Outgoing mayor: 'I let people down'

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

After serving six years on Plymouth's city commission — the last two as mayor — you'd suspect Dennis Bila would have some good feelings about his tenure.

But on Friday, two days after resigning, Bila described his mood as "a feeling of sadness."

"It's a feeling that I let people down. I wasn't able to keep the commission together," he said, during the ongoing controversy over the city's involvement in Mettetal Airport.

Since resigning, "Only one commissioner called me — Jerry Vorva," Bila said Friday.

But while he'll no longer be joining Vorva and other commissioners at their bi-weekly meetings, Bila said he'll have more free time to spend as an author. He's written or collaborated on 10 college math textbooks.

Bila, 49, moved to Plymouth from Livonia in 1971. He had just assumed a math teaching job at Washtenaw Community College in Ann Arbor.

Process of reconstruction has begun

Plymouth's new mayor said he plans to name a replacement March 18 to fill the commission seat vacated upon the resignation of former mayor Dennis Bila last week.

Ralph (Jack) Kenyon, former mayor pro-tem who became Plymouth mayor when Bila resigned Wednesday, said he plans to submit a name to city commissioners for their approval at the next commission meeting.

The process to name a new commissioner "has already begun," Kenyon said Thursday. He's asked current commissioners to submit names of candidates they'd support for a commission seat.

Kenyon said he has a list of three names, adding "One name is predominant." He declined to name the candidates. "I'd rather not until I go through the list," he said.

Also at the March 18 commission meeting, Kenyon said commissioners — as provided in the city charter — will elect a new mayor pro-tem.

Kenyon said he's also asked commissioners for their preferred candidates for that position. The two most recent ex-commissioners are Robert Jones and David Pugh, both currently serving as planning commissioners.

"I would be interested if I'm asked," Jones said Thursday. He was narrowly defeated for re-election in 1989.

Pugh, who chose not to seek re-election to the commission in 1989 after serving for eight years, said he's not interested in returning to the commission.

He now serves on the planning commission and Downtown Development Authority.

in Ann Arbor, and we picked Plymouth," he said. "I always thought it was a delightful community."

He was elected president of the college's faculty association, a post he held 13 years. "I can say with assuredness I never had as much grief as I had in two years in the city of Plymouth," Bila said.

His involvement in Plymouth government began in 1982, when he was appointed to the planning commission. "Most of us at one time or another were planning commissioners," Bila said. "You learn so much about the structure of the city, the ordinances, and you meet a lot of people."

Bila said his interest in government goes back to his college days. "Every person should participate to some extent in the governmental process," he said, adding he's discouraged when there is low voter turnout for elections.

Church, city try to settle dispute

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The battle over an addition to the city's largest church will hopefully be resolved out of court, Plymouth's city attorney says.

Meanwhile, Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman is scheduled on Wednesday to hear a motion for intervention brought by counsel for Our Lady of Good Counsel Church at 1160 Penniman. The church maintains it should have a say in any agreement reached on the church school addition between the city and the church's neighbors.

Some neighbors of the church have taken the city to court over planning commission approval in January of the planned two-story addition.

City Attorney Ron Lowe said the "hat some points raised by attorney Carol Levitte, representing some church neighbors, "should be researched by the city."

Levitte has maintained that some city codes were violated when the planning commission approved the addition. If strictly adhered to, those codes could reduce the size of the planned addition, she said.

But legal counsel representing the church said the church should be involved in any settlement. While

Some of the church's neighbors have said they fear late-evening use of the addition and increased traffic. The church maintains it would do nothing to disrupt the neighborhood.

Lowe said the city agrees. Levitte opposes the church joining the dispute between church and neighbors and the city.

Attorney Michael Peterman, representing Our Lady of Good Counsel, said an agreement between the city and residents "would in a sense set aside the site plan."

He told the city commission March 4, "I'm not here to threaten the city with a lawsuit," but asked the commission to agree to him joining the suit involving the church's neighbors and the city.

Levitte told commissioners, "Intervention is not a right," adding the City to hire Walters

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Plymouth city commissioners voted Saturday to begin contract talks with Northville City Manager Steve Walters, in an effort to hire him as city manager here.

The vote followed an interview of Walters by the commission at city hall, with about 30 citizens looking on.

Among onlookers were Downtown Development Authority Chairman Greg Goodman. Because of Walters' involvement in a successful downtown renovation in Northville — Plymouth will begin a similar project this fall — Goodman said bringing Walters to Plymouth "is like a marriage made in heaven."

Commissioners were also interested in Walters' experience with downtown renovation. Walters said the first phase of Northville's renovation, completed in the early '80s, created "an environment that makes that market force work" to rejuvenate a small-town central business district.

"A residential taxpayer needs commercial and industrial tax base to survive," Walters said. "Every homeowner who sends a kid to school is being subsidized by commercial and industrial property," he said.

Residents should be interested in a strong commercial and industrial base "out of personal greed," Walters said, smiling. That sparked laughter from onlookers.

When Commissioner Jerry Vorva asked if Walters favored moving commercial development into residential areas, Walters said this was not necessary, adding current commercial areas are sufficient.

Asked why he would leave Northville, where Walters has been city manager since 1973, he replied, "Sometimes a change can be healthy. There are a lot of challenges here, that can be very appealing. You're going into a DDA program, you have a great deal of potential."

Walters agreed with commissioners that seeking shared services with Plymouth Township is necessary. "There's a lot of money to be saved by sharing services," he said.

Walters was also asked about another money-saving plan he implemented in Northville, in which city employees partially subsidize their health insurance.

Mayor Ralph (Jack) Kenyon said after the interview that he was impressed "by the innovative things he's (Walters) done."

Walters said he was also pleased with Walters' "affirmation of his interest in combined services."

Walters said he could begin as Plymouth city manager in late May. Current City Manager Gordon Jaeger's contract runs through May 1, but Jaeger has said he's willing to work part-time past that date.

While construction slowed last year in Plymouth Township, officials predict that low home interest rates and optimism following the Gulf War victory will spark construction.

Building upswing possible

Lower house-loan interest rates and renewed confidence in the economy sparked by the end of the Persian Gulf war could create a building upswing in Plymouth Township, the township's chief building official said.

While residential and commercial construction hit a high in the township in 1989, the valuation of buildings constructed that year was nearly $73 million. That figure fell to $46.1 million last year.

While chief building official Charles McIlhargey predicted a 1990 slowdown, "I didn't think it would be that low," he said.

"It was down because of economic conditions. The banks said 'We're not going to lend you (builders) money unless you've got someone to rent.' We're not going to build spec buildings," McIlhargey said.

But house-loan interest rates have recently dipped to 9.5 percent. "We noticed that as interest rates were lowered for single-family homes, we're starting to get (house) starts," McIlhargey said.

Bila expresses sadness in wake of resignation

1985 to fill a vacated term, he was elected to a four-year term in 1987. "Most of it's been a crisis for the last two years," Bila said.

"Plymouth is going through a period of rapid change. Twenty years ago, the commercial industrial base was here, there wasn't any strip malls or shopping centers, or competition from other communities."

But because of this competition, "Plymouth is being forced by external forces into a period of change. One of the things I and the commission have done is to try to address these changes by keeping the community in a direction that enables us to keep up the level of services."

"The taxes in Plymouth go up every year, but what (homeowners) don't realize is the costs to the city go up even more," he said.

One way to maintain service and hold down costs involved the bag-tag, pay-as-you-go trash program. "That was one of our greatest successes," Bila said.

But something Bila and other commissioners have viewed as a major way to save money while maintaining good service is consolidating police, fire and other services with Plymouth Township. Controversy over the airport has slowed progress on talks about shared services.

As to the airport controversy, Bila said, "I absolutely can't make any sense out of it."

Bila said he first heard Mettetal Airport was for sale when township Supervisor Maurice Breen asked in August if Plymouth would be interested in a joint agreement to buy and run the airport.

"My first comment was that the only way we could do this is if I could be assured that it would not cost the taxpayers one dime," Bila said.

Once he was satisfied that was the case, he proposed it to other commissioners. Bila said he "never envisioned" the amount of opposition the airport issue would spark, including an abandoned recall effort and a proposed charter amendment to keep the city out of the airport business.

Why the controversy? "I think there's some self-interest in it," he said, declining to elaborate.

"For a number of people, it's gone beyond the airport issue itself. It's gone beyond winning and losing. People don't want to be perceived as losing this great battle."

While some observers say the commission pushed the airport agreement to show willingness to cooperate with the township, Bila rejects this. "Frankly, it never occurred to me as cooperation."

"I looked at it in terms of the future of the community," he said, adding the existence of the airport could be a boon in 20 years.

In evaluating his commission tenure, "I think the greatest satisfaction was working with the people in the community," Bila said.

"When I see the level of volunteerism we have in this community — that's far and away the greatest satisfaction."

City wants parties to talk in church dispute addition was approved by "certain steps not consistently performed under the city's code."

"For Our Lady of Good Counsel to intervene at this time is burdensome," she said, adding, "I'll tell you where I'm going to get my costs under the statute" — suggesting she could seek those costs from the city.

"It boggles my mind that they (the church) weren't included in the beginning," responded Commissioner John Vos, an attorney.

Despite Levitte's objection, Lowe said, "I would be suggesting to the other parties that we get all the parties to talk."

"My reading of the court rules says that if they (the church) could substantially be affected by the outcome they have a right to have their say and intervene."

Lowe said points raised by Levitte that the city should consider include that the project touted as a school addition would be used for other than school events, and that only 30 percent of a lot can be occupied by buildings in a residential area.

If built as planned, the church and currently planned addition would cover more than 50 percent of the lot, Lowe said, which suggests a possible violation of city code.

Some of the church's neighbors have said they fear late-evening use of the addition and increased traffic. The church maintains it would do nothing to disrupt the neighborhood.

The planned two-story addition would include a partial basement. Plans call for classrooms and offices on the first floor, and two school assembly halls and large kitchen facilities on the second floor.

The church counts 2,400 families as members and has a school enrollment of 600 students in grades one through eight.

HOW MUCH DID YOU LOSE LAST YEAR ON NON-DEDUCTIBLE INTEREST?

UNLESS YOU ACT QUICKLY, THIS YEAR COULD BE WORSE.

As you know, Congress has phased out interest deductions on most consumer loans. An exception is a loan secured by your home. Which makes it a great time to apply for a home equity line of credit at First of America Bank-Plymouth.

A Special 20% Interest Discount Offer.

When you sign up for a home equity line by April 15, 1991, you'll receive a 20% discount for all interest you pay this year. If you act now this offer could save you hundreds of dollars in interest.

Put The Deduction Back In Your Interest.

The Federal tax laws allow you to use your home equity line of credit for any purpose you want. And in most cases, on loans all the way up to $100,000, you may get to take a tax deduction.*

Take Advantage Of Your Tax Break.

Get your tax break with our home equity line of credit. You may use this line instead of other loans that are no longer fully tax deductible.

You can also access your credit line simply by writing a check. And the payment schedule is flexible, too.

However, using the equity in your home is not something you should do without careful consideration. Furthermore, there are some items—like normal living expenses, for example—for which a home equity line of credit is definitely not appropriate.

So stop by your nearest First of America Bank-Plymouth office, or call Pat Travis at 459-9000 for more information. We'll provide you with a free information brochure and an application. We'll also help you determine if a home equity line of credit is right for you.

Abductor steals car from woman

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

A Canton Township woman escaped unharmed Wednesday after a man abducted her at knife-point from the parking lot of an Ann Arbor Road pet store and forced her into a short drive through Livonia streets, police said.

The assailant left the woman in a church parking lot a few blocks away before driving off in her car and stealing her purse, which contained more than $200 cash, police said.

A SUSPECT hadn't been identified and Livonia police were continuing their investigation into the incident Friday, said detective Lt. Mike Murray.

Based on what the victim told police, "we think he may have been a mentally disturbed person," Murray said.

The woman's car, a 1983 Chevrolet sedan, hadn't been recovered as of Friday, Murray said.

The victim, 42, told police the incident began shortly after 6 p.m. when she dropped her son off at Fabulous Fins, 38131 Ann Arbor Road.

Her abductor got in through the unlocked passenger door, pressed what appeared to be a kitchen knife to her side and ordered her to "start your car and start driving fast," the woman told police.

AFTER EXITING the parking lot, the man drove her east on Ann Arbor Road, southbound on Newburgh and east on Ann Arbor Trail, the woman said.

He then ordered her to pull into the church lot at 36500 Ann Arbor Trail and demanded that she get out of the car but leave her purse on the front seat, the woman said.

He walked around the car to the driver's side, got in and drove off, the woman said.

In addition to the purse, the woman told police her son's school books and a band instrument were in the back seat.

The woman described her abductor as white, 30-35 years old and about 5 feet 10 inches tall. He was wearing a fishing hat, possibly plaid, with a red v-neck sweater and was visibly intoxicated, the woman told police.

2 local students named Coca-Cola semifinalists

Two Plymouth Salem High School seniors have been named semifinalists in the Coca-Cola Scholars Program. They are David J. Donaldson, son of Mike and Virginia Donaldson of Canton, and Trisha N. Bansal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Suresh C. Bansal of Plymouth.

Each has been selected from more than 60,000 applicants to be named one of the 1,800 Coca-Cola Semifinalists for 1991. Both Donaldson and Bansal have been active in many school clubs and activities, as well as community organizations.

"(Each) exemplifies the balance of leadership, character and achievement, in school and the community, that we are searching for in our Coca-Cola scholars."

"We are delighted to have two semifinalists from our area, and wish them great success in the final stages of the selection process," said James Schultz of Coca-Cola Enterprises North.

plete additional materials, which will be screened by the foundation's program review committee in March.

After the selection of 150 Coca-Cola scholars, these students will attend the National Competition in Atlanta from April 18-20 to compete for designation as a national or regional Coca-Cola scholar.

The 50 national scholars will receive awards of $5,000 per year and the 100 regional scholars will receive $1,000 per year, both renewable for up to four years.

THE LARGEST business-sponsored scholarship program in the country, the foundation is financed by a $25 million endowment contributed by participating Coca-Cola bottlers and the Coca-Cola Co.

Building from the first 150 Coca-Cola scholars selected in spring 1989, the foundation will support 600 scholarships a year by 1992 with annual outlays of more than $1.4 million.

Teen faces bone marrow transplant

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Ray Refitt seems a lot older than 14.

His maturity started to build when he was 9 and began fighting Acute Lymphocytic Leukemia.

"It's pretty much a day-by-day thing," said Ray, a former Canton resident and Lowell Middle School student who now lives in Belleville.

"I take it as it comes. Each step is pretty much difficult."

"When I found out, I didn't know what it was. I was more scared about why my mom was so upset."

Ray knows that his biggest challenge will be when he receives a bone marrow transplant at Harper Hospital in Detroit.

A POTENTIAL donor with the correct bone marrow for Ray was identified Friday. If the person is willing to complete the procedure, the operation could take place within a month.

Money to pay for costs that insurance won't cover is the only unfinished detail.

And Ginie Hauck, of Canton, is handling that. An auction/jamboree

'It's pretty much a day-by-day thing. I take it as it comes. Each step is pretty much difficult. When I found out, I didn't know what it was. I was more scared about why my mom was so upset.'

benefit is planned for April 14 at the Belleville Moose Lodge. She said she also hoped to sponsor other benefits.

If she's able to raise more than the $40,000 Ray needs, the money will be donated to the National Bone Marrow Transplant fund.

HAUCK SAID she was introduced to Ray three years ago by Leah Johnson, owner of Johnson's Family Restaurant, in Canton. Johnson met Ray through his mother, Anna Wade, a waitress at the restaurant. Her husband, Brian Wade, works there as a cook.

"(Ray) was real concerned why God gave him leukemia," said Hauck, who at the time was working as youth minister at St. Michael Lutheran Church in Canton.

"I said I didn't think it was a question of why he got it, but how he was going to deal with having it."

The bond between the two grew stronger after Ray asked Hauck and her husband, Al, to be his godparents. Now Hauck's biggest worry is raising the money needed for the operation.

Two weeks ago she thought she needed to raise $300,000. But she learned his insurance would pay most of the bill.

"Last week I was overwhelmed, because I didn't think I could attain it. This week it's attainable."

Anna Wade said many of her worries are disappearing because she is convinced the money will be raised and her son will have the operation.

"Everything is falling into place," she said. However, time is important, and if they wait too long her son could die, she added.

OVER HIS second hamburger at Johnson's, Ray said the operation doesn't frighten him as much as people might think.

"I know what will happen and I know I'll be taken care of."

He learned about the unsightly details from a video loaned to him by the University of Michigan Hospital. Ray knows that he could be in the hospital anywhere between six weeks and a year.

"He has a lot of pain and suffering to go through yet," Hauck said.

The operation will kill off all his bone marrow. That will render him 100 percent helpless. His mouth will get so sore that he won't be able to eat. And he'll be very sick to his stomach.

"I believe his attitude will carry him through," Hauck said. "I look at him right now and I'm so proud of him."

Ray's advice to other people suffering from the disease is: "It's a very long road and it takes a while. There's a lot of hard work and it takes the family working all together."

Hauck said she wanted everyone who donated to the fund to know "how special they are for caring."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Raymond Refitt, 14, is flanked by his stepfather, Brian Wade, a cook at Johnson's restaurant; Leah Johnson, restaurant owner; and his mother, Anna Wade. Support from family and friends, Refitt said, has helped him fight leukemia.

