Extra miler

Karen Miller, a Plymouth-Canton Community Schools nurse, and Kate Otto, a retired principal, have been named Extra Milers by the board of education.

Otto retired as the principal of Hulsing Elementary School in 1986 after nearly 17 years. She received the Extra Miler VIPS Award for her role as chairperson of the Geer School Committee, a volunteer group which worked to raise funds to renovate Geer Elementary School. Otto also is the chairperson of the Geer School Curriculum Committee.

Geer School is a renovated one-room school that will be used by the school district to show children what school was like in the late 19th century.

Miller, who has worked in the district for 11 years, was honored for the job she has performed. She is responsible for nearly 3,000 students at Bird, Gallimore and Smith elementary schools and East and West Middle Schools. She was nominated by the staff members at the schools.

Miller has seen her role as a school nurse change in the area of health education. She often speaks to teachers to help them understand students' health problems. She helps staff members with questions and concerns they have on health-related issues by acting as a resource person.

In addition to treating sick children, Miller visits classrooms and talks to elementary and middle school children about nutrition and the prevention of sickness. She also oversees hearing and vision screening sessions for students and refers children for appropriate health care.

"As a school nurse, the overall concern is to make sure the children are as healthy as they can be so that they can benefit from their education," Miller said.

"The Plymouth Canton Community School District has employed nurses for a long time, which is not something that is done by all school districts," Miller said. "It is to the credit of the district that it recognizes the need for keeping nurses on staff."

Miller holds a bachelor of science degree in nursing from the University of Michigan and attended graduate school at Wayne State University. Before joining Plymouth-Canton, she worked at the Hawthorn Center in Northville and taught child psychiatric nursing at Wayne State University.

Miller has been active in the Canton, Plymouth, Northville and Novi League of Women Voters for more than 20 years. She and her husband, John, live in Plymouth and have three children.

Building blows: 11 sent to hospital

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

It started when an explosion Friday blew out the walls at a Plymouth Township business.

That blast sent four of the 11 employees of Cygnet Automated Cleaning to Ypsilanti's St. Joseph Hospital for treatment, two for minor injuries and two for chest pains.

But the explosion also released the chemical methyl ethyl ketone, which sent 40 employees of Caremark, just east of Cygnet, to nearby hospitals complaining of throat or sinus irritation. All were treated and released.

The chemical, said Fire Chief Larry Groth, apparently got into the firm's ventilation system.

AT CYGNET AUTOMATED Cleaning, the injury toll could have been worse.

"The roof settled down on those stack bins; they held the roof up," Groth said. That likely saved some employees from more serious injury.

By Friday afternoon, just one of the Cygnet employees remained hospitalized in fair condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

It was 9:25 a.m. when the fire department got the call that an explosion had occurred at the firm on Mast Street in the Metro West Industrial Park, just north of M-14 and west of Sheldon. The firm cleans tubs in which paint is shipped.

"All I seen was the roof was falling down; I just came out," said one employee who declined to be named. "All we did was run," said another employee.

Judge stops tax sharing — for now

By Anne Sullivan
staff writer

An injunction has been issued by Wayne Circuit Court preventing Plymouth-Canton schools and five other school districts from making taxbase sharing payments for redistribution.

The injunction was issued last week in response to a lawsuit filed by taxpayers challenging the constitutionality of taxbase sharing legislation.

"I think it's unconstitutional. Our attorney thinks it's unconstitutional. And I think it's really unfair," said Kenneth Grabowski of Livonia who with co-workers from five communities is trying to stop the taxbase sharing law from taking affect.

THE TAXBASE sharing law, passed by the state legislature, and signed into law by Gov. John Engler in September, requires out-of-formula (wealthy) school districts to forfeit property tax income to in-formula (poorer) districts throughout the state.

Under the law, each out-of-formula district is required to write a check (based on the size and the wealth of the district) and send it to their respective Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA) center for distribution to in-formula districts.

"We thought it was wrong to take tax money from one group to give it to another," said Grabowski. "It's an opportunity for the state to begin total tax control, taking it away from the local government."

Acknowledging that the state is having fi-ancial problems, and needs to do something, he believes this law is in direct conflict with the state constitution and is not the right step to take.

"This is a piecemeal attempt to spread the wealth," said Grabowski. "It's not going to help. It will hurt school districts that are doing well, and all we'll have is mediocre education."

Grabowski, along with Lori Guido, Ann Maurer, William Birdseye, Stephen Whitaker, Denise Makuch and Rose Bogaert filed a lawsuit as taxpayers in Wayne Circuit Court earlier this month to stop their districts from forfeiting tax dollars to the state.

These districts were supposed to cut a check to the Regional Education Service Agency (RESA), the agency designated to collect and redistribute the tax dollars. Wayne RESA is based in the city of Wayne and formerly was known as the intermediate school district.

In the lawsuit, the plaintiffs named Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Northville, Dearborn, Grosse Pointe and Crestwood school districts as co-defendants along with the state.

THE PLAINTIFFS obtained a temporary restraining order, preventing the districts from writing the check to RESA.

When that restraining order expired Tuesday morning, plaintiffs' attorney Frank A. Guido appeared before Wayne Circuit Judge Roland Olzark requesting the temporary restraining order be converted to an injunction.

Donations to Cheer Club keep rolling in

IF SOMEBODY tells you there aren't many nice people in Plymouth and Canton, don't believe them.

The Christmas Cheer Club donations have been rolling in the last few days, and we know some needy kids and families are going to have a merrier Christmas, thanks to your generosity.

If you're still planning to donate, remember our deadline is noon Wednesday. That will give the Salvation Army time to get your donations to kids and families that need them by Christmas.

So if you've been thinking about donating a canned good or new, unwrapped toy, now's the time.

MOST RECENT CONTRIBUTORS were several anonymous donors from both Plymouth and Canton: Ann Confer, Canton, William Laprad, Canton; Donna and Mickey Long, Canton; John and Kristine Lanphear and mom Beth, Plymouth; Ryan and Heather Nimmerguth, Plymouth; Ryan Randall, Plymouth; Jeffrey and Kellie Brandt, Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Perry, Plymouth; Emily's World Travel Ltd. of Plymouth; Steven Maiorana, Rochester Hills; Burton and Marian Rich, Plymouth; Shane and Shawn Keough, Canton; Brian Proctor, Plymouth; William and Lorraine McLin, Plymouth; Carrie Blazewski, Plymouth; George and Mary Grech;

If you haven't heard already, the idea behind the club is that no child should be without a gift on Christmas, and no family should go hungry.

Joining is easy. Membership is open to anyone who can take the time to stop by our office and drop off a canned good or new, unwrapped toy for a needy child.

So come by our office at 744 Wing, just a few blocks south of Kellogg Park. When you come in, we'd like to take your name and list it in the Observer with others who give to the Christmas Cheer Club.

If you have questions, ask for Kevin Brown or Jeff Counts at 459-2700, during business hours.

An explosion Friday at a Plymouth Township firm sent four employees to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries. Forty employees of a nearby firm sought treatment for minor throat and sinus irritations, caused by a chemical release due to the blast.

11 people hospitalized as industrial building blows

Township chief building official Charles McIlhargey said the explosion could have resulted from a gas leak in unit heaters on the roof, causing gas to collect near the ceiling. "One of the employees said he noticed a fireball near the ceiling. They could have had a leak in one of the lines," McIlhargey said.

When the heating unit came on, it could have ignited the gas, causing the explosion, he said.

Groth said a complete investigation into the cause of the explosion could take days, as the roof will have to be removed before investigators can get inside the building.

Left standing at the building were middle roof supports and a firewall which separated the rear portion of the building from offices in the front. "That firewall did its job," McIlhargey said, adding that it protected employees in the office portion from injury.

SEVERAL EMPLOYEES of the nearby light industrial businesses and offices along Mast Street said they heard an explosion and came outside to look.

"There was a loud boom, and then the building shook," said Frank Reed of PMC Machinery Inc., just west of Cygnet.

"We came out of the side doors to see what the hell happened; we thought somebody dropped a machine. It was quite a shock."

After the explosion, hundreds of cinder blocks were strewn on either side of the business as the roof sagged and foam insulation pellets drifted in parking areas like snow.

Four cars and a pickup truck parked near the east wall of the building were crushed by falling cinder blocks.

Groth said that when fire fighters arrived, some boxes containing some sort of filters were burning, adding the blaze was quickly put out.

Tax plan on hold

Ozark granted the request which prevents the districts from making the payments. The injunction will be in effect until the court rules otherwise, said Guido.

Concerns were raised by the plaintiffs that the state would retaliate by cutting back on other state funds to obtain the dollars these districts were supposed to forfeit under the new law.

"The state believes it might have the authority to stop other forms of state aid," said Guido.

To maintain the status quo in the defendant districts, the judge ruled that no existing state funds to the districts can be cut without reasonable notice being given, said Guido.

Guido believes this order was issued so if the state attempted to cut state funds to these districts, another injunction could be obtained.

Both Guido and Grubowski were elated with the outcome Tuesday. "It's exactly what we requested," said Guido. "We want to ensure that local property taxes stay where voters say they want them."

"The school districts can do what they want" with the funds, said Guido. "They can use them or put them aside. The prudent districts will put the funds aside in case the law is upheld. If the taxpayers are wrong, the monies will have to be paid."

ALTHOUGH THE injunction is stopping the districts from surrendering monies to the state, the districts are caught in limbo.

"We're sitting here waiting," said Michael Furlong, finance director of Livonia Public Schools. "We have to be in compliance with the law."

"The legislature says we have to pay, and the courts are saying don't

'I think it's unconstitutional. Our attorney thinks it's unconstitutional.'

Livonia resident pay. We're not touching that money ($704,000 for Livonia schools), or the interest earned on it" until the case is resolved.

Furlong acknowledges there is a problem in the school systems throughout the state. "The state is in dire straits, and the schools are too," said Furlong.

The state, through revenue sharing, is trying to redistribute funds, but with no additional funds from the state, it is creating additional problems for out-of-formula schools, according to Furlong.

Those problems, in Livonia, include a budget deficit for the second half of the school year, and an even larger deficit next year, which could force the district to reduce programs.

"The water is murky," said Furlong. "Everyone is upset, the schools and RESA. We're defendants in this case. Whatever the law is, we have to comply with it."

IT WAS imperative that the plaintiffs obtain the injunction before the funds were submitted to the state, said Guido.

RESA had requested the out-of-formula districts make the payments by Wednesday, Dec. 11, and those funds would be distributed to the in-formula schools by Friday, Dec. 13.

If the districts made the payments and the plaintiffs won the lawsuit, said Guido, it would be very difficult to recover the money.

A similar lawsuit has been filed in Macomb County. Those two cases may be joined and filed as one.

The next step is for the courts to hear the arguments in the case. Both sides will submit briefs and oral arguments, and the court will issue a decision.

"It is unfortunate that we were forced to undergo a lawsuit of this nature," said Guido, who admits the state has a problem but does not believe shifting the burden of funding in-formula districts to out-of-formula districts is the answer.

Varicose veins clinic brings folks to town

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

'I had two ladies ride to the Birmingham office all the way from Philadelphia on their motorcycles.'

— Dr. Mehmet Ozdaglar

If you're in the right place on Main Street, you can order eggs benedict, buy a live lobster, file a lawsuit, have your hearing tested or your spine adjusted, rotate your tires, be married or buried, learn a foreign language, insure your life, duplicate a key, rent an X-rated movie or a tuxedo, dye your hair or pay your taxes.

Now, at 906 S. Main, you can have varicose and spider veins treated with a quick, non-surgical procedure that's attracting patients from as far away as London, England.

Dr. Mehmet Ozdaglar, a surgeon for 25 years, has opened the Vein Clinics of America with offices in Plymouth, Birmingham and St. Clair Shores. Only 250 doctors in the United States perform the treatment, says Ozdaglar.

"I HAD TWO ladies ride to the Birmingham office all the way from Philadelphia on their motorcycles," Ozdaglar said.

"I also had a couple from Tennessee — he was 76 and she was 70. They'd just gotten married and he'd promised her a treatment as a wedding gift." Other patients have come from Pennsylvania, Florida, Colorado and the Upper Peninsula.

Varicose veins are hereditary, and the condition can worsen with age, pregnancy, prolonged standing and obesity. Symptoms of the disorder include tired, aching legs; cramping; swelling; discoloration and bulging veins.

Thus far, Ozdaglar has performed injection compression sclerophlebotomy on more than 1,000 patients. He'd be the first to tell you that the process of removing problem veins has evolved light years since the second century when Galen, a Hippocrates contemporary, proposed tearing out the blood vessels with hooks.

Until recently, less drastic but somewhat traumatic surgical "stripping" was patients' only option, necessitating anesthesia, hospitalization and four-to-six weeks recovery.

Approved by the Michigan Vascular Society, injection compression sclerophlebotomy is an outpatient procedure that doesn't require anesthesia. With tiny syringes imported from Sweden, veins are injected with medicine that irritates the vessel walls, causing them to collapse and stick to each other, not unlike a deflated inner tube. Blood in the spider vein is sucked into the syringe.

TAPE IS PLACED over the area to compress the vein. After three or four hours, the adhesive is removed, and so is the spider vein. The treatment can be done even on the face.

Large varicose veins are treated in a similar way. The vein is injected, and the leg wrapped. Patients are instructed to walk three miles a day for three consecutive days before removing the compression bandage.

After 72 hours, the varicose vein recedes from sight, for good. Spider veins may recur, and patients often return for touch-ups.

Ozdaglar's services cost between $800 and $1,800, depending upon the procedures required. Most insurance companies pay for treatment of varicose veins, but not for spider vein treatment, as it's considered cosmetic.

Ozdaglar, who opened his first clinic in Birmingham six years ago, said not one patient has experienced an allergic reaction or side effects.

"It's a safe, approved procedure. Patients don't lose time from work or scar," said Ozdaglar.

DR. JOHN PFEIFER, a vascular surgeon at Southfield's Providence Hospital, also performs injectiop compression sclerophlebotomy, but follows a more intensive procedure. Patients' circulatory systems are checked prior to treatment, said his assistant, Becky Pointer.

"The first thing we do is a complete vascular work-up and blood flow check to see if the patient has any venous insufficiencies or problems with blood clotting," she said. Also, large varicose veins aren't injected or stripped (removed), "because they may be needed later on in life," Pointer said.

Instead, the vein is excised. "A little incision is made right on top of the vein where it is bulging. The bad area is clipped and the vein is tied off," said Pointer, adding that a number of patients have come to Dr. Pfeifer after being treated at the Vein Clinics of America.

LAST WEEK, BRIGHTON RESIDENT Faith Marquiz visited Ozdaglar's office for one of her final spider vein touch ups.

A food service worker for Ford Motor Co., Marquiz had her veins stripped in the past, "and I didn't want to go through surgery again," she said.

"The needle is so tiny it's not that painful," she added. "You feel it, but it's not that bad. It's just a slight sensation. And you know it's going to look better."

Marquiz began treatments last June and has returned several times. After six months, there's scarcely a visible vein on her legs.

"Most patients come seven or eight times because we are limited to injecting five cubic centimeters of medication per visit," said Ozdaglar.

Eighty percent of the clinics' patients are female. Most are women in their thirties who've developed varicose veins after pregnancy, said Audrey Baron, Ozdaglar's assistant.

"We've had a 19-year-old college student and an 86-year-old woman as patient," added Baron.

Eight-five-year-old Agnes Puhek of Detroit recently was treated for her varicose veins at the Birmingham clinic.

"Everything went the way it should. It didn't hurt, and I had no trouble," said Puhek. "I had varicose veins that weren't really painful, but I was conscious of them. I couldn't wear thin stockings. I wore heavier stockings so they wouldn't show through. Now, I don't wear support hose."

"I'd recommend it," she added. "If people are lucky like I was, it's worth it. I wouldn't be afraid. It isn't that bad like some people paint it."

'Accidents don't take holidays,' plant warns

A SPECIAL program emphasizing holiday safety was presented last week at the Delco Chassis Division of General Motors — the former Chevy Spring and Bumper plant on Eckles.

"Accidents Don't Take Holidays" was the theme of the daylong activity sponsored by the Employee Assistance team at the plant.

The activities started at 9 a.m. and continued through the second and third shifts on Dec. 11.

There was a special exhibit on home fire safety presented by the Livonia, Plymouth Township, and Westland fire departments. The Canton Fire Department also participated in the presentation.

