Bond vote

Don't forget to vote tomorrow. Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is seeking approval of a $59.7 million bond issue to pay for two new elementaries and capital improvements throughout the district. Included would be $12 million in high technology equipment for K-12 students and staff.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters unsure of their polling place may call elections clerk Bernice Nichols at the board office at 451-3135.

Bond issue funds also would be used to add classrooms to three existing elementaries, as well as to Canton and Salem high schools. The district uses 22 portable classrooms to relieve overcrowding at the elementary, middle and high schools.

Teaching writing

Donald Graves, a pioneer in the writing-literacy movement and author of several books on how teachers can teach writing, will discuss those topics in a presentation scheduled for 4-5:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 26, at Plymouth Canton High School's Little Theatre. There is a $5 fee for out-of-district participants for the presentation. For more information, call the school's cultural center at 451-6711.

Contest

The Plymouth Community Arts Council is sponsoring a contest for original art work for the city's 1992 color calendar. It's open to all ages and the deadline for submissions is Oct. 15. Submit photos or art work depicting life in Plymouth to city hall, 201 S. Main, Plymouth, 48170, in care of Carol Stone. All entries should include the artist's name, age, address, telephone number, title and medium used.

Bulk mail

Postal customers wanting to mail more than a tray-full of bulk mail are being asked to make those mailings at the new post office on Beck Road, as the post office on Penniman downtown is no longer accepting large bulk mailings. All other services remain the same at the downtown post office, a postal employee said.

Store moves

There's joy at Country Charm, an award-winning store at 884 Penniman. Owners Jane and Larry Bird will be the new tenants of the former Del's Shoes, the longtime Plymouth business that recently went out of business.

Larry Bird — former police officer turned entrepreneur — says he and Jane have big plans for the 3,000-square-foot space at 322 S. Main.

Look for a grand opening in January or February.

Exchange students

The Plymouth Rotary Club is looking for students ages 16-18 years old to be foreign exchange students.

The program runs from August 1992 through July 1993. Students can go to 22 countries.

For more information, contact Marie Morrow at 453-6879 or 456-2771.

Loan cancelled GM calls back its workers, leaves chamber volunteerless

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce is crying the blues in the wake of General Motors' announcement that its laid-off employees will no longer help out at the chamber office. And the chamber is sounding the call for new volunteers.

For nearly two years, Don Masta and Bob Prewitt of Delco have assisted the chamber's three full-time staffers under auspices of GM's model job banks program. Rather than idling employees, GM has paid its laid-off employees to work full-time at non-profit agencies in the community.

For Masta, it's been an education. "I never knew what a chamber did," said Masta, as he stuffed envelopes on his last day.

"When I first came, I knew the area better than the people who work here, but I didn't know how to answer the phone," said the longtime Plymouth resident. "But I was trained, and when I started work, during the ice festival, I answered 700 phone calls my first day. I sat at a file cabinet in a tiny-space. It was pretty wild."

CHAMBER DIRECTOR Fran Toney is wondering how she'll survive without Masta and Prewitt, who returned to Delco several weeks ago.

"It's like losing your water, your trash pick-up or your garbage disposal. You don't realize how vital they are until you lose them," said Toney.

One of the most helpful things Prewitt and Masta did

'I never knew what a chamber did. When I first came, I knew the area better than the people who work here, but I didn't know how to answer the phone.'

— Don Masta

for the chamber was answer the phones. On a typical day, people from places as distant as Texas and Louisiana call with questions ranging from the mundane to the bizarre. Having volunteers willing to respond is a huge help, says the chamber's Sharon Yankello.

"Yesterday, an 80-year-old woman called, all upset about her dog being stuck at Puppyland. She said her daughter was going to pick up the dog, but couldn't because she'd locked her keys in the car at a store in Farmington," said Yankello.

"We had someone else call here wanting to know how to spell a word."

"We recently had a woman call asking about the brand of a particular bra she was trying to find," said Toney.

"At the chamber, there's no such answer as I don't know," added Toney. "We don't ever say we have all the answers, but we have the phone numbers."

Superstore to stay put in Plymouth

Big ongoing changes for the city's biggest taxpayer, Highland Superstores Inc., won't include a move out of Plymouth, a company official said.

"We have no plans to leave Plymouth," said Danette Wineberg, Highland vice president.

Her comment came Thursday, nearly a week after Highland reported huge losses in the second quarter of the fiscal year.

The losses resulted largely from the company closing 32 stores in Texas and New England, which resulted in a $63.2 million loss, or $3.46 per share.

Highland had predicted write-offs of as much as $70 million in leaving the two markets.

Without the restructuring charge, Highland lost $5.1 million in its second quarter ending July 31. The company blamed the recession and continued weak demand for home electronics and appliances.

Annually, Highland pays $525,977 in taxes to the city.

Second quarter sales were $135.6 million compared with $305.7 million in the same quarter last year.

The company operates 50 stores in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The 32 stores closed were in Texas, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Highland also has closed stores in Minnesota and upstate New York this year.

Asked when Highland will be able to turn the corner toward profitability, Wineberg said, "We're engaged in active discussions with our creditors to restructure our debt."

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Salem senior saves woman

Plymouth Salem High senior Jeremy Stamp probably saved a woman from injury Sept. 16 when he got into her moving car and stopped it just as it rolled over a curb toward a row of houses.

"It's one of those kinds of situations where he reacted quickly. He kept someone from getting hurt at risk to himself," said acting Plymouth Police chief Robert Scoggins. "I think it's kind of special."

Stamp was walking home from school about 2:30 p.m. when he noticed a car had gone over the curb on Ann Arbor Trail just east of Sheldon Road.

According to the accident report, "Stamp observed the driver slumped over to one side as she passed him, gave chase, jumped into the moving vehicle and brought same to a stop before it was able to strike anyone or anything else."

The driver of the car, a 33-year-old Westland woman, had apparently blacked out, police said.

Stamp said he acted "just so it (the car) wouldn't run into the house."

The car, headed east on Ann Arbor Trail, crossed over the westbound lane, jumped a curb and sidewalk, and ran over a small tree before Stamp could get inside and stop it.

The woman was treated and released from St. Mary Hospital after the incident.

Township trustee Stewart accused of harassment

A Plymouth attorney and city commission candidate has filed a report with Plymouth Police, alleging that Plymouth Township Trustee John Stewart harassed him during a Thursday telephone call.

According to the report taken by police from Dennis Shrewsbury, at 2:30 p.m. Thursday Stewart called Shrewsbury, 41, and "stated that he was going to shoot the complainant (Shrewsbury) . . . with my little air gun."

Stewart declined comment. No charges have been filed by police.

McNamara to sue over new county district lines

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

A court showdown appears likely over new Wayne County Commission districts.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is expected to file suit, as soon as this week, unless the county apportionment commission alters the district changes.

McNamara claims several new districts were drawn for the express purpose of weakening his supporters on the commission.

"The new districts are quite clearly a plan to penalize people who supported Edward McNamara," deputy county executive Michael Duggan said.

But reconsideration isn't likely, according to the woman who chaired the five-member apportionment commission.

"AS FAR as I'm concerned, the committee's job was done when the new districts were adopted (Sept. 16)," Juliette Okotie-Eboh said. The new districts are supposed to go into effect for the 1992 election. They are deemed controversial because they would pit two local commissioners against each other while radically altering the district of another.

Incumbents Bryan Amann, D-Wayne and Maurice Breen, R-Plymouth Township, would face

each other in a redrawn 10th District. That district would include Plymouth, Northville, Northville Township and Canton. The district would also include a small section of Livonia west of Farmington Road, south of Lyndon.

Are Democrats eating their young alive?

That's what county commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, thinks after examining his new commission district.

Canton, now represented by Amann, would be the scene of a 1992 showdown between Amann and fellow commissioner Maurice Breen, R-Plymouth Township, under new districts adopted Monday.

The new district is considered safe haven for Republicans, and that leaves Amann upset.

"It seems to me that while the Republicans are encouraging their

Attorney says group home violates code

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Part of a work training program for recovering alcoholics or drug users is violating city code, Plymouth's city attorney has found.

"They're operating a business in a residential area," city attorney Ron Lowe said Sept. 16 to city commissioners and neighbors of the apartments where the program participants live.

That finding gave some comfort to Roe Street residents who want the program out. Some participants living in nearby apartments have disrupted the neighborhood, long time residents say.

"I think I have sufficient information to proceed in filing the complaint warrant," Lowe said, adding he'll seek charges of operating a business in a residential area. Lowe said he expected to file charges this week.

"As to whether the courts will agree, I don't know," he said.

Lowe based the finding on testimony given by a program director on a separate case brought last summer in 35th District Court.

He said the testimony described the overseeing of program participants at the Roe Street apartments where they are lodged.

"It was acknowledged by Dr. (Marcia) Andersen (program director) that she went to one of the participant's rooms. She felt it was necessary to perform a suicide assessment. She brought the site director, and re-entered with her pass key," Lowe said.

Lowe said sub lease provisions between Personalized Lighthouse Inc. and its program participants "prohibit more than two adults staying overnight in an apartment, prohibit a child from staying overnight, prohibit alcohol within the apartment, and they are prohibited from having any guest under the influence of alcohol in the apartment."

Saying these are unusual restrictions, Lowe added, "Those are the items that we're looking at."

Lowe said that while program participants need supervision, providing that supervision violates city ordinances about running a business in a residential neighborhood.

He said Personalized Lighthouse Inc. could meet city code by setting up a group home to house participants.

Lighthouse director Andersen and the organization's attorney were unavailable for comment on Lowe's finding.

Indian sculpture to tour schools

By Diane Gale
staff writer

When Canton sculptor Joe DeLauro was about to unveil his bronze sculpture last week, he told a story about what inspired the "Storyteller," depicting an American Indian.

"I should let the sculpture speak for itself," he said Thursday during the third Annual Birthday Breakfast of the Canton Community Foundation.

"These Indians are the first Americans," DeLauro said. "The first Indian I met gave a lecture at my high school. He started out speaking Indian. He stopped, and recognizing that no one understood what he was saying, said: 'I didn't realize I was speaking to a bunch of foreigners.'"

Gesturing toward the sculpture, DeLauro said: "This is out of respect to those native Americans."

Students from Miller Elementary School ripped-off the piece of cloth atop the sculpture. They were the first of many youngsters who will appreciate the work that will tour Plymouth and Canton elementary schools before going to its final show place at the Canton Public Library.

AFTER THE unveiling, local high school students thanked foundation supporters for contributions made to the Close Up program that sends students to Washington, D.C. for a first hand look at U.S. government.

"Last year it cost $850 to go to Washington, said Close Up student Sheena McDonald.

"I really thought that without your donation, we would not have been able to go on the trip," she added.

Bill Joyner, Canton Community Foundation executive director, ran-off the many programs the group supported since the foundation began two years.

• Plymouth Family Services, $6,000;

• High school Close Up, $5,000;

- Scholarships, $10,000;
- Salvation Army, $1,000;
- Canton Place, $500;
- First Step, $500;
- Growth Works, $250; and
- Canton Historical Commission, $1,250;

Other programs sponsored by the foundation include the Canton Economic Club, Desert Storm family support activities and the "Sella-brate Canton," which gives Realtors a chance to learn about the community first hand.

Canton is flirting with 60,000 population, said Bill Myers, president of the Canton Community Foundation, and since it's only 50 percent developed, it's "too big to be ignored."

Couple charges neighbor with harassment

Fed up because a neighbor woman likes to look through the windows of their house and give them "the finger," a Plymouth Township couple is seeking harassment charges against the woman.

Charges were filed with police on Thursday, after the woman repeated her action at 9 a.m., according to the report filed with police.

When the couple tried to ask the woman not to do this, she said "they could do nothing about it" according to the report filed with police, who are investigating.

Chamber loses GM volunteers

Toney has Masta's home number, and has used it — on weekends, says Masta.

"Fran called me at home one Saturday for something kind of funny. There was a mouse in here. So I came in and set up traps."

You name it, Masta has done it for the chamber staff. He runs the office when the staff goes to lunch, fields complaints, does bulk mailings, washes windows, vacuums, shovels ice and snow, takes out the trash, and sets up for meetings. He's even built a wall at the chamber office.

"I've met a lot of people in town

— just about everyone," said Masta, who this week returns to his production job.

"It's been different working here. I'm not used to an office environment."

TONEY HOPES others in the community will come forward to help out one day or one afternoon a week on a regular basis.

"We always need help stuffing envelopes and answering the phones, especially during special events," she said.

Prospective volunteers are asked to call the chamber at 453-1540.

Families fight to keep memory of POWs, MIAs alive

By Diane Gale
staff writer

When Refugio Teran served in Vietnam he told his mother to send oatmeal, because there were a lot of hungry people in the villages.

