Buchanan spokesman

Conservative critic and novelist Russell Kirk of Mecosta, Mich. sends word that he is general chairman for the Michigan Buchanan For President Committee. Buchanan's March 17 Michigan primary election night rally is scheduled for the Mayflower Meeting House.

"The American nation urgently requires as chief executive a man of strong character and sound political principles, consistent in his policies and ready to resist powerful lobbies and pressure groups," Kirk writes, in a declaration of support for Buchanan's candidacy.

Down to business

The future of downtown Plymouth is the subject of a public presentation scheduled for 7:30-9 p.m. Thursday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer.

The meeting will be moderated by Hyett Palma Inc., a Washington D.C. consulting firm hired by the Downtown Development Authority to study downtown and prepare a plan to boost the retail offerings and economic base of downtown.

Copies of the plan are available for public inspection, at city hall and the Dunning-Hough Library.

Speaking out

Eight finalists from Plymouth and Canton schools recently competed in the Plymouth Optimist Club's annual Oratorical Contest, at the Mayflower Hotel.

Winner Suzanne Vleck of Pioneer Middle School will now advance to the Optimists' regional finals. The theme was "If I Could See Tomorrow," and each contestant had four to five minutes for her presentation.

Erica Pendergrass of Pioneer was second, and Neha Shah from Middle School East was third. Central Middle School and Our Lady of Good-Council school were also represented.

The presentations were rated according to speech content, delivery and overall effectiveness. Optimist Bill Baumgartner conducted the program. Judges were Mark Sullivan, Tom Healy, and Judge James Garber.

Open house

Gymboree, a movement and play program for children three months through four years, will hold an open house from 5:45 to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, March 10, at 9357 General Drive near Libbey and Ann Arbor Roads.

Medical help

Questions about who will make your decisions about medical care when there's an illness or an accident can be troublesome.

To help people with this, a free informational talk entitled, "My Wishes Concerning Medical Care: Advance Directives," will be held on Thursday, March 12, from 7 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. The meeting will take place in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church, 45901 N. Territorial Rd., Plymouth.

The speakers will be Rev. Timothy Dombrowski, a medical ethics coordinator; Thomas Sheppard, an education specialist; and Susan Patton, an attorney. For more information, call the Catherine McAuley Health System at 972-3897.

Board seeks better cable service

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Better cable TV service for area residents is the goal of recent moves by local officials.

On Thursday at 7 p.m., township residents are invited to a public hearing at the township hall. Trustees scheduled the hearing over complaints made "for a long time — several years," said treasurer Mary Brooks last month.

City of Plymouth residents can also voice comments on cable TV reception, at a public hearing scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, March 23. Canton has yet to schedule a public hearing.

AND ON ANOTHER front, Omnicom Cablevision general manager Lisa Boland has written government leaders of communities

Omnicom serves to let them know cable TV coverage of government meetings is free.

Trustee meetings are televised in Canton and Northville townships, but not in the cities of Plymouth or Northville or Plymouth Township.

Boland said that if a community wants to televise meetings, all they need to find is two volunteers to film the meetings.

She sent the letter three weeks ago. "I wanted to make sure all the communities were aware of the opportunities through Omnicom," Boland said.

"The equipment is available and free to use, we train any interested party that would like to tape these meetings," she said.

Boland said that once a community identifies two volunteers, "We could schedule the training session that week," and be on the air soon after.

IN AN EFFORT to upgrade cable TV reception, the communities served by Omnicom have agreed to hire a cable TV consulting firm to negotiate a franchise renewal agreement with Omnicom, local government officials say.

Plymouth city commissioners voted to join the hiring of the consultant firm, at roughly $10,400.

"The city receives approximately $23,000 annually in cable TV franchise fees. If the audit component for the contract recovers unpaid franchise fees, these would offset part of the projected cost," said commissioner John Vos, chairman of the city's cable TV committee.

Homecoming

It was a bit of a shock. Not the baby. Alan and Suzanne Deal of Plymouth were expecting the baby, but not the gorilla that showed up on their front lawn when they arrived home from St. Joseph's Hospital with their first child, Tyler Alexander. It was placed there by their friends and neighbors.

Schools chief decries Gov.'s funding plan

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben has about had it with Gov. John Engler, the Legislature and the butchering of local school district budgets.

Engler's newest plan — to shift $160 million from districts that are better off to less-affluent districts — would cost Plymouth-Canton Community Schools $3.5 million, Hoben said.

Other existing and proposed aid changes could cost the district $7 million — 10 percent of next year's operating budget. The prospect makes layoffs and program cuts an even greater possibility for Plymouth-Canton.

"It's hard to keep from being bitter about it," Hoben said. The district is, in essence, being punished for its fiscal responsibility, Hoben said.

"Last year was a good example. We went into the year with a balanced budget. The Legislature didn't pass the state aid act until October. Tax-base sharing was included in it, and so was the property tax freeze — a $3 million item for us. It just butchered us as far as being able to come out at the end of the year as we should have. We ended up having to dip into the fund-balance. The fund balance isn't going to be there any more."

LANSING IS "hoodwinking the public," Hoben said. "They're saying we only lost $1.5 million. It actually was $3.5 million. What they're not saying is they took $3.5 million of our FICA (1992-93 social security payments for employees) away from us. They're trying to tell local districts how to spend their money."

The district will not get nearly $3 million as a result of the property tax freeze. Another $750,000 in tax-base sharing revenue is frozen while the courts decide whether the plan is legal. Another Engler plan would have local taxes, rather than state taxes, pay all retirement costs.

'It's hard to keep from being bitter about it.'

— John Hoben
school superintendent

"We're starting (next year) with a $4.3 million shortfall. Now we're moving upwards of $7 million." Under Engler's plan, Plymouth-Canton would spend $4,843 for each student — $11 more than this year and the seventh-lowest among Wayne County's 34 districts. The state per-pupil average is $4,915.

Engler's package would adjust per-student spending to more than $5,000 for districts including Inkster, Taylor, Van Buren, and Wayne-Westland, Hoben said.

"What bothers me is that we are being penalized for having been fiscally sound for the past seven, eight years."

And there's no proof spending more in poorer districts will improve the quality of education, he said.

"The process is one of bringing down those districts that have excellent programs instead of trying to bring the others up. It just doesn't make any sense."

"I just think we are in position where we are being doubly penalized for having been proficient. They're applying the same standards on us that they are on the richer districts. Utica and Birmingham are complaining about losing revenue, when they will still have expenditures of $7,000 and $8,000 per child."

Plymouth-Canton has lower expenses because both high schools are one on one campus and because Plymouth-Canton's elementary schools are relatively large.

"I think we've been fiscally sound, but it's certainly tearing us apart right now. We're talking about losing 10 percent of our operating budget for next year if all this comes to pass."

'Zombie Bandit' strikes in Canton

The Zombie Bandit, who is being sought for a Plymouth bank robbery, struck again in Canton on Tuesday, March 3, when he stole more than $4,000 from Mutual Savings on the 5800 block of Sheldon Road.

The bandit entered the bank at 2:10 p.m. and stayed by a table where deposit slips are kept, according to Canton police.

The suspect watched a teller come from a room carrying a large amount of bills in her hand and place them in a teller station drawer.

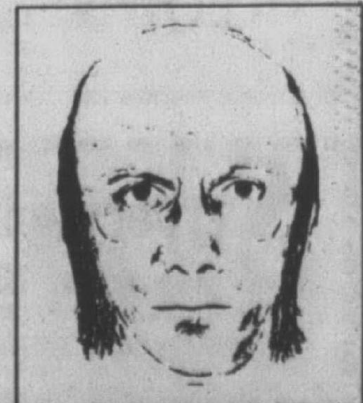

He gave the teller a note that said: "Put the cash in the bag. You have 10 seconds or I'll start shooting."

After getting the money, he fled the bank on foot.

Tellers told police the suspect was holding a paper bag in his left hand and during the robbery he opened his coat and displayed a handgun, which was stuck in his waist band.

After getting the money, he fled the bank on foot.

Watered down abortion bill goes to Senate

By Tim Richard
staff writer

For an hour, state Rep. John Bennett didn't vote as the House of Representatives debated amendments to the "informed consent" abortion bill.

"They dumped it on my desk this morning at 9:20," the 14-term Democrat from Redford Township said Thursday. "I kept reading the bill and liked what I saw."

What Bennett saw was a substitute that would require a 24-hour waiting period before a woman could obtain an abortion, but the doctor wouldn't be required to show her enlarged photos of a fetus, and the warning language would be neutral.

Right to Life of Michigan held out for a much tougher bill — photos and a long list of possible bad effects from an abortion.

"I'm against abortion. Personally I don't like abortion," said Bennett, who usually votes with Right to Life. "But this (RTL's original) bill had nothing to do with abortion. Its purpose was to punish a poor teenager and tell the doctor what to do," said Bennett.

He talked to Democrat David Gubow, a pro-choice lawyer from Huntington Woods. "I have a lot of faith and confidence in Gubow," said Bennett, an accountant.

BENNETT CAST the 55th and deciding vote in favor of the substitute bill as the House approved it and sent it back to the Senate for concurrence in the amendment.

The substitute was drafted by Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, a pro-life physician who split with RTL on the "informed consent" bill.

The Schwarz version eliminates RTL-written warnings about the possible physical and mental ill effects of abortion and substitutes briefer and more politically neutral wording from the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ACOG).

Schwarz's version was defeated by the Senate but revived in the House by Rep. Bill Martin, R-Battle Creek, with one change: Martin kept the 24-hour waiting period RTL wanted.

Floor management Thursday was handled by Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, a vocal pro-choice member. "The substitute was a reasonable, rational compromise," she said.

Some members wanted to delay the vote to next week, but Berman pressed for immediate action. "We have a good compromise. If you wait over the weekend — we want to avoid five days of bludgeoning, as they (RTL) have been bludgeoning you the last several weeks."

WHETHER THE SENATE will decide to agree to the substitute will be seen this week.

Senators may decide to support the House version to get the issue off their calendars.

Or they may reject it, sending the bill into a joint House-Senate conference committee. The conference report would have to be approved by both chambers, and the high political pressure would continue.

Ironically, although an informed consent bill won, observers saw it as a major defeat for Right to Life and its all-or-nothing tactics.

RTL lost Schwarz, Bennett and Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, who also crossed over to support the substitute.

THE SUBSTITUTE was passed 55-49. Women voted 16-3 in favor. Men voted 39 yes, 46 no, three not voting and two absent. (One seat is vacant, so 55 votes pass a bill instead of the usual 56.)

Democrats voting yes were Justine Barns of Westland, Bennett, Berman and Kosteva.

Republicans voting yes were Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, Georgina Goss of Northville, Tom Middleton of Ortonville and Gordon Sparks of Troy.

Democrats opposed were William Keith of Garden City and Wilfred Webb of Hazel Park.

Republican opposed was John Jamian of Bloomfield Township.

THE INFORMED consent was the third RTL measure since the U.S. Supreme Court in 1990 opened the way for states to regulate abortions.

Voters approved eliminating state-funded abortions. The Legislature passed a parental consent law for girls under 18.

Two RTL ideas which haven't been advanced yet in Michigan are prohibiting abortions in public hospitals and eliminating employer-funded abortions for public employees.

Businesses report effects of notorious computer virus

The dreaded "Michelangelo" computer virus hit as expected in Plymouth and Canton on Friday, and throughout the country and the world.

By 3 p.m. Friday, the virus set to disrupt computer systems had caused "a number of reported incidents of infection," a local computer expert said.

Jack Bologna, president of Computer Protection Systems, Inc. of Plymouth, said some Plymouth and Canton businesses also reported problems with computers Friday.

He declined to name them, as "they're friends, they're embarrassed about it."

Still, Bologna said much press attention before the day "Michelangelo" was to strike helped head off problems.

"A lot of them were discovered this week and corrected," he said.

By 3 p.m. Friday, "There were at least 1,000 reported incidents in this country," he said, but added he'd heard nothing "of entire systems crippled."

The virus, programmed to strike on the anniversary of the legendary painter's birth, was designed to erase programs stored in computers.

While Bologna said an estimated 1,000 computers were affected, that effect is small when one considers there are 20 million personal computers in use in the United States.

Saying there are still several hundred computer viruses still out there, Bologna warned, "We're going to have another problem Friday the 13th of this month," as another virus is expected to strike them.

How to head off system infections? "They're developing software now that will identify most of the known viruses," he said, adding this software is not 100 percent effective.

Family sues in girl's death

A lawsuit was filed Wednesday in the hit and run traffic death of a 14-year-old Canton girl nearly two years ago.

The suit was filed by the family of Melissa Chisholm against Joseph Ryan, the driver of the car. The accident happened on May 14, 1990 on Ford Road near Lilley Road.

The suit filing came on the same day that the Chisholm family was mourning the death of Melissa Chisholm's father, Joseph, 51, who suffered a heart attack on Monday.

Family members attributed the heart attack to grief and stress surrounding the girl's death.

Ryan, a Plymouth Township and former neighbor of the Chisholm family, waited more than a year to go to authorities after the fatal accident. He was charged with manslaughter, but was allowed to plead guilty to leaving the scene of a personal injury accident and was sentenced to probation in Records Court in November.

The suit alleges that Ryan didn't operate his car in a safe manner when the accident occurred. It also names Ryan's wife, Mary, claiming that she was negligent in allowing her husband to operate the car.

The suit seeks damages of $10,000 or more. A trial date has not been set.

The suit was filed by John Vos III, a Plymouth attorney and a member of the Plymouth City Commission.

Buchanan rally set for Mayflower

Patrick Buchanan, who is challenging President George Bush for the Republican party presidential nomination, has scheduled a Plymouth campaign rally for the night of Michigan's presidential primary, March 17.

Buchanan's supporters are scheduled to gather at the Mayflower Meeting House to await election returns.

On the wall of the Mayflower Hotel across Main Street from the meeting house, is a letter from Bush thanking the management for their hospitality. During the 1988 campaign, George Bush "used the Round Table Club for an important breakfast meeting," recalled Mayflower Hotel co-owner Creon Smith.

"I'm sure that it doesn't disturb the Bush people," Smith said, that the meeting house will host Buchanan's primary-night rally.

"It certainly doesn't disturb us," Smith said. "We're glad to have the business. We're certainly not in a position to discriminate," he said.

hair. At the time of the Canton robbery, he was wearing a fisherman type hat, a dark blue jacket with a red stripe and blue jeans.

The Zombie Bandit is suspected of robbing Heritage Federal Savings Bank at 650 S. Main in Plymouth on Jan. 17. During that robbery, he escaped with about $6,000. The robbery in Plymouth was the first since the mid-1960s.

He is also suspected in 12 other bank robberies in Michigan and Illinois, including one in Sterling Heights on Feb. 5 and one in Livonia on Jan. 13.

Persons with information about the Zombie Bandit are asked to call the Canton Police Department at 397-3000 or the FBI at 965-2323.

The Cash home in Plymouth has been restored.

Home history

Family fills rebuilt home with antiques

By Janice Jones
special writer

A hand-crank doorbell, patented in 1860, invites visitors into the 150-year-old house of the Doug Cash family.

Believed to be the oldest Greek-Revival structure in Wayne County, the Arbor Springs house, as Cash calls it, is filled with historic articles from the Plymouth area that he has accumulated from local sales, auctions and razed buildings.

One might say that he's collecting Plymouth history, one piece at a time, starting with the house itself.

