There were three definite cases that we thought should go further

No other judges were involved, Foley said the committee concluded, "but there were attorneys dealing with Bronson." The Michigan Supreme Court has taken over the controversial case.

A judge or lawyer on the take isn't something you expect, said Foley adding however, that it's nothing new, either. He recalled being in charge of a citizens grand jury in the early 1970s, which indicted a group of prominent attorneys for wrongdoing.

Over the years, Foley said, he has noticed that "attorneys don't seem to have the depth that they once had." There's a few bad attorneys, he said, who give a bad name to everyone in the profession. In general, Foley added, "they do an excellent job.

However, many of the cases really "border on non-cases. Society itself is really much more litigation minded," he said adding that one motivation could be that attorneys have financial responsibilities office rent, support staff and the like and they're forced to drum up

The trend toward pursuing iffy cases, he said, is slacking off and new legislation will help limit lia-

After a short stint with the Automobile Club of Michigan as a law clerk, young Foley was ecstatic to be called to work in the Wayne County prosecutor's office where he stayed for 6 /4 years before going into private practice with Goetz, Goetz and Foley. He stayed with the firm for 10 years until the senior partner died and he ran for

"I've known Tom for a long time," said 35th District Court Judge James Garber.

While in the prosecutor's office, Foley worked with Garber's father. Ralph Garber, who was chief assistant prosecutor from 1949 to

"(Foley) was a pretty hard-working guy," James Garber said. "His reputation has always been a no nonsense kind of judge. He's been known as a stiff sentencer. Sort of a law and order kind of judge."

Foley's days as a judge usually started at 4 a.m. with a walk and attending Mass at Our Lady of Good Counsel, Plymouth. Foley liked getting to arrive in the City County building early so that he could get a jump on some of his work and read the newspaper.

He wants to be remembered as a judge who exercised "honesty and fairness regardless of who you are and what your station in life" everyone "gets the same treatment."

Beyond working with his son's law firm, Foley's agenda includes building a home on Torch Lake with his wife Mary Catherine, traveling extensively and launching charitable work

Court denies Fisher appeal

Convicted murderer Charles R. Fisher, charged with suffocating his wife by wrapping her face with duct tape in their Canton Township home, has been denied an appeal.

Court of Appeal Judges Robert J. Danhof, Mark J. Cavanagh and William R. Beasley threw out all 11 issues raised by Fisher's attorney. R Steven Whalen, to overturn the firstdegree murder conviction.

Whalen will take the case to the Michigan Supreme Court, he said

I think it's important, especially for Dr. Fisher, but important for the law, that the Supreme Court look at the issues and decide the law, Whalen said.

'Dr Fisher did not have a fair trial. I think it's important that we play by the rules, and I don't think that was done in this case.

Should James Spinelle of Plymouth, the former West Bloomfield High School teacher guilty of growing marijuana in Southfield, be punished with a sentence of six months or less in prison?

Or should Spinelle, portrayed as the mastermind of a high-tech drug operation who anticipated high profits, spend four to five years in prison for the crime he confessed to?

U.S. District Court Judge John Feikens is considering the issue, after arguments on sentencing pre sented in federal court last week by defense attorney James C Wood and Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael

Wood, who urged leniency, asked that Spinelle be sentenced under state law, which provides for one to six months imprisonment

Because of the disparity, we are asking the judge to consider the question of violation of due process," Wood said

The question, Stern responded, doesn't make sense. "Due process was not violated."

Unless Feikens rules otherwise, Spinelle is due for sentencing under federal guidelines. Federal law provides leniency in several key ways,

State Rep. Lyn Bankes of Livonia is a rarity. She's one of the few Republicans who voiced concerns about the content of Gov. John Engler's State of the State message delivered Tuesday in Lansing.

Like her GOP colleagues, Banks applauded frequently and robustly during Engler's 25-minute speech. She described it as "upbeat, terrif-

But Bankes, a member of the House Education Committee, said she is concerned about two Engler proposals — property tax reduction and schools of choice on a state-wide Democrats, in contrast, generally greeted Engler's address with since or weak, polite applause. "It was very devisive," said State Rep. Maxine Berman of Southfield.

"He tried to portray anyone who loesn't agree with him as being bad for Michigan or anti-jobs," she said. "He tried to shove his opponents (mostly Democrats) into a corner.

"BUT IN POLITICS, when you shove, people shove back . . . only harder," said Berman, recently apsaid Berman, recently appointed to the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Prior to the address, his first since he became governor by defeating incumbent James Blanchard in November, Engler said it was not meant as a blueprint for the coming broad statement of policy, with details for specific proposals - like education - to come later.

State Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington, said the new governor made clear his intentions of delivering on campaign promises. "He said he was oing to downsize government," Dolan said. "And that's what he's going Dolan said she is particularly encouraged by what she interpreted as a promise by Engler to make government more accountable.

"Programs will be evaluated to see if they are achieving their goals," said Dolan. "If they aren't working, they should be changed or eliminated.

Like Bankes, Dolan also expressed concerns about Engler's call for a 20 percent cut in property taxes.

SHE BELIEVES Engler is concerned about education. "But I worry about how Farmington and other out-of-formula (affluent) school districts are going to make up the loss. An answer to both their concerns may be provided by State Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, who Tuesday said he is preparing to introduce legislation calling for the 20 percent cut in property taxes. "I'll introduce it this week," said

Honigman. "It definitely includes provisions for state revenues to make up for any loss of school

Honigman said he is "very encourchoice on a state-wide basis. "It will introduce competition into the mar-ket place of education," he said.

It will also force individual schools to improve their systems. It will force them to be competitive.

'Educational choice is so fundamental, I don't know why we haven't had it all these years," Honigman continued. "I don't trust educators who oppose it, they seem to think they are better equipped to know what's good for others. That's non-

People do better when they have free choice, and that goes for education as well," Honigman asserted.

Rep. Gerald H. Law, R-Plymouth Township, said Engler's address "set a tone" for reduced spending. "We have this large deficit and we've got to cut spending.

"THIS WAS THE first state of the state message that didn't create new programs and promise additional money," said Law

Rep. Gordon Sparks, R-Troy, said he is encouraged by the direction Engler's address pointed the state. 'He wants to reduce government and reduce dependency on government, with a corresponding reduction in the size and cost.'

Sparks said he too is concerned about what a 20 percent reduction in property taxes will do to school budgets. "But I know the governor wants good schools. I'll just have to trust that schools won't be hurt."

State Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, described the governor's State of the State address as "upbeat, terrific" but said she was concerned about property tax reduction and schools of choice on a statewide basis.

Rep. Michael Bouchard praised Engler's address for changing the focus of government. "It's no longer a question of 'if' we make cuts, but

McNamara counts on working with gov

Gov. John Engler's first State of the State address is drawing heavy criticism from Michigan Democrats, but Wayne County Executive Ed ward McNamara has yet to join the

If anything, McNamara expressed a degree of sympathy for the new

"Poor John Engler," he joked. "Here's a guy whose talking about rearranging the philosophy of state government and, first the war knocks him off the front page, then the indictments against (Detroit Police) Chief William Hart and Ken Weiner knock him off the front

While fellow Democrats were lining up to take pot shots at the new governor's tax- and budget-cutting message, McNamara was more guarded in his response.
"He's talking about cutting property taxes by 20 percent and, as a taxpayer in Livonia, I think it's wonderful," McNamara said. "But I hope it doesn't mean the county is going to be hurt."

Already, the executive said, the county expects to lose an estimated $1 million in federal revenue sharing as a result of the cuts and $1 million in additional revenue because of its shrinking population.

But McNamara, who will give his annual State of the County address Friday, is apparently putting his faith in his ability to work with Engler to overcoming budget cuts.

'He's talking about cutting property taxes by 20 percent and, as a taxpayer in Livonia, I think it's wonderful. But I hope it doesn't mean the county is going to be hurt.'

> - Edward McNamara Wayne County Executive

The two have met at least three times since Engler's election, McNamara said, including a 90-minute session last month.

WHILE ENGLER has talked about downsizing state government, McNamara said there are two programs he'd like to take off the governor's hands

Greater county control over wel-fare and child welfare programs are two of McNamara's key goals for the

"I think the first person who'll tell you general assistance (welfare) is screwed up is John Engler," said McNamara.

More should be done to find work for the estimated 55,000 indigent county residents. McNamara said

"Our feeling is don't put people on the dole, put them into programs, McNamara said.

Ex-boyfriend attacks car

A Plymouth Cultural Center employee told police his car was damaged by the jealous ex-boyfriend of a woman he recently began dating. The man said the woman had split up with her boyfriend, and that he took her on a date over the weekend. He told police he went to work Sunday and parked his car in the lot. He said that at about 7 p.m., the suspect came into the Cultural Center and told him to leave his girlfriend alone. The suspect threatened to hurt or kill the complainant if he didn't do as he was told, police said.

The suspect challenged the man to a fight, but he declined. The suspect called the man names, continuing to encourage him to fight. When the employee refused, the suspect left.

The man said he checked his car minutes later and discovered $500 in damage to the driver's door of his black 1984 Chevy.

Police officers were unable to locate the suspect. The man does not wish to sign a disorderly conduct complaint, police said.

LAID OFF AND TICKED OFF: A South Lyon man who manages a Plymouth manufacturing company said he received a threatening phone call from a man believed to be a former employee who recently was laid

According to the manager, the suspect, with slurred speech, asked for a fellow manager when he called at 6:30 a.m. Feb. 8. When told he would be back later, the caller said, naming the manager, "Well, he's dead." The complainant told police that about 40 workers recently were laid off. Most of them accepted the layoffs without problems, but a few were very upset, he said.

The complainant said he didn't recognize the caller's voice, but that it sounded like someone in his 20's or 30's who was drunk. Police asked the complainant to keep them advised.

ESCORT ABANDONED: At about 3:30 p.m. Saturday, police were noti-fied about an unattended Ford Escort near Wilcox Lake off Edward Hines Drive with its motor running.

Officers discovered the $6,000 car rammed into a tree on the shore of Wilcox Lake. The engine was in gear, running, and the keys were in the ignition. The steering wheel was secured to the door frame by the seat belt.

The radio was missing, the glove box broken, and dash was damaged in several areas.

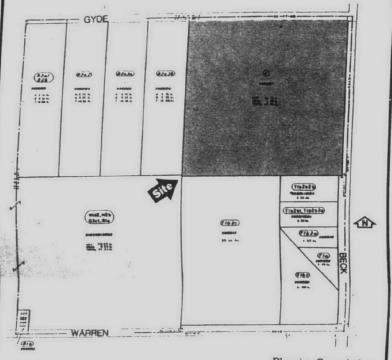

Police said the vehicle was reported stolen by the Wayne Police Department. A check of the area turned up no suspects or witnesses. Officers said it was evident that someone attempted to ditch the car into Wilcox Lake. The vehicle was towed.

The executive said the county is proposing education and job training programs for welfare recipients with a general assistance check contingent upon their participation.

You could call it 'workfare', but actually, it goes deeper than that," McNamara said. "It involves teach-Ing people how to get a job and helping them find a job."

Child welfare - rehabilitation of young criminals - could cause a major county financial crisis, McNamara said

"If the county goes back into bank-ruptcy it will be because of our child welfare bill," McNamara said.

Sending a young offender to a state training school costs the county an estimated $60,000 annually, McNamara said.

Instead, McNamara is proposing an alternative - based on services and supervision within the youth's own community - that he claims would only cost $14,000 per child.

If there's an advantage Wayne County holds in dealing with the new governor, McNamara said, it's that Vernice Davis-Anthony, new state director of public health, recently held a similar post with the county.

'She's certainly well aware of our problems as well as how efficiently we've been meeting them," he said.

McNamara tries to halt population loss

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Ending suburban sprawl will be Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's chief message during his annual State of the County address Friday

At that time, McNamara is expected to unveil plans to help older Wayne County communities retain businesses and population.

Smarting from census losses and potential loss of as many as two U.S. Congressional seats -McNamara said the county would step up efforts to stem the flow of people and jobs.

'It's a cliche, but we have a throw away society," McNamara said. "And that's spread into 'throw away' cities.'

Over the past 30 years, McNamara said, the county has lost roughly 500,000 residents yet seen 75 percent of its open land disappear

'It's sprawl," Mcnamara said. To fight that, McNamara said, teams of county employees are being brought together to work with local officials.

"It includes (county economic development director) Dewey Henry's people, (public service director) Russ Gronevelt's people and members of the county's alternative work force," McNamara said.

'It's a cliche, but we have a throw away society. And that's spread into 'throw away' cities.'

Economic development staff would help devise a business-retention strategy, public service workers would provide assistance in building and retaining an infrastructure while the alternative work force - minor criminals sentenced to community service - would help rebuild neighborhoods.

THE PROGRAM is currently under way in Ecorse, with Highland Park also scheduled to receive

Service could eventually spread to other, less depressed, areas, McNamara said, including Garden City, Redford and Livonia - which each lost about 4,000 residents over the 1980s, according to new census

The program isn't designed to help . communities grow, McNamara said, said as much as to keep them from shrinking. 'It's more important to retain your population than it is to look for new population," he said.

Keeping the Detroit Tigers in Detroit is another key goal, McNamara said.

'We can't afford another (Auburn Hills) Palace or another McNamara said. Silverdome." Even though the Palace was built privately, it's still the taxpayers who end up paying for roads and McNamara will deliver his State of the County address at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The speech will be tele-vised over WTVS-TV, Channel 56 and broadcast over WWJ-AM.