In the cafeteria there was additional fire safety information, displays and videos, and free computerized eye exams with glucometer checks by Fortney Eye Clinic, dental care information from Edward Khamis, a demonstration on preparing non-alcoholic party beverages and other videos.

Designated Driver buttons and red ribbons (the reminder to not drink and drive) were available for all employees.

Renee Ramos of AAA Michigan demonstrated making non-alcoholic beverages for holiday entertaining. Amy Brown from the Dairy Council of Michigan presented "Healthy Dividends — Fat Intake."

Straight Inc., based in Plymouth, Brighton Hospital, and Lifeline of Doctor's Hospital had representatives to discuss substance abuse treatment programs. David Cohen from the Southeast Michigan Coalition on Occupational Safety and Health presented information on AIDS. Havenwyck Hospital offered information on mental health and the UAW-GM in-house child care center offered resource and referral information.

Involved in planning the activity were plant manager R. Marianetti, personnel director G. Kistemaker, UAW Local 262 president R. Pacholke, union shop chairman C. Lewis. Coordinators were Nancy Wittl, R.N., representing management, and Daryl Winters, representing the UAW.

A bus service for seniors and handicapped residents is in jeopardy. Canton Board of trustees bailed out Nankin Transit with $65,000 to keep the service going until June 30.

"We're in business until (then) and all of the communities have agreed to put in their extra monies to subsidize them until then," said Canton Trustee Bob Shefferly.

CANTON, GARDEN CITY, Westland, Inkster and Wayne are involved in the program funded through SMART, the regional bus service that funnels state and federal monies to Nankin.

If SMART goes out of business as expected by next year, Shefferly said, the program could end. The program for handicapped people, school children and seniors was close to being cut this year.

Canton Supervisor Tom Yack predicts that the failing bus service will spawn new opportunities.

"SMART's problems are an opportunity time for restructuring of the bus service in the tri-county area," Yack said. "Sometimes out of chaos comes opportunity."

Seniors and handicapped people are charged $1 and parochial school children pay $1.50. But the charges don't nearly cover costs. In November it cost the bus system $5.34 per passenger even though the system has been considered efficiently run.

"This was a matter of not getting enough people on the transportation system to get it to pay," Shefferly said. "Fewer people are using the buses, because they aren't going to work. These people can't afford to be charged what it costs."

Residents might as well use a service if they are going to be charged what it costs.

TOTAL RIDERSHIP in November was 1,671. It varies from a low of 728 in July to a high of 2,053 in May and more than 2,000 in October.

"Something has to be done, because without anything it would be like locking those people up in a cell," Shefferly said.

Canton also has a bus service called Family and Child Services in Ypsilanti for people who want to shop in Plymouth, go to St. Joseph Hospital, the University of Michigan and various clinics and doctor's office in Washtenaw County.

Nankin's biggest ride load is to Westland shopping center, however, the bus also goes to other communities and for other purposes.

Service agencies to help

By Diane Gale
staff writer

During the season when giving is on everyone's mind, the United Way has come through for poor people in Canton.

In October there was an outcry from Canton public figures complaining that the township doesn't have a local United Way program. Since Plymouth United Way didn't take in Canton folks, residents were referred to Southeastern Michigan United Way agencies in Livonia and Dearborn.

THE PROBLEM was that the people who are in most need usually don't have transportation to go to these outlying organizations.

In come two United Way organizations: Catholic Social Services of Wayne County and Family Service Detroit and Wayne County who have promised to set up counseling services in Canton. The Canton Community Foundation is providing the facilities.

"The United Way is obviously very concerned about us," said the Rev. Bill Myers, pastor of Faith Moravian Church.

"All we're trying to do is meet (residents') counseling needs. We don't want to replace what the Salvation Army is doing. We'd like to augment what they're doing."

Myers pointed to an urgency of counseling needs in Canton and explained that the program would in no way compete with what Northwest Community Services already provides in way of counseling services in Canton.

THE PROGRAM will be available beginning Jan. 15 to Canton individuals and families in a crisis situation. All residents are eligible and charges are determined on a sliding scale based on income, said Bill Joyner, community foundation executive director.

"The fact of the matter is there are an awful lot of people in Canton who have received help from other United Way agencies," said Myron Liner, United Way vice president for agency relations.

"It is important for us to have a presence so that people know we are there. And we would agree that there are people in Canton who have a transportation problem. It's important to us to make those services available to people."

To accommodate the new services and the need for more space, the Community Foundation will move from its past location to a few doors down in offices behind Canton Landing.

"For the first time attention has been focused on a real need and we've been able to pool resources intellectually and financially to resolve a pressing problem," Joyner said.

A few months ago, Canton Supervisor Tom Yack said that "human service needs" in Canton weren't being met and if United Way couldn't fill the gap another service would be developed.

Yack complimented United Way for learning about the problem through an Observer article and responding quickly to the need.

"Hopefully it's the beginning of additional services," said Yack, who met with United Way officials about the new program.

"This is all new to all of us and we'll take it one step at a time."

THIS IS a perfect time for new programs.

The downturn in the economy translates into social problems, like child abuse, alcoholism and spouse abuse, Myers said. He pointed to the diversity in income levels in Canton.

Parts of Canton have some of the highest income levels in southeast Michigan along with communities like West Bloomfield and Birmingham and other parts are among the lowest in the tri-county area, according to the U.S. Census Bureau data.

"We know that there's a myriad of needs in Canton," Myers added.

Police confiscate 'bomb'

Shortly after a caller made a bomb threat at Plymouth Salem High School Thursday morning, police found a small homemade apparatus in a locker.

The Michigan State Police Bomb Squad removed the box-shaped object and found it to be non-explosive, according to school officials.

The school was not evacuated, but Michigan State Police and Canton and Plymouth Township public safety officers cleared the area surrounding the lockers.

crime watch

"Students were sent home at their regular time, with the area continuing to be kept clear so police could continue their investigation," said Dick Egli, community relations director for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"Students handled the situation well. They were calm and orderly," said Salem Principal Gerald Ostoin. "Staff responded well in helping to supervise students who were forced out of their normal routines by the incident."

School bus hits parked car

A school bus hit the front of her car, causing $3,000 in damage Tuesday outside an elementary school, a Canton woman told police.

The woman, 33, said she was in her car at 9 a.m. when she pulled up next to a school bus in the Fiegel Elementary driveway. The bus then pulled in front of her striking the left front quarter panel of her car, the report continued.

While the bus didn't stop, the driver later contacted police, saying she didn't know she'd struck the car.

SUITS STOLEN: Two size 40 two-piece men's suits worth $1,050 were stolen from a display rack at 4:10 p.m. Thursday at Milano Custom Tailoring in Forest Plaza.

An employee told police he was on the second floor of the business when he heard the door buzzer sound. But by the time he came downstairs, someone had made off with the suits. Police have no suspects.

Herbs give Christmas new scent

These ornaments have an old-fashioned, classic look to them — and they're mostly edible.

Cinnamon sticks, pine cones, German statice and other herbs are used to decorate a tree at Cindy Brautigan's Brookville Gardens, a herb and perennial farm on Brookville Road in Salem Township.

ONE CLEAN SCENTED herbal ornament is known as a "tussie mussie." Brautigan said it originated in 17th century England, when court workers kept them at their desks to freshen the air fouled by unwashed, low-life criminals.

She conducts classes on making ornaments and wreaths from herbs — those classes are over for this year — and from March through December sells herbs and related items.

Brautigan opened the business nine years ago. Why does she like herbs? "I'm a very practical person and herbs are for practical people because they're useful."

An herb is loosely defined as a useful plant, whose green foliage dies back to the ground and comes up again in the spring, Brautigan said. People use various herbs for medicinal and health purposes, for teas and to flavor foods.

Brautigan displays several kinds of vinegar made from herbs. "The flavor is so much more vibrant than anything you can buy. You can also marinate less expensive meat to tenderize it," Brautigan said, or marinate vegetables.

Feds grant $46 million for trial Rouge project

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wayne and Oakland county officials say a $46 million pilot project will go a long way toward cleaning the Rouge River.

But the final answer still rests in millions of dollars in additional spending by individual communities.

"The problems are severe, the answers elusive and the cost will be high," Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara said.

Announced last week, the $46 million pilot project will create retention basins for combined sewer overflows — the last major source of Rouge pollution.

"We hope to have one-third of all overflows under control by 1996," Wayne County public works director James Murray said.

Overflows, containing human waste and other pollutants, are considered the last major source of Rouge pollution. They are the product of combined sewers old, outmoded municipal lines that back up in heavy rain and flooding and dump waste as well as storm water into the river.

While Rouge River industrial pollution has substantially been brought under control, the pilot project is the first major attempt to curtail overflows.

The federal program will provide for design and partial construction of overflow retention basins in Redford, Detroit, Dearborn and Dearborn Heights, Murray said. But each community must also pay 45 percent of construction costs.

Oakland County basins will be built in Birmingham and Beverly Hills, county drain commissioner George Kuhn said. They will be added to retention basins already built or being built in Farmington and Lathrup Village.

"Three of the six planned for Oakland County are already underway," Kuhn said.

The federal pilot program will cover design and engineering costs as well as 55 percent of construction costs.

There are currently no cost estimates for individual basins, Murray said.

Overall Rouge cleanup has been estimated at $250 million or more, with the majority of money coming from individual communities.

Already, there is talk of a new sewer authority to replace the outmoded combined sewers.

"Boston, Chicago, Milwaukee, Seattle and others have recognized that a system of this type that transcends local political boundaries is necessary to solve these problems," McNamara said.

At the same time, U.S. Reps. John Dingell, D-Trenton, and William Ford, D-Taylor, said they continue to seek additional federal financing for the Rouge project.

Still, Dingell said the project also requires a "massive effort" on the part of Wayne and Oakland communities.

Cameras eyeing speeders

You could be getting a little more than you bargained for if you're cruising home for the holidays on Michigan highways this year.

High speed radar cameras will be taking snap shots of speeders' licenses in Oakland and Kalamazoo counties.

Drivers will get a warning — but no tickets.

The Michigan State Police is operating the cameras as part of the three-state pilot program.

"WE'RE TRYING to find out not only how effective the system will be, but how it will be accepted by the public," state police Lt. Dan Smith said.

At present, there are no plans to use the cameras in Wayne County.

Two systems — "PhotoCop" and "PhotoRadar" — are being tested. Each system uses discretely placed cameras to nab speeders.

Similar systems are already used in Europe, California and some cities in the western United States, but it's a first for Michigan.

The advantage, police say, is that the photo systems can free officers from time-consuming traffic details.

The disadvantage is that systems are open to vandalism and drivers could become irate at the idea they're being photographed.

Another potential sticking point: warnings will be sent to car owners, but not necessarily the offending driver.

"It will go to the person to whom the car is registered, much like it is with parking tickets," Smith said.

It would require a change in state law before Michigan troopers could use the photo system to issue tickets.

"Our state law requires an officer be there to witness the incident," Smith said.

Devices are being tested under a $250,000 federal program. The University of Michigan Traffic Research Institute will evaluate results once the six month test is over. Average roadway speeds and accident statistics will be among the information evaluated. Additional tests are being conducted in New Jersey and Washington.

AT THE same time, laser gun radar units are being used to track speeders in Eaton County, west of Lansing. Drivers there won't be so lucky — they'll actually get tickets.

"We are diligently writing tickets with it," Eaton County Sheriff Art Kelsey said. "To me . . . it seems like an outstanding tool. I haven't heard any negative comments at all."

Pigface changes face of music

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Earlier this year, if a bomb accidentally fell on a certain pub in London, alternative music as we know it would have been evaporated.

Seated and swilling drinks were no less than Ogre Nivek of Skinny Puppy, Paul Raven of Killing Joke, Trent Reznor of Nine Inch Nails, Chris Connelly of Ministry and Revolting Cocks and Martin Atkins of PiL and Killing Joke fame. Wonder who picked up the tab?

But this is Pigface, partly the creation of the ever excitable, somewhat daft Atkins. Before the question can be asked whether a shoehorn was needed to fit that many egos under one roof, Atkins sets the record straight.

"I said to somebody the egos have been suppressed, but I thought later that's not really fair," said Atkins, in a telephone interview from the offices of Invisible Records in Chicago. "There's no ego. Sure, there's some ego. Everyone has an ego, but not in the traditional rock'n'roll sense."

"If someone said, 'I demand this . . . we'd kick them right off the bus.'"

SOUNDS A bit harsh, huh? That's nothing, just listen to the conglomeration's live release "Welcome to Mexico . . ." or be summoned to one of their musical free-for-all shows.

Every thing from Belly Dancers, sitters and bag pipers and rappers have turned up, not to mention guest performers, such as En Esch of KMFDM, Mary Byker of Gaye Bykers on Acid and Andy Maguire of Dogzilla.

In a self-constructed carnival, Pigface saves itself from degenerating into a freak show. Disturbing, grungy, noisy and alluring music lends legitimacy to the project.

So, too, does Atkins' endless enthusiasm for Pigface, which comes in torrents. He believes this is how music should be formed, in an environment free from fear of disintegration and the shackles of corporate recorddom.

Obviously, with the pedigree of the performers involved with Pigface, his zeal rubs off.

"(It's) a complete recharging of the batteries, a recycling of why we're all doing this in the first place," Atkins said. "And we can hang out with our friends and make relevant music — make music the way it was supposed to be made and have fun doing it."

"AFTER ONE of our shows . . . we were just laughing our a--- off for an hour. We were saying, 'Wow, this is great.'"

Pigface is not a secret society. Some have become honorary members, such as couple of Thrill Kill Kult brethren, by simply sharing a beer or two in the studio or on the bus.

Restlessness led Atkins and drummer Bill Rieflin to concoct such an outfit. Both were drumming with Ministry on the band's "The Mind is a Terrible Thing to Taste" tour. Things had grown a bit stale.

With the technical assistance of Steve Albini (Big Black, Rapeman) Pigface's first album, "Gub," was released earlier this year on an unsuspecting audience. The tag-team effort produced a record of extremities, a take it or leave it proposition.

The tag-team, free-form nature of music is the ultimate attraction to Pigface members and listeners alike.

"MOST BANDS, they can hate each other. They can have awful diarrhea and fever and the songs sound the same because they're playing something they have learned," Atkins said.

Not so with Pigface, who can have an off night and it can still be a "groovy thing."

If anything, Pigface is making a statement about alternative music — an increasingly bloated genre dominated by the major labels that has fallen victim to the single-video-album-tour monotony.

"I think alternative music is floundering," Atkins said. "It reminds me of 1975 and '76 in England when everything became stagnant and putrid. There's this blandness and mediocrity. 'I'm excited to be excited by this project.'"

Pigface will perform with guests, Jesus Lizard, Friday, Dec. 20, at Todd's, 8139 E. Seven Mile, one block east of Van Dyke, Detroit. For information, call 366-TODD.

Joining Pigface at Todd's Friday will Orge Nivek of Skinny Puppy, En Esch of KMFDM, Chris Connelly of Revolting Cocks, Paul Raven, Mary Byker, William Tucker and Martin Atkins.

A guide to meeting SO's parents

You and your Significant Other (SO) are getting along quite nicely, thank you. You don't fight about money or sex and you've even managed to divide up your closet space without using profanity.

However, the toughest test may lay ahead. You still have to survive the biggest test to a relationship — the dreaded Visit to Your Loved One's Parents' House.

The Visit has felled many fine relationships before — one minute you're practically engaged and the next, you're stocking up on frozen dinners for one.

But this needn't happen to you. With a little pre-planning, you can not only survive the Visit, you may even sort of enjoy it.

The key is planning and knowing what to expect. So here's a little primer on visiting your could-be future in-law's home.

Conversational Tips: The parents may interpret your visit to their home as tantamount to a formal announcement of marriage. So, conversation with them will be a bit like a job interview — an interview in which you're applying to become a member of their family.

All of the same rules apply. Look the parents directly in the eye, don't mumble, sit up straight, and for gosh sake's, comb that hair out of your eyes. Act like your current job at the Burger Hut is part of a well-calculated career plan.

Don't bring up any volatile subjects like religion, politics or the ethics of wearing fur. Even though it may be obvious to you that John Sununu is a jerk, the parents may not agree.

Your best bet for conversation is the main (and possibly only) thing you have in common — their child. Ask to see old pictures. The parents will likely have several color-coded volumes of photos. Looking at the photos will give you several hours of stress-free time with the parents because your comments can be limited to short, non-controversial phrases like "How cute!" and "When was this taken?"

