Serviceman returns home

After serving several months in a hospital on an army base in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, James Pappas, a National Guard Spec. 4, came home to a party May 12.

"We had a pretty good time," said Pappas, 21, of Plymouth Township.

During his stint in Saudi, "I worked in the emergency room, we got in Allied troops. We'd give emergency care and go on ambulance calls."

Pappas, who graduated from Plymouth-Salem High in 1987, had been attending Schoolcraft College, and is considering a transfer to Michigan State; he's studying to be a nurse.

School's birthday

Smith School celebrated its 40th birthday May 8 with a program open to alumni which included an ice cream social, book fair, young authors' and artists' displays and plans for a new playground.

Scholarship awarded

Trisha N. Bansal, of Canton, was named a regional scholar in the 1991 Coca-Cola Scholars program. The Plymouth-Salem student will receive a $1,000 award, renewable annually for four years at the accredited U.S. college or university of her choice.

She was chosen from 60,000 applicants by a selection committee composed of outstanding leaders in business, education, government and the arts.

"Trisha is a mature, talented young leader and we are pleased that she is a 1991 Regional Scholar in the Coca-Cola Scholars Program," said James B. Schultz of Coca-Cola.

League of Women's Voters

The League of Women's Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi is sponsoring a Candidates Forum to acquaint voters with the certified candidates for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education. The forum begins at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 29 at West Middle School, 44401 West Ann Arbor Trail.

Written questions from the audience will be accepted. Omnivision Cablevision will cover the forum.

Advanced Placement tests

During the month of May about 185 Salem and Canton High School students in grades 9-12 will be taking Advanced Placement Exams in 15 areas. The exams are $65 and will be organized by Canton counselor Fred Libbing and Schoolcraft College staff.

It is not unusual for students to participate in more than one exam or to sign up for several courses. Currently, CEP has advanced placement courses in English, Spanish, French, German, U.S. history, calculus, computer science and art. The program is sponsored and operated by strict conditions set by the College Entrance Examination Board.

Hoben testifies before Congress

Excerpts from Superintendent John
Hoben's testimony, 3A

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Had you visited Capitol Hill Thursday, you would have seen not only the Queen of England addressing Congress, but Plymouth-Canton Supt. John Hoben as well.

Testifying before the House Labor, Health and Human Services, Education subcommittee, Hoben spoke of the need to introduce high technology into the classroom, and explained why Plymouth-Canton would make an excellent national demonstration site. He requested $20 million to $24 million of the subcommittee's $57 billion in discretionary funding to convert Plymouth-Canton's K-12 facilities to "classrooms of the future."

"An era of unsurpassed hands-on education is within our grasp if we will but reach for it," said Hoben, explaining how teleconferencing, computers, satellites, fiber optics, video and other innovations can give teachers and students instantaneous access to information all over the world.

Hoben addressed U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth — now the ranking minority member of the Labor, Health and Human Services, Education subcommittee — as well as Appropriations Committee members from Kentucky, Ohio and Minnesota. Hoben also met with chief assistants from the U.S. Secretary of Education's office to review his proposal and federal grant programs.

"There's no way to judge how it went," said Hoben by phone from Washington. "I think we got our message through to them. Hopefully, that will be helpful in some way. Congressman Pursell did an outstanding job of helping us get the door open."

"The members were very courteous and receptive. They have a massive job listening to many people from all over the country," added Hoben, who was preceded in the hearing by former First Lady Rosalyn Carter. Carter testified on the need for funding for mental health research.

Pursell's subcommittee will allocate $26 billion to the Department of Education. Whether and when the department might fund Plymouth-Canton's request is difficult to predict. Frequently, grants go to districts with large numbers of disadvantaged students, Pursell said.

A plus for Plymouth-Canton is the fact that the high-technology educational package outlined by Hoben is the most comprehensive ever presented to Congress, said Pursell. "I'd say Plymouth-Canton can probably get some demonstration funding. We're certainly going to work toward that goal."

The decision will be based on "the merits of the programs proposed."

Prison won't be airing 'freak show'

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

There'll be no "freak show" in Plymouth Township, say state corrections officials.

Officials reject a guard's comment that women prisoners being moved to Scott Correctional Facility at Beck and Five Mile roads will draw spectators, because "They like to flash the cars going by."

The guard, who declined to be named, said this would pose a problem because a large prison exercise yard is just yards away from Five Mile Road — Plymouth Township's northern border.

And once the word got out that hundreds of females were flashing passing cars, motorists would flock to the site, he said.

But prison officials suggest that view is not worth airing.

"We don't anticipate that being a problem, said Lance Shuhmacher, administrative assistant to the warden at Scott.

GEORGE CALVERT, assistant deputy warden at the Huron Valley women's prison in Ypsilanti, said the guard's comment was "off the wall."

"I don't expect there to be a problem with them exposing themselves," Calvert said. "They are the same as they are on the street."

To meet a federal judge's order, state officials are considering turning the Huron Valley women's prison into a psychiatric facility, and some female inmates were transferred to Scott beginning Thursday.

Shuhmacher said 336 female prisoners would soon be housed at Scott. Gov. John Engler is seeking legislation to allow double bunking and a maximum 982 prisoners at the former men's prison.

Meanwhile, Phoenix Prison, just west of Scott and closed earlier this year, will be offered for sale, said Georgina Goss, Northville Township supervisor.

Should the Huron Valley women's prison be closed, Scott would be just one of two women's prisons in Michigan. The other is the Crane Correctional Facility in Coldwater.

Board hopeful schools her daughter at home

"It also says you read for meaning; you don't learn to read just to read. You're taught different kinds of clues to guess what words are. You're not taught how to accurately decode English."

CLEARY SAYS she has friends whose children attend school in Livonia where such teaching methods have been used for several years.

"It took them years to figure out their kids really didn't know how to read," she said. "Some do fine, but I know friends who've wondered why their kids are staring at words. They learned it at school."

Cleary said she's broken no law by keeping her daughter home.

"She just turned 6, and by law I don't have to send her until this fall."

Cases pending in Michigan courts have clouded issues surrounding the legality of home schooling, she added.

Cleary doesn't know yet whether she'll continue home schooling or send her child to Plymouth Christian Academy, New Morning School or elsewhere.

"I'm still deciding. My child is way far ahead. Maybe I'll keep her home. I'll have to wait and see what the law is; that's up in the air now. I'll have to look and make some decision this summer."

Cleary and her husband have two other daughters, Jessica, 4, and Karen, 1.

Newcomer Breen faces election

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

They are the new kids on the block as far as the Wayne County Commission is concerned — but while one was sworn into office Thursday, the other faces an August election.

Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, took office Thursday after winning election to a Canton-area commission seat.

Meanwhile, a Tuesday, Aug. 6, primary and Tuesday, Aug. 27, general election were set for the Livonia/Plymouth area seat held by interim commissioner Maurice Breen, R-Plymouth Township.

Amann, who defeated ex-Canton Supervisor James Poole in a May 14 special election, said he wouldn't suffer "inaugural amnesia".

"I INTEND to remember the promises I made," said Amann. "I'll strive to do the right thing."

Amann resigned as one of county Executive Edward McNamara's chief assistants to assume the commission post. He said he would strive to prove his independence as a commissioner.

Past relationships, he said, would prove "the test of my tenure". Amann replaces longtime commissioner Milton Mack as 11th District representative.

Commission chairman Arthur Blackwell welcomed Amann to the commission but couldn't resist the opportunity to comment on the new commissioner's past.

"The reason I put your office next to mine was so that I could find out what's going on downstairs (in the executive's office)," Blackwell joked.

Breen, a former Plymouth Township supervisor, took office April 18 replacing Susan Heintz who resigned to become director of Gov. John Engler's regional office in Detroit.

No candidates had filed for the 10th District seat as of Friday morning, though Breen is widely expected to run for the seat.

Candidates have until 4 p.m. Tuesday, May 28, to file and until 4 p.m. Friday, May 31, to have their name removed from the ballot.

Hoben testifies in Washington

It's a very professional review process, which is the way it should be. It shouldn't be based on personalities in Congress," said Pursell.

Pursell says he won't be a point man for the plan or usurp the district's staff and parents.

But he's told U.S. Secretary of Education Lamar Alexander that "it's going to be a gutsy fight, because these ideas aren't going to go down," Pursell said. "If we want our students to be up to speed, we have to give them the best information possible."

Democrats will continue to push for funding for costly, traditional programs, "but I think some of it needs to be moved around," he said. Student achievement in the U.S. isn't what it could or should be, despite annual spending levels approaching $441 billion, he added.

While equipping schools with high technology is expensive, "so is building a gym and pool," said Pursell. "I'd rather build the classroom of the future."

Given the global economy and information explosion we now live in, quality education is of paramount importance in America, added the former teacher.

"To be competitive, young people have to be the best in the world; not just the best in Plymouth or the U.S. They need to be competitive, top-flight, and state-of-the-art in their fields."

District praises departing staffers

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

September will bring a brain drain to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, as three staffers begin retirement and a fourth accepts a new position.

Shirley Spaniel, executive director of elementary education, is retiring after a career in education that spans 32 years.

Beverly Marshall, principal of Bird Elementary, is retiring after 23 years, and Dallas Goss, a science teacher at Plymouth Canton High School, is stepping down after 32 years.

William Pearson, principal at Hoben Elementary, is leaving to become assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction in the South Lyon school district.

SUPERINTENDENT John Hoben and board of education members lamented the losses at Monday's board meeting. "This is going to be quite a drain on talent for us," said Hoben. "All have outstanding talent and will be sorely missed."

Hoben said Spaniel's retirement will be especially tough on the district.

"She is well thought of in terms of state associations, particularly the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, and has held numerous offices in that organization.

"She's made a significant contribution in her tenure in the district, as director of language arts, reading and writing, principal of Miller School, and in her current position. The contributions Mrs. Spaniel has made are invaluable and she will be greatly missed. We wish her well in her retirement."

SPANIEL SAID the decision to retire was "a hard one to make. I kind of vacillated." Spaniel said she plans to visit family, travel and possibly do some consulting.

Marshall was Isbister Elementary's first principal, and also worked as Tanger Elementary School principal. She spent several years on special assignment directing the district's instructional supervision program.

"Dr. Marshall has done an outstanding job in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, and also has been actively involved in ASCD and other statewide organizations," Hoben said. "Her contribution to the district has been outstanding, and she will also be greatly missed."

Marshall said she is "very, very sad to leave the district. I have very mixed emotions." Marshall plans to travel abroad for the first time, spend time with friends and on the golf course, "and eventually get involved in volunteer work and probably consulting."

TRUSTEE Carl Battishill, who taught in the Plymouth-Canton schools, said he worked with Goss and found his "enthusiasm for science was contagious; it was very much recognized around the building. Dallas would jump up on the table to explain something if need be," he said. "We are going to miss one terrific science teacher."

Goss, like the others, leaves his job with mixed emotions. "I love it, and I'll miss it," he said in a letter to the superintendent, "but I'll especially miss those, like you, with whom I've worked these many years."

Hoben called Pearson "a motivated practitioner who has done an outstanding job in teacher training and in the administration of a new school."

"I know he will be successful in his endeavor, and we wish him well."

Pearson said he leaves with "very good memories of the students that I taught at Pioneer Middle School and Eriksson Elementary."

"I'VE HAD the opportunity to work with many quality profesal educators and some very supportive parents throughout the years" at both East Middle School as assistant principal and Hoben Elementary as principal.

"I've been really fortunate to work in Plymouth-Canton schools; it's prepared me for this next endeavor in South Lyon," he said. "I'll be working real closely with Public Act 25 on school improvement planning and instructional strategies for the benefit of students. It's a very good opportunity and I'm looking very much forward to working in that school district."

Along with the departures comes a new arrival, that of Roy Anderson as the district's chief of security. Anderson replaces Jim Collins, who accepted a job in industry.

Anderson, who is retiring from the Michigan State Police, wasted no time getting started. He's on the committee organizing the seniors' upcoming all-night graduation party.

Shirley Spaniel, executive director for elementary education, says the decision to retire was a hard one.

Stressing a need

Hoben pushes for technology in classrooms

Here are excerpts from Superintendent John Hoben's testimony, presented Thursday to the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education:

"Plymouth-Canton, the ninth-largest school district in Michigan, has been on the cutting edge of innovation for years. We have the only school district to have a secondary educational park with two high schools housing nearly 5,000 students on the same site. This was planned to keep from de facto segregations and to share expensive facilities with the consequent saving from economies of scale.

"We are an outcome-based school system. We believe and demonstrate that all students can learn and succeed." One Plymouth-Canton program provides a "contract between student and teacher which proposes that each student will master at least 75 percent of the course content, or will keep working until that minimum or better is achieved. This provides students with a second or third chance to achieve mastery of the subject matter. The results have been phenomenal. Not only have most students achieved well above what they thought possible, they have also developed enhanced self-esteem as a result of their success."

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools "warrant our diploma, guaranteeing that our graduates will have skills in reading, writing, language arts, computational skills and computer literacy. If an employer finds these skills lacking, we will provide additional training for the student at our expense.

"WE ARE LIVING in a time when mankind's body of knowledge is said to be doubling every 30 months. We have now passed the point when a teacher knows everything there is to know about a given subject. We have arrived at the point where teachers must be coaches, but no longer the fountain of all information which stands in front of a class and pours forth that information on the assembled students."

In addition to a strong basic education, "we need to provide our students with the tools to access and use information by making certain they have reference skills, critical thinking skills and problem solving abilities.

"Large parts of this education can best be accomplished through the use of integrated technology. Moving from the agrarian age to the information age in education is an innovation of monumental proportions. To do this, I believe there are five imperatives we need to consider."

• Vision: "Without vision, education will neither flourish nor perform at an acceptable level. My personal vision is to have the current body of world knowledge, electronically and instantaneously available to students everywhere in our nation. This means not only students in Plymouth-Canton, but also students in Paducah, Ky. and Presque Isle, Maine.

"The vision for technology must integrate educational goals, human resources and technology." Technology can work to solve such problems as teacher shortages in specific subjects, customized instruction, improved curriculum quality and increased productivity for both teacher and student.

• Technology recognition: "We need to recognize that there is now technology on the shelf which is capable of providing the services toward which our vision points.

"We have technology to, in essence, move the media center directly to the classroom. This technology will permit the teacher at the point of instruction to coordinate and control material from a videocassette recorder, floppy discs, films, slides, filmstrips, teleconferencing and technologies yet to be developed.

"Terminals in every classroom can give instructors control of a wealth of video, audio and data resources available at the touch of buttons. This can be done with the ease of operating a standard remote control key pad device. Schools and their students can interact with each other, with universities, state government departments, and business and industry. There are also a number of networks already in place and presently delivering programs and materials.

"Examples of such networks include the GMI Network which is available by satellite, the TI-IN Network which uses scrambled satellite signals for subscribers, and a regional network in Michigan called Community Television Network, which use microwaves as its transportation vehicle. Michigan's M-Star Network is another example of a source which currently provides programming to schools throughout the state.

"While these networks are normally in one direction, with the addition of a phone or video feedback link they can become bi-directional and thereby provide total interactive communication.

"Such distance learning may be one of the most valuable resources which integrated technology can provide.

"Current technology, in the form of fiber optics, permits us to overcome some of the bandwidth limitations of wire and to send far larger quantities of material over a cable the same size as a wire cable used in the past."

• Teacher education: "When a teacher closes the door of a classroom, the teacher determines the level of technology use. In addition to simplifying the technology as much as possible, teacher training must accompany the introduction of integrated technology in order for the technology to have maximum utilization."

• Demonstration: "Given the state of finance in school districts throughout the nation, few districts can fund the integrated technology proposed. Local districts willing to invest in the future should be aided by grants to enable them to establish such demonstration centers.

"Projected costs to produce a fully integrated technology system run from $6,000 to $8,000 per classroom. In Plymouth-Canton, a citizens' study committee has proposed a bond issue with $12 million specifically set aside for integrated technology. It's estimated that this would provide about one-half the funding it would take to make a totally functional system for the entire district."

• Replication: "Ultimately, students everywhere should have the opportunity to use this technology. The electronic pathway to acquiring knowledge is proven every day as we use computers, listen to the radio and watch television.

"Once in place, such technology has the flexibility to be operational regardless of changes in curriculum, school day or any other educational options which may come about in the future.

"Properly using integrated technology in our educational process can help us to maintain educational excellence in districts where it currently exists and to have the tools to work toward educational excellence where it is currently lacking. We owe this opportunity to this generation, the next generation and generations which follow."

points of view

Business, government are flawed in fairness

IT'S FASHIONABLE to say politicians are dumb and inefficient while business people are smart and efficient.

So here are two unfashionable stories to the contrary.

