Church barred from housing homeless

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The only "points of light" in Plymouth Township this holiday season will be strung outside houses or glowing from sand-filled luminary bags.

Members of a local church wanted to bring a group of 60-65 Detroit homeless to spend a week here in January, as part of an inter-faith effort involving more than a dozen suburban churches.

But while several suburban communities including Northville and Livonia have allowed homeless people to be housed in churches in their communities, Plymouth Township's administration has said no.

"SOME CHURCHES ARE doing it but are not asking permission from local government," said Gerald Law, township supervisor.

"You hate to be the Scrooge at Christmas-time. But when someone formally requests something, we must apply our ordinances — I don't have the power to override ordinances."

In a letter to the church, township attorney Judd Hemming wrote, "Your church was not designed, built or inspected to comply with fire, building and public health laws applicable to multiple family housing.

"The housing of multiple families in a church may result in an extremely dangerous condition for the inhabitants," he continued.

"I think it's quite shocking that the township is legislating what the normal operation of a church should be," said Doug Koenig, a lay leader of First United Methodist Church, 45201 N. Territorial.

Koenig said most of the church's 1,450 members favor housing homeless at the church.

The request was first turned down in November, "and we were turned down last week again," Koenig said Thursday.

"The homeless problem is a growing local emergency situation," wrote church outreach chairman Ted Kuhns in a letter to the township requesting approval.

'I would be concerned about the crime.'

"WHAT THEY'RE asking the township to do is violate the township laws and ordinances and the state statutes," Hemming said. "The township is without any authority whatsoever to act on their request. If you go around making unilateral exceptions, it is dangerous to inhabitants."

Asked how he'd respond to those who would say the township administration's decision is elitist or racist, Hemming said, "I think that's utter nonsense. They (the church) have asked for a legal opinion based strictly on the parameters of the law."

One neighbor of the church, who declined to be named, said that while she understands how people can be forced into homelessness, added, "I would be concerned about the crime."

Koenig said several people would be on hand to oversee the homeless staying at the church, adding that other suburbs haven't reported problems from homeless staying in their towns.

"It was a wonderful experience," said Sharon Harper, administrative assistant for the First United Methodist Church of Northville. "We had them last year, and we'll have them this year," she said.

While she said nearby businesses had been a bit wary, nothing happened. "They're not out walking the streets," she said.

"What do we hope to accomplish?" Kuhns wrote in his letter asking for township approval.

"By our actions, we hope that our guests will realize that someone cares for them," the letter continued.

Downtown ideas

Ideas from the public on how to improve the downtown business climate are being sought at a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today at the city commission chambers, Plymouth city hall, 201 S. Main. The meeting will be led by Washington D.C. consulting firm Hyett Palma Inc., hired by the Downtown Development Authority to put together a business retention and promotion plan. Ideas can also be submitted in writing.

Food collection

By Friday, Miller elementary students had collected 2,500 canned goods to donate to the Salvation Army, and Marge Palmer said "We're hoping to get at least 1,000 more," by Dec. 14. That's when a "Santa's Breakfast" with Mr. and Mrs. Claus is scheduled, from 9 a.m. to noon. Students have arranged boxes holding the canned goods in the shape of a train, in the school lobby.

Candle in a paper bag

Luminary kits will be sold from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 14 and 21 at Kroger on Ann Arbor Road and Westchester Mall on Forest in Plymouth. The kits are $3.50 and contain 10 candles and 10 white paper bags, and the proceeds benefit the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and Trailwood Garden Club. For more information, call Pat Conrad at 459-0978 or Mary O'Connell at 459-1999.

Cookie sale

The Plymouth Pizzazz precision skating teams are sponsoring a cookie sale from 3-8 today at the Plymouth Cultural Center. There will be 20 varieties of cookies, candies, trays and gingerbread houses. Proceeds will pay costs for three skating competitions.

Hoben moderates

Plymouth Canton schools superintendent John Hoben has been invited to moderate a program session at the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators in February in San Diego, Calif.

Toy collection

Mel's Golden Razor is continuing its 14-year tradition of collecting used and new toys and cash donations for abused, handicapped, needy children and individual families.

Thursday, Dec. 19, is the deadline for donations at Mel's Golden Razor, 595 Forest Avenue in Plymouth. For information call 455-9057.

Santa calling

The Plymouth-Canton Jaycees are once again running their Calling Santa Project. Today and Tuesday, children from the Plymouth-Canton community will be able to talk with Santa and Christmas Carol by dialing a local number. The hot line number to the North Pole is 453-1200. The hot lines will be open only from 7-9 p.m.

Fred Hill announced plans last week to close two of his three downtown stores in January.

Landmark clothing store to close doors

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

First it was Farmer Jack, then the downtown Amoco station, and now this.

Downtown Plymouth's image took another shot to the chin last week as clothier Fred Hill announced he's closing his Main Street store and his women's store "Me and Mrs. Jones."

A third store owned by Jones, Me and Mrs. Jones Petite store, will remain open. "We've been trying to exist in an environment that will no longer support us, as with the dinosaur," Hill said Wednesday in announcing his plans.

What does another prominent store closing suggest for downtown Plymouth?

"TO ME IT'S going to end up restaurants and narrow specialty stores and offices," said Hill, who is also a member of the city's Downtown Development Authority.

"We don't fit at all the picture of what Plymouth is going to be," he said last week.

Hill's store Fred Hill Haberdashers opened nearly 24 years ago, offering "better traditional" men's wear priced at "above a moderately priced store," he said.

There was a trace of irony in the timing of Hill's announcement, as it came less than a week after his successful second annual "A Plymouth Thanksgiving" celebration in Kellogg Park.

"It was sure a surprise," said Mayor Robert Jones of Hill's anouncement. "His enthusiasm is important to the town, I hope he remains enthusiastic about the town."

To some who first heard Hill was leaving, the announcement suggested more than just another business going down.

That's because Hill has become a positive symbol of Plymouth with his fun, creative promotions, including "A Plymouth Thanksgiving" and his briefcase drill team that appears in area parades.

"The focus will be the (Me and Mrs. Jones) Petite store for now," Hill said, adding he owns some downtown property and "will be expanding my involvement" in real estate.

"I'm still on the DDA, the briefcase drill team will still march," he added.

Will he eventually leave Plymouth? "I haven't thought that far ahead," Hill, a town resident, said.

An Ohio State University graduate, Hill worked as a buyer for Hudson's before opening his store in 1968. First called John Smith Clothing Co., he opened it with partners Harold Guenther and Jim Houk. "I bought them out a few years later," he said.

WHILE THE STORE stuck mainly with traditional clothes, Hill laughs when he recalls the fringed suede vests, acetate turtle-necks and wallpaper-print shirts he has carried.

Business-wise, "It was pretty hard

New members join Cheer Club

The ever-growing pile of canned goods and toys donated to our Christmas Cheer Club demonstrates there are plenty of good-hearted folks in Plymouth and Canton this Christmas.

Most recent contributors were several anonymous donors from both Plymouth and Canton, including one who gave in the name of St. Joseph, Elaine and Frank Polgar, Canton; Rick, Laura, Kyle and Jake Neal, Plymouth; Nina Pappas, Plymouth; Tom Lehnis on behalf of State Farm insurance, Canton; Susan Schmitz, Canton; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reeves, Plymouth.

AND THERE'S STILL time to bring in your contribution.

The idea behind the club is that no child should be without a gift on Christmas, and no family should go hungry.

Joining is easy. Membership is open to anyone who can take the time to stop by our office and drop off a canned good or new, un-wrapped toy for a needy child.

Sure, the economy is down and many out there may not have a heap of extra money lying around to spend on presents this Christmas.

But if you can afford a simple toy or canned good or two, our friends at the Salvation Army will find a child or family who would appreciate your gift.

We're collecting the items until right before Christmas when they'll be turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution to the needy in our area.

So come by our office at 744 Wing, just a few blocks south of Kellogg Park. When you come in, we'd like to take your name and list it in the Observer with others who give to the Christmas Cheer Club.

We're hoping readers will enthusiastically support the Christmas Cheer Club this year. We'd like to make it an annual tradition.

Man dies in Canton crash

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A 34-year-old Belleville man died Friday morning shortly after losing control of his car, veering into oncoming traffic and being struck by a tow truck.

Richard Bellanger was driving a 1975 Olds Cutlass south on Canton Center near Ford Road at about 9:12 p.m. when apparently he lost control, spun around and ended up in the north bound lane, according to Canton police Detective Bill Keppen.

A FORD-350 pick-up truck traveling north on Canton Center struck Bellanger's car on the driver's side. The pick-up was hauling another car.

Bellanger, who was not wearing his seatbelt, was alone in the car. No one else was injured as a result of the accident that occurred on icy roads, Keppen said.

The truck driver didn't receive a ticket. Initial investigations show the accident appears to have been caused by Bellanger.

Preliminary investigations indicate that alcohol was a factor in the accident. Autopsy results are expected within three weeks, Keppen said. He added that it was difficult to say whether speed played a role.

"There's no indication that speed is considered a factor," Keppen said. "But when someone loses control of a vehicle the question is always: Was the speed too fast for the conditions?"

Bellanger was taken to Annapolis Hospital and died at 12:17 a.m.

THERE WERE five other fatalities on Canton roads this year:

• A 53-year-old Canton woman died last November when the car she was driving collided with a pickup as she was pulling out of Holiday Park subdivision attempting to merge with traffic on Joy.

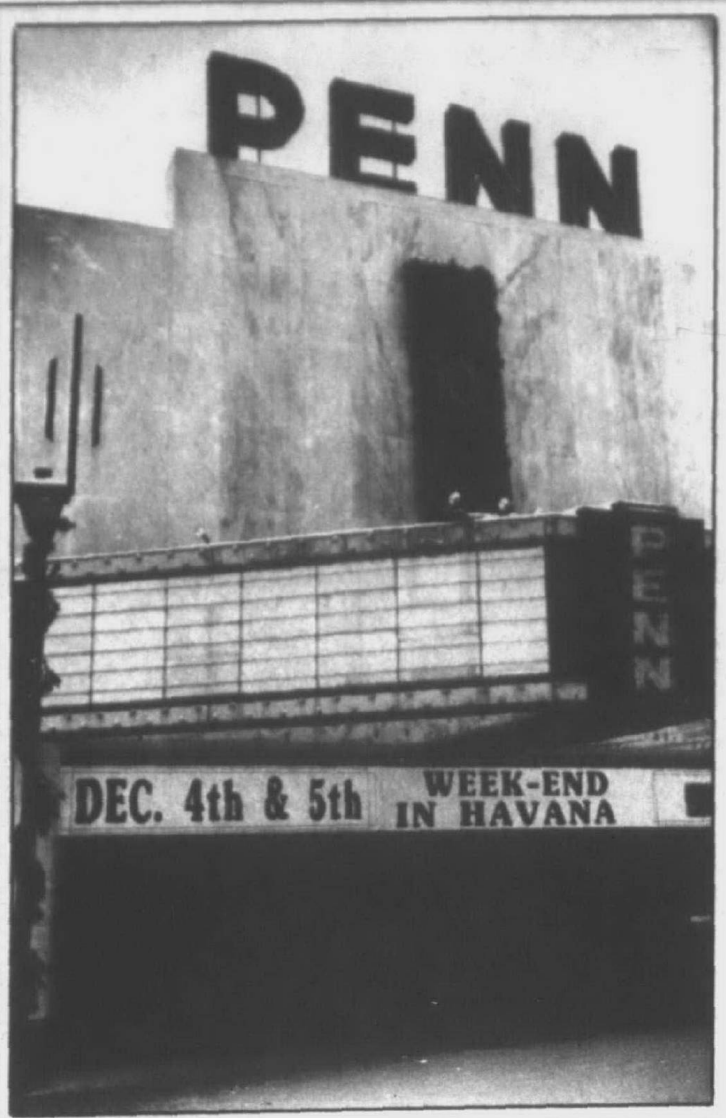

• A 76-year-old woman and a 5-year-old girl were killed at the Geddes and Denton intersection when the driver failed to yield to an emergency vehicle.

• A 35-year-old Chelsea man died in June when his 1983 Oldsmobile struck a semi-trailer truck parked in the right lane on Michigan Avenue. The driver of the car was legally drunk at the time of the accident, according to autopsy results.

• A 25-year-old South Lyon man died in accident when he was traveling west on Ford Road near Ridge. His car crossed the center line and collided with another car. The driver also was legally drunk, autopsy results showed.

There were 12 fatalities on Canton roads last year.

The Penn Theater in downtown Plymouth celebrated its 50th anniversary last week with the return showing of the theater's first feature, "Weekend in Havana," starring Cesar Romero and Carmen Miranda. The theater charged 30 cents admission for the event — the price charged to show goes Dec. 4 and 5, 1941.

Widow receives harassment

A Plymouth woman told police Dec. 5 she has received numerous harassing telephone calls since her husband died about two weeks ago.

Officers said she's received several calls a day during which the caller says nothing, but keeps the line open. The woman also has received calls at work from someone inquiring about her husband's insurance.

The woman's boss received an anonymous letter addressed to his wife. The letter claims the complainant is having an affair with her boss. Police said the complainant wishes to file charges. The woman has contacted Michigan Bell and is going to get a tracer placed on her phone.

crime watch

BB SHOTS: Shots from a BB or pellet gun destroyed the window of a car parked Tuesday on Albert Drive near Baywood in Plymouth Township.

The damage occurred sometime after 1:30 p.m., according to the report filed with police. Damage to the 1987 Chrysler was estimated at $150. Police have no suspects.

Haberdashery offered rare personal touch

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

To enter Fred Hill Haberdashers Wednesday was to begin to catch the holiday spirit, what with the decorations on display and eye-catching Santa silk ties and Christmas socks for sale.

But a few hours earlier, employees' spirits sank when their owner announced at a meeting that he is closing his haberdashery and his Me and Mr. Jones women's store. The Me and Mr. Jones petite store will remain open.

Hill, who has 15 employees, also called a meeting of city officials and local business people to give them the news Wednesday.

CHUCK SMITH WORKED for Fred Hill in the early 1980s and came back to the haberdashery just two months ago.

"It's a big disappointment. This has been such a part of the community for so long," said Smith.

"It's kind of sad it happen. But people have an illusion of downtown areas that doesn't fit in like we would hope it would."

A hallmark of Hill's shops is personalized service — something not often found in mall stores. Many of Hill's customers have been clients for 10, even 20 years. Wooden files at the store contain the dates of customers' birthdays and anniversaries.

Personalized birthday greetings are mailed to customers. And the cards are signed, not engraved.

"We kind of felt that the personal attention we gave here made it a little bit like 'Cheers.' When someone comes in, everyone knows his name, his size, and the suits he likes," said Smith.

"When birthdays come up, we'd call a customer's wife and say, 'We happen to have this sweater on sale,' or whatever," he said. "We tried to have anniversaries on file, too. If she needed a gift and didn't have time to shop, we'd wrap it and bring it out to the house if it we could make it there and back within a reasonable amount of time."

"It was personal touches like that set us apart from mall stores and strip centers, where you don't have that same warm feeling necessarily," said Smith. "People who were here were consistently here — we would know them and they would know us. We weren't trying to sell them, we just tried to fill the needs they might have when they came in. And the other stores (Me and Mr. Jones and Me and Mrs. Jones Petite) ran on the same principles."

BECAUSE JUST Me and Mrs. Jones Petite will remain open, several employees stand to lose their jobs.

"We're not sure what we're going to do, but we're not going to worry about that for a while," said Smith.

Hill carried a quality line of suits, shirts, ties and casual wear including brands such as Burberry; Ayrshire/Austin Reed; Ralph Lauren; and Hart, Schaffner and Marx. Custom-made suits were sold as well.

A dyed-in-the-wool Buckeye fan, Hill is magnanimous enough to decorate his cozy, well-appointed store with colorful "Wolverine Drive" and "Spartan Avenue" street signs during football season.

A gold antique cash register, still used as a change drawer, graces the counter. Adorning the walls are old-time photos of distinguished-looking gentlemen outfitted in their finest.

Adding to the homey atmosphere are a couple of wall-mounted, wood-encased televisions and a jukebox with selections like "Mack the Knife" by Bobby Darin; "Be Bop-a-Lulu" by Gene Vincent; "Searchin'" by the Coasters; "I Just Go Nuts at Christmas" by Yogi Yoressom, and "Get a Job" by the Silhouettes.

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Plymouth police say it's still not known what type of liquid was in the Pepsi bottle removed from a locker at East Middle School during Wednesday morning's bomb scare.

The fluid is being analyzed by Michigan State Police, who responded to the bomb threat along with city police and firefighters.

"The matter is still very much under investigation," said Plymouth Police Chief Robert Scoggins. "We have some different angles that we've looked at. In regards to the device, it could very well be nothing, but it certainly had the appearance of being something, which added credence to the reason we acted the way we did."

THE CONTAINER was taken outside and placed a distance away from the school, which is at 1042 S. Mill.

Police said the container found in locker No. 1093 was a clear Pepsi bottle with a cork attached to a yellow string with wax on one end. It contained a clear liquid. Asked whether a disgruntled employee or someone else has been identified as a suspect, Scoggins said, "We still don't have a concrete suspect at this time."

The school, attended by 697 students, was evacuated at 9:30 a.m. after an unknown male caller phoned the school secretary at 7:15 a.m. and said, "Listen so you don't screw up. I have put three bombs in the school. The first one is set to go off at 10:05 a.m. I will call back at 9:05 to give my demands for the police to show I'm not f----- around."

The secretary who took the call said she is sure the caller made some other statements, but she was too stunned to remember everything.

Michigan Bell was contacted, and a tap was set up on the phone, but the suspect never called back.

The Michigan State Police dog unit searched the premises but found nothing.