Donors should make their checks payable to: Belleville L.O.O. Moose Number 934. Send them to: Ray's Life Line, P.O. Box 87948, Canton, Mich. 48187.

For more information about fund-raising events for Ray Refitt, call Hauck at 981-4231.

Airpark can be a great asset

To the editor:

One day last spring, two Plymouth fourth-graders bounded into their classroom, rattling excitedly to their teacher about their weekend airplane ride at Mettetal.

The teacher's eyebrows went up, and she asked a few questions about the exact nature of this ride. When they answered, the teacher was able to conclude, to the students' delight, that their pilot had been the teacher's son.

A small incident, to be sure. One treasured memory of a 100,000 to be made at Mettetal this year; one of millions she has made in her 50 years of existence.

Now that the future of this community airpark has been assured, let's forget this nonsense about recalls and charter amendments, which would have no effect on Mettetal anyway. Let's look to the future, and forge a community airpark that the rest of America can envy.

The building of an aviation school is under way. This school will prepare students for aviation careers, yes, but the skills its students will learn will be useful in many fields.

The same principles of hydraulics, pneumatics, mechanics and electronics which keep large and small airplanes flying also keep assembly lines assembling, stamping presses stamping, operating rooms operating; need I go on? Well, yes...

Airplane exhibitions give children a chance to touch a dream. Is there a kid in America who hasn't dreamed of flight? The first man on the moon was once a kid in Wapakoneta, Ohio, gawking through the fence at ragging Cubs on a sod runway.

The public ownership of Mettetal will serve to make her a true community recreational feature. There is, of course, considerable recreational use of the facility, and, as Canton Supervisor Tom Yack has pointed out, it is important "to ensure that the Canton (and Plymouth) community always has recreation and open space."

Open space, observation decks, picnic tables, airplane exhibitions, charity fund-raisers, community get-togethers. Sixty acres of harmony between community, business, recreation, and education. With no local tax money spent to get it. With no tax money required to maintain it.

What Canton didn't have the sense to preserve, Plymouth did. Good for you, Plymouth. Now get behind it. Drop in. Look around. Pack a picnic lunch, if you want, but please, come on in. And oh, yes... Bring your children.

William Kern

Our tolerance is proof that freedom reigns

To the editor:

Recently, I attended a patriotic rally in downtown Plymouth. Among the scores of people who turned out to support our actions in the Persian Gulf was a lone protester, holding a sign which read "Make Peace, Not War."

During the entire rally, although she attracted some curious stares, I didn't witness a single person attempt to harass her or interfere with her right to express herself.

No stronger statement of the strength of our democratic system could be found. In many countries around the world, a citizen who dared express her opposition to government policy would be rewarded with a midnight knock on her door, a beating or a bullet.

We sent half a million men and women to the Middle East to stand up to a bully. The success of their mission is something in which we can all take great pride. Sadly, over 100 names have been added to the list of Americans who gave their lives in defense of liberty.

However, our high-sounding ideals mean nothing, unless, when they are put to the test, we prove by our actions that they are more than just empty words. On that Friday evening in Kellogg Park, another, smaller battle was fought for freedom. We won again.

Recycling is working in Canton

To the editor:

In response to Laurel Beyer's letter of Monday, Feb. 25:

Canton Township has no problem with its recycling programs now being tested.

In fact, participation rates have been over 70 percent and with very few minor problems. There is no reason for Canton residents to dump their trash anywhere but at their own curbside. Except for the addition of the curbside pickup of recyclables, Canton residents participating in the pilot programs are having their trash picked up as usual.

Your problem is not related to Canton's recycling program, however it may be related to Plymouth's "bag tag" program which started in mid-December.

Look to the north for the origin of your problem.

Cindy Burgess, member, Canton Solid Waste Management Committee

Reader needs recycling facts

To the editor:

I think you ought to do another column to clear up some facts for folks about recycling.

a) Just what is corrugated cardboard anyway? Egg cartons too? People throw in stuff like cereal boxes - why?

b) What happens if you throw in plastic without the recycling mark?

c) Aren't cans supposed to be flattened?

d) Why doesn't Canton put overhead lights by the bins so that the darkness is not so overpowering?

e) Can aluminum foil go into the canned part if washed?

Sharon Kress, Canton

Yack off base on Mettetal

To the editor:

Unbelievable. Tom Yack seems to be a master at manipulating the democratic process to suit his own point of view. Or he is simply taking incredibly bad advice?

While the supporters of the Mettetal airport JOA have never hidden their goal of preserving the airport for future generations, we have carefully followed the proper steps in achieving that goal, starting (most properly), with Mr. Yack and his formation of the Canton airport study commission, consisting of a cross section of informed citizens of Canton's own choosing.

Soon we found that, as you probably have read before, this democratic process was being tainted with the input of "unbiased financial facts" by a member of that committee that admittedly had his paychecks signed by a major stockholder of a competing airport that had everything to gain by Mettetal's demise.

This was glossed over with some curt remarks at a commission meeting by Dan Calabrese, assistant to Tom Yack and "steering" chair of that airport committee.

That same major stockholder's son prepared a 14-page Mettetal impact study report out of his "concern for Canton Township's well-being," largely negatively slanted.

In spite of these roadblocks to the process, the majority of the Canton airport study commission voted to pursue the purchase of the airport after many months of careful study and effort.

When it didn't come out the way Mr. Yack would have liked it to, the "boss" simply took his stance, and he and other trustees voted down their own select committee's vote to buy the airport.

It was then that we felt we were being manipulated by Canton and that our precious time and efforts were being wasted. We then informed the trustees at several public meetings that other communities were interested and that we would and could, with the blessings of the state, pursue the preservation of the airport.

Their smug and curt answer, which is a matter of public record was, in effect, "If any other cities or townships are interested, then let them pursue and acquire it for we are not interested!"

It was clear they did not think enough of our intent to worry them any further. There was even a vote taken, I believe, to "never bring up the Mettetal issue in these chambers again." We would have been glad if Yack's meddling had ended there.

Once Mr. Yack got it through his head that others really were interested in preserving this last one-of-a-kind airport, Yack was there every step of the way with his "roadblocks" to our goal - with thinly veiled attempts at rezoning the airport after 50 years to a non-conforming user, (which would have killed it for sure); with slanted and biased statements repeated over and over under the guise of questions (that had been answered by state and federal officials at dozens of public meetings); with intervention at the congressional level to deny the future community airport a percentage of state funds to be used in its purchase; with innuendos concerning other communities' interests in preserving this important open space (after his own board of trustees gave their tacit approval to pursue this very goal); with insults to respected business leaders, such as Robert DeMattia, a true gentleman and a definite asset to southeastern Michigan (even some of Yack's fellow trustees objected vehemently to that one.)

The list goes on. My question is "When are you going to pursue some creative township goals Mr. Yack?" The score is: Federal government... for preservation.

State government... for preservation.

Wayne County Planning Commission... for.

Canton Township Planning Commission... for.

Canton Township airport study commission... for.

Plymouth Township airport study commission... for.

City of Plymouth... 6 to 1... for.

More than 2,200 Canton Township signatures gleaned in a four-hour period one Saturday afternoon on petition clearly headed "Preserve Mettetal airport..." and the establishment of an aviation school... at no local property tax or bond issue expense to the taxpayer... please reconsider your position Mr. Yack."

Numerous business leaders, educators, union leaders, Scout troops, journalists and children of all ages... for.

Tom Yack and a few associates, along with an embittered, loud and ignorant Plymouth citizens group... against.

(If Plymouth Concerned Citizens think they have problems with their worthy officials, they ought to live in Canton under the present administration. They'd form more than a committee.)

I'll bet the Great Yack thinks he is the majority. Come on Tom, put all this energy to some creative use and do something good for Canton before you leave office. You don't have forever, you know, or maybe you don't know.

Bill Herrick, Canton Township

Home office articles 'best'

To the editor:

Wow! The articles written by Diane Hanson on the subject of home offices, Feb. 21 edition, were absolutely fantastic; the best I have ever seen anywhere.

Many others in various forms of newsprint have attempted to capture the true essence of the home office and have not quite hit the mark. Diane Hanson combined business with the people side of the story and was very successful.

In addition, Diane has a wonderful interviewing style - a true professional in every sense of the word.

Commission backs exec's stadium plan

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

The Wayne County Commission is the latest group to join the movement to keep the Detroit-Tigers baseball team in Detroit.

Commissioners voted 8-4 last week to support Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's to create a county stadium authority, but indicated they would still like more information on McNamara's plan.

The authority would issue bonds to pay for the stadium, though McNamara has yet to fully specify what type of bonds would be issued or how they would be financed.

"This was a board statement of agreement with the concept," said commissioner Kevin Kelley, D-Redford, who proposed the resolution. "I'm sure there's going to be close scrutiny of any bond proposal that comes before us."

Several suburban commissioners joined with Kelley in voting their support. Kay Beard, D-Inkster, Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn and William O'Neil, D-Allen Park, were among those voting with the majority.

"I THINK it's especially significant that Susan Hubbard and Bill O'Neil voted yes, because their communities have also been listed as possible sites for the stadium," Kelley said.

Kelley's district includes a section of Detroit. Beard also represents Westland and Garden City.

Area commissioners Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, and Shirley Poling, D-Canton, voted against the resolution. Both had previously expressed concern with using county bonds to finance a new stadium.

"I realize it's a controversial issue," Kelley said. "When you go into your district, people want to talk about roads, sewers and social services. They don't want to talk about a new stadium."

The resolution notes the nearly-100 year history of major league baseball in Detroit, as well as Tiger management's expressed desire for a new stadium by 1995.

McNamara, whose plan also involves economic zones near a new stadium site, has "only informally" discussed the concept with commissioners, Kelley said.

"But we still felt it was important to take a stand in support," he said.

Lawsuit benefits Rouge study group

Friends of the Rouge will benefit, in a roundabout way, from settlement of a lawsuit against the city of Detroit.

The local environmental group will receive $100,000 for its high school study program as part of the lawsuit settlement.

"It's great," said Friends of the Rouge director Larry Coogan, who considers the money a welcome surprise.

The suit involved toxic discharges at the Detroit wastewater treatment plant. The Public Interest Research Group in Michigan, an Ann Arbor-based citizen advocacy group, filed suit seeking information on toxic discharges from the plant, names of area industries discharging toxins and punitive damages against the city.

PIRGIM and the city entered into a consent judgment last week, with U.S. District Court Judge John Feikens ordering the $100,000 payment in lieu of penalty.

"We wanted information on toxic discharges and on what the city was doing to minimize the discharges,"

PIRGIM spokesman Andy Buchsbaum said of the lawsuit, filed in 1987.

An international study "pinpointed the plant as a source of toxic pollution to the Rouge and Detroit rivers", Buchsbaum said.

Traces of heavy metals and industrial chemicals are among the items believed to be discharged from the plant into nearby waterways, he said.

"The plant discharges about 500 gallons a day, so the potential is there," Buchsbaum said.

Discharge information, blocked by the city, will now be made public.

A public list of industries emitting toxins into the wastewater system, published by the city since 1988, will be made permanent.

The Friends of the Rouge has operated its education program at high schools and junior highs throughout Wayne and Oakland counties since 1987.

It is the major year-round project of the environmental group, which also sponsors the annual Rouge River Rescue.

Bicycle ride aids child abuse councils

The second annual Magic Ride for the prevention of child abuse and neglect has been scheduled for Saturday, May 11, in Canton.

The ride is a bicycle event, raising money for child abuse councils in Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw and Monroe counties.

Riders in last year's debut event raised $20,000 for area child abuse councils.

The event is based on the Lansing area's Magic Ride, initially sponsored by state Sen. Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing, and basketball superstar Earvin "Magic" Johnson.

The metro area ride will begin at the Canton Recreation Complex, 1150 Canton Center road.

Lunch and a free T-shirt will be provided riders who register before Tuesday, April 22. Money raised by riders will be returned to councils that serve the rider's community.

The event is sponsored by McDonald's, Elias Brothers, Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, Kroger, Wayne Disposal, Canton Township, Canton-Plymouth Jaycees, Canton Rotary and Omnicom Cablevision.

Additional information is available by calling 454-5428.

Information on county child abuse programs is available by calling Sandra Murphy, Wayne County, 561-4110; Meg Mittel, Oakland, 332-7173.

Local leaders say U.S. must seek peace in Middle East

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

The U.S. will have a major role in determining if the Middle East resolves long-standing problems and lives in peace or erupts into further conflict, a Palestinian-American and a Jewish-American told a gathering of the Observer & Eccentric news staffers last week.

Terry Ahwal, a resident of Livonia who was born in the Middle East, and Rabbi Sherwin Wine, the Detroit-born founder of the Birmingham Temple in Farmington Hills, gave their personal views Thursday at the O&E Journalist of the Year banquet.

Photographer Dan Dean, of West Bloomfield Township, was selected by his colleagues as the newspaper chain's top journalist for 1990.

A graduate of Oakland University, Dean, 28, joined the O&E in June, 1983, and has covered a variety of assignments for various papers within the chain. He is currently the staff photographer for the West Bloomfield and Lakes editions.

Terry Ahwal, a Livonia resident who was born in the Middle East, cautioned that "if the U.S. does not use its influence to bring about peace, we could lose the Middle East (and its oil reserves) forever."

While the O&E's top journalist was focus of the gathering, Ahwal and Wine provided food for thought with their personal insights into events leading to the war in the Persian Gulf and their thoughts on the future.

"IF THE U.S. does not use its influence to bring about peace, we could lose the Middle East forever," cautioned Ahwal, a frequent spokeswoman for the American-Arab Anti-Defamation Committee and an executive assistant to Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara.

After leading coalition forces to victory over Iraq, the U.S. is the only world power with the prestige and influence to pressure the Israelis and Arabs to address the Palestinian problem, said Wine, the founder of the International Institute for Secular Humanistic Judaism, a research and leadership training center in Jerusalem.

Ahwal and Wine agree that world conditions — now that Iraq is defeated — are ripe for the U.S. to be the peace broker. Indeed, the country's role as world leader demands it, they said.

But each holds a different view about how the U.S. should exert its influence.

Ahwal said U.S. foreign policy has historically favored Israel. "Whatever Israel wanted — weapons or economic aid — she could have," she said, "usually to the detriment of Palestinians."

CONSEQUENTLY, PALESTINIANS embraced Saddam Hussein and Iraq, she said, even though they didn't necessarily back aggression against Kuwait.

The U.S. must adopt an even-handed foreign policy, Ahwal said, and, if necessary, insist on sanctions against Israel to force the government to treat the Palestinians with dignity and negotiate a solution to tensions in the West Bank and other occupied territories.

Nothing less will do, she said. Otherwise, the region is condemned to continued strife and instability.

Wine said most Jews supported U.S. military action, not so much against Iraq but against Hussein, whom they see as a ruthless dictator.

"One of the illusions the recent military action stripped away," he said, "is the cleverness of Saddam Hussein. He is an international gangster whose decision to invade Kuwait was an act of stupidity."

In trying to understand the Israelis, "You must understand that Israel has been at war since 1948," Wine said. The need to survive has resulted in a "war psychology" that hardened the country's attitude toward Palestinians.

That psychology prevails today, he said, heightened by the jubilation of Palestinians who cheered as Iraqi-launched Scud missiles fell on Israeli residential areas.

IT WILL NOT be easy, Wine predicted. The U.S. may pressure Israel to negotiate with the Palestinians — and work out a peace accord. But the U.S. must also pressure the Palestinians to change their anti-Israeli attitude.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Rabbi Sherwin Wine, the Detroit-born founder of the Birmingham Temple in Farmington Hills, said most Jews supported U.S. military action, not so much against Iraq, but against Saddam Hussein who they see as a ruthless dictator.

Area senators OK plan to grant more tax relief

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Senate Republicans and Democrats have opened a bidding war on school property tax relief.

All area senators voted yes Thursday as the GOP-run chamber increased the cost of Gov. John Engler's tax cut program amid warnings that state taxes might have to be raised to pay for property tax cuts.

"Each of these amendments creates a tax expenditure. It's going up by the minute," warned Engler loyalist Sen. Phil Arthurhult, R-Whitehall. "Some have a hidden agenda — a tax increase. They want to get the budget so far out of balance that a tax increase is necessary. The bill will come very quickly."

The package goes to the House, where Democratic leaders want to give relief only to low-income homeowners and raise business taxes $500 million.

THE SENATE adopted a Democratic amendment to raise school property tax relief from the 20 percent recommended by Engler to 33 percent. The result would be an overall property tax cut of 20 percent.

Republicans Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, Fred Dillingham of Fowlerville and Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo crossed over to join 15 Democrats in giving that amendment 18-17 approval.

School operating taxes are about two-thirds of most Michiganians property tax bills. One-third goes to cities, villages, townships, counties and community colleges.

Majority Republicans shot down a series of Democratic amendments to target cuts for low-income homeowners, preferring a cut for all property taxes.

ENGLER, WHO presented his first full-year budget two hours later, said he wouldn't comment on the Senate's action until he had studied it. But it clearly was a blow to his plans to grant only $525 million in property tax relief the first year.

Engler actually juggled his timetable for cutting property taxes by cutting assessments 20 percent over three years. Instead of annual cuts of 10, 5 and 5 percent, he now proposes 5, 10 and 5 percent. The result would be the same, but the first-year cut would be halved.