"I used to send 30 pounds of goodies every week," his mother, Anna Bertha Teran, of Westland, said. "He said 'the people here are so poor, ma.' It made him feel good helping them."

"I'm hoping every day" she said referring to the return of her son more than 20 years after Viet Cong overran a guard station at an ammunition dump in Quang Tri province. Teran has been missing ever since.

HIS MOTHER and father, Refugio, sat at the front of a small crowd gathered Friday night outside the Canton administration building to remember the 72 Michigan service people missing or unaccounted for in Southeast Asia.

They lighted candles. A 21-gun salute was fired. Taps played. And the Plymouth-Canton Vietnam Veterans Color Guard along with the Plymouth VFW Color Guard stood beneath a POW/MIA flag that was erected in front of township hall May 10, 1985.

As the years fade away since the war, Refugio Teran said, the parents of the servicemen are "dying off." And now the children are keeping the mission to find these missing men, dead or alive, going.

Dan Durack, Canton administrative services director, served in Vietnam as a Vietnamese translator.

"I am proud to be here to press an issue that's very important to me," he said.

"Several years ago many of us gathered in this same spot to dedicate the POW/MIA flag. That flag has flown in front of Canton Township hall day and night ever since and will continue to fly until our men are home. The message to all who pass by is that the POWs/MIAs will never be forgotten.

"My heart and mind are always with them," he said. "I can't understand why it's taking so long to have a full accounting of them."

MARTY EDDY, president of the POW/MIA Committee of Michigan, said there is a common thread among the accounts she has read of POWs.

They shared faith, endurance and comradeship while in captivity, she said. And these are the virtues that the families waiting back home must maintain.

"We owe them no less," she said.

Canton residents Russ and Elizabeth Courville stood with candles.

"I was in Vietnam and in the back of my mind I've got to believe that the people who we were fighting are holding some of our people," Russ Courville said.

Elizabeth Courville said she read "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" and from that book she believes there are POWs/MIAs still alive in Southeast Asia.

A man who said his name was Rook, served in Vietnam in 1970. The ceremony, he said, "brings back memories of the people we left back there and friends we made."

Canton resident Cornell Osier, a member of the Plymouth Canton Vietnam Veterans group, served in Vietnam from June 1969 to June 1970. One cousin died in Vietnam, he said, and another cousin, who also served in Vietnam, recently died from complications caused by Agent Orange, a chemical sprayed on Southeast Asian jungles.

Meanwhile, the Terans are among families of 2,273 Americans who are still unaccounted for. And they are left wondering what happened. Are they dead? Are they suffering? Are their remains lying unnoticed somewhere?

"There's no way in the world we can find the words to say thank you to these people who are keeping our issue alive," Anna Bertha Teran said before the ceremony Friday.

McNamara to sue over new county district lines

Amann currently represents Canton. Breen currently represents the Plymouth/Northville area, as well as all of Livonia.

Under the new districts, the balance of Livonia would be joined with Redford in a new 9th District. The district, which currently includes Redford and a small section of Detroit, is represented by Kevin Kelley, D-Redford.

Incumbents Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn and William O'Neil, D-Al-len Park, would also face each other in a redrawn district not involving Observer communities.

"Our four biggest supporters on the district are Bryan Amann, Kevin Kelley, Susan Hubbard and Bill O'Neil," Duggan said. "Now, Bryan's in a district that's 65 percent Republican, Kevin's in a district that's 60 percent Republican and Hubbard and O'Neil will have to face each other."

The county executive isn't the only official calling for change.

County Prosecutor John O'Hair, a member of the five-person committee that drafted the new boundaries, called for reconsideration almost as soon as the new boundaries were adopted.

"RECONSIDERATION of the plan is critical," the prosecutor wrote in a letter to Okotie-Eboh two days after the new districts were announced. O'Hair said he voted in favor of the new districts, "so as to preserve my right to seek reconsideration."

But Okotie-Eboh, a member of the Detroit planning department, said the districts were fairly drawn.

"Even before we began drafting districts, we looked at the county charter and the (federal) Voting Rights Act," she said. "Nowhere in those documents is there any word about protecting incumbents."

Instead, she said, the committee adhered to a self-adopted list drawn from federal statutes and case law.

Assuring minority representation equal to the county's minority population, while keeping cities and townships intact were key goals, Okotie-Eboh said.

State law gives aggrieved parties the right to file with the state Court of Appeals, chief deputy county clerk Marya Sieminski said.

But even critics admit it could be a tough fight. Amann said he hoped the issue could be resolved without going to court.

"If there's a plan, and if it's adopted, it's going to be much harder to challenge," Amann said. "But I'm not giving up yet."

Amann continues to promote a redistricting plan, also supported by Kelley, that would alter suburban districts in different ways.

That plan would turn Kelley's current district into a Redford/Dearborn Heights/Inkster district. It would place northern Livonia in Breen's district, while giving southern Livonia to Kay Beard, whose current district includes Westland, Garden City and Inkster. This proposal follows boundaries now used to divide U.S. House seats held by Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and William Ford, D-Taylor.

Kelley also said he was disappointed in the new districts.

"I'm not disappointed to be representing Livonia, but I do feel our plan was better," he said.

The new districts, Amann charged, were the outcome of a conspiracy between Republicans and Detroit Democrats.

But Breen, the commission's lone Republican, said it wasn't so.

"There were four Democrats on the apportionment committee and only one Republican," Breen said. "The Democrats had to work out their own differences."

Okotie-Eboh was the Democratic Party appointee to the commission. Wendy Lamb, an aide to state Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, was the GOP appointee. O'Hair, county Clerk James Killeen and county Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz were the other members.

Not all local commissioners were unhappy with the results. Breen said he was pleased with his new district.

"There's a lot of things that tie Plymouth and Canton together," he said.

Beard, whose district remains unchanged, was also pleased.

"I can understand why some commissioners are upset," she said. "But if you look at all the criteria used, the districts look pretty solid."

Amann said he is now considering "moving a few blocks up the road" to Westland to challenge incumbent Beard for the 12th District seat.

"He has that right," Beard said. "He did back another candidate against me last time."

Fall time

The calendar said it was still summer, but it was hard to tell that to the students at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools last week. Students from both

young, the Democrats are eating theirs," said Amann.

The new district opened the eyes of at least one interested bystander.

"It's interesting that Plymouth and Canton have been put together," said Bill Joyner, a former county commissioner now active in the Canton Community foundation. "There's a lot of ties, but there's also been a lot of controversy over the fate of Mettetal Airport and Maurice Breen (when he was Plymouth Township supervisor) was right at the heart of that."

Led by Breen, Plymouth Township officials had fought to acquire the small Canton-based airport, while Canton officials favored having the site turned into commercial property.

But an apparent truce between Breen's successor, Gerald Law, and Canton Supervisor Thomas Yack may have paved the way for the new district.

"There's been a rapprochement, that's for sure," Joyner said.

Breen said he believed the rift between the townships was never very wide.

"Maybe other people saw something I didn't," he said. "There was some difference of opinion, but there's a lot more things to put us together."

Amann's old district, the 11th has been consigned to the scrap heap of history under the new county plan.

That district, stretching from Canton, to Romulus to Flat Rock, would be replaced by a new Taylor/Dearborn Heights district.

Those southern communities would be incorporated into a newly redrawn 15th District.

Amann has said he would consider moving into another district and Joyner, an Amann supporter, said the new districts won't mean the end of Amann's political career.

"Brian is a very charismatic person," Joyner said.

Local youth honored for saving sister

Five-year-old Justin Bailey of Plymouth received congratulations by way of a special letter from entertainer Bill Cosby, honorary chairman of the National Safety Town Center.

The letter, a Bill Cosby T-shirt, sweat shirt and a complete set of Safety Town hardbound children's books were presented by the author of the books, Dorothy Chlad, founder and president of the National Safety Town Center. The ceremony took place at the Plymouth Community Education Center on Wednesday.

At a recent fire in his house, Justin safely led his 3-year-old sister out of the house to safety, and when asked why he did this, he replied, "I just remembered what I was taught at Safety Town."

Justin is a recent graduate of the Plymouth Safety Town.

Cosby's letter said: "Effective training is vitally important, and Safety Town provides this training. Justin is a wonderful example of the effectiveness of the Safety Town program and all of us are so very proud of his actions."

Last week was Safety Town week.

Chlad, who founded the total concept of Safety Town in 1964, said: "We are so proud of Justin. It is occurrences such as this that makes all the hard work so worthwhile. Kelsey is fortunate to have such a caring brother, and we are delighted to honor him for his heroic actions."

You can't read and you need medicine. What do you do?

Twenty million Americans are functionally illiterate. This means that they cannot read or understand the printed word. They cannot fill in a form, write a check, or figure out a map or street sign. And medicine bottles—take two every day, may cause drowsiness—these instructions and warnings are useless. Dangerous. Imagine yourself in this situation. Perhaps someone would read the prescription for you. Or perhaps you'd rely on your memory after questioning the physician or pharmacist. But they think you can read, so they may not give you all the instructions. Pretty scary, isn't it? How can you help? If you know someone who cannot read, contact one of the agencies below and give them the opportunity to open up their world.

Protest begins new pro-life demonstrations

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Two demonstrations Saturday might be classified as just preliminaries to what looks like an intensifying battle over the legality of abortions.

An estimated 70 people representing both pro-life and pro-choice sides lined up in front of Botsford Hospital on Grand River Avenue Saturday morning. Pro-life activists were protesting the hospital's policy of performing abortions and the alleged recent death of a Detroit woman at the hospital due to complications from one.

Later, 35 demonstrators picketed near the home of a Bloomfield Township physician who reportedly performed the abortion. The protest drew the ire of neighbors who said their privacy was being invaded.

OTHERWISE, BOTH demonstrations were relatively peaceful with no arrests made. However, with an Operation Rescue planned for Oct. 19 at area abortion clinics, things could become volatile.

"We're going to make the issue of abortion more personal," said Lynn Mills, a Livonia resident and spokeswoman representing 50 pro-life activists in front of Botsford Hospital Saturday. "We're going to step up activities against people who perform abortions."

"The abortion rights issue is going to heat up in the next month," said Eileen Scheff of Detroit, spokeswoman for Coalition to Defend Abortion Rights, which had 20 members turn out in response to the pro-life demonstration at Botsford. "This is a precursor."

PRO-LIFE AND pro-choice activists began to congregate at 9:20 a.m. Both sides held up signs as traffic passed by on Grand River Avenue. No attempts were made to impede cars entering or leaving the hospital.

Mills said the main purpose was to make people aware of the death of a Detroit nurse Aug. 1 due to the complications from an "elective termination of pregnancy," which Mills said was performed at the hospital. Photocopies of the death certificate were handed out to passers-by.

'We're going to make the issue of abortion more personal.'

— Lynn Mills
pro-life activist

Margo Gorchow said she is aware of the situation. "There's a degree of risk in all surgical procedures," she said.

The doctor is a member in good standing at the hospital, Gorchow said, and no action has been taken against him because of the death.

LT. MARTIN Bledsoe of the Farmington Hills Police met with both sides at the start of the demonstration. He said both sides were cooperative.

"Every time we asked them to step from the curb or step away from the driveway, they complied," Bledsoe said.

Farmington Hills police had 12 officers on the scene with more in reserve if any trouble developed, Bledsoe said. "We didn't know what to expect."

Botsford Hospital's security force also was deployed. Gorchow said the hospital heard it was going to be the target of a picketing and planned accordingly.

Gorchow said she understood the demonstrators' constitutional right to make a statement but added, "... the business of the hospital is not to be interrupted."

PEOPLE WHO live near the doctor's home on Terence Court felt their lives were intruded upon by the ensuing hour-long demonstration in their Bloomfield Township neighborhood.

Pro-life protesters pulled up at 1 p.m. on Woodview and began carrying placards, some depicting bloody and disfigured fetuses. Children who were playing football in a nearby yard came over to watch the proceedings.

One angry woman, who didn't want to give her name, confronted protesters and shouted at them, "You people don't belong in a private area here!"

"Whether I stand with you or against you, you have no business doing this in my neighborhood. Get out of here!"

Arthur Apkarian and his family were preparing for a wedding when protesters arrived.

"I BELIEVE in what they're saying," Apkarian said. "That's my personal belief, but I don't believe in this."

SCREEN SCENE

Emotion, irony blend in 'Europa, Europa'

"Europa, Europa" views the war through the eyes of a most unusual protagonist. In 1938, on the eve of his bar mitzvah, Solomon Perel flees his native Germany for Poland and later Russia.

Captured by German soldiers, the boy faces a choice — either admit his Jewish heritage and face certain death or lie through his teeth that he is a purebred German. He chooses the latter.