The 10:05 deadline passed without incident.

The schools deferred all inquiries to police.

Clothing store to close

to beat the '70s," Hill said. "That was before the regional malls."

When Hill first opened, there were two auto dealerships downtown, grocery stores, two pharmacies and two theaters. "None of that is here anymore," he said.

It also hurt his business when other men's stores left, Hill said. When shoppers can't find variety in a small downtown, they know where to find it — a mall.

Did Hill consider relocating to a mall? "I'm not a mall person," he said, adding malls have too many rules for store owners to suit him.

Hill said both stores will close in January.

Schools face $5 million shortfall

Wayne Circuit Judge Roland Olzark issued a temporary restraining order Friday permitting Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and other out-of-formula Wayne County school districts to withhold tax-base sharing payments.

Under the tax-base sharing plan, out-of-formula districts in Michigan would contribute revenue to less-affluent districts.

PLYMOUTH-CANTON'S first payment of $375,000 was due in mid-December, with the balance of $375,000 due next year. The amount represents half the tax revenue from commercial and industrial growth.

At its meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the board office, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is scheduled to discuss the 1991-92 budget. The $72 million budget was passed before the tax-base sharing plan was approved by Lansing, and before the state placed a cap on the social security reimbursements it pays school districts.

The added factor of a freeze on property assessments paints a flat revenue picture for next year that may result in expenditures exceeding revenues by as much as $5 million, say school officials. Where cuts might be made hasn't yet been decided. Administrators are hopeful new property developments will eliminate the predicament.

The social security cap translates to a cost this year for the district of $122,000. With salary increases and added enrollment, the sum is projected to increase to $135,000 next year. The state will contribute a maximum of $50,000 for social security.

The $59.7 million bond issue approved by voters is unaffected by the changes.

Local Santa slips into the red this Christmas

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Bad economic times looked as bleak as they could get last week when Santa Claus said he was going into the red to meet costs.

But the holiday spirit, through organizations like the Canton Chamber of Commerce, could bail him out.

Gene "Santa" Reaves, 89, has been wearing the red and white uniform of good will and cheer for 60 years. And even though the money isn't coming in this year as quickly as it usually does, he's not giving up.

"I don't give nothing used, and I want to do the buying myself," Reaves said from his Westland home.

"I'm about $2,000 in the red this year," Reaves said. "I've been going into my savings account, which doesn't amount to nothing."

BUT EVEN financial woes can't dampen his spirits.

The ho, ho, ho bottom of the tummy laugh echoed over the telephone. He sounded just like you'd imagine Santa Claus would sound while he described his seasonal ritual.

He wasn't acting. And why should he? Folks young and old from all parts of Michigan know Reaves as the real Father Christmas. And this year the Jaycees have named him senior citizen of the year for Michigan.

"Old St. Nicholas is still going strong," he said even though a bleeding ulcer and other ailments have slowed him down.

"But I have a lot of understudies," Reaves said in between laughs.

And as in so many years gone by, Santa Reaves has touched the hearts of Canton residents. In return this year the chamber has adopted his "Santa's Christmas Fund" program.

Guests to the chamber's annual holiday party, 7-10 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 12, at the Sunflower Village Hanford Club House, 45800 Hanford Road, are asked to bring sweaters, caps, mittens, stuffed animals, money and other donations for the fund.

Reaves then promises to distribute his goodies to Bryant School for the Retarded, Dorsey Street Community Center, Foster Grandparent Association, respite centers and area group homes.

CHAMBER DIRECTOR Linda Shapona said she recently learned that Santa Reaves was an honorary member of the Canton chamber.

"I gave him a call, and he was such a wonderful man," Shapona said, adding that the chamber was looking for a party theme that would allow members to give something back to the community.

Gene 'Santa' Reaves

Dinner will be provided by Canton Catering and entertainment by Silver Sounds Professional D.J. The cost is $12 per person. Reservations can be made by calling the chamber office at 453-4040.

To make donations to "Santa's Christmas Fund" send checks to: Santa's Christmas Fund, 37789 Hixford, Westland, Mich. 48185.

Santa Reaves has been known to say: "I do not have the power to cure them, but I do have the power to make them happy."

Senate OKs county stadium tax ballot request

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Wayne County barely won authority to ask voters March 17 for a package of taxes to help finance a new Detroit Tigers stadium.

Senators Thursday almost knocked the wheels off County Executive Ed McNamara's buggy by voting 18-14 in favor of an entirely different set of taxes from those McNamara sought. But the amendment failed because 20 votes were needed.

"We seem to have some momentum," Michael Duggan, the McNamara deputy who has guided the stadium project, told reporters after the all-day session. "We're going to sit down with the Tigers in January and make them an offer. We're gonna need a deal."

The lack of a deal — a firm promise by Tigers owner Tom Monaghan to stay in Detroit and occupy a new downtown stadium — was used by opponents to attack House Bill 5300.

THE SENATE gave 22-9 support to the measure empowering Wayne County commissioners to ask voters for a countywide 1 percent tax on restaurant food and beverages, 2 percent on rental cars and 1 percent on hotels and motels.

They expanded the bill to allow Oakland, Washtenaw, Ingham, Kent and Muskegon counties to finance stadiums, too. The bill must go back to the House for concurrence.

The buggy wheels almost came off a second time when the Senate needed three roll calls to obtain a two-thirds majority (26) to give the bill immediate effect. Without it, the measure wouldn't become law until the end of March, two weeks after the planned election date.

Here's how area senators voted on final passage:

• Yes — Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, Robert Geake, R-Northville, George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn.

• No — Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham — "with reluctance. I see constitutional problems" with the new taxes exceeding the 4 percent limit on the sales and use tax in the Michigan Constitution. "I don't see any correlation between the taxes and the benefits. You may eat at Eight Mile and Greenfield and yet subsidize the stadium." But Bouchard switched on the immediate effect provision and supported it.

'We seem to have some momentum. We're going to sit down with the Tigers in January and make them an offer. We're gonna need a deal.'

— Michael Duggan
deputy county executive

• Excused absence — William Faust, D-Westland, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Faust supported Wayne County's position on amendments but was wheeled from the chamber looking ill a half-hour before final passage.

Honigman guided the bill through his Local Government Committee in an eight-hour meeting the day before but missed his first session day Thursday to attend an out-of-town funeral. An aide said Honigman would have supported it. An opponent praised Honigman's fairness in the committee session.

THE ROLL CALL doesn't tell the story, however.

Geake and Dunaskiss supported several major amendments, including one by Gil DiNello, D-East Detroit, to change the entire tax package.

DiNello came two votes shy of winning approval for a package of unlimited taxes on stadium tickets, concessions and parking, and limiting the food-beverage tax to restaurants within five miles of the stadium site.

Another amendment by John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, would have required the total cost of the stadium project to appear on the ballot question. Geake and Bouchard supported it.

Kelly estimated the total at more than $600 million, although the taxes will bring in enough for a $140 million bond issue over 25-30 years. "How much will this boondoggle — this white elephant — cost? Where's the other $360 million coming from?" he asked.

HART, WHOSE district includes Garden City, rarely says more than a sentence or two on the Senate floor. But he was up repeatedly to defend the measure against Kelly amendments.

"This amendment (to place the total cost of the stadium on the ballot) is clouding the issue," Hart said.

"True, there is no agreement with the Tiger baseball club (to occupy it). Only one thing is absolutely sure: They want a new stadium, and if they don't get it, they will move.

"A (big league) franchise is a treasure," Hart said, citing the losses of the Baltimore Colts, Philadelphia Athletics, St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators to those metropolitan areas.

Hart was on his feet again when DiNello proposed limiting the county to one election a year.

"Nowhere have I seen such a punitive amendment," Hart said, and the measure went down 14-11.

PROVING YOURSELF TO OTHERS WHEN YOU HAVE ARTHRITIS

A flare of your arthritis can leave you in such pain that you hold a knife or fork, or are unable to dress, let alone tie your shoes without assistance.

At such a time, how do you keep your pride, how do you prevent people from either pitying or discounting you?

First, you have to acknowledge you are impaired: you need the help of others to get through your day, and you look awkward and must accept the stares of strangers. This practical assessment will allow you to remain level headed and avoid a surly mood or an apologetic attitude.

Second, you need to deal openly with the doubts of family and friends about your ability to take care of yourself and keep up with them. You can explain what you and your doctor have decided is necessary if you are to maintain your strength and coordination. In addition, you should discuss what you are physically able to undertake at the present time.

The point to remember is that if other people are to deal realistically with you, you must do the same with yourself and them.

If you make this effort, others will see your strength. At the same time, you will do more for your self respect than possible by any personal act of silent suffering.

points of view

Spare us the 'wonderful life'

SOMETIMES I WONDER if the crooks behind the savings and loan scams didn't pay off Ted Turner to turn the dreaded Christmas movie "It's a Wonderful Life" into a classic.

The only reason that sappy piece of celluloid is a classic is that Turner told us so for the last few years. Film critics even take to the air waves and call it film noir. That's dark film for us Philistines. All it really means is that film makers didn't put enough light on the subject.

Before Turner bought and forced Jimmy Stewart and Donna Reed down our throats, along with our Christmas turkey, the movie was never on the tube. The "Wizard of Oz" and "Casablanca" yes, but never the propaganda piece for the savings and loan industry.

For those lucky enough to have never seen "It's a Wonderful Life," here's the plot.

JIMMY STEWART wants to go away to college and see the world. Instead he stays home, works at dad's savings and loan, marries the girl next door. Stewart's uncle gets drunk, loses the savings and loan's money and mean Mr. Potter threatens to take it over.

Depressed, Stewart tries to commit suicide by jumping off a bridge, but is saved by an angel. The angel shows Stewart what the town would have been like if Stewart had never lived. Stewart decides he wants to live, comes back to life and everybody in town pitches in to bail out the savings and loan association.

That ends the wonderful fairy story.

The only trouble is that it came true in the 1980s and we all ended up bailing out the savings and loan industry with our tax dollars. Saving a bunch of rich crooks just didn't have the charm as passing the hat for old

Jeff Counts

Jimmy in his living room.

But that isn't the only reason we've made a classic out of the sentimental piece of trash.

THE OTHER is the reformers. The times I've watched the movie, I've always found Pottsville more attractive than Bedford Falls. Pottsville was the way the town would have been if Stewart hadn't lived.

Pottsville is full of dime-a-dance places, honky-tonks and girly shows. That always seemed more appealing than Bedford Falls which had the al-lure of a Jello mold at a Presbyterian church supper.

The neo-prohibitionists, feminists and other such reformers naturally gravitate toward "It's a Wonderful Life." Maybe Turner has been listening to girlfriend Jane Fonda. Having a couple of beers and heading to the dime-a-dance place should be banned, you can hear Jane say.

Let's face it, "It's a Wonderful Life" is a sentimental piece of trash dusted off and revived for our times.

What may have been late, late show fare in the 1950s and 1960s has helped the financially corrupt crooks in the savings and loan industry and the corrupt business of being politically correct.

It certainly is the movie for the '90s.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers.

Nerds tread the path to fortune

THERE WAS something extremely disconcerting about the job list.

The list was what occupations will be in high demand and which in low demand for college graduates this year. It was produced by the placement service of Michigan State, that pretty good university in East Lansing.

At the top of the heap — "limited supply" — were accountants, both practitioners and teachers; chemistry teachers and chemical engineers; electrical engineers; math teachers; physics teachers; industrial arts teachers.

Next in line — "possible shortage" — were chemists, business teachers, computer science, teachers of computer science and data processing.

Yecch!

Bo-o-o-ring!

THOSE ARE nerd jobs.

You know about nerds from the movies.

The nerd was six inches shorter than the "with it" guy. The nerd wore glasses, which automatically disqualified him from athletics and self-defense.

The nerd had a cowlick. He had no "technique" with the chicks.

The nerd studied physics and math. His room contained no motorcycle posters or pictures of chicks, but was devoted to scientific experiments.

When nerd movies started in the 1950s, the nerd had a slide rule instead of a Coke (trademark).

Snicker, snicker.

IT TURNS out that the path to fortune, if not heroism in the movies, is paved with math, calculus, trig, physics, chemistry, high technology, industrial tools.

Indeed if there is one theme linking the high-demand, high-pay occupations, says MSU's Dr. L. Patrick Scheetz, it's high technology. Not Ferris Buehler-type gadgetry and special effects. The real, scientific thing.

And what of our "creative" geniuses in advertising, the artistic minds that turn simple words into symbols that inflame a generation? Advertising is in the category of "surplus" supply.

Tim Richard

It's fashionable to honor teachers. But in the Midwest, the supply of teachers outnumbers the job demand by 2.5 to 1. If you want a teaching job, try Louisiana, Georgia and Florida, and may the saints protect you.

Psychology and sociology have been popular courses in the last 20 years, even at the high school level. State aid for the arts and theater has been a popular political issue in upscale suburbia.

The demand for sociologists, psychologists, artists, social workers, civics teachers, government teachers and natural resources teachers looks like it is far below the supply.

TELEVISION news people, particularly women, are movie good persons.

Jane Fonda played a TV reporter in "Electric Horseman" and "China Syndrome." Lauren Hutton, with a gap in her teeth, played a TV reporter opposite Burt Reynolds. Glamor, truth, fame, eh?

"Rice and beans," said the news director of Channel 50 in a recent speech. Helen Pasakarnis tells us the networks and network affiliates are cutting jobs like crazy. That's where the good pay is.

CNN is adding bureaus and the independent channels are adding news teams. That's where the rice and beans jobs are. If you can live on that, drive a used car, share an apartment with three other people for a couple of years and work long hours, you might climb to a living wage.

Journalism? The Clark Gable, Jack Lemmon, Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman roles? They're right down at the bottom with the breadcasters.

The nerds shall inherit the earth.

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Lifestyle's the place to start

To the editor:

Thank you for your timely article regarding AIDS education in the Livonia Public Schools, part of a $1 million dollar health program for students at all grade levels, including elementary, plus workshops for parents.

Sounds on the surface all well and good, but will they focus on the root problem associated with this disease? Namely, lifestyle. If you listen to the AIDS activists, two themes are constantly being repeated: a medical cure and safe sex.

AIDS activists regard those who suggest abstinence as village idiots. They totally circumvent the relationship that exists between behavior and acquiring AIDS. Since behavior is based on moral factors and schools shy away from teaching morality, they too will in all probability gloss over or totally ignore this well-documented connection.

For example, a recent article in a national syndicated magazine revealed the following statistics on the 195,000 AIDS cases reported in the U.S.:

- 66 percent are among homosexuals.
- 22 percent are I.V. drug users.

- 6 percent lovers, wives and children of those infected.
- 2 percent acquired the virus via blood transfusions.
- 4 percent not classified.

If behavior is not a part of the equation, and from a study of the material prepared by National PTA it is not, what is there to teach? We will gain as much from this program as the ones that told I.V. drug users to use clean needles or that sex education would cut down VD and teen pregnancies.

If it's to "tell parents that a person with AIDS should get the same kind of support a person would get who has cancer," as the article quotes a leader of this movement, they already have my sympathy and in all likelihood that of the entire community.

In perspective, expenditures allocated for medical research, education, treatment, etc., for AIDS are grossly out of line when compared to the other health concerns of our country. Since 1981 AIDS claimed 126,000 lives. An average of 12,600 per year.

Yet in 1990 alone we spent $1.5 billion on this disease. Spending on cancer, which kills 500,000 per year, was also $1.5 billion. Just over $1 billion was spent on heart disease, which claims between 750,000 and 1 million lives per year.

I concede that AIDS is a serious problem and must be dealt with, however, let's prescribe the proper remedy in dealing with it. It doesn't take a Ph.D. to know the answer.

Cozy friends cause concern

To the editor:

The wheels of justice grind slowly.

Never does the above quote apply to the victims of injustice more appropriately than to the Irish who have suffered over eight centuries of British injustice. But, with the tenacity and courage that characterize the righteousness of their cause, the Irish continue to struggle against a myriad of injustices historically inherent in occupation.

An important step toward exposing some of the brutality of that occupation to the light of day occurred on Tuesday, Sept. 17, 1991 before the Congressional Caucus on Human Rights. The subject: the death-squad operations of the British "security" forces, known as the "shoot-to-kill" policy.

The Irish American Unity Conference was a major player in securing the hearing, which took place before a panel of seven members of Congress, all of whom are members of the Ad Hoc Congressional Committee on Irish Affairs. All five presentations were read from testimony followed by questions from the Congressional panel. The packed hearing room audience was left in no doubt as to the character of our No. 1 ally and who is really the cause of all the violence in Northern Ireland.

Peter John struggled with his emotions throughout and finished by saying, "They call the area where we come from 'Bandit Country,' but the only bandit we see around there is the British army."

All panel members left no doubt that the role of the U.S. should not end with the hearings.

The Irish American Unity Conference, hopefully in co-operation with other Irish National organizations, will keep up the pressure to ensure that at long last, Ireland shall witness the wheels of justice bring a glimmer of freedom's light at the end of an 800-year tunnel.

State to get more fuel tax money from Washington

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Michigan will get back 95 cents of every fuel tax $1 it sends to Washington instead of only 85 cents under a new federal transportation law, says U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell.

Pursell, a veteran of transportation budget battles, said a new road to Detroit Metro Airport and $10 million for public transportation in Michigan are part of the new $151 billion, six-year law passed by Congress.

He praised President Bush's reassignment of Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner as White House chief of staff.

"On a scale of 10, between nine and 10 — in Jim Baker's class" is how Pursell rates Skinner. Secretary of State Baker has been a top presidential aide in two administrations.

"I WAS FIRST to take a heavy shot at (John) Sununu," said Pursell, an eight-term Republican, in his Plymouth Township home.