Despite Arthurhult's misgivings, the Senate gave 32-5 approval to SB 19, the 33 percent reduction in school operating property taxes. Voting no were Democrats Lana Pollack of Ann Arbor, Debbie Stabenow of Lansing, Virgil Smith, Jackie Vaughn and David Holmes of Detroit.

William Faust, D-Westland, had an excused absence.

AREA SENATORS liked the result.

"True, it did not address school finance reform," said R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, "but it's not designed to. It's a good, comprehensive property tax relief bill."

"There's no reason it should be limited (to homes, as Democrats proposed). Our goal is to make business more profitable so they can hire more people. As Gov. Engler says, 'The best welfare program is a job.'"

"I'll go along," said George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn, "but I don't think it will work." Hart said California's Proposition 13, which slashed property taxes in 1978, was given exaggerated credit for boosting that state's economy.

Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, supported some but denounced other Democratic amendments. He blistered a Detroit attempt to distribute property tax cuts on a per-pupil basis but supported Pollack's unsuccessful effort to mandate that cuts in apartment taxes be passed back to renters.

World depends on rice

Rice is one of the world's most important foodstuffs that provides basic sustenance to more than half the population of the globe. The cuisines of Japan, China, India and Southeast Asia are all rice based; few meals are served without it.

You will find rice on an African Babooti dinner table, and in a Spanish polenta or paella, a true Hungarian stuffed cabbage, a French pilaf or an Italian risotto. In the good old USA, rice is as comfortable sitting next to a meatloaf as it is with a lobster Newburg.

Thousands of varieties of rice are cultivated, but the most important distinction from the cook's standpoint is the length of the grain. Long grain rice has a decidedly different texture when cooked than short grain rice and is thus better suited to certain types of dishes.

SOME COOKS insist on washing or soaking the rice before use. Although washing removes external starch particles that might cause stickiness, it also washes away any vitamin or protein enrichment. On the other hand, some cooks claim that rinsing gives the rice a cleaner, lighter taste. Whether the nutritional loss is worth the improved flavor, or whether indeed the flavor improvement is noticeable, is a matter of personal taste.

There are as many ways to cook rice as there are major varieties. While growing up in Wyandotte, Momma served legions of the venerable Uncle Ben's. On Fridays, especially during Lent, Minute Rice was the star that was usually accompanied by a piece of Shake 'n' Bake for fish.

Arborio (an Italian short grain high in starch) was a university town about 30 miles away. Basmati (an aromatic long grain from India) was nonexistent. Even brown rice was relegated to the health food store shelves, and if you wanted rice in five minutes it was Minute Rice — if you could wait 20 minutes, it was Uncle Ben's.

For dinner, rice was served la carte. If you adorned it with anything, it was simply a shake of La Choy Soy Sauce. I do remember one time when Dad was laid off and leftover rice was tossed with a few scrambled eggs and some frozen vegetables for a quasi-fried-rice low-cost dinner.

The basic measured water method is the most widely used procedure for producing perfect rice every time. The basic rule of thumb is 1 1/2 cups of boiling water for every cup of rice. Stir, reduce the heat to a simmer, cover and cook 20 minutes. Brown rice needs a two-for-one ratio (2 cups water to 1 cup rice) and cooking time increases to about 40-45 minutes. Wild rice, which plumps more than a Ball Park hotdog, needs 2 1/2 cups boiling water to 1 cup rice and about 40-45 minutes to cook.

IF THE OVEN is going strong, you can do the unlimited water method for cooking rice. This has the cook boiling the rice in an unlimited amount of boiling water for 10-15 minutes. Drain well in a sieve and place the rice in a covered casserole and bake, covered, for 15-20 minutes in a moderate oven, for perfect steamed perfection. Even the microwave can cook perfect rice. Just double the liquid and cook five minutes at 100 percent power, then cook 15 minutes at 50 percent power.

Any way you look at it, rice is a crowd pleaser. What better way to stretch your food dollar and prepare something a little different to accentuate tonight's dinner than by cooking rice.

THE BEST Chocolate Chip COOKIE

By Geri Rinschler
special writer

THE CHOCOLATE chip cookie is undoubtedly one of life's simple pleasures. It is best loved not only because it tastes so good but because it brings to mind old-fashioned childhood memories and pleasant family times.

Considered to be America's favorite cookie, the chocolate chip is relatively new. You will not find a recipe in any cookbook written prior to 1930.

It was shortly after that when Ruth and Kenneth Wakefield opened their Toll House restaurant and inn in Whitman, Mass. Ruth baked all the desserts for the Toll House including the cookies. One day while preparing a batch of Butter Drop-Do cookies, she ran out of nuts and substituted chopped semisweet chocolate.

As you have guessed, the cookie was marvelous, and word spread throughout the land about her discovery. As the story goes, Wakefield later contacted Nestle and asked the company to score its chocolate bars to make it easier to chop when adding chocolate to cookie recipes. Nestle agreed and asked if it could print her recipe on the wrapper.

NINE YEARS LATER, the Nestle company developed the chocolate chip as we know it today. Wakefield sold all legal rights to the use of the Toll House trademark to Nestle. According to authors Larry and Honey Zisman of "The 47 Best Chocolate Chip Cookies in the World," Nestle lost its exclusive rights to the Toll House trademark in 1983, and toll house is now a generic or descriptive term for a cookie.

The chocolate chip cookie of the '90s has taken on many different descriptions based on the variety of chocolate chips, such as mint, butterscotch, white, chunks and discs, as well as the addition of cocoa, melted chocolate, oatmeal and ground nuts to the batter. Cookbook author Judith Olney likes to use one-half cup of bran in the basic Toll House recipe in place of one-half cup of walnuts to add some fiber. Many cookie shops such as the Blue Chip Cookie Company in San Francisco prefer a white chocolate chunk and macadamia combination.

No matter what your preference, the key to creating a great chocolate chip cookie is simple. So put on your apron, warm up the oven and get ready to enjoy the best chocolate chip cookie, ever!

Research shows that most professional cooks prefer to use a recipe based on six tablespoons of sugar for every cup of flour, as written in Wakefield's original Toll House recipe. The amount of fat is generally eight tablespoons per cup of flour. Once you have discovered a reliable recipe, the secret to making fantastic cookies is in the freshness and quality of the ingredients.

Shopping for quality ingredients is not difficult once you know what to look for. Most recipes recommend butter for tenderizing instead of margarine. Different brands of margarine contain varying amounts of water, anywhere from 40 to 60 percent, resulting in a very different texture cookie than one baked with butter. After selecting the freshest eggs, check to make sure they are size large and are at room temperature before using.

SOME RECIPES suggest unbleached flour while others do not indicate a preference. Unbleached flour generally contains a higher amount of protein, absorbing more liquid than bleached flour and results in a tougher cookie.

Chocolate is a very important ingredient in a chocolate chip cookie recipe. All brands of chocolate are interchangeable in a recipe, but some are better than others. I prefer Swiss chocolates such as Tobler or Lindt, which are sold only in bars and must be hand chopped for cookies. Mrs. Field's semisweet chocolate chips have a smooth, rich flavor and give very good results. These chips can be found in most grocery stores.

The most important pieces of equipment for making cookies are heavy-duty aluminum cookie sheets and a mercury oven thermometer. Ovens of all types, whether they are electric or gas, even brand new, are inaccurate. The easiest way to ruin a good cookie recipe is overbaking due to high oven temperatures.

It's worth the investment to purchase a mercury thermometer. Keep it in the oven during baking. These thermometers can be found in most hardware, department and kitchenware stores.

Heavy-duty shiny aluminum cookie sheets with low sides are best for evenly baked cookies. Some recipes specify, grease cookie sheet before baking; others don't. Generally, greasing a cookie sheet causes a cookie batter to spread more during the baking process. Too much greasing can cause a cookie to burn around the edges. A light vegetable spray such as Pam works well for this technique.

All eyes watch as Ginger Broome peels, cores and slices a plump Granny Smith apple.

In a three-in-one process, using a special tool, Broome has a stack of perfect apple rings.

"Will you look at that!" exclaims a woman watching the demonstration.

Broome places the apples onto pieces of sugar-cookie dough, grates on some fresh lemon peel and tosses on a streusel topping. Within minutes, the group will enjoy a fresh-from-the-oven apple kuchen and other delicious goodies prepared by Dorothea Broome of Canton — "Ginger" to everyone who knows her.

Broome, a 39-year-old homemaker and mother of four children, is a demonstrator-saleswoman for Pampered Chef, a line of high-quality kitchen tools sold at home parties.

"Some items are available in stores," said Broome. "What they are gaining is a demonstration and how to care for the products."

Pampered Chef, based in Illinois, was launched 11 years ago by Doris Christopher, a homemaker with a degree in home economics.

The line features more than 125 items, ranging from peelers and cutters for around $1 each to ceramic baking "stones" in the $25 range.

THERE ARE gadgets to cut and crimp bite-sized appetizers, implements to make fancy veggie shapes and pancake molds in three shapes — dinosaur, heart and teddy bear. All carry a guarantee of one year, some carry longer guarantees.

The parties are designed to be educational. Broome, one of a handful of Pampered Chef demonstrators in the Detroit suburbs, does a show-and-tell using the company's slicers, dicers, molds and baking pans.

"Many of the items have two and more uses," Broome said. Most people don't have time to go to a specialty store to buy high-quality items."

Today's group of a dozen women have gathered in the Redford home of Ruth Monstur. Most are friends of Monstur who meet regularly to socialize and make crafts.

The guests will enjoy a mouth-watering lunch of mini egg rolls, a cheesy spinach loaf encased in light crust, spinach salad and a frothy gelatin ambrosia served in fancy orange cups.

"Mm, we're getting a free cooking lesson," someone comments, watching Broome assemble the ingredients for the spinach loaf. The recipe uses refrigerated crescent rolls, frozen spinach souffle, shredded mozzarella, water chestnuts and cooked rice.

A delicious aroma fills the room as a batch of mini cinnamon rolls bakes on a Pampered Chef deep-dish baker. The recipe uses canned crescent rolls, cinnamon, margarine and nuts. It is topped with a powdered sugar glaze.

HER PRESENTATION is low-key. Broome explains that the unglazed ceramic baking pieces are designed to absorb moisture and provide even heat. The food stays warm for several minutes after it is removed from the oven.

"You grease the stone only the first time you use it," Broome said. "You don't use soap on this."

Because Monstur has provided many of the ingredients for today's demonstration, she earns bonus points toward free merchandise. She chooses a vegetable peeler, a paring knife, a lemon zester and a tool to make quick, perfectly shaped tarts.

"They are very fine products," Monstur said.

Broome became a Pampered Chef saleswoman several months ago after holding her own party. She later was recruited by Karla Thomas of Brighton, a Pampered Chef manager.

"This fits," Broome said. "With a husband and four kids, it has to fit."

Broome, who enjoys cooking, invested $100 for a kit of Pampered Chef products and recipes. She has done demonstrations at lunchtime, in the evening and for Saturday brunch.

One hostess decided to hold a party at her office, which has a kitchen. Broome hopes to be doing parties for couples.

"It seems to apply to everyone," Broome said. "The response has been so good." For more information about Pampered Chef, call 455-6496.

Remove wrapping from cookie dough. Cut 22 to 24 thin slices (use about three-fourths of roll). Arrange dough slices in a circle on a greased baking sheet (or ungreased 13-inch baking stone) about 1/2-inch from edge. Slices should touch each other. CLASSIC RICE PILAF
1 tablespoon oil
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup rice
1 1/4 cups boiling salted water

Melt oil and butter in a heavy-bottomed saucepan over moderate heat. Add rice and stir to coat all grains with fat. Saute 2-3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add boiling water, cover and reduce to low heat. Cook for 15 minutes. Remove from heat, let stand 5 minutes, fluff with a fork.

LEMON RISOTTO
2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons unsalted butter
2 tablespoons olive oil
1/4 cup minced onion
Grated rind of 1 lemon (optional)
1 1/2 cups arborio rice
4 1/2 cups chicken stock
1/4 cup plus 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup fresh grated Parmesan cheese
Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a heavy saucepan over moderate low heat. Add olive oil, then the onion and lemon rind. Saute for 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add rice and turn heat to high, tossing and coating rice for 30 seconds. Immediately add 1/2 cup chicken stock and reduce heat to medium low. Stir constantly until stock is absorbed. Keep adding more stock, as needed, 1/2 cup at a time, stirring constantly. When all the stock is absorbed, stir in 1/4 cup lemon juice. Rice should be tender and should take no longer than 30 minutes.

Stir in Parmesan and remaining butter. Cook briefly to blend in cheese. Season to taste with salt and fresh ground pepper. Add remaining lemon juice and serve immediately.

In the good old USA, rice is as comfortable sitting next to a meatloaf as it is with a lobster Newburg.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow. Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind. In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to root your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today!

St. Paddy's Day offers corned beef, cabbage

Leapin' Leprechauns. St. Patrick's Day is only six days away. This mid-month holiday, dedicated to the patron saint of Ireland, helps to chase off winter doldrums and sets the stage for spring.

And what could be a more perfect Winner Dinner menu for this special day than the one submitted by Pauline Drost of Westland, featuring corned beef, a delicious cabbage casserole, and pumpkin tea bread for dessert. Quick and easy to make, this traditional fare will bring a taste of Ireland to the dinner table.

Mother of two grown children, Drost used to work for Cunningham Drugs where she assisted in the pharmacy. She is enjoying retirement and loves having more time to work on embroidery and needlepoint projects. Drost also has been doing some genealogy research and recently discovered that her ancestors participated in the Revolutionary War.

She and her husband Edwin are fortunate in that they share many of the same interests, such as gardening. Over the years they have traveled to many different parts of the country to tour well-known gardens. The couple has tried to adapt some of what they have seen to their own garden at home.

THEIR CAMARADERIE extends to the kitchen as well where Drost's husband's specialty is cooking and hers is baking. Their two sons, who live in the area, are frequent, lucky recipients of their parents' culinary efforts.

Thank you, Pauline Drost, for sharing your recipes with us and congratulations on being this week's Winner Dinner Winner. Your delicious menu is sure to bring pleasure and make Irish eyes smile.

On a last note, with spring coming, I am really looking forward to receiving more menus that are HeartSmart and simple, as well as family favorites. Perhaps you have a preferred way to grill fish or stir-fry chicken. If so, please take a minute and send in the recipe because what works for you might work for someone else as well. 3 large garlic cloves, crushed

Place the ingredients in a large pot and cover with water. Simmer over low heat for approximately 2 hours. Drain and slice into thin slices. Serve with mustard if desired.

CABBAGE CASSEROLE

The mild taste of this casserole enhances the spiciness of the corned beef.

2 cups crushed cornflakes
4 cups cabbage, chopped into 1-inch pieces
1 stick margarine, melted
1 cup hot, skim milk
1 can cream of celery soup, 10½ ounce size
½ cup low-cholesterol mayonnaise
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
½ cup carrots, finely julienned into matchstick size

In a separate bowl, mix the cornflakes and melted margarine together. Spread half the mixture in the bottom of a 9-by-13-inch baking dish. Mix all the ingredients together except for the rest of the cornflakes. Place the cabbage mixture on top the cornflakes in the baking dish. Spread the rest of the cornflakes on top and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

PUMPKIN TEA BREAD

A family favorite, this recipe is quick and easy to prepare and always eagerly consumed. This recipe yields 1 loaf or 2 mini loaves.

1 cup brown sugar
½ cup vegetable oil
1 cup canned pumpkin
2 eggs (or ½ cup Eggbeater)
1½ cup self-rising flour
1¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ cup golden raisins
½ cup dark raisins
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

In a large bowl, beat together the sugar, oil, pumpkin and eggs. In a medium bowl, stir together the flour and cinnamon, fold this into the pumpkin mixture, stirring just enough to moisten the dry ingredients.

Stir in raisins and nuts and pour batter into a 9-by-5-by-3-inch greased and floured loaf pan (or 2 mini loaf pans.)

Bake in a preheated oven at 350 degrees for 55 minutes or until a pick inserted in the center of the bread comes out clean. (Check after 40 minutes if using mini loaf pans.)

Cool the pan on a rack for 10 minutes, then turn out the loaf and cool completely. Dust with powdered sugar if desired.

American cuisine is chef's topic at seminar

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

The role of the Culinary Olympics in developing American cuisine was discussed by Chef Jeff Gabriel during the third annual Chef's Seminar for Sophisticated Cooks on Monday at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The day-long seminar with metro-Detroit's top chefs was held at the culinary arts department at the Waterman Campus Center. Gabriel is chef instructor for Schoolcraft's American Harvest restaurant and also chef/partner (with Keith Farnie) at the trendy, highly rated Les Auteurs restaurant in Royal Oak.

Gabriel, who has been a member and captain of Culinary Olympic Teams, declared, "The Olympic Team was a very important part in developing American regional cuisine."

His team was named World Champions in the 1988 Olympics — the grand prize. "The food that we served in 1988 becomes the trend for the next four years," Gabriel said.

DURING THE Chef's Seminar at Schoolcraft, Gabriel demonstrated Cornish Game Hen Minnesota Woodsman's Style and Fillet of Salmon Prudhoe Bay. In another seminar, conducted at the same time, Chef Edward Janos of Too Chez in Novi showed how to make Twice Cooked Marinated Duck and Herb Braised Atlantic Wolffish.

