2 challenge incumbents for school board

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district will go to the polls June 10 to elect two school board members to four-year terms.

Vying for two four-year terms are incumbents Dean Swartzwelder and Roland Thomas, both of Plymouth Township, and Canton residents Bobbie Cleary and Deborah Lynch. See candidate profiles on page 3A.

Also on the ballot will be the renewal of 17.74 mills, representing nearly half the district's $74 million 1991-92 budget.

One four-year seat and two six-year seats are open on the Schoolcraft College board.

The crowded field for the four-year Schoolcraft seat includes Plymouth resident Steven Ragan, the college's newest trustee and a Detroit Metropolitan Airport administrative assistant, Ronalee Bowman of Livonia, director of Garden City Youth Assistance, Willis Brauer of Livonia, a principal at Coolidge Elementary School in Livonia, Paulette Cebulski of Plymouth, assistant director of physical therapy at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, Robert Gordon of Plymouth, an osteopath with a family practice in the city, Bruce Patterson of Canton, a Canton Township merit commissioner and a partner in a Southfield law firm, M. Andrea Taylor of Livonia, owner operator of Andy's Cakes and Catering and an employee of Fonte D'Amore Restaurant in Livonia, and Patricia Watson of Northville, a clinical supervisor at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital who has a private practice.

Candidate Subramanian Ramamurthy of Canton will oppose incumbents Michael Burley and Jeanne Stempin in the race for two six-year Schoolcraft seats.

Ramamurthy is president of Optimum Management, a Plymouth consulting firm.

Burley is a teacher in the Northville Public Schools. Stempin is a partner in a Livonia law firm.

They packed Plymouth-Canton High School's Little Theater, cafeteria and hallways for the school district's I CARE Rally Tuesday evening. The standing-room-only crowd enjoyed a meal and a program that included a "parade of excellence" and exhibits set up by schools throughout the district. About 75 of Plymouth-Canton's para-professionals picketed the event. Formerly referred to as educational aides, the para-professionals have been working without a contract and are unhappy with the lack of progress in bargaining.

Engler's plan to pack prison not legal — Law

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Nearly 1,000 women could be exposing themselves at a local highway intersection by summer.

If female felons are crowded into a local prison near a highway intersection, the result will be "a freak show," said a prison guard.

"They like to flash the cars going by," said a guard who declined to be named.

That will attract spectators, he said, adding, "There's going to be a whole lot of problems."

Gov. John Engler is seeking to raise the capacity of Scott Correctional Facility at Five Mile and Beck roads from 528 to as high as 982, by possibly double-bunking women prisoners.

But Gerald Law, Plymouth Township supervisor, said, "They can't put more people in there without changing the law," which specifies a cap of 528.

The prison is just north of Five Mile Road, which denotes Plymouth Township's northern border.

LAW SAID he'd heard of the proposal, to replace the male prison population with a greater number of female prisoners, while he served as a state legislator.

"I'm never too excited about it," he said, of proposals to exceed the state-mandated cap on a prison population. "They wanted to double-bunk some of them, they wanted to go over the cap."

Saying he hadn't received any notification from the state that a greater number of prisoners would

City's leaner budget will leave surplus

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

After running a deficit in the last two fiscal years — due mainly to rising garbage dumping costs — the projected city budget predicts a surplus of $145,129, come June 30, 1992.

How the city administration will spend residents' tax money in fiscal year 1991-92 was the subject of a public hearing Monday at Plymouth City Hall.

The commission is scheduled at its June 3 meeting to adopt the budget, which predicts nearly $6.1 million in revenue and just more than $5.9 million in spending.

The draft budget was put together by city finance director William Graham and reviewed and revised by commissioners in study sessions in April.

'The cost of maintaining the (ice arena) equipment is becoming excessive and it is time to get them replaced.'

— William Graham
city finance director

THE POLICE department budget — the largest department budget at nearly $1.15 million — was trimmed by $69,000 by commissioners, Graham said.

"There is a lieutenant and a police officer who are retiring," Graham said.

Commissioners agreed not to replace the lieutenant and to fill the officer slot with an entry level officer, thereby saving money, Graham said.

COMMISSIONER Jerry Vorva suggested eliminating the solid waste coordinator position, to save taxpayers around $20,000.

But the city administration said coordinator Joe Russell has been instrumental in helping to make the bag-tag program succeed, and most commissioners agreed to retain the position.

Also to save money, the commission has opted not to fill the department of public works director position left by Ken Vogras, and has not filled two vacated clerical positions.

ON THE other hand, Graham said some long-delayed equipment purchases, of a front end loader and ice-resurfacing machine for the ice arena, will be delayed no longer.

The cost of maintaining the equipment is becoming excessive and it is time to get them replaced, Graham said.

The $450,000 the city expects to get from the sale of the city's former

Crime is down in city, up in township

By Kevin Brown

Reported crime was down in the city of Plymouth and up slightly in Plymouth Township in 1990 compared to the previous year, according to statistics compiled by the police.

While an increase in reported rape was reported nationally over that period, there were no instances of rape (first degree criminal sexual conduct) reported to city police last year or the year before. In Plymouth Township, reported cases of rape fell from 10 in 1989 to six last year.

In other crimes reported to city police:

• Burglaries of residences and businesses fell from 64 in 1989 to 36 in 1990.

• Complaints of criminal sexual conduct, other than first degree,

Firm eyes horse service

After a break of several years, horse-drawn carriage service could be returning to Plymouth.

Plymouth Mayor Ralph (Jack) Kenyon told city commissioners at their meeting Monday that ENL Stables Inc., which currently operates a carriage service in Northville, has asked to operate in Plymouth.

"I think it's a nice option, as long as we don't have horse caramels," Kenyon said.

"They had some catcher thing that used to catch it," said Commissioner Ron Louselle, sparking laughter from other commissioners.

Kenyon said the carriage company could soon begin operating in the city. A company spokesman could not be reached for comment.

Board deadlocks on Headlee petition

Michigan voters will have to let the court decide whether they can vote on the Headlee 20 percent property tax cut initiative.

The state Board of Canvassers deadlocked 2-2 Wednesday on whether to accept the staff report that the petition drive was 7,000 signatures short.

Members are Republicans Jim Alexander, a Birmingham attorney and Oakland GOP chair, and Gail Torreano, a Senate staff member, and Democrats Mike Pyne, a UAW official from Lansing, and Bernice Shields of Detroit.

The two Democrats Pyne and Shields voted to accept the staff report and the two Republicans Alexander and Torreano voted against accepting.

"The Democrats have disenfranchised thousands of voters. We'll be in the Court of Appeals within two weeks," said Richard Headlee, chairman of Taxpayers United and a Farmington Hills resident.

He complained that Secretary of State Richard Austin's staff allowed the Michigan Education Association to prove people aren't voters.

"They won't let us prove people are voters," Headlee said.

He said the election staff would not allow TU to submit affidavits from city and township clerks verifying that signers were indeed registered voters. "Taxpayers United took six months last year to collect 224,000 petition signatures for the Headlee tax cut initiative. But it took the Secretary of State and the four-member Board of State Canvassers eight months to certify them. The process usually takes two months," publicist Bill McMaster said.

TU needed 191,726 signatures. The Secretary of State staff used a sampling method to determine that only 184,390 were valid.

Earlier Wednesday, the state Senate did not vote on this resolution urging the canvassers to place Headlee II on the ballot.

Gov. John Engler last week issued a statement urging the canvassers to move swiftly in certifying the proposal.

IF APPROVED by voters, the Headlee initiative would create a new state law that will • Cut property assessments for all taxes a total of 20 percent — 10 percent retroactive to Dec. 31, 1990 and 10 percent more on Dec. 31, 1991.

• Force the Legislature to make up lost revenue to all local units from the state general fund at an estimated second year cost of $1.5 billion.

• Allow any taxpayer to sue in circuit court to enforce the statute.

Computer system tips police to crime patterns

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A new computer system coupled with a special police unit will fight crime before it happens.

The computer tracks the times and places of crimes. And if a pattern develops, the Selective Enforcement Unit will be sent out, said John Santomauro, Canton public administration director.

"The unit is special from the standpoint that it's the first time we have a unit to devote time specifically to proactive enforcement," Santomauro said.

Selective Enforcement started this year in Canton. It's also used to reduce accidents at problem intersections, like Ford and Sheldon roads, said Canton police Capt. Laura Golles, who heads the unit.

"People making left hand turns are failing to yield to traffic," she said. "Hopefully, the presence of a police officer and the issuance of violations will cause people to be more observant of the traffic laws."

Likewise, in crime areas, the computer system can track patterns.

"We will know where to put our officers and what time of day or night," Golles said.

IN CANTON, larceny and vandalism were the most commonly committed crimes last year, according to Canton police reports.

"Typically our experience is that our crime committed in Canton tends to be crime against property and not crime against people," Santomauro said.

Larceny was up in 1990 compared to 1989. However, the number of vandalism reports fell.

Larceny reports rose 4 percent, from 1,913 cases in 1989 to 1,995 cases in 1990. Vandalism reports, fell 9 percent from 1,164 cases in 1989 to 1,056 in 1990.

The crime figures are the local version of the FBI crime statistics recently released for communities with at least 100,000 residents. Canton has 57,000 residents.

From 1989 to 1990 serious crime was down 1 percent in Canton, police reports said.

Even though police reports show that drunk driving arrests rose 14 percent from 275 cases in 1989 to 313 cases in 1990, it doesn't mean there are more drunks on the roads.

"That's probably a byproduct of us being able to devote more resources to that type of enforcement," Santomauro said.

However, finding qualified officers is a problem that "has plagued us," he added. There are five vacancies out of 59 sworn positions in the department. He attributes the problem to a "really rigorous" application process.

OTHER CRIME statistics are as follows:

• In 1990 there were nine more criminal sexual conduct reports in Canton than the year before. The figures rose from 40 in 1989 to 49 in 1990.

• Last year there were 13 arson cases, which was down from 1989 when there were 25 cases.

• Disorderly conduct cases were up from 551 cases in 1989 to 613 cases in 1990.

• Burglary cases rose slightly from 337 reported cases in 1989 to 360 cases last year.

• Family and children neglect reports in Canton were down 36 percent from 50 cases in 1989 to 32 cases last year.

• Last year, nine people were killed in car accidents and the year before six people were killed.

Statistics for the first two months of 1991 are stacking up about the same as last year, according to police reports. For instance, there were far more vandalism and larceny reports than any other crimes.

During January and February there were 289 larceny reports compared to 291 reported larcenies the first two months in 1990. During January and February there were 176 vandalism cases reported compared to 173 cases the same time last year.

dropped from four in 1989 to two last year.

• Aggravated assault reports dropped from 15 to seven.

• Reported instances of fraud fell from 24 to 12.

• Vandalism dropped from 198 instances reported in 1989 to 149 last year.

• Narcotics offenses dropped from 20 to 14.

But while crime in Plymouth dropped in several categories, some increases were reported:

• Felony check offenses — the writing of bad checks for goods worth more than $50 — rose from 18 to 24.

• Trespass offenses rose from 50 to 96.

• Urinating in public offenses rose from 13 to 21.

Of the general decrease in reported crime, acting Police Chief Robert Scoggins there was no strong apparent reason for the decrease. "We would like to say and think it's because we're out there doing a great job, but sometimes it (statistics) goes the opposite," he said.

"I think police officers are better trained, I think they do better investigations," Scoggins added.

• Reported robbery fell from six to two cases

• Reported assault rose from 99 to 121 cases

• Car theft rose from 63 in 1989 to 90 last year

• Reported larcenies rose from 452 to 495

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry said most car thefts are occurring in an area bordered by Haggerty and Ann Arbor roads, and I-275. "We've increased out patrols in the area," he said.

"It's a daytime occurrence, it happens around noon and between 3 and 6 in the afternoon," he said. Motorists and residents "should make sure their cars are locked," Berry said, adding valuables should not be kept in the car.

Berry said that while increases in reported crimes — and any reported crimes for that matter — are unacceptable, "When you consider the population flow through the community, we have a very safe and secure community."

He also encouraged increased vigilance on the part of citizens to deter crime.

Candidates in school race address issues

Bobbie Cleary: Ranks academics first on her list

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Plymouth-Canton Board of Education candidate Bobbie Cleary is pegging her campaign on three main issues.

The Canton resident, a chemical engineer and the mother of three preschool-aged children, ranks academics first on the list.

"I have friends who've left the district because too little is being asked of kids. They weren't learning enough," said Cleary. "I see the schools using a lot of experimental education, but I don't see any research. I don't see any backing for what they are doing, and parents are left in the dark."

Cleary cited as an example the introduction of "developmental" learn-at-your-own-pace education in the elementary grades.

"If you're going to individualize education, you have to decrease the student-teacher ratio. That's what the teachers report, but this issue has never even been raised."

Cleary also has concerns about the "whole language approach" detracting from students' ability to learn to read. It also disturbs her that some fourth graders aren't learning multiplication tables, and are instead becoming dependent on calculators.

With "feeling-centered, affective education," state-mandated courses, anti-drug programs, and elementary counseling infringing on the school day, "there's no time to actually teach," Cleary said.

Placing positive self-esteem ahead of academics among the district's goals is putting the cart before the horse, she said. "If we want students to have high self-esteem, we need to teach them. Then they'll have something they can be proud of."

CLEARY ALSO is concerned about parents being heard by the board. "I would like to see parents have a louder voice. Most of the schools have PTOs, but the board doesn't want parents butting their noses in," she said. As a result, "parents are grossly uninformed about radical changes" affecting their children.

If elected, Cleary says she would inform parents and "do research on academics. I wouldn't just be there to fulfill the administration's dreams, but to choose what's best for students."

Her education and work experience in chemical engineering "would help me greatly in reviewing problems and developing solutions to problems," Cleary said. Experience as a volunteer teacher and working with young children also would assist her, she said.

She'd like to see the proposed $60 million bond issue itemized so that voters can decide on expenditures.

"Parts of it I'd support," she said. "We have quite an abundance of students, and we definitely need more space. I have questions on the high technology package. What concerns me is that you can use technology in a good way, or in a bad way. You have to make school stimulating enough, but I wonder if they're going to make it academic enough. We should have a balance."

Cleary said she'd need more information to decide whether a third high school should be built at Centennial Educational Park or another site. "I'd have to study it more, but ideally it should be built in a centrally located area. I'd try to build it so the lowest number of students possible would have to be bused."

She advocates the continued use of Central Middle School as a middle school. "It seems like West is overcrowded. If we are in dire need of space, and I know we are at the elementary level, I'd question why we would get rid of a middle school. If they're trying to sell it to make more money for the district, they're going to have to pay to build another school anyway. I'm not quite sure why you would do that."

The "open" classrooms in some elementaries are a problem that should be addressed in the bond issue, Cleary said. "Ten years ago, the pod system was developed, classrooms had no walls or barriers between them, and that was the big cure back then. It's one of the major problems in those schools. It's extremely noisy."

Cleary says she'd bring a fresh approach.

Right now the board represents the administration. They pretty well go along with what administration wants. But that's not the job of the board. The board needs to represent the community. The board also needs to research new things that come along before implementing them.

Deborah Lynch: Involve the community in schools

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Deborah Lynch, a financial planner from Canton, said she'd offer "a different approach" if elected to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Lynch, who has a degree in business administration and work experience in commercial real estate development, said she'd apply her business background as a board member.

"I believe very much in teamwork, rather than being at odds. I feel that rather than the community existing for the school system, the school system exists for the community," Lynch said. "I think the community comes first, and the schools are part of it."

The board needs to "actively market the participation of our senior citizens, taxpayers and homeowners. They need to feel they count before millage proposals go on the ballot," said Lynch, who has six children, three of whom have graduated from high school.

My goal would be to get the participation of all community members. I feel it's a 24-hour responsibility. I'd like to be a communicator, the board's PR person."

THE INTRODUCTION of high technology in Plymouth-Canton schools is among Lynch's concerns.

"I'm afraid if technological advances aren't introduced in the proper way, instead of being a help, they will be a handicap. We need a happy medium; we need to know how to use technology, but we also need to teach the process to make us independent of it."

"I believe money needs to be set aside for the proper training of staff so teachers can accommodate both the kids who are intimidated by technology and kids who are advanced."

"If you want students to read, you have to teach them to love to read. Our society has evolved so quickly the last 50 years that to kids, if it isn't there, it just isn't so."

OVERCROWDING ALSO concerns Lynch.

"It's an issue right now. The current board isn't exactly lax, but they're removed. They're not out enough to find out what's going on with development."

Subdivisions going in "are going to put a tremendous burden on the school system."

Lynch views the district's special ed program "as a definite strength. The teachers are extremely devoted."

Administration isn't always such a strength. When my son was first placed in special ed, no one even called to him, it was punishment. I would have appreciated time to work with him."

PARENTS WERE NOT well informed about the proposed "school within a school" program at the high schools, Lynch said.

"It's a very good concept. Unfortunately, the information sent home gave a very vague overall view. I had to go to the school before I could fully understand it."

As a school board member, Lynch would work on "communication — the district's major weakness."

The fact that the board makes themselves aloof builds resentment in the rest of the community. I would be out there in the public, so I'd be accountable. I'd actively market business interests."

AS FOR the aging Central Middle School, "I think a viable solution might be to discuss the sale of a portion of the land for consideration of a new city library, or for the building of a school for the gifted, or a school for fine arts, something that would make this community stand out. Plymouth-Canton should have something for our kids to aspire to."

A third high school "shouldn't necessarily be located at CEP, for the simple reason that the amount of students there is incredible. It's intimidating for entering ninth graders."

Lynch wouldn't implement new

programs such as developmental education without first "watching it in action" in districts where the innovations are being tried, she said.

"A bigger concern is being sure the teaching staff has training, a good attitude and a good approach."

Before taking a position on the $60 million bond issue, Lynch said the proposal needs to be explored in more detail. Also necessary is more input from staff on the district's needs, she said.

Swartzwelter: Set master plan

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Dean Swartzwelter, president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, is seeking one of the four-year seats voters will fill in the June 10 election.

Foremost among his goals is the development by the 2010 Committee of a "master plan" for the school district.

Swartzwelter, who helped launch the committee last fall, anticipates "the most comprehensive master plan you could put together. We've had fantastic parental and community involvement," Swartzwelter said. He looks forward to reviewing and implementing the recommendations "if people in the community will accept them."

A possible source of financing for the improvements will be the $60 million bond issue proposed for a September election. Swartzwelter, a resident of Plymouth Township, supports the bond proposal "and all the principles inherent in it."

Swartzwelter also wants to play a role in the selection of a new superintendent upon John Hoben's retirement in June 1993.

"John Hoben will have been superintendent for 22 years and with the district for nearly 40 years," said Swartzwelter, who manages Ford Motor's North American powertrain engineering finance department.

Hoben's retirement will have enormous impact, he said.

"People don't think about it, but it's like a priest somewhere recruiting a new priest. I want to be involved in the process of replacing him," he said. The financing of Kindergarten-through-12th-grade education is another area of concern, said Swartzwelter.

Surviving the chaos in Lansing "is going to take a lot of planning. It will take a lot of political clout to weather the storm and minimize the implications on Plymouth-Canton schools."

Swartzwelter, who's served on the board since 1984, views the district's strengths as "the citizens in the community, parents, students and staff. Parental support has been fantastic" — a plus in light of growing national recognition that "without parental support, you cannot have an effective school system," he said.

"We still have to communicate better and listen better," Swartzwelter added. "I personally try to be a good communicator. I've never turned down a telephone call in my life." However, "you just can't please everyone. I try to balance and weigh off these views and come up with the optimum position."

"This is my purpose to prepare our 15,000 students as best we can for life after high school in today's technological society."

Swartzwelter supports the goal of Hoben to make Plymouth-Canton Community Schools a national pilot, introducing high technology to the classroom with federal grant money and $12 million from the proposed bond issue.

WHERE A THIRD HIGH SCHOOL should be built remains a question, he said.

"The board will have to go through making that decision. There are so many painful things to bite the bullet on." Fortunately, capacity won't be a major problem until this year's second graders reach ninth grade, he said.

Swartzwelter doesn't envision Central Middle School being converted to a high school. "As far as I can see, it will always be a middle school. Central doesn't have the facilities to be a high school because it's antiquated," he said. "We need middle school capacity, especially with the bigger classes starting to come up."

As for the controversial "developmental" learn-at-your-own-pace teaching methods in place in the district's elementary schools, Swartzwelter said, "the district has to do things to improve K-12 education. It has been criticized so much we have to do better."

Roland Thomas: Continued service

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Roland Thomas, planning and analysis manager for Ford Motor Company's Pre-Delivery Service corporation, is seeking his third term on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The Plymouth Township resident said he's running for four reasons.

"I've been part of this community since I was 17," said Thomas. "It offered me, and has continued to offer my wife and kids, some tremendous opportunities. I want to continue offering those opportunities and continue to improve upon them."

"I have a broad business background, which gives me the opportunity to offer those services," said Thomas, who has a bachelor's degree in accounting and a master's in marketing. Thomas' work experience in planning facilities and interviewing prospective Ford employees assist him on the school board, he added.

Seeing firsthand how graduates struggle with writing and grammar convinces Thomas of the need to offer more classes like the district's "Chemistry in the Community," and to "blend education with the needs of the environment and business."

A third reason he's running involves the superintendent.

"In all likelihood, (Superintendent John) Hoben will retire in the next four or five years. I can offer the leadership in terms of criteria. We need to hire a new superintendent who's very sensitive to the needs of our community, and who will listen to the voice of the community and staff." Hoben's replacement also must have a strong financial background, he said.

Thomas's fourth reason is the desire to follow through on initiatives recently introduced in the schools, including the developmental program, "outcome-based education," and middle school restructuring.

Thomas says he needs more information before deciding whether to support the $60 million bond issue proposed by the board-appointed 2010 Committee. Research is needed on several of the recommended bond expenditures, he said.

"I have some reservations about the proposed cafeteria modification (expansion) at Salem High School. I'm not satisfied that is the solution to the (overcrowding) dilemma," Thomas said.

A third high school — recommended by the 2010 Committee instead of a "Phase Four" building at Centennial Educational Park — also deserves more study, said Thomas.

There's no doubt "there will be a dramatic need for two elementaries if we ever hope to lower class size," he said.

Thomas supports the introduction of high technology in the classroom. "We've made great strides, but we're not using the technology available. We need to go beyond that."

Thomas, now in his ninth year as a trustee, says the board "has made wonderful strides the last four or five years." While there's room for improvement, "we listen better and respond to people's needs better," he said.

As for Central Middle School, Thomas "sees it continuing as a middle school for the foreseeable future. We spent $1.5 million to renovate it. It needs some additional work, but I'd be very disappointed if the community lost uses of pieces of that building," said Thomas, who attended school there when Central was Plymouth High School.

"We do need to look somewhere down the road at building a middle school in Canton Township. The largest number of students comes from Canton."

There are 55,000 registered voters in the district and 15 polling places. Voters wishing to cast absentee ballots can do so by calling elections clerk Bernice Nichols at 451-3135 or writing her at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth 48170.

"Ballots won't be in until the 21st, but applications can be mailed out any time now," said Nichols. "Voters can just call or come in and complete an application." Absentee ballots can be mailed once applications are returned.

Eligible to vote absentee are residents who: • expect to be absent from the community or are physically unable to go to the polls; • can't go to their precinct because of the tenets of their religion; • are precinct workers registered to vote in a polling place other than the one they're working in; • are age 60 or older; • are confined to jail awaiting arraignment or trial.

Nichols said voters not sure of where to vote are welcome to call the board office at 451-3135.

"If any readers are wondering where their voting precinct is, they can call here. We'll be glad to tell them where their precinct is and they won't be wandering all over. I know there's a lot of confusion with governmental precincts."

Residents who would like to vote but aren't registered may do so before 5 p.m., Monday, May 13 at the board office, 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth during business hours. For more voting information, call elections clerk Bernice Nichols at 451-3135.

Shrewsbury to run for city commission

Dennis Shrewsbury, a 10-year Plymouth resident, has announced his candidacy for the Plymouth city commission.

"We must do all we can to draw upon the resources available to us to maintain a vibrant, eclectic small town atmosphere, while also providing our residents the services they deserve for the tax dollars they pay," he said.

An attorney, Shrewsbury ran unsuccessfully in November as a Democrat against Republican Gerald Law for the 36th state House seat. Law recently resigned the seat to become Plymouth Township supervisor.

"Plymouth, a community with a rich heritage of citizen involvement, is drifting," Shrewsbury said. "We have city managers coming and going. The downtown business district needs a promotional shot in the arm. The divisions caused by the Mettetal joint operating authority are deep and must be healed. "Shared services must be addressed from a position of strength, not addressed only to help balance our budget," he added.

Shrewsbury, who has a son and a daughter, is serving his second term as president of the Suburban Bar Association.

well field in Northville Township has not been budgeted, Graham said, as the money has yet to be paid to the city.

Once the city gets the sale proceeds, probably by June, Graham said the money will be kept in reserve.

"It will enhance our position and help us in bond sales," said Mayor Ralph (Jack) Kenyon.

THE BIGGEST revenue sources for the city, according to the draft budget, are nearly $3.1 million in property taxes and nearly $3 million in state shared revenue.

Because the bag-tag garbage pickup program was started in December — a program geared to residents more directly paying for household garbage pickup costs — the city's solid waste fund is expected to run a $144,404 deficit at the end of the current fiscal year, June 30.

But in the 1991-92 fiscal year, the program is expected to generate $607,000 to offset $466,042 in revenue.

The resulting balance, applied to the 1990-91 deficit, will leave a solid waste fund deficit of just $3,446 at the end of the 1991-92 fiscal year, according to the draft budget.

be housed at Scott, Law added he would be speaking to Northville Township officials to hear their views on the matter.

Gail Light, corrections department spokeswoman, said the men housed at Scott are being moved to other prisons.

posal to meet a federal court order. "It's an option being discussed to allow us to comply with a federal consent order," he said, to provide better psychiatric facilities for prisoners.

With the state being fined $10,000 a day — it's been six years since the federal court ordered the state to come up with a plan — Truscott said, "We put together a task force to make recommendations to the court to satisfy the consent order the judge imposed."

By the recommendations, Huron

Valley prison in Ypsilanti would be turned into a psychiatric facility, and women prisoners would be transferred to Scott, Truscott said.

Truscott said the plan would be presented to the court May 15, adding a May 29 hearing is scheduled on the matter.

Should the plan be accepted, the governor would seek a change in the law mandating a cap on prison populations, he said.

Getting books to blind is her goal

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

What if a child loves to read but happens to be blind? Until recently, most were simply out of luck. Of the few children's books available in Braille, prohibitive costs of up to $100 each made them financially out of reach to the majority.

But thanks to the creative brainstorm of a Livonia woman who founded a specialized non-profit publishing company, the situation has changed considerably.

In 1985, Debra Bonde launched Seedlings Braille Books for Children, the only company of its kind in the nation. The first year, she produced 215 books, priced at some $10 each or half the cost of production. The difference was met by public contributions.

This year, 6,000 books will be distributed to readers throughout the United States and abroad, including such favorites as "Charlotte's Web," "Super Fudge," and "Ernie's Big Mess." Prices remain low, still $10 or less per book, subsidized by fund-raising efforts of active volunteers.

