City chips in with storm cleanup

By Diane Gale
staff writer

The thunder and lightning stopped a week ago, but a lot of us are still picking up the pieces from the storm.

If you've started to bundle the tree limbs and branches torn down by gusting winds of up to 70 mph leave them at the curb — that is if you've got less than five bundles and they've been tied.

MARK HAMMAR, Plymouth's assistant DPW director, said if residents still have tree limbs that need removing, "take them out between the curb and the sidewalk. We'll come along with a chipper and we'll pick them up."

He asks residents to cut limbs into, "managable sections," with the butt end facing toward the road. Cutting up branches and logs is not required, he added.

If you had electricity last week, consider yourself lucky. At 1 p.m. Friday there were 14,333 Edison customers in Wayne and Monroe counties still without power, according to Scott Simons, Edison spokesman.

And if you're preparing for next time, check the batteries in your flash lights and radios. Then take a look at trees near electrical wires.

Detroit Edison will cut trees that could become a problem during a storm. Call the number on your Edison bill, or dial, 397-4000.

"They try to maintain a 10-foot clearance between the lines and trees," said Mary Kay Bean, Edison spokeswoman. But even that guideline wouldn't have helped last week.

"In this storm there were trees 30 feet away from our lines that were uprooted and tossed into them by 70 mph winds." Any tree that you think might be a hazard will be considered in the Edison removal program, Bean said.

THE NEXT time there's a storm and wires fall: "Stay Away," she said. "If there's down or hanging power lines, or broken poles, or anything that they could be touching, like a fence or car, stay away."

She also stressed that the wires should be left alone. "Don't throw anything on them, like a bucket of water."

Pay attention to warning tapes. They were put up to remind people to take extra caution. "That tape is there to protect people, it's saying that it's a very dangerous situation. Always assume down wires are live. Never assume it's dead."

And immediately, report down wire lines to Detroit Edison.

Golf outing

Straight Inc., an agency that works with the drug problems of young people, will have its annual golf outing at 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 3, at Fox Hills Country Club, Plymouth.

The cost of the outing is $150, with the money raised going to help finance the agency. The first prize is a Florida vacation.

For more information, contact Straight at 453-2610.

A winner

Let's hear it for Doris Balconi, Lowell Middle School teacher and a winner in Michigan's second annual Outstanding Teacher Awards program.

The program honoring teachers who've made significant contributions to education is sponsored by the parents magazine "All Kids Considered" and The Class of '95, a joint venture between WJBK-TV and WTWS-TV.

Balconi was nominated by Lowell valedictorian Mike McConnell, who said Balconi "made history come alive for me."

"Because the nomination came from one of my students, it is very special to me," Balconi said. "As a teacher it's easy to do good when you work with so many good people."

Balconi and other winners were treated to lunch at the Chrysler Corporation Executive Dining room in Highland Park and were given a framed certificate and two books.

Registration

Parents of students in the Plymouth-Canton school district may register their children now for the 1991-92 school year.

Parents of elementary and middle school students may register their children at the school they'll be attending, said Ginnie Murdoch, supervisor of pupil accounting.

Parents also may register their children at the pupil accounting office in the board of education building at 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth. All high school students must be registered through the pupil accounting office. Parents must furnish their child's birth certificate, immunization record, proof of residency and Social Security number.

"It's important for parents to register their children as soon as possible to provide sufficient time for the district to plan student transportation routes," Murdoch said.

For more information, call the accounting office at 451-3137 between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

Reward offered

A $1,000 reward is being offered to anyone with information leading to the arrest of a thief who took $3,500 in golf equipment from Brae Burn Golf Club in Salem Township, the golf club manager said.

At 2 a.m. Wednesday, an employee discovered that two front glass doors had been shattered, allowing entry into the golf club pro shop.

Manager Ed O'Brien said a theft "almost identical" to the one discovered Wednesday occurred in April at the golf club, on Five Mile Road.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department at 971-3911.

Sisters make a vow to carry on tradition

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Early in the century, the paternal great-grandparents of Plymouth sisters Krista Morton, Lisa Briones and Stephanie Ristich operated an outdoor cafe in their Yugoslavian homeland of Bitola.

Their mother's family owned a cafe in Tallin, Estonia, on the banks of the Baltic Sea. Today it's regarded as Estonia's "Hard Rock Cafe."

THE ENTREPRENEURIAL spirit must be genetic; the sisters' grandfather, Jordan Ristich, owned and operated Jordan's on the River in Detroit for more than 60 years.

The parents of Morton, Briones and Ristich — Nick and Tina Ristich — own the Cozy Cafe and the Plymouth Manor banquet facility. Retired from Jordan's, Grampa Ristich, now 85, still makes the soup every day at the Cozy, reporting for work at 7 a.m.

Now the fourth generation is carrying on the family tradition. Last October, the sisters opened The Wedding Chapel on Main Street at the Plymouth Manor.

Morton, 27, Briones, 26, and Ristich, 24, have worked for their parents' businesses since they were kids, and in doing so they recognized a need.

"The need came to us; we just provided the setting," said Stephanie Ristich, who's planning her own October wedding.

"We got to thinking that if there's that great a need for an alternative setting for weddings people can use, let's provide it," said Morton. The setting has it all over a judge's chambers for elegance and romance, add the sisters.

Despite the lack of advertising and even a sign at Plymouth's chapel of love, the elegantly appointed, non-denominational chapel has realized success from the get go, with as many as four or five weddings booked in a day. Some nuptials are scheduled for as far off as April, 1993.

Traditional weddings are just a part of the business.

Some couples tie the knot for the second or third time; children give away their no-longer-widowed parents; while others renew their vows.

"Today, making it through 10 years of marriage is something, and people are celebrating that," said Morton.

IT'S NOT UNUSUAL to find the sisters shedding a few tears in the back of the chapel during weddings. "Because we meet with the brides, we get close with them," said Ristich. "It's more like being at a girlfriend's wedding."

At one recent ceremony, Briones guessed what a bride was thinking

Township revs up neighborhood patrols with motorcycle cops

In an effort to enhance neighborhood patrols, a motorcycle police patrol is being tested in Plymouth Township.

The township police department has initiated a two-month test program involving the use of a motorcycle provided at no cost to the department for the test period, said Police Chief Carl Berry.

"After the test period, we evaluate the results and determine if a recommendation to make the motorcycle patrol a permanent part of our overall protection and response services is appropriate," Berry said.

"If there is a showing of success, such as higher visibility — a strong deterrent to would-be crimes — and increased traffic control and enforcement, I would favor support for this resource," he continued.

Berry said a motorcycle patrol could be a help in policing hard to get to areas, including traffic jams and areas of township parks where patrol cars can't go.

The Harley-Davidson Motorcycle

Corp. and Harley-Davidson of Ann Arbor are providing the specially equipped bike currently used by more than 750 law enforcement agencies.

The department has instituted a new operations policy to guide use of the motorcycle. Among other restrictions, the motorcycle won't be used in situations that involve unnecessary risk, including felon chases and inclement weather, Berry said.

Should the test succeed, cost of the motorcycle is around $7,000, about one-third the cost of a fully-equipped patrol car.

Three department officers recently received 40 hours each in training to operate the motorcycle.

Goss accents her experience

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Georgina Goss stresses her experience in local government and a desire to eliminate wasteful state spending in her campaign for the 36th District state House seat.

"I've been in public service for the last 12-15 years," Goss said. She is Northville Township's supervisor, a post she's served in for five years. She also served as township clerk for two years.

GOSS IS THE choice of the Republican Party leadership, evidenced by her long list of endorsements from local Republican office holders. Her supporters include Gerald Law, who resigned the 36th District House seat in May to become Plymouth Township supervisor; Wayne County Commissioner Maurice Breen; Susan Heintz, director of the governor's southeast Michigan office; state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville; and several local office holders.

"I support any kind of property tax relief," Goss said, adding she supports as much property tax relief as possible "while still providing necessary services."

On Engler's budget cuts, including those in welfare and the arts, Goss said, "Every portion of the budget should be scrutinized."

"I support the arts, I believe there should be some state funding for the arts," she said.

She supports ending benefits to "single, able-bodied adults," adding, "I do believe women and their dependents should be taken care of."

In speaking with potential voters, Goss said people are most concerned with school finance and education.

"School finance reform is critical," she said. "Education is the tool that will correct all the other problems," Goss said, adding she'd like to work on education finance reform in the legislature.

"THE PROPERTY TAX burden has to be relieved," she said. Goss suggests letting people vote on whether to raise the sales tax, and earmarking the increase for education. She's against having locally raised taxes go to other school districts.

If elected, Goss said she'd also like to work on issues related to roads and "how the DNR (Department of Natural Resources) runs."

"I have dealt with the DNR and they aren't accountable to anybody," she said, citing an example in Northville Township where she had trouble getting information on a proposed project.

On the abortion issue, "I don't have a label," Goss said. Should she be asked to vote for or against abortion in the legislature, "I would listen to both sides," she said, and make a decision "based on the best representation of my district."

"I have a solid record of accomplishments," Goss said. Recently named head of the Western Townships Utilities Authority, she said local governments "work well with each other."

On an issue in which local governments differ, Mettetal Airport, Goss said its future should be determined locally.

"I plan on having a district office," Goss said, adding she would be available at the local office on Mondays and Fridays and recess periods.

Three Republicans, Georgina Goss, Jerry Vorva and Deborah Whyman, are vying for the 36th state House seat in a primary election Tuesday, Aug. 6.

Since no Democrat is seeking the seat in the heavily Republican district, the winner of the primary is almost assured victory in the general election Aug. 27.

The district is made up of north, central and west Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township.

The primary and general election were scheduled by Gov. John Engler, after Gerald Law resigned the House seat May 1 to become Plymouth Township supervisor.

Vorva wants to reduce spending

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

State representative candidate Jerry Vorva wants to cut costs spent on administering state government.

"I am willing to work very hard for you in the 36th District as I have for the citizens of Plymouth; if you ask the citizens they will agree," said Vorva, a city commissioner.

HE ALSO URGES residents to "be a partner with me — I need people to pay attention," he said, to issues before government.

Vorva said voters "are tired of business as usual, they are looking for someone to step forward and be a real leader."

Of Gov. John Engler's budget cuts, Vorva said, "Obviously, there needed to be cuts. Michigan citizens are tired of paying for programs that don't have a good end result."

On welfare cuts sought by Engler, Vorva said, "I don't think anybody who is a tax-paying citizen wants to see anyone suffer. However, we do resent being taken advantage of for such a long period of time." He suggests cutting off assistance to those unwilling to work.

On Engler's cuts in arts funding, Vorva said across the board cuts were needed to balance the state budget. But he said the state should help fund arts to some extent. "At least finance it in the tone that it has an educational value, even for adults," Vorva said, adding donations should be sought.

ON REFORM OF education funding, Vorva suggests that school districts have too many administrators. "I've never seen a government body that didn't. In the city (Plymouth) we cut down administrative staff," he said, to help balance the budget.

Schools, he said, should be funded from many sources. "Spread it out fairly so homeowners are not being hit," Vorva said, adding local control is important.

Vorva is against public ownership of Mettetal Airport. "I have asked questions (from state officials) that I am still waiting for an answer for," he said, adding the November referendum in the city "should be binding."

Vorva said he is pro-choice on abortion.

He supports limiting state legislators' terms to four, or eight years, saying we need to have citizen legislators. He also suggests simplifying state government by having a one-house legislature, as some states do.

"If you say you're going to cut staff, start at the top — lead by example," Vorva said.

Asked if he would be an Engler supporter, he responded, "It's hard for Jerry Vorva to see himself in any camp other than the taxpayers' camp."