The seminar was attended by nearly 50 people, mostly individuals associated with restaurants and other aspects of the food field. Besides Gabriel and Janos, sessions were taught by Milos Cihelka of the Golden Mushroom in Southfield, William J. Hall of Arriva Italia in Warren, Brian Polcyn of Chimayo Restaurant and Pike Street in Pontiac, Leisa Tompkins Hoffman and Pauline Palazzolo of the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham, Peter Loren of the Opus One in Detroit and Marcus Haight of the Lark in Farmington.

Following is a recipe for Fillet of Salmon Prudhoe Bay, which took the World Cup for the United States Olympic Team.

FILLET OF SALMON PRUDHOE BAY
(from Chef Jeff Gabriel)

- 1-2 pound salmon fillet, boneless and skinless
- 8 ounces salmon trimmings
- 8 ounces raw shrimp
- 1 egg
- 1 1/4 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon fresh dill
- Salt to taste
- White pepper to taste
- 6 sheets phyllo pastry
- 1 cup clarified butter
- 6 crepes
- 1 cup bread crumbs

Puree salmon trimmings and raw shrimp with the egg until smooth.

Slowly drizzle in the cream, add the salt, pepper, and dill.

Butter 1 sheet of phyllo, then sprinkle on bread crumbs and repeat this 5 more times by making a layer of 6 sheets.

Cover the dough with the crepes, and spread on the mousse evenly.

Place the salmon fillet in the center and wrap it firmly, butter the outside of the roll and bake it at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Let it rest and then slice.

During the Chef's Seminar at Schoolcraft, Gabriel demonstrated Cornish Game Hen Minnesota Woodsman's Style and Fillet of Salmon Prudhoe Bay.

Learning all about European wine labels

One of the major differences between American and European wines is the label. Most American wine labels are dominated by a grape name, such as cabernet sauvignon or chardonnay. European wine labels emphasize the place where the wine was made, such as Bordeaux or Burgundy.

As you become more interested in wine and its origins, place names become important to identifying a wine's quality. With the long history of winemaking in Europe, a classification of wine quality evolved based principally on a wine's geographic origin.

Without being predisposed to geography, an interest in wine tends to generate a curiosity about place. It is now possible to learn everything you've ever wanted to know about Italian wines in Burton Anderson's "The Wine Atlas of Italy: And Traveller's Guide to the Vineyards" (Simon & Schuster, $40).

The book is well written by one of the best authorities on Italian wines.

"OZ CLARKE'S New Encyclopedia of French Wines" (Simon & Schuster, $24.95) is an accurate, refreshingly humorous text covering all the wine regions of France. The book's features offer a comfortable introduction to French wines.

Clarke, a British wine authority and broadcaster, has traveled the length of France. He understands the wines and gives superb descriptions of aromas and flavors. Clarke is opinionated and doesn't mind letting you know.

He calls Muscadet "the perfect easy-going light, soft, fresh dry white." For good value he predicts, "We're going to see more and more Corbières, Minervois, Fitou and Cotes du Roussillon." He contends that Beaujolais' Gamay grape "can perform brilliantly but frequently doesn't."

Of the famous red Bordeaux wines of Chateau Lafite Rothschild, Clarke said, "I wish I could draw near in humble mood to worship at this shrine of perfection, but I can't, and the reason is simply that the wine is so wretchedly inconsistent." On the other hand he admits, "La Lagune has given me more pleasure than any other single wine."

Despairing about the quality of the white wines of Macon, Clarke suggests that although we should see a steady stream of enjoyable, fruity, fresh, creamy Macon-Villages Chardonnay, the wines of Australia and New Zealand have twice the flavor at half the price.

"THE SIMON & Schuster Be-

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

ginner's Guide to Understanding Wine" (Michael Schuster, Fireside Books, $12.95) is a guide for the novice and experienced alike. Schuster expertly focuses on tasting techniques, grape varieties and winemaking methods, accompanied by illustrative color photographs.

A proponent of language as a part of wine enjoyment, Schuster emphasizes correct vocabulary as he describes tasting techniques. He uses all the senses (sight, smell, taste and touch) to encourage a complete experience.

Grapes, and the wines they make, are discussed from aligote to viognier, for whites, and cabernet to zinfandel red wines. Sparkling and fortified wines are explained and a brief discussion of spirits also is included.

Books are the best way to expand your wine education. They will heighten your wine enjoyment.

SPAS

The word BATH comes from the English town of the same name. People with arthritis came from all over Britain to take treatments in the warm springs that dotted the surrounding area. The idea spread to continental Europe and developed into the Spa.

Spa therapy rests on four features: heat, rest, supervised recreation, and prolonged absence from the pressures of daily life. Spa therapy succeeds, and for that reason remains a popular institution in Europe today.

The same cannot be said for its place in America. In part the reason is that our society does not look favorably on the idea of leisure for rest. In part the spas are dismissed because it is our practice to look to medication and surgery in hopes of a fast improvement, or even a cure.

Experience in arthritis treatment indicates that spas have a place, and that the treatment they offer is hardly as hazardous and less expensive compared to medicines or operations.

Probably both the medical profession and the public should reconsider present opinions on the spa. Giving more attention to the therapy it offers will like benefit individuals with arthritis and lessen the burden upon those who pay for their care.

Canton upsets Salem, wins district title

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The new kids on the block aren't a popular teenage rock group, but members of the Plymouth Canton basketball team.

The Chiefs, playing in the shadow of campus rival Plymouth Salem all season, stunned the No. 8-rated Rocks 68-65 in overtime Saturday night to win the Novi district championship.

It was the third meeting between the teams, Salem having won the previous two, including an 89-72 outcome a week earlier in the Western Lakes Activities Association final.

Canton advances to regional play for the second time in four years with a 15-8 record. The Rocks finish 19-3. The Chiefs will play regional tournament host Wyandotte Roosevelt at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The final is Friday.

"The whole year we've been playing in Salem's shadow, and Salem has been the big guys on the block," said Canton senior Rob Wilson, who scored the winning basket — his only field goal — with three seconds left in overtime. "We knew we could beat them, and we finally proved it at the right time." Leading the Chiefs was junior guard Derrick McDonald, who scored 20 of his game-high 24 points after halftime to help Canton erase a 31-19 deficit.

"I think we just played too darned good to get beat by a team like that," McDonald said. "I don't think anybody else in the tournament is going to beat us. This is Canton's year to play basketball. We're about 10 miles high right now."

THE CHIEFS also made coach Dave Van Wagoner sound prophetic with their come-from-behind victory.

"I told them they were going to find some way to win the game, and I was very serious when I said that," Van Wagoner said.

"I think people who were in the gym tonight realized there are two good basketball teams in Plymouth-Canton. We've been working all year to peak our guys at tournament time, and I think we've done that."

Canton played more aggressively in the second half, scoring the first six points and cutting Salem's lead to 42-37. McDonald had six points, and the Chiefs got help inside from Tony Coshatt and Kevin Holmes.

Despite Coshatt being in foul trouble and Holmes missing all of the fourth with a sprained ankle, the Chiefs continued to play well, as McDonald scored 10 points in the finale.

"I was definitely feeling the shot," McDonald said. "I played hesitant in the first half. I hate to say it, but I think we were intimidated in the first half, knowing they were Salem and ranked in the state."

"Our coach said we were going to beat Salem, and it was just in our hearts to do it."

CANTON CLOSED to 43-42 but Salem continued to lead until McDonald scored the last five points in regulation, including a baseline layup with :05 on the clock that tied score at 57 and forced overtime.

"We had the lead for most of the game," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We didn't have the knockout punch. Champions will win close games, and a championship team won't let it go."

Jon Paupore, who scored 12 points, made consecutive shots in overtime to give Canton the lead, but Jake Baker's free throws with 44 seconds left gave the Rocks a 65-64 advantage.

Canton chose to play for the last shot, but McDonald's shot went off the front of the rim. The 6-foot-7 Wilson grabbed the rebound and laid it in with :03 remaining.

"I didn't think anything but 'Put the ball in the hole,'" Wilson said. "It's a little luck, a little bit of everything. But we won the game and that's all that counts."

Salem's Chris Tebben threw a floor-length pass on the inbounds play, but the ball went out at the other end with :02 left. The Rocks wanted a foul called when K.C. Kirkpatrick appeared to have been tripped but didn't get it. McDonald sank two free throws with a second to play.

"In the second half, we decided to get our good shooters good shots and work to get second and third shots," Van Wagoner said. Canton shot 19 of 39 in the second half and overtime.

"Derrick caught fire and it kind of snowballed after that. When Derrick gets hot he's as good as anyone."

"We decided to attack their zone in different way. We challenged our guys to play some defense. To the kids credit they did a helluva job. Our defense stayed the same, but our kids got tougher and blocked out better."

BAKER HAD 15 points to lead Salem but only one field goal as the Rocks had another sub-par performance. Kirkpatrick and Mike Mulder scored 14 points each and John Hoffmeyer 11. Coshatt and Brett Howell added nine points apiece for Canton.

The Rocks led 19-5 early in the game while Canton made six first-quarter turnovers and only four first-half field goals. But it turned around in the second half.

"I've been around the block long enough to know a 12-point lead is nothing," Brodie said. "We run a good motion offense, but it just wasn't occurring in the second half. I don't think we did it on purpose, but we were doing a lot of one-on-one stuff."

The loss was a shock to Salem, which was favored to win the district and possibly a second straight regional tournament.

"You're always afraid of peaks and valleys," Brodie said. "That was my biggest fear. We didn't play awfully bad, but we didn't play one of our better games."

K.C. Kirkpatrick looks for a teammate to take a pass after diving and gaining possession of a loose ball in district tournament play Thursday. The Rocks overcame a sluggish performance to defeat Northville.

Salem struggles but defeats N'ville

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem won the basketball game, and that was the bottom line Thursday.

The Rocks survived a close call in their first post-season game and defeated Northville 51-42 despite playing poorly in the district tournament at Novi.

Salem, improving to 19-2, advanced to the championship game Saturday night against Plymouth Canton, 14-8. The Mustangs finished at 12-9.

"I told the players I'm not going to say much about this game at all, because those guys turn in their gear and we don't," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "Every one is a tough game. It's important to just win the game."

There were several reasons, according to Brodie, for the weak showing by No. 8-ranked Salem, which won the Western Lakes Activities Association title on March 2 and then waited five days to play its first district game.

"IT'S TOUGH coming off a big win Saturday, having a layover like we did and trying to get the intensity back up," he said. "So it's nice to win the basketball game."

"Sometimes you get a little lethargic and anxious. You're flowing and playing well, and you want to get going and play."

Mike Mulder, who scored a career-high 28 points when the Rocks played Northville during the regular season, paced Salem with 16 points, which included four three-pointers.

John Hoffmeyer added nine points and Cliff Lee eight, but Salem's leading scorers, Jake Baker and K.C.

basketball

Kirkpatrick, had only four and six points, respectively.

"Some of our shots were not going down and some players pressed a lot," Brodie said. "You can't worry about those things. You just have to get back on defense."

The Rocks shot 34 percent (18-of-53) for the game with the second quarter being their worst. Salem made three of 18 field goals in that period for 17 percent. The Mustangs shot 37 percent (16-of-43).

CENTER MIKE Lang scored 16 points to lead Northville, and most of his field goals came from the perimeter. Paul McCreddie added 10 and Mark Hilfinger nine.

"Lang did a good job," Brodie said. "I didn't think his range was that good, but he showed me something tonight."

Brodie's displeasure with the situation was evidenced by the fact he benched most of his starters for much of the fourth quarter.

Only Mulder stayed on the floor to begin the last period, being joined by Lee, James Head, Eric Stemmer and Mike Abraham. None of the other starters returned until there was less than minutes remaining.

"I'm not mad at those guys," Brodie said. "As a coach, I'm going to do everything I can to help this team win the game, and we put players on the floor who were doing the job at that time."

"You don't have time to wait and see what happens. You have to step out and play, and I think the people we brought off the bench did a heckuva job. If you're going to win, you need a total team effort, and I have confidence in all 16 players."

A major irony was the Mustangs had more of an inside game than Salem, which found it difficult to get a good shot against Northville's tight zone.

THAT WAS particularly the case in the second quarter when the Rocks seemed too eager to take the perimeter shot. Salem took a quick, 13-4 lead but Northville closed to 23-20 at halftime.

"I bet we did have a lot of inside shots and were just not making them," Brodie said. "You always notice the ones you miss from outside. They always had a hand in our face, and we weren't taking it up as strong as we should have."

"In man-to-man situations (on defense), we didn't do a good job communicating on screens, and we were leaving people open on the dotted line and the low post for easy scores."

The Mustangs tied the score at 28-28 in the third quarter, but Salem scored the next nine points — five by Mulder — and led 39-34 at the end. With inspired play by Lee, Head and Stemmer, the Rocks built their advantage to 46-36 late in the fourth quarter.

"People expect us to win by 20 every game, and that's not going to happen, especially in the state tournament," Brodie said. "Give them credit more than our lack of playing."

"They're not an also-ran. They're a good basketball team. No, we didn't play our best game, but we knew it would be a tough basketball game."

Chiefs clobber Spartans

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Canton made it doubly tough against a familiar foe Thursday in the Class A district basketball tournament.

The Chiefs were clicking inside and outside, beating Livonia Stevenson for the third time this season, 79-61, in the semifinals at Novi.

The Chiefs (14-8) connected on 18 of 26 shots from the field during the second half to post their most convincing victory in three outings against the Spartans (12-9).

It was only a nine days earlier when Canton rallied for a 54-46 triumph over the Spartans in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoff semifinals. The two teams also met on Jan. 22 with Canton winning by five, 60-55.

"Against Stevenson this time there was more emphasis on getting the ball into the post," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. "We got fouled a lot and were able to get to the line (15 of 21 free throws)."

"Jim (coach McIntyre) has done a heck of a job with that team and I think the difference this time is that we forced them to take shot they didn't want to take."

RSM eliminates Eagles

Redford St. Mary's defeated Plymouth Christian 90-61 Wednesday in a Class D district semifinal boys basketball game played at St. Mary's.

The loss ended Plymouth Christian's season at 7-13 overall. St. Mary's led 27-10 after one quarter and 46-24 at halftime.

Freshman center Charles Smith led the Rustics (6-12) with 19 points. Teammates Thomas Holmes and Marcus Herron had 10 points each. Senior guard Manish Nandani had 24 to lead Plymouth Christian. Senior forward Keith McCants scored 15 points and grabbed 16 rebounds, and junior guard Kevin Williams finished with 12 points.

STEVENSON TRAILED by only three at intermission, 36-33, but Canton came out smoking in the third quarter, hitting their first six shots.

By the time the period had ended, the Chiefs were firmly in command, outscoring Stevenson 22-9 to take a 58-42 advantage. The Spartans never got closer than 13 points the rest of the way.

Tony Coshatt, the 6-foot-8 junior center, took care of the inside, scoring eight of his 14 points, including a nice baseline hook shot. Teammate Derrick McDonald, the 6-foot junior guard, also added eight of his 13 during the run, including a pair of three-pointers.

"The first half I thought we were a little shaky and tentative," Van Wagoner said. "At halftime we challenged our kids. We got after them defensively and then we were able to get our transition offense going and get some easy some baskets and score off some good post moves."

Junior guard Jon Paupore came off the bench to lead Canton with 16 points. He hit four three-pointers. Senior forward Brett Howell also chipped in with 13, while starters Mike Stafford and Kevin Holmes each added eight.

"THREE OF THEIR kids shoot well from the outside, and we knew that," said McIntyre, who led Stevenson to the Lakes Division crown of the WLAA. "In our second game with them we didn't take that many shots, so this time we had to take our chances. We wanted to score close to 70 points and we got 61, we fell a little short. We just didn't shoot as well as we would have liked."

The Spartans made only 19 of 61 shots from the floor for 31 percent.

Coshatt was part of the reason. He patrolled and protected the interior with reckless abandon in one of his best efforts of the year.

"Tony's been doing it in practice all year and tonight he showed what potential he has," Van Wagoner said. "He had some great rebounds and he also had good help-side defense. He showed he can be a good intimidating force."

Stevenson's scoring leader was senior guard Phil Woods, who pumped in 17 of his game-high 22 points in the opening half to keep the Spartans close.

Senior Dan Gibbons added 12, 10 of those coming in the final period. Junior guard Matt Grodzicki added 11.

"It's disappointing that we're not there Saturday (against Plymouth Salem) in the final, but this was an enjoyable year," McIntyre said. "Up to Christmas, we were not sure what we had, but these kids came a long way."

"What they accomplished team-wise and individual-wise they can be proud of. They came together as a team."

Brett Howell chases a loose ball in the Stevenson game. Howell scored 13 points in Canton's 79-61 victory.

Shamrocks win tourney crown

By Darren A. Nichols

Detroit Henry Ford had the bigger team. Redford Catholic Central had the bigger heart.

Host CC, outmanned at almost every position, routed Detroit Henry Ford 72-50 in the Class A district final Friday.

CC (12-11) will play Detroit Cody (16-5), an 81-75 winner over Detroit Mackenzie, in a regional semifinal at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Southfield.

Henry Ford ended its season at 14-7.

"We came in with the aspect that they were bigger, but we have a lot bigger heart," junior center Chad Varga said. "We came out strong and boxed out and hit the boards really well."

"Realistically, no one expected us to win," junior forward Bob Kummer said. "We came in with the attitude that we respect them (Henry Ford), but we don't fear them."