The events that follow in "Europa, Europa" are so unbelievable that they could only be true. The adaptation of Solomon Perel's autobiography, screening this weekend at the Detroit Film Theatre, plays as a consistently fascinating, if sometimes stiff, story of survival in the enemy camp.

Marco Hoffschneider is convincing as Solomon, or Solly. He's handsome, perhaps too handsome, since much of his frustration in the film involves keeping his circumcised penis under wraps. He is accosted by homosexual soldiers and later seduced by a matronly Nazi and a pretty young fraulein.

AND HIS identity is discovered, first by a kindly soldier and later by a German widow, "good Germans" who don't turn him in. Director Agnieszka Holland ponders the irony along with her protagonist. How can the Germans, who treat Solly so kindly when they think he's Aryan, so offhandedly hate and exterminate the Jews?

tickets please
John Monaghan

When he arrives at the Hitler Youth camp in Berlin, Solly is already a war hero after a desertion attempt mistakenly leads to a Russian unit. The kids here spend most of their time learning how to identify Jewish vermin and jabbing bayonets into dummies emblazoned with the Star of David.

Solly, however, still wants to believe what a Nazi commander tells him early on, that the Jews will not be slaughtered but instead sent to Madagascar or Siberia.

A vivid picture is also painted early in the film of Stalinist indoctrination in the orphanage where Solly spends two years. During the regular session where children must renounce their religious beliefs, a group of Polish Catholics stand firmly in opposition.

"Pray to your God for candy from heaven," demands the attractive Bolshevik teacher. They do and nothing happens.

When the other children ask Stalin for the same gifts, candy rains down from a hole in the ceiling. Ironically, the orphanage is bombed by German planes at that very moment.

AGAIN THE irony hits you like a bomb drop, making you wonder how much of the story relies on fiction. In interviews, the director swears that most of it is true, "subject to the temporal necessities of dramaturgy."

"Europa, Europa" is not great filmmaking. The writing is unnecessarily heavy handed. Hitler and Stalin waltz in Solly's surreal dreams, an attempt to get you into the boy's head that falls pretty flat.

On a purely emotional level, however, as a story of someone forced to hide in plain sight, the film keeps you watching on the strength of its amazing premise.

'Alice': Allen's in 'Wonderland'

The title character in Woody Allen most recent film, now on video, "Alice" is a wealthy Manhattan housewife who idles away most of her time shopping. This is a woman who seems to have it made — a successful well-to-do husband, a gorgeous home, two children and plenty of domestic help to look after both.

There's another thing Alice, played by Mia Farrow, has and it's a persistent backache. Her physical trainer and masseuse have been no help, nor has she found relief from doctors. Following several recommendations from different people in the same day, Alice heads off to see a Chinese doctor who specializes in herbal treatments and acupuncture.

The sage doctor, played by veteran actor Keye Luke, only has to take her pulse to conclude Alice's problem isn't in her back. And he's only heard about her rich, shallow, condescending spouse played by William Hurt.

Through a series of visits to the doctor and different prescribed herbs, Alice begins a journey that eventually leads her to take a hard unflinching look at the person she is, the choices she made for herself and what she wants to do about the future.

What happened to the devout Catholic girl who prayed with her arms outstretched to make it more difficult? How can a woman who says Mother Theresa is her hero spend all her time and resources acquiring material goods?

THAT MAY sound like heavy drama but there is a whimsical quality to the film. Alice has developed an infatuation for a man, Joe Mantegna, whose child attends school with her children.

After taking her herbs precisely as directed, the rather shy Alice makes the gentleman aware of her attraction in no uncertain terms. Farrow's reaction to this is great. You can see on her face the instant the herbs kick in. Mantegna's reaction to her is wonderful.

"I thought someone else was talking . . . I was like someone possessed," Alice says later when telling a friend about the encounter.

Other potions from the good doctor render Alice invisible or allow a visit with dead loved ones. Alec Baldwin is very good, although only vaguely seen, as the man Alice loved but broke up with because she was frightened by his recklessness.

Gwen Verdon does a nice job in a couple scenes as Alice's mother, a former actress and alcoholic, uncritically romanticized by her daughter. Blythe Danner is very good as Alice's older sister, an attorney who is horrified by her sister's life of conspicuous consumption.

WITH HER color coordinated outfits and matching pillbox hats, Farrow is outfitted like Doris Day in her heyday. I don't recall Doris ever doing so much soul searching, however.

Clearly, there is an "Alice in Wonderland" parallel to the film as she gets benched and shaped by the herbal potions. Thankfully, Allen doesn't beat it to death, like for instance David Lynch's overkill on "The Wizard of Oz" references in "Wild at Heart."

The underlying theme, though, is that there aren't magic potions to solve what's wrong with your life. You have to recognize your weakness and take responsibility for actions before you can move out of an unsatisfying situation. That can be tremendously hard when there is an illusion of everything being as it should. In the end, that's the lesson Alice learns.

Allen's movies tend to fall into his "serious" works and very funny comedies. Alice rather falls in between. There is a lot of humor although not the rapid fire jokes some people might expect from Allen.

Finding way through uncharted waters

Travel agents can help navigate cruise world

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

The great navigators were able to explore the uncharted seas of the world because they had a little help from a sextant, an instrument designed to navigate by the position of the stars.

If you are exploring the uncharted waters of the 20th century cruise world, you may need a star gazer of your own to help you pick the right cruise. You don't need a sextant, you need a good travel agent.

Cruises have changed dramatically since Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr floated across the deck of a luxury liner on the movie screen decades ago. Those luxury liners were going someplace, often across the Atlantic to England.

Today we take a cruise for its own sake, going in a circle around some part of the Caribbean, sailing down the west coast of Mexico or through the Panama Canal, hitting the highlights of the Mediterranean, the Baltic, the south seas or the Orient.

The 35 member lines of Cruise Lines International Association (CLIA) sail hundreds of ships on a variety of itineraries worldwide. Two dozen new ships and nearly 20,000 new cabins are being added to the market this year and next. Only a fraction of the American public has cruised, and the industry is betting big bucks that the rest of us will cruise soon.

How do you find your way through this crowded, confusing uncharted marketplace? Pick up cruise brochures. Browse libraries and book stores for cruise guide books. Read cruise magazines. Think about how much time and money you have and then go to a travel agent.

A good agent will ask you whether you've ever cruised before, what kind of vacations you like, what kind of budget you have and other relevant questions. Do you want to take a short three- or four-day cruise or the more popular seven-day cruise? Do you like beaches, shopping, sports, tours, island-hopping, lots of time at sea?

The agent will make a recommendation. Example: If a first-time cruiser wants to spend less than $1,000 per person, double occupancy, for a seven-day cruise and the couple likes both beaches and shopping, the agent may suggest the smooth waters and the varying islands of the Eastern Caribbean.

Some first-time cruisers, and many old hands, choose short cruises out of either the Port of Miami or Port Canaveral, Fla. Most short cruises go to Nassau and back, sometimes with a stop at a private tropical island. The Premiere Majestic, once the Love Boat of television fame, goes to the Abacos.

Paula Suetet of Only By Sea Inc. in Birmingham explains the three traditional seven-day Caribbean itineraries. The Eastern Caribbean cruise usually includes San Juan, St. Thomas, St. Martin and sometimes Nassau.

The western Caribbean cruise goes to Jamaica, Grand Cayman and Cozumel, Mexico and the lower Caribbean cruise includes the less frequented islands of Martinique, Barbados and Antigua.

For more information about cruising in general, send a self-addressed business-size envelope with 45 cents postage to Cruise Lines International Association, 500 Fifth Ave., Suite 1407, New York, N.Y., 10110 and ask for a brochure called "Cruising: Answers to your Questions."

Livonia pair nets cruise of Caribbean

By Mary Quinley
special writer

When Patricia Day of Livonia answered the telephone, she was skeptical of the caller who said, "Your husband Bob just won a trip to the Caribbean!"

Bob, a Warehouse Supervisor at Foodland Distributors, was one of several employees rewarded for his accident-free year. An all-expense-paid trip, excluding drinks, tips and tours was one of the incentives offered by his employer.

Pat and Bob spent seven nights cruising the eastern Caribbean on the MS Caribe, The Happy Ship.

"I really enjoyed the cruise. The ship was beautiful," said Pat.

Caribbean island hopping gave the visitors a taste of native living. In Puerto Plata, the Days experienced mixed emotions. Young boys clung to the sides of the moving tour bus, trying to persuade potential customers to "hire me."

In contrast, the beauty of the soft, tranquil beaches beckoned tourists to "jump in." Shopping for crystal, china, jewelry and liquor highlighted the tours of San Juan and St. Thomas. U.S. dollars and credit cards were accepted.

"When we got up in the mountains, we could look down and see our ship," said Bob. The down-sized Commodore Cruise Line ship, with her wood-paneled walls, was impressive.

"There were some places on the islands we had no interest in," said Bob. Bus tours were expensive and unnecessary agreed both travelers.

Setting sales on setting sail

They were all there at the Sheraton Oaks Hotel in Novi last week.

The travel agents that make up an association called Sale on Cruises were there. Sale on Cruises agencies include Premier Travel and Randolph Travel & Tours of Birmingham, Kaye Britton Travel of Farmington Hills, Suburban Travel of Rochester, Book Couzens Travel of Southfield, World Wide Travel Bureau of Troy and Venture Out Travel of Westland.

The cruise ship representatives were there, from Costa, Norwegian Cruise Line, Royal Caribbean, Holland American and Princess.

Most of all, the aspiring cruise travelers were there, filling the several hundred seats in the room, gathering brochures and winning door prizes. Travelers have overflowed the room during all of the four cruise seminars held by Sale on Cruises this fall.

Cruising is such big business that two dozen new ships and 20,000 new cabins are being added this year and next. Only a tiny fraction of the American population has sailed, and the industry hopes to attract many more of us. In the meantime, it's a buyer's market.

Any small travel agent will tell you that agencies are not created equal in the cruise market, however. The big agencies that specialize in cruises sell so many cabins that they can offer big discounts. That includes the Cruise Only! agencies owned by Carlton Travel Network and the big guys like Bee Kalt Travel Service.

That's why 19 area travel agents combined forces in 1986 to form Sale on Cruises. Put the agencies together and they can offer discount cruises too.

As Harold Kalt of Bee Kalt Travel Service in Royal Oak points out "the big cruise agencies do it all under one roof, and a network of agencies is scattered around the city." The reply I got to that from Sales on Cruises is that their network allows you to go to an agency in your own area.

WHAT'S NEW IN CRUISING? Former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher launched Princess Cruise Lines' new ship, the Regal Princess, in New York last month. Michigan rep Kandace Levi says Princess sails to more destinations than any other line in the world.

Costa, the cruise line with the Italian accent, launches the Costa Classica Jan. 25, 1992. "It's the most expensive ship per passenger ever built," says District Sales Manager Mary Johnson. "There will be one crew member for every two passengers."

Patty Crichton of Holland America, voted the world's best cruise line last year by Conde Nast Magazine, is offering $299 for the second passenger in a cabin on seven- and 10-day cruises. On Nov. 3 Helen Hayes will celebrate her 90th birthday on the Rotterdam, when it sails out of New York.

District Sales Manager Tim Birch of Norwegian Cruise Lines has two new ships coming in the fall of 1992. The Norway has had a $50 million renovation. Honeymooners can get 50 percent off on three/four days cruises from Miami and all seven-day cruises.

Mary Bergsman of Royal Caribbean will see the new Monarch of the Seas, sister ship of the Sovereign of the Seas, launched in San Juan Nov. 17. Its twin, Majesty of the Seas, will be ready in April 1992.

Cesare Ditel is captain of Princess Cruise Lines' new ship the Regal Princess. Former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher launched the ship in New York last month.

Engler offers solid education plan

QUESTION: Governor John Engler recently gave his "Michigan 2000" education message to the legislature. It covered everything from tenure, year-round school, parent choices in school selection to other issues. What is your opinion of his position on some of these issues?

ANSWER: Engler has at least taken a position on educational issues we educational leaders supposedly have talked about for 50 years — issues past governors have avoided like tenure, issues that knowledgeable and committed educators know are essential — such as measurable outcomes. Let's look at some of his programs.

• Engler's Michigan Education Warranty: High schools will guarantee to employers that its graduates have competency in reading, writing and math and problem solving. If not, the graduate will return to school to be retrained at school expense.

Doyle's warranty plan: Parents will guarantee that their child will be in attendance, show up to class on time, bring their books with them, do their homework. If not, we will return the child to you for responsibility training, manners improvement and for an introductory course on responsible behavior. In fairness, an educational warranty is a step in the right direction. Plymouth and other school districts have been doing this for years.