Plus, as an added bonus, you may get to see some old pictures of SO with former dates. Refrain from commenting on these former dates' humorous hairstyles.

The Pet: During your visit, you will probably be expected to befriend someone named something like Fluffkins. Fluffkins is an annoying tiny black poodle who is fond of leaping three feet in the air and wearing red bows in her hair.

Many parents who are suffering the empty nest syndrome have a Fluffkins. Fluffkins is both a substitute child and an alter ego for the parents, so it's very crucial that you befriend the pet.

Often parents will use Fluffkins as a mouthpiece for their own thoughts. Obviously, the parents are very tuned in to Fluffkins' every thought and desire because they often voice what Fluffkins is unable to say — as in, "Fluffkins really wishes you would come home more often" or "Fluffkins would really like it if you lived closer to us." To interpret these statements, mentally substitute the phrase "Your mother and I" for Fluffkins.

When conversation lags (which can be pretty much the entire visit), talking about Fluffkins provides an interesting diversion. Instead of everyone sitting there staring blankly at each other, you can comment on the progress that Fluffkins is making on chewing up her rubber pork chop. Here's how it usually goes: (Uncomfortable silence)

Mr. Parent: Look at her go.
SO: She's ripping that pork chop apart.

Mrs. Parent: She's chewed up every toy we've given her.
You: Really? Wow.

Mr. Parent: She's quite a chewer.

You (brightly): Yes.

(All nod in agreement that, indeed, Fluffkins certainly can chew.)

This exchange, with minor variations, can be repeated at intervals throughout the night.

Your Sleeping Arrangements: Even though you and SO have been living together for almost three years, you will be given separate bedrooms during the visit. You see, the parents like to believe that, regardless of your living arrangements, you and SO are still somewhere around the hand-holding stage.

You will be given the room of one of SO's brothers or sisters. The room will be exactly as it was when the child finally left home. This means you will be sharing a bed with "smiley face" stuffed animals or sleeping under a poster of Farrah Fawcett, circa the 1970s. Don't make fun.

Try to avoid visiting SO's room because you will be disconcerted at the sight of your normally quite adult loved one sleeping in a "race car" or "princess" style bed. And, be forewarned, parents have an amazing ability to hear their child's honor being violated.

Leaving: Thank the parents warmly, hug if it seems to be the thing to do, and don't forget to give Fluffkins a farewell pat on the head.

On the ride home, do not under any circumstances consider that the saying that children eventually become their parents might actually be true.

Kids take to flying trapeze with ease

Nine-year-old Julie is on the circus bar high above the ground, ready to try the trapeze. Young Adam climbs the ladder behind her, step by step up a straight vertical pole.

Circus Master Darwin Thompson checks Julie's safety belt, grasps her firmly around the waist, pulls the trapeze forward with a long hook and pushes it off again. They lean forward, Julie with her arms outstretched, ready to grasp the bar when it swings back.

Soon Julie is on the flying trapeze, hanging by her knees, swinging high, high above the ground. Reluctantly, she drops to the net and is helped to the ground by Chief of Circus Dennis Hudson.

Adam has reached the high bar now, and is ready to follow.

These are not kids who ran away to join the circus. They just ran downhill from the swimming pool at Club Med Eleuthera, to the Mini Club, an activity center for kids 4-12. Dad and Mom can swing through the air on the flying trapeze too, but at the moment it is not their turn.

If you haven't been to Club Med in recent years, you might not realize that the swinging singles of the '70s are now the parents of the '90s; Club Med grew up with them and now has 44 Mini Clubs and 14 Baby Clubs around the world.

Singles can still swing at Clubs like Martinique and Playa Blanca, and couples without kids still go to Club Meds worldwide, but there are now five Family Villages in North America and all five of them have circus workshops.

Family villages are in Ixtapa, Mexico; Punta Cana, Dominican Republic; St. Lucia, West Indies; Sandpiper, Fla.; and here in the center of the long, skinny island of Eleuthera, Bahamas. Copper Mountain, Colo., also offers a Family Village; it is a ski village and does not have a circus.

Family villages are based on a simple idea. Mom and Dad have fun without the kids. The kids have fun without the parents. The family can be together any time it wants to. Who says you can't have your cake and eat it too?

Two- and 3-year-olds hang their teeny, weeny bikinis on the clothes line at the Petit Club. Kids 4 to 6, and 7 through 11, come here to the Mini Club. They can swim, snorkel, water ski, boat, hike and go on picnics just like any other GM, as the Gentile Members of Club Med are called, but the main event of this playground is the circus.

Adam and Julie and all the other kids spend their time working toward Circus Eleuthera. A show of some kind is held nightly in the open air amphitheater; Circus Eleuthera is one of the highlights of the week.

If you are interested in a Family Club, call toll-free (800) CLUB-MED. Ask about the Kids Stay Free program that allows your children ages 2-5 to stay free April 25 to May 2, 1992, at St. Lucia and Punta Cana; ages 1-5 at Ixtapa, Mexico and ages 4 months through 5 years at Sandpiper, Fla., for those same dates.

Kids 2-5 stay free Jan. 4 through Feb. 8 and Feb. 22 through March 7 here at Eleuthera, Bahamas. You can take one kid free per paying adult.

Adults pay from $1,500 to $2,000 per person, depending on the dates, for a week at Eleuthera, St. Lucia, Punta Cana, Ixtapa. It's closer to $1,000 a week at Sandpiper, but you provide your own air transportation. Ask about discounts when you call.

Club Med matures

Singles, couples, kids enjoy sun, surf, socializing

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

It's 7 a.m. The sun is up, lighting the Atlantic Ocean surf here on the Club Med side of Eleuthera and the calm Caribbean waters on the other side. This island is 110 miles long and a mile wide so the two oceans are only a mile apart.

There are 20 small settlements hidden in scrub trees along the road that travels the length of the island. Spanish Wells to the north, Rock Bay to the south, and the 17th century village of Governor's Harbor here in the center of the island near Club Med.

8 a.m. Singles and couples, many with children, follow the flowered paths of Club Med to the dining room for a buffet breakfast: fruit, cereal, breads, eggs, bacon, pancakes, French toast.

Food, including wine and beer at meals, and all activities, come with the price of your room at Club Med, so the beads we wear around our necks are for bar drinks and shop purchases, the only thing you can spend money on at Club Med.

9 a.m. The 2- and 3-year-olds in the Petit Club are led by their GOs (Gentile Organiseateurs) to the beach or to one of the other activities on the schedule. The older kids in the Mini Club are learning to fly the trapeze or taking scuba lessons in the pool.

Parents say that the younger ones have to be dragged to the Mini Club on day one, but they don't care if they see their parents at all by day two.

10 a.m. Those who slept or swam through breakfast are being served a sitdown breakfast in the warm open air of La Terrace, beside the sea, out of sight of other activities. La Terrace is also open for dinner, but it only seats 30 — so reservations are hard to get.

By mid-morning the adults are around the pool, on the beach or across the island at the marina, busy with snorkeling, scuba diving, sailing, golf or just stretched out in the sun asleep or with a book.

A few swim in the surf, but there is no lifeguard and sometimes the surf is rough. Most of us enjoy the Atlantic breeze but swim either in the pool or in the calm green waters of the Caribbean a mile away at the Club Med Marina.

Noon. The water exercises and the pool games are over, the sun is high and we begin to gather at the terrace that joins the bar, dining room and pool and to drift in for lunch. They serve lunch high above the sea in the marina too, so the shuttles are busy.

Some children eat together at the early lunch set up for them, others join their parents here for lunch at the big round tables for eight.

2 p.m. The kids are in their groups taking scuba-diving lessons or otherwise enjoying the water. The adults are either asleep beside the pool or they are playing in or on the water too.

Anyone inclined to sightsee gets off the shuttle "at the light" and wanders the tiny settlement of Governor's Harbor, set around a scenic bay. You walk past the few shops, the pink stucco town hall and historic St. Patrick's Anglican Church and on to the original settlement buildings on Cupid's Cay.

Cupid's Cay is no restored village. The brightly colored houses of the Eleuthera Adventurers are still in use.

The Eleuthera Adventurers, the first Europeans to walk Bahamian shores after Columbus, shipwrecked on the north end of the island in 1648, spent the first winter in a cave and then settled here on this coral cay.

Eve Pinder, who grew up in Detroit, came to the Bahamas on vacation 25 years ago and is now a permanent resident here, says there was no fresh water on Cupid's Cay. "They had to walk back in the direction of what is now Club Med for their water."

4 p.m. People begin to gather on the terrace that connects the pool, dining hall and bar, to spend orange and yellow beads on pina colodas, kalik beer and fruit juices and to swap stories of the day. The few small shops, as well as the bank and tour office, open again, so

Parents and children can learn to scuba dive at a Club Med family village

Parents say that the younger ones have to be dragged to the Mini Club on day one, but they don't care if they see their parents at all by day two.

Med honeymooners

Craig and Bev Brass of Plymouth honeymooned at Club Med Eleuthera. The week's vacation was a surprise organized by Craig because "Bev wanted somewhere warm where we could relax on the beach. Bev loves kids, so the Family Village was OK," Craig said. "We weren't really prepared for the cafeteria-style buffet and the big tables at dinner, and the quality of the food was only moderate. We loved dining at La Terrace, but it's almost impossible to get in." Club Meds traditionally have lots of food and wine casually set out in buffet style. It's a place where people mix, so guests typically sit together at tables for eight. Club Med Eleuthera is one of the older villages, so the rooms are spartan. Newer Club Meds are more luxurious. Kids can stay with parents or you can pay a discounted rate for an adjoining room.

it is also time to finish small chores.

6 p.m. People are already in line to make reservations for dinner at La Terrace, where dinner is served in a romantic outdoor setting. There are only 30 seats, so the reservations are filled by a few minutes after six.

7 p.m. We begin to drift up the stairs to the dining room for dinner, which is spread out buffet-style across the room. Hot foods, cold salads, cheese bar, dessert bar, wine and beer bar.

8 p.m. The evening entertainment begins. Tonight it is Circus Eleuthera. The kids who have practiced all week are the stars. I sat with the rest of the crowd in an open air theater and clapped with awe and delight as they did their stuff.

There was a part for everybody. The little kids were the lions, growling on upturned boxes while the comical lion tamer cracked his whip. Others performed on the trampoline. A few made it to the high wire. The star was a 12-year-old called Doreen who did the double trapeze with Darwin and brought the house down.

Adam and Julie were there, hanging by their knees from the flying trapeze, as proud as any stars in a Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Help keep teachers role models

QUESTION: My daughter is in an advanced English class in the seventh grade. Her teacher misspells words and writes things like, "your doing well" instead of "you're doing well." In one story my daughter wrote, she put "your" instead of "you're" and the teacher didn't correct it. My daughter wrote grammar instead of grammar on the top of 10 papers turned in and the "word" grammar was never corrected nor brought to her attention.

I'm afraid to go to anyone for fear the teacher will take it out on my daughter's grades. What can I do?

ANSWER: There is really no excuse for a teacher charged with the education of advanced, probably gifted, children setting an example of this nature. Papers with words misspelled by the teacher that go home to parents neutralize all efforts to convince the millage/tax paying citizens that the district offers a quality educational experience.

What you should do does not have an easy answer. There are a few teachers who can become vindictive when challenged by an issue in which they are clearly wrong. Most, however, are open minded and responsive to legitimate criticism. Yet, as tough as it may seem to be for you, the more parents who don't address an obvious issue that needs attention, the more the pattern continues.

Principals know who the constant parent complainers are. Your concern about confronting the teacher does not put you in that category. You have an obligation to do or say something. Indeed, you are helping, not hindering, this teacher.

FIRST TALK to your principal. Identify yourself. Let him/her know you are going to talk to the teacher. The principal will surely meet with the teacher to make him/her aware you have a concern. It is never a good situation when the building principal has to go to a teacher and say, "Casper the Ghost" told me your spelling is setting a bad example for children." Identify yourself. Don't get into a yelling match with the teacher, be objective. Hopefully this teacher will start using a dictionary before sending papers home on which he/she has misspelled words — an embarrassment for all teachers and the school district.

If interfacing with the teacher is too much for you, the least you should do is send an "unsigned letter" to the principal addressing the issue. And believe me, all "unsigned letters" are read by school personnel regardless of what they might want you to believe. Whether they act on them is another issue.

Educators know that some parents are professional letter writers, usually with children they can't handle, and using the educational system as the scapegoat. Any building principal worth his/her salt will call the teacher in, discuss the spelling issue and work toward a solution.

ONE OF THE problems I experienced with a couple of English teachers as a high school building administrator was based on the fact that they were trained in the late '60s and '70s — the time of student rights movement — and were more into using their English class as a political platform as opposed to a language arts/literature/writing experience. They should have been social studies teachers; they were good teachers but in the wrong department.

Many say teachers teach as they were taught. Many college programs I remember for future teachers of English don't require enough writing classes. The pre-writing, first draft, editing, second draft, peer editing and other logical steps found in the Focus Writing Approach were often missing in the college's long standing tradition of assigning a semester term paper.

Therefore, determine if your seventh grade daughter is in a Focus Writing Program and what you received was just a first draft. But let's face it, some teachers, doctors, lawyers are simply not good spellers. Yet, teachers have dictionaries, Franklin spellers and Spellchecks available for them. They should use them!

Teachers are supposed to be role models. Misspelling by a teacher on a paper going home does added damage to a profession which already is being sufficiently criticized for many of the problems in our country.

Memory of Pearl to grow in future

I WAS STUNNED at the shallowness of television's treatment of "Pearl Harbor Day."

Stunned but not surprised. In truth, the radio networks and newspapers of 50 years ago did a better job of interpreting the event that forced the United States into World War II... but I'm getting ahead of myself.

One cold night in 1967, I invited myself and a photographer into the Farmington American Legion hall on old Grand River for a meeting of World War I veterans. The 50th anniversary of our entry into World War I was near. The doughboys who fought it were still around.

On an impulse, I began asking people — high school kids, working folks, the old-timers — which nations fought in World War I.

EVERYONE CAME UP with the U.S. and Germany — and, oh yes, France was in it and maybe Great Britain.

Nine out of 10 didn't know that the "Great War," as it was called, began with a dispute between the Austro-Hungarian Empire and Russia. Those two giants dragged in Germany, France and Great Britain.

Remember the "Lawrence of Arabia" movie? That was about World War I — how the Arab states threw off the shackles of Turkey.

Italy was in it, too — on our side.

CHARLES KURALT did a fair job on Dec. 7, the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, on CBS with Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf discussing one element of Japan's sneak attack of 1941.

But the attack on Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, was only one element. Japan made simultaneous attacks on:

- Manila, in the Philippines.
- Hong Kong.
- The Gulf of Siam (now Thailand).
- Kota-Bharu on the Siam-Malayan border.
- The Pacific islands of Midway, Wake and Guam.
- Shanghai, China.

I hadn't started kindergarten at the time, but I have an old radio tape of that day's news:

"The next bad news came from Shanghai, which is practically a defenseless city now with the United States Marines gone and the local defense forces stripped down... The Japanese apparently attacked Shanghai at night, shelling and machine-gunning... There should be little trouble taking over the international settlement if the Japanese have not already done so. They probably have... Americans are stranded there, unable to get out."

And today we Americans are in a sweat because "Japan hasn't apologized for Pearl Harbor," forgetting there were a half-dozen sneak attacks that day.

That's why I was stunned at modern TV's shallowness.

THIS SEASON Americans are celebrating the "end" of the Mideast hostage crisis. Steen and Anderson are home, aren't they?

Well, a couple of Germans are still back there. It's not over.

In Detroit public schools, we were taught the story of Chief Pontiac's near takeover of the fort in 1763 — guns under the blankets, scalped settlers and all that. What they glossed over was that there were 13 nearly simultaneous uprisings that summer — from Pittsburgh to Green Bay, including two others in Michigan. The native invaders actually captured nine of the 13.

Telling the story of only Fort Detroit was as shallow as telling only the story of Pearl Harbor. It misses the big picture.

AT THE END of the CBS show, Kuralt asked Schwarzkopf if Dec. 7, 1941, would be remembered a long time, and the general said yes.

I expect the memory will grow stronger. The old guys I know who actually saw combat don't want to talk about it, but a future generation will be less reticent.

The English are still embarrassed at how King Henry V cut the throats of his French prisoners in 1415. I suspect the Japanese will need 500 years to live down their series of Pearl Harbors.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional events.