State government's budget is $1 billion out of whack, so Gov. John Engler is proposing to zero out arts subsidies, meanwhile freezing arts grants, right? In the case of several suburban symphony orchestras, the damage could reach more than $9,000 a year each.

On the program cover for the most recent Livonia Symphony Orchestra concert was a sticker acknowledging a grant from Ford Motor Co. Only days before, Ford and General Motors had announced losses for the quarter — that's three months, not a full year — of $2 billion.

As state government stopped its bleeding by reducing its spending, an auto giant maintained its flow.

THE OTHER story was told by a West Bloomfield lady who read my account of state Sen. David Honigman's bill to prohibit local governments from having residency requirements.

About one-fourth of local units require employees to live within city, village or township boundaries.

Only government, said Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, would make a rule so obnoxious and oppressive to personal liberty.

Not so, said my caller, who told of a relative working for a paper company in Louisiana. Executives are required to live in a rinky-dink burg where the company is located. They would prefer to live in a nicer town 20 miles away with better schools.

Assuming the story is true, it suggests private business can be every bit as obnoxious as government is alleged to be.

I HAVE A theory about groups of people. My idea is supported by an insurance claims adjuster friend. He says 85 percent of claimants just want to be made whole; they want their losses covered — no more, no less. Ten percent are shady. Five percent are cheaters.

My theory is that 85 percent of any group — rabbis, nuns, fundamentalists, gringos, Orientals, blacks, plumbers, surgeons, bureaucrats — want to do an honest day's work for an honest day's wage, pay their fair share of taxes and live in peace. Ten percent are lazy or cut corners. Five percent are crooks.

Our figures match. Neither business nor government has any monopoly on brains, fairness and efficiency.

DID ANY OF you receive the same mail solicitation I did from the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts?

Very slick. A lofty and noble case for one of the nation's great collections of painting and craftsmanship.

But an interesting fact was omitted: DIA is the property of the city of Detroit. DIA is the responsibility of the city of Detroit. Any dollar you give for operations simply subsidizes the city of Detroit, which is free to use money like the commuter income tax elsewhere.

Go ahead and write a check, but understand you're just subsidizing Detroit city government.

We have a "truth in taxation" law for local government. We ought to have a truth in advertising law for civic-spirited souls in the Founders Society.

SUZIE HEINTZ, in her new job as head of Gov. Engler's Detroit office, tells the story of an elderly man who came to see her with the offer of some stationery.

Five boxes worth. "It's generic stationery — for the office of the lieutenant governor," he said.

The stationery bears the lieutenant governor's title but no name.

The donor was Hicks Griffiths, husband of former Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths.

"We want Connie Binsfeld to have it," he said. "We like Connie."

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Sexist expressions show us conventional wisdoms

THERE ARE CERTAIN expressions that are slipping out of our vocabulary because they are sexist.

For some, it's good riddance, but when it comes to others, we've tried to toss out some conventional wisdom that has been passed down to us.

One of my favorites is "take it like a man." It says something. It reminds you to be stoic, uncomplaining and able to withstand some pain.

It's just one of those expressions killed by the feminists because it can't be updated. "Take it like a person or take it like a woman" just don't work, for reasons known to many.

But because schools and parents are substituting new, warm and fuzzy language for the old standbys, we're raising a generation of wimps who say things that should be left unsaid, or who talk in that everything-is-wonderful language that nobody understands.

Kids have swallowed so much of this talk that they don't even know how to have good gang fights anymore in the suburbs.

ONE FRIEND of mine who coaches soccer says the kids have been so brainwashed by the "be nice and cooperate" language that they won't mix it up on the soccer field. They're afraid to take the ball away from the other kid because then they wouldn't be cooperating.

I wasn't surprised by his woes. Let's face it, soccer is a fall game for wimps who don't have the guts to play football. It's a nice activity, but it really isn't a sport in America even though the soccer crowd keeps trying to push it. It's just too European. It's a bunch of guys running around in short pants and long socks kicking a ball.

It's just the sort of crowd you'd expect to "cooperate." They don't know how to take it like a man and play football.

When you lose an expression from the language, you lose an idea, a tradition, a mode of behavior that helped carry our forefathers through the tough times.

In the old days, when there was a death, you lost the farm or a war started, you were stoic about things. You took a bottle of whiskey out to the back 40 and howled at the moon for an evening. You took it like a man.

THESE DAYS people join support groups that meet in church basements and drink coffee out of paper cups. There they talk about the pain of whatever they're experiencing. That's taking it like a woman. And while they call them support groups, they're basically nothing more than an updated version of a sewing circle or a ladies aid society.

That was pretty apparent when a group of homosexuals got together and made a quilt with the names of AIDS victims on it. They should have taken their affliction like men, instead they took it like little old ladies in a sewing circle.

Another word that's gone the way of the cigar is henpecked. It used to be applied to men who didn't stand up for themselves with their wives. When I think of henpecked, I think of the father in the movie "Rebel Without a Cause." There he was in an apron picking up stuff that had fallen on the floor.

These days, henpecked has been transformed by the magic of politically correct-speak into "supportive husband." The wimpy, henpecked husband of the 1950s has been turned into the perfect man, er person, of the '90s.

And all this happened because we didn't know how to take things like men.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers.

from our readers

Parenthood is learned

A letter in response to Jeff Counts 'Points of View' article titled "Diapers, child-care don't mix with men" in the May 6 Redford Observer Newspaper.

To the editor: I had to read your article twice. Once because I couldn't believe what I was reading. And a second time to give you the benefit of the doubt, and see if you were being sarcastic and funny. My husband even did the same. And the conclusions were identical. We couldn't believe it but we think you really meant what you wrote. And we were appalled.

I feel sorry for your wife. Bonding is not a scam word and men who care for their children are proud. But it's not because they don't want to look stupid. Motherhood and fatherhood is a learned process. It may be stereotypically the woman who changes the diapers, but not all men are afraid to hold, diaper, burp, feed and care for a baby/child. For men and women these skills are learned. I found your list of "screw ups" disgusting. It's too bad you live in the dark ages. I just hope if you have any sons, your wife is smart enough to counteract any bad influence you have over them so they don't grow up and marry and become a naive father like their own.

In case you haven't noticed, in this day and age, the fact is that diapers, child-care do mix with men! Thank goodness for caring men, unlike yourself.

More Rouge money

Federal grant will benefit area cities

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

The key numbers for Friends of the Rouge are 3,000 and $46 million. The volunteer agency is shooting for 3,000 participants at the sixth annual Rouge Rescue on Saturday, June 1.

Long range efforts to clean the heavily-polluted river were given a boost with announcement of an additional $46 million in federal money to continue Rouge cleanup efforts.

The new federal allocation is expected to go into effect Oct. 1. It is expected to substantially improve Rouge water quality in Livonia, Westland, Plymouth, Canton, Redford and other communities in the Rouge River basin.

The federal money was approved by a U.S. House Appropriations subcommittee. Though full committee and House votes are pending, Congressional staff members said approval was almost certain.

The money will go toward new sewers, improving waste water treatment plants and eliminating outmoded combined sewers. Combined sewers — a chief source of Rouge pollution — dump human waste into the river when heavy storms force other sewers to overflow.

It will also be used to finance investigations into commercial and industrial river pollution, as well as illegal sewer connections.

"ESSENTIALLY, this makes us a test project," James Murray, Wayne County Public Works Division director, said. "We hope to be a role model for other communities throughout the nation."

'Essentially, this makes us a test project. We hope to be a role model for other communities throughout the nation.'

— James Murray

The overall Rouge cleanup involves coordinated efforts of local communities and federal agencies, including the Environmental Protection Agency and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

"What's nice is how everyone's all come together on this," Murray said. An estimated $156 million in federal money has already gone toward Rouge projects.

The $46 million in additional federal money is tied in with money for cleanup of Boston Harbor and the Rio Grande in southern Texas, broadening its appeal in Congress.

Area Congressmen William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, have all announced support for Rouge projects.

Announcement of the new federal money was a highlight of the Rouge Rescue kickoff event held Friday at the Henry Ford Estate, Dearborn.

"It's definitely good news," Larry Coogan, Friends of the Rouge director, said. "It's going to go a long way toward helping with the CSOs (combined sewer overflows)."

At the same time, Friends of the Rouge members are promoting the annual June cleanup throughout many area communities.

"THINGS ARE hopping right along," Canton site coordinator Kim Scherschligt said.

With a goal of 3,000 volunteers, Friends of the Rouge seeks to make the 1991 Rouge Rescue its biggest ever.

Volunteers clear log jams and carry other debris from river banks to trash bins placed near the site. Items commonly pulled from the river include bicycles, large appliances and even an automobile or two.

Volunteers are encouraged to avoid direct contact with the river and to wear long sleeve shirts, long pants and boots for additional protection.

Information on Rouge Rescue sites in Canton, Livonia, Plymouth and Westland is available by calling Friends of the Rouge, 427-1234.

Aid to schools, municipalities will be delayed

State payments to local governments, schools and community colleges will be delayed, State Treasurer Douglas B. Roberts said.

He blamed the "deteriorating cash position of the state operating funds."

Kindergarten through 12th grade school aid payments of $343.9 million due June 3 will be paid 50 percent on June 3 and 50 percent on June 24. Community colleges will get half of their June payments on July 15.

"Because of the recent Court of Appeals decision on the single business tax (SBT) which reduced business taxes by $500 million and the fact that the Legislature has not taken action to rectify the statutory problem caused by that decision, the April 30 SBT estimated payments were $100 million less than expected," Roberts said.

Although the state borrowed $500 million in March, the projected cash deficit in the general and school aid funds would peak in early June without implementing the payment delays. "There is simply not enough money in the other usable funds to manage without delaying payments," Roberts said.

Schoolcraft sets mail-in registration

Mail-in registration for summer Schoolcraft College courses will occur June 3-15.

Day and evening classes are available. Students can pay by check, Mastercard or Visa.

Summer programs include accounting, allied health education, anthropology, archaeology, art, biology, business, chemistry, computer information systems, communication arts, collegiate skills, criminal justice, culinary arts, economics, English, geography, history, library research, mathematics, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology.

Additional information, including a free course schedule, is available by calling 462-4430. Schoolcraft is between Six and Seven Mile roads in Livonia.

BATHING & ARTHRITIS
If you have arthritis, you may be unable to use a tub for bathing because of the difficulty of stepping in and out of the tub. In using a shower, keep in mind the following features:
Even if your grip is impaired, you should have a shower head you can hold by hand. Then you can direct the water between the thighs and to the posterior thigh despite limits in your body movements.
If possible, have a walk-in shower. This type is easier to enter and exit than the tub-shower combination. Place a rubber mat on the shower floor and a bathchair in the shower itself to permit bathing in a seated position.
You should position 3 or more grip bars in the shower-bathroom area. The bars should be installed with you present so their placement will match the way you enter and exit the shower.
Use liquid soap. A bar is difficult to hold, and if it slips from your hand, the soap is a hazard for your step. Bending to retrieve the soap may bring on additional risks. In contrast, liquid soap comes in a plastic bottle that is easy to grasp or pick up and not a danger if on the shower floor.
If possible have someone nearby when you shower. Then you can call for assistance if despite the above precautions, you slip or fall.

No way to avoid crying

It was once said, "The only way to chop an onion is to give it to someone else."

Even with today's food processors, chopping an onion is still a teary-eyed job, especially when removing the lid of the processor after the chop. Short of having a chef-in-residence to do your cooking, one sure way to beat the tears of an onion chop is to always use the sharpest knife you can find.

Seems that when an onion is chopped by a dull knife, the onion juice is squished out of the onion more abundantly than through normal slicing. When the onion juice hits the air, it turns into obnoxious fumes that surely begin the old watering of the eyes.

I have heard rumors about being able to chop onions without tears. That's just what they are, rumors. The old adage about peeling the onion and leaving the skin intact with the roots, to prevent tears, isn't true.

Then there's the one about putting a toothpick in your mouth sideways so that the only pain you feel is in your cheeks. This is supposed to help you forget about the onion odor. It doesn't work. (As I write this, sucking ice cubes trying to stop the bleeding from using too long a toothpick.)

UNFORTUNATELY, for the weak of eye, this indispensable vegetable and flavoring agent is plentiful throughout the year. Generally speaking, the warmer the climate, the milder the onion. I can vouch for that because on a past trip to Georgia, the Vidalia capitol of North America, I peeled an onion and ate it like an apple. Grant you, it wasn't the tastiest morsel I've ever eaten, but for an onion it was surprisingly sweet and full flavored.

Onions come in two varieties, mainly dry (with the green tops removed) and green (with the tops still on and perishable).

When shopping for onions in the grocery store, you will notice various dry varieties. Seldom do fresh Vidalia onions appear in this area, but during harvesting, about the late spring and early summer months, they occasionally make their way to our local produce shelves.

They can be served raw on sandwiches and tossed into salads. They are outstanding baked and stuffed. Ditto for Bermuda onions, again found only during the spring and early summer months. Both varieties have a delicate flavor that is not overpowering and can accompany just about anything it is served with.

Frequently spotted on our grocery shelves are Spanish or Valencia Onions. Theirs is a long season, from August through April. They are noted for their full flavor, especially in soups, stews and casseroles and when served with roasts. The "just-about-do-anything onion" — this is it.

RED ITALIAN or Creole onions are stronger yet than the Bermuda or Spanish with a flavorful pungent flavor that invigorates many sandwiches and gutsy salad bowls. Also known as purple onions, these lend themselves to baking or just served thinly sliced on a sandwich or salad.

White or pearl onions are oval with pointed ends and flaky white to silver skin. The smallest pearls, so delectable in stews, are usually reserved for pickling and being served in martinis. The large variety, called voiling onions, are great in juicy casseroles, ragouts and fricasses.

Did you ever stop to realize that something so basic crosses paths in our kitchens so often and yet offers so many different flavors? Onions are great sliced, chopped, minced, fried, stewed, baked, broiled and even served on White Castles!

NOW THAT warm days are here, like many of you I enjoy being outside as much as possible.

However, during the work week that can be a little difficult. With assignments to finish and piles of files on desks to sort through, it just seems like there is never any time to enjoy the weather. A solution to this problem is to brown bag it to work.

Lunchtime is the perfect opportunity to head out for a quiet shady spot to relax and clear your mind. Just grab your lunch and head outdoors. Some office buildings provide picnic tables for workers and now is the time to take advantage of them.

Relax with your lunch in the park at the end of the street or wile away your lunch hour at a nearby pond and take extra bread to feed your feathered friends. No matter what the location, a bag lunch is an enjoyable way to take in what pleasures a warm-weather weekday has to offer.

The recipes in this article are versatile and easy to make. If you have the grill fired up for a backyard barbecue, try the Grilled Vegetable Salad the next day. Or if you have roast chicken one night, try the Chicken salad or Chicken Tortilla for lunch the next day. Many of the ingredients can be purchased at specialty shops. For instance, the chutney and pate. You also can use your favorite recipe for these items.

Here are 10 brown bag alternatives to add to your lunchtime enjoyment. All the recipes serve one unless otherwise stated.

A different kind of Salami Sandwich: Partly split open pita and line bread with 2 romaine lettuce leaves. Add thinly sliced salami, sliced tomato and red onion. Sprinkle one teaspoon of chopped black olives and crumbled feta into pita. Mix in a separate bowl ¼ cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar, 1 medium garlic clove minced and 1 tablespoon minced basil. Add a desired amount of this vinaigrette to your sandwich when you are about to eat.

Lavosh Club: Place 1 lavosh (a large flour tortilla can replace this Armenian flat bread) on a surface. Spread softened cream cheese over bread. Arrange shredded lettuce over cream cheese at one end of bread. Top lettuce with desired amount of turkey, ham, sliced tomato and 1 slice of peeled cucumber cut lengthwise. Roll bread up tightly jelly roll fashion, starting at end with the filling. Cut roll in half diagonally and wrap tightly in plastic wrap.

Peanut butter with a twist: On a slice of zucchini bread spread a desired amount of peanut butter and top with another slice of the bread. (Any type of quick bread such as carrot or pumpkin may be used to add a unique flavor.)

Country Pate Sandwich: Slice a crusty whole grain roll lengthwise. Spread Dijon mustard or 1 tablespoon of chutney on one half of roll. Layer roll with a slice of your favorite country pate, thinly sliced red onion and a romaine leaf. Top sandwich with the other half of roll. Sweet midget gherkins are a great accompaniment for this sandwich.

Smoked Salmon Sandwich: Lightly toast a croissant that has been cut in half lengthwise. Spread each half with a garlic herbed cream cheese, such as Alouette cheese, and wrap tightly. Carry separately 2 slices of smoked salmon, 1 slice of red onion and a sliced hard-boiled egg and assemble sandwich just before eating. Olives and sweet midget gherkins go well with this sandwich.