• Engler's school of choice No. 1: Parents can select the school they wish for their child in their own school district.

Doyle's answer: Plans are already in place called open enrollment in many districts such as West Bloomfield, Farmington and Troy. Parents select a school in their district that they prefer, providing they furnish the transportation.

I believe in open enrollment and promoted it for several reasons. Say parents can't stand their principal and his/her beliefs. The parents have a choice to go to another building. The only drawback is if athletes are recruited into one school in the district — that is bad news!

• Engler's schools of choice No. 2: Constitutional authority exists to permit a new public school to be organized and operated by any group of employees from public entities such as a community college, university, city or township.

Doyle's answer: If the city or township is going to run the school, then we educators want to run the city so our garbage gets picked up and our streets are cleaned in a timely fashion. Maybe we can talk the medical profession into letting educators run the hospitals so we can inform the cardiac surgeon when a patient is ready for an "open-heart."

• Engler's core curriculum: He will require specific measurable outcomes (not "three years of math"). Graduation requirements are not enough.

Doyle's answer: I agree. Too many kids go through school by a path of least resistance. They seek and find sympathetic teachers who literally carry them on their backs to get them through a course.

Grades often don't tell the story. Some teachers are very generous in grading, some extremely tough. Some teachers are generous because they don't want to see the "kid" again next year.

Some teachers pass certain "kids" to alleviate being called into the principal's office because they flunked too many students. There are many reasons . . . most all wrong.

Measurable learning outcomes make sense providing they are developed by teachers and building principals, and providing teachers are supported if a student, for whatever reason, doesn't commit himself to the task at hand. The responsibility for mastering measurable outcomes (i.e., can multiply three digit numbers) has to become, in a major part, the responsibility of the student and parent.

Engler has taken a strong position on educational issues, most with which I agree . . .

• Engler's tenure program: Our Teacher Tenure Act is broken and needs fixing. More years of observation or probationary time is needed.

Doyle's answer: Teacher organizations have done a masterful job in this area. Before tenure, a teacher could be "canned" for any issue even a minor personality conflict with a principal, board member or "important citizen" in town. However, more probationary time (four or five years) makes sense. Yes, we should put more teeth into the tenure act and select or keep only the finest; that is, the finest teachers and administrators.

Engler has taken a strong position on educational issues, most with which I agree. Some issues, however, will need considerable time to implement. Change doesn't occur because of a "Special Message on Education to the People."

Let's put high tech on hold and repair the telephone lines

EVER SINCE the telephone companies were deregulated, we've been inundated with advertising that tells us that our careers are going to come to a grinding halt if we don't have the right phone equipment.

If we don't get that call on our car phone, we may just as well head to the Grand Canyon and drive into it. And if you don't have the right long distance service, you're going to end up talking to that whiny little guy in the phone booth at that unpronounceable South Seas island.

I have to keep telling myself: "It's just a telephone. It's no different than the one you used in 1968."

But it isn't just the same. And we learned that in speed dialing time last week when phone workers plugged New York's system into the wrong power source. The result was chaos. Nobody could catch a plane and nobody could buy or sell stocks.

SOME CALLED it a disaster, but I secretly wonder how much money people may have saved because of it.

But that's not the point here. What intrigued me was a quote in an account about the great phone unplugging. It came from a telephone analyst. What ever that is. Anyway, here's what she said: "It may say that simply the technology is running ahead of the actual operational expertise and experience levels of the people that they have to run it."

In other words: The phone company has designed a system so complicated that nobody knows how to use it.

I don't know why it took a telephone analyst to come up with that. Most of us already know that. We've been conned into buying phone systems that have functions that we don't use.

We have speed dial, but using it only saves about two seconds. What are we suppose to do with that time? We can make conference calls with six people on the line, but most of us don't know more than two or three people who even want to talk to each other.

Jeff Counts

WE'VE BEEN oversold by the phone companies. And there's a reason for it. Ma Bell and others in her family have put a big emphasis on high tech stuff because it's easy to sell to greedy, insecure yuppies who are trying to make that one more sale.

But while the phone folks have sold us voice mail, they haven't invested in better equipment or lines to handle all the fancy phones.

Let's face it, we've got 21st century phones plugged into 1950s wires. The telephone people have hired a bunch of slick, suit wearing and brief case toting salespeople to sell the high tech stuff. But at the same time there's nobody to service the stuff.

But they're no different that other utilities like Detroit Edison or Consumers Power who dumped millions of dollars in nuclear plants that never go on line, but nothing in maintenance.

That lack of line work was driven home this summer in Wayne County when a July 7 storm came chugging through, leaving thousands without power.

And what did Edison have to say about it? Here's what one of their spokesmen said: "We learned from the storm among other things that tree trimming is necessary to improve reliability."

Give me a break. We've had power lines for more than 90 years and it's finally dawning on these geniuses that falling trees knock down wires.

Utilities with their unabashed greed have pushed us into a high tech world that doesn't work, and along the way they've forgotten to keep us plugged in.

God save us from the yuppies and their gadgets.

Children need more advocates

To the editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to respond to the editorial published Sept. 5, "Child abuse cases require training, funds." Your comments regarding training for judges, and I might also add school and medical personnel, are ones that the council also feels strongly about.

In a recent survey of school districts in the western Wayne county area, an alarming number of districts have protocols for reporting child abuse cases that are not in compliance with the child protection law. The council is available to consult with school boards and superintendents on protocol development and well as a resource for training staff.

We couldn't agree more with your statement that efforts to prevent child abuse are often short changed.

The Out Wayne County Council on Child Abuse and Neglect has as its primary mission the prevention of child abuse. We do that through education and training and public awareness activities. Our efforts are directed at supporting parents with any age child and educating professionals who work with families.

In addition, the council serves as the designated Council for the Michigan Children's Trust Fund that provides funding for child abuse prevention programs throughout the state.

We promote the income tax check-off with tax preparers and the public at large.

I want to thank you for your attention to the issue of child abuse; training and prevention. The council and our communities always need volunteers and/or businesses who will advocate for children and their families.

executive director

Bill of Rights is topic for senior essay contest

The Michigan Commission on the Bicentennial of the Constitution and the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association are sponsoring a Bill of Rights Bicentennial essay competition for high school seniors.

A $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to the student writing the best essay and three runners-up will each receive $500 scholarships.

The essay should answer the questions, "Why the Bill of Rights is Important Today." Deadline for entry is Nov. 10. Judging will be completed by Dec. 1. Michigan Supreme Court Justice Conrad Mallett Jr., Michigan Trial Lawyers Association members and representatives of the Michigan Commission on the Bicentennial of the Constitution and other Bill of Rights scholars will serve as judges.

Contest materials have been sent to all high schools in the state. Complete rules and an entry form are also available by contacting the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association at (517) 482-7740.

"In celebrating our Bill of Rights, we must ask what it is that we are celebrating and who's responsible for providing us with such great personal freedoms and protections," said Thomas Hay, president of the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association.

"Citizenship is an important responsibility that includes continuing education and community participation. The essay contest is a way for young people to begin participating in the future of their communities," Mallett said.

Stately pintail is 'favorite' duck

My son often asks me, what is your favorite bird? I tell him I don't have a favorite bird, but I do have a favorite duck — the pintail.

It is a long, lean, slender looking species of duck. In addition to the long tail, which makes up about one quarter of its total length, the male has a long neck, reminiscent of a goose. This slender appearance is not just a result of its long neck and tail; physically this species of duck is about one-fifth the weight of the familiar mallard.

Though coloration is not as spectacular as a wood duck, or green-winged teal, it has a stately, elegant pattern of colors. Underparts of a male pintail are white. The back is a fine striped gray and white. Coloration of the head of a male pintail is a chocolate brown over the cheeks, throat, forehead and down the top of the neck. But separating the top of the neck from the throat is a pinstripe of white.

Female coloration is entirely different. They appear brownish-gray and mottled to blend in with short grass, fallow fields where females often build their nest. Females have a pointed tail, too, but it is not as long as that of the male.

Even male pintails migrating through the southeastern part of nature

Timothy Nowicki

Michigan in late August and early September may have partial female coloration. Some males do not complete their eclipse molt before they start their migration. By the later part of October and early November, all males will look like a typical male pintail.

Those pintail migrating through our area come from nesting areas in the Hudson Bay area. A few years ago I was able to see breeding birds and find pintail nests in the Fort Severn area of Ontario. Most pintails in North America winter along the west coast, but those I saw at Fort Severn are those that will come through the Great Lakes area.

A trip to Harsen's Island or the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge near Saginaw would provide a place to watch for these stately ducks. They like to be in flooded fields where they will feed on various plant seeds and grains. About half their diet is plant material, while the other half is small animals. Once you have seen a male pintail in full adult plumage, I'm sure you will look forward to their arrival in spring and fall, too. Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

THE ROLE OF ASPIRIN TODAY

With so much innovation in medicine, you would think it would result in improved arthritis therapy.

Almost every month, another new arthritis drug comes up for praise and attention. However by year's end, the new drug has failed to equal its promise, leaving knowledgeable doctors to continue to prescribe aspirin.

Why aspirin? No other drug has proved better against inflammation. Aspirin, particularly the coated type, is safe. In addition the medication is inexpensive compared to alternative arthritis drugs. Furthermore, aspirin rarely interferes with drugs you may be taking now or need in the future.

If you are allergic to the aspirin molecule itself, there are substitutes which are nearly as good as aspirin, and not as toxic.

Aspirin levels are easily monitored; for $7.50 any laboratory can run the assay. You don't even need a test to determine if you have too much aspirin your system. The evidence is deafness, ringing in the ears, or a feeling of lightheadedness, changes you or your family can pick up readily. Because dosage is flexible, you may then lower the amount to fit your capacity and need.

For all these reasons aspirin remains the premier drug for arthritis.

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIANS. BRINGING SOMETHING EXTRA TO MEDICINE.

The Facts About Osteopathic Physicians and M.D.s.

Today, there are 3,000 osteopathic physicians (D.O.s) in Michigan, and there are about 12,500 M.D.s.

Is there any difference between these two kinds of doctors?

No. And yes.

The fact is, D.O.s and M.D.s are alike in more ways than you might imagine.

But it's the ways they're different that can bring an extra dimension to your family's health care.

Six ways D.O.'s and M.D.'s are alike.

- Both D.O.s and M.D.s must have the same years of basic medical education.
- Both D.O.s and M.D.s must pass comparable state licensing exams.
- Both D.O.s and M.D.s utilize the same state-of-the-art medical technology.
- Both D.O.s and M.D.s refer patients to qualified D.O. and M.D. specialists whenever specialized care or treatment is needed.
- Both D.O.s and M.D.s place a high degree of emphasis on the good-health benefits of preventive medicine and regular office visits.
- Both D.O.s and M.D.s practice out of fully accredited and licensed hospitals and medical centers.

Two ways D.O.'s bring you something extra.

- D.O.s practice a "whole person" approach to medicine. That means, instead of just treating specific symptoms or illnesses, osteopathic physicians and hospitals concentrate on treating the patient's entire body. Simply put, to a D.O. you're not just a sore throat. You're a "whole" person with unique attitudes, habits and experiences that combine to affect your overall health. That's why D.O.s make a special effort to understand their patients on a more personal level. And it's also why a higher percentage of D.O.s enter family practice. In fact, when you get right down to it, osteopathic medicine is really a more personal approach to modern medicine.

- D.O.s also receive an extra degree of specialized training in the neuromusculoskeletal system — the body's interconnected system of nerves, muscles and bones. This provides osteopathic physicians with a better understanding of the ways that an injury or illness in one part of the body can adversely affect another. And it gives them therapeutic and diagnostic advantages over those who do not receive this specialized training.

Rocks rebound Salem deals first loss to Patriots

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

girls basketball

"It was just a reminder," Thomann said. "That's one of the things we'd like to have happen all the time, because Darcie Miller is an awful good scorer inside."

The 6-foot-1 center responded with 10 of her team-high 19 points off feeds to the post in the second quarter, and Salem was in control after taking a 28-24 halftime lead.

Salem post players Emily Giuliani and Cyndi Platter also were instrumental in giving the Rocks a rebounding edge and scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

"We thought it would be our inside game against their perimeter game," Thomann said. "I was real pleased we got our inside game going and, as best we could, dealt with their perimeter game."

Franklin's tallest player was 5-10 Karen Potempa, the only one who could match up with the Rocks, who had two and sometimes three players that size or taller on the floor.

"(THOMANN) WAS substituting and the deeper he goes the more height he has," Franklin coach

Dan Freeman said. "I knew toward the end of the game unless we could build some kind of lead we would be in trouble."

Warner, who was 8-of-27 from the floor and 14-of-14 at the free throw line, was able to keep the Patriots in the game but didn't get enough help from her teammates.

