Commercials put Plymouth in spotlight

Bag lunches and strollers aren't the only things folks are bringing to Kellogg Park these days.

More and more, film and video cameras used by companies that shoot commercials can be spotted in the park.

That's because Kellogg Park and other Plymouth sites are winning favor with folks who shoot commer-

Firm moves for more space, tax cut

Moeller Manufacturing Co. is headed for Plymouth Township, even if government officials don't give them a tax break.

The Livonia firm asked the Livonia City Council last week for permission to move to Plymouth Township. It's a requirement under state law if Moeller plans on seeking a tax break from Plymouth Township.

The Livonia Council hasn't ma decision on the firm's request

But even without a tax abatement from Plymouth Township, the firm would save $100,000 by moving from Livonia, according to Joe Baker, Moeller controller. The firm would save $200,000 with a Plymouth Township tax break.

Baker said the company is under time constraints because it's seeking $7 million in state bonds to finance the move

Even without a tax abatement from Plymouth Township, the firm would save $100,000 by moving from Livonia, according to Joe Baker, Moeller controller. The firm would save $200,000 with a Plymouth Township tax

'My recommendation is that we move to the site with or without the abatement," Baker said.

MOELLER, WHICH makes punches and dies for metal stamping, is eyeing a Plymouth Township site because it needs to expand, said David Moellering, company presi-

The plant is on Market near Plymouth and Levan roads, but it also operates a plant in Canton Township About one-third of the company's 233 employees work at the Livonia

The city was apparently unwilling to sell its property, he said

The turnout for the Plymouth Fall Festival compared with the largest ever crowds for the festival, organizers say

Assistant city manager Paul Sincock said that while there was a substantial crowd on Friday, "The crowds were a little less than might have been anticipated, considering fair weather throughout the festival

We had pretty good sized crowds, he said, and estimated 60,000 to 70,000 turned out for the four day festival "The weather was just outstanding." Sincock said

Sincock, a Rotary member, said about 12,000 barbecue dinners were sold by Sunday evening, the number Rotary organizers had anticipated Bida said the crowd on Sunday was the largest I've ever seen

Voters will decide school bond proposal on Sept. 24

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district will be asked in a special election Tuesday, Sept. 24 to approve a $59.7 million bond issue to fund the building of two

The bond issue also would pay for capital improvements throughout the district, including $12 million in high technology equipment for kindergarten through 12th grade classrooms

Polls will be open from 7 am to 8 pm. Voters unsure of their polling place may call elections clerk Bernice

Nichols at 451-3135 Absentee ballots are available at the school board off ice at 454 S. Harvey until 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21

'We're trying to look at bringing the district up into the 20th century," said Glenn Schroeder. Schroeder is a former Plymouth-Canton school board president serving on the "2010 Committee" that recommended the bond issue after studying the district's needs. Fifty community leaders, administrators and parents represent ing schools throughout the district comprise the com-

PART OF the $59 million would be used to build, furnish and equip two elementary schools, and to add classrooms to three existing elementaries as well as to Canton and Salem high schools. The district uses 22 portable classrooms to relieve overcrowding at the elementaries, middle schools and high schools.

The district owns an elementary school site on the south side of Warren Road between Canton Center and Beck. The second school would be built in southern Canton or in northwest Plymouth Township on a site to be

Proposed classroom additions would relieve crowding at Eriksson, Field and Hulsing elementaries

Libraries would be expanded at Allen, Bird, Farrand Fiegel, Gallimore, Isbister and Smith elementaries, and at East and West middle schools

AT CENTENNIAL Educational Park where there are eight portable classrooms 12 classrooms would be added. The cramped Salem High School Cafeteria would be expanded

Improvements would be made to playgrounds and outdoor physical education facilities throughout the dis-

Renovation and remodeling would be done at all five middle schools, the Miller. Tanger and Starkweather buildings, and the district's Transportation Office

Flymouth-Canton school officials have toured out-of state and Michigan districts that have introduced computer video and satellite technology to the classroom The district is seeking federal funding to make Plymouth-Canton schools a national demonstration site for such high technology

The $12 million that would be designated in the bond issue 'would give us a very good start, but it isn't the entire amount required," said Schroeder

We visited two or three different districts (including Romulus) that have these technologies. It's a great teaching tool These districts utilize computers to a greater degree than we do currently. They have computer labs for writing and computer labs for advanced mathematics There've been significant additions of computers in chemistry and physics as well," he said sue's biggest plus is that it won't mean more taxes.

There are two millages that tax payers pay one is the operating millage and the other is debt retirement millage The operating millage is around 35 mills, or $35 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The debt retirement is 2 3 mills, or $2.30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation

This bond issue can be handled by the district without any change in the debt retirement of 23 mills, said Schroeder "We don't have to increase or charge to accomplish this $59 million bond issue If voters authorize the district to sell the bonds and to pay the interest and principal out of the existing debt retirement millage of 2.3 mills, we don't have to pay additional monies, which is a great selling point

RAY HOEDEL, associate superintendent for business and finance. said "when you look at the longrange needs and maintenance projects in the school district, many of them have been delayed. This bond issue will really do an outstanding job of meeting all those needs.

This is a "real opportune time to sell bonds," he added. "Interest rates and construction costs are down. It's a great time from that point of

"Our biggest need is housing," said Hoedel. "Based on our enrollment projections, our largest enrollment influx will be over the next five years, and it will be felt at the elementary level.

City prime location for shooting TV spots

It's a nice spot to do these types of things," he said "Our locations are good, we keep our facilities in excellent shape for the visual impact they need

IN THE PAST few years, Sincock said commercials for "just about every automobile," have been filmed in town

Kellogg Park is a pretty popu lar site for most of these commercials, it's got the green grass, the fountain. A lot of the time the car commercials will use the Hough Park area because of the tree-lined streets.

Film crews, Sincock said, "find the city staff is easy to work with." On Tuesday, two actors from Detroit sat at a chess board placed crew filmed nearby Power cables led to trucks parked on Penniman

Bill Latka explained that or Monday, the first day of filming We filmed little vignettes around Plymouth, people enjoying life grandfather and his grandson pregnant woman with her daughter on a porch, and a wedding scene at the gazebo in Old Village

Sincock said the city makes a lit tle money on the commercial shoots, as all calls and employee time are charged to the film com pany, and a fee is also assessed

The city makes anywhere from $200 to more than $1,000 per shoot depending on how long or involved the commercial is.

Currently, Sincock said, no more commercials are scheduled for shooting here this fall

Police to share info on carjackings

how likely is it to Carjacking happen to you'

Even area law enforcement offilice departments began sharing information about armed auto theft. The goal is to find out who is most vulnerable to having their car taken at gunpoint, Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said.

We should be able to pick up patterns and tell what kind of people are being victimized," said Flcano, who organized the information-sharing program. Standard forms, listing details of area carjacking incidents, have been sent to all area police departments. Reports will then be monitored by the sheriff's department. Information also will be shared with the Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Monroe sheriff's departments, Ficano said.

ported in several suburban communities, including Farmington Hills and Redford, most incidents have occurred in Detroit.

"IN MY experience it is not thank God - a problem in the suburbs," said Lt. Sandy Miller, director of the Western Wayne County Auto Theft Team. "But that doesn't mean suburbanites don't go to Detroit."

Participation by Detroit police is considered a key to the informationsharing program's success.

Though Detroit officers weren't present at last week's kickoff press conference, Ficano said he was assured the city will participate.

They are on board," he said. Southfield police have created a special carjacking patrol, using police officers as decoys, but western Wayne departments generally haven't followed suit.

'Using decoys is difficult with a crime like this," said Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry, speaking on behalf of the county chiefs association. "With decoys, the objective is for the officer to become a victim. But a crime like this is so random, there's no guarantee that would happen.'

Nonetheless, police said they are making progress against carjackers.

What's heartening is that people have been getting caught and judges have been setting high bonds and issuing stiff sentences," Ficano said. Bond was recently set at more than $1 million for a suspect being held in a string of carjackings in Livinigston County and Redford To that, Wayne County Prosecutor's chief of operations Richard Padzieski says: "Hooray"

"A STANDARD is being set," he said. "One, that we're taking this crime very seriously and, two, if you're caught and convicted, you aren't going to get off with a slap on

Miller took exception to media speculation armed car thefts were a response to the new, sophisticated alarms and anti-theft devices available to car owners.

"I wish they hadn't said that," she said. "We recommend people use anti-theft devices."

But despite police action and widespread availability of anti-theft devices, car theft remains a large Wayne County problem.

There were 39,805 automobiles stolen in Wayne County in 1990 one for every 35 registered vehicles according to Michigan State Police statistics. In Oakland County, there were 5.140 reported thefts - roughly one for every 171 registered vehicles.

Statistics can be misleading, Miller said. 'What we've found is that there lateral to get drugs at crack houses then report the cars stolen." she said Whatever its source, car theft keeps insurance rates high, according to the American Automobile Association. "We don't have a breakout for armed auto thefts, but we keep track of auto thefts generally," AAA spokesman Tom Freel said. "If there is a large increase in thefts in an area, rates will go up. Even though there have been more than 145 carjacking arrests to date, law enforcement officials said the carjacking crisis is far from over

"OBVIOUSLY, WE aren't telling people to carry a gun - that's illegal unless you have a concealed weapon permit," Ficano said. "But there's a lot of common sense things people can do - starting with keeping their car doors locked.

Miller, a Michigan State Police of ficer, said her department advises drivers be especially aware when approaching an automatic teller machine or fast food takeout line

"For an auto teller, it might be best if they took someone with them," she said. "And believe it or not, these crimes do occur at fast food restaurants

If something looks suspicious, law enforcement officials said, its best to drive away.

Canton road projects set

By Diane Gale staff writer

Canton is on the road to paving more thoroughfares.

Burgeoning development on Canton's western frontier sparked the need for more roads to be paved, according Canton Engineer Tom Casari. The logic is that motorists will gravitate toward the newly paved roads and relieve traffic from the over congested ones, like Ford Road.

ROADS THAT that will be paved include the following:

· Beck Road, from Warren to Ford roads. Two developers, the county and Canton are contributing one-quarter of the cost each. The goal is to funnel traffic to Ford and

Beck/Joy paving. One hundred percent of the cost will be covered by the county. Again the idea is to help motorists going to M-14 get there more easily.

. Denton Road overlay to fix the deteriorated roadway. This should be completed by mid-September 1991.

Align Haggerty north to Plymouth and pave the last most southern stretch of Haggerty.

 Koppernick Road east of I 275. This will be the second paved access into and out of Holiday Park subdivision.

· Lilley from Michigan to Palmer. Pave the north and south stretch. It will funnel traffic to Michigan and relieve traffic from Michigan reconstruction. Widen and reconstruct the entire stretch of the state highway from I-275 to the Ypsilanti limits.

 Palmer paving. Property owners are paying for the road construction in order to develop · Warren Road paving east of I-275. This will complete the last stretch of Warren. This should relieve traffic from the east/west roads, especially Ford Road.

· Warren from Beck to Ridge. Property owners are paying for road construction in order order to develop the land.

Casari said his staff is working on identifying areas in the township where the road jogs and improvements need to be made.

Other future projects that will be considered, Casari said, are Beck Road, from Michigan to Cherry Hill: Hanford Road, Canton Center, both east and west to the existing pavement; Lilley Road, north of Ford: the Sheldon/Joy intersection; Morton Taylor, north of Ford and Napier between Warren and Ann

Lawmakers give Engler school plan mixed reviews

staff writer

Everyone saw something different to applaud or criticize in Gov. John Engler's "Michigan 2000" plan for achieving excellence in the $8 billion public school system.