Ham and Biscuit Sandwich: Slice a large biscuit lengthwise and layer a desired amount of thin sliced ham atop one half of biscuit. Top with thinly sliced cheddar cheese. Spread on top of the other half of biscuit a desired amount of fruited chutney and place on top of cheese.

Chicken Tortilla Sandwich: Process 1 cup cilantro, 2 cloves garlic, ¼ cup walnuts in a food processor. Add to running machine ½ cup olive oil in a thin stream. Blend ½ cup Parmesan cheese and salt to taste in mixture. Take 1 ½ tablespoons of pesto mixture and spread on top of 1 flour tortilla. Top with shredded lettuce, carrot, shredded cooked chicken, chopped scallion and chopped tomato. Roll in burrito fashion. Wrap in plastic wrap until ready to eat.

Grilled Vegetable Salad: Whisk in a small bowl ¼ cup olive oil, ¼ cup plus 2 teaspoons white wine vinegar, 2 teaspoons dried basil and salt and pepper to taste. Set aside. Slice ½ red pepper, 2 small yellow squash, 3 zucchini and 2 baby elephant lengthwise. Brush with olive oil and grill until tender. Julienne cooked vegetables and place in bowl. Chop ¼ small red onion and toss with vegetables. Drizzle vinaigrette over top. Marinate overnight. Serves 2.

Everybody loves pita bread, not just Middle Easterners

Ten years ago, the Beirut Bakery served mostly Middle Eastern customers who grew up savoring the versatile pita bread.

"It wasn't as popular as it is now," said Iskandar "Alex" Wakim, one of the owners of the family-run bakery based in Redford.

Nowadays, people of all backgrounds enjoy the round, slightly chewy pita, which sometimes is called "pocket bread." Pita may be eaten plain, used as a food scooper or sliced open to form a pouch or pocket, then stuffed with meat or salad.

"As people became educated, the business expanded," said Wakim, who was born in Lebanon.

A visit to the bakery on Schoolcraft Road just east of Beech-Daly can mean a crash course in Middle Eastern and Mediterranean specialties.

There are stacks of the popular pita, so prevalent in Lebanese and Syrian cuisines. There are stuffed grape leaves and tangy tabbouleh, a salad which mixes bulgur cracked wheat, parsley, tomatoes and onions in a dressing of olive oil and lemon juice.

ALSO SOLD is the so-called Lebanese pizza, dough topped with ground lamb, onions, tomatoes and spices. And trays of the sweet, honey-and-nuts confection known as baklava.

The specialties are prepared fresh by members of the Wakim family, who emigrated from Beirut during the 1970s and came to Redford. Although they were trained for other jobs, they decided to open a bakery, "to keep everybody busy," said Iskandar's wife Hala.

"When we started the business nobody knew about bread," Hala Wakim said. "It took a lot of experimenting. This is a family business. It keeps us together."

The bakery opened in 1979 at Schoolcraft and Inkster roads. It moved to its present, larger facility around 1983.

Although Beirut Bakery's breads are available in many supermarkets, "Many people prefer to come here to buy it," Hala Wakim said.

One new customer came in just days after tasting pita for the first time.

"I was on a flight," he said, picking up several packages of bread. "The airline served us a sandwich on pita. It was good."

Pita is made with flour, water, yeast, salt and sugar. It contains no fats or preservatives.

The pocket is formed by steam which is generated during the baking.

The dough is shaped and rounded by machine. It is baked quickly, at very high heat, in a conveyor oven. The dough puffs into a ball. When it cools, the dough collapses, leaving a hollow center.

"IT COMES OUT puffed like a football," said Iskandar Wakim, formerly of Redford, now living in Northville. "The dough weakens in the middle. You cut it along the middle and it will open into a pocket."

Each pita is called a loaf. A large loaf, at 2 ¼ ounces, contains 185 calories. Party pita is somewhat smaller.

Pita is sold in packages of 10 loaves. A 1-pound, 9-ounce package sells for 85 cents in the bakery. Supermarket prices range from around $1 to $1.50 per package. Pita freezes well for six months.

Beirut Bakery is at 25706 Schoolcraft, just east of Beech-Daly, Redford, phone 533-4422. Open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Friday, and 8-3, Saturday.

How to pack a brown bag lunch

See related story, Page 1B.

By Jennifer L. Hill

What goes into the making of a bag lunch? Anything and everything is the answer.

A bag lunch is a picnic for one. This picnic isn't enjoyed high atop a mountain or deep in a valley near a stream but rather in a park around the corner or perhaps just at your desk in the office. Anywhere you have your bag lunch the same parts can be included, a main dish as the focal point and an assortment of side dishes comprised of items ranging from fruits and vegetables to cheeses and desserts.

Here are a few suggestions for side dishes in your bag lunch.

- A thermos of cold soup, fruit or vegetable, is a delightful and refreshing alternative as a side dish. Lunch does not have to be a sandwich or a salad. Soups make a wonderful focal point for a bag lunch. Have you ever thought of cool, refreshing cherry soup when Michigan cherries are in season?

- Salads, such as pasta, potato or bean, you might have had for dinner last night complement any sandwich at lunchtime.

- Pack your bag with all that the season has to offer. Fruits and vegetables are common bag lunch fare but a little added enhancement makes them all the more interesting.
- Celery sticks stuffed with cream cheese and peanut butter or fresh cut vegetable sticks and your favorite dip add crunch to any meal.

- Relish packets made up of such ingredients as marinated roast bell peppers, dill pickle spears, artichoke hearts and olives will give a 1990s deli addition to these lunches.

- Fresh fruit goes well with either salads or sandwiches. It also can be a perfect ending to your meal.

- Fresh berries can be dipped into confectioners' sugar or a mixture of brown sugar and vanilla yogurt. This will add spice to any prelude or conclusion of a lunch.

- Dried fruit, such as apricots, may be dipped in chocolate or dates, and prunes can be stuffed with cream cheese or nuts for your lunch.

- Take a trip to your neighborhood bakery to see what they have to offer. Bakeries and pastry shops have many wonderful items that pack perfectly in a bag lunch.

- Breads, such as croissants, baguettes and brioche, found in bakeries add a special touch to salads. These breads also are perfect if you plan to take cheeses with you.

- Pastries and baked goods are worth the temptation. Cookies, sliced cake, tarts and eclairs are all great to tote.

- You don't have to depend on bakeries for such treats. You can bake your favorite muffins, cookies or quick breads at home. Try adding your favorite herb to a biscuit mix to make an herb-studded biscuit to accompany a salad.

- Scones are an alternative to your basic biscuit.

- To add crunch to your lunch, try one of the following suggestions: bread sticks, matzo, Norwegian flat bread, pretzels, even bagel chips.

- Chocolates add a special touch to a bag lunch, especially if you are packing it for someone else.

Let's not forget the beverages! With so many types of beverages to choose from — sparkling waters

A thermos of cold soup, fruit or vegetable, is a delightful and refreshing alternative as a side dish.

(plain and fruit flavored), sodas, bottled juices and milk — there is a never-ending variety to what you can take. Iced coffee and tea are wonderful accompaniments too. Just remember, if it has a cork, take a corkscrew.

Whether you have your meal on a park bench or under a tree, you want most of all to take an appetite and a relaxed attitude to prepare for the remainder of the work day.

These recipes are provided by the Beirut Bakery in Redford.

GRAPE LEAVES WITH MEAT
1 pound jar grape leaves (available at Middle Eastern specialty stores)
1 1/4 pounds ground lamb or beef
1 1/4 pounds uncooked white rice
1 tablespoon salt (optional, or may use half the amount)
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons butter

Drain grape leaves and rinse with cold water. Set aside. Melt butter and mix all other ingredients. Take 1 grape leaf at a time and put 1 tablespoon of meat mixture on each grape leaf and fold sides. Roll it toward the center. Place each roll seam side down in a large skillet. Finish rolling all grape leaves and add 3 cups water. Cover the pot and place on medium heat for about 40 minutes. Lower heat and cook for another 15 minutes. Serve with plain yogurt and pita bread. Serves 4.

TABBOULEH
1 cup bulgur cracked wheat
1 cup chopped green onions
1 medium white onion, chopped fine
1 cup olive oil or salad oil
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon black pepper
2 large bunches parsley
8 medium tomatoes
2 sprigs of mint (optional)

Cut tomatoes and onions into small pieces. Chop parsley and mint very fine. Rub white onion with a little salt and pepper. Mix all ingredients well, adding oil and lemon juice gradually. Chill. Serve on a platter with lettuce or pita bread. Serves 6.

No way to avoid crying when you chop onions

See Larry Janes' column Taste Buds, Page 1B.

BAKED ONIONS
4 onions, peeled
4 tablespoons butter/margarine
Fresh ground pepper
1 tablespoon fresh-grated Parmesan cheese

On the top of the peeled onion, make a well, using a spoon or small melon-baller. Place 1 tablespoon of butter in each well and sprinkle with pepper. Sprinkle with Parmesan, cover and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove the cover and pop under the broiler until golden brown for 5 minutes. Enjoy.

CREAM OF ONION SOUP
2 cups chicken broth
3 large onions
1 tablespoon flour
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 cups beef broth
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups heavy cream
Salt and pepper to taste

Peel and mince onion. Combine broths with onion and boil for 5 minutes. Strain onion through a sieve. Press out as much of the onion juice as possible from the onion and add to the stock. Return to a boil. Mix butter with flour and whisk to a paste form. Whisk in cream until smooth. Whisk into soup and continue cooking until slightly thickened. Whisk about 1/2 cup of the hot soup into the egg yolks and return mix to the pot, continue whisking until thick. Correct seasonings, if needed, but do not boil.

ONION APPETIZERS
1 medium onion, grated
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup fresh-grated Parmesan cheese
3 English muffins, split
In a non-metallic bowl, combine grated onion with mayonnaise and Parmesan cheese. Mix well. Split the muffins and spread the mixture evenly over the muffins. Pop under the broiler till golden, about 5 minutes. Divide into bite-sized bits. Serve immediately.

Almonds add flavor to quick chicken stir fry

Imagine being a part of a family that has held annual reunions for 86 years, written its own family history book, published one cookbook filled with family recipes and planning to publish a second.

This week's Winner Dinner Winner, Irene Troutman Sutter of Farmington, is a member of just such a family, the well-known Troutman family, whose heritage and history as one of North Carolina's founding families goes way back to 1752. The original family members came from Germany and founded a town near Charlotte which they named Troutman.

Sutter grew up in this town, but moved to Farmington when she got married. She and her husband, Elwood, are the parents of three grown children and now have five grandchildren.

Sutter has been a kindergarten teacher for 25 years at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Farmington. Last year, she had the pleasure of having one of her grandchildren in her class.

ALTHOUGH SUTTER enjoys cooking, the demands of her job don't leave her with a lot of extra time in the kitchen. As a result, she likes to prepare meals that are quick and easy to put together.

After reading my plea for stir-fry dinners, she submitted a recipe for almond chicken stir fry that she likes to serve with rice, saucy gingered carrots, a tossed salad and raspberry apple delight. Besides tasting great, the entire dinner can be prepared in less than an hour, which makes it a winner just on that basis alone.

With the school year almost over, she and her husband are looking forward to attending the 86th Troutman Family Reunion this summer. It should be a good opportunity to catch up with her brothers and sisters, as well as with 300 or 400 other family relatives.

Thank you, Irene Troutman Sutter, for sharing your wonderful recipes with us. Hopefully the honor of being selected this week's Winner Dinner Winner will earn you a spot in the Troutman Family Hall of Fame as well as a place in their history book.

Until next week, all the best and thanks to those who have taken the time to send in their family's favorite menu. Although it is still early, I am looking for recipes that would be appropriate for summer picnics as well as for Fourth of July get-togethers.

Recipes

ALMOND CHICKEN STIR FRY

Quick and easy, this dish can be made in advance up to the point where it is stir-fried.

1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts
2 egg whites
1 1/2 teaspoon salt, or to taste
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 cup cooking oil, reserving 2 tablespoons (if olive oil is used, use only a 1/4 cup, still reserving the 2 tablespoons)
1/4 cup unsalted sliced almonds
4 green onions, cut on the diagonal into 1-inch pieces
4 teaspoons dry sherry or white wine, optional
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 pound fresh snow peas, stems removed, or 1 package frozen snow peas, thawed, 8-ounce size. Regular frozen green peas, thawed, can be used if snow peas are unavailable

Wash the chicken under hot water and pat dry. Cut the meat into 1/2-inch cubes. Mix the egg whites, salt and cornstarch. Add the chicken and toss well so that each piece is well-coated. Refrigerate, covered, for at least 20 to 30 minutes. The dish can be made in advance up to this point.

Heat the oil in a medium, deep-sided saute pan or wok. Add the chicken and quickly stir-fry it. Don't let the pieces stick together. Cook the meat for 3 minutes and use a slotted spoon to remove the chicken to a plate.

Use the reserved 2 tablespoons of oil and pour it into a clean pan or wok set over high heat. Add the sliced almonds and green onions. Stir-fry for 1 minute. Add the sherry, soy sauce and chicken to the pan and stir-fry it for 1 minute. Transfer the mixture to a heated platter and serve with rice.

SAUCY CARROTS WITH WATER CHESTNUTS

These carrots will add a tasty blaze of color to the dinner plate and are a wonderful accompaniment to the almond chicken stir fry.

1 pound carrots, peeled and sliced on the bias, 1/4-inch thick
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can water chestnuts, drained and thinly sliced, 8-ounce size
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
3 tablespoons dry white wine, optional
1 tablespoon snipped, fresh parsley

In a covered saucepan, cook carrots in a small amount of boiling salted water for 15 to 20 minutes or just until crisp-tender. Drain and set the carrots aside.

In the saucepan, melt the butter or margarine; add the water chestnuts, thyme and ginger. Cook and stir for 2 minutes. Add the wine, parsley and cooked carrots. Cook and stir until heated through. Serves 6-8.

RED-TIPPED ROMAINE TOSSED SALAD

1 bunch red-tipped romaine, washed and dried in a towel, torn into bite sized pieces
1/2 cup celery, diced
1/2 cup golden raisins (dark ones can be used instead but the golden are better tasting)
1 can mandarin orange slices, drained, 11-ounce size

Combine the above ingredients and toss with a red wine vinaigrette dressing.

RASPBERRY APPLE DELIGHT

1 cup applesauce
1 package raspberry gelatin, 3-ounce size
1 bag frozen raspberries, 10-ounce size
Cool Whip

Shopping List

- 1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 2 eggs
- Salt
- Cornstarch
- Cooking or olive oil
- Unsalted, sliced almonds
- 4 green onions
- Dry sherry or white wine, optional
- Soy sauce
- 1/2 pound fresh or frozen snow peas
- Rice
- 1 pound carrots
- Butter or margarine
- 1 can sliced water chestnuts, 8-ounce size
- Dried thyme
- Ground ginger
- Fresh or dried parsley
- 1 bunch red-tipped romaine lettuce
- Celery
- Golden raisins
- 1 can mandarin oranges, 11-ounce size
- Red wine vinaigrette dressing
- Applesauce
- 1 package raspberry gelatin, 3-ounce size
- 1 bag frozen raspberries, 10-ounce size
- Cool Whip

Place the applesauce in a pot and heat it until it is just boiling.

Add the box of gelatin and stir to mix it well. Remove it from the heat and stir in the frozen raspberries. Spoon the mixture into individual sherbet glasses and top with a dollop of Cool Whip.

ROASTED RED SNAPPER, CRISP POTATO SLICES AND GREEN BEANS

Four 6-ounce red snapper fillets

AP — For a simple and healthy main course, bake fish, potatoes and vegetables in one dish.

5 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 clove garlic, thinly sliced
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme

4 cups potatoes (about 1 1/2 pounds), peeled and thinly sliced
Salt and freshly ground pepper
2 cups (about 8 ounces) slender fresh green beans, trimmed, cut into 2-inch lengths Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

Place fillets on a plate; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of the oil, the 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, one-half of the garlic and one-half of the thyme. Cover and refrigerate until ready to bake.

inch baking dish. Sprinkle with the remaining oil, garlic and thyme; toss to coat. Bake potatoes in a 400-degree oven, turning once or twice, until edges are golden, about 30 minutes.

Spread the potatoes in a 13-by-9-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with the remaining oil, garlic and thyme; toss to coat. Bake potatoes in a 400-degree oven, turning once or twice, until edges are golden, about 30 minutes. Sprinkle the green beans on top of the potatoes; carefully combine.

Phelps Vineyards expanding

Side dish features the specialty rices

Spring Valley, a small fold in the hills east of St. Helena in California's famed Napa Valley, is home to Joseph Phelps Vineyards.