A former governor of New Hampshire, Sununu was an early Bush supporter, as was Pursell. But he called Sununu an "abrasive" man who didn't grow well in Washington politics.

Skinner called the six-year transportation bill "visionary — the most significant piece of surface transportation legislation since the interstate program in 1956."

Pursell was one of 80 signers of a letter urging Bush to replace Sununu, who quit effective Dec. 15.

Although Pursell no longer is on the transportation appropriations subcommittee, he is impressed by Skinner, a former Chicago lawyer.

"He's a good communicator with all members of Congress," Pursell said.

Skinner called the six-year transportation bill "visionary — the most significant piece of surface transportation legislation since the interstate program in 1956."

HERE'S HOW the law impacts

Michigan:

- $33.8 million for construction of an access road to Metro Airport from its southern end to I-275. "That will open it up to the downriver area's development," said Pursell. It should relieve traffic for those who enter by I-94.

- $10.5 million for the state for public transportation, mostly for buses and bus equipment. So far, it isn't known how much will go to SMART, the suburban bus system.

- A 95 percent return to Michigan of the fuel tax money its drivers send to Washington. Previously Michigan had received only 85 percent.

cent.

- $3.2 billion for road projects. Michigan DOT Director Patrick Nowak's staff estimated the state will have to put up matching money of $725 million. The amount is uncertain because some projects will require a 10 percent state match, others 20 percent.

The House passed it 373-47; the Senate, 79-8.

"WE HAVE finished the Interstate Highway System," said Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-NY, vice-chair of the congressional conference committee. Pursell marked that quote in his copy of the report.

"We have poured enough concrete. Our primary objective must be to improve the efficiency of the system we now have," Moynihan said.

Motorists will continue to pay the 5 cents a gallon fuel tax, passed several years ago and scheduled to expire in 1995, until 1999 — a four-year extension.

The law is worth about $25 billion a year nationwide for the next six years. The breakdown is four-fifths to roads, $119.5 billion, and one-fifth to public transit, $31.5 billion.

States and local units will have much more flexibility in how they allocate their funds.

Cops seek stolen AIDS needles

By Bill Casper
staff writer

Canton Township police are asking for help in finding a box containing 100 to 200 hypodermic needles that possibly were used on AIDS virus patients.

The needles were stolen sometime Saturday night from the unlocked car of a 35-year-old Canton woman, who works for a Plymouth pharmaceutical company, Canton police officer Jerry Ellerholz said Sunday. The woman reported the missing needles shortly before 8:30 a.m. Sunday after discovering the theft from her car at the Crossings of Canton apartment complex at Joy and the I-275 freeway, where she lives, he said.

The used needles were in a 10-inch, yellow box with a red top and is labeled with the words "bio-hazardous waste," Ellerholz said. He did not identify the Plymouth pharmaceutical company, where the woman is employed.

"The needles may have been used on HIV positive patients and we want to make sure they don't fall into the hands of kids," he said. "We don't know why she had the needles." Anyone who has any information about the box or the needles should call Canton police at 397-3000, Ellerholz said. The box containing the used was locked, but it is not a strong lock, he said.

Also stolen from the woman's car was a number of unused hypodermic needles and a black tackle box containing several prescription pills, Ellerholz said. But the tackle box and a number of prescription pills, identified as clozaril, were recovered on the bicycle path along the I-275 freeway, he said.

Some of the pills have not been found, but an inventory had not been completed Sunday afternoon and police did not know how many pills were still missing, Ellerholz said.

MADD vigil set tonight

The Oakland/Macomb chapters of Mothers Against Drunk Driving will hold a candlelight vigil 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 9, at Nardin Park Methodist Church, Farmington Hills.

The non-denominational service remembers those killed by drunk drivers in Michigan. It also observes the beginning of National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

The church is on 11 Mile Road, west of Middlebelt.

The MADD Wayne County Chapter is holding a similar vigil 7 p.m. Monday at Mariners' Church, 170 E. Jefferson, Detroit.

Additional information on the Farmington Hills event is available by calling 253-1700 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Additional information on the Detroit event is available by calling 422-6233.

Chorale to sing Polish carols

Polish Christmas carols will be sung by the Polonaise Chorale, directed by Bronislaw Siarkowski, at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15, in the Madonna University Activities Center, 35500 Schoolcraft.

This year's concert also will feature soloist Jan Zarzycki, 8, who recently came to the United States from Poland. An audience sing-along of Polish and English carols also is planned.

Admission is free, however, donations will be accepted, according to Eva Siarkowski Depa, president of the Polonaise Chorale. Siarkowski Depa and her husband, John Depa, of Livonia have sung with the chorale since it was founded in 1981.

A cassette of Polish Christmas carols sung by the chorale will be available for purchase following the concert.

The chorale can also be seen on the Catholic Channel (EWTN) on cable television this season. "The Polonaise Chorale Sings Polish Christmas Carols" will be televised at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 19; 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 24, and 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 2.

Consider these doctors' accomplishments, and you will understand why they've earned women's trust.

Sinai physicians are known around the world for pioneering gynecological laser procedures for endometriosis and other menstrual disorders. Here, surgeries using lasers and tiny scopes mean less pain and shorter recovery times for women.

In our Mothers and Infants' Center, our doctors make sure that an obstetrician, an OB anesthesiologist and a neonatologist are on-site 24 hours a day. And our physicians' skills are reflected in a Cesarean section rate that's 15 percent below the national average.

From delivering quintuplets to providing breast imaging to tailoring oncology and psychiatry just for women, these physicians — and all our doctors — emphasize the utmost in quality and comprehensive care.

And for women, that's something you can really place your trust in. Call 1-800-248-3627 for referral to a Sinai physician.

Oh baby! Infant wins scholarship

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

It will be a while before she takes her first step, but Samantha Marie Grant is already on her way to college.

Samantha, daughter of Cynthia and Edward Grant of Garden City, was the winner of Schoolcraft College's "Anniversary Baby" contest. The Livonia-based community college offered a full two-year scholarship to the first baby born to area parents Oct. 24 — the 30th anniversary of the college's founding.

Born at 2:11 a.m. at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, 7-pound, 11-ounce Samantha wasted little time in beating the deadline.

"There were five other babies born that day who could have qualified," college spokeswoman Saundra Florek said. "But she was the first."

Final announcement came as a welcome surprise to her parents.

"WE WERE really hoping (she would win)," said her mom, Cynthia Grant. "Of course, when you're in the hospital, in labor, winning the scholarship isn't exactly the first priority."

Samantha is the couple's first child. Her parents learned of the scholarship through a relative.

"My sister-in-law said she saw it on television," Mrs. Grant said.

'There were five other babies born that day who could have qualified. But she was the first.'

— Saundra Florek college spokeswoman

The scholarship comes at a time when Samantha's dad, an electrical technician, is continuing his own education. Edward Grant is taking vocational courses at night.

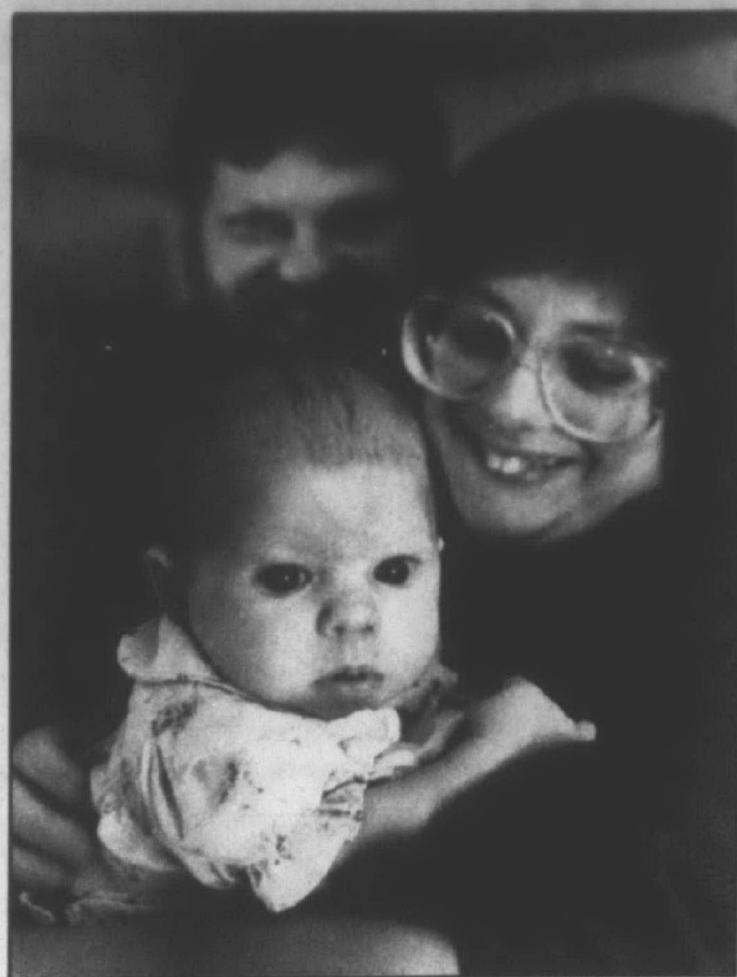

Her mom, on leave from her job at the J.C. Penney Fairlane Town Center store, hasn't yet broken the scholarship news to her fellow workers.

The contest was open to parents in the Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth-Canton public school districts. Parents had until Nov. 30 to register their child's birth with the college.

The contest was the first of its kind in Schoolcraft history, but it might not be the last.

"We do have our 35th anniversary coming up in five years and, who knows, we could decide to do it again," Florek said.

By then, Samatha will probably be the only college scholarship winner in her kindergarten class.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

She doesn't realize it yet, but she's a winner. Newborn Samatha Marie Grant has received a two-year college scholarship as Schoolcraft College's "Anniversary Baby." Here, she's at home with her parents Cynthia and Edward Grant.

SC registration begins

In-person registration for winter term Schoolcraft College classes will be Dec. 9-19 and Jan. 6-8. Registration will be held 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. each date.

Winter term begins Saturday, Jan. 11. Registering early assures students of the best possible selection of courses.

Day and night courses are offered at the main campus in Livonia, Schoolcraft College-Radcliff, Garden City and in the Livonia, Plymouth-Canton and Clarenceville schools.

Registration will be held at the main campus, 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Additional information, including a free copy of the winter course schedule, is available by calling the college admission office, 462-4426.

New courses offered this winter include interactive Unix operating systems, computer networking, environmental science, introduction to plastics and polymers, introduction to musical electronics hardware and software and lifestyle fitness.

MADD holds poster, essay contest

Poster and essay contests sponsored by Mothers Against Drunk Driving are open to Wayne County youngsters.

Entries must be submitted to the Wayne County MADD office by Friday, Jan. 10.

Entry forms are available through your school's principal, art teacher or English teacher, or by calling the local MADD office at 422-6233. The office is at 15195 Farmington Road, Suite D-1, Livonia.

The poster contest is open to students from first grade through high school, while the essay contest is geared for grades 4-12.

Canton bows to King in state semifinal

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Alyson Nouné controls the basketball for the Chiefs, who finished the season 21-5.

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

As bizarre as this girls basketball state tournament has been, it should come as no surprise to hear the losing coach in a lopsided game say his team played well, while the winning coach called his team's performance below standard.

Whatever the coaches' ratings, the result of Friday's Class A semifinal between Plymouth Canton and Detroit Martin Luther King provided a stark reminder why King is the defending Class A champion. The Crusaders gained control in the first quarter and never relinquished it, cruising to a 63-46 triumph at Battle Creek Central HS Friday.

Farmington Hills Mercy stopped Saginaw 47-44 in Friday's second semifinal but lost to the Crusaders 52-36 in the state championship game Saturday at Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek.

AS LATE as Friday afternoon, no one could be sure the games would be played. Parents of No. 1-ranked Detroit Murray-Wright got a court restraining order after their team was disqualified for using players not on their official tournament roster.

Judge Kathleen MacDonald did not make her ruling on the case until after 4 p.m. Friday (the Canton-King game started at 5 p.m.). She upheld the Michigan High School Athletic Association's decision to disqualify Murray-Wright, which resulted in Mercy's getting a bye into the semifinals.

A bye may have been Canton's best hope for advancing past King. There was no blaming the Chiefs for lack of effort; as coach Bob Blohm said, "I'm not at all displeased with our intensity. The kids never stopped playing hard."

But... It was really a game for only the first six minutes. Tiffany Mitchell scored inside for King to tie the game at 5-5 with 2:56 left in the first quarter, and that got the Crusaders, well, crusading. They outpointed Canton 10-3 in the final three minutes to take a 13-8 advantage into the second period.

IT NEVER improved for the Chiefs. With five minutes left in the second quarter, Britta Anderson scored Canton's third basket of the game. It didn't derail King; by the time the quarter was half over, the Crusaders had added a 10-4 spurt to their first-quarter run to go up 23-12.

Blohm had already called two timeouts in that span. He was left to plead with his team to try to keep it close — maybe they can turn it around in the second half.

The Chiefs never got the chance. King has size, and plenty of it. Its inside game was nearly unstoppable; at times, Canton had three defenders trying to check one Crusader inside, and they couldn't do it.

With 2:40 left in the half, one of those giants — 5-foot-10 sophomore Shawnte Gates — powered inside and scored, and was fouled by Amy Westerhold. Gates finished off the three-point play, increasing King's lead to 30-17.

The Crusaders added six more to their total by the intermission without surrendering a point, making it 36-17 at the half. Mitchell, who finished with a game-high 22 points, got 10 of them in the second quarter.

"KING IS big, and they're mobile," said Blohm. "We worked really hard, but they move up the floor really fast."

"I thought we could have defended a little better and taken away their second shot. We could have been better at stopping the ball going inside, getting help inside, and then rebounding the ball. But (King) does a lot of tough things."

Like defense. "Their pressure... their quickness makes it hard to receive the ball. It wears on you, makes you work for everything. Over 32 minutes, that takes its toll," Blohm said.

Canton's inside threat, 6-foot junior center Stephanie Gray, shook loose in the third quarter to score six points; she was held to four in the first half. Still, Canton was outscored in the period, 12-8, and trailed 48-25 entering the last eight minutes.

Gray finished with a team-best 17 points. Westerhold added 10 and Anderson scored nine. King had one other double-figure scorer: Schwan-na Prince scored 10. Tennille Caruthers netted eight.

TURNOVERS, MANY caused by King's full-court pressure defense, plagued Canton through the first three quarters. The Chiefs committed 22 in that span; they finished with 26. King had 20 turnovers, seven coming in the final quarter.

Canton was also outshot (King: 26-of-58, 44.8 percent; Canton: 17-of-44, 38.6 percent) and, without doubt, outrebounded (totals were not available).

Still, King coach William Winfield was not pleased. "We did a decent job rebounding the ball," he said. "We wanted to go inside with the ball, pound the ball inside. Coming in, we knew they had some deficiencies inside."

But Winfield wasn't happy with his team's so-called inconsistency and defensive play. "Maybe we can play a better game tomorrow," he said, referring to Saturday's showdown with Mercy.

The young Chiefs (only two seniors) had nothing to be dismayed about in their 21-5 season. "We're looking forward to next year," said Blohm. "It was neat to be here, playing the best."

"I always complimented this team during the season, because whatever happened to them, they always came back and worked very hard. The team really improved over the course of the season. They overcame some adversity. They worked hard to get here — it was no fluke."

Continued work and development could lead the Chiefs back to the state semifinals next season, and this year's disappointment won't be forgotten.

Young and restless

Salem has holes to fill; Canton anxious to continue success

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Coach Bob Brodie knew what he could expect from his Plymouth Salem boys basketball team last year.

The Rocks had enough veteran talent returning from a balclub that went to the Class A quarterfinals to be rated one of the top teams in Michigan.

Pre-season expectations were high a year ago, and Salem eventually finished 19-3, winning the Western Lakes Activities Association championship for the third time in five years.

But the Rocks lost their top six players from that team — Jake Baker, K.C. Kirkpatrick, Mike Mulder, Chris Tebben, John Hoffmeyer and Cliff Lee — and with them went an average of 66 points, 42 rebounds and 18 assists.

Three are playing college ball — Baker at Central Michigan, Kirkpatrick at Albion College and Mulder at Hope College.

THE CUPBOARD wasn't left entirely bare, however. Four players return with some pretty good credentials, but it will be a new-look Salem team that takes the floor Tuesday in the season opener at Trenton.

"This team is so new and inexperienced, I don't have any idea" what to expect, Brodie said. "I don't know if we'll come out like gangbusters or go the other way. I've seen them in practice but not in game situations.

"Any time you lose six players the caliber we lost, you have to readjust your goals and your thinking. Obviously, we want to defend our championship at the end and win as many games as we can. I want to impress upon them we want to take it game by game and try to improve."