Whyman stresses conservativeness

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Deborah Whyman stresses that she's the most conservative candidate in a conservative district, in seeking the state House seat in the 36th District.

"The thing that bothers me is the government waste we have," she said, adding she holds a master's degree and is the only candidate who is a college graduate.

"I'm running because people in this district deserve a conservative choice," said Whyman, who works as a data processing consultant at Ford Motor Co.

SHE SUPPORTS Gov. John Engler's budget cutting plan, including cuts in welfare and state support of the arts.

"People who are able to work should work," she said, adding, "You work — do you want to support someone who is at home collecting general assistance?"

Whyman, a member of the Detroit Institute of Arts Founder's Club, supports Engler's plan to end state subsidies for the arts.

In the last 15 years, she said, "Funding for the arts for the DIA has increased by 11,120 percent. Clearly that is an increase that is not acceptable."

She supports a tax credit for people who give to the arts.

"I tend to think it (funding) could all be done privately," Whyman said.

Saying schools need attention, Whyman cites a high rate of students nationwide who graduate from high school "who didn't know how to read."

"Alternative ways of funding need to be found. It can't be millages and spending and spending and spending," she said.

She said the state should "look at sources of revenue and see if it's the best way to spend its money."

WHILE WHYMAN SAID she doesn't have a plan to reform school funding, she offers Iowa's method of funding education as a possible model.

Deborah Whyman

"They have a flat 5-mill rate statewide," she said, adding local districts have the option of adding to that.

"They're educating their children so they're doing something right," she said.

Whyman said she's against local governments seeking state and federal money to buy Mettetal Airport, and speaks of "the negative effect on families and real estate surrounding the airport."

When state and federal grants are involved, "we lose control over what goes on at the airport," she said.

Whyman is against abortion, saying it should only be allowed to save the life of the mother. She is endorsed by Michigan Right to Life.

She also seeks to reduce government spending on programs including a $5.1 million program to train high school dropouts to get their diplomas.

"You have to have a high school diploma," she said, suggesting the responsibility for completing education is with individuals, not the state. "We don't have to pay for that."

Another program she'd like to eliminate is paying an aerobics instructor $11,000 annually to lead prisoners in exercise.

"Families want to keep more of what they earn," she said. "I will fight for policies that support families."

New service keeps track of events

Charity fund-raisers and special event planners in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties no longer have to live in fear that their event will lose patrons to another event set for the same date.

A new community service is being offered to the tri-county area by The Community House in Birmingham — The Community Calendar.

It's a direct response to the lament that charity, cultural and educational organizations frequently and inadvertently schedule events in competition with each other.

The service is being patterned after a similar one based at the Field Museum in Chicago.

"Fund-raisers in the Chicago area wouldn't dream of scheduling a benefit without checking out competition for the date at the museum," reports Wally Klein, a Bloomfield Township resident who is a member of the community calendar committee.

And, like the Chicago model, The Community Calendar will be a free service.

Beginning immediately, planners of special charity events sponsored by non-profit organizations based in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, should submit in writing the following information:

- Nature and name of the event.
- Name of the sponsoring organization.
- Date, time and place.
- Name and telephone number of a contact person.

Information should be sent to: The Calendar Keeper, 380 S. Bates, Birmingham, Mich., 48009.

To check out dates listed on the calendar, call The Community House at 644-5832 and ask for The Calendar Keeper (aka Stacey Liheman). Of course, Lineman can only relay information she has, so dates should be submitted to her as soon as they are known.

Former coach pleads guilty to sex charges

By Tim Smith
staff writer

"I just talked to my son and he yelled real loud, 'Yes!'" said a teary-eyed Northville woman Friday morning near an Oakland County Circuit Court telephone booth.

"I told him I loved him and how proud I am of him and he told me he loved me back."

Both mother and son were relieved because the youngster now won't have to take the Oakland County Circuit Court stand and relive horrors experienced in the Southfield apartment of James William "Bill" Stoller.

That's because there won't be a trial. Stoller pleaded guilty Friday before Circuit Judge John O'Brien to 24 counts of criminal sexual conduct and 15 habitual offender charges.

STOLLER, 48, admitted that between September 1988 and March he molested and attempted to have sex with the victims — six boys ages 10-13 — and showed them pornographic movies.

As a coach in the Garden City Youth Athletic Association, "Bill" befriended and gained the trust of the victims, all members of the association.

"I feel betrayed," a father of one of the victims said.

Sentencing is set for 8:30 a.m. Aug. 12, after Stoller undergoes a pre-sentence psychiatric evaluation, prosecuting attorney Jeffrey Saunders said.

"We are pleased that Mr. Stoller now stands convicted on all charges, and that the families of the victims will be spared the ordeal of a trial," said Saunders, an assistant prosecutor assigned to Oakland County's criminal sexual conduct unit.

"We offered Mr. Stoller no reduced charges in return for his confession... there was no plea bargain," the prosecutor added. "We simply showed the strength of our case at the pre-trial."

Stoller faces up to life in prison on multiple charges of first- and second-degree criminal sexual conduct charges.

BUT SOME parents weren't sure a life sentence would be a severe enough penalty for the crimes Stoller committed against their sons. To protect their children, the parents asked to not be identified.

"We're pleased with his plea of guilty," said another victim's father interviewed following the guilty plea being entered Friday. "He's obviously guilty, it's just the tip of the iceberg."

"The charges don't even reflect all the terrible things that were done. As far as we're concerned, the children already have life sentences," he said.

According to the father of an assaulted Dearborn youth, "I don't think there's a sentence on God's penetration), which each carry a maximum penalty of life in prison.

STOLLER ALSO was charged with 12 counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct, all 15-year felonies; one count of gross indecency, a five-year felony; six counts of disseminating obscene materials, a two-year high misdemeanor; one count of fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct, a two-year high misdemeanor; and one count of soliciting for immoral purposes, a one-year high misdemeanor.

Meanwhile, police in Garden City and Dearborn Heights also are seeking criminal sexual conduct warrants against Stoller for incidents reported in those communities.

BEFORE FRIDAY'S proceedings ended, O'Brien approved a request by Stoller's attorney, Jerome Fenton, to review any non-confidential letters subsequently sent "from victims or people who may have known him in the past." Saunders also will have opportunity to see those letters, O'Brien agreed. Bailiffs then quickly escorted the handcuffed Stoller down a public hallway and into a room, presumably enroute to the Oakland County Jail.

Fenton left without comment following Stoller's plea. A spokeswoman for Fenton, Millie Kebrdle, said the attorney would not be returning phone calls until after sentencing.

STOLLER DISAPPEARED April 7 from his Shiawassee-Eight Mile area apartment, three days after the mother of a 13-year-old boy in the baseball league told Southfield police the coach had molested her son there.

He was then captured April 18 at a Motel 6 in San Jose, Calif. and arraigned April 20 in Southfield's 46th District Court.

During the May 1 preliminary hearing before District Judge Bryan Levy, five of the victims told stories about how Stoller befriended and then molested them.

WHAT TO BRING WITH YOU

When you initially see your doctor because of an arthritic problem, come with the following information.

First, bring all your medicines, as one of your current medications could be causing your problem. For example: gout can occur after using diuretics to control heart failure or hypertension.

Your present drugs inform the doctor what medication to avoid in treating your arthritis. If you are already on an antiacid, your physician would use caution in prescribing an arthritic medication such as indocin.

Second, bring laboratory studies, but only if those studies are less than 6 months old. Blood tests that doctors consider important such as the rheumatoid factor, sedimentation rate, and serum uric acid level, often reflect changes in your general status. Blood studies older than six months may need repeating, particularly if your arthritis has flared recently.

Thirdly, bring x-rays of your involved joints. Again, the six month rule-of-thumb holds. Older x-rays are not likely to reflect your joints as they are now.

Finally, come with previous medical reports. This information expedites the doctor's understanding of your overall health, and brings down costs by negating the need to repeat blood tests or x-rays.

Beat-The-Heat SUMMER SPA SALE

SLIP INTO A HOT SPRING SPA...AND BEAT THE HEAT

You may wonder why anyone would purchase a hot tub during the sweltering summer. Well, just ask one of the experts pictured above. After a lot of debating on whether to get a pool or a spa, they decided a Hot Spring Spa would give them the most use. As the fellow in the middle explains, "We figured we could turn down the heat and use the spa like a pool to cool off, only it even has moving jets and other neat stuff." And from the gentleman on the right, "Yeah, and we can still use it outdoors in the winter cause Hot Springs costs less to use than other spas, even when the snow is really blasting." And Mom and Dad like using it when it's cooler at night," this from the left, "cause it helps them unwind after work." Okay, but why Hot Springs? "Well, they have the best warranty, five years even on the pumps and other stuff, and Dad said that was real important," from the right. "And don't forget," from the middle again, "it was real easy to set up." "Yeah," from the left, "all we did was fill it with the garden hose and plug it in." And from all three, "Make sure you get one during their sale, cause you save lots of money. Buying things on sale makes mom and dad real happy!"

So there are your reasons. From some real experts. Summer or Winter... Hot Springs Spas.

I want to grow up
I want to be happy
Be the best me that I can be
With every bit of strength I have I'll try real hard to be drug-free.

They sing songs about the dangers of cigarettes, marijuana and alcohol.

They wear T-shirts with the logo: "Drug free that's me."
They put on plays with kids playing the roles of addicts.
This is the first week of the new Maplegrove Day Camp in West Bloomfield, the first day camp in the state - and maybe in the nation - designed for children of alcoholics and drug abusers.
It's free, thanks to a volunteer staff trained by Maplegrove Community Education and funds provided by the Junior League of Birmingham.

And it's filled to its 30-child capacity, with parents bringing youngsters from as far away as St. Clair Shores, Flat Rock and Canton and as nearby as Troy, Southfield and Walled Lake.

NEARBY, SIXTH, seventh and eighth graders sit on the ground discussing their feelings about their family situations. A counselor explains that an alcoholic parent does what he or she does because he has an illness - not because the parent doesn't love them.
But Earl, looking down at the ground, tells the group "If they loved you they wouldn't do all the things that they do."
"Earl, your mom had to sign to let you come here," he is reassured.
"My grandmother told her to," comes Earl's response.
Mary Anne, 18, a teen volunteer from Bloomfield Hills, offers a method of coping. She knows how they're feeling, since she too comes from an alcoholic home.
"You know what I did," she confides. "I wrote a letter to my father. I got all my feelings out. I never gave it to him, but sometimes I go back and read it."
"We have to take care of ourselves," another counselor reminds.

get out of the net.
"If we can start to disengage ourselves from everybody's problems, we can get out of the web," says Kathy Reynolds, a volunteer from Farmington.
She reminds them of the four C's:
• I didn't cause it.
• I can't control it.
• I can't cure it.
• I can cope with it.
Late Tuesday morning, camp directors Kathy Walton and Betty Conger have a chance to back off from their administrative duties and see how the program they designed is working.

The two Rochester Hills residents designed separate activities for the three age groups, "but all with the same objectives," Conger said.
"We're really, really happy," said Conger at week's end. "We've had good attendance, good feedback from parents, staff and kids. And kids who originally didn't sign up for the overnight (scheduled at the end of camp) now want to attend."

Volunteer counselors like Kathy Reynolds of Farmington take extensive substance abuse training and commit part of their summer to the new day camp, which is the first one in the state, if not the country.

SET ON THE wooded Maplegrove site, and flanked by the treatment center that houses teens and adults recovering from chemical abuse, the camp is divided by age groups.
Each day has a different focus, beginning with information on alcohol and drugs and what they do to body, mind and personality. Feelings and self image, defenses and coping, family issues, peer pressure and getting help are other topics.
The information is delivered through games, crafts, group discussion, songs, stories and drama.