Spare us Jeff Counts!

To the editor:

Contrary to Jeff Counts absurd ramblings in his editorial (Spare us the 'Wonderful Life'-Dec. 9), the movie "It's a Wonderful Life" was a classic for many of us long before Ted Turner or the savings and loan scandals came upon the scene. While not an instant success when it was released in 1946, "It's a Wonderful Life" evolved into a classic in the '70s and early '80s. It was "on the tube" then, partially because its copyright had lapsed and the film passed into the public domain (hence, no need for Mr. Turner to "buy" it).

There is plenty of fault to be shared in the S&L troubles, but blaming a 45-year-old movie or director Frank Capra or even Ted Turner is simply ridiculous. Granted, the movie revolved around a savings and loan (a building and loan, actually), but it could have just as easily been a mom and pop grocery store.

Granted, there was never a town like Bedford Falls, (although, isn't that just about the same small-town image Plymouth has been trying to foster for many years? Must be those darned neo-prohibitionists, feminists and other such reformers!) and there are, sadly, very few 'George Baileys' around. But many of us like to dream that there is a good side inherent in all humanity (even editors).

WHILE WE MAY go back to our own, self-centered existence the next morning, we can briefly experience the difference caring and love can make in our own lives. And many of us are not ashamed to admit crying at the end of the movie, even though it probably stems as much from a realization of our own short-comings as from the outpouring of love and sharing the film portrays.

"It's a Wonderful Life" is about love and compassion for other human beings — something this holiday season is supposed to reinforce. But some writers like Mr. Counts chose to look for "clever" tie-ins to topical subjects and go on spreading their holiday sneer.

Somewhere there is probably a town like Potterville. Hopefully, it even has an Observer & Eccentric office in need of an editor. Perhaps then Mr. Counts can find true happiness. Until then, he might want to avoid spending too much time on bridges since guardian angels for the '90s are in short supply and are probably more selective.

Test your Bill of Rights knowledge

As we celebrate the bicentennial of the Bill of Rights, here's a chance for readers to test their knowledge. Answers follow.

1. What is the Bill of Rights?
2. When was the Bill of Rights ratified?
3. Where was the nation's Capitol when the Bill of Rights was written and ratified?
4. Which state was the first to ratify the Bill of Rights?
5. How many states were required to ratify the Bill of Rights?
6. What three states existing in 1789-1791 did not ratify the Bill of Rights before they went into effect?
7. Who is known as the "Father of the Bill of Rights"?
8. Who really wrote the copy of the Bill of Rights that is in the National Archives?
9. Today, how many amendments are there all together?
10. What does the First Amendment say?
11. What does the Second Amendment say?
12. What does the Third Amendment say?
13. What does the Fourth Amendment say?
14. What does the Fifth Amendment say?
15. What does the Sixth Amendment say?

16. What does the Seventh Amendment say?
17. What does the Eighth Amendment say?
18. What does the Ninth Amendment say?
19. What does the Tenth Amendment say?
20. What is the only amendment to the U.S. Constitution ever to be repealed?
21. Is the United States the only country with a written Bill of Rights?
22. Where can one go to see the Bill of Rights?

Answers

1. The Bill of Rights is the first 10 amendments to the Constitution.
2. Final ratification took place on Dec. 15, 1791, when approved by Virginia.
3. It was written when the Capitol was in New York City, but by 1791 the Capitol had been moved to Philadelphia.
4. New Jersey on Nov. 20, 1789.
5. It takes three-fourths of the states to ratify an amendment. In 1791, there were 14 states, so it took 11 states to ratify the Bill of Rights.
6. Georgia, Connecticut and Massachusetts, but not until 1839.

7. James Madison.
8. William Lambert, an assistant clerk of the House of Representatives.
9. In addition to the Bill of Rights, 16 other amendments have been ratified for a total of 26.
10. Congress may not make rules to change freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, or the right of people to come together in a peaceful way or to send petitions to their government.
11. The people have the right to keep and bear arms.
12. During peacetime the government cannot make citizens put up soldiers in their homes.
13. People or their homes may not be searched unreasonably. A search warrant is required.
14. People accused of serious crimes have the right to a jury trial. They may not be forced to give evidence against themselves. Their lives, freedom and property may not be taken from them unfairly. If the government take a person's property for public use, it must pay the owner for it.
15. People accused of serious crimes have the right to a speedy and public trial. They must be told what they are accused of. They have the right to have a lawyer. They have the right to see and question those who accuse them.

16. In most cases, there must be a right to a trial by jury.
17. Punishment may not be cruel and unusual.
18. The listing of specific rights in the Constitution does not mean that rights not listed are not granted to the people.
19. Powers not given to the federal government by the Constitution are reserved for the states or for individuals.
20. The 18th Amendment - prohibition was repealed by the 21st Amendment.
21. No, but it was the first nation to have a formal, written bill of rights as part of its fundamental law. Since 1791, many nations have followed the model developed by the United States. As recently as 1982, Canada adopted a written Charter of Rights.
22. The only original copy on permanent public display is in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. There were 15 original copies.

Area groups sharing in state arts grants

Arts groups in Livonia and Plymouth were among those sharing in $3.7 million in state grants recently awarded through the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs.

There were 272 grants awarded to groups in 40 counties under the Michigan Department of Commerce-supported program.

Local groups receiving grants include the Livonia Symphony Orchestra Society Inc., $7,700; Plymouth Community Arts Council, $2,400 and Plymouth Symphony Society, $4,600.

William D. Ford Vocational/Technical Center, Westland, received $18,900.

Grants are awarded for art organizations, projects and education. They are available for art, school and non-profit groups.

The grants support programs in the 1991-92 fiscal year, ending Sept. 30.

Madonna honor society honored for enrollments

Teresa Wehrwein, director of the Madonna University Center for Research and president of the Kappa Iota Chapter of the international honor society Sigma Theta Tau, recently accepted an award for her chapter's membership growth over the past two years.

The Chapter Key Award was given at the 31st Biennial Sigma Theta Tau convention, held this year in Tampa, Fla.

Wehrwein, a registered nurse and Ph.D. also presented a paper, "Moral Reasoning and Ethical Decision-Making in Beginning Baccalaureate Nursing Students."

Poll: More job education needed

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Michigan residents want changes in public education — but they want them for adults and older students more than for children.

No doubt reflecting the slumping economy, 61 percent of those who responded to this year's Michigan Education Poll said that job skills should also be a top educational priority.

Nearly two-thirds said schools should make adult reading skills a top priority.

Lesser percentages, listed college preparation (57 percent) and pre-school education (45 percent) as key goals.

"IF YOU look at schools, it (support) almost goes from the oldest group to the youngest group," said former state Sen. William Sederberg, who conducted the poll for Lansing-based Public Sector Consultants, Inc.

While 41 percent of those polled said they favored substantial or radical change in the state public education system, most nonetheless gave good grades to their local schools.

Local schools were given an A by 11 percent of those who responded, the highest percentage in the past decade. Overall, 83 percent gave their schools a grade of C or better.

State Board of Education President Dorothy Beardmore warned, however, that the good grades could actually be a roadblock to the kind of changes being sought.

"ONE OF the biggest problems is that there's too much satisfaction from adults," the Rochester resident said. "There's the feeling that we need change, but our local schools are just fine."

Despite the generally good grades, Beardmore said local school boards should take survey results seriously.

Opinions were taken from 800 Michigan residents, nearly 40 percent from Detroit suburbs. Among the findings:

- More than three in every five respondents favor "schools of choice" — letting students choose any schools they wish within their local district. Less than half would allow students to choose schools in other districts. That figure shot up to 62 percent, however, if students would attend programs in private and church-related schools.

- Other widely-approved changes included extending the school year to 200 days (61 percent), student skill guarantees (59 percent) and bonus pay for proficient teachers (58 percent). Charter schools — letting teachers form their own schools — only received 32 percent support, though Sederberg acknowledged it was the least publicized of the reforms proposed by the survey.

- Despite the call for change, respondents were loath to raise taxes. Fewer than 20 percent would approve schools of choice, guaranteed skills, bonus pay or an extended school year if it meant a tax increase. Nearly 60 percent disagreed that more spending would improve test scores.

- The overall call for change was greatest among Detroit residents: 16 percent favored abolishing the local district outright, while 52 percent called for substantial change.

- In contrast, only five percent of suburbanites would abolish their local schools. Still, 37 percent said they favored substantial change.

'There's the feeling that we need change, but our local schools are just fine.'

Dorothy Beardmore
state board of education president

- Not surprisingly, parents with children in public classrooms saw a rosier future for public education than those who send their children to private schools.

- A third of public school parents saw their local schools getting better, compared with 17 percent of those who send their children elsewhere. At the same time, 18 percent of public school parents, and 24 percent of private school parents, saw their local public schools getting worse.

- Respondents were evenly divided between males and females. The margin of error was plus or minus 3.7 percent on any answer.

- Due to state budget-cutting, this year's survey was underwritten by the Upjohn Co.

Press women hold journalism contest

High school students from throughout the state are invited to participate in the 1991-92 high school journalism contest sponsored by the Michigan Press Women.

The Michigan contest is open to the work of any high school student which has been printed in a newspaper, school paper yearbook or other publication between Jan. 16, 1991, and Jan. 15, 1992.

This year's competition includes six categories: news stories, sports stories, feature articles, editorials, feature photography and columns. First, second and third place certificates will be awarded in each category and Michigan's first place winners will be advanced to national competition, sponsored by the National Federation of Press Women.

Michigan's contest had more than 300 entries last year and three Michigan students were national winners.

A copy of the 1991-92 rules and entry blank is being mailed to each newspaper and all high school English and journalism teachers from throughout the state. Michigan contest entries must include a completed entry blank and must be postmarked by Jan. 16, 1992.

Michigan's first place winners will be honored at a youth awards luncheon in Traverse City on Saturday, Feb. 22. Michigan Press Women will provide any Michigan student earning first place in national competition assistance to attend the national youth awards luncheon in Lansing on June 19.

For more information about the contest, contact Naida Ayadi, director, Michigan Press Women High School Journalism Contest, 1105 Eastfield, Lansing, Mich. 48917 or call 517-323-3111.

Entry forms are available from Ayadi or can be picked up in the Observer & Eccentric offices in Livonia, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia (corner of Schoolcraft and Levan roads off the I-96 freeway) and Plymouth, 744 Wing Street.

DO ARTHRITIS MEDICINES AFFECT YOUR RESISTANCE TO COLDS?

Several different types of arthritis, particularly rheumatoid arthritis, are related to a malfunction of the body's immune system. As a result, medications such as gold salts, methotrexate, and immunar are used in treatment because these therapies slow the multiplication and activity of lymphocytes, the cells concerned with immune reactions.

In addition another widely used medication in arthritis, cortisone, exerts its effect in part, by decreasing the ability of immune cells to react against inflammation.

The question arises if taking these medicines for arthritis hampers your immunity when it battles infections or receives a vaccine. This consideration is of importance in the winter months when colds from viruses are a prime cause of lost work days and when public health workers urge us to take the protection "flu" and pneumonia vaccines offer.

The answer to the question of impaired immunity is "no." The immune system deactivating drugs in the amounts used to treat arthritis, do not prevent your body from fighting infection and responding to vaccines.

The only exception is cortisone which an individual may need to take in high doses when the necessity to control arthritis overrides the potential hazard of serious infection.

Harwell shows mall-goers why he's 'Senior of the Year'

WHILE DOING SOME Christmas shopping Friday morning at Westland Mall, Virginia Robbins came across a Christmas present for herself.

Robbins, a Canton resident, unexpectedly met beloved former Tigers' announcer, Ernie Harwell — and it was probably the best surprise she'll receive this holiday season.

Robbins wasn't there to meet Harwell, but she couldn't help but run over to the legendary announcer after hearing (what else?) his voice from a distance. Harwell was on hand at B. Dalton Bookseller to autograph copies of his new book, "Diamond Gems."

After spotting Harwell, Robbins couldn't resist purchasing a couple of books, although I won't say for whom. That wouldn't be fair.

"I heard his voice (from a distance), and I thought, 'Oh God, that's Ernie Harwell,'" Robbins said. "You can't mistake that voice. It'll always be there."

Harwell began autographing books at about 11 a.m. and by 12:30 p.m. it had already been a long day for the hall of fame announcer. Earlier that morning he was on the air at WCAR, AM 1090, in Livonia, accepting the station's first-ever Michigan "Senior of the Year" honor.

WCAR IS the only radio station in Michigan with a talk show program exclusively for senior citizens, entitled "Senior Spotlight" and hosted by Larry Bensman. The show airs every Friday morning at 9 a.m. and producer/account executive Mary Lou Janiga said to end its fifth season, the station decided to honor Harwell as its first-ever "Senior of the Year" recipient.

Harwell and his wife, Lulu, make their home in Farmington Hills and plan on keeping the residence even if he accepts another play-by-play job in the American League.

He ruled out taking over the play-by-play duties in Baltimore and New York, however, and might even end up in television with ESPN or one of the networks.

"In the next month I'll make up my mind," he said. "I'm as much in the dark right now as you are."

Harwell is well deserving of the honor of "Senior of the Year" — having overcome several setbacks in the last 12 months.

We all remember a year ago at this time when the Tigers and WJR radio unexpectedly and so insensitively fired Harwell after 31 years as the team's play-by-play man, allowing him to serve only one more year.

A month later, in January, his wife was diagnosed with breast cancer. The cancer is in remission and Lulu's condition has improved greatly — "she's quite healthy right now," Harwell said — but then in August the couple got some more bad news when lightning struck their Farmington Hills home, causing major damage.

Fortunately neither one was in the house at the time.

"I think Lulu was shopping at the time and I was at Tiger Stadium," said Harwell, who can laugh about the experience now. "I didn't know about the lightning hitting my house until an announcer from Toronto, Tom Cheek, said 'Hey Ernie, your house is on TV.'"

"We just had to keep our faith in God and keep on keeping on. I can't look back. I've got to look forward."

IN TYPICAL Harwell fashion, he said he wasn't sure why he deserved the award from WCAR.

"This is fantastic, but I don't know why they picked me," he said. "I guess they've got to have somebody."

Janiga was convinced Harwell was something special about a month ago when he came in to the WCAR studio to be interviewed by another local radio personality.

Brian Jensen secures a rebound in Friday's 59-26 non-league boys basketball win over visiting Trenton. Mike Slone led Salem with 20 points, including four three-point field goals.

Slone leads Salem's rout

Trenton boys basketball coach Vic Bechard turned his players into construction workers Friday at Plymouth Salem.

"I thought we tossed up enough bricks to build an addition on the gymnasium," Bechard said. "Oh did we shoot some bricks tonight."

Bechard was obviously frustrated after watching his team tally a mere 10 field goals en route to a 59-26 thrashing by Salem.

"We had pretty good shot selection," Bechard said. "But when the shots weren't going down, we got real frustrated."

"Salem has a good team and they're well coached."

Junior guard Mike Slone tallied a game-high 20 points for Salem, including four three-pointers. The Rocks managed eight treys.

"I THINK three-pointers are a result of skill," Slone said. "You need a lot of skill to get open in order to shoot the three or else your defender is lazy. I had to work at it tonight."

Salem coach Bob Brodie said he was happy with the way Slone shot the ball, but his defense made the difference.

"Mike shoots the ball well," Brodie said. "But I was especially pleased with the way he played defense. That impressed me the most."

Senior center Mike Abraham contributed 14 points and 10 rebounds for the Rocks, including a three-pointer. Sophomore forward James Head added seven points on a pair of treys, while senior guard Eric Stemmer chipped in seven points, including a triple.

"We really hit those three-pointers tonight, but it's not something we want to base our offense around," Brodie said. "We have too many big guys to rely on outside shots. But it's always nice when they fall like they did tonight."

Bechard said he knew Salem had the ability to shoot from the perimeter.

"WE SCOUTED them and saw how accurate they

Canton wins 'ugly'

It wasn't pretty, but it got Plymouth Canton its first basketball victory of the young season.

The Chiefs rode four double-figure scorers to a 64-50 win over visiting Monroe Friday.

"It's a good win, but an ugly win," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We're a good basketball team that hasn't started to play well yet."

The Chiefs took control with a 20-9 second-quarter barrage that gave them a 36-23 halftime lead. Derrick McDonald led Canton with 17 points; Jon Paupore had 12, and Mike Stafford and Tony Coshatt contributed 11 apiece. Stafford also had six assists and Coshatt grabbed 10 rebounds.