When Cash acquired the house in 1971 it was on land that is now a part of the Hilltop Golf Course. Cash saved the structure from being torn down by moving it across Ann Arbor Trail to its present location. A builder by profession, Cash has had to use all his skills on the extensive restoration that followed.

"IT TOOK A YEAR just to dig out the basement under the house," he said. When rewiring, insulating and replastering, Cash took the house right down to the studs. "The walls were horsehair plaster," he said. "The horsehair served as insulation."

Cash believes the house began as a cabin and was added onto three times. The ceiling in the living room, which was in the original cabin, was caving in. Cash removed it, exposing the rafters, which left an open loft over the neighboring dining room. The loft is hemmed in by an old wooden gate.

"Someday, I'm going to build a set of stairs to the loft," Cash said. "But we've only been here 20 years. I've got a lot of good ideas I haven't used yet."

The living room also features a fireplace and chimney that were fashioned from stones that once served as the foundation of the original cabin.

Coiled around the base of the hearth is a hemp, hay rope that was salvaged from the three-story barn that sat next to the house on its original site. The barn was also the source of the wood used to panel the living and dining rooms.

"The original moldings were stacked horizontally, and they were falling down," Cash said. "They were also covered with several coats of olive green paint, so they had to be replaced." In the dining room, where the barn wood is installed horizontally, Cash chinked the cracks with manila rope. Standing in the room, it is easy to imagine what it must have felt like to live in the original cabin.

The dining room is furnished with antique oak furniture that Cash has acquired through the years, including a hutch that stands where an old fireplace used to be.

Hanging on the opposite wall is an old mercury mirror. "It was made by pressing the glass onto the mercury," Cash said. The double leaded glass doors that connect the dining room to the kitchen were purchased through an ad in the Plymouth Mail (now the Observer). "These doors replaced a single door and a dumb waiter," Cash said.

THE KITCHEN HAS an old wood burning stove, made in Saline, that is the result of a seven-year search by the Cash family. On the wall above the stove hangs a steering wheel from a Model T.

The large entry room at the front of the house has been completely restored with detailed wainscoting, period wallpaper and coved ceilings. The wide, oak plank flooring is original to the house and was used throughout. Even the light fixtures are of the period.

On the outside, the house has the original clapboards made from tulip wood. "Tulip is a very durable wood that grows locally," Cash said. The house is painted a dusty yellow called Clapboard Buff, and the Greek Revival style is evident in the front porch columns, the 12 pane windows (6 on 6), the original shutters and high fascias. Cash has added two porches to the front of the structure.

The house is also home to Doug's wife, Leta, as well as Thom, 21 and Shane, 14. Leta proudly showed a sketch of the house in the Illustrated Historical Atlas of Wayne County, which was published in 1876. In the book, the house is listed as the farm residence of D.D. Allen, Esq.

THE GROUNDS SURROUNDING the Cash house have been as interesting as the house itself. In 1985, Cash was digging a septic tank for a house that he was building next door, and he uncovered human bones. The University of Michigan archaeology department conducted a dig and recovered three complete skulls and parts of several others, dating from 1200-1300 A.D. Local author, Helen Gilbert wrote about the find in her book, "Tonquish Tales."

Another interesting discovery was made when Cash excavated a pond in front of the house. He uncovered the fossilized shell of a gastropod (snail).

It is fitting that the Cash family lives in a historic house. Doug is descended on his mother's side from the Rorabacher family who obtained their land grant on Territorial and Tower Roads, from Andrew Jackson. The Cash family appreciate their sesquicentennial house. Son, Thom said, "When I was younger, I wanted to live in a new house like my neighbors, but now I appreciate it more. It's so distinctive and I love it."

A severe shortage of scientists, engineers and those with math skills is predicted by the year 2000. For that reason and others, preparing young women to meet the challenges of tomorrow is more important than ever.

"For the future of the country, we need to prepare young women and minority students to go into math and science careers," said Barbara Church, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools curriculum coordinator for math and science.

Helping girls from the Plymouth-Canton community prepare for the challenges of the 21st century is the goal of a Saturday, April 4, conference at Plymouth Canton High School, on Canton Center south of Joy in Canton.

The math and science conference is sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Gender Equity in Mathematics and Science Committee (GEMS), the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women, the school district's Educational Excellence Foundation and the Talented and Gifted Program of the Plymouth-Canton schools.

THE CONFERENCE is for sixth and seventh grade girls from Plymouth-Canton public and non-public schools and their parents. A "Girls Excel in Math and Science" conference was held last year for seventh and eighth graders, and was well-received.

"We knew then it was something we'd want to continue," said Church, a Plymouth Township resident who is serving with Carol Davis as conference co-chairwoman. Organizers don't necessarily want to see all young women end up in four-year math/science programs in college, but do want them to explore a variety of options.

"Fifth grade is apparently the grade at which girls turn off to math and science," Church said. "We want to try to have an impact on them." Not continuing to take more demanding math and science classes limits opportunities young women have in higher education and the workforce.

Conference organizers wanted to reach out to a different group of girls this year, so they dropped the grade level for participation one year. They're not sure if they'll keep it at sixth and seventh grades or drop it one more level next year.

"Registrations are pouring in for the conference. We're really excited about it," she said.

CO-CHAIRWOMAN Carol Davis of Plymouth Township is also looking forward to Saturday, April 4. She's the Women's Issues chairwoman for the Plymouth AAUW and previously served on the Plymouth-Canton school board.

AAUW was founded primarily because of concern about educational opportunities for women, Davis said. Recent research conducted by AAUW on the national level reveals that girls experience a significant drop in self-esteem as adolescence approaches.

Davis, a former teacher who earned a bachelor's degree in English and speech from Adrian College, remembers her parents encouraging her to take math and science courses in high school. Davis did complete biology, chemistry, physics and geometry but had some trouble with advanced algebra.

Her teacher, who was the football and wrestling coach, preferred to spend his time discussing sports. "So I never learned how to use my slide rule," said Davis, who completed that course but didn't continue in math.

"Even though we're more aware, that doesn't mean girls are actually being encouraged to do it. We still have to be vigilant, simply because if we're not it can slip back," Davis said.

Church went into science, but also faced some discriminatory attitudes in her younger days. She recalled telling her high school counselor that she wanted to go into medicine.

"He told me medicine would be too tough for me."

THE COUNSELOR suggested that she study pharmacy. Church knows that's also a fine profession but occasionally wonders what would have happened if she'd pursued a career in medicine.

"Sometimes I wish I had, but I love what I do now." Such attitudes were standard when she graduated from high school in 1961.

Church earned a bachelor's degree in biochemistry and physiology from McGill University in Montreal, a master's degree in library science from the University of Michigan and an educational specialist in instructional leadership from Wayne State University. She doesn't remember facing any discrimination in the science courses she took at the Canadian university.

Church, Davis and other committee members have been hard at work, preparing for the conference. "If it weren't for this committee, it couldn't be done," Church said.

The conference, scheduled for 8:40 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., will be limited to 125 girls, each accompanied by a parent or adult family member. Registration price is $5 per family.

The day will include a program overview focusing on why more women are needed in math and science. Parents will then have a choice of several sessions dealing with career options and planning. Students will choose two of seven possible hands-on activity sessions.

The conference will also include a session on actions to take to help girls explore math and science careers, along with small group discussions featuring women in such careers.

Registration forms are available from sixth and seventh grade math and science teachers and middle school counselors. Enrollment is limited, and forms should be returned promptly. For information, call Barbara Church, 451-6711.

Parents can shape their daughter's goals

Parents can do a great deal to help their daughters — and sons — consider all options when it comes to career planning.

It's important for parents to resist stereotyping, said Barbara Church, curriculum coordinator for math and science for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Parents should refrain from saying such things as "You won't need that" or "I couldn't handle that when I was in school."

"Well-meaning people can promote a sort of sexism without realizing it." Classroom displays on scientists that include only men send a message to students, as does consistent use of the pronoun "he" in referring to students.

"They're subtle things, but I think they're picked up by kids."

Church recommends that parents take children of both genders to a variety of science workshops and science museums such as the Ann Arbor Hands-on Museum.

IN MEETING with teachers at conferences, it's helpful for parents to find out what goes on in the classroom. In some cases, girls are praised for being polite and quiet, but that's not necessarily all good.

"The parent needs to value questioning and exploring and risk-taking in a girl," Church said.

When she taught middle school science, Church discovered that boys were often more comfortable answering questions and more inclined to argue. She made a point of calling on girls, and found they often knew the answer as well.

"They don't want to risk being wrong." There are exceptions to that, but girls generally do tend to fall into such behavior patterns, she said.

"Girls who don't learn to be assertive in school will not end up in careers where assertiveness pays off."

Students also need to understand that a variety of professions are open to women. Seeing women in non-traditional careers helps young people expand their own horizons.

Carol Davis, co-chairwoman for the "Girls Excel in Math and Science" conference, has been lining up such role models to speak at the Saturday, April 4, "Girls Excel in Math and Science" conference.

"We have some truly marvelous role models." Those include a veterinarian, architect, surveyor, computer programmer, mechanical engineer and other women who work in scientific fields, Davis said.

SMART seeks cuts to keep buses going

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

A budget-cutting plan to save SMART is expected to be unveiled Thursday, interim director Michael Duggan said.

The troubled suburban bus service is scheduled for closing March 27 due to announced debts of $6.7 million.

While pursuing a merger with the Detroit Department of Transportation, SMART officials are going over their budget "line by line" to keep the troubled Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation open.

"ALL I can tell you is that everybody's working day and night," Duggan said.

Over 600 layoff notices would be rescinded if a rescue plan could be adopted, though Duggan offered no promises.

At the same time, Wayne County Commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell said the commission would "do all it could" to prevent a shut down.

"We cannot afford any reduction of service — that's unacceptable,"

Blackwell said.

Blackwell is backing a proposal by state Rep. Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit, that would tap SMART's estimated $10 million pension surplus to keep buses rolling.

County Executive Edward McNamara, a member of the regional transportation board that oversees both SMART and DDOT, said such a move was merely a short-term solution that wouldn't eliminate the need for a merger.

SMART officials said the agency would temporarily eliminate major trunkline services.

In related news:

SMART has agreed on a retroactive three-year contract with Amalgamated Transit Union, Local 1564, bargaining unit for its bus drivers. The contract raises wages slightly more than 7 percent, retroactive to 1990. Settling the contract saves SMART an estimated $40,000 in arbitration-related costs, Duggan said. The agency spent over $300,000 over the past two years fighting arbitration.

The contract, however, expires this month.

"We've begun negotiating on the next one," Duggan said.

Return of jet noise angers residents

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

It should be quieter this fall for those in the path of Metro Airport jets. But they're going to have the summertime blues.

The Federal Aviation Administration is expected to approve revised flight patterns by October, county director of airports Robert Braun said during Thursday's county commission meeting.

Changes are expected to go into effect at least a year ahead of the normal FAA schedule, Braun said. But his announcement did little to cool area residents angry with the prospect of another noise-filled summer.

"The problem with the county is a continuing deterioration of our quality of life," Livonia resident Joe Schepus said.

Dearborn residents have complained loudest, and longest, about flight patterns initially changed in 1989. But the roughly three dozen speakers who voiced complaints came from a number of western Wayne communities.

"IT'S NOT just Dearborn that has a problem, it's Livonia, it's Westland, it's Garden City, too," said Tim Bailey of Livonia.

Arthur Barbati said he counted 22 jets over his Westland home in one recent two-hour period.

Jet noise was reduced for many area residents last summer, during a 180-day test of revised flight patterns.

Those patterns are expected to be permanently adopted by fall, county officials said.

An environmental impact statement draft is expected to be completed this month, Braun said. The rough draft is the first step in a six-month process leading to the revised flight routes.

Many residents, however, suggested the FAA immediately revert to the pre-1989 routes — which put more jets over I-94.

"That would make the most people the happiest," said David Esper, a Dearborn attorney who heads Citizens Against Aircraft Noise, an ad hoc group that has lobbied county officials for changes.

THOUGH LAST summer's test routes made residents happy in Livonia, Westland and Garden City, among other communities, they displeased residents in Huron Township.

"We got 93 percent of the flights," Supervisor Christine Gamber said, warning commissioners Huron residents could sue if they didn't receive relief.

Commissioners said they would discuss issues further.

"There will be more meetings," said Susan Hubbard, D-Deerborn, who heads the commission's committee on airport noise. A Livonia-Plymouth area hearing is among those to be scheduled, Hubbard said. The FAA initially changed flight patterns due to safety concerns.

GENERIC DRUGS IN TREATING ARTHRITIS

The cost of medication can be an enormous burden. If possible, you want to save money but not at the risk of taking an arthritis drug of lower quality.

The major pharmaceutical companies pride themselves on their ability to guarantee that their brand name products are of high quality. Lesser firms that make generic drugs usually do not make similar claims.

Fortunately, with arthritis, you do not face the dilemma of choosing between an expensive but high quality brand name drug vs. an economical generic.

Aspirin and the salicylate medications are composed of simple chemicals from ingredients which are readily standardized. The most expensive aspirin dissolves no better than the least expensive, and no study to date has found a difference in the way a person accepts aspirin or salicylates based on the brand ingested.

There are many other anti-arthritis drugs available besides aspirin. In individual instances a person may do better with one of these drugs than with any of the salicylates. However, in the vast majority of patients, aspirin or salicylate remains the best choice for basic care, with the least expensive brand just as likely to help as the most costly product.

Arthritis takes a great deal out of you, at least spare your pocketbook when you can.

You're holding next year's tax deduction in the palm of your hand.

Even though you may still be struggling with your 1991 taxes, it's not too soon to think about your 1992 deductions.

Now that the tax deduction on consumer loans has been phased out, borrowing on the equity you have built up in your home is a bigger tax advantage than ever. And the interest expense on a home equity loan is 100% tax deductible in most cases.

Old Kent is waiving all fees on Home Equity Loans.

The equity in your home can help you put your hands on the money you need for the things you want, like a new car, a boat or even tuition for college. With a Home Equity Loan from Old Kent Bank, you can borrow for any of your major credit needs, and there are no annual fees to pay.

So go ahead and think about next year's deductions this year. And then take advantage of Old Kent's no-fee Home Equity Loan — so that next tax season, you'll have a firm grip on some cold cash.

From the delicate spires of its church steeples to the towering cranes that arch over the busiest port on the Elbe, Hamburg, Germany, is a city that mixes grace, wealth and culture with commerce, trade and sin.

Nestled around two pristine lakes and a warren of narrow canals, downtown Hamburg is invaded by ice skaters during the coldest days of winter and filled with flitting sailboats in the warmer months.

One of Europe's most important ports for the past 800 years, Hamburg, unlike many German cities, looks outward rather than in. Anglophilia is a municipal pastime.

English — in some of London's plummier accents — is spoken often and well, and tweed skirts, cashmere and pearls, and nautical styles are everywhere.

It is a city of old money, based on trade, manufacturing and publishing, and one that prides itself as much on its conservative demeanor as on its liberal political bent.

The wealthy — the city is reputed to be Germany's millionaire capital — have their furs, but rather than flaunt the ankle-length minks favored in Munich, Germany, or Dusseldorf, Germany, they tend to play them down, favoring ski parkas trimmed in fox or sable.

Many of the city's most stylish shops are in the 10 Passagen or indoor arcades behind Jungfernstieg, Hamburg's Bond Street, so that shoppers won't be discouraged by the weather, which is often gray and chilly.

EVENTS

The Museum of Hamburg History is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $2.50. For more information call 35 04-23 60.