"I have two sighted children who read voraciously. All children, sighted or not, should have the same opportunity," said Bonde, in explanation of Seedlings.

A single mother who describes herself as handicapped by severe shyness, the work fits Bonde perfectly. "I can't meet people face to face, but I have mechanical ability."

Her unique idea has touched the lives of many.

"READING IS SUCH a gateway to knowledge, information, recreation, inspiration. It's something everyone should have access to. This is my way of dramatizing the value of reading," said Elaine Morse, a Seedlings volunteer who serves as president of the board.

An assistant manager for Borders Book Shop in Birmingham, Morse is also active with the Birmingham Library Board.

It's at libraries that another board member, Kathy Donagrandi of Farmington Hills, is most acutely aware of the shortage of books for sightless children. "When you see the choice of books for sighted children, it's very disappointing to see the limited number in braille."

A special education teacher for Livonia schools, Donagrandi said school texts are available in braille but there are few enrichment books. Yet pleasure reading is essential in teaching the visually impaired correct grammar, punctuation and spelling.

Jerry Weichbordt of Livonia, an electrical engineer, is intimately familiar with the problem. An avid reader who is legally blind, he had great difficulty in finding reading material as a youth.

"Jerry volunteers because he knows the interest in reading starts as a child," said wife Mary Beth, who works for the Greater Detroit Society for the Blind.

ONCE BONDE LAUNCHED Seedlings, the first order of business was upgrading primitive printing equipment, according to Mary Cowper of Southfield, one of organization's earliest board members.

Working from the basement of her home, Bonde was using a computer printer adapted for Braille and built by her father.

"In the beginning, each page had to be transcribed by hand, one dot at a time, on a slate and stylus. One mistake, and you had to start the page over," said Cowper, who originally volunteered as a Braille transcriber.

In short order, she found herself raising funds essential in purchasing new computer equipment and, perhaps more important, to subsidize the cost of books.

"It's the affordability factor, keeping prices where children can afford them. They have nowhere else to buy books."

The success of Seedlings fund-raising, according to Troy accountant Mark Bosscher, can be measured by annual printings, up from 1,900 books in 1987 when he joined the board to 5,000 last year, including 125 different titles. Each book represents a contribution of at least $10.

"This is obviously a very good cause," he said.

In March, Seedlings moved into a new office at the site of the former Bentley High School in Livonia.

Everyone's a winner in Special Olympics

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Wayne County Special Olympics Summer Games usually start with a trumpet, a rousing cheer and a loud bang. And, as always, the annual event finishes with a big hug.

On Friday, Gene Cowger of Wayne-Westland contingent provided the spark as the Special Olympics torch lighter; the Livonia Franklin Marching Band furnished the trumpet, along with a few other musical instruments; a cheer was supplied by parents, teachers and volunteers and the bang came from the guy holding the starter's pistol.

The hugs? Well, those come from everyone involved.

Some 1,100 athletes who are mentally impaired participated in the track and field and swimming events at Livonia Franklin High School. Gymnastics, walking and weight lifting events took place April 27 at the school with 400 athletes participating.

Friday's opening ceremonies included David Hatty of Redford Union receiving an award as "1991 Wayne County Special Olympics Inspirational Athlete."

Sometimes a hug didn't take the form of an embrace. Perhaps it was just a few words of encouragement from a volunteer such as Aaron Ingold.

"Are you ready?" Ingold turns to ask one Special Olympian as they walk out onto the track at Franklin

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Bonnie Bacon from Redford Union lifts her arms in jubilation in the Special Olympic Summer Games Friday at Livonia Franklin where everyone was a winner.

High. "Did you stretch out?"

The athlete looks a bit pensive and confides in Ingold that he's afraid he's going to fall down while running the 50 meters. The Ingold assures him everything will be fine.

AS THE runners approach the starting line, the athlete turns his head back to Ingold once again. He looks pensive.

"You're not going to fall," Ingold tells him. "You're going to do all right."

A starter's gun crackles in the mid-morning air to interrupt the moment. The athlete gallantly runs the 50-meter dash and finishes sixth. He didn't fall down.

At this moment, the Special Olympian Oath of "Let me win. But if I cannot win. Let me be brave in the attempt" rings particularly true.

Not that raw competitiveness is devoid from these events, especially in the high jump where the Burger Center in Garden City fields an excellent team. Volunteers lift the bar an inch at a time, making each jump more difficult.

But Special Olympians Larry Copeland and Shawn McAllister are fearless. Both clear the bar at 4-feet, 6-inches. The suspense mounts as volunteers began to clap as both compete to clear 4-feet-7.

McAllister hurdles over the obstacle, drawing a rousing applause. Then Copeland misses his first and second attempt.

Burger Center teacher Suzan Samaan takes Copeland aside for a brief pep talk. On his third try, Copeland clears the bar. Both receive first-place medals.

As people run up to congratulate Copeland and McAllister, Bonnie Bacon, 27, from Redford Union is a solitary figure before the standing jump event at the other end of the field.

BACON HAS the hood of her blue sweat shirt drawn tightly over her head. All that can be seen are her bright blue eyes and a grin that runs ear-to-ear.

She waits patiently as several other Special Olympians complete their jump, fumbling with a Popsicle stick.

Finally, Bacon's turn comes. She leaps and volunteers promptly mark off 172 centimeters with a golf tee, good enough for second place.

"Have you been practicing?" a volunteer asks.

Bacon shakes her head yes with even a wider smile.

In terms of enthusiasm, though, Thomas Watt from ARC Northwest is tough to beat. Half-way through his run in the 50 meters, Watt thrusts his arms outward in victory and jumps right into the arms of volunteer Sarah Deminski at the finish line.

"I was so surprised, I forgot to mark down what place he finished in," Deminski says.

Watt, in the throws of euphoria, turns to the spectators along the fence and begins giving out "high-fives."

Such elation in the faces of athletes, though, help bring out volunteers for Special Olympics. For Friday's event, there were 400 such people.

One of the most recognizable is John McHugh, who is area director for Wayne County Special Olympics.

The Canton resident got involved seven years ago as a coach with his son, John Jr, 22, who's a Special Olympic athlete.

The facial expressions McHugh sees are one of things that make Special Olympics a memorable occasion.

"The feelings they must get standing up there receiving a medal or a ribbon," McHugh says. "They're always elated..."

'Schools of choice' bills advance in state Senate

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Two bills promoting "schools of choice" for families moved forward this week in the Michigan Senate, though mostly with Republican backing.

Test votes showed Democrats dislike the idea. The bills could be in trouble in the Democrat-run House.

"An entrenched educational establishment is opposing the bill. That's not reason for senators to oppose it. It's reason to support it," said Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, GOP point man on educational money matters.

Countered Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills: "The basic, fundamental, bedrock Republicans in my district would leave this up to the people of the school district."

THE BILLS — advanced to third reading Tuesday — would promote parental choice of schools for children. They are:

- Senate Bill 158 — requiring local districts to establish schools of choice planning committees by Oct. 1. Parents, teachers and principals all would be involved. The plan would cover informing parents of their options and transporting children from low-income families. Students transferring for athletic reasons would be ineligible to compete in interscholastic sports for one year.

The Senate passed SB 158 on Wednesday on a 21-12 vote. Area senators voted along party lines, Republicans for, Democrats against. Faust and Hart had excused absences.

- SB 159 — allocating $1 million for pilot programs in about six intermediate (county) school districts which apply. The Kent County ISD is known to be interested. Purpose would be to work toward cross-district choice within a county.

The first bill is sponsored by Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus of Alto, the second by DeGrow. Both are close to Gov. John Engler.

IN A KEY TEST vote, senators rejected an amendment by freshman Sen. Jim Berryman, D-Adrian, to make the program optional for local districts.

DeGrow argued it down: "By making it optional, you don't even need a bill."

Supporting Berryman in a roll call vote were Democrats Faxon, William Faust of Westland and George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

Opposed were Republicans Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, Robert Geake of Northville and David Honigman of West Bloomfield.

Thirteen Democrats backed the Berryman amendment. Nineteen Republicans were joined by Democrat Debbie Stabenow of Lansing in rejecting it.

BERRYMAN TRIED a crippling amendment in the ISD pilot plan bill, seeking to give any one school district in a county a veto power.

"Alls it does is say you cannot apply for a grant unless all the boards within your ISD support it," he said.

That amendment was shouted down in a voice vote.

Sen. Joe Conroy, D-Flint, supporting the Berryman amendments, tweeted Republicans on the busing issue.

"In this bill, you require mandatory use of buses. Just 15 or 20 years ago, the former prosecutor of Oakland County (L. Brooks Patterson) was talking about 'forced busing.' Boy, how times change!"

THE SENATE also shot down, 8 to 16, an amendment by conservative Doug Carl, R-Utica, to tie it to his proposed state constitutional amendment allowing government aid to non-public schools.

"It's inappropriate," objected DeGrow, to tie a constitutional amendment to a pilot program.

And Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, said the Carl amendment "would kill a fundamental tenet... separation of church and state."

Maverick Democrat Gil DiNello of East Detroit leaped to Carl's defense. "I'm sick and tired of do-gooders telling us they're strict constructionists of the constitution. Why does government give money to private colleges? It's no different to give money to K-12 private education."

THANK YOU!

AWREY'S

America's Hometown Bakery

Thanks to all our loyal customers for supporting Awrey Bakeries, Inc. over the past 81 years.

Although you may not find our products on your local grocer's shelves anymore, your favorite baked goods may not be far from home.

That's because this hometown bakery is changing directions and will concentrate on serving a national market through major hotels, restaurants and other fine institutions.

And, of course, you can still find many of your favorite Awrey's baked goods at our Thrift Store located at the bakery on Farmington Road in Livonia.

Now, it is our turn to say THANKS to those who have helped build our business, and celebrate our new corporate direction.

Area Arabs struggle with postwar feelings

In Westland, elderly Arab women are wearing only black — symbolic of perpetual mourning.

In Birmingham, a young woman of Iraqi descent has become a social activist, soliciting funds to buy medicine for victims of war in Iraq.

In Livonia and Southfield, members of Arab-American organizations scramble to fill growing demands for public speakers on the Middle East.

Elsewhere throughout the metropolitan area, citizens of Arab heritage cope with the aftermath of Operation Desert Storm, a tragedy referred to more often than not as a holocaust.

There are many strategies for coping, including denial, trying to forget, anger and frustration," said Nabeel Abraham, an American-born Palestinian who teaches anthropology at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn.

Feelings, he added, are fueled by a sense of double standards employed by the U.S. government. "We support occupations by certain countries, Israel in the West Bank and Golan Heights and Turkey in Cypress, but then use the same standard to destroy the infrastructure of Iraq."

Earlier this week, Abraham addressed the issue during a public forum at Christ Church Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills, one of the numerous requests to speak he has received in recent months.

As a representative of the Arab-American community, he tells audiences "we are really many communities of differing Arab heritages rolled into one."

"GROWING PAINS of tragedy," is how Christine Oram of Birmingham describes the feelings she has experienced since the outbreak of hostilities last August. Oram came to the United States from Iraq 20 years ago. A brother, visiting relatives there, left the country only days before allied bombs started falling in mid-January.

Acting on those feelings, she helped organize Victims of War, her first venture into public activism. Later this month, she and others from the group will carry medical supplies to Baghdad.

Oram is not alone in her efforts, according to Abraham, who said the war has "energized" many Arab

"We've certainly seen an increased interest in traditions, customs and Islam, and requests for films, seminars and speakers from people wanting to know more about us."

— May Berry

Americans into new activity.

"This is our holocaust," Oram said. "It's not an issue to take lightly. I have never felt so deeply or so determined about something. It's so close to my heart."

VOW, she added, is "a people-to-people crusade, a people-to-people mission," a united effort resulting in a growing coalition between various Arab factions here.

Tom George of West Bloomfield, a member of the Chaldean-Iraqi Association of Michigan, concurs. "Today, compared to seven months ago, there is a definite solidifying within the entire (Arab-American) community, a sense we are all working closer together."

Previously, Chaldeans sought anonymity, according to George, because "we are relatively new to this country and we didn't want to bother anyone."

"THIS WAR HAS TAUGHT us a big lesson. We have to be organized and professional. We have to get the word out, let people know who we are." Chaldeans now seek active alliances with other area organizations, he said.

May Berry, a college student active in the Arab Community Center in Dearborn, said that in addition to a growing coalition between Chaldean and other Arab groups, there is also growing interest in Arab heritage by the general public.

"We've certainly seen an increased interest in traditions, customs and Islam, and requests for films, seminars and speakers from people wanting to know more about us."

"I feel positive about it, but it's unfortunate this didn't happen before the war. People were so ignorant."

Recent events have been trying for Berry, whose family is Lebanese. "I don't feel a sense of military victory and the euphoria afterwards has been very difficult for me."

"I'm pleased our numbers of killed were so low, but we don't know the number of Iraqis who were killed. We may never know. I can't forget that." Like many others, Berry copes by burying herself in volunteer work. Presently she is raising funds for VOW.

THE MOST unsettling matter to many Arab Americans in the aftermath of the war is the fate of relatives and friends still unaccounted for in Iraq and Kuwait.

Several days weekly, Mariann Saieed travels from her Wayne County home to Southfield where she answers the phone for VOW.

"I do this to help myself," said Saieed whose husband, Khalid, and two children, Adam, 9, and Adora, 3, have been missing in Iraq since a final phone call on Jan. 12. Phones have not worked since bombing began on Jan. 18.

"I don't watch TV news anymore. I don't want to see my kids begging for food." It helps, she said, being around others who share a similar plight. Callers from throughout the U.S. and Canada phone the VOW office, people frantic with worry about the fate of relatives in Iraq.

"It's pretty sad. The women usually start crying. They tell you about their dreams. I try to reassure them. I think it helps when they know I'm waiting too."

The situation is less desperate in Kuwait, where Palestinians charged with siding with Saddam Hussein have been under seige by angry Kuwaitis. Phone service is again working.

Still, "conditions are not the best and we're pretty worried," said Samia Tawil of the Union of Palestinian Women's Association in Chicago.

Meeting tells of summer programs

Summer enrichment programs will be described at the Tuesday, May 14 meeting of the Western Wayne Michigan Alliance for Gifted Education.

Representatives from Gibson School and Schoolcraft College will provide handouts on summer programs, the Wayne Regional Education Services Agency booklet, "Summer Sundries" will also be available.

Information will be provided on classes, field trips and programs for students from kindergarten through high school.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Perrinville Center, Farmington Road just south of Ann Arbor Trail.

The meeting is open to the public, all materials are free.

Program seeks foster parents

People willing to furnish temporary care for children with developmental disabilities are sought by the respite care program of Northwestern Community Services, Garden City.

Applicants must be Wayne County residents with experience in caring for developmentally disabled individuals.

Those chosen will be licensed by the state Department of Social Services.

Workers receive a $30 per-day, or $15 per-half-day stipend.

Care is provided in the workers' own home. Normal assignments include overnight or weekend stays, although visits may extend to two weeks.

Care is provided for individuals 22 and younger with mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism and other neurological and muscular impairments. The respite care program has assisted more than 2,000 Wayne County families since 1975.

Additional information is available by calling the respite care program, 425-9950.

Mayapples provide protection for moths

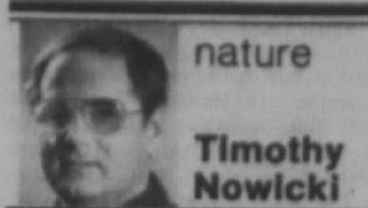

Scientists have been able to identify many of the basic principles of nature. Animal camouflage, habitat preference, succession, and territory are just some of those principles. A basic knowledge of these principles is very helpful when observing the natural world.

But basic principles are just that, they are basic. Most of these principles are manifest in many different ways in various plants and animals. For instance, numerous research projects have illustrated the unique ways in which camouflage is achieved. Crab spiders that rely on quickness and patience, and not a web for catching food, are able to change from white to yellow, depending on the color of the flower they are on. Frogs typically found on the forest floor are not green, they are brown and black — to match the dried leaves they hide among.

Last spring I discovered an interesting way a moth protects itself from predators during the day. While examining the spring wildflower mayapple, I was surprised to see several moths resting on the downward facing flower. It took me by surprise, because I did not notice them at first. Their creamy white coloration blended in perfectly with the shaded white petals of the blossom. Though the blossom is only two to two and a half inches across, there were as many as five moths positioned like petals around the flower.

Those creamy white moths were identified to be white slant lined moths. I do not know if they had been feeding on the flower during the night and then just settled on the edge when daylight came, or if they always come to this flower for protection when it is in bloom.

No matter what the reason, they were very well hidden. The palm tree/umbrella like leaves of mayapple completely cover the flower when viewed from above. In combination with their petal like coloration, complete with a slant line on the wings to match the break between petals, and their placement among the petals, would surely camouflage them from potential predators.

Next time you walk by some mayapples, see if you can find some of the white slant lined moths.

Village antiques show boasts national flair

Expert explanations of the automotive art of Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec and furniture "marriages" are among the special features of the seventh annual Village Antiques Show May 10-12 at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Tickets for the Village Antiques Show are $5 in advance, $6 at the door, and are separate from regular museum or village admission. A single ticket purchase is good for all three days of the show, and both lectures are free with Village Antiques Show admission. Although antique show visitors won't be able to buy Toulouse-Lautrec's 1898 lithograph of a speeding motorist or catch a Chippendale bridal bouquet, they can gain an enlightened perspective on antiques through the Katharine B. Hagler Memorial Mini Forum, a free lecture series designed for the private collector.

"Our show is more than an elegant display of top-quality antiques. It's an educational event, too," said Nan MacEwen, Village Antiques Show chairwoman.

Author John Zolomij, director of the Pennsylvania-based Raymond E. Holland Automotive Art Collection, will present "The Motor Car in Art" and display items from the extensive collection at 3 p.m. Friday.

David Lindquist, a North Carolina-based appraiser and dealer in 18th- and 19th-century English and country French antiques, will present "Antique Furniture: What to Know Before You Buy," at 3 p.m. Saturday, May 11.

He will help collectors learn to distinguish between originals and reproductions and tell pristine pieces from "married" furniture (items that have combined parts of similar pieces).

Lovett Hall will provide an intimate setting for the show, which features 47 respected dealers from across the nation. Each dealer will present a distinctive selection of antique merchandise, available in Michigan for the first time.

A gala preview night party on Thursday will provide an advance opportunity to survey and buy antiques before the public opening on May 10. Preview ticket prices range from $100 to $300.

Proceeds from the Village Antiques Show support all aspects of Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

ROBERT C. FRYSSINGER

Services for Robert C. Frysinger, 67, of Stuart, Fla., were Thursday, May 3, at Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was in Cadillac Memorial Gardens, Westland.

Mr. Frysinger was born Aug. 19, 1923, in River Rouge. He died Sunday, April 28, in Stuart, Fla. He formerly lived in Livonia and was a longtime area resident before moving to Florida. He was a member of the Plymouth Elks and was a supervisor at the Ford Motor Co. plant on Sheldon Road for 28 years. He was a member of the Tri County Sportsman's League and was in World War II.

Mr. Frysinger is survived by his wife, Carol Frysinger of Stuart, Fla.; two daughters, Diane Pelkey of Westland and Kathleen Wiley of Brighton; five grandchildren; one brother, Earl Frysinger of Portland, Ore.; and one sister, Carmen King of East Tawas.

The Rev. Gary L. Damon officiated the service. Memorial contributions may be given to the American Cancer Society or the Hospice of Stuart, 925 Lincoln Avenue, Stuart, Fla. 34994.

DOROTHY N. CALABIO

Services for Dorothy N. Calabio, 62, of Canton were held Thursday, May 2, at L. J. Griffin Funeral Home. Burial was in Mt. Hope in Livonia.

Mrs. Calabio was born July 30, 1928 in Bruce, Miss. She died Monday, April 29, in Canton. She was employed at AT&T for 27 years. She graduated from Tech High School in Memphis, Tenn., and was a member and deaconess of Ward Presbyterian Church, Livonia.

Mrs. Calabio is survived by her husband, Daniel Calabio of Canton; one son, Trent Yopp of Canton; two grandchildren; and two sisters, Wardean Ingram of Ohio and Jean Stewart of Tennessee.

The Rev. Robert J. White, of Grace Baptist Church of Belleville, and The Rev. Alfred Gould, of Ward Presbyterian Church, officiated the service.

RICHARD G. MANKE

Services for Richard G. Manke, 52, of Westland were Monday, April 29, at Kirk of Our Savior Church in Westland. Burial was in Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia.

Mr. Manke was born Oct. 17, 1938 in Detroit. He died Thursday, April 25, in Canton. He was employed as a welder with Ford Motor Company for 18 years, was a Westland business owner, and former member of Westland Jaycee's and Board member of the City of Westland. He served with 101st Airborne U.S. Army.

Mr. Manke is survived by his wife, Patricia M. Manke of Westland; one son, Christopher J. Manke of Canton; two daughters, Dandra A. McCaffrey of Griffith, Ind. and Tracy L. Manke of Westland; mother, Florence Hickey of Westland and step-father, Jack Hickey of Westland.

The Rev. Neil D. Cowling officiated the service. Memorial contributions may be given to Salvation Army, Michigan Cancer Foundation or Kirk of Our Savior Church.

Arrangements were made by Vermeulen Memorial Trust 100 Funeral Home in Westland.

If you haven't already signed up for the Metro Area Warm Up Magic Ride in Canton Saturday, it isn't too late.

"You can register right up to the morning of the ride," said Bill Joyner, ride co-director.

While bicyclists are gearing up for the ride Saturday morning, registrations will be taken 7-11 a.m. at the township administration building, Canton Center south of Proctor.

THEY WILL be riding Canton's western rural roads to raise money to fight child abuse and neglect. Pledges will be collected for every mile they ride. The money will be donated to the child abuse and neglect council in the county cyclists live.

So far 184 people have signed-up. Last year, 92 people registered before the event and about 200 cyclist rode. They raised more than $20,000 in the Canton ride.

"Based on this early response this year we expect to have as many as 300 riders," Joyner said.

If you can't ride and you would like to get involved, you can volunteer working behind the scenes in registration, checking cyclists as they return and other duties, said Cindy Burgess, ride co-director.

Or, you can send donations directly to the Out-Wayne County Council on Child Abuse, P.O. Box 2505, Dearborn, Mich. 48123, Burgess said adding that funds are down, because donations and state funding are down.

The council works on educating and counseling the public about child abuse.

"They get the word out that it's wrong to hit their kids," Burgess said. "And they let people know how destructive words can be."

Council employees hope the ride will draw attention to child abuse. And the cyclists will serve as a reminder as they peddle by.

THIS YEAR there are two routes: One is 14 miles long through western Canton and can be repeated as many times as cyclists like. The other is four miles through a subdivision, and is the suggested route for children and families.

The roads will be open to traffic, but bicyclists will have police supervision and escorts when needed, said Pat Nemecek, police information officer.

The longer route starts at Canton Center at the administration building, south to Geddes, north to Ridge, east to Cherry Hill, south to Palmer and back to the administration building.

The four mile stretch is Canton Center east to Palmer, north to Morton Taylor, west to Proctor and south to Sheldon.

Activities are planned for children, celebrities will be in attendance during a special celebrity mile and prizes will be awarded to the rider with the most pledges.

The state Magic Ride is in Lansing June 8.

For more information about the Canton ride call 454-5428.

Free checking isn't the only reason to make us your new bank.

A free trip to Hawaii is another.

Now you can win a free trip during our Hawaii For Two promotion. It includes round trip airfare for two people, three nights in Maui and four nights in Waikiki.

To enter, just stop in at our newly expanded Livonia office or any of the participating Security Bank and Trust offices. No purchase necessary.

Actually, there are a lot of reasons.

We've expanded our Livonia office to include drive-in banking, safe deposit boxes and a larger staff to serve you.

And to celebrate our expansion, we'll give you a free checking account for one year with 200 free checks. And along with it, we'll also give you a free beach towel, too.

Don't miss your chance to change banks.

You only have until May 24th to take advantage of all these offers. Open a free checking account and get a free beach towel. And enter our Hawaii For Two drawing by just coming into any of the branches listed below.

Think about it. There are a lot of reasons to make Security Bank and Trust your new bank.

Paula Blanchard has a few trappings in her Southfield office that remind her of life as Michigan's First Lady. But that — like politics — is all history, she says.

Ex-first lady is happy with life — sans politics

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

No. Definitely, no. Paula Blanchard says she is flattered when her name is mentioned occasionally as Democrats start musing about possible candidates in upcoming Oakland County elections.

But Michigan's former First Lady says she is not interested.

"My years in politics seem so far away," said Blanchard, who moved out of the governor's residence in June 1987, when her 21-year marriage to then-governor James Blanchard ended in divorce. "I just can't imagine going back to that."

Paula Blanchard was mentioned as a possible candidate last month by Oakland County Democratic Chairman Donald Tucker, a Southfield attorney who insists Democrats are surging in Oakland.

A POPULAR NAME like Paula Blanchard would have instant voter recognition, said Tucker, who believes she would be a strong contender for the Michigan Legislature or Oakland County Executive.

"Paula's well known, bright and knowledgeable," said Tucker. "She'd be a great candidate . . . even in a Republican stronghold like Oakland."

Except for one thing . . . Paula

Is Your Dog Safe From Heartworm Disease?

Heartworm disease affects dogs in this area.

Big or small, long-haired or short, house pet or kennel outdoors, your dog, no matter what breed, is susceptible to heartworm disease. And now, this potentially fatal disease has been found throughout the United States and in Canada.

Mosquitoes transmit heartworm disease, so wherever and whenever mosquitoes are present, dogs are at risk. It is the female mosquito that bites and, hence, spreads the disease. The female mosquito is very tiny and can easily slip through cracks around windows, doors or screens, so even dogs that stay indoors can be in danger.

This is a good time to test.

The first step toward protecting your dog is to call your veterinarian and arrange for a simple heartworm blood test. Having your dog tested is important because you can't begin a preventive program until you confirm that your dog is free from heartworms. If your dog already has heartworm disease, treatment can be dangerous for him and expensive for you.

Prevention is simple.

If your veterinarian determines that your dog is free of heartworms, he or she will tell you how easy and convenient prevention can be. So don't delay calling your veterinarian, because heartworm disease is a serious problem, and every dog needs to be protected.

Call Your Veterinarian For A Heartworm Test Today.

ORDER FOR SUBSTITUTED SERVICE BY PUBLICATION

At a session of said Court held in the Washtenaw County Bldg., Ann Arbor, Michigan on the 2nd day of May, 1991.