CC coach Bernie Holowicki added: "It was a typical PSL-Catholic League matchup with physical, aggressive play. The kids played really, really hard."

"THERE WERE two key factors. Bob (Kummer), Chad (Varga) and Jon (Barbara) rebounded with their big people and handled the press up the floor. And the other was when they took the lead at halftime, we didn't wilt. We fought back and played strong the rest of the game."

CC's Varga led all scorers with 30 points, 14 coming in the fourth quarter. Kummer added 21 points, getting 10 in the third. Freshman guard Robert Jackson and senior forward Michael Tucker led Henry Ford with 14 points apiece. Senior Edward Johnson added 10 points, all in the first half.

"This is a disappointing loss because I thought we had more talent than they did," Henry Ford coach Gerald Weatherspoon said. "We have a senior-oriented team and this loss hurts because we thought we had a good chance to win this tournament."

"You have to give them credit. They came in and played hard on the floor and they outthusted us. We committed a lot of fouls that I thought were touch fouls and it took us out of our game."

basketball

A 9-1 run to begin the fourth quarter opened up a 53-37 Shamrock lead with 5:57 left that sealed their victory. CC led 44-36 after three quarters; Ford led 29-28 at the half.

The Trojans took their last lead of the game, 31-28, at 7:08 in the third quarter.

CC rattled off eight straight points to take a 36-31 lead with 5:01 left in the third quarter. Kummer capped the run by converting two free throws after a technical foul was called on Ford's Johnson for throwing an intentional elbow at Varga.

CC outgunned the Trojans 8-5 to end the quarter. Ford was limited to only one field goal in the third.

The Trojans literally self-destructed in the second half.

OF JACKSON'S team-high 14 points, 10 were in the first half. And all 10 of Johnson's points were in the opening half; the 6-foot-9 center collected two technical fouls and four personal fouls in the last two quarters. He fouled out with 4:34 left in the game.

"Consistency has been a problem with us all year long," Weatherspoon said. "We'll have two players with good games and two others will have poor games. With a team like that, it's hard to try and win championships."

Although the strategy hasn't been plotted yet, CC will go after Cody on Tuesday.

"I don't know what we're going to do yet," Holowicki said. "We'll have to go back to the drawing board and practice on Sunday to see."

Said Kummer: "We're going to go in like we did tonight. We're going to respect them, but not fear them. We'll take this as another challenge."

Said Varga: "We're going to go in and play as hard as we can. We're going to attack the basket and we're going to give it our all."

Churchill surprises Wayne

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Livonia Churchill put all the pieces of the puzzle together Friday, winning its first Class A district basketball title since 1977 with a rousing 51-43 victory over Wayne Memorial in the final at Livonia Franklin.

The Chargers (15-8) appeared to be walking on air, playing a near flawless game in their best performance of the year.

"We felt we lost some opportunities during the season, but it was no time to look back, we had to focus on this game and make a statement," said Churchill coach Fred Price, whose team lost the two previous district finals to Wayne.

The key question was whether Churchill could handle Wayne's full-court pressing defense?

The Chargers not only passed that test, but also controlled the pace of the game, while smothering Wayne on the defensive end with a 3-2 zone.

Churchill, which committed a total of 50 turnovers in district wins over Garden City and host Franklin, had a respectable 19 on the night, only five in the first half while enjoying a 26-16 lead.

FOR MIKE THOMAS, a 6-foot-4 forward, it was his finest hour.

The Churchill senior played like he was Isaiah Thomas, scoring a game-high 21 points. He also set the tone early, stealing the ball on Wayne's first possession and causing another turnover the next time down the floor.

He also was the primary ball-handler against Wayne's press and came through in the clutch, much to the delight of Price.

"Mike accepted a different role this year, last year he was more of a scorer," said the Churchill coach. "In this game he decided he was going to lead by his doing. He runs the 3-2 defense and he has a lot of responsibilities where we ask him to do different things. He makes all the adjustments out there."

Wayne could never solve the Chargers' zone. The Zebras shot 13-of-57 from the floor (22 percent), while Churchill made most of its possessions count — 20 of 33 (60 percent).

"Churchill is playing their best ball of the season," said Wayne coach Dan Henry, whose team finished 15-7 overall. "Everyone was down on their guards, but if they put Thomas at guard and let him handle it, they're still a good team."

THOMAS WASN'T the only headache for the Zebras.

Randy Calcaterra, the 6-7 senior, was a tower of strength around the basket.

He finished with 16 points, 16 rebounds and five blocks.

"Calcaterra was very active, he blocked a lot of shots," Henry said. "This was a hungry senior inside team with (Scott) Bowser, Thomas and Calcaterra, along with (Steve) Townsend coming off the bench. They were really ready to go. I think they were tired of playing second fiddle to us for three years. They proved they can play. They definitely deserved this."

The Chargers clearly had things going their way much of the night. They led by 10 at half, had the lead cut to four, but went back up by nine after three quarters, 37-28.

Two free throws by junior guard Brian D. Johnson with 4:52 remaining gave Churchill its biggest lead of the night, 43-28.

Wayne never got closer than six the rest of the way.

Jeremiah Karolak hit Thomas for a back door layup with 1:41 remaining to put Churchill ahead, 48-39.

And it was only fitting that Thomas tipped in a Calcaterra miss with 31 seconds left to seal the victory.

"ALL OUR GUARDS played great — especially Thomas, it was his night," Calcaterra said. "We were worried, but Marcus (Sarnovsky) and Brian came through. He (Thomas) was due. He had to get one in before the season."

Thomas said he wore his lucky underwear (Seattle Seahawks bear shorts) and ate applesauce (not Wheaties) for breakfast.

"All I knew is that I had to get the job done and not let the other guys down," he said. "I've been playing pretty weak this year, but it was time to step up and help the guys."

The 55-46 loss to Wayne in the district finals also remained vivid in Thomas' mind.

"I had three fouls in the first two minutes of that game and didn't play hardly at all," he recalled. "I didn't want to go out that way again."

Churchill's defense, spearheaded by Thomas and Calcaterra, proved to be the difference.

"I told the kids we had to play good defense and that's what did it," Price said. "We're not a great offensive team, but we had to control the pace and the tempo. I think we've won most of our games when we've held teams to below 50 points."

The Chargers also outrebounded Wayne, 29-17.

"We wanted to be strong and go to the basket hard," said Bowser, a 6-2 senior who scored six points. "We also knew they (Wayne) had quick hands and quick feet. But our guards did a great job of handling the press."

LEE WILLIAMS and Rick Barnes, both juniors, each scored 10 points for Wayne. Greg Hartman, a senior, added nine, while sophomore Donte Prewitt contributed eight.

"We need our juniors to come back strong and get our millage passed and we'll be back," Henry said. "Our kids, with the pay-to-play and new coach (he replaced his brother Chuck), did a good job to keep the thing going."

And while the season is over for Wayne, the tournament trail continues for Churchill.

The Chargers play at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday against Dearborn High in the regional semifinals at Southfield. The second game of the double-header pits Redford Catholic Central (12-11) against Detroit Cody. The regional final is set for 7 p.m. Thursday at Southfield.

"It feels great, we're a part of Churchill history," Calcaterra said. "Like 'Coach' (Price) said, this will mean a lot more when we're his age. It feels good."

Price also felt a lot of satisfaction.

"They've won a lot of other things at Churchill, but we haven't won a basketball trophy in awhile," he said.

"I'm proud of the kind of defense they played and the way they played together. They've really accepted their roles the last-half of the season."

Youths roll big numbers, too

EACH MONTH THE Michigan Junior Masters Association holds a scholarship tournament somewhere in Michigan. Last weekend the Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield hosted the tournament, in which the finest youth bowlers from around the state competed.

The qualifying eight games were held on Saturday with the finals on Sunday. In the qualifying round, points were earned for each pin over 200. Points were deducted for scores under 200. For example, a 218 game is a positive 18 and a 192 score would be a negative 8.

At the end of qualifying, the top shooters made the finals based on how many total points they had.

These kids were excellent bowlers. There were four perfect games, including two by Lansing native Robert Miralles and Allen Park's Don McClain within minutes of each other. Mike Vallender of Freeland also had a 300 game.

In the finals, Kurt Pilon of Sterling Heights defeated Dustin Bowerman of Lansing 300-289.

The overall champion was Rusty Ellis from Holt with games of 279-279-231. Chris Phillips of Warren was the highest in total pins with 822, the third 800 series of the 16-year tournament.

The girls champion was Melissa Lindroth of Madison Heights who defeated Tracy Drob of Lawton for the title. Lindroth earned her title over a strong field of young ladies including Tamika Glenn of Farmington Hills and Lisa Bishop of Belleville. The next MJMA event will be April 6-7 at B's Bowling Center in Flint.

Patty Pennington is holding first place in the Tri County Women's Tournament at Oak Lanes in Westland on the strength of a 299 game and a 715 series. Only a stubborn four-pin on the 12th shot kept Pennington from a perfect game.

Pennington was hoping to keep pace with her first son, Scott, a Westland bowler who had his first 300 game at the Sunday Night Invitational at Wayne bowl. Scott's series was 754.

The final weekend of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association Tournament has taken place at Clover Lanes in Livonia. Unofficial leaders at this point are Lark's Wood Floor service (3,451) in the Classic Team Division; Pleasure & Payne's (3,409); and 1990 Champions (3,398).

In the regular team division, Webb Rollers leads with 3,232. Hammer Time is second with 3,197 and Wolaks Pro Shop is third with 3,181.

In the Mixed Team division, it's Not Easy leads with 2,951. Bowlers Aid Pro Shop is second with 2,848 and P & D is third with 2,820. The Double Actual leaders are Joe Drajenke and Ralph Pety, 1,431; Trey Edwards and Greg Lewis, 1,424. The Doubles Handicap leaders are Matthew Ivancik and Jeff Sutor, 1,519; Curt Patterson and John Patterson, 1,479; and Lou Ivancik and Curt Aemissegger, 1,465.

In the Singles Actual division leaders: Ron Byrd, 853; Bob Chamberlain, 804; Curt Aemissegger, 788. Singles Handicap

• Congratulations to Al Winkel of Farmington Hills, recipient of the BPAA Presidents medal for his outstanding work as chairman of the BPAA Budget and Finance Committee. Winkel, along with his brother Bill, is co-owner of three bowling centers. Collectively, they own the Bel Aire Lanes in Farmington Hills, Woodland Lanes in Livonia and Mayflower Lanes in Redford.

Winkel will receive the award at the BPAA's 59th Annual Convention in June in Louisville, Ky.

The National American Bowling Congress is currently having the Annual Convention in Toledo, March 15. This marks the 100th Annual ABC Convention and sets the tone and future course of the organization. Ask The Eye Doctor

Q. What is RETINAL PHOTOGRAPHY and of what importance is it during an eye examination?

A. When the doctor looks in the back of your eye, he or she is looking at the retina. The retina is the nerve layer that lines the back of the eye. It is this nerve layer that sends the "picture" of what we see to the brain. It is, therefore, of the utmost importance that we observe any changes to this highly specialized and delicate tissue.

There are certain diseases such as diabetes, hypertension, kidney and heart disease that may affect the retina. Sometimes the first sign of the disease is noted by looking at the retina and its blood vessels.

The purpose of a photograph is to document the present condition of the retina. This enables the doctor to note early changes which would help in detection and treatment of a particular problem.

The photograph is accomplished with the use of a specialized retinal camera utilizing Polaroid film. This procedure, accompanying an examination, is new and not every office performs it. We at Metropolitan Vision Associates feel it is very important and therefore made it a part of our comprehensive examination.

Legends surround the fish

Since our early beginnings, fish have always been a mainstay in our diet. Myths, stories, superstitions and legends about fish abound in our folklore.

Because of their high phosphorus content, people have believed them to affect the brain cells and the general intelligence of those who eat them. Everyone has heard them called "brain food" at one time or another.

When I was a child in Northern Michigan (back in the dark ages before television), pleasant-tasting Flintstone vitamins and such things were not available.

But our parents did know that, in the winter, we were not getting enough vitamin D from the sun's rays.

SO, EVERY MORNING, we were dosed with cod liver oil. It tasted terrible, and smelled worse. But it helped us keep healthy through the long cold winter.

During the Lenten season, fish are popular among those who are fasting. But, fasting or feasting, fish properly prepared are not only good for you, but also can be a delightful treat to eat.

Of course, being high in phosphorus, they have long been believed to have aphrodisiac powers as well. (Freud conceived the fish to be the symbol of the male sex organ.) In the past, barren women have been told to eat fish to make them more fertile and become pregnant. And I'm sure everyone has heard what oysters and other seafood can do for a man.

Fish have symbolic meanings in all known religions, both ancient and modern. According to legend, they have been used to foresee the future; heal the blind; save lives, and bring love, strength, and happiness.

ONE OF THE most famous meals ever written about consisted of five loaves of bread and two fishes.

"And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the grass, and took the five loaves and the two fishes, and looking up to heaven, he blessed and brake and gave them to his disciples, and his disciples to the multitude.

And they did eat, and were filled." Matt 14:19-20

The following recipe is one of my favorites for enjoying fish and bread. It's a tasty dip that is satisfying and nourishing. Served with fresh unsliced bread (Greek or Italian breads are great), to be torn or dipped, it can be a romantic meal for two, in front of the fire, or an appetizer for a crowd kitcHen witch Gundella before dinner.

TAPENADE

- 1/4 cup capers
- Two 2-ounce cans flat anchovy fillets
- One 7-ounce can tuna
- 1 clove garlic, or more to taste
- Freshly ground pepper to taste
- 18 black pitted olives, Greek or Italian
- Juice of two lemons
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 3 tablespoons cognac

Place the capers, anchovies and tuna, along with the oil in which they were packed, in an electric blender. Add the olives, garlic and lemon juice.

Blend at medium speed 2-5 minutes, stopping to stir occasionally.

Gradually add the olive oil and blend until the sauce is the consistency of a medium-thick mayonnaise.

Next, blend in the cognac and pepper.

Serve at room temperature as a dip for bread. (Also good served over hard-cooked eggs, cold poached fish, or cold boiled beef.)

ROSEMARY GRILL

(This is a very romantic dish, great on a camping trip)

- Fresh caught fish
- Lots of fresh rosemary
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Red wine (forget what you've read about white wine for fish)

Clean your fresh catch and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Wrap each serving in foil, along with fresh rosemary on both sides of the fish.

Cook over a charcoal fire, turning often until nearly done. Then open the foil and allow the fish and rosemary to catch fire. Douse with red wine and serve.

Try to put accent on healthy snacks

AP — The American Dietetic Association celebrates March as its National Nutrition Month with a reminder to consumers that nutritious eating can be part of a busy day.

"No matter how fast-paced your routine, you still have time to bite into a healthy lifestyle," says Mary Abbott Hess, a registered dietician and president of the ADA. "Healthy snacks provide good nutrition when you run out of time for a sit-down meal."

Hess says snacks are an important source of calories for toddlers and preschoolers, active youngsters and rapidly growing teens.

She suggests stocking your kitchen with a variety of quick nutrient-rich snack foods, including low-fat yogurt, fruit, cut vegetables, dry cereal, bagels and whole-grain crackers.

Healthy choices for snacks include pita wedges with a cottage cheese and vegetable dip, high-fiber muffins, a low-fat yogurt parfait made with fruit and dry cereal, or a mixed fruit cup.

Green beans have snap with addition of vinegar

AP - Salami and tarragon vinegar add zip to frozen beans. Cut or whole green beans suit this vegetable fix-up just as well.

ZESTY GREEN BEANS

- One 9-ounce package frozen Italian-style green beans
- 1/2 cup sliced green onions
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 1 ounce salami, cut into thin strips (about 1/4 cup)
- 2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar or wine vinegar

- 1 tablespoon snipped parsley
- Dash pepper

Cook beans according to package directions. Drain well. Set aside.

Meanwhile, in a small saucepan cook and stir onion and garlic in hot margarine or butter until tender but not brown. Add salami, vinegar, parsley and pepper. Cook and stir for 1 minute. Stir in beans and cook until heated through. Makes 4 servings.

MOVING PICTURES

Alan Rickman as the interrogator and Madeleine Stowe the prisoner in Radha Bharadwaj's "Closet Land."

'Closet Land' comments on world's state of affairs

For a number of reasons "Closet Land" (A-, R, 90 minutes) is a significant motion picture achievement. First off, it is the writing and directing debut of a young lady, Radha Bharadwaj, from Madras, India. Second, and even more surprising, seldom are gripping films made with only two characters spending most of the screen time in one room. But that's "Closet Land" with Alan Rickman as the interrogator and Madeleine Stowe as the prisoner.

A writer of children's books, she is suspected by the government of being a subversive revolutionary. What government? Any government for, as the film's end-title notes, over half the world's governments today use torture while questioning their own citizens. Quite a timely film given the evidence emerging from Kuwait.

She's being interrogated to discover her underground connections. While that doesn't sound like enough material for a feature film, the performances alone are worth the trip. Rickman's pyrotechnics as he plays on Stowe's emotions, building fear through terror rather than physical force, is quite remarkable.

Stowe is equally accomplished as the bewildered prisoner who develops great inner spiritual strength as the interrogator attempts to extort a confession.

"I'm innocent," she says.