"It is a plan that gives people parents, students and educators the freedom, the power and the options to achieve excellence," the Republican governor told the Legislature and State Board of Education

Engler's most-used words: "teachers" and "parents." His least used:

DOROTHY BEARDMORE, R-Rochester, president of the State Board of Education, "liked his focus on parenting" and "the recognition that children need to be ready for school." She praised Engler's emphasis on teacher development and tenure reform.

Annetta Miller, D-Huntington Woods, 20-year member of the State Board, found nothing new. "I'm personally not sure the 'charter school' can work," she said of Engler's plan, borrowed from Minnesota, to let local school boards grant charters to a certified faculty that would determine curricului

Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, liked tutoring for at-risk kids in early grades and extended kindergarten hours. "They need to read before they leave the primary grades. But I'm still concerned about how we're going to pay for it."

"I agree 100 percent with his emphasis on parents and teachers," said Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-West Bloom-

"I liked his emphasis on early edu-cation. That's my bias," said Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, a former elementary teacher. "This is ENGLER'S EMPHASIS on new kinds of publicly funded, competitive schools was criticized by Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. He called charter schools and federally funded "new American schools" just 'a proliferation and expansion of an already inefficient system." He blistered Engler's failure to advocate consolidation of the smaller of Michigan's 562 districts.

But Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, said charter schools "are probably the most dramatic idea and could do a lot for low-income areas of the state, though they wouldn't do much for western Wayne County."

Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City and House Education Commit tee chairman, was "delighted" with the governor's emphasis on education but didn't see much new. "What he's proposing is either in the state school aid bill, at least the concepts, or it has been around for awhile."

Serving her first day in office, Rep. Georgina Goss, R-Northville, whose districts includes Plymouth and part of Canton Township, said "charter schools sends alarm bells ringing . . . It's such a new concept that I'd have to see more." Scholarships for potential teachers are "a wonderful idea."

Engler underscored his values not by introducing an outstanding scholar or favorite teacher, as his predecessor, James Blanchard, might have done, but by introducing "two He covered five main areas:

 Quality — optional new schools, countywide schools" of choice and 200-day school years in pilot districts. · Equity - tax base sharing by richer districts - extremely unpupular among most area lawmakers except Keith, its architect. Teacher improvement — dou bling aid for professional development, bonuses, easier certification for professionals with non-teaching

 Job skills — guarantees to employers of graduates' competence, school-employer partnerships with state aid to businesses who promise to provide jobs to graduates, more math and science centers.

• Preschool - tutoring and extended kindergarten hours for atrisk youngsters.

Arts foundation may seek new role

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Arts Foundation of Michigan, the state's largest private arts group, has taken a low profile in the debate over state support for the arts.

That, however, could soon change. 'We've kept relatively quiet, we still don't know how it's all going to fall out," said Kim Adams, Arts Foundation of Michigan executive director. "But we're still looking at taking a wider role."

The Detroit-based agency raises and distributes money statewide.

"We're the ones who pay the playwrights to write the plays - who pay the choreographers to create the dances," she said.

Founded 25 years ago to supplement state arts funding, Adams said members now realize they must play a greater role. The machinery is there, she said, for the foundation to serve as a United Way-type umbrella agency for the arts.

'Really, that's been our goal all along," the Oakland County resident

If that is to happen, the $250,000 raised last year won't be nearly enough. In the past, the agency raised some $500,000 to establish the state Art Train program.

"I LOOK at what happened as an opportunity for us," Adams said.

The foundation's new role, she added, will be determined by its members - most of whom support state arts funding.

"I think there is an important role for the state to play," Adams said. "But we have been raising our pro-

A greater fund-raising role could force changes in foundation opera-

Foundation members pride themselves on using most of the money they raise to finance art programs, not fund-raising campaigns.

"I'd say about 79 percent of what we raise goes directly to art programs," Adams said.

While money is generally given directly to foundation-commissioned artists, regional arts groups - including Paint Creek Center for the Arts in Rochester - have received foundation grants.

The foundations seeks to finance innovative, original works.

"We're not going to give money to a local symphony that's going to per-form Handel's "Messiah." That's been done before," Adams said. "But we will support a composer that's creating a new work, provided, of course, that it will be performed."

The foundation grew out of a 1960s citizen study commissioned by then Gov. George Romney.

Initially known as the Michigan Fine Arts Society, then the Michigan Foundation for the Arts, it adopted its current name to avoid confusion with the state-sponsored Michigan Council for the Arts. It is the state agency's future that is in question.

'Whatever happens, we'll still be around," Adams said.

Arts Foundation of Michigan maintains offices at the David Whitney Building, Detroit. Those interested in joining, or in making a contribution, can call 964-2244, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Mental health agency transfer worries local parents

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Plans to transfer a local mental health agency from state to county control have touched off a flurry of concern and protest in Wayne and Oakland counties.

Fears are growing that area group homes could face budget cuts, or new community resistance, say representatives of group home parents

In Wayne County, controversy surrounds the transfer of the Wayne Community Living Service from state jurisdiction to control by the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board.

Despite assurance the new, non profit controlling board will main tain all current services to developmentally disabled Wayne County residents, family members say they're worried that won't be the

IN BRIEF

House beautiful

NTERIOR designer Dawn McAllister Buda of Designer's Choice in Plymouth recently got a mention in the 1991 edition of House Beautiful's Home Building magazine. "It was quite a thrill to learn that we were going to be included in the magazine," Buda said. The mention came in an article on a Northville house Buda helped to decorate. Designer's choice was founded in 1984 and has been at its present Old Village location for 21/2 years. "Like all interior designers, I read House Beautiful every month, so I was excited just to hear they were thinking about us," she said.

Farmer Jack shopping for tenant

By Kevin Brown staff writer

A Farmer Jack supermarket spokesman said he's doing all he can to get a tenant for the former supermarket building on Main. But a group of Plymouth residents and business people, headed by Realtor K.C. Mueller, tentatively plans a protest of the continuing vacancy of the store for Monday.

Mueller, who plans to picket outside the former supermarket on Main Street, said her group has collected 400 signatures from residents and business people concerned that the building remains vacant.

They're also concerned about the appearance of the building, Plymouth's largest store-

SINCE THE supermarket shut its doors nearly three years ago, city officials and residents have at times complained of weeds growing in the parking lot and of the appearance of the building.

We are actively working on several proposals for the building," said Ted Simon, a spokesman for Borman Inc. which owns the Farmer Jack supermarket chain.

"I've had a couple of good prospects. But there are a lot of buildings out there," Simon discussion whether we need to go ahead with the picketing," Mueller said. Mueller said a letter-writing campaign to the president of Borman Inc. is also being considered.

"None of this will be necessary if they can come to an agreement," Mueller said. "I think (city manager) Steve Walters has played an important part in supporting myself as a concerned citizen and getting the parties (Borman Inc. and Dickson) to communicate.

"We all are not happy with the results of two entities not being able to communicate,"

Picketing would be allowed on the sidewalk outside Farmer Jack in Plymouth. Protesters are also considering picketing outside the Farmer Jack supermarket in Canton, to encourage action on the Plymouth site.

Closed in December 1988 after nearly 30 years of operation, the former supermarket has the most free parking of any store in the city and 16,855 square feet of floor space.

That's because the University of Michigan-Dearborn fall film series is offering its movies for free. And it's not a mix of flops and for-

Bond issue

Yes vote urged on Sept. 24

7 OTERS IN PLYMOUTH and Plymouth Township will head to the polls on Tuesday, Sept. 24, to decide the fate of a $59.7 million bond issue for Plymouth Canton Community Schools.

The money raised will be used to build two new elementary schools, add classroom space to Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools and put high tech equipment in the

We agree 100 percent with the bond issue and

There has been no organized opposition to the bond issue, and we hope none materializes. But while we're behind the bond issue, we have some reservations about the policy seemingly etched in stone that weds the district to continuing to expand the high schools. 22 Adding 12 classrooms and expanding the cafeouteria at Salem High School is fine, but if the area continues to grow, a new high school will be needed. And that concerns us. We wonder if the present site can support another high school. While we question the school district's building appelicy, we don't have any reservations about the way it looks at technology. The school district is going in the right direction on that one. Superintendent John Hoben is a great believer in technology in the classroom. He envisions classrooms linked to computers and each with the capability to use video tapes.

IF WE'RE SERIOUS about training our children to function in the 21st century, then we're going to need to teach them how to function in a high tech world, where even telephones have become computerized. It seems as though schools too often are teaching kids how to cope with the 1980s and not the next century.

The only criticism usually leveled against bond issues is the cost. It's there, but we don't think it's one that can't be carried by the community.

Here's the bond issue in dollars and cents, according to the school district:

If we're serious about training our children to function in the 21st century, then we're going to need to teach them how to function in a high tech world, where even telephones have become computerized. It seems as though schools too often are teaching kids how to cope with the 1980s and not the next century.

• The district's existing debt would be paid off in the year 2000. If the bond issue passes, the schools' debt will be paid by 2018.

 The schools levy two millage taxes, an operating millage and debt retirement. The operating millage is around 35 mills, or $35 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The debt retirement is 2.3 mills, or $2.30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

• The bond issue can be handled by the district without any change in the debt retirement

We acknowledge there is a cost to the bond issue. However, it won't increase property taxes. The bonds will be financed by anticipated increases in taxes.

There are some who would argue that taxes could be reduced earlier without a bond issue. We don't buy that line of thinking. We doubt if school taxes will ever be reduced.

But that's another swamp. We think that schools must be concerned about students' fu-

Fear of change deters year-round school idea

A RITUAL in our house is taking a picture of my son, Nathan, as he boards the first bus of the new school year. Nathan, 9, will be a fourth grader for the 180 days that Michigan children attend school.

Nathan's counterparts in Scotland attend school 200 days a year, in Israel 215, South Korea 220, in Japan 243 - two full months longer than American kids.

It isn't surprising that children who go to school longer than Americans learn more. Most tests comparing school achievement show our kids lagging behind those of our international economic competitors.

WHY NOT increase the number of days of school from Michigan's currently mandated 180 days?

Habit, for one reason. Schools re-

Cost, for another. According to Beverly Wolkow, executive director of the Michigan Education Association, our biggest teachers union, the average teacher in Michigan makes around $38,000 per year - $210 a day. Paying 80,000 teachers for five extra days would cost $84 million.

Admittedly, there's a big argument about extra pay for those extra days. Some say teachers are paid an annual salary; working extra days is just part of the job. Wolkow says that's not fair.

Let's compromise: $100 a day for nve n

NOT UNTIL you realize that total local and state spending for Michigan K-12 schools is nearly $6.5 billion a year. So $40 million is only a 0.6 percent increase in the total.

There are other costs: bus drivers, custodians, administrators, utilities, materials, wear and tear on the

Who's to say five more days of school - a 2.7 percent increase in the total school year - aren't worth a 1 percent increase in spending?

Political reality, that's who. Gov. John Engler asked for $150,000 for six pilot districts to bump school days from 180 to 200. There's bipartisan legislative support for much the same thing.

But with the state facing a $300 million revenue shortfall and legislators from both parties preoccupied with survival after reapportionment, don't hold your breath waiting for a 200-day school year.