Gothrell Johnson's 17 points paced Monroe, which slipped to 0-2.

CLARENCEVILLE 64, PLY. CHRISTIAN 49: Livonia Clarenceville led 28-18 in the first half and held on its season opener Friday at home.

Plymouth Christian fell to 0-2.
Jason Neil led Christian with 20 points and 11 rebounds. Teammate Jeff Hess had 15 points and 10 rebounds.

were with the three-pointer," Bechard said. "We thought we had them covered, but you never can tell. Just when you think your right up on them, they hit a triple."

The game started at a snail's pace and the first quarter ended with Salem in front 8-4. The Rocks took a 23-8 lead midway through the second quarter, but Trenton knocked down six straight free throws before intermission to cut the margin to 23-14 at halftime.

"We didn't play very good defense in the first half," Brodie said. "But I thought we came out in the second half and got the job done."

Salem led 44-24 after three quarters thanks to 10 third-quarter points by Abraham.

The Rocks limited Trenton to one field goal in the final quarter and recorded their second win in as many games.

Salem's James Head (21) gets tangled up with Trenton's Jason Voss during the Rocks' game with Trenton. Head, a sophomore forward, helped Salem to a 59-26 win over Trenton.

Trenton (1-1) was paced offensively by senior guard Matt McClelland's 14 points.

"I thought our kids played hard," Bechard said. "Salem is just an excellent basketball team."

Gundry signs with Eastern

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem senior Ed Gundry became the second Observerland baseball star to sign an early letter of intent with Eastern Michigan University.

Gundry, who helped the Rocks capture the Class A championship in June, will join Redford Catholic Central's Scott Kapla at EMU.

Both were named to the all-area first team following the last baseball season. Gundry lives in Canton Township, Kapla in Plymouth.

"I didn't want to go through the hassle at the end of the year trying to find a place to go," Gundry said.

"They've got a good program and they're going up. They got a lot of other good recruits, they play a good schedule and they're getting lights (at Oestrike Stadium). It sounded interesting so I thought I would jump at it."

GUNDRY, WHO also was recruited by Bowling Green, Miami of Ohio and Michigan State, plays shortstop for Salem and expects to remain at baseball that position when he arrives at EMU.

"They've been talking about shortstop," Gundry said. "That's what I want to play."

While he has a strong arm, Gundry believes his biggest asset is his hitting ability. He batted .343 with five homers, seven doubles and 24 RBI as a junior. Gundry also scored 26 runs. "I like fielding a lot, but right now I think it's my swing and hitting that is best," he said. "The EMU coaches didn't really say what they liked most. They just wanted me there. They came after me like they really wanted me."

At this point in his career, Gundry is best known for his 400-foot home run to straight-away center field in the state final. The Rocks trailed Rochester 1-0 when Gundry put them ahead 2-1 with one swing of the bat. Salem eventually won the game 4-1.

"I lost sight of it as soon as it got up in the sky," Gundry said. "I heard all the coaches and players yelling.

"I WAS SO excited I almost caught (teammate) Scott Bright on second base. He was five yards from third, and I was five yards past second. Then I just started slowing down. I had so much adrenaline going I couldn't believe it."

While he follows former Centennial Educational Park standout Steve Waite to EMU, Gundry doesn't expect to follow in his footsteps exactly.

Waite also played shortstop when he was at Canton High and became an All-Mid-American Conference infielder. But he was eventually switched to being a pitcher and earned All-MAC honors in that capacity, too.

"I tried pitching this summer," Gundry said. "I was fooling around just to see what I could do. The pitches I was throwing weren't too hot."

The 5-foot-11, 183-pound Gundry also played defensive back on the Salem football team that qualified for the Class AA playoffs and finished with a 7-3 record.

Gundry received a scare when he was injured in the second game against Farmington Harrison, and he missed half the regular season with a bruised sternum.

"I JUMPED TO catch a pass and the linebacker nailed me right in the chest," Gundry said. "I thought I just had the wind knocked out of me. I got to the sideline and I got dizzy and started falling down."

As a result of the examination done at the hospital, Gundry learned

If George Young has a banner year for the Plymouth Canton boys wrestling team, he'll have an older guy to thank.

Young, a senior who wrestles 171 for Plymouth Canton, goes up against former state champion John Craig during preseason practice. Craig, an assistant at Canton, wrestled in the early '80s for perennial state power Hazel Park.

"The tougher people you go up against, the tougher you're going to be," Canton assistant Jim Eddy said. "Coach Craig is about as tough as they come, but George holds his own against him."

Young, a senior co-captain along with 103-pounder Andy Strahan, last year was a Class A regional qualifier, placed second in the district and first in the Western Lakes Activities Association. During the off-season, Young placed second in the Michigan AAU Grand Nationals.

"We look for big things from him," Eddy said.

wrestling

OVERALL, THE CHIEFS are optimistic, with several lettermen returning and only Jim Carnes and Liam Rentz being lost to graduation. Carnes wrestled at 125, while Rentz took first in the WLAA at 145 and eventually won a match at the regional.

"We look forward to probably the best season since we've been here," said Eddy, who along with head coach Ray Givens, is in his third season at Canton.

"We have a good lineup and a fair amount of seniors so we look to finish in the upper half of our league."

"The team has been working very, very hard, running every other day at 6 a.m. Getting up at 6 a.m. works both mentally and physically, because you've got to want it if you get up at 6 a.m."

Agape going with youth movement on cage team

By Darren A. Nichols
staff writer

Most teams look at the smaller fifth through eighth graders playing with the Plymouth Agape Christian varsity basketball team and laugh. But Ken Rochell insists he's going to get the last laugh. "I would say most of the teams laugh and snicker when they see the younger players," said Rochell, who is in his second year as coach. "I have a fifth grader (Nick Moore) who is playing varsity and they're in for a rude awakening (when they see him play). He's a real good ball handler and he's a consistent shooter."

"I'M NOT BRAGGING about my team or anything, but I'm looking forward to taking the Metro (Christian) Conference this year."

Agape Christian, which has 201 students, is in the 10th year of existence. Its basketball team only has eight varsity members, while all four of the Wolverine teams practice together.

"We don't have but five players who could be varsity, but the five we have are strong," Rochell said. "And because of that, we had to bring up seventh and eighth graders."

"We have all 27 guys practicing together. The younger players get a little timid and fearful of the older guys. I just try to talk to them and it usually relaxes them. (Practicing with the older players) gives them something to shoot for in the future."

LAST SEASON, Agape was 2-3

basketball

overall and won the Association of Christian School International tournament. "Last year — it was different," Rochell said. "The guys really jelled together during the middle of the season. I was pleased. It went real well. It was a learning experience for me and the players."

This season, Agape is 4-2 overall and 3-2 in the Metro Christian Conference. They are led by sophomore center Brandon McKelvey who is averaging 22 points and 17 rebounds per game and freshman guard Dion Dixon who is averaging 20 points per game.

"SO FAR, SO GOOD," Rochell said. "The biggest thing this season is keeping well and eligibility. Last Friday we had 73 kids out sick. When we have a full varsity, we're the team to beat."

"This is a good group. They can move the ball very well. They have learned that they have to play as a team to (win). There is no one-man show."

Rochell said Greater Life Christian, Romulus Christian, Livingston Christian and Wixom Christian will be the other contenders for the Metro Christian Conference championship.

Young among Canton returnees

The Chiefs are secure at most positions, except heavyweight, where they are without a wrestler for the second straight year. Any Canton student who weighs about 200 pounds would be a welcomed sight inside Canton's wrestling room.

"We certainly would like to have a big fella, that's six points a match you're giving up," Eddy said.

While Canton doesn't have anyone to wrestle at its biggest weight, the Chiefs are set in the smallest weight class: 103. Strahan is the Chiefs 103 entry and he could challenge for the WLA title in his class, according to Eddy. "He's done a great deal of work to improve himself, been to numerous camps and training sessions, and has more confidence," Eddy said.

THE 112-POUND division will be manned by junior Dave Smith, currently sidelined by a back injury, or sophomore Pat Adams. Sophomore Mike Borich makes the transition from the junior varsity and will compete at 119, while junior Mark Armstrong will fight at 125.

The Chiefs will get a boost at 130 from Nick Spano, a junior who has transferred from St. Louis, Mo. Spano has seven years of wrestling experience, according to Eddy. "He's extremely tough and I'd expect he'd definitely place at league and go well beyond that," Eddy said. "We look forward to him being one of our stoppers."

The Chiefs have senior Jerry Flynn returning to wrestle at 135 and senior Kevin Pavlov at 145 and both are improved, according to Eddy. Junior Ryan Conner has been promoted to the varsity and will wrestle at 145, while seniors Joe Hunter and Chris Christesen will occupy the 152 and 160 weight divisions, respectively.

Young, of course, wrestles at 171 and the 189-pounder is senior Mark Meszaros.

Eddy calls Walled Lake Western, Northville and three-time defending champion Plymouth Salem the teams to beat in the WLA.

Flu, injuries worrying Salem

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

The first boys wrestling practice was held three weeks ago today and already Plymouth Salem has endured enough illnesses and injuries to last a season.

Veteran coach Ron Krueger took 11 wrestlers — two less than the regular lineup — with him over the weekend to Cleveland St. Edward's to compete in a quad meet with three established programs. Several wrestlers are suffering from the flu or are out with injuries and Krueger didn't feel too well himself Thursday night discussing the prospects.

"Normally we can take a full team with extras," Krueger said. "We got hit with the flu like I can't believe. We have not had this many out of the room sick like this in all my years of coaching — and I've coached 26 years. My assistant coach (Larry Fidge) looked at me the other day in the room and said 'Where is everybody?'"

Krueger said he would feel better about his team if the Michigan High School Athletic Association had let teams practice prior to the Nov. 25

wrestling

date set this season. The Thanksgiving holiday interrupted the first week of practice.

"The state hasn't given us ample time to get ready, get paper work ready," Krueger said. "Either they should move the beginning practice back or start the regular season later. In any sport you should have three or four (full) weeks of practice before you put the kid on the mat."

AMONG THOSE still suffering from the flu were sophomore John Moran (112), a regional qualifier last year, and junior Mike Workman (125). As for the injury report, Killian (103) is wrestling despite a wrist injury; senior Josh Viau (152) is out another week with an ankle injury; junior Phil Haynes (189) has a shoulder injury; and junior Wade Langdon (171) is out the rest of the year with a shoulder injury.

The Rocks failed to send a wres-ter to last year's Class A state meet for the first time in Krueger's memory, but still finished 11-1 overall and won their third straight Western Lakes Activities Association championship. Four wrestlers graduated — Charlie Apigian (160), heavyweight Ken Coker, Chad Wilson (125) and Bob Hanson (152).

Apigian was second in the WLA meet and won a district, while Coker finished second at league and Wilson was a regional qualifier.

Seniors Dan Bonnett, Jeff Shumate and Scott Martin have the best chances at reaching the regionals and beyond this season, Krueger said. Martin (119) and Bonnett (130) were district and league champions, while Shumate (145) had his moments, winning a regular season match over a wrestler who finished second in the state a year ago.

"The three kids have a real good chance if they keep their discipline, work hard," Krueger said. "They're some of the best wrestlers I've ever had."

The rest of the lineup looks like this: junior Dan Phillips (135); senior Chip Barker (140); junior Pete Tembrocek (152); sophomore Tally Sny (160); senior Doug Wind (171); and heavyweight Jamie Breithaupt.

KILLIAN, BARKER, Tembrocek and Breithaupt are in their first years of varsity competition. Krueger said the Rocks should have a chance to defend their league crown and receive the toughest challenges from Walled Lake Western and Farmington.

"Walled Lake Western has got a lot of real power back and Farmington has been working on this team for four years," Krueger said. "I think they're real serious threats. (Westland) John Glenn had to 'pay to play' last year and had a lot who didn't wrestle but they've got a lot back."

"Where we're good, we're real, real good and where we're young, we're real, real young. I hope the young kids come around. The better they get the better we'll be."

Harwell shows why he gets Michigan's 'Senior of Year'

This was the first time the two met and Janiga asked Harwell for an autograph for her father, who has cancer.

Harwell not only gave out his autograph, but visited Janiga's father at his home in Garden City.

"Ernie asked me, 'Where does your father live?' I said Garden City and he said 'Let's go see him,'" recalls Janiga. "That's the kind of guy Ernie is. My dad was overwhelmed, it was the thrill of a lifetime. What Ernie did was have us all hold hands, me, my dad and mom and he said a prayer, which was a nice gesture."

We all know Ernie mostly for his voice and generosity but he's also quite a talent with the pen. "Diamond Gems" isn't the first book Harwell has authored.

Back in 1985, Harwell, upon the prodding of friend and publisher

Bill Haney, wrote a book called "Tune to Baseball."

"I enjoy writing, but I like it better when it's done (gone to press)," he said.

Harwell also is an accomplished song writer, recalling "Move over Babe" and "I don't know any better" as his finest pieces. B.J. Thomas recorded the latter of the two songs on one of his records.

Harwell enjoys autographing his books and makes it a point to try to get to know each autograph seeker. Harwell doesn't autograph just books.

"I'll sign anything they bring up, paper, a baseball, glove," Harwell said. "I've signed shoes, shirts, across the forehead, on hands like a tattoo."

Diamond Gems can be purchased in any book store or news stand for $17.95 per copy.

Rocks infielder Gundry signs letter with EMU

he had a congenital defect in his neck. However, he was able to resume playing.

"I only came back because I knew if we won the John Glenn game (the Rocks did 28-7) we had a chance to go to the playoffs. I said 'If we go to the playoffs, I want to be a part of it, like baseball.'"

Gundry, who plans to study computer science in college, had also played basketball at Salem until this year.

"I'm resting up and thinking about baseball," he said. "I've been going for three years, playing three sports. I want to be rested for my senior year of baseball and have a good year."

The baseball team lost most of its starting lineup through graduation, including all-stars Scott Niemiec (Michigan) and Scott Rodgers (Kent State). But Gundry hopes to lead Salem to another successful season.

"AS A TEAM, we're hoping to win another 20 games and take it from there," he said. "If we win 20, anything can happen."

"As far as myself, I want to improve my fielding, get quicker with my release and swing the bat some more. I hope the whole team can have a good year and we can contend again."

Bowlers gearing up for a New Year's No-Tap celebration

NEW YEAR'S EVE "No Tap" bowling has become a tradition here, and for bowlers, what can be more fun than to celebrate 1992's arrival by enjoying the company of good food, friends, bowling competition and prizes?

All of this will take place at almost every bowling center in the area. The format will be basically the same everywhere with some variations. Mixed couples bowling for prize money using the moonlight and/or "No Tap" scoring, where nine pins is scored as a strike.

A hot buffet and drinks might or might not be included, depending on the program and price. Rates will vary depending on the cash prize list, ranging from $38 to $40 per couple. The higher the entry fee, the higher cash prize list.

This can be a wonderful way to welcome the New Year. If you haven't already signed up, a word of warning, don't wait too long as the centers have limited space, and the lists are being filled rapidly.

Check with your favorite bowling center, since they usually have a flyer with all of the details and prices for the program.

There is not enough space in this column to list all of them, so I am listing the phone numbers on the honor roll for your convenience.

Let me be the first person to wish you a "Happy New Year!"

Ocelots come up short

The Schoolcraft College men's basketball team fought all the way, but in the end it wasn't quite enough. The Ocelots opened their Eastern Conference season with a 95-93 loss at Highland Park CC Wednesday.

The defeat dropped SC to 5-4 overall, 0-1 in the conference. Highland Park is 3-4 overall, 1-0 in the conference.

"It was the best we've played down there," said Ocelot coach Dave Bogataj. "The kids did an exceptional job."

Still, a couple of absences hurt their effort. Point guard Raheem Woodson, still recovering from a sprained ankle, was limited to 17 minutes of playing time. And sixth man Gemal Ahmed missed the game due to a test he had to take.

Also, Bogataj did not start leading scorer and rebounder Jarvis Murray. Murray missed the team bus to last week's game at Spring Arbor because of poor weather, which delayed him.

Schoolcraft sports

Murray did get in his minutes, scoring 20 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. He was joined under the basket by Shawn Harrell, who was in the starting lineup to help bulk up the Ocelots.