When the winery project started in the early 1970s, only 175 acres of a 670-acre ranch was planted to grape vines in order to preserve the natural beauty of Spring Valley.

In addition to the Spring Valley ranch, the winery owns a 50-acre parcel south of Yountville and a 30-acre plot in the Stag's Leap District planted to cabernet sauvignon. Additional cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc are planted on 35 acres west of Rutherford. A 40-acre Carneros sight has been planted with full chardonnay production expected in 1994.

Even these diverse holdings cannot satisfy the demands for Joseph Phelps Vineyards' wines, which include chardonnay, sauvignon blanc, gewurztraminer, johannisberg riesling, scheurebe, semillon, cabernet sauvignon, zinfandel and several native Rhone Valley varietals such as grenache, syrah and viognier sold under the Joseph Phelps Vin du Mistral label.

Phelps Vineyards is known worldwide for the vineyard-designated cabernet sauvignons from the Backus and Eisele vineyards. Insignia is a blend of at least 50 percent cabernet sauvignon and, depending on the vintage, may contain 10 to 40 percent merlot and none to 30 percent cabernet franc. Insignia is considered one of the more exciting Bordeaux-styled wines produced in California. The 1987 Insignia carries a $45 price tag.

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

1989 Vin du Mistral Grenache Rose produced by Joseph Phelps Vineyards ($12) is a blend containing five percent mourvedre, another Rhone varietal. The wine is pleasantly peppery and spicy and what we refer to as a "think light and drink right" wine. Serve it well chilled with summertime lentil or bean salads.

1987 Vin du Mistral Syrah produced by Joseph Phelps Vineyards ($16) has distinguished toasted-barrel aromas with lively blackberry fruit character. Intense flavors mirror the aromas in a generous wine with good body, structure and finish. It will stand up nicely to barbecued red meat.

HOWEVER, WHEN you refer to most exciting at Phelps, the Rhone-styled wines are in the fore. Winemaker Craig Williams has a personal passion for these wines. He has been producing syrah under the Phelps label since 1974. Since 1986, the Vin du Mistral (a reference to the windy conditions of the Rhone Valley) has been used as the special brand for Phelps' Rhone-styled wines.

"Our work with syrah has been a journey of discovery," Williams maintains. "We've learned that if we employ production techniques similar to those for cabernet sauvignon or zinfandel, the wine is excessively tannic. We now imitate several Rhone vinification techniques including whole-berry fermentation, stem retention and gentle pressing to reduce tannin extracts."

Today, the wine is recognized as soft and approachable with heightened spicy flavors.

Tavel, a small Southern Rhone appellation, is famed worldwide for its grenache rose. With its recognizable color and fresh, lively, dry flavors, it is best consumed young and well chilled. The 1989 Vin du Mistral Grenache Rose produced from grapes grown in Monterey is a close rival of Tavel (see Wine Selections of the Week).

Condrieu, a small Northern Rhone appellation is the home of the celebrated white varietal viognier. In 1983, Joseph Phelps Vineyards obtained 10 viognier buds from the Experimental Fruit Testing Station in Geneva, N.Y. From those buds, they developed a "mother" block of two-dozen vines that has expanded into a 10-acre vineyard at the Spring Valley ranch. Currently, three acres are bearing and are the fruit source for a scant 200 cases of 1989 Vin du Mistral Viognier.

Production of Rhone-styled wines is miniscule compared to the wines bottled under the Joseph Phelps label, but it should be recognized as a milestone in California wine production. If Phelps and winemaker Williams are able to consistently pull off the exotic wildflower bouquet and delicate flavors of French viognier, we're in for a special treat in years to come.

AP - This flavorful, low-fat side dish shows off the nutty flavors of specialty rices such as basmati and popcorn rice. You will find these rices in specialty food shops and gourmet mail-order catalogs. In a pinch, you can make this pilaf with regular long-grain rice. To make up for the missing nut flavor, sprinkle each serving lightly with toasted chopped pecans or walnuts, but remember that nuts add fat as well as flavor.

Soak the dried mushrooms in enough hot water to cover for 30 minutes. Drain; remove and discard stems. Chop the mushrooms.

In a 2-quart saucepan cook the shallot in hot margarine or butter until tender but not brown. Add the rice; cook and stir over medium heat about 2 minutes or until rice is light brown.

Carefully pour in the chicken broth and the wine or juice; add the chopped mushrooms and celery. Bring the mixture to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 20 to 25 minutes or until the rice is tender and the liquid is absorbed. Stir in the torn spinach and pimiento. Serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 side-dish servings.

RICE PILAF SUPREME

- 1/4 cup dried mushrooms
- 1 shallot, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1 cup basmati, texmati, wild pecan or popcorn rice
- 1 1/2 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 cup dry white wine or apple juice
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 2 cups torn fresh spinach
- One 2-ounce jar diced pimiento, drained

It's not really a meal without a cup of coffee

AP - For some folks, a meal isn't over until freshly brewed coffee splashes into their cup. If you are one of those java lovers, then this dessert is for you: Stir a whisper of your favorite instant coffee into both the filling and the sauce for a double-rich and creamy coffee-flavored dessert. And, yes, to make it even more delightful, serve it with a pot of steaming coffee.

CHEESECAKE AND COFFEE-PRALINE SAUCE

- 1 1/4 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter, melted
- Two 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- Three 8-ounce cartons dairy sour cream
- 2 1/2 teaspoons instant coffee crystals
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter

For crust, in a mixing bowl combine crumbs and 1/4 cup of the pecans; stir in the 1/2 cup melted margarine or butter. Reserve 1/4 cup of the crumb mixture.

Press remaining crumb mixture onto bottom and 2 1/2 inches up the sides of an 8-inch springform pan or 2 inches up the sides of a 9-inch springform pan. Set aside.

In a medium mixing bowl combine cream cheese, sugar, vanilla and salt; beat with an electric mixer on low speed until smooth. Add eggs; beat just until combined; do not overbeat. In a separate bowl, stir together sour cream and 1 teaspoon of the coffee crystals; stir into the cheese mixture.

Turn the mixture into the prepared pan. Sprinkle reserved crumb mixture on top. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 50 to 55 minutes or until nearly set. (A 1-inch portion in the center will still jiggle slightly.) Cool on a wire rack. Cover and chill about 4 hours.

For sauce, in a saucepan combine brown sugar, cornstarch and remaining coffee crystals. Stir in water. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Add the 1 tablespoon margarine or butter; stir until melted. Stir in remaining pecans. Serve sauce warm over cheesecake. Makes 12 servings.

GREEK COOKING

Regarding the article on Greek cooking in Taste on April 29, Olga Loizon says the recipe for Triangle Spinach Pie should not include celery, which was listed as one of the ingredients. The Stuffed Grape Leaves recipe give 1 cup of vegetable oil as an ingredient; 1/4 cup oil can be added to the rice mixture, 1/4 cup oil when water is added. Loizon also says she is Greek Orthodox, not Catholic, as the article stated.

Chef Rocky demonstrates

Charles Douglas Rachwitz, executive chef for the Chuck Muer restaurants, presented the first of a series of cooking demonstrations at Jacobson's stores, when he appeared Thursday at the Kitchen Shop in Livonia.

with small children and babies in strollers), along with a few men, gathered to watch Chef Rocky, a Livonia resident, prepare, cook and serve tasty samples. The convivial chef answered all kinds of questions about the dishes he was preparing and other foods, for the appreciative audience. Copies of the recipes were distributed. Another cooking demonstration was presented Friday at Jacobson's Birmingham store. This week Chef Rocky will demonstrate 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, May 23, in Rochester.

Here is one of the recipes he offered.

MARTHA'S VINEYARD SALAD WITH RASPBERRY-MAPLE DRESSING

Yield: 6 servings
Raspberry-Maple Dressing (Makes 2 cups)
1/2 cup raspberry vinegar (see recipe that follows)
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup maple syrup
2 tablespoons mustard (Dijon style)
2 tablespoons dried tarragon leaves
Dash salt

Raspberry Vinegar (yield 2 1/2 cups)
1 cup white wine vinegar
1 cup red wine vinegar
1/2 cup raspberries (fresh or frozen)

Combine ingredients and let sit 48 hours; Cover and store at room temperature.

Salad
1 head Bibb lettuce, washed and dried
1/2 head red leaf lettuce, washed and dried
12 rings red onion, sliced 1/4-inch thick
1/2 cup Raspberry-Maple Dressing
1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
3 tablespoons pine nuts, toasted

Tear cleaned lettuce leaves by hand and toss with the 1/2 cup dressing. To serve, divide salad evenly on 6 plates. Top each portion with blue cheese, onion rings and toasted pine nuts.

Canton golfers celebrate WLAA victory

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Canton golf coach Dan Riggs got a birthday card from his players Wednesday morning and a present that afternoon.

The Canton girls and Riggs had two reasons to celebrate when the Chiefs captured the Western Lakes Activities Association championship at Huron Meadows Golf Course in Brighton.

Canton was undefeated in dual meets and had 422 strokes to win the league tournament in the first year of WLAA girls golf. Northville was second (434), Livonia Stevenson third (454) and Plymouth Salem sixth (519) in the eight-team event.

"At the beginning of the season, I told the girls they were fully capable of winning the league and it would have to be the three seniors who led us to the title," Riggs said. "It's been the senior leadership all year that has kept the girls on task."

The Chiefs were led by senior Kerri Kittleson, who was second overall with a score of 100 behind medalist Megan Johnson of Stevenson, who shot 88.

CANTON SENIOR Sarah Beckman was fifth (106), sophomore Audrey Meissner seventh (107) and junior Katie Konovaliv eighth (109). The top 12 girls received medals. Canton's six scores included 114 by senior Melissa Vernon and 120 by junior Ann Vernon.

"Some of the coaches commented about the balance, and that's really what it was that won it," Riggs said. "It's super to have someone score 88, but it's the second, third and fourth scores that you count on. It takes four girls out of six to stay together and maintain that balance."

The Chiefs had to rally on the second nine holes to win the tournament. They trailed Stevenson by 10 strokes and Northville by five at the turn.

"When the scores started coming in after 18 holes, the seniors began to turn it around," Riggs said. "Then the underclassmen came in with outstanding scores and clinched it for us."

The four girls who eventually counted in the team scoring total lowered their scores on the back nine.

Beckman made the biggest improvement with an eight-stroke drop (57-49). Konovaliv dropped five strokes (57-52), Kittleson four (52-48) and Meissner three (55-52).

"THE GIRLS looked at the leader board when they came in (at the turn), saw what they had to do and went out and did it," Riggs said. "They worked hard all year and deserved it. When we beat Northville by three strokes in the dual meet, we knew we could do it."

Having coached the girls for so long — the seniors have played four years for Riggs and the others have been on the team since they were freshmen — Riggs said he could tell the girls had the resolve to win the tournament.

"I could see it in their eyes," he said. "You can't really coach them (during the meet) or say much to them, but you make eye contact. They looked up at the scoreboard and said 'OK, let's go play another nine. Let's do it.'"

The Chiefs and Salem previously played in the Great Lakes 8 League with Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron, Brighton, Saline, Howell and Pinckney. Facing some of the state's top teams on a regular basis helped prepare Canton for its success this year, Riggs said.

"It kinda toughened us up," he said. "Ultimately, it helped us. It was tough to go through but, like coaches in other sports say, you play tough competition to get tough, and it paid off this year. You're getting beat up but at the same time you're learning something."

The Chiefs had hoped to qualify for the state meet Friday in the regional tournament at Oak Pointe Golf Course, but Pioneer (374), Howell (400) and Northville (401) earned the right to advance. Stevenson's Johnson won a playoff against Pioneer's Susan Evashevski to win medalist honors. Both shot 80.

Canton girls capture 7th straight title

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Canton has extended its dual-meet reign in girls track and field for another year.

The Chiefs put the finishing touch on their seventh consecutive championship in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association Wednesday by defeating Walled Lake Western 73-55 at Canton.

"The tradition is great and I'm proud of our team," Canton coach George Przygodski said, "but sometimes it overshadows what the team did this year."

"It's a great accomplishment to win a dual-meet championship regardless of how many years you've done it."

The Chiefs, who are 34-0-1 in division dual meets the last seven years, were challenged by Western, which won nine of the 16 events.

CANTON OUTSCORED the Warriors 30-6 in the field events, swept the shot put, discus and 800-meter run; and captured third place in 11 of the 12 open events.

"We knew Walled Lake Western had talented athletes, and they ran exceptionally well," Przygodski said. "Western is a legitimate team. We ran good times; they just beat us to the punch in a number of events. The key was that we overpowered them in the field events."

Aleah Collier led a Canton sweep in the shot put and Ifeoma Okwumabua did likewise in the discus.

Collier threw the shot 34-3/4.

Okwumabua the discus 99-4. Selena Bastine was second in the discus and third in the shot, Okwumabua second in the shot and Dawn Kersten third in the discus.

Canton's Stephanie Gray jumped 5 feet to win the high jump and Heather Pastor had the best long jump at 15-7.

In her first time running the open 400, distance runner Amy Smith won the race with a 1:03.9 time, and Christie Saffron spearheaded the sweep in the 800 with a winning effort of 2:32.9. Kim Gudeth was second and Monica Pellow third.

GUDETH WAS on both of Canton's first-place relays, also. Angela Fountain, Karina Kilpelainen, Gudeth and Michelle Dean won the 800 in 1:54, and Gudeth, Saffron, Lana Boroditsch and Smith comprised the winning team in the 3,200. Their time was 10:06.8.

The Chiefs, who finish 5-0 in the division and 6-0 in all duals, also had a number of other second places in addition to those in events they swept.

Canton received two apiece from Ndu Okwumabua in the high jump and 200 dash and Kilpelainen in the Plymouth boxer to fight on home turf

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Boxer Brett Lally is a landscaper by trade, so it's only natural that the Westland native is returning to his home turf.

The North American Boxing Federation's newly crowned junior middleweight champion will be part of a seven-bout professional card on Tuesday, June 11, at the Laurel Manor Conference Center in Livonia.

Lally, sporting a 28-5 record and 18 knockouts, will take on Chicagoan Anthony "Hard Puncher" Ivory (9-2) in a scheduled 10-round non-title bout.

The 1981 John Glenn High graduate, now residing in Plymouth, has literally fought all over the world — London, Johannesburg, Honolulu, Atlantic City and Las Vegas.

Lake Tahoe, Nev., was the site of his last conquest, a sixth-round KO against Willie "Montana" Hotchletter that gave him the NABF crown.

Lally last appeared on an area card back in November of 1983 (in Southfield) when he knocked out Charles Triplett in the third round of a junior welterweight bout.

"We wanted to bring boxing to the local fans of southwest Wayne County," said brother Bradd Lally, Brett's manager and trainer. "This is a nice set-up (the Laurel Manor). We'd like to attract a suburban crowd once or twice a month."

BRADD LALLY'S Golden Boys Productions, in cooperation with West Coast Productions of Pasadena, Calif., are promoting the fight.

Ringside tickets are $25 apiece (approximately 400) available with we're giving him (Ivory) a chance."

Lally is currently ranked No. 3 by the World Boxing Council, No. 7 by the International Boxing Federation and No. 10 by the World Boxing Association.

He is 11-1 as a junior middleweight since returning to the ring after laying off all of 1985 and '86.

"Brett deserves his shot, he's paid his dues," Bradd said. "We cried in the ring after nobody thought we could be Hotchletter. It was a long time coming."

Lally, who has posted four consecutive KOs since losing to Donald Curry on a second-round TKO in Dec. of 1989, has a contract in hand (waiting to be signed) for his next mandatory title defense, set for Aug. 8 in San Francisco against hometown favorite Pat Lawler. (The bout will be televised on USA Cable.)

"AFTER THE LAWLER fight we're going to be sitting by the phone," Bradd said. "Say what you want, but Brett has beaten good guys and paid his dues."

If Lally wins his next two fights, brother Bradd is hoping to set up a possible title shot against either WBA champ Gilbert DeLe of France or IBF champ Gianfranco Rossi of Italy.

"We'd like to Brett to stay as a junior middleweight," Bradd said. "He carries his 154 pounds well. I don't have to bug him about running. He's always in good condition and that goes all the way back to when he started out at the Livonia Boxing Club with Paul Soucy (the LBC director). And with the landscaping, it keeps his mind busy, and that's good for a fighter."

Rocks, Canton collide in district

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton will meet for a third time — the second in five days — in girls soccer, but tonight's game will be the most important.

The Centennial Educational Park rivals square off in the first round of the district tournament at CEP. The Rocks take a 12-1-1 record into the 7 p.m. game, Canton 11-4-1.

