STEVE JOHNSON, 21, a University of Michigan senior, said that while he was attending the fireworks with two friends, "I got pushed to the ground."

Johnson said he turned around, and saw that two friends who had been walking behind him "were getting pushed and kicked when they were down, my one friend's face was all bloody."

Johnson said the Detroit police officers they approached after the incident weren't

The victim, a Milford man, said, "Yeah," Johnson continued. "There's nothing we can do about it," the policeman responded, according to Johnson.

Officer John Leavens, a Detroit Police spokesman, said the victim "should file a report on it with our department. We would investigate it and someone would be in touch with him.

"If there is misconduct, appropriate ac-'tion should be taken against those officers," Leavens added.

Prior to the incident, which Johnson said happened just before dark, he and his two friends had parked their car east of the Ren Cen in the Rivertown neighborhood.

THEY WALKED WEST on Jefferson, their destination Hart Plaza.

On approaching Hart Plaza, "It was too crowded, so we were walking back to our because it was too crowded," Johnson said. It was when they passed a group of men sitting on the steps of a church on Jefferson that they were attacked, Johnson said.

Saying the group of men who assaulted them were black - Johnson and his two friends are white - he said, "I think it was pretty racial."

"I hope it wasn't," he said, adding he and his three friends were the only whites in the immediate area.

Prior to the incident, "We didn't say a word to anyone, we weren't looking at anybody funny," Johnson said, adding the three were trying to hurry back to their car. Johnson said he's attended several festivals at Hart Plaza, and the fireworks. Now, Johnson said he won't be returning down-

Comic books are no joke for local businessman

Jerry Andrews, who owns the comic book store Little Shop of Heroes in Plymouth, says that while kids are still his main customers, adults these days are also buying comics.

staff writer

If you're an adult who bought comic books in the '50s or '60s, know there's been a few changes in the world of superheroes since then.

For one, those 10-cent comics you recall go for nearly $1.25 now. And while the local drugstore usually displayed a wire rack or two of comics, nowadays whole stores devoted to comics are popping up.

LITTLE SHOP OF HEROES on Main Street in Plymouth has been open just over a year, said owner Jerry Andrews. Besides traditional favorites such as Batman, Superman, Spiderman and Classics Illustrated, new favorites like the Mutants; Punisher, X-Force and scores of others are displayed for comics

Andrews said some high school students come in for issues of the revived Classics Illustrated series and use the comics as a information source for school papers. "They read these and make their report on it," Andrews said.

Area politicians play musical chairs

By Wayne Peal staff writer

It began with the resignation of a county commissioner. It continues with the Tuesday, Aug. 6, election for state representative. And when it's over, it could change the political landscape in more than a half-dozen western Wayne County communities

Like a game of musical chairs, area elected officials have been swapping seats like crazy.

• First, county commissioner Susan Heintz of Northville Township resigned in April to direct Gov. John Engler's metro region office.

• Then, Maurice Breen left his job as Plymouth Township supervisor to replace Heintz on the county board.

• Breen's former post was filled by former state Rep. Gerald Law, who returned to local government after more than four terms in Lansing.

· Now, three candidates, including a Northville Township supervisor and Plymouth city councilman, are vying to replace Law.

THE CHANGES aren't confined to the Plymouth/Northville area. They also touch Livonia, now represented by Breen at the county level, and Canton, where voters will choose between Georgina Goss, Jerry Vorva and Deborah Whyman for a new state representative.

The job changes have enlivened local politics the state House race promises to be one of the area's most spirited in years - but it's also been controversial, with some area Republicans accusing others of choosing candidates from too small a Heintz, Breen, Law and Goss are friends and long-time political allies. Breen and Law have both endorsed Goss for the House seat. Though her current position prevents an endorsement, Heintz's name also appears on Goss' campaign lit-

"I have endorsed her in the past," Heintz said. 'We've known each other a long time and she followed me as Northville Township supervisor."

Heintz also personally endorsed Breen as her successor in a letter to the county commission.

All are members of the Wayne 2nd District Republican organization, the area's largest and most active GOP group.

"WE'VE ALL come up through the ranks and we've all worked a long time on behalf of the Republican Party," Heintz said. "There's no surprises. When someone elects one of us, they pretty much know where we stand. With Maurie, I don't think you could find a better qualified candidate for the county commission.'

But the personal endorsement of Breen, essentially bypassing the party organization, upset several other Wayne 2nd District members, who felt the process excluded other candidates.

'I, for one, was disappointed," said Jack Kirskey, whose long career in local politics included terms as a state representative and a Schoolcraft College trustee. "What you lose when something like this happens is the opportunity for grass-roots participation.

Group can't ask for vote on airport issue

Mettetal Airport opponents can't seek a binding vote of the citizens to keep Plymouth Township from buying the Canton airport.

Wayne County Clerk James Killeen had said this was possible, but corrected himself to say such an effort would violate state law governing charter townships such as Plymouth Township, said Bob Zaetta of Plymouth Township Concerned Citizens, who recently discussed the matter with Killeen.

The citizens group had collected

Kileen said that a vote to keep Plymouth Township from buying Mettetal could not be more than 2,000 signatures from residents to place the issue on an advisory ballot. But Killeen told township trustees in a June 20 letter that such a vote could not be held, based on rulings by state officials on advisory elections.

There weren't record breaking crowds, but folks who made it out to the First Annual Lucille's Championship Rodeo said they were 'steered" in the right direction last weekend.

NET PROCEEDS from the rodeo at the Wayne County Fairgrounds are to be donated to the Children's Hospital Burn Unit, according to Jerry Stewart, rodeo sponsor and producer.

State budget clouding district court judgeship

Rusty Obedeer takes a fall after getting bucked.

There won't be any changes soon in the judicial lineup in Plymouth and Canton.

Judge John E. MacDonald said Tuesday that he won't know until September if a third judgeship will be created for the 35th District Court in Plymouth, adding that a tight state budget is the culprit.

He said the court, which serves Plymouth and Canton, needs another judgeship.

"My feelings are that statistics support it. We have one of the biggest caseloads in the state. If you go on that basis, we more than qualify,' MacDonald said.

He also said he won't be leaving the court anytime soon. He was one of 12 judges under consideration for a seat on the state Court of Appeals, but didn't get the appointment. He was also in line to fill the slot of Thomas Foley, of Plymouth, who recently retired from his Wayne County Circuit judgeship. That appointment was given to Susan Nielsen, he said.

Gov. John Engler asked Mac-Donald to interview for the circuit court, he said.

The appeals court vacancy was created March 28 by the resignation of Judge Richard Maher. An estimated 200 judges expressed interest in the appellate court's First District, including Jackson, Livingston, Monroe and Lenawee.

County lagging in toxic cleanup

staff writer

Metro Detroit - including Wayne and Oakland counties lags behind other parts of the state in cleaning toxic waste sites, according to a new report.

Southeast Michigan has the worst cleanup rate of any region in the state with Wayne County making less cleanup progress than any other county, according to a recently released report from the Public Interst Research Group in Michigan (PIRGIM).

"I wouldn't say there's been no progress, but there's been very slow progress," said PIRGIM spokesman Andy Buchsbaum, who helped compile the report.

Part of the problem is that southeast Michigan has apparently been shortchanged in terms of state financing.

State money has been targeted for 18.6 percent of the southeast Michigan sites, and only for 7.7 percent of those in Wayne County, the report said. Elsewhere, state money has been used for cleanups at 31 percent of all toxic waste

There has been no cleanup work on more than half of Wayne County's 52 toxic waste sites, Buchsbaum said, with progress also slow in Oakland and Macomb counties.

"THEY DO have more sites than many other counties, but Kent County has the most sites of any county and progress there has been much more rapid," Buchsbaum said. "What's significant here (in southeast Michigan) is that nowhere else to do have such a concentration of counties with so

It was the first report of its kind compiled by PIRGIM, a public advocacy group based in Ann Arbor.

Though the new state "polluters-pay" law should provide more cleanup money, PIRGIM officials said taxpayers still bear the brunt of cleanup project financing.
Among its findings:

Only 22 of Wayne County's 52 worst toxic waste sites have had no cleanup of any kind, and only one site is ready for full cleanup. In contrast, seven of Kent County's 48 sites are already being cleaned, with action at 33 county sites to be paid for by polluters.

· A mere 4.4 percent of the state's 748 most dangerous sites are being cleaned or are ready for full cleanup. There has been no action of any kind on 209 sites.

One of the problems is that the DNR is overworked, especially in southeastern Michigan," Buchs-

DNR officials generally declined comment on PIRGIM's findings.

We agree that Michigan has a number of sites and that polluters pay will be effective, but beyond that we really can't comment on their study," said Frank Reswick, acting DNR director for environmental protection.

As for the DNR being over-

"It's fair to say our employees have a fair amount of work and they've been doing it efficiently," Reswick said.

The PIRGIM report primarily examined work at the 748 worst sites. Work on the rest of Michigan's 2,800 toxic waste sites will be studied in a follow up report, PIR-

There's been a considerable efitting from the area's on-going amount of work on one of western Wayne County's worst toxic waste sites, no work at all on the other, according to the most recent Michigan Department of Natural Resources report.

The Rouge River, western Wayne's worst site, is listed among the sites receiving "evaluation/interim response" by the DNR. That broad based category represents sites in the various steps between no action and cleanup completion.

In addition to the recent volunteer cleanup, the Rouge is also ben-

"super sewer" improvements and will eventually stand to benefit from other improvements in both local disposal and the Detroit Water Treatment Plant system.

To date, the Rouge has been one of the few area sites receiving state cleanup money.

Heavy metals, pesticides, PCBs and other pollutants have been detected in stretches of the river, according to the DNR.

At the same time, no action has been recorded at the K and J Landfill site, Canton Township.

Though water samples will be taken and analyzed, the project involves more than just scientific research.

"The idea is to make students think about the Rouge and its impact on the region," said Robert Crawford, an English and history teacher at Stevenson Junior High, Westland.

Crawford admits he was skeptical

"I SAW it just as a science project," the Westland resident said. But you come to realize that while the job of the scientist is to gather data, it's the job of English and social studies to give it meaning."

Water testing began last week and Thomas Morawa, a science teacher at Livonia Churchill High School,

"Because I teach chemistry, I'm always making the kids aware of what kinds of things they shouldn't be flushing down the drain," he said. The testing, he added, will let stu-dents know just what kinds of chemi-cals are already in the Rouge.

The project, however, requires that teachers be students, too.

It begins with a geographical overview of the 467 square mile Rouge River watershed, detailing the area's plant and animal life and how it became endangered by pollu-

SEMCOG boosts regional government

By Tim Richard staff writer

'Regional government" used to be a dirty phrase around the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Last week it became a thinkable idea. To many at a SEMCOG workshop on urban sprawl, regional government became discussable - and even desirable.

"Start with a regional planning agency with mandatory participa-tion," said spokesmen for eight groups of elected officials, planners, environmentalists and businesspeo-

"A metropolitan council for services of a regional nature could be workable," one group agreed at the end of the day.

'Regional government, with an elected governing body, is perhaps the end result, the ultimate," said another.

Everyone agreed we need some kind of change - at a minimum, mandatory regional planning," said

SEMCOG, FOUNDED in 1969, is a voluntary agency in the seven-county region. Some 130 of 230 units of government pay dues. In a deep economic recession, many quit.

For the last year, SEMCOG has been studying "urban sprawl" - the eating up of land by low-density uses unjustified by population growth. The region's population is expected to rise 6 percent in the next 20 years, but "business as usual" will require development of 40 percent more

Last week's SEMCOG-sponsored session broached the subject SEM-COG leaders had shunned for years. Before the 100 conferees were four options for change that proved almost universally popular:

• Mandatory regional planning.

Mandatory regional authori-

• A metropolitan council - appointed policy board.

• A metropolitan council elected governing board.

"EVERYONE CONFRONTED with the reality of what we're doing found the possibilities eye-opening, said Marilynn Gosling, an Oakland County commissioner from Bloomfield Hills.

"Metropolitan councils can accomplish things we've talked about," said Gosling, who co-chairs the yearlong SEMCOG study

'Rena Cusma knocked everyone's socks off," said John Amberger, SEMCOG executive director. Cusma, the luncheon speaker, is executive officer of the Metropolitan Service District in Portland, Ore. "Rena Cusma got the plan through the Oregon Legislature. We've just introduced the idea here," said Amberger.

The Portland area "Metro" covers three counties. It does urban planning, transportation planning, solid waste disposal and recycling. It also operates the zoo, civic stadium, convention center and performing arts Amberger said, "Local elected officials are in terrible binds. They must do what's best for their people and also look after the region.

MILTON MACK, & Wayne County probate judge, issued an outright call for new regional governance

'Southeast Michigan is now facing its biggest crisis - urban sprawl,' said Mack. Yet no local governmental mechanism is in place which could even remotely begin to address the problems caused by sprawl. Local home-rule powers relating to planning and zoning are irrelevant in the regional community known as southeast Michigan."

Before appointment to the bench, Mack was SEMCOG chair, a Wayne County commissioner and a city of

"I propose that some of the functions that local government now performs be shared with an agency with regional oversight," Mack said, adding he opposes replacing local gov-

The regional agency, he said, should make decisions on land uses of regional impact: "location of major industries, airports, highway extensions, large commercial developments such as a shopping center or mega-mall, major sports facilities, large new subdivisions and the protection of wetlands."

School security is his new beat

staff writer

For the past five years, Roy Anderson tracked down murderers, rapists; robbers and prison escapees for the Michigan State Police fugitive team.