By McNamara's own admission, the speech will contain few new initiatives, but there will be renewed dedication to the county's anti-violence task force and other recent

The anti-violence program, an-nounced but not yet implemented, would approach violence as a disease similar to alcoholism and work with families to find cures. New emphasis is also expected to be given the county's infant mortality task force. A new director is sought to replace former county Commissioenr Bernard Kilpatrick, who resigned from the board to become county public health director.

In other news, McNamara said the county's homeless shelter announced last year - is tentatively scheduled for opening in the Report says residents, hospitals are sickly

Unpaid bills: Major problem for area hospitals

Michigan residents — and the hospitals that serve them — are less healthy than the national average, cording to a new report.

The Southeast Michigan Hospital council report stated that Michigan esidents exceed national averages for chronic disease at a time when

The annual report is designed to present a picture of Michigan hospitals and the kinds of patients they serve, said Donald Potter, president of the Southfield-based hospitals

Some people will be more althy, some will be less healthy," Potter said. "The same is true of hospitals."

The state's higher-than-average death rate from stroke, heart disease, cancer, diabetes and other diseases, reported by the Centers for Disease Control, has already been LESS NOTED was a report from Moody's Investment Services show-ing that one-third of Michigan hospitals had low financial ratings, more than twice the national average.

The Moody's report showed that 34 percent of Michigan hospitals had bonds rated Baa and Ba1 - among the company's lowest ratings while only 16 percent of all hospitals nationally shared those below-average ratings.
According to Moody's, however, most struggling hospitals are in De-troit or outstate. Most hospitals serving Oakland and suburban Wayne County residents are on firm financial footing, according to the finan-

Among other hospitals, Detroit Medical Center received the A rating. DMC, new name for the former Harper Grace and Huron Valley Hospitals, leads the region in annual admissions with more than 79,000. While Moody's praised the unit's "well-qualified physician staff" and "strong utilization," concerns about restructuring led to a slightly lower rating from the A1 held by the company in 1985.

Crittenton, Rochester also received the A rating.

Crittenton was praised for it "strong historical financial performance," but Moody's noted concerns about the hospital's highly competitive service area. The hospital also received the A rating during its last evaluation in 1983

Sinai bonds had been rated A one ear ago, but were dropped to Baa Moody's noted its decrease in pa-

The region's lowest rated hospital bonds belong to Pontiac General. The city-owned hospital received the Baa rating. Moody's, however, said the hospital's "(s)trong liquidity position helps to mitigate some concerns related to a weak source area econo-

Uncompensated care is the big-gest financial problem facing hospitals, according to the report. Figures weren't provided for individual hospitals, though some regional break downs were provided. Unpaid bills at metro Detroit hospitals rose by 15-25 percent a year from 1985-88, the report said. While figures have leveled since then, southeastern Michigan hospitals provided $223 million in uncompensated services in 1989, the last year for which figures were available.

While most of that is linked to indigent care, hospital council chairman Ralph LaGro said seniors and many working people also have trou-ble paying their bills.

"You have to take into account people who have no insurance and

Troop rally New thinking from Gulf War

OR US, Larry Reed, a Canton Vietnam veteran, best summed up the in of a rally held for the troops in the Gulf. "I spent two years in Vietnam and no one sent me anything. The first thing that I remember on returning from Vietnam is the protesters and that says it all. It wasn't that they were protesting the war. They were protesting (U.S. troops)," he said. "I think it's important that everyone show, even if they are against the war, that they support the troops.

To us, Reed summed up a new way of looking at military involvement. Separate the politics of making war from the human factor; make it OK to be against the Gulf War, but at the same time show your concern for your fellow countrymen and women in the service.

That new thinking is perplexing for the media which seems to want a new Vietnam War where they can show clashes on the street on the evening news, and blood thirsty generals, with details at 11. It makes for good television drama.

The new thinking is part of our Vietnam legacy. And it may be one of the few good things to come out of that war. Vietnam turned our country into two camps with a no man's land in the middle. You were either for the war or against it. There wasn't much room in the middle to oppose the war, but yet support the men and women who

To us rallies like the one held last weekend in Canton give people the middle ground back. They give people a chance to express their concern for humanity without being branded a hawk or a

We just hope that new thinking survives the test of a ground war in the Gulf.

HE POSSIBLE departure of Gordon Jaeger from his job as Plymouth's city manager should serve as an early warning to residents there are some problems to be faced by the city.

Jaeger says he will be around through May 1, at the very least. But whatever the date, Plymouth will have to face replacing him. That'll be a tough task. Jaeger has done a good job.

That's why we value his comments. They serve as a barometer as to what's going on in Plymouth, and from what he's said, we expect some stormy weather.

Jaeger recently said the city commission has tended to put off making decisions and spent too much time dealing with past matters pertaining to former city manager Henry Graper.

We agree. Graper stuck the city with the tab for a number of lunches. He's agreed to pay the city back. That should settle it. Jaeger is saying get on with it.

Jaeger was an attractive candidate because of his experience with merging services in the Battle Creek area. We think that should be a priority in Plymouth. The city is just too small to survive on its own without looking to sharing services with Plymouth Township. Oh, the city could survive, but the price tag would be much higher than all of Graper's lunches.

We hope the commission and public listen to Jaeger and watch what he's doing. It's a valuable service and a look at what could happen in

Not real School choice offers no hope

CHOOLS OF CHOICE could improve public education - if the concept was based somewhere in reality.

But it's not and taxpayers should be wary of politicians bearing the gift which they claim schools of choice to be

Unfortunately, too many schools of choice supporters believe that the strength of the concept is based on the competitive model.

Erasing public school attendance boundaries, they say, will allow parents to choose "good" schools for their youngsters, while forcing "bad" ones to make changes.

While that sounds good on its face, the reality is that the so-called "bad" schools have no way to make a comeback, no way to raise the funds necessary to operate in a classical American competitive marketplace.

"Bad" schools would simply fail and the "good" schools would soon be overcrowded, overburdened and simply not as good.

Reality also dictates that the temptation for some high school coaches would be just too much to resist. Recruiting students for their athletic prowess could become an epidemic which would be difficult to eradicate.

PRACTICE ALSO suggests that parents will could only benefit a few students. make choices on factors other than quality, putting perfectly fine facilities at risk of being withdrawn from the educational loop.

The reality is that the so-called 'bad' schools have no way to make a comeback, no way to raise the funds necessary to operate in a classical American competitive marketplace.

A preliminary study from Minnesota - a leader among schools of choice states - indicates choice is based more on convenience than academics. The study indicated many parents based their choice more on nearness to their workplace - or babysitter - than on school programs.

Nonetheless, there's nothing sacred about attendance boundaries. There's also no reason why area school districts can't work together - as well as with nearby colleges and universities to offer challenging new educational programs.

Already, Oakland County is drafting plans for a regional high school for math and science.

While that approach holds some promise, it

Instead of creating new schools, we'd much prefer programs that make better use of resources already at hand.

Fresh look Legislators must earn raises

E'RE GLAD Michigan's legislators listened to the people who put them in Lansing and overwhelmingly rejected their proposed pay raises.

That's one less conflict to interest the public at a time when the state's budget seemingly is in an irreversible tailspin.

When the raises first were proposed, we suggested here that members of the state Senate and House can have them, provided they earn them - performance equals percentage increase. Legislators now have a year before their merit

Unlike others, who have poured over the remnants of Jim Blanchard's administration looking for clues on how to proceed, we think it's better to go into this with a fresh approach. Engler is in; his overall mandate is lower property taxes without further sullying an already pathetic problem throughout the state's school districts.

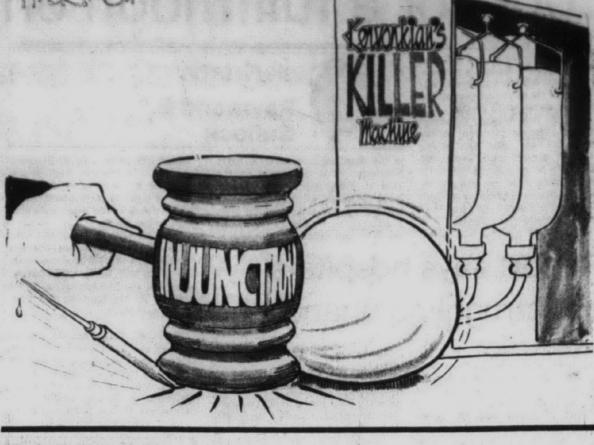

SPECIFICALLY, ENGLER'S CURRENT increase.

proposals gut the state's welfare system with a planned 17 percent decrease, beginning Feb. 23. Day care licensing also is within Engler's rifle scope, which would adversely affect almost a quarter million children.

And how many prisons are enough? Who will staff them? Is the National Guard really going to pace the catwalks in the place of out-of-work prison guards?

If Engler is really serious about saving, let him closely examine the millions wasted on a bloated state police bureaucracy and a National Guard system which is simply a waste of money

These are not easy problems, nor is this list all-inclusive. But doing a good job fixing any of the above would give legislators something to point to next time raises roll around. Perhaps if concrete fixes are made, and legislators propose raises more closely aligned with the cost of living instead of wishful thinking, they'll earn an

Educators must think of all our kids' needs

WITHIN THE LAST two weeks, we have witnessed defeated attempts to hike school taxes in two of our communities which traditionally support their schools' requests for Both saw organized opposition spring from unlikely sources as they attempted to make up revenues lost when the state reallocated funds to needier districts.

Within the West Bloomfield area, the Orchard Lake City Council went on record against the proposed tax increase. In the Farmingtons, Richard Headlee, whose insurance company is one of Farmington Hills' largest taxpayers, waged an all-out campaign against both tax hikes.

It is unfortunate to see one political body come out against another. It is also unfortunate to see one wealthy businessman have more clout than one vote in an election.

BUT IT IS also true that to some degree, educators who preside over wealthy schools have defeat coming. Their view of education extends only to the borders of their district. In a field that should be rampant with

Now that they too are hurting, perhaps they will see that many children in this state have never had the programs they say they are forced to

But these days, schools aren't only in the business of teaching. With the breakdown of the family, they are also into counseling — for substance abuse, parental neglect, teen pregnancy. state aid for the poorer districts, just don't take away from us. That just doesn't make it any more.

What we need is a united effort of unselfish educators and school boards to apply their very creative minds to the issue

It is not only a question of dollars, but it is also a question of new approaches.

One example of a creative solution is the proposal for an Oakland County high school for math and science, It would draw students from districts across the county - a la Cass Tech in Detroit or Bronx Science in New York.

But Bloomfield Hills Superintendent W. Robert Docking, whose opinion I normally respect, said: "I don't think it will offer things our kids can't get now.

Is Mettetal worth it?

One citizen's thoughts about some of the issues in the newsletter recently mailed to Canton residents about township government, the Community Foundation, and other matters (and which states it was paid for by the Tom Yack Campaign Fund):

Most Cantonites, I believe, are relieved to have less turmoil in local government, and are pleased with the efforts and achievements of the current administration, board of trustees and others.

Neither supporters nor opponents of Mettetal Airport have presented arguments compelling enough to eliminate good faith disagreement among reasonable people. The extent of the controversy, though, exceeds the importance of the issue. Is the airport so valuable to Plymouth as to justify the presumptuous involvement in a matter which common sense says should be decided by Canton's elected representatives? Whatever happens with the airport, in my opinion, is not as significant as the harm to intergovernmental relations in the broader community of which we are all a part.

Similarly objectionable is the newsletter's suggestion that the next judge for the 35th District Court should be from Canton. The court is not a legislative or representative body. There are, certainly, qualified potential candidates in all the communities served by the court, including Canton. But judges, above all, should be impartial. A candidate's 'hometown" is simply not relevant. The principal criteria for selecting a judge should be his or her character, judgment and temperament. Other factors include the nature and extent of previous relevant legal experience, and other attorneys' regard for the candidate. Undue emphasis should not be placed on geography or gender, nor on previous political activities, affiliations or positions held.

Vorva called a 'blowhard'

To the editor:

When Jerry Vorva, "The Great Grandstander," sticks his foot in his mouth, it's always refreshing to see his attorney, Carol Levitte, come to the rescue. Does she part his hair, too? It's about time someone caught on to his "act" and I'm glad The Observer nailed him for it. In the Plymouth City Commission meetings he's always "kissing up" to the audience and I, for one, think he's a "blowhard." Maybe he should think first before speaking, or that's probably too much to ask.

She does appropriations subcommittee work for state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, but he loaned her services to Gov. John Engler during the transition from the outgo-ing Blanchard administration.

"We put in 15-hour days, seven days a week," Marshall said of the

Anne Mervenne, a former aide to state Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, now works for Engler and provided the numbers: Engler had 1,000 jobs to fill, several hundred of them posts that James Blanchard didn't fill in his final year in office.

USUALLY IT takes a couple of years to get hold of the bureaucracy because seats on boards have staggered terms. Engler has been able to put his stamp on state government more in a month than most governors can do in a couple of years. One reason is that Blanchard was typically slow to fill vacancies. And in 1990 Blanchard let a lot of the Tim work slide because Engler, in con-trol of the Senate, would have been able to make political mincemeat at will. Blanchard wanted to wait until he was re-elected to a third term to make the appointments.

Richard

"I'm grateful for the opportunities he left for me," Engler said, chuckling in an understatement. "In the future, all boards will be named on a timely basis."

BLANCHARD'S AGRICULTURE director bailed out when Engler nearly replaced that body. The new commission picked former congress-man Bill Schuette, the 1990 U.S. Senate candidate. Ditto at Natural Re-

Engler made four new appointments of six seats on the Transportation Commission. The governor, rather than the panel, appoints the department director, but it would have made no difference. Engler's choice, Patrick Nowak, is in.