ON THIS DAY, the youngest group - first and second graders - draws up a list of safe people, people to whom they can turn if something goes wrong in their lives.
Their list includes police officers and grandma, mom and dad and teachers. But tiny, blond, gamine-faced Katy has another idea. "Let's write all our names down because I'm safe," she announces.
Following a song played on the guitar by counselor Bonnie Kalinowski of Union Lake about the evils of tobacco, marijuana and alcohol. Keith ventures, "My mom and dad used to do marijuana."

MEANWHILE, THIRD, fourth and fifth graders play a game in which a ball of yarn is thrown to each person, and that person wraps it around a part of their body and then toss it on to someone else. Now everyone is entangled, and each must find a way to

Camp deals with issues which hit now and later

One of every four school children comes from an alcoholic family, according to the National Council on Alcoholism.
The problems associated with their childhood follow them to adulthood, including a 50 percent greater than normal chance of becoming alcoholics themselves.
And, only about 10 percent of these young children currently receive help.
The Maplegrove Day Camp for young children of alcoholics and other drug abusers grew out of an idea first put out by Dr. Glenn Craig Davis, a Birmingham resident, and chairman of the psychiatry department of Henry Ford Hospital.

Funding from the Junior League of Birmingham and volunteer training and staffing by Maplegrove Community Education secured it. And West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation will host the overnight camping experience at Bloomer Park which will end each of the two-week sessions.
The next camp starts July 22 and runs 9 a.m. to noon Monday-Thursday on the grounds of Henry Ford Hospital's Maplegrove Center on Maple Road in West Bloomfield.
A few openings are still available. It is free. Call 661-6170 for more information.

Patterson, Ragan spent big in Schoolcraft race

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Schoolcraft College's recent board election was one of the costliest in school history, with two candidates topping or approaching five figures in campaign fund raising.

Runner up Bruce Patterson and winning candidate Stephen Ragan both neared or exceeded the $10,000 mark in campaign spending for the four-year board seat.

Patterson's final filing shows the Canton attorney raised $17,239, including $4,564 of his own money for his campaign.

Patterson received $1,000 contributions from James and Jocelyn Lange, Ronald and Sharon Mack and David Winkler.

Lange was identified as "auto dealer, James Martin Chevrolet, Detroit." Mack is an electrical contractor. Winkler is a senior financial consultant with Merrill Lynch, Farmington Hills.

Outside contributions show $50 from Wayne County Commissioner Bryan Amann and his wife, Mary and $150 from McNamara Band — credited to "McNamara Bank" — 600 Randolph, Detroit. McNamara Band is the political action committee founded by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara. In addition, the Canton community activist received $150 from Canton Township Supervisor Thomas Yack and $100 from state House candidate Jerry Vorva of Plymouth.

Patterson also received $75 from the Michigan Bell Political Action Committee.

Ragan hadn't filed his campaign report as of Friday — already totaling $50 in late fees.

"We just haven't finished all our paperwork," the Plymouth resident said.

His campaign records, which he supplied to the Observer late Friday, will show he raised and spent $9,813 on his campaign.

He received political action committee money from: City PAC, $200; Carpenters Southeast District Council PAC, $50 and Wayne Disposal PAC, $50.

He also received contributions from Plymouth Township Supervisor Gerald Law, $50; state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, $100; state representative candidate Georgina Goss of Northville Township, $100; Schoolcraft Trustee Michael Burley of Canton, $50, the office holder expense fund of Livonia Councilman Dale Jurcisin, $50, and Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett, $50.

Third place finisher Ronaele Bowman of Livonia was the only other candidate filing a full campaign disclosure.

Bowman and Patterson filings show each candidate spent the bulk of their campaign funds on mailings.

Bowman raised $700 and spent $300 in campaign funds according to her report, though she also listed $2,226 of her own money as "in kind" campaign contributions. Bowman's contributors included state Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, Garden City Councilwoman Mary Jane Schildberg and Livonia School Board member Richard McKnight, all of whom contributed $50.

Other candidates for the four-year seat, including Willis Brauer of Livonia, Paulette Cebulski of Plymouth, Robert Gordon of Plymouth, M. Andrea Taylor of Livonia and Patricia Watson of Northville, all filed a campaign waiver, indicating they raised and spent less than $1,000.

The three candidates for six-year board seats, including winners Michael Burley of Canton, Jeanne Stempien of Northville Township and runner-up Subramanian Ramamurthy of Canton, also filed campaign waivers.

Schoolcraft trustees oversee the college budget and programs. They serve without pay.

Pretzels add twist to picnic

If you are planning a German-style picnic, besides rolling out the barrel and having a barrel of fun, add to the festivities with homemade pretzels.

Who in the heck makes homemade pretzels in the middle of summer? I do, and I learned from my momma.

Every now and then, during summer vacation, the heat and humidity have a tendency to clash with god-knows-what and produce a day of rain.

Not just any rain, mind you, but a mini-gully-washer day that has a tendency to freshen the air, water the grass and cool down the environment, if all but for very short time.

Having six kids, Momma was a pro at keeping us busy on those rainy days.

I don't remember malls or video arcades, so if we had already seen the movie at the neighborhood theater and didn't have enough money to go bowling, Momma would get out the flour, yeast and herbaceous seeds for a fun afternoon of pretzel making.

The only thermometer we had was the one outside the kitchen window that told Dad how well to dress for the day at work.

Nowadays, equipment-shocked cooks wouldn't think of proofing the yeast without just the right (103 degree) temperature water for optimum results.

Momma's thermometer: her pinky finger and the line, "That feels just about right."

I REMEMBER that wait for the yeast to proof was as long as the intermission on a double-featured Saturday afternoon.

If it didn't start bubbling within 10 minutes, we would try again.

While the yeast was proofing, the argument about hand washing was always prevalent.

After Sissy and I had already washed once, we were instructed to do it again and "this time with soap."

It was then that Momma would get down on her hands and knees and search the bottom cupboards for two equal-sized pans and cookie sheets.

Momma knew that if Sissy's bowl was slightly bigger than mine, a battle would take place that could never be resolved.

After sifting the flour and salt with our hands, of course, we would scream in unison, "Eeeeeuuuuuuuuuu!" as Momma poured in the lukewarm water, oil and yeast mixture. No wooden spoons here. "That's why the Lord gave you hands" was all we remember.

After combining the mixture and being sure to "clean the sides," we turned the dough onto a homemade kneading board that Dad assembled out in the garage.

This was the classic breadboard, for it even had a little lip that wrapped precisely around the dining room table so as not to slip while working the dough. Dad made two. I still have mine. I wonder if Sis still has hers?

As kids, we never knew the meaning of "knead until smooth and elastic." For some odd reason, Momma could tell with the punch of a finger. We divided the dough into 24 pieces each, then proceeded to roll each piece into strips, about a foot long, give or take a few inches.

I MUST HAVE been 17 before I realized how to twist the dough into pretzel shapes. Now I will never forget and someday hope to teach my kids the same.

Before baking, a fight always ensued about what to cover the pretzels with.

Our favorite was salt. Momma like poppy seeds while Dad always loved caraway, especially with his beer. Speaking of beer, that was one of the few times I ever recall Momma sitting down with a can of Pabst, us with our Kool-Aid, all sinking our teeth into pretzels hot from the oven.

That was one lesson that could never be repeated in a culinary arts classroom.

Party hearty with German food

By Geri Rineschler
special writer

JUST ABOUT this time every year I begin to plan our annual, summer, backyard party for family and friends.

The menu usually features a variety of cold appetizers made up of vegetables, a platter of chilled poached or smoked fish fillets, grilled veal bratwurst (which is then steamed in dark beer), a noodle or spatzle salad, assorted vegetable and mixed green salads, a baked fruit tart and traditional German spice cookies.

You may think the menu was inspired after a pleasure trip through Germany, a few years ago, and you're right. It was during that trip, when I became reacquainted with the fact that German food is healthy, fun and quite diverse.

Although most of us think of German food as one continuous sausage and schnitzel feast, German cuisine is nearly as diverse as our own. In the same way many tourists keep a journal of their travels through museums, galleries and historic monuments, a food writer records the elements of every meal accompanied by little sketches of the placement or arrangement of food presentation, along with comments about the flavors, visits to food markets and names of wines, beer and other beverages.

WHILE REVIEWING and reminiscing through my gourmet journal it was as if I was sampling the splendid cuisine of Baden and Wurttemberg all over again. On this particular trip, my culinary adventures began in Frankfurt, then south to Rothenburg on the Tauber River, Hildeberg and then to Stuttgart.

Rothenburg oder Tauber, which is just a leisurely drive from Frankfurt, is one great array of breads, cakes and other sweet, buttery pastries.

At the Goldener Hirsch Hotel, an old inn built in 1500, with a spectacular view of the Tauber Valley, one finds Kalbsteak Zurich a veal steak served with fried potatoes and steak cordon bleu, wiener schnitzel, masthuhnchen (pullet chicken), rebhuhn (partridge) and reh-rucken (saddle of venison).

Later I ventured through the town to sample and ogle the many elegant pastries in the numerous konditorein. These offerings still constitute the most interesting part, by far, of German cuisine: tortes, marzipan candies, fruit tartlets, and trays of pfeffernusse, lebkuchen (gingerbread) hearts and springerle.

At the Baumeisterhaus Cafe, a most picturesque building near Marketplatz in Rothenburg, supper began with a semolina soup made with a light, velvety broth. This was followed by bratwurst, a grilled pork and veal sausage cooked over an open wood-fired grill.

MEMORIES OF these and other specialties of Tothenburg and my other travels along the Rhine River encouraged me to cook up all sorts of German delights when I returned home.

Grilled bratwurst and weisswurst can be a great focus for a backyard barbeque menu. Any accompanying chilled vegetable salads can be made in advance, as well as most desserts. The only challenge you may face will be locating top-quality German sausages.

Bratwurst a specialty of Nurnberg, is made of pork and veal. The filling is ground and flavored with nutmeg, caraway, marjoram, salt and pepper. Caraway and marjoram are commonly used in flavoring vegetable dishes, as well as sausages in and around Baden.

If you are traveling to Frankenmuth, Kern's Sausage shop on Main Street almost always has freshly made bratwurst and other traditional German sausages. Just remember to bring along an ice chest to keep the sausage cold.

Locally, there are a number of butcher shops in the Detroit area. Here are my personal favorites: Hans Delicatessen, 1049 E. Long Lake Road, Troy, an authentic German food shop, which carries both pre-cooked bratwurst and weisswurst, along with lots of imported German goodies such as Westphalian ham, traditional German hard rolls, smoked meats, desserts and Rittersport chocolates.

FOR AN UNCOOKED bratwurst made with 85 percent veal and 15 percent pork meat, try Torpey's Meat Market, 3336 Rochester Road, Troy. Torpey's makes bratwurst and other sausages fresh daily.

Conrad's Sausage Co., 28974 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington, and at 27470 Schoolcraft, Livonia, makes a pre-cooked bratwurst, which is mostly veal with a bit of pork. Whether you choose the uncooked or the precooked bratwurst, it's a matter of personal taste. I generally buy some of both to add a bit of interest to the meal.

Beer lover makes own home brew

By Larry Janes
special writer

What used to be "A loaf of bread, jug of wine and thou" has taken a turn, not necessarily for the worse.

Cutting-edge culinarians are hopping on the micro-brew rage with homemade lagers, ales, stouts and pilsners in record numbers threatening to change the jugs of wine into barrels of brew.

Brian Hassell of Livonia was so impressed with his first batch of homemade dark amber ale that a second batch of Canadian ale is brewing as you read this. Hassell is even beginning to ask friends and neighbors to start saving the brown long-neck bottles for next month's batch. A senior this year at Eastern Michigan University, majoring in Food Systems Management, Hassell is a night sous chef at MacKinnon's Restaurant in Northville.