Salem has beaten the Chiefs twice this year, each time by a 1-0 score. The second win occurred Thursday in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

The Rocks also won the WLAAC crossover game last year, but the Chiefs have a good record in district games.

Canton has eliminated Salem in post-season play the last three years. Since winning the state championship in 1987, the Rocks have not survived the district tournament.

THE TEAMS played in the district final four years ago and the second round of the district the last two years. Canton won last year when now-sophomore Colleen Connell broke a 3-3 tie in the 29th minute of overtime. Salem was rated No. 2 in the state, the Chiefs No. 3.

"We haven't scored on them yet. If we want it, we'll have to come out and play like it. It has to come from within."

While one state-ranked team will be finished, the winner will go far in the tournament based on recent history, which says the Salem-Canton winner ends up being the district champ.

"Not to overlook anybody, but the other teams would have to have an awful good game to beat us," Smith said. "But it can be done."

The Salem-Canton winner plays the Ann Arbor Huron-Belleville winner on Wednesday. The final will be played Friday or Saturday in Ann Arbor.

Canton won the Class A title the year after Salem. The Chiefs won the second of three straight district championships in 1989 and got to the regional final last year.

"EVERY GAME is equal when you start," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "The boys won four in a row (over Canton) last year, so it can be done. It'll be tough but it's a new year. You can't start looking back. (If the Rocks should lose) it won't be for a lack of trying."

Mackenzie Emmett scored her fourth goal of the season Thursday on an indirect kick in the second half. Canton keeper Jori Welchans got her fingertips on the ball, but momentum carried it into the net.

"Canton played well; they're a tough team," Johnson said. "Like the first game, our defense was good again. If we get one goal, we're hard to beat with the goalie and defense we've got."

Salem keeper Jenny Emmett recorded her 13th shutout of the season.

The Rocks played without two starters because of injury. Erin Harvey, the leading scorer, has a sprained knee and it's doubtful she will play tonight, Johnson said. Jenny Oleksiak started in her place Thursday.

Defender Lisa Ferguson has a sprained ankle but is expected to play against Canton. Rochelle Gotts filled in last week.

Both players were injured in the game with Livonia Stevenson last Monday.

SMITH SAID he couldn't gauge whether the teams held back Thursday in anticipation of today's game, but he said neither one played with much emotion or enthusiasm.

"I know they would rather have been playing for the conference (title), but so would we," Smith said. "I don't think the Pistons would enjoy playing for third place."

"I know (the Canton girls are) looking forward to playing the game Monday, but I'd just as soon we won tonight, too," he said. "I don't know if we were taking a rest today. They get tired at this time of year. School is ending and it's hot."

Salem wins first post-season test

Scott Rodgers overcame a difficult third inning Thursday to pitch Plymouth Salem to a 4-1 victory in a pre-district baseball qualifying game at Ann Arbor Huron.

The Rocks are 16-4 overall and will play host to Ypsilanti in the pre-district game at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Rodgers, who improved his record to 8-2, struggled in the third when the River Rats scored three times and cut the Salem lead to 5-3.

But he got stronger as the game progressed, according to Salem coach John Gravin, and limited Huron to four hits. He eventually struck out 10, including the side in the sixth inning, while walking only three.

Rodgers was supported by 11 hits from his teammates. Ed Gundry was 3-for-4 and finished the scoring with a solo homer in the seventh.

Scott Niemiec also blasted a solo shot, and Jeff Belisle and Tom Davey had two hits apiece. Davey also had one RBI.

baseball

REDFORD CATHOLIC Central scored 12 runs in the last two innings Wednesday to break a 1-1 tie and defeat Plymouth Canton 13-1 in a non-league baseball game.

Canton resident Scott Kapla pitched six innings to get the victory and helped his cause at the plate by going 3-for-4 and scoring two runs.

Kapla (6-3) held the Chiefs to four hits, an earned run, and one walk. He struck out four. Steve Ross was the closer for the Shamrocks, 14-13 overall.

CC, having loaded the bases with walks, went ahead in the sixth when two runs scored on Aaron Rumberger's ground ball. The Chiefs got the forceut at second base, but the attempted double play went awry with an errant throw to first.

Joe Vondracek had a two-run single in that inning and was 3-for-5. He also hit a three-run homer in the seventh and finished with five RBI. Matt Roney also was 3-for-4 and scored two runs.

Canton's Chris James had two hits and scored a run. Brian Tieli singled home the only run in the first, and Brian Stidham had the other hit.

Frank Learned pitched four innings and scattered seven hits, but Jason Riggs suffered the loss after working the last three.

The Chiefs are 15-5 overall. They play Farmington Hills Harrison in their last Western Lakes Activities Association regular-season game today and Romulus in a pre-district game Thursday. Both games are 4 p.m. at Canton.

CC visits Allen Park Cabrini today and plays Livonia Churchill in a pre-district game at 4 p.m. Thursday at Capitol Park in Redford.

Rats edge Rocks in 8 innings, 4-3

Ann Arbor Huron scored a run in the bottom of the eighth inning Thursday to defeat visiting Plymouth Salem 4-3 in a predistrict qualifying softball game.

A one-out double, a passed ball and an infield grounder scored the winning run. The runner beat the throw from shortstop to the plate.

The Rocks wasted a solid pitching performance by Jenny Garvey, who gave up only three hits and three walks in 7½ innings. She struck out two.

"I thought it was the best she's pitched all year," Salem coach Rob Willette said. "It was too bad, really. We had our chances; we just didn't do it."

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the sixth inning when the River Rats scored twice.

The Rocks rallied with two runs in the top of the seventh to take the lead. Emily Giuliani (walk) and Stephanie Beech (single) moved up on a wild pitch, and a run scored on Dawn Marrocco's base hit. Amber Trombetta's fly ball to center field was dropped for an error that allowed two more runs to score.

softball

Huron got a single run in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score, 3-3.

Niki Cancrola was the winning pitcher, striking out 11 and walking four. Salem had four hits, two by Missy Holmes.

The Rocks, 5-16 overall, play host to Farmington in their Lakes Division finale at 4 p.m.

NINE ERRORS were costly Thursday as host Plymouth Christian Academy lost 11-7 to Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

The Eagles outthit the opposition 10-8. Tamara Tilly and Nancy Kobernick had two hits and two RBI apiece, and Felicia Wroblewski and Teraney Baisch had RBI singles.

Joy Simon was the losing pitcher. She struck out four and walked five in seven innings.

"They wouldn't have had as many runs without all the errors, because they came in key situations," Plymouth Christian coach Steve Ritchey said. "We have an all-freshman outfield. Sometimes you have to grow into winning, and that's what we're doing this year."

The Eagles play a predistrict game Thursday at Ann Arbor Greenhills.

Salem boys draw praise

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem coach Gary Balconi is more than happy to assess the quality of his boys track team and its place in school history.

With some major competitions remaining, the season already has been a huge success for the 1991 Rocks, who rate as the best collection of track-and-field athletes in Balconi's tenure as coach.

"In 16 years, I can say that's true," he said. "We've had some excellent individuals along the way and some very good Plymouth Salem teams — I don't remember any had ones in fact — but I think this one is our best by virtue of its dual-meet record and success in invitational meets.

"We have some goals ahead yet, but they've done a nice job to now and nobody can take that away from them."

Salem emerged from the shadow of Western Lakes Activities Association power Westland John Glenn when it captured the Lakes Division title with a 115-22 victory Wednesday over visiting Walled Lake Central.

THE ROCKS had been perennial runners-up to Glenn, but they finished 5-0 in division dual meets this year and 6-0 overall. Salem also has won the Dearborn Elks Relays, the Tiger Relays and the Observerland Relays, outdueling the Rockets in the latter, too.

In the process of overwhelming the winless Vikings, Salem had individual double winners in Rob Casler, Leon Hister, Jim Ramsay and John Thomas. Hister, Ramsay and Matt Perron had three first places apiece, including participation in relays, and Andy Rojeski two.

Casler won the shot put (48-2) and the discus (129-2), Hister the long jump (20-3¼) and the 200-meter dash (24.7), Ramsay the high hurdles (16.0) and the intermediate hurdles (42.8), Thomas the 1,600 run (4:35.8) and the 3,200 run (10:07.2).

Perron won the 100 dash in 11.7 and was on the winning 400 and 800 relay teams. Hister, Todd Forbes, Ramsay and Perron combined for a 45.8 time in the 400, and Don Johnson, Jake Baker, Perron and Rojeski, who was first in the open quarter (52.5), won the 800 relay in 1:57.1.

Salem's other individual winners were Cliff Lee in the high jump (6-9) and Mike Patterson in the 800 run (1:59.8). The all-freshman team of Mike Wooters, Russ Polycn, Josh Stickney and Jonathon Micevicius won the 3,200 relay with an 8:59.4 time.

PLYMOUTH CANTON needed a victory in the 1,600 relay Wednesday to defeat host Walled Lake Western. The Chiefs pulled it off and claimed a 46-62 victory in their dual-meet finale.

With their team trailing 62-61 going into that event, the Canton team of Brett Kearney, Dave Washenko, Craig Miller and Don Green ran 3:36 and finished three seconds ahead of the Warriors.

A short time before that Canton picked up three important points with senior Chris Nelson's second-place finish in the 3,200 run.

The Warriors tried to box him in, but Nelson, according to Canton coach Bob Richardson, ran a smart race — "the race of his life" — and captured second in 10:26.3. Western standout Jeff Grosso won the race in 10:21, as well as the open 1,600 in 4:42.

The Chiefs did well in the field events with three firsts. Mike Teller won the shot put (41-3¼), Dean Benedict the discus (131-2) and Mike DeJarnett the high jump (6-4). Miller had the team's only other individual win in the 400 dash with a time of 52.9.

Canton's Paul Chudyk, Karl Wukie and Dave Fedorko comprised three quarters of the winning 400 and 800 relay teams. Josh Walaskay anchored the 400 squad (46.4) and Green the 800 unit (1:36.4).

Jeff Brust of Western won both hurdle contests (15.1 and 42.9) and the 100 dash (11.7). Teammates Dan Doerfling was first in the long jump (20-4¼), Matt Engott the 200 dash (24.1) and Bill Crosby the 800 run (2:03.6). The Warriors also had the top time in the 3,200 relay at 8:23.8.

● CINNACRAZ TIES

Cinnacraz and the Insurance Exchange tied 9-9 in the Plymouth Men's Modified Fast-Pitch Softball League Wednesday when the game was stopped because of a time limit. Dan Pierce had a two-run homer and a two-run double for Cinnacraz. Mike Kesson also hit a two-run shot and had a triple, and Ron Wandzel was 3-for-3.

● PISTONS AT CAMP

Detroit Pistons Joe Dumars and Isiah Thomas will be instructors for a three-day basketball camp Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 25-27, at the Plymouth Salem and Canton high schools. The cost is $125. Boys and girls age 7-17 are eligible to participate. Session I is for ages 7-10 and goes from 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. each day; Session II ages 11-12 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Session III ages 13-17 from 3-5:30 p.m. Car ers should come dressed to play. Thomas will attend one day, Dumars another. Another NBA player or Pistons coach will instruct the third day.

For information, call camp coordinator Fred Thomann at 451-6600, ext. 247; or Bob Blohm at 451-6600, ext. 302; or send a self-addressed envelope to Thomann at Salem High School, 46181 Joy Road, Canton, 48187.

● CHALLENGE FEST

The Canton Challenge Fest Fishing Derby will be Saturday and Sunday, June 1 and 2. Boys and girls age 4 to 15 who are Canton residents are eligible. The $1 fee is to be paid the day of the event. Times will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. The pond behind the township administration building will be stocked with rainbow trout. Awards will be given for the largest fish caught. Advanced registration is required between May 13 and 30.

The Challenge Fest Tennis Tournament will be played Friday, May 31, through Sunday, June 2, at the Centennial Educational Park courts. The fee is $6 per person, plus one can of USTA approved tennis balls. Call 397-5110 for information.

● SOCCER MEETING

Boys in grades 9-12 at Plymouth Salem High School who are interested in playing soccer next fall should attend an organizational meeting at 6 p.m. Friday, May 31, in Room 2703 of the high school. For information, call coach Ken Johnson at 397-0668.

Rocks runners-up in Lakes' duals

100 and 300 hurdles. Boroditsch was runner-up to Jennifer Ray in the 1,600 run.

Canton's next challenge comes Wednesday in the WLAA meet at Farmington High. The Chiefs last won the league title in 1988 and are one of the teams expected to contend for the championship this year.

Lakes Division dual-meet winner Livonia Stevenson is the defending WLAA champ.

"I think we've got to be favored," Przygodski said. "The key to winning any big meet is to score in every event. I think we have the personnel to score well in every event, and there are going to be those events where we will be at the top.

"Realistically, I think the league meet is for us to either win or lose. I think our toughest competition will be Stevenson and (Westland) John Glenn. The question is who can score in every event?"

PLYMOUTH SALEM finished second in the Lakes Division with a 4-1 record after crushing host Walled Lake Central 94-34 Wednesday.

The Rocks won 13 of the 16 events and had double winners in Nikki Santilli and Theresa Giacherio in individual events.

Including relays, Andrea Kinnelly had four first places, Tracey Livermore three and Dana Driscoll, Tonya Wheeler and Alysia Sofios two each.

"I thought the girls handled the heat real well and rebounded nicely from a disappointing week (in which Salem lost to Canton and Stevenson)," Salem coach Mark Gregor said. "I think, if we have a good regional meet, we can use that as momentum going into the league meet."

Santilli's wins came in the field events where she won the shot put (28-11) and the discus (92-7¼). Giacherio won both hurdle races with times of 16.6 in the 100 highs and 49.7 in the 300 intermediates.

Kinnelly won the 100 dash in 13.3 and participated in the three relays Salem won.

LIVERMORE, KINNELLY, Driscoll and Shelly Sockow won the 400 relay, and the same team with the exception of Wheeler as the anchor won the 800 in 1:53. Kinnelly also anchored the 1,600 relay, which included Sofios, Lynda Sebestyen and Jessica Moyer and posted a 4:27.5 time.

In open events, Sofios won the long jump (15-6), Livermore the 200 dash (27.2) and Wheeler the 400 dash (1:02.5). Salem's Stacey Witthoff was first in the 800 run (2:37.1) and Julie Cutting the 3,200 run (13:05.7).

The Rocks finish 4-2 overall in dual meets. Salem's senior class of Livermore, Kinnelly, Kristen Bernhardt and Tracie Clemente is 12-3 in division meets the last three years with all three losses to Stevenson.

FOUR DIAMONDS

Bonnie LePage (at left), general manager of Townsend Hotel in Birmingham, is presented with the prestigious Four Diamond Award by AAA Michigan president Robert A. Alkema. The Townsend is one of 12 Michigan establishments to receive the award this year. Only 4 percent of 27,800 approved lodging and restaurant facilities earned the award in 1991 for their commitment to quality and excellence.

Video golf slices into airline

NEW YORK (AP) — International executives who wish they were on the golf course instead of being stuck on a stupefying 13-hour flight to Tokyo can now hit the links while they're airborne.

On a video screen, that is. All Nippon Airways is betting that the allure of video games, noted for mesmerizing youngsters for hours, will help first- and business-class travelers kill time as they cross the Pacific.

The Japanese carrier claims to be the pioneer in offering the in-flight games, which are displayed on a television monitor connected to the armrest between seats.

"We realize that the trip either way is very long, and it's just trying to give them something to do, make them more comfortable, take their mind off the fact that they're in the air for this protracted time," said ANA spokeswoman Jan Still-Lindeman.

"It sounds pretty neat," said Tim Neale of the Air Transport Association, a trade group in Washington. "I know airlines are starting to order video screens in the seatbacks and the armrests. It's the coming thing."

The video Golf is one of six games offered by ANA and developed by Konami Industry Co. Ltd. and Sony Corp. Other available sports include road racing, in a game called Road Fighter, and baseball, in a game called Crashing Pennant Race 2.

In the Golf game, players have the choice of using two woods, eight irons, a pitching wedge, a sand wedge, or a putter as they knock the ball around a nine-hole course. Each club has a standard distance for how far it will send the ball, with the driver's range being 240 meters and the sand wedge's range being 80 meters.

The video screen provides a view from where the ball lies, with a layout of the course off to the right. The number of strokes, the par — even the wind direction and velocity — show up on the screen.

Knock the ball out of bounds, you're penalized two strokes. Shoot from a sand trap, and the distance the ball flies will be shorter for whatever club you're using.

Several major U.S. airlines acknowledged that ANA has beaten them to the punch by offering such in-flight amusements, although others are looking into similar setups.

United Airlines, for one, hasn't been happy with the equipment it has seen so far.

A leading aircraft manufacturer, the Boeing Company, agreed there are bugs, particularly in where the screen should be set up.