That was why the Marshalls, the Mervennes and Engler's inner circle were working 106-hour weeks.

ENGLER HIMSELF personally knows more Michiganians than any human being I've met.

The former farm boy, despite some middle-aged pudginess, has a nearly inexhaustible supply of ener-gy. He was the only prominent Republican to show up at Bill Lucas' 1983 inaugural as Wayne County ex-ecutive, he spent part of a holiday in Mother Waddles' soup kitchen, he would call Democratic Wayne County officials from his car phone and inquire about their problems.

After consulting hundreds of GOP leaders, Engler virtually dictated the 1990 ticket, and did it so skillfully that there wasn't a mutter of protest at the state convention.

So filling 1,000 jobs in two months decades of practice in appointing re-gional university boards. Governors try to pick alumni of the university. I asked him why.

"I suppose I was conscious of it by not being conscious of it," Engler re-plied. "I chose to go for the best talent available. I thought the condition of many university boards was such that there be prompt appointments of superbly qualified individuals. Many are people I've known or been aware of over the years."

So Engler tapped University of Detroit graduate L. Brooks Patterson for the Oakland University board; IBM vice president Robin Sternbergh of Bloomfield Hills, a graduate of Pomona College and the Harvard business school, for the Eastern Michigan board; developer Bob DeMattia of Northville, another U-D alum, for Eastern; and so on.

Whether you care for his budget priorities or not, this guy Engler is a workhorse.

Be mine for V Day, but safely!

IF LOVE MEANS never having to say you're sorry, then this could be the safest Valentine's Day on record.

It could be, that is, if what seems to be the latest trend catches on. Then again, maybe it will just be one of the strangest ones. Who knows?

In the first place, February is Na-tional Heart Month (that has nothing to do with the hearts and flowers and candy - usually associated with Feb. 14). So if you really care for your lover, you won't give her (or him) chocolates. Bad for the cholesterol level, which is bad for the

That information comes from a news release sent out by the Shaklee Corporation, the vitamin people, who are pushing something called Heart Plan, a fruit-flavored drink that the company claims contains five grams of soluble fiber per serving, the same amount you'd get by eating six apples or 31/2 bowls of oat-

If you're concerned about your valentine's health, forget the chocolates. Give her a glass of fruit-flavored fiber.

AND WHILE we're on the subject of press releases, the folks at Fanny Farmer sent one out reminding us that chocolate is still the gift of choice on V day and that that company gets started in the middle of November to produce more than 100 tons of chocolates (which contain 70,000 pounds of sugar and 25,000 pounds of nut meats) to meet the de-

Speaking of sweets, the chairman of the American Sugar Alliance joined the press-release corps to say that Valentine's Day is a fitting time to give thanks to the farmers who produce all that sugar.

She points out that, thanks to the sugar-producers who generate a total of $18.5 billion in wages and revenues annually, the average American pays less for a pound of sugar than does his counterpart in 14 other leading world capitals. And that, according to the release, is "the Valentine gift our farmers give us."

The Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Michigan-Oakland County, who hosted Gov. John Engler during his campaign, and provided him a forum to express his policy on mental health, now has second thoughts.

In August 1990, then Senator Engler spoke about the "troubled mental health system." He was critical of the Department of Mental Health for "treating ordinary stresses, anxiety, marital difficulties, and the worried well, instead of focusing on the primary job of treating the seriously mentally ill." He was also concerned that there is no rational formula for distributing funds to the counties, which are simply based on what they got the previous year and not on their actual needs.

We distributed his speech to our state membership of several thousand, simply because we felt he was sensitive to the plight of the mental-

We feel the 9.2 percent cuts of $534 million, already voted on, plus the Executive Order of $450 million, due to the recession, then the $300 million, resulting from the 20 percent property tax cuts promised in the campaign will cripple the department. To close four children's facilities, and two mental hospitals, including Lafayette Clinic, the only research facility in Michigan, is unconscionable.

There are not enough programs or housing in the communities in exis-

Day rolls right along

By Julie Brown staff writer

OME BOWLERS may have more enthusiasm than ability, but they weren't discouraged in the least Saturday at Plaza Lanes.

A "Bowlathon for Charity" was held at Plaza Lanes in Plymouth Township. The event was sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post No. 6695, Veterans of Foreign Wars, with the help of post members.

"You can bowl 90, you can bowl 60, you can bowl 200," said Alice Fisher, chairwoman for the fundraising event. Many excellent bowlers sign up each year, but those whose averages are a bit below average also participate with pride.

Proceeds from the Saturday event will support Special Olympics and the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Special Olympics provides people who are mentally retarded with opportunities for athletic achievement and participation. The Make-A-Wish Foundation works to grant the wishes of terminally ill children.

VFW AUXILIARY and post members do a great deal to help veterans, but they also like to help others.

"I think that we want to give back to the community some of the things they give to us," said Fisher, a. Westland resident who lived in Plymouth for many years. "We alStaff photos by Bill Bresler

"So we've done well, I think." Organizers raised money to help the homeless one year, and Fisher would like to do that again.

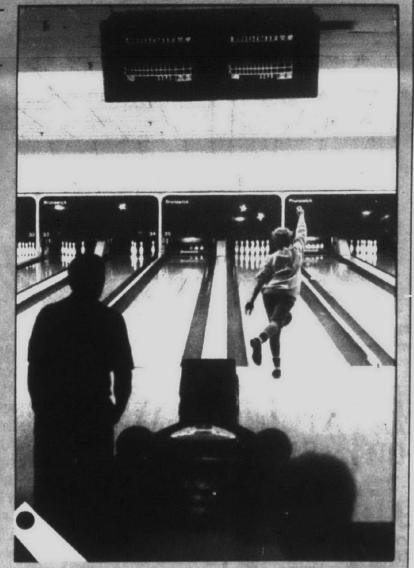

Saturday, about 35 bowlers came to Plaza Lanes to do their best for the cause. The bowlers had worked in advance to find sponsors.

The Plaza Lanes owner has donated the cost of using the lanes for a number of years, and that's a tremendous help, Fisher said. She's bowled during the "Bowlathon for Charity" in previous years, but wasn't able to do so Saturday. She fell and broke her wrist and is still recovering.

Awards given in recognition of commitment

In his work, Richard Myers, Plymouth's police chief, sees many people with drug and alcohol abuse problems. He also meets some people who don't believe substance abuse affects the Plymouth-Canton community.

"We do suffer from what I call the ostrich syndrome," Myers said. "We have a social problem that needs to be addressed, substance abuse."

Myers knows that sources of help are available close to home. When he hears from parents of children who are having trouble at home and in school, he asks, "Have you called Growth Works?"

The agency has been providing help for Plymouth-Canton families for a number of years. Its third annual recognition/awards dinner was the evening of Thursday, Feb. 7, at the Plymouth Manor.

MYERS WAS among the honorees. He received the Eugene Stermer Memorial Award for Community Service.

"Basically all I'm doing is what the city is paying me to do," Myers told those at the dinner.

He knew the late Clarence Du-Charme, who received the award last year for his community involvement. Myers said his own contributions don't come close to Du-Charme's or to those of the late Rev. Kenneth McKinnon, the first recipi-

Duke Morrow, a Growth Works board member, presented the award to Myers. He praised the police chief for his work as chairman of the Plymouth-Canton Substance Abuse Task Force and other efforts to fight

"He's been enthusiastic and involved," Morrow said.

SEVERAL OTHER awards were given. Five Growth Works volunteers, who together have contributed more than 31 years of service, were mong the honorees.

Volunteers work as mentors in the agency's Youth Assistance program, an intervention program for first-time juvenile offenders. Brenda Fisher, Ralph Richardson, Judi Hinote, Roger Reisdorf and Chris Falco were honored for their contributions.

Deb Trapp, who runs the in-school aftercare program for Plymouth-Canton students, was honored for her work. That program is based at Plymouth Salem High School.

"Its strength really is due to the person who's been so instrumental to its success," said Stephen Harper, Growth Works board president. "Her activism, her commitment cannot be found in a job description."

TRAPP HAS HELPED get many young people into treatment for substance abuse, Harper said.

David Gill Logan, consulting psychiatrist for chemical dependency programs at Growth Works, was honored that evening. Logan has also been instrumental in starting a lot of families on the path to recovery, said Scott Levely, the agency's director of chemical dependency programs.

"We are truly fortunate to have David who is such an ally and friend," Levely said.

A slide show was included on the evening's agenda. Guests were able to see how the agency has changed with the times.

Growth Works serves adolescents and their families, providing chemical dependency treatment, counseling, employment assistance and other programs. It receives money from the Plymouth Community United Way, the United Way of Southeastern Michigan and others in the community.

THE AGENCY began in the early 1970s as Plymouth Youth Inc.

"Some of you know us recently, but don't know how we began," said Dale Yagiela, Growth Works director, who was the agency's first employee.

The agency opened its doors at 271 S. Main in Plymouth in 1971. The building housed a couple of old pool tables and minimal furniture.

The primary focus at that time was on operating a drop-in recreational facility for local teenagers, Yagiela said. As time went on, the focus changed.

In the late 1970s, an alternative school program began. That Learning Options program continued through the late 1980s and helped young people with problems return to a regular school environment and find success there.

Yagiela discussed the growing pains and successes the agency has experienced through the years. He praised those who have taken the time to support Growth Works, including board members, volunteers and others.

"At times, it has been quite difficult and quite painful, but it's also been a joyous time," Yagiela said. "I don't think that Growth Works could exist in any other community."

Valentine

Party offers fun for Canton youngsters

Some Canton youngsters missed their favorite Saturday morning cartoons this past weekend, but they didn't mind a bit.

About 75 children ages 3-12 came to the Canton Recreation Center Saturday for the annual Valentine party sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation.

"The kids really enjoy it," said Bob Dates, recreation supervisor for Canton Township. "It's something different. It gets them out of the house. They're not sitting in front of the television."

Jason Lenahan took home this party favor from the gettogether at the Canton Recreation Center. Many parents came along for the fun Saturday.

fun Saturday.

"They really like bringing their children to these parties." Parks and recreation staffers, including college students who work part time, also find that the time spent at the gettogethers is fun.

CANTON PARKS and Recreation sponsors parties for kids at Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Two parties are scheduled for each Christmas and Halloween, to accommodate all those who are interested. Parties are offered free of charge.

"It's been very successful," said Dates, a Canton resident. "They're kind of unique. Not too many communities have these holiday parties." The parties have been held for a number of years, and Dates hears from older students who still remember the fun they had at the gatherings. The Christmas celebrations, which include a visit by Santa Claus, are among the most popular.

Saturday morning's Valentine party featured a fun-filled magic show presented by Ding-Dong the Clown. It was his first time performing at one of the parties.

"He came very highly recommended," Dates said. Some of the youngsters helped Ding-Dong with his magic tricks, earning rounds of applause from the audience for their efforts.

The Valentine party included for chi games and drawings for door prizes.

Children and their parents watched a short Disney film and had a snack A Canton.

The idea started with the Saturday Morning Brunch Bunch, a Presbyterian Women group at the church. Members wanted to show their concern about the outbreak of war.

In addition to adults at the church, Sunday school students and high school choir members wrote individual prayers, Seese said.

Those at the church wanted to show their concern and support for U.S. troops. They wanted to pray for peace, but not to offend those with loved ones in the Middle East.

"I think that's a real concern. We discussed that very carefully before we made this decision. I don't think we would have done this if we didn't

The day was a fun one for the bowlers, but they were also thinking about the Operation Desert Storm troops in the Middle East. They've been showing their support for the allied forces, displaying the American flag and selling flag pins and ribbons.

Canton's ecumenical worship service was Sunday, Feb. 10, at Faith Community Moravian Church.

"My sense is that we are called to be one," said Myers, pastor of the church in Canton. "It's easy for peoole to be diverse and be separate. The biblical call is to be one."

Canton churches have been holdng an ecumenical worship service each year for the past six years.

Pastors in the Canton Clergy Association decided a few years ago that it would be a good idea to have such a service, Myers said.

THIS YEAR'S participants included: Faith Community Moravian Church; St. John Neumann Catholic Church; Resurrection Catholic Church; St. Michael Lutheran Church; Geneva Presbyterian Church; Cherry Hill United Methodist Church; and Christ Community

"The purpose of this service is to emphasize our similarities rather than our differences," Myers said.

Pastors from the different congregations had leadership roles in the service. Instrumentalists and a combined choir performed that evening. An offering was taken to support the Salvation Army's work.

Communion hasn't been a part of the ecumenical service, due to certices related to communion, Myers

Myers has a dream; he'd like to see area churches unite behind a project, perhaps something for the community's young people. Churches work together to a certain extent in supporting the Salvation Army's efforts, but he'd like to see even more

Pastors from Canton meet on a regular basis, but it's less common for laypeople to gather, he said.
"I think it gives them an opportu-

Playing the blame game hardens our hearts

Already, even while we listen to the briefings, watch the meetings of Scuds and Patriots, and debate the morality of it all, burials are taking place. Medical personnel are called to practice their craft and the tears of loved ones are mixed with the cries of the wounded.

But not all of the casualties of war are to be found in surgical suites or cemeteries. Not all of the tragedy can be numbered among the wounded, the dying or the dead. Not all of the victims are to be found on the desert sands of the Middle East. Even those who watch from afar are at risk and those peo-

Perhaps our limbs may not be at risk. But our hearts may well be.

It is terribly difficult in times such as these not to be pulled into the blame game. We argue about who is right and who is wrong. Such game has no winners. All who play it are at risk of having their hearts hardened in judgment or perhaps frozen in fear.