When asked what prompted him to get into home microbrewing, Hassell claims that it's simply his "love for the stuff." Working as a chef in a few Washtenaw County watering holes exposed Hassell to different brews from around the world and began kindling his interest in making homemade brew. Hassell's fellow chef, Steve Shaughnessey, told him about Mark George, owner of the Wine Barrel in Redford, a beer/wine/deli operation that offers an extensive assortment of home brew kits.

It was here that Chef Hassell picked up a home brewing kit consisting of a fermenter, air lock, syphon, hydrometer, capper, sanitizer, thermometer and all the necessities to begin bottling his personal favorite, a dark amber ale.

A quick trip over to the Wine Barrel turned into an afternoon discussion with owner Mark George, who seemed to know (and stock) just about everything the home brewer would need to get started. George stocks kits that allow the home micro-brewer to invest as little as $13.99, plus starters, to get brewing. "After a recent PBS special on home brewing, requests for brewing supplies shot off like a rocket," said George, who answered the call with his own boxed, brewing kit, self-assembled, consisting of all the professional equipment for $65 and change.

But what about the taste, you ask? I've been known to tip a few brews in my day and have tasted various restaurant micro-brews from the Traffic Jam and even coerced a taste from master brewers George and Hassell. The home brews I sampled were very tasty, with little after-taste, some sediment and what seemed to be a little more fizz. I found that pouring the home brew into a pre-chilled beer mug and allowing it to sit for a few minutes before tasting improved its character tenfold.

But before you set off with cash in hand, and dreams of owning your own Clydesdales, you should know a Federal statute states, "Any individual head of household is allowed to brew a maximum of 200 gallons per year." If your visions of brewing include Clydesdales, you first must be qualified as a micro-brewery from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

For additional information on home brewing, write Mark George at the Wine Barrel, 25303 Plymouth Road, Redford 48239, or call him at 533-wine.

3 cups ale or dark German beer
1 small bay leaf

Prick bratwurst with a fork and precook in a pan of boiling water. Reduce temperature and simmer sausage about 7 minutes. Preheat barbecue grill. Remove sausages from water and cook over medium-high heat until juices in the sausage are running clear when tested. In a saucepan mix beer and bay leaf, bring mixture to a boil, then reduce heat to a simmer. Remove grilled sausages and add to simmering pot of beer and continue to cook 15 minutes. To serve remove from beer and set on a platter garnished with herbs or sauteed vegetables or in individual buns. Serves 4.

CHILLED GREEN BEAN SALAD

1 pound fresh, very thin green beans

4 tablespoons finely minced red/purple onion

Dressing
Makes 1 cup
1/2 cup extra-virgin olive oil
3 tablespoons raspberry/red wine vinegar
1/2 tablespoon mustard with horseradish
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 tablespoon very finely minced fresh parsley

Trim beans and cook whole, in a large pot of boiling water. When tender, drain, and rinse immediately in cold water. Mix together dressing in a glass jar or pitcher. Mix in just enough dressing to moisten beans, add minced onion. Keep refrigerated until serving time. Toss beans and dressing once again just before serving. Serves 4.

STREUSEL-TOPPED FRESH FRUIT TART

1 recipe favorite pie crust, rolled to fit a 9-inch pan

1 pound fresh peaches peeled and sliced
1/2 pound fresh cherries, pits removed Zest of 1 lemon
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch dissolved into 3 tablespoons orange juice

Topping:
4 tablespoons butter, diced
3/4 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 cup rolled oats
1 medium-size egg

Toss fresh fruit with lemon zest, 1/4 cup sugar and cornstarch dissolved in juice. Line a flan or tart pan with chilled pastry and fill with mixed fruit. Mix together topping ingredients thoroughly until mixture resembles crumbs. Spoon on top of fruit and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 35-40 minutes until golden brown. Serves 6-8.

Treats to ship to troops

AP — "Troop Treats: How to Make, Package, and Ship 100 Non-perishable Treats to Friends and Relatives in the Persian Gulf" contains cookies and snacks to send to friends and relatives still serving in the Persian Gulf.

Recipes include Artillery Mix (Savory Herb Snacks), Wing Nuts (Cinnamon Triangles), Desert Bites (Oatmeal Peanut Butter Cookies), Sand Dunes (Orange-Mint Cookies), Stormin' Normans (Orange Oatmeal Cookies) and Grunts (Shortbread Cookies). There's also a spice mixture — the authors call it M.R.E. (Meals Ready to Eat) Helper.

The book, written by Sue Spittler and Liddy Davenport (Surrey Books, $4.95), includes the following:

- Food restrictions based on legalities, humidity and heat.
- A chart of acceptable ingredients for homemade foods.
- A list of acceptable prepared foods, such as pretzels, beef jerky and candy bars.
- Baking tips.
- Detailed packing instructions, including addresses and the cost of postage.
- Telephone numbers for current Defense Department requirements and information about sending specific foods to the Gulf.
- A U.S. Department of Agriculture telephone number for additional advice or suggestions on what foods to ship to the Gulf.

Because the weather in the Gulf is so varied, the authors researched the climate of every area and have included recipes for special weather conditions. They also tested a number of cookies for "desert durability" by baking them in a 150-degree oven for four days.

"We have even included, at the end of the book, a special fudgy and moist Happy Homecoming Brownie with a rich chocolate frosting," the authors said in their book. "This would never survive a trip to the Gulf, but it will be delicious for homecoming. We've also included four Stay-at-Home Frostings in case you want to make a double batch of cookies and eat or serve half of them yourself."

CHOCOLATE CHIP OATMEAL COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
2 1/2 cups quick-cooking oats
1 1/4 cups whole-wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup semisweet chocolate morsels
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Beat butter or margarine and sugar until fluffy. In a separate bowl, combine oats, flour, baking soda and salt. Combine flour mixture with butter-sugar mixture, then mix in the chocolate morsels and pecans. Drop dough by tablespoons onto ungreased cookie sheets.

Bake in a 325-degree oven until cookies begin to brown, about 12 to 15 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes 2 1/2 dozen cookies, about seven cookies per pound.

(To order "Troop Treats" by mail, send name, address and zip code, and a check or money order for $6.95, which includes postage and handling, to: "Troop Treats," Surrey Books, Box 11326, Chicago, IL 60611.)

Brian Hassell of Livonia enjoys a mug of beer he made and bottled in his own home.

Beer lover makes brew

See related story, Page 1B.

George has supplied us with this recipe for a simple batch of:

HOMEMADE BEER

5 gallons water
Pre-measured can of malt (approximately 3 1/4 pound can)
5 cups corn sugar
1-2 teaspoons water salts
1 ounce hops (if malt is not already hopped)
Yeast

In a 1 1/2 gallon stainless or enamel pot, bring 1 gallon of water to a boil. Remove from heat, stir in malt, sugar, water salts, and hops if needed. Bring to a rolling boil, uncovered for 45 minutes. (Note: keep an eye on the boiling "wort" as it will boil over.) Cool rapidly by placing the pot in a sink of ice water. While the mixture is cooling, prepare the primary fermenter. It must be clean and sterilized. Pour in 3 1/2 gallons of cold water. When the "wort" is cool (65-70 degrees) pour into the primary fermenter and top it off with additional cold water to make 5 gallons.

The starting specific gravity should be approximately 1.035 or 4 1/2 on the alcohol scale (write down the specific gravity). Sprinkle yeast on top and wait 10 minutes. Stir in yeast and cover the fermenter with lid and air lock half filled with water. Allow to ferment for 7-10 days. Your terminal gravity should read 1.004-1.008; this is the time to bottle. Have 55 12-ounce beer bottles cleaned and ready for bottling. In a small pan, heat 1 cup beer or water and stir in 1/4 cup corn sugar until dissolved. Cool rapidly. Syphon beer into a clean plastic pail, leaving sediment behind. Pour cooled corn syrup into the brew and mix thoroughly. Syphon beer into bottles to within 1 inch of top and cap with sterilized caps. Keep bottles at standard room temperature and out of light for the first week. Then, for best results, age at cooler temperatures, if possible, for 5-6 weeks.

Vinegars flavor many dishes

Flavored vinegars are making a comeback. Why? Because they zip up salads, sauces, marinades, soups and stews and add pizzazz to your favorite dishes without adding fat.

Look for your favorite flavored vinegar in your supermarket, or be a money-wise gourmet and make your own. Package your homemade vinegar attractively and you've got a handy gift-giving idea.

Distilled, cider and wine vinegar are the three most common vinegars.

- Distilled or white vinegar is a colorless vinegar made from grains. The distilling process removes any flavor and leaves only an acidic taste.

- Cider vinegar, made from apples, is a golden-brown vinegar with a slightly fruity flavor.

- For wine vinegars, the color and flavor of the vinegar depend on the type of wine used. White wine produces a lighter-tasting vinegar than does red wine.

To make flavored vinegars, start with a base of cider, distilled or wine vinegar. Your choice of a base depends on how you plan to flavor your vinegar. Wine vinegars are a good match for herbs and spices. Cider vinegar can also complement spices. Fruits and edible flowers go well with distilled vinegar.

Flavored vinegars can be prepared in two ways: For the quickest method, heat the vinegar in a stainless steel or enamel pan until hot, but not boiling. (Do not use aluminum as it could react with the vinegar.) Pour the hot vinegar over the herb, seed, fruit or spice and cover with cheesecloth. Let it stand in a warm, dark place for one to two weeks to mellow the flavor. Then filter the vinegar through several layers of cheesecloth and pour it into bottles.

For the second method, pour the vinegar directly over the flavoring ingredients and let the mixture stand for a month before filtering.

When sampling vinegar, trust your taste buds. If the flavor of the herb or fruit is too strong, add some plain vinegar. If the flavor is too weak, add more seasoning. Once you have tried a variety of vinegars, try combining flavors. Mix two or three ingredients, such as raspberry and mint, lemon and garlic, or peaches and cloves.

RASPBERRY WINE VINEGAR
2 cups fresh raspberries or two 10-ounce packages frozen raspberries, thawed and drained
4 cups cider vinegar
2 cups dry red wine

Rinse fresh raspberries with cold water and drain well. In a large bowl combine raspberries, cider vinegar and wine. Cover and let stand overnight. In a stainless steel or enamel saucepan, heat vinegar mixture to boiling; reduce heat. Boil, uncovered, for 3 minutes. Cool.

Strain mixture, discarding solids. Pour into bottles; cover tightly. Let vinegar age for 2 to 4 weeks before using. Store in a cool, dark place. Makes 6 cups.

WHY PEOPLE DON'T GO TO THE DENTIST

- They had a painful experience
- They are concerned about cost
- It's been so long that there is probably not much that can be done to save their teeth
- They have more important things on which to spend their money
- They've been thinking about it
- The pain will go away by itself
- They can't justify spending money on themselves at this point in life

Do any of these sound familiar? Dentists hear these all the time, but the truth is that dental problems snowball. When a regular preventive routine is not maintained, simple problems grow. If you find yourself described in the reasons above, give today's dentistry a second chance. Find an office that is gentle and careful and listens to your concerns. GET ON TRACK AND STAY THERE! There are no valid reasons to neglect your teeth and lots of long lasting reasons to go back to the dentist.

"I NEEDED HELP."

My friends were doing crack. And I didn't want to be left out. So I tried it. Before long, I was stealing just so I could buy drugs. But it didn't stop there. I got kicked out of school and even spent time in jail. I was destroying my mother and father, not to mention my little brother. Because my parents called STRAIGHT, I learned to cope with peer pressure and to say no. Now we're a close family again.