The State Opera, at 35 Grosse Theaterstrasse, will perform Puccini's "Turandot" on March 10 and 13; Mozart's "Idomeneo" March 12 and 21; Wagner's "Tannhauser" March 15 and 22; Puccini's "Tosca" March 11 and 18; Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" March 14, 17, 20, 24, 26 and 29; and Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" March 19 and 27.

For reservations, which can be made no more than two weeks in advance, call 35 17-21 between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. or between 4-6:30 p.m. Admission ranges from $2.50 to $68.

The Hamburger Kunsthalle, one of Germany's premier fine-arts museums, has a startlingly good collection of German Expressionists, including Max Beckmann and Ernst Ludwig Kirchner. Those of a more romantic nature should visit the halls with paintings by such 19th-century artists as Caspar David Friedrich.

The museum is directly across from the main train station at 1 Glockengiesserwall. It is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $2.50.

For more information call 24 86-26 12.

WHAT TO SEE

If the Elbe is the lifeblood of the bustling port, two man-made lakes, the Inner and Outer Alster, form the city's heart. Picture a 19th-century Manhattan with a Central Park of water, not trees, and one begins to envision the city center. Foot and bicycle paths line the lakes, which offer broad views of the city and its tiled and copper roofs.

Not far away lies the city's bustling port, where 14,000 ships load and unload each year. An hour-long boat tour of the harbor gives visitors anything but romantic idea of the city's commercial life. Tours leave regularly from the St.-Pauli-Landungsbrücken piers and cost $9.

The Speicherstadt, the 19th-century brick and gabled warehouse quarter, is still used to store carpets, raw silks, tobacco and other commodities.

The favorite spire is Der Michel, formally known as St. Michaelis, the most important Baroque church in northern Germany, whose expansive white, gold and mint-green interior is a rarity among the usually austere Protestant churches in this part of the world. Twice a day, at 10 a.m. and at 9 p.m., a trumpeter plays a flourish from the great steeple, now under renovation. On Sundays the trumpeter sounds only once, at noon.

For a look at how the elite lived in earlier days drive out the Elbchaussee, a wide, winding, mansion-lined avenue along the bluffs of the Elbe. Farther west is the village of Blankenese, once the home of ships' captains and fishermen who lived in tiny cottages.

Nearly 6 million emigrants from Northern and Eastern Europe poured through Hamburg between 1850 and 1920, seeking passage to America. Visitors whose ancestors left Europe from the port can visit the city's Historic Emigration Office, temporarily housed at the Tourist Information Center at the Bieberhaus, just outside the main train station on Hachmanplatz, to search for their family history.

For a $30 fee, researchers will scan microfilmed passenger lists of an entire year. Sometime this spring, the office will move into new headquarters at the Tourist Information Center at the port itself, St.-Pauli-Landungsbrücken.

The office is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and reopens from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. For more information call 30 05-12 20.

WHERE TO STAY

For travelers seeking quiet elegance and a bit of luxury the Hotel Abtei, at 14 Abteistrasse, is an apt choice. Each of the 13 rooms is decorated with fine English antiques; bathrooms combine modern conveniences with vintage touches such as antique tiles or marble fixtures, and each room has a sound system stocked with classical music.

A small restaurant is planned for spring. A double room, with full bath and breakfast, runs from $160 to $220. The Abtei is a few minutes' walk from the Outer Alster and easily reachable by subway from the city center. Reserve early. For more information call 44 29-05.

Among the most celebrated of the major hotels is the Vier Jahreszeiten, at 9-14 Neuer Jungfernstieg, whose imposing white facade presides over the Inner Alster. Double rooms are from $250 to $310. For more information call 34 94-693.

The Baseler Hof, at 11 Esplanade, is just a half block from the Inner Alster. Visitors should reserve one of the recently renovated rooms, where updated furnishings dispel the drabness of the untouched wings.

The Baseler Hof's restaurant, where a substantial free breakfast buffet is open to guests, has been smartened up. A double room with bath is from $105 to $115. For more information call 35 90-60.

Budget choice: The 20-room Pension Helga Schmidt, at 14 Holzdammer, is a short walk from the main train station and a block from the Outer Alster. The rooms, on the second through fourth floors, are small but neat and clean. A double with private bath costs $70, with breakfast an extra $7. There is no elevator. For more information call 280 21-19.

Travelers who arrive without reservations should visit the Tourist Information Center inside the main train station or at the airport, where clerks who speak English can book rooms at various prices. It's a good way of finding a budget hotel, which in Hamburg means spending $70 to $75 for a double with private bathroom.

The traveler pays a $4 non-refundable booking fee and a small deposit ranging from $2 to $25, which the hotel subtracts from his bill.

Swap for vacation home abroad

By Everett Potter
special writer

For Lori Horne, a San Francisco resident, traveling to Europe for three or four weeks of vacation every year has never posed a major financial problem — even though she and her husband Mark have three young children.

The family has stayed in a small village near Ravenna, Italy, in a beachfront apartment in Majorca and in Paris, "in a huge apartment in Montparnasse, near the Luxembourg Gardens, with a maid who not only cleaned but cooked every day."

This year they're going to Barcelona for the summer Olympic Games. Wealth has nothing to do with their travels. The Hornes are part of a growing number of Americans who exchange their home for a home abroad.

Lori Horne liked exchanging so much that she and a partner, Paula Joffe, bought International Home Exchange five years ago. It's now the largest such company in the United States and is affiliated with Intervac, a network of 22 independently owned home-exchange companies throughout the world.

Here's how it works. Potential exchangers fill out a registration form with a detailed description of their house or apartment, including nearby attractions and recreational facilities, preferred travel dates and destination.

Then, for a fee of $45 plus $12 postage, the listing will appear in one of three exchange books, which are issued in February, April and June. For $11 more, a photograph can be published, although only about a third of the listings are illustrated.

Those who list accommodations receive all three books, which contain a total of about 8,300 listings. A recent directory offered listings in every major western European country, as well as Australia, Brazil, Mexico and New Zealand. They included high-rise apartments overlooking the beach in Rio de Janeiro, cottages in Ireland's County Wicklow and charming houses on the islands outside Stockholm.

It's up to the lister to make contact with potential exchangers through letters and phone calls. Flexibility in terms of time and place is very important. For example, it might be easier to arrange a three-week exchange in Denmark in August than a two-week swap in Paris in June.

"You can save an enormous amount of money, especially if you have children," Horne said. "Let's face it. Who can afford a week in a European hotel with three kids, let alone three or four weeks?"

For those who voice concern about leaving their house in the care of strangers, Horne has a veteran's advice.

"People don't come to take your silver," she said, laughing. "If you have anything valuable or breakable, just lock it up. If you have pets, you can board them. Ask for references and when the exchangers arrive, meet them or have a friend meet them. If you don't want young children, then say so."

"Exchanging puts you into a certain frame of mind," Horne said. "I have to take care of this house, you think, 'because someone else is taking care of mine.' In 10 years we've never had a problem."

For more information contact International Home Exchange, P.O. Box 590504, San Francisco, Calif. 94159 or call (800) 756-4663.

Here are some other home-exchange companies travelers might want to consider:

The Vacation Exchange Club, founded in 1960, is the oldest such company in the country. A $50 registration fee buys a listing in one of four books the club releases each year, with 10,000 listings yearly.

For more information contact Vacation Exchange Club, P.O. Box 820, Haleiwa, Hawaii 96712 or call (800) 638-3841.

At Better Homes and Travel, owner Linda McCall charges a $50 registration fee and then attempts to match prospective exchangers with up to 12 partners. For a successful match, she charges a "closing fee" of between $150 and $600.

"These other companies are just publishers," she said. "I take care of the headaches of matching people."

Not everyone can find a match, McCall stresses, noting that people in popular destinations such as New York City, San Francisco or Florida have a better chance than those who live in the Midwest.

For more information contact Better Homes and Travel, 30 E. 33rd St., New York, N.Y. 10016 or call (212) 689-6608.

Both active and retired teachers of all levels can use Teacher Swap. It costs $34 for a listing in the single directory, which is published in mid-March. A supplement follows in May.

"Two colleagues and I started this six years ago," said Ron Frevola, a retired Long Island, N.Y., teacher, "because teachers have plenty of time but not that much money."

For more information contact Teacher Swap, Box 4130, Rocky Point, N.Y. 11778 or call (516) 744-6403.

Those seeking long-term rentals of four months or more should contact Loan-A-Home. Established in 1968, the company publishes directories in December and June, with supplements in March and September. There is no charge for a listing. One directory and one supplement are $35 and all four publications are $45.

For more information contact Loan-A-Home, 2 Park Lane, Apt. 6E, Mount Vernon, N.Y. 10552 or call (914) 664-7640.

Keep community colleges an issue

THE STATE Senate Appropriations Committee room was packed, mostly with grey and blue suits plus a half-dozen dresses. There were no cameras or recorders.

Last week, Room 301 of the Capitol held a joint meeting of the House and Senate subcommittees on community colleges. They discussed Gov. John Engler's budget recommendation — a 1.4 percent increase.

The consensus: That increase will be more than eaten up by pension needs alone, and community colleges are seen as our front-line troops doing job training during a recession.

I say "consensus" because most lawmakers on this panel agreed with good ol' Dick McDowell, president of Schoolcraft College, and new kid Patsy Fulton, chancellor of Oakland Community College.

Rep. Tom Mathieu, D-Grand Rapids, said their story needs to be told to the public. He had a suspicion no news media were covering it. He asked if any press were in the room.

Tim Richard

press dislike being part of the story — I raised my hand. Mathieu and I were both surprised that only one reporter was there.

Mathieu was correct in his notion that the press ignores community colleges.

Newspeople, in my experience, come from four-year universities. The 29 two-year colleges aren't in their stream of consciousness.

Many newspeople are snobs about it. You frequently encounter rigid resistance from reporters when you suggests community college story ideas. One sarcastically slugged his stories "USC," for "University of Schoolcraft College." Thankfully, he has left the news business.

surprised, that no women except a few presidents and one trustee attended the hearing. Community colleges should be a "women's issue."

An hour earlier, on the fourth floor, women took over nearly every seat in the House Public Health Committee meeting on the abortion bill. Both sides wasted their time. It was a foregone conclusion the bill would be reported out favorably, and it was.

I don't suggest women's groups ignore abortion bills, just that they should allocate 15 percent of their time to community colleges, 15 percent to public transportation and only 70 percent to abortion.

Community colleges enroll 57 percent women because they cater to "non-traditional" students — older persons, former homemakers, people seeking job retraining because their previous skills are obsolete or they never acquired job skills at all.

Community colleges also have higher proportions of female faculty, female deans and administrators, and female presidents than do four-year universities.

And yet women as a group ignore the funding of community colleges to argue about abortion, abortion, abortion.

IN ECONOMIC jargon, community colleges are counter-cyclical: Their enrollment jumps more in bad times than in good times.

They offer job skills to individuals and to companies. If there's one issue Engler and Jim Blanchard ever agreed on, it's that a skilled workforce is absolutely critical to Michigan's competitive position in a global economy. The UAW monopoly can't protect us any more.

Actually, Engler performed a minor miracle in dredging up 1.4 percent more, considering the $500 million deficit in Lansing. But in a recession, community colleges deserve better treatment than universities.

My brothers and sisters in the media and the women's movement aren't helping much.

Research not done on tests

Q: Much has been said about the extremely poor MEAP results this year. As a fourth grade teacher in a good district, I don't believe we are doing that poorly in reading. Was this year's fourth grade MEAP reading test a fair test?

Doc Doyle

A: This year's fourth grade MEAP reading test was a disaster. George Belvitch, Isbister Elementary principal in the Plymouth Canton School District, ran five different readability tests on the fourth grade MEAP reading test (the Dale-Chall, the Flesch, the FOG, the SMOG and the Wheller-Smith).

A readability test determines the reading level of the words that comprise the test. The average score of the five readability tests found that the fourth grade MEAP narrative reading selection was at a sixth grade reading level. The reading level of the expository section (The Roman Empire) was found to be at a 7.5 reading grade level, meaning this reading section is appropriate for second semester seventh grade students.

The problem is that the State Department of Education closed the Research and Evaluation division and the needed expertise was not available.

The State Department of Education said a scaled score (a method to adjust for inconsistencies) was used to take these factors into consideration.

As a person who has taught research and evaluation at the university graduate level, I say if kids can't read the section, no mathematical formula will adjust for frustrated children. They will reject the reading section and go on the better things, possibly lunch.

Q: I thought that paddling a misbehaving student was against the law. Recently I read that it is still legal. I got the paddle in the fifth grade and it didn't ruin my life. Is it legal? Should it be used? Does it do any good?

A: If you strike an adult, it's called assault; if you strike an animal, it's called cruelty; if you strike a child, it's called discipline. Yet teachers still wield the paddle with much conviction in many areas, especially the South and Southwest.

According to the U.S. Department of Education, Texas racks up 250,000 spankings each year. Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia and Tennessee average about 60,000 cases per year per state. Arkansas earns the dubious honor of leading the country with almost 14 percent of its student body experiencing "redden cheeks" each year.

American school districts who use corporal punishment are almost an anomaly in the world. England, home of the stern, switch-carrying headmasters, stopped the practice several years ago. China, Japan, Russia and South Africa all dropped corporal punishment years ago, and all those countries are known for having non-disruptive students.

Twenty-eight of our states still allow corporal punishment. In Michigan, spanking was outlawed, taking effect in 1989. But school unions objected, and the Michigan Legislature recently relented, allowing personnel to take action to escort students to the office, break up fights, take away weapons and protect property. Spanking is still not allowed for discipline.

You say you were paddled by a teacher and it didn't ruin your life. I was paddled by a junior high principal who used too much force and seemed to enjoy the experience too much. That same principal was knocked down the stairs by a farm boy friend of mine who got expelled.

Yet I worked next to an excellent young sixth grade teacher who used the paddle sparingly and quite gently. It became a status symbol to get your name written on his paddle. Eventually he grew up and discarded the paddle. It depends on so many factors.

Should it be used? I say no. It is a crutch for teachers who are classroom management cripples. Teachers who are organized, who have clearly set rules, who are enthusiastic and caring don't need a paddle. We have enough violence in our society already.

James "Doc" Doyle, a former teacher/school administrator/university instructor, is president of Doyle and Associates, an educational consulting firm.

Inventions count with these students

PROBLEM: A curious fifth-grader wanted to explore the bottom of the old Erie Canal which ran through his town in central New York State.

SOLUTION: Invent and construct a one-boy submarine that would sink and rise by taking in water and pumping it out. The craft would be made otherwise waterproof by dripping candle wax in the cracks between the boards.

I was that boy, fascinated with the canal and what might be on the bottom. Luckily, the sub never made it past the planning stage, although drawings were made and boards, nails and candles were collected.

Such a silly contraption wouldn't have a chance in the Invent America! competition, even if Invent America! had existed back then.

But Invent America! — a national education program — is around today, the invention of Vice President George Bush in 1987. Since its inception, more than 30,000 school children have formally presented ideas they hope will lead to a better world.

TWENTY-SIX of those schemes were presented and judged at a local Invent America! competition at Wooddale Elementary School in the Farmington District last week. Some had the judges — including the ancient submariner — saying to themselves, "Hey, why didn't we think of that?"

Now, in judging Invent America!, you have to remember that it's the idea that counts. First-graders might not be able to build what they imagine, but they can draw it, research it, describe its usefulness.