HUGH JARVIS, president of the Michigan Federation of Teachers (the smaller union), is pushing consideration of a year-round school

"Research has shown conclusively that students, especially in lower grades, lose much of what was learned during the school year over the traditional two-and-a-half months summer vacation," Jarvis

A brief, pre-bus preview of the validates Jarvis' point.

A few districts are trying a yearround calendar - 45 days of class, 15 days vacation, repeated through the year. Huron Valley School District, around Milford in western Oakland County, was on such a plan when superintendent James Doyle arrived eight years ago.

"People like it," said Doyle of the optional year-round program. He estimated only 5 percent of district children enroll — "mostly because of tradition . . . families like taking the summer off."

Any learning improvements? "Statistically, you can't find much evidence in test scores, but you get the impression that they retain more," he said. Added costs? "No big ones, although you'd probably have to aircondition all the buildings."

A good idea hangs in the air, one that doesn't cost much and just maybe would helps kids learn. On the other side are tradition, inertia, fear of change. When will we ever learn?

Make their sentences equal

A word that wasn't in our vocabulary six months ago has become the most talked-about crime in recent memory. City and suburbs alike, drivers are pulling up to traffic lights and looking suspiciously at the people in the car next to them. It's a hard problem for responsible people. Instinct says fight back; reason dictates a more prudent approach. It's a hard problem because there is no easy, correct solution.

That means, to us, that the solution lies in a combination of actions, starting with something we've advocated all along: greater cooperation between the city of Detroit and our suburbs. Carjackers certainly aren't worrying about which side of Eight Mile they hit.

IF THERE is to be a task force culled from suburban and city law enforcement departments, then it needs to become active immediately, not only to halt carjackings, but to let residents know that someone is responding to this problem.

Additionally, courts can cooperate with one another and agree on a substantial, regional sentence for convicted carjackers. That way carjackers would find the sentence would be the same, regardless of where the crime took place.

Before laying all the responsibility in the lap of law enforcement, we also would call on the area's large corporations - car insurance companies, for example — to lend a little muscle to this fight. Let's veer off course for a minute.

Do you know why you didn't hear about the death toll on the road this past Labor Day weekend? It's because the car insurance companies have been so effective in their pitch for safe driving that the death toll now is pretty much the same on holiday weekends as it is on any other weekend.

That's clout, and insurance companies have a vested interest in seeing carjacking stop. If they have to pay out too much on too many claims, then redlining will increase, premiums will follow suit and residents will howl more than they already are about mandating a rollback and then capping premium rátes.

BACK ON the law enforcement end, anyone in the suburbs who drives the freeways to work has seen police, waiting to nail anyone going over the speed limit. With such a serious problem as carjacking upon us, it would be worthwhile to get those police cars out on the roads, patrolling.

There's also the spinoff effect of all this. In some suburban areas, it's pretty common to see white police officers pulling over and questioning black drivers. Sometimes it seems as though they rarely pull over white drivers. If carjacking persists, everyone is going to get edgier than they already are, which eventually could materialize in the form of escalating incidents of harrassment. No one needs that.

So let's get this taken care of and prove two things: that we can eradicate carjacking by making the certainty of punishment so great that no one will want to take the risk; and that when it's important, we can band together and solve a

Growth is questioned in Canton

To the editor:

In the article, "Canton OKs suit to stop airport buy," (Aug. 26, 1991, Canton Observer), one resolution point approving the law suit struck me as rather hypocritical. "The Canton community is best served when the future of its land is determined by the people in Canton, rather than outside communities or outside agencies;" Over 100 residents of western Canton protested rezoning of a partial from R1, to R2. During the hearing, the planning commission agreed with the following observations . . .

 With a declining overall population in southeast Michigan, additional housing is not required.

 New residents and businesses would have to be drawn from older communities reducing their tax base and forcing increased taxes on those remaining. Their county, state and federal taxes would also have to be increased to pay for subsidized suburban expansion.

· Canton residents who do not want their environment destroyed, will pay higher taxes to subsidize new developments in order to keep them marketable.

After they agreed to the above, the only conclusions that could be drawn It is not in the best interest of current Canton residents to continue subsidizing growth. The net effect will be increased property taxes, reduced relative market values, and destroyed living environments.

The only interests served, along with the local governing body that feeds on a growing tax base, are of outside investors, developers and builders.

When asked to confirm these conclusions, the planning commission remained silent. Under pretense "You can't stop progress," rezoning was approved.

"The Canton community is best served" by protecting current living environments and tax levels. Requiring new developments bear the full tax burden of increased demands on infrastructure and governmental/ educational services would discourage unneeded suburban sprawl.

Instead of protecting community interests, our leaders seem to be motivated by a drive for more power generated by a greater tax base at their disposal. Daniel K. West more important than a woman's right. That is the right of that unborn

The woman who has an abortion is once in a while a victim of rape or incest, but most of the time it is someone that just didn't take precautions or just wasn't careful enough.

The woman may say, "Well I don't have the money to have a child." Maybe she should have thought about that before. In that case there are many people who would love to have children but can't. Let those people have a chance instead of being selfish because of an inconvenience that was caused by you in the first place. Abortion is not a form of birth control, but these days that's the way most people feel about it.

But then they pulled the Grave Person's trick: They looked at their timepieces, refused to give the Man in a Hurry an answer, and remanded the case to the Attorney Discipline Board.

Take a few lessons from school planner

FOR SEVEN YEARS as his top assistant, I watched school Superintendent John Schultz of Rochester do one whale of a job.

I have worked for superintendents Mike Hoben of Plymouth/Canton, George Garver, late of Walled Lake and Livonia, and Bill Keane of Berkley and the Oakland Intermediate District.

I am also closely acquainted with other highly knowledgeable CEO's like Bob Docking of Bloomfield Hills, Terry Follbaum of Centerline, George DePillo of Warren and former superintendents Art Jefferson of Detroit, Lew Schulman of Farmington and the hard-driving Sam Flam of Berkley.

The best superintendents routinely work 80-hour weeks, and they share an eclectic expertise in budgeting, curriculum, personnel deployment and strategic planning. It is in the latter category that Dr. Schultz boasts a near-legendary reputation. His intricate long-range planning model has received national atten-

The predictable result: chaos. Schultz and his new leadership team set out to develop procedures for long-range analysis based on corporate meth-

Throughout the winter we surveyed the key players in the district and analyzed the findings. In November we looked at changes in the community; in December the staff underwent scrutiny; in January the topic was enrollment projections, followed by student "profiles" and financial assessments in February and March.

Then we developed likely scenarios if nothing happened to change current trends. Finally, we studied each scenario in terms of SWOTS (strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, threats). From this we established long-range goals, concrete objectives and strategies for meeting sources that discourages most other districts from even attempting such an indepth venture.

IT IS A heightened misfortune that last year with little warning there came forth from Lansing a political expediency called "categorical recapture" which slashed school reimbursements by millions of dollars (and incidentally caused me to decide to retire to save the jobs of some of my younger staff).

This recapture was accomplished by reduced allocations to districts with high state-equalized property evaluation per pupil. These "out-of-formula" districts are no longer reimbursed for some things such as special education, driver education and student transportation.

Rochester alone lost millions of dollars from this, as well as additional millions for 1991 through the recently enacted residential property tax freeze. Adding to that large and growing district's difficulties is a desperate need to pass a $31 million bond to renovate deteriorated buildings and purchase land for a bus facility.

Any hope for visionary school planning goes up in smoke when our state government imposes such seatof-the-pants legislation that cuts the tall trees in the forest without appreciably nourishing the short ones. In doing this, it had no inkling of the cruel impact on school employees' livelihoods and children's learning

Maybe our governor and legislature could use some long-range planning lessons from John Schultz.

John Telford, a Rochester Hills resident, most recently was an assistant superintendent in the Rochester School District. He previously was executive director for secondary education in the Plymouth Canton district.

Art makes changes in quality of life

The thought of leaving the position of Creative Living editor after more than 15 years produces a rush of conflicting emotions.

There will be more time for getting the muscles and the golf swing back in shape - more time to walk and swim, polish the photography skills, do research in the library and take a couple of investment and decorative arts (I never said I knew it all) classes. Course I'm looking forward to more leisurely visits with the kids and grandson - are they gonna be thrilled or what? Yes, these good things and some possible new career directions bring a smile of anticipation.

But, right along with these comes a tinge of sadness. Friends, on their third, fourth or 10th million, are prone to try to comfort me about my lack of extreme, vulgar, financial success by remarking how lucky I am to have met so many interesting

That's my consolation prize. They say it to be nice, but it happens to be true - in spades. Many of the people I've interviewed have been artists painters, musicians, sculptors, authors and occasionally interior designers, architects, gardeners and

With the artists, particularly, the act of creating - producing something that has never been seen, heard or printed before - is in a sense a birthing or life-giving process, and as such, it can be intoxicating. What a joy to play even a minor role in all this, especially since the quality of art coming out of this part of Michigan continues to improve.

How can anyone call the teaching of arts in the schools frills? The act of creation involves innovative thinking and problem solving and carried forward to the respectable amateur or professional level involves math, science, history, philos-

SC men still kicking despite going winless

It wasn't what Schoolcraft College men's soccer coach Van Dimitriou hoped for. Starting the season by going winless in a two-game tournament can hardly be termed a successful start.

But it was no disaster, either. The Ocelots, playing in the Triton College Tournament in Chicago last weekend, suffered a 3-1 loss to Rosary College, a local four-year school, on Saturday.

On Sunday, SC rallied to tie Lewis and Clark Community College to go 0-1-

Although the record wasn't impressive, the tournament served its purpose, according to Dimitriou. "Every game we're looking for a little bit of improvement," he said. "And it looks like we're getting it.

"We now basically have a set team in regards to positions. We've established who is who on the team."

ONE NOTABLE "who" for the Ocelots last weekend was sophomore forward Jeff VanDemergel. Of the three SC goals, he scored two and assisted on

Sophomore midfielder Chris Crawford, who was just returning from an ankle injury, had his moments, too; he assisted on each of VanDemergel's

But the rest of the offense continued to sputter, said Dimitriou. "We're getting some support at the point of the attack, but not enough.

There were defensive breakdowns as well. Against Rosary, the Ocelots found themselves down 2-0 25 minutes into the match. "We were playing them well, but not as a unit," said Dimitriou.

SC turned it around in the second half. VanDemergel scored with 14 minutes gone on a cross from Crawford to make it 2-1, but Rosary countered five minutes later to regain their two-goal edge. SC had chances afterward, the best on a penalty kick with 10 minutes left after VanDemergel was hauled down. But Dave Hebestreit's attempt was stopped.

AGAINST LEWIS and Clark, the Ocelots got a few breaks - notably when Lewis and Clark missed a penalty kick early in the match.

The game's first goal came with 20 minutes elapsed. VanDemergel looped a pass on a restart to Bob Hayes, who headed it home to make it 1-0, SC.

But 12 minutes later, a miscommunication led to a defensive breakdown and resulted in an easy goal for Lewis and Clark. Fourteen minutes into the second half, Lewis and Clark took a 2-1 lead when a shot was chipped over SC keeper Scott Hauman.

Again, SC missed chances to take control. Hayes flicked a pass from Crawford over an open net with 25 minutes left, but 10 minutes later the Ocelots got the tying goal when Crawford angled a pass from the left side to Van-Demergel on the right, and he tucked it in.

Brian Botwinski of Salem gets ready to putt Tuesday in the annual Plymouth best-ball tournament at Hilltop Golf Course. The Rocks were runners-up to Livonia Stevenson. See story on Page 4B.