WHEN THE atom was first split, Albert Einstein offered a wise and challenging statement. He warned that unless we learned to think in an entirely different way, the human species and indeed the planet that supports life could not surgangland bloodbaths and international wars. Conflict resolution studies continue to show that the good guy, bad guy approach simply does not work.

Win/lose scenarios have a way of moving into lose/lose situations. History would seem to indicate that hardly a war has been fought that did not sow the seeds for the next one. But the old thinking continues and children continue to die in wars that were spawned by the ones in which their great-grandfathers fought - as a way of ending all

The old way of thinking asks all the wrong questions, or at least the useless ones. In debating who is right and who is wrong, we leave neither the time nor the energy to ask the right questions, the kind of questions that will make violent response to conflict obsolete for ev-

WE SPEAK of a new world order. As we look out our window to the Middle East, to Central America, to South Africa, to Northern Ireland, to the homeless in front of us, the need for a new world order is more than apparent. But is it realistic to hope for a new world order without a new world kind of thinking?

Despite the debates and the confusion we do all have something in common. We all hurt in one way or

Those of us who have loved ones in the Persian Gulf would like nothing better than to put our arms around them and do it right now. Those of us who are raising young children see the fear and confusion in their faces and our own hearts drop another notch.

LONG BEFORE Einstein uttered his wisdom concerning new think-ing, Jesus suggested that new wine would not do well in old wineskins.

Perhaps if we want a new world order we need to fashion a new world way of thinking - a thinking that is willing to let go of blame long enough that together we can ask the kind of questions and do the kind of mutual reflecting that will make peace more than a dream.

The only alternative is that we all become casualties in one way or

Attention to customers, not flash or gimmicks, counts, sales whiz says

By Doug Funke staff writer

Harold Shepherd knows Audis — or at least how to

Shepherd, who works at Bill Cook Imported Cars in Farmington Hills, moved more new Audis - 108 last model year than any other salesman in the United

When you toss in the Volkswagens, Porsches and Lotuses, his sales number jumped to 166. That averages to more than one sale every other workday in a highly competitive field.

"Sales people are driven by competition and ego," Shepherd said. "I feel good for my own personal accolades and good for the dealership.

Shepherd has worked in the auto retail business 28 years. He started out dusting bins in a parts department and variously has served as a parts manager, sales manager and general manager. He's found a niche the past seven years as a salesman at Cook.

"The only pressure I have I put on myself," Shepherd said. "When you're in management, no matter how things are going for you, pressure is always on you to get others to perform.

"I think peace of mind, and the fact I control my own destiny is most stimulating about sales. And the opportunity to meet people on a one-on-one basis and different people every day."

REPEAT BUSINESS and referrals are the bread and butter of new car sales, Shepherd said. He also volunteered that sales people, himself included, don't operate in a vacuum but are part of a team.

"Last year, 43 percent of my business was repeat customers," he said. "As much as I like to give myself credit, I think you have to give credit to the service and parts departments for that. You do what it takes to preserve the customer. There's a lot of dynamics to

Taking the time to do a good selling job with anyone who walks through the door is Shepherd's standard

"It's important for me to realize this isn't an everyday experience. I have to make it pleasant, informative, fulfilling without being dull or disinterested in his

"I DO 110 percent with people I talk to," Shepherd said. "The nature of the business is people tend to shortcut. I never do that. I never try to qualify if a guy is or isn't a buyer. I always keep selling

"I give the customer as much information and time to buy the car as he will allow me to do. One of the biggest problems in this business is the customer doesn't give you enough time. He's in a hurry.

"The difference in sales people a lot of times is persuasive ability to slow the customer down and get the opportunity to make a proper presentation. When you can do that and are willing to do that, you can make a sale." he said.

Audi buyers tend to be upscale and inner-directed, Shepherd observed. They probably own a domestic model or recently owned one but have developed higher expectations about the entire car experience from performance to dealing with a dealership, he said.

SELLING AN Audi customer is no different than any other, Shepherd said. But his mettle was tested a couple of years ago when allegations surfaced of unintended acceleration problems.

You just kept doing the best you could," Shepherd said. "Fortunately, we had a lot of loyal Audi customers who figured (media) accounts were incorrect. The car was totally vindicated by the government.

Tenacity apparently pays off. Shepherd said he generally works 50-55 hours per week, 50 weeks a year. He doesn't go to lunch or dinner.

"I think you have to have a certain degree of mental sharpness and be ready to work every day," he said. "I might not always be here at 9 every morning, but when I do get here, I'm ready to work."

Indiscriminate cuts can cripple in long run during streamlining

Streamlining, rebuilding, resizing,

right-sizing, demassing, downsizing. During recent years, American business has applied many names to reorganizations in the face of global competitive pressures. But the reality of lost jobs continues, especially for white-collar workers and managers belonging to unwieldy and unproductive corporate structures.

Now, besides continuing to cushion the blow for those let go, companies are looking to the welfare of "survivors" and the lessons learned in downsizing - expected to be a permanent fixture in the business scene.

Professor Kim S. Cameron of the University of Michigan has gleaned some of these lessons from a threeyear study of 30 auto industry downsizings, an initial cost-cutting strate-

But the initial downsizing rounds have not all been successful, Cameron said. "The way most companies downsize, it generally hurts them," Cameron said. "Every single firm in hurts the survivors."

Many companies that reduce headcounts, don't redesign work, he said. As a result, survivors may lack necessary skills, or experience, or knowledge to get the job done. In addition, survivors often experience an odd mixture of envy and guilt. While initially guilty for keeping their jobs, survivors often become envious of the buyout or severance as well as retraining or placement programs given those let go. Extra work and salary freezes may add to the envy, Cameron said.

But perhaps most important is that companies often lose their best

Tax effect impacts investments

If you think you're paying Uncle Sam too much of what you make on your investments, you may want to take a closer look at tax-free and tax-deferred investments. Just remember that tax treatment is only one factor to consider when developing an investment strategy, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

 Municipal bonds offer investors a way to earn tax-free interest income. Issued by state and local governments, municipal bonds help raise money to build schools, roads and other projects. In the last few years, the municipal bond market has become a more complicated place for investors. In the past, all municipal bonds were exempt from federal tax, but changes in the tax law created three different tax treatments of municipal bonds. The interest you earn on the traditional obligations of state and local governments remains tax free.

And in most states, if the bonds are from your home state, you generally escape state and local taxes too. But certain bonds issued for private purposes, such as industrial development, now generate interest that can be subject to the alternative minimum tax. Still other bonds, including those issued to finance sports stadiums and convention facilities, no longer qualify for any federal tax exemption

To determine if municipal bonds are the right type of investment for you, compare the return you can collect from a tax-exempt investment to the return you would get from a taxed investment. You should also weigh the security and term of the bond under consideration. Keep in mind that if you need to sell a municipal bond before its maturity, you must report your capital gain or loss on your tax return. What's more, you cannot deduct investment expenses associated with tax-exempt invest-

'Pottie people' push Chrysler into facing problem

A friend of mine used to require two subscriptions to Time magazine, since he could only read about half-way through an issue before he came on an article that made him so angry that he would tear the magazine into pieces. Then he needed the second copy to finish the issue.

He had nothing on Chairman Lee, who reacted in like manner to a recent article in Consumer Reports that called the most popular auto-matic transmission installed in the Chrysler minivan a "lemon" and warned readers to stay away from

To his credit, the primary reaction to the offensive criticism was to launch a comprehensive program to go back to the million or so customers who bought Chrysler products with the new transmission, starting in 1989, and offer to inspect, repair, replace and reimburse those who have had problems.

The transmission in question is one of those low-profile, but innovative designs that caused some ripples in engineering circles when it was introduced in the 1989 model year for several lines of Chrysler products. Called the A604 transaxle, it uses electronics to replace several expensive mechanical hydraulic sysms common in most automatics.

Unfortunately, the early production runs were plagued with a defect that began to show up shortly after it hit the market. Chrysler's decision at the time, which is pretty much what most domestic auto companies do as a matter of course, was to plod ahead with a so-called "running change" in the design, while attempting through its warranty system to sooth complaints about those

It's worth noting that a brand-new automatic transmission design is one of the trickier things to pull off in the multimillion-unit volumes demanded by the auto industry. Volkswagen, and particularly GM, are among the companies that have had their hands full for years with problems stemming from a transaxle launch. In the case of VW, much of this was in Europe, where U.S. customers didn't see it, but GM owes a good deal of its lingering reputation for poor quality, only begining to turn around today, to problems with transaxles it suffered in the early

The point being that, contrary to Chrysler President Bob Lutz' statement that "this thing is being blown all out of proportion," the mechanical problems faced with the A604 transmission launch were in all likelihood the most extensive and most costly mechanical problem Chrysler But all that is in the past, not af-fecting current models, according to Chrysler officials who never really acknowleged the extent of the prob-lem to begin with. Meanwhile, Consumer Reports finally got around to compiling its complaints about the transmission and discovered that, ined, there were quite a few.

lacocca's immediate reaction was to call Consumer Reports the magazine of the "pottie people and showerhead people," as a way of at-tacking the credibility of a magazine that has been one of the strongest editorial supporters of the minivan and some other Chrysler products for

Curiously, he also sent around copies of two so-called "buff maga-zines" to dealers, to show what the 'experts" are saying, without noting that one of the magazines he likes is proud to do no instrumented testing, while the other compiles no regular data about consumer complaints. data about consus See no evil and hear no evil.

Frankly, I think Chrysler blew the chance to do a self-initiated Japanese-style recall that would have created a whole new image of concern for the company, bailing at least something positive out of an expensive warranty problem.

In fact, it appears that is what Chrysler is finally doing now. But it also appears that it wasn't a decision initiated by top management. We have the showerhead and pottie people at Consumer Reports to thank

Cameron found that the most effective companies had an information system for both those who lost their jobs and the survivors. Successful firms also committed to "trimming the fat" as a clear objective aimed at improving productivity and enhancing competitiveness - a combination of short-term and longterm approaches.

No clear-cut solution exists to prevent the loss of the best employees during downsizing, especially as most companies are still opting for 'Many of these people will own businesses and add vigor to the economy," said William J. Rauwerdink, who has worked on local downsizings at Deloitte and Touche. "The smaller, entrepreneurial companies are quicker in their feet."

OVER THE LAST year and a half, ITT in Auburn Hills, producers of steel and plastic tubular products for fuel and brake systems, has consolidated and streamlined administration and research and development for Higbie Manufacturing and Baylock Manufacturing companies.

The new unit has seen sales increase 15 percent in the past two years to $153 million annual sales, said ITT Higbie Baylock president Ralph A. Iorio. While decreasing accounting and

"Downsizing just for the sake of downsizing can get you in trouble," Iorio said. "You have to downsize without bypassing the basic functions that are being performed."

"The days of promoting just for hard work without technological; knowledge may be gone," Iorio said.

Start out small with business from home

By Mary DiPaolo special writer

Successfully running a homebased business can represent the best of both worlds for those who are interested in earning extra income while raising a family. According to Cheri Fuller, author of "Ways for Moms to Make Money at Home," veteran home workers share a common awareness of the steps involved to convert a business vision into re-

Beyond identifying and learning as much as possible about the type of business being considered, Fuller points out that it's important to be realistic about the financial ramifications of starting and managin home business. Contrary to popular assumption, it is possible to begin almost any business without overextending yoursef financially.

The key is to start small and allow each small success to be used in building up the business over time. For example, if your long-term goal is to offer specialty baked goods for sale and distribution, that doesn't mean you should buy a new double oven and immediately begin producing eveything that there is to

The same principle holds true when attempting to let people know about a new venture. Rather than spending large sums on paid advertising, remember that word of mouth advertising is free and can be used in conjunction with fliers, postcards and other methods of introducing current and potential customers to your business at a minimum cost.

Time management is another issue that requires planning in advance. For the at-home parent of infants and preschoolers, Fuller reminds that the time available to work on a home business may be limited to an hour or two during the day. Rose Marsh, mother of three and owner of Four Corners, a Northville wooden craft manufacturer, realizes there are some tasks that she must put off because of the time required to accomplish them.

As one of its songs proclaims, "Nunsense" is indeed habit forming, for it is every bit as joyously funny the third time I viewed it as the previous times. The current production at the Birmingham Theatre is still a happy mix of outrageous puns, spirited tunes and appealing performances that add up to divine fun.

Only the flimsiest of plots surrounds Dan Goggin's wonderful music and lyrics. When 52 nuns of their order succumb to botulism (from a new soup recipe by Sister Julia, Child of God), the Little Sisters of Hoboken (also know as the "Little Hobos") have only enough money to bury 48.

Thus they stage a talent show in the auditorium of their Mt. Saint Helen's School to "clean out the freezer" and defrost the remaining four "blue nuns."

The nuns frequently circulate among the audience, harassing latecomers, admonishing people to sit up straight, administering a quiz on a "lesson" and generally re-creating a parochial school atmosphere with good-natured humor. One nun, clearly an astute judge of character, warned my companion, "I'm watching you. You look like a trouble-maker!

BECAUSE THE role was literally written for her by author Goggin, Marilyn Farina is the consumate Sister Mary Cardelia, the Performances of the Bir- Mother Superior who constantly admonishes her frivolous subordinates to maintain proper decorum but loves to kick up her own heels. Despite the innate haughtiness that goes with her title, Mother Superior is no shrinking violet when she belts out "Turn Up the Spotlight" and "Just a Couple of Sisters" and joins the chorus of several other rousing numbers.

Farina is at her most hilarious when she achieves a sexual high after curiously sniffing at a bottle of "Rush" discovered in the girls' locker room. "Must be something for people in a hurry,' she quips.