● GOLF OUTING

The Detroit College of Business Alumni Association 10th Annual Golf Outing will be Friday, Aug. 2, at Felous Creek Golf Course in Canton.

The cost is $60 for 18 holes of golf, refreshments, buffet dinner and prizes. The event, which is a four-person scramble, is open to the public. For information call Mark Morton or Kevin Brazell at 581-4400.

● PISTONS AT CAMP

Detroit Pistons Joe Dumars and Isiah Thomas will be instructors for a three-day basketball camp Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 25-27, at the Plymouth Salem and Canton high schools. The cost is $125.

Boys and girls age 7-17 are eligible to participate. Session I is for ages 7-10 and goes from 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. each day; Session II ages 11-12 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Session III ages 13-17 from 3-5:30 p.m. Campers should come dressed to play.

Thomas will attend one day, Dumars another. Another NBA player or Pistons coach will instruct the third day.

For information call Camp Coordinator Fred Thomann at 451-6600, ext. 247; or Bob Blohm at 451-6600, ext. 302.

● SKATING CLINIC

The Plymouth Canton Hockey Association is sponsoring a preseason skating clinic during the weeks of Aug. 19-23 and Aug. 25-31. The clinic will emphasize team and individual skills of passing, stick handling and positional skills, as well as improvement in skating technique and power skating drills for conditioning. The clinic is open to all athletes through age 15. Cost is $60 per week for mites and $80 per week for squirts, pee wees and bantams. For more information call 454-4488.

Dumars to give talk, too

There's been something added to an already big attraction scheduled for Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

Detroit Pistons Isiah Thomas and Joe Dumars are scheduled to serve as instructors at a three-day camp July 25-27. The cost for the camp is $125.

As an added bonus, Dumars — twice named to the NBA's all-defensive team — will give a one-hour talk on the motivation needed to be a champion. Dumars' speech will be from 5:30-6:30 p.m. July 25.

There's no additional charge to campers, of course. But Dumars' talk won't be restricted to campers only; anyone else wishing to attend is welcome.

The cost for non-campers is $2 for adults and $1 for students. The money raised from Dumars' talk will benefit the Salem and Canton basketball programs.

WE'RE ON A BIG ROLL

To be part of the solution, not part of the problem.

Times change. There was once a time when we thought that providing the very best community news coverage was enough.

Today it's not. Today we have a responsibility not only to our readers and advertisers, but also to our environment.

That's why 30% of the newsprint we put on our press has been recycled. This will increase when our other suppliers bring recycled newsprint on line later this year.

Our communities and the entire State of Michigan face a solid waste crisis.

There used to be 624 Type II landfills in Michigan*. The trash from your home, your neighbor's homes and the businesses in your town goes into a Type II landfill. As you read this, there are only 71 of them still open and licensed to do business. That's 71 in all of Michigan's 83 counties. Estimates say one-third of these will be out of business in less than five years.

So what can a business like ours do to be part of the solution and not part of the problem?

We're buying and printing your newspaper on recycled newsprint. We're looking for other recycled products to use in our business. We're recycling all of our newsprint and office paper. We're working to increase public awareness and participation. We're encouraging our readers to recycle.

How can you help? Why not begin with this newspaper; recycle it along with others you may have collected. Then start buying recycled products. Spread the word about those landfills and recycle this page by sharing it with a friend.

And if you are already recycling—thank you.

Peabody duck march started in Memphis care specialist at Sea World Ohio. "I saw an ad in the paper for a duck master so I answered it to satisfy my curiosity," he said. He has been managing the ducks ever since, supervising the breeding program at the farm just out of town, where the original five ducks and their descendants now number 30.

Lauby has been through two generations. "These ducks are not pets. We don't give them names. They're trained, but they still do everything that ducks do in the wild."

"Ducks are very color conscious, and the drake thinks I'm his competition when I wear my green jacket," Lauby says, laughing. "He has had his head down in a defensive position several times, because he thinks I'm trying to lure his females away from him!"

THE PEABODY ducks continue all their other mating rituals too, so guests are sometimes startled to see them mating in the fountain. They are not potty-trained and they are very territorial, so they stay in the fountain most of the time. Observant guests notice that a housekeeper approaches the fountain every 15 minutes or so to clean up what the ducks have left behind.

"The water is changed daily, it is not recycled," Lauby said.

"People come to see the ducks, but I love to see the people. We have a lot of conventions here so there's the guy in his $800 Italian suit standing beside the red carpet laughing right along with the 2-year-olds."

If you've seen the crowds and the flashing cameras on television during the Oscar ceremonies, you get a taste of what happens at the Peabody Memphis and the Peabody Orlando twice every day.

Fanfare. The "King Cotton March." People crowding both sides of a red carpet that leads from the elevator to the elegant lobby fountain.

"Here they come! Here they come!"

THE DUCKS waddle grandly down the carpet, the duck master in his green gold-braided jacket right behind them. Cameras click and explode with light.

When the ducks climb up the red carpeted steps to the fountain, past the sign that says "please don't feed the ducks," the audience breaks into applause.

The ducks are used to this royal adulation. They don't pay any attention. They swim in the fountain, or march around its marble lip, for the rest of the day, until the "King Cotton March" plays again.

The crowds gather again. The flashguns explode. The audience claps its hands. And the ducks march back to the elevator. Up, up to the Royal Duck Palace on the fourth-floor roof. The palace has fresh running water spurting from brass duck fountains into a black marble pool, a fire-prevention system, track lighting and a ceiling fan for hot summer nights.

It's a tough job for a duck, but somebody's got to do it.

The Grist Mill Inn, which was built in 1905, has much of the original oak woodwork still in place.

Interesting, entertaining hostess adds to charm of Grist Mill Inn

By Phyllis Kroger Stillman
special writer

I knew I was in for an interesting stay the moment I walked into the Grist Mill Inn. It was February, but there was a Christmas tree still up in the parlor.

I mentioned the tree to Judith Krupka, owner of the inn, and she said, "We've decided that it's a Valentine's tree." That kind of laid back outlook on life translates into a very relaxed stay for guests to the bed-and-breakfast inn in Homer, about 20 miles west of Jackson.

Krupka, a former professor at Michigan State University, is one of the main reasons a stay at Grist Mill Inn is so pleasant. Although she's been in the area only 6 years, she knows a lot about Homer and has great stories to tell about the small town.

She also has stories about the pleasures of rural life, including wildlife and birds; she's seen wild turkey in her garden and wood ducks who build nests and live in her trees.

Krupka also knows all about the many antique stores in the area — which dealers you can barter with, which ones you can't, and which stores are only open "when the mood strikes." She'll be glad to tell you all the great places to go, and draw a map so you can find them.

PAT DAVIDSON and Rick Hendrix of Northville had been antiquing in Marshall the day before. Krupka told them about Allen, sometimes referred to as the antiques capital of Michigan, and they were headed there armed with a map from Krupka.

"It's like having your own personal guide," said Davidson.

Along with being a very entertaining and interesting hostess, Krupka is also a great cook. There was a glazed apple cake and hot wassail punch waiting for me when I arrived at the inn.

In the morning, breakfast was a gourmet feast, featuring orange juice with Grand Marnier, lots of fresh fruit, scrambled eggs with chives and lemon butter served in a crisp popover, orange glazed chicken with perfectly prepared, crisp-tender, fresh asparagus, and strawberries with homemade sorbet and whipped cream.

"The food was wonderful. Little touches like the apple cake and the wassail are very nice," said Davidson.

THE GRIST Mill Inn, which was built in 1905, has much of the original oak woodwork still in place. The inn is charming in its own right, and Krupka has done a great job decorating it. "I wanted to make it so people could live in it, not so they'd be afraid to touch anything," said Krupka.

Davidson thinks Krupka has succeeded. "It's really like visiting someone's home."

The decor is Victorian, with lots of lace, ribbons and knickknacks. "Most of the people who come here really like it and all the things. They enjoy looking around," said Krupka. The inn has a romantic look and feel, and has been chosen as the site for marriage proposals, weddings, wedding nights and anniversaries.

All guest rooms have private baths, and all are decorated differently. One has a lace-canopied bed; another is decorated very simply, featuring a bed with a rope spring; still another has a quilt-covered queen-size bed along with a day bed covered with pillows, and has a big, old-fashioned, claw-foot bathtub right in the bedroom!

An overnight stay at the Grist Mill Inn costs $65 per room on the weekend with the full breakfast; during the week, the rate is $50, with a continental breakfast.

Krupka also offers a package plan which includes a gourmet dinner, cost is $115 for one night per couple, $150 for two nights. Canoes are available for the use of guests; the inn is near a river which connects to a chain of lakes. Krupka also sometimes arranges craft workshops. Call (517) 568-4063 for reservations.

Billingsgate is like visiting wealthy estate

one went down the street to buy gas for my car, put it in the car, and even started the engine to make sure everything was all right!

Horton, where Billingsgate is located, is a small, out of the way, rural community, which is one of the reasons Ray Holland put together an overnight package with several area bed-and-breakfast inns.

"We had a lot of people staying at bed and breakfasts in the area, and we were getting a lot of calls from people who were an hour away from here, wanting to know where to stay."

"The reason we put together the limo package was that a lot of people are from the city, and they don't want to drive on the country roads at night. Also, if we provide the transportation to and from the bed and breakfast, it would make an event out of it," said Holland.

THE PACKAGE is $225 for a Friday night, $235 for Saturday. It includes a champagne and fruit basket on arrival at the B & B of your choice, a limousine to drive you back and forth to Billingsgate, dinner at the restaurant, and breakfast at the B & B in the morning.

If you don't want the limousine, make the bed and breakfast reservations on your own at the Grist Mill in Homer (517) 568-4063; Suttons Weed Farm in Hudson (517) 547-6302; the Munro House in Jonesville (517) 846-9292; the Chicago Street Inn in Brooklyn, (517) 592-3888. They are all within half an hour's drive of Billingsgate; their average rate is $65 per night per couple for bed and breakfast.

Shirley Geggie and her husband stayed at Suttons Weed Farm, which has been owned by the same family since 1873.

"There were a lot of old pictures from a long time ago. They still have most of the antique furniture; you could pick out pieces from the photographs," said Geggie.

My friend and I also stayed at one of the B & Bs used in the package, the Grist Mill Inn in nearby Homer. Our stay there was so pleasant, we lingered over a fabulous gourmet breakfast until 2 in the afternoon!

Billingsgate is open only on weekends and dinner is by reservation only. Reservations are taken for 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 3 to 7 p.m. on Sunday. Call toll-free 1-800-THE-GATE for reservations.

Area residents impressed by Billingsgate, Grist Mill

Sharon Clark of Milford went to Billingsgate with her husband Bob. She was impressed as soon as they arrived. "The restaurant is out in the middle of nowhere. When you get there, it's a pleasant surprise. It's also kind of unique that you have to ring the doorbell to get in."

The rest of the experience was just as impressive. "The staff was very casual. They didn't push you; you could take as long as you wanted. There was an artistic flare to the presentation, and the food was fantastic!"

The Clarks appreciated the antiques. "It's an old, old church, and all the antiques just seemed to belong there."

Even though Billingsgate is an hour and a half from Milford, the Clarks would like to go back. "It would have to be a special occasion, though; it's that kind of place."

Judy Bearss of South Lyon went to Billingsgate with her husband Mark on his birthday. It was a surprise — she arranged a weekend with two other couples who met them at Grist Mill Inn.

They all liked the rural feel of the area. "It's not very far. You get there fairly quickly, but when you get there it feels like it's far away."

Bearss liked Billingsgate as soon as she saw it. "The restaurant reminded me of Christmas, the way it was all lit up." Billingsgate was especially nice for a party. "The table is yours for the evening. We just took our time, and had a wonderful evening."