Patty Shea, who averages 10 points, went scoreless and nobody else had more than five. Warner, who made four triples, had all but one of Franklin's 21 points in the second half.

"One player is never going to beat Salem, but we're not a one-player team," Freeman said. "Dawn scored her average (28%) but the rest didn't hit."

"You never accept the fact someone is going to score, but I thought we did a good job of making (Warner) earn her scores," Thomann said.

Salem continued to score inside and hold Franklin to one shot, extending its lead to 42-33 after three quarters. Warner pulled the Patriots within 48-43 with 2½ minutes remaining, but Leslie Gots (seven points) and Giuliani combined for five free throws and a 10-point lead in the last minute.

"For three quarters, I was pleased with what we did against them," Freeman said. "In the fourth quarter, we were totally out of gas. We were getting one shot and if it didn't go they had the ball and were off to the races."

The Rocks were 20-of-57 from the field for 35 percent, Franklin 12-of-61 for 20 percent.

Leslie Gots, being guarded by Wendy Rynkiewicz, played a good floor game and scored seven points for the Rocks.

Chiefs trounce Glenn after Powers win

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The Chiefs responded, turning a three-point halftime lead into a 55-28 rout.

"WE STRUGGLED through the first 16 minutes," Blohm said. "That was understandable coming off a tough, physical game."

"We asked them to dig down. We said: 'You're tired, you're energy level is not what it was at Flint. But let's step out in the third quarter and get things rolling.'"

"Powers was a great opponent; you did an awesome job, but can you go to Glenn and play well against another good team?"

Canton (3-3) managed a halftime lead of 20-17 and outscored the Rockets 35-11 in the second half, including a 22-5 margin in the fourth quarter.

Stephanie Gray scored 18 points to lead the Chiefs. Julie Nicastri added 11, Christie Saffron and Jori Welchans eight apiece. Blohm was pleased with the defense, which limited Glenn's Cathy Mruk (team-high seven points) and Carrie Rachwel.

"They stepped up their defense," Glenn coach Pat Bennett said. "They swarmed our ball handler and double-teamed our post players. Canton is a good team and did the right things in the second half."

BLOHM SAID the win over Powers, considered the No. 2 team in the state by one preseason estimate, ranks as one of the best in school history, comparing it with victories over Livonia Ladywood and Benton Harbor during Canton's run to the Class A semifinals in 1989.

"Obviously, it was a great victory for us, especially coming off a disappointing loss to Mercy," Blohm said. "We refocused and did a great job up there. The turnaround was amazing."

After taking a big first-half lead, Canton lost to the Marlins 43-38 in the final of the Mercy Hoops Tournament Sept. 14.

"It shows me this group is ready to take a look at things, make adjustments and move on," Blohm said. "The kids played just as hard (against Mercy). It was just a matter of finishing in the Powers game."

"The kids were going to play it out and see where the chips fell unlike the Mercy game when we didn't make the plays and got flustered."

The Chargers led 32-30 after three quarters. But the Chiefs regained the lead and got a crucial play from Kelly Holmes, who grabbed an offensive rebound, made the basket and converted the three-point play for a 38-33 score.

"FROM THAT point on, we controlled the game," Blohm said. "It seemed like it changed our whole attitude about what we were doing."

Gray had 15 points and Saffron 11 to lead Canton. Nicastri and Saffron played well defensively against Powers stars Lisa Negri and Sarah Willyerd, with the 5-5 Saffron giving up five inches in height.

"They tried to take (Saffron) inside and she handled that well," Blohm said.

He also cited the perimeter play of Saffron, Britta Anderson and Amy Westerhold, who was 8-of-8 shooting free throws in the second half and made six with under three minutes remaining and the Chiefs clinging to a small lead.

Shamrocks roll over King 24-6

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Redford Catholic Central followed its motto and almost reached its goal Friday afternoon at Detroit Martin Luther King.

The Shamrocks, who had the word "shutout" written as one of their goals on the chalkboard at school, overwhelmed King, 24-6, in a rematch of last year's Class AA state championship won by CC.

"Our goal was to get a shutout," said senior Brett Walter, a standout in the CC secondary. "We felt pretty confident coming in. Our motto was 'TCB: Takin' care of business.' King had some big guys but we were a lot quicker. Everyone is always picking us as underdogs (against King), but we'll play anyone in the state and beat them. Now we should get the respect we deserve."

Several "so-called" experts picked King to beat CC and avenge last year's 21-0 loss in the state final, but this meeting was just as one-sided as the last. CC outgained King, 268-107 in total yardage and ran 60 offensive plays compared to only 33 by the Crusaders.

CC, FINDING holes behind its offensive line led by Dan Cretu, Brian Brewer and Dave Bruhowzki, scored on four of its seven possessions and one of the Shamrocks' scoring drives took more than eight minutes off the clock. CC scored on a 23-yard field goal by senior Kerry Zavagnin and touchdown runs by Jason Krueger, Dan Gusoff and Jeff Tibaldi.

The win improved CC to 3-0 overall and leaves the Shamrocks as one of the favorites, along with Traverse City, to win Class AA. King, which brought a higher ranking into the game, fell to 2-1 overall.

"We never had the ball," King coach James Reynolds said. "The key was we've got so many inexperienced people at key spots and you never know

Frank Yoakam of Plymouth caught four passes for 79 yards in Catholic Central's 24-6 victory over King.

Mustangs buck Canton's effort

By Darren A. Nichols
staff writer

No one watching Friday's Plymouth Canton-Northville football game could expect a defensive stop to be the key play after both teams had amassed 51 combined points and 609 total yards.

But Northville junior defensive back Eric Shaw shocked the fans, stopping Canton's senior tailback Steve Hohl just shy of a first down on fourth-and-four at the 10-yard line with 23 seconds left to lift Northville to a 28-23 win at home.

The play ended a nearly miraculous comeback by the Chiefs, who had trailed 28-14 early in the fourth quarter.

"It was the last team with the ball wins," Northville coach Darrell Schumacher said with a smile. "We didn't play the best defense, but they came on in the end."

"Both teams made (so many) big plays that I almost got whiplash in the first quarter. It was good, exciting high school football."

NORTHVILLE IMPROVED to 2-1 overall and 1-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division. Canton dropped to 1-2 overall and 0-1 in the division.

Canton sacked Northville quarterback Ryan Huzjak in the end zone for a two-point safety with 10:29 remaining to cut the deficit to 28-16 and start the Chiefs' fourth-quarter rally. Canton took the ensuing kickoff and mounted a 10-play, 63-yard drive capped by a 1-yard run by Hohl with 5:45 left in the quarter.

The extra-point kick by Jeff Nafe was good to make the score 28-23. Northville picked up one first down on its next possession, but a delay of game penalty, an illegal procedure call and an incomplete pass forced the Mustangs to punt on fourth-and-16.

Raiders snatch victory away from Salem

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

North Farmington's strategy late in its football game Friday night at Plymouth Salem was to kick a field goal and force an overtime.

Instead, the Raiders got a last-minute touchdown and a come-from-behind victory over a stunned Salem squad, 17-13.

Senior fullback Jon Sturtz took a screen pass from quarterback Mark Temple, cut back to his right and turned up the sideline for a 52-yard touchdown with 57 seconds remaining.

"I was running alongside him — not quite as fast," North coach Jim O'Leary said. "I saw all the blockers there, and I said 'Don't call a clip and he'll make it' "

It was a devastating loss for the Rocks, who had a victory within their grasp after Leon Hister scored on a 2-yard run with 3:39 to play. The extra-point kick was blocked, but Salem had its first lead of the game, 13-10.

"WHEN WE got down there and scored, I thought we were going to win it," Salem coach Tom Moshimer said. "We were looking for the pass all the way; they just got it done."

"I think they came to play with a great amount of intensity. We have no excuses. We got beat by a team that played better than we did."

Trailing by three points with plenty of time on the clock, the Raiders wanted to get the ball in field-goal range for Adam Chalmers, who gave North a 10-7 halftime lead when he kicked a 41-yarder with :12 left in the second quarter.

Temple, starting at his 19-yard line with 3:32 remaining, threw a first-down pass of 17 yards to Jack Wilks before making the decisive toss to Sturtz on third down.

"Our kids didn't believe (they were going to lose)," O'Leary said. "We said: 'If we can block the extra point, we can come back and kick a field goal. But we didn't have to make that decision because Sturtz had a helluva run.'"

"I saw the back side open up, and the line just blocked all that way," said an emotional Sturtz afterward. "Everyone on the team deserves this win, not just one player. Everyone played great defensively and offensively."

THIS WAS one game that wasn't over the until time had expired, however.

The Rocks were helped by a North penalty on the kickoff, took possession at the 50 with :48 on the clock and got a first down at the 25 with 10 seconds left. Hister, who rushed for 164 yards on 25 carries, ran 9 yards to the 12 on the last play.

For the Raiders, it was a big win, coming in the Lakes Division opener between two of the top contenders. North has won two straight and is 2-1.

"You can't imagine how bad these kids wanted to win this game and how hard they practiced," O'Leary said, "because people said we couldn't win the big games the last couple years."

"For two years, we had lost to Salem and Glenn, and these kids didn't want to go with that kind of taste in their mouth, especially these seniors."

Salem, 0-1 in the Lakes and 1-2 overall, has lost its last two games to quality opponents, including Farmington Hills Harrison, by a total of 13 points. The Rocks travel to unbeaten Westland John Glenn this week.

"WE HAD somewhat of a letdown after last week, and I take responsibility for not having the team mentally ready to play."

what's going to happen. One thing you don't teach is experience and we're getting on-the-job training. The kids played valiantly, but CC was better today. They do what they do well. Nothing surprised us."

And on Friday, CC also did what it normally doesn't do — pass the ball — well. Junior quarterback Chris Barbara, who completed only two passes in the first two games, completed seven-of-nine against King for 98 yards and no interceptions.

SENIOR WIDE receiver Frank Yoakam caught four passes for 79 yards, including a 34-yarder on third down and 12 that set up Zavagnin's 23-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead with 7:42 left in the first quarter.

"We wanted to come out and prove something because against Temperance-Bedford (a 24-6 season-opening win) people said special teams saved us and last week we didn't complete a pass (in a 23-0 win over Mumford)," said Barbara, who also rushed three times for 25 yards. "In big games, you always hope someone is going to step up and be a leader."

CC drove to the King 12 on its next drive in the second quarter, only to be stopped on a fourth-and-three play. After the CC defense forced King into three plays and a punt, the Shamrocks offense closed out the half with a seven-play, 48-yard scoring drive to lead 10-0 at halftime. Krueger's 2-yard run with five seconds left on the clock capped the drive.

The key play was a third down pass to Yoakam, this one for 23 yards, that brought the ball down to the King 9-yard line and kept the drive alive.

"Frank is probably our fastest player on our team, for sure, and maybe on the field today," CC coach Tom Mach said. "The key today was Chris had time he needed to put the ball where it had to be put."

CC STARTED THE third quarter with a 15-play, 59-yard drive that took 7:50 off the clock and was capped by Gusoff's 3-yard run. Zavagnin's PAT made the score 17-0.

Tibaldi, CC's starting tailback who gained 76 yards on 26 carries, ended the scoring for the Shamrocks with a 4-yard run with 8:45 left in the game.

The Crusaders gained 89 of their 107 total yards on their only scoring drive, capped by a three-yard run with 1:43 remaining. The Crusaders' two quarterbacks, Clarence Thompson and Chris Johnson, completed only three of 10 passes for 17 yards and were hurried all afternoon by CC's down linemen Dan Kelly, Gusoff and Dan Suhajda.

"We constricted the holes real well so the linebackers could come up and make the plays," Kelly said.

Late score beats Salem

Moshimer said, adding North dominated the line of scrimmage and should be 3-0.

"We're still a good football team. We played two good ones in a row, and we've got another one next week. Obviously, if we don't recover and play with intensity, we'll be in trouble."

The Raiders scored first when Todd Anderson, who had 32 carries and 117 yards, sprinted 13 yards around end early in the second quarter. Chalmers made it 7-0 with his PAT kick.

Salem countered with a 20-play drive that used nearly 7½ minutes. Rich Araqui carried on the last six plays and scored from 1 yard out with 1:37 left in the half.

North came back with another drive, moving to the Salem 24 where Chalmers kicked his third field goal of the season.

Northville stops Chiefs

Hohl returned the Northville punt 32 yards and an ineligible receiver call against Northville put the ball on the Mustangs' 20-yard line with 2:29 remaining.

Hohl gained 6 yards on first down. The Mustangs stopped Hohl for a 1-yard loss on second down, and Hohl gained 1 yard on third down to set up a fourth-and-four at the 14. Hohl took the pitch from quarterback Kevin Shankle on the option to the right and was stopped by Shaw, who hit him head-on.