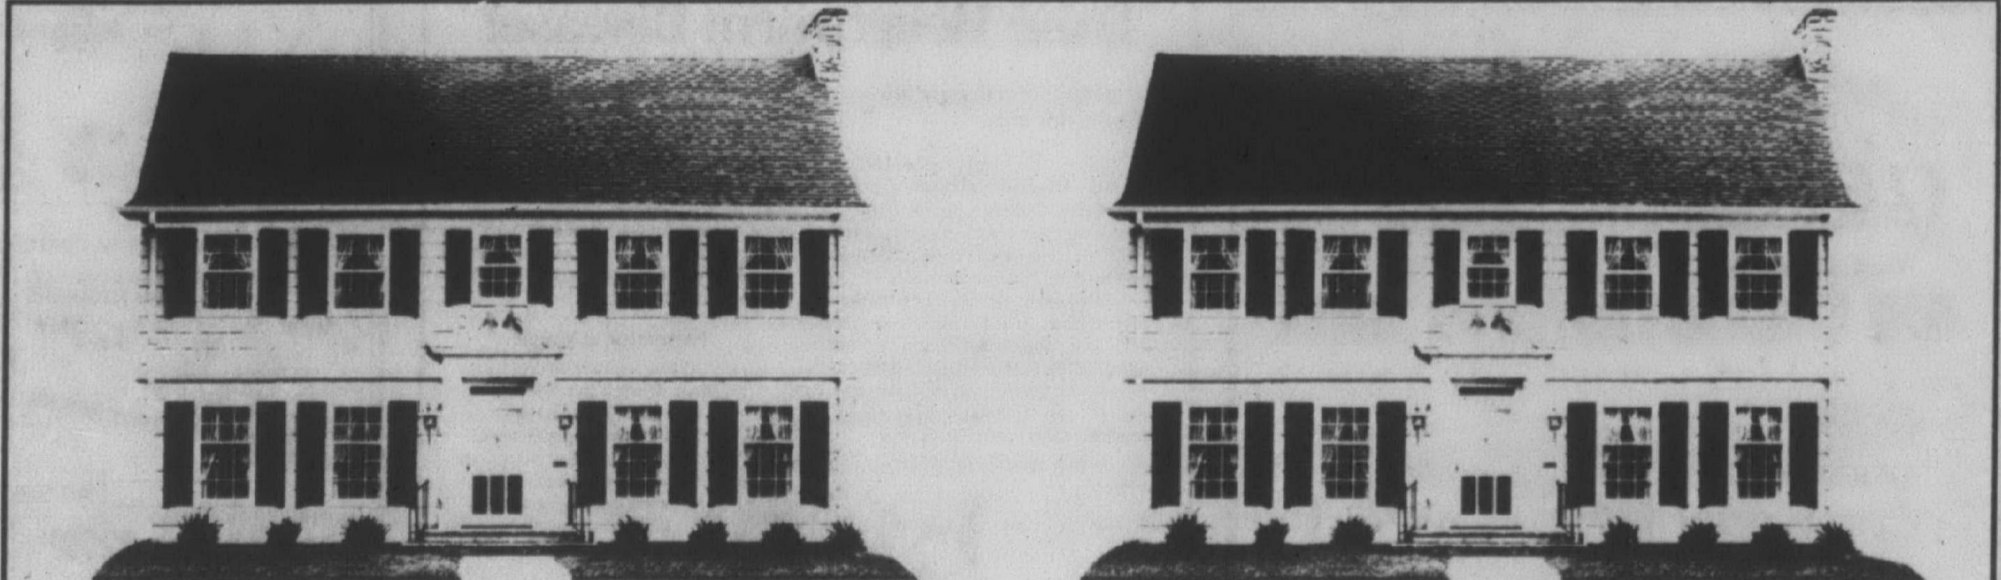

PRESENT: THE HONORABLE ROSS W. CAMPBELL, Circuit Judge.

This cause came on to be heard upon the verified Motion of Plaintiff's attorney seeking an Order of substituted service by publication and the Court having been fully advised in the premises.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that a copy of this Order be published once each week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the county wherein the Defendant resides, to wit: Wayne County, Michigan and that a copy of this Order together with copy of the Summons and Amended Complaint herein be served upon Thomas Cape, the Defendant herein by registered mail, return receipt requested, at his last known address, 46511 Betty Hill, Plymouth, MI 48179 before the last date of publication.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant shall answer or take other action permitted by law on or before July 15, 1991.

AFTER 15 YEARS, THE ONE ON THE LEFT WILL COST ITS OWNER $97,000 LESS.

No, there isn't an elaborate family room or swimming pool around back. No trick photography either. Both houses are exactly the same. Except for their mortgages.

You see, the one on the left is financed with a 15-year fixed rate mortgage from First of America Bank-Plymouth. So instead of paying off the loan amount in the traditional 30 years at an annual percentage rate (APR) of 9.73 percent, it's paid off in half that time at a rate of just 9.18 APR.

Which means you build equity faster.

| | 15-Year Fixed Rate Mortgage at 8 7/8% | 30-Year Fixed Rate Mortgage at 9 1/2% |
|---|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Total Monthly Principal/Interest Payment: | $ 805.48 | $ 672.68 |
| Total Principal Repayment over Life of Loan | $ 80,000.00 | $ 80,000.00 |
| Total Finance Charge | $ 66,386.40 | $163,764.80 |
| Total Repayment over Life of Loan | $144,986.40 | $242,164.80 |
| Total Savings | $ 97,178.40 | |
| APR | 9.18 | 9.73 |

And because the principal balance is reduced sooner, interest savings can be in the thousands of dollars. In this case, $97,178.

In short, our 15-year fixed rate mortgage is one of the best ways to save substantially on the financing of your home.

Even if you can't see the difference now. For more information talk with your Realtor or stop by any First of America Bank-Plymouth location.

doesn't want anything to do with politics.

"Public service is an admirable calling," said Blanchard. "But it's a very consuming lifestyle. There's no such thing as privacy."

Paula should know. She saw plenty of politics when she was Mrs. James Blanchard — then Mr. Democrat in Michigan — lost to Republican John Engler. "I thought he (Jim Blanchard) would be governor as long as he wanted," she said.

Those times in Washington and Lansing were indeed heady. Paula Blanchard recalled, hobnobbing with politicians and heads of state. "But I like my life the way it is now," she said. "It's very much focused on my career."

Blanchard joined Casey Communications Management Inc. in May 1989, as an associate vice president. The firm is part of the Shandwick group, possibly the world's largest public relations company with 100 offices worldwide, including one on the seventh floor of the North Park Plaza in Southfield.

Included among her clients are R.L. Polk & Co. in Detroit, G.M. Bus & Truck in Pontiac, McLaren Regional Medical Center in Flint and the Ventures Group Inc. in Houghton.

"SOME PEOPLE THINK I got this job because I was the First Lady," Blanchard said. "That was certainly a plus. But my whole life has been involved in communicating."

Paula graduated from Michigan State University in 1966 after which she taught school in Minnesota and Lansing. While living in Washington, D.C., she spent about five years with the Animal Health Institute, a national trade association for manufacturers of veterinary medicine products.

She has completed the coursework for a master's degree in telecommunications from MSU, although she has not completed the thesis.

"I love the company . . . and the professionals here," she said, referring to her 30 coworkers at Casey Communications. "I really like the challenge associated with my job."

With today's economic uncertainty, many companies — including her clients — are watching the bottom line, she said. "That means a bigger challenge . . . produce or else."

Blanchard has received one promotion with the firm, something she views as affirmation of her job performance and value to the company.

"The ultimate proof of my ability is performance," she said. "Not just (doing) a good job, but a great job. That's how I answer my critics."

Blanchard said she is well on her way toward establishing her own professional credentials and removing any public perception — if it's still there — that she is anything less than a hard-driving executive.

IN TWO YEARS, she expects to be with the same firm, although at a notch or two up the ladder. Over the next decade, however, her plans are more flexible.

"I'd like to own my own company," she said. But that depends on a number of factors, including some that are beyond her control. "I'd have to be ready — personally and professionally — and conditions would have to be right."

"I'm still learning . . . and I've got a ways to go," she said. "But I'm on my way. I've got control."

Control means keeping a balance between her professional and personal life, Blanchard said. That includes maintaining a close relationship with her son, Jay, now a student at MSU.

She and Jay went to London in 1988, when he graduated from high school, part of a concerted effort to keep close mother-son ties. They're still very close, she said, and do numerous things together.

Over the Easter holiday, for example, they went to a movie, "Guilty By Suspicion."

Reminded that "Guilty By Suspicion" dealt with politics — namely congressional inquiries into alleged un-American activities during the 1950s, Blanchard smiled.

— Paula Blanchard

"I LOVE MOVIES and novels about politics" and political intrigue, she said. "I just don't want politics in my life today."

Blanchard said she is happy with a quasi-private life in Birmingham, where she bought a house in 1988. "People still recognize me when I go to dinner or when I'm out riding my bicycle," she said. "But they're nice . . . non-intrusive."

Blanchard said her social life is progressing nicely, even though home repairs cut into her free time.

"Yes, I'm dating," she said. "I'm seeing a businessman who lives in Birmingham. He's a widower with teen-age daughters. We get along just fine."

Asked about the likelihood of remarrying, Blanchard said, "I don't need it. I've got my career, my family and social life. Why remarry?"

Paula Blanchard is no newcomer to Oakland County, of course. She was raised in Clarkston and spent what she considers quality time as a youngster in Birmingham.

"My dad, William Parker, managed a paint store on Woodward Avenue," she said. "On Friday nights we'd join him for supper."

While in college, the then Paula Parker was a student teacher at Pierce Elementary in Birmingham. In the early 1970s, when Jim ran for U.S. Representative in the 18th District, they lived in Pleasant Ridge.

"So I know the area," she said. "And I like it. This is my home."

Planner helps match people and careers

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

The new world economy is alive and well in Plymouth; Jim Danielski is seeing to it.

Danielski, creator of Career Planning Specialists on Main Street, and a motivational speaker, is working with AT&T long distance operators and support staff in a program to help employees explore career options.

As part of AT&T's joint management/union program, Danielski is conducting seminars for 165 long distance operators and support staff — many of whom work in offices on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth — on all shifts. His visit to AT&T facilities is followed by four-hour sessions at Career Planning Specialists for job counseling. Included is access to a computerized network featuring 20 million pieces of information, including descriptions and requirements of 13,000 occupations.

"This is a program to help operators look at their long-term careers and decide what is going to make them happiest in life," said Mark Trierweiler, AT&T division manager.

"Our industry is going through enormous change. Before the break up, we were essentially a monopoly. Now we're competing with more than 400 companies nationwide. We don't have the market share we once had, and more and more people are dialing direct. Some long distance companies are even mechanized. All of that leads to less need for as many operators.

AT&T employees working with Danielski join 57,000 counterparts across the country exploring further education and relocation options.

In Danielski's view, being bumped out of a job, or the prospect of it, is cause for excitement, not depression. In fact, he says, too many of us end up in jobs for the wrong reasons, and are unhappy, to boot.

"Sometimes we can be very threatened at funerals, regardless of our chronological age. We haven't figured out what we want to do when we grow up," said Danielski, who hosted his own "Success" show on Omnicom's Channel 20. "If people liked their work, the Lotto wouldn't stand a chance.

"Everyone's talking about the new world order and the new economy; we have a new one, and a lot of people don't even understand the old one yet. We shop for a new watch, or a can of beans, but when it comes to work, we just kind of fall into it. It's absurd."

It's especially absurd when you consider "we spend 45 percent of our lives working," said Danielski.

"Even if you're a thief you still spend 45 percent of your time working. I don't think thieves realize they're working overtime to get themselves in trouble.

"We spend all this time working, yet we don't plan it."

Planning is the key to surviving the new economy, Danielski says.

"The clock is ticking; it's not like you have forever. The idea is to have a Plan B in the event the unmentionable happens; that you are laid off.

"Part of what we are doing is looking at their lives as a business. We're creating a career plan. In the new economy, you see yourself as a business, and you have a business plan."

Is there such a thing as job security?

"No, and that isn't bad," says Danielski. "It's an illusion to think you're going to work for a place for 30 years and have a gold watch.

Amann wins county seat

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

It was the second victory party in two months for new Canton-area county commissioner Bryan Amann.

Amann, winner of the Democratic Party primary in March, defeated Republican candidate James Poole, 4,167-1,612, in the general election Tuesday.

The Wayne resident carried Canton, 1,360-653.

"In Canton, it wasn't so much a victory for us as a loss for (former township supervisor) Jim Poole," Amann said. "I had a lot of Canton people telling me they wanted to put the final nail in his political coffin."

Poole, who served two terms as supervisor until a 1988 election defeat, said campaign spending was the main reason for his defeat.

"I spent $5, he spent thousands," Poole said. "I really appreciate the fact that about 1,900 people did come out and vote for me."

Future races "haven't crossed my mind", said Poole.

AMANN WILL take office next week as the new 11th District commissioner. He replaces interim commissioner Shriley Poling, who he defeated in the primary. He also replaces longtime commissioner Milton Mack, who resigned from the board late last year to become a Wayne County probate judge.

Amann will resign from his assistant county executive post at the time he takes office.

In that post, Amann served as county "noise czar" overseeing efforts to shift flight patterns at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport.

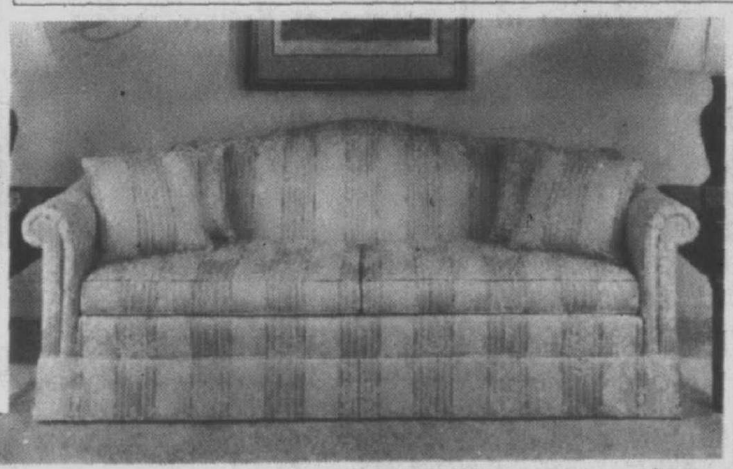

That unofficial position will now remain vacant, Amann said, but the county is expected to soon add a full time noise director at the airport.

Though Amann was considered a heavy favorite, he campaigned aggressively.

"In a race like this, it comes down to organization," he said. "And we had the organization."

Transplant needs high, but few organs available

By Darrell Pressley
staff writer

Jackie Coleman was involved in a hit and run accident in 1984, which left her faced with having both legs amputated from the knee down.

However, innovative surgery which involved receiving a bone transplant from an donor, has enabled her to walk today.

Though Coleman is one of many success stories — there are more than 19,000 people in Michigan who are on a waiting list to receive donated organs — residents of Michigan are dying because of the lack of organ donors. Bone, skin and corneas are needed along with other solid organs and tissue, said Luanne Scheppelman, vice president of Hospital and Donor Services at the Michigan Tissue Bank in Lansing.

"There is a dramatic gap between supply and demand," said Scheppelman, who lives in Bloomfield Hills.

PEOPLE ARE now beginning to live longer, which leads to more people being placed on the waiting list, Scheppelman said.

Though it is important for people to become organ donors — it is equally important that the decision to become a donor be discussed with the entire family, Scheppelman said.

After a donor card or tag on the back of the driver's license is signed, it then becomes the legal next of kin's responsibility to decide on the donation.

The wishes of a donor should be discussed, so when the time comes for an organ to be donated, "a family knows what to do," she said.

Described as a 'decision of a lifetime,' a single tissue donor can save the lives of 70 to 100 people. "Donating is the most beautiful, wonderful thing a person can do," Scheppelman said.

Scheppelman addressed several misconceptions about becoming an organ donor. There are no disfigurements which are a result of donations. And all religious denominations support donations.

PEOPLE CAN donate solid organs up to the age of 65. The average age of a solid organ is about 22 years old. People who are in their 50s or 60s can donate tissue, Scheppelman said.

In Lansing, the Michigan Tissue Bank provides human tissue allografts for medical and dental transplant applications which it receives from cadaveric donors.

An extensive medical history of a potential donor is evaluated. Donors are screened to exclude those with diseases such as AIDS and hepatitis.

Autopsies are completed when approved by the next-of-kin or medical examiner.

In 1989, there were 381 tissue donors. There were 420 tissue donors in 1990.

Many people become donors as a result of fatal car accidents, head trauma or accidental deaths.

When a person considers organ donating, a person should think of all the winners who benefit from their gift, Scheppelman said.

A donor can help burn victims, or help someone walk again, or free someone from depending on a dialysis machine, she said.

"There are positive things that can come out of a person's senseless death."

The Michigan Tissue Bank provides Donor Awareness kits along with other information on becoming a donor. For more information, call 1-800-468-2929.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 22, 1991, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. DST at the Board Room the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1991 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of 0.0925 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 2.27 mills be levied in 1991 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1991 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated seven percent (7%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the College District. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Trustees must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

Education conference examines student needs

"Applied Learning Theory for Diverse Student Needs," a three-day conference for post-secondary teachers at all levels, will be presented May 16-18 at the Holiday Inn West, Livonia.

Conference topics include: gifted students, including gifted girls, underachieving gifted students and handicapped gifted students, disadvantaged students, humor as a teaching tool and classroom presentation.

A banquet Thursday, May 16, will feature Renee Lerche, manager of education design and development for Ford Motor Co., who will present an overview of special student needs.

Thomas Switzer, dean of the College of Education at the University of Northern Iowa, will discuss school restructuring and teacher education reform during brunch Saturday, May 18.

Conference registration is $250, including materials, refreshments, lunch and the Thursday banquet. Additional information, including detailed information on overnight lodging, is available by calling Nancy Rampson at the University of Michigan-Deaborn School of Education, 593-5090.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Colleges' Consortium for Faculty Development. The organization includes Schoolcraft College, Oakland Community College and the University of Michigan at Deaborn, among other institutions.

Hearing postponed for drug trafficker

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

A hearing on whether to dismiss new drug charges against former Farmington Hills drug trafficker Arthur Abrams, whose testimony resulted in federal and state indictments of 59 dealers and users, has been postponed until late June.

Abrams, charged with conspiracy to deliver 225 to 649 grams of cocaine and facing an additional 20 to 30 years in jail, is currently serving time at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility in Plymouth after probation on lesser drug charges was revoked a year ago.

Abrams pled guilty in March 1988 to distributing 50 grams of cocaine after agreeing to work as an informant for the Oakland County prosecutor. He was sentenced to five years probation.

The new charges stem from allegations that Abrams continued to use and deal drugs after entering into the agreement, thereby voiding it and subjecting himself to original charges stemming from his arrest in December 1987.

Abrams maintains police knew he used drugs during the lengthy investigation following his arrest, but waited until he had testified in federal and state court against 33 dealers and 28 users before revoking his probation and filing new charges.

"THESE GUYS are trying to bury me in here, after I did so much for them. It's wrong," said Abrams by phone from the prison in Plymouth where he is incarcerated.

Following his arrest, Abrams worked with officers from the Southeastern Michigan Conspiracy Organization (SEMCO) in Livonia, participating in sting operations and wearing a microphone to tape drug transactions with suppliers and dealers, and calling former customers by phone to sell them drugs.

During this period, Abrams said he was under severe stress and even attempted suicide on one occasion. "I told them (in May 1988) I had a severe drug problem (crack cocaine) and they looked the other way."

SEMCO prosecutor Eric Kaiser said, "I won't dispute that. Most informers used in drug cases are addicts. But it's their responsibility to correct that status. Being an addict doesn't mean you've used today or dealt today."

Kaiser said he and the officer in charge of Abrams, Sgt. Ray White who is no longer with SEMCO, knew "at some point in time" that Abrams was continuing to abuse illicit drugs. He was tested once for drug use by the Oakland County Probation Department. Test results proved negative and SEMCO officials continued to utilize Abrams as an informant.

"Certainly he was using drugs," said Abrams' attorney, Michael Friedman of Birmingham. "He had a real bad habit. He had a girlfriend who had a real bad habit."

"But there is no hard and fast evidence he was dealing, not commercially dealing," Friedman added.

Oakland County assistant prosecutor Larry Bunting is convinced otherwise.

"MR. ABRAMS violated the law after agreeing to work with state police. There is testimony on record that he was still using and dealing drugs. He deserves to be prosecuted. We are entitled to prosecute him."

"In the future people must realize that when they make an agreement to cooperate, they have to follow the law," Bunting said.

The agreement, however, may be invalid, according to defense attorney Friedman.

"It was drafted in such a way, favoring the prosecutor and leaving my client subject to all kinds of charges, that it is not an enforceable contract. It is a violation of fundamental due process," Friedman said.

In addition, Abrams legal counsel at the time of the contract was later charged with possession of illicit drugs, based on testimony provided by Abrams under terms of the agreement. The attorney, Steven Weiss of Oakland County, later pleaded guilty to the charges.

"This is a direct conflict of interest. My client could not have been properly advised, which voids the agreement," Friedman said.

SEMCO prosecutor Kaiser said "Abrams broke the law, after being provided protection under the umbrella of the law. He violated a trust. The integrity of the process breaks down if you don't enforce agreements like this."

During his phone call, Abrams said he fears for his life in prison. "There's over 50 people in here because of me. Word gets around."

The hearing for dismissal is scheduled June 26 before Oakland County circuit judge David Breck.

Bicycle path Communities should adopt it

THE I-275 bicycle path that runs through Plymouth and Canton has fallen into disrepair, and it's doubtful there will be any state money to fix it in the near future.

Because of that, we think the Plymouth community and Canton Township should be realistic and do something about it.

Portions of it are nearly impassable, the asphalt has buckled and portions of it are at times under water.

Also, parts of the path are so close to the freeway that riders feel as though they are competing for space with semitrailer trucks.

But that's not all. A series of sexual assaults occurred in the mid-1980s on the portion running through Canton.

In other words, the dream trail that was unveiled in the mid-1970s has turned into the path to hell.

And all this has happened in the middle of two well-to-do communities. Questions about the maintenance of the path result in classic government finger-pointing. Plymouth and Canton officials say it's the responsibility of the state Department of Transportation to pay the tab.

On the surface, they're correct. There's always the problem of getting money out of the state, and that's especially tough during the current economic downturn.

Plymouth and Canton should acknowledge the reality, which means the two communities should look at adopting the section that runs through the area. It could be similar to the adopt-a-highway program. Money spent by Canton and Plymouth would probably be minimal and it would do much to enhance the lives of residents.

We find that especially true in Canton where younger families tend to live. Such families seek more active ways to spend their time.

But the maintenance of the paths need not just be a government concern. Both Plymouth and Canton have groups looking for projects. They could be tapped as volunteers for work on the path. Also, garden clubs could contribute by dealing with improvements to the landscape.

THEY'RE ENERGETIC, optimistic and so very bright. They are the 1991 Observer Newspapers Academic All-Stars.

In the next few weeks, the 16 members of this year's team will complete successful high school careers looking forward to studies in medicine, engineering and the liberal arts.

Over the past few years, parents have been bombarded with bad news about education. Improvements must be made, but these young men and women represent what is positive about education today.

THESE STUDENTS are more than just bright. Very likely they will be the leaders of tomorrow. These are the students who prove that through discipline, determination and a lot of hard work, achievement is possible.

They also have many kind words for their parents who offered encouragement and support and for teachers who played a major role in shaping these young minds.

In today's Observer, you will find a special insert highlighting the achievements of these students.

Selection was based on grade point averages in academic subjects and national college test scores. Tabulation of scores and selection was done by a committee of area high school principals.

Chairing the committee was Robert Schramke, principal of Redford Union High School, and the man who seven years ago came to this newspaper with the idea for an academic all-star team.

Other high school principals joining Schramke on this year's selection committee were Geraldine Kiessel, Garden City High School; Dale Collier, Stevenson High School; Larry Boehms, Troy High School; Gary Faber, West Bloomfield High School; Clayton Graham, Harrison High School; Gerald Ostoin, Plymouth Salem High School; and Dennis Connolly, John Glenn High School.

We thank them for their time and enthusiasm for this project.

In addition to being profiled in today's Observer, the 16 all stars will receive a dictionary embossed with their name and a special certificate of recognition.

JOIN US in congratulating some of the best and brightest students of the Class of 1991.

The 1991 Observer All Stars in order of ranking are:

John Richards, Catholic Central High School; Anne V. Liu, Stevenson High School; Lynn Biberdorf, Plymouth Christian Academy; Joyce S. Wong, Stevenson High School; Raymond J. Adamski, Plymouth Canton High School; David Winebrener, Churchill High School; Kevin Holmes, Plymouth Canton High School; Jeffrey C. Sung, North Farmington High School; Daniel Chamberlain, Churchill High School; Kelvin L. Chou, North Farmington High School; Lana Ackroyd, Farmington High School; Lawrence M. France, Franklin High School; Maya Manian, Mercy High School; Mark E. Baker, John Glenn High School; Pranav P. Kothari, Redford Union High School; and Nicole Knapp of Ladywood High School.

Engler flexes tactics with his new policies

I WROTE A column a month ago which tried to sort out whether Gov. John Engler was more like Ronald Reagan (passionate and committed ideologue) or Richard Nixon (hang the ideology; do what you must to get re-elected).

I concluded Engler was more like Reagan — only a flaming conservative ideologue would accept the flak he was taking and carry on with budget cutting.

Well, I was wrong. Just like Nixon and his celebrated conversions (remember the "New Nixon" or even the "Newer Nixon"?), Engler is showing signs of tactical flexibility. Nobody in the governor's office in Lansing is issuing press releases, but it's clear the new policy is: Do whatever has to be done.

MANY OF ENGLER'S friends think it's about time.

They worried as his overall conservative intent to shrink state spending got characterized as slashing welfare payments to the poor, cutting property taxes to the rich and being generally callous about people in between. "Mean spirited" became the tag line.

They grew alarmed as Engler the ideologue seemed to develop true originality in angering nominally Republican constituencies.

Local governments — not just Detroit but solid suburban communities in Livingston, Oakland and western Wayne counties — were alarmed when the governor proposed to slash the property taxes that paid the local bills without saying how the resulting shortfalls would be made up. Ditto for school boards.

The arts community got sore when state spending for the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Detroit Symphony were slashed. Environmentalists were alarmed at plans to break up the Department of Natural Resources and at a trial balloon about turning over management of four state parks to private business.

Talk about trouble! When the long hairs and the moose and goose folk start making common cause, it's time to get alarmed.

PART OF THE problem was Engler's staunch determination that his administration would be as unlike his predecessor's as possible.

Image mongering, ribbon cutting and PR hoopla were out. But that, in turn, made Engler vulnerable to having his image defied by his acts (slash arts funding) and his opponents ("mean spirited").

Predictably, the governor's poll ratings tumbled: 39-41 percent unfavorable was the last number I saw. People started taking out recall petitions.

And when Engler started trying to fulfill a campaign pledge to visit all 83 Michigan counties each year (his scheduler will come to hate him for that), kids started asking him why he was such a nasty fellow.

IT HAD TO CHANGE.

I cite three pieces of evidence that change came in the last two weeks:

Philip Power

1. On April 30, Engler agreed with Michigan Council for the Arts chair Leon Cohan to hold a "summit meeting" to resolve differences over public funding for the arts.

2. Engler agreed to quit insisting on a property tax cut this year and bought into a freeze on assessment levels that was cooked up in the Legislature. With sighs of relief, legislators can claim they actually did something about the rise in property taxes. Engler then argued the freeze was really a cut because it "saved" $400 million in taxes.