Before that it was stopping organized crime for 11 years, working in surveillance and on the gambling squad with the criminal investigation division in Detroit.

After 26 years with the state po-lice, Anderson retired and landed a new job as chief of security for the Plymouth-Canton Community

"I'VE DONE and been part of things little kids dream about," said Anderson, 47, a Livonia resident. 'I've shaken the hands of Presidents Carter, Ford and Bush, Mrs. Bush, Vice President Dan Quayle and Menachem Begin" while assisting the secret service.

"Police officers are people who help people, and the state police is the best police department in the state of Michigan.

"In this job, I can still serve people, but now I don't need a gun and a badge to do it," said Anderson.

The people here know what they want; they don't want some big ogre or someone here who has a problem with children, because security and the enforcement of rules are part of the learning process. Anderson's first day on the job was June 3. Seniors attended for their last day on June 5; Canton and Salem High Schools' commencement was June 9 in Ann Arbor followed by the seniors' all-night graduation party. After several 6:30 a.m. - 3 p.m. days, Anderson reported for work at 10:30 a.m. graduation day and worked until 3 p.m. the next day. "It was a no-nod shift, but that's OK," said Anderson. "It's one day a year. I absolutely enjoy this job, and I plan to enjoy it for several more years. I keep telling them I love this job, and I'm sure they know it.

The police community is like a close-knit family, and it's the same with teachers and administrators, he added. "That's what makes it nice; I've gone from one family to another. It's like visiting your inlaws, if you like your in-laws, and I have some great ones," said Anderson, whose wife Charlene trains pharmaceutical technicians and nurses aides as a teacher with Plymouth-Canton Community Education. The couple has two children, Paula, 18, who just graduated from Church-ill High School, and Steven, 14, who's entering Churchill this fall.

ANDERSON'S FIRST tour of duty brought written praise from his bosses. He received a letter from Canton Principal Tom MacKenzie and administrative area coordinator Ken Jacobs thanking him for his handling of graduation rehearsal, commencement, the seniors' last day, and the senior party.

Anderson, who supervises a staff of eight security officers, sees his department's job as "enforcing school laws and state laws; friendly enforcement.

"I've been enforcing the law and living by the law all my life," he said. "I would expect others to do the same.

And if they don't?

"It'll be equal enforcement with a smile," said Anderson. As for drugs on campus, "If we seize drugs here, we'll make a report, and turn evidence over to the police department. Security officers are everywhere, on foot and in trucks. Like everyone, we always appreciate information from the public on who might be using or selling. I'm not sure drugs are in schools in the quantities they were a few years ago," Anderson said.

Roy Anderson, retired from the Michigan State Police, replaces Jim Collins as chief of security for Plymouth-Canton Communi-

Based on what I read in the files, there've been fewer apprehensions and I don't think there's ever been a reduction in emphasis. Either there's less activity, or kids are more so-phisticated. I'm going to say I believe there's less drug use on cam-

THE DISTRICT'S smoking policy still is being revised. If and when CEP becomes a no-smoking campus, 'We'll enforce the rules as best we can," he said. School may be out, but Centennial Educational Park is buzzing with activity, Anderson has found.

This 305 acres is a center of activity. There are a lot of new families in Canton and Plymouth; this is kind of a young community. Kids are here in sports clinics learning to swim, play softball, soccer and bas-ketball. We have Safety Town going on for the youngsters, and summer school. It's different than murder, rape, robbery and prison escapes; you can quote me."

Anderson looks at home at his new desk in Phase Three at the park. An engraved plaque bearing his name and title, a gift from his daughter, graces his desk. On the wall is a framed picture of Bo Schembechler coaching his last game in U of M Stadium. Inscribed are the words, To Roy, Bo knows football; Roy knows fugitives. Best wishes, Bo Schembeehler.'

ty Schools. Collins took a job in internal affairs with AAA of Michigan.

And Anderson is no stranger to Michigan Stadium.

'We've sat in Section Five, Row 28, Seats 11 and 12 for 10 years," said the Chicago-born Anderson, who's pumped up already about the Sept. 12 Notre Dame gam

A graduate of Niles High School, Anderson studied drafting and engineering at Benton Harbor Junior College and worked in a machine shop before being accepted by the Michigan State Police Academy. His first assignment as a trooper was in Flat Rock, where he worked for two years before moving to Battle Creek. In 1974, Anderson was promoted to traffic services with the Plymouthbased state police vehicle inspection

In 1976, he joined the criminal investigation unit. His work there breaking up dog-fight rings; apprehending prison escapees; and helping to track down criminals such as Hillsdale County's David Davis who poisoned his wife and was caught in Samoa - fills a scrap book. Anderson's war stories are the stuff of America's Most Wanted and Unsolved Mysteries episodes.

"One of our 10 Most Wanted guys had a sunrise tatooed on top of his head," said Anderson. "That's what makes it so interesting.

"After 26 years, my career was over. I needed a job where I could continue to use my service skills. This is the job for Roy Anderson."

HERE'S USUALLY a chair on stage, but John Tambarino does justice to the word "stand-up

"I bring a stool and sit my coffee on it and try to sit down and never do," said Tambarino, who kicks into high gear from the very first joke.

"Basically, I'm considered high energy," said the Chicago comedian, who was described in the Chicago Tribune as having "enough energy to take the place of a nuclear power reactor . . hiply manic.

Tambarino's only prop is the coffee, as he talks to the audience about modern concerns in a conversational way.

"I literally get up there with a cup of coffee and we talk," he said. "My act varies each night I have to "read" the audience. My stuff tends to be more

The 38-year-old Windy City native said he appeals to "that average middle class guy" who is in the "thirtysomething" age group.

His topics range from his Italian heritage to the problems of the Big Chill generation. Although single, he is not afraid to tackle jokes on parenthood and marriage, admitting that perhaps he can view it with more humor because he is distanced from it.

HE IS ALSO not afraid to tackle sensitive topics. For instance, his material includes the topic of those who have difficulty in becoming parents.

'This couple I know did everything but put chairs on their heads for kids, now they have

But the way the lines are delivered is important.

Tambarino also pokes fun at himself - for instance, his lack of knowledge about sports.

'I don't know a darn thing about sports. You know, there are two million people who break out in a sweat if they are asked 'what did the Sox do?'

However, he said he can basically joke about any subject - including sports - because "if you are trying to be a good comedian, it's the same thing as trying to be a good basketball player.

"YOU WORK for the same things; you have the commit-ment," he said. "There are days you don't feel like doing it but you

Tambarino discovered his flair for comedy as a youth when he was driving around with some friends and started doing improvisations. Now, he travels to various clubs throughout the country, and has also appeared on cable television.

He admits he would not mind doing a sitcom on television, although it would probably mean moving to Los-Angeles. One reason is that that he would not have to travel.

"It kicks doors open for you," he added.

However, for now he is happy continuing to deliver his high energy act from his home base in editor Tom Baer remembered the murder of Farmington area resident David Jones, whose wife, Cathy, was a teacher in the local school district.

For you relative newcomers, Olympia was the arena down on Grand River in Detroit where the Red Wings plied their craft and where Gordie Howe became a hockey legend.

For years fans packed the old red barn, as Olympia was affectionately labeled, to cheer on some of the greatest hockey teams the sport has seen. Like most arenas, it also was utilized for numerous other types of gatherings. In short, it was a familiar and comfortable spot for metro Detroiters.

AFTER ATTENDING the Olsonite Tennis Classic reception, the mortgage company vice president set off for the parking lot. Cathy waited behind in the lobby. He was shot in the back, robbed of $3. From that moment life for Cathy Jones would

Michigan would need a new name

To the editor:

I'm not a regular reader of your paper, although we subscribed to the Observer for many years as residents of Livonia (we have since moved near Harbor Beach on Lake? dare I say "Huron").

My wife pointed out your column to me (June 24, 1991) regarding the controversy over the name of Eastern University's team. Our eldest son is a graduate of Eastern, and our third son (we have 4, one of which we are now visiting here in Canton) is presently attending classes there. I haven't heard either of them mention it, so am curious as to their thoughts on the matter.

Following the EMU line of reasoning we'll have to think up something for "Michigan," since this means (approx.) "Place of Fish Weirs" -(not sure which Indian tribe was responsible for the name). That means renaming the lake, the state, the university and who knows how many institutions, etc. Don't forget Manhattan, Missouri, Kansas, Mississippi, Utah, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and others, ad infiniturn (thousands of towns). Whew! I think you must be right about the motives of the educators, but it leaves me with some misgivings about my two sons, one an alumnus and one currently a student, as to whether or not EMU has had any influence on their (my sons') ability to reach logical decisions.

I really enjoyed your whole column, Mr. Counts, and am kind of sorry that I probably won't read any more for awhile. (We're spending a few days here on our way home from Florida. Talk about Indian names - we live near the Pithlachascotee River Electrip Coop. — in Florida. Then there's Tallahassee, the state capital, Miami and Pensacola, to mention a few well-known

Over the years, I myself have housed several women during and after their pregnancies. A dear friend who sidewalk counsels with me has adopted two biracial children. One is a product of rape. The other was a crack-addicted baby who she was told would be blind and retarded. She is neither. She is a beautiful, bubbly toddler who frequently joins mom at the abortion mills for these outreach missions. Maybe Jack Gladden can tell us other than killing their pre-born chil-

Do they even offer free Fortions to women who can't afford them? I'm not ashamed nor do I regret my years of ministry in the pro-life movements. More importantly, I have never had a woman regret she did the responsible thing - give her child life. What's irresponsible is Jack Glad-

Former labor secretary Ray Marshall was correct when he recently said that business. school, labor organizations and governments need to develop effective policies aimed at helping diverse families with diverse needs, if we are to compete in a global economy.

"OUR PUBLIC policy challenge is to develop ways to support families so they can function effectively in a more dynamic, globally interrelated, knowledge-intensive world," said Marshall in a report for Family Service America, represented in Wayne County by Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County.

Instead, in Michigan, we are saddled with too many power brokers who believe unemployment is good business.

Our schools must be financed so as to provide our youth with the fundamentals of knowledge and the ability to evolve views independently.

We need an educational system that teaches our students how to assimilate knowledge critically

Such education can only be obtained through equitable financing. The tax-based sharing plan now up for debate falls far short.

In our final look at the state's educational crisis, we will examine the role that Michigan's budget must play.

Struggles continue over the freedoms of speech, press

ADDAM HUSSEIN was puzzled. "Is it true that, in America, you can criticize the president?" his interpreter asked a U.S. TV interviewer.

Yes, the interviewer said, in America you can criticize the president. Two centuries after the Bill of Rights, freedom of speech and of the press are far from univer-

But the right to think, speak and write as we wish without government restraint is the cornerstone of American democracy.

It wasn't always tnat way. In colonial times, it was a crime to criticize government officials. But in 1735, newspaper publisher John Peter Zenger and his attorney. Andrew Hamilton; convinced a jury that truth was a defense against libel - striking the first major blow for free speech.

Thomas Jefferson consolidated that victory in the First Amendment, but free speech remains a Questions still arise over whether the freedom enjoyed by Zenger should be transferrable to nude dancers, "Married With Children" and supermarket tabloids. Clearly, there are battles

Checkbooks won't replace picket signs

This guest column was written in response to a column by copy editor Jack Gladden which appeared in the June 27 edition of Observer & Eccentric newspapers Lynn Mills is a pro-life adpocate.

By Lynn Mills guest columnist

I have recently taken a fair amount of heat because myself and a group of Jesus Christ worshipers used an extreme measure to attempt to save two mothers and two preborn children in an extreme circumstance: I have been criticized by proaborts from coast to coast and by a few pro-lifers. There have been tears shed on my part for the moms, babies and myself.

The bottom line is that whatever I have gone through is nothing compared to the death of the 23-week. pre-born child.

A local reporter asked me if I bit off more than I could chew. The answer is "yes," but if I had to, I would do it again.

You can never erase the memory of killing your child through abortion. But groups like Women Exploited By Abortion and Post Abortion Counseling and Education (help) women who regret what they let the abortion profiters do to them and help them dealing with the deadly deed, healing and forgiveness from

I challenge Jack Gladden and the Obserer & Eccentric to come out to the abortion mill (incognito, of course) to see first hand what the pro-lifers do. We never call the mothers going in names. We ask them to speak with us and if they don't, we have about five seconds to get the life facts to them via our vocal chords across the black top.

We do tell the women who go in to ask for proof of malpractice insur-ance and if they can't prove they have, why not?

It was the pro-aborts that broke this story on a nationwide level, thus exploiting an incident confined to a few motorists. Pro-lifers have taken an unfortunate set of circumstances and used them to expose late term abortions

IF JACK Gladden and the O&E really cared about women, they would push for informed consent giving women full knowledge of the abortion procedure.

If Jack Gladden and the O&E really cared about women, they would send volunteer reporters in these abortion mills with male urine and expose the clinic workers for pushing abortions where there was no need. If you would see a reporter in unannounced, she would see the unsterile surroundings that women feel forced to have their abortions in.

But then Jack Gladden and the O&E would be forced to deal with the uncomfortable truth that abortion is not the spiritual cleansing mecca that the National Organization of some Women have been tout-

Our check books will never replace the picket signs, but will continue to go hand-in-hand. We in the pro-life movement receive no federal funds. All we have and give to mothers come from private donations, the same as all the Crisis Pregnancy Centers are run.