Harrell's presence pushed Scott Meredith, the team's second-leading scorer and rebounder, further outside. Harrell performed impressively, collecting 14 points, nine rebounds and four blocked shots; Meredith, however, was put into more of a support role. He totaled six points and five assists, and earned Bogataj's praise.

"We put him on the outside and kind of took him out of the offensive picture," said the SC coach. "But he was active, and he helped us out."

Chris Habitz helped the offense most, topping the Ocelots with 23 points; he, too, had five assists. Mitch Fyke added 10 points.

Andre Williams, the Panthers' 6-foot-8 force inside, led them with 36 points. Darnell Murphy contributed 21, hitting five long-range three-pointers.

SC WOMEN: The Lady Ocelots continued to struggle in Eastern Conference play, losing their second-straight 71-58 to Highland Park CC Wednesday at SC.

"Our inside people are not doing the job," said Ocelot coach Jack Grenan, whose team is now 8-4 overall and 0-2 in the conference. "They didn't rebound and they didn't score."

The SC points came from guards Donna Galli, who scored 21, and Dana Hudson, who added 16. Lakashia Allen's 15 and Leatrice Scott's 12 paced Highland Park (1-0 in the conference).

The Ocelots started slow and could not recover. They trailed 38-24 at halftime.

Cougars crumble Crusaders

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

It sounds funny, admits Madonna University women's basketball coach Bill Potter, but even though the season is 10 games old, his Lady Crusaders are still searching for an identity.

Madonna fell to 2-8 - 1-2 in NAIA District 23 play - after a 75-55 loss to Spring Arbor Thursday at Madonna. The Crusaders trailed 30-22 at the half and, as Potter explained, "We tried to step up the pace in the second half."

It may have helped their offense - they scored 11 more points in the second half than they did in the first.

Madonna sports

But their defense lagged; Spring Arbor buried five three-pointers in the second half, scoring 45 points.

For the game, the Cougars hit 8-of-16 threes (50 percent); Madonna was 0-for-1.

"They made their threes in the second half," said Potter. The Crusader defense didn't deter Spring Arbor much. "Every one of their shots was wide open," noted Potter.

THE COUGARS connected on 26-of-57 floor shots (46 percent); Madonna made just 19-of-56 (34 percent).

Which brings us back to the identity search. Madonna's slow start, Potter insisted, "is not frustrating. It's just that we're not executing the way we should."

"We don't have that one person we can go to, someone who can get two or three baskets in a row. Our shots are wide open, we're just not making them."

Part of the problem has been injuries. Currently, Madonna has only eight players. Marianne Ervin, a 5-foot-10 freshman forward from Plymouth (Divine Child HS), has missed most of the season with bone spurs in her leg. She's scheduled to see an orthopedic surgeon Tuesday to determine the extent of the injury.

Against Spring Arbor, Lori Creten led the Crusaders with 13 points. Jill Burt, Cheri Sangregorio and Lyndell Ingalls each scored nine. Sangregorio and Creten had seven rebounds apiece, and Ingalls dished out eight assists.

The Cougars (now 3-5 overall, 1-0 in NAIA District 23) got 23 points from Sandi Bremiller, 18 from Tracy Regal and 14 from Kathy Murphy.

Madonna has one game remaining this month: at Hope College Thursday. The Crusaders then have a two-week break for the holidays, during which Potter is hoping his team can regroup.

Raiders lose in OT

The Eastern Conference opener for Oakland Community College's men's basketball team was no more successful than the non-league portion of its schedule: The Raiders had a chance, but couldn't quite upend Macomb CC Wednesday, dropping an 82-81 overtime decision at OCC's Orchard Ridge campus.

The game was tied at 74-all at the end of regulation. An OCC three-pointer narrowed Macomb's lead to a single point with seven seconds left in OT, but the Raiders couldn't get a time-out and the Monarchs ran out the clock.

Rashe Reviere led OCC with 24 points. Rod Hall added 17 and Dale Kraft scored 16.

Troy Wilcox netted 24 for Macomb. Mike Gurney and Terrance Walker each scored 13.

OCC WOMEN: Leslie Catanzarite led a trio of Lady Raiders to reach double-figures in scoring Wednesday, resulting in an easy 67-47 victory over Kalamazoo Valley CC.

Death penalty bill narrowly passes

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area lawmakers were recorded on major roll call votes as Congress approached the end of its 1991 session.

HOUSE

TO PASS CRIME BILL — By a vote of 205 for and 203 against, the House approved the conference report on an anti-crime bill (HR 3371) that sets the death penalty for more than 50 federal crimes and puts procedural limits on death row inmates who delay execution by repeatedly filing habeas corpus appeals.

The bill requires a seven-day waiting period for handgun sales during which police would check the purchaser for any criminal record, and promises $1.2 billion for state and local crime fighting. It permits the introduction of evidence obtained by police in "good faith" searches even if their warrant proves to be invalid.

Democrats said the bill gets tough on criminals without trampling on civil liberties, while GOP foes generally disliked its gun control provisions and said it does not go far enough to limit habeas corpus abuses.

A yes vote was to approve the anti-crime bill.

Area legislators voting yes were Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, voted no.

Rep. William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, did not vote.

TRADE WITH CHINA: By a vote of 409 for and 21 against, the House approved legislation granting most-favored-nation trade status to China, in return for Beijing freeing all political prisoners arrested during or after the 1989 Tiananmen Square massacre, among other conditions.

The bill (HR 2212) sets a June 1992 deadline for release of the prisoners, numbering in the thousands by some estimates. If Beijing fails to comply, President Bush cannot renew the preferential terms entitling Chinese exports to the lowest U.S. tariffs.

A yes vote was to grant China favorable trading terms in return for a massive prisoner release.

Area legislators voting yes were Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

CALIFORNIA DESERT BILL —

By a vote of 297 for and 136 against, the House passed a bill expanding areas of the vast southeastern California desert that are to be permanently protected against commercial and recreational encroachment.

The bill (HR 2929) sets aside nearly a third of the 25 million-acre desert as a wilderness, national park or national monument area, while allowing certain grazing, mining and military operations to continue.

Most of the land already is under federal stewardship.

Sponsor Richard Lehman, D-Calif., said "time is running out for one of the world's great ecosystems."

Opponent Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., called it a "lockout bill" that will keep hundreds of thousands of Californians from enjoying the desert.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Local legislators voting yes were Pursell, Hertel, William Ford and Levin.

Broomfield voted no.

SENATE

TO DE-NUKE THE SOVIETS — By a vote of 86 for and eight against, the Senate approved diverting $500 million from the Pentagon budget to help the Soviets dismantle their 15,000 tactical, or smaller, nuclear weapons.

This occurred as the Senate passed a bill (HR 3807) implementing a new post-Cold War treaty between the Americans and Soviets.

"Soviet leaders are anxious to destroy nuclear and chemical weapons and have asked our help," said supporter Sam Nunn, D-Ga.

Opponent Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo., said America should not provide the aid while the Soviets continue to modernize their strategic, or long-range, nuclear arsenal.

A yes vote was to help the Soviets dismantle tactical nuclear weapons. Michigan Senators Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, voted yes.

County executive's prayer breakfast set

Rev. William Augustus Jones of Bethany Baptist Church, Brooklyn, N.Y., will be guest speaker at Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's sixth annual prayer breakfast, 8 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 11.

Held in the Cobo Convention Center's Riverview Ballroom, the event brings together political leaders and representatives of numerous county church groups.

Rev. Jones is former president of the Progressive National Baptist Convention and founder of the National Black Pastors' Conference. He is also a general counsel member of the Baptist World Alliance.

He has preached throughout the world and has been listed as one of Ebony Magazine's "One Hundred Most Influential Americans."

Prayer breakfast tickets are $15 per person and can be ordered by calling 224-0261 by Friday, Dec. 20.

Holiday concert offered

A free Christmas concert, featuring the Schoolcraft College Wind Ensemble, will be presented 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 18, at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff.

The ensemble is under the direction of conductor James Nissen. Schoolcraft College-Radcliff is at 1751 Radcliff, between Ford Road and Wildwood, Garden City.

Additional information is available by calling 462-4400.

Students need host families

Spanish Heritage, a non-profit, students exchange program, seeks area representatives in western Wayne County.

Representatives serve as liaisons for high schools, host families and students. They also recruit qualified

North American teenagers to go abroad. Volunteers are reimbursed for their expenses.

Persons interested in volunteering can call Jodi Schmidt, 1-800-888-9040.

Don't fuss over the appetizers

After this season's holiday get-togethers, if I ever see another cocktail meatball or weenie, it will be all too soon.

Granted, not all holiday hosts/hostesses have the culinary ability of Jimmy Schmidt, but when will people begin to realize that radishes do not lend themselves to the vegetable dip platter?

THERE IS little doubt that at this time of year, we barely have time to keep the toast crumbs from adulterating the butter dish. When it comes time to prepare an innovative pot-luck-something-or-other for a holiday party, some of us resort to the easiness of opening a can of crabmeat and spreading it over a pound of cream cheese smothered in cocktail sauce.

If you find yourself doing just that, then the new wave of restaurant supply shops opening all over town will surely be appreciated this season.

For the uninitiated, places like Leone Cash and Carry in Sterling Heights and Livonia offer a wide assortment of "heat and eat" appetizers, canapes and desserts that simply require you to open a package, arrange on a baking sheet, and heat for 10 minutes at 375 degrees. Period. No muss, no fuss and your nails will dry in time for the party.

GORDON FOOD Services in Canton and Lombardi Foods in the Utica-Rochester area are big helps to the local party scene and like Leone, also stock paper and plastic supplies for the almost one-stop holiday party. Another excellent party source for bulk hors d'oeuvres and appetizers are the local "warehouse-type" food shopping clubs springing up all over the metro area.

A recent visit found their freezers full of a wide assortment of tiny puff pastries brimming with the likes of purees, vegetables, cheeses and meats.

By the way, convenience does have its costs and you can expect to pay for some machine chipping out mini-quiches in a big way; but when you realize that most low-budget caterers shop this way, you can save even more by unwrapping, plating and heating yourself.

AH, BUT that simply takes us to the realms of stuffed puff pastries and better tasting meatballs, right? Who can the discerning party goer or giver call for exemplary party foods? Someone with a little talent and flair for presentation can certainly benefit from the local "super" grocery stores pantry and deli departments.

I'm not talking ground baloney here folks, the super Kroger store on Middlebelt Road in Garden City has a stunning array of dips and prepared foods as does the new "Super Shopping Center Market" that recently opened at Fourteen Mile and Haggerty. This place is the yuppie food shoppers dream. If you need it, they have it.

Another hot and trendy source for good holiday foods are the upscale deli's and "Gourmet-to-go" shops. I stopped in at Eddie Jonna's Merchant of Vino for a jug of wine and left with two grocery bags filled with pasta salads, Waldorf's and a hummus that you would simply die for.

LAST, BUT certainly not least, for fancy pastries and desserts, have you noticed the rash of little fancy bakeries and patisseries springing up all over town? The French Epi in Livonia stocks tortes, cakes and some of the best breads and sweet rolls around town.

So if this holiday season has you all tied up with other holiday chores, remember that there are some outstanding places to shop that can make cooking a whole lot easier!

Rock solid ties to homeland Treasured recipes keep culture alive

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

SHAKEN BY invasions from the Tatars, Persians, Russians and Turks, and an earthquake that killed more than 100,000, and left 500,000 homeless on Dec. 7, 1988, Armenians have clung tenaciously to their religion, culture and traditions.

U.S. ties to the homeland are strong. One of the earliest settlements in Detroit was in Delray in the late 1800s and early 1900s. The community later branched out to Highland Park, Dearborn and Southfield.

TODAY, ARMENIANS are scattered throughout the metropolitan area, but they stick together. When the earthquake struck, Armenian Americans rallied to quickly dispatch aid.

"We continue to raise funds. They haven't revived completely," said the Rev. Vahan N. Tootikian, pastor of the Armenian Congregational Church in Southfield. "They are coming back, but it is a hard struggle. You can't solve the problem in light of the present economy, it is completely shattered.

"Armenians have always been optimistic, they've seen many hardships, but have always been a people of hope who believe the future will be better," said Tootikian.

Filled with hope over the changes in the Soviet Union, Armenians forge ahead.

It has been their fortune, or misfortune, to be strategically located where east meets west on trade routes bordering Turkey, the Soviet Union and Persia (Iran).

"Food brings Armenians together," said Gary Reizian, owner of Uptown Deli and catering in Farmington Hills. "One way we keep our culture alive is through food," said Judy Mardigian of Plymouth.

Although they grew up in different cities, Reizian in Lathrup Village, Mardigian in Dearborn Heights, as second generation Armenians they have a lot in common.

SHARON LEMIEUX/staff photographer

Gary Reizian, owner of Uptown Deli in Farmington Hills, presents freshly made Lahmajoons, an Armenian meat pie made with ground beef and lamb, tomato, onions, green peppers, parsley and seasonings.

Mardigian's father grew up in Delray, her mother in Detroit near Delray. Reizian's father grew up in Delray, his mother in Highland Park. As children they lived with their parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters in an extended family household.

REIZIAN IS married to an Armenian woman, Sue, they have two children, Lauren, 9 and Nicole 8 and live in West Bloomfield.

Mardigian is also a small business owner. She and her husband Si Nahra, who is part Lebanese, operate Health Decisions, Inc. a health care consulting firm in Plymouth. They also have two children, Charlie, 3½, and Sandy, 16 months.

Mardigian and Reizian both enjoy cooking, and carrying on recipes that were passed down generation to generation.

"When Armenians get together we have feasts, food is important," said Reizian. "Our family gets together almost every Sunday," said Mardigian.

Dinner begins with mezza; (appetizers). One of Mardigian's favorite appetizers is basturma, a spicy, cured piece of beef tenderloin that's eaten with pita bread. Other dishes that might be on a mezza table include homemade pickles (tourshou), stuffed grape leaves, braided string cheese, spicy sausage (sujuk), and pastries filled with meat, spinach or cheese (bourek).

Armenian cuisine is similar to Greek and Middle Eastern. While talking about the foods he grew up eating, Reizian named lamb, eggplant, tomatoes, green beans, taboulee, hummus, brick cheese and lots of different kinds of bread from the thin almost tortilla like Lahvash to the thick oval peda bread.

In addition to the usual deli sub sandwiches, you'll find roll up sandwiches made with lavash bread, hummus, taboulee, beef and chicken kabobs on the menu at Uptown Deli. One of the most popular items is Lahmajoons, meat pies made with ground beef and lamb, tomatoes, onions, green peppers and parsley.

Like many Armenian cooks, Mardigian's mom, the late Louise Solakian Mardigian, made her own yogurt used in soups, on top of meat pies and enjoyed with relish. "You can always count on an Armenian household for a yogurt starter," said Mardigian.

Meal draws chorus of approval

The expression, "singing for your supper" takes on a new meaning when applied to this week's Winner Dinner Winner, Marily Sampson of Troy.

family tested winner dinner

Betsy Brethen

Six years ago, she had the honor and privilege of singing a solo at a Thanksgiving Day service where the guest of honor was the Lord Mayor of London, England. Hosted by the Woolnoth Society, an Anglo-American association of bankers, a traditional American buffet dinner followed the service which was held in the guild Church of St. Mary of Woolnoth, located right in the heart of the financial district of London.

It was a thrilling experience for Sampson and she felt as if she had stepped back in time as the Lord Mayor and his entourage were dressed in colorful, flowing robes and were heralded in the ancient, banner bedecked church by the Queen's own trumpeters.

Sampson's husband, Clint, is a banker for National Bank of Detroit and was transferred to England for four years. They and their young daughter lived in a home owned by the bank that was located in a small close or cul-de-sac in the town of Purley-Surrey, only 15 miles outside of London.

They especially enjoyed getting to know their international neighbors who came from countries all around the world. Two or three times a year, they would gather for pot-luck dinners, with each family bringing a favorite dish from their native country. It was at one of these parties that Sampson first taste this week's Winner Dinner that was prepared by one of her neighbors from Sri Lanka who kindly taught her how to make it.

JIM RIDER/staff photographer

Marilyn Sampson of Troy shares one of her family's favorite Winner Dinners, Curried Chicken, rice and Creme Brulee.

Having been back from England since 1988, Sampson has kept up with her music career and continues to give voice lessons as well as to sing professionally with the Michigan Opera Theatre as well as with most of the local symphonies.

Thank you, Marily Sampson, for sharing your delicious recipes, and congratulations on being selected this week's Winner Dinner Winner. Your meal is sure to be met with a chorus of approval from all who taste it.