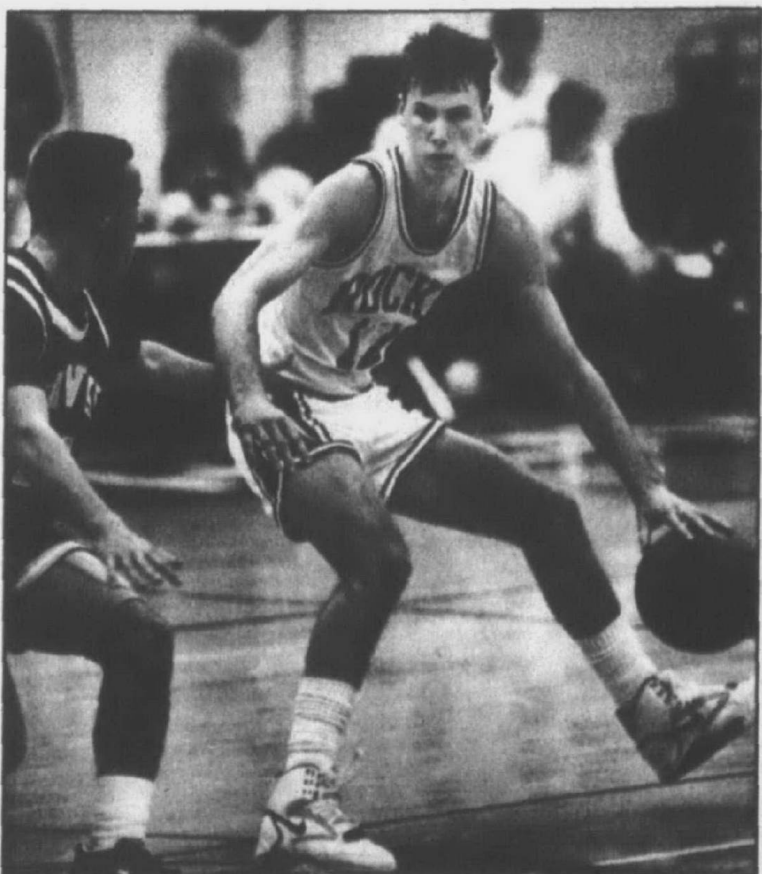

The varsity holdovers are seniors Eric Stemmer (6-3), Mike Abraham (6-5) and John Flynn (6-2) and sophomore James Head (6-6), who some consider one of the best young players in the state.

"Physically, he's a little stronger, he's one year more mature and he's been through the program once," Brodie said. "He's going to look like a grown man out there, but he's still only a sophomore."

Head, who averaged six points, five rebounds and four assists, and the three seniors figure to be key players.

"ALL OF THEM were decent players last year and were just behind some outstanding players," Brodie said. "On an average team, they probably would have gotten a lot more time."

Stemmer, who plays guard and also averaged six points in a reserve role, will miss the first game because of a red card he received in the last soccer game. For a senior,

Plymouth Canton went the farthest of any Observerland team in the boys basketball tournament last year, becoming the first in school history to play in a regional final.

With eight players returning from that team, the Chiefs have the talent to be successful again and contend for the Western Lakes Activities Association championship.

But Canton will have to get through the first month without one of its top players — 6-foot-8, 260-pound senior Tony Coshatt, who suffered a broken wrist when he fell during practice. He will miss all of December.

"I think he's frustrated," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said, "but we'll just be that much stronger when we get him back. The league season doesn't start until the middle of January."

"The first six non-conference games are real tough. We'll just have to buckle our seat belts and go with what we have."

WHAT THE Chiefs, who were 17-8 and upset heavily favored Plymouth Salem to win a district title, have is a quality team even with Coshatt on the sideline.

Canton still has plenty of height and possibly the best group of shooting guards in western Wayne County. Senior Derrick McDonald (6-1), junior Mike Stafford (6-1) and senior Jon Paupore (6-0) will generate much of the offense from the back court.

McDonald, an All-Observer player, averaged 16 points and six assists, as well as six rebounds. He took his game a notch higher late in the season when he averaged 20 points in the last 10. Paupore averaged 10 points and Stafford eight.

"I feel we have three of the best outside shooters I've coached," Van Wagoner said. "They're all on the same team so that makes it nice. It will make it hard for teams to zone us, because those guys can really fill it up."

In addition, Canton has a pair of high-scoring players from a 14-6 junior varsity team. Sophomore Matt Paupore averaged 20 points and junior Brad Paskievitch 17. Both are big guards as each stands 6-2.

"This is the best shooting team I've ever coached, and it has the potential to be the best offensive team," said Van Wagoner, who has moved Stafford to point guard, a position shared by McDonald and Karl Wukie last year.

"MIKE IS probably our best passer, and he can shoot the ball, which is a deadly combination," Van Wagoner said. "If people lay off him, he can stick the outside shot. If they get right in his face, he's going to Knowing what Shawn Respert has endured makes witnessing his early-season success with Michigan State's basketball team a happy event.

Respert, a 6-foot-3 guard from Redford Bishop Borgess, was forced to sit out last season while recovering from a knee injury. It might have been expected to take some time for the redshirt freshman to adjust to college ball, after a year's absence due to injury.

But Respert has stepped right into MSU's lineup, firing away. He leads the Spartans with a 19.9 points-per-game average, and is second on the team with four assists a game. He's hitting 58.5 percent of his floor shots and leads the team with five three-pointers (in 16 attempts, 31.3 percent).

Respert topped MSU in scoring in two of its three victories at the Maui Invitational; he totaled 57 points in leading the Spartans to the title, and he earned himself a spot on the all-tournament team. He scored 22 in MSU's 86-71 upset of No. 2-ranked Arkansas.

ALSO AT MSU: Another Spartan is helping his team get off to a fast start. Mike Gilmore, a senior goalie from Farmington Hills, has posted a 4-2-2 record as MSU has moved into fourth place in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association standings. The Spartans are ranked eighth in the nation.

Gilmore is third among CCHA goalies in goals-against average at 2.80, with one shutout. He is second on MSU's career list in goals-against with a 2.76 average, behind Bob Essensa's 2.65.

MICHIGAN'S HOCKEY team has something to boast about, too. The Wolverines are ranked second in the nation and are tied with Lake Superior State for first in the CCHA; U-M is 6-1-2 in the conference.

One very good reason for the Wolverines' impressive start is junior defenseman Patrick Neaton, from Redford. Neaton has two goals and six assists for eight points in U-M's eight games (the Wolverines are 8-1-2 overall), including one power play goal and one game-winner. Seven of his points have come in CCHA play.

HOLY CROSS has constructed one of the most successful football programs in NCAA Division IAA history. The Crusaders have won 20-straight games, including 11 in a row this season. Two reasons for their success: Redford Catholic Central graduates Chris Kovath and Pete Dankert.

The two seniors anchored a defense college sports

that surrendered just 174 points and topped the Patriot League in every team defensive category. Kovath, a defensive back, tied for the team lead in interceptions with five and ranked second on the team in tackles (107) and passes broken up (10).

Dankert, a middle guard from Plymouth, had a team-high 16 quarterback sacks among his 84 tackles.

Both were named to the Patriot League's first team.

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE'S women's soccer team rolled to a 15-2-1 record and was invited to the NCAA Division III Tournament. Leading the Hornets to their third-straight Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship was sophomore forward Jennifer Russell of Plymouth.

Russell topped the MIAA with 29 goals and 13 assists in just 12 games. Her play earned her MIAA player of the year honors.

Also honored on the all-MIAA's first team was Kalamazoo junior midfielder Karen Carney of Livonia, chosen for the third-straight season. Fellow Hornet Candice Jones, a junior defender from Canton, landed second team honors.

THERE WERE other MIAA soccer players honored at season's end. Named to the men's first team was freshman forward Dana Orsucci, a forward from Kalamazoo College from Livonia. Orsucci was instrumental in the Hornets' 11-1 MIAA season, which earned them a share of first place (with Calvin College). Kalamazoo was 13-3 overall.

Albion junior defender Bob Dimitrios, also from Livonia, earned second team all-MIAA honors. Dimitrios's father, Van, coached Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team to the NJCAA Region 12 championship. Olivet junior forward Peter Keller, from Farmington Hills, was also a second team selection.

OTHER SOCCER NEWS: Missouri Valley College, from Marshall, Mo., reached the NAIA Championship match before falling to Pacific Lutheran (Tacoma, Wash.), 4-0, Friday. A pair of Schoolcraft College graduates were instrumental in Missouri Valley's success: forward Cindy Bowman and defender Bev DeJohn.

Bowman scored a goal in the team's 3-0 opening-round victory over Seton Hill (Greensburg, Pa.) last Wednesday (Nov. 27). On Thursday, Missouri Valley upset No. 1-ranked Berry College (Ga.) 2-1 in an overtime shootout. Bowman had apparently scored with two minutes left in sudden death overtime, but the goal was disallowed.

MICHIGAN'S MEN'S cross country team equaled its best effort ever, finishing sixth at the NCAA Cross Country Championships Nov. 25 in Tucson, Ariz. Matt Smith, a junior from Westland (Bishop Borgess HS), aided the Wolverine cause by placing 146th in 33:31. The finish was the Wolverines' best placing at the NCAAs since 1982.

JULIE RIEDER, a junior at Northland College from Livonia, took over as the Lumberjill's setter this season and led them to the National Small College Athletic Association championship. Her efforts also earned her a spot on the NSCAA All-American team.

Rieder registered 651 assists-to-kills, 175 digs, 41 kills and 32 service aces in gaining her status.

ALAN PITTS, a sophomore defensive tackle at Saginaw Valley State from Livonia (Stevenson HS), was presented the Golden Helmet Award at the Football Awards Banquet Nov. 21. He was recognized for achievements on and off the field.

On the field, Pitts proved very tough indeed. He tied for the team lead in quarterback sacks with 7.5, which was eighth best in the Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference. Four of those came in an upset of Ashland University, which earned him MIFC defensive player of the week honors. He had 64 total tackles for the 6-5 Cardinals.

MILL COLEMAN'S final statistics for MSU proved his versatility. The sophomore from Farmington (Harrison HS) caught 16 passes for 156 yards and one touchdown, rushed 17 times for 76 yards (4.5 average), completed 2-of-4 passes for 28 yards, and returned three punts for 21 yards (7.0 per attempt) and 12 kickoffs for 179 yards (14.9).

He did all this while making the Academic All-Big Ten team, with a 3.43 grade point in business administration. Next season, the Spartans will probably use him on defense, too.

One other MSU football note: junior guard Toby Heaton, from Plymouth (Catholic Central HS), was also named to the all-academic team. Heaton has a 3.49 grade point in advertising.

Ocelots come up flat in final tune-up for league season

The final tune-up for the Eastern Conference season did not go well for Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team.

The Ocelots made the trip to Spring Arbor College to play its junior varsity without two starters — point guard Rahim Woodson, who sprained an ankle and was unavailable, and leading scorer and rebounder Jarvis Murray, who missed the team bus.

The game didn't go any better. Turnovers and missed free throws proved to be SC's downfall in a 96-90 loss.

"I don't know why," said coach Dave Bogataj when asked why Murray was absent. "I'm going to find out why he wasn't there. That really hurt us."

Asked if Murray might sit out the conference opener at Highland Park CC Wednesday, Bogataj answered, "I'm going to talk to him first, before deciding. I know he won't start."

THE GAME at Spring Arbor was, in Bogataj's description, ugly. The two teams combined to make 60 turnovers (28 for SC), and they shot 80 free throws. But the Ocelots converted just 25-of-37 from the line (68 percent), and — when it counted most — they missed, failing to make their last seven in the final three minutes.

Spring Arbor, conversely, scored all of its points in the final 3:30 from the stripe and made 27-of-43 in the game.

There was one bright spot for SC: Chris Habitz, one of the team's top recruits, broke out of his funk to score 26 points on 10-of-17 shooting. He also had five rebounds and three assists. "He looked to take the shot," said Bogataj, who has been urging Habitz to do just that.

Mitch Fyke added 18 points and seven rebounds before reinjuring his leg; how seriously has yet to be determined. Scott Meredith finished with 14 points and a team-high nine rebounds, and Gamal Ahmed netted 12 points. Ensley Mitchell's 18 points led Spring Arbor; Scott Curtis had 16 and Sean Campbell 15.

Woodson's injury may cause him to miss the Highland Park CC game as well. "If he comes back, he'll come in off the bench," said Bogataj. "His ankle is too weak."

Tony Rumble, Jeff Stein and Shawn Benson took turns at the point against Spring Arbor, but their performance was hardly encouraging: a combined 4-of-14 shooting, two assists, two steals, four rebounds and three turnovers.

so that it is actually received on or before 5:00 p.m. C.S.T. on Wednesday, January 15, 1992 (the "Bar Date"). Such proofs of claim will be deemed filed only when they are actually received. In accordance with the Bar Date Order, in filing a proof of claim, you must set forth the specific name of the Debtor or Debtors against which you assert a claim or claims. If you have a claim against more than one of the Debtors, you must file a separate claim for each Debtor.

As used herein, the term "claim" means (a) right to payment, whether or not such right is reduced to judgment, liquidated, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured or unsecured; or (b) right to an equitable remedy for breach of performance if such breach gives rise to a right to payment, whether or not such right to an equitable remedy is reduced to judgment, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, secured or unsecured.

IF YOU ARE REQUIRED TO FILE A PROOF OF CLAIM AND FAIL TO DO SO IN THE MANNER PRESCRIBED, YOU WILL BE FOREVER BARRED FROM VOTING UPON, OR RECEIVING DISTRIBUTIONS UNDER, ANY PLAN OR PLANS OR REORGANIZATION FOR ANY OF THE DEBTORS, AND WILL BE FOREVER BARRED FROM ASSERTING ANY SUCH CLAIM AGAINST ANY OF THE DEBTORS OR THEIR SUCCESSORS OR ASSIGNS.

The following persons or entities are NOT required to file a proof of claim on or before the Bar Date:

- Any person or entity that has already filed a proof of claim conforming substantially to the claim form of the Official Forms against the Debtors with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court.
- Any person or entity (i) whose claim is not listed as "disputed," "contingent" or "unliquidated" in the Debtors' Schedules of Liabilities (the "Schedules"), to be filed with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court on or before December 18, 1991, and (ii) who agrees with the classification and amount set forth therein.
- Any Debtor, on account and any intercompany claim against another Debtor.
- Any person or entity having a claim allowable under section 507(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code as an administrative expense of the Debtors' chapter 11 case.
- Any person or entity having a claim allowed by order of the Court entered on or prior to the Bar Date.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that acts or omissions of any Debtor that occurred prior to the Petition Date may give rise to claims against such Debtor notwithstanding the fact that such claims (or the injuries on which they are based) may be contingent or may not have occurred, matured or become fixed or liquidated prior to such date. Therefore, any creditor having a claim or potential claim against a Debtor, no matter how remote or contingent, must file a proof of claim on or before the Bar Date.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that any person or entity having a claim arising from the rejection of an unexpired lease or executory contract shall file proof of such claim on or prior to the date fixed in the order authorizing such rejection. If no such date is specified, proof of such claim shall be filed on or before the later of (i) the Bar Date and (ii) thirty (30) days after entry of the order authorizing such rejection.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that copies of the Schedules of Assets and Liabilities, Statements of Financial Affairs, Executory Contracts, and Lists of Equity Security Holders will be made available for inspection during regular business hours no later than December 18, 1991 at (i) the Offices of Weil, Gotshal & Manges, Attorneys for the Debtors, NCNB Plaza, 901 Main Street, Suite 4100, Dallas, Texas 75202, and (ii) the Office of the Clerk, United States Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Indiana, 224 United States Courthouse, 204 South Main Street, South Bend, Indiana 46601. COUNSEL FOR THE DEBTORS

'Old Timers' are still big rollers

THEY ARE CALLED "Old Timers," but don't anyone believe they are just out for the exercise.

The 61st annual Old-Timers Tournament, held last weekend at Thunderbowl, brought out a strong field of 636 very qualified shooters. Many names from the past attended, such as Joe Norris, Eddie Lubanski, Tony Lindemann, Bill Tucker, Joe Paulus and others.

It was my privilege to bowl next to these legendary names. Just to see a man in his 80s, like Norris, who competed with the U.S. Olympic Demonstration team in the 1936 Olympics, was a real nostalgia trip.

It was really something special to see the excitement these people can still generate. On the same pair of lanes were Hank Lapinski, the present president of the American Bowling Congress, and Tom McKay, currently director of the GDGA and the next president of ABC.

The overall winner of the tournament was Philip Horowitz, 52, of West Bloomfield. Phil shot games of 187-266-215 for a 668 series and the championship trophy.

Marvin Simmons of Redford, 42, shot a 690 but those under the age of 50 are not eligible for the overall title. Bill Cohrs, 67, from Westland, took second place in the 65-69 age group. Carl Koch, 93, was the oldest bowler in the event.

Perhaps one of the mystiques about the sport of bowling is how people can still perform well at practically any age. This keeps the enjoyment level pretty high.

A new tournament is about to debut at Bowl One Lanes on Fourteen Mile Road in Troy. This will be the first annual "Bowl One

10-pin alley

Budweiser PBA Open, held Friday and Saturday, Dec. 13 and 14. This event will feature a Pro-Am the first day with a $1,000 first prize. The Pro-Am will take place at 7 p.m. on Friday.

About 140 top pro bowlers will take part in the tournament — 24 will qualify for the match play eliminations on Sunday and the final five will vie for the top money using the step-ladder finals. Among the pro bowlers will be Harry Sullins and John Mazza, George Branham III, Tom Baker, Jimmie Johnson and Bob Hart. Any bowlers are eligible to bowl in the pro-am if there is an established league average.

drive around them and pass the ball or score."

In the absence of Coshatt, who signed early with Saginaw Valley, the Chiefs will start 6-5 senior Hal Heard and 6-5 junior Owen Crosby up front. Heard emerged as a varsity player in the regional, scoring 10 points in the final against Belleville.

"He's probably our most improved player between last year and this year," Van Wagoner said. "We're looking for him to have a big year."

Canton will be that much stronger when Coshatt returns in January. He averaged eight points and 10 rebounds last year, and he is an imposing force in the paint.

"When Tony is healthy, he has to be one of the area's better rebounders," Van Wagoner said. "He has been a real good leader in practice. He talks a lot defensively, and he encourages the other players."

Seniors Mike Brennan (6-6) and Mike Corp (6-5) are returning post players, and 6-3 senior Eric Cunningham joins the varsity this year. The roster also includes junior guards Ben Lemon (5-10) and Ryan Cox (6-3).