Gap stifles public school staff

THERE EXISTS A sizable credibility gap of experience and expectation level between public school administrators and the university professors who teach the courses they must take to become "administratively certified" or earn doctoral de-

Too many professors have logged very few hours actually administrat-ing in kindergarten-through-12thgrade school systems - particularly in the inner cities. And many of those who did administrate somewhere, usually at a lower rank, quickly deserted the pre-college crucible for the cooler climate of aca-

One recent study found only 18 percent of responding professors of education administration had ever been in charge of a school district.

When as an inner-city administrator and doctoral student in the 1960s, I presumed to openly challenge the practical value of one of my "praticums" at Wayne State University. It's outraged professor demanded my immediate presence in his office to explain why I shouldn't be drummed out of the program.

THIS SUMMER course contained more than 50 graduate students observing some superficial, watereddown, closed-circuit TV instruction given by a suburban teacher to about 15 selected volunteer junior high school students from the Detroit

Neither the teacher nor the professor had ever taught in the inner city, where many secondary teachers' class loads approximated 200 students in five classes or more.

The few male students selected were riding up and down elevators repeatedly during breaks, taking apart the public telephones and trying to jimmy the candy machines in the basement of the education building

When I met with the professor and told him precisely what he could do with his doctoral program, he relented and apologized. But that doesn't excuse the issue of this quilt between practitioners and professors that

In the area of multi-cultural expe riences, the gulf between professors and administrators is even greater. There is a similar gulf between kindergarten-through-12th-grade teach ers and administrators who have worked in ghetto schools and those who haven't. Those who haven't tend to resent any efforts their supervisors might initiate to sensitize them to multi-cultural issues.

A CASE IN point was a grievance filed against me (later withdrawn) by some of my principals and directors when in 1988, as the chief executive administrator in charge of instruction in a very fine school district, I imposed a multi-cultural sensitization workshop. They didn't think they needed the workshop, but in truth, we all needed it. Leaders are the ones who should be sensitized before anyone else.

Another case involved a similar overnight seminar I conducted with Monifa Jumanne of Oakland University for 70 Oakland County superintendents, assistant superintendents, directors and principals. A few of the participants wrote post-seminar evaluation statements indicating that they had participated unwillingly and didn't like the experience.

We still have a long way toward understanding and tolerance.

One avenue that remains relatively unexplored is that of administrator and teacher exchanges between inner-city and suburban schools, and between university professors and inner-city administrators. I'm talking about year-long rather than oneday or one-week cross-visitations.

Funding for these types of ex-changes, field practicums and internships aren't in the budgets of most university departments of education. They would have to be of-fered by foundations or corporations, and the exchanges would have to be organized and monitored by univer-

This would counter the problem of schools of education being unable to pay more than $30,000 or $40,000 to otherwise have been willing to leave to teach education administration full-time at universities but can't afford to take $40,000 to $50,000 cuts

ORGANIZATIONS THAT serve practicing administrators should develop standards of preparation and practice, then initiate uniform certification standards, including multicultural issues and awareness/competency standards in cooperation with the various state agencies across the United States.

Administrators themselves must initiate fundamental changes in the preparation of future colleagues.

Many college programs that grant administrative certification or doctorates in administration have only a couple of faculty members and poor credibility. That credibility gap between practitioners and those in higher education needs to be closed soon or it will stifle the development of the young educational leaders who will run our schools in the year 2000.

John Telford, a Rochester Hills resident, most recently was a senior administrative assistant superintendent for instructional administration in the Rochester School District. He previously was executive director for secondary education in the Plymouth Canton district. He has been controversial for his programs involving diverse religions and alternative history courses.

Caution is the watch word with PMS

NOW I'M NOT making fun of this. Honest, I'm not.

It's just that sometime back, when my wife was having one of "those days," I made some wisecrack about having discovered a new defense for the courtroom.

"I didn't mean to kill him, your honor. It wasn't premeditated. I mean, like, he just said something and it hit me the wrong way and there was this butcher knife there and I picked it up and . . . see, I was having a PMS day and . .

That was my fantasy, snideness and sarcasm included.

Well, now it's happened. Down in Fairfax, Va., a female orthopedic surgeon has beaten the rap on a drunk driving charge by offering, as part of her defense, that she was having a PMS day.

It's a complicated case, but it went something like this:

The woman, who's 42 years old, was stopped by state police for weaving along Dulles Toll Road in Fairfax County. She was given a Breathalyzer test, which she failed (and the frequent inaccuracy of those tests was another part of her defense). The officers who stopped her found prescription drugs in her car which, they determined, she had obtained fraudulently in another

She then began using foul language at the police officers and attempted to kick one of them in the groin. That's where the PMS defense

Her attorneys claimed that PMS caused her to react violently to the officers who had pulled her over. And that's the part of the case that has received the most publicity.

THE COURT found her not guilty of the drunk-driving charge, although she still faces charges on the drugs. It's unclear how much the socalled PMS defense influenced the court's ruling in the case, but the fact that it was used at all seems to have produced mixed feelings among feminists, lawyers and medi-

The prosecutor in the case woman - said the defense hurts the credibility of women. "I'm sure men are just shaking their heads at this," she said

And a spokeswoman for the National Women's Law Center worried that the defense "reinforces the stereotypes that . . . there is a certain time of the month when women become completely irrational and

On the other hand a California attorney - a woman active in women's legal issues - says such a defense should be admissible in court because " . . . for many women, there's nothing they can do to control

THIS STORY isn't going to be leading the evening news on the tube or making banner headlines in the metro papers, but it's going to be Frankly I haven't figured out how

I feel about it. PMS is no laughing matter, even if it has been the subject of many jokes and wisecracks in the last few years. But as a defense for criminal actions . . . I don't

I do know, though, that I'm going to have to be more careful with my own wisecracks. The next time I say something intended to be completely outrageous and ludicrous, somebody might be listening. And I don't want to read about it in the newspaper.

lishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

In this, the 200th anniversary of the Bill of Rights, three Observer & Eccentric readers have been named winners in the First Amendment essay competition.

Winners are: Erik Pedersen, 10, of Troy; Bernard Cherkasov, 15, Southfield; and Christine Smedley (over 21 category) of Livonia.

Entrants were asked to write what the First Amendment means to them. The two youths were awarded $50 U.S. Savings Bonds, while the adult winner was presented with tickets to the Meadow Brook performance of the "All American Spectacular."

Congratulations to the winners. Following are their prize-winning essays.

Refugee cherishes religious freedom

Following is the First Amendment essay written by Russian immigrant Bernard Cherkasov, 15, of Southfield, who entered in the 13-18-year-old cate-

THINK that this First Amendment is very important to people because it gives people freedom of religion, speech, press, freedom to assemble and to voice complaints.

Thanks to this amendment, Americans can worship in any religion they want. People of some other countries aren't allowed to do so.

I'm personally a Russian refugee. I left the USSR in search for the country where I may worship my Jewish religion and have freedom of speech.

With the freedom of speech, Americans may express their opinions about anything they would like.

According to the right to voice a complaint, people can complain about what they don't like with things that are happening now. This right can help the government to make the country better by getting rid of things that people don't like, and getting things that will better people's lives and the country's economy

People are allowed to assemble in any place, discuss any problems, demonstrate any wishes and do all this without government inter-ference. People can even tell what they don't like in order to improve it.

According to the First Amendment, Americans have a right to get information they want and the press can freely supply the public with information. The means of communication are allowed and must supply the nation with free, independent and up-to-date information on current events The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution characterizes the truly democratic society and the first democratic nation of the world.

Americans are very lucky. They take the Bill of Rights for granted. You don't know how we struggled to get to this country. We had to leave our loved ones and everything behind. We came here and could not speak the language, and we had no home or job. But we endured it to obtain this precious freedom: the Bill of

First Amendment means so much'

The following is the essay written by Erik Pedersen, 10, of Troy who won the competition for entrants 12 years and younger.

AMERICA didn't have the First Amendment, life would be a lot tougher because the First Amendment gives us the power and freedom of speech, religion, press and peaceful protest.

The First Amendment means so much to me because if there was no First Amendment you wouldn't be able to let your feelings out, and you might not be able to tell the government any-In the newspaper, people might not be able to read everything they want or need to know because the government might keep it all a big secret. Then people might get the wrong ideas from the articles in the newspaper because they would not be getting enough information which would bring fear and ignorance to people from lack of information

Without freedom of religion you may have to go to the church that the government told you to go to or the one that the person in charge told you to attend, or there might not be any churches and the government might not let people build them.

People wouldn't be able to stand up for what they believed in. So nothing would ever change unless the government changed it. That would get a lot of people mad, but they wouldn't be able to let their feelings out.

For example, if there was no First Amendment, it would almost be like aliens came and controlled everybody's brain and no one could do a thing about it. I wouldn't ever want any person or thing to have the power to control my brain.

The First Amendment lets me be in charge of who I am and what I want to do. That is why the First Amendment means so much to me.

Free speech is 'precious, delicate'

Following is the essay written by Christine Smedley of Livonia who entered in the over 21 category of the Observer & Eccentric First Amendment con-

S A FUTURE problem-solving coach in Livonia, my team of students (from Churchill, Stevenson and Frost) and I recently completed extensive work on the topic of censorship, as it is specifically related to the First Amendment.

Researching censorship made all of us acutely aware of the rights we have as free citizens of the United States. We read, we discussed, we saw the movie "Guilty by Suspicion" and we realized freedoms Americans take for granted. The movie dealt with the McCarthy hearings in the '50s and was a grim and chilling reminder of just how precious and delicate the threads of free speech can be. It was difficult to believe those events actually Christine Smedley occurred in the United States and appalling to think those kinds of events could occur again if we become lax in the defense of our right of free speech. One of the most devastating effects of censorship is the restriction of free and creative thinking and exchange of new ideas. A mind is a terrible thing to waste and we discovered that is exactly what would happen to all of us if we allow censorship to take hold.

The recent Persian Gulf War brought the priceless qualities of freedom to the surface. Thomas Jefferson once said he would rather have a newspaper and no government, rather than a government and no newspa-

We all witnessed the latter in Iraq - it was frightening, frustrating and deadly. The Iraqi people were denied the truth, they were restricted from speaking out against their government, they were driven from their homes and they were hunted down and killed by their own government troops

The pains of cold and sickness, of hunger and homelessness were terrible, of course, but the loss of free speech and freedom was the heaviest blow. We must all be determined to preserve and defend our Bill of Rights

Salem catcher is MVP

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Plymouth Salem's Scott Niemiec had the kind of senior year most baseball players only read about in fantasy books.

Niemiec was a key member of the Class A championship team, was selected the first-team, all-state catcher and Tuesday was named the most valuable player of the annual high school all-star game.

His storybook season was complete with a clutch, game-winning hit as the East came from behind to beat the West 3-2 in Tiger Stadium. Niemiec's two-out, three-run homer in the top of the ninth inning cleared the 340-foot fence in left field.

"It's been unbelievable," Niemiec said after he was called to home plate to accept the MVP award. "I was shocked. I was just glad to be here. It turned out great. Everything has been going so well."

With his heroics, Niemiec also made his friend and Plymouth Canton ace, Scott Kennedy, the winning pitcher. Kennedy held the West hitless and scoreless in the last two inn-

"(Getting the all-star decision) just made my whole year. It was quite exciting. It won't really hit me until I think about it some more.'

Lutheran Westland pitcher and Japanese exchange student Makoto Iwata made a key contribution for the winners, hurling three innings of shutout ball, and Gary Devine of Farmington Hills Harrison started in center field for the East.

Niemiec, who started at catcher, played two innings and re-entered for the seventh inning, almost didn't get a chance to bat in the ninth.

He hit a flyout to right in his only other trip and needed two-out singles by Brighton's Ron Hollis and Southgate's Joe Weidenbach for him to get another turn. Plus, Hollis was nearly thrown out at third on Weidenbach's hit, but the third baseman couldn't make a play.

"It was one-two on (Weidenbach)," Niemiec said. "I knew he'd hit the ball. It was a question of whether he

"THE FIRST pitch (from loser Chad Kukla of Essexville-Garber) was a fastball - down low - and I didn't swing. On the next pitch, he grooved one to me and I took it."

Soccer tourney draws big name By Brad Emons staff writer

The top banana for this weekend's Wolverine XII Soccer Tournament at Schoolcraft College will be Rick Davis, former U.S. National Team captain. The three-day tourney (Friday through Sunday), sponsored by the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association, will be highlighted by Saturday's Chiquita Challenge, a comprehensive test of soccer skills combining ball control. dribbling, passing and shooting elements into a single training course

Davis, captain of the U.S. National Team from 1979 through '88, will be on hand from noon to 3 p.m. (Saturday) to supervise the competition and sign autographs for the participants (boys and girls ages 6-14), who will be broken into eight age groups. (Registration forms are available at Soccer Kick and all participating area Meijer food stores).

Davis, a key contributor to the New York Cosmos North American Soccer League franchise during the late '70s and early '80s, isn't the only appeal. The Wolverine 12 has attracted approximately 140 entries, including youth teams from such states as Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. Representatives from across the border in Ontario will also participate. "LAST YEAR we started rebuilding this tournament and now we have more out-of-state teams, which is good," said Irene Saucedo Smith, MSYSA chairman. "The under-15 boys should have some of the top teams and be one of the most competitive divisions." Champions will be crowned Sunday in the following boys age categories: under-11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 19. There will be four separate divisions for girls: under-12, 14, 16 and 19. Coach Paul Scicluna's Livonia Wolves, fresh from their conquest of the Pike Peak tourney, will be one of the favorites in the under-15 boys division. The Michigan State Cup champions will be challenged by Scott-Gallagher, a team out of St. Louis, Mo.; Team Dayton (Ohio), the Pittsburgh, Pa. Strikers and the Pennsylvania Forest Rowdies Another team to watch is the Livonia Y-Michigan Hawks, coached by Tom Coyne, which features some of the area's top high school players in the under-19 girls division. The state champs will use the Wolverine as a tuneup for a regional tourney later this month Sioux Falls, S.D. Another attraction will be the under-19 boys division, where state champi on Vardar '72, coached by Mike Lupenec, will be favored.