Alvaeta Guess is delightful as the impertinent Sister Mary Hubert, the trainer of novitiates and 'number two" nun who always tries harder to usurp Mother Superior's authority. With her mischevious eyes and saucy delivery, Guess is a guaranteed scene-stealer, not an easy feat among this talented company. Her powerful voice adds luster to "The Biggest Ain't the Best," "Just a Couple of Sisters" and the hand-clapping gospel "Holier Than Thou.'

Lin Tucci is very funny as Sister Robert Anne, the street-wise nun from Brooklyn with an expressive face and tough demeanor. Her frustrated theatrical ambitions are powerfully rendered in "Playing Second Fiddle" and "I Just Want to Be a Star," and then her voice surprisingly softens for the ballad "Growing up Catholic."

By Stewart Francke special writer

O AMAR HAS PERFORMED for nearly 40 years in the Middle East, Europe and America, and today his music has a revived relevance.

Given the current global fascination with the region Amar comes from - he is a native of Morocco and a part-time resident of Israel the 60-year-old singer represents more than being the world's seminal performer of Sephardic music and traditional Levantine liturgical

Amar has made more than 50 recordings, with many of his songs be-coming standards in the continuum of Middle Eastern music.

"To tell you the truth," Amar told the Observer & Eccentric from his United States residence in Brooklyn, "if you can hold your level of popularity, which I have for 30 years, people will listen to anything you can say. I just came home for a concert in San Francisco. When they asked me to talk about Israel, I just looked at the people listening, really listening. It wasn't just another singer bringing his songs."

RORN IN Settat, North Morocco Amar was one of 10 children raised in a traditional Oriental Sephardic home. He began singing in cantorial competitions at 14, yet never considered music to be a career.

He spent several years as a religious instructor in small Moroccan towns before moving his family to teach. At the same time, he began singing at local concerts and writing songs — usually his own musical arrangements with words from the Tanach, as well as strident, socially relevant new compositions.

"I was hurt when I first came to Israel," Amar says. "The Sephardim had very little to listen to. The Ashkenazi looked at the Sephardim at a low level at the time. They were only given the dirty jobs to do. Now, the gap is gone. It (Sephardic music) is very popular."

Mid-'60s tensions in Israel between the Sephardim - Jews with origins in Spain and Portugal who eventually migrated to Morocco, Algiers and Turkey via Amsterdam and the Ashkenazi - descendants of the Jews who settled largely in Europe following the disapora - were exacerbated by extreme unemployment and recession. Amar began addressing these conditions in songs of realism. "The Employment Office," an original song of Amar's, became something of an anthem to the jobless Sephardim.

Amar's popularity quickly grew, and as a result, he quit teaching to sing full time. Amar's pluralistic melange of religious and popular material earned him a reputation as a singer of the poor and oppressed. "I asked the chief rabbi once," Amar recalls, laughing, 'Can we do this (combine religious lyrics and popular melodies)?' He said 'Yes, just YET AMAR SAYS that he never lets anyone discuss religion with him. "It's between me and God. You do what you want, I do what I want. My level of religion is mine and mine only." mine only."

After Amar's American debut at Carnegie Hall in 1965, he found himself performing here so often that he moved his family here. Yet he still belonged to the world. He continued to perform on six continents in seven languages, popularizing Sephardic music worldwide.

Twice nominated for a position in the Knesset, Amar twice declined. "I can help without being in," he says.

"When you're in, you automatically have enemies. I don't want enemies. I want to be a simple guy who sings for everyone, of every opinion."

In 1984, Amar "retired" and returned to Israel to live and host a weekly radio show. When he re-turned, however, his popularity was greater than ever. "They reacted like I was some new singer," he says. Today, in addition to his perfor-mances in Israel and his radio show, Amar spends much of his time in the U.S., both to perform and to visit his four children and six grandchildren.

THOUGH THE melodies of folk songs and the liturgy have been known and sung for centuries, Amar has popularized Sephardic music the world over. Yet his purpose remains one of immediacy.

"I like to make people laugh and sing with me," he says. When I finish and see so many people feeling good,

Asserting that "the questions are more important than the answers," the Jewish Ensemble Theatre's production of "Bitter Friends" is a high-ly provocative, compelling drama that leaves the audience somewhat stunned by all the questions it raises. Gordon Rayfield's play is a fic-tional work loosely based on the 1987 Jonathan Jay Pollard spy case. Pollard was a United States naval intelligence analyst sentenced to life imprisonment for giving Israel classified information on Iraq's chemical weapons buildup.

In "Bitter Friends," the real protagonist is the activist rabbi Arthur Schaefer (Robert Grossman), who seeks to untangle the truth about accused spy David Klein just a misguided idealist trying to be a base of the search of the sea idealist, trying to be a hero, or is he a pawn of the convoluted political maneuverings of the U.S. and Israeli governments? Was Klein himself to blame or was he recruited and then shamefully abandoned by the Israelis? Why did American Jews turn their backs on him, offering no protest to his harsh sentence?

Such somber political issues are presented here without undue talkiness or polemics. The author claims to give a fair representation to all sides without attempting to resolve the issues. However, in actuality the Israeli government comes off looking even more heartless than the anti-Semitic State Department.

AS RABBI SCHAEFER, Grossman is excellent as a man who so values truth that he is willing to concede that many of the basic tenets of his life may have been mistaken. His face conveys the intensity of the questions tearing at him, yet the actor is equally effective delivering sardonic one-liners like a would-be Jackie Mason.

Fox is well-cast as the enigmatic, passionate Klein, quite willing to sacrifice himself for his ideals. William Premin is very convincing as the Israeli ambassador, seemingly gentle and sincere but quite used to the wary cat-and-mouse games of international politics.

Charles McGraw is perfect as the Justice Department's very WASPish Wingate Whitney, more annoyed at being disturbed at his private club than at the hapless Fox's difficult plight. Andrew Dunn is also very believable as Congressman Frank Fitzgerald, a liberal with sharp insight into political realities.

Henrietta Hermelin is icily patrician as Klein's widowed mother, resentful that all she holds dear has been sacrificed for the good of Isra-

As Rachel, Klein's devoted wife. Stacie Passon borders on melodramatic in her confrontations with her mother-in-law but does much better trying to be the voice of reason to her recalcitrant husband.

Director Randall Forte does a fine job of sustaining the dramatic impact throughout. T. Andrew Aston's lighting and scenic design also contribute, the latter a map of the Middle East that sprawls across the walls and floor of the stage as a stunning reminder of the show's interrelationship with the current Mideast war.

Seated side by side, with their scripts on the library table in front of them, Robert Wagner and Stephanie Powers bring alive the friendship — and love — over a life-time between two WASPS of very different personalities.

The huge Fisher Theatre stage dwarfs the two actors, who perform throughout the two-act production of "Love Letters" without moving from the table. Using their voices, facial expressions and slight bodily movements, they convey the changes over the years, as the two go from grade school pals to adult friends, then for a time lovers, and back again to loving friends own, throught their movie and television roles and as costars of TV's 'Hart to Hart" sophisticated comedy-mystery series.

Wagner still retains his boyish charm and "cool," Powers her particularly feminine manner and womanly warmth. These characteristics, along with their good looks, serve them well in their portrayals of the two friends who seek happiness in their private lives and careers.

POWERS HAS perhaps the most challenging role, appearing as a vibrant female, daughter of wealthy parents but neglected. She struggles to find her way, and fails. Two broken marriages, drinking and mental problems plague her but she maintains a bold, mischievous style.

The entire play is presented with the actors reading the exchange of letters they send, mostly to each other, through the years.

While Powers as Melissa Gardner goes from antic to antic, Wagner as Andrew Makepeace Ladd III attends Yale, serves with the Navy and then becomes a United States Senator. They have a love affair, which he ends to preserve his marriage and political career. Wagner handles all aspects of this characterization the humor, the seriousness - with

Garland — a wooded wonderland

By Nicki Chodnoff and Harold Chodnoff special writers

You barely know it's there. Woods and fields open just enough to accept Garland Resort's rustic main lodge and surrounding buildings. The 3,500-acre resort fits into the woods near Gaylord like a hand fits into a Rustic is only half the story. The other half is elegance. The main lodge, said to be the largest log lodge east of the Mississippi, has handcrafted stained-glass windows, soaring pine ceilings, Italian marble floors and massive cut-stone fire-

All this grandeur didn't just happen, it evolved. It started with Detroit businessman Herman Otto, who in 1951 wanted a retreat for friends, family and employees of his company, Garland Manufacturing. The first step was a nine-hole golf

In the early 60s, Garland opened to the public. As word spread and more golfers came, more golf holes were added with the total now at 63.

A gas explosion in 1985 resulted in an inferno that destroyed the original clubhouse. Otto's son and daughter-in-law, Ron and Joan, saw the destruction as an opportunity to create a luxurious all-season resort and corporate retreat. The Ottos were well-traveled and wanted to incorporate the five-star touches they enjoyed at world-class hotels.

The resort is rated as one of America's 10 best cross-country ski areas by "Cross Country Skier" magazine. Garland's 50 kilometers of groomed and woodland trails offer a terrain for every skill level from never-tried novice to strong snowplow skier.

The 11/2 kilometer easy-rated "Carousel" trail is lighted until 9 p.m. weeknights and 10 p.m. week-ends. Trails wind through woods and rolling hills, past strategically-placed wildlife feeding stations.

On site are a lighted outdoor ice rink, ice fishing, sleigh rides, parlor games and movies. Garland guests also have on-ice privileges at Lewiston Curling Club, one of three curling rinks in Michigan.

Part of the deal was that the secretary of the winner would get a day off. Ed offered his secretary Christ-mas Day, but she wouldn't buy that one. She's waiting for summer.

Don Maybee of Maybee Associates Inc. in Brighton was completely in the dark until the call came saying he had won.

The excitement started at Maybee Associates when secretary Donna Funk of Brighton heard the promoname in and if we pick that name in our lottery we'll give your boss and his or her spouse a weekend trip and

Crystal Lake hotels specialize in couples

special writer

Valentines Day always makes me think about hotels at either end of Crystal Lake, and of two Plymouth families: Lorenz and Powell. It's probably the couples rooms that do

Kirk Lorenz, of the Mayflower Hotel Lorenzes, and Pam Powell, who once worked at the Mayflower, have been happily ensconced as owners and direction-finders at the Brookside Inn for several years now.

The Brookside is at one end of Crystal Lake in the town of Beulah, just southwest of Traverse City. Pam's brother, Scott Powell, manages the Hotel Frankfort at the other end of Crystal Lake in the town of Frankfort. Both hotels specialize in couples rooms, each one individually designed and decorated and containing a Polynesian spa. The Hotel Frankfort is a two-story Victorian place with pointed rooms and balcony. It's been in the middle of town for a long time. The Brookside is a roadside motel, built on the site of an ice cream parlor that the Lorenz family visited regularly when Kirk was a child. Kirk and Pam have added rooms up, out and back - so it keeps getting bigger. They are both romantics at heart. They toured the world looking at hotels for the right ideas. They honeymooned in the Pacific. They decided that every hotel room should have a hot wet place for guests to sit and soak together, and that no hotel guest should be forced to wrap an inky-dinky towel around a wet mid-

The result is: couples rooms. Each room is different but they all have big comfortable beds, a large hot pool and a variety of funky decorating themes ranging from stuffed bears to medieval knights.

Couples rooms are sold on a bedand-all-meals basis to discourage couples from stopping for a brief overnight and moving on. Kirk and Each room is different but they all have big comfortable beds, a large hot pool and a variety of funky decorating themes ranging from stuffed bears to medieval knights.

Pam believe that couples should have time to get to know one another, to sit over dinner and breakfast. So their rates, starting at $170 a night per couple, cover accommodations, dinner and breakfast.

For information, contact your travel agent or Kirk and Pam Lorenz at the Brookside Inn, (616) 882-7271. That's 268 miles from Detroit in northwest Michigan.

NORDEN HEM, in Gaylord, is about 225 miles from Detroit. Crosscountry skiing available at nearby Sylvan and Garland resorts. Call Mike Husby, (517) 732-6794

BRISSETTE-WHEELER HOUSE, an Eastlake Mansion in Three Rivers, is about 140 miles from Detroit. Holiday packages available yearround and live entertainment. Call Bobbi Greenwood, (616) 278-8147.

KIMBERLY COUNTRY ESTATE, in Harbor Springs, is one of Michigan's newer bed-and-breakfast inns, about 276 miles from Detroit. Downhill and cross-country skiing available at nearby Nubs Nob and Boyne Mountain resorts. Call Ron or Billie Kimberly, (616) 526-7646.

All the Hotel Frankfort's couples rooms have themes. This one is decked out in stuffed animals and cushions. But don't take the animals home. They do not come with the room.

CHICAGO PIKE INN, in Coldwater, is a renovated, turn-of-the-century colonial mansion decorated Victorian-era antiques, about 109 miles from Detroit. Call Rebecca Schultz, (517) 279-8744.

GARFIELD INN, in Port Austin at the tip of Michigan's thumb, is a state and national historic site due to the connection with former president James A. Garfield. Built in 1830, the inn has been restored to its original state with oak pub and other amenities. Call (517) 738-5254.

TWIN GABLES COUNTRY INN is in Saugatuck across the street from Lake Kalamazoo. Nearby cross-country skiing is available. Package deals with local restaurants and entertainment can be arranged. Call (616) 857-4346.

SPRING BROOK INN, in Prudenville, offers a quiet weekend getaway. Themed rooms and room packages that include breakfast and dinner are available. Call Russ Hoover, (517) 366-6347.