Salem hopes to 3-peat as Lakes champ

staff writer

Plymouth Salem hopes to have another season like it did last year in boys cross country, and the first dual-meet results indicate the Rocks are headed in the right direction.

Salem opened the season Saturday with a 13th-place finish in Division III of the West Bloomfield Invitational and defeated Plymouth Canton 25-30 Tuesday at Cass Benton Park.

The Rocks won the Lakes Division title for the second straight year, were second in the Western Lakes Activities Association, won a regional championship and finished 21st in the state meet last season.

"We feel we have another good team," seventh-year coach Geoff Baker said. "When it comes down to the league and regional meets, we'll be out there shooting for our best times and trying to show the other teams we have to be reckoned with."

JUNIORS JAMIE Miller and Matt Erickson and sophomore Jon Mickevicius gained experience on the JV team last year. Junior Justin Richardson is a top newcomer.

Cudini was the top runner in the dual meet with a 17:35 time. McDonald was second (18:19), Mickevicius fifth (18:43), Richardson seventh (18:51) and Cifaldi 10th (18:59). Boudreau was 11th (18:59) and Miller 14th (19:19) in non-scoring roles.

"We ran well Saturday and we ran better today," Baker said. "The times should keep falling as the guys get more confidence in themselves Defending WLAA champ Walled Lake Western has one of the state's best teams, "but I think we can place second again," Baker said. "That's a pretty realistic goal, I believe. I think the division is within our grasp

As for defending their regional crown, the Rocks will have to compete with Western, Redford Catholic Central, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Novi

Catholic League teams tough on Salem cagers

Plymouth Salem is seeing good competition but taking its lumps from the Catholic League Central Division girls basketball powers.

The Rocks have lost their last two to Farmington Hills and Birmingham Marian, 36-28 and 54-41, respectively. Salem will be host to Harper Woods Regina on Saturday night.

Salem (1-3) trailed 29-22 at halftime Tuesday at Marian and was outscored 23-11 in the third quarter and fell behind 52-33.

"That was critical for us," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "Marian did a great job of making shots, and we got stymied just a bit."

The Rocks cut down on their turnovers from the Mercy game but have been trying to regroup and re-adjust their lineup, Thomann said, after point guard Kelly Austin re-injured a knee in the win over Waterford Kettering.

AUSTIN, WHO missed all of last season after having knee surgery, was to have arthroscopic surgery performed on the knee today.

Senior forward Michele Coughlin scored 16 points to lead the Mustangs (2-1), including 10 in the third quarter. Tara Walsh chipped in 12 points, and junior guard Stephanie Storen had 11 points, six rebounds,

Moore leads PCA victory

Senior center Jennifer Moore scored 21 points and pulled in 12 rebounds Tuesday as host Plymouth Christian Academy romped past Taylor Light and Life 56-8 in girls basketball.

Senior forward Christin Thomason chipped in 10 points and 11 rebounds for the Eagles, 2-0. Plymouth Christian led 37-6 at halftime.

Moore is averaging 23 points and 16 rebounds in the two four assists and four steals.

Senior center Darcie Miller played an outstanding game for Salem, scoring a game-high 21 points, grabbing 12 rebounds and blocking eight shots. Leslie Gotts added eight points for the Rocks.

In the Mercy game Saturday, the visiting Marlins regrouped in the second half to overcome a 10-point halftime deficit and defeat Salem.

Mercy was behind 11-2 in the first quarter and trailed 22-12 at halftime, but it held the Rocks to just six points in the second half while increasing its offensive production.

Senior center Laure DeMattia scored 12 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as Mercy outscored the Rocks 13-4 in the third quarter and 11-2 in the finale.

"BELIEVE IT or not, it was a high-tempo game; we attempted to run the break," Mercy coach Larry Baker said. "We defensed the heck out of each other."

The Marlins struggled against Salem's zone defense in the first quarter but had the Rocks "tied up in knots with our pressure" in the second half, according to Baker.

"We mounted a tremendous effort in the fourth quarter," he said. "It was a grinding type of game. Our conditioning paid off."

Seven was a good number for Mercy senior guard Kathleen Berrigan, who had seven points, seven assists and seven steals. The Marlins (3-1) shot 25 percent from the floor (13-53) but made 10 of 19 free throws.

Salem was led by Cyndi Platter's 10 points and Miller's six. The Rocks were only 1-of-2 at the free throw

"Mercy's defense was very ag-gressive," Thomann said. "We just didn't close out our scoring opportunities very well."

Retirement won't mean idle days for literacy booster

By Julie Brown staff writer

EFORE TOO long, Carolyn Burns will have more time for one of her favorite leisure-time activities, read-

"I definitely will do that," said Burns, who'll retire Oct. 1 as director of the local Community Literacy Council. "To sit in the sun and do some reading sounds delightful."

Burns, a Canton resident, began her involvement in literacy programs as a volunteer. She'd become interested in literacy through work with the Lutheran Church Women.

The Community Literacy Council, formed in 1985, provides one-on-one tutoring help. Volunteer tutors work with adults who are learning to read or working to improve their reading

THE COUNCIL assisted more than 100 students during the 1990-91 school year. Tutoring help is also provided for English as a second language students, including children, teens and adults. More than 85 volunteer tutors helped out during the past school year, and training for new tutors is being offered this

Burns enjoyed "watching the program grow. It was important to me, and to find it to be important to other people has been exciting."

Her volunteer role evolved into a part-time paid position as grants and other financial support became available. Burns has worked with Plymouth-Canton Community Education staffers at Starkweather Center in Plymouth.

"This is just a wonderful place to work," said Burns, who had nothing but praise for her colleagues. "They've become friends. That doesn't always happen, but I've been very fortunate.'

Burns has helped to coordinate the council's activities and to provide tu-

She became interested in literacy a number of years ago when her son had some difficulty learning to read.

He didn't have a learning disability, but did have some trouble with reading in early elementary school. He's now grown, has graduated from college and is working.

"Reading is so important. It's vital." Burns was surprised to learn that some of her fellow Americans had somehow slipped through the cracks of the educational system and never learned to read.

"That's a shame, it really is. We should be ashamed of that." Rather than just remain disappointed, Burns chose to take action.

She's enjoyed working with motivated students and dedicated volunteers. "Watching the change in the students is exciting.

Her husband, Lowell Burns, is retiring from the Ford Motor Co. They bought a home three years ago on Old Mission Peninsula in northern Lower Michigan, planning to retire and live in the Traverse City area.

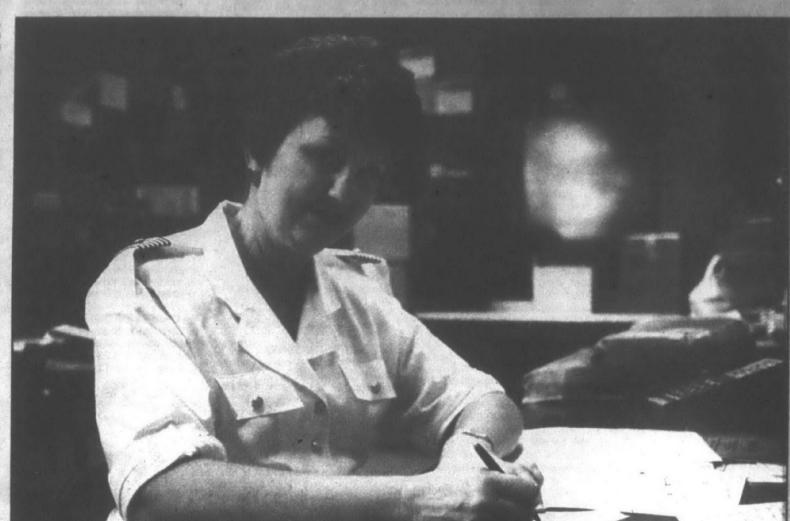

A search is under way for her successor at the Community Literacy Council. The new director's first priority will be establishing financial independence for the council, Burns

The council has a grant through the Plymouth Dunning-Hough Library that is scheduled to expire June 30 of next year. The council has received grant support through the Canton Public Library in the past. Council leaders would like to see the organization achieve financial independence and move on from there, Burns plays the piano and has taught piano in the past. She also enjoys counted cross stitch and sewing. After moving up north, she may just find the time to organize the family's extensive collection of photographs.

Time at Camp Civitan provides lifelong memories

By Julie Brown staff writer

At age 61, Joe Henshaw probably doesn't fit the stereotyped image of a camp counselor.

Henshaw did, however, spend part of the summer as a counselor at Camp Civitan in Michigan's Irish Hills area. He and other Civitan Club volunteers worked at the camp, held Aug. 4-10 in Onsted, Mich.

I found it one of the most rewarding experiences in my life, actually," said Henshaw, a retired Plymouth Canton High School biology teacher. "A tremendous amount of giving and receiving. Very moving.'

This year's camp was a pilot project for Civitan Clubs in Michigan. Henshaw's the outgoing president of the Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club, a service club for men and women age 18 and older.

THE CAMP was for teenagers and young adults with physical, mental and emotional disabilities. More than 25 campers from throughout Michigan participated.

"This is our very first camp of this nature on the state level," said Henshaw, a Plymouth Township resident. The Civitans have for many years helped disadvantaged people by supporting Special Olympics and other activities.

They decided to hold this summer's session at the Judson Collins United Methodist Camp, which wasn't being used at the time. Several Michigan clubs, including the Westland Civitans and Plymouth-Canton Civitans, helped to organize Camp Civitan.

The cost of summer camp was covered by local clubs and private donors, making it affordable for many families.

Activities at Camp Civitan included swimming, boating, hiking and field trips. Campers enjoyed building campfires, singing and doing crafts projects.

Camp wasn't particularly regimented, and there was plenty of time for campers to get to know each other. Many hadn't been away from home more than one night up to that point, Henshaw said, so going to camp helped them become more independent and self-disciplined

"They have the benefit of associating with other kids."

THE CAMP wasn't available to those who use wheelchairs, as the facility wasn't designed to accommodate their needs. Campers had a variety of disabilities. Some had Down syndrome or epilepsy, while others had diabetes or had undergone heart Henshaw wasn't the only family member involved in Camp Civitan activities. His daughter, 24-year-old Kim Grulke of Lansing, also worked as a camp counselor. Grulke, a 1985 Plymouth Canton High School graduate and former Junior Civitan, is a graduate student at Central Michigan University where she's working on her special education endorsement.

"Oh, I thought it was great. It really came together," said Grulke, a substitute teacher who has worked with disabled students. She was impressed with how smoothly things went with the pilot project.

"I thought it was a great experience. The kids certainly seemed to enjoy themselves," Grulke said. "I think it's an excellent experience for Her cabin included young women in their late teens and 20s. The campers kept busy, Grulke said, and didn't mind not having a TV nearby.

"They were totally engrossed in what we were doing," she said. "In fact, I didn't even miss it."

The counselors, who lived in cabins with the campers, had a 24-hour a day job. The work was demanding and they were tired at the end of each day, "but it was a good tired, rewarding," Henshaw said.

HE AND OTHER counselors found they tended to forget about campers' disabilities as the time passed. Campers and counselors were able to focus on what they have in common.

Civitan Club members plan to offer the camp again next summer, most likely at the same Lenawee County site. They're working on spreading the word about Camp Civ-

His strongest memory of camp is how quickly some 29 strangers, basically, got to know one another and became closer and closer in spirit and fellowship." There weren't many dry eyes when camp ended.