3. At the end of last week, big pictures of Engler in a press conference with lots of little kids were splashed all over the Detroit newspapers.

None of these things happened purely by chance. They represent a clear sign that John Engler is well aware of what insistence on strict ideology was doing to him and of his determination to change direction before it got too late. Smart man.

Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His award-winning column will appear periodically.

Canton not guilty

To the editor:

I have lived in Canton for 16 years and until this editorial about The Big Fix, never had seen Canton placed in front of Plymouth when referring to the area. It's a nice change, the dog should wag the tail, but not in this negative way.

The menage a trois you refer to in the editorial are from Plymouth and Northville; all the political activity that took place up to now involved Plymouth. You did not imply that Livonia should share some of this guilt even though some of Mr. Breen's district now lies there. Why do you imply Cantonites should have a guilty conscience, or our administration should accept some of the blame because a portion of Jerry Law's district lies in Canton? Your logic leaves much to be desired.

Guilt by association, maybe. Guilt by location, no way.

You have indicted Canton by inference where it absolutely had no involvement. The Canton Observer owes the People of Canton and the administration an apology. I demand that you offer it forthwith.

Recycling questioned in Canton

To the editor:

I think it's great that Canton is starting a townshipwide recycling program. My family has been recycling for about a year now, and will take advantage of this program. I also feel this program is good because people who don't recycle now will be likely to start.

Recycling is a very important and necessary thing to do, and the more people who participate the better. I do wonder though, how come this system of recycling, as well as others in Canton, don't accept all recyclable items.

Why can't we accept items such as certain plastics, paper egg cartons, and styrofoam. These products are recyclable, and are accepted elsewhere, yet are still filling the landfills here.

I don't understand this. It seems to me that if we're going to make an effort we should make an effort to take the necessary extra steps, and accept these products.

Community event was a success

To the editor:

The Ladies Auxiliary to Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post No. 6695, Veterans of Foreign Wars, wish to thank everyone in the community who pledged, bowled or contributed money to the Annual Bowlation sponsored by the Auxiliary to raise funds for the Special Olympics and the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Through your generosity $2267.10 was raised. Each organization received a check from the Auxiliary for $1133.55. We also wish to acknowledge the F & M Distributors Corporation who matched our check to the Make-A-Wish Foundation making the amount donated to the Foundation $2267.10.

Our thanks, also, to the Plaza Lanes in Plymouth for donating the bowlers' fees back to the Auxiliary, adding to the total amount collected.

Courts make law, not sense

HERE IS THE sort of news story one might expect to read in the year 2010 if current cases become any precedent.

U.S. District Judge Rick Benslen today ordered the state Department of Natural Resources to uphold native people's rights in a water flow case.

Benslen rejected the appeal of Frank Kelley, the 85-year-old state attorney general, who pleaded that the natives' demand would break Michigan's budget.

"It is not This Court's duty to assess the cost, method of payment or incidence of taxation," he said in his Kalamazoo courtroom. "The money must be someplace. Rather, it is This Court's duty only to determine the rights of petitioners. By the way, the state is ordered to pay their legal fees, too."

BENSLEN SAID the state's objection that it would be required to make river water flow uphill was irrelevant.

"Plaintiffs live at the top of a hill. Their ancestral treaty rights say they are entitled to have a stream flowing past them. It is This Court's duty only to enforce those rights, and not to be mired in the minutiae of how DNR will make a river flow uphill," Benslen said.

"The state cites, incorrectly, the case of Farmer McGregor vs. Tuscola County Drain Commissioner, wherein another court held that water was incapable of flowing uphill.

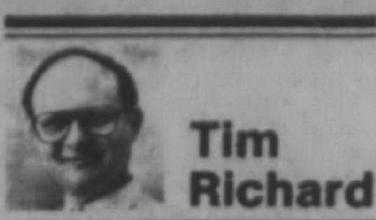

"The case is not on point. Here we are concerned not with drains but with a matter of constitutional and treaty law.

"The matter of how the state DNR makes the river flow uphill is of no concern, consequence or force in matters of jurisprudence. If This Court says a river must flow uphill, then the river will flow uphill.

"I would remind the attorney general that he risks being held in contempt in insisting that it may be impossible for water to flow uphill in contravention of This Court's order," Benslen said.

Kelley attempted to argue that it was the law of God that water run downhill instead of uphill, but Benslen cut him short.

"Only This Court will determine which way water runs. The courts have held consistently that court rules supercede laws of nature, economics, gravity and popular referendums," the judge said.

BENSLEN CITED U.S. District Court rulings in several 1990-91 cases in which the state of Michigan was ordered to pay for programs that broke the budget.

"The Hon. Richard Enslin, on this same bench, held that it was illegal, immoral, culturally insensitive, fattening and contrary to court procedure to reduce spending for various welfare programs.

"That judge was a man of courage. He said so himself, which was the definitive ruling. His pronouncement was, 'I don't face the electorate in the next months or next year and don't lack the courage that I find some branches lack.'

"That is the precedent This Court will follow. There is no such thing as a 'budget' in the This Court's rules of evidence, and there never will be."

THE NEW ruling follows by a year Benslen's decision ordering equal sunshine in Oakland County parks.

In that case, filed by Madison Heights residents, the judge ruled that voters had approved a quarter-million renewal for the Oakland parks and recreation department with the full understanding that the sun would shine daily on the county wave pool.

Benslen found that wealthy users of the county wave pool in Novi were experiencing 75 percent sunny days during summer while lower-income users of the Madison Heights pool enjoyed only 68 percent sunny days. He jailed all 14 members of the parks and recreation commission until they agreed to install $1.7 billion in fans that would blow away storm clouds.

Counseling critical to abuse victims

By Sara VanderVoort
guest columnist

Recent events within the Garden City Youth Athletic League have shocked the metro Detroit area, refocusing our attention on child sexual abuse. The alleged victimization of children by a respected member of the community has provoked fear, anger and distrust and has caused the many myths surrounding child sexual abuse to resurface.

Contrary to popular opinion, the belief that most sexual abusers are "dirty old men" who snatch children off the street and into alleys is false. The majority of adults who abuse children are known by the child's family or are relatives of the child, and the assault frequently occurs within the child's natural environment.

A Los Angeles Police Department profile suggests that the typical child abuser is a married male, with children, middle class, college educated and considered a respectable citizen. While clearly most perpetrators were themselves victims of abuse, all victims do not become abusers.

CHILD victimization is not rare. Studies report that 15-45 percent of women and 10-15 percent of men have been victims of some type of sexual trauma as children. Yet, it is estimated that only one in five of these incidents is ever reported to the police.

In most cases, coercion rather than physical force is used to cause the child to submit. Fear, because of these threats, commonly blocks the child's ability to accuse the perpetrator.

The parents' reaction to charges of sexual abuse is the single best predictor of the victim's successful recovery from trauma. A parent who reacts with anger, revulsion or disbelief will cause the child to withdraw in a misguided effort to spare the parent further pain or to avoid possible punishment.

Because sexual abuse creates massive feelings of guilt and involves a violation of a child's fundamental security, parents must respond to allegations by emphasizing that the perpetrator, not the child, is to blame and reaffirming both the parents' role and ability to protect the child from further abuse.

COUNSELING is critical to recovery and may take many forms. Individual therapy for the victim and his family is usually suggested.

Others, indirectly victimized by the abuse, frequently find that group counseling provides needed information and support.

Despite the approach used, clear counseling can help prevent long-lasting effects of this trauma.

Nowhere to turn with state cuts

HE STOOD OFF on the shoulder of the exit ramp from northbound I-275 to Eight Mile. It was rush hour, but I don't know how many drivers noticed him. He looked about 50 years old, but he could have been any age really.

Dressed like many average, working people, he wore blue jeans jacket and pants. I don't remember what his face looked like, except that it was gray. Maybe that was from the large hat he wore. It could have been from the white placard he held shoulder high, but more likely it was from the uneven black letters drawn on the placard:

"Will work for food."
That's all it said. For him, there was nothing more to say, but there may have been a whole life of trying without getting the right "breaks" that placed him on the roadside.

I couldn't help but think of "The Grapes of Wrath" and a recent

made-for-television movie, both about families struggling to survive for work, food and a place to live.

THE INCIDENT also brought to mind budget cuts planned by Gov. John Engler to balance Michigan's tottering financial crisis. The cuts hit all areas from the arts to mental health.

It's hard to tell someone out of work and out of luck that there is nowhere for him or her to turn. There are a lot of folks like that in Wayne and Oakland counties. And it's getting worse.

News reports that unemployment declined last month belie statistics for the first quarter of 1991. In all of Wayne County, unemployment rose from 7.8 percent in the first quarter of 1990 to a double digit figure of 11.3 percent during the same period this year — an increase of 3.5 percent. Figures for just the out-county area were unavailable from the research arm of the Michigan Employment Security Commission. For Detroit alone, however, the increase was from 10.3 percent in 1990 to a whopping 14.8 percent in 1991. In Oakland County, the increase ranged from 5.8 percent in 1990 to 8.7 percent in 1991 — an unhealthy rise of nearly 3 percent contrasting quarter with quarter.

SURE, THERE are jobs out there, agrees Tom Frommeyer, director of Southfield's department of human resources. Ironically, a lot of people can't afford to go back to work.

To work you have to have reliable transportation. That frequently translates into a car, which is often dependable and expensive to maintain.

Then there's difficulty in finding a good babysitter who mom can afford to pay when she's only earning $4.25 an hour. And on that salary, no one has presentable clothes to wear.

Finally, a regular income will cut off Medicare and ADC.

Maybe part of the problem lies with the gutless legislators and congressmen who don't have the stomach to deal with the situation.

Color tells a lot about stars

By Raymond E. Bullock
special writer

A star's color tells us a lot. A red star is like the red part of a gas flame; it isn't very hot. A red star is also very old, nearing the end of its life cycle. As stars age they cool down, swell up and become giants.

Betelgeuse is a supergiant among giants. It is so huge that, if placed where our sun is, it would extend out to the orbit of Jupiter.

The name Betelgeuse is roughly translated as the "armpit of the giant." The giant in question is the mighty hunter Orion (oh RYE yan) and Betelgeuse marks the location of his right, "shoulder." This star is the 11th brightest in the sky and one of the best examples of a red giant type star.

Observe the moon drift through the gathering cluster of planets on the evenings of May 16-18. On the 16th the moon is three degrees below Venus. On the next evening the moon is located midway between Venus and Mars. On the 18th the moon is three degrees below Jupiter. Jupiter passes the southern edge of the "Beehive" star cluster in the constellation of Cancer the crab on the 18th.

This cluster looks like a swarm of bees when viewed through a pair of binoculars. It is one of the closest and brightest of the star clusters. Galileo, the first person to observe the cluster with a telescope (probably around the year 1610), counted 36 bright stars; observers with better telescopes have counted over 350.

It is estimated that this cluster is 525 light years away from us. The light we see tonight left the Beehive in the year 1465, 145 years before Galileo recorded his own observations!

(Obviously the light that reached Galileo's telescope had left the cluster 525 years before his observations in 1610.) The Beehive cluster is a naked-eye object, but bright lights in metropolitan areas make seeing it difficult. Having bright Jupiter as a beacon makes locating the Beehive very easy.

The moon has passed Jupiter on the evening of the 19th and is four degrees to the left of the star Regulus (REG u lus) on the 20th. Regulus is the "heart" of Leo the lion. Regulus is about 85 light years away. That's much closer than Betelgeuse, but Regulus is not as bright. Regulus is only the 21st brightest star in the sky. It is a blue-white star and, like the blue part of a gas flame, much hotter than a red star. (Cooler Betelgeuse looks brighter because of its great size.)

SATURN begins retrograde (backward) motion on May 17. It has been drifting eastward through the stars of Capricornus all year, but will now appear to back up and move westward from night to night.

Retrograde motion is an optical illusion caused when the faster moving earth passes a slower moving planet as both orbit the sun.

Mars, Pollux and Castor form a straight line on the evening of the 21st. Also note the large triangle formed by Castor, Pollux and bright Venus. In two weeks Venus will be located where Mars is and Venus will form a line with Pollux and Castor.

The moon is approaching the star Spica (SPY ca) in Virgo on the evening of the 22nd. On the 24th the moon is three degrees directly below Spica. Spica, a blue-white star like Regulus, is the 16th brightest star in the sky. It is about 275 light years away from us. Since it's much farther than Regulus, but appears brighter, it must be a very hot and luminous star.

Jupiter, Mars and Venus are within 20 degrees of each other on the evening of the 25th. Just a little more than three weeks until their spectacular grouping!

The moon is approaching the star Antares on the evening of the 27th. Look toward the southeast about one hour after sunset. Antares is the 15th brightest star in the sky and is also a supergiant like Betelgeuse. It is also the same distance from us, about 520 light years. On the following evening the moon is past Antares.

Venus is four degrees to the left of Pollux on the evening of the 29th. Jupiter is still easy to identify above and to the left of Venus; Mars is still midway between the two, but the distance is closing. In fact, on the evening of the 30th, the three objects are within 15 degrees of each other.

Have a look at the moon on the evenings of the 30th and 31st. Once again it is in Sagittarius, close to the same position it had at the start of the month, but there is a big difference; at the start of the month Sagittarius was due south, now it is in the south southwest. When the moon passes this way in another month, Sagittarius will be too close to the sun to be visible.

Good pitching key to Canton success

baseball

Senior pitcher Scott Kennedy was at his best Saturday, and that helped the Plymouth Canton baseball team to be at its best in the Redford Union tournament.

Kennedy pitched a one-hitter and struck out 16 in the opening game as the Chiefs blanked previously No. 1-ranked Southgate Anderson 4-0.

Canton won its next two games, including a 10-4 victory over rival Plymouth Salem in the semifinals, and the tournament championship.

The Chiefs are 13-4 overall after beating Livonia Churchill 5-3 Monday in a Western Division game in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Kennedy (5-2), who walked three, had a no-hitter with one out in the seventh inning against Southgate when he surrendered the lone hit. Roger Bodinus went the distance for the losers and allowed four Canton hits.

MIKE STAFFORD hit a two-run homer for the Chiefs, and Mike Wougamon had two hits and scored two runs.

Todd Pniewski drew a bases-loaded walk, and Chris James knocked in the other run with a sacrifice fly. Jason Crain and Jason Riggs scored the other runs.

Canton, following a comparatively slow start for one of its teams, is beginning to realize its potential, according to coach Fred Crissey.

"We knew it would be this way at the beginning of the year, because we're starting six underclassmen and it takes you a while," he said. "We're beginning to play with confidence and enthusiasm."

"We got the pitching when we had to have it, clutch hitting and defense. Those are the things you need to be a contender."

John Stimac (2-0) pitched 6½ innings to win the game against Salem. Riggs worked two thirds of the seventh and came back to win the championship game, 3-1 over Wayne Memorial at Capitol Park in Redford.

"STIMAC DID what we asked him to do and that was the key," Crissey said. "He threw strikes and went after people. We had a big enough lead (10-0 after three innings) that we could allow people to hit the ball and let our fielders catch it."

Riggs had two hits in the Salem game, a bases-loaded double and a two-run single, and five RBI. Stafford was 3-for-3 and singled home a run with the bases full. James added an RBI double.

Riggs, an outfielder who turned in a solid performance on the mound, went the seven-inning distance in the final, holding Wayne to four hits, striking out nine and walking one.

"He had a real good outing," Crissey said. "He threw strikes and that's what it's all about."

The Chiefs also had four hits, including a two-run single by Ben Hendricks in the top of the seventh that gave Canton a 2-0 lead.

Kennedy was the winning pitcher in the Churchill game, working the last two innings in relief of Stafford, who went five and left with the Chiefs trailing 2-1.

Mark Rutherford pitched a complete game for the Chargers, 3-4 in the division and 4-7 overall. The Chiefs are 6-1 in the division.

RIGGS WAS 3-for-3 and scored a run, and Frank Learned had two hits and two RBI. Bob Coppola hit a two-run homer for Churchill.

Canton scored three runs in the sixth inning to lead 4-2. Riggs singled, advanced on a groundout and scored the tying run on a double by Hendricks. After a walk to Marc Pennebaker, Learned hit a two-run single.

Salem, ranked No. 4 in the state, improved to 6-1 in the Lakes Division of the WLAA with a 14-7 victory Monday over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

Scott Rodgers struck 10 batters — including nine straight — to get the win. He worked four innings, walked one and allowed only two hits. Tom Davey pitched two innings and Kurt Singleton one. Rob Sudz was the loser.

Ed Gundry had three hits, including a pair of homers, and four RBI for the Rocks, 13-2 overall. One of Dan Hutchinson's two hits was a homer, also.

In the tournament Saturday, Salem started with a 7-0 defeat of Redford Thurston.

Winning pitcher Jeff Belisle allowed one hit and struck out nine in five innings. Rodgers had an RBI single.

Gundry had three hits in the Canton game, and Rodgers slammed a solo homer. Chris Tomas allowed seven runs in two innings and suffered the loss. Hutchinson and Eric Nielson made relief appearances.

Chiefs add 2 victories

The momentum Plymouth Canton generated in its tie with defending Class A champ Livonia Stevenson carried the Chiefs to victories in their next two games.

Canton, which entered the state ranking as the No. 8 team this week, won both by shutout — 4-0 over Livonia Ladywood on Saturday and 7-0 over North Farmington on Monday.

Senior Leah Hutko and freshman Mandi Salin scored two goals apiece in the latest game, which extended Canton's unbeaten streak to five.

The Chiefs are 8-3-1 overall and 5-2-1 against Western Lakes Activities Association teams.

Freshman Britta Anderson, sophomore Amy Westerhold and junior Christina Stansell scored the other goals, and sophomore Jori Welchans got her second straight shutout in goal for the Chiefs.

"We wore them down," Canton coach Don Smith said. "They don't have a lot of kids, and we're playing very well."

Senior Ayana Nash, junior Amy Tortora, junior Danielle Meyka and Salin scored one goal each in the win over Ladywood. The Chiefs led 3-0 at halftime.

Coach Nick O'Shea served a spaghetti dinner Sunday night and his Livonia Churchill girls soccer team burned off plenty of carbohydrates the following day.

The result was a 2-0 upset victory Monday over Plymouth Salem, the state's top-ranked team in Class A.

"It (the spaghetti) gave us a power boost," said senior Kristy Thurston, who scored the Chargers' second goal with 21:55 left in the first half. "It's called 'team bonding.' It helps when you get everybody together. Everybody kind of laughed when he (O'Shea) stirred the spaghetti with a spatula."

O'Shea may not have enough cooking utensils in his kitchen, but his Chargers sure had the right recipe in beating Salem, a team that had captured nine straight wins and allowed only one goal.

"It's the first time I've ever had the team out together beside a banquet," said the Churchill coach, a former professional player. "I did the cooking myself. It was an Irish spaghetti. Maybe I should do them over more often. The team was pumped up for sure. They were into more than they have been in the past."

THE CHARGERS were pressured from the opening bell, but refused to crack.

to be the game-winner with 22:41 left in the opening half when she made a rush down the left side while fending off a Salem defender. Taking a pass from Michelle Brazin, Pososki pulled Salem goalie Jennifer Emmett out of position before nailing a pretty shot with her left foot.

"It was a good foot race to the ball and she (Pososki) made a beautiful shot," Salem coach Ken Johnson said.

Thurston then stunned the Salem secondary again, breaking behind the defense to score only 46 seconds later on a long, high-bounding pass from Lori Place.

"We had two great goals," O'Shea said, "even though they (Salem) had more of the play up until that point."

Salem coach Ken Johnson had nothing but praise for the 7-2-1 Chargers.

"Churchill played the long ball very well," Johnson said. "They hit the shots when they needed them even though I thought we had a lot more chances. When we were attacking, they were doing a good job of packing it in."

Johnson was referring to Churchill's tight defense, led by sweeper Stephanie Speen, along with Fran

Canton girls win relays

Plymouth Canton proved to be one of Observerland's best girls track teams during the first month of the season, but the Chiefs hadn't won an invitational until Saturday.

Canton dominated the Stafford Relays in Walled Lake, finishing first or second in eight of the 12 events while accumulating 75 points.

The Chiefs, who were second in the Lady Chief Relays and the Lyle Bennett Relays at Central Michigan University, were 17 points ahead of runner-up Milford. The top six teams included Livonia Stevenson (49), Pontiac Central (40), Farmington (30) and Plymouth Salem (29).

"We were happy to finally win a relay meet instead of finishing second," Canton coach George Przygodski said. "We were tired of being bridesmaids."

"Once again, we were fortunate in that we wanted to score in a lot of events and we did that in 10 of the 12. Anytime you score in that many events you're going to have a good shot at winning."

THE CHIEFS won two field events, the high jump and shot put.

Canton's Aleah Collier, who had the best individual effort in the shot put with a throw of 35-½, combined with Ifeoma Okwumabua and Selena Bastine to set a school record in the latter at 94-0.

Stephanie Gray (5-0), Ndu Okwumabua (4-10) and Aimee Lanzon (4-7) won the high jump with a combined effort of 14-5.

Ifeoma Okwumabua, Bastine and Dawn Kersten also set a school record with a second-place distance of 292-6 in the discus. Bastine threw 102-3, Okwumabua 101 and Kersten 89-3.

Canton's remaining victory was in the distance medley in which Kim Gudeth, Christie Saffron, Lana Boroditsch and Amy Smith had a time of 13:36.3.

The Chiefs had five seconds places, including the discus. Heather Pastor went 14-10½ in the long jump, Gray 14-3 and Cathy Koshizawa 14-¾ for a total of 43-2.

Chiefs champs in Stafford meet

Saffron, Michelle Dean, Ndu Okwumabua and Gudeth ran the sprint medley relay in 4:27.2, and Erica Carson, Boroditsch, Saffron and Smith finished the 3,200-meter relay in 18:25.4.

"THE DISTANCE crew had an outstanding afternoon," Przygodski said. "All of the distance kids ran three events each. That's an awful lot of running and they came through really well."

"And we were dominant in the field events. We're a team with an awful lot of depth, and if you're a team with depth you're going to do well at relay meets."

Canton also was second in the shuttle hurdle relay with the team of Karina Kilpelainen, Erin Shriber, Erin Olenech and Angela Fountain and a 1:11.7 time.

The Chiefs were fourth in the 400 relay and sixth in the four-kilometer medley. The field events, sprint medley and distance medley took place in the morning, and Canton enjoyed a 25-point lead over Stevenson entering the afternoon session.

"We got out of the blocks fast," Przygodski said. "We were scoring in everything and it kinda snowballed."

Collier, Ifeoma Okwumabua, Kilpelainen and Ndu Okwumabua ran the 400 in 53 seconds. With Boroditsch running 1,600 meters, Melissa Bastine and Carson 800 and Smith 3,200, Canton had a 23:46.4 time in the distance medley.

IN A NON-scoring event, the Chiefs won the thrower's 400 relay. Alison Haremski, Ifeoma Okwumabua, Bastine and Collier ran the race in 57.4.

"We're setting our goals high and taking it one step at a time, trying to build momentum going into the regional and WLAA meets," Przygod-Ifeoma Okwumabua threw the discus 101 feet and teamed with Selena Bastine and Dawn Kersten to capture second place in the Stafford Relays.

ski said. "We hope to qualify a lot of our kids for the state meet this year, and I think it's one thing we'll be able to accomplish."

The Farmington trio of Kerri Owczarzak, Deanna Curcio and Becky Washnock was second in the discus and third in the shot put. The Falcons also got third in the 400 relay with the team of Jarenda Foser, Cheryl Casaroll, Amber Reiersen and Shelli Gaul running 53.3.

Gaul, Susan Davidson, Sherri Yitalo and Casaroll were fourth in the shuttle hurdles (1:14.3). Farmington had fifth-place finishes in the high jump with Gaul, Liz Quenneville and Stephanie Baker; the 3,200 relay with Quenneville, Jodi Van Ord, Allison Davis and Jennifer Derwinski (10:53) and the 800 relay with Foster, Casaroll, Yitalo and Gaul (1:51.7).

Salem won the long jump with a combined effort of 44-7 as Dana Driscoll jumped 15-1, Alysia Sofios 14-11 and Tracey Livermore 14-7. Tonya Wheeler, Stacey Witthoff, Lynda Sebestyen and Jessica Moyer were third in the 800 and 1,600 relays with respective times of 1:53.5 and 4:18.7.

Nikki Santilli, Kathryn Ryan and Kristin Bernhardt were fifth in the shot put (81-5/4) and sixth in the discus (245-7), and Theresa Giachero, Sarah Makins, Cherylann Paravantes and Katey Lyons were fifth in the shuttle hurdle relay (1:14.6).

THE ROCKS also got sixth place in the 400 relay with Driscoll, Andrea Kinnelly, Livermore and Sofios running 53.7 and the 3,200 relay with Wheeler, Witthoff, Beth Turumsa and Nicole Zavisa finishing in 10:56.3.

Salem was second in the thrower's relay and the Falcons sixth. Santilli, Ryan, Bernhardt and Sharon Hoover ran the Rocks, and Washnock, Curcio, Erin Phelps and Sheila Adams comprised the Farmington team.

Rocks rebound with Lakes win

Senior center fielder Missy Holmes drove in four runs Monday as Plymouth Salem bombed Livonia Stevenson 13-1 in girls softball.

The Rocks are 1-6 in the Lakes Division and 4-12 overall.

Holmes had a pair of doubles, and teammate Andrea Welling had two hits, also.

Jenny Garvey (2-6) pitched a two-hitter while going the distance of five innings. She had seven strikeouts and four walks. Niki Italia was the loser.

"We played real well," Salem coach Rob Willette said, adding he wondered how his team would react to losing a double-header to rival Plymouth Canton on Saturday.

The Chiefs needed four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to win the first game 10-9, and they won the second game 15-4.

"THE FIRST game was disheartening, and we got blown out in the second game," Willette said. "I didn't know how they would do today, but they came out and played well."

Canton, 9-2 overall, committed nine errors in the first game Saturday and faced a 9-6 deficit with one at-bat remaining. Kris Ford was 4-for-5 and scored two runs for the Chiefs, and Bridgette DeRosa was 2-for-2.

Kelly Holmes pitched the seventh inning in relief and got the win. She went the distance in the nightcap, improving her record to 7-2 while striking out 11 and walking two. Garvey was the loser in both games.

The Chiefs had 16 hits to Salem's four. Julie Nicastri got Canton started with a grand slam in the first inning, and Holmes helped her cause with three hits and four RBI. She also scored two runs.

Nicole Sequin and Ford had two hits apiece. Ford had three RBI and scored two runs, and Sequin scored two runs and had one RBI.

"We played a lot better than we did the first game," Canton coach Jim Arnold said, adding the Chiefs made only two errors in the nightcap. "We had our heads in the game. In the first game, I thought we were playing soccer. I don't know what the problem was."

Canton's scheduled game with Livonia Churchill was rained out Monday.

PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN Academy swept a double-header from Warren Bethesda at Huron Park in Roseville last Friday, 22-12 in five innings and 25-20 in seven.

Joy Simon was the winning pitcher in both games. She struck out 12 and walked four in the first, and she fanned 11 and issued two free passes in the second.