WITH THREE guards in the starting lineup, "We're going to be kinda small," Van Wagoner said, "so we're going to have to improve on defense and blocking out. If we can do that, we will have a real good team.

"Good teams have two things in common. They play defense and rebound the basketball, because some nights the offense is just not there."

Van Wagoner expects the offense will be there most nights for Canton, and that is where the Chiefs can do a lot of damage.

"We have no goals as far as scoring, but we are looking to push the ball up court hard and put pressure on the defense," Van Wagoner said. "We're looking to up-tempo the games as much as we can."

"I'd like to see us get tougher on defense and improve our rebounding so we can do that. We will go as far as defense and rebounding takes us, because I think we're as good as anybody offensively."

Canton begins the season Tuesday playing at Wayne Memorial and has four more difficult non-league games before meeting Westland John Glenn in the WLAA opener Jan. 10.

"Those (non-league) games helped us make our tournament run last year," Van Wagoner said. "We're going to try and win those games, but we're also using them as a means of getting ready for the league season."

"I think we're going to have a good team, but that's just on paper. This team needs to prove itself on the court."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Canton's Derrick McDonald averaged 16 points, six assists and six rebounds last season, which was good enough to earn him all-Observer status.

6 players gone; can Rocks rule?

the one-game suspension carries over to the next sport in which the athlete participates.

The starting front line will have Abraham at center, Head and Flynn at the forwards. The guards in the first game will be juniors Todd Forbes (5-10) and Mike Slone (6-3). Forbes averaged eight points and four assists, Slone 10 points and four rebounds on the JV team.

Junior forward Brian Jensen (6-2) is a solid player who could crack the starting lineup, Brodie said. He was the leading player on the JV, averaging 12 points and 12 rebounds.

The Rocks could also be helped by junior guard Bob Schneider (6-0), a transfer from Redford Catholic Central who becomes eligible in January. He has raw ability but needs to learn the Salem system and work into it, Brodie said.

The varsity roster also includes guard Eddie Webb (6-0) and forwards Kevin Baumgarten (6-2), Don Johnson (6-1) and Brandon Slone (6-3), a twin brother of Mike. Webb is another CC transfer and is eligible immediately. All are juniors except for Baumgarten, a senior.

BAUMGARTEN IS a good shooter who can be a zonebuster, and Johnson runs the floor well and plays aggressively, Brodie said. "He doesn't hesitate to dive on the floor after a loose ball."

As for shooting the three-pointer, the Rocks are not lacking for volunteers.

"Actually, we've got quite a few people who can knock down the three," Brodie said, naming Abraham, Head, Mike Slone, Stemmer and Schneider. "Last year it was pretty much Baker and Mulder who shot from the perimeter."

But Salem has always been a good post-up team, and the Rocks plan to stick with the inside game primarily, Brodie said. One of the team strengths is that it retains good overall size.

"We could be as big or bigger all around than at times last year," Brodie said. "Any time you put big bodies on the floor who can shoot the ball well it's going to create problems for opponents."

"We're going to be competitive. We're going to put a team on the floor that people have to play against. Win or lose, we're going to come ready to play."

McDonald, Head, Coshatt: best around

It usually isn't this hard choosing between Bob Kummer and Chad Varga.

Every summer I see the two Redford Catholic Central basketball stars playing pick-up with a bunch of "washed-up" or "wannabe" ballplayers behind the old Bentley High School in Livonia. (For those wondering, I'm a "wannabe," because I was never good enough to be considered "washed-up.")

Now, whenever I'm a captain and need another player on my team, and Kummer and Varga are still available, I follow a simple rule: whoever's standing closest to me, I pick.

It doesn't matter who I take because having either Kummer or Varga on my team assures victory and makes me look like a better recruiter than University of Michigan coach Steve Fisher. Each stands about 6-foot-6, can run the floor (in this case the playground), rattle the rim, shoot and dribble the ball.

Of course, now that the outdoor season is over, I put the shorts and tank top away, grab my note pad and because I'm the sports writer, finally make up my mind on these two.

Um, anyone got a coin?
Editor's note: Players from Livonia, Redford, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth, Canton and Farmington are eligible to make the Observer's preseason Top-10.

Steve Kowalski

1. Bob Kummer, 6-6 senior guard/forward, CC: Kummer, who signed early with the University of North Carolina-Charlotte, gets the nod because he's a bit more versatile than his running mate, Varga. Plays point guard out of necessity, but will be a swingman in college. A first-team All-Observer choice in 1991, Kummer averaged 21.5 points and 11 rebounds a game. Sometimes gets out of control but his style also enables Kummer to come up with loose balls and rebounds. Has three-point shooting range but will need a quicker release when in college and he needs to make better decisions.

2. Chad Varga, 6-6 senior forward, CC: The most exciting player in Observerland, probably because of his 35-inch vertical leap. Has a smoother shooting style than Kummer, but maybe not as much range. Played only half the season after transferring from Dearborn Fairlane Christian but still averaged 17.5 points and 10 rebounds a game. Signed with the University of Richmond.

3. Keith Roberts, 5-7 senior guard, Livonia Franklin: A surprise choice to some, but this kid is a great high school player. Made second team All-Observer last year and improved his outside shooting. Roberts last year averaged 18.1 points and 3.7 assists and over the summer was one of the Top-10 players selected (out of about 200) at Siena Heights' Championship Camp. A preseason knee injury means he'll start the season at about 85 percent full strength, coach Rod Hanna said.

4. Derrick McDonald, 6-1 senior guard, Canton: A defensive specialist, McDonald showed his offensive skills by scoring 20 of his game-high 24 points in the second half of last year's district upset over Plymouth Salem. Averaged 16 points, six assists and six rebounds a game overall, but averaged 20 points a game in his last 10 games.

5. Paul Gilydis, 6-8 senior center, Harrison: Hasn't signed yet, but coach Mike Teachman predicts he'll be the most recruited player ever at Harrison. Averaged 12 points and 10 rebounds a game in making third-team All-Observer. The three-year starter can score inside and out and could end up at a mid-major Division I school.

6. Tony Coshatt, 6-8 senior center, Canton: Will miss a month with a broken wrist and that's a shame considering how hard he works (getting up at 6 a.m. every day in the preseason and working out at Vic Tanny). Must work on foot speed but should be a good recruit for Saginaw Valley State University.

7. Lamar Westbrook, senior guard, Redford Bishop Borgess: Westbrook is no Shawn Respert, but he is the Spartans' best chance to earn at least All-Catholic honors. The 6-2 senior can play either guard position and has excellent quickness.

8. Bill Malecki, 6-1 senior guard, Redford Union: Can score with the best of them, but does he guard anyone? Shows little emotion and at times looks bored on the court. Good athlete who can dunk, run the floor and score points in bunches.

9. James Head, 6-6 sophomore center, Salem: The Rocks lost six seniors, including Central Michigan signee Jake Baker, so look for Head to at least double his average of six points and five rebounds a game. The brother of University of Tennessee women's All-America, Dena Head, James could be something in two years if he continues to improve.

10. Greg Hartman, 6-2 senior swingman, Wayne: A three-year varsity performer, Hartman can play both ends of the court and is a fine leader. A second-team All-Observer choice last year after averaging 10 points a game.

A GREAT TIME TO BUY FOR CHRISTMAS!

BILL HANSEN

Hoping to make 78 RPM a publishing success are publisher Dan Santoni (left) and layout artist and designer Adam Hoffman.

New spin for music Magazine lets the artists do the talking

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Cynicism may be viewed as the bane of all artistic expression and, darn, if Dan Santoni allows such skepticism to seep into his new publication, 78 RPM.

Geez, that's no fun. The magazine debuts this month and will provide a forum for all types of artists to articulate a viewpoint of their work and on the arts in general. No thumbs up or thumbs down, no star or rose ratings — just the words from the artists themselves.

"For one, I'm an artist myself. I know what it is like to put your artwork into a show or a band dealing with club owners," said Santoni, 21, who is a photographer. "I want to give the artist an opportunity to speak freely for themselves instead of someone else doing it for them."

In a prototype issue, 78 RPM features interviews with a person who makes jewelry out of recyclable materials, an avant-garde photographer as well as local musicians Brothers from Another Planet and national music sensation Fishbone. The articles are either in-depth autobiographical pieces or a Q&A format.

THOUGH SUCH articles would seem cursory and a one-sided exercise of ego, Santoni said the magazine's mission is to delve deeper into motivations and psyche of the artist. Too often, he feels, those interpretations are left to outsiders who can only surmise to what threshold a person seeks to achieve with his craft.

What may separate 78 RPM from other art publications could be the artists themselves.

Instead of covering trendy designers and pop art, Santoni sees his task as bringing to the surface those artists submerged in their own obscurity. The publication will be highly visual, relying on artists for its attitude rather than its staffers.

At least that was the initial source of inspiration for Santoni. The idea for an arts magazine developed a year ago through a conversation among co-workers in the Sam's Jams parking lot in Ferndale where he worked.

The discussion centered on the history of Detroit music. More precisely, the emergence of such innovators as Iggy and the Stooges and the MC 5 and how their influences still permeate music today.

"We were wondering what's around now that's like that," Santoni said.

GOOD QUESTION, and the answer usually takes a considerable amount of research and commitment. The group decided to pool their resources; several are writers and photographers themselves.

But several meetings in the planning stages digressed into what Santoni described as "a real mess" with 14 people voicing varying opinions on what direction the publication should take.

Others began to fall off. Finally, Santoni and a few others carried on with their original premise.

In December, the 38-page publication will debut on newsstands and through mail subscriptions. The price is tentatively set at $2.50 a copy.

A benefit, "Mural of Reality: An Establishing of New Foundations," Nov. 5 at Industry in Pontiac raised an estimate $1,100 for 78 RPM. The start-up costs have been offset through contributions and $1,500 out of Santoni's own pocket.

"We're trying to fill a new niche, especially in Detroit," Santoni said. "It might be a risk, but I feel it's worth doing."

Cosmic 'ole' for Banditos

By Joseph S. Hoffmann
special writer

It's reggae. No, it's rock. No... now wait a minute, it sounds more like spiritual speed metal.

It's the Cosmic Banditos, a local group with a singular and diverse sound.

Their stage performance is a high-energy excursion that has to be seen to be appreciated.

"Our music is like that played by the monks in Tibet. You know, the ones way up in the mountains who sit around and play horns and drums. They will sit and play for hours, some in monotone, and they all come up with different stuff. Well, we're like that," said the band's raucous drummer, Scott Goldstein.

Although none of them resemble monks, many of the group's lyrics have a religious undertone.

Much of this pious influence comes from Matthew Ruffino, the group's Rastafarian devotee who grew up in the Farmington Hills.

"I sing a lot about Jah (short for Jehovah), who is the man/women creator or God, and about salvation," he said.

DREADLOCKS askew and forever smiling, Ruffino, the band's mainstay guitarist/vocalist, said the band has gone through many changes since its birth in early 1989.

Scott Cothran, who commands rhythm guitar and who lives in Farmington, said the band used to play hard-core rock, but that their sound has now taken on a psychedelic folk and blues style.

"We don't think of ourselves as a band, we think of ourselves as a family. This gives our music the kind of precision we could not get any other way," Ruffino said.

All of the band members hail from suburban Detroit except Charles LeVine, their bass player, whom Ruffino met when he lived in Atlanta for a short time.

In a time when many bands choose to portray a sardonic nature to today's youth, the Banditos sing more on a positive metaphysical note.

The Banditos have a wide range of influences.

"Everything from Bob Marley to Black Sabbath from Pink Floyd to the Bad Brains have been this band's influences," LeVine said. "It's hard to pinpoint exactly."

REVIEWS

PROFILE: THE ULTIMATE SPARKS COLLECTION — Sparks

Well, it's about time. Sparks, one of the best and brightest bands of the '70s (their best period) who still had more than a few bright spots during the '80s and may surprise us all in the '90s, have released this double retrospective of their brilliant career as rock's "weird guys."

First, there was Ron Mael, the group's songwriter and keyboard player, with a penchant for playing in his minimalist style as his brother (and resident heartthrob) Russell danced around, singing in his falsetto voice, which often disguised the fact that, hey, these guys are writing some of the smartest, cleverest lyrics around, bar none.

Even today, songs such as "Hasta Manana," "Monsieur" and "Achoo" easily stand up. Did I fail to mention they wrapped those lyrics around some of the catchiest rock of the era? If so, take it from me: they did. And it still holds up extremely well.

The L.A.-based band had to go to England to become stars, with hits such as "This Town Ain't Big Enough for the Two of Us" and "Something for the Girl with Everything" and many, many more, including their biggest U.S. hit, "Cool Places," sung with Sparks fan extraordinaire and Go-Go Jane Wiedlin.

In fact, my only complaint with this double-set is that it leans too much on the band's later work and not enough on their earlier stuff. For example, I would have loved to hear "Whippings and Apologies" or the hilarious "BC."

The CD has 40 cuts, seven more than the tape, including rare B-sides like "Barbecue" and "Lost and Found." The tape includes some unreleased gems too, though, such as the original version on "I Like Girls," which was virtually destroyed with over-production on the "Big Beat" album.

Sparks may be an acquired taste, but it's one far more worthwhile than sushi and dark beer, as far as I'm concerned.

Eclectic? Undoubtedly. Essential? Surely. Rocking? One listen and you'll never have to ask again. Highly recommended.

mean. They even caused the death of Captain Kirk's only son. It's at this point that Kirk and the rest of the original crew are volunteered to escort the Klingon high command to an interplanetary peace conference.

THE IDEA of making peace is not a happy one for Federation veterans like Kirk or his Klingon counterparts.

"In space, the only war is a cold war," says Chang, the Shakespeare-loving Klingon commander.

Kirk must face his prejudices against a planet of people he genuinely feels can never be trusted.

Fortunately, "Star Trek VI," subtitled "The Undiscovered Country," is only partly about politics. It's also an action film, and though it doesn't exactly move at warp speed, it keeps globules of dark pink blood.

WHILE CAPTAIN Kirk finds the obligatory love interest with a sexy alien, the usual cornball humor is kept to a minimum. In one of the film's few comic asides, the ever-cranky Dr. McCoy laments that Kirk always gets the girls.

It's no accident that the film is so good. Nicholas Meyer, the talented director and screenwriter, was responsible for the best film in the series, "Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan." He knows how to generate suspense from what can easily become a boring formula.

Will this really be the last "Star Trek" film? Yes and no, according to the film's conclusion. The original crew of the Enterprise appears ready to lay down alongside Gene Roddenberry, the characters' creator who died this fall.

If there is another film, Captain Sulu (George Takei), who has spent the last 25 years taking orders, may finally get his chance to take command.

Double feature — "The Ox-Bow Incident" (USA — 1943) and "Love Me Forever" (USA — 1935), starting at 7 p.m. Dec. 13-14. In the first film, Henry Fonda and Harry Morgan play cowboys wrongly accused of murder. This stinging indictment against mob rule was well-directed by William Wellman. Followed by "Love Me Forever," starring Grace Moore as a down-and-out entertainer who sings her way to the top.

FRIENDLY SONS OF ST. PATRICK HALL, 8269 E. Eight Mile Road, just off of Van Dyke, Warren. Call 885-5618 for information. ($3 donation).

"Hidden Agenda" (Britain — 1990). Awarded with the Special Jury Prize at the 1990 Cannes Film Festival, the controversial film depicts the lengths to which the British government manipulates events in Northern Ireland. The presentation is the third in a Fall Film Series sponsored by Irish Northern Aid.

"Panic in the Parlor" (Britain — 1957), 7 p.m. Dec. 9. When a sailor returns home to get married, panic ensues in this British comedy starring Peggy Mount and Gordon Jackson.

MAGIC BAG THEATRE CAFE, 22918 Woodward Ave., Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information. ($4)

"Amadeus" (USA — 1985), 8 p.m. Dec. 10. Milos Forman takes an entertaining look at the life of Mozart in this musical biography which is anything but stuffy. Tom Hulce plays a wacky Wolfie, whose maniacal laugh and obvious talents grate on rival composer Salieri. A fitting celebration of the great Mozart on the bicentennial of his death.

MAPLE THEATRE, 4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for show times. ($6; $3.50 twi-light).

"Prospero's Books" (USA — 1991). Peter Greenaway, the controversial director of "The Cook, The Thief, His Wife and Her Lover," reworks Shakespeare's "The Tempest" with John Gielgud interpreting most of the parts. Visually, it's supposed to be a stunner, with its marriage of high-definition television images and the Quantel Paintbox on 35mm film.

"Black Robe" (USA — 1991). A true story based on the adventures of Father LaFourgue and his apprentice as they struggle for survival in the first clash between Europeans and Native Americans in 1634. From Bruce Beresford, the director of "Driving Miss Daisy" and "Breaker Morant."

"The Man in the Moon" (USA — 1991). The relationship between two sisters is severely tested when they fall in love with the same boy. Starring San Waterston and Tess Harper. Directed by Robert Mulligan.

MICHIGAN THEATRE, 603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4.25 students and seniors)

"Blue Velvet" (USA — 1986), 7 p.m. Dec. 10-11. In arguably the best film of the past decade, David Lynch takes a surrealistic look at small town life, where a college student (Kyle MacLachlan) gets mixed up with a mysterious torch club singer (Isabella Rossellini) and her sadistic boyfriend (Dennis Hopper). Dean Stockwell is unforgettable as the Roy Orbison-loving bordello owner.

"Paris is Burning" (USA — 1990), Dec. 10-13 (call for show times). It took director Jenny Livingston three years to complete this fascinating documentary about the gay black and Latino men who compete in Harlem drag balls. They are judged on "voguing," the ability to create a realistic image through dress and fashion poses.

control and combining with his inexperience to cause some errors.