But the airline videos have one big advantage over their counterparts in video parlors on the ground. There's no need for world travelers to stock up on quarters before they take off.

The games are free, once you've paid the price of a first- or business-class ticket.

Sea World seeking to import killer whale from Great Britain

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A permit seeking importation of a killer whale from a British marine park has been filed by Sea World Inc., which operates four theme parks in the United States.

The permit application, required under the Marine Mammal Protection Act, was filed with the National Marine Fisheries Service, said Dan LeBlanc, a Sea World spokesman in San Diego.

Sea World has 13 killer whales at four parks in San Diego, Orlando, Fla., San Antonio, Texas, and outside Cleveland, Ohio.

The company plans to acquire a 15-year-old female killer whale now housed at Windsor Safari Park near London.

LeBlanc said terms of the deal are confidential.

Brad Andrews, Sea World's assistant zoological director, said the killer whale from Britain may wind up at any of the four American parks. He said the final decision would be based on where biologists feel the whale would best fit in with the groups of whales already on hand.

Andrews said Sea World plans to use the British whale in its captive breeding program as well as for performances. Sea World's captive breeding program has produced five calves, with the most recent occurring at the Orlando park in July 1989.

Review of the importation application is expected to take several months. Windsor Safari Park also must obtain an export permit from the United Kingdom Department of the Environment for the deal to go through.

The whale has been a part of the English park's marine mammal collection since 1978, when it was obtained from a dolphinarium in the Netherlands.

department. It was operated by the Lake Lansing Amusement Park until 1987, when it was put in storage.

THE WHEEL features 10 ornate wire gondolas, each holding four-six passengers.

Crossroads Village will also begin its second season of murder mystery dinner theater presentations with "Manners, Mystery and Murder" June 8 and 22. The Musical Murders will be featured July 13 and 27; "All Roads Lead to Murder" Aug. 10 and 24; "Assembly Line Murders" Sept. 7.

Tickets are $25 for dinner and performance, or $80 for all four productions, each at 6:30 p.m. Reserve at least 10 days ahead by calling (313) 736-7100.

Tickets for admission to Crossroads Village, including Huckleberry Railroad, are $7.50 for people 13 and older, $5.25 for kids 4-12. Kids under 3 are free. For information, call (313) 736-7100.

Colorado railroad bounces back after inferno

DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — On a chill, dark morning two years ago, grown men near tears stood in the snowy yard of the Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad and watched fire destroy the historic roundhouse where all six engines were stored.

Since then, the railroad has literally risen from the ashes and aims for 250,000 riders this year.

There is a new $2 million roundhouse and machine shop where the acrid, charred smell of the fire has finally dissipated.

"It seemed hopeless when you looked in that burned-out skeleton," operations supervisor Dan McCall said. "We're just happy to be back in the shop."

The shop crew not only takes care of the Durango & Silverton maintenance, it does contract work for other railroads.

Engines from the Cumbres & Toled, the Grand Canyon and the Georgetown Loop railroads have been worked on in the Durango backshop this winter.

When the fire destroyed the roundhouse on Feb. 10, 1989, owner Charles Bradshaw was sleeping next door in the General Palmer Hotel.

"By the time I had my pants on, I was thinking, if we have to run tracks in the parking lot under a circus tent, we'll get the trains going by May," Bradshaw said.

He was right. Eleven weeks later, three engines were repaired. The train season began right on schedule May 5, and by mid-summer all six engines were on track.

The plucky little engines carried a record 201,004 passengers by season's end.

Mechanics were still working six and seven days a week. But a year later, they moved into the new 35,000-square-foot roundhouse.

The roundhouse's design incorporates historic features and two original 1881 brick walls. It has 18 stalls for locomotives, three times the old roundhouse capacity.

"The shop's come a long way. It's never been better," said Larry Beam, the roundhouse foreman.

The railroad's ambitious goal of 250,000 passengers this year springs from a 17 percent increase in early reservations, Bradshaw said.

The 1991 season began this month, and the iron horses will pull coaches to Silverton through spectacular Animas River valleys through Oct. 27.

Despite industry fears that the recession could soften tourism, railroad officials are promoting the train at trade shows across the country.

"One thing's for sure," vice president Amos Cordova said. "I don't think the American public is going to be gyped out of a vacation."

Cordova said the railroad is offering promotions. And, for the first time, it is giving commissions to travel agents who attract riders.

McCall, meanwhile, believes the fiery cloud two years ago had a silver lining.

"The fire was a tragedy as far as historic purposes," he said. "For our purposes, it was great."

INDIAN ATTACK

The British will be there in their red coats. The Indians will attack as they always do. And the pioneers will shoot their muzzle-loaders, throw their knives and show off their fur fashions within the palisaded walls of Fort Michilimackinac. The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant, where 30,000 spectators help relive 18th-century life, will be May 25-27 at the Straits of Mackinac Peninsula. A re-enactment of the June 2, 1763 storming and capture of the fort during a baggataway match between the Indians and the British garrison will top off each day of the festival. Baggataway was the forerunner of lacrosse. Restored Fort Michilimackinac, site of 18th century French and British garrisons, is now the subject of the longest ongoing archaeological dig in North America. Nearby is the 1892 Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse, now serving as the Mackinac Maritime Museum. For more information, write the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, MI 48909, or call (800) 5432-YES.

Ohio's Maumee Bay Lodge shines on Lake Erie shore

THE COTTAGES are built on square foundations under squared shingled roofs, but what happens between roof and foundation is truly innovative architecture. Two corners have been cut away to create an open deck and a screened deck. Another small porch lies off the main bedroom.

We followed a long private drive to our parking area and walked across a small bridge to the door of our two-bedroom cottage. As you enter, you can go directly upstairs to a loft containing two single beds separated by a partial wall under skylights that open at your touch.

Or you can circle the stairs on the main floor, past a full bathroom, a bedroom with an upper and lower bunk, a second bedroom with a double bed, and a living-dining area with large table, living-room furniture and a gas fireplace.

The cottages are a good buy, especially for families or small groups. Lodge rooms cost $69 for one person, $79 for two, $109 for a loft room or a suite. The two-bedroom cottages are $89 a night, $425 a week. Four-bedroom cottages are $120 a night or $465 a week. Don't forget to add 12 percent state and local tax to those rates.

The management staff at the resort are trained, but the service staff is mostly new to the hospitality industry, so things were a bit slow during that first week. Untrained or not, we found the staff cheerful and helpful, ready to open any door or run any dining-room errand.

Bettie Cannon of West Bloomfield, who visited the resort just after it opened, gave it high marks. "It's very accessible to people in the Detroit area. Families can get together there and enjoy the facilities without spending too much money. The potential is greater than what's there now, because not everything is open yet.

"What I liked best about it was staying in a cottage, lighting the fireplace at night and falling asleep upstairs under the skylight with a sky full of stars overhead."

By midsummer, these greening fields will be busy with bicycles, T-shirts, ball caps, cars, golf carts and the other trappings of a summer resort. For this brief off-season month it is quiet, with hawks and seagulls spreading their wings wide against the sky as they fly over the resort and the lake.

Maumee Bay is just one of 10 Ohio state parks. For reservations or information, call toll-free (800) AT-A-PARK.

"We got a half-price special, so the rates were $40 per night on the weekend, $20 per night during the week. The hotel was decorated with gaudy, baroque-style decor.

"Meals in Las Vegas can be very inexpensive," she said. "You can find buffets at most hotels. We ate a pound of crab for only $9.95 one night. The shows are not cheap. David Copperfield was performing when we were there, but his show cost $55, so we passed on that one."

The Excalibur, a new hotel and casino, offers a spectacular dinner and show for around $25. It's built like a medieval castle, with jousters in the spirit of King Arthur. If you're a guest, you get two tokens for the "Excalibur" machine, which is a rock with a sword as a handle. You pull on the sword for the jackpot."

Amidst the glitz and glamour, the magic turned to reality for Sue. Maybe it will for you too.

IRIS SANDERSON JONES

To celebrate 25th they want tropical

Sharon and Lawrence Churchfield will celebrate a quarter century of married life next fall, and they would like to do it in a nice warm place.

"We would like to take a trip somewhere different, possibly tropical. We have been to Hawaii. I am a little reluctant to go someplace tropical because of monsoons. Do you have any suggestions?"

The word "monsoons" startled me, because I associate it with childhood stories about the mysterious east. I looked the word up in my dictionary and read "the seasonal wind of the Indian Ocean and southern Asia, blowing from the southwest in summer and the northeast in winter."

Another definition was "any persistent wind established between water and adjoining land."

Look at it from that point of view and you get the word "storm" which quickly leads you to "hurricane," a very scary word indeed. Surprisingly, very very few travelers are ever caught in hurricanes, no matter how much their stormy paths dominate the evening news.

Some cruise ship lines will refund your money if you have the bad luck to sail during a storm. I talk to a lot of travelers, but only one or two have ever complained about bad weather in the Caribbean.

Where should you go?

My favorite island discovery of the last year is St. Lucia, a mountainous isle in the eastern Caribbean where you can stay at a variety of resorts and enjoy sand, sea, sun and too much good food. Definitely not for those who like casinos and evening entertainment.

My favorite place in Mexico is San Miguel de Allende, northwest of Mexico City. This was once the heart of Spanish colonial Mexico. You can stay in an old Spanish mansion converted into a small luxury hotel. You can shop, eat and tour the surrounding area. You cannot stretch out on the beach; no beach.

Your destination will depend a lot on what you enjoy, what you mean by "somewhere different." If you go early in October, and want to go that far, you will find something different on the Balearic islands of Majorca and Ibiza off the coast of Spain. That is where Europeans go in the fall.

I suggest you spend some time in your library and at a travel agency. Check out Margaret Zeller's guide book on the Caribbean. Her observations are very personal and reliable. Use the Reader's Guide to Periodicals or just browse through past magazines like Conde Nast Traveler and Travel & Leisure. Pick up handfuls of brochures at a travel agency.

Half the fun of travel is exploring the possibilities. When you have narrowed your choices down, write to me again and we'll refine your itinerary. Meantime, we invite other readers to send us their suggestions for a tropical celebration of a 25th anniversary.

It was three o'clock in the morning on the first day of her Las Vegas trip when Sue Leja of Milford saw the flashing lights on her slot machine. She had been playing the machines all night, so she almost didn't put that last quarter in the slot.

"The slot machine started flashing, blinking and beeping!" she said. When the excitement was over, Sue had won $2,500.

"The crowd looked on with envy. The security guard rushed over to inspect the machine. The next thing I knew, I had $2,500 cash in my hand. The guard walked me to a safety deposit box in our hotel."

Sue has visited Las Vegas before and learned that the only way to come home ahead is to budget your gambling money.

"Decide how much money to take each night and don't stray from that amount," she said. "I budget $100 a day."

"We like to go casino hopping. My favorites are the smaller casinos such as Barbary Coast and O'Shea's. We like to gamble from around noon to six or seven o'clock in the morning. The casinos are less crowded in the middle of the night."

"One advantage to playing the casinos is you drink free, but this can be dangerous as it is easy to spend money after a few drinks."

Sue likes to play the crap tables to build up her money. "I think that your money lasts longer at the crap tables."

"Then I usually head for the slot machines, which are my favorite. Beware though, it is easy to go through a lot of money at the slot machines!"

Sue stayed at the Imperial Palace, "very clean and inexpensive."

Ohio offers a nearby retreat Maumee Bay Lodge

By Iris Sanderson Jones

MAUMEE BAY Lodge, Ohio's 10th state park resort, opened May 1 on the shore of Lake Erie 15 miles east of Toledo in Oregon. It has been getting rave reviews.

The lodge is a great close-to-home getaway for Michigan travelers, with fine resort facilities available at moderate prices. But you will have to book early to get what you want.

The 120 lodge rooms are available all year, but 20 cottages that rent only by the week during summer are already fully booked from Memorial Day to Labor Day, although cancellations are always possible.

The cottages were rented within three hours after reservations became available in January. The park will begin taking cottage reservations for 1992 on June 1.

YOU REACH Maumee Bay by the Highway 2 exit of I-280. Drive through the town of Oregon and turn left between farmhouses on Maumee Bay Park Road. Campers have used the adjacent campsites at Maumee Bay State Park for several years.

Maumee Bay Lodge appears ahead of you, a contemporary sprawl of sawed planks, stained fawn grey, rising in the center to weathered cedar-shingled roofs. The lodge, low on the ends and high in the middle, is set against the shore of Lake Erie, but you need not limit yourself to the sand beach (to be completed by July 4), or to the 1,500 feet of inland beach on the 57-acre sailing lake.

The lodge includes a large outdoor swimming pool; a heated indoor swimming pool with saunas; courts for racquetball, basketball and tennis; and a fitness center. All are available free to guests.

If you look to the right as you approach the lodge, you see contemporary cottages in the same grey planks, scattered in singles and doubles across the slightly rolling prairie landscape, tucked into groves of trees.

Most cottages are set on widely-separated knolls beside the golf course, which looks ready for play but is still digging its grass roots into the ground for a fall opening.

Sea World opens in Ohio

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Sea World opened its summer season Saturday in Aurora, Ohio, near Cleveland. Shamu and Namu are back, but don't be surprised if they don't answer when you call them by name. Shamu and Namu are character names; this year's killer whales are new.

Sea World has been breeding whales for years and now has a pod of 13. When they have played around in Sea World pools long enough, they are put into the breeding program.

This year's "characters" are two females, 2½ years old, born at Sea World parks in Texas and Florida, and they met for the first time three weeks ago. Shamu and Namu, and their friends the bottlenosed dolphins, are doing a new show in a renovated stadium this season.

The International High Dive Show is new this year. So is the Pirates of Pinneped, featuring a comical sea lion duo called Clyde and Seamore. You'll also find old favorites like the Penguin Encounter and the World of the Sea Aquarium.

Tickets are $18.50 if you're more than 12, $14.50 ages 3-11, children under 3 free. Season passes are roughly double those one-day prices, so they're worth considering if you plan to go more than once. Parking is free.

Sea World opens daily at 10 a.m. For information, call toll-free (800) 63-SHAMU.

OCEANS OF FUN in Kansas City opens May 25 with a new attraction called Crocodile Isle, a "sprayground" with a 2,000 square-foot kiddie pool, three water slides and other attractions, floating gators and hippos among them.

Crossroads Village and Huckleberry Railroad in Flint is open and bragging because AAA Michigan named it one of the top five family attractions in Michigan.

A rare 1910 Ferris wheel has been added to the Village this year, a nice companion for the 1912 Parker Carousel. The village also opened a 7,000 square-foot multi-purpose building, designed like a vintage railroad warehouse, to give better food and other services to groups.

The 50-foot 1910 Charles W. Parker "Superior Wheel" is the last remaining Ferris wheel of its type and had a colorful history before the Genesee County Parks and Recreation Commission bought it last year. It ran in two Pennsylvania amusement parks and was once owned by a fire Visitors to Sea World in Ohio this year can see amazing feats of daring like that performed by this inverted water skier.

Madonna and Dice not nice

In "Truth or Dare" (F, R, 118 minutes) and "Dice Rules" (F, NC-17, 87 minutes) Madonna and Andrew Dice Clay pretend that they are artists discussing sexual power, the hostility of passion and the primacy of their own sex.

Not true, friends, for in reality they're both sadists out to torment their fans with 3 1/2 boring hours of obscenity, adolescent posturing and some of the worst film footage to be screened in years.

Both of these productions are supposed to be innovative, something "new and different" in concert films but they wind up as two of the least entertaining films imaginable.

"Dice Rules," all in color, opens with a half-hour drama in which Dice is the ultimate nerd who becomes super cool by purchasing a $15 leather jacket. The remaining hour is wasted screening footage from his Madison Square Garden concerts. For those who are blessed with ignorance of Clay's routine, it's non-stop four-letter words celebrating naked masculine sexual power in the hands of someone who doesn't understand sexuality or human relations.

'Impromptu:' A triumph

In the mid-19th century, George Sand created a panic, even for Paris. The popular female writer not only carried on indiscreet affairs, but insisted on dressing in men's clothing.

Frederic Chopin, while enjoying his own popularity as a pianist and composer, was plagued by a lung disorder that kept him from setting foot outdoors or even cracking a window. Composer Franz Liszt called him "The Polish Corpse."

Historically, the meeting of Sand and Chopin was little more than a passing acquaintance through mutual friend Liszt. The new film, "Impromptu," however, takes Sand's admitted infatuation with the composer and creates an irreverent and beautiful romantic comedy.

Playing exclusively at the Maple Theatre, "Impromptu" finds Sand, now divorced, desperately trying to avoid the mad and jealous lovers she's taken since. She finds Chopin's music, introduced to her at a party recital, "heavenly" and "the answer to a prayer."