"WE MAKE THAT first down, we keep the football," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said. "He missed the first down by less than a yard. It was real close; I thought he had it."

Schumacher said Canton caught the Mustangs off guard. "I thought he might try a trick (play) or pass — something different," he said. "It was a lucky play by Shaw to stop him before the first down marker."

It was a back-and-forth, big-play first half that found Northville leading 20-14 at intermission.

Canton hit the scoreboard first, on a 9-yard run by Hohl with 7:41 left in the first quarter. Northville tied the score at 7-7 on its next possession as Huzjak went over from the 1 to cap a 67-yard drive, highlighted by Kevin Shaw's 57-yard reception.

Canton regained the lead 14-7 on an eight-play, 76-yard touchdown drive, which fullback Mark Meszaros ended with 2-yard TD. Northville scored again on a 43-yard crossing pattern by junior running back Brett Butz with 6:50 left in the second quarter, and the extra point tied the score at 14-14.

The Mustangs' defense finally stopped Canton and blocked the punt to give them the ball on Canton's 41-yard line with 1:19 left in the half.

ON SECOND down and 15 with 31 seconds left, Northville scored on a 30-yard pass reception by senior Danny Walsh.

Salem golfers rely on depth to nip Spartans

Plymouth Salem's depth proved to be Livonia Stevenson's undoing Friday at Whispering Willows Golf Course.

The two teams tied at 213 in the boys golf match, but the Rocks had two players — Joe Gumbis and Ray Alvarado — shoot 46. Stevenson's sixth man, Doug Gulau, shot 49.

The other Salem scorers were Dave Weaver, who shared medalist honors with Stevenson's Mark Peterson at 40; Jeff Kotliavczyk, 41; and Brian Botwinski and Jeff Hopson, 43.

The Rocks are unbeaten in Western Lakes Activities Association play at 3-0.

PLYMOUTH CANTON used Jon Paupore's medalist performance to defeat Livonia Churchill 219-222 Friday at Hilltop. The victory kept the Chiefs unbeaten in three WLAA meets.

Paupore finished with a 37, six strokes better than his nearest Churchill rival, Matt McPherson (43). Other Canton scorers were Mike Ross, 42; Andy Uthoff, 45; Brad Paskievitch, 46; and Matt Paupore, 49.

On Wednesday, Canton whipped Livonia Franklin 205-226 at Idyl Wyld. Jon Paupore again led the Chiefs with a 38. Paskievitch and Jeff Woodruff shot 40s, Derek Baer had a 43 and Brian Gabbart scored a 44. Jason Lamar led Franklin with a 35.

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL got a medalist-earning 39 from Jason Meese and a strong team showing to beat Warren DeLaSalle 164-171 Thursday at Brae Burn.

Meese's 39 was the best of four CC scores in a four-stroke span. Pat Casey shot 40, Dave Hermann had a 42 and Chris Ferry carded a 43.

CC is 4-2 overall and 3-1 in the Catholic League, in second place behind Birmingham Brother Rice.

The SPRING Newspapers' circulation more than doubles the daily suburban circulation of either The Detroit News or Free Press.

In fact, SPRING's suburban circulation is greater than the two metro dailies' combined.

And that's not all.

According to the 1991 Belden study, SPRING reaches more of the affluent suburban shoppers who have more—and spend more.

► 152,700 more suburban buyers of women's fashions than the daily News (78,600 more than the Free Press).

► 145,700 more suburban buyers of men's fashions than The News (64,500 more than the Free Press).

► 115,900 (and 63,600) more suburban buyers of children's clothing.

► 177,100 (and 80,000) more suburban shoppers at malls.

Simply put, one order in SPRING delivers more. Shouldn't you be advertising in SPRING more? To get all the facts, call your SPRING representative.

Rediscover lost art of drying fruit, herbs

I can remember a neighbor on Sycamore Street in Wyandotte whom everyone thought was a little "eccentric."

I came to know "Mrs. Carrie" one day when I noticed her, with hammer in hand, building something in her southern-sun-exposed side yard. The kids on the block thought it was an ominous box probably used to store the bones of curiosity-filled kids who ventured unknowingly into her yard.

I liked Mrs. Carrie, and I wasn't about to fall for that crazy casket story. One day (and if memory serves me correctly, this would have been around 1959 or the early '60s) I asked her what the strange black box was.

"It's a solar dehydrator," she said. "I need an inexpensive method to dry my summer fruits, vegetables and herbs from my bountiful garden."

HAVING NO idea what a solar dehydrator did or was, I pretended to act cool, and rode off into the sunset reaffirming her eccentricities.

The art of food drying dates back to Cro-Magnon times when hunters probably discarded a chunk of meat next to the fire, only to return months later and find the black and dry meat proved tasty. It was a great way to save food for leaner times.

The art of drying food is a natural alternative to canning and freezing. It benefits the family on a tight budget, as well as the camper, hiker, skier or fisherman looking for a compact food supply.

With the advent of canning and freezing, drying foods has almost become a lost method of food preservation. Drying however, is a natural method of preserving whereupon only the water in the food is removed. The drying process removes 80-90 percent of the moisture content so that spoilage bacteria can't develop during storage.

Dried food also conserves storage space with a five pound assortment of fresh fruit yielding approximately one pound dried. With the exception of some minimal loss of vitamin A and C, dried fruits and vegetables contain the same amount of vitamins and minerals as fresh produce. Dried fruit is sweeter than fresh, due to the high concentration of fruit sugars.

Unlike canning, drying has no "set" rules. Food can be dried in a number of ways with the important thing being removal of 80-90 percent of the water and then storing in tightly closed containers that continue to keep moisture out.

THE EASIEST process involves the purchase of food dehydrators, available at most gourmet shops and natural food stores. Electrical dehydrators start at about $40 and progress in price and capabilities up to about $125.

While researching this story, however, a visit to the library located an ample amount of do-it-yourself drying techniques utilizing everything from a tin-foiled box and light bulb up to an electric range. Even Mrs. Carrie's solar dehydrator was expounded upon.

Would I go out and buy a dehydrator tomorrow? Probably not, although the section on drying in your oven using wire mesh proved interesting, especially the way the Janes Gang loves dried-fruit-endowed granola. What I will try, however, is the drying of this year's herbs for winter use.

Momma recalls that Mrs. Carrie passed on about 15 years ago or so. Funny how you preserve memories. I only wish I'd have talked to Mrs. Carrie a little more, a little longer, and with a little more respect. Something tells me she's smiling now, knowing she kindled a spark of interest in food in a nosy 9-year-old on a big black Huffy bike.

Local mills shine

in cider survey

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

FRANKLIN, Plymouth Orchards and Yates were the pick of the crop of Taste readers responding to our In-Cider survey.

"I like the doughnuts and there's a good selection of apples at the Franklin Cider Mill," said Mary Spada of Birmingham.

"I went there as a kid. It's kind of historic thing, a tradition," said Spada, who is passing the tradition on to her children.

A certified national historic site, Franklin Cider Mill at 7450 Franklin Road, Franklin, (626-2968), was founded in 1832 on the Franklin River in Oakland County. The mill is open seven days a week, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. until Dec. 1.

THEY BUY apples to make cider from farms in the Grand Rapids and Romeo area.

"We use a blend of apples to make cider," said Susan Tondreau, manager. "Every day it's different. The cider gets sweeter later into the season because we use sweeter apples, it also keeps longer."

Tondreau said the cider is now being made with McIntosh and Paula Red apples; later they'll add some delicious. The apples are about three weeks ahead of season. Franklin Cider Mill has been owned by Jack Palmer for about 30 years.

When the Donohue family goes to the cider mill, they head for Yates.

"Everybody is friendly, and it's a nice atmosphere, no matter how busy it is, everybody maintains a smile," said Bob Donohue of Commerce Township.

Going to the cider mill is an all-day event. Bob, his wife, Debbie, and their three children always package it with a trip to downtown Rochester where they have lunch.

FOUNDED IN 1894, Yates Cider Mill, 1990 E. Avon Road in Rochester Hills, (651-8300) is on the Clinton River.

Owned by the Posey family, Yates is open 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. seven days a week until the end of October. In November, the hours are shorter, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"On weekends, we have apples in 20 bushel crates, and people can bag their own. Since we don't have orchards, it's the next best thing," said Linda Paisley, assistant manager.

Milling around

A special essay sent in by Bob DeMayer of Livonia

Fall is the perfect time for a trip to the cider mill. My favorite one is the historic Franklin cider mill. While driving through the peaceful little town, I can smell the aroma of just-baked doughnuts and fresh cider floating through the crisp autumn air.

I quickly drive into the crowded parking lot and stand in the long, winding line. I decide to buy a dozen warm plain brown doughnuts and a half gallon of spicy cold cider.

While enjoying my treat, I walk along the mill's picturesque surroundings. There is a giant old steel water wheel on the premises which is nestled under beautiful towering trees.

The leaves are now changing from an ivy green to shiny gold and copper. Before heading home, I stroll along the quaint town's streets which are dotted with many diverse shops selling everything from antiques to Christmas ornaments.

The temperature is just right for a nice leisurely walk. As the sun starts to set a little earlier these days, I decide it's time for my journey back home - already looking forward to a memorable return engagement.

Recipes

GRILLED OR STEAMED SALMON WITH WINEMAN'S SAUCE

Quick, delicious and easy to make, this tasty sauce enhances the flavor of the salmon, or any other type of fish you choose to prepare.

WINEMAN'S SECRET SAUCE - Combine the following ingredients together and mix well. For a shortcut version, mix Salt-Free Mrs. Dash Table Blend of Fine Ground Herbs and Spices with the Lite Wishbone Russian salad dressing and the last three ingredients.

1 bottle Wishbone Lite Russian salad dressing, 8 fluid ounce size

1 good handful fresh parsley, chopped finely

1 bay leaf

1 tablespoon onions, minced

dash of pepper

dash of celery seed

dash of rosemary

1-2 cloves of fresh garlic, chopped finely

dash of lemon-pepper

dash of Accent

1 tablespoon olive oil

3 tablespoons slightly sweetened coarse mustard

1/2 stick butter or margarine

GRILLED OR STEAMED SALMON

This recipe works for either salmon steaks or salmon filets.

Brush some of the sauce on a piece of foil. If using a salmon filet, place it so that the skin side is on top of the foil. Brush with more of the sauce and squeeze half of a lemon over the fish. Throw the lemon half or wedges on top of the salmon and then pinch the two sides of the foil together. Baste with the sauce every 5-8 minutes and cook the salmon for about 20 minutes with the grill cover down, noting that the time can vary depending on the grill and the thickness of the fish.

POTATO "IT"

When family friend and neighbor, Debby Sloan, first tasted this interesting concoction, she asked the obvious question, "What is it?" Somehow the name "It" stuck and a new dish was born.

1 pound tiny red skin potatoes, the smaller the better

1/2 stick butter or margarine

1 medium size box of mushrooms, washed and quartered

1 can hearts of palm, 15 ounce size, drained and cut into bite-sized pieces

1 can artichoke hearts, 15 ounce size, drained and cut up

1/2 onion, preferable Vidalia, if available, chopped coarsely

dash of garlic powder

salt and pepper to taste

Melt the butter in a large frying pan. Combine the whole potatoes (if you are unable to find small ones, halve or quarter the ones you can find), the cut-up hearts of palm and the artichokes. Cook over a medium-low heat for about 20 minutes or until the potatoes soften.

In another pan, saute the cut-up mushrooms in a little butter or margarine and a dash of garlic powder for about 15 minutes.

Add the mushrooms to the potato mixture and cook for an additional 10 minutes.

CORN ON THE COB OR FRESH ASPARAGUS

Depending on the season, take your pick and prepare whatever is freshest.

SPINACH SALAD

Make up a spinach salad and toss with your choice of dressing.

DESSERT

Head off with your family or invite a friend to go with you to your favorite ice cream or yogurt shop. Or, do as John Wineman does, and swap a piece of salmon for one of Nancy Grant's homemade peach or blueberry pies.

Hot tip Chili champ starts with a tasty stock

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

On his third try, Paul Huyck of Farmington Hills won the Michigan Chili Crown at the 13th annual cook-off Sept. 15 at the Lark Restaurant in West Bloomfield.

"I went to my first cook-off in 1985, and after three years as a spectator, I thought, wouldn't it be fun to cook," said Huyck, who has competed in 12 cook-offs. "You have a good time, and they reward charities."

In 1989 he entered a cook-off at the Livonia Spree which benefits abused children. He won second place at a cook-off in Sumpter Township and has competed in New York.