A veteran officer, played by Takashi Shimura, joins the search and clearly knows more about a criminal investigation than the younger man. The pair are able to track down their man but not without personal costs.

"Stray Dog" — the title comes from comment by the older officer about their suspect — is a well-paced tense detective drama. But it's probably not what you'd expect from that description. There are no car chases, the officers walk or take the street car, and there is very little violence or gunplay.

The story moves through the characters and the unfolding investigation. Kurosawa assumes the audience is intelligent enough to follow the story as it proceeds without stereotypical action film devices.

The film also looks at broader issues, some that would have been particularly relevant in Japan during the years immediately following the Second World War. The man the officers are seeking turns out to be a veteran who has had trouble adjusting to civilian life. The detective sympathizes with the veterans.

"I SAW men go bad very quickly during the war," he comments.

Well played by Shimura, the older officer doesn't agree. He isn't concerned about why criminals break the law. He is there to protect the real victims, those whose suffering is caused by criminals.

Very subtly, Kurosawa provides comments and glimpses of post-war Japanese society that has been disrupted and altered forever. Learning that a female pickpocket has given up her trademark kimono for a dress and hair permanent, Shimura says, "Times do change."

I was fascinated by even the visual subtext of Japanese life of the era shown from a Japanese perspective.

Women open up about the abuse

Dear Readers:
The column of Sept. 16, in which I asked you to write with stories of women who were willing to put themselves in danger, resulted in an outpouring of letters. For the next few columns, those letters will be printed without comment. When all of them have been published, I will print my personal reactions and yours.

Barbara

Dear Barbara,
I could relate to your article of Monday, Sept. 16, concerning abuse. I am not going to relate my situation because each individual's abuse is unique but similar. What I feel is more helpful is to tell you I feel assertiveness training classes taken through Oakland Continuing Center finally turned on the light and gave me the resources to begin to help myself and my abusive husband.

Education is our salvation. I don't mean to take anything away from my Lord. It is the reason He created us with a brain. I am yet a novice in "self." I have not even advanced in my own mind to self-esteem.

I will be 50 years old in March. I am not worried to be arriving at such a late date. The journey has been tedious, painful and expensive. I have paid my dues. I hope that I may be directed to help others — women and men — to be neither victims or perpetrators. Co-dependence is a social disease.

Is it denial when you really do not know? I think the thing I like most about AST was its non-blaming posture, its human rights and respects. I could not blame when I knew I shared the blame. It began to teach me to take responsibility for myself and define my morals and their boundaries. By so doing, I set an example and gave my bully the freedom to do the same.

Venetto

Dear Barbara,
Your article "hit" home, as I am in an abusive relationship and have been in and out of shelters several times, always returning to my husband.

My first experience in a shelter, I had nothing and had three weeks to get welfare for myself and daughter. As I lost my job over the whole incident, alone with my daughter, we ended up in a project that was 99 percent black. Crack deals on the corner. My daughter was the only white child at her bus stop. I took a quick course (six weeks), had a job. My rent went up; welfare cut back. Couldn't apply for any other government-subsidized housing, like Section 8, under which you can choose your own apartment within their allowance, as I was already receiving help.

I was a dead end; couldn't save enough to move. I was trapped in a low-income, crack-infested neighborhood, so I guess, as any mother would, I sacrificed my preservation for my child, which is the case in many instances.

The "bully" usually is a decent father, provides the finer things, like a decent environment to raise kids. Don't get me wrong — it's an awful environment for your kids to hear the fighting. We have gone to counseling and haven't had a "bad" fight in over a year.

The stress everyone is under it's no wonder there's more violence. Men can't support their families. If it takes two incomes to have a decent place to live and be in the low/medium income bracket, how are women to do it by themselves?

I believe it's how we raise our kids, especially boys. That's an awesome responsibility. They have to be strong but sensitive. You have to teach them to be loving and caring. Girls are brought up playing with dolls being "mommy," fixing broken hearts and skinned knees.

Barbara Schiff

One article said men with abusive natures don't fall in love, they fall in lust or need, but they sure can convince you it's love. And it's hard to convince a friend who is trapped in a situation; can't say he doesn't love her — that just lowers her self-esteem.

Some women thrive on abuse. Afterwards, the men are so nice, so sorry. In the shelter with about 10 other women and their kids, everyone was secretly talking to their abusers, myself included, and there is a sense of power. We all feel "he's changed."

Low self-esteem or not, it's really hard not to believe them. You must be very strong, have a lot of support to break free, and in my experience still, nine out of 10 will go back.

Also mothers of girls need to instill in them at an early age that they are something special. Protect them. Low self-esteem comes from abuse. One out of three girls are sexually molested and that's the beginning of low self-esteem. Everyone in the shelter had been molested at one time or another in their lives.

Thank God they are talking about it in schools now. Just say "no" to anything that makes you feel uncomfortable. It's a sick world — everyone must be on their guard.

Give the gift of free flights to the needy

While you are thinking about Christmas giving, you might contribute your Continental Airlines frequent flier miles to CAREFORCE, an organization founded by Continental employees to help people in a transportation crisis.

CAREFORCE is a volunteer organization that spends time, money and frequent flier miles to help anybody in a personal or medical crisis with air transportation. The 3,000 people they have helped so far include a man traveling monthly from California to Sloan-Kettering in New York for last-ditch cancer treatments and a Sioux Indian girl born without arms who traveled to Houston for surgery.

President Melia Reed says that they get 300 calls a month, and can help 75, so they rarely respond to people who need to visit a dying father.

"We work through a social worker, medical professional or clergyman, any professional who is removed and can verify the situation. By the time people find us they have been in the situation a long time and exhausted their finances."

Continental contributes a certain number of seats a month. CAREFORCE buys tickets and encourages the contribution of frequent flier miles, which Continental allows you to transfer to this organization.

If that sounds like a good way to celebrate Christmas, or any other time of year, contact CAREFORCE at Box 3816, Humble, Texas, 77347-3816 to contribute frequent flier miles. To ask about a medical or personal crisis, call Continental Airlines reservations and ask about CAREFORCE; the agent will give you the current contact number for a CAREFORCE volunteer on duty.

CAREFORCE is just one of the things I learned about while flying Continental Airlines flight 1197 to Houston recently.

Continental is also giving gifts, with your help.

They sponsor a cookbook called "Cookin' Up Miracles," recipes from famous restaurants, with proceeds benefiting 5 million hospitalized kids through the Children's Miracle Network. You can order one from a plane by using Airfone free and calling (800) 837-0077.

You can call that toll-free number from home or send $16.95 plus $3 postage to "Cookin' Up Miracles," P.O. Box 26057, Columbus Ohio, 43226.

If you'd rather give a gift to yourself or another traveler, here are a couple of travel passports worth thinking about.

The Freedom Passport, usually available only to passengers 62 years old or more, can be bought until Jan. 16, 1992, by anyone 55 years old or older. The $1,799 passport is good for one year in the 48 contiguous states as well as Canada, St. Thomas and St. Croix.

You can make a maximum of one one-way trip per week if you stay over a Saturday night, with a few blackout dates during special holidays.

Practically speaking, this gives you about 23 flights a year at $78 a flight. The only other costs might be the $6 U.S. departure tax to Canada or the Caribbean.

Continental flies to most states. It doesn't fly to Tennessee and has limited service to states like North and South Carolina and West Virginia.

If you are 62 or over, you can buy this passport anytime. The special promotion for those 55 and over is available only through Jan. 15, 1992. If your application is postmarked before Dec. 16, 1991, you get an additional month on your ticket.

Call toll free (800) 441-1135.

While you're at it, ask about the Global Passport. They won't mention it unless you ask, but it is also available to the 55-and-up crowd for the same dates.

That passport costs $3,599.

Atlanta burns up with holiday spirit

By Mary Augusta Rodgers
special writer

Atlanta, the south's largest city, has all the razzle-dazzle of an American metropolis: a glittering skyline, a wide choice of glitzy hotels, shops and restaurants, a tempting array of shows, exhibits and nightlife and attractions that range from Atlanta Underground to the World of Coca-Cola.

The city seems to be on a roll. After the drama of seeing the Braves in the World Series, Atlanta is looking forward to the 1994 Super Bowl and the 1996 Olympics. Excitement is in the air.

But another Atlanta still exists in the side streets; a traditional soft-spoken, slow-paced, friendly southern town.

One way to enjoy that ambiance is to stay at the Shellmont Bed and Breakfast house, built in 1891 with many fine architectural details, located in a quiet residential neighborhood within walking distance of downtown Atlanta. The main house has 20 rooms, all with private bath.

THE SHELLMONT'S carriage house, a small building in the back of the property, is a real find for travelers who like a home-away-from-home feeling. There's a living room, kitchen, bedroom and bath and a little porch overlooking a charming garden, as well as a hammock, a small pond stocked with goldfish and a resident cat, ($90 a night for two people; continental breakfast included).

Piedmont Park is within walking distance, at Piedmont and 14th Street, with jogging trails and tennis courts. (Even in winter, Atlanta has many mild days.) There's also a spectacular Botanical Gardens, 60 acres in all, with a large conservatory full of tropical plants and during the Christmas season, poinsettias, and a 15-acre hardwood forest. It's a wonderful big-city oasis.

Coca-Cola and Cable News Network are two of Atlanta's most famous products: they're now decorated for Christmas and offering special events as well as their popular tours. CNN is in the Omni Complex at Marietta Street and Techwood Drive. Reservations are available only on the day of the tour, tickets cost $5 and Saturday tours fill up fast.

CNN Center's fifth annual Tuba Christmas brings 100 tuba players from around the country to play Christmas music from noon to 2 p.m. Dec. 20. If you are a tuba player, you can register on the day of the event.

The World of Coca-Cola is next to Underground Atlanta at 55 Martin Luther King Drive; tour tickets cost $2.50 and reservations can be made ahead. See their spectacular international Christmas Tree and a Christmas exhibit featuring the artwork of Haddon Sundblom, who created the image of Santa Claus as we know it today.

ATLANTA'S ANNUAL Festival of Trees will be at the Georgia World Congress Center, 285 International Blvd., through Dec. 15, and has Christmas trees and wreaths decorated by the region's top designers, a children's corner with hands-on activities, a gingerbread village, continuous performances and a carousel.

The striking High Museum, at 133 Peachtree St. downtown, creates a quiet, contemplative world of its own with art collections and special exhibits. But even here there's a holiday mood, with an Hispanic Fiesta featuring music and dance on Dec. 17 at 12:15 p.m.

As big cities go, Atlanta is easy to get around in, thanks to the rapid rail and bus system known as MARTA. (15 minute rail service to the airport costs $1.) Now the New Georgia Railroad is offering holiday rides, with carolling groups on board, for the Atlanta Loop and the Stone Mountain Loop on Dec. 14 and 21. These rides depart twice daily from the Milepost Station near Underground Atlanta; call (404) 656-0769 for times and reservations.

Underground Atlanta will, of course, be alive with lights, decorations, community choirs, street performers, storytellers and costumed characters — everything but snow and ice, which isn't traditional during the Christmas season in Atlanta, anyway. Look for the Great Tree.

Take kids to Chicago by train

By Vera Hogan
special writer

My son Sean was a perfect car traveler as a baby. We could spend Christmas with his grandparents, Doris and Larry Hogan, of Parshalleville, and we could visit grandma and grandpa in Chicago almost as easily.

By age one, a Christmas trip to Chicago was a nightmare. My darling son used six hours of confinement to test his lungs, and to play "throw the bottle and scream." That's when I decided that long car trips with Sean would end until he spoke fluent English and understood my "rules of the car."

This year I had a brilliant idea: we would travel by train.

I was delighted to learn that my roundtrip fare on Amtrak would cost only $40, and my son would travel free. Not only was I going to be able to maintain reasonably good mental health, I was going to save money as well.

WE WERE to board the train to Chicago in Ann Arbor, a pleasant and easy drive from our home in Holly. I knew right away that traveling by train with my son would be a definite improvement.

While waiting on the platform for our train to arrive, people were introducing themselves and sharing "why we're going to Chicago" stories. Some even made plans to sit together during the trip to play cards or just chat.

We boarded the train and sat in nice roomy seats where Sean could stretch out, unconfined by a car seat. The gentle rocking of the train lulled him to sleep several times during the trip. While he slept, nice people in our car offered to buy me sodas and snacks on their trips to the club car.

When awake, Sean was happier and more relaxed, and had my complete undivided attention. He took great pride in sitting in his seat and eating snacks from the pull-down tray table like a "big boy." He very much enjoyed gazing out of the train windows and taking occasional walks through other cars.

Because I'm a new first-time mother, one concern I did have on this trip was the possibility of "child-snatching." I recalled that there was quite a long, underground walk from the tracks to Union Station upon arrival in Chicago.

IN ADDITION, my parents had warned that because of construction on several major Chicago highways leading to Union Station, they might be delayed in picking us up.

With this in mind, I bought a 3-foot, heavy-duty, chain-linked dog leash before leaving on our trip. Once we arrived in Chicago, I put my hand through the sturdy leather handle of the leash, slid it up my arm inside my jacket and secured it tightly around my upper arm.

The other end of the leash was clipped onto the clasps of my son's overall jeans, inside his jacket. Although I did receive a few odd looks, I took comfort in the fact that if someone were to grab my son, they were going to have to take me too.

Fortunately, our arrival was uneventful and my parents were on time waiting for us.

Traveling by train has also solved an "at home" problem. We live two blocks from tracks where trains come through several times a day. A sound that once terrified by son, now sends him flying to the window with happy excited cries of "toot, toot!"

If you're planning a long trip alone with a small child, I highly recommend doing yourself a favor and travel by train. For information and reservations, call Amtrak toll-free (800) 872-7245.

Ford, Levin, Pursell support abortion counseling bill

Here's how area Observer & Eccentric members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending Nov. 22.

HOUSE

ABORTION — By a vote of 276 for and 156 against, the House upheld President Bush's veto of a bill

(HR 2707) permitting pregnant women to get abortion counseling at federally funded health clinics. The margin was 12 votes shy of the two-thirds majority Democratic leaders needed to override the veto of the Department of Health and Human Services spending bill. Override supporter Thomas Foley, D-Wash., the House Speaker, said the abortion counseling is constitutionally protected free speech.

Christopher Smith, R-N.J., said sustaining the veto would uphold "the most important pro-life policy of the year."

A yes vote supported abortion counseling by clinics that get federal funds.

Local legislators voting yes were Pursell, Hertel, William Ford and Levin.

U.S. Rep. Broomfield voted no.

BANKING BILL — By a vote of 344 for and 84 against, the House passed a bill (HR 3768) making $70 billion in taxpayer-backed credit available to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for closing failed banks and paying off insured deposits. Future fees on banks would supply up to $30 billion of the capital. The FDIC would borrow the remainder from the Treasury, using seized bank assets as collateral. Taxpayers would stand behind both mechanisms. The bill also steps up FDIC examinations of bank books, and makes the deposit insurance fund more secure against risky banking practices.

A yes vote was to pass the FDIC recapitalization bill.

Michigan representatives voting yes were Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, voted no.

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE — By a vote of 74 for and 355 against, the House rebuffed an attempt to limit federal deposit insurance to $100,000 per person per bank, plus $100,000 for an IRA. The vote occurred during debate on HR 3768 (above).

Sponsor Richard Arney, R-Texas, said his intent was "to limit taxpayer exposure to any potential repeat of the savings and loan debacle in banking."

Opponent Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky., said the proposal would alarm consumers and cause capital flight from small-town banks.

A yes vote was to limit deposit insurance to $100,000 per person per bank.

Area legislators voting no were Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

FAVORED SOVIET TRADE — By a vote of 350 for and 78 against, the House approved legislation (HJ Res 346) granting most-favored-nation trade status to the Soviet republics, entitling their exports to the lowest U.S. tariffs.

Dick Schulze, R-Pa., said "we want to try to encourage this transition from a totalitarian centralized economy to a market economy."

Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., objected to increasing trade with the Soviets while they arm Cuba and send aid to North Korea and Vietnam.

A yes vote supported favored trade terms for Soviet exports.

U.S. Reps. Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin and Broomfield voted yes.

SENATE

BANKING SERVICES — By a vote of 34 for and 62 against, the Senate refused to require banks to help the poor and the elderly by cashing government checks at a small fee and offering "lifeline" accounts that allow limited activity at low or no cost. This occurred before the Senate passed, on a non-record vote, a bill providing $70 billion in new capital for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ($ 543).

Don Riegle, D-Mich., said banks receiving taxpayer backing should help "the 20 percent of the people in the country that now have no banking relationship."

Opponent Trent Lott, R-Miss., said it is wrong "for the government to get in the business of dictating who must cash checks."

A yes vote was to require certain banking services for the poor and elderly.

Michigan Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, voted yes.

BROKERED DEPOSITS — By a vote of 64 for and 32 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to prohibit federal deposit insurance from covering "brokered deposits" in banks. Such risk-free investments are packaged by securities brokers and sent nationwide in search of the highest rates. The amendment was offered to the FDIC bill (above). Mindful of how brokered deposits fueled the S & L collapse, the bill restricts them to strong banks.

Jake Garn, R-Utah, called the amendment unnecessary because the bill already guards against abuses from brokered deposits.

Sponsor Bob Graham, D-Fla., said "the U.S. taxpayers should not be putting their subsidized deposit insurance behind those accounts."

A yes vote supported federal deposit insurance for brokered deposits in strong banks.

Sen. Levin voted no. Sen. Riegle voted yes.

Red Cross seeks county volunteers

The American Red Cross seeks volunteers for its Wayne County programs.

Volunteers are needed to drive the Red Cross Bloodmobile, assist at bloodmobile sites and deliver blood products to area hospitals. They are also needed to assist at the Dearborn Regional Office, Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Allen Park and at Westland Medical Center.