SAND'S RELENTLESS pursuit of Chopin completely bends the protocol of male-female courtship. Sand, dressed in trousers and ascot, frightens the frail, well-coiffed Chopin. He finds her revolting, but also is strangely compelled by her.

Judy Davis' flesh-and-blood portrait of Sand, meanwhile, redefines the depiction of famous personages. It's partly her well-documented bitterness that has Sand wearing men's clothing, but, as she confesses to her mother, they're also "easier to move about in."

In one of the film's most moving moments, Chopin is overtaken by her intensity and fears he will die if he succumbs to it.

"Take some of my strength," she implores. "I've got too much of it."

What sounds overly melodramatic on paper comes off with amazing sincerity on film. This is clearly Davis' picture, though Hugh Grant's Chopin is also fine. Julian Sands, a veteran of "A Room with a View" and "Gothic," looks properly rumped and badgered as the long-haired, thick-

Many people know that former Detroiters Bruce Joel Rubin - his parents still live in West Bloomfield - won an Oscar for "Ghost," the megabuck hit that now stands 10th on Variety's list of all-time box office champs.

Millions saw that film in theaters and, since March 21, it's led Variety's Top 50 Video Rental charts.

Highest possible number on Variety's survey is 130 and "Ghost" has hit near-perfect weekly scores in the 122-127 range. For the week ending May 4, it earned 117 while number two, "Marked For Death" was the only other film to score more than 100.

Rubin had a lot less box office success with "Jacob's Ladder" (1990, color, R, 116 minutes). That Rubin screenplay kicked around Hollywood for a long time as one of the "Top 10 Unproduced Scripts."

"Jacob's Ladder," however, is a sensational film that will knock your socks off. It reaches the video racks Thursday, May 23, and also will be available on laser disc.

Dread Zeppelin parodies its way to music heaven

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Let's talk, shall we? Tortelvis resembles a white Amana refrigerator with sideburns disguised as magnets. The lead singer for Dread Zeppelin could be in line to be the Slim-Fast poster child.

Lost in all this girth and mirth is an individual who could be on the binge-eating, self-destructive path followed by Elvis himself, the man known in France as "Le Roi Du Burger" (translated, "The Burger King") tries oh so hard to emulate. The depths of this tale of despair may only be illustrated by the empty, grease-saturated brown bag under Tortelvis' feet.

According to band member Jah Paul Jo, Tortelvis' favorite delicacy is a cheeseburger deep fried, not once but twice, and dipped in a strawberry preserve for good measure. The caloric intake of the creation?

"He (Tortelvis) breaks the bank there," said Jah Paul Jo, whose band performs Friday, May 24, at the Latin Quarter. "He drinks diet sodas, though."

Whew, Dread Zeppelin fans can breathe a collective sigh of relief.

JAH PAUL JO reveals Tortelvis' eating habits, not discreetly for some Albert Goldman-penned memoir on the refried and reggae-fied outfit, but rather to perpetuate the myth and legend of Dread Dread Zeppelin — Butt-Mon, Fresh Cheese, Jah Paul Jo, Carl Jah, Tortelvis and Ed Zeppelin — are feeling good vibes with the release of their latest album, "5,000,000," by I.R.S. Records.

Zeppelin. Already, the success story is well-documented.

Legend No. 1: Tortelvis receives telepathic messages from "The King" to follow through on Elvis' vision of a reggae/rhythm and blues/rock and roll amalgamation.

Legend No. 2: Percussionist and singer Ed Zeppelin, born simultaneously in Jamaica/Monrovia/Babylon, becomes the spiritual entity who feels "the vibe."

Legend No. 3: Dread Zeppelin was recently asked to sing "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" during the seventh inning of a Minnesota Twins-Seattle Mariners game.

To the last, Jah Paul Jo added: "Is that sick or what?"

OF COURSE, such manifestations of Elvis worship are usually viewed with amusement. But the Elvis Presley estate wasn't laughing at first. Word had it the band was asked to cease using "The King's" image.

"That's a vicious rumor. That's not happening. The Elvis Presley estate likes what we do now."

REVIEWS

THE LA'S — The La's

Word has it this Merseyside outfit was not pleased with the final results of their debut release. After a listen, though, one wouldn't readily chalk this up as modesty.

Reportedly, band members are in a snit because they weren't allowed a final listen before their English-based label, Go!, had "The La's" pressed.

Such honesty undoubtedly won't endear the La's to record publicity people, but the Liverpool-based foursome are not to fret. There is a line of groups who would gladly put their signature on this effort and call it their own.

The La's show an indelible amount of pop flair ushered in with a buoyant amount of lyrical economy. More importantly, the Liverpool outfit certainly offers a welcomed alternative to what seems to be an endless stream of derivative post-'70s psychedelia synthesizer bands.

Oh, but the La's do betray their influences, mostly harking back to those '60s pop offerings that were served up in single portions on AM radio. To understand the La's and the platform from which they work, one needs only to listen to the mission statement of "Timeless Melody": "The melody always finds me/Whenever the thought reminds me/Breaking a chain inside my head."

REAL LIFE — Simple Minds

According to some astronomers, our sun still has a few phases of growing to go through. A few million or billion or something like that years from now (don't worry you probably won't be around), the sun is going to get really huge and burn very brightly. At that time it will be called a "red giant," that is if there's anyone around to call it that.

After doing that for a few million or billion years (ask Carl Sagan if you're interested in exact numbers), the sun will contract and become a dense, tiny star called a "white dwarf."

Now, if you'll stay with me for a moment, you'll discover why you're reading about astronomy in a record review.

The reason is Simple Minds' latest album "Real Life." Metaphorically speaking, of course, Simple Minds' 11-year career seems to be following the same course as our sun.

They began slowly gathering up fans in the early 1980s with critically acclaimed albums like "New Gold Dream" and "Sparkle in the Rain." Their heyday or "red giant" stage hit in the mid-1980s when their song "Don't You (Forget About Me)" went to number one after being highlighted in the flick "The Breakfast Club." (The song, by the way, was not written by Simple Minds — undoubtedly a blow to the ego.)

This phase also included the hits "Alive and Kicking" and "Sanctify Yourself" off of "Once Upon A Time." They played at Live Aid and their career was huge and bright.

Then they released "Live in the City of Light" and "Street Fighting Man." As you probably don't remember, these albums didn't exactly burn up the charts.

Now, with "Real Life," Simple Minds will most likely continue their contraction into the white dwarf stage.

Leader Jim Kerr said the band tried to recapture the mood of their earlier days on this album. I think he actually means they wanted to capture the success of their early days.

Unfortunately, "Real Life" is miles away from their early days. Musically, it's very '90s — overproduced, somewhat passionless and with the obligatory black, female back-up singers.

STREET SENSE

Go, if it feels right to you

Dear Barbara,
I received the enclosed invitation yesterday as did several of my officemates. As I had never heard of a "miscellaneous, personal, just want to have fun shower," I asked some of those who also received invitations their thoughts.

One individual was absolutely enraged — way beyond indignant — and lambasted the "perpetrator" of this "abomination" (I believe that was the word she used). Some were confused/baffled and others were glad "because we need a party."

In an attempt (and it's feeble, at best) to make this somewhat clearer, the party is being given to cheer up/bring the spirits up of the honoree. She has been having some family and other problems, but the main reason for the party (originally) was to be a "grandmother" shower and then turned into this. (Don't ask me; it isn't getting any better.)

I have mixed feelings about this affair. On one hand, I think it's a wonderful gesture and wish someone would do something like that for me when I'm on that out-of-control roller coaster. But on the other hand, I say, "So what. You've brought this mess on yourself and I don't have time to feel sorry for you and don't feel I have to coddle you so you'll feel better because nothing's going to change."

I guess what I'm asking is have you or any of your other readers heard of/been invited to this kind of

"shower." And if so (and even if not), what are/were your thoughts and/or feelings and WHAT KIND OF GIFT DO YOU BRING?

Wondering

Dear Wondering,

I have not heard of this type of shower. If readers of this column have, I encourage them to write in with similar stories and their reactions.

My feeling is that if you like this person, go to the shower and be gracious in your attitude. Don't be angry or critical. Attend the party in a way that will make you feel good about yourself — like a lady.

If you don't like the woman, don't be a hypocrite. Don't go.

Any present that you guess might put a smile on her face is appropriate. How about lottery tickets or a Bill Cosby recording on families.

Rich Hall: You know his face, but how about his name?

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Van Morrison's music plays in the background while Rich Hall talks on the phone from his Montana home. Somewhere in the conversation, the comedian is asked what Morrison record is playing.

"No, he's (Morrison) here," says Hall earnestly.

No doubt in the tilted imaginative mind of Rich Hall, "Van the Man" is probably there strumming "Brown-Eyed Girl" in his living room. After all, Hall has a knack for making up things.

This is the fellow who gave us the Sniglet, words that somehow escaped Webster's book like "prememblamentation," which is the term for double checking to make sure a letter went down into the mailbox. He can also take a piece of Plexiglas and turn the object into a visual comedy bit about driving.

Hall's an Emmy-winning writer. He has three books to his credit and was recently honored by the Museum of Broadcasting in New York.

His sometimes frumpy-looking face is certainly recognizable to most.

Yet obscurity is still the main mailing address for Rich Hall, whose string of television credits include ABC-TV's "Fridays," HBO's "Not Necessarily the News," NBC-TV's "Saturday Night Live" and, currently, Comedy Channel's "Onion World."

PERHAPS THE closest Hall has come to prime-time exposure were those Pizza Hut commercials, where he trekked around in a pepperoni-inspired odyssey around the country. He's been in several TV pilots, but a majority of them remained dormant.

"In a way, I've sort have followed that natural pattern where you do enough late night stuff they try to fit you into prime time," Hall says. "I've sort have been resisting that and still trying to find a way to still work in that period."

"I know I don't have a conventional style of humor. There's not that many unconventional places to do comedy."

Hall is not bitter. Instead, he feels better off than some of his comedic contemporaries who've found a place during the family viewing hour.

"Kevin Meany is a really funny guy and they stuck him in a really stupid show ("Uncle Buck")," Hall says. "Same with Bob Saget: He's a really funny guy. I'm not going to do that. I don't care if I'm not on at 9 o'clock in front of the nuclear family."

In the meantime, Hall is content to make his new show "Onion World" a go. The program features his slightly-off-center humor along with cutting edge bands such as Jazz Butcher, Del Amitri and Camper Van Beethoven.

Also, Hall will be in a soon-to-be aired CBS-TV show "Say What?" The show focuses on how wordy the world has become, no doubt destined to find a place with a prime-time audience.

"CBS tested it in front of a busload of tourists," Hall says, "and they hated it."

STAND-UP COMEDY provides solace. Hall worked his way up the circuit, opening in front of rock 'n' roll audiences.

And sometimes things could get ugly. He relates opening for a band that featured former members of The Band at some converted bowling alley on Long Island on St. Patrick's Day. After 17 minutes, Hall was left to slink off stage as the drunken crowd howled.

Hall's wry observational humor still managed to find a receptive audience.

"I was kind of different because at that time I worked with a lot of props," Hall says, "which worked out well because I had a lot of bright and shiny objects to keep the drunks' attention a little bit longer."

His keen eye for the peculiar stems to a childhood of growing up in Charlotte, N.C., in the shadow of a K mart. He would often write short stories. He later went on to major in creative writing at the University of Washington. After graduating, Hall worked as a street performer for awhile before turning to stand-up comedy.

David Letterman recognized Hall's talents, catching his act at the Improvisation in New York. Letterman hired him as a writer for his ill-fated morning show. Though the program was canceled, Hall earned an Emmy for his writing.

FROM THERE, Hall's sojourn into network television began. ABC-TV's "Fridays," an anemic attempt to compete with "Saturday Night Live," provided his introduction. Hall contends he doesn't remember.

"I went to a Blackstone show and I was hypnotized for three years," Hall says. "During that time people said I did 'Fridays.'"

"HBO's Not Necessarily the News" later allowed a better showcase for Hall's off-beat observational humor.

The show also produced the first Sniglet, "flem" — the crusty residue on top of a ketchup bottle. (For the record, Hall's favorite Sniglet is "pielilibrium" — a term for when the crust of a pie slice outweighs the filling and it tips upward.)

"Saturday Night Live" was another short lived late-night forum for Hall.

"There was a lot of frustration there because nobody liked our producer Dick Ebersol, who was about as funny as a stick," Hall says. "After a year, we said 'that's it' and everyone quit."

On "Onion World," Hall has a free rein. The show travels around the world, so Hall can fix his eye on "technological and environmental buffoonery."

But there's nothing like performing in front of a live audience, Hall says.

Rich Hall is an Emmy-winning writer, with three books to his credit. But even though he was recently honored by the Museum of Broadcasting in New York, obscurity seems to be his mailing address.

"You get that manipulative power to have the audience in the palm of your hand and work them into a comedic frenzy if you want," Hall says. "Or, more than likely in my case, create some incredible vacuum of silence."

"Like unbelievable silence, like a black hole where no sound can escape. That's what my material is like. There's a lot of abject silence."

Rich Hall will perform 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 23, at the Ramada Heritage Center, 17201 Northline Road, Southgate. Tickets are $12. For information, call 283-4400. He will also appear Friday and Saturday, May 24-25, at MainStreet Comedy Showcase, 314 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Tickets are $15 reserved; $13 general admission. Show times are 7, 9 and 11 p.m. For information, call 996-9080.

How to win at the numbers game.

The game is newspaper advertising — and the rules are changing. Rates are up in the Detroit News and Free Press. Suburban circulation is down. And all around town, advertisers are wondering what numbers to trust — and where to place their media dollars. What should you do?

Beware of smoke and mirrors.

Right now, the News and Free Press circulation is unstable at best. On the other hand, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers delivers to more than 500,000 households — and that's a real number.

How do we know? All SPRING newspapers are audited. Every year, the circulation figures for each SPRING newspaper are verified by either CAC or ABC — two of the industry's most highly-respected independent auditors.

No slippery stuff here. SPRING's numbers are tested, tried, and true.

Place your bet on SPRING.

Once you've studied the numbers, we're sure you'll agree: SPRING is a sure winner.

SPRING's circulation is solid and stable. It's audited. And it represents more than one million readers who have the means to buy what you sell.

No matter how you figure it — those are very good odds, indeed.

See what's behind the numbers.

OK — so dazzling numbers can be misleading. And, when it comes to newspaper circulation figures, you want more than quantity. You want quality.

We've got it. SPRING's one million readers are some of the most affluent consumers around. SPRING newspapers go to suburbs with the spending power to buy more cars, condos, boats, bikes, appliances, apparel, gizmos, and gadgets than most other Michigan communities combined.

Best of all, SPRING delivers this upscale suburban market at a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

Eat away for your special D-A-Y

By Joanne Sobczak
special writer

THE NEXT TIME YOU think there isn't such a thing as a "free lunch," you might want to talk to Kaye Pearl, Jeff Schmidt, Bob Vargo or Kevin Downey. They'll tell you there's an exception to the rule — your birthday.

According to Pearl, assistant service manager at the Southfield Bill Knapp's Restaurant, several months ago her staff served a woman who had turned 101 years old. And at Bill Knapp's, that makes her special.

Birthdays are indeed special at Bill Knapp's, which has grown from one location in Battle Creek in 1948 to 48 restaurants in five states today. Right from the start, founder Clinton Knapp made sure children's birthdays were an exciting event at his restaurant. "Little Knappers," as children 1 through 10 are called, are treated to a free chocolate cake. Plus everyone (a maximum of 10) at their birthday party receives a free dish of French vanilla ice cream.

"Big Knappers," 11 years and older, not only get a chocolate cake, but with identification, the cashier will discount the birthday boy's or girl's meal a percentage equal to his or her age.

When someone celebrates his or her 101st birthday at the restaurant, not only is the person's meal free, but the patron is also reimbursed a calculated percentage of the guest check, based on how many years passed 100 the person is celebrating.

SO IF YOU'RE 100 or older, there is such a thing as a free lunch or dinner. The company has had about 250 people who, in the last 20 years, have passed the 100-year milestone and who have received checks from Bill Knapp's. None of them have yet to cash their refund checks.

"They seem to keep the check as a souvenir or memento," Pearl said.

"They are very accommodating about how they prepare the food," said Marjorie Naftaly who has been coming to Bill Knapp's for 20 years to enjoy family birthdays. That night she and husband Roland were quietly toasting his birthday.

"I save money and the food is very good," the Oak Park CPA said while waiting for the waitress to pack his free cake. "I pick out what I want."