Simon was 3-for-4 and had five RBI in the first game, and Melissa Yoder had four hits and five RBI. Felicia Wroblewski added a run-scoring triple.

Yoder was 3-for-3 and collected four RBI in the nightcap. Simon had two hits and two RBI, and Tamara Tilly hit a two-run triple.

The wins improved the Eagles to 2-2 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference and 4-5 overall.

Salem boys, Canton girls win duals

The Plymouth Canton girls and the Plymouth Salem boys were easy winners Tuesday in the annual Mangan Meets with their track-and-field rivals at Centennial Educational Park.

Most surprising was Canton's 103-25 victory in the contest between unbeaten girls teams. The Chiefs are 4-0 in dual meets, the Rocks 3-1.

Salem, coming off its triumph Saturday in the annual Observerland Relays, defeated Canton 89 1/2-47 1/2 in the boys meet. The Rocks are 4-0, the Chiefs 1-3.

The Canton girls swept the relays, won all but two individual events and had double winners in Karina Kilpelainen, Ndu Okwumabua and Kim Gudeth.

Kilpelainen won the 100-meter hurdles in 16.4 and the intermediate hurdles in 50.3. Okwumabua won the dashes with times of 13.3 in the 100 and 28.0 in the 200, and Smith finished the 1,600 and 3,200 runs in 5:50.1 and 12:43.

KILPELAINE AND Okwumabua were on two relays team each. Aleah Collier, Ifeoma Okwumabua, Kilpelainen and Ndu Okwumabua won the 400, and Angela Fountain, Kilpelainen, Kim Gudeth and Michelle Dean completed the 800 in 1:55.4.

Collier had one of three Canton victories in the field events with a throw of 36-4 1/2 in the shot put. Selena Bastine won the discus (106-4) and track

Stephanie Gray the high jump (5-2).

Gudeth also won the 800 run in 2:29.1 and anchored the 1,600 relay team, which included Christie Saffron, Ndu Okwumabua and Jennifer Hartke. The Chiefs had a 4:24.1 time.

Gudeth, like Kilpelainen and Ndu Okwumabua, had four firsts and was the leadoff runner on the 3,200 relay. Saffron, Monica Pellow and Lana Boroditsch took the baton after her, and the Chiefs had a 10:24.7 time.

Salem winners were Tracey Livermore in the high jump (15-10 1/4) and Tonya Wheeler in the 400 dash (1:02.5).

Salem won three of four relays and had two double winners in individual events — Jim Ramsay and Andy Rojeski — in the boys meet.

RAMSAY WON both hurdles races, running 15.5 in the highs and 42.7 in the intermediates. Rojeski dashed off times of 24 seconds in the 200 and 52 seconds in the 400.

Rojeski also anchored the winning 800 relay team, and Ramsay helped the Rocks win the 400 relay.

The teams split the field events, with Leon

Hister and Rob Casler of Salem winning the long jump (20-8 1/2) and the shot put (44-5), respectively. On the track, Matt Perron gave the Rocks first place in the 100 dash (11.4) and John Thomas the 800 run (2:03.1).

Hister, Todd Forbes, Ramsay and Perron comprised the 400 relay team that had a 45.6 time, and Joe Nunez, Joe Pawluszka and Mike Richards preceded Rojeski in the 800 relay. Salem won that race with a 1:35.6 time.

Thomas was the anchorman on the first-place 3,200 relay team. Mike Patterson, Brian Wooters and Jason McDonald combined with Thomas for an 8:30.8 time.

Canton had a double winner in Mike Ream, who took first in the 1,600 and 3,200 runs with respective times of 4:41 and 10:36.

CANTON WINNERS in the field events were Mike DeJarnett in the high jump (6-0) and Dean Benedict in the discus (145-8). The Chiefs captured first in the 1,600 relay in which Don Green, Brett Kearney, Dave Washenko and Craig Miller combined for a 3:41 time.

"We knew they were a very well-balanced team, the toughest team we'll face all year," Canton coach Bob Richardson said. "We had some of our best times and distances of the year, but they were the better team today. We'll have to wait another year for our dual meet."

Chargers deal first loss to Salem

Pfiebe, Christina Garry and Marcy Wloche.

"WHEN THEY get ahead, they play good defense," Johnson said. "It seemed like we were down there and down there in their end, but their defense was good. They tee the ball well. The cover well and they're quick. They've always been good defensively with people like Speen and Pfiebe."

Salem's high-scoring frontline of high-scoring Erin Harvey, Mandy Drummond and Erin Bagozzi could not beat Churchill goaltender Monia Cbrvi, who played steady in the nets for 80 minutes.

Churchill was able to protect its two-goal cushion throughout the second half despite a few anxious moments.

"I wasn't really worried that we'd lay back, I was worried that we might panic if Salem got one goal," O'Shea said. "But defensively we marked tight when it was 2-0. We were pushing up and it was good to see at that point.

"Defensively we usually play well. We controlled a lot of the play, but Salem plays hard because they're always running at you."

Salem's new-found perch atop the rankings seemed like a curse.

"Being No. 1 is the kiss of death," Johnson said. "It's a funny game. Maybe we were out of sync finishing the plays, but we have no excuses. We didn't play bad, but maybe this is a Godsend for us with the (Livonia) Stevenson game coming up. Maybe we got a little too cocky and we need to be knocked down."

Crusaders qualify for district play

It was a bit of a struggle, but — true to form, according to coach Mike George — Madonna University's baseball team reached its season-long goal with three wins in its final five NAIA District 23 games.

Madonna will make its first-ever appearance in the four-team district playoffs Thursday when it meets Aquinas College at noon at Mount Pleasant High School. Spring Arbor College plays host Northwood Institute in the other first-round game of the double-elimination tournament.

The Fighting Crusaders had managed just two wins in eight games before sweeping a non-district doubleheader from Calvin College Friday.

That seemed to help them straighten their course somewhat, on Saturday, the Crusaders split a two-game set at district cellar-dweller Grand Rapids Baptist, winning 8-1 and losing 8-7, then beat first-place Aquinas in a rain-shortened game Sunday, 2-1 in five innings.

ON MONDAY, it was another split for Madonna against Siena Heights at Capitol Park in Redford. The Crusaders lost the opener 3-0, then won the nightcap 5-3.

The 3-2 finish in district play gave Madonna an 11-6 record. Aquinas took first in the final regular-season standings with a 15-5 mark; Spring Arbor was 11-7 and Northwood had a 12-9 mark.

Had Siena Heights managed to sweep Madonna Monday, the possibility was strong the Crusaders would not be in the playoffs. The second-game victory assured them they would.

"Our kids have responded well to pressure all year," said George.

Still, the Saints struck first in the pivotal game, getting two runs in the second. But Madonna came right back with three runs in the bottom half of the frame, with Kevin O'Connor's two-run double the key blow.

Siena Heights tied it with a run in the third, but the Crusaders took the lead for good in the bottom of the third without a hit. A ground out by Mike Wozniak, who had two hits in the game, scored the eventual game-winning run.

ERNIE BOWLING's solo home run leading off the sixth — his 16th of the season, and his 53rd run batted in — clinched the win for Rich Roy, who handcuffed the Saints on two hits. Roy gave up two earned runs, walking three and striking out six, to improve his record to 3-1. Starter Kevin Carleton absorbed the loss for the Saints.

In Monday's opener, Siena Heights' hurler Dennis Szczechowski stopped Madonna on four hits in outdueling Madonna's Mike Hocking, who fell to 5-2. Szczechowski walked four and fanned five; Hocking surrendered three runs on nine hits and three walks, striking out four. Jeff Pendell had two hits for the Crusaders.

Sunday's game at Aquinas was played in a driving rainstorm, but Madonna had to play to ensure it would get in the minimum number of games to qualify for the district playoffs.

Aquinas struck first on Jim Goerner's ground out in the first inning, but the Crusaders got three of their four hits in the fifth to score two runs and pull out the victory. Pendell doubled to start the rally; Bill Terski got another two-bagger to drive in Pendell, tying the game.

WITH TWO out, John Bonham battled pitcher Rod Rojas and sliced a single that brought in the winning run. Chris Kloc got the victory, raising his record to 6-4. Kloc gave up one unearned run on four hits and three walks, striking out four. Rojas took the loss.

Against Baptist Saturday, Lou McKaig had a no-hitter through 6½ innings in the opener before the Comets' Gary Hodgkiss dribbled an infield hit down the third-base line. Still, McKaig wasn't that sharp — he walked 10 and struck out 11 in improving to 6-2. Mark St. John was the loser for Baptist.

O'Connor had three hits for Madonna, with Bonham and Bowling each getting two. Bonham also scored three runs, stole two bases and drove in a run.

In the second game, the Crusaders led 7-4 entering the bottom of the seventh and lost. With Mike Coleman on the mound in relief of starter T.C. Raptis, who left after taking a line drive off his pitching hand, the Comets rallied with a walk, stolen base and a run-scoring single by Allen Lindstrom.

Another single, a Pendell error and another walk loaded the bases and brought in reliever Rob Kowalski, who allowed an infield hit to Ryan Baker, scoring one run, and Matt Deja's two-run, game-winning single.

Bonham and Pendell each had two hits and an RBI for Madonna; Wozniak and Terski also had two hits apiece and both scored twice. Coleman took the loss; Lindstrom was the winning pitcher. Madonna moved its overall record to 31-16-1.

Madonna plays top seed

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

The challenge facing Madonna University's baseball team seemingly got tougher when the draw for the NAIA District 23 playoffs was made Monday.

Although they finished with the second-best record (in percentage) in the district, the Fighting Crusaders will have to play the first-place team first — Aquinas College. The two squads tangle at noon today at Mount Pleasant High School, while the tournament host — Northwood Institute — plays Spring Arbor College at Central Michigan University.

Tournament matchups were not determined by seeding. After the four qualifiers were decided, it was an open draw. And Madonna drew Aquinas.

The tough luck of the draw didn't bother Crusader coach Mike George, whose team was 11-6 in district play and 31-16-1 overall. One reason is that Madonna split its two games with Aquinas — which finished 15-5 in the district — this season; another is that the Crusaders bested the Saints 2-1 in a rain-shortened game Sunday.

"IN THE TWO games against them, we played well," said George. "And we just got done playing them Sunday, so it's fresh in our minds that we can beat them."

The pitcher Madonna beat, though, was Rod Rojas — not Tim Sullivan. The 6-foot-4 Sullivan was easily the best pitcher in the district this season, if not the best player. He posted a 10-0 record with a 1.45 earned run average. Aquinas' all-time leader in wins, he beat Madonna 5-3 April 28.

"They're going to throw Sullivan at us," agreed George. On the mound for the Crusaders will be Chris Kloc, who opposed Sullivan in that first meeting and lost. Kloc, from Redford Thurston HS, has also had a superb season, going 6-4 with a 2.13 ERA.

George has his rotation set. Following Kloc will be Jeremy Kroi (Garden City HS), Mike Hocking (Redford Bishop Borgess) and Rich Roy (Livonia Clarenceville).

"I definitely have four guys I can go to anytime who can get the job done," said George.

IN A DOUBLE-ELIMINATION tournament, he may need to. After Thursday's noon openers, the first-round winners and first-round losers will meet at 3 p.m. One team will be eliminated; the two teams that are 1-1 after the first two rounds will play Friday's first game, with another team being eliminated.

Which will leave two teams. The tournament championship will be Friday or, if necessary, Saturday. At stake is a trip to the four-team NAIA regional championship in Illinois.

"We've got just as good a chance as anybody," said George. Perhaps, but, as George also said, "I think the first game is the most important. You lose it and right away you're in the loser's bracket — one more (loss) and you're going home. Plus there's the emotional factor . . . winning the first game is definitely a psychological advantage."

George is comfortable with his team's chances, based on their performance through the season — even though the Crusaders struggled down the stretch, winning just five-of-13 games (prior to Wednesday's contest with Wayne State).

"I'M REALLY very confident when I take the field with this team," he said. His reason is his belief that pitching and defense will be the deciding factors. The Crusaders have both.

college sports

The University of Detroit-Mercy baseball team collected a tournament triumph at the Wright State Invitational April 27-28 as it readied for its Midwestern Collegiate Conference showdown with Notre Dame last weekend (U-D took two from the Irish Saturday).

In the Wright State Invitational win, the Titans won four of five games — including a 6-4 victory over the host Raiders in the championship game. Mike Heard, from Westland (Wayne Memorial HS), slugged a home run and had the game-winning hit in the seventh inning.

Heard and Lance Sullivan (Livonia Churchill HS) were two of five Titans named to the all-tournament team. In the last MCC statistical report, Heard ranked 14th in batting (.325), seventh in runs batted in (31, 0.79 per game), and ninth in both home runs (six, 0.15) and doubles (nine, 0.23).

A few other Observerland athletes are among MCC league-leaders. Two are from U-D: Mike Stefanski (Redford Union HS) is 12th in batting (.328) and second in doubles (11, 0.29), and Rick Tavormina (Westland John Glenn HS) is ninth in RBI (50, 0.77) and third in triples (three, 0.08).

Evansville's Art George (Redford Thurston HS) ranks eighth in batting (.338), first in triples (four, 0.09) and third in stolen bases (21-of-25, 0.49) earned) on 15 hits in 14 innings as he defeated Central Michigan 4-2 and Ohio University 5-1. The two wins gave Martin 29 for his career (tying the EMU record set by Bob Oswinko in 1973-76) and lifted him to 6-4 for the season, with a 3.33 earned run average. He has won his last six decisions.

SOME OTHER EMU players of note: Steve Waite (Plymouth Canton HS), who has helped both on the mound (3-3 record, with two saves and a 4.74 ERA) and at the plate (.304 average, seven doubles, three home runs, 19 RBI, nine stolen bases in 10 tries and three game-winning RBIs); and Kevin Rogers (Redford CC), whose .355 batting average ranks 14th in the MAC. Rogers also has four doubles, 26 RBI and three game-winning RBIs.

THE GREAT LAKES Intercollegiate Athletic Conference all-academic at-large teams were announced, and some Observerland student-athletes were honored.

Cam Fitch (from Garden City HS), a senior tennis player at Wayne State, was chosen after receiving a 3.962 grade-point average with a major in biology. So was Kathleen Helmbuch (Farmington Hills Mercy HS), a senior tennis player at Hillsdale, who compiled a 3.088 GPA in elementary education.

THE BALL STATE women's tennis program has improved dramatically over the last three years, going from a 1-17 record in 1988 to 19-8 this year. Aiding that turnaround has been senior Lisa Belsky (Plymouth Salem HS), who filled in mostly at No. 5 singles where she was 14-5 (20-11 overall). In doubles, Belsky was 11-13 overall.

Bowlers need etiquette

BOWLING IS VERY much a game of concentration and sometimes the least little distraction will ruin a shot for someone just when they need a strike or convert a difficult spare.

Sometimes a bowler will run up on the adjacent lane without consideration for the person who is already on the approach.

John Bryngelson, bowler in the Merri Bowl Senior House league in Livonia, needed a strike for an 800 series recently, and someone jumped up while he was about to take his first step. This distracted him enough that he had to sit down, regroup and start over. His shot wasn't quite there and neither was that edge of concentration.

There always seems to be some confusion regarding lane courtesy. The rule book extends courtesy only one lane away, with the first consideration to the bowler to the right.

How often have you seen the "Alphonse and Gaston" act where each bowler signals each other to go ahead. This can get rather funny, but it isn't because it makes the game go along slower than it should.

AT THE OTHER extreme, many of the "expert" bowlers will wait until there are six lanes clear on each side before they get up for their turn. To add to the problem, some bowlers will stand on the approach forever, aiming and re-aiming at the pins while everybody else waits in utter frustration.

And perhaps the worst distraction is the person in the back row of the alley area who lets go with "HEY AL!" just as I am in my delivery. He is usually calling out to his buddy, another guy named Al, to see if he wants another beer. Meanwhile my concentration is shot down.

It's called bowling etiquette and only common sense and courtesy determine how well it's handled.

Let's call it "Al's rules," to remove any confusion at the approaches. It is generally acceptable to give two clear lanes on each side to the active bowler, staying completely off the approach until he or she has completed the delivery.

If more than one bowler is ready at the same time, the bowler on the left shall yield to the one on the right and acknowledge this with a nod or hand motion. If the bowler of the left is ready first, then go ahead without delay.

All bowlers should keep their voice down; don't shout, it could spoil the fun for the others.

I REMEMBER a few years ago when a youth league director made an announcement over the P.A. system without realizing that one of the kids was trying for his 12th strike and a perfect game. The announcement boomed out just as the young man was in the middle of his approach and he threw a bad ball — no 300 game.

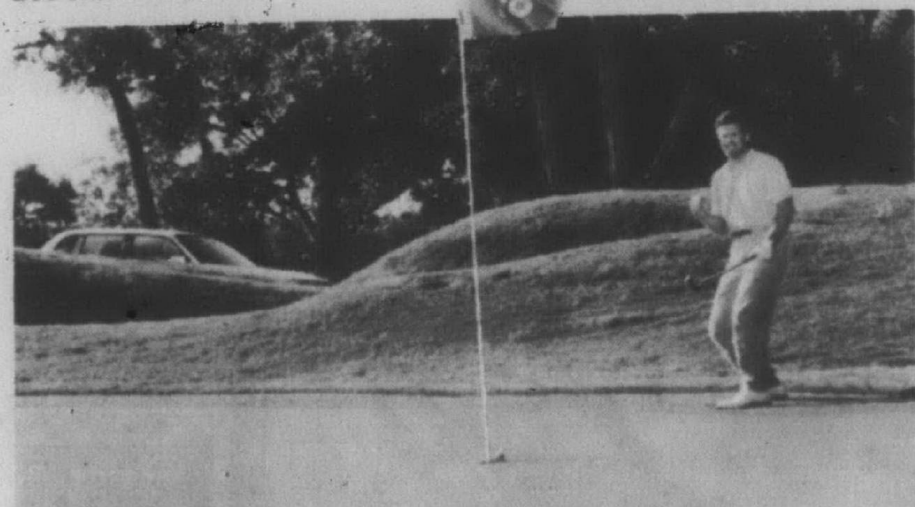

Another distraction to be mentioned is running out the shot. This can really be distracting, because all it takes is to catch sight of something with just the corner of your eye. Just ask Bryngelson.

Has anybody found out about the pig farm yet? I'm still waiting to do this story. One of the local hospitals has a lab where they keep pigs and put old bowling balls in the pin. This is a very funny thing to watch as the pigs have more fun playing with that old ball than the previous owner one did. If you know where that farm is, please write me at the Observer & Eccentric.

As this column goes to press, Sandy and I are still on our honeymoon. The bowling scores and highlights will be back again next week as usual.

Charity group needs venison

ONCE THE SPICY aroma of a simmering pot of venison chili — complete with fresh onion and peppers, tender tomatoes and lean, ground venison — permeates the air, my taste buds won't be quenched until an empty bowl rests on the dinner table in front of me.

One of my all-time favorites, though, is a thick, juicy venison burger, grilled to perfection on the backyard barbecue and topped with mozzarella cheese and all my favorite condiments.

Ask any hunter and he'll undoubtedly tell you that the enjoyment of consuming last fall's harvest is a big part of the success of hunt.

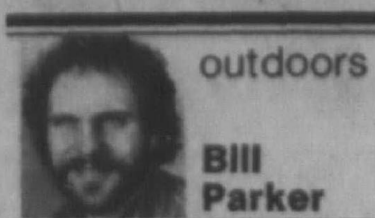

Hunters can now share that enjoyment with Michigan's less fortunate, needy people through a statewide wild game donation program.

The plight of the needy receives enormous attention during the holiday season, but the problem does not go away through the spring, summer and fall. If anything, it's compounded because of lack of public attention.

MICHIGAN UNITED CONSERVATION Clubs, the Safari Club International and the Salvation Army have teamed up in an effort to help feed the needy through the Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger campaign.

Beginning Friday, Salvation Army Community Corps Centers throughout Michigan will accept donations of wild game that has been processed by a licensed butcher.

In the initial stage of the program, the Salvation Army is asking for ground venison, because it's easy to prepare and people can use it any way they use hamburger.

The state Legislature passed a law during its last session to allow for the donations.

It's a law that has been long overdue. Michigan outdoorsmen fortunate enough to harvest wild game should pass on a portion of their harvest to those less fortunate than themselves. Hunters and anglers often boast of their generosity. Well, now is the time to stand up or shut up. Make that generosity count.

"MUCC and the Safari Club International were the spearheads in getting the law changed," said Barbara Anderson, public affairs director of MUCC. "Previously, the law didn't allow for wild game donations, but late last session (the law) was changed."

"Hunters are aware of the needy in the community and want to show that they are willing to share with the needy."

THE GOAL IS simple — help feed Michigan's hungry with a healthy, nutritious, available and economical food source. In the process, hunters will present the beneficial side of hunting and show their commitment to helping the needy. The program should also go a long way in stretching the tight food budget of the Salvation Army.

"We're happy to share our success with the less fortunate," said MUCC Executive Director Thomas Washington. "Michigan has more than one million people who participate in the hunting sport each year, and as a hunter, I'm proud to see this meat helping to feed the hungry in our state."

Donations will be accepted throughout the year at area Salvation Army Community Corps Centers, including those in: Plymouth, 9451 South Main St., 453-5464; Westland, 3363 Venoy, 722-3660; Farmington Hills, 27500 Shiawassee, 477-1153; Southfield, 16130 Northland Dr., 443-5500; Royal Oak, 3915 North Main St., 585-5600; and Pontiac, 34 Oakland Ave., 334-2407.

● ORVs RESTRICTED

Off-road-vehicle users must stay on designated roads and trails in Michigan following a compromise move by the legislature in its last session.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Tom Alley, D-West Branch, received lopsided support in both the House (94-8) and Senate (35-1).

The bill is a reasonable compromise that allows for continued use of ORVs while affording the state greater land protection. It will have significant environmental impact as it:

- allows ORV use only on specified roads, trails and scramble areas;
- provides for grant dollars to build additional trails;
- closes utility rights-of-way to ORV use.

● NO FREE FIREWOOD

The Department of Natural Resources has revised its forest management policy on issuing firewood permits from state forest land.

The DNR will no longer issue free firewood permits due to increases in wood market value as well as reduced availability and DNR service capability.

The permits, allowing for the taking of up to five standard cords of wood, will cost $20. The DNR will attempt to accommodate those who are partially or totally dependent on wood for heating their houses.

The cost permits will only be issued April 1 to Sept. 30, and be valid for up to 90 days. Taking of wood will be restricted to DNR designated areas where a sufficient supply is known to exist. Firewood collected must be from downed or designated trees only and must be for personal use, not to be resold or traded.

● PARK REMAINS OPEN

Oakland County's undeveloped Orion Oaks park will remain open to archery-only deer hunting for the 1991 deer season.

A hunting area control committee found there was not a safety problem to warrant closing the park to all hunting. Hunters will find tougher restriction, however, regarding safety zones, especially along the northern boundary with Webber School property.

(Hunters and anglers are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send questions to: Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009, or call Bill Parker Monday evenings, 6-10 p.m. at 644-1101.)

Strong knees a must for running, walking

Dear Myrna: I am an overweight runner having problems with my knees. My doctor has given me the okay to run. How can I strengthen my knees so I don't have to stop?

I am hoping that you are not more than 10 to 15 pounds overweight. Being an overweight runner can be very tough on your knees. Are you running outside? If so, never, never run downhill — the pressure of being overweight added to the pressure of normal body weight on your knees every time you take a step is enormous.

In order to strengthen your knees, you must strengthen the quadriceps muscles (thigh muscles). Let me prepare you properly in order to focus in on the action of strengthening you are about to do.

Extend your right leg out in front of you with your right foot resting on the floor. Watch your thigh as you straighten your leg, stiffening it. The thigh muscle that moves and pulls up the kneecap and the muscles that run along the front of the skin are the target areas for these strengthening exercises I am about to give you.

● Sit on the floor with your back against the wall. Lift your right leg fully extended in front of you, just off the floor a few inches. Keep the leg raised, move the leg back and forth slowly, left to right. Start five times and return it back to the center, slowly letting it down. Repeat five to 10 times on right leg. Repeat with left leg.

● Sit on a secure, upright chair and fully support your upper thigh with your legs hanging down comfortably. Flex your right foot at the ankle, pulling your toes up towards your knee. Hold this position and count to 10. Relax and slowly let your leg and foot hang free. Repeat each side 10 times. As this gets too easy, start with a three-pounder.

As you strengthen your quads and tibialis muscles, why not try speed walking. Walk as fast as you can, bending your knees slightly. My children would say, "book it, honey." Remember, never do anything that hurts. Listen to your body because it has a mind, too.

(Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company Inc. of Bloomfield Township, and a member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Send your letters to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009.)

● SELECT PLAYER

Shannon Mayer of Plymouth has been chosen to be a member of the Sport For Understanding soccer team and will travel to Germany for competition this summer.

Mayer is a student at Plymouth Christian Academy. Players must be between the ages of 14 and 19, active in their sport and maintaining a 2.0 grade-point average.

Sport For Understanding is an international exchange program for teen athletes. The soccer team is one of approximately 50, covering sports from baseball to wrestling, that will represent the United States in Europe, Australia and the Soviet Union.

● HONORS CANDIDATE

Jim Ramsay of Plymouth Salem High School has been nominated for the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Spring Scholar-Athlete Award in Region 7.

Students must have lettered in a varsity sport and have a 3.5 grade-point average. Ramsay is a member of the Plymouth Salem boys track team, which won the Observerland Relays Saturday.

Each school is allowed to nominate one male and one female senior for the fall, winter and spring sports seasons. The spring winners will receive a $1,000 scholarship from Farm Bureau Insurance and will be honored with a ceremony at the baseball/softball finals in Battle Creek on Saturday, June 15.

● FOOTBALL CAMP

A non-contact, instructional football camp sponsored by the Canton Lions will take place Friday and Saturday, June 21-22, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The fee is $15, and children age 7-14 are eligible.

Lunch will be provided, and all participants will receive a T-shirt. For information, call Debby at 397-1720 or Cindy at 981-4856.

● BASEBALL TRYOUT

The Craiger baseball team in the Plymouth-Canton Babe Ruth League will have tryouts at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 11. Boys age 13, 14 and 15 are eligible. For information, call 455-4803.

● SPORTS PHYSICALS

Pre-participation physicals will be offered to athletes in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools on Thursday, June 6, at 6 p.m. in the Salem High School upper commons.

The cost is $12 per student-athlete. Seventy-five percent of the fee will be used to purchase non-expendable sports medicine supplies to improve care throughout the year.

Student-athletes can register by sending cash, check or money order payable to Orthopedic Surgery Associates, P.C., before the deadline of Monday, June 3. Physicals will be given by the Center for Sports Medicine and Fitness. It covers the athlete for every sport, including summer camps, fall, winter and spring seasons.

Questions should be directed to Wendy Crummel or Sharon Bouchard at the Center (434-8334) or Crummel at Canton High School (451-6600, ext. 311) and Bouchard at Salem High School (459-6099) after 2 p.m.