But they all wanted to come back," he said.

Former local Salvation Army commanders plan a return visit

staff writer

Some special visitors will arrive soon at the Plymouth Salvation Army corps.

Commissioner William Roberts and his wife, Ivy, the Salvation Army's local commanders from 1947 to 1953, will arrive Sunday, Sept. 29, for a visit.

'I'm excited because I can learn so much from him," said Lt. Jeffrey Beachum, who serves with his wife, Lt. Aleta Beachum, as the current commander. At the same time, Beachum's a bit apprehensive because the Robertses have such widespread experience and knowledge.

"They're really wonderful people and he's a magnificent speaker. Basically, we brought him back be-cause it's helpful for the people of Plymouth to see what they've started," Beachum said.

Roberts and his wife led the local Salvation Army during a time of growth and change. Since leaving the Plymouth-Canton community in 1953, they have served in a mber of capacities within the Salvation Army both in the U.S.

THEY RETIRED from active service in 1988, but haven't taken it easy since that time. They've continued to travel and to speak and preach. The Robertses have spent recent summers at a camp for disadvantaged youngsters in Chicago, "hugging and listening to kids."

Their days entail everything from meeting world dignitaries to working with children from low-income families. "And they feel com-fortable with all of it," said Beachum, a Canton resident who has been corps commander in Plymouth for two years and two months.

The Robertses who live in Warsaw, Ind., will have a busy schedule during their visit. He will preach at the 11 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 29, worship service at the Salvation Army corps, 9451 S. Main in Plymouth

That Sunday will also feature a 4 p.m. concert in Kellogg Park, Ann Arbor Trail and Main in downtown Plymouth. A Salvation Army brass band and a vocalist will perform. The Robertses will be introduced and he will speak briefly.

Refreshments will be served at the Salvation Army corps following the concert, and Roberts will preach 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29, at a service at the corps facility.

"It is going to be neat, almost like a celebration to have him come back," said Beachum, who'mvited the Robertses to visit.

THROUGHOUT THE visit, Roberts will preach from the Book of Colossians. He will preach 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 30, through Wednesday, Oct. 2, at the Salvation Army corps. Children's meetings will be offered during all the worship ser-

The local Salvation Army serves residents of the Plymouth-Canton-Northville communities. A variety of social service programs are provided, along with recreational activities and worship services.

The local corps has been housed in several locations since its beginnings in the late 1920s. The current facility, on Main south of Ann Arbor Road, has been used since 1983.

The Robertses were instrumental in moving the Salvation Army to a location on Fairground in Plymouth. "He was actually out there with a hammer and nails," Beachum said.

That facility opened in 1953 and remained in use for many years.

The Robertses don't live too far away, and have been back to visit through the years. Roberts was in Commissioner William Roberts and his wife, Ivy, will visit the Plymouth-Canton community later this month. They served as commanders of the local Salvation Army corps from 1947 to 1953.

the Plymouth Rotary Club during his time here, and has been active in other Rotary Clubs in the U.S. and overseas.

The Robertses have five children, two of whom serve as Salvation Army officers.

THE THEME of the upcoming visit is "Come Alive in Christ." Beachum and other Salvation Army leaders are encouraging people from the community to partici-

"Really, it's more open to the general public than just our congregation," he said.

Such activities help to make people more aware of the Salvation Army. Some see the red kettles at Christmas time, and don't know much about the international Christian organization beyond that.

One-woman play brings spirit, faith of late activist Dorothy Day to life

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Dorothy Day believed in and fought for the poor.

Such a simplistic statement doesn't sum up the convictions of a woman whose faith and spirit outlasted her mortal life, which ended with her death in 1980 at age 83.

"Haunted by God" is a one-hour, one-woman play about Dorothy Day, an activist and humanitarian who was the co-founder of the Catholic Worker movement.

A performance of the critically acclaimed play will take place 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 13, at St. Edith Catholic Church, 15089 Newburgh, between Schoolcraft and Five Mile, Livonia. Admission price is $5.

The program is sponsored by the Peace and Justice Committee of St. Edith Church.

'I don't know even in our own religious community how well-in-formed they are about Dorothy Day and what she stood for," said Cynthia Hirami, who is a member of the nine-person committee.

"Part of this is we want action, but a lot of it boils down to education. You have to continually educate so people are aware of the many things that need to be done."

DOROTHY DAY sought to inform and change stereotypes people had about the homeless. They weren't society's misfits to be ignored or shoved aside. To her, they had hearts and souls and deserved God's mercy.

Day worked as a journalist on underground leftist newspapers in New York and Chicago before she was baptized a Catholic at age 30. Her socialist views tempered by Christianity still found their way into her beliefs and work as a writer. She met radical Peter Maurin and formed the Catholic Worker movement in 1932. The Catholic Worker

The zeal in which she trumpeted the needs of the poor was only met by her unfettered devotion to pacifism. No war was a just war in Day's

"Haunted by God" attempts to bring to life the spirit and drive that has led others to carry on Day's cause. Her legacy can be seen in places such as the Day House in Detroit, a temporary shelter for the homeless.

The play is produced by Call to Action Performing Arts Ministry and features graduate student Dodie Holstrom in the role of Day.

"I think what impressed me the most was God was a reality to her," said Holstrom, 36, who is working on a master's degree in theater at Roosevelt University. "It wasn't just something to do . . . It was a real thing to her. It was the way she lived

"I think she had a deep need to help people and bring God's love into

THE SEPT. 13 performance at St. Edith's will mark Holstrom's debut in the play. Until recently, she worked as an understudy to the play's co-writer, Lisa Marie Wagner.

Holstrom's experience in theater includes writing, directing and performing. She's also involved in a children's program through Spirit of God, a non-denominational church in the Chicago area, which does sketches designed to teach and entertain

Originally, "Haunted by God" was a two-hour production focusing primarily on the chronological events in Day's life. The play has since been whittled to slightly more than an hour, exploring more of the activist's personality and her vigor.

"I'm still in the process of discovering that," Holstrom said. "There's a lot of nuances involved. I can relate to a lot of the things she was speaking about and then my emotions come into play.'

Hirami hopes such emotions lead to activism among audience members. Already, the membership of St. Edith's Church is involved in helping with a soup kitchen at St. Dominic's Church in Detroit once a month and is a base for Active Friends of the Homeless.

Still, there is always more to be done.

"It's (the play) supposed to challenge us to come up with our own ideas," Hirami said. "There's so many ways to take social action."

Earth's orbit, tilt determine start of autumn

a.m. on Sept. 23. But what is it that determines that precise moment? It's a combination of the earth's orbit and its tilt.

Earth is divided into a northern emisphere and a southern hemisphere by an imaginary line called the equator. If this equator is extended out into space it cuts the sky into a northern and southern hemisphere, but now the imaginary line is called the celestial equator.

Because our earth is tilted 23.5 degrees, the sun can appear to be 23.5 degrees above the celestial equator or 23.5 degrees below it. When the sun is at its highest point in the sky north of the celestial equator, in June when the days are long and warm, we have summer. When the sun is at its lowest, in December when the days are short and cold, we have winter.

Obviously there are two points where the sun must cross over the celestial equator. Once when going from above the equator to below, and another going from below to above The precise moment of the crossover, going from north to south, is when autumn officially begins for the northern hemisphere. A person standing on Earth's equator at local noon would see the sun directly overhead on the celestial equator.

The sun will rise due east and set due west. The length of the day and length of night are about equal, so this is called the equinox.

THE FULL moon that occurs at 6:40 p.m. on Sept. 23 is a very special one. It's called the Harvest Moon. We have full moons every month throughout the year, what makes this one so special?

Because the moon is in orbit around the earth, it appears in dif-ferent parts of the sky from night to night. Generally the moon will rise about one hour later each night. But in autumn the full moon is located at the part of its orbit that has the least tilt with respect to Earth's horizon line. The moon seems to skim along the horizon, rising at about the same time each evening, in about the same

The light scattered by the full moon was a help to farmers, allowing them to continue their harvesting after sunset, hence it was called the Harvest Moon. The full moon that follows the Harvest Moon was said to be a help to hunters, and you can probably figure out what that full moon is called.

A Home Is The American Dream.

Finding Affordable Housing

To help solve this problem, NBD Bank is sponsoring the 1991 Housing Conference on Saturday, September 28, at the University of Detroit Mercy Conference Center. Conference workshops are designed to help Metro Detroit:

INDIVIDUALS

- · determine how much they can afford
- · learn how to buy a home and sources of financing

COMMUNITY GROUPS

- · acquire and rehabilitate property
- · obtain financing for development projects

CHURCH LEADERS

- · start their own housing development projects
- · build and stabilize neighborhoods

REALTORS AND DEVELOPERS

- · transform housing development into profits
- · obtain innovative financing

Workshops will be led by community leaders, developers, legal experts, representatives from Detroit, HUD, and local universities, and NBD officers. The cost is $15 for the first person from an organization, and $10 for others from the same organization, or for individuals. Scholarships are available. To register before September 20, call 225-3492.

Navajo art to come alive at Native West

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

HE ANCIENT art of Navajo sand painting will be demonstrated by award-winning artists Chester Begay and Alberta Tsosie of New Mexico during a special exhibition "Navajo Sand Painting Art" Friday-Sunday, Sept. 13-15, at Native West, 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

While the Southwestern artists create sand paintings in the gallery, Native American art collector and trader Vince Ferrari of Farmington, N. M., will interpret the stories, the art relays through inherent symbolism as well as describe the traditional Navajo ceremony in which sand painting originated.

"It's an exciting art, a very affordable form of art," said Becky Dodson, co-owner of Native West gallery with husband Doug. "It's of true cultural significance. The Navajo use sand paintings in healing ceremonies."

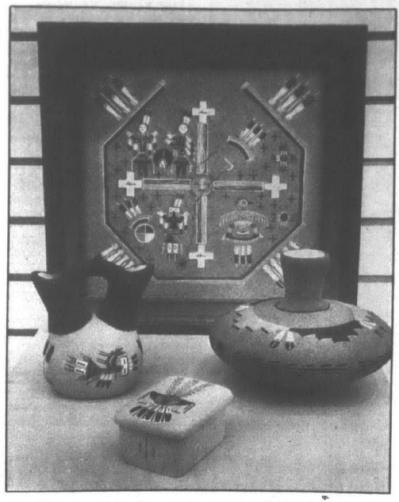

Navajo sand painting art is the permanent form of ceremonial paintings created with sacred-colored sand by a Shaman (Medicine Man) to restore health and harmony in a individual. For more than 300 years, the Navajo have used herbs, chants and sand paintings to heal their people.

UNTIL 25 years ago, the ceremonial symbols were not recorded due to a dictum that a painting must be destroyed the day of the ceremony; its secret powers cast to the wind along with the illness before the sun sets.

Hidden from outsiders, the sacred designs were revealed for the first time in 1890 when a Navajo woman used a ceremonial design in a rug, exchanging it for goods with a

The Shaman uses five sacred colors ground by hand from rocks, sandstone and minerals to create a symbolic ceremonial design; white obtained from gypsum; blue from criscola; black from the volcanic substance, magnatite; yellow from sulphur or uranium oxide; and red from sandstone or clay.

After completing the painting, the Shaman touches a specific figure in the painting, then touches the person now sitting in the middle of it, thus transferring its powerful medicine.