"You'll be guilty by the time you leave here," he replies with echoes of the Inquisition, "Darkness at Noon" and too much else in our world's history. Bharadwaj's intelligent writing and directing highlights this literate discussion of governmental terror everywhere in our sad world.

"CLOSET LAND" is not only politically significant but theatrically exciting as well — a thoughtful, important film.

On the other side of the coin, one of the best things about "The Hard Way" (B, R, 105 minutes) is that it never takes itself seriously. In fact, its biggest problem may be its excess in poking fun at the movies and movie people, to say nothing of the buddy-cop films.

Michael J. Fox projects just the right aura as Nick Lang, the over-protected movie star living in luxury with great success in Indiana Jones-style adventure films. But Nick desperately wants to break out of that stereotype and try a new one as a hardboiled police detective.

Through his connections, Nick gets permission to pose as partner to the rough and tough New York Police Lieutenant John Moss (James Woods) who is hot on the trail of a psychotic, serial killer (Stephen Lang).

Moss, of course, wants nothing to do with this overprotected actor who can't survive without legions of servants. But, connections are connections and Nick Lang rides with Lt. Moss.

There's all the usual car chases and interesting street people to interrogate with a baseball bat, as is the lieutenant's style. Of course that's only when he's not driving on the sidewalk because he ran out of lanes to cut on the street.

WHILE WOODS is excellent as the tough, near-psychotic cop, he doesn't do as well with the comedy routines so important to the buddy films.

This is true, despite some truly funny material. It may be the direction and editing are a little too loose and the gag wears thin after a while, particularly in the final sequence with the psychotic killer which drags as it turns from clever satire to overly broad farce.

But, it's still a funny, entertaining film so go see "The Hard Way."

CMB sounds like a big corporation. CMB looks like a big corporation — $1 million a week gross, electronic security, cellular phones, computers, holographic IDs, the works. It is big business, but it's bad business, crack cocaine.

That's CMB's business and "New Jack City" (B-, R), is the story of CMB, a New York City drug gang led by Nino Brown (Wesley Snipes). The new "American Dream," at least in the inner city, has become this drug trade and this is the violent story of one such nightmare.

DIRECTOR MARIO Van Peebles also plays a detective assigned to the CMB case after their violent takeover of a large tenement building as their central office.

While "New Jack City" is not unique, it does hold your attention with fast-paced action, constant reminders of crack cocaine horrors and the government's ineffectiveness in dealing with the problem.

Ice T, 2 Live Crew, Keith Sweat and others musical groups perform. Then, there's rap by Queen Latifa, among others, so it's worth seeing if you like that kind of music as a backdrop to a violent story. Reviewed by Eric Phillips.

STILL PLAYING:

"Awakenings" (B, PG-13, 121 minutes).

Robin Williams and Robert DeNiro as doctor and catatonic patient call to mind too many other films. The doctor's special care and sensitivity lead to temporary recovery but film lacks spark expected from these talented actors.

"Book of Love" (B, PG-13, 90 minutes). Nostalgic look at high school in the '50s and the problems of adolescence in those "good ole days."

"Cadence" (C+, PG-13, 95 minutes). Unrealistic, cliched story about unruly soldier (Charlie Sheen) in stockade.

"Dances With Wolves" (A, PG-13, 180 minutes).

Kevin Costner's magnificent ode to brotherhood and brutality on America's western frontier during and after the Civil War.

"The Doors" (C, R, 135 minutes).

Oliver Stone's overly long, repetitious story of Jim Morrison and rock music group, The Doors. Excessive attention to Morrison's drug, booze and sex problems are neither attractive nor entertaining. Doubtful, as well, that it will serve as a cautionary lesson.

"Edward Scissorhands" (C, PG-13, 100 minutes).

Unusual young man with scissors instead of hands shakes up the suburbs after moving in with the Avon lady and her family.

"Ghost" (A, PG-13, 105 minutes).

Banker's ghost (Patrick Swayze) hangs around after life to protect loved one (Demi Moore). Spiritualist (Whoopi Goldberg) helps him and this romantic/comedy/thriller.

"GoodFellas" (B+, R, 145 minutes).

Martin Scorsese's intense, compelling saga of three mobsters returns after receiving a half dozen Oscar nominations. Despite good acting and fine technical values, the film is to be condemned for glorifying vicious and violent gangsters.

"The Godfather, Part III" (C+, R, 161 minutes).

Disappointing repeat of formula established in Parts I and II albeit slick production is worth watching.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Egoan dooms television

By John Monaghan
special writer

Television has played a major role in Atom Egoan's three feature films. In "Speaking Parts" (1989), his last and most acclaimed work, lovers experience the ultimate in safe sex, miles away from each other via video monitors.

His 1987 offering, "Family Viewing," takes the human love affair with video to an even further extreme. This unique, very black comedy, continuing this Monday and Tuesday at the Tele-Arts Theatre, gives us another look at Canada's most promising young filmmaker.

"Family Viewing" zooms in on a teenager named Van (Aidan Tierne) who is having considerable trouble relating to his uncommunicative father (David Hemble).

"Everything I do feels like I could be doing it or not," Van confesses, "and it doesn't matter either way."

"That's normal. It's part of the age," the father says, his eyes never straying from the glow of the television.

THINGS GET worse when Van discovers that dad has taped over all the old family videos with homemade pornography. Van has little respect for his father's sexy girlfriend, who constantly tries to seduce Van or get close to him.

Instead, he's more fascinated with his Armenian grandmother, tucked away in a cut-rate nursing home. He steals back some of the old tapes and runs them for grandma, feeling at least this television means something to her.

Egoan's sterile settings and slow, thoughtful shots take some getting used to. But he ultimately has more to say than someone like Jim Jarmusch. Where Jarmusch ("Stranger Than Paradise") says that MTV is making it impossible for viewers to

special writer

Silent movie fans are in for considerable video cassette and laser disc attention this spring with a number of notable releases announced or already on the shelves.

Leading the list is "Don Juan" (1926, 113 minutes) with John Barrymore. While everyone recalls Warner Brothers 1927 Vitaphone production of "The Jazz Singer" with Al Jolson as the beginning of the sound era, as a matter of fact, Barrymore's "Don Juan" introduced the Vitaphone sound process 14 months earlier. Although it didn't have dialogue, it did provide synchronized sound effects and music.

This release by MGM/UA Home Video on Feb. 20 also included Buster Keaton's "The Cameraman" (1928, 70 minutes), "The Student Prince in Old Heidelberg" (1928, 107 minutes) with Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer, and Greta Garbo's "A Woman of Affairs" (1928, 88 minutes). The last has a stereophonic score featuring the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

For laser disc fans of silent films, Republic Pictures Home Video offers four classics on April 25. Noted German and Hollywood director Fritz Lang's two-part legend of The Nibelungeleid, "Siegfried" and "Kriemhilde's Revenge", are spectacular examples of mid-'20s film techniques and includes a 70-foot, fire-breathing dragon operated by 17 technicians.

THE 1919 German study in psychological terror, "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" (67 minutes) maintains its power to this day and, even after it ends, viewers are left wondering who was telling the truth.

Fourth on this laser disc release is Sergei Eisenstein's landmark film, "The Battleship Potemkin" (1925, 64 minutes). Despite its generation as a Bolshevik propaganda film, it offers an overwhelming filmic and artistic

The Incurables — also known as The Icky Nasty Crazy Under-Rated Available Bleeding Liberal Exoplasmic System — are Pat Kelly, Ray Lawson, Dennis Pepperack and Darrin Lawson.

Incurables inject infectious sound

By Jill Hamilton
special writer

The myth of the Incurables begins like this: "Once upon a time there were four little sperm." The myth, found in the Incurables press materials, goes on to explain must-know facts about the Incurables like how the band came to be a band and how they got their name.

So how did they get their name? Read the rest of the myth.

"As with all great bands, a name was needed," the bio sheet explains. "A name unlike any other name. A name to fully describe the group and its members. Again much thought and consideration was given until they finally agreed upon — The Icky Nasty Crazy Under-Rated Available Bleeding Liberal Exoplasmic System. Since no one could ever fully remember their name, they came up with the following abbreviation: 'The Incurables.'"

Oh. The Incurables are Pat Kelly on lead guitar and vocals, Ray Lawson on bass and lead vocals, Dennis Pepperack on rhythm guitar and vocals and Darrin Lawson on drums and vocals. The two Lawsons are cousins. All four of the guys knew each other from Wayne Memorial High School.

The band's lineup is the result of several years of shifting membership and various combinations. Darrin Lawson was once their drummer in an earlier version of the band. He went into the military for awhile and came back as a drummer.

WHILE DARRIN Lawson was gone, the band had solidified into a three-piece. That line-up suited the band just fine but some club owners had a problem with it.

"Some bar owners didn't think we could produce a full enough sound with only three people," said Ray Lawson. "They said it didn't look good on stage."

But, pressure from bar owners was not the reason the band added an extra player.

"Having a three-piece held us back musically," Lawson said. "It helped us creatively and with song writing to add Darrin. Our live show has improved, we have a fuller sound and Pat is freed up to play more intricate guitar parts."

Bringing Darrin Lawson aboard had another advantage — he got the band a radio interview on WQBR-AM, a student-operated station at Eastern Michigan University.

"We invaded their station," Ray Lawson said. "It's a small AM station without a tower. The lines run through the dormitories. In the future, we want to help them raise money for a tower."

Being on the radio and helping charitable causes are two things that are old hat for the Incurables. They have been frequent guests on Henry Ford's college radio station, WHFR-FM, and their first tape "Look in Your Mind" has been a frequent visitor to several small stations around the state.

As far as benefits go, they've just done one (for WHFR-FM) and they plan to do another one in April.

LAWSON SAYS that the WHFR gig went very well.

"We got a good response from people who had no idea who we were," he said. "It feels good when someone comes up to you, who you've never seen before, and says 'That was good. It's different from when a friend tells you that you were good."

"Hopefully, in April we'll be able to do a benefit for the Red Cross," Lawson added. "We want to get five or six other bands to play. It will be an all-ages show, so people who can't usually go to clubs can see a show for a low price, and it will give some exposure to the bands."

While the Incurables have given a lot of support to their community, they sometimes wonder if the community is giving back support to them.

"The music scene could be a lot better, especially with the major radio stations," Lawson said. "Major stations are not supportive of you unless you're someone like Iggy Pop. They don't support anyone until they're already big."

"THE CLUB scene is not too bad," he added. "It depends on where you play. It was getting real bad for playing original music, but it seems to be getting better now." Lawson said that although the band will play covers-only clubs

Babes in Toyland vent some anger

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Members of Babes in Toyland proved they can hate, but can they love?

Sure they can. Why else would these three women be so upset?

Relationships gone sour is apparently one of the main areas from which the Minneapolis three-piece draws its bile. The band's last LP on Twin/Tone "Spanking Machine" was ripe with bellicose wails and screeches as Babes in Toyland vented their spleens about lost loves among other things. In one song off the LP, "Pain in My Heart," guitarist and vocalist Kat Bjelland repeatedly screamed for her "blue boyfriend" to expletively "fry."

Drummer and founding member Lori Barbero said expect even more rancor mixed, virulent punk spike on the band's forthcoming EP, "For Mother."

"You write best when you're angry," said Barbero, who's penned two numbers for the new EP. "I have books of words that I write down when I'm angry. I just have to get it off my chest."

Let's play armchair therapist for a moment. What can this pent-up anger be attributed to: Childhood trauma, adolescent posturing or yuppie angst?

"It's not yuppie angst," Barbero said. "I don't hang around yuppies."

HMMM. THIS leaves the demons of childhood and teenage years to be exorcized. Barbero said she was detached from her family, kicked out at 16.

All those factors help contribute to the spewing noise of the Babes in Toyland sound. Barbero believes it goes deeper than mere teenage frustration.

Rather the band's music is all about being crapped upon, something apparently all three members can relate to as children and adults.

Bassist Michelle Leon, Bjelland and Barbero have been performing as a trio since February 1988. The band was a four-piece with two other since departed members, debuting in March 1987 in Minneapolis, Minn.

REVIEWS

THE SAMPLES — The Samples

What catches the attention initially on this debut LP from the band from Boulder, Colo., is how remarkably unspectacular the cover is.

No, let me rephrase that. It's downright dowdy and boring. It's released on Arista records and perhaps cash was not being spent on this band, but a small flavor of imagination would not have gone astray.

But then again, it does reflect the band accurately.

Another accurate reflection of the band is the God-awful press release description of the Samples. "You shouldn't listen to the Samples debut album unless you're prepared to change your entire musical vocabulary... is an alternative to the soulless, cookie-cutter pop... This is music as mortar — the stuff between the cracks that holds everything together... They weave surprisingly complex, instantly memorable melodies."

Give us all a break! But let's not be hasty and judge the band by the quality of what representation they receive, even though they should have some say in the matter.

This is what we find: The Samples music is lightweight, bubbly keyboard, acoustic guitar, white-man reggae. The worst kind of reggae, Cabaret, Top-40 band type reggae. They sound like a wimpy version of the Australian band Men at Work, without the sense of humor. And Men At Work were nothing to protect your sister from.

Singer, songwriter and general head-honcho Sample, Sean Kelly, sounds like his favorite band in the entire universe was the Police and figures that the world should not have to do without them. So he's done his best to recreate their sound from all their early albums.

Kelly's lyrics are filled with clichés in his attempt to be political in his message of "Save the World." Perhaps Kelly should have taken a lesson on how to structure lyrics with a political message with some intelligence by studying his mentor and listen to "Invisible Sun" a couple of hundred times.

For a band who are attempting to "use their music as powerful medium for this urgent message," they have absolutely no credibility and only clichéd sincerity." — Cormac Wright

KILL UNCLE — Morrissey

Some continue to see Morrissey, the former frontman of the English pop group The Smiths, as nothing but a self-absorbed twit or a mega-ego maniac.

What those misguided souls have always refused to understand is Morrissey's obvious wit.

Lines such as "I just wrote a frightening verse to a buck-toothed girl in Luxembourg" from The Smiths' number "Ask" have become legendary through the years. Yet as brilliant as those Smith collaborations were, the band split after the release of "Same Ways Parted" in 1987.

Doomsayers said Morrissey couldn't cut it without the searing guitar riffs of Johnny Marr. But the Manchester melancholic singer has proved them wrong. His first solo effort "Viva Hate" was something of a vindication. The LP, which was produced by longtime Smith's collaborator Stephen Street, was very Smiths-like in tone — self-obsessed, biting lyrics, sugared well with some brazen guitar melodies.

That verve is noticeably absent on Morrissey's follow-up effort, "Kill Uncle." And what we're left with, quite frankly Mr. Shankily, is a rather boring album.

Oh, the sardonic humor is all there to see. Songs like "Our Frank" are ripe with the cutting spite that's made Morrissey one of a kind. So, too, is Morrissey's lyrical bite on "King Lear."

Of course, no Morrissey project would be complete without some mention of his woeful love life. "(I'm) The End of the Family Line" spells out the obvious results.

Yet a good portion of these songs are interwoven with some doleful synthesizer dirge. As a result, the subtleties of Morrissey's witticisms are lost. Certainly, what Morrissey's mournful lyrics don't need is a violin as provided in the wretched excess of "Asian Rut."

Things don't progress from there. "Instead, Morrissey degenerates into something of a lounge lizard in his monotonous tone of woe and despair. The joke isn't funny any more. The sadness in all of this is somewhere out there in Johnny Marr's guitar swirls in oblivion. Morrissey and Marr need one another more than each one cares to admit." — Larry O'Connor

Stand up for your beliefs in your home

Dear Barbara, My son is 18. He graduated from high school in December. He has wanted to bring girls home with him for the last two years, but my husband and I would not let him. He says that his boyfriends are allowed to bring their girl friends home and to entertain them in their bedrooms with the doors closed.

in homes where such behavior would have been considered taboo. Second, we feel a responsibility to the parents of the girl that he brings. My son argues that these are outdated feelings; they are not "with it" by current morals.

Dear Old-Fashioned Mom, I want to thank you personally for your letter. It has given me the opportunity to think about this problem in greater depth. I, too, have children in this age bracket, and many of my friends are struggling with the issue that you raise.

Upon reflection, I find that this is a far more complicated topic than I had recognized. In answer to your question, if you or your husband are not comfortable with your son having girls in his room, then don't allow it. Respect your feelings. If even one spouse is uncomfortable with single sex in their home, that position must be enforced.

strong inner controls, then this lesson will have a better chance of gaining respect rather than ridicule. There are parents, in fact friends of mine, who would take the opposite position. They would say that, one, they know that their child is having sex; two, it is appropriate, and three, better to keep them home than out on the streets.

This all-female group adheres to punk ethic

Embracing the main tenant punk rock expression — meaning members didn't know how to play their musical instruments — Babes in Toyland evoked feelings of aggression, vulgar sexuality and heart sickness to unbelievable guitar-straw lengths.

LIFE IS A gas, but the fumes are not enough to overcome Babes in Toyland and turn these females punksters into purring Banglettes.

"There are bands that are real abusive and abrasive and then you hear them a few years later and they're real mellow," Barbero said. "It must be they've gotten what they wanted out of life."

"I don't think so (as for her band changing styles); I think the only thing that might change in the immediate future in playing our instruments better."

Both of the Barbero-penned numbers, "Dog" and "Primus," on "For Mother" deal with with unrequited love.

The bitter feelings were culled from a relationship two years ago that ended after Barbero drove her beau and some of his friends to New York. When they were supposed to return to Minneapolis, Barbero said "he ditched me."