That's just what they did at Wooddale. Youthful problems got youthful solutions.

For example, Christyn Chadwick won the first-grade title with a simple holder for her Barbie Doll clothes. Third-grader Matt Lullove, another winner, was so upset when someone stole his mom's purse that he invented a chair with a hidden drawer under the seat.

Adam Henderson, tired of torn and dirty American flags, painted Old Glory on a window shade and finished first in the fourth-grade. Suzy Brand won in the fifth grade with her specially-designed snow boots.

THE WINNERS will advance to state or regional competition in April. If their ideas survive there, they'll be advanced to the national tournament in Washington, D.C., in July.

How good are the best of the young ideas? Well, it may be just program hype, but Invent America! officials claim that foreign-looking folks can be always found snapping photos of the inventions at the national competition.

"Six months later, they (the ideas) are on the market," said Joanna Ratanatharathorn, a parent who leads the Wooddale Invent America! program.

Now the young inventors are required to keep log books stating the why, how, where, what time and how much of their creations. Such record keeping may be legally worthless, but it's part of the fun.

Who knows? Maybe some inventive youngster will come up with a useful, practical one-person submarine in which he/she can plumb the murky depths of the Erie Canal. I'd be happy to light a candle if it'd help.

Tom Baer is the editor of the Farmington Observer.

Engler aid plan would hurt local districts

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Both sides fired at Gov. John Engler's school aid proposal last week as it got its first airing in a state Senate committee.

"Everyone's against it — the in-formula and the out-of-formula districts," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, a member of the appropriations subcommittee on school aid.

The Engler touch is all over the $3.5 billion spending plan: end state payment of $442 million for Social Security for everyone this year, end retirement payments next year and put the money in the general state aid pot.

The 70 percent of districts that get state aid then would get the pot. The 30 percent out-of-formula would have to pay for Social Security themselves out of local property tax revenues.

"HE WANTS to make it look like he's putting more in education, but he's just redistributing hundreds of millions," said Faxon, whose Oakland County Senate district includes mainly out-of-formula schools.

Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Oxford, asked the panel to delay new school spending plans and the $20 million

'Everyone's against it — the in-formula and the out-of-formula districts.'

— Sen. Jack Faxon
D-Farmington Hills

Engler wants to spend on schools of choice transportation.

"Combined, this would save $43 million, allowing the state to leave its commitment to Social Security and retirement intact," Dunaskiss said.

Engler also wants to change the way school attendance is calculated for state aid purposes.

FOR GENERATIONS, student heads have been counted on the "fourth Friday" of the fall semester. Rural superintendents would scour migrant labor camps for every kid they could find.

Engler wants the headcount to be the average attendance in the previous school year. That would hurt suburban growth districts, by using last year's numbers, and districts like Detroit with high absentee and dropout rates.

"Growth districts will be hit three times — Social Security, retirement and loss of enrollment," Faxon said. "I couldn't believe anyone would be so insensitive to the existing state of things."

Superintendents, many from Oakland County, packed the committee room where Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, chairs the panel.

IN RETURN FOR shifting the Social Security and retirement burden from Lansing to local districts, Engler proposes to:

• Abolish the tax-base sharing law passed last year. The "Robin Hood" law requires richer districts to share half the growth of their business tax base with poorer districts.

"Even though that left a bad taste in the mouths of many," Dunaskiss said, "all districts in Oakland County participated. None of the districts filed lawsuits, and this is how we were repaid," he said, referring to the Social Security cuts.

• Quit "recapturing" categorical aid money from richer districts to the tune of $60 million. Categorical aid covers special education, transportation, bilingual, pregnant teen and other specialized programs.

Dunaskiss said the net effect on Oakland districts would be "a $98 million hit over the next two years. It sounds great to say that can be absorbed by cutting programs, but we have cut more than 1,000 positions across the county in the past five years.

"And even though our taxpayers are fed up to here, voters are forced to raise property taxes to pay the bill Lansing refuses to shoulder."

Engler proposes to give K-12 schools a total of $3.5 billion — up 4 percent.

The breakdown: $2.36 billion from the school aid fund, which includes allocated taxes and the lottery; $1.03 billion from the general fund; and $80 million in federal aid.

Vikes down Rocks, capture WLAA title

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

basketball

Sushi is just raw fish to most people but not the players on the Walled Lake Central basketball team. To them it has come to symbolize their success.

The acronym SUSHI stands for Score Under Super High Intensity, and the Vikings used their run-and-gun style to capture their first Western Lakes Activities Association championship.

"The kids came up with it when we were at camp," coach Steve Emert said. "I thought they were kidding around. I asked them what it meant. They told me and they stuck to it all season."

Central captured its first league title since winning the old Inter-Lakes League 10 years ago with a 74-64 victory over Plymouth Salem in the WLAA final Saturday night at Northville.

"It's a tremendous thing for Walled Lake," Emert said. "I think this league is one of the toughest around the state. We had to combat a lot of things (lack of size being foremost), and we play with a lot of heart. To see them work so hard and have success, I'm happy for them."

BECAUSE THEY have only one tall player — junior center Chris MacFarlane — and a number of quick and talented guard types, the Vikings have successfully used a high-intensity, shoot-a-lot approach very well.

It worked for them again Saturday as Central raced to an early lead and then fought off Salem's comeback attempt, pulling away to its 17th victory in 20 games during the last four minutes. The Rocks are 13-7.

The Vikings had balanced scoring with five players and nearly six in double figures.

Steve Rabaut, who got his team rolling again after it stalled temporarily in the fourth quarter, led Central with 15 points — all from three-point field goals.

Ron Thompson added 13 points, MacFarlane and Eric Leaf 12 apiece, Mike Gluski 10 and Christian Emert eight.

"Our leading scorer (Leaf) is only averaging 13.8 points and we average 70 a ballgame," Emert said. "We have to (play that style). We don't have a real big team, but Mac does an excellent job considering he's our only big kid."

SENIOR MIKE Abraham scored a game-high 24 points for Salem, which had the calendar working against it. The Rocks have played in the WLAA championship game for six straight years, but they have never won in an even-numbered year while winning titles in 1987, 1989 and 1991.

Mike Slone chipped in 12 for Salem, Eric Stemmer 10 and Bobby Schneider seven while sophomore James Head was held to just four points.

"The kids had a great season, to graduate six seniors and come back to get a share of the division title and play in the championship game," Salem coach Bob Brodie said.

The Vikings were on the verge of a blowout victory when they jumped in front 21-18 in the first quarter, hitting nine of their first 10 shots and shooting 10 of 17.

But the Rocks worked at getting back in the game and were able to chip away at Central's huge lead, trailing 23-14 after one period, 35-28 at halftime and 49-48 following the third quarter.

"We expended a lot of energy trying to come back," Brodie said. "They jumped out with such ferocity, but it's a championship game and you have to play 32 minutes as hard as you can play."

"WE TRIED TO slow down our offense, but they keep coming after you, and that causes you to rush even when you don't want to."

"A lot of teams had trouble with them. They play hard for 32 minutes and throw a lot of bodies at you. You had better answer the call or you'll be in trouble."

Salem did take the lead early in the finale, Abraham scoring two baskets, Schneider one and Slone two free throws during an 8-2 run that put the Rocks up 60-59 with just over half the quarter remaining.

But the Vikings got their scoring touch back and tallied the next 10 while Salem went scoreless for almost three minutes.

A MacFarlane basket and Leaf free throw made it 62-60, and Rabaut hit back-to-back threes to all but decide the issue. Thompson made three free throws, Gluski two and Leaf one in the last 1 1/2 minutes.

"That's where our kids don't panic," Emert said. "If you hit a flat spot, you have to keep executing. We run into streaks where we score six, seven points real quick, so we have to work through the lulls and go to the next spurt."

"Steve didn't get rattled, and he stepped up and hit those threes. He's probably our best three shooter, but he was open more than I thought he would be tonight."

"We had a little lapse and they got hot again," Brodie said. "Against a good team like Central, it's hard if you have a mental lapse because they just come after you."

Both teams shot 42 percent from the floor, the Vikings making 26 of 62 shots and the Rocks 24 of 57.

Heard paces Chiefs past Hawks, 64-59

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Hal Heard is a major reason why Plymouth Canton has been so successful in boys basketball this year, and he demonstrated that again Saturday night at Northville High School.

The 6-foot-4 senior scored a game-high 23 points and hauled down 11 rebounds to lead the Chiefs to a 64-59 victory over Farmington Hills Harrison in the Western Lakes Activities Association consolation game.

"Hal has done a great job, but it was just a total team effort," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. "It's a very meaningful win for us, a great way to finish off the regular season."

Canton finished with a regular-season school record of 16 wins as opposed to four losses. The Hawks are 14-6.

"We're really proud of the season we just had," Van Wagoner said. "We're just thrilled with this win, because Harrison is a very good team. Our kids kept their composure, played smart basketball and made their free throws at the end."

HEARD, WHO is averaging 16 points and 11 rebounds, and Canton's ability to adapt on defense to everything the Hawks tried to do were the key factors in the game, according to Harrison coach Mike Teachman.

"We just couldn't stop (Heard)," he said. "We had good defensive position on him, but his individual ability allowed him to beat the defense. He feathers the ball to the basket and, if it's not all net, it's so soft it will drop." At the offensive end, the Hawks "ran just about every offense we had, and it would work for two or three times," Teachman added, "and then their defense would stop it."

Mike Stafford was next with 13 points for Canton, Derrick McDonald nine and Tony Coshatt seven. Paul Gilvydis scored 18 to pace the Hawks, who also got 11 from Andy Fitzpatrick, nine from Mike Pesci and seven from Duante Anderson.

Except for an 11-0 run that gave Harrison a 15-8 lead, the game was close all the way. Canton, which made its first four shots to lead 8-4, closed to within 17-16 after one quarter, led 35-34 at halftime and trailed 48-45 going into the finale.

Heard, who has a fluid post move in which he turns and flicks the ball toward the basket, scored consecutive deuces — on a turnaround shot and a rebound of a teammate's miss — to put Canton in front 58-57 with 2 1/2 minutes left.

PESCI, WHO had six points in the fourth quarter, got a putback to restore the lead to Harrison, but 6-7 guard Mike Brennan took a no-look pass from Coshatt underneath for a layup that put the Chiefs in front to stay with 1 1/2 minutes remaining, 60-59.

After an exchange of turnovers, the Hawks had a chance to go ahead, but Brennan blocked a Gilvydis shot in front of the basket. Heard and McDonald made two free throws each to secure the Canton victory.

"The turning point was our halftime discussion," Van Wagoner said. "We got after them about having pride in the program."

The coaches feel they have a lot of pride in the program, and we wanted to make sure the players did, too."

After shooting 14 of 34 in the first half, the Hawks made 11 of 30 in the second and hit 39 percent of their shots overall. Canton was 26 of 59 for 44 percent.

"I thought Heard was the difference," Teachman said, "and, secondly, their team defense really collapsed on us at the end and forced us to take some shots we shouldn't have been taking."

"We had one pass and tried to shoot the ball over two guys. In the third when we were successful, we were passing the ball better. Stafford hit some key shots, too. If he doesn't make them (from outside), we can collapse, too."

Morrison leads Spartans to 2nd WLAA title in row

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem coach Chuck Olson paid a high compliment to Livonia Stevenson swimmer Bryan Morrison when he observed that his last name includes the letters o-r-r-i-s.

The coincidence is especially fitting since Morrison broke one of the league records held by former Salem great Ron Orris in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship meet Friday night.

Furthermore, Morrison did the same as Orris had done for his team, winning two events and leading the Spartans to their second consecutive WLAA title and fourth in eight years.

Morrison, who also helped Stevenson set records in both freestyle relays, won the 500-yard freestyle in 4:43.96 and bettered the mark of 4:44.23 set three years ago by Orris.

"I thought I could do it before the race, but in the middle I had my doubts," Morrison said. "I just swam as hard as I could; I gave it my all."

MORRISON WOULDN'T go so far as to put himself in the same class with Orris, but the comparisons extend beyond being a double-winner and league record-holder. Morrison is tall and lean like Orris and bears some facial resemblance to the Michigan State University swimmer. "I don't know if he's quite Ron

swimming

Meet statistics, Page 3B

Orris, but he's definitely Bryan Morrison," Buckler said. "Bryan did what we knew he could do all year long."

The No. 5-ranked Spartans were season-long favorites to repeat as WLAA champs and virtually had the title clinched following the preliminaries Wednesday.

Stevenson set another WLAA record with its 561 1/2-point total and finished 139 ahead of runner-up North Farmington, (422 1/2). Plymouth Salem (400) moved up to third place after being seeded sixth at the start, edging Plymouth Canton (397) and Northville (324).

"You have to win this meet on Wednesday, and you have fun on Friday — and that's what we did," Stevenson coach Doug Buckler said. "We knew we couldn't lose the lead we had; we felt pretty confident."

"But until it's over, it's not quite satisfying. It is when you're presented with the trophy because it's the last time all of us are going to be together at the same swim meet or place in life."

Though North Farmington won more events — six to Stevenson's five — the Spartans won the meet with greater depth.

"OUR DEPTH IS what makes us a great swim team," Buckler said. "When you talk about great teams, we're one of the best."

"You're only as great as your senior leadership, and this team had it today. We lose 13 seniors, but good programs stay on top. We'll rebuild; we'll be there."

In addition to Morrison, the senior class includes captains Aaron Rieder, Aaron Carlisle, Rich Bennetts, Jeff Berens and Ben Boedigeimer. Buckler also cited the efforts of seniors Eric Peterson, Ryan Freeborn and Gordy Gatewood.

Stevenson was more than 100 points ahead entering the finals and had a much easier victory than a year ago when by 57 points over Northville.

"On the whole, nothing comes close to it," Rieder said. "It's just the greatest feeling in the world. There are always teams like Salem, so you have to be careful. You can't be too overconfident."

Morrison, who also was first in the 200 freestyle (1:44.08), Alex Goecke, Gatewood and Greg Priede won the 200 freestyle relay with a record-

● ROUND BALL CLASSIC

The Roundball Classic Spring Indoor 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament will take place April 4-5 in Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Fieldhouse in Ypsilanti.

Participants must be at least 8 years of age, boys and girls. Teams are matched with similar teams in age, size and talent levels. Trophies are awarded to the top two teams. Call 1-800-551-HOOP for more information.

● VOLLEYBALL TRYOUTS

Henry Ford Community College will hold fall season volleyball tryouts for prospective students from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday, March 15.

For more information, call coach Gary Gray at 427-6697.

● USA MAT TOURNEY

The 27th annual Michigan Wrestling Club Greco-Roman and Mid-winter Freestyle Classic Tournament will be held Sunday, March 29, at Garden City High School. This is an open tournament for all USA Wrestlers 18 and over. Cost is $15 per wrestler or $20 in Canadian funds.

Wrestlers from the Japan national team and some of the top teams from Canada and U.S. are expected to compete, according to Eric Hebestreit, vice president of the Michigan Wrestling Club. The action starts at 10 a.m.

Open registration will be from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 28, at the Royce Hotel, 31500 Wick Road in Romulus, near Metro Airport. Weigh-in will be from 4-6 p.m. Saturday. A junior tournament, for wrestlers in grades 9-12, is also planned.

Admission to watch cost $2 for students and $3 adults. For more information, call Eric Hebestreit at 425-0705.

Canton top candidate for Grammy

WAIT A MINUTE. We still need to pass out a few more Grammy Awards.