Landscapes Watercolors showcase nature

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Watercolor landscapes of subjects ranging from the Grand Canyon to the seaboard make up a Livonia Arts Commission-sponsored exhibition of traditional and abstract paintings by Dearborn artist Lily Dudgeon.

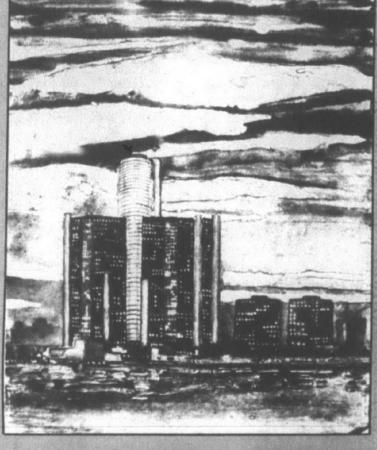

The show runs through Sept. 27 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Dudgeon has exhibited work in group shows at the Scarab Club in Detroit, Paint Creek Gallery in Rochester, Detroit Artists Market, Farmington Artists Club, Kendall School of Design in Grand Rapids, Michigan State Law Library in Lansing, Michigan Watercolor Society and Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

HER WATERCOLORS have graced three covers of the Michigan Bar Journal. The most recent was in August when "Ren Cen at Twilight" lured viewers in for a closer look at the layers of sky, alternating midnight blue and pink. The painting and cover are both on display in Livonia. "Ren Cen at Twilight" is priced at $375.

"Tern-a-fishing-goes" is a dynamic seascape that catches the lyrical movement of the sea and a bird on the wing. It's priced at

Alexander Blue House restoration: a labor of love

COMPLETION IS at least three years away.

But the Alexander Blue House at Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village is taking shape as a setting for conferences, meetings and parties, thanks to a devoted group of history buffs.

David Koskela is preparing architectural plans for phased interior restoration of the 141-year-old house, once home to a Livonia Township civic leader. The Livonia architect has done both volunteer and paid work on the Blue House project.

The Livonia Historical Society hopes to see the two-story, 11-room house used not only as a conference and meeting center but also a reception hall for Newburg Church at Greenmead. Period furnishings will reflect 1880s Livonia Townshin.

reflect 1880s Livonia Township.
"The idea is for the house to be income-producing — self-supporting," said Sue Daniel, who chairs the Blue House restoration committee. Livonia's largest preservation effort, the Blue House is a fitting beneficiary of the historical society's annual progressive dinner, coming up again Saturday. "The house came from the historically significant Elm Station area of cally significant Elm Station area of Livonia, and it's the only building at Greenmead that's Italianate," said Marian Lynch, society president.

The first five progressive dinners netted $15,000 toward the $250,000 needed to restore the Blue House. Overall fund-raising has generated $56,000. Top donors include the society, the city, the Friends of Greenmead and the Sauk Trail Questers.

IN 1987, the white clapboard

Bob Sklar

house was moved from the American Retirement Residence site, Middlebelt north of Schoolcraft, to Greenmead. The move was paid for in part by a $25,000 donation from Livonia's 16th District Court.

Today, the former home of Alexander Blue sports fresh paint, a graded lot and repairs to the roof and chimney. A new furnace and basement floor are next, courtesy of the Friends of Greenmead.

"We need to find some really good fund-raiser," Daniel said. One idea is to host a decorators' showcase at the Blue House. Furniture stores would adopt a room and furnish it. The public would be invited to tour the dressed-up house for a small donation.

Alexander Blue was a New York native. He came to Michigan with his parents at 15 in 1832, five years before statehood.

He bought 80 acres to farm and later built the house now at Greenmead. A former county auditor and township supervisor, he served as a Livonia justice of the peace for 28 years starting in 1846.

peace for 28 years starting in 1846.

"We've sent paint samples to a lab in Philadelphia to help us determine when certain parts of his house were put on," Daniel said.

GREENMEAD BOOSTERS will devote more time to the Blue House as other village restoration projects move along.

By the end of the year, the turn-ofthe-century Geer bungalow will be restored at a cost of $56,000.

Restoration will continue another 2-3 years on the Alexander Blue Office, moved from Middlebelt in 1979, and the Quaker Meeting House, moved from Seven Mile in 1981. Both will be restored to 1850s vintage.

The Alexander Blue Office, a small, single-story building with clapboard siding, was used as farm outbuilding in later years.

The city acquired the Quaker Meeting House in 1962. It later served as a historical museum and a meeting place for historians.

Meanwhile, the Livonia Historical Commission has unveiled plans to stabilize 10 buildings at Greenmead's Simmons/Hill farm complex. An 11th building, a ramshackle carriage house, will be dismantled and rebuilt with original materials.

Detroit architect Mike Kirk, who is noted for historical preservation, has drawn up plans for the $70,000 phased stabilization project.

As for the Blue House, make no mistake: Its future hinges on a test of nerves.

As Daniel put it: "There's no doubt we can put even more effort in the Blue House — if we all don't wear out first."

Bob Sklar is assistant managing editor for special projects.

Native West to turn spotlight on Navajo art

Navajo artists Begay and Tsosie will demonstrate traditional sand painting during the three-day exhibition at Native West. Their secrets passed down verbally through the generations, Tsosie at age 14 learned ceremonial sand painting from her father.

The husband and wife painting team recently began to enter their work in competition. They took first place and Best of Category at the 1991 O'odham Tash Celebration and third place at the 1990 Inter-Tribal Ceremonial in Gallup.

Created in a southwestern palette of turquoise, sand and black, "Storm and Lightning" features a finely sketched design that relays the message: to balance nature.

The eagles take prayers from man to the Great Spirit. Stars in the black box represent the North Star and the Milky Way. Feathers surround the painting to protect it, each feather counting as a prayer.

WHILE THE couple is painting. Vince Ferrari of Arroyo Trading Co. will explain the symbols used in the ceremonially designed works.

"Vince knows everything about sand painting. He's very colorful and knowledgeable. He's the biggest wholesaler and retailer of sand paintings in the country," Dodson

The sand paintings on exhibit at Native West contain sacred colors that sooth and quiet the soul. Because the paintings are made of natural elements from the Earth, sun can not harm or bleach them. They require very little care; a simple dusting is all that's

"Vince will be bringings hundreds of sand paintings for the show in every price range from $5 to $5,000. He'll have sand paintings for someone who'd like to add a Native American accent to their home, up to the person who's a serious collector," Dodson said.

The sand paintings range in size from 3 by 6 inches to 24 by 24 inches. Lamps, pottery and jewelry boxes decorated with sand paintings will also be displayed.

"Vince will also be taking orders, if someone would like a different color or size sand painting," Dodson

SAND PAINTINGS by Navajo artists other than traditional are included in the special exhibition

Jerald Sherman, one of the most talented creators of modern sand art, will also have work in the show.

Sherman uses modern still lifes and shading techniques to create light within a composition. His paintings are mixed media, incorporating sand, oil and acrylic.

The Navajo see the the universe as a delicately balanced environment filled with powerful forces that have a potential for good or evil.

Native West hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Saturday and until 8 p.m. Thursday. Sunday hours are 1-5 p.m. Call the gallery

Art class' focus: abstract painting

Pendleton Club

Condominiums in Farmington Hills

Artist Leslie Masters will share her talents and teaching expertise with students in a new class, Abstract Painting, at Schoolcraft College beginning Thursday, Sept. 19.

The classes will meet 7-10 p.m. for 11 weeks. For registration information, call Schoolcraft College, Continuing Education Services, 462-4448. Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty Road (just south of Seven Mile), Livonia.

This hands-on, studio class will study the roots of modern art starting with the breakup of realistic painting in the late 19th century. The fall sessions review the line quality of Matisse. Using a still life set-up, students will learn contour drawing and gradually abstract objects with

Students will also "take a line for a walk" by using a continuous line to express various movements such as running, walking, jumping and emotions such as anger and joy.

MASTERS REVIEWS the influence of Franz Kline, a source of study of the expressionist abstract stroke. Students will experiment with lines using a large brush and black and white paint.

The class will study the Fauve movement, creating bright landscapes with colored line; Van Gogh's brush stroke, creating self portraits; and Kandinsky's "Point Line and Plane" theory, with students creating abstract geometric paintings.

Oil and acrylic painters will explore line with all of these exercises. Painting skills are helpful, but not necessary to take this class.

Masters has taught for the Bir-mingham-Bloomfield Art Association, the Ann Arbor Art Association and Mercy College in Detroit, where she was design director.

She was assistant director for the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association for 11 years and design and color theory instructor at the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit for Masters has had many one-person shows of her own work, as well as group shows both locally (Rubiner Gallery in West Blomfield, Detroit Institute of Art and Detroit Artists Market) and nationally.

Don't lose heads in photo composition

Have you ever picked up your prints from your photo-finisher only to discover that the top of grandma's head has been chopped off? Or perhaps you inadvertently cut off in the viewfinder one of the petals in that shot of your prized orchid.

If guilty, you're not alone. Too many amateur photographers don't pay close enough attention to the edge of the frame when they compose their shots.

Taking a second, hard look through the viewfinder and making necessary adjustments will eliminate the elementary mistakes such as cutting off heads. But how should you decide to crop or frame the picture in the viewfinder with respect to the edge of the frame?

short takes

• The Giant Used Carnera Show and Model Shoot - Photorama USA is scheduled 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 15, at the Dearborn Civic Center, 15801 Michigan Ave. at Greenfield. Admission is $5. For more information, call 884-2242.

More than 100 dealers will display a variety of photo equipment and antique and collectable photography items. Most of the dealers will be prepared to buy, sell or trade equipment. Also featured will be free workshops on model photography, in which the public may participate, and a free shutter check.

• Monte Nagler's fall photography classes will take place Tuesday, Sept. 24, at the Community Center of Farmington/Farmington Hills (call 477-8404 for information) and Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the Birmingham Community House (644-5832).

photography

Monte Nagler

A good way to begin is to move your camera closer to or farther from the subject, perhaps even change the angle of view.

The best way to test this method is to choose a static subject such as a building or statue. Try verticle or horizontal.

ASK YOURSELF which way looks strongest and works best? Are you allowing enough breathing room at the top of the structure? Are you backing up too far so that distracting may be entering the veiwfinder?

If taking a portrait, is your background what you want and is there enough framing edge around the face? Sometimes you may want to crop severely, perhaps placing the edge of the frame right through your subject's forehead. This method is fine for a dramatic portrait. Fashion photographers often use this tech-

I've seen many pictures of flowers and churches where the tip of a petal or the top of the steeple just touches the edge of the frame. Doing so adds a degree of tension to the shot. So either crop in tightly or back off to achieve a more comfortable edge to the frame.

I paid a lot of attention to the edge of the frame in the environmental portrait shown here. In fact, I spent many minutes studying the composition and the frame edging before I asked this charming and agreeable Greek woman to step in the door-

I WANTED her at the extreme right side of the composition framed

Monte Nagler paid careful attention to the edges of his composition in this environmental portrait taken recently in a village, Amari, in Crete.

by the doorway with the entire edge of the picture framed by the whitewash of her house. Notice how important the window and flower pots are to the overall impact of the shot.

Don't forget, a finished print can often be improved by altering the edge of the frame.

A photo of a long, thin subject, for example, benefits by being trimmed to this shape. Look at your finished prints and see what improvements can be made by imaginative edge trimming. All it takes is a pair of scissors.

Monte Nagler is a professional photographer based in Farmington Hills.