● TIGERS TRIP

Canton Parks and Recreation Services is sponsoring a family-oriented trip to see the Detroit Tigers play the Minnesota Twins on Saturday, May 18.

The fee is $7.50 per person, which includes reserved seat and bus transportation. Space is limited to the first 40 spots, and only Canton residents are eligible. The bus departs at 11:45 a.m. for the 1:15 p.m. game.

People should register in person at the Parks and Recreation Office at 1150 S. Canton Center Road. Call 397-5110 for information.

● GOLF DISCOUNT

The Canton Parks and Recreation Services is selling golf discount coupons for use at Fellows Creek Golf Course for Canton residents. The book of 10 coupons costs $1. Each coupon is good for a $1 discount on a nine-hole round.

The coupon books can be purchased at the Parks and Recreation Office, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Proof of residency will be required. Call 397-5110 for details.

● GOLF NEWS

The Friends of Boyssville will have their 21st Annual Golf Outing on Tuesday, July 9, at Bay Pointe and Shenandoah country clubs in West Bloomfield and Edgewood Golf Course in Union Lake.

The event includes continental breakfast, lunch, dinner, use of golf facilities and beverages. Proceeds will benefit Boyssville of Michigan.

Call Denny Boylan at 313-569-6630 for information.

Qualifying dates for the Great Lakes Amateur Tour have been changed to Saturday, May 18, and Sunday, June 2, for sites on the West Metro circuit. Dunham Hills, Salem Hills, Faulkwood Shores and Tanglewood golf courses will conduct qualifying rounds on May 18, Oakpointe and Tanglewood on June 2. The deadline also has been extended to Friday, May 10.

● S'CRAFT CAMPS

Schoolcraft College will hold three different sessions of girls basketball camps: Camp I (grades 4-6), 8:30 a.m. until noon, Monday through Friday, July 8-12; Camp II (grades 7-9), 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, July 8-12; and Camp III (grades 10-12), 8:30 a.m. to noon, Monday, July 29 through Friday, Aug. 2. The cost is $48 per camper, per session.

For more information, call Schoolcraft's Physical Education Department at 462-4400, Ext. 5249, or Dan Freeman at 522-7659.

Tom Teeters will direct two different weeks of volleyball camps for boys and girls ages 10 and up (morning and afternoon sessions): Monday through Thursday, July 15-18 and July 22-25. The cost is $70 per session ($125 for players taking two sessions).

Old houses, rural women in 'fictional documentary'

By Cathie Breidenbach
special writer

BLOOMFIELD HILLS filmmaker Cynthia Greig is finishing up production on her experimental film with the working title, "Her Story."

She plans to release the 20-minute film in December and show it at independent theaters, local libraries and schools, as well as to historical societies and women's groups.

Her fictional documentary — a seeming contradiction in terms — uses authentic and historical elements in a fictional combination. The film will juxtapose readings from the journals of rural women with film footage of five old, abandoned houses on Michigan's Leelanau Peninsula. Greig will season images of the houses with a few still photographs of women, using mostly old tintypes she found in flea markets.

"Image and text will interact," Greig explains, of her experimental format, but scenes from the weather-worn, now-silent houses won't necessarily illustrate events described in the journals or have any historical ties to the anonymous women whose photos will bring human faces to the readings. When she mixes film of the houses, sepia-tinted photographs and journal readings, she hopes to illuminate truths about women's lives through fiction.

Director Cynthia Greig of Bloomfield Hills sets up shot for "Her Story" on location in Northern Michigan.

THE HOUSES haunted with memories of their now-gone families are real. The women who wrote about their lives are real, as are their stories of rural isolation, poverty, hardships and long days filled with physical work. The overlaying of journals and unrelated images will create an evocative, celluloid poetry, presenting houses as metaphors for women's lives.

"Throughout history, women have been the primary caretakers of the home and family," Greig said, and the recurrent themes of houses and making homes in them run like warp threads through the more than 100 journals she read to select the 15 she will use in the film. All the journals were written between the mid 1800s and the late 1930s. She considered using narratives but rejected them because they "looked at lives as history and tended to sum it all up." Diaries, in contrast, have a present quality that appealed to her. "They are evolving stories."

From the journals, she says, "I saw women played a big role as wives, mothers and income earners for the family. They raised chickens and geese. They were responsible for the family garden and helped in the fields. Many did mending, made butter or sold seed corn to raise money."

"It's important to include texts to show that women played a larger role than we traditionally see," Greig said. In her film, the 31-year-old filmmaker aims to give voices to the ordinary women whose stories history often ignores.

With a fine arts degree in printmaking from Washington University and a master's degree in art history from the University of Iowa, the Kingswood graduate began her career as a visual artist. She did an internship at a museum in Worcester, Mass., and worked as curator for Arttrain before going for her master's at the University of Iowa. There she took her first film class when she needed to escape from the preoccupation of writing her master's thesis on Dada performances in Paris.

AS A PRINTMAKER she was frustrated because in visual art she couldn't use her considerable language talents. In film, she found a composite art form that demands "a connection between text and image." She says, "Film is the perfect medium for me."

As testimony to her verbal talents

'I chose to shoot when colors were muted and silent, when the leaves has burned to softer hues.'

— Cynthia Greig

film." In the flamboyant autumn, she says, "I chose to shoot when colors were muted and silent, when the leaves has burned to softer hues."

This month, Cynthia Greig will return to northern Michigan to audition women who will read the journal entries in the film. To get volunteer readers, Greig ran a press release in a publication that goes to almost every house in Leelanau County.

The mail brought interest from numerous women. Some loved old houses; some wanted to add their voices to a work telling women's stories; others spoke of personal, family experiences that gave them empathy they felt could add to the readings.

Greig conducted preliminary auditions over the phone. She was searching for varied voices, 12 to 15, but they all needed to express a genuine quality. She wanted voices with "distinctive meters," but most of all, Greig was listening for voices that she described as "having escaped from time."

Good voices blend in a musical fairy tale

Performances of the Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "Once Upon a Mattress" continue through Saturday, May 18, at the Water Tower Theatre on the campus of Northville Regional Hospital. Interpreters for the hearing impaired will be provided Friday, May 17. For ticket information call 349-7110.

By Bob Weibel
special writer

Colorful costumes, a strong-voiced cast of 30 and dandy leads combine for a joyous evening of musical comedy in Plymouth Theatre Guild's "Once Upon a Mattress."

The show is loosely based on Hans Christian Anderson's "The Princess and the Pea." As in all good fairy tales, the plot is capricious, yet somehow elegant.

It's about an imperious queen who is most possessive of her son. He longs to be married. Alas, she only will approve of a princess with "true royal blood." Her tests, of course, are so demanding that all the young ladies-in-waiting fail.

When Princess Winnifred (they call me "Fred") appears, the queen has her sleep on 30 mattresses, into which she has put a pea. Only a blue blood would remain awake because of the pea, she reasons. All's fair in rigged tests, so members of the court conspire to make sure the princess passes the sensitivity test. You see, they cannot be married until the prince says, "I do."

LINDA PICCOLI brings equal measures of comic timing, stage presence and a fine voice to her role as the domineering, hyponchondriac queen. Michael Shulman, is most amusing as her muted king, who cavorts, chasing young damsels and doing pantomime and charades in lieu of talking.

Daryl Ziegelman plays their son, Prince Dauntless the Drab, with a delightful naivete. The object of his affection, Princess Winnifred the Woebegone, is charming, earthy and bemused in the capable hands of Karen Groves. She wisely doesn't try to imitate the yuks of a Carol Burnett (who did the role on Broadway). Tani Ann Mough (Lady Larkin) and Steve Walker (Sir Studley) make a fine pair in a more conventional romance. Adam Dodt scores as the Court Jester. And Jeff Hammonds keeps the story rolling along as a minstrel.

Director/choreographer Rob James Morisi has fashioned a fairly well-paced show. Longish scene changes, however, tend to rob the show of momentum from time to time.

The set itself is well conceived and includes a proscenium mask that effectively frames the set. More detailing, however, would have given it an even better castle look.

PTG has installed a new sound system in the Water Tower Theatre, which seems to have helped the echo situation. Performers who speak quickly and don't enunciate clearly, however, still can be a problem. Sitting down front is recommended. "Once Upon a Mattress" is blessed with many fine voices, however. When they join together in a cast number, they fill the whole theater.

St. Bede's 'Iolanthe' is top-flight G&S production

Performances of the St. Bede Players production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe" continue through Saturday, May 11, at the Southfield High School Auditorium in Southfield. For ticket information, call 557-6527 or 557-7245.

By Mary Jane Doerr
special writer

The great-granddaddy of modern stage directing, W.S. Gilbert, may have done us a disservice with his stage books outlining the staging of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. It has provided many companies with the classical staging for each show, sometimes eliminating the need for inventiveness.

St. Bede Players have a stunning production of probably the most elegant score of the Savoy opera masters, "Iolanthe" (pronounced I-o-lan-the). Costumer Ruthann Logsdon Zaroff has an eye for color. Her bright costumes enhance two striking sets by John W. LaCroix Jr., and provide a brilliant setting for some quality voices, under the fine leadership of musical director-conductor Joseph Gamache.

In the lead as Phyllis, Jenny Lee Head, now a student at the University of Michigan, is not only elegantly costumed in a fabulous green velvet dress, but her voice is wonderful to listen to. She plays the role straight, which is how it should be done, with enough egotism to add some humor.

Her counterpart Strepson is tenor Mitch Gillett, another lovely voice. Together their duet "None Shall Part Us from Each Other" is beautiful, like all the love duets in the G&S repertoire.

"IOLANTHE" is a satire of the fairies and the peers, another Fairylan and the English Parliament, who meet in Arcadia. Iolanthe (Ruthann Logsdon Zaroff) married a mortal 25 years before the story begins and has been banished to live with the frogs in a stream by the Fairy Queen (Sara Zivian Zwicki). These thunder-and-lightning stage effects make the queen a cross between Queen of the Night ("The Magic Flute") and Brunnhilde ("The Ring").

Her son, Stephon, is a half breed — half fairy and half mortal — a situation that has certain complications. When he disappears, only half of him disappears. He loves Phyllis who is a ward of the court of Chancery.

G&S veteran of "patter" song George Bloomfield is the Lord Chancellor, more loveable each time he takes on a role. Certainly no one can sing faster, and in this role he has three songs to deliver. His "Love, Unrequited, Robs Me of Me Rest" was the fastest yet.

Gilbert's libretto in "Iolanthe" is satirical about the House of Lords and the political situation of 1882 when the operetta was premiered. The targets of the lines, especially those of the Fairy Queen's, have long since been forgotten. The humor then has to be in the way the lines are delivered and expounded upon in the stage antics.

Sometimes the Sullivan melodies and Gilbert's caustic lyric work off of each other. Thomas Petiet captures this humor in the "patriotic" song "When Britain Really Ruled the Waves" with its biting words. David Reynolds as Lord Toller and Douglas Rogez as Private Willis provide some lovely singing as well as more moments of humor.

Senate bill would prohibit residency rules

By Tim Richard
staff writer

State Sen. David Honigman is challenging some political Goliaths — Detroit, rural townships and unions — with a bill prohibiting residency rules for governmental employees.

His Senate Bill 271 moved forward in the state Senate this week, though with little prospect of House passage.

"What private employer would require residency in a certain city? Only government would be so stupid!" said Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

With nearly party-line support from Republicans, Honigman fought down crippling amendments Tuesday.

ABOUT ONE-FOURTH of cities, townships and villages in Michigan require employees to live within the local boundaries, he said.

Detroit even requires applicants to be city residents. Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, said a residency requirement "allows local units to have some ability to have some response time."

Sen. Jack Weiborn, R-Kalamazoo, a former rural township supervisor and a 30-year volunteer fireman, also fought the bill. He offered an amendment allowing local units to impose a "response time requirement" on employees, without regard to whether they live in or out of a community.

Honigman called the amendment unnecessary because the bill exempts volunteer fire departments, and most local units have mutual aid pacts for major fire and police emergencies.

Weiborn's amendment lost, 13 yes to 15 no, in a hasty, unrecorded vote.

"GOVERNMENT should not tell people where to live," said Honigman, who produced the bill in the Labor Committee he chairs. "We have dozens of Berlin Walls in Michigan."

He said residency requirements are "oppressive, offensive" and an assault on personal liberty. His examples:

- A female police officer and a male firefighter can't marry because they work for different cities with residency rules.

Parents employed in cities with residency rules can't send their children to schools of their choice because they can't move into the district.

Husbands and wives can't sleep together because residency rules say one employed in a particular city must spend the night in that city before going on duty next day.

Residency rules enable black-run cities to exclude whites from employment, and white-run cities to exclude blacks.

SEN. CHRIS Dingell, D-Trenton, sought an amendment to allow unions to bargain collectively for residency rules.

Honigman called it "even worse, more oppressive and offensive" than a city-imposed rule. "It (union contract) could require them to live in certain neighborhoods," he said.

The Dingell amendment lost, 10 to 16, in another unrecorded vote.

Honigman's predecessor from the western Oakland district, Republican Rick Fessler, offered much the same bill two years ago but got nowhere with it.

School district plans summer club for kids

A summer activity club for elementary school children is being offered through the Livonia Public Schools, beginning Monday, June 17.

Students need not attend Livonia Schools to apply. Full- and part-time programs are offered.

We Need Volunteers Who Love Happy Campers!

Sun Deer® campers are happy campers and it's no wonder because most severely asthmatic kids are forced to spend their summers indoors. At Camp Sun Deer® asthmatic kids ages 9-12 participate in a variety of outdoor activities, but they can't do it without your help. The limitations and doubts they face can be diminished by a volunteer who cares. Your participation at Camp Sun Deer® can make all the difference in an asthmatic child's summer.

Where do service businesses need the most help?

I attended a market planning presentation you recently gave to a group of retailers and consumer service businesses. I wonder what areas of the market planning process you find retailers need the most help with.

I have been most often approached about the planning and implementation of non-traditional promotional activities to attract more customers to a store and retain them on a regular basis. To do this I need to know:

- What specific product or services are most often bought from your store and when (evenings? weekends? holidays? summer?)

- Why customers are buying from you instead of a competitor.
- How customers make the decision to buy from you (impulsively? based on customer recommendation?)
- Where customers go to buy similar products.
- Who are the key customer groups who regularly patronize your business (lifestyles? reason they like doing business with you? demographics?)

focus: small business

Mary DiPaolo

Gathering this information as a first step is crucial to the planning of any successful promotional program. This represents one aspect of the market planning process that retailers may agree is somewhat important but usually do not focus on in ways that are meaningful when planning their promotions. Once these key customer markets and their related buying habits are understood, the goal is to select promotional strategies that will best reach and persuade them. These same principles apply to any business when planning future promotional activities.

I heard there is a list available of the hottest new businesses for 1991. Are you aware of it?

Entrepreneur magazine prints a list of hot business ventures at the beginning of each year. For 1991, the businesses named include: event planning, cruises only travel, gift baskets, chicken wings, specialty personnel, senior day care, mail order, exercise wear, food delivery, desktop publishing, summer camps, exporting, computer consulting, children's learning centers, building "doctors," recycling consultants, Mexican food, gourmet takeout, educational books and toys for children, healthy desserts and bicycle shops.

Mary DiPaolo is the owner of MarkeTrends, a Northville business consulting firm. She is also producer and host of the cable television series, "Chamber Perspectives."

Computers are creating an automotive wonderland

As jaded as I have become about the marvels of computers, I was more or less flabbergasted a few months ago when I was invited to look at a new computer system bought by a guy whose interest was in designing a better rowboat.

What startled me was recognizing the system as being pretty much the same as one developed about eight years ago from scratch to win back the America's Cup. That first system set back Chrysler, among others, $10 million in paid and donated research to develop, and here it was, sitting on the guy's dining room table, at a retail price of about $7,000.

OK, so it's just another story about how cheap these things are getting. But it also illustrates how quickly an extremely sophisticated design process today can end up in the hands of about anybody who takes an interest in it. If you are wondering about cars, a month or so ago I talked to a hobbyist-engineer type who already is saving to buy a similar system to design his own sports car. He has to buy new drapes for his wife first, though.

Both computer systems are derivatives of something called computer-aided design (CAD), which has had a profound effect on how cars are designed in the past several decades.

Essentially, CAD systems store all the elements of information needed to design a component, or even an entire automobile, in a data base that feeds individual terminals. A designer sits at a terminal, and can actually sketch out a drawing on his screen. Then, the dimensions and even the physical characteristics of what has been drawn come to life, and the computer can actually carve a full-scale model, or even a set of production molds, using the picture on the screen.

auto talk

More and more, the data and computer systems operated by the world's auto companies are becoming the essence of what a car is all about. The data bases store everything, from new designs to repair parts. They interact on a worldwide scale, so that a designer in Germany can quickly tap into the thoughts of a guy in Dearborn.

IN A curious way, the reliance on these data bases to produce cars is changing the role of the corporations themselves. The huge pool of capital formerly represented by the investment in machine tools and stamping presses is being supplanted by the experience stored in these computers.

A few days ago, Ford put on a truly amazing demonstration of what these systems are capable of today. A few sketches from an artist quickly was transformed into a three-dimensional computer image that then could actually be crash-tested on the tube. You could even watch the air-bag deploy.

It was, of course, a multi-billion dollar effort that took years to develop. Ford is in a race with all the other major auto companies in increasing its use of these systems to speed products to market. Ultimately, the winner is the one that will dominate the world auto business.

Then I remembered the guy at his kitchen table. I figure it's about three years before some other guy, maybe in his living room, will be able to duplicate what Ford is doing today with computer design — the intellectual equivalent of having your own assembly line in your garage.

I truly don't know where all this is headed.

Dan McCosh is automotive editor for Popular Science magazine.

Wartime is a good time to invest

One of the greatest fears Americans have relates to the ramifications of fighting the war in the Gulf region.

Even by conservative estimates, the war is going to cost in excess of $60 billion, not counting the cost of humanitarian aid given to various countries and rebuilding the economies affected by the war.

Such a large expenditure in one year could ruin the U.S. economy and play havoc in the investment world.

There is nothing new in this line of thinking. The market reacts negatively to all wars and other types of crises. Consequently, most investors finances and you

believe that it's better to liquidate all investments and sit tight on liquid cash until the economy has recovered from the war blues.

While the above argument appears logical and therefore the conclusion seems reasonable, the historic data does not support the argument.

The accompanying chart, which goes all the way back to the War of 1812, demonstrated that wars, and crises brought on by wars, caused share profits to rise after the initial surprise and fear.

So my advice to you is to use a cautious but positive strategy to play the stock market.

Awrey pastry to disappear from local stores

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Cookies, cakes and other sweets produced by Awrey Bakery will be available in only one retail location — the company's thrift store in Livonia — after Saturday.

Plans announced by Awrey in March to freeze pastry as it came off the line, then wholesale to an independent distributor for delivery to 800 retail outlets in Michigan never materialized.

"In exploring the economics of the whole program, it wasn't feasible for the distributor, retailer or us," said Rick Pedi, Awrey president.

No additional job losses beyond the 95 announced in March will result from plans to cease retail operations, said Betty Jean Awrey, spokeswoman for the family-owned company. More than 400 will continue to work at the bakery.

Upwards of 80 percent of Awrey's sales in recent years has been to national chains in the hospitality industry. Major customers include Marriott Foodservice Management Corp. and American Airlines.

AWREY HAS been looking for ways to streamline its production process and better incorporate its local business into an expanding national line. A distribution change was a big part of that strategy.

"Our primary objective was to merge production systems," Pedi said. "It's a bittersweet decision. Obviously, it is difficult to leave behind our retail tradition, but the market has changed."

"Our national foodservice and contract manufacturing businesses have evolved to the point where they represent a majority of our overall business. We are now ready to focus all of our efforts and resources on these areas," he said.

Only products Awrey bakes for foodservice clients will be available in the thrift store. The keepers include Long John Coffee Cake and Date Nut Bars. Sugar cookies, oatmeal cookies and fruit coffee cakes will be discontinued.

AWREY IS checking into the possibility of selling its most popular products in in-store sections of retailers' stores.

Pedi declined to comment on specifics under consideration.

Gilbert Borman, spokesman for A&P/Farmer Jack, said that while displaying Awrey brands in-store wouldn't be consistent with that company's practice of baking from scratch internally, he wouldn't speculate on what the future might hold.

"I know there's a demand for Awrey products. It's a good name in the marketplace," Borman said. "We've only done business with them for 60 years. There's a strong relationship there."

Veri-Best of Ferndale has been producing, marketing and distributing bread and bun products with the Awrey label since November after acquiring licensing rights.

"The company is profitable, and has been for 15 or 20 years and today (Monday) as we speak," Pedi said. He declined to reveal sales or income figures, but Crain's Detroit Business reported 1989 sales of $53 million.

'Our primary objective was to merge production systems. It's a bittersweet decision. Obviously, it is difficult to leave behind our retail tradition, but the market has changed.'

Aim for quality as total package, expert maintains

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Quality is more than the sum of the parts.

That's the philosophy of John J. Knappenberger, a Birmingham resident who's president of the American Society for Quality Control.

"Quality used to be defined in most peoples' minds as form, fit and function — meeting the customer's expectation," he said. "The whole idea now is total quality management, focusing on a total company approach — everybody — not only satisfying customers but delighting them."

Quality involves first establishing a mind set, then a process, Knappenberger said.

"It's a strategic issue. Everybody in a company is an external and internal customer. We're all customers and suppliers. Quality is an enabler for a company. To be very good at what you do, you shouldn't be able to dissect it (quality) out."

That's why Knappenberger prefers the word quality to the term quality control.

HE ILLUSTRATES some of his points with stories.

"Take a restaurant dinner. If you're satisfied and pay a fair price, by the old definition, it was good quality. By the new definition, it must not only satisfy you, but you must go out and tell your friends."

"The whole issue in quality is not to just satisfy the customer, but take it one, two or three steps beyond to delight. That's the best sales market to future business."

He offered an example involving the baking of bread. Some manufacturers anxious to stand out from the pack, may get the idea that icing the product is the way to go. So quality control and marketing efforts are geared toward the end part of the process.

All wrong, Knappenberger said. "It looks good, but when you cut it, it's the same old stuff. Good quality companies today are defining quality as yeast. You know it's there in the bread, but you can't really taste it."

Then there are the sports metaphors that apply across the board. "Baseball teams are buying superstars, but whatever sport, you need total team involvement to win," he said.

Empowering workers at all levels to solve problems rather than mandating procedures from on high is the best way to get everyone on the quality bandwagon, Knappenberger said. An experience of the ASQC illustrates his point.

Phone operators not only suggested working hours to accommodate clients on both coasts, but also received permission to devise a staffing schedule that would please everyone.

"People don't understand how actions way upstream can affect customers," he said of pronouncements. Words used in dealing with people reflect a mind set and probably behavior patterns as well, Knappenberger said. He was stunned — and delighted — recently to hear himself referred to as a customer rather than a passenger on an airline flight.

On another occasion, he suggested that a public official would enjoy better relations with his constituents by referring to them as customers rather than taxpayers.

"THE WAY we treat people is what we can expect from people. That's part of quality," he said.

Knappenberger, 44, until recently was vice president of quality for TRW automotive operations. He learned about the ASQC in the mid-1970s when directed to join by his boss and became active several years later as he progressed through management training.

"The more I looked at it, the more I saw quality touched everything," he said.

The ASQC was founded in 1946 to bring standards required by the war effort to general industry, Knappenberger said. The professional, non-profit organization serves some 80,000 individual and 700 corporate members from its headquarters in Milwaukee.

— John J. Knappenberger

"We're in an outreach mode now," Knappenberger said. "The biggest advantage of the quality movement is not I win, you lose, but if we both win, society improves as a whole."

Customers like these dealers

By Darrell Pressley
staff writer

Two area car dealerships recently won top honors for sales, service and customer satisfaction — Bob Jeannotte Pontiac and Fox Hills Chrysler Plymouth, both of Plymouth.

Bob Jeannotte Pontiac received a No. 1 rating in March for 1990 by the Pontiac Division.

The rating, which is based on customer responses, is a combination of service, sales and overall dealership satisfaction, said Russ Baltazar, sales manager for Jeannotte Pontiac.

The Customer Satisfaction Index is a questionnaire customers fill out after buying a new car. Jeannotte Pontiac, a Master Level One dealership, scored 92.4 percent by customer response in 1990 among Pontiac dealers in Michigan.

One of the main factors in the rating is customer satisfaction, said

Reg Harris, manager of media relations for Pontiac Division.

"If the customer isn't satisfied he won't come back to the dealership. And may not buy a Pontiac."

The rating gives the dealership a gauge of how it is treating customers, Baltazar said.

At one time, the foreign car industry and consumers felt American car dealers could not compete with them. Foreign cars were so much better, their packaging was so much better, Baltazar said.

"We got basically tired of hearing that," he said.

So Jeannotte went on a mission two years ago to change that perception by starting from the ground floor — meeting and greeting people, Baltazar said.

After the customer buys the car, the salesperson makes a follow-up call, and the customer later receives a second call from Bob Jeannotte's personal secretary, Baltazar said.

"It's a team concept — it starts with our cashier all the way up to Mr. Jeannotte."

FOX HILLS Chrysler Plymouth won an Award of Excellence for sales, service, facility, customer relations and community involvement among the 5,000 dealerships nationally, said Tom Jakobowski, a Chrysler Corp. spokesman.

"This award is earned by the top 10 percent of dealerships nationally," Jakobowski said. In its nine-year existence, Fox Hills Plymouth has received this award seven times.

Jim Schebil, owner of Fox Hills Chrysler, said while he is proud of the award, taking care of the customers' transportation needs is what really is important.

Providing a customer with a car, making sure that parts are available and that any problems with the car are fixed quickly are just a few keys to their success, Schebil said.

"Awards are nice, but customers are better," he said.

Major buy demands close look

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

There's only thing worse than buying a car and finding out you're stuck with a $15,000 lemon.

Buying a house and finding out you're stuck with a $150,000 lemon.

Home buyers should always remember the first rule of consumers: caveat emptor — let the buyer beware. Or more appropriately, perhaps, let the buyer be aware.

Home inspection companies and real estate attorneys are hesitant about labeling homes as lemons — they don't tell people to buy or not buy a house. Home inspectors say anything made by man can be fixed by man — it's just a question of how much money you're willing to spend to fix the problem.

Janet Compo of Americomp Home Inspectors Inc. in Farmington Hills said it is penny wise and dollar foolish to not hire a home inspector when purchasing a home.

A home inspection cost is negligible when compared to the overall investment in a home.

Compo said complex problems are beyond the scope of most home buyers, but there are still certain things homeowners can look for in the initial stages of house hunting to help trim the possibilities.

"One of the most obvious things to look for is the conditions in the basement," Compo said.

DAMP SPOTS, a musty odor or standing water — particularly near the base of basement walls — may not necessarily be expensive to repair, she said, but home buyers should be aware of them. Some water seepage problems may require light interior work or regrading outside, which is also relatively inexpensive, she said, but severe seepage may require extensive digging and foundation work.

Home buyers should also view the grading around the home, she said. Grading that directs water toward the home should be altered to avoid future problems.

The roof also warrants buyer attention, Compo said.