If Rap is a new category, then how about sending out some hardware to our district basketball hopefuls? Action across the state begins tonight. See tournament pairings.

Everybody in Observerland basketball is a nominee with the exception of Garden City United Christian, which completed its season Saturday in the Christian State Tournament.

We're talking MHSAA schools, as in the Michigan High School Athletic Association tourney.

But before we rock and roll, or as Roberta Flack sings, "Killing you softly with his song," it's time to rate the nominees. (Billboard Records through Friday.)

SAILING

Plymouth Canton (15-4): Christopher Cross (1980 hit song) believes the Chiefs are the area's most talented team and have the best shot at making the state quarterfinals in Class A. Losing in the semifinals of the Western Lakes playoffs may prove to be beneficial in a potential rematch with neighbor Salem.

DAYS OF WINES AND ROSES

Redford Catholic Central (15-4): Henry Mancini (1963) likes the combination of Chad Varga and Bobby Kummer. The Shamrocks don't have an easy district, but are playing at home and should pull through. They could also cause havoc in the Southfield regional. Last week's win over Detroit Northern may be a good omen for coach Bernie Holowicki.

A TASTE OF HONEY

Wayne Memorial (17-3): The Zebras have tournament experience and a fine coach (Chuck Henry) to make a strong run. Wayne should get through the Class A district at Garden City with no problem, but Herb Albert (1965) may be playing taps on his trumpets after Wayne draws Detroit Public School League champion Cooley in a first-round regional matchup.

MACK THE KNIFE

Plymouth Salem (13-6): According to Bobby Darin (1958), this young team is peaking at the right time and could be the most dangerous. The Rocks have a lot of weapons in sophomore James Head, along with the Stone brothers and junior transfer Bobby Schneider. Salem should give rival Canton another severe test.

BRIDGE OVER TROUBLED WATERS

Farmington Harrison (14-5): It hasn't been an easy season for coach Mike Teachman, whose team must face Western Lakes finalist Walled Lake Central on the road tonight. But the Hawks, with 6-foot-8 center Paul Gilvudis as the key, could be right in the thick of things by the end of the week. West Bloomfield is the favorite says Simon and Garfunkel (1970), but Harrison is the only team to beat the Lakers.

Redford Bishop Borgess (9-9): The Spartans are a young team and have played a Class A-type schedule. But they're now in Class C with Tuesday's regional opener against Royal Oak Shrine (14-6) and sharpshooter John Tillery as the lone obstacle to a district crown. Stay tuned.

STRANGERS IN THE NIGHT

Livonia Stevenson (10-9): One week this team is up, the next week it's down. "Old Blue Eyes," however, believes the Spartans have an excellent chance to reach the Class A district final Saturday at Novi with a victory against Northville. As old Frankie (1966 hit) would sing, "What are the chances?"

Westland John Glenn (10-9): Another hot and cold team that could rise to the occasion, particularly if the Rockets draw city rival Wayne in Friday's Class A district championship at Garden City. Sinatra says Glenn is hard to figure.

DON'T WORRY, BE HAPPY

Livonia Franklin (11-8): Who was picking out of the hat for the Patriots last week? This is a decent team on some nights, led by guard Keith Roberts and senior forward Russ Keberly. But drawing Wayne in Wednesday's semifinal round at Garden City is a fate worse than listening to another Bobby McFerrin (1988) tune.

LET THE SUNSHINE IN

Redford Union (10-9): The Panthers are a .500 team, but captured the North-west Suburban League crown. Senior Bill Malecki can score points in bunches. He's the first dimension (instead of fifth) in the Panthers' attack.

JUST THE WAY YOU ARE

North Farmington (8-12): Billy Joel (1978) says this team has lived up to its abilities all season under the capable coaching of Tom Negoshian. The Raiders missed the Western Lakes playoffs for the first time in six years, but gave formidable Walled Lake Central a rough time before being eliminated. Watch out next year, however, the Raiders' JV squad is 18-1.

Livonia Churchill (8-14): The Chargers beat North last week and have made some strides to the point where they can win their district opener tonight against host Garden City. Getting past second-round opponent Westland John Glenn is a tall order, but not impossible.

THIS MASQUERADE

Livonia Clarenceville (9-11): George Benson (1976) says the Trojans will still be alive in the tourney on Thursday, but only because they drew a first-round bye. Coach Rob White, however, is building for the future hoping some day his club can compete against the Shines and the Borgesses of the Class C world.

UP, UP AND AWAY

Farmington (3-16): First-year coach Denny Mikel did not get a break when his team drew West Bloomfield for tonight's district opener at Walled Lake Central. West Bloomfield is the real Fifth Dimension (1967) as all five can play as evidenced by a victory recently over Detroit Cody.

Redford Thurston (7-13): The Eagles

Shamrocks post victory

Senior center Chad Varga tallied 29 points Wednesday to lead Redford Catholic Central to a 63-59 non-league boys basketball win over visiting Detroit Northern.

OC (15-4) trailed 33-28 at half-time, but outscored the Huskies 16-11 in the third quarter and 19-15 in the fourth.

Senior forward Bob Kummer contributed 28 points for the Shamrocks.

Northern (11-3) received 21 points from senior center Kenny Patterson. Mike Wells and Leonard Bush added 12 and 10, respectively.

FAIRLANE CHRIST. 48, PLY. CHRISTIAN 47: Jason Neil's game-high 30 points were in vain Friday as Plymouth Christian (4-16) fell to host Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian (11-9).

Neil, a junior center, also pulled down 10 rebounds. Junior Larry McKinny scored 14 for the victorious Lions.

CHURCHILL 74, WESTERN 67: Senior guard Marcus Sarnovsky scored a game-high 18 points Friday to lead host Livonia Churchill to a Western Lakes Activities Association win over Walled Lake Western.

Senior guard Brian Johnson added 17 points for the Chargers (6-14). Senior guard Jermiah Karolak chipped in 14.

Senior forward Matt Engott tallied 17 for Western (3-17). Forward Vince Alexander contributed 12.

Stevenson ousts CC from tourney

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

The Livonia Stevenson hockey team beat Redford Catholic Central when it mattered most Thursday night.

Stevenson, which failed to defeat CC (or even score a goal) in two regular-season meetings, finally outlasted the Shamrocks, 4-2, in a Class A regional semifinal played at Redford Ice Arena. The win moved the Spartans into Saturday's regional final against Birmingham Brother Rice. (See related story.)

Stevenson coach Paul Ferguson said the victory showed how far the Spartans had come since losing (4-0) to and tying (0-0) CC during the regular season. The Spartans played a more physical game, which worked to their advantage, according to Ferguson.

Senior center Kit Mastroberto was the catalyst, scoring three goals, while senior Matt Corriveau had three assists.

"THE FIRST couple of times we didn't take the body but this time we took the body and it created turnovers in the offensive zone," Ferguson said. "I thought our defense played very well in our own end and also was able to keep the pressure on in the offensive end. It was a big part of our win."

For portions of the second period it looked as though both teams would have been better off leaving their sticks at home, what with all the grabbing and clutching going on. With 6:16 remaining in the second period and Stevenson ahead 2-0, CC's Bill Baaki rushed the Stevenson net and took a shot that was stopped by Spartans' goaltender Mike Williams.

Baaki and Stevenson left wing Chris Rennie received roughing penalties after the whistle, while CC's Bob Abbate and Stevenson's Doug Delvigna received five-minute fighting penalties and game disqualifications.

For the game, Stevenson was given 21 minutes in penalties, while CC earned 19 minutes in the penalty box.

"Once we started hitting them, they started throwing the puck around and running like chickens with their heads cut off," Stevenson junior forward Mike Schmidt said.

STEVENSON TOOK A 1-0 lead at 6:13 of the first period as senior right wing Anthony Flevaris beat CC goalie Mike Brusseau, with assists going to Corriveau and Mastroberto. The Spartans opened up a 2-0 lead at 8:30 of the second period when Mastroberto scored in the slot on assists from seniors Aaron Moorehouse and Scott Johnson.

Johnson was responsible for helping dig the puck out of the corner of CC's zone and keeping a Shamrocks' defenseman from helping out in the slot.

The Shamrocks closed to within 2-1 at 9:28 of the second period when winger Jeff Wollschlager took a nice pass from teammate Mike Giordano and blasted a shot from 25-feet past Williams. But Stevenson responded less than two minutes later with Mastroberto's second goal, off assists from Flevaris and Corriveau, for a 3-1 lead.

"Defensively, we weren't there," CC coach Jack Gumbleton said. "We just didn't play with intensity like we should have. We weren't there mentally and we wore down physically. They were a better team tonight."

TO THE SHAMROCKS' credit, they didn't give up. With CC on the power play, Baaki split the Stevenson defense and scored on a backhander despite being pulled down with only 26 seconds gone in the third period.

The Spartans regained a two-goal lead, however, when Mastroberto scored on assists from Corriveau and Frank Eupizi at 12:24. Mastroberto wanted to deflect some of the praise to his teammates, like senior captain Kevin Bush, who played despite a sore back.

"We didn't care who got the goals," said Mastroberto, the regular-season Prep Suburban Hockey League leading scorer. "We came out as a team and worked hard. A lot of guys were hurting but everyone came out and played."

Craig Steshetz of fourth-place Canton finished sixth in the 100-yard breast stroke and also was third in the 50 freestyle Friday in the WLAA swimming finals.

Spartans repeat as swim champs

breaking time of 1:29.09. Northville set the previous standard two years ago (1:29.89).

The Stevenson foursome of Jeff Buckler, Gatewood, Rieder and Morrison eclipsed a North Farmington record by winning the 400 freestyle in 3:17.04. The Raiders posted a 3:17.12 time in 1986.

Goecke broke his own record while winning the breaststroke in 1:00.03. The three-time WLAA champion in that event went 1:01.60 last year and bettered that in the preliminaries with a 1:01.16.

"He has never lost the breaststroke in the league and he's only a junior," Buckler said. "He's another one of those great kids."

"I was real happy after breaking it in the prelims, and I felt I could do it again tonight," Goecke said, adding he plans on breaking it again next year.

North Farmington, ranked No. 7 in the state, also had a double winner in senior Chris Knoche, who usually swims the 200 and 500 freestyles but was first in the 50 and 100 races.

"He's very versatile," North coach Susie Gendron said, "but this year he happened to be needed in the 50 and he went crazy. He swam great."

The Raiders set the first of five records in the medley relay as Jonathan Kershaw, Adam Kammer, Mike Drelles and Knoche combined for a 1:38.72 time and broke the record (1:39.84) they set in the prelims.

Drelles also won the butterfly, Karl Kozicki the individual medley and Kershaw the backstroke.

"THE KIDS SWAM phenomenally," Gendron said. "I guess it's even more than I thought (it would be). I'm real proud of them."

"The big meet is next weekend, and they'll be ready to roll. They're right where they should be now, and I expect some big things at the state meet."

Salem had the only other winner — Steve Salhaney in diving — but made a strong showing in the preliminaries and held its ground in the finals.

"(The Salem swimmers) were a little disappointed with their performance tonight, but I don't know what else they could have done Wednesday," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "They did everything we expected of them."

"We knew we were going to have to do it with two, three and four swimmers per event. For us to do what we did was real nice. Some of the younger guys got a lot of experience, and we're going to be a better team for it."

'Being Born' is harvest of good music

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Many hours spent on the road as a rock'n'roll performer usually produces its fair share of cynicism, bitterness and caustic wit.

Then there is Livonia native Terry Farmer and The Bead Band, which endure their muse with the merry disposition of a folk troubadour.

Few outfits can match the yeoman's schedule of gigs The Bead Band has performed in the past two years. The group has trekked across the country, playing everywhere from Los Angeles to distant outposts in South Sioux City, Iowa, and Marquette, Mich.

On "Busy Being Born," the Bead Band's new 12-song release on Studio City, Calif.-based MCR Music, a communal, mystical spirit pervades throughout the folk-pop effort, featuring pristine three-part harmonies and an array of tight musical arrangements.

There's not about the worship of false deities. Rather it's personal reaffirmation of man's oneness with his environment and belief in the magic of the human soul.

Of course, if you don't get caught up in this microbiotic diet induced enthusiasm you'll at least appreciate the musical depth of "Busy Being Born."

Farmer, who also performed with surf music duo Jan & Dean, summons an immediate effortless feel to this release. His vocals are heartfelt, tender in songs such as the acoustical renderings of "Words of a Man."

THEN THERE are the flawless harmonies by band members David Perample, Mike Buhagiar, Todd Glass and Ewalt Von Kuske, which seemingly sanctify the spiritual euphoria expressed here.

A majority of the numbers stay within the realm of folk, rock and pop, though the jaunty song "Larosh" has a Hawaiian Don Ho meets Musical Youth feel to it. The cello in "Words of a Man" provided by bassist Von Kuske culls a sense of classical drama.

As a songwriter, Farmer's strength (and occasional downfall) is a penchant to sum up a wealth of feelings in a simple simile. This can leave him to draw comparisons to validate the metaphor rather than fully exploring the emotions behind them.

To this end, the atmospheric references almost become a crutch in numbers such as "Seven Days of Thunder" and "Song for You" ("... I'd call the thunder to sound for you/Dance for the rains to wash us clean").

"This is Your Ride" is where Farmer makes a statement about the need of accepting the chaotic curves of life and forging ahead. There, the metaphoric approach works splendidly. (MCR Music, 12438 Moorpark, No. 106, Studio City, Calif. 91604)

"ITCHIN'." See Dick Run: Perennial area club favorites, these pop-meisters of the simple, indelible variety deal five more songs here. While true to form — impeccable harmonies, flawless instrumentation — SDR appear merely content to stay nestled comfortably in the bar band realm of influence.

The proper themes are covered: Female vanity ("Extra Mile"); misguided love ("Some Other Time") and love out of convenience ("Stay Together") as well as employment apathy ("I Hate My Job"). Of course, proving they're cognizant of the environment in which they excel, the four man outfit humorously, and aptly chronicles a typical pick-up scene in "Shiftn' into Love Gear."

Perhaps there's something to be said for knowing your limitations and not trying to exceed them. (Elementary Records, 213 E. Windemere, Royal Oak 48073).

"Happy As Clams," Happy As Clams: Quite an ambitious progressive pop effort here as this band tries to cover a wide variety of styles (inflections of R&B and jazz are discernible), and qualify it with some social/political relevant lyrics. "Mr. Clean" tries to burrow deep into the psyche of a homicidal mind while "Color the Sky" attempts to grapple with the ramifications of an ever-changing world.

That aside, this self-titled release is marred at times by production. For example, the drummer sounds like he's beating right on top of your chest. That doesn't lend itself to the many subtleties Happy As Clams' music has to offer. They certainly deserve to be heard.

Therapy exposes the truth

Dear readers,
The following question and response is the beginning of a two-part series on psychotherapy. This is a topic upon which volumes have been written. I hope that everyone reading it will get at least a flavor for why it has become so important a part of our culture.
Barbara

Dear Ms. Schiff,
I am a 28-year-old female. I have a wonderful, supportive husband and 2-month-old daughter.

I was raised in a family where my father abused my mother, but neither my sister nor I was ever hit. After growing up and moving out, we questioned Mom over and over again, "Why don't you leave him?" Her answer was always that she was afraid he would kill her.

Well, that's exactly what he did when she finally got up the nerve to leave. He shot her to death and then committed suicide 18 months ago. Although I remember almost nothing, I am the one who discovered the bodies.