Architect drawings cataloged

Cranbrook Educational Commu nity will begin cataloging nearly 10,000 architectural, engineering and landscape architecture drawings with the support of a $45,000 grant from the Getty Grant Program of the J. Paul Getty Trust, said Mark Coir, Cranbrook archives director

The Bloomfield Hillscollection includes drawings and renderings by noted Finnish architects Eliel and Eero Saarinen, Albert Kahn, Samuel Yellin and other architects and designers associated with the development of Cranbrook.

Most of the drawings were produced by Eliel Saarinen and draftsmen working under him in the Cranbrook Architectural Office, established in 1926. The collection was assembled from the late 1920s through the early 1940s.

The drawings will be cataloged on Cranbrook Educational Community's QUIXIS system, computer software designed specifically for itemizing museum collections. After cataloging, the drawings will be stored in acid-free folders in the Cranbrook Archives vault. Long range plans call for transferring the documents to microfilm for easier access.

The plans have been invaluable to architects and contractors working on the Cranbrook property. The Archives receive several requests for specific plans each month from museum curators, campus planners, landscape architects, historians and students Cranbrook's designation as a National Historic Landmark adds to the significance of this project. Cataloging the collection is expected to take one year.

Restaurateur serves up arts fund-raiser

daff writer

In the wake of Gov. John Engler's deep cuts in state arts funding, a Bloomfield Hills restaurateur has unveiled a novel idea to help support cultural jewels like Cranbrook Academy of Art.

Jim Kokas' Opus One, at 565 E. Larned in downtown Detroit's Bricktown, will mix fine dining with entertainment and special exhibits in a bld to raise $10,000 to $20,000 weekly for the arts over the next five

He and his partners also will donate 50 percent of food revenue from a la carte weekday dinners

ferent arts institution

At least $10,000 was raised for the arts at the $100 a person kickoff din-ner, "Opus for the Arts," Friday.

Hoping to deepen allegiance to the cultural enrichment provided by the arts, Kokas told 230 dinner-goers, many from the Observer & Eccentric area: "It is up to each of us as individuals and our community as a whole to support the arts in every way possible."

"OPUS FOR the Arts" will bene-

• Sept. 9-13 - Center for Creative Studies (students will display musical and artistic talents).

 Sept. 16-20 — Detroit Institute of Arts (posters from DIA exhibits will adorn the walls).

· Sept. 23-27 - Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO sounds will fill the restaurant).

• Sept. 30-Oct. 4 - Cranbrook Academy of Art (works by academy artists and students will be displayed). Oct. 7-11 — Michigan Opera

Theatre (MOT singers will perform opera sets and show tunes). "This shows incredible initiative," said Roy Slade, president of Cranbrook Academy of Art, a Bloomfield Hills graduate school of art, architecture and design founded in 1932 by Eliel Saarinen.

day of our week with a contingent from the Cranbrook Educational Community Board of Governors, including chairman Pat Hartmann — dutch treat for all."

THIS YEAR, the Academy, which includes a contemporary visual arts museum, drew $133,800 in state support, 60 percent of its anticipated grant of $223,000. The $223,000 represents 10 percent of the Academy

Slade hopes to draw at least $100,000 next year. "One of our concerns," he said, "is how abrupt the government budget cut was. We had hoped for time to seek alternative sources of funding."

State funding goes into public out-reach and education — exhibits, lectures, tours and brochures at the museum and student scholarships at the Eight corporate sponsors have agreed to match one-fifth ($2,000 to $4,000) of all weekly restaurant donations during "Opus for the Arts:" Blue Cross and Blue Shield, Comerica, Coopers & Lybrand, Cross Wrock, Detroit Edison, J. Walter Thompson, Kowalski Sausage and Universal Standard Medical Labora-

Calling the arts a community pillar, Slade urged Oakland County businesses to follow the example set by Kokas and partners Ed Mandziara of Sterling Heights, George Bletsas of Grosse Ile and Gus Kokas of Dearborn

OPUS ONE patrons Friday in cluded Ron and Deb Muratore of Farmington Hills. "We're losing a valuable part of our cultural heritage through the arts cuts," Ron said. "I don't feel future generations should have less of that heritage than we have."

"We just think it's appropriate for private enterprise and individuals to pick up where the public sector leaves off so we'll be able to appreciate and teach the arts in future generations," said Livonia resident Richard Halseth, attending with his wife, Judith.

O ART CLASSES

Plymouth Community Arts Council begins its fall schedule of art classes for children and adults

Qualified art instructors teach the classes. They include a variety of media: pottery, sculpture, painting, cartooning and photography.

For class details and to register, visit the council office at 332 S. Main, Plymouth, from 9 a.m. to noon weekdays. Or call 455-5260.

• FIGURINES SPOTLIGHTED

The creator of Sarah's Attic figurines, Sarah Schultz, will make a special appearance from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, at Country Charm, 884 Penniman, Plymouth.

Schultz owns Sarah's Attic, a Chesaning company that produces handpainted figurines recycled from crushed pecan shells. The company makes 21 lines of figurines, including the Daisy, Cottontail, Santas of the Month and Black Heritage col-

Schultz began the company on a dining room table in 1983. She now employs 175. Each figurine is signed with the registered trademark of Sarah's

ROSY ENCOUNTER

Detroit Rose Society's fall rose show will be Saturday-Sunday, Sept. 14-15, at Laurel Park Place Mall, Six Mile at Newburgh, Livonia.

HOME DECORATIONS

Schoolcraft College will help you decorate your home with style with Interior Design II, a course where emphasis is placed on using proper design elements, planning room layouts, and selecting furniture to suit individual needs.

The class will meet for 12 weeks, 6-8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 16. The fee is $59.

Techniques for choosing quality furniture, drawing interior architecture, working within a budget and measuring for wallpaper and window treatments will be presented.

To enroll or receive further information, contact the office of Continuing Services at 462-4448. Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile, Livonia.

• FEATURE WRITING

Class work will cover identifying the soft story as opposed to the breaking or hard news story; interview techniques - preparing questions, style and approach; work pictures; viewpoint - first person versus third person and more.

Student assignments will include reading, discussing, interviewing, writing and other practical learning experiences that focus on feature writ-

HOLIDAY GATHERINGS

If you're planning a holiday-season event, we'd like to hear about it so we can consider it as a calendar item in our Gift Guide.

That annual special section comes out on Thanksgiving Day.

The listing should include the kind of activity or event, who's hosting it, the date, time and location, the admission charge, and the name of a contact person and phone number.

Mail listing information to: Special Sections Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The deadline is Oct. 1.

Glamour of sales positions belies hard work

By Doug Funke staff writer

There's always room in the real estate business for agents who produce results. But if you believe anyone can just walk in and mine a fortune with little preparation or effort, think again.

It takes time to prepare for the state licensing exam — at least 40 hours of classroom instruction — then maybe another couple months to learn the ropes and close that first deal, established professionals say.

The income statement may initially show a big zero or even a loss considering that virtually all agents are self-employed, responsible for their own expenses and are paid only on commission after a sale.

One million dollars in annual sales today would put you at the poverty level, at least one veteran said.

A theoretical example illustrates. An agent sells 10 houses each valued at $100,000. The agent is also the listing agent for five. A 6-percent commission on each sale would yield $22,500 to the agent. Commissions are divided among listing agents and realty firms.

NOW CONSIDER all the time an agent spends trying to match buyer with seller. Hosting weekend open houses. On call virtually around the clock to show houses, present offers, expedite paperwork.

And expenses. Pre-licensing classes offered by realty firms, community colleges and adult education programs can cost upwards of $120. Board entry fees also will cost several hundred dollars and multi-list fees can run up to $70 month. So don't bother, right?

Wrong. Just know what you're getting into. And know that brokers and managers are always looking for enthusiastic people willing to learn.

"I think you have to be very much a self-starter, strongly motivated," said Bette Ball, assistant manager of the Birmingham office for Chamberlain Realtors.

"There are so many details you have to take care of. No one is going to prompt you to do the details yourself."

Paul Koepke, a broker and general manager at the West Bloomfield office of Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke, picked up on Ball's train of one who lives in the area they're servicing. We look for people who are well educated, established in the community, have tie-ins with various clubs, organizations, churches, synagogues.

Tom Lewarne, sales manager at Century 21 Today in Livonia, described what he looks for when interviewing prospective agents.

"We try to determine if they have self-motivation, a good feel for working with the general public. They must be able to be flexible with people," he said.

Most firms won't work with agents until they pass the state exam. Then, many make in-house training available at no extra charge.

What we teach people in offices and new people is how to list, how to prepare a purchase agreement, host open houses, farm an area, telephone techniques," Ball said.

The lure of unlimited income potential is what draws many to sales work generally, and real estate specifically. But sometimes, expectations exceed reality.

"THEY THINK it will be real easy money," Lewarne said. "Once they find out what's involved, the processing that goes into effect, it's not easy money but money earned."

The days of dabbling in real estate on a part-time basis are pretty much over, professionals agree.

But teachers, engineers, nurses, police officers and people in other sales fields all have successfully made the transition. So what separates the wheat from the chaff?

"Work hard, a lot of hours," Koepke said. "It also requires people skills, a lot of sensitivity, a lot of empathetic understanding for what the process is and what people go through moving from one area to another."

Responded Lewarne: "The ability to be personable . . . to have enthusiasm to make people happy."

That, in turn, leads to referrals the key to success, he said. "You make one couple happy, they'll send you two or three more."

"Be willing to put in a lot of time and work hard and, you will be successful," Ball said. "I guess that's true of many professions."

Association fails to impress judge with parking issue

I am the president of our condominium association and have recently had an experience in circuit court in behalf of the association. We sued to enforce a parking restriction. The judge did not sympathize with the association's position, thinking that we were involved in a petty item. He did not award us any attorney fees and seemed to shrug off the whole proceeding. How can we make it clear to judges that the conduct of condominium business is serious and needs the help of the courts to enforce the documents?

One of the ways that is problem

condo queries Robert M. Melsner can be limited is by bringing it to the attention of the bar and bench as you have done by submitting this question. Unfortunately, some judges do not consider community association problems to be of the magnitude and severity that would require their undivided attention and concern as opposed to other pressing matters that they have on their docket.

While condominium problems may not be of the magnitude of criminal violations, obviously they are of a serious nature in regard to the manner in which community relations between persons can be fostered. If the courts do not recognize the right of the association to enforce the documents by providing for relief for community associations as well as reimbursement of its costs and attorney fees, the viability of the community association in terms of its success will be severely challenged. I hope that as more and more community associations and condominiums become developed, judges will become more concerned. When the next judicial election occurs, invite the candidates to attend your association meeting.

I am interested in developing a motel condominium in a resort area of northern Michigan. Can you tell me what your experience has been in developing these types of condominium projects in terms of their viability in this area?

Motel condominiums have been successful in various tourist areas such as Florida and California. But as is the case with any other type of recreational condominium, tight restrictions must be imposed with respect to the use and occupancy of the

Sufficient studies should be undertaken to determine whether a motel condominium can be sold similar to a time-share in the sale of weeks as opposed to the right to use the condominium motel over a period of months or years. The documents should retain sufficient flexibility to convert part of the motel into another type of rental property without necessarily encumbering the entire project as a condominium. These aspects of planning should be carefully thought about before the condominium project is established.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney concentrating his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate and corporate law.

Smart House nears reality

By Doug Funke

A Troy builder figures that smart buyers who can afford it will want to live in a brand new Smart House at some point in their lives.