Vardar '72 features several collegiate standouts including former Detroit

After retiring the side in order in the eighth, Kennedy gave up a leadoff walk in the ninth but ended the game with a flyout and a double

His first game action came in the third inning when he replaced Devine in center field. Kennedy has played the outfield previously in his career but had only pitched for Canton this year.

"It surprised me when (East manname," he said. "I wasn't sure he was calling the right guy. It was fun. I enjoyed it. I knew I still was going to throw the last two."

Iwata took over for Ray Ricken, a Detroit Tigers draftee like Kennedy and University of Michigan signee, in the third inning.

He was nervous before taking the mound, because he knew he would be facing some of the state's best hitters and his parents were in the

AND IT WAS no small task for his father (Kazuyoshi) and mother (Shigeko) to reach Detroit. They came from Japan just to see their son play in the all-star game.

They were here so I wanted to show them a good game," Iwata said. "I was kind of upset. There was Michigan, so I felt kind of pres-

If he was nervous, it didn't show. Iwata pitched three innings — the most of any East player - and he gave up one hit, struck out one and fourth. A popout ended the inning. Iwata allowed a leadoff single by Mike Cochran in the fifth, but he shut down the West with a fielder's choice, a flyout and a groundout.

Iwata returned to Japan with his parents this week, but he still hopes to continue his schooling and baseball career in the United States.

Interpreting his father's answers to questions, Iwata said: "When I was a little kid, he was always coach of me and now I am in all-star game in a different country. So, he is glad to be able to be here and see my game.

"HE ALWAYS said he wanted me to be in college baseball in the U.S., so hopefully I can be back here

Iwata's mother was not expected to make the trip, he added. She was hesitant about traveling to a different country and being among strange people, but her friends in Japan encouraged her to see her son play in the game

Devine, a first-team, Class B allstater, made two putouts in center field in the four innings he played and was 0-for-2 at bat, but he was pleased to be part of the all-star

"It's definitely one of my biggest thrills," he said. "The coaches said they'd make sure everybody got in early. I knew I'd get back in, but I didn't think I'd play as much as I did because there was a lot of talent on

Devine reached base on a fielder's choice in the eighth and got to second with one out on a wild pitch, but he was stranded there.

"It looked pretty good, like we were going to (score)," he said. "At that point, things didn't work out, but we pulled through at the end."

Caesars stays 1 game ahead in LCBL

Little Caesars maintained its one-game lead in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League race by beating Total Travel twice over the weekend.

Caesars upped its league-leading record to 14-5-1 with a 6-2 victory Sunday at Novi High.

The winners broke open a close game by scoring three times in the top of the seventh inning.

University of Detroit pitcher Eric Stanczak went the distance to record the win. In seven innings, he scattered eight hits and one walk.

Young belted a solo homer in the sixth.
Brusseau, who prepped at Redford Bishop Borgess before moving over to Madonna, had a grand slam in the second inning. Pendell added two hits.

Darren Clark, who pitched the final three innings in relief of starter Scott Nielsen, earned the victory.

Chad Wrona worked six relief innings (in place of starter Anthony Chandler), striking out 12.

CANUCKS 3, FIEGER 2: Darnell Krause's three-run homer in the fifth inning gave the last place Canucks the upset win Sunday at Ford Field.

Fieger scored twice in the second on an RBI single by Bill Flohr, followed by a wild pitch from winning pitcher Dave Best, scoring Brent Hayward.

Best went seven strong innings, allowing just five hits and three walks. He fanned six.

Tony Falletich worked the first five innings for Fieger, taking the loss. Bill Wicker worked the final two innings.

Concealed Security trounces softball NFWB after weekend sweep

CANTON TOWNSHIP PARKS AND RECREATION SOFTBALL STANDINGS Concealed Security followed a weekend double-header sweep over Westland Federation I with a 20-4 rout Monday of North Farmington-West Bloomfield in the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball League. Concealed, 18-3 overall and second behind Ypsilanti with a 13-2 record in the league, defeated Westland 6-3 and 5-4 Saturday at Capitol

Park in Redford. Mike Grahl had four hits, including a pair of triples, and drove in three runs to pace Concealed's 18-hit attack against NFWB. Jermaine Burley, Matt Bonkowski, Randy Gierczak and George Leung had two hits and two RBI apiece. Mark Van Ameyde also had two hits and one RBI.

Eric Miller of Farmington Hills pitched five innings to get the victory at West Bloomfield High School. Jon Sturtz had two of NFWB's seven

IN THE first game with Westland, Mark D'Antonio went the distance, striking out six and walking four, and Matt Fennelly hit a pair of solo homers. Ron Hollis and D'Antonio was 2-for-3.

Jerry Shippe had a two-run single for Westland. Bobby Arellano was the losing pitcher.

Jim Solak pitched 6% innings in the second game to earn the victory, and Hollis got credit for a save.

Solak allowed nine hits and three earned runs. He struck out three and walked five. Westland's Steve Ross gave up three first-inning runs but went the distance.

Shandel Currie had two hits, including the game-winning RBI single in the sixth inning that scored Charles Winters. Dan Taylor and Dave Roman had two hits each for Westland, which had only two losses entering the twinbill.

Concealed split a double-header with Concealed Security II on Sunday, winning the first game 11-2 and losing the second 6-3.

SOLAK WAS 3-for-3 and scored three runs in the first game. Van Ameyde pitched a complete game, allowing only two hits and one walk.

Mark Temple gave up nine hits and suffered the loss.

Errors marred the nightcap with Concealed II committing six and Concealed I four. Team No. II, composed of 17-year-old players, jumped in front 6-0 after two innings.

Dwight Trammel pitched seven innings to get the win, striking out six and walking one. Leung was the loser, giving up six runs (two earned) in 1% innings.

Concealed was an 11-5 winner over Livonia last Thursday. D'Antonio was 3-for-4, and Ed Wolkind and Currie had two hits each. Wolkind also chalked up three RBI.

Miller pitched 4% innings to become the winning pitcher, and Grahl, coming off a shoulder injury, struck out five in two innings. Mike Lang was the losing pitcher.

Concealed I travels to West Virginia for a 30-team national tournament, which begins today. The Wayne County ballclub will play Akron, the team that eliminated it from the recent Waterford tournament, in its first game and Lexington, Ky., in the second round.

Dairy King wins 2 from Western

Mark Schankowski had a big day at the plate Saturday as Canton-Plymouth Dairy King swept a Mickey Mantle baseball double-header from host Walled Lake Western, 9-5 and 4-2.

Schankowski was 5-for-9 overall, including a 3-for-5 performance in the first game. He also had four RBI, three coming on a bases-loaded triple that gave Dairy King a 9-4 lead in the sixth inning.

Ryan Fordham had a two-run single, Brad Paskievitch had two hits and one RBI and winning pitcher Matt Paupore had a run-producing Paupore went the distance, scattered six hits, walked none and struck out one. Dave Watkins turned in a complete game for Western, but Dairy King (7-5) had seven hits and four walks off him.

CATCHER STEVE Bingham hit a two-run homer for the losers, Drew Nicholas had two hits and Derek Lindsey had two RBI.

In the nightcap, Dairy King rallied from a 2-1 deficit in the seventh

Fordham drew a bases-loaded walk to score Dean Rovenelli with the tying run, and Jeff Schlenker's two-out, two-run double scored Ryan Ostach and Adam Gilles with the deciding runs.

Schankowski, who made 13 putouts in center field during the two games, and Gilles had two hits each. Brett Romack went six innings on the mound to get the win. Rovenelli pitched an inning of relief, struck out three and earned a save. Bingham had three hits and one RBI for Western. Jeff Payton pitched seven innings and took the loss, giving up five hits and four walks. He also hit two batters and struck out six.

The timing couldn't have been better for Farmington Hills Mercy golf coach Vicki Kowalski and

She planned to take half the team to Toledo this weekend to see Mercy alumna Meg Mallon play in the Jamie Farr Classic, the latest tour stop for the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

Not only will the Mercy entourage see a former Marlin who has made the big time but an emerging star and the hottest name on the women's cir-

"I hope when she finishes her round Friday, she has some time to talk with the girls a while and take some pictures with us," Kowalski said.

"I THINK she can be an inspiration to these girls. All of them are very excited to meet her and watch her play.'

Mallon was en route to her brother's home in Grosse Pointe Woods most of Monday, driving the new Mazda she received as the top prize. She didn't arrive until late that night and was on her way back to Ohio for an afternoon press conference Tuesday.

The 28-year-old Mallon was tied with playing partners Pat Bradley and Ayako Okamoto on the 18th hole Sunday. The other two missed chances for birdie putts, but Mallon sank a 10-footer to win by one stroke.

graduate of Mercy shot a 4-under-par 67 for the final round and, having shot 68-68-71 on previous days, finished 10 under at 274.

The tournament was pre-empted on the local NBC station by the Detroit Tigers game, but Kowalski watched the tournament from her parent's home in Plymouth where they could pick up Channel 13 from Toledo.

AFTER SHE made a difficult putt on No. 16, Mallon bogeyed No. 17, and "I thought 'Oh, no, she's going to fall apart," Kowalski said. "She was closest to the hole (on 18), and I said 'If you can make that other one, you can make this one."

Mallon's brother, Paul, and his family went to Monroe to watch the tournament on TV. He had confidence in his sister.

"I thought she was going to win," he said, "be-cause she was there the whole tournament and had as good a chance as anybody."

Mallon won the Oldsmobile Classic in February for her first win since joining the tour in 1987 and received $150,000 for winning the LPGA. Her earnings this year - $308,298 - are more than what she earned in the last four combined.

So her brother wasn't surprised by her latest "Not any more," Paul Mallon said. "Last year I would have been but not this year. I think she believes she belongs there and I do, too."

Kowalski hopes her players not only benefit in terms of mechanics by watching the pros but also was named the most congenial player on the tour in past years.

"THE BEST inspiration is when they see how she interacts with other people," Kowalski said.
"She has always been a very nice person, a very generous person. They will see you can be good at this, be competitive, and still be a nice pers

The whole idea of the congeniality and social aspect of the sport is important, too. For most of the girls, this is going to be a social sport, something they can do with their family and friends."

Mallon, who will participate in a golf outing to raise funds for Mercy Monday, Aug. 12, and be the first inductee into the Mercy Hall of Fame at a banquet mat night, is credited with starting the school's golf team.

When I look back on all the years, I'm grateful for her coming to me and asking me to moderate a golf team," Kowalski said. The Marlins won regional titles the first two years, and Mallon was low medalist while leading Mercy to the championship of the first Oakland County tournament as a senior. "I'm still coaching all these years, and it all started with her Kowalski has seen Mallon make great improvement over the years, too.

She averaged 82 for 18 holes when she left high school and was a walk-on at Ohio State because she wasn't shooting in the 70s, Kowalski said. Her scores, as they have on the pro tour, dropped each year and she was All-Big Ten her last two years.

"At the beginning she wasn't even making the (LPGA) cut," Kowalski said. "Last year she really broke through. It's amazing to see the progress she's made and how she has stuck with it.

· The idea of bumper bowling has long been regarded as a practical and effective method of getting the little kids from three to seven started in the game. One problem with bumper bowlers has been the "weaning" process, as they get ready to enter the prep leagues and have not had the experience of seeing their ball drop off into the "gutter.

Now comes along a program that should fulfill a need for these transitional bowlers. It's called "Turbo" bowling and it is an idea that Laura "Poz" Zain of Garden City has developed. She is based at Woodland Lanes in Livonia and has been instructing youth programs for many years, including the bumper pro-grams. This is the missing link for the kids who have been used to the program, but are hardly ready to bowl in the same leagues with kids who have already been bowling the regular format.

The Turbo program will be used for the first time this fall at Woodland Lanes. For more information, call Laura at 261-

Babcock bikes to win

Three area bikers emerged champions of their respective cross country divisions at the recent World Cup Mountain Bike Race held at Sugarloaf Mountain in Cedar, Mich. The competition featured more than 1,000 participants representing 30 states and 15 countries.

Keith Ketterer of Rochester, Art Fleming of Rochester Hills and Lynn Babcock of Plymouth each pedaled to victories while 15 other area racers managed top 20 finishes

Ketterer, competing in the Veteran Men's (35-44) Expert Class, sped to a 1:54.23 finish on the four-lap (24 miles) course around Sugarloaf Mountain. Fleming won the Master Men's Beginner race with a 1:04.07 clocking and Babcock took the Master Women's Beginner with a 2:02.22 show-

In the Senior Men's Sports Class, Jay Campbell of West Bloomfield placed fourth on the three-lap course with a 1:35.51 clocking. Matt Wester of Birmingham was 13th at 1:41.13 and Todd Ulrich of Rochester 15th at 1:41 24

THE JUNIOR Men's Beginner Class saw Brandon Miller of Rochester place seventh at 1:13.45.

In the Senior Men's Beginner race, Rochester's Barry Seldon was fourth at 1:03.32, Paul Wakefield of Troy 12th at 1:08.56 and Wesley Karczynski of Livonia 19th at 1:11.38.