I never went to counseling because I feel I'm a very educated, self-sufficient woman and I really don't feel there is anything a therapist could tell me that I can't figure out for myself. Although money is not really an issue, I don't need to pay someone to give advice and to tell me several hundred dollars later that I'm OK! And I don't need any more support than I already find from my friends and family.

I have three questions for you. Why can't I remember the murder scene? Obviously, it must have been so horrible that my brain is protecting itself by blacking out, but I find myself going back to that day and straining to see things. I dream about it occasionally and think about it constantly because I'm frustrated by not being able to remember it. Amnesia or hysteria (or whatever you would call it) is not something I've ever experienced and I do not like it — it's so frustrating!

What do you think therapy would have to offer someone in my situation? I've been told several times by people (most I'd consider do not know me or my situation well enough to offer advice) that I should go to counseling. What is it that draws people to therapy in threes? Are people that deficient or lonely that they need to go to a stranger to find the answers that are there for them to find by themselves, if they just look hard enough?

What do I tell my daughter when she comes of age to question how Gramma and Grampa died? I never want to hide the truth from her about anything but how can a child process this information? How do I round out the edges so that I tell the truth but so it doesn't scare her? I want her to find a grandfather who had the potential for love, not the monster he turned out to be in the end.

REVIEWS

ROBERT NOLL/BLUES MISSION — Robert Noll/Blues Mission

Studio albums have been problematic for some blues artists. The sterile environment of the studio or an over-indulgent producer have rendered more than one release rather lifeless.

Then there is Robert Noll, the guitar-slinging expatriate of Albert Collins' Icebreakers and Big Twist's Mellow Fellows. The Livonia native's self-titled solo release is highly representative of his vast talent as a blues guitarist. More than that, however, he largely succeeds in creating the proper mood for a quorum of blues expression.

When Noll tears into "Cool Zone," a number featuring an array of searing guitar licks, one can almost visualize the perspiration, the contorted facial expressions and, most of all, the desperation. The emotion, the soul is all there on display.

Years of performing as a sideman and as a headliner have undoubtedly served Noll well. "Robert Noll/Blues Mission" features a juxtaposition of styles throughout the 11-song release, gravitating between each with relatively ease.

He handles a roadhouse rave-up such as "Hug Yer Baby" with indelible charm and can carve deep into the realm of disparity in "Fade My Blues" while "Deep Freeze" borders on Hendrix-esque psychedelic induced guitar fuzz.

On "Deep Freeze," a number recorded in 1986, Noll is backed up by both the Icebreakers and the Mellow Fellows. A majority of songs features Will Leonard on drums, Tom MacGuigan on bass and Eddie Harsch on piano and synthesizer along with the Sun Messengers Horn Section.

The diversity in musical styles is to be lauded, but it's the resonant growl and unrelenting guitar attacks in numbers such as "Fade My Blues" that reveal an artist who pours himself into his craft.

Noll may expel pain and woe better than anyone. The notes that roll off his electric guitar more than galvanize an enduring spirit.

Therapy can expose reality

I am interested in your answers to these questions and hope I haven't insulted you by poo-pooing therapy. I just feel that far too much emphasis is put on it.
Thank you.

B.

Dear B.,

Thank you for writing this letter. You have brought up many fascinating issues. I welcome the opportunity to discuss them.

First, these are terrible tragedies you have lived through. Your response is courageous.

Second, I want to address your observations and questions about therapy. It is with good reason that many people believe, as you do, that therapy is a place where people who make excuses for their feelings are supported and babied. Too often therapy is done this way albeit by well-intentioned, good-hearted therapists.

Your comments make me think that you know people who have been pandered to in therapy, and that you do not know the others, those whose eyes have been opened so they can no longer lie to themselves. At its best, therapy allows truth and reality to surface. It does not give safe haven to lies, rationalizations and excuses.

That does not mean that therapy is for everyone. Many people are adequately reality-bound and invigorated to cope without professional help. Often it is the support from friends and family that makes this possible. But for others, there are deficient coping skills and/or so horrible a reality that feelings of peace are not possible.

In your situation, the reality is so traumatic that it is expected that help would be required. If you suffered a physical trauma, you would not hesitate to seek medical help even though you are well educated and self-sufficient.

You have partially answered your first question yourself. You cannot remember the murder scene because the memories are traumatic. They are so traumatic that you fear the feelings they might cause. By blocking out the memories you are able to avoid these feelings. But the mind works in such a way that it also keeps trying to solve problems.

Thus the memories threaten to emerge so that they can be resolved, and at the same time, your mind defends against them (and the feelings they would cause) by forgetting. This is one of the paradoxes all of us must live with. You cannot feel relief until you can fully recover these memories and resolve the feelings they will cause.

I understand your negative attitude regarding therapy. Many people begin therapy with such an attitude, but as time goes on and when they find someone they can trust, then that attitude vanishes as they are coping better with life. Therapy provides a safe place where the frightening feelings I have been talking about can surface. When this happens, people find welcome relief. As friends see them functioning more effectively, they want that relief.

Your belief that people can find the answers they need if they will expend adequate effort is inaccurate. No one of us possesses the objectivity required to accomplish this task. No matter what you think to yourself, until you speak it to another and it is responded to by another, it is not reality. As I have said, sometimes a friend can provide this, but in your case, the trauma requires a well-trained professional. You and your therapist would not be strangers to each other for long.

You are right not to lie to your daughter. If you can come to a resolution with this, then she will, too. She will process the information as you do.

Again, I understand how you feel, how frightening it must be to you to understand a part of your experiences that have been so tragic. I sincerely wish that you could do it yourself, but just like the Vietnam War veterans who suffer from post-traumatic shock disorder, you need help facing these horrid memories.

Thank you for having the courage to express how you feel in your letter. I am not insulted that you have expressed misgivings about therapy but rather I appreciate your honesty. I look forward to some later communication from you to help our readers work through their own problems, with help when necessary.

Sean Young plays twin sisters, one murdered by Matt Dillon and the other bent on proving it, in "A Kiss Before Dying."

Script is a kiss of death for 'A Kiss Before Dying'

What do you get when you mix good actors with a thin script, weak direction and a thriller without tension? Writer-director James Dearden's deservedly little seen 1991 film "A Kiss Before Dying."

Matt Dillon plays a young man from the wrong side of the tracks, literally. We see him as a small boy staring out the window of his modest home as the trains rumble by. The story flashes forward to find him as a preppy looking student on the University of Pennsylvania campus.

It would seem things are going well for Dillon, he has a stylish blonde fiancée, played by Sean Young, the daughter of a wealthy industrialist. But he seems obsessed with keeping their relationship a secret, reminding Young that her father used a private investigator to check into her last boyfriend.

Young, who leaves him waiting while she stops to buy news shoes that better match her outfit, makes it clear that part of what attracts her to Dillon is that marrying him will aggravate her father.

Well, Dillon certainly doesn't want to aggravate his future father-in-law and he really doesn't want to pass the popcorn

marry a disinherited heiress. Break off the engagement or try to smooth things over with dad? Nah. Dillon uses a rooftop terrace at a high rise, deserted for lunch hour, to resolve his romantic entanglement.

THE ILL-FATED heiress has a twin sister, played by a dark-haired Sean Young, who doesn't agree with the police conclusion that her sister committed suicide. I mean really, who buys brand new shoes on the way to kill herself.

Young starts trying to prove that her sister was murdered. Her prime lead ends up dead while she waits for him in his car. End of story and Young goes back to her life as a social worker in New York.

Dillon also turns up in New York, with a new identity and Young as his new girlfriend. You never see how this relationship came about but apparently they worked together. Unlike her twin, this sister wants a man with social conscience and commitments so that's what Dillon is offering this time.

After three murders, Young starts thinking that there is something fishy with her new husband but nobody else seems to see a pattern. That's probably because there is no real threat or menace even implied in Dillon's character. He's kind of smarmy and definitely a liar, which also goes pretty much unnoticed.

Even as he is dispatching people who could tie him to the first murder, you don't get any idea there's a chance he'll get caught. The police aren't looking for any suspects, leaving only Young's half-hearted investigation efforts.

Smirnoff readies for trip to CIS

Russian emigre-comedian Yakov Smirnoff, will returning to his homeland at the behest of the U.S. State Department, but not before a two-night engagement at the Mainstreet Comedy Showcase in Ann Arbor Thursday and Friday.

Smirnoff will act as a goodwill ambassador, escorting a shipment of food and supplies to the Commonwealth of Independent States at month's end.

Because of the problems in properly distributing the supplies, Smirnoff's goal is to organize Russian youth to help make sure items intended for hospitals and facilities for children end up there rather than on the black market.

The disarray in distribution and widespread corruption has necessitated providing observers like Smirnoff to escort donations from private and U.S. government relief organizations all the way to the intended users.

This will mark the second time Smirnoff has returned to his homeland since leaving with his parents in 1978.

A native of Odessa, Ukraine, Smirnoff made a comedic name for himself in what was then the Soviet Union, working on Black Sea cruise ships and in concerts throughout the country. But with his success came government attention, and he jokes that his material had to be "scrutinized annually by the Department of Jokes."

Naturalized a U.S. citizen in 1986 during the re-dedication ceremonies for the Statue of Liberty, Smirnoff broke into comedy in the U.S. when he performed at open-microphone night at the Comedy Store in Los Angeles in 1979.

By 1984, he was appearing at major comedy clubs throughout the U.S. and showing up in commercials for Best Western Hotels and Miller Lite. He also had a co-starring role in the syndicated comedy series "What a Country!" and appeared with Robin Williams in the film "Moscow on the Hudson."

Smirnoff will be perform at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. both nights at the Mainstreet Comedy Showcase, 314 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Reserve tickets are $22.50 each and are available by calling 996-9080.

Syrup harvest begins

All it took was the 'ol groundhog crawling out of his hole and seeing his shadow. Forecasting six more weeks of winter.

MEANWHILE, NORTH American maple syrup makers are getting ready to begin "suckin' the sap" and turning out pure maple syrup faster than ever to meet the demand.

Collecting of the sap commences in the spring when warm days begin to follow cool nights, causing the sap of the sugar maple to flow. During the winter, some of the starch that the tree made the previous summer and stored in its roots is converted to sugar.

PRIMARILY, THE sap contains four to 10 percent sugar. Collected sap is boiled to concentrate the sugar and produce the characteristic flavor. Maple syrup is esteemed for its sweet taste and "maple" flavor. Interestingly, the maple flavor of the syrup is not present in the sap, but develops during the boiling.

Harvesting sap from the "sugar bush" — the strands of maple trees — is a rather picturesque operation in many places. Quebec is the world's leading maple syrup producer, converting more than 60 million gallons of sap into more than 30 million gallons of syrup yearly.

THE UNITED STATES' production will be lucky to tap off two million gallons, which will be made by small independent producers and sold as "tourist items."

To collect the running sap, holes are drilled into the tree about two to three inches deep, about three feet above the ground. The number of holes depends on the size of the tree — larger trees sport four to five holes.

Into each hole, a metal spout is fitted and a collection pail is hung below the spout. Each day, the accumulation of sap is collected from the pails, poured into a larger tank, and hauled by sled or wagon to the sugarhouse.

A more modern method of collecting the sap involves a system of plastic pipelines which transports the sap from a hole tapped into a tree to the sugarhouse. Regardless of the method of collection, a good maple tree will yield 15 to 40 gallons of sap in a single season.

Procession occurs in the sugarhouse. It is here that the sap is strained and then placed in shallow pans (evaporators) over wood, oil or gas fires. As the sap boils, the water evaporates.

When the sugar concentration reaches 66.5 percent, it is drawn off, filtered and bottled as maple syrup. Maple sugar is produced by further boiling and evaporation of most of the water.

One gallon of syrup yields about eight pounds of sugar. An old-fashioned treat enjoyed by those making maple syrup is called "jack wax," a taffy-like confection formed by pouring the hot syrup into a mound of clean snow. The syrup hardens into a stringy treat and is usually made with the first "draw" of the syrup.

A SINGULAR harbinger of spring, maple syrup is also a unique cooking ingredient. It's gift of unrefined sweetness and rich flavor in both liquid and sugar forms, turns hams and potatoes into a regal dish, infusing bread and cake with character. It even tastes great from the can or bottle when poured over ice cream.

If you think you have to venture to Quebec or New England to observe the making of real maple syrup, you might be surprised to find small orchards within driving distance in Troy and Bloomfield Hills, (see related story).

Maple syrup makers sap-happy

By Geri Rinschler
special writer

THE SKUNK cabbage is blooming, and the days are getting warmer. The nights, hopefully, will stay just below freezing.

ASK SUSAN Raymer, a naturalist at the Lloyd A. Stage, outdoor education center in Troy, and she'll explain "that these are all indications the maple trees are ready to be tapped."

She, along with other naturalists and maple sugar makers in southern Michigan, are getting ready to collect the sap to make maple syrup, sugar, and cream.

A TRULY authentic North American luxury, maple syrup is usually collected in Michigan in March during what is described as the first thaw and continues for four to five weeks until the first leaf buds appear.

"At this point, the sap will carry a substance which will give the syrup a harsh flavor," said Raymer.

As the outdoor education center begins its 10th annual Maple Syrup Time, the public is invited to watch the process from tree to syrup, as well as taste the final product, (see related story inside).

PURE MAPLE syrup is made in the northeastern United States, and southeastern Canada as it has been for over 100 years.

The equipment in most places has been updated except in Dearborn at Greenfield Village where sap is gathered as it would have been in the 1880s at the historic Firestone farmhouse.

"The Village workers will go out dressed in period costumes in horse-drawn wagons and pour the sap into wooden barrels," said Margaret Johnson, the museum's regional media specialist.

At the Village, they only use traditional methods and tools, she said. The metal taps or spiles used were reproduced in the Village for the process.

Beginning Wednesday, March 18, the sap will be collected, poured into an apparatus at the farm for skimming the residue, then brought into the farmhouse for cooking down into syrup.

The finished product is then poured into canning jars and stored to be used in cooking throughout the year.

The naturalists at the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills have been making maple syrup and maple sugar for 19 years.

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/staff photographer

Maura Lobos, a naturalist at the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills, collects sap to make maple syrup. The insti-

IF YOU'D like to learn how to identify the various maple trees, and hike through the sugar bush (the group of trees being tapped as a crop for producing syrup), visit the Cranbrook Institute of Science during Maple Syrup Festival, Saturdays and Sundays through March 22.

Naturalists will discuss the history of syrup making and demonstrate the process.

"About 100 taps are set up in the sugar bush," said Maura Lobos, naturalist. Besides sugar maples, they will tap a few Norway Maples, Black Walnut and Box Elder trees.

"The weather plays an important role in syrup making," said Lobos. "The sugar content is generally the highest during the first run."

The early syrups are the lightest in color because of the high sugar content, she added. This is a labor intensive crop to harvest and process. On the average, 40 gallons of sap will yield only one gallon of syrup.

NOW, IF you're thinking about trying this at home, there are a few things you should know before you begin. Although any maple tree can be tapped, you'll need to tap at least four to five trees to collect enough syrup for pancakes.

tute's annual Maple Syrup Festival runs Saturdays and Sundays through March 22.

"About one gallon of collected sap will yield about ¼ cup of maple syrup," said Raymer. "Cooking down the sap will take several hours, and the sap must be cooked to 7 degrees past the boiling point using a candy thermometer."

"When it reaches the point of syrup, it must then be removed from the heat immediately. If the syrup is left unattended for a moment, it can easily cause a fire."