And Donald L. Pratt, president of Wake-Pratt in Troy, doesn't want to wait 10 or 15 years for demand to catch up with the technology.

Pratt intends to build a demonstration model now to showcase the innovative wiring system that can provide automatic activation of home appliances, utilities and security systems.

Groundbreaking at an Oakland Township site is planned for this month or next, the grand opening for

"I think people are looking for ways of living more comfortably and living a more enjoyable lifestyle," Pratt said. "Yuppies are demanding more than when we were growing up."

Floor plans for Pratt's demonstration model — a story and a half of 3,300 square feet with a lower walkout level - show a living room/family room, dining room, kitchen, half bath, foyer and master suite on the first floor, three bedrooms and two full baths on the second. Plus a three-car garage.

THE WALKOUT area will be used as a presentation center and sales office during the two months that Pratt has exclusive rights to showcase the Smart House in Detroit Edison's service area.

People familiar with Smart House capabilities will be at several spots in the home and in the presentation center to point out special features and answer questions. Visitors will be able to play with mock systems to get a feel for the concept.

"If they don't understand what they're looking at, touching, feeling, they won't understand what it's all about," Pratt said.

The model will be priced for sale at $350,000-$400,000, he said.

Special Smart House wiring, a combination of low-voltage and traditional electrical lines, provides numerous automating capabilities for a house.

"It integrates in such a way you can control any portion of the house from any other portion," Pratt said. This is all done through computers. You can lock doors, monitor the baby's room, turn lights on and off, lock out

Cable TV and telephone service could be available at any outlet in the house. Appliances like ovens, microwaves and clothes dryers could be activated from anywhere inside or outside of the house with a push button telephone.

"IT GIVES better opportunity to manage (electrical) usage," said William J. Steele, builder/developer liaison for Detroit Edison.

The basic wiring of a Smart House now costs about $5,000 more than to wire a house the traditional way, Pratt said. Customers would spend another $10,000-$40,000 on controls for specific conveniences they want.

"Eventually, the same thing that happened to calculators will happen to Smart House - it will become more economical after we get all the bugs out," Pratt said.

Progress has been slow but steady. The specialized wiring system took several years to develop. Code approvals were obtained. Only a couple of manufacturers make the wiring now. Investors in Smart House products are gradually in-troducing the concept in different parts of the country so that the process goes smoothly.

Pratt, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders, jumped on the bandwagon about five years ago. His uncle, Ted Pratt, a founder of the building company, was an early investor on the national scene. "It's not that we want to be pioneers," Don Pratt said. 'We believe in it. It's something we feel is going to be used. We want to have the technology to be a front-

Detroit Edison, which has limited exclusive promotional rights to Smart House due to its involvement on the Smart House advisory board, selected Wake-Pratt from among seven area applicants as its builder.

"We looked at number of years as a builder, type of house built, involvement with the national, state and local association," Steele said.

December date set eck the halls for

By Doug Funke staff writer

The Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan is taking a gamble by scheduling its annual Homearama - a showcase of idea homes - for Dec. 6-22.

In previous years, the show has been held in spring or early in the fall. The weather in December can be dicey, and people get busy with seasonal activities.

But organizers say they're anxious to see how visitors respond when walking through 13 new detached site condominiums decorated for the holidays in the Riverbridge Subdivision of Novi.

'We're just trying different times of the year to see what best fits the public's needs and our needs," said Dennis Dickstein, chairman of Homearama and owner of Ralph Manuel Associates, Birmingham. "Having it become darker earlier we feel is a benefit - the light of the houses . . . and holiday decorations will only add to the ambiance," he added. "We'll try it. If it doesn't work out, we'll try it at a different Dickstein said he's hoping for an attendance of 65,000-75,000.

Some 65,000 turned out last spring for a Homearama in Shelby Township and 50,000 for a fall Homearama in Brighton, a spokesman for the builder's association said.

"THE OVERALL purpose is to promote the building industry and the image builders have . . . and to let people be aware of innovations products available," Dickstein said of the show.

All 13 Homearama units are now under construction and on schedule, said Herbert Lawson, developer of the property.

We thought it was a unique opportunity to do something really different." he said of the timetable. "Minneapolis had a successful winter Homearama. We wanted to try

"At that time of the year (December), there's not a lot of excitement in building and real estate. We're going to be doing a holiday theme with various decorations. It certainly should be something quite unique," Lawson said.

This year's Homearama will have another interesting twist.

The builders selected to participate were strongly encouraged to keep their listing prices including construction, lot and landscaping to $250,000 or less, Lawson said.

Houses in recent Homearamas have exceeded $500,000.

'WE WANTED to get more into a saleable price range rather than just an elite range," Dickstein said.

"Our site has 55 home sites," Lawson said. "We're surrounded by a river, a creek and a large berm. There are a lot of large trees. It has sort of an up-north feel to it."

Six of the 10 builders selected for Homearama are in Observer & Eccentric communities. They include Fairway Construction, Southfield; BBC Group, Farmington Hills; Soave Building Co., Livonia; Michigan Custom Home Builders Group, Livonia; D&J Property Development, Canton; and Cohen Associates, West Bloomfield.

The other builders are Biondo Designers and Builders in Northville; Cornerstone Building Inc., Novi; and Pulte Homes of Michigan, Royal

Partners split to form separate companies

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

One of the area's most successful longtime residential building teams has gone separate ways.

Nosan/Cohen Associates of West Bloomfield is no more. The replacement companies are Nosan Enterprises and Cohen Associates, both in West Bloomfield.

The parting was amicable. Working in a partnership was both productive and lucrative for the Nosan/Cohen team, but it was also restrictive, both said. Lawrence Cohen, president of Cohen Associates, said that the idea of going separate ways probably began earlier this year — either late winter or ear-

They didn't actually split up until near the end of June, after they had worked out how existing projects like Stonebridge in West Bloomfield and Woods of Novi in Novi would be handled.

Other Nosan/Cohen residential projects are Sable Pointe in West Bloomfield and Maple Woods in Novi. They also built the Novi Professional Village and Maple Park Office Center, also in Novi.

'Everything that we've done together that's in progress, we'll still have a shared interest in," Cohen said. That includes their projects as well as joint ventures with other builders.

'We wanted to make sure people (in earlier projects) won't have to worry about whether we're still going to be here."

Both he and Nosan value their reputations in the building industry and don't want to jeopardize that name - individually or as a building team, he said.

COHEN SAID the two dissolved their partnership because each wished to do different things. "Things won't change much for me," he said.

Cohen Associates in West Bloomfield will focus its energies on production housing much as Nosan/ Cohen did, Cohen said. Whether that will include buying and developing property for his own subdivisions or purchasing lots in pre-developed subdivisions will depend on the property.

But production housing isn't all Cohen will be doing.

Cohen has also started a new venture with Great Lakes Prudential vice president Charles Sower. The venture purchases lakefront property and builds homes based on successful Nosan/Cohen models of the past.

The idea is to provide custom quality homes at substantial savings to homeowners — basically bringing the $1 million lakefront home into the $500,000 price range.

TERRY NOSAN, president of Nosan Enterprises in West Bloomfield, said that while he enjoyed his time spent as a partner in Nosan/Cohen Associates, the time had come to move on and try different things - things that might not have worked in a partnership.

'Everything that we've done together that's in progress, we'll still have a shared interest in.'

— Lawrence Cohen

Things will be much different for Nosan, who is virtually starting from scratch.

When I left, all I took with me was me.'

Nosan said he will be focusing his efforts on custom, more expensive homes where there is more contact between he and the buyer. "That was something I missed (while working with Nosan/Cohen)."

Nosan said that while he and Cohen were accessible to home buyers, most of the customer interaction was handled by sales and construction people.

Now that he's starting over, there will be a lot more one-on-one, hands-on interaction with buyers, brokers and architects.

"I enjoy that sort of thing." Nosan said he isn't ruling out partnerships in the future, but they will be partnerships for individual

"I like deal partnerships - where you work with another builder, another developer or even a nonbuilder for one job.'

Nosan said he is also interested in a more controlled environment. Under the partnership he wasn't always able to play things as fast and as loose as he hopes he will in the future.

One other area Nosan said he will be exploring is land acquisition, rezoning and development. Once the property is ready, he will sell lots, but it's unlikely he will build subdivision homes for a while. "I might do some site condos that look like houses, but that's about it." "You could do all this (within the bounds of a partnership), but it's hard to value what your contribution is," he said. While working together, each would come up with ideas for projects that really didn't fit the Nosan/Cohen Associates mold. That meant not doing projects that the two didn't agree on, he said. "If I had a whim or something he might perceive as a screwy idea — or if he had an idea I didn't agree with — in fairness to the partnership, neither of us could do it. 'Now, I can say, 'Hey, I'll do it anyway,' " he

"I'm actually enjoying the idea that I don't have a program," Nosan added. "I think it will be healthy for both of us."

Builders referral guide written for house hunters

One of the problems with house hunting is that there isn't a comprehensive way to find out what builders are doing out there.

Radio, television and newspaper ads are successful in some instances particularly when hunting by location or but what about the home-owner who searches by builder?

That's where the builders referral

Available from the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, the builders referral file - which will be updated monthly — lists houses and building sites by builder. Shacon Joseph, administrative assistant, at the builders association, said the referral file is a service for members. "It's a way to promote

Joseph said the option of being included in the referral file is available to both new and old members. New members receive an application form with their welcome to the association literature, and existing members receive application forms periodically in association

'I've even taken submissions over the phone," she said.

Currently, the referral file is divided by county and subdivided by

All builders listed in the directory are professionally licensed and members in good standing with the aged to check references and previous workmanship in prospective builders, she said.

John Hughes, owner of New England Development in Westland, said although he wasn't aware of his inclusion in the builders referral file he is supportive of the idea.

JOSEPH REBH, owner of Home stead Builders in Farmington Hills, said builders are constantly looking for ways to attract buyers.

Architects work to help seniors "age in place"

Aging in place, a new concept based on a long tradition, helps people who are growing older to remain in their own homes for as long as possible by tailoring home environments to meet the needs of the elder-

The concept, a response to people living longer than ever before, is a timeless practice with a snappy new name and a slight difference.

Housing is remodeled or built new with features that make independent living easier for those who have such diminished physical capacities such as reduced hearing or less endur-

"By the year 2000, 25 percent of our population is going to be over age 65. The fastest growing segment is 80-year-olds," said J. Robert Gillette, president of American House, Retirement Residences, a network of homes for "frail" older people in such communities as Rochester Hills, Birmingham, Farmington Hills, Livonia and Westland.

Expansion at the Rochester Hills facility highlights aging-in-place fea-tures for residents who, while physically restricted, are mentally alert,

"A Comprehensive Guide to Retrofitting Homes for a Lifetime," published by the National Association of Home Builders' Research Center in Maryland, offers remodeling tips based on studies of transformed housing in Tucson, Miami and Winston-Salem, N.C., said Lenny Rickman of the research center's special-needs housing program.

The center is in the forefront of remodeling tips, Rickman said.

"The most important areas to modify, the best places to start, are the kitchen and bathroom. They are the areas most important to safety and comfort," Rickman said.

The biggest improvement, he added, are support bars in the bathroom, both by the tub or shower and the toilet. Installation may be minor or major, depending upon wall support

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS are flexible shower hoses and heads that can be manipulated by hand, sinks with single-handle faucet systems and stoves with controls at the front so the user doesn't have to reach over hot burners or a heated oven.