As a reminder, in anticipation of the upcoming 100th Winner Dinner column, please call Taste editor Keely Wygonik at 953-2105 to cast your vote for the best Winner Dinner.

CURRIED CHICKEN OR LAMB

Colorful and bursting with flavor, this heart smart dish serves six and can be made ahead and reheated just prior to serving.

4 medium onions, sliced
2-3 tablespoons oil or 1 cup chicken broth

1 pound cubed chicken or lamb
2 slices fresh ginger or ½ teaspoon powdered ginger (Fresh ginger is a garlicky and bumpy root that can be found in the produce section. To use, simply slice off a thin piece or two and add to dish. Wrap and refrigerate the remaining root and it will keep for weeks.)

2 fresh tomatoes or 1 can tomatoes, 8 ounce size, chopped

1 carton low-fat yogurt, 8 ounce size

1 ½ teaspoon salt
2 heaping tablespoons mild curry powder

PLUS

¾ teaspoon curry powder (optional)

2 tablespoons paprika (eliminate this if using chicken)

2 garlic cloves, chopped finely

Juice of half of a lemon or lime

Pinch of garam marsala (a blend of dry-roasted spices that adds a sense of "warmth" to both palate and spirit — available in specialty or Indian food stores)

Saute onions in oil or broth.

When tender, add cubed chicken or lamb and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Add the ginger (fresh ginger is preferred). Combine some of the warm liquid in the pan to the yogurt and then add the yogurt mixture to the pan.

Cook for five minutes. Add the chopped tomatoes, the salt, the curry and the garlic and cook for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the remaining amount of curry and squeeze half of a lemon or lime over the dish and add a pinch of garam marsala. Stir to blend well and serve over rice.

CREME BRULEE

This is a delicious dessert and a refreshing complement to the spiciness of the curried dish. Serves eight.

CREME BRULEE

4 egg yolks
½ pint whipping cream few drops of vanilla
½ cup sugar
½ pint half and half

CARAMEL TOPPING

4 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons cold water

Blend together egg yolks and sugar with a spoon. Pour whipping cream onto the egg mixture and stir in the vanilla. Strain the mixture through a sieve and into eight ramekins or a 1 ½ quart ovenproof baking dish. Stand the dishes in a metal baking pan or dish containing 1 inch of hot water. Bake for 1 ½ hours or until just firm in a very cool oven — 280 degrees. Refrigerate, covered, to set overnight.

The next day, make the caramel sauce 2-4 hours before serving. Dissolve sugar in water in pan over low heat without boiling. Then, boil rapidly until golden brown and pour quickly over custards, tilting the ramekins to spread it evenly. The caramel will set like glass in seconds. Refrigerate until serving. NOTE: The Creme Brulee can be made in one day, provided enough time is allowed for it to set and chill thoroughly.

Armenian recipes show Middle Eastern influence

See related story on Taste front.

Armenian cuisine is a cosmopolitan mix of many countries. It was influenced by the Arabs, Persians, Turks, Syrians, Greeks and Jews. Some of the items needed to make Armenian dishes might not be available at your neighborhood grocery store. Here are a few markets recommended by Judy Mardigian and Gary Reizian.

Majestic Market, 25877 Lahser, Southfield, 352-8556; Victor Bakery, 35 Victor, Highland Park, 869-5322; and International Market, 15383 Inkster Road, Livonia, 522-2220.

For cookbooks, call St. John's Armenian Apostolic Church, 22001 Northwestern Highway, Southfield, 569-3405.

RICE PILAF (PRINZOV YEGHINTZ)
2 Tablespoons shortening or clarified butter
1/2 cup finely broken vermicelli
1 cup long grain rice
2 cups hot chicken broth
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
freshly ground black pepper to taste
Melt shortening in a two-quart saucepan and add noodles. Sauté gently, stirring with a fork to brown evenly. Add rice and cook five minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add remaining ingredients, except pepper, bring to a boil, cover and simmer 15 minutes or until liquid has been absorbed. Shut flame and set pilaf aside for 10 minutes, covered. Sprinkle with pepper and mix gently. Serve immediately. Makes four servings.

From "Armenian Cooking Today" by Alice Antreasian (St. Vartan Press, New York).

ARMENIAN CHRISTMAS PUDDING (ANOOSHABOOR)

1 cup skinless whole grain wheat
3 1/2 quarts water
1 cup dried apricots, cut up
1 cup seedless yellow raisins
1/2 cup pistachio nuts, blanched, coarsely chopped (To blanch nuts, cover with boiling water a few minutes then slip skins off.)
1/4 cup filberts, blanched, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup walnuts coarsely chopped
3/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons rose water or 1 tablespoon almond extract

GARNISH
1/2 cup almonds, blanched, cut into strips
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
Rinse wheats with cold water, drain, add water, bring to the boil and shut flame. Set aside to soak overnight. The next day cook over a low flame for 1 1/2 hours without stirring. Stir in apricots, raisins, pistachio nuts, filberts, half the walnuts and sugar and cook 30 minutes longer. Shut flame, add rose water or almond extract and stir once.

Heat remaining walnuts in a moderate oven 10 minutes to toast them. Pour the pudding into individual dishes or a deep serving dish and garnish. Place almonds in a star design in center, decorate with toasted walnuts and pomegranate seeds and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Makes 15 servings.

SPICY MEAT PIES (LAHMAJOON) MEAT PIE FILLING

1 pound finely ground lean beef (Can use half lamb, half beef)
1 1/4 can whole tomatoes, drained and crushed
1/2 medium yellow onion, peeled and finely chopped
1/2 medium green bell pepper, cored and finely chopped
1 teaspoon peeled and minced or crushed garlic
1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh mint leaves
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
Salt and pepper to taste
Pinch of cayenne pepper
Mix all together and set aside.

THE DOUGH
1 package quick-rising yeast
1 cup warm water (about 105 degrees)
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar

2 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
Dissolve the yeast in the water in the bowl of an electric mixer. Stir in the olive oil, sugar, salt, and 1 1/2 cups of the flour. Mix the dough for about 5 minutes until smooth. Knead in the remaining 1 1/4 cups of the flour using the dough hook, and knead until smooth. If you do not have a powerful machine, you should knead in this last bit of flour by hand. Knead until dough is very smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes by machine, 20 minutes by hand.

Place the dough on a plastic counter and cover with a large stainless steel bowl. Allow to double in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch dough down and shape into 12 balls. Use four balls at a time, placing the remaining balls in the refrigerator. On a lightly floured surface roll each ball into a 6- or 7-inch circle. Do not roll too thin. Arrange circles on two large, lightly greased baking sheets. Allow the dough to rise slightly. Cover the entire surface with a thin layer of the meat mixture, spreading it to about 1/4 inch from the edge. Bake at 375 degrees about 25 to 35 minutes. Do the same with the remaining balls.

PEANUT CHICKEN BALLS
2 1/2 cups ground chicken
1/2 cup grated carrots
1/2 cup minced parsley
1/2 cup finely chopped onion

3/4 cup mayonnaise
1 1/2 cup dry roasted nuts, ground
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Toss together chicken, carrots, parsley and onion. Stir in mayonnaise and roll into 1 inch balls. Roll each ball in ground nuts and then dip one side of ball in melted butter.

Place on ungreased cookie sheets butter side up and bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes or until golden. Cool before serving.

EASY CHIPPY CHEESE STRAWS
1 package pre-prepared pie crust
1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 cup potato chips, finely crushed
1 egg white salt and cayenne pepper to taste

Roll pie crust very thin. Combine cheese with potato chips and sprinkle half the dough with half the mixture. Fold in half. Sprinkle remaining mixture on one half the dough. Fold again. Roll out to 1/4 inch thickness. Brush with egg white and sprinkle with salt and cayenne. Cut into 1/2 inch strips 6 inches long and bake at 450 degrees until crisp and golden, about 5-7 minutes.

Save gingerbread houses for after Christmas contest

Save those gingerbread houses and enter them in the Gingerbread Contest sponsored by the 10th annual Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular Jan. 15-20. There are five adult categories and one children's category.

THE ADULT categories are — Churches and castles, best reproduction of a Plymouth home or business (3x7 photo of building must be included with entry), storybook or fantasyland, open category for any type of architecture made with cookies and other edible materials besides gingerbread.

Children 10 and under can enter the Creations by children category. First prize is a $25 gift certificate for any store in Westchester Square Mall in Plymouth. Entry forms and rules are available at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office on Main Street or Westchester Mall merchants. For details, call Nancy Horst, 459-1475.

SPEAKING OF gingerbread, the winners of the gingerbread house contest sponsored by Williams-Sonoma in Laurel Park Place Mall were Gay Austill of Canton, first place; Cindy Stamper of Westland, second place, and Greg Williams of Livonia, third place.

Fourteen people entered the contest. The gingerbread houses were beautifully decorated and made from scratch. Williams-Sonoma hosts the contest every November. Congratulations to the winners.

For those of you who tried the low fat pie crust recipe featured in last week's Tidbits column, expect the dough to feel differently than a pie crust made with shortening. Lois Thieleke, home economist for the tidbits

Keely Wygonik

Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, Oakland County office, said the dough will be a little harder to handle because of the oil.

LINDA POPOVIC of Bloomfield Township said she has a pie crust recipe that's even lower in fat. "This recipe works out real well," said Popovic. "It's good with apples, and contains less than 80-90 grams of fat per pie."

TENDER PIE CRUST
1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour

pinch of salt
1/4 cup vegetable oil
2 tablespoons low fat margarine
2 tablespoons yogurt
1 tablespoon honey
2 tablespoons cold water

Combine flour and salt. Cut in butter and oil until mixture is coarse. Add yogurt, honey and water. Mix until it forms a ball. Wrap in plastic, chill one hour. Roll out between sheets of plastic wrap.
Makes a double pie crust.

Update: I visited Michel and Sam

Daher at their bakery Sweet Dreams pastries & ice cream, 18762 Middlebelt in Livonia last week. You may recall we wrote about them in August. Since then, they've added an ice cream cooler and a couple of new flavors. The ice cream is homemade, and very creamy. For the holidays, they're offering a variety of festive cakes including a Yule Log — chocolate chiffon cake with chocolate raspberry mousse and white chocolate mousse, topped with buttercream frosting and decorated. The pyramid cake has ribbons cascading down the sides. There's also a colorful cake that's wrapped with paper thin biscuit dough in green or red. "White Alpine" a white chocolate brownie topped with chocolate chiffon cake, layered with white chocolate mousse, topped with white chocolate is a wonderful wintry dessert. Cake prices range from $12 to $25.

Bite-size cakes are also available. Ice cream is $4 a quart or $1.50 for two scoops. Call 475-6665 for information. Store hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Saturday, noon to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Red Lobster restaurants are offering free seafood recipes for holiday entertaining. The brochure is available at all Red Lobster restaurants, or may be requested by mail by sending a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope (4 x 9 1/4 inches) to "Entertaining Ideas," P.O. Box 593330, Orlando, Fla. 32859-3330.

Betty Crocker tip of the week. Children delight in making gingerbread houses and they make beautiful centerpieces for holiday dinners. Prepare the molasses cookie dough and make patterns one day; next day cut and bake cookie pieces. Then decorate and assemble.

All cognac is brandy, not all brandy is cognac

"Brandy is the heart of wine — its quintessence," said Claire Coates, communications director for the Cognac Bureau. "People who drink wine and are attracted to its taste, eventually continue this enjoyment with brandy. Although cognac can be produced only in France, brandy can be made anywhere in the world. All cognac is brandy, but not all brandy is cognac."

Trebbiano, White Hermitage or St. Emilion, is the principal grape variety in Cognac. "Only natural yeasts are used in the fermentation process," Coates said. "Any chemical additions are concentrated during distillation and would give poor tastes and aromas. We add nothing; everything is perfectly natural."

Vineyard sites in the Cognac region are arranged in concentric cir-

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

cles with the very best, those with chalkiest soil, at the center and those of lesser distinction near the perimeter. In decreasing order of importance the sites are Grande Champagne, Petite Champagne, Borderies, Fins Bois, Bons Bois and Bois Ordinaires.

In the Cognac region, the term "champagne" translates as "open field" and has no reference to sparkling wine.

Demand for cognac produced exclusively from the Grande and Petite Champagne is increasing. The term Grande Champagne refers to grapes grown in the appellation Grande Champagne. The same is true for Petite Champagne. Fine Champagne contains at least 50 percent Grande Champagne, the remainder being only Petite Champagne. The term Fine Cognac on some cognac labels has no legal meaning.

The distiller uses a traditional pot still, made entirely of copper, to separate the essence of the wine. A first distillation results in a milky, 28 percent alcohol liquid.

In a second distillation, the head and tail distillates are separated from the heart having an average strength of 70 percent alcohol. It is then aged and blended to produce the brandy called cognac. Distilled water is gradually added over a period of years to bring the cognac to the desired 40 percent alcohol before bottling.

Cognac is aged entirely in 90-gallon Limousine or Tronçais oak barrels, some as old as 50 years. Barrel aging gives tannin, allows oxidation, and adds color to the otherwise colorless spirit. Approximately four percent (28 million bottles) of cognac evaporates annually from the aging barrels as "the angels share."

Cognac's consistent taste is maintained by a master blender who has at his disposal a flavor bank of more than 350 cognacs of different age and origin. The process of blending these cognacs depends more on the blender's nose than his taste. Very little is tasted in the task that requires many years of training and apprenticeship. The skill is frequently passed from father to son for generations of master blenders employed by a given cognac house.

Each producer establishes, maintains and jealousy guards the signature house style. This style combines aroma, body and taste characteristics integrated into a harmonious flavor. Aroma is very important to a cognac's style and may emphasize flowers, fruits, nuts or wood. The body, texture and mouth-feel may range from medium to full and should be smooth and silky.

Since cognac is always a blend, the law prohibits any mention of age as part of the label. Quality grades, established by law, guarantee the minimum age of cognac used in a blend and the minimum aging period.

The following designations are found on cognac labels: Three Star or Very Special (VS) means that the average aging period of the cognac is five to nine years. Very Superior Old Pale (VSOP) contains cognac with an average age of 12 to 20 years. Cognacs labeled Extra Old (XO), Napoleon, Extra or Vieille Reserve apply to older cognacs with ages up to 40 years. The top of each producer's line includes a 50-year-old cognac, given a house name and marketed in a special crystal decanter.

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

Zinfandel is a true American original. No other country in the world grows or makes zinfandel. This deep red grape is the fruit source for volumes of blush wine, however we think that the only real zinfandel is red.
1988 Beringer Zinfandel, North

Coast ($9.50). Rich, ripe, black raspberry fruit is complemented by a generous portion of French oak and spice.

1988 Clos du Val Zinfandel, Stags Leap District ($14). This wine majors in flavor. Berry and bramble aromas introduce fruit flavors and spice in a balanced, stylish pour.

New bakery, cafe specializes in Italian foods

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

Whether it's for a quick cup of Espresso or Cappuccino, lunch, or something easy-to-make for dinner, you won't walk away disappointed at the newly opened Livonia Italian Bakery & Cafe, at 33615 7 Mile Road, three blocks west of Farmington Road in the Stamford Plaza.

New and improved markets Check it out!

"If we don't have it, we'll get it," said one of the owners Mark McMullan. The cafe adjoins the bakery and spacious market of Italian specialty food items. On Sunday mornings you can enjoy a cup of coffee in the European atmosphere cafe and watch Italian soccer games and other Italian programs on cable TV. Ice cream, frozen yogurt and pastries are also available. You can buy a piece of pizza or sandwich in the adjoining bakery and eat it in the cafe.

Owners Franco Petrucci, 23, Bruno Petrucci, 29, who are brothers, and McMullan, 30, grew up in Livonia.

Before opening their first store, Dearborn Italian Bakery at 24545 Ford Road, on October 15, 1985, Petrucci and McMullan who met at Schoolcraft Community College, managed other Italian bakeries. Franco and Bruno graduated from Livonia Stevenson High School. McMullan graduated from Bentley High School also in Livonia.

Franco, who recently graduated from college, manages the Livonia store.

Across one wall of the market is a display case of freshly baked bread, cannolis, fancy cookies, angel wings, tortes, cheese cakes, pies and other pastries. If you're planning a special birthday party, custom birthday cakes are available.