Joann Hadley of Birmingham placed 15th in the Senior Women's Beginner Class race with a 1:47.52 showing, while Rick Roszuhaus and Scott O'Daniel, both of Farmington Hills, placed eighth and 20th, respectively, in the Veteran Men's Beginner Class. In Kamikazee Downhill competition, which features riders reaching speeds of 60 miles per hour in a one-mile sprint down Sugarloaf, Southfield's Ronald Winters placed 16th in the Men's Beginner Class with a 1:16 clocking. John Root of Rochester Hills was 12th at 1:06 in the Men's Sports Class. Scot Trial competition, a 1.8-mile steeplechase, had Kevin Bauman of Birmingham place 10th at 7:25. In the Hill Climb, a one mile climb up the mountain, Campbell placed fifth among Men's Sports Class racers with a 5:38 showing. Wester was

BEST BASS BETS

Ever wondered what the pros use to catch all those tournament bass?

According to profiles of the 46 anglers that qualified for the 1991 Red Man All-American, the favorite lure is a jig. Of the 46 qualifiers, 21 listed the jig as the favorite lure. Nine anglers listed spinnerbait as the favorite lure followed by worms (7), crankbait (6), and one each for grubs, Gitzits, buzbait and surface lures.

The fish was caught by Lloyd T. Jarman on June 1 while stillfishing with a teardrop and redworms.

This is the third record fish taken in 1991. A 6.76-pound brook trout taken Feb. 25 from Little Bay de Noc tied the current state record and an 11.50-inch smelt taken from Big Bay de Noc on April 27th was a new state record.

The Master Angler program, administered by the DNR's Fisheries Division, rewards anglers with a patch for catching fish which meet the program's established minimum requirements. Although public roads that end at waterways are often used to permit public access to the waterways, county road commissions currently have the authority to bandon the roads and allow them to revert to the abutting property owners. The property owners can then block public access to the waterways. In many instances these road endings are the only acways.

Cherry's legislation would pro-tect public access to Michigan's waterways by preventing county ons from abandoning roads that border on or are adjacent to waterways without the permission of the circuit court of the county in which the road is lo-

We'll never have the skills to be a race car driver

I was sliding sideways, well, not exactly sideways, maybe about 30 degrees or so off center, at about 70 mph toward the Arch of Doom, when I started to contemplate just where this ability to drive at speed comes

The Arch of Doom is a nickname for what has to be the weirdest obstacle ever put on a race course -Three River, Quebec, to be more exact, a so-called street course created by walling off the downtown streets. sort of like they do in Detroit, but in Three Rivers they never take them down. Three Rivers is a pretty small course runs between its stone legs "You can't get through it sideways," said John Heinricy, Corvette's chief development engineer, and more than a passable race driver.

This was why Heinricy chose the 30-degree angle, which looked good to him, but bad to me in the passenger's seat, since it left me staring out the side window at the right-hand leg of the arch, which was approaching at an unconscionably high rate of

I'VE HAD several chances to ride with race drivers of Heinricy's caliber, and it always is a little weird, even without the Arch of Doom on the race track. Dan Gurney, for example, has a tendency to giggle, like a little kid, or maybe Frankenstein's assistant, as he carves out paths of rubber that you would have sworn would have terminated at the outside of the curve, only shortly before you did. Gurney is one of those super-athletes that retains a boyish sense of glee while he pursues his craft, which he does very well.

I ONCE watched Carroll Shelby's GLH Omni pass me at the Chrysler Proving grounds in a position that gave me a good view of the underside of the car - having left the track airborne en route to the next hill. Shelby grins but doesn't giggle.

Bob Bondurant, the archetypical race driving instructor, manages to make it look too easy, particularly since he starts his classes with a high-speed tour of the track in a loaded nine-passenger van, which only emphasizes that it is the driver, the car, that achieves these

IN FACT, a ride with any of these top-level drivers only underscores the fact that while high-speed driving can be studied, and even taught, the world inhabited by the true practitioners of the craft - the pilots of Indy cars, Formula One, and the like - is closed off to drivers like you

Granted, you can train to enter each corner a bit faster, brake a bit later, until the reflexes get a little more honed. But the great ones almost seem to have created a new kind of physics by virtue of their per-ceptions and reflexes. It is a dance on stage, which is what there is to be appreciated at a major race.

MY OWN bouts with high-speed driving have provided the sobering experience of just how narrow the line of traction is that keeps a car on the road. At racing speeds, it leaves zero chance for error or chance. At lesser speeds, the path of control is

But it is, after all a path with limits, and it doesn't take too much of a change in surface, or an unforeseen obstacle, for it to become very narrow indeed.

Several characteristics shared by entrepreneurs who succeed

By Doug Funke staff writer

Undercapitalization is often cited as a leading cause for the failure of

But the ability to visualize a plan, weigh suggestions, take the plunge, change course when necessary and buckle down to long hours of work separate successful entrepreneurs from the wanna-bes.

Successes like Wallace K. Tsuha, who founded Saturn Electronics & Engineering in Rochester Hills, Harold Brode, president and chief executive officer of Broder Brothers in Plymouth, and Richard Rogel, CEO of Preferred Provider Organization of Michigan in Southfield, illustrate just those qualities.

All three were designated an Entrepreneur of the Year in a statewide search sponsored by the financial services company of Ernst & Young Inc. magazine and Merrill Lynch.

Lynch.
Tsuha, 47, a Rochester Hills resident, was selected Minority Entrepreneur of the Year. His company, established in 1985, supplies electronic modules primarily for automotive manufacturers.

Tsuha worked as a manager for TRW Transportation Electronics before going into business for himself.

"IT CERTAINLY was a tough decision," he said. "I had been in the business my entire career. From the technical standpoint, it wasn't tough. From the business (financial) side, it was. It was difficult to go out and know for six months there would be no income."

Tsuha, turned down by nearly a dozen banks on his own, finally was capitalized by an enterprise fund sponsored by General Motors, the Michigan Strategic Fund, personal investment and a bank loan.

Sales last year at Saturn were some $8 million, Tsuha said. The goal is 50 percent growth per year to $50 million by 1995.

The company now employs 94.
Rick Inatome, chairman and CEO at Inacomp, nominated Tsuha for the award. He was impressed with Tsuha's vision — "instant pre-play" — and execution of a business plan.

BRODE, 63, a West Bloomfield resident, was chosen Wholesale/Distribution Entrepreneur of the Year.

"I've watched his business grow very dramatically in the last four or five years," Kaplow said. "He's got good knowledge of this business but he's able to listen to suggestions... and capitalize and put them into effect."

But these aren't normal times for

The manufacturer of electronic processing equipment reported a loss of $436.7 million last year after losing $639.3 million in 1989. The company's credit rating has been downgraded. Unisys has slashed its workforce and suspended payment of both its common and preferred stock dividends.

The stock selling as high as $30.50 per share in 1989 closed at $3.875 Monday.

But James A. Unruh, CEO at Unisys, is upbeat that an InfoImage check processing/sorting system built at the Plymouth plant will be among a handful of new products to bring the company-back to profitability.

Unruh and nearly several business customers who have already purchased the system spoke to all Plymouth employees last week in a courtyard of the facility.

Afterwards, in a brief interview, Unruh said there are no immediate plans to close the aging Plymouth plant to stop the corporation's financial hemorrhaging.

"PLYMOUTH IS a very big part of our future," Unruh said. "We have an area of imaging technology. It's a new wave of technology we think has great potential.

"This (InfoImage) is the single greatest growth opportunity in the techology area as we go forward," he said. "If we can achieve success in marketing, then Plymouth will do

Several Unisys banking customers gave testimonials about their experiences with InfoImage.

"We truly are proud of what you people have developed. You beat the socks off your competitor," said Ben Vaughan, senior vice president of Signet Bank in Richmond, Va.

"EIGHTEEN MONTHS ago, a lot of us stuck our necks out," said George Mackinaw, senior vice president of Huntington Bank in Columbus, Ohio. "The quality that has gone into this is something I've never seen."

"It will enable us to reduce expenses," said Greg Goleniak, vice president at Comerica.

"The fact that Unruh came out here is indicative that this is a key technology," said Robert Klein, a colleague of Kidd's.

Unruh's great hopes have yet to be realized on financial statements.

Unisys reported a loss of 98.2 million on revenues of $2.1 billion for the first three months of this year, said Dean Gulis, director of research for Roney & Co. of Detroit.

That compares with a loss of $3.2 million on revenues of $2.3 billion during the first quarter of 1990.

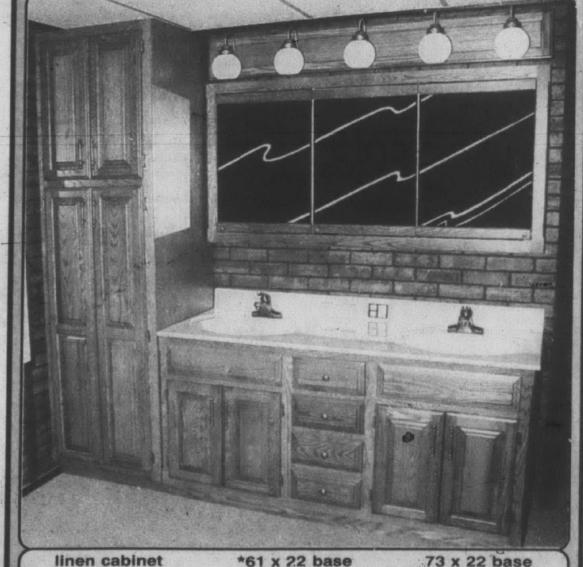

"I think Unisys is going to end up being focused on only a couple of areas when all is said and done," Gulis said. "I think the company will struggle for a few years and shrink."

Banks protect municipal cash

By Tim Richard staff writer

Your city deposits in Michigan banks are safe. There's no need for more state regulation or pledges for securities.

So said state regulators and bankers as a legislative committee looks into the local effect of failures of banks and savings and loan instituions in the 1980s.

"We have some of the best banking institutions," said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, a member of the special House Corporations and Finance Subcommittee, after a recent hearing.

"They're very good and very solvent. There's not a lot we need to do to regulate any more."

Panel chairman Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, speculated that "maybe our target should be non-commercial depositors" — requiring the state treasury to invest in Michigan the same way banks are required to invest in their communities.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE was set up by Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford, chairman of the House Corporations and Finance Commmittee, in the wake of many savings and loan failures in recent years and the mid-1980s series of bank failures across the nation

S&Ls and credit unions are a concern because in 1978 voters amended the state constitution to allow government deposits in those institutions as well as in banks. "No Michigan political subdivision in the past 30 years has experienced any loss resulting from the failure of a Michgan depository financial institution," said Murray Brown, deputy director of the state Financial Institutions Bureau.

"The status quo is working well," added Don Heikkinen of the Michigan Bankers Association. "We're very conservative because of Michigan's cyclical economy."

"Credit unions are a very minor player," said Ken Payne of the Michigan Credit Union League. "Very few have municipal deposits. Because of their small size, it doesn't make sense to put $1 million (of municipal deposits) in a $5 million institution."

Many members of the Plymouth High School class of 1931 were able to attend the 60th reunion.

Reunion's a class act

Steve Horvath traveled a distance to see some good friends, and found the journey was well worth

Horvath, who lives in Bonita Springs, Fla., was among members of the Plymouth High School class of 1931 who came to last week's 60th reunion.

"Well, gee, they all got younger," he said with a smile. "I can recognize quite a few of them."

The get-together was Thursday, June 27, at the Salem Township home of Norma Schmeman, a class member. The 27 graduates and their spouses enjoyed talking about what's new in their lives and the good times they had in high school.

"We only had 75 in the class to start with. You knew everyone," Schmeman said. "It's great, it's fun." She enjoyed the picnic luncheon and the chance to visit with her friends.

"And of course all this time we have changed, although it seems to me I feel about the same," she said. "You keep up with them because you've known them all your life, practically."

The classmates talked about their health and about their families. "They reminisce a lot about what happened in school, and what people are doing, just kind of catching up on what's going on," Schmeman said.

They're considering holding their next reunion in Florida, where some class members now live. They may hold that reunion in a few years, rather than waiting five years.

The 60th reunion wasn't a statusconscious affair, with class members concerned about who's got the largest car, the fanciest house or the most money.

"Not at this point, not at all," Schmeman said. "What you see is what you get. It's more fun, real-

Classmate Viola Pedersen of Plymouth agreed. "We really don't go into status or anything like that," she said. The era in which they graduated wasn't an easy one for young people. Finding work was tough and many found it difficult to pay for college.

PEDERSEN WENT to business school and then was able to find an office job. Horvath went to the University of Michigan.

"I ate hamburger in many different ways," he said. He went on to work for Alcoa as a metallurgical engineer, staying with that companion results as a second of the same of th ny for nearly 45 years.

Schmeman went to business school and then was able to find a job in her uncle's law office.

"I was the only one out of business school that got a job. There were just no jobs." She later married George Schmeman, an attorney in that office.

Times were tough during the Great Depression, but life wasn't all doom and gloom for the class of 1931. Horvath remembers going to dances that cost $1 per person, considerably less than modern-day

"It was a lot of fun," Norma Schmeman said. "You did different things. You made your own fun, which I think people miss today." She remembers skating parties

She remembers skating parties complete with bonfires and swimming fun in the summertime.

Class member Mildred Foege of Canton remembers enjoying dances and ice skating parties. There were a number of school groups and activities, including a baseball team for girls.