King Momo marches through Puerto Rico

Delicias, heart of the quaint Caribbean town of Ponce, Puerto Rico, is usually placid.

Elderly citizens sit on old-fashioned wrought iron benches while children scamper around neatly groomed shrubbery and romantic young couples stroll beneath stately

But in mid-February each year, the square sizzles with excitement as crowds gather to celebrate Ponce's Carnival

It's late afternoon. After hours of waiting, a child's gleeful cry of 'Here they come" signals a resounding cheer that all but drowns the sounds of an approaching band.

King Momo, wearing a huge monarch's mask that dwarfs his body, dances into view at the head of a parade of musicians. They're playing the tantalizing plena - Puerto Rican folkloric music featuring a lively blend of guitars, tambourines and guiros (gourd percussion instruments). The music and the instruments represent the island's three cultural influences - Spanish, African and Taino Indian.

The rhythms seduce spectators to join the dance. The parade swells, overflowing the plaza into the side streets of Isabel, Reina, Pabellones and Lolita Tizol, lined with restored turn-of-the-century houses.

The annual event, beginning on a Thursday and lasting for six days before the start of Lent (this year it's Feb. 14-19), is Puerto Rico's answer to Rio's Carnival or New Orleans' Mardi Gras. Ponce's version is particularly popular with tourists because it seems less frenetic than the others and because it has special, very attractive features.

Primary is the appearance of devil-like creatures dancing in the Tourism at (800) 223-6530 or (212) streets, as celebrants don extrava- 599-6262 for further information.

> Carnival's schedule also includes breaking a giant Mexican-style pinata, and there are more parades: Friday night's procession honors the carnival queen, Saturday's honors the junior queen and on Sunday, there is a long parade of colorful floats from other towns around the island. Monday night is "la danza." Couples dress in elegant turn-of-thecentury costumes, stroll around the plaza and attend a masked ball.

As Carnival culminates, celebrants stage a mock funeral march to "bury the sardine." Costumed men and women shedding crocodile tears follow a huge fish-shaped pinata into Plaza las Delicias. As they attack the pinata, candies and coins scatter and everyone dashes after them. The sardine thus "buried," celebrants concentrate on religious aspects of Lent.

Ponce is on Puerto Rico's southern coast, a 90-minute drive across the island from the capital city of San Juan. Known as "the Pearl of the South," the town is Spanish colonial in style. Ponce, traditionally a center for culture and the arts, boasts a superb museum, fine theater and an excellent university.

The ultimate couples caper is ro-mantic "Zhivago" night. The magic starts when two majestic horses hitched to an open sleigh arrive at dusk near the main lodge. Up to eight couples can take part in this fantasy evening.

Across fields and forest, the surefooted steeds wind through the silent woods. Forty-five minutes later, rustic Buckhorn Lodge appears, the old hunting cabin built by Herman Otto, more than 40 years ago.

Stepping inside the softly-lighted, wood-paneled cabin, a soulful violin cries out the theme from "Dr. Zhivago." Hot-spiced cider, served by a black-tied maitre d', instantly appears and a roaring fire melts away the night chill.

A five-course gourmet feast en-sues, prepared on-site by executive chef Michael Dunn. Entertainment director Mike Irish serenades with lilting tunes throughout the meal. After eating, you start back, wrapped in a cocoon of blankets. The main lodge is a faint glow on the dark ho-

ING AN ACCIDENT IS BAD ENOUGH

DON'T LET ANOTHER ONE HAPPEN IN THE BODY SHOP.

When you get bodywork done on your GM car or truck, you might assume that genuine GM parts will be used. Not so. Many second-rate imitations are available on the market. And some insurance companies specify "generic equivalents." Many imitations don't meet GM strict standards for fit & finish, corrosion resistance or structural strength. That can mean serious problems down the road. Insist on seeing your repair order and specify genuine GM sheet metal parts. That's all we use. And we'll ever use. Because they're built by the same people who built your GM vehicle. And they're backed by a Limited Lifetime Warranty*.

CEP teams produce 3 district champs

Liam Rentz of Plymouth Canton captured the 145-pound championship Saturday in the Class A individual district wrestling tournament at Walled lake Western. The senior wrestler takes a 22-2 record into the regional Saturday at Plymouth Salem. Canton teammate George Young will join Rentz in the regional field.

Salem qualifies 5 for regional

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Competing in a district tournament dominated by Western Lakes Activities Association wrestling teams, it was no surprise Plymouth Salem had the most success.

The Rocks, who won their third straight league title Feb. 2, got five individuals through the first round of post-season competition Saturday at Walled Lake Western.

All of the 11 Class A schools in the WLAA competed in the same district, which included Brighton, Garden City, Howell, Pinckney, Novi, South Lyon and West Bloomfield.

Livonia Franklin, Western, Livonia Stevenson, Farmington and Westland John Glenn qualified three wrestlers each for the individual regional Saturday at Salem.

Walled Lake Central, Livonia Churchill and Plymouth Canton will have two apiece in the regional and North Farmington one. Garden City had no qualifiers. The top four in each weight class advance to the regional, which begins at 10 a.m. Ad-

SALEM HAD two district winners: 112-pound junior Scott Martin and 119-pound junior Dan Bonnett. Both were WLAA champions at those Bonnett (35-3) was seeded No. 1 and defeated No. 2 Nick Wahl of Howell in the final. Martin (37-9) was the second seed but got first place when No. 1 Brian Paquette of Novi withdrew because of an injury.

"Bonnett had a real tough match in the final," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "That's what Bonnett needs to be doing, getting real tough, because his old buddy, Mike Scully, is coming up this week.

wrestling

Scully of Romulus was runner-up in the Ann Arbor Huron district. Temperance Bedford's Fred Schumacher, another Bonnett rival, won that tournament and will compete at Salem this week, too.

"Martin doesn't get any luck," Krueger said. "He wins the district and has to wrestle (Ian) Santiago (of Lincoln Park), who was sixth in the state last year. That shows how tough the regional is going to be."

Santiago (34-9) was fourth in the Huron district, which had Louie Tibai of Bedford (47-1) as its 112-pound SALEM'S REGIONAL contingent includes sophomore John Moran (103), senior Chad Wilson (125) and Jeff Shumate (135). All three finished fourth and will have to wrestle the Huron district winners in their first bouts.

Shumate was the WLAA champ, but Northville's Brandon Mardossian, whom he beat in the finals of the league tournament, won the district. Shumate also defeated Churchill's Chris Brown, the district runnerup, in the WLAA meet. Krueger hopes he can turn it around Satur-

'In defense of him, he was winning 8-0 (against Brian Link of Farmington in the consolation final) and got his leg pinned underneath him and couldn't get it out," Krueger

Salem routs Pats to clinch top seed

By Neal Zipser staff writer

Plymouth Salem made only three jumpers Tuesday night, but Rocks coach Bob Brodie didn't mind.

"That's what I like to see," he said. What Brodie appreciated was the 30 layups his team converted in routing host Livonia Franklin 86-68 in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover matchup.

'I know three-pointers have expanded the game, but I like to get the ball inside and with the horses we have you get those high-percentage shots," Brodie said.

The victory, coupled with Farmington Hills Harrison's 69-67 loss to Livonia Stevenson, clinched the top seed for Salem in next week's WLAA playoffs. The Rocks improved to 14overall and 10-1 in the WLAA, while Franklin fell to 10-6 and 6-4.

Franklin's sloppy ball handling and passing mixed with Salem's pressure defense, keyed a big first quarter for the Hocks. The Patriots committed nine turnovers resulting in 14 Salem points.

"I THINK our defensive pressure rattled them, Brodie said. "It's not easy to throw over a 6-foot-7 or -8

After Franklin took a 4-2 lead, seniors John Hoffmeyer and K.C. Kirkpatrick converted missed Salem shots into easy layups to give the Rocks a lead they never gave up. Salem scored all its first-quarter points on layups or free throws.

The Rocks scored 18 of the game's pext 24 points and held a commanding, 25-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. The run was highlighted by a steat and dunk by senior forward Jake Baker, who poured in a teamhigh 21 points.

Their transition game was the factor," Patriots coach Rod Hanna said. "They ran the floor well and got the ball inside. It (turnovers) was a combination of their defense and bad decisions on our part."

While Salem was battling under the basket, the Patriots' Keith Rob-

"Keith is a good player and a winner," Hanna said. "He will give you 100 percent effort every night."

THE PATRIOTS received a break at the beginning of the second quarter when the official placed the ball at half court while the teams were still huddling. Salem's Mike Mulder grabbed the ball but was whistled for a technical foul because it was Franklin's possession.

The call ignited a 10-2 Patriot run and sliced Salem's lead to 27-22. However, the Rocks kept beating the slower Franklin team down the floor for easy layups and took a 39-26

The lead was shortened to 15, but Baker found senior forward Cliff Lee open under the basket for an easy layup. Lee came off the bench to score 16 points on 7-for-8 shooting and was the recipient of several fine passes from his teammates. Salem players had 16 assists.

"IT WAS A combination of Cliff moving without the ball and our players getting the ball to him," Bro-

A Roberts' triple and three Franklin foul shots cut the lead to 69-56. However, Salem's Chris Tebben stole the ball and fed Baker who laid it in and was fouled. Baker scored 11 points in the fourth quarter, and his three-point play gave the Rocks a 16-point lead.

Franklin rallied again to cut the lead to 75-64 with 3:30 left, but Baker nailed a three-pointer to finish off the Patriots for good.

"I told them at halftime that we have to stop their fast break," Hanna said. "We were playing 5-on-4 or 3on-2. I'm proud of the way the team came back by cutting the lead to 11. That's a positive sign. It's just unfortunate we put ourselves in a hole.'

Senior center Steve McCool scored 11 points for Franklin before fouling out, and senior Steve Stasevich added nine points off the bench. Hoffmeyer and Kirkpatrick tallied 13 and 12 points for the Rocks, respec-

SC blasts St. Clair

Schoolcraft College owned the glass Saturday en route to a 92-76 Eastern Conference men's basketball win over host St. Clair CC.

The win moves the Ocelots' overall record to 13-12 overall and 4-8 in the conference (tied with Wednesday's opponent Henry Ford CC).

Schoolcraft outrebounded St. Clair 56-32 as 6-foot-6 Scott Meredith (Northville High) and 6-5 Barry Quayle (Dearborn Fordson) pulled down 12 each.
Point-guard Jeff Wagner (Flat Rock) added 11 rebounds and six assists.
"The key was that Meredith came alive," Schoolcraft coach Dave Bogataj said. "He and Wagner were outstanding." Randy Watters, a 6-4 sophomore from Milford Lakeland, led Schoolcraft in scoring with a game-high 28 points. He was 7-of-12 from the field, including a pair of three-pointers, and 8-of-8 from the free throw line.

Plymouth Canton product Mitch Fyke contributed 20 points and seven bounds. He went 6-of-8 from the field and 8-of-9 from the line.

Three other Ocelots scored in double figures including Detroit St. Hedwig product Kwesi McGill (14), Meredith (13) and Quayle (12).

"We did a better job of taking the ball down inside to the point where we got fouled," Bogataj said. "And they put a chaser on Kwesi, so we were able to play a four-on-four type of thing. He did a good job of moving the ball."

St. Clair, which trailed 44-30 at intermission, received a team-high 26 points from Ken Laming.

SC WOMEN 74, ST. CLAIR 66: The Lady Ocelots (9-11, 2-8) broke a seven-game losing skid Saturday at St. Clair Community College.

Sophomore center Tricia Lucas (Dearborn Heights Crestwood) sparked the victors, scoring 17 of her game-high 27 points in the first half.

Forward Julie Maryon scored 23 for St. Clair, which dropped to 1-10 in the Eastern

Conference. (Schoolcraft led at intermission, 39-34.)
Schoolcraft freshman center Nicole Dapprich (Dearborn Edsel Ford) contributed 12 points and 12 rebounds. Point-guard Lee Ann Lightfoot (Waterford Mott), a sophomore transfer from Oakland Community College, added 12 points (5-of-6 shooting) and six

The game also marked the return of point-guard Donna Galli (Warren Woods), who as missed 14 of SC's 20 games because of ankle injuries. She collected six assists.

Coach Jack Grenan reported that starting forward Mo Merritt (Dearborn St. Alhonsus), who had been averaging eight rebounds per game, is probably lost for the season because of an ankle injury.

Schoolcraft, tied for sixth place with Flint Mott, needs to win two of its next three games to qualify for the Michigan Community College Athletic Association playoffs.

Eagles maintain title hopes

Plymouth Christian Academy didn't help its quest a basketball championship Tuesday with an overtime loss to host Warren Bethesda, 68-64.

But the Eagles can still win the American Division of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference if they beat Macomb Christian in the final league game Priday, March 1, at Lowell Middle School.

Plymouth Christian had beaten Bethesda 88-85 when the teams played Jan. 25 at Lowell. Lamandren Derrick scored 43 points for the Eagles in that game, but he did not appear for school and the game Tuesday.

The difference between the two games was "the intensity on our part," PCA coach Dan Brandel said. "We just weren't there defensively. We led the whole game until they tied it."

Manish Nandani scored 18 points and Keith McCants 15 before both players fouled out. Jeff Hess added 10 points and graphed area. and grabbed nine rebounds. McCants also had six rebounds.

Derek Butts and David Ersig finished with 16 points apiece to lead Bethesda.

The Shamrocks led by 21 points with 3:15 left in the third period before De-Porres rallied, capped by Shamon McLean's game-winning jumper with 16 seconds remaining. (CC led at intermission, 32-18)

Brian Tolbert paced the victors with 23 points, 16 coming in the second half. Junior forward Bob Kummer had 25 points for the Shamrocks, 11 coming in the decisive fourth.