TRAVEL

IRIS SANDERSON JONES

Couple finds travel in Romania easy

"It was hard to believe that we were in Romania once again."

That was John Schroth of Redford, who spent three weeks this summer traveling through eastern Europe with his wife Mary. Mary's family comes from Hungary. John's family comes from Romania. They traveled to both countries two years ago, before the wall came down in Berlin and things began to change in eastern Europe.

The State Department has issued a travel advisory about Romania, which means that they don't recommend travel there, but Schroth didn't know about that until after he got home. It probably wouldn't have stopped him anyway.

"When we went to Romania in 1989, before the revolution, we had a hard time getting in," he said. "The border guards searched everything. We had to take everything out of the car. They even made us open the hood. It was the same way going out."

"But this time, in 1991, we had no problem at the border of Romania. I paid $63 for a visa for my wife and myself. The border guard gave me a small form to be filled out, and that was that."

"If you drive into Romania as we did, you must buy coupons at the tourist office to purchase gas. Usually there are about 20 or more cars in line for gas, but foreigners are allowed to go ahead of the line."

"We visited my cousin in a small town called Deta, and had a very good time. They seem to have everything but on a smaller scale."

I love to hear stories like that about readers who travel. Governments and public relations professionals give us the factual information we need to plan trips, but there is nothing like a personal experience to make that information real.

If you have a brief experience to share with us, in or out of the country, send it to me at 22000 Springbrook, Suite 206C, Farmington Hills 48336. Feel free to include one color print of yourself in a travel setting, as long as it does not need to be returned.

THE MIDWEST is more likely to be on your calendar this month. If so, here are some of the events that may brighten your summer:

• Nautical festival — The Rogers City Nautical Festival has been chosen by the state for its special list of festivals celebrating the Great Lakes this summer. It will be July 31 through Aug. 4.

They are advertising it as a real homecoming, Lake Huron style. There will be brass bands, polka music, ethnic foods, a kiddie carnival, a children's parade, fishing and softball tournaments, grand prix bike race, 10K run and fireworks.

Rogers City, in the northeast Lower Peninsula 255 miles from Detroit, is known for its beaches, boating facilities, fishing and for the world's largest limestone quarry. Offshore shipwrecks are accessible to scuba divers.

The twin 7-foot Oqueoc Falls cascade over fossilized coral limestone into natural wading pools 12 miles west of town.

• Michigan Festival — You can now buy a $12 admission button for the fun and games scheduled for the fifth annual Michigan Festival in East Lansing Aug. 9-18. The button, which saves on the gate charge of $14, will buy you four weekend days of music, dance and folklife activities as well as general admission to 10 evening concerts.

Outdoor concerts on the Oldsmobile Main Stage include Bonnie Raitt and Chris Izaak Aug. 9; country singer Reba McEntire Aug. 10; folk musicians Leo Kottke and Don McLean Aug. 11; Michigan Chenille Sisters Aug. 12; jazz guitarist Earl Klugh and guest Tim Cunningham Aug. 13.

Detroit's jazz singer Norma Jean Bell is on stage Aug. 14; the Latino rock quartet Los Lobos Aug. 15; rock performer Robert Palmer Aug. 16; Motown's Spinners Aug. 17 and two soft rock bands — Air Supply and Little River Band — Aug. 18.

You can buy the button at Kroger stores or AAA Michigan branches or telephone (517) 351-6620 for more information.

John Schroth of Redford, center, with his wife Mary, traveled to Romania this summer where they visited his cousin Johann.

Top left, duck master Keith Lauby and one of his charges at the fountain in the lobby of the Peabody Oriando. Below, the 27-floor Peabody Oriando was opened in 1986. Ducks from the Peabody Memphis were brought to the new hotel.

'Here they come'

Fanfare greets Peabody ducks on their daily trek to fountain

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

ORLANDO, FLA. — The hum of voices gets louder as the moment arrives. They'll be here soon, stepping out of the elevator, following the red carpet into the glare of flashguns.

"What time are they coming?"

"They're supposed to be here at 11."

Suddenly the music starts, the "King Cotton March." Heads turn. Voices drop to a whisper.

"Here they come!"

The clue was the sound of the elevator door opening, where the carpet disappears around the corner.

AND HERE they come, one by one, the teal-feathered drake in the lead, the four mallard hens behind, five ducks marching down the red carpet between rows of admiring fans, with duck master Keith Lauby right behind.

He didn't learn that at King's Island or Sea World of Ohio.

The Peabody ducks march down the red carpet to the fountain in the lobby of the Peabody Hotel every morning exactly at 11 a.m., spend their day in the elegant lobby fountain and march back down the carpet to the elevator every evening at exactly 5 p.m., so that they can spend the night in their $100,000 Royal Duck Palace beside the tennis courts on the fourth floor.

The march of the Peabody ducks began in Memphis in the 1930s, when hunters typically used live ducks as decoys, known as "call ducks." The general manager of what is now the Peabody Memphis came home from a hunting trip one day and put his call ducks in the lobby fountain as a prank.

The guests loved the joke. In 1940 the Peabody Memphis hired former Ringling Brothers animal handler Edward Pembroke to formalize the duck march. He is 82 now and is still the duck master in Memphis.

WHEN THE 27-floor Peabody Oriando was opened in 1986, five of the Memphis ducks came with the staff — "we must preserve the Peabody breed" — and started their own lineage.

Dining at Billingsgate — like being a guest at an estate

By Phyllis Kroger Stillman
special writer

A weekend in the country. Frazzled by the hectic pace of everyday life, getting away for a day or two of rest and relaxation appeals to many of us. But we don't know where to go, and we don't have the time to plan our escape.

Raymond and Cynthia Holland, who own Billingsgate, a fabulous restaurant in rural Horton about 15 miles southwest of Jackson, have heard this before. They have put together an overnight package with local bed and breakfasts so people can experience a relaxing getaway, and dinner at Billingsgate, without having to increase their stress level to plan the trip.

Billingsgate — the name conjures up the image of a wealthy family's estate, set back in the woods, surrounded by a high, wrought-iron fence. The restaurant resembles that estate and dining there is like being invited by the family (who happen to have a wonderful chef) as guests for dinner.

There is a reason why patrons feel like guests. "This is a passion that both Ray and I have. We've put a lot of love into this place, and we want to see people enjoy it," said Cynthia Giles Holland, who was born and raised in Dearborn.

BILLINGSGATE IS housed in what used to be a church. Stained glass windows dominate both ends of the dining room. The furnishings are mostly antiques, but not just any antiques. They are the Hollands' own collection, as well as antiques inherited from their grandparents.

You seldom wait for a table. As a general rule, each table is reserved for only one party per evening. "It's all part of our philosophy of a special evening. It's the kind of place where you can relax and forget the world," said Ray Holland, who has lived in several southeastern Michigan communities including Canton and Milford.

The menu, which changes every month, is somewhat eclectic. "We wanted to give people a mix between classic French and comfort food," said Cynthia, who is head chef.

Dinner is five courses, with a set price of $25 per person, plus tax and 15 percent gratuity. It was quite a dinner. A choice of three appetizers: country pate, mushrooms burgundy or cream of vegetable soup. A house salad or a Caesar salad. A choice of three entrees: beef Wellington, amaretto shrimp or chicken breast in phyllo.

And three desserts: a meringue shell filled with ice cream, cheesecake, or a densely chocolate creation called "chocolate suicide" which was so good we decided it should be called "chocolate reason to live." The meal ended with a specially blended hazelnut coffee which is good enough all by itself to ensure a return visit.

EVERYTHING WAS beautifully presented and perfectly prepared, with staff continuing to make diners, like Shirley Geggie of Troy, feel like special guests. "Very personal service. I asked them to make a variation on the dessert, and they did. I was also impressed that the chef came out to talk with us," said Geggie.

I was also very impressed with the service. On one of my visits to Billingsgate I ran out of gas and had to coast into a parking space. I told the staff about my problem, and some-

'Henry' misses mark

By John Monaghan
special writer

Tasteless lawyer joke No. 532: How do you get a lawyer to start acting like a human being?

If you believe the premise of "Regarding Henry," you shoot him in the head and cross your fingers during the recovery.

Mike Nichols' new film begins with the closing statements of high-powered attorney Henry Turner (Harrison Ford) during a controversial court case. He, of course, is defending the hospital charged with negligence for allegedly disregarding a patient's diabetic condition.

And though he hates to bring it up again, Turner delves into ancient history and the man's previous bout with alcoholism. He deftly turns the jury over to his side and wins the case.

That same night, gloating over his victory, Turner descends from his high-rise Manhattan apartment and walks to the corner market for a pack of cigarettes. A young punk in the process of robbing the place casually pumps a pair of bullets into him. One hits a major artery, the other his frontal lobe.

FROM HERE, "Regarding Henry" could have gone just about anywhere. But director Nichols, who teamed with Ford for the infinitely more insightful "Working Girl," takes the easy road. With a few exceptions, the story of Henry's painfully slow recovery only offers predictable situations and characters.

The first stage of recovery is handled by Bradley, a young black therapist with an eye for the ladies. For Turner, who remembers nothing of his past, Bradley becomes his best friend and soulmate.

Ford is surprisingly good as Henry, who walks through the film befuddled and infinitely more likable, discovering what a creep he was before the shooting. He now talks to and learns from the young daughter he only lectured at before.

Wife Sarah, played by Annette Bening, also undergoes a dramatic change. She starts out as shallowly as he does, wallowing in the power and the luxury, but then learns the responsibilities of marriage and finances.

Perhaps the change is too dramatic. While the audience undergoes every painful first step and syllable of Henry's recuperation, you need to read too much into her character. At one point you see her on the phone, apparently back to work as a secretary to make ends meet, but you have no idea how she got there.

'Sugar Baby' is Eurotechno Flat even as a video

By LeAnne Rogers
staff writer

Dressing bodies at the RIP Funeral Home where she works and helping lug coffins around, the amply endowed heroine of "Sugarbaby" has about as much animation in her face as some of her customers.

Things aren't any better during her off-hours, as the woman blankly rides the subway home, does some power grocery shopping while munching an éclair, and then crawls into bed for an evening of eating and dozing before the television. Her major recreation is floating on her back in a swimming pool.

One day things change for the woman, played by Marianne Sagebrecht. Riding on the subway she becomes entranced by the subway train conductor, hypnotized by his voice as he calls out the stops and warns passengers to stand clear of the doors.

After riding to the end of the line, she finds a purpose in life — tracking down the tall blond conductor with whom she has become smitten.

AFTER HER preoccupation disrupts her work at the funeral home, she decides to use her accumulated vacation time to further her pursuit. Her dour employer expresses the hope after taking some time off she'll be back to her old self. She smiles and nods but that's clearly not likely to happen.

The film has some good points as Sagebrecht, with her flat dull hair and sensible shoes, tries to dress for romantic success, wobbling in high heels, floating on perfume and giggling over special order lingerie. She stalks her prey with a fierce determination and the cunning of an espionage agent.

Being a large woman, about whom one somewhat awestruck male character says "she sure is a lot of woman," Sagebrecht's size is never really an issue. She doesn't go on a crash diet to attract the man of her dreams; she offers him a candy bar in the subway station. She is totally open to her chosen.

Sagebrecht has some nice moments as she goes through that agony of wondering whether you've made a fool of yourself or your loved one will respond as you hoped. Will he show up or won't he?

LATER, SHE has an especially nice monologue about her family life that explains a lot about how she came to where she is in her life.

Overall though, the film has a kind of oddly detached feeling. Sagebrecht's character acts pretty obsessively in the lengths she goes to in tracking down this man whose name she doesn't know and with whom she has never spoken.