"If it has three layers of shingles, the next time the roof needs repairing will mean removing the existing layers," she said. Also check areas around roof pipes, chimneys and roof flashing sealed.

Homeowners should also check wiring — are plugs three-pronged and polarized? — and plumbing — old galvanized piping should be replaced with copper or high grade plastic.

GROSSE POINTE real estate attorney Ronald Barrows said homeowners should never assume the obvious. "Many disputes can be avoided if home buyers ask themselves the right questions before buying."

Barrows said too often people buy homes without considering the obvious and sign purchase agreements thinking that any problems can be resolved before the home closing. "That's not the case."

Barrows said it is wise to retain an attorney before the purchase agreement is signed. "By statute, (real estate agents) are employed by the seller."

Barrows said real estate agents are not out to cheat home buyers — problems arise out of lack of knowledge. "There's no intent to do anything wrong, they just don't know and don't know they don't know."

One of the problems he encounters most often, Barrows said, is a home location relative to potential headaches that may not be immediately evident. "Is the property located near an airport, sanitation facility (landfill) or wastewater treatment plant) or near a gas station?"

Environmental issues like these, as well as standing pools or large areas of plant life, could indicate expensive cleanup or health problems later, he said.

WHO'S THAT CAT!

Nicole Fleiner

One hot summer day Jacki, the cat, was sprawled across the moist green grass listening to the cheerful chirping of two robins in the pine tree nearby.

The robins sounded good, and they looked good to eat, too. Jacki was hungry!

The smell of the next door neighbor cooking hot dogs made Jacki even hungrier.

As Jacki lay on the grass thinking about food, she noticed her owners, the Andersons, loading their car!

They were carrying flags, lawn chairs, and a big picnic basket!

"Food!" thought Jacki.

"Picnic baskets always have food in them."

Jacki couldn't bear the smell of chicken and tuna sandwiches any longer. She thought she would just hop in the car trunk and see if she could steal a bite to eat. So she did.

After eating three chicken legs and two tuna sandwiches, Jacki fell asleep curled up in the back of the car trunk.

The Andersons looked all over for Jacki to put her in the house for the afternoon, but they couldn't find her anywhere!

"She's probably under the pine tree," said Mrs. Anderson.

"She'll be okay," said Mr. Anderson. "Let's get a move on."

The Andersons didn't worry much because they knew Jacki could take care of herself.

"Cindy, Cindy!" I snapped to attention. I had been daydreaming, as I normally do in social studies class. I guess it's just not my best subject.

"What?" I replied in my sweetest way.

Mrs. Snyder sighed. "Does anyone else know the answer?" she asked. Heather, my worst enemy, raised her hand.

"Lexington and Concord," she said in her most innocent way.

"Correct!" responded Mrs. Snyder. Heather smiled snobbishly. It was like she was bragging without any words. I just glared.

"Now," said our teacher, "onto the Boston Tea Party!"

She sounded so enthusiastic, I thought I would be sick.

"Oh, boy! My favorite!" I muttered under my breath.

"What was that, Cindy?" Mrs. Snyder said, warningly.

"Huh? Oh, uh, nothing," I replied.

THE MISSING PRINCESS

Sarah Shay

Once upon a time there was a princess that had a unicorn who could fly. And, there was a mean pirate who had a cat.

The pirate took the princess and she screamed, "Help, help!" The pirate took her to an island and put her in a cage. And the pirate's mean cat was watching her in the cage.

Then the unicorn found out she was gone. He made a sign. It said, "The princess is missing. Reward for whoever finds her."

The prince saw the sign and he sailed away to find her.

He looked for three days and three nights. He couldn't find her. So he went to the castle to get the unicorn.

The unicorn said, "I will help you."

Then they went to find her. They both flew over the ocean and they saw an island. They went on the island. They found a cabin, looked in the window and saw the princess.

"Wow," said the prince. "She's beautiful!"

They thought and thought about how to get her out. They decided to get some fish for the cat, so they could get to the cage, but the cage was locked. The princess said that the pirate had the key.

TOO LITTLE AND TOO UGLY

Vicki Palis

Once upon a time, there was a spider named Jan. She made her web on a little boy's house. The boy's name was Robby. He lived all alone. He knew Jan, but he decided he didn't like her much. He said, "I don't like you because you're too small and too ugly to be my friend."

Jan said, "It doesn't matter how big, small or how ugly you are. It only matters if you're nice or not."

Robby said, "I don't have to listen to you. You're only an insect. I don't want an insect for a friend."

Jan got a tear in her eye and Robby went inside.

The next day, a bee flew in Robby's house. Robby was really afraid of bees, because they always stung him. Robby was sleeping in his room when the bee flew in, landed on his arm and stung him. Robby screamed so loudly that the bee got scared and flew away. He was still screaming, "Ahaahhh," even after the bee was gone.

Awards honor talent and effort

There could be another Emily Dickinson or John Steinbeck growing up in the Plymouth-Canton community.

Each year, outstanding writers from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools elementary schools are honored with Laureate Prizes for Literature. This year's authors received medals and certificates during an April 18 awards night.

Young authors write fiction, non-fiction and poetry. Medals and certificates are presented to students in the primary division, kindergarten through third grade, and the intermediate division, fourth and fifth grades.

"We've just completed 10 years," said Luan Brownlee, Laureate Board chairwoman and a learning specialist at Field Elementary School in Canton.

The recent awards are for work students did in the 1989-90 school year. Writers are a year older and some have moved on to middle school.

WRITING BEGINS at each elementary school classroom and culminates with the Laureate Board choosing the top honorees each year. District educators serve on that board.

The program's purpose is to furnish students with outstanding models of writing done by their peers. An anthology is published each year and used in classrooms. Some honorees illustrate their work.

"It's a wonderful collection. It shows that kids are reading from all different genres of literature."

WRITING DOESN'T come effortlessly, and students spend considerable time and effort revising their work.

"They truly do know what writing is about."

The program isn't a contest. Instead, it's a search for outstanding student writing, Brownlee said.

Brownlee doesn't know if the youngsters will become best-selling authors in 20 or 30 years.

"You never can tell. We're certainly hoping."

LAUREATE MEDAL recipients in the intermediate division are: Jenny Single for "Two for Tea in History", Nicole Fleiner for "Who's That Cat!"

Laureate medalists in the primary division are: Elizabeth Martin for "A Long Ride in a Small Car", Jessica Geiser for "Pinky Pig's Problem" and Vicki Palis for "Too Little, Too Ugly."

Jessica Wells received a special award for poetry in the intermediate division. Other 1990 medalists are: Jerry Darow for "The Three-Horned Face Triceratops", Sarah Holmes for "The Flamingo Trip", Heidi Anderson for "The Lost Pot of Gold", Sarah Shay for "The Missing Princess."

RUNNERS-UP in the primary division are: Christine Broda for "Magic Pot of Gold", Krysta Tinsley for "The Little Lost Bear", Katie McKinley for "The Pretty Little Flower" and Robert Cushman for "The Spooky Old House."

Intermediate division runners-up are: Jennifer Zelazny for "The Magic Box", Sarah Bethel for "Malco's Big Adventure", Phil Sands for "The Wizard of Ha's" and Gabe Burnstein for "The Mystery of the Poisonous Hamburger."

Special certificates for poetry (primary division) went to: Kelly Koppin, Christine Broda, Sandy Donahue and Kristina Yates. Allison Bannister received a special certificate for poetry in the intermediate division.

HONORABLE MENTIONS (primary division) went to: Matt Fair for "Mysterious Visitor", Allyssa Good for "My Favorite Family Outing", Kyle Dexter for "Clifford Saves Christmas", Harmony Howard for "The Clumsy Cow", Elizabeth Filios for "The Little Cloud" and Lisa Jasnowski for "Lisa Jasnowski: Famous 2nd Grader."

Intermediate division honorable mentions went to: Julie Furr for "Mom, Me and the Spelling Bee", Andy Weiss for "The Little Me", Emily Fiegenschuh for "My Friend Mink", Amy Sonnanstine for "The Quest", Nancy Kindraka for "The Difference Between You and Me", Kelly Honecker for "Inside of My Heart", Mike Schultz for "The Night Something Landed in the Back Yard", Sam Boyd for "The Flight of Kaya the Gull" and Andrea Clark for "Rosalind's New Life."

THE LOST POT OF GOLD

Heidi Anderson

Once there lived a leprechaun named Sami, who lived in Ireland. He had orange-red hair and he always wore a plaid green shirt and striped pants. He lived with his father and mother. Sami always had bad luck.

One day Sami's father said, "Sami, I would like you to go and bring me my pot of gold. It is hidden in the secret passageway by the cherry tree."

"Okay," Sami said, sounding very proud. So off he went to the secret passageway by the cherry tree. After a while he came to the tree. He pushed a tree branch and went down the long skinny stairs. Soon he found the pot of gold. He carried it up the stairs very carefully. After carrying the pot for awhile, he came to a gigantic acorn tree. The tree was as tall as a three story building. Sami yawned and said, "Boy, I'm sleepy. I think I'll take a snooze." And with that he fell asleep.

While Sami was sleeping, an evil leprechaun, who put magic spells on the good leprechauns, came up to the gigantic acorn tree. Once he saw Sami and the pot of gold he said, "Well, well, well, look at this leprechaun and his pot of gold." With that, he took the pot of gold and disappeared.

Logging

Rockabye baby on the treetop.
All of this logging has got to stop!
We breathe in what trees breathe out.
That's what nature's all about.
Trees are ruined every day

A Walk on the Beach

The waves are in the icy sea,
They like to splash and tickle me.
Driftwood washes up on land,
As I make footprints in the sand.
But now they're gone without a trace,
Water rolled up and took their place.

PINKY PIG'S PROBLEM

Jessica Geiser

Once there was a pig who did not have a curly tail like all the other pigs.

"I want a curly tail," said Pinky the pig. "Why?"

"I will be like other pigs and be more cuter and more popular," said Pinky.

Pinky cried and cried. "What is a pig to do?" said Pinky and went to bed.

The next day, she went to the beauty parlor to get a permanent on her tail. The perm lasted for a week, but then her tail went straight as a stick.

Next she decided to try to curl her own tail with a curling iron. It worked for two weeks. Then she went out to play with the other pigs.

She asked them if she could play now that her tail was curly. Just then the curl popped out.

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed all the other pigs.

Pinky cried, and went back inside. Pinky said to herself, "Why is my life so hard?" Then Pinky fell asleep. The next day she went to the pig doctor to get some vitamins. She took them for four weeks.

The vitamins worked and her tail stayed curly for four weeks.

When she got home she went out to play with the other pigs. "Oh dear," said Pinky to herself. "I need to get some more vitamins. It has been four weeks already." She was almost in her house when her tail went straight as a stick again.

THE FLAMINGO TRIP

Sarah Holmes

Once there was a family of flamingoes. There were four flamingoes in the family. Their names were Freddy, the dad's name, and Betty, the mom's name, Kerry, the girl's name, and Jonathan, the boy's name. They lived in Greenland. They liked to eat green things.

One day they went to Purpleland. There were no green things to eat so they couldn't eat. They only liked to eat green fruit, and they looked for green fruit, but they couldn't find any green fruit.

And they only liked to eat green vegetables so they looked for green vegetables, but they couldn't find any green vegetables.

They got so hungry, they decided to try the purple food. They were surprised that it tasted the same as the green food. For the rest of the vacation they felt good and they enjoyed the purple food.

When they returned to Greenland they got so hungry for purple food they looked for purple food, but they couldn't find any purple food. So Kerry said, "remember the purple food tasted like the green food."

The moral of this story is to try other things. You may like them.

Elizabeth Martin

Once Beth and Mom picked up Mrs. A., and Beth had the backseat all to herself.

First, they dropped off Mrs. A. at her doctor's office and parked at the library. All of the books were interesting. They had full arms when they were through.

Now Beth had to share the backseat with 25 books! Then they picked up Mrs. A. at the doctor's office.

To help her out, they took her to the supermarket for groceries. Now Beth had to share the backseat with 25 books and two bags of groceries!

To celebrate Mrs. A's good doctor's report, they went to the farmers' market. Beth had to share the backseat with 2 bags of groceries, a mum, 2 pumpkins, 3 gourds and 25 books!

"Thank you so much," called Mrs. A. as they dropped her off with one bag of groceries. When they got home, Beth couldn't even get out of the backseat.

Mom unpacked the 25 library books, the one bag of groceries, the mum and the two pumpkins. Then she unpacked Beth who was holding her 3 gourds.

"Whew," said Beth. "That was a long trip! I'm glad to be home."

THREE-HORNED FACE TRICERATOPS

Jerry Darow

Hi! I picked Triceratops to tell you about because I know him the best and he's my favorite dinosaur.

Who discovered Triceratops? Two scientists discovered Triceratops' bones. They discovered it 100 years ago. Their names were Edward Cope and Othniel Marsh. They were friends until they both wanted to be the best at bone collecting. Edward is the one who named him. The name he picked was "Triceratops." It means 3 horned face. Here's how to say it - (try SARE a tops).

Where Triceratops lived. Triceratops lived in Montana, Wyoming and Canada. He died 70 million years ago.

Unusual facts: Triceratops might have been one of the last dinosaurs living. Like modern rhinos today, Triceratops lived in herds. They protected themselves by fighting or running. When they were in trouble, they went in a circle and put the babies in the middle. Tyrannosaurus

America's New Business Newspaper

BONUS OFFER

We want you to try Investor's Daily for 12 weeks... to prove to you that reading Investor's Daily will keep you abreast of business better and help you to invest your money smarter... so, we're offering you a valuable gift... FREE:

"A GUIDE TO INVESTOR'S DAILY" ...an instructive audio cassette, showing you how to use the professional market data in Investor's Daily. You'll learn how Investor's Daily helps you to spot and track the "real" growth opportunities in the market... in common stocks, mutual funds, stock options and more.

You CAN make money in the market... if you have an intelligent strategy and the right investment tools... reading Investor's Daily can help.

The EXCLUSIVE Market Data You Get In Investor's Daily

No publication in America -- not The Wall Street Journal, not Barron's -- can match the array of "actionable" market data and research that you get in each issue of Investor's Daily, in easy-to-use tables, charts and graphs.

"Smarter" Stock Tables -- Monday-thru-Friday, Investor's Daily gives you a virtual "databank" of exclusive information in its stock tables... NYSE, AMEX, OTC/NASDAQ. At a glance, you'll spot all of the day's gainers & losers and every stock that hit a new high or fell to a new low.

PLUS, Investor's Daily gives you 3 key measurements to track and compare over 6,000 listed stocks daily... on price performance, per-share-earnings growth and changes in a stock's daily trading volume, to alert you to unusual buying or selling.

Whether you currently invest in common stocks, mutual funds, stock options or commodities, subscribing to Investor's Daily can give you an edge.

And subscribing to Investor's Daily will save you time. In just minutes of reading time each day, Investor's Daily will update you on all of the important business news you need to know... from Washington, Wall Street and across the major capitals of the world. Accurately. Concisely.

YES, please enter my subscription to Investor's Daily. I understand that I will receive an audio tape... "A Guide To Investor's Daily".

Maintaining good health: It's a goal that'll last for a lifetime

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Karen Gears knows that good health means a lot to Plymouth-Canton residents.

"I think people are interested in taking care of themselves," said Gears, non-medical coordinator for this year's Project Health-O-Rama at Starkweather Center in Plymouth.

There's more awareness of the importance of good nutrition and other good health habits.

She was pleased with the turnout at Project Health-O-Rama, which took place Tuesday, April 30, at Starkweather. The annual project offers many free or inexpensive health tests.

"It's an excellent way to get low-cost testing," said Gears, one of the Plymouth-Canton Community Education staff members who worked on Project Health-O-Rama.

"The convenience of having all the tests in one place too is another reason they come," said Gears, a Plymouth resident. "I think it helps quite a few people and I would like to see it continue."

FREE TESTS included blood pressure reading, vision screening, pulmonary functioning, podiatry screening and glaucoma testing. Skin cancer screening and height and weight measurements were available free of charge, as was screening by a dentist for oral cancers.

Low-cost tests offered were colorectal cancer screening and blood testing.

The project is sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, Blue Care Network of Southeastern Michigan, WXYZ-TV and the United Health Organization/United Way. Starkweather has been the local Project Health-O-Rama site for the past several years.

Ronda Violi, a registered nurse at Oakwood Hospital, was the medical coordinator for the Starkweather site. She has also noticed the program's popularity through the years.

'It has a lot to do with health insurance benefits.'

'IT HAS A lot to do with health insurance benefits," said Violi, a Canton resident.

Some tests aren't covered by insurance plans, so Project Health-O-Rama is an appealing alternative. Not having to make an appointment appeals to some, she said.

Many senior citizens come to Project Health-O-Rama each year, although younger and middle-aged people also take advantage of the opportunity. Health tests are available for those age 18 and older.

A NUMBER OF staffs and volunteers from Oakwood Hospital and Oakwood Canton Health Center help out, as do other health care professionals and volunteers.

Plymouth-Canton Community Education students do their part. Medical assisting students, under the supervision of program instructors and registered nurses, help with medical tests. Business students handle clerical tasks.

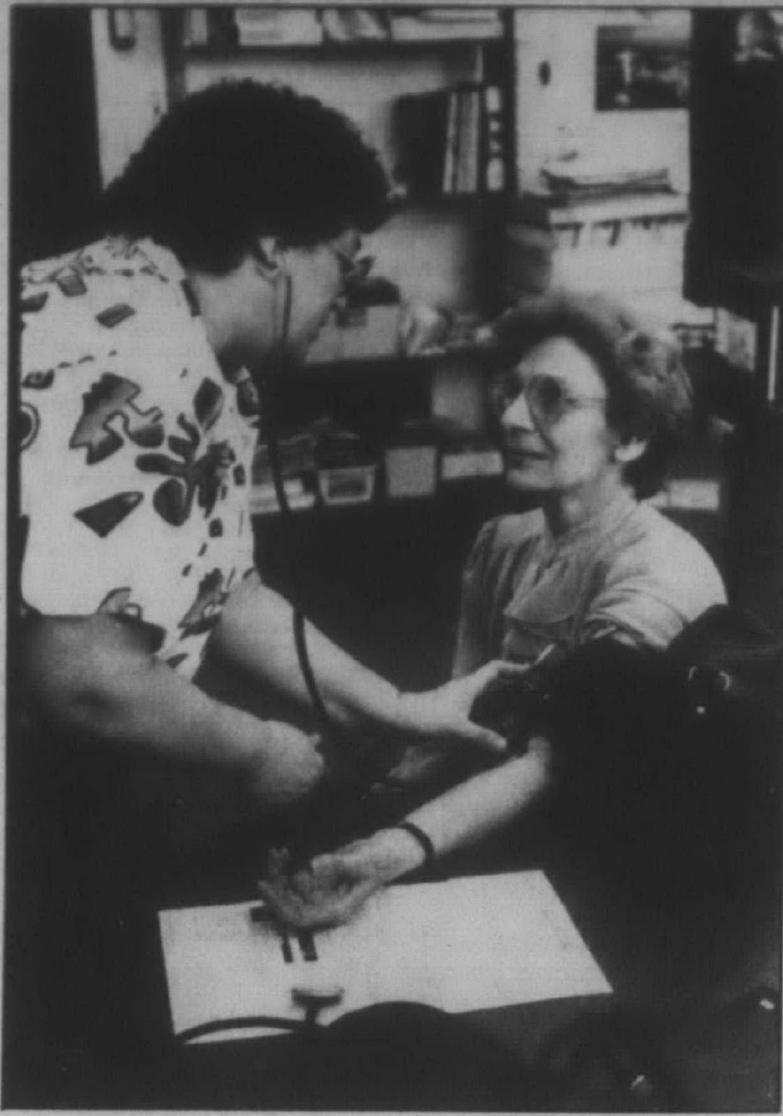

Project Health-O-Rama includes follow-up procedures for cases where a problem is found.

Counseling and referral are available for those found to have high blood pressure or other health problems. Those with life-threatening problems are notified as quickly as possible.

VIOLI TOO has seen increased interest in maintaining good health.

"I think through education, basically, they're aware of it."

Those who set a good example by eating nutritious foods, exercising and not smoking motivate others to do the same, she said.

Arts council plans series of classes

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will offer summertime art classes for children and adults. Classes are scheduled to begin the week of June 17.

Children's classes will be: "Creative Expressions," for ages 6 and up; pottery, for ages 7 and up; mixed media, for ages 7 and up; and papier-mache, for ages 7 and up.

"Creative Expressions" will be at the Wilcox Mill park area in Plymouth. Pottery sessions for children will be in Room 1204 of Plymouth Salem High School, on Joy west of Canton Center in Canton.

The two other classes for children will be at the PCAC office, 332 S. Main (above Wilts's Pharmacy), north of Ann Arbor Trail in downtown Plymouth.

SUMMER CLASSES for adults will include oil painting, watercolor, figure drawing and pottery. Pottery sessions will be in Room 1204 of Salem High School. The three other classes for adults will be at the PCAC office in Plymouth.

A "Wearable Art" workshop for adults will be at the PCAC office.

Registration can be completed by mail or in person at the office, 332 S. Main in Plymouth. For more information, call 455-5260 9 a.m. to noon weekdays.

WHAT EVERY MAN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT IMPOTENCE.

IT'S TREATABLE.

The real tragedy of impotence is letting it go untreated even one more day. Stop denying yourself and your sexual partner an important part of your life. Impotence can be treated in almost every case.

The STAR* program developed by Grace Hospital provides complete diagnosis and treatment of male impotence. This confidential program is directed first at determining the cause of the problem. Diseases such as diabetes, cancer, multiple sclerosis and problems with prostate, heart and high blood pressure are common causes. There are many others. Injuries to the spinal cord, and low hormone levels can also cause erection failure. So, too, can fatigue, alcohol, drugs, smoking, stress and depression. Medicines used to treat such things as depression, high blood pressure and ulcers can be part of the problem. Age alone is not a cause of impotence. And, yes, some impotence problems are psychologically based; even organic impotence has an important psychological component that requires identification and treatment. An accurate diagnosis is the key to effective treatment. Sometimes, only a change in medication is needed. More serious problems may require surgery. But help is available. Complete, confidential and supportive. Call today and talk to one of our professionals.

Power of prayer: source of strength

By Julie Brown
staff writer

WHEN IT comes to the power of prayer, Bruce Dishnow is a believer. "We need to become signers of the declaration of dependence, dependence on God," said Dishnow, director of Campus Crusade for Christ at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

"The first step is to humble ourselves and pray."

Dishnow lives in Ann Arbor with his wife and four children. He spoke during the Canton-Plymouth prayer breakfast Thursday, May 2, at Fellows Creek Golf Club in Canton. The get-together was held to recognize National Day of Prayer.

Dishnow told a story of his daughter who came home from grade school one day and described her teacher's reluctance to mention God in the classroom. He spoke with the teacher, and discovered she and her colleagues were under pressure to refrain from discussing God. "I felt more sorry for her."

IN THE LAST 30 to 50 years, the "slippery slope" has led downhill, he said. The quality of family life has deteriorated, and many young people don't know of the nation's religious heritage.

"There we go again, signing the declaration of independence from God. We are paying for that," Dishnow said. For many, religion is no longer recognized as a positive force in everyday life.

In 1940 or thereabouts, major problems in school included talking, gum chewing, running in halls, littering and wearing inappropriate clothing. In 1991, drug and alcohol abuse, pregnancy, teen suicide, rape, robbery and assault have replaced those as major problems.

"One generation in time," Dishnow said. "That's where the slippery slope is taking us."

The situation's grim but not hopeless. It's essential to become a mature, informed activist, he said. One grand illusion "is the myth of human self-sufficiency."

Praying — for marriage, children, work, government leaders and an eternal relationship with God — is important. Prayer's vital and yet can be difficult.

"It's because it goes against our inner foolishness of pride. God is opposed to pride."

Bruce Dishnow of Campus Crusade for Christ chats with Tom Yack, Canton Township supervisor, during the breakfast.

The National Day of Prayer observance attracted many people from the Canton-Plymouth community.

HE NOTICED an increased interest in prayer during the recent Persian Gulf war. "Prayer became a national pastime. We don't see that during other times."

It's important to think about what it takes to enter heaven, he said. A lifetime of accomplishments isn't what matters most to God.

"Heaven is a gift to be accepted, because of what Jesus Christ has done. We have great hope, great hope, because we've got a great God who has given us great promises."

About 115 people came to the breakfast, the first such National Day of Prayer observance in the Canton-Plymouth community. The morning included a musical performance by the Geneva Ensemble of Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton.

Representatives from a number of area churches participated. The Rev. George Charnley, pastor of St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton, gave the invocation. The Rev. Dr. Jerry Yarnell, pastor of St. Michael Lutheran Church in Canton, gave the benediction and led the extended prayer time after the breakfast.

The national observance has been held for 40 years. In 1988, following congressional action, President Ronald Reagan signed a bill designating the first Thursday of every May as National Day of Prayer.

The idea for the local observance originated with Claudia Garrett of Canton, a St. Michael Lutheran Church member.

"I thought we needed to educate our people," Garrett said. She was pleased with the turnout, and hopes the event will be held each year, alternating between a Canton site and a Plymouth one.

Garrett enjoyed Dishnow's speech.

"I thought he was excellent. He hit a lot of nails on the head."

The National Day of Prayer program provides an opportunity to draw people from all walks of life and different denominations, she said. Church representatives helped with planning, with Canton Community Foundation leaders helping to coordinate the event.

People often need such a reminder of the power of prayer in daily life, Garrett said.

"Oh, definitely. That's why I think this helps make us mindful of where we've come from and where we're going."

The Geneva Ensemble performs during the prayer breakfast.

Illusions

Honest reporting: It's what we need

Our recent war highlighted a number of lessons that apply to life in general as well as the battlefield in particular. One such lesson was reiterated in the wake of another recent battle.

This one was fought with golf clubs rather than war machines. The arena was the sandtrap land of the Masters Tournament in Augusta, rather than the sands of the Middle East.

The lesson that came from the golf in Augusta was, however, akin to the one that came from the Gulf in Arabia: If one would like the public to cheer, then paint the picture in sanitary terms.

A major selling point of the war was the sanitization of it all. Smart bombs, Patriots and lights flashing in the night sky all did well to cover over the horror on the ground. Sortes sounded so much more acceptable than bombing runs. Collateral moral perspectives

damage softened the reality of dead bodies, torn limbs and crying children.

APPARENTLY ONE newsman did not study the lesson. When Mitch Albom (Detroit Free Press) reported on the Masters Tournament, he raised the issue of racism in the sands of Augusta. It did not go well with some readers who believed that such reporting tainted the august tournament. One reader suggested that Augusta remains sacred ground. When life is diminished in other parts of the world we are quick to come to the rescue of the victims. It fills our hearts with a sense of righteousness.

Recognizing the diminishment of life in our own back yard, however, is not always as rewarding — at least in the short run.

TREATING OTHER people as objects is as wrong on a golf course as it is in a desert. Both aggression, the likes of Saddam Hussein and racism, do just that. They cause people to be treated as objects. Ask Isiah Thomas about his recent shopping trip.