Then there's the pizza. Unbaked or baked square dish "deep pizza pan." Specialties include the Spingioni Pizza, $6.49 topped with olive oil, tomatoes, spices, pepper rings, olives and Mozzarella cheese. A Chicago style stuffed pizza called Grande Pizza, $9.99 and Taco Pizza topped with ground beef, salsa and cheddar cheese at $6.49.

Daily lunch specials like homemade lasagne with a dinner roll, made to order sandwiches, antipasto, chef, pasta, Greek and garden salads are also available.

Next to the deli counter are the luncheon meats. Livonia Italian Bakery & Cafe carries a large selection of Italian style meats like salami, Mortadella, hot Copacola, Prociutto and domestic and imported Provolone Cheese. They also have more traditional deli meats like ham, roast beef, turkey, and cheeses including Colby, Swiss and American.

If you don't have time to make sandwiches for a get-together, you can order a deli tray or three to six foot party sub. They also have a catering department that offers vegetables trays, cheese & cracker trays, fruit boat, dessert tray and other items.

For a quick and easy dinner, check out the large selection of pastas and Italian specialty items like spaghetti sauce, tomatoes, tomatoe puree, hot peppers, artichoke hearts and olive oil. Frozen pasta including linguini, ravioli, and fettucini noodles are also available.

Since it's the holidays, you'll find lots of imported Italian candies and other holiday specialties like Panettone.

The owners say they hope their bakery and cafe will become a meeting place for people.

"We're trying to carry everybody's best product. It's a relaxed atmosphere. There's a lot of room, you don't have to stand in line and wait for your order. Give us your order, and relax over a cup of coffee in the cafe," said Bruno Petrucci.

Winter hours are 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Thursday, 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. For more information, call 474-0444.

Quick-to-make Southwestern Skillet Noodle Casserole stars a colorful combination of bell peppers, corn, black bean, bite-size pieces of turkey and noodles in a savory, spicy sauce.

Easy Heart-smart casserole

Spice up your life! If you're watching your diet, mealtime doesn't have to be boring. Heart-smart food really can be delicious and easy when you cook with flavorful ingredients — such as those indigenous to the Southwest.

Use your imagination! For example, to add "kick" to fish or poultry, top each serving with spicy-hot salsa. Or, customize simple side dishes like vegetables and cholesterol-free noodles with fresh herbs such as oregano and cilantro.

Healthy south-of-the-border one-dish meals are easy to prepare, too. You might trim down an enchilada recipe you already have, or try creating a stir-fry or casserole recipe of your own. Following are some heart-wise tips for Southwestern-style cooking.

- Take advantage of flavorful fruits and vegetables such as limes, tomatoes, bell peppers, onions and corn.

- Substitute reduced-fat products for higher fat dairy ingredients. For example, try reduced-fat sour cream or yogurt in place of regular sour cream, and use the new reduced-fat cheeses.

- Boost flavor with traditional seasonings like cilantro, cumin and chili peppers. They add instant punch — without adding excess fat, cholesterol and calories.

- Use low-fat cooking methods such as microwaving, baking, grilling or stir-frying.

Prepared in minutes on the stove top, Southwestern Skillet Noodle Casserole teams cooked turkey with bell peppers, corn, black beans and No Yolks noodles. The colorful combination is tossed with a spicy, low-fat sauce and topped with reduced-fat Monterey jack cheese and cilantro. It's sure to please hearty and healthy eaters alike!

For more easy, heart-smart cooking tips and recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to: No Yolks, Dept. 110, 520 East Church Street, Libertyville, Ill. 60048.

SOUTHWESTERN SKILLET NOODLE CASSEROLE

1/2 package (4 ounces) cholesterol-free noodles

1 teaspoon cornstarch

2 tablespoons fresh lime juice

1/2 cup reduced-fat sour cream

1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh jalapeno pepper

2 teaspoons chili powder

1 1/2 cups bell pepper strips (2 x 1/4 inches)

12 ounces cooked turkey, cut into bite-size pieces (about 1 1/4 cups)

1 can (15 ounces) black beans, rinsed and drained

1 cup frozen corn, thawed

1/4 cup shredded reduced-fat Monterey jack cheese

2 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro

Cook noodles according to package directions without salt. Meanwhile, dissolve cornstarch in lime juice in small bowl. Stir in sour cream, jalapeno and chili powder. In large nonstick skillet sprayed with nonstick cooking spray, saute bell peppers over medium heat for about 4 minutes or until crisp-tender. Add sour cream mixture, turkey, beans, corn and noodles; mix well. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, for 5 minutes or until heated through. Sprinkle with cheese and cilantro. Makes 6 (1 1/4 cup) servings.

For less heat, remove seeds and/or ribs before chopping. Be sure to wear rubber gloves when handling peppers.

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent.

In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.*

And if knowledge is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

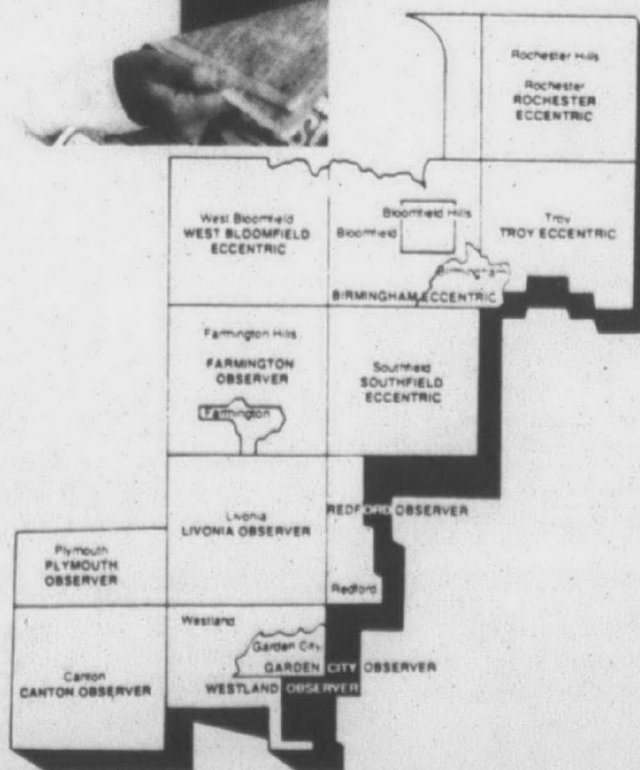

FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

That's us.

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper—the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers? Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE,* a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone.

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

HOROSCOPE

By C.C. Havens

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You may have to give up a little to get a lot in return. You shouldn't feel so responsible for other people's actions; you have no real control over them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Writing down the game plan now will help those around you. It will also help eliminate questions about who should have done what.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
It's time to get in touch with old friends and renew those ties that bind, no matter how long it has been. Be creative in your approach.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Be aware of your limitations. Sharing your dreams and aspirations with a special someone could lead to some very desirable results.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Responsibilities seem overwhelming, but you have to take some time for yourself. Try your best not to be overly sensitive to constructive criticism.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Don't take yourself so seriously and you might find things aren't so bad. Lose that negativity and you'll see the world through different eyes.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Research all possibilities when considering the investment of your hard-earned dollars. You might benefit from an outsider's viewpoint.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Be straight when confronting others. Telling half-truths will only come back to haunt you. A close relative needs your assistance but is afraid to ask.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Stay calm when dealing with stressful situations. Look beyond what is being said and try to see it from the other person's perspective.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Problems of a sexual nature predominate. Set reasonable goals and work towards them in both work and domestic venues.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Work on things that you can accomplish in a short time. Concentrate on what you would like to have in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
It's difficult, but important for you to work on projects with a team. Others' talents can work with yours better than you imagined.

'La Pastorela' best of heaven, hell Angels battle devils in Latino fantasy

By Dan Rice

When the smoke clears and the shouting dies down, there is a birth to welcome, for art is born of revolution. Conceived by migrant farm workers during the Great Grape Strike of 1965, Luis Valdez's El Teatro Campesino presents a very non-traditional film production of the traditional Latino Christmas play about the shepherds' journey to visit the newborn Jesus Christ, the world's greatest revolutionary. Aired as part of PBS' "Great Performances," the musical "La Pastorela" debuts on Monday, Dec. 23.

With a performance history dating back to the infant days of Christianity in Spain and England, pastorelas, or shepherds plays, were brought to Mexico in the 16th century by Franciscan missionaries. Focusing on the attempts by Lucifer and his demons to sway the pastores (shepherds) from their pilgrimage with temptations of riches and plea-tures of the flesh, the pastorela celebrates the triumph of good over evil, while, in typical Mexican versions, taking the time for satirical references to deserving local figures.

Writer/director Luis Valdez ("La Bamba," "Zoot Suit") has modernized the story by utilizing a device which has become a cliché in films: the dream induced by a blow to the head. The young protagonist Gila (Karla Montana), after complaining to her mother about their family's poverty being perpetuated by the birth of yet another sibling, reluctantly attends the village mission's production of "La Pastorela," where she is accidentally knocked unconscious. Gila is thus cast into the experience of the play; she is now one of the shepherds in a confused setting where Bethlehem is a migrant workers' camp and hell a toxic-waste dump.

The shepherds are visited by the armor-clad archangel Michael (Linda Ronstadt), who announces the birth of the Christ child. The good pastores gladly embark on their journey to the scene of the nativity, but Lucifer (Robert Beltran, of "Eating Raoul") has sent his motorcycle-riding devils to stifle their intentions and divert them from the path of righteousness.

Paul Rodriguez is wonderfully terrible as Satanas, leader of the pack of devils, and Cheech Marin is hilarious as the singing sultan El Cosmico, who delivers twisted lines like "Cosmic love and peace on you." Fans of Tex-Mex music will enjoy the appearances of Texas Tornados' Freddy Fender and Flaco Jimenez as shepherds, and Little Joe y La Familia as El Cosmico's harem band; this in addition to songs throughout this musical by Los Lobos. Perhaps the oddest bit of casting in this Latino fantasy is that of the mission priest, played by Don Novello in his "Saturday Night Live" alter ego, Father Guido Sarducci.

"La Pastorela" offers entertainment on many levels and in two languages (the songs are in Spanish with English subtitles, while the dialogue is in English with Spanish sprinklings). When this colorful pinata bursts upon the small screen, viewers will be showered with gifts of comedy, drama, romance, horror and inspiration. The shepherd's journey proves to be an analogy for our own trek through life, for the best rewards are the hardest to reach. Feliz Navidad.

CAPTION: Linda Ronstadt portrays the archangel Michael in "La Pastorela," Luis Valdez's retelling of the traditional Latino Christmas play. Airing Monday, Dec. 23, on PBS, this musical fantasy is presented by "Great Performances."

LET'S TALK!

Bridge clubbers want to know more about Charles Bronson

By Taylor Michaels

Q: For many years, Charles Bronson has been making movies, but not much has been written about him. I would love to have some information about him. —Grandma Taylor and the Bridge Club members, Horseshoe Bend, Ark.

A: Bronson was born Charlie Buchinsky in Ehrenfield, Pa., on Nov. 3, 1921. He helped support his family by working in the coal mines until he was drafted into the Army in World War II. At 27, he decided to become an actor and later enrolled in the Pasadena Playhouse. He made a number of films in Hollywood but didn't become a star until 1968, when he began making films in France and Italy. In 1963, he met future wife Jill Ireland (Both were previously married.) The couple appeared together frequently in films and had five children. On May 18, 1990, Ireland died after a six-year battle with cancer.

Q: What has happened to Wheel of Fortune? It was my favorite game show. I can't find it listed on any network or cable stations. —Geraldine Doyle, Chanute, Kan.

A: According to an NBC spokeswoman, the recent cancellation of the daytime edition of Wheel of Fortune was a programming decision based on ratings.

Q: "I Wish I Knew," the theme music for The Trials of Rosie O'Neill, is the prettiest since an early 1950 episode of Studio One with the theme music "Let Me Go Lover."

A: What an accolade! I'm sure the people responsible for the Rosie O'Neill theme thank you. Unfortunately, you may not be able to hear it much longer. The show is in danger of being canceled.

Q: I watch Mr. Ed and The Patty Duke Show. Is Mr. Ed still alive? Could you tell me about Patty Duke? —Angela Newland, Macon, Mo.

A: Not surprisingly, the horse that played Mr. Ed in the 1961-65 series is dead.

Duke was born Dec. 14, 1946. Her parents divorced when she was very young and she went to live with a husband-and-wife manager team, the Rosses. Dictation lessons, singing lessons and drama classes led to toothpaste commercials, television shows and theater appearances for the child actress. Duke won acclaim, first on Broadway, then in film as the young Helen Keller in The Miracle Worker. Although she played a "normal" fun-loving teen on The Patty Duke Show, she was isolated and miserable. Her adult life, which was marked by broken marriages and recurrent bouts of depression, has taken a turn for the better in recent years. Duke's story is recounted in her 1987 book, Call Me Anna: The Autobiography of Patty Duke.

Q: I am a very big fan of Jean-Claude Van Damme. I have all of his movies and daily watch him. If you could please provide any information on him and tell me where I could write him, that would be great. —Linda Lou Farcher, Greenfield, Ind.

A: Van Damme was born and raised in Brussels, Belgium. In 1982, he came to the United States and took a variety of odd jobs until he debuted in Street Rage. No Surrender. His first starring role came in the 1987 movie Bloodsport. He is very active with the Make-A-Wish Foundation, which helps makes dreams come true for terminally ill children, and is a supporter of animal protection. He is married to health and fitness professional Gladys Portugues and has two children. He is based in California. You can write him c/o Jean-Claude Van Damme Fan Club, P.O. Box 4139, Chatsworth, Calif. 91313-4139.

SOAP TALK

Trying to keep up with the Brooks clan

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I work full time, but I tape The Young and the Restless every day. I've watched it since it started. Something bothers me: John and Dina talk about their "three" children — Jack, Ashley and Tracy. But I think I remember another daughter, Leslie. Am I not right?

Also, the baby-switching story line is just too sad to watch. Lauren was so attached to a baby that wasn't even hers. Think of how she would feel if she knew (her real baby is still alive). She would want her own baby, naturally, but little Scotty wouldn't even know who she is. As a grandmother and a mother, this makes me very nervous. —Sue Lewis, Lebanon, Mo.

Dear Reader: There was a Leslie Brooks character on Y&R when it first went on the air. She was a member of the Brooks clan that included: Stuart Brooks, the father; his wife, Jennifer; and four daughters. Leslie was one of the four daughters. They were a rich and powerful family, which may be why you have them confused with the Abbotts.

As for the baby-switching story line, I thought it was absolutely heart-breaking when baby Dylan died. Tracey Bregman Recht did a superb job as the bereaved mother. I hope to see this rather lengthy story line come to a dramatic end soon, and who can wait to see wicked Sheila finally get her due?

Dear Candace: Please tell me whether Lindsay Frost, who was in Danielle Steel's Palomino, also played Betsy on As the World Turns. I also wondered if that was her playing the part of Ginger on Days of Our Lives. —Mary Pearson, Talbott, Tenn.

Dear Reader: Frost (the sister of Twin Peaks producer Mark Frost) did portray the character Betsy Stewart Montgomery Andropoulos for four years on ATWT. During her third year on the soap, she was cast in the feature film Dead Heat with Treat Williams. In her fourth year, she won the coveted role of Renee in the original production of the Tony Award-winning play M. Butterfly. You'll probably see her next in the prime-time series Nightmare Cafe opposite Robert Englund. It will begin airing sometime after the first of the year.

However, it is Roberta Leighton who plays the sexy waitress Ginger Dawson on Days.

STAR NOTES

Enterprising Dorn the voice behind Worf

By Steven Alan McGaw

Handsome, 6'3" Michael Dorn is a TV star. He's been one since 1987, in one of the highest-rated syndicated series in the country. He appears in a feature film that opened just recently and looks to be one of the holiday blockbusters. Still, he says, he's almost never recognized. How does he feel about that?

"I like it. I do... it's nice," says Dorn. "not being bothered in restaurants, or out shopping." Dorn plays the humorless Klingon security chief, Lt. Worf, on Star Trek: The Next Generation. He admits to having an actor's ego and appreciating recognition, but says he got that a few years back, as a regular on CHiPs. Now, the actor reports, "the important thing is the work."

Dorn enjoys playing Worf, especially the way the character fits into the whole. "He's the fly in the ointment," he notes, adding that Worf's deadpan remarks "often come out pretty funny."

The actor can also be seen in the feature film, Star Trek VI: The Undiscovered Country, playing Worf's grandfather.