Though Barbero said she was "freaked out" and "devastated" at the time, everything is OK now. In fact, the dreadlocked drummer is even on speaking terms with the guy.

Surprisingly, Barbero said the menfolk don't hit on Babes in Toyland at their shows. Is it the music (or the collection of Barbero's menacing tattoos)?

"I THINK people are intimidated by us," she said. "If they do approach us, it's usually in a friendly sort of a way like 'I really enjoyed the show.' It could be the music... it's sort of abrasive."

Despite being an all-female outfit, Babes in Toyland haven't found themselves on a mass mission of shooting down stereotypes. Barbero said the gender of the group has presented a few problems, except maybe one.

"When you go city to city and read the fliers: 'Three-piece, all-female band.' When you read ones for Mud Honey, it's not for a 'four-piece, all-male band.'"

"Perhaps (being an all-girl group) does flare up some interest, though." Babes in Toyland will perform Saturday, March 16, at Club Heidelberg in Ann Arbor.

focus on an image more than two seconds, Egoyan says that TV leaves us unable to communicate at all.

Some of Egoyan's scenes are haunting in their deadpan seriousness. After constant prodding, the father agrees to visit his mother at the nursing home. He places flowers on a smiling woman's chest.

The only problem is — grandma was moved to a different ward over a year ago. He snatches the flowers back immediately. Van uses this lack of recognition to pull a switch that places the old woman in his private care.

GABRIELLE ROSE (from "Speaking Parts") plays another frequent visitor to the home who figures significantly into the family's routine. She works for a phone service that delivers the erotic messages that allows the father to get jump-started in bed.

An Egoyan trademark is freely mixing video with film footage. He repeats an image of Van as a child, surrounded by a loving mother and grandmother, hugging a stuffed Mickey Mouse to his chest. Shocking images that he was never supposed to see hint at why his mother is no longer with them.

German director Wim Wenders has been quick to recognize Egoyan's talent, offering his 1987 award at the Montreal International Film Festival to the young director in a much-publicized gesture.

The Tele-Arts' Carl Allison, who has shown all three of Egoyan's films (his first, "Next of Kin," was made in 1984), hopes to someday get the Toronto-based director to make a Detroit appearance.

Tolsch: Comedy her way

By Bob Sadler
special writer

It could be said that Adrienne Tolsch woke up one day to discover she had talent.

She didn't really have a choice. "When I was a kid, my parents would wake me up in the middle of the night to entertain their friends," Tolsch explained. "That was my introduction to performing. I would stand there in my nighties and mouth the words to a Jerry Lewis record. They thought this was great fun."

Now, this Brooklyn native entertains on her own terms, and she's doing just fine, thank you.

A 15-year veteran of the stand-up circuit, Tolsch was originally a graphic artist and painter. She claims to have graduated from Brooklyn College with "the most useless degree in the world" — in art history.

"I'll match it against any sociology or political science degree," Tolsch said. "The phone never stops ringing for jobs. That's why I'm doing this now."

Tolsch's credits over the years include a number of television appearances, including VH-1's "Stand-up Spotlight," "Caroline's Comedy Hour," and a Lifetime feature. She was named Outstanding Female Comedian for 1990 by the Manhattan Association of Cabaret Artists and has toured with many comedy and musical acts, including fellow Brooklyn native Andrew "Dice" Clay.

DESPITE ALL the negative press Clay received, Tolsch had good things to say about the Diceman.

"I adore Andrew," she said. "I don't judge his act. I don't judge anybody's act. He was wonderful to work with."

On stage, Tolsch likes to interact with her audience. It allows her to be creative in the development of material.

"A lot of what I do is written on stage," Tolsch said. "My background is half improvisational theater and half big mouth. I've always had a big mouth."

She also does a number of characters in her act, mostly members of her family, and wondered aloud if they would go over well with the Detroit audience.

"They're Brooklyn people, so I

Adrienne Tolsch's comedic background is half improvisational theater and half big mouth. "I've always had a big mouth," she said.

hope I don't scare them."

Tolsch has reached the point in her comedic career where she can be picky about the places she plays. She predominately performs in the New York metropolitan area, at clubs like The Improvisation and Dangerfield's, or in large casino showrooms in Atlantic City, Las Vegas and Reno.

"I love casino towns because I just love sequins," Tolsch said. "I'm a freak for glitter."

THE BEST (but by no means only) testimonial about her humor comes from another funny person — a comedian (and Detroit favorite) named Bill Scheft. Tolsch met Scheft during her stint as creative director at the New York club, Catch a Rising Star.

They are now husband and wife. "There's no jealousy between us," Scheft said of their comedian marriage, "because she's funnier."

"He's the best guy," Tolsch responded humbly. "I pay him heavily, but he really is the best. We really love the fact that we're both comics."

Adrienne Tolsch appears Tuesday through Saturday, March 12-16, at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle, 269 E. Fourth, Royal Oak. Show times are 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday; 8:30 and 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday. For reservations, call 542-9900.

Laughs linger over years

By Bob Sadler
special writer

What has made America laugh over the years?

A few answers to that question were provided recently at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, through its special set of programs, "Giggles, Gags and Guffaws." Two centuries of American humor were surveyed in a variety of performances, exhibits, audio/video presentations and audience interaction programs.

"We wanted to recognize that humor is a very important part of American culture," said Jim VanBochove, the program's developer. "This program shows how we've used humor as an escape when times are tough, and just enjoyed ourselves when the good times rolled."

Many of the places where we find humor today had their origins in a bygone era, a connection that was apparent during many of the programs presented. Television sitcoms can be traced back to the "Golden Age of Radio," and many had the opportunity to listen to excerpts from some of that medium's biggest stars — comedy teams like Bob and Ray and Lum and Abner.

THE SLAPSTICK techniques heightened by the advent of motion pictures were displayed, featuring the silent movie clowns like Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton and Harold Lloyd and later stars like W.C. Fields, Laurel and Hardy, the Marx Brothers and Abbott and Costello.

One of the most popular programs in the two-day event gave one and all the chance to learn the Charlie Chaplin "walk." Particularly popular with the kids, this program featured Joe Vitale as "the Little Tramp."

The comedy club circuit that has sprung up in the last decade has been often referred to as "the new vaudeville." A glimpse of the old vaudeville, which reached its pinnacle in the first two decades of this century, was provided in another of the Nature: rich backdrop for painter's creations

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

INTERNATIONALLY exhibited artist Lilya Pavlovic-Dear sees through the eyes of nature.

She views the outside world from inside the environment of a beehive, a coral reef or looking downward on the continents of Earth as if from a satellite, poised in the outer universe; Pavlovic-Dear's paintings and drawings thus depict nature and Earth.

Her one-person exhibition, "The Land and the Sea," opened Feb. 3 in the Ann Arbor gallery of Clare Spittler Works of Art. The environmentally conscious show continues through March 26.

"I'm not using the view of things on an eye level, but from a microscopic or macroscopic view," said Lilya Pavlovic-Dear during an interview in her Farmington Hills home. "The view is somewhat closer to the way science sees things."

Yugoslavian born Pavlovic-Dear said she uses "two different themes" in her current exhibit, "The Land and the Sea."

"In the first, the landscapes are seen from an airplane, or like satellites might take a picture," Pavlovic-Dear said. "You don't recognize rivers or trees."

"By choosing colors of cultures as (is seen) in African tribal masks or a turquoise-green from the background of China, I show the eternal soul of a continent, with relation to old cultures."

USING THE first theme, Pavlovic-Dear said, "I did six continents, but not Antarctica."

Pavlovic-Dear created the continent of "Africa" using earth tones. India ink, pastel and acrylic on paper coalesce to depict the geographical outline of Africa against a stable, striped latitudinal background, which leads the eye to focus on the interior terrain.

Inside a realistic outline of the African continent, Pavlovic-Dear plays the patterns of geometric shapes against abstract forms in an almost mosaiced or stained glass manner. Patterns of colored shapes create mosaic-like forms.

Pavlovic-Dear's description paints a visual for her intent.

"I used a simple, striped background," Pavlovic-Dear said, "to symbolize a quiet backdrop. The contrasting continent is very alive, crowded with lots of forms inside."

The second theme Pavlovic-Dear uses in her current exhibit is the sea.

"The sea I did in images of corals and tropical fish," Pavlovic-Dear said. "I was inspired by the sea as an eternal source of life."

PAVLOVIC-DEAR began by collecting sea shells, a lifelong activity.

"When I was young I'd go to the Mediterranean Sea to collect shells. These shapes and images have been in my subconscious for a long time."

After drawing and sketching them, she begins her work.

From a book written in French by Jacques Cousteau about the life and death of corals, Pavlovic-Dear said she receives inspiration from the "photographs of nature."

The intent of Pavlovic-Dear's "Corals" is a view of the sea, from inside a coral reef. Turquoise dominates a honeycombed picture plane as she projects what she sees from inside of the coral's interior. Recurrent circular patterns take form then undulate, giving the work a lyrical, flowing sense, like the sea.

Although Pavlovic-Dear works mostly in acrylic and oil on canvas, she said, "I liked to experiment with different media. I did experiment over a period of time painting on wood or metal."

Pavlovic-Dear earned a bachelor of arts degree from the Academy of Fine Arts in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. She completed postgraduate studies at Chelsea College of Arts in London.

Painting, mosaic and fresco were predominate areas of study for Pavlovic-Dear. Her painting and drawing show influence of the mosaic studies in particular.

"LILYA HAS that special way of looking at the world and getting it down on canvas and paper," Clare Spittler said.

Spittler owns the gallery, Clare Spittler Works of Art. In 1965, she opened her first art gallery, Gallery One in Cleveland. In 1977, she moved it to downtown Ann Arbor.

Since 1981, she has been at the location on Pauline Ct. Spittler strives to exhibit art that is unique as well as exclusive.

Media exhibited at the Ann Arbor gallery includes painting, sculpture, graphics, prints, glass and pottery. Gallery art is priced from $25 for a small, unframed print to $4,000 for a large oil on canvas.

All of the pieces in Pavlovic-

Dear's current show are 40 by 60 inches.

DISPLAYED OVER an off-white sectional sofa in her Farmington Hills home is her largest painting; the stunning turquoise "Corals" at 103 by 80 inches.

Pavlovic-Dear said because she usually works so large, her paintings and drawings are "made for bigger architecture spaces."

From the Mini Print Exhibition in Barcelona to the galleries of New York, Los Angeles, Paris and Belgrade, Pavlovic-Dear's art abstractly stated her philosophy in a steady stream of exhibitions over the last 20 years.

"Man is destroying nature with pollution," Pavlovic-Dear said. "Man should live with nature. We are part of nature."

Clare Spittler Works of Art is at 2007 Pauline Ct. in Ann Arbor. Gallery hours are 2-6 p.m. on Tuesdays, and by appointment.

"I'm not using the view of things on an eye level, but from a microscopic or macroscopic view. The view is somewhat closer to the way, science sees things."

Who's Who In Michigan Commerce, Inc.™

J.R. Paine, Realtor, Salutes the Gulf Veterans and Continues to Make
Real Estate History

IN 1948 WHEN J.R. PAINE SET SAIL FOR NEW horizons...a search that eventually covered five continents, it was extremely fortunate for the American public that she decided to do so.

In addition to making a peaceful contribution to troubling international issues, J.R. Paine set out to change forever the course of the real estate market.

Over the years J.R. Paine has always looked for a better way to help her fellow man.

Today, HMS, Home Marketing Specialists® a national landmark in real estate and the company J.R. Paine founded and nurtured to present day phenomenal success, has a vital new selling system, that will help you achieve an American Dream of putting up to $10,000 more of your money (that you've worked for) in your hands at closing. Personal capital gain is practiced on a daily basis with the HMS concept and is done so for your benefit.

J.R. Paine wants the public to be aware that the 6% commission normally required in real estate need never again be utilized to effectively sell your home. Now with the genius of the HMS concept, pay an even lower real estate commission. A $398 listing fee and a 2% closing fee will guarantee that HMS will put up to $10,000 more in your hands at closing, while selling your present home quicker, at a higher price, while still offering every other amenity that other real estate company's offer you.

As red, white and blue will always constitute a nostalgic feeling of home, J.R. Paine and HMS to some degree would like to accomplish the same. This time they would like to do something special by offering a 1% closing cost and $298 listing fee that is in support of the immediate families of our soldiers in the Persian Gulf. This remarkable offer available now will enable them to sell their homes quickly, achieve up to $10,000 more at closing and put that additional savings to good use.

HMS also offers the public Triple Target, (the fastest sale, the highest price for your home and the lowest real estate commission.) This popular program created for you by HMS guarantees up to $10,000 more in your hands at closing. With this concept HMS has a 90% selling ratio.

J.R. Paine and HMS have realized the value of a dollar...yours, and as a result, have originated a way to make it work for the public. This is their contribution to the American Dream: educating the seller to capitalize on his investment, and how to retrieve as much of that investment as possible at closing.

Since you, the seller, have worked very hard to acquire a sizeable investment in your home, doesn't it make sense to have that investment pay a formidable return!

HMS certainly thinks so, and by implementing this revolutionary real estate concept for you, the seller, HMS and J.R. Paine are supporting the marketplace as well as contributing to a healthy U.S. economy.

Tips for making telephone's use less of a chore

Today's column is a continuation (of answers to a question) in last week's article about telephone usage.

To avoid manually dialing your own area code each time, program "1 (313)" on one of your automatic dial buttons (if you have them). Press that button first, then press a second programmed number or dial the number manually. "Redial" will pick up both sets of numbers.

If you keep forgetting how to program the buttons, write out abbreviated instructions on a card and keep it handy.

Constant telephone interruptions can be avoided in various ways. Encourage callers to telephone during certain hours and plan easy work to do between calls during that time. People will think you're unavailable at other times of the day. If possible, let your answering machine take messages the rest of the day.

Rotate telephone answering responsibilities between several people, if possible. With three people available in a home or office, for instance, each person will be freed up from taking primary calls two-thirds of each day.

Make all your calls at certain times of the day, freeing up other periods for uninterrupted work. When leaving messages, be sure to tell when return callers can reach you.

The length of the greeting on your answering machine message is also important. Even standard 30-second greetings seem long to most people. You'll do callers a favor by buying a 15- or 20-second tape or by putting a very short message on a voice activated tape or microchip.

When recording your greeting, say you aren't "available" rather than you aren't "home." Some people are still afraid this will tip off burglars you are gone, but an unanswered phone sends the identical message. Include your last name rather than your first name, telephone number organizing

or no identification. It's frustrating to return a call to a Mr. Jones and hear a greeting that only tells his number. That leaves you wondering if you've reached the right place.

"Cute" greetings are fine for home answering machines but can be highly unprofessional for businesses. Change clever greetings often, though.

What's fun at first can become downright tiresome several times later. The father of one teen recorded: "Hi, Andy can't come to the phone right now but he'll return your call just as soon as he can. If, by chance, you want someone else in the family, we'll get back to you as soon as Andy gets off the phone." (Actually, I haven't wearied of that one yet).

Rush job

Deadline pressure for Pine Knob renovations

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Architects get all kinds of attention for designing buildings. Developers get credit for laying the groundwork. Financial institutions get publicity for funding projects.

And general contractors do all the work in relative anonymity.

That is, until they get a high visibility job with a tight deadline like renovations at the New Pine Knob Music Theatre in Clarkston.

Then the spotlight really shines on companies like Frank Rewold and Son of Rochester.

But Frank Rewold, executive vice president and grandson of the company's founder, relishes the challenge.

"This project is going to be done May 15. That's the deal, the prerequisite for us getting the job," Rewold said. "This is Phase 1. I don't know when Phase 2 will go."

"It's in our interest to perform real good and get other phases. That's what we pride ourselves in. Ninety percent of our work is repeat business. We only advertise occasionally, and mostly we don't bid on public projects," he added.

THE GENERAL contractor is in charge of all construction matters on a building site. He's an expeditor or producer. He makes things happen.

"We're basically giving the whole complex a facelift as well as adding three or four buildings," Rewold said of Pine Knob. "New siding, new roofing, all new lighting. Painting. Other than sidewalks, everything will look new."

"We're adding three or four buildings, basically bathrooms and concessions, which they desperately need, and adding a couple of new entrances."

"This will make it easier to get in, easier to eat, easier to go to the bathroom and easier to get out," Rewold said.

None of which reportedly was easy in recent years before Arena Associates, owner of The Palace of Auburn Hills, acquired the outdoor concert venue.

A handful of contractors with whom Arena Associates had previous dealings was invited to bid the project, said Tom Wilson, president of Pine Knob and The Palace.

"THEIRS (REWOLD'S) was very competitive with the others," he said. "One thing they established the last two years was quality of service and response time."

Renovations in the initial phase were estimated by Wilson at $5 million to $6 million. Rewold wouldn't reveal the contract price.

Rewold is used to fast-track jobs, but this one probably will be the quickest ever attempted by the company, he said. And it's been that way right from the initial meeting when Arena Associates presented blueprints for a cost estimate.

"We met on a Friday and gave them our quote the following Tuesday. We literally worked all weekend," Rewold said. "We had a second meeting on Friday. I think they called the following Tuesday (a span of 11 days) and said, 'Start.'"

"Within days of them telling us we had the job, we started. We're working six days a week, 12 hours a day. If we get down to the wire and we're not done, we'll start working nights," Rewold said.