The feeling that her behavior might be neurotic or at best adolescent is reinforced by the title of the film and the nickname she gives to her beloved, which comes from a record she liked as a 15-year-old.

A 1985 German film, directed by Percy Adlom, "Sugarbaby" has a pretty flat Eurotechno look to it, not to mention a distractingly wobbly camera in some scenes. A better film from Adlom is "Bagdad Cafe," which also features Sagebrecht.

Healthy image is important

Dear Barbara,
My four-year-old son stays in a private home while I work. The caregiver handed me a picture of my son standing in a pool in the back yard, naked, laughing, displaying himself.

I was alarmed that my son was outdoors naked. Also, that the caregiver deliberately brought out a camera to take such a picture.

32-year-old mother
Dear 32-year-old mother:

Your letter is very interesting because it illustrates how different people can view the same scene and have opposing reactions to it.

To illustrate this point, I asked two mothers of young children how they would feel if the experience had happened to them. One responded that she would be comfortable taking her own pictures of her children naked. However, she is against anyone else doing it because, she said, "there are too many crazies out there." The other woman said she would be uncomfortable because of her mother-in-law's disapproval.

I cannot fully respond to your letter as I would like because you are unclear as to who the caregiver was. Was it a teenage girl? Was it a relative? Was it someone against whom you have hostile feelings?

The sentence that I like shows that your son was laughing and displaying himself. I like this happy picture because it is normal and natural for his age group. He has not yet been indoctrinated with shame, guilt and criticisms, such as what a bad boy he is.

What if there was no evil intent but normal healthy youthful exuberance?

You underline the word old three times. Have you forgotten what it was like to be young and happy and not have the fears of the world bearing heavily down?

I know that this last emphasis can be subjected to outraged criticism from my readers. If so, I apologize. It is based on my observations that many adults lose their childhood ability to play, and to have fun, and to that degree, diminish their mental health.

The same mother who said she would be comfortable taking her own pictures of her children naked but would be suspicious of others doing so has helped her children develop healthy body images. The family has a pool in the back yard and, at the age when it is appropriate for each, the four children cavort in and around it without clothes.

This mother hugs them and tickles them and plays with their toes. She enjoys the freedom they feel with their bodies. Thus, they are developing good feelings about their bodies. Mental health includes a healthy body image.

When I read your letter, my first thought was maybe they were just having fun. Need it be more complicated than that? Should your son grow up with a great pride in his body, it will give him more confidence than he would have if he has a terrible body image.

Confidence in one's body seems more important today than ever before. Many of our youngsters are turning to steroids and eating disorders to force their bodies into unrealistic media images. With self-love, it is less likely they will torture themselves into those ways.

ate," is still fighting battles against the establishment. He paints a calculatedly grim picture of the legal profession, where crass attorneys justify the practice of withholding evidence.

"It's paying for our lunch," Turner's partner says.

There are some clever and subtle moments, too. The law firm takes Henry back, knowing full well that he is unable to carry on his duties. "We're human, too," they say, though they keep files from him, realizing that he has developed a conscience.

And just by the way she looks at him, you can size up the situation between Turner and an attractive female attorney. You just know they had an affair. This becomes the film's one memorable twist.

But something backfires here.

Perhaps it's because we've been through too many movies about slow recoveries and therapy concerning every disease from AIDS to autism to amnesia.

Little quirks that will supposedly add dimension to these characters — like the irritating habit Turner has of losing his keys early in the film — don't add up to much.

WHEN HENRY decides that his daughter doesn't belong at a fancy school for girls, he dashes off to a little white chapel where she is being indoctrinated. The climax of "The Graduate" comes to mind immediately, but minus the emotion.

ASIDE FROM being a meeting

Michael Elwood

Then Galiger met up with Elwood at the Chicago House in Austin, a place where the singer made his debut.

ASIDE FROM being a meeting

point, Austin proved creatively inspiring for Elwood.

He moved with his family from Pennsylvania to the epicenter of roots music 11 years ago. He spent idle time doing Neil Young, Tom Waits and Jackson Browne covers at fraternity parties while attending the University of Texas. He has a bachelor's degree in Spanish.

At the time, people like Lucinda Williams and Christopher Cross were performing at Austin clubs.

"It intimidated the hell out of me," Elwood said.

Enough to keep Elwood crafting songs instead of performing them in public. Then two years ago, he made his debut at the Chicago House in Austin. The response was overwhelming.

"I NEVER thought I'd be a performer," Elwood said. "It's a notion I didn't even entertain until a couple of years ago. I know I could write songs. I just wrote and wrote... I thought it (the music industry) was all flash. I didn't know there was a market out for well-crafted songs."

Elwood refers to his songs as "head cartoons." One number, "The Major," is an example of his ability to craft poignant short stories.

In the acoustic ballad, Elwood searches the soul of a World War II bomber whose son follows his dad's footsteps in the military. Except instead of the glory he derived from war, his son is killed.

But within the confines of a three-minute song, Elwood carefully whittles the character while singing disdainfully, "Now two times a year, he heads up for Las Vegas/With his wife and his whiskey in the old Winnebago./He's looking for something he hasn't found yet/He's running from something he'll never forget."

"Scarecrow's Prayer" marks the evolving process of Elwood's songwriting. He said he always keeps a notebook and pen handy when on the road, jotting ideas or images.

As any artist will confess, the first release is a lifetime in the making. The follow-up usually only involves a year. Elwood said he's looking to release a live album, recording numbers on this current tour (including his stop at Birmingham Unitarian Church).

In his repertoire are 25-27 songs along with a couple of covers, including Tom Waits' (who is one of Elwood's influences) "Heart of Saturday Night."

"I definitely tell a story. I have a story to tell."

Tim 'Men are Pigs' Allen goes prime time

By Bob Sadler
special writer

Metro Detroit has been grunting with Tim Allen for years, as the local funnyman's career has gathered momentum. The way things have been progressing lately, the phrase that would most accurately describe Tim Allen's career might be "runaway freight train."

He's certainly not our little secret anymore. When we last checked in with the self-proclaimed "masculinist" one year ago, the Birmingham resident had recently completed taping his first Showtime special — the appropriately titled "Tim Allen: Men Are Pigs." He was a few months away from receiving an ACE Award, the cable equivalent of the Emmy, for his performance at the 1990 International Comedy Festival in Montreal, also on Showtime.

A national commercial for GMC Truck, featuring Allen, had just been taped for air during the fall and winter sports programming. Finally, he had just signed a development deal with Disney's Touchstone group to produce a weekly television series.

Now it's only a matter of time before the rest of America joins the ride. Allen's series, called "Home Improvement," will premiere this fall on ABC on Tuesday, nestled gently into the schedule between "Full House" (moved from its Friday slot) and "Roseanne."

IN OTHER words, ABC wants the show, in which Allen plays a "Bob Vila on steroids" local cable television host, to be a hit.

Early screenings of the pilot have predominately been received favorably by ABC affiliates and critics alike.

The premise for "Home Improvement" is partially derived, of course, from Allen's comedy act, and he knew exactly what he wanted when adapting the idea for a weekly sit-com.

"We wanted a show that celebrated families, something that celebrated men — not as superiors, but as equals to women," Allen said. "We looked to celebrate those differences (between men and women). It fits my mold perfectly."

The fact that he is working hard at producing "Home Improvement" doesn't mean, however, that Allen has been ignoring his stand-up act lately. In fact, a performance last month in Ann Arbor was taped for his second Showtime special, entitled "Tim Allen Rewires America." The special is scheduled to air in November or December, according to officials at the taping.

It would be easy to think that someone as busy as Allen might be content to put his stand-up work on cruise control while developing the television series. Certainly, one could understand the amount of time it takes to sign a development deal and tape a pilot might not leave a great deal of free hours to spend writing fresh material.

WELL, IN taping the Showtime special, Allen remained true to the masculine subject matter that put him on the map (grunt grunt), but did it with fresh material and a few surprises.

"I worked harder than I've ever worked," Allen said about putting together the new material for the special. "I'm happier with it (the performance) than I thought I was going to be."

Now, standing on the threshold of potentially greater fame, Allen acknowledges that he is taking on network television. For all the Roseannes and Cosbys there have been over the years, there also have been other stand-up comics who have seen their sit-coms end up in the rubbish heap.

"I'm at the top of my game right now doing stand-up, so I am risking something," Allen said.

On the other hand, if "Home Improvement" makes him a household name, Allen will be in the enviable position to pick and choose his stand-up appearances and play larger venues. It's a chance he's willing to take.

"It's a great challenge," Allen said. "I'm going to give it my best shot."

Tim Allen will appear Tuesday, July 16, at Chaplin's West, 16890 Telegraph, one block south of Six Mile Road. Show times are 8 and 10:30 p.m. Tickets are $15. For information, call 533-8866.

Tim Allen is a rising star in Hollywood. Parlaying his success with Showtime's 1990 International Comedy Festival in Montreal, he's now working on an ABC sit-com, "Home Improvement."

Earth concerts: Tie-dyed shirts, peace and love

By Janice Brunson
special writer

In a semi-darkened room replete with folding chairs and a symbolic Unitarian lamp of knowledge, Richard Cyr strums his guitar and sings of social issues.

A native American who was raised in Wayne County, Cyr, a handsome man with shoulder-length gray hair, sings lyrics he has penned.

"I know freedom isn't for me," he croons. Billy Zook, a former trucker and Alaskan fisherman, now from Oakland County, plays a baritone ukulele and warbles country western tunes.

A metal cup dangles from Zook's frayed belt, holding up faded jeans over shoeless feet.

"Haven't used Styrofoam in years, out of love and respect of the planet," he says.

Bruce Jenvey, a Bloomfield Hills advertising executive who was once a member of the underground poets workshop at Michigan State University in the 1960s, studies the stage technique of Cyr and Zook. It's been years since Jenvey, a guitarist, has performed in public and this is the perfect opportunity — before a "low cost, forgiving audience."

It is a gathering of metropolitan Detroit's counter culture, the people who live alternative lifestyles as well as those who, now ensconced in suburbia, harken back to days past when social change was in the air.

THE EARTH Community Concerts and Coffee House, a monthly evening of performing arts staged at the Northwest Unitarian Universalist Church in Southfield, is the '60s revisited, but with a decided difference.

"Different approach, new energy, less naive," observed Farmington Hills attorney Gary Colbert, a former 1960s university activist who now dresses in business suits. He embraces the message of the Earth Concerts.

"I believe things can change for the better and I believe they ought to," he said. "The Persian Gulf showed how little respect we have for human life. This group echoes the prevalent issues of the '60s."

An outgrowth of the Art Center Music

School in Detroit, Earth Concerts is a collective effort that provides a smoke- and alcohol-free "art space" where seasoned and novice performers do their own thing without censorship. Concerts benefit such diverse groups as St. Dominic's soup kitchen and Victims of War.

Cyr, a professional musician, performs periodically, on request during the programmed portion of the show that starts promptly at 9 p.m. Zook, an amateur, is a regular. Jenvey is new, performing during "open mike" when anyone who wishes may appear between 7:30 and 9 p.m. Nobody is paid.

"IT'S THE entire spectrum of humanity; every race, creed, non-creed, anarchist, any point of view," said Craig Schenk, a 1969 graduate of Seaholm High School in Birmingham and a member of the collective that produces Earth Concerts. "In a nutshell, we support anything that's good. We oppose anything that's bad."

Another is Charlie Gee. "We present a stage for a diverse group of visionaries," he said. "It's an offensive to the Rambo-Reagan definition of art."

A self-employed Wayne County businessman and the father of two teens, Gee said he accommodates work to his lifestyle, wearing to the office what he has on now — sandals, a tie-dyed T-shirt and cut-off Levis.