At least 65 cakes leave the Southfield Bill Knapp's daily and 80 percent of them are for birthdays. The other 20 percent are white cakes, used for anniversary celebrations. The company produces about one million cakes annually for businesses for the birthday/anniversary celebrations.

Alicia Auth stared with wonder at the excitement going on at the table next to hers. Wilayne Van Devender of Romulus sat between her two "best" friends while a half dozen staff members at Charlie's Wayne Roadhouse sang a jazzed-up version of "Happy Birthday" to her.

THE THREE-year-old's eyes widened even more at the sight of a lit candle on top of a huge chocolate sundae presented to Van Devender.

Van Devender noticed the youngster's interest and stretched between the tables to offer Alicia a chance to blow out the candle. Alicia definitely assisted.

With the candle extinguished, Alicia eyed the sundae. Van Devender didn't have to worry, Alicia's father made certain the waitress brought the youngster one.

Well, he had to pay for Alicia's sundae, but Van Devender didn't have to pay for hers. The dessert was part of her birthday gift from the Wayne restaurant. The other part was a free dinner.

Jeff Schmidt, manager of the Roadhouse, said birthday celebrating customers who inform their waitress of the special occasion and show identification, enjoy a complimentary sundae and the restaurant's "free meal" policy.

"With proper identification, unless it's a little tyke, we cut the bill in half, if you come in with another guest," he said. "It's basically a one entree off type policy."

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Celebrate a birthday at Charlie's Wayne Roadhouse in Wayne and you may have a half-dozen staff members sing a jazzed-up version of "Happy Birthday" and be served a huge chocolate sundae by Terri Nelson.

THE BIRTHDAY freebie has only been offered since the establishment came under the ownership of Fred Ferguson who also bought the Uptown in Madison Heights. Both restaurants were formerly part of the Chuck Muer seafood chain.

"Sometimes people come in and they don't know we have the policy," said Schmidt, a Novi resident. "They will be treating a friend to dinner and drinks and then they'll find out (from the waitress) that the friend will be getting a free birthday dinner."

So it was for Van Devender.

"What a riot," she laughed, referring to the staff's new version of "Happy Birthday." The University of Michigan administrative assistant had no idea what her friends Barbara Breeding of Romulus and Linda Gardner of Canton had in mind. Although the two co-workers had eaten at the Roadhouse before, neither was sure about the details of the restaurant's festivities.

Beau Jacks in Birmingham created its birthday give-away system about four years ago. The restaurant uses a computer. Customers fill out postcards and return them to the restaurant, according to manager Bob Vargo.

THE PATRONS write their birth date and address on the postcards and the information is entered into the computer. Every month the restaurant sends out 450-550 gift certificates inviting them to celebrate at Beau Jacks at 20 percent off. The discount is applied to the entire bill no matter how many are in the party.

Vargo said 60-65 percent take the restaurant up on its offer that includes a complimentary birthday cake as part of the offer. There is no specific expiration date on the coupon.

At Beau Jacks, the pub-like ambiance is for those who prefer casual dining. The popular food choices are the half-pound burger, followed by the Caesar salad.

If money is no object and you really would like to do it up, the elegant Fox and Hounds in Bloomfield Hills has embarked on giving birthday presents.

Owner Kevin Downey and manager Lori Grubba created the "Celebration Club," using a computer to register their patron's birthdays in a fashion similar to Beau Jacks.

"The customers fill out a registration card which is presented with the guest check," Downey said. "It requests information about the patron's birthday and anniversary dates. During the month of their special date, a personal letter and a $10 gift certificate (good any time during the month) is mailed out."

ABOUT 3,000 customers are enrolled in the club "and it's growing," Downey said. About 20-40 cards are filled out daily and the establishment is experiencing a 20 percent return. Downey hopes to build the registry to 1,500 customers a month.

In addition to the gift certificate, there's also a birthday cake — a chocolate cake with chocolate mousse and chocolate shavings or white cake with white mousse and white butter cream frosting.

You also get a discount on another house original — the Birthday Package. For 10 bucks, the staff will decorate your table with a happy birthday banner and helium balloons. And, of course, the staff sings — Birthday Package or not.

Don Nelson and his wife Bernice of Howell were having a great time with their friends Frank and Mary Macartney of Rochester Hills at the Fox and Hounds. The latter arranged for the surprise celebration, complete with the banner and balloons.

Nelson, a retired corporate pilot who was celebrating his 66th birthday, joked that after 33,000 hours of accident free flying, he was going to take the balloons home and consider becoming "a balloonist."

"I think 90 percent of our society celebrates birthdays and anniversaries," Downey said. "It's a festive situation. You are only wishing someone well."

A guide to finding birthday treats that can't be beat

HERE ARE A FEW places in the metropolitan area that offer freebies for birthdays and anniversaries:

BEAU JACKS, 4108 W. Maple Road, Birmingham (626-2630): For birthdays, 20 percent off the entire guest check when patron brings gift certificate sent by the restaurant. Complimentary cake also available.

BENNIGAN'S, Southfield (356-0292), Madison Heights (583-9835), Bloomfield Hills (334-9810) and Plymouth (459-8907): For birthdays, a free chocolate cake and serenade by the staff.

BILL KNAPP'S, Southfield (358-3860), Bloomfield Hills (642-2338), Farmington (478-3540), Farmington Hills (553-4821), Plymouth (459-1616) and Livonia (464-6363): For birthdays, complimentary birthday cake. Birthday celebrant receives a percentage discount on his or her meal equal to the age (identification required). Children one through 10 years of age receive a free cake and scoop of ice cream (up to 10 scoops depending on how many in birthday party).

BLOOMFIELD CHARLEY'S, 5656 W. Maple Road, West Bloomfield (855-2244): For birthdays, a complimentary dessert or after-dinner cocktail and serenade by the staff.

CHARLIE'S WAYNE ROADHOUSE, 3511 W. Michigan Ave., Wayne (326-0633): For birthdays, a free dinner for the birthday guest (discount based on the number of people in the party), free hot fudge sundae with a serenade from the staff (identification required for discount).

CHARLEY'S CRAB, 5498 Crooks Road, Troy (879-2060): For birthdays, a complimentary cake made on the premises.

CHICAGO ROAD HOUSE, 21400 Michigan Ave., Dearborn (565-5710): For birthdays, celebrant must come in on his or her birthday, or Monday or Tuesday during the week of birthday, to receive a free meal based on a party of two or whatever is the lesser price of the two meals. There is no complimentary cake but a $7.50 walnut torte is available for the occasion. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, a pianist will accompany the staff in singing the birthday song. (Proof required for free meal.)

DENNISON'S, 37716 Six Mile, Livonia (464-9030), and 27909 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills (533-7000): For birthdays, if the celebrant is in a party of two or alone, 50 percent off the entire bill.

Complimentary choice of apple pie or cheesecake and staff serenade in the evenings. (Identification required.)

DON CARLOS, 7034 Middlebelt, Garden City (445-2900): For birthdays, complimentary white or chocolate cake or an after-dinner drink specialty — Cafe Don Carlos — and a serenade by the staff.

FRONTE D'AMORE, 32030 Plymouth Road, Livonia (422-0770): For birthdays, a complimentary chocolate torte and the staff sings "Happy Birthday" in Italian.

FOX AND HOUNDS, 1650 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills (644-4800): Restaurant management keeps track of birthdays through a computer system. Patrons who fill out a card receive a $10 gift certificate to be redeemed during the birthday month. A free cake (white or chocolate) is presented by the staff, which also provides appropriate singing. A discount on the "Birthday Package" — staff decorates a reserved table with banner and balloons — is also available.

KINGSLEY INN, 1475 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills (644-1400): For birthdays, a complimentary cake. The piano player will play "Happy Birthday" Tuesday-Saturday in the dining room, while the Monday-Saturday entertainment in the cocktail lounge will provide the birthday greeting.

UPTOWN, 1111 W. 14 Mile, Madison Heights (585-9533): For birthdays, a complimentary ice cream sundae with a serenade by the staff.

HOROSCOPE

May 19 through May 25

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Things are happening quickly for you these days, and it is important you make the right decisions for yourself. Trust what is in your heart.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Steer clear of those who bring you trouble this week. You don't need, nor do you deserve, the problems they drag along with them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Take a close look at finances, and you may be surprised at just how well you are doing. Money will play a big role in a decision you must make.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

At times it might seem impossible, but you must keep a positive outlook on life. Things really are better than you might think.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Keep an open mind when dealing with family members and try to avoid arguments when possible. Pay close attention to details this week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

This week will seem crazy at times, but you can keep it all together by playing calm. It may be necessary to change your point of view.

By C.C. Clark

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Your words could come back to haunt you. There's no need to be paranoid, just don't say anything you aren't comfortable with.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

A friend or family member needs your undivided attention this week. You may be really busy, but you must find a way to make time for them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Health matters should be highest on your priority list this week. If rest is part of the prescription, set aside time and make yourself comply.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Take charge this week and show everyone just what you can do. Proving yourself reliable in the toughest situations will move you forward.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Friends and family will surprise you with some very innovative ideas about entertainment this week. Go along with the fun and just enjoy yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Authority figures could put you on the spot this week. Make sure you have your facts straight before confronting them.

ABC to present 75th running of Indianapolis 500

Speeds set at trials already topping records

By Steve Paschal

If the speeds posted during the time trials are any indication of things to come, this year's Indianapolis 500 promises to be one of the fastest and most competitive in the race's 75-year history.

Records began falling on the first day of practice for the biggest single-day event in racing, which will be televised live on ABC Sunday, May 26, when three-time champion Ricky Mears shattered Emerson Fittipaldi's qualifying record with a sizzling four-lap average of 227 mph. In fact, five other drivers were clocked at speeds in excess of the 223.8 mph record, including defending champion Arie Luyendyk, 1989 winner Fittipaldi, Gary Bettenhausen, Mario Andretti and son Michael Andretti.

Those showings are a far cry from the inaugural race in 1911 when Ray Harroun piloted his Marmon Wasp the 200 laps around the fabled Brickyard with an average speed of 74.6 mph. It wasn't until 1930 that Billy Arnold crashed the 100 mph barrier, and it was another 35 years before Jim Clark exceeded 150 mph in his Lotus Ford. Last year Luyendyk smashed the old record set by Bobby Rahal in 1986 by over 15 mph with an average clocking of 185.9 mph.

The sentimental flavor created by the presence of such longtime veterans as Fittipaldi and Darrell Waltrip intensified earlier this month with living-legend A.J. Foyt passed his mandatory physical exam and was cleared by doctors to drive in his 34th Indy, which he has indicated will be his last. The 56-year-old Foyt, sidelined since he suffered extensive injuries to his arms and legs in a crash last September, is racing's all-time winningest driver with 67 victories on the CART circuit. His four Memorial weekend victories tie him for first place with Al Unser atop the list of Indy champions.

Mears, a three-time winner who finished first in 1979, 1984 and 1988, will be looking to join that elite group of two after almost accomplishing that feat in 1989.

That year a clutch problem sent him to the pits as he battled Fittipaldi and Al Unser Jr. for the lead. Fittipaldi, one of this year's favorites along with Mears, Unser and Luyendyk, survived a tire-bumping incident less than two laps from the finish line that sent the junior Unser into the wall and out of the race as Fittipaldi took the checkered flag.

More than 300,000 racing fans are expected to converge on Indianapolis to watch the field of 33 drivers burn rubber for more than $4.5 million in prize money. Millions more will be tuning in to ABC for live race coverage complete with commentary by three-time Indy winner Bobby Unser and racing experts Paul Page, Sam Posey and Jack Whitaker.

This will be the sixth consecutive year that ABC Sports, which has earned four Emmys for its Indy specials, has presented live coverage of auto racing's most prestigious event. From 1971 through 1985, ABC provided exclusive same-day network coverage, and prior to that the race was carried on a delayed basis on "ABC's Wide World of Sports." This year ABC will be in the pits, the hospital area and garage to bring up-to-the-minute reports in addition to the telecast of the race.

ABC Sports televises the 75th Indianapolis 500, the greatest auto race in the world, Monday. Defending champ Arie Luyendyk heads a field of 33 drivers.

FAMILY FARE

On cable, HBO continues its popular Babar series with "Never Cry Alien," premiering Tuesday, May 21. Based on the classic children's books of Jean and Laurent de Brunhoff.

Talking car gets the week rolling

By Mary Ann Townsend

Beginning with the crime-fighting capabilities of a talking car, specials for the whole family are featured this week.

NBC starts off the week with the return of David Hasselhoff in his role as Michael Knight in Knight Rider 2000 on Sunday, May 19. It's the beginning of the 21st century and Knight must stop a gun-running ring. But first he needs to rebuild his partner in crime-fighting: his talking, thinking car, KITT.

ABC on Monday, May 20, offers The Best of Disney: 50 Years of Magic. The two-hour special celebrates the Disney films, characters and entertainment specials that have become part of the fabric of American life. The special stars Dick Van Dyke, Neil Patrick Harris, Harry Connick Jr. and Shelley Long, among others. Rare behind-the-scenes footage from Disney classics will be featured.

STAR NOTES

Nothing is sacred to Damon Wayans

By Amy Schmidt

Nothing is sacred during HBO Comedy Hour: Damon Wayans: The Last Stand? The star of Fox's hit comedy series In Living Color, true to form, will take on everybody — including heavyweight Mike Tyson — in this uncensored special, premiering Saturday, May 25.

High-flying Superman Christopher Reeve will serve as host of The Discovery Channel's Future Flight, Sunday, May 19. Renowned scientists, engineers and futurists, such as Isaac Asimov, will show viewers the air and space adventures they can look forward to in the 21st century.

A satellite carrying a mutant small-pox germ heads for a crash landing in the Australian outback in Sky Trackers, premiering Saturday on The Disney Channel. Pamela Sue Martin (Dynasty) and Maia Brewton (Back to the Future) play a mother and daughter imperiled by the stellar event.

Keshia Knight Pulliam of The Cosby Show is the host of a special video review segment on Lifetime's American Baby series. Pulliam and the series' host will discuss movies that are both fun and educational for kids, Monday, May 20, on the network.

Mean Michael is out for blood in Halloween 5: The Revenge of Michael Myers, Thursday, May 23, on HBO. Donald Pleasence stars.

ESPN baseball: The Philadelphia Phillies play host to the Chicago Cubs, Sunday.

Hard work paying off for Donna Pescow

By Lisa Otoupal

Donna Pescow's career is swinging from a star as she successfully takes on the role of a single mother raising her extraterrestrial teenage daughter in Out of This World.

Born and raised in Brooklyn, N.Y., Pescow's career sprang into action after attending the American Academy of Dramatic Arts on a scholarship. Just three months after graduating a director offered her a job touring in Ah Wilderness. After the show closed, she studied with Lee Strasberg, again on a scholarship, and continued to audition for theater and TV roles.

All the hard work paid off when Pescow was asked to audition for the role of Annette in Saturday Night Fever. After gaining back the Brooklyn accent she had worked so hard to lose and auditioning for two different directors, Pescow got the part. She was voted one of the top three supporting actresses by the New York Film Critics Circle in 1977 for her performance, and Hollywood's interest in her grew. She co-starred in telefilms and then met with Garry (Happy Days) Marshall, who cast her for the series Angie.

After Angie was canceled, Pescow appeared in popular television series, telefilms and miniseries. She also appeared on stage in starring roles in Guys and Dolls, Isn't It Romantic and A My Name Is Alice before going on to star in Out of This World, seen in syndication. © TV Listing Inc.

TRIVIA, ETC.

From film to stage and back again...

By Steven Alan McGaw

Questions:

1. Ava Gardner played the leading female role in the movie. Bette Davis, among others, starred in the stage version. What is the name of the property?

2. Audrey Hepburn starred, of course, in the film version of My Fair Lady. Identify the actress who was slighted by not being asked to repeat her Broadway success.

3. Philip Anglim originated the role. Mark Hamill played the part for a while. Name the show and the rock star who critics generally agreed was the best of the actors to take turns at the lead.

4. The Tommy Tune-staged musical was called Nine. The show was based on what film by what director?

5. Stephen Sondheim's A Little Night Music was also based on a film. (You know what I'm asking!)

Answers:

1. Night of the Iguana
2. Julie Andrews
3. The play is The Elephant Man; the actor/singer in question is David Bowie.
4. The film is 8 1/2; directed by Federico Fellini.
5. Sondheim based his lovely musical on the Ingmar Bergman film Smiles of a Summer Night.

Dr. Menzies wants Dr. Newberry transferred on ABC's STAT, Tuesday.

Back Pain Now History!

"As a manufacturers rep, I'm constantly on the run lugging and lifting computers. My neck and back were a disaster area. I didn't want to take drugs, and couldn't afford time off. Dr. Gower gently removed the nerve pressure. I'm back on line again, and I feel great."