THE DEPRESSION influenced the young people's lives but didn't keep them from having fun. "It was the same thing for everybody," Foege said. "I think everybody was much happier and better satisfied with life than they are

She went to work at the Daisy Air Rifle plant in Plymouth after graduation and took business courses at the Detroit Business Institute at night.

Unlike some other members of the class of 1931, Foege hadn'tbeen to earlier reunions. "Oh, it's real nice. Most of them I haven't seen probably since I graduated,"

She missed the 55-year reunion because it was held the same day as her son-in-law's birthday party. Foege was glad to be able to see her classmates this time.

"Well, I don't feel the age that I am," she said with a smile. Classmate Viola Pedersen also felt youthful, although perhaps not oute as young as 17.

Bill Neill, program coordinator for the Living Science Foundation, shows children how a parrot can perch on his arm with ease.

Young scientists take a journey on wild side

By Julie Brown staff writer

ETTING A hug from Snuggles, a boa constrictor, didn't bother some local kids in the least.

Being hugged by a snake could make some adults a bit apprehensive, but children at a recent Living Science Foundation program didn't mind it a bit. They met Snuggles and other animals Thursday, June 27, during a summer reading program at the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth.

Kids ages 6-12 learned a great deal about animals during the day. Younger kids learned how animals use the five senses — hearing, seeing, feeling, tasting and smelling — to survive and thrive in their environment.

The program's goal is "basically just helping kids get interested in science at an early level," said Bill Neill, a biologist and Living Science Foundation program coordinator. "It's just an opportunity for them to do something that's science-oriented."

HE AND HIS wife, Terri Neill, who also works for the Novi-based foundation, came to the library in Plymouth last week. They brought along a number of live animals, including a tortoise, chinchilla, parrot, toad, small crocodile and others.

Not all youngsters chose to get hugged by the boa constrictor. A few preferred to watch Snuggles from a distance and some just touched the snake's skin, discovering that it wasn't the least bit slimy.

Younger children often do just fine around live animals, he said. Foundation staffers have never had an animal escape during a program, although a snake did recently get loose in a car. They found that snake coiled under the car seat, unharmed.

Most biologists became interested in science as children, catching frogs, snakes and other animals, said Neill, a Novi resident. He and others at the Living Science Foundation build on that interest.

photos by BILL BRESLER/staff photographe

"Kids are just drawn to animals. It has quite an impact."

Hands-on activities, including day camps in the summer, help kids learn about science while having fun. A summer program can be a little more relaxed than school is and can encourage a child to consider a career in science.

"That's what we're trying to encourage here," said Neill, who earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Central Michigan University and has done graduate work in education.

"We just feel it needs to be a major focus," he said of science education.

THIS YEAR'S summer reading program theme is "Read on the Wild Side," so the science programs made perfect sense. Older kids, ages 9-12, learned about the Amazon rain for-

"This has been a real, real popular program," said Pam Rawlinson, assistant director of the Dunning-Hough Library. "We're pleased to see that the people in the community are involved."

More than 400 kids signed up for last week's program. The Living Science Foundation, formed in 1981, has an excellent reputation and is known for its programs, Rawlinson said.

Such activities help youngsters
"enjoy what they've learned how to do through the school year," she said.

The summer reading program's been well-received, with about 450

school-age children signing up.
About 240 preschoolers are registered for the Read-to-Me program in Plymouth.

Beth Stewart doesn't have to wear a gray or navy blue suit to work each

"I think working in a museum I can sometimes get away with a little more," said Stewart, director of the Plymouth Historical Museum. "We have a little more leeway here."

She doesn't have to concern herself with a corporate dress code, although Stewart, 34, makes it a point to dress in a professional style.

She wears a lot of black and white in the summer, and doesn't care for big flowered prints. She doesn't wear pants to her job at the museum.

Her first job right out of college was at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. She did cataloging work, and could wear casual attire there. "I think that just sort of goes with the territory.

"It kind of completes the look." She's recently started buying some classic-style dresses and has found those useful for work. Those dresses are just fine for when she's attending a chamber of commerce meeting or speaking to a group "I love jewelry. I like to buy different or unusual pieces." She buys a lot of "artsy" jewelry at arts and crafts shows and is also partial to scarves and different accessories.

Stewart knows that dressing in a professional style can be tough in the warm summer months. She looks at the museum mannequins, dressed in styles that were popular 100 years ago or so, and realizes that our ancestors managed to cope without the benefits of air-conditioning.

"Natural fibers are the coolest." Any fabric that can breathe, including cotton or a lightweight wool, is better than a synthetic when it comes to keeping cool, she said.

She does some shopping at Maggie and Me in Plymouth and at other stores. Stewart buys some clothes through catalogs, "mostly casual just because you can't try things on."

Stewart and her husband, John, a local attorney and Plymouth Township trustee, have two daughters, Laura, 9, and Sarah, 6. Beth Stewart enjoys shopping for clothes, but she's busy with work, family responsibilities and other commitments

"You just don't have a lot of time to shop." These days, she considers going shopping and buying something new a special treat.

She doesn't sew her own clothes, but does take care of simple repairs. "I can sew a button on, that's about

Away from work, she prefers more casual styles. Stewart remembers dressing up most days when she was at home caring for her children when they were younger.

"I would always try to wear a nice pair of pants and a nice shirt, earrings, but not anymore." After being dressed up all week at work, she prefers to wear more comfortable

TRI-CITY ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Store helps readers soar to new heights

By Greg Kowalski staff writer

Akkadian is a dead Middle Eastern language that is of almost no interest to anyone today. So what demand could there be for a book of Akkadian grammar, especially when it's written in German?

Jeffrey Bail and John Marine, owners of Dove Book-sellers at 24325 W. McNichols in Detroit, can answer that question. There is a demand, even when the book is

Their store specializes in obscure yet important books related to biblical and Middle Eastern studies. Dove is not a typical bookstore. It does not have racks of best sellers nor is it a comfortable store specializing in used books where you can sit all day and find dusty treasures, although you are welcome to browse, sit and talk at your

It is a one-room store lined with critical texts ranging from established classics to what some would call blasphemous works.

Here you will find Strong's "Concordance" of the Bible, which lists every word in the Bible, including "and," "but" and "for" (imagine how many times they appear) and where they can be found.

Here also you will find Jane Schaberg's "The Illegitimacy of Jesus," an extremely controversial, yet documented work, that claims that Jesus was a product of a rape and who was blessed by God after the fact and chosen as the savior because of his bottom-of-the-barrel

"WE'RE NOT AN average religious book store," said Ball, adding that "we have something for everyone.

Looking for a book on how to read hieroglyphics? How about one on synoptic studies (an examination of the inconsistencies in the first three gospels)? Try one on gnosticism (an intuitive knowledge in spiritual matters). Dove has them all, along with books on a wide range of ancient history, philosophy and theology.

Ball founded Dove Booksellers in 1985 because "I had a problem getting the books I wanted." Many are so obscure that there is a minuscule demand for them. So most bookstores don't carry them.

Even Christian bookstopes rarely carry the more specialized titles. Marine, in fact, used to work in a Christian bookstore but found the experience frustrating.

Most Christian bookstores are restrictive; they had nothing from the Jewish or Islamic perspective," he said. They are top-heavy on spirituality. It wasn't an atmosphere conducive to do my own research.

So when he discovered Dove, Marine became a frequent shopper and later a partner. At that time, Dove was renting space in a used book store in Berkley. "We were sharing space with romance novels and biographies of Lee Iacocca," Ball recalled.

ABOUT TWO years ago, Ball and Marine opened their own store in Detroit, near Ball's home.

Business has been steady, but Ball and Marine admit theirs is not the most lucrative field. Books sell from $5 to $75 and customers range from individuals to universities to ministries overseas. More than 90 percent of their business is mail order.

Although the demand for theological books is limited, the subject has a seemingly timeless fascination.

"What is the validity of any study of history?" Ball asked. "There is a need in humans to understand them-

Marine agreed, adding that theological studies are underrated.

"You can't study Medieval history without knowing theology," he noted.

And it has practical applications. Americans have a great lack of understanding of other cultures, which is one reason American Middle East policy is often so confused.

It may seem contrary to our Western perspective, but America just fought a holy war with Iraq, said Ball. "We require students to study American history; we should also have them study Middle Eastern history,"

BIBLICAL STUDIES also help give an insight into civilization's earlier days and make real the events and people that often are mysterious and ancient. And you don't have to be religious to appreciate the study. "One of our best customers is an atheist," said Marine. The interest in Middle East and biblical studies extends beyond the shelves at Dove. The store recently offered a biblical and theological lecture series, featuring such topics as "Albert Schweitzer and the Quest for Historical Jesus," "Feminist Biblical Commentaries: 1891-1991" and "The Many Faces of Biblical Text: Multiple Readings of a Bible Story.

The topics may seem obscure, but they are not dull. In fact, one speaker requested a limited attendance to avoid possible conflict.

As Ball says, "We're trying to generate a little theological excitement in this area.

am I, and this is our national birthday? Just what does all of that mean, anyway? The answer will no doubt depend on the American you choose to ask. There are a number of things which we can celebrate, but most of them will not be the theme of this week's parades. Unfortunately, greatness has come to be defined by what sells with gusto. So much of what really makes us great, so much of that for which we can be thankful, has not made the script of those who

We are finally beginning to realize ways of saving and enhancing our environment, our spacious skies, our purple mountains and our fruited plains. Recycling, though not the most convenient way of disposing of waste, is becoming the law of the land in many corners of our nation. This acceptance of responsibility is something of which we can be proud.

THIS MAY be a dangerous birthday in that the past few months, since the war in the Persian Gulf, we have acted as though it is our might that makes us great. The process seems akin to a parent who has a party to celebrate having disciplined a child. Even when such actions may in the minds of some seem to be necessary, they are hardly appropriate material for party and celebration.

The victory parades are still being marched. The agony of war continues in that part of the world with as much gusto as the accolades we shower upon ourselves in this part of the world.

Would it be too far off the mark of patriotism to suggest that we begin to reflect on other things for our greatness and mourn, rather than celebrate, the bombings thought by some to be necessary?

Drains Run Slow?

The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes.

Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel in the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

Ordinary drain products run here. ->

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each mon clean out your pipes ... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as di-pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Top. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemic.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing. So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get

Couple shapes dream house

By Janice Tigar-Kramer special writer

OU COULD say Rich and Stephanie Skaggs left the past behind three years ago when they built their ranch-style house in Camborne

Married 33 years, the Livonia couple decided to sell everything that filled their old house, a ranch they built 27 years ago in Burton

"This was the last house we'd build, so I thought, 'Go for it' " said Rich, a government worker for the past 32 years.

BEING MORE practical, BEING MORE practical, Stephanie had second thoughts, but not before a two-day moving sale nearly emptied their house of everything, including dishes and wastebaskets. They kept only some crystal and collectibles given to them by Stephanie's mother and a bedroom set, which they reused in Moving obviously was easier, but Stephanie, an office manager in Redford Township, then faced the job of selecting furnishings and window treatments for the new, 2,800-square-foot house, which has expansive windows overlooking a large, wooded lot.

THOUGH RICH left most of the decision-making to Stephanie, having "carte blanche" doesn't make the job of furnishing a sevenroom house any easier, Stephanie said. "We ruled out ultra-modern furniture, but there was still much

During the furniture hunt, Stephanie realized she needed an interior designer to help her "humanize" the new house.

Antique quilts, coverlets exhibited

In conjunction with the Farmington/Farmington Hills Founders Fes tival Civil War Encampment, antique quilts and coverlets will be displayed Friday-Saturday, July 6-7, at the Spicer House in Heritage Park, Farmington Road, north of 10 Mile.

There is no admission charge either to the park or to the show, "Quilts and Coverlets: 1850-1930." Show hours will be noon to 4 p.m. each day.

Sponsored by the Farmington Hills Historical Commission and the Friends of Heritage Park, the show will feature folk art displays of items our grandparents, and greatgrandparents, used to cover their Co-chairwomen for the event are Barbara McCann of Friends of Heritage Park and Sherrie Stewart of the historical commission.

Among the items on display will be a Barber family basket-pattern quilt of ecru and green, made in Farmington Township circa 1930; a Dove family quilt of spool pattern on an ecru background, dating from the 1890s and quilted in Farmington Township; and a blue-and-white woven coverlet dated 1869 from Florrisant County, Iowa.

ANOTHER UNUSUAL covering is an all-cotton spread made in a Kentucky plantation in 1850 from cotton grown on the grounds then loomed on spinning wheels of the plantation. It was designed and hand-embroidered by the daughter of the household. Each of the four corners, containing cut work, are embroidered with a different design.

Also displayed will be a "crazy quilt" with patches of velvets and satins, made from party dresses of girls in southern Indiana with elaborate embroidery stitches.

This quilt is comparable to one hanging in the Mellon National Gallery of Art in Washington.

The quilt was sewn circa 1885 by girlhood friends of the bride. It was given as a wedding present.

This show is a gift of the Friends of Heritage Park and the historical commission to the community in celebration of our American heritage on the Fourth of July weekend, Sherrie Stewart said.

The annual award salutes centuryold local sites of historical and architectural significance.

A restoration project of the Canton Historical Society and the Canton Historical Commission, Cherry Hill School dates back to 1876, when a primitive 42-year-old log schoolhouse was replaced.

Amid tall trees in the Cherry Hill Historic Settlement at Cherry Hill and Ridge Road, the white clapboard, two-room schoolhouse today serves as a center for community activities. The Victorian-style schoolhouse, with Roman arched windows, is part of a small historic crossroads in western Canton that's retained its country zest despite growth around it. The tiny village flourished between 1840 and 1920.