Chiefs win tri-meet

Plymouth Canton's gymnastics team appears to be right on schedule.

Coach John Cunningham predicted in early January it would take time for the Chiefs to reach peak form, and Canton is gradually reaching that

Its performance Friday in a trimeet at Freeland is an indication of that progress. The Chiefs were easy winners, scoring 139.10. The host team had 127.95 and Vassar 116.

"I'm a lot more confident now than earlier in the season," Cunningham said. "I would say our present schedule is exactly where we want to be at this point in the season."

Canton was led by Kim Rennolds and Jenny Tedesco, the top allaround scorers with 35.8 and 34.15 totals, respectively.

Rennolds, who was still recuperating from an injury at the start of the season, won three events and was third on the balance beam (8.55). She scored 9.35 on vault, 8.9 on the uneven bars and 9.0 on floor exercise.

"I'VE BEEN waiting for her to get back in line," Cunningham said. "It was her best meet by far.

"She had a nice bars, and her vault and floor were exceptional. She had one fall on beam; otherwise, she would have been sweeping firsts

Tedesco was second on bars (8.65) and beam (8.7), and she added a sixth on floor (8.6).

"She hadn't been working floor (because of an injury), and it was good to see her back in range," Cunningham said. "They were not scoring easy on floor, so it was an earned 8.6."

Canton's Heather Murphy had the best beam score at 8.9. She also was third on floor (8.85) and seventh on vault (8.5).

Danielle Mirto and Johanna Anderson placed high in three events, too.

Mirto had the third-best score in the all-around with 33.6 points. She placed fourth on bars (8.25) and floor (8.7) and sixth on beam (8.3).

Anderson was second on vault (9.05), sixth on bars (7.9) and tied with teammate Dawn Clifford for fourth on beam (8.4). She was fourth in allaround scoring at 33.3. Laura Anderson was third on bars (8.35).

Renowned pianist to play with LSO

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

If you're looking for an evening of romance, as well as an evening that salutes the Stars and Stripes, the Livonia Symphony has the ticket for

Raise up the red, white and blue along with your spirits Friday, Feb. 16, with an evening of "Mostly American" music performed by the Livonia Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Francesco Di Blasi.

Guest artist will be internationally renowned concert pianist David Syme. The West Bloomfield resident will perform Sergei Rachmaninoff's piano Concert No. 2 in C minor (op. 18, 1901).

"Rachmaninoff speaks directly to the heart," Syme said during a telephone interview while recording a new album in Arizona

"Although usually considered a modern composer, Rachmaninoff is a throwback to the romantic period in music.

Concert time is 8 p.m. in the James P. Carli Auditorium, Churchill High School, 8900 Newburgh in INITIALLY, SYME performed the second concerto by Rachmaninoff with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at age 18. Since then, he has appeared an additional eight times with the DSO.

"That piece is extremely extroverted, very sensual, very emotional and passionate.

'Rachmaninoff communicates directly to the audience with the second concert. It is an emotional and passionate work. The audience can get very involved in it."

Syme, a graduate of the bachelor and master programs at the Juilliard School in New York City, completed his initial studies with Mischa

HIS FIRST solo album, "Play it Again, Syme," was released Aug. 1, 1990, on Syme's label, JB Records. Since then, radio shows from Dallas to Washington regularly include the musically diverse recording in their programming schedules. From the "complete 'Rhapsody in Blue' " by George Gershwin to Beethoven's "Fur Elise," the album seeks to please a variety of music

Art fair goers call Arlene Schultz "The Sunglass Lady" for her decorative line of ceramic

Potter's wheel fashions contemporary clayworks

By Janice Tigar-Kramer special writer

T'S NOT unusual for potter Arlene Schultz to pick bits of dried clay from the kitchen phone before making a call. Between chauffeuring her two boys to hockey practice and running up and down basement stairs to work in her ceramics workshop, the Farmington Hills artist has little time to bother with the whereabouts of a little excess Schultz, who started doing ceramics just five years ago, often works a full seven- or eight-hour day at home, creating a contemporary and somewhat whimsical line of decorative and functional pottery.

Often called "The Sunglass Lady," Schultz is becoming well known among art fair goers for her unusual line of ornamental, pastelcolored sunglasses, which are decorated with palm trees and black sunglasses resting on its erect head. "The sunglasses and the snake are cute and just unusual enough to be popular. People always comment on them," Schultz said.

BESIDES THE fun, decorative items, the artist also makes a functional and attractive line of bowls, cheese trays, tea and toast sets and vases. Her colorful mugs and baskets, often used as desk accessories, feature a raised palm tree or cactus. The tea and toast set, which includes a matching plate and mug, come in a black and white geometric design, rose and black check, or a series of triangles, dots and slashes of black, rose and white. Each glazed piece also is finished on the bottom for greater durability. Schultz's work, sold by the name Contemporary Clayworks, is priced at $15 to $120.

The potter appears in about eight juried art shows throughout the area every year. She also sells her work to shops and galleries in Florida, California and Massachusetts and to Escapades in West Bloomfield and Route 10 Gallery in Farmington Hills.

Schultz, who also does acrylic painting and calligraphy, always has been adept with her hands. She signed up for a beginning ceramics class at Oakland Community College's Royal Oak campus about four years ago simply because it looked like fun.

Arlene Schultz, who began doing ceramics five years ago, shapes the walls of a mug on a

"A good friend of mine is a potter and it just looked like something I wanted to do," Schultz said. "Besides, it's one of the few things you can do where it's OK to be messy.

SCHULTZ QUICKLY learned that pottery making is harder than it looks.

To master her Wheel Throwing I class, the artist showed up at school every day until the walls of the cylinders she was required to produce were perfectly shaped. In fact, she finished all of the required work for the course in the first two weeks of school. "I was determined to learn the technique. I never go into anything halfway," she said.

Schultz went on to take at least a dozen other ceramics classes and even repeated some to refine her wheel throwing technique or to work on special projects,

"I learned there's a big difference between being artistic and just throwing a pot," she said.

She participated in the college's Potters' Market, the annual show of students' work. And she remembers watching buyers leave the sale with her ceramics in hand.

"I was in the customer service booth when I noticed someone carrying out my work. What a thrill to have a sale," Schultz said.

ANOTHER THRILL came just last year when the potter was invited to sell her work at Ann Arbor's annual State Street Art Fair There, Schultz met buyers from the East Coast who since have placed two and three orders from her line of about 20 pieces.

Though, admittedly, wholesaleing is something new to Schultz, she had quickly learned to pack, ship, meet deadlines and invoice her customers.

"The artist next to me in Ann Arbor gave me a lot of advice and encouragement when I was approached by out of state buyers.

I thought, why not give it a try?"

potter's wheel in her Farmington Hills home.

she said. Hoping to expand her market. Schultz recently loaded her van with enough samples to show wholesale buyers at Beckman's Gift Show at Chicago's Merchandise Mart.

The artist's home workshop, with a potter's wheel, slab roller and kiln, includes everything she needs for a day's work. And since firing in the kiln takes up to seven hours, she has plenty of time to do paperwork, shipping or carpooling for 15-year-old David and 12-yearold Jeff. The boys and her husband, Jack, even help her set up at shows and stay at the weekend events to help out.

Schultz knows she has found a creative field with no limitations and she is grateful for her rapid success. But she believes everyone can find his or her niche.

"When I hear people say they envy artists, I always say, 'But I can't play the piano.' I think everybody has something to offer."

NOTABLE NOTES from the creative calendar

• Honored artistry - It's a distinctive award.

But I'd still like to see more classical musicians nominated for the Farmington Area Arts Commission's Artist In Residence.

The award, carrying a cash prize and public display of the winner's work, is the Farmington area's top

Past winners range from legendary photographer Joe Clark in 1976 to accomplished painter Lena Mas-

Adds Tornkow, who in 1977 shaped her skills under Edee Joppich, herself a former Artist In Residence: When you achieve a consistency in your work, it gives you such a good feeling when other people perceive artistic value in it.

OCC to host 'A Musical Adventure'

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Spend an evening on "A Musical Adventure" with the Music of the Masters Friday, Feb. 22, when Musica Viva! Concerts-Buick International Series 1990-91 presents the third program of five at the Smith Theater of Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills.

Show time is 8 p.m. The program features the international concert violinist Hamao Fujiwara; planist Katsurako Mikami; and flutist Ginka Gerova-Orte-

Selections on the evening program include compositions from Bartok's "Rhapsody for Violin No. 1" and Brahm's "Sonata for Violin and Piano in D Minor."

"The performance is a very important part of my life," said Hamao Fujiwara during an interview from his Ann Arbor home.
FUJIWARA THRIVES on per-ming. His recital career has takn him to Western Europe, Japan, india and across the States from New York to Alaska. As recently as 10 days ago, he performed in Washington with the Theater Chamber

"We played some Mozart in D minor," Fujiwara said. "I really had fun." Fujiwara said he has been playing violin "almost 40 years." Since fall 1988, Fujiwara has been a professor of violin at the University of Michigan School of Music in Ann Arbor. Before that time, he taught at the Juilliard School and the Manhattan School of

A dedicated violin instructor. Fujiwara said he "commuted between New York City and Ann Arbor for one year" to fulfill teaching obligations.

FUJIWARA SAID that Bela "Bartok is the only 20th century composer on the program."

Born in Hungary in 1881, Bartok fled his beloved country in 1940 at the urging of friends who feared for his safety because of his strong moral stands.

He protested the performances of his music on Berlin radio and took a stand against fascism whenever possible. On the eve of World War II, he came to the States and settled in New York City.

Bartok was positive what the world saw as authentic Hungarian music, romanticized by Brahms and Liszt, was essentially the music of the Gypsies.

The truth of the matter, he decided, was that Hungarian folk music lay amongst the peasants. He set out to find it. Traveling the countryside, Bartok became an authority on songs of the Danubian BARTOK FOUND authentic Hungarian folk music, based on ancient modes, nonsymmetrical rhythms and unfamiliar scales set him free. In fact, the term rhapsody as it pertains to musical compositions means "fragmentary song, and is mainly used to designate "free fantasies of a somewhat epic, heroic or national character."

Bartok's compositions consist of romantic and classic elements. A virtuoso pianist himself, Bartok is considered one of the masters of modern piano compositions.

Pianist Katsurako Mikami, also featured on the program, won both the Marguerite Long International Competition in Paris and the National Competition in Tokyo. She attended the Toho School of Music, the Paris Conservatory of Music and the Juilliard School in New York City. Mikami records for Col-umbia and Musica Magna Records

BULGARIAN FLUTIST Ginka Gerova-Ortega, from Bloomfield Hills, will perform along with Fu-jiwara and Mikami.

Tracking trends in kitchen and bath color

I had the opportunity to speak with Ellen Cheever, director of educational services for the National Kitchen and Bath Association, while she was here as keynote speaker at the Michigan Design Center and leraft College.

Here are some of her remarks on trends in the kitchen and the bath:

Could you first give our readers a capsule summary of overall trends you see influencing the design and color of kitchens and baths?

A The most influential trend is the emerging family unit: more of-ten than not, it consists of two working adults with children, or various combinations of adults without chil-

No longer is Mother exclusively cooking for the family. The responsibilities are shared and so is the kitchen space.

Consequently, kitchen planners and designers are using a zoning concept that separates the different functions of the kitchen, allowing two or more people to work together without getting in each other's way.

Further, creation of the Great Room in residential design has influenced kitchens by integrating them more with other home furnishings.

Meanwhile, the square footage of the bedroom has decreased, as the bath assumes greater importance for relaxation and exercise, and not only personal hygiene.

Q: What are people spending for their kitchens?

A: The average kitchen now cost about $18,000 and much more for upscale kitchens. No matter what the cost, we at the association like to think of the expenditure as having a high return on investment because the returns include personal satisfaction as well as functional consid-

Without being wasteful, we encourage people to renovate and redesign their kitchens and baths when their tastes change, and not wait until things wear out, which will probably be never.

Q: Who are the trendsetters in kitchen and bath design and to what extent do European manufacturers influence American taste?

A: American manufacaturers monitor many sources and deliver a good product to the public. There's a great deal of reciprocity in design: one industry can influence another.

European design is very influen-tial on upscale levels but much of their use of extreme color or wood tone contrast isn't acceptable to the American market

We find American taste polarized between two extremes: the sleek, contemporary Eurostyle on the one hand, and the warm, country style on

Here at the Michigan Design Cen-ter, the Italian Snaidero line and the German SieMatic are examples of very high style, contemporary European design.

The English company, Smallbone, using a lot of oak and pine, has capitalized on the casual, country look.

Many Americans who do not gravitate to either extreme opt for the eclectic look in a wide variety of wood finishes.

Michigan, with its automotive industry, and many people with an en-gineering background seem to prefer contemporary styling with a lot of Q: Given these circumstances, what do you feel are the color trends for the kitchen? And what about brass and metals? I understand they're important too.

A: Brass and even 24 carat gold, in railings and accents, has already been successfully introduced. Now

At the last Cologne kitchen fair, an all-stainless steel kitchen was shown. We feel stainless steel will be increasingly used, though more as an accent to color and other materials.

Although 80 percent of kitchens are white, color will become gradu-ally introduced through other neu-tral and pastel tones such as light grey, peach, pink, and beiges.
Brighter and darker colors will also be used in a highly selective way as focal points in an otherwise white or neutral colored kitchen

The backsplash area of the kitchen, the area above the counter, is one way of introducing the brighter color accents. Black, introduced a while ago, can be overpowering as a massed surface, and is suitable only for very dramatic and sophisticated installations.