At the Michigan State Fair in 1989, he won the "Belly Burner Championship" for the best hot chili. "That chili was much hotter than I would enter in normal competition," he said.

According to rules of the International Chili Society, the major characteristics to consider when judging chili are the flavoring and chili pepper taste (not too hot or mild), the texture of the meat (not too tough or mushy), the consistency (not too thick or thin), the blend of spices, and how well they have permeated the meat, the aroma and color.

"One major tip is it's extremely important to develop a tasty stock. I use condensed beef broth. After the first hour of cooking, my chili doesn't taste like chili, but then you convert it by adding spices. You've got to know when to stop adding seasonings, when enough is enough."

Huyck will represent Michigan at the World Cook-off to be held Oct. 20 at the abandoned Tropic gold mine in California's Mojave Desert.

"I already got plane tickets for my team, we're ready to go. We're going to give it our best shot."

Huyck is a CPA and part owner of Carter Technology Inc. in Farmington Hills. He said his wife, Lynne, helps him cook.

Second place was awarded to Joe Swiderski of Wyandotte and third to Ken Horn of Plymouth.

The 40 chili cooking teams who competed for the 1991 chili title included — Jim Adamski, Redford; Shawn Booth, Garden City; Kathleen Cummins, Birmingham; Gary Hamilton, West Bloomfield; Austin A. Howard, Birmingham; Lary Jayko, West Bloomfield; Robert T. Jones, Westland; Mike Maiman, Birmingham; Gary Ray, Livonia;

Charles F. Robertson, Birmingham; and Jim Weller, Troy. A sell-out crowd paid $30 per person attend the cook-off. Event proceeds are used to award $1,000 scholarships to 10 culinary arts students.

This year's winners included Ed Curtindal II, Farmington Hills; Adam Tsakos, Redford; and Lawrence Weaver Jr. Rochester. Here's the winning recipe.

MICHIGAN HEAT

- 2 lbs. ground chuck
- 2 lbs. lean chuck steak bits
- 1 lb. chorizo
- 42 oz. beef bouillon (condensed)
- 18 oz. tomato paste
- 8 oz. red cooking wine
- 8 garlic sections
- 2 large white onions
- 2 large Hungarian peppers
- 2 large jalapeno peppers
- 2 cayenne peppers

SEASONING

- 6 tablespoons chili pepper
- 4 tablespoons cumin
- 2 teaspoons Hungarian paprika
- 2 teaspoons celery salt
- 2 teaspoons Mediterranean oregano
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon white pepper

Salt and pepper the meat, and brown it in about 2 1/2 ounces of suet. Remove suet, but reserve drippings.

Put meat and drippings in a big pot and add the bouillon, tomato paste and wine. Finely chop garlic, onions and peppers, and add to the mixture. Let it cook for one hour. Then add seasonings and cook for two hours over medium heat. Yield — one gallon

Sweet memories draw readers to apple cider mills

U-sort apples cost less than sorted apples, which are also available. On some weekends, certain varieties of u-sort apples are sold at half price.

Yates buys apples to make cider from orchards in the Romeo area. They have a small orchard about a half mile from the mill where they grow apples that are sold for eating. The orchard is not open to the public.

If it's a warm day, try the apple cider slush. "We've been making it for about four or five years. It tastes good on hot days," said Paisley.

THE FIRST Michigan Colonial Fire and Drum Corps will perform at Yates at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 12, and Sunday, Nov. 3. There are hiking trails in the Rochester-Utica Recreation area across the street. Group tours of the cider mill are available.

Martina Golaszewski of Livonia, likes Plymouth Orchards & Cider Mill because of the "wonderful cider, good doughnuts, animal petting farm and wagon rides."

It's also a good time to get pumpkins. Golaszewski puts them on her porch for decoration before Halloween.

Plymouth Orchards and Cider Mill, at 10685 Warren, west of Plymouth Road between Joy and Warren, (455-2290) has been owned by the Emmett family for the last 13 years. They have 100 acres, 55 acres are planted with apple trees.

A hail storm in May damaged the apple trees so this year there will be no u-pick apples.

"There are a lot of nice ones, but I just did not feel like I could offer the u-pick this year," said Mary Emmett. "The quality is just not there. It's good, clean fruit, but some of the apples have dents and dings. It's just on the surface, and doesn't hurt the apples, but they don't look so pretty."

AS AN alternative, Plymouth Orchards is offering u-sort. Visitors can pick a bushel of apples from bulk boxes. U-sort apples cost less than sorted, graded apples which are also available.

Pumpkins will be available the weekend of Oct. 12. Hours are 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. in September and October, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in November.

Michigan has produced more than 750 million pounds of apples every year for the past five years, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

At Michigan cider mills this fall, visitors will pay an average $2.92 for a gallon of cider, 16 cents more than 1990. Prices range from $2 to $4.25. Doughnuts average $2.80 a dozen, with prices varying from $1 to $4.

Most ciders contain no preservatives. They must be refrigerated, and if not consumed in a few days, ciders will develop a bitter taste and eventually ferment into vinegar or alcohol.

"Treat like milk," said Les Posey, owner of Yates Cider Mill. "It spoils quickly if left out." To make it last longer, Posey recommends bringing a cooler to keep the cider cold on the trip home.

Beans, tomatoes beef up chili

AP - Extra beans and tomatoes can turn meaty chili into a pot richer in flavor, vitamins, minerals and water-soluble fiber, while cutting the percentage of fat at the same time.

- BOWL-OF-RED CHILI
1 pound lean ground beef
2 large onions, chopped
Two 15 1/2-ounce cans red kidney beans

One 14 1/2-ounce can stewed tomatoes

- Two 4-ounce cans diced green chili peppers
1/4 cup chili powder
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon dried oregano, crushed
1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper (optional)
1/2 teaspoon black pepper

In a large Dutch oven cook ground beef and chopped onion until meat is brown and onion is tender. Drain-off fat.

Stir in undrained beans, tomatoes and green chili peppers. Add the chili powder, garlic powder, oregano, ground red pepper and black pepper. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, about 1 1/4 hours or until of desired consistency, stirring occasionally. Makes twelve 1-cup servings.

Stop avoiding German wines

Germany, the northern-most European wine growing region, makes lovely, drinkable, white wines that are perfect for modern, light cuisine. If you have not sampled German wines lately, now is the time.

Warm harvests in 1988, 1989 and 1990 yielded grapes ripened to perfection. The wines show expressive fruit aromas and refreshing flavors with the added attraction of lower (7.5-10 percent) alcohol.

You may have avoided German wines because the labels are difficult to read. One of 11 German growing regions appears on each label as well as a village name, a vineyard name, the grape name and the producer.

You can simplify label reading by focusing on the grape and the producer. Look for the wine estates named in this column and riesling, the finest wine-grape varietal grown in Germany.

YOU MAY have heard that all riesling is sweet. It is true that Germany is very cool and therefore it is difficult to ripen grapes. Adding sugar balances the acidity of under-ripe grapes, but not all German wines are sweet.

In years where mature grapes are harvested, German wine producers make wonderfully dry, fruity white wines that have balanced fruit and acid. That means they taste refreshing, not too sweet and not too tart.

The driest German wines are labeled trocken (dry), half-trocken (half-dry) or Kabinett. Spatlese is a label term that means late harvest, and the wines usually have noticeable sweetness. The spatlese recommended below are extremely well balanced.

We recently tasted 23 wines from seven estates in seven different winegrowing regions. The best examples are recommended below. Unless otherwise noted, these wines are all riesling.

THE WINE estate of Dr. Fischer is in the picturesque village of Ocken in the Saar region. Here, the slate soils rise steeply behind the village. Vines were actively cultivated in Ocken as early as 1958. The vineyards have perfect southern exposure and are planted almost exclusively to riesling.

Dr. Fischer's 1989 Ockfener Bockstein Kabinett ($13) exhibits fresh apple and apple blossom aromas and flavors. The Spatlese ($17) boasts riper fruit and mineral accents in a style that emphasizes balance.

The 1989 Wawerner Herrenberger Spatlese ($17) is a delicious wine also made from riesling, but grown on different soils.

The wines of Dr. Heidemanns-Bergweiler are grown in the villages of Bernkasteler, Wehlen and Graach, along the Mosel River on sunny, south-facing, slate-covered slopes. Dr. Heidemann's 1989 Bernkasteler Lay Kabinett ($15) showcases fresh, crisp apple characters that are a great accompaniment for fresh white fish.

The 1989 Barnkasteler Badstube Spatlese ($19) has supple textures with nuances of peaches and pears. The 1989 Bernkasteler Alte Badstube am Doctorberg Spatlese ($25) has aromas of orange peel and a supple mouthfeel.

CLEAN RIESLINGS, rich in extract, is the goal of the famous Rheingau estate Schloss Schonborn. Most of the 148 acres of gently sloping estate vineyards, scattered over 13 communities, are planted to riesling. Soil qualities of the various sites differ widely, and the wines have a broad range of taste characters.

The richest rieslings we tasted were the highly recommended wines of Schloss Schonborn, they include the 1989 Johannisberger Klaus Kabinett ($13.50) and the 1989 Spatlese ($20).

The Balbach family has engaged in winegrowing in the Rheinhessen since 1654. Today, the 45-acre estate vineyards are planted with riesling vines on the famous red slate that 1989 Schloss Schonborn Winkeler Hasensprung Riesling QbA ($12). If the German wine name seems confusing, read the column for an explanation. characterizes their unique style — balanced, elegance, with a forward, vigorous ripeness that is unmistakable.

We enjoyed the crisp fruit of the Balbach 1990 Niersteiner Klostergarten Kabinett ($15) and the steely flintiness of the 1988 Niersteiner Olberg Spatlese ($17).

The wines of Dr. Bassermann-Jordan, grown in Germany's Rheingau, show supple, mouthfilling freshness. Appley fruit aromas introduce full taste textures with refreshing aftertaste. We recommend the 1989 Deidesheimer Herrgottsacker Kabinett ($16) and the Deidesheimer Langenmorgen Spatlese ($20).

HOME DRIED ONIONS

You can dry onions easily and efficiently by slicing them thin, or chopping as desired, and spreading them out on flat cookie or baking sheets.

Place in a 130-150 degree oven for 4-5 hours, watching carefully during the last hour of drying to prevent burning.

Store in airtight containers and use as desired in soups, stews, salad dressings, dips, etc.

Rah, rah, ras . . . Clothes with class

By Charlene Mitchell
special writer

SEASONS CHANGE AND SO DO trends. As summer fades and the colorful mixture of autumn leaves start to appear, Michiganians seem to get a sudden itch to change their looks.

It's called "staying current," which is very different from the '80s version of being hip. Current can be conservative or slightly avant-garde. For sure, current is what's in now.

High school and college students are the biggest trendsetters for the current look. From varsity style leather jackets and four-by-four vehicles to the current look in haircuts and footwear, to be out of style is definitely not the way to impress the opposite sex.

Being current among teens and young adults is even trickling down to the younger kids who also feel that last spring's wardrobe is totally unacceptable for this fall.

"Ridiculous? Probably so, but current is the password to get people to accept you . . . not so much for who you are, but whether you're wearing the correct labels.

"It's really phenomenal," said the owner of Such A Deal outlets, a discount designer clothing chain with several stores in the metropolitan area. "All the teenagers are coming in for Cavarachi jeans in every color. We sell them for 50 percent off (the regular price is $80) and we can't keep enough of them in stock."

AT TRENDS, a men's and boys clothing shop in West Bloomfield, the current look is "Skids" pants (also worn by girls). The trousers come in a variety of plaid patterns and are made of a puckered cotton fabric.

The colors are simple — black and white combinations with warm burgundy and sea green. The prices might be a little steep, but when trying to stay current, price isn't the deciding factor.

A very "current" item this fall is the leather jacket with sports appliques. The popular football style shows a playing field on the back, complete with yard lines depicted with a suede-like fabric. A life-sized football in pigskin adorns the center of the field, with a smaller football on the sleeve.

Ethnic pride is also finding its way into fashion. Many African-Americans consider the current look to be a similar varsity-style jacket done in black leather with a green and black outline of the African continent on the back.

"A jacket like this might have been considered threatening a few years ago," said one University of Michigan student. "I like it because it's practical style-wise and it says who I am."

OTHER JACKETS in the line include basketball, bowling and traffic sign themes.

Haircuts certainly make a statement. According to Southfield stylist Hoffett of Asyas Salon, the "very" current look for guys is a pixie cut. It may sound a bit prissy, but it actually is an updated version of the bowl cut with wispy bangs.

The style is very popular among a number of Hollywood stars and guys in the music industry.

Another trend for hair, according to Hoffett, is coloring with cellophane. "My clients are all into products that are safe for the ozone," he said.