If you're still game, metal spiles for tapping trees and a booklet on how to make maple syrup are available for purchase in the gift shop at the Cranbrook Institute of Science along with maple syrup and maple candy.

The delicate flavor of maple syrup enhances a variety of recipes which require a sweetener such as muffins, custards and cakes.

You can use syrup in place of honey to glaze a ham, or drizzle it over apples in place of brown sugar before baking.

But when I asked the naturalists interviewed for their favorite maple syrup recipe, they all agreed, "over ice cream."

no surprise that it was the third place winner of the National Community Cookbook Award in the 1991 Tabasco Community Cookbook Awards Competition.

THANKS IN part to Balthazar Korab's magnificent color photographs of Cranbrook House and its surrounding gardens, the book is visually appealing and filled with delicious recipes that are bound to whet your appetite as well as enhance your culinary repertoire.

Included in the hard cover cookbook are recipes for two of the auxiliary's most popular gift items at their twice yearly plant sales, Michigan Navy Bean Soup/Mix and Fragrant Tussy Mussypotpourri. As a special reminder, be sure to mark your calendar for their upcoming spring plant sale May 13 and 14.

This week's Winner Dinner, submitted by Joan West, consists of recipes taken from the cookbook. Selected with ease and elegance in mind, her menu for marinated pork loin, roasted rosemary potato slices, and Bloomfield Winter Salad, achieves both objectives, and is ideal for entertaining or a special dinner.

West, a resident of Orchard Lake for 21 years, is married and the mother of four grown children. She worked at Standard Federal Bank for 14 years as a savings counselor and retired two years ago. Now, her many activities keep her busier than ever.

A PAST director of the Christ Church Cranbrook Altar Guild, West is currently treasurer of the organization. She previously worked as a volunteer at Beaumont Hospital, and

WINNER DINNER

Recipes

MARINATED PORK LOIN
(serves 4)

2 pounds pork loin, trimmed

• Marinade

2 large cloves of garlic, minced

1 teaspoon coarse (kosher) salt

1 tablespoon thyme

1 tablespoon basil

2 teaspoons sugar

parsley

cayenne pepper

1 tablespoon Dijon mustard

1 tablespoon oil

1 teaspoon vinegar

Mix all the marinade ingredients until well blended. Spread over pork loin in a nonaluminum pan.

Cover with plastic wrap.

Refrigerate 12 hours to 2 days:

Return to room temperature before baking. Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Roast until internal temperature measures 150

degrees, approximately 1½ hours, or 160 degrees for no pinkness.

Transfer to cutting board, cover with foil, and let rest 15 minutes before slicing. Deglaze roasting pan with one-half cup water. Bring to boil, thicken with flour and water mixture.

ROASTED ROSEMARY

POTATO SLICES

(serves 4)

5 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted

4 russet (baking) potatoes

(about 1½ pounds), scrubbed

1 teaspoon coarse (kosher) salt

1 teaspoon crumbled dried rosemary (or 2 teaspoons finely chopped fresh) freshly ground pepper to taste

Preheat oven to 425 degrees.

Pour half the butter into an 8-inch baking pan, making sure it covers the entire bottom. Cut the potatoes into one-quarter-inch-thick slices. In the pan, layer the potatoes in separate rows, overlapping the slices slightly. Sprinkle with salt, rosemary, and pepper. Drizzle the remaining butter over the potatoes. Bake in the middle of the oven, turning each row once with a long thin spatula, for 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until they are crisp and golden.

BLOOMFIELD

(serves 6)

• Dressing:

¼ cup sugar

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon aprika

1 teaspoon c. y mustard

¼ teaspoon pepper

¼ cup fresh lemon juice

1 teaspoon celery seed

1 tablespoon diced onion

1 large or 2 medium cloves of garlic

2 tablespoons honey

¼ cup light vegetable oil

Combine all ingredients in a blender and mix until smooth.

Makes 1½ cups of salad dressing.

Extra dressing, stored in the refrigerator, keeps for weeks.

• Salad:

1 head romaine lettuce, washed,

dried, torn into pieces

2 oranges, peeled and cut into sections without pith

1 grapefruit, peeled and cut into sections without pith

garlic salt, to taste

salt and pepper, to taste

1 red onion, peeled and thinly sliced

1 ripe avocado, peeled and

sliced

Toss together romaine lettuce, oranges, and grapefruit. Sprinkle salad with a little garlic salt, salt and pepper. Toss with salad dressing. Arrange red onion rings and avocado wedges on top of salad.

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup pure maple syrup
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs
Sift together:
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix ingredients as listed until well blended. Bake at 350 F. for 20-25 minutes. Makes 1 1/2 dozen muffins

MAPLE BARS

1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup flour
1 cup rolled oats

1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup soft shortening
1/2 cup pure maple syrup
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup coconut

Mix all of the ingredients thoroughly. Spread in 8-by-8-inch square greased pan. Bake at 350 F. for 30 to 35 minutes. While warm, cut into squares.

MAPLE POPCORN NUT CANDY

Boil together:
1 tablespoon butter
3 tablespoons water
1 cup maple syrup

Boil until forms soft ball in cold (not ice) water.
Add
3 quarts popped corn (or mixed cereal) and nuts

Stir briskly until mixture coats popped corn evenly. Continue stirring until cools, when each morsel will be separately coated.

MAPLE APPLE CRUNCH

8 to 10 graham crackers
1/2 cup soft butter
4 apples
1/2 cup maple syrup

Place crackers on waxed paper and roll with a rolling pin, or crush in blender. Mix butter thoroughly with crumbs. Slice apples. Butter casserole and place apples in bottom. Pour maple syrup over apples.

Sprinkle cracker mixture over top. Bake at 325 F. for 25 minutes. Top with whipped cream or ice cream.

Serves 6.

Where to watch sap tappers

You don't have to travel far to get a firsthand look at maple syrup making.

THE LLOYD A. Stage Outdoor Education Center, 6685 Coolidge, in Troy, is celebrating Maple Syrup Time, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 14 and March 21.

Reservations are essential and can be made by calling 524-3567 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Tours last about one hour. There is no charge.

CRANBROOK INSTITUTE of Science's Maple Syrup Festival runs 1-4:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays through March 22. Institute visitors will get their first taste of sugaring during a slide show presentation, then go on a guided tour of the sugar bush to see how trees are tapped, and get a chance to taste real maple syrup candy. The tour lasts about 1 1/2 hours.

Syrup-making activities are included in the museum admission of $4 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and children (ages 3 to 17). The Cranbrook Institute of Science is at 500 Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills. For more information, call 645-3200.

VILLAGE WORKERS, dressed in period costumes, will collect sap from maple trees at Greenfield Village beginning Wednesday, March 18. The sap will be brought to the Firestone farmhouse for skimming the residue and cooking. Visitors are welcome to visit the farm to watch the process.

Greenfield Village is at 20900 Oakwood in Dearborn. Village hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. everyday. Admission is adults, $11.50, seniors, $10.50, youth, $5.75. An annual pass for unlimited admission to the Village and Henry Ford Museum is $25, adults, youth five-12, $12.50. For more information, call 271-1620.

Savor the flavor of syrup

See Larry Janes' taste buds column on Taste front.

MAPLE SYRUP MOUSSE

(serves 6)
1 cup pure maple syrup
3 eggs, separated
1 pint whipping cream

Heat maple syrup to a boil, reduce heat and boil, stirring constantly for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and cool for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks into a small bowl until thick and lemon-colored. Stir 1/4 cup of the syrup into the yolks very gradually, then add the mixture to the remaining syrup. Cook and stir over low heat until thick, about 15 minutes. Cool 30 minutes. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into cooled syrup mixture. Whip 1 pint of cream and fold into syrup mixture. Cover and freeze at least 3 hours. Spoon into individual dessert dishes.

MAPLE SAUSAGE AND APPLES

(serves 4)
1 pound pork sausage links
1 cup pure maple syrup
1/2 cup white vinegar
4 apples, cored and cut into rings
Fry sausage in a large skillet until golden, about 20 minutes. Drain. Meanwhile, heat syrup and vinegar in a medium saucepan to a boil. Reduce heat, stir in apple rings, simmer uncovered over low heat until apples are tender-crisp, about 5 minutes. Remove apple rings, arrange on a platter with sausages, pour syrup mixture over the top and serve immediately with pancakes or waffles.

MAPLE SYRUP HAM

(serves 10)
1 smoked ham, about 7 pounds
1 quart apple juice
1 cup maple syrup
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup golden raisins

Heat ham, apple juice and syrup in a large casserole or Dutch oven, cover and simmer for 2 1/2 hours. Trim outer skin from ham. Measure cooking liquid and return 1 cup of the liquid to Dutch oven. Reserve 3 cups of the liquid. Whisk flour and mustard into 1 cup of the liquid in the Dutch oven. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until smooth. Add raisins and 3 cups of the reserved liquid to this mixture. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and bubbly for about 10 minutes. Serve with ham and baked sweet potatoes.

Chicken fajitas tasty dish

AP — Fajitas are a Mexican or Tex-Mex dish traditionally made with strips of thin, marinated beef cooked and wrapped in a flour tortilla with vegetables, cheese and sour cream.

In the following recipe, strips of chicken are combined with cheese and vegetables, seasoned with chili powder, turmeric and cumin. The sour cream is omitted.

Top with finely chopped green onions, chopped red bell peppers, or chopped green or black olives, if desired. The filling can also be served over rice or noodles, with black beans or a green salad.

CHEESY CHICKEN FAJITA

1 tablespoon chili powder
1 teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon cumin
6 ounces Jarlsberg Lite cheese, shredded (about 1 cup, loosely packed)
One 4-ounce jar chopped pimentos, drained
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 to 3 large cloves garlic, minced
2 cups thinly sliced onion (about 3 medium onions)
2 cups chopped green bell pepper (about 2 large peppers)
1 pound chicken breast, cut in 1 1/2-by-2-inch strips
1 1/2 cup white wine or chicken broth or unsweetened apple juice
1 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
Flour tortillas

Mix chili powder, turmeric and cumin; toss well with cheese. Mix in pimentos, cover and set aside.

In a non-stick pan, heat olive oil and saute garlic until golden. Add onion and pepper; cook until vegetables begin to brown and soften, about 5 minutes. Remove to a bowl.

Add chicken strips to pan and cook, stirring, until done, about 4 minutes. Return vegetables to pan. Add wine, broth or juice and cook until liquid is nearly evaporated.

Remove from heat, add cheese mixture and stir until cheese begins to melt. Serve immediately with flour tortillas for rolling up fajitas. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Meatless rice dishes quick, easy, healthy

Looking for great-tasting, light and healthy meatless meals that are quick and easy to serve? Look to rice to point the way.

High in the energy-giving complex carbohydrates nutrition experts tell us we need to eat more often and with virtually no fat or sodium, rice can help us to eat leaner and healthier and while satisfying our appetites and tastes.

Add a south-of-the-border accent to a quick-to-fix dinner with Mexi-Beans and Rice, a richly flavored blend of black beans, tomatoes, onion and lively seasonings served over cumin-flavored rice. With all of the great flavors of Mexican food but without the high fat content those foods frequently have, this mildly spicy dish is a real crowd pleaser.

Bring the flavored flavors of sunny Italy to the table with Italian Vegetable Rice Pizza. A colorful combination of eggplant, tomato and zucchini arranged over a cheesy "crust" of rice with a pizza sauce topping, the eye-catching dish is ready to serve in short order. Hearty and satisfying, each serving has only 290 calories.

For additional light and healthy recipes, Uncle Ben's, Inc., has created a new recipe folder available free. "Light and Healthy Eating — The Winning Edge" contains great-tasting recipes, nutrition information and guidelines for selecting the right rice for every occasion.

MEXI-BEANS AND RICE

- Vegetable cooking spray
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (16 ounces) black beans or pinto beans, rinsed and drained
- 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) no salt added stewed tomatoes, undrained
- 1 can (8 ounces) whole tomatoes, undrained, chopped
- 1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon red pepper flakes
- 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano, crushed
- 2 1/4 cups Uncle Ben's Brand Rice In An Instant
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper

Chopped fresh cilantro (optional)

Spray large non-stick skillet with cooking spray; heat over medium heat. Saute onion and garlic until tender, about 2 minutes. Stir in beans, tomatoes, chili powder, 1 teaspoon of the cumin, red pepper flakes, salt and oregano. Bring to a boil; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Stir in green pepper; simmer uncovered 5 minutes. Meanwhile, cook rice according to package directions omitting butter and adding remaining cumin. Place rice on serving plate; top with bean mixture and sprinkle with cilantro, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

ITALIAN VEGETABLE RICE PIZZA

- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups Uncle Ben's Brand Rice In An Instant
- 1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) shredded part-

Mexi-beans and rice brings the rich, full flavors of Mexico to the table without the high fat content Mexican foods so often have. A mildly spicy mix of black beans, tomatoes, onion and seasonings served over rice, it is ready to serve in less than an hour.

- skim low-moisture mozzarella cheese
- 2 egg whites, lightly beaten
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon dried basil, crushed
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano, crushed
- 1/2 small eggplant, thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced zucchini
- 1 tomato, cut into thin wedges
- 2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese

Bring water to a boil in medium saucepan. Stir in rice, cover, remove from heat and set aside for 5 minutes, or until all liquid is absorbed. Stir half the mozzarella into hot cooked rice. When cheese is melted, stir in beaten egg whites. Turn mixture out onto greased 12-inch pizza pan and flatten to form crust. Bake in preheated oven at 400 degrees F. 5 minutes. Drizzle tomato sauce over crust; sprinkle with basil, garlic and oregano. Arrange eggplant, zucchini and tomato over crust; top with remaining mozzarella and parmesan cheese. Continue baking 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender and cheese is lightly browned. Makes 4 servings.

Tips for reducing some of the fat in your diet

MARCH IS national nutrition month, a good time to cut some of the fat in your diet.

"Knowing we have high fat habits doesn't make it any easier to break free, unless you understand that your favorite foods can be part of a lowfat diet," said Judy Dodd, president of the American Dietetic Association.

"The secret is to eat smaller portions of higher fat foods and eat them less frequently."

Here are some lowfat cooking tips from the National Center for Nutrition and Dietetics.

Baste meats and poultry with stock or broth and a minimum of butter or margarine. Use marinades of lemon juice, flavored vinegars or fruit juices mixed with herbs when grilling or broiling and to tenderize leaner cuts of meat.

Substitute plain lowfat yogurt in dips or sauces calling for sour cream or mayonnaise. Use lowfat yogurt to top baked potatoes.

"GRADES AREN'T just for kids in school," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland Cooperative Extension Service. "Many food items are graded to determine quality and help the consumer in selection."

Eggs are graded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and most stores will carry either USDA Grade AA or USDA Grade A eggs. Eggs are also classified into B and C categories.

tidbits

Keely Wygonik

The grades refer to the interior quality of the egg and the appearance and condition of the shell. Grade AA eggs have a slightly firmer thick white, and are sometimes preferred for poaching or frying.

Grades B and C would be best for baking, scrambling, and general cooking. Nutritional value is not affected by grading.

Eggs come in six sizes — jumbo, extra large, large, medium, small and peewee. The sizes are determined by weight.

TREITMAN SAID the seven cent rule is an easy way to learn which size is the best value. If one dozen eggs of one size costs at least seven cents more than the size below it, the smaller size is more economical.

Tips for buying and using eggs: Keep eggs in original carton in refrigerator. Store eggs with the large end up. Never use a dirty or cracked egg. If one cracks, use it immediately and cook very well.