In addition, the Red Cross seeks volunteers to promote and install the Lifeline Personal Emergency Response system, a service for the elderly and others who must stay home alone. Volunteers are also sought for Red Cross hypertension screening centers. Licensed nurses are also needed to help disaster victims.

Those interested in volunteering can call the Dearborn office, 274-5450.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office.

It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Have an Old Fashioned Holiday Without The Old Fashioned ...When You Drive

Make this holiday one you can look back on with fond memories.

Don't Drink and Drive

This holiday season, The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and the automotive dealerships in our area are working together with Mothers Against Drunk Driving to help change the meaning of "Tie One On".

Tying a red ribbon to your vehicle's door handle, sideview mirror or antenna seems a simple thing, but it serves as an instant reminder that if you drink, please don't drive. Visit any of the following dealerships to pick up your red ribbon. Tell them you're glad they care.

Are you a Compulsive Overeater?

	Yes	No
1. Do you eat when you're not hungry?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. Do you go on eating binges for no apparent reason?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. Do you have feelings of guilt and remorse after overeating?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. Do you give too much time and thought to food?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
5. Is your weight affecting the way you live your life?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. Do you use fasting, strenuous exercise, vomiting or laxatives to control your weight?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. Have you tried to diet for a week (or longer), only to fall short of your goal?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

If you answer "yes" to three or more of these questions, you may be a compulsive overeater. You are not alone. Millions of Americans suffer from this disease.

Compulsive overeating is a painful, relentless illness that interferes with every aspect of life. It is a disease that gets progressively worse if left untreated.

Weight gain often accompanies this illness. But not always. Many compulsive overeaters maintain normal body weight by strict diets, fasting, strenuous exercise, vomiting, or excessive laxative use. These methods are ineffective and medically dangerous.

Weight is not the problem, and dieting is not the solution. The problem is the disease of compulsive overeating, and the solution is a program of treatment and recovery.

The Eating Disorders Recovery Center (EDRC) of St. Mary Hospital offers an outpatient treatment program that leads to lasting recovery. Our approach is comprehensive. We help our patients make lifestyle changes that give them renewed confidence in themselves and more control over their lives. Gradually, the chronic binge/diet cycle is replaced by a healthy, more satisfying, and more productive way of life. With food in its proper place, weight normalizes.

At EDRC, we work as a team -- psychologist, psychiatrist, physician, nutritionist, and specially trained therapists -- to diagnose and treat eating disorders. This experienced staff provides treatment with understanding and sensitivity.

If compulsive overeating is a problem for you, or someone you love, take the first step toward recovery. Call us today at 591-2936, WE CAN HELP.

Pamper birds, pets with treats

As I sit in front on my word processor in a cozy office with my belly full of food, I have mixed emotions about writing a column such as this.

Anyone who has not been touched by the plight of the needy must be going through life wearing rose colored glasses.

PICK UP any newspaper and headlines abound with stories of the homeless, general assistance cuts, unemployment and the general negative state of the economy.

I have much to be thankful for. In addition to a wonderful family, I have a crazy cat named Kibbles and a bird feeder outside my front and back windows that hosts many a wild feathered friend.

Many pets have touched my life including a spider monkey named "Singe" and a golden retriever named "Jack." The aquarium collecting dust in the basement has been home for angel fish, sharks, turtles and even a hamster or two.

THAT'S WHY this year, in addition to other Human charities, I'm supporting the Humane Society. But just as important as writing a check, I'm also getting into the spirit of making some good old fashioned pet food for the upcoming winter months for my pet, and the ones that give me so much pleasure in my backyard.

Having just finished reading "Feed the Birds" by Helen and Dick Witty (Workman Publishers, 1991, $8.95) I couldn't wait to start my own backyard birdfeeder resplendent with homemade suet bells coupled with a birdacious corn and raisin cake.

This book is filled with tips on inviting our fine feathered friends to your yard so that you too can watch their goings-on and hear their song.

THE RECIPES are easy enough for a "bird brain" to follow. If there's a bird lover, and a window in your house, this book gives a whole new meaning to "guess who's coming to dinner!"

But during this time of year, we should also remember the driving force behind the animal rights movement.

Anyone who has ever enjoyed the warmth of a pet has heard of the Humane Society. Kibbles came from the Huron Valley Humane Society with a warning that having been an abused pet, she might not adapt well to home life, especially with the exuberant Janes Gang.

We must have had a lot of love to offer because Kibs has been a part of the Janes Gang now going on five years.

This year, as in the past, Christmas morning will find her tearing into a pet basket filled with homemade tuna cookies, home-grown catnip, yarn balls, and one of those springy-squeaky mouses on a string that all cats go crazy over.

But in addition to a check, Kibs will again ride in the van with a donated "goody" box for needy animals at four local animal shelters. The box will be packed with old towels and a generous assortment of food for less fortunate animals.

These are the same animals that have given you and me a laugh, and sense of love. Animals that people have decided to give up for one reason or another, but animals that right now need our help, love and hope.

THE MICHIGAN Humane Society has an outstanding 1991 Holiday Gift Catalog in addition to a retail outlet appropriately named "Pawpourri" at 817 N. Main in beautiful downtown Royal Oak (545-3780).

If you have a pet, include them in your holiday revelry. A special treat, and a donation to the Michigan Humane Society in their name will help other less fortunate pets.

Cookie artists Katie Christensen, 7 (left) and Heather, 4 check the consistency of the green frosting they will use to decorate Christmas tree, bell and star sugar-butter cut-outs. Hungry cookie fans grab the finished product, below. A little frosting, a few sprinkles, and the creative talents of Katie and Heather turn ordinary cookies into Christmas treasures.

Families repeat timeless holiday tradition

By Larry Janes
special writer

MY UNIQUE ability to procrastinate will again this year have me finishing my holiday baking sometime by New Year's Eve. There's little doubt that I will once again be forced to chill my dough for an hour in the freezer rather than allowing it to mellow and harden normally for a few hours in the refrigerator.

I WILL again break my vow of not shopping after midnight trying to find an all-night grocery in search of sugar, red and green sprinkles and butter-flavored Crisco, knowing darned well I should have had enough on hand before I even started.

But people like Ursula Rymarz of Livonia, and Yvonne Christensen of Farmington Hills certainly influence me with a continuing reminder that there is hope for us cutting-edge trendoids.

Rymarz, the mother of three grown children, calls herself "basically an old-fashioned, down-to-earth gal" who eschews the virtues of newfangled air-cushioned cookie sheets and parchment paper.

She still uses old cookie sheets handed down from her mother, and wasn't the least bit interested in learning more about parchment paper.

She has always looked upon her holiday baking chores as a tradition more than a job, and has been doing so for more than 28 years. This year, as in the past, she and her daughter Michele, 22, will have made 12 different types of Christmas cookies, ending up with "about 25 dozen or so, depending on how many they taste."

Christensen will also have her holiday cookies baked, packaged and secured in addition to sewing holiday costumes for kids Katie and Heather for a holiday pageant. With a little help from husband Claude, and even 8-month-old Corey getting into the spirit, the family will gather for an evening of cookie baking and decorating.

Christensen claims that several years ago, she went out and bought some "fancy-shmancy" cookie cutters, only to fall back on the old faithful inexpensive tin ones after being disappointed.

Not even knowing the benefits of air-cushioned cookie sheets or parchment, this holiday baker will again rely solely on her "Baker's Secret" cookie sheets and 39 cent tin cookie cutters.

I KNOW I rely far too much on trendy gadgets and goodies that make life in the kitchen a little easier, but for folks like Ursula Rymarz and Yvonne Christensen who have yet to discover the joys of baking cookies on parchment paper, once you try it, you'll never want to grease another pan.

Parchment paper that can be reused not only makes clean-up a breeze but it literally enables the cookies to slide off the sheet.

Here are two examples of modern-day women who have little or no need for the "trendy" equipment that modern-day cooks need. They might not have air-cushioned cookie sheets and fancy cookie guns, but the final product emerging from the oven shows that with a mixer, a bowl and a few spoons, "nothin' says lovin' like somethin' from the oven!"

Smart cookies share secrets

"A home with cookies baking in the oven is a home filled with love and happiness," said Rose Levy Beranbaum, author of "Rose's Christmas Cookies," (William Morrow, Inc. $23).

Here are some of Beranbaum's tips for perfect cookies.

To cream butter, begin with room-temperature butter, or use refrigerated butter cut into squares. Beat until light and fluffy.

Choose flat baking sheets with very low edges so the air can circulate over and around cookies during baking.

Preheat the oven for at least 15 minutes prior to baking. Double-check the oven temperature with a thermometer that rests on the center rack in the oven.

Arrange baking sheets in the oven at least 2 inches apart so the hot air can circulate freely around each sheet. If the oven does not accommodate two sheets, bake only one batch at a time. Rearrange and rotate cookie sheets halfway through baking time to ensure even browning.

Do not store soft cookies and crisp cookies together; the soft cookies will cause the crisp cookies to soften.

Use a separate container to store each variety of cookie to preserve its special flavor.

For the holiday baker looking for timeless holiday baking tips, Yvonne Christensen recommends:

- Bake one sheet of cookies at a time on the center rack of a preheated oven. Check at the end of the minimum baking time — a minute can make a heck of a lot of difference.

- Unless recipe states otherwise, remove immediately from the cookie sheet with a spatula to a wire rack to cool.

- Place a slice of bread in cookie tins for storage to keep cookies from drying out and getting too hard.

- Place a pan of water in the oven while baking cookies and other holiday baked goods. The humidity keeps the baked goods from rising too high in the center.

The American Dairy Association has created a new leaflet filled with hints for baking, storing and sending butter cookies. For a copy, send 50 cents, plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to: American Dairy Association, Butter Cookie Traditions, P.O. Box 760, Dept. PR, Rosemont, Ill. 60018.

Book captures Christmas spirit

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

Reminders of Christmases past, and answers to questions about Christmas present make "The Frugal Gourmet Celebrates Christmas," by Jeff Smith a holiday treasure.

Published by William Morrow and Company Inc. ($25), the hardcover book features original woodcuts of characters at the manger, color photographs taken by Smith of his creche figures, reproductions from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and more than 75 color photographs of the recipes.

IF YOU have children, or grandchildren, especially ones who ask a lot of questions, this is the book for you. Beginning with a chapter on Advent, Smith leads readers through the history of Christmas focusing on traditions, theology, myth, and food. Many chapters end with a recipe.

In a chapter about Joseph the Carpenter Smith writes, "What should we prepare for Joseph? Something that simple man would understand, such as unleavened brown bread cakes. You could make these and take them on a trip, as they would last a long time." A recipe for unleavened bread follows.

Subsequent chapters explain Christmas traditions like Santa Claus, the Christmas tree, Christmas carols, gift giving, Christmas bells, puddings and cakes.

There's even a chapter on the history of Hanukkah followed by recipes for a seasonal meal of latkes and Tzimmes.

A chapter on cookies contains some unusual recipes like Babes Wrapped in Swaddling Clothes and Cookie Ornaments for the Tree.

For those of looking for something different to serve for dinner, there's a section of favorite Christmas menus and recipes including roast prime rib of beef, roast goose, and crown roast of pork.

See recipe inside.

Enjoy the holidays with the Frugal Gourmet's newest book "The Frugal Gourmet Celebrates Christmas."

Homemade treats for birds, dogs

See Larry Jones' taste buds column on Taste front.

BIRDIE SUET AND SEED CAKES

- 3 1/2 cups fresh suet or beef-fat trimmings, cubed
- 1 1/2 cup peanut hearts or peanuts
- 1 cup rolled oats
- 1 1/2 cup sunflower meats
- 1 cup cracked corn or yellow cornmeal
- 1/4 cup sugar

Combine fat, nuts and oats in a food processor or chop to a rough, chunky mass, not a paste, using a meat cleaver.

Heat in a saucepan, stirring until fat begins to run freely. Remove from heat and stir in remaining ingredients. Press into muffin pans and chill until set.

These can be placed in feeder bags, on feeders or distributed about the yard. They freeze well when wrapped in individual plastic bags.

HOMEMADE DOGGIE BISCUITS

- 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 1 cup uncooked cornmeal
- 1/2 cup beef drippings
- 1 teaspoon beef bouillon granules
- 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk

- 1/4 cup cornmeal
- 1 egg, beaten
- 3 cups whole wheat flour

In a large bowl, pour hot water over oatmeal and drippings. Stir in bouillon. Let stand 5 minutes. Stir in powdered milk, cornmeal and egg.

Stir in flour, 1/4 cup at a time, until a stiff dough is made. Roll into 1/4 inch thickness. Cut into desired shapes. (The Humane Society sells a doggie biscuit cutter!) Bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes. Allow to stand in the oven overnight to dry out. Makes about 2 pounds of biscuits.

Pasta perfect for holidays

This recipe is from "The Frugal Gourmet Celebrates Christmas" (See related story on Taste front). Made with two different colors of pasta, Straw and Hay (Paglia e Fieno) is perfect for those busy evenings before the holidays.

Think about the donkey in the manger when you make this dish.

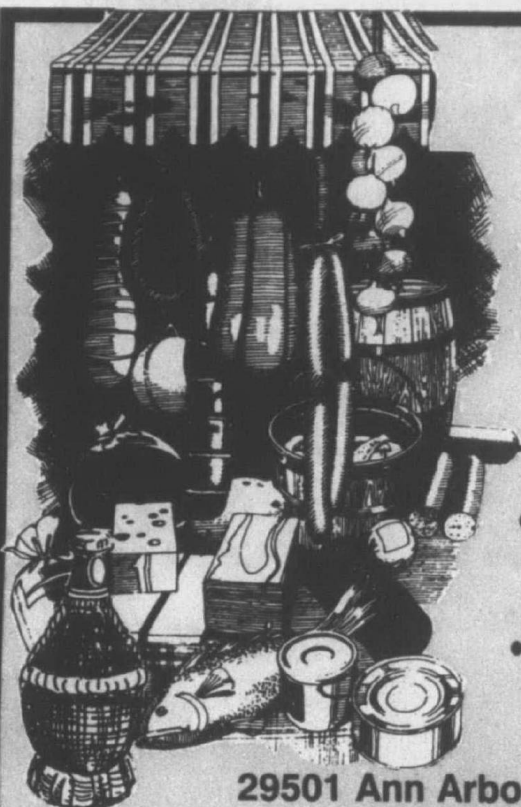

STRAW AND HAY

- Serves 6 as a pasta course
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 4 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
- 1/2 pound spinach linguine
- 1/2 pound regular linguine
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste additional cheese for topping

Heat a small frying pan and add the butter, olive oil and garlic. Saute the garlic briefly, but do not burn. Set aside. Bring a large pot of water with a pinch of salt to a boil and in it cook both pastas. (Check the cooking times for both types of pasta so that you can time them properly). Drain.

Return the pasta to the pot and toss with the reserved butter and garlic mixture, the cheese and salt and pepper to taste. To serve, top the individual portions with additional cheese.

Roll out the dough it's cooking cutting time

See story on Taste front.

WREATH COOKIES

2 hard-boiled large egg yolks
2 large eggs, separated
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 cups all purpose flour
2 sticks (1 cup) unsalted butter, softened colored sugar

In a bowl, mash the hard-boiled egg yolks, add the raw egg yolks and the granulated sugar, and with an electric mixer beat the mixture until light and fluffy. Beat in the flour and butter alternately, in three batches, beating the mixture after each addition until it is just combined. Chill the dough, wrapped in plastic wrap, for at least one hour or overnight.

Roll 1 tablespoon of the dough into a four-inch rope. Form the rope into a ring, overlapping the ends and transfer to a lightly greased cookie sheet. Make rings with remaining dough in the same manner and arrange them 2 inches apart on the cookie sheets. In a small bowl, whisk egg whites until frothy. Brush the tops of the rings, sprinkle rings with colored sugar and bake them in batches in the middle of a preheated 350-degree oven for 10-12 minutes or until pale golden.

Allow to cool 1 minute on sheet, then transfer to racks to cool completely. These cookies can be made three weeks in advance and kept frozen between sheets of waxed paper in airtight containers. Makes about 40 wreaths.

NO TIME TO MEASURE DOUBLE NUT CHIP COOKIES

1 box yellow cake mix
1 stick butter, melted
1 egg
one handful chocolate chips
1 handful chopped nuts
1 handful sliced almonds, divided Combine cake mix, butter and egg in a large bowl. Mix at low speed with an electric mixer until just blended. Stir in chocolate chips, nuts and half the almonds. Shape dough into equal sized balls. Press top of balls into remaining almonds and place on a lightly greased baking sheet, 1 inch apart. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 9-11 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool 2 minutes on baking sheet, remove to cooling racks. Makes 3-3 1/2 dozen.

YVONNE CHRISTENSEN'S SUGAR-BUTTER CUT-OUTS

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 unbeaten egg
2 tablespoons milk
1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In a large bowl, combine flour, baking powder and salt. Sift. Set aside. In another bowl, cream together the margarine with the sugar. Add eggs, milk and vanilla and mix. Blend in dry ingredients. Roll onto plastic wrap and chill 1-2 hours. Roll out on a lightly floured surface and cut into desired shapes. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 5-8 minutes.

PEANUT BLOSSOMS

1 1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 unbeaten egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. In a separate bowl, cream together the butter, peanut butter and sugars. Mix in egg and vanilla. Blend dry ingredients in and shape into balls. Roll balls in regular or colored sugar and bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Remove from the oven and add an unwrapped chocolate kiss on top of each cookie. Return to the oven and bake for 2 more minutes.

BUTTERSCOTCH CRUNCH

1/2 cup peanut butter
1 1/2 oz. package butterscotch chips
1 cup salted peanuts, without skin
1 3-oz. can Chinese noodles
Melt butterscotch chips, mix in the other ingredients. Drop by tablespoon onto buttered waxed paper. Chill until firm. Keep in refrigerator until serving.