Once you have the right jeans, jacket and haircut, you'll need the right kind of transportation. If you listen to the people who run the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation, riding the bus is very current, even if you own a car.

In fact, Moore & Associates, a marketing group, is distributing printed invitations and free tickets for bus rides to and from key shopping malls in Oakland County.

From Northland to Summit Place to Oakland Community College, the bus rides promise to be prompt, convenient and fun. What a hoot for suburban kids who had a new car for their 16th birthday.

IF YOU enjoy yourself, there's a pre-posted card you can send to Moore & Associates for additional free tickets. (Wonder if the regular bus riders receive any of this free stuff?)

If the SMART bus loses its appeal (and it certainly will within a few weeks), the best way to stay current, according to auto dealers, is with a four-by-four. The Ford Explorer, Jeep Cherokee and Geo Tracker are all hot . . . excuse me, current. Next in line are convertibles. Definitely on the outs are family cars with four doors.

The best thing about being current is the raves you'll get from others in the know. The sad thing is it will cost you a bundle and by the time you get it all together, the styles are ready to change again.

North Farmington running back Jonathon Rogers (above) and cheerleader Julie Hahn model matching leather sport jackets ($129 each) in red and black. A 1992 Ford Explorer from Mel Farr Ford provides the backdrop for cheerleader Courtney Klingering a 2-piece denim outfit by "Splash" available in four neon colors.

A 1991 Geo Tracker from Jack Cauley Chevrolet suits North Farmington football coach Jim O'Leary and player Mike Hamill just right for a game of catch while modeling football jackets available in black and white or blue with gold leather in the bomber style or stadium length.

Rhino revives best of 'Shindig!'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

"Shindig!" only had a prime time run of two years on ABC-TV in the mid-60s. The show's impact, though, cannot be measured in length but by the names who appeared on the program.

Rhino Home Video has just released three videos in what will be a 12-volume set of clips culled from the original kinescopes of "Shindig!" — "Frat Party," "Motor City Magic" and "Jackie Wilson." "The Righteous Brothers — Unchained Melody," the first video of the series, was released in March.

'The artists wanted to be on "Shindig!" It was a big production. They knew they were going to look good and they knew they were going to be in good company. And they were being exposed to audiences across the country.'

— Jimmy O'Neill

Jimmy O'Neill may be a disc jockey on KRLA in Los Angeles today, but he became a household name when he was host of "Shindig!," the 1960s' version of MTV.

"Frat Party" features the likes of the Kingsmen doing "Louie Louie" and The McCoy's performing "Hang On Sloopy." "Motor City Magic" rekindles memories of Motown with The Supremes and Diana Ross' rendition of "Stop! In the Name of Love" and Smokey Robinson and the Miracles' "You've Really Got a Hold on Me."

But one stands out in the mind of Jimmy O'Neill, who hosted the show that was something of a precursor to MTV. "Jackie Wilson" offers a glimpse of the man they called "Mr. Dynamite."

"Of the four tapes out right now, it's my favorite tape," said O'Neill, who is a disc jockey on KRLA in Los Angeles. "It's a goose bump video. This guy was so dynamic visually."

THE TAPES are believed to be the only ones of Wilson performing live. The soul singer died in 1984. He suffered a heart attack while on stage in 1975 and spent the following 8½ years in a coma.

Wilson is buried at Westlawn Cemetery in Westland. Fans and friends of the great performer best known for hits such as "Lonely Teardrop" and "Your Love Keeps Lifting Me Higher and Higher" banded together to raise $18,000 three years ago for a mausoleum. Until then, Wilson's grave had been left unmarked.

"Jackie Wilson" features 13 performances during the course of the two-year run of "Shindig!" Included in the compilation is Wilson singing "That's Why (I Love You So)," "No Pity (in the Naked City)," "Baby Work Out" along with duets with Shirley Ellis and Jerry Lee Lewis.

Although the clips are in black and white with monophonic sound, the video certainly conveys the energy and genius of an artist who certainly left a legion of fans behind.

O'Neill said part of thrill the Wilson tapes are watching those who've never seen him perform before.

"Jackie's daughter (Sabrina Wilson) had seen the video at the (kickoff party in July) for the first time," O'Neill said. "She just kind of sat there mesmerized by the whole tape."

FOR O'NEILL and the rest of the Shindiggers, the video collection offers a chance to reminisce.

The show was the first prime time vehicle devoted to pop music. Most of the appearances by artists were live, not lip-synced. "Shindig!" also featured multiple artists melodies concluding the show.

More than anything, "Shindig!" harks back to a somewhat simpler time when radio disc jockeys like O'Neill could single-handedly break new acts. His show was instrumental in doing just that.

"The artists wanted to be on 'Shindig!,'" O'Neill said. "It was a big production. They knew they were going to look good and they knew they were going to be in good company. And they were being exposed to audiences across the country."

"Shindig!" also helped resurrect the music careers of people like Little Richard and Jerry Lee Lewis, whose fortunes plummeted after his marriage to a 14-year-old third cousin became public.

"I just saw Jerry Lee Lewis a few months ago and he still thanks me profusely for putting him on," O'Neill said.

The 30-minute "Shindig!" videos cost $14.95 each and are available at local video stores.

LET'S TALK

'Guns of Paradise' series went to TV's great beyond

By Taylor Michaels

Q: What ever happened to the show Paradise? It was a good show for children to grow up with. It seems like all that's on now are shows with men and women naked. That's not nice for little children to see. They need shows like Paradise — not trash. —Cleo Pullins, Keokuk, Iowa.

A: The show went through title (Guns of Paradise) and time slot changes and eventually was canceled. There are quite a few programs on the air that are suitable for the entire family; Full House, Perfect Strangers, Empty Nest and The Cosby Show. For teenagers, try Beverly Hills, 90210, Northern Exposure, Law & Order, A Different World and Matlock. There are also many good shows in syndication. Check your local listings for them. Of course, you always have the option of turning off the tube in favor of a good book.

Q: I would really like to know a little something about Jean-Claude Van Damme. First of all, when was he born? How old is he? Where does he live, and is he still happily married to Gladys Portugues? Some of my friends and I were wondering why he doesn't ever talk about her? And why isn't he wearing a wedding band? They must be separated or something because I never see them together. If he has any kids, and he's really separated from his wife, does he take care of them? —T.T., Milledgeville, Ga.

A: Van Damme was born in 1961. He lives in California, is still happily married and has two children. I don't know exactly why he doesn't talk about his personal life, but I would think it's because he wants to keep it private. Most stars find being in the limelight nerve-racking and try to keep their families from suffering as well. As for the wedding band, unless he's playing a married man on-screen, there's no reason for him to be wearing one. By all accounts, Van Damme is a caring husband and father. He is active with the Make-A-Wish Foundation, which grants terminally ill children requests that might not otherwise be possible. He is also a vocal supporter of animal protection.

Q: Could you tell me the name of the actor who played an alien named Martin in the movie V? My sister says he is on

Lee Horsley in Guns of Paradise

Counterstrike, but I don't think she's right. Has he been in any other movies? —V.S., Phoenix.

A: The man's name is Frank Ashmore. I have no other information on him. Sorry.

Q: I like Lou Diamond Phillips, Christian Slater and Corey Feldman. I was hoping you would give me their addresses so I could write to them. —Jessica Copen, Kellyville, Okla.

A: Phillips can be reached c/o Harris and Goldberg, 1999 Avenue of the Stars, Suite 2850, Los Angeles, Calif., 90067. Write Slater c/o CAA, 9830 Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Feldman can be reached c/o APA, 9000 Sunset Boulevard, Suite 1200, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Q: I would like to get all the information I can on Tom Cruise —birthday, movies, marital history and current plans. —Sheila Sanford, Milledgeville, Ga.

A: Cruise was born on July 2, 1962. He is married to Nicole Kidman and was formerly married to Mimi Rogers. His movies are: All the Right Moves, Born on the Fourth of July, Cocktail, The Color of Money, Days of Thunder, Legend, Losin' It, The Outsiders, Rain Man, Risky Business, Taps and Top Gun. Cruise is currently filming Far Away, a Ron Howard movie co-starring Kidman.

FAMILY FARE

'Preschool Power' is how-to for little ones

By Sherry Jones

Parents, if your 4-year-old gets excited at the prospect of going to the video store, then you probably have a weekend ritual you follow. The next time you set out on this adventure and your child starts pulling you toward the Disney aisle, suggest something different.

New to the kids video section is a wonderful music video titled Preschool Power. This video shows children from ages 2 to 6 how to do some of the things little ones may find complicated and also fun. Follow along as 5-year-old Jimmy shows kids an easy way to put on a jacket or coat. Watch a pirate buckle his shoes and belt and tie on his sword.

As children get closer to the age of 5, their curiosity in the kitchen grows, too. Another segment of the video takes a child through the steps of making blueberry muffins, from measuring the flour to cracking the eggs. On the easier side of cooking, kids can learn the joys of making peanut-butter sandwiches. But beware; if you have a 2-year-old watching, you could find your toddler making a delicacy of his own.

A sequel titled More Preschool Power is a little better for the 2- to 3-year-old, especially if there's an older brother or sister around.

BITS AND PIECES

Mom-to-be Katey Sagal gets maternal TV-movie role

Expectant mother Katey Sagal, who plays Peggy Bundy on Fox's Married...With Children, will make her TV-movie debut playing a troubled mom for NBC. Alan Rachins (L.A. Law) and Charlotte Ross (Days of Our Lives) will co-star with Sagal in A Violation of Trust, the story of a parent struggling to believe her teenage daughter is innocent of murdering a schoolmate. The movie is slated for telecast this season.

Lenin's visage isn't being obliterated from the Eastern Bloc entirely. The father of Soviet communism is appearing on a dollar bill as part of a Soviet bank's "New Times, new people, new services" ad campaign, reports Advertising Age. A two-page color ad, complete with the dollar, shows a young businessman in a hurry and a wristwatch with perestroika written on it. It is designed to appeal to the growing number of Soviet yuppies.

Katey Sagal

Coach executive-producer Sheldon Bull is crossing networks from ABC to produce a new half-hour sitcom for CBS. Bull has been given a six-episode commitment for a yet untitled series being developed for the 1992 season. A two-time Emmy winner, Bull's other TV credits include Newhart and A Different World.

Coca-Cola USA and Walt Disney Studios are launching an entertainment coup that will transform the soft-drink aisle into a movie-theater turnstile. The "Ticket to Entertainment" promotion offers consumers a chance to win one of 5 million tickets to upcoming films from Touchstone and Hollywood Pictures, divisions of Disney. Specially marked containers of Coca-Cola Classic, diet Coke and Sprite could contain tickets and a free soft-drink coupon redeemable at most theaters across the country.

HOROSCOPES

CABLE NEWS

By C.C. Clark

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
This is a great time to look at your life and see what you would like to change. You'll feel like doing a little cleaning around the house.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
This is a positive time for love relationships. It is imperative you keep an open mind when dealing with certain business situations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
Don't get on a soapbox within social circles. Ranting and raving will get you nowhere; tactful comments to the right people will work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You will feel the urge to spend every dime you ever made, but it's an urge you definitely need to curb. Saving money should be a priority.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Work-related problems will have you feeling low, but remember the situation you are in is only temporary. Things will be looking better soon.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You may find yourself in a situation with unfamiliar people to deal with. Watch your words carefully, especially when speaking in public.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You have an important decision to make, and it isn't going to be easy. Instincts are on target, but you may not choose the easiest path to follow.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
A business opportunity will come your way this week. Only you can decide what is right for you, so don't waste your time asking for others' advice.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
You will see someone close to you in a different light, and it will help you make an important decision. Try not to keep secrets from loved ones.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Don't be pressured into making a permanent decision for which you may not be ready. You may have to say "no" to certain people.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Your temper could get the best of you and cause problems at work and at home. It's time to be a little more open-minded.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
You'll hit a few rough spots, but for the most part, the week will run smoothly. Romantic partners may surprise you with a gift.

'Who shot JFK?' ongoing inquiry

By Dan Rice

Who shot JFK? Producer/writer Nigel Turner reopens that can of worms with a documentary series premiering Friday, Sept. 27, on A&E. Investigative Reports: The Men Who Killed Kennedy challenges the Warren Commission's findings with a U.S. intelligence/military-conspiracy theory backed up with new eyewitness accounts and film footage withheld from the public.

The roots of America are dark, indeed. The bouquet of American Indian cultures was threshed by European conquerors with swords of death, disease and prejudice, leaving behind a bad attitude among the settlers and culminating in the massacre at Wounded Knee. Learn more about the tragedy in the first episode of Time Machine With Jack Perkins, titled "Savagery and the American Indians: Wilderness," also airing Friday on A&E. The program tells the story of a stolen neighborhood from the viewpoint of its original tenants.