John Blake, a 1975 graduate of Livonia Stevenson High School who operates the collective's coffee house, serves a strict vegan (vegetarian sans dairy products) menu that uses only foods from the plant kingdom. Even honey is excluded because its production "enslaves bees."

Gentle by nature, Blake said the food offers an alternative to normal daily fare.

Marci Trimble, a Birmingham nurse, and friend Sherry Jantz have responded to an advertisement about the concert series and are attending for the first time.

"I haven't seen the term 'rainbow gathering' used in a long time," said Trimble. "I wanted to see what was going on."

TOO YOUNG to be a part of the '60s movement, she said she supports its intent.

Harold Stokes of Redford and Sandra Zhihar of Southfield, both full-time environmentalists whose friendship blossomed at an Earth Day Every Day benefit, often attend.

Pressing for environmental affairs can be "insulting, humiliating and degrading work," Zhihar said. "I come here to relax."

Sporting a waist-length red beard, Keith Turner of Orchard Lake collects $5 admission from the 100 or so who have shown up for tonight's concert. Turner, 28, last shaved when as a 16-year-old attending Andover High School in Birmingham, he faced expulsion for growing a beard.

Susan Sunshine, Schenk's girlfriend who favors long skirts and beads, spreads welcomes. Five teens, including one who uses the name Cindy Cadaver, perform a noisy skit on stage.

Aside from the noise, the performance appears to have little meaning, 15 minutes of self-indulged nonsense that lacks interest or humor.

Bald Eagle, a Southfield financial consultant who devotes full time to writing music, comments: "Some acts make absolutely no sense to me. But some people may not like my singing. Different strokes for different folks."

The thought, according to collective members, is exactly what the concert series is all about.

Corey Conn of Auburn Hills laughs at the description of the exploits of full-time environmentalist Sandy Zhihar of Southfield.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Bringing the family together this week is a good idea. Those who have felt left out will appreciate the extra attention they receive from you.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Don't let a friend put you in the middle of a dispute with another friend. This is one time when you must keep quiet, no matter who you sympathize with.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
An authority figure will bring you good news. A heart-to-heart with a friend will clear up a misunderstanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You'll have good luck in the area of personal finance this week. Once you make a decision concerning a turbulent relationship, don't back down.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
You will achieve great things over the next few weeks if you can keep your emotions out of business matters. A much needed vacation should definitely be on your agenda.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
If you are involved in a dispute this week, make sure you have your facts straight before confronting the other party. A weight will be lifted.

By C.C. Clark

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
It may be necessary for you to explain your actions regarding certain situations. Don't let others undermine your efforts, you've worked hard.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
A pressing matter demands all of your attention this week. A loved one may fall ill, but all will be well if immediate medical attention is sought.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
The first of the week will find you feeling tired, but as you get some chores out of the way, you will feel energized. A friend will surprise you.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
When things don't add up this week in the financial department, you will only have yourself to blame. It may be necessary to seek professional help.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
This is a week for renewing commitments with loved ones. A positive attitude will help you look good in a tense situation.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
At times Gemini has a tendency to be a little overenthusiastic, and this is one of those times. Check out all the angles before diving in headfirst. - TV Listing Inc.

"Morton & Hayes"

one-of-a-kind TV

Rob Reiner and Co. deliver the goods

By Steven Alan McGaw

Undeniably, television has its highlights, works that break the mold in terms of insight, execution, intelligence or originality. But, to tell the truth, TV fare is often guilty of glaring repetition, a numbing sameness that diminishes each program and the medium as a whole. That, of course, is why audiences react when a truly original program comes along. And that's also why Rob Reiner's brilliant new series, "Morton & Hayes," deserves a swift and immediate response from the viewing public. The innovative comedy premieres Wednesday, July 24, on CBS.

The premise of the show is inspired; each episode (introduced by Reiner) features a comedy short by '40s duo Chick Morton and Eddie Hayes, played by Kevin Pollak and Bob Amaral. Reiner admits the team was never truly popular with audiences and their cheaply produced two-reelers were mediocre at best. Still, a number of Morton & Hayes' works were unearthed in the vaults of producer Max King and readied for television. The shorts have no continuing theme or devices, save for Morton's acidic wisecracking, Hayes' blubbing buf-foony and their colossal ineptitude as a team.

Kevin Pollak is terrific as sharp-tongued Chick Morton, arguably the "brains" of the duo. Morton is a blow-hard, a coarse loudmouth given to snap decisions and unable to admit a mistake. He also loves to berate his dim-bulb colleague. Bob Amaral (where has this guy been?) is a delight as Eddie Hayes, a big, fearful baby of a man, clumsy, goodhearted and devoutly eager to please his contentious partner. Amaral's face is a playground of expression, his big eyes threatening to pop out of his head.

The show's look is very authentic, which adds mightily to the humor. The cheap sets, tacky sound effects and silly camera tricks of factory-style filmmaking are well in evidence. Reiner and company's sharpest idea, however, was to film the show in great, grainy black and white. Instantly, viewers' living rooms will become '40s-style movie houses, where features were preceded by a spate of newsreels and "programmers" much like the works of Morton & Hayes.

The opening episode, "Daffy Dicks," finds the team in fine, or at least as Reiner implies, representative form. Morton and Hayes are inept private detectives, clearly ready to bungle any assignment that comes their way. In walks tearful socialite Amelia Von Astor (Catherine O'Hara), determined to prove her husband's infidelity. When she presents the pair with the time, date, place and even the address of her philandering hubby's next assignment, Eddie remarks grimly, "Well, it's not much to go on." What follows is as unlikely and corny a series of plot contortions as ever devised, punctuated by the peerless bumbling of Morton & Hayes.

The hilarity is aided by Christopher Guest as Dr. Von Astor, a sinister man with a loonily incomprehensible dialect. Guest, one of the show's producers, also directed the premiere.

"Morton & Hayes" is billed as a summer show, implying a finite place on the schedule; perhaps vigorous audience response can change that.

Bob Amaral (right) and Kevin Pollak star as Eddie Hayes and Chick Morton, a near-forgotten '40s comedy duo whose mediocre two-reel shorts have been unearthed and readied for national telecast. "Morton & Hayes" premieres Wednesday, July 24, on CBS.

Hollywood grande dame and all-around "swell dame" Barbara Stanwyck is profiled in Barbara Stanwyck: Fire & Desire, debuting Monday, July 15, on TNT. Sally Field narrates the retrospective, which will be followed by one of Stanwyck's best films, My Reputation. Baby Face airs Tuesday, July 16; Stella Dallas airs Saturday, July 20.

Larceny, murder and kidnapping lead to romance in the Australian Outback in the two-part movie Alice to Nowhere, debuting Thursday and Friday, July 18 and 19, on A&E. John Waters and Rosey Jones star in this drama about two hostages struggling to survive their captors, the harsh desert and that crazy thing called love.

But seriously, folks, what happens when hundreds of comics converge in Canada, all scrambling for an open mike? You've got the Just for Laughs '91: Montreal International Comedy Festival, Saturday on Showtime.

The Amazon rain forest is the subject of National Geographic's top photographers in Stalking the Moments, airing Sunday, July 14, on TBS.

If you're always wearing out the shock absorbers on your car, don't miss the Baja International. Tune in Sunday to TNN's SCORE Off-Road Racing II and see 250 motorcycles, ATVs and four-wheel vehicles pour out of Ensenada, Mexico, for a 500-mile run across some of the roughest terrain imaginable.

Ex-salesman Donahue sold on talk-shows

By Lisa Otoupal

"Guess who's here?" Phil Donahue asks his audience. He paces in front of them while he lists his guests' claim to fame, common problem or concern. As the questions start, he darts in and out of the audience, trying to get to everyone. He pauses to ask, "Is the caller there?" And then he's off and running again. Donahue's style is unorthodox, but it's prompted the press to call him "the best talker in television."

Donahue has been in television more than half of his life. He was born on December 21, 1935, in Cleveland. His broadcasting career began while he was attending Notre Dame University.

After he graduated, Donahue returned to his hometown, where he landed his first professional job. He stayed there until 1959, then did a ten-month stint at WABJ Radio in Michigan. His next move was to WHIO-TV/Radio in Dayton, Ohio. Not only did he anchor the television news, but he was also the host of a radio

SOAP TALK

Jensen Buchanan to play twins

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I read in your column that Anne Heche (ex- Marly/Vicky) on Another World was leaving the show. I was wondering if they were going to replace her? I like those characters, and I want them to get together with their respective guys. Thanks for your column; I look forward to hearing from you. —S.N. in Wisconsin.

Dear Reader: Actor Jensen Buchanan is supposedly taking over as the twins. Buchanan was previously on One Life to Live as Sarah Buchanan. She left the New York-based soap to pursue prime time in L.A., but it looks like she is headed back to soapdom.

Dear Candace: I watch The Young and the Restless. Why don't they catch old David Kimbell? He's been so mean to Nina. I want him caught and brought to justice. Why don't they catch him, and take him off the show? I like good people who do good things. Thanks very much. —Sarah Lewallen, High Point, NC.

Dear Reader: It wouldn't be a soap if it didn't have a bad guy. I recently spoke with Michael Corbett, who plays Kimbell. He said he felt his character was a little more sympathetic now that he is all scarred up. He also enjoys playing the new character Jim Adams. Look for a rather strange turn of events when Adams begins dating Nina's mom, Flo.

Some of you who have been in school may be a little confused by the David/Nina situation. Nina is David's wife, but she discovered that he was planning to kill her (for her money) and was fooling around with another woman, so she shot him five times in the chest. David pretended to be in a coma and then he escaped from the hospital.

He went to a plastic surgeon and ended up with a scarred face and the word "killer" across his forehead. Now he is making himself up to look like a totally different person so no one will recognize him and he can have his revenge. All this should make for an interesting summer on Y&R.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, TX 76161-1009.

BITS AND PIECES

TRIVIA, ETC.

Elvis lives! For rock'n'roll tribute from Graceland, anyway

Graceland will mark the 15th anniversary of Elvis Presley's death with a rock'n'roll tribute scheduled for the summer of 1992. Priscilla Presley is looking to sign a few big-name stars to perform Elvis' tunes in concert. A taped TV special and an album are also in the works.

Could this be the truth, or is it simply a dare? Word has it Madonna is planning a new board game based on her expose documentary Truth or Dare. The singer/actress' merchandising groups are said to be pondering two different versions: a racy version for adults and a G-rated version for kids.

Here's a short one: Woody Harrelson, on hiatus from Cheers, is currently filming White Men Can't Jump with co-star Wesley Snipes. The basketball comedy is directed by Ron Shelton (Bull Durham).

Country star Hank Williams Jr. will dance as well as sing a newly recorded ditty for ABC's Monday Night Football. The new song, "The Monday Night Football Boogie," will kick off games telecast this fall. This will be the third season Williams has performed the show's theme song.

Young-gun Christian Slater discusses his latest film, Mobsters, on Thursday's Entertainment Tonight.

Elvis Presley

Michele Greene has jumped on the L.A. Law jumping-off bandwagon. Greene has asked the show's producers to write her character, Abby Cadabby, off the show and release her from her contract.

'Malice' set in what city?

By Steven Alan McGaw

Questions:

1. 1981's excellent Absence of Malice was set in what Florida city?
2. A popular 1934 film depicted Death assuming human form for three days in order to learn why people cling so tenaciously to life. Who played the vacationing Grim Reaper, and what was the name of the film?
3. Kirk Alyn was the first actor to play what popular screen character?
4. Who advised child performer Francis Gumm to change her name? What was the result?

Answers:

1. Miami
2. Fredric March played Death in the film Death Takes a Holiday
3. Superman
4. George Jessel advised her to alter her name; she chose Judy Garland.