IN ITS heyday, the red brick school (since plastered over) boasted narrow planked, wood floors, a round woodburning stove, kerosene lamps and a pail of water with a dipper for drinking.

Down the road from Cherry Hill School is Cherry Hills Methodist Church, dedicated in 1882. It's one of 40 sites that the AAUW has honored with a landmark plaque since the of southeast Michigan. "If Henry Ford had not gotten involved in improving the school in the 1940s, it probably wouldn't be stand-ing today," said Plymouth resident Anne Schlick, AAUW landmark study group chairwoman. By the 1940s, the school was showing its age. Enter Ol' Henry.

A Canton Historic District Commission brochure relates this story: While driving through Cherry Hill

one day, Ford came upon a woman and her 10 children at the side of a road. Stopping to see if he could help, he learned the woman's husband was out of work and the family was homeless

FORD QUICKLY took charge. He gave the husband a job in his small Cherry Hill factory, one of 20 village industries he opened in the 20s, '30s and '40s in the Rouge, Huron and Raisin river valleys to protect the values and experiences of the rural way of life.

Disabled war vets made auto parts at the Cherry Hill factory, living nearby in a dorm fashioned from an old Wilson Creamery building.

Ford offered the downtrodden family use of the house on the Gotfredson farm. But when he then tried to enroll the 10 children in Cherry Hill School, he learned the farm was not within the school dis-

To counter that roadblock, Ford offered to renovate the schoolhouse, add on to the back and hire a second teacher if the school board would let the 10 children attend the school.

Not about to let a windfall slip by, the school board accepted the offer. Ford kept his promise in the form of a $22,000 addition

AFTER THAT, Cherry Hill School became an adopted member of the Greenfield Village Edison School System until 1947. Ties to Ford reaped big dividends for Cherry Hill students.

"There were dance, art and music teachers and he brought in looms and sewing machines," recalled Canton Historical Society member Dorothy West, whose son, Terry, attended Cherry Hill during the Ford years. Mr. Ford even paid for the medical expenses of the students and always sent them to visit Greenfield

Cherry Hill School was closed to students in 1962. The township acquired it from the Plymouth-Canton schools in 1986. Restoration has included the belfry; plans call for a bell to be installed soon

It's exciting to hear that Canton trustees, with the blessing of local residents, are seeking state designated historical area status for the village of Cherry Hill, one of the township's living reminders of its rural heritage.

Would the Skaggs change anything about their dream house? You can't design the perfect house, but you can work well with what you have, Stephanie said.

Sure, she'd like the kitchen eating area to overlook the back yard, "but there's only so much space avail--able," she said.

Stephanie is still accessorizing the house, a luxury she didn't have time for while raising two children. She has selected several decorative plates to fill the china cabinet and particularly likes a colorful, Oriental tea set from the Franklin Mint.

We enjoy the house for its beauty and, of course, I appreciate our furnishings," Stephanie said. "But it's the yard, the trees and plants that I'm attached to; everything else can be

Redford author unveils newest children's novel

Redford Township author Jessica

Hatchigan manages to stay busy.
"Dinosaurs Aren't Forever," her fourth book in six years and second novel for readers 8-12, is out this month from Avon Camelot.

A previous novel for intermediate readers, "Count Dracula, Me and Norma D.," was published four years ago. Fans will be glad to hear "Dinosaurs Aren't Forever" marks the re-turn of the inimitable Molly Harter, the resourceful heroine of that highly popular story.

Before writing novels for readers 8-12, Hatchigan established her popularity with young adult readers, with the 1985 publication of "Meadow Wind," a Silhouette teen romance partially set on the grounds of Henry Ford's Fair Lane estate. A year later, Silhouette brought out "Free Spirit" and "A Dash of Pepper."

"Girls need to read books that show girls achieving," says the softpoken mother of two teen-agers.

'In today's world, the challenges facing women are still more com-plex and difficult than the challenges facing men. I know from my own life what it's like to juggle concerns about family and career . . . and there don't seem to be too many knights in shining armor around any-

Hatchigan began her writing career as a free-lancer, contributing feature articles to such area publications as the Observer & Eccentric, the Detroit News, the Detroit Free Press, Metropolitan Detroit, and oth-

book break Victoria Diaz

IN HER spare time, she worked on putting together her memoirs, which she tentatively titled "A Nice Catholic Girl," and which she mailed off one day to an agent in New York, after hearing the agent speak at an area writers' conference.

"There's no market for biography, unless you're famous," the agent candidly informed Hatchigan, after reading the manuscript. "But teen romances are popular."

With that information in mind and encouraged by the fact that she'd placed second in the 1981 Free Press Short Story Contest, Hatchigan decided to try her hand at fiction writing. "Meadow Wind," inspired by research she'd done on the Ford estate for a Detroit News article, sold the first time out to Silhouette.

These days, Hatchigan's career is taking another turn. She's decided to fake a break from the children's and young adult field, and concentrate on writing a mystery novel.

Acquainting herself with a genre that's relatively new to her as a writer, she's connected up with "Sisters in Crime," an all-female, mystery writers' group in the Detroit area. She also recently dropped in on the annual Mystery Writers of ssica Hatchigan

American workshop in Chicago.

DON'T ASK about the plot of the new mystery novel she's writing, though. Or if you do, don't expect to get much of an answer from the author. The plot of the mystery definitely remains a mystery

"I'm from the school that says you don't talk much about a book until it's finished," she said. End of discus-

She's more than willing, though, to talk about "Dinosaurs Aren't Forever," a lively tale set in a fictionalized Detroit suburb, about a group of kids who hold their club meetings inside an old, broken-down, concrete dino-

The powers-that-be plan to de-stroy the "beast," encouraged especially by the mayor's wife, who thinks it's the ugliest thing she's ever seen anywhere, and an eager city councilman, who just happens to own a wrecking company.

But 10-year-old Molly Harter and her friends have other ideas: they believe their clubhouse/dinosaur is a historic landmark, and set about to save it from extinction.

When Hatchigan isn't writing, she spends much of her time pursuing one of her favorite activities: visiting schools, meeting and talking with kids about writing and about her

WHILE SHE'S accomplishing all these things, by the way, Hatchigan also holds down a full-time job as a public affairs representative for Ford Motor Credit Co., where she edits an employee newsletter, answers media calls and coordinates special events.

How does she do it all?

"It's tough," she said.. "I try to organize my time closely, try to make sure I leave plenty of time to spend with my family. Usually, I'll try to write for an hour either very early in the morning or very late at night, and then set aside one day on weekends for writing, if possible.

"And although I've been trying to cut back, I find myself drinking a lot of coffee lately.

LAST WORDS: Borders Book Shop, Novi, will kick off its third anniversary celebration at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 14, with a live concert by the Ann Arbor-based singing group, the Chenille Sisters.

Effective cropping may enhance photos

Years ago, I remember seeing a mattress tag that spelled out in no uncertain terms, "do not remove under penalty of law.

How ridiculous, I thought, yet I bet there are people who wouldn't think of snipping off that sacred tag.

In numerous photography judgings and critiques over the years, I've noticed a similar reverence. That is, people hesitate altering the size of their finished prints and slides.

They feel either they can't cut down that 8 by 10 enlargement or they're not aware of the improvements that can be made by slight

Yes, cropping your photograph when needed can dramatically improve the impact and strength of your final image.

I've seen many a gorgeous, wellcomposed and well-executed print that suffers, for example, only from that distracting bright patch of sky in the upper corner. Cropping just a half inch or so off the top of the shot, eliminating the "hot spot," will make a noticeable improvement in

HOW ABOUT your special sunset picture that has just too much sky and too much foreground? Cropping ome off top and bottom will produce a much more striking panoi ma sunset. Or your favorite zoo shot of the giraffe stretching his neck up-ward to reach the berries on the branch. Wouldn't a vertical crop enhance this picture? You bet.

A cropped print may preclude you from using pre-cut mats available in many stores. But for just a couple dollars more, any frame shop can custom tailor mats to your cropped

Slides can be cropped, too. In fact, a slide presentation can be made much more interesting by croppi some of the images for greater variety of size slides. Your local photo dealer stocks Gepe brand slide mounts, easy to assemble and available in many pre-cropped shapes.

In discussing cropping, I am not suggesting photographing the whole scene and then deciding later what parts to crop out. I believe in cropping through the camera to obtain the best possible negative or slide. Then, if necessary, crop to enhance your picture of a castle and "Mettlach - VB." Under that mark is the number 2122.

Could you please let me know if it has any value? I have been curious about if for a long time.

A: Your stein was made in Mettlach, Germany, by Villeroy & Boch during the late 1800s. Originally, it had a pewter lid with a porcelain insert.

In its original condition, it would be worth about $3,500. It's impossible to assess the diminished value due to the missing lid; you are at the mercy of any potential buyer.

Q: My doll looks just like a newborn baby and has the attached mark on her back. Can you tell me anything about who made her and if she is valuable?

A: "Baby Betty" was a trademark used by the Butler Bros. on dolls manufactured by Armand Marseilles in Koppelsdorf, Germany. The first Baby Bettys were imported in 1912.

In good condition, your doll would cost $500 to $600.

A: I have read that old Coca-Cola trays marked "Vienna Art Plates" were worth several hundred dollars. What about similar trays not marked Coca-Cola? A: The Coca-Cola trays sell for $400 or $500 and the trays without that logo sell for about one-tenth as Such is the power of fame!

Q: We discovered a bound volume of Harper's Weekly (January to June 1863) in the attic of an old home we acquired.

It is in good condition except that it is dried out and the pages are brittle. There are pictures and articles about the Civil War.

I am sure that this is valuable. What can you tell me about it?

A: Your bound Harper's Weekly is worth about $250 to $350 because of the Civil War material. That's about twice the value of a similar bound volume published before or after the Civil War.

Q: Can you tell my anything about a hand-painted hat-pin holder that is marked Nippon?

It is decorated with lilacs against a pale green background and trimmed with gold. It is 3 inches in diameter and 51/2 inches tall.

A: Nippon is the phonetic Japanese word for Japan. Your hat-pin holder was made between 1900 and 1920; it would probably sell for about $75 to $85.

Q: Are old Sarsaparilla bottles collectible? I have a Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla bottle (Albany, N.Y.). It is green, 9 inches tall and

When was this made and how much is it worth?

A: Sarsaparilla bottles are very popular with collectors. Your bottle was made in the mid-19th century and would sell for $75 to $85.

Other Dr. Townsend bottles sell for as much as $100.

Q: Can you tell me anything about a deck of playing cards promoting Coca-Cola? The backs have a picture of a girl swimming in a pool.

A: The cards you describe were distributed in 1959. One deck in mint condition would probably sell for $50 to $60.

The Mill Race Weavers Guild was established in 1974 and has 30 members. It meets on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at Gothic cottage in Mill Race Village.

BOOK SIGNING

Detroit Tigers Hall of Fame broadcaster Ernie Harwell of Farmington Hills will sign copies of his new book, "Ernie Harwell's Diamond Gems," 7-8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 13, at Coopersmith's bookstore at Laurel Park Place, Six Mile and Newburgh, Livonia.

RICKERBY PHOTOS

Great moments in recent U.S. history are among the images captured in an exhibit at the Detroit Historical Museum highlighting the work of UPI and Life photographer Arthur B. Rickerby.

Titled "The Photographs of Arthur B. Rickerby, the UPI and Life Years, 1941-71," the exhibit will run from July 17 through January.

The 70-piece collection is a nationally traveling exhibition coming directly from the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. It's the first time a retrospective of Rickerby's works are being shown to a national audience.

Some of the photos feature well-known Detroit celebrities and locations, including Alex Karras, Lem Barney and the Ford Motor Co. Proving Grounds, The photographs also depict significant moments in U. S. history, such as the Japanese surrender aboard the USS Missouri in 1945 and the day President John Kennedy was assassinated

The Detroit Historical Museum is open 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. It's at 5401 Woodward at Kirby in the University Cultural Center. The exhibit is sponsored by Aetna Life and Casualty.

Line garden with insect fighters

Good garden tip: When training vines, use spring-type clothes pins to hold them. The groove closest to the spring should hold the support wires and the outer one, the stem.

Happy Firecracker Day! When you're having picnics and outdoor barbecues, why not pot up some basil and put it on the table to keep flies and bugs away?

The French do this and also set pots of it around the eating area. In some countries, basil is grown beside the door so it is brushed when a person passes it to emit, the fragrance. Spearmint and tansy as well as feverfew will make the picnic ants run for cover!

Rue and geraniums are grown as a deterrent to the Japanese beetle. Pennyroyal is said to repel insects in the garden and when rubbed on its collar, the fleas of a cat. Geraniums seem to deter cabbage worms when planted with members of the Brassica family.

I suppose the most commonly known plant to control nematodes and other bugs is the marigold, but some others such as the dahlia and calendula also do a fine job. The marigold makes white fly scatter. So do nasturtiums! Garlic helps control mildew and black spot on roses. Other species of the allium family could be grown for a more attractive bed.

TOMATOES, BASIL and chives not only taste good together, but make good garden companions. The scent of basil is a nemises to the hornworm. Dill is said to be a repellent to mites and aphids, so some of it could very well be a beneficial addition to the garden. If radishes are planted early, their succulent sprouts will entice cutworms and wireworms away from other plants.

If beans are your favorite food, a few plants of savory will protect them from the bean beetle. based in Birmingham. Her column runs regu-And they complement each other on the dinner larly.

Four-o-clocks do the Japanese beetles in; when they eat the foliage they die. Talk about eating yourself to death!