BUT THAT illustrates the risk under which many general contractors operate. When they bid a job at a specific price, that's what they're paid. They generally eat extra expenses from delays due to bad weather, labor problems or other unexpected circumstances.

There are no early-finish bonus or late-finish penalty clauses on the Pine Knob job, Rewold said.

"I think the penalty clause is very simple," he said. "We know how important the project is for future work. If you don't meet the parameters, you won't be on the next job."

The company is doing several things on this job that it normally wouldn't do under non-rush circumstances, Rewold said.

"We basically have hand picked our subcontractors, people we worked with before. We picked better contractors to bid. We had better than 50 people in a room and told them the time frame we were working with — the same thing The Palace people did with us. We said, 'If you can't do it, leave now.'"

"THIRTY CARPENTERS are working at one time when normally we'd have 10 or 15," he added. "We'll probably pour footings in all four buildings at one time. We'll have one person just dig, another just pour."

More crews on the job means the job becomes more expensive than it normally would, but that's the price people pay for rush jobs.

"These are very aggressive goals, but not unattainable," Rewold said. "It will take good weather, cooperation from the owner and architect (Rossetti Associates). So far, it's

STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographer

General contractors are responsible for taking architects' plans and financiers' money and making projects happen. All kinds of variables affect the pace of construction. The key to success:

been excellent. You've got to have all subcontractors do what they're supposed to do."

Rewold said he holds a few other cards other contractors don't.

"We have a lot of trades in-house — carpenters, laborers, concrete and earth work," he said. "We have 35-40 full time employees. Fifteen are in the office. The rest are in the field. Quality is the reason."

GENERAL CONTRACTING is a risky business.

"We don't get paid for anything we do until we do the job," he said. "It's not uncommon for us to spend $5,000-10,000 on a job and get nothing out of it. We probably hit 30 percent (of bids).

"There's definitely easier ways of scheduling subcontractors, said Frank Rewold, executive vice president of the company overseeing the Pine Knob Music Theatre renovations and improvements.

making a living, probably better paying ones, too," Rewold said. "I like to build things. I guess I like to be a leader rather than a follower. In this business, that's essential."

"I like to be outside. I'm an outdoors person. Plus being a family business had a lot to do with it," he said.

If Rewold could mandate one thing to make his work easier, it would be to work closer with the architect when a project is designed.

"The way the system is now, the general contractor doesn't get the blueprints until they're done and the client says, 'Give us a price.' Then we get calls from subcontractors saying, 'Why the hell did he do this?'"

Metal roofing needs paint protection

(AP) — Metal roofing, while adding a unique or period touch to your home, often brings up questions regarding maintenance and installation.

As far as painting goes, terne (copper and tin plate) should be painted as soon after application as conditions will permit with a red iron-oxide, linseed-oil vehicle primer to prevent corrosion. This paint, which is brush-applied, is very slow-drying, with a 72-hour drying time. This is followed with a compatible linseed-oil finish coat.

In the old days, folks just used two coats of the red iron-oxide primer, which is the reason many of us picture old metal roofs as red. Today, the compatible finish is available in a variety of colors. Depending on environmental conditions, expect to repaint about every eight years.

Some of the metal shingles manufactured today are made from galvanized steel, the same way they were at the turn of the century. Like terne, galvanized steel should be painted. This smooth, slick and shiny surface must be etched or roughened up before paint will adhere to it properly. Today, most of the major paint companies sell self-etching primers for use on new galvanized panels.

TERNE-COATED STAINLESS steel (TCS) blends the best of yesterday and today: the durability and permanence of terne in a virtually maintenance-and corrosion-free product. TCS is type 304 stainless steel that's coated on both sides with a terne alloy that's 20 percent tin and 80 percent lead. It's considered self-healing because the terne coating is anodic to the stainless steel.

In other words, if it is scratched, the terne will act sacrificially to protect the base plate. Because of the way it resists corrosion, TCS is a good choice for severe marine or industrial climates. Under most conditions, its unpainted surface will weather to a warm gray. Another self-healing alloy used in the manufacture of metal roofing is Galvalume, a sheet-metal product with an aluminum-zinc alloy coating.

If you're thinking of doing this type of job yourself, a good book to refer to is the "Architectural Sheet Metal Manual," published by the Sheet Metal and Air Conditioning Contractors' National Association (P.O. Box 70, Merrifield, VA 22116; $75.00 ppd.). Considered the bible of the sheetmetal industry, it's an excellent source for sheetmetal practices that have been time-tested and proven.

Real estate interest differs from right to use facility

I have recently heard about a program for the utilization of a hotel-type condominium in Cancun, Mexico. Apparently it is sponsored by a national chain where you buy a week for the use of a particular room or a particular apartment and get to use others within Mexico as well as getting various bonus points at the hotel chains of the sponsor around the world. I was told basically the agreement would be for 45 years although I am not sure whether I am buying a condominium, a time-share or what. Do you have any information on this type of arrangement?

My understanding of the arrangement that you have considered is basically a license agreement that you enter into with the developer whereby you agree for a period of 45 years to have the right to use a suite at the facility in Cancun and various other sites. You also get bonus points to be applied toward airline fares and motel rooms. The average purchase price is around $30,000. You are not buying an interest in real estate but merely the right to use the facility. It does not appear to be a time-share arrangement either as it appears that you will not be assuming any responsibility for the maintenance of the hotel facility. I would, as in any situation involving the buying of an interest in the use of a facility, carefully review the documents and determine how much the carrying charges may be on a yearly or monthly basis over and above the initial cash investment and get and understand all aspects of the arrangement.

I am a developer who owns a marina and am thinking about the benefits that would be gained from converting all or part of it into a condominium. Do you have any idea as to how I might develop that marina project and what benefits would be obtained by the consumer and the developer?

In a conversion of a marina to a condominium, marinas typically offer all slips for sale, or at a minimum, all slips in a particular location within the marina. But transient or short-term rentals of unsold slips may continue while sold slips are frequently sub-let by owners for rental income. Marina condominium consumers pay the entire cost of the slip purchased or leased at the time of closing. Thereafter, the operating cost and reconstruction costs of the marina are assessed annually to marina condominium owners. The marina condominium consumer can benefit in that he is guaranteed dockage and is guaranteed additional benefits through the purchase of long-term lease of a boat slip. Initially, he is provided a real property interest that may appreciate overtime.

Consumers are also better able to predict yachting costs. In a rising market, consumer's dockage costs will be reduced over time. Moreover, the consumer is able to reduce the initial cost through seasonal or transient rental income on the boat slip under good conditions. The obvious advantage to a marina developer is an increased income created through the transfer of ownership.

But you as developer would be freed from the financial burdens of reconstruction and maintenance as the reconstruction costs and maintenance costs are annually assessed to the consumer through the community or condominium association. A marina condominium sale generally reduces or eliminates the debt service for the marina property and you may well be provided the ability to develop the remaining portion of the marina property. You are best advised to consult an experienced condominium lawyer to advise you including the obtaining of requisite approvals, in certain instances, from the Michigan Department of National Resources and the U.S. Corp. of Engineers.

It does not appear to be a time-share as you will not be assuming maintenance responsibility.

HOROSCOPE

March 10 through March 16

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Don't overlook important details at home and at work. Deal with minor problems quickly before they become a full-fledged disaster.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Your emotional state may be a little unstable. If you are indecisive about a certain situation, listen to a family member's advice.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

At times it will seem as though those you care most deeply for only want to hurt you. If all they want is to argue, just walk away.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

It is quite possible your work environment could improve. Catch up on your reading. The words you read could possibly help you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Responsibilities at home and work increase, but you will handle it all magnificently. Keep an open mind when dealing with friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

This is your chance to inspire others. Express yourself clearly and let others soak in your ideas. Optimism could be your best asset.

By C.C. Clark

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Don't let finances get out of hand. If you have overextended yourself, set up a plan of action. You'll feel good once you start paying debts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Family members and friends surprise you. They really do have your interests at heart, and they only want what is best for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

Try not to depend on others so heavily this week. You will gain great satisfaction by doing positive things for yourself and others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

This is a great time to attend classes or seminars that can make a positive change in your life. These changes will propel you into success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Think before you speak. You could be easily misinterpreted by those unaware of the entire situation. Don't make promises you can't keep.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Your organizational skills will be in full force and may help put your life back together. Show willingness at work.

NBC to cover IAFF track, golf

By Steve Paschal

Four-time NCAA champion Suzy Favor and Olympic silver medalist Greg Foster will be among the world-class athletes showcased when NBC's SportsWorld presents same-day coverage of the IAFF World Indoor Track and Field Championships from Seville, Spain, Sunday, March 10.

Former Olympians Willie Gault and Dwight Stones, along with Craig Mosback and Todd Christensen, will bring highlights from selected events featuring Olympic champions and hopefuls.

Favor, the only runner ever to win four straight NCAA titles in the 1500-meters, headlines the list of American women competing. Also competing will be Diane Dixon, the holder of nine U.S. Indoor titles in the 440-yard dash and a silver medalist at the 1989 World Games. Foster, America's top athlete in the 110-meter hurdles, will be joined by Hollis Conway, the American record holder in the high jump.

NBC will wind up a full day of Sunday sports with live final-round coverage of the Honda Golf Classic from Coral Springs, Fla. The long, 7,037-yard, par 72 course at Eagle Trace proved to be a challenge as only seven golfers broke par. One of those was John Huston, who shot a four-round score of 6-under-par 282 to gain his first PGA Tour win in his three-year pro career.

Cable Comments

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN
Executive Director,
SW Oakland Cable Comm.

A phenomena, not glamorous and yet remarkably democratic is the formation of the 'committee.' In America, committees insure that all people have representation. An absolute fact is that if you do become involved with your community be it government, education or through public organizations, your input does count.

You as residents were built into the cable telecommunication history. Throughout the United States individuals are working together to plan realistic use of cable technology.

One of the most interesting committee meetings I have ever attended took place in the early 80's where Education, Religion, Government and Public factions gathered together with the Cable Industry. Their purpose was to determine how to proceed toward establishing cable use for each person represented.

The two elements most important to assume was that all could work together recognizing each group's specific mission and then establishing a common goal. Educational Districts historically have been receptive to teaching and administrating through telecommunications options. Now as never before, efficient communication techniques are imperative, as funding becomes more difficult to come by. Tax dollars are being scrutinized as never before, and grant money is becoming more competitive and not as readily available.

Farmington and Novi School Districts have been participating on such cable committees for ten years.

Farmington has taken the lead under the direction of Media Specialist Peggy Schmidt and Telecommunication Coordinator Dean Cobb. Currently, they have a full blown media center, including computerized and video applications. Although books are still on the shelves, the center features electronic encyclopedias, CD—Rom data bases, interactive video discs. Anyone can use and retrieve information in all areas of media and students and teachers learn how to regularly use alternatives. The fundamental concept of learning to be versatile is crucial to us all.

The Home of 'TV 10' is a television studio in North Farmington High School. They keep an active programming schedule with shows being produced by students as well as coverage of school events. The programs may be seen on Channel 10 via cable.

The studio has a two camera format and there is one TV intern class of Junior and Senior students. To be eligible for the class each student must first complete the course entitled "Mass Media." As you can imagine with only 18 students in the class there is a waiting list to get in. The students are drawn from North Farmington High, Harrison High and Farmington High Schools. The students interns do all the programming as part of the class.

To receive financial support for such a facility the district approached the tri-city cable commission several years ago. All committee meetings included the cable company in planning, and the district made a five year commitment which included teachers, curriculum, facilities and some equipment. The Commission and Committees recognized the serious long term impact of the program and jointly instituted a multi-phase plan with MetroVision to activate the signal distribution as well as provide studio equipment.

The second phase included the "Teacher On TV" project. It is referred to as a 'distance learning project' whereby one teacher provides several off site classes with one curriculum. Latin I is taught from Farmington High and goes to North Farmington High. German I is taught from Harrison High and goes to North Farmington and Farmington High Schools. The classrooms are equipped with television monitors, cameras and microphones so that the teacher may view and hear all the students. The students may also see and hear her. A special bond and interest is created among the classmates and the teaching is both visual and creative.

Novi School District was in the same committee structure over the past decade. They host a television studio also, in Novi High School. Assistant Superintendent Rita Trainor has always participated, showing a receptivity to telecommunication growth within the district. The television and radio teaches is David Legg. Jim Fry is also knowledgeable on the subject and is currently serving as Chairman of the Educational Access Advisory Committee.

In both school districts elaborate plans have been made, to assure the Communities and Cable Company that the improvements necessary to the cable distribution system will have long term use and therefore warrant any financial expenditure. In this way the Community Committee Structure participates in cooperative spirit into our future.

Plymouth School District, according to spokesperson Richard Egli, is in the futuristic planning phase with the Blue Ribbon Committees. These consist of three subcommittees. Committee 2010 is reviewing "What Education Should Be Like in the 21st Century. Another committee is reviewing technology and its practical applications. (This

'Shannon's Deal' makes long-awaited return

Lawyer pays more than his bar dues

By Amy Schmidt

"Shannon's Deal," NBC's perennially-reincarnated drama series makes its third return this week on the network. The series began as a two-hour movie way back in June of 1989. It won its time period, scored in the top 10 for the week and was praised by the critics. Tom Shales of the Washington Post wrote that the show "is about as prime as prime-time gets." CBS "Sunday Morning" critic John Leonard added, "good acting, snappy direction, cracker-jack entertainment."

Subsequently, NBC decided to make "Shannon's Deal" into a full-fledged series. The following spring, the show made its debut and garnered good ratings. Because not enough episodes had been filmed, the network passed over the series in the fall, vowing to bring it back in the spring.

Now the show is back along with its stars, ruggedly handsome Jamey Sheridan and perky Elizabeth Pena. Tony-winner Sheridan ("Stanley and Iris," "Distant Thunder") plays corporate lawyer Jack Shannon. Shannon's gambling debts and moral debts have cost him both his marriage and his self respect, and now he's trying to turn his life around. He decides to set up his own practice in a dingy walk-up office and to recruit Lucy Acosta (Pena) as his secretary. Jack Shannon's new practice champions the causes of the poor and the indigent.

"Shannon's Deal" was created by Stan Rogow, an attorney and producer. "I was a radical hippie lawyer coming out of the sixties," says Rogow. "I would never take a poor person into court. The courts and the law aren't set up in a way that they could win," explains Rogow. "I always tried to make a deal with someone of authority and discretion to get what I wanted. That's what Jack Shannon does. He tries to make justice happen where there often isn't any." The 1984 theatrical film "The Verdict," starring Paul Newman, also provided him inspiration for "Shannon's Deal," Rogow admits. The producer's other credits include NBC's "Fame" series and the 1984 feature "Clan of the Cave Bear."

Rogow hired as creative consultant and writer for the series

John Sayles. Sayles is the writer and director of the critically-acclaimed films "Matewan" and "Eight Men Out" (in which, incidentally, he also cast himself as sportswriter). "I knew that a lot of legal cases never went to court," says Sayles. "I liked the notion of a main character having a second chance at putting his life back together with some kind of ethics — both legal and moral ethics."

This season, "Shannon's Deal" will begin as it did two years ago, with a two-hour movie. Titled "Shannon's Deal: Wrongful Death," the premiere involves two policemen in a bizarre pawn shop shoot-out that nearly kills Lucy. Shannon files a wrongful death suit against the pair, and butts heads with a tough detective (Ronald Joseph) when he suspects the cops responsible have something to hide. Tony winner B. D. Wong ("M. Butterfly") guest-stars.

Elizabeth Pena and Jamey Sheridan reprise their roles as Lucy Acosta and Jack Shannon in the long awaited-return of the NBC drama "Shannon's Deal". The series debuts with a two-hour movie, Sunday, and regular episodes begin airing Friday on the network.

Plans are to look at electronic video mail, use of modems to provide homework assistance, on-line programming for exploratory study, shows with elementary counselors, DARE, Presidents, as seen through the eyes of the students or program ideas, and possible live call-in shows with questions for the school administrators and about curricula.

Nine years ago television was taught in Plymouth High School. The format was in black and white. How quickly things change.

Both Canton and Plymouth have active Cable Committees which are reacquainting themselves on the Cable Contracts to progress into the future with the help of the Cable technology. The plans will have much input as will the Farmington, Farmington Hills and Novi projects. Such subjects as institutional networks, fiber optics and distance learning will become common argon. By Amy Schmidt

Jessica Lundy was in the middle of shooting the Christmas episode of Over My Dead Body Nov. 15 when she was given a break to chat. Lundy played Edward Woodward's (The Equalizer) crime-solving sidekick on the who-dunnit.

It is in itself a learning tool and a person buffer which will ease the growing pains. We all absorb information differently. course, because CBS canceled the show. Nonetheless, the animated young actress remains a talent to be reckoned with.

New York is home base for Lundy. The daughter of a doctor and a housewife, she has wanted to be an actress since age 3. Lundy recalls a ballet recital as a child. "My mother told me I was a 'dancing poodle' when I came off stage. Afterwards we were watching the other girls do a number when I told her, 'It's only fun when you're on stage.' She knew then that there was something going on," said Lundy. "I still have that tutu. I don't know how I ever fit into it."

Over My Dead Body was Lundy's first TV series. She has appeared in three theatrical films, Bright Lights, Big City, followed by Caddyshack II, and recently, Madhouse, premiering this month on cable.