Places are not sacred. Neither are traditions. The people whose lives revolve around events, and places, and traditions bring the sacredness with them. When it is denied them, regardless of the arena, something inhuman is happening.

Some suggested that this sort of thing does not belong in a sports column. Perhaps that is part of the reason why various forms of man's inhumanity to man are allowed and helped to continue. We divide life into neat compartments. We have sports perspectives and economic perspectives. We consider social perspectives and war perspectives.

WE ALSO are willing to discuss, at least sometimes, moral perspectives. But in doing so we often forget that life loses something when we insist on leaving the moral perspectives out of those areas of life where their discussion may cause discomfort.

If moral perspectives do not belong in our reflections of sports, then sports is little more than an escape from the responsibility we all have to make this world a more humane place, be it in a desert or on a golf course.

Sanitary reporting is not reporting at all. It is the creation of an illusion, the kind of which numbs us to the realization that all is not well in those corners of the world we would like to think it is.

It is hoped a lot more reporters will fail to learn the lesson that life must be sanitary to sell. Comfortable people are seldom moved to change things for the better. Maybe we need more reporters to disturb us.

The Rev. Robert Schaden is with the Newman House campus ministries at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Science offers fun, challenges for kids

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Science is a challenging field, but local middle school students are up to the challenge.

This is the third year a Science Challenge has taken place for sixth through eighth graders from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. This year's district finals were Wednesday, May 1, at Central Middle School in Plymouth.

The program's primary goal is to encourage students to get interested in science, "seeing that it can be fun," said Vicki Maciag, a science teacher at East Middle School in Plymouth and Science Challenge committee chairwoman.

More than 250 students from Central, East, Lowell and Pioneer participated in last week's district finals. Different events are developed for each grade level, and planning goes on throughout most of the school year.

TEACHERS CONDUCT events in the classrooms and choose class representatives. Students are then chosen from each school to participate in district finals.

"Now they're here to represent the district," Maciag said.

Events in the Science Challenge are based on the school science curriculum.

"It's all classroom- and student-oriented."

Competition isn't emphasized, and all participants receive ribbons.

DURING ONE event, eighth graders measured a variety of items using metric units. In another, sixth graders played "Science Art," a game similar to the popular "Win, Lose or Draw." They drew pictures while teammates did their best to come up with the correct scientific terms.

Different events were designed for each age group. Sixth graders participated in a team relay in which they answered science questions. Seventh graders got more difficult questions, and the eighth grade relay required student teams to build functioning electrical circuits.

Science Challenge financing comes from grants given to improve science opportunities in school, including money from the Talented and Gifted program. Science Challenge is designed to be fun, but it also has a message, said Maciag, a Canton resident.

Students learn about how math and science relate to career choices later in life. They learn of the benefits of continuing with math and science studies through high school.

"I think it is very important. They have to realize there are a lot of choices out there," Maciag said.

ADAM De GIORGIO, 12, a sixth grader at Lowell Middle School, found some of the science questions were tough. He liked participating in the Science Challenge relay.

"You get to get out and walk around while you're learning."

Adam is considering a career in science, and got a head start on that at last week's district finals.

"My teacher, he's really helped us," Adam said of Lowell teacher Daniel Carr. "He's given us time to study. He's been like a coach."

Kim Reeder, 13, a Lowell seventh grader, enjoyed the session in which students propelled balloon rockets down a string. She's not thinking about a career in science, but enjoyed Science Challenge.

"I think it's very good," Kim said. "It's a lot better than a regular school day."

Seventh grade winners are: Dave Walker and Mike Murphy of Lowell for "Crust Builders"; Rob Hart and Jason Rourke of East for "Launch a Rocket"; Gary Neino of Lowell for "Massively Metric"; and Melissa Coletta, Poonam Desai, David Mowery, Jay Wasalaska and Anthony Pastor of Central for the relay.

Eighth grade winners are: Ben Hess of Lowell for "Chemistry 101"; Mike Mautone, Hank Matsu-mae and Kevin Markman of Pioneer for "King of the Mountain"; Nate Rozof and John Meyendorf of Pioneer for "Metric Measurement"; Dennis Bixler, Demian Flores, Joe Casoglos, Justin Holforty, Matt Bevevino and Matt Valerio of Pioneer for the relay.

MOT BOOSTERS

The International Opera Theatre has a new outreach group, dubbed the Bacchantes, announced David DiChiera, general director.

The group's objectives are both to educate and attract younger audiences and help them feel comfortable with the notion of attending and supporting opera.

The group is "innovative, full of exciting, fun ideas to introduce people to opera and provide them with the information to fully enjoy MOT productions," said Sharon Giota, who chairs the Alliance of Volunteers of Michigan Opera Theatre.

The name Bacchantes is based on the mythological tale about the followers of Bacchus, the Greek god of wine and revelry, who is often associated with theater.

"The intention is to bring the young professional types to the opera and to make them both comfortable with and excited by the prospect," said Rick Carmody, who is co-chairing the "Madama Butterfly" reception and is a steering committee member for the new volunteer group.

"Some people have an impression that opera is stuffy and inaccessible. That is just not true."

The group's first major event has been scheduled in conjunction with the upcoming MOT production of "Madama Butterfly."

This event provides the Bacchantes with preferred seating for the Friday, May 17, presentation at the Masonic Temple Theatre and includes a pre-performance reception at the Detroit Artists Market.

The reception begins at 5:30 p.m. and the performance is at 8 p.m. The performance is sung in Italian with projected English surtitles.

In keeping with the Oriental theme of the popular opera, Japanese foods and music will set the stage for the event, which will also serve to familiarize patrons with the story and music of Puccini's "Madama Butterfly."

For tickets, call Kurt Howard at 874-7850 weekdays.

ART AUCTION

The Scarab Club annual art auction will be Sunday, May 19.

The silent auction will be 5-7 p.m. The live auction will start at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are $25 per person (a $10 rebate may be applied to any art purchase). Contributions to the auction will be accepted 1-6 p.m. now through Thursday, May 16, or by special arrangement.

The Scarab Club, at 217 Farnsworth in Detroit's Cultural Center, was founded in 1910 as a fellowship of the arts. It receives no government financing. The annual art auction is the primary fundraiser.

Sales generated by contributions to this auction will be used to support ongoing programs and continuing restoration of the historic clubhouse. Call Darlene Carroll, executive director, 831-1250.

VISUAL VOICES

The Wayne County Council for the Arts is showing Visual Voices, a collection of works from 15 local artists, through June 16 in the Third Floor Conference Room of the Wayne County Building, 600 Randolph, Detroit.

Featured are paintings, sculpture and photography. Painter and art professor Gilda Snowden curated the exhibition. Works from Wayne County Youth Home residents are shown.

ANTIQUE SHOW

A Spring Antique Show and Sale will take place at Universal Mall at Dequindre and 12 Mile in Warren Thursday-Sunday, May 23-26. Show hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Area residents exhibiting at the show include Ruth Heremann, Mary Haggerty and Gloria Siegert, all of Livonia, and Barbara Rudes of Redford. Among the items offered will be tea leaf ironstone (a popular kitchenware from the 1880s), Depression-era collectibles, early 20th century Michigan postcards, and oak furniture once sold through early mail-order catalogs.

POEM FOR PEACE

The International Society of Poets is accepting poems for its "World's Largest Poem for Peace."

The document is expected to be longer than several football fields. It will be presented to the Secretary General of the United Nations after the society's Aug. 16-18 National Poetry Symposium in Washington.

The society also will donate 10 cents to the United Nations' International Children's Education Fund on behalf of everyone who shows support for world peace by submitting a poem.

Send one original poem (20 lines or less) to: World's Largest Poem for Peace, P.O. Box 627, Owings Mills, Md. 21117.

ANTIQUA WARES

M. Hubert & Co. Antiques has opened in Westchester Square on Forest Avenue in downtown Plymouth.

Its eclectic selection consists of American, English and European furniture and accessories; art glass, pottery and metal; paintings, sculptures, silver, jewelry, rugs and chandeliers.

Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. Call 451-1505.

For Mother's Day

A garden patch of gift ideas

Sunday is Mother's Day. When I lecture, I find a book or a plant is more "wished for" than something fattening!
Other items, which will help Mother in the garden, will make her think about the giver as she uses them. So, for a memorable gift, here are some suggestions:

• A set of four small Flower Fairies books, by Cicely Mary Barker, first published in the 1920s (Warne, $5.95 each) will provide quiet moments for reflection.

The illustrations of the plants include a fairy representing each one. Accompanying each Flower Fairy is a poem relating to the plant.

Also available is a set of Flower Fairies postcards, lovely enough to be framed (Warne, 30 cards, $7.95).

• One of the prettiest books for recordkeeping, "An Island Garden Daybook," (Houghton Mifflin, $9.95), includes Celia Thaxter's writings while she gardened on Appledore in New England. The paintings by Child Hassam are exquisite.

• "The Unicorn Alphabet" (Dall, $14.95) was inspired by the medieval Unicorn Tapestries. Marianna Mayer has translated the symbolism, lore and mystery of this animal from A to Z, while the pictures by Michael Hauge illustrate the stories splendidly.

ON TO garden helpers:
A 6-foot snake suspended in a tree is sure to frighten birds from the ripening fruit. An owl may deter rodents. ($5.99 each). Perhaps a lifelike, handpainted housecat will do the trick and make a cute ornament, too. ($15.99)

Dalen Products Inc. makes these and other scarecrow devices, as well as the Trellis Plus, made of heavy-duty nylon netting, which can be positioned for climbing flowers or vegetables so the vines will be supported as they grow. A good idea if space is limited.

A hose-end sprayer to water and feed the lawn down to earth

and flowers (hanging baskets are sometimes difficult) would be a welcome gift.

One that you might consider, by Miracle-Gro, is called the No-Clog-2 Garden and Lawn Feeder. ($11.95, which includes a pound of plant food).

What about Ortho Whirlybird? This lightweight gadget will scatter seeds, fertilizer, etc. in an even pattern throughout the garden ($9.99).

OF COURSE, a big bouquet of flowers will please. What about packages of seeds (and the promise to help plant them) to provide enjoyment as the months roll by? A living plant for the house or garden will bring a smile.

In that regard, Cranbrook Garden Auxiliary is having its 19th annual spring plant sale 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday, May 16.

Michigan wildflowers, greenhouse plants, perennials, herbs, geraniums, sculpture and special painted containers will be available.

Cranbrook Greenhouse is at 380 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. Park at Christ Church parking lot and take the shuttle.

Many volunteers will be ready to assist you with your purchases. All proceeds benefit Cranbrook Gardens and Cranbrook Educational Community.

Marty Figley is a certified master gardener, based in Birmingham. Her column runs the first, second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

Build a nest egg for a life-purchase expenses

By Doug Funks
staff writer

This is a continuing series of buying and selling real estate.

You decide that you want to live the great American dream of home ownership. Before embarking on the quest, know that there's more to buying than coming up with the monthly payment.

Deposit money, down payment, mortgage application fees, points, and closing costs including the escrow account can quickly add up to a mind-boggling sum.

An example. Louise and Chris find a starter home in Livonia. They make an offer of $70,000 and include a check for $2,100 as earnest money to show the seller they're serious about the bid.

The seller accepts, so Chris and Louise apply for a mortgage. Application and processing fees vary among institutions. First Federal of Michigan, for instance, charges a non-refundable application fee of $250 and a reservation/commitment fee of $300 when ownership transfers at closing.

The couple wins approval for a 30-year fixed mortgage at 9.5 percent with a cash down payment of 20 percent. The down payment in this case is $14,000, which includes the earnest money.

MANY MORTGAGES today come with points, essentially lending fees, payable at closing. A point equals one percent of the mortgage. First Federal of Michigan charges 2 points on the mortgage terms selected by Louise and Chris. That amounts to $1,120.

Because the couple is making a down payment of less than 30 percent, First Federal of Michigan requires an escrow account at closing to ensure payment of property taxes and homeowners insurance.

Thirteen months of taxes for a house worth $70,000 in the Livonia school district is $2,091. Add another $300 for a homeowners policy to round out the escrow account.

So here's what Chris and Louise will pay in a few short weeks from the time they make an offer through closing:

- Earnest money when extending purchase offer — $2,100.
- Application fee for mortgage — $250.
- Balance of down payment for mortgage — $11,900.
- Points with mortgage — $1,120.

- Escrow account — $2,391.
- Loan reservation commitment fee — $300.

That's a shade more than $18,000 and doesn't include extras like a home inspection, strongly advised for buyers. Figure on a couple of hundred dollars for that.

Exact application/closing fees will vary and points can be avoided for a higher mortgage rate. But now you get an idea of what you need up front to buy a house.

But that's still not all. YOU HAVE utility connection fees. Michigan Bell charges $42 — payable in advance if you've never been a customer. Detroit Edison requires an advance deposit of $25 to $100 if you've never done business with it or another electric or gas utility.

To save everyone a lot of time and disappointment, know what you can afford and have the cash to nail down a deal.

"Some know, others kind of learn it from a Realtor, some don't know," said Al Marshall, vice president and manager for business development at First Federal of Michigan.

Many financial institutions will pre-qualify buyers before they start their housing search and even guarantee a mortgage rate for a few weeks — all at no charge.

"The amount of housing dollars shouldn't exceed 28 percent of gross monthly income," Marshall said. That includes principal, interest, taxes and insurance.

ALL INDEBTEDNESS including mortgage, car payments and credit charges shouldn't exceed 36 percent of monthly income, he added.

Another general rule of thumb according to Marshall — buyers should zero in on houses which don't exceed 2 1/2 times annual household income.

That means Louise and Chris should have household income of at least $31,100 to buy a $70,000 house.

The biggest mistake most first-time buyers make is getting too much advice from well-meaning friends, relatives and co-workers, said Bob Ogg, an agent with The Prudential Great Lakes Realty in Troy.

"It really confuses them," Ogg said. "They're talking to people not in the field. It could be they're talking to parents who haven't been in the market in 30 years. I always recommend they search out a good agent."

Common elements defined in condominium master deed

I am a member of the board of directors. Recently several of our co-owners have had problems not specifically addressed in our bylaws. In one instance, an exhaust fan in the bathroom was dripping condensation back into the room. The fan is not vented outside but extends into the attic. The association paid for wrapping the exhaust pipe, but now the question has arisen as to who is responsible for the area between the ceiling and the roof. Also, we have a problem with a smoke alarm that is electrically powered that needs replacement. Who is responsible for this — the association or the co-owner? The co-owner replaced the smoke alarm with a battery-operated smoke alarm and then informed the association. We want to get the best protection for the complete building. Should we get the electrical smoke alarm fixed and pay for it?

It is difficult to determine the responsibility for these items without reviewing your master deed documents as condominium documents vary from project to project. In most cases, in a traditional condominium, the area between the ceiling and the roof is a common element for which the association is responsible, but that is not always the case. I can tell you safely that the association should assume responsibility for insuring that the smoke alarms are operating properly to the extent that they affect the entire building. They should not rely on a co-owner to maintain these smoke alarms to the extent that it is within the purview of the responsibility of the association.

condo queries
Robert M. Meisner

I am wondering if you have any suggestions concerning what senior citizens can do in a social manner at a condominium. The board seems to be somewhat unresponsive to our needs.

One of the benefits of living in a condominium can be the social interaction between the members of the association. Many condominium associations have social committees. In some communities, additional activities are often set up for senior citizens. I am even aware of a condominium where there is a condominium chorus comprised of senior citizens. Frequently the community facility or other condominium building is used for card playing or other recreational activities. I would recommend that each condominium establish a social committee and consider whether specifically organized activities for senior citizens is appropriate depending on the composition of the condominium.

THE OBSERVER ACADEMIC ALL-STARS 1991

Thursday May 9, 1991 Supplement to The Observer & Eccentric[®] Newspapers

They tackle it all — a tough academic schedule, sports, volunteer work and part-time jobs — and do it with flying colors.

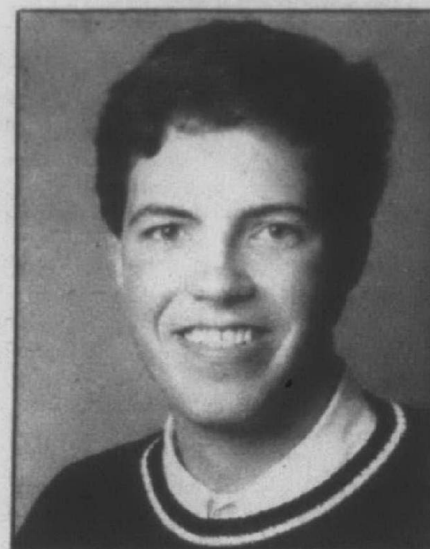

The Observer Academic All-Stars, Class of 1991, are the best and the brightest of local public and parochial schools.

The Observer thanks the schools who nominated students. A note of special thanks to the committee of secondary school principals who selected the students.

Chairing the committee was Robert Schramke, principal at Redford Union High School. Other committee members were Dale Collier, Stevenson High School; Geraldine Kiessel, Garden City High School; Larry Boehms, Troy High School; Gary Faber, West Bloomfield High School; Clayton Graham, Harrison High School; Gerald Ostoin, Plymouth Salem High School and Dennis Connolly, John Glenn High School.

The students are selected based on high school grade point average combined with national test scores.

"If I, as a human being, can truthfully say that I have used my innate abilities to their highest potential, then I can say that I have fulfilled my obligation to society," Richards wrote.

David Winebrener

DAVID WINEBRENER
Churchill High School

David Winebrener has accepted an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy where he'll major in aeronautical engineering.

"For several years, my goals has been to be a pilot," writes Winebrener, a senior at Churchill High School.

Winebrener says he's looking forward to the academic competition, the small class size, the military and leadership training and discipline at the academy.

He was nominated to the Air Force Academy by U.S. Sen. Donald Riegle. His nominations to Annapolis came from Vice President Dan Quayle and U.S. Rep. William D. Ford.

He also has been accepted to the University of Michigan engineering college.

He recently was named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program and received the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Award for Mathematics and Science.

While in high school, Winebrener has spent four years on the tennis team, two years on the cross country team and one year on the wrestling team. He's been active in his church youth group, teen choir and teen musical. He is a member of the Spanish Club, Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) Students Against Smoking Committee, Quiz Bowl team, debate club and varsity debate team.

His academic honors include class scholar, Michigan Math Prize Competition and Michigan High School Math Exam.

He says his parents, James and Jean Winebrener, have influenced his academic career the most because "they have always supported me."

Maya Manian

MAYA MANIAN
Mercy High School

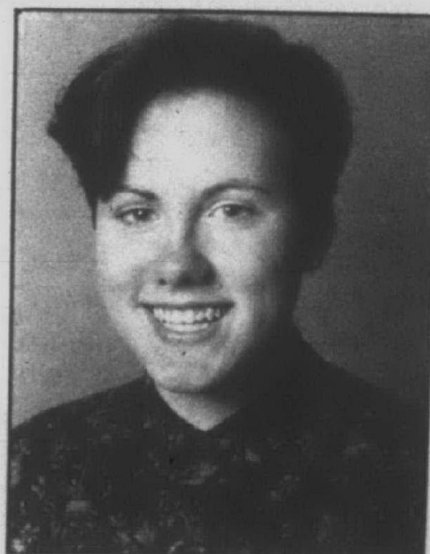

Maya Manian is the daughter of Venkat and Janaki Manian of Farmington Hills.

An honor student at the all-girls school in Farmington Hills, Manian plans to attend a major university and major in English. She also plans to pursue a master's degree.

At Mercy, Manian is a member of the French Honor Society, National Honor Society, ski club, Tamil Sangam and science club. She is co-chair of the emergency committee, a math tutor and a member of the school pastoral team.

Her academic honors include a USAA All-American Scholar Award and a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program. She also received an International Foreign Language Award and qualified for a Michigan Competitive Scholarship.

Manian credits her mother for having the most influence in her academic career because she "encouraged me to do my best academically and otherwise."

Lynn Biberdorf

LYNN BIBERDORF
Plymouth Christian Academy

Lynn Biberdorf of Plymouth has been named to the Observer all-star team for the second year.

A senior at Plymouth Christian Academy in Canton Township, she will attend Northeast Missouri State University and study biology/pre-med. Afterwards it's medical school and more studies in foreign languages and eventually a career in medical missions.

She was co-captain of the varsity volleyball team at Plymouth Christian where she won the sportsmanship award and was named second team all-conference. She also belongs to the student council, National Honor Society, choir, church youth choir and yearbook staff. She plays the piano and is involved in drama.

The daughter of Donald and Janet Biberdorf of Plymouth, Biberdorf has won numerous awards in German at the University of Michigan Festival.

She also has collected honors in math, business, science, English, drama and history. She is a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program and a semifinalist in the U.S. Presidential Scholar program. She also is a member of the Academic All-State Team.

She credits her German teacher Linda Marlow as having the most influence on her academic career because "she never allowed me to do any less than my best."

Anne V. Liu

ANNE V. LIU
Stevenson High School

Anne V. Liu plans to major in chemistry at Harvard. Her undergraduate work will provide a foundation for graduate work in environmental sciences.

She is a senior at Stevenson High School in Livonia where she maintains a 4.0 grade point average.

Driving Drunk (SADD) and vice president of the National Honor Society.

Her academic honors include a National Merit Scholarship Finalist, Presidential Scholar Finalist, Radcliffe National Scholar, Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition (she was a silver medalist in 1991 and among the top 100 in 1990). She took third place in the state in the 1990 Michigan Mathematics League.

She credits her parents, Ting Hua and Elizabeth Stacey, for influencing her academic career.

"My parents had the greatest influence upon my academic career due to the emphasis they have always placed on the importance of education.

Joyce S. Wong

JOYCE S. WONG
Stevenson High School

Joyce S. Wong plans to attend the University of Michigan's seven-year pre-med and med program, Inteflex, to become a pediatrician.

A 4.0 student at Stevenson High School, Wong is the daughter of Robert and Christine Wong of Whitby Street in Livonia.

She is a member of the varsity swim team, treasurer of the French club, Quiz Bowl, National Honor Society and Academic Games Club. She plays the piano, tutors, does hospital volunteer work and is a member of her church Bible study group. She also is a Sunday school teacher.

Her academic honors include finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program, finalist in Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition, honorable mention in Sigma Math Competition, Ford Technological Summer Internship and Association of Chinese Americans High School Achievement Award. She was also on the team that won first place at teams competition.

"All the teachers who have taught me during the course of my schooling have influenced me to want to learn and to do well in school by presenting the material in an interesting manner, by encouraging me and by becoming personally interested in my academic and personal affairs," she said.

Raymond J. Adamski

RAYMOND J. ADAMSKI
Plymouth Canton High School

Raymond J. Adamski plans to attend the University of Michigan and study mechanical or aerospace engineering.

A member of the National Honor Society, Adamski also has been a staff reporter, artist and editor of the CEP Perspective, the student newspaper at Plymouth Canton High School.

His other activities during his high school career have included track and field, cross country, ski club and Model United Nations University of Michigan.

His academic honors include finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program, Regents Alumni Scholars Merit Award from the U-M, high honor roll and U.S. Air Force Academy summer scientific seminar.

He credits his parents and teachers as having the most influence in his academic career.

"They (my parents) taught me to read and then provided some of the books I read to start learning. In elementary school, I had one teacher, Susan Moore for three years, who taught everything, and gave me the knowledge to build on in high school."

Kevin Holmes

KEVIN HOLMES
Plymouth Canton High School

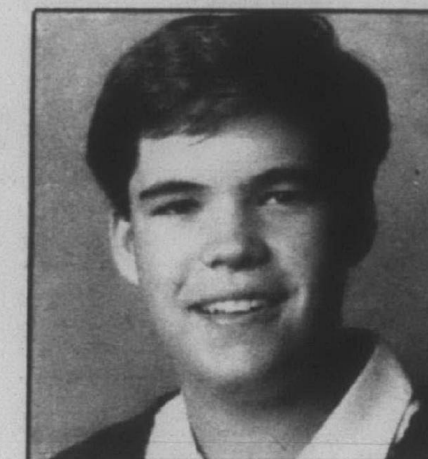

Kevin Holmes is headed for the University of Michigan to major in actuarial mathematics.

A senior at Plymouth Canton High School, Holmes is a member of the National Honor Society and varsity golf and basketball teams. He was captain and most valuable player of the 1991 basketball and golf teams at Plymouth Canton. He also is a member of the computer team, and Social Studies Quiz Bowl.

His academic honors include a Rensselaer Polytechnic Medal for Outstanding Math, Tandy Technology Scholar for Outstanding Math, Computer and Science Student and National Merit Commended Student. He was a four-year finalist in the Michigan Math Prize Competition and among the top 100 in the 1991 Michigan Math Prize Competition.

In addition, he was awarded the scholar athlete award by the Michigan High School Athletic Association and a Regents Alumni Scholar Award by the U-M.

His parents — Robert and Karen Holmes of Parkside in Canton Township — have influenced his academic career because they "stressed a balance between academics and athletics."

Daniel Chamberlain

DANIEL CHAMBERLAIN
Churchill High School

Daniel Chamberlain will attend the University of Michigan and major in business next fall.

In addition to maintaining a 4.0 grade point average, Chamberlain has been a member of the varsity tennis team, ski club, Spanish club, debate club, Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD), treasurer of the National Honor Society, Students Against Smoking and public relations director for Livonia Safe Rides and chairman of the varsity debate team.

His academic honors include being selected as Michigan Youth Congress representative in his junior and senior years, highest honors for grade point in the ninth through 12th grades and a bronze medal in the National Sigma Algebra Contest.

His parents — David and Lila Chamberlain of Curtis Street in Livonia — have been the biggest influence in his academic career because "they always encouraged me and helped me when I needed it."

Nicole Knapp

NICOLE KNAPP
Ladywood High School

Nicole Knapp of Livonia will attend Lawrence Technological University next fall.

A senior at Ladywood High School, Knapp's parents have been the biggest influence on her academic career because "they always encouraged me to challenge myself," she said.

A 4.0 student at the all-girls school in Livonia, Knapp was a member of the French club, music club, jazz band, drama club and treasurer of the National Honor Society.

She is valedictorian of the Ladywood High School class of 1991 and is a gold cord recipient because she has been on the honor roll every quarter.

JEFFREY C. SUNG
North Farmington High School

Jeffrey C. Sung will attend the honors program in medical education at Northwestern University in the fall.

While in high school, Sung was a busy student. He was president of the National Honor Society, secretary of the student council, secretary of the German Club and trumpet section leader of the marching band. He was also a member of the marching and jazz bands, school orchestra, German Club, math league, Science Olympiad, Chinese Lion Dance Club and Odyssey of the Mind.

In addition he was a volunteer for the March of Dimes and American Cancer Society.

He has won numerous awards and honors for marching and symphony bands and in the solo and ensemble festival. He is a National Merit Scholarship finalist and received the English department award as a sophomore and junior and the social studies department award as a sophomore. He was selected to Boy's State in his junior year and has won several awards in competition of the Science Olympiad.

He took first place in extemporaneous speaking and first place commercial as a senior at the University of Michigan German Day.

He credits his parents — Benjamin and Pei-Luen of Farmington Hills — as the biggest influence in his academic career because "they taught me to work hard."