For more answers to your food questions, call the hot line, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at 858-0904.

IN CELEBRATION of national nutrition month, here's a recipe I think you'll enjoy from "Simply Light Cooking" from the Kitchens of Weight Watchers.

TURKEY MARSALA

- (Makes 2 servings)
- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour, divided
- dash pepper
- 7 ounces turkey cutlets, cut into 6 pieces
- 2 teaspoons margarine

1/2 cup canned ready to serve low sodium chicken broth

2 tablespoons dry marsala wine

On sheet of wax paper combine 2 teaspoons flour and the pepper; dredge turkey in flour mixture, lightly coating both sides.

In 9-inch nonstick skillet melt margarine; add turkey and saute over medium-high heat until cooked through, about 3 minutes on each side. Transfer turkey to serving platter; set aside and keep warm.

In same skillet, over medium-high heat, sprinkle remaining flour over pan drippings and stir quickly to combine. Add broth and wine and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, about 1 minute. Spoon mixture over turkey.

BETTY CROCKER tip of the week:

A general rule for cooking fish is 10 minutes of cooking time per inch of thickness, measuring the thickest part of the fish. For frozen fish, the guideline is about 20 minutes per inch of thickness.

Corned beef, sauerkraut team up

AP — Just in time for St. Patrick's Day, corned beef teams with cabbage, only this year "cabbage" means sauerkraut instead of the usual boiled fresh wedges. In this recipe, the timeless duet takes on a different form, a round meatloaf.

Cooking meatloaves in a circle instead of the standard loaf shape helps the meat cook evenly and avoids the problem of overcooked corners. To see that the meat is evenly cooked throughout, insert a microwave meat thermometer near the center before cooking or an instant-read thermometer after cooking. The temperature should be about 170 degrees F, which means the meat is well-done.

- drained and snipped
- 1 1/2 cups soft rye bread crumbs (2 slices)
- One 5-ounce can (1/2 cup) evaporated milk
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1 pound lean ground beef
- One 12-ounce can corned beef, flaked
- Swiss cheese slices
- Celery leaves
- Ketchup (optional)

In a large mixing bowl combine eggs, sauerkraut, bread crumbs, milk, onion, mustard and pepper. Add ground beef and corned beef; mix well. Spread the mixture in an 8- by 1 1/2-inch round baking dish. Invert the mixture onto a 10-inch round microwave-safe plate. Remove the baking dish.

Cover with waxed paper. Cook on 100 percent power (high) for 20 to 24 minutes or until well-done (170 degrees F), giving the dish a quarter turn every 8 minutes. (Be sure to do the temperature test because the meat will look pink even when done.)

Transfer the meatloaf to a serving platter. Garnish with triangles or strips of Swiss cheese and celery leaves. Cut meat into wedges to serve. Serve with ketchup, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 261 cal., 26 g pro., 8 g carbo., 13 g fat, 807 mg sodium, 304 mg potassium. U.S. RDA: 10 percent vit. C, 19 percent riboflavin, 22 percent niacin, 23 percent iron.

CORNERED BEEF AND SAUERKRAUT WEDGES

Breakfast sweet-to-eat

AP — If your family is suffering from the breakfast blues, surprise them with a sweet-to-eat breakfast treat that's filled with peaches and strawberries and topped with slices of kiwifruit.

BREAKFAST TREATS

- 10 pieces crispbread
- 1 cup low-fat or non-fat cottage cheese
- 3/4 cup canned peaches in light syrup, drained and diced
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon (optional)
- 2 tablespoons strawberry jam
- 1 cup fresh strawberries, halved and chopped or sliced
- Kiwifruit, peeled and sliced (optional)

Cut crispbread into quarters. To do this, cut crispbread packets through cellophane wrappers crosswise into quarters, using a serrated knife and a gentle sawing motion.

Mix cottage cheese with peaches and cinnamon. Mix strawberry jam with fresh strawberries. Spread 1 tablespoon of the cottage cheese mixture on each of two crispbread quarters.

Spread 1 rounded tablespoon of the strawberry mixture on another quarter. Starting with crispbread spread with cottage cheese, layer on a crispbread spread with the strawberry mixture, then a second cottage-cheese topped crispbread. Top with remaining quarter and, if desired, slices of kiwifruit. Makes 5 servings.

Winemaker working miracles at Chalk Hill

In June 1989, we read a clip from the Santa Rosa Business Journal, a publication serving the greater Sonoma County California business community. It was an interview with Fred Furth, nationally known attorney, energetic businessman and owner of Chalk Hill Winery.

"CHALK HILL is in the midst of an expansion that will raise wine production levels from 40,000 cases to 60,000 cases," Furth said. "Whoa," we remarked. If you remember the Chalk Hill wines from the mid-1980s, you know they were undistinguished at best.

Sometime in early 1990, Furth must have come to this conclusion also. A new era of Chalk Hill wines was ushered in when Furth hired David Ramey as winemaker.

Ramey brought 10 years' international winemaking experience with him. As the former winemaker at Matanzas Creek, he put that winery on the map with exceptional sauvignon blanc, chardonnay and merlot releases.

Ramey, who turns a good French phrase, has always been interested in what the French winemakers were saying and what they were actually doing. Between his tenure at Matanzas and accepting the Chalk Hill position, he worked for the Moueix family at several of their Bordeaux estates including Chateau Petrus.

THE FIRST French influence we noticed at the winery was the considerable investment in French oak barrels Furth was encouraged to make.

It's less than two years since Furth hired Ramey at Chalk Hill. "Dr. Dave," as we affectionately call him, has worked miracles on the Chalk Hill wines. The 1990 releases have the Ramey touch from vine to bottle.

The 1989 Chalk Hill Cabernet Sauvignon and 1986 Late Harvest Semillon that were still unbottled at the winery when Ramey arrived, have been "doctored" (very legitimately) and the Ramey prescription blend was crafted.

Fred Furth will see his dream of case production expansion come true, but not as quickly as he predicted focus on wine

Eleanor and Ray Heald

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

If you read the column, you know we're excited about the latest releases from Chalk Hill Winery. To make fitting comparison for all this, we blind tasted the newly released 1990 Chalk Hill Chardonnay ($17) against the 1989 Chassagne-Montrachet Les Vergers by Michel Colin-Deleger from Burgundy. Yes! The Chalk Hill stood its ground with buttery notes, integrated oakiness and solid fruit. It's a lush, creamy mouthful for a lot less money than the Chassagne-Montrachet.

ed in his 1989 statement to the press. Ramey bulked out much of the wine he inherited, talked Furth into scaling down, holding the line on prices and launching a major vineyard profile replanting.

THE CHALK Hill estate has 1,100 acres of which 275 are planted. "Be-five years, red plantings, particularly merlot, will increase and some viognier (a Rhone white varietal) will be planted."

Ramey tasted us through a sampling of previously released Chalk Hill Sauvignon Blancs. They were grapefruit and grassy, totally lacking fruit elegance — nobody's favorite style.

The complete 360 is evident in the newly released 1990 Chalk Hill Sauvignon Blanc ($10.75). To open the vine to light and eliminate the grassy elements, leaf pulling in the vineyards was practiced during the growing season.

The wine was 60 percent barrel fermented (1/3 in that new oak we saw). During the barrel aging period, the wine remained on stirred lees for four months (very French) with a minor portion going through malolactic fermentation (to reduce harsh acidity and round out the palate impression).

WE'VE KNOWN Dave Ramey for nearly 10 years. He has always had three major perspectives in winemaking: pleasing himself, making a flavor statement and being se-

WINE BULLETIN BOARD

Wednesday's Wine Bar at the Rattlesnake Club in Detroit continues 5:30-7:30 p.m. at $15 per person for six wines and whimsical appetizers; no reservations required. March 11: Oregon Pinot Noirs; March 18: Southern Rhone wines from Kermit Lynch Imports; March 25: French wines from Gascony, the Loire, Alsace and Bordeaux.

verely critical of the result.

The 1989 Chalk Hill Cabernet Sauvignon ($14.75) has big, blackberry, currant and spicy aromas with matching flavor dynamics. If you like red Bordeaux and you'd like to experience something similar in a California cab, this wine's for you.

While we like the 1989 Cabernet Sauvignon, the yet-to-be released 1990 which is a Ramey-all-the-way rendition was handsome from the barrel. Who said wines are made in the vineyard? Whoever it was, never met Chalk Hill's winemaker Dave Ramey.

Add a dash of spice to make meals special

Cooking with spices makes meals "something special." There is hardly a food made that can't be made better by adding a dash of spice. Use spices in small quantities until you get to know their flavors.

ONE DISH, well seasoned, can "make the meal." Don't use the same spice in several dishes at the same meal and don't serve heavily spiced foods in every course. The supermarket shelves are filled with dozens of spices and spice blends to tantalize your taste buds, but remember to start out with a "dash," you want to enhance the food, not disguise it.

Curry powder is a blend of coriander, turmeric, cloves, black pepper, red pepper, garlic, cumin, fenugreek, ginger and can contain many or more varieties of spices. Curry is considered exotic, an inspiration to Indian cooking.

For a mild flavor, use one teaspoon curry for each four servings. The chief use, of course, is making meat, fish and chicken curries. It is also good with rice, veal, shrimp, eggs, vegetables, seasoned sauces, soups and stews. Try a dash in mayonnaise, French dressing or in a can of mushroom or tomato soup.

CARDAMOM IS one of the most aromatic and pungent on the spice shelf. It is the dried fruit of a plant in the ginger family and native to India. Cardamom pods are packed in jars or plastic bags or sold in bulk.

To use the whole cardamom pods, gently crush and remove seeds. The whole seed can be added to dishes or grind in a pepper mill or clean coffee grinder. Custards, rice puddings, cookies, breads and fruits get a "nippy" new flavor from cardamom. Try a dash in green pea soup, sweet potatoes or sprinkled on pork or beef roast. A real taste treat is dropping a cardamom seed into a cup of strong black coffee.

Mace is a cousin of nutmeg, in fact, mace is the lacy covering around the nutmeg seed. The two do have similar aromas but mace is more pungent and less sweet. Mace adds this pungent flavor to sweet breads, pound cake, cherry pie and puddings. Mace is probably at its best with chocolate, in cakes, puddings and other desserts.

GREAT COOKS also add mace to oyster stew, creamed eggs or Welsh rabbit, fish sauces and meat stuffings. Adding a sprinkle of mace on whipping cream gives it more flavor.

Cumin is the secret ingredient in exotic oriental flavorings. However, it is probably most familiar in chili con carne and hot tamales. Cumin has a distinctive aroma and flavor, spicy and sharp with a slightly bitter taste so start with a dash. It can also be used in seasoning soups and stews, flavoring bread or rice and a peppery addition to meat loaf.

Coriander seed was one of the first spices used by man but is actually the dried ripe fruit of an herb in the parsley family. To many it tastes like a combination of lemon peel and sage, and has mild, fragrant odor. It is used commercially in many meat products especially hot dogs.

In the ground form it is added to curry blends, rolls, pastries, cookies and cakes or sprinkled in applesauce or gingerbread.

Fennel is an aromatic seed that has a pleasant odor and sweet taste somewhat like anise. The flavor of fennel blends well in baking for rolls, breads and pastries; and seasons fruits, soup, fish dishes and sauces. Sprinkle on pizza topping, apple pie filling or on pork before roasting. Actually, fennel is an ancient herb that was thought to be sacred and could counteract causes of some diseases.

Paprika is bright red in color yet mild in flavor and garnishes pale foods such as potatoes, cream sauces for vegetables and lemon butter sauces for fish. It is widely used in sausages, salad dressings and condiments. In Hungarian cooking of course paprika is used very liberally.

White pepper is more aromatic but less biting than black pepper. It is used basically the same as black

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service pepper but preferred where black specks might mar the appearance of soups, sauces and fish.

Cayenne pepper is made from capsicum hot peppers and the most pungent of all spices with a fiery bite. Experiment cautiously with very little as it adds a real tang to most dishes. Red pepper is another spice to "proceed with caution" when using for spicing up dishes, as it is hot and biting.

All these spices maintain flavor and intensity if kept in a cool dry dark place. Keep spices away from heat so do not store over the stove. Spices will stay fresh in tightly resealed packages for several months but they don't improve with long aging.

If you're not sure if the spice is fresh, rub a bit of the spice between your palms and breathe the aroma. No aroma, then it's time to replace your spice.

Spice up your foods, but remember a pinch goes a long way!

By C.C. Clark

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You must use diplomacy in all situations. You will receive a message concerning a matter of great importance. Loose lips expose secrets.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Money worries may get you down, but don't wallow in self-pity. Do something about your problems. Impatience could get you into trouble.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Give wise counsel to those who ask for your advice. Keep in mind the needs of others. A lawsuit or financial transaction may be in your near future.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
It may not be enough to be kind, you may have to put forth some effort to nurture a fledgling relationship. Great success and happiness are indicated.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
You're in a sudden need of purpose and direction for your life and you will find it soon. Tension in a relationship can be dissolved by good listening.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Your organizational skills will be put to the test and you will succeed. Learning should be near the top of your list of priorities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
You have a desire to accomplish a great goal and you will succeed only if you make the right choices. Check your sources and research all options.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Disappointment in love is forthcoming, but things will work in your favor. You may want to leave everything behind and start over.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
Things could be tough for a while, but you have the strength to get through it all. It is time to look inward for the answers you are searching for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You may be in for some stormy weather where relationships are concerned. There will be changes in your environment, both good and bad.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
The future is better for you. You will achieve great success after dealing with great anxieties. You may be taking a journey soon, perhaps over water.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Don't abuse power, especially to meet your own needs. A thorny problem will soon be resolved. Your heart may be tested.

Borlenghi fills shoes nicely on 'AMC'

By Candace Havens

Sexy, brooding, serious and quiet is how you might describe Matt Borlenghi, who portrays Brian Bodine on the popular daytime series All My Children. In many ways Borlenghi is much like the character he plays.

He admits he doesn't have an easy time conversing with people. "I just can't walk up to someone and say, 'Hi, I'm Matt, blah, blah, blah,'" says Borlenghi. But when it comes to acting, he has no problem talking about his craft and the recognition that goes along with it.

From the early age of 7, Borlenghi knew he wanted to be an actor, but he also didn't want to make an idiot of himself. So he took acting classes until he felt he was ready.

"I was apprehensive about taking the role of Brian, because I knew I was replacing somebody who just didn't work out for the role," says Borlenghi. "I understand that the guy was real nice and sweet, but he didn't cut the role. I figured a lot of people probably liked him and wouldn't appreciate me coming in to take his place. I never expected the kind of response I've been getting.

"The No. 1 question fans ask besides 'Do you have a girlfriend?' and 'How old are you?' is what is it that I wear around my neck," says Borlenghi. "I guess it looks like it could be a lot of things, but it is actually a Chapstick. I am addicted to the stuff."

While he appreciates all the attention he gets from fans, he wants people to know that to him it is all just a job. "It has always been my dream to act, but in order to keep my head straight I have to stay aware of the fact that I'm just an actor and nobody special. All of this could be gone tomorrow."

The person in his life who helps Borlenghi keep his feet on the ground is his girlfriend, Shellie, whom he met while living in Beverly Hills. Although he has trouble trusting people, he knows Shellie is the real thing, because she knew him before he hit the big time. In fact, right before he joined AMC, she asked him to move in with her. So when he moved to the East Coast he asked her to come with him. They have been together ever since.