Low-fat pie crust works every time

Holiday cheer is in the air, people are smiling more and whistling carols. The release of the last American hostage, Terry Anderson makes all a little more hopeful that there really is such a thing as "peace on earth, good will toward men (women)."

Stop, before you try the Best Fruitcake recipe, there's a missing ingredient, 1 pound of light or dark brown sugar which equals about 3 1/2 cups. The Best Fruitcake recipe fills 4 loaf pans or 2 bundt cake pans. Aunt Phyllis' Nutty Fruitcake fills 2 loaf pans or 1 bundt cake pan. Selma Duvivant of Livonia and Frances Moritz of West Bloomfield called to point these errors out to me.

While we were talking, Moritz gave me a great recipe for low-fat tidbits

Keely Wygonik

pie crust. "I sent away to Puritan Oil for a cookbook, this was one of the recipes," said Moritz. "It's real nice and flaky."

Since he likes pie so much, Moritz leaves making the crust to her husband. This recipe works every time. It makes one crust, double it for two crusts.

LOW-FAT PIE CRUST

1 1/2 cups all purpose flour

1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
1/2 cup Canola oil
3 tablespoons skim milk

Combine flour and salt in one bowl. Blend oil and milk in another bowl. Gradually add to flour. Stir with fork until mixture forms large clumps.

Press with fingers to form ball. Flatten between hands to form a 5-to 6-inch pancake. Roll pancake between unfloured sheets of wax paper. Peel off top sheet, flip into 9 inch pie plate.

Don't forget those favorite Winner Dinners. I know a lot of people clip them out. Call me at 953-2105 or write: Keely Wygonik, Taste editor, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150.

On Jan. 13 we will be celebrating our 100th Winner Dinner. Help me choose the three most popular Winner Dinners.

Better Crocker tip of the week: Crepes have the distinction of being a very dressy dessert without being difficult. Fill crepes with vanilla pudding, drizzle with raspberry sauce and top with a dollop of whipped cream and a sprig of mint.

Wines from Alsace region age well

Alsace is the most beautiful wine region in France. Almost isolated, Alsace is situated between the Vosges Mountains on the west and the Rhine river on the east.

The best-kept secret in wine is the dry, fruity, long-lived white wines of Alsace. They accompany the great cuisine of 36 Michelin-starred restaurants in Alsace — a greater number than anywhere else in Europe.

RECENTLY, we discussed Alsace wine with Etienne Hugel, whose family has made wine continuously since 1639.

"We have produced Alsace wines in Europe's favorite battlefield for over 350 years," said Hugel. "Imagine our task. Each time the Alsace region exchanged its relationship with Germany and France, we had to start over."

"As a consequence of having our boundaries changed so often, the wines of Alsace lost their identity. We sell dry, French wines in a German-style bottle made from grapes that sometimes sound French (pinot blanc) and sometimes sound German (gewurztraminer)."

Most French wine regions use two or three grape varieties planted on a single soil type. Alsace has seven wine grape varieties (sylvaner, riesling, pinot gris, gewurztraminer, pinot blanc, pinot noir, and muscat d'Alsace) planted on a patchwork of granite, sand, clay and chalk soils that allows each variety to be appropriately matched by type.

HUGEL EMPHASIZES that to appreciate Alsace wines, the consumer must understand the grape varieties, the unique northern climate and the region's extended growing season.

"The best introduction to Alsace wines is pinot blanc," said Hugel. "It focus on wine

Eleanor and

is versatile and affordable, great with food and is styled like a chardonnay without being too aromatic. Pinot gris is more complex — a step up. This wine shows exuberant fruit, not wood. Gewurztraminer has lively spice aromas and flavors that complement smoked salmon and oriental cuisines. Ultimately, people should enjoy the elegant balance and finesse of riesling, the king of Alsace varieties."

Hugel insists that the key to producing fresh, balanced Alsace wines is the long, cool growing season. Grapes can hang on the vine until biological maturity is attained. This slow ripening explains how Alsace wines maintain crisp acidity, retain fresh fruit and achieve the body of world-class wine.

The wines of Hugel are bottled by increasing quality and labeled "Hugel," "Cuvee Tradition" and "Jubilée." The day-to-day process of vinification and maturation is undertaken entirely by family members. Contrary to popular opinion, the aging potential of the great Alsace white wines is limited only by the lifespan of the cork.

"All great wines have the potential to improve with extended bottle age," contends Hugel. "Alsace white wines age as well as the great red wines of Bordeaux. For example, a bottle of 1865 Hugel Tokay Pinot Gris, recorded in 1922 and tasted in 1983, was described by international wine authority Michael Broadbent as 'quite unbelievably perfect.'"

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

The Alsace wines of Hugel are served in every Michelin three-star restaurant in Germany, Italy and France. That is just about the best recommendation a wine producer can have. The 1989 Pinot Blanc "Cuvee Les Amour" Hugel ($15) shows lively fresh fruit qualities with an attractive steeliness. The 1988 Tokay Pinot Gris "Cuvee Tradition" Hugel ($22) boasts a touch of spice in the nose and a rich palate impression backed by solid fruit. It was an excellent accompaniment to Pike Quenelles with Crayfish Sauce served at the Golden Mushroom. The 1989 Gewurztraminer, Hugel ($20) has typical aromas of spice and lychee fruit complemented by good balance and body. This Alsace wine is particularly adaptable to oriental cuisines.

"Detroit: Santa Isn't Coming to Town???", a locally produced half-hour Christmas special featuring Detroit-area celebrities, airs Monday, December 16, at 8 p.m. on WJBK-TV 2.

The story unfolds when Santa Claus, played by WOMC-FM morning personality Tom Ryan, announces that he is skipping this year's Detroit Thanksgiving Parade due to a severe economic crunch at the North Pole. Instead, Santa has accepted an offer of "a million billion dollars" to appear in a Thanksgiving Parade in a foreign country.

Stunned city officials begin interviewing possible replacements for Santa, including a deadpan Maurice "Mr. Belvedere" Lezell practicing his best "ho, ho, ho." In the meantime, four local children take matters into their own hands, inviting Santa to come to Detroit on a fact-finding mission with hopes of changing his mind.

The kids escort Santa around town, showing him such highlights as Belle Isle and taking him to see local celebrities who try to convince him to appear in the Detroit parade. The final stop on the tour is a visit to the home of Santa's favorite baseball announcer Ernie Harwell for a last-ditch pitch.

As Santa struggles with the dilemma of disappointing the children of Detroit or taking the million billion dollars, he is reminded by one of the kids that Christmas is about giving, not getting. The story concludes with TV news coverage of the Detroit Thanksgiving Parade, revealing the outcome of Santa's decision.

"Detroit: Santa Isn't Coming to Town???" was written and produced by Tom Delisle and shot at locations in and around Detroit by TV 2 photographer Bob Berg.

HOROSCOPE

by C.C. Clark

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
A disagreement with a loved one could get blown out of proportion. Try to look at the situation objectively and compromise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
You can only take so much from people before you rebel, and this time you're in the right. Just be sure to check your facts before you go off on that tear.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
The beginning of the week may have you running around like a crazy person, but things will settle down in a few days.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You'll stay busy at work or school, but that's just the way you like it. Because you're not one to sit idle for long, new projects will please you immensely.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
An elderly person may give you advice and you would do well to take it. Financial matters should be taken seriously at this time.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Don't question things you don't really want to know the answer to. Keeping your nose out of other people's business is tough, but necessary.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
You've got to stop burning the candle at both ends. You are leaving yourself open to every germ that crosses your path. Take care of yourself.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
You may have to make a major career decision in the near future. Try to laugh at situations over which you have no control.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Conversations with loved ones will soothe your frazzled nerves. Be sure to show your appreciation to those who listen to your troubles.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
You must make a difficult decision concerning a co-worker or close friend. The truth may be nasty, but it must be told. Try to be tactful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Keep personal issues out of the workplace or face the consequences. Gossip will tear your personal life to shreds if you're not careful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
Try to open your mind to new possibilities. Don't assume those around you can read your thoughts; explain what you need.

After 50 Christmases, Bob Hope's a regular-issue Santa

Yule special features Culkin, McEntire, AP gridiron team

by Suzanne Gill

"Let's put on a show!" That was the stock solution for bluesbusters from Mickey Rooney's Andy Hardy to South Pacific's Nellie the nurse. But, as any high school thespian will tell you, it's easier said than done.

Except when Bob Hope does it. For 50 years — ever since he came across the fledgling USO during World War II — Hope has been putting on shows for troops stationed at bases and aboard ships from Asia to the Middle East. And for four decades, he's been entertaining the civilian populace on television. In the opinion of the U.S. Air Force, Hope's earned his oak-leaf clusters, which are to be presented to him as part of this year's Christmas special, airing Wednesday, Dec. 18, on NBC.

Hope's on-screen producer is daughter Linda Hope, who seems to have the master chef's recipe for success close at hand as she draws up the guest list for one of her dad's specials.

"What I've been trying to do," she says, "is get some of the hottest people around in their respective fields. For this show, I wanted to have a child, because my dad works particularly well with children, and also because it's Christmas. So I said to myself, 'Who's the biggest child star around?' and Macauley Culkin of course comes to mind."

Typical of Hope guests, Culkin was eager to accept the invitation, but already rather busy with other commitments. Still, Hope is Hope, and a deal was struck with 20th Century Fox to spring the child actor from the set of "Home Alone 2" for a couple of days to do the Christmas show.

A few more phone calls and country music's Reba McEntire and Carolyn Sapp, Miss America 1992 ("My dad worked with her for a charity show in Florida about two months ago and thought she was a very talented young woman, and said, 'Let's see if we can get her for the Christmas show'") were added to the roster for a show taped between Dec. 7 and 15 in Colorado Springs, Colo., the site of the U.S. Air Force Academy, and Nashville, Tenn.

Also featured this year is a tribute to comedian Redd Foxx ("because my dad loved Redd Foxx, and Redd went with him on a couple of those overseas Christmas tours") that includes a memorable sketch from the 1972 Christmas show that saw Foxx playing Santa.

An annual highlight is the singing of "Silver Bells," a latter-day holiday standard Hope introduced in the 1951 movie "The Lemon Drop Kid." He's included it as a duet in 15 shows, and this year asked that wife Dolores, whose singing voice still earns well justified praise, join him on the stage.

Because taping of the show would be completed just three days before its scheduled air date, with guests (including the Associated Press All American college football team) flying in from all over, producer Linda Hope has developed some contingency plans, but she says her father usually gets what he needs for a show — from guests to weather.

"My father has been really amazing with the weather," she recalls. "Last Christmas we were in Bermuda, and we were out on a beach doing a sketch which was the final piece of the show. All of a sudden, the rain came up. But we had everything set up, so we went ahead and did the thing, and we were just going to do it one more time to take off any rough edges, and we got through three quarters of it and it started raining, so we at least had everything in the can, as they say."

Although showman Hope has been heard to say that he puts himself in his daughter's hands during production of the television specials, she insists with a laugh that "he's being very kind, but he's the man who's been doing it all these years."

"I deal with the scheduling — the nuts and bolts part of it." She laughs again. "He's very cute to say that."

And now, for the fiftieth year and counting, on with the show.

Question 'Turns' on Warrick's role

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I enjoy your articles in Soap Talk, but there is one thing you weren't very clear on. You talked about Ruth Warrick (who plays Phoebe Tyler Warrington in All My Children) and the shows she had played in.

You said she played five years on As the World Turns, but you didn't say what character she played. I watch the show, but I don't remember her. Please clear this up if you can. —Thank you, Herbert McMillan, Fredonia, Kan.

Dear Reader: I'm sorry for the omission. Warrick portrayed Edith Hughes from 1956-1960 on ATWT. According to The Soap Opera Encyclopedia by Christopher Schemering, she was a pivotal character early in the show's run.

Dear Candace: I saw the name David Shaughnessy in the credits for The Young and the Restless. Is he related to Charles Shaughnessy, who plays Shane on Days of Our Lives? —L.M. in South Carolina

Dear Reader: The two men are brothers and come from a family of actors. Both their parents were actors, and their father was also the principal writer and screen editor for Upstairs, Downstairs, the British drama series that aired on PBS' Masterpiece Theatre. It was David, the younger of the two brothers, who first had the acting bug. Charles had decided to go into a more "respectable" occupation as an English barrister, but while a student at Cambridge University, he too discovered the joys of acting.

Dear Candace: I have been watching The Young and the Restless for a very long time and I really enjoy it. What bothers me is they do not get Miguel out of Nikki's kitchen. He is talented and nice looking, why not give him a chance? I also think Leanna needs to get a boyfriend her own age. Rex and John are both old enough to be her father. Well, that's what I think. Thanks from a forever fan of Y&R —Peggy Chavez, Rialto, Calif.

Dear Reader: I agree with you. Anthony Pena (who plays Miguel Rodriguez on Y&R) is quite talented and has an impressive list of feature-film credits, including Altered States, Colors and Born on the Fourth of July. When given the opportunity, he does his best to add dimension to his character on the show. Maybe someday producer Bill Bell will take notice.

The answer to the Crossword Quiz is found within the answers in the puzzle. To find the answer, unscramble the letters noted with asterisks within the puzzle.

Rise and fall of Russian Empire

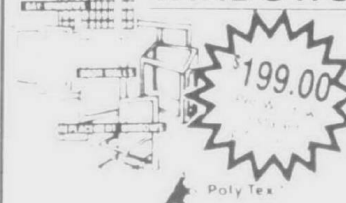

By Dan Rice

Thanks to gremlins in the Kremlin the superpower that was the Soviet Union seems to be crumbling to the dismay of no one but American defense contractors. When Red Empire first aired on English TV in 1989, it was hailed as "the definitive history of Russia." Now updated, this documentary uses eyewitness accounts to trace the history of the world's largest nation from the fall of Czar Nicholas II to the failed coup d'etat against Gorbachev and its aftermath. Part of Time Machine With Jack Perkins, the seven-part series begins Friday, Dec. 13, on A&E.

Hark, the heralded angel sings. Celebrated opera singer Jessye Norman performs a special recital from the Cathedral of Notre Dame de Paris on A&E Stage, premiering Tuesday, Dec. 10. In Jessye Norman at Notre Dame the diva offers an eclectic selection of sacred music, spirituals and Christmas carols.

Switching to down-home harmonies with the emphasis on brotherhood, on Saturday, Dec. 14, TNN's The Statler Bros. Show welcomes guests Latti Carlton and the Gothon Brothers.

LET'S TALK

Write to 'Beverly Hills' cast in, er, Beverly Hills

By Taylor Michaels

Q: Please give me an address where I can write to Jason Priestley and Luke Perry of Beverly Hills, 90210.
—Ronnie Edington, Redwing, Minn.

A: You can write them c/o Beverly Hills, 90210, Fox Broadcasting Company, P.O. Box 900, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90213.

Q: I would like to know whom to write concerning bringing back old programs such as Six Million Dollar Man, Bionic Woman, Incredible Hulk, Little House on the Prairie and many more. There are no decent shows on for children or adults anymore. —Jill Appelhanz, Montrose, Colo.

A: All of those shows are available in syndication, so you need to write your local stations. They are the ones who need to know what the public wants. In the meantime, why don't you check out Quantum Leap, MacGyver, Northern Exposure, Superboy and Star Trek: The Next Generation? You should probably also check out what's on your local PBS station. Public television is not the dull, dry television it used to be.

Q: Whatever happened to The Party Machine With Nia Peeples? Is it in hiatus? —Trena Harris, Tenaha, Texas.

A: The show was canceled due to poor ratings.

Q: Would it be possible for you to provide the address of the producer or director of Monday Night Football? I would like to offer some comments about the presentation. —J. Kelly Unger, Brooksville, Miss.

A: Send your comments to Geoffrey Mason, Executive Producer, ABC Sports, 47 West 66th Street, 13th Floor, New York, N.Y. 10023.

Q: Could you please tell me what movies Rebecca Schaeffer was in? Are there any biographies on her?

Michael Canavan, Montrose, Calif.

A: The actress, who costarred with Pam Dawber in My Sister Sam, appeared in the films Radio Days and Scenes From the Class Struggle in Beverly Hills. She was shot to death on July 18, 1994, at her home in Los Angeles by Robert Bardo, an obsessed fan. One psychiatrist described Bardo as more disturbed than Mark David Chapman, the man who shot John Lennon. According to a Waldenbooks staffer, there are no books about Schaeffer yet.

Jason Priestley

Q: I am a big fan of Star Trek: The Next Generation and was wondering if you could give me some information on Patrick Stewart and Marina Sirtis? Also, is that Stewart's voice we hear on the Pontiac commercials? —D. Long, Beaufort, N.C.

A: Stewart grew up in the English town of Mirfield. For 28 years, he has been an associate artist of the Royal Shakespeare Company. He appeared in the BBC productions I, Claudius, Smiley's People and Traker. Latin Soldier Spz, American filmgoers will remember him as Guiney Harik in Dune, which was directed by David Lynch.

Sirtis was born in East London to Greek parents and was brought up in North London. Sirtis attended the Guild Hall School of Music and Drama, and after graduating became a member of the Washington Repertory Theatre. She has worked extensively in British television, musical theater and repertory companies throughout Europe. She appeared in The Wicked Lady with Faye Dunaway and in the European touring version of Ricky Horror Picture Show. Sirtis recently played a janitor in Weekend Update on Time.

The folks who make Pontiac commercials seem to have a knack for picking distinctive voices. It is indeed Stewart's voice we hear in the voiceovers. The woman singing the theme is pop star Laura Branigan. Previous singer Bernard Marx did the commercials with his mother.