Banana peels provide potash and phosphorous to roses. Bury no more than three near a plant at one time. Mine are doing splendidly this year. I have put at least 1-2 around each plant so far this

As I researched this article, it occurred to me many of these plants with natural repellent qualities are herbs. Isn't that something?

NOW A new plant on the market, a cross between an African geranium and the Grass of China, is reported to be a natural mosquito fighter. It has a lemony fragrance and looks a bit like a rather scraggly geranium. It's not hardy in Michigan, but can be used outdoors until cold weather arrives and then taken indoors. It likes warm, wet weather. Mosquitoes will keep their distance up to 10 feet. It's name is Citrosa. Several area nurseries have it in stock now. Let me know how Citrosa works for you. Since this article is about natural repellents,

Buyers spurn options in favor of fixed rate mortgages

By Doug Funke staff writer

Fixed rate mortgages are the financing today's home buyer is seeking, according to a survey of the largest mortgagors serving suburban Detroit.

'You just can't get away from the 30-year mortgage and that old, trad-itional fixed rate," said Al Marshall, vice president and manager of busi-ness development for First Federal

Condo plagued by smoke problems

My husband and I bought a ranch-style condominium. The developer's claim that the units were soundproof proved false. There is a ranch behind us occupied by smokers. When we open our lower cupboards, we smell their smoke. We can also smell it in one end of the basement.

It would appear that the soundproof issue probably involves a common element for which the association may be responsible, depending on the master deed and other condominium documents. If the association is responsible, the members of the association should make it clear to the board that they expect it to discharge its fiduciary responsibilities to assure that all defects and deficiencies attributable to the developer are pursued.

To the extent that the township was remiss in investigating this unit, it may be relieved of responsibility under governmental immunity. But the association should elicit the support of the township to put whatever pressure it can upon the developer to remedy the various defects and deficiencies at the site. If the board is unwilling or unable to deal with the problem in an effective fashion and has not documented the fact that the sound conditioning or soundproof problem is not a responsibility of the developer, the co-owners should band together and deal with the board though political or legal redress.

condo queries

"Fifteen and 30-year fixed rate mortgage loans are still our bread and butter," said Michael Lubig, vice president and manager of the residential loan department for Standard Federal Bank

Standard Federal, which issued $1 billion in mortgages in 1990, will be close to $800 million through June of this year, he said. "It will be a

Three of the biggest mortgage lenders, Standard Federal, Comerica and First Federal, last week offered identical rates for fixed mortgages 91/4 percent for 15 years, 95/4 for Standard Federal offered an adjustable rate mortgage at 6% percent initially, First Federal and Comerica, 7 percent.

"RATES, FEES and terms are basically all the same. What you're shopping is service," Lubig said.

About 35 percent of the nearly 5,000 mertgages processed by First Federal this year have been written for 30 years, Marshall said. Another 20 percent of the mortgages have been for 15 years fixed.

Business in ARMs is slow across the board.

The shorter the mortgage commitment, the more favorable the rate. First Federal, for instance, offers fixed rates ranging from 9% for 30 years to 9 percent for 10 years - all with 20 percent down, 2 points (a loan origination fee equal to 2 percent of the amount borrowed) and a

$250 application fee. You don't want to pay two points? Simple enough. Just add 1/2 percent to the rate for any time frame you

riod, the higher the payment. To illustrate, the monthly payment on a 30-year mortgage of $65,000 at 9% percent is $558 compared to $689 for the same amount and rate over 15

"The shorter-term loans are becoming much more popular," Marshall said. "If you can afford it, you want 15 years. You pay a hell of a lot less interest.

The difference is nearly $79,000 between a $65,000 mortgage for 15 years at 9% and 30 years at 9%, he

But remember — home mortgage interest is probably the largest deduction for most taxpayers who own property.

Residential mortgage business at Comerica has been better this year than last, said Sam Kreis, vice president for construction lending.

THE 15-YEAR fixed mortgage and the 7-23 balloon - fixed for seven years, with a balloon payment due at that time, amortized over 30 years at 9% percent - are most in demand by Comerica customers, he

Different mortgages are better for different living situations. That's why so many options are available. Ask questions, lenders advise How long do you expect to stay in the house? What's more important - to own a house free and clear or the mortgage interest deduction? Do you have the temperament to gamble on an adjustable rate?

Do the math or have someone do it

"Each person is different," Kreis said. "They should seek competent financial advice. If they don't have a plan, they should have one now

Best financing varies

AP- Home buyers who do their homework can get a mortgage suited to their circumstances and save thousands of dollars in interest payments. Here's a few tips from Changing Times magazines:

 30-Year fixed rate mortgages. With low interest rates, these are the best loans for home buyers who plan to be in the house more than five to seven years and who want the assurance of level payments.

A 1 percentage point increase on a $100,000 mortgage will cost you roughly $26,600 over 30 years.

• 15-year fixed-rate loans. You pay off this variation on the 30-year fixed-rate mortgage in half the time. Payments, are only 15 to 25 percent higher than on a 30-year loan, partly because the principal decreases more quickly and partly because rates are slightly lower.

Paying off a mortgage in half the usual time may not be a good idea, depending on your tax situation. Mortgage interest is tax-deductible, making it one of your cheapest sources of borrowed money. Ask yourself whether the extra you pay on the shorter-term mortgage could earn more than the after-tax cost of the loan if you invested elsewhere.

· Adjustable rate mortgages. With variable-rate loans, the interest rate, and your payments, rise or fall based on the movements of a specific index. The most common ARMs are linked to the average yield on Treasury securities. Others use a weekly average of rates on sixmonth certificates of deposit (CDbased ARMs) or the average cost of funds for the Federal Home Loan Bank's 11th District bank in San

Changes in the rate, which can be monthly, semiannual, yearly or at three- or five-year intervals, are based on the index rate plus a margin of 1 to 3 percentage points. Increases are typically capped at 2 percentage points a year and 5 or 6 points for the life of the loan

During the past decade, total in-terest charges on ARMs have typically been lower than those for fixed-rate loans. And their low firstyear "teaser" rates helped buyers who couldn't make larger payments afford a house.

MAKE THE MOVE NOW!

THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY

If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

- · The selection is excellent.
- · Low interest rates are available.
- · There are many financing options available.

Go ahead, make the move. Now is the right time to buy a home.

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW

Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options. Low interest rates mean you can get more for your money.

- · 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.
- · First time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- · Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise investment.
- Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security.
- Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible. Property taxes can also be deducted.

2 generations of Young ideas

special writer

There aren't too many family architectural firms around to-day. Young & Young of Bloomfield Hills is an exception. Father Don Paul and son Todd follow another local family of architects who practiced together in the late 1940s - Eliel and Eero Saar-

Don Paul started his career by enrolling in the engineering program at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, after which he enrolled the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit to satisfy his more creative instincts. At that time he read Frank Lloyd Wright's "Autobiography" and realized that there was a balance between art and architecture. He then embarked on his career in architecture by enrolling at Lawrence Institute of Technology to study the profession.

Todd is a graduate with a master's degree from the University of Michigan School of Architecture. He taught in the architectural design program at U-M where he was an assistant to Birmingham architect Gunnar Birkerts whose firm he joined. He then worked briefly for Detroit architect William Kessler and afterward linked up with his father's firm.

The firms's area of specialization is residential architecture. It designs about eight houses per year, and while that may not seem like many commissions, Don Paul spends a lot of time on preliminaries, getting to know every nook and cranny and mak-ing sure every element of a house design fits together properly. Often as much time is spent on the details as the overall plan.

TO EXPEDITE the craftsman-like approach of his father, Todd implemented a CAD (computer-aided design) system to position the firm in the flow of the current revolution in architecture. After accepting the system with marked resistance, Don Paul realized that every aspect of a house design could be made easier — from presentation drawings to a bird's eye or worm's eye view. With convincing visuals, the client would be induced the build,

When it comes to designing the interior of a house, Don Paul says, "We don't design rooms; we build spaces."

He compares those spaces to an animal's natural habitat. Rather than being "caged" in, the animal should be part of its natural environment. The same principle applies to a human in

Bull market hurts real estate firms now

in commercial real estate markets range from one year to nearly 10 years, which is a way of saying that in real estate the inventories are unlike those in any other business.

In the automobile industry, a three-months supply might be considered a tough obstacle to overcome, even with rebates, discounts and below-market financing. Still, the time frame is in months, not

But in commercial real estate, the level of inventories and the problem of overleveraging aren't the biggest obstacles to recovery, according to a man who bought and sold hundreds of millions of dollars of buildings.

As big a problem as inventories and overleveraging, says Allen Cymrot, is the poor caliber of some companies trying to market these structures. He asks if they won't compound rather than solve real estate's

"If you solve the problems affecting real estate and still have inefficient real estate companies, it's only a matter of time until the real estate becomes a problem again," says

Cymrot, now a real estate strategist. Early in his career, Cymrot presided over one of the world's largest real estate companies and was chairman of the National Multi-Housing Council, an owners' organization. Now he advises companies on reducing those inventories.

HE ISN'T COMPLETELY pleased with what he sees, which is a lot of companies that developed their busi-nesses during one of the industry's great bull markets and who haven't the slightest notion of marketing in a weak economy

"Historically, bull markets have been very poor training grounds for development of sound business principles," says Cymrot. He observes that there is now a proliferation of

Cymrot says he heard recently from an executive of a major residential developer who said that for the first time in his company's history they had to reduce the price of their product. "The logical conclusion to that statement is that the company had built its entire operation on a contin-uing bull market," said Cymrot. "His

is not an exclusive experience; that methodology was pervasive for Real estate companies that were founded and grew during this period, he said, practiced techniques that not only are of little value now but are outright impediments to their survival or growth.

Among them: leveraging to the hilt, a practice now dangerous if possible; narrow break-even margins; growth by marketing rather than by superior product; operating with minimal capital; and reliance on joint ventures.

Cymrot gradually removed himself from full-time real estate management in the mid-1980s, convinced that tax law changes would eliminate advantages that the industry relied upon. He formed his own firm, consulted from offices in Los Altos Hills, Calif., and wrote a book, Street Smart Real Estate Invest-

In the future, he said back then, owners would need to operate real estate properties no differently than other businesses. They couldn't simply rely on inflation and tax benefits; they'd have to learn bottom-line effi-

SOME DID, most did not. As a result, he says, real estate companies exist today that cannot provide a tion of th perhaps the most fundamental requirement of any business.

Without a clear understanding of what a company's product is there can be no business," he says. Without a clear understanding of the product — its need, value, acceptability and function — there can be no philosophy.

In business, says Cymrot, philoso-phy covers everything, including office decorations, dress code, appearance of brochures and sales material, profile of clients, type of products, product statements. The philosophy will be reflected "in the image it projects to vendors, clients, prospects and community."

Once product and philosophy are defined, he says, the next step is to develop is a business plan, or summary of everything that a business hopes to accomplish during a period

After that comes a marketing plan, and then a budget, or a money

Those are characteristics of all sound companies, but they are ab-sent in many of the real estate companies that grew up during the days when you could sell almost anything at a profit and take a tax deduction

Those days are gone. Ahead is a mountain of product that nobody seems to want at any price and, says Cymrot, it will take business methods to move it.

Lumber prices worry builders

AP - Lumber prices have smashed through the roof since February, and consumers may soon pay more for new homes.

Prices are at record levels, said Burrle Elmore, editor of Random Lengths, a Eugene, Ore., timber industry newsletter.

A price index devised by Random Lengths is 58 percent more expensive than it was in February, when costs were at their lowest level this year.

Elmore said he has seen evidence prices for some lumber items may be coming down. But other commodities have not budged. As a result, many lumberyards are not buying,

The reasons for higher prices are rooted in soft lumber prices last winter that forced many American mills to cut back their production.

At the same time, the looming Persian Gulf War prompted lumber distributors to slash their inventories to the bone, Elmore said.

LUMBER SUPPLIES were drying

'We went from some very low prices during the winter to some record levels right now.'

up at the same time the annual spring upsurge in home construction was beginning. And Pacific Coast mills kept production low in anticipation of shrinking timber supplies as a result of the endangered spotted owl, he said.

The result: "We went from some very low prices during the winter to some record levels right now," he

The Random Lengths price index was at $197 per thousand board feet of lumber on Feb. 1. Today the figure is $311. The previous high was $300 in August 1979.

A lumber bill for a $68,000 home was $6,000 about four months ago. Today, it is closer to $7,000.

the built environment. As a result, the spaces designed for clients of Young & Young continue beyond a box-like definition and become more a part of the surroundings.

This is often achieved by allowing a house to expand beyond circumscription. Rooflines sometimes extend beyond more realistic limits necessitating the use of steel for reinforcement. Walls are often dissolved with the generous use of glass. Large overhanging eaves and projecting walls make the dwelling integral with the site. These design elements can be seen in three Young & Young houses.

A Harbor Springs house on Lake Michigan uses indigenous cedar trim on the roofline as it dramatically extends into the landscape. Another, on Gilbert Lake in Bloomfield Township, totally allows for exterior-interior integration with glass window walls. In a Bloomfiled Hills house, the exterior supporting walls step down into the surrounding landscape making the structure visually interact with the environment and also serving to physically anchor it to the site.

The house won an M award for excellence in masonry design from the Masonry Institute of Michigan and the Michigan Society of Archi-

Speaking of his houses in general, Don Paul says, "Our clients are happy to come home."

Other work by the Young team includes clustered condominium communities in Hilton Head, Ga., and Charolotte, N.C., and a proposed motor mall in the Detroit downriver community