Q: What about color trends for the

A: Color for the bath falls into three categories: the kid's bath, the

For kids, all we can recommend is a no-nonsense approach. For the powder room, anything goes, and the more dramatic, the better.

As far as the adult bath is con-cerned, white, as in the kitchen will continue, but more color in the form of soft pastels will increase. So will bright or dark accents used to provide a focus to a room. For exam a very dark green can be used for the sink and combined with other fixtures and tiles in white, or other neutral colors.

In summary: the kitchen and bath will both see the increased use of color in highly selective combinations allowing color to provide a fo-cal point. Both kitchen and bath manufacturers as well as many tile and laminate resources are gearing up for the increased and more complex use of color.

Concert pays tribute to St. Valentine's Day

"In Service of Venus and Mars" a down-to-earth variety of music, costumes, mime and dance in tribute to St. Valentine's Day, will be given at 8 p.m., Thursday-Friday, Feb. 14-15 at Varner Recital Hall, Oakland University, Rochester

This Renaissance entertainment, performed in period costumes and with reproduction instruments of the time, is sponsored by the OU Department of Music, Theatre and

The Oakland Chorale and the Renaissance Ensemble have reached back a few centuries to find bawdy Elizabethan English songs and passionate madrigals and dances of early 17th century Italy.

The English portion will feature instrumental pieces such as "Tic-Rle My Toe" and madrigals by Weekles and Morley. A couple of short, lusty "Jigges" (sung street plays) will feature Jodi McQuade and Dawn Berger of Mt. Clemens, Kate Penny of Davison, Shari Neher of Troy, Ivan Gesse of Utica, Trevor Rutkowski of Linwood and Michael Ameloot of Romeo.

THE ITALIAN half of the concert will feature madrigals of Luigi Rossi and a "ballo" by Claudio Monteverdi. Carol Halsted, associate professor of dance, choreographed the piece, which features Angel Starkey of Port Huron as the Lyle Nordstrom, professor of music, is director of this 14th love concert. He is a nationally recognized authority on the performance of early music.

His group, Musicians of Swanne Alley, has recorded several alburns, and its music is frequently heard on classical radio stations in the United States and Canada

Tickets are $8 general admission, $4 for students and senior citizens, and $3 for OU students. For details, call 370-3013 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Free, lighted parking is available at Varner Recital Hall.

Garden plans

It's time to plant seeds indoors

Time to plan and dream about our gardens for the coming season.

I like the poem by Rebecca McCann: "I do not guide my life with firm and brain restricted hand And now and then in my wonderings, I reach the shoes of Fairyland.

Perhaps if we let a bit of imagination and magic come into our garden, it will grow into a Fairy-

Planning a new garden? A good way to begin is windows of your home, the background and other things such as fences, trees and other buildings that will frame the garden. LOOK AT the lay of the land. Does it slope? It is perfectly flat? What is already there? Buildings, trees, sidewalks, faucets, utility poles and lines? Is the spot readily accessible from your door? When will you be working in it, morning or evening? How much sun does the space receive? Although vegetables and flowering plants require six to eight hours of sun a day, many others prefer partial sun. Some tolerate shade or need a shady spot. Soil requirements differ for plants,

A good book from your library will give you this information. A little homework done in these winter months will save a possible disappointment when the garden is being established.

ONE WAY to check the position of the sun is to make a drawing. At different times of the day (and year), indicate on the drawing the sunny and shady areas.

After you have selected your site, decide if you want the garden to be formal or informal, since this will have some bearing on the type of material you will use for paths, placing of the plants (and selection) and garden accents.

As soon as you can dig in the ground this spring, have the pH level tested. Certain plants prefer acidic soils while others need an alkaline one. Your county extension center will give you directions and provide you with a container for the soil, then for a small fee will analyze it.

After you have removed the grass from the proposed site, outline the area with a garden hose or Peat, sand and/or compost can be added to improve the texture. Also, fertilizers (follow manufacturer's directions) can be added. Wait several days before planting if you use a fertilizer.

Dig the soil at least one spade deep. Break up the chunks with a hoe, then rake the surface Many plants can be started from seed, and this is the month to plant them indoors. Established

A FLOWER gardening conference Saturday, Feb. 23, promises to be of help. The garden and landscape design firm Perennial Favorites of Waterford has organized "Planning Now for Flo-Topics and speakers are: "Groundwork," David Michener, Matthaei Botanical Gardens, Marge Al-

Entrance to DIA addition disappointing

special writer

When the Detroit Institute of Arts opened its doors to the public in 1927, a certification of civic status was conferred on the city of Detroit.

The arts commission had previously examined museums in both the Unted States and Europe and came to the conclusion that the architectural ingredients of the old were more admirable.

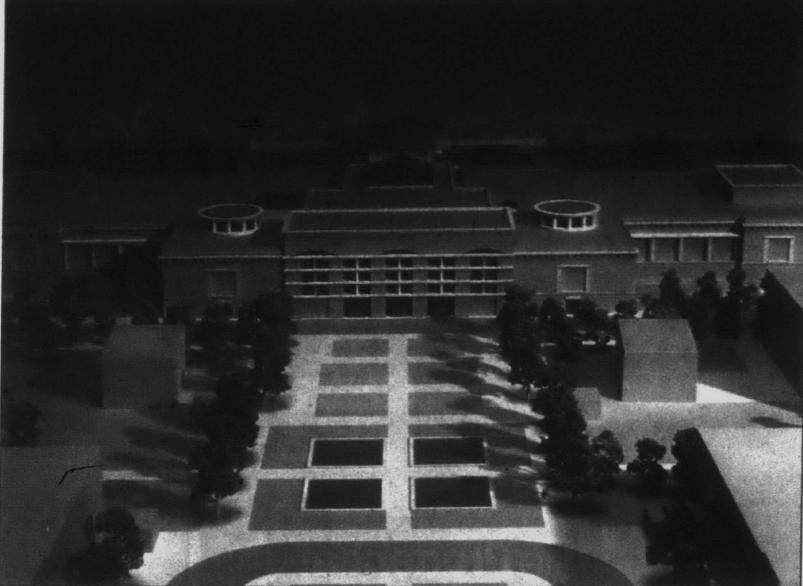

They reported that, although care had been taken in developing the efficiency of the modern buildings, the old Italian palaces were far more pleasant to visit and afforded more agreeable backgrounds for the works of art exhibited in them.

Paul Philippe Cret, then professor of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, was hired as the DIA architect. Cret had been trained at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris.

HE PRESENTED the commission with a modified, one-story Italian Renaissance structure enclosing galleries based on axial symmetry. The grand entry on Woodward Avenue was defined by a flight of marble stairs ascending to three great arches resting on Ionic, classical columns. The association with the Beaux Arts tradition served to define the museum's cultural identity.

In the years following, the museum collection grew considerably, later necessitating two additions the south (Ford) wing in 1966 and the north wing (Cavanagh) in 1971. The additions were covered with polished, black granite that provided dramatic backdrops for the original museum while providing the muchneeded space within. But, as with many additions, the traffic pattern proved to be circuitous and confusing to the museum patron.

Now the museum, which ranks sixth in size among U.S. museums, needs more room and improvements to maintain that status. A $75-million Phase I of a master plan, under the direction of art commission president Al Taubman of Bloomfied Hills, was unveiled, with Michael Graves chosen as the project archi-

The John R entrance as seen from the proposed Cultural Gardens sponsored by the University Center Cultural Association.

BUILDINGS DESIGNED by Graves display a multiplicity of forms, shapes and polychromy that contradict the canons of modernist doctrine. Among his completed projects are: the Humana Building in Louisville, Walt Disney World's Swan and Dolphin Hotels in

Orlando; the addition to the Whitney Museum of Armerican Art in New

As a result, Graves has been placed at the forefront of the current post-modernist architectural movement. Ironically, the proposed addition to the DIA reiterates a more traditional Beaux Arts accent of formalism and symmetry.

The 122,500-square-foot addition. including the north and south wings, will be covered in a light brown stone complemented by incised joints, blind windows and free-standing columns that tie in with the original Cret building. A new education center and expanded museum shop is part of the addition that fronts

The education center, including space for student groups, volunteer and public orientation, will more than double in size, considerably expanding the educational role of the museum. The 20th century galleries will be expanded.

Temporary and special events spaces, restaurants and the museum shop are planned to be independent from the rest of the museum, which will allow for extended hours of the

Although Graves concedes that the Woodward Avenue entrance will continue to function as the formal entry to the museum, the John R entrance is a disappointment.

If one didn't know what was on the other side of the new addition, one could mistake the entrance for a Cultural Center Marriott Hotel. Perhaps all the controversy surrounding Graves' addition to the Whitney museum has softened the architect's disposition with the DIA addition.

THIS ENTRANCE warrants equal consideration with Woodward Avenue, particularly since it will front on the proposed cultural gardens proposed by the University Center Cultural Association. It has the distinct position of providing a dramatic focal point.

Further adding to the significance of John R is the fact that the Woodward Avenue entrance was diminished with the addition of a waterfall fountain that cuts off direct access to the entrance.

Conceivably, how the museum functions on the inside is even more • Luchenbach/Ziegelman and Partners, Birmingham, for the Michgan National Corp. Headquarters, Farmington Hills.

Jury comments: "Nice contemporary interpretation of traditional forms. Massing helps scale — but not overpowering. Details, special shapes, 'hand-burned' brick bands give attention to human scale. People friendly — pedestrian use. Interior courtyards exceptionally nice. Discussion of shutters — inappropriate with context of building — takes away from overall design. Why are they there? Nice proportions. Base of arches should be near ground instead of halfway up."

• Neumann/Greager & Associates, Southfield, for the 4,500square-foot addition to the Bloomfield Hills residence of Mr. & Mrs. John Rakolta Jr.

Jury comments: "Creative use of stone and materials continue and reinforce the vocabulary that previously existed. Looks like it was built at one time. Design of new details was nicely done. Interesting details were added, but were still compatible with existing. Weak area: circulation from existing to new (could have used strong connection)."

Nice integration of louvers into elevation. Nice entrance, arrival point. Applaud client and architect for use of innovative details. Effort appreciated.  Straub Associates/Archtects, Troy, for the St. Paul of Tarsus Catholic Church, Mt. Clemens.

Jury comments: Feeling of rising from earth materials to other forms uplifting and spiritual like a flame. Appears to be climbing. Fenestration is well conceived. Warm tone of brick and color of door framing work well together. Modern interpretation of today's vernacular. Curves generated by structural members expressed well in interior of building. Flexibility of floor and individual seating are in line with current church vernacular."

Winners were selected from 42 entries submitted by members of the Michigan Society of Architects. Judging was by a panel of architects from Memphis, Tenn.

There's no place like home for your office

Now is the time, as you select and fine-tune your home plan, to create exactly what is needed in a well-designed work center.

The editors of Home Plan Ideas suggest these ideas to find space for a tailor-made work area.

One question to answer when designing a home office is whether you need a separate entry or additional parking for clients. If so, call the city's building department about zoning regulations.

If claiming the office space as a tax deduction, current regulations require the room be used specifically for business and be a place to meet clients.

More typically, homeowners simply desire a private space to attend to paperwork. If minimal space is needed, consider quiet locations. Look over the floor plan for an idle corner, alcove, end of a hallway or empty stretch of wall space for a desk. Specify enough electrical and phone outlets to hook up special equipment such as computers and phones, as well as to provide for adequate ambient and task lighting.

· If working odd hours when the rest of the family is in bed, think about installing the work center in the guest room rather than a main

Decks: more than add-ons

(AP) — Adding a deck to your home can give it new dimensions — a spot to entertain, an area for children to play or a secluded spot for a spa tub or sunbathing.

The ideal deck addition is designed to look like part of the house, according to House Beautiful magazine, rather than a tacked-on appendage on which you park the lounge chairs and barbecue. and barbecue

A DECK MAY expand living and dining spaces when located near the dining room or kitchen, while a sec-ond-story deck outside the master suite provides a private treetop

A deck should be planned for com-fort as well as utility. Keller Dono-van, a New York City interior designer, recommends your plan in-clude several types and groups of seating — rockers, lounge chairs, benches fitted with comfortable cushions. Built-ins add architectural interest, but fixed benches create an inflexible arrangement and should not be your only seating.

Your design should include a table big enough for a buffet, plus smaller movable side tables.

"Design tend to be hard-edged."

"Decks tend to be hard-edged," Donovan said. One way to soften the look is by planning a multilevel deck that makes a gradual transition from house to garden.

"But," said Larry Bencze, a Cranbury, N.J., landscape architect, "be careful not to make any level so small as to be nearly useless. The number and size of your deck levels should be determined by the functions you intend them to have."

PROPER LIGHTING is essential if you use the deck at night. Do not try to recreate the brightness of daylight by hanging a big spotlight off the house and training it on the deck. It will provide an unnatural glaring light and draw insects.

Instead install a spotlight or floodlight in a tree some distance away. Augment it with all-weather reading lamps on the deck, then add the soft lamps on the deck, then add the soft glow of hurricane candles or oil

Here are some further deck do's and dont's:

· If your deck is large, try to provide more than one approach to it from the garden to avoid

· If your plans call for dining space, make sure to allow for easy access to the kitchen. Steep or angled steps and mul-tilevel decks can be troublesome for youngsters and the infirm. Professional deck planners say a long, narrow deck is less effective than a square or nearly square one...

• Install your barbecue out of the flow of traffic, away from play areas and at a distance from doors and windows so smoke doesn't enter
